RUPERT—Minidoka Soil Conservation District board members report that highway signs indicating entrance and exit to the conservation district have been prepared.

These will be erected along the interstate when the board is notified of acceptable locations by the highway district.

James Renfro presided at the meeting Wednesday night and members accepted the 1959 audit prepared by James Friesen.

The Ladies Auxiliary also met, making arrangements to meet with the Ministerial Association regarding distribution of soil stewardship booklets.

The auxiliary project is the soil stewardship which is observed as a week during February on a national basis. The booklets give ideas for sermons on soil stewardship and the ministers are encouraged to use the sermon during stewardship week.

Vern Hacking, area conservationist, is scheduled to speak at the Feb. 28 meeting of the Ministerial Association, showing the material available.

The auxiliary also made plans for a potluck dinner for all personnel and district officers of the district to be held March 11.

Your Spine and Your Health

By Dr. Ludwig C. Landwehr
Electric power industries are constantly improving lights and lighting effects. Printers are always working to make the printed page easier to read. An important factor in preservation of good eyesight is good health.

Good print, good light and good health are all important to good eyesight. The eye is a very complex and highly sensitive mechanism, capable of taking fourteen pictures each second and transmitting them to the brain for interpretation.

The cranial nerves, controlling the eyes, are helped by... and their duties interweave with... nerves that run from the spinal column. It is important therefore, that in case of the eyes by good light, good print, the nerve fibers should be checked by spinal analysis. Chiropractic Physicians are trained to analyze the spine.

Lenten Guidenests

By BROTHER ANDREW... The road was a line of cars, pulling off along the highway between Smolensk and Kiev. I knew what it meant: a road block.

Every vehicle was being stopped. Some would be allowed through, others would be detained for hours while luggage was taken apart piece by piece. And on the back seat of my car I had a carton full of books, the discovery of which could mean a prison term. The books were Bibles.

A young officer stepped up to my car. I was praying as he asked for my papers and read them carefully. While I stood by he inspected my luggage in the trunk. Then he came back and leaned inside the car. His eyes lighted on the unmarked cardboard box.

"Lord Jesus," I said to myself, "while you were on earth you made blind eyes see. Now I pray, make these seeing eyes blind."

I stood where I could see the officer's eyes. They scrutinized the interior of the car inch by inch. But his eyes traveled over that box of Bibles as if they were not there.

All the rest of the way to Moscow — where I was to turn the Bibles over to a Russian Christian — I praised God for once again clearing my path. For 10 years now I have been a lay missionary behind the Iron Curtain. I have seen many months in each of these countries, and have seen evidence that the yearning for a knowledge of Christ cannot be stamped out by decree or force.

I have seen tears in the eyes of a farmer as I stopped by the roadside and simply mentioned the name of Jesus. I have seen the eloquent bouquet of flowers left morning after morning on the doorstep of a nailed-up church.

When I was in a seminary, missionaries often visited our school to tell us of the work they were doing, but none of them came from countries behind the Iron Curtain.

I learned that our international board would not license a man for those areas. It was too dangerous — and besides, the doors were closed.

When they really closed? I decided to take a trip, just to see. In part, this trip confirmed what I had been told. In some of these countries, although the Iron Curtain is not a single huge wall of worship left open, Russian Christians were permitted to worship but not to evangelize.

In most countries to import Bibles was to risk prison. But this was not the whole picture. In more than half the Iron Curtain countries, churches invited me to preach, and they seemed to have the liberty to do so.

Even in countries where I was not allowed to preach — I could bring "greetings" from the West, and no one objected when these greetings lasted a sermon-length of time.

I had made a startling discovery. Not only were hearts open but churches and borders were open. I came back and asked my own mission board for permission to represent them in the Communist world. I was told officially they could not do this — but that nothing prevented an independent missionary from going where he pleased.

We have had encouraging results. In East Germany as many as 4,000 people at a time have attended our meetings. Whole villages in Hungary turn out to hear us.

I do not mean that we always get such a reception. Two of our team already have served jail terms for preaching where it was forbidden.

Communist governments keep careful check on these Christians; we just assume that each of our public meetings is infiltrated by agents of the police. Twice, pastors have turned out to be spies.

We live in an atmosphere of conspiracy — and how like first-century Christianity! Must be

We have one advantage, though, that the first Christians didn't have. In addition to private homes we have the automobile. What a wonderful meeting place for a Christian cell group is a car moving from place to place away from prying eyes and ears.

But while evangelism that depends upon personal contact is uncertain at best in these countries, the part of our work that has become increasingly important is the distribution of Bibles. I know from personal experience that the Bible all by itself, without preachers, without rallies, even without a place to worship in, is the most powerful of all bearers of the Gospel.

And how hungry these people are for Scripture. Whole churches exist without a single Bible. Because they're in such short supply they are taken apart and distributed book by book.

Because of their rarity, Bibles are expensive. I know a man who owned two cows — by Russian standards considerable wealth. But when he heard that a Bible was available he gladly sold a cow to possess it.

Next — Chris Kraft, flight director of the nation's space program, is a man who has the awesome responsibility of making decisions. As told to John L. Sherrill, Life magazine, Gulepops and copyright, 1967, by Gulepops Associates, Inc., Carmel, N.Y.

Area County Assessors Urge Repealing Of Freeport Bill

Assessors from seven Magic Valley counties and county commissioners from three, Friday afternoon voted to recommend repeal of the Idaho Freeport Law to the state legislators.

In a meeting in the Twin Falls county courthouse conducted by Thomas E. Clark, Cassia County Assessor, the group affixed signatures to a letter which will be sent their respective legislators asking they repeal the Freeport law as "one means of revenue to counties in the face of the Idaho Supreme Court ruling in favor of utilities. The court ruled utilities must be assessed the same as all other property."

Assessors pointed out the Freeport bill was passed in the hope of encouraging industry, but instead it has allowed exemptions for many existing industries that range up to 100 per cent. As a result many sugar or potato processing firms that are unable to meet tax obligations are making almost no payment at all while those who cannot afford to pay are carrying a large share of the burden for the exemption of the large companies, delegates pointed out.

As an example in hard facts every taxpayer should know, Twin Falls County Assessor Cliff Thompson said this would mean something like a $90,000 financial loss to taxing agencies in the county. He said this would in turn be the cost the taxpayers in other categories would have to make up.

Mr. Thompson and County Clerk Harold Lancaster said the ruling is equal to a loss of $5.5 million in assessed valuation in the county and to make up the difference, other taxpayers could look to about a 10 per cent tax increase in 1967 unless some ratification is made by the state legislature.

Without this loss, they said taxpayers would have had a reduction in taxes because of increased assessed valuation.

At the same time, they noted that while the average taxpayer's tax bill has increased from six to 12 per cent, depending on where he resides in the county, the utility tax bill has increased less than one per cent during the past year.

Several assessors attending the Friday meeting said they have been assured by the legislators they have contacted that something will be done, probably through a new look at assessed valuation of utility property.

"This could in the end mean we would be about where we have been as to utility tax revenue," said Wesley Tronson, Wendell, Gooding county assessor.

In the letter signed by the 14 assessors and commissioners Friday afternoon, the group stated, "We recommend the repeal of Section 63-105V, better known as the Freeport bill which cancels from the tax rolls the finished manufactured products shipped out of Idaho in the year of assessment."

"This group also recommends the repeal of Section 63-105U," the letter concludes.

The last section refers to the exemption on farm products held over from one year to another for sale.

In their discussion, assessors said some other current exemptions should be considered for repeal in order to keep the average property owner from having to absorb the brunt of whatever loss may be suffered through the utility ruling.

DANCING, NOT TALKING, is the main talent shown by Peggy Keker as she portrays "Susan" in the forthcoming Dilettante of Magic Valley production of "Finlan's Rainbow." Miss Keker, a Twin Falls High School student, has been a student of the dance for 12 years. Here, she is coached by choreographer Phil Keeler as she rehearses a scene from the show. Miss Keker is one of many teen-age dancers appearing in the musical-comedy. (Times-News photo)

Dancing Replaces Words In Musical Part of Deaf-Mute

Anyone who has ever been acquainted with a teen-age girl is well aware that quietness is not one of the noticeable characteristics of this age group.

However, the Dilettante Group of Magic Valley has found a lively, graceful teen-ager who brings much to "Finlan's Rainbow" with the aid of her feet instead of her tongue.

The girl is Peggy Keker, a dark blondes junior at Twin Falls High School, who dances her way through the part of "Susan" in the forthcoming musical-comedy.

She has been dancing for 12 years and plans to study either ballet or law in college. The part she portrays is said to be the only role ever written solely for the deaf.

Miss Keker studied dance for two years with Lucille Townley and for 10 years with Beverly Hackney. She has attended Sun Valley Music Camp for three years and the first year attended

Dave Spreier Presented PTA Honor

PAUL — Dave Spreier was presented the membership of the Pioneer School PTA Thursday night during the Founders Day program. He is a past president and has been active several years in the unit.

Doyle Lowder spoke on the modern math. Mrs. Ruben Ketterling conducted the business meeting and the prayer was by Gary Johnson. Mrs. Wayne Sundler's first grade won the room count with Mrs. Charlie Easton's second grade taking second place.

A student's talent show will be presented during the April meeting and no admission will be charged.

Mrs. Robert Malan's sixth grade has published a school newspaper called "The Pioneer Blab." Howard Peck conducted a discussion on the purchase of a choral playground equipment and noted it would cost $400. He said the county school fund would pay one-half of this cost.

Members voted to give $100 toward the purchase and the fifth and sixth grades voted to pay $70 which they are earning through candy sales each Friday. The candy is donated by mothers of the class members. It was reported that the classes currently have $43 toward the fund.

The sixth grade class voted to not exchange valentines this year and to use the money which they would have spent to donate to the playground equipment fund.

Seating Committee Considers 5 Points

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF WASHINGTON (AP)—Members of the select committee looking into Adam Clayton Powell's qualifications for a House seat, are currently considering at least five possible recommendations, it was learned Saturday.

This emphasizes the contention of Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., that the committee has a broad mandate under which the nine-member group could well propose something other than merely seating or excluding the controversial New York Democrat.

It means also the House may find itself confronted with a situation in which a two-thirds vote may be required to keep Powell out.

In another development in the Powell case Saturday, it was disclosed that some of the men who served as his top aides when he was chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee are being dismissed from their committee jobs. Such a turnover, however, is not unusual when a committee chairmanship changes hands.

Despite the continuing political overtones in the case and published polls showing two of every three Americans favoring Powell's expulsion from Congress, members of the committee are determined to confine their recommendations to the legal aspects of the case.

Whether the House will be equally legalistic in considering the committee's proposals, probably late this month, is another question.

"One problem," says committee member Andrew Jacobs Jr., D-Ill., "is that we are supposed to be a government of laws, but we are still a government of men."

Rep. Clark MacGregor, R-Minn., another member, said in an interview that in defining the scope of its inquiry the committee "thought there might be as many as five different possible actions."

"The committee has to consider these possibilities solely for the purpose of determining the scope of the investigation," MacGregor said. "We do not know what we are going to recommend."

The five possibilities listed by MacGregor are: (1) excluding Powell from taking the oath of office; (2) administering him the oath and then expelling him; (3) seating Powell; (4) seating Powell but censuring him; (5) giving him the oath but requiring "performance of certain acts by him before he can be seated."

The second possibility, expelling him, would require a two-thirds vote, while the others could be taken by a majority. But the House has generally accepted the doctrine that expulsion is limited to the conduct of members during their current term of office and cannot be applied for past indiscretions.

Powell's attorneys last week refused to permit him to answer questions relating to his legal troubles stemming from a New York court judgment or concerning charges he misused government travel funds.

They contended that the committee should limit itself to that portion of the Constitution Article I, Section 2 — which requires representatives to be 25, a citizen for seven years and "an inhabitant of that state in which he shall be chosen."

Although their motions were rejected, some members agree these are the only issues involved in whether Powell should be administered the oath of office. The committee is trying to finish its work by the Feb. 23 deadline.

ENTHUSIASM FOR HAWAII was evident as Mrs. Harry Wilcox, left, Mr. and Mrs. George Wilcox recall highlights of their trip shortly after their return to Twin Falls Friday. This was the trio's first trip to the Islands and they expressed a desire to return, even though they "wouldn't want to live there." (Times-News photo)

14 Members Of Hawaiian Tour Return

Most of the remaining members of the Times-News Magic Holiday Tour to Hawaii will be returning to Twin Falls Monday, according to Joe Salisbury, travel agent director.

Fourteen of the original tour group of 54 returned to Twin Falls Friday afternoon.

Among those returning Monday will be Mr. and Mrs. Earl Faulkner, tour directors. Mr. Faulkner is president of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce and this is the first year the couple has acted as tour directors.

The rest of the group is expected to return Wednesday, Mr. Salisbury said.

While in Hawaii the group visited places of historic and scenic significance and was given ample time to spend freely.

The 14 tourists returning Friday were amply loaded down with souvenirs, mementos of their fond memories of the islands.

Four Win

Four members of the Twin Falls High School debate group that returned recently from a tour of Oregon State College, Ogdon, won semi-finalists in a debate.

Laurel Kalar, reported Saturday. Six 2-man teams attended the tourney at Ogdon and the team made the semi-final rating, she said. Winning team members were Jerry Routh and Ken Eklund and Quin Phillips and George Carter.

Escape

LIVERPOOL, England — Liverpool University students have deepened the chargin at Walton jail where five men escaped at Christmas time in a rash of holiday breaks from British prisons. The students celebrated "Rug Week" by painting their cryptic motto "Panto 67" on an inside wall after breaking in commando style with a rope scaling ladder and escaping without detection.

One Quintuplet Clings To Life

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP)—A 1½-pound infant girl, the sole survivor of a quintuplet birth to a 25-year-old Wyoming woman Saturday morning—clung feebly to life Saturday night.

Mrs. Allen Bradley, Big Piney, Wyo., gave birth between 8 and 9 a.m. to three premature girls and two boys in Holy Cross Hospital.

Three of the quintils lived only seconds. The fourth died about five hours after birth.

THE WEST COAST plane landed at 5:30 p.m. Friday and Mrs. Melbert Taylor was a little concerned — she worried that her son Ferris, Heyburn Explorer Scout who recently met President Lyndon Johnson, wouldn't get to eat dinner on time. Young Taylor assured her that "Scouting really rounds a guy out" and that he was not hungry at all. (Times-News photo)

Heyburn Scout Is Home After Reporting To Johnson

He met a man named John development. The President also told the 13 boys that they did better with themselves than he had done with himself when he was their age, young Taylor added.

Ferris said his visit and meeting with President Johnson was the highlight of the trip, as far as he was concerned.

Other highlights of the week included a luncheon with Supreme Court justices hosted by Associate Justice Tom Clark; an idea exchange dinner with Charles W. Ferguson, senior editor of the Reader's Digest, presiding; visits to the Johnston Historical Museum, the Goddard Space Center, the Arlington National Cemetery, the United Nations Building and a sightseeing tour of New York City.

Young Taylor said that his future plans include a little down-to-earth studying, college for the next couple of years, an LDS mission and finally a career in nuclear engineering or some related scientific field.

He noted that he took four textbooks with him on the trip to Washington, D.C., "but I just didn't have a chance to crack any of them — I hope my teachers don't get too mad about it."

According to other reports, Ferris' teachers had instructed him to leave his books at home and just enjoy the trip — perhaps they'll be "mad" because he took the books anyway?

One of young Taylor's primary missions during the presentation of the report was to personally invite President Johnson to the World Boy Scout Jamboree to be held at Farragut. He reported that while the President did not actually accept the invitation, "at least he didn't say no."

The boys were each presented watches by the president of the Zale Corp. during a tour of the company's building, during which they viewed a rough diamond valued at $100,000. Another highlight of the informal side of the trip was the boys' appearance on the Ed Sullivan show.

Young Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melbert Taylor, Heyburn, has been a Scout since 1959. He has held a string of leadership positions that would take hours to relate, ranks first in his senior class at Mindok County High School with a straight "A" average and is active in his church.

During the week-long trip to the nation's capital he met a list of dignitaries that would make the most casual celebrity-watcher turn green with envy: Secretary-General of the United Nations U Thant; President Lyndon B. Johnson; Secretary of State Dean Rusk; Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman; Director of the Selective Service General Lewis B. Hershey, and Director of the United States Information Agency Leonard Barker.

The actual presentations of the Report to the Nation involved handling a hard-bound publication to the President and pointing out the highlights of the report. A record membership high of 4,831,541 boy and Scout Packs, Boy Scout Troops and Explorer Posts were among the figures pointed out to the President.

President Johnson told the boys that he tries "to stay young and being with young people is one way I try." Young Taylor said he was very much impressed with the President but that he would reserve judgment on the value of the Democratic political philosophy.

Young Taylor said that the President had also mentioned an extensive youth guidance program now in the planning stages on the federal level. The President apparently said the program would be based on the Boy Scouting approach to youth

PLANNERS FOR the Snake River Valley Electrical Association's 12th annual convention to be held Saturday at the Holiday Inn, Twin Falls, are looking over the program. From left, they are F. L. True, Joe Byrne, SRVEA president and convention coordinator, Tom Wilkins and James Ruge. The convention starts at 8 a.m. with delegate registration.

12th Annual Convention Set By Electrical Association

Customer service and satisfaction will be the chief item of discussion when members of the Snake River Valley Electrical Association meet Saturday at the Holiday Inn for their 12th annual convention.

This will be the first time the convention has been held in Magic Valley, according to Joe Byrne, Twin Falls, SRVEA president and convention coordinator.

Registration will begin at 8 a.m. with the first convention session getting under way at 9 a.m. Mr. Byrne said the convention will feature speakers who are members of the industry and those who are not.

Purpose of the convention, he said, is to "exchange experience and ideas among members of the industry in our own area, as well as to draw on the know-how of outside speakers."

This pooling of experiences, he continued, "will ultimately benefit all users of electricity and electrical progress in the Southern Idaho and Eastern Oregon.

Members of the trade group with chapters in Boise, Pocatello and Twin Falls, include utilities, distributors, contractors, retailers, electronics and appliance servicemen and manufacturers.

Advance registration, Mr. Byrne said, indicates there will be a record turnout at the event. City Commission chairman Eggo Krull will welcome the delegates.

Retired manager of Graybar Electric Co. and a former SRVEA president and director, Raymond Smith, Boise, will be given special recognition at the one-day affair.

New officers will be elected and the day will be culminated by a bus excursion to Jackpot. Special events are planned for delegates' wives.

T. C. Blacker, Caldwell, is general conference chairman. Others assisting with arrangements include James Ruge, electrical progress chairman; J. P. O'Connor, registrar.

Artificial Heart Patient Shops

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Mrs. Esperanza del Valle Vasquez, the only artificial heart-pump patient to live and resume a normal life, took a six-hour shopping trip Friday in Houston.

Mrs. Vasquez, a Mexico City beautician, was in Houston this week for a routine checkup by the team of doctors who implanted an artificial heart pump six months ago to give her damaged heart a chance to mend.

The women were halted by dozens of well-wishers who recognized Mrs. Vasquez.

Health Board Slates Meet May 4-5

BOISE (AP) — The State Board of Health set May 4-5 as its next meeting date after closing Friday to appoint an 11-member mental health advisory council requested by the state Mental Health Association.

Mrs. James Donart, Weiser, president of the association, talked with board members in their quarterly meeting and said such a council could aid the board by:

- Providing after-care and rehabilitation for patients who are released from state hospitals.
- Gaining accreditation for state mental health hospitals.
- Providing services for emotionally disturbed children.

Meeting manpower needs of the Idaho mental health facilities.

Dr. Terrell O. Carver, health department administrator, told the board the council would "investigate, report and recommend on any matter relating to mental programs and mental health illness in the state."

Board members also asked Carver to request from the legislature a supplementary appropriation of $10,000 to match federal funds of $20,000 which would not be available after June.

Child health and development centers would be built in Twin Falls and Idaho Falls with the money.

ENGAGED Secretary and Mrs. Douglas Dillon, to Prince Charles of Luxembourg was announced. The engagement of Joan Dillon, daughter of former Treasury

Man Asks Why Voters Have No Vote On Urban Renewal

Editor, Times-News: Urban Renewal is a kingly serpent, but remember Adam and Eve? They were good kids, but they bit the Urban Renewal Act of 1955 (now incorporated in House Bill 3, re-codification of municipal laws) abundantly in violation of the principles of good government, even of simple justice.

The Urban Renewal Act authorizes: (1) unbelievable scope since any one project can encompass an entire city block in miles in every direction outside; (2) destruction of control, usage and ownership of private property; (3) appointment and election of Urban Renewal commissioners — who in actuality are financially responsible to no one; (4) unlimited power of confiscation, eminent domain, bond, and spending by non-elected commissioners; (5) that usual legal safeguards shall not apply to Urban Renewal; (6) that, once started, an Urban Renewal Agency cannot be stopped; (7) unlimited costs for Urban Renewal Agency; (8) encouragement of municipal officers in giving public money, properties and services to Urban Renewal — and encouragement of selling without customer legal safeguards and without public notification; (9) use of amazing standards and criteria for confiscation of property, such as "economic distress" "density of ownership," etc.

Wild Flower Bill Fails To Impress Man From Burley

Editor, Times-News: The writer feels quite certain that the good voters that elected into office the worthy legislator who has presented the Wild Flower Bill, must be proud of their man.

I am sure there are many who are real happy with the thought of our tax money being spent in this great cause. If the bill is passed, there are thoughts that come to mind. It will be interesting to note in what manner the highway mowing crews, when moving right-of-way, will be able to locate the flowers from the weeds. It also will be amusing to witness a state patrolman in the act of arresting a 5-year-old child in the act of picking a wild flower to present to his or her mother.

Perhaps a few Wild Flowers would stand a better chance if our river and streams were not contaminated with fly grease, and home sewage piped into a hunky sub-drain ditch. Of course, if California is going to...

Writer Argues For Water Test In T.F. Project

Editor, Times-News: As citizens and taxpayers of Twin Falls, seeing the waste and extravagance of our money, since we are to consider carefully the discussions.

Citizens vs. City Commissioners and City Manager, (who would swallow a whole hot dog at a gnat), of whom we expect proper leadership. These discussions have been in good English and in an honorable way, but apparently must be simplified for their understanding, (comparatively speaking).

We dig a hole of potatoes from our own field which are excellent, now we need two more loads. The wise man would take a spade, see what else we have before going to great distance and in great expense and burden with no improvement in quality. Furthermore we have a source of water, a low pressure system using eighth avenue as a supply line which would be an sprinkling system for the lawns which would relieve our filtering system materially.

Doing away with the open ditch which they say is costing $25 to $30 thousand a year. As citizens and taxpayers we appeal to your Highness to obtain the unnecessary bondage. # Minico Grabs Ninth Mat Title In Row As Declo Collects Third B Crown Minico, for the ninth straight time, and Declo, winning its third straight, Saturday night about as easily as expected. Minico's road wins made very easy when runner-up Twin Falls failed to win an individual title. Declo defeated second place Valley in most of its head-to-head matches. The champions and runner-up in each weight division will advance to the state tournament in Boise next weekend.

Minico wound up with 89 points followed by Twin Falls at 77 each. They had two 45 and 46 and Filer 21. In the B division, Declo posted 93 points while Valley had 86, Kimberly 72, Wood River 41 and Castletown 40.

The interesting point of the meet was that Twin Falls won the runner-up trophy and was the only school to fail to crown a champion.

Buhl, making a fine final night showing, and Minico shared the honors in the A division by crowning four champions. Each of the four—Jerome and Filer each had one. For the state meet Minico will enter seven men, Twin Falls six, Buhl and Burley four, Jerome two, and Filer one.

In the B division it was largely Declo, the Hornets boasting five champs. Kimberly had three, Valley two and Wood River one. Castletown and Declo will send nine men to state, Valley six, Kimberly five, and Wood River and Castletown two.

Minico Rallies In Fourth To Topple Idaho Falls By 74-68

RUPERT — Claude Rasmussen hit nine points and Bob Seamons six in the fourth quarter Friday night to lead Minico to a 74-68 Eastern Idaho Conference victory over Idaho Falls. The taller Idaho Falls squad was in the game until midway in the fourth quarter when Rasmussen hit a three-point play, the hard way, to put Minico in front 62-57. Rasmussen hit his first of two free throws and Irwin Reedy took the rebound on the second, tossed back to Rasmussen who then dropped in a short jumper.

The teams traded scores and Seamons then hit two free throws and a field goal as the Spartans went ahead 68-60 with 6:55 left to play. After that the two teams again traded baskets until the Tiger's Pack dropped in two free throws with only seconds left to provide the final margin.

Seamons ended the game with 25 points while Rasmussen had 20. Top shooter for Idaho Falls was Miller with 23 points.

The lead changed back and forth during the first three quarters with Minico managing to take the lead at the end of each period. Neither team took much of an edge until the fourth when Minico went ahead by the eight points.

Idaho Ends Weber's Home Win Streak At 46; ISU Topples Gonzaga 87-80

OGDEN, Utah (AP) — Weber State College's home-court winning streak ended at 46 Saturday night, when the University of Idaho upset the Wildcats' 68-57 in a Big Sky Conference basketball game.

The Vandals led throughout the contest and the cold-shooting Wildcats could never quite catch up.

Weber fell from a 37-29 half time deficit to pull within two points late in the game. But the deliberate Idahoans came in by slammed the door in Weber's face with accurate shooting from the field and foul line.

Weber was down 65-41 with just under one minute to play. Bob Niece sank a foul shot to make it 66-63, whipping out any hope of a Weber win.

WSC had won 46 straight games at home over a three-year span.

Dave Schottbauer led the Vandals with 16 points and 13 rebounds. Ted Bryant, for Weber, was high scorer with 18.

Weber switched from a man-to-man to zone defense early in the game in an effort to slow down the hot-shooting Vandals.

Bryant was the only Wildcat who seemed capable of hitting the rim in the first half. The lanky sophomore scored 13 points in the first half.

Midway through the second half, Morris Vernon came off the bench to spark the comeback. He stole several passes and either converted them or passed to teammates who were open.

ISU Sprints To 69-58 Win Over Vandals

POCATELLO, Idaho (AP) — Idaho State University poured through a torrent of free-throws Saturday night to defeat Gonzaga 87-80 in a Big Sky Conference game.

The revitalized Bengals won their third straight game — their first since 1962. They ran their Big Sky record to 2-3 while Gonzaga is now 3-3.

Center Gary Lechman led all scorers with 31 points for the Bulldogs. But ISU got 25 front Dave Parks, 19 from Ron Boone and 17 from Jerry Mosser.

The Bengals broke open a tight game midway through the second half, scoring 13 points in one stretch against a single field goal for Gonzaga. That made the score 69-52 with 8:20 to play. The Bengals began stalling with about six minutes to go and Gonzaga fouled repeatedly in an effort to get the ball.

Boone hit nine straight free throws in the second half and Mosser had 15 for 17 in the game.

Idaho State hit 21 of 57 field goal attempts for 37 per cent compared with 32 of 79, for 40 per cent for Gonzaga.

GLENN'S FERRY — Wood River took advantage of Glenns Ferry fouls late in the fourth quarter Friday night to pull out a 50-43 victory.

Van Brocklin Quits Vikings As Tarkenton Asks To Be Traded

ST. PAUL — MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Norm Van Brocklin, the only head coach the Minnesota Vikings have had since their entry into the National Football League six years ago, resigned Saturday.

The resignation was immediately accepted by the NFL's board of directors, and General Manager Jim Finks said, "as of now this club has no coach."

Van Brocklin did not attend a news conference called to make the announcement and was not available for comment.

The Vikings issued a prepared release which quoted Van Brocklin as saying:

"Under existing conditions I feel the general interest of the Minnesota Vikings as well as those of my family and myself are best served at this time by my resignation as head coach."

"I wish to emphasize that this is not a hasty decision on my part, but one that I have given serious consideration to over a period of several months. It is, obviously, not an easy decision to make."

"However, I do have peace of mind and general interest of my family in mind in arriving at this decision. They are of paramount importance to me."

"It is my hope that the many followers of the Vikings will continue their outstanding support of the team. It has, in its personal and leadership, all the elements of ultimate success."

Van Brocklin's resignation followed by one day an announcement that Minnesota quarterback Fran Tarkenton no longer wants to play for the Vikings.

How much the decision by the coach and player were related was largely left to speculation.

Finks said it was his feeling that Tarkenton's quitting was "not the basic reason for Norm's resignation, although I know it had a bearing."

Finks said Van Brocklin's resignation came as such a surprise that the Vikings had given no thought to a replacement.

"This just happened," Finks said. "Frankly, we haven't had any time to give it any thought."

Murtaugh Trims Declo In Loop Play

MURTAUGH — Murtaugh pulled away in the second half Friday night and behind Ron Anderson's 10 points in the fourth quarter, scored a 75-54 Magic Valley Conference victory over Declo.

The Red Devils, getting 18 points from Gene Rambo, 17 from Anderson and 14 from Earl Quessell, led throughout the game, but didn't have a winning margin until late in the third quarter as they took a 30-point lead.

at all. It took me and the entire organization by surprise. Very much so.

"The timing is very poor. We have our work cut out for us. It looks pretty dark for us... there's no way to fool anybody."

Van Brocklin resigned in mid-season, 1965, when he — by his own admission — despaired of the Vikings' inability to "get over the hump" and challenge for the championship of the Western Conference in the AFL.

However, he had a change of heart and returned as head coach 24 hours later, saying: "I've never been a quitter."

The breach between Van Brocklin and Tarkenton, rumored to be widening the past season, apparently was a key factor in both men's quitting.

Valentine's Day Denotes Romance

By NORMA HERZINGER

St. Valentine's Day makes one think nostalgic thoughts of sweethearts, love, engagements and marriages. In fact, these romantic traditions seem to gain greater importance every year.

Even in this modern, wonderful age of outer space flight, colored television and the mini-skirt, the old fashioned valentine and the romantic adventures of cupid and diamond rings still make the world go 'round.

Today Valentine's Day has become one of the most sentimental and romantic days of all. It is very indicative of love and gives added opportunity to pay recognition to that very special someone. Representing the many, many Magic Valley sweethearts who have made wedding plans and set that extra special date are Penny Cristobal, daughter of Mrs. Milda Churchman, Twin Falls, and the late John Cristobal, and Robert Rowe, Twin Falls, son of Mrs. Iris Rowe, Buhl, and Cleon Rowe, Portland, Ore.

Miss Cristobal is a graduate of Jerome High School and attended Idaho State University. She is employed at Crowley Pharmacy, Twin Falls.

Mr. Rowe was graduated from Buhl High School and attended Idaho State University. He is employed at Hudson's Shoe Store.

The couple has named the day after Easter, March 27, as their wedding day at St. Edward's Catholic Church. A reception will be held in their honor immediately after the ceremony at the church. They plan to reside in Twin Falls.

SHERRY DUHLER

... and Hyrum Newton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Newton, Coalville, Utah, are planning a June 9 wedding. It is announced by Miss DuHler's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Merold DuHler, Wendell. The bride-elect was graduated from Shoshone High School and is a sophomore at Dixie College, St. George, Utah, where she is majoring in home economics. Mr. Newton is a 1963 graduate of Coalville High School. He is a line backer on the Dixie College football team and is majoring in physical education for a career as a coach.

LINDA JOHNSON

... is engaged to Rolan B. Senlor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Max B. Senlor, Springville, Utah. It is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin C. Johnson, Twin Falls. The bride-elect has studied at Brigham Young University and is employed in Salt Lake City. Mr. Senlor has studied at Snow College, Utah, and is attending Brigham Young University. He completed an LDS Southwest British mission. The couple plans a Feb. 18 wedding at the Salt Lake City LDS Temple. A reception will be held Feb. 17 at the Mapleton Church and an open house will be held Feb. 23 in Twin Falls.

PATRICIA ANN KERDS

... and Raymond Watrin are making plans for a spring wedding. Announcement of the nuptial plans is made by the parents of the bride-elect, Mr. and Mrs. William Kerbs, Rupert. Mr. Watrin is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Watrin, High River, Alberta, Canada. Miss Kerbs is a 1966 graduate of Minico High School and both she and her fiance are attending Utah State University.

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN DEAR ABBY: I am a 22-year-old wife and the mother of two small children. I live in a farmhouse far from neighbors. My husband is away at work all day 30 miles from here. Our elderly landlord comes to visit me almost every day. Until now his visits seemed harmless. He talks about the weather and news, etc.

But lately he's been putting his arms around me and he talks about sex all the time. I try changing the subject, but something he gets back on sex again. I'm afraid to tell my husband. Maybe I should tell the landlord's wife? I hate to come right out and make accusations because he's been so nice to us it may ruin our friendship. What should I do?

Another Remnant Of The Past Fades As Modern Day Manufacturing Takes Over

FORMERLY KNOWN AS the Self Manufacturing Co., the newly-named K & T Steel Corp. has moved from the company's old location on Shoshone Street East to Diamond Ave. Founded in 1910 as a blacksmith shop, the firm has undergone name and product changes during the last 57 years. (Times-News photo)

Steel sparks flying and a man's face illuminated by the glow of a hot, curved piece of metal.

Fifty-seven years ago, it was the glow of a horseshoe in a small blacksmith shop in the Twin Falls township. Today, it's the glow of steel being shaped into gigantic beams for use in skyscrapers and other examples of modern building—steel being fabricated at the K and T Steel Corp., the company spawned by the blacksmith shop.

The original shop was founded by the late G. H. Self, renowned area inventor and businessman who, among other things, invented the shock absorber that was used on the Model T Fords of the time. Mr. Self, who moved to Twin Falls from Illinois, was indeed an inventive man and had scores of patents on various farm machinery he had invented particularly for western farmers.

He expanded his operation into the farm machinery field shortly after opening the blacksmith shop and thus started what was to become an institution in Magic Valley—the Self Machinery Co.

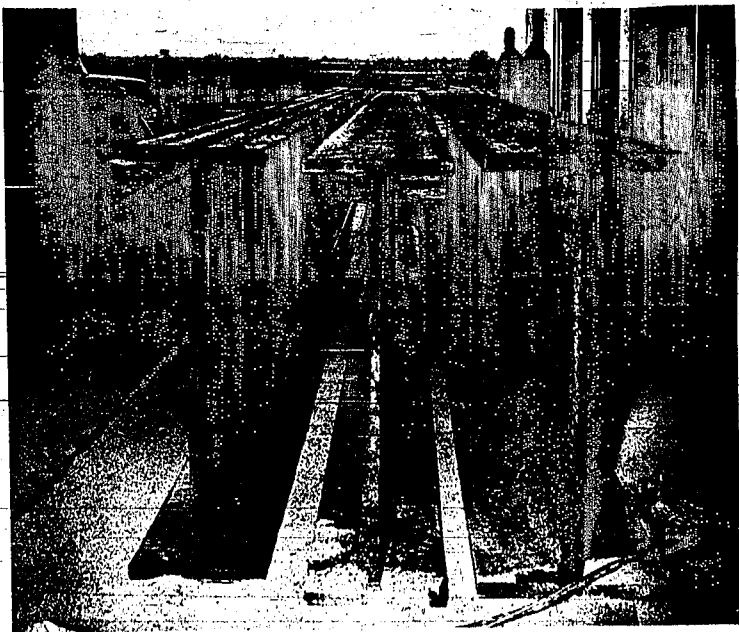

G. H. Self moved his company from its original location on Shoshone Street East to Second Avenue South and later to Third Avenue South where it remained until December, 1956, when, with a new name and a newer line of steel products, it was moved to its present location at 322 Diamond St. W.

The company started its transition from horseshoes to farm machinery to fabricated steel on a gradual basis. In the 1940's assuming ownership of the company after his father's

Local Firm Glamorizes Camping, Traveling With Customized, Luxurious Bus Coaches

By PEGGY LALEY
Times-News Feature Writer

Americans are becoming a mobile people. Entire families take to the road, some in trailer houses, some in pickup camper units, but the newest innovation in the industry of homes-on-wheels is the conversion of buses into living-dwelling units.

The company of Better Built Coaches, Inc., operated by Vic Graybeal and Bill Miller, here in Twin Falls, is worth a visit even if you are not in the mood to go traveling.

Mr. Miller and Mr. Graybeal start with a bus. They come in all sizes, from the schoolbus size to the larger models used by transcontinental transportation companies.

First, the seats are torn out, then comes a series of remodeling that ends with a result that is hard to believe.

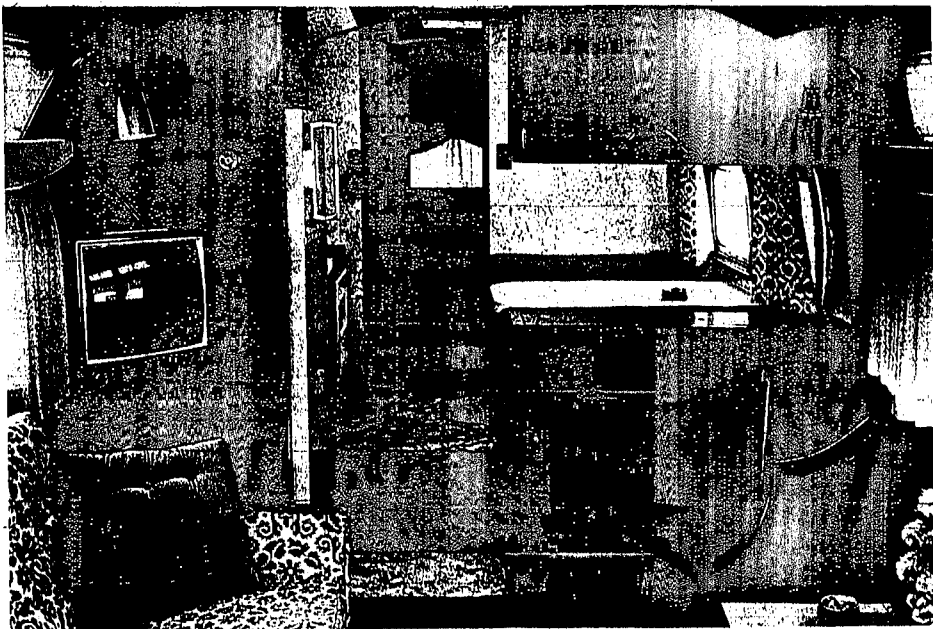

The smaller units are compact, complete and convenient in all the appointments necessary to make the camp in a lounge of "camping out" a thing of the past.

The larger units achieve a luxuriousness that is hard to believe but would be no easy to live with. No longer do you have to cook over an open fire or even a camp stove.

The buses are equipped with built-in stoves, gas or electric refrigerators and sinks with hot and cold running water.

There is more-than-adequate storage space for dishes, cooking utensils, linens and clothing.

The coaches have water storage tanks so that even when you are on the road you have water. They can be equipped with generators so the electricity is available even though not connected with a central system.

Luxurious interiors of converted buses change the age-old concept of the rigors of camping out. Many mobile American families are taking to the road

In these units that are designed for truly comfortable traveling. (Times-News photo)

All the comforts of home are there, including lavatory and shower.

The interiors also feature wood paneling, wall-to-wall carpeting, draperies, custom designed furniture, piped-in stereo and radio, TV, air conditioning and forced air heat and a sewage holding tank.

There are three types of coaches that are customized by the company: the "Sportsman" in a regular school bus; the "Family Coach" in a flexible chassis and the "Executive" on a Greyhound bus chassis.

However, they also welcome specialty jobs and any other comparable chassis furnished by the customer can be converted.

The work and eating surface areas in the kitchen, floors not carpeted, the shower-stall and other similar areas are covered with unique new product called Targolux which is applied in a liquid form and provides a smoothness and beauty that is quite outstanding.

Mr. Graybeal and Mr. Miller have been operating this business since last September. Mr. Miller and his family moved here from Grand Junction, Colo., in August. Mr. Graybeal has long been a resident of Twin Falls.

Darwayne Martin is also associated with the two men, having moved from Grand Junction in November.

If you are a family of mobile Americans, or even if you are not, a visit to the firm, located at 402 Washington street will open up a new concept of travel. Travelers can now eat, sleep in comfort, play cards and rest while on the move.

The kids can even scuffle without endangering the life and limb of the other passengers.

rs in Mrs. Glenn's class are three- and four-year young-ers than he. Chin also smiles constantly and his very cheer-fulness sets him apart. Besides all that, he dresses much more formally than his American counterparts, usually wearing the English-style slacks and sports shirt and never the fami-lar "jeans." And of course, a Chinese boy all the way from Hong Kong would attract notice in any situation.

Mrs. Glenn says that her other students seem particularly im-pressed with the distance Chin traveled to come to Idaho.

"When he first came I showed the other children where China's home was on the world globe, and they just couldn't seem to get over the fact that he had come so far," she said.

Chin will be able to learn a lot from his new classmates, but they are benefiting just as

Area Maker Of Ski Poles

Leads World

SUN VALLEY — The world leader in ski pole production, Scott, U.S.A., is headquartered on the doorstep of the famed ski city, Sun Valley.

The lightweight pole gained in-ternational acclaim in Chile during the Declaration of International Skiing Championship in 1966 where 90 per cent of the competitors were using the Idaho poles.

Designer Edward Scott dis-tributes all over the United States, Switzerland, Italy, Swe-den, England, Finland, Lebanon, Japan, New Zealand, Australia and Chile.

Scott, attracted to the resort of Sun Valley in the late 1940's, established a ski repair shop in Ketchum and soon began man-ufacturing ski poles. His whole-sale distribution was then local-ized in the West.

In 1966 a manufacturing com-pany in Montreal, Canada, was licensed to manufacture the poles under the name Scott, U.S.A.

Scott shipped $400,000 worth of merchandise during June 30 and Dec. 31, 1966, a record amount for that time span. He anticipates a production of 40,000 to 50,000 pairs for the winter of 1966-67.

Another ski product display-ing the Scott brand is a snow glove, specially insulated and made of a flexible material that grips easily around the pole. The glove appeared on market last fall. Scott plans to expand both prod-ucts and introduce other equip-ment into the ski market.

He is a citizen of his adopted country and has been since Au-gust, a fact of which he seems very proud. His wife and son arrived in the United States Jan. 14. He has a daughter, age 28, who still lives in Hong Kong. Both Chin's father and mother have high hopes in the family's new country. From what we've seen, however, it would be difficult for Chin to make a bigger hit with the people of Twin Falls than that he's already scored.

Interest Candy Man, in the right cage, who is being fed the favorite lunch of many teenagers, frozen fries, candy and sugar-free beverages. The experiment is part of a study on nutrition in the home economics class. (Times-News photo)

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

"It's meant to feed Candy Man that stuff," members of the home economics class at Wood River High School at Halley are telling their instructor, Mrs. Jay Fowles. And Mrs. Fowles is smiling to herself. For Candy Man, a fat little hamster born several weeks ago in the school's science laboratory, is being fed what most of those feeling sorry for him eat themselves—candy bars, sugar-free beverages and French fries. Candy Man is one of a litter of 12. Seven of the 12 were launched on experimental diets begun the last of January as a project in the home economics study of bal-anced diets.

Candy Man's diet is not to his liking. Although hungry, he takes only a taste of the cho-colate bars and scarcely touch-es the beverage. French fries he has decided are not so bad. After 48 hours he was more listless than his brothers and sisters.

Five of Candy Man's brothers and sisters are being fed vita-min-deficient prepared foods. Mr. "B" is getting no vita-min D in his diet. Henry's food is deficient in thiamine. Mr. Jay's diet is deficient in min-erals, even down to drinking dis-tilled water. There is no vitamin A in Pudgy's food, and Charlie's food is deficient in pro-tein.

Only Festes is getting real 'longbranch' meals, stuffed full of vitamins and minerals. And how he is enjoying life.

At the start of the experi-ment the tiny animals each weighed within a few grams of each other. Each day they are weighed by members of the science class, who are co-operating in the project.

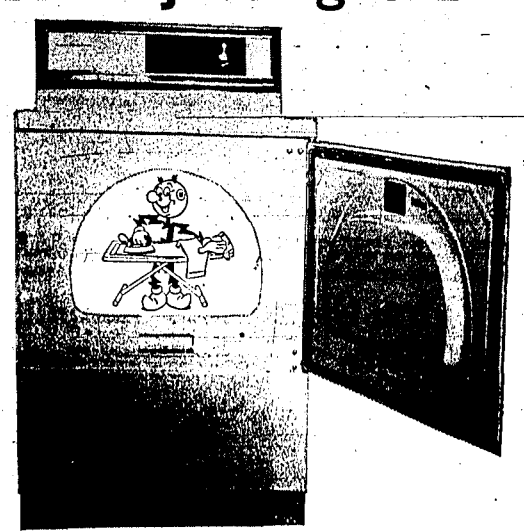

Girls in the home economics class are divided into groups and each group is studying a particular nutrient so they will know what symptoms to look for in their pets as the days pass.

Each rock for the house was measured for size and hauled to the ranch from a distance of several miles when the old buildings were constructed in 1919.

A barn which has long been a landmark on the old Coblanitz ranch south of KING HILL, was burned recently by Harold Van Sickle who wanted to make more land space at the ranch. Mr. and Mrs. Sickle have pur-chased the ranch and are busy cutting trees, fixing fences and planting shrubs around the house.

The ranch formerly was owned by Jay Coblanitz and the land was obtained in the drawing of 1908 when the King Hill project was opened up to farmers. The barn was built in 1919 out of railroad ties. A rock house, which still stands, was also built by the Coblanitz family. The Van Sickle family, the Van telephone connection.

The Money Box

BY FRANK SCHELL

The column is a receipt of a letter from B. F. G., Buhl, which asks: Would you give me value of these coins?

1. A $1.00, 1890, woman's head with Liberty, E Pluribus Unum. Other side an eagle, "In God We Trust."

2. Five cent Buffalo and Indian Head, date 1919, E Pluribus Unum.

3. Large cent, 1856, U.S. of America one side, wreath around One Cent.

4. One cent Canada, 1918, printed George V. Dei. Gra. Rex Ed. Imp.

5. One cent Flying Eagle, 1857.

Answers: Your coins are all of standard issue. Since you do not give me any definite idea of the condition, I can only guess as to the values. The 1890 dollar, Philadelphia mintage, is quite common, and should bring you from $1.25 to $2.50 depending on its condition. However, if it is a mintmark, it is quite rare and may be worth between $5 and $12. The San Francisco mintage is valued from $2 to $6. Look on the reverse side, under the eagle, for mintmarks. Depending upon condition your Buffalo nickel could vary between 10 cents to $25—again depending upon the mintmark. The Philadelphia one cent is very common on this one. Check for a mintmark under the Buffalo. The 1856 large cent is worth from about 85 cents up to around $10, depending entirely upon condition. The 1818 Canadian one-cent piece is very common, having been minted to the number of over 12 million pieces. The value will vary between 15 cents and $2, depending, again, on condition. The 1857 Flying Eagle cent will sell from 85 cents up to as much as $10. I am sorry I cannot be more specific. Your coins would have to be graded in order for us to give you a firm quote. If we can be of further assistance, do not hesitate to write again. If you care to mail us the coins, insured, we can give you a definite value at the values. Please include return postage and insurance fee if you so desire. Question from G. S. in Buxley: I have a large medal about the size of a dollar. On one side is a picture of a bearded man, and on the other side is a picture of a man on horseback. The words "Cyrus Bull McComick" with the dates 1809 and 1881 on it, and also the words "Inventor of the Reaper." On the other side is a picture of an old horse-drawn machine, above it says International Harvester Company and underneath Centennial of the Reaper, 1831-1931. Is it valuable? What can you tell me about it?

Answer: You have a Centennial Medal, issued in 1891 by the International Harvester Co.,

Teens United With 4-H Eye Constitution

JEROME — A constitution and bylaws for the Teens United with 4-H were the study focus at the February meeting of the group at Wood Cafe in Jerome.

Nine points to be incorporated in the constitution came under discussion.

Sandra Hall suggested a pamphlet be prepared, explaining the Teens organization, its purposes and activities and listing the names, addresses and phone numbers of members. Preparation of a scrapbook was also discussed.

It was decided to alternate meetings between Jerome and Hazelton areas as much as possible. The next meeting will be at 7 p.m. Monday, in the Jerome County District Court room.

This will be a box social, and lunch boxes will be auctioned at more than 50 cents a box. Each member is to bring a friend of the opposite sex.

Officers will be installed at this meeting.

Remnant Of Past Is Fading Away

death, Kenneth G. Self brought visions of manufacturing large volumes of farm equipment to the firm.

Kenneth G. Self bought the company from his mother in 1948, although he retained ownership of the land and the buildings on Second Avenue South and Third Avenue South.

He later transferred management to Lavener B. Thornock in 1950, when Mr. Self moved to Salt Lake City to set up a distributorship of the Ford Tractor.

He retained ownership of the company until his death in 1957, when Mr. Thornock became general manager of the firm.

G. Koch entered into a partnership with Mr. Thornock in 1958 and they purchased the business from Mrs. Phyllis Self, Kenneth G. Self's widow. Within two or three years the policy and production line of the company changed from manufacturing farm machinery to greater work in steel fabrication. Steel fabrication is currently the major concern of the business, now called the K and T Steel Corp.

In 1963, a steel service center which takes care of selling steel and steel items to Magic Valley, Nevada and surrounding areas was added to the corporation's operation. The center now services areas in Idaho, Montana, Wyoming, California, Nevada and Utah. In addition to steel fabrication, the company also handles manufacture of farm tanks for liquid fertilizer and petroleum storage.

From the small blacksmith shop in the 1910's, the business has grown into a $275,000-per-year operation employing 45 people and occupying 20,000 feet of floor space at the Diamond St. location. Management and policies have changed over the years, but the company is noted for the long service records of its employees — many of which helped Kenneth G. Self manufacture farm machinery in the 1940's.

Mr. Koch is president of the company and Mr. Thornock is vice president. Carolyn Pence is secretary. The name change is a new feature, since for eight years the company has been owned by Mr. Koch and Mr. Thornock but operated under the Self Manufacturing Co. name.

The glow that now illuminates the face of K and T Corp. employees may come from a complex welder's torch instead of a bluing fire and it may be a "street again" instead of a "shop" that is manufacturing. MRS. ANDREW HILVERDA will head a pilot study in a Small Schools guidance program at Kimberly beginning in September. She is now evaluating facilities and services for the project until June 1 and will work with teachers to widen the scope of the guidance program. The pilot project is designed to allow educators to view it and then adapt the program for their own schools.

Kimberly Selected For Pilot Study In Guidance Program

KIMBERLY — Kimberly has been selected for a pilot study in a Small Schools Guidance Program.

Robert Sherman, superintendent of the Kimberly schools, said Kimberly was selected over other schools in the state by an evaluation team. The experimental guidance program to be launched in September will become a model for small, rural school districts in Alaska, Washington, Oregon, Montana and Idaho.

The program is designed to enable educators to examine it and plan ways of introducing similar innovations in other school districts. The pilot study will be for a three-year period.

Mrs. Andrew Hilverda, who will direct the pilot study for the Northwest Regional Educational Research Laboratory, points out the guidance program will become an integral part of the school curriculum. It will involve all members of the teaching staff and guidance personnel at all grade levels. Emphasis will be put upon integrating all the school forces and facilities in performing the guidance functions from kindergarten through grade 12, Sherman said.

One major function of the demonstration program will be to help students become acquainted with a much wider range of vocational and educational information. Much of this will be done by teachers in conjunction with their subject matter. Guidance-oriented units will be developed to give the student a framework for interpreting educational and vocational information.

New kinds of learning aids will be made available for teachers and students. A room, separate from the library, will be equipped to provide an abundance of vocational information. Guidance personnel involved in the pilot study will attend an eight-week workshop at Idaho State University, Pocatello, this summer, for special training. Assistance will be provided by the project director, Dr. Thomas Edgar, of ISU, director of the Small School Guidance

History Is Observed By Wendell Unit

Barbara Adams of the Hagerman Future Homemakers of America gave a clothing demonstration. She was assisted by Robyn Lemmon, a classmate.

Mrs. Larry Jasper received the obligation from C. T. Cror, Grange master. Henry Schmidt gave the agricultural report concerning the importation of "Colby Cheddar." Raymond Hilt was based on the legislation decision on oleo-tan.

Guests from the Murtaugh Grange were present. Mr. and Mrs. John Austin and Mr. and Mrs. George Fuller were hosts.

Program for the Northwest Regional Research Laboratory. Criteria for the selection of the pilot school, Mrs. Hilverda said, was based on size, willingness to participate and prospects for continuation of the program. The high schools selected have fewer than 200 students.

Mrs. Hilverda, who will direct the pilot study as counselor-coordinator, will function partly as a supervisor of teachers, counsel with students concerning personal, educational and vocational problems and work to develop confidence on the part of teachers in assuming a major and important role in the total guidance function.

She will evaluate facilities, services and activities for possible contribution to the integrated guidance program from now until June 1. She also will attempt to learn students' expressed needs and preferences for the guidance program.

Mrs. Hilverda has taught in elementary, junior high and high school and served as guidance counselor. She has a B.S. degree in elementary education and a master's in education with a major in guidance and counseling from ISU.

JADE PLANTS: The Jade plant (Crassula) is found in the majority of American homes. Its leaves are fleshy and the plant resembles a cactus.

While there are hundreds of Crassulas, the most common is the Jade Plant. It likes a light sunny window, temperature 72 degrees and a soil mixture of one-third each sand, peat and loam.

Too much water (or poor drainage) causes the leaves to shrivel. Let the plant get dry between waterings.

Propagation. Take cuttings from tips and root them in moist sand. Or try this trick: take just a leaf (if itself) and place it on a window sill. Leave it there for a period of 3 to 6 weeks, and pretty soon you'll notice it has small leaves and roots, all ready to plant in a pot of soil.

HOW-TO-DRY-PUMPKINS: I've been asked for tips on how to dry pumpkins for winter use. Here are two tips which came to me. Cut the top out of the pumpkin, clean out the insides (save seeds to eat).

Then cut up the pumpkin in rings one inch thick. String the round rings up on poles to dry. When good and dry the rings are cut up in pieces and placed in flour sacks where they are hung from a wall to dry further.

Here's another. Prepare a large sack into cubes or strips as the rind is thick, discarding inner pulp and seeds. Cook until soft and squeeze through colander. Dry in slow oven or in an envelope placed with door open, covered to depth of one inch. This takes about eight hours. Store in a dry place until ready for use soak overnight in milk.

TRIM SHADE TREES: Winter's a fine time to get out the pruning shears and trim the trees and shrubs. Cut out any limbs that rub or cross over, and if the top is too tall, trim it back.

Put out limbs that form narrow angled crotches especially on young trees. The narrower the crotch the weaker the angle. Wide angled crotches are much better.

If you've had a hard job growing grass under a shade tree, sometimes you can correct it by cutting out some limbs to let light in.

Make all cuts flush. Don't leave any stubs because they can't heal over. Chorded cuts, made with a good tree paint. Smaller wounds need no protective covering.

Dead wood or diseased limbs can be cut now. Winter's an ideal time to thin out your trees because leaves are absent and you can see what you're doing. Also, dormant trees don't mind the trimming as much.

Trees which have been thinned and pruned can withstand wind and snow storms better than unpruned trees. Trees are worth money. If you can't thin the limbs yourself, hire it done by a tree expert.

HOUSE PLANT SOILS: Ever notice they wriggle in the soil of your house plants, especially when you apply water? These tiny white wrigglers are springtails. In small numbers they are harmless, but when overpopulated they can be troublesome.

Another pest is the symphylid, which is really serious. CONTROL: Both insects can be controlled by dusting the soil with DDT or chloroform and watering the potting in. Just scatter a bit of dust over the surface.

NORFOLK ISLAND PINE: You won't think that a pine which grows 200 feet high outdoors would make a good house plant, yet the Norfolk Island Pine will.

Articularia excelsa, or Norfolk Pine, has green, delicate foliage resembling a true pine and makes an excellent plant for the modern home. CULTURE: Grow it on the cool side (less than 70 degrees). Over 72 degrees the leaves turn brown, dry up and fall off.

It likes a light, semi-sunny window, or semi-shady situation, and the soil should be kept evenly moist at all times. Use soil mixture of one-third each sand, peat and loam.

If you gets a bit lanky cut the top out and root it in a Jug of water.

BUYING PESTICIDES: If you are going to buy pesticides for the coming growing season it's a good idea to study over the labels. Skip the jargon, read the names and pay attention to the shortened or common names.

A few labels still say "harmless," "safe," or "non-toxic." This is misleading because no pesticide is harmless, safe or non-toxic. If they can kill an insect, they can kill a person, if enough is used.

Pesticides are safe if used safely. As a commercial grower with over a quarter century of growing experience, I strongly believe in the use of pesticides. Home gardeners can use them with safety if they read and follow all warnings and cautions on the labels. Generally speaking, use all purpose water-soluble insecticides for the home gardener. You can mix your own or buy the formulation all mixed.

Home-made general-purpose sprays or dusts are cheaper, but if you have only a limited amount of gardening, it might

Insect Infestation, Lack Of Forest Access Roads Causing Vast Wasteland

BOISE—A heavy insect infestation—and a lack of adequate forest access roads fast making a "biological desert" out of prime timber areas in Southern Idaho, according to Ted Hoff, president of the Southern Idaho Forestry Association.

Mr. Hoff, Horseshoe Bend, says only the application of the multiple-use concept, advocated by the U.S. Forest Service, will prevent such areas from becoming almost vast wastelands.

"The mountain pine beetle, which has attacked timber stands in Southern Idaho, is the most destructive forest insect in Idaho," Hoff said. "It is estimated that 145,000 acres of commercial timber in the eight national forests available for harvest when the areas are made accessible by access roads."

Hoff points out there are 6,445,093 acres of commercial timber in the eight national forests available for harvest when the areas are made accessible by access roads.

What Hoff says is that the multiple-use concept, advocated by the U.S. Forest Service, will prevent such areas from becoming almost vast wastelands.

"The mountain pine beetle, which has attacked timber stands in Southern Idaho, is the most destructive forest insect in Idaho," Hoff said.

"What is happening in the Targhee National Forest," Hoff says, "can easily occur in any forest area with a resulting loss of millions of dollars of timber and land use."

Lumber Yard Is Planned For Wendell

WENDELL — Clyde Bishop, Twin Falls, plans to open a lumber yard in the Keith Davis machine shop building.

Mr. Bishop was guest speaker at the Wendell Chamber of Commerce breakfast meeting Wednesday and told of his future plans.

Charles Icton, chamber president, reviewed actions discussed by the South Idaho Chamber and asked opinions of members as to how the local delegates to the area chamber should vote.

Dale Dewep reported as chairman of the agriculture committee for the South Idaho chamber. Projects of Northside Communities were reported by Earl Skidmore, secretary of that organization.

It was reported that in checking plans for the signs on the new interstate highway it was found that the sign "Gas, Food and Lodging" had been omitted from the exits to Wendell and Gooding. It was decided to send a letter to the district engineer at Shoshone requesting that the signs be included.

The president asked for two resolutions to be drawn up to be presented to the South Idaho chamber, one in favor of the regional airport and one opposing the abolishment of the lower courts of Idaho and replacing them with state-appointed magistrates.

Ted Eastman, operator of the new trout farm of Clear Lakes Trout Co., will be invited and Gooding as a new business man at the next meeting.

Multiple-use management is the answer. If we can present a unified front we can go a long way in convincing Congress of the need for additional funds to build forest access roads.

"The time has arrived," Hoff says, "for these interests to start pulling together to obtain maximum use from the forests and full benefits for all."
