Big Guns Shell Red Vietnam

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. headquarters announced today that American forces have begun shelling North Vietnam with long-range artillery based in South Vietnam for the first time in the war. An American military spokesman said U.S. artillerymen fired into the demilitarized zone and north of it with 155mm guns, the biggest in Vietnam, which have a range of 20 miles.

The announcement came as about 45,000 American troops moved behind tanks and other tanks in the Communist's war zone. U.S. troops reported killing 19 Viet Cong so far in the new Operation Junction City, and the Communists responded with at least two mortar shellings of American positions. U.S. headquarters said American casualties were light so far.

Though contact with the enemy troops was light, more than a half dozen tanks and other tracked vehicles struck and mines which tore off their tracks. Five U.S. Army helicopters were shot down by enemy ground fire, but U.S. spokesmen said all five were lifted from the battle area and casualties totaled three wounded.

A massive assault launched Wednesday, deployed the U.S. troops in a pincer drive against possibly 10,000 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops in the area of the Viet Cong 9th Division and support units.

Skiing Said Excellent In Valley Areas

Excellent skiing, somewhat on the spring side, is reported for the coming weekend for most of the resorts.

Soldier Mountain at Fairfield reports excellent conditions for their annual junior ski race program to be held Saturday. The race to the area also is reported good.

No new snow has fallen in the region during the week but depths of approximately four inches are reported on Magic Mountain ski runs. Sunshine and temperatures of 28 degrees are expected during Thursday and Friday, adding to excellent conditions on all packed runs.

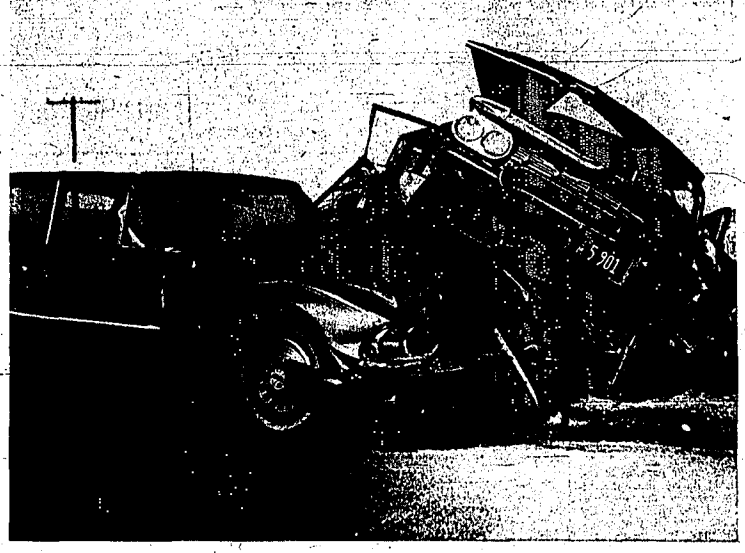

Pomerelle lists six feet of snow for a total depth and an excellent weekend. Conditions are excellent this week, conditions are excellent.

Sun Valley also lists excellent skiing with sunshine during the past week.

Ferrie Death Not Suicide, Says Coroner

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Coroner Nicholas Chetta said today a chemical analysis of the body of David W. Ferrie showed he had died of natural causes.

There is no indication whatsoever of suicide or murder, Chetta said.

BOTH VEHICLES involved in a collision on State Highway 27 three miles south of Burley Thursday afternoon were demolished. Mrs. Katherine Stevenson, 54, Route 7, Burley, and Jenger Cranney, 8, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Cranney Jr., Oakley, were killed and the child's mother and Mrs. Stevenson's daughter, Mrs. Robert Thompson, Heyburn, were hospitalized.

Explosion Injures Jerome Worker, 28

JEROME—Kenneth Robbins, 28, Jerome, was undergoing emergency surgery Friday noon at St. Benedict's Hospital here after being injured Thursday afternoon when the jack hammer he was using struck a stick of dynamite.

Family members said Mr. Robbins, who is employed by the P and E Pipeline Co., was engaged in a drill south of Gooding where water pipeline is being installed. Dynamite had been used in the rocky area and this stick apparently failed to explode previously.

The pipeline is being laid in connection with a construction project on the Shoshone-Gooding highway.

Mr. Robbins was taken to Gooding Memorial Hospital for emergency treatment, then transferred to St. Benedict's Hospital. His hand was injured as well as his face and it was reported both legs were seriously injured.

Roy Roberts, Kansas City Editor, Dies

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Roy Roberts, reporter, editor, president and finally chairman of the Kansas City Star, died Thursday night at the age of 70.

The excellent man behind the big cigar had said of himself: "I'll always be a reporter. Before anything else, I'm still a fellow looking for a story."

And for 56 years the Kansas City Star felt the impact of this man whose zest for work filled every waking moment with gusto.

Mr. Roberts traveled the classic road from carrier boy to head of a newspaper. Along the way he became known as "half newspaperman — half politician."

His love of politics, he missed only one of the national Republican conventions between 1912 and 1960.

India Crisis Could Topple Government
NEW DELHI, India (AP) — A political crisis in India is deepening, imperiling the ruling Congress party's majority in Parliament today and confronting Prime Minister Indira Gandhi with a crisis that could bring down her government.

With 180 of Parliament's 520 seats decided, the Congress party had won 92, only four more than the combined opposition.

Crash Claims Oakley Girl, Burley Woman

BURLEY—A Burley woman and an 8-year-old Oakley girl were killed and two other women are listed in good condition at Cassia Memorial Hospital Friday after a two-car collision at 3:10 p.m. Thursday on State Highway 27 three miles south of here. Dead are Mrs. Katherine Norman Stevenson, 54, Route 1, Burley, and Jenger Crane, 8, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Cranney Jr., Oakley. The child's mother, Mrs. Jenny Cranney, and Mrs. Robert (Norma) Thompson, Heyburn, daughter of Mrs. Stevenson, are reported in good condition.

State Patrolman Charles Peugh and Robert Brown, both Burley, said the vehicles collided head-on at the intersection of a county road and Highway 27 when Mrs. Thompson, who was driving a 1959 Chevrolet station wagon east on the county road, drove onto the highway.

She told officers the stop sign at the intersection is down and she did not realize she was entering the Oakley highway. The station wagon was hit broadside by a 1963 Ford being driven north by Mrs. Cranney.

The second and third traffic deaths of 1967 in Magic Valley occurred Feb. 23 as the result of an accident in Cassia County.

The impact knocked both vehicles into a fence and officers said both cars were demolished. Investigation into the double fatality is continuing, officers said.

Mrs. Katherine Norma Stevenson was born Feb. 23, 1913, at Oakley and was married to Quincy Golden Stevenson Jan. 11, 1938, at Twin Falls.

She was a member of the Decatur ward of the LDS Church. Survivors include her husband, Burley; two daughters, Mrs. Robert Thompson, Heyburn, and Mrs. Phillip Cobbley, Harstow, Calif.; one brother, Willy Dyer, See CRASH, Pg. 2, Col. 4.

High Winds, Record Cold Temperatures Numb 13 States In Wake Of Blizzard

By The Associated Press
Winds up to 62 miles per hour and record cold temperatures numbed 13 states in the wake of a blizzard that hit Chicago and the Midwest.

Subzero readings ranged from the northern Rocky Mountains to the western Great Lakes and edged as far south as Missouri. A surprise storm that raked the Northeast Thursday flew out to sea off the coast of Newfoundland today after dumping snow on most of New England and New York.

Emergency Bill Is Passed To Allow CSI Bond Sales

Senate Okays Funds For Gem Universities

By EARLE L. JESTER
Associated Press Writer
BOISE (AP)—The Idaho Senate approved today with overwhelming margins a multimillion dollar measure providing funds for the state's two universities. The margin on the bill appropriating funds for the University of Idaho was 31-4 and for the bill providing money for Idaho State University, 32-3.

The margin was far beyond the two-thirds required to override a veto, if one is forthcoming from the governor who recommended a considerably smaller appropriation. Opponents of the university appropriation contended there was not enough money available to provide an equal increase in state support for the public schools.

Contracts For T.F. Water Project OK'd

Contracts for construction of the second phase of the Twin Falls water development project were approved Thursday night in a resolution passed unanimously by City Commission members.

Successful bidders on the $1,241,322 project include Kleopfer Construction Co., Logan, Utah, schedules one and two, $425,817; Newell Olsen and Sons, Inc., schedules three and four, $634,285, and Crum Prestressing, Inc., schedule five, $181,220.

The Thursday meeting was the third held this week to discuss the contract awarding after attorneys for the second low bidder, W. Ballou, said the Idaho code in that he named Home Plumbing Co., Twin Falls, as the sub-contractor on mechanical work but did not intend to use the firm's entire bid. The law, he said, stipulates the sub-contractor be named and used.

Attorneys for the Utah firm, Robert W. Ballou, said the law was being complied with in that the Home Plumbing firm was named on the bid and at least $1,000 in work was assigned to the firm's entire bid. The law, he said, stipulates the sub-contractor be named and used.

T.F. County Tax Unit Is Organized
FILER — Formation of a Twin Falls county chapter of the Idaho Tax Equity Association was reported today, with Richard Love, Buhl, as the chairman.

Love said the group "wholeheartedly is in support of the $154.1 million budget proposed by Gov. Don W. Samuelson."

The present economy of Idaho, he said, "does not justify any large increases in state spending."

The sudden fury of the storm that hit Chicago blindsided the public drivers and pedestrians. The storm that struck after midnight moved off so swiftly that four to five inches of snow fell in suburbs northwest of Chicago within an hour.

Officials of NSA, the nation's oldest and largest student organization, scheduled a news conference today to announce the revelation of public and professional support, a spokesman said.

Indian Nizam Leaves Family Vast Wealth

HYDERABAD, India (AP) — The Hyderabad government today announced the death of the Nizam of Hyderabad, 80-year-old former ruler of the princely state, and one reputed to be the richest man in the world.

The Nizam had been in failing health for some weeks following an attack of influenza.

Under Britain's rule of India, the Nizam exercised supreme power over 18 million subjects in his south Indian state. But Indian troops quickly overthrew him in the summer of 1948 after he refused to align his state with the new government of India.

The Indian government made him titular governor of the state, a largely honorary post, and gave him an annual pension of 10 million after confiscating most of his lands.

Rich, miserly, eccentric and a religious expert for his Nizam and family, the Nizam was a Moslem who claimed descent from the Prophet Mohammed. He was reported to have had 42 sons and 60 grandchildren.

Gooding Tax Group Meets On Saturday

GOODING — Gooding County members of the Idaho Tax Equity Association will meet at 8 p.m. Saturday at the Stop Cafe to hear Lew Wagner, chairman of the Gooding County Board of Equalization.

Directors will be chosen later.

NSA Plans To Continue Operations

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Student Action organization, scheduled a news conference today to announce the revelation of public and professional support, a spokesman said.

"You might call it act II of our morality play," he quipped. "Act I came two weeks ago when it was revealed the NSA had been receiving as much as $200,000 a year from the CIA, the nation's top-secret spy organization. NSA officials confirmed reports of the CIA link first revealed by Ramparts magazine."

NSA officials at first said the revelation would lead to NSA's demise, but then ceased away from that position. Today's news conference is expected to rule out the possibility the student group might go out of business, but the future of its overseas operation is still in doubt, sources said.

Famed Boston Strangler Escapes Cell

BRIDGEWATER, Mass. (AP) — Albert DeSalvo, self-styled Boston strangler, escaped from Bridgewater State Hospital today where he has been a mental patient since his arrest in 1964.

His absence was discovered at 8:20 a.m., a State Correction Department official said.

The official said he took walking tours with several patients — Fred E. Erickson, 40, Brockton, and George W. Harrison, 33, Westford. Erickson was under a sentence for murder and Harrison was convicted last November for armed robbery.

DeSalvo was described by his attorney, F. Lee Bailey, as a completely uncontrolled, violent, walking around in a human body.

DeSalvo admitted the sex sayings of 13 women in evidence in Massachusetts between June, 1962, and January, 1964.

Bridgewater is a state mental hospital with a section for completely uncontrolled, violent, walking around in a human body.

Police said the men apparently moved the strapping to a lower section of the ward and climbed over the outer wall.

Hospital Superintendent Charles Gaughan said the men were on the second floor of a building which also housed elderly and sick patients.

"It appears they used some instrument or simulated key to open the reinforced wooden cell doors," Gaughan said.

Gaughan said the trio got out of the building down a shaft through the ceiling, being unobserved. He said the men apparently were wearing hospital clothing.

Town Fights For Open Housing

DETROIT (AP) — A strenuous drive in support of open housing is under way in the affluent, suburban Grosse Pointes.

Less than 10 years ago passing grades on such things as race, religion and national origin were required of prospective home owners there.

Even as late as last July, the first Negro family to break the housing color line was verbally abused for a time by Points tenants.

New Wendell Police Chief Assumes Post

WENDELL—Dale Bunn of police has assumed the post of chief for Wendell this week.

Mr. Bunn was appointed to fill the position left vacant by the resignation of Bill Austin, former police chief.

Mr. Bunn has been a resident of Wendell for a number of years. His wife is the former Phyllis Petersen and they have four sons, Donald, Ed, Matthew, 11; Mitchell, 8 and Clifford, 5.

UFO Sighted By 2 Spokane Policemen
SPOKANE (AP) — A fiery, circular, translucent unidentified flying object was sighted by two Spokane police officers on the city's south side early Friday morning.

The officers said the orange-red object was traveling under a layer of clouds, about two miles away from them.

The object was glowing and looked like a kind of translucent and there seemed to be large amounts of burning debris falling off the bottom side of the object.

Officer Joseph E. Hillhouse said the object had a large protuberance on top, but it wasn't glowing brightly.

A Spokane resident, Bernard S. Cooper, also reported seeing the object at the same place and at the same time as the officers did.

Talent Show Set Monday In Jerome
JEROME — The 21st annual talent show sponsored by the Jerome Business and Professional Women's Club will be held at 8 p.m. Monday in the high school gymnasium.

Romney Says "Maybe" To Candidacy

DETROIT (AP)—Gov. George Romney of Michigan may not be ready to say "yes" to running for the 1968 Republican presidential nomination, but he admits he's not likely to say "no."

"The trip has been well worthwhile," he said.

And had Romney received impressions favorable to his candidacy in 1968?

"Well, favorable enough to keep up the hot courtship," Romney said.

Romney's hot courtship in the last seven days included four new Republican governors—Walter J. Hickel of Alaska, John Williams of Arizona, David Carso of New Mexico and Don Samuelson of Idaho.

Although he didn't win them all—Samuelson was the most noncommittal—he at least got a hearty reception wherever he went.

Anne Frank's Hunter Tried In Germany

MUNICH, Germany (AP)—The wartime head of German security in Holland and two aides were convicted by a German court today of helping in the mass murder of thousands of Dutch Jews during World War II. They received prison terms ranging from five to 15 years.

Former SS Maj. Gen. Wilhelm Harster 62, was found guilty of aiding the murder of 82,854 Jews deported to Nazi extermination camps while he headed the security police in Holland from 1940 to 1943. He got 15 years but was given credit for nine years already served for a Dutch war crimes sentence and another awaiting trial in Munich.

Former SS Maj. Wilhelm Zoepf, 58, was implicated in 54,082 murders as a security police adviser on Jewish affairs. He got nine years. Gertrud Slotke, 64, Zoepf's secretary, was convicted of helping in 42,739 murders and was given five years. Her pretrial imprisonment also will be deducted.

One of the Jews hunted under Harster was Anne Frank, the girl whose diary of her family's two years of hiding in an Amsterdam attic became a worldwide best-seller after the war. The Franks were discovered after Harster had left Holland and Aine, her mother, and sister died in concentration camps.

Anne's father, Otto Frank, survived and was a coplanist against Zoepf. He was represented at the trial by attorney Robert M.W. Kempner, former deputy chief U.S. counsel at the International War crimes Tribunal.

Harster was director of the community financing in the upper Bavarian provincial government until he retired four years ago. Zoepf was a jurist.

HIDDEN

LIEGE, Belgium (AP)—Florent Van Wangehe, 12, was the object of a nationwide police search for four days until his mother happened to look into a wardrobe in their home. He said he hid there the whole time, except to emerge for meals when his parents were away, because he didn't like school. Punishment was not specified.

PRESENTING-A CHECK TO Mrs. Merle Stoddard and Bruce Whitaker, right, state director of Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults, is Rudy Williamson, program chairman for the Country Music Jamboree. The check, in the amount of $915, was accepted by the couple in behalf of the society at a potluck dinner at the YM-YWCA for all musicians and their partners who participated in the Country Music Jamboree Feb. 13 and 14 in Filer. Mrs. Stoddard was mistress of ceremonies for the event and Mr. Whitaker was guest speaker. (Times-News photo)

$915 Given To Easter Seal By Jamboree Participants

A $915 check was presented to the Easter Seal Society by members who participated in the recent Country Music Jamboree at a potluck dinner this week at the YM-YWCA.

Accepting the check on behalf of the Easter Seal Society were Mrs. Merle Stoddard, Twin Falls, and Bruce Whitaker, state director of the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults.

Proceeds donated to the society were made during two evening performances at the Filer High School Auditorium Feb. 13 and 14. The 14 groups participating in the sixth annual Country Music Jamboree were the King's Harvesters, Twin Falls; the Play Boys, Gooding and Hagerman; the Rhythm Wranglers, Twin Falls; the Last Resorts, Twin Falls and Filer; Johnny and the Missifs, Burley; and the Versatiles, Twin Falls and Kimberly; the Melody Masters, Twin Falls and Eden; the Bar's Wranglers, Twin Falls and Jerome; the Walden Brothers, Twin Falls and Buhl; the Tune Twisters, Twin Falls; the Saints, Twin Falls, Jerome and Wendell; the Rhythm Rangers, Twin Falls; the Country Cousins, Twin Falls and Shoshone; and the M. C.'s, Twin Falls and Jerome.

Rudy Williamson was program chairman for the annual jamboree and Gene Bosserman was general chairman.

In charge of the recent dinner and donating the "entire day" for preparations for the event were Mrs. Stoddard, Mrs. E. Y. and Bill Henkelman and Mrs. Frank Stearns. Easter Lily centerpiece for the tables were donated by Save-On Drugs, Kings and Erickson's Hobby Shop. Other donations for the dinner were from Farmers Market, Shoshone; Buttry's Super Store, Mrs. Frank Baum, Gem State Paper Co., KTRI Radio Station; Town and Country Bakery, Jerome, Independent Meat Co., Safeways Lynwood Store, North Main Food Locker, Mar's Market, East Side Market, Driveway Market and Marty's South Park Market. The beef and ham were cooked by Leo Swan at the Depot Grill and the chicken was cooked by Jay's Save-On Foods.

Mrs. Stoddard was mistress of ceremonies for the program and Mr. Whitaker was special speaker. He thanked the group for their outstanding donation and told of Mrs. Stoddard's work at the local Easter Seal Center.

Spanish and Hawaiian dance numbers were presented by several of Mrs. Stoddard's dance students, Kenia Shew, Mickey Malberg, Connie Barnhart, Mary Olavarria, Ann Slevers and Lauri Slevers. Tap dance numbers were presented by Corine Dowd and Karen Hammerquist.

Martine Carol Tomb Robbed

CANNES, France (AP)—Burglars broke into the tomb of movie actress Martine Carol Thursday night and took a number of pieces of jewelry that had been buried with her earlier this month, police said.

No estimate has been made of the value of the jewels.

The 46-year-old film star died Feb. 8 in Monte Carlo of a heart attack. She was buried Feb. 14.

Police were trying to contact members of her family to learn exactly what jewels were buried with her. They were known to include a diamond-studded wedding ring, a necklace with diamonds and a heart-shaped brooch of 72 carats of rubies.

Stone Wrong

LONDON (AP)—Mick Jagger, the well-known Rolling Stone, committed a breach of royal protocol Thursday night by arriving at the ballet eight minutes after Princess Margaret had taken her seat.

The national anthem had been played and the curtain was up as shaggy-haired Jagger—escorting pop singer Marianne Faithfull—rolled up to the main entrance of the Royal Opera House, Covent Garden. The couple was allowed to go through a side entrance to their 317s box.

A theater spokesman said protocol demands that the royal party must be the last to enter such a function.

Members Of Key Club To Solicit Funds

Approximately 30 members of the Twin Falls High School Key Club, an affiliate of the Kiwanis Club, will be soliciting for the Heart Fund in the downtown area.

The youths will solicit employers only, giving each employer envelopes to distribute to their employees, stressed Dr. Roy Shaw, Twin Falls, president of the Idaho Heart Association.

Dr. Shaw pointed out the youths will not be calling door-to-door and that the drive is expected to get under way in several days.

Canvassing of outlying areas of Twin Falls has been going on for several days.

Assassination Probe Financed

By BERNARD GAVZER
NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—A "conspiracy investigation" fund has been created by New Orleans businessmen to underwrite Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison's pledge to prove there was a conspiracy in the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

"It would amount to a blank check that would pay the cost of the investigation for months and even years," one of the businessmen sponsors said. "We are prepared to back Jim Garrison all the way — five years if necessary."

Garrison said it might be months rather than weeks before arrests could be made.

He also said he would go to banks, if necessary, to personally borrow money to finance the investigation.

While there have been a number of critics of the Warren report, Garrison is the first public official with power to investigate what say there was a conspiracy.

"I am determined to see this through," Garrison said. "There is no question that there will be arrests, and there is no question there will be charges and convictions."

Two days after he made that statement, a free-lance pilot David W. Ferris, a central figure in Garrison's probe, was found dead in bed. An artery in his brain had ruptured.

Garrison said on Wednesday the death was an apparent suicide. But on the basis of an autopsy, Coroner Nicholas Chetta later ruled out murder as a possible cause of death, leaving suicide, accidental death or natural death as possible causes.

Chetta said he saw no evidence of suicide other than an unsigned, undated note which described death as a "sweet prospect."

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

By ANDREW TULLY

WASHINGTON — The curious fust over the financial subsidies given to the National Intelligence Association by the Central Intelligence Agency since 1952 raises the question of whether the CIA is really a conservative organization. We seem to have become a nation of naive and rather silly folk.

Since I wrote the first article on the CIA in 1962 ("CIA: The Inside Story"), I have been periodically amused by the demands of some Americans that the agency report its activities. They would accept only archbishops and Eagle Scouts into its house, and devote its energies to helping old ladies across the street. Americans just cannot seem to grasp the reality that the CIA is a spy shop necessarily commanded and paid to do things which would be considered untidy and coarse if practiced by members of the Ladies Aid Society of Turmp Green, Ala.

COLD WAR IS COLD WAR — This is curious, because the same electorate casually takes for granted the machinations of the various espionage organizations of the Communist world, and scolds when the FBI catches one of the Reds who is working against the U.S. in the Cold War. It is certainly not had that four Presidents, starting with Harry Truman, believed it necessary for the CIA to infiltrate with money and counsel the NSA. But the fact is, they DID believe it necessary, and although we all may now be shouting that we would like to see four Presidents, I think it safe to suggest that none of them was or is a wicked man.

Moreover, the record — portions of which have been made available to me — show that the CIA is a very successful organization in one of the major, and continuing, victories of the Cold War.

SCORES BY U.S. — Purloined Communist documents in the hands of our officials show that beginning in 1955, NSA representatives at various youth festivals and student rallies dominated by Communist delegates managed to prevent the Reds from completely taking over these meetings. Meanwhile, they vigorously presented the American point of view, and at least forced the Red delegates to listen to them.

Of far more significance, however, was the information picked up in such rich cities as Prague and Moscow, which all went to the CIA. In point of fact, the U.S. delegates carried on only limited intelligence work of the kind any American tourist might casually undertake, but the CIA also was able to provide the CIA with important information. Communist youth representatives who might be persuaded to defect. For its money, the CIA also acquired a mass of secret information on the composition and activities of Communist youth rallies.

In at least one instance, an American student offhandedly passed along some information which he believed to be superficial, but which enabled the CIA to complete its evaluation of a new Soviet missile.

ALTERNATIVE: DO NOTHING — There is, of course, no pat reply to those who complain that the CIA's infiltration of the NSA was improper. It is not the CIA's business to determine whether they are hot or cold. In the United States was faced with the reality that the Communist regime, and especially the Soviet Union, were spending millions of dollars a year to infiltrate student groups, labor union leaders, Western politicians and publications. In this corner, at least, the thought that the CIA should have sat back and done nothing is preposterous.

The need to combat such Communist influences still exists. But it now appears that the peculiar Bobsey Twin mystique of the American politician—especially in Congress—will force the administration henceforth to ignore that need. If it happens, we will have to be wakened up some night by the clatter of secret police boots outside the door.

MOOD TO PROGRESS MUST PREVAIL

Speaking before the Boise Rotary Club Thursday, Max Yost, executive secretary of the Association of Idaho State Teachers, said that the budget of $151.9 million for Idaho, but in light of departmental requests totaling $178.1 million, he is willing to settle for $155 million by applying a normal growth factor.

He said that the state's progress in education and the administration of essential services. In too many areas Idaho's "natural growth" had become stunted and the people were in a mood to make up for past deficiencies by a rapid and continuing program that will not retreat in this late 1960's. — Dolis Stateman

LET'S HOPE IT'S TEMPORARY

Any businessman who tried to operate with five employees using one desk in one office would be surprised at how fast the desk would be taken over by the employees.

Any housekeeper trying to keep up a 70-year-old building with only half enough space would throw in the mop.

Any politician who blames the city police department for being unhappy with the present police situation.

The fact that bids will be opened this week on a $10,000 remodeling of the police headquarters building at the intersection of 12th and 13th streets. Also detectives presently use one small office with one desk, and two secretaries in one room. "Electrical wiring is a makeshift that no one can figure out." — Dolis Stateman

Arranging to put city prisoners in the county jail this "mud" space available to remodel the police station, but this is only a temporary solution.

The suggestion for a combined city-county building may be the final answer. When that happens, the present police station will be useful for a long time.

An experimenter who expect the best in law enforcement from our police officers, is it too much for them to expect us to provide adequate headquarters, office equipment and jail? — Idaho State Journal

Zero Hour

The noises you hear around the CIA are the noises of a world that has been under way in Europe for several years and has now reached America. The ice of the cold war is breaking up, and as the climate is changing, the landscape is changing, too. The older and more permanent features of the American scene are reappearing.

Now there is a tremendous outcry, and the CIA's operations have begun to smell like a backed-up cesspool. This proves that it isn't the activities of the CIA which have changed. What has changed is the public attitude about it.

Breezin' Around

The Spectator

A GENTLEMAN

Dear Spectator:

There are some gentlemen left in the world today. During the hustle and bustle on Washington, D.C., I was sitting in a store, and a woman dropped a package in front of one of the stores.

A man, standing nearby and talking with a friend, saw the package fall. He rushed over, picked it up and hurried into another store after the woman.

He returned a minute later and his friend said that it was a gentlemanly thing to do. So there!

Observer

Today and Tomorrow

By WALTER LIPPMANN

A year ago the preponderant view of Americans was that if they were at war — a cold war if possible, but a nuclear war quite possible. This is no longer the prevailing American opinion. The same revolution of opinion which has changed the policy of European governments in the early Sixties is now taking place here.

The gap which has existed for some years between European and American thinking, the gap which has caused so much misunderstanding and dislike, is closing. In Europe this phenomenon has manifested itself in an almost total loss of interest in NATO and the other institutions of the cold war. Here we have change first manifested itself in our acceptance of the changes in Europe. It manifests itself today in a revolution against the enormity of the corruption which has resulted from the cold war.

The enormity of the corruption stems from the secret use of government funds to deceive and to buy off the Communists, to deceive our allies and to deceive ourselves.

It is said that the Soviet Union found itself in a position to out-pace us in the arms race. This is a plausible enough. But the event shows that, while a country can be deceived, it cannot be deceived for long. It is a well-known fact that the methods of a totalitarian state, once the fear is relaxed, the more enervated, the more apirit cannot be kept down.

In the last analysis a free system like ours can be manipulated only if there is enough panic and confusion to make the character of the people will not stay suppressed. This is one of the characteristics of a people who have been habituated to a life of fear. It is part of their very nature.

What has happened in this affair is different from the "Bush" case of spying which is an indication of the kind of people of armed powers. The payments to students, scholars or journalists has had very little if anything to do with true intelligence work, with penetrating the military secrets of rival powers, of calculating their capabilities and estimating their intentions.

For the present outcry is about the fact that the U.S. government has compromised professions and institutions on whose purity the hopes of American freedom depend.

Why did the CIA, with the full responsibility of the Presidents above it, do this? Why did the CIA, which is supposed to be a "cloak and dagger" organization, do this?

What is needed is another agency to take over these intelligence programs. This agency would be closely supervised on a day-to-day basis by a committee composed of members from government, business and education. They would be men of the highest integrity and moral character. They would have a considerable degree of political sophistication.

These leaders would be charged with keeping the actions of the agency under constant review and supervision to make certain that these unusual programs promoted U.S. aims and did not violate American principles.

In some cases, aid must be secret if it is to be given at all.

"I never recall being a Boy Scout," said the 30-year-old present Lord Baden-Powell in an interview at his home in the heart of the Cotswolds.

"I was a Wolf Cub (a beginning rank in Cub Scouts) and enrolled as a Boy Scout, then I left them almost before I was one."

"I suppose I had had too much of it around me all my life," he explained.

Opinions Of A Conservative

By BARRY GOLDWATER

Social-welfare-experimentation never, to my knowledge, let reality interfere with their visions, or hallucinations.

The more we can see of the failures of planning, the more we must save our economies around the world, and around the clock of history, the more our social-welfare-charge economic philosophy is an economic philosophy for instance, it can be summed up in the word "guideline". The government, I believe, is supposed to "guide" all the rest of us to prosperity.

The problem is that government is the cause of most economic woes. It is itself financially managed and is the biggest debtor in the world.

Still, it is the failure to observe objective reality that concerns me most regarding our government's economic philosophy. It could, but do not, for instance, take warning from Great Britain — not Great Britain yesterday, but Great Britain today. If they did, we might well see the healthiest pruning of social welfare experimentation in history. If reasonable men would only look at what has happened in socialist, planned-economy Great Britain, we would prudently go the other way.

Socialist England is in the midst of a depression, as any newspaper reader knows. She has been in the grip of a slow decline for years. The question coincident with this decline has been a persistent increase in economic "management" and social welfare experimentation. The British, but true to their bulldog mascot they refuse to let go of a pet idea, even in the face of a pet idea, even in the face of Great Britain's great depression.

may properly be called ideological in which all the people must pay, through inflation and unemployment, for the ideological fervor of the government leadership.

Just a glance at the current depression shows some of the results — many workers' own planners persist in following as they ignore the results. In order to bolster the sagging economy, the government has started an "economic austerity" program.

Now that sounds thrifty and constructive, but it certainly isn't. The austerity doesn't extend to profligate government spending on social welfare or on actual take-overs of industry, but applies mainly to private industry. So far the result is that about a quarter-million men are out of work and on relief. By year's end it may do the same for a half-million more. The question in the name of government planning or, as our planners would say, government guidelines.

One effect of this belt-tightening is that it has caused a shift from jobs the government considers nonessential to jobs it considers essential. (Can you imagine the howl if any private person suggested such a plan?)

It might work in an open economy, but not in a closed economy. Spending in Great Britain is just about half-public housing, and strict government control of the remaining private housing market has led to a severe shortage. So, in many cases there simply aren't houses or apartment for workers in "essential" areas even if they wanted to shift after losing their other jobs in the government's austerity program.

And so it goes in the weird world of socialism. The question remains: is anyone in Washington really watching?

Washington Viewpoint

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA) — In part, the Central Intelligence Agency's current troubles are due to a basic split in its character, as well as to its role.

The CIA is a mixture of two objectives that can't be welded together. One division runs a tremendously large intelligence operation. Another division runs an "action" campaign involving a whole catbag of secret government nonintelligence activities.

It is this second function which leads the organization into most of its troubles, which have included: the Bay of Pigs, Reported payments to student, newspaper and other organizations.

The ill-fated attempted invasion of Castro's Cuba by the U.S. government, the CIA frequently used for such chores. It has considerable funds which usually can be used with few or no questions asked. Inquiries are asked in Congress they are usually silenced.

These special CIA activities are carried out in the name of the White House, the State Department and often the Department of Defense.

There is, in fact, an interdepartmental committee to pass on such programs.

But the placing of these activities in the CIA creates extra problems. The CIA is mixed up in people's minds with spying. Activities of the type we are talking about involve such high government policy that they would have a great deal of careful policing by men outside the CIA.

The reason for this is simple. Policies are carried out in the name of the CIA, but sometimes they are men who are more enthusiastic than mature. They bumble in their enthusiasm. They are victims of "spookitis" or "cloak and daggeritis."

What is needed is another agency to take over these intelligence programs. This agency would be closely supervised on a day-to-day basis by a committee composed of members from government, business and education. They would be men of the highest integrity and moral character. They would have a considerable degree of political sophistication.

These leaders would be charged with keeping the actions of the agency under constant review and supervision to make certain that these unusual programs promoted U.S. aims and did not violate American principles.

In some cases, aid must be secret if it is to be given at all.

Washington Viewpoint

Reports of U.S. aid would ruin the effectiveness of some organizations, which would be branded as American pawns. In other words, open aid would never get to the individuals or groups concerned because of corruption in the local country or because men of influence in the country have heard of the aid and are questioning any aid of any diminution of their own personal power if other individuals or groups are strengthened.

Under the present setup in the U.S. government, the CIA frequently used for such chores. It has considerable funds which usually can be used with few or no questions asked. Inquiries are asked in Congress they are usually silenced.

These special CIA activities are carried out in the name of the White House, the State Department and often the Department of Defense.

The Doctor Says

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M. D.

Q—My husband has colitis. Our doctor is giving him insulin which helps him some. Is there any cure?

A—Since colitis is aggravated by nervous tension, laxative search our souls. We have been eating raw vegetables and fruit. These factors should be eliminated.

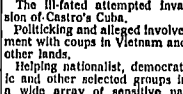

Q—What could cause me to have to go to stool immediately after eating anything? This annoying symptom has plagued me for several years. Stool examination showed nothing.

A—You probably have an irritable bowel, another name for mucous colitis. In most victims a careful stool examination shows that there is consistency (stool not formed); evidence of fermentation and the presence of undigested starch.

Q—I have diverticulitis. None of the drugs I have tried has helped me. Would a diet help? Is an operation needed?

A—Outpouchings in the colon (diverticula) are common in persons who are over 40, and do not cause any trouble unless they become inflamed (diverticulitis). Persons with this disease should avoid enemas, laxatives and all irritating or highly spiced foods including pickles, corn, popcorn, citrus fruits and vegetables and all fruit and vegetables with little seeds such as tomatoes and raspberries. Operation is rarely advisable unless you are in pain. A large number of these pouches throughout the large bowel.

Q—Many victims have been helped by taking a tablespoonful of burdock oil. Is this a safe remedy? A blind diet it relieves the distress and it can be taken indefinitely.

Miss Arrington Gives Recital In Rexburg

Susan Arrington, daughter of Mrs. and Mr. Edward G. Arrington, Twin Falls, presented a piano recital recently at Ricks College, Rexburg.

Miss Arrington, a sophomore student at the college, is studying with Professor Jack Bowman. She has chosen music education as her field and is very active in both music and academic circles at the college. As part of her musical activity there, she has toured with the concert orchestra and band both years, sings with the capella choir and has participated in many assemblies and extra curricular activities. She toured Montana and into Canada last winter with the College Program Bureau. She accompanies extensively, operatic productions, vocal and instrumental ensembles and soloists. She is singing in the chorus for "Carmelo" to be presented in March and took part in "Fledermouse" last November. She performed in the "Messiah" at Christmas and is part of a quartet that sings and performs widely in that area.

Minidoka County Dairy Day Event Conducted At Rupert

RUPERT—About 40 dairymen participated in the Minidoka County Dairy Day held recently at the Rupert Grange Hall. The program which was arranged under the direction of Minidoka County Extension Agent LaMont Smith, with the assistance of the county dairy committee, featured a speaker, George Cleveland, Boise, extension dairyman with the University of Idaho.

During the morning session Mr. Cleveland discussed methods of handling waste material (manure) on dairy farms. He showed slides of several different types of liquid manure systems and discussed each. Most methods use the manure for fertilizer. Mr. Cleveland said. He mentioned a method being used near Seattle where the material is dried and sold commercially for gardening and related fertilizing.

This is an expensive method, he said, and generally used for large dairy operations and in densely populated areas. When converted to liquid fertilizer, the three most common methods of use are with a tank spreader, pumped directly out of the tank into a sprinker system on the ground, and pumping directly into an irrigation ditch and putting onto the ground with irrigation water. He stressed that the best method is to use cement ditches with a good slope, otherwise the manure piles up and clogs the ditch.

When conducted with haylage (hay silage) and corn silage compared to dried alfalfa hay.

With haylage and corn silage a farmer can use more nutrients per acre but the overhead expense is much higher than for dried hay, he said. The main expense is for cleaning equipment required for handling the silage, as well as storage facilities.

The silage is very desirable in areas where there is a lot of rain since there is no curing problem. Mr. Smith stated that alfalfa is a cost comparison of hay is believed to be one of the cheaper cattle feeds per pound of nutrients for this area. All three are good feeds and in cases where a farmer has equipment and storage facilities any of the products are good, Smith said.

During the afternoon session, Cleveland discussed nutrition for high producing cows. He pointed out that many good producing cows are underfed. It is often evident when they start out giving a lot of milk and then a rapid decline in production is noted within a month, to six weeks. This is because they are not fed enough to maintain the high production.

He demonstrated figuring rations for high producing cows, using local DHIA records. He urged farmers to figure rations for their top cows and use some of the materials available to them through the extension service and herd records.

He said a high-producing cow, on alfalfa hay as roughage, doesn't need any added protein supplement, but she should be given a grain concentrate or high energy feed to bring her up to the production level of which she is capable.

New Method Of Planting Being Eyed By Scientist At Research Center

BY PEGGY LALEY Times-News Farm Writer

Have you ever wondered why seeds blown by the wind manage to take root on dry crusted desert land under the most adverse conditions?

This is discouraging when so often seeds carefully planted in a garden or field are receiving the most tender, correct care fail to germinate.

Dr. John W. Cary at the Snake River Research Center, Kimberly, is working on the theory that perhaps seeds need not be planted, covered and watered as has been the practice.

Crusting has proved to be an important factor in failure of seeds to emerge. Although a seed may germinate strong and healthy, the hard crust on the dirt can be too much of an obstacle for the plant to fight.

In other experiments at the center it has been shown that the plant will break when coming in contact with the crust.

In an effort to eliminate this problem Dr. Cary has been planting a variety of seeds in holes of varying depths then leaving the seeds uncovered.

So far in this research he has found that moisture in the soil will cause a flaking of the dirt which will provide a cover. This seems to eliminate the hard crusting problem.

Last summer, Dr. Cary planted beans at various depths up to ten inches and they grew well.

This method indicates less irrigation with better moisture distribution. There is less seed preparation in the spring. The land is prepared in the fall so that a crust will form over the winter months. At planting time no pre-irrigation is required and less salt is present in the soil.

At the time of planting, holes are drilled through the crust and the seed is dropped into them. At the present time there is no machinery that would do this job automatically, but experimentation is being done to develop a machine of this type.

It is certain that how this method could be employed conveniently and economically on the average farm; it is evident that there is a higher rate of germination with no thinning required because each seed is spaced at optimum spacing.

Because of the greater depth at which the seeds are planted, a deeper, stronger root system develops providing stronger plants. This deeper planting could also tend to discourage root rot and perhaps other diseases.

Some beans were planted with this method under actual field conditions last year and this year Dr. Cary plans to experiment with other types of plants.

For home gardeners of either vegetables or flowers, Dr. Cary suggests this type of planting procedure using a pencil to make the holes. This method would require that the seeds be planted deeper than they would normally.

NOTING PROGRESS OF plants planted in holes and not covered; Dr. John W. Cary works on an experiment that could revolutionize farm-planting practices. (Times-News photo)

World's Largest Farm Loan System Reaches 50th Year

Americans have always been "do-it-yourself" type of people. Throughout the history of this land people have organized groups to accomplish things that could never have been done by individuals.

All of this is true of the Federal Land Bank System. This is a plan conceived and sponsored by the federal government, but it is owned by the farmers and ranchers who use its credit services.

Through this cooperation this organization has been built into the largest farm mortgage banking system in the world.

Last year the Federal Land Bank of Spokane had its second largest year in volume of loans closed—a total of more than $4 million.

Its loan account reached an all-time high of $42 million and it declared a five and one-half per cent capital stock dividend of almost $1,300,000.

Since 1917 the system has played an important role in the achievements of American agricultural industry. The Spokane division, which serves Idaho, Montana, Oregon, Washington and Alaska, has made 123,000 loans totaling over $1 billion.

The Federal Land Bank operates under supervision and obtains its loan funds by borrowing from the American investor.

Gross Value Of Livestock And Poultry Noted

BOISE—Idaho's gross value of livestock and poultry (excluding turkeys) on hand Jan. 1, 1967, has been placed at $256,873,000 by the USDA Statistical Reporting Service.

Feb. 24-25, 1967

This is nine percent above a year earlier and 18 percent above the 1961-65 average. The average value per head for all cattle, milk cows and stock sheep was above a year earlier while values for hogs and chickens were below year earlier levels.

Twin Falls Times-News 9

SHEEP TOTAL DOWN
BOISE—All Idaho sheep last month totaled 844,000 head according to the USDA Statistical Reporting Service. This is a decrease of two per cent from Jan. 1, 1966. Stock sheep numbers dropped six per cent from a year ago and are at the lowest level since 1931.

A series dedicated to Northwest Farmers

That's what the farmers of America are doing. And they're doing it with fewer farms, less land and fewer farm hands.

How? By utilizing the important technological advances available, scientific farm planning, and long-term mortgage credit.

The Federal Land Bank has been a leader in the farm mortgage field since its inception in 1917. We have served agriculture in a real and important way.

We are proud to be a member of this important team. And we ask the farmers of the Northwest . . . Providers of Plenty.

Ranchers Are Urged To Join Cattle Groups

BOISE — The increase in beef cattle numbers announced this week is "strong reason" for cattlemen to join and be active in industry organizations, a national association spokesman said here today.

R. E. Sneddon, secretary of the American National Cattlemen's Assn., Denver, Colo., in an address at the Idaho Cattle Feeders Assn. annual convention, said "Moving these additional cattle to market is going to require more concentrated attention and effort than the individual stockman can give."

Mr. Sneddon said the increase in beef cattle during 1966 of about 750,000 might be considered "insignificant" against a total of 85.8 million, "but we should have been going down in numbers instead of up if we are ever to balance supply with effective demand."

He added that the beef cattle industry has for some time been providing too many cattle and too many tons of beef to effectively benefit from a strong consumer demand.

He outlined several activities of the national and state organizations to alert individual cattlemen to supply and demand conditions so they could cooperate for their own benefit and that of the entire industry. "If feeders and ranchers receive a fair return for their risk, investment and labor the nation will benefit because the industry will be healthy and able to expand production in the future," Mr. Sneddon declared.

Cattle Field Day Planned For Thursday

The annual Beef Cattle Field Day will begin at 10:30 a.m. Thursday at the Rogerson Roundup Room.

"This annual event is held in alternate years in Twin Falls and Buhl," states Donald Youst, county agent, "and I believe the beef advisory committee has come up with another program of special interest to livestock men."

Gene Hull, Twin Falls Bank and Trust Co., will be chairman for the day. Morris Hemstrom, University of Idaho extension animal husbandman, will speak on Cross Breeding.

The subject, "From Calves to Feeders," will be discussed by Louis Reitel, local livestock agent, and Cecil Brim, owner of the Twin Falls Livestock Commission Co., and cattle feeder.

Mr. Hemstrom will also discuss the growing trend of feeding calves to about the weight of 700 pounds.

Ralph Olmstead, Twin Falls cattle feeder, will be the speaker at the no-host luncheon at noon. His subject will be "Looking Ahead."

Many of the new sorghum and sudan grasses and hybrids which have been gaining interest in this area will be discussed by Edwin "Ted" Young, sales manager, Intermountain division, Northrup King and Co., Ed Shaft.

Soil, Water Is Focus of Three State Meeting

RUPERT — The future of the soil and water resources of the Pacific Northwest has been the focus of a tri-state meeting Thursday and Friday in Spokane.

This second annual meeting of the Columbia Plateau Resources Council includes as members a cross-section of citizen groups interested in the use of natural resources and in the agencies concerned with use and conservation of soil and water.

According to Vance T. Smith, Mindoka county extension agent, the council's objectives are to provide for joint action for maximum benefits.

Smith and Dave Cusack, district manager, DeKalb Agricultural Association, Inc., Boise, a colored film program will be presented by Mr. Hemstrom on Freeze Branding. A panel discussion of questions by the audience will conclude the day's program. Panel members will be the day's speakers who will be joined by Dr. Charles Donnelly, veterinarian. The beef cattle advisory committee consists of Mr. Hull, Don Silvers, Earl O'Harrow, Mr. Youst, Edgar Olmstead, Ralph Olmstead, Jay Cobb, Gene Champlin, Con Ramseyer, Lloyd Shewmaker, Dean Moore, Frank Gease and Ed Shaft.

Spring Range Bull Sale Is Set In Mackay

MACKAY — The 15th annual spring range bull sale will be held March 4 at Mackay. More than 75 top Hereford bulls have been consigned to the sale.

Sale activity is scheduled to begin at 9 a.m. with grading and showing of the bulls. The sale itself will start at 1 p.m. Consignors from Arco, Teton, Darlington, Blackfoot, Nampa, Logan, Challis, Moore, Hamer, Malin, Emmett and other Idaho communities have listed their animals for the sale.

The event is sponsored by the Central Idaho Hereford Assn. A social hour for breeders, consignors and buyers will be held March 3 at the Mackay Legion Hall.

Bulls at the sale will be shown and sold in pens of two. All animals listed are polled and horned. SI Williams, Walla Walla, Wash., well-known area auctioneer, will preside at the event. Bob Goggins, Ennis, Mont., will judge.

Lunch will be served at the sale grounds during the sale by the Lions Club. Those interested in more information are asked

To write Paul Pattee, secretary, Hereford Assn., for the sale catalog, treasurer of the Central Idaho Hereford Assn.

POISONOUS PLANTS: Just how dangerous are house plants grown in the home and outdoors?

There are two schools of thought on this. Some feel the charge of toxicity is over-emphasized out of all proportion to its actual danger.

Experts who work with poisonous plants take a different view. According to the latest figures released by the National Clearinghouse for Poison Control Centers (Public Health Service), plants rank sixth in the list of the top ten types of substances provoking incidents treated by, or reported to, poison control centers throughout the country among children 5 years old or under (the great majority of human poisonings).

Plants ranked higher than the poisons, waxes, and tranquilizers, and were only slightly less troublesome than insecticides.

Does that mean we should give up growing plants? No, it simply means that we should educate our children never to eat any part of a plant or any berry, not commonly used as food.

We can't outlaw all ornamental plants that can cause trouble, nor would the public want to do that. Many of the most commonly used plants, poisonous plants are everywhere and it is impractical to eradicate them. We can live with them.

We all have kitchen gardens. In our kitchen, pills and harmful medicine in our homes and automobiles available to our youth. We've talked out the danger of these articles and how to use them. We should have the same attitude toward poisonous plants.

CARPATHIAN WALNUT: The Persian or English Walnut (Juglans regia) has been getting a lot of attention these days, especially the strain known as Carpathian walnut.

Many gardeners tell me their trees have lots of nuts on each year but they fall early, without filling up. What causes this? Like other nut varieties, the Carpathian needs a nearby "rooster" tree for cross-pollination. One tree alone will self-pollinate nuts but they will therefore be too small to plant another one nearby for cross-pollination.

Trees start to bear from four to seven years after planting. At maturity the hull opens and the nuts fall to the ground. A healthy 15 year old tree (with proper irrigation) produces upwards of 3 bushels of tasty nuts.

Carpathians will survive 25 to 30 degrees below zero and will grow in almost any well drained soil.

A frequent cause of shrunken kernels or poorly filled nuts is frost too soon after the nuts are on or too little summer heat. If leaves are frosted in fall before the kernels mature, no food is made and the kernels shrivel without maturing.

Drought will also cause the nuts to fall. Early drought reduces the size of the nuts, whereas a late drought prevents the kernels from maturing.

ASTERS: One of our favorite flowers is doomed. It's the aster, heretofore one of our best to grow plants. The aster's worst pest is the yellow, a virus spread by leafhoppers and other insects.

One reader tells us she has a sure-fire cure for this trouble. She writes: "When my aster plants are four inches high, and again just before the buds show, I spray the plants with Lindane. I mix one tablespoonful of the Lindane to a gallon of water and pour one cupful down the soil to moisten the roots. It's also a good idea to spray top and bottom sides of the leaves."

Lindane kills the pests which cause the plants to turn yellow and wilt. I had no blossoms until I used this material. Now my beautiful blossoms are admired by many visitors. I do not plant in same soil each year.

BEAT THE FREEZE: Quite often home gardeners and commercial growers are dismayed to have their peach trees and other fruits damaged by spring frosts.

Read an article in the Peach-Times you can get protection by burning fuel briquets.

Quiet Farm Kitchens Invaded By Convenience Foods

By CATHERINE TATE
Times-News Staff Writer

her than to her somewhat isolated rural sister. The farm wife, living several miles from town and frequently with no transportation, was unable to indulge in the social and philanthropic projects enjoyed by the city housewife.

And then came the industrial revolution, the working wife and general emancipation for all women. The butter churns and miscellaneous grinders were put away by both types of homemakers — destined to join the ranks of the museum pieces, which some pessimists say will soon include rolling pins and flour sifters.

With the revolution came the so-called "quick mixes" and convenience foods. Cake mixes, margarine, bakery bread, rolls, sugar-coated cereals and powdered potatoes took their places on the pantry shelves and shoved huge sacks of flour, baking powder and lard to the side. While the urban housewife was quick to accept these new foods and mixes, the rural homemaker still largely depended upon the produce from her own garden and the ingenuity of her own culinary skills to prepare meals for her family.

This invasion has been waged on a thousand different fronts and the battleground has been the kitchens of many rural homes, as convenience foods meet "make it from scratch" methods in a feminine struggle for the fickle favors of the American farm wife.

At this stage of the game, it appears that the "scratch" methods are fighting a losing battle. The farm wife who spends hours making bread, churning butter, mulling sausage and noodles and tending her herb garden is becoming increasingly rare.

On the other hand, the woman who readily admits that her chocolate cake came from a mix and that it took less than 10 minutes to prepare the main dish is becoming typical.

At one time in American history, the kitchens and cooking methods of the urban housewife and the rural homemaker were as different as a wooden utensil is from a silver spoon.

The farm wife, in the days before complex farm machinery became a part of every rural operation, usually had several farm workers as well as her family to cook for and had to be up by 5:30 a.m. in order to get three meals prepared and served. Today, her husband and one machine can do the work previously done by 15 and she can have a hot nutritious meal ready in less than 30 minutes.

The urban homemaker, even in those days, could buy bread from a baker and she never hesitated to take advantage of any convenience foods or methods that came her way. Living in the city, more outside activities and interests were available to

EXAMINING THE INSTRUCTIONS on the back of the now-familiar packaged cake mix is Mrs. Robert Black, one of the new breed of rural housewives. Convenience foods and packaged mixes have invaded the kitchens of thousands of rural residents. Women view the development of the mixes with varied reactions. (Times-News photo)

ADJUSTING THE AUTOMATIC controls on her shiny range is Mrs. Gene Rubter, Twin Falls rural homemaker. The advent of automatic ranges, refrigerators and dish washers within the last decade has made the rural housewife's kitchen chores next to nothing when compared with the work she had been doing for years. Reduction Of Funds Noted By BLM Unit

SALMON — Members of the Bureau of Land Management Advisory Board meeting here were told that the Salmon District will have 15 per cent less soil and watershed program funds in fiscal year of 1968.

Delbert Fallon, Boise, range specialist, in reviewing the BLM's outlook for the year, stated that the Salmon district can expect an eight per cent reduction overall.

Fallon also explained new management methods that are being adopted by the BLM in Idaho.

They include making a complete analysis of the BLM districts by units, taking into consideration land classification, watershed management, wildlife needs, road access, mining, timber and recreational needs.

As a result of the fund reduction, the Salmon district expects to reduce its project work of fencing, water development and the size of the range improvement crew.

The range development program for the fiscal year will include approximately 30 miles of fence, 10 miles of pipeline, 25 spring developments and two cattle guards.

P Keeping costs down on the farm

More than thirty years ago, Pacific Supply Cooperative was founded . . . out of necessity. Stated purpose was "to provide unity of effort in buying."

In those depression days, Northwest farmers were "manufacturers" of food and fibre but, as individuals, they lacked the buying muscle any industrial manufacturer had to have to survive.

Pacific Supply gives over 100,000 Northwest growers the combined purchasing power needed to keep the cost of production supplies down on the farm, at levels reasonable enough to make a profit and stay in business.

The seed of Pacific's original objective has grown in purpose, cultivated and fertilized by these policies—all aimed at serving the expanding needs of Northwest farmers: WITH HONEST PRICING insuring the same fair price to any buyer of the same quantity and service, retaining a reasonable profit for Pacific cooperatives to expand future services to farmers.

WITH HIGHEST LEVEL OF SERVICE, both routine and emergency, to give Northwest farmers the kind of technical assistance and grow-how only a farmer-dedicated business like Pacific can provide.

WITH TIMELY AVAILABILITY of refined fuels, chemicals and fertilizer products delivered to Northwest farmers when and where they need them.

WITH ASSURED QUALITY of every product that bears the Circle P emblem, the sure sign for farmers.

WITH AGRICULTURAL RESEARCH to help Northwest farmers meet tomorrow's demands for technological advances in agricultural production.

WITH CREDIT AND MANAGEMENT SERVICE for farmers and associations to help Northwest growers succeed as agri-businessmen.

As we better serve the needs of Northwest agriculture, we better serve all mankind. "We believe that the agricultural industry, which can be victimized by nature, should not be plagued by problems over which man has a degree of control — namely service, price and availability of necessary supplies."

CURRY JEROME
MAGIC VALLEY GROWERS, INC.

3 Directors Elected By Dairyemen

JEROME—Three directors were elected at the annual meeting of Ida Gem Dairymen, Inc., held last week in Jerome.

Jack Hiltnerbrand from the Mindoka County District, Cal Graybeal from the Bush District and Jack Nelson from the Jerome District.

R. Lyons Smith, general manager, stated that the association has a very successful year and was able to return a better price to the producer because of the increase in the market price.

Mr. Smith pointed out that because of the current year in production of milk during 1958 a better balance existed between supply and demand, but this advantage diminished in the last quarter of the year because of the large increase in imports.

Gross sales for 1958 amounted to six and one-half million dollars. This money was distributed to the member-producers for their milk, to labor, and to other suppliers of materials and services necessary to process the milk into products which could be shipped and sold both in the Magic Valley and in California.

M. R. Garstang, attorney for the National Milk Producers of Washington, D.C., pointed out that the most serious problem facing the dairy industry today is the import problem.

Last year the milk producers reduced production to a level where production and demand were about in balance. The markets rose above support level, Mr. Garstang stated, but he pointed out that all the good accomplished by the local producers is being lost through permits issued by the U.S. government officials.

SHOSHONE—A county-wide weed meeting will be held at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday in the county weed shop here.

The program will include a discussion on new herbicides for Canada thistle control by Larry Pennington, Simplot Soilbuilders, a 1966 University of Idaho graduate.

A timely topic on bean weed control will be conducted. Also to be discussed will be the proper use of agricultural chemicals including herbicides and insecticides.

The persistent problem of ditchbanks will be a topic that Ivan Hopkins, Lincoln County extension agent, will discuss to close the day's program.

Huish, Fred Burkhalter, Emery Wiser and Joe Hutchinson, Mr. Speedy presided at the head table.

Appaloosas Date Back To Wars In Asia

BOISE—The so-called "heavenly horses" of Asia which carried barbarians on their assaults against China reappeared in the Palouse Country of Idaho centuries later.

In 1930 the Nez Perce were the only tribe having possession of the agile, intelligent spotted pony known as the Appaloosa, according to the Idaho Department of Commerce and Development.

This horse was introduced to America by the Spaniards, who carried them to Spanish America and rode them north out of Mexico to trade them to the Indians.

Timber wolves, trail dogs, and violent weather scattered the herds. The remainder came into the hands of the Nez Perce and began to thrive.

The Nez Perce who lived in small villages along the Salmon, Snake and Clearwater rivers, became horse-breeders. They were fortunate in raising horses in an ideal climate. There was enough water, pasture and mountain rimmed protection from danger to insure healthy progress.

Farmers Honored At Jerome Meet

JEROME—Approximately 800 Chamber members and their farmer guests turned out for the annual Chamber of Commerce Farmer's Night, held at the Armory last week.

This was the largest attendance in the more than 20-year history of the affair, according to chamber secretary, Wilton Churchman.

A Dutch lunch was prepared by Chamber members, and the "Sons of the Pioneers" sang. Dr. Laurence Ruebel served as toastmaster.

Edgar Dryden was general chairman for the event.

Corps Of Engineers Publishes Survey On Water Resources Developments

A comprehensive survey of water resources developments in Idaho is just off the press. This pamphlet covers in full the work done by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers within the state during the past and projects that have been authorized for completion.

These developments consist of works built for navigation, flood control and other related purposes.

One of the earliest Corps of Engineers projects in Idaho dates back to 1902 when Congress assigned the Corps responsibility for improving navigable waterways, which included a 92-mile reach of the Snake River between Lewiston and Johnson Bar Landing.

These developments are performed under the direction of Congress and in close cooperation with state and local authorities.

The northern part of the state is under the jurisdiction of the U.S. Army Engineer district, Seattle, while all of the Snake River basin is under the direction of the U.S. Army Engineer district in Walla Walla.

Under the River and Harbor Act of June 13, 1902, Congress assigned the Corps responsibility for improving navigability of the Columbia River system which at that time was the most desirable route of communication to the inland empire.

Traffic on this stretch serves the important purpose of providing means of access and small service to the residents of the canyon area.

Commerce has averaged 500 tons per year for the past five years and is accompanied by high powered launches. Commodities transported consist of feed and general merchandise upstream and wool downstream.

In addition, an average of about 1,700 passengers, mostly sportsmen, are transported annually.

Principal flood damage areas assigned to the Corps by the Flood Control Act of 1944, extends from Palisades dam downstream through the Snake River Valley to the American Falls Reservoir.

The Anderson Ranch dam reservoir, located on the south fork of the Boise River, 43 miles southeast of Boise in Southwestern Idaho was completed in 1950 by the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation. This is a earth filled structure with a total capacity of 493,200 acre-feet of which 418,000 acre-feet are used jointly to flood control and irrigation.

This project operates in combination with Arrowrock and Lucky Peak reservoirs to provide flood protection along the lower Boise River and to the city of Boise.

Arrowrock reservoir, located on the Boise River, 15 miles east of Boise in Southwestern Idaho, was originally completed in 1917 by the Bureau of Reclamation and raised to its present height in 1937. This dam is concrete and has a capacity of 286,600 acre-feet used for flood control and irrigation.

with space provided for future installation of two more comparable units.

There are also provisions for two fish ladders, one on each shore. This projected reservoir will provide significant recreational activities and, if warranted, a navigation lock which will be added for potential river traffic.

Its operation would extend lower Snake River slack-water navigation an additional 20 miles upstream from Lewiston to above the mouth of the Grande Ronde River.

Cottonwood reservoir, a flood control project at Boise, was authorized in 1956. This is a plan of improvement consisting of the construction of a dam on Cottonwood Creek with a reservoir capacity of 1,050 acre-feet. This dam will be located just below the confluence of Cottonwood and Freestone Creeks on the outskirts of Boise.

Stuart Gulch reservoir is a flood control project in Ada County adjacent of Boise that was authorized in 1956 by the 89th Congress.

These last two projects will alleviate the severe flooding that occurs in the Boise area from sudden runoff from local steep hillsides.

Actual start of construction is dependent on appropriation of funds. Besides these a number of other flood control projects have been conditionally authorized.

Scale Infects Large Number Of Area Trees

JEROME — A large proportion of ornamental trees in the area are infested with scale, according to a report made recently by Wilmer G. Priest, Jerome County Extension Agricultural Agent. Mr. Priest reports the presence of oyster shell, cottony maple and the San Jose scale locally.

The green ash, the alms and the bay yard fruit trees are hit the hardest. These scale insects overwinter under a leathery protective covering, which is attached to the bark of the tree limbs. In the early spring, eggs are laid under this protective hood and the young develop. All of these insects feed by piercing the bark and sucking the sap from the limbs. Heavy infestations weaken and actually kill the main branches on the trees. During the migratory stage, they can be carried by birds.

The control of these insects involves at least two steps. The first is to spray the trees with a delayed dormant-type oil spray just before the buds swell, Mr. Priest said.

In this area, this usually should be done between February 20th and March 15th. Use 4 gallons of the old-type dormant oil in 100 gallons of water. This dormant oil is capable of penetrating the protective scale cover and destroys the eggs and freshly hatched young scale before they develop into the mobile stage.

The second step is to spray the trees with a residual summer spray at the time the scale are migrating to the new growth at the tips of the limbs. This usually occurs in the first 10 days of July. Either D. D. T. or Chlordane at the rate of one pound actual material in 100 gallons of water will do the second job.

Mr. Priest reports the scale is widespread in this area and that during the migratory period they are easily transferred from tree to tree by birds or any other moving object. It is a good safeguard to follow this spraying schedule every year on trees valued by the property owner, he adds.

DECREASE SHOWN

BOISE — According to the USDA all cattle and calves on hand Jan. 1 totaled 1,537,000 head. This is three per cent decrease from January, 1956, but three per cent above the 1951-55 average.

SHOSHONE GETS SECOND A-3 TOURNNEY WIN

Valley Belts Oakley And Kimberly Defeats Declo; Glens Ferry Eliminated

Shoshone's Indians posted their second victory in the west while Kimberly and Valley rang in with wins in the opening of the eastern segment of the fourth District A-3 basketball tournament Thursday night. Glens Ferry, the team with the tournament reputation, couldn't quite bring it off this year and became the first team eliminated. Shoshone overcame Wendell 64-59 while Wood River ousted Glens Ferry 54-49 at Glens Ferry. At Valley, Ted Black put on a fine shooting display and led the Vikings past Oakley 87-72 and Kimberly pulled away midway through the third quarter to defeat Declo 69-57.

Action continues at the split sites Friday night with Wood River going in its third quarter when the Hornets cut back to within five. The Eller boys pulled Kimberly in front by eight again before Anderson hit Declo's final bucket.

Kimberly flirted with danger by continuing to shoot but Lynn McMaster, Terry Morrill and Gary Eller connected to make the victory appear more decisive than it was.

At Valley, Declo and Oakley will meet at 7:30 p.m. with Kimberly and Valley colliding in the nightcap. All action switches to the Valley gymnasium Saturday night for two loser bracket games.

Shoshone, the smallest team in the tournament, didn't show a let down after its opening upset victory over Wood River. Wendell battled the Indians evenly into the third quarter with the score tied four times and more than a couple points difference.

But at 42-42, Shoshone moved ahead to stay. The Indians couldn't get far ahead and in the closing minutes went to a good-shot-only offense to protect their lead over Wendell.

Wood River moved ahead by five in the third quarter and stayed there over the final eight minutes. Glens Ferry was within three points with a minute left but lost possession on a turn over. The Wolverines converted that miscue into an extra insurance bucket.

Both Kimberly and Valley had some trouble scoring and Oakley but finished strong.

Oakley led through most of the first quarter with Doug Crayner and Rushing Washington hitting well. In the second quarter Bernie Schutte picked up five quick Valley points and Black added a bucket to establish a five-point lead. Crayner and Kulon Tolman brought Oakley back to within two before Black hit twice and Schwarz got a rebound shot to make it 31-23 for Valley.

Trailing by eight points, Oakley opened the second half with a press and quickly came back to win in two. Midway through the period a Crayner shot tied it at 40-40. After a 41-41 deadlock, Black went on a spree, hitting two long shots and a crisp off a steal. Schutte added a free throw and Valley was ahead by a comfortable margin for the rest of the night.

Go-forward Kimberly fell behind Declo at the outset and stayed behind into the second quarter. But the Bulldogs never had much breathing space until the final two minutes when the gambling Bulldogs, ahead by six, kept shooting and finally won by 12.

Carl Darrington, Gary Maloney and Kay Schrenk got the key points as Declo took Kimberly's short guards inside and scored over them to keep one to five point lead through the first 12 minutes.

The Bulldogs finally took the lead at 27-26 on a Gary Eller shot, but fell behind again in the half. Declo stayed just in front over four minutes of the third quarter before a 37-37 tie developed.

Then Larry Eller hit three points to open it up. After Schrenk got two for Declo, Eller and Larry Rietz split eight

Pretense Is Santa Anita 'Cap Favorite

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) — Nine candidates, headed by the probable favorite, Pretense, were entered Thursday in Saturday's 30th running of the $145,000-guaranteed Santa Anita Handicap.

There were no surprises when entries were taken for the 1 1/4 mile winter classic at Santa Anita Park.

Sharing attention with Pretense, who will be ridden by Bill Shoemaker, were Native Diver, California's venerable 8-year-old stakes champion; Drin, winner of the $100,000-added Charles H. Strub Stakes for 4-year-olds Jan. 23, and Fleet Host, who switches from success on the grass course in the San Luis Rey Handicap last Saturday for this run over the dirt track.

Others entered were Damelo II, Quicken Tree, O'Hara, Moontrip and Natasha, 4-year-old filly aiming at an unprecedented triumph for her sex in the race.

As has often been the case, there is an international flavor in the cast. Damelo II, owned by Manuel Giberca, and Ewing M. Kauffman's Moontrip were bred in Argentina, and the Greenree Stable's O'Hara is from England.

High weight at 125 pounds will be carried by Native Diver, racing for Mr. and Mrs. L.K. Shapling of Los Angeles. The brown gelding has won 29 stakes, more than any other California-bred, but last year in his first crack at this stakes the Diver ran third to Lucky Debonair.

Native Diver will be ridden by Don Pierce since his regular pilot, Jerry Lambert, is under suspension this week.

Illinois To Appeal Ultimatum From Big 10 At League Meeting

CHICAGO (AP) — A dramatic Big Ten showdown on whether athletic scandal-ridden University of Illinois must fire three coaches or be expelled from the conference is in the making next week. Dr. David D. Henry, Illinois president, declared at Champaign, Ill., Thursday the dismissal ultimatum hurled by the league's athletic directors Wednesday was "too harsh" and he will appeal reconsideration by the policy-making conference faculty representative group. Thus, what was tabbed a routine league March business session next Thursday through Saturday will become the most explosive penalty deliberation in almost 40 years.

The Big Ten booted Iowa out of the conference for irregular athletic practices on May 25, 1928. Iowa was sidelined nine months.

Dr. Henry gave this statement following the directors' expulsion threat unless head football coach Pete Elliott, head basketball Coach Harry Combes and assistant basketball Coach Howard Braun were dismissed: "We believe that the decision of the athletic directors... pertaining to University of Illinois coaches is too harsh and we intend to appeal to the faculty representatives for relief from that decision."

Concerning seven football players and five basketball players suspended last December when Illinois disclosed existence of an illegal $21,000 athletic aid fund, Dr. Henry said: "We shall ask the faculty representatives for the greatest possible ameliorative action under the rules."

Bill Reed, conference commissioner, declined comment on Dr. Henry's statement, made while Elliott, Combes and Braun kept grim silence at the school.

There is precedent for a more tempered punishment than recommended unanimously by the directors.

In 1957, Indiana was given the alternative of firing football coach Phil Dickens for recruiting violations or "showing cause" why he shouldn't be fired. Indiana "showed cause" by suspending Dickens for one year and the head coach watched from the stands while acting coach Bob Hicks ran the 1957 Hoosier team.

It is conjectural whether Illinois will submit a similar proposal to the faculty group. The school may take the view that its self-confession of the alumni-aid scandal slush fund and immediate suspension in December of involved athletes and one-year probation of Elliott and Combes "sufficiently" showed cause.

Whatever action the Big Ten takes, Illinois still faces possible punishment by the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

Big Ten leaders reportedly were irked when the NCAA heaped even sterner punishment on Indiana after the conference in 1960 put the Hoosier school on one year's probation and erased their games from Big Ten standings for recruiting and financial aid sins.

The NCAA put Indiana on four-year probation and banned the Hoosiers from its championship meets, a big blow especially to Indiana's powerhouse swimming teams in that period.

CSI One-Of-Seeded Teams In AAU Meet

RUPERT—College of Southern Idaho is one of five seeded teams entered in the intermountain AAU Basketball Championships beginning March 6 at the Minico High School gymnasium. The Golden Eagles will be favored along with Wendover Motel of Salt Lake City, Oakland Construction of Salt Lake City, Idaho State University-Stars, Clearfield Job Corps and Save-On-Drugs of Ogden. The Utah teams will be bringing several of the BYU, Utah State and Utah basketball stars of past years present to the tournament while the ISU All-Stars will be adding some Idaho talent, such as Dave Wagner.

The eight games slated for the first night will begin at 8:30. The tentative schedule is as follows:

Game one, Times-News vs. Oakland Construction; game two, Boise Sales vs. CSI; game three, ISU All-Stars vs. International Truckers of Southern Idaho; game four O.W.'s Cafe of Burley vs. Gate City Steel of Idaho Falls.

Game five, Don's Quinity Meats vs. Rupert AAU League champs vs. Clearfield Job Corps; game six, Wendover Motel vs. Jack's 66ers of Rupert; game seven, Rater Electric vs. Blackfoot AMCO's, a n g game eight, Buhi All-Stars vs. Save-On-Drugs.

The single elimination tournament will run through March 11.

Sets Record

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP)—Jim Ryan, Kansas sophomore, broke the indoor half-mile record Thursday night with a 1:48.3 clocking in a "dunt meet" with Oklahoma State.

Ryan bettered the mark of 1:49.0 set last Saturday by Tom Von Ruden in the Mason-Dixon Games at Louisville, Ky. Von Ruden, formerly of Oklahoma State, runs for the Long Beach, Calif., 49ers.

Ryan already has a pending world outdoor record of 1:44.9 in the half-mile, and a world mark of 3:51.3 in the outdoor mile.

Others entered were Damelo II, Quicken Tree, O'Hara, Moontrip and Natasha, 4-year-old filly aiming at an unprecedented triumph for her sex in the race.

As has often been the case, there is an international flavor in the cast. Damelo II, owned by Manuel Giberca, and Ewing M. Kauffman's Moontrip were bred in Argentina, and the Greenree Stable's O'Hara is from England.

High weight at 125 pounds will be carried by Native Diver, racing for Mr. and Mrs. L.K. Shapling of Los Angeles. The brown gelding has won 29 stakes, more than any other California-bred, but last year in his first crack at this stakes the Diver ran third to Lucky Debonair.

Native Diver will be ridden by Don Pierce since his regular pilot, Jerry Lambert, is under suspension this week.

Pocatello Stuns Bonneville Bees

POCATELLO (AP) — Sparked by the outside shooting and drives of guard Terry Brower and the rebounding of center Nick Tsarkios, the Pocatello Indians upset favored Bonneville Bees 51-48 to gain the semifinals in the A-1 regional basketball tournament Thursday night.

Coach Bill Emerson's Indians took the lead on a foul shot by Brower in the opening minute of the game and were never headed.

Only two Bees scored in double figures. Center Dean Lee hit 11 and forward Bob Marshall tallied 12. Most of Marshall's points came in the fourth quarter put on by the Bees.

Last Second Foul Shots Let Murtaugh Slip Past Rockland In A-4 Tourney

By BOB MAGEE
Times-News Assistant Sports Editor

MURTAUGH — Delbert Bennett casually sank two free throws with 18 seconds left Thursday night and Paul Wornell nervously added two more with one second showing on the clock to give Murtaugh a 57-53 victory over Rockland and the inside track to the Sixth District A-4 title. In the other game Hansen was eliminated from the tourney 62-41 by Raft River. It was the Huskies' 4th loss in a row, dating over two seasons. Play will resume at Murtaugh at 7 p.m. Friday night with Rockland playing Raft River and the winner taking over on Murtaugh in the championship game.

In the winner's bracket game Murtaugh carried a 47-36 edge into the final quarter, but a bucket by Greg May and a three-point play and two free throws by Ed Nelson in the first minute and 38 seconds cut the margin to four. Ron Anderson connected a minute later for Murtaugh to make it six, but the Bulldogs were not and continued to lead.

May got a basket and Doug Hartley hit three field goals while the Devils went scoreless to give the Bulldogs a 51-49 edge with 1:07 left.

Wornell tied it again with 55 seconds left and with 40 seconds remaining Hartley connected again for Rockland's final score. That one gave Rockland a 53-51 edge.

Gene Rambo tied the game at 53-53 the next time down the court as the Devils were on the way towards victory.

Bennett was fouled seconds later, sinking his one and one combination.

Ron Nelson had a chance to tie the game again with three seconds left, but missed both of his free throws. Wornell took the rebound on the second shot and was fouled as he was taking it out.

The tempo of the game was fast during the first three quarters, favoring Murtaugh's running offense, but Rockland slowed the ball down in the fourth quarter, working the ball in for the rebound shot. A full court press by Rockland caused Murtaugh to throw the ball away a few times midway in the fourth, but with Rambo and Wornell grabbing the rebounds and blocking shots, the Bulldogs couldn't open a lead of any size.

Hansen stayed with the Trojans through the first two quarters of the first game, but field goals by Alan Briggs and Dana Tracy and three free throws by Darrington early in the third quarter put the game out of reach of the Huskies.

Ferris Freestone scored 16 of his 21 points in the first half to lead the Huskies, but the Trojan defense kept the ball away from him through most of the second.

Tracy and Darrington shared the bulk of the scoring work for the Trojans, Tracy working the first half and Darrington the second.

Honolulu Seeks Pro Football Franchise

By JACK HAMD
Associated Press Staff Writer

HONOLULU (AP) — Honolulu made a pitch for a National Football League franchise Thursday and asked for the 1972 Super Bowl. The NFL owners broke off their discussion of the controversial common draft to listen to the presentation by a number of Hawaiian businessmen. Robert Ellis, acting mayor of Honolulu, told the owners that the city planned a 36,000-seat stadium to cost $21.7 million. He said the capacity would be expanded to 46,000 if the league would make any gesture toward a Honolulu franchise.

Actually, the Honolulu pitch was not a formal application but merely a presentation. Ellis indicated the main hope was to get the 1972 Super Bowl and thus give the city a chance to prove itself.

Ken Brown, president of the group seeking NFL representation in the future, suggested that use of the satellite Lani Bird II would open up the Japanese market for telecasting of games. He proposed that this area would be fertile ground for pre-season exhibition games.

It is projected that Hawaii will have a total population of 800,000 by 1972 and will be hosting an increased number of visitors through reduced transportation costs in the superjet era.

Commissioner Pete Rozelle said he was impressed by the presentation. However, the NFL has just added its 18th member in New Orleans and will stand back for a time to assess the operations of both Atlanta and New Orleans.

The owners resumed their struggle over the draft, which the NFL hopes to operate in conjunction with the American Football League in mid-March.

The AFL already has gone on record as favoring continuing regular and red shirt drafts. A red shirt is a player with college eligibility remaining although his original class has graduated.

Green Bay's world champion Packers prefer to keep the old NFL format of drafting both regular seniors and red shirts at the same time. The Packers usually take advantage of their player-rich situation by drafting futures while the other clubs go for immediate help. The Packers, through trades, have 10 draft choices in the first five rounds this year.

Although the meetings originally were expected to end Thursday, it now appears they would carry over to Friday at least. A compromise on a single common draft for one year is a possibility.

Williams at first would not say which tournament the school had chosen. In response to a question he jokingly said: "We're going to split the team and play in both."

Utah State Picks NIT Over NCAA

By JACK HAMD
Associated Press Staff Writer

LOGAN, Utah (AP) — Utah State, invited to both the NIT and NCAA basketball tournaments, chose the NIT Thursday because of a star player's eligibility.

Frank Williams, athletic director, said high-scoring Jim Smith would be ineligible for the NCAA tourney.

"Smith is a junior college transfer and is ineligible under NCAA rules," Williams said. "We have already lost a backcourt man, Hal Hale, and felt we would be too handicapped trying to play without two key men."

Coach LaDell Andersen said Smith will be out of action for about 10 days because of a foot injury.

Smith was elated over the NIT — the National Invitation Tournament — in New York's Madison Square Garden.

"It's really great," he said. "I wanted to play those last few games. It will be a great experience."

For a time, there was confusion over which tourney Utah State would play in.

A published report earlier on Thursday said Utah State had accepted a bid to the NCAA tourney. Meanwhile, the NIT in New York came out with an announcement of Utah State's acceptance.

Williams at first would not say which tournament the school had chosen. In response to a question he jokingly said: "We're going to split the team and play in both."

Wyoming Uses Control To Tip Utah

LARAMIE, Wyo. (AP) — Wyoming switched to ball control to overcome Utah's zone defense and captured a 52-40 basketball victory that tightened Wyoming's second-place hold in the Western Athletic Conference race Thursday.

Utah edged to a 13-10 lead with 13 minutes left in the opening half before Wyoming began slowing the tempo of play and waiting for good shots against the Utah zone.

The Cowboys went ahead 26-24 on Bobby Wilson's 20-foot jumper with 2:04 left and a 30-foot shot by Wilson three seconds before intermission gave Wyoming a 32-26 halftime lead — the biggest spread of the contest.

Wyoming never trailed in the second half.

The Cowboys finished with a 37 per cent field shot accuracy on 22-of-58 and Utah was 22-of-58 for 33 per cent.

Utah's Mervin Jackson took game scoring honors with 20 points. Mike Eberle led Wyoming with 19, all on field shots. The victory raised Wyoming to 6-2 and dropped Utah to 3-4 in the league race.

Monroe-Led New Mexico Trims BYU

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Ben Monroe hit 41 points, 20 in the first half, as he led New Mexico to a 97-75 basketball victory over Brigham Young Thursday night.

It was the first Western Athletic Conference loss for the Cougars and made BYU's game Saturday with Wyoming the one for the league championship.

Mel Daniels, 6-foot-9 center for the Lobos, added 36 points. Craig Raymond, 6-11, had 13 points for Brigham Young.

Monroe's first half was so hot that within three minutes before intermission he had 26 points to 25 for the entire Brigham Young team. New Mexico led 42-30 at the half.

In the first four minutes of the second half Daniels outscored BYU 12-8. New Mexico led by as much as 20 points several times in the second half.

Monroe's points came on 19 field goals and three free throws. It was an individual field goal record for the Lobos; the old one of 17 held by Bill Morgan who got two points to tie the record.

The win gave New Mexico the preseason favorite in the conference, a 4-4 conference mark and 17-0 for the season.

Brigham Young now is 6-1 in the conference and 12-8. Wyoming has two WAC defeats.

Monroe's points came on 19 field goals and three free throws. It was an individual field goal record for the Lobos; the old one of 17 held by Bill Morgan who got two points to tie the record.

The win gave New Mexico the preseason favorite in the conference, a 4-4 conference mark and 17-0 for the season.

Brigham Young now is 6-1 in the conference and 12-8. Wyoming has two WAC defeats.

Utah State Picks NIT Over NCAA

By JACK HAMD
Associated Press Staff Writer

LOGAN, Utah (AP) — Utah State, invited to both the NIT and NCAA basketball tournaments, chose the NIT Thursday because of a star player's eligibility.

Frank Williams, athletic director, said high-scoring Jim Smith would be ineligible for the NCAA tourney.

"Smith is a junior college transfer and is ineligible under NCAA rules," Williams said. "We have already lost a backcourt man, Hal Hale, and felt we would be too handicapped trying to play without two key men."

Coach LaDell Andersen said Smith will be out of action for about 10 days because of a foot injury.

Smith was elated over the NIT — the National Invitation Tournament — in New York's Madison Square Garden.

"It's really great," he said. "I wanted to play those last few games. It will be a great experience."

For a time, there was confusion over which tourney Utah State would play in.

A published report earlier on Thursday said Utah State had accepted a bid to the NCAA tourney. Meanwhile, the NIT in New York came out with an announcement of Utah State's acceptance.

Williams at first would not say which tournament the school had chosen. In response to a question he jokingly said: "We're going to split the team and play in both."

Wyoming Uses Control To Tip Utah

LARAMIE, Wyo. (AP) — Wyoming switched to ball control to overcome Utah's zone defense and captured a 52-40 basketball victory that tightened Wyoming's second-place hold in the Western Athletic Conference race Thursday.

Utah edged to a 13-10 lead with 13 minutes left in the opening half before Wyoming began slowing the tempo of play and waiting for good shots against the Utah zone.

The Cowboys went ahead 26-24 on Bobby Wilson's 20-foot jumper with 2:04 left and a 30-foot shot by Wilson three seconds before intermission gave Wyoming a 32-26 halftime lead — the biggest spread of the contest.

Wyoming never trailed in the second half.

The Cowboys finished with a 37 per cent field shot accuracy on 22-of-58 and Utah was 22-of-58 for 33 per cent.

Utah's Mervin Jackson took game scoring honors with 20 points. Mike Eberle led Wyoming with 19, all on field shots. The victory raised Wyoming to 6-2 and dropped Utah to 3-4 in the league race.

Monroe-Led New Mexico Trims BYU

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Ben Monroe hit 41 points, 20 in the first half, as he led New Mexico to a 97-75 basketball victory over Brigham Young Thursday night.

It was the first Western Athletic Conference loss for the Cougars and made BYU's game Saturday with Wyoming the one for the league championship.

Mel Daniels, 6-foot-9 center for the Lobos, added 36 points. Craig Raymond, 6-11, had 13 points for Brigham Young.

Monroe's first half was so hot that within three minutes before intermission he had 26 points to 25 for the entire Brigham Young team. New Mexico led 42-30 at the half.

In the first four minutes of the second half Daniels outscored BYU 12-8. New Mexico led by as much as 20 points several times in the second half.

Monroe's points came on 19 field goals and three free throws. It was an individual field goal record for the Lobos; the old one of 17 held by Bill Morgan who got two points to tie the record.

The win gave New Mexico the preseason favorite in the conference, a 4-4 conference mark and 17-0 for the season.

Brigham Young now is 6-1 in the conference and 12-8. Wyoming has two WAC defeats.

Texas Western, Utahs Picked As NCAA, NIT Fill Tourney Spots

By The Associated Press

Defending champion Texas Western and eight other teams were picked Thursday for the National Collegiate Athletic Association basketball championship but another team — Utah State — got away.

Utah State decided to cast lots with the National Invitation Tournament in New York which announced seven teams. The NCAA in Kansas City at first announced Utah State as one of its at-large selections but the university's athletic director, Frank Williams, later said he had chosen the NIT.

He said the decision was made because one of his key players, Jim Smith, would be ineligible for the NCAA as a junior college transfer.

Texas Western, with a 17-5 record and ranked 10th nationally, was joined as at-large teams in the NCAA field by Houston, No. 7, with a 19-3 mark; Boston College, 16-3; St. John's of New York, 19-3; Dayton, 20-4; Virginia Tech, 17-4; the Ivy League winner, either Princeton, 20-2, or Cornell, 18-3; Seattle University, 17-6; and New Mexico State, 14-8.

Princeton and Cornell meet Saturday at Princeton in a game that might decide the Ivy champion.

The NIT, with a 14-field team, chose Syracuse, the eighth ranked team with a 19-3 record; Providence, 16-4; St. Peter's, N.J., 18-2; Rutgers, 16-5; Marquette, 16-7, and Memphis State, 17-7.

Most of the ranking teams are expected to play in the NCAA qualifying automatically as conference champions. The Ivy League did not qualify automatically because of its dispute with the NCAA over the 1.6 grade average eligibility rule, which since has been resolved.

Three teams already have clinched conference crowns and are automatically in the NCAA. They are Louisville, 23-2, the nation's second-ranked team from the Missouri Valley Conference; third-ranked Western Kentucky, 20-1, of the Ohio Valley, and Connecticut, 16-4, of the Yankee Conference.

UCLA of the Pacific-8 which has led the Associated Press poll throughout the year and with an unbeaten record of 21-0 figures to go into the NCAA tournament as the prime favorite.

Drivers Turn In Blazing Times

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — With $200,000 prize money in their sights, the nation's best racing drivers put their cars through their fastest practice session Thursday, hitting as high as 182 miles per hour on the high-banked Daytona International Speedway in final tuneups for the richest stock car race ever held — Sunday's Daytona 500.

Mario Andretti of Nazareth, Pa. — made an official 182.8 m.p.h. in one of a group of 1967 factory Fords.

Richard Petty of Randeman, N.C., in a 1967 Plymouth, and Curtis Turner of Charlotte, N.C., in a 1967 Chevelle — got around the 2.5-mile asphalt track at 180 m.p.h.

'SINGLE SUIT PLAY' DEFINED
The term "single suit play" applies when you must concentrate on one suit only. Your contract single suit play depends on the exact cards you hold and on the number of tricks in the suit you need.

Opening lead—♠ Q

The normal play of ace-king-queen would have been correct. The reason the play was correct in this case is because South gets no value out of the ten clubs in dummy unless he takes that first round finesse. The play of the ace-king-queen produces five tricks only if clubs break 3-3. They break this way only 35.1 per cent of the time. The ten spot finesse produces five tricks any time West starts with Jx; or Jxx or Jxxx in clubs. This happens 47 per cent of the time and a 47 per cent chance is a good deal better than a 35.5 per cent chance.

Suppose that South needs only four club tricks—How should he play? He should play exactly the same way. He can't win four tricks against five or six to the jack in the East hand. The first round finesse guard against five or six to the jack in the West hand and only costs that fourth trick against a singleton jack held by East.

What do you do now?
 —Bid seven hearts! The fact that your partner holds no kings greatly increases the probability that he will hold queens and they are the cards you are really looking for.

TODAY'S QUESTION
 Instead of rebidding four hearts your partner bids three hearts. What do you do now?

Answer Next Issue

South looked over dummy carefully and decided that he had very little chance to get more than four tricks out of spades, hearts and diamonds. Therefore it was up to him to try for five tricks in the club suit.

He won the first spade in his own hand and led a club towards dummy. West played the six and South played dummy's ten. When this held and both opponents followed to the ace, South hid his five club tricks.

This play would not have been the best way to go after five club tricks if South had held the ten of clubs. In that case

The Senior Doldrums Cry For Perspective

About this time each year, the important high school seniors topple into a mood of melancholy sogginess by their service, and brought "The senior doldrums." It's outside themselves a bit, triggered by a two-way pull between fears of the future and regrets of the past.

Some students erupt into senseless violence when confronted by the doldrums, while others withdraw into "ostrich" surrender. But the winners find a positive path out of their melancholy. Herewith some principles from a pair who made the trek.

"First of all don't blow it when you get discouraged. Sure it's depressing to find out that being a mighty senior isn't all it's cracked up to be—but don't quit. Make it a day at a time; if necessary, but don't do anything stupid. In everything there's a high point and a low. Wait out the bad times—and things will look up."

"Along this line, kids worry too much about things they don't really need to worry about. If you can't improve things anyway after you've spent your application to college and are waiting to hear whether you'll be accepted—well, don't brood about it. And don't lose your perspective."

GET GOING!
 "When the doldrums are on you, try to do something new and positive. Maybe you're just in a rut and need a bigger challenge. OK, see what needs doing at school, or in your club, or at church. Just don't sit and mope."

Students who've been on the receiving end for years may tentatively decide they'd catch a new spark for their sagging spirits if they started giving a little. "Part of the trouble is that if you're superstitious at home, your parents could get along to the point where you're doing fine without you."

Tutoring others is the answer for some seniors. Others help out as junior leaders, or as parents could get along to the point where you're doing fine without you.

Anniversary Is Observed By Twin Falls Rotary Club

The Twin Falls Rotary Club is participating this week in the 62nd anniversary of the national organization, the oldest of the service clubs. The organization was founded Feb. 23, 1905, at Chicago, Ill.

At its meeting this week the local club paid tribute to its oldest living member, Ralph Plnk, who joined this week, Hugh Call, president, said the organization is linked with nations over the world. The Twin Falls Club was organized in 1918 and has about 100 members.

Richard L. Evans, Salt Lake City, president of Rotary International, outlined a 10-point program which began last July for the club. It includes extending Rotary to new communities, aiding youth, developing friendships across international borders and "doing something for someone, somewhere."

Farmer-Faculty Game Planned

HANSEN — A Farmer-Faculty basketball game, sponsored by the Hansen PTA, will be held at 7 p.m. March 3 at the Hansen schoolhouse.

The fourth grade will also play a Twin Falls team, and the fifth grade will play the sixth grade during the evening. The girls high school drill team will also perform.

Tickets may be obtained from junior, high and senior high school students. Prizes will be awarded to those selling the most tickets.

Proceeds will be used to help defray the cost of grade school basketball uniforms.

Lincoln County Taxpayers Call Meeting Monday Night

SHOSHONE — A meeting is called for 8 p.m. Monday at the Lincoln County court room here for all taxpayers within the county.

The meeting is an outgrowth of a gathering of 29 persons Monday night who wish to present information and seek action regarding taxation and particularly the current re-appraisal program set up this year.

Glenn L. Sorenson, Dietrich, was named temporary chairman of a three-man citizens' committee for the Feb. 27 meeting. Assisting are Brig Patterson, Richfield, and Ed Sheer, North Shoshone. D. S. Hunt acted as temporary chairman of the discussion meeting Monday night.

It was decided to formally organize a local unit of the Tax Equality Association for Lincoln county, and affiliate with the state.

Details will be handled at the Monday meeting.

It was reported that at the January meeting of the Lincoln county commissioners, a fund of $12,000 was set in the tentative budget to carry out the revaluation program within the county for wages and materials to do the appraisals.

As a result of a visit to the budget hearing in February by members of the State Tax Equality Association who live in Shoshone and a delegation from the Chamber of Commerce, the commissioners delayed definite action on that part of the budget until the March 13 meeting.

They stated that because an appraisal in the county had not been taken for about 20 years and is based on 1938 valuation, they would train two men hired to do the appraisal work. They are Charles Hansen and Clyde Rapp, Shoshone, who are being trained by a member of the State Tax Commission, Boise.

County Commissioners stated that at the March 13 meeting, they will hear further information on the project before taking final action. They did cut the budget for the project from the $12,000 set on the tentative budget to $3,000 when they met in February, stating they felt the work could be done for that amount.

Whether or not a re-appraisal is needed was discussed Monday night, and it was noted that some counties have gone along with the state Tax Commission's suggestion to carry out the program, while others have not.

Beach Boys Ask Court Decision

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Beach Boys, a rock 'n' roll singing group, says Capitol Records has failed to provide a true account of royalties under a 1962 contract.

In a Superior Court complaint Thursday, the singers charged that at least $225,000 is due them. They asked for an accounting, plus a judgment for that amount.

NEW Adorna by Spiedel ... is it a watchband ... or a bracelet?

PEPPER POINT Yellow or White Gold-filled $9.95

MICRONITE Yellow or White Gold-filled $9.95

STABLET Yellow or White Gold-filled $9.95

It's both. Adorna — as beautiful as the name — and two-in-one. So beautiful you won't need a bracelet. It's love at first sight. Alluringly slim, but resolute. Adorna offers tie-in-a-knot durability.
