

2 Witnesses Claim Dodd Paid Back Loans With Reception Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two witnesses who helped raise funds by staging a reception and a cocktail party for Sen. Thomas J. Dodd in 1962 testified today that after the events he repaid in part loans they had made to him.

Paul V. McNamara, a Bridgeport, Conn., lawyer who was Dodd's 1962 campaign manager, and Sanford Bornstein, a Washington restaurant and night club operator, both said they regarded the senator as a man who used the money they helped raise for any purpose he wished.

Bornstein, however, this was his intent despite the wording of minutes of a DC Committee for Dodd that put on a reception here that netted over $12,000 for the 59-year-old Connecticut Democrat. The minutes did not say Dodd was to use the money any way he wanted.

McNamara said that although "the vestige" in letters he sent out for a cocktail party in Fairfield, Conn., was "somewhat ambiguous" his purpose was to help out a friend highly in debt.

His testimony was given to the Senate's bipartisan ethics committee in its investigation of charges that Dodd used campaign contributions for his personal expenses.

The cocktail party was one in a series of "Dodd Day" events in which President Johnson, then vice president, and his wife Lady Bird attended.

"What did you consider the purpose of this fund-raising activity?" asked Benjamin R. Fern, the committee's chief counsel.

To get this man straightened out financially so he could get his head above water for the 1964 campaign and not be a nervous wreck," McNamara replied.

Fern asked why Bornstein did not record in the minutes of the DC Committee for Dodd that he was free to use the money from the reception however he wished.

"Because I guess I'm a little on the square side," Bornstein replied. "I'm not as astute as I should be. I'm an amateur."

His testimony brought out that he and James Gartland, Dodd's administrative assistant, were the only ones who attended the meeting at which the minutes were adopted. "By the unanimous consent of the majority of the members of the DC Committee for Dodd."

The meeting was held in the Rocket Room 545, 1800, on nine days after the $100-per-person reception at which $12,894 was the take.

Bornstein was the first witness as the bipartisan committee went into its second day of hearings on charges that Dodd used campaign funds for personal expenses.

The hearings got off to a fast start Monday with the committee and the 59-year-old senator stipulating in a 102-page document a mass of facts involved in fund-raising activities in his behalf between 1961 and 1965.

In addition to campaign contributions for Dodd's 1964 reelection, there were a series of testimonial events. Dodd contends the proceeds from such free-of-charge gifts could legitimately use as he saw fit.

Figures in the stipulation indicated that $456,709 was raised altogether and that Dodd deposited at least $150,000 of it in his own bank accounts.

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., told reporters that "due to the evergreen nature of the stipulation, the hearings were moving rather rapidly and might be completed before Congress starts an Easter recess late next week."

With 30 minutes left agreed to, Stennis said testimony will describe largely with explanations and the motives that prompted the testimonial dinners and other fund-raising events.

President Johnson, when he was vice president, was the principal speaker at testimonial affairs in 1961 and 1962. Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey was the featured speaker at a fund-raising dinner in 1963.

Among the witnesses on tap today was Leon Sinclair, an aide to then-Vice President Johnson in 1961. Sinclair, the committee was told Monday, testified about the purpose of the Nov. 20, 1961, testimonial at the Johnson spoke.

James E. Boyd Jr., Dodd's former administrative assistant, said when the senator learned about the inquiry he said "I'd tell the vice president the purpose was to raise money."

Man Testifies Clay Shaw Was Involved In Plot

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Perfor Raymond Russo, a witness for-Dist. Atty. Gen. Garrison, testified today that Clay L. Shaw was one of the three men he heard plotting to kill President John F. Kennedy.

Russo, a 25-year-old insurance salesman from Baton Rouge, said he heard the conversation in the apartment of David W. Ferris in September, 1962.

Russo's testimony stamped him as a "confidential informant" as cited by Garrison as the source who "saw the conspirators and heard the plans."

Russo described the scene in Ferris's apartment this way: "There seemed to be some sort of party in progress. They were drinking and talking. I don't recall who died out, Russo said, and the only one left were himself, Ferris, "Lion Oswald" and "Clay L. Shaw."

On the direction of Garrison, Russo walked behind the chair of Clay L. Shaw in the courtroom. Asked to point out the man he was introduced to as Clay Bertrand, Russo held his hand over Shaw's head.

The purpose of the preliminary hearing was to decide if Shaw, a former managing director of the International Trade Mart here, should be held for trial. Garrison has accused Shaw of conspiring with Oswald and others to kill President John F. Kennedy. The minutes did not say Dodd was to use the money any way he wanted.

McNamara said that although "the vestige" in letters he sent out for a cocktail party in Fairfield, Conn., was "somewhat ambiguous" his purpose was to help out a friend highly in debt.

His testimony was given to the Senate's bipartisan ethics committee in its investigation of charges that Dodd used campaign contributions for his personal expenses.

Vote GOODING - Polls will be open until 7 p.m. today in the Gooding county hospital $50,000 bond election to provide a new modern facility.

All taxpayers are urged to vote for the measure so the county may take advantage of Hill-Burton funds now available in the amount of approximately $250,000. The present hospital facilities have become inadequate and not practical to remodel.

Bill Gurvich, the attorney's chief investigator, carried a 400-foot long bundle wrapped in brown paper. Sources in Garrison's office said the package contained a high powered rifle with telescopic sight.

Labor Chiefs Deal Blow To Merger Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Labor leaders who are opposing a merger plan to combine the Labor and Commerce departments, it was reported today.

At a briefing last week arranged by Johnson, AFL-CIO President George Meany and other federation leaders told two high administration officials they unanimously oppose the merger.

Meany and other members of the AFL-CIO Executive Council said the nation's workers would never be able to understand why they shouldn't have a separate federal department representing their interests as long as other segments of the economy — such as agriculture — had special interest agencies.

"If the AFL-CIO leaders took no formal vote on the merger proposal during the briefing by Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz and Under Secretary Charles Schultz, they left the impression "they would not support the merger," said the proposal to Congress, informants said.

"The key to this whole thing is the lack of support which could be decisive," said a well-placed government source.

EAST LONDON, South Africa (AP) — The airliner which U.S. Robert F. Kennedy Jr. crashed during his visit to South Africa crashed into the Indian Ocean Monday night, apparently killing all 25 persons aboard. An American woman was reported among the victims.

It was the worst crash in South African history.

Col. C.R. Botha, the divisional public commissioner, denied a report that 21 bodies had been washed ashore during the night. He said only a few pieces of wreckage had been found and because of strong currents in the area, a wide stretch of the coast was being searched.

Bill Introduced To Create Sawtooth Recreation Area

WASHINGTON, D.C. (Special) — U.S. Sens. Frank Church of Idaho, and Lea B. Jordan, R-Idaho, Tuesday introduced a bill to create a Sawtooth Recreation Area in the mountains of central Idaho.

The bill is the outgrowth of a field hearing conducted last year in Idaho which resulted in the expression of overwhelming preference for a national recreation area as opposed to a Sawtooth National Park.

Sen. Jordan, who introduced the bill on behalf of himself and Sen. Church, said the bill is "to assure preservation of the upland Sawtooth Mountains and wilderness and protect the scenic, historic, pastoral, fish and wildlife and other recreational areas of the mountains in a uniquely beautiful mountain valley areas of the American West."

He said multiple use management, typical ranching areas if the area is developed economically and prosper. At the same time, he said the country must protect and preserve so rich a national heritage as the Sawtooth Mountain region.

Sen. Church told the Senate and the influx of out-of-state visitors to the area has multiplied in recent years and the National Recreation Area can do much to provide facilities for these out-of-state visitors.

He urged early Senate hearings on the bill.

Man Still Is Missing After Fall In River

Officials of the Kimberly Construction Co., said Tuesday morning one of the company foremen, Mike Young, 35, Kimberly, still is missing in the Ox-bow area of Snake River.

Mr. Young and another worker fell into the river Monday morning when a bridge they were dismantling collapsed.

The other worker was pulled from the water but Young was not seen until he was rescued by swam from the collapsed bridge. A search Monday by boat and helicopter failed to locate him.

Artell Aslett, owner of the firm, left Tuesday morning for the area and company officials said water was being retained behind the dam to lower the water level and facilitate the search.

Mr. Young was in charge of dismantling the bridge which is five miles down stream from the Ox-bow Dam and is part of an $11 million job to build a complex south of Hells Canyon.

Accord Is Reached On Recreation Sites

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News Staff Writer

A cooperative agreement to facilitate acquisition and development of recreational sites along Snake River and other waters was reached in Twin Falls Monday afternoon between the board of County Commissioners, Idaho Fish and Game Department and the County Waterways Commission. Vernon Rich, federal aid coordinator for the Fish and Game Department, Boise, said the proposal has been adopted in general by other counties throughout the state. Fish and Game Department officials will be responsible for acquiring the sites, building access roads, parking facilities, boat docks or landings and sanitation facilities.

When completed to this extent the recreation site will be open to the county for maintenance and any further development such as picnic facilities, lights, baseball fields or other items the county might wish to add.

Mr. Rich said the Fish and Game Department will work with the county in acquiring sites they are especially anxious to obtain.

He said the department's primary interest is in giving the public access to the sites for hunting and fishing, but by working with the county, areas can be developed to serve all recreation interests.

Heber Loughmiller, county commission chairman, said that if roadways into the sites, parking and other facilities are provided, "it will leave the county with the local counties in for maintenance and improvement. He said it would probably be possible to use summer student help or county judges workers to clean and maintain the sites.

Of special interest to both the Fish and Game Department and the County Waterways Commission are sites along Snake River.

Principal Of High School Gets New Job

George Staudsher, principal of Twin Falls High School, was named Monday night by school district trustees to the post of assistant superintendent. He succeeds Arthur Kleinfink, who has announced plans to retire at the end of this school year.

Mr. Staudsher will assume his new duties July 1.

During other Monday night action the board approved an eight-week summer kindergarten program to be financed by Title I Public Law 89-10. Eligible for enrollment will be students who have not had such training and will be entering first grade in the fall of 1967.

Trustees also approved the annual trustee election for May 18. Trustees will be elected from Zone 1 for a three-year term, and Zone 2 for an unexpired term of two years.

Volco Plans Opening Fete On Thursday

Grand opening of the new Volvo Builder's Supply, Inc., building in Twin Falls will be held from Thursday through Saturday.

Warren Barry, manager of the Twin Falls office, says the local store has grown from a 30-by-30-foot building in 1950 to the present one, just completely remodeled, which contains about 15,000 square feet under one roof.

In the new building is some 10,000 square feet of floor space to display the most complete and comprehensive line of building supplies in the area. Behind the building is seven acres of yard space for the building supplies.

Barry said the new building is a "supermarket" for building supplies. All lines have been expanded and several new lines have been added. Barry added, "Floor furnishings and coverings also have been added."

The Twin Falls store also has the largest and most complete selection of panelings, ranging from $3 to $108 per sheet.

Personnel at the store also has been expanded. Barry noted, "When the store opened in its present location in 1958, there were four staff members. Today there are 22."

The formal grand opening will be held from 8 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Thursday; 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. Friday and from 8 a.m. to noon Saturday. Everyone is invited.

5 Children Perish In Home Fire

SNODHISH, Wash. (AP) — Five children died in a home fire about five miles northeast of Snohomish late Monday night, Snohomish Fire Chief Charles Walsh reported. Their father was critically burned and another child burned less severely.

Snohomish County Coroner Don Baker identified the dead as Linda Lavery, 12; Jimmy, 8; John, 7; Doris, 3; and Patty, 2. Their bodies were found in an upstairs bedroom.

The father, Cio Lavery, a longshoreman, got a 10-year-old daughter out of a bedroom window onto a roof, from which she jumped. He tried to get back in to reach the other children but was forced to jump from the roof by the intense fire.

Lavery's wife, Roberta, escaped with an infant son in her arms.

Youth Loses Leg In Fall Under Train

OROFINO, Idaho (AP) — A 15-year-old Orofino boy lost his left leg Monday when he fell beneath a moving Camas Prairie Railway freight train.

Royce Adair, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Adair, was reported in critical condition, but holding his own, by attendants at St. Joseph's Hospital in Lewiston.

Authorities said young Adair and Arthur Scott Beale, 15, also of Orofino, had hopped the slow-moving freight in downtown Orofino and were jumping from gondola to gondola when Adair lost his footing and fell beneath the train.

His leg was almost severed at the thigh. He was taken first to Clearwater Valley Hospital here, and then on to Lewiston, where attendants said the leg could not be saved, despite several hours in surgery.

Education Facility Plans Open House

The largest, most modern, special education facility in Idaho will be shown during an open house from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. Friday.

The special education building at Robert Suarri Junior High School has undergone an extensive remodeling program in recent months, according to Mrs. C. L. Ratcliffe, director.

The addition, she said, consists of three more classrooms, a gymnasium, handball and game court, physical therapy room, laundry facilities and shower rooms. The original structure was six classrooms arranged around an all purpose room. Eight teachers are instructing the 85 students enrolled in the special program.

The students will guide visitors to the center Friday.

Governor To Attend Local Meet

Idaho's Gov. Don Samuelson and Lt. Gov. Jack Murphy will attend DECA Club's annual Idaho State Leadership Conference March 31 and April 1 in Twin Falls.

The club from the College of Southern Idaho will host about 50 students from North Idaho Junior College, Lewis and Clark College, Boise College and Idaho State University.

While the two-day convention, students will participate in contests, business meetings, tours and banquets. Gov. Samuelson and Lt. Gov. Murphy will address the Saturday night banquet and will pass out awards to winning students.

Ten contests will be held, with all pertaining to the field of work—DECA members are competing in—namely mid-management courses. The courses deal with business—wholesaling, retailing, etc., and combine half a day classroom instruction with another half day of on-the-job training.

During the convales, a contest, drawn up during last year's meet, will be raffled. Both first and second year students will be eligible. Last year was the first for mid-management courses to be offered on the college level.

Winners of the state contests will earn cash prizes to finance their trips to the national competition. Last year's national competition was held in Chicago. Last year's national competition was held in Chicago. Last year's national competition was held in Chicago.

Mrs. Gandhi's Government Criticized

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Opposition political groups in Rajasthan State criticized Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's new government today for imposing federal control on the desert state which was rocked by political riots last week.

Maharajwala, Laxman Singh, leader of the Samyaktva Dal United Front, said his coalition should have been given a chance to form a government in the state.

Mrs. Gandhi's Cabinet decided to take over administration of the state and suspend its legislature a few hours after being sworn in for a five-year term Monday.

Home Minister V.B. Chavan said the decision to impose federal control, known as presidential rule, was taken because law and order were deteriorating in the state.

Riots broke out last week in Jaipur, the state capital 140 miles south of New Delhi, after the Rajasthan governor asked Mrs. Gandhi's Congress party to form a government. The Congress is the largest party in the state legislature but lost its majority in the elections last month.

Mrs. Gandhi also was faced with the threat of a crisis in her native state of Uttar Pradesh, where the Congress also lost its majority in the election but was still the largest party in the legislature.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON—It should be good news to the plain citizen who regards diplomatic protocol as an end in itself almost before Ambassador Drobny has relinquished his prerogative of giving foreign diplomats the rough side of his tongue whenever they come to town to represent their respective countries.

The story behind Soviet Premier Kossygin's letter to Johnson, signed to discuss ways to limit the arms race, is a story of Johnson's use of blunt Texas talk to get the Soviet Premier moving. In effect, Johnson took Kossygin a lesson in common-sense diplomacy.

Johnson wrote Drobny a letter on Jan. 27, about the deployment of a Soviet anti-ballistic missile system, which he said it was time the two countries got together for a chat about arms limitations. When no reply had been received, Johnson almost before Ambassador Drobny had relinquished his prerogative of giving foreign diplomats the rough side of his tongue whenever they come to town to represent their respective countries.

Senator Church On Right Track

Powers of the world at the threshold of nuclear capability must be convinced that going nuclear is NOT the best way to increase their security or to maintain their relative standing and influence in the world.

Senator Frank Church, Idaho's senior Senator, expressed this and other opinions along the nuclear line in a paper prepared for the "Great Decisions" program of the Foreign Policy Association. We have just read this paper and we believe Senator Church is on the right track.

"We must not leap to the hopeless conclusion that other nations must decide as France and China did. They are not necessarily driven by the same aspirations and problems. For example, we must realize that a nuclear arsenal would not increase its security or its influence—but would merely trigger Israel's decision to go nuclear in reply."

STRAIGHT TALK—Drobny dutifully showed up in the President's office—and Johnson had an opportunity to discuss with him a chance to get settled in his chair, "Mr. Ambassador," said Johnson, "I asked you to come to see me because something's eating me. I wrote your Premier Kossygin a letter a month ago suggesting that the American and Soviet governments get together and discuss how we should limit the arms race. I'm still waiting for a reply."

While Drobny squirmed, the President went on. "I don't think that's very polite, Mr. Ambassador. This morning around is the sort of thing that makes Americans get mad at you Russians. You never seem to be able to do anything in a straightforward way. I want to do a little talk; I haven't asked Mr. Kossygin to make any concessions."

GETS ACTION—Presumably, Drobny returned to the Soviet Embassy and dispatched a verbatim cable covering Johnson's remarks. The statement says remained: "There's anything a Russian hates it's to be accused of being impolite." At any rate, Johnson announced to announce on March 2 that preliminary discussions on the arms race had been set up between U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn-Thomas and Russian officials.

Johnson's blunt lecture to Drobny emphasized one of the President's lesser-known diplomatic talents—the ability to talk plain, unadorned words to his foreign counterparts. President frequently became impatient when he feels that some foreign government is not behaving in a manner he believes is conducive to the interests of the United States—which he usually manages to equate with those of the world. At such times, he arranges a meeting with the foreign official and says to him some things of his chest. Johnson feels that any complaint or whine on American policy has greater impact when an ambassador can report to his government as coming from the horse's—or Presidential—mouth.

"But we must not leap to the hopeless conclusion that other nations must decide as France and China did. They are not necessarily driven by the same aspirations and problems. For example, we must realize that a nuclear arsenal would not increase its security or its influence—but would merely trigger Israel's decision to go nuclear in reply."

"But such national decisions will be much more likely if nations now on the threshold can see alternative roads to both security and international standing."

The Senator urged adoption of a "non-proliferation" treaty for the nuclear powers and said that it had obvious appeal "if it is effective and reliable." Two of the "ifs" the Senator stresses are:

(1) Safeguards must be put into effect which will prevent any nation from nuclear power from making nuclear weapons material in ostensibly peaceful facilities.

(2) Soviet fears of West Germany must be reasonably allayed and the present United States draft treaty does not sufficiently meet these fears.

The Senator also takes the United States to task for the continued insistence that various "options" which the United States seem very unlikely ever to exercise, be written into a non-proliferation treaty.

"If I think we are needlessly jeopardizing the whole treaty project," Senator Church declared.

The Senator adds that, to assure success, we must be ready to negotiate the further arms control steps that lie beyond such a treaty.

The Senator adds that he has proven himself to be a man who says what he thinks. He is a Democrat, of course, but he is far from a "rubber stamp" party member.

His thoughts on the nuclear race are interesting and provoke serious thought. We believe the Senator sees that the United States will have to give a little to get a little in any nuclear treaty. We are happy that Senator Church is speaking his mind.

FALLOUT SHELTER! WHAT'S THE DAB?

A Twin Falls man, contemplating a new home and discussing the job with a local contractor, pondered incorporating a fallout shelter into the basement plan.

The mere mention of the shelter, however, brought a chuckle from the contractor and a question—"What's a fallout shelter?"—from his young son.

This is not an isolated instance. Few national issues have alternately waxed and waned so dramatically as the one concerning fallout shelters.

There are a few such shelters in local homes, but they went in with the first bomb scare several years ago.

Three years ago a Senate committee recommended shelving of a $180 million bill to provide up to 10 million "public places" which would be eligible for the bill is still on the shelf.

We have either lulled ourselves into a false sense of security or have come to accept the threat of nuclear destruction as a way of life. We prefer to believe the latter.

"We had a talk with Sheriff Jim Bendham the other day and we found there are still a great majority of the people who do not use seat belts when they drive."

It is funny which is not disposed to fastening seat belts in the car to avoid a much more real daily threat—death on the highway—could not be expected to react positively to something inconceivable as a world nuclear holocaust.

Meanwhile, many who do have shelters in their homes are not using them with food and water. They do, however, make a good auxiliary rumpus room.

Each to his own way. Perhaps even our close friend, who has the habit of revealing to us his deepest thoughts, is right. "I want to be out where the atom is. What a shock it would be to come out of a hole and find you were the only guy left."

MANY PRECEDENTS—Then Johnson once summoned Sir Patrick Dean, the British Ambassador, to complain about London's unwillingness to make common cause with Washington in the war in Vietnam. "I'm not very pragmatic," Johnson told Dean. "You're all ways worried about your precious treaty. Well, you'll be relieved to hear that you're all Communist take over the rest of the world."

On another occasion, Johnson blasted French Ambassador Charles de Gaulle about waffling with the Vietnam war. He told de Gaulle "all those peace feelers you're putting out are just stirring up the Communist take over the rest of the world."

Johnson's blunt lecture to Drobny emphasized one of the President's lesser-known diplomatic talents—the ability to talk plain, unadorned words to his foreign counterparts. President frequently became impatient when he feels that some foreign government is not behaving in a manner he believes is conducive to the interests of the United States—which he usually manages to equate with those of the world. GIVEAWAY DEPT.

We have two pure white, medium haired household kittens to give away. Both are females and are just over two and one-half months old. They may call 733-2728 weekdays after 6 p.m.

I have to give away a pretty black male dog one and one-half months old. He is one-half Spaniel and one-half Brittanney. His parents are good hunting dogs but he has not been trained. He is just a rough for our children and my husband doesn't have enough space for him. If you are interested please call 733-1590.

Have a white female Samoyed puppy to give away. It will be good dog for youngsters. We are moving and must find a good home for her. Call 733-7077 see her at 552 Second Avenue East.

Views of Others

HERBERT TRASK

Herbert Trask had none of the characteristics of Hollywood's "Front Page" reporters. He had a quiet, friendly manner and endears himself in listening. He is a gentleman by all who encountered him in his many years as the Post-Dispatch chief writer and columnist. He is a man who is above all, to be fair to his readers, he always was fair to those whom he wrote.

Trask was a man who had an insight into human character that he was not surprised by aberrations. But he never adopted the cynical view that there is no improving men and that the only way to improve them is to interest in young legislators, beginning their first term with a determination to reshape their acts according to their ideals. He felt for them as they discovered the hard way that sometimes raised by the experienced veterans of Jefferson City. And he was saddened when one of these young men, succumbing to disillusionment, quit the political battlefield.

He was reluctant to blame such departing warriors for lacking a patience equal to his own. He also was aware that wisdom was not always and solely at the service of young reformers. He recognized that political progress is made by the patient and the persistent and by striving to make the people ever more aware of their interests. This takes time; it takes patience. It is a long, slow process. He has seen it all. He has seen it all the time he had—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

SO LONG — NOT GOODBYE

James R. Hoffa made $100,000 a year as president of the Teamster Union, but you can bet he'll be back in the news. Hoffa is back in the Federal prison he entered Tuesday.

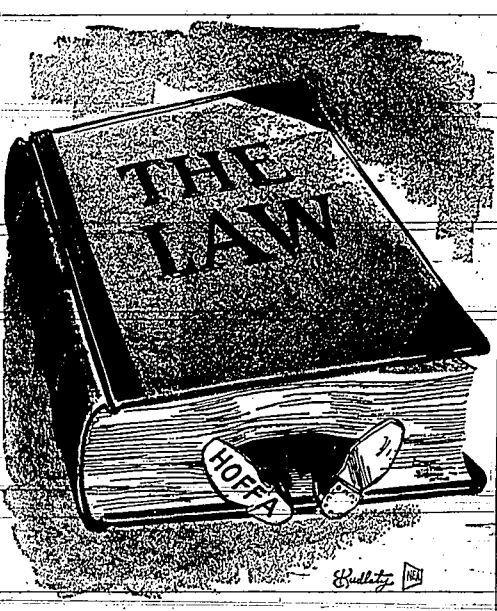

The 54-year-old Hoffa began an eighteen-year sentence for jury tampering during a 1962 trial in Nashville, Tenn. He was eligible for parole in less than three years, and we don't see anybody taking over on a permanent basis for Hoffa's long time.

Hoffa has always been hard. He has kept control of his union by being the hardest in the East. Hoffa has been charged with a lot of things, but what has been charged with is the main reason most of the Teamsters gave him respect. Allegedly, that, and the fact that he was a good boss.

Significantly, Hoffa did not deny the charge on which he was convicted, but based his defense on the claim that he was a good boss. Hoffa was convicted on the charge of "obstruction of justice" for dropping and governing.

There is little public sympathy for Hoffa. Hoffa was convicted on the charge of "obstruction of justice" for dropping and governing.

Now he's back in the news. Hoffa was convicted on the charge of "obstruction of justice" for dropping and governing.

Interpreting The News
By JAMES MARLOW

REALLY?

Dear Specialist:
Went out to buy a car the other day after reading all the ads to see what the prices were and all that.

Well, I found out right away that the prices were really low. Only one was with the price quoted did not include the motor, the seats, the tires or the wheels.

But I guess I can't kick too much. I did get what I got for a low price!

WASHINGTON (AP)—The message history got hit by a bomb in the House of Representatives and made and make a lot of difference.

The President asked the State Department to draft the message he wanted to read to Congress by March 12.

But in 1947 the full implications of the Truman doctrine were not clear as later. At that time the Soviet Union was the only great danger; it wasn't until two years later that the Communists took over China.

In the beginning American policy sought to "contain" the Soviet. The Truman Doctrine was followed quickly by the Marshall Plan of economic aid for Europe and then by the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, the military alliance to protect Western Europe.

As history unfolded, American obligations to spread democracy around the world, including Asia.

"This country has not always adhered rigidly to the Truman Doctrine, which said it 'must' be the policy of the United States to oppose any Communist who are resting attempted subjugation by armed minorities or outside pressures."

He didn't like that word "must." It was too "half-hearted," he felt. He scratched it out and wrote in "must."

The President's message, read to Congress a message that called for all countries to join in a common effort to aid to Greece and Turkey and changed American foreign policy.

Communism was abandoned and the United States, assuming leadership of the non-Communist world, stepped in to direct the effort to get rid of Fidel Castro in Cuba.

But it did slip in when Communism tried to take over South Korea. It made Stalin back down when he tried his Berlin blockade. It intervened in the Dominican Republic to prevent Communist take-over. And it intervened in Vietnam.

But it did slip in when Communism took over Czechoslovakia, making it a Soviet satellite. It did not intervene in 1956 when Soviet troops crushed the Hungarian revolt against Communism. Nor did it step in to get rid of Fidel Castro in Cuba.

COMING UP

Dear Mr. Specialist:
When I woke up the other morning and saw that snow on the ground, I thought, "It's spring. Here I thought spring was here but we were fooled. Old man winter never seems ready to give up in this area."

So, as of now, I still have my overcoat, boots, hat and scarf available for my use.

NEW YORK (AP)—No one is as dependent on nature as someone who lives in a big city. When you dwell in a rural area, you can more or less take nature for granted, as a child takes for granted the beauty of youth.

The unfolding pageantry of a mountain landscape almost ceases to exist. There is a sense of nature in the country, and many who live there are so accustomed to daily splendor that they do not feel compelled to pause and worship its wonders. They are so used to it that they feel the need to admire the miracle of water.

But when you regularly plod content pathways and eat your living in marmalade puddles of high stone and glass, you get a sense of nature in the country, and many who live there are so accustomed to daily splendor that they do not feel compelled to pause and worship its wonders. They are so used to it that they feel the need to admire the miracle of water.

Childs Views Today's Issues

WASHINGTON—"They have healed the wound of my people in a conspiracy over the bombing." That was what John F. Kennedy speech has been largely ignored. That was the proposal of Kennedy might have set down day before yesterday.

Judging from the glowing statements of U-Thant, Althaus, Goldberg and others, it would be no peace in the foreseeable future. A new and deeper divide has grown up over whether the Johnson administration reflected still another opportunity to open negotiations with North Vietnam.

The breach is widened by the clamp applied by the White House on all information about what happened before the bombing was resumed at the end of the Lunar New Year. The new war in North Vietnam against the enemy to open talks was lost and a break in the conflict headed by Premier Zhou Enlai in London for talks with Prime Minister Harold Wilson—in a charge down the drain, so the charges.

Dear Abby

BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: This isn't just my imagination, as other people have agreed with me. I feel the uprightness of the SWISS people. You can't meet a Swiss person, who is telling you in two minutes, "I am SWISS, you know." Why is that? They seem to think they are better than anyone else.

DEAR CHICAGOAN: Well, they've given us chocolate, cheese, and great skiing, and they seem to have the formula for avoiding war and attracting money.

DEAR ABBY: If you and your husband were playing cards with another man and his wife, and this other man kept bribing his leg against yours, what would you do or say? I tried moving my leg as far out as it reached as I could until I nearly slid off my chair, but even that didn't help.

This is not just my imagination, Abby. I KNOW he is doing it on purpose. His wife and I are good friends, and I didn't want to hurt her by making a scene. I know we will be seeing these people again soon. How should this be handled? Or should I ignore it?

DEAR PUZZLED: The next time you are able to have a long, warm, and happy conversation, tell him in no uncertain terms that you got his message—and the answer is NO!

DEAR ABBY: My mother says that girls shouldn't call boys. I don't see why not. If you want to know about a homework assignment or something like that, what's wrong with it?

DEAR WONDERING WIFE: I shouldn't call boys because the boy might get the idea that she is "chasing him"—which is the last thing a girl wants a boy to think—especially if she is, if girl wants to know about a homework assignment or something like that, what's wrong with it?

DEAR ABBY: This is for WORRIED, who said her parents left her alone with her young sisters and brothers, sometimes for days without telling her where they could be reached in case of emergency.

Do these parents realize that even if WORRIED were to call an ambulance or a doctor, nothing but FIRST AID could be given without the parents' consent?

If parents take off and don't want to be reached, they should send at least one letter giving permission to a certain doctor or hospital to do whatever they deem necessary for the welfare of the child.

I have a cousin who is suffering with a broken neck until his parents went permission from Hawaii to take giving to him.

CONCERNED: Troubled, Write to Abby, Box 9790, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

'Right To Know' Conflicts On Battlefields

SAIGON, Vietnam (NEA)—There is an industry rivalry in this war which grows much larger when reporters with small vans, a squirt eye and a 3 x 5 inch notepad card, which impudently asks: "Which side are you on, Buster?"

It is no easy, the major really want to know. For he asserts that at least some of the correspondents here "seem to be writing for the wrong army."

Although this man is a public information officer, assigned to help professional newsmen get the news to the public, his attitude betrays a basic distrust of the reporter, which seems to be characteristic of many who military officers. They assume that the reporter should be on the "side" or "working for" an army.

Since the reporters are civilians, they feel they are in Vietnam to describe what is said and done and what occurs without prejudice so long as it does not endanger military operations. Most of the 500 press and broadcasting people in Vietnam do their job according to the standards and ethics of their service criticism. In the military view, these are tagged "objectivity."

Some others are given only "official" scrutiny. They are designated as "unfriendly," which describes a definite lack of military and political compass, but not necessarily biased or unobjective battlefield coverage.

The remainder are, in the military major's view, "the dirty dozen." These few are termed "hostile." And in the conviction of the military, they condemn them, they print or broadcast prejudiced news, sometimes untruthful news, which gives a distorted picture of the military and, worse, often materially aids the enemy.

The "idiots," they say, "may be helping prolong this war."

They mean indirectly, certainly. The notion—neither new nor isolated among servicemen here—is that the "dirty dozen" of great comfort ports which rap U.S. war activi-

Thus, the argument goes, the enemy will eventually force them and will eventually force a U.S. policy change that will end with wholesale withdrawal from Southeast Asia.

Why? Why not? Why should they quit now? From all indications the enemy feels much of the American press sides with them and will eventually force a U.S. policy change that will end with wholesale withdrawal from Southeast Asia.

Yet the point is honest and because of it more than a few reporters grapple with themselves over the implications of some stories they write.

PAY MAY INCREASE
BOISE (AP)—Pay of state legislators would be increased to $7,300 for their two-year term of office under provisions of a proposed constitutional amendment introduced Monday in the Senate.

At present the Constitution provides a salary of $11,000 per day for legislators, with a limit of $600 for a regular biennial session.

The proposed amendment would give legislators a salary of $10 per day throughout their term of office.

BOARD ACTION EYED
KELLOGG, Idaho (AP)—It appeared Monday that it may be some time—perhaps two months—before the National Labor Relations Board acts on a request for a union representation election at the Bunker Hill Co.

The United Steelworkers of America seeks to replace the independent Northwest Metalworkers Union, an international representative for about 1,250 employees of the big silver mine, Kellogg, at its Bunker Hill plant.

Request for an election has been pending for several weeks.

Meanwhile, the Metalworkers Union told its members Monday it is bargaining with Bunker Hill for "the best contract ever signed in the district."

MISS SHADDUCK TO TALK
COEUR D'ALENE, Idaho (AP)—Miss Louise Shaduck, executive secretary of Idaho's Department of Commerce and Development, will address the annual meeting of the four-county Kootenai-Electric-Cooperative here Saturday.

HARTUNG PLEADED
MOSCOW, Idaho (AP)—Dr. Ernest W. Hartung, president of the University of Idaho, congratulated Gov. Don Wilder and the Idaho Legislature here Monday night for their action on the salary appropriation to the university.

Hartung's statement: "The action of Gov. Samuelson and the Legislature in providing $18.4 million in funds for the University of Idaho general budget for the next two years means the difference between going ahead progressively and slipping hopelessly behind. Personally and on behalf of the university, I wish to express my appreciation."

INVESTIGATOR APPOINTED
BOISE (AP)—Appointment of Stanley McKenzie, Boise, as senior investigator for the Liquor Law Enforcement Department was announced Tuesday by Director Richard Cade.

McKenzie has been employed as a district investigator for the Liquor Law Enforcement Department since March 1, 1957.

RATE HIKED OK'D
BOISE (AP)—Approval of a rate increase asked by Idaho Water Co., which serves the community of Ogburn in Shoshone County, was reported Tuesday by the Public Utilities Commission.

The increased rates will provide the company with an additional $239 in annual revenue, the PUC said.

LOAN DEMAND NOTED
BOISE (AP)—Increased demand for home construction loans was reported today by Kenneth Tyler, director of the Federal Housing Administration.

Mortgage Interest Edges Down
WASHINGTON (AP)—Home buyers found the mortgage market a little more encouraging in February, the second straight month mortgage interest rates have edged downward.

The Federal Housing Administration reported Monday the average interest rate for conventional mortgages on new homes on March 3 was 6.3 percent; it had been 6.6 percent a month earlier.

On existing homes, FHA said, the rate slid from 6.65 to 6.55 percent.

Although the trend indicates a loosening of the tight money market, the rates are still well above March 1966 levels when conventional new-home mortgages were averaging 6.05 percent and those for existing homes were averaging 6.1.

MEETING PLANNED
BOISE (AP)—Gov. Don Wilder will meet Thursday with a group of federal officials and Idaho department heads to discuss state-federal relations.

Former Florida governor and director of the federal office of emergency planning, Ferris Bryan, will head the federal delegation of about 20 persons.

Federal representatives from departments of Health, Education and Welfare, Commerce, Agriculture, Interior, Bureau of Reclamation, Bureau of the Budget, Department of Highways, Civil Defense Department and other federal agencies will meet with their Idaho state counterparts.

MAN SENTENCED
POCATELLO (AP)—A man arrested last Nov. 18 on a morals charge involving a 10-year-old girl was sentenced Monday afternoon to up to 10 years in the State Penitentiary.

Llewellyn Stuart Richard, 26, pleaded guilty before Judge Vice President Anderson to a charge of lewd conduct with a child under 16. The charge was changed from statutory rape.

OFFICERS RE-ELECTED
BOISE (AP)—Members of the 1967 organization for Medicine and Biology re-elected their officers Monday in the organization's first annual meeting.

Executive Vice President Dr. Raymond L. White, Boise, said in a report that Idaho had the chance to become the first successful demonstration center for rural health in the world.

Officers re-elected were President H. Western Miller, Shoshone; Vice President Maurice Burkholder, Boise, and White.

INVITE VETED
POCATELLO (AP)—The Idaho State Board of Education has been coming to Congress to George Lincoln Rockefeller, self-proclaimed leader of the American Nazi Party, on the campus at Idaho State University.

Gary F. Craig, president of the 351 student Peace Union said his group invited Rockefeller to speak next month and the university's student social committee approved a date.

Only last Friday the student body in a referendum, retained a student Senate resolution inviting all organizations to establish units on the campus. The resolution specifically mentioned the American Communist and American Nazi parties.

BEAN GROUP MEETS
BOISE (AP)—The Idaho Bean Commission met Monday and made plans to participate in a five-day bean festival at the Rocky Mountain Bean Dealers Association and the Foreign Agriculture Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Other business at the monthly commission meeting included reports on transportation problems, domestic market promotions, research projects and financial matters.

INCLUDED IN BILL
BOISE (AP)—Fully reflected in the transportation bill for motor vehicles, effective in 1968, are provided for in a bill approved Monday by the Idaho Senate. The measure now goes to the House.

Another bill called for annual plates on white letters and numerals would be reauthorized.

A senate debated the two proposals for more than an hour before approving the five-year plates by a vote of 18-16.

Rep. H.R. Gross Says Taxpayers May Pay For Diplomatic Jet Set Club

By KELLY SMITH
WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. H. R. Gross claims the administration is scheming to make taxpayers subsidize a "plush international drinking club for the diplomatic jet set, go-go and body stocking types."

"For years, the Iowa Republican said, 'The State Department has been coming to Congress asking for funds to provide free drinks for foreign mission offices building and to purchase of two smaller, land areas in the city but omits the cost of the club,' he said. 'The State Department says it has short-sighted and doesn't offer enough expansion possibilities.'"

Gross repeated such remarks Monday for the Congressional Record and elaborated in an interview.

He referred to a plan to construct 42 acres near the State Department to develop an international embassy complex including lots for foreign missions, office buildings and national organizations. At the core of the complex would be a club to be used for diplomatic.

Cost of land acquisition has been estimated at $40 million.

Republicans and Democrats generally agree the government should purchase land, which in turn would be leased to free to foreign governments. But there is disagreement on the method.

The administration backed a plan which calls for purchase of two smaller, land areas in the city but omits the cost of the club, a spokesman said.

Nelsen's plan is short-sighted and doesn't offer enough expansion possibilities, Gross complained.

"We don't know who would run it or how, we're talking about a kind of international club presidents not to be completed until 1955."

Gross insisted it is never too early to talk about tax money.

"A plush international club of presidents would undoubtedly attract most of the Great Society's hard-

Thalidomide Makers Charged

AACHEN, Germany (AP)—Criminal charges were announced today against the makers of thalidomide, the tranquilizing drug blamed for the birth of thousands of deformed children in many countries.

More than five years after the worldwide scandal over the effect of the drug on pregnant women, nine officers and scientists of the Chemie Grunenthal pharmaceutical firm were accused formally of inflicting bodily injury and negligent manslaughter.

Local prosecutors said evidence collected since 1961 proved a definite link between the once popular drug and the wave of deformed babies.

In about 20 countries from Austria to the Philippines, an estimated 1,500 children were born with missing or maimed limbs or with other serious defects to women who reportedly took thalidomide during pregnancy. Several thousand more were believed to have been still-born.

The charges against the manufacturers were announced at a news conference by chief prosecutor August Gierlich, 56, in a courthouse office crammed with thousands of files on the case.

Up to a million thalidomide pills were produced daily by the Grunenthal firm at Stolberg, near Aachen, when a West German pediatrician, Prof. Wilfried Lenz, pushed the alarm button at a medical congress in November 1958.

Lenz, started by the mysterious increase of congenital malformations, found that 14 members of deformed babies had taken thalidomide during their early pregnancy.

His disclosure started a wave of panic among pregnant women. Some sought abortions, among them Mrs. Sherry Fitts.

Statement Starts Illinois Scandal Boiling Again

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — The University of Illinois slush fund scandal reached a new boiling point Monday as retired Athletic Director Doug Mills denied he had made statements implicating university President David D. Henry, Chicago Sun-Times columnist Irving Kupcinet quoted the 58-year-old Mills, in telling him about the $21,000 fund. "Let's just say that I and others at the university just looked the other way. And that includes Dr. Henry."

Sports

FROM ALL ANGLES

By LARRY HOVEY Times-News Sports Editor

Victory in the state A-4 basketball tournament — the first state trophy lodged in the Murtaugh-Mills slush fund scandal — came to Coach Percy Christensen and the Red Devils exactly the way the championship was won. The Devils had the man, the thing or attitude, ready for each occasion. When the specific call was answered, the problem was met — and Murtaugh had come out on top.

Going into a tournament every coach is afraid of that "one bad game." It has quashed the championship hopes of teams that deserved the trophy without being forced to play it.

It must have the great game ready for the big occasion. It must be mentally ready to handle everything. Follow the fortunes of the Red Devils. In the first game Murtaugh played probably his best game. At least of the seven we saw, it wasn't bad physically, but mentally it showed strain. This better than the other games well. Against Midvale it practically fished itself out of contention, senseless fouls the boys better than the other game — back court, over the court on rebounding, reaching and slapping. All the height went into the foul and Midvale, shorter and not as experienced, had closed it within one point.

The Murtaugh showed why it was going to enjoy the week. A sophomore, the one man who should have cracked if the pressure was directed toward him, Gary Quensen, went on a one-man team, scored 10 points in the last three minutes and sent Midvale into the consolation bracket.

Murtaugh had survived the big fear. It had had its game and won. Kids like stealing a head-pin crash on the way to a 300 bowling game.

The second day Murtaugh had to be good and know it. It was against Dietrich, an exceptionally well-rounded team, best known for its small number of mistakes. If Murtaugh had 10 minutes lapses against Dietrich, it had 100 against Midvale. The Devils were superb. Again it was a matter of timing the man. Billy Nebeker hit 12 points in the third quarter, in the third Gene Rambo began to get on the boards and came up with eight-for-nine field goal shooting display. At the end, Quensen proved the first game no fluke, hitting the free throws that closed Dietrich out. It was the best played game of the tournament by both teams.

After that display we would have bet our house against yours there was no way for Murtaugh to lose. It had proved itself equal to every requirement a tournament forces on a champion.

Nebeker hit his 37 points in the final but Murtaugh won it, although Nesperce came roaring back strong in the third quarter but when it appeared the Devils were going to break it wide open.

Now here's another thing that Murtaugh overcame. Senior Jim Heworth, a three-year starter, a quarterback, a good defensive man, exactly what you'd want in the back, playing against one, didn't play a minute. The unfortunate Heworth, due to a head injury, couldn't get a medical check to play, so he helped. He suited up for every game and led cheers from the bench, greeted players coming off the bench and provided all the psychological support he could muster.

Individuals had their hours in being the trophy to fight, though but when you analyze the three days, count this one a team win. And don't bypass the fans. On the last night the Murtaugh cheerleaders urged "all for Murtaugh — stand up and cheer" and it was obvious from the response no one was tending the store.

Principal DeVon Anderson lead over and said "I've never n't be surprised to see my dog walk in right now." It was that kind of a year in Murtaugh, it was all the way right to the state championship.

Yanks Blank White Sox In Exhibition

By The Associated Press

Three New York Yankees blanked the Chicago White Sox on one hit Monday, and escaped with a 6-0 victory despite 17 bases on balls at Fenwick Luderale, Fla.

Rookies Stan Bahnsen and Bill Henry, and veteran relief man Bill Reiser, shared the mound for the Yanks, with Henry giving up the only hit, a fourth-inning single by Dennis Higgins.

A two-run double by Ross Moschitto in the second was the big hit for the Yanks, with the American League last year but now 3-1 and sharing the top spot in the AL exhibition standings.

Jim Costes in Third Inning to Break a 2-2 Tie

By The Associated Press

Jim Costes in the third inning to break a 2-2 tie and start California to a 6-3 victory over Cleveland at Tucson, Ariz. California scored three times in the ninth for the winners, while Reggie Smith had a homer and rookie Mike Andrews five-for-five for the Red Sox.

St. Louis' Dick Hughes, Nelson Briles and Jim Casman each allowed one hit and Phil Gagliano singled in the game's only run at St. Petersburg, Fla., as the Cardinals stopped Detroit.

Willie Stargell drove in three runs, two on a homer, and Matty Alou added two more at Dreyfus Park in the Pirates' 7-1 victory over the Kansas City Athletics.

At Tampa, Fla., Dick Simpson and Floyd Robinson homered, big hits for the Yanks, with the Pirates' Gary Nolan homered, three shutout innings in Cincinnati's 6-3 conquest of Houston. Merritt Ranew doubled home

Chargers Send Lincoln To Buffalo

By MURRAY CHASS VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP)

No matter how you say it, it is Bob Miller doesn't come out Sandy Koufax. Neither does Joe Moeller or Bill Singer. And that, very simply, but very harshly, is the problem the Los Angeles Dodgers must surmount if they hope to win a third straight National League pennant.

Koufax, the brilliant left hander who retired last Nov. 18 because of an arthritis in his left elbow, won 27 games last season and 26 the year before that. In each season, he pitched the game that clinched the pennant for Los Angeles.

Manager Walter Alton is realistic about the situation. "We know we can't replace Koufax," Alton said, "but we can do the next best thing possible and find the best fourth starter we have."

At the same time, however, the dean of National League managers, entering his 14th year with the Dodgers, looks at it another way, one that is more optimistic and hopeful, for "Somebody else won some games besides Koufax last year," Alton said. "The guy who won it was Koufax's replacement to lose 27. He's going to win some."

Right now the guy who pitches for Koufax will be Miller, Moeller or Singer. Among the three — them last year — they started only eight games and had a record of 6-5.

Miller was strictly a reliever in 1956. Moeller was in the bullpen more than he was on the mound starting and Singer spent most of his time in the minors.

Another candidate for the fourth spot in the rotation could have been 20-year-old Alan Foster, but he won't be out of the army until next month.

The other three starters will have been 20-year-old Alan Foster, but he won't be out of the army until next month.

Drysdale will be attempting to come back from the worst record in his 11-year career, 13-16. Osteen was 12-14 and Sutton, a rookie in 1956, 12-12.

Introducing the new Dodge A108 king-size van

This cutaway view may save an odd way to show a big compact. You'd expect us to talk about the space in the new Dodge A108—how it carries 10-foot-long items flat inside the van, or 25 cubic feet of things. The Dodge A108 clearly moves a lot of material. But the outstanding thing about this new Dodge king-size van is how easily it moves big cargoes, with such features as a heavy-duty rear axle, easy-breathing Stutz Six power, big brakes, large 21-gallon fuel tank and a full-flow bucket seat. No other extended compact includes all these features as standard equipment. And no other compact truck offers such powerful options as a 210-hp V8, the biggest engine in its field, or a heavy-duty manual transmission as well as the Load-Flo 3-speed automatic. That's why the illustration above makes so much sense. The new Dodge A108 not only gives you a lot of space, it also gives you a lot of truck.

Guam Conference Will Take Place Few Miles From Soviet Spy Ship

By MALCOLM G. BARR — Washington (AP) — President Johnson visits Guam next week, his arrival will be routinely reported by a Soviet spy ship which keeps the tiny island under constant surveillance. Knowledge of the President's arrival for a Vietnam war conference won't be much of a coup for the Communists — his trip has been announced and security on Guam should be easier to maintain than anywhere else, he has been in the Pacific. It's novel, though, that a top level war conference involving the President and his top advisers will take place just a few miles from where a group of Soviet spies operated out of a launch to see the latest electronic equipment. U.S. naval authorities also try not to let the spy ship bother them. The Soviet crewmen, of course are not permitted ashore. When Soviet vodka or cigarettes begin popping up around sleepy Agaña, the capital of Guam, investigations are made. Civilians have been known to get close enough to exchange American cigarettes for vodka and other commodities, though naval intelligence officials frown on such activity. Rear Adm. Horace Bird, who commands the Navy in the Marianas, once told a reporter, how slightly more than two years ago: "It gives the intelligence people something to do!" he chuckled. A Soviet vessel has bobbed anchor just beyond Guam's three-mile limit since the United States introduced Polaris-armed submarines into the Pacific Base at the north-end-of-the-30-mile-long, jungle covered island, became the launch pad for huge swept-wing B-52 bombers which attack Vietnam targets 2,400 miles away. Later, Andersen Air Force Base, at the north-end-of-the-30-mile-long, jungle covered island, became the launch pad for huge swept-wing B-52 bombers which attack Vietnam targets 2,400 miles away.
