Area NFO Members Dump Milk Over Canyon Edge To Protest Low Prices

"It makes just as good sense to dump it here as in town when we sell to processors," was the cryptic statement made by one National Farmers Organization member as 1,500 gallons of milk were poured over Snake River Canyon edge Thursday morning.

"At the prices we are getting, it amounts to dumping it in town when we sell to processors," he added. "This not only relates to milk, but most other phases of farm production, he said."

Reports Made On Scouts' Fund Drive

Two report meetings were held simultaneously in Twin Falls and Burley Wednesday as "Operation Roundup" was begun by the Snake River Area Council, Boy Scouts of America, for the $38,000 Camp Development Fund campaign which has been in progress since Jan. 2.

Court facilities now in use by Judge Ward should be remodeled to provide for facilities that would accommodate the state supreme court, or a federal court, Judge Ward said, as both have indicated plans to hold sessions in Twin Falls.

Mrs. Williams To Run Against Powell

By AUSTIN PICKETT
NEW YORK (AP)—Lucille Pickett Williams, a 50-year-old grandmother, has taken on the Republican task of opposing Democrat Adam Clayton Powell in a special congressional election April 11 because she wants to "preserve the two-party system."

For 20 years, she has been working for the Republican party while holding a series of jobs ranging from a stock girl at Saks' Fifth Avenue to teaching beauty culture at the YMCA. "I am a determined woman," she says, noting that there appears to be overwhelming popular support for Powell in the Harlem community. She says she has no fear that the people will turn against her as they did on James H. Meredith when he agreed to oppose Powell as the Republican first choice, then withdrew.

Comprehensive Plan To Revitalize City Center In Twin Falls Outlined

By DONNIE BARRO JONES
Times-News Staff Writer

Revitalizing, beautification and redesign of the downtown or city center of Twin Falls to preserve it as the area's retail center represented major recommendations in a comprehensive plan presented in Twin Falls in two meetings Wednesday.

The plan, as outlined by Ned Ames, project planner for the firm of Cornell, Joulwan, Hayes and Merryfield, covers both the city center and the surrounding residential and commercial areas.

Major factors in the downtown area include the change of the one-way couplet from the present combination of Main Avenue and Second Avenues to Second Avenues North and East and drag holes in the river bottom and about 40 men joined in the desire rest areas and car stopping areas to allow motorists to let out a shopper.

Streets in the area between the one-way streets would be designed to carry shopping traffic and those with destinations inside the business area.

Another major highlight of the city center plan would be a new department store of some 100,000 square feet of floor space, complete with parking area. This would be located in the vicinity of Main Avenue South and Second Street south of one block on Second Avenue South to allow for continuous parking adjacent to the expanded store area. This building would be the reason for moving the one-way east-bound street to Third Avenue to carry all through traffic.

Principal factors taken into consideration, Mr. Ames said, include circulation of traffic, adequate and well-planned parking, and appearance improvement.

Specific building treatment covered in the report involves improvement of store fronts, and especially of rear entrances to business firms from parking lots to be improved behind stores fronting on Main Avenue. Only one building use change was recommended, which would be the building known as the Perrine Hotel, which planners indicated is no longer serving a maximum purpose.

The one-way streets to carry all through traffic would swing from present designations to Second and Third Avenues between the Fourth Streets only, then back to present routes to circle the downtown center area.

Mr. Ames stressed the plan is a long-range one designed in several steps and phases to be completed over several years. The first phase would be completed by next summer. The second phase would be completed by the end of the year. The third phase would be completed by the end of the year.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

By ANDREW TULLY

WASHINGTON—Heroes are always in short supply on Capitol Hill, but the voters should dig up some kind of a medal for Oklahoma's Sen. Mike Monroney, who forced the Senate to pass a bill to stop the atomic bomb.

It is no easy job to persuade the Senate to stop the atomic bomb, as Monroney discovered anew during a rugged four-hour debate on the Senate floor Monday. Monroney mustered a 53 to 30 majority for a resolution of the Senate to stop the atomic bomb, but he lost 90 per cent of the vote. He lost by a landslide. The House must still act on the bill, but the prospects there look bright.

SUPREME COURT'S LOOPHOLE—Under the present law, only persons whose "principal purpose" is to influence legislation are required to register with the secretary of the Senate and the clerk of the House. That reform, is the gimmick, Supreme Court interpretations of the "principal purpose" provision left a loophole so that lobbyists could avoid the law. As a result, only 600 to 700 lobbyists are registered, compared to 600 to 700 in the Capitol without stumbling over a dozen assorted centers for services.

Monroney's bill also would repeal the test which vests administration and enforcement of the act with the attorney general and assigns the bill to lead the blind. Under the new legislation, the lobbyists would register with the committee's clerks, traditionally members of law enforcement agencies. Violators would be subject to a year in prison and a $500 fine. As of now, there is no effective criminal provision, and our nation's legislators have an unbroken record of protecting the lobbyist.

Monroney treating the Hruska amendment with the contempt it deserved. "Adopt this amendment," he said, "and you will have the same old club . . . making sure that the public interest is not going to prevail."

Aside from the lobbying reform, the Monroney bill also would reorganize the House and the Senate. The bill would call for a special session of Congress to consider the bill. The bill would also call for a special session of Congress to consider the bill.

Moreover, the bill contains a bill of rights for Congressional committees which provides for the right of the majority shall have the right to call witnesses. The bill also provides for the right of the majority shall have the right to call witnesses. The bill also provides for the right of the majority shall have the right to call witnesses.

It is assembly line needed for bombs and bullets rolls on assembly line that a man can die simply because the machine that would have spared his life was not within his means.

A few years ago nothing could have saved the Bose father of five who died recently of a relatively expensive artificial kidney machine—that can prolong the life of kidney failure victims and cost indefinitely high costs.

The Bose father is in his grave. And his headstone is a monument to more than the failure of the machine. It is a monument to the cost of the machine that would have spared his life is high, but certainly not prohibitive to a society that has demonstrated its compassion for the poor and its indifference to the equally unfortunate individuals.

An artificial kidney machine costs approximately $20,000 a year. The Bose family is poor. The Bose father is in his grave. And his headstone is a monument to more than the failure of the machine.

Opinions Of A Conservative

Despite the fact that Bobby Kennedy has run off with the year's honors for bad advice, in view of his "stop the bomb" nonsense, there still is plenty of room for a distinguished runner-up.

I wish to nominate for that position one of Bobby's playmates in the Senate, Sen. Frank Church, who moonlights as a delegate to the United Nations. He has suggested, believe it or not, that the United Nations be given ownership of the ocean's mineral resources. This, the senator says, would give the nations a source of income.

The Doctor Says

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q—What is chronic cholecystitis and cholelithiasis? What are the symptoms and what is the usual treatment?
A—Cholecystitis is an inflammation of the gall bladder and cholelithiasis refers to gallstones. A person with chronic cholecystitis usually has a nagging pain in the pit of the stomach, a few fevers, and intermittent jaundice. Gallstones cause no symptoms unless and large amount of stones are present, they produce severe colicky pains.

In the absence of gallstones the treatment consists of antispasmodics, antacids and mild sedatives. If an individual has a large amount of stones, it is time to crank up an assembly line of another kind.

WASHINGTON—It is entirely possible that the first small steps toward a slackening of the cold war can be taken in the next few days. The Soviet Union has agreed to a new treaty with the United States, which will be signed in the next few days.

One of these steps is the congressional treaty with the Soviet Union. That a step to small doubt raise even the slightest doubt and suspicion, however generated, in the conventional cold-warriors, is an indicator of the trouble ahead for more than a few days.

The treaty with the Soviet Union, which will be signed in the next few days, is a step toward a slackening of the cold war. The treaty will be signed in the next few days.

Such of the opposition to the treaty in the debate in the Senate has been a result of the fact that the treaty will be signed in the next few days.

WASHINGTON (DEA)—A go to college because your parents want them to go. Because they are doing well. After World War II and the Korean war, many young men went to college with an eagerness to go to college that surprised their professors, their contemporaries, and even themselves.

But the time that every young man who has been to Vietnam comes home with an appreciation of the realities of going into service. They are going into service. They are going into service.

What you can do well on Selection Tests is to determine your qualifications for college. It is going poorly in school because he doesn't apply himself. He is not pulling their weight in college have no meaning.

Should We Help?

We have a big heart, we want to lift people of less fortunate nations up to the level we are living. Should we?

Probably a great majority of the citizens of the United States believe this is the right thing. That is why we do it to the tune of millions of dollars each year. And, aside from the money, we also send clothing, food and trained individuals.

Most of our citizens never see the people who benefit from this outpouring of help. Perhaps it is just as well they don't. Only a short while ago we had the opportunity to visit a country—Guatemala—which is one of those United States is trying to help.

People are suffering from our aid—but sometimes these are the wrong people. In Guatemala, for instance, a great deal of the benefits are staying in the large communities and are not going to the primitive peasants. In fact, some of the influential citizens of Guatemala City deny there is any poverty among the Indians who live far back in the hills and who make up the great bulk of the population.

The government of Guatemala is not stable. We were told by an American businessman there that, in his opinion (and he has lived there for years) there would be a blood bath before long. We got a taste of this feeling. Enroute to the airport for the flight back to the States, we were told by an American businessman there that, in his opinion (and he has lived there for years) there would be a blood bath before long.

Getting back to the aid situation. Do the people we are helping appreciate our attentions? There is room for doubt. Do the people who need the help get all or most of it? We doubt that—in fact we know they do not because we were where the needy were.

But aside from worrying if the correct people get the aid we send, why are we there at all? Is it right? We wonder. Looking at these Indians of Guatemala we found them poor, uneducated, not too well clothed and living in mud brick structures, stepping on dirt floors and eating an inadequate diet.

Now, we wonder if we should attempt to bring these people up to the level of living we "enjoy" in the United States. We are not a very good example to a happy people. True, we have a lot of material things, but, at the same time, we are pretty close to blowing ourselves and everyone else off the face of the earth.

DIPLOMAS CAN WAIT

While a young man's fancy still may turn to love in spring, a survey indicates that getting to love the marital knot, which was traditionally tied in June, is likely to be delayed until August.

That is the trend that became apparent when some florists checked into the volume of orders for weddings.

Hagerman Center Toured By 60

HAGERMAN—About 60 administrators, students and school board trustees from 10 school districts toured the Hagerman Center Tuesday at the Hagerman Individualized Learning Center, evaluating the facilities.

Roger Laughlin, student body president, gave the welcome Monday, followed by a talk on reading specialists by Dr. Willis Vandiver, department of education of Montana State University-Bossman; Monte Dr.—Hilmer Johnson, department of education, Utah State University, Logan; Utah; talked on getting out of dated methods of teaching.

A film was shown of the Hagerman High School library study hall before the learning center was completed, comparing with the present facilities. Group tours completed the rest of the day.

Monday evening a banquet was served to about 110 guests and local patrons, with Bishop Douglas Wood of the L.D.S. Church giving the invocation. Calendar Is Reviewed By Blaine Board HAILEY — A tentative calendar for the 1967-68 school year was reviewed by members of the Blaine County School Board at their meeting Monday evening.

The board also reviewed teachers' intentions to ascertain how many wish to continue in their positions here next year. Clifford Vaughn, transportation supervisor, was asked to make a survey of transportation problems in the far southern end of the county.

Members voted to sell the 1953 International bus now located at Carey. Sealed bids will be received.

E. J. Omermat, local distributor for Standard Oil of California, was awarded the fuel oil contract for the coming year. Delivery of Intermountain Gas Co. explained gas heating to the group.

Reuther To Ask Support For Support

By A. F. MAHAN
ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)

Walter P. Reuther plans to ask approximately 200,000 skilled tradesmen in the United Auto Workers for endorsement of his threat to pull the 1.4-million-member union out of the AFL-CIO.

Unless there is a last-minute change in plans, delegates to the 11th international skilled trades conference will be asked to support Reuther's charge that the labor movement is "vegetating" under leadership of the AFL-CIO's president, George Meany, 73.

The conference opened today. The vote most likely will be called for Friday or Saturday among 1,300 delegates from 198 unions in 27 countries in the United States and Canada.

A vote on the threatened pull out had not been anticipated before a UAW general convention in Detroit April 20-22.

The press said Reuther delayed until Friday his keynote speech to the three-day conference, and associates forecast he would lead into differences with the AFL-CIO's ruling Executive Council, which he has said made his own "hands" a laborer out-of-step with the times.

Meany has accused Reuther of viewing himself as a savior of mankind, being more interested in world affairs than in bread-and-butter union affairs.

The UAW's 26-member international Executive Council recently laid down what virtually amounted to an ultimatum to the 13 international unions.

It said in effect: Reconstruct yourself or we get out.

Ralph Elliott Is Honored At Hospital Staff Reception

By RUTH KOONCE MILLER
Times-News Staff Writer

A bit of nostalgia touched the Magic Valley Memorial Hospital Wednesday when one of the employees was honored at a retirement reception.

Ralph Elliott, 70, storekeeper at the hospital, retired effective Wednesday, but as a 23-year employee at the hospital, his leaving was not taken lightly by staff and administration.

He had served as storekeeper since the new hospital was built and had been chief engineer of the old hospital. He would have served 28 years in hospital service this June.

CSI To Take Part In Miss Wool Contest

A wardrobe of 40 different twin suits, dresses, skirts and sweaters, a fashion collection, a woolly bass by the Women's Auxiliary of the Idaho Wool Growers Association, and locally made shawls and scarves await the winner of the Miss Wool of America Pageant.

Since the establishment of the College of Southern Idaho, Twin Falls has become modeling a representative to the Idaho beauty pageant. The Twin Falls winner will join entries from other colleges in Idaho for the state competition.

The CSI competition will be held April 7 at the Twin Falls High School. The Miss Wool of Idaho Pageant will be held Nov. 19-20 during the Idaho-Wool Growers Convention in Boise.

Entries will be accepted the day before the contest during a sign-up day April 6 in the U. S. Takes Troops Out of France

U. S. Takes Troops Out of France

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has decided to leave behind military-related investments valued at hundreds of millions of dollars in the pullout of American troops from France.

The withdrawal, demanded by French President Charles de Gaulle, was completed Tuesday. Units from other nations in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization also are being evicted.

"Although it is clear that the U.S. taxpayer is out of pocket some hundreds of millions of dollars as a consequence of President De Gaulle's action," a staff memorandum of the House Foreign Affairs Committee reported Wednesday, "it does not follow that France has taken over assets which are currently worth what was paid for them."

The memorandum pegs the price of Defense Department investment in military installations in France at $58.2 million, credits the U.S. government with contributing $22.5 million to installations jointly financed by NATO nations, and reports that the State Department put $4 million into the Paris headquarters of NATO, another jointly financed project.

The contest, co-sponsored on a state-wide basis by the Women's Auxiliary of the Idaho Wool Growers Association, and locally by the Mayfair Store. The girl selected to represent CSI at the state contest will be selected on the basis of general qualifications listed above and personally on charm, poise and modeling ability.

Miss Wool of Idaho will represent the state in the Miss Wool of America Pageant in San Angelo, Tex., in June, 1968. This pageant is sponsored jointly by the American Sheep Producers Council and the San Angelo Board of City Development.

Each of the 20 wool-producing counties of the U. S. select a Miss Wool finalist to be its representative in the annual contest. The program is designed to promote retail sales of woman's apparel made from wool fabrics loomed in America.

There are no talents or bathing suit competitions involved in the Miss Wool contest and a district winner will receive a trip to the state contest and a wool costume from the Mayfair Store. Winners will receive an all-expense-paid one-week stay in San Angelo and a wool costume for her official use throughout the year.

The national winner will receive a complete official wardrobe of no less than 40 different costumes from the nation's outstanding fashion designers.

In addition, she will receive a fashion coordinated accessory wardrobe of shoes, hats, gloves, handbags, scarves and other personal items. A jewelry collection and a luggage wardrobe also make the national winner.

As Miss Wool of America, she makes a two-week visit to New York and a national tour to the metropolitan cities of the country. She is awarded a college scholarship for a minimum of $500 to the college of her choice and receives a new automobile for her official use throughout the year.

Further information may be obtained from Mrs. Peter Link or Mrs. Laird Noh, both Twin Falls.

T.F. Rotarians Observing World Understanding Week

The Twin Falls Rotary Club is one of more than 12,500 Rotary groups in 133 countries that are focusing attention on international understanding, good will and peace during World Understanding Week, March 12-18.

In observance of the week, the local club presented a panel discussion involving four Twin Falls residents during a regular luncheon meeting Wednesday.

The discussion involved three club members representing business, education and health and another member who acted as moderator. John Roper represented business, George Staudaber, education, and Dr. Vaughn M. Pond, medicine. Bruce Fox served as moderator.

World Understanding Week represents a period of concentrated effort which climaxes many international service projects carried on by Rotarians during the year through person-to-person contacts and cooperation among clubs in different countries, a local club spokesman said.

"Thousands of young people go abroad under Rotary sponsorship each year, the spokesman continued. Clubs in developing countries are helped to combat hunger, disease and illiteracy in their areas through world community service projects of other Rotary Clubs. Through these and other projects, Rotarians seek to cultivate the spirit of personal commitment symbolized by World Understanding Week.

In his invitation to participate in the observation, Richard L. Evans, president of Rotary International, urged all clubs to engage in world community service. Look beyond your own borders for opportunities to help — worldwide. Don't let your knowledge or experience or time go to waste. There are urgent needs everywhere. Do something — for someone — somewhere."

C. C. McIntyre, chairman of the Twin Falls club's special Wednesday program, commented that several area doctors Unstable governments; 11 killed. The next day, I have since learned, the rebels tried to capture the municipal airport but were turned back.

"There are no personal rights as such. Under a state of emergency, the president, all personal rights cease to exist and there is in Guatemala at any time.

He said that American businessmen in that country are fearful for their property and even for their lives.

"The nation is under a state of siege most of the time," Mr. Kellner declared. "On the day I left there by air, Father O'Halloran and I were stopped at the gate of a managuan while on route to the airport."

Miners Screen North Idaho Creek For Idaho's Prize Gem—Star Garnet

By DAVID ZARKIN

Idaho Stateman
For the "Associated Press" Amateur and professional miners come from all parts of the nation to Emerald Creek in north Idaho with their shovels, picks, screens, buckets and, sometimes, dredges.

Whether they are out to hit the "big one" or just prospecting a Sunday outing, they are all after one thing—the star garnet—the prize gem found only in Idaho and India.

It is now the official state gem, following action by the legislature and Gov. Don Samuelson.

The rockhounds tourists, eager for the prize, crowd the Emerald Creek area about five miles south of Fernwood in south Bannock County and north Latah County. A professional miner claims that it is "below-the-surface" mining in that area during summer months. Many amateurs fail to bring proper tools and aren't sure how to go about mining the gem, but they flock to the area anyway.

Actually, the star garnet isn't as plentiful as it was in past years, says Dudley Stewart of Boise, owner of Stewart's Gem Shop.

Stewart, who has made the gem his personal hobby, claims that much of the accessible rock has been mined, but he still travels to the area many times a year and brings back a fair supply of star garnets to sell and sell to jewelers.

Mining star garnets is hard work, Stewart says, and can be dangerous when dredging deep water near shore.

There is a possibility that the underwater excavation will be done in.

The iron-aluminum star garnet lies in Emerald Gulch close to or on bedrock in the stream, and is also found in cracks and crevices in the stream, says R. W. Luchman, Belden, Calif., a rock enthusiast writing for the magazine, "Gems and Minerals."

Only the trained eye can tell in a mass of rock which ones, when polished, will show the stars, Stewart said. He makes the distinction between a garnet and a "star garnet" by noting which rock has "oil" or the crystalline substance that accounts for the formation which gives the gem diagonal lines forming the star.

Few garnets are found in the area and only about 10 per cent of the garnets have stars, Luchman reports. Stewart said most of the garnets are "junk" and only about five per cent are of gem quality.

Many of the star garnets are worth about $2 a karat, but some are as high as $100 a karat, Stewart added.

The gem ranges in color from deep purple to red, which is the most, but has to be light, although Stewart said he is partial to the purple shades. Price of a garnet is determined by the distinctness of the star.

Merger Of Departments Is Delayed

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Johnson administration reportedly has decided against seeking immediate congressional approval for consolidating the Labor and Commerce departments into a department of economic affairs.

But reliable sources said today the administration does not consider the plan irrevocably lost.

A Johnson message to Congress on government reorganization is expected soon, it was reported, but the proposed merger won't be tabled for quick congressional action.

Instead, the source said, it probably will be only discussed as part of an effort to build support for a later push. The merger was proposed by the President without prior hint in his January State of the Union message.

Many labor leaders have opposed the plan, a fact confirmed Wednesday, by Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz. But he also said he didn't believe the proposal was dead.

Oswald's Wife Didn't Know Ferrie, Shaw

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—"I never met David Ferrie, or any of the others," says Marina Oswald Porter, once wed to the man the Warren Commission declares singlehandedly killed President John F. Kennedy.

Marina, now remarried and pleading for privacy, said she heard evidence to find out if there is enough to warrant filing charges against Shaw.

heard of the persons "New Orleans Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison claims conspired with Lee Harvey Oswald to assassinate Kennedy.

She said she had never heard of Clay Shaw or a Clay Bertrand and saw Shaw the first time "on television recently," after Garrison arrested him and said he would prove Shaw was part of the conspiracy.

Garrison asserts that Oswald, Shaw and Ferrie met in Ferrie's New Orleans apartment in September 1963 and plotted the assassination. A three-judge panel is hearing evidence to find out if there is enough to warrant filing charges against Shaw.

Lower Air Fares Boost Traveling

NEW YORK (AP)—Tourists planning summer trips to Europe under the new lower air fares are boosting business for travel agents and airlines.

Two million Americans are expected to travel to Europe this year, up from 1.6 million in 1966.

"We're completely booked until September," said Henry F. Huff, executive vice president of Trans International Airlines of Oakland, Calif., supplemental carrier.

Trans International has scheduled more than 300 charter flights to Europe from San Francisco, Los Angeles, Chicago, St. Louis, Columbus, New York, Boston and other cities this summer, Huff said. Business is up 25 per cent over 1966, he said.

British Overseas Airways Corp. said its New York reser-

Inspection Of Antarctic Ends

WASHINGTON (AP)—American inspectors calling at Antarctic scientific stations of the Soviet Union and six other nations apparently found nothing more sinister than penguins.

The inspectors "do not seem swamped by calls. BOAC is offering 30 itineraries with room for 4.5 per cent from 1966. It is offering more than 250 tours.

American Express reports its European tour bookings are up 25 to 30 per cent over last year and attributed about half the increase to the lower fares.

"Mostly they are people who wouldn't have gone before," said an American Express spokesman. "But now the word is out—if you plan to spend $600 on a vacation, you can go to Europe just as well."

Agency Role In Recreation Site Development Explained

Ray J. Holmes, Twin Falls Fourth District commissioner for the Idaho Fish and Game Commission, issued comments Wednesday which he said should clarify the agreement accepted by Twin Falls County Commission members and the Fish and Game Department for the development of recreational sites.

It should be understood, he said, "that Fish and Game Department does not build the docks in counties where boat licensing is sufficient to provide sufficient money for the county to carry the responsibility."

"Twin Falls County," he said, "has sufficient boat licensing fees to provide the docks or boat landings."

In addition, Mr. Holmes said, in the building of access roads the Fish and Game Department "may" build the roads with the participation of counties or highway districts.

As for boat dock facilities, Mr. Holmes said the Fish and Game Department does not build the docks in counties where boat licensing is sufficient to provide sufficient money for the county to carry the responsibility.

"Twin Falls County," he said, "has sufficient boat licensing fees to provide the docks or boat landings."

NFO Hopes For Support On Milk-Holding Action

By BOB MONROE
NEW YORK (AP) — Dairy men say success of a milk holding action, called by the National Farmers Organization in an attempt to boost prices, will depend upon the degree of support lent by non-NFO farmers.

The Fish and Game Department, he said, "will furnish sanitation facilities where fishing and hunting are the principal functions, and where such facilities are deemed necessary, they will then become the responsibility of the counties for care and maintenance."

They extend and how solid they are. This has been tried (two or three times before and it hasn't been effective.)

Dairy men saw it differently. Marsden Dring, a dairy leader in Delaware County, N.Y., said the action "could boom or it could snowball. And I think it will snowball."

Dring, contacted in an Associated Press national survey, said "all depends on how far

U.S. Military To Have Commanding Voice In Pacification

By PETER ARNETT
SAIGON (AP) — Replacement of the top men in the U.S. Embassy in Saigon means that the U.S. military is going to have a commanding voice in the program to bring the South Vietnamese people under control of today he doesn't believe Washington is unhappy at the prospect of civilian programs in Vietnam.

However, many sources believe the departure of Lodge and Deputy Ambassador William O. Porter will determine advocates of civilian responsibility for the pacification program, is certain to give Gen. William C. Westmoreland and his officers the dominant voice.

For some time there has been an underground struggle between the U.S. military and the military takeover of civilian affairs led to the formation of the embassy's Office of Civilian Operations, headed by Porter, to direct the multimillion-dollar pacification program.

Many feel that only the strong personalities of Lodge and Porter kept the demands of the military officers at bay.

Porter has built up a powerful civilian organization that controls and coordinates the civilian agencies supporting the revolutionary development program, the current name for the pacification program. The deputy ambassador will leave behind a capable, functioning organization.

Of South Vietnam's estimated 11,000 hamlets, 4,461 are classified as pacified but this figure is open to doubt. The goal for 1967 will get more areas pacified than the others.

Population is probably a better index of control. Of the estimated 15 million South Vietnamese, 8 million are considered under government control.

Lodge Doesn't Plan To Campaign

SAIGON (AP) — Henry Cabot Lodge, the Republican vice-presidential candidate in 1960, says plans to take no part in the 1968 campaign.

"I'm not planning to get in the campaign at all," Lodge told newsmen after President Johnson announced that Ellsworth Bunker would replace Lodge as U.S. ambassador to South Vietnam.

Asked about reports that he had been approached to advise Gov. George Romney of Michigan on Vietnam policy, Lodge replied, "I do not intend to get involved."

Lodge declined to say when he would return to the United States, saying: "I'll go to Guam (for President Johnson's conference on Vietnam next week), but come back here when I don't know."

Asked if the departure of Deputy Ambassador William H. Porter, who was in charge of the pacification program announced to a rebuke, Lodge replied: "I'm not sure."

"All the different programs in Vietnam are moving ahead, some faster than the others," he said.

HENRY CABOT LODGE — ELLSWORTH BUNKER... were in the spotlight Tuesday when President Johnson announced Lodge is resigning as ambassador to South Vietnam and will be replaced by veteran diplomat Bunker Bunker's former ambassador to India and to the Organization of American States. (AP wirephoto)

Commenting on the Viet Cong, the 63-year-old diplomat said they cannot win, we cannot be defeated.

As to the U.S. ground forces involvement in Vietnam, Lodge said, "On the whole President Johnson's decision to make a limited U.S. military commitment in early 1965 will become a tremendous milestone in history." "Nothing has been the same after that," he said. "This has provided to the Vietnamese the opportunity to evolve in other ways."

"If we persist, there's no doubt about the outcome of the war," Lodge declined to predict when it might end.

Concerning his immediate plans, Lodge said only "I'll go to Guam (for President Johnson's high-level meeting), come back here, then I don't know." He declined to say even whether he would be taking a vacation.

Privately, Lodge has let it be known for some time that he was ready to leave Saigon. He is active, but has been bothered by arthritis — and understandably so — since he took office in 1965.

UNLESS YOU HAVE been keeping up with the game of marbles lately, this picture will have little meaning. But that is what it is progress here — a game of marbles. It used to be that mothers dreaded the appearance of spring and the disappearance of Levi-tees, but the rules have changed. Instead of the traditional circle drawn in the dust or mud a game of marbles can take you all over the block. The players stand and sort of pitch their marbles at the end on the ground, hoping their aim will be true. (Times-News photo)

Minico, T. F. Are Winners Of Debates

MINICO — Minico and Twin Falls High School debate teams talked their way through a district competition Tuesday and Wednesday to win first and second places, respectively, and a bid to the regional contest next Monday and Tuesday in Mountain Home.

Minico's squad, composed of Randy Soker, Randy Freeman, Bert Osborne and Steve Bertin, won first place in the district event, in which teams from Burley and Jerome also competed. Twin Falls' team of Jerry Routh, Ken Eklund, Quin Phillips and George Carter, took second place.

Title of the debate was "Resolved: that the United States should limit foreign aid to non-military assistance." All competing teams were required to debate both sides of the resolution, according to Mrs. Laura Kalar, Twin Falls debate coach.

Minico took first place during the originally-scheduled day of the tourney. A three-way tie for second place between the remaining schools, however, necessitated the extension of the contest to Wednesday, Mrs. Kalar said.

The open division tourney did not involve girls teams, she added.

Teams from two Southern Idaho districts will compete for the regional title and a chance to participate in a state competition.

Formal Design Of Kennedy Memorial Is Altered

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new and permanent memorial to the late President John F. Kennedy lies on a terraced slope amid types of flowering trees he once liked.

The memorial, in Arlington National Cemetery, is more like a garden, a change from the formal design originally planned.

Kennedy's body was moved there, without prior announcement, Tuesday night. It is some 20 feet from the site where his body had lain since Nov. 25, 1963. Moved in the permanent memorial at the same time were the graves of two of his children, Patrick Bouvier Kennedy, who died two days after his birth in 1963, and an unnamed daughter stillborn in 1956.

The widow, President Johnson and five brothers and sisters of the late president gathered at the new site, huddled under umbrellas in the rain early Wednesday for the blessing of the grave.

The decision to change the memorial design came last fall, it was learned, after some of the Kennedy family found that granite quarried over 150 years ago was available.

This stone had been cut from a quarry on Cape Cod, Mass., near Falmouth and also near the home where Kennedy spent his summers and went while he was president to sail and relax.

The granite was collected from stone fences and abandoned foundations of barns and brought to Arlington.

Now, the rough-hewn slabs pave the area around his grave. The eternal flame rises through the center of a lighter-colored round stone, five feet in diameter, at one end of the grave. It looks like an old mill stone, but is simply an unmarked round stone also found on Cape Cod.

Wide white marble steps lead from a walkway up the terrace to the grave area. Around the walkway is a low stone wall inscribed with seven quotations from Kennedy speeches.

The original design for the $1.4-million memorial called for a terminal wall behind the grave with the presidential seal on it.

But now there will be only a grassy slope that undulates on up the hill to the steps of the mansion where Robert E. Lee once lived.

Watch Snap Judgments

By JULIA C. MAHON
Housewife and Librarian of North Grosvenor Dale, Conn.

We children never had felt at all in that part of town. The wooden frame houses that lined the dirt road on either side were little better than shanties.

But it was a short-cut home, so my girl friend and I walked along, pretending innocence and not even looking at the children playing in the yards or on the dilapidated porches.

As we passed, I tossed it into the air and caught it. I tossed it a second time, mistaking it on its downward course, and it rolled away down the hill. Disgusted, I saw one of the unkempt boys run swiftly after it.

"You give me that ball!" I cried loudly. "That's mine!"

The boy had picked up the ball and to my amazement, turned and walked back up the hill, holding it out to me.

"I was just getting it for you," he said quietly.

In that sharp, instant pang of shame that swept through me I saw that his eyes, like his voice, were gentle. He had despised back street, had run to do an act of courtesy; it was I, in my snap judgment, who looked harsh and cruel.

Though I was no more than 8 or 10 when this incident occurred, it was one of the memories of revelation in my life.

After we moved from the deep South to New England, we lived for a time next to an old man who seemed, in my youthful parance, a "real crab" because he would not let the children play on his sidewalk and, on occasion, would even tell those in his neighborhood to keep quiet. We pitied his frail little wife. How did she stand him, we wondered.

I remember in particular one Halloween night. A group of youngsters in the traditional outland costumes and with the time-honored trick or treat bags, were approaching his house. The neighbor abruptly as he appeared on the porch.

"Get along, get along home with your foolheads!" he ordered.

The startled children took to their heels without trick or treat.

A short time later, our telephone was out of order and I was sent over to this same neighbor's house to phone the repairman. Their daughter who was working in the store told me to go in, and informed me where the telephone was located. I entered the house.

As I approached the telephone, I heard a familiar yet strange soft voice. Through an open door I saw the little old lady lying on a couch with a cloth over her eyes.

Beside her, reading aloud from a book of poetry, sat the man we knew best as the "old crab." I stared incredulously as he read, "How do I love thee? Let me count the ways..."

Outside, I asked the daughter, "Is your mother sick?" Her face clouded.

"Yes, very sick," she said. "We try to keep all noise and excitement from her, but she's getting worse."

She died a few weeks later. The "old crab" wasn't sharp with the children any more. In fact, he wasn't much of anything any more. He just sat silently on the porch or wandered aimlessly around the yard as if a part of himself were gone. What he had dismissed as an old man's pitiful attempt to plead the love that was so vitally a part of his life.

These and innumerable other examples have impressed on me how rash and unreliable our human judgments are apt to be, even when based on things we see—or think we see.

A few years back, Lew, a high school senior, was in jail for stealing gasoline for his jalopy. It was just before the class trip to Washington. He spent the period in jail. After their return, I asked one of his classmates about the trip. "It was fine," he replied, "except that he felt so darn bad about Lew. And we didn't see him for a while."

"Some of the kids thought we ought to send him cards. Others thought it was better to write him what a good time we were having, with him in the best job might be not to send him any cards."

Later, I heard Lew's mother say bitterly, "Do you know Lew didn't even get a card from his classmates in Washington? There they were, having a good time, and they didn't even give a thought to him!"

Considering the complexity of the human mind and the sometimes vast differences in outlook, how can one person judge fairly the actions of another? A great writer once said, "No person really understands another. The only person who understands is a mystery. Fully known to God alone. Love is but the wish to understand."

Lincoln To Continue On Tax Project

SHOSHONE—Lincoln County commissioners are continuing with the tax revaluation program, despite criticism of the program by some taxpayers who attended a public meeting here Monday morning to have the work stopped.

Burrell Williams, commissioner, said after the meeting that commissioners will make no final decision until the legislative adjourns and they have had opportunity to study action by the legislature regarding the revaluation program.

Monday's meeting was the second public meeting wherein county taxpayers have asked commissioners to halt the program until after the legislative adjourns.

Two men were hired by the commissioners at the January meeting, to begin the revaluation program.

The commissioners and Ray Oyer, county assessor, stated at an earlier meeting last week that they were complying with the demands of the State Tax Commission in carrying out the revaluation program.

A Member of the State and County Tax Equality Association present at the meeting Monday morning pointed out they met with officials of the Tax Commission at Boise since last week and they could not secure a "demand" from them in the work, that the State Tax Commission suggests the revaluation program be carried out as soon as possible, to bring about a statewide equality by 1970.

Commissioners Monday afternoon granted permission to Richfield for an election to form a fire district. The election date was set for April at the Richfield 100F Hall.

Named as judges were Mrs. Helen Alexander, Mrs. Helen Poyden and Mrs. Georgia Morgan.

College Workers Are Back On Job

Resumption of classes was scheduled for Monday.

Johnson Draws Warm Greetings From Modest-Sized Crowds

By FRANK CORMIER
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's first major speech-making trip beyond Washington since the November elections brought him warm greetings from modest-sized festive crowds.

If there were fewer home-made-greeting placards than would be normal at a campaign rally, there also were far fewer critical signboards than Johnson saw on most of the excursions outside Washington last year.

In visiting the Nashville area, Johnson made a start on an unexciting start upon him by a number of Democratic leaders disturbed about their party's "loss" of the White House. They want him to make more personal appearances around the country, taking his case to the people.

He addressed the Legislature, helped celebrate the 20th birthday of Andrew Jackson, helped dedicate a new community college in Columbia and participated in a number of regional educational undertakings. He had a speech for each occasion.

The President, in effect, upped his wife, who had been scheduled to make solo appearances at all these events.

Supermarkets Prepare For St. Pat's Day

By SALLY RYAN
NEW YORK (AP) — Supermarkets are readying themselves for the weariness of the green this weekend.

There's a corned beef for St. Patrick's Day celebrants on special in markets in the North, East, South and Midwest, and mounts of cabbage to go with it.

A price war is under way in St. Louis, Mo. The Kroger Co. fired the first shot, announcing it was cutting prices on 2,328 items. Spokesmen for three other chains said they would follow suit.

The outlook for the rest of the country is for prices lower than a year ago, when meat prices soared and fresh vegetables and fruits were high. Supplies are larger now.

First, there is plenty of beef this year. Beef cuts are being featured in the Midwest, and choice cuts are down 1 to 2 cents a pound in southern California.

Pig prices have dropped the most since the spring of 1953. There's a prospect of a 9 per cent increase in hog production.

A major supermarket chain in New York area cut pork chops 30 cents a pound to 70 cents this week. Canned hams are piling up for Easter.

Butler prices, down most of the winter, are inching up a bit. Egg prices, which have dropped sharply, are edging higher.

Turkey prices generally are much lower than a year ago. One big reason: 48 per cent more frozen turkey in storage.

Milk production has been gaining slightly over last year's low levels. As a result, prices may decline until June.

Farmers plan to raise the acreage of the plant in major crop of per cent this year. If the weather is good, it could be the most bountiful harvest in American history — and some farmers gain in the supermarket's bargain.

Johnson also announced other joint level changes and proposed intensive ground operations in the war in the months ahead.

There were barely a handful of antiwar pickets outside the Legislature in Nashville. But there was one antiwar incident — when a young man, with obvious support from two women, plopped himself down in the middle of the roadway in front of the presidential limousine as Johnson was leaving the Capitol building.

All three were arrested on charges of disorderly conduct. They were identified as Brian Heggen, 20; Shirley Newton, 22; and Janet Dewart, 20, all of Nashville addresses.

They said they were employees of the Southern Student Organizing Committee, a civil rights group, but said they were protesting the war.

Because Johnson's Journeys had political overtones, observers took particular care to note the size and temper of the crowds. They were quite modest but greeted him warmly.

Altogether, the well-welcomed numbered in the thousands.

Mrs. Johnson's return to Washington early this morning marked the end of a three-day tour of Appalachia.

Silver Price Stabilizing Is Concern

WASHINGTON (AP) — Looking for ways to hold the price of silver steady, the Treasury wants permission to stop repurchasing silver certificates to paper money with silver.

Until a few years ago, the standard type of paper money printed by the government was the silver certificate, which bore the promise that it could be traded for silver at any time. Bills issued now are all federal reserve notes, which make no such promise.

Under proposed legislation sent to Congress Wednesday, holders of silver certificates wanted to trade them in for silver would be given one year to do so. When that deadline had passed, the United States would have removed all silver backing for its paper money.

Boy Is Buried Alive For 18 Hours Under Tons Of Earth

CAMP PENDLETON, Calif. (AP) — For almost 18 hours David Shaw, 9, was buried alive under tons of earth.

His legs cramped tightly beneath him, he breathed the air trapped by an overhanging ledge above him and stayed too frightened to fall asleep.

"Where's Ronnie?" David asked when a Marine rescue team found him Wednesday.

His friend, Ronnie Staggis, 10, was killed by the earthslide that fell on the two boys as they played in a steep-sided canyon on the Camp Pendleton Marine Base.

"When the dirt first fell, I heard Ronnie scream 'get me out,'" David said.

"I told him I didn't think we could get out. Then I heard him crying and it was the last thing I remember until I heard footsteps and the noise the shovels made—I thought they were going to kill me because all the dirt was falling on me."

The boys—sons of noncommissioned Marine officers stationed at the base—wandered into the canyon Tuesday afternoon in search of a model airplane. Search parties hunted the hole and tied his belt around David's waist, and the other Marines pulled him out.

A few minutes later several more tons of earth fell into the area where David had been trapped. The body of the Staggis boy was uncovered nearby.

FACES FAMINE

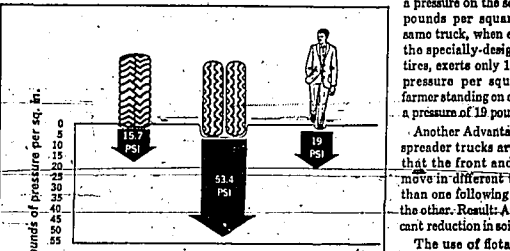

CALCUTTA, India (AP) — The State of Bihar is facing an acute water famine as wells and ponds dry up.

Why does your USS Farm Service Center spend 4 times as much for these as standard tires?

To help growers make more money

United States Steel Farm Service Center bulk trucks and spreaders are equipped with giant, low-pressure flotation tires. These tires cost four times as much as standard tires. Flotation tires greatly reduce soil compaction. And soil compaction — which can result from heavy equipment moving across your fields — is costly. Soil compaction hurts root growth, cuts yields. It reduces the soil's water-holding capacity, and clogging occurs around beets during harvesting. Lower profits.

Today's Market and Financial Report

1:30 P.M. SUMMARY NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market surged toward new 1967 highs in heavy trading late this afternoon.

The market was higher from the start as it resumed Wednesday's powerful rally. The Dow Jones industrial average was up a dozen points in the afternoon more than enough to put it above the 1967 closing high reached Feb. 19. The gains were held until the close.

A 4-point jump by Du Pont gave powerful support to the Dow averages. Schenley was again the volume leader but dipped fractionally. Chrysler, off a fraction, also underperformed profit taking from its 3-point jump of the previous session.

Alcoa rose 3/4 and RCA 2 American Airlines added a cent. Chrysler, off a fraction, also underperformed profit taking from its 3-point jump of the previous session.

Prices made a solid advance on the American Stock Exchange.

Grain

CHICAGO (AP)—Wheat futures, influenced by a shortage of moisture in the great wheat-producing area of the southwestern United States advanced nearly 6 cents a bushel on the Chicago Board of Trade.

For the most part, all other grains were influenced by the wheat-price rise.

A five-day and thirty-day weather outlook held little promise of moisture for the Southwest when the session opened and local traders and commission houses—traded with buying.

For a time, corn soybeans advanced as they held up the wheat advance.

Clay's Induction Slated For April 11

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Heavyweight boxing champion Cassius Clay has been ordered to register for induction into the Army here on April 11, the chairman of a board said Wednesday. J. Allen Sherman, chairman of Local Board 47 in Louisville, said Clay's appeal to the presidential appeals board "did come back to us from them." Meanwhile, in another attempt to keep Clay out of the Army, his attorneys filed suit in U. S. District Court in Louisville, Ky., on Wednesday, asking for an injunction against his induction on the grounds that there is a racial imbalance on his draft board. The suit also asks that all of the boards in Kentucky be reviewed to eliminate racial imbalance.

Clay Clowns With Boxing Followers

By MURRAY ROSE. Associated Press Sports Writer. NEW YORK (AP) — Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay exchanged quips with several fighters and commissioner Ed Winter during the first round of a six-round, two-bout boxing card Wednesday night at the MGM Grand Garden Court in Las Vegas. Clay, who has been in the ring since he was 19, went through a stiff three-round boxing drill.

Clay, who will be making his professional debut within a year when he takes on Folley at the Garden next Wednesday night, already is in fine condition. He went five rounds with the Russian and Argentine, James Ellis of Louisville, Ky., and just kept moving without throwing a punch except for one short flurry in the fourth round. They lost to lose with a flashing left-right left combination to the head.

Clay took a 1-11½, climbed into the ring to pose with the G.I. champion.

"You were the greatest until you were born. Man, you still look like a champion. I'll bet you were a born man to have an idol."

In New York, Clay was visibly shaken when told of the order to report.

"Gonna be my last fight," he said. "All those people who want to see me fight are going to see me fight. I'm gonna go to a movie and think about things."

"That's smart," said Clay. "You're two years old. You'll be all right then."

Colts Pick Quarterback To Open Second Day Of Pro Grid Common Draft

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The Baltimore Colts, looking for a quarterback to play behind Johnny Unitas, picked Terry Southall of Baylor Wednesday on the opening round of the second day of the combined American and National Football League draft. The Colts have needed reserve quarterback strength, since trading Gary Cozzo to New Orleans for a draft choice, Southall, the most promising player chosen on Wednesday, completed 328 of 629 passes in his Baylor career for 4,200 yards and 29 touchdowns. Earlier, it had been thought the Colts might go for Florida's Steve Spurrier or Purdue's Bob Griese, the two most publicized college quarterbacks.

State Field Trials Will Begin Saturday

PAULI—Turbulent Tess, owned by Dr. and Mrs. Roy Shaub, Twin Falls, will defend her double title this weekend when the Idaho Field Trials get underway Saturday morning. Tess was judged the champion in the open all-age and gun dog stakes and Lenn Garner, Pauli, trainer and handler, believes the dog "will give the field plenty of competition." Entries from several western states have been received, indicating this could be one of the association's finest trials. It is open to all pointing-breed dogs. Drawings for the competition will be held 8 p.m. Friday at the Barney Greener residence.

The trials will be conducted one mile east of Minidoka and the Y-Bell Hotel, Burley, will serve as trial headquarters. The open puppy stakes will begin at 8 a.m. Saturday followed by the open derby and amateur gun dog.

Sunday's trials will begin with the open all-age stakes at 9 a.m., followed by the open puppy dog and the open gun derby. First place will win a 20 gauge Browning shotgun. In the open derby will receive a 12 gauge shotgun and the 12 gauge trophy will be awarded to the club winner in the amateur gun dog stakes.

The pole vault is traditionally the longest special event in a meet. It will start before the stands are fully and is going on when the seats are empty, again. Cryder will change that locally. In between there's a lot of time for personal assessments of the competitor and this evolves into the fascinating game called "psyching."

Cryder's own greatest weakness was known throughout the area when he was a freshman (second and state). But from the day he stepped into varsity competition he also was a master of psyching.

"There were established territories," he explains, "particularly from Boise, and it would seem if anyone would be 'psyched,' it would be the freshman. After one meet Cryder was 'psyched' again. When I was a freshman I just decided not to listen to anyone (among the competition) who said to me that I could," he says. That meant no one was going to get to him.

A good example was just Monday when transfer Dennis LaMance, a basketball player, took his first try at vaulting. He has never cleared 13 feet in Montana last year. It was enough to shake the crown on the champ's head. So Cryder put the bar 11 feet above the ground, and so did LaMance.

"Great vault. Fine form," enthused Cryder and continued about the time for 15 or 20 minutes. Then he said "let's raise it to 13 1/2." "That's not enough," says Cryder in explaining the move. "I've had everything tried on me. I just want everyone to know that I can play, too."

Let it be said here that "psyching" is not motivated by cockiness. Although Cryder is a confident lad and takes pride in his vaulting, he does not react into these "psyching" reasons. There is no self-doubt to be wasted in a casual conversation. "There are 32 things you have to do to get a good vault," says Cryder who pours over vaulting articles, movies and pictures at every opportunity. "You have to think about those all the time but when you're in the air there's no time to remember them. You just have to do them."

Cryder is the first Idahoan to really master the fiberglass pole. If anyone can really master it, "If you can come down the runway at the same speed, leave the ground at the same place and do all the things the same time the pole will always bend the same way," he says.

To put it another way, the pole never reacts the same way twice.

You start to jump six inches from where you started the last one to the bend in the pole will vary three to eight inches," says Cryder, who also can cite laws of inertia, up chop, drag, etc., like a pro.

You can't do it all the time. The pole goes into the box. If you're going to have a good vault. When you're four feet of Japan Wednesday night.

CHAMP WINS—LONDON (AP) — Walter McCawren, British, bantamweight champion, scored a 10-round decision over Osame Myashita of Japan Wednesday night.

Decision On Repair Or Replacement Of American Falls Dam Is Explored

By PEGGY LALEY
Times-News Staff Writer

In early December of last year, it became apparent that a decision regarding the repair or replacement of the American Falls dam would have to be made by the dam's spaceholders.

At this time it was the opinion of the Bureau of Reclamation's Chief Engineer that the dam "should be replaced as soon as a feasible program can be reasonably worked out."

He stated that the dam no longer met the bureau's safety standards and that repair would not be sufficient.

The two American Falls Reservoir districts which jointly own about one-half of the dam's storage capacity, had previously requested that the bureau make a study for the repair of the dam.

This move was prompted by the bureau's policy, announced in December, 1964, to curtail winter water storage in the reservoir above the normal water surface. This meant that the top eight feet of the capacity could not be used while an ice cover existed.

This curtailment could mean serious water shortages to the users if the reservoir did not fill after the ice break-up in the spring.

The reasons for this move, by the bureau was attributed to the condition of the concrete portion of the dam.

A gradual deterioration stemming from the type of concrete used was blamed. It has been pointed out that the possibility of this deterioration was not known at the time of the dam's construction.

Therefore, the Bureau of Reclamation's chief engineer stated that "the existing dam cannot be permanently rehabilitated to permit continuing storage at the present reservoir capacity."

In January, 1965, Bechtel Corp., a private firm of engineering-constructors from San Francisco, Calif., was retained by the districts to review and report on the condition of the dam.

This report indicated that it was the opinion of the firm that "much of the concrete, particularly in the upper portions of the dam structure, is in poor condition, due apparently to the type of deterioration caused by alkali-aggregate reactivity."

However, in all fairness, the report did go on to say that "our field inspection did not reveal any condition which would indicate that the safety of the dam is in immediate jeopardy."

Harold Nelson, director of Region I of the Bureau of Reclamation, also stated to the Committee of Nine (the ruling body of water in the upper reaches of the Snake River) at a meeting in December that the bureau did not feel that the dam was liable to disintegrate in the immediate future.

Last Monday a resolution was passed by this Committee of Nine and adopted by the American Falls Reservoir spaceholders.

It was resolved that any replacement of the American Falls dam shall be of the same size and capacity as the present reservoir, and that the rights of all parties in and to the present reservoir shall be precisely and identically the same in the new reservoir.

It was also stated that "a program for the replacement of the American Falls dam under the foregoing conditions be promptly initiated."

This is an unfortunate situation because when the original dam was built in 1927 it was supposed to last for 100 years—it has lasted 40.

However, almost 40 months of deliberation and study the consensus of opinion seems to be that the most practical course would be one of replacement.

The spaceholders paid approximately one-half of construction costs of the original dam but because of various interests which will be served by the construction of a new dam the spaceholders for this new structure will be expected to pay slightly over one-third.

Other interests who will bene-fitally paid are in the process of paying for construction costs of the original dam shall have the full and unrestricted right to assert before the Interior Department, the Executive Department or Commission of Congress their respective rights for credits upon, or freedom from payment for the proposed replacement dam as their respective rights may appear.

Mountain Climber Thinks Love Life Of Abominable Snowman Suffered

BY DELIP BOSE
DARJEELING, India (AP)—Did the "Abominable Snowman" of the Himalayas suffer from a lack of love life, gradually increasing in numbers until he, like the dinosaur, faded into extinction?
This is a theory now advanced by Nawang Gombu, the only man ever to climb Mt. Everest twice.
Gombu is convinced the Abominable Snowman, or Yeti, as he is called by mountaineers, actually existed. In fact, Gombu believes he heard the shrill, tiger-like scream of the Yeti when he was a child, living on the Tibetan slopes of Mt. Everest.

Several told of having heard the Yeti's stream, Gombu said during a talk with newsmen that he felt the Yeti lived in the mountains at about 18,000 feet, where he could forage for plant growth.
"But the Sherpa feels that with all of the mountain expeditions of recent years one of them would have discovered a Yeti if the creature still lived. He points out that communications are better in the mountain region, and on the other side of the border Communist Chinese troops are on patrol, yet there have never been any substantial reports of a Yeti being seen."
Therefore, Gombu concludes, the Yeti has gone the way of the dinosaur.
Gombu was a member of the 1963 American expedition which that it was two full days before he could think about the screen without shuddering. Gombu, of course, had seen numerous drawings supposedly representing the Yeti, in his Tibetan text books at the monastery.

During his last visit to the Everest region, in 1965, Gombu traveled through hill settlements, asking the older people whether they had ever seen a Yeti. All of them believe in the Snowman's existence, Gombu relates, but no one, even one nearly 100 years old, had ever seen the Yeti.

The lama—then held special prayer sessions to calm the boys, but Gombu remembers

FRANKLIN RICHARDS

Speaker For Rupert LDS Meet Listed

RUPERT—An assistant to the Council of 12 Apostles of the LDS Church, Elder Franklin D. Richards, will be the principal speaker at the Mindoka Stake Quarterly Conference set for Saturday and Sunday.
The Acquia-Acquia Second Ward Chapel is scheduled for dedication during the Sunday afternoon session, with Elder Richards to deliver the dedicatory prayer, according to the President Rodney A. Hansen, who will be conducting the meeting.
Sunday afternoon services will begin at 2 p.m. in the Acquia Chapel, with a direct wire to the proceedings in the Stake Tabernacle. The 10 a.m. Sunday morning session is set for the tabernacle.
Elder Richards is a native of Ogden, Utah. He is a former commissioner of the Federal Housing Administration.
He was sustained as a general authority of the church on Oct. 8, 1962, which time he was presiding over the Northwestern States Mission with headquarters in Portland, Ore.
Elder Richards will be accompanied by Samuel R. Carpenter, a member of the Priesthood Genealogical Committee.
Elder Carpenter, former president of the Central States Mission, is vice president and personnel director of the First Security-Bank of Utah. He filled a mission to Holland and obtained an LL.B. degree from George Washington University. He was a staff member of the Federal Reserve Board in Washington, D.C., from 1928 to 1958.
Saturday night sessions of the conference will be for department work. President Hansen stressed that visitors are welcome at the two Sunday meetings.
A stake speech festival will be held after the Sunday afternoon session of the conference at the Acquia Ward Chapel, with each of the 12 local wards to be represented in either speaking or musical presentations.
Arrangements are under the direction of MIA leaders, J. Lowell Naughton, Mrs. Marvin DeJong, W. Ray Bell, Mrs. Colleen Higley, David Moller, and Mrs. Wilford Wilcox.

Governor To Address Fete At Kimberly

KIMBERLY—Gov. Donald Samuelson will be the featured speaker at the annual Student Recognition banquet to be held April 25, Russell C. (Bud) Larsen announced during the Tuesday meeting of the Kimberly Chamber of Commerce. Judge Thora Ward will serve as master of ceremonies for the chamber-sponsored event.
A general committee breakfast meeting will be held at 6:45 a.m. Thursday at the Kim-Lanes Cafe.
Amendments to the chamber's constitution were made, making the document more suitable for the small membership of the organization.
The members were informed during a meeting of the Southern Idaho Chamber of Commerce will be held at 2:30 p.m. in the Pendleton Inn at Burley. A banquet will be served at 7 p.m. Speaker for the meet will be David Kendrick, dean of the North Idaho Chamber of Commerce.
Letters were read from Cong. George Hanson and Sen. Frank Church and Len Jordan concerning the recent approval by the chamber urging Idaho legislators to ratify the Library amendment.
The nominating committee reported Mr. Larsen has been selected as president for the coming year. Frank Horsh is vice president, Mrs. Don Whitehead, secretary, and Don Taylor, treasurer.

FOUR PRODUCE HAND ARGUMENTS

Today's hand broke up a recent expert set match at Alvin Roth's Mayfair Club in New York. When the hand was over, everyone was mad at his partner.

ed and the Jack held. The deuce of hearts was played next and when East played the six, South stuck in his nine.

West ruffed and led a diamond, whereupon South ruffed, drew trumps with two leads, cashed his ace of hearts, ruffed a heart and claimed his contract.

4♠	Pass	4NT	Pass
5♠	Pass	5♠	Pass
6♠	Pass	Dble Pass	Pass

Opening lead—♠ 2

East had not played like an expert. In fact, it would be difficult to find a player who would have played quite as poorly and West proceeded to tell this to East. East's only defense was to say that West had played badly all evening.

North and South collected their winnings but weren't happy with anything about the hand except the result. North wanted to know why South hadn't let him play three no-trump. South pointed out that a diamond opening would have beaten three no-trump several tricks.

South wanted to know why North hadn't passed four clubs. North wanted to know why South hadn't bid four hearts and the argument went on and on.

CARD SENSE

The bidding has been:

West 1♠ East 2♠ South 3♠ North 4♠

You South hold:

♠ J 2 ♣ K 8 5 ♠ 2 4 A A Q 8

What do you do?

—3♠ three no-trump. You have 14 points and a hand that cries out for no-trump after your partner has bid spades and diamonds.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Your partner continues to four diamonds. What do you do now?

Answer Next Issue

West's two-spade bid was one of those weak jump overcalls designed to crowd the opponent's bidding. North would have liked to double but North was using one of those special expert devices for bailout, not business. South tried a three-heart bid and eventually wound up at five clubs doubled.

East put his ace of diamonds on dummy's king, after he thought while he decided that South had opened a singleton and returned the suit. South discarded his losing spade on dummy's queen and led dummy's jack of hearts. East ducked.

Dear Walt: I am a 16-year-old boy with an unusual problem. I will go to my girl friend's house at night to watch television with her. I don't mind his watching with us, but everytime he does, he sits next to her and rubs his arm around her, virtually "cuddling" with her. This is embarrassing to both her and myself, besides being a pain in the neck. Any ideas? — Pater Problems
