TEN CENTS

Non-Irish Turning Green With Envy

By CATHERINE TATE
Times-News Staff Writer

Everyone's trying to be Irish and local wits have the flavor of green corn as they plan several large parades in honor of St. Patrick, patron saint of the sons and daughters of Ireland.

In Ireland, March 17 has a quiet religious tone. In America, it's a time of gaiety, a day that sees some of the more enthusiastic local colleens decked in green, and even spring green hair.

Twin Falls businessmen, eyeing the attractive color of the new money, have planned several large sales in commemoration of St. Patrick and the Lyndon Shopping Center's "Easter Bunny Girl" will be wearing green—presumably to avoid being pinched.

Across the country, Irish, near-Irish and non-Irish are marching along to the swirling music of bagpipes and green dye is tipping the rivers and fountains in several major cities.

In Irish city councilman in Niagara Falls, N.Y., has even tried unsuccessfully to have the Niagara River above the falls tinted green. This year, he succeeded in getting the smaller falls bathed in green light St. Patrick's night.

The Irish ambassador to the United States ran into a problem this year stemming from Ireland's traditional presentation of shamrocks to the U.S. president. The U. S. Department of Agriculture takes a dim view of the importation of the Irish plants with soil attached.

The problem was solved, however, when the ambassador decided to have the plants encased in plastic to preserve the moisture and then refrigerate them until the presentation.

The local scene, an appliance dealer is offering special savings on purchases of green stoves, refrigerators and washing machines, another merchant is holding a "celebration" featuring good Irish savings and a party caucus to consider the bill as a special order of business, beginning at 2 p.m. They will be considered in this order:—A combination measure, which phases out the utility's variation in assessment over a 10-year period and replaces it gradually with a gross receipts tax on utilities.

A—A bill requiring that all property be assessed at 20 percent of full cash value by the end of a 10-year adjustment period.

A measure imposing a gross receipts tax on public utilities. The legislature was in its 15th day of overtime.

Final approval of one of the tax bills regarded as the key to adjournment, but there was no indication it would be achieved quickly.

Major Bills Placed On Final Reading

By EARLE L. JESTER

BOISE (AP)—Bills intended to solve the major remaining problem before Idaho's Legislature were put on the final reading calendar in the House today for special consideration during the afternoon. Republicans, who hold majority membership in the House, agreed at a party caucus to consider the bills as a special order of business, beginning at 2 p.m. They will be considered in this order:—A combination measure, which phases out the utility's variation in assessment over a 10-year period and replaces it gradually with a gross receipts tax on utilities.

Attorney For Powell Warns Of Disorder

NEW YORK (AP) — The attorney for Adam Clayton Powell has warned of the possibility of a riot in New York City if the sheriff arrests the former Harlem representative Sunday should he return to New York.

Powell said earlier in the week from his retreat in the Bahamas that he planned to return Sunday to walk the streets of Harlem and preach to his Abyssinian Baptist Church despite a criminal contempt citation that makes him subject to arrest if he steps foot in the city.

"Attorney Henry R. Williams says Powell would not appear in Harlem Sunday.

Treaty Approval Backs LBJ's Policy

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate ratification of the controversial U.S.-Soviet consular treaty in effect backs President Johnson's policy of improving relations with Moscow despite the Vietnam war. The next step is up to the president, and U.S. officials expected today that the president would sign the treaty.

Milk Flows Down Streets Over Buhl As Withholding Action Of NFO Continues

By RUTH KOONCE MILLER
Times-News Staff Writer

BUHL—Standing like a broadway milkmaid on Buhl's Broadway, more than 100 cans of milk were systematically tipped over the street during a 2000 more gallons, flowed from a large milk tanker truck.

The holding action, designed to force an increase in milk prices, has precipitated an unrest, on other problems facing farmers. The milk dumping seems, according to street corner conversations in Buhl Friday morning, to be just an example of the unrest among farmers who are hoping for a two-percent per quart increase.

Some of the farmers participating in the dumping were not NFO members and others who already have been forced to sell their milk cows, purchased milk from their neighbors to dump.

Nationwide Thursday, withholding apparently created no shortage of milk, but it has triggered action and sympathy from farm related organizations.

Citing not only the status of milk prices, but that of other farm commodities, NFO members said Friday morning that the farmer was not the only one caught in the squeeze.

In Buhl, an NFO stronghold in this area, several businesses closed their doors for three months. NFO members maintain that it is because of farmers who are unable to "keep their heads above water" owing to milk prices.

New Storms Help Extend Ski Season

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican declined today to reveal its stockholdings in Italian companies or to publicly discuss why it pays no taxes on them.

Storms during the past week have extended the ski season in some areas and provided improved conditions in others.

Richardson, commander of the 7th Fleet's Task Force 77, said the United States could "sit down and make love with the Soviets" if they furnish weapons to kill American GIs.

The outcome slightly exceeded the 1966 approval required for ratification.

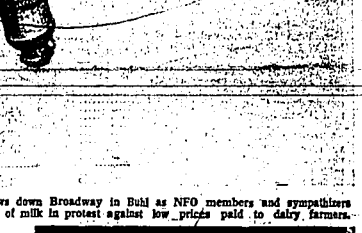

Richfield, Clifford Ward, owner of an NFO syndicate, said he would match each gallon of milk withheld by farmers. Apparently his milk receipts have been off 2,000 gallons, because that's how much of the white stuff he contributed to the river of milk.

Admittedly, according to NFO members contacted Friday, the organization is not new and unpopular in this area—though they still believe they have been milked.

"We are the ones who must make our budgets stretch when milk prices are jockeyed up and down. Something must be done, and this is one way to try," one woman noted.

Friday's dumping doubled the 1,500 gallons which went over the Snake River Canyon rim Thursday. Most of the farmers at Friday's protest ceremony were from the Twin Falls, Jerome and Gooding county areas. A few Minidoka farmers joined in, but that end of Magic Valley was reported to be plan-

No Shortage Seen For Milk Products

By BOY-MINNROE
Times-News Staff Writer

Milk dealers saw no shortage of consumer dairy product supplies today despite milk dumping by some dairymen in support of a National Farmers Organization price protest.

"Thousands of gallons of milk swirled down drains Thursday in a 25-state holding action called by the NFO. Some dealers were affected."

Oren Lee Staley, NFO president, said Thursday night, "NFO members are giving tremendous support to the milk holding action—and it's gratifying that nonmembers are joining in this effort to fight low farm prices."

But a spokesman for the New Jersey Milk Industry Association, Inc., representing 75 percent of that state's dealers, said most farmers made their deliveries and he saw "no threat to supplies for consumers."

The NFO campaign is aimed at forcing buyers to pay farmers two cents more a quart. Prices paid farmers in the affected areas range from New York to Idaho and from Canada to Florida — are now 8 to 10 cents a quart.

5-Year-Old Girl Dies From Burns

CHICAGO (AP) — Robin Dean, 5, who suffered third-degree burns on 60 per cent of her body Feb. 8 when her dress caught fire, died Thursday night.

The girl's stovetop five-week fight to live evoked the sympathy of hundreds. More than 20 persons contributed blood for whole blood and plasma transfusions.

Dr. Nelson Stone, assistant director of the Cook County Burns Center, had offered some hope that Robin would recover. Her progress seemed good until recently, after skin-grafting operations were begun.

The girl was burned when she attempted to heat milk for a baby brother on a stove in the family apartment.

She was rushed to Cook County Hospital by a fire department helicopter because blizzard snow cover impeded traffic in Chicago when the accident occurred.

Transatlantic Rowing Trip Begun By 2

GLOUCESTER, Mass. (AP) — A grandfather and his son planned to set out today on a transatlantic rowing trip in a 16-foot dory.

Lewis C. Mills Sr., 54, husky truckdriver and lobster fisherman, said everything was ready for the adventure. "I've been wanting to do for a long time."

Mills said he and his son, Lewis Jr., 21, would travel non-stop, alternating the rowing duties in four-hour shifts.

"We're aiming for England, but will land in France, Scotland or whatever comes first," the elder Mills said.

"We hope to make it in 40 days, because we want to get it fast enough so anyone coming along later will have to work to beat us."

apt. Fletcher Brown, commander of Boston Coast Guard group and a Gloucester resident, visited Mills Thursday to wish the pair good luck. Brown made an informal inspection of the small boat's equipment and offered to lend the pair the latest in life jackets.

Because the craft has no engine, the Coast Guard has no jurisdiction over the amount or type of equipment.

Among their equipment, the Mills stowed aboard three pairs of 650-cu. in. and 32 gallons of water in glass bottles.

In preparation for the trip, about eight inches of plywood was fastened to the sides for protection against high waves.

Annual Easter Lily Sale To Help Crippled Children

Civilians Continue To Get Bonuses

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. civilians working for Defense Department agencies in Vietnam will continue to receive a 25 per cent pay bonus with American servicemen there lose a cost of living allowance.

This bonus, called a "post differential," is an incentive payment to Civil Service employees who volunteer for duty in certain overseas locations where there is an element of hardship.

"This differential pay is not being stopped," the Pentagon said. "It is required under employment agreements."

The question was raised with the Defense Department after it announced last week plans to hike on May 1 a cost of living allowance now collected by more than 31,000 U.S. servicemen, most of them stationed in the Saigon area.

That action is calculated to save about $21 million a year.

WASHINGTON—In the case of Adam Clayton Powell, the legislative branch will tell the judicial branch to go jump in the nearest lake, which is as it should be. COMPRESSOR EXPLODES
POCATELLO (AP) — A large air compressor exploded in the Union Pacific Railroad building here Thursday afternoon, hurling broken pieces of cast iron and concrete as far as a half mile.
 No one was injured.

Windows were shattered.

'Brat Patrol' Offered In Bronx School

NEW YORK (AP) — Striking teachers at a Bronx junior high school voted to return to their classes today after the Board of Education offered to set up a "brat patrol" to curb violence by pupils.
 The 78 teachers, who had submitted their resignations last Tuesday in protest of a growing wave of assaults and hysterical scenes in classrooms, met for more than three hours to debate the plan given them by the superintendent of schools Bernard E. Donovan.
 They voted shortly after 11 p.m. to return to their classes in order to lose their jobs.
 Donovan had ordered the teachers at Bronx Junior High School 108 to return to their jobs or lose their jobs.

Top Lioness Disappoints National Zoo

WASHINGTON (AP) — A lioness, the most maternally wash of the National Zoo's ranking lions has flopped. She is named HER (right) and her mate is named BOY.
 The lioness, Princess, was mated four months ago to Caesar. Simultaneously, the National Zoo announced that the lioness would give birth to a cub in a library of animal birth on create a new cub.
 Princess was natural for the pilot program. She is 14 years old and had had 24 cubs. She's the only lioness in the zoo and her keeper.
 Last week the 165-day period of gestation was almost up. Zoo officials organized. Thirty three friends of the zoo — including Mrs. Nicholas Katzenbach, wife of the undersecretary of state — volunteered for a 24-hour watch in the lion house.
 They sat in a nearby office with a television monitor beamed on Princess. At the first sign of labor pains, the volunteer was to flick on a recording device, then notify the zoo police who would call the zoo veterinarian.
 Some of the volunteers thought it was a little spooky sitting in the lion house at night. "I spent part of the time playing crossword puzzles. There were two female labor pains, between 'Just when it seemed the most peaceful at night,'" said Mrs. Peter Grogan, "one of the cat reared." She and Lydia Katzenbach shared a 4 a.m. to 6 a.m. watch.
 After eight days of focusing in on Princess' every move, the zoo's animal department head, Donald R. Dieflein, has called off the watch.
 "She's just a mishapen lion," he said. "She's not pregnant."

DEAR ABBY: I am both confused and amused when I read only by the knowledge that it was my driving "need" for love—not "love" itself that tempted me. With God's help I was able to overcome the temptation. God pity those who have neither this knowledge nor help. Please print this.

 THE LAST person to whom I would advise you to send unpublished songs is a famous song writer. His lawyer has probably instructed him to return all unpublished material—looking at it further, no one is obligated to return anything for which he did not send.
GETS AROUND
DEAR GETS: It's not an assumption that a woman is a divorcee because she didn't treat her man right. (Maybe HE didn't treat HER right!) And you can't generalize about widows either. How about the woman who is widowed because their husband dies trying to support them? Or drank themselves to death trying to escape them?
DEAR ABBY: My first cousin and I are in love and want to marry each other. Is it against the law for us to marry—some one told me that we did marry our children would be crazy if it was true? BIG QUESTION!
DEAR ABBY: It is against the law for first cousins to marry in many states. Is it against the law for us to marry—some one told me that we did marry our children would be crazy if it was true? BIG QUESTION!
DEAR ABBY: When I hear someone complaining because their husbands never tell them they love them, I know all too well how they feel.
 My husband is a minister, and gets a beautiful family, yet he has never shown me or the children by word or deed that he "loves" us. He has always said the word never let his family stand between him and his God. But, Abby, we are not competing with God, for we love God, I have a confession to make.

Youth Ranch Is Explained At Altrusa Meet

At the regular dinner meeting of the Altrusa Club held at the Rogerson Hotel, Earl Peck, secretary-treasurer of the Idaho Youth Ranch Board of Directors, told members of the club of the dire need for the employment of house parents at the ranch.

This is not to be confused with volunteer relief parents who, at the present time, come to the ranch for the purpose of relieving the regular house parents, but it is a full time position for a man and wife. Desirable ages for the position are between 35 to 35. It involves the supervision of 15 boys at the present time. The board would appreciate being contacted, through Mr. Peck, if anyone is interested in this position.

Mr. Peck explained how the boys were admitted, the admission being based mainly on the boys who appeared to need the youth ranch supervision, and who showed the best rehabilitation inclination.

He urged residents of Magic Valley to visit the youth ranch, pointing out that visitors are welcome at any time. In the past, regular guides have been assigned to showing visitors the ranch, but they have now employed the idea of having the boys take the visitors on the tour of the ranch.

Plans were announced for the Altrusa Club's 50th Anniversary Dinner to be held April 11.

No Secret

CHICAGO (AP)—Women are growing less secretive about their "romancing" current sketches with those of grandmothers' day.

In the 1940's edition almost a third of the women listed kept their age a secret. For the forthcoming 1967-68 edition only six per cent are withholding their birth dates.

Tax Project Is Stopped After Protest

SHOSHONE—Under pressure of citizen protest, Lincoln County commissioners have decided to discontinue the reappraisal of real estate properties for taxing purposes.

W. E. Bolton, chairman of the board of the commission, agreed at a meeting at his home in Dietrich, Burrell Williams and C. F. Chatfield, other members of the commission, agreed the reversal of their announcement earlier in the week to continue the revaluation program was based upon citizen complaint.

Two public meetings were held earlier this week and petitions presented urging the discontinuance of the program. More than 100 citizens attended each of the two meetings.

The commissioners motion to halt the revaluation project reads: "Recognizing that the program of reappraisal of all real estate within Lincoln County requires acceptance and individual cooperation and that this support is lacking with a large segment of the taxpayers, we are forced to reconsider our position."

Two men were hired in January by commissioners to carry out the reappraisal program.

First Haircut Is Truly Frightening Experience

BY PEGGY LALEY
Times-News Staff Writer

There are lots of firsts in the process of growing up, and perhaps the one that causes the most terror is the first haircut. Looking at it from a child's eye level, it must be frightening to be carried into a place full of strange instruments and to have a man who just stands still, but go up and down and turn round and round.

You are not one of these chairs, usually on a board perched high above the floor, and a long white sheet is wrapped around your neck threatening your breathing and effectively pinning your arms to your sides. There is only one thing left for the victim to do — and he usually does — he opens his mouth wide and lets out a blood-curdling scream.

But the worst is yet to come. A strange man in a white coat comes out with a disturbing, buzzing "thing" and runs it over your head.

You can't see what he is doing, and you really don't care what he is doing if he would just stop.

Maybe those thoughts or some like them were running through the four-month-old mind of little Robert Lee Spencer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Spencer, as he had the ordeal of his first haircut last week at the Idaho Barber Shop.

Hearing Set

New minimum standard for water quality will be discussed during a hearing March 30 at 10 a.m. in Twin Falls, it was announced Friday by the State Board of Health.

The hearing is one of several scheduled this month in Idaho by the State Board of Health and its Water Pollution Control Committee, chaired by Herb L. Derrick, Twin Falls.

During the hearing industries and municipalities will be asked to report on their efforts to maintain cleaner water in Idaho streams, particularly those of an interstate nature. Discussions will also cover what can be done and should be done to improve and protect the quality of water in the state.

Cause And Effects Of Sonic Booms Explained By Office

Sonic booms, which often occur only on an unexpected "aerial hot-rod" are not caused by "aerial hot-rod" at play, but by mature, dedicated pilots who are seriously training for combat or involved in testing new equipment under development for the nation's defense, according to a news release by officials at Mountain Home Air Force Base this week.

The booms are caused by aircraft in supersonic flight, 763 miles per hour at sea level. The shock wave from the aircraft forms a cone, extending back from the nose of the plane, much like the bow wave from a boat.

The sonic wave is heard at the ground as a loud "crack" or "boom." The sonic boom is felt along the flight path not only at one particular point. This is identical to several persons at different points hearing the crack of a rifle or whip, both supersonic waves.

Air Force officials stated that the strength of a sonic wave depends upon the speed, size, weight, and altitude of the aircraft. For this reason, the Air Force restricts supersonic flight to over 30,000 feet altitude.

Atmospheric conditions also affect the strength of sonic waves, and it is still possible for high-flying aircraft to generate a sonic wave that may reach the ground with enough intensity to cause a sonic "boom."

The sonic booms do not generate enough overpressure to cause damage to individuals or buildings, according to tests conducted by the Air Force; however, sonic booms have been known to break glass windows and aggravate plaster cracks in buildings.

Forest Service To War On Spruce Budworms

Battle lines are beginning to form in Idaho as the war against spruce budworms, according to P. Max Rees, Forest Supervisor of the Sawtooth National Forest.

Supervisor Rees stated that approximately 60,000 acres of timber in Idaho are being attacked by the pest. The budworms north of Fairfield will be treated with Zectran, a relatively new insecticide, during the winter and early spring.

Although Zectran is one of the new insecticides, it has been tested on laboratory and field control projects for several years. Supervisor Rees commented that it is safe and effective. Methods of treatment have been developed, making the chemical perhaps the safest insecticide yet developed. Extreme care is used during the application to prevent damage to other re-

SPRUCE BUDWORM-INFESTED FOREST is sprayed in the photo released by the Sawtooth National Forest. Spraying such as this will be done on approximately 60,000 acres of the forest near Fairfield in late June and July. The spruce budworm is the most widely distributed and destructive forest insect in the west. (U.S. Forest Service photo)

Biologists will conduct tests for any possible harmful effects to wildlife before, during, and after spraying. Rees will examine the soil, plant life, and small mammals. Water samples near streams and ponds will also be examined. Supervisor Rees estimates that actual application of Zectran by airplane will begin the first of June and will last until the application is very important since the insecticide is effective only when spruce budworm larvae are feeding on tree needles. The big job of assembling scientific equipment and coordinating activities of many scientists and specialists is now under way.

Part of the pesticide spray project has been received from the Federal Committee on Pest Control. Insect control projects on the national forests must be approved by the chief of the Forest Service and a committee consisting of members from the Department of Interior, Defense, Health, Education and Welfare, and Agriculture. Cooperation in the project with the Sawtooth National Forest and the regional office of the Forest Service at Open Utah will be personnel from the U.S. Weather Bureau, U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, Federal Aviation Agency, Forest Service Research Institute, U.S. Department of Idaho State Fish and Game Department, State Department of Forestry, and Department of Health and local airport boards.

Man Makes Progress In Duplicating Self

By RALPH DIGHTON, AP Science Writer

AZUSA, Calif. (AP)—The age of the android has dawned.

Androids are automations fashioned in human form—long forecast in science fiction.

Man's progress toward duplicating himself took a spectacular leap forward this week with a demonstration in an electronics laboratory of a lifelike, life-size dummy that breathes, has a heartbeat and pulse, blinks its eyes, opens its jaws to disclose its tongue and vocal cords, and even responds to drugs the way a man would.

The 6-foot, 235-pound android was created in skin-covered, skintextured plastic to speed up the teaching of anesthesia and surgery. It helps relieve a shortage of physicians training to become critical as the population expands.

The dummy has been dubbed "Sim One." The second generation of a progressively complex series of simulators planned to train doctors and aides in health services ranging from first aid to fractures.

Sim One is instrumented only in head and chest, but one of his creators, Dr. Stephen Abrahamson of the University of California School of Medicine, calls it a fully functional "whole un-conscious form" in seven years.

"The future is unlimited," Abrahamson said in a news briefing at the Aerojet-General Corp. laboratory where Sim One is being developed. "The second generation of a series of simulators planned to train doctors and aides in health services ranging from first aid to fractures." "They could—that would be a comparatively simple task—be even better than cadavers for training medical students."

Will they be able to walk and talk?

"They could—that would be a comparatively simple task," said Don Carter of Sierra Engineering Co., which made Sim One and also makes Sierra Sam and Sierra Sue, dummies used in auto and plane crash research.

"But there is no requirement so far for an ambulatory patient. They have talked about making us to build in a gown, and the second generation will be able to walk and talk."

The three-year project would build Sim One cost $72,130, according to a grant from the U.S. Office of Education. The manikin ac-

Milk Strike Called By NFO Could Have Far-Reaching Political Implications

By OVID A. MARTIN, AP Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—A milk strike called by the National Farmers Organization is viewed as a symptom of farm unrest that could have far-reaching political implications in next year's presidential election.

The group is urging dairy farmers to withhold milk from the market in an effort to force higher prices.

If such unrest continues in the next few months, it could have an adverse effect on food production this year.

Too, it could trigger action by a reluctant administration to provide farm relief.

Increasing evidence of rural distress has been coming to the surface in recent weeks. Before the National Farmers Organization called its milk strike, the National Farm Union, usually friendly toward the Johnson administration, urged its members to support what it calls a "nationwide voluntary buying moratorium" on new farm equipment. This boycott is described as a protest against increasing costs of equipment and declining farm income.

Some idea of the extent of dissatisfaction came out at a recent national farm conference held here by the administration.

At a recent national farm conference held here by the administration, the National Farmers Union has been urging, without avail, that the government subsidize the price of grain. As a consequence, the administration's farm programs are running into trouble.

For instance, the American Farm Bureau Federation, largest of the farm organizations, proposed legislation which would take the government completely out of the grain subsidy and price support business. The bureau contends that grain programs have led to increased prices, often to the disadvantage of growers.

AP Poll Shows 39 States Will Go On Daylight Savings Time

By The Associated Press

At least 39 states will go on Daylight Saving Time this year, an Associated Press survey showed today.

Among other things the survey stands this way as of now:

One state, Hawaii, has decided to stay on standard time. Michigan appears certain to follow suit. Five others still are uncertain. Four more have not made up their minds definitely, but probably will switch to Daylight Saving Time.

A law enacted by Congress directs all states—except those which exempt themselves—to observe Daylight Saving Time from 2 a.m. the last Sunday in April until 2 a.m. the last Sunday in October.

Any state may exempt itself by adopting a state law to that effect.

So, in the big majority of states, the clock will be put ahead one hour April 30 and remain that way until Oct. 29.

Legislature approved a bill to keep the state on standard time.

Missouri—Bills pending to keep state on standard time have little chance of passage.

Arkansas—There's a remote chance bills will be put on light time may get through after the Legislature returns March 17 from a recess. But chances are slim.

Idaho—the Legislature does not want to keep the state on standard time. A similar bill was introduced this week. It is being held in a committee with the limit of any effort to bring it to a vote.

Tennessee—A bill to keep the state on standard time has been introduced.

Dodd Says He Had Aversion To Dinners

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Thomas J. Dodd testified today he had "kind of an aversion" to testimonial dinners and had hoped he could avoid the one held financially some other way.

The Connecticut Democrat, testifying at his own defense at a Senate ethics committee investigation, said he had been asked to give a testimonial dinner to his first wife—unsuccessful—Senate rule in 1956.

He said he didn't think he had been asked unethically and asked anyone "to buy a ticket to a testimonial dinner," but he testified he had been asked to give a testimonial dinner to his first wife—unsuccessful—Senate rule in 1956.

"They all knew about it," he said. "They all told them you had personal debts you needed to pay off from these testimonial dinners," he said.

The national championship game will be played on March 25 at the University of California, Los Angeles.

Sikes Assumes Lead At Jacksonville

By RON SPEER
Associated Press Writer
JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Dan Sikes, 36-year-old hometown golfer who wants to win the Jacksonville Open "more than any other regular tournament," took the lead in the wind-swept opening round Thursday by firing a 5-under-par 67. The Florida lawyer, in his sixth season on the pro tour, moved a stroke in front of Gay Brewer Jr., last year's Jacksonville runner-up, and Kansas City rookie Jim Colbert as "sleekly" as he took the long drive to the clubhouse and sent scores soaring.

Taylor Tops NFL In Pass Receptions

NEW YORK (AP) — Charley Taylor of Washington, converted a punt back to a receiver at midseason last year, topped the National Football League in pass receptions in 1968, according to official league statistics released Thursday.

Taylor caught 72 passes, five more than runner-up Pat Studstill of Detroit.

Studsstill, however, led in yardage gained with 1,216. He was one of four receivers to go over 1,000 yards. The others were Taylor with 1,115, Bob Hayes of the Carolina Panthers with 1,044 and Jones of New York with 1,044.

Studsstill had the longest reception, a 74-yard punt return from Karl Sweeten in the Lions' 45-14 loss at Baltimore Oct. 16. The yardage matches a league record at the University of Michigan.

Hayes led in touchdown passes with 13 with Jones having the most average yards per catch.

Bernie Casey of San Francisco, who caught 12 for 223 yards in a 20-14 rout of Chicago Nov. 10, had the most receptions in a game, while Hayes had the most yardage, 246 on nine receptions in a 35-20 victory over Washington, also Nov. 13.

Jim Huga of Tahoe City, Calif., took the second place with a time of 108.46. The American ran the second course in 55.60.

That time also gave him the early lead, but Killy's beautiful performance in the second round wiped it out.

Marielle Goetschel of France, daughter of the 1968 Olympic champion, took a second place with a combined time of 96.10 seconds.

Miss France, who won the first run of the slalom, finished with 96.11 seconds for second place.

Clay Refuses To Discuss Choice Of Army Or Jail

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Asked if he would go into the Army or to jail if all of his appeals from the draft are rejected, heavyweight champion Cassius Clay said Thursday: "My decision is made. I won't tell you what it is. I have to answer to the government, not reporters. But I know what I have to do." When a reporter said there were Muslims in the Army, Clay said "the jails are full of Muslims."

Cowboys Mix Special Brew For Alcindor

Clay, who prefers his Black Muslim name of Muhammad Ali and who is seeking exemption from the draft on the grounds he is a Black Muslim minister, must contend with a dressing room working in the Exposition Hall at Madison Square Garden in the afternoon.

The champion will be making his ninth title defense next Wednesday night when he meets Zora Folley at the Garden.

When first approached during the day for comment on the Army on April 11, Clay said: "If the press says it, that's all that could be my last fight. I'll take it as it comes."

He referred all comments on the draft order itself to his attorneys.

J. Allen Sherman, chairman of Local Board 47 in Louisville, Ky., said he had no objection to Clay's decision. Sherman said the induction notice had gone out the same day.

"He will undergo a physical screening — no further mental test is necessary — and he ordinarily would be sworn in that day," he posted the physical, said Sherman.

Meanwhile, Clay's attorneys were filed in U.S. District Court in Louisville alleging racial discrimination by Clay's induction. Kentucky's draft boards because of a racial imbalance in their makeup.

Judge James F. Gordon set March 29 for hearing arguments on whether to name a three-judge panel to hear the suit but he refused to issue a temporary restraining order barring Clay's induction.

Hayden Covington of New York, one of Clay's attorneys, said that Kentucky's draft boards "discriminate against the Negro race."

"I have belief in my religion," said Clay at the Garden.

"That's the question — will I be allowed to follow my religion in this country which has freedom of religion?"

Asked how it was possible to be a heavyweight boxing champion of the world and to also be a conscientious objector, Clay replied: "You can't compare boxing with war. You don't go to kill in boxing. He rammed back and forth on his religious beliefs, saying at one time: "If you gave me $10 million or put me in front of a machine gun, I won't give up my beliefs."

"The Army obeys its laws, the government obeys its laws. I follow Allah's laws."

TAKES DECISION TOKYO (AP) — Vincente Deramo of Argentina scored a unanimous decision over Fuljo Mikaloff in a 10-round lightweight bout Thursday night.

Worred 21 points for the Warriors and Brian Brunkhorst added 16.

George Stone, Marshall's 6-7 jump-shot artist, hit 17 of his 22 points in the second half to lead the Thundering Herd's comeback. Stone scored 46 in Marshall's record 119-83 quarter-final victory over Nebraska.

Clay's Trainer Has Respect For Folley

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK (AP)—Angelo Dundee, trainer of heavy-weight champion Cassius Clay, has high respect for challenger Zora Folley's professional skill. "He has a good defense and he can counter real good," Dundee said Thursday. "He has a move like the champ's—he slips a jab and counters strong with his right."

Robinson's Knee Ready For Work

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Frank Robinson has his right knee in the first severe test of the spring Thursday, and announced after a 15-minute workout that he was ready for full-time exhibition competition.

"I'm very much encouraged," Robinson said. "I've had a hard drill in running, sliding and hitting in vacant Miami." A cartilage operation was performed on the knee last Nov. 22 and Robinson's spring activities thus far has been limited to pitch hitting.

While most of the Orioles expected to face the Pittsburgh Pirates, Robinson remained active on the bench for the important workout.

Allen Signs, But Not For $100,000

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—This season's Rich Allen, a stubborn spring holdout, signed his 1967 baseball contract with the Philadelphia Phillies Thursday—but apparently not for the $100,000 he had sought.

The slugging All-Star, who owns a 300-hitting streak in his first three years in the major leagues, "came to a meeting of mind" with Phillies manager Gene Connor.

The signing took place in Carpenter's office in Connie Mack Stadium here. The salary was not disclosed, but Allen's spokesman said it was probably in the $75,000 range.

Allen, who made a reported $40,000 to $50,000 last year, could not be reached for comment.

His signing now leaves San Francisco Giant pitcher Juan Marichal the lone major league holdout here.

Allen, who made a reported $40,000 to $50,000 last year, could not be reached for comment.

Celtics Thump Detroit 130-109

DETROIT (AP)—The Boston Celtics all but snuffed out the Detroit Pistons' playoff chances Thursday with a 130-109 rout in the 123-09 National Basketball Association victory.

Playing without Dave DeBussche, who has a knee injury, the Celtics fell a full game behind the Chicago Bulls for the fourth and final playoff position in the Western Division.

Detroit and Chicago each has two games left on the regular schedule.

Celtics broke loose from 16-16 tie midway in the first period and with Tom Sanders' 21-point lead opened a 31-22 margin. Boston extended its margin to 69-47 at halftime.

Steve Papp's 23-point effort led Detroit to a 45-35 lead at the end of the first half.

Boise Ousted From Junior College Meet

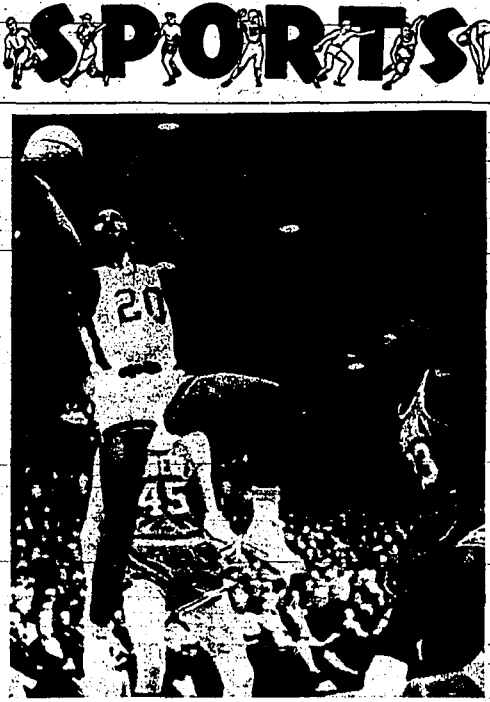

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (AP)—The Boise College Broncos were ousted from the floor Thursday night as they dropped a 70-50 junior college tournament quarter-final game to Moberly, Mo. Boise stayed with Moberly for ten minutes in the first half, and led 17-13 with 12 minutes to go. Then the Greyhounds took over and pulled ahead to a 36-23 halftime lead.

In the second half, Boise started out well and shot to within seven points at 36-29—but the hot-shooting Greyhounds took over and were never threatened.

High for Boise was Wendell Hart with 13 and Bernie Cope-

Marichal, S. F. Reach Impasse

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—President Horacio Stoenham of the San Francisco Giants declared Wednesday negotiations with ace pitcher Juan Marichal a "dead end" and said he has a "definite holdout on our hands."

Breaking club policy, it is the Giants announced figures at the time in the salary dispute, saying the club had offered the right-hander from the Dominican Republic $125,000, apparently 10 percent less than Marichal's $137,500 demand, which he has the highest pay in baseball.

Marichal is baseball's only active major league pitcher to have won 20 or more games in each of the four seasons.

He is the highest paid player in history," Fenney said. "We feel we have been fair to him and it would be unfair to the rest of the players if the same were given more," Stoenham explained.

Explaining the unprecedented move, Fenney said that the Phoenix Stadium, Fenney said, "We don't want to get into an argument with him but we are doing this on principle."

Stoenham added, "The next move will be up to Juan." Fenney said, "With the raise we have offered, Marichal will have been increased $60,000 in three years and $25,000 over last season."

"We know he is a great pitcher but we are a small club and we can't pay him that much," Fenney concluded.

Only Way To Belong

By DR. JAMES WESLEY TURPIN

Five years after I began practicing medicine in Coronado, Calif., my wife Martha and I had a big house, two cars, $20,000-a-year income and a growing restlessness.

We tried involving ourselves in civic affairs, teaching Sunday school, and working on the city council. We were still dissatisfied.

A friend sensed somehow that we sought more meaning to life. "Isn't it a shame that so many of us try to help mankind by fumbling among our small coins," she told us.

When I asked her to be constant, she suggested that we go with her to Tijuana, Mexico, a 30-minute drive from Coronado.

On the drive down I was silent, thinking of a dream I once had. . . . My grandfather had been a doctor back home in southeastern Kentucky. As a boy I had followed him through the bleak mountains, thrilled whenever he would let me swab his patients with alcohol before he gave them their shots.

He gave me a love for medicine and for Jesus Christ. My big dream was to be a doctor and a missionary.

I took theology and then medicine at Emory University in Atlanta, Georgia. After my internship and residency I turned only to medicine. The dream faded.

In Tijuana we saw a world of poverty and disease. Martha and I got the message. We were not being helpful by fumbling among our small coins. . . . We began to bring food and medicine to Tijuana once a week.

It came to me that I needed these people as much as they needed me. When I told that to Martha she said, "Maybe the only way to belong to life is to give yourself to it."

I tried to join Medico shortly after Dr. Tom Dooley died. My letters went unanswered.

I wrote to the World Health Organization. They replied they needed public health men and sanitation experts, not doctors. When I applied to the U.S.S.R. Hope I was put on a standby list.

One day as I talked out my frustration with the mother of a patient, she described a visit to Hong Kong and the misery she saw among the refugees from Red China.

After a good deal of soul searching, Martha and I agreed that I should visit for myself. I went to Hong Kong and saw 150,000 people living on junks and sampans and another 50,000 squeezed into six square blocks in the old walled city of Kowloon, a place of indescribable poverty, filth, opium houses and brothels.

When I returned home, Martha and I talked about the deep hours of many mornings about what I had seen and what we should do. Each of us prayed alone and I am sure that in our hearts we were saying the same prayer: "Lead us back among these despised and rejected where You are clearly revealed."

We didn't know how we would do it or with whom. Shirley D. former assistant, Godfrey Flicner, and Dr. Paul Paul, just out of the Navy, said they'd go back with us. We scraped together a few thousand dollars. Martha packed everything, including our four children, and on Aug. 10, 1962 we all set out to a new, yet ancient world.

While going to school to learn a basic Chinese vocabulary, we bought an old ship and converted it into a floating clinic which we christened "Project Concern."

A group of British nurses who worked in the walled city of Kowloon "hired" our ship and came to see us. They had a little clinic for children but no doctor. I was a doctor but had no clinic in Kowloon.

We joined forces. Two Chinese refugee doctors and a Canadian lab technician also joined us. Within a year we had another floating hospital and a second clinic in a Hong Kong valley.

which is peopled by 25,000 squatters living in matchbox houses. The total staff in Hong Kong now numbers 58. They come from 21 countries.

Why do they serve amid dirt and disease? They learned before I did how to belong to life. But the story does not end here. One day in the summer of 1964 a New Zealand doctor came aboard our floating clinic for a visit. He said that he had left Vietnam in despair because he had tried and failed to start a clinic in a place where it was badly needed.

The location was Tuyen Duc province, 135 miles north of Saigon, populated by nomadic ethnic groups and refugees from the Communist north.

It seemed that God had new work for us. The New Zealand doctor and I flew down to Tuyen Duc. The need was tremendous.

When Vietnamese officials offered us an abandoned Special Forces camp, we opened a hospital in it with a skeleton staff recruited from Hong Kong, Martha and the other doctors joined us. The hospital now has grown to 25 doctors, nurses and technicians.

So far we have trained 25 native medical officers in as many villages within a 30-mile radius of the base hospital, and now have 15 more enrolled in an expanded six-month course.

Although the hospital is along the southern end of the Chi Minh trail, the Viet Cong have threatened it only once. They fired two shots into the camp and left. Maybe they learned that we were ready for them. The villagers and 80 Vietnamese troops guard the hospital at night.

We are now treating 10,000 patients a month in Vietnam and another 15,000 a month in Hong Kong. The South Vietnamese government has agreed to build a hospital for us 25 miles north of Saigon. Project Concern will staff and run it.

Where do we get our medical supplies? Well? We ask God to let His will be done. We know that He speaks loudest where the need is greatest, and wherever He has sent one of us He has never failed us.

Last year I returned with my family for a visit to the United States. I had to leave them. This fall Martha enters the Women's Medical College of Pennsylvania. In five years she will be at my side as a doctor.

Eventually the blood-letting in Vietnam will end. But the war against poverty and disease will not be resolved. Meanwhile, Martha and I pray fervently every day that God, who sent us to Vietnam, will give us the strength to stay there. That's where we belong to life.

Scouts Have Real Need For All-Season Camp

There is a growing awareness of the need for, and the advantages to be gained by the proposed camp "A" to be built by the Snake River Area Boy Scout Council on the banks of the Snake River.

Scouting always has been synonymous with camping, and the rugged and more primitive conditions—the better, according to most people.

This new rustic camp will be the typical site which exists in the minds of many. There will be no dormitories, the campers will live and sleep in tents. Their meals will be cooked over an outdoor fire.

Actually the only building of any consequence will be a multipurpose structure designed to accommodate various meetings which of necessity will be held inside, and it will also be used for storage.

The council is fortunate to have the new existing camp, Camp Bray, which is located about 20 miles west of Stanley on the edge of the primitive area.

However, this is strictly a summer camp. In winter it is buried deep in snow, leaving the Scouts in the area with no outdoor facilities.

The new camp on the Snake River will be used throughout the year for week-end, day excursions and many other activities that could be enjoyed by the Scouts on a year-round basis with proper facilities.

This new camp also will be used as a day campsite for Cub Scouts, who at present do not have camping facilities. Because of the terrain, which is in its natural state, many worthwhile, year-round activities will be offered.

The camp also will be used for the purpose of training new Scout leaders in scouting. For the past two years, the council has been studying the possibilities of a new rustic campsite within easy driving distance of all towns in the southeastern area.

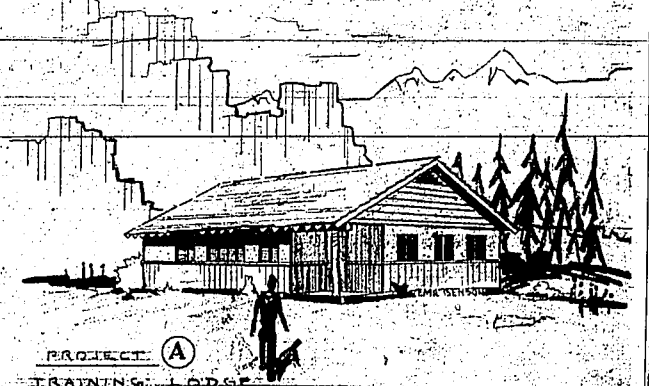

The outcome was that a portion of the present campaign funds should be used for this new development so that the new camp could be in use no later than next fall and even later.

possibly during the summer months. Quite literally mean a few foot on a dirty, crowded youth in outdoor activities, we have so much to offer our youth in making these opportunities for outdoor experiences in the East, a campsite could take. Here in the West, where we did not available.

THIS IS THE ARTIST'S CONCEPTION of what will be the training lodge and multi-purpose building at the new proposed Boy Scout camp on the banks of the Snake River. The new camp would be a year-around facility.

Deployment Of Defense System Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States should start developing its own antiballistic missile defense system unless early agreement is reached with the Soviet Union limiting such armaments, a Senate committee recommends.

The stand taken Thursday by the Senate Armed Services Committee backed up the position of President Johnson. He hopes current U.S.-Soviet talks can head off an expensive defense weapons race — but has asked $77-million-for-American ABMs in case negotiations fail.

Chairman Richard D. Russell, D-Ga., said the committee unanimously approved starting installation of Nike X antimissile missiles around key cities unless a limiting agreement is reached.

Russell indicated the deployment should start no later than July 1 if the talks show no immediate promise. Deployment of the Nike X systems developed under a $2.5-billion Defense Department program — could be started with the $377 million.

Idaho's Dry Bean Industry To Participate In Program

BOISE — Plans for participation by Idaho's dry bean industry in a foreign market development program were announced at a meeting of the Idaho Bean Dealers Association.

cate that a permanent promotional program can be established to provide significant increases in the export of Idaho beans to the Mediterranean area," they said. The Mediterranean area was given first priority because it offers the best apparent potential for consumption of all varieties of Idaho beans from the standpoint of local tastes and historical preferences.

Evaporation Losses High

WASHINGTON — Evaporation losses from reservoirs are "the largest unmeasured item in the water accounts," says G. Earl Harbeck, Jr., of the U.S. Geological Survey.

Estimates of water losses from evaporation run as high as $400 million a year—about two-thirds of all the precipitation that falls upon the 30 states in an average year.

Sales Take Lots Of Planning

By PEGGY LALEY Times-News Staff Writer There's a lot more to selling a bull than just finding a buyer and collecting the money.

Consignors must be listed and pedigrees must be obtained for the animals which are to be sold. A book is printed containing copies of these pedigrees so that prospective buyers can know just what bulls are being offered for sale.

Lower Charges Slated For A,B Irrigation District

RUPERT—Members of the A and B Irrigation District for Northside farmers were informed at their first annual meeting recently that minimum operation and maintenance charges for 1967 will be considerably lower than last year, with the exception of Block 8, which has only been in operation since 1962. Blocks 1 through 5 have completed their respective development periods and are being credited this year with their accurate charges. Blocks 6, 7 and 8, still in their development period, are paying on their respective deferrals.

Boneless

WASHINGTON—The U.S. Department of Agriculture announced that it will start buying boneless steaks and ground beef, and continue buying canned chopped meat to be distributed to needy families and to schools, but it took no action to hike dropping milk prices.

Minimum operation and maintenance charges for 1967 include block 1, $8.25; block 2, $7.47; block 3, $3.92; block 4, $8.23; block 5, $9.22; block 6, $11.74; block 7, $11.70, and block 8, $11.75.

Also announced was a raise in the minimum price at which the government will sell soybeans.

It was noted that water allotment under the minimum charge is 3 acre feet per irrigable acre, and water in excess of this amount will be excess water and charged at rates as follows: blocks 1 through 5, $3.34 for the first acre foot of excess, $5.34 for the second acre foot, and $6.68 for the third acre foot; blocks 6, 7, 8, first, $6.26, second and third, $7.82, third; block 7, $3.00, first, $6.24, second, and third; block 8, $3.92, first, $6.27, second, and third.

Virgil Temple, manager of the district, gave the operation and maintenance report to the 150 farmer members who attended the meeting; with Herb Van Slyke, secretary-treasurer, giving the annual financial report, and Russell Mohlman, report of the board of directors for 1966.

In the considerable discussion that followed the report, a request was made for a study on raising the minimum water to three acre feet, and it was announced that there will be no penalty charge on the first acre foot of excess water for 1967. Members were notified that the first week in October will be the official meeting of the board of corrections on water charges for the coming year.

Malbourn and Ruel Barker, Elba ranchers, had their cattle trucked from Malta this week to their ranches in the Elba Valley. The cattle have been on open pasture in the Malta area. Trucking for the Barkers were Lewis Eames, Almo, and Charles Ward, Malta.

Walter Solders, Tuttle, has some spring wheat seeded but most of the farmers still are getting their fields ready.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Lish are digging rocks out of their acreage in King Hill and plan to seed it to pasture for their horses and other stock. King Hill Irrigation District employees have been hauling off the rocks for use along canals. Ed Hite, Pocatello, and Calvin Hoagland and Fred Lish helped get the rocks off the land. Fred Lish is Lloyd's brother and Mr. Hoagland is Lloyd's son-in-law.

Range Bulls Graded By Wood River Grazing Unit

Bull grading is an important phase of the cattle industry. This year, some 75 or 80 bulls were graded by five members of the Wood River Grazing Association in the Shoshone and Gooding areas.

In the process of the range bull grading tour, some time was lost because some bulls had to be rounded up. However, despite the cold and snowy weather throughout the day, grading of the bulls went fairly fast.

Of the 75 or 80 bulls graded Tuesday, one was Angus. The others were all Herefords.

Ivan Hopkins, Lincoln County agent, and the two tabulators for the tour, said the object of the bull grading tour is to upgrade the calf crop.

Hopkins said only good quality bulls are put out on the range which the association has grade rights to. About 60 bulls will be put out on the range this summer with about 1,900 cows and heifers over a year old.

The bulls must be at least 2 years old and must be at least a B grade bull, except for the 2-year-olds. They must be plus grade-bred.

The plus bulls graded this weekend are owned by members of the Thorn Creek Cattlemen's Association and the Shoshone Cattlemen's Association.

It is reported that in the past few years, with top grade bull, the calf crop in Magic Valley has been upgraded by 30 to 35 per cent.

Members of the grading team were Walter Jones, Donald Sandberg and Wayne Sorensen, all Shoshone; Alex Bilbao, Gooding; and Bill Price, Jerome County agent. Dale Walton, Gooding County agent, assisted Hopkins with the lablation.

Pruning And Pinching Aids House Plants

SHOSHONE — Pruning and pinching keeps house plants in the best of health. Ruth Richardson, home agent for Lincoln, Blaine and Camas counties, says that frequent pruning promotes branching and the plants usually have fewer blooms than those pruned by pinching.

Bulletin "Selecting and Growing House Plants" is available at the County Agents' offices at Shoshone, Halley and Fairfield. This is Home and Garden Bulletin No. 62.

Training Meet Set For 4-H Leaders

A two-day training session has been planned for all 4-H club leaders and prospective leaders in Twin Falls County March 30 and 31, at the Filer Grange Hall.

The sessions will start both days with refreshments from 9:30 until 10 a.m. and will stop at 3 p.m. Each leader is asked to bring a sack lunch.

During the two days extension personnel from the county agent's office and several experienced leaders will discuss all phases of 4-H Club. Those interested in becoming 4-H leaders are urged to attend and receive the training.

Olan Genn, county 4-H Club agent, says subjects to be discussed will cover all phases of 4-H projects from knitting to horticulture, and from canning and cooking to style dress revue.

He says that any adult who has thought of becoming a 4-H leader can make up his mind during these two days and he stressed the need for more 4-H Club leaders in the county.

T. F. Firm Buys Hansen Elevator

HANSEN — The Twin Falls Feed and Ice Co., has purchased the Hansen Elevator, eliminating in negotiations during the past few weeks, according to James A. (Bud) Felton, local manager.

Mr. Felton will remain as the manager and he states that the same policy will be observed, but many additional items will be added such as feed and grain, making the elevator a generalized service to the farmers in the area.

The Hansen Elevator was first managed by Elvis Laycock in 1909, who came from Colorado and helped supervise its construction. The grain elevator was built in 1912. It was owned and managed by the Colorado Milling and Elevator Co., which was organized in 1932 at Pueblo, Colo. J. K. Mullin was owner of the firm and made many trips out to this area prior to his death in 1932.

L. Breckenridge was the district manager until the elevator, situated all over Magic Valley, became affiliated with the Union Security Investment Co. in 1943.

The Twin Falls Feed and Ice Co. is an old concern in Twin Falls. It was started by A. M. Sande, who peddled ice with a horse and buggy. He built it into a well-known and prosperous firm.

The elevator company bought out Farm Grain and Milling Co., which was across the street from them, in 1926. Many will remember when Tay Hall was manager here. Others were Ed Hazard, Carl Emerson — a d and Ralph Crain.

The last ones were Herb Smith and Newell Johnson, just prior to Bud Felton, who came last year. This is the second time he has worked in the Hansen Elevator.

How to get effective wireworm control in potatoes with Diazinon.

You can use either a band or insecticide and get sure, effective control of potato wireworms, including strains which are resistant to some other insecticides.

The broadcast application should be applied within one week of planting and worked into the top 4 to 8 inches or more of soil. Or you can band Diazinon when planting your crop, again working the Diazinon in with a fertilizer attachment to a depth of 3 to 5 inches along both sides of the row. Either way, you'll get dependable control of wireworms without residue problems in your potatoes, or in crops like sugar beets which may follow.

With Diazinon, there are no restrictions on allowing workers to enter treated fields. And you don't have to wear special protective clothing or devices when working with Diazinon. As with all pesticides, read and follow label directions. See your supplier for Diazinon or write us for more information. Banquet Is Planned For Area Granges

RUPERT — April 22 has been selected as tentative date for a Centennial Banquet for all Granges in both Minidoka and Cassia counties, Rupert Grange officials report.

Chairman of the event are Mrs. Hynek-Beaver, Minidoka County and Mrs. Ed Schwesler, Cassia County. Mrs. Beaver said the dinner will be held at Hirlings Cafe in Rupert.

In connection with the National Grange Week April 16-22, the local Grange will place copies of a book on the history of the Grange in area libraries and at Minico High School.

The business meeting was preceded with a potluck birthday dinner, which is an annual affair, with 58 in attendance.

Members were seated at four tables, each decorated to depict a season of the year, with special arrangements planned according to birthdays.

Members of the decorating committee were Mrs. Cash, Peterman, Mrs. John Carson, Mrs. Walter Lee, Mrs. Frank Maricle and Mrs. Glen Hesterlee.

The business meeting was in charge of arrangements for the dinner were Mrs. Carson, Mrs. Claude Bowman and Mrs. Arthur Morgan.

The program was presented by Mrs. Margaret Osgood, who showed slides, with narration, of her recent trip to Thailand.

Extension Program Is Explained

FAIRFIELD — Grant Hall, Boise, district agent of the extension service, and Virgil Kennedy, Boise, farm management specialist, were guests of the Camas County Advisory Committee.

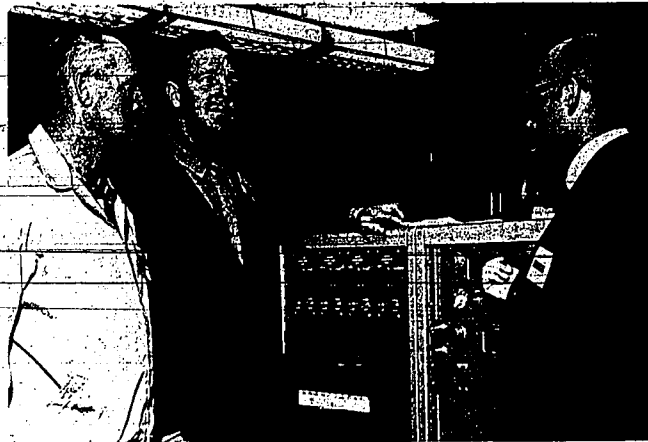

Mr. Kennedy explained the organization and financing of the extension service. Mr. Kennedy explained program projection to the group.

The Camas County Advisory Committee has been inactive for several years. The group of over 30 county men and women are planning a five-year extension program. William A. Simon, its program chairman and members were selected by the county commissioners and the extension staff to represent the people throughout the county.

In the near future, sub-committees will analyze the situations and problems of agriculture, home economics and youth in the county and plan programs for the solution of these problems. The programs will serve as guidelines or goals for the extension staff to follow.

County Agent Ray Altolza and Mrs. Mary Lou Ruby, home demonstration agent, gave county background information and census comparison-of-agriculture, home economics and youth.

Altolza states that anyone having any ideas or suggestions that might help the committee in their planning should contact his office. The Agricultural Extension Service feels that programs planned by the people of the county are more effective than those planned for them.

Use Salt

SAN FRANCISCO — Cows can have indigestion too. "But when acid indigestion strikes, there's a very simple remedy at hand for them — the salt box," Jean L. Babbe, with the feed division of Leslie Salt Co., said today.

"Salt makes unappetizing feeds taste better," he explained. "It stimulates the formation of digestive juices; animals drink more water, feel better."

Results On Research Projects At Kimberly Center Discussed At Meet

KIMBERLY — Results of research projects at the Snake River Conservation Research Center near here, were discussed during the center's annual Advisory Committee Meeting this week.

The purpose of the meeting, according to A. R. Robinson, director of the center, is to inform the representatives of the area in which the research center serves on the results of research programs in the past year and of future plans. Some of the projects discussed included the micro-nutrients on plants, soil fertility, irrigation methods and equipment, and micro-climate crop zones.

Robinson said an important phase of the center is the development of irrigation equipment with the end result of saving water and efficient irrigation.

Two irrigation equipment developed at the center, which is being used in this area and several states, are the automatic gates and checks. A timer is used to regulate the length of irrigation for one section of a field that is being irrigated.

Robinson said the center also has developed a way to improve plant environment by using plastic mulch. He said this mulch conserves the moisture that is in the ground, because there is no evaporation and also the temperature is controlled.

During the two-day meeting, future projects were discussed. Robinson said the center plans to increase research on fertilizer and soil fertility as well as on sprinkling irrigation.

The center also will increase research on plant use of water and on water measurement.

Areas served by the center include Idaho and parts of Washington, Oregon, Nevada, Wyoming and Utah.

Some of the representatives at the meeting included Dr. Horace B. Cheney, head, Soils Department, Oregon State University, Corvallis, Ore.; Dr. Gilbert Corey, head of the Department of Agricultural Engineering at University of Idaho; Dr. John Wolfe, associate professor of agricultural engineering at Oregon State University; Dr. C. A. Bower, director, U. S. Salinity Laboratory, Riverside, Calif.; and Dr. W. H. Gardner, professor and soil scientist at Washington State University, Pullman.

Local persons attending the meeting were Marshall LeBaton, superintendent of the Twin Falls Branch Experiment Station, University of Idaho; Dick Stafford, chairman of the Snake River Soil Conservation District; Glenn Nelson, chairman of the Twin Falls Soil Conservation District; Virgil Wilson, Snake River Soil Conservation District, and C. E. Brockway, Snake River Conservation Research Center.

Water Supply Outlook Dropped During February

BOISE — The water supply outlook for Idaho dropped slightly during the month of February as a result of light snowfall and unusually warm temperatures, according to Morlan Nelson, state snow survey supervisor.

"Snow cover at the foothill and valley elevations melted off and partially primed the soil. Water content of the soil varies from 67 per cent of normal for inflow to Oakley Reservoir to 125 per cent on the Little Wood River above High Five Creek. The major rivers throughout the state such as the Snake, Snake, Boise, Payette, Salmon and Clearwater are all very close to average, according to a report by Nelson.

According to the report snow fall during February was very disappointing and far below normal on all drainages in the state. The high elevation snow courses on many rivers have snowpack slightly above normal. At the middle and lower elevations in the mountainous areas, it falls well below normal and particularly those rivers south of the Snake River. Water supply shortages can be expected on Salmon Falls Creek and Oakley Reservoir that programs planned by the people of the county are more effective than those planned for them.

more than three-fourths of the snowpack is usually down by the first of March. The first week of March has been far below normal in snowfall and warm temperatures have set the snowpack, according to the report.

"The density of snow as of March 1 is much higher than a normal year indicating that the snow-melt season is not far off if warm weather continues.

At valley elevations, warm clear weather is reducing soil moisture and may require early irrigation and thus adversely affect the water supply outlook in most rivers of the state.

Soil moisture beneath the snow pack at high elevations is still below normal and will absorb a considerable amount of snowwater once the major melt begins.

Soil temperatures in general throughout the state are still considerably higher than normal. An early spring has started with trees and grasses already growing at a pace normally reached after April 1. Reservoir storage still re-

81 Schools Take Part In Program

WASHINGTON — More than 100,000 children in 81 schools are taking part in the two-year pilot school breakfast program, states the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

First schools in the program are largely attended by youngsters from poverty - stricken homes or those who travel a long distance to and from school. They receive a breakfast at a cost of from 10 to 15 cents.

Remains below normal throughout the state, but the warm February resulted in an increase in relation to normal storage for the month.

Kimberly Grange Sets April Meet

KIMBERLY — Members of the Kimberly Grange were informed during their Monday night meeting that the annual "Operation Forward" meeting would be held April 10. The membership meeting will start at 7:30 p.m. with a potluck supper.

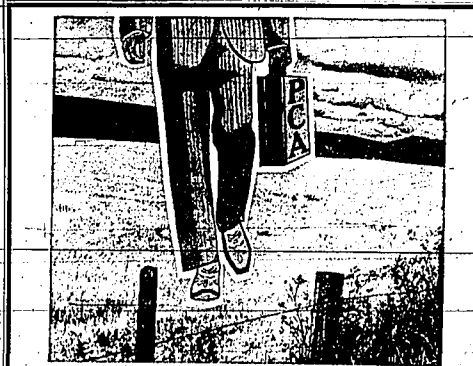

The group instructed the building committee to investigate the costs of painting or tiling the basement floor of the hall.

Mrs. Dean Bright lit the Centennial candle and read an article on Grange services.

R. F. (Bill) Bailey showed slides taken on his trip through Germany, Austria, Holland and Switzerland.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Grace Durk and Mrs. Harold Hostead.

Sales Take Lots Of Pfaming

Filer arrangements must be made for quarters for stock for several days prior to the actual sale day.

Feed must be obtained and hauled to the sale site and the sponsoring group so that it will be available for purchase by the seller.

The same is true with the tons and tons of straw which are used for bedding in the stalls.

There is an office force to recruit for the sale day and for the various records that must be kept.

Prior to the day of sale all the animals are judged and a panel of men must be secured for visual physical defects.

About two days before the big event the trucks and trailers begin arriving. It takes time to prepare these big critters for the sale ring.

It's a revelation to watch these cattlemen shamoo these animals, oil their coats, and, in the case of Herefords, hitch the white on their tails and faces.

A thorough vacuuming removes bits of dirt and straw. This about completes the beauty treatment except for the final "teasing" of the hair on the tail to make it appear bushy.

So there is much more behind the scenes than meets the eye of the bidder listening to the auctioneer in the ring.

Then after the sales are completed and the shipping permits are issued, there remains the final cleaning up, which is a big job, to leave the barns almost empty and clean until the next sale activities begin.

THE NOW CLEAN, silky coat of the Hereford is thoroughly vacuumed to remove bits of straw and dirt. The beauty treatment these bulls receive before they enter the sales ring is surprising to the uninitiated. (Times-News photo)

Time Capsule To Contain Prediction Of Future Farms

SPOKANE — Will hormones and embryonic implants double the ranchers' calf crop by the year 2017?
Will the sex of calves be predetermined to meet market demands 50 years from now?
Will the land investment in the average farm business climb to a half million dollars in the next five decades?
By the year 2017, will farm and ranch operators be depending upon centralized computer centers to provide criteria for management decisions, farm programming and market analysis?

No one has the answers, but Lloyd A. Knutsen, president of the Federal Land Bank of Spokane and 11 other land bank presidents over the nation have taken a look into the future and predicted some things which today sound almost fantastic. Their forecasts, however, will not undergo an accuracy test until the year 2017.

Knutsen's prediction and those of the 11 other land bank presidents will be preserved in a stainless steel time capsule which will be buried March 27 at Larned, Kan., almost midway between the Atlantic and Pacific and the Canadian and Mexican borders.

The occasion is the golden anniversary of the Federal Land Bank System. Knutsen and his colleagues from throughout the United States will gather in Larned to join in a nationwide salute to "America's Farmers — Providers of Plenty."

The Kansas community was selected for a share of the national golden anniversary spotlight because of the first of the presently more than 700 Land Bank Associations in the United States were chartered at Larned March 27, 1917, and the first

Magic Group Opposes Tax Revaluation

SHOSHONE — Magic Grange members opposed the county tax revaluation program and a resolution to that effect was taken by the group recently to the meeting of Lincoln County Commissioners.

Decision to take the action was made at a meeting held at the Grange Hall. D. G. Mitchell reported on the agriculture committee work, urging farmers to buy new Lem-trucks for planting. He also announced the bean growers meeting to be held March 17 at the Rogerson Hotel, urging all to attend. Larry Tew reported on resolutions.

Welcome was given by Mrs. Louis Couch to new members, Mr. and Mrs. Art Osborn.

The new members were obligated by Lincoln-Blairstown-Pomona master, Dean Barney. Mr. Mitchell reported on a special committee meeting to evaluate the building and insurance. Mrs. Paul Bancroft reported on the insurance policy. Mrs. Mitchell read an article and told how to find what date Easter will fall on each year. The altar was decorated with Easter lilies. Mrs. George Horn gave a history of Easter.

Mrs. Couch gave the "Legend of the Dogwood Tree" and Mr. Mitchell gave a reading.

hanna County home economics agent; Mrs. John Burkhardt, Twin Falls; Mrs. Earl Schrank Wendell; Mrs. Harold Grant, Hazelton; and D. E. Warren, Moscow, state 4-H leader. Several aspects of 4-H leadership were explained at the forum.

Mrs. Burkhardt Returns From Area 4-H Leader Forum With New Ideas

New ideas for expanding the 4-H Club program in Twin Falls County were brought home by Mrs. John Burkhardt last week when she returned this week from the Western Regional 4-H Leader Forum held last week in Salt Lake City.

She was among the 218 local and state 4-H leaders from throughout the 13 western states to attend the Forum on "New Dimensions of Leadership in Expanding 4-H."

The highlight of the forum, Mrs. Burkhardt said, came at the closing banquet when the certificates of achievement were presented by J. C. Penney, 82-year-old founder of the J. C. Penney Co. It was a grant by Penney Co. that made possible for the National 4-H Club Foundation to conduct the forum. The local area representatives were handled by the Utah State University Cooperative Extension Services. The Federal Extension Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture, also assisted in the program.

The forum featured outstanding speakers, field trips and ample opportunity for discussion, she reported. In fact, it was the informal discussions that probably were the most useful elements of the forum, she added. It was in these sessions that the local leaders compared notes on "how-to-do-it" in their 4-H clubs. They quickly discovered the flexibility of 4-H to different community situations, yet found a broad common bond of interest in helping boys and girls.

Mrs. Burkhardt was discussion leader of a group led by Mr. Wing You Cheng, county extension agent and county 4-H coordinator of Hill, Harlow and

The keynote speaker for the forum was Utah's Extension Director, W. H. Bennett. He noted that while youth today face tremendous problems, these challenges present the greatest opportunities for youth and leaders of youth. "We still must get across to the young people that they can do with their lives just about what they want to do," Director Bennett urged.

Specialists from the 4-H division of the Federal Extension Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture, V. Joseph McAllister and Mrs. Fern E. Bennett encouraged the local leaders to find ways of expanding their

Changes In Dairy Policies Are Suggested

WASHINGTON—The National Milk Producers' Federation called on the U. S. Department of Agriculture to make four changes in dairy policy to assure the dairy farmer of a fair price for milk at the National Farm Policy Conference held recently in Washington.

At the meeting, called by the Johnson administration to hear suggestions from farm organization leaders on how to improve agricultural policy, the Federation called on the USDA to:

1. Advance price support levels to 90 per cent of parity, the maximum allowed by law, and to watch the parity index for opportunities to increase parity levels.
2. Hold nationwide hearings under the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937 to raise milk prices paid to farmers.
3. Program government requirements for dairy products on a yearly basis so dairy farmers' freshments at 9:30 a. m. and will end each day at 3 p. m.

Mrs. Ford challenged the leaders to "give new twists to established ideas." She then urged that a primary objective of work with 4-Hers to be help the members become "goal-oriented" in their daily lives. Creative vision, she said, is required to succeed in this work.

Mrs. Burkhardt will participate in the in the leader training sessions to be held March 30 and 31, at the Filer Grange Hall. The meetings will begin with re-

Booklets On Thistles Are Available

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow—Canada thistle can usually be eradicated in one year by thorough cultivation, according to University of Idaho agricultural scientists.

Recommendations for control are given in a new edition of the bulletin "Canada Thistle," published by the extension service. The county agent has free copies for farmers. The bulletin has been brought up to date and includes suggestions based on recent research with cultivation and chemicals.

The authors are Lawrence Pennington, a former research fellow; Robert E. Higgins, extension agronomist; and Lambert Erickson, College of Agriculture agronomist.

Canada thistle, the booklet points out, is Idaho's most widespread weed. It infests about 200,000 acres. It was probably brought to Idaho about 1850. Small patches grew near Boise and at Sandpoint in 1908. Areas of heaviest infestation today are the Upper Snake River Valley and Northern Idaho. The weed is spread mostly by crop seed and animal feed. Canada thistle seed is also spread by water systems. In crops such as alfalfa, the weed with chemicals.

Water Meet

The annual water forecast meeting will be held at 8 p.m. March 21 at the Hotel Grange Hall.

Simplest method consists of baking the soil mixture in an oven at 130 degrees for one-half hour.

A better idea is to use a "soilless" mixture consisting of sand, peat moss and vermiculite or perlite.

Small holes in the trunk of the tree means borers. They are the most common pest of fruit trees.

Most potting soils are teeming with fungi and bacteria which attack tiny seedlings and cuttings.

Rail Aide Comments On Rates

BOISE—The president of the Union Pacific Railroad repudiated a week to telegrams received from Idaho's U.S. Senators appraising the situation.

Idaho-Wheat-Commission Displeased With Rail Rates

BOISE — The Idaho-Wheat-Commission has telegraphed the Union Pacific Railroad its displeasure about reports that the railroad does not intend to reduce freight rates for shipment of Idaho grain to Pacific Northwest and California port terminals.

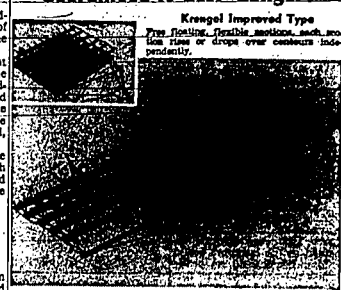

The telegraphed protest to the railroad was the latest in a series of actions taken by Idaho wheat growers, legislators and Gov. Don Samuelson to urge rate reductions for Idaho comparable to cuts granted to Midwest and Texas grain shippers.

Condition Of Range Feed Unchanged

BOISE—The condition of range feed still in use on March 1 showed no change from the previous month's rating of 75, reports the USDA crop and live stock reporting Service for Idaho.

The 1961-62 average is 79. The mid- and open-winter has changed the normal feeding operations which has held supplemental-feeding-to-a minimum, thereby conserving feed supplies.

Higher elevation ranges are still partially snow covered, but lower ranges are open and starting to "green" in sheltered areas.

Two Rupert Cows Listed In Report

RUPERT—Two Rupert Holstein cows' performance records have been listed in an official production testing report from Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

The animals and their actual production levels are: Veeman Stephanie, Carnation 536938, a 4-year-old Registered Holstein, has credits of 19,180 pounds milk, 663 pounds butterfat and 1,543 pounds solids-not-fat in 355 days; Piebe Colo Burke 5365634, a 4-year-old, had records of 16,690 pounds milk, 608 pounds butterfat and 1,391 pounds solids-not-fat in 355 days. Both are owned by Louis Bott and Sons, Rupert.

Production sampling and testing procedures were supervised by the University of Idaho in cooperation with official Holstein breed improvement programs.

The Holstein Association's testing program includes provisions for determining the SNF, nutrients, such as protein, lactose and minerals, found below the creamline of milk. This solids-not-fat output is credited to the lactation records of individual cows in the same manner as total milk and butterfat production.

Total nutrient testing was started in 1952 by the Holstein Association to provide breeders with another selection tool for improving the overall performance of cattle in their dairy herds. It is also a useful measure of milk's food value for dairy products processors and homemakers.

Specialization Is Predicted

WASHINGTON—Area specialization will increase in the next few years according to an economist at Pennsylvania State University.

C. W. Pierce says that grain meat areas will, in time, provide milk only for fluid use locally. "Lake states, Northeast and Pacific Northwest will supply most of the milk for manufactured dairy products," he concluded.

GRAIN PROGRAM NOTED
WASHINGTON—A total of 779,350 farms have aligned to participate in the 1967 feed grains program, the U.S. Department of Agriculture announced.

Bean Industry In U.S., Switzerland Is Compared

The Swiss manager of a bean brokerage corporation in Geneva, Switzerland, recently told members of the Western Bean Dealers Association that European beans have become increasingly quality conscious and welcome U.S. beans, but that competitive market price market timing extremely important.

Ernest F. Wattenhofer, manager of the Berger and Plate S.A. firm in Geneva, explained that the European bean market is affected by countries in the Asian, African and American continents and that many of these countries are both importers and exporters. Timing, he said, is important in selling increased amounts of U.S. beans abroad since frequently dealers in a country with a large harvest are temporarily restricted from exporting their beans.

"An important factor involved in the European market is the different governmental restrictions on aspects of various countries," he noted.

Mr. Wattenhofer also told the bean dealers that politics, tastes, quality and price are all important factors in the European bean market.

He emphasized that once U.S. beans are introduced abroad the demand for them increases because the quality is well liked. Weevil damage is a big problem in many European countries and Idaho beans, particularly, are free of this defect, he said.

"This is an important advantage for Idaho dealers," he commented.

The Maple Valley Bean Co., Kimberly, Berger and Plate S.A., are affiliates through their common parent company, Berger and Plate Co., San Francisco, Calif. While in Magic Valley, Mr. Wattenhofer visited the Kimberly company and commented on the differences and similarities between Idaho bean production and European production and varieties.

In discussing promotional possibilities of Idaho beans, Mr. Wattenhofer observed that Michigan has successfully promoted the pea beans in Europe and noted the considerable increases in sales because of the promotion.

He also stated that the Pinto bean, which is relatively unknown in Europe, might find a market, too. He added that he was going to "throw it open" to some Europeans this year and would cooperate with anyone who would like to help create a market for these beans.

CONSUMPTION RISES
WASHINGTON—Beef consumption in 1966 increased to 103 pounds per capita, up four pounds from 1965, an all-time record.

Cows Average 38 Pounds Of Butterfat

Dairy cows on production testing in Unit Two of the Twin Falls County Dairy Herd Improvement Association during February averaged 33 pounds of butterfat per cow and 1,019 pounds of milk, reports County Agent Donald Yous.

Production-figures-include all cows on test, including dry cows. The February report of Testing Supervisor Tom Bergstrom, Twin Falls, showed that 1,323 cows were on test, with 1,103 in production, and 200 dry cows.

In the large herds—over 50 cows, Eric Ehlers, Twin Falls, had the high production average of 37 pounds of butterfat, 1,229 pounds of milk, with 66 cows milking of a total of 70. Other large high producing herds with butterfat, milk, total are Blair Hall, Twin Falls, 47, 1,322, 53 and 50; T. W. Richmond, Buhl, 45, 1,292, 78 and 64; Alvin and J. Stan Smuty, Twin Falls, 44, 1,222, 136 and 115; Lawrence Kalkfisch, Filer, 43, 1,164, 52 and 43; Clyde Wright, Filer, 40, 1,143, 68 and 58, and Waller Mathiesen, Filer, 38, 115 and 102.

In the medium size herds of 25-50 cows, Russell Riggs, Murfreesburg, topped the list with 44, 1,118, 48 and 41. Next in line are W. H. Pearson, Hansen, 43, 1,187, 41 and 34; Dale Williams, Filer, 41, 1,061, 33 and 31; and Gene Randall, Kimberly, 40, 1,126, 33 and 31.

In the small herds, under 25 cows, Al-Bollh, Hansen, was high with 52, 1,355, 19 and 17.

IMPORTS INCREASE
WASHINGTON—U.S. Imports of meats totaled 872.4 million pounds during the past year, according to Foreign Agricultural Service. That's a 34 per cent jump over 1965.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture, which made the estimate, said that so far 47,850,000 hundredweight of the 1966 crop has been disposed of, including tubers which were discarded because of frost damage. This compared with 36,365,000 a year earlier.

In another report, the department said condition of range feed on March 1 was unchanged from that a year earlier, standing at 75. The average for March 1 in the preceding five years was 79.

PRE-EMPTIVE BID IS USEFUL TOOL

Opening bids of three and four in a suit are called pre-emptive bids or pre-empt. They show a one-suit hand that will take a lot of tricks with that suit as trump but very few tricks against an opponent's trump.

In general, the bid also de-doesn't expect to make three spades unless his partner can give him three tricks but if he can't make three spades he is sure that his opponents can make a contract of their own.

South could have a slightly better hand. In general, the three bid shows six to seven playing tricks when not vulnerable and seven when vulnerable. South only has six.

Left to themselves, East and West would bid and probably make four hearts. If West takes his life in his hands and does bid four hearts, a spade lead will probably defeat him. It will be up to North to continue by winning the first heart and playing ace and another club but that won't be too difficult.

Dear Past Bolling Point: If your reporting is accurate, if there are no important details you've omitted, then the teacher certainly overstepped the bounds. But before making a front office report, try to consider if it's worth the fuss you'll raise. Will a forced apology cause the teacher to seek re-employment in a lower grade? Will your girl friend and get a student hardly ever gets the top hand in a squabble with a teacher who'll later be evaluating him? Perhaps you'd be wise to talk things over with your favorite teacher, before you make any petitions, etc.—Ele and Walt.

American Farm Bureau Raps Increased Price-Squeezing

CHICAGO—Concern over the worsening cost-price squeeze on farmers was expressed here today by the board of directors of the American Farm Bureau Federation in its regular quarterly session in the Pick-Congress Hotel.

The 27-member board, which represents 1,703,000 members in 15 states, said that about 70 per cent of the food commodities moving to market, said that "steadily declining farm prices and increasing production costs have created an extremely serious situation in the farm economy with far-reaching implications to consumers."

The board issued the following statement: "Farm prices have declined 7.4 per cent since mid-August, 1966, and the drop of one per cent during the month ending February 15, was the sixth consecutive monthly price decline reported by the U. S. Department of Agriculture."

"February farm production costs showed a decline of one-tenth of one per cent from the record high in January, but were still three per cent over a year ago."

"The parity ratio which reflects the relationship between the price received by farmers and the cost of things they buy for production dropped to 74 per cent as compared with 82 per cent in mid-February a year ago."

"Farmers are naturally concerned over the steady deterioration in farm prices, but are even more dismayed over skyrocketing production expenses which they attribute to increasing labor costs stimulated by fiscal restrictions on the part of the Administration."

"At the recent farm policy conference in Washington, President Johnson acknowledged that farmers are caught in a bind between higher production costs and stable or lowering prices for their farm commodities. However, he gave no indication that the Administration planned a change in its inflationary 'guns and butter' policy."

Goals Listed By Minidoka Soil District

RUPERT—Officers of the Minidoka Soil Conservation district have listed their goals and plans for the coming year, including updating of the district's soil maps and reports.

The district also plans to cooperate with the Forest Service, watershed and flood control projects, and the Columbia Basin Resources Council.

Other goals include support of the FH and FHA fat stock sale, sponsorship of two boys to Alpine Conservation Camp, give assistance to the Idaho Fish and Game Commission on wildlife habitat plantings, attend District Four JCS meetings, enter the Goodyear contest, publish six issues of the district newsletter, select an outstanding conservation farmer, sponsor a supervisors-and-sons camping trip, sponsor conservation field days, prepare a group farm plan, and sponsor soil stewardship week.

James Renfro presided at last week's planning meeting. Vern Hacking reported 149 ACP permits received at the SCS office, with 92 additional participants telephoning. The ACP programs, which allow for land or crop improvement programs, must be approved by the SCS officers—and Hacking said—with the high degree of interest has been some difficulty in getting around to all the requests, but they are being handled on a "first-come, first-served" basis.

Hacking was also in charge of a soil stewardship program which was presented last month to the Ministerial Association. The district has ordered booklets and related materials for each participating church.

Representatives of the Idaho Fish and Game Department, Arnie Coleman and Mel Carlson, will attend the April meeting of the district to show films on wildlife habitat.

Evaluation Meet Set By Hereford Unit

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — A thorough investigation of the close ranking "visual appraisal" and the performance potential for beef production in breeding herds, feedlots and in the carcass, will highlight a Hereford Beef Cattle Evaluation Conference sponsored by the American Hereford Association on June 15 and 16 in Kansas City, Mo. This unique event is open for the attendance of all interested persons.

"Breeders and educators who judge livestock shows, as well as other registered and commercial Hereford breeders concerned with breed improvement, are seeking information on new and modern methods for evaluating their herds," stated Paul Swartz, secretary of the world's largest beef registry organization.

"We feel a conference of this nature will be of tremendous importance to judges of breeding cattle and steers, as well as to all cattlemen using Herefords in their breeding herds."

Elected

MALTA — Lorenzo Tracy, Malta, was elected watermaster of the Upper Raft River Irrigation District 8-B at the annual meeting.

Frank Olson, Bridge, served as chairman of the meeting and Charles Warr is secretary.

Planting Rises

BOISE (AP) — Idaho farmers have indicated they will plant 2,700 acres of onions this year, 55 per cent more than the average in the past five years, the U. S. Department of Agriculture reported.

Nuclear Gauge

NEW YORK — A nuclear sediment gauge, now available commercially, can make fast, inexpensive checks on sediment pollution in streams and rivers.

A weak radioactive signal, harmless to aquatic life, is measured automatically as it passes alternately through the stream water and a container of distilled water attached to the gauge.

Sediment particles weaken the intensity of the signal, and the concentration of sediment can thus be calculated.

Wood-River Grange Okays State Budget

SHOSHONE — Wood River Center Grange members have gone on record supporting Gov. Don Samuelson's budget and will send a letter to him asking that he hold down state spending.

The group met recently at the Grange hall north of Shoshone. Mrs. and Mrs. Ira Kissler, Gooding, were guests.

Mrs. Kissler, state lecturer, spoke on goals and awards of the grange and announced National Grange week for April 17-21.

Review of the special stamp being issued in recognition of the Grange centennial was given. Credit Unions were discussed by Kissler.

Mrs. and Mrs. Waldo Jones reported attending the Idaho Power Company banquet. Mrs. Donald Sandy read a history of St. Patrick's day.

Mrs. S. M. Hall played several Irish numbers on the piano. Winners of games were Mrs. Hall and R. B. Kelley.
