WASHINGTON (AP)—The Communist Party has admitted using a sizable portion of more than $400,000 in political funds to improve the living conditions of its members. It is lucky in a sense because it is not as interesting as the fact that the party's funds are being used to improve the living conditions of its members. Washington Viewpoint

BY BRUCE BLOSSAT

WASHINGTON (NEA)—The self-denying decision merely to apply the terms of the executive order. Calvin Coolidge took over from the deceased Warren Harding in the White House through the death of a president has observed the "custom" of not seeking a second full term.

One intimate White House observer states that time described Coolidge as deeply chagrined when the 1928 convention chose Herbert Hoover as GOP nominee.

As for Harry Truman, he served all but two months of Franklin Roosevelt's fourth term, plus his own one-year term in 1949. The decision he made in 1952 not to seek a second full term was a born in unique circumstances never likely to be repeated.

What it boils down to, then, is that what Coolidge seems to have made the kind of self-denying presidential decision that has become a general custom. And there is doubt how firmly he meant to stick.

Another Chance?

Legislation which, if it gets through Congress, will affect many farmers in the Magic Valley area has been introduced in the House of Representatives.

Known as the Wheat and Feed Grains Act of 1967, the bill would remove the Commodity Credit Corporation from direct purchases and sales in grain markets and would restore market conditions in American grains production.

It would continue to provide many farmers in Magic Valley because of the amount of wheat and feed grains produced in this area.

As a result, it is estimated that the 1967 carryover of wheat will be down to 400 million bushels in comparison with the record high of 4.1 million bushels in 1961.

The American Farm Bureau Federation in the face of this improvement in wheat production has never been better to get the government out of the grain business.

There are claims that termination of the present feed grain and wheat programs would result in a loss of production of these crops. We doubt this.

Many things come into through proposals that would come through passage of this law are concerned. Emotion—and party lines—get into the act.

TWO DEFENSES

The most fascinating thing about his attitude is its striking contrast to what might loosely be called the ethics of business.

First, he has claimed that the funds used for personal living expenses were intended as tax-free gifts and not as contributions to his campaign.

PAID TWICE — It is not necessary to pass judgment on Tom Dodd to wonder out loud what in tarmon was going on in his office.

POOR ON $30,000 A YEAR — That plain citizen also can be excused if he ponders the article which lists the beneficiaries of the CCC's contribution was into a gift because the Senator was too busy serving the country to make a living.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: I am in the United States Navy. I love the service, but most of all, I love my parents. Before I came to the service I felt I knew just about everything. I was sure my parents no longer needed me, and all I could think of was the day I would be "on my own."

The first time I realized how much my parents cared was the day they took me to the train depot to see me off. When my father said goodbye to me, he broke down and cried. I had never seen my father cry before, and I won't forget it as long as I live. I have had a lot of time to think. I never told my father I loved him, and I gave both my parents a hard time when they tried to guide me for my own good.

Now I write home every chance I get, and I am trying to make up for all the heartaches I must have caused them, and for my failure to be a better son. When my next leave comes up I am going home and get acquainted with my wonderful parents. I have written this letter in hopes that other thoughtless teen-agers will wake up before it's too late. Thanks, Abby, for letting me get this out of my chest.

D. H. H. SAN DIEGO

DEAR ABBY: I have nine grandchildren. I send each one a check for five dollars on his birthday, as well as at Christmas. I am distressed. One month cashes them, and keeps the money herself. The children do not even know that I have sent them a gift.

Very soon a birthday is due. I love these children, my social life is small, but I still want to see these children. How can I prevent the mother from grabbing it? The children are junior and high school students.

GRANDMA

DEAR GRANDMA: If you can get the children the CASI, personally, do so. If you must mail your gift conceal the five-dollar bill in a card, and ask each one to let you know how he has spent his money. The mother obviously cannot be trusted. So don't trust her.

Clay-Bonavena Title Bout Set For Tokyo May 27, if Champion Avoids Draft

NEW YORK (AP)—Most of the contracts are signed for the Cassius Clay-Oscar Bonavena heavyweight title fight in Tokyo May 27 but it's still up to the courts and Uncle Sam whether the champion will do any fighting in the ring for the next couple of years. "The draft is the only major obstacle," said Herbert Muhammad, Thursday before leaving for Chicago.

WSU, Idaho Win In Baseball Tourney

LEWISTON, Idaho (AP)—Washington State began defense of its Bonana Belt Baseball Tournament title on a strong note Thursday, defeating eastern Washington 4-1 and Lewis-Clark Normal School 5-0 in opening day play. In other downed Eastern Washington 2-1, regarding WSU's fifth straight title bid, defeated College of Idaho 8-1 and Gonzaga edged Montana 3-2.

Vikings Split, T.F. Bows In Boise Tests

BOISE (AP)—Twin Falls and Valley high baseball teams managed to just a 2-0 record in a pair of doubleheaders against Boise State and Borah nines Thursday afternoon. The Bruins lost to Borah 14-3 and to Boise 2-1, while Valley dropped an 8-6 decision to the Braves and handed the Lions a 1-0 defeat.

Borah pounded four Twin Falls pitchers for 17 hits with Jim Talbot's three-run homer being the highlight of an eight-run sixth inning uprising. Twin watched Boise score the go-ahead run in the bottom of the fifth and then darkness halted the game. Both clubs scored singleton runs in the sixth. Phil Gettach and Wilson battled until the fifth, then Boise showed over the winning lead.

Valley nearly pulled the Boise game out of the fire in the late innings after the Braves had taken a 7-1 lead with five in the second and a pair in the fifth. Valley scored four times in the sixth and then a single tally in the seventh, but the rally died there.

Against Borah, it was Andrus who the way and he spaced four hits. Valley erupted for three tallies in the top of the fifth and that put the game out of reach for Borah. The Lions got back one in the seventh, but that was all.

Two big innings brought Idaho from behind and gave the Vandals a victory over College of Idaho, trailing 1-0. Idaho picked up their runs in the sixth on a walk, Doyle Demand's single, Rich Toney's triple and an infield out. The Vandals added more in the sixth on doubles by Steve Garman and Wally Poscy and a single by Skip Levy.

In winning the game, Levy retired 17 of the last 18 batters he faced, and struck out eight. Friday morning WSU meets Seattle, College of Idaho meets Gonzaga and Idaho plays Montana. In the afternoon, Idaho meets Colby. Eastern plays Lewis-Clark and Montana plays College of Idaho.

City Fights To Keep Athletics

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A number of Kansas City businessmen are plying up to $10,000 worth of advertising in an order to keep the Athletics' major league baseball team here.

"If the team has good attendance, reasonable ticket sales and good broadcasting revenue," Kansas City Mayor Ius-Davis said, "then we will be in a good position to negotiate to keep the franchise here next year."

The A's contract with the city expires at the end of the season in the city. The fiery A's owner, Charles Finley, has tried to move the club to various cities, including Louisville, Oakland and Seattle.

CLAY
The fight, if Clay is permitted to leave the country, will be held late that night and will be seen on home television in the United States on ABC's Wide World of Sports.

Jin, too, said most of the obstacles have been cleared "except for the draft situation. I am hopeful of putting on the fight."

For a change, there wasn't much of a controversy, if any, following Clay fight.

Some of the critics weren't impressed by the power of Clay's short right hand punch that first dropped Foley in the fourth round and then finished him off at 1:38 of the seventh round at Madison Square Garden.

Foley, whose chin never was noted for its strength, was impressed, however. He had been knocked out six times.

"I remember the end of the fight was a right-right on the chin," said the mild-mannered, polite, 33-year-old challenger.

"After that I just don't remember. There is no one around today who can beat him. I know, I've fought them all."

"They were just lucky punches," Clay joked. "I know, everyone knows I can't punch."

It was the seventh title defense within a year and the ninth in all for the all-conquering Clay, who has to be rated with the great champions. He stands out over his field for a 14-0 record.

At 25, he has a 23-0 record; 6-foot-3, weight 212½ pounds and, on the say-so of the old-time fighters, is the fastest heavyweight ever. Clay agrees completely, naturally.

"Foley was a 7½ underdog against Clay and there was virtually no betting on outcome."

"I'd be surprised if more than a $10 bill was bet on Foley to win," said a Broadway bettor. Bonavena would have to be rated 100-1.

The stocky, muscular, 24-year-old Argentine was 13 months outcashed by Foley in a 16-round at the Garden nearly 13 months ago. Foley hit him with so many left jabs that even a computer couldn't count them all.

CONTRACT GETS IN BEST HAND

While two diamonds is the negative response to an artificial two club opening there is no rule that you can't respond two diamonds with a pretty good hand.

North has an ace and two kings and is interested in getting trump because he counts 33 or 34 high card points for the partnership.

Poor West has to lead against the no-trump slam and will probably pick the eight of clubs. This will spoil any chance for East to get a very nice lead out of his jack of clubs but it is definitely

South will still have plenty of problems but his best play will be to start by winning the club in his hand, cashing dummy's ace and king of that suit, leading a spade to his king, cashing his last club and then playing out his ace and jack of spades.

West will be in with the queen and have to lead away from one of his aces. Either lead will give declarer his twelfth trick.

Of course, South had plenty of other lines of play at his disposal but this one is most logical. The important thing to note is that if North were declarer at six no-trump and East were to open anything but a club, North would probably go down.

ting to slam the moment he hears South's two club opening but he has no convenient positive response. He has no suit to bid and no reason to want to declare at a no-trump contract.

North's best bet is to mark time by responding with two diamonds.

When South rebids two no-trump to show 23 or 24 high card points and a no-trump hand, North has no further problem. He moves directly to six no-

Rapping His Mouth Is No Answer At All!

Dear Walt: The girl I'm dating now was previously dating a buddy of mine. My name and I aren't close friends but we have had some good times together.

Dear Emily: You take a grape, section of tangerine or whatever. In your mouth, eat the fruit, and then raise your cupped hand to your mouth to receive the seeds, and then deposit the seeds on the plate. Obviously this is "faster than a simply machine-gunning the seeds in a semi-squid to the plate" hoping to land in the troy area of a spoon at ease, now?

—Ele and Walt.

GRUPE OF THE WEEK

Dear Ele: I have a problem that is common to teenagers, it's leading. Whenever I go to comb my hair or put on my make-up in the rest room after physical education, I am plagued with numerous borrowers.

I've not real picky and I don't want my friends to think I'm an extremist in cleanliness, but I do have a serious way to drop on my lipstick or their hair on my brush.

I've tried everything even resorting to buying a double supply of cosmetics, one for the borrowers and one for me—but it's just too expensive. Please tell me a serious way to drop a hint telling others that I don't want them borrowing my things, without making them resent me.

—Piggy Back.

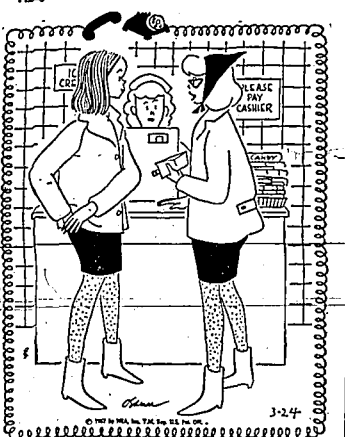

Dear Lender: Dermatologists (skin doctors) groan at the indiscriminate loaning of cosmetics, and say that trading lipsticks is not one which lets "exchanging" toothbrushes (used!).

So practice this phrase 100 times in private: "I don't believe in sharing such personal items. I hope you'll understand!" And then put it to use the next time a person tries to drop or casual acquaintance tries to bum you. If you don't have the guts to do this, sign your next letter "Mother's-Right".

Complain? Share it with the Dulaneys by writing in care of this newspaper. It might win feature spot as gripe of the week.

WHAT TO DO WITH GRAPESEEDS

Dear Dulaneys: The other day my friend and I were eating grapes and came to the conclusion that neither of us knew the correct way to dispose of grape pits and still seem like young ladies. What exactly is the proper way to dispose of the seed that comes in grapes, water-melons, oranges, tangerines, and the other such fruits?—Emily.

Daytona Beach Is Sudsless

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Unless a beer-laden freighter goes aground here before week's end, the 1967 season of spring vacation for thousands of thirsty collegians stands to come off as mild as a May dance.

The new face of Daytona Beach is sudsless — leaving only bikinis, sun and sand as the surviving symbols of the annual student pilgrimage.

And the students don't like it. The villains in this tragedy are the city fathers whose "beer ban" came after they watched students from 35 states last spring take their last penny to the town's taverns and motels.

That's right, no more beer on the beach.

"Daytona's dead," said Boston College law student Bob Sakakenn, 24. "The city spent all that money advertising suds and sand, now they've taken the suds away."

The ban on beer has changed the "entire picture," said Lt. Curtis Reid, chief of the police beach detail. "Last year you couldn't walk through the beer cans. Yesterday from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. there were only five arrests. This is the best year yet."

But collegians who bummed, borrowed and bought their way thousands of miles to the fabled 23 miles of "beach and no beer" are more than a little disgruntled.

The over-21 crowd has been driven "underground" to smoky bars and motels where girl watching is impossible. They languish away trying to decide between booze and beach.

Despite the beer ban, which apparently went unenforced in 14 Reid estimated 20,000 collegians were on-hand — and twice that number would show up by Easter Sunday.

Man Convicted

Police Judge Harry Turner, Twin Falls, found Jerry Rarrett, 31, Twin Falls, guilty Thursday of attempting to dissuade or prevent attendance of a witness. He was sentenced to 30 days in the city jail following the trial before Judge Turner. Prosecuting Attorney Michael Felton who signed the complaint charged the man with attempting to influence a state jury against presenting testimony in another case in police court.

Cavaliers Riding Club Elects Heads

BURLEY — The Cavaliers, a family riding club composed of members from Cassia and Minidoka Counties, elected officers recently in the conference room of the Idaho Bank and Trust building.

Wayne Hayden was named president; Dale Donnan, vice president; Mrs. Jack Brandon Jr., secretary, and Mrs. Roland Glorfield, treasurer.

The group viewed a film on horsemanship. Discussion was held on plans of extra activities for the coming year. Special events include trail rides every two weeks during the summer, along with the regular daily summer evening rides at the fairgrounds and drill team activities.

Area fans of the equestrian sport formed the organization in January, 1968, and now have a roster of over 60 members. A year-round program of activities is held designed to interest all ages of every member of the family. Drill teams for men, women and children have been organized with the result that the organization has been represented in several fairs and rodeos throughout the area.

An invitation has been extended by the club to all persons interested in riding, and having their own mount to join the group.

Cassia County Dairy Unit Has Annual Meet

By GEORGIA LAYTON
Times-News Correspondent

BURLEY — Cassia County Dairy Herd Improvement Association held a luncheon recently at Nelson's Cafe for their annual meeting. Jack Gochneur, president, welcomed members and guests.

Mr. Gochneur presented Bryce Alfred a gold watch from the association for his outstanding service to the association for the past five years as supervisor.

Cassia county dairymen received some excellent pointers on correcting Dairy problems and increasing production from their Dairy enterprises during the meeting.

Guest speakers were George Cleveland, University of Idaho Extension Dairyman, Boise; and Dr. Phil Hinz, consulting Veterinarian for Cache Valley Breeding Association, Logan. Dr. Hinz is a specialist in breeding problems of livestock and acted as a speaker for the Burley meeting through the courtesy of Cache Valley Breeding Association.

"Most cows do not receive enough feed or nutrients to produce their full potential, especially in the early part of their milking period when milk production is highest," Cleveland remarked.

He recommends more grain during the critical period of the last month of the dry period and the first 100 days of lactation. This in a large part determines the level of production for that lactation period.

Cleveland also stressed the fact that the dairymen of today must pay more attention to management than ever before. Timing hay harvest for higher nutrient content of the crop, correcting problems, all of which are of management nature.

Dr. Hinz spoke to the group on water, and eliminating as much as possible, disease and breeding problems, all of which are of management nature.

Farmers May Not Produce Sufficient Grain This Year

By OVID A. MARTIN
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farmers may not produce sufficient grain this year to restore reserves to the levels the government deems desirable.

An Agriculture Department survey of farmers planting plans released Monday indicated the acreage of corn and sorghums — major grain vital for production of meats, poultry and dairy products — will be increased about 6.5 million acres, or about six million less than the department recommended.

The survey showed, however, wheat plantings will be in line with the department's goal of 80 million acres — an increase of 32 per cent over last year. This acreage could produce the largest wheat crop of record, providing weather is favorable.

The survey showed farmers intend to plant 316 million acres to all crops this year, an increase of 18 million over last year. Officials had opened the door under crop control to an increase of up to 30 million acres.

Department reports showed increases over last year in planting will be as follows: Corn 6.6 per cent above last year; durum wheat 20.9 per cent; spring wheat other than durum 16.6 per cent; dried peas 3.6 per cent, and sugar beets 2.9 per cent.

Cost-Sharing Proposal For Fencing OK'd

LEAGUE CITY, Tex. — Cost-sharing for fencing cropland under certain conditions has been approved by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

It is designed to help retain permanent grass and legume cover on cropland which cannot be used for grazing because of the lack of fences.

In announcing the new ACP practice, ASCS said it was prompted by concern expressed in several states that the current situation with regard to wheat and other grains may lead to the breaking out of substantial acreages of cropland now in permanent vegetative cover which, from a long-term resource standpoint, should remain in conservation cover.

Fred Stutz, Brooklyn, N. Y., Hammett, has purchased in sire owned by Mr. and Mrs. Bates.

Hatcheries Down

Washington (AP) — The number of chick hatcheries operating in this country has declined 18 per cent during the last two years.

The Agriculture Department said the number in business on Jan. 1 this year was 1,572, down 435 from two years earlier. The decline was said to have been general throughout the country.

How to get effective wireworm control in potatoes with Diazinon.

You can use either a band or broadcast application of Diazinon insecticide and get sure, effective control of potato wireworms, including strains which are resistant to some other insecticides.

The broadcast application should be applied within one week of planting and worked into the top 4 to 8 inches or more of soil. Or you can band Diazinon when planting your crop, again working the Diazinon in with a fertilizer attachment to a depth of 3 to 6 inches along both sides of the row. Either way, you'll get dependable control of wireworms without residue problems in your potatoes, or in crops like sugar beets.

With Diazinon restrictions on enter treated have to wear clothing or with Diazinon cides, read directions.

Cassia Dairy Herd Group Has Meeting

nutrition and mineral balance and effect.
He pointed out that through work he had done and kept records the length of time before the cow would conceive and give birth to another calf was known.
Cleveland stressed the value of the Dairy-Herd Improvement Association milk test and record system and pointed out the extra value the association member would get out of the program by making use of the DHI Centers Service at Washington State University.
He said that "soon now the record would show a closely accurate projected lactation period for each milking year after the first two months of the period were introduced into the machine. There is a tremendous amount of information included on the record at present, and soon the center would be able to process the information almost twice as fast as it is presently doing."
Cleveland also stated that the length of the testing program now were showing very rapid improvement in production and management practices.
In comparing production of cows now on test and cows not on test it shows that the Dairy Herd Improvement Association tested cow to be producing an excess of 12,000 pounds of milk per year and cows not on test at a level of between eight and nine thousand pounds of milk production.
Within the Cassia unit itself there is a big improvement over the past few years. In 1964 there were 23 herds tested during the year with a total of 923 cows. The average pounds of milk produced per cow was 12,196 pounds compared to 11,423 pounds in 1965 and 11,200 pounds in 1966. The average percent of fat remained the same for the last three years. In 1966 the fat content was 4.45 percent; in 1965, it was 4.45, and 4.18 pounds in 1964.
The high producing herds tested this year were Clarence Phillips with an average of 624 pounds of fat; Jack Gochour averaging 531 pounds of fat; and Richmond with 504 pounds of fat.
Herds under 20 cows were Ray Zollinger with an average of 525 pounds of fat; and Richmond with 493 and Gerald Gochour with 469 pounds.
In 1965 there were 14 towns in the Association that produced in excess of 600 pounds of fat with the highest cow producing 689 pounds of fat and 2039 pounds of milk in 305 days.
In 1966 there were 25 cows in the Association producing an average in excess of 600 pounds of better fat. The highest of which produced 710 pounds of milk and 807 pounds of fat in 303 days. This cow is owned by Jack Gochour.
Besides Mr. Gochour, other member owners of cows in the 600 pounds plus fat group are Clarence Phillips, Gerald Gochour, C. H. Sutton, Blair Gochour, Rex Gerratt, and Willard Gowers, all living in the Burley and Declo areas of Cassia County.
The group held director elections with Rex Gerratt elected for a two-year term and George Brady elected for a three-year term.
Vaughn Stoker, Holdover directors are C. H. Sutton, and Clarence Phillips. Bruce Alfred is supervisor for the association in Cassia County.

Soil District Has Annual Spring Event

The annual spring banquet was held for members of Division four, Idaho Association of Soil and Water Conservation District in the Rogerson Hotel Roundup Room.
Sponsoring the event was the newly organized Snake River Water and Waters Conservation District. Division four is made up of twelve units in southwestern Idaho.
Glen Nelson, division director indicated the chairman of each district and also gave a report on the state convention held in Caldwell last fall and also the National convention held last month in Cincinnati.
Several resolutions were read and adopted during the business meeting.
Speaking was Doyle Scott, Boise, State Soil Conservation Commission. The importance of soil and water conservation was his topic.
Peter Taylor, Boise, assistant state conservator, told of the work in the western states.
Ralph Samson, Boise, state extension services, told about the extension work of setting up youth camps in the state. He said Alpine Camp will be held soon in S.L.I.
After the banquet and meeting Mr. and Mrs. Dick Stafford showed slides of soil conservation practices in Europe, Asia and Africa. Of particular interest to the group were pictures showing rock-ditch terraced vineyards in Germany, France and Switzerland and pictures of cedar seedlings in Lebanon which will replant the hillsides that have been bare for several hundred years.
Mr. and Mrs. Stafford showed a 10-acre terraced vineyard along the Nile River where she has raised the level of the land 20 feet during the past 4,000 years. In Greece, farmers were shown planting grain between rows of olive trees.

Pfizer Discovers Enzyme To Replace Animal Rennet In Cheese Production

NEW YORK — For centuries animal rennet has been the standard milk coagulant for making cheese. Now Pfizer scientists have discovered a way to replace the traditional animal source of rennet without changing the normal cheese-making procedure.
The invention is the first commercially available, fermentation-derived, milk-clotting enzyme made by a pure culture process. As a total or partial replacement for rennet, it can help free the multi-million dollar cheese industry from its dependence on an unpredictable animal source of supply.
According to Pfizer, cheeses made from Sure-Curd are characterized by flavor, body and texture fully comparable to that obtained when animal rennet is used. Changes in the Federal Standards of Identity are effective to permit its use in Cheddar, washed curd, Colby, granular and Swiss cheeses.
Animal rennet is made from the fourth stomach of milk-fed calves. Since the supply varies seasonally, prices are subject to extreme fluctuation. Over the years a number of rennet substitutes have been tried. Of these, only pepsin has proved commercially acceptable, even though only as a partial replacement. Vegetable and microbial enzyme materials developed as rennet substitutes in the past have proven unsatisfactory because, while they may coagulate milk, they often produce bitter flavors.
Such problems are overcome, Pfizer says, by enzyme derived from a strain of Endothia parasitica species. Its unique activity was discovered after an exhaustive screening of hundreds of enzyme-yielding microorganisms from one of the world's largest culture collections maintained at the company's research laboratories in Groton, Conn. In-plant field testing was conducted for four years.
Sure-Curd, Pfizer's fermentation-derived milk-coagulant is covered by U.S. Patent 3,278,483. The patent was assigned to Pfizer by Dr. Joseph L. Sardi, of Gales Ferry, Connecticut, a microbiologist in Groton research laboratories. The patent claims a proteolytic milk-clotting enzyme, a process for producing the novel enzyme, and a process for making cheese using the enzyme.
Plant evaluation tests indicate that Sure-Curd accelerates curdling in aged Cheddar cheese, may have at six months of age the flavor, body and texture of a cheese usually judged to be 10 to 12 months old. Mild Cheddar also shows an accelerated curdling rate; at four weeks cheese made with Sure-Curd has been rated as equivalent in flavor, body and texture to cheese made with animal rennet after six to eight weeks of storage.
Sure-Curd is a standardized, free-flowing powder which gives a fresh high-performance product when dissolved in water. Immediately before use.
Development of Sure-Curd is the latest in a series of advances from Pfizer's food research

Survey Of Spring Crop Planting Plans Released

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department releases today a survey of farmers' spring crop planting plans.
The survey will give a good indication as to whether growers plan to increase production of wheat and corn as much as the government had requested. Larger crops are sought because grain surpluses have been disposed of in meeting larger foreign and domestic market demands.
The survey will be at the home of Diane Bodily, April 14. The group plans to meet monthly.

Party Held

HANSEN — The Lucky Cloverettes 4-H Club held a St. Patrick's and Easter Party at the home of Kathy Vawser, with Kathy as the hostess.
The next meeting will be at the home of Diane Bodily, April 14. The group plans to meet monthly.

Idaho Farm Bureau Joins Other Groups In Urging Lower Rail Rates On Wheat

POCATELLO — The Idaho Farm Bureau Federation joined with other farm groups in Idaho urging the Union-Pacific and Northern Pacific Railroads to lower grain rates from Idaho. The Board of Directors, meeting in Pocatello, recognized that grain and other farm commodities in all parts of Idaho are invited and that Idaho grain growers are being discriminated against on freight rates as compared to mid-west and coast growers.
The record shows that wheat from mid-west areas can be shipped through Idaho to the West Coast at a much lower rate than our Idaho wheat. We don't understand the rate differential because the same railroad tracks carry the same type loads but at very different rates. It is a matter of policy, said Monroe Hays, Twin Falls, president of Idaho Farm Bureau, said all of the wheat grown in North Idaho moves to export channels with more of the grain from southern Idaho finding importance in export outlets all the time.

Competitive grain growing areas have been moving into traditional Idaho markets with rate concessions made by the railroads. For example, the Northern Pacific, Union-Pacific and SP&S railroads reduced their grain rates from the Pasco area to Portland in 1966 and go on record favoring immediate and equitable action to protect our grain markets. The railroads presented testimony in hearings that, de-waiving such action.

Shoshone Is Winner Of FFA Contest

HAZELTON-EDEN—Winners are announced after FFA contests last week at Valley High School.
There were 18 chapters represented with six-boy teams competing for the state contest to be held on April 9-13 in Burley, on parliamentary procedure.
Shoshone was selected the top winner after participation by youths from Murtaugh, Burley and Carey.
Judges for the parliamentary procedure contest were Jim Benson, Wendell, Lee Jackson, Carey, and C. H. Sutton. Winners selected for the public speaking contest and their judges are Chris Mahoney, Shoshone, "American Heritage," first; Ronnie Estep, Hazelton; second; Tom Ambrose, Wendell.
The survey will give a good indication as to whether growers plan to increase production of wheat and corn as much as the government had requested. Larger crops are sought because grain surpluses have been disposed of in meeting larger foreign and domestic market demands.

Requirements Given For Fair Exhibits

SHOONE—Members of the Lincoln County 4-H Action Club are reminded by county extension agent, Ivan Hopkins, of exhibit requirements for the county fair to be held Aug. 35.

These are the project book, two best posters made during the course, one model or poster that the member makes.

The certificate of achievement, pin and fair premiums will be awarded during the county achievement meeting in mid-October, the agent said.

He also invites all TV 4-H members who are interested in continuing projects to contact his office, or write him or Mrs. Mary Lou Ruby, the home economics agent, Box 158, Shoone.

4-H club camp will be held July 8-11 at the South Central Idaho 4-H camp.

Grange Will Give Special Prize At Fair

FILER — In honor of the 10th anniversary of National Grange, a special prize of $25 will be awarded at the Twin Falls County Fair to the grange with the best booth dedicating the anniversary.

Tom Shouse, secretary-manager of the fair board, made the announcement of the prize at Friday evening's Filer Grange meeting.

Mrs. Roscoe Walker, a safety chairman, spoke on the dangers of power lawn mowers and warned people that with spring arrival and outdoor work beginning, people should take special pains to avoid accidents. She noted that in 1968 more than 100,000 people in the United States were injured in accidents involving power mowers.

Members discussed the National Grange cookbook contest and voted to enter three dessert recipes in the contest. The cookbooks will be on sale after the contest.

A letter from Sen. Francis Power was read in which he discussed the discrimination in bargaining power of potato growers, and also a letter on lower freight rates on grain in shipment.

At the April 7 meeting of the Grange, Pat Krepick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Krepick, who has just returned from duty in Vietnam, will show pictures and relate his experiences there. The films will be shown at 8 p.m. prior to the main Grange meeting on the auditorium.

Ted Glassing showed a film on the Dew Line, which explains the installation and workings of radar. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Sharp served refreshments.

Hearing Set On BLM Land Withdrawal

BOISE — A public hearing regarding the proposed withdrawal of 4,200 acres of public land will be held in the State Capitol Building, Room 420, Boise, at 10:00 a.m. May 22.

Joe T. Fullin, state director for the Bureau of Land Management announced here today that the BLM plans to withdraw these public lands from all forms of appropriation under the Public Land and Mining Laws. These lands located on the Platteau desert southwest of Glenns Ferry are used as an experimental range pasture research area.

A considerable number of projects were filed. The Bureau determined that a hearing should be held to discuss the merits of the proposed withdrawal. This will allow the opponents and proponents to present their views at a public hearing. All persons are welcome to attend the hearing and present oral or written views. The hearing will be conducted by a Bureau hearings examiner from Salt Lake City. Anyone desiring to be heard in person at the hearing is asked to file a written notice with the State Director, Bureau of Land Management, P.O. Box 2237, Boise, Idaho 83701, not later than May 15.

HOME GROWN BANANAS:

Did you know you can grow edible bananas in your home? Don't give up your paying job in hopes of making a career out of growing, however. It's not that easy.

I always thought banana seed was sterile. In my mail today came a batch of seed from the United Fruit Co. which will grow in my own green house. Commercially, bananas are not propagated from seed but rather from a root stalk or rhizome. Seed is a mixture of sand, peat and vermiculite.

Temperature is tricky for starting banana seed. You alternate temperatures between 60 degrees and 90 degrees. Alternate between 12 to 18 hours at 60 degrees and 6 to 12 hours at 90 degrees. For high temperature place in a tray and for cooler temperature place near window during the night. Allow three to six weeks for germination.

The Cavendish banana (Musa cavendishii or M. nana) is a dwarf "ladynine" banana which bears edible fruit three or four inches long. All bananas are sun loving and very humidity soil. Start new plants anytime now by taking suckers from the base of the plant, or by sowing seed.

Troubles: Browning or blackening of leaves, due to overwatering or poor drainage. Repeat your plants if leaves start to blacken around the edge. Use bottom of one inch of soil in the pot and the standard mixture of one part each sand, peat and loam.

CUCUMBER TROUBLES: Last year mosaic and scab diseases raised havoc with cucumber vines. Mosaic causes vines to turn yellow and die prematurely. A good early hybrid cucumber is Challenger, resistant to mosaic but not to scab disease.

Tablegreen 65 is resistant to powdery mildew, scab and mosaic. If disease has not been a problem, then try another variety. Marketer, Satcoy is an excellent hybrid cucumber for the home gardener.

One reader had excellent results with his cucumbers. He writes: "I planted cucumber seed 50 feet apart on a half acre of ground. How they grew! Come August, I had to bring in a hill-digger to move the cucumbers around so others could grow. That fall, the railroad put in a spur track and brought in a half-acre wrecker with long flat cars."

"They loaded the cucumbers on and took them to a sawmill. While on the cars the sawmill men cut the fruit to size and one cucumber made enough lumber to build a five-room house. The highway brought the rest to plank bridges. We tried to save the seed but it would not grow."

FREE: Will your geranium plants in bloom by Memorial Day? If not, send me a self-addressed, stamped envelope and ask for my bulletin, How to Grow Geraniums indoors and Outdoors. Let's full of tricks for florists use for this fine house plant.

ORNAMENTAL BASIL:

I'm surprised that the ornamental basil (Dark Opal) has not caught on. There's no limit to the possibilities of this interesting foliage plant. It makes a fascinating indoor novelty and wonderfully aromatic cooking herb as well. You'll like its dense, glossy, deep purple-brown leaves.

The plant is useful not only as an herb but in the flower bed. The foliage is topped with dainty spikes of white to lavender flowers, although the main interest is the purple, foliage and aromatic flavor.

Try a few plants of basil this summer. Order a packet of seed and sow it directly in the soil, or start plants a couple weeks before the summer.

LIFE SPAN OF TREES: Some home owners refuse to plant certain trees because of their tendency to get a certain insect or disease, like the birch for example. Many refuse to plant it because of the leaf dwarf "ladynine" bacteria which bears edible fruit three or four inches long. All bananas are sun loving and very humidity soil. Start new plants anytime now by taking suckers from the base of the plant, or by sowing seed.

Some sugar maples have been known to live to 500 years, and some oaks are recorded to follow to keep shade trees in good shape. Plant the best varieties, those adapted to your region. Consult with your arborist to prune out dead and diseased wood regularly. Keep cavities filled, trim or brace to reduce storm damage.

Feed trees regularly and sprayed. Do not build up around trees with mulch or cover roots with fill. Marked changes will kill a tree. Don't hesitate to spend a few dollars on your trees. They need tending to just your lawn, a porch, your car or other material possession.

HOW TO PRUNE ELMS: Is this a good time to prune them? If your elms are full of dead wood, suckers and big black limbs, no reason why you can't trim them now.

Reach in and cut the limbs as they grow. What that critter does, wood that's dead and don't hesitate to cut out suckers.

Elms, by nature a sucker-forming tree, and some of them form. Trim out a few, or dig them up for your friend. A sucker produces flowers the same color as the parent plant.

If you give them the Green Thumb treatment.

QUESTION OF THE WEEK: D. R. of Burley: "I have two seckel pears in my backyard and they bear anywhere from five to seven bushels of fruit each year. I'm over 75 and am not able to keep the fruit-raked. Is there some kind of spray that can be used to de-fruit these trees?"

Fruit trees can be de-fruited. Commercial growers use chemical means to thin their trees. Home owners who want to de-liberately de-fruit of fruit trees can use naphthalene acetic acid (sold as NAA in farm stores), at a concentration of 10 parts per million, applied at (petal-fall) stage.

Ten parts per million is the same as four grams per 100 gallons of water, or 4/5 teaspoon per 100 gallons of water. "Petal fall" stage is when the last petals have fallen from the blossoms.

This spray may cause temporary wilting of the foliage and distortion of tender shoot tips, but recovery is rapid and there is no cause for alarm.

Some varieties (and other fruits) differ markedly in their susceptibility to the NAA treatment, and it is possible that the recommended rate will not completely de-fruit the trees. If this is the case, the rate can be increased the following year. However, increases in the rate should be modest because excessive use of NAA can cause severe leaf injury.

D. F. of Gooding: "I have a large split leaf philodendron which has reached the ceiling. I hate to cut a hole in the ceiling and wonder if we can cut the plant in half. What can be done? I don't want to cut a hole in the floor, as my husband suggested."

A philodendron which has grown the height yours has is a dairy cattle.

SYMPTOMS LISTED: SALT PARSIS—Continuous shivering, low body temperature, abnormal heart beat are all symptoms of advanced stages of salt deficiency in dairy cattle.

Contest Set

OKLAHOMA CITY—The International Lead, Fluorine and Range Judging Contest is scheduled for Oklahoma City on April 26-27. At least 25 states will send teams of 4-H and FFA members to compete.

Soil and Water Conservation Districts in many states help sponsor these contests locally.

something of a problem. You can cut the top out (plant) and root this in a jug of water. Or you can try to train the plant to grow back down, fastening it to a totem pole. And as a final measure, you can try cutting the plant back to within six inches to see if it will send up new sprouts. Training the plant to grow down again will give you a thicker vine and will eliminate heavy pruning.

Failure of leaves to split can be due to a lack of light, poor soil or a lack of water. Leaves which get smaller and smaller can be due to the same causes. Another cause of reduction in leaf size, or "plant" leaves may be simple starvation. Browning at tips and edges is due to dry soil, low humidity or salts from hard water or plant foods.

FREE: Send me a self-addressed, stamped envelope for my bulletin, how to grow philodendrons. It's packed full of good tips on raising this handsome vine.

Handling And Gentling 'Green' Colt Highlighted Jerome Event

BY CYNTHIA MCKENZIE
Jerome County Mounted Sheriff's Posse.

The indoor heated arena of the stables, which are owned and operated by Wayne and Jan Peterson, provided a comfortable vantage point for the some 300 owners, breeders and trainers who registered for the sessions.

Top specialists in the field of equine husbandry presented lectures and demonstrations. An added attraction was the opportunity for registrants to compete in a two-phased horse judging clinic.

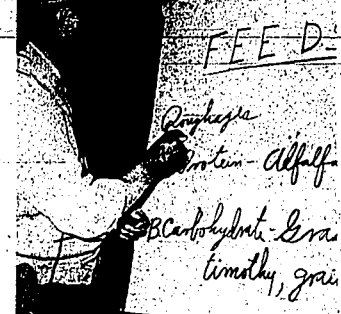

Among outstanding demonstrations was the handling and gentling of a "green" colt by R. A. (Rube) Long, Ft. Rock, Ore., rancher, author and training authority. Working with a 2-year-old Appaloosa range colt, Long, without using a rope, first caught the colt in the arena. He then halted, broke to lead and finally trailer-loaded the animal in two 1 1/2-hour sessions.

Other lectures and demonstrations enthusiastically received were by Dr. Bob Carlson, D.V.M., of Boise, who discussed causes and treatment of lameness in the horse, internal parasite control and recommended vaccination practice, and by trainer Wayne Peterson, host for the course, who demonstrated the proper procedures for fitting and showing a horse at halter.

TOP PLACE WINNERS in the judging clinic held during the third annual University of Idaho Horseman's Short Course in Jerome last week admire their prizes. From left are Eldon Handy, Jerome, who captured first place with a score of 574 out of a possible 600 points; Lloyd Brown, Hagerman, second with 542.5 points, and Florence Bell, Rupert, third with 542 points. LECTURING ON FEEDS during the Horseman's Short Course last week at Twin View Training Stables, Jerome, was Joe Johnson, Washington State University extension livestock specialist. He uses a chart for explaining basic and applied nutrition for horses. (Davis photo)

Johnson concluded by offering specific diet mixtures for several classifications of horses. These included breeding stallions, pregnant and lactating mares; foals; weanlings; yearlings and 2-year-olds; horses at medium to hard work and mature idle horses.

Burley, was fifth, with 838 points. Of special interest in the prize category, Jane's score was remarkable because of the fact that she is barely 9 years old.

Two main points of Long's philosophy of breaking and training are that the colt must be tamed before he can be trained, and that the trainer must have more time than the colt.

A pupil at Glenns Ferry Elementary school and an undergraduate at the University of Idaho, she was two, and regularly competes in arena events in the area.

Another of Long's main points of emphasis was that any horse instinctively protects his head and that if the animal is beaten or hurt about the head, he may be ruined for life.

Director of the Horseman's Short Course was Morris Hemstrom, extension livestock specialist of the University of Idaho. Working closely with Hemstrom were Bill Priest, Jerome County extension agent and member of the co-sponsoring Jerome County Mounted Sheriff's Posse.

"If the animal learns that no matter what you do around him, you aren't going to hurt his head, your job is partly done," Long noted.

Attendance at two previous short courses, both held at Moscow, was some 650 people. Total attendance at the sessions has now reached nearly 1,000, which, as Hemstrom noted, indicates a considerable interest in all phases of horse production and management in Idaho.

As a trick rider, he has appeared in major shows over the country, and as it happened, Friday marked the 47th anniversary of his initial appearance as a show rider.

High scorer in the opinion of the judges was Eldon Handy, Jerome, who made 574 out of a possible 600 points. Lloyd Brown, Hagerman, was second with 542.5 points. Florence Bell, Rupert, was a close third, with 542 points. Kay Jones, Twin Falls was fourth, with 434.3 points, and Richard Goodfellow,

It is a demonstration included proper mounting and dismounting and how to fall to prevent injury.

Water To Be Turned Into Canal Monday

Water will be turned into the North Side Canal Monday at Milner.

Farmers are urged to remove panels, fences and other obstructions from canals in preparation for the water.

Work may be withheld from some of the smaller canals and laterals until last minute maintenance is completed. Water will be available for irrigation as soon as it is distributed through the system.

Surveys taken March 1 indicate the runoff will be 88 percent of normal on the upper Snake River watershed. American Falls reservoir is expected to fill sometime after April 1.

Gem Lambing Conditions Said Good

BOISE—Early lambing conditions were favored by the lack of any prolonged cold or wet periods, according to the USDA Crop and Livestock Reporting Service for Idaho.

Lambing on range lands was virtually completed by March 1 in the southwest, in the final stages in the south central and just underway in the eastern higher elevation sections.

Hearing On Water Set On March 30

RUPERT—The Agricultural Agency Office in Mindokoa County has released word of an informal public hearing called by the Idaho Department of Health for 10 a.m. Thursday, March 30, in the Twin Falls City Hall for the purpose of receiving testimony pertaining to the proposed water quality standards of certain specified streams within the state.

Demonstration Given To Group

Final plans were made for the Easter party to be held at Hazel-dee Manor. Decorated cookies will be taken.

others who have activities right affected or be affected by the quality of the water in the mentioned streams.

Full opportunity will be afforded those attending to offer testimony as to the beneficial uses for which the waters of these streams are employed and to express their views concerning the water quality standards which should be adopted, Dr. Carver said.

Although oral statements will be heard, Dr. Carver suggested important facts should be submitted in writing. Written statements will be accepted up to and including the day of the hearing at the office of the Administrator of Health in Boise, or at the hearing.

Following the hearing and before June 30, the State Board of Health will adopt water quality standards for these public waters, based on evidence and views presented at the hearing.

Garden Bean Seed Is Free At Rupert

RUPERT — Agricultural Extension Agent Vance Smith announced this week that bush-type garden bean seed will be available at no charge to all gardeners within the city limits of Rupert.

The purpose for this, Smith said, is to encourage a growth of beans in the city limits so that transfer Mexican bean beetles will find a home where they can be easily observed. If they don't find a home in the gardens, he stressed, they will fly to the bean fields where it is much more difficult to find them.

King Hill Grange Has Book Report

KING HILL — "Century of Service and Evolution" was the title of the National Grange book report given by Mrs. Greer, when the King Hill Grange met recently.

Some of the Grange achievements of the report were: (1) A higher and better manhood and womanhood among ourselves. (2) Being never afraid of great and beautiful, which protect and enhance our environment, our homes and community life. (3) Increasing our individual wisdom. (4) Raising the standards of our morals, culture and social activities.

John Davis, acting as master in the absence of Joel Young and announced that Young would like to contribute or sponsor the Girl Scouts for Community Service.

Mrs. Charles Finlayson reported that seven National Centennial Grange leaders had been distributed in bus to see houses in the area. More calendars are yet to be distributed.

Frank Jones presented a report that wind did some damage to a week ago. The Grange went on record opposing that teachers do not have to sign the oath.

Mrs. John Davis, home economics chairman, asked members to enter the cotton-sewing contest sponsored by the National Grange. She also said that members can enter for some reason they are asked to sponsor someone else. The contest closes April 30.

Karl Anderson gave a report on the Idaho Power banquet that he and Mrs. Anderson attended last week at Meridian. He said slides were shown of Idaho Power installations along Snake River. He said representatives from the Soil Conservation, County Agents and Bureau of Reclamation also attended. Also State Grange Master and Mrs. Emil Jerome, Kuna attended.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Cecil Bott and Mrs. Francis Barnes.

WELDERS ASSEMBLE section of a 32-inch steel pipe that will carry water from rivers six miles away to new 8,000 acre potato farm being developed in central Oregon. Developed entirely with private funds by Skyline Farms, Inc., a subsidiary of Ore-Ida Foods, Inc., the new farm will be the world's largest potato growing acreage, and will cover an area one-third the size of San Francisco. A network of 100 miles of new aluminum pipe will distribute the water in a giant irrigation system. Ore-Ida is a subsidiary of H. J. Heinz Co.

Desert Plateau Being Transformed Into World's Largest Potato Farm

A low desert plateau in east-central Oregon that covers an area approximately one-third the size of San Francisco is being transformed by private enterprise into the world's largest potato growing acreage.

The tract is being developed entirely with private funds by Skyline Farms, Inc., a subsidiary of Ore-Ida Foods, Inc., a leading national processor of frozen potatoes and corn products. Ore-Ida is a subsidiary of H. J. Heinz Co.

The new tract comprises more than 8,000 acres of virgin potato soil on barren bench land almost one-half mile above sea level. It is located within eight miles of Ore-Ida's headquarters and principal factory at Ontario, Ore., along the Idaho border.

To put water on the bench land, Ore-Ida is installing several huge irrigation pumps totaling 11,950 horsepower and an underground system of 95 miles of steel pipe, with a diameter range from six to 48 inches. The pumps will pressure water taken from the Snake and Malheur rivers through the pipe and up lifts of from 400 to 600 feet to the development site.

A network of 100 miles of portable aluminum pipe, three to four inches in diameter, will distribute the water through a sprinkler heads in a giant irrigation system. Two pumping stations will move approximately 75,000 gallons of water per minute up the walls of the plateau to the farm acreage.

Thousands of tons of earth will be moved before the project is completed. In addition, Skyline Farms will build 45 miles of roadway to serve the property. The company's working closely with the Idaho Power Company, a private power company, in its development program.

The Pacific Northwest is one of the last frontiers for agricultural development in the United States, according to government and farming authorities. Fertile, unused land; long, sunny growing seasons; and a plentiful supply of pure river water for irrigation make the Skyline Farms area ideal for crop development.

Few people think of Oregon as having a desert region. Along the State's Pacific coast, rain is almost a daily occurrence. But in the east—a central section of the state, the average yearly rainfall measures less than 10 inches.

Skyline Farms, Inc., expects to harvest a crop of more than one billion potatoes next fall. Company spokesmen say that when the tract is in full production, there will be enough potatoes grown there in a single harvest season. If placed end to end, to extend around the 25,000-mile circumference of the Earth at the Equator.

Whether a pasture is predominantly grass or legume will govern the kind and rate of fertilizer and manure, or a combination. When pasture contains 40 per cent or less of legume, nitrogen is required to give desirable production and quality.

If the pasture contains 40 per cent or more of a legume, phosphorus and potassium are the main concern. Existing fertility will also determine the kind and rate of fertilizers needed. A soil analysis will provide the answer.

On irrigated pastures—consisting mostly of grass, the bulletin says, investigations suggest that 50 to 60 pounds of nitrogen per acre per cutting, will give good returns for the money invested. In areas where only one late cutting of forage is obtained, nitrogen rates up to 100 pounds per acre have given beneficial returns.

Suggestions for use of phosphorus and potassium are also offered in the publication.

Some Confusion Reported Continuing In Spud Markets

—BOISE— Considerable confusion continues in potato markets, the University of Idaho extension service said today in the March issue of Economic Facts for Idaho Agriculture.

Quentin D. Banks, marketing information specialist, said the uncertainty will influence the market for Idaho potatoes throughout the rest of the season for the 1966 crop.

Fluctuations in storage throughout the country month ago were slightly less than they were at the same time last year, he said. Shortages are expected to continue to be greater than last year in western states, particularly Idaho. However, stocks in eight eastern states growing flat potatoes were 23 per cent above last year and the largest since 1964.

Pastures Can Be Improved By Fertilizing

Pasture on half a million irrigated Idaho acres can be improved by use of fertilizer, according to a bulletin just published by the University of Idaho extension service.

Production can be boosted to three to six tons per acre where production now amounts to one to four tons, depending on the soil and management practices. Recent research shows that low fertility is a major factor in restricting yield and quality of feed.

The bulletin, available at the Twin Falls County agent's office, is "Fertilizing Irrigated Pastures." Authors of the bulletin are Charles Painter, soils specialist of the extension service; Ralph Samson, extension conservator; and Alfred Slinkard, an agronomist of the experiment station.

BEST BETS FOR MOVIES

7 p.m., 2B, 3, 11; 8 p.m., 5 — "Lilies of the Field" (1963) Heartwarming, award-winning story of an itinerant handyman's adventures with a group of refugee German nuns. Sidney Poitier won an Oscar as best actor for his creation of Homer, whom the nuns are convinced was sent to them from Heaven. Excellent film.
10:30 p.m., 11 — "The Raid" (1954) Rather trite in spots, film is supposedly a factual account of how a group of Confederate soldiers laid a small Vermont town in 1864. Only medicine, but there's hardly anything else.
