Legislators Take Long Easter Recess; Session Is Now Record-Breaker

By EARLE L. JESTER
Associated Press Staff
BOISE (AP) — The record-breaking 30th Idaho Legislature took the long-awaited Easter recess Saturday, adjourning until Tuesday, after the House accepted Senate amendments to plan the state's utility tax problems.

Prolonged controversy over the utility tax measure had slowed the lawmakers' deliberations and many bills remained to be acted on. These included some major appropriation bills — one which allocates money from the permanent building fund.

Saturday was the 63rd day of the session, a new record for length. It exceeds the 82 days which the first legislature after statehood in 1890 needed to enact Idaho's first code of laws.

The House vote on the compromise utility tax assessment bill Friday and sent it to the House. But in a prolonged night session the House refused to permit suspension of rules to consider the bill and the refusal persisted through the Saturday morning session.

It takes two-thirds majority to suspend the rules and although Republicans control the House they lack that margin.

Opponent faculty gave in, joined in the move to suspend rules and the measure then was passed.

The problem of utility taxation resulted from a ruling by the Idaho Supreme Court last month that utility property could not be taxed at a higher rate than other property.

A 1965 law had required that utility property be assessed at 40 per cent of full cash value with all other property being assessed at 20 per cent.

The compromise plan requires that utility property be assessed at 20 per cent of value by Jan. 1, 1971, providing a 10-year transition period.

During the transition period, studies of utility assessment and local government financing will be made and a legislative committee.

That provision — Consulting what some called a freeze of assessment rates at their current levels — was put into the bill at the insistence of house members.

Both the House and Senate worked throughout the day on bills still on their calendars.

It was the 24th of Samuelson of the bills reorganizing Idaho's judicial system was submitted to both the House and Senate.

BOISE (AP) — The Idaho Senate voted today to override the veto by Gov. Don W. Samuelson of a bill reorganizing the state's judicial system.

The vote was 24-11. A two-thirds majority was required. To become effective despite the veto, the measures must also receive a two-thirds majority vote in the House.

Sen. Sam Kaufman, R-Boise, called the veto "short-sighted" and said it was "one of the worst of the first things this legislature can accomplish."

The spokesman said 82 of the House members voted to override the veto, 57 of them so badly that they were virtual wrecks. The extent of personal casualties was not immediately known.

Rupert NFO Buys Milk From Store, Gives To Welfare Cases

RUPERT — NFO members put a new twist on milk holding action Saturday when about 50 men and women converged on the Rupert Safeway store and bought out the store's supply of Grade A milk. The amount of the purchase was not known Saturday.

Previously NFO members and sympathizers in Magic Valley had been dumping the milk they own daily herds were producing. The milk they bought Saturday was not dumped, but given to welfare cases and nursing homes.

"We do not feel," said Rupert NFO member Elton Hestricson, "that the Lord intended that milk should be dumped in the street. We're not proud of this milk dumping action," he continued, "but we don't know what else to do."

"We haven't been able to get a fair price for our milk by other means — if anyone has an answer they are invited to present it," he said. "I am confident and assured that the reason we are doing this in the first place is to give the hand back to the people and put the independent farmer back in business."

More than 100 head of dairy cows have been offered for slaughter in Minidoka County and although none have been slaughtered yet, NFO members say such action will be taken unless a fair milk price can be obtained through other means.

Friday more than 10,000 gallons of milk were dumped in the street at the north end of Rupert. The city had previously been placed off limits by Rupert Mayor Wendell Johnson. Wednesday, Mr. Johnson changed his mind and approved of the demonstration with the stipulation that milk was to be put into the city's sewage system.

WASHINGTON (Special) — Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, has won a preliminary round against the Bureau of Land Management's proposal to withdraw all prospectively valuable geothermal steam lands from mining and other locations.

But this week — because the floor of the Senate is scheduled to vote on the withdrawal order — the withdrawal order was unsuccessful. Church took his fight to the floor of the Senate.

Shooting Incident Near T. F. Is Probed

An alleged shooting incident late Friday night in the vicinity of the Canyon Country Club was under investigation Saturday by Twin Falls and Jerome County law enforcement officers.

According to a police report, George Borchers, 18, Boise, reported at 11 p.m. Friday that he and his companion, a 15-year-old twin falls girl, were shot at by an unidentified man who had approached them in a car and ordered Borchers into the trunk of the vehicle.

Borchers climbed into the trunk of the car, he said, and yelled to his companion to "beat it" and as she drove the car away he saw the man reportedly fire several shots at the car. Police said small portions of lead were later found on the side of the tires and believed that this lead came from a .22 rifle slug.

Borchers claimed that the suspect had carried a .22 caliber automatic rifle.

Police investigated the scene of the incident, reported to be one-half mile east of U. S. 93 and one-eighth mile north of the Snake River Canyon Rim, and did not find any substantial evidence other than a few tracks which indicated an unknown person may have knelt in the area.

The suburned youths, letting down their bleached hair after a long, hard, winter up north had wandered off the beach onto the adjoining street. They congregated at a corner where a group of boys were climbing the stanting palms while the girls cheered them on with shouts of "Monkey! Monkey!"

Police tactfully looked the other way as the students shined up and down the trees. But they moved in when groups of boys in the background began teasing a valuable deer on public fair with blankets. Both the boys and girls jeered and cursed the police, whose tempers were getting shorter by the minute.

The beer can barrage did little to lighten the mood and the riot squads soon had put down the disturbance.

A stream of curses filled the sunlit lot as the students grudgingly gave way.

In carrying his charges to the Senate floor, Church said that today a citizen with all the rights, lands, comply with laws, and spend $100,000 developing the property.

"Yes, in a year or sometime in the future, the Bureau of Land Management could say to him, 'No. We have determined that this land is prospectively valuable for geothermal steam. Therefore, you have no right to be here. You are a trespasser. Get off.'"

Church told the Senate that the mining law of 1872 had a major role in the development of the West.

Students Touch Off New Beach Brawling

FOUR LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — An angry mob of reveling college students touched off another riot Saturday, deluging club-swinging police with beer cans and foul language. The brawl began on a street corner near the beach when officers asked a group of students to quit blanket tossing the curly, bikini-clad coeds. Re- sistant and boored, the students immediately began insulting the helmeted policemen.

FBI, Police Search Farm For Graves

BY DAVID ROSENZWEIG
JACKSON TOWNSHIP, N.J. (AP) — FBI agents and state police spread out over a farm in the New Jersey Saturday in a continued search for bodies suspected buried in a Cosa Nostra cemetery.

The remains of two reputed gangland victims have been dug up from the farm site of an oil bottling distillery. The FBI, which began the search on the farm, was aided by a confidential tipster, brought in bulldozers Friday to hunt for more buried victims. So far no bodies have been found.

Federal agents were preparing to abandon the excavation. It came from the former chicken farm when the search was intensified by new information. It came from an unidentified couple who lived across the road until last October.

It didn't pan out — but the FBI turned to a water-filled cellar behind the yellow and white farmhouse. The cellar was part of the ruined distillery.

Easter Prayer

By REV. HOWARD R. OLSON
First Church of the Nazarenes, Twin Falls
Our Father and Our God, we raise our voice unto Thee this Easter morning in praise and adoration.

Thou art our Creator and we submit to Thy will. We desire to walk in the light of Thy Holy Word, and to be led by Thy Holy Spirit. We are utterly dependent upon Thee, O God, who gave Thine only Son to die on Calvary's Cross for our redemption.

We pray for the men in the armed forces, and especially for those men on the battlefield of Vietnam. May the Easter Sunrise create hope and faith in the heart of each soldier.

We pray for the leaders of our nation that they may rule wisely and in the fear of God, and may a solution for a peaceful and honorable settlement to the war be found so that our men and women may be home before another Easter sun arises in the East.

We pray for every Christian Church today as the people gather for a tribute of praise and worship to the King of Kings, Jesus Christ, who came to earth in the form of a man, and died for the sins of all mankind. May we acknowledge this great gift by our full acceptance and devotion to Jesus Christ as our Lord and Saviour, and in His name, we pray.

World Christians Prepare For Dawn of Easter Sunday

Eased Credit Is Seen By Speculators

By JOSEPH R. COYNE
WASHINGTON (AP) — Speculation has reached a new peak that the Federal Reserve Board is on the threshold of a dramatic easing of credit through a lowering of the discount rate.

But in its tradition, the board has refused to comment one way or another on any action it might be contemplating.

One government official said Saturday a lowering of the discount rate could come at any time but he explained this was only a guess and was not based on any inside information of board activities.

A lowering of interest rates this week by some banks on loans to their best corporate customers — the so-called prime-rate — sparked new speculation in Wall Street of a possible lowering of the discount rate.

The discount rate is the charge made by the Federal Reserve for money borrowed from the system by its member banks.

Aerial Search Is Held For Light Plane

OLYMPIA (AP) — Searchers in about 15 airplanes scanned the Western Washington coast Saturday for a light plane which vanished with four young skiers aboard.

The Cessna 182 was not heard from after it took off at 5 a.m. Friday on a flight to Sun Valley, Idaho, with a refueling stop scheduled at Pendleton, Ore.

The pilot, Steve K. Hazlet, 24, a Boeing Co. engineer, was a standout shotputter on the University of Washington track and field team in 1962.

His passengers were Harold Peterson Jr., 24; John Gregory, 25, and Jack Tindler, 25. The four men, all of Seattle, planned a skiing weekend in Sun Valley, Idaho, and Jack Tindler, 25, the skier, was on a flight to Sun Valley, Idaho, with a refueling stop scheduled at Pendleton, Ore.

Black Sheep In Flock

BY DELORR HAYWARD
County Welfare Director

His sermons were long and rambling and I don't believe he was much of an administrator. The crisis in the church is that most of the congregation considered the Rev. Seth deJohn a good and rather sweet man—but inefficient.

When trouble nearly split our congregation, however, Pastor deJohn surprised a lot of us. DeLorr Hayward, Miller, Wis.—at the time of this story—was a small lumber town of a few thousand people. Community life centered about the church.

The trouble started with the superintendent of our Sunday school who was a big boss at the mill. Next door to him lived a woman who was head of our Sunday school primary department.

A friendship developed between the two. They were married and had families. Eventually, a church delegation headed by Roger Barclay, the church finance chairman, came to see Pastor deJohn.

"Reverend, there is an illicit relationship in this church. He then detailed the situation. 'Haven't you come to some pretty strong conclusions on a very small amount of evidence,' the preacher asked calmly.

"You'll not get much evidence in a case like this," Barclay continued. "What matters is that parents in this church are scandalized. They'll not send their children to Sunday school unless both parties are removed from the church."

"Asking them to resign their Sunday school responsibilities is one thing," replied the preacher. "Insisting that they leave the church is something else."

"We're here to tell you that the congregation won't tolerate their presence," snapped Barclay. Pastor deJohn arose and walked to the window of his sparsely furnished church office. He looked outside for a moment, then faced the men.

"This is God's house," he said firmly. "As long as I am minister here, no one will be denied entrance regardless of who he is or what he has done."

Then his voice softened. "God will remove this problem in His own good time and in His own good way, and no one will be hurt. Just have and be sure that our hearts are right, and to pray."

Barclay and his cohorts waited out and soon spoke the words that the pastor was being "wishy-washy."

The next Sunday church attendance was half of normal. Meanwhile Seth deJohn was saddened when neither of the accused Sunday school officers sought him out nor appeared at church. The pastor was worried about this obvious declaration of guilt.

Before his sermon Seth deJohn invited the members of his church to join him on Monday evening to pray for the people and needs of this church.

to Jesus Christ. They belong to Him. Yet none of us is perfect. We make mistakes. We forget our vows. We envy. We hate. We gossip. We sin in so many ways. Yet despite our weakness, God loves us.

"I feel that God is here with us tonight. And where He is, there is His power. For the rest of this hour I am going to read aloud, slowly, the names of the members of this church. Let us pray for each one in turn. Let us pray that God's love will surround him or her—that good men and women who will be of help to one another."

And so every person in the congregation was prayed for including the two Sunday school officials.

"We have a do-nothing pastor!" Barclay said to his friends. "Prayer is not enough. If our church board won't demand the resignation of these Sunday school officials, then they will have to go. I know that at least 50 others would follow him."

Roger Barclay decided to bring the matter to a head at the next board meeting. But if Pastor deJohn sensed the impending crisis, it was not apparent. He opened the meeting with a prayer.

"Lord, we have much to be thankful for in our church," he began. "We have dedicated men and women who have a deep desire to serve You."

The pastor offered up each member present by name to the Lord in a prayer of praise and thanksgiving.

The meeting proceeded quickly. The pastor presented the new business. Roger Barclay cleared his throat and rose to his feet. He looked at the pastor. Seth deJohn looked back with warmth, yes, even with affection. The two men faced each other. There was a strange silence in the room. A very strange silence.

"When I came to the church tonight," said Barclay, "I was prepared to ask for some drastic action. But perhaps you just haven't handled problems in church the same way you would in business. What I'm saying is that I have concluded that being a Christian is a lot harder than I once thought it was."

Weeks later the Sunday school superintendent was fired from his job at the mill. He moved his family. The other family involved later moved away, too. The families were kept in contact; another answer to Seth deJohn's prayer.

Whenever I hear about bitterness and divisions in a church today, I want to tell about Pastor deJohn and thank for them his words as a guide for church disputes:

"If our hearts are right, God will remove this thing in His own good time and in His own good way, and no one will be hurt."

Love's Labours

LOS ANGELES (AP)—For that filly elephant at the new Los Angeles Zoo, it was a case of love's labours lost.

The 3-year-old grey gal, ensconced of a newly arrived young male African elephant closed in the next pen took matters into her own hands—or trunk—and tried to join him by force.

Zoo keepers report she got halfway over the wall—and stuck there.

Wedged tightly between boarders she'd used for climbing, the unnamed African girl pachyderm could only bellow her dismay.

And she kept bellowing and bellowing, until an ear-care crew of keepers and security guards worked her free.

She remains today in her own pen—love unrequited.

Damage To T. F. Golf Course By Vandalism Is High

DAMAGE TO GOLF GREENS is surveyed by golf pro Clyde Thomsen Saturday morning after the damage at the Twin Falls Municipal Golf Course was discovered. Foot-deep cuts spelling out numbers and names were made in two of the greens sometime between night-fall Friday and Saturday morning. (Times-News photo)

What was made to appear as if a senior student resulted in several thousand dollars worth of vandalism at the Twin Falls Municipal Golf Course.

The damage was discovered about 9:30 a. m. Saturday on the Number 2 and 15 greens, according to golf pro Clyde Thomsen. Local police officers called as well as school officials who surveyed the damage which had apparently been wrought with shovels and no small amount of effort.

Both greens had deep cuts made in them, spelling out '67 and '68, apparently referring to Twin Falls High School Dean of Boys, Richard Baun. An arrow also was included in the foot-deep cuts. Near a fence at the course, pieces of asphalt had been laid out to spell "senior stunt, '67."

Mr. Thomsen said each green costs about $10,000 to develop and although damage would not be that high, it would be in the thousands.

Recently high school principal George Staudacher told this year's class they were free to perform a senior stunt, but it would have to be "something constructive." Last year's acid stunt caused considerable damage to the interior of the high school and forced the closure of the school for the remainder of the term.

City Police said investigation is continuing and that "it will probably go pretty hard on whoever is responsible."

CSI Group To Present One-Act Plays

Comedy, sophisticated farce and avant garde drama are in store for Magic Valley theatergoers in the fall when the Southern Idaho drama department's presentation of three plays will be staged at the YMCA Building.

"George," by Van Cartmel, "The Sandbox" by Edward Albee and "The Devil and Daniel Webster," by Stephen Vincent Benet, will be produced in "horse-shoe" staging, a modified arena presentation. This type of semi-circular theater was originally used by the ancient Greeks and Romans in the late 1830's.

"George," a sophisticated farce about a filially scattered brainiac wife who becomes infatuated with a straight-laced snob named George, stars Carol E. B. Carter, Robinson, Robert Jacob and David McKinster in the CSI production.

Chuck Lucas and Marilyn Gardner, Charles Fowler and Donna Peters star in Albee's "The Sandbox," a play of the avant garde theater which shows the self-masking of man's inhumanity with the guise of ceremony.

"The Devil and Daniel Webster," a comedy relating the famous story of how Daniel Webster defended a friend of his against the Pope and the Southworth, Linda Smith, Jerry Higgins and George King. Directed by Charles Fowler.

Matthews, Tim Klaska, Joyce Gale, Don Thussen, Judy Buck and Hank Lassen and Marilyn Gardner.

Crews for the three productions are Jim Pratt, stage manager; Don Jackson, set designer; King and Jim Southworth, scenic artists; Cecil Wright, Don Thussen and Jerry Higgins, soundscapes; Cunningham, lighting; Thompson, costumes; Rita Matthews and Linda Smith, makeup; Hays, hair; Joyce Gale and Marilyn Gardner, hand props; Jeff Fehrenbacher, Chuck Lucas, David McKinster and Donna Peters, stage props; Jewel O'Dell, tickets; Vicki Nelson, publicity; Carol E. B. Carter, stage manager; and Judy Buchanan, prompter.

Admission will be charged and tickets may be obtained from any cast or crew member.

Sen. Church Outlines His Aid Position

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, refused Friday to endorse a $1.5 billion aid program for Latin America.

Church said he appears to have an Easter present to give the Latin American states in the form of a barbeque in Texas in advance of the OAS summit meeting in April.

Calling the resolution "a kind of intellectual bankruptcy on the part of our policy-makers," Sen. Church said it appears that neither the White House nor the State Department had any other policy to offer Latin America than to "reach for our checkbook."

Citing domestic needs for improved education, hospital construction, crime control, anti-pollution measures and modernization of public transportation, Sen. Church said this foreign aid no longer affords lavish foreign assistance which the United States is causing so many cut-backs at home.

"I'm against our history," he said, "America has been a great force in the world by the example we have set. It is a monumental irony that we seem to be losing sight of this example ourselves."

With that, the government officials would show less fascination for the writings of Mao Tse Tung and more attention to Gibbon's excellent work on the decline and fall of the Roman Empire.

The Idaho senator said that he was not opposed to giving "mature consideration to any proposal concerning Latin American aid. But he said Congress should have a firm budget estimate on just what the aid funds were to be spent."

"But let us not irresponsibly commit ourselves in the dark, and in advance be cautioned, to five general paragraphs which mean whatever the President-subsequent decides he wants them to mean."

DIES IN ACCIDENT

POCATELLO (AP) — A 63-year-old woman was killed Saturday at Bannock Memorial Hospital of injuries suffered Friday in an auto-pedestrian accident.

Mrs. Irene Dye was struck by a car driven by Richard Paul Evey, 21, of Pocatello about 7:30 a.m. Saturday at a basal skull fracture, official reports said.

Mrs. Dye's husband, Robert Evey, 66, was also hit by Evey's car, police said. He suffered a knee injury.

DIE-KILLS MAN

MERIDIAN, Idaho (AP) — One man died but all other occupants of an 11-unit motel were evacuated Friday after a fire broke out in the frame structure at the south end of Meridian today.

Coroner Ed Paris tentatively identified the victim as Paul Johnson, an employee of a crematorium in Meridian. Paris said the man was asphyxiated.

The fire was confined mostly to the one unit of the motel and Paris said it apparently started when a lighted cigarette ignited bedclothing.

SAW SHOOTING

BLACKFOOT, Idaho (AP) — Blackfoot laborer John Garrety told Sheriff District Court Friday that he rode in a car Nov. 20 with Ramon Gonzales and saw Gonzales from the car.

Adolene Gonzales was fatally wounded "shot home" at Blackfoot street, Ramon Gonzales Jr., 24, is on trial for first degree murder in connection with the shooting.

HOUSE OKAYS BILL

BOISE (AP) — A bill creating a "challenge homes" program for juveniles and appropriating more than $800,000 from the general fund for the purpose of providing a related probate judge, said the House approved Friday.

It now goes to the Senate.

Rep. W. H. Jensen, D-Pocatello, a retired probate judge, said the homes-diagnostic and treatment centers for juveniles — which would save juveniles the stigma of reform school, but remove them from the environment that has led to their difficulties.

The bill calls for centers in northern, southwestern and southeastern Idaho.

Rep. Robert Haskenson, D-Coeur d'Alene, opposed the measure, saying that many of the juveniles who are in the centers could be helped by strengthening vocational education, curricula in local high schools.

COUNCIL SETS MEET

BOISE (AP) — The Idaho Advisory Council for construction of mental-health centers will meet in Boise April 7, it was announced Friday by Dr. Terrell O. Carver, State Health Department administrator.

The advisory council for hospital construction was scheduled to meet April 14, he said.

The two councils advise the health department on distribution of federal grant funds for health facilities.

COMMITTEE NAMED

BOISE (AP) — A six-member conference committee was named Friday to attempt to work out differences between a minimum wage bill in the Idaho Legislature and the Senate over a minimum wage bill in the Idaho Legislature.

Rep. Fred Smith, R-Boise was named by House Speaker Pete Conarusso, R-Carey, to head a three-member delegation of conference with a similar Senate group after the House refused to accept Senate amendments to the bill setting the minimum wage at $1.25 an hour.

Smith was an outspoken opponent of the minimum wage legislation when it passed the House earlier in the session and also leveled sharp attacks against organized labor.

WINS APPROVAL

BOISE (AP) — A bill that has caused a party-line split in the House over the way it was handled in the Senate, amendments were added won final approval in the Idaho Legislature Friday.

The measure prescribes a uniform system of log scaling for loggers, truckers and sawmills in Idaho. The House passed the Senate-amended bill 53-5.

The party-line fight had erupted several days earlier when the House rejected Senate amendments to a bill that had been passed by the Senate.

Rep. Emery Hedlund, D-Selkirk, Throckmold, sixth grade teacher, and Mrs. Allen, seventh grade teacher, presented books and explained why they are used as the textbooks in school systems.

DEPRESSION ON FACE

BOISE (AP) — The face of Timmy McDonald clearly shows that he found no eggs during the annual Twin Falls Exchange Club Easter Egg Hunt Saturday at the city park.

Timmy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom McDonald, soon brightened up, however, when he was informed that club members were passing out eggs to youngsters who found none. More than 1,000 youngsters raced through the park and the 2,064 eggs. (Times-News photo)

Mrs. Johnson Will Head Hansen PTA

HANSEN — Mrs. Gene Johnson was elected president at the PTA meeting Thursday night at the schoolhouse. Mrs. Leonard Day is first vice president, Mrs. Avila Allen, second vice president; Mrs. Anna Moore, secretary, and Arthur Bailey, treasurer.

Mrs. Johnson presided in the absence of Cecil Stanger, Russell Throckmold gave the invocation. It was reported that $3.31 had been collected for the PTA. Mrs. Ed King, health and safety chairman, reported that questionnaires on red measles had been re-evaluated to determine if any program should be planned on inoculations against them for the next year. The usual inoculations will be Thursday, March 30, Dr. V. Ellis Knight, in charge.

Mrs. Johnson Hallfield will be in charge of the scholarship which is given to a graduating senior by the PTA. It will be presented at graduation exercises.

The annual awards banquet will be held Friday, May 5. All students receiving awards, stochastically or in athletics, will be honored at the banquet. Supt. William Barnard reported the Headstart program was progressing well, and that a teacher for special education will be available for children needing this attention. They must go to Twin Falls to consult with the teacher. Barnard stated that application is being made for next year's Headstart program.

A Twin Falls businessman is one of seven speakers scheduled to address the April 3 semi-annual meeting of the Small Business Advisory Council.

Warren Barry, president of Volvo Builders, Twin Falls, is among the speakers who will discuss several agenda topics during the one-day meeting, including community development, urban renewal, small business financing and management and new legislation affecting the small business community.

"Pressing Problems of Main Street" is the theme of the event, which will be held at the Downowner Motel, Boise.

Billion-Dollar Computer Industry Scrutinized By House Antitrust Unit

By CARL F. LEUBSDORF, Staff Writer, Washington (AP) — The billion dollar electronic computer industry, already the target of an investigation by the Justice Department's antitrust division, is coming under the scrutiny of the House Antitrust subcommittee. In January it was investigating certain phases of the fast-growing industry, notably International Business Machines Corp., which accounts for some 75 percent of the nation's computering business. Now, with neither fanfare nor profits and costs. Besides IBM, the subcommittee sent the letters to Control Data Corp., General Electric Co., Honeywell Inc. and Sperry Rand's Univac division. It is not known if other firms had been contacted. Subcommittee staff members have declined to discuss the subcommittee's plans. They have made no public announcement, one said. The Justice Department investigation stemmed from complaints by smaller computer companies about cross-licensing the computer industry, but also of patents between IBM and other companies. The Federal Communications Commission also is looking into the matter. A copy of the subcommittee's letter, prepared by the staff, is being sent to the companies. The investigation covers the growing practice of the transmission of computer data by telephone lines.

Advertising Staff Works Toward Fraud Prevention

To prevent fraud through intentional causing loss of time or money to readers, causing injury to health or morals, evading or violating any law, attacking or criticizing directly anyone on the basis of discrimination, using the advertising to destroy confidence of either the reader, advertiser or both.

Running the gamut of romantic appeals in nature of lonely hearts to business appeals along the line of opportunity without foundation, the rejected ads run a scale from humorous to alarming.

The Times-News protects the young of the community from exploiting by large firms hiring young people and then, in many cases abandoning them far from home. A policy of the paper's want ad department is to protect local firms from unscrupulous advertising by firms in other states.

An old story which shows an example of legal but false advertising is about the offer of several yards of silk for a low price. Those who answered the ad and included their money received a spool of silk thread.

Ads offering information at a price may be fraudulent and may offer worthless information. Ads of hair growing medicines may be offers of harmful chemicals.

The classified department is alert and watchful, always searching potential harmful advertising for traps and fraudulent schemes. It is in this watchdog capacity that the classified section can be most useful.

YOUTHS ELECTED

IDAHO STATE UNIVERSITY, Pocatello—Ray Kaufman, Buhl, senior in the College of Business Administration, and Mike Kling, Twin Falls, junior in the College of Liberal Arts, have been elected to serve in the ISU Student Senate.

The Chiropractic Physician

By Dr. Ludwig C. Landwehr
"Tractor-Back" is a relatively new, yet common, ailment of farmers, causing much discomfort, pain and many lost working hours. If today's farmer still would work with honest, he would have to let them rest after 8 to 9 hours, yet because his tractor "tooth" used the rest, the farmer works himself twice as long. The bouncing, jolting and concentration such a long period of time will fatigue the muscular system to such an extent, that the whole skeletal framework finally sags, causing nerve pressure and the usual resulting of proper body mechanics with yoke, lower back pain, shoulder pain, neckaches and headaches.

A regular check with his doctor of chiropractic and thereby obtaining relief from pain and distress, as well as avoiding many chronic ailments in later life, will for every farmer add to his own comfort and well being.

"HE CAN'T BE FOR REAL," say Cindy Roberts, 5, and her 3-year-old sister, Becky, as they puzzle over the giant Easter bunny as he prepares to give them each a nice Easter basket. The bunny stands about eight feet tall. The girls were quite taken with his enormous size and his large pink and white ears. Easter baskets and bunnies have been foremost in the minds of most small children this past week as they anticipated receiving Easter baskets filled with gaily colored candy eggs. For children of all ages, eggs, bunnies and beautifully colored flowers say welcome in a delightful way. Cindy and Becky, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Roberts, represent the many, many young girls who, too, have been eyeing Easter baskets recently. The bunny costume was loaned to the Times-News courtesy of the Memorial Theater, Utah State University, Salt Lake City. (Times-News photo by Bill King Jr.)

Dear Abby

BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been married a year and we get along very well. The only argument we have is whether I should polish his shoes or not. We both read your column every day and would like you to settle this for us.

HATES TO POLISH SHOES
DEAR HATES: Polishing a man's shoes is like showering him with kisses. Unless it's done with love, he may as well stop off downtown and hire a dome.

DEAR ABBY: There is a woman in our office (she is my youngster) whose husband sends her flowers, candy, birthday gifts, anniversary presents, valentines, etc. — delivered at the office! Why, I wonder, doesn't he send them to her at home? I am not jealous for I have been happily married for as many years as she, but don't you think she has him send everything to the office so she can "show off" a little bit in front of the other girls?

ONE OF THE GIRLS
DEAR ONE: Possibly. But look at it this way. Perhaps you're lucky. At least she doesn't bore you to death the next day TELLING you about it.

DEAR ABBY: My boy friend said he wanted to buy me an engagement ring so I immediately thought of a diamond. Yesterday he took me into a little shop that sold trinkets and he asked me how I liked a set of rings that cost $25. Abby, they were awful! They looked like tin and cut glass. I didn't tell him what I thought of the set. I just said, "Let's look around in the store." Now Abby, if he couldn't afford something better I wouldn't say anything. Should I accept the set he picked out or not? I hate to hurt his feelings, but even at $25 I think he's getting stung. How can I let him know how I feel without appearing greedy or hurting him?

DISAPPOINTED

DEAR DISAPPOINTED: Tell him frankly that you don't think the set he selected is worth the money, and you'd like to look further. Then steer him into a reputable jewelry store and let the salesman educate him. (No one learns about diamonds faster than a young man who's in the market for one.) And if you intend to marry him, you had better start learning to communicate with him. A wife who is too timid to discuss money with her husband is off to a poor start.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "HOPELESSLY IN LOVE AND CAN'T END IT" If you can't end the affair, get her out of your office. "A wise tailor never cuts his cloth in the same room where he dances." That is a rule most professional people would do well to heed.

Troubled? Write to Abby, Box 9070, Los Angeles, Cal. 90009. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Mrs. Leland Brooks and Mrs. William Maude, April program committee members, stated they will arrange for a film on cancer or other cancer material for the next meeting at the home of Mrs. Greta Graves, Gooding. Minidoka Area Council Slates Spring Luncheon

RUBERT—Mrs. Leo Becker, chairman of the Minidoka County Extension Homemakers Council slates spring luncheon, announced plans for the event at the council meeting at the Army.

Theme of the April 10 luncheon will be "Military a Go Go." Each member and guest is asked to make a hat to wear, either humorous, pretty, or in a miscellaneous category, and these will be judged and prizes awarded during the afternoon.

Registration will be from 11:30 to noon with the 2 1/2 Dozen Club in charge. Other club assignments include Nicholas; Paul Planners, program; Jolly Neighbors, table decorations; Willing Hands, favors; WFW Battle Stars, clean up; and Good Neighbors, door prizes and hat contest.

Each club is to furnish casseroles, a l a d s, desserts and for its own members and women are asked to furnish their own table service.

Renee Alder, extension home agent, conducted the meeting in the absence of the president, Mrs. Roger Brown. She announced the district meeting to be held March 23 at the Burley Elks Lodge, with registration and coffee hour from 9 to 10 a.m.

Mrs. Seth Baird, chairman of the fair committee, reported plans for an open class section at the county fair this fall, the first time for such an event in the county.

Classes will include remodeled clothing, hand-dyed, quilts and needlework; knitting and crochet; canning, requiring three jars of fruit, including one berry and one tomato, two jars of vegetables, and one jar each of jam or jelly and pickles; and including cakes, cookies, candies and breads and clothing in adult and children classifications.

Also planned, Mrs. Baird said, is an invitation to the Desert Art Guild to hold an art show during the fair possibly in connection with the flower show, and a hobby show for senior citizens.

Fair awards for the first year will be ribbons only; no cash prizes are planned, Mrs. Baird said.

The civil defense committee announced a film on the Alaskan earthquake to conclude the afternoon.

SOUTH PUSHES PANIC BUTTON

A letter from Winnipeg reads in part, "Do you ever open with a bid of four no-trump? If you do, what does the bid mean?"

The answer to this question is that we do use the four no-

It is evident that North and South would have no trouble getting 4♠ diamonds almost any bidding sequence, but the opening four no-trump is really valuable here.

Suppose, for example, that North opened with a natural forcing two diamond bid or an artificial forcing two club bid.

East is not vulnerable. He can't be expected to get into the bidding at the five level but any East worth his salt would surely get into action at the two level and stick in a two spade overcall.

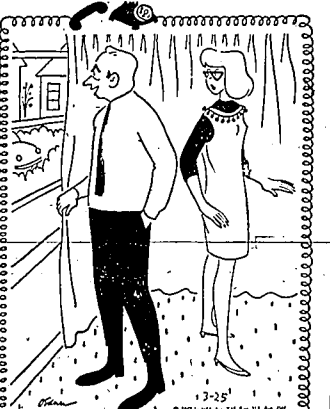

South would pass and West would bid either three hearts or three spades. This would not stop North from trying Blackwood at his second turn but it also would not stop East and West taking a save at six spades. Six spades would be down three tricks for 500 points but that is a lot less than paying for a successful slam.

Q—The bidding has been: Pass 1♠ Pass 2♣ Pass 3♠ Pass 3♥ Pass 3NT Pass 5♠ Opening lead—K trump opening bid about once every year or so and when we do we are asking for nces. In other words our opening four no-trump is immediate Blackwood.

Today's hand shows this bid at work. South is a trifle shocked to find that he is expected to play a diamond slam without a diamond in his hand but he recovers from the shock in time to collect for the game, slam and rubber.

Has He Gone Batty Or Is He Joking?

Dear Ele and Walt: I have a friend who started to act so... why does he act like this a little odd? He says there's this thing up and cracking jokes, but lately I don't think he's fooling... He says he's like to God. It also says he's in communication with the C.I.A., J. Edgar Hoover, and Teddy Roosevelt. He says there's this big plot to put poison in our water system, and so he doesn't drink water here. This isn't just sometimes; he's always talking about it. What, if anything, do I do?—Lee's Friend.

Dear Friend: Tell Eric that the best person to inform about this—danger-to-the-water-supply would be his doctor. Then you to accompany him on the "Psyl mission." If he's putting you on, he'll drop the act at the doctor's door if he's serious; well, the doctor will take it from there.—Ele and Walt.

HER DIVORCED MOTHER

KISSES, DRINKS

Dear Ele and Walt: I have an embarrassing problem. My parents were divorced a year ago and my mother got engaged to my Severn's mother. I don't go to church but I give four hours of volunteer service a week teaching swimming at a boys' club.

And that's why I'm writing you. Today when I came to the club the new director called me in and told me I'd either have to quit or stop working with the kids. Why? Because some parent complained that he didn't want his son associating with "an immoral, draft-dodging, beatnik." (I saw the letter). I know what I'm going to do, but I bet my mother would do it with my mother and Jeff. I just stayed in my room all night crying.

Now I'm afraid that my friend's parents won't let them associate with me because of that incident. What can I do?—Clint

Dear Clint: The least said is soonest mended. You know your own "mother, how could you tell her she was a draft dodger? You can't avoid a I'd take my gear and talent re-run of that awkward moment. To an organization where "innocence" should be the rule and the idea-of-a-having-on-the-friend-ship. Keep a rein on your temper and calm should be able to handle it.

Then, if you're not already known to your friend's parents, make it a point to drop in on their homes and let them know you can teach both boys. If you act laidlike, there's no chance modern parents will rule you taboo no matter what they heard about Jeff and you. —Ele and Walt

HER REP IS CHILLED

Dear Ele: I'm a junior at a large high school, and since I'm in a school office everyone knows me. This summer I dated a new boy four times. I thought you phone before you get that sort of thing. The truth is that I'm just a normal girl and I wasn't cold, I was just

Increase Indicated Later

By JACK LEFLER

Additional economic indicators showed during the week that business lagged in the first quarter of 1967, but the head of the Federal Reserve Board predicted improvement later in the year.

Automobile sales in mid-March declined, steel demand slipped, durable goods orders fell in February and the first personal income slowed in February.

William McChesney Martin, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, said, "A resurgence in economic activity is most likely prospect as 1967 progresses."

He told the Senate Finance Committee that a reinstatement of the investment tax credit incentives now would help avoid the possibility of hesitation in the economy in coming months. But he warned that inflationary pressures has permitted the Federal Reserve to raise interest rates by only a quarter percentage point so that the economy can take a faster pace of investment by business without suffering new pressures of price.

He added that these factors—rate of personal savings—should provide "sufficient funds to accommodate business financing needs in February and the rise in volume of home financing."

Martin also supported President Johnson's proposal for a 10 per cent surcharge on incomes later this year.

The Senate Finance Committee voted to restore the 7 per cent business investment tax credit but on far less liberal terms than approved by the House.

The Senate committee voted to deny the investment tax credit for all items during the suspension period that began last October. The House bill would allow retroactive claims for the tax breaks for items ordered but not delivered during the suspension period.

Sales of U.S.-made cars in 1966 fell from 238,340 a year earlier. General Motors reported a decline of 20.5 per cent in car sales. Ford 23.2 per cent, Chrysler 10.8 per cent and American Motors 5.1 per cent.

Steel mills reported demand is continuing to weaken as they move into a period when purchases normally climb seasonally.

Reports were that orders slacken so far in March are falling off from the slow pace of February or, at best, holding even or only slightly. Steelmakers have been securing their esti-

Interested persons should apply to the city office for the service. Determination of availability of the service will be under the direction of Wayne Hollenbeck.

Hollenbeck reported the drain lines under the pool needs to be replaced. He also reported that the city needs a street sweeper and suggested that one be purchased on a lease purchase agreement. He was authorized to look into the cost of such an arrangement, and the council will then determine the feasibility of the proposal.

Eric Young expressed before the council seeking authorization to park his boat and trailer on the street during the vacation season. His request will be under the ordinance before ruling on the matter.

The council went on record approving the 8 1/2, 8 3/4, and 8 1/2, calling for court reports. The mayor was authorized to write a letter to Donald Samuelson requesting his veto on the matter, which has been approved by both the council and city.

Aminda Brookie received a permit for building a chimney, Paul Collins was permitted to start small hothouse for seedlings, and Matt Pennie Co., Boise, a permit for a sign for his Pharmacy.

The Commerce Department reported a 4 per cent drop in imports during February gave the United States its best surplus in 11 months.

Exports, although down sevenths of one per cent from January, were the third highest in a four-month period, with exports dropping to $2,204,100,000, giving the United States a surplus of exports over imports of $874.1 million.

Automobile production for the week fell 18 per cent to an estimated 133,700, partly because of Good Friday closings of plants.

Steel production during the week moved up 0.5 per cent to 2,476,000 tons from 2,464,000 tons the previous week.

A VIEW FROM THE FRONT OFFICE

What do they mean by "as good as Blue Cross"?

When you're presented with what looks like an attractive bid for prepayment health-care coverage — and you're told it's as good as Blue Cross and it will cover "all that's needed," ask: What is the basis of comparison?

Don't compare programs that pay a fixed amount of money with Blue Cross of Idaho — which pays in service, not dollars.

There is no comparison — because you cannot predict or compute how much or what will be needed when unexpected accident or illness occurs. The Blue Cross certificate in addition to a liberal room allowance, lists benefits in terms of in-hospital service — not as fixed amounts of money. Blue Cross will provide this necessary care — regardless of costs.

The Blue Cross system of service benefits is the only realistic protection against the cost of the care you require in the hospital. It's the best buy — dollar-for-dollar — for you and your employees.

A careful comparison will confirm this fact. Talk to a specialist from Blue Cross of Idaho. Let him discuss your company's protection in terms of reality.

When you need Blue Cross, nothing less will do.

CSI Arrives In Denver, Prepares For First Game Of National AAU Meet

DENVER — The College of Southern Idaho Golden Eagles arrived in Denver Saturday evening in preparation for their opening-round game Sunday with the Armed Forces All-Stars in the National AAU Basketball Tournament. The Eagles-All-Stars game will be played at 8:30 p.m. following two others. The remainder of the 19-team field drew first-round byes. If successful against the Armed Forces, the Eagles will play at 7 p.m. Monday against the Eaton Merchants of Eaton, Ohio.

If Clay Fights Again It Will Be In U.S.

CHICAGO (AP) — If Cassius Clay has another fight it will be in the United States, said the heavyweight champion's manager, Herbert Muhammad, Saturday. The manager said a proposed title defense between Clay and Argentina's Oscar Bonavena for Tokyo May 27 is definitely off. This backed up a story Saturday in the New York World Journal Tribune, written by Jesse Abramson.

SEC Being Prodded To Desegregate

ATLANTA (AP) — Members of the sprawling Southeastern Conference, which stretches over most of the Deep South, are being prodded by federal officials to desegregate their athletic programs. None of the present members of the 34-year-old conference has ever had Negro varsity teams, although racial barriers are crumbling and teams from all 10 schools have played against Negroes.

Kentucky and Vanderbilt have Negro freshmen athletic grants, and at least two other schools are actively recruiting Negroes. The SEC has no formal complaints have been made in the past about the "white only" athletic policies at SEC schools, all of which have Negroes in their student bodies.

The federal agency said Friday it is reminding conference members that segregated athletic programs violate Title VII of the 1964 Civil Rights Act for recipients of federal aid.

"We are concentrating on the Southeastern Conference," the spokesman said when asked if similar action was under way in other areas, Negroes have complained over major conferences.

International Cage League Plans Told

NEW YORK (AP) — Plans have been finalized for an international professional basketball league to begin play in 1967-68, the New York Journal Tribune said Friday.

The newspaper story by Jerry Levine said the International Basketball Association tentatively plans an Eastern Division with Basketball Association of America players in New York, New York, New York, Boston, Toronto, Washington, Atlanta, Miami and San Juan, P.R. The West would have players from Los Angeles, Madrid, West Berlin, Frankfurt, a team from South America and one from behind the Iron Curtain.

Players apparently would be recruited from the various countries. The article said the IBA is being masterminded by New York attorney Leo Stern and a franchise already has been awarded to New York City and will be held by attorneys William Sherer and William Auerbach. It said a report was made at a secret meeting last week on the construction of a new arena in Manhattan and completion of the sports complex within 16 months.

Teams in Boston and New York would be in direct competition with clubs in the National Basketball Association. The IBA hopes to televise its games via Telstar and has decided on a method of revolving player talent among squares so fans can see all players at regular intervals and to maintain a degree of uniformity among teams, the newspaper said.

Charmey, who previously declined to accept a franchise in the new American Basketball Association, has taken steps to incorporate the league, the article said.

The Golden Eagles arrived in Denver Saturday evening in preparation for their opening-round game Sunday with the Armed Forces All-Stars in the National AAU Basketball Tournament. The Eagles-All-Stars game will be played at 8:30 p.m. following two others. The remainder of the 19-team field drew first-round byes. If successful against the Armed Forces, the Eagles will play at 7 p.m. Monday against the Eaton Merchants of Eaton, Ohio.

Whether the Eagles will add any help in the form of height isn't known. Saturday night's coach Eddie Sutton, running into Easter weekend traffic, was unable to greet the team in Denver as planned. He is expected later in the night.

The Armed forces team is the second shortest in the tournament, taller only than CSI. It is paced by Mike Silliman, a 6-6 All-American who earned the honor at West Point last year. The service team also has two other men at 6-6 in Ken Bradford of Iowa and Ed Smith of Chicago Loyola.

The team also has former stars from Michigan, West Virginia, Tennessee A and I, North Carolina State and Rutgers.

The possible opponent for Monday, Eaton Merchants, headed by Louis Dampier, an former All-American from last year's team, was also expected to lead in Kentucky to the NCAA runner-up spot. They have other men from Dayton, Miami of Ohio, Tennessee State and Murray State.

The field reads like a who's who in college and current American college basketball. One such is 6-8 Albert Tucker, a Tulsa Coca-Cola, who scored 47 points in the NCAA final for Oklahoma Baptist, Mocomb, Ill., who would be CSI's quarterfinal opponent, is bolstered by five men from Bradley, The Milwaukee, Wis., is paced by Bobby Wolfe, who was named Mr. Basketball in this year's NBA.

Another more familiar name is Ken Scarborough, a 6-3 guard from Winston-Salem, who is playing for Group Productions points over the New York Yankees.

Detroit got to Yankee starter Steve Hamilton for four runs in the first inning at Lakeland, Fla., and added another on Kaline's solo shot in the seventh and two more on his two-run homer in the eighth.

Philadelphia came up with 11 hits and took advantage of several Los Angeles throwing errors to beat the Dodgers 7-1 at Cincinatti. Jim Bunning gave up just three hits in six innings for the Phils and scored two.

Lee May's sacrifice fly in the bottom of the ninth gave Cincinnati a 5-4 triumph over Atlanta at Tampa, Fla. Daron Johnson gave up just three hits in six innings for the Phils and scored two.

Bob Allison hit a two-run homer and a pair of singles, as the Minnesota Twins clubbed Boston 8-3 at Winter Haven, Fla. Joe Foy homered for the Red Sox.

Roger Maris hit his first home run Saturday, powering Detroit to a 7-3 Grapefruit League victory over the New York Yankees.

Detroit got to Yankee starter Steve Hamilton for four runs in the first inning at Lakeland, Fla., and added another on Kaline's solo shot in the seventh and two more on his two-run homer in the eighth.

Philadelphia came up with 11 hits and took advantage of several Los Angeles throwing errors to beat the Dodgers 7-1 at Cincinatti. Jim Bunning gave up just three hits in six innings for the Phils and scored two.

Lee May's sacrifice fly in the bottom of the ninth gave Cincinnati a 5-4 triumph over Atlanta at Tampa, Fla. Daron Johnson gave up just three hits in six innings for the Phils and scored two.

Bob Allison hit a two-run homer and a pair of singles, as the Minnesota Twins clubbed Boston 8-3 at Winter Haven, Fla. Joe Foy homered for the Red Sox.

Roger Maris hit his first home run Saturday, powering Detroit to a 7-3 Grapefruit League victory over the New York Yankees.

Another more familiar name is Ken Scarborough, a 6-3 guard from Winston-Salem, who is playing for Group Productions points over the New York Yankees.

Despite Problems, Job Corps Offers Tremendous Advantages

By PEGGY LALEY
Times-News Feature Writer

There has been much speculation as to the actual value of the Job Corps training program that has been in existence in the Magic Valley for nearly two years.

The Job Corps is designed to help the youth of America, most of whom are school dropouts, to attain basic skills and work habits to enable them to find and hold jobs.

The very nature of the youth attracted by this program gives it a rough and tough atmosphere that intimidates and repels those from the smaller towns and rural areas.

(Since it has been overwhelmingly boys who have gone from this area they are the ones this article was written about.)

Out of 38 who have enrolled in this program from Twin Falls 18 have dropped out and returned home. Of these four have re-applied and have been accepted.

These candidates are often hostile to life—school, their parents and society in general. Boys from more urban areas are products of an environment that teaches a "hit before you get hit" and a "you gotta take care of yourself, no one else will" attitude.

This creates a hoodlum type atmosphere at the first to which it is hard for boys raised in communities such as Twin Falls to adjust.

Many of them do not adjust; they give up and come home. There is little that can be done about this until staffs at the camps have had time to change these philosophies and attitudes toward life and society.

Some who drop out of the program reconsider and reapply, realizing that what they stand to gain far outweighs the disadvantage of having to face this rough, tough element.

The Job Corps is designed to provide a program for the rehabilitation both emotionally and by education for the school dropout.

However, Royal Slotten, the Corps representative at the local employment office, says that "the first attempt is to get the boy back into school. We are not trying to pirate students from the school systems. We want to try to help those that can not be helped by local educators."

There have been instances where a principal will turn to the Job Corps for assistance with a student who is in school but is getting nothing out of it.

Two graduates of the program have recently returned and both are enthusiastic about the advantages they feel they have gained. They talk freely about the changes in their attitudes and their outlook on life.

Ronald Massey left Twin Falls in April of 1965. He spent nine months at the Job Corps training center, Tongue Point, Astoria, Ore., where he studied repair and maintenance of small engines.

When he graduated from this course he joined the army and has just returned from eight months of duty in Germany.

He came home to visit his family before going to Vietnam where he has volunteered for a year's duty.

Ronald had a great deal to say about his impressions, attitudes and the value of the Job Corps to him. He said that the program had helped him more than he had ever thought it would.

He originally left school because his mother had lung cancer and someone was needed at home to care for his five-year-old sister. After the mother recovered he just didn't go back to school and in his words, "faced a life of roaming-the-streets."

Finally he applied for admittance to the Job Corps.

Ronald stressed his deep feeling of appreciation for Mr. Slotten and for Fred Sanger, the local postmaster who swore him into the Corps.

He said that the going was rough for a while but from this experience he has gained a goal for his life which he had never thought about before.

Ronald wants to finish his military obligation and then go to college. During the time he was in the Corps he also studied English, math, art and history in order to pass a QED test, which will give him the equivalent of a high school degree.

By the time his enlistment is finished he will have accomplished this and will be ready to go into the business of getting a college degree in chemistry.

He feels so strongly now about the advantages of an education he has made plans to help his younger brother go on to college.

Another Job Corpsman who has returned after nearly two years of training, Larry Ferris, has graduated as a general cook. He will be employed in the kitchens at Sun Valley.

Larry, who was also a dropout from high school, now faces life with a background of training that will provide for him a good living.

The Job Corps is basically a program of education, skill training and work experience aimed at those who need an environmental change and individual help to develop talents, self-confidence and the motivation to improve themselves.

There are two classifications of centers — urban and rural.

Many of the rural centers are located in the West and are operated by the Forest Service, National Park Service, Bureau of Indian Affairs and the Bureau of Land Management, Reclamation and Sport Fisheries and Wildlife.

The urban centers offer a more intensive vocational training with some specializing in specific skills. Many of these centers are run by private industry under contract to the government.

Industry is exhibiting a great deal of interest and approval for this program. Other than a philanthropic attitude they are vitally concerned about the lack of skilled labor in the country today and realize that through

With a certificate of graduation from a Job Corps cooks' school, Larry Ferris can look forward to the security provided by having a skill. Mr. Ferris recently completed his two year course and will now be employed at Sun Valley. (Times-News photo)

Discussing the advantages of the Job Corps are Royal Slotten, left, corps representative at the local employment office, Ronald Massey, center, Job Corps graduate, and Fred Sanger, right, local postmaster. Mr. Massey has just returned from an eight months' tour of duty with the army in Germany. (Times-News photo)

Giant Steps Made In Special Education Program In Valley

By PEGGY LALEY
Times-News Feature Writer

This country should be proud of the giant steps that have been taken in education in this area.

The special education program, which was begun about a year ago, is a concrete and highly successful example of a new trend being pushed by educators and other concerned people to train and rehabilitate children and young people formerly considered hopeless.

These children are the physically and mentally handicapped. At one time there was no thought that these unfortunate could ever find a productive place in society.

Now specially trained educators have proved that with training and a curriculum designed to meet special needs these young people can eventually find jobs and keep them.

In fact, local employers who are working with the program by providing employment to the older students on a training basis say that there is more devotion to the job and less absenteeism with these handicapped than with other employees.

Just recently a new section to house this special education program was finished and an open house held for the public at Robert Stuart Junior High School.

In addition to classrooms the building contains two gymnasiums, one large and one smaller. These are an important part of the physical fitness program which must be included to develop those who are physically handicapped.

There is the nucleus of a wood-working shop where unsuspected talents are becoming apparent in some of the boys.

The girls are taught cooking and sewing. Mrs. Charles L. events.

Even the advertisements become a teaching aid. The students make up menus and from the prices listed in the paper figure the cost of the meal.

A similar special education program is being instituted on a three county basis in Lincoln, Jerome and Gooding Counties.

Asked why he chose the school, the father said he came to know about Grant through an exchange of letters with Joseph N. Feinstein, a teacher at the school.

He writes poems in Korean and Chinese and solves complicated differential calculus. His father says Kim has memorized about 2,000 English and German words each. The boy scored better than 200 on an IQ test normally given to 17-year-olds. He has published books of essays and poems.

With these credentials who needs high school? Kim could always apply for college.

The Money Box

BY FRANK SCHELL

First letter this week is from D. A. L. Burley, who asks: "Did the United States have fifty dollar gold pieces? I heard a fellow the other day talking about this coin and I thought the government had not made a gold piece of this value. I would appreciate a reply."

Answer: The United States has no fifty dollar gold pieces for general circulation. At one time they actually went so far as to make dies for this coin, but made none for the public.

A fifty dollar coin was struck for inclusion with the Panama-Pacific Exposition Souvenir set which sold in 1915, but this was strictly a souvenir coin and only about a thousand were struck.

Incidentally, this coin was made in two shapes, round and octagonal (8-sided), with the round ones being the lowest mintage. The coin is very beautiful, but, assembled, no other United States coins.

In the set was included a gold dollar and a gold two-dollar-and-a-half piece. The fifty-dollar coin now is worth in the neighborhood of $4,000 per copy — when obtainable.

There were some gold slugs made in California in the $50 denomination — but these were not official government pieces. The construction of the overboard had to concern the above coins, or the information was wrong.

This column has had several requests for information on proof coins of the United States. Some time ago we covered this information, but since evidently some of the readers missed the article we'll explain about "proof" coins, again.

In the early days of the mint, it was customary to make special presentation sets containing one of each of the coins being minted for gifts to visiting foreign dignitaries and officials.

These coins were called "proof" since they were struck with brand-new dies to prove that the dies were as near perfect as possible.

All of these "proof" coins are brilliant and shiny, with the specially polished surface which is never matched by regular coinage, even when brand new.

Proof sets are highly prized by collectors, since they are the finest examples of the coin obtainable. They were struck in small quantities and very sparsely for a number of years.

Commencing in 1938 these sets of coins were produced each year, and collectors could obtain them directly from the mint. As collecting grew more and more people attempted to acquire them, the mintage jumped each year.

In 1942, due to the war, coinage was discontinued and not resumed until 1950.

The proof sets contained, of course, the 50c, 25c, 10c, 5c and 1c pieces, dated in the current year of mintage.

Originally they were put individually in a cellophane envelope, but from 1950 on they are sealed together in one plastic container.

The sets (face value) coinage. They sold to the collector for $2.10, postage paid.

Proof sets became a very popular investment at the number of collectors grew, since previous years' issues are not obtainable at the mint.

A great amount of agitation was caused by the fact that it is a set of new coinage (off the production line) from the mint.

These are not specially struck, but are new money taken from the regular run.

Proof sets were discontinued in 1959 due to the shortage of gold coinage, and have not yet been re-introduced. It is not possible to buy proof sets at this time from the mint.

"Mint" sets are obtainable from The San Francisco Mint now for the current year.

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

The "little red barn" is again on its way after traveling more than 5,000 miles last year and returning to TUTTLE early in 1967. Its owner, the Tuttle Hilltoppers Square Dance Club, hopes to re-capture the miniature barn again this fall at the square dance jamboree planned at Yellowstone Park over Labor Day. The barn, about 1 1/2 feet long and 8 inches wide, is made of wood, painted red with a green roof and has white outlined doors and windows.

It was made by Joe Sellers, WENDELL, a member of the club. It was first presented to two couples from the Red Hot Square Dance Club at Ogden, to take to their club and then be given to the couple attending barn dances who had come the farthest distance.

The traveling barn started its journeys in January, 1966, at the annual barn dance staged by the Hilltoppers club.

A log was kept on the name of the club receiving it, address, date received, mileage and night of the club dance sessions. According to the log the barn went to the Caribee Squares, Soda Springs; Wheelin-Squares, Pocatello; Orbit Squares, Blackfoot; Upper Valley-Squares, St. Anthony; Pimstone, Idaho Falls; Knobs and Squares and Capitol Squares, Boise; Belles and Bonnets, Vernal; Promenaders, Idaho Falls; Federation Dance, Lewiston, then returned to Idaho Falls.

Next it went to the Promenaders Summer Jamboree and returned to Idaho Falls; to Joo Lewis Dance, Idaho Falls; 3rd Idaho Square Dance Festival, Idaho Falls; Coeurville, Coeur d'Alene; Circle and Swing, Sandpoint; Kootenai Kluggers, Sandpoint; Traveling Squares, Wall, South Dakota; Town and Country Squares, Missoula, S. D.; Square Dance Festival, Rapid City, S. D., and back to Tuttle.

It was mailed back from Missoula, S. D., by Maxine and Don, Wyn Meyer. The barn traveled 5,155 miles.

The Hilltoppers hope the barn will go even farther this year and plan to ask whoever has it at Labor Day to take it to a further host.

The Hilltoppers club dances each Thursday evening at the Tuttle Grange Hall and the group is sponsored by the Tuttle Grange. Caller is Vern Schroeder.

On March 10, the oldest resident of Yost, Utah, a small town four miles across the Utah border from Cassia county and nine miles south of ALMO, Thomas Rollison Wright, the community's oldest resident, was honored on his 101st birthday anniversary.

Open house was held at his home. Mr. Wright has been March 10, 1866, in E. T. City (Lakepoint) Toole County, Utah. He is the only living survivor of a family of 12 children.

When he was 11 years old he left his birthplace with a neighbor, Hyrum Yates, and went to Pacific Valley, Utah, near Yost. Here for 23 years he herded sheep and worked on farms and ranches.

On Jan. 23, 1895, he married Olive Chadwick in Park Valley. In 1905 the family moved to Standid where they lived briefly before returning to Yost where Mr. Wright has made his home since 1906.

Mrs. Wright died March 20,

Automobile Is Symbol For Party In East Germany And Goal For People

KARL MARK STADT, East German (AP) — In East Germany the automobile is a symbol for the party and a goal for the people.

The ability to deliver a good, cheap car would symbolize Communist success in their centrally run economy. For the people, possession of a car is something tangible to show for their hard work since World War II.

Against this background, the appearance of an American car of the low-priced field becomes a focal point in this area.

Whenever an American correspondent sees the interior and trunk of a car, it provokes conversations with workers, passersby and officials.

Two questions are always asked: "How fast does it go?" "How much does it cost?"

And usually these are added: "Can the average worker afford one?"

"How much does the average worker in the United States make?"

Given such information, East Germans react variously.

A young worker in Karl Marx Stadt — formerly Chemnitz — said: "I would like to have a car, but I have not enough money to buy one. I have to save for a long time."

In Restock, a group of construction workers, including their foreman, stood around the American car and measured it like a carpenter's rule.

When the visitor came out of a harbor warehouse, accompanied by a local Communist functionary, the worker asked to see the engine, interior and trunk. The functionary said there was no time.

Replied the foreman: "Come on, let him show us. How often do we get the chance to see something like this here?"

Cars made in East Germany are the Trabant, with three doors, and the bigger Wartburg, with five. The Trabant starts at 7,500 marks and the Wartburg is 15,000-17,000.

The dollar value is difficult to compute. The East German tourist rate is 4.2 marks to the dollar. West Berlin banks quote a rate of 11.8 east marks to the dollar.

Automobile prices are manipulated in order to keep demand in line with supply, which is limited by a shortage of materials.

The average wage in East Germany is about 50 marks a month. Tax in the price of a Wartburg may run as high as 10,000 marks.

About 650,000 cars were licensed in East Germany at the end of 1965, with well over a million motor bikes and scooters of various types. The population is 17 million.

Communist officials are sensitive about the situation. Said one official in a mill, "The problem with our cars — getting enough to meet the demand — is well known."

This sensitivity is heightened by the appearance not only of an occasional American car but of West German cars in far greater numbers. This makes for an all-German postwar comparison and the Communist output, despite allowances for the disadvantages resulting from division, suffers from the comparison.

Program Given

RUPERT — Kiwanians were entertained with an Easter program when they met Tuesday at Hinings Cafe.

The program, furnished by the Christian Church, included a "Medley of Christian Hymns" sung by Leann Warren and Mrs. James Corcoran, accompanied by James Holbrook, and the fraternal message by Rev. Holbrook.

GIRL COMPETES

RUPERT — Carol Gibson was winner of the Minico High School, district and area American Legion sponsored oratorical contest, and she competed in the state contest at Boise, receiving honorable mention there. The winner was from Pocatello.

Graduation Party Slated At Hollister

HOLLISTER — Annual graduation party for the Hollister community school sixth graders and seniors' attending Yost High School will be held May 10, it was reported at the Hollister Grange meeting Wednesday night.

A letter was read from the Twin Falls County Fair-Bound celebrating grangers on the outstanding exhibits of agriculture products at the Twin Falls Fair, and asking grangers to use the Centennial theme in their booth decorations this year.

C. M. Lanting thanked the grange for the use of the hall for the Hollister Community Church pancake supper served. The proceeds are to be used to caliche and redecorate a young people's room at the church.

Mrs. Glenn Nelson reported that the Hollister Grange is conducting the Red Cross drive on the Union Tract. Those helping solicit are Mrs. W. J. Lanting, Mrs. Goldie Clute, Rogerson, Mrs. C. E. Bush, Mrs. Edna Parrott, Dale Kunkel, and Mrs. Nelson.

Mrs. C. M. Lanting, secretary, announced that the Twin Falls Pomona Grange will meet April 8 at the Knoll Grange, and Hollister has been asked to provide a quartet for part of the lecturer's program that evening.

David Chadwick, master, reported that the Idaho grangers are the process of compiling a grange favorite recipe booklet and asked all grange women to help participate in the program.

Mrs. W. J. Lanting presented the lecturer's program. The centennial candles were lighted during the lecture hour and Mrs. Glenn Nelson read an article on the centennial theme for March. It was noted that a special stamp is to be produced this year in observance of the 100th anniversary of the grange organization.

Mrs. Mae Knudson read an article. An Easter egg guessing contest was won by Mr. A. E. Kunkel. The closing inspirational thought was given by Mrs. David Chadwick.

A number of visiting politicians have received much favorable comment and free campaign boosting in Richfield while Ward rides them around in one of his eye-catching surreys "with the fringe on top."

Famous cheese makers rate the same honor and the surreys are always looked forward to with interest in Richfield's Outlaw Day parades.

Collecting surreys and old buggies is one of Ward's side line hobbies started about three years ago. He has brought them from as far away as Washington state and is ever alert at farm sales. Two cutters or sleighs are recent acquisitions making a total of 11 vehicles he now owns.

Ward credits his doctor with starting him on his hobby of owning Appaloosa horses. His interest has continued to grow and the work involved more demanding each year. Old Chico, his first Appaloosa, bought five years ago, kept around for sentimental reasons.

Due to a hurt foot the animal is no longer his prize show horse, but has been shown at Magic Valley horse shows and fairs as well as Jackson, Wyo., and Utah. Mrs. Jay Ward and Dallas Ward have taken Chico in Outlaw Day races.

Ward's second son, Dallas, a teacher at O'Leary Junior high school, has been shown with dad in the Appaloosa training. The avid horsemen are looking forward to showing some of their latest acquisitions this summer including Jay Lady, Quinella, Lady Bridle, and Vals Danabolo.

Sunday Day, a cut over on Sunday and easy to name, they will be shown. They show the Appaloosas in the halter and cutting classes.

Exercising nine horses each day is quite a chore for somebody like Cliff and Dallas so their latest invention is a merry-go-round for the horses. It is run by motor but causes only a few minutes of round and round.

Both Cliff and his wife, Olive, enjoy riding their matched pair of Appaloosas as members of the Carey Riding Club. They have ridden Little Buck, Shut and Little Red Heart in shows at Dillon, Mont., Idaho Falls, and Rupert and look forward to events this summer.

The Wards take their mounts to Carey by trailer twice a week to practice with the club during the season. At Richfield they belong to the Outlaw Riding Club with Ward serving as vice president of the organization and Mrs. Ward as treasurer.

Ward is also a much traveled person who considers his outlook broadened by so many interests. He and his wife visited in Europe a few years ago returning with their son, Jay, as he came back from a church mission to the British Isles.

En route home they visited Dallas, also on a mission at the time in the Southern States. Now a third son, Lowell, is on a mission to the Spanish speaking people in Southern California.

Two daughters make up the rest of the household family. They are Sharon, Mrs. Dick Christensen, Provo, Utah, and Joyce Ward, an eight grade student at Richfield. The family now includes seven grandchildren, a son-in-law, and a daughter-in-law, enough to exercise all their Appaloosas for many years to come.

OVER 400 GET-WELL CARDS and letters have been received by Age Stilling during his recent illness. Many of the best wishes come from students, former students and parents of students at Harrison school where he is custodian. (Times-News photo)

Man Receives Flood Of Best Wishes To Speed Recovery

When Age Stilling returned home recently after a serious operation and long stay in a Salt Lake City hospital, he was greeted by a large hand painted sign on his front door at 1139 Fifth Avenue East.

The sign, liberally decorated with flowers and other signs of spring stated "Welcome Home, Age."

It was painted by Mrs. Don Lambert as she, along with many others in the community, expressed joy at having an old friend safely home.

Mr. Stilling, who is the custodian at Harrison school, is recovering; to wish him Happy Valentines, Happy St. Patrick's Day and Happy Easter.

A doctor at the Salt Lake hospital told the family that during his (the doctor's) six years at the institution they had never had a patient who had received so much mail and so many flowers.

The doctor then hazarded the opinion that Mr. Stilling must be everyone wanted him to hurry and get well and come back to school because the paint was peeling and the fountain pens were flooding the floor. It is doubtful that the situation is this drastic but it is certain that they all want him back just as soon as possible.

One reason for his popularity at the school could be his ability to dash off cartoon figures for the children. One afternoon a boy wanted a picture of an Indian which Mr. Stilling drew for him. Shortly the boy was back requesting another.

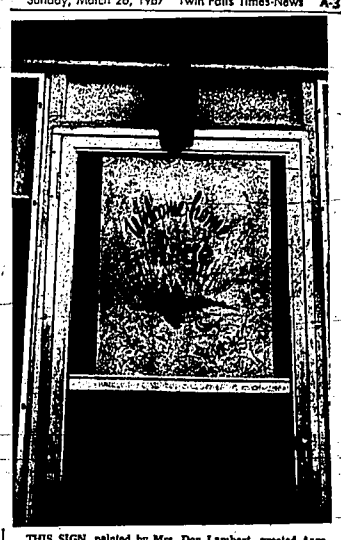

Mr. Stilling asked him what happened to the first one and the boy replied that a bigger kid had threatened to beat him if he didn't give the picture to him. The smaller boy gave it to the bigger boy, but still wanted one for himself.

Mr. and Mrs. Stilling came to Twin Falls from Copenhagen, Denmark, 12 years ago. For these 12 years the couple has been trying to become naturalized citizens of the United States but various interruptions, notably Mr. Stilling's illness, have prevented it.

Now that he is home again the big day has been set for April 27.

Mrs. Stilling's mother, Mrs. Frieda Bomerang, who lives in Copenhagen, will spend as much time as possible in the United States in visiting at the home of her son-in-law and daughter. She came to spend the Christ-

Giant Strides Mark Progress Of Local Education Program

The closest camp of this type is at Clearfield, Utah, run by Thilo Chemical Co.

Since applicants for the Corps are not high school graduates, a remedial education program is included to enable them to attain the equivalent of a high school diploma.

Each center is staffed with professional teachers and counselors with an emphasis on new teaching methods. In addition, the craftsmen work and live with VISTA Volunteers (Volunteers in Service to America) the domestic version of the peace corps.

Although the Job Corp also includes opportunities for girls the program in this area has been aimed toward the boys.

The Corps' ratios have recently been changed to include a larger percentage of girls and Mrs. John Ricks has been named the representative for this area. Before this, any female applicants would have had to go to Boise for application and processing.

The Job Corps enrolls re-enters room and board, work clothing and medical care plus $30 a month. When they graduate from the Corps they receive a terminal payment of $50 for every month they have spent in the program.

The training at the schools are geared to the learning rate of the individual and through regular counseling the student is able to discuss his progress.

Although, legally any citizen or permanent resident of the United States is eligible, other factors are considered in reviewing applicants to insure that this program will benefit those that need it most.

The Corps does not guarantee

Job on completion of the training, but the fact that the job seeker has had training and is skilled greatly increases his chances of obtaining employment.

Following graduation, representatives of the corps do work with the participants and efforts are made to interest prospective employers in the skills and abilities of the Job Corp graduates.

Foster Parents Honored At Tea Given By DPA Employees

The people at the Department of Public Assistance should be commended for their strong loyalty and association in their job. Last Sunday this group went 'way beyond their actual job responsibilities and gave a luncheon honoring foster parents in Twin Falls County.

There are no department funds available for a project such as this so the staff took it upon themselves to provide refreshments and give of their time to greet these guests in the department offices at the old hospital building.

Besides the guests of honor, other members of the community who have volunteered their help in this program of child care were invited.

Last year 83 children in Twin Falls County were placed in foster homes. These are children whose custody and care has been delegated to the DPA by the courts because of neglect, abuse, abandonment or other family problems.

According to Child Care Licensing Act of the Idaho Code a foster home is "a home which accepts for any period of time, with or without compensation, an unrelated child as a member of the household for the purpose of providing substitute parental care for the child."

There are not meant to be permanent homes but must fit the child's needs for love and the child can be returned to his parents.

This is the department's goal. It usually returns them to their natural parents. In order to achieve this the case worker must work with the parents as well as with the child.

These people work with the parents toward a more normal, better balanced life for them as well as for the child.

In a few cases the department decides that the situation is such that it is better for the child not to be returned to his home.

The court can then decide to place the child in a foster home. In such cases the department decides that the situation is such that it is better for the child not to be returned to his home.

Bunny Faces Rivalry For Colored Eggs

The Easter Bunny business is about to be overtaken by a group of flighty creatures who apparently have a corner on the naturally-colored egg market.

Going by the name of Araucanas, these creatures lay colored eggs. They offer escape from the boring water-mess dye to the harassed housewife who annually dingles several thousand eggs to produce bright pastel colors on Easter Eve.

Mr. and Mrs. Wes Schiffer, Filtr, are among the recent Araucanas converts in this area. They have owned 10 hens and three roosters for approximately one year, and have found the chickens to be good layers and easy to care for.

Actually, they note, the color of Easter egg dye while not extremely high, is one usually heard and all the enchantment of a fisherman's daughter, "named Sam," shines through the subdued colors.

The story, also written by Miss Schiffer and gently humorous, and the book will be richly rewarding to parents and children alike.

Nominations for these awards are made by children's librarians from schools and public libraries all over the United States.

Announcement of the awards was made by Mrs. Augusta Baker, Coordinator of Children's Services at the New York Public Library, and chairman of the Newbery-Caldecott Awards Committee for the American Library Association.

The awards will be presented June 27 during the annual conference of the association in San Francisco.

"These medals are the highest award to creators of children's books," said Mrs. Baker. "Announcement of the awards is eagerly awaited by all who concern themselves with children's reading."

Reviews of the books which were runners-up for the awards will appear in this column at a later date.

UP A ROAD SLOWLY

By Irene Hunt

The John Newbery medal, given annually since 1922 for the "most distinguished contribution to American literature for children," went to Irene Hunt for this month's best children's language arts for the Clarendon, public schools.

"Up a Road Slowly," published by Folio, is a work of poignant fiction which concerns itself with the timeless problems of all young people groping for independence and maturity.

Julie was seven when her mother died and she went to live with her mother's maiden sister and her brother in the old country home.

Aunt Cordelia was strict, orderly and seemingly inflexible. She was a woman who appreciate in her aunt's depth of understanding and patience which were at first not easily apparent.

Uncle Haskell was an alcoholic and a pathological liar, smooth-tongued and handsome. He had an imperturbable poise which Julie saw shaken only once.

"Equally real are Julie's father, her mother and some of the young people with whom she grew up. Julie herself is just selfish and exasperating enough to reassure girls reading about her and identifying with her. Her theory is beautifully realized: developed with great perception and sensitivity, with a nearly absence of sentimentality.

The Randolph J. Caldecott Award, given annually for the best illustration in a children's book, went to "Up a Road Slowly" for the illustrations by Tom Titus. "Pocket-Book of the Year" and "All in the Morning, Early."

Her art education has taken her to Michigan, New York City, Rome, and prior to entering the University of Wisconsin, she worked in advertising and in national magazines.

Sam, Bangs, and Moonshine, published by the Folio, and Winston, depicts a child's imaginative world in a series of line and wash drawings.

The charming illustrations appear through sea mist and moonlight, the sound of rain tapping, the green grass, the blue, here now—there, heard and all the enchantment of a fisherman's daughter, "named Sam," shines through the subdued colors.

The story, also written by Miss Schiffer and gently humorous, and the book will be richly rewarding to parents and children alike.

Nominations for these awards are made by children's librarians from schools and public libraries all over the United States.

Questions Fired To Fish-Game Group At First Of Town Hall Type Meetings

By JIM HUNTER
Idaho Fish and Game Department

Town hall meetings are part of the very wood and warp of this country.

They still draw wide public interest when the subject is of broad scope. This was the case earlier this month at the first of a series of town hall type meetings.

This crowd fired questions for 1 1/2 hours. Director John R. Woodworth and his staff, including the assistant director, five division chiefs, supervisors and some technicians.

More than 40 questions—many of them double-barreled—were fielded by the men charged with the management of Idaho's fish and wildlife resources.

This dialogue between Department officials and some of the men and women who pay the bills through the purchase of hunting and game tags touched on some points that are new to most of the audience.

Most of the talk ranged in other fields covered many times in other public meetings, and in the assurance given reading about the major conservation programs.

The Boise forum attracted visitors from distant places, including a number of anglers, a game warden from the Little Lost River; Cascade, Emmet; Nampa, and Eagle.

In addition, four state legislators came—Senator Woodworth, Sen. and "Horzo" Pallerson, Sen. and "Burr" Hines, Sen. and Earnest Permann, American Falls.

Director Woodworth will schedule future meetings at centrally located places to make it easier for people to come within a radius of many an hour's drive.

Mr. Woodworth said that at least one member of the Idaho Fish and Game Commission will attend future regional town hall meetings, along with Boise state office officials and a game warden. Personal attention will be on hand to give pertinent details about purely local or area situations and problems.

In the words of Idaho's late great adopted son, Ernest Hemingway, "the town hall meetings are a kind of—there's heard, here now—move, until all state residents can go to at least one of them in a year at no great distance from their homes."

This case of group discussion will go beyond the usual scope of the regular public hearings that are held once a year as part of the quarterly meetings of the Idaho Fish and Game Department.

Discussion subjects are not limited, and no holds are barred other than those required for decency and fair play.

Woodworth laid down four short ground rules at the start of the Boise forum, as follows: "Any and all questions, comments and suggestions about fish and wildlife. This is your meeting, don't hesitate to get on your feet, even though you may think your question is unimportant. We want you to have all the answers, but we will do our best to give you the facts as they are available."

2. Stay away from personalities—keep questions strictly on fish and wildlife matters.

3. State your name and direct your questions to the chair. You will answer your question, or your question will be referred to a member of my staff who is intimately acquainted with the matter.

4. It may be necessary to limit the discussion. If too much time is spent on one particular question, it may be necessary to limit the discussion.

Woodworth explained how the department is organized into five major divisions: fish, game, enforcement, information and education and administration.

He emphasized that no monies from the general tax fund is used in the operation of the department. Excise taxes that are levied on the sale of game and fish are used to pay the salaries of the department's employees.

About 200,000 seedlings have been planted since 1950 and more are being planted this spring east of Boise.

Off-the-cuff answers to just as informal questions evidently had a crowd-pleasing formula. The meeting did not break up until 8 p.m., one hour after the scheduled time limit.

Communications between fish and wildlife specialists and the public is a two-way channel and the new forum-type meeting is another public information tool to help do the job.

An oversized silver belt buckle was presented to Ostebout by the public information tool to help do the job.

More than 50 members, wives and guests attended the banquet. He reported on his recent trip to California to purchase steers for the club's rodeo season.

'COPIED NATURE' TO BUILD BETTER HEARING AID

Electronics engineers of Mico Electronics, pioneer manufacturer of hearing instruments, admit that they "copied nature" to develop a new hearing aid that will permit many hard of hearing persons to enjoy more natural "directional" hearing.

The new aid, now being tested in the car, differs from most current aids in that it has a microphone face forward to pick up sound from the direction the wearer is facing.

"The human ear is shaped and located in a way that makes it an excellent collector, that enables us to locate sounds by their direction," says the company spokesman. "The human ear is shaped and located in a way that makes it an excellent collector, that enables us to locate sounds by their direction."

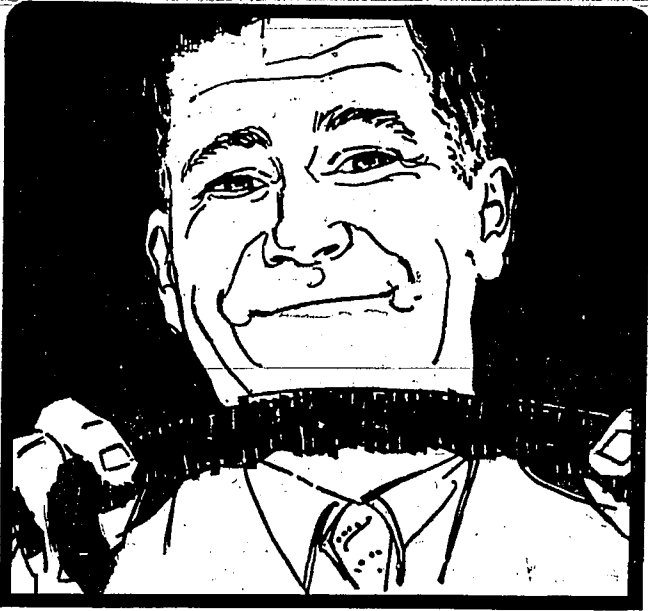

The result is more natural hearing, with better localization of sounds.

The new aid is called "Mico's Directional Tone Selector Tuning," which enables it to closely adjust to compensate for individual hearing problems. It can be seen locally at

NEWS ABOUT TODAY'S BEST BUYS WILL BE MOST IMPORTANT NEWS TO MANY PEOPLE!

Reader Traffic Brings Results to Want Ad Users

The Times-News Classified Advertising pages are a supermarket for practically everything. The market deals primarily in homes, farms, business properties, suburban acreages, going businesses, furniture, pets, livestock, trucks, automobiles, house trailers, boats and the like.

It also deals with rental leases, jobs, positions, personals, business opportunities and all vital things to a broad cross section of newspaper readers who depend on the Times-News.

You don't have to be a professional copy writer to prepare a want ad if you have something to sell, or rent or serve. The secret of successful want ad results is writing a natural want ad that is specific, frank and like your self.

Everyday the Classified Advertising section reaches over 21,000 families. It is the star salesman on your payroll at a low cost.

Many Reasons For Home Buying

The age group which buys the largest number of single family homes is from 30 to 34. Many good buys in existing homes are on the market now and so called "tight money" has not materially affected buyers applying for FHA, FHA-VA or VA loans.

Many economists agree that home buying is a great hedge against possible inflation. Instead of spending money you are investing it. You also enjoy the pride and joy of ownership of a home that reflects your own personality.

TIMES-NEWS WANT ADS PROVE INEXPENSIVE

Classified ads sell . . . and sell . . . most everything. To obtain maximum results from your ad phone the Times-News Classified ad-taker and ask to place your ad on the economy seven-day rate. Cost per day is low and you may cancel your ad when you get results.

To start your ad, phone 733-0931 or consult your local phone directory for the direct line (no toll charges). A friend AdVisor will help you write it.
