

Crazy-Quilt Pattern Stamped Across Nation's Weather Map

By The Associated Press
A new wave of damaging tornadoes, a bolt of thunderstorms, a record-shattering snow storm, giant hail and plunging temperatures brought a crazy-quilt pattern to the nation's weather map today.

While towns in the Chicago area struggled to free themselves from the wreckage of tornadoes that killed 52 persons Friday, other cities injured at least 13 persons in southern Missouri Sunday.

Four tornadoes hit points in Georgia. Others touched down in Tennessee, Alabama and Arkansas.

A funnel cloud was sighted near Fresno, Calif., for the second day in a row.

A series of violent thunderstorms ranged across Tennessee. They culminated at Chattanooga where nearly an inch of rain fell in a few minutes, then up to a foot of hail the size of baseballs dropped on the city's streets.

The streets flooded. The rising water and piles of hail stones stopped traffic. Small fires broke out when hail broke electric signs. Earlier small hail hit church goers in midmorning.

Storm warnings were lifted.

A tornado hit the east side of Memphis. Another touched ground at nearby Bartlett. A car containing a woman and child was thrown into a field. Both were injured. The roof and part of the walls of a Baptist church were torn off as 120 parishioners worshipped inside.

Tornadoes, thunderstorms and giant hail raked across Georgia. Huge chunks of ice which piles more than a foot deep in parts of Savannah on the Atlantic Coast. The hail shattered windows. See WEATHER, Page 2, Col. 8.

Early Voting Returns Indicate Teamsters Oppose Contract

BY NEIL GLIBRIDE
WASHINGTON (AP) — Early fragmentary returns from Teamsters Union voting were running nearly to a stop today against a proposed national contract that followed a nationwide trucking shutdown two weeks ago.

An Associated Press survey showed a vote of 24,826 to 12,833 against the contract, with about 600,000 more votes from 450,000 Teamsters counted.

"The vote is going very poorly," said a spokesman for the union.

Trucking Employers Association, which negotiated the contract with the union after a three-day lockout that followed a rash of Teamsters strikes.

"The Teamsters are back at work pending the outcome of the vote, except if Chicago, where strikes and lockouts affecting 45,000 drivers are in effect.

Moon Probe Sends Photos Of Eclipse

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Sitting in the cold shadow of an camera, Surveyor 3 turned its lens from the moon toward the earth today and sent pictures resembling a bright diamond ring.

It was the first yellow photographs by an American craft on the moon.

Scientists indicated that Surveyor's promising work might change their plans to send only a few days of picture taking and scratching of barren lunar soil.

Governors Asked To White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has invited all the governors to the White House Friday to hear a briefing on Vietnam by Gen. William C. Westmoreland.

Gen. Westmoreland, the U.S. commander-in-Vietnam, also is being invited to address a joint meeting of Congress the same day.

The threatened strike could begin May 3, expiration date of the present congressional provision which had moved back an earlier April 13 strike deadline.

Nationwide Railroad Strike Is Near As Bargaining Falls Flat On Its Face

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation is on the verge of a nationwide railroad strike because collective bargaining has fallen flat on its face.

The threatened strike could begin May 3, expiration date of the present congressional provision which had moved back an earlier April 13 strike deadline.

The workers now average $2.90 an hour. Earlier the railroads had accepted the board proposal.

Wirtz and Boyd said in a statement, "It is a shame for democracy to be put on a trial on the small disagreement."

Gives Up

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (AP) — A 60-year-old seaman who traveled halfway around the world to give himself up pleaded guilty today to having escaped from a maximum security prison 32 years ago.

Edgar Arthur Peterson was ordered held for sentencing May 15.

He told the court he returned to give himself up because he didn't want to spend the rest of his life in foreign countries. He had escaped in 1935, at 27, after serving a two-month sentence for breaking and entering.

Cosmonaut Plummeted To Death When Spacecraft Soyuz 1 Tries To Land

By FRIED COLEMAN
MOSCOW (AP) — Cosmonaut Vladimir Komarov plummeted to death from a height of more than four miles when his spacecraft Soyuz 1 tried to land today on government announced.

It was the first time either of the two space powers has reported the death of an astronaut on an operation.

Moscow radio said ropes of the parachute meant to ease the landing twisted, and the ship hit with great force, killing the 40-year-old veteran cosmonaut.

Tass news agency said the spacecraft had chugged through the most difficult braking stretch in the dense layer of the atmosphere.

"However, when the main cupola of the parachute opened at an altitude of seven kilometers — 4.3 miles — the straps of the parachute, according to preliminary reports, got twisted and the spacecraft descended at a great speed which resulted in Komarov's death," Tass added.

The first firm information that Komarov might have been wrong came when the government newspaper Izvestia delayed its Monday evening edition without explanation.

The official announcement said Komarov had completed all scheduled assignments and was successfully before the accident.

He will be given a hero's burial at the Square of the Patriotic War.

Komarov's death raised speculation whether the Soviet race to the moon with the United States would be hampered.

The fiery death of three U.S. astronauts in an Apollo space shuttle launched from Cape Kennedy Jan. 27 has set back the American program.

The Soviet Union had planned to go aloft in October 1964. He was the pilot of the Voskhod 1, the first three-man spacecraft to be launched from the Soviet space tower.

This was the same photograph which — without the black trim — was carried in special editions of Soviet newspapers Sunday when the Soyuz flight was hailed as a triumph.

Soviet news media said the cosmonaut died today but did not give the exact time of the accident nor where this had taken place.

It had been predicted in unconfirmed reports that the Soyuz 1 flight would last up to a week. The death announcements indicated it was meant to end today and everything went all right until the last moments.

There had been speculation a Soyuz of Komarov with a second spaceship would be a step toward an orbiting space platform that eventually would be used to make manned capsule to the moon.

Komarov was awarded posthumously the title of hero of the Soviet Union with gold star, this country's highest award, announced for a statue in his honor will be erected.

Cooperation Urged In Space Ventures

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the light of the second space tragedy in three months, the United States issued a strong appeal today for truly cooperative efforts in manned exploration to the moon and beyond.

James E. Webb, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, expressed an expression of sorrow at the death of Soviet Cosmonaut Vladimir Komarov with a call for U.S.-USSR space cooperation.

Webb emphasized, in a formal statement, that President Johnson is ready to cooperate with the USSR, especially in view of the possibility that cooperation might have averted the Soviet space accident today.

Jan. 27 in which three U.S. astronauts died in a spacecraft on the ground.

Webb's statement said, "All of us who have faced the difficulties of understanding and putting these two nations together at the other edge of man's knowledge of what is possible in space, deeply regret the loss of life represented by the death of cosmonaut Komarov and the family and associates."

DeLoach had been in office exactly 110 days. He was elected in November 1966, and took office Jan. 2, 1967. Prior public service included terms as state secretary of labor by the leaders of unions, to the effect that cooperation is something both nations should seek.

Board Okays Courthouse Addition Plan

A unanimous decision by Twin Falls County Commissioners to proceed with the construction of a new courthouse building was announced Monday.

Heber Loughmiller, chairman of the three-man board, said the building would be built as soon as possible and will be built along a proposed plan for the new building and pipe and negotiate with contracting firms for labor.

This proposal has drawn fire from city contractors and a letter of protest from the state Association of General Contractors.

Mr. Loughmiller said as soon as George Otis, zoning administrator, completes his review of the building, bids will be asked. A sewer line will be installed to serve the new building and pipe will be ordered Monday for this initial phase, he said.

Emergency Funds Given To FHA

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. George Brown, R-Idaho, reported Monday the bureau of the budget has released $18.4 million in emergency funds for use by the Federal Housing Administration in making loans to farmers, including those in Idaho.

He asked President Johnson last Friday to make a funding action to make additional funds available. If a new act is passed, it would allow farmers in Idaho whose potato crop was damaged by freezing temperatures last fall.

The loans are needed to finance this year's planting operation, Hansen said.

Hoffa Is Making Best Of His Prison Life

By LEE LINDER
LEWISBURG, Pa. (AP) — How is James R. Hoffa taking his prison life? Hoffa is making the best of a federal penitentiary.

What is the convict-president of the 13.5 million members Teamsters Union doing as No. 32329?

Has he adjusted to the routine behind bars, making the most of his own hierarchy in jail?

Hoffa lives alone in what is known as an outside cell. Hoffa's cubicle, 9 feet wide, 10 feet deep and 10 feet high, has a 2-inch-thick wooden door with a barred opening the size of a checkbook. It faces a corridor and another row of similar cells. A window overlooks a grass courtyard.

Hoffa has a cot covered with a shawl blanket. He has locker for his clothes and personal articles. There is a sink and a commode. On the wall is an outlet for a radio earphone which operates from 7 a.m. until 11 p.m. Hoffa is awakened at 6:30 a.m. by a buzzer in his cell. He gets up, dresses, washes and makes his bed.

Breakfast is about 7. He goes to the mess hall at his own leisure, sits at any table he chooses if he can quickly get up, dresses, washes and makes his bed.

Work call is 7:45 a.m. He works in the clothing room with about 25 other men beginning at 8:15. Then back to work until 1:15 p.m. He must be in his cell at 1:30 for the daily institution count, then to dinner which runs to 5:30. Prisoners leave when they're finished, unless they want to talk.

After dinner his time is his own, if the weather's nice, and as long as he has light outside for guards on the tower to see clearly, he can go out to the recreation yard or the ballfield, or just stay inside.

Only his family and lawyers can visit Hoffa. Hoffa has a glimpse of his labor unit at prison work is just as elusive.

Warden Jacob J. Parker officially declines comment on Hoffa.

"We don't single out any man," the warden says. "The only special we make is to treat every one exactly the same."

"We recognize no big shots."

But a source inside the prison has this observation of Hoffa now serving an eight-year jury sentence for mail fraud.

"He looks good and is very cheerful. He seems to be making the best of his prison life. It makes friends very easily with other inmates, seems very popular. He's well liked. Other men seek him out and he talks to all who greet him."

"As a good mixer, jovial," Hoffa, known for his quick temper and sharp tongue, Hoffa reportedly has displayed restraint in his 15 years behind bars.

"He accepts the authority, doesn't question it," says the warden. "He does what he is told, and cheerfully. He even does more than is expected of him."

General Hits Antiwar Protests

NEW YORK (AP) — Gen. William E. Westmoreland warned today that antiwar protests in the United States "inevitably will cost lives" by encouraging a battered Communist enemy to push his aggression in Vietnam.

"The magnificent men and women—I command—in Vietnam have earned the unified support of the American people," Westmoreland said.

The four-star general gave his warning and only appeal in a speech prepared for the Associated Press annual meeting.

The AP members met at the Waldorf-Astoria in the same city where opponents of U.S. involvement in Vietnam staged a massive demonstration nine days ago.

Reviewing progress of the war, Westmoreland said "the military picture is favorable," but the enemy still is full of fight despite "staggering combat losses."

"The end is not in sight," said Gen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., 900 American soldiers, Marines, Air Force men and sailors in Vietnam.

"I foresee, in the months ahead, some of the bitterest fighting of the war."

"But I have confidence in our military capability. And I am confident of the support we and our allies will continue to receive from our President and the Congress."

Some Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., and Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., both called at the AP meeting for more combat troops in Vietnam from other Asian nations.

But while Byrd, a strong supporter of President Johnson's Vietnam policies, asked for increased bombing of the North, Percy, a critic of present policies, said previous escalation hardened the enemy's will to resist, increased casualties and alienated neutral opinion.

It was evident that Westmoreland is concerned that antiwar protests have given the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong enemy "hope that he can win politically which he cannot accomplish militarily."

Asplotes said this was the main point Westmoreland sought to get across to the American people through his speech to the AP meeting.

"Westmoreland put it this way: 'I am mindful that the military war in South Vietnam is from the enemy's point of view, only part of a protracted and carefully coordinated attack, waged in the international arena.'"

"Regrettably, I see signs of enemy success in that world arena which he cannot match on the battlefield."

"He does not understand that American democracy is founded on debate, and he sees every protest as evidence of crumbling morale and diminishing resolve."

"Thus, discouraged by repeated military defeats but encouraged by what he believes to be popular opposition to our effort in Vietnam, he is determined to continue his aggression from the North."

"This, inevitably, will cost lives — American, Vietnamese, and those of our other brave allies."

Westmoreland's speech said nothing about any need for additional U.S. forces in Vietnam; The current buildup goal calls for about 470,000 American troops in Vietnam by the end of this year, but Westmoreland is reported to want another 100,000.

Soviet Intelligence Agents Return Home

NEW YORK (AP) — Moscow intelligence agents who blew their cover, then looked themselves out of a car, have gone home. But not without a spy spot ending to their month-long tour around New York and Washington.

The FBI held up departure of the agents for 2 1/2 hours Sunday night while they examined a parcel rushed to them, the Russians just before takeoff. It contained a spy novel, and maps and papers marked "Top Secret" and "For eyes of President only."

Several phone calls to Washington ficer, the FBI carried the reading material off and the plane left for Paris. A note stuck in the book, "An Expensive Place to Die" by Len Deighton, said it was a practical joke.

"Best regards," the note said. "Hope you enjoyed your visit. Sorry about that chief. (signed) Your American Friend."

The two visitors, assumed to be for a check-up on Soviet espionage security, were Maslly, V. Mozhechikov, traveling under the cover name of Kuznetsov, and Nikolai P. Vinogradov. Both were described by government sources as officers of the KGB, the Soviet Union's Committee on State Security.

WHIRLIGIG

By ANDREW TULLY

WASHINGTON — Unfortunately, the idea of Martin Luther King running for President on a "peace ticket" attracts more of a comic-opera than Greek tragedy. There can be sympathy for a man who has made a name for himself but a severe case of giggles erupts when he makes a fool of himself.

And yet some of the books in the coalition of peace and anti-out civil righters apparently are more serious in their approach. King into such an adventure as absurdly. There would be this year and next year.

ANOTHER WALLACE? — The fact that this is some kind of LSD dream is not important to those who plot the political kidnapping of the Nobel Peace Prize winners is that it would feed their anarchic egos, while providing King with the headlines which are his food for thought. The King's name is being used even suffers in comparison with the Progressive Party candidacy of Henry Wallace in 1948, which was maintained by communists, because Wallace at least knew his way around Washington and was practicing, if somewhat nutty, politics.

Wallace, however, King would find his support only among the creeps, the pseudo-intellectuals, the card-carriers and the misjudged super liberals and pacifists. Despite his superb record in the civil rights field, King would have no appeal to the plain Negro citizen, who is only vaguely aware of the existence of the Negro. He would be just as suspicious as his white neighbors of any movement that included not only un-shamooed beatniks but communists.

This points up the mistake made by the Stokely Carmichaels and the Floyd McKissacks and by the card-carrying Communists and fellow travelers who have tried to force King to the Left. While posing as experts on the Negro, they don't understand that the average Negro has pretty much the same attitude as the average white toward the frenetic demonstrators who regularly make the radical scene.

Very few Negroes with jobs take part in those parades where they "voice" their neighbors, they have something better to do. For the most part, the marchers and all-arounders—as always Negroes who have a history of being "intellectuals" who rest a bit on a banana and a couple of smokers who are looking for kicks. You could put in your left ear the number of plumbers, electricians, farmers, a few salaried TV repairmen, shoe clerks and dig-diggers who show up to wave Viet Cong flags and call Lyndon Johnson naughty names.

OUTNUMBERED — This is unfortunate for any Presidential ambitions King might have because the Negroes are not the majority. Outside the New Left cells of New York, San Francisco and Washington, the country is largely composed of folks who are not in the habit of listening to Saturday-night and watch the late shows on TV. They may be square, but in numbers they are not. They are not the majority. They are not the majority. They are not the majority.

It is sad enough that Martin Luther King has cast his lot with the beatniks. It would be ludicrous to think that he is serious as a politician. He is not serious as a politician. He is not serious as a politician. He is not serious as a politician.

CHINA AND PRACTICALITY

Events in China stand out in strange and paradoxical contrast. The ideological writings between Maoist and non-Maoist, giving a picture of China as a land of peace and stability and a land of terror and oppression. On the other, the reports of the deep in trade talks with West Germany for the construction of a nearly $7 billion steel mill. This is a picture of a country that is being thrashed with the most vicious and desperate of fighting over Marxist interpretations, and busy turning to non-Marxist sources of help and support. The Soviet Union and the Communist countries of Eastern Europe are coming to recognize that the Communist system is not a permanent one. And the natural state of these European-Communist countries (in resources, in population, in technology, in agriculture) is in a state of almost every instance far more favorable than the economic development than are the conditions of Communist China.

These European Marxist lands do not look upon this progress as the abandonment of communism. What they do recognize, however, is that the Communist system is not a permanent one. Now I've lived here for about 27 years and I have an entirely different outlook about these terrier springs.

Interpreting The News

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ronald Adenauer was a combination of statesman, architect and teacher for the new West Germany. Even at the age of 87 he did not want to retire, but he was forced to.

He was too iron-willed, some would say too head-bounded, to be universally loved. It wasn't that his country didn't appreciate what he had done; it just thought it was time to let him go.

He had been a great contemporary. Sir Winston Churchill, some years before in Britain, but at that time Churchill was physically deteriorating. Adenauer didn't seem to be. He had just outlived his time.

The West-Germany—had looked over in 1949 as chancellor, at age 63 was still pretty much a babe in the face of prosperity and a new way of life.

He had laid the foundation for the new West Germany. He had built it by design into a new European power. He allied it with the pillars of the Allies.

But perhaps his greatest contribution was in steering the West German people in a democratic direction after their long history of authoritarianism. West Germany in Britain, he will be one of the great figures of its history.

If not, he will simply have been a man who had lived a long and useful life.

When his CDU won a narrow plurality in the 1949 election he formed a center-right coalition with the Christian Democrats. Then came the big test of his big ambition and he didn't win.

His election as chancellor of the new government in 1949 was the vote in the 402-seat Parliament.

Five days after his election he told down a view and a policy which he followed for the rest of his life in office.

He said there could be no compromise with Communism. He was realistic (a hope that hasn't been realized yet although he persisted in it), that there must be no compromise with Communism, that West Germany "belongs to Western Europe," and that he would not become a puppet of the United States.

Five or six years before he stepped down in 1963, against his will, there had been growing dissension about his leadership within his party. Finally, his party divided his departure.

He lived four years after that and he died in 1963 when he died Wednesday.

Childs Views Today's Issues

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON — The purple rhetoric pouring out on the 20th anniversary of the Truman Doctrine and the 100th anniversary of the American military advisers who went to Greece were vital in ending the Communist wave of terror.

But if Tito had not closed the Yugoslav-Greek border beginning in the early summer of 1948 his war could have gone on much longer and at much greater cost. It could have been indefinitely prolonged with help from the neighboring Communist powers moving across a mountainous and ill-defined boundary line. And lurking in the background as the war went on would have been the danger of a wider conflict transformed by the introduction of more American "advisers."

This is where ardent supporters of the Administration's policy to the military, in analogy to the breaking point when they equate the war in Vietnam with the Greek War.

In the Vietnam War two open borders are being insisted on to a larger war. How either of these two borders can be closed to a flow of military materiel is not a slight basis for comparison.

Across the first border, between North and South Vietnam with the demilitarized zone in the center, the United States has 200,000 troops. In the second border, between North and South Vietnam with the demilitarized zone in the center, the United States has 200,000 troops.

The second border is that between North Vietnam and Red China. This border has had added importance in view of reports that Peking and Moscow have been making plans for the transit of military materiel from the Soviet Union. If these reports are correct shipments of military materiel from the North Vietnam will increase. Chinese war cadres up to a total of 50,000 are reported in North Vietnam.

The logic of the "strait" applied by the President and Secretary of State is that if the North Vietnam is to be another Communist satellite, it will be dependent on China. But when John Foster Dulles proposed the "strait" to be applied to the United States that would have destroyed the MIGs.

Washington Viewpoint

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Some of our enemies, whether they were Communist or non-Communist, whether we thought they were attacking us or attacking their rights, or were out for conquest.

Twice we helped prevent a takeover of the United States government from taking over in 1949. In one of those wars we helped Communist Russia from taking over its neighbor, East Germany. Some people thought this wrong.

We later prevented the Soviet Union from occupying northern Iran.

With the United Nations (but not mainly South Korea and U.S. troops) we prevented the North Koreans, with their Russian and Chinese Communist volunteers, from taking over South Korea.

We stopped our friends, the British and French, from occupying Egyptian territory ruled by our enemy Nasser even though Nasser had provoked them sorely in the way he grabbed and operated the strategic Suez Canal.

We Can't.

We stopped the Japanese army and navy from successfully occupying China, Vietnam, and the Philippines in World War II.

We stepped in to prevent an American takeover of the Dominican Republic when recruited abroad.

Now we are stopping Ho Chi Minh from taking over South Vietnam by force with men led by the north, directed by the United States in the north and recruited all over Southeast Asia — that is, Communist North Vietnam. Laos, Cambodia, and Vietnam are a decision by the people — not by arms.

Because we are strong and the strong have an obligation to the weak.

It is not in us to stand by when we are asked to help.

It is not in us to stand by if 30 nations were in South Vietnam, demanding that country with their arms. They are not asked to come. They are encouraged.

But they're not there. We have to stand by and look the other way.

The Doctor Says

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M. D.

Every year nearly two million persons in the United States suffer from the common cold. Most of them are either very old or very young. A disproportionate number of them are in the home and all are preventable. The key to prevention is to keep your children free from the danger of playing with matches and your older children how to handle fire safely.

Take a tip from the schools: when fire drills are held routinely, show your children two avenues of escape — usually a door and a window — from every room in your home and provide a rope ladder for each bedroom above the first floor.

Teach your children the importance of fire safety. They should not try to put out the fire or try to salvage any of their treasures. Fires spread quickly and are hard to fight. If a window can't be opened readily, teach your children to crawl under the door and stay low to the ground. If the fire is in the room, teach your children to crawl under the door and stay low to the ground.

Stress the dangers of suffocation with smoke. Many a child has been overcome trying to breathe through a smothered blanket and died before the flames reached him. One should not put a child's head in a rug or nose to filter out the poisonous fumes and let only pure air into the lungs. Repeat the lesson that children should not play with matches and your older children how to handle fire safely.

One And Only

Twin Falls is unique in the entire United States. In fact, our fair city is the only Twin Falls in the nation.

Our authority for this statement is the Directory of Post Offices, a publication of the Post Office Department in Washington, D. C. There are 12,000 Twin Falls and Oklaunders and American Fallses and Alliances and Albanys and Alberts—but there is only one Twin Falls.

And the peculiar part about this is that Twin Falls might just as well have ended up being called Perrine but the name's founder, I. B. Perrine, said using his name was all wrong. So someone else was not sure just who suggested the name Twin Falls and it stuck.

Scanning the old pictures of Twin Falls, before it was ruined by construction of a power dam, shows there were actually three falls at that point. There were two main cascades and there were a small one on the south side of the main one.

So why didn't someone name it Three Falls? Your guess is just as good as ours. Could be there was a good reason at the time but it failed to come out in history.

Now if the town had been named Three Falls it would not have been unique. The directory lists several Three Fallses scattered among the 50 states.

But because the name Twin Falls was selected our place is a lot of it. At least the history of the post offices of the United States was assured.

Make you feel proud? It's really something, isn't it? To be living in the only Twin Falls in the United States.

Come to think of it we are the only Twin Falls in Canada because we have another Twin Falls up there. That could be confusing.

But here we sit—the "One and Only!" We are unique in another way. We have the only Zip Code Number 83301 in the world!

And don't you forget it!

THE MESSAGE

According to University of Toronto professor Marshall McLuhan, who is making some of the biggest splashes in the academic world these days, "the medium is the message."

What this means, if you interpret his interpreters correctly, is that the way men communicate with one another determines the kind of society they live in. That the means of communication is more important than what is being communicated. In our electronic society, for instance, the dots that make up the picture on a television tube are more important than the picture itself.

Most people have failed to get McLuhan's message, however. They go on expecting something of value from television. They go on reading newspapers to keep informed. They go on buying and reading books. McLuhan says are on the way out, though he has written three of them himself.

Others dispute his contentions vigorously. If the medium is indeed the message, says Arthur R. Murphy Jr., president of the American Society for Media, the time has come to do something about the situation. For... unless we have meaningful messages to transmit via a medium, we had better close down our press or our transmitter right now."

In the kind of world we are living in, says Murphy, the primary mission of the communications media — newspapers, magazines, radio, television and anything else—is to seek out the facts and arrange them in a pattern that accurately and meaningfully represent the present possible representation of the truth.

But there is, he maintains, an "understanding gap" of serious dimensions in this country today. Americans have too little knowledge, and even less understanding of what is going on in the nation and the world.

"We have put such store in proving how fast we can process material, how brilliant our color is, how much material we can commit to memory, how many books we publish, how many papers and reporters we can put on the scene... that we have forgotten that the important thing in communication is not so much how we transmit information but what information we transmit."

We must not be seduced by the idea that "the medium is the message," he urges, but rather become devoted to the ideal that content is all important, and that the primary ingredient of content is truth.

"We must dedicate ourselves to the beauties and the revelations of the English language and learn again how to write it, read it and understand it — for it is the greatest communications medium of all."

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: Even though we've been married 40 years, I still am embarrassed about the language Hal uses. Profanity is his second language. We go out a lot socially, and it humiliates me. Every other word is a cuss word. It's as natural for Hal as breathing, and I doubt that he is even aware of it half the time. Fortunately we don't have any children to "imitate" him. Old friends are used to it, but when we are with new acquaintances for the first time, they look at me as if to ask, "Is that husband of yours a mental case?"
HAL'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: If you've been humiliated for 40 years and are only now wondering what to do about it, if there's a mental case in your family I'm not so sure it's your husband.

DEAR ABBY: Yesterday a woman called me on the phone and invited me to a farewell party she was giving for her son. I have never met the woman, but her son is a good friend of my son's. She boldly

Do you think an invited guest should be expected to bring refreshments? She said she wasn't asking relatives to bring anything, but she didn't think it would be right. I was also told that "everyone" was bringing in towels as going-away presents for her son. So I shouldn't bring him a gift? I wonder if I should go to this party? Is this the way a mother gives her son a farewell party?

FLABBERGASTED!
The mother is not giving a party—she's organizing one. It's a simple gesture of love with all the good of home is worth all that "baloney."

DEAR ABBY: In response to the "Sawbones" who had problems with bone-crushers who are sure amazes me the way some folks bug you with their penny ante problems. Like the guy whose wife wears blue jeans and tells him to go to bed, and that couple who just bought a new car and the wife says she'll take the stereo, tiled glass and fancy accessories and planned to go on a 1,000-mile vacation trip with their neighbors wanted to go along and just put in the gas. The big problem was that the simple extends her whole hand to just the gas. O, brother! I wish we had those problems over here.

We first got thru walking for 32 days. And for 28 of those days it rained day and night.
Please print this, Abby. It might make your readers realize how small the problems are. JADED IN VIETNAM

DEAR READERS: You are out of this world! Shortly after publishing "GI Joe King's" plea for mail to cheer up his lonely buddies in Thailand, I received the following cable:
"Please Abby, no more mail. I am swamped with more letters. My neighbors would distribute to guys in Southeast Asia. With I could personally thank everyone. Also financially impossible as mail out of Thailand is not free. Please tell our readers how much we appreciate their tremendous generosity."

JOSEPH W. KING

DEAR JOE: My readers only wanted to cheer up a lonely GI regardless of where he stationed, so I have asked the Chicago Tribune-New York News Syndicate to negotiate with the armed forces in Thailand and hopefully all the undistributed mail will be delivered to our lonely buddies in Vietnam. Any objections?

Svetlana To Publish Book On Her Life

NEW YORK (AP) — Svetlana Stalina's forthcoming memoirs will describe a tumultuous family life, her own sense of not being pampered, and her own descriptions of her father — Soviet dictator Joseph Stalin. Newsweek magazine, reporting in its current issue, said the book begins in Moscow in 1923 and takes the reader backward through the time of her father's death in 1953. It details how Stalin reacted in paranoia to his wife's suicide, regarding it as part of a plot against him, and how Svetlana learned to survive at all. After believing for two years the death was natural, she describes this discovery as a traumatic one, the magazine said. The vivacious, 23-year-old woman remained in seclusion, spending Sunday afternoons with Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Johnson in Locust Valley, Long Island. Svetlana arrived from Switzerland Friday. Svetlana's book, to be published in October by Harper & Row, sheds light on the life of a woman who died mysteriously, perhaps suicidally, in 1962.

King Plans Project To Halt Conflict

Dr. Martin Luther King says he is sponsoring a "Vietnam summit" project aimed at halting "one of the most bloody, futile wars in U.S. history." He described the project Sunday as a "first step in a program that may well determine the destiny of our nation," and said "we must go all out to build a powerful peace bloc." King made the announcement at a news conference with Dr. Benjamin Spock and Robert Scheer, editor of Ramparts magazine. The program will parallel the 1964 civil rights movement, said Chester Hartman, assistant professor of Harvard's Department of City Planning and acting executive director of the Vietnam Summer Project in Cambridge, Mass. He said "most countries would be sought to conduct the nationwide program. They will be trained and staffed out of men who are 'experienced-civil-rights and peace organizers.'"

Xerox topped on half a dozen points.
General Aniline & Film was heavily traded.
The major factors were fractional gains. Steels edged up. Republic advanced an early loss to a full point.

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The San Francisco Warriors came from 12 points behind in the final period Sunday and defeated the Philadelphia 76ers 117-109 to avenge their elimination in the best-of-7 National Basketball Association championship series. Tom Meschery, veteran pro front court man, led the Warriors' spectacular comeback with an 11-point performance in the fourth quarter before he fouled out.

Atlanta Nip Orioles 8-7 To Gain Split

BALTIMORE (AP)—Pitcher Jack Aker's run-scoring single capped a four-run eighth inning spree that carried Kansas City to an 8-7 victory over Baltimore and a split of Sunday's doubleheader.

Successive home runs by Frank Robinson and Brooks Robinson powered the Orioles to a 5-2 triumph in the opener. A hit by Robinson, a walk and Roger Repo's single loaded the bases for the A's with one out in the eighth inning of the nightcap. The first two runs scored on a passed ball—and a wild pitch on consecutive pitches from reliever Eddie Fisher.

Siu Miller came in and gave up a sacrifice fly by pinch hitter Tim Lutz, allowing tie 7-7. Aker's single off the mound was followed by a home run by Robinson and a sacrifice fly by Robinson drove in five runs in the twin bill with a homer and single in each game. Brooks Robinson drove in the first two runs scored on a single during the seventh-inning rally-in-the-nightcap.

Yankees Have Big Fifth To Down Boston

BOSTON (AP)—The New York Yankees parlayed Al Downing's brilliant relief pitching and a five-run fifth inning capped by Elston Howard's two-run pinch double Sunday for a 7-5 victory over the Boston Red Sox.

Downing, who blanked the Red Sox for five innings, gained the victory in an 18-inning game when a week ago again styled the Boston hitters in helping the Yankees salvage the game. The little southpaw took over in the fourth with Boston in a 2-0 lead in his second inning. He allowed only one hit, struck out seven, and walked three in his two innings.

Boston Manager Dick Williams was ejected by plate umpire Red Flaherty for arguing a call on a pitch to Howard, in the bottom of the fifth. Flaherty also ejected Williams for arguing over a called second as he thumbed Karl Yastrzemski.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Left-hander Barry Moore scattered seven hits but pitched a superb game for a season while helping his cause with a simple and effective fly as the Washington Senators beat the Chicago White Sox 5-1 Sunday.

Bernie Allen, the second batter to face Chicago starter Bruce Howard, hit his first home run of the season. The Senators then pecked away at Howard's three field goals, helping Moore breeze to a easy victory.

Moore singled to start off the final quarter, and Elston Howard's bases-loaded grand slam following a single by Ed Brinkman and a hit batter.

Now Possible To Shrink Hemorrhoids Without Surgery

... Except In Unusually Severe Or Persistent Cases.

New York, N.Y. (Special): Science has found a substance with the ability, in most cases—to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain without surgery except in unusually severe or persistent cases. In most cases, a single application of the substance will cause a white, gelatinous coating to form.

By relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. The secret is Preparation #19—the one formula containing Bio-Dyne. Preparation #19 also prevents further infection. In ointment or suppository form.

Two Top Bowlers Slate Classes At Magic Bowl

Jack and Laverne Edler, the greatest teachers of walk bowling's famed teaching team on any lanes. What also might be called the "Edler" school of bowling will be taught at Magic Bowl beginning May 11 actually had a special bow, according to Pete Peterson, long-time proclimber in their ranks. "We really worked hard to get the Edlers," said Peterson, "because they are without doubt the finest teaching team in all of bowling. No other teachers have ever had the honors conferred upon them that have been conferred upon the Edlers and we wanted the absolute best for our bowlers."

In our own area the Edlers trained both of the Washington State representatives and one from a recent national tournament that quoted: "These are the best bowlers I have ever seen."

Jim: "It looks as if Crawford's spade continuation gave South a pretty good blueprint of the East-West hands. Obviously Crawford did not hold both ace and king of clubs but would have a diamond suit for his three-club bid. That left East with a singleton ace or two and a ready-made end play."

Oswald: "Exactly. South took his spade ace, ruffed the last spade high, cashed dummy's ace and king of trumps and king of diamonds, ruffed dummy's last diamond and led a club."

Jim: "There is one very interesting feature of the play. It was necessary for South to duck the first spade. Otherwise East would have been able to get out of the eventual end play."

Her Legs Are Great? They Communicate!

Dear Ele and Walt: Some friends and I got together last winter to form a club. Every other Friday we meet to discuss our girl problems. It's a very relaxing and helpful to know if he likes me or not? I asked him why he picked me for his girl friend. But to what extent? OK, her hair looks nice; she has a nice figure. One of my buddies says it's okay to tell a girl she has beautiful legs. Is it proper? If so, how do you tell a girl she has beautiful legs?—Doug.

Dear Doug: By 14, 15 or 16 a boy should be able to speak directly to a girl. Thus if he merely supplements personal contact with occasional notes, there's no harm. But if the notes are passed in class, or contain embarrassing comments or take the place of face-to-face meetings, we'd urge him to drop the pen.

Girls thrive on compliments. They would never take unfair advantage of a proper-looking young man who would gladly keep most of his dating within my age group, but the problem is that most of the girls I know in my age group have lost their youthful zest. They smoke, drink, use tons of makeup and are generally not much personally-wise. I'm not so much interested in dating younger girls as I am in dating an inch-by-inch lost her count-down survey of her endowments, or full chad—A College Student, an strictly interested in her badm, a word to the wise is sufficient!

One of my buddies says it's okay to tell a girl she has beautiful legs. Is it proper? If so, how do you tell a girl she has beautiful legs?—Doug.

Statements of IEA Hit By Governor

GOODING—Idaho Education Association officials have issued irresponsible statements in an attempt to stir unrest among Idaho Teachers, Gov. Don Samuelson told Chamber of Commerce and Business and Professional Women members at their annual banquet Friday evening at the IOOF hall in Gooding.

"There was just so much mud being thrown around that I received all it was possible to appropriate," he continued. Samuelson stated that he had education in his blood, that he had received all levels, with 150 million dollars appropriated for this biennium.

Samuelson also pointed out the accomplishments of the 39th legislature, and reviewed some of the legislation passed which he argued all those attending to continue to carry the banner of freedom, and stated that certain men and women such as the two organizations, were leaders in the field.

This was the annual banquet sponsored by the two organizations. Jim Hinkle, master of ceremonies and Rev. Harold Hake of the Christian Church directed the invocation. Mrs. Henry Robinson, Mrs. Kincaid and Lydia Wackerl formed drum group. Mrs. Raif Lucke led group singing and also presented the award with Virginia Pearce as champion.

McG Samps and Branda Ester offered guitar and vocal duets. The two organizations, of Gooding, welcomed guests.

Road Accidents Claim 3 Lives

By The Associated Press
 Two weekend accidents—only near Salinas and in the mountains north of Mountain Home, claimed three lives, putting Idaho's traffic death toll for 1957 at 207, the highest in the state since it was first recorded in 1906.

The toll was one more than in 1956.

WOMEN SUFFER WITH BLADDER IRRITATION

Bladder irritation is a condition which affects two to three million women in the United States. It is a common condition which is often mistaken for a urinary tract infection. It is characterized by a burning or stinging sensation when urinating, and is often accompanied by frequent urination. The condition is caused by a variety of factors, including poor diet, lack of exercise, and stress. It is important for women to seek medical attention if they experience these symptoms, as it can lead to more serious complications if left untreated.
