Israel OK's U.N.-Supervised Cease-Fire On Syrian Front

By WILLIAM N. OATIS, UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Israel agreed to a 48-hour, U.N.-supervised cease-fire and standstill on the Syrian front Saturday after Secretary-General U Thant had given the Security Council reports that Israeli troops were near Damascus and had bombed its vicinity.

Syria's agreement was sought as other U.N. reports came in telling of intense artillery fire on Israel's Galilee border. Israeli officials accused the Syrians of shelling border villages.

U.N. Gen. Odd Bull of Norway, head of the U.N. Truce Supervision Organization for Palestine in Jerusalem, got the agreement from Gen. Moshe Dayan, minister of defense.

Bull, with Israel's consent, fixed the cease-fire at 1630 Greenwich Mean Time, or 12:30 p.m. EDT.

He sought Syria's agreement to the same deadline and ordered U.N. military observers deployed on both sides of the front line.

The arrangement was calculated to end fighting in the Arab-Israeli war that began Monday and saw Israeli forces sweep deep into Egypt, Jordan and Syria.

Thant announced it to the 15-nation council at the close of an emergency meeting that went intermittently from 4:30 a.m. to 11:10 a.m.

Syria asked for the meeting at 2 a.m. on the grounds that Israeli troops had entered Latakia and were on their way to Damascus, 35 miles further into Syria, in violation of three council cease-fire resolutions accepted by both countries.

Thant told the council when it convened that Gen. Bull had messaged him "an air attack took place on the Damascus Airport area" but that Moshe Sasson, chief of armistice affairs in Israel's Foreign Office, had denied the capture of Latakia.

Syrian Ambassador Gideon Rafael denied that Israel had bombed Damascus or was trying to take it and asked that U.N. observers go and see. But he said Syria had been shelling Israeli villages for 36 hours and asked that the U.N. observers check on that and also on Israel's border-shelling charges, backed by U.N. reports of "intense artillery fire" northeast of Tiberias, Israel.

Rafael again denied that Israeli planes had attacked anywhere near Damascus and protested Bunworth's "sort of reporting."

Thant reported air attacks near Damascus Airport, south of Damascus and north of it, "based on U.N. observation." Then Rafael said Dayan was negotiating cease-fire talks with Bull in Jerusalem. Later, he reported Dayan had agreed to accept any hour for added, "If the Syrian artillery would stop firing, our defense action would cease."

Soviet Ambassador Nikolai T. Fedorenko, without making a formal proposal, called for "severe and immediate measures against the aggressor."

U.S. Ambassador Arthur Goldberg urged that the council vote for the observers' report.

Speaking again, Thant said the chairman of the Israel-Syria Mixed Armistice Commission in Damascus, Lt. Col. R. H. W. Bunworth of Ireland, had reported "air attack on Damascus going on" at 5:23 a.m. EDT.

Goldberg said such bombing "cannot be condoned." He Maritime Policy?

This country's maritime policy, it seems, is on a slow boat to nowhere... It hasn't already foundered on the shoals of government inertia.

National Maritime Day was observed recently and addresses were made around the country to mark the anniversary of the first transatlantic crossing by a steamship in 1819.

Although the act also provides that the merchant marine should consist of vessels constructed in the United States, Transportation Secretary Boyd has decided otherwise.

National Maritime Day was observed simultaneously with the opening of Foreign Trade Week.

AIR POLLUTION CONTROL

Air pollution contributes significantly to the cause of cancer of the lungs, trachea, esophagus and stomach.

Turning from human health to the pocketbook, it is estimated that extra cleaning, painting and other property damage cost $10 billion a year.

Many cities have smoke-abatement ordinances, state governments are on the scene, and the federal government is moving into the anti-pollution program on a massive scale.

ME PRAGMATIC?

One of the latest in words right now is "pragmatic."

So someone says that Mr. Smith is pragmatic, and someone else nods understandingly.

That he is officious and opinionated? That he is proflic and mutton-of-fact? Or that he's just a plain old busybody?

So unless the precise intent of the word is in mind, or the speaker doesn't mind a punch in the gut, it is better to be more pragmatic for him to come right out and say that Smith is practical.

FEWER ROCKS AT UNCLE SAM

The U.S. Information Agency reports that there were only 12 incidents of mob violence against USIA libraries and information centers in foreign countries between July, 1966, and March of this year.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

By ANDREW TULLY

WASHINGTON—One of the characteristics of the Middle East crisis has been the almost total lack of communication on an important level, between the White House and State Department and the ambassadors from the various other nations involved.

Matters of substance have been discussed directly by telephone and cable between Washington and Paris, Aviv and Moscow, Moscow and Prime Minister Harold Wilson of Great Britain.

It is not clear whether the ambassador from Canada to see Lyndon Johnson last week, in other words, the crisis has been a matter for a select group of officials.

Of these ambassadors, only one has been missed by President Johnson's news secretary, Anatoly Dobrynin of the Soviet Union, who was recalled for home leave last March and who had still not returned to his post.

RESPECTED—As an officious diplomat, Dobrynin often has been compared with Lord Hailey, who as Sir David Ormsby Gore was British ambassador during the Kennedy years.

Dobrynin is held in the highest respect by both Washington officials and diplomatic correspondents. He is a polished technician, a professional, and a man of good will with professionals.

Dobrynin has been on excellent terms with John F. Kennedy and Secretary of State Dean Rusk. Llewellyn Thompson, American ambassador to Moscow, has called Dobrynin one of the really first-rate diplomats he has encountered.

PRO, BUT DULL—Britain's Sir Patrick Dean is also a professional, but a lackluster one. He is an able back-room man and has a massive integrity, but he has no impact on official Washington.

FEW STELLAR DIPLOMATS—The rest of the ambassadors range from ordinary to strictly ornamental. President Johnson is fond of Jerry Holms, former ambassador to Singapore.

Ornamental, mostly—Indeed, the traditional ambassador with his rich trappings is all but outmoded. Nowadays, when a head of state wants to get something done he arranges a face-to-face meeting with either the African or the Latin American.

Now let us turn to the Middle East. The Arab and Arab diplomats are a poor lot. The American press is too feeble, the African too sensitive and unsophisticated, the Arabs too distrustful and inflexible.

Interpreting The News

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—It's not a minute since the Middle East, a war that could erupt into World War III, the United Nations all last week danced around the problem, doing nothing.

Monday the war came. And again the U.N. Security Council dipped into its ever-ready bag of resolutions, the impression of some kind of agreement calling for a cease fire.

There's a limit on how long the council can dawdle with semantics, while people perish in the Mideast's Jewish and Arab world, and still retain any meaning or respect.

Washington Viewpoint

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

LONDON (NEA)—If Vietnam were not enough, the Middle East crisis underscores vividly America's increasingly lonely role as the free world's only truly powerful "policeman."

The British and France which moved militarily in the 1956-Suez explosion no longer exist. Ironically, the United States, by throwing its diplomatic and moral weight against them at that time, surely contributed to their subsequent decline.

Today the French live amid the fantasies of President Charles de Gaulle and do not figure seriously in the power equation as it affects the Egypt-Israel confrontation.

British weakness is even more starkly revealed, since the crisis comes at the very moment it is disclosed here that the British government intends to pull out all military forces from east of Suez by 1975 at the latest.

At the height of Indonesia's "confrontation" with Malaysia, British troops in the Far East came to 50,000. Currently, the total is being slashed to 30,000. Gradually, but steadily, that number will be further reduced.

Withdrawal of army and Royal Marine units from troubled Arab in the Middle East apparently will proceed as planned. The only other unit with a slight hitch up at oil-rich Bahrain island in the Persian Gulf.

In the light of these realities, British newspaper editorials, British newspaper editorials, British newspaper editorials, British newspaper editorials.

WASHINGTON—Last week I wrote an article about my friend, Brinkley, a doctor in the Vietnam issue, who had come a hawk over the Middle East.

I found my friend, Overkill, in his garage, painting a sign which read "GET THE SIXTH FLEET OUT OF THE MIDDLE EAST."

"Overkill," I said, "what are you doing?" "I don't think we should get involved. The Middle East should settle its own problems." "But Overkill," I replied, "the United States has committed itself in this game, and the Vietnam issue, who had come a hawk over the Middle East."

Paul Nitze Replaces Vance As Defense Official

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
 WASHINGTON (AP)— President Johnson announced Saturday the resignation of Cyrus R. Vance as deputy secretary of defense and selection of Secretary of the Navy Paul H. Nitze as his successor.

This set in motion two other high level changes in the Defense Department.

The new secretary of the Navy will be John T. McNaughton, now assistant secretary of defense for international security affairs. Into McNaughton's present job will go the Defense Department's general counsel, Paul C. Warnke.

Vance has been bothered by back trouble, and the White House said his resignation was for personal reasons. There was no indication that any policy shifts dictated the shifting of the assignments resulting from his resignation, which will be effective June 30.

Vance has been in the Pentagon for more than six years and Johnson said it was with the deepest reluctance and regret that he accepted the deputy secretary's decision to give up his post.

"For the past six years, in its hours of maximum danger, you have served our nation with maximum devotion," the President said in a letter. "You can be supremely proud of your crucial role in bringing our nation's military forces to their present state of unprecedented strength and readiness. Your sound judgment, wise counsel, and manifold abilities will be most sorely missed."

Nitze is 69 and has been secretary of the navy for six years. After he was graduated with honors from Harvard in 1928, he was with the New York investment bankers, Dillon, Reed & Co. until 1941.

Since then he has been in federal government off and on with an eight-year gap while he served as president of the Foreign Service Educational Foundation in Washington, from 1953 to 1961. Before taking this post, he put in several years with the State Department and rose to the post of director of its policy planning staff.

In 1961, he became assistant secretary of defense for international security affairs, and then in November 1965, the 37th secretary of the navy.

The Nitze family lives in Washington but maintains a legal residence at Bel Air, Md.

The man Johnson intends to nominate as the 58th secretary, McNaughton, was a naval officer during World War II, reaching the rank of lieutenant. He commanded a Navy gun crew on a merchant ship in the Caribbean and North Atlantic and then served on a destroyer escort in the Pacific. McNaughton is 46 and a native of Bicknell, Ind.

A Harvard law school graduate of 1948, he embarked on a varied career—Rhodes scholar, government attorney, columnist and editor for the Pekin, Ill., Daily Times, and a law professor at Harvard. He put in 15 years as deputy assistant secretary of defense for arms control before becoming general counsel of the Defense Department in 1962. Two years later he shifted to the post he now holds.

Warnke has been general counsel at the Pentagon since Oct. 3, 1966. Before that he practiced law in Washington. He was born in Webster, Mass., 47 years ago, was graduated from Yale in 1941, and was a Coast Guard officer in the Atlantic and Pacific during the second World War.

CSI Shorthand Students Given Certificate Awards

Shorthand students at the College of Southern Idaho recently received a plaque identifying them as seventh in the collegiate division of the 54th International Gregg Shorthand Exhibit. The students, achieving this honor were registered in CSI shorthand classes at the close of the fall semester, 1966. Elsie May Ophelm, chairman of the CSI business department, is instructor.

About 83 per cent of the CSI students entering the Center of Gregg Arletts International Shorthand Exhibit qualified to receive a certificate award for having attained a fluent and accurate style of shorthand.

Of the 40 students receiving certificates, seven were acclaimed as pin winners and eligible for the Superior Merit Certificate.

Pin award winners are Mary Collins, Virginia Hemingway, Joan Kernin, Winnie Mahan, Terri Murray, Karen Smith and Carolyn Wheeler.

Directors named from district one were Cy Chase, St. Maries; J. T. Crollard, Coeur d'Alene; Charles Plum, Bonners Ferry, and Les Johnson, Kellogg.

District two directors were James Cusick, Lewiston; Willard Johnson, Orofino; John

Wirtz Holds To Uranium Mine Rules

WASHINGTON (AP)— Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz held to his previously issued radiation standards for uranium "mines," but clarified Saturday the compliance and enforcement procedures of his order.

The standards are guidelines, he said, and do not let themselves have the force of law.

A department spokesman said this means a mining company would not automatically violate the law—and hence lose its government contract—if the radiation level in its mines should rise above the prescribed level.

Wirtz issued his statement a day after the Senate Atomic Energy Committee recessed a hearing on the standards issued by Wirtz May 5.

In general, witnesses for mine operators at the four-day hearing said Wirtz's standards are too strict and are difficult, if not impossible, to comply with. Labor spokesmen, on the other hand, sided with Wirtz.

At issue is the incidence of lung cancer among workers in uranium mines.

Wirtz's regulations, applicable to mines involved in government contracts, set out maximum radiation levels to which miners, in the view of the labor department, should be exposed.

The standard is expressed in terms of a "Working Level." This is a scientific formula aimed at establishing at what level of radiation a person may safely work in a uranium mine.

PREPARING PLANS FOR a two-week special season ticket campaign for the annual Antiquity Festival Theatre are Ralph Assendrup, Jeff Aldrich, Bowler, producer and director, and Mrs. Assendrup. Mr. and Mrs. Assendrup are general chairmen for the ticket sale being offered on a season basis, only from June 12 through June 24. The theater season opens July 14 and continues through August.

Antiquity Festival Theatre Having Season Ticket Sale

Plans for the 1967 summer season of the Antiquity Festival Theatre in Boise have been under way for several weeks and will come into the limelight Monday with the start of a special season ticket sale.

For the period of June 12 to 24 only, staff members will be making season tickets available to their patrons. After that time the tickets return to a single basis sale at the regular price.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Assendrup, Buhl, in charge of theater ticket sales for the year, say they will have sales outlets in each community in Magic Valley and in the Boise area.

Aldrich Bowler, Buhl, producer and director, pointed out the Antiquity Festival Theatre now is entering its fourth season as one of the most unique theaters in the nation.

Plays are held in the Ramona Theater Building, Buhl, beginning July 14 through Aug. 27, with performances each Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights.

This year the association has selected a colorful and versatile program ranging from "Arms and the Man," a George Bernard Shaw turn-of-the-century comic version of marriage and politics, to "The Circle of Chalk," a 13th century Chinese tale of justice-of-that-kind.

Also on the 1967 schedule is "The Queen and the Rebels" by Ugo Betti, to be added later in August and "The Diary of a Scoundrel" on the regular agenda. "The Diary of a Scoundrel" is a 19th century Russian comedy.

Costumes and settings for the colorful productions are well under way, Mr. Bowler explained. James Monroe of Buhl is building stage sets while Mrs. J. Donald Miller, Mrs. Ed Chappin, Frank Utus, Jerome, Mrs. Lewis Hranak, Hanson - Kimberly; Mrs. Joyce Harding Filer; Mrs. Irene Buckle; Mrs. John Tulk, Shoshone, Jim McCann, Hagerman; Mrs. Floyd Goss; Gooding; Roma Blair; Donald Miller, Mrs. Ed Chappin, and Forrest Hymas, Boise.

Postmasters Re-Elect Officers

BURLEY - The National League of Postmasters, Idaho Branch, re-elected their officers Friday afternoon during business meeting of their two-day convention at the Ponderosa Inn.

The re-elected officers were installed Friday afternoon. The officers are Wallace Whitehead, president, Lava Hot Springs; Dale Davis, Dunsmuir, first vice president; Roy Fickles, McCall, second vice president; Phil Tutlow, Driggs, third vice president; Little Arrie Clearwater, fourth vice president; Ruby Bishop, Bliss, fifth vice president; Anita Schwendlin, Nevada, secretary; treasurer; Loretta Johnson, Arden, paper editor, and Mrs. Martha Cook, Tetonan, State membership director.

The certificate award of "Postmaster of the Year" was presented to Mrs. Marla Cook, Tetonan. She has served Tetonan as postmaster for 12 years. The selection is made by a committee.

The first business session was called to order Thursday morning by Mr. Whitehead, President.

Guest speakers Thursday were Jay H. Christensen, Area Regional Director, Ed Kemp, Post-Service Officer, Marlon Kenney, Regional co-ordinator, E. J. Ingels, Inspector-in-Charge, Jerry Davenport and Richard Pursfull.

Friday speakers were Mr. Ingebright, J. B. Nowcinski, Inspector, and Jack B. Bailey, League National vice president.

Committee chairmen for the convention were Mrs. Ferris, registration; Mr. Whitehead, program; Mrs. Cook, business; Mrs. Johnson, secretary; Earl Jensen, auditing; Mary Iverson, hospitality; Glenn Pratt, nomination; Capitola Whiting, banking; Joe Lathrop, entertainment; Ralph Leaf, resolutions; Phoebe Denney, retired membership recognition; Mrs. Schwendlin, prizes and Thelma Watson, memorabilia.

Wendell's

Crown Princess Margrethe Weds Count

By EDDY GILMORE, COPENHAGEN (AP) - Crown Princess Margrethe - heir to Europe's oldest throne - wed Count Henri de Pompeat in the church where she was christened 27 years ago.

The princess owns a very special Danish name.

Margrethe is the name of the reigning queen in Denmark's long history of royal power under whose formidable leadership the country reached its greatest strength.

When the first Margrethe reigned - 1375 to 1412 - Denmark was so mighty that Sweden and Norway were Danish colonies.

"Margrethe" rang bell clear when the royal chaplain, Bishop Erik Jensen, called it as he began the Lutheran ceremony, asking the groom:

"Will you have Margrethe, standing at thy side, to be thy wedded wife?"

As the groom answered "Ja" (Yes), the bishop went on asking: "Will you have her for better or for worse in that fortune God Almighty may bestow upon you as a wedded husband should live with his wedded wife until death do you part?"

"Yes," the groom answered.

Turning to the bride (all and serene but fractionally shorter than the groom), the bishop asked the companion questions.

Margrethe replied in Danish to both: "I will."

Speaking to bride and groom, Bishop Jensen said:

"Join your right hands together."

He placed his hand upon the bride's hands-of-the-bride-and-groom.

"I now pronounce you man and wife together before God and man."

Looking on today in Copenhagen's 348-year-old Royal Naval Holmens church was a glittering company:

Four kings - Frederik IX of Denmark, Margrethe's father, her grandfather, Gustav IV Adolf of Sweden, Olof of Norway and Baudouin of Belgium.

Three queens - Ingrid, the bride's mother, Juliana of the Netherlands, and Fabiola of the Belgians.

Two presidents - Dr. Urho Kekkonen of Finland and Asger Agerholm of Iceland.

Princes and princesses - more than a dozen.

U.S. Ambassador to Denmark, Katharine Elkus White, and her husband were the ranking American guests.

Methodist Pastor Moves To Rupert

RUPERT - Rev. Warren H. McConnell who has served for the past three years as minister of the Methodist Church in Gooding, has been appointed to serve the Rupert church, replacing Rev. A. M. Thomas, who has moved to Murray, Ky.

Rev. and Mrs. McConnell and their three children, Barbara, David and Steven, have moved to Rupert. He preached his first sermon last week.

He was appointed to the Rupert church at a recent session of the Idaho Annual Conference.

Rev. McConnell is a graduate of the College of Idaho and Iliff School of Theology, Denver, Colo. From 1955 to 1958 he served in the Bay City-Gerrahall church in Oregon. In 1958 he transferred to the Idaho Conference and was appointed to the Buhl church, where he served for six years prior to his assignment in Gooding.

Summer School Use Is Heavy

Staadther notes that these a.m. classes are the most popular with the 305 high school students attending classes for seven weeks this summer. The courses there run from that hour until 11:30 a.m. and nine teachers are involved. Student fees are charged.

Driver training programs have 37 students enrolled, with classes beginning at 7:30 a.m. These teachers have been employed for this summer course.

The summer school program, as far as summer school in Twin Falls, is a kindergarten program for youngsters entering elementary school this fall. It serves students who have not had either private kindergarten or Head Start training.

Dr. Ragland said that children who have had no pre-school training are definitely disadvantaged when they start school. This program was designed for just such children and is paid for by federal funds. About 100 children have enrolled in the program, which started Monday at Lincoln School.

Head Start also is continuing through the summer and is being held at Bickel School. It, too, is federally supported and serves 118 children from economically deprived families. Six teachers, six teachers aides and six volunteer mothers serve each day in this program which continues through August.

The vocational-rehabilitation program at the Robert Stuart Special Education School also is continuing through the summer. About 10 students are enrolled and attend one half day of classes and a half day of on-the-job training.

Another new program is an elementary school program paid for by federal funds. The half-days of courses are being conducted at Morningside School for youngsters who have been recommended by their teachers.

Two Express Offices May Be Closed

The Railway Express Agency, Inc., sought authority Thursday to close its offices at Fairfield and Minidoka, contending that the amount of business transacted by the two towns was insignificant, and that maintenance of the offices was uneconomical.

In a presentation to the Idaho Public Utilities Commission, the Express Agency said that the population of Fairfield was approximately 474 and Minidoka 154. The agency contended that the approximately six shipments per month through the Fairfield office could be handled efficiently through Gooding, and the five shipments per month through the Minidoka office could be handled at Burley. The Express Agency has its headquarters in San Francisco, Calif.

A time limit of 20 days from the day the application was filed was set by the commission for the filing of written protests from parties having an interest covered in the application. Protests should contain statements of the reasons why the application should be denied.

Cafe Workers Vote On Union

RUPERT - Employees of the Russett Inn voted 10-0 in favor of recognition of the Hotel and Restaurant Employees and Bartenders International Union for collective bargaining rights in balloting conducted here Friday and Saturday.

Mrs. Clyde Sillan, illebrum, will be the organizer for the union.

Voting at Pete's and Marie's Cafe in Burley resulted in a 2-1 vote refusing the bargaining rights.

Results from balloting at the Beehive Cafe, Burley, are pending until absentee ballots can be checked.

Television Camera Used By Schools

HAILEY — A closed circuit television camera, recorder and screen recently purchased for use in Blaine County schools, was demonstrated by program chairman Vernon Exner at the regular meeting of Rotary Club Thursday noon.

Mr. Exner, county school superintendent, said the primary school has been assigned to the 1st Air Cavalry Division in Vietnam. He entered the U. S. Army in December, 1958.

It is that the instrument will be used for the Wood River and Carey high schools, but that on occasion special programs of interest to the younger students it may be used.

"Type libraries in several places are a source for special classes and these, in addition to locally made broadcasts will make this new tool more valuable as time goes on," he said.

MARVIN L. STONE

SUN VALLEY — Philip W. Present, Lewiston, president, will preside as members of the Idaho Society of Certified Public Accountants meet at the Golden Anniversary convention at Sun Valley June 14 through June 17. President-elect is Newel Nelson, Burley.

Featured speaker at the convention, which is to attract 100 public accountants and their wives, will be Marvin L. Stone, Denver, member of the council of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants.

He is president-nominee of the national organization and will be president of that group after the convention in Portland, Ore., in September.

Professional development courses will be featured during the convention, according to John H. Peterson, Twin Falls, senior member of the firm of Peterson, Seamon, Stacey and Bancroft. He is also a past president of the state organization.

These courses will include management of a tax practice, special reports and statistical sampling in auditing.

Mr. Stone will speak at a joint session of members and their wives which will be held at the Lodge Dining room starting at 8 p.m. on Thursday, June 15.

The convention will open June 14 with a board session at 11 p.m. while registration in the Lodge Lobby will be from 7 to 8 p.m. Business sessions start at 8 a.m. June 16. Entertainment will feature a golf tourney, a cocktail party and also a barbecue at the Trail Creek Cabin. A semi-formal banquet and dance will feature the evening of June 16.

Mr. Stone, whose topic will be "Merry Happy Returns" is one of the best known CPA's in the nation.

While still a junior at the University of Denver, and because of an impending draft call, he secured permission to take the state CPA board test in Colorado and, although only 20 years old and not yet a college graduate, he passed successfully. At that time he received the Sells Gold Medal which is given each year for the candidate receiving the highest grade in the nation.

He has been active in the Colorado association and also the National organization. Other activities include director of the Metropolitan National Bank, director of the Green Gables Country Club and director of the Town Club. He is also trustee and member of the executive committee of the General Ross Memorial Hospital. He is married and the father of two children.

FULLMAN, Wash. (AP) — An organization of 1,300 Egyptian graduate students in North America cabled Saturday a pledge of unqualified support to President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic.

The wire to Cairo was signed by Medhat Bakri, a doctoral candidate in food technology at Washington State University and president of the U.A.R. Students Society in the U.S. and Canada. Bakri, from Cairo, said his organization supports Nasser as "the only leader in the U.A.R. and of all the Arab people."

He said before sending the cable, he talked with fellow Egyptian graduate students in Boston; Raleigh, N. C.; Davis and Berkeley, Calif.; and Boulder, Colo.

RUPERT — A grant of $53,280 has been awarded by the Federal Water Pollution Control Administration to the city of Rupert to cover a portion of the $184,800 cost of upgrading sewage treatment facilities from primary to secondary.

The grant amount has been set aside to the credit of Rupert and is available for payment as construction proceeds.

The project involves addition to the primary treatment facilities constructed in 1961. A secondary clarifier, aerated lagoon and standby chlorination facilities will be located on the existing interceptor sewer south of town.

Expansion of the plant is required to handle the increased industrial wastes discharged to the city sewer system, principally raw potato and cheese

The secondary treatment of all Rupert sewage will remove about 85 per cent of the oxygen demanding wastes in the effluent discharged to the Snake River. The Snake River in the vicinity of Miller Reservoir has periodically suffered from low dissolved oxygen with fish kills in some years of low stream flow. Treatment of Rupert wastes will contribute to solution of this chronic situation.

Notice of the grant approval was forwarded to O. W. Johnson, Rupert Mayor, Wednesday. The Division of Engineering and Sanitation, Idaho State Department of Health, and the City of Rupert were commended for the plans worked out to provide the needed higher level of sewage treatment by the pollution control administration.

Anniversary

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II celebrated her 41st birthday Saturday with traditional military pomp and pageantry on London's Horse Guards Palace. Bright sunshine finished on the breastplates and drawn sabers of her household cavalry.

The queen, in scarlet tunic of the Grenadiers, rode the brown gelding Nellie to take the salute. She was accompanied by her husband, Prince Philip, in the uniform colonel of the Welsh Guards.

This is the official celebration of the queen's birthday, which really is April 21. It is celebrated in June for chances of better weather and to give tourists a show.

Seminoles Score Win In Claims Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Seminole Indians, losers in a bloody battle more than a century ago that ended with their eviction from their Florida homeland, have scored what could be a very profitable victory in court.

A U.S. Claims Court ruled Friday the Seminoles have established their legal ownership of almost all of Florida.

The court said the Indians must be paid for 32 million acres—a decision that could cost the U.S. government about $40 million. The court's unanimous decision still could be appealed to the Supreme Court.

When the United States got Florida from Spain in 1823, the Seminoles hunted and fished over most of the land. They were forced to occupy a four-million-acre reservation two years later and awarded $152,500 for the 28 million acres they lost.

The Indians rebelled when the government later tried to move them to an Oklahoma reservation. Joined by runaway Negro slaves, they battled federal troops for several years, killing 1,500 U.S. soldiers.

No treaty ever was signed. But 3,824 Seminoles and Negroes finally were sent to Oklahoma while others fled into the Florida Everglades. An estimated 1,300 Seminoles now live there.

The government argued the Indians originated only a small part of Florida. But the Claims Court said actual possession need not be proved to show they had rightful title to most of Florida.

Korea Voting Returns Are Complete

SEOUL (AP) — Near complete returns from Thursday's National Assembly elections rolled in amid rising political tension and confusion over the two-party system.

Party apparently won by the forces of President Chung Hee Park.

Park's ruling Democratic Republican party took 192 seats, and the main opposition, the main — New Democratic—party 27 seats in the nation's 131 districts decided by direct popular vote.

According to a system assigning some seats according to percentages of the popular vote, the ruling party won 27 more seats and the Shinmins 17.

The Shinmins continued their charges of election rigging and other irregularities.

Firm Calling Back Million Cream Pies

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — A Missouri firm is calling back about a million coconut cream pies because they may contain salmonella contamination, the Food and Drug Administration said Friday.

The pies are distributed by the F. M. Stumper Co. of Moberly, Mo. An official of the firm said contamination was only suspected and there is no way of telling how many pies might be contaminated. He said a substantial number of pies were being recalled voluntarily.

The FDA announcement in Washington said the salmonella bacteria was found during an inspection of the plant.

Death Takes Former Area Man

RICHFIELD — Richfield friends have received word of the death of Albert Sipa, about 59, near Fort Angeles, Wash.

Employed by the National Park Service, he is reported to have fallen from heavy equipment and been run over.

Mr. Sipa was formerly with the National Park Service at Craters of the Moon, near Washington, last November. He is survived by his wife, the former Florence Richardson, of Richfield, two daughters and one son. Funeral services were held at Wolser Saturday.

"THIS IS WHAT we came out with" say four Las Vegas residents who tried to run the Middle Fork of the Salmon River only to lose their battered boat at Dagger Falls. Left to right are Robert Weryly, 42, and his sons, Alan, 22, Kent, 20, and Tony, 14, who managed to hang onto a fork, when all the rest of their gear floated on without them.

Las Vegas Father, Three Sons Relate Exciting Experience On Middle Fork

By BOB JOHNSON
Times-News Correspondent

SALMON — A Las Vegas father and his three sons related an exciting experience on the Middle Fork Thursday after losing their 33-foot rubber raft on the Middle Fork.

Robert Weryly, 42, a security guard at the Nevada Atomic Test site, and his sons, Alan, 22, Kent, 20, and Tony, 14, lost the raft at Dagger Falls early Sunday evening.

"The Werylys were agreed on one thing: 'You can't run the Middle Fork during high water in June.'"

The four arrived Saturday at Stanley and learned the road to Dagger Falls was still closed by snowdrifts. They got as far as the Lolo Campgrounds on Marsh Creek and decided to put in there.

Sunday at 11 a.m., they were on their way. It was a bright and beautiful day, but the stream was running high—"too high," they found out.

Their 33 by 9-foot rubber boat was a Navy pontoon, with a special bridge connected in the middle. Their gear was stored in 20 waterproof containers. The boat itself was made up of 10 different air compartments.

The Werylys had the boat made special. Weryly said he had visited the Middle Fork several times via the Dagger Falls road and didn't find the high water condition that existed this week.

The four, in May, had run 60 miles of the Colorado River in the same boat, from Peach Springs, Ariz., to Pierce's Ferry, spending three days, but the river was low then.

They planned to run the Middle Fork from Dagger Falls to the mouth and later this summer in July the main Salmon River to Reiggins then the Colorado again in August.

The Werylys, who came to Salmon Tuesday and went down river to check on the possibility their boat may have come through to the Salmon, returned to Salmon Tuesday at night. Wednesday they learned their boat had been seen going past the Indian Creek landing strip on the Middle Fork, 20 miles below Dagger Falls and made arrangements for a pilot to fly the river in an effort to locate the craft.

Meanwhile they checked into Williams Lake to enjoy some fishing before having to report back to Las Vegas Monday morning for work.

Lemhi County Deputy Sheriff Glenn Munkers said Thursday he had been advised in a radio report from the Challis Sheriff's Office that the craft had been sighted on a small island in the river below Indian Creek.

The Werylys related their experience on the Middle Fork.

"We started down Marsh Creek. There were a lot of trees and we hung up three times, having to cut the ropes on the raft to get off the logs."

"When we got below Marsh Creek in the Middle Fork, some three or four miles down, we hung up on a rock broadside in a rapid. A large tree was caught against the rock as well."

"There was no way to get the raft free and no way we could go to shore. We stayed there an hour and a half. We tried to toss a rope to the bank to catch on the rocks or trees but we couldn't get to any side of the other."

"The water was beating the boat, tearing it to pieces. It came apart with the straps and the pockets falling into the water. Two of the sections broke—the heating-on-the-rocks."

"Then a big tree came floating down and ramed into us. They knocked us off the rock and set the fire. The raft was pretty well deflated by then but we had a 30-foot tree caught on each side of us."

"We tried to look onto something along the shore with a rope but the one time we succeeded it snapped. We tried to jump a couple of times, but couldn't make it. We knew that Dagger Falls was coming up below."

"The falls came up fast, faster than we thought. We knew we couldn't get the boat with the trees clinging to it—out of the river so we jumped at the last second. The current brought us close enough to shore before the boat went over the falls to enable us to swim the 10 to 15 feet."

"We thought for sure we were going over the falls. We came out of the river on the right hand side of the river under the pack bridge."

"It started to rain when we reached the falls Sunday about 6 or 7 p.m. We had lost all our gear and it was 20 miles back up river to the point we put in at Marsh Creek and it was 20 miles by river which was blocked by snowdrifts."

"We caught a glimpse of the raft as it went over the falls in a series of eight foot drops. It stayed upright. The trees broke about as it went over."

"There was a trailer falls at Dagger Falls which contained a sleeping bag, blanket, two cans of food and a jar of peanut butter."

"I had some dry matches and a lighter," Weryly related. "We had to go to Dagger Falls Sunday night. When it got dark we built a fire to try to dry out. It rained all night and we stayed in the trailer which leaked."

"On Monday at 7 a.m. we started walking the trail back up river. We covered about 12 miles the first day, in pieces the river was breaking at the trail which goes up the left-hand side."

"When we got above Bear Valley Creek on Marsh Creek we had a camp under a big tree. It rained all day and through the night. It never stopped raining until we finally got out."

"We were tired in dry out. We had camped about 8:30 p.m. We had the sleeping bag and the blanket and the jar of peanut butter and six cans of soap and some instant mashed potatoes we had found in a log cabin four or five miles up from the falls."

"We used the blanket and sleeping bag and the hot food (three of us and we rotated each hour with one of us staying up to keep the fire going."

"Tuesday we ran into four foot snowdrifts blocking the trail on the last 10 miles up Marsh Creek. The trail was along the river and we had a thin trying to keep from slipping off because of the drifts. We kept our life preservers on just in case."

The four reached the Lolo Campground Tuesday noon which is on the Marsh Creek state campgrounds. Later Lee Presley, Stanley District Ranger; Jim Moorhead, Challis Forest Forester; and Bill James, Stanley District Forestry Technician, came along and gave them a ride into Stanley where their vehicles were parked.

Mr. Weryly said they had come to Stanley with a car, pickup truck and U-Haul trailer. They had made arrangements with a service station in Stanley to be met at the mouth of the Middle Fork.

"We figured we would take our time to go down the river and be out sometime Friday, but the way the current was carrying us—I bet we set a record to Dagger Falls," Mr. Weryly said. "It was running 20 miles an hour."

The four tired and hungry Las Vegas ate at Stanley.

"We had divided our money among us before leaving and except for the bank of matches and a single fork which we ate the peanut butter with that is all we got out of the river with."

The party lost all its personal gear, food for six days, and outboard motor they had taken along to navigate on the main Salmon River. (The outboard motor broke up during the first two miles on Marsh Creek.) They had a tank of gas, six sets of salmon fishing gear, a camera, a movie camera, a movie camera, film and sleeping bags.

Once the boat had gone over the falls the Werylys didn't see it again. They hiked a mile below the falls looking but never finding the craft.

Weryly said all four had been "damn lucky." "We were just sure about the trail back up river and we knew the road out was blocked by snow so I feel we made the right decision in leaving the boat."

All four said their most desperate experience came when the boat was carried onto the rock in the Middle Fork.

"Five foot waves kept breaking over us although the raft was four feet above the water line. We had ours, and paddle and saw. Marsh Creek was too narrow to use the sweep and the current tore the poles, paddles and sweep off the boat."

"At one place we were carried toward an old pack bridge. We hit the bottom of the boat and it went under with only six inches to clear."

3-Day State High School Rodeo Set For June 23-25 In Burley

BURLEY — Final plans are being made this week by the Burley Kiwanis Club for sponsoring the State Championship High School Rodeo, June 23, 24 and 25 in Burley.

The winners during the contest at Burley will go on to the National Finals, Aug. 1 through 7 at Elko.

The High School Rodeo Association is a National organization with 22 states participating. Idaho is divided into five districts. Each district holds a rodeo and the winners of each district compete in the state rodeo.

Events for boys are saddle bronc, bareback, calf-roping, bullhogging, barrel racing and cow-cutting. Girls events include barrel racing, pole bending, break-away calf roping, goat tying and cow-cutting and a queen contest.

The State Championship High School Rodeo will begin at 4 p.m. June 23 with a parade starting at Overland Shopping Center, traveling north to Main Street and east on Main Street to East Park. Several Sheriff's posse members will be riding in the parade along with the students competing in the rodeo.

The breakfast for queen contestants will be held at 9:30 a.m. June 24 at Bryan's Cafe.

At the breakfast the queen contestants will be judged on personality and appearance. The horsemanship for queens will be judged at 1 p.m. June 24 followed by two go-arounds for cow-cutting.

The evening performances will begin at 8 p.m. June 23 and June 24, in the arena at the Cassia County Fairgrounds.

A Church service in the arena, "Church on Horseback," will be held Sunday morning and the final performance will be at 2 p.m. Sunday.

Buckles will be awarded the

"We had planned to start at Dagger Falls and we made it that far."

"The worst of it all was the rock in the river. The boat was really taking a beating in the current. Below us there was nothing but a mile and a half of rapids. As we looked down river we could see nothing but waves as high as a door."

"After we got off the rock the boat didn't float so well. Two sections had gone flat and the gear hid loosened up."

Alan is employed at the Blue Diamond mine out of Las Vegas and is married and has two children—Kent is single and works for U-Haul Trailers.

"My African violets stood up and cheered when we changed to ELECTRIC HEAT"

"Flowers are supposed to be cheering, and mine are more cheering than ever since we got electric heat," says Mrs. Virgil Norwood of Hagerman. "In fact, I have never seen them stand so straight and grow so lustily. The smooth, even heat and better humidity control seem to affect flowers as favorably as they do people."

Well-known Hagerman dairy farmers, the Norwoods have a modern electric furnace with electronic air cleaner and air conditioning. "It makes all the difference in the world," they say. "Our home is cleaner and more comfortable, and we have perfect temperature control in every room."

Cardinal Ritter Is Dead At Age Of 74

By Ben Brown
 ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Cardinal Ritter in high regard, died Saturday before his death, the son who became a prince of the president of the Metropolitan South Catholic Church Federation of St. Louis Saturday only 11 days after the said, "Personally, and in behalf of the anniversary of his ordination, of the Protestants for whom I took into the priesthood, may speak, I would say, thank God, you give us one of the best of men, whom we have known and loved since last Monday after suffering what was called a mild heart attack. He took a rather severe cold the worst Wednesday and had been in critical condition since Dr. G.G. Vournas, the cardinal's physician, said that his heart "just failed from all the strain."
 Cardinal Ritter's body will lie in state in St. Louis Cathedral starting at 7 p.m. Monday. He will be buried Thursday following a concelebrated Pontifical Requiem Mass at 11 a.m. in the cathedral. He will be buried in Calvary Cemetery.
 Doctors said the cardinal died at 5:47 a.m. Saturday. He had spent what was called a quiet night. Only his physician and hospital personnel were with him when he died.
 Pope Paul VI was reported deeply grieved at word of Cardinal Ritter's death. A spokesman in Vatican City said the Pope halted his affairs to pray for the American cardinal and send a cable of condolence to the archdiocese.
 Cardinal Ritter was born July 20, 1892, in New Albany, Ind. He was one of six children born to Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Ritter. The family operated a neighborhood bakery and the children shared duties in running the business.
 The only survivors are the cardinal's brother, Dr. Harry Ritter, Louisville, Ky., and his sister, Sister Mary Catherine of the Sisters of Charity of Nazareth, Bardonia, Ky.
 Cardinal Ritter entered St. Meinrad Seminary in southern Indiana and was ordained a priest May 20, 1917. Only last week he had returned to his native state to celebrate the 50th anniversary of his ordination with two classmates.
 Cardinal Ritter, who was consecrated bishop of Indianapolis, became an archbishop when the Indianapolis archdiocese was reorganized in 1944. Two years later, Bishop Ritter was named archbishop of St. Louis succeeding the late John Cardinal Glennon. In 1960 he was named a cardinal by Pope John XXIII.
 In Indianapolis and St. Louis, Cardinal Ritter induced participation in the ecumenical movement among the various faiths.

Home Economics Classes Added

RUPERT — Home economics classes in sewing have been added to the summer school program for Cassia and Minidoka Counties, according to an announcement by Ezra Moore, Cassia County superintendent of schools.
 The course will run from June 12 through Aug. 5 and will be for adults and students in the program. This year, registration will be from 7 a.m. to noon on Monday at the Burley High School with classes to follow the registration. Interested persons are welcome to enroll and further arrangements as to the desired hours will be made at the June 12 classes.
 Mrs. Ray Johnson, the former Charlotte Whittaker, who is making her home in Heyburn for the summer, will be teaching the course. Mrs. Johnson was a home economics teacher at Minidoka High School in 1955-56.

Collapses

PHIL LOWMAN, KMTV newsman and announcer, was reported in fair condition at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital, Saturday afternoon after he apparently collapsed of exhaustion at the KMYT station.
 A spokesman at the hospital reported that the newsman was given oxygen on his way to the hospital, and that he was released there approximately two days.

PINNING UP FOR SAFETY are Mr. and Mrs. Dan Ryan, Pioneer Square, Twin Falls, as Mrs. LaVern Strong, right, founder of the idea, looks on. She conceived the small fluorescent patches as a safety device for elderly pedestrians.

Mrs. Ryan, who stated that her husband, 92, was older than she, finally confessed to being 76. She said they walk most everywhere they go and plan to make frequent use of the safety patches.

Area Driver Training Discussed

RUPERT — The driver training program at Minico High School was examined by members of the Chamber of Commerce when Elmer Edgington, an instructor in the program, spoke at the Thursday luncheon meeting.
 Mr. Edgington said since the program began in 1962, 2,250 students have been enrolled in the program. This year, about 400 students per year. He noted that 142 are signed up for the training this summer.
 Requirements in the program are for 20 hours classroom instruction, six hours actual driving and 18 hours as an observer in a car. Students do their driving in groups of three, with an instructor with two observers while the third is at the wheel. Mr. Edgington said the program was put into the regular curriculum last year, with a full semester devoted to the course.
 The school has been hoping to put in a driving range this year, but the county's application for federal funds to help the program was refused. However, Mr. Edgington noted, the authorities haven't abandoned the idea of such an area and hope to get it done in the near future.
 Other new driving safety innovations being eyed include simulators in vans which show traffic situations on a screen, with students operating wheel, accelerator, brake on the driving elevators, a technique similar to the Link trainers used for aircraft training. This program, too, supplements the street driving but does not replace it.
 The Federal Highway Act has made available federal funds specifically designed to facilitate driver safety training. These funds in Idaho will first go to colleges to improve the instructor training courses, and it is hoped driving instructors can have at least 15 credit hours of training.
 Automobile dealers and their companies furnish the new cars which are used in the program. Minidoka County presently has

Local Woman Gets Award For Pedestrian Safety Idea

A Twin Falls woman whose long-time personal pet project has been safety, recently captured a national safety award for her club, the Twin Falls Business and Professional Women's group.
 Mrs. LaVern Strong, president of the group, innovated the idea, a potential life saver, as a project for her club.
 Her idea is simple, easy to use, and will be a boon and protection for one of society's least-protected groups—the senior citizen. The safety devices are four-inch by four-inch patches of styrofoam, painted a vivid fluorescent orange, which are to be attached to the arm with a similarly painted safety pin.
 Mrs. Strong said the idea has been approved by the Twin Falls Police Department and also the Twin Falls Housing Authority. They now are being distributed to senior citizens housing projects.
 Senior citizens are probably one of the "walking" groups in society and, as such, should have some protection when walking along traffic thoroughfares.
 The patches will glow in the dark as a warning to motorists. Mrs. Strong said, concluding that an "appropriate" slogan for the attachable patches would be "pin up for safety."
 The idea was one of 30 in the nation to receive a certificate of commendation from the Sixth Citation Awards Program of the Women's National Safety Conference of the National Safety Council.

 Besides helping her club to capture this year's award, Mrs. Strong personally received an award of merit about five years ago in the same competition. She has been state safety chairman and is currently a member of the state safety council.
 Several hundred of the patches are now being made by the Business and Professional Women's Club for distribution to elderly citizens desiring one of the patches should call the Twin Falls Housing Authority or contact a member of the club.

Your Spine and Your Health

By Dr. Ludwig C. Landwehr
 The common cold and the Chiropractor's concept of it.
 The Doctor of Chiropractic sees in colds and aches a warning sign of a serious condition in the body. This warning sign is one of subacute and acute postural distortion, too much strain, too little relaxation, too little movement, too little rest, too little sleep, too little exercise, too little air, too little light, too little water, too little food, too little love, too little joy, too little peace, too little happiness, too little health, too little life.
 1. There is an imbalance in the normal flow of nerve forces in the spine, causing the various chronic conditions of the body.
 2. There is a nutritional deficiency resulting in a weakening of those nerves and the channels of stimulation which they control.
 Both of these factors should be corrected and must be taken to correct them. If these conditions are not corrected, but allowed to degenerate, there will undoubtedly be a convulsion of the cold or cough.
 (One of a series of articles published in the public interest to explain and discuss the practice of scientific chiropractic, written by Dr. Ludwig C. Landwehr, whose office is located at Main Street, W. Twin Falls, Idaho, telephone 732-0322, Adv.)

Surprise Party Marks 56 Years For T.F. Unit

By NORMA HERZINGER

Surprises are always fun — and secrets even better. The fascinating attraction of both, however, is keeping it just that, a secret and a surprise.

Invariably when a group is planning a surprise, quite unintentionally someone will slip up and before you know it, the "cat's out of the bag."

But not in the recent surprise party hosted by the local Loyal Order of the Moose as an appreciation dinner for members of the Women of the Moose in observance of the men's unit's 56th Anniversary in Twin Falls.

The men very successfully planned, cooked and served the delicious dinner, oh yes, and even did the stacks of dirty dishes, all without the knowledge and assistance of the women.

During the dinner one woman was quoted as saying, "This is the best meat loaf I've ever tasted." Not only was the meat loaf good, the tossed green salad, baked potatoes, buttered peas, hot rolls and cake were just as tasty.

One woman noted, "The men were excellent waiters and everything was just perfect. Do you realize our coffee cups were never empty?"

The dinner tables were attractively decorated with arrangements of fresh lilacs, snowballs and irises, and one would almost swear a woman's touch had been used; but the men say no.

Taking an active part in planning the dinner were George Long, Newk Everett, Virgil Malone, Claude Severi, Bob Hansen and Paul Carlson.

The afternoon activities included a program presented by Pennie Callen as she sang favorite folk songs, accompanying herself on the guitar. Miss Callen has become very popular with Magic Valley residents as she

The Women of the Moose proudly displayed the plaque they received from Mooseheart for the 100 per cent participation in the Moosehealth Health Center Project, Orange Park, Fla.
Among the lodge members honored at the dinner were Gertrude Piers who enrolled in the lodge in February, 1926; William Johnson, a transfer from the Ruxton lodge who joined in April, 1925; Mrs. Jake Pope, a Women of the Moose charter member, and Mrs. Malvina Lake, Women of the Moose pianist, 30, oldest in years and the most active in chapter work.
The local Loyal Order of Moose was organized May 17, 1911, and the Women of the Moose in 1941. The last charter member of the local men's unit, Mr. L. C. Smith, died in 1964.
There are now over one million members of the two units in Canada and the United States, with approximately 2,000 lodges and 7,500 chapters. One of the most outstanding accomplishments of the organization is Mooseheart, which was founded in 1913. Approximately 6,000 children have benefited from its educational and training facilities. It owns 1,200 acres of land, with 100 modern fireproof homes for 100 children.

Bill Sangster is governor of the local Loyal Order of Moose and Mrs. H. C. Thompson is senior regent for the women's chapter. * * *

Tiffany's Fall
Styles Feature
Varied Lengths

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Leather egg roll toppers tied under the chin, thigh high boots, mini crowns and cowboy hats, mink shoes and coin-cuffed blouses were a part of a show put on by manikins modeling Jacques Tiffany's fall fashion collection.
As circus music blared in his tiny showroom Tuesday, young showgirls, ladies in leotards and strippers too, burst into their acts.
But the starring team were the three Ms., Mini, Mink and Mink. They represented the lengths Tiffany is allowing her models to grow to this winter.
The Minuet was the sweet old fashioned girl with bands of mink or a fur skirt to match her mink shoes.
The Midi was usually a coat stopping between the knee and the ankle. The longer the coat the shorter the skirt underneath. However the combination is a humane solution to the mini-madness during the long hard winter ahead.
Other frost thwarting schemes Tiffany offered were leather boots higher than a trout (fisherman's and mink baby caps with furry tails that rise at the nape of the neck. Still other hot ideas were stacks of grape-hued mink and a skirt and jacket costume of green-tinted mink.
And who could overlook the khaki colored blouses with the coin cuffs, worn under a very short shirt?
Occasionally a playful manikin stripped off her long skirt to show off her shoes with the electric-hued long johns with the turtle neck collar that reached the ears.
Under an umpteen thousand dollar sable that reached the ankles no miss audacious wore orange neon knit long johns.
Other eye-blinking color combinations in the fashion circus included a fluorescent pink mid-coat with silvery black leather mink skirt and topper.
Despite these theatrical aspects, the basic apparel was typical of the French imported designer.
Jackets were of the jaunty Eisenhower or smock type over softly gathered skirts, worn with sleeveless ring colored blouses. Cowboy hats, checked over the forehead or tiny felt crowns or leather muffs, or teal or celadine served as toppers.
Wool jerseys, often in gray or khaki colors, were high waisted

Temple Rites

PAUL—United in marriage in an LDS Temple ceremony May 29 in Logan were Naomi Hansen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don T. Hansen, Paul, and C. Richard Congdon, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Richard Congdon of San Rafael, Calif.
President George Raymond performed the ceremony.
The couple was honored at a reception that night in the Emerson Ward Cultural Hall. They greeted guests before an archway decorated with greenery and apricot-colored ribbons and white wedding bells. Beauty baskets of apricot-colored chrysantheums and white daisies completed the decor.
The bride wore a white satin floor-length bridal gown, fastenings with bell-shaped skirt and sequins marking the lace trim. The lace train was attached with a bow at the waistline. A rounded neckline and lily plain sleeves were features of the fitted bodice. The bride wore a pearl necklace.
Pearl-trimmed self-roses held her veil of bridal illusion. She carried white orchids surrounded with Tailsman roses in a cascade arrangement, with white satin ribbon streamers.
The bride's sister, Connie Jean Hansen, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Melba Pike, Christine Hansen, sister of the bride, and Diane Congdon, sister of the bridegroom.
Steve Congdon, brother of the bridegroom, was the best man and Neil Hansen, brother of the bride, was the usher.
Mary Simonsen registered the guests. Those in charge of the gifts were Sylvia Arterburn, Wanda Losee, Christine Stapleton, Susette Early and Judy Blacker. Gift carriers were Lowell Hansen and Stacy Hansen, brothers of the bride.
The three-tiered wedding cake was displayed on a covered lace table and trimmed with apricot-colored roses. The cake was topped with wedding bells. The couple cut and served the cake; and Noreen Peterson poured the punch.
Others assisting were Rhea Scott, Gloria Palmer, Violet Meade and Vivian Lee.

Mrs. Martin, Scherbinske Repeat Vows

Mrs. Elsie Martin, Eden, and Fred Scherbinske, Twin Falls, were married June 2 in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Owen Hammond, Eden. Pastor John Nichols of the Jerome Seventh Day Adventist Church officiated. The bride was attired in a gold-colored street-length dress, accented with a pink rosebud corsage. She entered the living room with Mr. Hammond to take her place beside the bridegroom in front of the archway of snow-balls and gold-colored tins. Attendants for the couple were Mrs. Larry Martin and Mr. Hammond. Debbie Hammond played the traditional wedding music and accompanied her sister, Janet, and their grandmother who sang. Mr. and Mrs. Chester Roies furnished the flowers for the archway, which were arranged by the hostess and her granddaughters who also baked and decorated the three-tiered wedding cake. The cake was decorated with pink and gold-colored roses and topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom. Half circling the cake of the base were snow-balls and buttercups. White candles flanked the cake. Mrs. Lonnie Martin and Mrs. Kenneth Martin assisted in serving refreshments to guests from Twin Falls, Jerome and Eden. The bridegroom is retired and ela Matthews, niece of the bridegroom, was ringbearer. Best man was Lawrence Berg. The bride was attired in a floor-length wedding gown of white peau de sole featuring a bodice of Chantilly lace, a round-neck and long lily point sleeves. Panels of lace adorned the skirt and chapel train. Her elbow-length veil was secured by a rose headpiece. She carried a cascading arrangement of baby orchids, Forget-Me-Not's and ivy tied with white satin streamers. Sandra Pfiefer, niece of the bride, was in charge of the guest book. Gifts were arranged by Sue Pfiefer, niece of the bride, and Sharon Matthews and Sandra Matthews, nieces of the bridegroom. The three-tiered square wedding cake, which was baked and decorated by Mrs. Austin Walker, was decorated in soft shades of blue. White wedding bells and lovebirds holding wedding rings topped the cake. It contained a table covered with an heirloom, handmade lace cloth, belonging to the mother of the bridegroom. Mrs. Fries cut the wedding cake assisted by Mrs. Mike Matthews, Mrs. Dick Anderson, Mrs. Gary Osterhout and Linda Pfiefer. I don't want to go against my mother, but I wish she'd let me. The kids at school call me "Square," "Oodball," etc. I pretend I don't care, but I do. And anyway, my knee socks don't go together with all my clothes. So what should I do?

DEAR HAIRY: If you want to shave your legs because all the other girls do, it's not a good enough reason. If you are really "hairy," ask your mother to take a good look at your legs and to be reasonable.

DEAR ABBY: I have been keeping steady company with a girl who is 24. I am 26 and we have a lot in common. We've talked about getting married but that's about as far as it's gone. She says you never know a person until you live with them and she doesn't want to get married until she is SURE it will last. She suggested that either I move in with her, or she move in with me for about 3 months.

Veteran Packing
Expert Gives
Instructions

NEW YORK (NEA)—Wouldn't it be a wonderful timesaver not to have to wait for your luggage to come down the ramp at the end of a plane trip?

According to Beth Frantz, veteran packing expert for a well-known luggage manufacturer (Samsonite) this is entirely possible. Beth, who was even called upon to give packing instructions to a professional football team, says that all the items you require for a short trip can neatly fit into a tote that can be kept with you on the plane.

Heavy items like shoes, a travel iron and extra purses are packed into the bottom of the bag. A hosiery, jewelry and handkerchief roll and inflatable hanger can be packed inside the shoes.

A co-ordinated sportswear outfit consisting of slacks, shorts, skirt and blouse and an additional outfit of skirt with pants underneath and a matching blouse are placed in the plastic-lined Handi-Tote by rolling each garment for wrinkles-free packing.

Palmanas, travel robe, slippers, intimate apparel and swimwear should also be rolled.

A plastic-lined cosmetic bag snaps into the side of the tote. Such items as gloves and magazines can be packed into the accessible outside pockets. And a travel umbrella easily slips through the outside straps.

It may take a little practice on your part, but with summer and weekend trips not far off it would surely be a joy to travel light.

Betty Canary's Wonderful World

It seems someone is always telling mothers what to do and then complaining about it. While back a group of Illinois researchers ran an experiment in mail order advice to new mothers, and sent poll takers around to see how things had worked out after a year.

To their amazement, they discovered that most of the mothers hadn't even read the letters. The good doctors were puzzled by this. I'm not, because the letters apparently gave the latest information on fears and attitudes, feeding, toilet training, illness and sleeping conditions. After all, while you're coping with all this, you hardly have time to read about it.

Dr. Jolly says, "The old ideas of so many hours of sleep are so much nonsense... the more a child is in contact with people and things, the more chance he has to learn."

The only problem I can see here is that the one from whom they learn the most is the mother. The only problem I can see here is that the one from whom they learn the most is the mother. The only problem I can see here is that the one from whom they learn the most is the mother.

Assistance For Teen-Age Skin Problems Noted

NEW YORK (NEA) — Many of today's teen-agers undoubtedly are spoiled and pampered and some believe they are misunderstood and, at times, misguided.

Georgette Klingner, who has been beautifying the skin of women in her New York facial salon for more than 25 years, has taken a step into the disapproving teen world to help prevent any misjudgment regarding teen skin problems.

The Klingner Teen-Skin-Care Salon, the first of its kind catering to teen complexion care, believes that teens are notorious for covering their complexion problems with layers of makeup and then compounding their problems with improper cleansing.

In individual pastel-colored treatment rooms girls change into tricorored smocks and her chief assistants, while leather chairs for their two-hour treatment. Cosmeticians examine their faces under a magnifying glass and after an analysis, the treatment begins.

It consists of a relaxing massage followed by an herbal tea steaming to open and cleanse the pores, followed by gentle pressure applied to get rid of all impurities. Finally, scalp and hair are treated for dandruff or oiliness.

A Klingner chemist then prescribes a special facial mask of two out of the 15 standard solutions made for allergies or special sensitivities.

"Teen-agers must learn good skin care habits to carry them through life now, when it's simpler and easier to clean the skin," she noted.

They must learn this before the pimples leave marks and the pores get enlarged," Miss Klingner said.

The Klingner beautician then helps the girls with eye make-up. Miss Klingner believes that make-up should be concentrated on the eye area and not on the skin. Her goal is a healthy skin that needs no make-up.

Miss Klingner is as enthusiastic as her teen clients. "I want the girls to feel comfortable and at home and yet teach them the importance of good skin care," she said.

In her efforts to give teens an atmosphere where they can feel at ease, Miss Klingner installed a wall-length kaleidoscope (very discotheque-ish) with flashing colors and the very latest groovy records play softly while the girls sip fresh vegetable juice (better for the skin, you know) rather than soda pop.

For at-home treatment she advises against soap for the face because it only cleans and dries the surface skin without penetrating into the pores where the oil accumulates.

Fashion Houses Rejoice With Booming Sales

ROME (AP) — Rejoicing fashion houses in Italy talked Saturday of booming sales as buyers and manufacturers milled about with order pads, following a week of Italian spring and summer showings.

All indications were that the new lines of Italy's designers unleashed a boom for the boutiques and high fashion houses in terms of hard cash.

Peril a well-scrubbed city despite November's disastrous flood.

The organization was just fantastic," said Russel Carpenter of Magnin's of San Francisco, a 12-year veteran of the Italian shows. "I can't believe they had a disaster there just two months ago."

Molly Ballantyne of Ogilvy's in Montreal directed her administration to the knitwear. Pirate-striped knits from Avagot were among the best sellers.

They have seven living children, all planning to attend the celebration.

They include Lester Hills, Jerome; Albert Hills, Jerome; Verla Belle Dodson, Twin Falls; Mrs. Edgar (Dorothy) Hustie Hazelton; Raymond Hills, Buhl; and Mrs. Howard (Mary Jane) Conrad, Murtaugh.

They have 17 living grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. Fred A. Hills and Glada B. Clemans were married June 20, 1917, at Aberdeen, S. D. Mr. Hills first came to Idaho in 1911

Fords Grab Early Lead At Le Mans

LE MANS, France (AP) — Ford jumped to a 1-2-3 lead and was setting a blistering pace in the early stages of the 24-hour Le Mans auto race Saturday night while Ford team drivers were cautioning their drivers to slow down.

The front running car, a 1967 Mark IV Ford, driven by Dan Gurney of Costa Mesa, Calif., and Roy Foyt of Houston, Texas, was full up ahead of the nearest challenger Ferrari after 12 hours.

The Gurney-Foyt car had averaged 140.43 miles per hour. Gurney and Foyt were followed in order by two other Mark IVs, one driven by Bruce LE MANS, France (AP) — Murio Andretti of Nazareth, Pa., was reported injured in an accident early in Sunday's race.

No details were immediately available. Race officials said only that Andretti had been taken to a hospital.

McLaren of New Zealand and Mark Donohue of Stony Brook, N.Y., the other pilot by McLaren of Nazareth, Pa., and Lucien Bianchi of Belgium.

A Chaparral was fourth with pilot Jim McNamee of San Francisco, Calif., and Mike Spence of Britain alternating at the wheel.

The P4 Ferrari driven by Ludovico Scarfiotti of Italy and Britain's Mike Parkes, was in fifth place.

The rest of the seven-car Ferrari entry was in sixth through eighth places. It seemed certain the Ferraris, unwilling to make an attempt to keep up with the Ford, would stay within striking distance should the Ford machines fail.

Worries about the speed of the race was apparent in the Ford camp. One Detroit spokesman said, "Our biggest problem now is trying to get our drivers to slow down and save the cars."

Two Men Score Doubles In Track

CORVALLIS (AP) — Steve Vetter of Portland's David Douglas High School and Greg Lindsey of Lake Oswego were double winners Saturday in the high school division of the Oregon United States Track and Field Federation championships.

Vetter won the 120-yard high hurdles in 14.7 seconds and the 330-yard low hurdles in 1:33.7. Lindsey, the state A-1 sprint champ, took the 100 in :9.9 and the 200 in :22.1.

Alex Paz of Jesuit near Beaverton won the pole vault at 14 feet, 11 inches, a new Oregon state record.

Cardenal-Led Angels Trim Detroit 2-0

ANAHEIM (AP) — Jose Cardenal drove in two runs with a single and homer Saturday night as the California Angels defeated Detroit 2-0 for their fourth straight victory.

Clyde Wright and Minnie Rojas combined to pitch a four-inning shutout over the American League leaders.

Wright, 1-0, was making his first appearance since being called up Thursday from Seattle. He allowed four hits in seven innings.

Losers Earl Wilson, 8-5, gave up a sixth-inning homer to Cardenal, who has hit safely in 11 straight games. Then, Cardenal's seventh-inning single drove in Bob Rodgers, who had doubled.

one team coming back on Les Gibson's one-hitter to claim the nightcap 10-0. At Nampa, Kurt Timmerman pitched Twin Falls to a 7-4 win in the opener, and Rick Semba and Soron combined to take the second battle 5-2.

Twin Falls "A" will stay in action, hosting Blackfoot in a doubleheader beginning at 3 p.m. Sunday in Jaycee Park.

Irwin, last named in from Billings, signed Caldwell completely through six innings of the opener and when the home team came up with four in the last-inning rally it didn't matter.

Larry Eller, making his first appearance for the club, banged over three hits and drove in four runs to make things easy for Irwin. Eller also produced several fine defensive plays at third base.

Three walks by Irwin accounted for most of Caldwell's last inning bid and a bases-clearing double by Steve Marfurt put each in it.

With Gibbons dominating in the second game, Twin Falls never threatened. A homerun by Marfurt hung the loss on Duane Pressnell in the early going.

Coach Ron Watson, facing the Sunday doubleheader, pulled Pressnell at that point to save him for Blackfoot, and Eller came on to wind it up.

Gibbons kept the no-hitter going one out into the last-inning when Gary Simpson broke out spell with a line drive single to leftfield.

In "B" action, Holladay backed the eight-hit pitching of Kinghorn with a three-for-four effort at the plate to win the first game 7-4. Twin Falls scored three runs in the first inning to seize immediate control. The big hit was a double by Paul Baker.

Rupert Tips T.F. 'B' Squad 2-0

A pair of errors followed by Delroyn Pehrson's off the 2-glove double provided all the scoring Friday night as Rupert defeated Twin Falls "B" team 2-0 in American Legion baseball action.

That marked the only difference between loser Jim Astorquin and winner Lacey Jarolimек as both kept out of trouble most of the time.

Rupert turned the tide in the sixth when Gordon Heath lived when his grounder was bobbled. Jarolimек's bouncer was fumbled, moving Heath into scoring position. After Heath scored on a ground out, Pehrson belted a long drive that bounced off the fingertips of the Twin Falls leftfielder.

Twin Falls threatened in the third when Astorquin singled and Ron Blackwood, who was three-for-four, doubled. A walk found the bases but Jarolimек stunged to get the last two outs without any damage.

Maris' Homer Sends Cards Past Dodgers

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Roger Maris blasted a three-run homer in the 11th inning giving the St. Louis Cardinals a 5-2 victory over Los Angeles Saturday night.

Tim McCarver opened the Cardinals' 11th against reliever Bob Miller with a double. But he was thrown out at third on Dal Maxwell's attempted bunt. Then Bobby Tolun singled and Maris smashed his third homer.

The Cardinals tied the score and knocked out Dodger starter Jim Brewer, when pinch hitter Bert Hood walked to lead off the seventh and Tolun lined his second homer over the right field wall.

The Dodgers had taken a 2-0 lead against Larry Jaster in the first inning. Willie Davis opened with a double and Jim Heckman was safe on a fielder's choice. Home runs — St. Louis, Tolun (2), Maris (3).

California State Has NCAA Small College Crown

By DAVE KAYES
Associated Press Writer
OGDEN, Utah (AP) — California State of Long Beach easily won the National Collegiate Athletic Association college division track-and-field championship here Saturday night.

But the victory was not evident until East Tennessee State speedster Robert Rovere swept the sprints to dampen title hopes of California Polytechnic of San Luis Obispo.

Long Beach also was bolstered by an unusual victory in the high jump. Six men cleared 6-6, but Bob Mills, Long Beach, was declared winner on the basis of fewer misses.

Andrew Bell, American University, Washington, D.C., broke the only meet record in running events with a 53.9 time in the 440-yard intermediate hurdles. Bell's time topped the old mark of 51.3 set in 1964 by Andrew McKay of North Carolina College.

University of California at Santa Barbara edged Cal Poly for second place on the final event.

Gerry Wygant won the triple jump in 48-8½ to lift his team past Cal Poly by one point, 92-90.

Long Beach's winning total was 77.

Rovere beat Cecil Turner, Georgia Tech, in the 100-yard dash to spoil Turner's bid to single-handedly win the team title for Cal Poly.

Rovere's time was a record 9.2 but a 6.9 mile per hour tail wind disqualified the time as a new meet record.

Walt Clements and Jim Hanefeld broke stadium records as they scored victories for Long Beach.

Clements won the 120-yard high hurdles in 1:41 and Hanefeld took the shotput at 58-5½.

Long Beach also finished second in Cal Poly in the 440-yard relay with a time of 4:05—a stadium record.

Stanley McDonald, Lincoln University of Missouri, broke his meet record in the discus throw, one of three events completed Friday night with a winning throw of 178-11½. His old record was 177-7½.

Ed O'Donoghue, Boston State University, and Grant Colhour, East Kentucky University, were other first night victors.

O'Donoghue won the hammer throw in 162-4, and Colhour captured the six-mile run in 19:42.

It was the first time the events have been held in Weber's two-year-old track stadium.

Only the University of Utah's division finals next week at Provo, Utah, if their qualifying times and distances meet the association's university standards.

Trail And Spaeth Share Opening Round Lead Of Burley Amateur Tourney

BURLEY — A pair of young University of Idaho, and Rick Spaeth, who took his diploma at Jerome High School last month, didn't have a much-breathing room over at least three veterans.

One stroke behind the leading duo are Tom Olson, who was Spaeth's golf coach at Jerome High, and Don Teetson, Rupert, one of the best in the Mini-Cas-area. Defending champion, Eric Anderson, Pocatello, turned in a 75 Saturday to stay well within contention.

The first flight was almost as tough as the championship with Gus Menapace, Burley, carding a 74 and taking a one-stroke lead over runner-up Ken Olson of Rupert. Pocatello's Bob Anderson was another step back at 76.

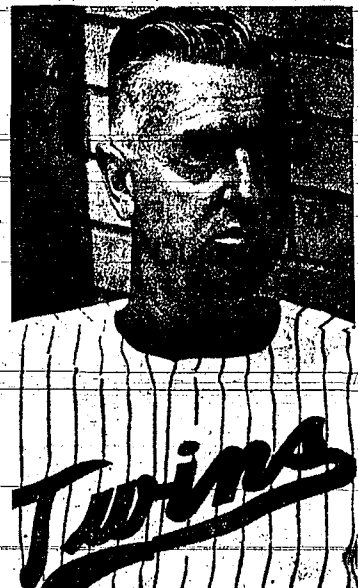

Ken Hulzinga, Burley, firing 77, had the only two-stroke lead among the flight leaders Saturday. His score was two shots ahead of Otis Henderson, Gooding, who in turn was one stroke better than Leroy Ellis.

A tie developed in the third flight between Theron Ahlstrom and Jack Yasatis, Burley, who both turned in 82s. Mill Russell was right behind with an 83, one stroke ahead of Jack Dunsmore, Burley.

In the fourth flight Herm Nelwart, Burley, and Jay Nichols, Burley, were deadlocked with 84s while Bruce Brower, Burley, turned in an 85.

Although the tournament offers an overall net sweepstakes, Professional Vera Berk said the division will not be totaled up until conclusion of play Sunday evening.

Saturday's opening round began in some rain and prospects for winds and high scores but the weather turned for the better before noon and the bulk of the field had nearly ideal conditions.

TWIN'S NEW MANAGER Calvin Ermer relaxes in his office after his first game, an 11-2 loss to Baltimore Friday night. The 43-year-old Ermer was brought up from Denver of the Pacific Coast League to replace Sam Mele who was fired Friday by Twins' owner Calvin Griffith. (AP wirephoto)

Ermer Replaces Mele As Twins' Manager

By LEW FERGUSON ST. PAUL, MINN. (AP) — At 43, Calvin C. Ermer has spent a third of his life managing minor league baseball teams.

But he never gave up hope that he would one-day be summoned to manage in the major leagues. Friday he was summoned to replace Sam Mele at the helm of the Minnesota Twins.

He remembers the bus rides, the cheap hotels, the jockeying and the dusty fields of the minors. He also remembers that a man must have faith in his abilities.

"I started managing," he recalls, "in 1947 when I was 22 years old. I replaced Spencer Abbott at Charlotte. He was the oldest manager in baseball at 61, and I was the youngest."

"Then, in 1949, Clark Griffith asked me if I wanted to go to Orlando as player-manager. I thought I could still make it as the majors as a player, so I told him no."

"So Mr. Griffith told me he would put me on the Charlotte roster and make me eligible for the player draft. I thought sure I would be drafted, but nobody took me."

"I figured I'd better start managing and I took the Orlando job for 1950. I was managing ever since, except for one year (1952) as a Baltimore coach and two years (1953 and 1954) as a scout for the Orioles."

"I don't regret the years I spent managing in the minors. I figured somebody in major-league world came along."

"I feel very good about taking over a club I consider a natural contender."

Ermer is a lanky 6-foot-11, 100-pounder with a pleasant smile and a quiet manner.

His greasy hair and deliberate walk, strike in the mound give him a decided resemblance to Mele from a distance.

There are indications he may not be in a great deal different from Mele as a manager.

Twins players who served under him in the minors say he stresses fundamentals, expects players to do things the way they should be done and runs his club with a firm but friendly hand.

"These were Mele's trademarks—sometimes described as a 'ballplayer's manager'—until Mele appeared to lose contact with his players in the 1956 season."

Moore Places British Bookies On Hot Spot

EPSON, England (AP) — Australian jockey George Moore and his colt, Royal Palace, have British bookies quite concerned after their classy victory in the English Derby.

Moore bookies have given 1-10 odds against Moore winning the five classic races of the flat season, and Moore now has won three of them—the 2,000 Guineas, the 1,000 Guineas and Wednesday's Derby. No jockey ever has won them, and the odds and the St. Leger in the result.

Royal Palace was an even bet to become the first horse since 1925 to win the three major classics. He has won the 2,000 Guineas, the 1,000 Derby and now faces the St. Leger.

Although the St. Leger is not until September, it is difficult to imagine him being beaten.

A lot of money hangs on the result.

More than one million pounds ($2.8 million) was paid out by the bookies on Wednesday's win, a victory which made the odds of Palace worth more than 500,000 pounds ($1.4 million).

BC Lions Suspend Kapp For Signing Oiler Contract

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — The British Columbia Lions of the Canadian Football League suspended quarterback Joe Kapp for the 1967 season Friday because he had signed with the Oilers who still will return to the Lions.

Allan McEachern, president of the Canadian League, said the action was taken with a great deal of regret but added that the move was recommended unanimously by the team's directors.

Kapp, formerly of the University of California, said through a spokesman he had done nothing to warrant suspension and that any such move by the Lions would be contested in court.

Kapp signed with the Oilers of the American Football League, but President Bill Woodard of the AFL voided the contract because Kapp still belonged to the Lions.

Mrs. Gasser Is Medalist In T.F. Meet

Mrs. Jackie Gasser dropped a long putt for a birdie on the first hole of overtime play to win medalist honors over Sergeant Sorenson, Burley, in the Twin Falls Women's Invitational golf tournament.

The women tied over the nine-hole event with three-over-par 39. They halved the first sudden-death hole with pars before Gasser, in overtime, played to a birdie to close out the match. Mrs. Sorenson parred the second hole.

That moved Mrs. Sorenson to the winner of the championship flight gross division while DeLores Fitzgerald, Boise, took the low net award.

In the first flight, Dorothy Zahn, Jerome, took the gross championship while Maggie Sumner, Buhl, had a low net.

Third flight gross champ was Ethel Martin, Jerome, while Min Cronin, Twin Falls, had the best net score.

A total of 76 women participated in the event, which was a Valley association represented by members. Other golfers from the Pocatello and Boise areas competed.

Sinclair Tops Blue Lakes Junior Golf

Walt Sinclair came in with an 88 Friday to take first place in the Junior boys division of the Blue Lakes Country Club's junior tournament while Lynn Summerfield had a nice score of 54 to top the Junior girls.

Second in the Junior boys class went to Dave Warner with a 91 and Bob Newcomer shot a 112 for third.

Janis Cook and Kay Davis had 59s to tie for second in the Junior girls with the next in line was Bonnie Killen with a 62.

Milo Anderson was first in the new division with a nice score of 54 to top the Junior girls.

Both Janice Knuck and Sally Moran had three-hole scores of 35 to tie for first place in the new girls section of the tournament. Janet Anderson came in with a 50 for third and Sherri Seamus was fourth at 61.

Lynch Agrees To Play For Chiefs

KANSAS CITY (AP) — All-American Jim Lynch of Notre Dame, an outstanding linebacker, agreed with the Kansas City Chiefs Friday and said he expected pro football will be a very humbling experience.

"It will be humbling," he said, "because people who have watched and admired on television will be your competition for a job."

Lynch was Kansas City's No. 2 draft choice. "I'm very nervous," he said, "but I'm very happy with my contract."

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Jim Ryun scored an easy mile victory Saturday night with his patented last-lap kick. He finished in 2:10.4, breaking the world record in getting his second world win of the U.S. Track and Field Federation Championships.

Harrelson Is Purchased By Athletics

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Senators announced Friday first baseman Ken Harrelson has been sold to the Kansas City Athletics in a straight cash deal.

No price was announced by the club. The Senators, playing in Boston Friday night, also announced that pitcher Dick Cox has been recalled from Hawaii and will join the club during their series with the Red Sox, most likely Saturday.

Vulture Has Turned Into Clay Pigeon

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The Vulture has become a clay pigeon, and that as well as anything typifies the problems of the Los Angeles Dodgers as having this year.

The Vulture, a name picked up by relief pitcher Phil Regan last year, had his latest troubles Thursday night when he lost his third game of the two-month-old season.

The loss, a 5-4 decision to the Atlanta Braves, deepened the Dodgers' hole in the top half of the National League and only 27 games from the pennant.

LIKE TO VISIT the natives? The original Americans still offer performances of tribal dances in colorful regalia.

WOULD YOU LIKE to cross the Sahara on a camel? The camels might be hard to come by but Bruneau desert has the sand dunes located not far from the Snake River near the town of Bruneau.

WANT TO FISH? Do it in Idaho where not only the fishing is good, but the scenery is terrific, equal to any in the world.

DO YOU YEARN to see the wide open spaces of the new frontier of Australia? Idaho has places where it is easy to believe that you are "down under."

Discover The Wonders Of The World In Idaho's Vacation Areas

By PEGGY LALEY
Times-News Feature Editor

Who hasn't dreamed of taking a trip around the world, a Mediterranean cruise or even a junket to Catalina?

In travel and sight-seeing we tend to look to the far distances and overlook the places and sights that are worthwhile right near our homes.

Of course a trip to the Balanced Rock near Cascadeford may not have the glimmer of viewing one of the seven wonders of the world, but it's probably more within the financial possibility for most of us.

Really, if you lower your sights and study a map of Idaho, you will find quite a number of places to visit, many within an easy day's drive of Magic Valley. With the help of imagination it is easy to pretend that you are in some far off country while visiting their counterparts right here in Idaho.

Like to fish? Idaho's fishing is equal to any in the world. And some of the fishing spots take a back seat in beauty to none.

Do you like to camp out? There are plenty of places, both in the natural state and man-improved for those who like to get away from civilization for a day or two.

Do you like the desolate grandeur of a far-reaching stretch of desert? Some of us do. In deserts Idaho excels and on the vast Bruneau desert you can find miles and miles of sand dunes reminiscent of the Sahara.

If you would rather stick with civilization take advantage of the many recreational facilities, both spectator and participant, that take place at Sun Valley. Sun Valley has come to be synonymous with skiing, but there are many activities there for the less energetic.

The summer program there this summer includes a series of plays to be produced by the IBU drama department.

Make a visit to the Ice Caves and Mammoth Cave north of Shoshone.

Pick a ghost town and make a trip back in time to when the state was young. There are a number of deserted and half-deserted communities that, except for the natural ravages of time have been bypassed by time and the world.

There are the famous Idaho City and Silver City, but there are also Careytown, Muldoon, and the old gold camps of Fennerville, Rocky Bar and Atlanta.

So, if you can't quite manage to see the world this year—see Idaho, you'll be surprised.

Promotion Urged

Gov. Din Samuelsen early this spring urged statewide support for the national "Discover America" campaign by declaring "Discover America Through Idaho" month.

We go a bit further and urge Idahoans to "Discover the World Through Idaho."

Tourism has become the third largest income producer in our state's economy and it is important for the progress of Idaho that the citizens of the state become acquainted with the many areas that offer attraction for tourists.

In the Governor's statement he said, "I particularly urge all tourist agencies to cooperate with the Department of Commerce and Development to encourage Idahoans to visit and gain promotional knowledge of the vacation areas, historic sites and other places of interest so that all can help and direct tourists."

Idaho provides much that is unique and much that is a remarkable substitute for world travel. Many of these places are within an easy day's drive of Magic Valley.

Idahoans owe it to themselves and to their state to know about its many four-season attractions.

They owe it to Idaho, and thereby to themselves, to promote its vacation areas and worthwhile places of interest.

WANT TO CAMP by a lake? Do it in Idaho. You can enjoy the rugged mountains and snow in July; breathe the fragrance of the pines and listen to the lap of waves on the beach of a mountain lake.

LIKE THE WONDERS of nature? Unusual rock formations, rugged mountains and oceans abound in Idaho.

TIMES-NEWS Book Review

THE WATERLALS OF SLUMI
By Holmlo-von Doderer
This is a novel for the discriminating and discerning reader. It is for the reader who sees the level just above for something more than action, who is interested in character development, and who appreciates fine writing.

It is not for the reader who wants a fast-paced plot and lots of action, no matter how improbable. And yet, having said this, we recommend when we have finished the book that it is full of action.

As in von Doderer's earlier novel "Every Man a Murderer" the incidents in "The Waterfalls of Slumi" are the result of interaction of the novel's characters. Each character is fully developed in his vividly realized environment.

The novel is constructed in a series of blocks, each block centered around one character or a group of characters. Each block is a necessary part of the story's development, however unrelated it may seem at the time of writing. Each character is essential; each reacts upon the other.

The young Englishwoman, Harriet, first appears here, for which she was so worried a man with whom she has no basic line of communication. When they go to live in the time of the movement drives Harriet still further into herself.

Even on her trips back to Britain for which she was so homesick, she found herself wanting to be alone, and as the author says, "Crawling to the door to see if the body can have a passing affair with solitude."

Harriet's son, Donald Clayton, inherited her inability to communicate. It is his future to read the book's other carefully developed characters that brings about the story's climax.

In the meantime we have met the ambitious clerk who struggles up from a small background to become a successful businessman, but whose life is basically unfulfilled.

Chwostik's horrible landlady rents rooms in his flat to Fevri and Finy, two peasant girls who have fled the dreary life on their farm to become prostitutes in Vienna. They rescue a small girl from drowning and find that when one performs such an action, one must take the consequences.

These consequences lead them to a happy, hard-working, entirely respectable life in Hungary, but they re-appear much later in the story development.

There is a group of sophisticated, much concerned with growing up. A lady scientist is attracted by Donald Clayton but their personality so baffling that she eventually marries his father.

Dr. Harbach and his ridiculous family appear, and so do the very strange Countess Ergettel and the young doctor whose professional education she has financed.

Each is shown by the author in all his or her virtues and faults, but the depiction is impartial. "Here they are. You, the reader, may judge them." Each one plays some part in Donald Clayton's life. Each one contributes to the final catastrophe.

Thanks to a chance encounter with a shrewd and understanding old woman, Donald begins to realize that he has misjudged "the brotherhood of man" that is based upon sympathy and depends on communication. The realization comes too late to save him.

All the carefully developed blocks have come together. All of the interrelationships of character have been revealed. There is no place in the picture for Donald.

Hunting Of Wild Turkeys Said To Aid Desired Natural Wildness Of Bird

By JIM HUMBIRD
A few of the birds had gone and instinctive fear of man had become less with the passage of time. One of the main points in the recent decision of the Idaho Fish and Game Commission to allow wild mountain turkey hunting this fall in the lower Salmon River country was the fact that hunting helps a flock by removing the less wary birds and increasing the natural and much desired wildness of this largest of the upland game birds.

There were other considerations of course and two main ones were to be sure the wild mountain turkey had established itself to the limits of the carrying capacity of the lower Salmon River range and that the current program of wild trapping and using the bronze girls to start new flocks on potentially suitable habitat in other parts of the state be continued.

Portions of three different quarterly meetings of the commission were spent reviewing all that is known about the way 33 wild Merriam's turkeys from the mountains of Colorado had "taken hold" and established themselves since the first of three batches was released during the winter of 1961.

These flocks now total at least 500 birds each fall, enough to support transplanting into other state areas and to have stocked surrounding areas on their own. In addition to much "turkey talk" at the past three quarterly meetings of the Fish and Game Commission, all of its members have made field trips into gobble country to see for themselves. They learned that hunting, if not, the natural thinning process, is the best way to control the population. The lower Salmon River population has reached the point where it can produce an annual crop of poults that is big enough to meet the twofold needs of brood stock for supplying surplus birds for transplanting to other places and for limited hunting.

Elwood Bizeau, state bird supervisor, says that when a turkey range such as the lower Salmon River is stocked to near its top carrying capacity, regular hunting to remove seasonal production or surplus birds helps the flocks without hurting the breeding numbers. These birds and fall in response to range conditions.

Mr. Bizeau says the same thing in the language of the market place when he says that shooting helps a flock because those that are left have stronger instincts for survival to pass down to their offspring. He adds that this strong instinct must be reinforced from time to time by external stimulation such as hunting. If not, the natural thinning process, is the best way to

Mr. Bizeau says the same thing in the language of the market place when he says that shooting helps a flock because those that are left have stronger instincts for survival to pass down to their offspring. He adds that this strong instinct must be reinforced from time to time by external stimulation such as hunting. If not, the natural thinning process, is the best way to control the population. The lower Salmon River population has reached the point where it can produce an annual crop of poults that is big enough to meet the twofold needs of brood stock for supplying surplus birds for transplanting to other places and for limited hunting.

Elwood Bizeau, state bird supervisor, says that when a turkey range such as the lower Salmon River is stocked to near its top carrying capacity, regular hunting to remove seasonal production or surplus birds helps the flocks without hurting the breeding numbers. These birds and fall in response to range conditions.

In a recent story concerning the Kimberly - Hanson - Murtaugh Education Trust, Inc., it was stated that the fund originated with $1,000 given by Edward McCarty to a friend for investment.

The story should have read that a friend gave the $1,000 to Mr. McCarty for investment but that the friend died before it was invested.

Archeologists have proved beyond doubt that American Indians tamed or domesticated wild and domestic turkeys before the coming of the Conquistadors and their introduction into Spain.

The earliest date known is reported at about the time of Christ. The English colonists, of course, brought them back to America as domestic birds. By this time, domesticity had repressed the captive turkeys to such a poor representative of the wild species that W. Priest wrote in 1807: "Why do not the Americans domesticate this noble (wild turkey) bird? They are America's admetite birds; their climate than the puny breed their ancestors imported from England." Other writers commented to the same effect about the way domesticity had dwarfed the erstwhile wild turkey.

To telescope history even more, the wild turkey may have been immortalized as the country's national emblem, rather than the bald eagle had it not picked up the name of a foreign country at some point during its world travels.

There is no doubt that the American bird, which eventually gave the world its largest domestic gallinaceous fowl, derived its name from Turkey, the republic in western Asia and southeastern Europe.

Benjamin Franklin favored the wild turkey because it was a respectable native American reared birds since 1910. But, her only successful establishments have come from wild - trapped and transplanted turkeys in recent years.

The big difference is that partly tamed birds live close to the ranches and take easy food handouts during the hard winter months. Most of such plantings have been from the Rio Grande range of turkeys, whose original range is open country in the arid Southwest and quite unlike to their liking in Idaho.

sites have higher respiratory and metabolism rates than pen-raised turkeys.

One authority comments that the wild-turkey starts to darken and continues to do so for the next few years.

The author (Caton) points out further that domestication results in white flesh for turkeys of wild stock that are kept in captivity for two or three years. Differences in feeding habits between wild and domestic strains, and lessened physical activity are the two suggested reasons for the change in flesh color.

"Rosy" Layne's Interest Lies In Radio, Both By Hobby And Vocation

C. N. (Rosy) Layne is like the postman who likes to take a walk on his day off.

Mr. Layne is the general manager of radio station KLIX here in Twin Falls and his hobby is operating a ham radio set. He has had this hobby for a long time and has talked to other operators in 200 countries of the world and to two expeditions at the North and South Poles.

His interest in radio really began, he thinks, when a friend of the family returned home after serving as a ship's radio operator during World War I. He says that as far back as he can remember he has been interested in radio and the more this friend talked about his experiences the more interested he became.

Despite this he majored in business at the University of Idaho, Moscow, where he received his degree.

Mr. Layne was born in Bull and has a twin brother who is the postman - in California - he recalls that at one time he also had a band, Rosy Layne's Vandals, which played for dances around Magic Valley and while they were attending the University.

He left Bull in 1939 to become an engineer at the radio station in Logan, Utah, and in 1941 he began teaching electronics at Utah State University. Although he had no degree in this field he had become so well self-educated that he also taught this class for the Navy at the school.

In 1947 he went to Idaho Falls as an engineer for radio station KID where he became general manager in 1948. He was instrumental in the organization of KID-TV and the Skyline Television Network in 1953. He has been in Twin Falls for the past four years.

Mr. Layne was a member of the Kiwanis Club in Idaho Falls; a member of the Idaho Falls Chamber of Commerce board of directors and a member of various other civic and service organizations there, but just hasn't gotten started here, he said. When asked about his somewhat unique nickname of "Rosy" he grinned and said "I had sort of rosy cheeks."

Then he went on, "You know I had always wanted a nickname - my given name is Clarence - and I wanted to be called Butch or Slugger or Killer or something very masculine like that, but the 'Rosy' stuck."

THIS IS A PHOTOGRAPH of the original human flag created by 10,000 sailors from the Great Lakes Naval Training Center 50 years ago. The picture was discovered by Chester D. McClain in the files of a Navy office and treasured by him because his father was one of the sailors in the ball at the top of the flag staff.

FIFTY YEARS AGO Charles F. McClain was one of the sailors forming the ball at the top of the staff in the living picture of the American Flag. His son will occupy the same position in the duplicate July 8.

AS ONE OF 10,000 sailors forming the American Flag July 8 in ceremonies at Chicago's Soldier Field, Chester D. McClain, Chief Aviation Machinist Mate, will take the same position where his father stood some 50 years ago.

Son Takes Father's Place In Ceremony

On Dec. 7, 1916, Charles F. McClain enlisted in the United States Navy.
 Twenty-two years later—to the day—his son, Chester D. McClain, also enlisted in the Navy.
 On July 8 of this year a human flag will be formed during ceremonies at Chicago's Soldier Field. This flag will be a duplicate of one created by sailors from the Great Lakes Naval Training Center 50 years ago.
 In the original flag the father had a place in the ball at the top of the flag pole. In the flag to be formed on July 8 his son will be positioned in the same spot.
 This year's flag, which will be identical to the first one, will be formed by 1,600 sailors as the white stripes; 1,300 as red; 1,800 in the stars; 3,400 in the blue field; 700 as the flag staff and 300 forming the ball at the top.
 The flag will cover seven and one-half acres of ground; the staff and ball are 800 feet long.
 President Johnson is among the guests who have been invited to the ceremony.
 Chief Aviation Machinist Mate Chester D. McClain took his training at the Naval Training Station, San Diego, went to aviation school at Alameda, Calif.; gunnery school at Norman, Okla., and aviation school in Chicago.

 After Pearl Harbor he was sent to Brown's Field, Texas, to train recruits and later to New Hebrides Island where he served during World War II.
 He has served aboard the USS Constellation and the USS Kitty Hawk. He is presently acting adjutant commander at the Great Lakes Naval Training Center. He will retire with 30 years service in 1968.
 He was graduated from Twin Falls High School in 1938, is married and has four children.
 His father trained at the Great Lakes station and, as a hospital corpsman, served on a transport ship which made 24 round trips to France during the first world war.
 He was discharged in 1918 and was one of the charter members of the Twin Falls American Legion post. The elder Mr. McClain was killed in an accident May 23, 1963, at the Amalgamated Sugar Company plant in Twin Falls.
 His widow resides at 227 Flier Avenue, Twin Falls.

The Money Box

BY FRANK SCHELL

First letter this week from Mrs. G. B. Rupert: "What is the value of a copper half penny having the words 'One Half Penny' on one side, and the other side is 'Bank of Upper Canada, 1837'?"

Answer: In 1840, the parliament buildings at Montreal were burned by a series of riots, and the capital was transferred to Toronto and the Bank of Upper Canada gained the right to coin copper. The denominations of one cent and one-half cent were coined in 1850, 1852, 1854 and 1857.

The tokens are very plentiful—eleven tons of them were taken from the bank failed. Although these were supposed to have been melted a great many re-

Air Traffic Specialist Jobs Open

BURLEY — Officials of the Federal Aviation Administration, Burley, and the U.S. Civil Service Commission jointly announced Tuesday that examination positions for Air Traffic Control Specialist with the Federal Aviation Administration are now open.

The need for the positions is in order to meet rapidly expanding air traffic, according to Clark H. Stohl, area personnel officer of the agency, Salt Lake City. The starting salary is $3,867 per annum for Air Traffic Control Specialist.

Positions to be filled are in the Air Route Traffic Control Center, Salt Lake City, in tower at various airports and in flight services units in Utah, Idaho and Nevada.

Candidates for these positions must qualify for Journeyman Air Traffic Control positions at salaries ranging from $5,000 to $14,000 per annum.

Applications are also being received for an examination to fill Flight Data Aid positions located at the Federal Aviation Administration Air Route Traffic Control Center, Salt Lake City, with starting salary for Flight Data Aids $5,331 per year.

Further information may be obtained at the Agency Board of the U.S. Civil Service Commission, 135 South State St., Salt Lake City, or the Federal Aviation Administration, Salt Lake City Office, 238 West North Temple, Salt Lake City.

14 Youths Are Chosen For Camp

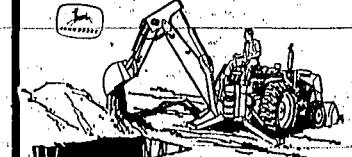

Names of 14 Magle Valley area youths were announced Tuesday by the Idaho State Land Department as delegates or alternates to attend the annual Idaho Youth Conservation Camp, details of the department of Public Lands announced Thursday.

Each legislative district will be represented by two boys, one attending the first four weeks beginning June 19 and the others the second session, beginning July 17.

The camp programs will be held at Priest Lake with overnight stop made at McCall. Each boy will send a letter which will list the items of clothing and equipment he will need and other necessary instructions.

Delegates include Gary LaVon Rose, Glenn Henry, Chris Thurlock, Challinor Douglas, Steven Shina, Rupert; Ernest Samuel Sides Jr., Wendell; Steve Arvid Johnson, Twin Falls; David Wayne Kelling, Filer; Michael E. Kibby, Burley; Louis Martin Torricca, Brunette; Steven William, Hosea; Kenneth Warren Anderson, Rupert; Roger Ernest Routh, Twin Falls; John Robert Slapson, Boise; and William Bret Simmons, Burley. Alternates for the district with only one applicant is Glenn Edward Elliott, Mountain Home.

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — Municipal Judge Frank Boocof fined Lon Lee Samuels 18, of the University of Oregon, $75 Thursday for setting off a false alarm at a woman's dormitory during a party held last week.

Wendell Mill Buys Timber Near Burley

BURLEY — The 15 million board feet of timber recently for sale by the Sawtooth National Forest and located in Flat Canyon, about seven miles east of Elba, has been bought by the Wendell Mill and Lumber Co., Fairfield.

Flat Canyon is in the Burley Ranger District of the Sawtooth National Forest, stated Merle Stock, Burley ranger.

Harvesting of the timber is planned to begin immediately. The price paid for the timber was approximately $3,000. One-fourth of the funds collected by the Forest Service is returned to the Cassia County road and school fund, Ranger Stock added.

The timber sale contract provides that the Wendell Mill Co. will construct approximately four miles of work roads.

"While these roads are to be built primarily for the harvest of timber, they will furnish benefits for the administration and protection of the area, and for use of the area and stockmen," Ranger Stock stated.

A collection will be made for timber stand regeneration and improvement to insure a future supply of timber.

Part of this fund will be used to plant 25 acres of young trees. A collection will also be made for disposal of slash and debris from the area, and disease hazards are reduced.

The contract provides for erosion control measures to be taken to maintain continued productivity of the soil and to prevent deterioration of the watershed.

The multiple-use plan for the Burley Ranger District coordinates this timber operation with the recreation, watershed and wildlife resources to preserve and whenever possible increase these values.

The harvested timber will be hauled to the Wendell Mill and Lumber Co. sawmill located at Hayburn.

Two days of workshops are planned with well-known writers from the Western United States leading the discussions.

The presentation of the Federation's first $100 scholarship to a professional journalist or journalism student will be made as a final highlight of the three day convention.

Members of the Times - News staff attending the meetings will be Bonnie Baird Jones, Ruth Koenig, Edna Jenkins, Norma Hernandez, Larry Smith and Peggy Laley.

"Rugged Society" Is Dream Of Singapore Prime Minister

SINGAPORE (AP) — President Johnson may have his "Great Society" dream, but in Singapore it is the "Rugged Society" that Prime Minister Lee Kuan Yew works for.

"Only the fit can survive," says Lee. "There is no place here for soft and flabby citizens."

This means about 10 per cent of Singapore's civilian population will be required to march in strict army style. And thus any day in this republic of two million, some group is marching somewhere.

The "Rugged Society Program" was instituted early this year. Lee's vision was a Singapore of well-built citizens working for the benefit of the island.

Energy means, survival. The aim of the program is to instill "pride" in the citizens of Singapore.

The "Rugged Society Program" is a carefully drawn out plan, which includes compulsory military service for youths; health drives; intensive training in sports; oaths of allegiance, and moral training.

Compulsory military training has already put 10,000 Singapore youth — both men and women — in uniform, with a total of some 200,000 to be trained by end of 1967. This will constitute one of the largest armies in Southeast Asia, but Singapore's leaders stress the army is for defense only.

In a recent ruling, every child above 9 years of age will have to undergo strict medical tests twice a year. This will include tests of muscular power, endurance and general health.

Bank Of China Dedicated To Collecting Capitalist Cash For Communist China

BY FORREST EDWARDS
HONG KONG (AP) — The Bank of China is dedicated to collecting Chinese lions' carved of stone and looking more like oversized Pekingese lapdogs — tormented into snarls, guard the unwelcome direct orders from Mao Tse-tung to collect a million worth of hard currency flows into Communist China every year.

This is the Bank of China's Hong Kong branch, 16 stories of yellowing gray concrete dedicated to collecting capitalist money from the West. Communist China's battle against capitalism, develop her nuclear weapons, lift her industry and feed her 740 million people.

Roughly two-thirds of the money which the Bank of China collects here comes from China's exports to this tiny British colony.

The other third includes millions in remittances from overseas Chinese to relatives in China, and payments funneled through the Hong Kong bank to aid African and South American nations.

Why did the bank's management and 300-man staff spearhead Mao's mob stoning and violent anti-British demonstrations which, if successful, would have wrecked the colony's already precarious economy? Mao's Chinese caught in the power struggle between Mao Tse-tung and Liu Shao-chi.

Fairgoers Are Enthusiastic About New Type Of Motion Picture At Expo

A new type of motion picture is on the way, judging by the number of multi-screen productions being unveiled at Expo '67. After making the rounds of cinematic offerings on the Montreal scene, one critic wrote: "The single screen of the modern commercial movie theatres is in for another radical change and leap forward — like that of the move from small to big cinema and Cinemascope and their giant screens."

Another stated: "So many exhibitors use total-environment audio-visual effects that, after Expo '67 people might insist on multi-screen movies."

Exhibits using the three-or-more-screens technique at Expo are the United States, USSR, the Bell Telephone, Labrynth, Man in the Arctic, Czechoslovakia, (where the tri-screen has been a popular form for some time), and the Canadian Pacific Company, where the Thompson-Hammond offering "We Are

Big Name Says Bid For Attention Is Motivation In Acting Profession

Airline Asks Reduced Fare For Wives

Pan American World Airways has applied to the Civil Aeronautics Board for permission to offer a 25 cent fare reduction for U.S. servicemen's wives flying between the west coast of the U.S. mainland and Honolulu.

The new round trip fare would be $165. The present economy fare is $220. Pan Am serves Honolulu on flights from Los Angeles, San Francisco, Portland and Seattle.

The women would be traveling to meet their husbands from Honolulu to Vietnam Recapture flights which Pan Am provides the U.S. Government at cost.

Pan Am plans to put the reduced fares in effect by June 24 if the government approves the application. Under the plan, the wives' travel must be completed within 15 days of departure from the mainland.

Pan Am has operated its Rest and Recuperation service since March, 1966. Since that time some 250,000 military personnel have been flown from Vietnam forward areas in Vietnam to various points in the Pacific and Southeast Asia.

Each day Pan Am is flying 1,000 American servicemen out of Vietnam for their week of rest and holiday away from the war. Pan Am's Rest and Recuperation airlift is entirely staffed by Pan Am personnel—captains, stewardesses, flight engineers—each of whom has volunteered for special war zone duty.

Area School Trustees Are Sworn In

HAGERMAN—Mrs. Robert Robinson and Alfred Sandy were sworn in as school board trustees at a recent meeting of the Hagerman school board, District 23.

Mrs. Robinson is a new member replacing Vernon Ravenscroft for Zone 1. Mr. Sandy was re-elected for Zone 2. The board was reorganized with F. A. Henslee re-elected chairman and Bob Adolf re-elected treasurer.

The board accepted the resignation of James Holt, a grade school janitor. Mr. Holt and his family are moving to Shoshone. Mrs. Laura McAnulty, school board clerk, announced her intentions for this position will be accepted by herself, Mr. Henslee or George Carnie, school superintendent. Other vacancies still open are for a mathematics teacher and a head basketball coach or one person able to handle both positions.

Henry Arterburn, high school janitor; Laura McAnulty, school board clerk; and the hot lunch cooks, Mrs. R. K. Bendorf and Mrs. John Kelley, were all rehired for the coming year.

New teachers hired for the coming school year are Mr. and Mrs. Larry Hobson and Mrs. McKinley. Mrs. Hobson will teach English and Journalism. Mr. Hobson will teach English HOLLYWOOD—Acting, among other things, is a bid for attention. That's the frank opinion of Broadway's leading actor and star of the daytime series, "Days of Our Lives," colorcast Mondays through Fridays over the NBC Television Network.

"The first thing a child wants and needs is attention," said Carey. "An actor remains a child most of his life. He wants attention."

When he was six years old, Carey appeared in a play. "I enjoyed the attention of showing off," he recalled, adding, "however, it is more than just 'showing off.'"

"As I matured, I realized that I had to find the means for satisfying my wants," said Carey.

"I realized that I had to be good (professionally) in order to be looked at. Certain ideals, certain civilizing principles also had to become part of the picture."

Carey, who stars as Dr. Tom Horton, at one time considered medicine, law or writing as possible professions, while attending the University of Wisconsin and the University of Indiana—the latter institution.

"I definitely committed myself to acting during this time," he said. "I found that I was using the chemistry experiments to put on a 'show' for other people. I told myself, however, that if I didn't achieve something substantial as an actor after five years of effort, I would go into some other line of work."

Carey landed "something substantial" when he was signed for the lead on Broadway in "Lady in the Dark" opposite Gertrude Lawrence.

Carey's choice of profession proved right, as evidenced by his credits, which include the starring role on Broadway in "Annie Get Your Gun" with Kitty Carlisle.

He has starred also in nearly 50 motion pictures including "Wake Island," "Shadow of a Doubt," "John Paul Jones," "Stranglehold," and "Tammy and the Doctor."

Prior to accepting his role as Dr. Tom Horton in "Days of Our Lives," Carey starred in numerous TV productions. He also starred in his own TV series, "Dr. Christian" and "Lock Up."

"Acting," said Carey, "has a therapeutic value. It can be a purge and a sublimation. It doesn't just involve the individual's happiness; the actor, although it makes him function better as a human being.

The whole primary business of theatre is communication, not only of ideas but also of emotions. The great joy and satisfaction of a good drama is in getting good feelings and bad feelings expressed. This is what the actor does for—the audience."

Carey is married to the former Philadelphia socialite, Elizabeth Heckscher. They have six children. Carey's series keeps him busy but he manages to get in a daily game of tennis when he gets home.

"The hardest thing these days is getting up early in the morning," said Carey, of his work. "The hardest thing about being an actor, though, it not being, considered this way, the unwelcome sound of the alarm clock becomes music to his ears."

SHOSHONE—County Commissioners will meet at 10 a.m. Monday at the courthouse.

Bar Cars

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — The state Senate Transportation Committee has voted to give serious consideration to a proposal to bar all gasoline-consuming cars from California highways by 1975.

It did so after an air-pollution expert testified Thursday that a single car uses up more oxygen in a 45-minute drive than all the millions of people in the Los Angeles area can breathe during that time.

Frank Stead, retired California air pollution chief, told the committee that oxygen is destroyed and polluted so fast by the internal combustion engine that human consumption is dwarfed in comparison.

Arrested

Gregory Leon Shadley, 19, Twin Falls and Boise, was arrested Friday morning by Twin Falls city police and charged with first degree burglary.

Officers made the arrest in connection with the investigation of a June 2 burglary at the Town and Country Bakery, 1233 Kimberly Road.

Owners of the baking firm told officers on June 3 that $310 was missing from their safe and that it had been opened, apparently with a combination.

Actresses Join Three Men

In Receiving Royal Awards

LONDON (AP) — One of Britain's brightest young actresses and one of the nation's veterans of the stage were picked for honors by Queen Elizabeth II on Saturday along with a top atom scientist and two men who rowed across the Atlantic.

Vanessa Redgrave, 30-year-old Oscar nominee this year for the best actress award, was made a Commander of the British Empire in awards given annually on the queen's official birthday.

Clady's Cooper, 77, a stage actress for 81 years, and a pin-up girl during World War I, was made a Dame of the British Empire. This is equivalent to a knighthood and outranks the award to Miss Redgrave.

Sir William Penney, Britain's leading atom scientist, was created a life peer.

And paratrooper Capt. John Kingsbury was made a Companion of the Order of the British Empire.

Officers made the arrest in connection with the investigation of a June 2 burglary at the Town and Country Bakery, 1233 Kimberly Road.

Owners of the baking firm told officers on June 3 that $310 was missing from their safe and that it had been opened, apparently with a combination.

Tourists Invade Taiwan In Search Of Many Wonders Of Mysterious East

Ever since the first Chinese official stepped ashore 13 centuries ago in Taiwan, the South China Sea between Hong Kong and Tokyo has had its share of troubles. The peoples have battled against invaders from many lands—the Portuguese and the Spanish, the Dutch and others. Today the people of Taiwan are welcoming a new, peaceful kind of foreign invader—the tourist.

The characteristic energy and efficiency the Chinese have made great strides towards their goal of developing tourism during the past few years.

They have made two major hurdles. Although relatively close to Hong Kong (40 miles) and Tokyo (1,300 miles), both served by BOAC, Taiwan was not on the network of major international air and sea carriers. And the island's tourism plans have been hindered from time to time by gloomy news of tension in the Formosa Straits.

Nowadays, however, even the most intrepid tourist need have no fear about the difficulty of getting to Taiwan—and getting out again—nor need he worry over his creature comforts. With the advent of the jet age, communications have vastly improved, the centers of world tension are shifting elsewhere, and facilities for the visitor are comparable to most places in Asia.

Old Asia hands agree that the island is one of the most beautiful in the world. In fact, the island's former name, Formosa, is said to have originated from the joyous cry of a Portuguese sailor back in the 16th century: "Formosa!—Beautiful Isle!"

Just 100 miles from the mainland China coast, Taiwan—400 miles long and 85 miles wide—is a lush rolling green land with a central spine of rugged mountains rising to 12,000 feet. Bisected by the Tropic of Cancer, it basks in sunshine for an average of 330 days a year.

The land is outstandingly fertile. Agriculture is the key industry, with rice and sugar its major products—but the wily farmers can even coax crops from the rocky hillsides by ingenious, contour-clinging series of terraces. Taiwan in Chinese means literally "Terra-cotta Bay." Fruits and flowers grow in splendid profusion. Exotic blooms grace even the humblest of homes.

Taipei, the capital and commercial center, is a rambling city of a million people, crisscrossed by impressive, boulevard-like streets and crammed with small buildings.

One of the most engaging structures in Taipei is the 14-story, red-roofed Grand Hotel which more than makes up to its name in the lavishness of its decor. Pillars and wall panels are in "lucky red" with gold trimmings. Panels in bas-relief depict the multi-colored gods and goddesses, dragons and fairies which peopled well-loved tales of yesterday.

More modest accommodations are also available, with air conditioning the rule and excellent service, according to British Overseas Airways Corp. travel advisers.

The priceless works of art of Old Cathay to be seen in Taiwan's national museums include masterpieces of Chinese painting, calligraphy, bronzes and jade, porcelain and enamelware, carvings, ancient books and records—all lovingly preserved through long centuries.

For the modest collector of curios—Taiwan is a treasure house. The influx of people from the mainland in 1949 gave new life to dying arts, and the official policy of insistence upon quality of craftsmanship has brought good dividends in terms of sales overseas.

Chinese cooking in all its tantalizing styles finds adequate expression in Taipei. First class restaurants abound, and dishes rare to the western world are everyday fare here. Cantonese style is highly favored, but Hainanese, Peking, Shanghai, Szechuan, Mongolian and native China.

Two notable temples in Taipei are the richly decorated Shanh temple and the (obviously arduous) Temple of a Thousand Steps. Nearby are two mountains—Ta Tung with Yangmingshan national park and Mt. Kunyin with its grand vistas. The old resort of Famsil where the British Consulate now stands was the site of the former Fort Sanjo Domingo built by the Spaniards to command the sea approach.

You should not miss Taichung, the provincial capital near the hauntingly beautiful Sun-Moon Lake. On a misty morning it looks for all the world like an ancient Chinese print.

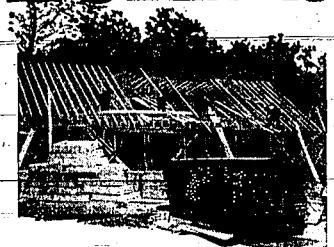

Pakuaoshan in Changhua boasts the world's largest Buddha. And Taiwan's oldest city on the island, offers a fascinating glimpse of the "real," ageless

Woman Sues To Get Beer Permit

Mrs. Billie Wilson, Buhl, filed action Thursday, afternoon in Eleventh Judicial District Court against the board of Twin Falls County Commissioners, saying they denied her a beer license without proper grounds.

Mrs. Wilson was seeking a license for operation of the Log Tavern, Buhl, and applied for transfer of a license previously issued in another name on April 26. The request was denied.

She asks the court for an order to show cause by the county commissioners why the license should not be issued.

Minutes of the county commission meeting show the transfer was denied as it was requested a license issued Mrs. Wilson was under suspension at the time.

2:00 p.m., 4-7—Legend of Mark Twain, a rerun of the biography of Huckleberry Finn's creator. The writer's life is traced through the characters of his novels and stories, based on a line written by Ernest Hemingway. All modern American literature comes from one book... called "Huckleberry Finn."
 4:30 p.m., 25L, 2B, 8—NBC News Special, "After Civil Rights... Black Power." A definition of "Black Power," a phrase first coined by Stokely Carmichael, has long been the slogan and newsman Sandra Vanocur attempts to give such a definition in this special. Among those interviewed are Rev. Martin Luther King, who defines black power as a psychological call to the "responsibilities of manhood." Roy McKelick, who says that black power is a signal for racial identity and pride, and Charles Evers, brother of the murdered Medger Evers.

With summer approaching and vacations coming up, John Q. American will do off the road and take the kids up for a family snapshot. How many photos have you seen like this—Aunt Ella, Uncle Fred, Cousin Betty and Cousin Brownie and the kids, all in a line, looking like so many pumpkins on so many poles?

By Bill King Jr., Staff Photographer

This column is dedicated to the amateur photographer who is interested in making those family keepsakes imaginative, and something a little more than the usual row of relatives.

To begin with, whether you own a Brownie, a Polaroid Swinger or a Graflex XL system that costs about as much as a new car, some basic rules apply to all photography, black and white or color.

One basic rule is about the care of equipment if you don't have a deluxe carrying case for your camera, try to obtain a leather case or a stout box that can be used when the camera goes with you on a trip.

A clean lens is essential to clear pictures. The camera eye is much like a window; a dirty pane of glass can spoil the view. Lens papers run approximately 10¢ each for 35-cent lenses. The Samoans are widely regarded as the best living example of the Polynesian culture in the Pacific and, as they are un-derstandably, a visitor has an excellent chance for a memorable experience in South Sea Islands.

Visitors are accepted easily and invited to a "fia fia" or a ceremonial round of drinking the famous island brew—kava kava with much singing and dancing.

On arriving, guests are greeted with a warm handshake and introduced to the "tala" or native butaglow which is open on all sides during the day. If chairs are not available, everyone sits on the mat-in-Samoan fashion with legs crossed or tucked under.

It soon becomes apparent that life revolves around an unusually large family group of relatives by blood, marriage and adoption. One man is recognized as the "matai" or head of the family. He is the "chief orator" and responsible for the leadership while the others do such tasks as farming or instructing the young. The Samoans are very democratically, however.

for there is a rotating system in the village take turns in a rural position. On a walk past the flower gardens and lawns which surround the hails, one is very likely to see men cooking at an outdoor fireplace and the women doing the family wash in a stream. Most villages are close to the sea, so added to the scene are children swimming and fishermen poised over their potential catch with spears. Samoan feasts are a special treat for everyone sits in a group and eats roast suckling pig and mangoes, breadfruit, coconuts and sweet potatoes with their fingers from huge green leaves or woven coconut fronds. Unlike Hawaiians who perform dances with their gyrating hips, the Samoans perform knife dances, twirling sharp machetes or do the Samoan slap dance, leaping about clapping hands in rhythm against legs, stomach and chest. One of the wildest activities of the Samoans is their special brand of cricket. This game differs from the English-style in that each team can have ten to a hundred players. Singing and dancing are involved in the game and the waiting players, plus a supporting group dance and sing to pep up their team. The closer the game, the more frenzied the dancing and singing.

DON'T FALL IN LOVE WITH A RING IN A MAGAZINE.
 There you are, flipping through the pages of your favorite magazine, when suddenly you see it... the ring!
 You picture it on your finger. You daydream about it. The troubles is, all there are yet more important things to think about. Since the cost of your ring is mostly determined by the diamond in it, you ought to think about it. You ought to know about size, color, clarity, cut. You ought to have an expert evaluate your choice for you.
 If you still insist on dreaming, in spite of all our advice, come in and dream over the selection of diamond rings at Sterling. We have rings you can fall in love with and depend on for a lifetime.

VANISHING ACT FOR SLAM SET

The late Philip Hal Sims was probably the greatest auction bridge player. He also was mighty good in contract except that he liked to bid his slams by the quickest possible method. Of course there wasn't much the bad trump break but without that break he would have had no problems at all. It wasn't done with mirrors but just by bridge player. He also was mighty good in contract except that he liked to bid his slams by the quickest possible method. Of course there wasn't much

Hal led a club to dummy's ace and ruffed a club. Then he led a heart to dummy's king and ruffed a heart. Then he played by three rounds of spades, stopping in dummy.

At this point Hal was down to four trumps and West held three trumps and either a club or a heart. It was up to Hal to decide to bid to suit the other card was in but East had helped Hal out. East had played the four of hearts at trick one and dropped the three hearts under dummy's king. Then when the third heart was led East had fished with the queen. This was a silly falsecard because Hal's ten-spot opening had denied the jack.

Therefore Hal knew that East held the jack of hearts and West another club. He ruffed a club and led his ten of trumps. West took one trump trick but had to lead back to Hal's king-eight.

CARD SENSE

Q—The bidding has been:
West North East South
Pass 1♠ Pass 2♠
Pass 2 N.T. Pass 3♠
Pass 4♠ Pass 4♠

You, South, hold:
♠A Q 10 5 4 ♣K 6 2 ♦A Q 8 7
What do you do now?
A—Bid four no-trump. You will hold both the ace and king and will gamble on six if your partner's bid would do better.

TODAY'S QUESTION

You bid four no-trump. Your partner bids five hearts to show the jack of hearts and West another club. He ruffed a club and led his ten of trumps. West took one trump trick but had to lead back to Hal's king-eight.

science to the game in Hal's day and even today we see nothing much wrong with his jump to six diamonds over his partner's two no-trump. Hal made little ceremony about dummy play. He won the heart lead with his ace and put his ace of diamonds on the table. East showed out and West remarked, "If I'd known that you held both the ace and king I would have done better."

Your Library Card Is A Flying Carpet

Walt here. Like everyone else, a Russian plot to seize the country. I've read a great deal of the history books, but me "chicken," and I've never story's anything but dusty. Now, A SEER. Now meet a seer: Ray Bradbury, the emperor of science fiction. You'll have to hunt for his peace and joy, bounteous beauty, endless riches and significance, all the well-advised U.S. dollars, but with books instead of drugs as my flying carpet.

If you wince at my fervor, you're obviously one of the educationalists who are the Brady boys for whom reading's been perverted from delight to torture. "His fun's been squeezed out of reading by assignments that force you to pick books to the bones with 'study the style, detect the underlying theme, parallel the motives, etc. etc. etc.'"

Books are written to be read in joy, not perused in drudgery. So rebel! Vallow's around the globe, but with books in the column and trying a book trip with me as soon as your last exam is over?

GROUND RULES
Some rules are simple: 1. Don't grab any book around and get some trip-lips from people whose company you enjoy. Then gamble 5 cents or 10 cents and receive the book at the library (if it's not home on the shelf already). 2. Get comfortable. Don't hunch over the desk where you've arranged all your long grass a pillow and snark and go to the park or the beach. But make it a solo excursion. Or, if your park's a mugger's paradise, the break fresh air as you read.

3. Try to read 25 pages the first sitting. Once you stop undulating, slow down and the pages should wing by. Your aim is to get past the necessary stage setting process and into the flow of the story. Don't give up after three chapters unless you're a neurotic or more awkward in take-off than others.

OK, now let me play four quick strokes of your book at the memorable trips I've taken. These are strictly personal selections, a not non-pasteurized. You'll find both saints and sinners in the company, engaged in everything from prayers to orgies. It's my feeling that once you're old enough to read newspapers with understanding, you comprehend the range of stories from Eagle Scout investitures to peacable rapas, you can accept, for humanity's flaws in fiction.

1. In the year long great our trip list, Dropout, rascal and spy-at-12; he wanders the caravan routes of Victorian India accompanied by a holy man and a Casanova. He eventually thwarts

Another true trip: for forty years A. S. Noll has been writing the "Summerhill" school. "Summerhill," where students can do whatever they like as long as they don't interfere with the rights of others. You want agree with 50 per cent of the schoolmaster's conclusions, but I guarantee it will push out the walls of your thinking to read his definition of education. The book wings like a delightful letter from a friend.

Ouch. The space squeeze blaps, and there's no many more papers underhanding, and I wanted to invite you on. Take your pick of one of these or ask your favorite peacable rapas, you can accept, for humanity's flaws in fiction.

Mary L. Gooding Park In Shoshone Attracts Visitors

SHOSHONE—Mary L. Gooding park, Shoshone, continues to attract more visitors than any other single "free" attraction in the Shoshone area.

Perhaps this is because picnics are most popular there ever these days. Shoshone community residents are regular visitors at the park for a picnic and swim, or just a summer evening's outing in the fresh air.

But, probably more visitors come to the park from the tourist crowd during the summer months than even the community regulars would imagine. Licenses on cars have been noted from almost every state in the Union and there are even visitors from foreign countries, according to Adolph Braun, caretaker.

Braun said the visitors stop off to enjoy the summer shade available from a tap, electricity lights up the green after dark, a wading pond attracts small children and the Rotary club will build a cement rest area this summer.

The footbridges, one new and the other replaced to make nicer construction, have added considerably to conveniences in getting around the park and even across the river, and the city crews are to complete the Civic club fencing project of the Little Wood River area through the park this year.

Park attendants over the years say visitors exclaim "This is the nicest little park we have ever visited."

Shoshone Civic Club is mother of the park. In 1929 members passed a resolution naming it Mary L. Gooding in memory of her leadership in purchasing lots, acting as trustee for the property and work on the project the winter months.

The first park in Shoshone was a block of ground which now is site of the courthouse.

After the grounds were deeded for a courthouse site, several attempts were made to establish parks, but no parks were used for any length of time until 1928.

Mrs. Gooding was the club president and began a movement for a children's swimming pool.

With the appropriation of $500 from the village board and a provision that the club be responsible for the pool, an acre of land on the Ruby Motion property along the river bend of Little Wood River was purchased for $1,500 by the club.

On May 2, 1929, the park was presented to the village of Shoshone. A park board was named and a member of the Civic Club was appointed in an advisory manner. Members still maintain such position.

Memorial trees have been planted in the park from time to time. Much of the landscaping was done through courtesy of the Extension Department of the University of Idaho, groups and individuals.

The section of the park known as the Island was purchased in recent years from Mrs. Nellie

For full facts about the American Republic $157.50 a week "Direct Cash" Plan, and get FREE...

this valuable Americare®

by Johnson & Johnson

If you are under 35, you may just be getting a good start in life. No matter what kind of hospital insurance you have, it won't pay your household bills and other family living expenses. With rent or mortgage payments, new furniture, clothing bills, and all the other expenses young families have, a serious accident or illness might "wipe you out" financially.

If you are 35 to 45, your children may now be at the most critical stage of their schooling. Your living expenses are probably higher than ever, and your chances of going to the hospital are increasing every year. Read how an American "Direct Cash Plan" may keep you from having to dig into your savings if you have to spend weeks—or even months—in the hospital.

If you are 65 or over, you can look forward to having Medicare, but you will still have to pay part of your hospital bills—and you will also have other bills to pay. An American Republic "Direct Cash Plan" can provide money for everyday expenses and also for doctor bills and hospital costs—including private room and private nurse—that Medicare won't cover.

Now, whether you are 25...55...or 85...when you are sick or injured...

COLLECT $52.50... $105... OR $157.50 A WEEK, JUST LIKE WAGES, WHILE IN THE HOSPITAL

Whether you are under 65 and have regular hospital insurance—or over 65 and looking forward to Medicare—it will pay you to read the facts about the new "1-2-3 Direct Cash Plan." Discover how you could go to the hospital and come out with money left over.

What if you should wake up to find yourself flat on your back in a hospital bed—and be there for weeks or even months? Think of all the things that $2,000 or $5,000 or $8,000 in extra spendable cash, over and above your hospital insurance, could mean!

Cash to make mortgage payments. Cash to buy food. Cash to meet car payments—pay for child care—buy gasoline—buy school clothes—pay a tax bill.

The new American Republic "1-2-3 Direct Cash Plan" can pay you kindly needed cash every week you are in the hospital—for up to a full year.

This plan service of Americare® is designed to go hand-in-hand with Medicare—or any other health insurance you may now have.

Easy As 1 . . . 2 . . . 3 . . .

Protection under our new American Republic "1-2-3 Direct Cash Plan" is available in individual protection "units."

You simply decide how many of these units you need for your particular coverage requirements—and put them together like building blocks. For example:

The "1-UNIT" PLAN pays you $52.50 per week actual cash (at the rate of $7.50 a day) for every week you spend in the hospital due to accident or illness. This plan can pay you as much as $2,737.50 if you are hospitalized for a full year.

The "2-UNIT" PLAN pays you $105.00 per week (at the rate of $15.00 a day) for each week you are in the hospital—up to as much as $5,475.00 if you should be in the hospital a full year.

The "3-UNIT" PLAN pays you $157.50 per week (at the rate of $22.50 a day) for each week you are in the hospital—up to a total of $8,212.50 if you are hospitalized for a full year.

Your decision is easy. Just choose the plan that fits your needs best. And best of all, no matter which you choose, you get all these advantages:

- Cash is paid direct to you. It is yours to spend any way you please.
• It is LifeGuarded Protection. This means it is Guaranteed Renewable. It can be YOURS FOR LIFE as long as you make timely payments of the current premium. It can NEVER be cancelled by the Company because of age, health, or number of claims.
• Pays whether you are in the hospital for Injury OR sickness.
