House Okays Measure To Hike State Gasoline Tax

By MARK BROWN
Associated Press Writer

BOISE (AP) — The increase in Idaho's state tax on gasoline passed its first — and probably hardest — test today when the House of Representatives voted 42-28 to up it by a penny a gallon.

The vote came after nearly an hour and a half of debate during which most of the sentiment expressed was against the increase.

If the measure is approved by the Senate, the motor fuels tax will be increased from six to seven cents a gallon beginning Jan. 1, 1968. The increase would be removed, under terms of the bill, Dec. 31, 1969.

The increase was requested by the Department of Highways to provide $3.5 million in matching funds to obtain $14 million in federal construction money.

The bill, one of a multitude of solutions proposed for the financial problems of the highway department, was amended Tuesday to provide the termination date for the increase.

The most talked about alternative to increasing the tax was a proposal to take $3.5 million from the estimated $7 million general fund surplus anticipated at the end of the current biennium June 30.

The proposed increase in the gas tax, and the accompanying boost in the highway department's budget, was one of the primary reasons for calling the Idaho Legislature into special session.

Approval of the boost in the Senate would mark a big step toward winding up the session promptly.

The argument used in the House by supporters of the surplus use plan was that no justification could be found for an increased tax while a surplus existed.

Leaders continued to say publicly they hoped the special session, in its third day, will be concluded by tonight.

They admitted privately, however, that adjournment could come only with a prolonged night session. They said they favored instead a return Thursday to wind things up.

There still were some predic-

Arrested

NEW YORK (AP) — Police arrested a man carrying a loaded .32-calibre revolver and a hunting knife today as he attempted to gain entrance to the Soviet United Nations mission here, Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin was inside at the time.

The man, identified as Michael Rocco Natale, 40, was arrested about noon after he walked through police barriers in front of the mission, rang the doorbell and tried to talk his way in.

Negro Man Killed During Violent Night In Atlanta

By JOE ZELLNER

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A Negro man was shot to death and three other persons wounded Tuesday night as a flurry of rock and gas-bomb throwing evolved swiftly into gunfire from snipers and police.

Mayor Ivan Allen clamped a curfew on a six-block area encompassing the center of violence in predominantly Negro Dixie Hills.

Allen issued the order after visiting the area shortly after a fourth straight night of violence had subsided. The curfew bans persons under 18 from the streets from 7 p.m. to 7 a.m. and adults from 9 p.m. to 6 a.m.

The half-hour of violence erupted despite efforts of Negro leaders to quell disturbances after two persons were injured and 11 arrested Monday night.

As gunshots rang out in the L-shaped, middle-class apartment complex, officers armed with shotguns, rifles, pistols and clubs swarmed between the buildings, clearing streets and sidewalks of residents.

Two Negroes, who claimed they saw the Negroes shot, charged that police fired the shots which killed the Negro man and wounded a young Negro boy.

The Rev. Joseph E. Boone, a leader of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, charged, "It's an absolute lie that the wounded and dead were shot by other than police fire."

A hospital spokesman identified the dead man as Timothy Ross, 46, reportedly struck in the head by a bullet. A 9-year-old Negro boy, Reginald Rivers, reportedly shot in the stomach, underwent surgery at the hospital. Two other Negroes, Catherine Duncan, 51, and Marion Ward, 31, received gunshot wounds in the hand.

Douglas Richmond, a young Negro shot in the leg by a police officer Monday, claimed later that he saw a man hide behind a car, throw a gas bomb at police and run.

He said the policemen opened fire, and the bullets cut down Ross, who Richmond said was trying to get up the steps to an apartment. However, he said Ross was not the man who threw the gas bomb.

Daniel Thomas, who also said he saw officers firng, said bullets fired by police on top of a shopping center hit the 9-year-old boy.

Police Supt. J. F. Brown, who controlled the police contingent centered around the shopping center, disputed the charges. He said he was watching two officers at whom the gas bomb was thrown and heard no shots and did not see either officer raise his gun.

Israel's Determination Challenged By Britain

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Britain challenged today Israel's determination to keep all Jerusalem and warned that, in keeping the conquered old city sector, the Israelis will isolate themselves from world opinion and lose the support they might have.

Britain's foreign secretary, George Brown, opening the day's debate in the special emergency session of the General Assembly on the Middle East, said, "War should not lead to territorial aggrandizement." This had the look of important support from the West to a Soviet stand that Israel should not gain territory from her lightning defeat of the Arabs in five days of war early this month.

In Paris, President Charles de Gaulle of France, for the first time, directly blamed Israel for starting the Middle East war June 5.

Mahmoud Fawzi of Egypt, President Gamal Abdel Nasser's deputy prime minister, rejected a U.S. resolution which called on Israel and the Arabs, "with appropriate third party assistance" to negotiate a settlement between them.

At the same time he accepted a Soviet resolution, presented by Premier Alexei N. Kosygin Monday, which demanded withdrawal of Israeli and its expulsion from conquered territories.

Kosygin was not present as Fawzi spoke, nor was Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, who have been huddling with Communist bloc delegates.

Fawzi called the Soviet draft resolution "both just and constructive."

Fawzi reflected Arab pessimism that this emergency assembly session can do anything to force Israel to surrender all she gained in the war. He recalled that Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban had been quoted in in Jerusalem as saying that even should the assembly vote 121-1 to order Israel back to armistice lines, "Israel would refuse to comply with that decision."

The Egyptian accused President Johnson, Eban and some other Western leaders of having "nastily and repeatedly criticized" U.N. Secretary-general U Thant for his decision to withdraw U.N. peace forces from Egypt in advance of the war.

LBJ Fails In Labor Measures

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Seventeen months after pledging to offer legislation dealing with labor disputes in national emergencies, President Johnson has confessed failure and thrown the ball back to Congress—where it likely will remain indefinitely.

In his 1966 State of the Union message, Johnson said he would submit proposals "which will enable us effectively to deal with strikes which threaten irreparable damage in the national interest."

But Tuesday the President advised Congress, through Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield that this administration has been unable to come up with the recommendations on the subject.

Mansfield, after a White House meeting with Johnson, said the President "would be very pleased if the labor committees of both houses would take up the question."

But a check with key Democrats on these committees showed no enthusiasm for tackling such an explosive subject.

Chairman Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., of the Senate Labor subcommittee which would handle any such bill, told a reporter: "Any legislation passed on this subject in this time of war and other emergency is certain to be antilabor.

"This definitely is not the time to try to act in this field." Johnson was credited at the Capitol with a clever tactical move in Tuesday's announcement.

PRESENTING BOUQUET of red roses to the new Miss Idaho, Kristine Phillips, as she returned to her home town of Rupert Tuesday afternoon is Lee Thomas, president of the Rupert Jaycees who sponsored the new beauty queen as Miss Rupert in the state pageant in Boise. Participating in the ceremonies were mayors of Rupert and Burley and Chamber of Commerce and other civic officials from the Mini-Cassia communities. Miss Idaho was met by a 12-car caravan at the Minidoka county line and escorted into the city.

Power Cut In Jerome By Lightning

JEROME — More than 1,000 Idaho Power customers were without power Wednesday morning when lightning struck a 12,000-volt feeder in the downtown section of Jerome.

The longest outage, according to company officials, was when 12 customers were affected for two hours and three minutes, except for part of the Ida Gem Dairymen, Inc., Creamery, which was still without power at noon. Officials said it would probably be late afternoon before the creamery had full power restored.

They said the lightning struck the 12,000-volt feeder, burned into a 4,000-volt feeder and then into an underground cable about 8:12 a.m.

The underground cable, they said, was one leading into the creamery.

Also affected by the outage were KART Radio, St. Benedict's Hospital and the City Fire Station. The hospital auxiliary power unit took over for two different powerless intervals.

Earl Haroldsen, division manager for the power company, said that 812 customers were without power for an hour and 12 minutes; 186 customers for 22 minutes, and 12 customers for two hours and three minutes.

Detroit Police Force Returns

DETROIT (AP)—Detroit's police force appeared back to normal strength today after the city's policemen and the city administration declared a ceasefire in their battle over wages.

Only six officers reported sick at the start of today's midnight shift. Police officers said that is about the normal number.

The truce was declared late Tuesday night, after Detroit Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh had cut short his participation in the U.S. Conference of Mayors in Honolulu and returned to the city to take up negotiations with the Detroit Police Officers Association.

West Coast, Pacific Airlines OK Merger

The directors of West Coast Airlines, Inc., and Pacific Airlines, Inc., Wednesday agreed in principle on a merger of the two lines on the basis of an exchange of one share of West Coast Airlines common stock for each of the 1,305,110 outstanding common shares of Pacific Airlines.

The merger plan is conditioned on approval by the Civil Aeronautics Board and by the holders of at least two-thirds of the outstanding stock of each company.

Nick Bez, president of West Coast Airlines, will become chief executive officer of the merged company, and the president of Pacific Airlines will become the chief operating officer.

The combined carrier will cover the entire Pacific Coast area from Canada to Mexico, serving all of Washington, Oregon Idaho and California and parts of Montana, Utah and Nevada.

Mathew E. McCarthy, who announced at the annual stockholders meeting of Pacific Airlines on May 8, that he would resign the presidency, has resigned his position with the company and has sold his holdings in Pacific to his partners in Seton Associates and the members of the board of Pacific Airlines.

McCarthy stated that he was in full accord with the action of the directors in entering into an agreement in principle to merge with West Coast Airlines.

City Assistant To Be "Loaned"

Roger Marsh, administrative assistant for the city of Twin Falls, will be "loaned" on a part-time basis to the Future Twin Falls Unlimited Association to assist with preliminary downtown planning, it was announced Wednesday.

The planning organization, engaged in putting the city's comprehensive plan into operation in the downtown business area, is seeking a full-time planner to work out details. Mr. Marsh will assist on a part-time basis until such planner is hired, city officials said.

"Freckles" Showed 'Em, You Bet

By LA RUE CHENEY
Times-News Correspondent

RUPERT—You'd never have guessed it, looking at the pert, blonde beauty as she rode along on the back of her official Miss Idaho car in the "Welcome Home" parade Tuesday, that Kristine Phillips used to be known by the kids as "Freckles."

"I showed you," she laughingly chided as she greeted her friends at home.

The new Miss Idaho was met by a 12-car caravan when she arrived at the Minidoka County line Tuesday afternoon, following a round of activities in Boise.

She was given police escort through the county as she graciously greeted many citizens while seated on the back of her white Oldsmobile convertible, which is an official Miss America car. She was wearing a simple orchid shift and donned her royal robe and crown and carried her sceptre as she was given a royal tour through the cities of Paul, Heyburn and Rupert.

Greeting her and accompanying the caravan were Mayors Wendell Johnson, Rupert; Harold Hurst, Heyburn, and Joe Peters, Burley, as well as Joe Bauer, representing the Paul Chamber of Commerce and Robert Caldwell for the Rupert chamber.

Sponsors of the local Miss Rupert pageant were the Jaycees, who arranged the "welcome home" ceremonies under the direction of the president, Lee Thomas.

After the caravan arrived in Rupert the queen mounted a platform and greeted the citizens of her home county.

She shed no tears when she was named winner of the annual beauty pageant Saturday night, but when she greeted her friends at home she could not hold back the happy tears.

Miss Phillips said she "couldn't stand all this attention" when she saw the delegation at the county line, and then she proceeded down the line of cars shaking hands with her friends and local dignitaries.

She was accompanied to Rupert by her Boise hostess, Mrs. Doris Miller, who will return to her home Thursday night.

Kris was bubbling over with many of her future plans, including the Lions International meeting in Chicago in two weeks, and a tentative plan to attend the Alliance for Progress in Ecuador in August.

Her hours since she received the Idaho title Saturday night have been filled with signing contracts, receiving awards, and generally getting acquainted with her duties and the exciting year ahead.

Mr. Thomas conducted the formal congratulatory session at the city square, introducing Mayors Peters and Johnson who each presented Kris with a key to his city, and Thomas presented her a bouquet of red roses.

Representing the Rupert Chamber of Commerce, Mrs. Caldwell gave the new Miss Ida ho a pink orchid corsage.

Standing by to greet his daughter was Dr. R. C. Phillips, who returned to Rupert from Boise Sunday.

Summer's Official Now-- But It's Still Raining

Ol' Sol appeared to be getting the upper hand in the green, damp and slightly moldy community of Twin Falls Wednesday as the countdown continued for the official beginning of summer at 7:23 p.m.

Earlier, dreary clouds and even more dreary rain had underscored a mournful cry that rose from the area—namely, "Ah, summer. Ah, watermelon. Ah, water. Ah, yuch!"

Despite cautious weather predictions of continued shower activity, cloudy skies and a maximum temperature reading of 70-75 degrees, this year's summer solstice appeared to be destined to follow traditional warm, pleasant patterns.

The first day of summer is traditionally thought of as the longest day of the year, and the World Almanac confirms this by pointing out that days and nights are most unequal in length during solstices, or the points at which the sun is at a maximum

Nugents Are Parents Of Boy

By FRANCES LEWINE

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Luci Johnson Nugent gave birth today to a healthy 8 pound, 10 ounce boy that her husband jubilantly described as "an elephant."

Cigars and candy in hand, Patrick J. Nugent announced to reporters at Seton Hospital that "Luci's fine." He chuckled over the dimensions of his first born, grandchild No. 1 for President and Mrs. Johnson. He had the figures in weight and also length—21 inches.

The proud 23-year-old father said his wife had already seen the child, and he quoted her: "What a beautiful baby I have."

The young parents' delight was shared by the presidential grandparents and the father's parents as well.

Mrs. Johnson, who had accompanied her daughter to the hospital and stood by during the labor time of just under six hours, said she was "happy and relieved." She commented with a laugh that it was a surprisingly big baby, "for such a little girl" as Luci.

Relating that she had notified the President as soon as she knew the baby was a boy and all had gone well, Mrs. Johnson said "he sort of laughed in a happy way and said something about grandma."

In Washington the new grandfather said he and Mrs. Johnson "are very thankful" that Luci and the baby are well. He sent his daughter a telegram.

In Waukegan, Ill., Gerard Nugent said little beyond admitting that it feels fine to be a grandfather. The elder Nugents have been publicity-shy since their son married into the White House family.

The 19-year-old mother was admitted to the hospital at 1 a.m. and the baby was born just under six hours later.

Mrs. Johnson was in the hospital with her daughter. Earlier she had notified the President at the White House that Luci had gone there.

Pat, wearing a blue shirt with no tie and dark slacks pointed out that his voice cracked afterward, smiling and showing no signs of weariness from the hours of waiting.

Asked how is wife was, he said, "wonderful."

Higher American Falls Dam Felt Unlikely

By O. A. (GUS) KELKER
Times-News Executive Editor

MURTAUGH — Adequate irrigation water which would permit full utilization of the Salmon Tract, the Raft River and Oakley areas is probably only a few years away, but from all indications this water will not become available because of an addition in height of the American Falls Dam.

This was a between-the-lines reading of the varied talks and conversation which went on for three hours Tuesday night at a special water discussion session called to bring users in the area up to date on current situations.

It was, H. T. Nelson, Boise, regional director of the Bureau of Reclamation, who said that the last 6-foot or 13-foot raises are possible when the dam is replaced does not mean the bureau is for or against such projects.

But, during his talk to the water users, he left the sure impression that there would be little possibility of raising the structure any higher than it is now.

He said the Indians in the Fort Hall area, who are against raising the dam any higher because they claim they would suffer loss of farm and grazing land and fishing facilities, could be the ones whose attitude would eliminate the structure change.

"Unless, in enlarging the American Falls Dam you could show advantages to the American Falls tribe which they would be willing to accept, and which would cause them to support an enlarging project, then you would not get to first base by going to congress," Mr. Nelson said.

Mr. Nelson was quick to point out that if the dam is rebuilt at the same height it is now, and not enlarged, this would not mean the end to the new water supply for the three areas.

He said there are several ways to get this water, including pumping from the Snake River at Milner and Lake Walcott, recharging the underground supply on the north side of the river and using wells on that side to supply the Jerome areas when necessary.

"Assuming the people are together on a project, I think you have a good chance for these projects," Mr. Nelson said.

He continued by saying that "plans are in the making" for securing water for the Salmon Tract first, the Oakley area second and the Raft River area third, in that order.

He cautioned the users against putting all their eggs in one basket and urged they embrace alternate projects. He said water is a way of life in this area and that now all people are water users, not just farmers.

"We are finding that we have

Soviets Given Apology On Ship Damage

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States formally expressed regret Tuesday for damage to the Soviet cargo ship Turkistan off the North Vietnam port of Cam Pha. The government gave assurances to Soviet authorities that every effort will be made "to insure that such incidents do not occur."

The United States first denied Soviet charges that U.S. planes had damaged the vessel, but agreed Sunday that they may have strafed the 3,358-ton vessel June 2. New information disclosed a third flight of planes, not previously reported, was in the area, the Defense Department said.

Synopsis, Farm Summary

Another pressure trough in the upper air moving onto the West Coast today will maintain rather unsettled weather in Southern Idaho through Thursday and Friday with scattered showers or thundershowers, mostly afternoons or evenings. Temperatures will continue rather cool for the season with afternoon readings mostly in the 70s and 80s.

Five-Day Forecast

No major changes are indicated during the next five days with rather low barometric pressure and slightly unstable air remaining over the Intermountain Region most of this period.

Temperatures Thursday through Monday will average near or slightly above normal in Southwestern Idaho and two to five degrees below normal in Southeastern Idaho. Rather cool daytime temperatures with highs mostly in the 70s and 80s will prevail Thursday, Friday and probably Saturday, followed by warming of five to 10 degrees Sunday and Monday. Not much change is expected in night temperatures, with early morning readings mostly in the middle 40s to low 60s. Normal daily maximum and minimum temperatures for this period are: Boise 84-54, Gooding 82-51, Twin Falls 84-50, Burley 80-48, Pocatello 82-50 and Idaho Falls 79-49.

Some scattered thundershower activity may be expected daily, mostly afternoons and evenings. Rainfall amounts will continue quite variable from place to place, probably averaging less than .25 of an inch for the five day period, with a few local areas receiving .50 to one inch in heavy showers Thursday or Friday. Shower activity should decrease considerably in the west by the end of this week and in the east early next week.

Sunshine will perhaps average 60 to 70 per cent of possible with considerable afternoon cloudiness. Winds will be rather light much of the time but occasional by strong and gusty with showers.

The risk of showers will continue a threat to successful hay drying during the rest of this week and showers will likely interfere at times with other field work. Somewhat warmer drier weather is indicated for the first of next week. Crops should make growth during this period and ranges should continue to provide better than average feed.

Judge Grants Continuation Of Hearing In Sierra Life Case

Continuation of a hearing in the Sierra Life Insurance Corp. case was granted Wednesday morning by Judge Theron Ward, Eleventh Judicial District Court, Twin Falls.

Judge Ward continued the show cause hearing of Sierra, scheduled for 10 a.m. Wednesday until July 20 at 10 a.m.

The continuance was requested by Joseph M. Imhoff, Pocatello, counsel for Sierra, and agreed to by Max Eiden, assistant attorney general who attended the brief court session Wednesday.

Mr. Imhoff filed the motion for continuation and two affidavits supporting the request. He said it was necessary to continue the hearing because of the unexpected resignation of Fred Schwartz, chief legal counsel for Sierra, shortly after the action was brought by the commissioner of insurance against the firm.

An affidavit from Fred Frazier, president of the firm stated the firm had been given 120 days in an agreement with the commissioner in which to improve financial conditions.

He said only 32 days of this time had elapsed before the commissioner filed a petition for injunction against the company and a motion for rehabilitation of the firm.

Since the action was filed, a temporary injunction was granted and representatives of the office of Blaine Anderson, insurance commissioner, have been overseeing operations of the Sierra Life Insurance Corp. offices in Twin Falls.

The firm will be asked to show cause July 20 why this injunction should not become permanent.

Program For Band Concert Is Announced

Program for the Thursday night concert of the Municipal Band in City Park Bandshell was announced Wednesday by Charles Ratcliffe, director.

The band's performance will include renditions of "Symphonie Militaire" by Merle Evans; "Lustspiel Overture," by Keler and Bela; "Gavotta," from the classical symphony by Prokofief; "Waltzes from Sari," by Kalman, and "The Klaxon March," by Fillmore.

Following intermission, the band will continue with "The Nutmeggers March," by Eric Ostarling; "Seven Seas, Nautical Tunes," arranged by Frangkiser; "Overture from Royal Fireworks Music," by Handel; "Selections from Gigi," by Lerner and Loewe, and "Shenandoah March," by D. F. Goldman.

Band concerts will be presented at the same time each Thursday in the band shell. Mr. Ratcliffe is assisted by Del Slaughter.

Gas Tax

tions the session would run into next week.

Included in the Senate was a substitute bill for one passed in the House, which deletes from Idaho law the requirement that oleomargarine dealers must be licensed. The regular 1967 session repealed the tax on oleo but did not remove the requirement for licensing.

Sen. Phil Batt, R., Wilder, whose tax liaison committee offered the substitute, said the House passed bill removed the entire section covering licensing of dealers in dairy product substitutes.

The Senate placed at an order of business permitting immediate consideration, all bills which have reached it from the House.

Then include the measure restoring to Idaho law the authority for the Department of Public Assistance to participate in the Title 19 program under the Federal Social Scurity Act. This includes the program of medical care for indigent persons.

The authority was inadvertently repealed by the regular 1967 session. Its restoration was the primary purpose for calling the special session.

Reported about ready for introduction was a measure providing an additional $3.5 million for public assistance during the two-year period beginning July 1. The regular session provided $11 million, $1 million less than the department had in the current biennium.

The agenda for the special session was expanded by Gov. Don W. Samuelson in a special message to the lawmakers late Tuesday.

Samuelson's amendment of the special session call suggested lawmakers "repeal, revise or fund" a measure intended to give legislators $3.50 per day throughout their terms while not in session.

While in session, lawmakers receive salaries of $10 and $12 per day in expense allowances.

A bill Samuelson had asked legislators to pass — which authorized sale of city property without elections — was killed by senators 2-20 Tuesday, but an alternate measure was passed 31-0.

It provides for such sales if there were no protests.

Other Tuesday action saw House approval of a measure appropriating an additional $12,000 to the Department of Disaster Relief and Civil Defense, 60-0.

A House bill restoring authority to the Department of Public Assistance to participate in Title 19 of the Federal Social Security Act was passed 52-9.

The bill also leaves the new Idaho Commission for the Blind in existence and obliges the legislature to provide funds for it. Said floor sponsor, Rep. Terry Crapo, R-Idaho Falls.

distance from the equator. The shortest day of the year, or the first day of winter, occurs during the beginning of the winter solstice.

The points at which the sun crosses the equator are the equinoxes, when day and night are most nearly equal, the Almanac continues. The vernal and autumnal equinoxes mark the beginning of spring and autumn.

The various solstices and equinoxes generally occur on the same days from year to year, with only slight variation as far as specific time is concerned, according to Willis Huxman at the U.S. weather bureau in Kimberly.

He reported that for the last two years, June 21 has been favored with warm temperatures and no precipitation. Last year's first day of summer featured a maximum temperature of 85 degrees, with a minimum of 58 degrees. The same maximum temperature was reported in 1965.

Man Disappears In Gooding Area

GOODING — A 25-year-old Gooding man left on a milk route early Sunday morning and has not returned, according to Gooding County Sheriff's Officers.

Mike McGuern, driving a milk van for Arnold Borda, Gooding, left on his milk route as usual Sunday to pick up milk from farmers along the route, according to his wife. Farmers said, however, that McGuern did not collect any milk on the route and there has been no trace of the missing man since Sunday.

He was driving a 1965 Ford pick-up truck with Ida-Gem Dairy painted on the side. McGuern had been driving for Borda about two months.

Vern Royce, Gooding county sheriff, said there was no reason to suspect foul play.

a lot of competition in this water game," he said. "To maintain your position you have to keep up with the changes in the water field."

At the same session Lloyd Webb, attorney for the Salmon River Canal Co., said members of his board were not against water from any source but thought that, at the present time, they should not pass up this chance to have the American Falls Dam raised.

He said that he realized the thoughts of the Indians were a major problem in this contemplated project, but added that perhaps some agreement could be reached and this effort should be raised.

"We just don't think we should pass up this chance," he said.

Other speakers included State Sen. Richard Higley, who flew from the special session at Boise to be present at the water meeting; William Beck, L. A. Andreasen and Robert Lee, director of the Idaho Water Resources Board, Boise.

Mr. Lee said the board members would meet at Idaho Falls Friday to study the American Falls situation and either then, or in the immediate future, would make a recommendation as to whether they would support replacement of the dam at its present height or urge a higher structure to take the place of the present one.

The American Falls Dam must be replaced because of a concrete condition which is getting worse as the years go on.

Jerome Group Finances Scholarship At CSI

The Jerome Rotary Club presented the College of Southern Idaho with a $125 scholarship Tuesday in an action interpreted by CSI president James L. Taylor as an "indication of Jerome's active participation in the college and its programs."

The grant was made as a part of "Project Scholarship," by which the college hopes to collect at least 200 scholarships in the amount of $100 or more from community organizations, businesses and individuals.

Bill Last, president of the Jerome Rotary Club, made the presentation. The scholarship is to be awarded to a resident of the junior college district on the basis of need and academic ability.

"Project Scholarship was launched during the first part of June in an effort to aid local students in securing college educations.

Contributors to the fund may make payments on their pledges annually or semi-annually, and the payments are tax deductible. They may specify annual renewal of the grant or, if desired, donate one scholarship rather than one each year.

Ex-Policeman Sentenced For Blackmail

CHICAGO (AP) — John J. Pyne, former Chicago policeman accused of organizing a homosexual blackmail ring preying on conventioneers, was sentenced to five years in prison Tuesday along with two associates.

The others sentenced were Robert Schwartz, 27, of Bellmawr, N.J., and Edmond Pacewicz, 45, now serving a four-year sentence in Portland, Ore., on a similar state charge. Pacewicz was to serve the new sentence concurrently.

Pyne also was fined $5,000 by Judge Hurbert L. Will.

Pyne and Schwartz were convicted by a U.S. District Court jury May 18 of crossing state lines to commit extortion. Pacewicz pleaded guilty.

Prosecutors charged that Pyne, on medical leave from the police force since 1952, set up the ring to lure men into compromising situations. The victims were then blackmailed with threats of exposure as homosexuals.

Robert Thorn, 38, of Salt Lake City, owner of a Provo, Utah, contracting company, testified that he recorded conversations in which Pyne and Pacewicz attempted to extort $10,000 from him.

Pyne is indicted on similar charges in Chicago, Dallas and New York. Schwartz is also under indictment in New York and New Jersey.

Blue Pencil Won By O. J. Smith

O. J. Smith won the Blue Pencil Tuesday night at the meeting of Twin Falls Toastmasters Club No. 149 in Kay's Supper Club.

His speech was entitled, "The Unwashed Neighbor." Other speakers were Vernon Doshier, Jack Swisher and Joe Celik.

L. James Kounjk was toastmaster for the evening, Lloyd Webb was in charge of table-topics and James Rude was chief evaluator. Harry LeMoyne, executive vice president, presided.

David Hamlett was timer, Harald Gerber was grammarian and individual evaluators were Les Crowley, Stan Herzinger, Laird Noh and Joe Ryan. John Parker was a guest.

Exchange Club's Picnic Is Reset

The Twin Falls Exchange Club's picnic, originally scheduled for Saturday, has been changed to 6 p.m. Tuesday at the Canyon Club area.

Bert Hulsh, picnic chairman, announced during the club's luncheon meeting Tuesday that the date has been changed because of weekend events at the Canyon Club.

It also was announced during the meeting Tuesday that the club will have a fireworks stand along Addison Avenue West, next to the Dairy Queen drive-in and the Gold Strike Store. The stand will be open from 1 to 10 p.m. daily starting June 28.

Weathermen Say River To Recede

BONNERS FERRY, Idaho (AP) — The Kootenai River reached 31.5 feet here Wednesday, and weathermen said it would go no higher.

Although flood stage is 31 feet, most of the Kootenai Valley is protected considerably higher. Dikes protect Bonners Ferry to 37 feet.

Weathermen said the river would flow through Thursday at 31.5, and then would begin receding. It will reach 29.0 feet June 23, they said.

Communists Send Egypt About 50 MIG Jet Fighters Following Their Defeat

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. intelligence information indicates Communist European nations have sent Egypt about 50 MIG jet fighters since the Israelis smashed Egypt's air force in the recent Mideast war.

American sources also said replacement of Egyptian tanks has been relatively slight so far. They disputed claims of Israeli military sources here that the Soviet Union and other Communist countries have been pouring in equipment and supplies to replace Egypt's staggering losses in the brief Sinai campaign and the lightning Israeli air strikes that preceded it.

Israeli military sources told a reporter the Soviets, Czechs and other Communist European countries have sent 150 to 200 MIGs to Egypt by direct flight or by ship.

"They'll be on their feet in six months," said one Israeli officer.

These sources said it appeared some Communist European MIGs might have been sent to Egypt as a kind of loan to provide security for the country, virtually stripped of its air power in the early hours of the war when the Israeli air force smashed hundreds of Egyptian planes on the ground.

The Americans said there were about 100 MIGs which survived the Israeli air strikes.

Israeli military sources said hundreds of tons of Communist supplies have been landed in Egypt. They said the total included a shipment of tanks from Algeria.

American officers said a check of the reported shipload of tanks resulted in the conclusion there were only five of the armored vehicles delivered by the Algerian vessel to Egypt.

The Americans did not challenge the claim that supplies and equipment were entering the country, but they said the volume was not especially large and could be a carry-over of material en route before the war started June 5.

U.S. officers said in the past that Israeli claims of damage inflicted on the Arabs in the fighting proved quite accurate. They also voiced admiration for Israeli intelligence which permitted Israeli pilots to ignore dummy airplanes standing on the Egyptian air strips and to concentrate their fire on the real MIGs.

Israel has claimed to have destroyed 451 Arab aircraft, including 357 Egyptian planes.

A Lasting Peace

Thanks to Israeli military brilliance, the opportunity for lasting peace in the Middle East is greater than at any time in the past two decades.

Yet at the same time, this war, like the Suez war of 1956, has sown seeds from which could sprout an even greater conflagration in the future.

The immediate fruit of Israel's lightning desert victory, which confounded all the experts, odds makers and angle weighers on both sides of the Iron Curtain, has been to end, at least for a few years, the threat of a war of extermination by the Arabs against Israel.

The Israeli sword has cut the Gordian knot that Western diplomats agonized over for weeks. How to contain Nasser, how to establish the international right of free passage into the Gulf of Aqaba, how to preserve Israel without drawing East and West into a fateful confrontation?

Though hardly beaten, in the sense that Germany or Japan were beaten in World War II, the Arabs have temporarily lost the means, if not the will, to make war, and Russia has been shown to be embarrassingly unable to do anything about it.

But humiliation—and this is a mild word for what the Arabs have suffered—is a poor base on which to build peace. Humiliation can lead only to more fanatical dreams of revenge, to the rise of new Arab leaders even more irresponsible than Nasser.

Imagine another Mideast crisis, perhaps 10 years hence, with one or both sides having acquired a nuclear bomb or two.

The present war cannot be allowed to end on the same note of uncertainly and inconclusiveness as its 1956 predecessor. The mere cessation of hostilities is no great gain if the factors causing these hostilities are allowed to go on operating.

Nothing less than a full-dress international peace conference is in order—a conference which, with or without the participation of the Soviet Union, will not only reaffirm the national sovereignty of Israel but will finally take up such long-festering questions as compensation for the Palestinian refugees, the sharing of Jordan River water, the status of Jerusalem, the civil rights of Arabs living in Israel, the right of all nations to use the Suez Canal.

Both sides must make concessions and right wrongs in a spirit of magnanimity and mutual respect.

An explicit and iron-clad guarantee must be made which will insure that any act of aggression in the future—by Israeli against Arab or Arab against Israeli or Arab against Arab—will be met by the concerted force of the rest of the world.

Though this is a great deal to hope for, it would be foolhardy to strive for less.

There will be no true peace in the Middle East for generations, not as long as bitterness, hatred and jealously remain. There will be no true peace, but there can at least be the impossibility of recurring war.

ANDREW TULLY

Marriage: Pick Whomever You Choose

WASHINGTON — There was only one issue in the Supreme Court's ruling against laws that make it a crime for a white and Negro to marry, and that involved a human right, not a civil right. That is to say, every human being is born with the right to marry whomever he chooses.

It is therefore not surprising that the court struck down Virginia's barbaric anti-miscegenation laws by a 9 to 0 vote. What is surprising and outrageous is that it took the United States 191 years to go on the official record as acknowledging this right. In the long interim, 16 states in effect have persisted in maintaining one of the more pernicious aspects of slavery—the premise that Negroes are born inferior to whites.

The Court's ruling was not only salutary, but imperative, for it was made clear by proponents of the ban on mixed marriages that the philosophy of slavery lingers in some corners of the republic. There was, for example, something brutal as well as nonsensical in the arguments of Virginia Attorney General T. W. Bruton, who supported Virginia.

Button argued that the laws should stand because they reflected a state policy "which has obtained . . . for over two centuries and which still obtains in almost half of the 50 states of the Union." In other words, a bad law is supportable because it's so old. Advocates of unregulated child labor used to mount the same arguments, and so did champions of the rack.

Bruton's case was even more ingenuous. He argued that "if a state feels like the life of its people is better protected by a policy of racial integrity as to both races . . . then it has a right to legislate in such field." "Racial integrity" indeed! And who is to decide how best to keep a community's blood pure —some illiterate police chief in a Louisiana bayou? Is an anti-miscegenation law to be compared to a law protecting the citizen against murder or arson?

Chief Justice Earl Warren was wrong in saying the Virginia laws served "no legitimate overriding purpose." They served the purpose of racial discrimination, designed to maintain something tawdry called "white supremacy." There was no other way to interpret laws which prohibited interracial marriages only when they involved white persons.

Virginia, of course, defended its laws with the contention that they punished both the white and the Negro partners and thus there was no individous racial discrimination. But discrimination is obvious when a state which bans a white-Negro marriage at the same time permits a Negro to marry an East Indian or a Malay or a Chinese. If racially mixed marriages are bad, the ban on them logically should include mixtures of all races.

Clearly, the court's ruling was inevitable. The anti-miscegenation laws were an insult to the Negro race, carrying on one form of degradation which was the slave's lot as a common chattel. The ruling will help to affirm America's right to membership in the human race.

But it will not make white-Negro marriages any easier for the partners, because such marriages are still viewed with distaste by too many Americans. Society is not changed overnight, even by the Supreme Court, and Society will continue to ostracize in big and little ways the Negro-white couple. There will be, of course, pathfinders; but pathfinders lead lonely and often miserable lives, if only because they are guilty of being different. Parents of both races are still selfish concerning their children, and long years will pass before they accept something which may be legal but which remains as impractical. Racially mixed couples must live in today's world, not tomorrow's.

No Nuclear War

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Argument that President Johnson's conduct of the Vietnam war is leading toward a "nuclear holocaust" seems unlikely hereafter to enjoy much credibility.

Our wish to avoid this horror is obvious enough.

A really stunning consequence of the Middle East war was the demonstration, for the second time in less than five years, that the Soviet Union is at least as eager as we to avoid confrontation.

As with the Cuban missile crisis in 1962, the Kremlin showed unmistakably this time that it does not want the big war, that it will not take grave risk of getting into it, that it will talk directly and bluntly to this country to drive this home and will suffer loss of face, humiliation and widely appreciated real reverses to avoid it.

It is accepted here that the "pull-back" decisions made by Soviet leaders during the critical week of the Middle East war were the hardest they have had to make since Cuba.

Nor is it possible to overstate the importance of the fact that they got on the "hot line" direct teletype to the President at the very outset of the fighting — anxious that their real intentions not be misunderstood for one minute.

Next to the lightning military triumph of Israel, that use of direct White House-Kremlin contact was probably the most dramatic and significant event of the week.

Its evident lesson is a big one: Barring accident or gross misunderstanding, both of which seem much less probable in the light of the hot line's quick use, the two great powers are not going to collide in a blinding nuclear flash — not over Cuban missiles, over Israel and Egypt, over Vietnam or anything else.

When Soviet Premier Kosygin's operative rattled that teletype machine in Washington with his first critical message on June 5, he offered powerful counterevidence to those who have been contending—with somewhat mystical authority—that nuclear destruction is the menacing consequence of nearly every move we make in Vietnam.

Nor can it really be argued that embattled Red China will bring down the nuclear ruin the great powers seek to avoid. Peking is still a nuclear novice. Moreover, its deeds in the world arena are almost always far more cautious than its words.

Even if Peking ventured into the Vietnam war on the ground, there is no indication either we or the Russians would allow that action to push us toward final confrontation. Today more than ever, the reverse prospect seems the case.

Kosygin at the teletype was the real thing. His U.N. agent, Nikolai Fedorenko, looks—now like a bulky figure trying to hide from world view the fact that his boss was on the line, making an embarrassing call. Yet Fedorenko's posturings were something less than totally distracting.

It would be unwise, however, to dismiss him merely as an ineffective screen. For if he is part faker, he is also part real. He represents the other face of Soviet policy.

That is the policy of Russia the mischief-maker, the exploiter of trouble and weakness and lack of vigilance among peoples everywhere. That policy helped produce the Middle East war, as it has generated or encouraged other conflicts since World War II.

Russia may not have done with this policy in Vietnam, as supplier of Ho Chi Minh, until he is more clearly the loser or the peril of its adventure increases. For Moscow tends to play the game until it is either quite unproductive of gain or unbearably threatening to the security of the Soviet Union.

Seminoles Take Over Florida

WASHINGTON — There has been so much concentration on the Middle East situation in the past few weeks that some people may not have noticed that the United States has lost a state. The Seminole Indians of Florida just got a court ruling that they own 90 per cent of Florida.

According to a treaty that the white man signed in 1823 and had no intention of keeping, the Seminoles were supposed to be paid $400 million for their land. The money was never forthcoming, and so the Seminoles sued. The U. S. Court of Claims ruled that since the United States defaulted on the payment, the Seminoles could easily claim 90 per cent of the state.

If the Seminoles exercise their rights, we can expect to see many changes in Florida in the next few years. A chief spokesman (or is it a spokesman chief?) told me in an interview:

"There is great unhappiness among my people. Even though Florida is a mess of highways, housing developments and resorts, we will once again make it a happy Indian hunting ground."

One of the first things that the chief said the Seminoles intended to do was to change the policy at the Hialeah race track. In past years, before the races, Seminole Indians paraded in costume in the infield among the storks to give Hialeah a colorful local flavor.

The chief said, "We intend to change all this. In the future the white man will parade around in the infield before the races, and the Indians will applaud them from the stands."

The Seminole spokesman said, "We have no intention of letting the white man's culture die in Florida, and so we have set aside the 'Fontainbleau, Eden Roc and the American hotels as white-man reservations. They should be wonderful tourist attractions for the Seminoles.

"The white man will be encouraged to dress in costume, make white-man's souvenirs that can be sold to the Indians and keep alive the primitive Caucasian dances that the Seminole children enjoy so much.

"We believe that if the white men can make their reservations attractive enough, they will not only attract Seminole tourists, but other Indians from every state in the Union."

I asked the chief if this meant that Seminoles would not make any effort to teach the white men other skills than those they could learn on a reservation.

"The white man is basically lazy," the chief said, "and there isn't much you can teach him except for handicrafts."

"Do you still intend to attract white people from other states in wintertime?"

"Yes, we do, but there will be a difference. For years now the white men in Florida had been sculping their fellow white men in the wintertime, particularly when it came to prices. From now on the Seminoles will be scalping the white man. The outsiders won't mind it as much if it's done by Indians."

"What about the college kids who come down for Easter vacation?"

"We shall let them come, but we shall forbid the sale of firewater. Everyone knows the white man can't hold his firewater, particularly the college student."

I asked the chief if he felt the white man should be compensated for any land he will lose to the Seminoles because of the court ruling.

"Oh," he said, "we'd certainly be delighted to sign a treaty with the white man and repay him for the land. We've even worked out a formula. We'll pay $10 down and $10 a month until all the land we took in Florida is paid off."

"That's very generous," I said, "and the white people in Florida would be fools not to accept your generous offer."

WHAT THE SHOUTING WAS ABOUT

Residents of this community are discovering first-hand what all the shouting was about a little more than a year ago when advocates of an airport bond issue warned that the Lewiston Airport must be replaced or modernized.

The runways at the airport are quite literally falling apart. That fact is slowly but surely costing this community its air carrier service.

Effective June 1, the Federal Aviation Agency ordered West Coast Airlines to lighten the load on its 40-place F27 planes serving Lewiston. The reason is the deteriorating surface on the aging runways. Specifically, the load must be cut to 32 passengers, year around, meaning the loss of eight seats on each departing and arriving aircraft for this community.

Furthermore, if the Lewiston-Nez Perce County Airport Commission cannot soon discover a way to finance a jerry-built, temporary surface, it is possible that the Lewiston facility will become unsafe for the F27, and something less will be offered. The only something less in West Coast's disposal is its new Piper Navajo, a twin-engine plane accommodating seven passengers. Obviously that step would relegate Lewiston to a feeble shuttle service to Spokane and Walla Walla.

A chief contention of those who advocated passage of the bond issue March 1, 1966, was that Lewiston was ignoring the shift to jets in commercial air transportation. This newspaper, among other in the community, observed repeatedly that airlines, including West Coast, would buy no more propeller-driven aircraft. As the propeller craft wore out, they would be replaced by jets. And jets are too heavy and require too long a runway to land at the present airport.

The prediction of no more purchases of propeller-driven craft has proven correct, with one notable exception. West Coast is purchasing the little Piper Navajos to serve drinkwaters like Baker, Ore., and perhaps Lewiston, Ida., that can't cut the mustard.

However, other than that, the purchases of new equipment have all involved jets. The DCs have already been retired, and the F27s now serving this community are gradually vanishing in favor of the jets.

A case in point was the unfortunate loss of a West Coast F27 at Klamath Falls, Ore., earlier this year. Since Lewiston is totally dependent on the F27s, the loss of equipment was felt with full force here. The eight flights in and out of Lewiston each day were cut to six.

Moreover, the lost F27 will be replaced with a DC9 jet, a jet that cannot land at Lewiston because this community has been sitting around contemplating its propellers while other cities in the region have welcomed the exciting jet age with open arms.

For reasons largely of its own making, Lewiston has less air service today than it had a year ago. And monthly boarding figures are down as a result. This community, supposedly Idaho's next boom town, requires greater air service than ever and has prepared for less.

The most frustrating aspect of the commercial air picture at Lewiston is that there is absolutely no solution in sight for the near future. Whether the present airport is to be rebuilt and extended or an entirely new airport constructed in another location, substantial funds will be required.

There are only three logical sources — community funding, federal funding, state funding and various combinations of the three.

The federal government is willing to provide up to about 55 per cent of the cost of a new or rebuilt airport. In addition, there is talk that a lull in the Vietnam war might permit an even larger federal contribution. But it seems unlikely that the war will end soon or that the federal government will ever pay the full cost. And this community couldn't scrape up 10 per cent of the cost if its economic life depended on it.

State funding of airports is a natural, since the state underwrites the cost of highways for ground transportation. But that source of funds would appear to be a blank wall at least for the remaining 3½ to 7½ years of the present state administration. Lewiston can't wait that long.

Funding by the community, in cooperation with the federal government, or even in cooperation with the federal government and neighboring counties seems to be another dead-end street. Barring some massive reversal in public sentiment, the residents of this community and this section of Idaho seem unwilling to support a modernized airport or construct a new one.

That seems to exhaust the alternatives, but suggestions are welcome.

Meanwhile, Lewiston, a city that pioneered in small-city commercial aviation, seems destined to return to its aviation childhood and the humiliating prospect of seven-place planes providing inadequate shuttle service while the rest of the world roars by in jets.

West Coast calls its little Piper Navajos "mini-planes." Maybe that is apt. Perhaps they are meant to serve mini-cities with mini-vision and mini-futures. — Lewiston Tribune.

CONSIDERATION FOR HIPPIES

Last week's clash between the New York City police and a group of hippies engaged in noisy activity has been something of an embarrassment to the administration of Mayor Lindsay because the 200 young persons involved were not doing anything more mischievous than playing bongo drums and reciting a Buddhist love chant. As an aftermath the city has announced a plan to set aside 10 "troubadour areas" in which citizens can sing and play musical instruments without special permits. (As a corollary, there will be quiet areas in which people will not be allowed to sing, or even play portable radios). This seems a civilized way to manage things. As a Parks Commission official said, American youth is involved in a "musical explosion" and ought to have a way of following its inclination. And after all, hippies are people, too. —St. Luis Post-Dispatch.

National Confidence Slips

No sooner had war erupted in the Middle East than a disturbing rash of rumors erupted in Washington. That they could hang so persistently on the Washington grapevine is a sad commentary on the lack of confidence that has developed regarding the administration's public statements as opposed to private actions.

The rumors concerned certain "package deals" with which the administration would try to buy Soviet help in calling off the war against Israel — a war most agree could not and would not have begun without the full cooperation of the Soviets with Egypt's socialist empire builder, Gamal Abdel Nasser.

Despite variations in detail, the main content of the package rumors involves Vietnam: the United States would halt its bombing of North Vietnam in return for the Soviets halting their support of Nasser, thus forcing an end to the fighting.

Such a deal would have had two profound effects: First would be the obvious effect in Vietnam where a halt of the bombing would turn the war into an endless quagmire of jungle fighting. It would enable the Communists to continue the war at their own pace and on their own terms until they were ready to negotiate an end to it all — presumably on their own terms.

The second would be the major impact on the world at large. Should the Soviets have taken any action to cool the fighting, you can bet your boots they would have taken the most extravagant public credit for it, becoming overnight the world's greatest peacemaker.

Deal or no deal, the Soviet Union stands to come out the winner in the Middle East war if for no other reason than having shattered every tie this nation had built up with the various Arab nations.

Their weapon was the cold, calculated, tactical decision that they would gladly see the nation of Israel wiped off the face of the earth if it would advance by a foot the plans of Communist conquest. This country, on the other hand, has attempted in all its diplomacy to avoid facing the blunt fact that the Arab nations have never been talking about anything less than extermination of Israel.

Our diplomacy, had it been realistic, would have openly acknowledged this and then have taken every firm step possible to bring the Arab world around to acknowledging, whether they hated us for the effort or not, that Arabs and Israelis would have to learn to live together and that an act of virtual genocide against Israel could not be tolerated.

At the same time, all legitimate Arab claims against Israel, as, for instance, the plight of the Palestinian refugees, would have to be faced with equal frankness.

Instead, the situation has been permitted to drift—with inept secret diplomacy substituting for open firmness. War has been the result.

It would be comforting to be able to scoff at all such rumors as a secret deal to gain Soviet aid in ending that war. That is difficult to do, however, when to this day the terms of the settlement of the Cuban missile crisis remain under a cloud and when, despite all official denials, the strange fact is that this nation did dismantle various of its missile bases after the Soviets took down its launchers in Cuba.

Muscular Pains

Q—A relative of mine in her early 40s has a gritty sound on movement and much pain in her neck and upper spine. Could this be arthritis? How can further calcium deposits be prevented?

A — In chronic osteoarthritis and rheumatoid arthritis the roughening of the joint surface occurs. This roughening rather than excessive calcium deposits are the most likely cause of the symptoms mentioned.

Q — My husband suffers at night with arthritis in his knee. He has been taking Measurin. Will this have any bad effects?

A—Measurin is the prolonged-action aspirin designed to help persons with chronic arthritis. Because it may cause bleeding in the stomach or intestines, anyone who takes it regularly should have a periodic blood count.

Q—Are muscular rheumatism and rheumatic arthritis the same? How serious are they? What is the cure, if any?

A—In muscular rheumatism it is the muscles rather than the joints that are involved. This is less serious than rheumatoid arthritis because it is less crippling. These diseases can be treated but are rarely cured. The treatment depends on the type of involvement, the cause and whether the disease is acute or chronic. The therapy makes use of aspirin, hydrocortisone and various other drugs; heat and other forms of physical therapy; and emphasizes the rules of healthful living.

Q—If arthritis is caused by a virus, as some say, could this in some cases be the influenza virus?

A—A variety of infectious diseases may be associated with arthritis. These include rheumatic fever, umbilant fever, typhoid, tuberculosis and German measles. Of these German measles is the only one caused by a virus. Influenza is bad enough without its involving the joints.

Q—My husband hasn't walked for about 16 years because of rheumatoid arthritis. He has been bedridden for the past eight years. Would an operation on his knee to remove the calcium deposits help him? Would vitamin B-6 help him?

A—Your husband's trouble is not so much an accumulation of calcium as a destruction of the smooth cartilage of the normal joint surface. I know of no operation that would restore that surface. Pyridoxine or vitamin B-6 is important for healthy teeth, gums, blood vessels, nerves and red blood cells but there are more things that it won't do than it will do. Curing arthritis is one of the things it won't do and that goes for all the other vitamins.

Who Will Get Miss T.F. Crown?

LOOKING AT CROWN that will be placed on the head of the new Miss Twin Falls Thursday night is Emil Pike, general chairman of this year's Miss Twin Falls Pageant.

Eleven pretty heads likely will be filled with "visions of sugar plums and crowns" tonight as the Miss Twin Falls Pageant, scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, nears the final stages.

The event will be held at the Twin Falls High School gymnasium, featuring 11 contestants in bathing suit, evening gown and talent competitions.

To the winner of the crown go accolades, prestige, scholarships, jewelry and the prospect of a wonderful dream-like year as a beauty queen of Twin Falls. Although only one girl will be awarded the Miss Twin Falls crown, "you don't have to be Miss Twin Falls to win," according to one of last year's contestants, Janet Small, Jerome.

"I don't feel that any of us lost, we each gained something very important from the pageant — it is an experience that I shall never forget," she noted.

Another former contestant, Nancy Brackett, Twin Falls, wrote, "I remember last summer as one of the most valuable and precious times of my life. The pageant was a highlight of my life, and an experience I will not forget."

Kathy Sue Froehlich, Hansen, also a 1966 contestant, commented "I gained a lot from this exciting experience and I will never forget the fun, friends and memories that I have made."

Tangible rewards for the entrants who place in the various competitions include gift certificates, cold, hard cash, scholarships, jewelry and travel.

Chairman of the event is Emil Pike. Pageant coordinators are Edd Bossard, in charge of ticket sales; Don Zuck, stage and decorations; Clayton Rudd, program at the pageant, and Gordon Beckstead, in charge of pageant production. Bill Chancy is assistant general chairman.

Preparation for the 16th annual Miss Twin Falls Pageant began in December — and will reach a climax when the spotlight shines for 11 hopefuls during tomorrow's presentation.

Garrison's Probe Brings Controversy

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)— Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison's presidential assassination investigation found itself in more controversy today after a star witness provided a denial to statements aired by the National Broadcasting Co.

Perry Russo told newsmen Tuesday members of an NBC news team sought his help "to wreck the Garrison investigation."

He added that the NBC team alternated promises and threats in repeated efforts to enlist his cooperation.

In New York, the network denied Russo's detailed accusations.

In its Monday night televised program NBC said Garrison placed Russo on the witness stand during the preliminary hearing for Clay L. Shaw knowing that the witness had failed a lie detector test revelant to his testimony.

Leonard Gurvich, a private investigator who supervised the test, denied Russo flunked and said the polygraph operator was unable to get specific readings because Russo was "highly nervous."

Shaw, 54, a wealthy retired New Orleans businessman, has been indicted on charges of conspiracy to murder President John F. Kennedy who was assassinated in Dallas, Tex., Nov. 22, 1963. The indictment was based largely on Russo's grand jury testimony.

Russo, 25, a Baton Rouge insurance salesman, told the grand jury he attended a party in September 1963, at the home of David W. Ferrie. Russo said it was there he heard Shaw, Lee Harvey Oswald and Ferrie plot to kill the President.

Ferrie and Oswald are dead. Shaw is free under $10,000 bond, awaiting trial.

Bridge Results

Twin Falls Duplicate Bridge Club met Monday evening for their summer party.

Winners were Mrs. W. P. Haney and Mrs. H. C. Hall, first; Mrs. J. P. Shelby and Mrs. Art Lindemer, second; Lewis Hack and H. L. Armstrong, third, and Mr. and Mrs. Rex Wood, fourth.

Winners of door prizes were Mrs. C. J. Straughn, Mrs. M. Guerry, Mrs. Lindemer, Rex Wood and John Feldhusen.

Hagerman Plans Swimming Class

HAGERMAN — Mrs. Rex McAnulty, local chairman for the Red Cross swimming program, announces annual swimming lessons will begin for Hagerman youths Monday at the Gooding Municipal Pool.

Those interested in taking the lessons should register at the Hagerman Hotel. Lessons are open to all children 6 years old and older. Junior Life Saving classes are held for the advanced students.

There will be a registration fee of $1, payable at the pool. Transportation will be furnished by Stanley Penfold, who will take a bus to Gooding each day of the course. Transportation costs will be 25c per day.

The bus will load at 10 a.m. on the corner across from the post office in Hagerman. The bus will then proceed up the Vader Grade and through the Tuttle area. The bus will stop for children along this route at pre-arranged places.

ESCAPE INJURY

ENAVILLE, Idaho (AP) — Twelve children and two adults escaped serious injury Tuesday when a bus in which they were riding overturned on a curve near here.

Officers said the driver swerved the bus to avoid hitting a rock and the vehicle overturned on an embankment along the North Fork of the Coeur d'Alene River.

Bus driver Duane Turpin, Kellogg, suffered the loss of two teeth and an adult passenger, Laverne Strom, received a broken leg.

MAN FOUND DEAD

KOOSKIA, Idaho (AP) — Kenneth Yates, Kamiah, was found dead Tuesday morning atop a rock pile near his rock crushing machinery here. An autopsy was ordered.

There was a mark on his head and it was not known whether he died of a heart attack or an injury when he fell.

MAN IN CUSTODY

BOISE (AP) — A man who for four years has resisted his return to Missouri to face a murder charge was in custody again Tuesday, all his legal efforts apparently exhausted.

Judge Ray McNichols signed in U.S. District Court an order revoking $5,000 bail posted for Charles E. Smith a year and a half ago.

Smith, 35, was held in the Ada County Jail to await Missouri authorities, who were advised they can now have custody of him. Smith's extradition was ordered more than three years ago but he filed a series of delaying court actions.

ONE BID RECEIVED

BOISE (AP) — Only one bid was received Tuesday on a campus improvement project at Lewis - Clark Normal School in Lewiston.

The Public Works Department reported Asphalt Paving Co., Lewiston, submitted a bid of $27,669. It was taken under advisement.

16 PASS TEST

BOISE (AP) — The Idaho State Board of Dentistry reported Tuesday that 16 persons successfully passed the state dental examinations conducted recently in Pocatello.

The board listed these doctors:

LOW BIDDERS TOLD

BOISE (AP) — Hollibaugh Construction Co., of Orofino, Idaho, was the apparent low of two bidders Tuesday for construction of two railroad underpasses and approaches on State Highway 11 north of Pierce, Idaho, in Clearwater County.

The State Highway Department said the bid was $440,984.

Dreager Asphalt, Inc., of Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, was the apparent low of two bidders Tuesday for construction of 1.9 miles of Big Creek-Road-in-Shoshone County, the department said.

The bid was $145,783.

Sir Laurence Olivier May Whip Cancer

LONDON (AP) — Actress Joan Plowright says her husband Sir Laurence Olivier has cancer but that there is a good chance of a cure.

She appealed to the public at a news conference Tuesday not to cancel bookings at Britain's National Theater during the absence of its director and leading actor.

Doctors have forbidden Olivier, 60, to appear at the theater for the next three weeks during which he will miss seven performances.

She said he is undergoing deep ray treatment for "a slight form of cancer" of the prostate gland and doctors have told her there is an 85 per cent chance of recovery.

Heart Specialists Urge Test

By ROBERT A. HUNT

WASHINGTON (AP) A draft law extension bill that guarantees deferments for most college students, targets 19-year-olds for earliest induction and bars a lottery selection system awaits only President Johnson's signature to become law.

The final version of the bill, hammered into shape by House-Senate conferees, was sent to the President Tuesday by a 377-29 House vote. The Senate accepted the compromise version last week.

In its final form, the legislation more closely resembles recommendations of a panel headed by retired Gen. Mark Clark, which reported to the House Armed Services Committee, than those from a presidential commission under Burke Marshall, a former assistant attorney general.

Existing authority for the military draft expires June 30. The new legislation continues most provisions of the present law in effect, with some changes, until 1971.

The proposal permits Johnson to follow through on his announced intention of putting an emphasis on induction of 19-year-olds. In the past, older men in the 19-26 age group were drafted first but this pool has dwindled to the point that younger eligibles now are meeting most monthly quotas.

But the bill specifically prohibits Johnson from changing the present selection method by using a national lottery system as he had suggested. An act of Congress would be required before such a change could be made. The Marshall commission had supported the switch while Clark's panel opposed a lottery in any form.

Under the new proposal, any requesting undergraduate college student would be entitled to a deferment to continue his courses so long as he met scholastic and other standards of his school. Student deferments now are granted by local draft boards but the pending legislation makes it a matter of law.

The student no longer would have to stay in the upper half of his class, a requirement often stipulated by local boards.

The deferments would be effective until the student finishes his undergraduate work, reaches age 24 or leaves school, whichever comes first. He then would revert to the top of the age group most vulnerable to induction.

Draft Law Measure Awaits Signature

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
AP Science Writer

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Heart specialists urged today a go-ahead with a massive test involving 40,000 to 60,000 men to answer a critical health question:

Would changes from typical American food habits really produce some insurance against heart attacks, the nation's leading killer disease?

Many experts believe that such changes — especially cutting down on intake of fats and cholesterol — do help prevent coronary attacks.

Getting the answer would call for enlisting a small army of volunteers. Half the men would change their food habits somewhat and stick with it for five years. The other half would, for comparison, go on eating as they do now.

If, five years later, men who changed their food habits suffered fewer heart attacks than those who didn't change, it would be clear proof that most Americans have been eating their way toward heart attacks, but should not and need not.

But would many thousands of men, and their wives, agree to give up some old habits for new and stay with it?

The answer to that is yes, the Executive Committee on Diet and Heart Disease told the American Medical Association today.

It reported results of a two-year feasibility study preparing the way for the huge experiment. Some 2,400 middle-aged men took part, some changing food habits and others not, and only 10 per cent dropped out of the study.

The blood cholesterol of those who ate special diets came down by an over-all average of 11 per cent. Cholesterol is a body material involved in the narrowing and blocking of heart arteries.

U.S. Men Are Killed In Accidents

By EDWIN Q. WHITE

SAIGON (AP) — American bombs and artillery shells from support units killed two U.S. soldiers and wounded 18 in four separate accidents Tuesday, military spokesmen announced.

Over North Vietnam, U.S. Air Force fighter-bombers swarmed north of Hanoi to pummel rail yards and sidings and Navy pilots ranged near Haiphong to attack rail facilities.

South Vietnamese infantry clashed twice with Viet Cong guerrilla units Tuesday on the northern coastal plains and reported killing 62 Communists. Ground action elsewhere was minor.

In the accidental deaths, two 105mm howitzer rounds landed in a battalion command post of the 199th Infantry Brigade near Can Duoc south of Saigon, killing one American and wounding seven. Some South Vietnamese troops also were hit. Their casualties were described as light.

The other three incidents involved troops of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division operating in the central highlands, about 300 miles northeast of Saigon.

In one of the incidents nine miles northeast of Phu My, a 155mm howitzer round fell too close and killed one trooper. Six hours later six cavalrymen were wounded when an artillery round fell near troops operating seven miles northeast of Bong Son.

New MiniLiner Is Christened At Burley

BURLEY — Burley area residents stood in a slow drizzling rain Tuesday morning to see the new Burley-Rupert MiniLiner dedicated at the Burley airport.

Don Cooper, Boise, marketing manager for West Coast Airlines, arrived on the new plane at 8:40 a.m. and greeted the Burley area residents.

Judy Barkdoll, a sophomore at Magic Valley Christian College, Albion, whose home is at Yucca Valley, Calif., christened the new Burley-Rupert MiniLiner by pouring a bottle of champagne on the plane.

Some of the well-wishers attending the event were John Clark, Oakley, Cassia County Commissioner; Don Nielsen, Albion, president of Magic Valley Christian College; Joe Peters, Burley mayor; Lloyd Hollinger, president of the Burley Chamber of Commerce; Mrs. Fred Anderson, secretary-manager, Burley Chamber of Commerce; Jim Henson, Burley City Council member; Robert Saxvik, Burley Rotary Club president, and Rex Stanley, Burley City Council member, and many others.

The new MiniLiner will travel at speeds up to 240 miles per hour, Mr. Cooper stated.

3 Area Girls Go On Field Expedition

CALDWELL — One student from Twin Falls and two from Filer are among the 25 members of the College of Idaho Field Biology Expedition to Mexico, which left Caldwell recently.

In the group are Cathy Marshall, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Marshall, 1133 Locust St., Twin Falls, and Carold Molsee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Molsee, and Judy Smith, daughter of Mrs. Leah Smith, both Filer.

Miss Marshall is a junior majoring in zoology at the college and Miss Molsee is a sophomore and is in charge of plant collections during the field trip. Miss Smith is a junior majoring in biology and elementary education.

The C of I biology department sponsors the Mexican expedition every other summer, with those making the trip camping in the outdoors and studying the plant and animal life, or ecology, of each campsite area.

Each student works on a selected, or individual project and collects specimens for the project as well as for the C of I biology department. Dr. Robert D. Bratz, biology professor, is the expedition leader.

Appointments At University Announced

Two appointments to the University of Idaho's physics and art and architecture departments have been announced by college president Ernest W. Hartung.

Named as head of the physics department is Michael Edwin Browne, 36, now a senior staff scientist with Lockheed Research Laboratories, Palo Alto, Calif. Dr. Browne holds both B.S. and Ph.D. degrees from the University of California. He will replace acting head John J. Miller, who is retiring.

James Rush Jarrett has been named professor and head of art and architecture at the university, replacing Theodore J. Prichard, retiring. Prof. Jarrett holds an arts degree from Quincy College and an architecture degree from Yale University. He had done advanced work at the American Academy in Rome, where he received the Prix de Rome in architecture.

Both appointments become effective July 1, and both have been confirmed by the school's Board of Regents.

Body Of Missing Burley Boy Found

BURLEY—Th body of a 3½-year-old Burley boy who disappeared from his uncle's home Sunday morning was found at 3:30 p.m. Tuesday in shallow water near the bank of the Snake River.

Sheriff Ray G. Mitchell said members of a search party in a boat spotted the body of Jimmy Peacock, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Peacock, as the boat came into shallow water near the shore, while the group was waiting to hook onto a drag.

The sheriff expressed appreciation of the family to the many persons, not only from the Burley vicinity but throughout Magic Valley, who assisted in the search or provided equipment.

As many as 20 boats and 10 dragging outfits were utilized during the three-day search for the missing child. The boy was staying with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Gale Burton, who live four miles west and one mile north of Burley along the Snake River. His parents are in Alaska where the father is serving in the Armed Forces.

The little boy was first reported missing about 11 a.m. Sunday and after an immediate search by family members failed to locate him, the sheriff's office was notified at 12:30 p.m. Friends and neighbors covered a two-mile square area of fields and ditchbanks in the area in addition to the dragging operations on the river.

Declo Delegates Report At Meet

DECLO — Two Declo High School students reported on their recent trip to Boys' State at the luncheon meeting of the Declo Kiwanis Club Monday at Min's Cafe.

Karl Darrington, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Darrington, and Max Fuqua, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fuqua, told of their experiences during their weeks stay in Boise and expressed appreciation to their financial sponsors, Morgan-Lindsay Inc. and the Declo Kiwanis Club.

Joseph Gillett, club president, read a letter announcing the candidacy of Joseph Sehee of Sugarhouse Kiwanis Club and Clifford Emmett, Salt Lake City, for the governorship of the Utah-Idaho District for 1968.

The flag pledge was led by Bruce Turner and the prayer given by Robert Fuqua.

Death Takes J. W. Willis

EDEN—Jesse W. Willis, 76, pioneer resident of Idaho since 1904, died Tuesday morning at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital, Twin Falls, of a short illness.

He was born Dec. 16, 1890, in Gila Bend, Ariz., and came to the Twin Falls area with his parents in 1904. He married Ruby Propst in July, 1912. She died in August, 1924.

He married Gladys Hensley Sept. 30, 1933, in Idaho Falls. They had lived in Eden since 1945. Mr. Willis was a member of the LDS Church, Hazelton Ward, and was a retired farmer until the time of his death. He was preceded in death by one brother, one son and one daughter.

Surviving, besides his widow, are one son, Roy Willis, Eden; two daughters, Mrs. Leo (Iva Joan) Hiles, Eden, and Mrs. Russell (Gerry) Tucker, Evansdale, Iowa; two brothers, Ernest Willis, Eden, and Charles Willis, Enterprise, Ore.; two sisters, Mrs. Myrtle Weech and Mrs. W. A. (Jack) Bell, both Twin Falls; 11 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Friday at the Hazelton LDS Church, with Bishop John Okelberry officiating. Burial will be in the Hazelton Cemetery. Friends may call at White Mortuary, Twin Falls, until 10 a.m. Friday, and at the Relief Society room of the Hazelton Church from 11 a.m. until 1:30 p.m. Friday.

Rainbows Are Planted For Jamboree

Twenty thousand rainbow trout are being planted in Buttonhook Bay on Lake Pend Oreille for the boys attending the Boy Scout World Jamboree Aug. 1-9 at Farragut State Park, reports the Idaho Fish and Game Department.

Director John R. Woodworth commented that these fish are being supplied by Bob Erkins, Buhl, and will be transported and planted by the department.

Jamboree officials are placing a net at the mouth of Buttonhook Bay. This will be a ¾-inch mesh net (648 feet long and up to 45 feet deep) that will divide Buttonhook Bay from the rest of Lake Pend Oreille. Materials for the set are being donated by various companies.

Director Woodworth also noted that the department is sponsoring a wildlife exhibit at the jamboree. This exhibit will feature various birds, mammals, and fish found in Idaho.

A walkaway of 110 yards was completed; two 6x8 foot fiberglass tanks for waterfowl and beaver were installed; and the big game pens were started.

Mistake

LOS ANGELES (AP)—An armed robber in his mid-30s made the mistake of tangling with Hijinio Alvarez, 82.

First he pulled a gun Tuesday on Alvarez, proprietor of a plumbing supply shop. Then he said, "Give me your money or I'll kill you!"

Calmly, Alvarez delivered a freestyle karate chop to the bandit's body, grabbed the gun and whacked the intruder over the head with it.

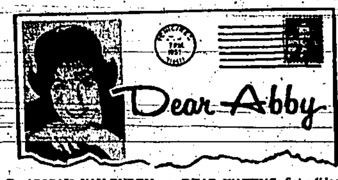
Women's Section



By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have been employed as a secretary by the same man for nine years. I was only 21 when I came to work here, and I was green as grass.

My boss is in his late 50s and his wife is about his age. They have children and grandchildren, and he is an important man in this community.

Over the years I noticed that he took an interest in women. He took them to lunch, cocktails, dinner, and bought some of them gifts. I figured this was none of my business.

He used to compliment me on my hair, clothes, etc., but I paid no attention.

I recently announced my engagement and told him I wanted a month off for my honeymoon, but would return to work for a while after that. He then asked if he could "kiss the bride," so I told him he could, at my wedding. Then he broke down and started to cry like a baby, telling me he had been "in love" with me all these years. He said he and his wife hadn't lived as man and wife for 20 years, blah, blah . . ." I was stunned.

Then he got over it real quick and said he was only "kidding." (Kidding? With real tears?)

Now I ask you, should I quit my job for good when I marry? Or should I come back and pretend all this never happened? It's a good job and he needs me.

—IN A QUANDARY

DEAR IN: When you quit, stay away. He may need you, but you need him like a kangaroo needs a brief case.

DEAR ABBY: I am engaged to a very high-class man I have been dating for over a year. Cal gave me a nice pearl engagement ring which he had sized for my little finger. I never knew an engagement ring could be worn on the little finger. He doesn't want me to tell anyone we are engaged as he doesn't want it to get back to his mother. Here's the background:

I have been married, divorced, and have a child, and Cal hasn't told his mother about that yet. I've met his mother a few times and she seems to like me okay, but she thinks I'm just another one of Cal's girlfriends.

I told Cal if he didn't tell his mother about me and the baby I was going to tell her. He keeps saying he will in time. How long should I wait? I am 26 and Cal is 33. I've had this ring since last December and I want to make some plans.

WAITING

DEAR WAITING: Set a "deadline" (one week) and if Cal doesn't tell his mother about you, consider your "engagement" dead.

DEAR ABBY: Our son is a professional photographer and one of the best in town. He snaps everything and everybody but his own mother and father.

From the time he was a small boy he was interested in photography as a hobby so his Dad and I always saw to it that he had the best equipment.

Now that he is a professional with a fine studio you would think he would offer to take our pictures, but he never has. Even at family gatherings when he's busy taking candid shots, if we don't stick our faces in a couple of pictures we'd be left out entirely.

We are average looking people and wouldn't break his camera. It would be nice to have some good studio pictures of ourselves before we get old and gray. We haven't had a decent picture taken in 15 years!

What do you suppose is the matter with him? Any suggestions?

ASHAMED

DEAR ASHAMED: He's thoughtless. Call his studio and ask for an "appointment."

CONFIDENTIAL TO "JUST ASKING" IN NEWARK: If her favors are free, that's her business. If she charges a fee, that's her BUSINESS.

Poems Read As Club Opening

HANSEN — Mrs. Oglo Wall read a poem, "The Baby," and an Edgar A. Guest poem, found among old clippings from 1930 as a part of the opening exercise at the Friendship Club meeting at the home of Mrs. Lewis Reed.

Mrs. Rose Wiseman was welcomed as a new member. Mrs. Wiseman was instrumental in forming the club in 1930 and was its first president. She resigned several years ago. It was a sewing club, when members sewed for the hostess, whatever she may have on hand to do, such as dishtowels, etc.

Mrs. Thomas Steelsmith gave a review of the book, "A House of Many Rooms," by Rodello Hunter, from the condensed Reader's Digest version.

Past Members Day Held By Latawah Club

HANSEN — A special Past Members Day, featuring a salad luncheon, was held by the members of the Latawah Club at the home of Mrs. Clarence Hollifield.

Thirteen past members were honored, including Mrs. Lulu Severns, who at 96, still remembers vividly the days when she and her friends started the club. Other guests were Mrs. A. R. Scott, Mrs. A. E. Gish, Mrs. Frances Satterwhite, Mrs. Claude Barnard, Mrs. Marietta Colner, Mrs. E. N. Pettygrove, Mrs. Charles Colner, Mrs. Arch Colner, Mrs. Charlotte McMaster, Mrs. Walter Shouse, Mrs. Donald Deitz and Elsie Lindgren.

During the afternoon all told of things which they particularly remembered about the earlier days of the Latawah Club. Members present told of things which were of a great deal of importance to them.

The name Latawah came from the Nez Perce Indian language meaning friends, and all felt the name was indeed appropos, as the club still epitomes to them true friendships.

Mrs. C. C. Clarke was program chairman and she spoke of some of the projects which the club is sponsoring at the present time. Nancy Hollifield played a piano solo, and Mrs. Grace Durk played a violin solo, accompanied by Mrs. Hugh Sanderson.

Miss Richards, Powell Wed In May Ceremony

WENDELL — Jeanne Lou Richards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Richards, Wendell, became the bride of Michael J. Powell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Powell, Wendell, in rites May 19 at the Bible Baptist Church, Jerome.

Rev. Gerald Martin officiated at the evening double ring ceremony before a setting of pink gladioli and white lilacs arranged by Mrs. David Powell, grandmother of the bridegroom.

Traditional wedding music was played by Linda Bird, Twin Falls, who also accompanied soloists, Mrs. Earl Bird, Twin Falls, and William Mobley, Jerome.

Candlelighters were Duane Richards, Wendell, brother of the bride, and William (Bill) Powell, Wendell, brother of the bridegroom. Danny Richards, brother of the bride, served as ringbearer.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of white chiara crepe covered with imported English lace. The gown featured an empire waistline, accented with a satin bow and long sleeves with matching lace trim. The train of matching English lace was attached at the shoulders. The gown was designed and made by Mrs. Rex Stevenson, Twin Falls, sister of the bridegroom.

The bride's bouquet featured a pink orchid-with-carnations-on a white Bible, laced with pink satin ribbon.

Mrs. Rex Stevenson, Twin Falls, sister of the bridegroom, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Jane Parr and Verna Wellard.

Rex Stevenson, Twin Falls, brother - in - law of the bridegroom, was best man. Serving as ushers were Rodney Rost, cousin of the bridegroom, and Don Buker, both Wendell.

The reception was held at the Jerome Grange Hall.

Peggy Roe, Wendell, was in charge of the guest book. Gifts were arranged by Rita Goble, Wendell, cousin of the bridegroom; Jan Martch, Twin Falls, and Barbara Walter, Jerome.

The reception table was covered with white lace over pink and was arranged by the bride's mother. The table was centered with the three - tiered wedding cake. The cake was decorated with pink roses and white swans. The top tier was decorated with a heart and white wedding bells.

Mrs. Masten Mink, Gooding, aunt of the bridegroom, cut and served the cake. Mrs. Francis Goble and Mrs. Frank Rost Jr., Wendell, aunts of the bridegroom, presided at the coffee service and the punch bowl.

Mrs. Theron Jacobsen, sister of the bride, was in charge of pinning corsages.

Special guests at the wedding were Mrs. W. H. Sanders, Jerome, grandmother of the bride; Mrs. David Powell, Wendell, and Mr. and Mrs. Percy Varin, Gooding, grandparents of the bridegroom.

Miss Lueckert, Bauer Wed In Catholic Rites

A Nuptial Mass at Sacred Heart Catholic Church, Pullman, Wash., May 20, united in marriage Karla Ann Lueckert and Robert George Bauer.

Miss Lueckert is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Scottie Lueckert, Twin Falls, and Mr. Bauer is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Bauer, Uniontown, Wash.

Rev. Anton Flour was the celebrant of the double ring ceremony. The altar bouquets were baskets of white carnations; white gladioli and green tinted carnations.

Her veil of nylon shantung, with daisy lace trim, was attached to a small pillbox of matching material. She carried a bouquet of white daisies and pink rosebuds.

Mrs. Stanley Bauer was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Donna Bauer, sister of the bridegroom; Ellen Bauer, sister of the bridegroom, and Elaine Anderson.

A reception was held after the ceremony at the Pullman Country Club. Mrs. Ed Dohse and Mrs. Eugene Bauer cut and served the cake and Mrs. Omar Entel, aunt of the bridegroom, served the coffee. Punch was poured by Mrs. Jim Dahmen and Mrs. Eloise Pape. Mrs. Ron Druffel was in charge of the guest book.

A personal pre-nuptial shower was hosted for the bride by Mrs. Ron Druffel and Mrs. Jim Dahmen, and a miscellaneous shower hosted by Donna Bauer and Ellen Bauer.

Betty Canary's Wonderful World

The month of June is upon us and I grab the newspaper each morning, breathlessly awaiting the accounts of the latest weddings. Surely this will be the year of the topless bride.

Ann-Margret got the season off to a pretty fair start by wearing a miniskirt for her wedding, and the report was that she cried through the ceremony, but nobody knew why. She should have been engaged in positive thinking. After all, she could have thought about how easy storage of this bridal gown will be. None of that wrapping in blue tissue and sealing it in a cedar chest. She can slip it into an envelope and tuck it into her jewelry case.

I don't know if any ceremonies this June can top the two I heard about last year. There was the one in Detroit performed at the fairgrounds which was supposedly planned by Andy Warhol. Among other ingenuous ideas incorporated in the affair was the novel one of having ushers carrying huge replicas of Babe Ruth candy bars and stalking around and around the happy couple while they exchanged vows.

Then there was that delightful wedding in California where a "black priest" united the bride and groom. The cult seems to be a gloomy one because everybody wore black. Anyway, as a sort of centerpiece, there was a reclining nude on the altar. Then, after the ceremony, everyone drank a toast, ran into the next room, dashed into a closet and jumped down through a trapdoor. I never did figure out where the trapdoor led. Into a vat of boiling "toast" maybe.

Anyway, I expect June 1967 will be the time when a groom meets a topless bride at the church. (This is the girl who MEANS it when she says, "Darling, I have nothing to hide.")

Excerpts from the society page writeup will probably include stuff like; "The bride wore a peau de sole Adam and Eve original with her wrist corsage" and "Emma Hatfield sang selections from The Threo Bears."

It will go on to say, "After the ceremony the blushing bride was photographed for advertisements soon to appear in magazines across the country with the caption, 'I dreamed I went to my wedding in a Maidenform bra!' after which the happy couple dashed from the church into the arms of the police who escorted them in a honeymoon trip to the local bastille.

"After a short stay here, the couple will return to the workaday world and the new missus will resume her career as wardrobe mistress to the topless cello player who was arrested recently in New York City."

Paula Cox Is Job's Daughters Honored Queen

PAULA RAE COX

HAILEY — Paula Rae Cox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cox, Fairfield, was installed honored queen of Hailey Bethel No. 30, International Order of Job's Daughters, at a public ceremony at the Masonic Temple.

Jeannie Savelberg, retiring honored queen, was installing officer. She was assisted by past honored queens, Mary O'Donnell and Mrs. Faye Hatch Barker; past princesses, Donna Cox and Ann Wilson, and Mrs. Roberta McKercher, past guardian.

Other officers installed included Susan Overfield, chaplain; Carrie Wunderlich, treasurer; Beccie Baron, musician; Natalie Naymik, recorder; Terry Davies, Marilyn Cox, Sharon Marlow, Vicky Rutter and Marilyn Stapleton, messengers; Radenne Smith and Patti Jo Moran, custodians; Julie Dorr and Marla Duffy, guards; Pat Stephens, librarian; Winnie Deboard, Job's Daughters flagbearer; Sally Overfield, custodian of the lights; Sue Swaner, Bible page, and Sharon Fica, choir captain.

Mrs. H. E. Hatch, bethel guardian, announced Miss Wilson as "Jobie of the Term" and presented her a small engraved plaque. Her name will also be engraved on the large plaque hanging in the temple.

The new honored queen introduced her mother, her grandmother, Mrs. Ted Heach, and her sisters, Marilyn, Donna, Tina and Rosa, and presented bouquets to her mother and grandmother. She thanked the installing officers and presented them each a gift. She presented flowers to Mr. and Mrs. Hatch.

Miss Savelberg made and presented perfect attendance certificates to Miss O'Donnell, Miss Rathke, Miss Stevens, Miss Johnson, Miss Stapleton, Miss Rutter, Miss Duffy, Miss Davies, Miss Smith, Miss Moran, Miss Dorr, Sally Overfield and Patty Martin, Mountain Home Bethel.

Miss Cox named Carla Wunderlich, LuAnn Stevens, Natalie Naymik and Marilyn Cox to her sunshine committee.

The new princesses named their teams for the term. Miss Rathke, as captain of team No. 1, will hold her party in July, and Miss Stevens, captain of team No. 2, will entertain in August.

The first endeavor for the teams will be button sales for the "Days of the Old West" celebration July 4, with sales beginning immediately.

Miss Johnson and Marilyn Cox gave readings and Miss Savelberg and Sharon Marlow, accompanied by Miss O'Donnell, and Miss Senften, accompanied by Miss Baron, sang.

Two Negro Women Sit On Council

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Two Negro women, the first of their race to sit on the Jacksonville-City Council since Reconstruction days, were elected Tuesday in an election that left only one incumbent in office.

The two women, both widowed schoolteachers, also were the first women ever elected to the council in this northeastern Florida city.

Sallye B. Mathis won her seat by almost 5,000 votes while while Mary B. Singleton ran unopposed in the general election Tuesday. Mrs. Mathis got 19,416 votes to 14,528 for C. Ted Forsythe Jr.

Both women were swept into office in a clean-sweep Democratic victory that included wins in all seven contested races.

The election left only one incumbent councilman, Lavern Reynolds, in office. He ran unopposed.

Jacksonville voters tossed out the other incumbents in the primaries. The shakeup came after a grand jury last year indicted eight city officials. Reynolds publicly denounced three fellow councilmen who kept their jobs after being indicted.

Soviets Okay Publication Of Writings

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Writers' Union has approved publication of a novel and a short story by Alexander I. Solzhenitsyn which the secret police confiscated two years ago, literary sources said Tuesday.

Solzhenitsyn, author of the anti-Stalinist novel "One Day in the Life of Ivan Denisovich," circulated a letter at the national congress of Soviet writers last month calling for an end to literary censorship. The letter also asked the writers' union to defend authors attacked by Communist party cultural overseers.

Informed sources said 79 Soviet writers sent a joint petition to the writers' union demanding that the issues Solzhenitsyn raised be discussed in open debate. They said the union agreed to allow publication of Solzhenitsyn's novel "The First Circle" and his short story "The Cancer Ward," and promised him permission and funds to travel abroad.

Barry Goldwater Attends Young Republican Meeting

By JACK BELL

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Barry Goldwater came today to a Young Republican National Federation convention in the throes of an uphill struggle by moderates to break the control his conservatives won in 1963.

With the federation heading for a countdown Friday in a three-man race for its new chairman, Goldwater, the 1964 presidential nominee, had his opportunity to point the course he thinks the Republicans ought to pursue to defeat President Johnson next year.

As a candidate for the Senate again, Goldwater's influence among Young Republicans who campaigned ardently for him in 1964 is not discounted in any quarter.

GOP National Chairman Ray Bliss, fighting to restore national committee checks on the sometimes rampant youth organization, got a hearing on his side of the case that the federation's mission is to elect— but not to select—the presidential nominee.

Bliss told a news conference on his arrival Tuesday night that he is not interested in how the Young Republicans conduct their internal affairs, but only in strengthening the organization for a campaign to support the 1968 nominee once he has been named.

He said he is reporting to the convention methods of enlisting wider support for the nominee whoever he might be. Bliss declined to take any position on the candidates or the chairmanship.

Attend Workshop

Ten Magic Valley residents recently attended an employment counselors workshop held at Idaho State University, where closed circuit television was used to show interviews between counselor and client or situations in which one counselor worked with a group of persons with similar employment problems.

Buhl Ready For Sagebrush Days

BUHL — Ed John, Burley, state Jaycee president, was a guest at the regular meeting of the Buhl Jaycees. Darrel McRoberts, district Jaycee president, also attended.

It was announced that Jack Fields had received a telegram from the national Jaycee president, Bill Suttle, informing Fields that he had been selected as a member of the president's club for being an outstanding district president during the 1966-67 term.

Final plans were made for the Sagebrush Days celebration to be held July 1-4. Entries are still being accepted for the parade. Anyone wishing to participate is asked to contact Merlin Hudson, parade chairman, at 543-4322. Three $100 cash awards will be given in addition to the trophies.

Any girl wishing to enter the queen contest is asked to contact Perry Hansen at the above number. The winner of the contest will be crowned at the dance July 3. In addition to being Sagebrush Days queen, the winner will represent the West End at the Twin Falls County Fair and Rodeo.

The first event scheduled for the celebration will be a "bank robbery" July 1. Sidewalk sales will be featured July 1 and on July 3. On Monday afternoon a "shotgun wedding" will be held in the center of town.

A Western dance will be held at 9 a.m. July 3, in the Buhl High School gymnasium, and will feature the Walden Brothers. Tickets are on sale now at Spradlings Texaco or from any Jaycee.

Events scheduled for July 4 include the parade beginning at 11 a.m. Following the parade there will be concession stands at Eastman Park. Games at the park will include a greased pole climbing contest, a greased pig chase, and a fish grab.

Three stock tanks of trout will be supplied by Ted Eastman of the Clear Springs Trout Co. for the event. Following the contests there will be a free Bar-B-Que in the park.

The last event scheduled for the celebration will be a teen dance at 9 p.m. Tuesday at the Hungry I in Buhl. The dance will feature the Syndicates.

Beard growing contest chairman, Larry Francis reminds all non-beard growers to purchase their shaving permits at $1.50 each. Beard growers buttons are also available for 50 cents each.

Judicial Council Aides Appointed

BOISE (AP) — Appointment of members of the Judicial Council which was created by the regular session of the 1967 Idaho Legislature was announced Tuesday by Gov. Don W. Samuelson.

Named as non-lawyer members of the council were Charles D. Lunte, Buhl businessman; Ray Burge, American Falls rancher, and Richard H. Winder, Caldwell, director of admissions and financial aids officer for the College of Idaho.

The governor said he was notified by the state bar association that lawyer members of the council will be Robert C. Huntley, Pocatello; Thomas A. Miller, Boise, and Judge James G. Towles, Wallace.

The chief justice serves as chairman of the council, which will recommend appointments to fill vacancies as they occur in district and supreme courts.

Wendell Classes Slate Reunion

WENDELL — The 1935-37 graduating class of Wendell high school will hold a reunion July 1-2.

Members of the classes planning to attend the banquet are requested by the reunion planning committee to contact Mrs. Raymond Turner, Wendell, or Thomas Prescott, Jerome, for reservations.

There will be a potluck picnic at 1 p.m. July 2, at the Wendell city park for all class members, their families and all interested friends. The class reunion committee will furnish the ice cream and punch for the picnic.

John Miracle To Head Buhl School Board

BUHL — John Miracle has been named chairman of the Buhl School Board, it was announced Wednesday.

Derek Cantrell was named vice chairman of the board and Dr. Harold Hammerquist was elected clerk.

Named to serve on committees within the board were Derek Cantrell, school lunch program; Al Balss, building and grounds; Dr. Hammerquist, school personnel, and Harold Traxler, transportation.

Mrs. Pauline Harper was employed to replace Mrs. Harriet Lewis as an instructor-librarian in the junior high school. Mrs. Harper has taught the past two years in the Castleford Junior High School.

Edith Matthews will replace Marie Watt as vocational home economics instructor. Miss Matthews is a 1967 graduate of Utah State University with a major in home economics.

Daryl Cooper was employed to replace Roger Fordyce as music director for the school district. Mr. Cooper, a recent graduate of Brigham Young University, currently is completing training toward an advanced degree at Brigham Young University and will join the faculty in late August.

Supt. Rex Engelking noted that at the present time vacancies still exist at the senior high school level, in English, and as head football coach and social studies instructor.

Mrs. W. D. Worley and J. C. Hendrix met with the trustees requesting the approval of an assignment of Mrs. Worley's school bus contract on route six to Mr. Hendrix. The assignment was authorized by the trustees.

Leaves of absence were extended to Harriett Lewis and Wyatt Struckman and payment of dues to the state trustees association were authorized. The board policies of the district were reviewed by the trustees.

Shopping for paint?

"$3.08 a gallon . . . $4.29 . . . $2.98." Lost in the jungle of paint prices? Maybe we can simplify things. When you buy bargain-priced paints, you save about 50 cents per year of paint wear. And, you paint oftener. If that doesn't appeal to you, look past the price . . . look for longer paint life. Bennett's spent 5 years and $750,000 to develop Formula '67 Paints, to offer an extra year or two of wear, compared to many bargain-priced paints. If you treasure your time, and care for your castle, get Bennett's Formula '67 – in any finish for any surface, from drawbridge to turret.

Press Women Told Importance Of Their Role In Civic Affairs

SUN VALLEY—Women in the news profession can do much in heading off developing community problems and improving critical conditions of pollution, traffic and sub-standard housing which plague most urban areas, Maggie Bellows, United Press International, told national Press Women delegates Tuesday.

Miss Bellows was one of three women writers addressing afternoon workshops in the Sun Valley Opera House.

Urban affairs writer for the wire service, Miss Bellows noted almost every city and community in the country is plagued by some new problems, and the larger the city, the larger the problem. Changing conditions in larger cities, Miss Bellows said, include the move of many families from better residential areas close to the city into suburban areas and their replacement by Negroes and other non-white residents. These groups are now becoming the majority populations of the cities, she explained.

There will be changes in the future, she added. With population increases it is estimated 80 per cent of the population will be living in cities within the next 30 years. This will mean a complete rebuilding of the cities, she said.

All of these changes make news, Miss Bellows said, and she urged the writers to ask questions—the right questions to get to the heart of the issues.

Sally Raleigh, head of the women's department of the Post-Intelligencer, Seattle, Wash., told women writers that in her paper there are no more accounts of club meetings and wedding stories are brief.

"We try to utilize our highly valued space and time with interesting features of general interest to all of our readers and we illustrate them with candid photographs that show the true action of the events," Miss Raleigh explained.

As for fashion news, Miss Raleigh said her women's pages try to tell the readers what is new and available in their own town, more than what the fashion magazines are introducing to the young set in some other area such as New York, Chicago or Los Angeles.

Sally Ryan, Associated Press business writer from New York, said the women are becoming more and more a prominent part of the business world, and more women than men now own stock.

In the writing profession, she said, women are also outnumbering men. There are 75 girl "newsmen" in the New York office of Associated Press, she said, and no one has yet said they are not doing as well as the male newsmen.

Miss Ryan said women are in every phase of news writing including business, sports and even the specialized fields of science and mechanics. Many have received foreign service assignments, she added, although as yet there are no female war correspondents.

Press women from throughout the country convened Sunday in the Idaho resort for their national convention which will conclude Wednesday.

A barbecue at Trail Creek entertained delegates Tuesday night and the Tuesday luncheon was hosted by Montana Press Women who will be hosts for the 1969 national convention.

16 Arrested In Plot To Kill Wilkins

NEW YORK (AP) — Queens detectives arrested 12 men and four women in Queens, Brooklyn and Manhattan early today and Queens Dist. Atty. Thomas Mackell said the arrests foiled assassination attempts on Executive Director Roy Wilkins of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored Peoples, and other civil rights leaders.

A large number of rifles, revolvers, ammunition and various types of bombs were seized in the raids, Mackell said.

Mackell said the arrests followed an investigation of a radical Negro group calling itself "RAM" for "Revolutionary Action Movement." He said RAM members made an abortive attempt to kill Wilkins last March.

The district attorney said other moderate civil rights leaders also were marked for assassination by the group.

He gave no details of the plot.

ROBERT T. NUTTING

. . . son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Nutting, Rupert, was graduated June 3 from the California Baptist Theological Seminary with a degree of Master of Divinity. He was ordained a minister Sunday at First Baptist Church, Santa Cruz, Calif. A 1959 graduate of Minico High School, the new minister received a Bachelor of Arts degree in 1963 from Azusa College, Azusa, Calif. He is visiting his parents in Rupert and then will go to Hampton, Iowa, to assume duties as pastor of the American Baptist Church there.

7 Girls Seek Rupert Rodeo Queen Title

RUPERT—Seven young Minidoka County women will compete in the final hour of preliminaries to the annual July 4 celebration in Rupert, when the popularity vote is completed at the annual chuck wagon feed and jamboree set for Saturday night at the Civic Auditorium in Rupert.

Each ticket to the jamboree entitles the person to a vote for one of the queen contestants. Voting will close at 9 p.m., according to Rex Rasmussen, Chamber of Commerce director of queen competition.

The girls completed their riding competition at a contest June 11 at the county fairgrounds. They are judged 60 per cent on riding ability, 15 per cent on appearance and 25 per cent on the popularity vote.

The final entrant to register for the contest was Kaye Smith, 20-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Higley, Rupert. She moved to Rupert three months ago from American Fork, Utah, and she is employed at the Mini-Cassia Employment office in Heyburn.

She graduated from the American Fork High School and attended Utah Trade and Technical Institute in Provo while she was employed as a bookkeeper in the bank at American Fork.

She has been riding horses for about eight years and her horse is "Deedee," a part Arabian quarter horse. Miss Smith's sponsors are the Bell Agency and Frank's Furniture.

Other contestants, who have been previously announced, include Gail Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Thompson, who rides "Freckles" and is sponsored by United Coop and the Rupert Iron Works; Diane Johnston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Deward Johnston, riding "Lady" and sponsored by Bestway Builders and Lloyds Floral; Gay Wilferth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wilferth, sponsored by Rupert Gas and Oil and Chester B. Brown Co., and riding "Boots."

Patti Freiburger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chuck Freiburger, sponsored by Ballantynes and J. R. Simplot Co., and riding "Sweet Tea;" and Janet Hawkes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ron Hawkes, sponsored by Hoggans and Coast to Coast Stores.

The chuckwagon feed will get under way at 6 p.m. Saturday, with merchants dishing up stew, beans, apple pie and coffee until 8 p.m. Dinner entertainment will be by Blanche and Ralph.

Also scheduled to perform are the Order of the Arrow Indian dancers. The Inn Keepers will play for dancing to conclude the evening. The queen will be crowned at 10:30 p.m., Rasmussen said.

Other events planned for the annual celebration include pari mutuel horse racing daily July 1 through 4, with races to start at 1 p.m. each day.

The parade will be viewed around the square at 11 a.m. July 4.

Daily rodeo performances are scheduled July 2, 3 and 4 at 8 p.m. Specialty acts will be Elaine Kramer, showing Roman riding with her six horses, the Jerome Mounted Sheriff's Posse, the Cassia Mounted Sheriff's Posse and the Carey Riding Club.

Kids' Night is July 2 when two free bicycles will be given away. The Cross Triangle Rodeos are furnishing the stock and the rodeo producer is Dell Haslam, Johnnie Jackson will be the announcer, and clowns are Charlie Lyons and Melvin Fields.

Field Generals Try To Woo Negro Voters

By WILLIAM T. PEACOCK

WASHINGTON (AP) — The field generals — each a Negro — of Democratic and Republican efforts to woo Negro voters for 1968 already are crisscrossing the country.

With a close presidential election in prospect, these two politicos are intensively seeking to strengthen organization in their competition for ballots of Negroes.

Ask Democrat Louis Martin if he will be in town next day and he is apt to reply, "No, I've got to go to Cleveland and then I'm going on to Chicago."

Drop into the office of Republican Clarence Townes Jr., and he probably is tied up for the moment on a long-distance telephone call — perhaps to Cleveland or Chicago.

Ask Townes where he expects Negro voting to be most crucial and he ticks off: "New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, Illinois and California," adding as an afterthought, "Then there's New Jersey, Maryland and Missouri."

The first six states are among the seven most populous and together have 185 of the 270 electoral votes needed to win the presidency.

All went to Lyndon B. Johnson in the 1964 election but, except for Illinois, all now have Republican governors.

The Negro vote which could be pivotal in these states is largely concentrated in big cities.

From the days of Franklin D. Roosevelt, these votes have been heavily Democratic.

In 1964, some Negro precincts ran as high as 99 per cent for Johnson over Republican Barry Goldwater.

The Republican National Committee's figures claim the GOP got about 4 per cent of the Negro vote in 1964 but came back in the 1966 congressional and gubernatorial elections, capturing about 14 per cent.

Republican Sen. Charles H. Percy of Illinois cut into the normally Democratic Negro vote in Chicago. Gov. George Romney and Sen. Robert P. Griffin, scoring Republican victories in Michigan, got better than expected support among Detroit Negroes.

Townes' goal is to get 30 per cent of the Negro vote for his party in 1968.

"The Negro electorate," he said, "is about as sophisticated as any segment of American society. They know where their best interest is. They recognize who is doing what."

Martin said it is true that some Democratic programs aimed at poverty and Negro problems have not accomplished all that was hoped.

"However imperfect these programs are, there is no alternative," he continued.

"The big point is that we started them.

"The GOP is the party of fine rhetoric but no action.

"The President has demonstrated where he stands. He named the first Negroes to the Cabinet and the Supreme Court."

Republican Townes is aiming particularly at younger Negroes.

"Since 1964," he said in an interview, "you have at almost a brand new Negro attitude, and it is being propelled by the young Negro.

"There is a new Negro in America who considers himself, and is becoming, a sophisticated human being. These Negroes seek to participate as any other group.

"The young Negro is realizing the value of two-party government. The Republicans liberate him from one-party captivity."

Townes described the Democratic approach to the Negro voter as "that of the welfare man — where you control the poor and the ignorant."

"Our party is based on the philosophy of the dignity of the individual," he said.

Townes, 39, is one of the new breed of younger Negroes. A native of Richmond, Va., he attended Virginia Union University and got into Republican politics a decade ago to fight the state Democratic organization's policy of resistance to school desegregation.

Democrat Martin is a long established figure on the national political scene.

Now 54, Martin is a Detroiter educated at the University of Michigan, whose first national political chore, in 1944 was as Democratic contact with the Negro press. Since 1960, he has been head of the Democratic National Committee's minorities division and carries the title of deputy chairman.

Both the Democrats and the Republicans estimate there will be about eight million Negroes, maybe more, qualified to vote in 1968. Nothing more than an estimate can be made because most states do not classify registrants by race.

In 1964, the total vote in the presidential election was about 70.6 million.

British Plans For Aden Are Threatened By Army Mutiny

By RODNEY PINDER

LONDON (AP) — The British government's plans to leave Aden and the South Arabian Federation in January were threatened today by a mutiny in the South Arabian army which resulted in the death of 18 Britons and an undetermined number of Arabs.

Twenty-three Britons also were wounded before calm was reported restored Tuesday night to the Aden area in the southwest corner of the Arabian Peninsula.

The belief was widespread in London that British government would have to take a new look at its plans, announced Monday, to give independence about Jan. 9 to the federation made up of Aden State and 16 sultanates and sheikhdoms strung along the southwest coast of Arabia.

Foreign Secretary George Brown told the House of Commons Monday that Britain would keep a strong naval force in South Arabian waters and a force of bombers within easy reach for six months after independence to guard the federation against aggression. But the government counted on the native army it is training and equipping to preserve order within the federation.

The Foreign Office attributed the mutiny to disputes in the 8,500-man army over "conditions of service and intertribal rivalries." The discontent apparently was brought to a head by the suspension four days ago of four colonels for unexplained "disciplinary reasons."

Although the Foreign Office refused to amplify its statement, it was believed the rivalry stemmed from the recent merger of the former federal army trained by Britain since 1961, in which British officers have been steadily replaced by Arab officers who worked their way up, and the federal guard made up of former police units and personal troops of the various sheikhs.

Trouble broke out first at the Lake Lines barracks in the Sheikh Othman district, where young apprentice soldiers rioted, set fire to some buildings, freed prisoners and prevented British officers from entering the camp.

Arab officers broke up that mob, but the trouble spread to the Champion Lines camp in the same area. There rebellious soldiers sacked the armory and seized its weapons.

The federation government called on British troops to help quell the revolt, and violence erupted in the Crater district, a hotbed of Arab nationalism.

Fighting raged throughout the day. Officials said 17 of the 18 British dead and 22 of the 23 wounded were soldiers. The other two were civilians.

PROMISING SPECIALS

9 p.m., 2SL, 7, 8—NBC News Special, "The Learning Process." The "new math" that baffles parents but helps students absorb ideas instead of rules and use of computers that talk back to students — guiding their questions and providing instruction, not just memory drills — are among the items discussed in this documentary that explores new directions in elementary education. Schools throughout the country were visited in an examination of newtheories in practice.

BEST BETS FOR MOVIES

South Koreans Claim 30 Killed

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — South Korean military officials say some 30 armed North Korean agents have been killed and two captured in more than 20 gunfights in the past two weeks.

Police Director Han Ok-Shin said North Korea is sending in a record number of agents armed with rocket launchers and machine guns. He said they are infiltrating in groups rather than on an individual basis.

Lynda Bird Goes To Actor's Party

Although Lynda had not promised to attend the party at the Toledo Restaurant, she was there 15 minutes before George was, making small talk with her hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Auchincloss.

The parting won't be for long. George is merely dashing over to Spain for a few days to celebrate the opening of El Drugstore owned by his friend Oscar Molinari, 26-year-old Venezuelan millionaire.

Chiang Ching Remains Most Powerful Woman In Her Husband's Country

TOKYO (AP) — She stepped from the wings into the full glare of the footlights a year ago. Despite the jeers and envy of her critics, Chiang Ching remains the most powerful woman in her husband's China.

A few years ago, she apparently was a self-effacing housewife, content to remain in the enormous shadow of her eminent husband, Communist party Chairman Mao Tse-tung.

She shrugged off this role publicly in 1966 and took on a new one: defender of the Maoist faith.

Peering primly from behind steel-rimmed glasses, she has gained a wide reputation on the mainland for her razor-tongued criticisms of the Peking Opera, literature, art and theater.

Her work in this field has brought her one important job after the other, as advisor to the army's cultural purge, deputy chief of the party's purge committee and Red empress of Chinese arts.

Nor is Chiang Ching far from the top in the tough, swiftly changing world of Red China's men. She ranks somewhere among the first seven or eight closest politically to her 73-year-old husband.

Once she took over the job of cleansing the "revisionists" and "anti-Maoists," she worked havoc among some of the most powerful men in the party. She is said to have had a hand in cutting down Marshal Hsu Hsiang-chien, once chairman of the army purge committee; Deputy Premier Tao Chu, the party propaganda chief, and Marshal Yeh Chien-ying.

In one way or another, they dared to cross her; their seniority and fame failed to save them.

The answer most generally accepted is that beginning in 1959 she saw Mao slipping, opposed, ignored and privately derided by President Liu Shao-chi and his followers.

Once an actress of some ability, she fought back in the area she knew best: the stage and screen. Stubborness and a gift for expression — her speeches have been not only sharp but lively and well-organized — helped her along.

She knew what needed to be done, what Mao wanted and what was lacking.

Mao began his comeback in 1965 with massive criticism of a play called "Hai Jui Dismissed from Office," written by Peking's deputy mayor, Wu Han. Mao charged it assailed him and his 1959 dismissal of Defense Minister Lin Piao's predecessor, Marshal Peng Teh-hsai.

It was Chiang Ching who put Mao onto the subversive thread running through the play. Maoists now date the beginning of the purge from the criticism of that play.

Education Programs On Drugs Recommended For Schools

WASHINGTON (AP) — A consultant to the president's crime commission recommended today, to prevent drug abuse, that educational programs about drugs begin in elementary schools.

The consultant, Richard H. Blum of Stanford University, counting everything from coffee and aspirin to heroin, pictured the United States as a nation of drug users.

He also called for vastly increased studies of the effects of such drugs as marijuana and LSD.

The present known risks of using marijuana are not great, he said, and he recommended legislation that would lessen penalties for its use and possession.

The report, released today, is the eighth of nine specialized studies to be published by the commission. All the specialized reports were summarized in the commission's over-all report published last February.

In an accompanying statement, Nicholas Katzenbach, commission chairman, undersecretary of state and a former attorney general, called for expanded efforts to reduce the flow of narcotics into the nation's cities.

Katzenbach also urged increased research and treatment of addiction and broadened education programs — directed particularly at young people — relating to the dangers of drug abuse.

The report estimates that at least 3,300 pounds of heroin are smuggled into the United States each year. It noted that 22 pounds of opium — the base of heroin — can be purchased on the black market from Turkish farmers for about $350.

The refined opium, when sold as heroin, will bring at least $225,000 in the United States.

The report included much material that was released in the commission's general report last February.

Several key recommendations by the commission include:

— State and federal drug laws should give a large measure of discretion to courts and correctional agencies to enable them to deal flexibly with violators.

— The National Institute of Mental Health should conduct a research program on marijuana and should develop a broad education program to disseminate factual information about drugs.

In a study of dangerous drugs and social policy, Blum said "mind-altering drug used in the United States is nearly universal, most of it by individuals without causing danger to others."

Blum included in his definition of drugs a variety of preparations ranging from aspirin, coffee and tea through tranquilizers, sedatives, stimulants, strong pain killers like morphine, "popular social drugs such as alcohol and tobacco, and illicit but relatively harmless (as presently used) social drugs such as marijuana and peyote," to the problem drugs including opiates and hallucinogens such as LSD.

Blum said studies in the United States show many heroin users had earlier experience with marijuana, but he noted their history "is also likely to include even earlier illicit use of cigarettes and alcohol."

Blum said there is much evidence that many persons not in so-called heroin-risk neighborhoods who experiment with marijuana do not progress to hard narcotics.

And he added: "There is no reliable evidence that marijuana causes crime."

Blum said studies of LSD had shown use of the drug appeared concentrated in persons in the 20-35 age group. Until a few years ago its use was limited to an elite group of successful professionals, artists, and communications — industry personnel, their families and friends.

Blum said there was no doubt that LSD use is followed by psychosis, a detachment from reality. He said some of these reactions are temporary and can be treated by certain tranquilizers such as thorazine which "are now sold on the black market as part of the LSD 'trip' equipment."

But more severe reactions require long-term hospitalization.

"Crime associated with hallucinogen use appears to have been minimal," Blum said. "It would appear that insofar as decent citizens take hallucinogens, their behavior will remain lawful.

"We may expect that with the expansion of hallucinogen use to delinquent groups—and perhaps because it is now unlawful in some states so that its use becomes criminal—a greater frequency of crime will be reported." And, Blum added: "It is the person, not the drug, which is responsible for a criminal act."

'Sexual Revolution' Brings More Change In Attitudes

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
AP Science Writer

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — In today's younger generation, the so-called "sexual revolution" is bringing more of "a change in attitude than behavior," a psychiatrist said Tuesday.

"I would suggest that we are not seeing orgies or lack of control but rather a different kind of control—self-control based not on guilt or fear of disapproval but on a concept of human relations that emphasizes self-respect, human worth and human dignity," said Dr. James F. Masterson Jr. of New York.

Adolescents now, more than before, are demanding "logical reasons for ethical standards," Masterson told the American Medical Association.

Dr. Robert R. Bell, sociologist of Temple University in Philadelphia, reported increasing evidence that "a number of women may pass their husbands in sexual interest and desire."

A study of 196 college-educated wives indicates that about one in four are not satisfied with the frequency of sexual intercourse in their marriages, he said.

Potentially, this may raise serious problems for many men, he said, since "there is biologically little to restrict the frequency with which women can indulge in sexual intercourse."

The older husbands may become "neither physically nor psychologically capable of satisfying her needs. It is possible that in the near future there will be an increasing number of problems in marriage centering around the lack of sexual satisfaction by the wife," Bell said.

Masterson, of Cornell University Medical College, said: "I think our fears about sexual misbehavior have led us to underrate the fact that beginning sexual experience for many youngsters is often fraught with anguish and pain, and, therefore, can be as much a trial as a pleasure."

Pageant Report Given At Rupert

RUPERT — The Lions Club heard a report of the Miss Idaho pageant in Boise from one of their members, Dr. R. C. Phillips, whose daughter, Kristine Phillips, received the Idaho crown Saturday night.

Michael Caldwell also reported on Boys' State which he attended under sponsorship of the club.

Russell Jacobsen, chairman of the installation ceremonies and club picnic planned for June 26, reported on progress of that event to be held at Neptune Park with wives of the members as invited guests.

Kosygin's Daughter Likes Opera

NEW YORK (AP) — "Very nice," said Ludmila A. Gvishiani, "very nice opera."

Mrs. Gvishiani, daughter of Premier Alexei N. Kosygin of the Soviet Union, visited the stars backstage at the Metropolitan Opera Tuesday night during an intermission of "La Gioconda."

"This opera reminds me of Russian opera," the premier's daughter told the singers.

Renata Tobaldi kissed her check and said, "I hope to come to Russia because I know the people there like my voice."

It was Mrs. Gvishiani's second night out on the town—the night before she attended a movie at Radio City Music Hall—but the first one in which she was discovered by reporters.

Before the backstage visit she had sat unnoticed in the opera house, escorted by two city detectives and a Soviet official.

Today's Market and Financial Report

Stocks

2:30 P.M. SUMMARY

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market settled lower late this afternoon despite strength in selected issues. Trading was active.

Here was the picture near the close:

Volume for the first four hours was 7.26 million shares compared with 7.64 million Tuesday.

Xerox dropped 4; General Dynamics, Control Data and Alcoa 2 each; Anaconda and IBM a point or more.

Glen Alden paced the list on volume and gained a point, making a substantial gain for a moderately-priced stock.

American Potash rose about 3 and Continental Copper 2. Woolworth rose about 1½ and Rohr Corp. more than a point.

Grain

CHICAGO (AP) — Grain and soybeans futures prices moved higher on the Board of Trade today on news of heavy crop-threatening rains in the nation's midsection but profit taking trimmed the advance.

The outlook for the new corn and soybean crops was bright just a few days ago with warm weather and widespread rains. However, the rains had been heavy and continuous this week causing some concern.

Carlot receipts were estimated at: wheat 14 cars, corn 41, oats 2, rye none, barley 7, soybeans 16.

Heavy Rains Continue In Many Areas

By The Associated Press

Summer will start officially at 10:23 p.m.

Topeka, Kan., measured 5.48 inches of rain since Tuesday with considerable flash flooding in Kansas' northeast. Emporia, Kan., recorded 3.57 inches in 24 hours with wind gusts up to 63 miles an hour in an overnight thunderstorm.

There was some rain also in the far Northwest, centered around the State of Washington.

Ex-Murtaugh Woman Dies

She was born Oct. 15, 1895, at Salt Lake City and moved to Oakley with her parents when a small girl. She attended Oakley schools. On Dec. 17, 1914, she was married to Arlieth L. Craner at Oakley. He died May 30, 1965.

Mrs. Craner moved to Murtaugh in 1928 and resided there until 1954 when she moved to Las Vegas. She was a member of the LDS church.

Survivors include three sons, Arlieth M. (Pete) Craner and Richard R. Craner, both Murtaugh; Bobby Ray Craner, Oakley; three daughters, Mrs. Leonelee Gooch, Murtaugh; Mrs. Betty Carmona, Las Vegas, and Mrs. Shirley Sears, Hansen; 13 grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p.m. Friday in the Murtaugh LDS Ward chapel by Bishop Roger Tolman. Final rites will be held in the Oakley Cemetery. Friends may call at the Payne Mortuary, Burley, Thursday afternoon and evening and at the Murtaugh church Friday one hour prior to services.

Distribution Of Funds Declared

E. W. McRoberts and Co., Twin Falls, announced Wednesday that three Keystone Funds have declared distributions payable July 15 to shareholders of record at the close of business June 30.

They are B-2, 31 cents quarterly; S-2, 9 cents quarterly, and S-4, 2 cents semiannually, plus a special distribution of $1.00.

The company also announced that Manhattan Fund will pay its first dividend, 7 cents, on Aug. 4 to shareholders of record as of June 30.

Intensified Red Probes Seen In War

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. and South Vietnamese commands today reported intensified Communist probes and clashes in the central highlands and the 1st Corps area south of the demilitarized zone—the two current danger points of the Vietnam war.

Particular concern was expressed about the situation in the highlands, where a Communist offensive is expected with the monsoon rains now drenching the jungles.

American forces reported 43 Communists killed in the 1st Corps area Tuesday in a rash of small but stiff firefights. The U.S. Command said American casualties were 3 killed and 32 wounded.

South Vietnamese infantrymen claimed 62 Viet Cong killed in two clashes 20 miles south of Da Nang. "Very light" South Vietnamese casualties were reported.

Dodd Denies Deception Of Public

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, battling against a resolution to censure him for financial misconduct, denied today he had deceived the public about the purpose of fundraising testimonials for him.

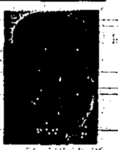
"It's my firm conviction—and I think I know—that the public was not deceived," the Connecticut Democrat told the Senate.

He reiterated that he would "like to move as rapidly as possible" to a vote on the charges against him. He had pleaded with his colleagues Tuesday not to "drag me through any more agony."

The Senate's bipartisan ethics committee has accused him of converting to his personal benefit at least $116,083 out of $450,000 in campaign contributions and in proceeds from a series of testimonial affairs.

And in a second count in a censure resolution submitted after a 14-month investigation, the committee said Dodd had double-billed the Senate and private groups for travel expenses.

The Daily Investor



By WILLIAM A. DOYLE

Q. I attended a lecture on mutual funds conducted by a large brokerage firm. It was very interesting but revolutionary on one point, as far as I was concerned. The broker giving the lecture advocated an in-and-out policy on any fund that might not be doing too well. In fact, he said his firm had advised its customers to get out of a certain mutual fund at the end of last year because his firm felt that fund "had had it."

I always thought that a mutual fund should be a long-range investment. With the loads and the tax bites, could a person possibly make any money going in and out?

A. Possibly? Yes. Probably? Maybe. That broker could turn out to be dead right. But, if he's dead wrong, the customers who follow his advice will end up (while not dead broke) badly dented in the checkbook.

It's always easy to say, "Sell this. Buy that." The trick is to know when to buy low and when to sell high. Some brokers are always coming up with recommenations such as that—on individual stocks and on mutual funds.

They're the brokers I'd advise people to steer clear of. If they are right, the customers make money. But, right or wrong, the brokers make money — from commissions.

The latest available records show that, in the first three months of this year (right after that brokerage firm's "sell" recommendation), the value of shares of the mutual fund named as having "had it" gained 14.9 per cent. Even though some other funds did better, I doubt that the shareholders of that fund have any serious complaint.

And those that did sell (redeem their shares) would not have had to pay any commission on the redemption. But, if they turned around and reinvested the money, they would have been hit with a commission. If they bought shares of a different mutual fund, the commission could run to about 8.5 per cent of the money involved.

So, just to stay even, the shares of the fund they switched into would have had to gain in value by 23.4 per cent. And this figuring does not take into account any capital-gains tax they would have had to pay on any profit they realized when redeeming shares of the first fund. That tax bite would have left them with less money to reinvest.

I go right down the line with your thinking. An investment in shares of a mutual fund most certainly should be for the long pull. You try in-and-out trading and you'll soon find out that the commissions and taxes are killing you—while your broker gets rich on commissions.

Q. I have an opportunity to invest as one of the original stockholders of a bank being organized in my home town. As I understand it, this new bank will be a member of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp.

I am not a sophisticated investor but feel this may be a good long - term investment. What are your comments concerning investing in small banks? What has been the past history of such investments?

A. Many (perhaps most) investments in small banks have been successful — some fantastically so. Some have turned out to be just so-so-investments. some have been flops.

There's a risk in any investment. And when you put your money into stock of a new corporation of any type, the element of risk increases. This goes for banks or any other type of new enterprise.

In truth, it must be said that a bank in a small or medium-size town usually does very well. I wrote "usually" — no guarantee.

Because the bank is being organized in your home town, you should have a pretty good idea of the need for a bank there and its chances to prosper.

Just remember that the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. coverage will protect the people who deposit money in the bank. FDIC does not protect stockholders—the owners of the bank.

NEW YORK (AP) — The slow agony continues for Big Bill Zeckendorf, the man who showed how money could be borrowed at high rates and more money made with it in the real estate market—as long as real estate remained strong.

But this amiable bear of a man was like a juggler who stepped on a banana peel. Everything came crashing down when hotel receipts slowed, real estate prices slipped, and a few other factors interfered.

In physique he is more than six feet tall, and he weighs far more than 200 pounds.

In real estate he was the biggest. His empire was in the hundreds of millions of dollars. He helped arrange the deal for the United Nations site. He owned skyscrapers, shopping centers, hotels, in cities such as Los Angeles, Denver, Philadelphia, St. Louis and Chicago.

And in financial matters, nothing came down with more splinters, dust and grinding chaos than Webb & Knapp Inc., the vehicle of the Zeckendorf fortune. And now the prospects look even dimmer this week.

Forced into bankruptcy in May, 1965, Webb & Knapp is now in the hands of a trustee in bankruptcy, Mortimer M. Caplin. As former Internal Revenue commissioner, Caplin may be the man ideally suited for the complex job of trying to find who owes what and to whom.

Caplin this week reported to a federal judge that the hope of continuing the company, rather than liquidating it, "is at this time not very bright." In addition, he is suing Zeckendorf for mismanagement.

And so the barbs continue to be fired into the hide of this huge but surprisingly sensitive fellow, who has been forced over the past few years to admit to a humiliating string of reverses.

Later, he lost control of some of his properties because he couldn't pay the bills. And some of his subsidiaries went into bankruptcy.

Finally, Zeckendorf smothered his pride and held a public auction of various New York parcels that he desperately needed to turn into cash.

Throughout, he publicly expressed his faith. If creditors are patient, he said, "the company will be on the road to a renaissance of first-rate scale."

Twin Falls city police said entry was gained through a basement window at the rear of the building. Thieves took 28 tapper kegs of beer, valued at $221 and even carried away several empty kegs, valued at $16.

Other losses included about $25 in small change and $10 from a heart fund container, $4 in postage stamps and a tool box containing an electric drill and other items valued at $110. Motor oil, valued at $7 was also taken, officers said. A skill saw and individual tool box added another $70 to the loss.

Del Rupert, manager of the firm, told officers the burglars ransacked the basement and then went to the first floor where they located beer and other items. Investigation is continuing.

Clay Convicted In Jury Trial, Given Five Years After Asking Sentencing

By RONALD THOMPSON

HOUSTON (AP) — Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay, unbeaten in a glamorous boxing career, was convicted Tuesday by an all-white jury on a charge of refusing induction into the military service and a federal judge promptly sentenced him to five years in prison.

Clay, 25, in a surprise move, asked Judge Joe Ingraham to sentence him immediately after the jury deliberated only 21 minutes.

Standing erect in front of the gray-haired jurist, Clay said in subdued tone, "I'd like to say I would appreciate it if the court would sentence me now instead of waiting."

However, the maneuver appeared to be a formality since attorneys immediately said they will appeal the case and Clay left the court on the same $5,000 bond he had been under since May 8 when he was indicted.

Clay, descendant of a runaway Kentucky slave, had challenged the legality of his IA classification on grounds he is a Black Muslim minister with the name of Muhammad Ali.

Ingraham also fined Clay $10,000.

"I'm going to impose the maximum penalty," the judge said.

Ingraham added, however, that under normal practice that appeal is not successful motions are made to reduce any sentence.

The verdict by the six men and six women thus ended a trial that had lasted less than two days and had included less than five hours of testimony by only eight witnesses. Clay did not take the stand.

As the jury told the judge it had reached a verdict, Clay opened his big brown, expressive eyes widely, staring across the courtroom. He was asked by Ingraham to stand, an order with which he quickly complied.

When the word "guilty" was heard from the jury foreman, Clay sort of lowered his eyes, then leaned over and coughed faintly. Then Hayden Covington, his chief attorney from New York City, announced "we're ready for sentencing now."

Clay had refused to take the traditional induction symbol of one step forward April 28 in Houston. He was indicted May 8 and his attorneys built his defense around contentions the heavyweight champion spends only 10 per cent of his time as a boxer and 90 per cent as a minister.

His chief attorney, Hayden Covington, New York City, told the court that, in effect, Clay is a "traveling" bishop for that religious sect.

But Judge Ingraham, in his 30-minute charge to the jury, said the only question they had to decide was whether Clay knowingly and unlawfully refused induction.

Ingraham had made such a finding while turning down a defense motion for an instructed verdict of acquittal.

Each side earlier had called only four witnesses and testimony lasted less than five hours.

In filing the seven-point acquittal motion, Hayden Covington, the chief defense attorney from New York City, said the ministry unquestionably is Clay's vocation.

"He is sort of a traveling bishop, going from mosque to mosque, temple to temple, bringing in great crowds in every city he visits," Covington said.

Susman introduced into evidence a medical information form he said Clay filled out April 28 when he refused to take the one step forward symbolic of induction into the Army.

"In his own handwriting he wrote 'heavyweight boxing world champion' in the form's blank for occupation," Susman said.

The arguments on the motion were held while the all-white jury of six men and six women were out of the courtroom. Clay spent part of the time drawing pictures.

Susman objected when Covington had said he would need three hours to argue the motion.

Jackson Runs Record Over Mets To 18-0

The victory gave the 36-year-old Jackson an 18-0 lifetime mark against New York. Only San Francisco's Juan Marichal has done better against the Mets, having beaten them 19 times in 19 decisions.

The Phillies gave Jackson all the support he needed in the first inning when Tony Taylor singled, Rich Allen tripled and Don Lock rapped a two-run homer into the upper deck in left.

CLEVELAND (AP) — Luis Tiant hit a home run and won his sixth straight game, with ninth inning relief help from Steve Bailey, as the Cleveland Indians held off Kansas City 5-3 Tuesday night for their third straight victory.

Tiant, who hit his first homer of the season with none on in the seventh for a 5-1 lead, entered the ninth with a three-hitter.

Rick Monday hit his eighth homer with one out and Danny Cater and Jim Gosger each doubled for another run before Bailey came in and struck out the next two men.

World Series Hero Sent To Minors By Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP) — Jim Palmer, baseball's hero last fall when he became the youngest to pitch a World Series shutout, was shipped to the minors Tuesday by the Baltimore Orioles.

The slumping world champions, in seventh place in the American League, sent the 21-year-old right-hander to Rochester of the International League on 2-hour recall in the hope he can get an ailing right shoulder back in shape.

To fill the gap, the Orioles brought up 23-year-old Jim Hardin from Rochester. The right-hander has a 5-3 International League record in 12 games this season.

Palmer led the club last year with 15 victories. In the second game of the World Series Oct. 6, he beat the Los Angeles Dodgers and Sandy Koufax 6-0 on four hits, just nine days before his 21st birthday.

The shoulder pain — "They think I've got a pinched tendon" —dates back to last August and Palmer has started only twice since pitching a one-hitter May 12 to beat New York.

He threw one inning as a starter May 17 and three innings June 8. He has a 2-1 record and an earned run average of 3.38 for 40 innings.

Palmer must stay at Rochester at least 10 days, but Harry Dalton, director of player personnel for the Orioles, said he would be recalled "as soon as he can pitch without pain . . . and effectively."

"If all goes well, Jim could be back here as soon as the 10 days are up," Dalton said. "But I explained to him that he has to be working and to the point where we feel he can help us."

Palmer took the news calmly.

"I wasn't anxious to go to Rochester, but the way things are going up here I can't disagree with the decision," he said.

Burley Nips T.F. B's In Legion Play

BURLEY—Relief pitcher Art Benavidez came on in the seventh inning to strike out three straight batters and save Burley a 4-3 victory over a rallying Twin Falls B team.

Behind Bob Wageman, Burley took a 3-1 edge into the seventh, but Wageman loaded the bases on a walk and two singles before Benavidez came on.

One run scored when Benavidez hit a Twin Falls batter while the other came in on a squeeze play. Benavidez then fanned the next three batters he faced.

Twin Falls scored its other run in the second inning when Paul Buker lived on an error, Steve McClain singled and pitcher Jim Astorquia drove in Buker with another one-bagger.

Burley tied it at 1-1 its next time at bat when Ramsey singled, moved to second on a walk to Monte Keen and came home on Bob Wageman's single.

Burley scored single runs in the fourth, sixth and seventh with Ramsey collecting two more crucial singles. He scored two of Burley's four runs and scored another.

Ramsey drove in Steve Jensen, who had doubled, in the sixth and Benavidez, who also doubled, in the fourth. He scored in the first.

Star Quits NBA, Signs Lucrative Oakland Contract

By CHARLES McMURTRY

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Rick Barry, sensational scoring champion of the National Basketball Association, jumped to the new American Basketball Association Tuesday and drew the threat of a $10-million lawsuit.

Rick, an NBA All-Star who led the San Francisco Warriors to the Western Division championship, told a sports conference he signed a "very lucrative contract" with Oakland, coached by his father-in-law, Bruce Hale.

Half a million dollars for three years, including possibly a share in the Oakland franchise, was the lure speculated on by most sports writers.

Barry, 23, who won All America honors at the University of Miami under Hale's coaching, averaged 35.6 points a game for the Warriors last season, his second in the NBA. He was voted the outstanding player in the league's All-Star game.

Warrior owner Franklin Mieuli, expressing amazement at Barry's defection, said that move would topple "the very structure of professional sports."

Mieuli declared, "Obviously, there will be a big suit filed against Barry, the Oakland club and the rival league."

Mieuli already has filed a $1-million suit against the ABA, its New Orleans club and Clyde Lee, reserve forward who jumped from the Warriors to New Orleans.

How much would Mieuli ask in suing Barry and Oakland?

"We'll have to work it out," he said. "But if a fourth forward on your team is worth $1 million $10 million doesn't seem unreasonable for Rick."

"If a player can move about —ignoring the reserve clause— nobody could build a team. I feel the reserve clause has stood up in court," Mieuli added.

Would he consider taking Barry back?

"If Rick offers to return before he plays even one game in a rival league, he'll be welcome," Mieuli said.

Errors Help Senators Nip Chicago 4-2

CHICAGO (AP) — The Washington Senators capitalized on two unearned runs—one on an obstruction play—for a 4-2 victory over the Chicago White Sox Tuesday night.

Frank Bertaina, acquired from Baltimore in the recent Mike Epstein trade, posted his first victory for the Senators with relief help from Darold Knowles.

The key play of the game occurred in the sixth inning, when the Senators, leading 2-1, had runners on first and second with two out. Paul Casanova singled up the middle and center fielder Tommie Agee fired a strike home, nailing Epstein at the plate. The umpires, however, ruled third baseman Don Buford obstructed Epstein and the run was allowed.

Chicago's Tom McCraw slugged his seventh homer in the sixth, narrowing the gap, but Washington added another run in the seventh when Ed Stroud was hit by a pitch with two out, went all the way to third on a wild pitch and scored when second baseman Al Weis muffed Frank Howard's liner.

Dodgers Nip Braves 3-2 In 15 Innings

LOS ANGELES (AP) — John Roseboro drew a bases-loaded walk with two out in the 15th inning, giving Los Angeles a 3-2 victory over Atlanta Tuesday night that extended the Dodgers' winning string to four games.

Ron Hunt opened the 15th with a single off Claude Raymond, the third Atlanta pitcher, but was forced at second by Lou Johnson. Jim Lefebvre sent Johnson to third with a single and Al Ferrara fouled out before pinch hitter Ron Fairly was walked intentionally, filling the bases.

Rookie Bill Singer, the Dodgers' starting pitcher, allowed only four hits and struck out 14 before going out for a pinch hitter in the ninth. Braves' starter Denny Lemaster went 13 innings, yielding eight hits and fanning 12.

Trio Guides Chicago Over Pirates 5-3

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Chuck Hartenstein pitched 4 2-3 innings of scoreless relief while Ted Savage and Ron Santo cracked three hits apiece as the Chicago Cubs trimmed Pittsburgh 5-3 Tuesday night, snapping the Pirates' three-game winning streak.

Hartenstein, picking up his second major league victory, relieved Joe Niekro after the Chicago starter was touched for a three-run pinch homer by Don Clendenon. He stopped Pittsburgh on four hits the rest of the way.

Chicago built a 4-0 lead against loser Steve Blass in the first four innings and finished with 14 hits.

King And Court To Stage Softball Exhibition

The King and His Court, featuring the fantastic pitching of Eddie Feigner, will test a group of local softball players in a special softball exhibition at 8 p.m. Saturday at Jaycee Park.

Feigner, who appeared in Twin Falls about 10 years ago, is hailed as one of the outstanding pitchers of all time and he tours the country with a four-man team. His support includes a shortstop, second baseman and catcher.

Feigner specializes in throwing strikes blindfolded, behind his back and from second base. On his team will be Bill Kehrer, catcher; shortstop Dwayne Kamphius and first baseman Al Jackson.

Boston Uses Homers To Sink Yanks

NEW YORK (AP) — Joe Foy hit a grand slam homer in the fifth inning and Carl Yastrzemski followed with a bases-empty blast as the Boston Red Sox crushed the New York Yankees 7-1 Tuesday night behind the five-hit pitching of Gary Bell.

Bell and New York's Mel Stottlemyre were locked in a scoreless duel when Bob Tillman led off the fifth with a single. After a 54-minute rain delay, Stottlemyre walked Reggie Smith and Mike Andrews, filling the bases.

Foy then walloped his grand slam into the left field seats and Yastrzemski drove his 17th homer of the year against the upper deck facade in right.

HURLER SCRATCHED

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Juan Marichal was scratched as the San Francisco Giants' starter against Cincinnati Monday when he still complained of a pinched nerve in the back of his neck. Marichal has been out of action for a week.

Marichal Is First Hurler To Win 10

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Juan Marichal became the major leagues' first 10-game winner with a five-hitter Tuesday night in hurling the San Francisco Giants to a 5-1 victory over the slumping Cincinnati Reds.

Marichal, 10-5, was making his first start since missing one turn with a pinched nerve in the back of his neck. The victory was his first since June 3.

Loser Mel Queen, now 8-2, was given a 1-0 lead in the first inning on Vada Pinson's double and Tony Perez' single. But the Reds, who have lost four in a row, collected only three more hits the rest of the way.

Tigers Strike In Eighth To Edge Angels

DETROIT (AP) — Al Kaline and Jim Northrup slammed run-scoring doubles in the eighth inning, pulling the Detroit Tigers from behind to a 2-1 victory over the California Angels Tuesday night.

Woody Held had given the Angels a 1-0 lead in the fourth inning with a homer, his fourth, off Johnny Podres. Jack Hamilton protected it until he left with two on and one out in the seventh. Brunet came in and got pinch hitter Jim Price to hit into a double play.

Yanks Seeded For Net Meet

LONDON (AP) — For the first time in many years, no Americans were named to the seeded list of the men's singles of the Wimbledon Tennis Championships starting next Monday.

Manuel Santana of Spain and Mrs. Billie Jean King of Long Beach, Calif., the reigning champions, headed the seedings announced Tuesday. Nancy Richey of Dallas, Tex., was rated No. 5.

Threat Of Golf Boycott Ends As PGA And Touring Professionals Reach Agreement

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Professional Golf Association and the touring tournament players resolved their differences in a five-hour meeting Tuesday night that ended the immediate threat of a player boycott of the PGA Championship and the formation of a maverick tour.

After an earlier meeting had broken up in a stalemate with bitter words hurled by both sides, Max Elbin of Washington, D.C., the PGA president, called the 14-man Executive Committee and the four-man players tournament committee into another session and hammered out an agreement. The second meeting took close to two hours.

The essence of the peace settlement was this:

1—The tournament program is to be conducted by Jack Tuthill, with the designation of tournament director, with Billy Boole as assistant.

2—The television program will be arranged by the players committee, with Marty Carmichael in charge from New York.

3—The present tournament committee, which has been composed of four tournament players and three top PGA officials, will be expanded to include an eighth man, Harry Pezzullo of Northbrook, Ill. In case of a tie on policy matters, the matter will be referred to a three-man advisory committee yet to be named.

4—The players waived their demand that the PGA executive committee's veto power be eliminated.

"The threat of a boycott of the PGA Championship has been withdrawn and everybody has agreed to play," Elbin said.

"It's a good settlement—we are happy with it," said Doug Ford, a member of the players tournament committee.

The touring players had drawn up a seven-point petition demanding control of the $4.5 million tour and the elimination of the PGA executive committee's power of veto on policy matters.

They got the first and had to waive the second in the compromise which seems to have pleased both sides.

In giving Tuthill full control of the tour, the players were able to reduce the power of Bob Creasy, PGA Executive Director for the last 1½ years, to whom many of the competitors objected. Creasy, a former assistant labor secretary, remains in the PGA administration in another capacity. His chores will deal largely with PGA administrative matters not connected with the tour.

The players were forced to yield on the veto question but this seemed immaterial since the veto had only been imposed once in PGA history.

This came in the case of a proposal by Frank Sinatra for a $200,000 tournament in Palm Springs, Calif., two weeks prior to the traditional Bob Hope Classic. The players voted for the Sinatra tournament but the Executive committee vetoed it.

The PGA Championship now will have full player strength for the tournament at Denver July 20-24.

Such standout players as Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus, Bill Casper and Julius Boros were among those threatening to boycott the PGA Championship and, if necessary, set up a rival tour.

Four Youths To Swim Channel

DOVER, England (AP) — Four American boys, who plan to swim from France to England, gazed solemnly at the English Channel at Dover Tuesday.

They saw a westerly gale breaking giant waves against the harbor wall and knew they would not be able to make their attempt for at least 24 hours.

Yankees Sign No. 1 Choice

NEW YORK (AP) — Ron Blomberg, the No. 1 pick of the New York Yankees in the recent free agent baseball draft, signed with the American League club Tuesday for a reported $75,000 bonus.

Lee MacPhail, general manager of the Yankees, said the payment would be spread over two years, and that the hard-hitting youngster had been assigned to play with the Johnson City, Tenn., club in the rookie Appalachian League.

Maxvill And Cepeda Power Cards To Win

HOUSTON (AP) — Dal Maxvill broke a 2-2 tie with a run-producing triple in the seventh inning and Orlando Cepeda hit a three-run homer in the eighth as league-leading St. Louis beat Houston 6-2 Tuesday night.

Maxvill's triple, following Alex Johnson's infield hit, came off starter Bo Belinsky, 1-3. Cepeda's ninth homer came off reliever Jim Owens after singles by Julian Javier and Curt Flood.

Larry Jaster won his fourth game of the year against two defeats, but needed relief from Ron Willis in the ninth.

Matson To Concentrate On Shot Put In AAU Championships This Weekend

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Randy Matson, Texas A&M's mighty weightman, will concentrate on the shot at the National AAU meet in Bakersfield, Calif., Friday, leaving the discus for later, if at all.

Matson wants to pitch the 16-pound ball 70 feet so there'll be no question about it. He never has done it outside the state and he fears folks will start calling him a homer or something.

Randy set the world's record of 70 feet, 7¼ inches in 1965 at College Station. And he bettered that with a heave of 71 feet, 5¼ inches — also at College Station.

He has thrown the shot 70 feet or better seven times but all of those pitches were in Texas.

So Matson will pass up the discus so he can have a better chance of hitting 70 feet in the AAU.

He explains that the two events do not work together very well and if he tries both he may find they will be hampering each other.

"There's a different set of exercises for each," he explained. "If you don't watch you'll be using the technique of one for the other."

Did this mean Matson was abandoning the discus, in which he has thrown 213 feet, 9½ inches?

Matson hesitates to say he'll give it up, in fact, he expects to throw the discus some more this year. But he intimates he won't be working with it next year when he starts training for the Olympics.

"It may develop that I can't do both because they would be cutting me down so I might fail to win either in the Olympics," he declared.

HERE'S WHY YOU CAN COUNT ON SAFEWAY MEAT FOR MORE VALUE AND PERFECT EATING

...and why we are able to make our famous money-back guarantee

Every day, the meat cases at every Safeway store are stocked with top quality meats. All day long, as our customers make their selections, the displays are replenished with meats of the same fine quality. This is the only kind of meats we have—the best!!

When your reputation has been built on perfect-eating meats, you don't compromise methods that assure top quality. These are the reasons we know every cut will be right and why we can back every sale with our guarantee of complete satisfaction:

GUARANTEE

If ever a purchase of Safeway Meat fails to please for any reason whatsoever, just tell us. We will refund your money promptly, courteously. There's no need to return the meat.

SAFEWAY

USDA CHOICE BEEF & LAMB

(Only top grades, too, in pork and veal)

At Safeway, every steak, every chop, every roast of beef and lamb is of USDA Choice grade. This is meat graded by U.S. Department of Agriculture experts who judge strictly and impartially. USDA Choice is awarded only to meat that will deliver tender, juicy, flavorful cuts. It is the most popular grade of beef.

In order to feature lower prices, some other stores buy meat of lower grades. Some others mix USDA Choice and lower grades. Some coin fancy names for the lower grades they sell. But at Safeway every cut of beef and lamb is USDA Choice.

SPECIAL MEAT CARE

Our meat experts, using modern equipment and proven techniques, guard carefully the high quality of Safeway meats as they are transported and prepared for sale. Humidity and temperature are controlled to protect the tenderness, juiciness and flavor of each steak, chop and roast.

EXPERT MEAT CUTTING AND TRIMMING

Our method of trimming meat gives you more good eating meat on the table for your money, because excess fat and bone are cut off before the meat is weighed. In preparing meats for sale, we also make sure that each cut will be just right for its cooking method. The meat on every Safeway steak, for example, is all steak meat. The less tender end portion has been trimmed off to be sold at a lower price per pound. Similarly, a Safeway roast is roast meat.

P.S. You might think all this means that Safeway meats are expensive. Not so. Safeway meats are always reasonably priced and we have specials every week that offer additional money savings on selected popular cuts. Come in and check the values!

Detonation Of H-Bomb Speculated

TOKYO (AP) — Red China may have detonated its first hydrogen bomb from an altitude of from 18 to 31 miles up, indicating it was sent aloft by a missile, Japanese scientists and defense experts speculated today.

If this speculation is correct, it would be a shock to the West for it would mean that Red China has produced a hydrogen bomb small enough to be carried by a missile.

The scientific findings are based on reports from the Research Institute of Atmospherics of Nagoya University in central Japan and from posts of the telecommunications Ministry.

The sources said the institute reported an abnormal rise in radio wave recordings Saturday, the day of the test, waves of the type that often disturb radio communications. So did the government posts.

Radio communications ordinarily are affected mainly by sun spots which disturb the earth's wave-reflecting ionosphere about 100-200 miles high. Thunder and atmospheric conditions also sometimes affect radio communications.

Dr. Tetsuo Kamata, assistant professor of Nagoya's institute, reported that to the best of his knowledge there were no other abnormalities recorded that day. He calculated the Chinese blast took place from 18 to 31 miles high, informants said.

Church Rallies Are Scheduled

Pre-Crusade rallies for the Magic Valley Crusade, in conjunction with the Billy Graham Evangelistic Association will be held this week at different Magic Valley churches, announced Norman Garlington, chairman.

The rallies will be held at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Buhl First Church of the Nazarene; at 8 p.m. Thursday at the Jerome First Christian Church; at 8 p.m. Friday at the Gooding First Methodist Church; at 8 p.m. Saturday at the First Christian Church in the Burley-Rupert area, and at 8 p.m. Sunday at the Twin Falls City Park.

Mr. Garlington announced that most of the Twin Falls churches that are cooperating on the Crusade will dismiss their evening services for the rally.

Hindus Rely On Moslem Words To 'Cure' Children

By JOSEPH A. McGOWAN

MADRAS, India (AP)—Deep-seated differences between Hindus and Moslems have led to many bloody clashes on the subcontinent. But a mother's desperation to bring relief to a sick child often pushes aside these religious hatreds.

Here in South India it is common to see Hindu women carrying afflicted children crowd around a mosque waiting for Moslems to come out from their 6 o'clock evening prayers.

As the worshippers file past, the women ask them to "blow a couple of words" on the child. A Moslem then will mumble a verse or two from the holy Koran and then blow his breath on the child—a symbolic spraying of the little one with the words of the Holy Book.

Generally the children have chronic ailments and have been treated at the government's free hospitals or municipal dispensaries. Nonetheless, the mothers seek out a religious assist for the child.

There also are cases of Hindus who pay respect to Moslem saints. On Thursdays, eve of the Moslem sabbath, a few Hindus will join Moslem devotees at Moslem shrines, asking the saint for a boon, or thanking him for one received.

This does not indicate, however, that the dangerous tensions between the two religions are being forgotten or that the potential for a new bloodbath at any given time can be ignored.

Only recently Hindu and Moslem feelings boiled to the surface in a riot near Bombay.

Such incidents are played down by the responsible Indian press in hopes of preventing them from spreading. All India Radio, the government network, is under instruction NOT to mention communal riots or differences.

This is because of bitter experiences in the past when the report of a Hindu being attacked by Moslems in one village has touched off retaliation by Hindus against Moslems in other villages in widespread areas of the country.

Experts Work To Make Autos Safer For Toddlers

By ROGER DOUGHTY

NEW YORK (NEA) — More than 2,000 children will have their lives snuffed out this year without ever having had the chance to blow out five candles on their birthday cakes.

It's a grim thought, but just about a sure thing, according to the National Safety Council, which annually adds up the morbid statistics that once were the lives of children.

These youngsters, like the victims of some 20th - century plague, will die as a direct cause of motor vehicle accidents. In 1965, 2,100 children were killed before their fifth birthdays. Last year the number was 2,200. What will 1967 bring?

"It's impossible to make an accurate prediction," says a veteran New York law enforcement officer, "but last year's 5 per cent increase will probably be duplicated."

But figures, likely five per cent and 2,200 fatalities, don't mean much until they're translated into young lives.

While auto safety critic Ralph Nader did much to focus the spotlight of public indignation on the automotive industry with his book, "Unsafe at Any Speed," many of the safety precautions to come out of Detroit during the last year or so will have little effect on small children, most of whom will spend all of their traveling time in car seats or, worse still, the laps of adults. These children, for the most part unprotected by seat belts or other restraining devices, are in constant danger of becoming what the National Safety Council calls "car orbiters."

It's a catchy phrase, but car orbiters usually don't make soft landings. Even more than adults, children not properly tied down during an accident are in great danger of being buffeted about the interior of the car or thrown out of the vehicle by the force of the car's impact.

Car seats, so popular for transporting children on short hops and long hauls, can be especially dangerous and, instead of offering protection for youngsters, can often cause injury.

The type of car seat that hooks only over the seat on hangers causes the greatest danger, as the seats often tear loose during accidents, hurling children into dashboards, through windshields and windows and producing injury and death. Models with toy steering wheels compound the danger as the wheels are often driven into the faces and chests of occupants.

Some manufacturers, like Strolee of California, make an extreme effort to make their dealers and retail customers aware of the advisability of the safety benefits of more protective car seats.

As Herb Kronsberg of Strolee's New York office says, "There are some excellent car seats on the market. They feature braces that anchor the car seat to the seat of the vehicle and also provide straps that go up the back and fasten the car seat solidly to the seat of the vehicle. The problem, aside from a few extra dollars that a better product costs, lies in the fact that parents take one look at the extra safety straps and say, 'It's too complicated.' And, sadly, the salesman usually says, 'O.K., here's a less complicated model that just hooks over the seat.'

"What parents don't realize is that it takes just a few seconds to install the safer seat that could save a child's life. Some people still feel it isn't worth the trouble."

Television Used To Show Undersea World

By JOAN CROSBY

MONACO (NEA) — Outside, the Mediterranean was showing the rougher side of its nature, causing the Calypso to swing and sway in a manner appropriate to its name.

Inside, in a small cabin, hot lights are drying off those who got wet boarding the ship. They are television lights. There are also cameras and more people than the cabin can comfortably hold. The focal point is Jacques-Yves Cousteau, oceanographer, humanitarian, poet, scientist, humorist, romantic, showman.

The journalists questioning Capt. Cousteau are international. The interest in what he has to say is high. And you suddenly realize there is hope for television because that is what this is all about.

Can the medium be doomed to trivia when a network like ABC-TV pays $3.5 million for the domestic use of 12 hour-long films made as Cousteau and his crew explore the world's seas?

Over the next five years, if the "perpetual options" Cousteau mentions are picked up, he will continue to sail, explore and film.

Six episodes of The Undersea World of Jacques-Yves Cousteau are set for ABC-TV next season, with the first due to be telecast sometime after January, 1968.

It's a long and wearing journey, but Cousteau, vigorous and agile at 57, is looking forward to it with all the love he has for the sea. As he discusses the reasons for the undertaking, even the most hardbitten of the journalists is moved.

"Age goes on," he says with a wry smile, "and I find myself near the end of an active life. I have so many feelings. Before I become an old writer at the institute, I want to communicate to the public as much love for the sea as I can. I would like more people to know the possibilities that exist there. It is one of the great sources of love and intelligence. Television is the best means to convey the thoughts of a man obsessed with an idea."

The Calypso, formerly a minesweeper, is equipped with closed-circuit television. Permanent underwater cameras, recording much of what will be seen on television, are hooked to the closed circuit.

The most revolutionary part of the voyage, from a technical television point of view, will be Cousteau's attempt to edit the film show with a computer.

"The divers will dictate to the computer every single shot of film made. When we are editing a scene, the computer will be able to tell us what to use, and what is missing. Despite this, I have no particular affection for computers. Editors can add the human touch."

Cousteau and his crew have a commitment for 12 hours of edited film, but they will shoot 20 times that much. Which means editing by the usual manual means would be tremendously time-consuming.

Airline Aide Is Speaker For Chamber

The new MiniLiner is now in service, he said, giving round trip airline flights to Boise daily. The new plane will travel 240 miles per hour and reaches from 12,000 to 13,000 feet altitude between Burley and Boise. The crews will be staying overnight on Burley. The MiniLiner is a test for this area. In the five days the new flight has been in service 14 passengers have boarded the plane.

Mr. Cooper announced that the new MiniLiner will be dedicated at 8:40 a.m. Tuesday at the Burley airport.

Pete Korn, Cable-View manager, reported that in the Burley area most of the system has been rebuilt. To date $10,000 has been spent in new equipment. Some of the cable has been replaced and presently wire taps from the line in the alley to the homes are being replaced.

Glenn Simmons, Bureau of Reclamation, reported that 10,000 second feet of water are going through Milner Dam making Shoshone Falls attractive. The water will be running for about three days.

Don Chisholm reported that a Dairy tour will begin at 1:15 p.m. Monday leaving from the Burley Elks Hall. During the morning a display of dairy products may be viewed at the Elks hall.

It was reported that lights have been installed on the "Welcome to Burley" signs on the Interstate 80 highway, both east and west of Burley.

Flag Legislation To Reach Johnson Soon

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legislation making it a federal crime to desecrate the American flag may be on its way to President Johnson before Congress quits next week for the 4th of July recess.

The House today takes up the legislation today, with only a handful of votes expected against it, while plans in the Senate are to bring it to the floor after completion of debate on censure of Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn.

Both sides plan to use visual aids in the House. Supporters of the legislation say they will show billboard-size photographs of a recent flag-burning incident in New York's Central Park and of the historic flag-raising by Marines on Iwo Jima during World War II.

Opponents plan to display flag-decorated items such as beach towels, pillows and carrings in order to find out if a provision applying the bill to all representations of the flag would make it illegal too, for example, to lean against a pillow with a flag on it.

The major effort to amend the bill is expected to be made by its supporters from both parties who want to spell out more clearly that the bill is aimed only at those who mutilate, deface, defile, burn or trample on the flag with malicious intent.

The House Judiciary Committee, which approved the bill two weeks ago, defeated 18 to 13 an amendment by Rep. Edward G. Biester Jr., R-Pa., to clarify its intentions so it could not be applied against unintentional offenses against the flag.

The measure, which provides a maximum penalty of $1,000 fine and one year in prison, is intended to protect not only the flag but all representations of it, such as in paintings or on postage stamps.

Opponents of the legislation, led by Reps. John Conyers Jr., D-Mich., and Don Edwards, D-Calif., contend it is unconstitutional and is intended to infringe on dissent, particularly opposition to U.S. policy in Vietnam.

All 50 states already have laws directed at flag desecration, but the burning of a flag at an antiwar demonstration in New York in April has brought strong congressional pressure for federal legislation.

Impounded

SALT LAKE CITY, (AP) — There seemed to be something strange about the auto safety-inspection sticker on Ralph Billingsly's car.

Officer G. V. Maughan, who decided to make a closer check of the green windshield sticker, found it wasn't a safety sticker at all, but a block of green-colored trading stamps.

The auto was impounded.

ATTEND BANQUET

FILER — Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Knigge, Kenneth Rork, Loren Anderson and Merl Leonard attended the International Kiwanis Club banquet at Idaho Falls. The event was to honor International Kiwanis President, R. Glen Reed and Mrs. Reed, Marietta, Ga.

Probate Court

Kedrick E. Torrey was arraigned on a charge of assault and battery. He pleaded guilty to the charge, wherein it was alleged he committed a violent assault and injury on Alice DePew. He was found guilty and ordered to pay a fine of $200 and serve a 30-day jail sentence. On June 16, at a probate hearing, the remaining part of the sentence was suspended and the defendant was placed on probation for six months.

Paul Trustees Consider Taxi Application

PAUL — Paul village board trustees have taken under advisement an application by the Burley Cab Co. for a license to operate a taxi within Paul, as well as in Burley.

Larry Duff, village attorney, was appointed to check legal details after Joe Higley, representing the Cab company, met with board members.

Also meeting with the board was Max Herbold whose costs for water and sewer hook-ups for his warehouse now under construction were explained.

Dr. Jerry Ennis received a building permit for a new office building in the Brower Addition at a cost of $18,250; and a permit went to Richard Williams for construction of a new home in the Manning Addition, $13,500.

Village residents were warned that unleashed dogs will be picked up.

Frank Woods, board member in charge of the recreation program, noted that Little League baseball play got under way Monday, with seven village teams participating.

CAMP SLATED

SHOSHONE—Members of the local Assembly of God Church are making plans to attend the District Church Camp at Nampa June 26-July 4. The Rev. and Mrs. Wesley Johnson and family will attend.

HELP STAMP OUT BRIDGE INJUSTICE

One of the saddest results of bridge crimes is that there usually is an innocent victim.

North had a mighty good diamond bid and we have no quarrel with his jump to three clubs or his five-heart slam try.

	1 ♦	Pass	1 ♥
Pass	3 ♣	Pass	4 ♥
Pass	5 ♥	Pass	5 ♠
Pass	7 ♥	Pass	Pass

Opening lead—♠ J

Then we don't know exactly how South should have bid his hand. Probably he should merely have bid three hearts over three clubs and then bid four spades after his partner had raised hearts. A player who bids one heart and then jumps to four hearts really needs a better trump suit than seven to the ace-ten.

After North's bid of five hearts we felt that South should have bid six hearts and should not have invited a grand slam by his spade cue bid so we must charge South with an overbid. We also charge North. He had a right to expect a stronger heart suit in the South hand but there was no guarantee that there would be a side loser and you should not bid grand slams when there is any doubt about the outcome.

Anyway, North and South did get to seven with no play for it. Then East committed a real crime and South brought the contract home.

It didn't require any special skill on South's part except that South did not explode when he saw the dummy. Instead he won the spade lead with dummy's king and played the jack of hearts.

East covered with the queen. South played his ace, dropped the innocent victim's king and made his impossible grand slam.

East had no expectation of beating the contract. South had bid like a man with the ace and king of hearts at the head of a seven-card suit but people don't always have what they should and East should have played low.

CARD SENSE

Q—The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
		1 ♣	1 ♥
1 ♠	Pass	2 ♠	Pass
3 ♠	Pass	4 ♠	?

You, South, hold:
♠2 ♥A K J 7 ♦K 3 2 ♣A Q 10 5 4

What do you do now?

A—Double. Your opponents have not bid with any great confidence and things aren't going to break nicely for declarer.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Cleanliness And Diet Can Ease Skin Woes

For all too many teens "skin" is known sadly as the "battlefield." They poke, pick, pat and punish their flesh in an attempt to banish the facial ills of adolescence. Most of their guidance comes from drug store clerks or TV announcers. How sad, when the man to see is a doctor trained in the treatment of skin diseases, a dermatologist.

If you greatly magnify a patch of skin, you see a field dotted with foxholes. Each "foxhole" is a pore, an outlet for oil from the subsurface glands.

Since the pores are depressions in the skin, they collect dirt, cosmetics and bacteria like so many small wastebaskets. This accumulation aids in the formation of blackheads that plug up the oil outlets and may cause infections.

Basically, good skin care means keeping your skin clean. If you wash thoroughly three times a day (morning, afternoon and bedtime) with warm water, soap and your own wash cloth, your skin troubles will be kept at a minimum. A dimestore complexion brush can aid in this cleansing (but never scrub a reddened pimple). Be sure to finish with a final, cold water rinse.

FOODS MAY BE TO BLAME

In adolescense certain foods may trigger your oil glands to excessive oil production. If you're having skin problems, slice chocolate, iodized salt, soft drinks, ice cream, cheese and nuts from your diet.

Pimples have the darnedest habit of popping out on the afternoon of the Prom. Sometimes a warm wash cloth will help them open naturally. If not, you may use a little non-greasy cover-up preparation if you wash it off thoroughly before bedtime. Whatever you do, don't squeeze pimples! This bruises the skin, spreads the infection, and may produce scarring.

If soap and water don't banish your skin problems in several months of three-times-a-day washing, you'll need a dermatologist's examination to determine the correct prescription and case for your face. Turn a deaf ear to the smooth promises of TV miracle ointments. They merely add more oil to your already excess supply.

There's no reason for a boy to neglect skin care. If anything, he should be more thorough in his cleansing, since he works harder, gets dirtier and sweats more than his sister.

HAIR-SLICKUM BAD

A great contributor to male pimples is hair pomade or "greasy kid stuff" hair dressing. A guy plasters down his unruly locks with such a preparation. As the day proceeds, his body heat melts the goo and it trickles down his face plugging the pores and inviting skin trouble. It's best, therefore, to limit hair grooming to a light liquid oil or just water.

For girls there are skin hazards in their cosmetics. Cold creams are designed for adult women with dry skins. For adolescents, it's a case of drenching already overly-oiled face. To avoid skin ills, therefore, girls should steer clear of all greasy cosmetics and beauty ointments. Ordinary face powder usually is not harmful if removed completely with soap and water at bedtime.

Exposure to natural sunlight is good for the skin, if not overdone. With summer here, use common sense in timing your tanning. Nothing ages the skin faster than severe sunburn.

It's a common assumption that you just outgrow complexion ills as you leave your teens. Not so at all! Severe skin conditions may leave lifetime scars if not given proper treatment early. If your family physician can not recommend a dermatologist, you usually can find a reputable man by checking the yellow pages of the phone book under "Physicians and Surgeons, M.D.—Skin."

Skin trouble runs in the family. If your parents are marked from past sieges, you'll have to be especially alert to avoid duplicating their scars.

Scouts Earn Advancement In Minidoka

RUPERT — Boy Scouts and Explorers of the Minidoka District received rank advancements and merit badges in a court of honor held at the LDS stake center, under the direction of Garth G. Eames.

Heading the list of advancements was Melvin Ray Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray G. Smith, Rupert, who received the Eagle rank. He is a member of Explorer Post No. 153.

Emerson Ward, Troop 47, scoutmaster Art McClellan and assistant Dan Stapelman, saw Gregory Morgan receive the star rank and Thayne Hansen, Arlyn Morgan and Kim Anderson, second class. Receiving merit badges were Kent McClellan, Reed Dayton, Randy Moore, Lee Butterfield, Stanley Palmer, Kent Pincock, Gerald Anderson, Warren Harker and Reed Birch.

In troop 37, Heyburn Ward, with Robert D. Robinson as scoutmaster, Arel Sessions received the life rank and Steven McCardell was advanced to first class. Randy Stimpson received a merit badge.

Marvin L. Christenson of Heyburn Second Troop 48 advanced Kenneth Hardy, Gregory Lindh and David Bates to first class; Rodney Fairchild, Scott Baguley, Fred Greener and Russell Bair, second class; Doug Thomas and Joe Casillas, tenderfoot, and merit badges went to Brent Johnson, Randy Satchwell, Dean Bailey and Charles Bird.

Steve Platts and Wally Peterman, leaders in the Paul Ward, advanced Clay Handy to first class; Glen Straubhaar, second class, and gave merit badges to Rulon Merrill and Charles Edmondson.

Paul Second Ward, Troop 150, Roland Goff, scoutmaster, and Forrest Son, assistant, issued second class awards to Roger Egbert and Gary Goff, and first class to Deloy Albertson, Paul Robertson, Mike West and Edwin Wight.

David Badger received the bronze eagle palm for the Rupert Second Ward, with Gerald Hurst as scoutmaster and Delbert Buckley as assistant. Badges went to Kirk Buckley, Paul Condie, Dorian Duffin, James McBride and Sam Bush.

LaMar Loveland is scoutmaster for Troop 152, Rupert Fourth Ward, with Randy Babbitt as his assistant. David Coats, Robert Gleave, Rickie Malan and Loren Robinson received second class ranks, and Layne Rasmussen, Delayne Horn, Tom Clark and Steven Sunderland received merit badges.

Boy Mauled

NEWPORT, Wash. (AP) — Patrick Edwards, 15, Cusick, was listed as in "exceptionally good" condition Tuesday, with injuries suffered over the weekend when he was mauled by a bear.

Young Edwards told a game warden he was returning to the family farm near Cusick, after fishing, when he ran across the bear—"the biggest bear I ever saw"—on his path.

He said he climbed a tree, but the bear pulled him down.

Pentagon Halts Military Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — To cut spending, the Pentagon canceled Tuesday a big military maneuver scheduled for this summer.

Its announcement of the cancellation of Exercise Kitty Hawk said the week-long maneuver, set to begin Aug. 22, would have cost more than $20 million. The exercise was to have involved 70,000 regular Army, Navy, Marine and Air Force troops, National Guardsmen and Air Guardsmen and was planned for a maneuver ground of nearly six million acres near Ft. Bragg, N.C.

Winners Listed By Bridge Unit

JEROME — Jerome Duplicate Bridge Club met at the American Legion Hall with seven and a half tables for masterpoint play.

North and south winners were Mrs. L. L. Saunders and Mrs. M. Hogg, first; Mrs. H. C. Hall and Mrs. G. W. K Tilley, second, and Mrs. J. F. Feldhusen and Mrs. W. J. King third.

East and west winners were Mrs. W. C. Kays and Mrs. J. W. Towle, first; Mrs. M. V. Cook and Mrs. A. J. Lindemer, second, and Mrs. S. L. Thorpe and Mrs. C. H. Welteroth, third.

Next week play will resume at 1 p.m. at the Jerome Elks Club.

Military Things Are Streamlined

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lots of things military are being streamlined these days — even the time-honored Army General Orders which soldiers for years had to memorize before going on sentry duty.

The change could strike a note of nostalgia for millions of Army veterans but the change should be welcome to today's soldiers.

Starting Aug. 1, the Army will drop the 11 General Orders and substitute these three:

1. "I will guard everything within the limits of my post and quit my post only when properly relieved."

2. "I will obey my special orders and perform all my duties in a military manner."

3. "I will report violations of my special orders, emergencies, and anything not covered in my instructions, to the commander of the relief."

The General Orders have been part of Army life at least since 1882. A soldier then had to memorize 22 separate requirements. By 1893, the number of orders was reduced to 12. There was little change then for at least 40 years, until the 11 orders which are now passing into history became standard.

Draft Plan Is Sent To President

By ROBERT A. HUNT

WASHINGTON (AP) — With only token opposition, the House passed and sent to President Johnson Tuesday a revised draft plan which gives undergraduate college students deferments as a matter of right.

The 377-29 vote completed congressional action on a compromise version of the bill that the Senate passed last week. Although the measure omits several changes asked by a presidential study commission, Johnson is expected to sign it.

Existing authority for the military draft expires June 30 but the new legislation continues this until 1971.

The new act would permit President Johnson to put into effect his announced intention of placing the emphasis on induction of 19-year-olds. It has been on older men in the 19-26 age group.

This change in emphasis is not written into the new law but Congress made it clear that it favors the plan, which Johnson can put into effect by regulation.

The President would be prohibited from changing—as he suggested—the present selection method by using a national lottery system.

Valley Traffic Courts

Tommie Joe Millard, 31, Rupert, was fined $105 by Rupert Justice of the Peace Roy T. Archer for driving while his driver's license was suspended. He served a few days in jail and then his fine was paid and the jail sentence was suspended. His driving privileges were suspended also.

Fined by Judge Archer for speeding were Mark S. Warr, 17, Oakley, $10; Christie S. Donkin, 17, Burley, $20; Gilbert Chapa, 17, Rupert, $30; Steve D. Nelbauer, 16, Paul, $25.

Others fined by Judge Archer were Vernon C. Merz, 46, Heyburn, failure to yield the right of way, $10; Earl H. Haynes, Paul, failure to yield the right of way, $10; Ralph J. Johnson, 31, Burley, stop sign violation, $10; Ronald T. Anderson, 23, Burley, driving while license was suspended, $105; Theodore E. Aston, 50, Rupert, improper backing, $15.

Larry B. Williams, 18, Rupert, pleaded innocent to a charge of speeding and a hearing was set for June 23 by Judge Archer.

Billie Bennie Joe, 24, Rupert, is serving 21 days in jail in lieu of a $105 fine for drunk driving.

Judge Archer also fined E. Robin Haag, 18, Burley, $15 for a stop sign violation.

News Of Servicemen

Pfc. Curtis G. Hansen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alton Hansen, Burley, was named soldier of the month during May. He received the title for his camp at Ft. Campbell, Ky.

Private Hansen has now been assigned to an 11-week training program at Ft. Bucker, Alabama, where he will train as a crew chief on a helicopter.

Vern E. VanEvery, son of Mrs. Constance A. VanEvery, 906 Fourth St., Rupert, has been promoted to Airman 1c. in the U.S. Air Force. He is a weather observer at Kingsley Field, Ore., and a member of the Air Weather Service, which provides combat and peacetime weather service for U.S. flight activities.

Army Chaplain Capt. Monroe Osburn, whose wife, Beverly, lives at Route 1, Twin Falls, is a member of the 504th Military Police Battalion which recently earned the Meritorious Unit Commendation near Qui Nhon, Vietnam, for its outstanding performance of duties in connection with law enforcement, traffic control, convoy escorts and security missions throughout the Vietnamese II and III Corps tactical zones. It was the first military police battalion in Vietnam to earn the award.

Seaman Recruit Kenneth N. Warr, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Warr, Route 1, Murtaugh, is undergoing nine weeks of basic training at the Naval Training Center, San Diego, Calif.

Pvt. James D. Cantrell, 20, son of Mrs. Lillie Cantrell, 1311 Oriental Ave., Burley, recently completed a 10-week engineer equipment repair course at the Army Engineer School, Ft. Belvoir, Va.

Airman 2c. Larry R. Casper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rex L. Casper, 1031 Almo Ave., Burley, was recently graduated from the training course for U.S. Air Force telecommunications specialists at Keesler Air Force Base, Miss. He has been assigned to Siegelbach, Germany, for duty with the Air Force Communications Service.

Six Men Escape During Blaze

KELLOGG, Idaho (AP) — Six men escaped unhurt from a burning industrial building Tuesday afternoon, after they were trapped for a time on the upper floors of the structure.

They climbed down the core of the building.

Wage Dispute Continues In Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — Nearly a third of the 2,668 policemen on patrol beats in Detroit were off the job Tuesday in a continuing dispute over wages.

Many had called in ill, while others were under suspension. By midmorning 763 of the men assigned to scout car duty or walking beats were absent.

The city's police force numbers more than 4,000 but some departments such as the detective bureau were not involved in the absence from work.

The police union demands a top pay of $10,000 year. The top is now $8,335 in the fifth year of service. City officials say the budget doesn't permit any more money.

Soviets Recall Technicians From Indonesia

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — The Soviet Union has recalled most of its technicians from Indonesia, deepening the chill in relations between the two nations which began with the crackdown on Indonesian Communists in 1965.

The move leaves a number of uncompleted Soviet projects including a giant steel mill outside Jakarta, a hydroelectric works in norther Sumatra and a fertilizer plant in Java.

Your Guide To Home Improvement . . .

Tile Has Decorating Uses Today

Three or four decades ago, ceramic tile was limited to the bathroom.

Not so today. Improvements in size, color, shape and quality have allowed ceramic tile to break the "bathroom barrier," for use in many areas of the home.

Domestic tiles are now manufactured in the entire prismatic spectrum of colors, with more than a thousand shades to choose from, says the Tile Council of America.

These concave-convex tiles are ideal for decorative walls, planters, room dividers, fireplaces, garden walls and facades. They can be used to form an over-all pattern, a single or repeated design, or as random inserts with smooth-surfaced tiles.

Other choices include tiles with smooth, flat surfaces and tiles that are unglazed, bright-glazed, matt-glazed and extra-duty glazed, the latter for floors as well as walls.

And there are tiles that are square, rectangular, hexagonal, octagonal, irregular and in special contour designs ranging in size from one-half inch to 12 inches square.

New Trend In Kitchens Listed

The newest trend in kitchen design is locating the basic work center in an island in the middle of the room, the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau reports.

This includes the sink, dishwasher, food waste disposer and generous counter space. The range, refrigerator and more counters are located on the sink side of the island, and a dining area on the other. Over-the-sink cabinets—open—both front and back.

LESS THAN $100 transforms the laundry area into a cheerful and pleasant working room. This young couple did all the physical work required to make their remodeled laundry room into a literal showcase—including covering screen, painting walls, laying floor tile and installing dropped ceiling.

Put Your Taste Into Plans

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Big indoor projects are underway. Those who want to avoid the crying towel had better inject their own taste into the plans.

It matters not whether the plan maker is husband, architect, interior designer, carpenter or builder. Objections should be made before it is too late.

The only reason one should be utterly dependent on experts is that one lacks the background to make decisions. But one can still have opinions.

You can build awareness by reading good books on architecture and decorating, by visiting museums and important homes. Pass on your thoughts and see what happens.

Nobody digs him. There doesn't seem to be any point to what he does. It can't be called eclectic or far-out. He just isn't with it. But he has traded on his name a long time.

Some interior designers still work on the "this color is in" or "this furniture style is in" idea. But no color or style is "in" with you, unless you like it.

If a couple will never have books or bibelots, the architect should be told before he puts in shelves and niches all over a room. If they dislike blue, they should tell their decorator.

One homemaker points out that her happy relationship with her kitchen ceased when she changed the color scheme from yellow to blue at her interior designer's suggestion. It is so dreary, she can't bear it. But she can't correct the look with a coat of paint.

A woman painted a bedroom a lively pumpkin shade, a far-out idea in her area. Result: Her husband refuses to sleep in it. The decorator said he'd be surprised. He was.

For example, one man walked around the framing of his new house and suggested that the dining room was too large for their needs, but, that he could use some of the area as a place to work. At the finish line, the dining room is just big enough to squeeze into and the other room will just about hold a desk, chair and a couple of book shelves.

The man was thinking in terms of a den — day bed, bookshelves, desk and so on, but he neglected to tell the architect, who could have advised him that he was over-estimating the space.

People are intimidated by interior designers, but shouldn't be. Good decorators believe their function should be one of coordinating objects and materials that a client likes. The challenge is to fit it into a home. This may mean livening up an old Victorian sofa with polka dots or striped fabric. It could mean softening a contemporary piece of furniture with velvet.

A good decorator seldom suggests discarding worthwhile furnishings. The home owner often does this on her own, following the neighborhood piper who has "everything new."

One can see beautiful old furnishings being sacrificed at barn tag sales. The shocker is to enter the house and see some of the horrible new stuff the owner has chosen for her surroundings.

There is available a good deal of contemporary furniture and accessories. It is a pity that people go haywire when they decide to switch to modern furnishings.

Avoid Dust When Putting On Varnish

Forget about using varnish if you can't do it in a room where no one is walking around while you are working.

Varnish is especially susceptible to dust — and even ordinary walking stirs up dust, although it may be almost invisible to you. This dust settles on the varnished surface while you are applying it or while the finishing material is drying.

Some professional wood finishers keep an ordinary wooden toothpick handy, so that if they spot a bit of dust on the surface, they can quickly pick it up with the end of the toothpick. The newly-applied varnish immediately closes in to fill up the tiny hole left by the toothpick.

Paneling Lower Walls Creates Elegant Look

When it's time to redecorate, there's one thing that can inject a totally new look into any room in the house, add a touch of elegance, and give you serviceable, easy-to-care-for wall covering. It's wainscoting, or half-wall paneling.

This technique of paneling the lower half of the walls (to about chairtop height) can be found in many old homes — particularly in the dining room — but it is equally adaptable to contemporary houses.

In living rooms and bedrooms, it blends beautifully with high-style decor. In heavy-traffic areas like the halls or stairways, it gives effective wall protection. With an easy-to-install woodgrain paneling like hardboard, wainscoting is a fairly simple remodeling project.

The four-by-eight-foot sheets in which the paneling comes can be cut to wainscot height by sawing the panels across the middle to form four-by-four sheets.

This is for installing wainscoting on a regular wall. You'll have to trim to size if you are installing the paneling on the wall of a stairwell.

To install, use a special adhesive that will cement the paneling firmly to most wall surfaces. Or nail it to furring strips attached to the existing wall.

You can get panels prefinished in a variety of good-looking woodgrain, patterned or textured surfaces, with matching moldings, nails and putty. If you prefer to do the finishing yourself, get unfinished hardboard which requires no sanding before paint, varnish, stain or shellac is applied.

Living and Dining Rooms — woodgrain paneling is ideal here because it picks up the warm wood tone of the furniture and makes an elegant backdrop for today's richly-textured upholstery. In accent areas, you might try a wainscot of the filigree painted white or gold.

Hallways, Stairways, Family Rooms, Playrooms and Basement Recreation Rooms—wainscoting is serviceable in these areas because it prevents damage to the walls caused by slamming doors, ramming with children's wagons and bicycles, and bubby fingermarks.

It won't dent or scratch and can be wiped clean with a damp cloth. Pick a "casual" surface such as simulated wicker, cane or burlap, available in embossed paneling, for added visual interest.

Kitchens and Baths — simulated tile or pastel colored paneling with a plastic finish is most appropriate. The finish resists heat, moisture and dirt and can be damp-washed clean.

Bathrooms Boom With Innovations

Today's bathroom has traveled a long way from that Saturday night scrub in a portable kitchen tub that was about all a bath meant to most Americans at the turn of the century.

The building boom of the twenties established the ceramic tile bathroom as an essential of the house. Then the single bath in the home became two, and at present it's two and a half, three or more.

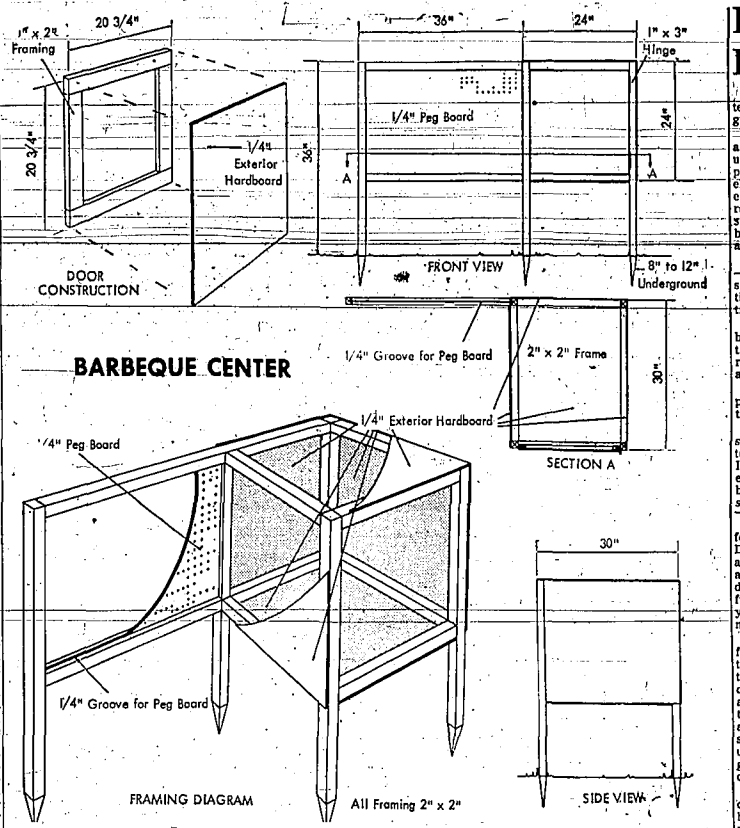
Even the size of the bath is changing. Standard for some 40 years, the five by seven-foot bath is bursting its dimensions into compartmented units of great variety. Showers, at first joined to the tub in cooperative life, now frequently stand in their own enclosures.

The traditional white ceramic tile of the '20s — four and a quarter inch-square wall tiles and small hexagonals on the floor — has largely disappeared in a colorful profusion of new tile shapes, sizes and textures. Bright colors, muted colors, glazed, unglazed, patterned, sculptured, square, rectangular and irregularly shaped tiles are available to meet any bathroom decorating scheme.

New ideas for the bath are not changing size and decor but even function. Appliances already on the market can turn a tub into a therapeutic whirlpool-and-a-shower into a steam room. Saunas, laundry corners, built-in hair dryers, dressing compartments, sun decks, gardens and gymnasiums are all part of the bathroom complex in some of today's homes.

The master bathroom, children's bathroom, guest bathroom, is becoming as essential to new homes as that single five by seven-foot room was in the '20s. Even a single bathroom is diversified in the modern trend. "His" and "her" towels have long since been joined by "his" and "her" wash basins. Now "his" and "her" extends to dressing rooms and even showers and tubs.

Other developments are unquestionably on the way. A recent Cornell University study on "The Bathroom" called for a revolution in bathroom design. That Saturday night tub scrub has gone through quite a revolution already.



YOU'LL HAVE LOT MORE fun cooking and dining with a barbecue center you've made yourself. The center is a combination storage cabinet and wall on which to hang utensils, stacks of dishes, cups and saucers, as well as a place for charcoal, starter fluid, etc. It has stake-shaped legs which can be anchored into turf while in use.

Carpet Goes In Basement

Basement areas can often be converted into family room or other uses, with a minimum of remodeling. Paneling quickly transforms walls and ceilings. For floors, the solution could be: Carpet them!

Modern developments make carpeting both a speedy and practical answer for basement floor covering needs. New indoor-outdoor carpeting resists moisture, mildew, stains, and won't shrink or fade.

This type of carpeting is highly wear-resistant and is easy to clean. It can even be installed on porch or patio, or at poolside as well.

For basement floors, the carpet can be laid directly over concrete. However, a latex foam rubber underlay will provide additional cushioning and insulation.

The carpeting used for basements is closely tufted and often has a dense, low pile. Thus, the latex foam underlay may be needed if deep-cushioned comfort underfoot is desired. Or, some carpets are available with a high-density latex foam backing.

No special treatment is necessary before putting down basement carpeting. Major holes must be patched, but minor blemishes can simply be covered and hidden.

Update That Bathroom! Enjoy More Convenience

Bathrooms rank high on the list of most wanted — and needed — home improvement projects. According to the trade publication, Building Supply News, 16.5 million bathrooms in the United States are badly outmoded, too small and inconvenient.

If cost is inhibiting your immediate plans for bathroom modernization, the editors remind you that the bathroom demands consideration because it can do so much to improve the home and increase the family's comfort.

What's more, says the magazine, a wide variety of new plumbing fixtures, accessories and materials that are both decorative and utilitarian, allow you to choose features that will suit your budget as well as your taste.

The three major disadvantages of older bathrooms are lack of privacy, space and modern convenience features. The tendency toward larger families means that one bathroom per house is simply not enough. Most families require at least an additional powder room.

If you can't manage a second bathroom yet, there are some things you can do to make present quarters more serviceable, comfortable and attractive.

Compartmentalization is one solution to the daily bathroom traffic tie-up. It can be achieved by closing off the lavatory area from the rest of the room with a partition, thus permitting two people to use the bathroom at the same time. The room can also serve double-duty if you add a second sink or install a new double-lavatory unit.

Since the bathroom takes hard, daily abuse, it should have facilities, walls and floors that are easy to clean. This is no problem if you select the right materials. Plastic-coated wall paneling that resists heat and humidity is inexpensive, sponges clean, and gives the room a warm, unusually good - looking decor.

If you decide to paint, use a washable enamel finish and get away from the traditional white, pink or blue shades with interesting new combinations of browns, yellows or greens. In addition to floor tiles, there are now many vinyl flooring materials that offer beauty and low-maintenance.

New fixtures make a big difference in bathroom remodeling. Don't choose them hastily. Take a look at the wide variety available at local building supply dealers, many of whom feature full bathroom displays to give you sound and interesting remodeling ideas.

It pays to get good quality fixtures and facilities that can take daily use. The trend now is towards wall-hung toilets because it's easier to clean under and around them, built-in vanities, and round or oval lavatories with adjacent counter-space. Colored fixtures are popular, and single-handle faucets get the nod because of their convenience.

There are also a host of accessories that will update your bathroom. These range from practical double medicine cabinets, which give you twice the storage space and mirror area, to pretty matched tissue holders and waste paper baskets.

Where cost is no problem, bathrooms can go exotic with sunken tubs, water - resistant murals and built-in sun lamps.

Exterior Panels Move In To Brighten Interiors

This comes as something of a surprise to the plywood manufacturer because they didn't plan it that way. Exterior panels such as Texture One-Eleven, reverse board and batten, rough or brushed cedar and striated panels were meant to be just that — attractive, durable exterior siding.

But builders and architects — even homeowners themselves — decided these attractive sidings were just as attractive inside today's homes.

The reasoning behind this is sound in view of today's trend toward casual carefree living. In addition, these panels are easy to install, inexpensive to buy, and their rugged surfaces stand up well in home areas where children live and play.

When panels do not have lapped edges, they are merely butted together to form an attractive wall surface. Installation on studs or over existing walls is speedy and easy.

Hardboard Gives Home New Look

When a look around home shows that the place isn't what it used to be, it's time for a second look. Buying a new home may not be desirable or practical — but making the present home look new again is both.

Rejuvenating home appearance and comfort becomes an easy accomplishment with the help of a little imagination and modern hardboard paneling.

Hardboard paneling to suit any particular job is available in various thicknesses, and in four-by-eight-foot sheets which can be nailed to furring strips or cemented to the existing wall. The sheets are lightweight for easy handling and can be worked with ordinary carpentry tools without risk of denting, splintering or cracking.

—Living room. For the warmth of paneled wood, select a walnut, cherry, teak, or oak finish. For a really unusual effect, install rugged-looking hardwood ceiling "timbers" that fold into a beam shape and are easily attached to furring strips.

Or use highly ornamental filigree hardboard with an airy cloverleaf or diamond design. It's perfect for wall accents or as screens that partition the dining area from a living room or hallway.

Playroom and workrooms. Perforated hardboard paneling has a special use here. When fitted with hooks, it can be used for storage walls from which to hang shelves, sports equipment, tools and playthings.

Kitchens. Vinyl-surfaced paneling, which can be damp-wiped clean, is both practical and attractive. A pleasant effect can be achieved by duplicating the wood-tone of the cabinets in wood-grained wall panels.

STOW 'EM ON THE WALL when lack of space in a vacation home poses a cluttered quandry for the woman of the house. Because they're smaller and more casual, vacation homes are often plagued by a clutter problem, which is easily solved here with use of perforated hardboard. Other types of hardboard panelings, from wood-grained to plastic-coated finishes, are ideal for any room in a second home.

Baths Better Equipped And Bigger

Instead of a small free-standing lavatory, the bathroom is more likely to have a twin-bowl countertop lavatory with lots of storage space beneath. Spray attachments are growing in popularity too. The newest models have a long-lasting flexible steel hose.

Another trend is to more bathrooms and powder rooms per home. Few homes being built today have only one bathroom; and many families with older homes are adding a second or third bath in closets, stair wells, pantries, closed-in porches, basements and attics. Since space is limited, they often settle for more compact bath additions in the interest of alleviating the rush-hour traffic jam.

If you're thinking of remodeling or adding a bathroom, you'll find a booklet containing 34 bathroom arrangements highly useful. Designs range from elaborate, compartmentized arrangements to extremely compact ones with corner installation of the water closet or lavatory and receptor tubs with showers instead of bigger tubs.

JEWELED TRIM is reportedly the latest in bath decor. Moen offers "Pompadour," top; "Classic Cameo," bottom, or the sculptured grace of "Cavalier Rose." The fixtures include shower arm trim and tub spout, as well as handle cap for shower and tub and shower sets.

Make Family Room From Sun Porch

A more informal decorating theme can be followed in the renovated sun porch to blend comfort and good looks. A spacious family room, with plenty of natural light, is ideal for informal entertaining throughout the year.

An important point to consider when redecorating a sun porch is easy maintenance, since it is an area of the house that usually receives very hard wear. One way to create a handsome woodgrain decor that can be washed is to install plastic - finished planks right over the old wall surfaces.

Resistant to heat and moisture, the planks have a baked finish that can be damp-wiped clean. The 16-inch by 8-inch planks are secured with wallboard adhesive and metal clips.

The planks have tongue-and-groove edges to simplify fittings. This informal woodgrain decor blends well with many types of furnishings. It is especially effective with an Early American theme.

If a new ceiling is to be installed, a similar plastic-finished product comes in 16-inch square blocks that can be put up with an adhesive.

USE SANDPAPER

Safety Tips For Do-It-Yourselfer Who Makes Use Of Power Tools Listed

By DOROTHEA M. BROOKS

NEW YORK (UPI) — Power tools for do-it-yourself projects can spell danger — especially to those many homeowners who have little experience with them.

Realizing the problem, manufacturers of power tools have designed many safety features into their equipment, and they go to great lengths to stress safety to users.

However, no matter how stringent the precautions, home workshops by their nature are potentially dangerous places. As home workshops grow in number, and contain newer and more powerful equipment, many are beginning to rival professional shops.

The professional, his skill notwithstanding, makes safety a routine. The do-it-yourself should help balance his lack of knowhow and experience with even greater attention to safety.

Dr. John Henderson, corporate director of medical affairs for Johnson & Johnson, and an authority on first aid, offers some suggestions for the home workshop.

—Always ground electrical equipment before using. This is the most effective way of preventing injuries from electrical current.

—Many power tools come with built-in safety devices such as guards over saw blades. Always keep these devices well oiled and in proper working order. Never force these guards into a position away from the blades in the belief it will make the work easier.

—Always use a pusher when operating a rip say if there is the slightest doubt about finger clearance. Also, never try to saw a blade by forcing a piece of wood against it.

—Never wear a necktie or loose-fitting clothes when working with power tools.

—Most important of all, concentrate on what you are doing.

When an accident does occur, Henderson advises, it is essential to treat injuries promptly and properly. He offers these tips:

—On superficial wounds such as cuts, scrapes and scratches, cleanse with sterile gauze pads or cotton balls, soap and warm water, then rinse in running water. Dry, and apply an antiseptic first aid cream. Dress with an appropriate bandage.

—For deep or extensive injuries, control bleeding with firm pressure on the wound. Apply dressing and get medical aid quickly. For wounds in which sand, glass, metal, wood or other foreign bodies are imbedded, do not attempt to remove any except those that come off easily. Cover with gauze and get medical aid.

—For a puncture wound — common in a workshop situation —encourage bleeding by applying pressure around the wound. Rinse it in clear water, bandage and get a doctor.

—Injuries will sometimes cause the victim to go into shock. Shock is characterized by weakness, paleness, cool and clammy skin, and rapid, shallow breathings. If shock occurs, act fast: keep the victim lying down, wrap him in blankets to conserve body heat and give him fluids. Get medical aid as soon as possible.

Masking Tape Makes Your Painting Faster And Neater

To paint or decorate without masking tape on hand is to start a job without an important tool. Its lack will add hours to the project and make the results far less satisfactory than they might have been.

Masking tape is a special paper tape that is self-adhesive, sticking—with very little pressure, and which peels off easily. It leaves no residue.

Sizes most widely available are three-quarter-inch, one-inch and one-and-one-half-inch. Narrower tape can be found but you can make narrow strips yourself by slitting the tape lengthwise with a razor blade, an easy task.

Masking tape is used to protect adjoining surfaces while painting. If the surface is a large one, use the tape to hold sheets of paper in place. Run the tape along the edge, half on the paper, half against the surface you are covering.

When painting window frames apply the tape along the pane right up to the edge of the wood surface you are painting. The smears that would result from getting the brush up close to the glass will be on the tape instead. Peeling off the tape is easier than cleaning the dirty glass.

Masking tape is invaluable in areas where two surfaces meet —wall and ceiling, corners and so on. Your brush or roller can overlap the tape without worrying about the consequences.

Do not, however, purposely smear the tape with excess paint. Too much solvent soaking through the tape may affect the adhesive, cause discoloration.

Ever wonder how narrow stripes are painted so neatly? It's done with masking tape, and remember this when it is time to re-paint the children's bikes, wagons and other toys.

Paint the surface the color of the stripe first. Then, after the paint has dried hard, apply tape the width of the stripe you want. Then paint the entire surface again, this time with the background color. When you remove the tape you will have perfectly formed stripes.

Using masking tape is not difficult, but using it with success is a little bit more than slapping it on and tearing it off.

Surfaces should be clean and dry. There should be no grease, dirt or wax. If you are uncertain of the condition of the surface, wash with detergent or wipe with paint thinner.

Use only slight pressure when applying. Make certain it is in total contact, but do not press heavily. Pull the tape to keep it straight, but do not stretch it.

Be careful of surfaces that might be damaged by the adhesive — wallpaper, wallboard, cardboard. Try out the tape in an inconspicuous corner first.

Do not wait too long before peeling off the tape. Remove when paint has set. It can still be tacky, so long as it is not sagging or running.

Leaving the tape on too long, several days for instance, can be bad. If the paint becomes too brittle lifting the tape may lift part of the paint along its edge, leaving a rough line behind.

Ways Listed For Utilizing Small Space

The cramped corner, that hard-to-furnish niche, becomes useful floor space and a design focal point with built-in units that mix style and functionality.

A wide, ceiling-high cove presented a remodeler with a stiff challenge in a kitchen-family room area. Distant from the kitchen work center and visible from the well-decorated family-leisure room, the niche had been an unused, barren wall area.

With a minimum of basic construction, a dry-wall soffit was lowered from the ceiling and the built-in unit installed, creating a desk - storage - communications center, featuring a handy extension telephone and house-wide AM-FM radio intercom system.

Designed to withstand the abuse of a growing family as well as provide lasting decorative beauty, the entire unit was surfaced with laminated plastic.

Household records, recipes and family paperwork are stored conveniently in the 12 spacious drawers, while larger items are kept out of sight behind closed doors.

Slice Logs For Patio, Garden Walks

Thanks to the chain saw, which has started to catch on with suburbanites, a garden or patio walk with a distinctive flavor can now be made with wooden disks cut from the end of a log. Here's how:

After selecting a good log to slice, lodge it firmly and horizontally on supports. Mark the planed cuts with chalk about four inches apart. Yank the starter cord on the saw, slice the disks as you would bologna, and let the chips fall where they may.

For variation in the size of the slabs, especially if you are working on a patio floor, cut the disks from logs of varying sizes. You can slice limbs to get those smaller disks needed to fill the spaces between the larger slices.

Whenever you are placing the slabs, prepare a gravel bed at least four inches deep for drainage. To keep the disks from rocking or sliding, cover the entire surface with sand and hose it down gently, letting the sand settle between the stones and in the spaces between the disks.

Always be sure the saw chain is sharp. Some saws now are available with self-sharpening chains.

Quality In Bath Fixtures Is Important

Surveys show that remodeling or adding a new bathroom are among the top five home modernization jobs planned by homeowners this year.

If you're planning a new bathroom, it's wise to remember that it pays to buy quality fixtures. They get a lot of hard use, and you'll want your new bathroom to last a lifetime.

The best fixtures retain their luster and are easy to keep clean. The top quality water closet is the siphon jet, which has a strong flushing action and is quiet at the same time.

A lavatory bowl of generous size doesn't cost too much more than a small one but its added convenience is great. If you have tall people in your family or enjoy luxuriating in a long soak, it will be worth your while to get a tub that's a little longer and deeper than the "average."

More and more homeowners are including a bidet in their new bathrooms, having been exposed to this hygienic device in their European travels.

Remodeling Of Bathrooms Made Easy

Have you been putting off bathroom modernization because you just can't face the mess and confusion you expect will come with it?

If so, you can forget such potential headaches by having the total remodeling job handled by one qualified plumbing contractor, the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau points out.

It used to be that you had to deal with half a dozen trades to get a new bathroom—tile setter, carpenter, electrician, plumber and so on. And you yourself had to serve as sort of general contractor, getting bids from each trade, scheduling their coming and going and paying them separately.

Not any more. Many contractors now specialize in one-stop remodeling. They assume responsibility for the whole job from delivering sketches to having the work done by their own employes or subcontractors. They even arrange your financing for you.

A contractor who specializes in remodeling will have a showroom where his products can be seen in natural settings, and he'll have a remodeling specialist on his staff to help you plan your new bathroom.

Most remodeling contractors are busy. This is to your advantage because it means they're highly experienced. They'll also schedule their men and materials carefully, and will be in and out of your home in about a week. Then the whole family can enjoy the beauty and convenience of your new bathroom.

If you don't already have a plumbing contractor, check the classified ads of your telephone directory for the names of contractors who are members of the local chapter of the National Association of Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Contractors. This national organization is the oldest one in the building trades and has affiliates in all states and most communities. It has an identifying seal with the motto "we sell, install, service and guarantee."

Pink Favorite

In the last 10 years, pink has led every survey made on bathroom fixture color preferences. According to the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau, nearly 24 per cent of middle-income homemakers surveyed recently said they like pink.

Yellow, blue and tan came next with around 13 per cent each, followed by green at 11 per cent. Slightly over half the women prefer some color to white.

CHAOTIC GARAGE scenes like the one above are transformed through use of prefinished patterned peg-board on which heavy, as well as light storage items are hung neatly within reach, but out of the way. The factory-finished panels have a pattern like monk's cloth, require no painting and are kept clean by occasional damp-wiping. The heavy-duty panels and fixtures are available at lumber and building materials dealers.

Paneling Enhances All Parts Of House

By DOROTHEA M. BROOKS

NEW YORK (UPI)—A rumpus room, its four walls covered neatly with knotty pine, is a fine thing to have in a home: useful, attractive, easy-to-maintain—but it isn't a feature that will help sell the house, and it isn't the most exciting use of paneling.

That paneled playroom, as any family which has shopped the market knows, will help sell a home about as effectively as a spare tire will bring a good price for a second-hand car.

On the other hand, more imaginative use of the wide variety of pre-finished panelings available to homeowners today, may enhance the livability and appearance of a home and increase its value as well, according to Del Mear, decorative consultant to the Wickes Corp., operator of a chain of one-stop supermarkets for building materials.

Mear and the Wickes Corp., working with Jones Veneer and Plywood Co., have come up with a host of home improvement tips involving pre-finished paneling. Mear points out that, too often, families regard paneling as a self-sufficient material which, when applied to all four walls, will make a room outstanding in decor. Such is not necessarily the case, he said. "Color, texture, durability and accents are the things which make stunning residences."

Consider, for instance, Mear said, a family kitchen with a cozy dining area and the paneling possibilities it presents.

"Having matched the wood finish of kitchen cabinets and dinette table with captain's chairs, select a matching or contrasting wood in pre-finished paneling. Panel all vacant walls to chair-rail height, add a chair-rail of matching trim and top it off with a lively wallpaper.

"If the dining area of the family kitchen occupies a corner distinct from the food preparation area, separate it with paneling. This means papering most of the walls or covering them with ceramic tile of an attractive, but not dominant color.

Then panel from floor to ceiling the two sections of wall immediately surrounding the eating area. An attractive rustic chandelier over the table will complete the picture."

PROTECTING EDGES

Trend Rises For Extra Bathrooms

FHA mortgage statistics show that about 70 per cent of new homes are being built with two bathrooms. The figures on existing homes aren't as precise, but it is estimated that about 26 per cent of them now have two bathrooms. The word "now" is important, since most of these houses had the second bathrooms added long after they were constructed.

This trend for extra bathrooms has been expecially noticeable in the last two years. And the vice president of one company manufacturing plumbingware believes that new home builders may make a bathroom for every bedroom an industry standard by 1970.

The official, Charles Myers, further predicts that within a year or two, the number of new homes being built equipped with three or more bathrooms will exceed those equipped only with one.

There are several reasons for the trend. First is the changing attitude of the public as young people become home owners after learning the new concepts of personal hygiene being taught in schools.

Another reason is that home owners are demanding more and more "extra" which give them a feeling of luxury living. This, in turn, is reflected in an increasing awareness by architects and builders of the sales advantages of homes with more bathrooms.

Myers points out that not so many years ago it was considered somewhat ridiculous for a plumbing manufacturer to have a research and development department. This is no longer true.

The various manufacturers compete to turn out better materials and better designs so that architects and interior designers can create bathrooms with more variety than those of the past.

Which Siding?

Selection of a new siding for the home should include consideration of cost, appearance, protection, durability and home value.

While initial cost is a big factor, the question of future maintenance expense should also be studied.

For attractive appearance, the decision may depend on personal preference, architectural style of the home, type of sidings used on neighboring homes.

A siding that meets these standards will, usually, also increase home value.

Vinyl Wallpaper Takes Hard Wear

For heavy duty areas such as baths or kitchens where heat and steam may be big factors, vinyl wallpapers are a wise choice.

These papers are especially designed to look better for longer under adverse conditions. Because of their rugged qualities, they can be scrubbed for spot cleaning without going over the entire wall or ceiling areas.

Local wallpaper stores and departments carry selections of vinyl papers in handsome color and pattern combinations.

Pool Design Should Blend With Terrain

This includes only the permanent, in-the-ground type, as contrasted with additional thousands of pre-fabricated and above-ground pools.

Add the neighborhood swim clubs, apartment, motel, country club, school and other permanent pools, and the total soars to more than 700,000 for a splash-happy populace.

Because there are 65 times as many permanent pools as there were in 1948 and because of the scientific explosion, Aquatech corporation was formed five years ago to keep its 17 member companies throughout the nation abreast of developments.

All are designers and builders of permanent pools. The president of the corporation, Edward P. Wagner, offers some advice to prospective pool owners.

"Whether for a private residential pool or a larger installation at a neighborhood swim club, a school, or public park, Wagner says, "design should complement the architecture of the home or other structures and should blend in with the surrounding terrain and landscaping.

"It's a good rule of thumb to make the shallow end larger than the deep end, because people spend most of their time in the shallow end. If there are youngsters involved, they like to race, so the pool should have parallel ends for take-offs and turns. Even if you swim laps for exercise, parallel ends are helpful, and there is still room for great flexibility of design."

Wagner recommends reinforced concrete construction, either poured or sprayed, as being best able to take the strains imposed by water in the pool and by the surrounding earth.

Every pool today has its own recirculating-filtering system so the same water is used over and over. More and more pools also have water heating systems that add about 10 per cent to the cost of the pool but extend its seasonal use by 30 to 100 per cent.

Once the pool is built and filled, it must be maintained, with particular emphasis on chemical water treatment. There are two separate self-cleaning systems that use jets to direct water returning to the pool in such a way to move sediment into the main outlet. The fully automatic filtration system cleans the filter by backwashing at regular, preset intervals.

Consider Storage When Remodeling

Be sure to consider your storage needs in any basement remodeling project. This is a good time to provide added storage as a means of taking the pressure off overcrowded closets in the house.

A full-size closet, of course, is the ideal answer to any storage problem. However, storage can take other forms as well.

One, for example, is the construction of a storage bench as part of a wall-paneling installation. Designed properly, it will increase your storage facilities and, at the same time, provide additional seating capacity.

Working off the vertical two-by-four studs which support the paneling, you can frame out your storage bench with two-by-two or two-by-four lumber. Be sure that its sturdy enough to hold the weight of two or three persons.

Your storage bench can be almost any length. Suggested height is 18 inches. If you build the storage bench along an entire wall—say, nine feet—it is best to divide it in three three-foot sections, with a hinged top of one-half-inch plywood on each section.

To make the bench even more functional, line the inside with aromatic red cedar. This will enable you to store your household woolens where they will be safe from moth attack.

Cedar lining is nailed directly to the storage bench framing. The lumber material is tongue-and-grooved for ease of installation. Apply it to the three sides, along the bottom of the storage bench, and on the underside of the hinged top.

Air Conditioning Good Investment To Make

Today more than three million American homes are centrally air conditioned, and their number is mushrooming at a rate of 500,000 annually.

One reason for this rapid growth is that whole house air conditioning is not nearly as expensive as many people think. It can be installed in many moderately-sized homes for substantially less than $1,000.

Even larger homes — such as an existing eight-room house with a hot-air furnace and adequate ductwork — sometimes can be completely air conditioned for as little as $1,000.

If $1,000 is hard to come by — as it sometimes is — then it may help to know that central air conditioning can be readily financed.

In a new home, the bank, savings and loan association or other lending institution generally is willing to add the entire cost of central air conditioning to the original mortgage.

In existing homes, other financing plans are available.

In states where "open end" mortgages are permitted the owner may add the cost of the air conditioning to the original mortgage and pay off the loan by extending his mortgage.

In some cases, air conditioning dealers can arrange financing for the homeowner through facilities of company credit corporations. Usually a small down payment is asked and the installments are spread over 12, 24 or 36 months at a fixed interest rate.

Banks and savings and loan associations usually are receptive to loans under Title I of the Federal Housing Administration law. These loans which may be paid off in as much as five years, are attractive because they are insured by the FHA.

A secured bank loan may be used if you own property, insurance, stocks, bonds, or other collateral and offer any of them as security.

The Federal Housing Administration has stated to its field appraisers that "within a few years, any home without air conditioning will probably be obsolescent." So, no matter how it's financed, central air conditioning is a worthwhile investment. Aside from the comfort and cleanliness it provides, it may help safeguard the home resale value.

EVEN AN ATTIC can have personality when turned into a bedroom and sound conditioned with accoustical insulation board ceilings during the modernization. This product absorbs up to 75 per cent of the noise striking its surface and is attractive and easily installed by most homeowners.

Cleaning, Ventilation Vital To Trouble-Free Fireplace

With modern heating facilities, a fireplace is no longer the necessity it once was. Its warmth is as much mental as it is physical.

But if a fireplace puffs smoke in your face the discomfort is very much physical.

Fireplace trouble can be due to many things — faulty design, clogged chimney or a poorly built fire. The cures to some of these ailments require professional help, but others can be effected by the homeowner.

An obstructed flue can be spotted by simply looking. A mirror will help. Open the damper all the way before checking. A lighted newspaper held in the opening will burn slowly and with much smoke if the flue is clogged.

Cleaning is done from the top down and since a certain amount of roof crawling may be involved it might be smart to call in an expert.

Faulty construction is often the cause of poor combustion. The rule of thumb is that the flue opening should be one-twelth the size of the fireplace opening. Often it is smaller than this.

To solve, do not try to enlarge the flue. Cut down the size of the fireplace opening instead.

This can be done with a hood across the top or by raising the hearth. Experiment by holding a sheet of wood or metal across the top of the fireplace opening while you have a small fire going. Lower the panel slowly. This will increase the draft. Experiment until you reach the point at which the fire draws without smoke.

Hoods can be professionally installed. The hearth can be raised by laying additional layers of bricks. Bricks can be installed at the sides as well.

The problem also may be outside the house. Take a look at the chimney. It should clear the top of the house by about three feet. If it doesn't, or if there is a tall building or a tree with overhanging branches nearby, a down-draft will be caused. The chimney can be built up or a hood installed. Keep branches pruned if that is the trouble.

If yours is a low house and reaching the top of the chimney is neither a chore nor a hazard, you might give it a try. Basically, cleaning a chimney is a matter of lowering a weight on a rope down the chimney. A sack weighed with stones or scrap metal will do. Dampen the bag, and don't forget to block the opening of the fireplace below or you will have a room full of soot.

Perhaps your problem is that the fire burns well enough once it gets going, but is smoky when first lit. This is due to poor fire building. Everyone has his favorite methods, but consider these hints:

Let the fire build slowly. Don't try for a big blaze all at once. It will not draw since the damper and flue are still cold. The small flame will heat these enough to take care of the larger flame later. A trick to help this along is to hold a piece of burning newspaper in the flue before starting.

Build your fire against the back of the fireplace. Use paper, then kindling, then larger pieces of wood. A large log can be placed in back.

One problem with fireplaces in modern homes is lack of ventilation. The modern house does not allow enough moving air to support combustion. Open a window.

Need Storage? Overhead Areas Okay

Wide-open spaces that can be prettied up and made functional range from neglected places such as tops of kitchen cabinets, to high-up areas in closets, to an unfinished attic.

Higher reaches of the kitchen are notorious for space waste. Often, the wall cabinets have dust-catching tops.

Put high-up areas in clothes closets to work by installing perforated panels, now available in woodgrained walnut finishes, over framing. Store boxes and other items on shelves placed on brackets that fit the perforations.

An unfinished attic offers many possibilities, from organized storage to extra room. A free plan, AE-408, "Remodeled Attic," is available to all who request it on a postcard mailed to Home Service Bureau, Box B, Chicago, Ill. 60690.

Use Ferns

When you fill up an unused fireplace with green plants, the entire room will take on a light, airy look. Use clay-potted Boston ferns with their gracefully arched fronds.

Varied plant heights can easily be achieved by inverting clay pots of different sizes and using them as bases for the ferns.

Smooth Way To Varnish Is Explained

Is there a varnishing project on the agenda? For the smooth, bubble-free finish that sometimes seems so difficult to achieve, try this simple procedure:

Dip the brush in the varnish, to no more than one-third of the length of the bristles.

Intercoms Bring Sound Of Music

Checking on children's activities and whereabouts, monitoring a sleeping infant or talking from the kitchen to a caller at the front door are other uses and conveniences that make intercoms a popular feature in new homes — and a subject of interest to improvement-minded homeowners.

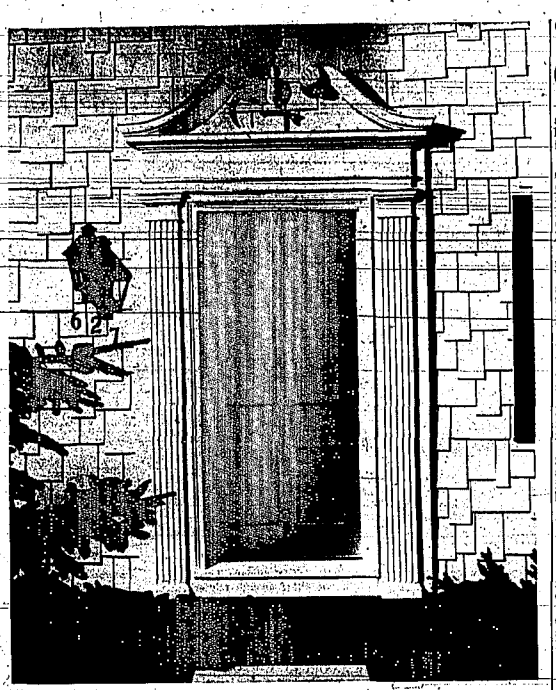
Intercom systems can be added to many existing homes, and in most cases, the bulk of the installation can be handled by an experienced do-it-yourselfer. Some systems have been specially designed for ease of installation and come with complete installation instructions.

Among these are electronic sound systems with a new dimension — built-in music. Starting with the FM-AM radio, an integral part of most modern built-in sound systems, the music potential now goes on to include hi-fi, stereo or tape recorder jacks in the more deluxe systems.

This provides, in addition to the many intercom functions, the ability to pre-select entertainment sound and pipe it through the house — to a party in the game room, to youngsters on the patio, even to Dad in his garage workroom.

One deluxe music-intercom includes an FM-AM radio at the master control station and plug-in jacks for hi-fi, stereo and other sound inputs, which can be heard through as many as 10 remote stations. For added convenience, there is a portable remote station which can be plugged into an ordinary electrical outlet anywhere in the house.

The key to the new entertainment function of much music-intercom systems is the use of transistorization which, in addition to high quality music capability, permits safe low-voltage operation at less than pennies per day.



FRONT ENTRANCE is natural focal point of home and should be as attractive as possible. Stock entryways in a wide variety of traditional and contemporary styles.

Rugs And Rafters Harmonize

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Architectural interior designers are starring in a new home drama — the complete room, rugs to rafters.

Our present trend to architectural rooms beckons an individual who has the combined talents of a graduate architect and experienced interior designer.

He can hitch his imagination to all this know-how for a truly individual room, the ultimate goal of those who furnish on a budget or with a fat pocketbook.

"More people are aware of the architecture of things. And, it makes our job easier. They're not willing to settle for a room that doesn't offer it," says Louis Tregre, architect and interior designer. "Ten years ago they wouldn't have noticed the lack of baseboards or crown molding."

Some people wouldn't have noticed if there were no walls.

But today the first thing they look for in a new home is the architectural embellishments. Niches, pilasters, segmental arches, crown moldings are part of the language of people who want a fashionable home.

While it is true the average person may not know how to offset the bare look of a room, says Tregre, he knows he can't do it merely with furniture. It would be great, he says, if schools would teach a smattering of architecture — enough so the average person could understand what needs to be done.

As it is now even some experienced interior designers are afraid to move when they come face to face with architectural problems.

"Even someone on a small budget should have a background that gives a room a look of permanence, makes things look like they were made for a particular place," he points out.

A Tregre room has a compatible look that extends from doors to moldings to niches. He may square off an archway in a door but devise another in the room.

Walls are flocked in green. Close-up it resembles a fuzzy peach but looks like suede from a distance. Flocking is done in three steps. Walls are painted and a clear adhesive is applied. The flocking (lint-like substance) is blown on with a small blower. Residue is removed by washing it off with a regular upholstery brush.

For architectural flair, Tregre used niches and mirrors. Panels of mirrors extended from crown molding, also mirrored. Or you could use an interesting stenciling with the stencils flocked in different colors, he says.

"Raising The Roof" Gives More Space

If the home is too small — and the lot isn't big enough for horizontal house expansion — it's time to raise the roof.

Many homeowners have discovered that by adding another story to their home — literally raising the roof — they can gain the extra living space required for their growing families.

The second story gives them room for additional bedrooms, bathrooms, even a playroom or study. And today's building materials and techniques have made raising the roof a practical, economical solution.

In older Colonial dwellings, when the attic is usually a catch-all for discarded furniture and trunks of old love letters, all that's needed for room expansion is a good cleaning and a few strategically-placed dormers.

When this method of expanding the home is selected, it also becomes an ideal opportunity for making the roof more attractive and serviceable.

Instead of trying to match the old shingles with new roofing on the expanded areas, homeowners can reroof the entire house, as a part of the expansion project — at a lower cost than would be paid if the roof had to be reshingled at a later date.

For this type of expansion and reroofing job, it's practical in the long run to specify heavyweight asphalt shingles. The modest extra cost of the thicker shingles (which weigh 290 or more pounds for every 100 square feet of roof) will be more than made up in long term durability.

Manufacturers guarantee heavyweight asphalt shingles for more than 20 years, and they can be applied right over the old roof area and the new dormers, without a break in the match or a leak where leakage could occur.

In high-wind areas, self-sealing roof shingles are a good choice. They have an adhesive strip on each single which the sun's heat bonds to the single below.

When the older home was built, there probably was very little choice of roofing colors and textures. Today's shingles offer a wide selection of colors, shades and textures, to coordinate with an exterior decorating scheme.

$50,000 Bath?

There's a revolution in the bathroom. No, it isn't just put-upon Papa, claiming his right to a shower and a shave. It's a revolutionary trend that's making the bathroom the most glamorous room in the home.

"Bathrooms today are the showplace of the home, in which 24-carat gold is combined with real jewels for plumbing fixtures," declares Sherle Wagner, a designer whose bathrooms grace the homes of the rich and the famous, from film stars to kings.

For this kind of bathroom, better check the bankroll first. It can cost as much as $50,000!

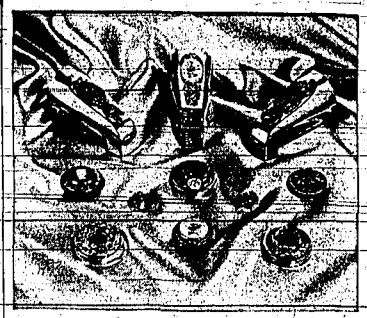
New Methods

NEW YORK —New methods of coating and processing steel, developed through research at United States Steel, have contributed to development of many new steel residential products.

Among these, folding closet doors provide an attractive space saver that insures years of trouble-free service because they won't warp, shrink or twist out of shape.



EXTRA ELEGANCE for the bathroom is provided by Moen Royale, the regal jewel trim for Moen lavatory faucets, shower valves and tub and shower sets. Three styles are available through plumbing contractors everywhere, including "Classic Cameo," "Pompadour" and "Cavalier Rose."

Revolving Wardrobe Blends Into Room Decor

The possibility of an extra wardrobe closet, or for that matter any closet, usually is greeted with glee by most homemakers.

A clever idea for the home or apartment is the whirly wardrobe designed to blend into the room decor through the use of an attractive wall-covering.

The closet revolves on a floor-to-ceiling pole and when filled with garments, is easily turned to face the wall showing a rear view of matching wallpaper. The effect is one of brilliant camouflage.

The homemaker might choose a brilliant flocked damask in deep wine tones to cloak a wardrobe closet. Or almost any pattern in many collections might suffice, depending upon room scheme where closet may be located.

The dimensions of the plan for the whirly wardrobe provide for several bulky coats and there even is a shelf for pocketbooks or hat storage.

These closets are the answer to storage problems in many rooms, and could be easily adapted to bedrooms, study or home office, basement recreation area, and so on.

The costs for making a whirly wardrobe are below $25, and depend on how handy you are. If you must have one built, there will be a labor charge in addition.

The new wallcoverings offer limitless possibilities for the final decoration of your wardrobe And most of these wallcoverings are vinyl-coated for washability which makes them especially practical for covering a closet which will be in demand by the whole family.

Pressure Great

NEW YORK—More than 1,600 tons of pressure is required to stamp a seamless, one-piece steel bathtub from a special heavy-duty steel sheet, according to United States Steel engineers.

Kitchen Closet Easily Becomes Handy Pantry

A new version of the old-fashioned pantry is being included in many remodeled kitchens. It's a convenient storage closet that can even be set up in a small kitchen.

All that's required is a fair-sized closet. A home handyman who can install shelves and shelves of varying heights to accommodate can turn the closet into a pantry.

Divide the back wall of the closet horizontally with a foot-wide shelf of pine board. From this shelf upward to the top of the closet, install a series of commodate cans, boxes and bottles.

For added convenience, partition these shelves vertically so you will have separate sections for canned goods, condiments, cleaning agents and canisters.

Panel the lower half of the back wall with perforated hardboard. The panel can be nailed to furring strips fixed to the existing wall, or simply glued to the wall with a special adhesive. Perforations in the hardboard accept hooks from which you can hang hand mixers, colanders, cooking utensils, and the like.

The hardboard panelling is lightweight but strong, and can be worked with ordinary handyman tools without danger of splitting or cracking. It comes in a number of finishes, including woodgrain and plastic which can be sponge-cleaned.

An additional idea is to bracket a full-length horizontal shelf onto the perforated hardboard and use it as a counter. By installing an electric outlet in the closet, it will be possible to use mixers, blenders and other small appliances right at the counter.

The inside surface of the closet door can also be paneled with perforated hardboard. It provides handy storage space for pots, pans, utensil covers, trays and other kitchen bric-a-brack that can be hung from hooks.

Wet Basement? Look At Roof

If you have a wet or damp basement, take a look at your roof! This strange advice comes from the Roof Drainage Manufacturers Institute. Many ma*velous products are available to* plug up holes in your basement, but few will work if you ignore the cause of the problem.

The lack of gutters on your home or other improper roof drainage will permit water to seep down along the foundation and flow into your basement through cracks. Roof Drainage equipment will carry this water away from the house and will help keep the basement dry.

FOR WANT OF A NAIL, the thumb was mashed—but the Pipe and Tobacco Council has an easy answer. The Council, which reportedly stays up nights thinking up new uses for pipe cleaners, suggests an easy way to get that nail to "stay put" by wrapping a pipe cleaner around the nail under the head. Hits it straight every time!

Building in beds, desks and storage saves money, makes cleaning easier, and ends decorating problems with one stroke, according to Mr. Baker. His own children have a room where everything is built in.

"I made the beds myself in about an hour," explains Mr. Baker. "Using a frame of two by fours, I covered it with pre-finished, washable paneling. The top of each bed is a piece of study particleboard, and a piece of molding keeps the mattress from slipping off the box.

"The mattress is latex foam rubber, and rests directly on the particleboard. Since the latex foam is resilient, it is comfortable even without springs," Mr. Baker explained.

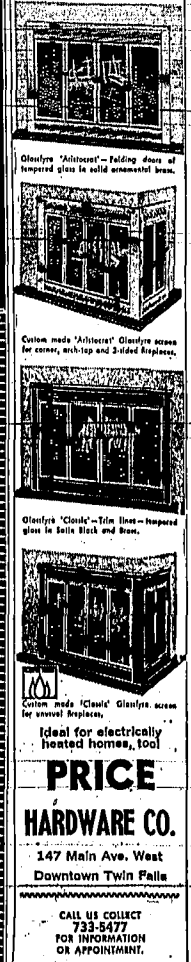
The beds are permanently built in and the box-like base is completely enclosed, so dust*ing under the bed is eliminated.* Washable prefinished paneling covers the wall. Materials for the beds cost only about 20 dollars for each bed.

A wall-hung desk is another built-in feature. Mr. Baker favors the legless units because it is easy to clean under them, and they are good for doing homework.

He eliminated chests and bureaus by building in a combination closet-bureau-storage area in one entire wall. The storage area includes shelves and drawers (built inexpensively by Mr. Baker) that hold clothing. The entire area is hidden behind folding doors.

"By not buying furniture, you save money. And without furniture, you save dusting and polishing," says Mr. Baker.

"Built-ins save clutter too, and eliminate dust-collecting nooks and crannies. They are never out of place, and they free floor space, too, so the children can make use of the whole room."

TWO BATHS


More than half of today's homes priced under $25,000 have at least two baths, and many have two and one-half. Twenty years ago only 28 per cent of homes in that price class had more than one bath.
