Fighting Erupts In Nigeria

By ARNOLD ZEITLIN - LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) - A drive by Nigerian federal troops into Biafra is aimed at the eastern territory to secede May 30, a military spokesman said Saturday. The governor is Lt. Col. Odunuga Ojukwu.

"If we can get him today, that's it," the spokesman said, implying that the capture of Ojukwu would mean an end to the latest of the African wars.

The governor and Maj. Gen. Yakubu Gowon, head of the federal military government, had fought for months before Ojukwu broke away and proclaimed his bailiwick, with 14 million of Nigeria's 56 million inhabitants, as an independent republic.

The spokesman said 500 Biafrans, mostly raw recruits, were captured in the overrunning of a training camp Friday between the towns of Obudu and Ogoja, 10 miles below the border between the former Eastern region and Northern Nigeria.

Federal and Biafran troops battled on in a rainy weather over hilly terrain in the third day of a fight in which each claims to have inflicted heavy casualties on the other. Rival radio stations broadcast sometimes conflicting accounts of the struggle.

Radio Kaduna, in the north, said Nigerian forces were within 20 miles of Enugu, the Biafran capital, which is 300 miles east of Lagos.

Without confirming this account, the Lagos station Radio Nigeria said federal troops had captured the towns of Obudu and Ogoja and were pressing deep into the catch-territory in a hunt for Ojukwu.

Radio Enugu declared Eastern forces had repulsed the government soldiers, though they were fierce fighting "on four fronts."

The federal government denied the Biafran charges that it is using "white mercenaries" to lead its troops and in turn declared Ojukwu was employing white mercenaries.

The Nigerian Air Force committed five twin-engine DC-3 transports from Nigeria Airways, but the spokesman refused to say how they would be used.

The spokesman said intelligence sources reported about 2,000 Biafran troops were concentrated around Nsukka, 40 miles north of Enugu on the main road linking Eastern Nigeria with the rest of the country.

About 3,000 other rebel troops were said to be in the east in the Ogoja sector, which borders the Cameroons.

Nigeria, most populous of African nations, is a former British colony.

Red Vietnam General Dies

SAIGON (AP) - A shadowy North Vietnamese general who masterminded Communist political and military strategy in the south from a jungle stronghold near Cambodia's border has died of a heart attack according to Hanoi Radio.

He was 53-year-old Gen. Nguyen Chi Thanh, who not only directed the war in South Vietnam but was the eighth ranking member of North Vietnam's Communist hierarchy.

Hanoi Radio said that Thanh died in a hospital July 7 and was buried the following day. It was known to intelligence sources that Thanh had been routed from his command post in the jungles by Tay Ninh Province earlier this year by a massive U.S. assault.

Plea Is Made For Blood Donors

On the eve of Twin Falls' regular blood drawing, Red Cross officials have issued a plea to residents planning their vacations to include a blood donation in their preparations.

Pointing out that "accidents and illness never take a holiday," Dale Patterson, chairman of the blood drive, said that blood donations invariably dwindle to their lowest point in the summertime, while the need for blood, mainly because of summer highway accidents, frequently increases.

The drawing will begin at 2 p.m. Monday at the Odd Fellows Hall, Quota is 100 pints. Twin Falls has failed to meet its quota in the every-other-month drawings two consecutive times, Mr. Patterson noted.

Hong Kong Police Station Is Attacked

By FOREST EDWARDS - HONG KONG (AP) - Six hundred heavily armed Gurkha troops Sunday patrolled the Hong Kong half of Shek Tin Tai village, where 1,000 Communist Chinese crossed the border and attacked a Hong Kong police station Saturday with rifles and machine guns.

Five police were killed and 13 wounded before the Gurkhas rescued 50 police who had barricaded themselves in the police post and 80 others in a government building 60 yards behind it.

Government officials in this British colony and in London said they believed the attack was "an isolated incident" and did not threaten a Communist Chinese military offensive against Hong Kong. The colony is recovering from Communist fighting and anti-British demonstrations in May and Communist-investigated labor strike in June.

D. G. McNeill, commander of the police station, said no army or militia units were worn by the Chinese who rushed the post 100 yards inside Hong Kong territory, and opened fire.

He would not speculate on whether troops or militia might be the forces in civilian clothes. Many observers in Hong Kong believed that some troops or militia were involved. Reports out of Red China say no one except soldiers and militia is allowed weapons.

Britain's envoy in Peking was instructed to ask the Red Chinese Foreign Ministry to clarify circumstances of the attack. Officials in London said this was not a protest but an attempt to clear up a confused situation.

Hong Kong officials viewed the incident as another attempt to frighten Hong Kong's four million Chinese, most of whom have remained loyal to the colonial government despite Communist charges of racial suppression and atrocities.

Shek Tin Tai is 20 miles north of the colony's main cities, Hong Kong and Kowloon. The border with Red China runs along the main street of the village, in the last 12 years.

The main island of Hong Kong was not affected by Saturday's violence. McNeill said 1,000 Chinese had crossed the main street, surrounded the police post and set off a number of protests in the area.

Could Win

MIRROR LAKE, N.H. (AP) - Encouraged by his conferences with New Hampshire Republicans, Michigan Gov. George Romney says he is "confident I could win" America's premier primary here next year if he decides to seek the GOP presidential nomination.

Romney, 60 today, was in a gay mood when he gathered with more than 500 Granite State Republicans, representing all levels of the state party structure, and declared "there's a better way than L.B."

Romney concluded his four-day "pulse-check" of New Hampshire Saturday and flew to Scranton, Pa., for the 25th wedding anniversary of former Pennsylvania Gov. and Mrs. William Scranton.

Hearing On Area Phone Service Set

BOISE (AP) - The Idaho Public Utilities Commission announced today it has set Aug. 24 in Gooding for a hearing on proposed revision of telephone service in Gooding, Jerome and Lincoln counties.

The commission said it has received a petition from customers of the Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph Co., asking authorization of extended area service between Jerome, Gooding, Shoshone and Wendell. Such service would permit non- toll calls between the communities but could result in higher fixed charges.

The commission also announced that railway agencies have withdrawn its application for authority to close its office at Athol, in northern Idaho. The PUC said it had received a number of protests to the proposed closure.

Special U. N. Session Is Called As Israel, Egypt Battle Along Suez Canal

By The Associated Press - Egyptians and Israelis fought jet battles and artillery duels along the Suez Canal Saturday in the most serious breach of their cease-fire since the end of the Middle East war June 10.

Both sides called for an urgent meeting of the U.N. Security Council in New York which was summoned into emergency session at 6 p.m. Saturday to consider the charges.

Egypt said six Israeli planes bombed the twin cities of Port Said and Port Fuad at the Mediterranean entrance to the canal, killing one civilian and wounding seven others. It said Egyptian jet fighters engaged the Israelis in dogfights. Israel claimed one Egyptian MIG21 was shot down south of Port Said.

The Israelis charged the Egyptians had set off the fighting with artillery attacks. Israeli troops on the east bank of the canal. It said 20 Israeli planes were killed and 20 wounded. The first fighting broke out at 9:25 a.m. Both sides reported all hostilities had ended before midnight.

Radio Cairo broadcasts said Egyptian forces destroyed 3 tanks and 11 armored cars. The Egyptians charged the Israelis had tried to make an armored drive from the south to seize important canal installations at Port Fuad.

The air combat over the entrance of the canal is the first serious engagement between the Egyptian and Israeli air forces in the Middle East conflict. In the six-day war of early June, Egyptian planes never got off the ground.

Israel reported its jet fighters also had strafed Egyptian artillery positions on the west bank of the Suez. An Israeli army spokesman said the Soviet-built MIG21 of the Egyptian air force was shot down in a dogfight between four MIG21s and two Israeli Mirage jet fighters. The MIG21 is the Soviet Union's most advanced fighter. The Mirage is a French-built jet.

The Israeli announcement said the Egyptian MIGs penetrated 15 miles inside Israeli occupied Sinai and were intercepted by the Mirages. The three other MIGs fled; the announcement said.

There was no mention of Israeli air strikes on Port Said and Port Fuad in the Israeli announcement. The Egyptians claimed they had opened up artillery attacks on Israeli armored columns moving northward along the canal toward Port Fuad. A Cairo broadcast said one tank and three armored cars had been destroyed.

Israel claimed the fighting had started with Egyptian artillery attacks on Israeli positions at Ras El-Eish and El Qantara, 8 miles east of Port Fuad. It said 20 Israelis had been killed and 13 wounded.

Girl, 10, Hurt Severely In Freak Mishap

A 10-year old Twin Falls girl was listed in "guarded condition" at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital Saturday night where she was being treated for severe head injuries suffered in a freak accident late Friday afternoon.

City police said the child, Alice Villers, daughter of Mrs. Pauline Villers, was critically injured when her head was crushed between a metal stock rack on a pickup truck and the door frame of a garage.

The accident occurred at the home of Chester Hostetter, 200 Ash St., about 5:30 p.m. as Mr. Hostetter was backing the pickup truck out of a garage. The Villers girl and two of Mr. Hostetter's children were riding in the rear of the pickup truck.

Police said the metal rack had about one inch of clearance under the garage door frame. As the vehicle was backed out, the girl, sitting just behind the cab stool up, her head extended some six inches above the metal rack. Her head became caught between the rack and door frame.

Mr. Hostetter said he heard the children screaming and stopped the vehicle, to find the girl lying on the floor of the truck bleeding heavily from her head wounds. The other children, Joe Hostetter, 4, and Cathy Hostetter, 7, were not injured.

Mr. Hostetter had placed the girl on the lawn and stopped bleeding with a towel when an ambulance arrived. She was taken to the hospital by Magic Valley Ambulance Service.

West Coast Suspends All Its Operations

SEATTLE (AP) - West Coast Airlines suspended all operations Saturday when flight personnel and mechanics refused to cross picket lines in the ongoing strike by ground service employees.

The systemwide shutdown included nearly 1,000 workers and grounded planes in six western states and Alberta, Canada. E. N. Altman, a company vice president, said some nonstriking reported they had been threatened with physical harm unless they honored the picket lines. West Coast employs 145 pilots, 70 stewardesses and about 130 mechanics.

Robert Haskin, executive chairman of the Airline Employees Association, said the workers were refusing as individuals in their actual to cross picket lines. Flight crews stayed off the job for the first time Saturday morning while the mechanics began honoring the lines shortly before midnight Thursday.

The action Saturday halted operations at nine cities receiving limited service during the week through the use of supervisory personnel. They were Seattle, Portland, San Francisco, Eugene, Medford, Yakima, Walla Walla and the Tri-Cities.

Service to 25 other cities in six western states and Alberta, Canada, was halted immediately when service workers walked off their jobs in a dispute over wages.

Federal mediators C. Robert Rowley and Raymond McElroy met separately with union and management officials Friday and reported no progress in the sessions. No new talks were scheduled.

Haskin said the association is seeking a salary range of from $15 a month for a beginning agent to $715 a month for a 10-year agent.

The present scale, termed "the lowest in the industry" by Haskin, ranged from $52 for a beginner to $508 for an eight-year agent.

Pea Harvest Operation Begins At Milner

BURLEY - The pea harvest in the Burley area began Friday night and anyone interested in watching the harvest operations which are done at night is invited to the Raymond Seymour ranch at Milner.

The announcement was made by R. L. Anderson, manager of the Mountain States Division of Del Monte Corp., at a luncheon Friday at the Ponderosa Inn, sponsored by the Burley Chamber of Commerce, at which the official announcement of the outbreak of the late for construction of a new corn and pea processing plant. In addition to dignitaries such as Gov. Donal Samuelsen, Secretary of State Pat Carran and Louise Shaddock, director of the State Department of Commerce and Development, guests of the luncheon also included area farmers who have grown peas for the firm the past 11 years.

John Godfrey, Omaha, Union Pacific Railroad official, also was a guest. A film was shown depicting the progress of the Del Monte firm.

During the luncheon Mayor Joe Peters presented a gold key to the city of Burley on a plaque to Mr. Anderson and best wishes for the firm's new project were extended by Gov. Samuelsen and Miss Shaddock.

Guests were welcomed by a hospital committee which included Kristine Karson and Anna Marie Zollinger, both members of the Burley High School Steercoke, who distributed name tags and served Del Monte fruit juices.

Mr. Anderson said no specific data on the size or cost of the new processing plant is yet available. Burley was chosen over four other sites in southern Idaho. Saturday Cong. George Hansen called the announcement of the new plant as a boost to the economy of Burley and surrounding area.

"This is an excellent example of what can be achieved when the business community, agriculture and the appropriate levels of government work together," the congressman said.

Water A Problem

As has been noted many times, population growth and industrial expansion confront the United States with future water shortages.

With population and industry going west, water is available in adequate quantities, but not without the nation will be in competition for supplies.

When the multi-million-dollar interstate highway program was promoted, there were warnings that the water problem would soon exceed highways in urgency.

A Detection Tool

Fingerprinting as a means of identification is reported to have been begun in the East Indies by an English overseer who, found per diam

Because voiceprinting is a new science, it has only begun to receive its day in court—and not without some negative results.

Even if voiceprinting should pass all the tests which will be given it, it is unlikely the technique will ever become as widely used as fingerprinting.

It is employed in many ways in addition to law enforcement, most notably in the armed forces.

There are times, however, when a fingerprint is left at the scene of a crime, but a voice might be.

Originator of this new science is Lawrence G. Kersta, a retired telephone company engineer.

The Famine Future

Threat of worldwide world famine within 20 years, stressed in a report by the President's Science Advisory Committee made public the other day, didn't say anything that the demographers haven't been saying for years.

mental challenge which ranks in importance with avoiding World War III. Indeed, there are some who view World War III as probably being inevitable because it would be "nature's way" of whittling the world's population down to manageable size.

Unfortunately, few nations appear to grasp the correlation between a stabilized birth rate and improving living standards. Even the scientists on the President's committee are glib about the possibilities of curbing the population explosion which they view as bringing the world to a catastrophe unprecedented in history.

The importance of the report lies in the fact that the threat is finally being recognized at the political level. Almost anybody can understand both the problem and proposals for its solution. It's the old Malthusian theory finally being proved. Only a stabilized birth rate or increased agricultural productivity can avoid horrible famines in the future.

Achieving this balance is a monumental

MR. SPECTATOR Auto Checks Coming Up

When 1968 rolls around people who own automobiles will find that their vehicles will be subject to annual inspections—safety inspections.

This new law was one of those passed by this year's legislature and it keeps Idaho just a jump ahead of the federal government's highway safety requirements.

We are wondering if this inspection setup will end up where the last one did. Where? In the wastebasket? We can remember that it all started out just fine but then, finally, it developed that it was just another way for the disinterested inspection centers to make a fast buck.

Really, it should be your own funeral if you ride in a car that is not safe but too many expect that does not work out this way. In many cases the innocent person—not the car owner—suffers, is hurt or killed when something goes wrong. This is the tragedy of the unsafe driver.

Are Nixon Forces Moving?

WASHINGTON (NEA) — A very strange chapter in 1968 Republican presidential politics is being quietly unfolded in New York.

York Republicans see Rockefeller, rather than Illinois Sen. Charles Percy, as their real "fall-back guy," among the moderates, if Romney should stumble in the primaries.

Principals alleged to have taken part in the meeting yesterday that it was ever held. One man says he was in Philadelphia on the night in question.

Rockefeller is riding high in New York. Until it is known whether he might seek a fourth governorship term in 1970, or whether he might try to influence strongly the choice of a successor nominee, New York Republican leaders and lower election party men run considerable risk in crossing him.

Yet, as this reporter will show in a later account, Rockefeller on the 1968 national stage is today a very mixed story.

The intriguing thing about all this is the elaborate detail attached to the report, and the fact that this details the same matter who tells the story.

Furthermore, many key New York Republicans see Rockefeller, rather than Illinois Sen. Charles Percy, as their real "fall-back guy," among the moderates, if Romney should stumble in the primaries.

Also, this reporter will show in a later account, Rockefeller on the 1968 national stage is today a very mixed story.

ART BUCHWALD Man From U.N.

WASHINGTON—As the United Nations gets larger, its member countries are becoming smaller and sometimes it's hard to recognize the name of a nation, much less to pronounce it.

"Then it's best to be neutral," I said. "Absolutely, particularly because the French are always wounding neutral countries, and you know what kind of a feed they can put out."

Organizers of the Manhattan affair are said to be Charles McWhorter and Peter Flanagan, veteran Nixon helpers. A precise 63 persons were in attendance, with 14 from conservative Queens, so the story goes.

"You've been entertained by the French?" "Would you believe President De Gaulle sent me a case of foie gras from his own back yard?" "People really make a fuss over you, then."

It is that the fantastic emphasis is still a burning issue in the White House. President Johnson, his overly weary TV viewer must know, refers with his usual passion for catch-phrases to the meeting as the Hollyhush meeting.

"How do you finally decide which way you're going to vote?" "I sent a wire back home and ask them what we need. If the cent's back that we need a damn, our damn, the Soviet bloc and the United States bloc, and I let them bid on it. The highest bidder gets the job and the money."

BARRY GOLDWATER Halfway Session

For any who needed the lesson, Glasbrow has taught us a lot about the cold war.

more exciting than a pretty name, we have grave cause to question it.

First and foremost, it taught us that the cold war is not a thing that are called for no purpose other than diplomatic chitchat. We should have known that.

Then there is the line about going to the summit being a bad bet, as the President puts it, it gives world leaders a chance to meet "eye to eye." The vague implication is that the cold war is a battle between two, three or four world leaders. This is nonsense.

Summits have got us nowhere in the past. They have served no purposes beyond those of political image building—except the cold war is a matter of deadly serious purposes, not mere public relations or personalities.

The cold war is the struggle of the individual. He did not come to discover whether Lyndon Johnson is a kindly grandfather or a warmonger. He knows all he needs to know about the President. He came to make propaganda points and nothing else.

This summit could not have gotten off to a good start. It was sewn with the seeds of its failure from its conception. Just look at the "major" controversy that it triggered upon the House reportedly was torn between President Johnson going all the way to New York or demanding that Lyndon Johnson come all the way to Washington, or whether they should meet somewhere in between, which they eventually did.

Mr. Johnson could not have gone to the summit just to achieve the special knowledge of an eye-to-eye talk. If he doesn't know what communism's leaders are up to and what they are like by now, all the eyeballing in the world isn't going to help him—or save us.

How in common sense would a meeting that begins with such petty debating ever get down to anything truly serious? Men whose purposes of the moment can include anything so ridiculous as measuring the mileage between the two cities are not likely to get down to brass tacks when finally they arrive at their halfway house.

The cold war is not like a dead in ward politics which might be resolved by quick talking or a steady state. The cold war is a real war, fought with real power. The only "death" that will end it is the destruction of all non-Communist political systems, the destruction of the Communist's aggressive blueprint.

On such a fantastic emphasis is still a burning issue in the White House. President Johnson, his overly weary TV viewer must know, refers with his usual passion for catch-phrases to the meeting as the Hollyhush meeting.

Glasbrow did not change the uncompromising truth of the cold war. It did not change communism. It did not add anything to either side's knowledge of the other—except, perhaps in one time they want a world-wide forum they can depend on Lyndon Johnson to meet them exactly halfway.

Times-News To Add Paul Harvey Column

Paul Harvey, one of America's great columnists will join the roster of Times-News columnists Monday.

Harvey holds a position of prominence in the world of U. S. letters. He is the author of three best-selling books, has been honored by many important national organizations, and holds honorary doctorates from seven leading educational institutions.

Harvey is, first and foremost, a news analyst with a passion for honesty and straight thinking. But the scope of his thought and writing embraces the full range of human interests, including politics, philosophy, history, economics, literature and art.

"Remember These Things," Harvey's first book, was widely acclaimed for its fearless and informed comments on the American scene—Eddie Rickenbacker says of it:

"It is my firm belief that a copy should be placed in every public school, every high school and every college in this great land of ours. It should become 'must' reading for all boys and girls over 10 years of age."

"Autumn of Liberty," which followed, was hailed as a triumphant statement of basic Americanism. Freeman Magazine called it "a timely, personal, important book."

Paul Harvey's third book, "The Rest of the Story," is a collection of extraordinary, little-known stories told in his inimitable style. They show "his feeling for the drama and adventure of life, always so clearly evident . . . in his syndicated columns."

He has received Awards of Merit from the Veterans of Foreign Wars and from the American Legion, for his "insult Americanism."

Harvey was awarded the Freedom Foundation Gold Medal three consecutive years, "for outstanding defense and extension of the American Way of Life." He also holds the bronze Christopher Award.

He is equally proud of an award from the Disabled American Veterans, which says: "Paul Harvey is to the veteran returned what Ernie Pyle was to the soldier in the field."

Paul Harvey's column, which will appear three times a week in the pages of the Times-News, will deal with subjects of vital interest to every reader. His down-to-earth, common sense approach is as reassuring as it is stimulating in these times of embroidered doubletalk and muddled thinking.

Follow this column regularly and keep abreast of the important developments in American thought.

HEARING TO CONTINUE MOUNTAIN HOME, IDAHO (AP)—The first degree murder hearing for a former Air Force master sergeant is ready two days long—will continue Monday.

Thomas C. Linn, 56, is accused of shooting Telefonta Garcia Jr., 20, outside a Mountain Home tavern June 25. The hearing began Thursday.

MAN FOUND GUILTY POCATELLO (AP)—A Sixth District Court jury Friday found Edward C. Rolfe guilty of the statutory rape of a 15-year-old babysitter.

The jury took less than three hours to convict the 29-year-old former Pocatello barber who now lives in Boise.

Rolfe was accused of assaulting the girl early last December 11, when he was taking her home from babysitting.

He contended someone else had the girl home from his house that night.

Judge Gus Carr announced ordered a pre-sentence investigation.

PAPERS FILED COEUR D'ALENE, IDAHO (AP)—Three Coeur d'Alene men have filed papers of incorporation with the Secretary of State in Boise for a north-south Idaho airline service to be based here.

The corporation, Trans-Idaho Airways, would provide regular flying and regular flights from north Idaho airfields to points in southern Idaho.

Tentative scheduling calls for flights weekly on Wednesdays and Thursdays. Additional flights would be added as needed.

Backers of the corporation are Harold N. Rhodes, J. J. Hart, and Richard N. Labadie.

Vivian Leigh, Double Oscar Winner, Dies

By MICHAEL CODEL. LONDON (AP)—Actress Vivian Leigh, who won an Oscar in 1949 and rose to international fame in the role of Scarlett O'Hara in "Gone With the Wind," died Saturday.

She won another Oscar 12 years ago for her portrayal of the neurotic Blanche Du Bois in "A Streetcar Named Desire."

The 53-year-old actress was found dead in her London apartment after a recurrence of tuberculosis, an illness which had dominated her life since 1945. She suffered frequent collapses and in 1950 lost a baby before she was expecting shortly before her divorce from Sir Laurence Olivier.

Miss Leigh was stricken 11 months ago as she was to start rehearsals for the London stage production of Edward Albee's "A Delicate Balance."

She was one of Britain's most accomplished and versatile modern actresses.

She had her second husband, Sir Laurence, won international acclaim in the twin productions, Shakespeare's "Antony and Cleopatra" and George Bernard shaw's "Caesar and Cleopatra."

She was the first actress in theatrical history to try Shakespeare's and Shaw's Cleopatra in sequence—and succeeded in both.

Miss Leigh and Olivier were married in 1940 following her divorce from her first husband, Herbert Leigh Holman, a British lawyer, after eight years of marriage.

She had a daughter by that marriage.

Olivier, now married to actress Joan Plowright and himself under treatment for prostate cancer, visited his former wife's home for half an hour after her death was announced.

Miss Leigh was known for a cold face and wrinkling gray eyes, Miss Leigh aimed only at acting success.

In 1948, she made an English father and Irish mother, she left an English convent at 14 and studied drama in Germany and France.

Miss Leigh was appearing on the London stage when she first read Margaret Mitchell's massive "Gone With the Wind" novel. "Gone With the Wind," she promised fellow-actresses that if she ever went to Hollywood it would be to play Scarlett O'Hara.

In late 1939 the filming of "Gone With the Wind" had begun but the lead actress not yet chosen. Hollywood's top actresses, including Katharine Hepburn and Bette Davis, were scrambling for the part.

Then little-known Miss Leigh, who was in Hollywood on a two-week holiday, took a screen test and won the part.

She played opposite Clark Gable's Rhett Butler and the film went on to set box-office records for a generation. Miss Leigh received only $16,800 for her Oscar-winning role.

Antique Theatre Opens Friday

The Antique Festival Theatre will open its season at the "Arms," but it cannot match the original in entertainment.

The theatre's productions will be given on Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings throughout the summer, featuring a different play from a series of three each evening.

In addition to the "Arms and the Man" by Shaw, the group will also give "Circle of Chalk," a 14th century Chinese melodrama, and "Diary of a Scoundrel," an early nineteenth-century Russian comedy. A fourth play, "Queen and the Rebels" will be presented in August.

Tickets will be on sale at the box office.

When Shaw started to expand his idea for the play he didn't have any particular country or war in mind. He just "wanted a war as a background." He settled on Serbia because of its war and spelled the characters' names with an "off" on the end.

The 15 plays, delivered with a tremendous amount of ability by the semi-professional company, cast aspersions on the Bulgarians, the Serbian and the Austrians that he mischievously introduced a Swiss captain into the plot to really confuse the situation.

It's extremely popular "Choceolate Soldier" of a few years ago was the musical version of this.

When Shaw researched the play he was so amused by the fact that the Bulgarian army was staffed with Russian officers and the Serbian by Austrians that he mischievously introduced a Swiss captain into the plot to really confuse the situation.

A fisherman and sky diver by avocation, Phillip Ditz, San Francisco, will play Sergius in George Bernard Shaw's "Arms and the Man" which will open the Antique Festival Theatre's 1957 season. (Ship Morita photo)

Burley Man Retires As Guard Chief

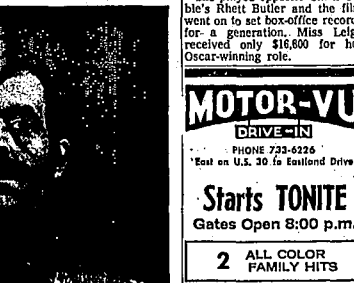

BOISE (AP)—Retirement of Col. Edward G. Elliott, Burley, commanding officer of the 11th Armored Cavalry Regiment of the Idaho Army National Guard was announced Saturday.

Retired Gen. George R. Bennett, Idaho adjutant general, announced appointment of Col. Theodore R. Pence, Buhl, to replace Elliott. Pence served as adjutant general in 1952.

Elliott has been in military service 31 years and served as commanding officer of the 11th Armored Cavalry in the Pacific, troop 1, 11th Cavalry, with the guard's 11th Cavalry, in 1936.

He was commissioned in 1926 and went on active duty with the 90th Infantry Division in March, 1942. He served during World War II in the Pacific area, earning the Bronze Star and the Presidential Unit Citation.

Bennett said Elliott was promoted to Brig. General. They placed on the retired reserve list, effective June 30.

Father Of Burn Victim Blames LSD

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The father of a 24-year-old woman who set fire to herself, blamed her LSD. Her sugar has nullified her LSD.

John R. Moore, corporate vice president of North American Aviation, told a news conference that his daughter, Nancy, told him last Monday of using the drug. The day after the con-fer-ence, he said, she dis-posed her clothes with gasoline from a service station pump.

"LSD brought on the tragic incident which has taken our loved and once beautiful daughter charred and in agony, to death's door," the father said.

"If this revelation will prevent just one young person from experimenting with this insidious and vicious drug, she will not have suffered and perhaps died in vain."

Miss Moore was in critical condition with burns on 30 per cent of her body. She was taken to the University of California-Los Angeles Medical Center.

Her father said she returned

Maritime Strike Threat Is Averted

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Pentagon has averted a maritime-strike threatened for next Tuesday by withdrawing a request for the foreign flag ships permitted to ship American oil.

At the Defense Department's recommendation, the Bureau of Customs issued a waiver June 20 to permit foreign flag ships to carry oil in the protected coastal trade.

Shortly before the Pentagon withdrew its request Friday, four maritime unions sent a telegram to the Defense Department threatening a strike they said would tie up shipping on the East and Gulf and Pacific coasts and halt the Vietnam conflict.

The unions — International Organization of Masters, Mates and Pilots; Marine Engineers Beneficial Association and National Maritime Union, all AFL-CIO — said there were many reasons for the strike. They meet an alleged tanker shortage.

The Pentagon, in withdrawing its request, did not mention the unions' telegram and said only that the use of foreign flag tankers no longer was necessary. It did not spell out the nature of the emergency prompting it to take the action.

Canal closing presumably was a factor.

Doughnut Shop Is Burglarized

Burglars took approximately $46 from a cigarette machine and the cash register at Dick's Doughnut Shop, city police reported Saturday.

Mrs. Robert Graybill notified officers of the break-in Friday. Entry was gained sometime between midnight Thursday and 7 a.m. Friday by taking a board from a window on the southeast of the building.

Officers said other items missing included three bags of potato chips.

"DIGGING" PLANNED "FAIRFIELD" Dr. Einar Swanson, director of the Idaho State University museum, has received a $500 grant to conduct an archaeological study of the Shinnston site on Canaan Prairie.

"Nuttiest Sale Of Year" Is Scheduled For July 21, 22

The "nuttiest sale of the year" to be held by merchants throughout Twin Falls is scheduled for July 21 and 22. Twin Falls merchants began this week to gather merchandise for "Crazy Days," an annual event that offers bargains in nearly every type of item available. Costumes and promotions. Magic Valley residents will find bargains listed in the July 19 issue of the Times-News. Tentative plans include sidewalk bazaars with sales personnel in crazy costumes. Prizes totaling $30 will be given to sales personnel with the best costumes. Each store will do its own of Van Engelen's Department Store and director of Crazy Days promotion for the Lynwood Shopping Center. Crazy Days sales are scheduled for July 21 and 22 in downtown Twin Falls and in outlying shopping centers.

Appointments To Water Board Listed

BOISE (AP) — Appointment of four technicians to the staff of the Idaho Water Resource Board was announced today by Dr. Robert R. Lee, director. They are: —Edgar A. Imhoff, chief of the planning division, who received his bachelor's degree from the University of Utah and a master's degree from the University of Wisconsin. He has been employed in water resource planning in California, New Mexico and Wisconsin. —Alan Robertson, head of the hydrology branch, who earned bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of Idaho. He taught last year at the university and has worked with the Corps of Engineers at Walla Walla, Wash., and with the Bureau of Indian Affairs at Billings, Mont. —Dennis Warner and Bruce Bishop, graduate students working on doctorates at Stanford University, are assisting Dr. Lee during the summer. Dr. Lee said that in mid-July A. Kenneth Dunn of Salem, Ore., will join the staff as head of the engineering branch, and T. DeWayne McAndrew of Boise will become head of the land classification branch.

2 Young Boys Making Trip To Expo 67 Via Pony Cart

JAFFEY, N.H. (AP) — The or Bust sign on the rear, companions of two young boys headed for Expo 67 in Montreal by pony cart say they are allowing the pair to make the trip because it was carefully planned in advance and is under their close supervision. "This wasn't a spur-of-the-moment thing at all, and we're keeping close tabs on them all the way," their father, Theodore P. Whittemore, Jr., said Saturday. He said planning for the 400-mile trip by sons Toly, 11, and Jeff, 9, began in March at their home in Needham, Mass. It included conditioning for their 10-year-old Shetland pony, King, through trips in and around the Boston suburbs, he said. The boys left home Wednesday and had completed the first 60 miles by Friday night when they arrived in Jaffrey at a summer residence owned by Whittemore's parents. They plan to resume their journey Monday morning and hope to reach Montreal by Aug. 1. The boys stayed with family acquaintances along the way the first two nights. Whittemore said other stopping places have been planned farther along the way, but declined to disclose them because he said the family wants to avoid publicity. Their cart, with an "Expo 67

JULY

Clearance

Cain's has only two storewide Clearance Sales each year — JULY and JANUARY — Two important sales events where our only objective is to MOVE merchandise . . . our buyers left for the Summer Furniture Market last week.

We must move HUNDREDS of items from our display floors in order to make room for incoming merchandise purchased at the market. Merchandise in all departments will be MARKED DOWN according to its age. All items six months old and older MUST clear.

NOTICE . . .

We have just finished taking a physical inventory of every department — (all three buildings).

We have listed every item according to age (when it was received) and have marked down all items accordingly.

FOR INSTANCE—merchandise that has been in our stock for over a year has been marked down to cost. Merchandise that has been in inventory 18 months has been marked down to cost less 25% etc. All items that have been in stock 6 months or more have been greatly reduced.

BEDROOM

Odds & ends — dressers, chests, beds, bedroom suites, Sealy mattresses (kings & queens as well as regulars). Good selection — some items marked down . . .

FRIGIDAIRE

A few weeks ago we purchased a carload of 1966 Frigidaire appliances from a factory warehouse. It is time these '66 models cleared. We have reduced them to assure clearance.

FREEZERS

We have dropped the Marquette freezer line due to Frigidaire's low prices. Several models and sizes reduced to clear.

TV & STEREO

Curtis-Mathis & Zenith color TV, black & white TV and stereos. The 1968 models are coming — some are already here — so the 1967 models must clear.

second floor

MAPLE SHOP

Our big maple shop is overcrowded — many, many items must go including love seats, chairs, sofas, dining room suites, lamps and tables. Biggest selection of Colonial furniture in Magic Valley.

CHANGE OF OWNERSHIP for Jay's Save-On Foods is discussed by, from left, Ed Crane, Boise, district manager for Albertson's; Jay Davis, owner of Jay's Save-On, and Tom McCollum, who will be the new manager of Save-On Foods for Albertson's. Acquisition of Jay's by Albertson's was announced Saturday evening.

Jay's Sav On Market Is Purchased By Albertson's

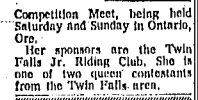

Officials of Albertson's Food Centers announced the company has purchased Jay's Save-On Foods at 677 First Avenue. Jay Davis, owner of the store, said that Albertson's will assume ownership Monday morning. Mr. Davis, 1935 Granada Drive, has owned the Save-On market for two and one-half years and has operated retail food outlets in Twin Falls for the past 14 years. Tom McCollum will replace Mr. Davis as store manager, according to Ed Crane, Albertson's district manager. "We do not plan any other changes in store personnel," Mr. Crane said, "as we believe Jay's has a fine crew of enthusiastic and friendly people."

Khrushchev Lives "Sad Life," Says Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev is described in a magazine as living "a sad and relatively lonely life" with his wife.

Area Students On U of I Dean's List

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow—Among the 466 U of I students who were named to the Dean's List in the College of Letters and Science by earning grade point averages of 3.30 or better were the following Magic Valley residents: Joan L. Arford, Stanley D. Babington, Thomas A. Parnell and Michael P. Wasko, all Buhl; Timothy S. Ellis, Karen M. Hoffbauer, Yvonne Holman and Patricia A. Kloepper, all Burley; Sharon L. Bean, Lois J. Grievie, Selma R. Harris, Valerie A. Koester, Sara M. Perrine, Carol L. Robertson, Janet S. Severance, Vicki J. Shaw and Karen E. Velasquez, all Gooding; Cheryl L. Tate, Larry D. Burke, both Halley; and Pamela K. Stroebele, Hazelton.

Nina, in a seven-acre fenced compound 15 miles southwest of Moscow. The description is given in a Parade magazine article. "What the Russians Have Done to Nikita Khrushchev," by editor Jess Gorkin. He says Khrushchev's "old comrades, including his proteges, avoid him like a plague." Gorkin says he made his contact for the story some time ago through a Russian newsman, whom he did not identify. He did say it is not Alexei Adzhubel, Khrushchev's son-in-law, as reported by some sources. Adzhubel is the former editor of Izvestia who now has a lesser job on the Soviet publication. The Parade article says the Khrushchevs' 10 1/2-bedroom country home is one of 10 in the compound, which has a guard-house protecting the entrance. Gorkin supplies this description of what he calls the 73-year-old Khrushchev's "life in limbo."

in his left shoulder holster. To help fill his time, he has taken up photography. He does his own darkroom work, has developed into a fair amateur photographer. "Khrushchev's precipitous descent from the power pinnacle in 1964 traumatized him badly. For six months he moped about—the house, an subject figure. He lost 32 pounds and his sense of humor. His downfall to him that today his wife, under no circumstances, will permit the subject to be broached in his presence. "Khrushchev's favorite American is the late President John F. Kennedy. The American who irritated him most was Norris Poulson, a former mayor of Los Angeles. When Khrushchev describes how Poulson greeted him at the Los Angeles airport in 1953 and criticized him at a hour — 10 to 11 p.m.—documented dinner, the old man scowls tary.

Forest Elf Attracts Attention Of Campers

By ANN DAILY
Times-News Staff Writer

Tiny boats made of wood and bark, decked with pale wild flowers and carrying lighted candles floated across a moonlit pool enticed by current and breeze to seek a woodland elf.

Young girls participating in part of a ceremony to honor Tani, the forest elf that protects Camp Tawakani, had launched the boats as part of the weeks camping activities.

Tani, besides protecting this Camp Fire Girls' camp on Magic Mountain, answers questions left for him by inquisitive girls on his own special stump, near the camp.

The little elf is just one of the many different and interesting aspects in the summer Camp Fire camping program. Week long camping sessions are held for Blue Birds, Camp Fire Girls and non-members at Camp Tawakani.

The sessions began Wednesday with a special camp for Blue Birds. This session lasted four days for the seven and eight year olds, and did not include sleeping out, but did include cooking out.

Other sessions scheduled during the summer for Camp Fire Girls and interested non-members aged 9, 10, 11, 12, 13 and 14 begin July 10, July 17 and July 24.

The camp is sponsored by the Magic Valley Council of Camp Fire Girls, and supported by the camp fee. The Twin Falls United Fund supports the Camp Fire program.

Counselors at the camp find imaginative leadership from Director Mrs. Marjorie Wintersteen, Mountain Home. Mrs. Wintersteen has been director for three years.

LUMMIE STICKS fly in the air as Sarah (Patches) Wintersteen, 13, daughter of Camp Tawakani director Mrs. Marjorie Wintersteen, left, and Counselor Virginia (Ginna) Evans, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Evans, Twin Falls, a junior at the University of Exeter, England, learn the rhythmic game. Camping sessions are now underway at Camp Tawakani.

BURNED TOTEM POLE catches the eye of 13-year-old Sarah (Patches) Wintersteen during pre-camp sessions at Camp Fire Girl Camp Tawakani. The lodge of the camp was burned down last summer and many trees and artifacts such as the totem were badly damaged.

BRIGHT FLOWERED TIP, the symbol of completion of pre-camp training, is presented to Susan (Tiny) Hammer, center, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne A. Hammer, Idaho Falls, as she officially becomes a counselor at Camp Tawakani.

Presenting the tip are left, Mrs. Dorothy Peavy, field worker, and right, Mrs. Leona Hankins, program chairman and on the camp committee for the Magic Valley Council of Camp Fire Girls, both Twin Falls.

and has worked with the Southwestern Idaho Adult Cerebral Palsy Camp, MacCall, and several church camps.
Head counselor is Mrs. Adele Tyler, Mountain Home. Both women work with the Girl Scout program in Mountain Home during the winter.
The seven counselors who complete the camping staff, have all attended one year or more of college. Through pre-camp training, the girls participated in the American Camping Association's Campercraft Course, and standard first aid.
Each counselor chose a camp name during the pre-camp session and adopted that name for the summer.
The counselors include Virginia (Gina) Evans, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Evans, Twin Falls, a junior at the University of Exeter, England; Kaye (Thiker) Whinnans, a teacher in Molokai, Ha., and Judy (Beaver) Fleming, a teacher on Okinawa.

Other counselors are Diane (Tay) Barb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Remo Barb, Mountain Home, a student at the University of Idaho, Moscow; Susan (Toby) Hammer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne A. Hammer, Idaho Falls, attended Ricks College, Redburg; will serve a state LDS mission in Idaho Falls; Kathy (Coco) Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Brown, Meridian, and Phyllis (Muggins) Ramsey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Braden, Payette, both sophomores at Boise College.

The counselors received their office during ceremonies June 30. Officiating were Mrs. James Vandenberg, executive director; Mrs. Dorothy Peavey, field worker, and Mrs. Leona Hankins, program chairman and on the camp committee for the Magic Valley Council, all Twin Falls.

Other women on the adult camp staff, include camp cooks, Mrs. Marjorie Peavey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alva Duffy, Elker, and registered nurse, Mrs. May Fuller, Twin Falls.
The camp is operated on the unit system which allows the girls to choose some of their own activities. Camp activities include nature crafts, woodlore, creative crafts, recreation, evening programs, outdoor cooking, overnight campsouts and yearly special honors.
Tawakani, meaning "Our Own Camp by the Stream," includes several sleeping cabins, a dining lodge and several camping and recreation areas. The main lodge of the camp was destroyed by fire in June of last year. Officials are hopeful that funds will be made available for a new lodge soon.

Club Fair Plans Are Discussed

DECLO—Fair plans were discussed when members of the Delta Domestic Dutch Home Demonstration Club met at the home of Mrs. Earl Hurst, with Mrs. Larry Bell and Mrs. Jerry Bulley assisting.
Mrs. Gale Gillett, general chairman, will be assisted by Mrs. Gary Osterhout and club members in preparing for the club's fair booth in August.
A prize was won by Mrs. Denton Darrington.
The Annie Laurie Inn, Albion, is the setting for the July 12 meet at the home of Mrs. Gillett.

CWF Officers Are Installed At Local Fete

Officers were installed recently by the Christian Women's Fellowship of the Twin Falls Valley Christian Church.
New officers, installed by Mrs. Forrest Hibbard, include Mrs. Leon Littlefield, president; Mrs. Norman Webb, vice president; Mrs. Kenneth McNew, treasurer; Mrs. Betty Dosssett (in absentia), secretary; Mrs. Raymond Hatcher and Mrs. Dosssett, service chairman; Mrs. Terry Pierce, study; and Mrs. Dale Thompson, worship. Morning group leader, Mrs. Charles Bowyer, and evening group leader, Mrs. Dick Clark, were appointed to serve.

Retiring president, Mrs. Robert Fort, presided at the business meeting, at which yearly reports were made by Mrs. McNew, treasurer; Mrs. Terry Pierce, service committee; Mrs. U. N. Terry, study; Mrs. Hibbard, worship; Mrs. Hatcher, evening group; Mrs. Bowyer, morning group; Mrs. Donna J. Vander, vice president, and a world call secretary, and Mrs. Fort, president.

Mrs. Littlefield, incoming president, gave an overview of the goals for next year. A church picnic was announced for July 23.
Mrs. Bowyer, representative to the Church Women United, described the project for World Community Day in November. The group voted to purchase a layette for Asian children as a pattern for further inquiries. Receiving blankets and diapers are also part of the project.

A worship center arranged by Mrs. Hibbard, in which a large picture of Christ in the garden was displayed and a large white candle, fronted by a smaller white candle for each new officer, with lighted candles around the candles, was used in the installation service.
Following the installation, Mrs. Louder presided a vocal selection, accompanied by Mrs. Littlefield. Mrs. Hibbard gave the prayer, and the meeting closed with the CYF benediction.
Refreshments were served by Mrs. Fort and Mrs. Raymond Stroberg.

Scouts Prepare Pancake Fete

SHOSHONE—Scouts of the LDS Church Troop prepared and served a pancake supper during the social hour of the MIA recently on the church lawn. The cooking was done on open fires as designated in Scout skill.
Cecil Cope, YMMIA superintendent, conducted the meeting. Mrs. May Hatt led a singing and announced other musical numbers presented around the log-chair area.
Juanita Harris played accordions, Kathy Trenkle sang and played her guitar and was then joined by Jeannie Larsen for duets and Maxine Eldredge for trios.

Lila Hester, Conklin Wed In Oregon Rites

TUTTLE—Lila Hester, daughter of Mrs. Althalia Hester, Arago, Ore., and Keith Conklin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hallie Conklin, Tuttle, were married July 24 at the Community Church, Arago.
The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Ben Elliott, Arago. The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Lawrence Wintjen, Ontario.
The bride wore a floor-length gown of white Chantilly lace over peau de soie, fashioned with a basque waistline, oval neckline, long sleeves and a chapel train. The dress was designed and made by Mrs. Kathy Hester, Arago, the bride's sister-in-law.
Her fingertip veil of illusion was held by a crocheted headpiece trimmed with leaf drop pearls. It was fashioned and made by the bride's mother.

The bride carried an orchid surrounded by plink and white carnations and rosebuds on her white Bible.
Mrs. Emma Jean McCain, Arago, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Becky Carl, Coquille, Ore., and Carol Knife, Portland, Ore. Philip Schermerhorn, Arago, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, was best man and ushers were Harley Hester and Gary Hester, brothers of the bride.
Guests were greeted at a reception immediately after the ceremony and registered by Paula Pierce, Myrtle Point, Ore.
The bride's table was centered with a three-flored wedding cake decorated in pink, white and green and topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom; and a styrofoam stairway with a lacy plastic railing winding down to the table. Small dolls dressed identically to the attendants were placed on the stairway.
The cake was cut and served by Mrs. Jim Lovelace and Mrs. Peggy Wintjen, aunts of the bride.

George-Long, Junior-regent, and Mrs. Ted Soper, chaplain. A prize was won by Mrs. Soper.

Committee reports were read by Ruby Murphy, publicity; Mrs. Soper, social service; Mrs. Lloyd Kelley, Mosshaven; Mrs. Robert Lansing, friendship, and Mrs. H. C. Thompson, officers. Refreshments were served by members of the Academy of Friendship.
Members of the Twin Falls Loyal Order of Moose were guests of honor recently at a cookout at the Twin Falls Idaho Power Park. Women of the Moose prepared a buffet dinner and cooked steaks. Cards were played after the dinner.

GROUP MEETS
RUPERT—The Senior Social group of the Methodist Church held for a potluck dinner at the home of Mrs. George Kohis. Mrs. Walter Taylor presided at the short business meeting and the afternoon was spent socially.

Kimberly Crichton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Crichton, New Canaan, Conn., was married June 24 to John William Roper Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John William Roper, Twin Falls.

The First Presbyterian Church of New Canaan was the setting for the wedding. Rev. T. Gustaf-Speers—Jr.—performed—the ceremony.

The bride was attended by Catherine Crichton, sister of the bride; Victoria Roper, sister of the bridegroom; Mrs. J. Michael Crichton, sister-in-law of the bride; and Ann Sayre, cousin of the bride.

Jay B. Gaskill was best man for his cousin. Ushers were Peter P. Atkinson, and J. Michael Crichton and Douglas C. Crichton, brothers of the bride.

The bride was graduated earlier this month from Radcliffe College, cum laude in anthropology. She was an American Field Service student in Göteborg, Sweden.

The bridegroom was graduated, cum laude, from Harvard College in 1955. He is a Rhodes Scholar, attending University College, Oxford.

A garden reception at the Crichton home followed the ceremony.

After a wedding trip in Europe, the couple will reside at Oxford.

'Tractor Deafness', Do You Have It?

"Tractor Deafness" is a common cause of poor hearing among farmers, ranchers and others who operate tractors—or other heavy equipment—over long periods of years.

From research carried on since 1960, we have found several ways to restore the hearing of such persons—even if they have "gone deaf" or poor hearing in both ears.

Use Of Eggs Reviewed By County Agent

SHOSHONE—"Use Eggs with in a week after purchase," advises Mrs. Mary Lou Ruby, county home economics agent. She said the eggs have their best flavor and cooking quality during that time.

After long storage, they may get an "off flavor" taste and lose some of their thickening and leavening power.

Keep eggs cool, also, and keep them in the refrigerator. A few hours in a hot car or kitchen will subtract as much freshness from the eggs as a week in the refrigerator. Left-over egg yolks should be covered with cold water and refrigerated in a tightly covered container. Extra egg whites should also be stored in a covered container in the refrigerator. Their quality is maintained for several days.

Suggestions for using egg yolks include custard, with two yolks for each whole egg in a custard recipe. Extra whites combine well with whole eggs in scrambled eggs and are handy for meringue. Yolks packed hard and pressed through a sieve make attractive topping for salads—green-vegetables—and casseroles.

DIP-COOKIES

Put small vanilla wafers together with a white frosting, then dip half of each cookie in melted semi-sweet chocolate.

SEPARATE BACON
 Don't try to separate refrigerator-chilled slices of bacon. Put the amount of bacon you need in a frypan and separate the slices as they heat. This saves you from tearing the slices.

Linda J. King, Brewer Ceremony

BURLEY—The First Methodist Church, Burley, was the setting for the June 8 evening ceremony uniting in marriage Linda Jean King, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman E. King, Burley, and Frederic Allen Brewer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brewer, Tacoma, Wash.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Paul Ludlow before a setting of beauty baskets of white gladioli and white spider chrysanthemums. A table arrangement of pink carnations and white chrysanthemums were flanked by white tapers in candle holders. Each pew was adorned by a white taper tied with white bows.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, recited vows in a floor-length wedding gown of white silk organza, styled with bell sleeves trimmed with lace insets, a cincture neckline, and a fitted bodice with a high ruffled waistline. The A-line skirt was trimmed with re-embroidered alençon lace insets.

Her bouffant elbow-length veil of illusion was held by pearl deo petals accented with seed pearls cascading down the side and centered with a removable white glameia corsage with white streamers, formed her bridal bouquets.

Susie Morris, Lalla Walla, Wash., was maid of honor. Edith Lou King and Liz Ann King, sisters of the bride, were bridesmaids.

Dave Brewer, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Usher were Frederic King and Tom King, brothers of the bride.

Mrs. Keith Uscola played the traditional wedding music. Soloist was Dennis Yarrington. After the ceremony, the newlyweds greeted guests in the recreation hall of the educational unit of the church.

Mrs. Sherry Mullikin Jones was in charge of the guest book. Gifts were displayed by Deana Van Engelen and Debbie Van Engelen.

The bride's table, covered with a white cloth, was centered with a three-tiered white wedding cake. A nosegay of pink baby Elie roses topped the cake.

The cake was cut and served.

PATRICIA ROBERTSON

Honored Queen Of Area Bethel Is Installed

BURLEY—Honored queen of Bethel No. 18, International Order of Job's Daughters, Patricia Robertson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Robertson, Burley, was recently installed in a special ceremony at the Masonic Temple.

The 23rd Psalm was carried out in the ceremony and members of her court lighted a bulb in a cross prior to forming a cross near the altar. The color scheme was pink and white and her flower was the rose.

Other officers installed include Rhonda Harvey, senior princess; Jill Hoffbuh, junior princess; Kathy Barry, guide; Kristine Lynch, marshal; Jan Hoffbuh, chaplain; Dea P. Goman, treasurer; Deane VanEngelen, recorder; Karen Kunau, musician; Judy Hinz, librarian; Dalce Corb, Mary Seydour, and Elliott, Pam Brown and Debbie VanEngelen, messengers; Judy Spencer, Mrs. Glenn Kunau and Mrs. Lex Kunau.

Guests were seated at quartet tables centered with pink gnomes. Mrs. Mack Crouch played background organ music. A rehearsal dinner was held in the Chaparral Room of the Ponderosa Inn, hosted by the bridegroom's parents. The wedding day luncheon was hosted by Mrs. Frank Spencer, Mrs. James Kircher, Mrs. B. V. Holcomb and Mrs. William Morgan.

A pre-nuptial dinner was held at Mrs. Lex Kunau and a luncheon was hosted by Mrs. Ray Barlow and Mrs. Glenn Kunau.

After a wedding trip to Sun Valley, the newlyweds will reside in New York City. This fall the bridegroom will attend Columbia Graduate School in electrical engineering.

MRS. FREDERIC A. BREWER
By Mrs. Ray Barlow and Mrs. Tom Reynolds. Others assisting were Mrs. Ann Jacobsen, sister of the bridegroom, Mrs. Frank Spencer, Mrs. Glenn Kunau and Mrs. Lex Kunau.

LEFTOVERS USED
Sometimes when cream is served with a party, there's cream leftover in the refrigerator. You may want to whip it, sweeten it to taste and flavor it with a dash of salt and a little vanilla, and freeze it to have on hand to serve with a dessert. At serving time, defrost the cream frozen or let it defrost.

Jill Casper, Dowd Exchange Nuptial Vows

BUHL—Jill Casper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis W. Casper, Salt Lake City, and Rodney David Dowd, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Dowd, Buhl, were united in marriage in a morning ceremony at the Salt Lake City LDS Temple. Elder Spencer W. Kimball performed the ceremony.

A reception was held that evening at the Pioneer Stake Center, Salt Lake City.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of white watered silk with long sleeves. She wore a fingertip length veil and carried a bouquet of white roses surrounded by white carnations.

Lois Casper was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Ann Marie Larsen, Linda Murray and Marsha Morris.

Bill Murray served as best man. Ushers were Kent Casper, Paul Casper and Larry Morris. The wedding cake which centered the bride's table, was decorated with coral roses.

Reception assistants included Chris Spetsas, Gwen Casper, Lana Williams, Melinda Morris, Teresa Morris, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Spetsas and Mrs. Dean Williams. Sue Morris was in charge of the guest book. Mark Fairchild and LaVon Morris were giftbearers.

The couple will reside in Salt Lake City where Mr. Dowd is employed by Westinghouse Co.

Dear Abby

BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: I am 29 and the mother of three children under 10. My husband owns a very popular bar-lounge in town. (We live in a suburb.) He comes home anywhere from 6 to 6 in the morning. He gets up about 11 a.m. and goes to work at about 3:30 p.m.

I don't mind his being in the bar business because it's been good to us, but I do resent very much his FORBIDDING me over to come to his place of business unannounced or uninvited. (By the way, I never have, and I probably never would, so he doesn't have to worry.)

He forbids me to set foot in the place except when HE takes me—which is always on the dullest night of the week.

It's a respectable bar, and enters to women as well as men. This may sound silly to you, but his forbidding me to come by has become such a source of bitterness that I have developed ulcers. It is actually ruining our relationship. Can you tell me what to do?

BITTER-HALF
DEAR BITTER-HALF: Tell your husband that you have had about as much FORBIDDING as you can stand, and that if he values your marriage he will accompany you to an impartial third party to help resolve your problems. If you have an clergyman to guide you, ask your family physician to recommend a marriage counselor, psychiatrist, or psychologist.

DEAR ABBY: I am in the guard house for going A.W.O.I. I've been here 3 weeks, and I hate to tell you how much longer I've got to here, because this is my third A.W.O.I. My girl friend just sent word to me that she is pregnant. Do you you think they would let me out long enough to marry her? WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: Talk to the chaplain and priest for advice. Maybe they'll allow you just enough liberty to marry the girl. But don't expect a honeymoon.

DEAR ABBY: We were given a dog as a gift, and everything is just fine, except for one matter: After I have dinner, my husband gives the dog his plate to lick clean.

I think this is a disgusting practice, and could be dangerous to our health. My husband says as long as all the dishes go into the automatic dishwasher and are rinsed in boiling water, it doesn't matter. What do you think about this?

RED'S WIFE
DEAR WIFE: Tell Red that if "it doesn't make any difference," you'd just as soon have your own dishes and let the dog have his.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a couple who take your husband out to eat every night, but do not include you?

My husband works with this man, and every evening he and his wife invite my husband out to dinner. They know he's married and they know me very well, yet I am ignored as if I didn't exist. I. O. FORM I.A.

DEAR I.O.: I don't think much of the couple. But why let them? Your husband doesn't have to accept unless he wants to.

Truthful? Write to Abby, Box 63709, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Pastel Pound Cake
 1 package white or yellow cake mix
 1 package (3 ounces) any flavored gelatin
 1/2 cup water
 1/2 cup salad oil
 1 egg, unbeaten
 Empty cake mix and other ingredients into a large bowl and beat for three minutes or until smooth and creamy.
 Four batter into one 13- by 2-inch pan which has been lined on bottom with paper. Bake at 350 degrees for 40 to 45 minutes. Cool in pan for 15 minutes, then reneigh and cool on cake rack.

Lemon-Glaze Topping
 Gradually blend one-third cup lemon juice into two cups sifted confectioners' sugar. Add two tablespoons melted butter and one tablespoon water. With cake still on rack, push holes through it with toothpick. Pour on glaze, allowing it to run into holes. Place on serving platter.

LDS MIA Talent Program Given
 DECLIO—"The Three F's"—Folk-Fun-Frolic" was the theme of the MIA program featuring talent from all the LDS wards in Burley Stake held at the fifth and seventh Ward Church, with Robert Sutton as master of ceremonies.

ADD PARSLEY
 Fresh parsley in the house? Mince lots of it and add to bread stuffing for roast chicken or turkey. The parsley provides delightful flavor — if you add enough of it.

Musical numbers from the Fifth Ward were presented by Bobbie Sue Brown, a solo, and a number by Rich Morely, Bill Mendenhall, Steve Sutton, Joan Lambert and Debra Handy.

The Folk Singers from Decla Ward presented two numbers and the MIA Mads sang from the Star Ward.
 Billy Pittingill and Debra Peterson sang a duet, representing the Eighth Ward, and Alan Wood and Steven Sorntson presented a musical number from the Fourth Ward.

A musical skit was given by the Boy Scouts of the Second Ward and a duet was sung by Greg Rasmussen and Lora Kidd, representing First Ward. The Seventh Ward musical numbers were presented by Nel Putnam and Gil Putnam.

SPORTS

SECONDS TOO LATE, a net is left empty as a Canada goose, it's tall still visible, dives for safety in the depths of Mormon Reservoir.

FIRST CATCH OF THE DAY is displayed by successful hunter Joe Kelso, Fairfield, after 15 minutes of wild life and seek action on Mormon Reservoir. The bird was later banded and joined 99 others in the Camas Prairie flock who became reluctant participants in an Idaho Fish and Game Department migration route study.

Net-Wielding, Speedboat-Mounted Camas County Cowboys Aid In Mormon Reservoir Goose Roundup

By LARRY HOVEY
Times-News Sports Editor

FAIRFIELD—Camas County Rod and Gun Club members and personnel from the Idaho Fish and Game Department saddled up their fiberglass boats and 50-horsepower motors last Friday for what turned out to be the biggest Canada goose roundup in the history of Mormon Reservoir.

In a two-fold project of violent extremes, 100 Camas Prairie honkers were banded, equalling the total for the first three water high-links sessions over the past four years.

Reason for the banding of the Mormon Reservoir flock is the same as every other—finding migration routes and habits of the birds. A big reason is that the Mormon population right now is a mystery. Its habits are considerably different than its kin immediately across the foothills in the Snake River—drainage. Friday's bonanza should prove a great help to biologists.

With seven boats—one to keep the fishermen from coming into the Grove Reach arm and fouling things up—the herding party started about 2:00 p.m. toward a special V-trap on a small island. With engines at a bare idle, the admiral herded the geese at their own speed—the young being unable to fly yet and the adults grounded by maling.

Everything worked well when about 150 of the birds were correctly positioned, the semi-circle of boats began the push toward shore. The birds moved leisurely away and at the last minute the men—some of them floundering—leaped overboard and pushed the geese along the guide fence into the holding trap.

Then while the biologists unlimbered their bands, charts and graphs, the sportmen—with more than a bit of gloom—brought plan two into operation.

Those geese who considered themselves fortunate in evading the holding trap, soon found out they never had it so had with three to a boat the herdsmen became corsairs seeking targets of opportunity—which turned out to be geese busily trying to swim back into the backwaters. It was strictly a matter of man and engines against a honker's ability to hold its breath. Revving up the big engines, a driver would pick out a goose, another seated in the circled. All three watched the surface. "Behind us," cried the tall observer and Pato spun the boat for another run. Joe Kelso was the net man but for several sorties his net air, the dives shorten in length. Then it becomes a matter of finesse, usually high-powered circles with everyone grabbing and the luckless goose finding no place to turn.

Neiman Kelso ky-eyed after one sweep, the velocity of the boat doubling the aluminum net pole and catching his fingers in a squeezing vise.

Finally the net was slipped over the youngster, who was duly banded, released and soon was no worse for the experience.

After two of those, a big adult was spotted and it was soon apparent the quarry would be three times as difficult as the floggers.

The wearing down process was long, the wily honker almost invariably coming up behind the boat, giving it a few seconds' extra breathing time that multiplied its endurance.

With five boats chasing, it soon became hard to find new targets. The adults were the last, of course, and it wasn't long before they found themselves duto and triple teamed.

The Pato crew joined with the hunters in Tom Wokersien's boat and with expert handling it seemed one boat was almost in position for a run as soon as the bedraggled diver bobbed up for air. Still it put up a real battle in the one-sided chase of hide and seek. After a couple of minor collisions, the admiral straightened out and the honker was soon wearing his aluminum tag.

The last one was a three-pronged attack at the last of the wily adults and this one had the honks spinning in circles, launching off each other at times and the crews hanging on for dear life in the hard-charging spins and circles.

There were still new boys to explore and geese to conquer when Charles Blake, regional biologist and head of the banding campaign, called it off for the unlikely reason that his expedition had run out of bands.

The federal boys in the Fish and Wildlife Service consider geese their own special property, okaying banding projects and providing the bands, duly recorded at national headquarters.

When Blake suggested the Mormon project it was okayed but in review of past performances, only 100 bands were allotted. This probably ranks as the first time the federal government ever economized on anything.

But it had been a great morning and the helping sportsmen reported back to jobs in Fairfield with a haul of new anecdotes.

Blake found the 100 banded birds a big boost toward the overall aim of the project. "We have had too few taken in the past three drives to really establish a line on the Mormon geese," he opined.

"We have eight or 10 out-of-state returns on geese banded and all of them have been from central Nevada," he continued, "but the returns aren't sufficient to tell us if these eight or 10 have been taken in migration, say to California, or if they were taken on their wintering grounds."

"It is surprising to find that our Snake River geese are residents, living here the year around. Yet you come this short distance to Mormon (Reservoir) and they are migratory."

"The reservoir population of about 225 birds—75 to 80 percent of them this year's imprint—does not begin on the large impoundment. The department has proved this. Prior to fishing season biologists conducted a nesting census and found 11 pairs of Canada geese with nests on the dikes and small islands."

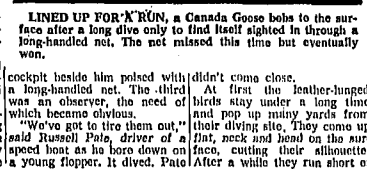

Two weeks after the fishing season opened—despite new regulations a tearing people away from those nesting areas—the harassment of boats and anglers had caused the adults to abandon nine nests. A second check found two pairs preserved and brought off their broods.

"These young are being hatched in what they call the swamp south of Hill City and on Camas Creek," Blake said. "We assume the adults bring them overland into the Dairy Creek drainage and then into the reservoir."

And there is a friendly and spirited little battle waging between the bird biologists and the fish biologists in the department. The bird biologists would like to see additional regulations—perhaps even a brief closure—on angling during the incubation period to benefit the pairs selecting the reservoir proper for nesting. The fish biologists aren't even sure if the current 200-foot immunity circle is acceptable.

The one certain thing, however, is that as long as the special chess aspects of goose banding projects are there, the department will never lack volunteer labor.

Billie Jean King Wins Women's Championship At Wimbledon

By ROBERT JONES

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—Billie Jean King established herself as the world's No. 1 woman tennis player in sweeping Britain's veteran Ann Haydon Jones 6-3, 6-4 for the women's singles title—her second in succession—and then shared the women's doubles and mixed doubles crowns in a feat last achieved 16 years ago.

The last player to score Wimbledon's rare triple was Doris Hart of the U.S. in 1951.

Billie Jean and 18-year-old Rosamunde Casals of San Francisco scored a comeback 9-11, 6-4, 6-2 triumph over defending champion Maria Bueno of Brazil and Nancy Richey of San Angelo, Tex., in women's doubles.

In the final match of a long, exhausting day the bespectacled Californian paired with Australian's Owen Davidson in beating Miss Bueno and Ken Fletcher of Australia 7-5, 6-2 for the mixed doubles crown.

Mrs. King's three finals kept her on the center court for a total of more than 3 1/2 hours—and she was as jaunty at the end as at the beginning.

In the next-to-last game of the mixed doubles she won her services game by love, hitting a clear ace and two fine volleys.

A packed gallery of 17,000 gave the American girl a standing ovation.

In the men's doubles final, South Africans Bob Hewitt and Fred McMillan scored an upset over favored Roy Emerson and Fletcher of Australia 6-2, 6-3, 6-4. John Newcombe of Australia won the men's singles title Friday.

It was Mrs. King's unrelenting net attack that decided the women's doubles and mixed doubles.

ESCAPEES OF ABOUT 125 geese that were being herded into a trap on the island by men in the background thought themselves lucky at this point after evading the encirclement. A couple of minutes later five motorboats, loaded with net-

Anew gambit has been discovered in the continuing battle between taxpayers and public-supported institutions. It has been tried off and on for the past few years and has been given the name of "Portland." Because the taxpayers, for the second time, defeated the bond issue, the board voted to do away with some of the services.

Portland dropped athletics after a $5.5 million bond was defeated and immediately made it appear to the taxpayer that athletics were accounting for most of it. This could also be in the reporting of the situation which also will see a 300-percent reduction, restrictions on the number of classes and $1.3 million out of the "underlying student" program.

History Unit Will Tour Hailey Area

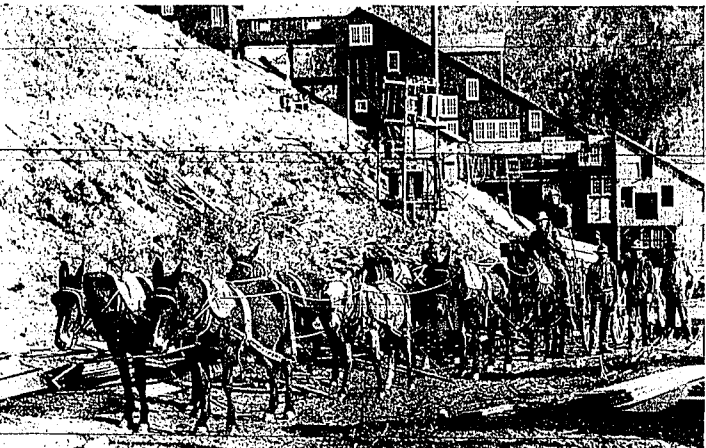

The Idaho Historical Society will conduct an overnight tour in the Hailey area July 15-16, with Gilo Fleming as guide and narrator.

Mr. Fleming has lived all his life around Hailey, and was born on a ranch 12 miles from town in 1887.

The tour will include the ghost town of Bullion, Bradford and Muldoon; the Hailey Museum, and historical sites on Deer Creek.

In 1850, several small towns grew rapidly about five miles west of Hailey around Bullion, Gulch. In 1833, four smelting plants with a daily output of 50 tons of bullion were in operation, and freight wagons moved the lead and silver to the railroads.

Those going on the tour are to meet at the Hailey Museum at 11 a.m. Saturday, July 15.

SHOWN DRIVING A FREIGHT wagon of lumber at the North Star Mine, six miles north of Hailey, is Tony Joslin, seated on top of the load. The picture was taken in approximately 1886. It is a typical scene of a small town around the Hailey area which the Idaho Historical Society will visit July 15-16 on an overnight tour.

Veteran Fighter Pilot Of Three Wars, T.F. Native Is Promoted To Colonel

Col. Kenneth L. Skeen, a native of Twin Falls who is visiting his parents here for his next two weeks, has been selected for promotion to the rank of full colonel in the United States Air Force.

A son of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Skeen, 149 Madison St., Twin Falls, the colonel is a graduate of Twin Falls High School and earned pilot training in the cadet program in April, 1942. He received his wings and commission at Victoria, Tex., on May 24, 1943, and has remained on active duty since that time.

The colonel is a veteran fighter pilot of three wars—World War II, Korean War and the Vietnam War—and has flown 332 combat missions.

His combat missions have totaled more than 740 hours of combat flight time in P-47s, F-86s, F-84s and F-105s. He completed his Southeast Asia combat tour after flying 127 F-105 combat missions over North Vietnam in July of 1966. His total time is 8,400 hours of which 4,400 hours is jet flight time.

Upon returning to the United States, he was assigned to the Practical Air Warfare Center at Elgin Air Force Base, Fla. When he returns here after his assignment will be to the Air Proving Ground Center where he will assume the position of director of the Munitions Test Directorate for the Air Force Systems Command.

The colonel holds the Distinguished Flying Cross with two Oak Leaf Clusters, the Air Medal with 19 Oak Leaf Clusters, the Commendation Medal with two clusters, the Distinguished Unit Citation and numerous service and campaign medals.

Col. Skeen and his family reside at 213 Buck Drive, Fort Walton Beach, Fla.

Library Aides Return From Conference

Irene Heninger, Jean Flowers, Elaine Nesbit, Thelma Ballen and Robert Bruce, Twin Falls public library staff members, recently returned from the week-long American Library Association Conference held in San Francisco.

Mr. Bruce attended a pre-conference workshop on "Orienting the Non-Student Adult in the Public Library."

Mr. Bruce announces that Miss Margaret Hansen has joined the staff as assistant children's librarian—she is a recent graduate of the School of Library Service, University of Washington, Seattle, and will help to expand the program of library services for children.

One of the additions to the library includes the new edition of "Thomas's Register of Manufacturers." This book has three parts: an index of manufactured products arranged by place of manufacture; one of manufacturers arranged alphabetically by name, and one of trade names and brand names.

Other additions include several publications of interest to businessmen, such as "Finance Facts," a monthly publication containing information on current financial behavior, and reports of "Futures and Open Contracts on Potatoes and Grain" from the Minneapolis Grain Exchange.

The following books are missing from the library, and Mr. Bruce would appreciate their return: "Vietnam Witness," "Fate," "Death Be Not Proud," "Gunther," "Les Miserables," "Hugo," "The Dirty Dozen," "Nathanson," "Manchild in the Promised Land," "Six Existential Thinkers," "Blackham," "Memoirs of Saint-Simon," "Through Mine Own Eyes," "Trevelyan," "Of Time and the River," Wolfe, and "Armageddon," Uris.

Deadline For VA Loans Is Set July 25

NOISE — Loryn E. Kopan, director of the Veterans' Administration Center, announced Friday that less than one month remains for World War II veterans to use their guaranteed privileges for a loan to purchase a home or farm for business purposes.

The deadline is July 25, and it is the result of congressional action which has delayed the final date of eligibility several times.

The deadline will not affect veterans of the Korean conflict or veterans who have served since Jan. 31, 1955. Mr. Kopan pointed out. These veterans are covered by different legislation.

The Veterans Administration will guarantee up to 60 per cent of the purchase price of a home for a veteran with limitation as to the total purchase price.

Mr. Kopan urges veterans planning to purchase a home to make their selection as soon as possible.

McNamara To Visit Bonn In Mid-July

BONN, Germany (AP)—U.S. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara will come to Bonn for political talks with his West German counterpart, Dr. Gerhard Schröder, in mid-July, a spokesman of the West German Defense Ministry announced today.

Schröder had invited McNamara when the two met in early May during the North Atlantic Treaty Organization defense ministers' conference in Paris. The exact date of his visit is not yet agreed upon.

Topics of the talks would be defense problems in the broadest sense, the spokesman said. The United States is anxious to know how cuts in the German defense budget will affect Germany's role in NATO.

IT'S NOT SNAPDRAGONS, but Saloinia, a plant whose pink flowers resemble snapdragons, which Mrs. Patricia Platt and Mrs. Sandra Brown, Buhl, are admiring. It's doubtful that when the Buhl Kiwanians donated the planters they ever expected to find one of them become a test plot for this new forage plant which recently was released for field planting by the Soil Conservation Service.

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

One of the Kiwanians' planters in BUHL has been drawing quite a bit of attention lately from passers-by. The plant that catches their attention, Saloinia, has had a profusion of pink blossoms, resembling snapdragons, since about the first of May. Saloinia is quite a hardy type, and this plant started its spring growth by greening up early in February.

Even though its numerous blossoms are comparable in beauty to many ornamental, it is really one of the newest hay and pasture plants which have recently been released by the Soil Conservation Service for field plantings in Southern Idaho.

A native of France, the plant has undergone an extensive development, and evaluation program to become a high producing cold hardy plant. A relative of alfalfa in the legume family, it is not known to cause bloat.

It is not a competitor with alfalfa. In the lower irrigated valleys, alfalfa will out-produce Omer Saloinia, but in elevations above 5000 feet, and annual precipitation of 12 inches or more, it is the best producer.

A planting was made this spring on Bill Clark's 7-Triangle Ranch in the Three Creeks Area.

Dancing slippers are not rarely in the home of the Bruce Turner family in DECLEO. All five daughters, plus mother, are accomplished dancers.

Recently, two of the girls, Susan and Julie, placed first in the Student Showcases Competition at the Dance Educators of America Convention in Salt Lake City. A Hawaiian dance was presented by the girls, when they accompanied their mother, Lila, to the convention.

When competing in the Magic Valley Talent Show in Buhl this spring, Shauna, 18, Susan, 17, Tamara, 12, Julie, 10, and petite Michelle, 5, won one weekly competition and received honorable mention in the finals.

Much of their ability to "tap in time" must be inherited from their mother who has danced throughout Magic Valley not only for her dancing school in BURLEY and MALTA, but also for piano playing. Her mother is a member of the Al DeVries Quartet that plays all over the valley.

Mrs. Turner began her dancing career when she was just 6 years old and became a student assistant from 1943 to 1947 for Barbara Church Hopson, formerly of Burley, now of Pocatello. Since 1952, she has had her own studio in Burley and has upwards of 200 students during the winter.

Each year she attends dance workshops in Utah and California to keep up with the new dancing techniques, which enable her to teach tap, ballet, modern jazz, Hawaiian and acrobatics.

In addition to all of her dancing activities, and orchestra duties, she maintains a spacious country home, judges garden and flower shows, and manages a family of seven children. Her nieces in the basement are indulged with hundreds of jars of home canned fruits and vegetables.

One son, Wayne, 10, tried his talents at dancing, but found that he was not cut out for it, so he turned to the ranch more to his liking.

Perhaps little Monte, age 2, also will do dancing slippers before he makes his decision to be a cattle man like his dad.

Wins Case

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet officials forgot one thing when they claimed Y. A. Levit missed work three days in a row and tried to fire him. The three days were Feb. 29, 30 and 31.

Levit, a school library worker, had no trouble winning his case before a court in the Soviet central Asian village of Uritskoye. He showed the court a calendar.

It was not a leap year, there was no Feb. 29, let alone Feb. 30 or 31.

Solid Gain In Housing Ups Building Totals For May

NEW YORK—May was a big month for the construction industry as a solid gain in housing pushed the month's total of construction contracts above the $5 billion mark. It was reported today by the F. W. Dodge Company, leading analyst of construction activity.

Total May contract value for future building and other construction work climbed to $5,094,827,000—within one per cent of the year-ago total. Last May was the biggest construction month on record.

Last month the seasonally adjusted Dodge index rose 12 per cent from April's rate to the highest point so far in 1957 at 154 (1957-1959-100).

"May's very strong advance brought the rate of contracting for new construction back almost to the level that had been reached early in 1956, before the severe contraction began," reports George A. Christie, Dodge's chief economist.

Contract value for nonbuilding construction totaled $1,284,812,000—a four per cent decline from last year's May total. Highways, utilities, and dams and reservoirs each showed substantial percentage decreases during the latest month, though these categories were running ahead of very heavy year-ago volume.

Sewer and water contracts, ahead in May by 25 per cent, are becoming the most important source of expansion within the 1957 nonbuilding construction markets. At the end of five months, the value of such projects was 28 per cent higher than in 1956.

Book Review

MORALITY IN AMERICA
L. ROSE MOSKOW
With unusual candor Morality in America examines the immorality so disturbing in our everyday lives and exposes the meaning of the moral crises in which we live.

It discusses frankly the dilemma each of us face over religion, power, prejudice, money and sex. It answers such questions as: What is America's greatest vice? Are we becoming sexually more promiscuous? Do we worship money as the source of happiness, and why do so many clergymen fear our churches have fallen?

Robert Moskoff, a skilled, award-winning journalist, has discussed our moral problems with nearly a hundred thinkers, leaders, experts and statesmen here and abroad. Their insights and thoughts, combined with the author's own understanding of our swiftly changing and dangerous age, offer a provocative and helpful analysis of the decisions each American is forced to make.

The discovery of the computer, the bomb, the oral contraceptive and the subconscious have damaged men's sense of individual responsibility. Scientists like gods have given us the potential for heaven and hell, and then have often solemnly turned their backs. The lesson of our scientific age is that we have not found truth, but we are searching for it.

Those who yearn for the earlier ages when American society was divided into more manageable units are wishing for something that is gone forever. And those that condemn religion as a superstition fail to see the realities of a mass society, but it does become rarer. Those with the courage to do their own thinking belong, as Paul Tillich says, "They have the courage to say 'no' and this is a very great achievement in certain societies."

He puts his finger on the challenge of these decisions with "The individual has in himself essentially the responsibility to form his own convictions and act accordingly."

A frightening prospect that worries Yale-University professor, Chris Argyris, is the individual who is—any—conscience independent of the machine-age tribe.

He says, "Morality is going down and will slide further unless we change the basic parts of the organizations, not realizing that this kind of organized life we are creating is deteriorating our freedom."

Many of the leaders and thinkers who were interviewed by Mr. Moskoff have demonstrated the courage to accept responsibility of their convictions; they speak with authority and understanding.

This is a book which dares us to look honestly at ourselves. It reports boldly on the American way of life and society; our values and our hypocrisies.

The author is a senior editor of Look magazine and has been on Look's editorial staff for more than eleven years. He wrote the book in response to an article published in Look in 1957.

He found that many people are deeply troubled by the new moral questions to which they can find no answers. He challenges men and women with an unique, opportune chance to discover moral answers for themselves.

Dag Hammarskjold Diary Is Basis For New Book

Dag Hammarskjold's innermost reflections on his role in the Suez crisis of 1956 are expressed in his notes in "Markings" dated during that period, says Dr. Henry P. Van Dusen.

Dr. Van Dusen, former president of Union Theological Seminary, was the first to take seriously Hammarskjold's own diary and to correlate dated entries with events going on in the world around him or in his personal life at the time.

He made this calendar the basis of a book, "Dag Hammarskjold: The Statesman and His Faith," published recently by Harper and Row.

After the Siala conflict was finally underway the first week of November, 1956, Hammarskjold worked ceaselessly by day and by night without respite, attempting to negotiate peace, Dr. Van Dusen recalls.

"One night there was a brief break, Hammarskjold's colleagues prevailed upon him to go to the bedroom adjoining his office for two or three hours' rest. He went, but he did not sleep, attempting to negotiate peace, Dr. Van Dusen recalls.

"I will lay me down in peace, and take my rest for it is thou, Lord, only, that makest me dwell in safety." (Psalm 4:9)

"Hold thee still in the Lord; fret not thyself, evil shall thou be moved to, shall (Psalm 37:7).

Hammarskjold followed these quotations with the reflection: "Every hour 'Eye to eye' With this love Which sees all But overlooks in patience, Which is justice, But does not condemn. If our glances mirror our own in humility."

When his efforts triumphed and a cease-fire had been achieved, Dr. Van Dusen reports, Hammarskjold wrote in "Markings":

"Without our being aware of it, our fingers are so guided that a pattern is created when the threads get caught in the web."

A few days later, the Secretary-General wrote: "Somebody placed the shuttle in my hand; somebody who had al-

What in the world is a "depth of field" meter? What does it look like? How do you read this little mess of numbers? Is it worth knowing how to use it? Will it help your picture taking? A depth of field meter is a guide that will tell you how much area will be in clear focus in front of and in back of your subject according to your lens opening.

When you look at this meter it may look a bit confusing at first but it really is very simple. There are two sets of numbers, one set usually has "f/" behind it. These are the numbers that tell you how far you are from your subject.

The other set is marked with the same numbers that you will find on your camera's setting guide. To understand what these guide numbers look like examine the photo of the depth of field meter.

First, obtain your focus the same way as you normally would. Second, see which number in the foot column is closest to the center of your aperture guide group - that will tell you how close you are to your subject. Third, set your lens to that number's f and opening. Fourth, note where you set your lens opening. Fifth, glance at the aperture guide on your depth of field meter, keeping in mind your lens setting, then find the same two numbers on the aperture guide. Across from these two numbers and on the foot set of numbers you will see how much of the picture is going to be in focus.

For example, if your lens opening is f22 then go to your depth of field meter and find the numbers 22 on the aperture section of the guide. Looking at the footage on the meter at the numbers across from the pair of 22's you will find your depth of field. If you are five feet from your subject, between three to seven feet from you. You will find that the more you close your lens opening the more depth of field you will get.

The time you spend in learning how to use this little guide will be well worth it. Because to become a better photographer you must learn to figure what your camera's "eye" will register up in a particular situation. This way you can get the camera to do what you want.

Bliss Musician Attends Clinic

BLISS - Linda Stroud, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Stroud, Bliss, returned home recently from a two-week summer music clinic held annually at the University of Idaho, Moscow.

Miss Stroud reported that 100 voices were in the chorus for the final concert Friday evening. There were 100 pieces in the band and 40 pieces in the orchestra. Students from all over Idaho and those in other states interested in taking this summer course participate in the final concerts.

Miss Stroud took classes in musicianship, chorus and piano. She will be a senior this fall in the Bliss High School and for the past two years has been teaching piano and organ.

Visiting Rights

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) - A wife has been awarded custody of a cocker spaniel and dog visitation rights have been granted to the husband in a divorce case.

Explanation about currency $1.00 notes have a prefix letter seems to be in order at this time. Five telephone calls and two letters about Silver Certificates this week prompt us to give a brief explanation about such notes, and their printing. Every note printed by the Bureau of Engraving has two identical serial numbers, and no two of these notes are numbered alike. There are eight digits and a prefix and suffix letter on each note, and when necessary ciphers (zeros) are used at the left of any number or numbers to make this total of eight digits. When a new numbering sequence is used, as when a new series is issued, the first note is numbered 100 000 001A, the next note to be 100 000 002A and so on through 999 999 999A. When this group has been printed, the suffix letter "A" will remain the same while the prefix changes to "B," "C" and so on, to 999 999 001A. This suffix letter will remain constant until 25 groups of 99,999-999 notes have been numbered. The 100,000,000th note in each group will be a star note. Our modern Federal Reserve exchangeable for silver. In the meantime, millions of Silver Certificates have been called in and destroyed, and in a few years these notes will have disappeared from regular channels and will become collector's items. At the present time, much-worn Silver Certificates are still not valuable enough to save, but crisp, new certificates are selling over face value, and in time all of them will appreciate in value. Dealers are already starting to advertise for such certificates, paying about $1.10 for each $1.00 note and there is no doubt but what the value will continue to rise. Early Silver Certificates will bring around $3.00 apiece, and some scarce dates much more than that. Silver Certificates in the small size are found in $1.00, $5.00 and $10.00 denominations, with the $10.00 being the scarcest. If you have a group of these Silver Certificates, in nice condition, it will pay you to hang onto them for awhile. They are always spendable, and they may increase in value rapidly. Any information you can send this column on any merchant's tokens (nickies) you might know about, will be much appreciated. We are still cataloging new varieties. (Questions on coins and currency should be sent to The Money Box, c/o The Times-News, Twin Falls, Idaho 83301.)

Utility Firm Wins Prize At Buhl Fete

BUHL—The Mountain States Telephone Co. float was judged the outstanding float in the Buhl Sloggrass Days parade and won cash award, it was announced Friday. The Filer High School marching band won $100 cash award for the best marching band and the Jerome County Sheriff's posse won the $100 award for the best riding club. Second place for a float went to the Camp Fire Girls and third place to the Stitch and Sit 4-H Club, Castletown. The craftsmanship award went to the Twin Falls Jaycees for their float which featured Terri Thormock, Miss Junior Miss. The most patriotic entry award was given to the Buhl VFW post and auxiliary for a float featuring the Liberty Bell. The most humorous float entry was the AA hearse entered by a Twin Falls car club, David Bloomham was judged the best individual entry. The best motorized entry, not an automobile, went to Ed Vogel's steam engine.

Richard Hill's wagon drawn by 10 mules won the top honors for the horse-drawn entries. The best antique car was entered by the Magic Valley Motors of Buhl and Jim Bolton, Twin Falls, had the best hotrod entry. Honored as tourists for the day by the Buhl Jaycees were Rev. and Mrs. Carl Hinz. The couple was presented with the key to the city, treated to lunch and taken on a tour of the Buhl area by Dick Benken. Darwin Clark, Buhl, took top honors in the beard-growing contest with the longest beard. The best-trimmed beard award went to Wayne Iversen, Buhl, and the most unusual beard award went to Charlie McGuire.

Bank Float Wins Rupert July 4 Prize

RUPERT—Rupert wound up its 41st annual July 4 rodeo and celebration Tuesday night, after a full day of activities on July 4. Grand prize winner in the radio was a float entered by the Idaho First National Bank, depicting the theme of "50 Years of Progress." The theme was based on Rupert's fifteenth anniversary as an organized city. The winning float used a theme of "Indian Trails to Centralia" and featured an Indian on a horse in a green mountain setting, with a jet with real vapor trail on the floor. Four days of pari-mutuel racing concluded Tuesday afternoon with Grant Wall, Layton, Utah, named the top loser with seven wins and a total of 28 points. Also included in the festivities was the naming of city winners, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wilforth, his rodeo queen for 1968, Alta Lee Bennett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bennett, resigned over this year's celebration. Inland Empire Carnival was in for the night with music and judging from the huge crowds in attendance at all features of the celebration, it would be termed a success by the Chamber of Commerce, sponsors.

Rupert Rotary Club Installs

RUPERT—William Hanes, manager of the Idaho Power Co., was joint host of the Rotary Club at a dinner meeting at the Rupert Elks Lodge. Other officers who were installed were Don Dickson, vice president, and Price Soars, secretary. Charles Clark presented the program, showing pictures and discussing his travels in Turkey, Greece, Bulgaria, Italy and other European countries. Wives of the members were guests for the installation meeting, with 64 in attendance.

Yellow, Green Worms Target Of Battle In Sawtooth Forest Area

By ANN DAILY
Times-News Staff Writer

Approximately 75 men and women members of the Sawtooth National Forest and other groups, stood poised and ready this week to enter into combat with a green and yellow worm.

The target for the intensified preparation, continual checking and timing is the spruce budworm, which in addition to a pestiferous buff-colored moth, the danger from the worm lies in its larvae stage, when it feeds on the new growth of the host tree. At this time, the worm is susceptible to spray.

Millions of these worms now feed, and if left alone will destroy approximately 60,000 acres of Sawtooth National Forest in the Big Smoky area north of Fairfield at the confluence of the South Fork of the Boise River and Big Smoky Creeks.

The first recorded infestation of the spruce budworm in epidemic proportions occurred in 1909 on Vancouver Island, B. C. It was not recognized as a serious threat in the western United States until 1922 when two outbreaks occurred in Idaho. Since 1944 epidemics have been recorded in Idaho, Oregon, Montana, New Mexico, Arizona and Colorado. The Big Smoky area has been infested since 1952.

In 1963 there were 1.5 million acres of forest land infested in the Intermountain region. Unreasonably cold weather in 1965 reduced the infestation to the Big Smoky area and a few widely scattered locations.

The present epidemic started in 1964 and worked westward. Forests in Montana, Idaho and Wyoming are now infested with the worms.

The spruce budworm is the most widely distributed and destructive forest tree defoliator in North America. Spruce, Douglas-fir and true firs are the trees most often attacked.

In epidemic conditions, spruce budworm caterpillars eat all, or nearly all, of the current year's growth of needles. After about four years of heavy defoliation in the stand, tree mortality starts. During the long period of gradual defoliation, trees also become excellent targets for other insects and diseases.

The worm, pale yellow with green stripes and a white head, is most destructive in its larvae stage May through July. It is in this stage that the worm is susceptible to insecticide.

When hit with insecticide, the worm falls from the tree in a "dancer" position, a silver, spider-like web. The web is the most common natural predator of the budworm. It and cold weather are the two natural controls of the spread of the worm.

The war against the spruce budworm has been fought in research laboratories, on planning tables and by spray planes for the past three decades. Aerial and ground surveys are made each year to determine the extent and severity of the budworm infestations.

The Intermountain region's forests of spruce and fir are valuable for timber production, watershed cover, wildlife habitat and outdoor recreation. The spruce budworm is a threat to all of these resources.

In looking for new insecticide treatments, scientists seek chemicals that will be effective, selective and non-persistent. In 1964, a research program in Insecticide Evaluation was begun at the U.S. Forest Service Experiment Station, Berkeley, Calif. Its goal, under the direction of Dr. Arthur D. Moore, was to develop and test new insecticides for control of forest insects.

Working closely with the insecticide group at 17 test stations, research assistants and graduate students under the direction of Dr. John E. Cullin, professor of Entomology, University of California, Berkeley.

From the mid-fifties, when the first aerial spray projects against the spruce budworm were successfully conducted, until quite recently, DDT had been the only approved insecticide in use.

One new chemical, Zectran, which will be used in the Big Smoky area, has shown all the characteristics the researchers sought, and does not leave accumulated residues, as DDT did. In the past three years, Zectran has been tested on forest lands. There is no evidence yet to indicate that it will persist in plant and animal systems.

In laboratory tests, the insecticide was more toxic to spruce budworm than DDT, as expected, but only due to the higher and high toxicity to budworm, it can be applied in small amounts not hazardous to other forms of life. It breaks down and is rapidly degraded by biological systems.

Field tests were carried out in 1964 near Salmon, in 1965 near Darby, Mont., and in 1966 in the Big Smoky National Forest in Montana and the Sawtooth National Forest. No adverse effects have been reported to date.

CHECKING FOLIAGE for evidence of spruce budworm, is Peter J. Walker, Sawtooth National Forest. The Big Smoky budworm infestation is closely checked to determine the right time to spray the 60,000 acre area.

LIDAR GUN, a marriage between radar and laser beam, is adjusted prior to Zectran spraying to destroy spruce budworm infestations in the Big Smoky area north of Fairfield.

In an aerosol spray at the rate of one-half ounce per acre, and determine to what extent this type of treatment reduces environmental contamination. It will also determine the most effective means of applying low volume, micron-size droplets, by using atmospheric transport and diffusion in spray operations, and test mechanical air samplers for checking spray distribution.

The proposed spray area, including a 60,000 acre area of timber, is roughly in the shape of a butterfly. The area extends northeast to the confluence of the Ross Fork, Sleep Creek and Johnson Creek; westward to the two natural lakes; northeast to a point east of Paradise Lake, and southeast to a point east of Sydney Butte.

The area consists primarily of Douglas-fir stands. The damage to Douglas-fir is present in all age classes, but most serious in the youngest trees. Completion of this project will reduce extensive growth loss and mortality caused by the budworm.

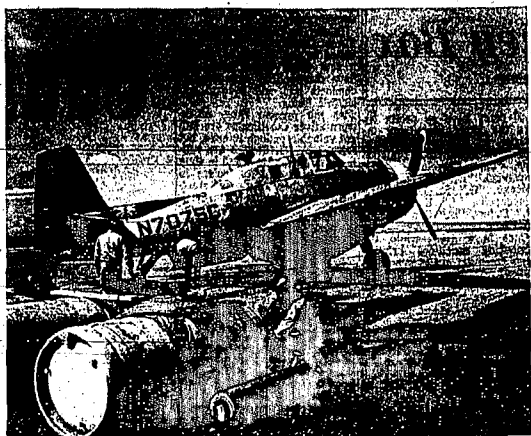

The entire project area is located within several sheep allotments and on cattle allotment. Cattle will enter about July 10, but will not be in the portion of the allotment to be sprayed until late July or August. Sheep allotment plans of use will inform the owners and herders of the area project.

The Sawtooth National Forest is responsible for planning and conducting the spray project. The U.S. Forest Service Insecticide Evaluation Project at Berkeley, Calif., will furnish technical direction. The Forest Service Experiment Station, Forest Service, Missoula, Mont., is responsible for design and installation of new spray equipment.

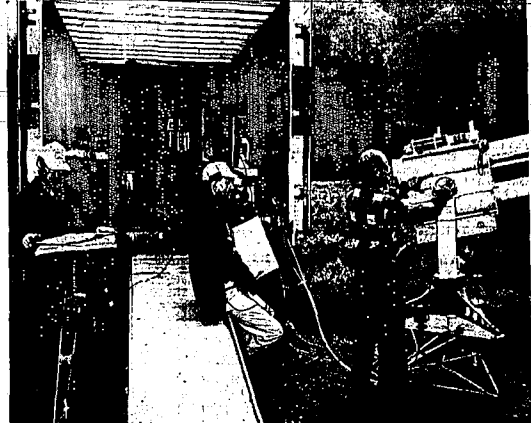

The late spring has delayed the spraying operation which was originally set for late June. The predicted date for the beginning of the spraying has been delayed to July 15.

Four aircraft will be used in the operation, a 208 Cessna and a helicopter will be used for observation, and a C-47, a TBM, and a helicopter will be used in the spraying. The application Zectran has been tested on forest lands. There is no evidence yet to indicate that it will persist in plant and animal systems.

In laboratory tests, the insecticide was more toxic to spruce budworm than DDT, as expected, but only due to the higher and high toxicity to budworm, it can be applied in small amounts not hazardous to other forms of life. It breaks down and is rapidly degraded by biological systems.

TANKS OF ZECTRAN SPRAY are loaded into this TBM aircraft at the Gooding Airport prior to spraying the spruce budworm infestation near Fairfield. Approximately 60,000 acres of Sawtooth National Forest timber is in danger from the defoliating insect. Leaders, from left, are Don Board and Don McCoy, both Halley, and Don Cahill, Missoula Equipment Development Center, Mont.

LIDAR GUN, a marriage between radar and laser beam, is adjusted prior to Zectran spraying to destroy spruce budworm infestations in the Big Smoky area north of Fairfield. The gun measures the tiny droplets of spray and their effect of the defoliating insect. Leaders, from left, Dr. Warren Johnson, George Davis, Dr. Ronald T. H. Collis and Al Smith, all of the Stanford Research Institute.

Swim Lessons
Red Cross swim lessons for the Wendell area youngsters will begin Monday morning at the Gooding Municipal swimming pool. The lessons will continue for two weeks from 11 a.m. to noon. Buses will leave at 10:30 a.m. Monday from the Wendell High School. Three dollars will cover the cost of transportation and lessons for the two weeks. Pre-registration for students 5 years and over may be made by contacting Mrs. Richard Eaton. No student will be accepted after Wednesday of the first week.

Woman Seeks Her Missing Boyfriend

By EDITH LEDERER
NEW YORK (AP)—"I'm a short, almost plump woman. I wear glasses. I'm not pretty at all."

"He has dark brown hair and beautiful hazel eyes, a straight nose and a beautiful complexion. He's clean and neat and very handsome—a real gentleman."

"But it was magic between us."

Jennie Epstein's voice quavered as she talked about Irving Dulberg, the boyfriend who slipped out of her life four years ago.

She's tried to find him through private investigators, the Social Security office, the Internal Revenue Service, and even her congressman, Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y.

But Irving remains among the missing, and the ache remains within her.

Jennie and Irving both lived in Brooklyn, and each worked at the general post office in Manhattan—he as a letter carrier and she as a postal clerk.

"They first cast eyes on one another at 6 a.m. one day when he picked up the mail she had sorted during the night. They never dated, she said, but fell in love chatting over sacks of mail and made plans to get married.

DETERMINING DEVELOPMENT of the spruce budworm larvae is Janet Darcy, technician at the Gooding Entomology Laboratory set up in conjunction with the spraying of the Big Smoky area. The worm, which is green and yellow, defoliates trees and threatens 60,000 acres of forest near Fairfield.

Increasingly difficult as drops get smaller. Scientists have a way to measure the size of the droplets and laser developed by the Stanford Research Institute, can keep track of even the smallest drops.

The lidar shoots a laser beam into the spray cloud and the reflected beam is measured on an oscilloscope and recorded by camera. Two lidar guns tested by SRI and the Forest Service during the summer of 1966 showed the tiny droplets are long as 15 to 20 minutes after spraying.

Preliminary studies have shown that the possible residue of Zectran on browse and grass plants is so small that it would be virtually impossible for grazing animals to consume enough to have detrimental effects.

Fishery and wildlife biologists will conduct tests before, during, and after spraying to check for any possible harmful effects on wildlife, aquatic insects, fish, birds, terrestrial insects, mammals, soil, water, air, grass and brush will all be studied by biologists during the course of the project.

Areas along Big Smoky Creek and the South Fork of the Boise River are used extensively by campers, picnickers, and fishermen. A summer home area is located near the mouth of Little Smoky Creek.

Test experiments indicated there is no harmful effect to humans from the application of Zectran. Recreation users will be informed of the exact dates and hours when spraying will be accomplished. Direct application of insecticide will be avoided in those areas.

Other agencies who will help in the spraying operation and conduct other tests are the Forest Service, the Forest and Range Experiment Station to determine spraying procedures and evaluate the insecticide and to audit the 1966 books.

Mayor Elected by Richfield Board

RICHFIELD—A mayor was elected and new Village marshal hired at the July meeting of the Richfield Village Board.

Clifford Ward was elected mayor by the trustees to comply with the new state law requiring a mayor in incorporated municipalities. John Johnson was elected chairman, Birk Albert, village chairman for several terms of office, presided at the meeting.

Mr. Johnson has been a part-time employee of the village. The board approved hiring Gordon Beckstead, Twin Falls, and to audit the 1966 books.

Invariably North would overcall with one spade and North and South would wind up at four spades. If hearts were opened and continued, North could make six but a club of diamond shift would almost surely hold North to five odd.

One West player decided to open with four hearts in spite of being vulnerable against non-vulnerable opponents. North

Tell The Creep

Walt here... and I'm targeting the kiss-and-keep... quieting his public guys today... It's my belief that you decent guys are shirking... you point this out... Just what points from Dulaney for your use to include all the boys own discreet tongues... but that in on what was between you doesn't absolve you of the responsibility of gagging the "hell all" boys.

A high-school romance is usually of short duration... if the conversation is not static... Things change and evolve... you want to hear? Lead-in, then a blank face, a glazed eye, or a covert yawn can kill the guy's enthusiasm and let him know that in this company at least he only sices his own welcome when he slanders a girl.

But there's really no need to be subtle in this crusade. If he starts to paint a pulsating prog, you're every right to ask "Why, isn't that between you?" How do you really mean it, directly? "I don't think much of gossip, true or false!" Next move: you won't shut up, you not turn your back and exit to underscore your revulsion?

For a few sensitive reformers, the key may lie in stimulating Big Mouth to really think about the affair. After hearing his confident in what is his business alone.

OK, you know and believe that! But, you know and believe that! "Oh, yeh?" and derail the subject immediately.

If the tale explodes into the conversation without "do you want to hear?" lead-in, then a blank face, a glazed eye, or a covert yawn can kill the guy's enthusiasm and let him know that in this company at least he only sices his own welcome when he slanders a girl.
