SOIL IMPROVEMENT COMMITTEE member, Charles G. Painter, University of Idaho Extension Service, Moscow, right, was presented a plaque for 14 years of outstanding service with the committee during the Wednesday sessions of the 18th Annual Regional Fertilizer Conference of the Pacific Northwest Plant Food Association at the Holiday Inn. Presenting the plaque is Don Bakes of the committee, Pocatello.

Plant Food Group Tours Test Plots; 3-Day Convention Ends

Thursday morning a large representation of the plant food industry completed reports on technical aspects of fertilizer in Idaho as the three-day Annual Conference of the Pacific Northwest Plant Food Association ended.

Russ Hays, Portland, Ore., member of the soil improvement board, termed the convention, conducted at the Holiday Inn, "very successful." He noted the Twin Falls area is a "wonderful, productive land."

Wednesday afternoon the 245 registered delegates viewed 10 demonstration plots in the area which were specially prepared for the convention. He said the wheat, sugar beet, alfalfa, potato, bean and other plant plots were begun a year ago when Twin Falls was notified the convention would be held here. The plots, he said, show the utilization of fertilizer as it relates to increased production.

"The fertilizer industry," Mr. Hays pointed out, "is just now coming into its own—we've reached the boom period."

"The reason is not necessarily because the land has been overworked for so many years," he explained, "but because good things are going for things other than crops."

"While the United States is fighting half the world, we also are responsible for the feeding of the other half—which means we must increase production from available land," he asserted.

"Today's farmer is actually a scientist—he cannot simply pour fertilizer on crops and expect them to grow," he said. "The farmer is becoming a larger operator and as such, must have more knowledge of science and business," Mr. Hays continued.

The Pacific Northwest Plant Food Association, according to Mr. Hays, is closely affiliated in projects with the four land grant institutions in the area. Several speakers from four colleges, the University of Idaho, Washington State University, Utah State University and Oregon State University, participated in the program during the three-day workshop.

Wednesday night delegates attended a barbeque at Blue Lakes, Country Club and the convention was to conclude at noon Thursday.

Those attending included managers of plant food manufacturing association, dealers, farmers and agronomists.

Next year's convention will be held in Oregon.

Rocks, Bombs Hurlled In Race Rioting

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Rampaging Negroes besieged a police station and demonstrated at City Hall late Wednesday and early today after a Negro taxi-cab driver was arrested.

Rocks and firebombs were hurled at the police station. A charging, firing crowd estimated by police at 200 persons assembled at the 4th Precinct police station in a predominantly Negro area about a mile west of downtown then moved downtown before police dispersed the group.

It was the second recent outburst in this sprawling city in the metropolitan New York area. Nineteen persons, nine of them policemen, were hurt early Saturday during a battle involving Black Muslims on the street separating Newark and East Orange.

Newark Police Director Dominick Spina said police did not battle any groups Wednesday night, but did order a curfew which assembled at City Hall.

"It was an isolated incident," he said of the riot, "and incidents gathered and were isolated. We don't know who incited them."

A spokesman for Newark Mayor Hugh J. Addonizio said there was no riot and incidents of looting in the area were unrelated.

Wants License

DETROIT (AP)—United Auto Workers President Walter P. Reuther, known to drive a hard bargain, is learning to drive something else: a car.

Reuther expects to get his driver's license soon.

He had a license once but, let it lapse in 1948 when his right arm was injured in an assassination attempt. Since then, union aides have doubted his chauffeurs and bodyguards.

Food Prices Jolt Economy

SAIGON (AP)—Rising food prices have jolted the South Vietnamese economy "quite a jolt" in the last two weeks, an economic source said today.

Some prices have gone up almost 20 per cent while overall prices are up 8 per cent.

The price inflation comes after several months of relative economic stability. U.S. and Vietnamese economists are not quite sure what is causing the present flutter. But they insist that the future, though unexpected, will level off and that there may even be some slight declines.

Resolution On Jerusalem Is Predicted

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—U.N. diplomats predicted today that the General Assembly would adopt a Palestinian resolution asking the Security Council to force Israel to give up the Old City of Jerusalem.

Some delegates expected that several of the 15 council members might abstain or even vote against the proposal, Israel committing themselves to support such a strong measure.

The Palestinian proposal "denounces the failure of Israel to implement" an earlier assembly request and "reiterates its call to Israel" to rescind its annexation of the Old City.

Pakistani Ambassador Agha Shahid, introducing the resolution Wednesday charged that in "the flush of military success, Israel presumed to take to the assembly. We will go ahead with whatever we mean to do: You can say what you like."

Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban went Secretary-General U Thant Monday that the terms of the administrative and municipal measures Israel took in Jerusalem after the June war, including the total annexation of the old city, were "integrated into the life of a Jewish state and must survive in unity and in spiritual elevation."

Congo Troops Regain Control Of Kisangani

Persons From U.S. Are Safe

KINSHASA, Congo (AP)—Congo troops regained complete control of Kisangani today. Two Red Cross planes landed at the airport and 10 European journalists and 15 Americans and Europeans safe.

White mercenaries who had held the airport pulled out of the northern Congo city—formerly Stanleyville—and were variously reported headed north toward Uganda, or southward.

Whether they had any white hostages with them was a question. An estimated 20 Americans and about 150 Europeans, including 22 visiting newsmen, had been reported held in a Kisangani hotel by rebel forces.

Radio Kinshasa said the mercenaries had some European hostages with them when they left Kisangani in a column of 27 trucks, headed toward Bunia, 100 miles to the northeast near Lake Albert and the Uganda border.

The Red Cross said the European journalists and the 15 Americans and other Europeans found safe had been held hostage by the mercenaries. But its report of the 15 Americans and other Europeans found safe had been held hostage by the mercenaries, but its report of the 15 Americans and other Europeans found safe had been held hostage by the mercenaries.

A Red Cross spokesman said one Red Cross plane with 30 wounded soldiers and a group of European women and children was en route to Kinshasa.

The Congolese government announced its army had regained full control of Kisangani, apparently ending the mutiny by hired white soldiers and Katangese troops who rebelled after exodus from the Congo.

General Westmoreland Is Given Vote Of Confidence By President

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House said today President Johnson retains full confidence in Gen. William C. Westmoreland as his Vietnam commander and will rely principally on the general's recommendations in determining future troop levels.

Press Secretary George Christian stepped far short of stating however, that Westmoreland would have anything like a blank check on troop reinforcements. He indicated that the general's recommendations remain subject to broad military-civilian review in Washington.

Westmoreland was an overnight guest at the White House conferred for more than 90 minutes with Johnson Wednesday night and the President arranged for a further talk with him today.

The National Security Council was meeting at the white house, but Christian said Vietnam was not on the agenda for that session.

One newsman suggested that the Secretary of Defense Robert S.

McNamara's publicly expressed hope that present American forces in Vietnam can be used more effectively to be a rebuke for Westmoreland.

"I know for a fact," Christian replied, "that I wouldn't interpret his comments in that way."

Christian added that he was certain that McNamara did not intend such an interpretation. At another point Christian said regarding expected increases in the number of American forces in Vietnam:

"I do want to assure you that the President's attitude on it, as it's always been, is that, one, he has complete confidence in Gen. Westmoreland and, two, so far as he is concerned what is needed and what he feels is needed will be done and that this will be based principally on Westmoreland's recommendations."

McNamara, back from his ninth trip to Vietnam, said he was not sure how many more troops should be sent to Vietnam, but top military officers said privately that at least 25,000 are required just to regain lost momentum.

Shooting War Is Still Reality In Troubled Middle East Land

By ED BLANCHIE
HEI, QANTARA, Occupied Egypt (AP)—The Middle East war is still going on in the sense that Israeli soldiers in this battle-scarred town, facing Egyptian troops only 150 yards away across the deserted Suez Canal.

"A cease-fire there may be," said a captain at the army headquarters, "but as far as we're concerned it is still war."

"Nothing more may happen."

for now or for perhaps another 10 years, but it is going to happen. We can't go on like this."

In El Qantara, a dusty little town on the east bank of the canal, the shooting war is still a reality.

Egyptian troops fired Wednesday at a patrol of Sinai veterans north of Esmailia. There were no casualties, but the Israelis said the Egyptians shot down one of their planes. It was a MiG-17, wounded two Israeli pilots.

On Tuesday, sharpshooting Israeli anti-aircraft gunners a low miles east of El Qantara downed one of two Egyptian bombers which flew over the town on the east bank of the canal, the shooting war is still a reality.

Makeshift bands of archery have been set up at the ends of streets facing the Egyptian bank so the Egyptians cannot observe Israeli movements.

One artillery battery commander radiated for instructions last week when his position came under fire.

"Shall I return the fire?" he asked.

"No, I shouldn't bother. They won't hit anything anyway," headquarters told him.

Surveyor 4 Craft Gets Go-Ahead

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—Trouble-shooting technicians today solved a rocket problem which grounded America's Surveyor 4 launch for 24 hours and were flashed a go-ahead to send the spacecraft moonward Friday.

As they worked, the Apollo 11 is to remain in the 11-fate relationship slowly headed toward the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Langley Research Center at Hampton, Va.

For the next decade, Apollo 11 is to remain stored in its container at Langley so all parts are available if officials ever want to re-investigate the Apollo 11 that killed Air Force Lt. Col. Virgil I. Grissom and Edward I. White II and Navy Lt. Cmdr. Robert B. Chaffee.

The spacecraft's continuing originally built to store aircraft was filled with nitrogen gas to prevent Apollo 11 parts from corroding.

Judge Orders Sierra Injunction Vacated

An order vacating a temporary injunction against Sierra Life Insurance Co., Twin Falls, has been signed by Judge Herbert W. Ward, Fifth Judicial District, Twin Falls.

The order dissolved the injunction without prejudice as of 4:00 p.m. Monday.

A hearing scheduled for July 20 on the action, brought by the insurance commissioner against the Twin Falls firm has been continued indefinitely.

On May 20, the temporary injunction was granted by the court, preventing the firm from continuing new business activities and placing the firm in the hands of the insurance commissioner.

The action followed a petition for order of rehabilitation filed May 20 by the commissioner of insurance.

A spokesman for Sierra Life Insurance Co., said Tuesday the lifting of the injunction means the company's representatives are now able to continue the sale of insurance in Idaho and New Mexico.

He said a statement from the company and the state commission is being drafted, covering the current situation.

B52 Bombers Pound North Vietnamese Position In Demilitarized Zone

By ROBERT TUCKMAN
SAIGON (AP)— Waves of B52 bombers pounded North Vietnamese positions inside the demilitarized zone today for the first time in two months.

The giant bombers, each carrying 50,000 pounds of explosive, made three raids during the day on the northern half of the six-mile-wide zone between North and South Vietnam.

Their targets were the fortifications and artillery positions from which the North Vietnamese have been launching a heavy

U.S. servicemen were wounded and one was missing last week, South Vietnamese casualties were 138 killed, 460 wounded and 20 missing.

The U.S. Command reported an increase of 1,000 men last week in the number of American troops in South Vietnam, raising the total of 465,000. The number of foreign allied forces remained at 64,000 and the estimate of enemy strength also was unchanged at 200,000.

The B52 raids on the demilitarized zone highlighted a day of otherwise light action in South Vietnam.

In the meantime, U.S. Marines made a 49-day ground sweep inside the zone in late May and small tactical bombers have pounded enemy artillery positions inside and just above the zone almost daily, in resulting the B52 strikes, U.S. commanders apparently felt the risk of missiles had been removed or greatly reduced.

Just below the zone, South Vietnamese infantrymen reported killing 78 Communist troops in brick fighting on Wednesday near the forward allied outpost at Gio Linh.

The South Vietnamese reported their own casualties were light in the 49-hour fight about five miles below the demilitarized zone.

In the U.S. air offensive against North Vietnam, Air Force bombers returned to the MIG airbase at Hoa Lac 20 miles west of Hanoi Wednesday.

The plane was the 62nd announced combat loss over North Vietnam.

The Air Force lost another plane in South Vietnam, an F100 Superstar jet shot down while making a bombing run Wednesday 18 miles south of Saigon. The pilot is missing. This was the 122nd combat loss of a U.S. plane in the South, U.S. Command said.

Red China claimed four U.S. jets intruded into its airspace Wednesday and wounded four Chinese soldiers with rockets before fleeing when Chinese planes went after them. Peking Radio said the U.S. planes fired at Chinese troops at Tungkang, a coastal county in Kwangsi Province near China's border with North Vietnam.

Heat Sets Records--In Case You Hadn't Noticed

A heat wave in the Twin Falls area Thursday set records for break last year's 101-degree temperature record established on July 30, 1966.

U. S. Weather Bureau officials said the 101-degree temperature record was equaled Wednesday in Twin Falls, but is expected to be exceeded Thursday afternoon.

The all-time recorded high for Twin Falls occurred July 9, 1939, when the temperature stopped at 106 degrees for the June and August are 104.

Weather officials said the temperatures would stay "well up above 90 degrees for the next few days, although there will be a slight cooling trend Friday."

By The Associated Press.

Cloud cover moved into western Idaho today, causing temperatures to drop a bit, but Weather Bureau forecasters said hot weather will continue in the eastern portion of the state.

The temperature climbed to 107 degrees in Boise Wednesday, a record for July 12 and only one degree short of the all-time high of 110 set on Aug. 4, 1961.

Forecasters said afternoon temperatures in the southwest portion of the state should not exceed 95 today, but likely will be around 100 in the southeast.

Lower temperatures also were forecast for Northern Idaho, where readings at Lewiston Wednesday were in the 80s.

The heat also increased danger of fire in drier timbered areas with the danger index listed at three in most sections of the Boise National Forest.

Extreme fire danger brings a rating of five.

"Possible lightning storms were forecast for the afternoon, adding to the potential fire danger."

The heat was blamed for a railroad-derailment in Eastern Idaho. The engine and five cars of a Union Pacific freight train left the tracks because, trainmen said, the heat had "kinked" a rail.

ICED DRINK that "really cools" on a hot day is enjoyed by Judy Sinclair, 22 Lincoln St. Using a bit of imagination, Judy accomplished what many people can't—she was thinking about Wednesday afternoon when the temperature boiled over the century mark. She donned a brief suit and made a deal to use the ice cream at the Twin Falls Feed and Ice Co., and took along an ice drink so she could cool off inside and outside at the same time.

Wife Pays
PROSSER, Wash. (AP)—A Superior Court judge has awarded William Hinson of Richland, Wash., $100 a month child support from his ex-wife.

Hinson, who was divorced in 1963, winning the custody of his four children, had been holding down two jobs. He was earning $465 a month.

Meanwhile his ex-wife, Mrs. John Cashen, married a man who earns $1,350 a month.

Judge James J. Lawless said it was the first time he had ever ordered a wife to pay child support, but that considering the circumstances, "the settlement was modest."

Police Fail To Capture Wanted Men
LOS ANGELES (AP)—Two officers surrounded an apartment and lobbed a dozen tear gas shells into it Wednesday in a futile attempt to capture two of the most wanted men on the Federal Bureau of Investigation's list.

No one was in the disheveled apartment, his windows blown apart, when a 20-man force broke in.

"They left in a big hurry," a sheriff's officer said.

Later, an all-points bulletin was issued for a car which had been parked at the East Los Angeles apartment building by its occupants. The description was later changed, indicating the getaway car had been abandoned.

Victor Bono and Florencio Martinez were sought in the execution of the two U.S. border patrolmen in a cabin June 17.

Injured Man In Good Condition
BURLEY—Robert Lang, Twin Falls mathematics teacher, was reported in good condition Monday at the Regional Hospital with injuries received in a fall at Western Seed Co. Wednesday morning.

Mr. Lang, who is employed by Ken Brown and Associates, Twin Falls, was welding on a new grain storage pit being built into the company's yard when he fell about 20 feet to a concrete floor after losing his footing.

Death Takes C. C. Clawson
MURTAUGH—Claus C. Clawson, 60, retired Murtaugh farmer, died Wednesday at the Mountain View Nursing Home, Kimberley, of a long illness.

He was born Sept. 1, 1897, at Spring City, Utah, and attended school there. On Oct. 5, 1904, he married Katie Nelson at Price, Utah. Their marriage was solemnized in the Salt Lake City LDS Temple in 1930.

After their marriage they moved to Murtaugh where he worked for the Buhl. He was a high priest in the LDS church and served for several years in the bishopric of the Murtaugh ward. He was a home teacher for the church also.

Survivors include his widow, Murtaugh; two sons, James C. Clawson, Heyburn, and William Clawson, Buhl; two daughters, Mrs. LeRoy (Thelma) Lee, Murtaugh, and Mrs. Bob (Doris) Whiting, Rupert; one son, John C. Clawson, Jr., Burley, Spring City, Utah; 17 grandchildren, 19 great-grandchildren and 6 great-great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p.m. Saturday in the Murtaugh LDS Ward Chapel by Bishop Blaine H. Clawson. Final rites will be held in Sunset Memorial Park, Twin Falls. Synopsis, Farm Summary

Today will be another hot one in Southern Idaho with temperatures slightly higher this afternoon in some eastern valleys but not quite so high as yesterday. In the west all sections are expected to be a few degrees cooler Friday. Daytime warming will give rise to scattered cloudiness with widely scattered thundershowers developing mainly over the mountains with only a very slight chance of rain in the 80s and upper 60s. In the eastern half of Southern Idaho minimums were still in the 50s.

The extended weather outlook for agriculture indicates continuing above normal temperatures Saturday, Sunday and Monday with widely scattered thundershower activity mostly in Southeastern Idaho and mountain areas.

Yesterday was the hottest so far this summer in Southern Idaho with minimum readings in western valleys ranged between 102 degrees at Caldwell and 113

Warning Is Given After Burley Fire

BURLEY — Parents were warned Thursday by Burley Fire Chief Ole Williams to keep inflammable liquid and other materials out of reach of children after a near-tragedy occurred here when a fourth grade boy set fire to gasoline.

The back porch of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thurston, 1018 Occidental Ave., was severely damaged, but no one was injured when a flash fire broke out about 1:30 p.m. Tuesday after the couple's son, Alan, apparently struck a match to gasoline on the back porch.

The child had run for the water hose and was attempting to put out the blaze when it was reported by Bob Ramsey as he was driving by. Firemen were at the scene within seconds and were able to quench the fire in less than an hour, Mr. Williams said.

The kitchen received smoke damage and furnishings throughout the house were damaged by water and smoke, but damage to the main part of the house was not excessive, Mr. Williams said.

The mother was next door at the time of the fire in an empty house which the family also owns. They have moved into this house until their own home can be repaired.

Shows Spread Over Wide Area

Shows and thundershowers were spread over a wide area from Arizona and New Mexico to Alabama and the southern Appalachians today.

Cloudbursts drenched northern Alabama with 2 to 4 inches of rain. The Huntsville airport in northern Alabama recorded 4.15 inches of rain in a dozen hours. Temperatures reached heat wave levels in Idaho Wednesday. Boise recorded a high of 107, and Lewiston 110. A crewman for the Union Pacific Railroad said the heat caused a derailment near Idaho Falls when a train hit a track that had been "kinked" by near 100-degree temperatures. No one was reported injured.

College At Albion Given Plane, Bus

MAGIC VALLEY CHRISTIAN COLLEGE, Albion—Magic Valley Christian College has become the recipient of both a bus and four-plane airplane recently as a boost toward college transportation needs.

The bus, a 1951 Brill coach with Hal-Scott engine, will seat 40 passengers in reclining-type seats. It was a gift of the Associated Magic Valley Women from across the nation. Members have been saving 5 and 10 green stamps over the past several years.

Mrs. Jim Kett, Albion, assistant AMVW coordinator, has served as chairman of the bus project. She and Mrs. Keith Amende, Albion, AMVW coordinator, have spent many hours in the planning and preparation of the green stamp books, according to Bud Davis, news director.

The airplane was given to the college by a group of businessmen and college supporters called "Forward MVCC." It will be flown by Mr. Davis, who is a private pilot.

Members of Forward MVCC believe that better and quicker means of transportation will facilitate the progress of the school and make present opportunities available to more students.

Ex-King Hill Resident, 85, Dies On Coast

KING HILL — Funeral services for Mrs. Effie Lee Trowbridge, 85, former resident, who died Tuesday at a nursing home in Redlands, Calif., will be conducted at 1:30 p.m. Friday at McBratney, Alden, Waggoner Chapel, Boise.

She was born Oct. 13, 1881, in Dadeville, Mo., and was married to Monroe Williams in Gardfield Wash., in 1899. He died in 1962 and she was married to Leroy Albert Trowbridge two years later.

Dr. Ronald R. Nelson, president, praised both groups for their foresight and predicted greater effectiveness of those who use the airplane. At least two other Christian colleges make use of their own aircraft in saving time in travel, he said.

Charles Loveland, business manager, noted "The college has been needing a bus for transporting the A Cappella chorus and students for athletic events. The bus will fulfill needs for all area events and will be adequate for select tours."

Applications Studied By Filer Board

FILED — Applications for school lunch services were considered at the Tuesday meeting of trustees of School District 413 at the High School and Mrs. L. Farmer was rehired for the 1967-68 school term.

Mrs. Farmer was authorized by the trustees to purchase 300 trays for the new school cafeteria.

Bernard Schmidt of the Idaho Power Co., Twin Falls, presented the school board with a Gold Medalion plaque for the new elementary school, D. O. Welker and James Murphy, insurer and broker for the district, discussed the insurance coverage presently in force and the future needs in the district.

Mr. Murphy will attend the Aug. 8 meeting and give a comprehensive survey and recommendations for the entire insurance program.

Mayor Ralph Pitts and Councilmen Dick Shelton, Paul Shover and Richard Suhr presented an offer for purchase of the Victory School property but the trustees were unable to accept the offer because it was below the present appraisal of $13,500.

Choral music in grades seven and eight was discussed but no action was taken until further information is available from William Heaps, principal.

The trustees will meet with the Twin Falls County Fair board at 8:30 p.m. Aug. 8 prior to the regular 9 p.m. meeting.

They came to Fairfield in 1916 and Mr. Trowbridge died in 1920 when they were custodians at the school for many years. He died in 1965.

The next year Mrs. Trowbridge moved to California where she made her home with a daughter and also lived with another in Boise. She belonged to the Christian church and Women of Woodcraft Lodge.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Verda Greer, Boise; Mrs. Fay Legg, Forest Hill, Calif.; and Mrs. Madge Brown, Arcata, Calif. Also lived with Albert Williams, Stanwood, Wash., and Rodney Trowbridge, Brentwood, Calif.; one sister, Mrs. Wernoth, Zosell, Wash.; 11 grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren.

The family has suggested any memorials be made to the Idaho Youth Ranch, Rupert, or the First Christian Church, Boise. Last rites will be held in Glenn Rest Cemetery, Glenns Ferry, at 4 p.m. Friday.

Attends Meet

FILED—Daniel Kauffman attended the recent 52nd annual Kiwanis International convention at the Sam Houston Hotel, Houston, Tex.

Attending the convention were some 18,000 people, representing 5,400 clubs in the United States, Canada, Mexico, Central America, the Caribbean, Western Europe and the Far East.

Opening the meeting will be a discussion of the challenge facing the industry in trying to supply soaring world demand for metals.

The speakers will include Dr. Walter Hubbard Jr., Washington, D.C., director of the U.S. Bureau of Mines; James Boyd, New York, president of Copper Range Co.; Clark L. Wilson, Washington, D.C., chairman of the Lead-Zinc Producers Association; and D. L. King, Montpelier, Idaho, president of the San Francisco Chemical Co.

Another panel Friday morning will take up silver's brighter future, now that the price has jumped 40 cents an ounce during the past three months.

Speakers for that discussion will include Robert A. Wallace, Washington, D.C., assistant Secretary of the Treasury; Simon Strauss, New York, vice president of American Smelting & Refining Co. and John B. Stevens, Meriden, Conn., president of International Silver Co.

Saturday's program will include a discussion of new developments in the Coeur d'Alene Mining Region—most related to the silver boom—by an array of mining experts from the area.

A "silver banquet" is planned Saturday night.

TREASURER DIES HANOVER, N.H. (AP)—Halsey Edgerlin, retired treasurer of Dartmouth College, died Tuesday after a long illness. He was 83.

Idaho Mining Association Holds Meet

WALLACE, Idaho (AP)—The world silver boom will occupy the attention of some of the nation's top mining men as the Idaho Mining Association begins its three-day annual convention here Thursday.

About 350 mine industry leaders and engineers will attend the meeting here, in a city that is headquarters for several multimillion-dollar silver exploration projects.

Secret Files Of Flight Opened

WASHINGTON (AP)—Long-secret files on investigations into the disappearance of Amelia Earhart and her navigator, Fred Noonan, on a flight across the Pacific 30 years ago have missed their target—lowland is been declassified and placed in land—on a flight from Lae, the open records of the Navy's New Guinea and, fuel supply exhausted, dropped into the ocean.

Students Strong For Drugs

WASHINGTON (NEA)—A systematic poll of graduate and undergraduate students at one of the top dozen American colleges indicates that the use of drugs on campus has spread far and wide. It is beginning to dawn on our present), 12 per cent expect to use LSD some time or other in the future. In their answers to the questionnaires, roughly four-fifths said they favored some legal way by which people could use marijuana. Some favored open sale, some favored controls of various types.

Others called drug use "drugging." They called it "debasement." Some asked: "Can actual happiness be found in a pill? Or by retreating into a mental shell but by active living and love for our fellow man will a person feel complete and satisfied?"

The school has very high academic standards. The poll showed that 20 per cent of the undergraduate students and 8 per cent of the graduate students used marijuana at some time. Apparently, about half of these undergraduates were "current users," having used the drug within seven days before the poll.

Most students favored tight controls for LSD. About half thought it should only be available for genuine research. On their questionnaires, some students told why they use dope. One blurted boredom "got it out of me like the flicks—you ask yourself what to do tonight."

Remember that most of the users, though a minority in this college, were among the top students in their high school classes, or they would not have been admitted to this particular school.

The poll was accomplished by anonymous questionnaires. Ninety per cent of the undergraduate and graduate student body answered. Approximately a fifth of the undergraduates expect to use marijuana in the future—at least once or twice.

Some said their experiences were "pleasant, like alcohol." The majority—the nonusers—also commented. "I don't want to get into it. I maintain the maximum possible control over my mind and senses. Taking drugs has the effect of removing that control. It is therefore mor-

The study of the answers of the drug users seems to indicate that we in society have given them no strong standards on which to base their lives. We have moved sharply ahead in our schools in pushing the intellectual approach. We have paralleled that advance in the schools with a strong spiritual base on our communities that helps these bright young people something to live for.

Though only 9 per cent of the undergraduates say they have used LSD in the past (and only 1.1 per cent are using LSD at present), 12 per cent expect to use LSD some time or other in the future. In their answers to the questionnaires, roughly four-fifths said they favored some legal way by which people could use marijuana. Some favored open sale, some favored controls of various types.

LBJ's Popularity On Upswing

WASHINGTON — With the bands, the business, the coffee, the horses, the hot dogs, the steamy, yeasty unmistakable atmosphere, the Democrats in convention assembled will one year from now nominate Lyndon Baines Johnson for a second full term as President of the United States. The vote by acclamation will be followed by one of those romps up and down the crowded aisles that are part of the great tribal rite of American politics.

The name is Ronald Reagan. The election was held next week the president would be re-elected by a handsome majority. Even the most ardent critics concede this in private. But these same critics believe that what happens in the next 12 months will have the effect of reversing the current bright picture. They are convinced that with Vietnam stalemated and casualties running at the present rate — the total is close to 13,000 — Mr. Johnson cannot overcome the handicap of the most unpopular war in American history.

avowal of his strategy in the next 18 months. This seemed to be the President's view of the Vietnam war continues. "Whatever the prophets may say and whatever the columnists may write — back to Lincoln's time, at least — that is all the time I have had to research, since I started reading these columns — no President has ever been turned upon when he was engaged in trying to protect his country and its interests against a foreign foe."

The nonsense written during the past year about a possible challenge to the renomination of the President and Vice President Hubert Humphrey has vanished like mist before the morning sun. Bobby Kennedy knows too well the fundamental pulse of the game over to have believed he could get the nomination in 1968 short of Johnson's decision to bow out. It is now clear that he realizes there is no profit in sharpening any public differences he may have with the White House. Since Bobby's destiny is five years away, this is only common sense.

That is the President's view of the Vietnam war continues. "Whatever the prophets may say and whatever the columnists may write — back to Lincoln's time, at least — that is all the time I have had to research, since I started reading these columns — no President has ever been turned upon when he was engaged in trying to protect his country and its interests against a foreign foe."

He sometimes overblows himself, as on some of his trips to Vietnam when he came back saying things were looking up, and then things get worse, which could be interpreted as meaning sometimes he needs new glasses."

Johnson is in the midst of one of those euphoric upswings that alternate with periods of retreat and comparative sullen. He has good reason for his glowing self-confidence. The polls show that Louis Harris, chief of a record upswing, climbed from a previous fairly rapid decline. Moreover, his opposition shows every sign of a disastrous division with the catastrophe of 1964 as a precedent. Moderate Republicans are unable or unwilling to get behind a candidate as time runs out. On the right the operator — organizers know what they want as they knew

But he has stremelled the Defense Department. And there is a public opinion poll that says the general, who runs the place, about the first time a civilian has ever been able to do this.

It Can Happen Here

It's a little unsettling to read that five boys accosted another on the street and robbed him of $3—not in Los Angeles, New York or Chicago, but at Sixth Avenue and Third Street East in Twin Falls.

to keep youths busy and happy. But there always seems to be a small group that is not reached by these programs. Either they consider themselves too old for organized recreation, or they are just social misfits who belligerently resist any attempt to guide their lives.

Chances are, if someone keeps a close enough watch on these youngsters so that they don't get too many chances to become involved in crime, most of them will grow up and out on their contorted adolescent limbs and will make decent, useful citizens. Parents, of course, are initially responsible for keeping an eye on their offspring, but there are limitations on what they can do, and they must have a big helping hand from the local police force.

Nobody should suggest that the police need to start making wholesale arrests of juveniles for minor infractions. But it might be helpful for police to let themselves be seen consistently around places where foot-loose youths congregate, so that the youngsters get the message that somebody is keeping an eye on them. In Twin Falls, the juvenile problem has not yet gotten out of hand. Let's hope we can keep things that way.

There are all sorts of enjoyable and beneficial activities offered for the youth of Twin Falls. There is an extensive and well-guided city recreation program conducted throughout the summer. There are Boy Scout camp activities, YMCA and YWCA, Camp Fire Girl and Salvation Army youth group programs of camping, touring and stay-at-home recreation, and many other church or organizational sponsored activities designed

A Step Forward

You can't go to the Internal Revenue Service and see your neighbor's income tax return, or storm into the Pentagon and demand a copy of the minutes of the last meeting of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, but thanks to Public Law 89-487, you can peek behind the bureaucratic curtain in which big government cooks itself has been greatly enhanced.

denial rests with the agency. If the private citizen still thinks he should have the information, he can file suit against the agency denying it. The government's files have not been turned wide open by any means. Material falling into nine categories — such as national defense secrets, foreign policy documents, personnel records—is exempted.

In the past, a person asking to see documents in a particular government agency had to prove, to the satisfaction of the agency, that he had a demonstrable need for the information.

The law has already been criticized as being fuzzy, confusing and open to varying interpretations as to what is exempted and what is not. Some agency officials foresee no effect on their information policies; others predict a rash of lawsuits to test the law in the courts.

Under the new law, which went into effect on July 4, any person may request information from a government agency. Furthermore, the agency must provide a reading room, a list of administrative materials and a photocopying equipment for public use.

Congress will keep an eye on the implementation of the law, promises its House sponsor, Rep. John Moss, D-Calif.

If a request for information is denied, the burden of justifying the the objective of the new law is clear," says Moss. "How well it works will depend on how effectively the people exercise their guarantee of access to the facts of government."

VIEW OF OTHERS

Opinions of Guest Editors

LIKE MOVING ALL IDAHO TO VIETNAM The size of the American commitment in Vietnam appears on the verge of becoming almost as big an issue as the commitment itself.

However, there is a disturbing coincidence involved here. The initial commitment when the buildup began was to provide 470,000 to 480,000 troops. The current total is about 400,000, meaning that the limit is about to be reneged.

Two years ago, the military asked and shortly thereafter began receiving the first contingents of what was to become nearly half a million men. For a time it seemed to turn the tide. The massive application of U.S. troops did not bring victory or even give any indication of victory might come. But it did achieve Public Law 89-487, you can peek behind the bureaucratic curtain in which big government cooks itself has been greatly enhanced.

It is not that point that the military has rather suddenly decided that it will need another 150,000 to 175,000. At the same time, stories are beginning to leak to the public that the war effort is not going well and that the military is not receiving adequate support from the administration.

For a time it seemed to turn the tide. The massive application of U.S. troops did not bring victory or even give any indication of victory might come. But it did achieve Public Law 89-487, you can peek behind the bureaucratic curtain in which big government cooks itself has been greatly enhanced.

If the additional troops are needed, they should be sent, but running through all of this is the disturbing suggestion that American military leaders are trying to manipulate the President and his defense secretary and using American public opinion as a club to get their way.

It is not quite clear what became of all these assurances from columns of newspaper and others that the money rangers were being debilitated by the bombing of infiltration routes and by desertions, but the Communists are continuing to grow. In fact, it has grown so much that the Pentagon is now pressuring President Johnson and Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara for about 175,000 more men. That would increase the total to about 575,000. And that would mean that the American force in South Vietnam would be nearly equal to the entire population of Idaho. The basic question is still whether the United States should be involved in Vietnam, so the size of that commitment is still a secondary question. As a matter of fact, if the involvement can be justified, the more troops probably should have the force required to do the job.

WELL DONE, DAD Hilda got to George Pappo, who delivers the mail in Malini. He is Oregon's father of the Year; and the family photograph in The Oregonian on the other day is evidence enough that he has the qualifications, including wife, four sons and three daughters, all obviously proud of Dad. Oregon's annual symbol of fatherhood is provided by a legislative act. Hilda got to the ladies of the CowBelles, auxiliary of the Oregon Cattlemen's Association. It is understandable that all of Oregon's fathers of the Year in recent years have had at least two things in common: They have been exemplary fathers, and they have lived east of the Cascades. "You Pays Your Money An' You Takes Your Choice!"

JAMES MARLOW

Top Businessman

WASHINGTON (AP)—The University of Michigan's Graduate School of Business Administration ranked a 42-year-old North Vietnam who is the country's greatest living business executive. They picked Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

While we kept pouring in more men, so did the enemy. They seem to have an inexhaustible supply of men. It costs the North Vietnam a lot less to fight a war.

That is the President's view of the Vietnam war continues. "Whatever the prophets may say and whatever the columnists may write — back to Lincoln's time, at least — that is all the time I have had to research, since I started reading these columns — no President has ever been turned upon when he was engaged in trying to protect his country and its interests against a foreign foe."

And the Soviets have supplied North Vietnam with weapons, some of them very good, which, from a business view, makes North Vietnam look like a sure thing. So this is all a pretty gloomy business for McNamara.

He sometimes overblows himself, as on some of his trips to Vietnam when he came back saying things were looking up, and then things get worse, which could be interpreted as meaning sometimes he needs new glasses."

Suppose he decides Westmoreland needs 100,000 more or more and Johnson sends them and then the North Vietnamese pump in more men to make up the difference.

But he has stremelled the Defense Department. And there is a public opinion poll that says the general, who runs the place, about the first time a civilian has ever been able to do this.

Then what happens? Does McNamara make another trip in a year or so and does Westmoreland say things are looking a little better but he needs more men? And if that happens, how long will it keep on happening? Will distributor.

Never in his life did he run into the kind of competition encountered in Vietnam. Ours there it is not competitors but bombs and bullets which tally profits and losses. Dollar signs follow. This means that the prospect for the new 1968 model is hardtop.

As any good businessman would, McNamara has probed and pressed to know if the best possible use is being made of the men already there. When he returns he will report his recommendations, for or against, to President Johnson.

Now about 465,000 Americans are engaged in the war with the Viet Cong and the North Vietnamese, or 31 times the 15,000 that had been there for three years ago. But a strange thing happened.

"We are slowly but steadily winning." This indicated some progress, for when McNamara returned from Vietnam in 1965 he said the Communists were tripling their rate of infiltration but "we have stopped losing."

Officers Installed, Awards Presented By T. F. Lions

New officers were installed, Don Zuck, Lloyd Bledsoe and membership and attendance awards were presented at a meeting of the Twin Falls Lions Club, held Wednesday at the Elks Lodge. Wives of members were guests.

Installing officer was Donald Zuck, zone chairman of Zone E. Those installed were: Hugh Coats, president; Neal Cronin, first vice president; H. L. (Herb) Derrick, second vice president; Bill Nutting, third vice president; W. H. SImp, secretary, and Harold Stiles, treasurer.

Directors who were installed included Gordon Beckstead, Ray Baker, Dr. Don Keith and Emil Pike. Lion tamer is Clayton Rudd, and Bill Chaney is tall-twister.

Dr. T. J. Wilkes, immediate past president, also is a member of the board. President Coats presented a past president's pin and a plaque to Dr. Wilkes.

The outstanding award of the evening was made to R. M. (Dick) Serpa, who has been a member of the Lions Club in Burley and Twin Falls for 30 years.

The decorations, in purple and gold, were furnished by Mrs. Zuck. The program included several vocal selections by Miss Velma Guyer, current Miss Twin Falls. She was accompanied by Miss Nancy Brackett. The Lions Club is the sponsor of the annual Miss Twin Falls Pageant.

Several attendance and membership awards from Lions International were presented to members following the program. W. H. SImp received an award for 20 years of perfect attendance at meetings. Ten-year awards were presented to Edd Bossard, Harold Stiles and

Hospitality Day Planned At Murtaugh

MURTAUGH — The Hospitality Day celebration will be under the sponsorship of the Murtaugh Mavericks Riding Club this year and a preliminary meeting was held Tuesday night at the high school to plan for the event.

The date has been set for Aug. 5 with a parade at 1 p.m. to begin the festivities. The jamboree will follow immediately after the parade and a queen will be chosen to reign as Miss Maverick. Jamboree grounds are located one mile south of the Murtaugh grade school.

Queen contestants will be honored with a tea Aug. 4 at the Jack Alfred home. A western dance will be held in the evening in the high school gym.

Merrill Martin is parade chairman; Mr. and Mrs. Ray McFarland and Mr. and Mrs. Keith Perkins will serve on the jamboree committee. Entries are welcome in the parade and jamboree. Mr. and Mrs. Bud Breeding will have charge of the dance.

Riding Club meetings are held Tuesdays and Thursdays at the Doug Bailey home for anyone who is interested.

School Chief Attends Meet In Honolulu

HAGERMAN — Superintendent of Hagerman School District 233, George Carnie, will leave Sunday for Honolulu to attend a workshop in innovation in education.

The event is sponsored by the Institute for Development of Educational Activities, which is sponsored by the Charles F. Kettering Foundation. Educators attending the workshop are chosen on special qualifications.

The national seminar will bring together outstanding educators, administrators and selected foreign authority. Nearly 1,000 educators from the United States will attend. Mr. Carnie said.

One of the purposes of the seminar is to broaden knowledge and skills about education. Participants will discuss and evaluate educational purposes and progress and seek new means to enlarge our national effort for improvement of education.

Dr. Carnie will return the latter part of July.

Rail Compromise Bill May Incite Walkout

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate House conferees, threatened with a nationwide rail strike unless they act by Saturday on legislative legislation, are considering a compromise bill that actually may lead to a walkout.

Six shopcraft unions, previously blocked twice by Congress from carrying out a threatened strike, say they will withdraw their current no-strike pledge if the conferees do not agree by the end of this week on a plan to avert a strike.

But the compromise now under consideration would in effect a five-man board's recommendations for a settlement unless they were rejected by both houses of Congress. The unions consider such a settlement to be compulsory arbitration, which a union leader says probably would lead to an immediate strike.

"We could be on strike in 20 minutes if Congress enacts legislation to force a wage settlement, President P.L. 'Roy' Semmler of the AFL-CIO International Association of Machin-

1957 Class At Hagerman Has Reunion

HAGERMAN — The Hagerman High School graduating class of 1957 held its tenth anniversary reunion over the weekend. Class members and their companions met at the high school building Saturday morning and Jack Darlin, their former eighth grade teacher, conducted a tour through the new learning center, after which they had dinner at the Magic Valley Cafe, Jerome.

James (Jimmy) Kirtland was master of ceremonies and welcomed fellow classmates. Mrs. Floyd (Nancy) Nelson read the 1957 class prophecy and Mrs. Ordel Berna Lee sang "We'll Wait for You" having the most hair. Mrs. Gerhard (Janet Gardner) Luttner for the most children (5); Mrs. Al (Connie) Dresser for the one who changed the least in appearance; and also for having the youngest child, and Brod Nieder for having the least hair.

Letters were read from Danny Moore, Dick Enssusa and Allen Jones who were unable to attend. Others not attending were Sandra Mason, Harold Miller, Paige Chipman and Laura Glauzer.

Class members and their families met at the Hagerman Village Park Sunday for a picnic. Officers elected for the next reunion to be held in five years were Brad Nieder, Clyde Clifford and LaRona Bendorf, all Hagerman; Mrs. Drupe Boise and Mrs. Bud (Deloris Zimmerman) Santee, Calif.

Eight Girls Vying For Miss Cassia Title

BURLEY—Final plans are being made this week for the annual Miss Cassia County Pageant which will be held at 8 p.m. July 19 in the Burley High School gym. The annual event is sponsored by Burley Jaycees and the Jay-C-ettes.

Eight young ladies are vying for the title and the reigning Miss Cassia County, Helen Carey, will crown the new one selected.

The contestants are Diane Bowen, 20, Burley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ned F. Bowen. A 1965 graduate of Burley High School, she has attended Rick's College for two years where she is a member of the Beta Beta Beta sorority. She plans to attend Brigham Young University this fall.

She stands 5 feet 3 inches and weighs 115 pounds, measures 34-24-35, has light brown hair and blue eyes.

At college she is a member of the Beta Beta Beta sorority and co-chairman of the best-dressed girl contest sponsored by Glanmor magazine. She lists as her hobbies sewing and dancing. The night of the pageant she will do a dance number for her talent.

The Burley Chamber of Commerce is her sponsor.

Julia Ann Bywater, 20, Star Route, Declo, daughter of Glen Bywater and the late Mrs. Bywater. Is a 1965 graduate of Declo High School. She attended the LDS Business College, majored in fashion merchandising, attended Brigham Young University, majoring in elementary education.

She stands 5 feet 3 inches and weighs 115 pounds, measures 34-24-35, has brown hair and green eyes. Her hobbies are designing and sewing her own clothes and for members of the family, and creating new dishes. She also writes poetry, songs and essays and enjoys drawing and painting.

Her talent will be a vocal solo and her sponsor is the Idaho Department Store.

Rosiland Ann Hodges, 18, Elba, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ted M. Hodges, is a 1967 graduate of Rat River High School. She plans to attend Rick's College this fall.

She was a Girls' State delegate, a member of the pep band, pep club, drill team and the Future Homemakers of America. The shortest contestant, she is 4 feet 10 inches and weighs 105 pounds, measures 34-23-34, has brown hair and brown eyes. Her hobbies are reading, and she will give a humorous reading.

Barbara Ann Jackson, 17, Oakley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jackson, is a 1967 graduate of Oakley High School. She attended Lady Catherine Beauty School, Boise.

She was a cheerleader for Oakley High School, served as president of the Pep Club and member of the Canoe Club, she plans to continue her education at Purdue this fall.

Shelby's Foodliner is her sponsor and she will present a humorous reading.

General chairman of the pageant is John McCallister, of the Jaycees. Assisting are Mrs. Bruce Turner, Declo, organist; Mrs. Darwin Knopp, make-up instructor; Mrs. Pat Smith, hair stylist; Mrs. McCallister, Jay-C-ettes; Mrs. Robert Hillard, training contestants.

Prizes for Miss Cassia County, TV, will be master of ceremonies.

During intermission of the pageant there will be a "miniature" of the daughters of the Jay-C-ette members, age 3 to 6 years. Some of the "miniature" young ladies will be dressing in bathing suits, dressy dresses and costumes depicting talent.

Tickets are available from any Jaycees or Jay-C-ette member, at Thriftway Drug and McCallister Appliance and Furniture.

Idaho News

TRAIN DERAILS — A Union Pacific loop train derailed Wednesday near Holtman in southern Idaho, and rail crewmen are blaming the accident on the weather.

One crewman said the engine and five cars of the train derailed when they hit a "hink" in the track caused by Wednesday's heat wave.

No one was injured in the mishap, but Union Pacific officials said it would take a few days to repair the 200 yards of track torn up in the accident.

IDAHO AFFECTED — The Middle East crisis has upset ocean shipping and may force Idaho wheat growers to store their bumper crops, Robert L. Henry, administrator of the Idaho Transportation Council, said Wednesday.

He advised wheat growers to be prepared to store wheat in the event shipping facilities are not available.

MEET SCHEDULED — The Western Association of Food and Drugs has scheduled a meeting for Tuesday at 10 a.m. at the Courthouse in Idaho Falls. Dr. Terrell O. Carver, state health administrator, said Wednesday.

INSURANCE DEMANDED — More western farmers are demanding higher insurance as farm production continues to rise, Federal Crop Insurance Corporation official Ross Dimmock said Wednesday.

Dimmock was addressing a meeting of 60 corporation officials from Idaho, Utah, Washington and Oregon.

LEADS FATALITIES — Idaho's two most populous counties — Ada and Canyon — topped all others in the number of traffic fatalities in the first six months of 1967, the Law Enforcement Department's traffic safety division reported Wednesday.

Each of the counties had 10 deaths during the period.

1,000 ATTEND MEET — SANDPOINT, Idaho (AP) — More than 1,000 members and guests from British Columbia, Montana and Idaho were at the annual meeting today of the Northern Lights, Inc., power cooperative.

Rep. James A. McClure, R-Idaho, was the featured speaker at the picnic meeting at Bonner County fairgrounds.

Northern Lights serves about 10,000 residents of the three areas.

ASSUMES DUTIES — Boise (AP) — The new State Department of Administrative Services has, a new management services division administrator.

Acting director James Debench of the department said William Carter, an Idaho State University graduate, assumed the duties Wednesday.

CHURCH WILL SPEAK — Boise (AP) — The Idaho Press Association said Wednesday Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, will address the organization's convention July 21-22 in Burley, Idaho.

GIRL ELECTED

BOISE (AP) — An Idaho girl has been elected national president of the Future Homemakers of America, Idaho officials of the organization reported Wednesday.

Chop, president at the group's convention in Los Angeles, said, was Ethelmyr Hunsaker, 17, of Boise.

She is a senior at South Fremont High School.

Assets Threatened

MCCALL, Idaho (AP) — Farming production costs threaten rising assets of western farmers, D.C. Federal Crop Insurance Corp. official, told delegates Wednesday at the annual four-state FCI-C convention.

About 60 corporation officials from Idaho, Washington, Oregon and Utah attended.

Firm Purchased

GRANGEVILLE, Idaho (AP) — The Prairie Lumber Co., of Grangeville has been purchased by a three firm lumber group, the presidents of the firms involved announced Wednesday.

Purchasers include Tenants in Common; a group of Idaho, Washington and Oregon investors who own the former, and the State of Idaho, timber operation in Idaho County, Inland Lumber Co., and Idaho Mills, both of Grangeville.

President Elected

BOISE (AP) — Ethelmyr Hunsaker of St. Anthony, Idaho, was elected national president of the Future Homemakers of America at the group's Los Angeles, Calif. convention.

Idaho officials of FHA announced the election results Wednesday.

Inmate Returned

BOISE (AP) — Freedom was short-lived for an inmate of the Idaho State Penitentiary who walked away Wednesday afternoon from a work crew. He was back in custody today.

Elyron James Daniels, 20, sent to the prison from Bannock County, was reported missing from a prison farm about 4:30 p.m. He was taken into custody again about 1:15 a.m.

Authorities said Ada County sheriff's officers arrested Daniels while he was driving a motor vehicle reported stolen earlier from the old Fort Idaho area in the northern section of Boise.

Daniels was received at the prison from Bannock County last Dec. 28 to serve a three-year sentence for first-degree burglary.

Johnson's Congo Dispatch Could Be Costly

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's dispatch of three U. S. planes to the Congo may have cost him political ground he gained in following a cautious course in the Middle East crisis.

After the quick Israeli victory over the Arabs there was demonstrable satisfaction in the country that the President had prevented any indirect American involvement in the war.

But Johnson's unheralded action in dispatching transport planes and about 150 men to the rebellious Congo in response to a request by President Joseph D. Mobutu soured the congenial atmosphere, at least in Congress.

Critics said Johnson acted precipitously to poke into the domestic affairs of a country where the United States had no vital interests and where it was not its primary responsibility to keep the peace.

One result, in the opinion of influential members of Congress, could be a slow-down in any executive move at this time to enlarge the American military commitment in Vietnam.

They argue that Johnson, always keenly aware of the trend of congressional and public opinion, can only conclude that a great number of Americans are overly tired of having the United States police the world.

This attitude could be reflected in public reaction against any spectacular move to intensify the Vietnam war by substantially increasing troop commitments or expanding the bombing.

The expectation in Congress is that Johnson will move only in stages to give Gen. William C. Westmoreland more of the troops the general says he needs and that there will be no perceptible change in bombing patterns for the time being.

Senatorial supporters of the President's Vietnam course joined his critics in making it clear they want no more Vietnam by criticizing his decision to give even token help to Mobutu in his fight with rebels and white mercenaries.

This widespread concern was translated into action Wednesday when the Senate Foreign Relations Committee tentatively

Two students from Magic Valley also were named to the dean's list in the division of medical art at the university for the spring semester. They are Jean Arlene Stewart, Twin Falls, and Betty Jean Slater, Jerome.

MOTION APPROVED

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U. S. Senate Foreign Relations Committee Wednesday approved a motion by Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, to cut $120 million from the military aid portion of the foreign aid bill.

Girl Dies

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — As they discussed breaking their engagement, Gisela Dillger told Wilfried Kemper she still loved him. He hugged her tight, kissed her and suddenly she was dead, he told the court. A medical examiner described it as a "rifle death" similar to that caused by a rabbit-punch. Kemper's attorney cited the case of a German army lieutenant returning to Frankfurt during World War II, hugged his girl friend so tight that he broke her neck. The court reduced the charge today from causing intentional bodily injury with fatal consequences, which carries at least a three-year prison term, to negligent homicide. Kemper, a 23-year-old printer, was sentenced to 21 months in prison.

They are Sandra Lee Drake, Twin Falls; Gary E. Isom, Halley; and David Byron Glynn, Fairfield. Two students from Magic Valley also were named to the dean's list in the division of medical art at the university for the spring semester. They are Jean Arlene Stewart, Twin Falls, and Betty Jean Slater, Jerome.

MOTION APPROVED

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U. S. Senate Foreign Relations Committee Wednesday approved a motion by Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, to cut $120 million from the military aid portion of the foreign aid bill.

Officials Announce Horse Show Results

Results of the first Intermountain Quarter Horse Association-sponsored, all-youth show of the Magic Valley were announced Wednesday by show officials, who said classes attracted more than 300 entries. Over 100 horses and 100 youths participated in the one-day show, July 3 at Frontier Field. All-around trophy for the top horse center was awarded to registered events went to Steven Martin, Idaho Falls. Winner of the all-around event.

Bill Hailed That Created Water Board

WASHINGTON (AP) — House passage of a bill authorizing a National Water Commission was hailed Wednesday in separate statements by Rep. Thomas S. Foley, D-Wash. and Rep. Catherine May, R-Wash. Rep. May described the 358-191 vote of approval as a great step forward in protecting the Pacific Northwest from water raids by thirsty Southwest states.

She said she expects the commission to give full attention to the entire range of alternatives to diversion of Columbia River water to the Southwest.

Foley, who sponsored the bill in the House, said on the House floor, "It is my hope that the step we take today will result in major attention to the United States in the field of water development and water quality." He said the legislation is aimed at providing an objective, non-governmental assessment of the nation's water needs and resources.

The bill already had been approved, with minor differences, in the Senate, where it was sponsored by Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash.

Young exhibitors participating in the show represented several Intermountain areas including Salt Lake City, Utah; Idaho Falls, Caldwell, Nampa, all of Magic Valley and even parts of Canada.

Show Chairman Clyde Smith said the event was highly successful and it is hoped the show will become an annual event for this area. It is designed to encourage youngsters to exhibit registered quarter horses and to promote the breed in the local area. Mr. Smith said.

Utilization of space is the point of emphasis in the new Kimberly High School, a unique structure expected to be completed this fall.

The school, one of the first of its kind in the area—the new school complex at Carey is similar—is progressing on schedule, according to Robert Sherman, superintendent.

The circular structure, which will house between 165 and 170 sophomores, juniors and seniors, is the first segment of a complex planned at Kimberly.

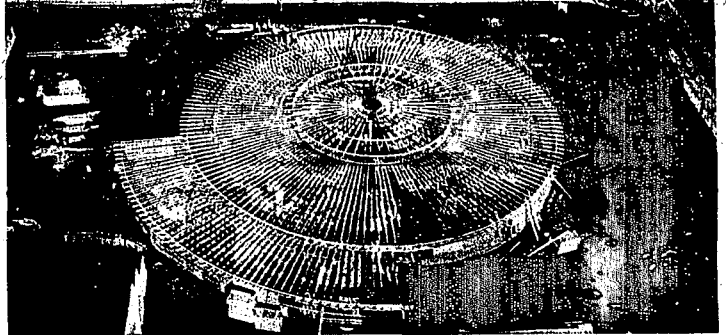

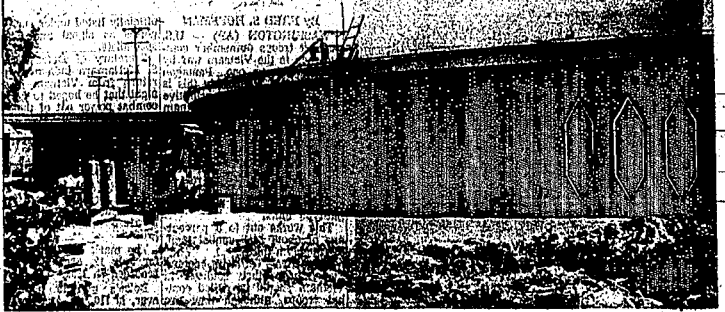

Another circle, housing junior high school students, will be connected to the circle now under construction by a rectangular linking auditorium.

Roofing has been completed at the new school and partitions are up in the interior of the building. The building face will be of a light, reddish-ton brick, Mr. Sherman said.

VanAuker Construction Co., Caldwell, is general contractor. Although no deadline was issued the contractors, Mr. Sherman noted, all facilities are expected to be complete when school opens Sept. 5.

Classrooms will be pie-shaped, forming a central point of interest, with instructors standing in the point of the triangle. Very few windows are used in the building, Mr. Sherman pointed out, and student attention should be easily focused on the teacher.

"The people in Kimberly," he said, "seem to be excited about

WORK PROGRESSES on the new Kimberly High School, scheduled for completion this fall, as workmen place roof sheathing on the structure in June. The roof is now completed and some interior work on the building, designed by Charles Johnston, Johnston and Associates, Payette, is now in progress.

ODD SHAPED windows at the new Kimberly High School are one of the most unique features about the circular structure which will house between 165 and 170 students this fall.

First Part of Workers' Demands Are Presented

DETROIT (AP)—The United Auto Workers Wednesday completed initial presentation of their 1967 contract demands on the nation's Big Three automobile makers, but outlined one of their top goals, a guaranteed annual income for about 700,000 employees, only in general terms.

As Walter P. Reuther, UAW president, opened negotiations with Chrysler, the union presented to General Motors its first position paper on the guaranteed income.

"The income, the UAW said, should be enough for the worker to 'maintain his normal living standard for a period of time, length of service, up to a full year'."

On the basis of his average $3.41 hourly pay, the auto worker earns about $6,820 a year exclusive of fringe benefits.

Reuther said determining eligibility for a full year's guaranteed pay "is a question which we will answer through bargaining."

Reuther emphasized at Chrysler, as he did Monday at General Motors, that contracts replacing three year pacts expiring Sept. 6 at the Big Three must include some form of "equity sharing" for the workers.

Reuther said Chrysler had made "phenomenal progress" since 1961, expanding its share from 10.3 per cent in February 1962 to a current share of close to 17 per cent.

"The real argument will be made in these negotiations," Reuther said. "Have the Chrysler workers shared in the equity of that progress?"

at Kimberly will cost less than $11 per square foot.

Electric heat will be used in the school and about a third of the floor space will be carpeted.

The new facility, plus the other school improvements under way at Kimberly, are being financed by a $340,000 bond issue passed by Kimberly voters about two years ago.

The one-story high school structure, as well as those projected, are definitely part of the future of education at Kimberly, Mr. Sherman said.

The circular facility will be able to accommodate between 50 and 60 more students than currently enrolled at Kimberly High School.

The old school will remain standing, at least for the present and will be used for junior high school classes. Previously, these intermediate students had been taught in the high school and an annex behind the building.

IRS Admits 8-Year Use Of Wiretapping

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Internal Revenue Service acknowledged Wednesday that it used wiretaps, electronic bugs and other eavesdropping devices more than 1,000 times during an eight-year period which ended in mid-1958.

It contended the vast majority of them were legal but acknowledged some improprieties.

IRS Commissioner Sheldon S. Cohen said "the elements which led to improprieties" have since been abolished.

In a report to Chairman Edward W. Long, D-Mo., of a Senate subcommittee investigating snooping and other invasions of privacy, IRS listed 723 uses of pen registers which record a telephone number dialed but not the conversation.

Cohen also listed 94 wiretaps, 32 bugs, 29 telephone booth installations and 132 other types of electronic devices used between mid-1958 and mid-1965 without the consent of either party.

Support Units Outnumber Combat Men In Vietnam

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. support troops outnumber combat men in the Vietnam war by almost two to one, Pentagon officials said Wednesday. This largely because of the primitive development of South Vietnam and the growing complexity of modern war gear.

Analysis of available figures suggests that about 183,000 of the roughly 531,000 American military men playing a role in the Vietnam war are assigned to what are rated here as combat-type units.

This works out to a percentage of about 34.4 combat men, or roughly a third.

Some Army officers contend that many other soldiers in Vietnam are not combat troops, although they are officially listed under such categories as "signal and engineer specialties."

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara indicated on his return from Vietnam Tuesday night that he hoped to get more combat power out of the forces already there.

"There are large opportunities for increasing the effectiveness of our existing forces," McNamara told newsmen. "Clearly that must be one of our immediate objectives."

Asked to elaborate, he spoke of "further opportunities for reducing the ratio of support to combat forces."

The 531,000 figure represents 465,000 Army, Air Force, Marine, Navy, and Coast Guardsmen in Vietnam, plus other U.S. military men involved in air-war operations out of Thailand and Guam and aboard destroyers and cruisers bombarding the North Vietnamese coast, as well as carrier units in the Gulf of Tonkin.

Army records show that in both World War II and Korea its forces broke down into about 57 per cent combat and about 43 per cent service support.

The Army accounts for 302,000 of the U.S. forces in South Vietnam.

Of these, a bit more than 100,000, or about a third, are clearly in combat-type units.

Pentagon officials said that, in the Korean War, U.S. forces had available to them pretty good ports, relatively intact highways and usable railroads.

"In Vietnam we had to build practically everything," said one senior officer.

Other officers noted that in Korea, American forces had the benefit of a short supply line to Japan. In Vietnam, they said, the supply line goes all the way back to the United States.

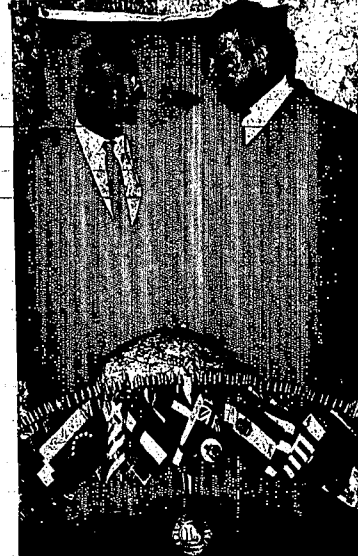

Gen. William C. Westmoreland, U.S. commander in Vietnam, noted recently that there are now five deep-water ports in Vietnam, compared to only one two years ago, and seven jet airfields compared with only three of limited capacity in 1953. Highways have been improved and built during the past year, he said.

It is projects like this—virtually building a country out of nothing—that the Army cites as the reason for the large number of rear-echelon troops in Vietnam.

Air Ticket Sales Hit By Crime Wave

WASHINGTON (AP)—The airline ticket sales industry has been hit, and hit hard, for the first time by what it believes to be organized crime.

In recent months thousands of airline tickets have been stolen, and hundreds sold—some to glib-tongued salesmen, others to persons deliberately seeking black market travel bargains.

A dozen individuals have been arrested in Los Angeles, Miami, Boston and New Jersey. Charges against some are punishable by prison terms up to 15 years. One relatively minor offender has received a six-months jail sentence.

More arrests are likely in the near future, says the Air Transport Association, travel organization of the scheduled airlines.

Richard Comerford, an association investigator, said the current wave of stolen ticket sales is so well organized that it plainly is the work of a ring.

"This seems to point to a Cosa Nostra-type organization," he said.

Bell Rapids Plan Noted At Bliss Meet

BLISS—A report on the Bell Rapids Project was given by Lou Thorson, Twin Falls, at the monthly dinner meeting of the Bliss Chamber of Commerce Monday evening at the Oxbow Cafe.

A special musical program was presented by Cliff Butler, Bingham City, Utah, and his one-man band, which consisted of guitar, drum and harmonica.

Harold Butler was presented with a decorated birthday cake from the Oxbow management in honor of his birthday.

It was noted that Mr. and Mrs. V. (Chris) Christoffersen are attending a wedding show in Washington, D. C. Mrs. Christoffersen is the Chamber of Commerce secretary.

Among the visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Butler and daughters, Sacramento, Calif. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Butler.

The next meeting will be held Aug. 14 at the Y-Inn Cafe.

Doctors Want Booms Reports

BRISTOL, England (AP)—Britain's doctors have appealed to the public for reports of damage to health believed caused by noise booms.

The Scientific Committee of the British Medical Association, holding its annual meeting here, also appealed Wednesday for reports on effects of the booms on delicate medical equipment.

If the reports show that there is some risk to patients or delicate equipment, then we will send a report to the minister of technology," said Lawrence Abel, a London surgeon who heads the committee.

Obscure English Golfer Cops British Open Lead; Nicklaus Is 3 Shots Back

By JOHN FARROW Associated Press Writer
HOUSTON, England (AP)—An obscure, 32-year-old English professional named Lionel Platts shot into the first round of the British Open golf championship Wednesday as heavily favored Jack Nicklaus settled for a 71 in the first round of the British Open Golf Championship.

But I couldn't putt," Nicklaus lamented after his round. "I could have sunk another eight putts."

The man who broke Nicklaus' Masters string, Guy Brewer Jr., who just in a fourth round tie to both Nicklaus and another Scot who's best opening score for the best American contingent—a 70—but other members of the group were in good contention.

"Doug Sanders of Ojai, Calif., regularly one of the top money winner on the U.S. tour, had a 71. Deane Beman (Iowa), McGee (Ill.), the former U.S. and British amateur king who turned pro this summer, shot 72, and puddy Phil Rodgers, who just in a playoff for the title to both Charles in 1953, had to rally for a 74.

Bert Yancy of Philadelphia, stricken with a stomach upset Tuesday, drove badly in registering a 75.

Platts, with a dramatic 32 on the final nine, grabbed a one-stroke lead over a trio of Britons tied at 69. They were Peter Jones, a 24-year-old protege of Henry Cotton; Jimmy Hume of Scotland and another Scot who got in through a withdrawal, David Bontrough.

A second alternate, Bontrough into the field when Mason Rudolph of Clarksville, Tenn., scratched.

The tough Hoylake course, baked by a hot sun, played relatively easy for the first round because of the absence of strong winds and rain that normally whips the seaside links.

The course's 72 par has been broken, but no winner of the Open ever has beaten it in a round over Hoylake. Bob Jones had a 70 in 1930, the year of his Grand Slam.

Tied with Brewer at 70 were Harold Lake, the McGee international star, including Kel Nagle, the veteran Australian who beat Arnold Palmer for the Centenary Championship in St. Andrews, 1960; Roberto de Vicenzo of Argentina, Christy O'Connor of Ireland, Clive Clark, a 22-year-old Briton, and Bruce Devlin, the Australian who is a regular on the U.S. tour.

Brewer said of his round: "It was quite a finish. I felt as though my putting was back in business."

The Texan went out in three over par 3 and then pulled his game together with a birdie 3 at the fifth hole, a 2 and a 3 on No. 3 wood and wedge to four feet and sank the putt. He carded an eagle at the 529-yard 16th. He then made a birdie on No. 12 and sank the putt.

He got a birdie at the 17th with a three wood, a wedge to 15 feet and sank the putt. Then he finished with another birdie on the home green. He used a three wood off the tee, sent a seven iron to 15 feet and holed the putt.

"Never once did I use my driver," Brewer said. "I used a three wood off the tee all through the round."

Platts, who has his way around the front nine in 30 shots which included a bogey at the short fourth and a double bogey at the fifth, then he managed with the fancy, colored salts, finished in the championship flying golf shoes and the short backswing got loose with birdies on 10, 11, 12 and 17. His par on the final hole gave him a back nine of 32.

Alvis Leads Indians Over Chicago 5-3

CLEVELAND (AP)—Max Alvis touched off a two-run first inning rally with a double and home run in the second, triggering Cleveland's 5-3 victory over the Chicago White Sox Wednesday.

The defeat trimmed Chicago's American League lead to 1 1/2 games over second place Detroit and two games over third place Minnesota, both idle.

Chuck Hinton, Rocky Colavito and Chip Salzman, followed Alvis' first inning double with hits, propelling the Indians to a quick 2-0 lead. Alvis slammed a 3-1 hit home run in the second inning.

The White Sox closed it to a 3-2 in the third before the Indians added two more runs in their half of the inning.

Chicago's starting pitcher, Tommy John, 8-6, who has pitched five shutouts this season, was lifted in the first inning.

The game was a makeup for one postponed because of rain.

Late Homer Pushes Cards Past Pirates

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Mike Shannon smashed a two-run homer off reliever Pete Mikkelson's eighth inning effort Wednesday night, propelling St. Louis to a 4-3 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Back Country Roads And Water Conditions Improve For Anglers

BOISE (AP)—Back country roads and water conditions are improving in most sections of Idaho, making the fishing prospects more favorable, the Idaho Fish and Game Department said Wednesday.

In its weekly summary, the department said the road to Hazard Lake, the McGee Hole to Sunbeam Dam and Decker Flat.

The Middle Fork of the Salmon in the area of Decker Falls is dropping and salmon are being caught. Marsh Creek is dropping and good. The Main Salmon in the Stanley vicinity is dropping and fishing on the Decker Flat area and at Sunbeam is holding up well. The Big Wood downstream to Kel-chum is clear and so is most of the Big Wood system fishing is improving.

Magic is clearing and perch fishing is good. The Richfield Canal is producing fish late in the evening. All of the road systems are open. All of the mountain passes are opening and most of the mountain lakes are beginning to open up.

The Casino Lakes are now accessible and the lower elevations of the Sawtooth are beginning to open up. Most of the mountain lakes in the Big Wood drainage are now ice free and the trails are free of snow.

The North Fork of the Salmon River has been fair fishing. The East Fork of the Salmon River is improving and some salmon are being caught on the Main Salmon River. Salmon are being caught from Black's Hole and at Sunbeam Dam.

Fishing conditions are continuing to improve. Waters are clearing except for rains.

Mackay Reservoir has improved for both bank and fly fishermen, especially on the upper end. The Big Lost River is best below Mackay Reservoir Dam. Copper Basin streams are good fishing but road conditions are poor. Antelope Creek, a tributary to Big Lost River, is good fishing. The Little Lost River is fair to good. Best fishing seems to be in the small tributaries.

The South Fork of the Snake River has cleared but is high due to irrigation needs, but it is very good fishing. The sloughs in Muldon and Eastern Jefferson counties are good fly fishing for cutthroat.

The North Fork of the Snake River is good from Mackay's Inn to St. Anthony. Box Canyon is excellent.

Henry's Lake is improving. High winds and heavy rains have been the problem. One T-10 road cut through a 9-pound B-ounce cutthroat have been reported the past week. Inland Park Reservoir is best on the McCrear Arm area. The rainbow are taking on weight fast.

The Oregon Fish Commission and the Washington Department of Fisheries said the season on full chinook and summer steelhead will begin at 6 p.m. July 23 and will have a five week-day fishing period with weekend closures through August 25.

At the hearing, the commercial fishing industry supported the traditional July 23 opening. But sport fishing interests requested the season be delayed for one week.

"DAME PATTIE" is Australia's challenger for the upcoming America's Cup races in Newport, R.I., beginning Sept. 12. America is unbeaten in the 116-year history of the race.

Competition, however, is not held every year and the Americans have defended the cup 18 times (15 against Britain, twice against Canada, once against Australia). The Australians feel they have a better chance this time. During recent trials in Sydney, "Dame Pattie" easily defeated "Gretel," "Damo Pattie" will carry a new type of lightweight sailcloth that reduces the total weight of her sails 40 pounds below those carried by "Gretel" in the last challenge in 1962.

"Dame Pattie" is named for Dame Pattie Menzies, wife of Australia's former prime minister, Sir Robert Menzies.

The Casino Lakes are now accessible and the lower elevations of the Sawtooth are beginning to open up. Most of the mountain lakes in the Big Wood drainage are now ice free and the trails are free of snow.

The North Fork of the Salmon River has been fair fishing. The East Fork of the Salmon River is improving and some salmon are being caught on the Main Salmon River. Salmon are being caught from Black's Hole and at Sunbeam Dam.

Fishing conditions are continuing to improve. Waters are clearing except for rains.

Mackay Reservoir has improved for both bank and fly fishermen, especially on the upper end. The Big Lost River is best below Mackay Reservoir Dam. Copper Basin streams are good fishing but road conditions are poor. Antelope Creek, a tributary to Big Lost River, is good fishing. The Little Lost River is fair to good. Best fishing seems to be in the small tributaries.

The South Fork of the Snake River has cleared but is high due to irrigation needs, but it is very good fishing. The sloughs in Muldon and Eastern Jefferson counties are good fly fishing for cutthroat.

The North Fork of the Snake River is good from Mackay's Inn to St. Anthony. Box Canyon is excellent.

Green Bay Opens Quest For Third Pro Title In Row

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—The Green Bay Packers, stripped of a twin backfield through the playoffs, began gathering Wednesday to start the long pursuit of an unprecedented third straight National Football League championship.

Thirty-seven rookies were to report by Wednesday night. By Saturday night, 75 players will be in the Packers' camp, including 35 veterans.

Drills formally begin Thursday. Missing for the first time since Coach Vince Lombardi assumed command of the NFL also-ran and transformed them into champions will be both halfback Paul Hornung and fullback Jim Taylor.

Hornung went to the New Orleans Saints in the NFL's expansion draft. Taylor went to the same team in a trade after playing out his Green Bay option.

Lombardi, hoping to build his fifth championship team in 1965—the year Hornung was suspended—said he would like to see the Packers also fall in their title bid in 1964, a season Hornung was bothered by a chronic neck ailment.

The same ailment hampered Hornung a year ago, but Elijah Pitts moved to starting halfback and backer Ben Wilson, elected to the title all over again.

Returning intact is last season's defensive unit, a tightly knit veteran crew that allowed a league low of 148 points in 1964.

Also returning is quarterback Bart Starr, the NFL's most valuable player last season, veteran receivers Boyd Dowler, Carroll Dale, Marv Fleming and Max McGee and the tough Green Bay corps of offensive linemen.

The Packers open their exhibition season against the College All-Stars in Green Bay and their regular season Sept. 17 at home against Detroit.

Oregon Sets Commercial Fishing Times

PORTLAND (AP)—A public hearing Wednesday in Portland set the early and late commercial fishing season on the Columbia River.

The Oregon Fish Commission and the Washington Department of Fisheries said the season on full chinook and summer steelhead will begin at 6 p.m. July 23 and will have a five week-day fishing period with weekend closures through August 25.

At the hearing, the commercial fishing industry supported the traditional July 23 opening. But sport fishing interests requested the season be delayed for one week.

Chemist Develops Cigarette Filter Thought 70 Per Cent More Effective

NEW YORK (AP) — After eight years of experimenting in his home laboratory, a New Jersey chemist says he has developed a new cigarette filter that is 70 per cent more effective than conventional filters.

Robert L. Strickman, the inventor, said Wednesday he had given a controlling interest in the new filter to Columbia University.

As word of the development spread through the financial community Wednesday, tobacco stocks on the New York Stock Exchange rose sharply with closing prices up as much as $3.50.

The filter—a tasteless, white crystalline synthetic—is said to have no effect on the taste of a cigarette and to cost no more than filters now in use. Strickman claims it cuts the intake of tar and nicotine by more than two-thirds.

However, no absolute claim has been made that the new filter will reduce the incidence of cancer and other diseases. Columbia is known to be hopeful of such a result and more medical tests veloped what he said today is a revolutionary cigarette filter that is "70 per cent more effective than conventional filters." (AP wirephoto) are planned. Strickman, 56, is president of Allied Testing and Research Laboratories in Hillsdale, N.J. He said he pursued development of the filter because both of his parents died of cancer and he felt cigarettes were a cancer-causing agent.

In 1964, a U.S. Surgeon General's advisory committee found cigarette smoke a "health hazard" and the major cause of lung cancer among smokers.

In Washington Wednesday, John W. Gardner, secretary of health, education and welfare recommended that cigarette manufacturers be forced to give consumers more specific warnings about the hazards of their products.

He said in a news report to Congress that there is more evidence now to strengthen the 1964 findings. "To say that smoking may be hazardous is to ignore the overwhelming evidence that cigarette smoking is clearly hazardous to health," he said.

The Surgeon General's office assembled the updated report on health hazards based on the research of others and said it did not represent new research done by federal agencies.

Strickman said Wednesday that he tried to approach tobacco companies directly with his invention but was never able "to get beyond the front door."

Subsequently, he said, he offered the university all the rights except for a small percentage which he retained himself.

He said his filter works on a different principle than the conventional filters which merely trap tar and other solid matter. The new filter utilizes a polymeric substance to transform harmful smoke and residue into a harmless substance, he said.

Strickman, who lives with his wife in River Vale, N.J., said he is himself a chain smoker of cigars and up to a pack of cigarettes a day. He estimated that the new filter could be on the market by fall.

In accepting the rights to the filter, Columbia is said to have stipulated that it made available to all companies with no exclusive rights.

Summer Of Race Violence Prompts Queries

CROWNED MISS Tall Universe is radiant Sherry Youmans, a 6-foot, 1-inch blue-eyed Colorado State University student from Denver, by last year's titleholder, Adria Easton of Uden, Colo. The 20-year-old Miss Youmans was the third girl in four years from Colorado to win the title. (AP wirephoto)

By AUSTIN SCOTT
NEW YORK (AP) — A rock thrown in Boston, Glass shattered in Tampa. Rampages in Cincinnati, Dayton, Atlanta and Buffalo. Suddenly, before its calendar time it was summer, and at some feared, a time for racial violence.

With at least two more hot months stretching ahead, Americans in cities with barely concealed desperation, are trying to control the social pressures that increasingly shatter traditional sleepy summers.

For several it's top late. For others a safety valve of temporary summer programs may or may not — give some relief. From the recent riots who started them? Why some cities and not others? How could the trouble have been headed off?

There are no ready answers to these questions, but some patterns are emerging from the heaps of shattered glass and burned out rubble.

Beyond the obvious frictions of black versus white, the most striking conflict pattern is that of young against old within the Negro community.

Negroes as young as 10 and 12 threw bottles at police in Buffalo while their parents bemoaned the violence. Teen-agers looted stores while Negro ministers and city officials conjured nonviolence.

These youngsters are not all hoodlums or confirmed delinquents. They don't all agree with black power prophet Stokely Carmichael.

But few will listen to parents, or ministers or city officials. They don't necessarily buy the advice that hard work will lift them out of the ghettoes. Work is hard to get, and despite non-violent protests, the ghetto seems to many youngsters much as it always has been — dirty, crowded and devoid of opportunity.

And some adults agree.

Who says riots don't work? An elderly man asked at a Negro lunch counter in Buffalo. "We been telling them (the city) what's wrong for years. Now these kids break a few windows, and the mayor is down here promising jobs. They work. I can't fool these kids like my father fooled me. I done worked hard all my life and I still ain't got nothin' I'd want my kids to have."

Efforts to improve the situation are being made. Acting on the belief that youngsters become alienated when they feel these questions, but some adults — Negro or white — don't really care about their problems, adults in Boston, Tampa and Dayton put together youth patrols which helped quell riots on the promise that grievances would be dealt with.

Buffalo Mayor Frank Sedita listened for an hour and a half to sharply voiced complaints from a group of youngsters. He commented: "I think some of your grievances are just . . . some promises have not been kept."

"These kids need to be listened to," said one of the youth patrol advisers in Tampa.

"They're good, but they can't get jobs, they have nothing to do," said a woman in Buffalo. Recognizing this, many cities are aiming their programs specifically at young people.

Boston has doubled its support of a work program designed to find jobs for 1,200 to 1,400 and 14 and 15-year-olds in Roxbury, the main Negro section.

"It's been brought out that the kids want jobs, the kids need jobs," said George Bennett, director of Action for Boston Community Development. "The need to be doing meaningful things."

The Cleveland Community Relations director, Bertram Gardner, said playgrounds are being built throughout the city, but hard by closing last August, and that efforts are being made to clean up residential areas.

In Michigan, where adult Negroes flock to jobs in the auto industry, officials say that any major threat of violence comes from those between 13 and 25 who can't easily find work. Every major city in the state is trying to supply more jobs and recreation this summer to that age group.

Close to the generation gap is another serious problem: antagonism toward the police. This trait starts early in many Negro homes.

"Who is this?" a Project Head Start teacher in Jacksonville, Fla., asked a little Negro girl showing her a photograph of a policeman. "That's a cop," the little girl said. "He comes into your house, takes you out and beats you up."

"After unemployment, the No. 2 problem is police-community relations," said Cels King, president of the central Los Angeles branch of the NAACP. Harassment by police is a constant and lingering complaint by many Negroes. They cite incidents which they claim never would have occurred if whites rather than Negroes had been involved.

In San Francisco last year, leaders extracted promises from the police to end massive shows of force in the Negro neighborhoods.

Some members of Tampa's City Youth Patrol persuaded potentially explosive crowds to disperse with the argument that the police "are just waiting for an excuse to come in here and wipe you out."

How do you change the image of law enforcement? Perhaps no law has gone as far as New York in this respect.

Its police have taken Negro and Puerto Rican boys to see the New York Mets play baseball and to weekend camps in the Catskill Mountains. Since the summer of 1956, 94 plainclothes men assigned as coaches in the relation. Specialists have met daily with Negro, Puerto Rican and white youths on the streets, listening to complaints and sometimes mediating disputes.

"Many of the boys gripe about cops pushing them around when they hung around street corners," said one official, "so we set up a play and let the boys be the cops while we played the boys. Afterward some of the boys told us they could see that being a policeman isn't an easy job."

The Los Angeles Police Department comes in contact with 1,700 youngsters every week by sending officers to, lecture in schools; Detroit has a Junior Police Cadet program and Baltimore more police meet once a month with leaders of 47 teenage groups to "defuse" brewing trouble.

Chicago runs an "Officer Friendly" program for youngsters, which includes an "Officer Friendly" coloring book showing police as nice guys who help lost children.

Most leaders don't put much stock in programs that end as soon as school begins.

"It's like putting a little Vaseline on a great big wound that's been bleeding all year," said the Rev. Leon Sullivan, whose Philadelphia-based Opportunities-Industrialization Center has been widely praised as one of the most effective organizations in the field of job training.

"You've got to put in some stitches or do some major surgery."

Despite the welter of programs, many youngsters seem convinced that a civil disturbance is the only way to start the operation.

Russia May Delay Pact on Weapons

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. lats say the Soviet Union delay a proposed treaty to the spread of nuclear weapons because of further opposition to U.S. foreign policy. U.S. officials expected a draft treaty to be drawn up by the Glassboro summit conference last week between President Johnson and Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin.

It there now are indications draft will not be submitted after Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko returns from Moscow from New York re he is attending a United Nations debate on the Middle East.

U.S. officials are disappointed with Soviet cancellation of a scheduled U.S. tour for a Soviet dance troupe, some U.S. officials see the nonproliferation treaty delay as part of a pattern of deliberate Kremlin defiance on dealings with the United States.

The State Department said Wednesday the Soviets had postponed indefinitely the visit of a 200-member dance troupe to the "international situation." The summer tour to be part of the U.S.-Soviet cultural exchange program.

Washington officials believe cancellation is intended as a rebuff to U.S. policy in the Middle East and Vietnam.

There is speculation in U.S. government ranks now about how tough an anti-U.S. line the Soviets will pursue in coming talks. It is believed here that debate is under way among top leaders on domestic, military and foreign affairs issues. The outcome likely to influence Soviet relations.

A public agreement on the limitation of a nonproliferation treaty was a highpoint of the saboteur talks. Provisions of proposed treaty had been subject of extended discussion between the two nuclear powers.

New Fight Is Announced By NAACP

BOSTON (AP) — The new campaign to integrate building trades craft unions announced by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People is aimed at an estimated $76.5 billion of public construction in the current fiscal year.

NAACP labor director Herbert Hill threatened Wednesday to seek federal court action in all states to withhold public construction funds from any project that does not employ its "full and fair share" of Negroes.

"If the lily-white AFL building trades craft unions continue to exclude Negroes let there be a national moratorium on all public construction," he said. "The crisis of the ghetto is the crisis of jobs. If we don't work, nobody's going to work."

Hill told a news conference that San Francisco's Bay area rapid transit project would be among the first targets of the NAACP. Other target cities, he said, are Los Angeles, New York, Cleveland, Chicago, Philadelphia, Washington, Boston, Columbus, Atlanta and Baltimore.

San Francisco's transit project was chosen for two reasons, Hill said: a Negro population in that city and neighboring Oakland "greater than in Birmingham, Ala.," and Oakland's critical rate of unemployment in excess of 34 per cent. This is a crisis figure.

The new vehicle on which the NAACP bases its program is a May 17 federal court decision which Hill said makes state and federal governments responsible for seeing that Negro workers have "their full and fair share" of jobs before contracts can be signed.

NEW YORK — (NEA) — The posed to be. Many persons believe that birds have a super sense of direction. The reason is that each year, on seasonal migration flights, millions of them reach far-off goals after journeys of many days or even weeks. "What we have found," says Dr. Helmut Adler, a psychology professor at Yeshiva University, "is that birds can get where they're going on a migratory flight by trial and error — and that they often might fly all over the map before getting there. Adler spends part of his time studying and working with birds at the American Museum of Natural History in its Department of Animal Behavior. And he and his son, Barry, a senior at Long Island University, have mathematically simulated hundreds of migratory flights with an IBM computer.

"Our computer simulation indicates that, given enough time, birds can reach goals thousands of miles away — even without a very good sense of direction," says Adler, a hearty, goateed man in his middle 40s. "You could say, without stretching things too much, that a bird gets where he's going in about the same way as a man who would be deprived of navigating instruments." After conducting experiments with live birds, Adler has concluded that they most likely find their way from one place to another by a form of celestial navigation, a type of course-setting that requires sighting in on some heavenly object and recognizing different times of day. "Birds can tell the time of day and they see well enough to be guided by the sun or certain stars," says Adler. "Neither their internal clock nor eyesight is perfect, however, and navigational error of a few degrees on a long journey would send a bird far off target." The computer, which was programmed by Barry Adler and uses a mathematical formulation that he developed, makes it possible to change the conditions for a given flight and find out in a few seconds what would have happened to that particular bird. If a migrating fowl successfully completes its journey, the computer finishes its plotting of the journey by printing: This little bird made it. Birds who fail receive this electronic sympathy: This poor little buzzard didn't make it. So far, the Adlers have concentrated on simulating flights of the whooping crane and the homing pigeon because of the great amount of information available about these birds' migratory and homing flights. Some of the variable factors in any flight include the disvelopment program; Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, former commander of the Atlantic Fleet, Dr. Edward Teller, the nuclear scientist who often is referred to as father of the hydrogen bomb, also is in the group. "They said evidence indicated the Soviet Union is succeeding in its massive drive toward strategic military superiority and that the United States is cooperating in this effort by slowing down its side of the arms race." The group said in a report released Monday the United States will lose its lead this year over the Soviet Union in deliverable nuclear power. They said that by 1971, "it appears a massive megatonnage gap will have developed." This refers to the atomic force of strategic weapons. One megaton equals one million tons of TNT. The Pentagon, asked to comment, said it wouldn't discuss megatonnage figures because they are classified. But it did maintain that numbers of weapons and size of warheads alone "are a very incomplete indicator of military strength." True military capability results from numbers of weapons that are accurate and reliable, that can survive an enemy attack and that can penetrate enemy defenses, the Defense Department said. "The United States has and will continue to have more than enough of such weapons to convince any enemy that an attack on this country would be suicidal." The group, headed by Schriever, also said the United States should deploy an ABM — antiballistic missile system — because in its absence "and with our offensive weapons restricted to a wholly defensive role, the danger of a general nuclear war is greatly increased." The Johnson administration's present policy is to hold off deployment of the ABM, which would be designed to intercept incoming enemy warheads.

South Africa Prime Minister Criticized For 'Softer Approach' Toward Race Problems

By DENNIS LEE ROYLE

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—Prime Minister Balthazar J. Vorster's "softer approach" toward some of South Africa's problems is bringing him trouble from elements of his own party. Vorster has headed the government for nine months. He has been trying to improve this country's image abroad against critics of the apartheid segregation policy that prevails here.

He represents the Nationalist party, which has been in power since 1948. It is based on political dominance by the Afrikaner section of the electorate, those of Dutch ancestry who often have mixed with people of English heritage.

Now some of the Nationalists are complaining of "liberalistic tendencies and unfaithfulness to the Afrikaner cause."

Vorster took over the premiership last September after Hendrik F. Verwoerd was assassinated.

For years Afrikaners favored Verwoerd's indifference to condemnation elsewhere of this country's racial policy. They were solidly behind his efforts to entrench Afrikaner leadership in South Africa's political, economic and cultural fields.

Verwoerd's reluctance to tone down the rigid laws of apartheid or bow to world criticism after the Sharpeville massacre of 1960

ly wait to be divorced so I can marry Hayley, it might very well prejudice my case. The British courts are funny that way; they like to make the final determination."

The new film, "The Family Way," also seems likely to upset the Hayley Mills fans. She has gone the way of all flesh for actresses nowadays. The film features a controversial scene in which she steps out of a bathtub and is viewed from the rear. The sequence almost caused "The Family Way" to be condemned by the National Catholic Office for Motion Pictures.

Findings Told

BOSTON (AP)—Two civil rights investigators just back from a 1,700-mile tour of the Mississippi Delta supported their findings Wednesday from six doctors in Washington that Mississippi is trying to drive or starve out its Negroes.

"Mississippi has a plan of genocide," Alex Walter, a New York official of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, told a news conference. "It has determined it is going to get rid of as many Negroes as possible," he said.

Rollie Eubanks, the other investigator, said, "In our judgment, the things they say about Mississippi are not only true but worse than true."

The two men have prepared a report for consideration by the convention calling for a federal law so that "no state can willfully jeopardize the health and welfare of its residents."

brought him high esteem among the Afrikaner group.

During the past nine months Vorster has endeavored to erase the "jailor" image thrust on him by some English-language newspapers. He has encouraged friendly relations with South Africa's immediate neighbors, Lesotho, Botswana and Swaziland, all landlocked territories economically dependent on the republic and all led by blacks.

Some staunch upholders of apartheid view any divergence as a softening of the Afrikaner desire to maintain complete racial segregation and an undermining of Afrikaner dominance in the country's affairs.

Those dedicated to the Verwoerd policy of total Afrikaner domination question the desirability of uncontrolled immigration, which is boosting the English-speaking population and some religious groups competitive with the Dutch Reformed Church.

There is discontent at Vorster's attempts to bring liberal-minded English speakers into the Nationalist fold.

New Building Fibers Will Inject Drastic Change

By ROY MALONE

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—Sky scrapers five times as high as the Empire State Building. Suspension bridges twice as long as today's longest. Drastic new shapes for aircraft.

These are the visualizations of researchers who for two years have been doing a close look at the way man-made fibers may be joined together to produce materials stronger and lighter than any natural material, including aluminum.

Groundwork research in the field of composite materials is being done by scientists at Washington University and the Monsanto Co. in St. Louis.

The close look is made possible by a new electron scanning microscope able to magnify 200,000 times. With the $85,000 instrument, researchers scan fractured composites to see what broke first—the fiber or the bonding compound, the matrix.

The scanning microscope can look at samples in depth and can be used to take pictures. The depth of field advantage makes it superior to conventional microscopes with a short field of focus.

Some of the fibers being studied are made of carbon, boron, silicon carbide, glass, steel and silicon nitride.

Initial research by the Air Force indicates the composites have three to five times the stiffness and strength of ordinary structural materials, yet are one-third the weight.

The best known composite, made of glass fibers and plastics, is used for sports equipment, boats and car bodies.

Nixon Denies Former Russian Premier's Claim

NEW YORK (AP)—Richard M. Nixon denied Wednesday

Nixon denied Wednesday Nikita S. Khrushchev's statement that he sought the release of U2 pilot Gary Powers to help Nixon win the 1960 presidential election. He dismissed the former premier's contention—the Kremlin boasted John F. Kennedy into office.

"An aide to the former vice president said the factual record clearly demonstrates that Mr. Khrushchev's memory is faulty."

Khrushchev, who called Nixon a "good for nothing—and unprincipled puppet" on a National Broadcasting Co. program Tuesday, claimed that he helped Kennedy to victory by ignoring Nixon's request that Powers be released from a Soviet prison.

When Khrushchev said he told Kennedy of his action at the Vienna summit meeting, Kennedy agreed that it had meant a few hundred thousand votes—his winning margin.

CORRECT PLAY INSURES SLAM

Here is a hand from the recent Eastern championships that is almost a double-dummy problem. In other words, try to make the slam after looking at all 52 cards.

clubs and ruffed a second diamond.

At this point George stopped to cash dummy's ace of hearts. Then he came to his hand again with the king of clubs in order to ruff his last diamond. Then he ruffed a heart; played out his last two trumps and made the slam with dummy's ace of clubs.

South would have no way to get back to his hand often enough to ruff three diamonds in dummy. He would have to rely on making four club tricks as you can see that clubs don't break.

Could South have lost by his line of play? Not as long as trumps break 3-2 and clubs as good as 4-2, and the other suits reasonably—and, of course, as long as a trump wasn't opened.

Dear Elio and Walt: I am going with a very nice fellow who is much more. He's a He is neat and clean and in trouble I'm too small. (I am his appearance, but the zipper small for my age). He says shows on his slacks and this size doesn't matter, but my friends I can't bring myself to speak with a good shape, and is tall to him directly about this, because 'yo' wants to take her because his feelings are a easy out. In her case (the says) ago a bit too sensitive yourself. Ev-... chemistry—yo're pernick out—everyone knows pants have 'zip' etc.

We will give you a hint. You can't make it against a trump opening but you do get a queen of hearts lead.

When George Rowe of New York played it, the queen of hearts was led. George ducked in dummy. West shifted to a trump but the shift came too late to beat the contract.
