Injured Girl Recalls Night Of Horror

By DOROTHY POVEY
Times-News Correspondent
SUN VALLEY—Glenda Coppinger won't be participating in athletics as she had planned when she enters Hillside High School in Boise next month. Nor will she be able to confide her joys and sorrows to her father, Glen Coppinger, as she has been wont to do in the past.

(her seven-year-old brother) went to bed. I was the only one up, and we just had one little fight on.

"The boy from the camp next to ours came over and asked if he could help us do anything, but Daddy told him we were fine.

"When I opened the door and saw a man with a black hood over his head and he pointed a gun at me, I screamed. Daddy jumped up in his shorts and undershirt and hollered 'Get out of here.' and pushed me back of him. He tried to push the man out the door, and the man pulled him out with him.

RESTING IN HOSPITAL BED is 14-year-old Glenda Coppinger after being wounded by a masked gunman who shot her after killing her father, Glen Coppinger, Tuesday evening near Sun Valley. The bullet from the killer's gun splintered the bone in Glenda's left leg. Miss Coppinger was transferred from the Sun Valley Hospital Thursday afternoon to St. Luke's Hospital, Boise.

Three quick shots in the intense darkness of last Tuesday night changed all that. The first shot took her father's life—yet the murderer fired a second one into Coppinger's body just to make sure. The third shot shattered the bones of Glenda's left leg, felling her to the ground. The girl had tried to reach her father when she heard the first two shots, but the assailant shot her down as she stepped from their trailer house. Lying in her hospital bed at Sun Valley Thursday morning, Glenda was calm but there was a sadness in her eyes which should not be seen in a child's face. In telling of the happenings of Tuesday night the tears welled into her eyes. "When Dad got off work Monday night, his boss (Mr. Coppinger worked for the Boise-Cascade Lumber Co., which is erecting a large number of apartment-homes for the Janss Corp. at Sun Valley) told him to get ready and go to Sun Valley and be on the job there the next morning. "It was dark when we drove into the campgrounds. We warmed up a couple of cans of soup and ate that, and then mother and Dad and Norman

Two Presidential Envoys Report Allies Agreed On Need For War Increase

By LEWIS GULICK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Presidential envoys Clark Clifford and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor reported Saturday that the Vietnam allies are agreed on the need for increase pressure against the Reds and now is the time for a maximum effort. Clifford and Taylor, just back from two weeks of talks with the leaders of nations with forces fighting the communists in South Vietnam, spent two hours with President Johnson and then spoke to newsmen at the White House. "In each instance in our talks with each country there was recognition that additional pressure should be exerted," Clifford said. "Everyone feels now is the time for maximum effort," said Taylor, former chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and former ambassador to Saigon. The top-level emissaries reported that the allies unanimously favor keeping up the bombing pressure on North Vietnam to disrupt the flow of supplies being sent to communist forces in the South. As for sending more ground troops to help Saigon, the White House advisers indicated that each of the allies is now considering what further military contingents it might send in view of the approved desirability of stepping up the pressure. However, Clifford and Taylor said they did not directly propose to the allied chiefs that they supply any specific further military contingents at this time. Clifford and Taylor returned to Washington Saturday morning after their fortnight's journey to South Vietnam, Thailand, Australia, New Zealand and South Korea. In dispatching them, Johnson described their mission as one of stock-taking and an exchange of views with allied chiefs who last met in summit conference in Manila in 1966. Soon after their return, the two men joined in a luncheon meeting with the President.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Deputy Secretary of Defense Paul Nitze and presidential adviser Walt W. Rostow. Clifford told newsmen "the consensus of opinion expressed in each instance without any exception, is that the allies are headed on the right track." He said this general agreement spread over the questions of the need to continue bombing North Vietnam, to increasing pressure on the Communist forces in the South, and to the economic and pacification and political efforts in the South. And there is a general feeling that "the maintenance of pressure and increased allied pressure should bring the allies to where we hope to come out," he said. Clifford said also the allies are agreed on this political objective: "To secure for South Vietnam the right of self-determination." That is as far as the allies wish to carry the war, he added.

Suspect Sought In Connection With Killing Near Sun Valley

KETCHUM — A widespread manhunt was being conducted in this area Saturday by Magic Valley law enforcement officers in an effort to locate a man wanted for questioning in connection with the murder of a Boise man here Tuesday. The object of the search is a man who was reportedly driving a 1949-1952 Buick station wagon. The suspect, according to police teletype messages, hocked a .22 caliber pistol at a Gannett store on Friday.

Glen A. Coppinger, 38, Boise, was shot to death at a campsite near Ketchum with a small caliber pistol late Tuesday night. Police said the suspect was last seen in the Hailey-Ketchum area at about 5:30 p.m. Friday. The car he was last seen driving is tan with wood paneling on both sides. On another aspect of the continuing investigation into the killing, an autopsy on the murdered man was conducted Friday, but additional details were unavailable Saturday. Blaine County Coroner Dr. Scott Earle could not be reached for comment.

Saturday afternoon, State officers Larry Ploof, Ronald Groves and Chester Hillman have joined in the investigation, as well as several other state officers from Idaho Falls who have been checking out the area from Mackay to Ketchum. Another development was the information received Saturday from a sheepherder who told officers that he had been frightened from a campground near the area Tuesday night when two young men drove in and began shooting a pistol. Apparently target practicing, the pair shot several bottles, cans and fired into a tree, the man told police. State officers dug several spent bullets from the area for comparison with those taken from the body of Mr. Coppinger.

Eisenhower Hospitalized With Ailment

By JOHN BECKLER
WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, stricken by a stomach ailment Friday night at his Gettysburg home, was flown to Walter Reed General Hospital Saturday for "medical observation." The general, now 76, was reported by hospital officials to be in good condition. They said he had suffered "a minor gastrointestinal upset" and would be given various tests while in the hospital. Eisenhower was hospitalized for eight days last May with gastroenteritis, an inflammation of the lining of the stomach and small intestines, and spent several days in the hospital last month for what was called a routine physical examination and some dental work. Capt. George Foster, the hospital's public information officer, said Eisenhower arrived from Pennsylvania by helicopter at 11:55 a.m. accompanied by his Gettysburg physician, Dr. Harold Johnson. Clad in bathrobe and pajamas, the general stepped from the helicopter and was helped by hospital aides to walk the few steps from the landing pad to the hospital grounds to a waiting car. His wife, Mamie, arrived by car a little more than an hour later.

Blast Brakes Probe Into Lunar Orbit

PASADENA Calif. (AP) — A long blast was fired from a small rocket engine Saturday to drop America's Lunar Orbiter 5 into orbit around the moon, scientists said, adding "everything looks beautiful." "We fired the rocket engine for 3 minutes, 20 seconds," a spokesman at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory said, "slowing it down by 1,438 miles an hour." "We can't confirm that it's really in orbit yet," he said, however, "but after we've had a few hours to track it, we'll know for sure. Everything indicates the mission went as planned." The 850-pound photo-taking spacecraft was believed to be in a near-polar orbit, ranging in altitude above the lunar surface from 3,700 miles to 125 miles. "We'll reduce the orbit a couple of times soon," he said, "eventually taking it down to 60 miles above the surface at the lowest point." It was from that height that scientists planned to have the shiny spacecraft start taking photos of proposed landing sites for American astronauts and of some craters where they suspect there may be some sort of volcanic activity. Lunar Orbiter 5 was launched Tuesday from Cape Kennedy, Fla., and is the last in the series of orbiting photographic laboratories.

SETTING OFF BLAST which officially broke ground for the first phase development of the College of Southern Idaho campus is Eldon Evans, chairman of the board. The groundbreaking ceremonies took place Saturday morning at the site of the campus along Falls Avenue and Washington Street North. Looking on is Robert Blastock Jr., right, former board chairman.

Red Attacks Point To War's Insecurity

SAIGON (AP) — Communist attacks by night on a U.S. Marine guard post, a Navy river boat center and an American infantry base camp pointed up Saturday the difficulty of assuring security any place in Vietnam.

Whirl air operations generally overshadowed the ground war: A strong Communist detachment, striking in darkness with mortars, rockets and small arms, slashed at a U.S. Marine platoon guarding a bridge south of Da Nang. Of perhaps 30 men in the platoon, two were killed and 14 wounded. Enemy losses, if any, were undetermined. "For the second time in 10 days, Viet Cong mortar shells exploded at the base camp of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division's 3rd Brigade at Lai Khe, 30 miles north of Saigon. Flying shell fragments killed one American and wounded eight. Following up a heavier barrage Thursday, the Viet Cong fired eight or nine 75mm recoilless rifle shells at the U.S. Navy base at Nhe Be, on the Long Tao River, eight miles southeast of Saigon. A U.S. spokesman said most landed in the river and damage from two that hit the base was slight. He said there were no casualties. Explosion of tons of munitions from flames in an ammunition dump of the U.S. 3rd Marine Division at Phu Bai, in the Hue sector 400 miles north of Saigon, was another hazard of war. Officers said a grass fire apparently was to blame. The series of explosions lasted three hours. The fire was brought under control an hour later. Security also was a problem, however, for the Communists. A South Vietnamese military spokesman said three infantry sweeps in the Mekong delta, including Operation Coronado II by U.S. and government troops southwest of Saigon, had badly cut up a Viet Cong regiment called Dong-Thap I.

$781,800 In Jewels Taken In Burglary

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP) — "A small turquoise owl—the first gift Sony ever gave me," Mrs. Cornelia Vanderbilt Whitney said—Saturday was part of $781,800 in jewelry taken Wednesday night from the family's Cady Hill estate. The stolen jewels, Mrs. Whitney said, had all been gifts from her husband, nicknamed Sony, an art patron and racing enthusiast. They included the Whitney diamonds, rubies, sapphires and her turquoise set, she added. The Whitneys and a house guest were out for dinner when the theft occurred late Wednesday evening, Mrs. Whitney said. It was learned that the thief or thieves also missed Mrs. Whitney's Empress Pearl, valued at $500,000. Police described the robbery as the largest ever reported in the city.

Explosion of tons of munitions from flames in an ammunition dump of the U.S. 3rd Marine Division at Phu Bai, in the Hue sector 400 miles north of Saigon, was another hazard of war. Officers said a grass fire apparently was to blame. The series of explosions lasted three hours. The fire was brought under control an hour later. ## Take Honeymoon

NEW YORK (AP) — Patrick J. and Luci Nugent slipped off to Nassau, the Bahamas, Saturday for a second honeymoon. Luci, younger daughter of President Johnson, wore dark glasses, and the couple rode in the economy class compartment as they left Kennedy Airport on a "no-publicity" basis. The couple honeymooned in Nassau last year after their August wedding. The Nugents' infant son, Patrick Lyndon, is at the White House in Washington.

Antipoverty Plans Have Lost Support

By The Associated Press
While an uneasy peace prevailed in the nation's racially troubled cities Saturday, a survey in Congress showed a sharp drop in support for President Johnson's antipoverty program. There were outbreaks Friday night and early Saturday in Wichita, Kan., and Elgin, Ill. Curfews were in force in those cities and in Providence, R.I., and Milwaukee, Wis., where rioting, sniping and arson occurred last week. "This country is in trouble," said Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey in a speech at Fort Worth, Tex., Friday night. Security measures were tighter than any in Fort Worth since the 1963 appearance of President John F. Kennedy on the eve of his assassination in nearby Dallas. "The violence we have witnessed, however inexcusable, is only a symptom of a much deeper problem—a problem of poverty and hopelessness," Humphrey said. His sentiments were echoed by the only Negro Cabinet officer, Secretary of Housing Robert C. Weaver, Weaver said in a Washington interview that if the riots continue "our cities definitely are in danger of disintegrating entirely—they just can't stand it." Weaver said the first reaction of both the public and Congress has been negative, but that he believes such feelings will sub-

CSI Officials Set Off Blast--Ground Broken At Campus Site

Doing things the modern way, the speakers' stand, setting off the discharge a short distance away, where construction will begin on the Fine Arts Building of the junior college. The brief ceremony attended by some 200 Magic Valley citizens and city, county and school officials held at 10 a.m. in a hay field at the campus site.

Dr. James Taylor, college president, reviewed the progress on the junior college here since it began to take firm shape in 1964. He noted that in September, 1965, when the first classes opened, the school had an enrollment of 640 students and 32 instructors.

"We had hoped to have at least 50 students that first fall," Dr. Taylor recalled, "and by the second semester we had 715 students using the Twin Falls High School classrooms and vocational building facilities." He noted that in August, 1965, Jerome joined the district and by the opening of the second year of school, last fall, the college had an enrollment of 1,100 students—this number increasing in the second semester to 1,200. "For the coming school year," Dr. Taylor said, "we have budgeted more than $1.25 million for operation of the College of Southern Idaho. We will have more than 50 full time professors. ## 4-H, FFA Awards Highlight Lincoln Fair

SHOSHONE — The spotlight shifted to the youngsters as the Lincoln County 4-H Fair went into its second day here Saturday and hundreds of 4-H and Future Farmers of America members lined up for a try-at the ribbons during a special awards meeting. The awards session was a highlight of Saturday's activities. Other events scheduled for the conclusion of the fair, were a riding club jamboree and a wrap-up dance at the tennis courts adjacent to the fairgrounds.

Featured during the awards meeting was the announcement of winners of the six 4-H Club Congress scholarships, available in six different areas of achievement. Winners include Laurene Tows, home economics achievement, the scholarship donated by Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Grosse; Marilyn Manning, girls achievement, Idaho Grange cooperative, and Barbara Lusk, general achievement, the scholarship from the Wood River Center Grange. Other scholarship winners, and the names of the donors, are Mark Dixon, boys achievement, Southern Idaho Production Credit Association; Mike Nelson, beef achievement, Dietrich-Butte Cattlemen, and Becky Sorenson, dairy achievement, Shoshone Rotary Club. The $10 Barn Award given by the Lincoln County Marketing Association went to the Future Leaders Club, Mrs. Willard Nelson, leader. Trudi Wilcox received a calf that was donated by C. W. and Jay Ward, Nelson Ricks Creamery. Other award winners include

Arnold Ross, who received a wristwatch given by the First Security Foundation for outstanding achievement among boys in 4-H. A $25 bond for the top sheep project was awarded to David Grimes. D. Sid Smith donated the bond. Debbie Knowles was named high point 4-H girl; David Ross, high point 4-H boy, and Kevin Guthrie, high point FFA Boy. Trophies were donated, respectively, by the Manhattan Cafe, Gateway Toggery and Dr. Paul Jacobson. The Community Service Cash

Award from the Lincoln Eltes was won by the West End Club, Glen Ross, leader. David Ross was awarded a camp scholarship as an outstanding 4-H member. The scholarship was donated in memory of J. Howard Manning from the V. C. Ross family. Fitting and showing awards went to Kathleen Riley, 4-H dairy; Diana Nelson, 4-H beef; Bonnie Laughlin, 4-H sheep and Ricky Wilcox, 4-H horse. The winner of the round robin in fitting and showing was Diana Nelson. Bonnie Laughlin received LINCOLN FAIR, P. 2, C. 6

National Copper Strike Blamed For Price Hikes

By PHIL THOMAS
AP Business Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The nationwide copper strike which has cut production by about 90 per cent has been blamed for a price increase by a manufacturer of copper products. "The strike, moving into its fourth week with no progress toward settlement reported, was begun by members of the United Steelworkers of America July 14. It has idled 42,000 workers in 12 states. Phelps Dodge Copper Products Corp. has said it will add a surcharge equal to three cents a pound to the invoice price of most of its fabricated products during September. The subsidiary of the struck Phelps Dodge Corp. said the surcharge, which would not apply to rod, was being made "to partially compensate (the firm) for copper it must purchase at premium prices from other than domestic producer sources." It said its supply of copper had been shut off by a strike at its parent firm's mines and at the El Paso refinery. Industry observers see no early end to the strike, according to American Metal Market, the daily newspaper of the metal-working industry. The government, meanwhile, is reported preparing to ask copper users to reserve a portion of their inventories for defense needs even though officials fear this won't be enough to avert a shortage if the strike lasts much longer.

side in a few months and that Congress will pass Johnson's model cities, rent supplement and antipoverty programs. But Democratic leaders in the House said a poll showed a sharp drop in support for the $2 billion antipoverty program. "A month ago we were in good shape. Now we're in trouble," said a key supporter of the legislation.

He noted that in August, 1965, Jerome joined the district and by the opening of the second year of school, last fall, the college had an enrollment of 1,100 students—this number increasing in the second semester to 1,200. # Broader Housing Legislation Seems Likely

By JOE HALL
WASHINGTON (AP) — The outbreak of slum violence this summer has made it likely the Senate will consider much broader housing legislation than was planned earlier in the session.

The Senate housing subcommittee will begin closed-door work on the legislation Tuesday with good prospects that it will come up with a new program to help slum families buy or rent homes.

One factor indicating such an outcome is the broad support that a freshman Republican senator, Charles H. Percy of Illinois, has generated for his home-ownership bill aimed at poor families.

The subcommittee originally planned to put through a bill containing only relatively minor changes in the housing laws. The Johnson administration was not pushing for any broad, new housing programs.

Instead, Secretary of Housing Robert C. Weaver was concentrating his efforts on getting money for two programs enacted in 1965 and 1966: rent subsidies and model cities.

The major item in the administration's 1967 housing recommendations was a rat-control program which was rejected by the House last month. A coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats voted it down.

But Chairman John Sparkman, D-Ala., of the Senate housing subcommittee said Saturday, and other members agreed, that the housing bill emerging from their panel is sure to include the provision to fight rats.

If this clears the Senate as expected, the House then will have another opportunity to vote on it.

Sparkman confirmed that his subcommittee would take a long, close look at five major proposals before it aimed at improving homes in the slums.

"I'd like to be able to do something in the field of low income housing," he said. "That's where the real need is."

Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., a subcommittee member said, "It seems to me that, as we see one city after another explode in flames, including my own home town of Minneapolis, where I thought it wouldn't happen, that the very least the slum dwellers deserve is that those of us in the Congress recognize the enormous proportions of the issue and not try to buy off with some cheap alternative."

Democrats concede they have been surprised at the steam Percy has been able to put behind his bill. He was allowed three days by the subcommittee to bring in his own witness.

"He has some magic words, home ownership and private enterprise, and he has made good use of them," one Democrat said.

Survivors, in addition to her husband, include a daughter, Mrs. Donald (Lynn) Larson, Bozeman, Mont.; her mother, Mrs. Grace Gregg Powell, Gooding, a brother, Dr. Earl A. Powell, St. Louis, Mo., and two grandchildren. An infant son, Robert, and her father preceded her in death.

Funeral services will be conducted at 1 p.m. Tuesday at the Gooding Methodist Church by Rev. Harold Black, assisted by Rev. Warren McConnell. Friends may call at the Thompson Chapel Monday and until 10 a.m. Tuesday, and at the church from 10 a.m. until time of services. Concluding rites will be held at Sunset Memorial Park, Twin Falls.

Counterfeiter Wins Back Printing Job
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A conscience-stricken counterfeiter burned $70,000 in beautiful bogus money in the incinerator of the swank Mark Hopkins Hotel, but his partner made off with an additional $30,000, U.S. District Court was told Friday.

Counterfeiter Wins Back Printing Job
Secret Service agent Robert Newbrand testified to an unusual sequence of plotting and sleuthing that spanned the nation over a period of nearly two years and still is in progress. One gifted but slippery participant remains at large.

Gonzales, after 18 years with the U.S. Forest Service as a printer, drew on his retirement pay and started a print shop in San Francisco.

Counterfeiter Wins Back Printing Job
Here is the story from then on as reconstructed from testimony by Newbrand, the Secret Service agent.

Counterfeiter Wins Back Printing Job
Business was poor. Gonzales happened to meet Airey in January 1965, while delivering menus to a Tenderloin District cafe.

Counterfeiter Wins Back Printing Job
Airey offered him $12,000 if he would print $100,000 in $10 bills from plates to be supplied by Airey.

Counterfeiter Wins Back Printing Job
After twice refusing, he finally agreed and completed the job the night of Jan. 25, 1966. That same night he repented, destroyed the plates and decided to burn the money.

Counterfeiter Wins Back Printing Job
Airey, calling the next morning to pick it up, argued with Gonzales and rode with him to the Mark Hopkins Hotel atop Nob Hill.

Counterfeiter Wins Back Printing Job
There Gonzales stored the box of bills for two days until a hotel engineer friend was on duty alone. Gonzales and the engineer then burned the bills in the trash burner without counting them.

Counterfeiter Wins Back Printing Job
They did not realize that Airey had slipped $30,000 out of the box while riding to the hotel.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A conscience-stricken counterfeiter burned $70,000 in beautiful bogus money in the incinerator of the swank Mark Hopkins Hotel, but his partner made off with an additional $30,000, U.S. District Court was told Friday.

Counterfeiter Wins Back Printing Job
Business was poor. Gonzales happened to meet Airey in January 1965, while delivering menus to a Tenderloin District cafe.

Counterfeiter Wins Back Printing Job
Airey offered him $12,000 if he would print $100,000 in $10 bills from plates to be supplied by Airey.

Counterfeiter Wins Back Printing Job

Counterfeiter Wins Back Printing Job
Airey, calling the next morning to pick it up, argued with Gonzales and rode with him to the Mark Hopkins Hotel atop Nob Hill.

Counterfeiter Wins Back Printing Job

Mrs. Wood, 54, Dies Of Brief Illness

GOODING — Mrs. Carrie Lane Powell Wood, 54, died early Saturday morning at Gooding Memorial Hospital of a brief illness.

She was born March 24, 1913, in Stotesbury, Mo. She was graduated from Kimberly High School. She was married to Harvey Wood Aug. 12, 1930, in Twin Falls. The couple moved to a farm near Gooding in March 1943.

She had been a member of the Gooding Grange and was a member of the Gooding Methodist Church. She sang for many years in the church choir and also in the Wood and Gee Quartet.

Survivors, in addition to her husband, include a daughter, Mrs. Donald (Lynn) Larson, Bozeman, Mont.; her mother, Mrs. Grace Gregg Powell, Gooding, a brother, Dr. Earl A. Powell, St. Louis, Mo., and two grandchildren. An infant son, Robert, and her father preceded her in death.

Funeral services will be conducted at 1 p.m. Tuesday at the Gooding Methodist Church by Rev. Harold Black, assisted by Rev. Warren McConnell. Friends may call at the Thompson Chapel Monday and until 10 a.m. Tuesday, and at the church from 10 a.m. until time of services. Concluding rites will be held at Sunset Memorial Park, Twin Falls.

PAUL — Earl H. Haynes, 73, longtime Paul area resident, died Saturday at Cassia Memorial Hospital, Burley, of a short illness.

Death Takes E. H. Haynes At Age Of 73
He was born Jan. 24, 1894, at Hooper, Utah. He attended schools at Hooper and then worked on the Shoe Sole Ranch at Rock Creek and the Wincup Ranch, Nevada, and at other Miller and Lux owned ranches. In November of 1950 he married Iola Munsee at Ogden, Utah. Their marriage was later solemnized in the Logan LDS Temple. She died November 15, 1950. They settled at Hooper where he farmed. They moved to Paul in March of 1923 and settled north of Paul on a farm which he purchased, previously owned by his late brother, George. His wife died Nov. 15, 1950. On Sept. 23, 1952, he married Margaret M. Nielsen, a widow, at Logan LDS Temple. He retired from farming in 1962 and they purchased a home in Paul in 1965 where they have since resided.

Death Takes E. H. Haynes At Age Of 73
He was active in the LDS Church and worked as a home missionary and served as superintendent of Sunday School for about three years. He was preceded in death by his first wife and two sons, Wilford George Haynes and Eldon Dale Haynes.

Death Takes E. H. Haynes At Age Of 73
He is survived by his widow and six sons, Verral Earl Haynes, Salt Lake City; Floyd Haynes, Hazelton; Eugene M. Haynes and Lynn Haynes, both Paul; Wayne Haynes, Rupert, and Richard D. Haynes, Idaho City; three daughters, Mrs. Peter W. Somervold, Idaho City; Mrs. Thomas (Letha) Jones, Tacoma, Wash.; and Mrs. Bud (Ardell) Clark, Eagle; 28 grandchildren, and 2 great-grandchildren.

Magic Valley Forecast

Mostly fair through Monday, and 20 per cent Sunday night. High temperatures Sunday 84 to 88 and lows Sunday night 52 to 62, except Camas Prairie with day and Monday. A little lower 20 to 25 miles per hour and locally gusty. Probability of showers is less than 10 per cent on Sunday.

Synopsis, Farm Summary

A weak low pressure trough moving across the north west to the Intermountain Area. The movement of this system into the western plateau will bring some cooling of afternoon temperatures Sunday and Monday along with an increase of cloudiness and widely scattered thundershowers mainly over the northern mountain sections. Valley precipitation at it appears at this time will be light and spotty and of little significance except for some brief delays in the harvest of grain and hay in the upper Snake River Valley. Winds will be mostly 10 to 20 miles per hour and locally gusty at times with the passage of this upper air disturbance.

RICHFIELD — Regular use of the Richfield airport has been speeded up considerably by the twice a day landing of a Boise aviation company plane to pick up and return Bank of Idaho daily bookkeeping accounts. The daily work is flown to Boise to be computer processed and returned. All deposits and checks are posted there to customer accounts. This practically eliminates the Richfield bank's bookkeeping department, but the number of bank employees remain the same. Jerry McGrath, bank manager, meets the plane.

After 20 Years, Times-News Markup Expert Leaves Post For Retirement

BY JAN A. SAINSBURY
Times-News Feature Editor

Wesley E. Ulrich has done almost everything in his life earlier than most people do the same thing. . . including retire. After working at the Times-News as a printer and markup man for over 20 years Wes Ulrich has retired at the age of 62. According to Wes, "When you retire at 62 you don't have one foot in the grave. . . you're still active, you're still alive." And Wes is very much alive.

Wes Ulrich started his long career in the printing industry back in 1914. He was nine years old then. He started in a Missouri newspaper mailing out papers. He finally graduated to being in charge of the paper boys, and then became a printer's devil at the age of fourteen in a plant at Cape Girardeau, Missouri.

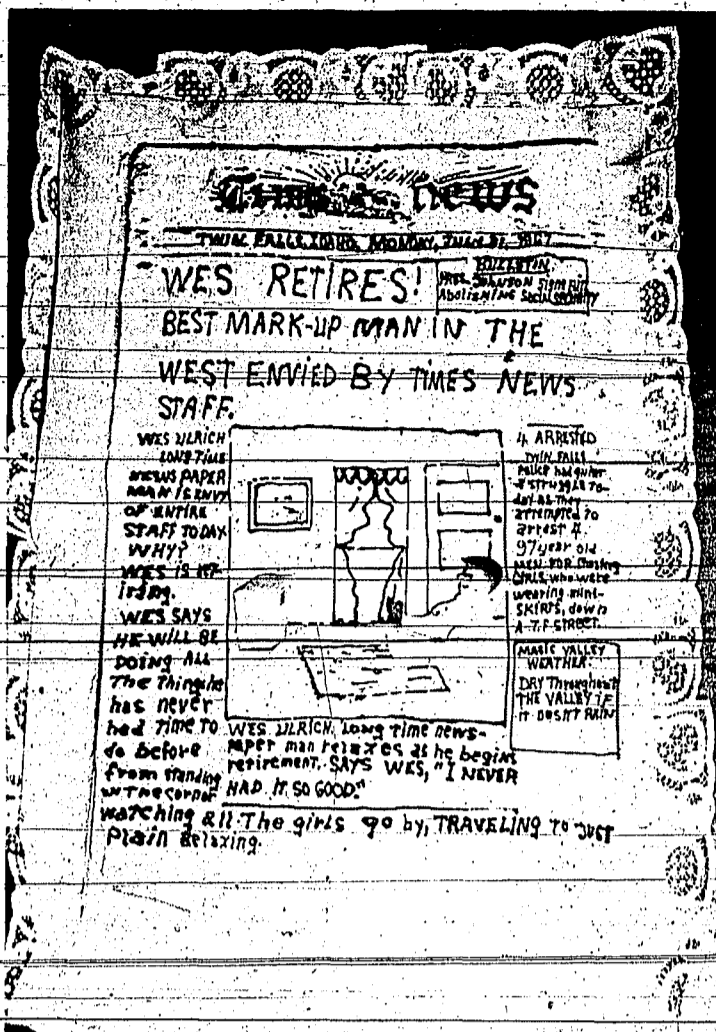

Wes worked there for 19 years, and according to him, "I did a little bit of everything, but mostly markup and ad composition. In fact that's what I've done most of my life." Since that first 19 year stint at Cape Girardeau, Wes has worked at printing plants and newspapers in Illinois, Michigan, Ohio, West Virginia, Georgia, California, Washington, and Idaho.

He is somewhat proud of the family tradition he has fostered in the printing industry. All but one of his sons, and he has seven, are working in printing or photo engraving plants, or at a newspaper. Wes, who was 19 years old when he married, and his wife May L. Swaim Ulrich, who was 61 years old August 31, have eight children in all. The oldest is now forty-two, and the youngest is 18.

Three of them now live in Twin Falls. . . John Ulrich is a photo engraver at the Times-News. Jerry works at a printing plant and Jay will be a senior at Twin Falls High School this year.

Wesley Jr. is presently in charge of the engraving room at a Bellingham, Washington, newspaper. Jean is a photo engraver in that same town. Joe is an employee of the Ford Mo-ellow workers showed their appreciation for his long, loyal service and friendship by presenting him with several gifts and a large cake, which pleased Wes very much. The cake was decorated by Joy M. Rinehart of Lynwood Safeway bakery and represented a Times-News front page, complete with masthead, column rules, and an occasional typographical error.

The tributes given to Wesley E. Ulrich are well deserved. His children have traveled to Twin Falls to be with him. He and his wife plan many trips in the near future.

As Wes puts it, "I've a forty acre farm, but I don't intend to farm it. I've got it rented out. We plan to take trips to Washington, California, and even back to Missouri. We plan to enjoy life a little bit."

Wes intends to work a few days a month to keep his experienced hand in at the many skills developed over a 53 year printing career. He has a pension from the International Typographical Union, social security, and a small income from his farm.

Wes put it, "We plan to enjoy life a little bit." His friends and co-workers put it a bit differently. "We hope he enjoys it a great deal . . . and for a long, long time."

WASHINGTON — Racial riots in American cities so far this year will top upwards to $3 billion off the 1967 Gross National Product — the total of goods and services produced — and thus will raise still another obstacle to President Johnson's campaign for an income tax boost.

The Administration's argument for a tax increase is based on predictions that the GNP will show a substantial gain this year and thus set inflationary pressures in motion. But with all this wealth destroyed property damage, profits and wages—that argument is all but nullified. Indeed, the GNP in the second quarter rose by only $9 billion, $1 billion less than government estimates.

Thus, even before the economy suffered a loss of more than $1 billion during the Detroit riots, Administration experts had been admitting that the economy's recovery would fall considerably short of projections.

At this writing, there have been serious racial riots in 25 American cities. Quite aside from the property damage, suffered, it will be many weeks before business and industry in those cities will resume producing wealth at the rate of last spring. In Detroit, for example, both General Motors and Chrysler Corp. were forced to shut down, and hundreds of other smaller industries and businesses lost parts of their shirts.

Of more critical significance, from the point of view of the Negro's share of the economy, most of the businesses hit by the riots were owned or operated by Negroes. Thus, the Negro entrepreneur, so vital to the general uplift of the black community, is much poorer than he was last Jan. 1.

It is still too early to pin a definite figure on this loss, but various government officials have made expert guesses which place it at close to $200 million. That is a big, almost fatal, chunk out of the Negro economy at this critical stage.

Or, as one government official put it, "The loss of even one Negro cigar store by rioting diminishes the hopes of the black community everywhere."

Meanwhile, the economy is threatened on another front. Although no one will say so out loud, it is no secret that the administration fears a strike in the automobile industry will result from the demands of Walter Reuther's United Automobile Workers of the Big Three car manufacturers. Such a strike, of course, would further disrupt the expected economic recovery during the fall and winter.

The entire country would be hit by the strike. General Motors, for instance, produces more than one-half of the nation's cars and trucks, and Ford one-fourth. A strike would slow steel production and strike at other suppliers and sub-contractors for the auto industry. If the strike is called against General Motors, Ford and Chrysler, the cost in wages would be more than $150 million a week just for Big Three workers.

On the one hand, the Administration can claim that a tax increase is all the more necessary to help pay for the Federal government's contribution toward the bill for the riots. But if the loss of wealth due to the riots is coupled with new losses caused by an automobile strike, opponents of a tax boost can argue that the GNP isn't healthy enough to support the increase.

Billboard War

Sen. John J. Williams of Delaware, one of the most respected members of the Senate, has taken the Johnson administration to task for spending millions of the taxpayers' money to erect—of all things—billboards.

That's right—those same billboards which administration spokesmen damned so heartily when they appeared before Congress two years ago to seek, and receive, a ban on billboards along interstate highways.

During the last five years, according to the senator, the administration has erected 70,000 billboards along the interstate system, and is holding thousands more. In fact, the administration recently asked Congress for $2 million for more billboards, to supplement the $4.5 million already spent.

These billboards do not contain commercial advertising. Nothing as crass as that. What they do proclaim is that the highways along which the billboards block the view were constructed under the auspices of the Johnson administration. The taxpayers who put up the money and the Congress which appropriated it are left off the credit lines.

It is possible, of course, although to be doubted—that the person in the administration who is most closely identified with the highway "beautification" program, has not seen the 70,000 billboards complimenting the Great Society for its largesse. Mrs. Johnson, after all, is busy with other things.

Or is it possible that all concerned are aware of the billboards but have fallen victim to the adman's belief that any form of advertising pays. In any event, it does seem that the battle of billboard hypocrisy is one issue the Republicans could agree on for 1968.

Tennessee Valley

One of the battle cries of the Tennessee Valley Authority, in support of its privileged position in the electric power industry, has always been that it is able to offer industry lower power rates and thus help to attract new firms to the vast region it serves, which also happens to be one of the poorer sections of the nation.

It is true that relative electric costs are high among the factors weighed by enterprises considering moving or expanding into new areas. But the TVA argument is only valid as long as it does charge industrial users less than they would pay elsewhere.

Unfortunately, that is not always the case. Recent studies have uncovered several instances in TVA's backyard of private, tax-paying power companies which charge industrial customers a lower rate than the tax-free behemoth does. In Kentucky, a cooperative is able to supply an aluminum plant at a cost of 3.56 mills per kwh; a Texas power company is offering its output at 3.88 mills per kilowatt hour. The TVA rate is 4.119 per kwh.

What TVA has been doing over the years has been raising rates to industry while maintaining a low rate of 3.24 mills to cooperatives and municipalities. Even now, the TVA has announced further industrial rate increases to bring in an additional $27 million a year.

With a record like this, TVA before long will have forfeited any advantage it once enjoyed over taxpaying utilities because of its tax-free status. When that time comes, supporters of TVA will wonder what became of their dream of regional economic development through cheap power.

MR. SPECTATOR

About That Word "Only"

Mr. Spectator doesn't remember the exact number but the other morning over the car radio we actually heard what some people around the country complain about now and then.

The announcer said that the Americans killed in Vietnam on that particular report period were less than any total for the past several weeks.

But the way he said it. "There were," he said, "ONLY . . ."

He finished his sentence with the number killed. But that one word—only!

Actually it was just a little sickening. If one American boy was killed in Vietnam that is one too many. That's just the way most people feel about it.

This Vietnam war has gone on for so long — and at such a great distance from us — it sometimes falls into the category of just another story you read in the paper.

But there are a lot of people who are really in it and who know it is more than just a story. Many of these boys and men are from Magic Valley. So when you think of them don't put them in the "only" group.

AIR MARKING

Dear Mr. Spectator: When flying over Twin Falls the other day I noticed the town's name on a building. Of course I knew where I was but it was good to see the name anyway.

What should be done is getting a lot of the small towns marked so going through pilots could tell at a glance just what the town was. From the air, you know, a lot of little hamlets all look the same.

Wonder what can be done about this? . . . D. B. of Meridian

(Spectator's note: The State Department of Aeronautics has a fine town marking program under way. In fact it has been going on for 7 years or so now. More towns in Idaho are marked than probably any other state in the nation. The program costs a community very little so if you find a town that is not properly marked, then jump on the village officials.)

GIVEAWAY DEPT.

We have three black half-Siamese kittens to give away. They are weaned and housebroken. They live at 1347 Fremont Drive, Telephone 733-3011 and ask for L.J.

AMEN!

Dear Spectator: We have come to the conclusion that a lot of these people who sit on TV and "review" the various shows just don't know what they are talking about.

The other day the gal doing the talking tore three programs and one movie all apart.

Now it so happens that I like all three of the programs she said were no good and I also saw the movie in question and thought it was tops.

The question is — am I nuts? Sick at Heart

PEN PAL DEPT.

Dear Sir: I like to ask your favor and would appreciate it very much if you can give some help. What I want is to have a few American pen friends but did not know how to get them.

The other day I was fortunately told by Youth Council For International Contact that the best way to find one is to ask some American newspapers for the help. So here I am.

I would appreciate it very much if you can let me know a few boys or girls or if you can give a little note in your paper so I may get some answers.

I want to introduce myself. Name: Kimlo Yanaka Address: 3-1480 Kawagilma Simodate City Ibalaki, Japan P.S.: I am 14 year old and a girl.

ATOMS AND BLAME

When sun spots climb to a certain height, then scientists say men like to fight. The hate campaigns get under way.

The war clouds gather day by day. Some folks are ANTI and some are PRO. And these keep the fire of hate aglow. Joy and Gentile, black and white.

It's not always a question of who is right.

Personalities and nasty tempers. Are often excused without a whimper. Break all the laws — let crime grow fat — it's merely some atoms gone to bat!

When the sun sends forth its molten flame, We'll just let the atoms take the blame!

Study Of Riots Shows Trends

WASHINGTON (AP) — H. Rap Brown, Negro leader charged with inciting a riot in Maryland, was in a fashionable restaurant over last weekend having lunch with his lawyer, a newspaperman, and others.

This time he was all dressed up, quite a difference from his usual attire of tight pants and blue denim jacket in which he harangues Negro groups about violence.

His picture, showing him shouting and performing, had been in the newspapers for days. Only two days before this luncheon he had urged a Negro audience to shoot and loot. But in the restaurant he practiced some self-restraint.

Brown is chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee. When he started out of the restaurant, said the Washington Star reporter who was with him, well-dressed Negro men and women "stopped him repeatedly and shook his hand and said, 'We're with you, Rap' or, 'Keep it up, Rap.'"

If this seems surprising to those who may have thought the rioting was supported only by impoverished Negroes in the ghetto, it nevertheless bore out the findings of some sociologists from the University of California who made a long study of the 1965 riot in the Watts section of Los Angeles.

They said: "We suspect that many white persons have viewed the middle-class Negro group as a moderating influence in the racial struggle. The 'better element,' it is often argued, will be responsible and orderly and understand the necessity for a gradualist solution of the Negro problem."

"We find little room for such optimistic appraisal. If our analysis is correct, the problems of urban life for the Negro, even in the palm-lined spaciousness of Los Angeles, have grown acute and a significant number of Negroes, successful or unsuccessful, are emotionally prepared for violence as a strategy or solution to end the problems of segregation, exploitation, and subordination."

The sociologists' report on Watts will probably have a sharp pertinence to the investigations made into the Detroit riots by congressional committees, the President's special commission, or any other group.

Last Sunday night Michigan's Gov. George Romney talked to the people of his state about the riot but didn't provide any new insights although he warned that unless solutions are found the rioting will get worse and spread.

"More and more Negroes are listening to and supporting Negro leaders who advocate a separate black society in America," Romney said.

"These militant revolutionists are preaching hate, violence and rebellion."

And Detroit's mayor, Jerome P. Cavanagh, on the NBC television program, "Meet the Press," blamed the "indifference in Congress" as one of the prime causes for the "maldy of riots in the streets."

But neither Romney nor Cavanagh went into an explanation of how a riot actually starts and, for that matter, the sociologists apparently didn't either.

For instance, in the sociologists' study prepared for the government's Office of Economic Opportunity there was nothing to show what triggered the riot in Watts, how much of a role was played by criminals who saw a grand chance to get loose in a mob, or whether outside instigators were involved.

But the sociologists found the No. 1 gripe of the Watts Negroes was about the poor neighborhood they live in, meaning things like dirty streets and dilapidated housing.

Next in order of discontent were:

Mistreatment by whites—discrimination and rough police tactics.

Economic conditions—low pay, high prices, high rent, lack of jobs.

Lack of public facilities—transportation, schools, shopping facilities, parks.

Employed persons felt more discriminated against than the unemployed. And those with only a grade school education were less favorable to the riot than those on any other educational level.

A majority of the Negroes questioned said they opposed the riot but 35 per cent were sympathetic to it.

Still No Remedy

WASHINGTON — Against the jurid backdrop of Detroit, the political figures struggling to end the Negro uprising across the nation have a dwarfed and shrunken look. The search for blame seems irrelevant, since no one has come forward with a remedy for the greatest mass violence in more than a century.

What happened in Michigan may be another and more serious blow to Gov. George Romney's presidential candidacy. He had no knowledge that anything as catastrophic as the Detroit explosion was imminent. His home in Bloomfield Hills, where he was taking a brief rest after a marathon struggle with the Legislature, is as far from the slum center of Detroit as the earth is from the moon in terms of separation of the two nations, black and white.

Discussing the Negro violence in the cities—Newark had just slacked off—Romney made no secret of his belief that the Johnson administration made two big mistakes. One was to overpromise, leading to the illusion that there could be a quick solution to a situation that grew through years of neglect. The governor noted that revolutions have historically begun when rising expectations are frustrated.

The second error was in assuming that the job could be done through programs imposed by the federal government. This is a favorite Romney theme—that Washington has the answers and can do the job with federal bureaucracy. He talks about the state's endeavors, the human resources council and other means for breaking down barriers to jobs and housing, as alternatives to the massive federal approach. In the light of what has happened, this was obviously far too little as well as disastrously late.

In all the casting about for causes of the uprising, almost no one has pointed to a root reason generally ignored. For two decades or more the deep South has been exporting to the cities of the North poor, uneducated, semilliterate Negroes. They had become "surplus" as cotton and other crops were mechanized.

Hoping to better their lot—anything was better than the squalor of near-starvation on the slim handouts of relief—they quickly found themselves trapped in the slums of the North. Under the most favorable circumstances, they were ill-equipped for city life. Now, their children have grown up in rat-infested tenements, a prey to every kind of corruption.

Here is the fuel for the fires burning in Northern cities. These dispossessed, displaced, unwanted people are among the looters and arsonists, seizing pieces of the affluence they see all around them.

Neither the Kennedy nor the Johnson administrations took any serious cognizance of the exodus and its consequences in the North.

Families that had worked on the same plantation three and four generations were turned out of tenant shacks. While taking quick tax write-offs for their cotton pickers and other costly machinery, the planters were also getting checks from the department of agriculture under the cotton support program. This is a built-in part of Southern agriculture, as it is a built-in part of the relationship between the Democratic administration in Washington and the Southern Senators presiding over their respective fields.

Figures from the Bureau of the census show how large the movement was.

Between 1940 and 1950 the south lost 1,597,000 Negroes. Of this total, 632,000 went to the North Central states, mostly to Chicago and the surrounding industrial area; 489,000 to the Northeast, mostly in the New York area; the balance to the West and elsewhere.

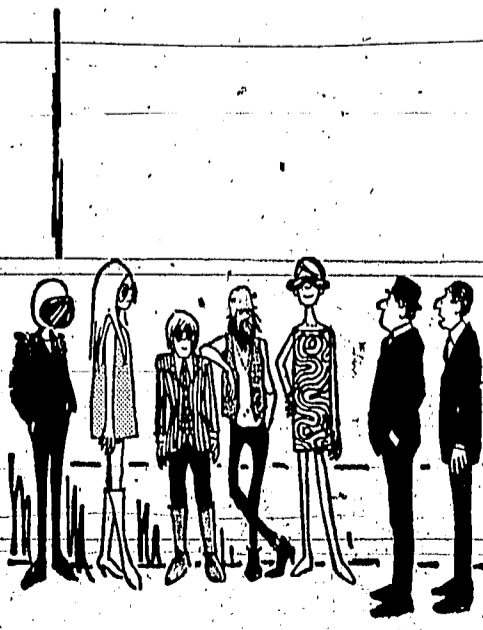

Between 1950 and 1960, 1,457,000 Negroes went from the South to the North, 541,000 to the Northeast, 558,000 to the North Central states.

The figures for the cities are even more startling for the decade between 1950 and 1960. Newark got 54,000 Negroes from the south, Detroit 85,000, Philadelphia 69,000, Buffalo 23,000, New York City 222,000, Los Angeles 215,000, Washington 59,000, Chicago 176,000, San Francisco 64,000.

While no recent figures are available, the migration is believed continuing at about the same rate as in the 1950-60 period. In Los Angeles, Mayor Sam Yorty told this reporter that a thousand southern Negroes a week were coming into the city. The estimate was based on checks at bus and railway stations.

Here is a point of great political vulnerability for the Johnson administration. Whether the Republicans with their "southern strategy" will take advantage of it is questionable. War, Cleamenceau once said, is too important to leave to the generals. The current civil war across the racial divide is far too important to leave to disputatious politicians.

Pre-School Visual Clinic Set For Tuesday

Every first grader should start his educational career with all possible advantages, say Magic Valley optometrists. To do their share in assuring these advantages, optometrists offer free clinical examinations to all pre-school children one day each year.

The annual project this year is scheduled for Tuesday, Aug. 8, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Parents are urged to contact the optometrist in their community or to drop by one of the optometrist offices of those who are participating in the program. No appointment is necessary, says Dr. John McNeese, Twin Falls, chairman of the 1967 program. Those participating in the free vision clinic for pre-school children in Magic Valley include Dr. Howard A. Donaldson and Dr. Orr Keen, Burley; Dr. Robert Phillips, and Dr. Art Bonde and Dr. John Head, Rupert; Dr. Charles Parker and Dr. Wes Rose, Jerome; Dr. E. G. Ryan, Godding; Dr. T. J. Tappen, Buhl, and Dr. Robert Shaw, Dr. McNeese and Dr. Gaylen Erickson, all Twin Falls. Any youngster in the area may obtain the free examination, Dr. McNeese explained. Sponsored by the optometrists organization on a state-wide basis, the clinics are also held in such other cities as Pocatello, Boise and Idaho Falls. If a youngster from some other part of the state wishes to participate in the Magic Valley area program he is welcome, Dr. McNeese explained. "These examinations do not mean a substitution for the regular examination by the child's own eye specialist. They do, however, assure that he or she has no major defect in vision," he explained.

Many youngsters who will be given the free vision screening by the volunteer optometrists would not otherwise have any vision examination before starting school. If a child has some serious defect the screening will point it out and he will be advised of the situation, and may visit any eye specialist of his choice.

Of those tested about 10 per cent will show some defect and another 10 per cent will show signs of needing help within the next one to two years. Some sight defects in small children, Dr. McNeese said, do not show up until the child's study habits are formed and his school work pattern is established.

Three reports are prepared after such screening or examination. One will go to the child's parents, another to the school he will attend and the third into a statistical file of the pre-school vision screening program.

Agenda Listed For City Meet

Contracts with Reeder Flying Service, Inc., and the U.S. Forest Service for use of facilities at the Twin Falls municipal airport in connection with aerial dusting and fire fighting operations will be discussed and voted on Monday night by Twin Falls city commissioners.

Meeting at 7:30 p.m. in the city hall, the city officials will also review bids received July 28 for a new city street sweeping machine and will discuss a plan for prohibiting parking on the south side of Filer Avenue East from Blue Lakes Boulevard North to Locust Street North. The plan also calls for re-striping the street to permit four lanes of traffic.

Several bids for equipment and material including tires, petroleum, coal and antifreeze will also be authorized.

BANS LIFTED

TORONTO (AP) — The Canadian Broadcasting Corp. has lifted its ban on commercials for deodorants, girdles, brassieres, hair removers and bathroom tissues. A spokesman said subjects "not considered polite in mixed companies a number of years ago now are considered acceptable." Pantie commercials are still banned.

Richfield Man Dies At Age 65

RICHFIELD—Romen Arrate, 65, Richfield, died Friday, in the Sun Valley Hospital after a short illness.

Mr. Arrate was born in Spain, Aug. 17, 1901.

He is survived by two brothers, Julian Arrate, Winnemucca, Nev., and Steve Arrate, of Bridgeport, Wash.

Funeral arrangements are under the direction of Eddy and Son Funeral Home, Winnemucca.

PRE-SCHOOL CHILDREN will have their day with the optometrist on Tuesday in the annual vision clinic offered by eye specialists of Magic Valley. Dr. Arthur Bonde, Rupert, left, and Dr. John McNeese, Twin Falls, give little Nancy McNeese a preview of what to expect in Tuesday's clinical sessions. Examinations are free at the office of any area optometrist cooperating in the program. Dr. McNeese, chairman of this year's program, said the clinic is designed to detect any major sight problem that might hamper the child's first year in school.

More Than Money Needed To Improve Schools' Quality

By EARLE L. JESTER, Associated Press Writer

BOISE (AP)—A study of Idaho's public school system indicates that more than money is needed to improve the quality of education.

Also vital are imaginative direction by educational administrators and public support.

The points are made in the report prepared by Dr. William P. McLure, director of the Bureau of Educational Research at the University of Illinois. The study was asked by the Idaho Education Association as an aid in deciding whether to ask for sanctions.

Sanctions would advise teachers not to sign contracts in Idaho schools. The report itself makes no mention of sanctions.

But it says of the teaching profession in Idaho:

"The image of the profession in the minds of the citizens-at-large is fundamentally one of respect and admiration. There are some mixed attitudes toward the profession that may need reshaping before adequate improvements can be expected."

"There are some attitudes of a critical nature. The chief one of these is that teachers are a self-centered pressure group seeking primarily the enhancement of their own status rather than concentrating on the accomplishment of the best possible educational results."

"The writer has found that persons who offer such criticism are almost invariably out of touch with the schools and they are poorly informed about the problem of education."

Dr. McLure made a similar study of Idaho late in 1964 and the information he provided then was used in the 1965 Legislature, which enacted a 3 per cent sales tax.

Revenue from that tax has produced "some noticeable educational improvements," Dr.

McLure said. But he added that the bulk of them came in the first school year following enactment of the tax and improvement has not continued at the same scale.

"One of the most vivid impressions," Dr. McLure said, "is the absence of a general design for program development on a broad scale, both on a statewide basis and among local school districts."

"At the state level there is not an organized and continuous projection of the total picture of education that can be held up before the citizens from which plans can be drawn for gradual improvement."

"In other words, the legislature is never confronted with a comprehensive educational portfolio that might be projected for ten or 15 years ahead so that stepwise plans might be undertaken."

Dr. McLure said although there is planning ahead by local school districts, in many instances it has "not resulted in a descriptive picture that will show an image of the structure of education and the various needs of its many parts."

Dr. McLure said one of the problems is the lack of a broad-based citizens organization. The Unified Education Council, he noted, is made up of representatives of the Idaho Education Association, the Idaho Parent Teachers Association and the State School Trustees Association.

"This council," he said, "does not reach out to include representatives from all areas of society for a continuous study, evaluation and dissemination of information about the public schools of this state.

Financially, Dr. McLure recommended a program which would provide each year a 12 per cent increase in total public school expenditures over the preceding year. Only by such a planned program, he said, can Idaho expenditures for the schools be brought up to the national level.

Fund Drive Past Half Way Mark

The 1967 Junior Achievement campaign for operating funds has reached $2,800 of its $5,000 goal after just one week of campaigning, organization spokesmen announced during a noon luncheon at the Rogerson Colonial Room.

The meeting was held Friday, Bob Alexander, president, and Loren Wheeler, treasurer of the Junior Achievement board, expressed optimism that the campaign goal will be reached within the near future.

Among other items discussed during the meeting was an audio-visual program to be conducted by Russ Anderson and Mike Gray as part of the campaign. Mr. Anderson explained that the program is designed to inform the business community of the Junior Achievement program and the opportunity for business to participate in a specific and direct way.

The film will be presented to the Twin Falls Exchange Club Tuesday.

"Dry" State Is Lifted In Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — The city's nighttime quarantine on travel and drink was restored early today after a Friday night test of the mood of the city's predominantly Negro near North Side.

Mayor Henry Maier, having expressed satisfaction over one of his first major meetings with North Side Negroes since riots shook the 5-square-mile Inner Core Sunday, suspended his nightly curfew until midnight Friday, and allowed taverns to resume business.

Four persons were killed in the rioting.

Police reported seizing a Negro youth carrying a firebomb and were busy shortly after midnight checking out sniper reports, which had become common during the week.

Twin Falls Times-News 5 Sunday, Aug. 6, 1967

Patrolmen said the Inner Core was normal for a Friday night for the most part. Small bands of policemen, with 2,800 National Guardsmen still on standby duty, kept watch on busy taverns.

Maier met privately Friday with about 60 small-business operators from Negro neighborhoods. His office said the group voted 44-3 in favor of formation of an inter-racial committee, which has been proposed by an association of clergymen to study slum problems.

LONG HAIR BANNED ASUNCION (AP) — Paraguay's government has banned Beatle-type haircuts for boys "in defense of the masculine virtues of the Paraguayan man." A spokesman said several long-haired youths arrested at long haircuts in the capital will be released after a police barber cuts their hair.

Floats Planned At Glens Ferry

GLENS FERRY — Mrs. James Robertson was named chairman of a committee to design and construct the Glens Ferry Chamber of Commerce float for the Fair parade Aug. 12. Glenn Hall, president of the Chamber, made the announcement this week.

Mrs. Robertson is accepting donations of work from local citizens.

The Mountain Home Chamber of Commerce is readying a float for the parade, also, Hall noted.

Army Band, Soldiers' Chorus Concert Set

The United States Army Field Band and the Soldiers' Chorus, two internationally famous touring groups, will present a concert at 8 p.m. Aug. 19 at the City Park Bandshell. The performance is sponsored by the Citizen Club, according to Robert C. Adamson, lieutenant governor in charge of their appearance.

Appearing with the band is Capt. Samuel J. Fricano, present assistant-conductor of the band. He graduated from Eastman School of Music, Rochester, N.Y., in 1955, with a bachelor of music degree and a performer's certificate in trumpet.

In January, 1961, he was selected to attend the Bandmasters' Course at the U.S. Naval School of Music, Washington, D.C., from where he graduated, first in his class. He was appointed a warrant officer bandmaster, and was assigned to Ft. Campbell, Ky., as commanding officer and conductor of the 101st Airborne Division Band. He also attended Airborne School and became a qualified parachutist.

In March, 1963, Capt. Fricano was assigned as bandmaster of the First Cavalry Band in Korea.

In February, 1964, he received a direct commission to first lieutenant as a band officer. Following his commissioning, he was reassigned to the U.S. Army Field Band.

In addition to his duties as assistant conductor and executive officer of the band, he is the director of the "Kings of the Road," the U.S. Army Field Band's Stage Band.

The public is invited to attend the concert, which is free of charge. In case of bad weather, the performance will be held in the O'Leary Jr. High School auditorium.

Possibility Of Medical Unit Studied

BOISE (AP) — An eight-member commission began Saturday a study intended to show whether Idaho needs — and can afford — a state medical school.

But a member of the group emphasized that the commission's responsibility is not to answer the question but to simply provide the information needed for the legislature and the governor to make a decision.

"Our responsibility," said Eldon W. Smith of Rexburg, "is to produce the facts needed on which the decision can be based, and there should be no effort on our part to withhold any of the facts."

CAPT. SAMUEL FRICANO

State Sen. Fred Bagley, Boise, who was elected chairman of the commission, said that when the legislature had the medical school proposal under consideration last winter, lawmakers received a barrage of statements pro and con.

"It is our job," he said, "to find out whether those statements were true or false."

Bagley, a Boise real estate developer, and Rep. Terry Crapo, Idaho Falls, a lawyer, were named by the legislature as its representatives on the commission, created by the 1967 session.

The State Board of Education named Smith and Eldon W. Hampton of Genesee as its representatives.

Other members, appointed by Gov. Don W. Samuelson, are Ray Robbins, Idaho Falls businessman, who was elected vice chairman; A. H. Schade, Nampa businessman; Dr. Birdsall N. Carle, Twin Falls pathologist, and Dr. E. V. Simison, Pocatello physician.

The commission must submit its report to the state board of education by Nov. 1, 1968. The board will then add its recommendation and pass the report on to the 1969 legislature.

Bagley appointed Gilbert J. Carbone, director of higher education for the State Board of Education, as the secretary-treasurer of the study commission. The agency is financed by a $50,000 legislative appropriation.

"Hot Shot" Crew Are Off Montana Fire

Magic Valley's "Hot Shot" firefighting crew has been called off the Flathead National Forest fire in Western Montana after passing a five-day test of its right to the nickname.

Montana fire bosses issued two "good" and one "very good" report on the team's firefighting ability after the boys were called off the now-controlled blaze Friday evening.

The 27-man crew, composed mostly of college students, is based at Fairfield and was sent to the fire early Monday as part of a fire control program calling for use of several such teams in the Western states. The crews, formally termed initial attack teams, are stationed at strategic fire areas and can be sent to any fire west of the Mississippi River.

The Fairfield team, one of two in the Sawtooth district, was called off the Montana fire at about 6 p.m. Friday because of the critical conditions in the Payette and Boise National Forests. They are now on two-hour call, and must be ready to leave for another fire within two hours—should the need arise.

"Think Tank" To Establish Death Needed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — When is the patient dead?

An Episcopal priest proposed Friday that U.S. churches establish a "think tank," an ecumenical research center, to seek answers to that and other problems facing modern man.

The Rev. Charles Carroll, chaplain at the University of California Medical Center in San Francisco, made his proposal in a panel discussion closing the annual meeting of the Association for the Advancement of Medical Instrumentation.

The center would provide a meeting place of thinkers of all faiths with representatives of law, politics, medicine and other areas of society to anticipate man's problems with in-depth study, the Rev. Mr. Carroll said.

The six-man panel reached no agreement on the subject question. When is the patient dead? Members instead raised many other questions.

"When does the physician acknowledge defeat? Is he morally responsible if he pulls the plug of a heart pacemaker when the patient is moribund and in a state of irreversible unconsciousness?" asked Father John Ring, Catholic chaplain at the UC Medical Center and panel moderator.

"When is treatment prolongation of death and not of life?" he asked.

Dr. Henry K. Beecher of Harvard Medical School raised questions about the time of death of various organs, noting they don't all die at once and life exists at several levels.

"The moment of death can only be approximated," he said.

FIRES CONTROLLED
BOISE (AP) — Lightning storms set a series of fires in southwestern Idaho forests Friday but all were reported under control today.

Boise National Forest officials said the largest of 15 fires which broke out in their territory burned five or six acres of timberland in the Warm Lake area, east of Cascade.

The Payette National Forest, with headquarters at McCall, said 13 fires were spotted this morning, adding to about 40 listed Friday. All were reported under control although crews still were at work in mop-up operations.

The largest fire burned about 15 acres in the Pony Creek area south of Warren.

Carmichael Keeps Office Busy Writing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Black Power advocate Stokely Carmichael is keeping the Justice Department busy writing letters explaining to the public why he hasn't been jailed or deported.

More than 1,000 persons have written the department about Carmichael in the past four months alone, it was learned Friday. Most of the letters included queries about the chances of prosecuting the militant Carmichael in connection with various of his activities.

Many of the letters wondered if Carmichael, born in Trinidad, could be deported. The department's answer: Since Carmichael derives citizenship through naturalization of his father, "he is not subject to deportation under existing federal law."

And the department also told most of the letter-writers it still is reviewing Carmichael's activities "to determine whether he has violated, in any particular instance, any applicable federal law."

Justice Department officials told their correspondents that "any individual who calls upon his fellow citizens to disobey our country's laws, who advocates violence, or who seeks to set one race against another does his nation and himself a grave disservice."

Carmichael, former chairman of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee, has been sharply attacked on all those grounds by a number of congressmen.

Without specifically referring to Carmichael, the department wrote in response to one letter that "a citizen may take actions which do aid and comfort the enemy—making a speech critical of the government or opposing its measures, profiteering, striking in defense plants or essential work, and the hundreds of other things which impair our cohesion and diminish our strength—but if there is no adherence to the enemy in this, if there is no intent to betray, there is no treason."

FORCED FROM HOME
POCATELLO (AP) — An invalid was in a Pocatello hospital today after she was forced from her home by a Friday afternoon flash flood 10 miles south of Pocatello.

Mrs. Robert Hammer, 46, and Mr. and Mrs. Elmo C. Stanger were forced from their dwellings after Indian Springs Creek flooded after a heavy thundershower.

Mrs. Hammer was taken from her home, she said, when water was four feet deep inside.

CLOSURE PROTESTED
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Len B. Jordan, R-Idaho, and Rep. George Hansen, R-Idaho, say they have received many calls and telegrams from persons in the Soda Springs-Montpelier-Preston area protesting the proposed closure of the El Paso Products Co. phosphate fertilizer plant in Soda Springs.

Hansen said he has called William D. Noel, president of El Paso Products in Odessa, Tex., to discuss the situation. Hansen said Noel told him El Paso will close unless some other firm can be found soon to operate the plant.

SCOUTER DIES
FARRAGUT STATE PARK, Idaho (AP) — Marvin H. Mohlman, 58, Seattle, died of an apparent heart attack Friday afternoon while touring this 5,000-acre park site of the World Boy Scout Jamboree.

Mohlman, wearing his scout uniform, collapsed while walking with his wife in the near 90-degree heat.

He was the district scout commissioner in Seattle and held the Silver Beaver Award, one of scouting's highest honors.

Favors Tax Plan
ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller says he thinks President Johnson's plan for a 10 per cent surcharge on federal income taxes is "sound, provided it does not have an adverse effect on the economy."

The Republican governor added that he thought the 10 per cent figure "would not have that effect."

Rockefeller said at his news conference Friday it was "a very delicate and difficult problem" to take action to curb inflationary trends in the economy while insuring that the steps were not too deflationary.

Mrs. Fink; Gooding, Dies At Age Of 87

GOODING—Mrs. Anna Storm Fink, 87, died early Saturday morning at Magic Valley Manor, Wendell, of a long illness.

She was born March 26, 1880, in Wautoma, Wis., and attended school at Plainfield, Wis. She was graduated from the University of Wisconsin and taught school from the time she was 16 years of age until 1919.

She moved to Gooding in 1917 and taught in the Gooding schools until her marriage to Bert Fink on May 15, 1919, in Denver, Colo. She was a member of the PEO Chapter G. M. Fink died June 16, 1961.

Survivors include a stepdaughter, Mrs. Frank (Evelyn) Dordill, Barstow, Calif., a niece, Mrs. Isabel Jolley, Portland, Ore., and a nephew, Thor Hauff, Richland, Wash. A brother and a sister preceded her in death.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p.m. Wednesday at Thompson Chapel by Rev. Kendall North, Gooding Baptist Church. Concluding rites will be held at Elmwood Cemetery. Friends may call at the chapel Tuesday evening and until time of services Wednesday.

ASTRONAUT SCOTT CARPENTER arrived at the Boy Scout World Jamboree at Farragut State Park in North Idaho Friday and visited with scouts. He is scheduled to remain at the jamboree until the Aug. 9 closing to teach aquatics and archery. The Aurora 7 space capsule in which Carpenter orbited the Earth on May 24, 1962, is on display at the encampment located in northern Idaho near Coeur d'Alene. (AP wirephoto)

He asked Roy Brydon of Galashells, Scotland, if he were getting enough to eat at the Jamboree, and the lad smiled and looked ahead at the dinner line. "We're a bit short of milk sometimes. Nothing serious though."

Astronaut Carpenter Talks With Scouts At Farragut

By JOHN VIVIAN and MARK BROWN

Associated Press Writers

FARRAGUT STATE PARK, Idaho (AP) — Astronaut M. Scott Carpenter talked with scouts from a dozen lands Friday as he waited in a "chow line" for a paper-plate dinner of barbecued buffalo, salmon and beef.

It took 35 minutes to get through the line, but Carpenter who admitted he was hungry didn't hesitate to sign nearly 100 autographs for scouts attending the 12th World Boy Scout Jamboree.

Wchai Kitti-Ampanot, 17, of Bangkok, Thailand, asked the former spaceman if he had ever been to Thailand.

"No, but I've flown over it," said the Aurora-7 pilot, "and I recently met a Thai girl in Washington."

Wchai smiled and gave Carpenter a scout emblem, pinning it on the lapel of the astronaut's button-down, western-style shirt.

"Thank you, thank you," Carpenter responded, taking a dime from the pocket of his new blue jeans. "This is a trade. I want you to have this."

"How much did you give him?" asked a reporter. "Ten million dollars worth of friendship," answered Carpenter, his lean, tanned face smiling.

An American scout, 14-year-old Harold Colter of Bridgeton, N.J., handed Carpenter a notebook for an autograph, and asked what it is like to be weightless.

"Like swimming," answered Carpenter, "it is the nearest thing to it."

Harold, who said he would like to explore and discover "like another Columbus," is working on a school science project in weightlessness. Last year he completed a project on the Gemini space program, and two years ago on Mercury.

Carpenter, who announced Thursday he was resigning from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration to take up oceanography full-time with the Navy, is expected to spend five days here. He will teach aquatics and archery to some of the nearly 12,000 scouts here.

Vocational Education To Be Topic Of Sun Valley Meeting

SUN VALLEY — Administrators and trustees from Idaho's 117 school districts will gather in Sun Valley Thursday for a two-day meeting to consider a subject of increasing concern to educators throughout the nation — vocational education.

State Superintendent D. F. Engelking, Boise, said Saturday "With the increasing emphasis on more and more years of formal education, we must not neglect the individual who is not inspired, or simply not equipped, to pursue an advanced professional degree."

The program for the annual education department-sponsored conference is designed to inform the educators of the aids available from the education and vocational education departments, the state's higher educational institutions and private industry.

"It is vital for our school administrators to understand the advantages and disadvantages of vocational education programs at both the high school and junior college level," Mr. Engelking commented.

Education department personnel and school administrators will hold a preliminary session Wednesday, Mr. Engelking said that this meeting will give the educators the latest information on projects and innovations which directly affect their school districts.

Directors of federally funded programs in the state will list funds available for fiscal 1968 and list procedures, new regulations and deadlines for project requests.

U.S. Office of Education official Ray Warner will participate in discussions of Title III, ESEA projects. This program, Mr. Engelking pointed out, is for projects submitted by school districts of a state that involve studies and innovations to im-

Area Couple Sues Buhl For $10,750

Mr. and Mrs. Daryl Tadlock, Buhl, are seeking $10,750 in damages against the city of Buhl, in a complaint filed in Fifth Judicial District Court in Twin Falls.

They allege the city was negligent in leaving a hole in the parking strip between the sidewalk and curb, in front of the offices of W. E. Baggs and Charles Cullings. Mrs. Tadlock suffered injuries when she stepped into the hole and fell, the complaint states.

The couple asks $750 in medical expenses and $10,000 general damages. Also named as defendants are W. E. Baggs and Charles Cullings.

SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — The Space Agency has 11 new scientist-astronauts who may spend days on the moon, weeks in space stations circling Earth or months flying to Mars or other planets.

Selected for their scientific rather than piloting background the fledgling spacemen swelled the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's astronaut corps to 56. All must learn to fly jets before taking a space trip.

NASA said they came into the program to train to "conduct scientific experiments in manned orbiting satellites and to observe and investigate the lunar surface and circumterrestrial space."

They join five others in the scientist-astronaut category who joined in 1966.

The newest additions to the space team included the youngest, 25, and the oldest, 40, ever chosen by NASA, and brought the first two foreign-born astronauts into the program — an Australian and a Welshman.

A Manned Spacecraft Center official announced the astronaut group Friday. However, earlier in the week it had confirmed that five on the list had been picked.

All hold doctor's degrees, either in the sciences or medicine. They are:

Joseph P. Allen, 30, research associate at the University of Washington.

Philip K. Chapman, 32, naturalized U.S. citizen from Melbourne, Australia; staff physicist at the Experimental Astronomy Laboratory, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Boston, Mass.

Anthony W. England, 25, graduate fellow at MIT, doctorate in geophysics.

Karl G. Henize, 30, doctor of astronomy, professor at Northwestern University.

Donald L. Holmquest, 28, intern at Methodist Hospital in Houston, graduate of the Baylor University College of Medicine.

William B. Lenoir, 23, electrical engineering doctorate from MIT, an associate professor at MIT.

John A. Llewellyn, 34, born in Cardiff, Wales, an associate professor at Florida State University, doctorate in chemistry from University College, Cardiff.

F. Story Musgrave, 31, doctorate in physiology from the University of Kentucky, where he is a postdoctoral fellow.

Brian T. O'Leary, 27, Ph. D. in astronomy from the University of California; NASA trainee at Space Sciences Laboratory, Department of California.

Robert A. Parker, 30, associate professor of astronomy, University of Wisconsin, astronomy doctorate from the California Institute of Technology.

William E. Thornton, 33, M.D. from the University of North Carolina until recently a researcher in Air Force space program.

All but Holmquest report to the Manned Spacecraft Center, the space pilot training base, Sept. 18 to start orientation. Holmquest plans to delay his reporting about a year to complete his internship.

NASA said the group would enroll in an Air Force jet pilot school next March. None is expected to be considered ready for a space trip for at least two years.

Negro Selected For Navy Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Richmond, Va., native is the first Negro selected for Navy captain as a line officer.

He is Cmdr. Samuel Lee Gravely, Jr., currently skipper of the destroyer Tausig.

The Navy has another Negro four-striper but not in the line ranks — Capt. Thomas D. Parham Jr., a chaplain.

Reagan's wife, Nancy, was at his side as they left the hospital. The governor waved to patients and staff members who stood at windows to watch his departure.

The 58-year-old Republican governor of California returned to his Pacific Palisades home, where he plans to spend two weeks recuperating before returning to his Sacramento office.

Friends said Reagan was feeling fine.

Summer Along Suez Canal To Be Long, Hot

By HAL MCCLURE
PORT SAID, Egypt (AP) — Heavily armed Egyptian and Israeli troops have dug in on opposite sides of the blocked Suez Canal for a long, hot summer.

"It took us only three days to get here but may take three years to get out," sighed one sweating Israeli lieutenant.

Israel wants permission to send its ships through the canal, something denied them for 19 years. And until it reaches some kind of agreement with Cairo, Israeli soldiers are likely to stay on—and on.

Foreign Minister Abba Eban says Israel is even willing to reach a separate agreement with Egypt, outside any over-all accord, provided the waterway is open to all nations, including Israel.

Also at issue is the demarcation of the cease-fire line along the 107-mile canal. Israel holds that the line runs through the center of the canal and that consequently both Egypt and Israel have navigation rights in half of it. Barring this, Israel says, neither side can use the canal.

Israeli and Egyptian troops have fought two bloody battles across the 197-foot-wide canal since the end of the Middle East war in June.

And although U.N. observation teams patrol the canal, renewed violence could explode at any time.

One battle involving planes and tanks was touched off last month when the Israelis dropped several small craft into the water. Later they hauled bigger boats overland into the Suez area, but never placed them in the canal.

When—or if—they do, more shooting could be expected.

For this reason, Lt. Gen. Odd Bull, chief of the U.N. Truce Supervision Organization, has asked that neither Israel nor Egypt send any boats on the canal for 30 days.

Bull has indicated it will abide by the request.

So far, the Egyptians are using only small boats in the Bitter lakes and not in the canal proper.

The Little Bitter Lake joins the Great Bitter Lake, where a fleet of 14 foreign ships, stranded at the outbreak of hostilities, is situated in ghostly formation in the setting sun. The nearest is more than a mile off shore.

The stranded ships are blocked from sailing by sunken ships.

The Israelis say it is up to Egypt to clear away the obstacles. So far, Cairo has made no move in that direction although it is losing $200 million in annual foreign exchange earnings from the Suez.

Services Set For Local Woman, 89

Funeral services for Mrs. Hilda Burton Evans will be conducted at 2 p.m. Monday at the Larkin Mortuary, Ogden, Utah, under the direction of Twin Falls Mortuary.

Mrs. Evans, 89, Clinton Drive, died Thursday evening in Magic Valley Memorial Hospital of a long illness.

She was born June 28, 1878, in Malmo, Sweden, and came to Utah from Sweden at 11 years of age. She was married to James S. Burton in 1898 in Logan, Utah. He preceded her in death in 1938.

She was later married to Reginald Evans in 1941, in the Salt Lake LDS Temple. He died in 1959.

She moved to Twin Falls three years ago and was a member of the Second Ward LDS Church.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. J. Alvin (Elva) Brown, Twin Falls; a stepson, Milton J. Evans, Napa, Calif.; a stepdaughter, Mrs. W. A. (Beth) Pearson, Seattle, Wash.; a sister, Mrs. Frank (Elsie) Williams, Cascade; four grandchildren, 15 great-grandchildren and four step-grandchildren.

Concluding rites will be held at the Ogden Cemetery, Twin Falls Mortuary officials announced.

Former T.E. Resident Dies In Oregon

Funeral services for Claron E. Hesp, 51, former Twin Falls resident who died at his home in Athena, Ore., Friday, will be conducted at 2 p.m. Tuesday at the Folsom Funeral Home in Pendleton, Ore.

Mr. Hesp was born April 27, 1914, at La Verne, Calif., and moved to Twin Falls in 1918 with his parents. He was graduated from Twin Falls High School in 1931.

He married Jean Mary Whitney Aug. 25, 1938, at Kimberly. They moved to Santa Cruz, Calif., in 1942, and then to Athena in 1945.

Survivors, in addition to his widow, include two sons, Capt. David Lowell Hesp, Williams Air Force Base, Phoenix, Ariz., and Thomas Dean Hesp, Athena, and two sisters, Mrs. R. H. Flinn Sr., Twin Falls, and Mrs. Larry S. Davis, Filer. He was preceded in death by a sister, Mrs. F. M. Hejstand, La Verne, Calif.

Concluding rites will be held at Athena.

5 Killed, 65 Injured In Truck Crash

PREMONT, Calif. (AP) — A flatbed truck carrying a YMCA youngsters' club home from a day on a Pacific Ocean beach somersaulted out of control Friday on the Nimble Freeway, killing five and injuring 65 others.

Larry Fink, newly sworn in California High Patrol officer who saw the accident, declared: "I didn't realize how bad it was until I got up to the cab of the truck and all I saw was a mound of bodies."

Fink, working with fatalities for the first time, radioed for "all the ambulances you've got" and then with others broke out first-aid kits and started loading youngsters into passing cars that took them to hospitals.

The patrolman said the northbound truck veered to the right and then to the left onto a 40-foot wide strip that divides the four-lane freeway. As the truck hit the center strip, he said, it somersaulted, finally landing on its side.

Senate Denounces Plan To Divert Water In Arizona

By JIM ADAMS
AP Regional Service
WASHINGTON (AP)—An administration-backed bill to authorize a major water diversion project for Central Arizona has been denounced in the Senate as an attempt to put new ties on Colorado River water which is already too short to go around.

"If the Upper Colorado states were using their water entitlements," said Sen. Clifford P. Hansen, R-Wyo., "there wouldn't be any water left for a Central Arizona Project."

But Sen. Paul J. Fannin, R-Ariz., said Arizona is only trying to put its share of the water to use. And he said Arizona is the only state in the Colorado Basin that has no other major water supply.

Voting was put off until next week as opponents continued to press their proposal for a basin-wide project, including a study on importing water from another river into the Colorado.

Bakers remained confident the bill would pass the Senate next week but the House Interior Committee has announced it will take no action on the project this year.

Opponents, led by Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, R-Calif., are backing a substitute bill that would include the water import study and create a basin-wide commission to oversee use of the water.

"It also provides for construction of the Hualapai Dam which conservationists claim would flood part of the Grand Canyon, and would include projects in Utah and Southern Nevada."

"The only way to meet Southwest water needs," said Kuchel, "is to pass a plan that will help all the states, not just one."

Imported water to swell the Colorado, said Sen. Frank E. Moss, D-Utah, would come from the Pacific Northwest, Northern California or possibly Canada.

"Interbasin transfer of water has been transformed into sort of scare word in some quarters," Moss said. "We cannot cut the nation into a collection of artificially-defined geographic units and treat each as though it had no dependence up

PROMISING SPECIALS
 4:30 p.m., 7B, 8-NBC News Special, "The Documentaries of Ted Yates." Bob Rogers, associate of the late Ted Yates, created this program to illustrate the contributions of one of television journalism's finest and most imaginative reporters. Producer-director Yates was killed early in June while covering the war in the Middle East. Films show Yates at work on location, and should provide a rewarding insight into the "other side" of the television documentary story.

BEST BETS FOR MOVIES
 8 p.m., 4, 7—"Period of Adjustment" (1962) Jane Fonda is a perfect new bride in any such role, but we like her better in the newer "Barefoot in the Park." Be that as it may, Jane is cute and jittery as a young lass who is upset over spending her wedding night in a sleazy hotel; Jim Hutton is somewhat pallid as the groom who calms his nerves with liquor, and Tony Franciosa is smooth and charming as the wartime pal from whom the honeymooners seek help.

HERE AND THERE
 Vacation Playhouse, seen at 6:30 p.m. tonight over channels 2B, 3, 5 and 11. This summer replacement series has been showing us some fine drama, laced with satisfying comedy and even an occasional melodrama. The pity of the situation is that it leaves the air come September. This week's offering is a comedy-fantasy about a widow who has difficulty getting her son to socialize with his classmates. Animated cartoons supplement the action as the plot reveals that the son prefers to spend his time with his illustrator mother and her storybook characters. Patricia Crowley and Billy Mumy star.

Munitions Dump Explodes In Fire
 PHU BAI, Vietnam (AP) — Tons of munitions exploded in a fire that roared through an ammunition dump at the U.S. 3rd Marine Division base camp here today. Fireballs and columns of smoke surged hundreds of feet into the air.
 None of the two dozen Marines at the dump or in perimeter defense positions nearby was injured.
 Officers said a grass fire apparently set off the blaze, and explosions. There was no indication that Viet Cong guerrillas were to blame.

Attend Jamboree
 SPRINGDALE—Attending the Boy Scout World Jamboree at Farragut State Park are Noel Bowcut and James Fillmore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Fillmore.
 Fillmore is representing the Cassia district and Mr. Bowcut has been a Scout leader for several years. He was accompanied by his family, which includes five Boy Scouts.

Michigan State Star Is Named Most Valuable Player In All-Star Game

By JOE MOOSHL Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — Bubba Smith, the 290-pound behemoth headed for the Baltimore Colts, was named the most valuable All-Star in Friday night's 27-0 loss to the Green Bay Packers.

as tough as I thought" won by a two-to-one margin over quarterback Bob Griese of Purdue in the consensus of some 500 writers covering the game. Bubba dumped Green Bay quarterback Bart Starr for a 10-yard loss on the first series of plays and generally was one of the few bright lights among the All-Stars.

George Webster, Michigan State's great-linebacker who will play with Houston, was third in the voting. Except for Griese, who was drafted by Miami, and Mel Farr of UCLA, who goes to Detroit, all the vote getters were defensive players as Green Bay contained the All-Star offense with unbelievable efficiency.

Rallies Let Phils Bomb Houston 10-3

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Home runs by Rich Allen and Bill White capped five-run rallies in the sixth and eighth innings, carrying the Philadelphia Phillies to a 10-3 romp over Houston Saturday that ran their winning streak to five games.

Right-hander John Bozzer and left-hander Wade Blasingame of Houston were locked in a scoreless duel when the Phillies erupted in the sixth.

Bill White started the rally with a single and Bobby Wine was safe when Blasingame slipped and fell while attempting to field his sacrifice bunt. Bozzer then singled to center, scoring White for his first major league RBI in 49 at bats.

Cookie Rojas, who has hit in seven straight games, followed with a run-scoring single and two outs later Allen unloaded his 17th homer into the upper deck in left field.

A single by Rojas and triples by John Briggs, Allen and Don Lock gave the Phils three more runs in the eighth before White smashed his fifth homer over the right field wall against reliever Larry Sherry.

Top Gridiron Coaches Have Learned By Being Where The Action Was

By BOB HOOBING Written For The Associated Press

In college football coaching, it's who was up front that counts.

Bob Devaney of Nebraska, Mississippi's John Vaught and Bear Bryant of Alabama—the top three gridiron tutors in major ranks—brushed up for amazing careers by spending their varsity days in the line where the unsung action is.

The success ratings are based on the won-lost records of active coaches with 10 or more seasons behind them.

Devaney, blitzing his profession at a .820 clip, played end at Alma. In his decade as bench boss, Devaney has led his squads to 83 victories, 18 losses and five ties.

An All-America guard at Texas Christian in 1932, Vaught spread the split-T gospel in Dixie right after World War II and he's still reaping rewards. Under his direction, Ole Miss has been on a 157-44-10, .781 kick.

Right behind Vaught comes Bryant, the Titan of Tuscaloosa, or any other part of Alabama you want to name.

His light, ultra-quick, whip-pet-fine Bama squads of recent vintage have proved size is not a requisite to success. Just ask Devaney's Cornhuskers, cut down 34-7 by the Crimson Tide in an amazing Sugar Bowl demonstration of the Bryant creed.

While the full 22-year Bryant record shows a 171-51-14 listing, his most recent seven seasons at Bama read 68-6-3 and his squad enters the 1967 campaign working on a 21-game unbeaten streak.

Of the next four men in the rankings, Missouri's Dan Devine as well as Texas' Darrell Royal and Arkansas' Frank Broyles—standing fourth and tied for sixth, respectively—were backs. Dartmouth's Bob Blackman in fifth place was not able to compete because of an attack of polio.

But behind them are Woody Hayes of Ohio State, who was a tackle at Denison; Princeton's Dick Coleman, who gained recognition as a guard at Williams; ex-guard Duffy Daugherty of Michigan State and former center Ben Schwartzwalder, the guiding hand at Syracuse.

Interestingly, the somptimes football maligned Ivy League has placed three coaches in the top 15—Blackman, Coleman and Harvard's John Vovsinc.

Colorfully-Clad Sanders Fires 67 For Lead In Western Open Golf Meet

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN, Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — Doug Sanders, finding that work on the practice tees pays off, limmed a 67 Saturday for a nine-under-28 par 204 to grab the third round lead of the $102,000 Western

Open golf tournament. The colorfully-clad short-backswinger fired 34-33 against Beverly's par-battered 38-35 standard with a round of only 28 puts. A stroke away at 205 were Jack Nicklaus and 300-pound

Tom Veitch. Each shot 65. Labron Harris, the 1962 National Amateur champion who has yet to win on the pro tour, dropped back with a 72 for 206 after being in front the first two rounds. Four bogeys in a row, starting with the third hole, were too much to overcome.

Mengert Ties Duden In Idaho Open Event

BOISE (AP) — Charging from two strokes off the pace, Tacoma's Al Mengert blasted a three-under 68 Saturday and tied Bob Duden, Portland, Ore., at 206 in 54-hole standings of the $10,000 Idaho Open Golf Tournament.

dropped six strokes off the pace after being tied for third at the end of Friday. Bob Murphy, Napa, Calif., grabbed the amateur low gross honors. He closed with a 72 Saturday and 220 for 54 holes. This was one better than runners-up Grant Erickson and Wally Lowe, both of Boise.

Julius Boros, seeking his fourth tourney triumph of the season, also faltered. A 73 left him bracketed with Masters champion Gay Brewer and five others at 209. George Knudson, making an ace on the 123-yard 12th, had 67 for 208 and Randy Glover with 68 was tied with him.

Back in the pack was Arnold Palmer at 212, PGA champion Don January at 214 and defending titlist Billy Casper 217. The field was cut to the 60 low scorers and ties for the final round. It took 217 or better to make it. Sixty-three pros and two amateurs remain.

Pirates Score 2-1 Victory Over Dodgers

Arnold Haneke, Boise, came in with a 71 and a 210 total to go into Sunday's final 18-holes-four strokes back. Verne Burnett, Culver City, Calif.; Francisco Lopez, Hayward, Calif.; and Ed Zemljack of Butte, Mont., were tied at 211. Of that group, Lopez had the best round, a 3-under-68.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Vern Law's five-hit pitching and a perfect squeeze bunt by Bill Mazeroski paced the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 2-1 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers Saturday.

Bruce Crampton of Grand hama Island also carved 33-32-65 for 207. Also grouped at 207 were George Archer with a 67 and Steve Oppermann with 69.

U.S. Men Take 400-Meter Relay In Final Track Competition

By TED SMITS, Associated Press Sports Editor
WINNIPEG, Canada (AP) — The United States' stable of fleet sprinters tied the listed world record in the men's 400-meter relay Saturday and led a grab of six more gold medals in the closing track and field competition of the Pan-American Games.

Law, a veteran right hander who went the distance, struck out five en route to his second victory of the season. The Pirates broke a 1-1 tie in the sixth when Roberto Clemente led off with a single and was forced by Al Luplow. Donn Clendenon, singled Luplow to third and he raced in on Mazon's perfect bunt.

There were no passing mistakes among the U.S. men sprinters whose 39 flat tied the listed world record which America's best set in the Olympics at Tokyo in 1964. There is a pending record of 38.9 which a French team set in Yugoslavia in July.

Namath Will Receive Fine For Escapade

Joe Namath, star quarterback of the New York Jets in the American Football League, will receive a stiff fine for his early Friday morning escapade along Second Avenue in New York. Sonny Werblin, owner of the club, said Saturday.

Law suffered his only damage in the first when the Dodgers scored on a walk to Dick Schofield and singles by Ron Hunt and Al Ferrara.

Women's 400 meter relay where a bad pass on the final baton exchange brought the U.S. team a disqualification. Cuba won it in 44.6 seconds. In the women's relay, the U.S. women finished second but the team was faulted because of a bad pass exchange between Mrs. Deven DeBusk of Costa Mesa, Calif., and Barbara Ann Ferrell of Los Angeles.

U.S. Men Take 400-Meter Relay In Final Track Competition

By TED SMITS, Associated Press Sports Editor
WINNIPEG, Canada (AP) — The United States' stable of fleet sprinters tied the listed world record in the men's 400-meter relay Saturday and led a grab of six more gold medals in the closing track and field competition of the Pan-American Games.

There were no passing mistakes among the U.S. men sprinters whose 39 flat tied the listed world record which America's best set in the Olympics at Tokyo in 1964. There is a pending record of 38.9 which a French team set in Yugoslavia in July.

The track and field performance by the U.S. men was the best ever. The previous high number of gold medals was 18 won at Chicago in 1959. There were two world records tied. The other was by Lee Evans of San Jose, Calif., who anchored the men's 1600-meter relay to an 18 meter victory over Canada in 3:02.0, a Pan-Am record.

Twenty more championships were on the line on this final day of full-scale competition, with seven rowing races on the Red River floodway, 10 boxing finals and titles to be decided in men's and women's basketball and baseball.

Pan-American records topped like fragile wheat as Uncle Sam's track men completed a sweep of 22 of 24 events and the women polished off their performance with eight of 11.

Besides the spectacular 400 meter relay performance, the U.S. men scored a surprise victory in the blue ribbon 1,500 meter run, in which Tom Von Ruden of Los Angeles and Sam Bair of Scottsdale, Pa., both passed Canada's Dave Bailor.

Joe Namath, star quarterback of the New York Jets in the American Football League, will receive a stiff fine for his early Friday morning escapade along Second Avenue in New York. Sonny Werblin, owner of the club, said Saturday.

Organized Baseball Gets New Television Contract

By KEN HARTNETT, Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — Organized baseball, confident it could command a record price, got what it asked for—a record $50 million television contract with the National Broadcasting Co.

ball, it falls short of the National Football League package that reached about $66 million for a three-year term. The agreement came as a surprise. NBC had until Sept. 15 before its option with baseball expired. Baseball had been prepared to turn to the Columbia Broadcasting System and the American Broadcasting Co. should NBC reject its demands. One source said that baseball's starting price in the negotiations was $60 million.

The current contract is worth about $36 million. The agreement gives NBC continued rights to the World Series, All-Star games and the Game of the Week, a series that includes 28 weekly telecasts a season.

Each major league team is expected to participate in the Game of the Week series, which is worth about $300,000 a team under the current pact. Philadelphia is the only team now out of the series.

Although the contract is the best ever negotiated by baseball, it falls short of the National Football League package that reached about $66 million for a three-year term.

Military Waiting Wives Keep Watchful Eye For Husbands' Return

Wives Club, organized for women whose husbands are stationed away from home. Members rarely "dress up" for meetings "because our husbands aren't here to appreciate it," members commented.

Women's Section Loneliness Alleviated By Palaver And Company

By CATHERINE TATE
Times-News Staff Writer

TWIN FALLS, IDAHO, SUNDAY, AUGUST 6, 1967

Hot black coffee steamed untouched for a moment in a collection of mismatched cups as the tiny, blue-eyed mother of an eight-month-old child pulled out a worn snapshot of a young soldier.

"He's in Phu Loi. A bomber pilot," she said quietly.

The dozen or so women gathered on the pleasant patio exchanged brief glances and then resumed the typical reciprocal conversation common to any such gathering. It was a deceptively ordinary scene, marked by the familiar sounds of children playing on a newly-mown lawn and the comfortable laughter and chatter of the women, enjoying the coffee, the conversation and the company.

It was a scene obviously far removed from the steaming jungles of a Vietnam or the scorching heat of an Asian desert. Yet there lies between the two—some of the children playing on that peaceful lawn have never known the fond touch of a father and most of the women haven't been able to lean on the strong shoulder of a husband for many months.

Their fathers and husbands are in Da Nang, Okinawa, Phu Loi, Chu Lai, Cham Rahn Bay, Saigon and Bangkok—some of the cities in that Vietnam and those sweltering deserts. The wives are members of the Military Waiting Wives Club, a YWCA-sponsored organization for women whose husbands are stationed away from home in the armed forces.

Membership fluctuates at about 20, and it currently includes women from all over the Magic Valley area. There's Barbara, mother of two children, her husband has been in Thailand for more than nine months; and Linda, who lives with her parents in Twin Falls with her one child, her husband has been in Vietnam for six months; and Dorothy, who's husband, at 43, flies bomber planes in Vietnam while his wife and six children wait for his return.

All branches of the armed forces, and all ranks, are represented in this club which works with a modified group therapy format—a group of women "in the same boat" who come together for comfort and advice.

Not all of the club members are old-timers in the area, and some of them found it difficult to adjust to life in a strange community, a spokesman noted. Among those who have formed new friendships through the Waiting Wives are an Army wife originally from Reno who is living near her husband's parents in Twin Falls, and a Navy wife who had scarcely heard of Idaho before coming here from Nebraska.

It's a unique group, differing extremely from typical women's clubs. There are no officers other than a general chairman and a membership chairman, on the one hand, and on the other is the fact that meetings nearly always call for strictly informal attire.

"Why get dressed up? There aren't any men around to impress," one of the girls commented. Expanding on the question of exactly which element women dress for—men or other women—she added, "When I go to all the bother of putting on the war paint and the combat uniform, I want someone to appreciate my efforts—namely, my husband."

The club was organized last October by several women who found themselves drawn together by a common situation.

One of them was Dorothy, a former Miss Idaho contestant who now has six children and a husband in Vietnam.

"We started the club on the basis of a 'misery loves company' attitude. We had generally been sitting around feeling sorry for ourselves and we needed to find somebody who speaks the same language—a common-interest group," she said.

"In my case, I can snap out of a particularly gloomy mood by thinking about our one Navy gal who gets letters from her husband once a month—if she's lucky. He's on a carrier and that's about how frequently he can get letters over here," she added.

With the lack of any other

TAPE RECORDINGS are frequently a treasured tie between a husband stationed overseas and his wife and children at home. Barbara and her two youngsters tape a daily report to send to "daddy," who has been in Thailand for more than nine months.

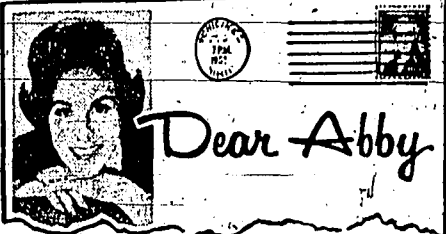

MEMBERS ARE actively solicited by the Military Waiting Wives Club, a group formed last October for women whose husbands are away on military duty. Linda, current membership chairman, settles down for a long hitch on the telephone.

"LONG FACES" don't stay long for very long during informal "coffee" hours for members of the Military Waiting Wives Club," according to one member who considers the greatest advantage of the group to be alleviation of loneliness for the waiting women. Nova, Dorothy and Maxine illustrate the apparent truth of the statement.

ONE ACTIVITY of the Magic Valley Military Waiting Wives Club is the monthly cooperative trips to the Mountain Home Air Force Base Post Exchange for military personnel and their families. Pat and Marge load the car with cold drinks for a trip while Shirley checks a shopping list for possible forgotten items.

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN "live one" will make more sales.
DEAR ABBY: My husband and I live in the same city with his parents. We happen to have two adopted children and two "natural" children.

My husband's parents show a marked preference for our natural children. They say our adopted children would be better off in an orphanage with other "orphans" who are in the same boat. Should we continue to retain contact with these grandparents, or should we refrain from seeing them until they learn to accept our adopted children?

DEAR TORN: What's this "same boat" your adopted children and those in an orphanage are supposedly in? The children in an orphanage have no parents—yours have. I would not expose my children (any of them) to grandparents so cruel and unjust as theirs appear to be.

DEAR ABBY: I would like to sound off about people who ask real estate dealers to show them homes when they are in no position to buy.

You'd be amazed at the number of people who make a pastime of "looking" at homes. This takes up the time a salesman could be devoting to a customer who is really in the market to buy.

I've had people tell me they can't afford to buy just now, but maybe in "4 or 5 years" they will. Others take up half a day, and then say they are looking for "a relative."

Other just want someone to chauffeur them around for a Sunday afternoon. But the payoff was the lady who had me out every day for a week showing her new homes. Then she told me she's planning to build, and she just wanted some "ideas." How about people like that?

IN REAL ESTATE:
DEAR IN: Everyone who has something to sell is exposed to "lookers." And real estate people are no exception. But the salesman who treats all prospects with the same patience and courtesy he shows a

Five Families Hold Reunion In Twin Falls

The 37th annual reunion of five families which settled in Valley Crucis, N.C., in the early part of the 18th century, was held recently at Twin Falls.

Attending were descendants of the Shulls from Germany; the Baits from Switzerland; the Hortons from England and the Taylors from North Carolina.

Family members from Arizona, Idaho, Oregon, Kansas, North Carolina, Utah, Missouri, Colorado and California attended.

Area residents in charge of arrangements for the 61 attending were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rayl, president and secretary; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Howard; Mrs. Lucille Kelly, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rayl, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Vickers, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Roy and Mr. and Mrs. Olin Smith.

The group held a special church service at the Holiday Inn; attended the Frontier Days parade and rodeo and held a swimming party and picnic at Nat Soo Park.

The reunion has been held at various places in the United States since about 1914. Colorado was chosen as next year's meeting place.

Balenciaga's Winter Shows Display Beauty, Elegance

By LUCIE NOEL, AP Fashion Writer
 PARIS (AP) — Balenciaga drew the curtain on the Paris winter fashion shows today with a collection devoid of jazz or gimmicks and expressing beautiful, traditional and true elegance.

Their big news in suits displayed by Balenciaga, often called the grand master of haute couture. This season he likes them cut close to the body, following its shape and featuring a curved cutaway jacket.

He does them again and again in Donegal or salt and pepper tweeds, or black wool touched with a narrow black velvet collar.

Many of the long pants are in uncurled lamb, as worn by Balkan or Spanish peasants. And he does topcoats in the same lamb and in almost every color—green, cerise, café au lait, beige and brown.

A good third of Balenciaga's collection is shown with "twin" girls wearing the almost identical topcoat, though always in a different color, over tunics and pants, bermudas, a divided skirt or a little belted jersey dress.

Many skirts in Balenciaga's suits are quite straight. The newest have a back panel with multiple pleating, and others a wide front panel left unpressed.

Sleeves are narrow, set in a high shoulderline, but on topcoats they are raglan—for the most part, expertly tailored and with no padding anywhere.

Most applause went to the simple unfitted shifts with such subtle detailing as an unpressed front pleat and side pockets in the seams and a couple of buttons, all in a little grege wool dress.

Evening hemlines dip and trail in petal points, umbrella points and scooped effects. The fronts are cut away to the kneecaps.

Balenciaga's hemlines are at the knees for daytime, but sometimes clear them for sports. For evening, there is a stunt or two like twin miniskirts in black or coffee "gazar" with full-bolero jackets.

Following the little girl line, straps are very good when they button, and here they could be the important new double straps. These dynamic duos are winning everywhere, might be in wide button-hook types for day or shimmering bands of satins for those shoes that stay out late.

Straps come in multiples too, which might be the best answer for the mini-skirts, or for knocking about in knickers, pants, suits, smocked little angel dresses.

Linda Fillmore Is Bride Of Steven Wright

BURLEY — Linda Fillmore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Grant Fillmore, Burley, and Steven Earl Wright, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl L. Wright, Salt Lake City, Utah, were united in marriage June 26 at the Salt Lake LDS Temple.

Elder LeGrand Richards performed the moving double ring ceremony.

The couple greeted guests at a garden reception at the home of the bridegroom.

The bride wore a floor length white crepe and lace gown fashioned with an empire waist with a pleat in front, bell sleeves and a chapel train attached at the shoulders and extending to a lacey V in back.

Her elbow length veil of illusion was held by satin and lace-swirled pedala bordered in seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of pink roses with cascading stephanotis.

MRS. STEVEN EARL WRIGHT (Nobles Portraits)

Flippy Skirt Brings On A Leggy Look

Flippy skirts and whirlaway hems give fashion a leggy look that is coltish, high-spirited, young. This makes shoes the focus of attention, and it calls for stockings with fashion snap.

Much of the fun of fashion now, says the National Shoe Institute, has to do with these marvelous little stockings, and all their witty, racy ways. The pale fishnets are still around, still important, toned down now from the whites to the pastels, the powdery-heather tones.

Ribbed looks are good now too, might come in cowbeby lightweights for late day or all the deep-dimensioned daytime looks. These might be the saving grace for the women who are still young but who have legs that profit from a bit of cover-up, and who want to wear the swingy, short skirts for sport or country.

Knickers and short overalls dictate a demand for knee socks, and knee socks there are, in stripes, tattersalls, diamonds, plaids, polka dots, a jillion other designs.

Some designers like the match game. How to win? Dye stockings to match the costume for a continuous line from shoulder to shoe. This fall, look for shifty dresses with their own stocking-ights in all autumn's turn-on-colors. And look for ribbed sweaters with their own ribbed stockings, both to be pulled on with a hip-hugging skirt up to there.

Best man was James L. Wright, brother of the bridegroom. Ushers were Winston Egan, Salt Lake City; Ike Ferguson, Provo; Brent Gandre, Marvin Adamson and Les Fell, all Salt Lake City, and Mark Fillmore, Burley, brother of the bride.

The bride's table, covered with a floor length pink lace cloth was centered with an all white wedding cake. Wedding bells tied with white ribbon adorned by lilies of the valley topped the cake.

Guests were registered by Mrs. Linda Egan, Salt Lake City.

The newlyweds greeted guests at an open house July 1 at the home of the bride's parents in Burley. Mrs. Ruth Ann Brower and Olivia Bett registered guests. Gifts were displayed by Carolyn Booth and Brenda Luke.

Pre-nuptial showers were hosted by Mrs. William H. Child, Mrs. Earl L. Wright, Mrs. Glen Bailey, Mrs. Merritt Egan and Mrs. Winston Egan.

Following a wedding trip to Park City, Utah, the newlyweds will reside at 3625 South, 2400 East, Salt Lake City.

DOWN WITH DANDRUFF

If you're a summertime dandruff type, someone who is troubled by the pesky flakes of dandruff when drying sun and moist humidity get at hair and scalp, it's a good idea to use a special shampoo. There are a number of good shampoos that leave hair manageable and take care of dandruff at the same time. One is antibacterial and is also good for tinted and dyed hair.

Givenchy Shows New Silhouette For Sportswear

By LUCIE NOEL
AP Fashion Writer
PARIS (AP) — Givenchy presented his many splendored designs for elegant living today and launched a new silhouette for sports.

Throwing open his winter collection to fashion writers for the first time in five years during the regular haute couture season, Givenchy also developed his favorite ideas, which are always contemporary without being extreme. In recent years, Givenchy has awaited delivery of his models before showing to the press.

He continued his tunic dresses, figure-skimming unfitted sheaths, and unbelted chemise belonging to high society and the grand ballroom.

His new sports line carried through in his hostess gowns and right into lady's bedroom. It is a one-piece play suit with a wide, soft bermuda leg reaching to the kneecap.

For sports alone, it appears in tweeds, wools and jersey. Under big and loose or beautifully tailored belted coats, they come forth in Givenchy's favorite dark forest green. They match the coat, which may be green window pane checked wool, or in a contrasting shade, such as a gray one with knee breeches under a grege mouflon woolen chunky coat.

Other wool coats for sports go over workmen's overalls and are treated to buttoned down patch pockets in the back. On skirts flapped pockets are placed at the back in twosomes, and the same idea is carried out in coats.

A suit has saddle-bag suede pockets attached to the belt. There is a belt story here. Many are shaped in a V-line in the back and sometimes dropped to the hips. Givenchy uses dark brown suede for an ensemble, with a fringed-out hemline worn over a suit-dress, with a gregge top attached to the skirt.

Most all of the top-coated models go over what first appears to be a suit, but is a tailored-jacket and dress, detailed and belted often with matching hood and additional short ascot scarf tucked into the neckline.

He uses bands of jeweled embroidery on hemlines, shoulder straps, necklines, and on plain fabrics, besides a number of all sequin dresses and evening ensembles. Ultramarine blue is a favorite.

GUARDED GARDENING
Summertime cleaners and gardeners need to guard their skin with protective clothing, both indoors and out. For instance, keep hair away from the face by tucking it neatly under a band or scarf. Wear well-fitting flats or sneakers indoors, lightweight rubber boots outdoors. Choose comfortable slacks or jeans for ease and practical, pocketed tops or jackets. Whenever possible, protect hands with a hand cream or lotion and cover up with gloves.

Janice Maude,
Urie Marry In
Hagerman Rites

HAGERMAN—The Hagerman LDS Church was the setting for the double ring nuptials uniting Janice Ann Maude, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Maude, Hagerman, and Leonn V. Urie, in marriage July 6.

Beauty baskets of pink and white gladioli formed the background for the evening ceremony performed by Bishop Douglas Wood.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of nylon chiffon over bridal satin. The scalloped squared neckline was trimmed with re-embroidered lace. Scallops of lace also edged the center front of the overskirt which formed a red-tinge effect and fell into a chapel train. Her elbow length veil of silk illusion was held with three fabric roses trimmed with sequins.

Her bouquet was fashioned of light blue carnations tied with a white bow and centered with a lavender orchid.

Mrs. Merlin Fairbanks, Twin Falls, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Doug Maude, Hagerman, sister-in-law of the bride, and Terri Larson, Boise, Jodie Urie and Lisa Danae Urie, nieces of the bridegroom, were flower girls.

Tom Aslett, Twin Falls, was best man. Ushers were Gary Maude, Hagerman, brother of the bride, and Forest Urie, Birmingham, Mich., brother of the bridegroom.

Guests were registered by Mrs. Gary Maude.

A reception was held after the ceremony in the cultural hall. Gifts were displayed by Vicki Behrens and Laura Lemmon.

The four-tiered wedding cake was iced in white and decorated with tiny blue flowerettes. A miniature bride and bridegroom adorned the top of the cake.

Heart shaped side cakes encribed with the couple's names and white bud vases with blue flowers flanked the wedding cake. The cakes were made by Mrs. Martha Ruby Wendell. Cake and punch were served by Mrs. Gale Aslett, Mrs. Kenneth Urie and Mrs. Forest Urie.

Billie Jo Lemmon was soloist and Hanna Akers, organist.

Following a wedding trip to Sun Valley and Stanley Basin, the couple is making their home at 252 Blue Lakes Blvd., Twin Falls.

The bride was feted at a pre-nuptial kitchen shower at the home of her mother. Hostess was Mrs. Doug Maude.

Texture and Color Spark
Fall Fashion

New coatings and suitings reflect the approach of fall fashion to color and texture.

The general direction is toward more smoothness, less bulk. To achieve this aim, fabrics are often double-woven to give body without bulk.

When deep textures appear, they are opulent, as in whipped tweeds, rich m-a-t-e-l-a-s-s-e-s. Smoother fabrics take inspiration from the frothier weaves, so that smooth surfaces suggest an extra dimension, as in satiny gabardines, lustrous zibelines, frosted worsteds.

Checks and plaids have drama, in windowpane and tattersall versions. Stripes, pencil-sail or racing-bold, spark casual or elegant suits.

Colors are imaginative. Sedition is a suit or coat confined to just one hue. Lights and darks of every description link up for high fashion is one important version of this look.

Browns, all shades, enjoy special favor, particularly when accompanied by vivid touches of color—brilliant borders, spirited stripes.

A distinctive treatment is the stripe that "faces across" the front of a jacket, to meet the same color encircling a sleeve, with a broad or narrow band.

PEELINGS CLEAN FLUES
Here's a good tip for the home that boasts a fireplace. Burnt, dried, potato-peelings and they will help keep the flue and chimney clean.

KEEP 'EM ON TOP
If you heat fruits and nuts in the oven before you add them to the batter of a cake, they will not sink to the bottom. This is true of puddings, too, to which nuts or raisins are added.

VERSATILE STRIPES
Sporting stripes in a light-weight wool-knit blazer is the snappiest look for sailing, apres tennis or covering up in air-conditioned places. Turns shifts and pants into complete ensembles.

Betty Canary's
Wonderful World

About this time of year it seems that everybody I know is going on vacation while I merely go to pieces. What I mean is that the last week of school all the little mimeographed slips with perforated lines began showing up in the lunch buckets and the mailman delivered the rest.

As usual, I have plotted the hours and days for the next three months as the annual sign-up for swimming and tennis and Brownie day camp and Scout camp came upon us. (And the plague descended, not in the form of locusts, but, lo, the slips of paper falleth, as numerous and unaccountable as the rain-drops, saith the prophet.)

Well, this year I decided FIRST we would have a vacation. My campaign began in March. I wrote clever little notes about getting away from it all and tucked them into Bob Honey's pockets and dresser drawers. Finally, I casually arranged open suitcases about the house and at last he said one day, "You know, I think this year, we should take a real vacation."

"By golly, that's a swell idea!" I cried, tossing things into the suitcases. "We'll have breakfast in bed and see the volcano and lo! on the beach at Waikiki—shall we fly all the way or take a ship from San Francisco?"

"Unless your Uncle Alfred's will has shown up, that kind of vacation isn't exactly what I had in mind."

(I guess I should explain here that my Uncle Alfred disappeared in the 1840s and the family is still awaiting the news that he struck gold, which we will divide and all be rich as Groesus.)

Cissy started to scream, "We're going to have to catch those slimy fish again!" and Babs flatly stated she was staying home with her kitten, But-tercup. By this time Rick was easting down the stairs. Stu said he thought we should go to

SUBSTITUTE BLUSHER

If you're away from home with only your regular blusher, you can frost it with baby powder. Shake some baby powder into the palm of your hand, whisk your application brush over your regular blusher and then over the baby powder, and brush it on your face. The tiny white particles in the powder will blend in with the color of your blusher to frost it so evening lights and bright summer stars will light your face with a special romantic glow.

Niagara Falls because, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica, geologists estimate the age of the falls at 25,000 years. Tad appeared with his suitcase and Winnie the Poph and said he didn't care where he went just so he got to stay in a motel and eat in a restaurant.

After reading all available brochures and our only available bankbook we decided to vacation at the very center of the United States — in the Ozark mountains.

After making the lists and planning what will fit into the car I have discovered a great truth. If you take a vacation with this family, you never get away from it all. You take at least half of it with you.

Miss Kapella Is Bride Of Gary J. Webber

KETCHUM — Suzanne Jean Kapella, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter M. Kapella, Ketchum, and Gary Joseph Webber, son of Mrs. Helene Webber, West Berlin, Germany, exchanged their nuptial vows July 18 in Our Lady of the Snows Catholic Church here.

The double ring Nuptial Mass was celebrated by Rev. Francis DeNardis, with John Lister, organist. Scott Sproule presented guests. Wedding Mass. Missals and Ted Cutler and Paul Cutler were servers.

The bride, who went to the altar on the arm of her father, wore a gown of white-alcove lace designed with fitted bodice featuring a scalloped neckline edged in sequins and seed pearls. Her bouffant skirt, worn over crinoline, was designed in layers of scalloped edge lace ruffles which fell into a chapel train. Her waist-length chapel veil was attached to a tiara of embroidered lace decorated with pearls and crystals. Her bouquet was a nosegay of white rosebuds tied with white satin ribbon and streamers. She wore a pearl necklace and earrings.

Michelle Kapella attended her sister as maid of honor. The bridegroom was attended by Tony Nykiel, Thomas Goicoechea and Clifford Golcochea were ushers.

After the ceremony, a reception was held in the Christiana Dining Room. Serving were Christy Morrison, Mrs. Norris Ward, Patty Lane and Mrs. Jack Sproule, assisted by Mrs. James Fife and Mrs. Don White. The bridegroom is employed at Omaha where the couple will reside.

The guest list included friends and relatives from Nebraska, Wyoming, Salt Lake City, Twin Falls and Boise.

The bride was honored at a pre-nuptial shower given by Mrs. Frank Morrison and Mrs. James Fife.

MR. AND MRS. WALTER BLAYLOCK

Miss Ferguson, Blaylock Wed In Idaho Falls

Joan A. Ferguson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Asbliman, Providence, Utah, and Walter L. Blaylock, Twin Falls, son of Mrs. Margaret Blaylock and the late Frank Blaylock, Buhl, were married June 16 at the Idaho Falls LDS Temple.

Clarence F. Johnson performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride was attired in a street-length sheath dress of white brocade covered by a white lace coat caught at the neck with a pearl pin. The coat featured long sleeves and a scalloped bottom. The dress was made by the bride's mother.

The couple was honored the following day at an open house at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Stark, Buhl. The event was hosted by the bridegroom's sisters Mrs. Stark, Maurine Phillips, Muriel Hitchcock and Thelma Hulme.

Wedding bells and Japanese lanterns decorated the garden setting.

A wedding cake surrounded by sweet peas and twinkling lights was decorated with pink flowers, green leaves, white swans and wedding bells, with a miniature bride and bridegroom on top. The cake was made by Esther Latham.

Lunch and the cake were served by relatives of the couple. After a trip to Yellowstone National Park the couple is residing in Twin Falls.

VERSATILE DOOR MAT

A really efficient door mat is half perforated rubber for scraping and half absorbent carpeting for drying. This mat can be kept in peak performance by scrubbing with a brush dipped into hot soap or detergent suds.

Jerome Miss, Hine Wed In Garden Rites

Linda Sue Culp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Stevens, Jerome, and Wayne H. Hine, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hine, Twin Falls, were married July 6 in a garden ceremony at the bridegroom's home.

Rev. Meryl Nemnich performed the double ring ceremony. Becky Peterson, Jerome, was maid of honor and Roger Hine, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

The bride is a 1967 graduate of Jerome High School. The bridegroom was graduated from Twin Falls High School in 1966 and is employed by Gallatin Valley Seed Co. He plans to join the service next year.

Former Idaho Couple Wed In San Francisco

GOODING—The chambers of San Francisco Superior Judge Raymond J. Arata were the scene of the July 12 marriage of Betty Lou David to William R. Kelly, both of San Francisco. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore R. David, Idaho Falls, and Kelly is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett E. Kelly, Gooding.

The couple was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Hunter D. Wells before a group of friends. The ceremony was followed by a champagne luncheon at the Treasure Island Officer's Club after which the newlyweds left for a Canadian honeymoon.

The couple, who will reside at 2854 Steiner Street, San Francisco, visited briefly in Gooding with his parents on their way back to California.

SAFEGUARD TOYS

Is your infant in the "taste everything" stage? It might be wise to spray shellac on all wood, metal and painted toys. The dried shellac is safe and helps prevent wood from splintering.

PUT ZIP IN ZIPPERS

If your slip covers come back from the cleaners or laundry with slow-moving zippers, rub the zippers with soap and work them back and forth a couple of times. They will work smoothly.

Karen Kirkman, Kirkeide Marry In Local Ceremony

FILER—Karen Anne Kirkman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Garth Kirkman, Filer, became the bride of Keith Louis Kirkeide, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Kirkeide, Seattle, Wash., July 8 at the First Church of the Nazarene, Twin Falls.

Rev. Arnold E. Woodcock of Nampa and Rev. Jack Weller of Filer performed the double ring ceremony before an altar of a centered candle arch holding lighted tapers and decorated with white gladioli and blue delphinium.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was escorted down the aisle of white carpet and blue satin bows. She wore a Bridal Original gown of rayon organza. A pearled and scalloped Chantilly lace and oval neckline accented the yoke and redingote front, revealing the demitasse-line gown. The lace cage effect swept to a wateau chapel train.

Her shoulder length veil of silk French illusion was topped with a seed pearl and floral trimmed tiara. She carried a tapered bouquet of white butterfly roses and variegated ivy.

Maid of honor was Vicki Kirkman, sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Virginia Smith, Portland; Mrs. Robert Tamaka, Shoshone; Rosemary Midby, Nampa, and Mihoko Hara, Nampa.

Best man was Rudy Evenson, Connell, Wash. Groomsmen were Bob McDonald, Nampa; Steve Sharp, Filer, cousin of the bride; Gary Locke, Lewiston, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, and Bob Danker, Portland.

Candlelighters were Carol Kirkeide, sister of the bridegroom, and Julene Damon, Rupert. Tracy Barton, Gooding, cousin of the bride, was flower girl, and Jeff Hudson, Buhl, cousin of the bride, was ring bearer.

Mrs. Doug Cleveland, Nampa, was organist and accompanied Garry Matlock, Buhl, soloist. Mrs. Cleveland and Dr. Double E. Hill, professor at NNC, played a piano and organ duet during the lighting of the tapers.

Guests were registered by Mrs. Gary Locke, sister of the bridegroom, and programs were handed out by Carolyn Kirkman, cousin of the bride.

Gifts were received by Connie Thaefer, Karen Pendergraft, Linda Sharp and Patricia Sharp.

A reception was held after the ceremony in the church fellowship hall. The bride's table was covered with white nylon and satin and decorated with Cambridge arms holding blue candles, and bouquets of delphinium, roses and elegance carnations. The same flowers were used around the cake and to hold the satin table cover in place.

The cake was baked and decorated by Mrs. Rueben Lierman. Bell shaped cakes bearing the bridal couple's names flanked the three tiered cake. Assisting at the reception were Mrs. Albert Barton, Mrs. Ray Hudson, Mrs. Don Kirkman, Mrs. Richard Kirkman, Mrs. Gordon Schroeder, and Mrs. Francis Sharp.

The couple went to Lake Tahoe and San Francisco and are now residing at 2422 Dexter Ave. N., Apartment 200, Seattle, Wash.

Pre-nuptial showers were given for the bride by Mihoko Hara, Nampa, at NNC and a miscellaneous shower was held at the fellowship hall of the Buhl Nazarene Church.

The parents of the bride hosted a patio buffet supper preceding the wedding rehearsal.

Miss McInroy, Ledbetter Say Nuptial Vows

Kathleen K. McInroy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter McInroy, became the bride of James C. Ledbetter, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Ledbetter, Sealah, Wash., in rites July 6 at the First Methodist Church, Twin Falls.

Rev. Harold Nye performed the double ring ceremony before a background of lighted candelabra and baskets of yellow gladioli and bronze pompons.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a wedding gown of nylon organza, fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, scalloped with Chantilly lace and accented with seed pearls. The bouffant skirt draping into a chapel train, was edged in Chantilly lace. Her shoulder-length veil was held in place by a flower headpiece of organza and taffeta accented with seed pearls and sequins. She carried a cascade bouquet of yellow roses and carnations.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Edna Schumacher. Mrs. Judy Cummins and Mrs. Janice Lewis, sisters of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Rita Severt were bridesmaids.

Alan Ward was best man, with Jim Sugden, Gary Haskell and Alan Cummins serving as groomsmen. Winston Kennedy and Eddie Gudgell, cousins of the bridegroom, were ushers. Eddle Lang served as ringbearer and Linda Ledbetter, cousin of the bridegroom, was flower girl.

Mrs. Nye played the traditional wedding music and Peggy McCandless was soloist.

Lee Ann Hone was in charge of the guest book. Gifts were arranged by Terry Hanel, Louise Sorenson, Sandi Snow, Connie Albright and Connie Fisk.

Immediately after the ceremony, a reception was held in the church basement. The bride's table was centered with a four-tiered wedding cake flanked by crystal candelabra with yellow candles.

The cake was cut and served by Mrs. Virgil Lang and Mrs. Olaf McNeil. Coffee was poured by Mrs. Calvin Gudgell and punch was served by Mrs. Harold Kennedy, both aunts of the bridegroom.

Special guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Martin Ledbetter, grandparents of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Sylvia Druery, Stapleton, Neb., grandmother of the bride.

Out-of-town guests attended from Kimberly, Hansen, Murtaugh, Washington and Nebraska.

The couple took a wedding trip to Pocatello and will reside in

Foundations Right for Fall Fashions

Bared or covered-up, elegant or knacky, fashions for fall find their complement in foundations ready to meet every need and preference. There's a choice of shapes and silhouettes, of sheer or opaque fabrics, of pastels or sizzling hot colors, of brief or all-over control.

Nothing all foundations present is a smooth and uncorseted look, through a number of innovations designed to banish every last little bulge.

Even the mere bulge of a garter under a knit dress or stretch pants is being eliminated, via flat garters or narrow inner panels offering a series rather than a single garter attachment.

A strong appeal of new foundations is their color interest—from the bare effect of a fishnet construction over basic beige to the most feminine of florals and, further, to such sharp colors as red, jade or bright navy.

Twin Falls. The showers honoring the bride were given by Connie Fisk and by women employed by the Idaho Department Store.

Women-In Tent Coats Come Fall

"Tenting today" is the theme song for fall, and the new coats pitch their tents in the height of fashion.

True-tent shape, narrowed at the top and spreading toward the hem, adapts well to full length coats in window-pane and tattersall checks, frothy tweeds, smooth zibelines, crisp gabardines. Of course, "full length" is somewhat abbreviated for fall, as coats, too, raise their hemlines.

Other coats are dubbed "pup tents" for their swingly shapes.

and their still-shorter lengths—three-quarter or, more often, seven-eighths.

For slimmer coats, a bit of added fullness frequently suggests the tent-trend in fall fashion.

While the tent is the newest coat shape, there are fashion-approved silhouettes of every description, from cleavage-slim to graceful wrap styles. Panels, front or back, give many coats a fresh look and provide an air of motion without bulky width.

Closings chance the face of fashion. For instance, there's the fencer's look, for coats that begin by buttoning wide, with the buttons then narrowing to a closer formation.

Both double and single breast styles appear, usually with a high-rise feeling. Side buttoning refreshes still other coats. Sometimes, these side closings are bordered in full—just one of many ways fall fashion transforms "fur trimmed" into a totally new idea.

In general, fall's approach to fur for coat adornment is lavish. The domineering collar of mink orlopomum or other favored fur gives way to the "high rise" ruff of fur—the better to flatter a lady's face.

Coats are not only collared with fur—they're cuffed with fur, bordered with fur, lined with fur for luxurious looks as well as warmth.

"IT'S UNWISE TO PAY TOO MUCH"

but it is unwise to pay too little.

When you pay too little, you sometimes lose everything, because the thing you bought is incapable of doing the thing you bought it to do.

The common law of business balance prohibits paying little and getting a lot... it can't be done.

If you deal with the lowest bidder, it is well to add something for the risk you run. And if you do that, you will have enough to pay for something better.

Miss Freeman Is Bride Of William Powell

WENDELL—The United Presbyterian Church, Wendell, was the setting for the July 21 wedding of Jeannie Kay Freeman, Wendell, and William C. Powell, Pocatello. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Freeman, Wendell, and the bridegroom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon H. Powell, North Pocatello.

The couple recited wedding vows at 8 p.m. with Rev. Jack A. Jennings officiating for the double ring ceremony.

Tall beauty baskets of white gladioli, altar candles and tapers in candelabra provided the background setting.

Mrs. Faeth Eaton, Wendell, organist, played the traditional wedding music and accompanied Mrs. Larry Petersen, soloist.

Jerry Freeman, brother of the bride, and Kent Wentworth, Gooding, were candlelighters.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length empire-styled gown of Ottoman faille, fashioned with a square neckline and long sleeves. Her gown was enhanced with a chapel train, detachable at the empire waistline.

The bride's gown and gowns of the bride's attendants were designed and fashioned by Mrs. Arthur Byce, Wendell, aunt of the bride.

Her shoulder-length veil of silk illusion was held by tulle and lace enhanced with white rosebuds and pearls. She carried a bouquet of white feathered carnations and tulle tied with lime-green satin ribbon.

Jean Cordingly, Arco, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Becky Cowell, Howe, and Cassie Geissler, Wendell. Andrea Sack and Shawna Vollmer, both Pocatello, cousins of the bride, were flower girls. Mike Byce, Bliss, cousin of the bride, was ringbearer.

Denny Neifert, Kirkland, Wash., was best man. Walt Gaved and Jerry Lowe, both Pocatello, served as ushers.

The reception was held in the social rooms of the church. Gale Anderson, Gooding, was in charge of the guest book. Gifts were carried and displayed by Mrs. Morris Nielson, Carla Nielson and Mrs. Frank Jeffries, Gooding, and Mrs. R. J. Marlow and Mrs. Marshall Howden, Wendell.

The bride's table was covered with lace over lime green and centered with a three-tiered wedding cake decorated in white with a touch of green. The cake, baked and decorated by Mrs. Wanda Duncombe, Hagerman, was topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom beneath an archway of wedding bells and Lilies of the Valley.

The cake, reflected on a mirror, was surrounded with tulle and Lilies of the Valley and flanked by white candles decorated with greenery in crystal candleholders. Mrs. Leslie Wallace was in charge of flowers and decoration.

Lynda Hunter, Perkins Wed In Temple Rites

RUPERT—Lynda Hunter, Rupert, and Don Perkins, Murtaugh, were married June 21 in rites solemnized in the Salt Lake City LDS Temple, with Elder Selvo J. Boyer officiating at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Hunter, Rupert, and Mr. Perkins is the son of Darwin Perkins, Twin Falls, and Mrs. Rufus Turner, Murtaugh.

The Rupert LDS Stake Center was the setting for a June 24 reception, where the newlyweds greeted their guests before a white iridescent background draped with a pink and plum fringed festoon, accented at each side with white columns and bouquets of roses beneath pink lace umbrellas with plum colored bows.

Gold and white pillars with pink roping and a gold carpet marked the pathway to the reception. Pink and plum floral arrangements in the windows, and wedding bells with baskets of pink and plum floral arrangements at the doorway enhanced the room.

Hurricane lamps accented with pink and plum floral arrangements with green garlands lighted the entrance to the church.

The bride wore a Bridal Original floor-length gown of peau de sole trimmed with pearls and sequined re-embroidered alencon lace. The bodice featured a sabrina neckline and long lily point sleeves caught at the wrists with tiny self-covered buttons. A chapel train swept to the floor.

Her shoulder-length butterfly veil of English silk illusion veiled by a petal ruse of peau de sole, and she carried a cascading bouquet of white glame-las and pink Elle roses.

Attendants were Mrs. WITA Curtis, sister of the bride, as matron of honor, bridesmaids were Connie Norby, and the bridegroom's sister, Cathy Perkins, and as a junior bridesmaid, his sister, Julie Turner.

Blake Turner served his brother as best man, and ushers were David Mayes, Richard Morris, uncle of the bridegroom, and Brad Perkins, his brother.

Gifts were displayed by Judy Hyde, Faye Aldridge and Floy

MR. AND MRS. DON PERKINS

Crandall on a white satin covered table with pink and plum floral trim and plum bows on the floor-length skirt.

The four-tiered wedding cake was encircled with pink roses and greenery and centered the pink tulle covered serving table. The floor-length skirt of matching tulle was draped with pearl and floral trim at the edge, and a gold-ornate rattan screen formed the background for the serving area. Mrs. Richard Morris cut and served the cake which was topped with an arrangement of pink satin wedding bells, gold leaves and tulle.

Large clusters of pink grapes and vases of pink roses accented by miniature grape clusters completed the table decor. Pink and plum feather flowers and pink brocade tablecloths, made by the bride, enhanced the companion tables, where Mrs. Clyde Manning, aunt of the bride, poured frappe from a silver punch bowl, and Mrs. Nelda Matthews, aiso the bride's aunt, assisted with the serving.

Guests attended from Boise,

Twin Falls, Murtaugh, Caldwell and Salt Lake City. After a honeymoon to Yellowstone National Park, the couple is residing at 689 N. 700 W., Provo, Utah.

Connie Norby was hostess at a pre-nuptial party honoring the bride.

Shoes Are Showing Curves In New Styles

Toes turn in a new fashion direction, as the curved silhouette for shoes shows up in everything from moccasins to sandals.

Straps of all patterns and widths adorn shoes for all hours of day and evening. There are broad-shouldered walkers in rugged grained, brushed and waxy leathers; slim T-strap slings in delicate smooth and suede leathers; smart strap shoes in single or double instep, criss-cross, bracelet, vamp, T or split-T formations.

The buckle brigade in the footwear parade includes strap-and-buckle types; ornamental buckles of leather, cut steel, brass, tortoise shell or fabric; and the mock-buckle, a vamp opening in buckle-shape with contrasting border.

Like straps, buckles appear on all leather shoes of all styles for all occasions. They look well with the wider toe, and the low or mid-heel. Generally, the bigger-the-buckle, the lower the heel.

The sleek leather pump is currently low-riding, with a fuller toeline—either rounded or blunt. Instep or side cutouts reveal the foot discreetly, or fashion emphasis may appear at the front, with a high tongue, lacing, bow or buckle.

High-cut up-front detailing, coupled with low blocky heels, gives many pumps a distinguished "museum look."

In all weathers, the leather boot steps out fashionably, with the leg-hugging look continuing in popularity. Simple calf-skimming boots, in colors or white, team well with short-short skirts and novelty stockings.

For dress wear, there are knee-high boots and ankle-brushing booties, with details such as bows, lacings, spat effects, or combinations of leathers or colors.

For casual wear, the long-time favorite moccasin comes in classic and up-dated versions with hand-stitching, kiltie fringe, brass hardware, tassels, even mid-heels for a very new appearance.

For big doings after dark, there are sandals, sling-backs and sheared-down pumps (some showing toe separations) in smooth, suede, lustre and embossed leathers. Trim includes jewelry or nailheads, buckles, bows, rosettes, cut-aways at vamp or sides.

Small Handbags Have Neat Way To Make Room

Enchanting outside, tricky inside. That's the story for fall's new handbags.

With bags scaled down proportionately for shorter skirts and simple silhouettes, fashion has found a way to accommodate a lady's toteables, reports Leather Industries of America.

Handbags look little, but "tricky" interiors hold a lot, thanks to ingenuity in styling—everything from compartments and pockets to gussets, accordion pleats and bags sewed back-to-back with double-entries.

In the daytime dress bag division, fall '66 shows off a smart collection of leather pouches, satchels, envelopes, box bags, swaggers and even elegant shoulder strap types.

Delicate detailing includes brushed or plain gold closings and trim, quilting or shirring, and scalloped or unusually shaped flaps. Handles may be soft double straps, single rigid type, or leather- and chain braid.

For day-in, day-out carrying, there are small but compact satchels, totes and pouches. These casual styles also come in larger sizes.

Crated mostly from grained, waxy and brushed leathers, the bigger bags may sport brass hardware, boldstitching, outside zippers, extra-wide or skinny shoulder straps, or two-color combinations.

will have the outline for the program books at the next meeting for approval.

the cake. Mrs. Norman Vollmer, Pocatello, and Mrs. James Byce, Gooding, cousins of the bride, presided at the punch bowl and the coffee service.

Others assisting with the service were Mrs. Byce, aunt of the bride, Mrs. E. E. Parr, Mrs. Raymond Ruby, Mrs. Nolan Cooper and Mrs. James Dunn.

The couple went to Yellowstone National Park and Jackson, Wyo., for a wedding trip. They will reside at Casa Del Rio Apartment No. 208, Pocatello.

Out-of-town guests attended from Washington, California, Nevada, Pocatello, Roberts, Howe, Arco, Twin Falls, Gooding, Jerome and Bliss.

The newlyweds were honored with a reception at the social rooms of the Pocatello Presbyterian Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Morris, Pocatello, were hosts at a pre-nuptial kitchen shower for the couple and Cassie Geissler, Wendell, hosted a lingerie shower at a patio party honoring the bride.

Robert Lang, Twin Falls Teacher, Hopes To Return To Post This Fall

ROBERT LANG

15-minute preparation notice. The regular instructor was not present and PFC Lang said that someone had to take over. He hadn't done anything like this before but knew something about a rifle, especially that a dirty and uncared for rifle will usually jam up and can not provide protection for the soldier carrying it.

The men were so impressed with his manner of presentation that some told him they had learned more during that short session than the former eight sessions combined. The commanding officer was impressed to the extent he put Lang's name in for advancement to a corporal with instructions to stay in the United States and serve as an instructor.

Before the order was carried out, the base was frozen with all advancements canceled and the company was shipped overseas.

He received his discharge on Sept. 18, 1952 and started the winter term at Southeast Missouri State Teachers College, Cape Girardeau, Mo. He was graduated from there in May of 1957 and the following year taught at Granger High School, Granger, Mo.

There were only 39 students in the entire high school, compared to the 39 he has in one classroom alone at the Twin Falls junior high.

Lang was born June 18, 1926, at Oak Ridge, Mo., and was raised on a farm near there. The homestead had been operated by his family since they first came to America in about 1834 from Germany. He comes from a line of school teachers, including his mother and three sisters. His parents, Oscar Hayes Lang and Roxie Kurze Lang are both dead.

Even as a child, Lang had wanted to teach and help young or children, and was always making or fixing something for someone. He has a talent to build or repair things and is good at architectural drawing. As a child he would take two broken watches and make one good one.

In high school he spent his noon hours in the Ag shop room making things for his nephews and nieces. He even made a phonograph that worked. In the school yearbook his graduation picture was printed with the caption: "Robert Lang, Our Thomas Edison always on hand with a new invention." He was graduated from Perryville High School, Missouri, in 1945.

On Dec. 12, 1959, he married Beulah Mae Blakely Haugh. The couple has three small children, Kathy, Randal and Kevin, and three older boys, Richard, Bill and Kenneth, who were born during Mrs. Lang's first marriage. Kenneth, a student at Twin Falls high school and a former student of Lang's, verifies what many former students say about Lang, that he was one of the best teachers.

Lang has received many cards and wishes for his recovery from his former students. He says that although he forgets names he always remembers faces. He can see former students on the street and although not remembering their name can tell them in which class he had them and where they sat.

While in Twin Falls, Lang has studied at Western Illinois University, Macomb, Ill., with a National Science Foundation Award and also spent two winters of "in service" training through the Idaho State University.

He has taught civil defense classes two years in Twin Falls county and is anticipating doing it again this year providing he is up and around. Lang seems to have the art of communication with people, according to reports from his former students. And students who have gone to him from other schools to receive instruction.

Lang is looking forward to returning to the classroom and hopes he will not have to take a leave of absence.

"The school kids are pills at times and sometimes you want to bop them; but you still can't help but love them all," he said.

"Just sheer laziness."

Lang was prompted to go into the field of education after an incident in the army. He volunteered to instruct a short session on handling and proper care of firearms, with only

When Robert Stuart Junior High school was built he transferred there and soon picked up his practice of giving outside service to his students. He noticed a few of his students were falling behind and offered help with their studies. Once in a while students would come to him during the noon hour or before or after school and ask for assistance. Before long he had students not belonging to his classroom in for help, even high school students.

Oftentimes his classroom is filled with 36 students before and after school and even during lunch hour, seeking help from the congenial teacher.

Lang maintains that a person's education is the most important aspect of life. "If you fail at achieving this, you will fail at the second phase of life, which is 'living your life,'" he said. "It makes me sick to see youth with high IQ's refusing to do anything about it," he noted.

"Just sheer laziness."

Lady Godiva Really Didn't Ride Nude Through Streets

COVENTRY, England (AP) — The naked truth about Lady Godiva is that she didn't ride nude through the streets of Coventry, says a report prepared for the 900th anniversary of her death.

To help commemorate the anniversary, Sept. 9, the Coventry City Council asked Joan Lancaster and Dr. Hilda Davidson to write a book. Miss Lancaster, formerly the city's archivist, is now archivist for Britain's Commonwealth Relations Office.

"Lady Godiva may have ridden in a beggar's garb on a horse without a saddle," she says. "But we feel strongly that she would not ride around naked in the 11th century." That sort of thing just would not happen." She said she's studied ancient documents that say only that "Lady Godiva was stripped of all signs of her rank—not that she was stripped naked, or that she stripped."

Dr. Davidson, a former university lecturer, observed: "The story of the ride has been exaggerated until people accept that she did ride around naked."

Lady Godiva's ride was supposed to have been in protest against cruel taxes laid on the people by her husband Leofric. "There is no real evidence to suggest that any protest took place," said Miss Lancaster. "If she did ride through the streets it is much more likely that she was 'stripped' of all signs of rank to associate with the common people."

If the two ladies are right, the world owes an apology to the original Peeping Tom. A Coventry tailor named Tom is supposed to have been the only citizen who peeped at her ladyship on her ride.

HEYBURN — "I wish I could see my children. I miss them so much." The man's soft tone was starting to crack and moisture was visible in the eyes of Robert Lang, Twin Falls, as he lay in the bed of the Cassia Memorial Hospital, Burley.

The sincerity of the man was touching visitors in his room and a later attempt was made by a Twin Falls business man to have Lang's small children talk to him on a direct line from Twin Falls. The youngsters were "phone shy" and Lang had to settle for a large photograph, which was brought to his room and displayed beside his bed.

Lang, a Twin Falls school teacher who was working for a construction firm during the summer, had been injured July 12 in a construction accident at Heyburn and had been confined to the hospital with a broken back, broken ribs, skull fractures and a concussion. On July 27, he was transferred to Magic Valley Memorial hospital, where he is still confined.

For the 15 lonely days Lang spent lying on his back in the hospital, he thought about his family, wife, three small children and three older step-sons; he thought over his life and the friends he had in Twin Falls and in his hometown of Cape Girardeau, Mo. His thoughts were frequently in silent prayer to his God, whom he said was watching over him and his small family several miles away. He wondered if he would be able to return to the Robert Stuart Junior High School this fall to resume his teaching career without the school requiring a substitute the first few weeks.

He was concerned about the students having studies interrupted by the use of substitutes until he was able to take over permanently. He said it is difficult for students to "change horses in the middle of the stream" and causes them to fall behind.

This personal concern for the school youth is a typical quality of the 41-year old math teacher, who since coming to the Twin Falls school district seven years ago has spent many uncompensated hours giving special instruction both to sick students and well ones who are showing difficulty in understanding the subject.

When Lang was on the teaching staff at O'Leary Junior High, he was concerned about students who were missing several days from school due to illness. "When a student was out over seven consecutive days because of illness, then it was time for some catching up in their lessons," he said. He would pick up lesson books and work material at school and take it either to the hospital or the individual's home and work with them evenings until they were able to resume studies in the classroom.

He notices that students were falling behind in school assignments and asked why they couldn't do homework and keep up with other classmates. Most of the students explained that "Mom and Dad don't understand this either and they can't help me with my homework."

Lang pondered over ideas of how he could help his 39 students. Lang said limited time during school hours is somewhat of a handicap for teachers who want to spend extra time drilling students and he didn't feel that he could accomplish this without the parents' help.

He took what he felt was the "only alternative" and started conducting night classes — for the parents. The first night every seat was filled and three parents were left standing. The course lasted for about four months and resulted in six parents sticking it out to the finish.

Lang notices that students whose parents attended night sessions improved in the math studies and their grades went higher. Among his adult students who completed the math course were Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Olmstead, prominent Twin Falls farmer.

He continued to spend after school hours with sick students until it became apparent that he was bringing communicable diseases to his small children at home.

When Robert Stuart Junior High school was built he transferred there and soon picked up his practice of giving outside service to his students. He noticed a few of his students were falling behind and offered help with their studies. Once in a while students would come to him during the noon hour or before or after school and ask for assistance. Before long he had students not belonging to his classroom in for help, even high school students.

Oftentimes his classroom is filled with 36 students before and after school and even during lunch hour, seeking help from the congenial teacher.

Lang maintains that a person's education is the most important aspect of life. "If you fail at achieving this, you will fail at the second phase of life, which is 'living your life,'" he said. "It makes me sick to see youth with high IQ's refusing to do anything about it," he noted.

Book Review

In working with young people and children in the library, it is essential to read the books we offer them. It brings to mind that adults, whether they have children or not, would find many young people's books which are being published today, refreshing and stimulating, the writing excellent, the stories exciting. Current social problems are attacked head on but with sensitivity and understanding. Basic values — courage, individuality, loyalty, integrity, honesty — are often dramatized with a firm perception of their difficulty of achievement.

Some weeks ago Irene Hunt's book "Up a Road Slowly" was reviewed in this column. That novel was voted 1966's most distinguished contribution to children's literature. Among the runners-up for that award was "The King's Fifth" by Scott O'Dell, author of that other great favorite "Island of the Blue Dolphins." In "The King's Fifth" the hero Esteban is a youthful map-maker with Coronado's army in the Southwest, during the early 1500's. Esteban is swept along by one of Coronado's officers, Mendoza, who is driven by a lust for gold and a wild determination to find the fabled Seven Golden Cities of Cibola. Esteban at 16 had ambitions to become a world famous map maker and he accepts Mendoza's invitation to desert the Army and join a small expedition to search for Cibola. Esteban justifies his act thinking how wonderful it will be to chart this great unknown land. But, of course, he is tempted by the thoughts of untold wealth just like the others. As the story progresses there is intermingled with superb description of the country, a tensely growing suspense and a subtle development of character as Esteban, influenced by early training, relationships with others and the wild and violent grandeur of the country, gradually rejects the false values. The writing is terse and simple, the story tightly organized, the inherent drama allowed to speak for itself. Once started it is a difficult book to put down — no matter what the age of the reader.

Another excellent historical novel for young people is Barbara Leonie Picard's "One is One and a Half in the 14th Century England." Here we have Stephen de Beauville, a sensitive, artistic, intelligent, frequently frightened child born into a large family of vigorous, aggressive, wildly sadistic brothers and cousins who live in a castle and all want to become knights like their fathers. They torment Stephen unmercifully and finally the unsympathetic father sends him to a monastery to become a monk. There Stephen's artistic talent is a great asset and he is assigned the task of assisting the scribe who creates beautiful hand-made books. Although Stephen loves the work, he harbors a burning desire to become a knight too and to show his family that he is a worthy de Beauville. He runs away and by a lucky stroke Stephen falls in with a knight who is wise enough to appreciate Stephen's talents and longings, trains him in the arts of knighthood, and teaches him some of the things he must learn — that courage is not lack of fear but the ability to conquer one's fears; that doing things for others' approval is an empty life compared to the satisfactions that come with following one's own inner drives.

I commend either of these books to anyone who likes a good story that deals with meaty problems in a forthright way.

Awards Are Listed For Elmore Fair

GLENN'S FERRY — Special awards for the Elmore County Fair contestants are announced. They include a bolt buckle for the outstanding 4-H'er by the Idaho Cattleman's Association awards for top all-around horse project and top mare and foal by the Family Trail Rider Club of Mountain Home; The Boise Statesman again will present trophies to top livestock projects in the fair. The top beef cookery demonstration will compete at Boise for a Club Congress trip in 1967.

Demonstrations which result in blue ribbons will compete in the District Fair in Jerome in September, as will top judges in livestock and home economics. In modeling, the upper division projects receiving blue ribbons in style review will compete in the district competition, and all purple ribbon projects in the home economics building will also.

In the tractor driving contest new this year, on Aug. 12, the winner will compete at Jerome.

The Boise Valley Angus Club offers a trophy for the top 4-H Angus heifer and a trophy for the top 4-H Angus steer.

Nine dozen jars are offered by Kerr for the best canned fruit, vegetables, and meats. All first prize blue ribbon winners at the Fair participating in the contest will be eligible for national judging in knitting and crocheting wool articles.

Each year a plaque is presented to the top showman in dairy, beef, sheep, and swine, from the Western Idaho Production-Credit Association. The herdsman award must be won three years by an Elmore County 4-H Club before the award becomes a permanent possession.

Thursday the Home Economics Building opens at 8 a.m. and until 10 entries will be accepted for 4-H and open class flowers and garden produce, with the judging being immediately.

Fitting and showing of 4-H horses starts at 8:30 and at 9, the 4-H livestock judging contest is scheduled.

After noon will be 4-H horse judging, and the 4-H Home Ec judging, then lambs and dairy cattle, as well as horse halter classes, all 4-H, 4-H beef judging starts at 2.

Horse racing is scheduled for every day, Thursday through Saturday, at 4 p.m., and on Sunday it will start at 1 p.m.

Friday and Saturday the fair events continue, with a special parade at 11 a.m. Saturday. Culmination of the fair will be the coronation of the new queen Saturday night at the miniature rodeo, with the queen's dance following at the Glenns Ferry City Hall.

Audience Applauds Performance Of Twin Falls Girl In Pocatello Play

By JAN ARTHUR SAINSBURY
Times-News Feature Editor

Oscar Wilde's sophisticated comedy, "The Importance of Being Earnest," is an exceptionally difficult play to do well, especially if you're just sixteen, surrounded by strangers, and play a leading part. But if audience reaction is any judge, Sandi Hopkins, of Twin Falls, turned in a highly professional showing in each of several performances recently at Idaho State University's Frazier Hall, at Pocatello.

Sandi, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hopkins of 631 Cindy Drive, is a dark haired, green-eyed, ebullient young lady, set on doing the best possible job, whether playing a "moth" and a "butterfly" in a recent Twin Falls High School production, or "Gwendolyn" in the involved, "The Importance of Being Earnest."

She loves to act. She is a hard worker. And most important of all, according to Sandi, "These people know what they're doing. They know what they're doing."

Sandi is referring to just completed summer Drama Institute held at Idaho State University. She turned sixteen July 24, and celebrated by joining eight other drama students from the cities of Twin Falls, Pocatello and Boise in doing just what they had been doing for weeks — rehearsing, building and painting.

The students did their work under the direction of Donald Ashoe, Assistant Professor of Speech and Drama at ISU.

"I've learned so much about the backstage technicalities that I never really understood before. I can build flats, paint scenery, put on makeup and it comes so easily when you do it every day." According to Sandi, "The Drama Institute was a complete success. I hope I can return again next year."

Sandi was awarded a scholarship to attend the Institute after becoming interested in a bulletin announcing the program. She talked with her Drama teacher, Brad Hickerson, at Twin Falls High School and then to her parents.

When asked what she thought about the Drama Institute now that the acting and technical work was over, Sandi said, "It was really surprised. . . really! I mean, I've learned so much and I really didn't think that there were so many talented people here. In Idaho I mean."

"I was going to BYU this summer, but now I'm so happy I went to ISU. Maybe people know about it, but I didn't, and I think everyone should know the kind of professional work and attitudes that exist here."

Sandi said that she hoped to attend another Institute next year, which will be her Senior year at Twin Falls High School. During this year's Institute Sandi had more than a hectic schedule. She had a major part in both of the productions produced in the six short weeks. The plays were learned together and performed the same days. A children's play, "Gambler's Need," was presented in the morning hours, and "The Importance of Being Earnest" in the afternoon.

Along with regular performances at ISU, the group did a scheduled performance of each play, July 29th, at Mack's Inn, in Island Park.

Sandi, who used to have hair twenty-four inches long, cut it for the play. Her director, Mr. Ashoe, noted her cooperation along with the rest of the group. "She is an extremely talented student here. She is like the rest of the students here — they are trustworthy, talented, and a wonderfully fine group of young men and women."

In all, the nine students presented the children's play three times, and the comedy twice, including the weekend's performance at Mack's Inn, the painting, the rehearsing, the packing, and the bows . . . the end result of six very long, hard, enjoyable, difficult and exciting weeks.

To All MERCHANTS, SPONSORS & SUPPORTERS OF THE FRONTIER DAYS Rodeo, Parade & Celebration

It would be an insurmountable task to thank each and every individual and business for the unusually generous support of YOUR celebration. It was a most successful event and one that every citizen of Twin Falls and the surrounding area can be justly proud. Without you, the rodeo and all associated activities would not be possible.

Again, we thank you for your time, energy and financial support and pledge to you our best efforts for a bigger and better celebration in 1968.

OLD BIDDING TRICK FOOLS OPPONENTS

Thirty years ago one of the most popular fancy bids was to bid one of your worst major suit when your partner's opening minor suit bid was doubled by the next player. You reserved this bid for a bad hand. There is no point confusing your partner when you have a good hand.

South jumped to two spades. East had a couple of uneasy moments while West thought but relaxed when West passed. North closed the bidding at four spades and West opened the ace of hearts.

South knew what had happened to him when he saw five hearts in dummy, but there was nothing he could do about getting out of spades into hearts. He let the heart run around to his ten and played the three of spades.

West was a youngster and a conservative youngster but he was also a smart youngster. He stopped to think about his partner's heart bid. Could East hold four hearts to the ace? Not a chance. If East did, he would have gone right up with the ace of hearts and played the deuce lead as a singleton.

Could East have four hearts? No, there were only three not in sight and South held the ace. Could East have no more hearts? Quite likely! West led the nine of hearts. East ruffed, returned a diamond and set the hand with another ruff.

Can Win The Day

By himself a teenager is Mr. Vulnerable. His ideas are subject to censorship or outright suppression by literally dozens of adults who hold power over him: parents, relatives, neighbors, teachers and administrators.

If he tries to stand alone for what he believes, the car privileges vanish, the allowance is withheld, the curfew is imposed, the grades are lowered, and the department record is smudged.

This would be a healthy state of affairs if adults were gods, 100 per cent right, and impeccably just in their dealings with young people.

But adults are human and fallible. We can make mistakes, be swayed by prejudice, moved by selfishness, and motivated by fear.

SAFETY IN NUMBERS

Standing alone a teenager is Mr. Vulnerable, but working with other teenagers, he can safely strive to correct injustices.

Example: Seniors at a Midwest high school had a biology teacher who was supposed to supply them with a "valid education in sexual ethics, with a sound grounding in the physiology of sex."

On paper the curriculum was marvelous. But through three months of instruction the biology teacher (a middle-aged miss) never once used the words "intercourse," "penis" or "venereal disease."

Any criticism or embarrassing questions brought the inquiring student a lowered grade. Both the science department chairman and principal refused to talk with disgruntled students.

End of the line? No! The students started to work through their various groups. Soon the H-Y Council of the YMCA had adopted a resolution urging accreditation study of the school's "sex instruction" unit. Past on the heels of this followed similar resolutions from the Methodist Youth Fellowship, the Explorer Post sponsored by the school, the YWCA Council and some seven other student groups.

When it became known that many constructive, responsible youth groups were concerned, the PTA pushed for investigation. That was the deciding factor. The principal and department chairman hired a young teacher with six college units in sex education to teach the course.

What can we learn from that? A number of things. Alone, a young person can be squashed. But when the students work through their groups, protected by the numbers and the reputation of the sponsoring organizations, great things can happen.

MANY PROJECTS FADE

All this is preface to the point of today's column: we think youth groups, youth serving agencies, and school councils are too remote from one another; too jealous, too distrustful.

There are many, many good projects that wilt in the hands of one group, but could blossom if given the attention of many. Like? Well, take sex education. There are very few communities that offer any program of real merit. Why not band together to get a program in your curriculum?

Or take the "How long shall the hair be?" and "How high the hem?" controversies. If you feel that schools are overstepping themselves to deny education to a boy with musician's hair after his father paid public taxes for that education, if you think all the time spent enforcing picky rules, might better go into elevating the quality of the education offered, then perhaps you'll want to initiate some test cases. Ten youth groups, each holding a car wash, might raise funds to hire a lawyer and take the next "no haircut, no graduation" case to court.

Or your concern may be with all the "outs" in the youth community who take part in no organized groups. Perhaps your organizations might cooperate to issue a club directory to help the "outs" become aware of the rich variety of programs offered.

SUPERUNION?

Does this idea of reaching across from group to group mean eventually one large group, a sort of super union? Not at all. We suggest only that the elected officers, the sparkplug members, make an effort to know their counterparts in other organizations as something more than mere competitors.

Once this happened there would be an unofficial "hot line" channel opened. Then, when problems arose that could not be handled safely by one person or one group, the other groups might band together to convince the adult community of the merits of their protests or programs.

How? It doesn't have to be a big program. The Surf Club might invite the Photography Club to a joint meeting to view surf movies. Result? When the surf group felt that certain beaches were being threatened by planned government projects, they could enlist the Photography Club to submit illustrated petitions to "save our beaches."

A limitation now: "Youth Power" should not be a matter of emotionalism and snap reactions. Any group that wants to help should first prepare a solid case as to the worthiness of the project. Then there should be time sufficient to allow other groups that might become involved to investigate before giving an answer.

OK, if this all makes sense to you, where can you get the ball rolling in your own area? What groups do you need to know about; what schools should you familiarize yourself with; what youthful leaders should you introduce yourself to? The time is now. Establish communication channels now and they'll pay off the next time a project is too big for you alone, but too good to abandon.

AN UNUSUALLY large puffball, a harmless variety of the mushroom family, was recently discovered by Mrs. Garr Hovey near a spring on the Hovey's Gold Crest Ranch on Mt. Harrison and Willow Creek Road. By strange coincidence, a large growth crack has formed a very definite H on one side. It must stand for either the attractive Mrs. Hovey who discovered it or the lovely setting on Mt. Harrison where it was found.

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

An exceptionally large puffball, a harmless variety of the mushroom family, was recently discovered by Mrs. Garr Hovey near a spring on the Hovey's Gold Crest Ranch, which is on Mt. Harrison and Willow Creek Road in the DECLA area. Mr. and Mrs. Hovey were cleaning the spring, as Mrs. Hovey's eye caught sight of something about the size of a volley ball. Thinking it was a discarded plastic pail of some camper, she walked over to investigate.

She then discovered the puffball, sometimes called smoke balls or Devil's Snuffbox, which measured 24 inches in diameter. The root system was very short, possibly two inches. It is fairly common to see this particular mushroom grow to the size of a golf ball or baseball, but no larger.

By strange coincidence, a large growth crack has grown on the side of the puffball, making a very distinct H. This must stand for either the attractive Mrs. Hovey who noticed it growing or the lovely setting on Mt. Harrison where it was found.

Of the known 38,000 species of the mushroom family, the colors range from pure white to pastel pinks and lavenders, pale yellows to flaming orange and brilliant reds, and from dull gray to velvety brown.

This particular specimen is soft beige with white markings, and was carefully kept wrapped in a plastic covering in the event it was dropped. If a person strikes a puffball with a stick one can see a tiny puff of "smoke." It is really scattering its dusty spores to the wind.

Goat Island, aptly named because of its inhabitants, is located in the Snake River, about one mile upstream from the Clear Lakes Bridge, near BUHL.

The goats were put on the island in 1950 by Dr. Garth Atwood. Dr. Atwood's daughter wasn't able to adjust to regular baby formula and required goat's milk. Finding nanny goats for the milk proved to be quite a chore, so Dr. Atwood mentioned that he would like to buy several goats.

Through the efforts of well-meaning friends, he soon acquired 35 head. The offspring of these goats were put on the island. During the summer the goats live on the vegetation on the island and in the winter the Atwoods haul hay and grain out to them.

Through the years the goats have occasionally caused concern, when they have been stranded on the rocks near the island. When the river is low, the goats venture out on the rocks and if the river rises rapidly they become stranded.

The first reports of stranded goats resulted in attempts to rescue them, by boat and even by plane. When the boats would pick up the goats and return them to the island, they would promptly jump back into the water and swim after the boat. Dr. Atwood finally tried using his plane to frighten the animals back to the island. This worked the first few times, but the goats soon learned that they had nothing to fear from the plane.

Now when the goats become stranded, they are left alone until the river goes down, or until they decide to swim back by themselves.

During the last few years, 15 goats have been killed on the island, either by careless hunters, or for sport, since the carcasses have been left there. Dr. Atwood expresses the hope that people will stop the senseless slaughtering of the animals.

Travelers Invited To New Chicago Art Be-In

By CHARLES-GENE, McDANIEL, Associated Press Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Museum-goers may be in for a few surprises when Chicago's Museum of Contemporary Art opens in October.

Instead of pictures hanging on walls and pieces of sculpture standing around to be seen, the museum will feature works to be experienced — a sort of amusement park of the fine arts.

This means that the works will not be labeled with the familiar interdiction, "Do Not Touch," which is seen in most museums.

The title of the opening show is perhaps indicative of what can be expected from the museum. It is: "Pictures to be Read—Poetry to be Seen." From the description of the show by the director of the museum, it will consist of just that.

Jan van der Marck, 37, a native of the Netherlands, discussed in an interview the breakdown of boundaries between the arts and their growing inter-relationship, which will be the focus of the museum.

One of the things already selected for the first exhibit is what Van der Marck describes as "an environmental assemblage resembling a big book," by Allyson Knowles.

Rather than standing at a distance to see the work, as in traditional art shows, the viewer will be invited to crawl inside the assemblage and move around.

Visually, there will be words, texts and notations inside to be read, but there also will be a tape recording of things to be heard. Each viewer also will become a part of the book because his own movements and observations will be recorded while he is inside.

The whole show will feature works to be picked up, played with, reshuffled or manipulated by the viewer, Van der Marck said.

There is an increasing inter-relationship between painters, sculptors, poets, playwrights, teams — the Cubs and the White Sox. Van der Marck explained, and this will be explored in the museum's exhibits. "Artists are breaking down barriers," he says. "It is not just the total impression. The artist forces you to stick your nose in it—participate." The new museum is being established on fertile ground. Chicago museums already attract crowds. The Art Institute alone attracts more visitors each year than the combined home games of the two Chicago baseball performers, technicians," Van Sox.

Jerome Fair Rodeo Set Aug. 24-26

JEROME—Details concerning the Jerome County Fair and Rodeo, Aug. 24-26, were finalized this week at a meeting of the fair board.

Fair board chairman, John Steile, reports that Dell Haslam's Cross Triangle Rodeos, Wolfsville, Utah, will be the producers for the rodeo which will be held Aug. 25 and 26. The main performance will get under way at 8 p.m.

Rodeo events will include saddle bronc, bareback, bull riding, calf roping and steer wrestling. The Cassia county Mounted Sheriff's posse will perform Friday night while the Jerome posse will ride Saturday evening.

Queen card dates will compete both evenings of the rodeo and the winner will be crowned on Saturday night.

Parimutuel horse racing will be held Aug. 20-23. Post time will be 4 p.m. Sunday with 6:30 p.m. the post time the other evenings. On the evening of Aug. 24, there will be a Jamboree which proved to be very popular in past years.

Features of the jamboree include barrel racing, flag race, clover leaf, drill team exhibitions and other events.

Jerome county's traditional fair parade will be held Aug. 24, beginning at 4:30 p.m. Bob Walton will be the parade marshal and cash prizes will be awarded for the first three places.

Rules Specify Trailer Spots

Twin Falls County zoning ordinances specify that all occupied trailers must be placed within a trailer court or trailer park with three exceptions.

An occupied trailer may be placed on a lot in any zone for a period of not more than 30 days in a calendar year.

Any number of trailers may be occupied by persons engaged exclusively in farm work provided the trailers are located on the farm where the work is performed.

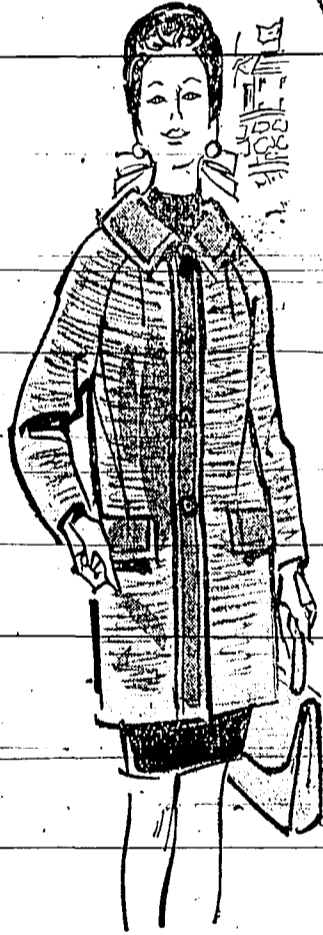

One trailer home is permitted in any agricultural or residential agricultural zone provided the size and dimension of the lot on which the trailer house is located complies with all area and yard requirements for a single family home in the zone which the trailer is located.
