Idaho Lauds Killebrew At Home Plate

By JAN A. SAINSBURY
Times-News Feature Editor
There were 25,000 people looking on when the American League's great homerun slugger became a full-fledged Idaho cowboy.

Whether or not that was the reason, it nevertheless happened. Harmon Killebrew broke a 15-game slump with the Minnesota Twins that afternoon when he hit two homeruns "for Idaho," against Kansas City. The stands went wild... the Hoves yelled at the top of their voices... Harmon Killebrew was obviously pleased... and the State of Idaho was well represented by a native son.

Don Samuelson and a Stetson hat from the citizens of Twin Falls. The presentation was made at home plate of Metropolitan Stadium in the Twin Cities.

Dirksen Predicts Senate Will Tighten Up Crime Measure For Riot Control

By CARL LEUBSDORF
WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, of Illinois, predicted today the Senate will "tighten up" a House-passed anti-crime bill to provide stricter riot controls.

Dirksen told a news conference that a measure whipped through the House by a coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats "will be a humdinger before we get through with it."

Dirksen said he is sure this provision will be retained in the bill by the Senate Judiciary Committee, of which he is a member.

Dirksen said he thinks additional provisions will be written into the measure to call for "strict, sharp enforcement" of the laws to curb racial rioting.

Humphrey Gives Approval To World Boy Scout Jamboree

FARRAGUT STATE PARK, Idaho (AP) — Hubert H. Humphrey gave an old scoutmaster's approval to the World Boy Scout Jamboree here Tuesday, urging 12,000 scouts to carry the Jamboree's "For Friendship" theme to the far corners of the world.

He said at one campfire "Friendship can heal the wounds between nations," he said. Humphrey appeared to be enjoying himself. He was scheduled to be here one and one-half hours, but he stayed nearly three.

Mrs. Humphrey and their daughter, Nancy, accompanied him on his tour. Humphrey's stop here was on his way home from the American Bar Association Convention in Honolulu. He said he was pleased when he learned that he could attend the jamboree — "I've been trying to get to a jamboree since I was 12 years old."

But an amendment by Rep. William E. Minshall, R-Ohio, to abolish the Justice Department special place "with an office of justice headed by a non-Cabinet officer" appointed for a 15-year term was ruled out of order by the parliamentarian, Minshall said he would introduce it as separate legislation.

Wild Rivers Bill OK'd By Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill to designate a National Wild and Scenic Rivers System was passed unanimously Tuesday by the Senate and sent to the House where it apparently will have to wait until next year for consideration.

The Senate voted 84-0 for the bill, co-sponsored by 40 senators. The measure will be sent to the House Interior Committee, which, it has been announced, plans to take no action on the proposal this year.

The bill would designate portions of nine rivers as wild or scenic — some rivers would have portions of both classifications — and calls for studies to decide whether 28 other streams should be brought into the system later.

Construction of dams without authorization by Congress would be prohibited in the nine wild and scenic rivers, and there would be a five-year moratorium against dams along the 28 streams to be studied.

Democrats Search For Housing Answer To Riot-Breeding Slums

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats searched today for a housing answer to riot-breeding slum conditions as Republicans reversed their field by offering support for President Johnson's rent supplement program.

The Senate Banking Committee is sifting five proposals aimed at improving housing conditions in big city slums. There was private determination among Democratic members to come up with some program to lower the cost of homes and rental housing to slum dwellers as an alternative to a well-publicized private enterprise proposal by freshman Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill.

Percy's home ownership bill would subsidize the costs of private construction through government contributions to loan interest rates and guarantees of mortgages involved. If they can prevent it, Democrats indicated, they are not going to let Percy walk off with any slum aid program.

Republican reaction to street violence was etched for all to see when Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen told a Tuesday news conference of a "somewhat different feeling" among his party colleagues toward the rent supplement program than prevailed last year.

Cuban Security Forces Intercept Armed Landing Party Along Coast

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Cuban security forces intercepted an armed landing party on the north coast of Pinar del Rio Province Sunday, Havana Radio said today. Two members of the invading group were captured.

Two other members of the landing party got aboard their boat and returned to the United States, according to a broadcast monitored in Miami, abandoning equipment and documents on the beach.

The armed group was obeying direct orders from the CIA and left from the United States to carry out CIA missions in Cuba," the radio said, referring to the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency.

One member of the invading group was wounded and captured near the scene of the landing, according to the radio. The other was caught Sunday afternoon after an all-day chase.

U.S. Prestige Suffers With Race Violence

By WILLIAM I. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent
Race violence in U.S. cities has delivered a stinging blow to American prestige in the world.

An Associated Press survey indicates that the race violence coupled with U.S. problems in coping with Communist guerrilla war in Vietnam, has had an eroding effect on the U.S. image.

In France, amid evidence of concern and puzzlement, there was a hint of gloating among those remembering France's sanguinary troubles with Algerians. Some French remarked that Americans bomb Vietnam in the name of liberty but cannot assure liberty in their own cities.

Britain eyes the situation warily. The British, too, have been having race troubles. The most prevalent British viewpoint was that both Vietnam and America's race problems had gotten too big.

Williams And Winter Head For Runoff Battle In Mississippi

By JAMES SAGGUS
JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — State Treasurer William Winter and U.S. Rep. John Bell Williams headed today for a runoff battle for the governorship of Mississippi after outdistancing the other five candidates in the race.

With almost 62 per cent of the state's precincts reporting, Winter and Williams each held a commanding lead of some 50,000 votes over their nearest rival.

Mississippi Negroes scored their biggest victories since Reconstruction days. More than 50 Negroes ran for local and county offices throughout the state and several triumphed over white opponents.

In the governor's race, former Gov. Ross Barnett, 69, whose efforts to block integration of the University of Mississippi in 1962 made him a national figure, trailed badly and was out of contention. "He had campaigned vigorously.

With 1,100 of 2,124 precincts reporting, Winter had 98,061 votes, Williams 90,262 and country music singer James "Little Jimmy" Swan 49,404. Swan had promised free segregated private schools if elected, and it was believed he cut deeply into Barnett's expected vote.

Barnett was running fourth, with 31,120 votes, and Dist. Atty. William Waller of Jackson fifth with 27,229. The other two candidates, Vernon Brown and C. McKinley, received only a token vote.

The Negro victories came in counties where they rarely predominate. In Claiborne County, Calvin Williams, a Negro, received enough votes to gain the runoff for sheriff. In the same county, Negroes won Democratic nominations for chancery clerk, justice of the peace, constable, and county supervisor. They have no Republican opposition.

In Adams County, the Rev. W. S. Scott, a Negro minister, won the nomination for justice of the peace, beating three white men. Sandy Nealy, another Negro, won the nomination for District constable. Neither has GOP opposition.

Four Negroes won runoff spots against whites for various Madison County posts.

Although Negroes turned out in record numbers generally, there was no way of telling at this time how many of the estimated 185,000 on the rolls actually voted.

The runoff-primary for candidates not receiving a majority in Tuesday's voting is scheduled Aug. 22.

The Democratic nominee for governor will face Republican Rubel Phillips in the November general election. Phillips, the only Republican seeking a state level office, ran a strong race four years ago as the GOP candidate for governor.

First Editor Of Time Dies At Age Of 60

SIASCONSET, Mass. (AP) — Frank C. Norris, an original editor of Time magazine, prize-winning novelist and originator of Smokey the Bear, died Tuesday at his summer home on Nanucket Island. He was 60.

He was born in 1907 in Knoxville, Tenn. His winter home was Willowbrook Farm in Millbrook, N.Y.

Cause of death was not given. Norris was graduated from Princeton University in 1929.

He joined the staff of Time as a writer and later served as managing editor and as director of the radio program, "March of Time."

He became an editor of Newsweek and left journalism in 1954 for fiction writing. His novel, "Tower in the West," won the Harper Prize in 1958.

Norris originated Smokey the Bear for a campaign against forest fires while working for Time.

Kootenai Unit Named In Complaint

COEUR D'ALENE, Idaho (AP) — The Kootenai County Commission was named Tuesday in a First District Court complaint charging it with illegal leasing of county property.

Coeur d'Alene Downs, Inc., President Joseph G. Hansen of Wendell, Idaho, said his complaint charged that the Kootenai County Fairgrounds race track was leased to the Coeur d'Alene Turf Club without a specified rental charge and without public notice or public auction.

Coeur d'Alene Downs is also a horse-racing promotion group. The Idaho Horse Racing Committee was named in a Fourth District complaint filed by Hansen earlier, in which he asked that the committee be compelled to give Coeur d'Alene Downs 80 days of racing in 1968.

Hansen contended the committee had earlier approved the 80-day schedule, but then changed its mind and gave Coeur d'Alene Downs 45 days and the Coeur d'Alene Turf Club 20 days.

As a result of the committee's first decision, he said, his firm had proceeded with plans for a $2 million race track near Coeur d'Alene in North Idaho.

No Criminal Acts Established Over Missing Money

Investigation into the missing $115 from the Twin Falls City Water Department has failed to indicate any criminal acts were involved, acting chief of Police Roy Lindell said Tuesday.

He said his department was asked to investigate the shortage several weeks ago when it was discovered by the city's accountant, Eldon Evans. Apparently, the police officer said, an employee of the department made an error in cashing a check or in a similar transaction.

It may be possible, he said, that someone cashed a check and returned the $115 in change and the patron then picked up the check in error as he or she left the office.

Buhl Man Is Jailed After Police Chase

A 28-year old Buhl man was in Twin Falls police custody Wednesday morning charged with first degree burglary following a chase by city and county officers that ended in an early morning traffic accident that involved one city police car.

Jerry B. Fish, 28, 901 Locust St., Buhl, was arrested early Wednesday morning following an accident at the junction of U.S. 93 and U.S. 30 west of Twin Falls, and charged with first degree burglary. He requested a preliminary hearing and was being held in city custody in lieu of $5,000 bond.

City police were called to the Beacon Club, 377 Second Ave. E., and as they arrived a light colored small foreign vehicle sped away. Officers gave chase and followed the vehicle west of town where officer Dennis Robinett, driving the pursuit vehicle, was aided by another city vehicle driven by Darryl Cameron.

As officer Cameron pulled around the small vehicle in an attempt to force it to stop, the two collided.

Damage was estimated at $200 to the vehicle driven by Fish, and about $80 to the city vehicle driven by Officer Cameron. The other city vehicle was not involved in the accident.

County officers, also assisting in the pursuit, investigated the accident and cited Fish with failure to yield to an emergency vehicle with flashing red light.

City police said coins were scattered about the floor of the Beacon Club, and bills and coins were spilled on the floor of the vehicle driven by Fish, and also spilled on the pavement after the accident.

Officers recovered money bags containing about $75 but were still investigating the full loss of the burglary.

The accident occurred at 1:27 a.m., police reports show, and the burglary was reported shortly after 1 a.m.

Synopsis, Farm Summary

A touch of fall entered the weather picture in our valleys as a few more overnight readings lowered into the 30s. Fairfield reported 34 degrees followed by 37-degree readings at Pocatello and the ABQ site near Arco. Aberdeen had a minimum reading of 38 and Rexburg 39 degrees.

Higher pressure aloft will keep Pacific storms moving to the north of us. Some moisture drifting up from the south will increase thundershower activity in the mountain areas on Thursday and may move into eastern valley areas on Friday. However, rainfall amounts are expected to be light and spotty.

Maximum temperatures today will be in the 80s to mid 90s and on Thursday will be in the mid 80s into the 90s. Minimum temperatures tonight will be in the mid 40s into the 50s.

Farm activities can continue without interruptions due to weather the next couple of days. Irrigation schedules should be maintained with warmer weather in progress.

Five-Day Forecast

Higher pressure aloft is being erage 85 per cent or more of coming stronger again over the western states and will continue to afford protection against major storm systems in our valleys.

Temperatures Thursday through Monday will average from four to eight degrees above normal in southwestern Idaho valleys to two to five degrees above normal in Southeastern and Southeastern Idaho valleys. Daytime warming today and Thursday will give way to a short period of cooler weather Saturday and Sunday. Maximum temperatures on warmer days will be in the mid 80s and 90s but will lower into the 80s and low 90s over the weekend. Nighttime temperatures will be mostly in the mid 40s into the 50s. Some normal maximum temperatures for this period are Boise 90-56, Gooding 90-57, Twin Falls 90-52, Burley 88-51, Pocatello 89-54 and Idaho Falls 85-51.

Precipitation will continue to be rather light and spotty. A chance for scattered showers and thundershowers is expected Friday and again possible on Saturday but amounts will be less than .10 of an inch and quite spotty.

Sunshine will continue to average 85 per cent or more of light most days but will increase at times into the weekend becoming gusty in vicinity of thundershowers. Evaporation rates will continue — of an inch or more with a slight decrease during cooler weather over the weekend.

Farm activities and crop growth and development should continue to make normal progress during this five-day period. Grain harvest and hay operations in eastern valleys may experience an occasional temporary delay due to some increase in shower activity around Friday.

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — The most intense earth shock ever recorded in Denver shook sections of the city today and was felt by residents as far as 120 miles away.

Dr. Maurice Major of the Colorado School of Mines said the quake registered 5.3 on the Richter scale. The worst previous shock was 5 on April 10.

There were no immediate reports of injuries or serious damage. One Denver householder said the tremor knocked over a bookcase in his home.

Youth Night Is Observed At Crusade

"Joshua fit de battle of Jericho... and de walls came a tumblin' down" was the opening song presented by soloist Lee Robbins at Tuesday night's Magic Valley Crusade. Not only did he have musical accompaniment, played by pianist Eddie Thomas—he also had unexpected action just before the song.

Mel Quale, sound technician, seated at the sound booth near the cloth partition on the platform, apparently moved his chair too close to the edge, and shortly before Mr. Robbins began the song, Mr. Quale, chair and all, fell through the partition to the ground.

He landed on his back, but apparently he suffered slight, if any, injuries, for he ascended the platform and resumed his work at the sound booth.

Scripture reading, led by Rev. Harold Wilcox, Gooding Nazarene Church, was followed by the prayer offered by Rev. Fred Stiles. Announcements concerning youth achievement trophies were made by John Cortis, Crusade associate.

Prior to Dr. John Wesley White's address, Mr. Norman Garlington, chairman of the local Crusade committee, read a telegram from evangelist Billy Graham, wishing success to the Magic Valley Crusade.

As it was Youth Night, Dr. White's remarks centered around the problems facing young people, and how these problems could be solved if more people would find Christ while they are young.

"The real danger today is not riots—not Vietnam; it's the vacuum in the lives of young people," said Dr. White, citing examples of youths without anything to do, or a creed in which to believe, two of the main causes of drug addiction and LSD "trips."

He invited an estimated 1,750 persons to "come to appear before the Lord... in the place that He shall choose," quoting Deuteronomy 31:11. Forty-seven went to the front following his address, requesting follow-up services.

Wednesday will be "Delegations Night," according to Mr. Cortis. Each member of Tuesday's audience was asked to bring 12 people to Wednesday's meeting.

Each person who brings 12 people to Wednesday's meeting will receive a souvenir pen from the Crusade, Mr. Cortis said.

Clerk Hired

PAUL — Mrs. Theo Tibbitts, Paul, has been hired village deputy clerk here, and replaces Mrs. Norman Edwards, who resigned this month.

SHOSHONE ROTARY CLUB members working on the club's special project for the year, are from left, John Thomas, Kenneth Blackburn, Ferry Hadlock and Leon Grieve. The park shelter is now nearing completion at the Mary L. Gooding Park in Shoshone. The shelter will have a cement slab floor 24 by 46-foot with an overhanging roof.

Shoshone Rotary Club Is Constructing Park Shelter

SHOSHONE — Typical of the Shoshone Rotary club's activity for community improvement, a new park shelter is nearing completion at the Mary L. Gooding park, being constructed by the club members.

The shelter will have a 24-foot wide and 46-foot long cement slab floor with an overhanging roof. There will be no sides and the shelter is mainly for the purpose of protection as shade or from rain.

The floor will be made smooth enough that youths may dance there or the Old Time Fiddlers may have a square dance exhibition there when they hold their jamborees each year. If desired, the area may even be painted for a shuffle board.

Committee members for the project include Leon Grieve, chairman, John Thomas, Herb Love, Wilson Churchman and Ferry Hadlock. Other club members assist with the work as work parties are held.

The idea for the shelter was initiated by Grieve about two years ago after he had attended a Reclamation tour and during a rain storm in Vale, Ore., found such a shelter a real help to their party.

He proposed the idea to the club, then set about seeking details for construction, by visiting other parks for a look at their shelters. Grieve said E. I. Shaw continued to urge him along with the project also.

Grieve was president of the club last year and his successor Ferry Hadlock continued with the idea this summer to continue with the project.

Three years ago, with Harrell Thorne president of the club, Rotarians built two cement slabs and picnic table areas on the lawn at the court house. Every day tourists use the facilities for their stop-off to rest and eat lunch.

Grieve said Hadlock indicates they will have the park shelter ready by the last Wednesday evening in August, to set-up their facilities for a picnic for Ladies' Night.

Progress Of T. F. Water System Listed

At least two of the city's three contractors on the current phase of the water improvement project are progressing at a good rate, City Manager Herb Derrick told city commission members Monday night.

He said Kloefer Construction Co. is 61 per cent complete on the installation of the large pipeline and intake structures and according to his contract should be at the 55 per cent mark.

Crom Prestressing is now 34 per cent complete despite the two accidents at the construction site which set them back almost to the beginning. At this point the firm should be 69 per cent complete, but is gaining rapidly, Mr. Derrick said.

Newell J. Olsen and Sons, Logan, are 11 per cent complete and should be 37 per cent through with the pumping stations. They are delayed because of difficulty in deliveries of equipment and steel.

The city authorized payment of $44,557.03 to Kloefer Construction; $32,726.22 for Crom Prestressing and $20,453 to Olsen for work accomplished to date.

Free Parking

POCATELLO (AP) — Effective Aug. 14, motorists will get an extra two hours of free parking on city streets.

The city council has approved a resolution to change the starting time for parking meters from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. The action was taken following a request from downtown merchants.

"The purpose of meters is to control and regulate traffic," said City Attorney Gerald Olson. "At that time of the morning, traffic is so light, the meters are not necessary."

WASHINGTON — There must be Republicans, huddled, fretfully in the exile imposed by the all-conquering Democrats, who are newly toying with the idea of nominating George Romney for President just so they can send Leonore Romney into battle.

Mrs. Romney, it is now clear, is the crowd pleaser in the family. While the Governor delivers himself of vaguely noble pronouncements on Valley Forge and the benefits of Sunday School, his wife gets down to the brasses of tacks and talks to the folks in language they can understand. She is not afraid to be emotional, and she has made the discovery savored by all authentic professionals in the business of politics that anger can be an asset.

Leonore Romney has left no doubt that she is mad at Lyndon Johnson for his "explanation" that he sent federal troops to riot-torn Detroit only because George Romney admitted he was unable to cope with the situation. In the process, she has struck back at the President with a countering implication that he played politics with the riot.

"I watched my husband for 11-hours wait for those troops to be sent into the city," Mrs. Romney told the International Platform Association. Her message was clear, to wit, that Johnson had dilly-dallied while Detroit burned in an attempt to avoid personal and political involvement in the mess.

Mrs. Romney, of course, may be wrong. There has been such a plethora of conflicting testimony that the argument may never be settled. But that is beside the point. What Mrs. Romney did was to present George Romney's case in language that gained for her husband more sympathy than anything he himself could have said.

After his wife's outburst, George Romney's testimony on television that he had been assured by Attorney General Ramsey Clark that a verbal request for troops was all that was needed seemed blandly anti-climatic. Leonore Romney had already called a spade a spade, in simple declarative sentences.

"My husband used all his powers," said Mrs. Romney. "He called up the National Guard, but it wasn't enough to quell the riot. We have only 8,000 (in the Guard); there were 14,000 for little Watts. I should think the President would have been glad he could help."

This is devastating stuff, even

If it ignores what the White House has insisted were the legal complications involved, it is devastating because when a riot is raging the plain citizen is not interested in listening to a lot of legal jargon; he wants action. Leonore Romney may not have been familiar with lawyer talk, but she knew a city was in flames and she wanted something done about it.

Every faithful wife in the country knew what Leonore Romney was talking about when she said, "I feel the President never understood my husband. He never could have understood him if he laid the blame at his feet." It is plain language like that, stirred well with glandular juices, that wins votes—as another charming and plain-spoken woman named Lady Bird Johnson has discovered.

George Romney, at this writing, may not be the best possible Republican candidate for President. Sometimes, indeed, he suggests that he doesn't know how to run for the job. But he looked pretty good in Detroit, and he's got Leonore on his side, a campaigner who is not about to take any back talk from the opposition.

"Don't Worry, It's In A Good Cause!"

Rockefeller And The Rats

NEW YORK — It was more than a coincidence that Gov. Nelson Rockefeller announced a rat extermination program for New York state after the House of Representatives in Washington had laughed a federal program off the floor. Rockefeller is setting out to show that his state can do what must be done to reshape urban life and the rat program is the first step.

The governor moved quickly to get the support of Republican and Democratic leaders in the legislature for an emergency $1,500,000 as a start on a $4,500,000 "total war" on rats. New York City with a population of Norway rats—18 inches from nose to tail, roughly equal to the 8,000,000 people in the city will get more than half the amount.

Water pollution, rapid transit, highways, housing—these are the areas in which Rockefeller is moving with the concept of "pre-financing." Through bond issues and tax resources—the state pays the initial bill and then, hopefully, is repaid in considerable part by the federal government when federal programs are funded. This is big money—$2.7 billion for a transit development that will replace the patchwork system in the city's vast urban reaches, at least $1.5 billion for water pollution.

Along with most governors, Rockefeller is not happy over the reluctance in Washington to come forward with a massive proposal to meet the challenge of the breakdown in the city slums. But he holds back on criticism because he understands the enormity of the troubles the Johnson administration confronts. And he knows all too well—President Johnson hardly needed to remind him of it when they talked the other day—that most of his fellow Republicans in Congress have voted with Southern Democrats to block the Johnson urban programs.

"I'm an optimist, Rockefeller says as he talks about how the state is moving in one field after another. At the climax of the water pollution program in seven years the filthy Hudson River will be clean enough to swim in. Railway tracks along the Hudson will be depressed so that, for the first time, parts of the shore will be accessible for recreation. High-speed commuter trains will be coordinated with a rebuilt subway system.

This does not get at the overwhelming problem, which is rebuilding the slums. Here Rockefeller has been pushing efforts to combine private enterprise, giving tax and other incentives, with a state and federal attack. He and Mayor John V. Lindsay have not been able to agree on a proposal to rebuild a 15-block area owned by the city in Lower Manhattan with low and middle-cost housing, plus commercial development through a $600,000 bond issue.

But New York can do this, critics say, because New York is perhaps the richest state in the union with resources well beyond that of most of the other 49. Not true, the governor insists. He has checked out per capita income of six big city states and the variation is slight.

What it comes down to in the Rockefeller view is, first, the willingness to tax and, second, ingenuity in methods such as pre-financing and enlisting all elements to get jobs done. New York has a graduated income tax up to 10 per cent, the highest in the country with one exception. In addition, a sales tax is meshed in with varying city sales taxes to run as high in some areas as four or five per cent.

When he carried a higher tax program through the legislature after his re-election to a second term Rockefeller drew a storm of protest. The voters had been led to believe he would not raise taxes.

All that is long gone. Although the pros had begun to count him out and Sen. Jacob Javits was casting a covetous eye on the governorship, Rockefeller won a third term by a plurality of 392,263. As he has said again and again—and again—he is not a candidate for president, continuing to give all his support to his fellow-Republican governor, George Romney of Michigan. At the proper time Rockefeller will write the required letters taking himself out of the presidential preference, primaries—in Wisconsin, Nebraska and Oregon. As to a possible write-in for Rockefeller in the New Hampshire primary, he knows—from hard experience that write-ins, such as that for Henry Cabot Lodge in 1960, do not happen by accident.

It is this posture that gives Rockefeller a relaxed view of the political scene. What if he succeeds in showing that a state can take the measures so urgently needed to strike a decent balance? Wouldn't this put him forward as a likely presidential candidate at the convention next year? The odds are strongly against it, Rockefeller believes. Yet it cannot be ruled out, since increasingly he appears as the man on the Republican horizon with far and away the most knowledge in both foreign and domestic matters.

JAMES MARLOW

About Three Men

WASHINGTON (AP)—Three men symbolize the struggle for the mind and the progress of the American Negro. All three are Negroes: Clarence Mitchell, Stokely Carmichael and H. Rap Brown.

Mitchell has worked almost his whole adult life for justice and peaceful solution through law and order for Negroes. Carmichael and Brown are apostles of violence.

These men illuminate not only the different roads they have chosen to follow—and the kind of appeal they make to the Negro mind—but the choice Negroes have open to them.

"The haters, both white and non-white," Mitchell said Wednesday night in a talk in Atlanta, "are now operating on the same wave-length. They both want to re-segregate the country."

"They are a small minority, but they are a dangerous minority. They are dangerous because some of them are reckless enough to carry out wild schemes of destruction."

The Associated Press reported that in a three-hour news conference, from which U.S. reporters were barred, Carmichael said in Cuba where he is the guest of Fidel Castro:

"One good thing about the Vietnam war he never served in it since he was never drafted is that the United States has taught us how to kill."

He called for Negro guerrilla uprisings in this country.

Brown, charged with inciting to riot in Cambridge, Md., but free on bond while he awaits an extradition hearing on the charge, made a speech in Cambridge immediately before the riot July 24.

Wednesday the Cambridge chief of police, Bruce Kinnamon, told the Senate Judiciary Committee Brown's speech was not only inflammatory but was "the sole reason for our riot."

Kinnamon produced a recorded speech which, the police chief said, Brown made to the Cambridge Negroes. In part it said:

"I mean, don't be trying to love that hunky white man to death; shoot him to death, 'cause that's what he's out to do you. Do to him what he would like to do to you, but do it to him first."

Brown reportedly said the town should be burned down but advised his listeners to do the burning in the white sections of Cambridge.

Mitchell is 57 but he has been working-for-the-advancement-of Negroes for 30 years, which is longer than Brown, 23, and Carmichael, 26, have been alive.

He worked for government, state and Negro agencies—all involved in Negro problems—and 22 years ago he went with the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

He has been the NAACP's Washington representative since then. His is hardly a private life. He lives in Baltimore where he has a wife, Juanita, an NAACP lawyer there, and four sons, comes to Washington every day and works until 8 o'clock at night or later with senators and representatives on bills affecting Negroes, goes to committee hearings to testify or listen, or to see Justice Department lawyers, or to the White House, or to various meetings, and then on weekends has to fly around the country to attend meetings.

This has been his life 22 years, day in and out. He is a husky man with a temper he keeps controlled. He is not doing it for money. The NAACP is not a place to get rich. He has dedicated his life to this job.

It was the NAACP which, after years of preliminary test cases leading up to the big one, got the Supreme Court in 1954 to outlaw segregation as unconstitutional. This cut the barrier to Negro progress.

If it weren't for the work of Mitchell and the NAACP, Negroes in America would probably be as segregated today as they were 100 years ago.

It was this decision which made it possible for Carmichael and Brown to assert themselves although they look upon the NAACP people as a bunch of outdated Uncle Toms.

Brown, who had a good scholastic record but didn't finish college, is from Louisiana and this year succeeded Carmichael as chairman of the Student Non-violent Coordinating Committee—a ridiculous name for it now.

He left school to work in the civil rights drive in Mississippi. At first pictured as shy, he picked up audacity as he went along.

Carmichael, a citizen, although born in the West Indies, finished college. He, too, got his early training in the civil rights drive in Mississippi. Last year he authored the phrase "Black Power."

But last year he hemmed and hawed about admitting he advocated violence. Not any more—and now he is said to command fees of $1,000 or more for some of his appearances.

Soviet Logic

What the Kremlin hoped to gain by arming and backing the Arab world in its holy struggle against Israel seems fairly clear: In the long run, to detach that region from Western influence and bring it under its own; in the short run, if war broke out, either to bog the United States down in another Vietnam-type situation or to expose this country's impotence if it did not come to Israel's aid.

Having failed so miserably in at least its short-run objectives, it is not so clear why the Kremlin is throwing good rubles after bad in massive replenishing of Arab arms.

According to a variety of "informed sources," the Soviet Union is rebuilding the shattered Arab military machine not to foment another war but to restore the balance of power in the Middle East—to remove the temptation from the Israelis to resume fighting and completely vanquish the Arabs while they enjoy a momentary preponderance of power.

If this analysis of Soviet thinking is accurate, it indicates that the Russians are locked up in a tight little world of logic that is impervious to outside reality.

No balance of power existed in the Middle East before the six-day war in June. Had Israel elected to maintain a purely defensive stance, had it accepted a war of attrition, had it not moved to wipe out Arab air power in one lightning stroke, it would inevitably have been bled to death and overwhelmed.

A balance of power exists now. Israel with its 2½ millions cannot conquer 100 million Arabs and occupy their countries. But neither can 100 million Arabs—at least for the present—defeat Israel in the field.

Because of the war, the possibility of lasting peace in the Middle East is greater than it has been for 20 years. Yet every shipment of Russian arms reduces that possibility proportionately.

Nothing illustrates the sheer futility and waste of the East-West rivalry so forcefully as the temporarily adjourned war in the Middle East and the continuing war in Vietnam.

Unable to confront each other directly because that would mean mutual suicide, the United States and Russia fight by proxy in every trouble spot that exists on the face of the globe. Unable significantly to advance past the limits that were staked out in the early years of the Cold War, yet unable to let go of the hope of doing so, they are like dogs chasing their tails.

Nothing illustrates the basic foolishness, and ultimate danger, of East-West rivalry as graphically as Premier Kosygin's hopping on the Hot Line to assure President Johnson that Russia would not go to war in the Middle East.

If it does not want to meet us in a big war, then let it join us in a cooperative effort to rid the world of its small wars, or at least to refrain from pouring gasoline on ever fire that erupts.

Unfortunately, fear and distrust and dreams of a Communist world order still motivate the Kremlin planners, engendering a corresponding reaction in us. Not until they break out of this circle of logic—perhaps not until the Russian people are allowed to govern themselves and determine their nation's policies—will the dogs stop chasing their tails.

The trouble is, these are big dogs, and a lot of little dogs get mauled in the process.

Travel By Rail

There are innovations in transportation, tantalizing glimpses of things to come, if the money holds out.

In New York City, a lucky few beamed in the unprecedented comfort of four experimental air-conditioned subway cars. If they meet tests, the city will order 200. Each costs $165,000, so it may take some time before New York can replace the 4,000 subway cars now cooled only by whatever air remains in subterranean Manhattan.

On a more luxurious scale is the new railroad coach unveiled in Philadelphia. Designed for the high-speed trains the Pennsylvania will introduce on its New York-Washington run in the autumn, these air-conditioned, soundproof cars, with slumber-soft seats, fetch $420,000.

During a two-year experiment, the trains will travel at 110 miles an hour, much below their capability of 157 miles—but fast enough to cut 25 minutes off the present running time. The Pennsy hopes the trains will be more competitive with planes in the congested Northeast corridor.

Finally, the Port of New York Authority and the Metropolitan Commuter Transportation Authority exhibited another experimental vehicle, a rail bus which can operate on railroad tracks as well as on highways. If all goes well, the rail bus will connect Kennedy International with Manhattan air-passenger terminals.

All these developments represent progress in making travel by rail more comfortable and attractive.

PUFF AWAY, FRIEND

Idaho smokers, along with those over the rest of the country, continue to merrily puff their way along the hazardous road to lung cancer, heart attacks and strokes.

Despite the determined efforts of doctors, the U.S. Surgeon General and well-meaning congressmen, Americans shrugged off all health scares and smoked a record 545 billion cigarettes in the 12 months ending in June.

But it's an ill wind that bodes no good—or something like that.

Robert L. Strickman, inventor of the new cigarette filter which he claims can reduce inhaled tar and nicotine by an average of 70 per cent more than filters now in use, has turned over major interests in the filter to Columbia University.

And, according to a story in this week's Advertising Age magazine, Columbia stands to gain an estimated $272,000,000 a year in royalties from a licensing agreement when it obtains one.

Further according to Advertising Age, all major cigarette companies except one are intensely negotiating for the filter.

And irony heaped on irony, the university plans to use any royalties for medical research, particularly in cancer studies.

Meanwhile, sponsors of the legislation that makes it mandatory that cigarette packages carry the warning: "Caution: Cigarette smoking may be hazardous to your health," admit it has been a dismal failure. And the Federal Communications Commission, the Federal Trade Commission, the television industry and the radio industry are all still busily occupied with restrictive codes on cigarette advertising.

They don't seem to be getting anyplace, either. — Idaho State Journal.

THANKS TO MEXICAN SEED

The Alliance for Progress proposes that the republics it helps provide help for others. Not many Latin American states have improved their resources to this point, but Mexico is one. Mexico has progressed from a wheat-importing country to a wheat-exporting country, and now is helping Pakistan toward similar self-sufficiency.

In 1965 Pakistan spent $100,000 for seed for dwarf wheat which, suitable for arid climates, was grown so successfully by Mexico. That year 350 tons of Mexican seed planted on 12,000 Pakistani acres produced 18,000 metric tons of wheat, four times the usual yield. Pakistan now hopes for self-sufficiency in 1968.

Mexico's International Center for Maize and Wheat Improvement deserves worldwide congratulations for this example of the export of know-how, proving that effective foreign aid is not the monopoly of great powers. Nor should it be. — St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

All Conclusions

NEW YORK (AP)—Jumping to conclusions: You have a better likelihood of living longer if you spend your rainy Sunday mornings in a church rather than on a golf course. Very few people have been struck by lightning while sitting in a pew and listening to a sermon.

If all the people who've rushed away to the country knew how pleasant Manhattan is without them, they'd all come rushing right back.

There are no innocent bystanders at a race riot. Anyone who tries to remain a bystander at a riot is certainly guilty, at the least, of foolishness.

If they had it to do over again, six out of 10 men would prefer to marry a red-haired girl with freckles. The trouble is there aren't enough of them to go around.

There is nothing more ignorant than refusing to go to a doctor for fear he'll find something wrong with you. But there are thousands upon thousands of middle-aged Americans who are that dumb.

Chicken salad has replaced hash as the most mysterious dish on restaurant menus. Even a gourmet can't tell by the taste what it's really made of.

Guys who sport sideburns are straddlers and compromisers. They don't want to look like the majority of mankind, but lack the courage to grow a beard and be really different.

Most men who lunch at delicatessens usually eat the dill pickle on the plate. Most women don't.

Orthodontists and psychoanalysts are probably the most competitive of all professional people. They rarely think anyone else in the same line of work really knows his stuff.

The men who know women at their worst are bartenders, hairdressers, and supermarket managers. And who knows women at their best? Their children.

"It's a dog's world," says a friend of mine. "It costs me $2.50 to go to the barber, but I have to pay from $12 to $14 to get my French poodle trimmed."

WAYNE BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Asthma Sufferers

The treatment of asthma is not all pills and aerosols, immunizing injections and air filters.

Dr. Irving Itkin and Martin Nacman of the National Jewish Hospital in Denver have studied the effects of exercise and have concluded that in the past the suffering of many asthmatics has been increased by insistence on bed rest. Although bed rest has its place in the treatment of some diseases, it can produce harmful results as well.

This has led surgeons to get their patients up within a short time after most operations, has led to allowing a child with a fever more latitude than we used to and has even led to getting patients with heart disease up in a chair.

In a normal person exercise increases the depth and rate of breathing and the amount of oxygen consumed. The same is true of asthmatics. Dr. Itkin studied a series of 39 adolescent patients with chronic asthma. They were allowed to engage in the normal activities connected with their hospitalization but no additional physical exercise for three months. Then for three months they took two hours a day of conditioning exercise five days a week. One hour was devoted to calisthenics and one hour to supervised sports.

No patient had any ill effects from the exercise. Although there was no difference in the amount of medication required during the two periods, 75 per cent showed an increase in the amount of oxygen used and 67 per cent showed an increase in physical endurance while on the exercises. All the patients felt better in general as a result of their exercise. A program of exercises cannot be recommended, however, for any asthmatic whose skin has a bluish tinge when he is at rest nor for any who are taking cortisone.

Exercises between asthmatic attacks not only improved the physical condition of these patients but also dispelled the fear of activity that has been implanted in many of them and gave them a psychological boost and added zest for living. Furthermore, it prepared them to meet the stress of other illnesses in better physical condition.

Demo Chief Slams Work Legislation

BOISE (AP) — The Democratic State Chairman voiced opposition Tuesday to so-called "right-to-work" legislation and urged his Republican counterpart to do the same.

"The Democratic party," said Chairman E. T. Waters, of Boise, "has long been on record in opposition to this kind of divisive legislation."

"Right-to-work laws are as much a threat to management as they are to organized labor, and they are equally inimical to the consumer, whose interests are best served by labor-management stability."

"The consuming public in Idaho need have nothing to fear from this apparent resurgence of right-to-work extremism were it not for the fact that many Republican leaders have long given it furtive support."

"Should this flirtation continue, it may well embolden the extremists to attempt to make Idaho once again a bloody battleground for labor-management warfare."

"I call on the state's Republican leadership to join me in pledging clear and unequivocal opposition to the right-to-work movement."

Son-Trading Effort Turns Into Program

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — An effort to trade their 14-year-old son for another teenager has ballooned into a nationwide youth exchange program for Mr. and Mrs. Jules Williams of East Lansing.

It wasn't planned that way. Mr. and Mrs. Williams merely placed a small ad in the Humanist magazine offering to swap their son Brian for another family's teen-age son or daughter for a year.

In the past week, the family has been flooded with replies to the ad — so many the parents decided to start a clearing agency, the American Youth Exchange, to arrange similar trades for other teenagers and their families.

"We weren't trying to get rid of Brian. He's not rowdy or dissatisfied," said Mrs. Williams. "He's come to take this community's advantages for granted. Having him live with another family in another community will help him become aware of the opportunities available."

Brian, a bright, mop-top 6-footer who considers East Lansing "a drag," is "very enthusiastic" about being traded, said his father. Tentative arrangements for a trade have been made with a family in California.

Yost Talks To Burley Chamber

BURLEY—Max Yost, executive manager of Associated Taxpayers of Idaho, was guest speaker during the Monday noon luncheon meeting of the Burley Chamber of Commerce at Bryan's Cafe. Robert Saxvik, vice president, presided.

Palmer Saterstrom, Chamber of Commerce Fair committee chairman, reported that the exhibition building is full for this year. Merchants, clerks and residents are urged to dress in western clothes all this week and the week of the Cassia County Fair. Store windows are to be decorated using a Western theme.

The Cassia County Fair is Aug. 16-19 with pari-mutuel horse racing all four afternoons and the County Western Jamboree on opening night and rodeo three nights. Help is still needed to man the windows of the pari-mutuel booths the four afternoons and those wishing to assist are to contact Mr. Saterstrom or Ted Kelsey, fair board chairman.

Elwood Rich, Burley, introduced Mr. Yost, who presented a brief history of the budget for the state from 1959 to 1969. Mr. Yost gave a tax analysis of Cassia County, which included school district No. 151 and the City of Burley.

The roll back or adjustment of levies to compensate for the increase in assessed valuation resulting from the equalization effort during 1966 in Cassia county amounted to $376,478 less taxes than there would have been had there been no roll back, Mr. Yost reported.

For example, he said in 1966 the equalization effort on property within School District No. 151 resulted in an assessed valuation increase of $4,213,627. It was the intent of the legislature that no additional taxes accrue to the units of government by reason of the equalization effort, and to compensate for this increase in assessed valuation, the levy was rolled back from approximately $5.036 to $4.2265 per $100 assessed value, or the equivalent of $180,684 in property taxes for all funds for which the school district is allowed to levy.

During 1962-63 the tax levy for School District No. 151 equaled $4,686; in 1963-64 it was $5,0856;

1964-65 it was $5,161; 1965-66 it was $63.7 million and has in 1966-67 it is increased to $164.9 million for $4,2265. This means a tax charge of $803,182 for 1962-63 with a steady increase through the years. Mr. Yost presented on a chart an additional $63,114,324 in new taxes will be needed to balance the state general fund for 1969-71 biennium.

On the state basis Mr. Yost reported on the steady increase of the general fund budget. During 1959 the general fund budget-

Mr. Yost urged a meeting of Cassia County taxpayers, county officials and city officials in September.

Woman Held Hostage By 2 Prisoners

TUCKER, Ga. (AP) — Two escaped prisoners held a terrified young woman hostage for nearly three hours Tuesday, most of the time with a gun at her throat, before law enforcement officers talked them into surrendering on a crowded interstate highway.

The dental receptionist, Martha Ann Mobley, 20, collapsed into the arms of police and ambulance attendants screaming, "Thank God! Thank God!" after her captors freed her.

Officers said the leader of the two convicts, James S. Lowe, 23, cocked and uncocked the .38-caliber revolver he held at Miss Mobley's head as they pleaded with him to let her go. They said he also threatened to kill his fellow escapee, Bobby Joel Jerry Yarbrough, 23.

POLICE OFFICERS escort a shaken Martha Jo Mobley, center, after the dental technician was released by two prisoners who held her hostage for several hours Tuesday night near Tucker, Ga., northeast of Atlanta. Officers said the convicts overpowered their guards while receiving dental treatment and escaped with the officers' guns and the woman. (AP wire-photo)

State Patrol Maj. Porter Weaver said Lowe told him, "You don't think I'll kill this girl, do you? I think I'll just kill this fellow with me to show you that I mean business."

Lowe first demanded that he be allowed to escape in a car with the woman and a policeman accompanying him, then demanded to see Gov. Lester Maddox, to whom four escaped convicts surrendered several months ago at the governor's mansion to dramatize alleged poor prison conditions. The incident touched off a probe of prison conditions.

Miss Mobley's ordeal began when the two Stone Mountain prison camp convicts were taken to the office of a Tucker dentist, Dr. Robert D. Hiller.

At Hiller's office, officers said, Lowe pulled a knife and forced a guard to hand over his pistol. He and Yarbrough forced Miss Mobley, Hiller's receptionist, to flee with them in the prison's pick-up truck in a high-speed chase on Interstate 85 through evening rush hour traffic.

Police from Norcross shot three of the truck's tires and it swerved to a halt just off the highway near the DeKalb-Gwinnett county line.

Lowe fired several shots at police, officers said, then held them off with the gun at the woman's throat. He ordered a police car moved, threatening to kill the girl.

Lowe said he would talk with FBI agent Richard Davis, who had been questioning him in recent days in connection with a federal violation. Police summoned Davis and the agent and Weaver pleaded with Lowe.

"We talked a long time," said Weaver, bodyguard to former Gov. Carl Sanders and now head of the patrol. "I lost all track of time. We convinced them that no matter how bad things were now, it would be much worse for them both if he killed the girl or one of us."

Weaver said Lowe finally surrendered after he was promised some minor concessions such as being taken to the west wing of the DeKalb County Jail where he said he had some friends, and being allowed to talk to a special solicitor he considered a friend.

Fire Damages Building At Heyburn

PAUL—A brick building formerly occupied by the C and C Chemical business was gutted by fire about noon Monday.

One of the early landmarks located on the old main street at Paul, the building was owned by the Boise Payette Lumber Co. many years ago. The late Oscar Nelson used to relate early day experiences concerning the building's history to local residents when he owned it.

The building is reportedly owned by Ray Goff and it was not learned if the loss was covered by insurance.

According to Fire Chief Alvin Stimpson, someone was burning weeds near the building and apparently the wind blew flames near a wooden door on the side of the building carrying the fire to the interior.

Inflation Or Higher Taxes Are Two Choices

By JOSEPH R. COYNE
—WASHINGTON (AP) — Inflation or higher taxes—a variation of the old law of supply and demand—is the choice President Johnson gives Congress in urging adoption of a 10 per cent income tax surcharge.

Failure to approve higher taxes, the administration contends, could only lead to spiraling inflation.

The economic effect of a potential budget deficit of $29 billion—the ultimate possible figure presented by Johnson—is governed in a free economy by a basic law of economics.

Briefly stated, when the supply of goods is plentiful and the demand low, the price will be low. But when the supply is short and demand high the price will rise.

One top government official said prices are expected to rise further in coming months—but not as much as last year—even if taxes are raised.

Here basically is what government economists think would happen if the deficit reached $29 billion:

The Treasury Department would be forced to borrow the money in a market where interest rates have already soared to near last year's heights because of heavy borrowing by corporations and state and local governments.

Because of the law of supply and demand this would push interest rates even higher.

Money would be diverted from the mortgage market into these more lucrative investments and the housing industry, now struggling to recover from last year's depression, would suffer a severe setback. This would mean unemployment and fewer paychecks in the construction industry.

CHECK RECEIVED
BOISE (AP) — Idaho State Treasurer Marjorie R. Moon said Tuesday the state had received a check for $8,769 from the federal government as its share of revenue from licensing for use of national forest lands in Idaho.

Miss Moon said the money was 37.5 per cent of the money from federal licensing for use and occupancy of the forest lands and was $63 more than the state received last year.

The money was deposited in the state general fund.

Justice Department Hangs On Every Word Of Black Power Advocates

By JOSEPH E. MOHBAT
WASHINGTON (AP) — As devoutly as any soul brother, the Justice Department is hanging on every public word of Black Power advocates Stokely Carmichael and H. Rap Brown. But a thicket of legal, political and evidence-related problems surrounds the department. Members of Congress and more than a thousand indignant, letter-writing citizens are asking about the applicability of various laws to the pair's activities. No federal prosecution of either is in progress.

Last week, Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark and his lawyers gathered around a tape recorder in Clark's office, attentive to a Washington harangue by Brown, the 23-year-old chairman of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee.

FBI agents often are on hand for public appearances by Brown and his SNCC predecessor, Carmichael, and their tape recorders are busy.

Lawyers in the department's internal security division comb newspapers and magazines and study broadcast transcripts to look for possible violations of federal law.

Although department and FBI officials won't talk for the record about pending investigations, these are some of their problems:

LAW—Sedition is advocating overthrow of the government. Treason means levying war against the United States or aiding her enemies. A Selective Service law prohibits counseling persons to evade military service. The obstacles from a legal standpoint in each case

Demos Give Treatment To Reorganizing

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
WASHINGTON (AP) — House Democratic leaders are giving the full treatment they usually reserve for major domestic and international issues to the proposal to reorganize the appointed government of the nation's capital.

A series of leadership meetings, head counts and quiet chats with recalcitrant members culminate today when the District of Columbia reorganization proposal submitted in June by President Johnson comes up for House debate.

A vote is expected in late afternoon on the plan, which would take effect Friday unless the House vetoes it. Reorganization plans go into effect automatically after 60 days unless one House rejects them, and no disapproval move has been started in the Senate.

Administration strategists were hopeful of victory after late head counts showed their support at about the 200 mark of 435 House members. As many as 50 Republicans may support the plan, and that would be enough to assure its approval.

The reorganization proposal would replace the present three appointed commissioners with a single commissioner and a nine-member representative city council. While all would be appointed by the President and confirmed by the Senate, the plan establishes a framework that later could be converted into an elected government.

Samuelson Unhappy With Board

LEWISTON, Idaho (AP) — Gov. Don Samuelson is seeking the resignation of the three-member State Board of Correction, the Lewiston Morning Tribune said it learned Tuesday night.

The governor is reported to be unhappy with the way the board is operating the state penitentiary at Boise, the newspaper said it learned from a source in Boise.

Specifically, said the Tribune, the governor is said to be upset over liberal commissary privileges granted members of the prison staff and the way convict labor is being used.

Members of the board of correction serve six year terms, rather than at the pleasure of the governor, so he cannot dismiss them. But the Tribune said its Boise source reported Gov. Samuelson informed the three members of the board of his intent to replace them.

The three members of the board are Mark M. Maxwell, chairman of the board and penitentiary warden since early in 1966; James Nalley, vice chairman, and Saul Clark.

are gigantic. Sedition prosecutions have been unpopular in this country since the infamous Alien and Sedition Acts of 1798, written by Federalists to curb Jeffersonian criticism of the John Adams administration. And the courts—since a Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes opinion in 1919—have weighed the balance heavily in favor of the freedom of speech and press guaranteed by the First Amendment. A clear and present danger must be proven; the danger must be grave and immediate.

And specific, deliberate intent to provoke the forbidden acts also must be shown. While Stokely Carmichael is on the record as having said "Hell, no, don't go" into the armed services and Vietnam, the Justice Department would be hard-put to find he specifically counseled an individual to evade military duty—or that anyone tried to evade it because of what Carmichael shouted to a cheering, shouting audience. EVIDENCE—Can the government prove a harangue led to anything? It is trying to produce witnesses to Carmichael's recent statements in Havana, in which he was quoted as urging guerrilla warfare in American cities and, according to Havana reports, made other derogatory remarks about this country. But Western journalists were barred—and newspaper accounts, while plentiful, are inadmissible as evidence. RESULTS—Some believe prosecution of a Negro militant for words alone might trigger greater trouble than anyone bargained for. Nobody at the Justice Department is discounting the possibility of prosecutions. There are hawks who would do it tomorrow. But others caution patience. They feel—as Jefferson expressed it—that the wisest course at the moment is "to tolerate terror so long as reason is free to combat it."

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
 DEAR ABBY: I am married and have children, but if you print this, please don't say how many. I can honestly say that when it comes to being a wife and mother, I'm one of the best. My husband is sweet, loving, and devoted. What more could a wife ask for?
 Well, for the last three years I have had a secret desire for another man. My husband has no idea that such a thought would ever enter my head, and if he knew he'd die.
 The other man doesn't know how I feel about him. I see him all the time, and the thrill I get out of just looking at him is indecent. (He manages the supermarket where I trade.) He's married and has a family, too, so nothing could ever come of this, but I can't help how I feel about him.

 I can't tell anyone else about this as the Good Book says that to lust after someone is the same as committing adultery. I feel so ashamed and tormented, Abby. Is something wrong with me?
 SECRET LOVE..

DEAR SECRET! There is nothing "wrong" with you that isn't wrong with the rest of humanity. You are indulging in fantasy, which is normal. And it's harmless. The guilt feeling over your day dreams are doing you more harm than the day dreams. Now, go scrub the kitchen floor and take a cold shower. You'll feel better.

DEAR ABBY: At 19 I married without my parents' consent. My husband and I then moved to another state.

At first my mother wrote to me, addressing the letters to Mary Smith which was my maiden name.
 I kept returning those letters unopened, marked "No such person here."

Finally she compromised and started addressing my letters to Mary Jones. (Jones is my husband's name). Those I accepted and read, but a year has passed and she still refuses to address me as "Mrs."

This may strike you as being a trivial matter, but it is very important to me. What do you make of this?

MRS. ROBERT JONES
 DEAR MRS. JONES: Your mother is determined to remind you that she hasn't as yet recognized your marriage, which doesn't make you any less married. Ignore it.

DEAR ABBY: Your advice to the woman who had a baby out of wedlock, had her maiden name on the baby's birth certificate, and later had the name changed (for only 50 cents) to her husband's name, should be clarified.

I am the mother of a child born out of wedlock. I later married the baby's father, making the child legitimate. The only thing we had to do was go to the city clerk's office where my husband swore under oath that he was the father of my child. We paid 50 cents to correct the record and we didn't have to go through any adoption proceedings.

A friend of mine had a child born out of wedlock. She later married a man who was not the baby's father. She called the Probate court and was told they would have to file a petition for adoption and go through the regular procedure.

I can't speak for other places, but that's the way it is in Worcester county. Thank you.
 SATISFIED MOTHER

Senior Citizens With Itching Feet Take To The Road On Sixteenth Tour

Last week 37 stalwart "youngsters," most of them from this area, boarded a bus at an early morning hour that would make most people cringe, and took off on their 16th trip in 11 years.

Last year the average age of the "kids" taking the tour was 68, discounting the bus driver, Glen Yaegle of Pocatello. Mr. Yaegle has undoubtedly been the youngest aboard the bus carrying members of the United Friendship Club.

And, how does he feel about traveling with all these energetic senior citizens? "I love it—I love it!" he said without reservation.

"We've traveled through all but four states, have been to the Hawaiian Islands and this year we'll go through Canada and on up into Alaska," he said.

About half of the people going on the current trip were among those in the group 11 years ago. The first trip taken by the club was to the Hawaiian Islands when they crossed the Pacific on the U.S.S. Lurline and then trekked by bus through the islands.

Since the "maiden voyage" the group has made either one long trip or two short trips each year. Most of the travelers are women—there are 31 of them this year and five men.

Although most of those on the tour are from Magic Valley, some come from as far away as Texas to join the group.

Mr. Yaegle, a driver for Greyhound bus lines, said that the trip to Alaska will last about 24 days.

The bus they will take this year has been rebuilt for rough travel through the Canadian and Alaskan wilderness areas.

Mr. Yaegle said it has a reinforced undercarriage, a special air duct to the engine, and a front gravel guard which deflects flying gravel and rocks.

The trip, which began about 4 a.m. here, will take the group through Spokane, Wash.; British Columbia, on to Anchorage and Fairbanks, Alaska and home, via the Alcan Highway.

TAN GRADUALLY
 A sun tan enhances beauty, but be sure you don't pay too big a price for it. Tan gradually, about 15 minutes the first day and increase exposure to longer periods thereafter. Use a screening agent and a good oil to lubricate skin constantly while tanning, to avoid painful sunburn. Wear sunglasses to protect your eyes and, if you feel the glasses will leave marks that mar your even tan, use soft cosmetic puffs to cover eyes while sunbathing. The puffs also are good for applying oils and lotions.

Fall Fashions Are Not To Be Categorized

By HELEN HENNESSY
 NEW YORK (NEA) — The New York fashion showings for Fall 1967 prove that it would be silly to try to break down daytime clothes into the once-reliable categories of coats, suits and dresses.
 Coats look like dresses. Dresses look like coats. And suits take the form of everything from pants to culottes to three- or four-part costumes.
 So the fashion tale must be told as it stands for fall. There are simply two categories — daytime and evening.

Although mid-length (midcalf) and the mini-short hemlines are shown, it is an accepted fact that short skirts are here to stay for at least another year or two.

The midi coat with the mini-dress may figure importantly, however, when cold weather comes. It's a lot more practical than blue knees and chilblains.

But the hemline length isn't the important thing. What makes the look is what happens when the hemline stops. Stokings, boots, accessories — these are what pull the look together.

Pantsuits, dress shirts, coat shirts and jacket dresses are in all the collections. And hardware is on everything — big zippers, big galash buckles, grippers — all are used on asymmetric or double-breasted closings. And belts, from metal links to leather, are a must for the fall season.

Coats are either large tents or small and controlled at the top with wide hems. And some version of the trench coat turns up at every showing.

New is the Spanish look (a la Jacqueline Kennedy). There are black velvet pantsuits with short jackets, shown with high boots, white tuckered shirt and cummerbund. Other versions of the Spanish look are in black gabardine.

Capes are news. They turn up in all lengths from ankle to waist and are designed as part of a costume, with matching or contrasting dresses.

Suits with vests, worn with turtlenecks or shirts and ties are also important on the daytime scene.

Color combinations include such starters as plum with lemon, acid green and orange, and bright plaids, stripes and argyles. But black has returned to fashion prominence after a few seasons' absence. In fact, some of the most exciting costumes are all black from boots to hooded cape.

Important fabrics are wool flannel, tweeds, fleece and chinchillas. The story for fall in a capsule is bright color, more shaping, belts, hardware and skirts that remain way above the knee.

Sen. Fulbright Makes Attack On Johnson

By BARRY SCHWEID
HONOLULU (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, says the Johnson administration lacks the "moral and psychological capacity" to end the Vietnam war and advance social justice at home.

"The country sickens for lack of moral leadership," the Arkansas Democrat told the American Bar Association Tuesday as he linked the war to violence in big cities at home.

"Far from building a safe world environment for American values," he said, "our war in Vietnam and the domestic deterioration which it has aggravated are creating a most ungenial world atmosphere for American ideas and values."

"The world has no need, in this age of nationalism and nuclear weapons, for a new imperial power."

"But there is a great need of moral leadership—by which I mean the leadership of decent example."

"That role could be ours but we have vacated the field, and all that has kept the Russians from filling it is their own lack of imagination."

Prefacing his address to about 600 lawyers by calling for "introspection," Fulbright noted his opposition to U.S. policy in Vietnam and said "We'll wait and see who's right."

"It seems to me," he added, "that self-adoration should not become a way of life."

In his 5,000-word speech, interrupted five times by applause, Fulbright directly challenged the Johnson administration's contention "that we can indeed afford both Vietnam and the Great Society."

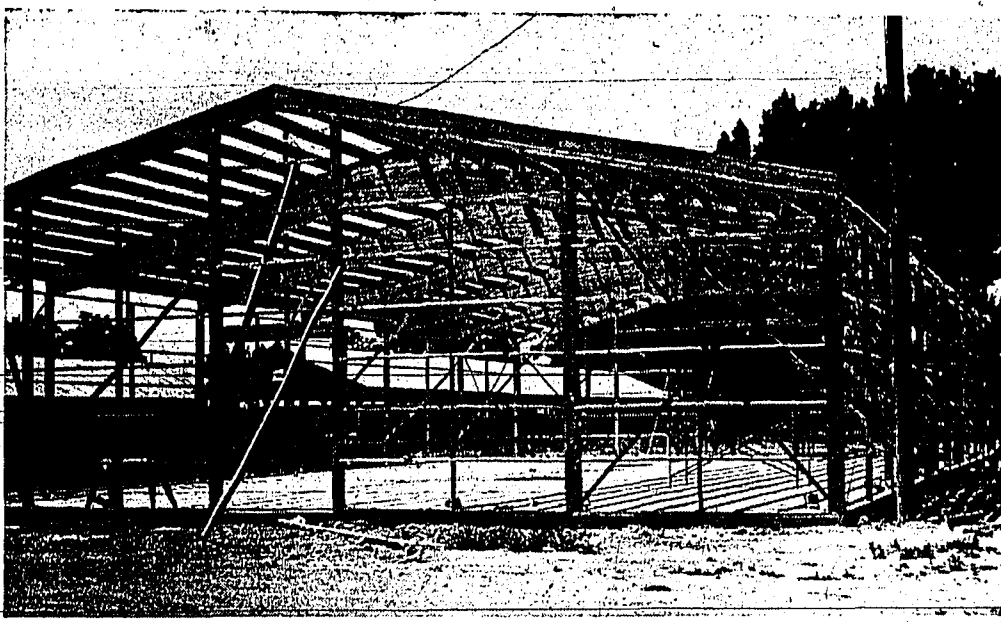

Reports Vary On Action In Congo

BUJUMBURA, Burundi (AP) — Some refugees arriving from the eastern Congo say white mercenaries and Katangan troops have occupied Bukavu. But others report they pulled out of the provincial capital Monday, and returning Congolese troops went on another rampage.

Refugees who fled to Burundi from Kivu Province said hard fighting took place between Congolese troops defending Bukavu and a force of mercenaries and their Katangan allies. But on Monday the fighting subsided and the Congolese troops fled, the refugees said.

Maytag Dies

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — L. B. Maytag, 78, industrialist and former president of the Maytag Co. of Newton, Iowa, died Tuesday. A native of Newton, he was elected president of Maytag in 1920 and resigned in 1926. In 1941 he became a director of the firm, a post he held until his resignation last year. He moved to Colorado Springs in 1934.

NEW 4-H AND EXTENSION Homemakers exposition building is under construction at the Minidoka County Fairgrounds in preparation for the fair Aug. 31-Sept. 2. Being constructed by Superior Lamwood Buildings, it is expected that the building will be completed in sufficient time for fair week activities. Half of the building will be used for commercial displays since Rupert merchants assisted with financing through space rental in the new structure.

New 4-H Building Constructed At Rupert

RUPERT — The new 4-H and Extension Homemakers exposition building at the Minidoka County Fairgrounds is near completion in anticipation of this fall's fair, Aug. 31 and Sept. 1 and 2.

Pari-mutuel races will also be conducted in connection with the fair from Aug. 31 through Sept. 4.

Being constructed by Superior Lamwood Buildings, the new exposition building still requires the steel siding and electrical wiring before it will be ready for occupancy.

Half the cost of the construction was supplied from county funds, and Rupert merchants rented commercial display space in the building to finance the larger structure this year. As soon as county funds are available, the commercial exhibits will be moved to another building and the present site will be used exclusively for 4-H and women's displays.

The present fairgrounds, which house five livestock buildings, horse barns, wash racks, grandstand and pari-mutuel offices, and bleachers, have developed since the county purchased the site in 1958 from the Minidoka County Posse.

Prior to that time a small 4-H fair was held, but the growing county-wide show has resulted from the improvements to the fairgrounds.

First buildings were three livestock buildings erected in 1960 and to these have been added the horse barns and two more livestock buildings, as well as two wash racks used to prepare livestock for showing.

The grandstands were previously on the Memorial Athletic Field, used by the Rupert High School before it was moved to Minico. The bleachers, which were erected by the posse, were moved against the grandstands, and the interior of the stands were remodeled to accommodate showing of 4-H projects.

The new building now under construction will make possible an open class section for women in the county, with their activities under the direction of Renee Alder, county extension home agent.

The new building is near the road in the northwest corner of the 40-acre fairground plot. Two houses were located here and have been purchased in recent years by the board and moved away and the site cleared for the new construction.

Remodeling of the race track to a full half-mile was necessary with the advent of pari-mutuel racing in 1964 and the races have become an important part of the local fair.

Youngsters also stage a miniature rodeo during fair weekend, and this and the horse races are the only events to which there is a charge.

Other features of the fair are the flower show, which will be in its fourth year this year, the fashion show for 4-H girls, and the Desert Art Guild has been invited to have an exhibit during this year's fair.

There is an open class section in livestock, and the new women's division will feature remodeled clothing, adult and children's clothing, canning, cooking, handwork, knitting and crocheting.

There will also be a senior citizen's hobby show, and plans are under way for an industrial arts display. Mrs. Seth Baird, Heyburn, is chairman of arrangements for the women's show, under direction of the County Council Extension Homemakers, Mrs. Roger Brown, president.

In addition to the many youngsters involved in 4-H and FFA work there were 66 4-H leaders in the county last year.

Members of the fair board are Burt Van Every, chairman, and Marvin Heinrich, Ralph Jurgensmeier, Floyd Idle, Clyde Preuss, Clyde Kendall, Ray Gentry and Delmar Hollinger. LaMont Smith, county extension livestock agent, is secretary-treasurer and acts in an advisory capacity on the board, and he is in charge of the boys' 4-H projects in the county.

The groundskeeper is Ernest Ralls.

The fairgrounds are also used for other events during the year, including the annual July 4 celebration, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, who lease the grounds from the county. Several horses are housed and trained at the fairgrounds on a rental basis the year around.

The recently constructed Rupert Armory stands on the fairgrounds on land owned by the government and with the building available to the county for use during the fair, and at other times.

Locked In

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Assistant City Manager John Stevens made the mistake Tuesday of staying inside his office while maintenance crews tested locks in the city manager's office.

The lock worked but workmen had to struggle for 20 minutes to reopen the door. The remaining locks were tested with the doors open.

Memorial Scholarship Is Originated

BOISE — Friends and students of the late Lucille Lippencott have originated a scholarship in her name for a vocal student at Boise College.

Miss Lippencott died last week in Twin Falls. A former opera singer in Italy and America, she had taught voice in Boise and Twin Falls for many years. She had developed some of the best vocal talent in the two cities.

Applications for an audition for the scholarship should be submitted to Boise College in care of Georgia Standing by Aug. 18. The auditions are to be held Aug. 20 at 3 p.m. in Room 106 of the music auditorium.

The requirements for application are that the student will be a music major, registered full time, have a good grade average and have some ability to read music.

For those who wish to contribute to the scholarship fund, checks may be made out to Boise College indicating the money is to be placed in the Lucille Lippencott memorial vocal scholarship.

Rep. Ford Opposes Sending More Troops To Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford opposes sending more troops to South Vietnam unless President Johnson okays air attacks on unscathed military and strategic civilian targets in North Vietnam.

The Michigan Republican, charging Johnson's administration has pulled "our air power punch," said two-thirds of the military targets in North Vietnam and high proportions of its power plants, roads and petroleum storage areas have been spared air attack.

Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara, while not questioning the figures on untouched targets supplied by Ford—statistics which the GOP leader said he got from sources he can't reveal—accused Ford of misunderstanding U.S. objectives.

McNamara said U.S. air power isn't directed at destroying North Vietnam or paving the way for an invasion, but at curbing the flow of troops and equipment into South Vietnam.

"It is true that there are restraints on the bombings," said McNamara, "but they are restraints designed to save American lives, to avoid unnecessary devastation and civilian casualties in North Vietnam, and to avoid action which carries with it the high risk of widening the war with all that implies."

The White House declined comment on Ford's statements, contained in a House speech.

The State Department, meanwhile, said current U.S. policy endorses direct talks between the North Vietnamese and South Vietnam.

And at a news conference several hours before Ford spoke, State Department press officer Robert J. McCloskey said the United States hasn't ruled out ceasing its bombing of the North.

McCloskey, responding to a statement by Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, said the United States also intends to keep under review its bid for U.N. Security Council consideration of the war.

In New York, however, a spokesman for U Thant said the U.N. secretary-general sees little hope that Security Council consideration could be "usefully involved in any settlement of the Vietnam conflict."

No Trains Arrive From Red China

HONG KONG (AP) — No freight trains have arrived from Red China since Monday, causing speculation that opponents of Mao Tse-tung may have knocked out the rail line from Canton to Hong Kong again.

Visitors from the Chinese mainland have told of repeated sabotage of rail traffic by anti-Maoists, but this is the first time the trains have been delayed for so long a period. A Hong Kong government spokesman said the colony is facing a meat shortage.

He said supplies are still arriving by road and sea, but they are not enough to make up for the rail stoppage.

Arriving Chinese said foes and supporters of Mao battled for 12 hours Monday night with wooden and steel spears in Canton. They also told of fighting in Shanghai.

The arrivals said casualties could have run into the hundreds.

Aide Arrives

SEOUL (AP) — William J. Porter, the new U.S. ambassador to South Korea, arrived today to take up his post.

Porter, formerly deputy ambassador in South Vietnam, succeeds Winthrop G. Brown, who is becoming President Johnson's liaison man with U.S. governors on foreign policy.

7 Republican Governors To View Rioting

NEW YORK (AP) — Seven Republican governors have agreed to meet here Thursday with Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller to discuss means of dealing with racial disturbances in the nation's cities.

Rockefeller disclosed Tuesday he had called a meeting of the policy committee of the Republican Governor's Conference in his capacity as committee chairman.

His office said those who will attend include Govs. George Romney of Michigan, John Love of Colorado, Spiro T. Agnew of Maryland, John H. Chafee of Rhode Island, Raymond P. Shafer of Pennsylvania, John A. Volpe of Massachusetts and Nils A. Bie of South Dakota.

Other governors who said they received invitations but would not be able to attend were James A. Rhodes of Ohio, Claude R. Kirk Jr. of Florida, Ronald Reagan of California, Dan Evans of Washington and Warren P. Knowles of Wisconsin.

Rockefeller's office said he called for the GOP session after he failed to win a special meeting of the National Governors Conference.

A Rockefeller spokesman said the governor appealed for a special meeting to Gov. William Guy of North Dakota, a Democrat and chairman of the national conference.

The spokesman said Guy replied through an aide that the subject would be on the agenda of an executive committee session Aug. 26 at Osage Beach, Mo.

Rockefeller then acted to call the meeting because Guy's reply had "no sense of urgency," the spokesman said.

Two Detroit Policemen Free On Bond

DETROIT (AP) — Two white Detroit police officers charged with first-degree murder in the slaying of two Negro youths in a motel during last month's racial turmoil were free on $5,000 bond each.

Recorder's Judge Donald S. Leonard also set $5,000 bonds Tuesday for two Negro youths charged with first-degree murder in the slaying of a Detroit policeman during the riot.

Patrolman Ronald W. August, 28, is accused of the shotgun slaying of Aubrey Pollard, 19, of Detroit. Patrolman Robert N. Paille, 32, is charged with the slaying of Fred Temple, 18, also of Detroit.

Pollard and Temple and a third youth, Carl Cooper 17, of Detroit, were found shot to death in the motel July 26. No warrants have been issued in the Cooper killing.

Danny Royster, 20, and Charles L. Latimer, 19, both of Detroit, accused of slaying Patrolman Jerome Olshove, were unable to meet bond and remained in custody. Olshove was killed when his shotgun discharged during a struggle between police and looting suspects at a grocery store July 25.

All four of the accused were denied bond when they appeared Monday before Leonard. Tuesday, however, Leonard overruled the Wayne County prosecutor's objections and set bond. The prosecutor had asserted that Michigan law does not permit bond in murder cases where the evidence is heavy and the presumption of guilt is great.

Country Charley Pride is the only Negro in the country western music field. As a child in Sledge, Mississippi, Charley loved to indulge in reveries about the future. He envisioned himself as another Jackie Robinson and maybe someday playing in the World Series. A singing career was about the farthest thing from his mind when he left his home at the age of 17.

Although he loved the ingenious country music, he was bent on that pitching slot in major league baseball. He tucked his guitar under his arm and set out through a maze of odd jobs, while persistently seeking a big break in his favorite sport.

He started with the Memphis

Red Sox, in 1954 and was with the Yankee organization for a while and then came service in the Army.

In 1960, he signed up and became a member of the Pioneer League, the fastest class C league in America, where he played for just two weeks. In 1961 he signed as pitcher-outfielder with the Los Angeles Angels and stayed for two weeks of the spring training. He returned to Montana, worked on the missile sites for a month and was laid off, then he sang in Helena Clubs until October.

One day at a ball park in East Helena, Charley sang a song over the public address system, and the singing bug had bitten for the first time. He made his last-ditch attempt to become a baseball great, and when he arrived in Florida Manager Casey Stengel took one look at him and snapped "We're not running no tryout camp down here."

A short while before, he had met Red Foley and Red Sovine, when they had appeared with a show in Helena. Sovine had said, "I hear you, but I don't believe it. If you ever get to Nashville, let someone hear you."

Remembering Sovine's words, Charley decided to return home by way of Nashville. He sang and made a tape for Jock D. Johnson, then a public relations man for a publishing company, and now his manager.

In 1965 Charley cut some recordings and finally on Sept. 28 he learned his record would be released by RCA Victor. "Snakes Crawl at Night" and "Atlantic Coastal Line," were both well received.

The next step up the ladder of success was the release of the LP "Country Charley Pride," which lit up the scoreboard of the country charts for many weeks. Another hit single, "Just Between YOU and Me," climbed into the top ten all over the country.

In the infancy of his career, he appeared as a guest on the Grand Ole Opry and the nationally televised Lawrence Welk Show, among many other syndicated television programs.

He has traveled the world over appearing with some of the biggest names in country music such as Buck Owens, Ray Price, Marty Robbins, Faron Young, Connie Smith and many, many more.

Holly Houburg of Twin Falls will be master of ceremonies for the Country Western Jamboree, which is sponsored by the Burley Exchange Club during the first night of the Cassia County Fair. The following three nights rodeos will be held. Pari-mutuel horse racing will be held all four afternoons.

Lion Chemical May Help Humans Survive

By FRANK CAREY AP Science Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A lion may be lion-hearted because of a chemical in his body and that chemical conceivably could help humans survive surgery better. With that assumption, a Washington surgeon is going to Africa in October to bag some lions and other toughies with bow and arrow.

Dr. Richard A. Gilbert, 51, will take no guns—just bow and arrow and laboratory equipment. His plan is to stalk lion, leopard, buffalo and elephants, shoot from 25 yards away "and then run."

He suspects these animals have a "stamina" chemical that enables them to survive for especially long periods—from 20 minutes to a half-hour—after a fatal arrow through heart or lung. They also show unusual stamina after being wounded by rifle fire, although a bullet in a vital spot can kill them immediately.

The chemical, previously unrecognized, may be associated with the adrenal gland fight-flight system, Gilbert believes.

Gilbert says bow-and-arrow shooting offers the best bet for uncovering the stamina chemical for these reasons:

—The animal, even when lethally wounded, remains on its feet—"with his dander up"—for a longer period than when seriously wounded by rifle fire. Thus, there's a longer period for the suspected chemical to manifest itself, possibly through a sudden outpouring from the adrenal gland system.

—The wound from an arrow is quite small in contrast to that from a rifle bullet which can "blast surrounding tissues" besides often felling the animal by its terrific impact. Thus, there's much less chance, in the case of the arrow, of destroying evidence of the chemical's presence.

He says an arrow wound in a vital spot can still produce tremendous internal shock, requiring tremendous stamina to offset it even temporarily. And he believes "some body chemical—in addition to adrenalin but possibly associated with it—may be responsible."

If such a chemical could be isolated, he adds, it—or some synthetic counterpart of it—might be a valuable thing to administer to surgical patients prior to an extensive operation. The aim would be to help them withstand surgical shock.

Gilbert will go on safari in Portuguese Mozambique in October. It will be his second bow-and-arrow hunt in Africa. Two years ago in Ethiopia he snagged a big buffalo "and just missed out on a lion." He also has felled the "big Kodiak bear" in Alaska, as well as moose.

It was during that earlier African trip that he learned from other hunters of the staying powers of the other animals he still seeks—especially the elephant.

"You can actually shoot an elephant's heart right in two with an arrow, and he'll keep coming right at you," he says.

If he's lucky enough to take one or more of the toughies he seeks, he'll examine the adrenal glands after death and compare them with adrenal glands of similar animals killed instantly with rifle bullets. Both microscopic and clinical examinations will be done.

Woman Shot To Death In Hospital Bed

CHICAGO (AP) — A woman critically ill with leukemia was shot to death in her hospital bed Tuesday in what police described as a mercy killing by her son.

Robert Waskin, 23, was charged with murder in the fatal shooting of Alice Waskin, 52. Hospital spokesmen said Mrs. Waskin was a terminal leukemia patient with only a few days to live.

"She asked me to do it," Waskin told police after his arrest at Wesley Memorial Hospital. Waskin, a senior at the University of Illinois Chicago Circle campus, admitted the slaying to police and said he had tried to put her "out of her misery" Sunday by giving her an overdose of sleeping pills, police said.

Mrs. Waskin was taken to the hospital Monday and placed in an intensive care unit for treatment for an overdose of sleeping pills.

Joann Calendar, a nurse at the hospital, said she heard three shots and saw Waskin drop a .22-caliber revolver on a desk and walk to the hallway where his father, Daniel, 52, was waiting.

"Well, now she's out of her misery," she said the younger Waskin told his father.

Nurses said Waskin was calm as he approached his father and offered no resistance as hospital security guards held him for police.

Police said Mrs. Waskin was shot three times in the head. Three other patients in the intensive care section were unaware of the slaying.

Optimism Sounded In Copper Strike

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — A note of optimism was sounded by both sides in the nationwide copper strike today in the wake of the longest series of joint negotiations since the strike began July 15.

As the deadlock moved into its 26th day, Federal Mediator S. Lyle Johnson said a day-long session with Kennecott Copper Corp. and the joint bargaining committee of the copper worker unions Tuesday was "profitable."

A union spokesman called the meeting "fruitful," but both sides in the dispute said they had agreed to remain silent and let the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service announce progress.

Johnson said a new, specially-appointed FMCS panel had made some progress in getting both sides together, but he indicated they were still deadlocked.

The panel, dispatched to Salt Lake City earlier this week, consists of Harvard industrial and labor relations expert James Healy, Boston; Disputes Director Walter A. Magglo and Mediator Daniel Edwards, Washington, D.C. and Johnson, Salt Lake City.

SPORTS SPECTACULARS

6:30 p.m., 2B, 3, 5, 11—Pro Football, the opening of the CBS exhibition football season—featuring the Chicago Bears vs. the Redskins at Washington. The Bears are sparked by the electrifying Gale Sayers, the halfback who ran wild in his 1966 sophomore season, leading the NFL in rushing and setting a record for combined net yardage. Redskin power is centered in the aerial attack, with Sonny Jurgensen throwing to Charley Taylor and Bobby Mitchell. Ray McDonald, University of Idaho's fullback, is now with the Redskins.

PROMISING SPECIALS

9 p.m., 2SL, 7, 8—NBC News Special, "Siberia: A Day in Irkutsk." This documentary portrait of a Siberian city won a Peabody Award for producer George A. Vicas. Irkutsk, a city of nearly half a million people, lies deep in the interior of Siberia—once a bustling frontier trading post, the city is proud of its newer tradition as a cultural center. Films show the famous Trans-Siberian Railroad, the beauty of Lake Baikal, fishing villages, neighboring towns and the taiga, the dense forest that covers most of Siberia.

Mrs. Gandhi Has Defeat In Parliament

NEW DELHI (AP) — Opposition members of India's Parliament defeated Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's government Tuesday on a minor Communist amendment. The ruling Congress party rounded up absent members and won the vote on the motion itself.

The defeat was highly embarrassing for Mrs. Gandhi, but since it involved a minor issue there was no question of her government resigning.

Parliamentary officials said it was the first defeat the Congress party has suffered since India won independence from Britain 20 years ago.

The vote came after introduction of a report on India's castes and tribes. The amendment, which passed 91-89, said safeguards provided for the untouchables and tribes by the constitution had not been fully implemented.

FOR HEROISM DURING an enemy attack near Dong Ha, Vietnam, Sgt. Charles J. Klimes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Klimes, Route 2, Kimberly, was recently awarded the Bronze Star Medal. He is a squad leader in Battery B, 1st Battalion, 44th Artillery, and also holds the Purple Heart Medal.

Kimberly Soldier Receives Bronze Medal For Heroism

KIMBERLY—Sgt. Charles J. Klimes, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Klimes, Route 2, was recently awarded the Bronze Star Medal for heroism during an enemy attack near Dong Ha, Vietnam.

On March 5, the tank in front of Sgt. Klimes' vehicle received a direct hit, and he quickly positioned his 40-millimeter gun on the enemy position, silencing it.

Later the same day, he was positioning guns to secure a landing zone, when the area was struck by intense mortar and anti-tank fire. Although he was wounded, Sgt. Klimes ran from one position to another, directing the firing on the enemy position.

He entered the U.S. Army in November, 1965, and was stationed at Ft. Bliss, Tex., before arriving in Vietnam last November. He is a squad leader in Battery B, 1st Battalion, 44th Artillery, and also holds the Purple Heart Medal.

Gobbledygook Dictionary Is Published By U. S. Navy

By BOB HORTON
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy has put out its latest dictionary of gobbledygook allegedly used to inform sailors about transfers or assignments, and FYI, ROB PA doesn't mean stick up your father.

FYI is the old standby abbreviation, "for your information."

ROB is "report on board."

PA means "pending availability."

These are the simplest of an assemblage of verbal mishmash which the Navy has drawn up to keep interservice messages short.

A new Navy order sent to all ships and stations directs commanding officers to use the abbreviations "to the maximum extent possible, except where the need for clarity is an overriding consideration."

Not only are there abbreviations in the little Navy dictionary but also equivalents for certain phrases, sentences or groups of sentences used in naval orders—280 entries in all, ranging from ABPM to WHAP.

The Navy managed to use as few commonly known abbreviations as possible but improvised on one or two. In addition to FYI, there's FYIG which means "for your information and guidance."

CONUS—means "continental United States," but the Navy also has INUS, "In the United States," as well as OUTUS, which means you-know-what.

"It's ridiculous," one officer said, "but if we had to spell those words out, our communications would be behind three years."

He maintained the list is useful WHAP—when and where applicable.

Some might challenge that for HUMS—humanitarian reasons.

A NEW SCIENTIFIC BREAKTHROUGH by CULLIGAN

See why our new water softener is as automatic as a water heater

NO TIME CLOCK
NO GUESS WORK

Exclusive solid-state Culligan Aqua-Sensor recharges only when it senses the need. Saves salt and you never again run out of soft water.

This Cross Section View Shows How Our Aqua-Sensor Works

There are 2 electronic sensors located at the bottom of the ion-exchange resin bed inside the water softener. When hard water reaches the upper sensor, the lower one is still immersed in softened water. The sensors electronically detect the difference and signal the solid-state controller. At the proper time, the unit automatically recharges. No other water softener in the world is so fully automatic.

CLOSING SUMMARY
NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market closed higher today in active trading as the Dow Jones industrial average approached another high for the year.

After an uncertain start, blue chips gathered strength.

Substantial gains were made by General Motors, International Nickel, Eastman Kodak and Jones-Manville.

Xerox had a bad sinking spell. Other high-priced glamor stocks IBM among them, were weak.

Initially lagged, the high-quality industrials gradually picked up a following.

It was the second of four abbreviated sessions scheduled by the stock exchanges so brokerage houses could cope with a big backlog of paperwork.

Prices near the close included: Allis-Chalmers, off 1/4 at 32 1/2; Chicago & North Western, up 1/4 at 15 1/2; Essex Corp, up 1/4 at 4 1/2; American Motors, up 1/4 at 1 1/2; Control Data, up 1/4 at 12 1/2; and American Standard, off 1/4 at 29 1/2.

Judge Rules Clause Is Legal, Orders Barry To Play For San Francisco

By CHARLES MCMURTRY Associated Press Sports Writer
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A state judge ruled Tuesday that professional sports reserve clause is legal and ordered National Basketball Association scoring star Rick Barry not to play for any other club than the San Francisco Warriors before Sept. 30, 1968.

Barry signed with the Oakland Oaks of the new American Basketball Association in June for three years for $225,000 plus fringe benefits.

The Warriors, who signed Barry out of the University of Florida two years ago, immediately sought a restraining order. They contended they had Barry under contract until Sept. 30, 1968, by the option, or reserve clause.

Superior Court Judge Robert J. Drewes' ruling, arrived at after long study of sports and antitrust laws going back to 1908, upheld the "reserve" clause in these words:

"At the time of the execution of the contract (Barry) understood that it was for one year with an option for an additional year. There can be no doubt defendant (Barry) deliberately breached his solemn contractual obligation to play for plaintiff (Warriors) and the court so holds."

Warrior-owner Franklin Mioull hailed the injunction order as historic and as applying to all pro-sports.

Barry was reported to be in New Jersey, but his father-in-law, Coach Bruce Hale of the Oaks, said Rick "has not changed his mind in regard to staying with the Oakland Oaks in some capacity."

His brief statement added, Coach Hale has agreed to abide by the judge's decision and "Barry stated he wanted to discuss the matter in full with his lawyers before issuing a statement."

His attorney, Robert A. Holtzman, indicated he would seek an immediate trial of the case rather than appeal Judge Drewes' order.

Rollins' fifth home run of the season soared 375 feet into the left field seats and beat Dave Baldwin, who relieved Frank Bertaina in the seventh and struck out four of the first five batters he faced.

The Twins tied the score in the sixth on Ed Brinkman's error, a sacrifice and Ted Uhlander's single.

SOUTHAMPTON, N.Y. (AP) — Bill Bowrey, one of Australia's good tennis players, won two matches Tuesday and led the field into the third round of the 78th Invitational Meadow Club Grass Court Tennis Championship but he had to overcome the loss of a set.

Bowrey, seeded second, defeated Dick Dell of Bethesda, Md., a junior Davis Cupper who plays for the University of Michigan, 6-3, 6-4, in the first round. Then he ran into trouble in the person of Bill Tym of St. Petersburg, Fla.

Tym, a former eastern ranking player, won the first set and led 4-2 in the second before Bowrey rallied to win 5-7, 7-5, 6-3.

Francisco Guzman of Ecuador, sixth seeded, won his second rounder from Mario Obando of Costa Rica 6-4, 6-3. He took a 5-2 lead in the first set and broke early in the second set.

U.S. Dominated Track Team Is Slight Favorite

MONTREAL (AP) — The Americas, dominated by the powerful United States team that flashed to an overwhelming victory in the recent Pan-American Games, is a slight favorite against Europe's best in their two-day track and field meet that opens Wednesday night.

Error Helps Indians Beat Orioles 5-3

BALTIMORE (AP) — Boog Powell's error allowed the tie-breaking run to score and Chuck Hinton's sacrifice fly produced another as Cleveland rallied for two runs in the ninth inning and a 5-3 victory over Baltimore Tuesday night.

After Larry Brown and pinch hitter Jim King opened the Indians' ninth with singles, Powell bobbled Vic Davalillo's roller, allowing Brown to score. Hinton's fly ball brought home another.

A dramatic two-run homer by Baltimore's Frank Robinson, following a disputed play in the eighth inning, tied the score 3-3.

With Luis Aparicio on first and one out, Robinson ducked back from an inside pitch and then headed toward first, claiming he had been struck on the arm by the ball.

Cleveland protested and Robinson was ordered back to the plate.

On the next pitch from Ed Connolly, Robinson slammed his 22nd homer into the left field bleachers. It was his first homer since July 21 and his first in 10 games since returning to action following an injury.

CINCINNATI (AP) — Milt Pappas hurled a two-hitter as the Cincinnati Reds shut out Houston 5-0 Tuesday night.

Pappas, who picked up his 11th victory of the year, struck out nine and retired 16 consecutive batters at one point in the game.

The Astros' only hits were a one-out single by Jimmy Wynn in the first and Julio Gotay's bloop single in the ninth. Only one other man reached base.

Lee May, who slammed two doubles and keyed a three-run uprising in the fifth inning, supplied all the power the Reds needed.

Tony Perez socked a solo homer and a run-scoring single.

Dodgers Use Doubles To Stop Cards

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers built a three-run fifth inning on doubles by Lou Johnson and Ron Hunt and went on to stop the first-place St. Louis Cardinals 6-2 Tuesday night.

Johnson doubled to left leading off the fifth. Ron Fairly moved him to third with a fly ball and Johnny Roseboro was intentionally walked.

Johnson raced home on winning pitcher Don Sutton's sacrifice bunt. Then Hunt stroked a long two-run double to left off loser, Dick Hughes.

The Cardinals bunched three of their six hits off Sutton in the first. Lou Brock extended his hitting streak to 15 games by rapping the first pitch through the left side of the infield. Brock moved to third on Curt Flood's double and scored on Bobby Tolan's scratch single. Roger Maris drove in Flood with a sacrifice fly.

The Dodgers tied the score at 2-2 in the third. Ron Fairly led off with his seventh homer of the season, Roseboro singled, moved up on a sacrifice and scored on Dick Schofield's ground single to center.

Boston Gains Split With Kansas City

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Norm Siebern's single and an error on the hit by Jim Gosger gave the Boston Red Sox three runs in the ninth inning and a 7-5 victory over Kansas City in the second game of a two-night doubleheader Tuesday.

The Athletics took the opener 5-3 for Jim "Catfish" Hunter's 10th victory of the year.

The Red Sox battled from behind in the nightcap after spotting Kansas City a 4-0 lead. Boston notched a run in the fifth and then tied it with three in the seventh with Carl Yastrzemski's single driving in one and Tony Conigliaro's double chasing two more across.

Yastrzemski's double and two walks loaded the bases in the ninth and Siebern's hit drove in two runs. A third run scored on Gosger's throwing error.

Hunter needed last-out help from Jack Aker to nail down the opener after being touched for a bases-empty homer by Rico Petrocelli in the eighth inning and a two-run shot by Conigliaro in the ninth.

Single Lets Phils Edge Giants 5-4

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Johnny Callison's two-out single in the 10th inning drove in Johnny Briggs and the Philadelphia Phillies edged San Francisco 5-4 Tuesday night.

Briggs opened the 10th with an infield hit and moved to second on a sacrifice. After Rich Allen was purposely walked, the runners advanced on an infield out and then Callison singled off Frank Linzy.

It was the Phillies' eighth straight victory and the second straight loss for the Giants following a six-game winning streak.

Homers Help Cubs Whip Pirates 8-4

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Cubs, buoyed by home runs from Ron Santo and Randy Hundley, scored their first victory in nine starts Tuesday, whipping the Pittsburgh Pirates 8-4.

The Cubs, who had lost seven before struggling to a 3-3 tie in 14 innings Monday, spotted the Pirates two first inning runs, but bounced back in their half of the inning with Ernie Banks driving in two with a double. Hundley's homer, leading off the second, put the Cubs ahead to stay.

Chicago added another before the inning was over on Adolfo Phillips' double. Joe Niekro's sacrifice and a sacrifice fly by Don Uessinger.

The Cubs picked up one in the fourth on some wild play by the Pirates. Phillips singled and was sacrificed to second by Niekro. Pirate catcher Manuel Sanguillen threw past third and Phillips romped home.

Santo's homer, his 24th of the season, followed a single by Glen Beckert in the fifth and the Cubs got their last run in the sixth on a double by Hundley, a single by Kessinger and a throwing error by Gene Alley. Pittsburgh 200 001 010-4 11 3

HUNDREDS OF FRIENDLY campers like this rounded out the day's activities at the 12th World Boy Scout Jamboree, which will be featured on an ABC-TV color special at 9 p.m. EDT Aug. 18. Actor James Stewart, in a rare television appearance, will narrate the hour-long telecast of Scouting highlights which drew more than 14,000 Scouts from 90 nations to Farragut State Park, for the first World Jamboree ever held in the United States.

Miss Idaho Rodeo Competition Is Open

Only 11 days remain for acceptance of entries in the Miss Rodeo Idaho competition, which will be held Sept. 6-9 in conjunction with the Twin Falls County Fair and Rodeo at Filer.

Gene Hull, chairman of the event, reminded prospective contestants that the cutoff date for entry in the competition is Aug. 20. Eligibility is generally limited to contestants who have won local rodeo queen contests between Sept. 1, 1966, and Aug. 15 of this year.

The contest committee also will accept entries in this year's event from those eligible candidates from 1966 that did not compete in the 1966 state contest, he noted. Reason for this exception was caused by the change in location of the event from Caldwell to Twin Falls; since the Twin Falls County Fair is held several months later than the Caldwell fair.

Acceptance of candidates from 1966 will make it possible for several sponsoring groups to have two queens riding in the state contest this year, he pointed out.

"This will be a catch-up year and in 1968 we should have a normal situation of one contestant riding for each sponsoring organization," Mr. Hull said.

Queen candidates must be between the ages of 17 through 24, must never have been married and they must be legal residents of the state. No contestant who has previously competed in the Miss Rodeo America pageant will be allowed to compete in the Miss Rodeo Idaho contest. The winner of the Miss Rodeo Idaho crown must be willing to represent the state in the national contest, which will be held at Las Vegas, Nev., Nov. 16-19.

The state queen will be chosen after extensive judging of all the candidates at teas, luncheons and banquets as well as during riding events held each night of the Twin Falls County Fair and Rodeo.

Assisting the girls during the lengthy process will be Rosemary Vassar-Caldwell, reigning Miss Rodeo Idaho, who will crown her successor on the last night of the rodeo.

Queen candidates may be selected through local contests conducted by any fair, rodeo, riding club or service club. A sponsoring organization must furnish the entry fee for its queen at the state level.

The Miss Rodeo Idaho committee will furnish chaperones, local transportation, final prizes and promotional and management expenses for the contestants while competing in the state contest.

Prizes for several different categories in the judging have been donated by local merchants and the Twin Falls County Fair Board. Among other awards is the Circle-Y trophy saddle presented to the queen by the Vickers Saddlery, Twin Falls.

Judging will include grooming, attractiveness, photogenic quality, posture, poise, intelligence, education, sense of humor, conversational ability, showmanship and projection—the ability to project one's personality whether it be from horseback—in an arena, or television or before an audience.

Directors of the appearance, personality and horsemanship divisions are, respectively, Mrs. Alma Vickers, Twin Falls; Mrs. Karen Lavens James, Jerome, a former Miss Rodeo America, and Jack Windsor, Twin Falls. Additionally, nine judges, three in each of the separate categories, will be involved in the contest.

Rules and procedures of the event are patterned after the Miss Rodeo America contest, thus assuring any state contest winner of eligibility in the national event.

This is the second consecutive year that the state competition has been held in Twin Falls, Mr. Hull pointed out.

He concluded by noting that all entries must be entered through his office as executive secretary of the Twin Falls County Fair and Rodeo. Application blanks are available from him, and may be obtained upon written request. All inquiries and entries should be sent to him in care of the Twin Falls Bank and Trust Co., Twin Falls.

Whiff Of Chinese Influence Comes To Copper-Rich Country Of Africa

By DENNIS LEE ROYLE
LUSAKA, Zambia (AP) — A whiff of Chinese influence has come to this copper-rich country in central Africa.

President Kenneth Kaunda has made a state visit to Peking, and Red China has given the country an interest-free loan equal to $16.8 million. It has offered to finance and build the $280-million Zamtan railroad, which would provide a link to the sea in Tanzania.

In some downtown bars Africans argue as they thumb through red-covered copies of Mao Tse-tung's thoughts.

Agency Paid Rent For 4 Accused Aides

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the Nashville, Tenn., antipoverty agency said today it had agreed to pay rent for two teachers and two aides at a school accused of teaching Negro children to hate white people.

The Rev. J. Paschall Davis, chairman of the Metropolitan Community Action Commission, wired Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., that sworn testimony he gave last Friday was "not exactly correct."

Davis testified before the Senate Judiciary Committee at the urging of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., after Nashville police Capt. John A. Sorace charged that antipoverty agency funds had been channeled to the school.

The agency is largely financed by the federal Office of Economic Opportunity, which denied, after Sorace's testimony, that it was helping to support the school he accused of teaching racial hatred.

Land Is Burned

HAGERMAN — The Hagerman Volunteer fire department answered a call to the Frank Henslee farm four miles south of Hagerman at noon Sunday. The fire burned one and one-half acres of stubble land. Fire Chief Robert Lawrason credited the quick response of the volunteer firemen and their knowledge of the fire-fighting equipment for holding the loss to a minimum.

The cause of the fire is not known, but men and equipment were in the field at the time hauling baled straw.

lic aid as a threat to Kaunda's policy of nonalignment.

10-foot plastic statue of a smiling Chairman Mao, together with 200 lifelike portraits of the Chinese leader, dominated the recent Zambian trade fair.

Zambia is about the size of Texas with a black population of nearly four million. It was a British protectorate called Northern Rhodesia until it became independent in 1964. Zambia has been troubled since independence mostly by the sanctions against her white-ruled neighbor Rhodesia, whose Prime Minister Ian Smith declared independence in November 1965. The world's third largest copper producer, Zambia's mineral exports topped $560 million last year.

Kaunda would like to sever all trade links with his immediate Portuguese, Angola, Mozambique and especially Rhodesia, Zambia's landlocked position doesn't allow this. Most of its copper exports must be shipped through white-dominated territories.

Rhodesia and Zambia are partners in a railway and airline. Zambia's copper is largely extracted by American, British and South African interests. Many of the country's 65,000 whites, mainly South African and British, supervise copper-belt mines.

In bars, cafes, hotels, movies and social clubs something of an economic apartheid exists—few Zambians can afford the same luxuries as whites.

There is growing racial antagonism, much of it fomented by government ministers who claim Africanization of important jobs is being slowed by whites.

Foreign diplomats are warned to avoid meddling in the country's problems or get out. They cannot travel outside a given area unless government permission is obtained.

20 Minidoka Area Youths Attend Camp

RUPERT—A group of 20 12-year-olds from Minidoka County are spending this week at camp near Warm River in Yellowstone Park country as a culmination of their summer's experiment in a unique school experience.

Under the direction of Gerald Harding, Minico math teacher and coach, and the assistance of Grace Kraus, last year's student body president at the school, the program in outdoor education is financed through a federal program.

It originated in cities where youngsters had practically no knowledge of nature, and this year Minidoka County has participated in the pilot program being conducted in several schools in Idaho, including Jerome.

The program in its experimental stage saw the two instructors take the 20 young people out into the field, where they were told to get information and samples of those things in nature in which they were interested.

At first the boys and girls went a little "wild," running off in 20 different directions, Mr. Harding said. However, they settled down on their second trip to the things that really interested them and began an earnest study of nature.

Miss Kraus displayed some of the collections the pupils have made during the summer, when the two reported on the project at the Chamber of Commerce meeting Thursday at Hiram's Cafe.

Mr. Harding said the first year of the program has indicated a need to give preliminary classroom instructions in some basics and a bit of preparation before the students are taken out into the field, and if it is again sponsored under his direction he will make this change.

Chief benefits to be derived from the program are a development of leadership, and assisting some shy or quiet young person to find an area in which he can excel, Mr. Harding said. Since each student selects his own field of interest, and learns about it at his own speed, not in competition with others, it is an excellent way to develop leadership abilities.

The boys and girls, who will be seventh graders this fall, indicated their interest in the program through a survey taken at the close of school last year.

The instructors supplied a collection of books dealing with such subjects as leaves, wild flowers, reptiles, stars, rocks, insects, and the students also used reference books in school and public libraries as their "texts."

After a series of short field trips to such places as The Craters of the Moon, Lake Wal-

Aerial Litterbugging Plan Could Save Downed Pilots

By TOM TIEDE
WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The latest military campaign to save the lives of American pilots in hostile North Vietnam has met little more than snorts of skepticism here.

No one is against the plan really, but feeling is "it just won't work."

The campaign originated in the Saigon offices of psychological warfare. It has been carried into enemy territory in the form of millions of leaflets proclaiming rewards of pure gold to anyone aiding the escape of downed U.S. pilots.

The leaflets read: "Helping American military pilots and other U.S. military personnel escape to freedom can bring you 50 taels of gold (about $1,750). If you see an American who has parachuted to ground, or has escaped capture, do not be afraid — approach him and make him understand you wish him no harm by waving your hand.

"Help him in any way you can."

"Hide him from hostile authorities, cooperate with him in finding his way to safety. You may escape to freedom with him or return home just as you choose."

"You will be paid these 50 taels of gold at the time the American is rescued or at any other time you choose. You may collect the reward in gold bullion, or in the equivalent amount of any currency you choose, payable in any free world country."

The leaflets are signed by Elsworth Bunker, U.S. ambassador. Critics of the litterbugging see it as "impossibly invalid." One Air Force officer, who has himself been shot down, says it sounds "more psychotic than psychological."

"For one thing," he asks, "how will the gold be paid?" The answer is probably classified. Neither State Department nor Department of Defense spokesmen will publicly comment. But there are several obvious possibilities.

One is that helicopter rescue teams would be the pay-off men. In most rescues, at least one crew member usually touches ground where transactions could be made.

Another possibility is that the pilots would be equipped with bribe bullion. This theory is somewhat shallow in light of the fact that a tempted North Vietnamese would risk less by shooting the flyer and stealing the gold. Observers agree the most probable method of payment would be the usage of "bloodchits." The chits, popular in other wars but seldom used in this one, guarantee the bearer a reward upon presentation to any American military command. Supposedly, bloodchits would be given to helpful North Vietnamese by rescued pilots. Then the holder would have to make his way — probably into Laos or Thailand — to receive compensation from the nearest U.S. military base.

Motorists Alerted To Young Bicycle Riders

A small child, a bicycle and a warm afternoon can add up to a nostalgic and pleasant scene . . . but when heavy traffic is added to the combination, the scene can turn into tragedy.

This combination resulted in five fatal car-bicycle accidents in Idaho last year.

A plea to the motorists who can, by additional alertness, avoid such fatalities was issued today by Idaho State Police Lt. Dean Bennett. Twin Falls, he noted, has been fortunate so far this year in its lack of fatal bicycle-car collisions, but a continued good record calls for even more concern on the part of both motorists and cyclists.

Because of a great increase in motor vehicle traffic, bicycles have almost become a hazard in themselves, he commented. The very qualities that make them ideal for a small child—their lightness, maneuverability and the ease with which they can be ridden—add to the hazard.

A news release issued by the Motor Vehicle Department, safety division, Madison, Wis., notes that "in the congested, hustling traffic to be found sometimes in even the smallest of our cities the bicycle really has no place.

"The rider is too vulnerable. Even a small pebble can throw him off balance and into the path of an automobile. In the hands of a child who doesn't really comprehend the danger of the situation, tragedy could occur at any instant," the release continues.

In Idaho last year, 133 bicycle riders were injured in bicycle accidents, and five were killed. The rate of injury in such accidents is high—the 141 bicycle-car wrecks recorded last year, injuries and/or death resulted in 138.

"While all children yearn for the mobility and relative independence bikes can give them, it is up to the parents to bring the child ready for one. Just because his pals have bikes is no reason to give your son one too," a spokesman for the Motor Vehicle Department commented.

Continuing, the spokesman noted, "For his safety and your peace of mind, you should be sure your child realizes the responsibility he is acquiring. He must be aware that there are certain rules and that they must be obeyed."

The importance of making young children "obey the rules" of bicycle riding cannot be overstressed, Lt. Bennett commented. Children often form behavior patterns while riding bikes that carry over to the time when they graduate to automobiles.

While the laws affecting the riding of bicycles are quite similar to those regulating motor vehicle traffic, there are some differences. Therefore, Lt. Bennett said, "It's best that all bicyclists have a copy of a leaflet entitled 'The Bicyclist's Book of Rules.' It's available at nearly all police offices."

One of the most commonly violated rules is that calling for the complete stop of a bicycle at a stop sign or light. Lt. Bennett pointed out that many bicyclists, adult as well as child, merely "slow down a little bit" at stop signs, a practice that often results in accidents.

The rules make it clear that bicycles are affected by all traffic laws governing motor vehicles. Bikes should be ridden in the street unless a bicycle path is provided. They must be ridden in the same direction as other traffic and close to the right hand side of the street unless the rider wishes to turn left.

Quoting an old adage, a traffic safety spokesman wryly noted "One boy's a good boy, two boys are half a boy and three boys are no boys at all." The spokesman continued, "One boy probably will follow the rules of safe driving. Two are apt to forget as they show off together. Three or more riding together means nobody's thinking at all about cars—and then, it's up to the motorists to do some thinking."

In connection with their traffic safety program, the Motor Vehicle Department Safety division has listed a number of bike safety rules that should be discussed by every family having a bike. They are:

1. Obey all traffic signs and regulations.
2. Ride single file, at a safe distance behind the vehicle ahead.
3. Stop and see that sidewalks or streets are clear, before riding out of alleys or driveways or from behind parked cars.
4. Dismount and walk the bike across heavily traveled streets and highways.
5. Signal your intention to turn.
6. Carry parcels and books in a basket or luggage carrier.
7. Never ride two on a bike—passengers interfere with vision and control.
8. Never hitch onto other vehicles. It's unsafe and illegal.
9. At night have a white light on front of bike, a red light or reflector on the rear, and wear white or light-colored clothing.
10. Park your bike in a safe and proper place, standing upright.

possibility of any significant job cutback even though Johnson has announced efforts to curtail spending by as much as $4 billion under the "cut, tax and borrow" program he sent Congress last week.

The outlook is for rising employment, officials said, because only a relatively small portion of federal spending is "controllable" by the administration and because Johnson will not cut anti-poverty programs, controllable or not.

Summer jobs for slum dwellers, youth activities, work-training programs and other efforts to alleviate poverty are viewed officially as top-priority measures this summer because of racial tensions in the cities.

The civilian pay roll topped $20 billion in the fiscal year ended June 30. The congressional joint committee reported that civilian agency wages and salaries totaled $11.8 billion while the Defense Department paid $8.6 billion to its civilian workers, for a total of $20.4 billion.

Executive branch employment totaled 2,980,156 in June, according to the Congressional Joint Committee on Reduction of Nonessential Federal Expenditures.

That represents a rise of nearly 500,000 employees since Johnson took office in November 1963, and is the highest on record except for during and just after World War II.

Some of the June rise was seasonal and temporary. The joint committee noted about half the 74,911 increase over May resulted from temporary summer jobs under the President's Youth Opportunity program. There also were seasonal hiring rises at the Interior, Agriculture and Post Office Administration officials conceded privately there is little departments.

AN INNERTUBE carried on the handlebars of this bike nearly cost a young rider the use of his arm. The accident was one of 141 car-bicycle wrecks occurring in Idaho last year. This boy was lucky—he got off with his life.

By STERLING F. GREEN WASHINGTON (AP) — The rising number of federal civilian employees probably will pass 3 million this month despite cost-cutting orders issued by President Johnson.

That represents a rise of nearly 500,000 employees since Johnson took office in November 1963, and is the highest on record except for during and just after World War II.

Enters Race

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — A. W. Willis Jr., the first Negro elected to the Tennessee Legislature since Reconstruction, entered the crowded race for Mayor of this Mississippi River city today.

The attorney, 42, announced his candidacy at a news conference and appealed for the support of white and Negro alike.

The two-term legislator was the sixth candidate to enter the race. The others, all of them white, are Mayor William B. Ingram, former mayor Henry Loeb, Sheriff William Morris, and city Commissioners Hunter Lane and Pete Sisson. All are proven vote getters.

Isle Of Man Parliament Is Split

By RONALD THOMSON DOUGLAS, Isle of Man (AP) — The ancient Parliament of this holiday isle in the Irish Sea split down the middle Tuesday on whether to denounce Britain as a colonial oppressor for trying to silence a pirate radio station anchored off the island.

In a chamber ringing with the cries of "British detestorship" and countercharges of "farce" members of the Lower House finally staged a walkout from a joint session with the Upper House.

Then, in isolation and in defiance of the Upper House, they adopted a resolution calling on prime ministers of the British Commonwealth to settle the island's dispute with the British mainland.

It was the climax of a daylong debate that produced a hasty end to a much publicized plan to hale Britain before the United Nations for trying to impose domestic policies on the island.

If rained most of the day and the emergency meeting of Tynwald, the 1,000-year-old Manx Parliament, was the best free show in town. Hundreds of visitors and residents queued for seats in the small public gallery, but most had to be turned away.

CUE BIDS CAN BE SHEER TORTURE

One of the most hideous of tortures a player can inflict on his partner is to keep on repeating cue bids to him. Once in awhile an opponent is kind enough to help the victim by cue bid and North was glad to pass. South wasn't dismayed in the slightest. He made a second cue bid. Again West was kind enough to double and again North was delighted to pass.

South could have cue bid again but he decided to give poor North a break. South jumped to six hearts. As South explained later on, "I clearly had shown seven diamonds and six hearts and it was up to North to go to seven diamonds with that king."

As North replied later, "I had bid one no-trump and that was as far as I intended to go."

It was just as well for South that North did pass. The 4-1 heart break would have led six diamonds to sure defeat. It might also have taken care of six hearts but South ruffled the spade lead and led a low heart toward dummy's jack and made the heart again.

Strangely enough, most six diamond declarers went down when they led out the ace and king of hearts. The safety play at six diamonds was to cash one high heart and then lead low.

What do you do now?
A—Bid two clubs. We have no criticism of a one no-trump call but to prefer the two-club bid. A stronger bid is unnecessary since we have shown values by our redouble.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Your partner goes to three clubs. What do you do now?

Answer Next Issue

doubling. In that case the victim can pass and make the cue bidder get out of his own troubles. Today's case is taken from the 1964 summer nationals.

South chose to overcall with only one diamond on the theory that someone was going to bid and that he would get another chance.

Strangely enough everyone had found a bid by the time it got back to South. What's more, everyone had enough or almost enough to act.

This gave South his chance to go into cue bidding to correct his first underbid. West was kind enough to double the first

Just Don't Run Too Fast, Lass!

Dear Walt: My best girl friend says boys don't like girls who are good at sports. She used to like sports and participated in them until it came to track. One day, before tryouts for the track team, we were practicing in my yard. I did better in the broad jump and the shot put than she did. Until I beat her in these, she liked sports.

Then she said she wasn't going out for track, that boys don't like athletic girls. What do you say? Reply soon. I have been thinking about being a gym teacher since the third grade, so this answer is really important to me. — Serious.

Dear Serious: If a girl sticks to sports where she competes with girls, and these sports don't mold her into a tank, she'll find no lessening of her feminine appeal. But if she acquires lumpy muscles or bests the boys at their own game, then the score will be "no love."

—Walt.

Dear P: Ask your dad to talk with the drugstore manager. Preface the request by asking how he'd feel if he were a businessman and lost a customer because of an unavoidable incident. If you are polite and non-hysterical, your dad may reconsider the question — Ele and Walt.

P. S. In any large American city there are bound to be survivors of the concentration camp nightmares. The was cruel not "cool" to flaunt these Nazi trappings!

FATHER'S SNAP JUDGMENT
Dear Ele and Walt: Sunday my Dad was taking me to church and we missed a group.

T. F. Woman Gets Award For Idea

You never know how much an idea you have is worth until you suggest it to someone.

This is what a Social Security Office employee, Catherine M. Smith, 126 Taylor St., did, and her idea was worth $100.

She explained her idea in this way, "A large percentage of benefit amounts for claimants are made by a computer in Baltimore, resulting in what we call a computer-prepared award, which goes to the claimant, telling him of the amount of his benefit. My suggestion was to help speed up the process of the computer."

"The computer, generally, is very efficient, but occasionally, further development in a claim will make a difference in the computation of benefits. My suggestion concerned this aspect of the job."

R. E. Menghini, manager of the Social Security Office, presented her with the cash award.

RECEIVING A $100 cash award for her suggestion for speeding up the process of a computer at the Social Security Office is Catherine M. Smith, 125 Taylor St., employee of the company. Presenting the check is R. E. Menghini, manager.

LONGVIEW (AP) — Roy F. Morse, 82, one of the original planners of the city of Longview and Long-Bell Lumber Co.'s Northwest timber operations, died in a hospital here Tuesday.

Contract Let

WASHINGTON (AP) — The award of a $19,000 contract for special drilling rigs to explore water tables in Idaho is being investigated by the General Accounting Office.

A spokesman for GAO, which is an arm of Congress, said the Department of Agriculture has been asked for details on the award.

The investigation was asked by Bucyrus-Erie Co., which has a plant at Evansville, Ind., and

Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind. Hartke's office said Bucyrus-Erie was the lowest bidder at $16,306 and two other bids were lower than the $19,180 submitted by Stardrills, Inc., Portland, Ore.

"We're just asking why three lower bids were not considered," a Hartke aide said.

He said the contract was awarded by the Minneapolis regional office of the agriculture department's agricultural research service.

CREAM OF THE CREAM CROP

Lush green pastures and fat, slick dairy cattle typify southern Idaho's famous Grade "A" dairy farms. Dairying in Idaho is a $50 million annual industry and accounts for the Gem State's largest agricultural income. The processing of milk into its wide variety of dairy foods requires heat... and plenty of it. Natural gas is the fuel used most by Idaho creameries and dairies for their multitude of heating requirements because it's fast, clean, versatile and economical.

The availability of natural gas has attracted 100 new industries to Idaho and made it possible for many more to expand their facilities by converting to gas. Today, Intermountain Gas Company is supplying natural gas to 64,000 residential, commercial and industrial customers throughout southern Idaho at a cost equal to or below that of any other natural gas utility in the northwest.

NOTICE! WE WANT TO BE

THE LEADER

We believe Twin Falls should be the home of the largest volume automobile dealer in Idaho. To do this, we must sell more cars and trucks than any other dealer. Therefore, our prices must be lower and our service better than the others. This will mean greater savings to you — the buying public — as our overhead is low and we need less profit per unit sold.

Our pledge to you: Our personnel will be more willing to co-operate with our customers — to be honest at all times in our dealings with the public. We will not hide finance charges, balloon payments, or down payment loans.

If there is any possible way to make you a deal on the automobile of your choice, we will be more than happy to oblige.

It is our sincere desire to make Glen Jenkins Chevrolet the best place to buy a new or used car.

Deal with the leader. For 38 years your local Chevy dealer.

1 NEW TIRE FREE IF TREAD EVER SEPARATES!

Should any Crest CP-50 tire fail from tread or ply separation during the normal lifetime of the tire (as long as there is usable tread), we'll replace it, free.

2 50,000-MILE GUARANTEE
 AGAINST TREAD WEAR-OUT!

Should the CP-50 tread wear out within the warranty period (50,000 miles), you will be given a full $10 off the regular outright retail price (including excise tax) on the purchase of a new tire of equal value.

3 LIFETIME* WARRANTY AGAINST ROAD HAZARDS!

Any CP-50 tire damaged by stone bruises, impact breaks or cuts will be replaced if irreparable, charging only for the tread used.

4 LIFETIME* WARRANTY ON MATERIALS & WORKMANSHIP!

The CP-50 is warranted without limit as to time or mileage against defects in materials or workmanship (other than No. 1 above). Adjustments prorated on tread wear.
*This LIFETIME means life of original tread.
