Parties Unite To Assure Passage Of Benefit Boost

By EDMOND LeBRETON
WASHINGTON (AP) — House Democratic and Republican leaders have forged a rare union to assure passage of legislation to boost Social Security benefits and taxes.

If the bill finally is enacted, the average benefit paid a retired couple would go up from $145 to $164 a month. Each of the current 24.2 million beneficiaries would receive at least a 12½ per cent increase. The range of benefits for a single retired person, now $44 to $142 a month, would rise to $50 to $159.80.

Taxes would go up as well — a maximum of $4 next year for a worker earning as much as $7,600 and for his employer. The scale would rise more in future years.

While official endorsement of the bill by the House Republican leadership Wednesday assured passage, there is opposition to some portions of it and the Senate is expected to work over the measure extensively, leaving its final shape to be determined by a conference of the two chambers.

The House is considering the bill under procedures that allow only a yes or no vote without amendments.

There is expected to be criticism, however, of a number of provisions.

One is a limitation, affecting especially New York, on the extent to which a state can open up federally-aided health care — medical, not medicare — to persons above the poverty level.

Another is a series of measures designed to tighten rules on aid to families with dependent children and to require adults to take jobs or prepare for them whenever possible. A proposed limit on admission of additional families to the program has drawn the fire of John W. Gardner, secretary of health, education and welfare.

In addition to the benefit increases, the bill would allow Social Security recipients to earn somewhat more money without having their benefits cut. And it would provide benefits for widows of deceased workers as young as 50, if the widows were physically unable to work.

Meanwhile the administration had two more economic indicators to cite as support for President Johnson's proposed 10 per cent income tax surcharge. The House Ways and Means Committee has suspended its hearings on the tax measure until action on the Social Security measure is completed.

The Federal Reserve Board reported Wednesday that July marked the first increase in industrial production this year. And the Commerce Department announced a strong 10.8 per cent surge in homebuilding during the same month.

Louisiana Marchers Mark Time

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The civil rights march by Louisiana Negroes, beset by increasing violence marked time today. Its leader, A. Z. Young, said they would do "a little re-planning."

The march will resume Friday at Walker, where it was halted Wednesday shortly after state police swung carbine butts and billy clubs to break up an attack on the Negro column by some 75 whites.

Meanwhile, H. Rap Brown, the Negro militant, arrived in the state, called Gov. John J. McKeithen "a fourth-class idiot" and said he would speak at the rally scheduled Sunday in Baton Rouge to mark the end of the 106-mile march from Bogalusa.

The decision by the Bogalusa Civic and Voters League not to march today gave a 24-hour respite to all involved, including the 200 troopers assigned to protect the marchers, whose number has varied from 6 to 100.

The attack Wednesday came at Satsuma, a little crossroads town on U.S. 190 some 30 miles east of Baton Rouge.

Several whites stumbled out of the fighting with head lacerations streaming blood. Eight men were arrested and later released on $500 bonds. Four men, one a state police officer with a gashed cheek, received treatment for head wounds at a hospital in nearby Denham Springs.

Johnson Views Vietnam Politics

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, striking back at critics of South Vietnam's political processes, has urged Americans not to pose "impossible standards for a young nation at war."

Speaking out publicly on the subject for the first time, Johnson took his stand Wednesday in an address at a White House ceremony honoring six American civilians for services in Vietnam.

Tito Winds Up Trip Through Arab Lands

CAIRO (AP) — Yugoslav President Tito wound up his swing through Arab lands today amid signs that his talks with Arab leaders failed to produce any peace formula for the Middle East.

The semi-official Egyptian newspaper Al Ahran quoted Yugoslav sources as saying Tito will soon launch "far-reaching political activity" through personal contacts and through the United Nations. The activity reportedly will be aimed at breaking what Tito has termed the "period of diplomatic stagnation"—the time since the emergency U.N. General Assembly on the Middle East adjourned in July.

Al Ahran said Tito insisted that he had proposed no specific peace plans to Arab leaders, saying, "I came here merely to exchange views."

Lung Cancer Task Force Appointed By Assistant Surgeon General Endicott

WASHINGTON (AP) — Assistant Surgeon General Kenneth M. Endicott announced today the appointment of a task force on lung cancer, a disease he said has reached epidemic proportions among American men.

The 10-member task force of physicians and scientists held its first meeting in Chicago Wednesday, he disclosed at a news conference. Dr. Endicott, who also is director of the National Cancer Institute, heads the group.

President Johnson called for creation of the group in a message to Congress earlier this year.

Endicott said the task force is embarking on a long-range study, seeking more information about the connection between cigarettes and lung cancer and new basic knowledge about the causes and possible cures of the disease. Development of a less hazardous cigarette is one of the aims, Endicott said.

Some scientists consider cigarette smoking a principal contributor to lung cancer, but the tobacco industry insists there is no direct proof that the ailment is caused by smoking.

Endicott said that among other things, air pollution clearly contributes to the hazard of lung cancer. He said the danger of lung cancer is much greater for city dwellers than for those who live in the country.

Endicott, speaking in the absence of Surgeon General William H. Stewart, noted that even with early detection and surgery, only 5 per cent of all persons who contract lung cancer survive for five years. "And that's a pretty poor salvage rate and we'd like to do something about it."

ROOF TRUSSES are being swung into position along the south half of the Twin Falls County Courthouse judicial annex, as seen from the roof of the courthouse proper. Within a week, building officials say, they hope to have the entire roof over the structure. It is now approximately 30 per cent completed with Oct. 1 as the hoped for completion date.

Annex Work Is 30 Per Cent Complete

Construction of the Twin Falls County Courthouse judicial annex is now about 30 per cent complete, building officials said Thursday as roof trusses were being swung into place.

More than 90 per cent of the prefabricated trusses are being installed to support the roof. The suspended ceiling will be installed by attaching it to the bottom of the trusses, George Ottens, project supervisor said.

A second judge for the Fifth Judicial District Court, James M. Cunningham began his term of duty Wednesday and until the new building is completed, will be working with cramped quarters and alternating use of courtroom space with Judge Theron W. Ward.

The district court calendar has scheduled double sessions which will require the new building facilities beginning Oct. 1.

Mr. Ottens said Thursday the building itself will be pretty well completed by then, barring further unexpected delays.

The principal problem, he said, is the 60- to 90-day delivery quoted on the building's heating unit. Bids were opened Monday for the heating and air conditioning equipment.

All overhead wiring, ducts for the heating and cooling system and other installations will be completed as soon as possible, Mr. Ottens said, and when the gas heating equipment arrives, it will be set into place. The building will utilize natural gas heating and electrical cooling equipment.

A suit brought by general contractors against the county is still a threat to the building. Pending before the Idaho Supreme Court, is an appeal by the contractors to the ruling of district court which favored the county and authorized their continuing construction under a plan which eliminated bids for general contracting work.

C. S. "Bud" Hafer was hired by the county as builder and materials and equipment as well as sub-contracting has been bid separately.

U. S. Deaths In Vietnam Counted

SAIGON (AP) — American deaths from all causes through six years of war in Vietnam have passed the 15,000 mark. Official statistics issued today showed the total as of last Saturday was 15,018.

The U.S. armed forces have lost 12,487 men in combat and 2,521 from accidents, disease and other causes classified as nonhostile.

The U.S. Command announced combat deaths numbered 82 last week.

Phony Bill

The night cashier at the Depot Grill, Twin Falls, was $4 short when the receipts were counted, but a suspicious looking $5 turned up the answer.

Chief of Police Frank Barnett took custody of the bill when it was brought to the police station.

Someone had taken a corner from four regular $5 bills and cut out the "5", pasting each over the "1" on the one dollar bill, and had succeeded in passing it for a $5 bill.

Officers said the glue began giving way under one of the false corners and the cashier happened to notice George Washington looking up at him from what he had taken to be a $5 bill.

Chief Barnett suggested clerks and cashiers check their money carefully for similar altered bills. Thus far only the one has been passed, he said.

Hearing On Dr. Kennedy Continues

BOISE (AP) — The Idaho Personnel Commission hearing continued today in connection with the April dismissal of Dr. C. H. Kennedy, the former state meat inspection supervisor.

Kennedy told of a meeting March 3 with Agriculture Commissioner Stanley Trenhaile at which the commissioner said he was concerned about a letter "floating all through the legislative body."

That letter, said Trenhaile, played a big part in his dismissal of Kennedy, 61, a state employee since 1960.

The letter reportedly told an eastern Idaho banker to "mind his own business" in a matter concerning a meat packer.

Kennedy's attorney, Calvin Dworshak, said Kennedy told him he had used "an unfortunate choice of words" in the letter.

Kennedy asks reinstatement in the inspector position, with back pay and benefits — or a state job commensurate with the one he held. He claimed his release was for "political reasons."

Waters Recede In Fairbanks, But At Very Slow Pace

By WARD SIMS
FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP) — The brown flood waters of the Chena River receded today, but at a pace so slow that the city's 15,000 evacuees were not expected to begin returning to their damaged homes and businesses before Saturday. Only a tiny fraction of them carried flood insurance, officials said.

The bodies of four more victims were found Wednesday, disaster headquarters and state police reported, bringing Alaska's flood death total to seven. Two bodies were discovered in the city and two more in Tok, a river community, on the Alaska Highway.

The victims were not identified and the cause of death was not given.

House Approves Rights Measure

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has overwhelmingly passed a bill making it a federal crime to harm or interfere with persons trying to exercise their civil rights, and extended the protection to include police and firemen working in riot areas.

But the bill, largely the same as a portion of the 1966 Civil Rights bill which died in the Senate, may be killed there again.

The bill would make it a federal crime for a person to interfere with, injure or intimidate, or threaten to injure or intimidate anyone because of his race, color, religion, national origin or political affiliation and because he is or has been engaging in certain protected activities.

The amendment providing federal protection for police and firemen was supported by members angered by this summer's city riots, in which several police officers and firefighters were injured. Some were killed.

These include voting, attending public schools, using public accommodations and public facilities, serving on state and local juries and participating in federally assisted programs.

Penalties would be up to one year and a $1,000 fine, except that serious bodily injury could bring up to 10 years and $10,000 and death could result in life imprisonment.

Chairman Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., whose Senate Judiciary subcommittee began hearings on the same measure Aug. 1, said then it "cannot stand the constitutional light of day" under the 14th Amendment.

Senate sources rated the bill's chances of clearing the full Judiciary Committee as "zero." They said an attempt might be made to bypass the committee and put the House-passed version on the floor for debate, but forecast a Southern filibuster if that tactic was used.

The danger of uncontrolled fire, which had officials on edge Wednesday after five buildings burned in the downtown area, tapered off with no additional fires reported today.

Exchange Club Takes Top Prize In Parade

BURLEY — The Burley Exchange Club, with a float featuring a waterfall and miniature farming scene, won the sweepstakes award at the Cassia county fair parade Thursday morning.

The Burley Steppettes were first and Oakley Steppettes second in the school division. In the mounted division, Cassia sheriff's posse was first and the Calaver Riding club second.

Theme of the parade, which includes some 85 floats, was "Water." Led by Burley police officers on motorcycles and DeLoa Anderson, Declo, reigning fair queen, with her attendants, Leslie Eames, Almo, and Pat Reed, Declo the parade also included the "Travelers," 18 motorcyclists from Emmett who are deputized as police officers and do precision drills.

The Filer band also participated in the parade as well as Burley city councilmen and county commissioners.

Some 3,000 persons attended the Country Western Jamboree Wednesday night at the fairgrounds, sponsored by the Burley Exchange club. The entire program was taped for Ted Kelsey, fairboard chairman, who is recuperating from pneumonia at Cassia Memorial Hospital.

The Jamboree featured Roy Clark, Country Charlie Pride, Johnny Dollar, Mary Taylor and Wynn Stewart and his band, which accompanied the singers: Holly Houburg, Twin Falls, was master of ceremonies.

Other parade winners were a church division — Pella LDS ward first, Unity ward, second; antique division — Shelby's covered wagon drawn by two oxen, first, and Wells Fargo stagecoach, Pocatello, second.

Horse racing continued at 1 p.m. Thursday and the first rodeo performance is scheduled for 8 p.m. today. Flower judging was being completed as the fair went into its second day.

Teamsters Steward Is Shot To Death

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A Teamsters Union steward was shot to death today in front of Teamsters Local 107 headquarters, the scene of a double slaying last year.

Police identified the victim as Robert DeGeorge, 33, of Philadelphia.

The danger of uncontrolled fire, which had officials on edge Wednesday after five buildings burned in the downtown area, tapered off with no additional fires reported today.

The man was shot across the street from the union hall, located a block from the Delaware River waterfront, police said. A snubnosed .38-caliber pistol was found later by police on the information counter in the Teamsters office.

Four men are being sought in connection with the shooting.

The local has been wracked by internal dissension and there were reports earlier this week that the 12,000-man local's governing executive board was considering placing the organization in trusteeship. Teamsters International headquarters in Washington said they could not confirm this report.

This was the conclusion drawn Thursday by local city officials and chairmen of the workshop committee.

More than 110 community leaders and key persons involved in planning and development programs in seven Intermountain and Northwestern states have indicated they will attend the workshop Friday in the Holiday Inn, sponsored by the Pacific Northwest Regional Council of the National Association of Housing and Redevelopment officials and the Association of Idaho Cities.

Making final plans for the one day event Wednesday were James Kelach, Twin Falls director for the Urban Renewal Agency; Larry Harper, director of the Twin Falls Housing Authority; and City Manager Herb Derrick.

President's Foreign Affairs Power Outlined

WASHINGTON (AP) — Under Secretary of State Nicholas Katzenbach told Congress today that the President has the top foreign affairs power under the Constitution "and I doubt that any president has ever acted to the full limits of that authority."

Katzenbach testified the United States would be using "outmoded phraseology" if it declared war in the Vietnam conflict.

A declaration of war would greatly misstate our objectives and be greatly misunderstood," Katzenbach said. "It would not, I think, reflect correctly the very limited objectives of the United States with respect to Vietnam to use an outmoded phraseology, to declare war."

Any such declaration presumably would be aimed against North Vietnam, although neither Katzenbach nor the committee members said so.

Katzenbach said Congress had its opportunity to pass on the use of American forces in Vietnam when it adopted a resolution on Aug. 7, 1964, authorizing President Johnson to repel attacks and prevent further aggression.

He said that resolution—usually called the Gulf of Tonkin Resolution—permitted Congress to fulfill its Constitutional role in acting upon the use of American forces overseas and in helping to shape American policy.

"What could a declaration of war do that would have given the President clearer authority?" Katzenbach asked.

"I think that's one of the difficulties now," said Fulbright. "We're not quite sure which government you're waging war against."

Katzenbach said the administration's stand before the Senate Foreign Relations committee who are looking into the question of whether President Johnson has overstepped his constitutional powers in such actions as sending U.S. forces to Vietnam.

The committee is headed by Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., a critic of Johnson's Vietnam policy.

Policeman Testifies In Detroit Trial

DETROIT (AP) — A Detroit police lieutenant testified Wednesday that a patrolman said he shot a Negro youth in self-defense at the Algiers Motel annex during Detroit's riots last month.

The patrolman, Ronald August, and a fellow officer are charged with first-degree murder in the slayings of two Negro youths at the Algiers.

Lt. Elmer J. Reed read in Detroit's Recorder's (Criminal) Court the statement which he said Reed made to him July 31.

Three days of hearings on the charges ended Wednesday and Judge Robert Demaselo said he would announce his decision today on whether the two officers will have to stand trial.

August is charged with murder in the shotgun slaying of Audrey Pollard, 19. Patrolman Robert Paille is charged in the shotgun slaying of Fred Temple, 18. August and Paille are white. Pollard and Temple were found dead at the Algiers Motel the morning of July 26, fourth day of the weeklong riot.

The body of a third youth, Carl Cooper, 17, also was found. His death remains under investigation, authorities say.

At the conclusion of the hearing, a Negro woman in the lobby outside the courtroom wailed, "They murdered my son!"

She identified herself as Pollard's mother, and, shouting angrily, demanded: "How can they say it was self-defense? He was too full of bullet holes!"

2 Injured In Accident

EDEN — Two young Magic Valley residents were injured and the motorcycle they were riding was demolished about 11:30 p.m. Wednesday, according to Idaho State Police.

The motorcycle driven by Calvin Crumrine, 19, Hazelton, dropped off the pavement on a county road about one-half mile west of the Valley Interchange when he turned to speak to his passenger, Lona Solders, 18, Shoshone.

The motorcycle went out of control when it hit the gravel shoulder of the road and went into a barbed wire fence. The motorcycle, owned by Jim Royce, Hazelton, was demolished.

Miss Solders and Crumrine were taken to Magic Valley Hospital where they were treated and released.

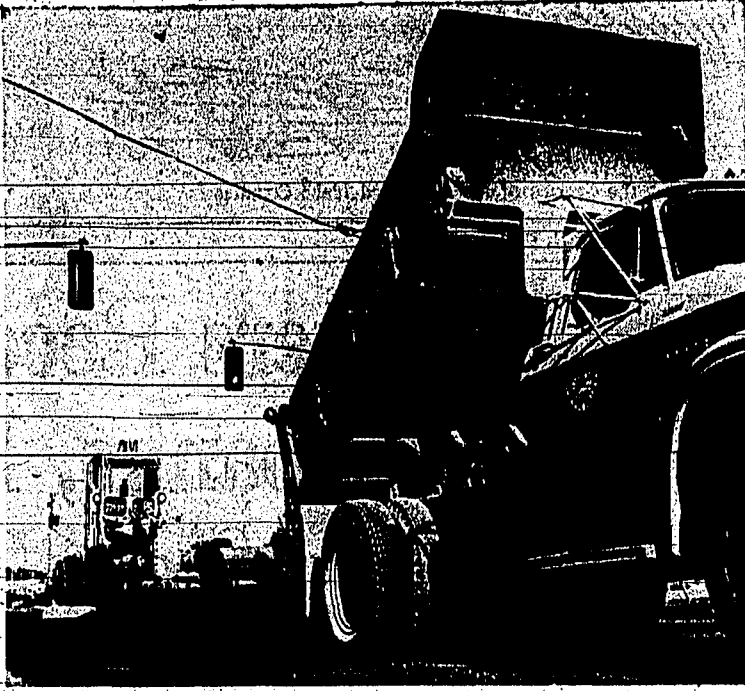

Crumrine was issued a citation for violation of the basic rule.

Twin Falls city street department crews are rebuilding the area which has been torn up for water pipe last year, and this year for sewer line and the traffic light. City Engineer Ron Scheufele said the two-block section should serve as proof the city is not always tearing up streets, but now and then undergoes a complete renovation.

2 Calves Are Killed After Hit By Cars

Two vehicles, including a state police car, were damaged Wednesday night when two small black calves ran onto the roadway three and one-half miles south of Twin Falls on the Nat-Soo-Pah road.

County Deputy Sheriff Charles Johnson said a vehicle driven by Elma L. Miller, Route 3, was traveling ahead of the state vehicle and behind a third auto. Mrs. Miller passed the lead vehicle and as she was in the left lane of traffic the first car ran into the path of her car. At about the same time the second darted into the path of the state vehicle.

Officers said both drivers reported they could not see the black calves in the dark until they were directly in their headlights.

Both animals were killed. Mrs. Miller, her passenger, Elvin Miller, and State Police Officer Everett W. Waddell, 32, escaped injuries.

'Manny The Torch' Costs Insurance Firms Millions

BY PHIL THOMAS
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Manny the Torch liked to play with matches when he was a kid. The roar of flames, the screaming of fire engines gave him pleasure. Manny's a big boy now. But he still gets his kicks playing with matches. And now he gets paid for it.

Manny's a professional torch — a criminal who sets fires on order. He'll drop burning matches in a building for a cut of the insurance money from the owner.

Manny's an imaginary figure, but he's a composite of the torch criminal whose arsonous activities cost the nation's insurance companies millions of dollars a year.

A torch is "the general, no-good criminal who will do anything for a buck," says Brendan P. Battle, manager of the Fraud and Arson Bureau of the American Insurance Association.

Last year Battle's staff of about 100 agents investigated 3,705 fires throughout the country that had been reported as being suspicious. Of these, 702 were fires set to collect the insurance money, he said.

Carey Couple Hospitalized After Mishap

KIMBERLY — Two Carey residents were in fair condition undergoing X-ray examinations at noon Thursday at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital as a result of a car-and-truck accident at Kimberly.

Deputy Sheriff Mat Vice said Dolores Parke, 38, was driving the automobile which collided with a large gravel truck owned by the Twin Falls Highway District and driven by Clyde Myers, 55, Twin Falls.

Mrs. Parke and her husband, Curtis Parke, 41, were taken to the hospital by Magic Valley Ambulance Service. Mrs. Parke suffered head cuts and her husband, who was being taken to Twin Falls because of a back ailment, suffered back and neck injuries. Officers said he was lying in the back of the station wagon when the accident occurred.

Mrs. Parke was traveling north out of Kimberly and the highway district truck was traveling south and heading around the Kimberly curve to the east. The truck driver told officers he thought the woman saw him and was going to wait, but she pulled onto the highway.

The accident occurred at the north entrance of Kimberly on U.S. Highway 30 at 10:50 a.m. Damage to the Parke vehicle was total and to the highway truck only about $500, county officers estimated.

planners and others involved in community management, the workshop will bring experts in all phases of community development to Twin Falls.

Registration will begin at 8 a.m. Friday with sessions underway at 9 a.m. Featured during morning presentations will be federal officials of the Department of Housing and Urban Development, San Francisco, as well as city and community officials who have had experience in successful community development projects.

Community leaders will be given an opportunity of learning what programs are available to them and how to undertake development programs and how to obtain available federal assistance.

"We will inform the community officials of what is available in the way of planning and assistance and it will be up to the communities to decide if they are interested in participating," Mr. Kelsch said.

Master of ceremonies for the day long meeting will be L. James Koutnik, member of the Twin Falls Urban Renewal Agency.

Moderator for workshop sessions will be Corey Richmond, Tacoma Urban Renewal director and president of the Pacific Northwest Division, National Association of Housing and Redevelopment Officials.

U. S. Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, will address the luncheon meeting in the Holiday Inn, with some dozen experts who will address morning meetings holding conference sessions in separate rooms during the afternoon. Any workshop delegate will be invited to meet with the expert in the field in which he is particularly interested and obtain answers to his specific questions.

Reservations for the workshop meeting have been received from city officials of Utah, Nevada, Montana, Wyoming, Washington, Oregon and nearly all parts of Idaho.

Picnic Is Set

The Twin Falls County Fair Bureau will hold its annual picnic at 1 p.m. Sunday at the Filer Fairgrounds. Members are asked to bring covered dishes and table service.

Ice-cream and drinks will be furnished. Members are to bring working equipment to help put up the Farm Bureau Fair booth following the picnic.

Registrations Continue For CSI Courses

More than 200 students registered this week at the College of Southern Idaho as registration for the first semester went into full swing.

As of Wednesday night 530 academic students and 220 vocational students were registered, with two weeks remaining until classes begin.

CSI Dean Dr. Donald Keith said about 1,300 students are expected for the first semester. He said late registration will continue through Sept. 19. Classes begin Aug. 30 and the in-service workshop for the 50-plus faculty members will be conducted Aug. 22 through 25.

Dr. Keith said registration will be conducted from 8 a.m. until noon on Aug. 26, with normal registration being conducted from 8:30 a.m. until 4 p.m. weekdays.

Motorists Get Warnings On Farm Vehicles

BOISE — Idaho State Police Supt. Clark Hand has issued a warning to motorists to be on the lookout for increased numbers of farm machinery on Idaho's highways.

The superintendent said that "these slow-moving vehicles, which of necessity must share the highways with other vehicular traffic, pose a serious problem for all motorists."

Hand pointed out that the last regular session of the legislature approved legislation allowing certain types of farm equipment to travel the highways at night when lighted properly.

Lt. Dean Bennett, head of State Police District No. 4, Twin Falls, said that the only type of overwidth farm machinery which can legally be moved during darkness is hay choppers.

However, the hay choppers must be properly lighted, with a flashing amber light in front and a flashing red light in the rear, and a well-lighted pilot vehicle or flagman must be used when moving the wide equipment.

Hand said the legislative action has increased the number of farm-type machinery and equipment on the highway as well as adding to the dangers of night driving.

"It's a good practice," he said, "to drive defensively and be prepared to avoid collision with these slow-moving vehicles."

"Cooperation by the farm machine operators and the motoring public will assist in reducing the number of accidents which might otherwise occur," Hand concluded.

War Dead Returned To U.S. With Dignified Handling

By GEORGE ESPER

SAIGON (AP) — The bodies of Americans killed in combat in the Vietnam war are being returned to the United States with dignified handling and the highest priority, U.S. officers say.

"Any remains recovered are returned to the United States," says Maj. Joe R. Caldwell, 50, of Oakland, Calif., the officer in charge of the U.S. Army mortuary at Saigon's Tan Son Nhut airport. "There is no burial out here."

U.S. troops make every effort to recover the bodies of their fallen comrades and in several cases have suffered serious casualties while trying to remove the dead from the battlefield.

During World War II and the first part of the Korean War, U.S. dead were interred in temporary cemeteries in foreign lands, but in 1952 the armed forces in Korea began a program of returning the dead to their next of kin.

It has been that way since the beginning of American involvement in the Vietnam war.

"The mortuary here is conducted much as a funeral home would be in the states," says Ernest Demester, of Nashua, N.H., a civilian mortuary officer and a licensed mortician.

The U.S. Army mortuary is responsible for "receiving, identifying, preserving and shipping to the continental United States" the remains of American servicemen killed in combat, those who die of noncombat causes and of American civilian noncombatants working under contract for the U.S. government. It does the same for the remains of allied troops from other foreign countries such as South Korea, Australia, New Zealand and the Philippines, except that the remains are sent to their own lands.

Only recently, the army opened a smaller mortuary at Da Nang Air Base, 380 miles northeast of Saigon. The Da Nang mortuary is responsible for all of the so-called 1st Corps, the five northernmost provinces of South Vietnam in which 78,000 U.S. Marines are based.

"When a man is killed in combat, his body is taken to the nearest graves registration point. There, identification is made, if possible. From there, the remains are moved by the fastest possible means available to one of the two mortuaries. Identification must be verified at the morgues before the remains are returned to the United States. This is done in many ways, including fingerprint records and dental charts."

Once positive identification is established, the bodies are returned by air to the United States on the highest priority. "The bodies are sent to Travis Air Force Base, Calif., or to Dover Air Force Base, Del. From these points they are sent to a destination specified by next of kin, accompanied by a military escort.

Area Aviator Given Medals Posthumously

Mrs. Donna Dodson, Twin Falls, recently accepted the Bronze Star Medal and the Air Medal for her late husband, Col. 1st Lt. Jack L. Dodson, who was killed in action May 26, 1967, in Vietnam.

Volunteering on his own time after duty hours May 26, Lt. Dodson went with the 5th Air Cavalry to gain firsthand knowledge and experience in the country aerial gunnery techniques so that he could be well familiarized with his role as an Army aviator in Vietnam. He was a crew member of an armed UH-1C helicopter.

He was flying out of the Mekong Delta when the 5th Air Cavalry helicopter received a scramble mission to provide aerial counterattacks against enemy forces bordering a small nearby village. During the aerial attack, the helicopter crashed, killing all aboard.

Lt. Dodson had been in Vietnam only two days, and the assigned helicopters of his unit, the 191st Assault Helicopter Company, had not yet arrived.

The citation for the Air Medal reads, in part: "Through his voluntary actions and his devotion to his mission as an Army aviator, beyond what is normally expected, Lt. Dodson gave his life while supporting ground forces under attack at the time... His actions of voluntary service were in keeping with the highest tradition of military service, and reflects great credit on himself, his unit, and the U.S. Army."

He was drafted Jan. 21, 1964. He graduated from Kimberly High School, and attended Idaho State University, Pocatello.

LT. JACK L. DODSON
... son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dodson, Kimberly, who was killed in Vietnam May 26, has been honored posthumously with the award of the Bronze Star and Air Medal. He perished with the entire crew of a UH-1C helicopter which was assigned to Delta troop, third squadron, 5th air cavalry. A graduate of Kimberly High School, he attended Idaho State University, Pocatello, and was drafted Jan. 21, 1964.

Senate Ready To Heed Plea By President

By JOE HALL
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate appears ready to heed President Johnson's plea for restoration of a big part of the House cut in his model cities program—and to offer plans of its own for rebuilding the nation's slums.

Two Senate committees worked on legislation going far beyond the President's recommendations regarding urban problems.

A housing subcommittee may complete its work today on an omnibus housing measure to provide homes for low-income families. Numerous proposals are under consideration.

The administration asked for no such program this year, preferring to concentrate its efforts on getting funds for model cities and rent subsidies which were authorized in previous housing measures.

The subcommittee already has decided to include in the omnibus bill Johnson's proposal for a rat control program, rejected earlier by the House in an action sharply criticized by civil rights leaders.

Meanwhile the Senate Labor Committee holds its first closed session on an antipoverty bill broadened in subcommittee $3 billion beyond the President's proposal.

The subcommittee voted $2.2 billion for the fourth year of the "war on poverty," $148 million more than Johnson asked.

In addition, it wrote into the measure a new $3 billion program sponsored by Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., its chairman, as a response to riots in numerous cities this summer.

Brandt Views Relations Of U.S., France

BONN, Germany (AP) — West German Foreign Minister Willy Brandt said today relations between the United States and France are increasingly posing a problem for his government.

"This will make our foreign policy more complicated," Brandt said on his return from the United States.

He took part in two days of talks between President Johnson and Chancellor Kurt-Georg Kiesinger in Washington.

Brandt expressed belief the talks helped clear up such issues as German troop strength and the proposed treaty to stop the spread of nuclear weapons.

Brandt said West Germany would make no unilateral cuts in troop strength without consulting its allies in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

JOINS OPPOSITION

PARIS (AP) — The chorus of French opposition to President Charles de Gaulle's overtures on behalf of French Canadian separatism has been joined by opposition leader Francois Mitterrand.

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — A huge object hovering over Salt Lake City Wednesday evening caused frightened citizens to flood the sheriff's office switchboard with calls. Instead of an unidentified flying object, deputies found a 300-foot-balloon shaped like a frankfurter advertising a local meat packing plant.

Steady As It Goes

The newest figures on employment have a cheerful look, but hardly enough to establish that the economy is seriously heating up.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics reports that 76.2 million Americans held civilian jobs last month, the highest number ever. And despite the usual summer surge of young people seeking work, the unemployment rate dropped slightly from 4 per cent in June to 3.9 per cent.

Another side of the story, however, is that the unemployment rate has remained about the same since January 1966, meaning that the Great Society's goal of less than 3 per cent is still a long way off. From July 1966 to July 1967, in fact, the number of jobless grew by 202,000.

This was proportionately three times faster than the number with jobs—and six times faster than the population.

Nor was there much sign of inflationary pressure in the earnings announced by the bureau. The average weekly pay in manufacturing came to $113.24 in July, which not only was a 57-cent decline from June but was only 2 per cent higher than a year earlier. In the same 12 months the cost of living rose 2.6 per cent.

Further, whatever buildup the employment record may suggest is not entirely in private business. The biggest growth industry still is government—local, state and national. It hires 15 of every 100 civilians, and the number is rapidly rising.

It was a significant coincidence, in fact that the federal executive branch was disclosed several days ago to have—at nearly 3 million—the highest number of civilian employees ever, aside from World War II and shortly thereafter.

So far as these figures show, then, the economy seems to be little more than holding its own—still strong, but not racing. Accordingly, any argument for restraint through higher taxes is misleading, extraneous and less than candid.

The Gold Deficit

In what must be considered an important economic "white paper," the American Bankers Association has called for elimination of the deficit in the United States balance of payments. The alternatives are devaluation of the dollar by increasing the Treasury's price of gold or placing an embargo on gold sales to foreign governments. Neither is, of course, desirable.

The statement, which was prepared by the ABA's economic policy committee, makes clear where the banking fraternity now stands officially on the government's gold policy.

Balance of payment deficits since 1957 have led to a constant drain on the U.S. gold supply. Unlike France, which has preferred to exchange its dollar reserves for U.S. gold, most foreign creditors have shown patience with American difficulties resulting from its payments position.

But, as the "white paper" has pointed out, "this patience has not stemmed solely from generosity." Because the dollar is an international reserve currency, along with the British pound, many foreign nations would suffer severe hardship if the dollar's prestige were destroyed by devaluation.

But a $20 billion annual expenditure for the Vietnam war, for instance, can tilt the payments balance only one way—toward deficit.

WASHINGTON — A Newark cop named Leonard Kowalewski, whose immigrant forebears won equality by working for it, unwittingly diagnosed the cheap, maudlin and opportunistic sickness that has the nation covering before the Stokely Carmichaels and the Rap Browns. The Newark police, Kowalewski told the Senate Judiciary Committee, had orders from the top just before the riots that Newark apart July 12: "No arrests. Don't antagonize them." Kowalewski was discussing the problem posed by assorted Negro militants whose agitation for violence touched off the riots. He quoted the Negro playwright, LeRoi Jones, as telling the city council the atomic bombing of Hiroshima and Nagasaki would "look like Sunday school picnics after we get through with Newark." A Black Nationalist, one Colonel Hassan, ripped the tape from a recorder and broke furniture at a board of education meeting, Kowalewski said. In legal lexicon, what LeRoi Jones did was incite to riot. What Colonel Hassan did was willfully to destroy property. Certainly, if a white behaved as Colonel Hassan did, he would have been arrested. But because there are big blocs of voters in the ghettoes, the Newark cops didn't dare do their duty lest they be exiled to the poorhouse. In defense of their opportunism, the politicians are talking a great deal of waddle about the Constitutional right of freedom of speech. But, as Justice Holmes once remarked, freedom of speech is not the freedom falsely to shout fire in a crowded movie theater. There is what the Constitutionalists call "a clear and present danger" to be considered.

That is to say, the climate in which the Carmichaels and the Browns and the Joneses and the Colonel Hassans shriek their incitement is clearly dangerous. A few years ago, their marauding howls probably would have gone unheeded. But in today's circumstances — which, curiously, seem to have been produced by the greatest civil rights advances in the nation's history — these howls have sent rioters and looters into the streets in an unprecedented orgy of violence.

ly Carmichael for vowing the assassination of Lyndon Johnson. Rap Brown says he "might shoot Lady Bird." He told an audience here to "Get you some guns . . . there should be more shooting than looting." If necessary, Brown said, his listeners should "burn this town down." But so far Brown has been charged only with inciting to riot in Cambridge, Md., where his followers managed to burn down almost the entire Negro section, causing widespread bankruptcy among their "soul brothers" and, to date, the suicide of a Negro store owner. "Don't antagonize them," said the Newark politicians to the Newark cops. The advice would be laughable if it were not so tragic. How much more antagonistic can these creeps get, anyway? Must we wait till they put the White House to the torch and send Lyndon Johnson fleeing for safety to the Virginia countryside, as Madison did before the British?

Sick? The country is off its collective rocker. It's suffering from a death wish. How else explain the circumstances that Rap Brown's incitement to genocide and the razing of Washington was delivered from the pulpit of St. Stephen and the Incarnation Episcopal church, a few blocks from the White House? Adolf Hitler would have felt right at home in that House of God.

'But, Fidel, That's My Girl'

JAMES MARLOW

Fraying Leader

WASHINGTON (AP) — For almost a decade French President Charles de Gaulle has been walking a fragile tightrope although with his self-confidence it probably seemed as sturdy as a concrete highway. It's getting frayed as he gets older. He is 76. Yet his presidency has another six years to go. He has done historic service for France but already is talked of as a man who belonged in another century.

The French commentator, Robert Aron, said De Gaulle has a "Napoleonic or Sun King concept and shows even when he claims to be an innovator he is often a reactionary."

Former President Harry S. Truman had the same idea four years ago, saying De Gaulle sounds "more like the same old Napoleon brandy with a strong dash of Machiavellian cynicism. He is in any event over a century too late."

De Gaulle can be crude and gracious but he never matched the clumsiness he showed last month when he visited Canada as its honored guest for its centennial. Carried away by his French nationalism while addressing a crowd of French Canadians, less than 10 per cent of whom are agitating for separation from Canada, De Gaulle shouted in their support: "Free Quebec."

The shock waves from this bit of gall by De Gaulle, who contributed to discontent if not revolt in a country where he was a guest, was felt around the world, including France.

The Canadian government showed remarkable restraint by saying the least it could say. It called his remarks "unacceptable." He went home in a huff. Some of his critics called him "senile."

At home he was under criticism not only for the Quebec but for his domestic and foreign policies. As the years go by his popularity goes down. The Gaullists have practically no edge in Parliament.

Thin-skinned as always Thursday he attacked his critics, calling them "apostles of decline" with a "strong passion for abasement."

Step by step, as he grows older, he removes himself further from his wartime allies, the United States and Britain, while antagonizing them. He refers to them with a disdain hardly concealed as those "Anglo-Saxons."

Most recently he has been calling for American withdrawal from Vietnam although it was De Gaulle who, immediately after World War II, sent French troops into Vietnam to recoccupy it as a colony. And out of that grew the war which has been going on since, even though the French were defeated and ousted.

He sided with Moscow and the Arabs against Israel in the June Mideast war. And here are some other things done by this Frenchman who still calls himself a reliable ally: He banned the British from the European Common Market; refused to agree to a nuclear test ban treaty; advocated the neutralization of Southeast Asia; recognized the sovereignty of the Red Chinese over mainland China; crippled the North Atlantic Treaty Organization by pulling his troops from its command; appealed to West Germany and other European countries to assert their national independence and escape any domination by the United States.

Yet, he has proposed France as the likely leader of a "third world." Despite his ego, which increasingly looks more eccentric than unusual, France owes him an endless debt.

He was the symbol of French resistance and revival in World War II. And in 1958, when he returned to power which he has held since, France was close to civil war. He snatched it out of chaos. But despite all this he has failed to assure orderly succession or stability for France when his presidency is up, which won't be until 1973. He himself predicted what he thought lies ahead: "After me, a mess."

Race Study--Negro Skepticism

WASHINGTON (NEA)— Some elements in the nation's responsible Negro community are tending to discount in advance the work of President Johnson's new commission on racial disorders.

Grumbling is heard that nothing of material consequence flowing from that endeavor.

In their view, the final conference report was fueled by very tough task force reports which dealt realistically with the causes of racial turbulence in the cities. Two of the nation's four straight "hot summers" were already in the record book. Documents like the McCone report on Watts could be studied.

Though the final report to the President was too long-delayed and considerably watered down from the task force originals, it still offered some firm commendations.

Not least of these was a call for establishing a flock of metropolitan councils in U.S. cities, to attack the problems of the Negro population — principally the lack of jobs.

This idea was, in the preliminary stages, the main theme of the 1966 conference. Even though it seemed partly lost in the report, it nevertheless is a nearly exact prototype of the so-called Urban Coalition, a combine of political leaders, businessmen, civic leaders and others, which New York's Mayor Lindsay and Pittsburgh's Mayor Barr are putting together now for a fresh assault on the ailments of the cities.

Some disillusioned Negro moderates cannot imagine that the President's commission on disorders is really going to do any better than did the dedicated team which laid the groundwork for the 1966 conference.

What they want, obviously, is action — not more recommendations and findings.

They cannot quite shrug off the feeling that the President's institutionalized efforts to deal with racial turbulence, through first the conference and now the commission, are designed mainly to take some of the political heat out of the issue.

It added nothing to their confidence when the New York Times alleged that Johnson and his aides tried to talk Lindsay and Barr out of convening their first Urban Coalition meeting here. The purported reason: conflict with the President's new commission.

Lindsay, Barr and key presidential aides all deny flatly that it was ever Johnson's intent to oppose the Urban Coalition plan. Clearly, such opposition would place him directly athwart a main recommendation of the 1966 conference.

Yet, lingering in the minds of some top Negro moderates is the notion that there was at least a small germ of truth in the printed report — that the President somehow or other was trying to extract maximum political advantage from the creation of his commission on racial disorders.

To reverse what seems to be a growing time of skepticism among even the most patient Negro leaders, the President would seem to need not only a very speedy report from his commission, but a program of action far more dramatic, forceful and convincing than anything that emerged from the 1966 conference.

Operation Brother's Brother

Dr. Harvey Hingson of Cleveland's Case Western Reserve University is "on vacation."

He is leading 84 other medical volunteers on an expedition to conquer disease in Costa Rica. With a "jet gun" that fires a vaccine mist at such high velocity that it penetrates skin painlessly, Dr. Hingson's "army" will travel by truck and jeep and plane and boat and horse and donkey and afoot until they have inoculated 1 1/2 million against smallpox, measles, polio, influenza, diphtheria, tetanus and whooping cough.

When that war is won, within 30 days, these medical missionaries will return to the United States to their respective jobs to prepare for next year.

Operation Brother's Brother is an annual mission of mercy by this selfless doctor and his associates. Through speechmaking and other efforts they raise money for their expeditionary forces. They solicit supplies of vaccine from pharmaceutical houses. They survey health needs and direct their efforts at the areas of greatest desperation.

Dr. Robert Hingson is America's most likely successor to the image of Albert Schweitzer. Since his first efforts in Liberia, Africa, I have watched this "army" grow and extend its healing hands to a dozen stricken areas of the world. While most of us vacation where we can be most comfortable, Dr. Hingson and his volunteers "vacation" where they are most in danger, least comfortable — most needed.

His example led the World Health Organization to use the jet inoculator to undertake immunization of almost two billion Africans and Asians against small pox and measles.

Dr. Hingson educated and inspired India to practice birth control among its food-depleting population of sacred cattle. This year, Operation Brother's Brother selected Costa Rica in an effort to intercept an epidemic of measles which might otherwise sweep Central America through Nicaragua on the north and Panama on the south.

Perhaps never have medical missionaries been equipped with a more useful weapon than the jet inoculator. Throughout Latin America they call it Dr. Hingson's "pistola de la paz," the "pistol of peace."

A handgun which saves lives instead of ending them is immensely impressive to emerging intellectuals. This newest weapon has the power to erase from the face of the earth man's oldest and most relentless enemies: germs, parasites, viruses.

Thus does Operation Brother's Brother remedy the "cause" of much human misery. Interfaith, international and interracial, this army marches into the dark, ugly, disease-infested slums of the world — as Christ did — healing.

I am unconvinced that much of what the world calls "progress" is, in fact, progress. But in alleviating human suffering and extending human life we have made measurable strides toward the Promised Land where there is neither pestilence nor death.

And one Dr. Hingson, saying "follow me," inspires legions.

WAYNE BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Death On LSD

Although there is every indication that LSD is a dangerous drug and although it cannot be bought legally, it is taken by many young persons to escape from a life that, with sober effort, they could set about to improve.

In many users this has proved to be an escape into an unreal world that is a nightmare more horrible than reality at its most depressing. LSD may make you think it is Christmas in July but the gaily colored package under the tree may be death.

Fortunately for those who have been hooked on this drug, which is not truly habit-forming but which may have left them in a state of panic or mental confusion, a cure is available. The victim must usually be treated in a hospital to make sure he does not harm himself or others. Chlorpromazine or a similar drug has been found to be very helpful.

While we are on the subject, I would like to refer to two other reputedly hallucinogenic drugs (drugs that cause you to enter a dream world without actually going to sleep). The first, not yet given a chemical name, is contained in dried scrapings from banana peels. The Food and Drug Administration spent two months investigating this substance, using every formula known to the hippies, and was unable to find any hallucinogenic properties in it. This, therefore, appears to be a giant hoax and those who claim to be transported by smoking banana peelings are either undergoing self-hypnosis or have reinforced their banana peel with a dollop of marijuana or LSD.

A new and more serious problem is the emergence of methyl dimethoxy methyl phenethylamine, a compound that for some unknown reason is called STP. Capsules or tablets of this substance can be obtained only from illicit sources and at about the same price as LSD. Its effects are similar to those of LSD and just as unpredictable.

Granted that this is not a perfect world, those persons who seek to escape from it through the use of drugs are sadly lacking in a sense of responsibility. They are the ones who, instead of trying to make this a better world, have given up without a struggle.

LESSONS FOR OTHERS

Of navies, it is said that a captain must accept ultimate responsibility for what happens in or to his ship. Of armies, it is said that there are rarely bad soldiers, only bad officers. In this day and age there has been a growing tendency for public officials in high places to try to dodge—in moments of disaster, egregious error or even turpitude—the responsibility and accounting that goes with elevation to a pinnacle of eminence and authority. Consequently, when a man in such a position searches his conscience and has the courage to follow through honorably on his acceptance of his responsibilities, he deserves admiration, sympathy and support.

Such is the situation of Lord Robens, chairman of the National Coal Board, the entity that runs Britain's nationalized coal industry. Lord Robens is no coroneted peer in the traditional sense. He came up the hard way, starting work as an errand boy in Manchester. In 1951, he served briefly as Minister of Labor at the end of Clement Attlee's premiership. Yet it was the shrewd choice of a Conservative administration that made him chairman of the Coal Board in 1960.

In that position he has achieved considerable success in rationalizing Britain's rather superannuated coal industry. And this he has done without—at least until now—losing the confidence of miners and their families. Thus there is cruel irony in the fact that what amounts to a finding of almost careless carelessness against the board should have obliged Lord Robens to tender his resignation to the government.

If all goes back to last year's tragedy in the Welsh mining village of Aberfan, in which a sliding coal tip killed 110 children and 28 adults. A court of inquiry, presided over by Lord Justice Edmund Davies—born but a couple of miles from Aberfan—found unanimously that "the disaster could and should have been prevented." The court also said that Coal Board officials had disregarded repeatedly warnings about the safety of the tip. The whole story, it said, was a "terrifying tale of bungling ineptitude by many men charged with tasks for which they were totally unlit."

As the Times said, Lord Robens' "direct, personal responsibility for what happened is negligible." Yet in his letter of resignation he quite properly and courageously wrote: "I have spent all my life in public service and I feel bound by its rules. I have therefore decided that I must offer you my resignation." (Whether the government will accept the resignation has still to be seen.) Beyond Britain, there are two lessons in Aberfan and its aftermath. First, Lord Robens has reminded men everywhere what the rules of public service are. And second, the court's findings on the whole question of tips is a reminder that wherever there are coal mines, concern for safety must extend from below to above ground. —Christian Science Monitor.

TEENS' BIGGEST BARGAIN

Teen-agers spend a lot of money in this country—an estimated $18 billion last year, with projections that the yearly rate will be $30 billion by 1970.

Sad to say, it seems to be an easy-come, easy-go situation for many youngsters. There is little evidence of wise purchasing or regular saving.

Youthful purchases run the gamut from such small items as candy, ice cream, soft drinks, comic books and ball-point pens to costly ones like surfboards, hi-fi equipment, rings.

Teen-agers are notorious impulse buyers, and merchants are quick to capitalize on their tastes.

Thus it's a paradox that many of these young people pass up one of the greatest bargains of their lifetimes—just when it's most easily available.

The Institute of Life Insurance estimates a college education returns $10 for a $1 investment.

A young man or woman starting college can be sure of two things: 1. It will be expensive, from about $1,500 per year at a state university up to $3,000 or more at a private school.

2. It will be worth it. A college graduate earns an average of $140,000 more in his lifetime than if he had not gone past high school.

The Institute says a college graduate starting to work today can expect to earn an average of $44,000 during his career. The high school graduate can expect only $303,000 in lifetime earnings. The difference of some $140,000 represents the return on an outlay of less than a tenth of that amount.

There are some other good reasons for going to college, too—not counting the draft. But it's an easy lesson in arithmetic, and the dollars teen-agers are frittering away now won't bring a 10-for-1 return many other ways.—Idaho State Journal.

Romney Sees Difficulty In Stand On Vietnam War

Twin Falls Times-News
Aug. 17-18, 1967

By JACK BELL
AP Political Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican Gov. George Romney of Michigan is demonstrating the difficulty of potential 1968 GOP candidates are encountering in standing still on a Vietnam war position in this summer of political discontent.

North Vietnam bombing he once supported.
While House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan shrugged off his differences with his governor, Romney's contention that bombing would never end the war contrasted with Ford's call last week for a step-up in air attacks.
Romney was not the only Republican having second thoughts.
Rhode Island Gov. John H. Chafee, who would like to be the GOP vice presidential nominee, backed away from his previous endorsement of the air strikes.

Chafee, who will head the GOP Governors' Association next year, told a Providence, R.I., news conference Wednesday he is getting discouraged with the progress of the war and is altering his position on the bombing issue because "we're not winning to the extent we originally felt we were going to."
Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., who has been moving steadily toward ever sharper criticism of President Johnson's war policies, told a Cincinnati, Ohio, audience that if its allies don't put up more fight the United States "must ask itself how much more it is willing to expend on a war to protect primarily Asian interests."

At Springfield, Ill., Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., said although the Republicans are not making the war a campaign issue, "it's more of an issue with the people than ever before."
Dirksen, the Senate Republican leader, has endorsed the bombing of military targets near Red China which Percy criticized. Their differences over Vietnam policy may have something to do with Percy's reputed willingness to become Illinois' favorite-son candidate at next year's GOP presidential nominating convention.

In Minneapolis, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon broke a lengthy silence on the Vietnam issue to say he approves extension of the bombing of the North.
But Nixon, considered another contender for the GOP presidential nomination, warned a news conference the United States faces a "massive risk" if it doesn't end the war soon.

In an earlier speech Wednesday, Nixon said he agrees with former President Dwight D. Eisenhower that the war shouldn't be made a partisan issue in the 1968 campaign.

Parkinson Quits Nixon Committee

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Gaylord Parkinson is quitting as chairman of the Nixon for President Committee.
Parkinson, a Californian who took on the job last March of trying to put Richard M. Nixon in the White House, said Wednesday he must return to his home in San Diego because of his wife's illness. She underwent major surgery last week and faces an extended convalescence.
Parkinson said he will name his successor soon.

PLEADS GUILTY

BOISE (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service reported Wednesday that a former Idaho man pleaded guilty to a charge of filing a false income tax withholding certificate.

Howard Albert Poole, who formerly lived in Lewiston, entered the plea in U.S. District Court in Butte, Mont., the IRS said.

Judge W. D. Murray sentenced Poole to three months in prison, but suspended the prison term and put him on one year's probation.

CAUTION URGED

BOISE (AP) — Idaho State Police Superintendent L. Clark Hand said Wednesday slow-moving farm vehicles are a serious problem for motorists and drivers should use extra caution in rural areas.

He said this year's legislature passed laws allowing certain types of farm equipment to travel the highways at night with proper lighting.

"This has increased the number of farm-type machines and equipment on the highways as well as adding to the dangers of night driving."

PANEL NAMED

BOISE (AP) — Participants in a panel at the Idaho State Young Democratic Club convention this weekend in McCall were announced Wednesday by YD President Leo Krulitz of Boise.

The panel, headed by Byron Johnson of Boise, will consist of Ada County Democratic Chairman Howard Humphrey, Idaho Observer editor Sam Day former State Young Republican President Hope Kading and Gary Haman, Ceour d'Alene attorney.

The panel's topic is to be "What is wrong with the Democratic Party in Idaho."

LOAN TOTAL

BOISE (AP) — More than $3.4 million was loaned to Idaho farmers during fiscal 1967 under the Bankhead-Jones Farm Tenant Act, said Idaho Director George Klein of the Farmers Home Administration Wednesday.

Klein said the 384 farmers borrowing money used the funds for farm improvements and construction and improvement of their land, as well as refinancing some debts.

DEATH TOLL UP

DUBOIS, Idaho (AP) — Idaho's traffic death toll was at 139 today after the Wednesday night death of a Meteline Falls, Wash. couple when their car went out of control and struck a truck on Interstate 15.

Idaho State Police said Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Norman Owen, about 60, were killed after the small camper trailer they were towing caused their car to go out of control and swerve into the path of a truck. Their 11-year-old daughter, riding in the back seat, was not injured.

CLOSURE ASKED

BOISE (AP) — Railway Express Agency has asked permission to close its office at Troy, in Latah County, the Public Utilities Commission reported Thursday.

The agency said business does not justify continuing operation of the office. The PUC set a 20-day period for the filing of protests to the proposed closing.

McNamara Calls Report "Nonsense"

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara had two words today about a London report that 1,000 U.S. servicemen have deserted units in Germany to avoid combat in Vietnam.

"Sheer nonsense," he called it.

McNamara's reaction to the report was passed to reporters by Pentagon spokesman.

The Times of London stated that an international underground network was helping American soldiers desert rather than fight in Southeast Asia.

The Pentagon said top Army officials in Europe had been aware for some time of stories about an anti-Vietnam group aiding deserters but said these stories "have been greatly exaggerated."

"Their activities have had little or no effect on absenteeism," the Pentagon said, adding there has been no appreciable increase in the numbers of soldiers failing to report back to duty.

Army headquarters in Europe currently lists 338 men as long-term absentees. There are more than 225,000 Army men in Germany.

At the same time, the Pentagon pointed out that so far this year 10,500 servicemen in Europe have volunteered for Vietnam assignments. Last year the total was over 14,000, the Pentagon said.

Zoning Law Approved At Glens Ferry

GLENS FERRY—The new zoning ordinance was ordered published when the Glens Ferry City Council met Tuesday evening. It regulates construction of buildings in the different areas of the city. A group of 23 persons attended the hearing on the new ordinance.

The council approved street lights for the corners of Alturas Street and East Cleveland Avenue, and of Logan Street and East Arthur Avenue. Claims for plants and lawns damaged by weed spray were turned over to the city's insurance company.

They included Elmer Tucker, $300; John Isehart, $224.40, and Don Anderson, $72.98. Purchase of 3,000 gallons of asphalt oil was authorized for the school oiling project. Two stop signs were ordered installed for egress from Simplot Soil Builders property.

Ambulance rates for the city vehicle were set at $15 per call plus 15 cents per mile per call. The ambulance, which was donated by the Glens Ferry Lions Club to the city, will be ready for use quite soon, according to Eddie Bostic, city clerk.

The council voted payment to Elmer Tucker of $29.70 as his share in the 270-foot extension of the sewer line from the corner of Alturas Street and Arthur Ave.

Body Of Utah Boy Is Lifted From Canyon

DEAD HORSE POINT, Utah (AP) — A helicopter lifted the body of a 10-year-old boy from a deep canyon at dawn today, ending all-night search and rescue attempts.

The boy, who fell while hunting lizards Wednesday evening, was identified as Mike Clagens, of Cincinnati, Ohio.

His father was listed as Joseph Clagens Jr., of No 1 Beachcrest Lane, Cincinnati.

The Grand County sheriff's office said the boy was in a group of about 14 boys on an excursion to Dead Horse Point from a boys camp near Gypsum, Colo.

This was the second death in a fall over cliffs at this picturesque tourist attraction within a week. A guide from nearby Moab, Utah, Edgar Hayes, was killed Aug. 9 when he fell while posing for pictures.

Dead Horse Point is a scenic overlook above the Colorado River in southeastern Utah's Canyonlands area.

Harold Jacobs of the Grand Canyon County Jeep Posse said counselors in charge of the boys camp excursion thought all the group was together.

But he said the Clagens lad and another boy drifted away from the group to chase lizards. Jacobs said as they climbed over the rim of the canyon to a ledge a few feet below young Clagens slipped and fell 700 to 800 feet straight down.

Searchers reached the body Wednesday evening, but could not climb the steep cliff with it. A helicopter flew to the point from Price, Utah, early this morning, landed by the light of automobile headlights, and at dawn descended into the canyon and lifted the body out.

King Says Civil Disobedience Last Resort

By DON MCKEE
—ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Racial conflict in America is moving toward a critical crossroads of new gains for Negroes—or violent insurrection, in the view of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., advocate of nonviolent tactics.

King considers his plan for mass civil disobedience a last resort.

"This is something like a last plea to the nation to respond to nonviolence," he said in an interview. He said it quietly, sitting in the pastor's study at his Ebenezer Baptist Church.

"We can't continue to live like this," King said. The struggle has reached the point, he went on, that convinces him there must be some quick economic gains for Negroes.

"There is a great deal of bitterness," King said. "And if there is not provided a channel of constructive action, this bitterness will lead to desperation, riots and social disruption."

If his mass civil disobedience campaign—involving boycotts, sit-ins at factories and camping in Washington—results in repressive steps by the government and by whites, then the violence "will become planned insurrection," King predicted.

King said he was motivated to announce the campaign this week by the growing violent temper of many Negroes. Asked if his new move was aimed at countering support by Black Power spokesmen, King replied that he was not singling out Black Power.

"I'm just dealing with the whole violent development," he said.

If his strategy fails, King said, "I would say to the nation, I've done my best." He said he knew of nothing else to try.

King had finished a speech to delegates to the Southern Christian Leadership Conference of which he is president. He looked tired and sleepy. He answered questions in a somewhat subdued, resigned manner.

The convention reflected a similar mood. The old zeal and spirit of the movement which had jogged many miles of marches and brought significant Negro advances now seemed muted.

The changed mood reflected the reality of 1967: Marches and songs and chanting "We want freedom" had been replaced by hard practicality—jobs, housing, power.

King said he saw no other course open now except civil disobedience because of what he called white recalcitrance and "the total inability and failure of Congress to grapple constructively with the problems of deprivation and poverty."

"Congress," he said, "would be very wise and just to respond constructively rather than to create a situation where our cities will continue to degenerate."

King said plans for his latest strategy will be made at a private session of the SCLC staff within the next three weeks. He said the situation requires that the campaign begin this year, before Congress adjourns.

He decided on civil disobedience as the best tactic, he said, because it offers Negroes a militant way to seek improvements and will bring many whites back into the movement.

Can he prevent participants from turning to violence? King said he thought so. Even Negroes who told him they took part in Cleveland's rioting last year were "willing to take up nonviolence," he said. The key is results, King added.

Horse Show Set Aug. 25 At Jerome

JEROME — Annual horse show will be held at 8:30 a.m. Aug. 25 at the Jerome county fairgrounds, sponsored by the Jerome Posse-Ettes.

About 200 horses are expected for the all-day event, according to Kay Benson, secretary. Entries are expected from throughout southern Idaho.

There will be 14 classes, including horsemanship, pleasure, costume, reining, barrel racing and trail classes. Trophies have been donated by Jerome merchants and will be awarded the first six places in each class.

Entry blanks may be obtained at the Magic Valley Cafe or from Miss Benson, who can be reached at 324-4731 or 324-2752.

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: I am 58. My husband is 71 and retired. We have been married for 26 years. He has always been a kind and generous man, but Abby, I know that what I feel in my heart for him is pity, gratitude, and habit—not true love.
We have very little in common. I am a college graduate and former school teacher while he never went beyond fifth grade in grammar school. His only interests are home-cooked meals, sports, and shoot-em-up westerns on television. He is so childish and dull.
Living with him underfoot all day is getting to be more than I can tolerate. We have no children who survived beyond infancy. I am lonely, bored, and frustrated.
Would you advise divorce this late in life? He has money, and I know I could get a good settlement. No name or city, please. I'm sure he doesn't know what's in my mind.
"MRS. X"

DEAR MRS. X: After 26 years of marriage to this "kind and generous man?" I think he is deserving of more loyalty and consideration than you exhibit. And what makes you, at 58, think all you have to do is divorce him and your life would be transformed into an exciting, gay, and fulfilling one? You supply the answers. But be honest with yourself, then act accordingly.

DEAR ABBY: I would like your views on girls and women (over 40) who come to work in an office in mini and micro-mini skirts. Isn't there some booklet that describes appropriate dress for the office? Sign me...
HORRIFIED

DEAR HORRIFIED: In the absence of house rules, common sense should prevail. Unfortunately common sense seems to be less and less common these days, in which case the office manager, boss—or whoever—is responsible for the morale, efficiency, and output of the establishment should post some clear-cut "thou shalt" and "thou shalt not" with regard to attire.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I were invited to the home of a friend for a small dinner party. When I received the invitation my hostess asked me expressly NOT to tell her sister-in-law that she was having a party because she hadn't invited her.

Well, the morning after the party, this uninvited sister-in-law phoned me and asked, "What did you do last night?" "What could I say? TRAPPED."

DEAR TRAPPED: You could have said, "It's a military secret" and blown your friendship to smithereens. Or you could have told her where you had been.

When asked not to "tell" something, don't accept the burden of bearing the secret. Reply, instead, "I'll not volunteer the information. Neither will I lie if asked."

CONFIDENTIAL TO ROZZIE: If you're looking for a man with money, marry a chiropractor. I understand they make money hand over foot.

Problems? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, California. For a personal reply, inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Lihoma Holiday Highlighted By Hawaiian Luau

BUHL—An Hawaiian luau was the setting for the Lihoma Holiday for Lihoma Girls of the Primary Association of the Buhl First Ward LDS Church.

The girls, their mothers and invited guests celebrated the completion of a year's work "native style" with a Polynesian supper and program following a formal graduation-advancement ceremony in which 21 girls participated.

The girls made colorful paper leis for all attending. Many in the group wore muumuu or grass skirts to add to the atmosphere. The Merrihand girls made large paper flowers that were placed along the middle of the tables with glass-encased candles resembling tiki lights burning between them. The decorations were complete with Japanese lanterns, multi-colored lights, a vine-covered Hawaiian hut, waterfall on abalone shells highlighted with colored lights.

Authentic Hawaiian background music was provided during the supper by Mel Carter on his electric steel guitar. He has just recently returned from a visit to the islands. The girls presented a short program of Hawaiian songs and dances.

The program was arranged by Mrs. Fay Hunt. Mrs. Wendell Watson planned and prepared the decorations with the assistance of her Merrihand class. Mrs. Randall W. Stewart was in charge of the preparation of the food for the supper, with Mrs. Earl Leatham as general chairman of the event.

The graduation program was presented in the chapel, with prelude music by the girls. Piano selections were presented by Kaylyn Montgomery, Susanie McDonald, Karen Halford, Jane Quigley and Kathi Hulme. The Merrihand class gave a group discussion explaining the requirements they fulfilled during the three years work toward graduation.

The graduation awards were presented by Mrs. Leatham, assisted by Mrs. Wendell Watson. Both leaders expressed their appreciation for all the girls in the class for the cooperation and hard work they displayed in completing all projects.

A tribute to the graduates was given by Mrs. Wade Quigley, representing the LDS Stake Primary Board. Graduates include Karen Halford, Ann Phillips, Terri Richeson, Martha Jane Quigley, Miss McDonald, Melissa White and Gwenda DeMasters.

Gaynote girls who were welcomed by a song were Pamela Montgomery, Toni Montgomery, LaDean Williams, Kathy Webster, Cindy Wilson, Ina Jean Wilson and Sue Atwood. They were presented new bandos by their teacher, Mrs. Randall W. Stewart.

Advanced to the Firelight class were DeAnn Leatham,

Summer Hats Made Fun By

Fringe Benefits

By HELEN HENNESSY

NEW YORK (NEA)—Summer is the time to let fringe benefits go to your head.

Pompons, tassels, cords and braids, borrowed from their usual uses in home decorating now are making delightful additions to summer hats and hairdos.

Spice up an old beach hat or custom-design a new one with a brimful of Pom-Decor, bright cotton pompons strung together on a glass fiber core. Add to the fun by cutting a small slit in the hat brim, bringing the trim through the slit and making a braid with two lengths of white cotton cord.

Other trims make great disguises for fresh-from-the-pool hairdos. Twine a length of cotton cord in with your own damp locks, add a tassel or two and your coiffure is charming.

For sheer glamor on a summer night, hairstylist Monsieur Roland of the Enrico Caruso Salon in New York braided a length of black pompons into white boucle fringe. A piece of fine wire threaded invisibly through the braid added enough backbone to keep it prettily curled at the end.

Another glamorous treatment by the hairstylist begins with a braid—made from white cotton cord and glittering gold rope and ends with two pairs of gold chair tassels. Little velvet bows were attached here and there.

Such pretty hairpieces attach easily by looping over your own pony-tail or catching onto a small comb.

Chris Ann Baggett, JoAnn Francis and Julie Brown. They were welcomed by their teacher, Mrs. Hunt.

Mrs. Wendell Watson welcomed Janeen Hutchison, Kathi Hulme and Kaylynn Montgomery to the Merrihand class.

The girls repeated their Lihoma code together, followed by a response from Mrs. Kenneth Hulme, Primary president. Mrs. Leatham conducted the program.

Kennedy Tries To Head Off Fund Cut.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, backing the Johnson administration, moved today to head off partially a cut in funds for the Alliance for Progress.

He said he was doing so to honor the pledge his late brother, President John F. Kennedy, made when the plan of aid to Latin America was established six years ago.

The New York Democrat sponsored an amendment to restore $72 million of the $172 million the Foreign Relations Committee cut from the Alliance authorization for fiscal 1967-68.

Kennedy worked closely with top administration officials in drafting the amendment, his office said, and he told him a $72 million increase would cover spending plans for this year.

The Kennedy proposal would bring the authorization to $650 million.

Six years ago, the senator said, President Kennedy pledged to Latin America that this country would join in "a new Alliance for Progress to assist free men and free governments in casting off the chains of poverty."

"It is to honor that pledge that I offer this amendment," the senator continued.

He commented in a speech prepared for delivery in the Senate.

New Design

NEW YORK (AP) — The city has hired Philip Johnson, a distinguished architect more at home with cultural complexes and exposition halls, to design a $70 million sewage disposal plant. He says he's thinking about dressing it up with fountains and ornamental pools.

Johnson, who designed the New York State Theater at Lincoln Center and the New York World's Fair, said he planned to cover the plant's 22-acre roof with pools and a system that will spray jets of water 200 feet into the air.

METHOD FOUND

WASHINGTON (AP) — The first practical method has been found for artificially reproducing the intoxicating ingredients of marijuana, paving the way for understanding how marijuana smoke acts on the body.

Goldwater Attacks Black Power Leader

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Barry Goldwater says Black Power advocate Stokely Carmichael should be tried for treason and, if found guilty, executed.

The former Arizona senator, at his summer home, told newsmen Wednesday Carmichael should be arrested when he returns to the United States from Cuba.

While saying he doesn't know that Communists are inciting riots in U.S. cities, Goldwater said, "If I were a Communist, I certainly would be working right in there with the Carmichaels and the H. Rap Browns."

He said: "They should be treated as traitors and the penalty should be given to them."

Goldwater, who says he will challenge Sen. Carl Hayden, D-Ariz., for the Senate next year, said he views former Vice President Richard M. Nixon as the frontrunning GOP candidate for the 1968 presidential nomination. But, he added, by next summer California Gov. Ronald Reagan might be a stronger contender.

EXAMINING THE damage caused to a tree in the Sawtooth Primitive Area by horses is a member of the Sawtooth Wilderness Patrol. Patrolmen are urging riders to avoid tying horses to "favored" trees and to pack supplemental feed for them because of the root damage they can cause through scuffing of the topsoil and depletion of vegetation.

They Are Versatile—These Men Who Serve On The Wilderness Patrol

They can be found picking up orange peel from a deserted camp site in the Sawtooth Primitive Area... giving an ecology lesson to a group of passing hikers... or clearing rock and brush from a trail.

Easily identified by a moss green outer covering, they come in seven different sizes and shapes. One of their favorite activities is giving directions, or pointing out a particularly scenic area to visiting campers.

They're formally known as members of the Sawtooth Primitive Area Wilderness Patrol, and their leader is an enthusiastic naturalist who answers to the name of Dave Lee, Ketchum.

The patrol was recently organized to promote sane use by campers and hikers of the abundant recreational opportunities in the primitive area, and to provide assistance and information to anyone in need.

In addition to Mr. Lee, six men patrol the vast Sawtooth Primitive Area, including Ken Louder and Dennis Youtz, both Twin Falls, Sawtooth Ranger District; Doug Eller, Boise, Atlantic Ranger District; Bob McKenzie and Mose Bram, both Boise, Lowman Ranger District, and Bill James, Stanley Ranger District.

A special project of the patrol involves asking campers who ride into the area for several days' stay to pack supplemental food for their horses.

"This is kind of a pet peeve for us," Mr. Lee explained, "because if the campers don't pack supplemental feed their horses have to eat whatever they can find."

"Generally, horses are tied on trees that are close together in favored camping areas — and then the horses eat in a circle around the tree, eventually depleting the forage on the shallow forest soil. This, in turn, causes the soil to blow away, exposing the roots of the tree and resulting in the death of the tree," he stated.

The eating of forage around a tree is not the only way in which a horse can contribute to the death of a tree through root exposure, he added.

"Any time many horses are tied around the same tree for any length of time, their hooves alone will scuff the soil and cause the root to be exposed," Mr. Lee commented.

For this reason, the Wilderness Patrol has initiated construction of hitching posts around favored camping areas in the Sawtooth country, he noted.

Another program undertaken by the patrol recently is the "if you can pack it in loaded and heavy, you can pack it out empty and light" project, urging all campers and hikers to pack out their unburnable refuse.

"Some people just bury the empty cans and other refuse, but this isn't really too effective because of the bears here—they can dig it up and scatter it all over the place," Mr. Lee commented.

Another special service initiated by the Wilderness Patrol provides for complete registering of visitors to the primitive area.

Guest registering stands are set up at convenient points on the outskirts of the primitive area. Among information asked of the guests is the date, time of entry, name, address, purpose of outing, mode of travel, number of stock, length of stay, destination and route of travel and time out.

"This way, we can easily check to see if anyone might be lost in there... we know where to find him if a member of his family needs to get in touch — and if we do think someone is lost, we know just about where to look," the patrolman stated.

Fortunately, so far this season still another service of the patrol has remained unneeded — that of helping seriously injured visitors to the area secure medical aid.

With the end of the camping season in the Primitive Area, the patrol will be disbanded and its members assigned to other tasks, Mr. Lee noted. Come next spring, however, the group will be out in force.

"It's been a very successful program, and well accepted by the public," he concluded.

Navy Center Traces Curving Path Sounds

By WILLIAM C. HARRISON AP Science Writer
MONTEREY, Calif. (AP) — Tricky, curving sound paths in the ocean depths, behind which enemy submarines might hide, are being traced in minutes by a unique Navy oceanographic and weather center at this famous Pacific resort.

The oceanographic arm of the Fleet Numerical Weather Facility—FNWF—went operational only a year ago. But it probably is already the world's leading oceanographic forecast center.

Sound is the principal means of submarine detection. But sound paths bend in the ocean as temperature changes, creating sonar-proof curtains for submarines.

"We tell them where the sound is and is not," says Capt. Paul M. Wolff, chief of the facility.

"The paths and losses of sound in the sea are specified completely by oceanic conditions."

The facility has been using computers to solve complicated sound-temperature equations, draw velocity profiles and make sound-path calculations.

Two facility oceanographers, Lt. Cmdr. Peter R. Tatro and Aerographer's Mate Albert L. Seeke Jr., have developed a slide-rule device that enables each ship engaged in antisubmarine operations to predict sonic conditions of the sea, Wolff says.

"Each calculation performed on this gadget is in effect replacing a computer run costing $1,500," Tatro estimates.

He explains that sound waves emitted by a surfaced submarine will be bent down and converge at the surface again about 30 miles away, where detection is possible. Determining the convergence zone for enough ocean points to supply the Navy would be prohibitive in terms of computer time, he says.

Raw oceanographic information is relayed to the facility from about 1,000 surface ships. Included are sea-surface temperatures and subsurface thermal structures, wind waves, swells, currents, ocean fronts and many other kinds of information.

A computer analyzes the information and works up an oceanographic outlook for a specified area and time, available on request to operational commanders.

The facility stresses support of the fleet in antisubmarine warfare operations and the Polaris submarine missile-defense program. But it also works closely with the Bureau of Commercial Fisheries and the Bureau of Mines.

More than half of its oceanographic soundings are supplied by fishing boats, Wolff says. The facility, in turn, furnishes the fishermen with water temperature, profiles and other information.

"They're catching more fish, and bureau officials are enthusiastic," Wolff comments.

The Bureau of Mines uses facility forecasts of wind and sea conditions for offshore drilling operations.

Wolff predicts rapid expansion of such nonmilitary services as world needs for foods and minerals increase.

Dinner Held By BPW Club

KETCHUM — A social potluck dinner was held in lieu of the regular monthly business meeting of the Sun Valley Business and Professional Women's Club at the Ketchum museum home of Mrs. C. E. Brandt this week.

Mrs. Lee Reynolds, president, honored those whose birthday anniversaries fall in August, presenting Lorene Larsen, Lucile Friedman and Mrs. James Flea with gifts.

Following the meal members viewed Mrs. Brandt's antiques and then participated in group singing, with Mrs. Roberta McKercher accompanying.

The Sept. 11 meeting will be held at the Sims Family Driveway in Bellevue.

Viet Cong Women Seeking Adventure

PUTTING A KNEE into the chin of a white man, a Louisiana state trooper helps another apply handcuffs after a group of 75 whites attacked a group of 25 Negro civil rights marchers Wednesday at Satsuma, La. About eight whites were arrested after state police broke up the fierce melee. (AP wirephoto)

Negro Marches Replaced By Violence To Achieve Goals

By SID MOODY

In an earlier time sit-ins and marches to Selma and to Washington helped the American Negro win civil rights legislation that shredded laws protecting many forms of racial discrimination.

Now there are riots: blood and burn, baby, burn.

What have they brought? Ruin, to some. Hate, to some. Despair, to some. And it cannot be denied—a better life, to some.

"Ain't nuthin' changed," said a youth drinking wine near some spilled trash cans in Watts, 1967, two years after flame and death came to the Negro community in Los Angeles.

But, in Chicago, 2,000 miles away, Bobby Joe Mason, 23, spoke with feeling at a job training center a few blocks from where a riot that took two Negro lives began last year.

"Now I can think about my woman because I'm going to get a job soon. Life don't allow black folks to dream too much. I just want some bread, some comfort, a good wife and a car that's hot too old. If the training I'm getting helps me, then I'm going to help somebody else beneath me."

Rioting may not have permitted Bobby Joe Mason to dream. But it may have made dreams come true a little sooner for him and many of his people. For the riots have accelerated efforts in many cities to find a solution for the poverty, unemployment and despair that almost everyone believes to be the root causes of the violence.

In Cincinnati disorder suddenly became rioting last June 12. "In the last month the response by city officials concerning jobs for Negroes has been greater than in a long time," said the Rev. Fred Shuttlesworth, a nationally known Negro leader.

On June 13, a group of major employers in Cincinnati set up a nonprofit corporation to find jobs for the hard-core unemployed.

In Hartford, Conn., there was racial unrest for three nights in July. Three days after order was restored, the city sent an "info-mobile"—a bus donated by the Connecticut Co., the state's largest transit firm—into the trouble area to hear complaints of Negroes and to give job information. It has been there ever since. On the first day, 89 persons were given job referrals.

In Houston a policeman was killed and 488 Negro students were arrested in a riot at Texas Southern University on May 16-17.

Last month a "job fair" was held at Sam Houston Coliseum. Between 5,000 and 7,000 unemployed Negro youths were interviewed by representatives of leading Houston businesses; about 1,000 were hired.

Shortly after rioting in Omaha last summer, city employees walked house to house in the Negro area leaving 14,000 door-knob cards telling where people could get work.

A special police community relations center, manned by a Negro officer, was opened to hear complaints. A Negro was appointed police inspector, ranking just below the chief. "Operation Yes," a job recruitment program sponsored by private industry, has found 2,000 jobs for youths between 18 and 21 in the last year. The city called upon Omaha's 500 churches to take one house each, renovate it and make it available to a minority family. Twenty-five churches have responded.

Twenty-five homes... 1,000 jobs... Can such things only be purchased at the cost of a Watts or a Detroit? A number of Negroes think so.

"Asking won't do no good," said a Negro in Portland, Ore. "You got to put on pressure."

"The reason Negroes are rocking the boat is that they want to get in it," says Joseph G. Fagan, chairman of the Wisconsin Department of Industry, Labor and Human Relations.

In South Bend, Ind., a Negro veteran of Vietnam says, "You had your Boston Tea Party, Whitey, now it's our turn."

But a Negro in Charleston, W. Va., says, "They're getting themselves by rioting, not Whitey."

The question, however, for white and black is not how do you fight each other but how to fight the sources of frustration and disenchantment that stir men to violence.

THANH DIEN, Vietnam (AP) — She was 22, a thoughtful, compassionate black-eyed girl who had yearned all her life to be a nurse. She wanted to help, she said. And she pleaded to do so.

The Viet Cong asked her to help them. She did.

There was another girl, 18, a happy, teasing, teen-ager who was proud of long raven hair, who giggled with the boys and used to sneak from her house to meet a boy friend.

Her boy friend joined the Viet Cong. She did too.

Two women—now 26 and 20. Two girls who became women under fire, not so much because of political conviction as personal conviction. Not so much to fight as to love. Two girls who reached out to live the life of a girl and became women at war.

Both girls are now in a camp for Viet Cong returnees. Three weeks ago, both turned themselves in to government forces, saying they were heartsick and tired of hiding, of war, and of bloodied friends.

Nguyen Thu Can, 26, and Tran Thu Anh, 20, had never met one another before they surrendered. Now they share a bunk at a Chieu Hoi—"Open Arms"—camp near Thanh Dien, 50 miles northwest of Saigon near the Cambodian border.

They live in a barbed wire compound with 72 other VC returnees. Twice a day, they eat in an open-air dining room. There's a small library and dusty heat 24 hours a day. Like the rest, they have a indoctrination period, undetermined at this point. They will stay another month—maybe two. And then?

Can sits on the straw mat of her bunk, wipes dirty perspiration from her forehead and stares a minute into space.

"I want to be a nurse. I always wanted to be a nurse. The VC said okay, you'll be nurse. I am not VC anymore, but I am a nurse."

She speaks softly, shyly, through an interpreter.

"I was not afraid of VC. I was happy there. When I joined VC everyone in my village was VC. Not now. We only ran and hid and it was tiring. Everyday, they teach me more about being a nurse. They teach communism too. Every day for a while, I didn't mind. I thought if they teach me what I want, I listen to what they want. They were very good to me."

Bunkmate Anh watches Can speaking. She swings her legs, smiles, flips her gold loop earrings as she combs through her hair. Anh is a spirited girl, more gregarious, more easily swayed.

She, too, speaks through an interpreter.

"There were lots of girls my age in the VC camp. We had lots of fun. Men and women had separate rooms. Men were very nice. We did many things together, we ate and talked and had a good time."

Then why leave? "I missed my family. I left for the VC when I got mad at my family. They wouldn't let me do all the things I wanted. I couldn't see my boy friend all I wanted."

"I am not mad anymore. I have nine brothers and sisters and I miss them. They are not wanted to VC. I know they worried. So I came home. I like the VC okay, but I got tired of so much moving and hiding."

Neither girl was wounded. Both saw fighting; U.S. planes, and both tended wounded men. Both say they did not tear the Viet Cong when they joined. And both joined because they

Youth Ranch Benefit Set For Burley

BURLEY — First annual Idaho Youth Ranch Benefit Breakfast will be held from 7:30 to 10:30 a.m. Saturday at East Park. The breakfast will be cooked and served by the Burley Rotary Club members.

The menu will be western style pancakes, scrambled eggs, sausage, coffee or milk at $1 per person, announced Ken Rosecrans and Bob Saxvik, co-chairmen of the event. Dean Gibson is president of the Burley Rotary Club.

All proceeds from the breakfast will go to the Idaho Youth Ranch. William Roper, charter member of the Burley Rotary Club, and a member of the Youth Ranch board of directors, stated, "that this is a fine community service on behalf of the ever growing youth ranch."

The Youth Ranch is in the midst of a building program and work is under way now on another dormitory. John McCollum, superintendent at the ranch, pointed out the construction will continue as long as the money lasts.

Matching funds are available and every dollar raised at the breakfast will be matched, he added.

CLOSING SUMMARY NEW YORK (AP) - The stock market closed higher today in fairly active trading. Brokers saw it as another up job in a consolidating market. Strength was shown by some of the merger-oriented issues, among them Allis-Chalmers and Ling-Temco-Vought, as well as a selection of blue chips and familiar growth stocks. The background of economic news was good, but Wall Street still had reservations about such matters as auto labor talks, the coming Vietnam election and the progress of the tax increase bill. Good gains were posted for Xerox, Procter & Gamble, Pan American Sulphur, and Sperry Rand. It was another session abbreviated to four hours from the usual 5 1/2, so that brokerage houses could catch up with paper work. Prices near the close included: Allis-Chalmers, up 1 at 42 1/2; Sperry Rand, up 1 at 39 1/2; American Airlines, off 1 at 39 1/2; Ling-Temco-Vought, up 1/4 at 14 1/2; and Procter & Gamble, up 1/4 at 99 3/4.

The Daily Investor

Q. I have been watching the price changes of shares of two mutual funds. In the first six months of this year the price of one fund rose from $12.65 to $14.56 per share - a gain of 18.2 percent. The price of the other fund's shares went from $17.67 to $20.63 - a 16.7 percent rise. But the second mutual fund (which had a slightly smaller gain) is a no-load fund. So, isn't it true that I would be better off with this fund, because I wouldn't have to pay any commission? A. You would have been better off with that second mutual fund for the first six months of this year. That's for sure. If you had put equal amounts of money into both funds on the first business day of this year, you would have had more value in your shares of the second fund, as of June 3. There can be no argument about that. The reason is simple enough. Because that second fund is a no-load fund, whose shares are sold to investors at net asset value - without any commission charge. The first fund is the more normal variety. Its shares are sold through brokers, dealers and salesmen. And you are charged a commission of up to 8 1/2 percent of the total amount of money you pay in. So, on a $1,000 investment in the first fund, you buy $915 worth of shares. The same payment into a no-load fund buys you $1,000 worth of shares. And, even though in the cases you cite, the no-load fund didn't grow in value quite as much as the other fund, the commission setup more than made up the difference. It did, that is, for the six-month period. There's no way of knowing which of the two funds will put on the better performance in the future. Fund A might shoot way ahead in value, while Fund B just sits there or falls. Or just the opposite might happen.

Q. Last year a stock broker who worked for one of the biggest investment houses sold me some stock. He asked that I send him my check and said he would buy the stock for me. He cashed my $3,000 check and spent my money. He did not buy the stock for me. I reported this to the firm he worked for. He was fired the same day. But that firm will not pay me my money - because my check was made out to the broker personally and not to the firm. Is there any government agency I could get to investigate this and force the investment house to pay off? I have considered suing but that would be expensive and (I feel) unnecessary. A. I think you had better reconsider. Get yourself a good lawyer. Let him carry the ball. If the facts are as you state them, he will undoubtedly take the whole mess to law enforcement and state securities regulatory authorities. No government agency acts as a collection agent for you or anyone else. But, if things went as badly as you say, that former broker and the firm he worked for should be put on the rack. And, if the investment house was as big and important as you indicate, it certainly should have had coverage by a broker's fidelity bond - to protect customers against fraud. Again, I say, see a lawyer.

Ortiz Overpowers Laguna To Keep Boxing Crown

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Light-weight champion, Carlos Ortiz had too much power for flashy Ismael Laguna of Panama as he staggered the Panamanian repeatedly in winning the unanimous decision in their 15-round title fight at Shea Stadium Wednesday night.

The 30-year-old champion got off to a tremendous start, staggering his 24-year-old rival three times in the first five rounds. He faded under Laguna's buzz-saw comeback in the sixth through ninth rounds, and then came roaring back with another blazing attack in the last six rounds.

Swoboda Bats Mets Past Phillies 5-3

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Ron Swoboda slammed three hits and drove in four runs Wednesday night, leading the New York Mets to a 5-3 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

The Mets grabbed a 3-1 lead in the third off loser Dick Ellsworth when Swoboda rapped a two-run single with the bases loaded. Bob Johnson singled home the third run.

In the seventh Swoboda lined another two-run single off Ellsworth.

The Phillies, who scored an unearned run in the first on John Briggs' double, an infield out and a passed ball came up with a pair in the bottom of the seventh. Cookie Rojas and Briggs singled with one out. Rojas scored as Tony Gonzalez grounded out, and Rich Allen singled in Briggs.

Ward, Boyer Key Chicago Win Over A's

CHICAGO (AP) — Pete Ward drove in three runs with a pair of homers and Ken Boyer delivered a three-run single, keying the Chicago White Sox to a 14-6 rout of Kansas City.

Boyer, out of the starting lineup because of a pulled left leg muscle, pinch-hit in the fourth inning and climaxed a five-run rally by smashing the ball over left fielder Danny Cater's head.

The blow cleared the bases, which the White Sox had filled on a third-strike passed ball, an intentional walk and a hit batsman. Ron Hansen went in to run for Boyer, who barely made it to first base.

Ward slammed a solo homer in the second and connected with a man-on in the eighth.

Big Struggle Expected In Meet

PEKIN, Ill. (AP) — A wide-open struggle for the 38th women's Western Open Golf Championship starts Thursday with Kathy Whitworth, Susie Maxwell and Sandra Haynie in the leading roles.

The only thing certain is that a new champion will be crowned at the end of 72 holes of medal play Sunday. Defending tilist Mickey Wright is not entered and has given officials no reason for skipping the country's oldest open tournament for women.

The tourney, carrying a $10,000 purse, is over the Pekin Country Club course, a ranking golf test of 6,605 yards with a 37-38-75 standard.

Miss Whitworth will be seeking her sixth official tournament victory of the year as she heads the parade of money winners with $19,567.

Singer Sparks Dodgers Past Astros 7-1

HOUSTON (AP) — Bill Singer fired a four-bitter and singled in two runs, sparking the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 7-1 victory over Houston Wednesday night.

Al Ferrara doubled in two runs in a three-run Los Angeles third. Ferrara, who also singled, drove in another with a double in the sixth.

The Dodgers also scored three times in the eighth on doubles by Jim Lefebvre and Wes Parker and Singer's two-run single.

Singer, 7-4, lost his shutout in the eighth when John Bateman, who doubled, scored on Doug Rader's sacrifice fly.

Injury Stops No-Hitter As Reds Win 4-0

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Jim Maloney made a serious bid for the first no-hitter in the 59-year history of Forbes Field Wednesday night before being injured in the seventh inning as the Cincinnati Reds beat the Pittsburgh Pirates 4-0.

Maloney struck out six and retired the first 19 men he faced before wrenching his right ankle on the last pitch to Maitly Aule, who walked with one out in the seventh.

Billy McCool replaced Maloney and gave up the Pirates only two hits. He kept the no-hitter intact through seven, although he walked Willie Stargell before getting out of the inning.

Then the Pirates broke up the no-hit bid in the eighth. Jose Pagan singled with one out and moved to third on Terry May's double. But McCool got out of the jam by getting pinch hitter Gene Alley to ground out and Maury Willis to strike out.

The Reds jumped on Pittsburgh starter Woody Fryman, 1-6, in the fourth when, with two out, Lee May was hit by a pitch and Tony Perez followed with his 23rd homer.

"They added two more in the sixth."

Fire Hazards Have Prevented Anglers From Fishing Areas

BOISE (AP)—Travel restrictions because of fire hazard are preventing sportsmen from reaching some fishing spots in Idaho, the Fish and Game Department says in its weekly summary.

All forest service side roads in the North-Idaho Panhandle are closed to public travel because of the danger of fire, the department said.

Most state roads in the back country are rough and dusty and some streams and reservoirs are low and warm.

Two kamloops rainbow trout weighing eight and 12 pounds each were checked at Garfield Bay on Lake Pend Oreille, the department said. Catfish fishing was reported good on the Lower Payette and Snake Rivers.

"Fly casting is producing good catches of trout on all three forks of the Boise River, Silver Creek, Magic Reservoir, Richfield Canal and Big Wood River," the report added. "Stream fishing is best in the upper Snake region."

Aaron Homers As Braves Down Giants

ATLANTA (AP) — Hank Aaron hit his 30th home run of the season and Ken Johnson pitched Atlanta to a 6-3 victory over San Francisco Wednesday night.

Johnson, 13-5, left the game for a pinch-hitter after pitching seven innings. The loser was Giant starter Bob Bolin, 4-8.

Aaron's 30th home run of the season over the left field fence came in the third inning and gave Atlanta its sixth victory in its last eight games. Felipe Alou and Mack Jones were on base on a single and an error.

Both teams scored in the first inning and the Giants added a run in the fifth when Ken Henderson scored on pinch-hitter Jesus Alou's single and another in the seventh on a solo home run by Tito Puentes.

The Braves also scored twice in the sixth inning as Johnson opened with a double and later scored on a single by Jones. Alou, who had three hits also scored one of his three runs in the inning.

The department's report included these regional conditions:
Magic Valley Region
Fishing waters south of the Snake River are low and the recent siege of hot weather has really slowed the fishing activity. Most anglers are seeking higher elevation waters north of the Snake. The Big Wood River and tributaries are maintaining a good catch rate. South Fork of the Boise and its tributaries in the Smoky vicinity are providing good angling.

A supplemental planting of trout in Magic Reservoir has improved the catch rate there this past week. The Richfield Canal is still producing fish early in the mornings and late in the evenings.

The fly angler can catch fish quite readily on the fly-fishing-only section of Silver Creek.

Upper Snake River Region
The best fish catches have been taken from the streams of the region. Dry fly fishermen have been successful. South Fork of the Snake very good from Swan Valley to Wahl's Landing, especially during evening hours on the riffles and by flat trips near Idaho-Falls.

Willow creek and small tributaries are good, especially Grays Lake outlet below Brockman Creek. Cellars Creek and Seventy Creek good for cutthroat and German brown trout. The lower end of Willow Creek good for rainbow.

Upper Palisades Lake in the Swan Valley area is good for cutthroat fly fishing.

Copper Basin Streams very good fly fishing during early morning hours and late evening hours. The mountain lake fishing in the basin is good, especially Chain of Lakes, Bellas Lakes and Goat Lakes.

Birch Creek west of Torron is very good for rainbow with flies.

Camas Creek near Kilgore is very good for pan-sized brook trout.

Status Of Run
To Be Discussed
PORTLAND (AP) — The status of the Columbia River fall chinook run will be discussed next Wednesday at a joint meeting of the Oregon Fish Commission and the Washington Department of Fisheries in Portland.

The two agencies will also discuss the closing date of the early fall commercial fishing season. The opening date of the season was postponed from July 30 until Aug. 6.

Government Dam is high and fairly dirty. However, fishing between Trail Creek and Morgan's Bridge has been fairly good, using crayfish and worms. Blackfoot Reservoir is poor and getting quite mossy. The river above Blackfoot Reservoir is very clear and fly fishermen are getting pan-sized fish.

Snake River has been low between Blackfoot and American Falls Reservoir and fishing is good. One fish weighing more than 15 pounds was taken below Tilden Bridge last week.

All side streams in Bear Lake County, such as St. Charles, Bloomington and Montpelier Creeks, are fair fishing. Streams are clear and low.

Excessive amounts of deterrents in the Snake River below American Falls Reservoir have brought fishing success to a standstill.

Johnson's Hit Gives Cards 4-3 Victory

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Alex Johnson's infield hit scored Tim McCarver with the winning run in the first place St. Louis Cardinals rallied for two runs in the ninth inning and a 4-3 victory over Chicago Wednesday night.

The Cubs held a 3-2 lead on Glenn Beckert's seventh-inning homer when the Cards came to bat in the ninth. Orlando Cepeda, who had driven in St. Louis' first run with a first-inning single, started the winning rally with an infield hit.

After McCarver was safe on Ernie Banks' error at first base, Mike Shannon lined out for the second out of the inning. Then Julian Javier beat out an infield hit, loading the bases.

Pinch hitter Phil Gagliano drew a walk, forcing in the tying run and then Johnson outlegged his hit for the winner.

Baker Goes To Jail After Season's Over

By IRA MILLER
LATROBE, Pa. (AP) — When John Baker of the Pittsburgh Steelers comes home after the football season, he goes to jail. Opposing quarterbacks wish he'd stay there.

Baker, for 10 years one of the National Football League's most devastating pass-rushers, works as a rehabilitation officer in his home state of North Carolina.

He spends his time between seasons with robbers, killers, rapists, arsonists and the like. "Inmates have a tendency to look up to athletes," says the 270-pound defensive end. "I feel I can sometimes do more for them than a sociologist or psychologist or someone like that."

"Those people are good but sometimes they can't gain the inmates' confidence. They feel, when a psychologist or someone comes in, that 'this guy's trying to size me up.'"

Baker says the inmates are great followers of sports, even though their facilities are limited.

"For example, even though they don't see our (Steelers) games on television there, these guys can tell me something that went on in a game I had completely forgotten about," Baker says. "They read everything they can get hold of. You'd be surprised what they know about athletes."

Baker, whose father has been a police officer in Raleigh, N.C., for 28 years, said he has always been interested in law enforcement work.

"It was kind of hard to get into law enforcement directly because I'm there for six months and away for six months. But this just happened to work out."

"It's very challenging and I feel there is a need for more athletes in this sort of work. "We've got to realize they are human, just like you and I."

The big lineman said the most disheartening part of his job is the "repeaters—prisoners" who return to jail after supposedly having been rehabilitated and paroled.

Homer Lifts Orioles Over Yankees 5-4

NEW YORK (AP) — Frank Robinson hammered a three-run homer and drove in four Baltimore runs as the Orioles dropped the New York Yankees 5-4 Wednesday night.

Robinson, who doubled Curt Blefary home with Baltimore's first run in the opening inning against Al Downing, rifled his 23rd home run of the year in the sixth.

The Yankees scored in the seventh when Tom Tresh opened with a triple and scored on Bill Robinson's single.

New York knocked Tom Phoebus out in the eighth, scoring on consecutive singles by Jake Gibbs, Mickey Mantle and Joe Pepitone. Wally Bunker relieved and Brooks Robinson's error allowed another run to score.

Three Tennis Players Are On Sidelines

MANCHESTER, Mass. (AP)—Three seeded players were on the sidelines today as the Essex County Club Women's Tennis Tournament entered its third day.

Eliminated in second-round play Wednesday were third-seeded Lesley Turner of Australia, fifth-seeded Mary Ann Eisel of St. Louis and sixth-seeded Kathy Harter of Seal Beach, Calif.

In action marked by upsets, top-seeded Maria-Buono of Brazil advanced to the quarter-finals in defense of her championship by defeating Tory Fretz of Los Angeles 6-2, 6-2.

Miss Turner was forced to default to Mrs. Joyce Williams, a British Wightman Cup player, with their match even 1-1 in sets. The Aussie lass was forced to quit because of a blister on her racket hand.

Karen Krantzke, a 6-foot-2 Australian, outlasted Miss Eisel 6-3, 7-9, 6-4 in a grueling two-hour match, while Scotland's Winnie Shaw, a member of the British Wightman Cup team, whipped Miss Harter 6-3, 6-4.

Swede Is Disappointed Over Showing

NEWTOWN SQUARE, Pa. (AP)—Although pleased over winning the United States modern Pentathlon, Sweden's Bjorn Fern headed home today expressing disappointment over his performance in the steeplechase riding.

"I might have done much better in the riding," he said Wednesday, "the riding, it did not go too well." Fern, who took the lead by winning the opening event, the fencing, last Saturday finished 12th in the boosted his total points 5,068, 232 ahead of Bill Matheson, formerly Los Angeles State College runner and now an Army captain. Matheson finished second in the Wednesday's riding and recorded a total 4,828 points.

Fern's 12th place showing was his poorest in the five-day grind. Besides the first in fencing, he was fifth in the shooting, sixth in swimming and fourth in cross-country running.

CHAMP ADVANCES PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Peaches Bartkovicz, the defending champion, whipped Laura DuPont of Charlotte, N.C., 6-2, 6-0, and advanced to the quarter-finals of the U.S. Girls Lawn Tennis Championship.

Miss Cox Takes Lead In Golf Tournament

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Shy Marianne Cox, 16, of Santa Ana, Calif., who appears more concerned about apologizing to her opponents for making long putts than she worries about their national reputations, moved into the quarter-finals of the 67th USGA Women's Amateur Golf Championship Wednesday with a 3-and-2 win over Roberta Albers of Tampa, Fla.

Pigtailed, blonde Marianne, playing in her first amateur championship, recorded the most shocking upset of the morning round when she sidelined defending champion and four-time winner JoAnne Gunderson, Carner of Seekonk, Mass., 2 and 1.

Medalist Phyllis "Tish" Preuss of Pompano Beach, Fla., runner-up in the 1961 championship, was the only one of the top players who didn't experience difficulty in the two rounds.

The blonde, bespectacled Miss Preuss, who also played the most consistent golf of the day, beat Marcella Rose, St. Louis, 6 and 4, in the afternoon match. In her opening match Tish disposed of western junior champion Candace Michaeloff of Minneapolis, 5 and 4.

Miss Preuss, three-time member of the Curtis Cup team, was 1-over par for each match on a sweltering day at Annandale Golf Club.

Miss Rose earlier had scored a reversal of considerable magnitude when she ousted Mrs. Ann Quast Welts, a three-time winner, 1 up.

Mrs. Scott Probasco of Chattanooga, Tenn., who lamented, "I must be 20 years older than anyone else in this tournament," upset two-time winner Barbara McIntire of Colorado Springs, Colo., in one of the most thrilling matches of the tourney, 1 up, in the afternoon.

Early Rally Gives Twins 5-1 Triumph

ANAHEIM (AP)—A live-run outburst in the first inning carried Minnesota to its seventh straight victory Wednesday night as the Twins completed a sweep of a three-game series against the California Angels, 5-1.

Right-hander Deane Chance pitched a nine-hitter for his 16th victory against eight losses. Singles by Bubba Morton, Roger Repoz and Jim Fregosi in the seventh inning deprived him of a shutout.

A triple by Zoilo Versalles, a double by Cesar Tovar and a single by Tony Oliva produced the Twins' first two runs in the first inning; against loser Jim McGlothlin, 10-5. Two walks loaded the bases before Oliva scored on an infield out. Ted Uhlaender climaxed the rally with a two-run double.

The victory kept the Twins 1 1/2 games ahead of second-place Chicago in the American League race.

Horton's Hit Gives Indians 1-0 Triumph

WASHINGTON (AP)—Tony Horton's ninth inning double scored pinch runner Chuck Hinton with the only run of the game as Steve Hargan outduelled Camilo Pascual and pitched Cleveland to a 1-0 victory over Washington Wednesday night.

Horton's hit was only the second of the game off Pascual, who had held the Indians hitless until the seventh. Leon Wagner drew a two-out walk in the ninth and Hinton went in to run. Then Horton connected.

Hargan finished with a three-hitter and didn't allow the first hit until the fifth when Allen broke up the double no-hitter with a single. He struck out 10.

Max Alvis ended Pascual's no-hit bid with two out in the seventh with a line single to left. Cleveland ... 000 000 001-1 2 0

Group Announces Change In Plan

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—The NCAA Executive Committee announced today a change in format for the NCAA basketball championships beginning in 1969.

The four regional playoffs and the championship finals will be scheduled on Thursday night and Saturday afternoon as an experiment for 1969 and 1970. They have been played on Friday and Saturday nights.

The finals for 1969 are scheduled March 20 and 22 at Freedom Hall in Louisville, Ky., and the regionals a week earlier on March 13 and 15 at sites to be determined.

Lee said there were several considerations in the playoff change. The major ones were to eliminate conflicts with many state-high school tournaments and to allow better coverage by press, radio and television of the NCAA events.

Lee said the new plan also gives more rest for the players in the period from Thursday to Saturday rather than playing successive games Friday and Saturday.

Football Drills To Begin Monday

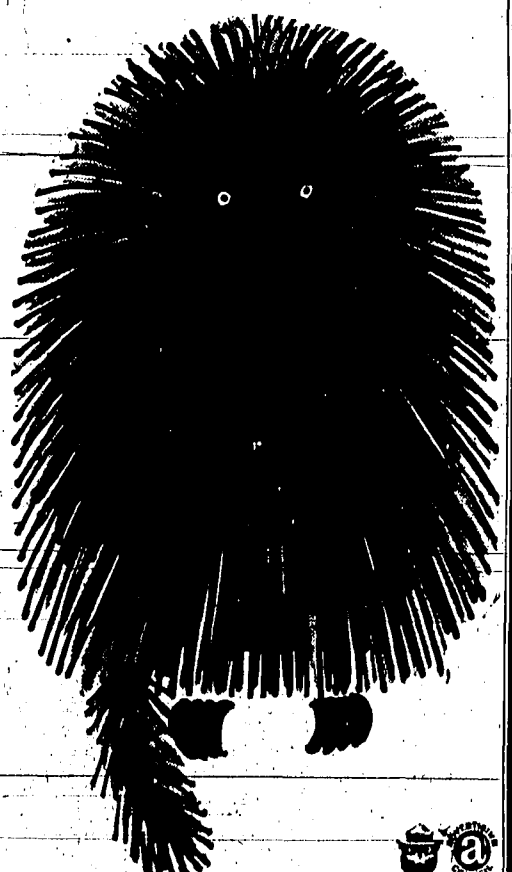

BOISE (AP)—Football practice may begin in Idaho high schools Aug. 21 with the first game permitted on Sept. 1, the Interscholastic Activities Association said today.

No youth may participate in a football game, the announcement said, until he has had at least 10 practice sessions of one hour each.

Homer D. Williams, Executive Secretary, said six football rules clinics are scheduled, with the first set for Thursday evening in Idaho Falls.

Others will follow Friday at Pocatello, Aug. 24, Caldwell, Aug. 28, Coeur d'Alene, Aug. 29, Lewiston, and Aug. 31, Jerome.

Mrs. O'Connell Will Defend Diving Crown At National Meet

By RALPH BERNSTEIN Associated Press Sports Writer PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Mrs. Joel Lenzi O'Connell of the Santa Clara Swim Club defends her one-meter springboard diving crown Thursday as the annual National AAU Women's Outdoor Swimming and Diving Championships get underway in Kelly Pool.

The one meter diving is the only event on the first of a four-day program featuring 350 swimmers and 75 divers competing not only for national crowns, but fall trips to Japan, England and Mexico.

The talented field lists 16 of the 18 winners at the recent Pan American Games in Winnipeg, Canada, and a host of world, national and meet records are expected to fall before the meet winds up Sunday.

On both Friday and Saturday, there will be six events, trials and finals, with the final seven trials and championships Sunday. All competition is slated to end by no later than 6 p.m. each day.

Mrs. O'Connell, a pert blonde from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., seeks her third straight AAU one meter springboard title and will have to out dive some formidable opponents to accomplish the feat.

The field includes last year's runnerup, Jerr Adair of the Rita Curtis Swimming Association; Patty Simms of Arcadia, Calif.; Micki King of Ann Arbor, Mich.; Cynthia Potter of Houston; Sue Gossick, Tarzana, Calif., runnerup indoors and sixth outdoors; and Lesley Bush, the Olympic platform diving champion who won the indoor title and is fresh from a platform title in the Pan American Games.

Claudia Kolb, a Pan Am triple winner, and the star of the team favorite Santa Clara Swim Club, is expected to win 800-meter freestyle events.

She'll be shooting for at least four titles—the 200 individual medley, 400 meter individual medley, 200-meter butterfly and 200-meter breaststroke. At Winnipeg, she set pending world records of 2:26.1 in the 200, and 5:09.7 in the 400-meter medley.

Other standouts include Lillian (Pokey) Watson of Santa Clara, defending champion in the 100 and 200 meter freestyle; Martha Randall of Philadelphia's Vesper Club, 400-meter freestyle champ; Patty Caretto of Los Angeles, 1,500-meter freestyle queen seeking her fourth straight title; Katie Ball of Jacksonville, Fla., a 10th grade pupil, 100 and 200 meter breaststroke defender; Debbie Meyer, Pan Am 400 and 800-meter freestyle champion; Cathy Ferguson of Los Angeles, Olympic 100-meter backstroke champ, and Lee Davis, Santa Clara, 200-meter butterfly defender.

Santa Clara's various relay teams figure to have good shots at world record in the 400-meter medley, 400-meter freestyle and 800-meter freestyle events.

Negro Solon Tells People To Move For Political Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Negro Brooklyn Democrat who arranged the meeting and who in-Harlem delegation—visiting Capitol Hill to demand a rat eradication law—to transform its frustrations into political action.
 "I'm as sick and tired of this crap as anyone," Rep. John Conyers Jr., D-Mich., told the group from New York City's Negro slum section Wednesday.
 "I know you're mad at everyone including me and that's your privilege—but it's about time that black, mad, angry, frustrated America begins to turn this into some political channels," Conyers added.
 The Harlem group joined another from the Brownsville section of Brooklyn to meet informally Wednesday with some
 New York City congressmen and Conyers to demand reversal of House action that sidetracked
 the $40 million, administration-backed—rat control—program.
 Chief spokesman for the 80-member delegation was
 Jesse Gray, a trim, articulate Negro.
 Gray, asserting that rats in slum-homes are one of the root causes of racial unrest, said:
 "If Congress can't address itself to killing rats we're in a sad sack in this nation."

Gov. Wallace Recovering From Surgery

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—
 Gov. Lurleen Wallace is deeply tanned and feeling fine now after battle with cancer. But she plans more X-ray therapy in September to guard against a recurrence.
 Most of the time these days,
 Mrs. Wallace relaxes on the sands of the Gulf Coast. She hasn't been at her office since shortly before she spent three weeks in July in a Houston,
 Tex., cancer clinic for the removal of a malignant growth in her lower abdomen.
 But she carries on the state's business from an office in the mansion when she is in Montgomery and by telephone when she is away, and she plans to make a speech or two before returning to Houston.
 Mrs. Wallace says she hasn't decided yet when she will return
 full time to running the state.

Mrs. La Verne Strong Is Honored At BPW Luncheon

Mrs. LaVerne Strong was honored recently at a luncheon at the Rogerson Roundup Room by more than 70 friends representing many organizations. The luncheon was sponsored by the Business and Professional Women, to whom she presented her latest award from the National Safety Council.

The award was given to three clubs in the United States, and the BPW was the only one received by a women's organization in the country.

The safety award was won by an original idea of Mrs. Strong—sewing a four-inch diamond-shaped patch of light foam sprayed with orange fluorescent paint, accompanied by a safety pin of the same color. It was presented to the Senior Citizens of the Twin Falls Housing Authority and Golden Age Club, to be worn when taking an evening stroll.

Mrs. Strong received many floral arrangements from business organizations and clubs. Mrs. Ralph Rauch was toastmistress.

Lee Robbins, soloist for the current Magic Valley Crusade, sponsored by the Billy Graham Evangelistic Association, sang two solos, accompanied by Eddie Thomas, Crusade pianist-organist, who also provided background music and offered the invocation.

Herb Derrick, city manager, reported on the number of accidents in Twin Falls, and praised Mrs. Strong for her efforts at attempting to reduce them. Representing the Jerome BPW club was Mrs. Hinkle Cox. Lee Talkington, representative of the City Police, pointed out everyone's responsibility for public safety, and voiced his support for Mrs. Strong's work. Representing the South Central BPW was Mrs. Doris Grimman, Burley, president.

Also paying tribute to Mrs. Strong were Bob Day, manager of the Amalgamated Sugar Co.; Mrs. Helen Dickinson, Rupert, state president of the Idaho Federation of Women's Clubs; Al Peters, general manager, Twin Falls Canal Co.; Bert Larson, president of the Salvation Army, and Miss Shirley Hagen, KEEP Radio.

Miss Hagen presented a trophy to Mrs. Strong, for being chosen as "Citizen of the Week."

Also among those honoring Mrs. Strong were Hugh Coates, representative of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce; Mrs. J. W. Adamson, past president of the South Central Idaho BPW

District, and several Union Pacific Railroad officials.

Gov. Don Samuelson sent his regrets at not being able to attend, but said, "Her unselfish service ranks high on the list of outstanding Idaho women."

Mrs. Dean Kendrick, immediate past president of the Twentieth Century Club, told of the honors Mrs. Strong had brought to their club.

In their Youth Education Project, she won a safety award from Shell Oil Co., accompanied by $500 for the scholarship fund. The following year, she worked through that club, and with the assistance of several others, assisted two local sisters in achieving their certificates as nurses.

They graduated this spring, and are now working in the California area.

Mrs. Strong won safety award checks totaling $1,300 for the club. This, plus the scholarships totaling $400, brought the Twentieth Century Club second place in the federation.

The committee honoring Mrs. Strong included Mrs. Dorothy Sanborn, president; Mrs. Vera Rauch, Mrs. Ina Knox, Mrs. Deetta Campbell, Mrs. Lucille Brizee and Mrs. Doris Harper.

The Idaho Safety Council presented Mrs. Strong with a plaque honoring her for her outstanding work in Idaho.

LINCOLN COUNTY Sheriff's Blotter

Investigation is continuing by Lincoln County and Shoshone City Law Officials into the burglary of the Epsion Cafe. About $85 was taken from a cash register and a piggy bank there sometime early Monday morning. S. Ole discovered the burglary about 7 a.m. Monday when he was preparing to open the business. Entrance into the cafe appeared to have been through an air conditioner vent in the ceiling.

About $800 damage resulted to a 1961 Ford driven by Mrs. Ethel R. Coleman, Dietrich, at 12:30 a.m. Tuesday.

Mrs. Coleman was going north on the highway south of Shoshone, when her car left the roadway and struck a guide post and went into rocks. She was not injured.

Mrs. Sandra L. Maxwell and her 1 year old son were treated for bruises when their 1968 Dodge Dart left the road three miles west of Shoshone on highway 20-26. Mrs. Maxwell attempted to catch the boy as he was falling off the seat and lost control of the car. She drove into the sage brush on the left side and $250 damage resulted to the car.

Surveys Are Asked To Be Returned

Residents of Twin Falls County were urged Thursday by Sheriff James H. Benham, Civil Defense Director, to make certain the questionnaires they received in the mail for the Idaho Home Fallout Protection Survey are returned.

Persons participating will receive a confidential report on the amount of fallout protection their home will offer members of the family.

At last count, more than 43.7 per cent of the state's homes had been evaluated for the amount of protection they would provide against radioactive fallout. Occupants of each of the homes have been mailed reports.

In order to make the home fallout protection program a success, Sheriff Benham said, every questionnaire must be returned. Whether the occupant is a renter or owner, and whether it is a one-family dwelling or multi-family unit the survey information should be mailed, he said.

Those who did not receive a questionnaire or a visit by a survey enumerator, should notify the Twin Falls Sheriff's office, 733-6171, as soon as possible to be included in the survey.

FEATURING THE LARGEST CARPETING SELECTION IN MAGIC VALLEY

Shot Delayed

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—Rocket pressurization problems Wednesday forced the space agency to postpone for another seven days—until Aug. 23—plans to move to the launch pad the first Saturn-5 rocket-of-the-type that will carry three astronauts toward the moon. Officials will install a new safety device in the second stage.

The problem will delay the Saturn 5's launch date at least to mid-October, sources said. The 365-foot tall booster previously was scheduled to blast off on its maiden test flight on Sept. 28.

Low Bid Listed

KIMBERLY — Holmes Construction Co., Inc., Heyburn, was the apparent low bidder of five bids received in the office of the Department of Highways, Boise.

Work consists of constructing the roadway, irrigation structures, a plantmix bituminous surfacing and seal coating on 1.011 miles of U. S. Highway 30, Kimberly-West and on 4.242 miles of State Highway 50, Junction U. S. Highway 30, Hansen Bridge, in Twin Falls County.

Reference Center Gives Service

SHOSHONE — Lincoln county residents are receiving better library service to the unincorporated areas of Lincoln County.

A bookmobile now comes twice each month to Dietrich and Palmer Service Center, north Shoshone.

Two hundred and nine people have been made on bringing library service to the unincorporated areas of Lincoln County.

In 1967, there are signs of change in public library picture. Shoshone library is an active member of the Magic Valley Reference Center.

Librarians and trustees of the municipal libraries in the eight-county Idaho Library Region IV meet monthly to discuss mutual problems and to develop cooperative projects.

The Idaho State Library has placed several thousand books at Reference Center headquarters in the Twin Falls public library on which the libraries may draw for material to supplement their permanent collections.

A steadily growing collection of reference books is also available. Free telephone service on reference questions and a duplicating service add still more to the resources available to the Reference Center Libraries.

Richfield has enlarged its library district and moved its library to a larger building.

The appointment of a permanent librarian and greater use of the Reference Center resources should lead to improved and extended library service for the Richfield Library District.

Couple Going To Northwestern

SHOSHONE — Mr. and Mrs. Conrad H. Thorne, Logan, Utah, spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harrell A. Thorne, prior to leaving for the coming school year at Northwestern University.

He will be using a work study grant, working with one of the faculty members, at the Evans-ton, Ill., campus, Medill School of Journalism. He will be working on his master's degree in what is called advertising sequence.

Mrs. Thorne will be teaching

English and speech in York Community High School at Elm-hurst, where they will be living at 653 Hawthorne Ave.

Mrs. Thorne was graduated last spring from Utah State University, Logan, Utah, and he was graduated from Brigham Young University.

New bookmobile routes are being laid out, and anyone interested in the establishing of new bookmobile stops should write to the director, Robert R. Bruce, Twin Falls, Public Library.
