The Magic Valley Newspaper Dedicated to Serving and Promoting the Growth of Nine Irrigated Idaho Counties

VOL. 64, NO. 127 TWIN FALLS, IDAHO, MONDAY, AUGUST 21, 1967 TEN CENTS

STIFF WINDS continued to spread one of the season's worst forest fires over extreme North Idaho and into Canada Monday. The fire is in the Trapper Peak area in and adjoining the Kanitsu National Forest. Approximately 1,100 men are fighting the fire and planes have been bombarding it continuously with retardant. 'Red Flag Alert' Set As Lightning Storms Spread Fire Through Northwest

BOISE, Idaho (AP) — Lightning storms spread fire through many areas of Idaho during the night and threatened additional blazes today.

U.S. Forest Service officials labeled the situation "red flag alert" and the Intermountain Region headquarters at Ogden called for 100 fire fighters from California as they scraped the bottom of the manpower pool in the Intermountain area.

The new Idaho fires came while thousands of men battled blazes raging through the hot, dry forests of the Northwest. Three major blazes in the Idaho Panhandle broke out of fire lines nearly emptying some fire fighters, necessitating evacuation of got a dozen and the Salmon-Forest about six.

Deffer said three fires were burning in the Brownlee area of western Idaho and one, in brush and grass, was "spotting heavily."

Crews were at work on two fires in Ant Basin, 15 miles northwest of New Meadows; one at Cuddy Mountain, 18 miles west of Council, and three in the Corduroy Creek area north of Burdorf.

Those were the largest of the 80 reported in the Payette Forest.

Regional officials at Ogden said they were moving some 85 men from other forests in the region, which includes Utah and parts of Nevada and Wyoming, to fire-spotted central Idaho. Twenty-five men flew from the Dixie Forest in southern Utah early today.

Two complete organized fire teams (supervisory personnel) were sent to Missoula, Mont., Saturday to help direct the battle against the North Idaho fires.

The storms hit hardest in Idaho Sunday where 80 fires were ignited within a few hours in the southern part of the state. Reports of 200 others came from the timberland near Lewiston, Idaho.

Winds up to 30 miles an hour whipped the blazes in North Idaho, Oregon, British Columbia and Montana as nearly 5,000 See FIRES, Pg. 2, Col. 8

Bar Owner Is Charged In Fatal Shooting At Tavern

A 41-year-old Twin Falls tavern owner was arraigned in Probate Court in Twin Falls shortly before noon Monday on first-degree murder charges, resulting from a Sunday night shooting in his tavern.

Joaquin Lasa requested a preliminary hearing, which was granted by Judge Zoe Ann Shaub, with a date to be set against Lasa was signed by Twin Falls Detective Tim Qualls.

Police said they were called to the Blue Front Bar, 221 Shoshone St. S., at 8:28 p.m. Sunday and on arrival found Lasa behind the bar and Jasso lying on the floor in a pool of blood. He had been shot in the upper left chest, police said.

Witnesses told police Mr. Jasso had been seated at the bar and that he got up and walked to the juke box to play some music, then returned to the bar and they heard a shot and saw the man slump to the floor.

Officers said witnesses reported Mr. Lasa then walked about six feet to the end of the bar where his wife, Ida May Lasa, was seated.

Witnesses questioned Sunday night, according to police, were unable to shed light on any argument or disagreement between the suspect and Mr. Jasso. Several customers in the establishment said they heard no arguing immediately before the shooting occurred.

Police said when they arrived the 12 gauge shotgun, believed to be the murder weapon, was in its case behind the bar. Mr. Lasa and several witnesses were taken to the Twin Falls police station for questioning and Mr. Lasa was retained in custody.

Lloyd Walker was retained by the defendant as legal counsel. Prosecuting Attorney Michael Felton represented the state in the Monday arraignment.

Funeral arrangements for Mr. Jasso were pending Monday at White Mortuary.

Guards Called

BOISE (AP) — Maj. Gen. George Bennett, Idaho adjutant general, reported Monday 120 National Guardsmen now are on active duty assisting fire control efforts in the North Idaho Panhandle.

They are using 50 pieces of National Guard equipment, including four ambulances, Bennett said.

The primary need now is for additional medical units, Bennett said.

The guardsmen are not engaged in actual firefighting. They are used to provide transportation and operate kitchens to feed the fire crews.

Warplanes Arouse Hectic Red Defense

By GEORGE MCARTHUR SAIGON (AP) — American warplanes hit North Vietnam in near-record numbers again Sunday and aroused such a hectic defense near Hanoi that the Communists shot down one of their own planes with a SAM missile.

The hapless MIG-17 blasted from the skies was heading for a flight of Phantom jets led by America's foremost MIG-killer, Col. Robin Olds, of Washington, D. C., commander of the 8th Tactical Fighter Wing.

Coupled with the pounding of the North, American B52s made four strikes Sunday and Monday — three of them in the demilitarized zone dividing Vietnam — and 240 Communist soldiers were reported killed in scattered but often fierce ground fighting and air strikes in South Vietnam.

The U.S. Command also reported that a Marine helicopter and four Army gunships killed 20 Viet Cong after the helicopter pilot spotted about 50 guerrillas torturing four wounded U.S. soldiers Saturday. The helicopter rescued two of the Americans alive, but the other two died.

The Air Force said 179 missions were flown Sunday, the fourth consecutive day of record or near-record strikes. The record of 209 was posted on Saturday.

For the first time in six days the weather permitted the raiding jets to penetrate the iron triangle of defenses covering the Hanoi-Haliphong area and the reds responded with anti-aircraft guns, the Soviet-made surface-to-air missiles (SAMs) and MIG jet interceptors.

Although the North Vietnamese MIGs unleashed air-to-air missiles at the raiding American planes, the only announced loss of the day was the MIG17, the first known instance of Red misslemen getting one of their own planes.

22 Die In Acapulco Gun Battle

ACAPULCO, Mexico (AP) — A blazing gun battle between two rival factions at the 25th anniversary banquet of a copra growers union Sunday left 22 persons dead and an estimated 100 wounded in this Pacific Coast resort.

Police and soldiers rounded up 184 persons for questioning. Those involved are men who grow and harvest copra—dried coconut meat—either on their own or by hiring workers.

Claudio Monreal, Acapulco police watch commander, said one group of about 600 men was holding the banquet at the two-story building of the regional copra growers union. Another group of about 1,000 dissatisfied with a recent union election, gathered outside.

Cesar del Angel, a representative in the state government of Veracruz, was a leader of the uninvited contingent, said Mario Jaime Palacios, an agent of the Acapulco attorney general's office.

Del Angel was first reported killed in the shooting, then wounded, then fleeing to the hills with police and soldiers on his trail.

One witness reported that Del Angel entered the building during the celebration to negotiate for more representation for his faction in the union. He then left the building and a few minutes later reportedly ordered the door kicked down.

At that point shots were fired from the crowd outside, and persons inside the building returned the fire, some with machine guns.

When police and soldiers arrived, many of the dead and wounded were lying in the street. An eyewitness said order was restored quickly.

Within an hour the area, a slum district on the road to Acapulco's Ple de la Cuesta beach, had taken on a bizarre holiday air. Thousands milled around and tourists roamed the streets snapping pictures.

Clear Lakes Bridge Bids To Be Opened

Bids will be opened at 2 p.m. Sept. 12 in the office of the Idaho Department of Highways, Boise, for construction of a new bridge across Snake River in the Clear Lakes area.

The bridge will be a 201-foot span of concrete and steel and will be known as the Ken Curtis Memorial Bridge. State highway officials said they plan to award a contract this fall and begin construction immediately.

Funds for the new bridge, which links Gooding and Twin Falls Counties, will be provided through special levies in the two counties and from two highway districts and state matching funds.

District Engineer Blaine Sessions, Shoshone, said the bridge will be just slightly below the present single lane Clear Lakes bridge which it replaces, and work will also include 4 of a mile of roadway and approaches.

Bids have been opened on another highway project in the Twin Falls County area, Mr. Sessions said, and work should begin yet this fall.

This involves U.S. 30 from the Hansen bridge to the Red Cap corner north of Kimberly. Mr. Sessions said a favorable bid was received and the contract should be let within the next few days. Work will begin as soon as farm fields have been harvested from the state-acquired right-of-way.

When completed, this section will provide the main link with Interstate 80 for Kimberly, Hansen and one of two entrances for Twin Falls.

State Highway 50 will then be dropped from the system, Mr. Sessions explained.

Gen. Krueger Dies At 86 In Hospital

VALLEY FORGE, Pa. (AP) — "No army in military history ever had a greater leader than General Krueger." That is what General of the Army Douglas MacArthur said of Gen. Walter Krueger, commander of the U.S. 6th Army in World War II, who died Sunday.

It was Krueger's 6th Army that led MacArthur's spearhead against the Japanese all the way from the Southwest Pacific to the Philippines.

Krueger, a four-star general, died in Valley Forge General Hospital at the age of 86. He had been a patient there since Sept. 14, 1965.

Krueger, a master of military tactics, remained a doughboy at heart during a half century of soldiering in the Spanish-American War, the Philippine Insurrection and two world wars.

He was commissioned a second lieutenant in 1901 while serving under MacArthur's father, Lt. Gen. Arthur MacArthur, during the Philippine Insurrection. He returned to the Philippines 44 years later in command of a full general in 1945.

He had a reputation of being a conservative general who weighed every factor and every chance minutely before committing himself.

Brown Urges Negroes To Arm Selves

NEW YORK (AP) — Black Power leader H. Rap Brown, behind bars on a federal gun charge, has urged all Negroes to "arm yourselves, for our freedom is yet to come."

The 23-year-old Brown remained in his Federal House of Detention cell over the weekend as efforts failed to produce $25,000 bail bond.

William Kunstler, one of Brown's attorneys, said Sunday he had almost $25,000 in funds and securities but was having trouble finding a bondsman who would guarantee cash bail.

Kunstler, who conferred with Brown for 90 minutes Sunday, released a statement which he said came from the head of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee. In it, Brown charged, he was being held as a "political prisoner," adding: "My confinement will not rebuild Detroit nor will it save America from its dual fate."

Police Ordered On Alert In New Haven Disturbances

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Mayor Richard C. Lee ordered all police to remain on duty today after two nights of disturbances in New Haven, but said the "situation is now under control."

Small bands of Negro youths, defying an emergency curfew, smashed windows, hurled bottles and set minor fires Sunday night.

By 5 a.m. today, police made 178 arrests on a variety of charges, bringing to 228 the total for the two nights of scattered incidents, which included some looting — chiefly of liquor stores.

At a staff meeting today, Lee said police will remain on a double-shift, 24-hour alert basis. Every available policeman will be held over on the alert, he said.

Some minor injuries were reported on both nights of the outbreaks.

The mayor said he felt there were "no outside influences involved in the ferment. What happened here is part of urban American, 1967."

The bride, who wore a mint-flowered dress, said the green in the dress represented "fertility" and the blue stood for "love." The groom paid the ceremonial fee with a large rooster. Both bride and groom were barefoot. They said they would be married again, later, by a justice of the peace. (AP wirephoto)

Foreign Aid Plan Headed For Lumps

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration's foreign aid program, fresh from a drubbing in the Senate last week, appears headed for more lumps in the House.

Despite 27-7 support from the House Foreign Affairs Committee for a $3.1 billion aid measure close to what the administration sought, opponents were confident they could push through cuts in most of the economic assistance categories.

But military aid programs, cut sharply in the Senate, may survive reasonably intact.

Fire Danger Remains High In Sawtooths

The Sawtooth National Forest remained on red flag alert as continued hot weather brought burning conditions to the critical stage Monday. No new fires have been reported since Saturday, however.

The 24-man interregional fire suppression crew from Fairfield was dispatched Sunday night to the Payette National Forest when a new rash of lightning brought the total number of fires there to more than 80. The Sawtooth National Forest Service also sent two TEM planes to the Payette fires.

Extreme burning conditions in the Challis National Forest, which reported a new total of 12 fires this morning, prompted the Forest Service to dispatch a Halley-based helicopter and crew to the scene.

Weather forecasts call for continued lightning and thunderstorms in the area, but promise a 10-15 degree drop in temperature.

No Loss Seen On Sierra Policies

Commissioner of Insurance John R. Blaine, Boise, in a statement on the status of Sierra Life Insurance Co., Twin Falls, said Saturday it is the opinion of the department that Sierra policyholders will not suffer any financial loss unless they discontinue their policies.

Pointing out there is no guarantee and such a statement cannot be made as a positive position for a policy issued for any company, Mr. Blaine said it is most rare when a policy owner of a legal reserve life insurance company will ever suffer financial loss. However, he said, the department is not in a position to advise the policyholder as to what action he should take.

If Sierra can be placed back on a sound financial position and returned to the complete control of its stockholders, the people of Idaho should benefit.

Should it be determined this cannot be accomplished, Mr. Blaine said, other appropriate measures will be taken that would protect the financial interests of the policy owners.

Mr. Anderson explained that since June 30, a special committee has been in charge of operations of Sierra upon petition by the Department of Insurance to the District Court in Twin Falls.

One of the principal reasons, Mr. Blaine said, is that Sierra has acquired certain assets which are not admissible assets under the Idaho Code. The committee of three including two members of the board of directors of the company and one representative of the Department of Insurance, now in charge of all company operations, is working to exchange the non-admissible assets for assets which would meet Idaho code requirements.

Surveys Made For Transmission Line

BURLEY — Location surveys for a 138,000-volt transmission line from Minidoka Dam to a point five miles southeast of Burley will be completed within a week, Bob Lee, Idaho Falls, area manager for the Bonneville Power Administration, announced Saturday.

He said McCarter and Tuller, a Boise engineering firm, is completing the survey under contract to BPA. The proposed transmission line will extend about 24 miles and is known as the Minidoka - Unity line. Scheduled to go into operation in the summer of 1969, the line will supply power to Unity Light and Power Co., the city of Burley and the Southside Electric Line, Inc. The line will also provide an alternate source for power to nearby utilities.

"Substantial benefits will accrue to this area from construction and operation of the line," Mr. Lee said. "An adequate amount of low-cost power is assured to keep pace with the accelerating economy and growth being experienced in this area."

He added the line will increase the real ability of power supply on the system involved. Every effort has been made, he said, to protect land use and farming interests in line location. In intensive farm areas the line will follow natural farm boundaries as closely as possible.

In addition, the BPA's new standards for power facilities appearance will be used in construction of the transmission line, Mr. Lee explained.

Gas Truck Sets Fire To House

MARTELANGE, Belgium (AP) — A truck filled with liquid gas hit a bridge and overturned here today, setting fire to a dozen houses and several cars. Police said at least seven persons were killed, and the truck driver is missing and more than 20 were burned.

The French truck, traveling from the Netherlands to Metz, France, missed a curve in Martelange and hit the bridge. Four Dutch tourists in one of the cars were burned to death. An Italian tourist escaped unharmed from his burning car.

21-Year-Old Man Held For Slaying Nine

NORTH BATTLEFORD Sask. (AP) — A 21-year-old mental patient is being held for the murder of nine members of a farm family who were shot in their home on the edge of Canada's northern wilderness.

The Royal Canadian Mounted Police arrested Victor Ernest Hoffman Saturday night, four days after the massacre of Mr. and Mrs. James Peterson and seven of their children at their home in Shell Lake. The Petersons' 4-year-old daughter hid between the bodies of two of her sisters and escaped.

The police said Hoffman would be arraigned on a murder charge and then probably would be given a mental examination.

The young man's mother, Mrs. Robert Hoffman, said in an interview that her son was released July 23 from a mental institution in North Battleford. She said he was still under treatment and was to have been readmitted to the institution.

He is one of seven children and had worked on his father's farm 60 miles southeast of Shell Lake after quitting school in 1961.

Inspector Brian Sawyer said no motive had been established for the slaying. He said Hoffman was picked up without a struggle at home and had behaved normally since his arrest.

AMONG THE FEATURED entries in the Wagon Days parade at 11 a.m. Saturday at Ketchum will be this freight wagon, used in the 1880's to bring supplies and haul ore from the Wood River valley over the Trail Creek summit route. The parade of historical and horse-drawn vehicles has drawn large crowds in previous years.

Big Ore Wagons To Roll Again In Ketchum

KETCHUM — The big ore wagons of yesteryear will again be on parade in this mountain village Saturday. They are the five remaining freight wagons of the original string used by Horace C. Lewis in his Ketchum Fast Freight Line.

When the Freight Line was in full operation, Lewis had 30 outfits to teams and wagons on the road at all times between Ketchum, Clayton, Bayhorse, Challis, Custer and Bonanza. The line consisted of approximately 200 mules, numerous other small teams and several ox teams. It was known as the most perfectly equipped freight outfit operating on the Pacific Coast.

The cargo carried by the freight line to the mines was made up of all kinds of freight, merchandise and coke. Returning, they hauled tons of ore and silver-bullion. In one season 700,000 pounds of bullion was brought out in the wagons and shipped by rail.

In order to serve the mines, H. C. Lewis built the first wagon road over Trail Creek summit, known as the Ketchum-Challis Toll Road. It followed the creek as far as possible, then took off for the summit over the long, steep grade which had many hairpin turns and dangerous curves which would have been impossible to travel over by automobile. It was a 12 per cent grade at that time. Today the Trail Creek summit road is a 7 per cent grade, with no sharp switchbacks.

Each freight line string usually had five wagons, drawn by 14 to 20 mules and horses. When heavily loaded each had to be taken to the top separately.

Each wagon and each mule and horse had its own name. The lead wagon of the Ketchum Fast Freight Line was called the "Lewis Lead."

This wagon, which will appear in the parade Saturday pulled by 16 mules driven by Richard Hill, is the largest freight wagon now in existence. The box is 16 feet high and four feet wide. The back wheels are seven feet high. It has a carrying capacity of 250 cubic feet, or over 18,000 pounds.

In one emergency, when an accident occurred, this big wagon came down Trail Creek grade loaded with 24,000 pounds of bullion and five wagons, drawn by 24 mules.

As the wagon passes in the parade, look for the braking roughlocks (large iron shoes over the tire of the lower edge of the back wheel which acts as runners or drags to retard the turning of the wheels).

Also you may see the "chock-block" attached by a chain at the back of the wagon, which automatically falls under the wheel to hold the wagon from backing down hill.

Mr. Hill will be holding the rope or strap to control these brakes in his left hand. In his right hand, Mr. Hill, who will be riding the left-hand, or "near" wheeler, will hold his jerk line, which will control the direction his long string of mules, if he were passing over Trail Creek summit in the 1880's, would take over the narrow, steep grades.

The "muleskinner" must know the name of each of his horses or mules, as each animal responds immediately when his name is called and he is given direction to "Gee" (turn right) or "Haw" (turn left).

The lead mule, especially trained to all different jerks on his line, turns right when given one steady pull and to the left when given several short jerks.

Just behind the leaders will come the swing team, which works much on its own, knowing without signals when to cross over the haul chain for turns, and in which direction to pull. Between the swing team and pointers, which is the team just in front of the wheelers, are the sixes, eights, tens, etc.

The leaders are also especially trained in regard to the hames chimes, which serve a two-fold purpose. Arranged on a semi-circle bracket and consisting of five graduated bells, they gave a tinkling chime tone which was a warning to approaching teams coming around dangerous curves.

Also, after the teams were allowed a break and had rested, at a signal of the jerk line, the lead mule shook his bells violently, which was an alert for all teams to tighten the rigging and prepare to start pulling.

Ambling behind the wagons was a mare—usually a pinto—and her colt. Referred to as the "Belle Mare" her designated purpose was to keep the teams from straying at night while camped.

Although Agnes Barry, owner of the wagons, and sister of the late Katherine A. Lewis, whose husband, owned the Ketchum Fast Freight Line, will not be able to officiate as queen due to ill health, she and her niece, Mrs. Mercedes Uhhoff, have graciously given their consent to the Wagon Days Committee to use them.

Presiding as Wagon Days Pioneer Queen will be Mrs. Mary Brown, great-niece of Horace C. Lewis and of Rev. George Ritchie, who built the United Congregational Church, the first church in Ketchum, in 1883.

Competitors for the title of Teen-Age Queen include Helle Christensen, sponsored by the Alpine Club and Cafe; Kim Fenwick, sponsored by the Sun Valley Riding Club; Becky Hoffmaster, sponsored by the Ketchum Fire Department; and Betty Young, co-sponsored by the Sawtooth Rangers Riding Club and Halley Chamber of Commerce.

The winner will be crowned by 1966 Queen, Beverly Carr, at an invitational dinner at the Alpine Cafe dining room Friday evening.

Mrs. Paulita deSutter who, in her younger days danced before the crowned heads of Europe, will join the parade for two blocks, entering where the Sun Valley Road intersects with U.S. 93 and continuing on to Bald Mountain Pool.

Dignitaries who will ride in the 11 a.m. parade, who will be garbed in keeping with the days of phaetons, surreys with a fringe on top, and buckboards, will be Sen. Mary Brooks, Secretary of State, Cenarrusa, LL Gov. Jack Murphy, and possibly Sen. Frank Church and Rep. George Hansen. Several rodeo queens and Joe Mafis and Rose Lee of the Tex Ritter Show, will add color to the parade.

For those arriving Friday, the first day of the celebration, the Old Time Shoot-Out will be enacted at 6:30 p.m. on Ketchum's Main Street. At 7 p.m. the Ketchum and Halley Fire Departments personnel will hold a Tug of War in an attempt to settle the question which arose last year as to "who got the wettest" in the struggle back and forth through the waterline from the nose.

"A Roomful of Roses" will be presented at 8:30 p.m. by members of the Summer Theatre cast at Sun Valley with Chick Bilyeu in charge. At 9 p.m. there will be a dance, with music being arranged by Holly Houfburg.

Opening at 8:00 a.m. Saturday in the school gymnasium will be the antique gun, rock and mineral show, where hundreds of relics and mementos of the past will be on display until 9 p.m. Sunday the show will again open at 8 a.m. and run until 5 p.m.

Following the parade Saturday, horse races will be held on the flats north of Ketchum at 1 p.m. The Wood River Jaycees and Jay-C-Ettes will serve a barbecue on the Village Square at 5 p.m.

The last jce carnival of the year will be staged at the Sun Valley Open Air Rink at 9:30 p.m.

The newest addition to the celebration—a Sidewalk Fair, at which home hobbyists may display and sell their creations,

RESOLUTION PASSED
MCCALL, Idaho (AP) — Idaho Young Democrats were back home Monday after a soul-searching convention in which they passed a softened resolution chastizing Idaho Gov. Don W. Samuelson, a Republican.

Saturday afternoon's sessions saw Salmon attorney James Herndon — son of the late Democratic gubernatorial candidate — elected president to replace resigning head Leo Krulitz, a panel discussion of "what's wrong with the Democratic Party in Idaho," and passage of a resolution contending Samuelson is "bent on stamping out the last vestiges of excellence in state government."

The latter was substituted for an earlier resolution calling for Samuelson's resignation.

WASHINGTON (AP) — New military training directives stress that National Guard units are to be taught new methods of dispersing mobs, ferreting out snipers, quickly apprehending looters and protecting important community institutions.

The directives also stress that the half-million guardsmen are to apply so-called basic principles of war if called upon to quell any future street riots.

"The principles of war are generalized statements of basic strategy such as economy of force, maneuver, unity of command, surprise and simplicity.

"Meet force with greater force, but avoid bloodshed," says one of 16 detailed lesson plans supplied to National Guard instructors this month.

The Army prepared the lesson plans when the Pentagon, at White House direction following the Detroit and Newark riots, ordered a five-fold increase in the National Guard's riot control training.

Although unclassified, the National Guard Bureau wouldn't release the lesson plans, saying the Army forbade it. Official Army channels also refused to supply the plans but "The Associated Press obtained a full set of the documents from other sources."

In Lesson Plan No. 11, under a section titled "Application of the Principles of War to Riot Control Operations," this statement appears:

"An examination of military literature has indicated that the principles of war are applicable to all types of military situations. These principles are also basic in the execution of riot control operations."

"We've always been taught that the principles apply to almost everything," one officer said, "but they're emphasizing them now because we're getting into more situations that resemble actual combat rather than just breaking up crowds."

Guardsmen also are being told in the series of special lectures to give extra protection to certain community installations.

"The loss of the supply of water and power can seriously endanger the health of the community," the lesson plans say.

"The seizure of stored weapons in armories, clubs or arms stores can increase violence; the destruction of important government buildings can seriously disrupt procedures of government; mob control of banks, post offices or hospitals may lead to collapse of the society; and mob control of communication media can readily gain psychological advantage for further spread of the disorder."

The lesson plans indicate future rioters can expect to be confronted with sophisticated military equipment.

Helicopters may hover over the riot zone, illuminating it with powerful floodlights. More tanks and machine gun-equipped patrol vehicles may cruise the streets. Greater use may be made of tear gas.

Major Gen. Francis S. Greenleaf, deputy chief of the National Guard Bureau, said while some principles of war apply to riot control situations the main emphasis is on using only "the minimum force required to restore order."

This same point is emphasized repeatedly in the lesson plans. If it ever becomes necessary for guardsmen to open fire on rioters, one document says, "troops should aim low to disable rather than kill."

Most important, Greenleaf added in an interview, is the "rapid response with adequate numbers of uniformed, disciplined, firm troops" when disorders break out.

Michigan's adjutant general, Maj. Gen. Clarence C. Schnipke, said his troops discovered in Detroit that training in mob control simply isn't enough. This is not the problem," he said. "We didn't have to disperse one crowd in Detroit. This is in-city fighting, snipers."

The new schedule, issued Aug. 10, calls for all guardsmen to receive at least 32 hours of riot control training in August and September. In addition, command personnel are to receive an extra 16 hours training.

A Pentagon survey a few weeks ago showed some states were giving only six hours of riot control instruction a year. And before this summer, only four hours of annual training was required, although some units received more.

The new lesson plans stress seven major points. Guardsmen are told to prevent formation of crowds; disperse crowds and mobs rapidly; apprehend known or suspected mob leaders; maintain a neutral attitude; not harangue, threaten or bluff; use only necessary force, and always provide avenues of escape for mobs being dispersed.

The plans also detail specific techniques to be used.

First is a show of force—the arrival of troops on the scene. Listed next is deployment in riot control formations, then use of fire hoses and water cannons, then employment of "irritant nontoxic gases" like tear gas.

Then two more severe steps are listed: fire by selected marksmen or use of unit fire or full fire power.

"Members of the mob may attempt to inflict casualties within the unit through the use of small arms fire, demolitions, grenades and other lethal devices," the lectures state. "We must be prepared to counter this type of mob action with a more severe measure of force such as fire delivered by selected marksmen."

"Available unit fire power with the intent of producing extensive casualties" would be ordered, the lesson plans say, "as a last resort only after all other measures have failed or obviously would be ineffective or the consequences of failure to completely subdue the riot would be imminent overthrow of the government, continued mass casualties or similar grievous conditions. It has never been used by federal troops."

American Officials Believe War Shows Favorable Trend

By GEORGE MCARTHUR, Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — American military and diplomatic leaders in South Vietnam decry the word "stalemate" and insist that many small and unexpected developments show an unmistakable favorably trend in the war.

Critics in Saigon who hold that a stalemate exists point to instances where no progress can be detected. They cite incompetent generals of South Vietnamese divisions, corrupt district chiefs, the threat of economic upheaval, continued American casualties, Communist attacks on rural pacification teams.

American officials, privately at least, frequently agree with such specific criticisms. But in the highest quarters the argument is advanced that the war is so complex that the statistics add up to the conclusion that the trend is improving.

"One factor frequently overlooked," said an American source concerned with top policy decisions, "is that we've only had real pressure on the enemy for one year. The first year we were bringing in troops and building our bases and logistics from scratch."

"Now our pressure on the enemy is becoming evident. They (Hanoi) are beginning to recognize that they are pursuing an exercise in futility."

The cost of living has gone up about 30 per cent this year, for example. They insist, however, that the over-all picture is gradually improving.

In concert with Washington, an evident campaign is under way to get this message across to the public.

U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker expects the Sept. 3 election will be a substantial gain on the political front. The military commander, Gen. William C. Westmoreland, considers the fighting war is costing the enemy 15,000 casualties monthly and that this pressure in due course must have its effect. The bombing of North Vietnam is presented as an indispensable part of this pressure.

The soldiers, diplomats, economists and other experts in the U.S. mission admit that certain programs are behind schedule and "certain areas uncertain."

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: After 15 years of living in a two-room apartment, my husband and I finally bought a three-bedroom home. Of course I am delighted, but now my darling husband has informed me that he would like separate bedrooms! I think this is asking for trouble.

I gave in a few years ago when he asked for twin beds because he wakes up three and four times during the night to smoke a cigaret, which disturbs me. I have to get up at 5:30 to get to work, so the twin beds did solve the problem of my being disturbed. But separate bedrooms! Won't that be the beginning of the end of our married life? RSPV

DEAR RSPV: You will be healthier, happier and better humored if you get your rest at night. And your husband will be easier to live with if he doesn't feel guilty for having disturbed you.

And by the way, a man who gets up three and four times a night to smoke a cigaret may not be around too many more years to worry about.

DEAR ABBY: Recently I asked the 16-year-old daughter of a neighbor of ours down the block to babysit for us for an evening while my husband and I went out. This was the first time we ever had her sit for us.

After we came home we found a note she had left for us, saying, "CLEAN YOUR FILTHY HOUSE, PLEASE." Abby, I know I am not the world's greatest housekeeper, but my house is NOT filthy, either.

We live in a newly developed area (none of the houses is even a year old yet) and we have never met this girl's parents. In a way I think they ought to know about this rude and uncalled-for note, but I don't want to become acquainted with my neighbors under these circumstances. What do you suggest I do?

HURT IN EUGENE

DEAR HURT: Let the matter drop, and the next time you need a babysitter, ask someone with better manners.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a man who insists on taking his nap on the living room couch, from one to two hours each day, yells at the kids if they aren't extra quiet, and makes the whole family miserable with no place to sit down? This man has a comfortable bedroom he could go to.

He sleeps at night same as the rest of the family. If he needs more sleep, shouldn't he go to his own room and not upset the whole family? I think he's selfish and stubborn. What do you think?

THE MAN'S WIFE

Cathy Bingman, Crowser Wed In Boise Ceremony

Cathy Jean Bingman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max E. Bingman, Moscow, and John C. Crowser, son of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Crowser, Twin Falls, exchanged wedding vows July 28 in rites at St. Mary's Catholic Church, Boise.

Arrangements of white and yellow gladioli and white and yellow chrysanthemums decorated the church for the double ring evening ceremony officiated by Father Donoyhue.

The bride wore a street-length lace dress with scalloping on the sleeves and hemline. She wore a shoulder-length veil and streamers.

Diana Benson, Moscow, was maid of honor. Connie Bingman, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid.

Jon Anderson, Spokane, fraternity brother of the bridegroom, was best man, with James Rathjen, Salmon, as usher.

A reception was held at the Downtowner, Boise. Mrs. Gene Crowser, sister-in-law of the bridegroom; Mrs. Jack Bolvard, sister of the bridegroom, and JoAnne Martin, Boise, assisted at the serving table.

The couple will reside at 132 2nd St. E., Twin Falls, after a wedding trip to Yellowstone National Park. They will move to Moscow this fall to attend the University of Idaho.

The bridegroom will be a senior in civil engineering and the bride a sophomore in business education.

DEAR WIFE: I agree with you. But worse yet is the example he is setting for the children. If they are going to learn respect and consideration for other people, you will have to do double duty, because unless you can get your man to change his ways, your children will never learn them from their father.

How has the world been treating you? Unload your problems on Dear Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90068. For a personal, unpublished reply, enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

"Darling, You're A Jewel!"

By NORMAN HERRETT

Probably, at one time or another, every married man in the world—in his native tongue, whatever that might be—has told his wife that she is a jewel.

She is his helpmate, his "heart of hearts"—and he would do anything to make her supremely happy. What is one of the first things he does? He buys her a diamond engagement ring, a wedding ring and, as the years go by, he buys her other rings and bracelets and brooches and trinkets that adorn her and make her a radiant personality.

What does she do with all this jewelry? Lots of times she puts it in her top drawer or her dressing table. And quite often, too, she misplaces some of it and pouts because she wanted desperately to wear that special pin or pair of earrings.

I have an answer to this. Get her a gem like jewel box. We have a most extensive display of them and they are all most beautiful. There are genuine leather jewel boxes with mirrors in the lids and all satin lined. There are jewel boxes that have several compartments with an upwiping tray for rings and pins. Prices? Well, you can get a handsome jewel box for as little as $3.95...others up to $15.00.

Come in today and see them. Easy credit terms, of course and our sincere desire to make you happy with any purchase.

P. S. to you women readers...we have a nice selection of men's jewel boxes, too, that make appropriate gifts for any occasion. HERRETT'S JEWELERS, 1220 Kimberley Road, Twin Falls, 793-0868.

Al Dark Fired In Wake Of Internal Feud Among A's

By TOM SEPPY
 WASHINGTON (AP) — Manager Alvin Dark of the Kansas City Athletics was fired Sunday by the club's president, Charles O. Finley. He was replaced immediately by Luke Appling, who has been with the A's organization for the past five years.

Dark's discharge by Finley came in the wake of an open feud between the players and the owner of the last place American League club.

Finley suspended pitcher Lew Krausse Friday for what he described as conduct unbecoming a major league player.

Finley, contacted at his Washington hotel, said Dark was notified at 5:30 a.m. Sunday after an all-night meeting between himself, Dark, the coaching staff and player representative Jack Aker.

Finley said the meeting began at 7 p.m. Saturday and ended at 4:30 a.m., with Aker joining at 2:30 a.m.

About 12 hours after he fired Dark, Finley issued a statement in which he said he took the action because "I am convinced he had lost control of his ball-players."

He said during the all-night meeting Dark stated several times he was unware in advance of the contents of a statement put out by the players in which they criticized the owner and praised the manager and coaching staff.

"He (Dark) said he had been consulted he would certainly have made every effort to prevent it because it absolutely had no basis in fact," said the Finley statement.

Finley said, however, Aker said at the meeting, after he stated, "Dark not only knew of the statement, he had approved it also."

"In view of this, and the other developments, it was obvious to me that Dark no longer was operating in the best interest of the Kansas City players or ownership."

Aker later denied telling Finley that Dark had approved the players' statement.

"I read the statement to Alvin after our meeting," Aker said, "but he had no comment."

Finley said Appling, who has served the A's as a coach, scout and instructor, would take over immediately and would be the manager until the end of the season.

Dark became manager of the Athletics last season after being a coach with the Chicago Cubs in 1965 and managing the San Francisco Giants from 1961 to 1964, during which he led the team to the World Series in 1962.

Dark, contacted in his hotel room, said he would have no comment on his firing.

"The only thing I have to say is that I certainly enjoyed being with these kids. They have a lot of courage and will be pennant winners one of these days," he said.

Dark said he will return to Kansas City and has no other immediate plans.

After Finley suspended Krausse Friday for what he described as conduct unbecoming a major league player, the club owner was undermining the morale of the ball club by using informers to spy on players.

Finley also said Friday alcoholic drinks will no longer be served to the Athletics on airplanes and said "shenanigans" of a few of the A's have been deplorable.

Before leaving with the club for Baltimore after the Kansas City-Washington game was rained out, Appling said: "I don't know what happened, and I don't want to know. I want to start from scratch."

The move apparently caught Appling by surprise because, he said, he had planned a vacation after visiting one more of the team's farm clubs. He said he had only been home six days this season.

He said Finley asked him Sunday to take over the club for the rest of the season. "There was no discussion, he said, about his being manager next season."

Finley said earlier Appling was interim manager and would not necessarily be in charge of the club next season.

Appling held a short meeting with the players after Dark met with them. He also met with the coaching staff and said he foresees no changes there.

Dark, 45, finished the Athletics surprising seventh place finish in 1966. Their young pitching was expected to carry them at least as far this season, but on Sunday, they were wallowing in last place, 16½ games behind.

Miss Englehorn Finishes Third

PEKIN, Ill. (AP) — Caldwell, Idaho's Shirley Englehorn finished third in the Women's Western Open Golf Championship Sunday.

Miss Englehorn's 72-hole total of 298 was nine strokes behind the winner, Kathy Whitworth. The Caldwell golfer won $1,000 prize money.

Faux Farmers, Buhl, Captures State Softball Title In Boise

BOISE (AP) — Faux Farmers Bank of Buhl won the Idaho state softball championship early Monday, defeating Albertsons' Bucs, Boise, 8-4.

The game was the second between the two teams after Albertsons' upset the Faux Farmers 2-0 in what would have been the double-defeat elimination tournament's final game if Buhl had won.

The Albertson victory forced the after-midnight playoff to decide the tournament championship.

During the long, final day of the tourney, Faux Farmers turned in three victories, but dropped the one game to Albertsons which forced the playoff.

The Bucs threatened in the last inning of the title game, loading the bases with Carl Easter, one of the state's top home run hitters, coming to bat. But Easter, who had hit a four-bagger earlier in the game, hit into a double play to end the game.

The Buhl team win a pair of games Sunday afternoon to advance to the finals. With Ayres coming up with a pitching gem, Faux Farmers won the longest game of the tournament, going nine innings before nipping Olympia Beer 3-2. Faux Farmers jumped out in front 2-0 in the first inning but Olympia got one back in the second and tied it with another in the seventh on a clutch homer by Ken Gluch. But Buhl came back with the decisive tally in the ninth.

In the championship semifinals, Buhl trailed Drumstick 1-0 through the first five innings before coming up with the tying run. Gary Matlock decided it in the seventh when he belted a homer. The victory went to Ross Rytting.

The tourney's most valuable player award went to Gary Matlock of the Faux Team, and the outstanding pitcher award went to the Bucs' Marv Abrams.

The linecores:
 Faux Farmers: 120 021 2-3 10
 Albertsons: 200 001 1-4 6 3

K. Whitworth Sets Record In Golf Meet

PEKIN, Ill. (AP) — Kathy Whitworth set a tournament scoring record Sunday with a closing 71 for an 11-under-par 289 in winning the $10,000 Women's Western Open Golf Tournament for the first time.

The previous Western Open record was 290, set by Mary Lena Faulk at Nashville, Tenn., in 1961, and matched by Susie Maxwell in Chicago in 1965.

The slender Miss Whitworth, a pro since 1958 and now registering out of Coronado Springs, N.M., captured her sixth tourney title of the year and boosted her LPGA-leading money winnings by $1,500 to $21,067.

Petite Sandra Haynie of Fort Worth, Tex., after firing a 34 on the front nine to tie Kathy after 63 holes, fell apart on the last nine of the demanding Pekin Country Club course and finished second with a 40 for 74 and 292.

Shirley Englehorn of Caldwell, Idaho, took third with 298, with a final 75 that included a 23-foot birdie putt on the last hole.

Carol Mann, with a 74 for 300, was fourth and Mary Mills of Biloxi, Miss., was fifth with 75 and 302.

Two World Records Shattered By 15-Year-Olds In AAU Meet

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
 Associated Press Sports Writer
 PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Debbie Meyer, Sacramento, Calif., and Cate Ball, Pompano Beach, Fla., a couple of 15-year-old schoolgirls, established world records Sunday in the Women's Outdoor National AAU Swimming and Diving Championships.

Miss Meyer, who turned 15 last Monday, became the first woman ever to break the 18-minute barrier in the 1,500-meter freestyle, setting a world mark of 17:50.2 — just as she had predicted she would.

Moments later, Miss Ball set her second world record of the meet, with a time of 2:39.5 in the 200-meter breaststroke. She broke the 100-meter breaststroke record Saturday.

Miss Meyer, who predicted on Friday she would break the 1,500-meter record, said she was really a little disappointed.

"I missed what I wanted by two-tenths of a second," she said. "I figured out my splits and figured 17:50 was possible. She smashed the existing record of 18:12.9 set by Patty Caretto in Lincoln, Neb. last year, and topped her own pending mark of 18:11.1.

She Pederson was second, also beating the two old marks with an 18:07.5.

Miss Mergers' split times were 4:38.5 for 400 meters, 9:25.2 at the 800-meter mark and 14:15.5 after 1,200 meters.

In all, nine world records were lowered during the four-day meet.

Earlier, pretty Kendis Moore captured her second tie to the meet when she splashed to victory in the 200-meter backstroke.

The 18-year-old from Scottsdale, Ariz., who won the 100-meter backstroke Friday, took the 200 in 2:28.1, over Cecilia Dougherty of the Philadelphia A.C., clocked in 2:29.1.

California's Population Is On Increase

By BILL STALL
Associated Press Writer
SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — The rush of humanity to California eased a bit in the last year, but the nation's most populous state still grew by nearly 400,000 residents—to an estimated 19,535,000.

The midyear estimate by state experts put California at roughly the same population as the entire nation of Yugoslavia. State Finance Department officials predicted today that California will pass the 20 million point in about one year.

Earlier forecasts projected the population to 20 million by next January, but the rate of increase dropped more than expected during the past two years.

"No one really knows why," said Walter P. Hollmann, the Finance Department's population expert, "or whether more are going out or less are coming in."

California's net population gain has declined steadily from a peak of 626,000 in 1963. The only higher figure was 771,000 in 1943, with an influx of World War II servicemen.

Hollmann said one reason the boom is leveling off is that living conditions have been relatively good elsewhere in the nation.

"It seems migration follows business cycles and it seems the rest of the country has been doing well lately and there's not been the push away from the rest of the country to California."

The state's new population projects show a further trend toward the urban areas, with Los Angeles County now the home of seven million residents—more than the total population of 43 of the 50 states. The country's area of 4,080 square miles is slightly smaller than the state of Connecticut.

The eight Southern California counties and the nine in the San Francisco Bay area account for more than 17.5 million of the state's residents.

California has grown by 24.3 per cent, from 15,717,204 in 1960. New York, the No. 1 population state before 1960, had a population of 16,782,304 in the federal census of that year.

Marshall Is Prepared To Be Justice

By JOHN CHADWICK
WASHINGTON (AP) — Thurgood Marshall was described today as "perfectly prepared" to be a Supreme Court justice — and also as "a constitutional iconoclast" whose appointment is a disservice to the country.

The conflicting views are stated in majority and minority reports of the Senate Judiciary Committee, which voted 11 to 5 to recommend confirmation of Marshall's nomination. The five voting against him are Southerners. The first Negro ever nominated for the court, Marshall is the U. S. solicitor general and a former judge on the U. S. Court of Appeals in New York.

The committee vote was announced Aug. 3 but contents of the reports became known today.

President Johnson submitted his nomination June 13. No date has been set for the Senate's confirmation vote.

The majority report said Marshall's long, close association with the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People did not disqualify him but rather redounds to his and the nation's benefit.

"For as director-counselor of the NAACP Legal Defense and Education Fund for so many years," the report said, "his extraordinary legal ability was honed and proven in every court of the land."

The minority report said the Supreme Court has become dominated by "judicial activists who amend the Constitution while professing to interpret it" and declared Marshall's confirmation would add to their number.

North Koreans Ambush 9 Men

Church Organization, Opus Dei, Flourishes In Spain

By KENNETH L. DAVIS
MADRID, Spain (AP) — In this serene and sober Catholic land, from which sprang both the Inquisition and the Jesuits, a business executive refuses to accept more than one-sixth of his salary.

"I don't need more than that to live," he told his employer. He is a member of Opus Dei or God's Work, a name for a 38-year-old church organization now active in 68 countries. It is formally named the Sacerdotal Society of the Holy Cross.

Some enemies call it "Opus Dei" for God's Octopus. The Opus Dei founder, Msgr. Jose Maria Escriva, wrote years ago: "Every walk of life, every occupation in this world, can be a meeting-point with God as long as it is upright and one perseveres in that uprightness. It is in order to call attention to His marvelous fact that God started His Opus Dei."

By this definition, members dedicate themselves to seeking sanctity in their own jobs. Fewer than two per cent are priests. Membership is not secret but determining the scope of membership is difficult. "We do not hide what we are or what we do," said Msgr. Escriva, "but neither do we carry about a banner proclaiming that we are good Christians—or are trying to be good ones."

World membership is reported around 60,000, with about 25,000 in Spain.

By definition—each man working at his own sanctity—Opus Dei is not evangelical. In practice it seeks recruits, particularly among universities, but a spokesman denies that youths receive offers of jobs on graduation and prospects of rapid advancement, as critics suggest.

"We are not allowed to press membership," he said. "One of the secrets of Opus Dei success is that we always take, we never give."

Opus Dei reaches by means of practical schools into all social levels—servants, university students, unskilled and semiskilled laborers. These grassroots schools are open to all religions, races, nationalities and backgrounds.

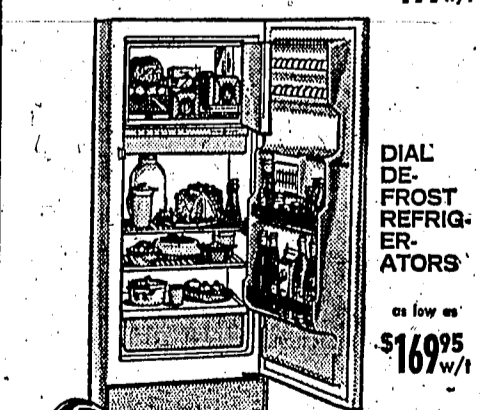

It is a thing of contrasts. A practicing member of Opus Dei is supposed to do his own job without fanfare yet the organization has public relations offices.

It began its anticlerical career in Spain, the most clerical of all Catholic countries. "I'm anticlerical because I love the

Plucky Marine 'Copter Pilot Does Best To Save Trapped Men

DA NANG, South Vietnam (AP) — It was four wounded GIs on the beach against 50 Viet Cong possibly bent on torture — until a plucky Marine helicopter crew came to reverse the odds.

The four American soldiers had been aboard a CH-47 Chinook helicopter that touched down on the beach 65 miles south of Da Nang Saturday to evacuate wounded. They jumped out and took up firing positions to cover the evacuation.

The Chinook came under heavy guerrilla fire and the pilot gingerly lifted the craft to see if it would still fly. It did. But the fire began coming so heavily he decided to keep the craft in the air and fly out with 15 wounded aboard. The four GI defenders were left alone.

Answering a radio call for help, Marine Capt. Steve Pless of Foley, Ala., reached the beach where the four stranded soldiers had all been wounded and corralled by about 50 Viet Cong. Pless said the guerrillas had cut the Americans with bayonets and struck one in the face with a rifle butt.

"They had all of the guys together," said Pless' copilot, Capt. Rupert Fairfield of Lake Charles, La. "It looked like they wanted to mutilate them, strip them and leave them in a line for display."

Pless ordered his door gunner, Sgt. Leroy Polson of Mason City, Iowa, to open fire on the Viet Cong. Then, Pless said, "I put my sight on the back pocket of the last man and walked my rockets through the middle of the crowd."

He put his chopper down on the beach. The Viet Cong inched back, firing their rifles and tossing grenades.

Polson jumped out and dragged one of the wounded soldiers to the helicopter. The fourth man in the helicopter crew, Lance Cpl. John Phelps of Louisville, Ky., helped Polson drag another man toward the chopper. The guerrillas came cut.

Meanwhile, four U.S. Army gunships arrived overhead and began firing on the Viet Cong. After 20 minutes, Pless spotted a South Vietnamese helicopter arriving and decided to leave. He coaxed his overloaded chopper into the air, but not before its skids skipped four or five times on the sea. The Vietnamese helicopter picked up the body of the dead American from the beach. His throat had been cut.

UNTIMELY SIGNALS SHOW NO PROFIT

Oswald: "Defensive signals are used to help the defense contract the advantage that declarer has who can see and play 26 cards as a unit. All good players use them but they don't use them when they are going to help declarer more than their partner."

Jim: "Some losing players never signal at all. Others signal on every possible occasion. East was of this latter breed."

South won the spade lead with his ten spot and led a spade to dummy's ace. East could not miss this chance to tell his partner about the ace of hearts. He discarded the eight.

Oswald: "This signal was about as necessary as three sleeves on a coat. There was no need to tell West about the ace of hearts but in all probability, declarer was delighted to know."

Jim: "He was. At trick three he led a heart toward his own hand. East could still have beaten the contract had he ducked. Declarer would take his king—but West would win the next heart and be able to lead a third round of trumps. That would leave only one trump in dummy for the last two hearts and South would have to lose a second heart trick."

Oswald: "East realized that his eight spot discard had given away the location of the ace. He saw no reason to duck and went right up with it. He led a heart back. South went up with his king and dropped West's queen. This established his jack so he only had to trump one losing heart."

Jim: "Offhand it looks as if South could have made his contract by winning the first spade in dummy, playing a heart right away and guessing the location of the ace. But further study will show that West would get a chance to lead two more rounds of trumps before South could ruff two hearts."

Oswald: "Therefore South's line of play was the only one that could win after West's fine lead of a trump. It gave East his best chance to make a mistake and East obliged."
