Exhausted Crews Lose Ground To Some Fires

By The Associated Press

Embattled fire crews were reported near exhaustion in the Northwest timber regions late Tuesday as they appeared to continue to lose ground to hundreds of blazes in all sections but Oregon, southern Idaho, and Washington.

However, a wind change in British Columbia and the hope of reinforcements in western Montana and northern Idaho brought expectations that significant progress may get under way.

In those areas, uncontrolled blazes were reported on an estimated 30,000 acres.

Washington State officials braced for possible fire outbreaks but reported their forests were still free of major blazes which have raged for nearly two weeks in other Northwest states.

In Oregon and southern Idaho, crews Tuesday contained major timber blazes burned over more than 30,000 acres. Oregon officials said all fires there were under control. All but a few minor, but potentially dangerous "hot spots" were reported controlled in southern Idaho.

"We're wearing out," Ted Thompson, Glacier National Park fire control officer said. "It's getting to be a matter of trying to last to the light of our resources, and then figure out how to replace worn out crews."

About 5,000 acres of land in the Glacier Park region has been aflame for almost two weeks.

Weather conditions were expected to improve with fewer lightning storms and forecasts along the coastal regions indicated no storms were developing. Rain in the entire Northwest region generally comes from Pacific storm fronts.

Spokesmen for the U. S. Forest Service regional office in Ogden, Utah, said reinforcements might be available from Utah or southern Idaho if the southern Idaho blazes didn't mushroom again.

In British Columbia, northeast of Vancouver, Canadian officials said 337 fires totalling more than 30,000 acres might be contained if a wind shift holds.

Officials believed it would be mid-day before the effects of the shift could be determined. The new wind direction seemed to be causing a breaking action against the spreading flames.

New men were rushed into the Montana-North Idaho area Tuesday, including 200 from Butte, Mont., and 150 from Spokane, Wash. More than 4,000 were reported manning fire lines early today in those areas.

The Canadians had mustered more than 3,200 firefighters Tuesday, as one labor union investigated complaints of long hours, inadequate food and other conditions.

The major fire in British Columbia continued around the Shuswap area where aircraft were dumping water bombs on the uncontrolled 20,000-acre blaze.

"I'll Bet..."

BOISE (AP)—The Governor of Idaho has bet 50 pounds of Idaho potatoes against four Montana T-bone steaks on the outcome of an American Legion Junior Baseball game.

Gov. Don W. Samuelson disclosed the wager at his news conference.

He said it was offered by Gov. Tim Babcock, Montana, whose state is host to the Legion playoffs in Helena. Lewiston represents Idaho and Helena is Montana's representative.

"Lewiston as usual has an excellent Legion team this year and should be able to handle Helena," Samuelson said. "I fully expect to win the bet with Tim Babcock."

British Slam Red Chinese Behavior

By RODNEY PINDER

LONDON (AP)—The British Foreign Office accused the Communist Chinese today of breaking "all normal rules of civilized behavior" in burning the British diplomatic mission in Peking.

A spokesman said whether Britain maintains diplomatic relations with Red China depends entirely on the attitude and behavior of the Chinese authorities.

Sources said a break in diplomatic relations did not appear imminent. But British officials imposed tight restrictions on the movement of Chinese diplomats in this country in retaliation for the burning of the building in Peking Tuesday.

Fifty-four members of the British mission, including dependents, were reported to have taken refuge in friendly embassies in Peking after rampaging Red Guards set fire to the building and beat staff members.

The British government reacted with swift anger over the incident in which British charge d'affaires, Donald Hopson, and nine other mission staff members were pummeled and humiliated in front of a screaming mob.

Britain charged that Mao Tse-tung's regime was behind the attack and linked it to Peking's campaign to harass British rule in the crown colony of Hong Kong.

Sources in Whitehall believed it unlikely, however, that the incident would prompt Britain to sever relations with China. One source said the Foreign Office "has learned not to react in pique." Another said the British will "sit tight."

The Foreign Office branded the attack "an outrageous and uncivilized act which would bring the Chinese government into disrepute throughout the world."

Summoning Chinese Charge d'Affaires Shen Ping, a Foreign Office official informed him that:

—All Chinese in Britain holding diplomatic or official passports must obtain exit visas from the Foreign Office before leaving Britain.

—All members of the Chinese diplomatic mission are restricted to travel within a radius of five miles from the center of London unless they give 48 hours notice.

—Permission to operate diplomatic radio transmissions by the Chinese mission is suspended until restrictions on the British diplomatic radio in Peking are lifted.

—A day-long demonstration by more than 10,000 Red Guards in front of the British mission's office building exploded into violence with the explosion of a Chinese ultimatum demanding that the British release Communist newsmen arrested in Hong Kong and withdraw action against pro-Communist newspapers.

Parade Will Open Fair At Jerome

JEROME—Mayor Earl Greenawalt will lead the traditional parade at 4:30 p.m. Thursday which opens the Jerome county fair.

The parade is expected to be a mile or longer in length and will feature the 1967 Rodeo Queen Kay Benson, queen candidates, several floats, drill teams, riding clubs and bands from throughout the entire valley.

One of the feature attractions of the parade and rodeo will be the Eh Capa Riding Club of Boise. There will be 34 of their 99 members appearing here in full Indian dress and riding without the aid of saddles, bridles or blankets.

Also participating in the parade will be the fair board members with the ladies riding in a one-horse surrey, and the Old-Timers Car Club which provides much entertainment for the people who are not necessarily horse-minded.

Cash prizes will be awarded to first, second and third places. The fair gets in full swing Thursday with all the home economics exhibits being in the building and judged by Wednesday evening. The livestock exhibits must be entered by Wednesday night and will be judged Thursday and Friday.

Thursday evening includes a free night of family entertainment with the Wood River Jamboree Association competing in flag races, barrel racing, baton race and rescue races.

Competing will be the Jamboree teams from Hailey, Valley, Shoshone, Richfield, Twin Falls, Jerome and Carey.

The Queen Contest will be a highlight of entertainment each night.

Members of the fair board have been working hard this past month to improve the fairgrounds to make the fair more enjoyable for everyone. They have rewired buildings, painted grandstand and buildings and graveled driveways.

Kennedy Hopeful For Gun Control

By WALTER R. MEARS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, defeated in a Senate skirmish over firearms legislation, said today the setback does not indicate that President Johnson's gun control proposal is doomed.

But a Republican foe of the administration measure said the Senate decision to continue the Pentagon's civilian marksmanship program pointed in that direction.

"I think it is an indication of the attitude of the Senate on matters of this kind," Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., said in an interview.

Kennedy tried Tuesday to eliminate from the defense appropriations bill funds for operation of the 65-year-old civilian marksmanship program, administered by the National Rifle Association.

The Senate voted 67 to 23 against his amendment, which also would have halted free distribution of ammunition to NRA marksmen's clubs and their nearly 385,000 members.

Kennedy, a Massachusetts Democrat, said the program is costing the government $5 to $10 million a year, and based his argument on economy.

The Pentagon has estimated its cost at about $4 million, and has said the Johnson gun control measure would not interfere with operation of the program.

Kennedy issued a statement contending the government is a primary booster, subsidizer and promoter of the National Rifle Association, a leading force opposing the administration's gun control bill, still pending in the Senate Judiciary Committee.

Huge Appropriation Is Viewed By Senate, House

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate moved quickly today to work out differences with the House on the nation's largest single appropriation in history, a $70.1 billion defense spending bill.

The Senate overwhelmingly approved the bill Tuesday night, 85 to 3, after turning back several attempts to trim the total and hearing that the Vietnam war may require additional billions later.

The Senate's final version was more than $1.45 billion less than President Johnson has asked and more than $162 million less than the House voted.

Voting against the bill were Sens. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska, and Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, opponents of Vietnam war policy.

Shortly after passing the bill the Senate named Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., the bill's floor manager, and a group of other senators to work out a compromise bill with the House. Stennis said the two groups would meet today.

The differences that must be reconciled before final passage sends the bill to the President include these Senate actions:

- $172 million reduction from the $287 million administration request to continue development of the controversial F111B aircraft, the Navy version of the swept-wing all-service plane backed by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara. The House had allowed $208.8 million to buy 20 of the planes. The Senate provided $115 million for six aircraft.
- Elimination of a House rider which would have prohibited purchase of any naval vessel built in a foreign shipyard.
- A $146 million slash from military personnel funds voted by the House. Senators said they acted because recent administration requests had been overstated and the money used later for other projects.
- Rejection of a Marine Corps bid to build a $123 million amphibious assault ship. The cut was part of a general $174.7 million reduction in procurement funds allowed by the House.

— A $141 million addition to operations and maintenance funds and a $40 million addition to research and development funds, both voted by the House.

The Senators approved $11.9 million to continue operation of 45 B-52 aircraft. McNamara wanted to drop from active service, and they rejected his request for $233.5 million to build five fast deployment logistic ships to serve as floating arsenals or supply centers.

By GEORGE MCARTHUR

SAIGON (AP)—American warplanes kept up intensified pressure on North Vietnam's battered supply lines Tuesday with raids from the suburbs of Hanoi to within 30 miles of the Red Chinese frontier.

The U.S. Command said the principal targets were rail and road bridges around the North Vietnamese capital, including the big span across the Canal des Rapides only five miles from the city's center. It was the fourth attack on the bridge, one of Hanoi's two chief rail routes to China.

Returning pilots reported blistering antiaircraft fire and barrages of surface-to-air missiles within the heavily defended North Vietnamese heartland, but there was no report of any losses. The previous day's raids cost six American planes.

It was the third day of heavy raids deep into North Vietnam and around the Hanoi-Haliphong road, rail and industrial complex. U.S. headquarters reported planes from Thailand, South Vietnam and three carriers in the Tonkin Gulf flew 162 missions during the day, continuing an above average rate that has been maintained recently during good weather.

The U.S. Command's combat maps showed no raids on Hanoi itself, although Soviet correspondents in Hanoi claimed American planes obliterated a densely populated block within the capital.

A Pravda correspondent said dozens of civilians were killed or wounded in rocket attacks that were "possibly the most violent bombings of the entire war."

In South Vietnam, the guerrilla war of attrition inflicted more casualties, but no large-scale actions were reported. In Saigon, an American GI was killed on the way to work, and scattered similar terror attacks occurred elsewhere, some aimed at disrupting the Sept. 3 presidential elections.

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. bombing of North Vietnam is effective and should be continued, Adm. T. H. Moorer, new chief of naval operations, testified today.

"Our air effort against North Vietnam is making a major contribution to the achievement of our objectives in South Vietnam," he said. "Now is certainly not the time to terminate, or decrease in any way, this pressure on the enemy."

Moorer, who took over as top naval officer Aug. 1, testified before a closed session of the Senate defense preparedness investigating subcommittee. Portions of his prepared testimony were released to newsmen.

His testimony backed the stand taken by other members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and echoed a theme repeated by other generals and admirals: Bomb more; while North Vietnam suffers.

Moorer said effectiveness of the air attacks has been enhanced recently "by the assignment of additional lucrative targets and men are available."

Samuelson emphasized that the guardsmen are not being used directly for firefighting primarily because trained fire crews are more efficient.

Bennett said he understood state fire control agencies were having some difficulty in recruiting fire fighters in the Coeur d'Alene area because of a reported 25-cent per hour differential between state and federal pay scales.

Samuelson said he had not heard that report. He said he sees no reason for such a differential.

The governor said federal authorities have been contacted regarding the financial problem, and a request may be made that

Auto Workers Will Select Strike Target

DETROIT (AP)—Walter P. Reuther says his United Auto Workers union will pick a strike target next week in contract bargaining with the Big Three automakers.

The UAW president's decision to call his 26-member international executive board to pick a target followed announcements Tuesday by both General Motors and Ford that they will make economic counter offers to UAW proposals "early next week, barring unforeseen circumstances."

It appeared to be the union's conclusion that the GM offer and possibly Ford's will come Monday. Normally, few days separate company offers, and Chrysler's proposal was expected by midweek.

2 T. F. Attorneys Are Endorsed For Probate Judge Appointment

Two young Twin Falls attorneys have been endorsed for the position of Twin Falls County probate judge, which will be vacated Oct. 6.

Members of the Fifth District Bar Association have endorsed Allen Willis and Richard Reed, with preference for Mr. Willis.

The same two men received the endorsement of the Twin Falls Republican Central Committee in a Monday night meeting. Chairman Charles Lunte, Buhl, said no preference was listed by the Republican committee.

County commissioners were advised of the action of the Bar Association Tuesday afternoon by Lloyd Webb, president, and of the Republican party endorsement by Mr. Lunte.

Commissioners will appoint a judge to fill the unexpired term of Mrs. Roy Shaub, who is resigning as of Oct. 6. Zoe Ann Shaub has served almost seven years.

The appointment will be for the remainder of 1967 and all of 1968, at which time the office will be filled by election. The elected judge will take office in January, 1969.

County officials have not indicated when they will make the appointment but expect to make a decision in the near future to give the selected candidate time to complete his current business before October.

Prisoner, 18, Escapes From Jail At Rupert

RUPERT—Minidoka sheriff's officers were searching Wednesday for an 18-year-old youth who escaped from jail here Tuesday evening while being moved from one cell to another.

Officers said Robert B. Manzanos, 18, Montrose, Colo., was being moved to another cell by A. D. Buckley, the jailer, about 5 p.m. Tuesday when he pushed the jailer aside and ran from the courthouse.

When last seen he was heading in the direction of the Methodist church, sheriff's officers said. The youth, who has been picked up on a criminal complaint earlier Tuesday, is described as being 5 feet, 8 inches tall and weighing about 145 pounds.

He is wanted on a burglary charge, officers said.

and men are available.

Samuelson emphasized that the guardsmen are not being used directly for firefighting primarily because trained fire crews are more efficient.

Bennett said he understood state fire control agencies were having some difficulty in recruiting fire fighters in the Coeur d'Alene area because of a reported 25-cent per hour differential between state and federal pay scales.

Fire Fighting Cost Secondary To Control

BOISE (AP)—Financial problems that may develop will not hinder Idaho's efforts in controlling forest fires, Gov. Don W. Samuelson said today.

"The first thing we must do is put the fire out," he told his news conference. "We can worry about expenses afterwards."

But he said plans are under way in an attempt to get federal financial aid.

He said the per-day cost to the state, estimated Tuesday at $12,000, could zoom to $25,000 as a result of expanding fires still reported burning out of control in the Clearwater area in the north central portion of the state and in the Panhandle.

Bennett said 270 Idaho national guardsmen were on active duty, using 125 pieces of equipment.

They are providing mess halls, first aid stations, transportation facilities and communications.

He said additional equipment

and men are available.

Samuelson emphasized that the guardsmen are not being used directly for firefighting primarily because trained fire crews are more efficient.

Samuelson said he had not heard that report. He said he sees no reason for such a differential.

The governor said federal authorities have been contacted regarding the financial problem, and a request may be made that Idaho be declared a disaster area. The actual designation would be made by President Johnson.

Such an area can be designated if state and local governments have exhausted their financial resources.

Samuelson said Idaho already has spent more than one-fourth the biennial appropriations for both fire control and emergency services, although less than two months of the biennial have passed.

But he said if necessary the legislature at its next session could be asked to make a supplemental appropriation on a retroactive basis.

Train Nips Auto At Shoshone Crossing

A slightly queasy memory and a badly dented front fender are a Twin Falls man's only reminders of what could have been a serious car-train accident Saturday.

Three Youths Are Hurt As Pickup Rolls

Three young Twin Falls County residents were treated at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital Tuesday afternoon and released following a pickup truck accident south of Twin Falls.

Union Pacific mainline crossing over Highway 93 in Shoshone at about 10 p.m. Saturday. He was not injured and his 1967 Pontiac received less than $125 damage in the accident.

Mr. Kelley told police that he had been headed south on Highway 93 when he stopped at the railroad crossing in Shoshone. A freight train also was stopped at the crossing, and police said it was possible the train was into the highway traffic lane going north.

After determining that the freight train was stopped, Mr. Kelley started to proceed across the tracks at about three miles per hour when a fast-moving train appeared from the far side of the freight train, he said.

His car was about mid-way across the mainline crossing, police said, when the freight train appeared. Although Mr. Kelley was able to stop his car in time to avoid being in the train's path, several of the train's wider cars protruded enough over the edge of the track to bump his car's hood and front bumper.

The incident was reported to Shoshone sheriff's officials, who told Mr. Kelley that they felt the accident had occurred on privately-owned land and therefore was out of their jurisdiction. A complete accident report was not compiled until Mr. Kelley informed Idaho State Police of the event.

Speaker Hails Enterprise To Kiwanians

FILER—"There is no substitute for work in the free enterprise system," Jack Rencher, Boise, representative of the National Chemical Corp., told Kiwanis Club members at their Tuesday luncheon meeting in the Methodist Fellowship Hall.

Mr. Rencher pointed out the four essential qualities on which free enterprise depends. First named was work, as he explained, "Free enterprise just doesn't exist—you have to work for it."

Second named requisite was planning and efficiency which do not come without analyzing and thinking. Knowledge followed, and to this end, the speaker noted that each one needs a knowledge of his job and the determination to acquire more knowledge.

Rencher warned that too many "giveaway" and welfare programs of the government can destroy initiative.

Fire Danger High, But No Blazes Start

No new fires were reported on Sawtooth National Forest land Wednesday despite a "fire condition three" rating given the area, indicating near-critical burning conditions.

Forest Service officials continued to recruit fire fighters for northern Idaho forests, now listed in extreme burning condition with hundreds of fires reported. By Wednesday noon, two 25-man pickup crews, in addition to the 25-man interregional fire suppression team and about 10 supervisory personnel, had been sent to northern Idaho fires, mostly in the Payette National Forest area.

Fire Dispatcher Darrel Smith was helping to train still another 25-man pickup crew in the Rock Creek area for dispatch Thursday. The pickup crews are composed of temporary help recruited largely through the State Department of Employment at Twin Falls.

Ordinarily, the men are given five days' training before being sent to a fire, but the urgent need of men in northern Idaho has forced the training to be limited to a one-day cram course.

Clark Doesn't Advocate China Attack

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — Retired Gen. Mark Clark said today, "I do not under any circumstances advocate attacking Communist China now."

The general, who was commander of United Nations forces in the Korean fighting, said his views had been misinterpreted in a version published after he spoke to the national convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars in New Orleans Monday night.

At that time he was quoted as saying, "The time to act against China is now, because if they develop their nuclear capabilities we'll have more headaches."

Clark said today at his home in Charleston, "I do not believe the Red Chinese will intervene in the Vietnam war, but I am not infallible. If they do, then we should hit them in their home bases, but in no other circumstances. The Red Chinese have been very careful through all these years not to confront us in a military way. However, as they develop their capacity for delivery of atomic weapons, we are going to have some more headaches to face."

The general, who two years ago retired as commandant of The Citadel, state military college in Charleston, said he advocates the use of naval and air power against North Vietnamese targets rather than fighting a manpower war.

The Vietnam Vote

No one expects stable democracy, domestic tranquility and social progress to ensue the day after the South Vietnamese presidential election.

But it would be just as foolish to write it off as a meaningless fraud before it even takes place, as some Americans seem eager to do—looking, consciously or unconsciously, for just an excuse to justify American withdrawal from a costly, endless war.

There is plenty to criticize about the election. Only those Vietnamese living in areas more or less under government control will be able to vote. Communist candidates have been banned, as have "neutralists" whom the ruling junta disapproves of, which can mean almost anybody.

Charges of campaign chicanery and harassment of civilian candidates by the military have embittered the contest. The election of General Thieu and Marshal Ky, who already run the country, seems a certainty.

The whole affair will not be without blemish, as President Johnson admitted the other day. But, as he also pointed out, our own early days as an infant nation were not without struggle.

The Revolutionary War was not fought to establish popular democracy, though that is what eventually came about. Washington, it will be remembered, was offered a kingship by his fellow officers.

The people—the whole body of citizens, as we understand that term today—had little to do with the writing of the Constitution or its ratification by the states, or with the first national election.

To begin with, more than half a million people—one-fifth of the population—were slaves, with no rights whatsoever. Tens of thousands of others were disfranchised by property qualifications in nearly every state.

The parallel should not be carried too far, however. South Vietnam in 1967 is hardly the United States in 1787, nor is it even remotely as experienced in self-government as the colonies were two centuries ago.

But as the President also said, in North Vietnam today there are no candidates, no elections, no criticism of the government.

That there can be such things in South Vietnam, imperfect as they may be, is supposedly the reason we are over there.

And even if it is not the defense of democracy but mere national self-interest that has sent so many of America's sons to South Vietnam, the growth of democracy there offers the only real hope that they will ever be able to come home.

WASHINGTON — I think it is most rude of FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover to keep insisting there's a crime wave in the United States when his boss, Clark, says there isn't.

Hoover takes the old-fashioned attitude that if police records in, say, New York say more crimes were committed in 1966 than in 1965 then there must have been more crimes committed in New York City in 1966. This is in direct conflict with Clark's position, which is that statistics don't mean anything and that "there is no crime wave in this country."

Naturally, I would prefer to believe Clark and dismiss that knifing of an old lady in a Washington alley the other day as a figment of some cop's imagination, although I can't help wondering why she was given a funeral if she wasn't dead. But Hoover keeps coming up with another set of what Clark calls "useless" statistics which show folks are being mugged, robbed, beaten, murdered, raped, yoked and burgled at a record rate.

PAUL HARVEY

One For All—Each Separate

Once upon a time the Ute Indians ruled a Rocky Mountain empire. Then known as the Shoshones, they inherited a vastness which is now five states.

But as with most reservation areas, outsiders somehow seemed to move in and take over the lands of most mineral wealth and greatest agricultural potential.

Mexicans, following Cortez and de Vasco and Coronado, explored those beautiful mountains and valleys seeking gold and adventure and found both and sank roots—and stayed.

And the Indians moved back. Then the Anglos came, seeking gold and silver and fur and they learned to love the tall, wide country. They moved in, settled down, stayed.

And the Indians moved back; retreated further before the endless tide.

Then one day, their lands now checkerboarded with homesteaders, the Utes looked around at their once-grand hunting grounds—at the timber, farm and rangeland—and realized that they had but 300 thousand acres of it left—way down in one corner of southwestern Colorado.

Ages of broken promises and indignity and retreat might have left the remnant Shoshones bitter, even rebellious. Instead, with limitless patience, they studied the avarice of their invading brothers and waited.

And it came to pass that the

For example, despite Clark's assurance, I can't help worrying about that statistic which says that I have one chance in 50 of being a victim of some crime in the year 1967, because I have seen a few 50-1 shots come in at assorted race tracks. Hoover's latest Uniform Crime Reports claims that since 1960 the risk of being a victim of a serious crime has risen 48 per cent, which is a lot faster than I can run. This risk rose 10 per cent in 1966, when I lost a step at second base for Jack Valenti and 48th Street Tigers Softball and Pilseper Club.

Some of the amateur cops among the sociologists say Pfauhl to such statistics, arguing that there are more crimes only because there are more people. Pfauhl yourself, fellows, Hoover went into that argument and discovered that crime continues to out-strip the population growth by almost 7 to 1.

Moreover, the National Crime Commission, which is often quoted with approval by the sociologists—because it blames crime on the average criminal's unrequited love for a teddy bear at age three, claims there is actually more crime which is never reported. The mugging victim who fails to report the crime because of fear of retaliation or just plain a bsent-mindedness is just as unhappy and-or physically beatup as the citizen who reports it.

At any rate, there has been a 62 per cent increase in major crimes since 1960, compared with a 9 per cent growth in population. That's one way to deal with the population explosion.

Hoover's "useless" statistics also have a word for those citizens who believe it is salutary that guns should be sold over the counter like razor blades. Sixty per cent of all criminal homicides in 1966 were committed with firearms, and 57 police officers were killed, all but two by guns. No knife, club or rock can make that claim.

I suspect that Attorney General Clark's insistence that our cops are exaggerating the nation's crime wave was responsible for the House passing a bill which takes away from the Justice Department much of the authority over administration of the President's anti-crime bill. The house wanted something done now about crime, and its that local police agencies were better equipped to do that something than Ramsey Clark.

After all, the first requisite of a cop is that he acknowledge a crime has been committed. Ramsey Clark seems to fall a touch short in that qualification.

Caution On Drugs

Q — I am seven months pregnant. For the last four months I have been taking meprobamate as a tranquilizer, Tylenol for headaches and Ambar to reduce. Will any of these harm my baby? Are they habit-forming?

A — Meprobamate in the usual dosage is probably harmless. Acetaminophen (Tylenol) belongs to a group of drugs that may induce anemia in the fetus. Methamphetamine with phenobarbital (Ambar) is habit-forming and may cause excessive bleeding in newborns. During pregnancy the taking of drugs of all kinds should be kept to a minimum.

Q — Is it harmful to take penicillin during pregnancy? What effect will drinking alcohol have on the fetus?

A — Although some antibacterial agents (sulfa drugs and the tetracyclines) should be avoided during pregnancy, penicillin is considered safe. Alcohol in moderation has not been shown to have any adverse effect on the developing infant.

Q — My daughter says a strong-minded woman can prevent pregnancy by creating a mental block against it. Is this true?

A — Many women wish it were that simple but it isn't. Q — What is the cause and treatment of myocardopathy? A — This is a general term that means any disease of the heart muscle. It includes (1) myocarditis which may be caused by several infectious diseases but most commonly by rheumatic fever and (2) myocardial infarction due to an obstruction of one of the coronary arteries. The most important part of the early treatment in either case is rest.

Q — My doctor says I have a systolic murmur and a slightly enlarged heart. How dangerous is this?

A — The most common cause of this condition is rheumatic fever and the degree of damage may be widely varied. With skillful treatment further damage can be avoided and you can lead a nearly normal life.

Q — What is pulmonary heart disease? Does it require any medication?

A — Pulmonary heart disease or cor pulmonale is a failure of the right ventricle which may be due to tuberculosis, emphysema, a chest deformity or extreme obesity. The treatment would depend on the cause.

Q — A year ago I had a heart stoppage. My doctor said it was due to a heart valve being nearly closed with salt. Could this be caused by the salt poured into our water-softening system?

A — No. The salt used in water softeners removes certain salts from the water by precipitation.

RAY CROMLEY

Should Parents Be Punished?

WASHINGTON (NEA) — In some cities, judges have gotten tough with teen-agers and their parents in an effort to halt the growth of youth drinking; dope addiction and prostitution.

A judge in Utah sends adults to jail if they're convicted of giving liquor to teen-agers.

Sentences run up to 90 days. Over one period of several months, 25 adults were charged in this judge's court with contributing to teen drinking.

Twenty-one went to jail. This same judge sentences young drinkers to work. Some do as much as 100 hours of work for the community without pay.

Teen-agers and adults who mix drinking and driving lose their licenses. So, it's reported, does everyone else in a car when liquor is involved.

This same court reportedly has set up a system under which citizens report to the police or the court if they believe there has been a liquor violation.

Reports indicate there has been a sharp drop in teen drinking and youth crime in the area in which this judge serves.

In one Connecticut town, where they've had some serious problems, law officials are now tightening up. They're now passing the word to parents that in serving liquor to youngsters under 21 they risk heavy fines and jail.

In most states, neither courts nor the police have found a solution for teen drinking, dope peddling, prostitution, glue sniffing or narcotics addiction.

The laws are there—usually. In one typical community, adults, and any teen over 18, can be fined $1,000 and given one year in jail for contributing to the delinquency of a minor. This includes giving liquor to a teen. It also includes giving a teen a false ID card that indicates he or she is old enough to be served liquor in a public place.

These same laws make it illegal for teens to have liquor in their possession, or for teens themselves to create false identity cards or pass them.

Similar laws, varying in detail, are on the books in many communities. The rules vary from place to place as to age.

There are, of course, strong laws concerning the use or sale of narcotics, though there's often little that can be done about glue sniffing.

The problem lies in enforcement. Many judges have been reluctant to sentence teen-agers. Police have handled youthful offenders with kid gloves.

One problem is that many of the youngsters come from middle and upper class homes. Their parents are good citizens. Most are known and respected in their communities. Some have considerable influence.

Stiff justice would cause an outcry in the community. Furthermore, proof is difficult. Parents cooperate with their youngsters in hiding or suppressing evidence.

It may be that one partial answer is, as some judges believe, to stiffen the sentences and to sentence parents as well as the teens.

The Public's Stake

It should not be necessary to remind the public that it has an important stake in the outcome of management-labor tugs-of-war such as that getting under way in the auto industry. It is the consumer, meaning everyone who buys so much as a loaf of bread, who pays the ultimate price of increased production costs.

Public apathy has replaced consciousness of the dangers inherent in a continually upward spiral of prices. Inflation has been present so long it is accepted by many persons as an unalterable condition.

An important factor in the makeup of product costs has been so long ignored it is almost forgotten. It is the greatly increased manufacturing efficiencies and resultant output increases effected by a continuous industrial revolution since the turn of the last century.

Automobile plants, in their infancy, measured a day's output in single units. Today major producers can turn out a thousand or more an hour. Assembly line techniques, now adapted to virtually every industry, have cut the man hours required to build a product to a fraction of the time it would take one man to do it. Automation, in many instances, has freed human labor from the many tedious, time-consuming tasks involved in any manufacturing process.

Greater quantities produced in less time results in a saving which could be passed on to the purchaser—and once was—in the form of price reductions. It is only by this method that a high living standard is attained and improved upon. More people can afford more conveniences and better quality products than would be possible under a laborious piecemeal process.

Such efficiencies have been accomplished by American industry in the past and are being improved upon continually, but the savings are no longer being passed on to the consumer.

Instead of receiving any of the benefit toward which it as a purchaser contributes, the public more often than not is handed a price increase. Every time prices increase faster than productivity 200 million Americans have their purchasing power reduced.

Tax Structure Change Doubtful

WASHINGTON — The specter of a lobby of 60,000,000 or more embattled taxpayers manning the barricades against the Johnson 10 percent surcharge is being conjured up to haunt the White House. Liberal Democrats in the house with Henry Reuss of Wisconsin in the lead are the conjurers.

They are saying they will vote for the 10 percent tax bite only if it is temporary and, far more important, conditional. The condition is that the administration put forward and push hard a tax reform program closing the more notorious loopholes. With the adoption of the reforms the surcharge would end.

One of the more conscientious members of the Joint Economic Committee, Reuss has put his proposed reforms before the President in nine separate steps. Since they would cause many of Johnson's best friends and allies, particularly in the oil-rich southwest, pain and anguish the chances of their being embraced by the White House are close to zero.

The number of taxpayers who would be hit by the reforms is a small fraction of the 100,000,000 who file returns. They would apply chiefly to those in the bracket with gross adjusted income of $20,000 a year or more. In 1965 they were 2.2 percent of the total — roughly 1,400,000. Hardest hit would be those in the $100,000 and above category — 0.1 percent, or 37,000 taxpayers.

The loophole most often singled out is the 27 per cent depletion allowance for oil and minerals. This is the bonanza the oil millionaires are most fiercely attached to. Rather than abolishing it Reuss would ease the pain with a transitional cut to 15 per cent, bringing in $800,000,000.

Closing another loophole would touch off even more anguished cries, since it benefits a larger number of taxpayers in the upper bracket. Under present law if a taxpayer dies his estate does not pay the 25 per cent capital gains on stocks accumulated over the years. For example, a taxpayer with $100,000 in securities representing a net gain of $40,000 would if he sold his stocks during his lifetime pay up to $10,000 in capital gains.

His heirs would pay no tax. Closing that one would bring in $2.5 billion.

One of the most publicized loopholes lets a handful of taxpayers with incomes of over a million dollars a year get off with no tax at all. This is the provision that a taxpayer who has given for charitable and educational purposes more than the top allowance of 30 per cent of income for eight of the preceding 10 years can take unlimited deductions. In 1964 482 taxpayers made a million or more and of this number 19 paid no tax. The estimate for 1967 is that 24 million-dollar incomes will get home free.

All these matters are extremely complicated and anyone who writes about them is guilty of oversimplification. The very rich have battalions of lawyers who devote their entire time to scouting a path through the incredible complexities of the tax law as it has grown up and thrown down roots like a giant Banyan tree.

One of Reuss' proposals is simply itself. He would do away with the $100 which every taxpayer receiving dividends from securities can deduct automatically. Return to the treasury: $100,000,000.

The Reuss list does not include, except in one minor aspect, what is the biggest out for those with enough income to take advantage of it. The revenue from state and municipal bonds is exempt from federal taxation. The theory is that only by issuing such tax-exempt bonds can the states and the cities get the money they so urgently need.

Chairman Wright Patman of the House Banking and Currency Committee would abolish this tax-exempt privilege in the future, thereby bringing in from $2 billion to $3 billion a year in federal revenue. Reuss proposes to deny exemption to a new wrinkle in the tax-exempt field that is rapidly catching on. It works as follows. Industry comes to a town or a county and guarantees the underwriting of a bond issue to build a new plant. Because the bond issue is tax-exempt the company gets its capital at a much lower rate than it would on the open market. Reuss calls this state socialism loaded for private capital.

He estimates that closing the

MR. SPECTATOR

And The Band Played On

Speaking of "happenings," they had one at City Park Saturday night that was hard to beat. It was kind of an old-fashioned version of a "happening," which is a new-fangled word for an enjoyable gathering of one kind or another. In fact, if you had been doing a Rip Van Winkle for the last 30 or 40 years and awakened Saturday night in a corner of the park, you wouldn't have felt out of place at all.

The U.S. Army Field Band was presenting a concert from the bandshell in the park and, as they used to say in the old days, a goodly crowd was there. They filled all the benches and sprawled over most of the rest of the park, sitting on folding chairs they had brought along, reclining on blankets or just stretched out on the cool, green grass.

The band and its Soldiers-Chorus poured out a program of wonderful music as a soft August evening turned from dusk into dark. The crowd was just as crowded Saturday night as band concerts throughout the years.

Youngsters raced here, and there intent on a variety of games and activities. A few babies squaled occasionally to inform their mothers they needed a change. There were adolescents holding hands, a few older and more promiscuous lovers and a lot of grown up, married couples with their arms around each other's shoulders.

As far as could be determined from one spot on the park's soft turf, there wasn't a sour note from the band nor a jarring note from the audience during the entire evening. There was just a sort of magical mood about the whole evening.

Thanks to the U.S. Army Field Band for coming to Twin Falls, and thanks to the Twin Falls Civitan Club for bringing them here. We hope they return.

Sergeant Gets Posthumous Honor Medal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Medal of Honor is being awarded posthumously to an Army sergeant who died defending his squad's position in the face of repeated attacks by Communist troops on May 18, 1966, the Pentagon said today.

S. Sgt. Jimmy G. Stewart is credited with heroic action in protecting five wounded comrades during fighting near An Khe.

"As the only man in his squad not wounded, he refused to withdraw," the Pentagon said. "He was killed after holding his position for four hours in the face of three assaults by a Viet Cong platoon."

Secretary of the Army Stanley R. Resor, acting for President Johnson, will present the medal Thursday morning to Stewart's widow, Mrs. Gertraud H. Stewart of Columbus, Ga. Stewart's mother, Mrs. Ethel M. Stitt of Racine, Ohio, also will attend the ceremony.

Stewart was a member of Company B, 2nd Battalion, 12th Cavalry, 1st Air Cavalry Division.

GOP May Find War Supporter At Helm

By JACK BELL AP Political Writer WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans differing over Vietnam may find a supporter of President Johnson's war policies at the helm of their 1968 national convention platform-writing committee.

A casual observation Tuesday by Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen that he might be interested in directing the drafting of the party's declaration of its stand on national issues was accepted generally as indicating he will be the man in charge.

The Illinois Republican has backed Johnson's basic conduct of the Vietnam war, although criticizing "some aspects. He would not be likely to let the GOP platform stray into the area of committing the party's presidential nominee into any pull-out short of a satisfactory settlement.

National convention officials are formally selected by the Republican National Committee. But Dirksen's expression indicates he'll face no opposition from the committee if he wants the platform chairmanship.

Sens. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., and Charles H. Percy, R-Ill.,

predicted in separate interviews that Republicans will find an acceptable formula to differ from Johnson without giving Hanoi hope it can end the war virtually on its terms.

Javits, who has diluted his support of the President's course by recent suggestions for a bombing-pause and by attack on the integrity of South Vietnam's forthcoming elections, said he thinks Republicans will "play it cool" for several months.

Percy, who has been highly critical of Johnson's policies, said he looks for evolution of a middle-of-the-road GOP stand. "Taking a position as an individual is one thing, but committing a national party, with all of its divergent viewpoints, is another matter," he observed. On the Democratic side, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey rejected the "win or get out" policy some Republicans and Democrats have advocated. "If we stick with what we are doing, if we don't sell ourselves short, this struggle is going to come to a halt," he told about 100 Democratic legislative leaders and their wives Tuesday.

RECEIVES BID
BOISE (AP)—A Spokane firm was apparent low bidder Tuesday on a major North Idaho road construction project.
 The State Highway Department said Murphy Bros., Inc. bid $1,477,917 for construction of roadway, drainage structures, asphalt treated base, plantmix bituminous surface and seal coat on 5.41 miles of U.S. 12 from Orofino west, and the roadway and a plantmix bituminous surface on 0.192 mile of State Route 7 at the Orofino Bridge north approach, in Clearwater County.

TWO ARRESTED
BOISE (AP)—The arrest of two men accused of escaping from the Idaho State Penitentiary last May 28 was announced Tuesday by the Federal Bureau of Investigation.
 The FBI said Larry Merlin Blundell, 31, was arrested at West Yellowstone, Mont., and Calvin Bernard McClure, 41, in Salt Lake City.
 Both men were serving terms in the Idaho Penitentiary for forgery, Blundell from Madison County and McClure from Oneida County.

FORM PREPARED
BOISE (AP)—A form, simplified somewhat from that used in the past, is being prepared for use in reporting 1967 state income tax, collector Clyde Kooztz said Wednesday.
 The form is modeled after the single sheet used by the federal government, Kooztz said. The 1966 state form had four pages—two sheets.
 The reduced form not only will aid the taxpayer, Kooztz said, but will also facilitate computer tabulation.
 The forms will be mailed to taxpayers during Christmas week.

LOW BIDDER
BOISE (AP)—Hughes Roofing Co., Idaho Falls, was apparent low bidder among three for re-roofing several buildings at State Hospital South in Blackfoot with a bid of $8,855, the Idaho Department of Public Works said Tuesday.

SEVERAL INVITED
BOISE (AP)—Several legislative leaders from Idaho are among those invited to attend a national conference on legislative leadership in Washington, D.C., Oct. 13-14.

NUMBER INCREASES
BOISE (AP)—The number of government employees in Idaho increased five times faster than the state's population in the past decade, the Associated Taxpayers of Idaho said Tuesday.
 The organization quoted figures provided by Tax Foundation, Inc., a private, non-profit organization with headquarters in New York.

YOUTH KILLED
BOISE (AP)—A one-car rollover on Interstate Highway 80N about 15 miles east of Boise killed a teen-age Idaho youth Wednesday.
 State police identified the victim as Gary Ray Harmon, 18, Mountain Home.
 They said the car he was driving left the highway and rolled over at least twice in the median dividing strip. Harmon was killed instantly but three passengers with him escaped with minor injuries.

ORDER AWAITED
BOISE (AP)—Out-of-season remuneration for legislators will have to wait a court order for payment, State Auditor Joe Williams says.
 Williams said Tuesday he was so advised by the Idaho attorney general's office in regard to a $3.50-a-day "expense" allowance legislators voted themselves during the 1967 Legislature.
 The law was challenged by a lawsuit but the case has not yet been tried in Fourth District Court.

Watts Youngsters Enjoying Holiday

CAMP ROBERTS, Calif. (AP)—Two years ago National Guardsmen moved out of this hill-girded base in central California to quell the riot in Watts. Today the camp is thronged with 2,400 Negro youngsters, many of them enjoying their first country holiday.
 It is only 250 miles from the asphalt world of Watts to the yellow-baked hills of the base flanking the Nacimiento River but there was a long bureaucratic leap to be made before the first busload of youngsters could make the trip.
 Ted Watkins, a 44-year-old Negro, is the driving, dynamic man who ramrodded through the red tape to his dream idea—to use the idle barracks for an open country holiday for underprivileged kids from the Los Angeles area.
 The key to his success was getting from the Watts Community Conservation Corps the crew chiefs—adult leaders for groups of Negro boys and girls from 14 through 21—that make the camp go.
 Ruth Marie Cross, in charge of 75 girls, arrived in the first contingent and experienced a harassing first day. They met all the delays and snafus inherent in any quickly organized camp.
 They debarked from a Los Angeles school system bus after a five hour ride and waited 40 more minutes with only a skimpy pine tree to shade the broiling sun before being lead off to their barracks.
 Mrs. Cross, known to all her girls as Shugie, and the girls struggled through the house-keeping chores of making up all the cots starting with pulling on the mattress covers. There were moments of bedlam.

 "Listen!" shouted Shugie. "The only mouth I want to hear running off in here is my own." She accomplished quiet with commands like that.
 Shugie is a qualified key punch operator and she took a cut of $300 per month to accept the crew chief's job. Of course it's worth it, the 28-year-old divorced mother of four declared.
 "We work with children of all sorts, from good homes and bad homes, kids with special problems, and kids on parole," she said. "You establish a rapport with all your girls. You're like a second mother to them."
 "And I love them. That's the most important thing. No matter how much I holler at them, how much I punish them, they know I love them and they still love me," she said.
 Crew chiefs like Shugie take classes for six months in psychology, counseling, community relations and social services while they work with their crew chief responsibilities.
 "Many of the kids come from the hard core centers of the 1965 riots," said Watkins, chairman of the Watts Labor Community Action Committee. "They're a different kind of kid now."

Urban League Faced With Many Ideas

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Dozens of action proposals, some Black Power-oriented and many going far beyond present programs, face the National Urban League as it winds up its four-day annual conference.
 A delegate assembly, the league's highest policy making body, is scheduled to spend today sifting through recommendations submitted by regional workshops Tuesday, the first day "Black Power" became an open issue among the estimated 1,400 delegates.
 Concern about riots was very much in evidence as the Midwest region recommended as a major concern "the positive use of conflict, how we can best use it."
 But the main emphasis from vocal delegates was community organizations, how Negro communities can develop what one delegate called "the power to get things done."
 This change in emphasis from trying to break up Negro slums through integration to making powerful Negro communities out of them was defined by many delegates as Black Power, and their voices tended to dominate the workshop debates Tuesday.

Bombing Escalation Gets Military Praise

By BOB HORTON
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—Intensification of U.S. bombing of North Vietnam is accompanied by escalating military praise about how much the strikes are hurting the enemy.
 The generals and admirals are sounding a recurring theme in recent statements before Congress and to newsmen: Bomb more while North Vietnam suffers.
 Their comments, coming as American planes knife more often near Hanoi and along the Red Chinese border, indicate the brunt of the air campaign may be shifting from southern areas of North Vietnam to the heavily defended, politically sensitive northeast quadrant.
 The northeast area, which includes the vital railroad link with Communist China's weapons and munitions factories, is regarded as Hanoi's main base area for the war in South Vietnam.
 In Saigon Tuesday Air Force spokesmen said the stepped-up attacks in the northeast are severely hurting North Vietnam's capacity for war, and a high-ranking officer declared: "Hammer, hammer, hammer with everything you can because you know it hurts them. I know they're beaten. The question is: When are they going to quit?"

 Meanwhile Gen. John P. McConnell, Air Force chief of staff, told the Senate Preparedness subcommittee examining the bombing campaign: "The cumulative effect of this increasing pressure by air has brought us to the point where we have begun to hurt the enemy in his home territory."
 One week ago, Army Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, was telling the same group the raids have resulted in "steady destruction of the country's physical infrastructure and deterioration of the national economy."
 And on Aug. 9, Adm. Ulysses S. G. Sharp, Pacific commander in chief, testified before the subcommittee: "During the last three months, with an expanded target list but no significant departure from the broad restraints under which we have long operated, we have begun to hurt the enemy in his home territory."

 Officers say the latest raids near Hanoi reflect a policy decision to hammer harder at the important northeast sector, which contains key elements of the transportation system, industrial facilities and major military complexes such as training bases.
 McConnell traced the evolution of the bombing campaign for senators Tuesday and asserted that without it the United States might have needed an additional 800,000 troops to cope with the Communist buildup.
 The "four-star general" also gave a rare, official picture of what the attacks are doing to North Vietnam as a country, saying its economy "has undergone a decided change."

House Votes To Cut Space Funds

PART OF THE INTERIOR of Twin Falls' newest fashion shop is shown above. The Sweetbriar Shop will have its grand opening Thursday and a three-day celebration is planned. The shop will have the latest fashions available.

Grand Opening Planned By Sweetbriar Fashion Shop

Twin Falls' newest fashion shop will have its grand opening Thursday morning. The Sweetbriar Shop, 138 Main Ave. N., will have a three-day celebration of its opening and door prizes will be given away. Manager of the new shop is Mrs. DeEtta Campbell.

The new fashion shop is done in Mediterranean styling, in architecture and decorating. The new recessed store front is done with rustic beams and shake shingles, supported by hand-hewn corbels from Mexico. Front lights of the store are hand-made Spanish Torchieres. The store interior is in oyster-white with antique gold and olive green and carries the Spanish theme throughout with beautifully arched fixtures and touches of wrought iron.

The boutique look in display is achieved with the use of various Victorian antique pieces.

Sweetbriar operated a fashion shop in Twin Falls for more than 20 years, closing out several years ago. The new shop brings the total Sweetbriar units to 50 stores in the Rocky Mountain area. Denver is the home office and headquarters for Sweetbriar. However, a New York office is maintained where three buyers constantly comb the market for the newest and best in famous-label fashions in the medium to better price bracket.

Fashions also come from California, Dallas and Chicago markets covered by Sweetbriar's traveling buyers.

Helping Mrs. Campbell with the opening is Mrs. Trudy Henry, supervisor for Sweetbriar, and M. G. Patterson, vice president and advertising director for the company. H. W. Barrow, newly elected president, and Mrs. Betty Webber, merchandise manager, are expected during opening ceremonies.

Britain recognized the Peking government shortly after Communist forces conquered the Chinese mainland in 1949. British officials have long argued that some link with mainland China is better than none.

They see no reason to revise that view even with the current state of almost no meaningful communication. China has spiced its notes with such terms as "Fascist dogs" for the British, and the British have refused to accept the notes.

LONDON (AP) — Diplomatic relations between Britain and Red China have degenerated into a series of mutual stonewalling sessions, with the two governments waging a war of nerves over their most immediate mutual interest—the future of Hong Kong.

The two envoys bearing the brunt of this are Britain's charge d'affaires in Peking, Donald C. Hopson, and Shen Ping, the Chinese charge in London.

Hopson and three members of his staff were reported beaten by a mob which burned out the British Mission's building in Peking Tuesday night. The British government immediately placed restrictions on Shen and his staff and told them they could not leave Britain without special permission.

Officials admit, "There is little else we can do with the situation in China as it now is." Their main fear is that Mao Tse-tung's cultural revolution will get out of control and roll over Hong Kong.

Red organizers in the crown colony, apparently dismayed by lack of support for strikes and demonstrations earlier this summer, have turned to terrorism in their effort to force the colonial government to knuckle under as the Portuguese government of Macao did earlier.

In the face of such troubles, the British policy has been to maintain the traditional stiff upper lip.

The diplomat who has been maintaining it in Peking, despite demonstrations outside the British Mission and repeated middle-of-the-night summonses to the Chinese Foreign Ministry, is one of the most decorated men in the British foreign service.

Hopson, who has been in Peking for two years, won the Distinguished Service Order and Military Cross for bravery in World War II.

The 51-year-old diplomat has served in other tough posts, notably in Budapest and Laos. One colleague describes him as "the perfect example of the unflappable British Guards officer."

Shen Ping is equally unflappable, but in an inscrutable Oriental manner. More than once when summoned to the British Foreign Office he has begun to read out notes that Hopson had already rejected in Peking.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cutting more than a half billion dollars from President Johnson's request, the House passed Tuesday a bill to appropriate $4.58 billion in new funds for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The roll call vote was 312 to 92.

The amount, lowest for the space agency since 1963, is $518.6 million below the $5.1 billion Johnson asked and $384.6 million less than was appropriated last year.

The cut was made with the President's belated approval. In signing a related bill Monday, Johnson said that ordinarily he would oppose such a reduction, but that "in the face of present circumstances" he would accept it.

Democratic

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — The Congressional Directory issued last March lists Gov. Robert McNair of South Carolina as a Republican instead of a Democrat.

In a letter to John F. Haley, head of the directory, McNair asked Tuesday that the mistake be corrected and said: "It is human to err, but Democratic to forgive."

ASKS DIVORCE

20,000 new homes were built in southern Idaho between 1957 and 1966 in Intermountain's service area. 20,000 decisions had to be made on the kind of heating equipment for these new homes. Over 18,000 decisions were in favor of Natural Gas for an impressive ratio of better than 9 out of 10. Today, gas heats more than 53,000 homes in 60 southern Idaho communities and has also become the "first choice" fuel for water heating and cooking. Intermountain Gas Company is efficiently supplying Natural Gas to its customers at a cost equal to or below that of any other gas utility in the northwest.

Hearing On Dr. Kennedy Concludes

BOISE (AP) — Attorneys for both parties in the dismissal hearing for former state meat inspection supervisor Dr. C. H. Kennedy were given 10 days to file briefs as testimony in the five-day hearing ended Tuesday.

The hearing before the State Personnel Commission was asked by Kennedy after he was fired by Idaho Commissioner of Agriculture Stanley Trenhaile April 10.

Kennedy contends he was fired for political reasons. Trenhaile says Kennedy made excessive demands upon meat packers and used poor judgment in administration of his area.

A decision by the personnel commission is expected in October.

Kennedy has asked for reinstatement with back pay and benefits.

Radio Lagos Claims Federal Forces Have Driven Out Biafran Troops

By ARNOLD ZEITLIN

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — Radio Lagos claimed today that federal forces have driven troops of the breakaway Biafran state out of Ore, 20 miles inside West Nigeria, and are pursuing them into the Midwest region.

No further details were given. Ore is 115 miles east of Lagos, the federal capital, and a government spokesman said Tuesday the battle for it could decide the course of the seven-week civil war.

The Nigerian army was reported to have blown up bridges north and west of Ore Tuesday to stem the Biafran advance into West Nigeria. About 3,000 troops, apparently divided evenly between the two sides, fought the battle in high forests in the cocoa-rich area, which is about three hours by road from Lagos. Casualties were heavy, federal sources said.

The Biafrans took Ore Sunday. Federal forces were reinforced Tuesday by at least 300 troops and 10 French-built armored cars mounted with 90mm cannon.

Reliable sources reported that federal forces to the south also smashed an apparent attempt to infiltrate Lagos State through a complicated network of creeks.

On other fronts in the civil war, federal patrols reportedly reached the Midwest river post of Warri, which was seized Aug. 9 by the Biafrans.

The federal government also continued to claim that a major assault was imminent north of Enugu, the Biafran capital.

Meanwhile, the Nigerian government radio accused the United States of seeking to "Balkanize" Nigeria to get control of its oil.

"It was one of the most vicious things I've heard," said an American diplomat.

Nigeria's military government also protested Western criticism of its arms deal with the Soviet Union.

The government admitted for the first time "a limited purchase of arms" from the Russians, who are reported to have supplied Nigeria with some MIG15 fighters. However, there have been no confirmed reports that they are in action against the rebels.

Both the protest and the broadcast evidently sprang from a State Department statement Monday expressing regret over the Soviet sale to the government battling secessionist forces in the self-declared Biafra republic.

Sun Valley Hosts Viennese Ball

ENTERING THE LODGE dining room through a hall lined with be-wigged boys and girls in 18th century costumes carrying candelabra are Mr. and Mrs. Earl Nielsen, Twin Falls. Many Magic Valley residents attended the formal champagne dinner held in Sun Valley and were feted at several socials during the weekend.

Many Magic Valley Couples Attend Gala Viennese Ball

SUN VALLEY — A gala evening of fun and entertainment was enjoyed by many Magic Valley couples who attended the recent Viennese Ball at Sun Valley, the second annual benefit ball for the Sun Valley Music Camp.

The evening began with a 7:30 p.m. concert at the Opera House presented by the faculty and students of the camp, and continued with the formal champagne dinner in the Lodge Dining Room.

Sun Valley Lodge was transformed into a grand ballroom of Old Vienna, and ball-goers were guided to the dining room by be-wigged boys and girls in 18th century costumes carrying candelabra. They lined both sides of the hall as guests entered the decorated dining room. A string orchestra played Viennese waltzes during the formal dinner and elegant Austrian food was served.

Special entertainment during the evening included a Strauss Ballet presented by beautifully costumed dancers, and in addition to this classical ballet performance, Norman Abelson, baritone, sang and acted two selections, the first from Mozart's opera, "Figaro," and the second, "Trouble," from the Music Man.

Later in the evening Hap Miller's Orchestra played for dancing.

Besides all the elegance of the ball, guests were also included in a golf tournament held the next day.

Other events for Magic Valley guests of the ball were a cocktail party hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Donald Youtz, Mr. and Mrs. David Mead, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hackney and Mr. and Mrs. Doug Kramer. Mr. and Mrs. Louis Thorson entertained the Twin Falls guests with a sourdough pancake breakfast.

Magic Valley residents attending the special weekend in Sun Valley included Mr. and Mrs. Earl Nielsen, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Edgar, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Barry, Mr. and Mrs. J. Garland Gibbs, Mr. and Mrs. John Roper, Mr. and Mrs. James Kinney, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Faulkner, Mr. and Mrs. Thorleif Rangen, Mr. and Mrs. Thorson, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall LeBaron, Mr. and Mrs. Mead, Mr. and Mrs. Kramer, Mr. and Mrs. Youtz and Mr. and Mrs. John Gaskill, Idaho Falls.

Dinner Meeting Set By Group

The October meeting of the Union Pacific Booster Club will feature a dinner at Koto's Cafe, it was announced at a recent meeting at the home of Mrs. Ted Sutterfield.

The September meeting was canceled.

Mrs. Wallie Holmgren led the group in reading the collect and a special gift was received by Mrs. Morris Blackburn.

Games were played with high score going to Mrs. Mabel McClain and low to Mrs. H. R. Allred.

Moose Lodge Has Potluck

Members of the Twin Falls Moose Lodge held a potluck dinner and watermelon bust at Harmon Park.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. William Hamilton and family. Games were played and Robert Hansing sang and played country music.

The Women of the Moose met recently to make preliminary plans for the fair booth. The committee to make chili will meet Friday at the Moose Home it was announced.

Sun Valley Music Camp Has Final Concert Of Season

SUN VALLEY—The Sun Valley Opera House was filled to capacity for the final concert of the Sun Valley Music Camp.

Conducted by Jacques Brouman, the Sun Valley Festival Orchestra performed the difficult "Concerto No. 5 in E Flat Major" by Beethoven. Popularly named the "Emperor Concerto," this excellent piano concerto featured Aldo Mancinelli, concert pianist, as soloist. The solo part of the concerto was ideally interwoven with the orchestra, and the performance was outstanding.

The young musicians in the orchestra, many of them students from the Magic Valley area, were professional in their interpretation of the concerto, and it was hard to believe that students entirely made up the membership of the orchestra.

The profound and devout "Requiem in D Minor" by Mozart, featuring chorus and soloists in free alternation with orchestral accompaniment, was presented by the Sun Valley Festival Orchestra and Chorus and was dedicated to the memory of Lucille Lippincott, Boise and Twin Falls vocal teacher.

Four soloists sang with the chorus in the presentation of the Requiem. They were Mrs. David Mead, well-known Twin Falls soprano; Terri de la Tour, alto, and Bert Burda, tenor, both prominent Boise musicians; and Norman Abelson, bass, Kansas City, Mo. Mr. Abelson is concert soloist and head of the vocal department at Sun Valley Music Camp. Mrs. Mead, Mr. Burda and Miss de la Tour were students of Miss Lippincott.

Elmer Thomas was the choral conductor for the Requiem and the orchestra was conducted by Mr. Brouman.

The "Requiem in D Minor" was Mozart's last work and was composed while the composer was near death.

This final concert of the Sun Valley Music Camp was a dramatic musical ending to one of the most successful seasons of the camp.

Elizabeth Fox Is Engaged To Mark O. Cope

SHOSHONE — Mrs. Ellen J. Fox, Rocky Grove, Pa., and Harry J. Fox, Tampa, Fla., announce the engagement of their daughter, Elizabeth Ann, to Mark O. Cope, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Cope, Sr., Shoshone.

Miss Fox is a 1964 graduate of Vanango Christian High School, Franklin, Pa., and is employed as a nurse at Franklin Hospital.

Mr. Cope is a 1961 graduate of Shoshone High School, attending Merced College, Merced, Calif., and spent four years in the Air Force. He is now in the employ of the General Electric Co., Merced.

The wedding is set for September.

Later in the evening Hap Miller's Orchestra played for dancing.

Besides all the elegance of the ball, guests were also included in a golf tournament held the next day.

Other events for Magic Valley guests of the ball were a cocktail party hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Donald Youtz, Mr. and Mrs. David Mead, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hackney and Mr. and Mrs. Doug Kramer. Mr. and Mrs. Louis Thorson entertained the Twin Falls guests with a sourdough pancake breakfast.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: On the first day of our honeymoon, my husband (let's call him Alex) fell asleep on the beach and got sunburned so severely he had to have a doctor. His eyelids were swollen shut, so he couldn't watch television or read. So I spent the whole two weeks of our so-called honeymoon holding his hand.

The day Alex was well enough to go to work his boss asked him to go on a two-week's business trip; without me. I asked him to explain the circumstances to his boss, but he wouldn't, so I stayed at my mother's while he was gone.

Alex got back on a Sunday morning. That afternoon we went on a picnic and he got poison oak over seven-eighths of his body. The doctor said he never saw such a bad case.

When Alex recovered from the poison oak he was fixing his car, the jack slipped and the car fell and broke both his legs. So now he is in the hospital with both legs in casts up to his hips. What I am trying to say, Dear Abby, is that I have been married since June and I still have not had a honeymoon, so what should I do?

DISGUSTED

DEAR DISGUSTED: It would appear that your husband has been either consciously or unconsciously avoiding the honeymoon since the day he said "I do." If something else happens to delay the honeymoon further, you may have to ask Alex to face the music and settle down to some serious soul searching involving himself and these unfortunate accidents.

DEAR ABBY: I just read that letter from the lady who said she has a pet tiger which she plans to have defanged, declawed, and keep in a cage so as not to disturb her neighbors. Well, I don't want any pet tigers, but I would sure like to get my hands on that lady. I will promise to pull all her teeth out. Then I will pull all her fingernails and toenails off.

And I'll keep her in a small cage. I'm sure she won't bother any of my neighbors—except maybe for the noise she might make. There ought to be a law preventing people like her from having pets.

G. B.

DEAR ABBY: A member of our card club always asks the hostess if she may take a few refreshments home to her husband. Then she collects a few cookies, candies and whatever else she can carry off in a paper napkin.

We all think this is in very poor taste, but we don't know how to put a stop to it.

They are in the same financial bracket as the rest of us and outside of this one cheap little trick, she is a lovely person. What do you suggest?

IRRITATED

DEAR IRRITATED: I certainly would not offend a lovely person by denying her a few cookies, candies or whatever can be carried off in a paper napkin.

Troubled? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

1999 4th Ave. E., Twin Falls

Black Bottom Lemon Pie
1 baked 9-inch pie shell
2 ounces semi-sweet chocolate
4 eggs, separated
1/4 cup lemon juice
3 tablespoons water
1 teaspoon lemon peel
1 cup sugar
Melt chocolate over hot water. Spread evenly over bottom of cool pie crust.

In-top of a double boiler, beat egg yolks until thick and lemon-colored. Add lemon juice and water, mixing well. Stir in lemon peel and one-half cup sugar. Cook over hot (not boiling) water, stirring constantly, about 12 minutes, to thicken. Remove from hot water.

Beat egg whites until frothy. Add remaining one-half cup sugar, beating constantly until stiff glossy peaks form. Fold one-half of this mixture into egg yolk mix. Pour over chocolate in pie shell.

Spoon remaining egg white mixture into pastry tube and make lattice design on top of filling. Bake in a slow oven, 325 degrees, 10 to 15 minutes or until browned. Cool on wire rack. (The Times-News will pay $5 each week for the best recipe submitted for Magic Valley Favorites. If you have a favorite recipe, just mail it to the Recipe Department, Women's Page Editor. The recipe becomes the property of the Times-News and cannot be returned.)

Negro Publication Advocates Violence

By HARRY KELLY
WASHINGTON (AP)—A publication of a fugitive American Negro in Red China which advocates violence in U.S. cities and advises Negro GIs to "eliminate" their white comrades in Vietnam has been carried in the U.S. mails.

The 12-page folder, starting it is published in Peking by Robert F. Williams, contains in the latest edition available here tips for logging sewer lines and highways, burning public facilities and smashing windows without getting caught.

It also urges that American Negroes refuse to fight in Vietnam. But it says those who are "trapped into" serving should "throw a monkey wrench into those murderous operations." Further, it says: "They should eliminate as many of their real enemies as they can at the front so that these racists will not be able to return home and intensify the brutalization and extermination of black people to the extent that they are currently exterminating the Vietnamese people." Postal, Customs and Justice Department officials say their power to police the import of foreign propaganda has been sharply restricted in recent years by Supreme Court decisions dealing with the First Amendment's guarantees of freedom of speech and press. A customs spokesman said propaganda is barred at the ports of entry only if it is treasonable or advocates overthrow of the government or assassination of the President.

Because of the legal restrictions, the officials said, they were unable to determine the extent of the circulation of Crusader which Williams has turned out on an irregular basis since he fled, first to Cuba and then to Red China.

"I don't think there is anyone in the government who keeps a record on it," said one official. However, another official said "a hell of a lot of them come in." A Detroit detective acknowledge he had no trouble purchasing copies of the Crusader at a bookstore specializing in militant publications in the heart of the area torn by rioting last month.

A Negro newsman in Detroit said he didn't think the circulation was extensive. He said he received his copy in the mail although he never subscribed to it.

Williams, one of the first of the Negro militants, fled to Cuba six years ago to dodge a charge of kidnapping during a racial disturbance in Monroe, N.C.

In Havana, the bearded, 42-year-old Negro became a propagandist. He is said to have forged Fidel Castro's link with U.S. Negro militants and founded the violence-prone Revolutionary Action Movement (RAM). Some officers of the secretive RAM organization were arrested in New York in June and charged with a plot to assassinate moderate civil rights leaders. The House Committee on Un-American Activities has accused RAM of planning to start a riot in Chicago two years ago.

There has been widespread speculation this summer's epidemic of Negro violence was encouraged by Havana and Pe-

But officials with access to domestic and foreign intelligence information say they have absolutely no evidence of any underground financial channel from Communist capitals to Negro slums.

"$3.98 a gallon ... $4.29 ... $2.98." Lost in the jungle of paint prices? Maybe we can simplify things. When you buy bargain-priced paints, you save about 50 cents per year of paint wear. And, you paint oftener. If that doesn't appeal to you, look past the price ... look for longer paint life. Bennett's spent 5 years and $750,000 to develop Formula '67 Paints, to offer an extra year or two of wear, compared to many bargain-priced paints. Former Area Resident Dies In Hospital

HAILEY — Funeral services for Sam J. Bradford, 69, former Bellevue and Hailey resident, were conducted at 2 p.m. Wednesday in the Emmanuel Episcopal Church, Hailey, by Rev. Douglas W. Ellway.

Mr. Bradford died Sunday night in a Boise hospital after a short illness. Born Feb. 12, 1898, he married Catherine Haseltine in Bellevue Dec. 10, 1921. They moved to Boise in 1951 and for the past 13 years he had owned and operated the Star Lite Motel there.

Survivors include his widow, Boise; one son, Glen E. Bradford, Twin Falls; brother, Hugh Bradford, Boise, and a sister, Mrs. J. W. Robertson, Twin Falls, and three granddaughters.

Last rites were held in the Hailey Cemetery.

Miss Furness Reveals Poor Reports

WASHINGTON (AP) — Betty Furness, President Johnson's consumer affairs representative, interrupted her honeymoon to return to Washington and tell spokesmen for the home appliance industry she has heard reports of poor and costly service for their wares.

Miss Furness, who used to sell appliances on television, made her complaints at a meeting set up by the Commerce Department. She said housewives everywhere are writing to her about the bad service and added she wants the problem ironed out.

Commerce Secretary Alexander B. Trowbridge said his department will help the industry develop voluntary service standards.

Miss Furness married television producer Leslie Midgley last week, and has been honeymooning in London.

Service Is Held For Mrs. Cook, 81

FAIRFIELD — Funeral services were held Tuesday in Boise for Mrs. Lillian Cook, 81, with Rev. Meridith R. Groves officiating at the Cloverdale Chapel. Mrs. Cook was well known in Fairfield.

She was born March 4, 1886, in Carrollton, Mo., and married Henry Cook in August, 1910. She was a member of the Methodist Church, the Columbian Club and the Golden Years Club.

She is survived by her husband, Henry Cook, Boise; a son, Joseph Cook, Fairfield; two daughters, Mrs. Don (Mary) Bauscher, Fairfield, and Mrs. Sarah Louise Sunback, Burbank, Calif.

Last rites were held at Cloverdale, Cemetery.

Negro Congressman Urging $30-Billion Attack On Slums

WASHINGTON (AP) — As a Negro congressman urged a $30-billion attack on urban slums, the mayor of riot-racked Newark told a presidential panel a crash program of big-city improvement projects is needed to stave off further uprisings.

Rep. John Conyers Jr., Negro Democrat from Detroit, drew loud applause from 1,000 delegates to the AFL-CIO American Federation of Teachers convention when he said urban slums—and not South Vietnam—should be America's prime concern.

He warned that Negroes are angry enough to attempt to destroy America.

The nation's resources should be directed to solving the plight of slum-dwellers "rather than trying to bring democracy to a nation 10,000 miles away that wouldn't understand the word if we gave it to them in Vietnam."

Newark Mayor Hugh J. Addonizio meanwhile told the President's Commission on Civil Disorders, currently probing this summer's rash of riots, that "a staggering effort—yes, a Marshall Plan" is needed in housing, education, crime control and related fields.

That echoed the earlier call by civil rights leaders for an all-out urban aid effort patterned after the post-World War II Marshall Plan that helped rebuild Europe.

Steel Industry's Prices Are Being Watched

By STERLING F. GREEN
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's price watchers are taking in stride the spreading $4-a-ton steel-plate boost but are alert for any signs the industry is nibbling its way to a general steel price increase.

"The administration won't be keeping its cool if sheet and strip steels go up too," commented one government official.

There have been hints in Pittsburgh that sheet and strip prices might rise by October. A steel plate price increase has little if any direct effect on consumer prices, government experts noted, because plate is used mostly for ships, railroad cars and construction.

But sheet and strip are used in autos, household appliances and a wide range of consumer durables. Those products have risen in price, as a group, less than 1/2 per cent since 1964.

A warning of possible price advances in the home appliance field—washers, dryers, refrigerators, TV sets, vacuum cleaners, ranges and other items—came Tuesday at a private meeting of manufacturers with Secretary of Commerce Alexander B. Trowbridge. The secretary briefed reporters later.

The manufacturers said they felt they had held the line fairly well so far, Trowbridge said, but might soon have to yield to increase not particularly inflationary because of rising costs of materials.

The President's Council of Economic Advisers continued to withhold comment on the steel plate price boost posted Friday by Bethlehem Steel Corp. and followed this week by United States Steel Corp. and others. U.S. Steel is the biggest in the industry, Bethlehem is No. 2.

One well-placed official said the council's silence on steel plate does not mean it is lying down on its job as price watchdog. It apparently does mean, this source suggested, that the council finds a steel plate in-

University Negotiates With Tobacco Firms

By HENRIETTA LEITH
NEW YORK (AP)—Columbia University, in the cigarette filter business through a strange sequence of events, is negotiating with a dozen tobacco companies but the dollars-and-cents dickering has scarcely started, a spokesman said today.

The subject of negotiations is the Strickman filter, claimed by its inventor, Robert L. Strickman, to be 70 per cent more effective than the filters now in use.

Strickman, who developed the filter in a laboratory in Hillsdale, N.J., says he offered it to Columbia after he failed to even get into the offices of major American tobacco firms in his effort to sell it.

Proceeds from Columbia's half interest are to be used for education and research, including cancer research. Estimates of possible proceeds range up to $100 million a year.

Testimony concerning the filter is to be given to the Senate Commerce Committee Thursday by Dr. Grayson Kirk, president of Columbia, and Drs. Donald Tapley and Cushman Haagen, medical consultants to the university on the project.

The committee, headed by Sen. Warren Magnuson, D-Wash., opens hearings today on smoking hazards and efforts to make cigarettes less dangerous to health.

John E. D. Grunow, former cement company executive named a special assistant to Kirk to handle commercial aspects of the Strickman project, said that in addition to the six major American tobacco manufacturers, a number of foreign tobacco firms have started discussions with Columbia about purchase of rights to the filter. Columbia has had the filter tested by an independent Manhattan laboratory. Results reportedly confirmed Strickman's tests.

Columbia also has conducted tests which officials say indicate that the Strickman filter could be produced at about the same cost as filters now in use, and has run tests on the comparative taste of cigarettes with the Strickman and other filters.

Twin Falls Is Included In Water Study

Twin Falls has been included in an Idaho water study recently undertaken by Idaho State University.

More than 1,100 questionnaires have been mailed from the ISU Bureau of Business Research to cities and industries throughout the state in an effort to determine Idaho's water usage and future needs.

Gary Wells, assistant professor of business administration, is director of the study, assisted by two members of the Business Administration faculty and several students, including Ray Kaufman, Buhl.

"In order to make long range plans for efficient utilization of Idaho water, we need objective and exact information concerning the volume of water presently used. This is why we are asking mayors and industrial plant managers to answer these questions and return the forms by Aug. 31," Mr. Wells explained.

The study is authorized by the Idaho Water Resources Board and is similar to one recently completed by ISU for the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation. In that study, the Bureau of Business Research studied only southeastern Idaho counties.

From data collected in the previous study, Mr. Wells and his staff projected future water needs of the area and were able to make recommendations concerning future municipal and industrial water requirements. It is hoped that similar information can be gained from the present study.

Information supplied by firms for the study will be held in strict confidence, Mr. Wells said, and would not be published in any form except in combination with industrial totals.

In addition to answering questions concerning sources of water, waste water discharge, water rights and projected needs, industry plant managers have been asked to supply brief information about employment, production, transportation of products and sales.

Mayors have been asked about city water sources and uses of water by customers as well as to estimate whether supplies are sufficient to meet present and future needs.

A preliminary report is expected in May, 1968.

Inventory Tax Explained To T.F. Exchange Club

J. Tim Brennan, Boise, executive director, Idaho Retailers Association, told the Twin Falls Exchange Club Tuesday "Idaho has already experienced business expansion because of the Inventory Tax Phase Out, and we certainly can expect much more after the law begins to be implemented."

"As a result of the improved tax climate we will have continued increased investment in real property, increased income, increased turn of money, which means a broader tax base and more property tax, income tax, and sales tax revenue, which will help take care of the demand for increased government spending," Brennan said.

"States all over the West already have or are in the process of repealing their inventory tax. The reason is obvious. They are moving in this direction because they firmly believe that an inventory tax is a deterrent to business growth, and that its removal will stimulate economic development."

"The following western states (several surrounding Idaho) have either repealed or have passed legislation initiating repeal of their inventory tax, all since 1964: Wyoming, Oregon, Colorado, Utah, Arizona, Wisconsin, and Minnesota. Nearly every state in the West is considering repeal of their inventory tax."

Brennan continued. "The inventory tax is a tax that never should have existed in the first place."

"Tax experts, business leaders and the general public have for years agreed that this is the most inequitable and discriminatory tax that has ever existed."

"If additional revenue is needed for expanding government services, can you believe, in your wildest imagination, that the legislature should put back on a tax (inventory tax) that for years has been considered the most discriminatory and inequitable that has ever existed. I am certain that there must be a better and more fair method of obtaining additional tax revenue than an inventory tax."

"If legislation is introduced in the future to re-establish a tax on merchandise and livestock, then the bill, to be fair, should also include in its coverage: goods exempt by the Freeport Law, growing crops, produce stored on the farm, money in the bank, stocks, and bonds, and the stock in trade of the various professions."

"It is a fact that none of these items can be taxed equitably, but if merchandise and livestock are to be taxed, it would be only fair to tax all of these items which are similar in nature to the stock in trade of merchants and stockmen."

"In conclusion Brennan said: "In my opinion there is no logic to having a penalty tax on a particular type of business or agriculture and exempting others. The retailer and cattleman pay the same taxes as professional, laboring and other business and agricultural people. We pay income tax if we make a profit, we pay the sales tax and excise tax if we spend money, and we pay property tax either directly or indirectly, as well as personal property tax on our equipment, counters and fixtures. Therefore, the Inventory Tax was clearly an additional separate penalty tax on a particular segment of the economy."

"Re-establishing the Inventory Tax which has been a deterrent to our economic growth, while most states surrounding us are removing it to improve their business climate, would be more than foolish."

"Now that a far-sighted legislature has responded to the request of the public and has removed the worst tax in our State, over a four year period, we feel that we should give it a chance to bring that much needed new money into our State, in the form of new and expanded warehouses, small manufacturing, cattle feeding, dairying, etc."

Two-Year Veterans Wells, Ulrich Spice Football Outlook For Twin Falls

With two-year starting veterans Von Wells and Jay Ulrich available in key positions plus the personnel to fill all the other spots, the Twin Falls Bruins figure to be in the thick of the Southern Idaho Conference title fight this year. SIC coaches at the state clinic in Sun Valley left the league

Molitor, Tapp Lead Field At Sun Valley

SUN VALLEY — Nampa pro Dave Tapp and Boise amateur John Molitor, a member of the winning Crane Creek Country Club team, pulled down the top individual prizes Tuesday in the closing day of the Sun Valley pro-am golf tournament.

But the big news was made by the tournament committee which dropped a succession of disqualifications among apparent money winners in all categories for failure to properly sign scorecards and entry sheets.

Tapp, an assistant at Nampa, came up with the best round of the tournament, firing a two-under par 69 Tuesday that let him climb to an even par 142 victory in the pro sweepstakes. Molitor tacked an even par 71 to his 72 of Monday to lead all amateurs at 143.

The Crane Creek crew of professional Chu Chronister, Molitor, Monty Brooks, Newt Carter and Bees Marshall won the best ball division at 150%, some 10 strokes ahead of a Burley fivesome. On the runnerup crew Hale and amateurs Lud Haight, Ken Huizinga, Paul Hansen and Glen Blakeley. In third place was a team headed by Tapp and filled by Jim Sinclair, Twin Falls; Gordo Butterfield and a Bogey Marana, both Sun Valley, and Don Gould, Nampa.

Hillcrest Country Club pro Arnold Haneke, Boise, was two strokes behind Tapp in the pro division at 144. Lenny Stroup, Crane Creek assistant, had 146 and Bill Mast, Plantation of Boise was fourth at 148. Four pros fell to disqualifications.

In the 0-9 handicap division, Newt Carter, Boise, and Woody Kerbel, Pocatello, tied for second, eight strokes behind. Molitor at 151. On the net side, John Johnson, Pocatello, was tops with 141 while Paul Hansen, Burley, had 143 and Blakeley had 144.

Rich Collins, Boise, won the 10 and over division gross after disqualifications raked off the top three names. John Cruzen, Boise, was second and Hebe Hadlock, Idaho Falls, placed third. Disqualifications also ousted four men in the net division, leaving Gordon Butterfield, Sun Valley, at the top with 141, followed by Sam Johnson, Pocatello, and a tie for third between Reed Cutler, Boise, and Lud Haight, Burley.

chase would be a dogfight among Borah, Twin Falls and Highland of Pocatello, just as it was last season. And Coach Merl Eden didn't stage a very convincing crying towel act.

"The boys have the spirit and enthusiasm," he notes. "They are working hard and dedicated to winning. That's the first ingredient every team must have."

The man with the big reputation to live up to is young Wells, who took over the Bruin quarterbacking midway through his sophomore season and has been there since. He has all the equipment plus the history. More importantly, he is far from injury prone.

Wells has been a top punter in the SIC for two years, winning the title as a sophomore and second with a 38-yard average last year. He can throw the ball farther than he can kick it and runs well enough to win a third place medal in the state high hurdles. At 6-1, 180 pounds, he may be called on to do a bit more running this year (375 last year) and should pass more (806 yards last year).

Ulrich, 6-0, 190, comes into his senior year well known by college and high school coaches. He was the top vote getter among linebackers in last year's all-conference team. If he wasn't a great linebacker he'd be a cinch starter at fullback and he can punt almost as well as Wells.

Crowding those two for stardom may well be Bob Blake, 5-9, 180, who should be comparable to 1000-yard man Dick Johnson of last year. Blake was third in kickoff returns as a junior, started defensively at outside linebacker and possesses the speed and moves to fill the running-back bill nicely.

One reason Ulrich can give 100 per cent to defense is junior Dick Little, a 200-pounder who has an 11 flat in the 100-yard dash. Brett Staples, 175, should handle the slotback duties well and is a fine pass receiver. Backing up Blake, but pointed more toward defense right now, is Mike Florence, 150 pounder who returns to the defensive secondary.

In the line Twin Falls is big enough—huge in a couple of places—and deep enough to prevent much 60-minute work. Dave Wilson, 175, and Duane McMurdie, 180, provide a good set of guards. Logan Hazen, 6-1, 230, is back at middle guard, and Dave Van Engelen, 6-2, 200, is a veteran at center. Ends could be Scott Cryder, 175, at split with John McClusky, 170, and transfer Tom Irwin, 6-1, 230, vying for the tight side. Irwin lettered as a tackle at Billings last year.

Offensive tackle seems the most questionable spot right now. Frank Durham, a 185-pound junior, could move into the center spot, allowing the staff to move Van Engelen to tackle. Squadmen Mike O'Dell, 200, and Von Sweet, 190, are other candidates along with junior Newell, 200. Irwin also could be returned to the spot.

Defensively, 250-pound Borah looks like a starter. His 270-pound teammate of last year, Frank Hampton, returned at 205 this fall and hiked his maneuverability correspondingly. Junior Kelly Qualls, 190, figures to play a lot of linebacker.

The biggest improvement of the team over last year's 8-2 club, seems to be in pass receiving.

Overall it's still pretty early to get into lineup discussion. "We've been experimenting in a couple of spots and still sorting through the boys," says Coach Eden. "Things will start firming up late this week."

Much of that "firming up" will come about during a game-conditions scrimmage at 7 p.m. Saturday in Bruin Stadium. The public is invited.

Tiant Fans 16 As Indians Nip Angels

CLEVELAND (AP) — Right-hander Luis Tiant struck out 16 California hitters, tops in the majors this season, as the Cleveland Indians nipped the Angels 3-2 Tuesday night on Joe Azcue's ninth inning homer.

Azcue hit George Brunet's first pitch over the left field fence with one out in the ninth, breaking a 2-2 tie and giving Tiant his eighth victory in 16 decisions.

Tiant struck out 12 before Tom Satriano's leadoff homer in the seventh lifted the Angels even at 2-2. Tiant then fanned the side for the third time in the game.

He picked up his 16th strikeout in the eighth, topping the season high of 15 shared by rookies Don Wilson of Houston and Gary Nolan of Cincinnati. California 100 000 100—2 7 3 Cleveland 100 100 001—3 6 0 Brunet and Rodgers; Tiant and Azcue. W—Tiant, 8-8. L—Brunet, 11-16.

Yankees Take Final Of Twin Bill

CHICAGO (AP) — Left-hander Fritz Peterson fired a two-hitter in leading the New York Yankees past the Chicago White Sox 2-1 Tuesday night for a split of their doubleheader.

Wayne Causty fapped out three hits and drove in all three runs in the White Sox' 3-2 first game triumph.

Peterson, gaining his fourth victory against 13 losses, retired the first 13 men he faced before yielding a single by Tommie Agee in the fifth inning of the nightcap. Agee doubled in the eighth for the only other Chicago hit and came around to score on a pair of infield outs.

The Yankees scored their first run in the second inning when Steve Whitaker doubled and Mike Hegan singled for his first RBI of the season. They added what proved to be the winning run in the eighth on Tom Tresh's leadoff triple and Whitaker's ground out.

Homers Give Cards Win Over Giants

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Orlando Cepeda and Julian Javier slammed three-run homers and Nelson Briles hurled a four-hitter, leading the St. Louis Cardinals to a 9-0 victory over the San Francisco Giants Tuesday night.

Cepeda shook up southpaw Ray Sadecki—for whom he was traded to St. Louis last year—with a run-scoring single in the Cards' three-run first inning, then knocked out the Giants' starter in the fifth with his 22nd homer.

The slugging first baseman connected following a single by Javier and Sadecki's error on a grounder by Curt Flood.

Javier, who scored on the first of two wild pitches by Sadecki in the first inning, unloaded his 13th homer in the sixth after reliever Bob Bolin walked Dave Ricketts and Briles.

Pappas Hurls Redlegs Past Dodgers 4-1

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Milt Pappas scattered seven hits and Pete Rose stroked a double and triple, triggering the Cincinnati Reds to a 4-1 victory over Los Angeles Tuesday night that ended the Dodgers' winning string at four games.

Pappas, bidding for his third straight shutout over the Dodgers, blanked them until Al Ferrara led off the ninth with his 13th homer. It was the Dodgers' first run against Cincinnati pitching in 30 innings.

Singles by Tony Perez and Tommy Helms, plus a fielder's choice on a grounder by Johnny Edwards, netted the Reds a second-inning run against loser Don Drysdale, 9-13.

A single by Tommy Harper, Rose's double and an error by center fielder Willie Davis cost Drysdale an unearned run in the third.

The Reds drove Drysdale from the mound in the fifth when Vada Pinson singled and scored on a triple by Rose, who tallied on a wild pitch by reliever Bob Miller.

The victory was Pappas' 13th against eight losses.

Phils Sweep Twin Bill From Mets

NEW YORK (AP) — Rich Allen slugged two homers and right-hander Larry Jackson recaptured his magic touch against New York as the Philadelphia Phillies completed a doubleheader sweep Tuesday night with an 11-4 romp over the Mets.

Rick Wise scattered seven hits in pitching the Phillies to a 2-0 victory in the first game.

Allen homered to lead off a two-run second-inning in the nightcap and drilled his 23rd homer with one on in the seventh. Doubles by Bill White, Jackson and Cookie Rojas plus John Briggs' single accounted for three runs in the fourth. The Phils added three more in the eighth and another in the ninth.

Jackson, beaten last week by the Mets after a run of 18 straight victories against them, boosted his season mark to 9-12 with help from Dick Farrell in the seventh.

Bill White's run-scoring single in the fourth inning of the opener gave Wise all the support he needed in outpitching rookie Tom Seaver for his seventh victory in 16 decisions. Tony Gonzalez homered in the ninth for an insurance run.

Harry Markson, director of boxing for Madison Square Garden, said the outdoor stadium will be sealed to gross more than $500,000 at prices of $5, $10, $15, $20 and $30. There also will be receipts from domestic and international television.

Benvenuti will receive 40 per cent and Griffith 20 per cent of all receipts.

Giusti Hurls Astros Past Atlanta 4-1

HOUSTON (AP) — Dave Giusti pitched a six-hitter for his 10th victory in leading Houston to a 4-1 victory over the Atlanta Braves Tuesday night.

Successive singles by Joe Morgan, Bob Aspromonte and Ron Brand and infield out brought in two second-inning runs for Houston, which won its third straight.

The Braves, who have lost five straight, broke a scoreless string of 21-23 innings when they scored—in the fifth—on pitcher Denny Lemaster's sacrifice.

Niekro Gives Cubs 8-1 Win Over Pirates

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Joe Niekro drove in three runs with a bases-loaded double and scattered eleven hits, leading the Chicago Cubs to an 8-1 victory over Pittsburgh Tuesday night and snapping the Pirates' five-game winning streak.

Randy Hundley ignited the five-run outburst in the second inning with a double off loser Bob Veale, 14-6. Ted Savage sent Hundley to third with a single and took second on the throw to the plate. Adolfo Phillips walked, filling the bases and setting the stage for Niekro's hit to left. Niekro, 7-6, crossed on Glenn Beckert's double and Ron Santo singled Debert home.

Schedule Is Announced For Pre-Olympic Games

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Officials on the Olympic Organizing Committee announced Tuesday the schedule for 18 sports events during the pre-Olympic Games in Mexico City Oct. 14-29.

The opening and closing ceremonies will be in the main stadium at the Magdalena Xucuba Sports Center. Track and field events, from Oct. 15 through Oct. 18, will be in the same stadium.

Swimming and diving will be at the pool in the Mexican Olympic Sports Center Oct. 25-28.

The only site being constructed for the 1968 Olympic Games which will be ready for the pre-Olympic competition will be the canoeing and rowing course at Xochimilco outside Mexico City.

Yachting will be in Acapulco, site of the 1968 yachting competition, but the facilities being built for the Olympics there will not be completely finished by this October.

Signal Caller Is Having Trouble With His Arm

CARLISLE, Pa. (AP) — Quarterback Sonny Jurgensen, whose throwing arm carries much of the National Football League championship hopes of the Washington Redskins, is having troubles with his throwing arm.

The Redskins and Jurgensen aren't saying much but the quarterback's throwing arm apparently has been hurting since near the end of last season and will be hurting for an undetermined length of time.

Yet, he probably will be able to play.

Dave Brady of the Washington Post said Tuesday: "His condition means that he will have to pay a higher price to play than formerly. After one or two throws, his arm pained him on every pass.

"The calcium deposit likely will grow with aggravation, before it dissolves."

Jurgensen, third top-ranked passer in NFL history, completed 254 aerials in 436 attempts last season for a NFL record in leading the Redskins to a 7-7 won-lost season. It was the best Washington record in 10 years.

He passed up the Pro Bowl in January because of a sore throwing arm. He suffered such a sore arm in the Pro Bowl after the 1964 season that he was sent to Miami for his right shoulder to recuperate.

The ailment that prevented him from participating in the Pro Bowl last January flared up again as soon as he began getting in condition this summer at Georgetown University.

That was when he first received regular injections to make the irritation bearable, Brady said.

Jurgensen has appeared in three quarters in two exhibition games played this year by Washington. He has completed 13 of 21 pass attempts for 189 yards and one touchdown.

Jurgensen needed a shot of novocain to get through the first quarter of last Saturday night's exhibition game.

Tigers Take Two From Minnesota

DETROIT (AP) — Dick McAuliffe opened the 11th inning with a triple and scored on a wild pitch, giving Detroit a 2-1 victory over Minnesota Tuesday night and a sweep of a doubleheader which knocked the Twins out of a tie for the American League lead.

Earl Wilson became the first 17-game winner in the majors as the Tigers won the opener 7-3.

The double loss dropped Minnesota to third place, one percentage point ahead of the fourth-place Tigers. Each team is one game out of first.

McAuliffe tripled off relief pitcher Al Worthington, 7-8, and then, after Al Kaline fouled out, raced home on the wild pitch.

The victory, which went to Fred Lasher, 1-0, was the fifth straight for the Tigers.

Jones, Scott Hit Boston Past Senators

BOSTON (AP) — Clutch late-inning hits by Dalton Jones and George Scott led surging Boston to a 2-1, 5-3 doubleheader sweep over Washington Tuesday night, extending the Red Sox' winning streak to seven games.

Jones' two-run pinch triple broke up a scoreless tie in the seventh inning of the opener and Scott's bases-loaded single, also in the seventh, brought the Red Sox from behind in the nightcap.

A tremendous relief pitching job by John Wyatt helped the Red Sox nail their first game victory. The veteran right-hander struck out Frank Howard with the tying run on second in the eighth inning, then escaped from a bases-loaded, none out jam in the ninth by getting Paul Casanova to hit into a double-play via the plate and striking out Tim Cullen.

New York Rebuilding Around Tarkenton

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
FAIRFIELD, Conn. (AP) — When the New York Giants dashed out for their first scrimmage of the year, a feather-lunged fan bellowed, "Thanks for showing up, Allie."

Allie Sherman showed up all right with a revised coaching staff that is dedicated to ignoring the 1-12-1 disaster of 1966 while concentrating on the future.

With Frank Tarkenton scrambling in and out of the pocket, the Giants are cautiously optimistic about the year. Harold Sware is doing a major overhaul job on the defense that gave up a staggering total of 501 points last year. Sware, former Giant linebacker and also former head coach at Los Angeles, was brought in as an assistant to specialize on defense. He brought Jack Patera with him for his old Rams' staff.

The Giants sustained 29 major injuries last year, including six knee cases that required surgery. Tucker Frederickson, the key running back as a rookie in 1965, missed the entire 1966 season. Earl Morrall's wrist fracture left the Giants with only Gary Wood and Tom Kennedy as quarterbacks. No wonder they had to be satisfied with a win over Washington and a tie with Pittsburgh in the club's worst season.

Frederickson played the entire first half of the first game with Atlanta. After the game, Sherman said, "If anything happens to Tucker now, it will have to be a new injury. He has been whacked good."

Tarkenton, a first string quarterback for six years with the Minnesota Vikings, is the bright hope for 1967. The former Georgia passer is known for his ability to ramble around the field when his protection breaks down, until he spots an open receiver or decides to run with the ball.

Typically, in the Giants' 10-10 opening tie with Atlanta, Tarkenton was the second best runner on the club.

Where all of this leaves Morrall is not clear at the moment. The former Detroit Lion did a fine job for the team in 1965 but was ineffective, with little help up front, until he was hurt last year. He still is a fine quarterback who could play first string with several clubs but also is valuable to the giants as protection now that Wood is gone. A trade may be the answer if the Giants can get line help.

If Frederickson holds up, the starting backfield probably will see Tucker teaming with Bill Triplett, picked up from St.

Louis in a trade for Jerry Hillbrand. Allen Jacobs, Chuck Mercein and punter Ernie Koy are the others.

Homer Jones, Joe Morrison, Del Sholner, making a fine comeback, and Aaron Thomas are the top receivers. Dick Kotile, a free agent from Wagner College, is challenging Bobby Crespi at tight end. Dick Stabbins, a track star at Grambling, may wind up on the taxi squad.

The offensive line which broke down last year and let the passer get smothered 62 times for losses of 524 yards still is a problem. Greg Larson at Center, Bookie Bollin and Pete Case at guards and Willie Young and Francis Peay are the holdovers.

Angry Young Negroes Strike Responsive Chords

By AUSTIN SCOTT
NEW YORK (AP) — H. Rap Brown, angry, volatile, and only 23, drew himself up to his full, imposing six-foot-plus and showered his Cambridge, Md., audience with bitter words.
 "If this town don't come around, this town don't come burnt down," he shouted. Less than 24 hours later, four square blocks of the small city had been reduced to scorched rubble, and National Guardsmen patrolled the streets.
 In Detroit, a middle-aged Negro housewife looked from her front porch past 12 fire-blackened chimneys where homes for her neighbors had stood. She wondered aloud how the Negro teen-agers gathering on what was left of 12th Street—youngsters the same age as her two daughters—could call the destruction "beautiful."
 A Negro policeman in Brooklyn, N.Y., glanced around a main intersection at the plywood-fronted stores that testified to nighttime violence and recalled what had impressed him:

 "I saw a lot of people who were angry that night," he said. "All under 14."
 Why should these youngsters, born into an era of concern over civil rights unmatched in the past century, be angry?
 "I wish I knew," the policeman said. "We try every way we know to reach them. We even bought them 25 mats so they could practice karate. But we don't reach them. They use us when they need us."
 Scenes like this, together with countless others less violent, pointed up in recent weeks what some observers say is a new mood among young Negroes in the big city slums.
 As violence spread last month to cities of all sizes across the nation in a pattern no one could predict, the big question was whether the angry young Negroes who dominated television screens and headlines really touched responsive chords in large numbers of their friends and neighbors.

 The question can be answered definitively only as time passes, for the mood on the streets of Harlem and Hough, in the alleys of Detroit and Los Angeles, is constantly changing. But there are signs that unless enormous changes in slum conditions come quickly, the answer will be yes.
 The bitter language of Rap Brown would have been dismissed five years ago, even in Harlem, as the inflammatory street-corner preaching of an extremist.
 But his name drew applause last month at a Black Power conference attended for the most part by moderates and militants who were both well educated and well-off financially.

 "I hope you don't expect me to rap Rap," a port Harlem girl of 18 told a reporter. "He's kinda crazy—but it's a feel-good crazy."
 The mood extends into Negro colleges where administrators report black nationalist blocs, dormant since the days of Marcus Garvey in the 1920's, are growing.
 In middle-class Negro homes, parents whose children consider them conservative sometimes echo the sentiments of the militants.
 "America just must find means to implement all the glorious slogans it has voiced but not achieved in the centuries since its founding," one school teacher wrote to her adult son last week.

 "Minorities of all hues and stations are tired waiting. Maybe your grandchildren will be able to say the Pledge of Allegiance to the flag without the feeling of revulsion I get... as I say 'with liberty and justice for all!'"
 "Without question there is a new breed of Negro-American youth," said Negro sociologist Dr. Kenneth Clark.
 Those who are "assertive, insistent, demanding, volatile," are a minority, he said, but a minority which "cannot be ignored and which may well determine the future of American race relations."
 The effects of those who are "assertive, insistent, demanding, volatile" are already seen—and worried about—from California, where a group of young Negroes carrying guns marched into the state legislative chambers, to the Howard University rebellion in Washington over administration guidelines on racial matters.

 It took youth patrols in Boston, Dayton, and Tampa earlier this year to smother the fires of racial unrest fanned by other youths.
 Mayor Frank A. Sedita of Buffalo acknowledged that no adults could speak for the angry youth of his city when he agreed in June to a two-hour grievance session with 200 Negro teenagers in a YMCA auditorium.
 Young Negro women with their hair cropped in the "natural" unstraightened style associated with Africa can be seen all over Harlem any day. The style is slowly spreading to other Negro slums, along with African-derived styles of dress. African culture centers and Afro-American bookstores, long fixtures in Harlem, are springing up in places like Buffalo.

 They report a thriving business in the works of Marcus Garvey, the late Malcolm X, nationalist poet and playwright LeRoi Jones, Franz Fanon, an anti-colonial Algerian doctor, and the speeches of Stokely Carmichael.
 The tendency to question fundamental American values is seen as important by Donald R. Hopkins, 30, a Negro, assistant dean of students at the University of California at Berkeley.
 "They do not accept the glib assumption of the older civil rights leaders that the fate of youth today as to the potential Negro and white Americans is inextricably intertwined and that the future of the Negro is the future of America," he has written.

 "Unlike students of a decade ago, Negro youths of this generation are not preoccupied with racial integration as such... they are primarily concerned with the health and safety of black communities... they don't dig Whitney Young, they don't dig Roy Wilkins, and until he came out strongly against the war in Vietnam they didn't dig Martin Luther King...
 "Their heroes, or intellectual progenitors, to be more exact, are (W. E. B.) DuBois, Garvey, Malcolm X and Carmichael."
 Other authorities say that Hopkins' words apply not so much to the masses of Negro youth today as to the potential Negro leaders of tomorrow.

Father Says He Shot His 3 Children

BEDFORD, Ind. (AP) — Three small children of a divorced go-go dancer were found shot, to death early today in a brushy field northeast of Heltonville in the southern Indiana limestone quarrying region.
 Prosecutor Robert Colker of Lawrence County said the victims' father, John Linn, 25, Seymour, Ind., led state police to the bodies and would face a preliminary charge of murder.
 The dead were Jerry Dale Linn, 5, and his sisters Debra, 4, and Kathy, 2.
 State police said Linn is a former mental patient.
 Deputy Coroner Dr. Donald Kerr of Bedford said a preliminary investigation indicated each of the children had been shot once in the head but he ordered an examination by a pathologist.

Ky Claims Regime Won't Rig Elections

WASHINGTON (AP) — Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, shunning diplomatic channels to confront his detractors directly, told Congress South Vietnam's ruling military regime won't rig the nation's Sept. 3 elections.
 In a letter to Congress transmitted through the State Department and made public Tuesday by House Speaker John W. McCormack, Ky., wrote: "It seems a cruel irony that some of our friends chose this very moment to voice doubt on our sincerity" in holding the elections.
 He pledged that should the voters elect an opposition slate, "we shall readily accept their verdict."
 Ky insisted his government, operating against physical difficulties, has done its best to give all candidates a fair share of campaigning facilities. He conceded that despite those efforts some may have encountered problems.
 "But I can say without any doubt in my conscience," Ky added, "that my government does not deserve any lesson in honesty and patriotism from any quarter."
 Ky is running for vice president on a ticket headed by Nguyen Van Thieu, present chief of state.

Meany Backs Request For Tax Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — President George Meany of the AFL-CIO backed President Johnson's request for an income tax hike today, but said Congress should give family incomes a break and double the increase on corporations.
 "We are fully in accord with the President's concept that a temporary war tax is needed," Meany said.
 But, he added, "we are firmly opposed to the administration's major recommendations on how to increase taxes."
 His remarks were prepared for testimony before the House Ways and Means Committee.
 Johnson's proposal would impose an across-the-board 10 per cent income tax surcharge on both corporations and individuals to help pay for the war in Vietnam.
 Meany said any cutback in spending on vital domestic programs would be disastrous because forward strides on the homefront are essential to the preservation of our free society.
 "America has the human and material resources to achieve both an honorable settlement of the war in Vietnam and a strengthened social order at home," said Meany, a strong backer of Johnson's war policies.
 But he urged a stiffer tax on those he said are most able to pay the tax.
 "Tax loopholes of special privilege for wealthy families and corporations are numerous and notorious," he said.

Roper's In Burley Is Remodeled

BURLEY — Roper's store in Burley has been remodeled, redecorated and enlarged.

A ribbon cutting ceremony was held Friday with William Roper, founder of the company, officiating. The first store was started in 1912 in Burley and the firm has now grown to six stores throughout Idaho.

The exterior of the remodeled store has an ultra-modern front of gold and black with raised lettering. Shag carpet in tones of red, gold and green has been installed throughout the store.

The women's department, new varsity shop and a larger men's department is on the street level. Downstairs is an expanded work clothing and show department and a new western wear department.

Refreshments were served to several hundred persons during the grand opening Friday and Saturday.

Mr. Roper's son, Jim Roper, assists at the home store in Burley.

"We are extremely proud of the remodeling and expansion, not just because it is the home store, but because it is the most complete and thorough modernization that has been done at any of the six stores," William Roper stated.

ATTEND EVENT

KING HILL — Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Greer attended the first anniversary observance of the opening of the new Veterans Home in Boise Sunday. Some 250 persons attended a potluck picnic. Mrs. Margaret Sims, Department of Idaho president of the Veterans of World War I Auxiliary, and Ernest Hoabert, Glenns Ferry, also attended.

Ballet Group Starts Tour Of 3 Cities

The Robert Joffrey Ballet began a week of entertainment in three Idaho cities Monday night, with a performance at the Lewiston Fine Arts Festival. The troupe, which has performed extensively for the City Center audiences in New York, is currently involved in a Pacific Northwest tour under the direction of the newly formed corporate entity, the Pacific Northwest Ballet Association.

The organization has for its chairman, Robert V. Hansberger, President of Boise Cascade.

The weeks performance in a trio of Idaho cities follows performances in Tacoma and Seattle. The association hopes to take the group to Oregon and Alaska, as well as British Columbia. There are also hopes that Hawaii may join the regional group.

The groups budget has now exceeded $140,000, and there are 60 members of the staff and corps de ballet of the Joffrey Company.

According to a New York dance critic, "The vital thing this ballet troupe has going for it is simply the immediacy of its communication. The dancers are young and hopeful. The spirit of the company seems inexhaustibly ingratiating. It has a special mixture of guts and charm that is always difficult to resist!"

The Robert Joffrey Ballet will perform in Boise Wednesday, and in Pocatello Saturday, according to Mrs. June Skinner, a member of the Idaho Council of the Pacific Northwest Ballet Association.

England Is 'Hippie Heaven'

By TOM A. CULLEN
LONDON (NEA)—Americans who flee to England in hopes of escaping the hippies might just as well stay at home. For the hippies, or "flower children" as they are called here, have invaded the British Isles.
London, in particular, has become a hippy hanging-ground for hippies, who camp out in Piccadilly Circus and Trafalgar Square. The tourist finds himself stepping over their prone bodies as he goes about his sight-seeing.
Britain's flower children are rather pale carbons of those found in New York's East Village, or the Haight-Ashbury district of San Francisco. The girls here wear the same microskirts as their American sisters, and paint their arms and legs with floral designs.
The boys wear flowers in their hair, blow soap bubbles or burn joss sticks.
The language, too, is universal, "be-ins," "love-ins," and "freak-outs" being common lingo here as in America. But Britain's flower children differ from the American variety in subtle ways.
For example, there is a break-away cult here that leans heavily on the Druids. Its followers wrap themselves in sheets and sit on London's Primrose Hill at dawn to watch the sun come up, or else they travel to Stonehenge in order "to feel the vibrations" given off by the stones at this ancient Druidic place of worship.
By-and-large, the flower children are even less politically oriented than the American hippies. The government announcement that it is considering lowering the majority age from 21 to 18 has met with complete apathy on the part of the pretty people here.
Most of the hippies do not want to be considered adults at the age of 18. They have a horror of shouldering adult responsibilities. Even if they are allowed to vote at 18 they will stay away from the polls, they indicate. They make the American "cop outs" and "dropouts" look like political activists by comparison.
"Why should we bother to vote when nothing we can say or do will influence the politicians?" is the way a flower-pot boy with beads around his neck expressed his attitude. "All we ask is to be left alone."
So far the pretty people have been left pretty much alone, the police position being: You can do what you like as long as you don't frighten the horses. At some of the hippy night spots, such as the U.F.O. Club in London, entrants are required to sign a form that they have no marijuana or other drugs in their possession. But aside from this formality there is very little police surveillance of the flower scene.

Although only a small minority of the flower children smoke marijuana, they are united behind the campaign to make it legal. The campaign kicked off with a demonstration in Hyde Park recently during which 5,000 hippies milled around under the benevolent eye of the cops, who warned them not to trample the tulip beds.
As to the next step towards making pot respectable, the campaigners forked-out $5,000 for a full-page advertisement in the London Times proclaiming that "the law against marijuana is immoral in principle and unworkable in practice."
The recent Rolling Stones case has thrown a lurid light on the gap that exists between the generations here in Britain, as well as in America. For although British hippies considered Mick Jagger a martyr and were ready to canonize him if he had not been released from his prison sentence, after a narcotics conviction, the majority of Britons did not think the prison sentence severe enough in his case, according to a public opinion poll.

Man Who Took "Iwo" Shot Will Judge Photo Contest

Amateur photographers in the Magic Valley area will have an opportunity to have their work judged by one of the most famed war photographers in the United States during the Joe Rosenthal Photo Contest sponsored by Magic Valley Growers and Pacific Supply Cooperative.
Entries in the contest are being accepted now and until Sept. 9. A plaque will be awarded to winners in the three categories — family, action and scenic photographs. Color and black and white photos may be entered. The contest is limited to amateur shutterbugs only.
Mr. Rosenthal is best known as the Associated Press photographer who took the picture of U.S. Marines raising the Stars and Stripes on Mt. Suribachi on Iwo Jima during World War II, but this is not the only photograph that has earned him the admiration of fellow newsmen over the world.
A son of Russian immigrants to America, Mr. Rosenthal began his newspaper career as an office boy in the San Francisco office of the Newspaper Enterprise Association and later became a reporter-photographer for the San Francisco News.
He left NEA to become chief photographer for Acme News Pictures in San Francisco, a post he held for a year before becoming San Francisco Bureau manager for Wide World Photos. When the Associated Press purchased Wide World from the New York Times, he became an AP photographer and began his climb to international fame.
During his service with Acme and Wide World, he earned national honors twice in 1934 for his pictures of the San Francisco waterfront strike and in 1936 for his photos of prizefighter Max Baer taking a shower.
Mr. Rosenthal will appear at the Magic Valley Growers office near Curry from 1:15 to 2:30 p.m. Sept. 13 to visit with area residents and autograph pictures of himself standing alongside the Iwo Jima monu-
