Peace Corps Life Told At Castleford

CASTLEFORD — The Peace Corps offers a "tremendous opportunity to know and understand other countries," a Castleford woman who has served two years in Tunisia declares.

And for those how have "lofts of idealism and purpose" she believes service in the organization provides a real challenge.

Meredith Scott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Scott, Castleford, was one of 285 workers from the U. S. who assisted the Tunisian government in its efforts to improve the economic and social conditions of its people. She was there from August, 1965, until July, 1967.

A major portion of Tunisia's development program is devoted to expanding and improving educational facilities for school children, Miss Scott declared. She was honored at a reception last week at the Methodist church Fellowship Hall where she showed slides and spoke of her experiences.

English language training helps prepare Tunisian youth for a place in the modern world and Peace Corps supplies the majority of English teachers throughout the country. Peace Corps workers also serve as kindergarten teachers, architects and city planners, rural health workers and secretaries.

Miss Scott was one of three volunteer secretaries working within the Peace Corps office in the capital city of Tunis. The secretaries handle certain administrative responsibilities, act as secretary to one or more staff members and as a liaison for the other volunteers. The secretaries are asked to obtain anything from basketballs to visas for volunteers living outside Tunisia.

Miss Scott spent her weekends and her 45 day vacation traveling over the 48,300 square miles of Tunisia and learning more about the Arabs and their customs. She also visited other Arab and Moslem countries including Turkey, Egypt, Italy, Greece and fortunately Jordan, before the war.

At the completion of her Peace Corps service she was able to travel through some European countries en route home.

Tunisia is a fascinating North African country with friendly and gentle people, she said. It has a northern region with a Mediterranean climate and culture and a Southern region with Saharan weather and traditions. It is an Arab country with 95 per cent Moslem population. Although the first language of Tunisia is Arabic, almost a century of French rule (independence was gained in 1956) has left French as the language most often used for professional exchange.

Before leaving for Tunisia, Miss Scott had four weeks of language and professional training in Washington, D. C., for the secretarial program and then joined the group for teachers and architects in training for Tunisia at Brown University, Providence, R. I.

There they had six weeks of intensive language study, physical fitness program, medical orientation and classes designed to prepare them for life with the Tunisian people.

A graduate of the Castleford High School and Twin Falls Business College, Miss Scott said she had not experienced the disillusionment sometimes attributed to Peace Corps volunteers who find conflict of values in the American society upon their return home.

She said her plans for the future are indefinite, but she hopes to find something challenging in this area.

Cyclists May Be Sporting $20 Toppers

BOISE — Specifications for protective headgear, which must be worn by all motorcycle and motorscooter riders and passengers after Jan. 1, 1968, indicate approved helmets will cost more than $20.

Donald A. Anderson, administrative officer for the Department of Law Enforcement, said copies of specifications are available for headgear manufacturers and those so far meeting requirements fall within a price range above $20.

"If foreign manufacturers can produce a helmet which meets our specifications this price may come down," Anderson said.

The specifications do not call for face shields or other eye protection, Anderson noted. The department officer said all materials used in helmets shall be of durable quality and their physical properties shall not change appreciably under normal use for the expected life of the helmet.

Reds, Leftists Count Wide Gains In French Elections

PARIS (AP) — Communists and less radical leftists counted wide gains today in French regional council elections after joining forces in a campaign against President Charles De Gaulle's policies at home. The Communists tripled their seats. Gaullists gained 57 seats in the local council and now have 219. Some of these gains were new seats created after redistricting.

The rest of the votes were divided among independent Republicans, Gaullist parliamentary allies, with 94 centrist and moderates, who lost 23 seats and now have 393; the extreme right, 7, and nonaffiliated candidates, 153.

Renewing their electoral alliance with France's Socialist parties, the Communists picked up 119 seats over 1961, raising their total representation in regional councils to 175. Non-Communist leftists won 667 seats, a gain of five.

The voting was the second stage of a two-phase election. In the first vote last Sunday, when an absolute majority was needed for victory, all left-wing parties fielded candidates. In the runoff, the Communists and leftists agreed on single candidates with guaranteed support from both sides.

The Communists campaigned hard and the Gaullists little. The Gaullist regime's new social security charges became the key Communist campaign target. They said it hurt the working man most.

De Gaulle's policy of détente with the Soviet Union and his recent trip to Poland were also seen as factors giving the Com-

Your Spine and Your Health

By Dr. Ludwig C. Landwehr
 Brain and spinal-cord form the central nervous system which acts as switchboard in the complicated human system. The spinal cord is contained in a canal which is formed by the vertebrae of the spine, properly aligned. Through out its length different branches of nerves are given off to supply different areas and organs of the human body. Any interference with normal flow of nerve impulses, or more abnormally aligned vertebrae, may weaken that specific area or organ and make it susceptible to disease, or cause improper functioning, pain and spasms. It is with Chiropractic adjustments that improper alignment of the spinal segments can be corrected and normal nerve impulse transmission restored. British Labor Party Begins Convention

By ARTHUR L. GAVSHON
SCARBOROUGH, England (AP) — Britain's ruling Labor party begins its annual convention today torn and troubled but with Prime Minister Harold Wilson hitting back hard at his critics.

As the 6,000 delegates, representing every segment of the labor movement, gathered for the five-day meeting, the Socialist government they helped to power three years ago had still to redeem key electoral pledges and unemployment had soared to a 27-year peak.

Left-wingers and right-wingers teamed up for an onslaught on crucial sectors of Wilson's policies—ranging from the economic crisis to Vietnam and Britain's bid to join Europe's Common Market.

Marshall Is Seated In High Court

By BARRY SCHWEID
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court begins its new term today with the seating of Thurgood Marshall as the first Negro justice.

Perhaps the most prominent civil rights lawyer of the century, Marshall will swear to "administer justice without respect to persons, and do equal right to the poor and to the rich."

This is the "judicial" oath, one of two taken by new justices. On Sept. 1, in highly guarded privacy, Marshall took from Justice Hugo L. Black the constitutional oath, an affirmation to support and defend the Constitution.

The opening session is ceremonial and brief. Lawyers will be admitted to practice before the Court and no decisions will be announced. The justices will retire to private sessions to determine which of the hundreds of pending appeals will be heard.

Con Thien Outpost Becoming Symbol Of War In Northern South Vietnam

By PETER ARNETT
CON THIEN, Vietnam (AP) — This shell-battered outpost held by U.S. Marines is becoming a symbol of the new war in the northern region of South Vietnam, a war whose pace and tactics have been determined by North Vietnamese Communists.

For U.S. Marines at Con Thien it looks like a grim fall and winter in the five northern provinces that make up Vietnam's 1st Corps. They see little militarily, geographically or climatically—to relieve the somber picture that follows what one senior American official called "a pretty unpleasant summer" in the corps area.

As inhabitants of the three red-mud hills of Con Thien, the forward-most allied stronghold in Vietnam, the Marines can be expected to hold a sour view of the situation. The primitive outpost guarding possible invasion routes into South Vietnam has become the lightning rod of the war, attracting savage bombardments from the hidden guns in the enemy sanctuary in North Vietnam across the Ben Hai River border.

The monsoon rains are beginning to drum in, clogging foxholes with mud and making helicopter flights—the only way in—hazardous.

Because it nudges North Vietnam, Con Thien is the easiest target in the country for the northern Communists. They send sappers in nightly to probe the barbed wire defenses. Snipers are active at all times. The Marines say they are not surrounded, but there is no doubt that the enemy is all around.

Senior Marines make little attempt to hide their fear that the necessity of repelling enemy thrusts at the demilitarized zone will destroy the whole concept devised to fight the Communists elsewhere in the large 1st Corps region, a concept determined in more than two years of U.S. Marine commitment to the war.

Already, Marine officers say, painstakingly acquired advantages in key corps areas have been eroded because of the need to meet Communist pressure at the DMZ.

Marines say Communist reconnaissance is obvious. In the broadest sense, the enemy purpose is to draw U.S. forces away from the main thrust of the war: destruction of the Communist guerrilla infrastructure, and road and village security, a senior Marine explained.

"In this, he has succeeded. Midsummer last year we had two battalions up at the DMZ.

Death Takes Mrs. Reese At Age Of 53

Funeral services for Mrs. Helen Reese, 1937 Falls Ave. E., wife of Robert M. Reese, Twin Falls automobile dealer, who died Saturday in a Boise hospital, will be conducted at 3:30 p.m. Tuesday in the First Presbyterian Church of Twin Falls.

Mrs. Reese became ill and was taken to the St. Alphonsus Hospital, Boise, last Wednesday.

Born Nov. 22, 1913, in Lewiston, she was graduated from the University of Idaho in 1935 and taught school in the Heyburn High school for one year. She was married to Robert M. Reese in Boise Aug. 7, 1937.

Mrs. Reese was a member of the Presbyterian Church, Delta Gamma Alumni, Magic Valley Memorial Hospital Guild and Daughters of the Nile.

Survivors include her husband, two sons, Robert W. Reese and William M. Reese, both Twin Falls; a daughter, Mrs. Dave (JoAnn) Randolph, Huntington Beach, Calif.; a brother, Dwyer R. Wilson, Lewiston, and two grandchildren. Her parents and two brothers preceded her in death.

Dr. Robert Harvey will officiate at funeral services and burial will be in the Sunset Memorial Park. Friends may call at White Mortuary until 2:30 p.m. Tuesday.

The need for increased forces is obvious in the 1st Corps region. The Marines say they have sufficient forces at the DMZ right now, but foresee the need for many more, particularly if Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara's barrier scheme goes through, and if the Communists raise the DMZ ante.

Marine strength is matched by the Communists at the DMZ. Two Communist divisions have been identified—the 325C and 324B—plus some separate regiments and battalions.

The Communists are believed to have eight to ten battalions facing Marine positions in the DMZ area at any one time, a total of perhaps 6,000 troops.

U.S., Japan Open Talks On Missiles

TOKYO (AP) — The United States and Japan opened Monday talks on the planned production of Nike-Hercules and Hawk missiles in Japan.

The defense agency said Frank Fede, a senior official of the U.S. Defense Department, and Japanese military experts will discuss problems relating to technical cooperation and research development expenses.

The conference is expected to last a week.

Japan reportedly plans to organize two battalions equipped with Nike-Hercules and Hawk missiles during its third five-year defense buildup program ending in 1972.

Preliminary negotiations to produce the missiles with U.S. technical cooperation were started in July. But the talks were suspended because of disagreement over expenditures.

The DMZ is still not a solid front line as in the Korean War. "We are trying to stay fluid, to keep on the move," one officer said.

The Con Thien outpost commander, Lt. Col. Gordon Cook, 39, of Syracuse, N.Y., commented, "This could turn into something like Korea. But right now I would compare this at most to Korea's Bunker Hill, a sort of combat outpost, only we are bigger than in Korea."

Marine officers point out that the high casualty figures reported from the DMZ are taken not only at Con Thien, but also among the maneuver battalions. They also concede that for the first time in the Vietnam war, American casualties as against those suffered by the enemy may be on a 1-1 ratio.

"There is no way to determine the extent of enemy casualties," a senior Marine said. "We believe he is suffering at least as many as us, and maybe more."

Already this year, the Marines have taken about 2,500 killed and more than 20,000 wounded, many of them at the DMZ.

The Tam Ky attack was beaten off, but it is an indication of how the war is going in the 1st Corps area, that for the first time in 18 months there are fears that the Communists might indeed overrun a provincial capital.

The Marine vacuum is being partly filled by the deployment of increasing numbers of U.S. Army regiments in the 1st Corps south of the corps headquarters of Da Nang. The three Army regiments already there may be augmented by another division, reliable sources report.

But the Army reinforcements have not been able to stop the deteriorating road security throughout the whole corps, or the continued ability of small Viet Cong groups to attack anything at will.

$5 Billion Cut In Nondefense Spending Is Being Discussed

By JOSEPH R. COYNE
WASHINGTON (AP) — A $5 billion blanket cut in nondefense spending would disrupt orderly government, say some federal officials. And they claim it would kick up a backlash at home against congressmen now demanding huge cuts in federal spending as the price for higher taxes.

Although no official list of possibilities has been prepared, it's known that the question of a forced $5 billion cut in spending has been discussed in high administration circles.

Officials say if the Republican-backed plan succeeds, it would:

- Eliminate every new contract on every major federal construction project covered in the administrative budget. This excludes the highway program which is financed separately.
- Eliminate all new projects of every type.
- Cut new loans 50 per cent below planned levels, including those to farmers and small businessmen.
- Cut grants to states and local governments by one third.
- Eliminate or drastically reduce the school lunch program.

Sources said all cuts would have to come from the roughly $20 billion in spending which the administration can control. "It would hit everybody right in the stomach," one source said.

Controllable spending excludes such items as the $72.3 billion in military spending, originally proposed in January, and the $14 billion for interest on the federal debt.

The administration promised Congress to cut $2 billion from civilian programs and hopes to salvage an unknown amount from military spending not connected with Vietnam. But no specific list of cuts has been sent to Congress. The Administration says none will be until Congress completes action on all appropriation bills.

One key official said any cuts in military spending won't be based on the $72.3 billion total submitted to Congress last January, but on the $76.3 billion revised figure outlined by Johnson in August when he requested a 10 per cent surcharge on individual and corporate income taxes.

The debate over higher taxes and spending cuts reached one climax last week when Republicans failed in a bid to fix a $13.5 billion ceiling on administrative budget spending for the current fiscal year. Johnson's revised estimate in this category is $136.5 billion, not including up to $4 billion more for Vietnam.

But Republicans, aided by 34 conservative Democrats, sent back to a House committee a resolution to authorize stopping government agencies whose appropriations bills have not yet been passed. A new resolution

U.S., Japan Open Talks On Missiles

TOKYO (AP) — The United States and Japan opened Monday talks on the planned production of Nike-Hercules and Hawk missiles in Japan.

The defense agency said Frank Fede, a senior official of the U.S. Defense Department, and Japanese military experts will discuss problems relating to technical cooperation and research development expenses.

The conference is expected to last a week.

Japan reportedly plans to organize two battalions equipped with Nike-Hercules and Hawk missiles during its third five-year defense buildup program ending in 1972.

Preliminary negotiations to produce the missiles with U.S. technical cooperation were started in July. But the talks were suspended because of disagreement over expenditures.

Postal Cars On Railways To Be Cut

By STEPHEN M. AUG
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Post Office Department plans to eliminate railway post office cars from 162 passenger trains throughout the nation before the end of the year, and this will mean a loss of revenue to the railroads of more than $17.1 million annually.

One result could be the discontinuance of more passenger trains. Directly affected will be 20 railroads and more than 2,224 postal employees. The workers will be transferred to other postal operations.

William J. Hartigan, assistant postmaster general in charge of transportation, said the moves are being made to increase efficiency and eliminate a costly service that is becoming unnecessary.

In reply to charges—mostly by railroad officials—that the Post Office is killing passenger service by such actions, Hartigan said it is not the department's job to save sick passenger trains by massive injections of postal money. He suggested that if these reductions result in the elimination of some unprofitable passenger operations, the railroads might well be grateful.

The total deficit from passenger operations for the nation's railroads last year was about $420 million. Postal revenues to the railroads total about $350 million a year, and railway post office cars—cars on which clerks sort first class mail en route—account for about $50 million.

Bulk mail—newspapers, magazines, circulars, parcel post—will be moved by train, and this is not affected by removal of railway post office cars. Many trains that carry RPO cars also include storage cars for bulk mail.

The railroads repeatedly cite revenue losses from elimination of RPO cars in petitions to the Interstate Commerce Commission seeking discontinuance of passenger service. They say that as the department removes these cars from trains, the service turns from a marginal or slightly losing operation into a train with an enormous loss.

Blood Replacement Needed For Albion Boy At Drawing

BURLEY — Many persons throughout Cassia County will be calling on the Red Cross Bloodmobile Tuesday to help replace blood used by Eddie Nipper, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Nipper, Albion.

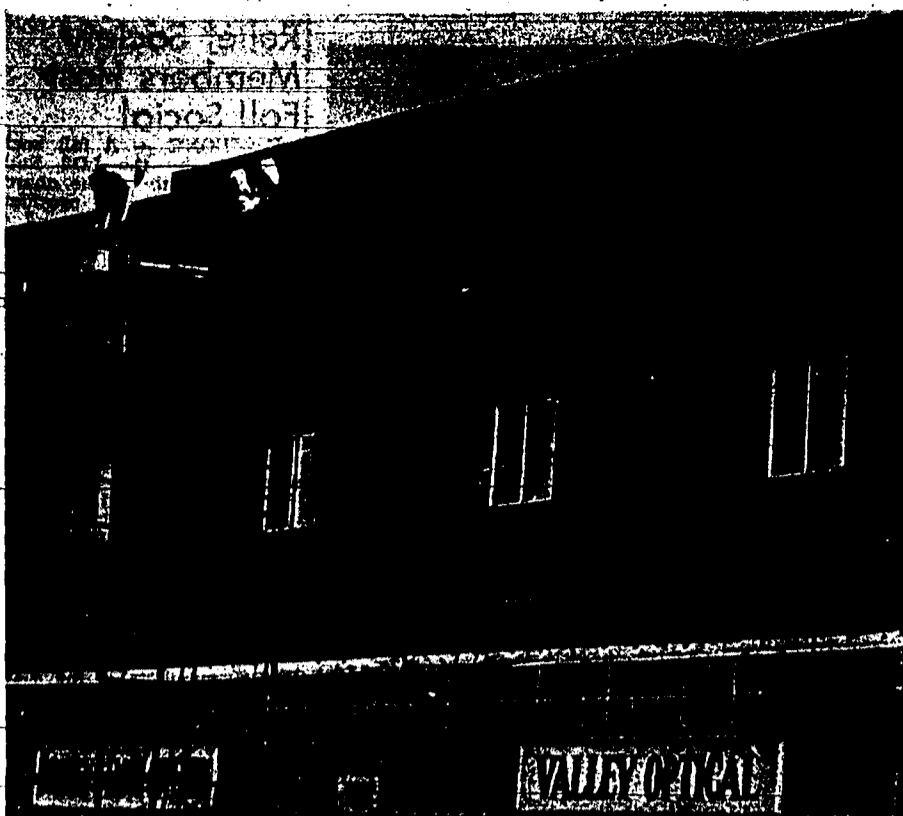

The Red Cross Bloodmobile will be at the Burley Elks Hall from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Tuesday and the quota is 150 pints.

The young Nipper youth has used 100 pints of blood since July, 1966. He used the blood during surgery and during regular transfusions since his surgery. The youth suffers from hemophilia and requires special plasma in blood transfusion every two to six weeks.

The youth receives the new plasma which was described in the "Reader's Digest" about two months ago. This special blend also was used during surgery.

"Cassia County residents have used 517 pints of blood during 1966," Mrs. Adelle Toevs, Cassia County Bloodmobile Chairman, said.

Residents of Cassia County who need blood replaced are asked to phone Mrs. Toevs at 678-8155 or Mrs. S. H. Kunau at 678-7350 giving the name of the person blood is needed for replacement and the number of pints, or leave the name of the person needing blood replaced at the registration desk the day of the blood drawing.

Reagan Sees Political Mood Change

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan returned from a cross-country speaking tour Sunday saying that he finds the nation's political mood changing and that he is not seeking the GOP Presidential nomination.

During a four-day tour which took him to Illinois, South Carolina and Wisconsin, Reagan strongly criticized the Johnson Administration's handling of the recent riots, government spending and the Vietnam war.

Reagan said he hoped his trip would build "continued momentum among republicans so that they do not fall back in apathy."

Asked if he thought the speaking engagements might have enhanced his potential to become the Republican Presidential nominee, Reagan replied: "No. That wasn't the purpose of the trip."

Little Gift

PORTO CONTE, Sardinia (AP) — Actor Richard Burton gave his wife, Elizabeth Taylor, a little surprise gift today—a million-dollar, 10-passenger jet plane. He named it Elizabeth.

The twin-engine plane boasts a tiny kitchen and bar, stereo sound equipment and movie projector and screen.

The Burtons are doing location shots in Sardinia for their latest picture.

Face Lifting On Buildings Under Way

A two-year program to beautify one of the older downtown buildings in Twin Falls is currently in the final stages.

Workers began this week to remove old "gingerbread" strips from the Ulrich Apartments, 134 Second St. E., so that a new light grey stucco finish can be applied to at least three sides of the building.

Last year tile fronting was placed above the first floor in the structure and this fall the remainder of the building will be covered.

Owned by Rex Ulrich, the building houses the law firms of Rayborn, Rayborn, Webb and Pike, Bruley Floor Coverings and Valley Optical. The second floor is for apartments.

School Bus, Train Collide Killing Four

WATERLOO, Neb. (AP) — A school bus and a freight train collided just west of here this morning, killing four children and injuring nine others.

None of the injured was believed to be in serious condition.

The school bus driver, though uninjured, was reported in shock after the collision, which ripped off the right rear section of the bus and tore out several rows of seats.

The number of dead was confirmed by Douglas County Hospital. At Children's Memorial Hospital, where the injured were taken, attendants said seven of the nine appeared to be mostly frightened but two were being held for observation although they did not appear to be seriously injured.

The driver was quoted as saying he stopped at the rural road intersection but because of the morning sun, he did not see the approaching train.

The bus was taking rural students to schools in Waterloo, about 15 miles west of Omaha.

W. L. Nybblein, head brakeman on the 37-car Union Pacific freight, was riding in the cab on the left hand side and reported he had seen the bus approaching.

Pieces of the bus were scattered as far as 50 feet from the crash scene.

People May Soon Grow New Limbs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Scientific advances may soon allow people to grow new fingers, feet or whole limbs lost in accidents, a University of Michigan biologist predicted today.

John R. Platt, acting director of the university's Mental Health Research Institute, reported this prospect at the opening session of a five-day conference of the American Institute of Planners, on the theme: "The Next 50 Years."

Platt said regeneration of human organs is suggested by recent experiments showing that it may be possible to take a single cell nucleus from a developed animal and reimplant it in a fertilized egg cell to produce an animal identical to the first.

He said lobsters can regenerate claws, and vertebrates such as newts can regenerate eyes and optic nerves in a few weeks. He said man's present inability to regenerate may be "an evolutionary defense against the unwanted proliferation of cells that we call cancer."

Copper Strike Enters Its 12th Week

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — As the nationwide copper strike entered its 12th week, Utah Gov. Calvin L. Rampton was to discuss the status of bargaining with union leaders and representatives of Kennecott Copper Corp. at the capitol this morning in an open meeting.

The governor called the session in hopes of reactivating negotiations which had broken down Aug. 22. He invited spokesmen for the United Steelworkers of America, other striking unions, Kennecott and the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service to inform the public of their latest attempts at conciliation.

"No negotiations in public will be required of you, but means will be probed to get negotiations moving again," Rampton explained.

Scheduled to attend were John C. Kinnear Jr., general manager and Edmund J. Flynn, industrial relations counselor, Kennecott's Western Mining Division; Joseph P. Moloney, international vice president and A. C. Skinner, international representative of the Steelworkers, and S. Lyle Johnson, federal mediation commissioner.

Rampton asked all parties to limit their number of spokesmen, state present conditions concisely and refrain from recrimination or rehashing of old grievances.

with other small hospitals in Idaho, were turned down by the health board.

Gooding and Malad voters earlier this year approved bond issues predicated on the receipt of federal money and the Idaho Board of Health acted against the public interest.

According to a Jerome chamber resolution, the State Health Board took liberties with standard procedure in adopting an advisory committee report by a telephone poll of Idaho Board of Health members.

Due to efforts by Gov. Don Samuelson who intervened because of arguments raised by Gooding, Malad and Jerome the allocation of federal money will be reconsidered.

The governor involved himself in what is developing into a state-wide controversy after representatives from Jerome, Gooding and Malad held a private audience with him last week in Boise in an effort to have the Idaho Board of Health reconsider its recent action in allocating all hospital funds to St. Alphonsus.

Samuelson, at the time of the meeting, promised he would do all in his power to reopen the matter and said that the allocation of funds would be reconsidered when the health board held its quarterly meeting early in November.

Prior to the meeting with the governor, the tri-county delegation discussed the questions involved with Sen. Lloyd Barron, assistant majority floor leader, and Sen. William Roden, majority floor leader and Rep. Vernon F. Ravenscroft.

Barron and Roden told the group that they had held a committee session earlier in the day and it was their impression that the R.A.S.A. Medical Planning Committee and the Boise Chamber of Commerce would request that funds be held up from St. Alphonsus until a study of a projected health complex could be studied.

Roden explained that opinion in the Boise area is divided on the appropriateness of granting funds to St. Alphonsus until a special legislative group can report its findings on a medical school proposal.

St. Benedict's Hospital has requested $87,000, mostly to be used for modernization and equipment.

The state has 1.2 million dollars of Hill-Burton funds to appropriate, with 3.8 being applied for.

Jerome is not withdrawing its application for Hill-Burton funds and intends to actively seek the money now that the matter has been reopened, chamber officials said.

HOW TO LEAD FROM SEQUENCE

Jim: "Let's discuss play from equals this week."

 Jim: "In leading equals you ner to decide just what is going on."

 Jim: "Today's hand shows this play at work. East wins the club lead with his ace and after looking over dummy notes that if he wants to set the contract he needs three diamond tricks. He leads his queen of diamonds and continues with the king."
 Oswald: "This should be reason enough for West to rise with the ace of diamonds and give his partner a ruff. If East had held three diamonds he would have made the normal play of the king followed by the queen."
 Jim: "This hand illustrates something else which is that if you can see all the cards you aren't likely to lose at bridge. There is no way for East and West to beat a North-South no-trump contract but we doubt if one pair in a thousand would bid to it."
 Oswald: "Probably not one in a million!"

How To Get Rid Of Childish Nickname

Dear Walt: I'm 17 and male. When I was 3 I received a nickname from a close relative and it stuck with me ever since. Now how do I convince my parents, relatives and friends that I'm no longer three years old, and it's time they stopped calling me "Boots"? — No Glutton for Punishment.

Dear No: I had a pal who was stuck with the nickname "Tomato." When it became too much for him, he invested $10 with a printer and had cards made that said something like: "Going out of business as 'Tomato.' Will reopen June 1st as 'Brian,' and from that time forward will respond only to name 'Brian.' Thank you."

Dear Ele and Walt: Do you believe that the way a person writes letters reveals his personality and the type of person he is—shy, frank, courteous, etc.? My mother said this is so, and after she found one letter from this boy, she said I couldn't date him anymore because he was "too violent" just because of the way he crossed his T's and made his J's. — Linda.

Dear Linda: In a general way handwriting might hint at personality (you know a person with small, constricted hand writing differs from the lad with bold, flowing script). But there's no one whose opinion we respect who believes potential explosions can be spotted by handwriting analysis.

Don't tell your mom she's all wet. Instead, say: "Mother, you're really good at weighing people. Would you see if Tom in-person matches his handwriting?" If the guy's open and charming, she might just decide the personality is lighter than the pen. — Ele and Walt.

FOCUS ATTENTION ON HER ROLE
 Dear Ele and Walt: I've been going steady with this girl for six months. Lately we have been having a lot of fights because she says I don't love her anymore. I don't see where she gets this because I really do love her. Since we started going steady, I have bought her several gifts without it being any special occasion.

In the summer I made it a point to come over for a while every night, and we went out at least three times a week. Since school started I pick her up at school and call her every day and we go out during the weekends. If there is anything else I could do, I would like to know it? — Willie.

Dear Willie: Most guys would be delighted if they had steadies as attentive as you! So don't feel you've flopped in your courting. As we read it, your girl is either: (a) tremendously insecure and unsure of her own value as a person, or (b) getting restless and feeling gully. About her hidden desire to date other boys. Instead of going through any more long scenes trying to convince her of your sincerity, ask her straight out if she's "a" or "b." It's her role—the focus was turned on her role! — Ele and Walt.

Bill Will Okay Doubling Of Federal Funds For Surveying Forest Resources

By JOHN KAMPS AP Regional Service WASHINGTON (AP)—A bill heading for prompt approval by Congress would authorize the doubling of federal funds for surveying timber and other forest resources of the nation, mostly in the West.

The bill, passed without objection by the Senate and expected to be approved by the House, would increase the annual survey appropriation limit from the present $2.5 million to $5 million.

The Agriculture Department had recommended removal of the $2.5 million limit set in a 1928 law which authorized surveys of the 758 million acres of federal forest land.

This vast domain has been surveyed, thanks to appropriations of $2.5 million annually in the past two decades.

Most of our present effort is toward keeping the timber and forest products survey current, Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman said in a report.

Freeman said the forest survey provides the only comprehensive source of basic information on one of the nation's most important natural resources.

The rest of our effort is spent on techniques of research aimed at developing improved survey methods.

Reporting increased survey costs, Freeman said: "There is increasing need in most states for frequent and more intensive forest inventories."

Even with substantial assistance from cooperating state and local officials, the cost of the survey is high.

Known as H. R. 10 or the Keogh Act, the new provisions will become effective in January, according to Frank D. Seelye, dean of ISU's College of Business Administration. He urges all certified public accountants and attorneys in the area to attend the institute to take advantage of the clarifying discussions.

Chinese Aides Return To Remove Flag

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—Chinese diplomats, beaten by Indonesian students in a wild attack on their embassy Sunday, returned to the gutted building today and hauled down the Indonesian flag the raiders had raised over it.

Peking issued an immediate protest, but a Jakarta military command spokesman said the attack was understandable because "the students were angry at the treatment of the Chinese Red Guards against our embassy in Peking."

The Communist protest noted the raid by about 1,000 youths "the gravest provocation against the 700 million Chinese people."

The raid, which virtually destroyed the interior of the embassy building, came on the second anniversary of the pro-Peking Communist coup attempt here.

Relations between China and Indonesia have steadily deteriorated over the two years, climaxing recently with the expulsion of diplomats from both capitals.

SVND MEETS VATICAN CITY (AP)—Roman Catholicism's world synod of bishops went into its first full week today in an atmosphere of uncertainty over its day-to-day workings.

Other groups," he said, "the rising costs of survey have made it impossible to provide adequate timber inventories within the $2.5 million annual authorization established when price levels were materially lower."

Freeman said the forest survey provides the only comprehensive source of basic information on one of the nation's most important natural resources.

President David O. McKay's address said, "Make your homes radiate to the neighborhood harmony, love, community beauty and loyalty so that the true spirit of Christ shall enter into your lives."

The message was read by his son, Robert R. McKay since the aged Mormon patriarch had been advised by his physicians not to attend the final session.

Emphasizing unity in the home, McKay urged parents to "contribute to an ideal home by guarding your tempers, passion and language."

Church members and leaders—observing the 100th anniversary of the Salt Lake Tabernacle—filled the famed edifice to overflowing for the three-day conference. Speeches were relayed to a worldwide audience by special color television and radio networks.

Also sworn in were Luther L. Passmore, 54, Caldwell, and Ewing H. Little, 55, Kellogg, whose appointments were announced earlier.

Koontz had been serving as tax collector since last January, when he replaced Floyd West. The new law makes the collector a member of the commission.

Formerly the tax collector's job was full-time, but members of the commission met only periodically, receiving per diem of $25 per day. Under the new law each will receive a salary of $14,500 per year.

Bill Will Okay Doubling Of Federal Funds For Surveying Forest Resources

By JOHN KAMPS AP Regional Service WASHINGTON (AP)—A bill heading for prompt approval by Congress would authorize the doubling of federal funds for surveying timber and other forest resources of the nation, mostly in the West.

The bill, passed without objection by the Senate and expected to be approved by the House, would increase the annual survey appropriation limit from the present $2.5 million to $5 million.

The Agriculture Department had recommended removal of the $2.5 million limit set in a 1928 law which authorized surveys of the 758 million acres of federal forest land.

This vast domain has been surveyed, thanks to appropriations of $2.5 million annually in the past two decades.

Most of our present effort is toward keeping the timber and forest products survey current, Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman said in a report.

Freeman said the forest survey provides the only comprehensive source of basic information on one of the nation's most important natural resources.

The rest of our effort is spent on techniques of research aimed at developing improved survey methods.

Reporting increased survey costs, Freeman said: "There is increasing need in most states for frequent and more intensive forest inventories."

Even with substantial assistance from cooperating state and local officials, the cost of the survey is high.

LDS Hear Appeal From David McKay

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Mormons heard an appeal from their 94-year-old leader for calm and control in the home Sunday, ending the 137th semi-annual General Conference of the LDS Church.

President David O. McKay's address said, "Make your homes radiate to the neighborhood harmony, love, community beauty and loyalty so that the true spirit of Christ shall enter into your lives."

The message was read by his son, Robert R. McKay since the aged Mormon patriarch had been advised by his physicians not to attend the final session.

Emphasizing unity in the home, McKay urged parents to "contribute to an ideal home by guarding your tempers, passion and language."

4 Members Of Tax Unit Are Sworn In

BOISE (AP)—Four members of the new full-time Idaho State Tax Commission were sworn in to office today but delayed until later designation of one of their number as chairman.

One is a holdover member of the old commission, T. Hedley Dingle of Coeur d'Alene.

He had submitted his resignation but Gov. Don W. Samuelson said it was not accepted because he wanted Dingle's experience to aid the new members.

Dingle's term runs until March 8, 1969. Samuelson said he accepted the resignation of another holdover, T. C. Wadsworth of Moore, and named Clyde Koontz of Twin Falls to replace him.
