Ford Auto Dealers Pinched

DETROIT (AP)—The nation's Ford dealers, feeling an increasing bite from a United Auto Workers strike against their supplier, are searching for ways to offset actual or expected losses.

In a spot check of dealers in half a dozen cities, major outlets appeared to be holding their own, but at least one Queens Ford in New York, said "If things don't get better, I'll have to close by the end of the month."

At least four dealers said they were trying to beef up used car sales. Three others indicated they were driving harder bargains on each sale.

"We're getting down, with maybe a 30 days supply in inventory. To protect ourselves we're holding up our prices on what we've got left," said a spokesman for Park Motor Sales Inc., in Detroit.

None of the dealers said, however, that he was asking more than the sticker price. On the basis of the checks in Atlanta, Los Angeles, Dallas, New York, Kansas City and Detroit, the average Ford dealer has enough cars on hand to last 25 days. This includes some left-over 1967 models.

But some dealers say they have only a one-week supply, others say their inventory will last up to two months, at current selling rates.

Automotive News, the trade publication in Detroit, reports that Ford dealers are not pushing order taking of new cars because they don't know when they can deliver the car.

The strike by 160,000 UAW members began Sept. 7 when the old three-year contract expired at Ford, General Motors and Chrysler. Today is the 29th day of the strike, which keeps Ford from producing cars.

Only Ford was struck in an attempt to win a settlement. GM and Chrysler later will be asked to match or better.

There was some movement, but only a little, in Wednesday's bargaining session at Ford. Both sides said no settlement was developing.

Ford put forward several proposals in response to a union demand for changes in the apprenticeship program—the first time Ford had responded directly to union proposals since Aug. 29.

On Aug. 29, Ford made its economic counteroffer, the only other instance where it has made a proposal in direct regard to the union demands. The union rejected the economic offer as inadequate.

"It is the first movement we have gotten," said UAW President Walter P. Reuther of the apprenticeship proposals. Talks lasted only briefly Wednesday and recessed so the UAW could study Ford's apprenticeship program offers.

Police Scatter Ohio Students During Strike

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—White-helmeted police with nightsticks scattered about 1,500 Ohio State students who greeted strikers at the university's main gate today with chants, water balloons and bonfires in the street.

A carnival-like atmosphere engulfed the campus area after non-teaching personnel at OSU set up picket lines at the main gate and began turning back traffic.

The crowd began gathering shortly after Local 138, American Federation of State, County and Municipal employees, called the strike.

Police arrested 15 of the students on charges ranging from disorderly conduct to carrying concealed weapons. One policeman was injured slightly by a thrown missile. A reporter for the Citizen-Journal, Bob MacVicar, was roughed up and his glasses were broken.

Yastrzemski Homers, Lonborg's One-Hitter Deflate Cards 5-0

BOSTON (AP)—Jim Lonborg pitched a one-hitter and Carl Yastrzemski hit two home runs Thursday, leading the Boston Red Sox to a 5-0 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals in the second game of the World Series and tying the best-of-seven classic at one game apiece.

The third game will be played in St. Louis Saturday.

The Cards, who looked Wednesday like they might break the game open anytime they chose, never had a chance to get off the ground Thursday. Lonborg set down 19 men in a row before he walked Curt Flood in the seventh inning, with one out. Flood never got to second, being forced by Cepeda after Maris had fled out.

The swing that spoiled the classy Red Sox right hander's bid for a no-hitter came with two out in the eighth, when Julian Javier lined a double down the left field line. He died at second.

Yastrzemski provided all the attack Boston needed, when he led off the last of the fourth with a tremendous line shot deep into the right field seats. The Sox added another run in the sixth on two walks, an error and a sacrifice fly, and then Yastrzemski wound up the scoring in the seventh belting his second homer of the day after

Capital Of Biafra Taken By Nigeria

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP)—Nigerian troops have claimed capture of breakaway Biafra's capital at Enugu, the biggest victory in their three-month civil war, but federal sources indicated today the battle for the city may be continuing.

The military source said that even after the capture of the rebel capital "We have to go through 99 per cent hostile country" to bring down the government of Lt. Col. C. Odumegwu Ojukwu, who led Nigeria's Eastern region into secession as the result of violent tribal disputes.

A member of the federal command staff said he believed government troops held the Enugu airport and radio transmitter, but that Biafran elements were possibly concentrated in the vicinity of Milliken Hill, which controls the city's main north-west highway.

Resistance was reported heavier than the federal troops expected since they began intensive shelling of the capital last Wednesday. "We thought Enugu would fall two days ago," the source said.

Senate Turns Back Effort To Cut Funds

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate today turned back a Republican effort to reduce the total authorization in the anti-poverty bill by $198 million, down to the figure proposed by President Johnson.

The vote was 50 to 36. The outcome was expected to clear the way for final passage of the measure later in the day. The result was to leave in the measure a collection of special programs adopted with bipartisan support in the Senate Labor Committee.

Judge Hugh A. Baker Dies At Age Of 78

Retired 11th District Court Judge Hugh A. Baker, 78, died today in Idaho Falls Thursday morning of a short illness.

He had served as a judge in Twin Falls from 1926 to 1930 and 1948 through 1958. The judicial district was changed to the Third Judicial District last July.

He was living with a daughter in Idaho Falls when he died. He was born Oct. 21, 1888, in Appanoose County, Iowa, and married Olive W. Wilkinson Aug. 21, 1913, at Auburn, Neb. She died April 29, 1967.

He got his law degree at Drake University in 1910 and received his master's degree from Yale University in 1911. He passed the bar examinations in Iowa in 1910 and in Idaho in 1911.

From 1911 to 1917 he practiced law in Hailey, in Pocatello from 1917 to 1918 and in Rupert from 1918 to 1947.

He was elected to office in January of 1959 because of a law he helped pass, making it mandatory that all judges and state officials retire at the age of 70.

He was prosecuting attorney in Minidoka County from 1919 to 1923 and 1935 to 1941.

Judge Baker also was a member of the Twin Falls Methodist Church; B.P.O.E. of Burley; the Masonic Lodge of Rupert and was a charter member of the Rupert Rotary Club.

Survivors include his daughter, Mrs. Gilbert C. (Jane) St. Clair, Idaho Falls; a brother, Stark Baker, San Marino, Calif.; four grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. Funeral services will be held at the Rupert Methodist Church at 11 a.m. Saturday with Rev. Warren H. McConnell and Dr. Harold Nye officiating. Burial will be at the Rupert Cemetery. Friends may call at the church from 10 a.m. Saturday until service time.

Decision Hasn't Halted Church Recall Petition

Joseph Stumph, Jr., 340 Jefferson St., Twin Falls, said Thursday he will mail approximately 4,000 letters Saturday or Monday to Idaho residents in his recall campaign against U.S. Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho.

Mr. Stumph, formerly with Liberty Lobby, said based on the response of the 4,000 letters he will determine if the recall movement is to be continued or abandoned.

American Dead, Wounded In War Passes 100,000

By GEORGE MCARTHUR Associated Press Writer SAIGON (AP)—The U.S. Command announced today that the number of American dead and wounded in the Vietnam war has passed 100,000.

The weekly casualty report came simultaneously with reports on one of the heavier days of air raids on North Vietnam with Air Force, Navy and Marine pilots hitting the port of Haiphong, two MIG airfields and two bridges near the Red Chinese frontier.

The U.S. Command disclosed the loss of three American planes over the North Tuesday and Wednesday, a period when the Hanoi government claimed 15 aircraft were downed.

Some sharp ground fighting was also reported, with 42 guerrillas killed in one series of skirmishes and air strikes. The casualty report listed 150 Americans killed and 1,758 wounded last week and said 1,155 Communists were killed.

The latest total, reflecting the lethal artillery exchanges with Red gunners across the demilitarized zone, pushed American casualties in the war to 101,034, including 13,643 killed, 86,635 wounded and 756 missing, by unofficial count.

At the current casualty rate, the Vietnam war will surpass the Korean conflict in six months and become the fourth deadliest war in the nation's history.

The intensification of the war, despite the absence of many large-scale ground actions, was reflected in the headquarters report of 53 ground sweeps in progress and new targets hit for the first time in North Vietnam.

American pilots returning from Wednesday's strikes deep into North Vietnam's heartland reported meeting heavy anti-aircraft fire, barrages of Soviet-built ground-to-air missiles and harassing flights of MIG jets. There was one brief dogfight in which no hits were scored. The MIGs nipped at the heels of American bombing formations and then sped to safety when a fight loomed.

In two days, North Vietnamese gunners on the ground shot down two Navy A4 Skyhawks, with one pilot rescued and the other missing, and one Air Force F-105 Thunderchief, with the pilot missing, the U.S. Command said. It now has announced a total of 687 warplanes lost over the north. Wednesday's 118 air missions began with Marine raids in the early morning darkness against MIG airfields at Hoa Lac and Kien An within the Hanoi-Haiphong air defense network. Air Force pilots swept within 10 miles of Hanoi for the second straight day to blast the previously cut Lang Son bridge on the northeast supply route from the capital of Hanoi.

Five U.S. NATO Allies Urge Halt Of Bombing

By TOM HOGE UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—In two weeks of debate, five of America's NATO allies and 14 other nations have urged a halt to the U.S. bombing of North Vietnam. Britain—reluctantly—was the only power backing the U.S. raids.

The Vietnam war is not on the General Assembly's agenda but it has overshadowed all other issues, including the Middle East. Forty-nine out of 55 speakers in the general policy debate have called for an end to the conflict.

The 23 calls for a bombing halt ranged from denunciations of the United States by the Soviet bloc to a statement by Canadian Foreign Secretary Paul Martin that a stop to the air raids is of "first priority" if the war is to be slowed and the door to the conference room opened.

The five partners in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization who joined in the call for a bombing cessation are Denmark, Norway, Belgium, France and Canada.

Others included two Scandinavian neutrals, three Latin Americans, seven members of the Asian-African group and six from the Soviet bloc.

British Foreign Secretary George Brown told the 122-nation assembly that he joined with those who "would dearly like to see" the bombing stop. "But I regret that the leaders of North Vietnam have never said what they will either do or refrain from doing to help the process of peace, if it is stopped," Brown added.

France echoed President Charles De Gaulle's line that the United States was endangering world peace through its involvement in Vietnam. French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville declared that only a "decisive initiative" by the United States, including unconditional, unlimited suspention of the bombing of the North, could lead to negotiations.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko replied to U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg's appeal for united peace efforts by U.N. members with the retort that "peace can be brought about in Vietnam only as a result of the withdrawal of the aggressors."

Nationalist Chinese Foreign Minister Wei Tao-hing said today pressures on the United States to stop bombing the North and withdraw its troops can only prolong the war because they reinforce the Communists' belief that "they have everything to gain and nothing to lose by rejecting all proposals for a peaceful settlement."

He said appeals to North Vietnam are unlikely to help end the war because the Chinese Communists, seeking world domination, are the war's "prime movers."

Police, FBI Enter Steel Truck Strike

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Triple-strength police patrols and the FBI cracked down on violence erupting from a wildcat truckers strike to give the nation's steel centers one of their most peaceful days in a month today.

Pennsylvania troopers on 16-hour shifts hustled men with a carload of rocks off an overpass, swept up nails from a street in New Castle, and confiscated a small arsenal at a truck stop.

In Ohio a big rig was forced off U.S. 224 in Portage County. Police in a patrol car right behind arrested two men on charges of carrying a deadly weapon—a slingshot.

Police said four trucks were damaged by rocks on the Pennsylvania Turnpike and two were fired on but not hit. The tires were shot off a rig in Ohio.

The night was a sharp contrast to the stonings, shootings and beatings that have dogged the strike by 10,000 to 20,000 steel haulers for almost a month.

The FBI acknowledged that its agents had started investigations. No details were given.

Forsaken 16-Year-Old Youth Is Wanted Least Of All By Parents

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Ricky Thorne, the boy nobody wants, went back on relief rolls this week because his parents want him least of all.

Ricky, now 16, faces a world that will not focus in his mind. The simple-mindedness he displayed when he was found abandoned at the Miami International Airport two years ago has turned to hostility.

Ricky, who had three pennies and a half-eaten sandwich in the pocket of clothes that had the labels snipped out, was the center of a week-long search for the red-haired woman who witnesses said accompanied the boy and then vanished.

She turned out to be his mother, Maynie Thorne, who said at the time she "would do it again."

This week she and her husband, Victor Thorne, did. "They've dumped him again," said juvenile court Judge Sid Weaver.

The Thornes dumped Ricky by refusing to pay for his upkeep in Miami and moving from their suburban Detroit home to a remote section of Canada where they cannot be readily reached, the judge said.

Their new home is on an isolated island called Sans Suci, French for "without care."

When Mrs. Thorne and her husband, a well-to-do, tool-and-die company executive, were located in 1965 Mrs. Thorne said she brought the boy to Miami and left him "because we love him" and because he had been a burden.

By court order, Ricky was put in a county home and finally taken into a school for the retarded. His parents were not charged with child neglect because Ricky's mother agreed to submit to psychiatric treatment in Detroit and because they agreed to pay for costs of treatment.

For a time Ricky did well at the school, learning to write his name and utter the sound of "ss" on command.

Then he became hostile and began assaulting other children and attendants.

The Thornes were told their son would have to be returned to his family.

The Thornes replied, "We (Dade County) had a problem and that they were very sorry, but they would not take him back." Juvenile officer Barron Shields said.

Judge Weaver said Ricky was ordered confined to a county home temporarily. That, however, causes a legal problem because Ricky's parents never resided in Florida.

Similarly, the state of Michigan has declined to accept the boy because his parents have moved to Canada. Canadian authorities likewise decline.

Earl Neilsen, brick mason contractor, had requested work on the county courthouse annex, was in error.

Earl Nelson, also a Twin Falls brick mason contacted the county commissioners and asked for the work on the county building for the not Earl Neilsen.

Legislature Study Group Opens Meet

BOISE (AP)—A committee set up by the Idaho Legislature to study lawmaking procedure was told today it has an "opportunity to respond" to the need of more efficient government.

The committee, headed by R. V. Hansberger of Boise, president of the giant Boise Cascade Corp., presided as chairman of the 30-member group which met for the first time.

"The problems of our American society," Hansberger said, "now are so difficult and complex that the federal government is desperately in need of help. It now is asking for help from local government to meet these problems."

This Idaho Citizens Committee now has the opportunity to respond to that need.

The committee, the statement said, should study the state legislature to make recommendations as to: —Organization and procedure. —Length and frequency of sessions. —Length of terms of senators and representatives. —Use of manpower, equipment and facilities in a move for more efficiency.

Mileck Plans New Try To Recall Sen. Church

ST. MARIES, Idaho (AP)—A North Idaho painting contractor says he is planning a new attempt to recall Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, even though a district court has ruled such procedure illegal.

Gene G. Mileck of St. Maries, who launched the recall move last spring but failed to get much support, said Wednesday night he has teamed with Joseph K. Stumph Jr. of Twin Falls in a new attempt.

Mileck originally was associated in the recall proposal with Ronald D. Rankin, Coeur d'Alene businessman. Their original recall petitions were turned down on grounds they lacked the required number of signatures.

Another preliminary recall petition was submitted to Secretary of State Pete T. Cenarrusa, who refused to accept it because of the attorney general's ruling.

Rankin took the case to court and District Judge Alfred C. Hagan dismissed it, upholding Shepard's contention that a United States senator cannot be recalled under Idaho law because the Senate itself is the judge of a member's qualifications after he has been elected.

Rankin said he will appeal the ruling to the State Supreme Court.

18 Petitions Taken Out For Burley Vote

BURLEY—Unusually heavy interest is being shown in the Burley municipal election Nov. 7, with 18 petitions out now, Charles Shadduck, city clerk, said Thursday.

Three councilmen will be elected in the Burley election. Mayor Joe Peters, who was elected to a four-year term in 1967, still has two years left to fill out his term.

This means 10 other nominating petitions have been obtained from the city clerk's office but it is not known who is circulating them or who the candidates are, Mr. Shadduck said.

The five persons who have declared their candidacy include Dick Hutzinger, Grant Fillmore, S. Keith Stoddard, Les Morgan and John Croft.

Mr. Hutzinger is an oil dealer and service station operator; Mr. Fillmore is manager of Thriftway Drug in Burley and Mr. Stoddard, who ran unsuccessfully in the last city election, owns Stoddard Appliance and Furniture Store.

Mr. Morgan previously owned Morgan Hardware which he sold this past spring and Mr. Croft heads the meat department at Jay's Fine Foods.

Mr. Nicholas and Mr. Dayley both have served on the city council for some time while Mr. Stanley was appointed during the past year to fill the unexpired term of LaMar Craner, who moved from the precinct where he resided.

Mr. Nicholas manages Swifts Feedlot in Burley; Mr. Daley owns and operates Quality Upholstery and Mr. Stanley is foreman at the J. R. Simplot Co.

Only a small percentage of Burley city voters are eligible to cast ballots Nov. 7, Mr. Shadduck stressed, because they missed voting in the 1965 city election or have moved. Persons who have moved must get their registration transferred.

The city clerk's office is open from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily and will be open Nov. 2-4, just prior to the election, from 7 to 9 p.m. for voters to register.

Synopsis, Farm Summary

A weak frontal system is located in Southern Idaho today and partly cloudy skies are being reported in valley areas. Light rain showers were being reported in Western Idaho valleys during the forenoon.

Cold, low pressure aloft has moved closer to the West Coast again and is forecast to move rather quickly across the Intermountain Region during the next two days. Cold air associated with the disturbance is located quite far south and cooler air will move into our valleys on Friday. Showers are forecast for our valleys today. As the coldest air moves across on Friday some snow may become mixed with the rain at times in higher valleys. Strong high pressure moving onto the coast by Saturday will bring clearing to the Northern Intermountain Region but nighttime temperatures will reach some of the lowest readings so far this fall season. Maximum temperatures today will be in the upper 50s into the upper 60s and will cool down into the 50s on Friday. Temperatures tonight will be lower but cloudiness will keep most readings in the 30s to low 40s.

Potato digging will run into some delays due to occasional rain on Friday. Stronger winds will occur the next couple of days making outside work uncomfortable. Soil temperatures will continue to lower but will remain well above freezing at the four inch depth. Caution should be used in regards to digging potatoes after today with clearing and cooler nights over the weekend.

Light but measurable amounts of rain were recorded from the upper Snake River valleys during the past 24 hours.

30-Day Outlook

October will average 2 to 4 degrees warmer than normal while precipitation will be near normal for the month.

Normal daily maximum temperatures cool about 14 to 16 degrees from the lower 70s and high 60s on the first of October to the 50s by October 31, while normal daily minimums drop around 8 to 10 degrees from the low 40s and upper 30s to the lower 30s and upper 20s during the month. The probability of freezing temperatures parallels this cooling trend. For example, at Ashton the probability of a temperature of 24 degrees or lower reaches 50 per cent by October 6 and 75 per cent by October 15. At Blackfoot the probability of 28 degrees reaches 50 per cent by October 7 and 24 degrees by October 18. Corresponding dates for Aberdeen are September 28 and October 11; for Preston, October 3 and 22; for Rupert, October 11 and 24; Twin Falls, October 9 and 23; Shoshone, September 30 and October 6, and Payette, October 16 and 29. At Boise the probability of 28 degrees or lower is not reached until October 23.

Rainfall in October may be expected to range from about .50 of an inch to 1.25 inches for the principal agricultural valleys of Southern Idaho, with little or no snowfall likely in the valleys.

Investment Of Deposits

RUPERT—At the Rupert City Council meeting Tuesday night, the Council authorized the city treasurer to invest $20,000 of bond deposit funds in U. S. Bonds.

Francis Kelly attended council meeting and requested a contract for taxi service. He was asked by the council to furnish more information.

Bids for equipment for the city secondary sewer plant will be opened Oct. 31.

John Simpson discussed electric and water service to his tract of court. The city will gradually take over service to the individual units.

Cancer Takes

Heyburn Boy

HEYBURN — Jerry Bruce Scott, 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Scott, died Wednesday at his home of cancer.

He was born May 2, 1953, at Pocatello, and had attended Heyburn grade school and was a freshman at Minico High School at the time of his death.

The youth belonged to the Burley Methodist church and was president of the 4-H Builders Club and belonged to the All-Around Livestock 4-H Club. He was selected as "Mr. 4-H" in 1967 for Minidoka County.

Survivors include his parents, one sister, Marsha Ann Scott, Heyburn; paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Scott, American Falls; maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Nelson, Heyburn.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p.m. Saturday in the Burley Methodist church by Rev. Paul LaRue, Buhl. Final rites will be held in the Riverside Cemetery. Friends may call at the Payne Mortuary, Burley, Friday afternoon and evening and Saturday until time of services. The family suggests memorials to the 4-H summer camp.

Will Emcee
Buffalo Hunt

Ray Rostron, manager of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce, will be master of ceremonies Saturday for the annual Buffalo Hunters Banquet at DuBois, Wyo.

Mr. Rostron said the banquet, which actually features beef, is unique because of the preliminary features which feature a buffalo hunt.

He said one out of about 3,000 out-of-state hunters who visit Wyoming each year is invited, as a guest of the local Volunteer Fire Department, to participate in a one-man buffalo hunt.

The hunter and a buffalo are turned loose outside of DuBois, and the hunter is allowed to hunt the animal down and shoot it.

As a gift, the fire department has the meat packaged and the head mounted for the hunter, who is then honored at the banquet.

Mr. Rostron was master of ceremonies at the banquet during the seven years he was chamber of commerce manager at Riverton, Wyo.

Lost 'n' Found
HUTCHINSON, Kan. (AP) — Wallace White, secretary of the Kansas State Fair asks with an Impish grin: "Did you forget your pants at the fair?"

Among other items that have turned up in lost, and found following the close of the fair are shoes, socks, a pair of white spats, a pipe, and more than a half dozen wallets.

The pants? White describes them as red petti-pants with a fringe on the bottom.

Three Jerome Men Seek Election

JEROME — Three Jerome businessmen have taken out nominating petitions for the Nov. 7 city election for the Jerome City Council.

J. R. Russell has filed a petition with the city clerk and Marshall Everheart and S. N. Weeks have taken out petitions. Three councilmen will be elected.

S. N. (Shorty) Weeks has been on the city council the past four years. During this term he has seen community completion of fire agreement between Jerome and neighboring communities. Mr. Weeks stated, "I am proud of the department, it has been upgraded in necessary equipment, without an increase in the budget to get the job done. Jerome department is one of the best equipped in the area."

Mr. Weeks was also on the street commission when the street program was launched. He was also instrumental in providing lighting for business and residential areas in the community.

During his term Mr. Weeks was instrumental in having cleaned up the dump northeast of Jerome in compliance with state health regulations.

He stated, "If elected I will continue to represent the people to the best of my ability."

Mr. Weeks moved to Tuttle in 1919 with his parents from Prosperity, Mo. He received his schooling in Missouri, Wendell, and Jerome. He has been a resident of Jerome since 1923. He farmed southwest of Jerome until he moved to town 10 years ago. He is now in the realty business in Jerome, known as the North Side Realty.

Marshall Everheart, owner of Bird's Sporting Goods in Jerome, has been a Jerome resident for the past 14 years. Born in Whitewright, Tex., he was graduated from Boise High School and attended Boise College and the University of Washington.

He is a veteran of World War II serving in the army from 1940 to 1945. His interest in city affairs is evidenced by the fact that he has attended council meetings as an interested citizen practically since moving to Jerome.

J. A. (Jack) Russell was born in Roy, Utah, and moved to Idaho as a youth with his parents. He has resided in Jerome since 1920 and in the city since 1927. Russell operated the J. A. Russell Insurance for 27 years and sold the firm earlier this year.

Russell was recently appointed to the council to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Paul Hurless.

He has served as a councilman for a period of six years under Mayor Theron W. Ward.

Harvest Festival will be held by the Odd-Fellows-Lodge and Rebekah Lodge from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday at the Odd Fellows Hall. Luncheon will be served from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. The event will include a cooked food sale, country store and other booths. The public is invited.

Members of the Art Guild of Magic Valley will meet Oct. 7 and 8 in Ketchum for a fall painting outing. Headquarters for the group will be the Hide-Away Motel. Members are asked to make their own reservations and bring their own food and painting equipment.

A weight club reorganizational meeting will be held at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Eugene Daniels, 305 Borah Ave. For further information call Mrs. Vonda Wagner, president, at 733-1702.

Cast call for "The Invisible People," the Community Children's Theatre production planned for next month, will be at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at Morning-side School.

Jim Winkle and Wayne Buckendorf, Twin Falls agents for Sierra Life Insurance Co., recently attended the company's annual agency conference at Sun Valley.

Reunion meeting for the Twin Falls High School class of 1958 will be held at 8 p.m. Monday at the Idaho Power Auditorium.

REED A. BENSON, national public relations director for the John Birch Society is scheduled to address a public meeting of the T.A.C.F. committee at 8 p.m. Monday at the Holiday Inn. His topic will be "Freedom vs. Slavery."

Mrs. Howard Dies In T.F. At Age 74

Mrs. Jossie Mabel Howard, 74, 254 Lois St., died Wednesday at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital.

She was born April 2, 1893, at Whiting, Kan., and came to the Berger area in 1913 with her parents.

She married Robert Emmett Howard Oct. 6, 1920, at Berger. They later moved to Twin Falls.

She was a member of the Twin Falls First Baptist Church. Survivors include her husband; two daughters, Mrs. Ralph Schnell, Rogerson, and Mrs. Fred Starke, Miami, Fla.; two brothers, George Parrott and Alf Parrott, both of Twin Falls; a sister, Mrs. Olga Lammons, Twin Falls, and six grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

She was preceded in death by three brothers and a sister.

Funeral services will be conducted at 11 a.m. Saturday at White Mortuary chapel. Last rites will be held in the Twin Falls Cemetery.

DuPont's Estate Robbed By Armed Men

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Five armed men, wearing cloth masks and gloves, escaped with $534,000 in rare coins, jewels and cash from the palatial DuPont estate on Biscayne Bay early today, police said.

The five men bound duPont, his wife, their 1-year-old child and the butler and his wife during their two-hour looting of the huge estate which contains nine bedrooms and 19 bathrooms.

Gunn said the rare coin collection, worth an estimated one-half million dollars, contained 6,000 miscellaneous rare coins. Also taken were 1,000 silver dollars, five watches worth $5,000, some of Mr. duPont's jewelry and an undetermined amount of cash.

The five men fled in duPont's 1967 Cadillac convertible which was found abandoned a short time later at a nearby church.

duPont is the son of the late Lamont duPont, president of the E. I. duPont de Nemours and Co., Wilmington, Del. In 1962 he married Miren K. de Anzola of Bilbao, Spain.

He holds ranching, aviation and citrus interests in Florida.

Ex-Oakley Man, 55, Dies Of Injuries

Long Illness Takes Life Of Miles Nance

KETCHUM—Miles Nance, 47, died at Sun Valley Hospital Wednesday of a long illness.

He was born March 9, 1920, in Green Forest, Ark. When he was a young man the family moved to Jerome where he resided for several years and then moved to Shoshone where he was a meat cutter.

He married Zeta Young, Jan. 16, 1940, in Shoshone. He was a veteran of World War II and received the Asiatic-Pacific Campaign Medal, the American Ace Medal and the World War II Victory Medal.

The couple moved to Sun Valley in 1948 and at the time he became ill he was operating a Sun Valley ice rink. He was a member of the David Ketchum Post, American Legion.

He is survived by his widow; one son, David Nance, Ketchum; three brothers, Harvey Nance, Jerome; Wayne Nance, Everett, Wash.; and DeNoel Nance, Wash.; three sisters, Mrs. May Hayes, Everett, Wash.; Mrs. Geraldine White, Bonanza, Ore.; and Mrs. Viva Lee Marriot, Everett, Wash.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday. Final rites will be held in Ketchum Cemetery. Friends may call at Bird Funeral Home, Hailey, Friday and until time of services Saturday.

Death Takes Lucy Morris At Age 81

Mrs. Lucy Caroline Morris, 81, 156 Austin St., died Wednesday afternoon at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital following a long illness.

She was born Sept. 16, 1886, at Hartwell, Neb. She married William A. Morris Oct. 18, 1905, at Minden, Neb.

They came to Twin Falls in 1937 from Kearney, Neb.

She was a member of the Twin Falls Church of God and the Ladies' Missionary Society.

Survivors include her husband, two sons, Lloyd Raymond Morris, Ogden, Utah, and Floyd Ralph Morris, Lincoln, Neb.; a daughter, Mrs. Myner (Sara Esther) Thomsen, Minden, Neb.; six grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren.

A brother preceded her in death.

Funeral services will be announced by Twin Falls Mortuary.

ABOUT 35 PER CENT completion has been marked on the CSI maintenance building, according to one of the architects, Edward Peterson. Brick work has begun on the building which is situated near the east side of the campus. The total project is continuing on schedule.

Work On CSI Campus Is Proceeding On Schedule

Edward Peterson, one of the architects for the College of Southern Idaho Campus, reported Thursday that the project is proceeding "right on schedule."

He said the maintenance building, farthest along of the three major buildings included in the first phase, is about 35 per cent complete.

Brickwork is being put up on the building, he said, and should be complete by the end of the week. Next week the roof joists will be set.

The building, smallest of those

A Jump From Starvation To Prosperity

QUERETARO, Mexico, — In Mexico City, the "New Mexican Man" is typified by such fast-moving types as Ladislao Lopez Negrete, president of the Bankers Association of Mexico, and Cesar Balsa, the Napoleonic head of a $40 million hotel empire. Here in Queretaro the name on everybody's lips is Bernardo Quintana.

That is not to say that Quintana is anonymous in the capital. After all, his Civil Engineers Group (Grupo ICA) is building Mexico City's first subway. But if a nation which is now producing heroes in business suits instead of uniforms ever erects a statue to Quintana it will be for bringing jobs to the boom-ship their kids off to college. It is a city of supermarkets straight out of Ames, Iowa, four banks with deposits of $16 million, a new marketplace for farmers, paid vacations and pensions for the workers and much conversation in the cafes about package tours to Dallas, Washington and even that citadel of the rich-foreigners, Acapulco.

Perhaps just important, Queretaro has discovered there are other, less expensive amusements than the making of babies. With the realization that there is a better life than the daily consumption of tortillas, has come a small but significant drop in Queretaro's birth rate.

TV and the movies have intruded on the time Mexican parents formerly devoted to the pursuit of a better life. For the most part, Mexican officials are leery about discussing birth control, but they welcome such contributions to reducing the more than one million-new babies a year. As one official put it, "Surely the church cannot object if we give our people something else to do besides procreate."

Time For Decision

Twin Falls, with the only air carrier airport in Magic Valley, has reached a time for decision.

City officials are faced with the problem of making this decision. They can bide their time and hope that a relatively swift conclusion will be reached as to feasibility of a new regional airport, or they can take the initial steps which will see improvement of the present Joslin Field to the point where it will accept jet airplanes.

Members of the regional airport committee have asked that the city delay any major improvements at the local field until a site recommendation for a regional field can be made by Federal Aviation Agency officials.

The decision on the part of city officials—faced with a budget study in the immediate future—is further complicated by the fact the regional airport concept is based on an area-wide bond issue which would come after a site was selected and after voter authorization was gained to hold such an election.

The regional airport concept appeared in for a fairly smooth ride through the valley until a few days ago when West Coast Airlines announced contract signing leading to purchase of a new 50-place Fairchild pure jet fleet which could operate from the local field with nearly a full load, or from a runway only about 1,000 feet longer than the present main one at Joslin Field when carrying maximum weight.

This announcement changed the thinking of a lot of people. Why, they asked, should a new regional field be constructed at a cost of some $6 million when improvement of Twin Falls' Joslin Field could be accomplished at a fraction of that cost? The improved Joslin Field could handle the just-ordered West Coast Fairchild jets and it would not take much of an improvement over that—mainly lengthening the runway—to care for the DC-9 jets which the airline now has in service.

If a regional airport is constructed it would either be at a site near the Perrine Memorial Bridge or the Hansen Bridge. Both sites would be on the north side of Snake River.

Even though no final decision as to which site would be appropriate has yet been made, and will not be made for at least six months, there is evidence of disagreement.

Responsible citizens of Jerome have publicly stated that if the site was the one near the Hansen Bridge they would not vote for bonds to finance it. Likewise, responsible Burley and Rupert citizens have publicly stated that they could not support a field by the Perrine Bridge because of the distance from their area.

In the meantime it is common supposition that the issue would not carry in Blaine county where Hayley is getting an expanded field.

Only recently the Chamber of Commerce at Shoshone, by resolution, announced they wanted no part of a regional field and didn't want to help pay for it. Influential citizens of Camas county said the plan would never carry there.

So what does this mean? Members of the regional airport committee have worked hard and long in the cause to which they were assigned when they accepted committee posts. They are donating their time and efforts without remuneration.

But they ended up backing a dead issue when West Coast announced purchase of jets which could, with no change or at best not a great major change, operate from the present Joslin Field.

That announcement assuring jet service for Twin Falls by the spring of 1970 satisfied the desires of a lot of people who had backed the regional plan.

Because of this, and because of the uncertain aspects of a major bond issue on a regional level, it seems that now is the right time for the City of Twin Falls and Twin Falls County to join forces in making Joslin Field a county-city airport, in improving it (with federal aid) to the point where more than one type jet can use it and in keeping the valley's only air carrier field right where it is now.

It is entirely possible that improvement of the field could be accomplished without a bond issue at all. There is no reason why this county-city cooperation couldn't be accomplished. The FAA should be told of the plans for Joslin Field, their cooperation should be asked and it is reasonable to assume that it would be given.

Congressional aid should be sought and the ball should start to roll in the direction of the jet age which is here, right now, and only needs a place to land to come to Twin Falls.

The whole valley would benefit—as residents would benefit from a new regional field—but an improved Joslin Field would be less expensive and entirely adequate for everyone.

MR. SPECTATOR

Your Group--A Project

Interested in something to do? Something that will really do some good?

Just the other day Mr. Spectator received a note from Wesley C. Peterson, Twin Falls. He had just received a letter from his son, Sp4 James L. Peterson, a Green Beret now on duty with the Special Forces in the Mekong Delta of South Vietnam.

The boy had an idea that is worth passing on. He wrote:

"The special forces has a program over here to help people and to win them over. In fact, that's besides a few other things, is what the S.F. is for.

"Well, anyway, what these people here need is clothing. Some are almost naked and when we get refugees and dislocated people we can supply them with almost anything but clothing.

"The clothes most needed are pants, T-shirts, and shorts. (The jockey type shorts are not the kind they wear here but they will do.) For girls, dresses and cotton underclothing; small dolls and plastic trucks and cars for the kids.

"I know that many people have clothes they could give away, clothes for youngsters from two to 14 years old. The people over here are quite small so kids' clothes from two to ten would even be best.

"These people are really poor and need help and it helps us, in the long run, to get to trust these people.

"Send me names and addresses of any group that might be interested and I'll write to them when I can and let them know how they can help. Or, if you want, give them my address."

At the start of his letter young Peterson had an idea of the type organization that could help.

"Mom and Dad," he wrote, "I know that you know a lot of people in Twin Falls and maybe some in the Lions Club or some other club might be interested in helping us."

So here, Mr. Spectator is quick to point out is a chance for members of the Lions Club to get the ball rolling if they need a project that will have a little heart in it.

So Lions or otherwise, you can get in touch with Mr. Peterson at 733-7378 in Twin Falls or you can write the boy in Vietnam. His address is:

S.4 James L. Peterson
RA 19803873
Co. A, 5th S.F.A.G., 1st S.F.
APO 96227

And what do Mr. and Mrs. Peterson think of their son over in Vietnam?

"Although we disagree wholeheartedly with the principle of any American youth being in Vietnam, we cannot help but be proud of our son's spirit and youth and especially about what he wants to do while there."

GIVEAWAY DEPT.:

Have four pups to give away. Three are cream colored and one is black. They are about five weeks old and we would like to give the mother to someone who has a nice home for her. Call 733-1359 or call at the second house on the left hand side of the road south of Motor-Vu Corner. It is by the J. A. Clawson Construction Co.

I have a red tabby, a maltese, a calico and a black and white litter of kittens to give away. They are box broken and are about six weeks old. Their address is 1953 Elizabeth Blvd., in Twin Falls.

MR. SPECTATOR SAYS:

Missile Screen Is Too Little

"Missile Screen Is Too Little" — Robert McNamara, the one-man cataclysm, has finally been dragged into doing at least part of his duty of defending the United States. Even if reluctantly, he is now going ahead with plans to deploy a "thin" screen of antiballistic missile devices to provide a minimum protection for the 200 million U. S. citizens.

His personal press agents undoubtedly will make it appear that this move is the greatest thing since the invention of the wheel. It isn't.

It is really too little, and it comes quite late in the game. It cannot make up for the devastating technology gap McNamara has built into our defense research.

It is hamstrung by the nuclear test ban treaty which McNamara can take as much credit as anyone. Finally, the deployment of this very thin, elementary system will likely lull too many of us into a sense of false security. And McNamara will go right ahead with his systematic destruction of the morale of the armed forces and the weaponry upon which they and we must depend for our defense.

The ABM system McNamara has agreed to deploy supposedly will protect us against attack from the Red Chinese when they develop missiles to carry the few nuclear warheads they now are estimated to have and the many more they may build in the future.

The fact that the Red Chinese might decide to deliver some bombs in less detectable fashion does not seem to perturb McNamara. The thin ABM would be helpless against a Chinese bomb in a moving van, a freighter or even a truck. It would also be helpless against a saturation attack which the Red Chinese might be capable of launching should they truly spurt ahead on missile development during the months or years it may take McNamara to get everything in place.

This is not to detract from basic approval of doing anything to improve the sad situation of declining defenses which otherwise is characteristic of McNamara's disastrous term in the Pentagon. This initial action may move us toward consideration of the more serious matters at hand in planning for an effective defense of this nation against Communist missile attack. For one thing, we eventually have to face the fact that the nuclear test ban treaty has blocked us — but not the Russians, who already had completed their tests — from essential data about the effect of high-altitude, high-yield nuclear blasts. From what testing we had conducted prior to the treaty, the effects of these high-altitude blasts are a crucial element in planning a more effective missile shield. We know that radiation from such blasts has a major impact on missile flight systems.

McNamara's penny-pinching has virtually doomed military scientific research. Thus, the ABMs we are going to deploy will use today's technology, while a future attack could be launched with missiles utilizing breakthrough techniques denied to us because of McNamara. He insists that we follow a new, major line of research until the enemy has done something to make it essential, assuring always a second-best posture for our side.

Robert McNamara and his press agents may be happy to hide behind a thin line of ABMs. The rest of us should demand something more.

BRUCE BLOSSAT

Just What Can We Believe?

WASHINGTON (NEA) — More and more, President Lyndon Johnson is being viewed by Americans as a man who cannot be believed. But the thing of wider significance is that he presides in an era when credibility is rare anywhere in U.S. public affairs.

His critics of all political shades are not exactly masters of credible argument.

As he makes his case for continuing the bitter Vietnam war, he is charged with almost endless deceit. But a high proportion of his opponents on the war issue are also something less than totally honest on this subject.

In their call for peace, by varying means up to and including unilateral withdrawal from Vietnam, very few war critics deal credibly with the consequences — for both the Vietnamese and for all other free Asians — which would flow from a disadvantageous treaty with Hanoi, from retreat to coastal enclaves, from any kind of major military defeat, or from withdrawal.

They either shrug off this matter, or try to deal with it by unprovable assertions such as: "The domino theory (that other Asian lands will fall if South Vietnam does) is wholly false."

They dispose of opposition argument as the deceitful noises of the warmonger, while they themselves tangle hardly at all to grapple with the complex, brutal realities of life in Vietnam.

It should not be imagined that the Republican critics are any better in this respect than the arch liberals who attack Johnson.

At the dovish end of the spectrum, the Republicans are as dishonest as their Democratic counterparts as to the probable real consequences of "peace for the sake of peace."

At the hawkish end, GOP critics often hide behind meaningless phrases such as: "We should pursue this war with our full military might." What does that mean? Mobilize the whole nation, or use nuclear weapons? The answer is never really given.

The credibility issue is not, however, limited to controversy over the Vietnam war.

Like rival breeds of angry locusts, charges and countercharges fill the public air on such questions as the real worth of the poverty program, the genuineness of the "establishment" assault on racial discrimination, the true cost of government and the relation of that cost to the need for more taxes.

Dating from the New Deal era, this town has been awash in reports and documents arguing every side of every public issue.

The obvious comment is: "Isn't that the proper way to debate the great questions?" The answer is yes, if the arguments are credible. But too many are not. And nearly all documents tend to be depreciated in an age when cheap emotional contention is the order of the day.

The country's radicals, white and black, further erode credibility by preaching distrust of all established authority at the same time they make self-serving argument without bothering to rub two facts together.

At a time when pragmatic social invention at home and firmly conceived foreign policies were never more in demand, too many contenders in the public arena — romantics to the core — have turned to impatient clamor for unreachable perfection, for the millennium tomorrow.

The net effect of their effort has been to flood much public argument with unreality, to raise hope dishonestly and perhaps credulously, and hence to reduce credibility everywhere. Whatever the President's shortcomings in this field, he has much company.

Shadow Boxing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate is shadow-boxing with the President. It's talking of doing something it can't make stick.

Sen. J. W. Fulbright and others complain President Johnson is getting too big for his britches, although they didn't put it that plainly. So alterations are suggested. It's an old story with Congress and presidents.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt is still being criticized for something he did when Germany had Britain on the ropes just before World War II. He gave the British 50 old destroyers without consulting Congress.

And President Harry S. Truman got an endless pasting for going into the Korean War without asking Congress for so much as by-your-leave. But Roosevelt was operating under the Lend-Lease Act which made what he did possible.

And Truman was responding, if he needed a legal reason, to the United Nations' call to its members to stop the invasion from North Korea.

But Johnson did the opposite. He got overwhelming congressional approval beforehand for sending troops into Vietnam, if he found that necessary, which he did—and now he's on the receiving end from Congress just the same.

What he got mixed up in in a big way was the ancient rivalry for power in foreign affairs between Congress and presidents.

The approval he got was in the Gulf of Tonkin resolution which Congress passed Aug. 7, 1964 at his request, the Senate by a vote of 85-2 and the House by 416-0. It authorized him to do what he thought necessary to stop aggression in Southeast Asia.

Fulbright, Arkansas Democrat, chairman of the Senate's Foreign Relations Committee and Johnson's most constant critic about the war, took charge of getting the Tonkin resolution through the Senate three years ago.

But now he has offered his own resolution which would cripple Johnson's handling of foreign affairs by saying a "national commitment" has no validity or meaning unless both the president and Senate approve.

WAYNE BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Coronary Care

The coronary care units (CCU) now operating in over 300 hospitals in the United States have been hailed as the most important life-saving measure of the decade. Essentially the unit is a group of rooms in a hospital especially equipped to continually monitor patients who have had an acute coronary heart attack. It is estimated that CCUs are already saving between 50,000 and 100,000 lives a year and that they have cut in half the expected death rate of these patients.

As originally conceived, the CCU was designed to apply prompt and effective measures to resuscitate the patient who takes a critical turn for the worse. With the experience gained, however, it has been possible to detect signs of impending trouble well in advance of the critical stage and nip the trouble in the bud. This is accomplished by continuously recording the pulse rate, pressure in the veins and electrocardiographic pattern. When any of these indicate danger—usually in the form of cardiac fibrillation—appropriate drugs are given.

If response to the drugs is not prompt, normal rhythm is restored to the heart by an electric pacemaker. The key to a successful CCU is an alert, well-trained nurse. When she recognizes an impending crisis she must summon help promptly or, if trained in the treatment of fibrillation, she may initiate the treatment herself.

Even though the results obtained in CCUs have been impressive, efforts to improve their effectiveness are constant. By being achieved, a CCU should be available in every community that is large enough to support two or more general hosare happiest. So will the industrial park in Cuernavaca, where more than 20 companies have intruded on the serenity of the American retirement colony. In the next ten years, 25 more industrial complexes are planned for sleepy little communities all over Mexico, where sugar cane cutters and corn farmers will work at turning out textiles for Burlington Mills, Bohemia beer and parts for the American automobiles that are now prohibitively expensive.

Indeed, on a relative basis Mexico is a giant step ahead of American business in stemming the human flood from the countryside to the city. While the U. S. hems and haws about plans to decentralize industry, the "New Mexican Man" such as Bernardo Quintana splits on his hands and produces a Queretaro.

One trouble with "national commitment" is its vagueness. What does it mean? Fulbright explained it as too often turning out to be "statements previously made by someone saying that we pledge ourselves to some undertaking."

But in Congress over the years "commitment" could be interpreted as meaning all kinds of presidential actions which Congress hadn't approved.

Thirteen years ago, in the last great effort to drag the country back into her ancient isolationism, Sen. John W. Bricker, an Ohio Republican, offered something more powerful than a resolution. He called for a constitutional amendment.

His proposal would have hamstrung a president even more than Fulbright's. Fulbright, at that time opposed to tying any more strings to a president, called Bricker's idea a retreat from the world. The Senate killed the proposal.

The next day a substitute proposal, a little milder than Bricker's but still an interference with the president's foreign affairs powers, was also killed. Ironically, while Fulbright voted against that, too, Johnson, then Democratic leader in the Senate when Republican Dwight D. Eisenhower was president, voted for it.

But even if the Senate votes for Fulbright's resolution it can't change anything for Johnson. He wouldn't have to pay any attention to it since such a resolution is not a law.

Yet if it passed, it would be a warning to Johnson he could expect rough treatment if he made any "national commitment" and didn't get the Senate's okay first.

This could damage his strength in dealing with other nations for they could rightly ask: How can Johnson promise anything, and how can we expect him to make good on his promise, if the Senate hasn't agreed to the promise?

All the Senate uproar over Johnson—because of his sending troops into Vietnam—could be ended in a minute if the Senate would just act to rescind the Gulf of Tonkin resolution which gave him the power.

So what's happening is an oblique attempt to curb him instead of doing it directly.

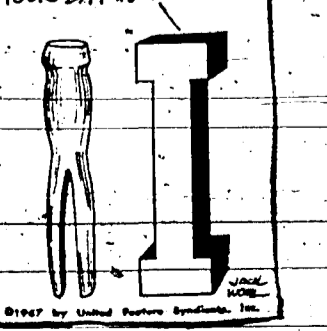

Q — A little over a year ago I had a gall-bladder operation. As a result of this, I lost my memory. Is there any cause or cure for this loss? How effective are the memory pills discovered by Dr. Cameron?

A — The cause of a gradual loss of memory is the hardening of the arteries in the brain that accompanies aging. A sudden complete loss of memory (amnesia) may be due to a blow on the head or a conversion reaction (hysteria). Whatever the cause in your case, it was not the operation.

Several years ago, Dr. D. E. Cameron of Albany tried injecting ribonucleic acid in the veins of elderly persons and found that it improved their memories. More recently he has been giving magnesium pemoline (Cylert) by mouth and getting good results. These drugs are still experimental, however.

Routing Of Trucks Through T.F. Studied

Future routing of trucks through the city of Twin Falls was discussed by the Twin Falls City Highway Commission members and the Twin Falls County Highway District board in the September meeting of the commission.

Ralph Olmstead, Ora Jones and Kenneth Poe, district board members, and Floyd Dayley, manager, of the highway district, recommended studies of the route along Washington Street North in connection with the College of Southern Idaho campus. Mr. Olmstead said the highway district will reconstruct Pole Line Road from U.S. 93 to Washington Street North in 1968 or 1969.

Another problem on truck routing which will be solved in the near future will be the entrance to Twin Falls from the east. Mr. Woodall said all west-bound traffic via the Hansen Bridge has been entering on Addison Avenue.

With completion of the new highway from Red Cap Corner to the Hansen bridge, this problem will be solved, Paul Newton told members, and all traffic will enter Twin Falls via U.S. 30 and Kimberly Road, and can easily be routed to the truck route.

Henry Woodall, chairman of the city Highway Commission, urged the district to place a high priority on the truck route reconstruction job from U.S. 93 to Washington Street. He said preferably the project should be completed in 1968 because of the importance of the truck route, due to heavy use and heavy vehicles.

Mr. Olmstead said every consideration would be given the request.

Wendell Art Group Starts Fall Series

GOODING — The Wendell Art Group will begin their fall meetings at 8 p.m. Monday in the Wendell High School library.

Marilyn LaCroix, Gooding, will instruct a series of all painting lessons on "quickie" methods for artists who have been with the group for the past year of two. Any experienced artists are welcome to attend.

The "quickie" lessons will include the toothbrush technique, color vibration, scratch and wiping out techniques, underpainting with tone and texture, scumbling and wet-on-wet methods.

The first session will demonstrate the "toothbrush" technique. Participating artists are asked to bring an old toothbrush, a long-blade painting knife and a canvas or primed masonite panel at least 16 by 20 inches.

Less experienced and beginning painters can receive instructions from Charlotte Duggan, beginning Tuesday at the Wendell High School. Mrs. Duggan is also instructing a group of Wendell youngsters in the fundamentals of drawing and painting.

Those who viewed the art exhibit at the Gooding County Fair will recall the fine results of last year's student efforts after only six lessons.

A class in Gooding for adult and teen-agers beginners is being considered during the next two weeks. It will probably be held on Wednesday evenings. Persons interested in any of the classes are invited to call Mrs. LaCroix at 934-4667 after 5:30 p.m. or on week-ends. Wendell artists may contact Mrs. Duggan at 536-2383.

Unemployed

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Former Gov. Edmund G. Brown, now a Beverly Hills lawyer, returned to California's capitol to unveil his official portrait Wednesday.

After the 10-minute ceremony, Brown walked upstairs to have his shoes polished by Earl Reeves, the capitol shoe shine man.

Reeves made $5 for shining the riding boots Tuesday of Gov. Ronald Reagan, Brown's successor. But he refused to take any payment from Brown.

"It's all right," he told Brown. "You're unemployed now."

Richfield Mayor To Seek Election Nov. 7

RICHFIELD — New election laws governing cities have resulted in some changes for the Richfield city election Nov. 7.

Mayor Clifford Ward, who still has two years left of an elected councilman term, will not need to resign as councilman to run for the office of mayor.

Richfield's mayor will be elected for a four-year term, one councilman for a four-year term and one councilman for a two-year term to fill out the unexpired term of Edwin Johnson which is now filled by John Lemmon.

To be eligible to vote Richfield residents must have voted in the November 1965 city election or re-register this year. Voters may register at the Lemmon Hardware. Petitions for nomination of candidates for the coming election must be given to the clerk, Mrs. Ross Swainston, by Tuesday.

Duane Maxwell, of Maxwell Insurance Agency, Gooding and Shoshone, met with the board to explain the city liability insurance. Clifford Ward was named to contact other insurance companies as to cost of similar policies.

Mrs. Swainston and city library clerk, Mrs. Max Behr, were named to draw up an agreement concerning the library and city contract.

Bids will be solicited for new sidewalk work from the town park to the schools.

Judges and clerks named for the Nov. 7 election are Mrs. Lyle Piper, Mrs. Udell Robinson, Mrs. Edward Schisler, and Mrs. Eugene Faudis, alternate.

CAP Exercise Set Here This Weekend

A search and rescue mission in addition to a civil defense problem will see more than 75 members of the Idaho Wing of the Civil Air Patrol converging on Joslin Field, Twin Falls, Saturday and Sunday.

Col. George Forschler, Burley, Idaho commander, said that both operations will be under the overall command of Lt. Col. Ed Woods, Twin Falls, wing executive officer. A team of Air Force officers from Denver will judge the two maneuvers which get under way at 7 a.m. Saturday with the search and rescue problem.

The officers will include Col. Don E. Hale, Rocky Mountain Region commander, and Col. Peter J. Markman, chief liaison officer with the Air Force, Rocky Mountain Region.

Saturday's search and rescue problem will involve finding a downed plane and "survivors" somewhere in the area. A plane will leave Joslin Field, land at an unrevealed destination, send out a distress signal and the search will be on. This particular part of the two-day exercise will be under the direction of Col. Hap Masoner, Twin Falls, with the aid of Capt. Hans Forschler, Burley.

Sunday's operation will involve a simulated atomic blast somewhere in this area.

At least a dozen aircraft are expected to take part in the exercises, all manned by CAP pilots and observers. Complete radio coverage will be under the direction of Col. Merritt Shotwell, Twin Falls. Several planes from north Idaho will participate.

Elder Sonne To Speak At Rupert Meet

RUPERT — Elder Alma Sonne, an assistant to the Council of the Twelve Apostles of the LDS Church, will be the featured speaker at the Minidoka Stake Quarterly Conference to be held Saturday and Sunday at the tabernacle in Rupert.

Accompanying Elder Sonne will be Elder O. Layton, Allredge of the Priesthood Missionary Committee and Elder Paul B. Tanner of the Sunday School General Board.

General sessions will be held Sunday at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. under the direction of Stake President Rodney A. Hansen. Direct wire service to the new Third-Fourth Ward chapel at South 5th and South F Streets will be available for the overflow from the tabernacle. The public is invited to attend both meetings.

Special music for the Sunday sessions will be furnished by the combined Aequa wards under the direction of Mrs. Eldon Stephenson with Mrs. Van Sorenson as organist.

Departmental meetings are scheduled for Saturday afternoon and evening.

RANCH LEASED
LEWISTON, Idaho (AP)—Two eastern Washington ranchers have leased an 80,000-acre ranch in Idaho—a cattle empire which has developed in two generations.

Located 40 miles south of Lewiston where the Snake and Salmon Rivers converge, the ranch was leased to Robert Nelson, Hartline, Wash., and Earl Coppersmith, Eltopia, Wash.

The ranch was leased from Nelson Howard, manager of the Howard Cattle ranch, and Madeline Walters, Lewiston.

Ford's Theater Will Echo Anew Sounds Of Performers

By DEREK SCHOEN
WASHINGTON (AP)—Ford's Theater, its stage empty since President Abraham Lincoln was fatally shot while watching a play there 102 years ago, soon will echo anew the sounds of live theater.

The Interior Department said Wednesday that 1860-era plays will be presented at Ford's beginning early next year. The Ford's Theater Society, a nonprofit group, hopes to have a repertory group presenting a nine-month season beginning next Feb. 12, Lincoln's birthday.

Announcement of the undertaking, helped along by a $250,000 grant from Lincoln National Life Insurance Co., came from Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall at a news conference in the partially refurbished theater six blocks from the White House.

Ford's has been closed to tourists since the Interior Department began in 1965 a $2.7 million restoration.

Backstage is still a tangle of scaffolding and wiring but the theater interior already exudes the aura of that day—April 14, 1865—when Lincoln was shot by actor John Wilkes Booth.

Separate cotton lace and damask curtains decorate the box where Lincoln and his wife sat watching a comedy, "Our American Cousin."

On the orchestra floor are replicas of the cane-bottomed chairs used at the time. Two curving balconies are partially equipped with the type of long benches on which patrons sat.

Ornate carvings on the balcony facades, winding slate-staircases and wall and balcony candelabra—all reproduced from photos taken after the assassination—also are in place.

There also are some differences.

The theater will seat only 600 instead of the 1,700 it did in Lincoln's day. Udall explained the cutback involved stricter fire regulations and "the fact we found that people of this age require border seats."

Also changed—and hopefully improved, said Udall—will be the theater's acoustics and backstage equipment.

Wilson Seeks Backing In Market Bid

SCARBOROUGH, England (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Wilson's government sought today the Labor party's backing for its bid to enter the European Common Market. But powerful trade union leaders said the price was too high.

Frank Cousins, leader of the big Transport and General Workers Union and a former minister in Wilson's Cabinet, led the dissidents at the party's council convention.

Entry into European customs union, Cousins said, would mean higher prices for British consumers, a worsening of Britain's foreign trade deficit and more unemployment. He said he had no faith in a European organization "dominated by right-wing governments."

Party members led by Cousins and two other influential former Cabinet ministers, Douglas Jay and Emanuel Shinwell, said they would ask the convention to adopt a resolution attaching stiff conditions to the membership application Wilson made last spring.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A congressman says a foreign policy adviser to George Romney helped give the 1965 Vietnam briefing which the Michigan governor recently called a brainwashing.

Meanwhile, another prospective Republican presidential candidate, New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, says he has not indicated withdrawal of his support for President Johnson's Vietnam war policy.

Rep. Wayne L. Hays, D-Ohio, said Wednesday that Jonathan Moore, now a Romney adviser, was among U.S. diplomatic and military officials who briefed Romney in Saigon.

Romney labeled the briefing a brainwashing session which led him to endorse U.S. involvement in the war. He has since altered his position.

In 1965, Moore was a State Department official specializing in Far Eastern affairs and was official escort for Romney and nine other governors while they were in Vietnam.

Hays said Moore participated in "at least an important part of the briefing."

Congressman Says Adviser To Romney Aided In Brainwashing

WASHINGTON (AP)—A congressman says a foreign policy adviser to George Romney helped give the 1965 Vietnam briefing which the Michigan governor recently called a brainwashing.

Meanwhile, another prospective Republican presidential candidate, New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, says he has not indicated withdrawal of his support for President Johnson's Vietnam war policy.

Hays said Moore participated in "at least an important part of the briefing."

Hays said neither has answered an invitation to appear before his House Foreign Affairs subcommittee to discuss the brainwashing controversy. Moore said in Lansing, Mich. "I don't think it becomes me to be commenting in public" on Hays' statement about the invitation and would not say he had received one. Moore added that any reply should be private.

Moore joined Romney's staff in April after leaving the State Department.

Romney was unavailable for comment.

Rockefeller was reported by The New York Times to have privately made known he no longer wholeheartedly supports the President's war policy.

"I have not said anything about Vietnam and I am not going to, except that I share the hope that an honorable settlement can be reached," Rockefeller told newsmen after the report appeared.

But Democratic National Chairman John Bailey declared Rockefeller is gradually pulling away from support of the President, contending "this shows he thinks he can wrest the GOP nomination away from GOP moderates and conservatives."

Bailey added that Rockefeller, who says he isn't interested in the nomination, "is not alone among leading Republicans trying to sneak away from reality on the Vietnam issue."

Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., still another name in the GOP presidential sweepstakes, co-sponsored a Senate resolution asking President Johnson to "move with greater determination" to enlist the support of U.S. allies in the fighting. The resolution to be introduced today, said American men shouldn't have to bear the whole burden of fighting to save the free nations of Asia from communism.

Dzu Placed Under House Arrest

SAIGON (AP)—The peace candidate runner-up in South Vietnam's presidential election was placed under house arrest today immediately following his release from six days in confinement at national police headquarters, his wife said.

Truong Dinh Dzu was ordered to bed and police directed newsmen seeking to talk to the anti-government leader to leave his home.

Dzu's wife said her husband lost 17 pounds while on a hunger strike during his confinement and speculated that he was temporarily released because of ill health.

Strike Continues
MONTREAL (AP)—Montreal's bus and subway strike went into its third week today after 5,800 transport workers turned down a mediator's wage plan to end the walkout.

Quebec Justice Francois Chevallier called for them to accept an increase of 28 cents an hour, three cents more than the Montreal Transportation Commission has said it could afford.

The union has asked for an increase of 73 cents to bring wages to an average of $3.50 an hour.

Theatre Chooses 1968 Plays

BUHL—The 1968 summer season for the Antique Festival Theatre will be all-American, Aldrich Bowler, director, announces. The three major productions will be headed by "Rip Van Winkle," dated 1829 by Boucicault, and "Francesca da Rimini," by Boker, dated 1855. It is hoped that by spring, a suitable modern work by a young university playwright can be obtained.

becoming one of the major efforts in the academic field, and the invitation is out, countryside, for submission of new scripts to the Antique Festival Theatre for production alongside the somewhat forgotten work from our past," Mr. Bowler said.

Next summer also will see an increase in the touring activities of the summer group. This past summer the company went on the road with three of its full productions to Sun Valley, McCall and Mountain Home. The response was encouraging for the promise of more such activity during the '68 season.

Mr. Bowler said that after evaluating the past summer's work, he feels sure the theatre's place in the social and community life in Idaho lies in the ability of any such maturing organization not only to maintain a producing residence, but also to be able to present the plays whenever and wherever any community may call for its productions.

"To make the Antique festival Theatre truly a functional element in Idaho recreational life will become more and more one of its basic goals as a repertory theatre," Mr. Bowler added.

Wendell Has Reception For Teachers

WENDELL — Hub City PTA was host for the reception of the teachers of Wendell schools this week at the all-purpose rooms. An original poem, composed and read by Elaine Ambrose, introduced the honored guests. Corsages and boutonnieres were presented to each of the honored guests by Mrs. A. C. Morgan. Mrs. Dale Bitterli gave the address of welcome. The American flag was advanced by members of Boy Scout Troop No. 75. Scouts Duane Johnson, Kevin Jenks and Paul Smith led the salute to the flag. Calvin Prestwich offered the prayer.

Mrs. Rulon Chandler, membership chairman, announced membership numbers 36 to date.

Action was taken to attend the State PTA convention to be held at Twin Falls Nov. 2-4 and support the measles clinic. The time and place will be announced.

Reports for the high school were given by Raymond Turner, superintendent, and for the grade school by Arlin Dennis.

Room count winners were Mrs. Vera Hanson's second grade room; and Mrs. Howard's 3rd to 6th grade room. The seventh grade room was named as the honored one and the room will receive a cash award.

The surprise gift was won by Dale Bitterli as being the father with the most children in grade school.

Auction Set By Students At Hagerman

HAGERMAN — The Hagerman High School Student Body is sponsoring a community auction at 1 p.m. Oct. 21 to raise money to equip a student multi-purpose room in the basement of the gymnasium.

Students will be contacting local residents and in surrounding areas for items that are of no use to them but could be auctioned off for this fund-raising project.

The room will be used as a student meeting room before school, during the noon hour and after school. It will also provide a place for large groups to meet for special class activities. The student body hopes that enough money can be raised to provide furniture for the room, better acoustics and better lighting.

The room will also be used during basketball season to serve concessions to the people attending the games.

Auctioneer for the sale will be John Edinborough, Gooding, who has donated his services for this sale. The project is being headed by student body president, Gail Hoskovec and advised by Jack Martin, principal.

Hailey Woman Goes To Germany

HAILEY — Mrs. Rex Braithwaite flew to Germany Wednesday to visit her mother, Mrs. Maria Morsch, at Gruenstadt, a short distance from Frankfurt.

While there she will also visit with her son, Arnold, who flew to Germany immediately after graduating from Wood River High School last June to pursue his study of languages.

Arnold Braithwaite will return home Dec. 15 and enroll at the College of Southern Idaho, Twin Falls. Mrs. Braithwaite plans to return home Oct. 18 and may be accompanied by her mother, who has visited here twice before.

Hagerman To Elect 3 Aides On Nov. 7

HAGERMAN—Hagerman Municipal election will be held Nov. 7 to elect a mayor and two councilmen for four-year terms. Board members whose terms expire this year are Ralph Miller, Wynn Condit and Lyle Potter, none of whom wish to run for re-election. Petitions are available at the city office and at the clerk's home, 408 Orchard. Filing date for these petitions closes Oct. 10.

Voters must be a resident of the city for three months and must be registered. Anyone that did not vote at the 1965 municipal election will need to re-register. Registration may be made at the city office on Mondays

Registration Is Urged For Paul Election

PAUL — Mrs. Theo Tibbitts, assistant city clerk, urges all residents to make sure they are registered for the Nov. 7 city election.

Registration may be done at the home of Mrs. Alma Stewart, 4th Street and Lincoln, between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. during any business day. Thursday, Friday and Saturday preceding election, voters may register between 9 a.m. and 9 p.m. Any elector who didn't vote in the last city biennial election in 1965 or has not registered since, must register again, according to Mrs. Tibbitts.

The city will be electing a mayor and two city councilmen. Terms are expiring for Mayor Harold Wilson and Marvin Loosli and Otto Reidlinger, both councilmen.

Petitions have been filed for re-election by Mr. Loosli and Mr. Reidlinger.

Anyone wishing to file for candidacy may get a petition at the city office between noon and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. Petitions must be signed by at least 10 qualified voters.

Voting in the Nov. 7 election will be conducted from noon to 8 p.m. at the city office.

Murtaugh To Elect Two Aides Nov. 7

MURTAUGH—The Murtaugh city election will be held Nov. 7 with the polls open from 12 noon until 3 p.m. at the Merrill Martin residence.

A mayor and one councilman, each to serve a four-year term, will be elected.

Petitions may be obtained from Merrill Martin and three registered voters must sign each petition. Closing date for filing nominating petitions is Tuesday.

To be eligible to run for office, a nominee must be a registered voter. To sign a petition, a person must be a qualified voter—a three-month resident of the city.

Voters may register through 9 p.m. Nov. 4, at the Martin residence. Holdover councilmen are Leland Barkes, O. W. Wright and Rodney Bates.

Special attention is called to the fact that any one who didn't vote in the last city election must register again to be eligible to vote in this election.

CONTRIBUTIONS UP — NEW YORK (AP) — The Salvation Army of Greater New York reports contributions to the organization this year exceeded $5 million for the first time in its history.

2 Get Honors At Gem College

MOSCOW — Two Twin Falls women have been elected to major offices in their campus living groups at the University of Idaho, it was reported Thursday.

Jeannie Nutile was named scholarship chairman of the new McCoy Hall, and Jan Sinclair is the new pledge class president of Kappa Kappa Gamma Sorority.

Paul Carnival Slated Nov. 17

PAUL—Plans are being made by the Paul PTA for the annual fund raising carnival to be held Nov. 17, announces Bob Geer, president.

Mr. Geer said that proceeds for this year's event will be for purchasing encyclopedias for the grade school. About $900 netted from last year's event provided playground equipment and concrete play area at the school.

The carnival is a community event supported by every business establishment and organization at Paul. Fred Kloepfer is general chairman this year. Two bicycles to be used as grand prizes have been donated by Kloepfer Concrete Co. and Bob Greer Repair, both Paul.

There will be no PTA meeting this month.

ADJUSTING THE VEIL for Mrs. Jim Cheney, center, is Mary Grandjean prior to the Third Ward LDS Relief Society's fashion show held at the Cultural Hall, LaDona Lammer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lammer, is watching intently as the final preparations are made. All fashions were sewn by the individuals and were modeled in an Oriental garden background, enhanced with a colorfully lighted fountain and a black silhouette of a Japanese pagoda. There were four divisions in the fashion show, pre-schoolers, wedding ensembles, daytime delight and Christmas capers. Mrs. Cheney was general chairman of the event, with the assistance of 12 committee chairmen.

All-Day Meet Held By Valley Baptist Women

Buhl — Approximately 60 women from Magic Valley attended the all-day session held recently at Rupert of the Central Association Baptist Women's Mission Society.

Highlights of the meeting included a devotional talk by Mrs. James Hughes, Twin Falls, on "What Are We Seeking?" in name of the group in the Avon, which she stressed the need for each person to discover a purpose and find a balance in life, selected as the site for the spring meeting. The offering for the day was contributed to the work at Cathedral Pines, Baptist summer camp.

Special music included vocal selections by Mrs. Jim Holt, Shoshone, and Mrs. Gene Kovar, Filer. Mrs. Floyd Austin, Buhl, was song leader and Mrs. Keneall North, Gooding, served as organist.

The program concluded with group discussions using the theme, "Let's Take a Second Look." Mrs. Alex Melton, Filer, was program chairman. The noon luncheon was served by the women of the Rupert church. The welcome was given by Mrs. Lydia Van Ryper, president of the Rupert society.

asked the members to take a "second look" at the mission of the women in the church.

A skit, "Do You Care Enough," was presented by Mrs. Calvin Graybeal, Castleford, and Mrs. Keith Stem, Jerome, introducing the American Baptist Woman's annual project. This is a voluntary program in which the church women are asked to make a contribution towards helping the women of India with family planning.

During the business session, members voted to change the name of the group to the Avon, which she stressed the need for each person to discover a purpose and find a balance in life, selected as the site for the spring meeting. The offering for

Newlyweds Are Honored At T.F. Reception

A wedding reception was held Sept 5 in honor of newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Smith at the First Methodist Church.

The bride is the former Helen Marie Stephens, daughter of Mrs. Mary C. Stephens and the late Mr. Harold Stephens, Long Beach, Calif. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene E. Smith, Twin Falls.

The church was decorated with pink gladioli and carnations. Guests were registered by Vicki Brown. The bride's table was covered with white linen and centered with a heart cake decorated in pink and white. Mrs. LeRoy Harr, Mrs. Glen Sandau and Mrs. Ronald Harr were in charge of serving.

Gifts were displayed by Gayle Sandau, Susan Sandau and Kenneth Smith.

They spent the summer working at Bald Mountain Lookout. The couple will make their home in Long Beach, where they will continue their education.

MR. AND MRS. JERRY SMITH

Guest Luncheon Hosted By Area Church Women

WENDELL — More than 50 members and guests attended the fall Guest Luncheon recently at the Methodist Church at which time the women of the church were hosts to members of other churches.

Mrs. J. H. Freeman, WSCS president, welcomed the guests and introduced Mrs. J. H. Freeman, Mrs. Madhukar Naik and daughter, Anull, Jerome, and Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Schweibert, Caldwell. The response was given by Mrs. Richard Hagerman of the United Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Faeth Eaton presented the devotional service, "Light," Mrs. Loyal Crosby, accompanied by Mrs. Lillian Barton, sang.

A film strip, "Foundation for Dialogue," was shown by Rev. E. V. Hargreaves. The discussion of the film was conducted by Mr. and Mrs. Schweibert. Rev. Mr. Hargreaves gave the opening and closing prayers.

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I've been married 13 years and have three children. My husband has asked me for a divorce, and he has gone to room at his girl friend's house. He wants to take the children there for week-ends. Do you think I should let them go? He came to get them for the day and he had this girl in the car with him. What do you think of flaunting that girl in front of me and the children? He has asked me for a "peaceful" divorce. He doesn't want me to mention her in the divorce and he's asked me to go easy on him when I ask for alimony and support money. He also expects me to help with the bills, but he still wants to claim the children as exemptions on his taxes. I've worked all the years we were married. He worked only off and on. He's unemployed right now. What advice can you give? Two heads are better than one.

NEEDS HELP

DEAR NEEDS: Two heads are better than one, provided they aren't on the same person. Don't allow your children to week-end with their father and his girl friend. Tell the boob there ain't no Santa Claus, and let your lawyer work out the best financial arrangement possible.

DEAR ABBY: I would like your opinion on mouth-to-mouth kissing. My husband and his mother kiss each other on the mouth and sometimes it is so mushy, you would think they were sweethearts, not mother and son. Not only that, but my husband kisses our children on the mouth—even our 14-year-old son!

I wouldn't think of kissing our children on the mouth, Abby. I kiss them on the cheek and then them to return my kisses the same way. I think this communicates enough affection between parent and child. Who is right, my husband or me? We have had some hot arguments over this. INQUIRING

DEAR INQUIRING: I vote for you. All mouth-to-mouth kissing is somewhat hazardous from a hygienic point of view. But a kiss between lovers, somehow justifies that risk.

DEAR ABBY: I am desperate and actually sick from worrying about something you will probably think is a trivial matter.

My son will have his ninth birthday soon, and I have decided against giving him a birthday party this year for the simple reason that I do not know how to keep the mothers away.

Last year I had more uninvited guests at my son's birthday party than invited ones. This is what I mean:

A mother "brings" her child to the birthday party, and she'll also bring along one or two of her younger children saying she couldn't leave them home. Then she just stays. (Most of these children live within a mile of us.)

Abby, this means extra ice cream and cake, plus plates, cups and napkins, which I really wouldn't mind so much, but it's impossible to put on a birthday party for children and try to entertain adults at the same time. What can I do? If I say the party is for children only, some of the mothers might get mad and refuse to let their children come. If you, or other mothers have any ideas on how to work this out, I would be very grateful. BAFFLED

DEAR BAFFLED: If you have friends who drive, perhaps as a favor to you they would collect and deliver home those children whose mothers would pose a problem.

Problems? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Wendell Art Group To Start Fall Schedule

GOODING — The Wendell Art Group will begin its fall meetings at 8 p.m. Oct. 9 in the Wendell High School Library. Marilyn LaCroix, Gooding, will instruct a series of oil painting lessons on "quickie" methods for artists who have been with the group for the past year or two. All experienced artists are welcome to attend.

The "quickie" lessons will include the toothbrush technique, color vibration, scratch and wiping-out techniques, underpaintings with tone and texture, scrubbing and wet-on-wet methods.

The series of five lessons will cost a small fee, payable in advance or at the first lesson. This is somewhat different system from past years lessons and is designed to promote steadier attendance without repetition of previous lessons to latecomers. The first session will demonstrate the "toothbrush" technique. Participating artists are asked to bring an old toothbrush, a long-blade painting knife and a canvas or primed masonite panel at least 16 by 20 inches.

Less experienced and beginning painters can receive instructions from Charlotte Duggan, Wendell, starting Oct. 10 at the Wendell High School.

Mrs. Duggan is also instructing a group of Wendell youngsters in the fundamentals of drawing and painting. Those who viewed the art exhibit at the Gooding County Fair will recall the fine results of last year's student efforts after only six weeks.

A class in Gooding for adult and teen-age beginners is being considered during the next two weeks. It will probably be held on Wednesday evenings.

Persons interested in any of the classes are invited to call Mrs. LaCroix at 934-4667 after 5:30 p.m. or on weekends. Wendell artists can contact Mrs. Duggan at 536-2383.

MR. AND MRS. GARY DEAN SWANSON (Sheldon photo)

Janelle Sevy, Swanson Marry In California

Janelle Elaine Sevy, daughter of Mrs. John L. Sevy and the late Mr. Sevy, Twin Falls, was married to Gary Dean Swanson, son of Mrs. John Cowles, Los Gatos, Calif., and Frank Swanson, Arleta, Calif., in rites Sept. 9 at Valley United Presbyterian Church, Portola Valley, Calif.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Dr. Donald Peterson before an altar banked with baskets of yellow and white floral arrangements.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Jay L. Sevy, wore an empire A-line gown, fashioned of silk organza with lace medallions trimmed with seed pearls, and iridescent highlighting the bodice, skirt and chapel train. Her elbow-length veil was held by lace and iridescent crown.

The bride carried a cascade bouquet of white roses with accents of ivy and carried a handkerchief belonging to her grandmother, Mrs. Robert Smith, Salt Lake City.

Mrs. William Forrest, a sorority sister of the bride, Roseburg, Ore., was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Katherine MacFarlane and Jane MacFarlane, cousins of the bride, Salt Lake City.

James Goss, San Jose, Calif., was best man, with Richard Terreto, Sausalito, Calif.; Douglas Barnes, Los Gatos, Calif.; and Robert Sevy, Twin Falls, as ushers.

A reception was held after the ceremony at Allied Arts Guild in Menlo Park, Calif. Yellow gladioli and white carnations were used in the decorations. The guest book was attended by Marie Sinclair.

Presiding at the refreshment table were Sandra Turchen, Charlotte Hohlfeld, Joan Babbitt and Kathy Richards.

Special guests were the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Smith, Salt Lake City.

The couple took a wedding trip to Victoria, British Columbia. They will reside in Minn. View, Calif., where the bridegroom is employed by Index Underwriters, insurance brokers. The bride is a medical technologist at Stanford Memorial Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Cowles hosted the rehearsal dinner at Los Gatos.

Lorelee Peay, Cornell Wed In Temple Rites

The Idaho Falls LDS Temple was the setting for the July marriage of Lorelee Peay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Peay, Twin Falls, and Richard L. Cornell, son of Mrs. Ruth Cornell, Oakland, Calif.

The bride's parents, Mrs. Reed Green, Casper, Wyo., and Mrs. Jerry Hughes, Riverton, Wyo., aunt and cousin of the bride, accompanied the couple to the temple.

The Carillon was the setting for the reception hosted by the bride's parents. The bride wore an A-line empire-styled gown of alaskine. The bodice and bell sleeves were covered with embroidered lace and the floor-length lace train was attached at the waistline. Her shoulder-length silk illusion veil was held by a sole rose and illusion leaves. She carried a bouquet of butterfly orchids and stephanotis.

Attending the bride were Louise Peay, sister of the bride, as honor attendant, and Claudia Brown, bridesmaid.

William F. Rawcliffe, uncle of the bride, greeted guests as they entered the hall which was decorated with white gladioli, white roses and white carnations. Mike Babel and Greg Brown accepted the gifts at the door. Fred Rawcliffe and Dave Hamilton served as ushers.

Mrs. William F. Rawcliffe, aunt of the bride, attended the guest book. Background music was played by Mrs. Nellie Osborn at the organ. Mr. and Mrs. Keith Evans and Mrs. Gilbert Peay displayed the gifts.

The bride's table, covered with a ruffled net cloth over satin, featured a four-tiered wedding cake of white with turquoise floral trim and topped with satin wedding bells. Silver candelabra with turquoise lighted candles flanked the cake and were encircled with gardenias.

The quartet tables were covered with lace over turquoise and centered with gardenias floating in crystal brandy snifters.

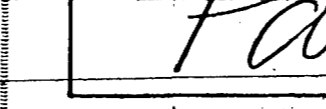

Mrs. Claude Brown Jr. and Mrs. Roy Babel cut and served the wedding cake, assisted by Mary Ann Babel, Susan Brown and Vickie Van Leeuwen.

Special guests were Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Nelson, Provo, grandparents of the bride. Guests attended from Logan, Salt Lake City and Payson, Utah, and Twin Falls.

The couple took a honeymoon trip to Montana and reside in Oakland, Calif.

Teachers Are Honored At Murtaugh

MURTAUGH - The annual teachers reception, sponsored by the PTA, was held Monday night at the high school. Earl Wright gave the opening prayer. The flag ceremony was presented by den three, Cub Scout pack 101, under the direction of Mrs. Percy Christensen, den mother.

Mrs. Ralph Breeding led the group in two fun songs with Marty Wright at the piano. Supt. Florin Hulce introduced the teachers and the school board members. As each teacher arrived at the meeting he or she was presented feather corsages or boutonnieres made by Mrs. Jesse Biggerstaff. Each teacher was also presented a paid membership to PTA for the year.

It was announced that the PTA will send questionnaires to parents concerning immunization for measles. If children from 6 to 9 who have not had measles are of sufficient numbers then the PTA will sponsor measles shots for them.

Mrs. Robert Peterson prepared the refreshment tables with bouquets of feather flowers as centerpieces. Refreshments of cake and punch furnished by first and second grade mothers was served by the room mothers.

Brock's Bat, Pitching Of Gibson Sends Cards Past Boston In Series Opener

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
BOSTON (AP) — Lou Brock, the St. Louis Cardinals' speedy bullet, stroked a record-tying four hits, stole two bases and scored both runs in a 2-1 victory over the Boston Red Sox in Wednesday's opening World Series game while Bob Gibson struck out 10 in pitching a six-hitter.

Jose Santiago, first Latin American to pitch a Series opener, walked on water for seven innings while the Cards banged out 10 hits and left eight on base. The gay senior from Puerto Rico did his best to win it alone with a 360-foot home run into the screen atop the Green Monster left field wall at Fenway Park in the third inning.

Brock's fourth single, opening the seventh, finally started the National League champs on the way to the tie-breaking run. The lithe outfielder, who led the league with 52 stolen bases, just barely beat Russ Gibson's throw into second for a stolen base on Jose's first pitch to Curt Flood.

When Flood grounded out to first baseman George Scott, Brock sped to third. Roger Maris, the ex-New York Yankee who had driven in the first run with an infield out, did it again when he rapped sharply at second baseman Jerry Adair. Adair came up with the ball, looked futilely at Brock, nearing home plate and threw out Maris.

It was the same combination that produced the first Cardinal run in the third when Brock lined up his second single to center, romped to third on Flood's double to the left field corner and scored when Maris bounced out to first baseman Scott.

Gibson, out of action with a broken right leg from July 15 to Sept. 6, came through with another gilt-edged performance as he had done in earning the star role in the 1964 against the Yankees.

The ex-Harlem Globetrotter basketball player held Carl Yastrzemski, the man who has carried the Red Sox on his back, without a hit in four trips and struck out two men in each of the first, second, third and fifth innings. Rico Petrocelli was his strikeout victim three straight times.

Although Yastrzemski went hitless, the Red Sox's candidate for the most valuable player honors did himself proud in left field with his fine defensive plays.

Yaz threw out Julian Javier, trying to score from second on Brock's single in the fourth with a perfect peg to Russ Gibson. In the fifth inning he made a leaping one-handed stab of Flood's hard smash for a spectacular out of what would have been a sure double and a possible triple.

The first Series game played at Fenway Park since 1946 provided plenty of thrills for the standing room crowd of 34,796 as Santiago made more escapes than a Houdini handcuffed in a trunk at the bottom of the bay.

Santiago had men on first and second with one out in the first, getting out of it on Orlando Cepeda's double play. St. Louis had the bases loaded in the second with one out when Bob Gibson slapped into a double play. There were men on second and third with nobody out in the third but Jose got out of it with only one run.

In fact, the Cards had a hit in every inning during Santiago's seven-inning stay but were blanked by relief man Ole Johansson, another Kansas City reliever, in the eighth and ninth. Two walks and a balk put Wyatt in a jam in the ninth before Flood and Maris filled out.

Dick Williams, Boston's rookie manager, pulled out all the stops in the eighth, trying to salvage the opener. He had used Norm Siebern as a pinch hitter for Russ Gibson in the seventh but he was still at the plate when Reggie Smith was out stealing.

Williams sent Siebern to right field in place of Ken Harrelson and brought in Elston Howard to catch. That made Siebern, Howard and Jerry Adair the first three hitters in the eighth. Siebern singled, was sacrificed to second but died there when Adair and Jones went down.

The victory in bright 80-degree sunshine tilted the odds even more sharply in favor of the Cards, who clinched their pennant in a romp while the Red Sox had to go down to the wire Sunday.

For Thursday's second game at Fenway, it will be another battle of right-handers. Jim Lonborg, the 24-year-old star of Sunday's clinching win over Minnesota and a 22-9 winner in regular season, will try to get the Sox even. He will be opposed by bespectacled Dick Hughes, a 16-6 performer who finally made the big leagues this year at 29 after nine years in the Cardinal farm system.

After Thursday's game, the teams will take a day off for travel Friday. They will resume with the third game in St. Louis Saturday and a fourth game Sunday. A fifth game, if necessary, also will be played in St. Louis Monday. Boston would get the sixth and seventh next week if it gets that far.

Manager Williams was not too upset by the defeat, praising Bob Gibson for pitching "one helluva game." He said Howard would catch the second game.

"We went by the book on Cepeda and it worked," said Williams. "We went by the book on Brock, too. That didn't work very good."

Red Schoendienst, Card manager, said Gibson was getting a little tired but he never thought of taking him out.

Schoendienst planned no changes Thursday. He plans to give Gibson four days rest before his next start while Hughes, Nelson Briles and Steve Carlton take their turns.

Gibson Says Every Pitch Was Working

By BEN BROWN
Associated Press Sports Writer
BOSTON (AP) — "I had a good fastball and was mixing my pitches good," Bob Gibson said Wednesday after pitching St. Louis to victory in the first game of the 1967 World Series.

Manager Red Schoendienst agreed that Gibson was at his best form. "Gibson looked as good today as he did two weeks ago when we clinched the National League pennant in Philadelphia," Schoendienst said after his team's 2-1 win over Boston.

Gibson, who gave up six hits and struck out 10, said he tired toward the end of the game.

"But I was strong enough to finish." When asked how much rest he needed before pitching again, the big right-hander said, "I need just as much rest as the manager gives me."

And Schoendienst wasn't saying how much rest he planned for Gibson, who bounced back from a broken right leg in mid-season. "I'll pitch Dick Hughes tomorrow and then probably Nelson Briles in the first game at St. Louis," the Redbird skipper explained. He said his pitching plans were not finalized beyond the third game.

Schoendienst, relaxing after his first World Series victory as a manager, said, "they all played good games, and did you see that catch Mike Shannon made at third?"

He referred to a stop Shannon made of a hard grounder down the line by Boston's Jerry Adair. Shannon grabbed off balance from behind third and got Adair by a step.

Gibson said he made a bad pitch on the ball Boston's starting pitcher, Jose Santiago, slammed over the high left field wall.

"I hung a curve ball on Santiago," Gibson said. "It was a bad pitch—I've made 'em before and I'll make them again."

Tim McCarver, the Cardinal catcher, said Gibson's curve ball "was jumping more than usual. He pitched a great game and threw a lot of good fast balls."

"I think Gibson has been better since he broke his leg (in mid-July)," McCarver commented. "We try to make every pitch count, and he did it out there today."

Namath Voted AFL's Award For Week

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
New York's Jet set, the darling of the NFL, was named the most exciting secondary slightly daffy when things are going his way.

Namath had Miami's defenders talking to themselves last Sunday when he completed 23 of 29 passes for 315 yards and led the Jets to a 29-7 victory over the Dolphins.

His dazzling show made Namath The Associated Press' choice as the American Football League's Offensive Player of the Week.

And if you don't believe he deserved the honor, just ask veteran cornerbacks Jim Warren and Dick Westmoreland, who were run ragged trying to defend against Namath's aerial bombardment.

On the 25-year-old Namath, who had played for Don Maynard, Namath had Warren completely flustered. "Three times he pumped his arm," said Warren. "I'm standing back there trying to cover and I can see those pumps. I'm saying 'throw it, throw it,' and when it finally comes, it's right in the guy's arms."

Westmoreland, who spent most of his day chasing George Sauer, marveled at Namath's consistency. "It was just pop, pop, pop, right down the field. And there's that man standing back there putting the ball in everyone's hands."

Namath was intercepted only once, late in the fourth quarter. By then, he had gained 208 yards in the air, wiping out the record of 375 yards without an interception set by New York's Al Dorow in 1960.

Nine Horses Entered In Trot Futurity

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Starting fees for nine 3-year-olds, three of them fillies, were paid Wednesday, giving them a shot at Friday's $58,642 Kentucky Futurity, third jewel in trotting's Triple Crown.

Early favorites in the race, where the first winner of two one-mile heats is the victor were Clearview Stable's Pay Dirt, newly returned to training after an injury, and George Alexander's filly, Speed Model.

Others in the field include Max Fischer's Rocket Speed, Arden Homestead Stable's Pomp, the Armstrong Brothers' Canadian-owned Halifax Hanover, Cason Farm's Miss Marker, Donner Packing Co.'s Starglow Hanover, M. J. Webster's Ambro Harold and Simpson & Mudge's Mr. Prexy.

The fillies are Speed Model, Miss Marker and Starglow Hanover.

Pomp won the $150,000 Yorkers Futurity, the first gem in the crown, early in the season when he survived a 12-hour pileup in the first turn. But his racing since then has been disappointing.

Hambeltonian winner Speedy Streak is on the grounds but was forced to pass the Futurity because of soreness, eliminating his chances at two of the three shares of the crown.

All nine trotters are eligible for the first two or three heats. If none has won two of the first three, the winners return for a raceoff.

Williams Manages Grin Despite Loss And Expects Better Days

By DAVE O'HARA
BOSTON (AP) — Dick Williams, the rookie manager of the Boston Red Sox, managed a grin and looked ahead Wednesday after dropping the World Series opener 2-1 to the St. Louis Cardinals.

"We don't feel bad," Williams said. "We're just glad to have the chance to play them again tomorrow. This is only the first one."

Most of Boston's American League champions trooped silently into the clubhouse. The bleak atmosphere was broken by a shout from the end of the room: "Chins up everybody. We'll get 'em tomorrow."

"I thought it would be a high-scoring series," Williams said in his crowded office. "I was wrong today, but I still think it will turn out to be. Of course, it might have been a high-scoring game today if it hadn't been for the double plays we pulled off in the first two innings."

Williams, like his players, gave all the credit in the world to right-hander Bob Gibson, who pitched a six-hitter, and speedy Lou Brock, who tied a World Series record with four straight singles, stole two bases and scored both St. Louis runs.

"Gibson pitched one helluva ball game," the Boston field boss said.

"As for Brock, I guess we had the wrong book on him," he added. "The book worked on (Orlando) Cepeda and we got him four straight times. But nothing worked against Brock."

"Brock's speed paid off. We thought we might have had him on his stolen base in the seventh. Rico Petrocelli beamed a little, but I couldn't really tell from my position. It was awful close."

After stealing second, Brock moved to third on an infield grounder and scored as second baseman Jerry Adair had to drive to his left to grab Roger Maris' grounder.

"Jerry didn't have any play at the plate," Williams said. "If the ball had been hit straight at him, it would have been different. But give Brock credit. He's a great runner."

Williams recalled that he batted "quite a bit" against Gibson during a barnstorming trip a few years ago. Asked how he fared, Williams cracked: "We survived."

Carl Yastrzemski, Boston's triple Crown winner, enjoyed a tremendous day at bat, throwing out a runner at the plate, and making a spectacular leaping catch of a line drive by Curt Flood.

However, Yaz was hitless in four appearances against Gibson—and spent time in the batting cage after the game.

Williams summed things up: "It's only the first one. They got a lot of base hits. We were lucky the score was only 2-1."

Jose Santiago pitched the way he wanted; He just couldn't control the ball. He was high all day."

No Rest In Sight; ISU To Meet Tulsa

POCATELLO—If ever a football team had its hands full that team is Idaho State. All the Bengals have to do is play their toughest football opponent ever, Tulsa, and on the Hurricanes' home field, where they haven't lost since 1963.

Coach Leo McKillip doesn't know where to start in his preparations for the Hurricanes who started off Top-10 ranked Arkansas 14-12. The win was slightly surprising, but the manner in which it was accomplished was even more surprising. The Hurricanes, national passing champs for five straight years, ground it out running, passing only 23 times. Mike Stripling, a running quarterback, very rare at Tulsa, rambled for 8 and 2-yard rolloff scores. The brunt of the running was carried by Gary McDermott (19 for 77 yards) and Cee Ellison (14 for 84 yards). Ellison ogly played because Tulsa's starting fullback broke a leg in the early going. Glenn Dobbs, son of Tulsa mentor Bobby Dobbs, was the first-string signal caller and completed 9 of 15 for 74 yards. Stripling completed 4 of 8 for 50 yards. Coach Dobbs called him "the finest broken field runner I've seen with no speed."

On defense the Hurricanes boast 287-pound tackle Willie Crittendon and middle guard 200-pounder Bob Junko, who just might be the national lineman of the week after making 22 tackles, deflecting 2 passes, and intercepting an Arkansas aerial with 57 seconds left to ice the game.

The Bengals go against the 'Canes relatively healthy. Ed 'Flea' Bell has a hip pointer suffered under 700 pounds of Idaho tacklers and may miss two or more games. Otherwise the lineup may remain the same as the one that lost 16-6 to Idaho. There were a few bright spots in the setback. Tackle Alex Laigo, who has played every minute of Bengal offense and also a lot of defense, and corner back Leroy Harris, who's played every minute of defense and over half of the offense, both were impressive.

Twin Falls Hosts Nampa Friday In SIC Opener Here

The Nampa Bulldogs, just two weeks ago figured to be a doormat, have roared into scoring life and will test the Twin Falls Bruins Friday night in the opening Southern Idaho Conference battle for Bruin Stadium.

Nampa was shut out the first two games this week by relatively weak teams—came back with a two-point loss to undefeated Moscow and last week smothered Highland of Pocatello 44-12—probably the most points a Nampa team has scored in five years.

QUARTERBACK Von Wells, three-year veteran, will lead the Twin Falls Bruins against the Nampa Bulldogs at Bruin Stadium Friday night in the Southern Idaho Conference home opener. Wells leads the league in yards passing and ranks fourth in total offense.

"The Highland coach (Jim Koetter) said they were very impressive," Twin Falls Coach Merl Eden said, "and our scouts were impressed. Their quarterback (Dave Ober) looked like the best in the state against Highland and the whole team was firing out and hitting well."

"We don't know how to rate that. We (the coaching staff) figured Highland to be quite strong again this year. Now we don't know if Highland had a bad night, Nampa a good one or just what."

"So our boys will have to be ready to play a good, smart game because the big problem may make the Nampa boys think they're good whether they are or not. That will give them confidence and they will play better because of it."

"After the success Caldwell had in sweeping outside against us last week we are working on the assumption that Nampa will attack us there, too," Coach Eden continued. "We hope that some adjustments and changes we've made this week will correct that, however, and I feel they will."

The list of Bruins on knee has increased again last week with tackle Logan Hazon straining his left knee and senior center-tackle Dave Van Engelen probably out for the year with another. Van Engelen was injured in a freak play, hit by a teammate while both were tackling a Caldwell ball carrier.

"Losing Van Engelen really hurts," Coach Eden said. "It drops us to one center offensively and Dave was playing well and improving on defense."

One change made by Coach Eden will install senior John Geisler at split end to free Scott Cryder for defensive duties. Helping also is the return of speedy Mike Florence, lost since pre-season drills with a strained knee.

"We also have to get some passing in our attack. Last week Wells (quarterback Von) was hitting better than ever before but he completed only one of

109 Mountain Lakes Planted With Fish

SALMON — The Idaho Fish and Game Department planted 46 lakes in the White Cloud Mountains and 63 lakes in the Sawtooth Mountains with 98,000 cutthroat in about 13.5 hours of flying time.

A helicopter was used. The fish averaged 320 per pound and some 400 fish were carried in each plastic bag aboard the helicopter.

Don Corley, regional fishery biologist for the department at Salmon, said the fish were dropped out of the bags as the helicopter hovered over the surface of the lakes.

The fish had been hauled from the Mackay hatchery the day prior to planting and were held at Redfish Lake Creek to be placed aboard the helicopter.

Some of the lakes received 22 bags of fish such as Imogene Lake in the Sawtooths. It received 8,800 fish. Most of the lakes planted received from 500 to 2,000 fish, according to the size of the lake.

Barry Leads League In Two Categories

Dave Mason, Idaho Falls, moved in front in total offense and converted end Ron Barry of Burley took over the kickoff return lead in the major changes in the statistical report made by Eastern Idaho Conference coaches today.

Mason moved ahead of teammate Dan Dixon with 545 yards for rushing and passing while Dixon held on to the rushing lead with 466, almost 100 ahead

Keyes Came To Purdue By Accident

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — Purdue's Leroy Keyes may be the best all-around football back in the country but he's with the unbeaten Boilermakers almost by accident.

Bernie Miller, Purdue assistant coach, a native of Portsmouth, Va., heard about Keyes' prowess at George Washington Carver High School in Newport News, Va.

Miller arrived at Purdue in 1965 from Iowa State, late in the recruiting season and Coach Jack Mollenkopf told him, "just get one outstanding player out of Virginia or the Carolinas."

Miller looked at a movie of a Carver game and after just two minutes he shouted, "Keyes is it."

BYU Basking In Efforts Of 3 Passers

PROVO, Utah (AP) — Football fans in this Rocky Mountain community were a downcast lot last year when Brigham Young quarterback Virgil Carter graduated, leaving behind an almost unbelievable legacy of passing records.

But BYU head coach Tom Hudspeth, himself a former college quarterback, came up with three novices to replace Carter and this week his club leads the nation in passing offense.

The cougars have struck for 593 yards in the air in two games and averaged 296.5 yards yards in the air in two games and averaged 296.5 yards passing per contest. BYU's three quarterbacks, have completed 39-72 for a .542 percentage.

Carter, a home-grown phenomenon, led Brigham Young to 24 wins in his three years and he started every game. He passed for more than 4,000 yards in his career and set an NCAA single-game record last year with 599 yards via the pass.

The best of the BYU lot has been sophomore Marc Lyons, a 6-2 strongman from neighboring Colorado. Lyons has completed 19 of 31 throws for a .612 percentage and has averaged 11.8 yards per toss.

The other two passers, junior college transfer John Erdhaus and sophomore Terry Sanford, have combined for 226 yards in the air. On the receiving end of most of the passes is ex-Marine Phil Odle, a senior, who has caught 19 for 309 yards and three touchdowns.

Still, Hudspeth isn't saying who will start at quarterback in a conference game against Wyoming in Laramie Saturday.

Wyoming's Paul Toscano, a converted safety man, leads the nation this week in total offense, with 683 yards. The figure includes 625 gained in the air through three games.

"We still don't know who will start," Hudspeth said. "One thing for sure, we'll have all of them out there."

Hanratty Challenges U.S. Leader

NEW YORK (AP) — Terry Hanratty's 420 total offense yards against Purdue has moved the Notre Dame quarterback from 28th to second place in this department, only nine yards behind the leader, Paul Toscano of Wyoming.

Toscano has gained 683 yards in three college football games. Hanratty has 674 rushing-passing yards in two games. His 75 total offense plays in Saturday's 28-21 setback by Purdue was a record for a major collegian.

Terry Stone of New Mexico is in third place with 618 yards gained followed by Roy Winters of West Texas State with 586, statistics compiled by National Collegiate Sports Service disclosed today.

Stone is the leader in passing with 52 completions in 114 attempts for 709 yards. Eugene Morris of West Texas State is No. 1 in rushing with 456 yards.

The pass receiving pace-setter is Jim Cavanaugh of William & Mary with 23 receptions. Ken Hebert of Houston heads all scorers with 42 points on four touchdowns, one field goal and 15 conversions.

Gooding, fresh off a 34-7 decision over Buhl, hopes to keep things going when it plays Shoshone. The Senators are big favorites over the much smaller Indians, carrying a 1-3 record.

Kimberly, 2-1-1, will put its brother act of three Ericksons plus some passing, against Valley. Viking Coach Brulotte reports "if they don't whip us this year they might not for the next 20." He followed up by reporting his tight end and starting fullback Taylor will not see action due to injuries. Two other starters are on the doubtful list.

Bonneville brings a record for unpredictability into Jerome. The Bees have shown good strength against good teams but have been stopped by others not considered as strong.

Jerome is fighting to get something going, the young Tiggers having lost three of four outings.

Battling to stay within hailing distance of Wood River, the Filer Wildcats will invade Wendell. The Wildcats carrying a 3-1 record against 1-1 for Wendell.

Wood River is favored to make it 16 straight against Glens Ferry as the Pilots have been unsuccessful in five tries so far.

Although Hansen has only a 1-4 record, Declo can't afford to take Coach Hogan's Huskies lightly. Hansen is playing hard need football for the first time in a while. But it has a deficiency in pass defense and that is where Declo likes to play—Kay Shrenk and Chuck Gummerson throwing and Gary Malory or Bruce Darrington catching.

Winless Grand View comes to Richfield, where the Tiggers have had two weeks to think about a loss. Carey, 1-4, will be at Bliss (0-2). Hagerman, untouched in five games, plays host to Dietrich, which evened up its record at 2-2 last week. The Pirates have to win to protect their game lead over Richfield and Camas County.

Cougars Prepare For Wyoming Tilt

PROVO (AP) — Brigham Young football coach Tom Hudspeth said Wednesday he might "change the alphabet some" but that all of his three quarterbacks would play against Wyoming Saturday in Laramie.

Hudspeth referred to his system in BYU's two games thus far of selecting his starting quarterback alphabetically. That meant John Erdhaus would start, followed by Marc Lyons and Terry Sanford.

This week, his number two passer — Lyons — leads the Western Athletic conference in passing percentage and BYU holds the national lead in passing offense.

BYU abandoned heavy contact work Wednesday for the Wyoming game and Hudspeth said he was pleased with the results. He said the team would probably not hold a major scrimmage for the rest of the season.

Oregon Plans For Ohio State

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — The University of Oregon football team worked out under a steady rain Wednesday in preparation for Saturday's big inter-sectional contest against Ohio State.

Coach Jerry Frel' noted that running back Alan Pitcaithley looked good, despite the muddy field.

The Ducks will hold light drills Thursday and Friday.

109 Mountain Lakes Planted With Fish

SALMON — The Idaho Fish and Game Department planted 46 lakes in the White Cloud Mountains and 63 lakes in the Sawtooth Mountains with 98,000 cutthroat in about 13.5 hours of flying time.

A helicopter was used. The fish averaged 320 per pound and some 400 fish were carried in each plastic bag aboard the helicopter.

Don Corley, regional fishery biologist for the department at Salmon, said the fish were dropped out of the bags as the helicopter hovered over the surface of the lakes.

The fish had been hauled from the Mackay hatchery the day prior to planting and were held at Redfish Lake Creek to be placed aboard the helicopter.

Low Is Out, But Chargers Hardly Notice

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The San Diego Chargers are blessed with the American Football League's all-time leading rusher, half-back Paul Lowe.

But Lowe has been sidelined with an injury, forcing Coach Sid Gillman to use a rookie replacement who had worked mostly as a flanker since joining the Chargers last July.

He's Dickie Post, a No. 4 draft choice from University of Houston who has dazzled defenses with his darting quickness and helped the Chargers win their first three games.

The 5-foot-10, 195-pounder reeled off 121 yards in 20 tries last Sunday against the Bills in Buffalo. Lowe, suffering a pulled leg muscle, stayed in San Diego and watched the game on television.

"Post is really something," Gillman said. "He's our fastest man and one of the quickest. Our coaches always wanted to move him to the backfield but I was against it."

Gillman was afraid Post would be broken in half by big defensive tackles.

"I hate to take a little guy and send him through the big fellows. I like to keep guys like (Keith) Alworth and Post on the outside where we can throw them the ball. They've got a better chance to score out there."

But Gillman ran out of backs in the Houston game when Lowe and veteran fullback Gene Foster were sidelined with injuries.

Enter Post, who promptly endeared fans with his speed and power as he gained more than 80 yards, in addition to some flashy kickoff returns.

Bliss (0-2). Hagerman, untouched in five games, plays host to Dietrich, which evened up its record at 2-2 last week. The Pirates have to win to protect their game lead over Richfield and Camas County.

Migratory Waterfowl Hunt Opens Saturday

Magic Valley's waterfowl season opens at dawn Saturday morning with a chance for hunters to have perhaps a little better than average success.

Although the migration hasn't hit the area — and probably won't for a while — the local duck population appears in good shape, offering some good early shooting.

Elwood Bizeau, game bird supervisor for the Idaho Fish and Game Department, said Idaho's production was about average despite a late nesting season.

Good hunting in the American Falls area may be down until the migration hits as department surveys showed production was off about 25 per cent. Southwestern Idaho's production was better than average.

Area hunting is expected to be best at the usual places. Wilson Lake generally is a good producing area and the public hunting grounds on the Minidoka

Vandals Are In Top Condition

MOSCOW, Idaho (AP) — After a dummy scrimmage here Wednesday, football coach Steve Musseau said his University of Idaho Vandals are in top physical condition for Saturday's game with the Montana State Bobcats.

In Wednesday's work-out, Musseau drilled his squad hard on the running attack and on various blocking assignments. Defensive backfield coach Billy Hughes also spent much time preparing players for the expected Montana State pass attack.

The Bobcats will arrive in Lewiston Friday and move by bus Saturday to Moscow for the game.

GIANT HOSES began blowing gunnite material on the dome of the 5-million-gallon city water reservoir on Falls Avenue East this week after approval was given by engineers and building experts to go ahead with the dome work. City Manager Herb Derrick said work on the reservoir is progressing well and the structure should be finished in plenty of time to tie in with other portions of the city's second phase water improvement project.

Gunnite Dome Is Being Sprayed On New City Water Reservoir

Crucial dome work on the 5-million-gallon Twin Falls Water Reservoir on Falls Avenue East this week as gunnite spray equipment began covering the wood and mesh form of the giant structure.

Because of two accidents on the project as dome work was under way, revised plans were put into effect to complete the entire wall section of the reservoir before starting the dome.

Consulting engineers and material inspectors made final inspections of the building during the past week. City Manager Herb Derrick reported. Their approval was given to start the gunnite this week. Previously concrete pouring was used to cover the dome, but it was felt gunniting, which builds up gradually and can be made into a thinner surface, would be safer.

Because of setbacks by the accidents, Crom Prestressing Inc., contractor for the project, is about 48 per cent complete on the reservoir. According to original schedule it should be at the 68 per cent mark.

The 160-foot diameter structure is now progressing well, Mr. Derrick announced.

Other contractors in the second phase of the city water improvement program include

Kloepfer Construction Co., Logan, Utah, well within the work schedule, with about 84 per cent of the contract completed. Schedules call for a 78 per cent completion at this time, Mr. Derrick said.

At this time, the contractor has completed the water line installation in the Snake River Canyon and is at the base of the southside canyon wall. Some access road work will be necessary, Mr. Derrick said, before the line continues up the canyon wall and to the reservoir and booster pump station on Falls Avenue.

Newell J. Olsen and Sons, Logan, still are behind schedule on the two pumping stations, with about 19 per cent of the work completed. Material which has been holding up the work is now arriving and some has been unloaded at the pump station sites, Mr. Derrick said.

Demos Favor Convention Late In 1968

By JACK BELL
AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic leaders reportedly favor a post-Labor Day nominating convention in 1968 to shorten the campaign in which President Johnson is expected to seek reelection.

The party's site committee, meeting here this weekend, is expected to pick a convention city from among Miami Beach, Fla., Chicago and Houston, Tex. The national committee will decide finally on the site and dates.

Johnson, once reported to favor Houston, is depicted as wishing to avoid stirring anew the slightly cooling embers of the party fight that developed between Gov. John Connally and Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., during the President's recent tour of Texas flood areas.

Many influential party leaders argue the Democrats ought to emphasize their interest in the politically doubtful Midwest by staging their show in Chicago. The availability of a convenient hall there is plaguing them.

If the Democrats go to Miami Beach, they are not expected to agree to back-to-back conventions. The Republicans open there Aug. 5.

Such an arrangement would save some convention costs and would be convenient for the news media, but political considerations may outweigh this.

Rockefeller, Reagan Ticket Leads Poll

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — The latest Gallup Poll reports that a Rockefeller-Reagan Republican ticket polled 55 per cent of the vote to 41 per cent for President Johnson and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

Polltaker George Gallup also reported Wednesday that the ticket of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York for president and Gov. Ronald Reagan of California for vice president did better among persons who identified themselves as Democrats than any other GOP ticket of recent decades.

The poll was taken between Sept. 15 and 19. The question asked was which ticket was preferred. It was Rockefeller-Reagan versus Johnson-Humphrey.

Four per cent of those who responded were undecided. By splitting them between the tickets, Gallup arrived at the result of 57 per cent for the Republicans and 43 per cent for the Democrats.

Gallup said that a similar question pitting Gov. George Romney of Michigan and Reagan against Johnson-Humphrey resulted in 51 per cent for the Republicans and 49 per cent for the Democrats, after splitting a 4 per cent undecided vote.

Rockefeller said in Ithaca, N.Y., that he was "very appreciative of the support" indicated by the poll, but he declared once again: "I am not a candidate and will not be a candidate."

In Sacramento, Calif., Reagan's press secretary, Paul Beck, said: "His position is not influenced by what a Gallup Poll says. He is not a candidate for president or vice president."

Mrs. Virginia Parks, Shoshone, driving a 1955 Chevrolet, was unable to avoid hitting a 1960 Cadillac stopped at the rear of the line which was owned by Thomas A. Clare, Idaho Falls.

Sheriff Thomas Conner said investigation is continuing and a citation will likely be issued to the driver of the stopped truck.

First Round Of Volleyball Is Scheduled
Thursday will mark the first round in the YMCA volleyball league.

The first round will be a practice round and additional teams can enter before the end of October.

Teams entered include Rotary I, Rotary Toos, Kiwanis, Exchange Club, The Counselors and the Pipers.

All games are played Thursdays at the Presbyterian Church gymnasium. If other teams enter, game dates may be extended to Tuesdays.

The Rotary I team meets the Exchange Club at 8 p.m.; the Counselors meet the Pipers at 8:45 p.m., and the Kiwanis meets the Rotary Toos at 9:30 p.m.

Those interested in entering or playing on a team should contact Chet Bartlett at the YMCA.

FHA Money For Utilities Is Allocated

How much money is available for loans and grants to Idaho cities from the Federal Home Administration for construction of water or sewer facilities?

Answer: None.

For this fiscal year, which ends June 30, 1968, a total of $646,100 in loans and $296,260 in grants have been allocated to Idaho cities. There are presently 10 applications from various cities pending with the FHA, Boise officials said. These applications total $2,050,270 in loans and $807,800 in grants.

The priority for this money will be determined by the Idaho Department of Health, George M. Klein, state director of the FHA, said.

Since 1965, FHA has funded Declo, Elk City, McCall, Weston, Inkom, Donnelly, Homedale, Notus, Driggs, Weippe, Fairfield, Fernwood, Greenleaf and Stites.

For this fiscal year, Driggs, Stites, Inkom and Weston were funded.

Mr. Klein said the chances of getting another allotment of funds for Idaho this fiscal year are slim. There are only about 100 eligible cities in Idaho (population has to be 5,000 or less) and other states have 500 or more eligible cities. Mr. Klein said Idaho has already received about three times the proportionate national allotment of funds for this fiscal year.

He said the demand for adequate utilities in cities of Idaho is great and it is "almost impossible to meet the unmet needs of decades in the space of a few years."

Negro Hopes To Be Mayor Of Memphis

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — State Rep. A. W. Willis, seeking to become the first Negro mayor of this old South city, pegged his hopes on a quick victory today that would preclude a runoff.

Willis, first Negro elected to the Tennessee legislature since the Populist period early in the century, faced six white candidates in today's voting and has been given a mathematical chance of receiving a majority of the votes cast.

But unless he does, the odds are slim that he will become the first popularly elected mayor of a major Southern city.

If no candidate receives a majority of the votes today, the top two will meet in a runoff Nov. 2, and there the mathematics would run strongly against the 42-year-old Willis.

Final figures from the board of elections showed 155,270 registered white voters and 80,033 Negroes registered to vote.

STOCKHOLM (AP) — A 28-year-old East German has defected to Sweden hidden in a wooden box bound for the Czechoslovakian pavilion at the Stockholm technical fair, sources reported Thursday.

The sources said the man was visiting Czechoslovakia when he saw an empty box destined for Sweden and jumped in. He had nothing to drink and only a couple of sandwiches to eat during the two days it took a truck carrying the box to reach Sweden.

The man has asked for political asylum in West Germany.

Israel Canal May Drain Suez Cash Register

By RAY CROMLEY
WASHINGTON (NEA) — Egypt's Gamal Abdel Nasser may have had economic as well as politico-military aims in mind in his closing of the Strait of Tiran and the Gulf of Aqaba to Israel shipping — prelude to the Israel-Arab war. Israel is understood to have under active study the practicability of a 180-mile-long canal through the Negev and out through the Israel port of Elath. Ships using this projected canal would go south to the Red Sea through the Strait of Tiran and the Gulf of Aqaba.

This canal would be a major rival to the Suez Canal. As envisioned, it would be built deep enough and wide enough to take two-way passage of the large supertankers now being built for major American oil concerns and the even larger tankers now on the drawing boards. The Suez Canal cannot handle these big tankers.

Yet tankers provide more than three-fourths of the revenue of the Suez Canal. Loss of this income would be difficult for the Suez to overcome, despite the projected major increases in other shipping in the decade ahead.

Rebuilding the Suez Canal to take these supertankers and their successors would require from $1.5 billion to $2 billion dollars. Egypt, of course does not have this kind of money. International money is tight currently and Egypt's credit is not good despite the currently high profits being reaped by the Suez Canal.

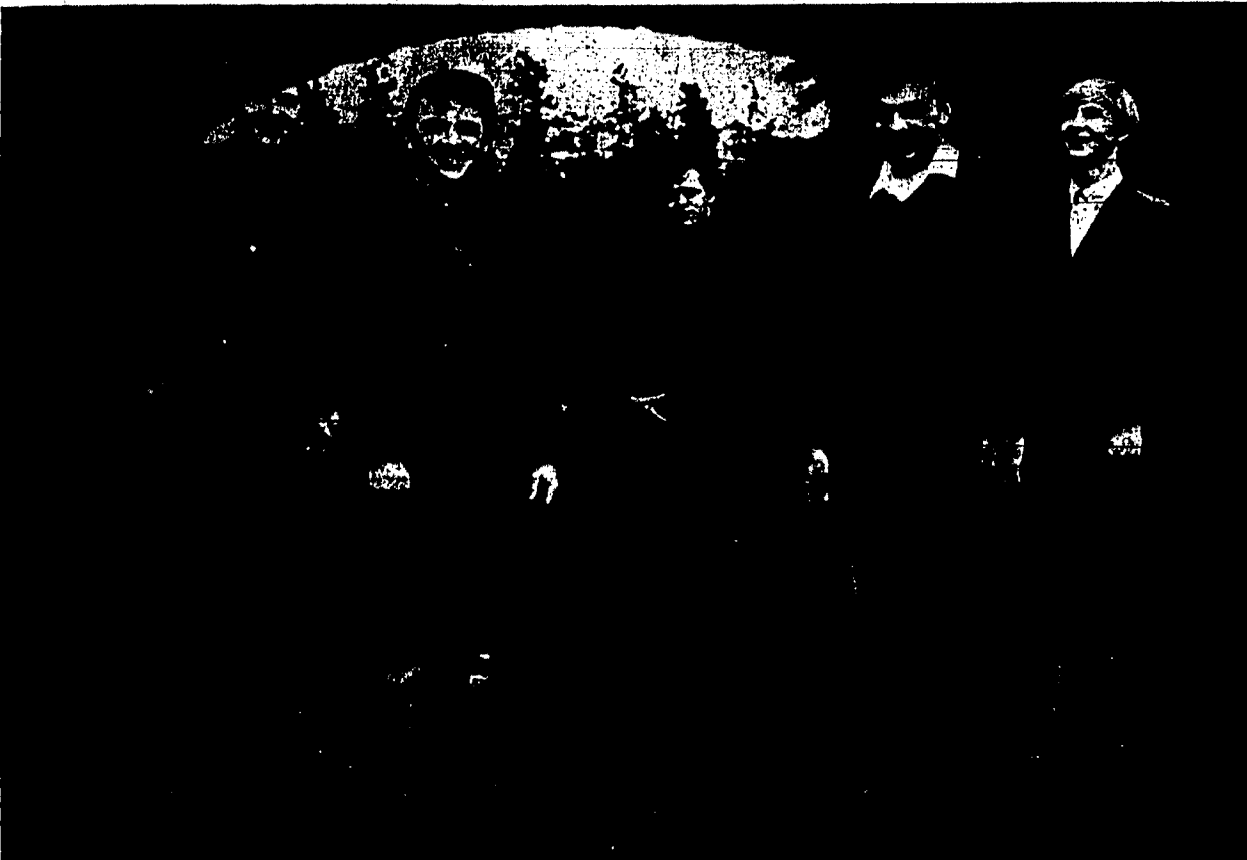

If, as a result of this war and whatever agreement follows, Nasser were able to establish his right to blockade the Strait of Tiran, he undoubtedly would knock the concept of an Israel-Negev canal into a cocked hat. The Negev canal would likely be dead even if Nasser should establish his "right" and then immediately agree to abandon that blockade for the time being.

Not many would want to invest in a canal that could be closed whenever Nasser or his successors decided to take action at the Strait of Tiran.

Some leading Israel engineers now believe the projected Negev canal would be economically feasible, though it requires 25 miles of tunneling through the Negev mountains and a total of 180 miles of canal building, 460 feet wide and deep enough to handle tankers with draft of 100 feet or more. These engineers think the canal could be built in seven years. Some Israeli economists have calculated that the canal could be paid for itself within 30 years. It should be noted the huge Cape of Good Hope than to operate boats around Africa's Cape of Good Hope than to build a Negev canal. Tanker economists figure it is cheaper to send these large economical boats around Africa's Cape of Good Hope than to build a Negev canal. Tanker economists figure it is cheaper to send these large economical boats around Africa's Cape of Good Hope than to build a Negev canal.

THE ROTATIONS WILL play for a dance at 9 p.m. Saturday in the Tom Parks pavilion at the Twin Falls County Fairgrounds at Filer, sponsored by the Kimberly High School band. Proceeds will be used to buy uniforms for the band. The five young stars sing and collectively play 20 instruments. Members of a committee formed to help obtain funds for band uniforms include Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. Holland Houfburg and Mr. and Mrs. Don Whitehead.

MOMS Given Instruction On Bond Vote

DECLIO MOMS on the March received their last-minute instructions and information in the Declo area at a meeting Monday at the Declo Grade School with Mrs. Don Beckham and Mrs. Rex Hamblin in charge.

There are approximately 300 mothers who will contact property owners in School District 151, which is all of Cassia County. This does not include the workers in the Malta, Albion and Oakley areas.

Visits will be made this week to encourage property owners to vote YES on the school bond election that will be held from noon until 8 p.m. Tuesday.

Polling locations are Burley Senior High, Burley Junior High, Almo Elementary, Albion Elementary, Southwest Elementary, Bean Growers Warehouse at Milner, Raft River High School, Declo High School and Oakley High School.

One must be a real property owner in the Cassia County School District, a citizen, 21 years old, resident of Idaho for six months, and a resident of Cassia County for 30 days.

Absentee ballots may be obtained from the clerk of the board not more than five days before the day of election. "Every vote makes a difference," Mrs. Beckham and Mrs. Hamblin stressed at the meeting, as they reminded all the workers that in order for the bond issue to pass there must be a two-thirds majority.

If necessary, voters may receive rides to the polls and baby sitters will be available by contacting the MOMS representative who contacted you personally.

Earth Tremor Is Recorded In Utah Without Damage

RICHFIELD, Utah (AP)—An earthquake shook residents of south central Utah at 4:21 a.m. Wednesday, but there were no reports of damage, except for a rock slide.

The University of Utah geophysics department said the quake was centered about 19 miles southeast of Richfield and had an intensity of 5.0 on the Richter scale.

The University of California at Berkeley, Calif., recorded the quake at 5.3.

Larry Wilson, technician-analyst at the University of Utah geophysics department, said a 5.0 earthquake is strong enough to cause damage if it occurs in a populated area and other conditions are right. He said the tremor lasted only a few seconds, but earth motion and after-shocks continued for 13 minutes.

The quake apparently was the cause of a rock slide in Marysvale Canyon on U. S. 89 about 22 miles south of Richfield. Road crews cleared debris off the highway.

STANDARD SERVICE STATION, the first building in the Lynwood Shopping Center of Twin Falls, opened in 1956.

"We take better care of your car," the motto of Standard Service Station operated by the company, the only one between Ogden and Boise, is emblazoned across the doors of the station's lube area.

The station was the first building in the Lynwood Shopping Center. According to B. W. Jacobs, manager, the station is a training school station operated by the company, the only one between Ogden and Boise. All company employees are required to go through such a training school. All those at this station are company trained, and well qualified to service any automobile. "We also service bicycles," he stated as he assisted two youngsters in filling deflated bike tires.

Mr. Jacobs has been with the company 27 years, 21 of them in Twin Falls, and the last seven years at Standard Service Station in Lynwood.

BRIDGE

By Jacoby

FALSECARD IS ONLY STRATEGY

Today's column is sort of a milestone in bridge terminology. We are showing an old play but are giving it a specific name which it should have received years ago.

A certain play by declarer is called the obligatory finesse because the declarer is obliged to make the play.

sure tricks. He plays out dummy's king of hearts and West must drop the queen. Since the jack has been played the queen and ten become equals but South knows that West holds the queen. He does not know who holds the ten.

Without the use of this obligatory finesse by West, South would surely drop the queen later on and make his ninth trick. South might still drop the ten but he might not.

The play would continue with South leading a low diamond from dummy and ducking in his own hand. East's ten would hold the trick and East would lead another spade. Then South would lead a diamond to his ace and another diamond back to dummy's king. East would show out and the chances are that South would reason that since West was long in diamonds he would be short in hearts. Then West would finesse against the ten of hearts and West would take his ten of hearts plus enough tricks to set three no-trump.

cause this particular finesse can win and can't lose. We are calling a certain defender's play the obligatory finesse because it can win and can't lose.

South ducks the first spade but has to win the continuation. He can count seven tricks only but has chances for more in every suit except spades. The best chance is in hearts so South leads the deuce of hearts and finesesses dummy's jack after West plays the five.

South can now count eight

You Can't Win With An "Eat-In"

Dear Ele and Walt: In our school the cafeteria is segregated. The boys eat on one side and the girls eat on the other. I dislike this very much and would like to have things natural so one could sit wherever one wanted. I'm thinking of organizing an "eat-in." What's your opinion of this?—Junior

Dear Junior: Basically, we dislike the "girls here—boys there" format. But before bombing your school, suppose you find out why the rule was initiated. Could it be to lessen chatting at lunch time when the school was on a three-shift lunch hour? Or perhaps there was a past student poll that favored separate eating. Petition your student council officers to form a committee to investigate the practice, and offer your services as a committee member. This is much more mature behavior than suddenly staging a lunch hour eat-in or a student demonstration with placards, et. al. Facts first, action later—that's the ticket!—Ele and Walt

Dear Ele and Walt: I've been thinking about writing this letter for a long time, and today's the day. I'm a boy 16 years old, and I'm a deaf mute. Notice I did not say feeble-minded, retarded or slow. I simply cannot hear or speak like other teenagers do. In all other ways I am exactly like other boys, particularly when it comes to interest in girls. Luckily I have "normal" friends who take me to the bowling alley and the movies and to dances. (Of course, I can't hear the actors—but I read their lips... and the vibration of loud modern music comes through the floor boards and is easy to catch.)

The boys are fine to me, but girls seem to think I'm some kind of spook because I can't joke and kid with them. I've "over-read" them saying I was handsome, but still they hold them back. Perhaps this is because they think I could not support them if we got married someday, or maybe because they think any children I'd father might be deaf mutes too. Well, just to set them straight—please let me use your column to say that there are many deaf-mutes earning $10,000 and $20,000 doing work that demands intense concentration and that the condition is not hereditary—or contagious!—Lonesome.

Dear Lonesome: Thanks for teaching us all something. But please don't think the girls are cold-shouldering you purposely. They simply don't know how to communicate. We see the same thing whenever teenagers host non-English speaking international students. The smiles are nervous, although their hospitality is genuine.

Instead of the "abrupt" introductions of dances and bowling alleys, you'd do much better to affiliate with a co-ed club or organization, where you could work side-by-side with girls long enough to help them find ways to communicate with you. May we suggest Junior Achievement or a church fellowship group as good possibilities?—Ele and Walt

DEAF MUTE'S PROBLEM

Dear Ele and Walt: I've been thinking about writing this letter for a long time, and today's the day. I'm a boy 16 years old, and I'm a deaf mute. SUSPECTS SWITCH

Dear Ele and Walt: My parents have become very good friends with another couple. This other couple has children the same age as my sister and I. We all get together quite often and really have a ball. But when just the parents get together, my dad is with the lady, and my mom with the man. I like the couple very much; they're good fun, but I don't know how far the switching has gone. I'm over 16 and I just would like to know if I should find out if things are getting carried away or not.—Concerned Son

Dear Son: After 20 years of marriage a couple may find themselves talked out on many of the basic issues of life; each knows what the other's opinion is. The friendship of a congenial couple can therefore enrich their lives by allowing them to get different viewpoints. Unless you're spotting smudged lipstick, rumpled clothing or other tell-tale signs that the repairs are romantic; assume that it's friendship pure and simple.—Ele and Walt

Nature Is Arsonist In Pacific Northwest

By TOM TIEDE
MISSOULA, Mont. (NEA) — As far as the eye can see, many forests near here are dead. Log cadavers lie half-buried under mounds of black ash, while storks of other trees stand silent sentry over the remains.

Fire was the killer, of course; nature was the arsonist. Over 120,000 acres of timberland graveyards have been created this year in the massive, mountainous Pacific Northwest. That's 12 times the normal lumber burned, and the worst U.S. forest fire catastrophe in over half a century.

Animal life has been displaced or destroyed. Watersheds ruined. Wilderness reduced to dust. The economic upset is almost impossible to estimate.

It is, altogether, a critical blow. And it may happen again and again.

Next year, the year after, and for all the years in the foreseeable future, forest fires are certain to eat away at the nation's shrinking outdoors. With all his technical implements, man is still almost helpless in a timber blaze.

This is true despite the best efforts of society. Modern fire fighting techniques are wide-spread. Manpower is no problem. Even money is available.

Nonetheless, the effect was almost nil.

Experts agree that the problem in fighting fires today is much the same as it was 100 years ago—time. Time is the forest's best friend.

All fires begin as infants. First a spark, then a smoldering twig. They grow on a branch, spread to the trunk bark and thereafter become adults.

Thus, the most opportune hour to extinguish a blaze is during its infant stage.

Despite this knowledge, however, forestry officials admit that only a few fires are now being snuffed out in infancy. Many others are left unattended until they explode.

Fortunately, forest officials believe that at least some of the time problem can be reduced in the future. Encouraging laboratorial research indicates that tomorrow's forest fires may be easier to spot and easier to fight.

Some possibilities:

Operational tests with an airplane-mounted, infrared camera have been immensely successful in picking out small fires which are otherwise undetectable.

Experiments with "forest fuels" (twigs, needles, etc.) are being conducted to determine which burn best and least. The idea is to predict the growth of new fires and therefore the amount of fire control needed.

Elaborate research into the habits of thunderstorms is also going on, since lightning bolts cause about 80 per cent of all forest fires.

Foresters say that laboratory developments are not merely speculation. They insist that tomorrow's timbermen may even use remote-controlled vehicles and, perhaps, even guided misslies to assist in the job of suppressing forest burns.

Until these developments come into practical use, many officials agree there is no real answer to forest fires.

"It's nature's way," says a veteran ranger in nearby Glacier National Park. "About all we can do is reseed and do our birdwatching—someplace else."

RECEIVING A COMMENDATION medal for outstanding achievement involving voluntary risk of life during his tour of duty in Iceland is S. Sgt. Howard Norbert Maus, left, son of Mrs. Veronica Maus, Wendell. He drove a tracked snow vehicle 60 miles over unfamiliar terrain made hazardous by high winds and snow drifted up to 40 feet in order to carry a portable furnace and emergency supplies to a lighthouse keeper and his family who were faced with imminent death by freezing. He was presented the medal by his commanding officer.

"Got Religion"

BOISE (AP)—A man who "got religion" has sent the state $5 to pay for 15 gallons of gasoline he says he stole from a state project 30 years ago.

State Treasurer Marjorie Moon said the man sent a crisp, new $5 bill with the letter to her office. The money went into the General Fund under a grouping called "conscience money."

"I have since become a Christian and have been trying to straighten things out," the letter said.

Aide Chosen

BOISE (AP) — Appointment of Gerald M. Jones, Boise, as full-time executive secretary of the Idaho State Employees Association was announced Wednesday.

The job formerly was handled on a part-time basis by Henry G. Curtis, also of Boise.

Latest Riot Control Tactics Shown During Skirmishes

By BOB HORTON
 Associated Press Writer
FT. BELVOIR, Va. (AP) — The Army defeated 200 hippies and dissidents Wednesday in carefully orchestrated skirmishes showing off the government's latest riot control tactics and equipment.

There didn't seem to be anything startlingly new about what the Army had, but it was quite a show.

The setting was Riotsville, U.S.A., a realistic mockup of a typical city area which became the scene of simulated angry disorders. The fake city was erected at this Army base south of Washington, D.C.

While about 3,000 persons including 100 FBI National Academy students observed from bleachers, a Riotsville crowd virtually sacked the town, setting fire to buildings, overturning two cars and looting stores.

The mob formed when a patrol car, siren wailing, wheeled over to question two men at 12th and Belvoir. The narrator said it was a racially tense area.

Here is the way the action goes:

The pair fights police. People start pouring from around corners, shouting, booing. Police haul away the men. A mop-haired Negro with a bull horn loudspeaker rides up in the rear of a pick-up truck, exhorting the crowd not to let the fuzz get away with this.

The window of Pete's liquor store is smashed. "Everybody drinks tonight," shouts the Negro.

Now we have an ugly mob. Meanwhile, back at police headquarters, the commander of some Army troops ordered to the scene by the President is getting inside information from undercover agents in the crowd.

Enter the Army.

With bayonets fixed, the troops come marching, stomping exceedingly loud with their left feet and wearing black rubber goggled gas masks giving them a surrealistic appearance.

A soldier standing in a jeep orders the people to disperse.

Southern Baptists Set Yearly Meet

GOODING — The 10th annual meeting of the Magic Valley Baptist Association will be held Friday and Saturday at the First Southern Baptist Church in Gooding.

Speakers will include Dr. Charles T. Ashcraft, executive secretary for the Utah-Idaho Southern Baptist convention; Rev. Dick Horn, pastor of the Burley First Baptist Church; Rev. Roy Ferguson, superintendent of missions for Idaho; Rev. Larry Maxwell, Glenns Ferry pastor; Rev. Roy Myers, Gooding pastor; Rev. Lavoid Robertson, Twin Falls, and Raymond Betty, Glenns Ferry.

Rev. Jim Myers, Twin Falls, is moderator for the association. Special emphasis for this year's meeting will be the "Crusade of the Americas" which will take place in 1969. Rev. Lavoid Robertson is Crusade chairman for Utah and Idaho.

Registration starts at 6:30 p.m. Friday with an all-day session Saturday.

New Wendell Bank Opens At Ceremony

WENDELL — Ribbon cutting ceremonies at the newly constructed Idaho First National Bank at the corner of Idaho and Main Streets were held Saturday morning.

Mayor Carl Geissler cut the ribbon at the entrance on Idaho Street. Others taking part in the ceremonies were Thomas C. Frye, executive vice president of the Idaho First National head office; Charles Ireton, manager of the Wendell office, and Larry D. Ledington, assistant manager, Wendell branch.

The Wendell High School Band, under the direction of Thomas Haggerty, played several selections. Antique cars were displayed in the parking lot of the building and their owners, members of Gooding chapter of the Horseless Carriage Club, answered questions.

Other officers from the head office of the bank were Norman J. Schoonover, vice president and former manager of the local office; Wallace A. Sorenson and M. Marshall, vice presidents; Harold Mastard, property manager, and State Rep. Vernon Ravenscroft.

More than 700 guests toured the new building. Bank employees conducted tours throughout the day and refreshments were served.

THIS BEAUTIFUL sego lily floral arrangement

only $2.00 postage prepaid

With 6 Sego Milk Labels

In full natural color — so life-like they look as though they were just picked from the foothills of Utah. This beautiful arrangement includes 8 sego lily flowers, on four stems, plus decorative greenery and an attractive gold bowl with a styrofoam insert to hold the flowers.

A $4.00 retail value, they are yours for only $2.00, plus 10c for handling, and 6 Sego Evaporated Milk Labels.

Send to: Sego Milk, P.O. Box 934, Salt Lake City, Utah 84110.

Wild flower lovers roaming Utah's foothills each May find few sights as rewarding as the delicate beauty of the sego lily, a member of the mariposa tulip branch of the lily family. It grew in some profusion when the Mormon pioneers arrived in 1847, and has long been sacred in legends of the Shoshonian Indians who named it sego (see-go) and who believed its edible bulbous root an answer to prayers to the Great Spirit in time of famine.

The sego lily bulb also alleviated hunger among the pioneers in the hard early years, and later during grasshopper plagues. The flavor was said to be rich and cream-like.

In recognition of its beauty and its place in early Utah history, the sego lily was made the official State Flower in 1911, seven years after Sego had been adopted as the name for the mountain west's first evaporated milk, the makers of which are proud to pay tribute to the sego lily with this beautiful, everlasting floral arrangement.
