GUESS WHO SHOWED UP Wednesday morning for the drawing of the $333 cash grand prize winner in the Times-News Lucky License giveaway—nobody but Vernon E. Doshier, the state income tax chief in Twin Falls, ever alert when it comes to checking upon extra income recipients. Holding the box, which contained negatives of all photos of licensees, more than 400 of them, taken by the Times-News mystery photographer during the giveaway period, is Connie Dilworth, who works in the Times-News classified advertising department. The Times-News gave away $33 each publishing day for 33 days to owners of automobiles displaying a Times-News bumper sticker. Photos were taken by the mystery photographer at random throughout Magic Valley and a winner was selected each day by lot. The grand prize-winning license plate is pictured at bottom right. Owner of the vehicle must come to the Times-News office before noon Saturday to collect the $333 cash prize.

Sawtooth Bill

WASHINGTON, D. C. (Special)—The full Senate Interior and Insular Affairs Committee today voted to report to the Senate a bill to establish the Sawtooth National Recreation Area in Idaho.

The bill, co-sponsored by Sens. Frank Church and Len Jordan, would establish a $351,000 acre recreation area encompassing the Sawtooth mountains and parts of the Sawtooth Valley and Stanley Basin in central Idaho.

Church and Jordan expressed the hope that the measure would be given favorable Senate action in the immediate future.

CSI May Receive $514,000

The College of Southern Idaho has a "marvelous chance" of getting a federal grant of $514,000 to aid in construction of a material resource center and a physical education facility, announced Dr. William Seifrit, executive secretary of the Higher Education Facilities Commission.

Dr. Seifrit was in Twin Falls Wednesday to visit with CSI president Dr. James L. Taylor about the funds, which will be available in Idaho.

He said he was of the opinion that the state allocation would be of a smaller amount than hoped for. "To blame the decrease on the Vietnam War would be an oversimplification," he said.

Dr. Seifrit, of Boise, said that the CSI application will come to his office first and then to the state commission. From there it will be referred to the HEF Regional office in Denver.

The college is currently in the process of readying the application which will be presented to HEF. Dr. Taylor said Feb. 15, 1968, is the deadline for filing the application.

He said it should be determined by the middle of April, 1968, whether CSI will be granted the requested amount.

There are two categories of allocations, Dr. Seifrit noted, one for state schools and one for junior colleges.

Second Steel Haulers Strike Looms

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The threat of a second steel haulers strike loomed today with drivers accusing some trucking firms of refusing to rehire them.

William Kusley, leader of the bitter strike that tied up highway steel shipments for nine weeks, says he and about 50 other drivers are out of a job.

He said a dozen trucking firms in four states—Indiana, Michigan, Ohio and Pennsylvania—have violated the strike-ending agreement promising no reprisals or loss of seniority.

"If we can't get everybody back to work, we'll just have to pull all the trucks off the road. I don't know what else we can do," Kusley said Tuesday.

Most of the 10,000 to 20,000 haulers returned to work Tuesday as steel mills began pushing out orders backed up since the strike began in Gary, Ind., and spread through eight states.

Kusley, who organized the owner-operators into a rebel group called the National Steel Haulers Protest Committee, said he's working with the Teamsters Union in an effort to iron out the problem. About 60 per cent of the independents belong to the union.

The strike-ending settlement granted the independents a five per cent rate hike.

Firing Breaks Out Near Egyptian Oil Refineries

By TOM HOGGE
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—New firing broke out today near Egypt's still blazing Suez oil refineries, as the Soviet Union pushed for support in the U.N. Security Council to condemn Israel as the aggressor in Tuesday's three-hour artillery battle.

The council resumes its session this morning on the new Middle East flareup. The 15-nation body quickly decided, however, to recess until 3 p.m. to give members time to try to reach agreement on a general acceptable resolution aimed at stopping the fighting.

Newsmen touring the ravaged Egyptian port at the southern end of the Suez Canal reported an Israeli plane penetrated Egyptian air space and sprayed machine-gun bullets at men struggling to put out fires set off by Israeli shells the day before.

But Israeli military officials said nervous Egyptian flak gunners opened up on one of their own Soviet-made Sukhoi 7 fighters as it swept low over Egypt's west bank of the canal. Flak bracketed the craft, the Israelis said, but it did not appear to be hit.

"He was lucky," an Israeli officer said. "Our gunners might have opened up."

The Israelis charged Egyptian forces "raked" Israeli positions with machine-gun fire at the southern end of the Great Bitter Lake, about 15 miles north of Port Taufiq. There were no casualties and the fire was not returned, they said.

Thick smoke curled from at least five fires in Suez and cast a huge shadow over the canal's southern entrance. A long black stream of smoke trailed 20 miles into the Sinal Desert.

The Israeli army reported trouble on another frontier. It said two Israeli soldiers were killed, another was seriously wounded and an Arab was killed in a clash between troops and Arab infiltrators seven miles north of the Damya Bridge spanning the Jordan River.

At the United Nations, there seemed little chance the Russians could round up enough votes to secure approval of their resolution condemning Israel.

Chief U.S. delegate Arthur J. Goldberg brushed aside the Soviet resolution, terming it a "midnight rerun of this stale record." He introduced a resolution calling on the council to condemn all violations of the Arab-Israeli cease-fire.

Israel and Egypt blamed each other for triggering the fierce artillery and mortar duel at the southern end of the Suez Canal. Fires still roared today in Egypt's two major oil refineries in the city of Suez which produced 80 per cent of Egypt's petroleum. The pipeline terminal at nearby Port Taufiq also was ablaze.

Three Independents Seek Positions On City Council

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News Staff Writer

Although voters of Twin Falls will be able to vote for any four of the eleven men seeking positions on the city council Nov. 7, only three are running as independents with no affiliation with other candidates.

Eight others are seeking election on self-established tickets. Seeking election as independents are Howard H. Burkhart, former councilman and public accountant; Delbert C. McGuire, active Jaycee and trout farm manager; and Lloyd V. Cox, owner of the Yellow Cab Co.

All three of the men have endorsed the city manager form of government but have different views as to the extent of management by the manager.

Mr. Cox, 47, and a resident of Twin Falls at various times since 1946, said he endorses the manager form of government but feels there is a lack of control by the city council. Further, he said, there are some "subordinate" positions under the city manager and possibly in other departments that could be eliminated or reduced.

The airport situation, Mr. Cox says, should have immediate attention. All possible steps, he added, must be taken to preserve vital air transportation for the local area and to insure that service at least of the present standard is preserved.

Whether this will require a regional airport or improvement of the local field is yet to be determined, Mr. Cox added, but at least there should be a broader base of financing than from city funds alone. It must be on a basis equal to airport use, he pointed out, and the entire area utilizes the local facility now financed by taxpayers of Twin Falls.

Elaborating on the city manager question, Mr. Cox stated, "If a city manager or any other department head requires a direct assistant, he is not doing his job."

The candidate also proposed the city consider a means of "taxing" rather than simply billing residents for water and sanitation services. In this way, he said residents could deduct the high cost of water services from their income tax and receive some benefit.

Pointing out Twin Falls needs a better economical climate, Mr. Cox urged that consideration be given efforts for new industry, but at the same time give better service to the small industries now in the community. Better streets, for example, he said should be provided in the ## Library Workshop Being Held In T. F.

Librarians, library trustees and interested citizens from all of Magic Valley began gathering at the Holiday Inn Wednesday morning to prepare for the annual Idaho State Library workshop.

The study is for Library District Four. State Librarian Helen Miller and members of her staff are in charge of the afternoon and evening sessions.

George W. Coen, attorney from Lancaster, Ohio, will be featured dinner-speaker tonight. About 60 are expected to attend.

A panel discussion will be featured during the afternoon session, with the subject being talks on public relations.

On the panel will be Mrs. Sterling Vaughn, library trustee; Mrs. Clarice Morgan, librarian at Wendell; Robert Saxvik, manager of KBAR radio; Bruce Fox, news director at KMVT; Jan Sainsbury, feature editor at the Times-News; and Robert Ensley, member of the state library staff.

The evening session will be concerned with library budget problems. Discussions will be led by a panel composed of Mrs. Mabel Beveridge, Jerome library trustee; Lester Freeman, Rupert librarian; John R. Lemmon, Richfield library trustee; Arthur Ivie, city council member at Hailey; and Robert Ballesen, chairman of the Idaho State Library Board of Trustees.

Workshops have been held at Moscow and Boise, and Thursday the session moves to Blackfoot.

190 Bulls Signed For Yearly Sale

FILER—More than 190 Herefords have been consigned by registered and cattle breeders from Idaho and Utah for the Filer fall range bull sale which is scheduled for 11 a.m. Friday at the Twin Falls County Fairgrounds.

Grading of the bulls will begin at 10 a.m. Thursday when each bull will be inspected for visual defects by Dr. D. A. Jackson, Twin Falls, deputy state veterinarian.

This year's sale is the 28th to be sponsored by the Idaho Cattlemen's Association. It is the first year the event has been held on Friday, rather than Saturday as in former years.

Robert Henderlinder, Boise, is secretary of the Cattlemen's Association.

The sale is the largest range bull sale in the Northwest, according to Pat Allen, Cascade, manager of the event.

Auctioneers are St. Williams, Caldwell, and Clayton Tschirgl, Fruitland.

Monument At Hansen Bridge Is Dedicated To Pioneer Brothers

Amid the noise of present-day traffic, a monument at the new Hansen bridge was dedicated Tuesday afternoon to the memory of two pioneer brothers of the Twin Falls tract whose efforts helped develop the area.

R. J. Schwendiman, chairman of the Twin Falls Centennial committee which spearheaded the monument project, pointed out the many civic interests of John Hansen, an active Republican, and his brother, Lawrence Hansen, who was equally prominent in the Democratic party.

John Hansen was the father of Mrs. Anna Hayes, Twin Falls, and grandfather of Mrs. Marshall LeBaron, Kimberly, both of whom attended the dedication service in company with a small group of historical-minded citizens.

Mr. Schwendiman said that John Hansen was superintendent of schools in early-day Cassia County and one of the first county commissioners in Twin Falls.

He served as a justice of the peace and helped establish Albion Normal.

Lawrence Hansen, who came to this area in 1897, served as a regent at Albion Normal and as Cassia County state representative. He was a cattle man and banker.

The two brothers, who were instrumental in helping obtain the first bridge over the Snake River at the site, were in the first vehicle to cross the new span on July 4, 1919.

Also speaking at the dedication was Blaine Sessions, Shoshone, district highway engineer, who compared costs of the old and new structures. The old bridge, which was considered the highest and longest suspension bridge in existence when it was built in 1918-19, cost about $100,000, compared to $1,171,990.75 for the new structure completed last year.

Mr. Sessions said the new Hansen bridge has received nationwide recognition in competition for award of merit.

Other committee members for the project include Gladys Stricker, T. T. (Pete) Creed, Ed McCarty, Mrs. Wanda Reed, Dewitt Young, Walter Reese, L. B. (Pete) Larson and George Bilck.

The dedicatory prayer was offered by Rev. John Riley of the Episcopal Church of the Ascension and the flag presented by Walter Reese.

U.S. Warplanes Fly Followup Strikes

By ROBERT TUCKMAN
SAIGON (AP)—U.S. warplanes flew through the bombed city's center today as the bridge was again carrying road and probably rail traffic.

It was the second consecutive day of maximum effort raids by Air Force fighter-bombers from bases in Thailand.

The heavily laden F105 Thunderchiefs swept over Phuc Yen to again crater the 9,170-foot runway and to blast maintenance and support facilities north of the field which were untouched in Tuesday's raids.

The initial reports of the raid on Hanoi's Doumer Bridge said the bombs were "on target" but did not have further details. The Aug. 11 raid dropped a span in the dead center of the mile-long, 19-span concrete structure. The bridge is 1.7 miles from the city's center. The Air Force said photos showed the bombed out span had been repaired and the bridge was again carrying road and probably rail traffic.

Accused Mass Murderer Dies Of Bullet Wounds

LOCK HAVEN, Pa. (AP)—Accused mass murderer Leo Held died today at Lock Haven Hospital of bullet wounds suffered in a blazing gun battle with police Monday.

A hospital administrator said Held's death about 6:30 a.m. resulted from a blood clot to his heart.

Held, a 40-year-old former school board member, was charged with murdering six persons and wounding six others during a shooting spree.

His death rules out the chance officers will ever learn what triggered the rampage. They had not questioned him because of the critical nature of his wounds and because of fear of violating his constitutional rights.

Funeral services were set for today for one of the victims, Elmer Weaver, 37, who worked with Held at a paper company in this central Pennsylvania town, as did four of the others killed.

The sixth victim was Floyd Quiggle, 27, Held's neighbor, who was slain after the shootings at the Hammermill Paper Co., while he and his wife were in bed. Mrs. Quiggle, critically wounded, is in Williamsport Hospital.

One of the wounded, Mrs. G. Schuyler Ramm, 37, was shot at the Piper Aircraft Co. plant, where she worked as a telephone operator. She had belonged to a car pool which had dropped Held for his alleged reckless driving. Held had driven there after the shootings at Hammermill.

Authorities, Held's family and area residents are still mystified as to what prompted the shootings by the laboratory technician.

Held was wounded by state and local police during a gun duel in his backyard.

Blaine School Bond Okayed By 81 Per Cent

HAILEY—Blaine County voters Tuesday approved by an 81 per cent margin a $300,000 bond issue. The money will be used to construct a new grade school in Ketchum and for improvements in the other three community schools in the county.

Supt. Vernon Exner said Wednesday morning he had received calls from several other communities where recent bond issues had been unsuccessful asking, "How we did it?"

"The people just realize the need for more room in our school facilities, especially at Ketchum," he said, adding he was "extremely pleased" with the results.

Of a total vote of 901, there were 735 for the proposal and 166 against.

At Carey there were 58 voting yes and 24 no; Gannett had 16 yes and 5 no; Bellevue, 33 yes and 64 no; Hailey, 312 yes and 48 no while at Ketchum, the proposal received 415 yes to 25 no votes.

Mr. Exner said in addition to the $300,000 from the bond election, the school district will receive $100,000 from the sale of the old Ketchum grade school and there also is another $125,000 in reserve funds from a previous bond issue, making a total of $525,000 for the construction projects.

The new grade school will be built on a 14-acre tract lying between Ketchum and the Big Wood River, west of town. Eighth graders at Ketchum now attend classes at Bellevue.

Among the other improvements planned with the funds are: new floor covering and bleachers and stage lighting in the Carey school which is a combination grade and high school.

The Wood River High School will get two additional classrooms, plus a new music and band room. The Hailey Elementary school will have a new dining room and the present dining room will be converted into a multi-purpose room.

Playgrounds at the schools at Ketchum, Hailey, Bellevue and Carey all will be improved, Supt. Exner said.

Blaine County has had a long history of ups and downs in obtaining voter approval for school improvement. After five successive defeats, a bond issue was approved in 1964 and funds were used to build a new school at Carey, and grade schools in Hailey and Bellevue.

However, the Hailey school already is overcrowded, so sixth through eighth graders are taken to Bellevue where that school is used as a junior high school and the lower grades from Bellevue come to Hailey.

The Wood River High School band played in Hailey streets Tuesday morning as part of the "get out the vote" effort.

The old Ketchum grade school, now to be replaced, was built during the WPA era in the 1930's.

Father Groppi Speaks Up For Negroes

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — "I'll see Negroes dead before I'll see them slaves," the Rev. James Groppi shouted in a speech Tuesday night. "If a white man calls you 'nigger,' you call him 'hunky.' If he gets violent, you bust him in the damn jaw."

The militant white Roman Catholic priest of Milwaukee's black ghetto spoke at St. Thomas College here.

An estimated 2,800 to 3,500 people heard the leader of open housing drive marchers in Milwaukee.

The crowds clapped, shouted, sang and chanted.

"White Americans," Father Groppi said, "have to learn that black is beautiful. Black people must learn black history but so must white people. White Americans have taught black people to hate themselves."

Father Groppi said the "black man is tired. You can talk about all the power in the white community, about tanks and guns, and he'll say, 'I don't give a damn because I'm dead already.'"

Four "commandoes" from the Milwaukee NAACP Youth Council guarded the priest closely during his talks.

Father Groppi defended the use of violence by the commandoes as self-defense. "We believe in the Christian principle of self-defense," he said.

The priest said the motto of the youth council is "Today Liberation or Death."

"We're going to struggle, fight against this caste system," he said. "We have tried to appeal to the white man's morality and conscience and have gotten nothing."

A conservative ticket that hasn't closed its eyes to reality about our water!

R. George Bennett Frank H. Feldtman Eugene G. Stacey Frank C. Cook

These candidates for election to Twin Falls' City Council are committed to the following: -

- 5 SEPARATE STUDIES by independent, professional Water Engineering Companies (Spanning a period of the past 27 years) have repeatedly indicated and strongly recommended that the city of Twin Falls utilize Blue Lakes for its water source.
- On May 18, 1965, the people of Twin Falls voted by a 76.67% majority FOR THE PASSAGE OF A WATER BOND ISSUE. This Included plant expansion and the use of Blue Lakes as a water source.
- THE WATER CHARGE FOR RESIDENTS (using minimum gallonage) has been increased only 50c per month. Too often we forget that our water bill includes $2.00 for sewer and $1.25 for garbage collection.
- Present water rates will not increase, but residents may look forward to a lower rate when the bond issue is paid.
- IT IS SPECIFICALLY ILLEGAL IN IDAHO for any incorporated city to make a profit from the operation of its water department. All revenue from the operation of our water system must be used for operational expense or in the redemption of bonds.

WASHINGTON — It's one of the oldest political tricks, best symbolized perhaps by Pilate's washing of his hands. You try to crawl out of a tight spot by blaming the people in advance for the consequences of your poltroonery.

By implication, both the Administration and Congress have been doing just that in the matter of President Johnson's proposed 10 per cent income tax surcharge. Johnson has suggested that the people are fiscally irresponsible for resisting the tax boost and concludes they'll have only themselves to blame if they're swallowed up by inflation. Shaking its collective head, Congress says, in effect, what can it do if the people have turned nasty? It is, true, of course, that the surcharge is dead for this session of Congress because the electorate rose up in arms against it. But both the administration and Congress ignore the voters' proffer of reasonable alternatives to the surcharge. One of these alternatives is the closing of tax loopholes for the rich, including the 27 1/2 per cent oil and gas depletion allowance. Another is a sharp reduction in federal spending. Now the respected Harris Poll has revealed another grass roots alternative—one which shows that the people are once again ahead of their leaders.

It is not the intention here to argue in favor of such controls. In any circumstance, they're bad, always a desperate last resort, because they give the federal government another opportunity to meddle in private enterprise. But the fact that a majority of the public is willing to submit to these controls discredits the charge of public irresponsibility. This is not the reaction of a people who are merely, and selfishly, trying to avoid higher taxes.

In a survey of attitudes toward the surcharge proposal, the Harris Poll disclosed that those interviewed favor price and wage controls by 43 to 38 per cent. This is a step that has been avoided like a plague in both the White House and on Capitol Hill—for a very good political reason, to wit, that both industry and labor unions are vehemently opposed to it.

Nonetheless, the White House and Capitol Hill will ignore the poll at their political peril. A spectacular 78 per cent were opposed to Johnson's surcharge, and 73 per cent demanded a cut in federal spending. Translated into votes at next year's election, these figures could spell defeat for an awful lot of politicians now protecting their own pork-barrel appropriations and refusing even to consider reform of the present inequitable tax structure.

Hughes For Prexy

WASHINGTON — I was walking by a nearby store the other day when I saw a large sign in the window — "Howard Hughes for President — Campaign Headquarters."

Naturally I was intrigued and went inside.

There was a man sitting at a card table who said he was chairman of the campaign and he invited me to sit down.

"I didn't know Howard Hughes was running for President," I said.

"He doesn't know it either," the chairman said. "We're running him without his permission."

"But why Howard Hughes?"

"Because he's the best man for the job. He's just bought Las Vegas, which is only a prelude to his buying the state of Nevada. He's got a bigger financial stake in this country than any other man, so he won't let it go down the drain."

"That makes sense," I said.

"But doesn't Hughes like to stay out of the limelight? I understand no one has seen him for nine years."

"That's in his favor. He is the sole candidate mentioned who is not suffering from over-exposure on television."

"Good point," I admitted.

"But why else would he make a good President?"

"He's the only one in this country who would never have to go up to Congress and ask for money. Any funds he wanted for his Administration he'd put up himself."

"Is he that rich?"

"What he couldn't put up himself, he could get from Frank Sinatra."

"I forgot about that. But even if he could finance the cost of the entire government, it seems to me the people would like to see their President once in a while."

"That's where you're wrong. The trouble with Americans is that they see too much of their Presidents. They know everything that's going on in the White House from the Blue Room to the bedroom. Hughes would add mystery to the presidency. He'd be holed up on the top floor of the Executive Mansion, and nobody would even know if he was there or not."

True Viet Casualty Figures

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Though the Defense Department's casualty figures are highly misleading, unpublished data stashed away in Pentagon files gives a fairly accurate picture of the cost of the Vietnam war in lives and injuries.

The picture that data gives is much different from the "100,000-plus casualties" widely reported.

Of the 102,000 casualties due to enemy action up to Oct. 7, 1967, slightly more than 77,000 have been returned to action. An estimated 6,000 to 7,000 more will return to action. About 17,000 to 18,000 of the 102,000 were disabled or killed slightly less than 800 missing or captured.

The figures are even more interesting when broken down in greater detail.

Of the 102,000 casualties due to enemy action to date:

- 13,736 were killed, or died of wounds or died while missing or after being captured.
- An estimated 3,000 to 4,000 have been or will be discharged as disabled.
- Some 570 are missing and 212 captured.
- 24,000 "casualties" were never off duty; that is, they were outpatients.

An estimated 17,500 were off duty for a night or a day or two.

Approximately 22,000 other men were or will be off duty for less than 30 days.

Roughly 14,000 more were or will be off duty for less than 60 days.

An estimated 6,000 to 7,000 additional have been or will be off duty for more than two months.

There is also data in the files on the type of wounds the American soldier is suffering in Vietnam.

Thirty-nine per cent of those GIs hospitalized suffer from wounds in the legs, thighs or feet (the lower extremities), 22 per cent in the upper extremities, 12 per cent in the head and neck, 7 per cent in the abdomen and 7 per cent in the thorax. Almost 13 per cent are "multiple wounds" and miscellaneous.

Almost 62 per cent of the combat deaths, where known, have been from small arms. Slightly over 29 per cent of the deaths were from grenade, mortar and other fragments, 9 per cent from booby traps and mines.

The figures are quite different for nonfatal wounds. More than 54 per cent have been from fragments, 20 per cent from booby traps, mines and punji stakes. (The stakes alone accounted for 8 per cent of all nonfatal wounds.) Small arms fire was responsible for a quarter of the wounds that didn't result in death.

In Vietnam from July, 1965, through May, 1967, deaths due to combat were 20 per thousand average troop strength per year, as compared to a rate of 43 for Korea and 52 for the European Theater of Operations from June, 1944, through May, 1945.

Using the same base period in Vietnam, U. S. Army troops with nonfatal wounds were admitted to medical facilities at the rate of 88 per thousand average strength per year. In Korea the rate was 121 and in the European Theater of Operations from D-Day to V-E Day it was 152.

In Korea and in World War II, the number of soldiers with major amputations resulting from wounds who were admitted to amputation centers in this country represented between 2 and 2 1/2 per cent of the total hospitalized wounded. Thus far for Vietnam the figure has been around 1 per cent.

MARQUIS CHILDS

China's Progress Is Swift

WASHINGTON — Behind Secretary of State Dean Rusk's outburst over the China peril was a prolonged and highly secret debate at the top level of the administration. On the conference table were intelligence reports showing China's amazingly swift progress in the development of nuclear weapons.

On one point there was general agreement. Official public statements had consistently underestimated that progress.

The reports showed that Peking has already tested and is believed to have operational an intermediate-range ballistic missile capable of carrying a hydrogen warhead. The range is 2,000 miles. This winter, far ahead of the previously assumed schedule if the reports are correct, China will test an intercontinental ballistic missile with a range of 5,000 miles or more.

So concerned were the top men of government that they foresaw even more extraordinary developments growing out of the brilliance and dedication of Chinese scientists and technicians. China is believed capable in the near future of building a polaris-type submarine with missiles. The intelligence reassessment followed Peking's "proof test" on June 17 of a hydrogen bomb.

All this makes the glib reports out of Hong Kong about the imminent collapse of China into anarchy and chaos look slightly foolish. Within the government here the more sober China watchers have warned against exaggerated reports of breakdown. They were convinced that the Red Guards were never entirely out of control of Mao. What is happening today is like the chain of events that began on Sept. 28, 1949, when President Harry Truman announced that the Soviet Union had broken the American nuclear monopoly by setting off an atomic explosion. It underscores the dictum of the philosopher, George Santayana, that "those who cannot remember the past are condemned to repeat it."

After World War II ended with the atomic bomb dropped on Hiroshima and Nagasaki the widespread popular belief was that America with its superior science and technology had outstripped backward Russia. The complacent view was that the American monopoly was good for 10 years and more probably 15. This went contrary to the conviction of American scientists that any country with a base of advance science and technology could in a comparatively short time produce an atomic explosion and from there go on to develop a nuclear arsenal.

The announcement that Russia had broken the American monopoly set off a wave of fear and suspicion. Spies and Communist sympathizers high in government had given the secret away. And it is true that in a few instances, notably that of Klaus Fuchs, the German physicist, the Soviets had gained a little time with help from betrayers. In the view of the scientists this was not significant.

The difference between 1949 and 1968 does, however, seem significant. Both Truman and his secretary of state, Dean Acheson, took great pains to put the announcement of the Soviet explosion in the most careful and unemotional context. Anticipating what was to come, the government had already created an elaborate detection system to pick up evidence of atomic particles.

Coordinating the findings of the Central Intelligence Agency and the National Security Council, the White House, after lengthy discussion, decided on a brief routine announcement. All cabinet officers were carefully briefed and instructed to add no further information or speculation. The hope was that a matter-of-fact handling would quiet the charges that spies infesting the government had been handing out top-secret specifications for the bomb.

This is in sharp contrast with Rusk's press conference warning that a billion Chinese on the mainland will be on the march armed with nuclear weapons. He pictured Asia cut in two by Chinese Communism, with non-Communist nations living under deadly and constant pressure from Peking, with their future circumscribed by fears.

As his critics have been saying since that historic conference — it did mark a distinct shift in the base of American policy and Vice President Hubert Humphrey followed with a further affirmation — this was in itself an invocation to fear. While the intention was apparently to chastise opponents of the Vietnam War policy, Rusk's castigation caused widespread resentment, and he felt compelled to deny the charge of fomenting a new "yellow peril."

The final judgment may be that the Chinese, after decades of colonialism, war and revolution, were so full of xenophobic hatred that blind aggression was inevitable. But American policy since 1960 has contributed to their isolation and xenophobia.

Unfounded Charges

A deplorable fact about political campaigns is that they often bring out unfounded charges and accusations that are personally and professionally damaging, not only to political candidates themselves, but often to innocent bystanders.

Such appears the case in the present Twin Falls city election, and it developed in a matter-of-fact paragraph in a routine political advertisement published Oct. 15 in the Times-News.

The advertisement, supporting the four candidates on a "conservative ticket," carried 13 points on which the members of the ticket allegedly "dare to be different."

The 13th point read, "City books are not fully audited. We will, if elected, exert pressure to obtain complete city audits."

The best that can be said of this allegation is that it definitely is misleading, implying that Twin Falls city officials have an opportunity to indulge in some sort of "hanky-panky" because of an ineffective or inefficient auditing procedure.

A bit of checking exposes this as being far from the truth.

Up until 1960, Clyde Koontz, now Idaho state tax collector, had the task of auditing the city books. Except for time out while he was in the service during World War II, he had been associated with auditing Twin Falls city operations since 1943.

Mr. Koontz described the procedure as one of continuous audits, no less than quarterly, with an annual report at the end of each year.

The annual reports conformed with the standards and specifications of the state Bureau of Public Accounts and a copy of the report was filed there.

In 1960 Mr. Koontz sold his practice to Eldon Evans. Mr. Evans has continued the same auditing procedure up to the present time.

Said Mr. Koontz of the procedure, "I defy anyone to call this an incomplete audit in any meaning of the word."

Of the allegation in the advertisement, he added, "It is an irresponsible statement and certainly shows it was not investigated very thoroughly."

Mr. Evans is a Certified Public Accountant and a member of the respected Twin Falls firm of Riddle, Roth, Evans and Bledsoe. Members of two other accounting firms in Twin Falls Monday voiced confidence in the qualifications of Mr. Evans and his firm.

Said Stanley E. Snow, a member of the firm of Nelson, Snow and Waldron, and Magic Valley director of the Idaho Society of CPAs:

"The competence of Mr. Evans and the firm of Riddle, Roth, Evans and Bledsoe in the accounting field is unquestioned. I have complete confidence in their ability."

John H. Peterson, a member of the council of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants and associated with Peterson, Seamons, Stacey and Bancroft, said, "There is no question of the integrity and competence of Mr. Evans and his firm."

Whether it was intended to reflect unfavorably on Mr. Evans and his firm or not, the statement that city books are not fully audited obviously had this effect. It is the type of irresponsible statement that all candidates in a non-partisan campaign should studiously avoid making.

Future For A Boy

Yes, Junior, you teacher is telling you true.

Any American boy can become President of the United States.

He must, of course, attend school regularly, study hard, get along with people, keep his nose clean, say the right things at the right time to the right folks, come into considerable money or have rich friends and admirers—and be loaded with luck.

If he can swing all this, it is possible that one of these days he may enter the White House as president.

Then, Junior, he has it made. Good wages, nice home (convenient to office), fancy automobile, free travel, a chance to meet interesting people (very interesting people), and hardly ever a dull moment.

Consider a day in the life of our President:

The war in Vietnam (this alone will keep him from being bored).

Conventions and gatherings of kooks of all types and breeds with only one thing in common—get that guy out of the White House!

Steel price rises, auto price rises, various cost-of-living rises, all sorts of price rises—practically all of them in open defiance of presidential pleas.

Auto strikes, rail strikes, airline strikes teacher strikes, police and fire strikes, girl-dancer strikes — all launched despite the President's wishful wishes.

Demonstrations, protests, riots and disturbances across the country — all blamed by their instigators on the man in the White House.

Second-guessing of presidential action by leaders of both political parties and other groups—no two guessers guessing alike.

Big, fat rifts between the secretary of defense and his military chiefs on whether to bomb more, less or medium.

A credibility gap between the government and the people that threatens to become wider than the Grand Canyon.

The United Nations featuring fiction instead of action.

De Gaulle. (That's all!)

A hard time in Congress on foreign aid, home aid, the tax hike, you name it.

Critics in the opposition party—and his own — taking pot shots at most everything he does.

Bad news in the public opinion polls.

The natives are restless!

Exciting and stimulating, eh Junior? Think of the challenge to a man who craves action!

So study hard, keep your nose clean and Junior! Where are you going? Out to play? What about your homework? You'll never get to be . . .

Nuts to what?

Junior, is that any way to talk? Don't you realize . . .

Opinions Of Guest Editors

IT'S ONLY ACROSS THE HALL

It's only a short walk across the hall from the governor's office to the office of the attorney general. It should not be hard to improve communications between the two.

Atty. Gen. Allan G. Shepard has asked for better communication after complaining that he has not been consulted in advance on decisions with legal questions.

The governor announced on September 21 his desire to transfer women inmates of the Idaho State Penitentiary to the State School and Hospital at Nampa. According to Mr. Shepard he had not been consulted on legality of the proposal. He indicated on September 23 that he had still received no request for a legal opinion.

Governor Samuelson can't expect the attorney general to act on the basis of what he reads in the papers about what the governor wants him to do.

It may not always be possible for the governor to consult the attorney general in advance on questions that may have legal implications. But it would be good business to do so when it is possible.

Some things may be so patently impossible under the law that they can't be considered. On others, further research may be necessary. The attorney general and the governor should be able to get together and resolve the problem.—The Statesman

Clot Victims

When a blood vessel is cut enzymes are released that favor clotting. This is a life-saving mechanism. Sometimes, however, a vein becomes inflamed and clotting occurs within its walls.

When such a clot is small it will be absorbed in a couple of weeks but, if it keeps extending, fragments may break off and travel into the arteries.

Since the arteries grow progressively smaller the farther they are from the heart, these fragments or emboli will finally be forced into an artery that is too small to pass through. They then plug the artery and cut off the blood supply to the area it supplies. In most areas the circulation to the deprived tissues is taken over by collateral blood vessels—a sort of rerouting via a detour. When called on to meet added demands these collaterals enlarge and there is very little disturbance of function.

When the obstruction occurs in an artery in the brain or heart, the result is more serious because of a lack of adequate collaterals.

Persons who have had a stroke or a heart attack due to a clot are often given anticoagulants. These drugs will not dissolve the offending clot. At best they may prevent further clot formation or extension of the existing clot.

Furthermore, they are not an unmitigated blessing because they take away the protective clot-forming mechanism, so that, if a small hemorrhage starts anywhere in the body, the victim may bleed to death unless prompt corrective measures are applied. For this reason, many doctors have little enthusiasm for the long-term use of anticoagulants.

New techniques for the surgical removal of clots from both arteries and veins are being used and hold much promise as effective ways to deal with this age-old problem.

Q—What is the best treatment for the fungus condition that causes black hairy tongue?

A—Black or brown hairy tongue is often seen in persons who are taking antibiotics. The latter suppress the growth of bacteria in the mouth and give the fungi a chance to thrive. The condition is no threat to your health. Conservative treatment—brushing your teeth after each meal and seeing your dentist twice a year—is best. The local application of chemicals to kill the harmless fungi is not without danger and is not advised.

Auditions Set For 'Sound Of Music'

Preliminary auditions for children will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday at Washington School auditorium as the Dilettante Group of Magic Valley starts selecting a cast for "The Sound of Music."

Then at 8 p.m. Saturday an open house for adults will be held at Washington School. All adults interested in auditioning and anyone interested in working in any phase of the production should attend.

Last Saturday a similar open house was held for children planning to audition. More than 130 youngsters turned out to show their interest in the seven juvenile roles.

The events are being held to acquaint prospective auditors with the show, its story and music. Many parts, both for children and adults are included in "The Sound of Music."

Four Corners Unit To Pick Headquarters

PHOENIX (AP) — A location for the headquarters of the Four Corners Regional Commission may be chosen at a November meeting of the governors of Utah, Colorado, Arizona and New Mexico.

Representatives of the governors met Tuesday in Phoenix to hear proposals for location of the group headquarters.

Orren Beatty, federal co-chairman of the Four Corners Regional Commission, said it is hoped the site will be chosen by the governors in November.

The commission adopted standards that the site be within the commission region, that it offer state and university facilities, adequate office space, residential housing and satisfactory living conditions.

Utah's proposed headquarters are the small towns of Monticello and Blanding. New Mexico's are Albuquerque and Santa Fe, two of its largest. Arizona has proposed that the headquarters be in either Page or Flagstaff. And Colorado wants it to be in Cortez or Durango.

PISTOL STOLEN
DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Police officer Jimmy Hoppood said a thief stole his pistol this week from Hoppood's locker at police headquarters.

except for the seven Von Trapp children, and no men's chorus, but there is a women's chorus. Dilettante officials advise.

The musical-comedy, which has been made famous by the stage and screen productions, is set in 1938 Austria.

Final auditions have been set for Nov. 4 and 5. Adults will audition at 8 each night and the children will audition at 2 p.m. Nov. 5.

Children attending the preliminary audition should be prepared to recite a four-line poem from memory and to sing the song, "Do," from the show. They will be required to sing the song alone.

Adults are asked to sing a song from the show and if they are auditioning for a principal part they should sing a song connected with that part.

Boy's Curb Stand Is Reopened

SATELLITE BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Eleven-year-old Billy Churchill's sidewalk ice-pop stand has been reopened by Gov. Claude Kirk in what the governor termed a young man's "victory over bureaucracy."

Kirk became the first customer Tuesday at the sixth-grader's tiny business since it was closed down by a county health department order last Sept. 8.

The freckle-faced youth had been selling ice-pops for about two years at his sidewalk stand until someone complained to the Brevard County Health Department that the boy had no permit. Health officials said they were just enforcing the law so Billy's father wired Kirk last week. An aide was dispatched who helped the boy secure his permit. For his help in cutting the red tape, Billy offered the governor a lime-flavored ice-pop for free. He normally charges three cents each.

U.S. Forces Build Fence On Korea's Demilitarized Zone

By K.P. HONG
ALONG THE WESTERN FRONT, Korea (AP) — U.S. forces guarding an 18 1/2-mile section of Korea's demilitarized zone are building a chain link fence across the front to cut down on North Korean sneak attacks that have killed at least 20 Americans and wounded 60 others in the last 12 months.

South Korean Army authorities said construction of a similar barrier is expected to be completed before next spring in the part of the 151-mile border the Koreans guard.

The barrier going up in the U.S. patrol area is topped with barbed wire and appears similar in some respects to the one Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara ordered built just below the demilitarized zone in South Vietnam to slow North Vietnamese infiltration.

Both fences are basically an early warning system. The Korean fence, although reinforced by watch towers with electronic equipment, does not have the electronic and antipersonnel devices planned for the Vietnamese barrier.

"The fence itself is not the barrier," said Lt. Col. George A. Meighan, a battalion commander of the 2nd "Indian Head" Division at the Korean front. The big factor in determining its success, he said, would be the soldiers watching the fence.

Sections completed since construction began in June stand 10 feet high and are topped with rolls of barbed wire. They run relatively straight through mountainous terrain 50 to 200 yards below the southern edge of the 2 1/2-mile-wide buffer zone. Towers with electronic equipment, searchlights, and numerous positions for sentinels are dotted along it.

About 80 to 150 yards of land have been cleared on either side of the fence. Meighan said this would help his men observe movement of any infiltrators.

At night searchlights flash on and other electronic detection equipment comes into play.

DIVIDEND LISTED
BOISE (AP) — Continental Life and Accident Co., Boise, will pay a five-per cent dividend Dec. 15 to stockholders of record as of Dec. 6, President William H. Langroise said Tuesday.

Langroise told the firm's board of directors the company anticipated its insurance in force would reach $300 million by the end of the year and 1967 income would be nearly $8 million.

He said the board also reviewed four written proposals for purchase of Cosmopolitan Life Insurance Co., Beverly Hills, Calif., from Continental.

WOMAN DIES
BOISE (AP) — The death of a Blackfoot student nurse from injuries received in an automobile crash last week has raised Idaho's traffic death toll to 228.

The victim, Mrs. Yvonne Alken, 39, died Tuesday. She was injured in a car-truck accident near Rexburg last Friday. After the collision, her automobile went into a roadside canal and was submerged. It was pulled free by a chain attached to the truck.

LICENSES TAKEN
BOISE (AP) — Four North Idaho liquor establishments have temporarily lost liquor and beer licenses for various offenses, the Idaho Department of Law Enforcement said Tuesday.

One tavern in Buhl also lost a beer license for allegedly selling the beverage to minors, the department added.

The establishments in North Idaho are Sweets Lounge, Wallace; Mint Lounge and Restaurant, Wallace; Whiteys Club, Kellogg; and Inland Cigar, Kellogg.

The suspensions vary from one week to 90 days.

BENSON SPEAKS
BOISE (AP) — Opinion polls taken among Americans now would show that California Gov. Ronald Reagan was the best Republican presidential candidate, former Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson said Tuesday.

Benson passed through Boise on his way to deliver a speech to Meridian high school students.

"It's a little early to draw conclusions," said Benson at an airport interview, "but I think if a poll were taken right now, Gov. Reagan would be out in front."

SITUATION WORSE
JAKARTA (AP) — A militant student faction declared today the Indonesian political situation is becoming critical, with Communist elements infiltrating the government and military and social reform lagging.

but would put them on bulls-eye positions... for enemy rockets, missiles and artillery.

Taylor addressed a banquet concluding a two-day convention of the National Defense Executive Reserve—a pool of civilian executives trained to assume key federal defense jobs in a national emergency.

Taylor, ambassador to South Vietnam in 1964-65, differed sharply, if indirectly, with the view of the present chairman of the Joint Chiefs that increased bombing of North Vietnam could substantially shorten the war.

Gen. Earle G. Wheeler told the Senate preparedness subcommittee last August the port of Halphong should be bombed and the joint chiefs had been blocked by the administration from making intensive raids on 90 targets in 1968.

Taylor, now retired from military service, said the quick-victory proposals "imply we have targets to hit."

"We don't have targets of that nature," he said.

In a fight against a guerrilla enemy, he said, there are no militarily decisive targets.

SENTENCE INCREASED
BOISE (AP) — A convicted killer was sentenced Tuesday to an additional 2 1/2 years in the Idaho State Penitentiary after a jury found him guilty of attempted escape.

William H. Butler was charged with leaving the penitentiary June 6. He and another convict were captured almost immediately.

Butler was serving a 75-year sentence for the slaying of a Boise College coed.

PLAN TO ATTEND
BOISE (AP) — A group of Idaho Republicans is scheduled to attend the Republican Western Conference in Denver Oct. 27-29, the party's state headquarters announced Tuesday.

Among party delegates will be state chairman John O. McMurray; National Committeeman Harley Markham of Pocatello; National Committeewoman Gwen Barnett, and state finance chairman Roland Wilber of Lewiston.

ROMNEY TOLD GATHERING
Romney told a gathering of some 750 Republicans at a GOP fund-raising dinner Tuesday night. "There's no doubt the biggest bulge in the whole credibility gap comes over Vietnam."

Starting an eight-day, ten-state speaking tour, the Republican governor, an undeclared candidate for the GOP presidential nomination, talked again about "brainwashing."

"Apparently there were a lot of brainwashed American voters in 1964," said Romney who stated recently he was brainwashed into going along with President Johnson's Vietnam policy.

Romney said he believed what he was told about Vietnam in 1964 and he continued to believe what he was told on his visit to Vietnam a year later.

"I am like the rest of the American public," Romney said. "I want to believe what our government leaders tell us. But today if any major public figure quoted Johnson's 1964 comments on Vietnam he would be regarded as the dove of the doves."

Gen. Taylor Disagrees With Military Colleagues On War

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Maxwell Taylor, former chief of staff and now special consultant to the President, disagreed with some of his military colleagues Tuesday night and said that neither intensified warfare in Vietnam nor withdrawal into fortified bases would be tactically useful.

Taylor, ambassador to South Vietnam in 1964-65, differed sharply, if indirectly, with the view of the present chairman of the Joint Chiefs that increased bombing of North Vietnam could substantially shorten the war.

Gen. Earle G. Wheeler told the Senate preparedness subcommittee last August the port of Halphong should be bombed and the joint chiefs had been blocked by the administration from making intensive raids on 90 targets in 1968.

Taylor, now retired from military service, said the quick-victory proposals "imply we have targets to hit."

"We don't have targets of that nature," he said.

In a fight against a guerrilla enemy, he said, there are no militarily decisive targets.

Taylor also opposed a cut-back in the war effort, including the so-called "enclave" plan proposed by retired Gen. James Gavin, one-time ambassador to France and sometimes mentioned as a possible dark-horse candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

Taking American troops off the battlefield and concentrating them in defensive enclaves for a long siege, Taylor said, "would hardly save our forces,

Romney Says Unions, Business To Blame For Money Problems

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Michigan Gov. George Romney says unions and business share equally a major portion of the blame for the nation's economic problems in an article appearing today in the Mormon magazine "Dialogue."

Romney, a devout Mormon, is among those mentioned as potential Republican presidential candidates.

He told the magazine that an "excess concentration of collective bargaining power" has gathered about unions and companies, "absorbing the economic progress we make so that none of it reaches the average person in the market place."

Romney ranged through a number of subjects of the type on which campaigns are formed, including Vietnam, social reform and criticism of the Johnson administration's poverty programs.

The Michigan governor gave the interview while in Salt Lake City for the Aug. 23 wedding of his son, Scott, in a temple of the LDS Church.

Romney called for a division of the collective bargaining power to eliminate "distortion of compensation" and "put the consumer back in the driver's seat."

"As far as I'm concerned, that means to divide it so that we can retain a competitive economy disciplined primarily by the competition between enterprises competing for customers free of government authority, he said.

He told the magazine, "we've got to divide this excess power if we want to prevent the creation of a state-directed economy."

Romney criticized the South Vietnamese for not doing enough in the fight against the north.

"We have not yet seen an adequate enough demonstration of their motivation and capability to do the job," the governor said, adding the solution is to give the South Vietnamese a greater role in the overall war effort to avoid a stalemate.

Closer to home, he said the way to lick the social ills of the United States is "helping each other... deal effectively with the race problem, the poverty problem, the education thought," enjoys wide exposure among the 2.5 million Mormons. It has no official connection with the Mormon Church.

Showdown Planned On Rights Measure

By JOHN CHADWICK
WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House is arranging to fly a senator here from England for a cliff-hanging showdown in the Senate Judiciary Committee on a civil rights bill.

Opposing sides said the vote set for today could go either way, depending on absentees, in the battle over legislation to provide federal protection against interfering by violence or threats with the exercise of civil rights.

The administration and civil rights forces are backing a bill passed by the House in August. A rival measure sponsored by Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., was approved by a Judiciary subcommittee 5 to 1. The full committee has 16 members.

Nose-counting by administration strategists indicated they would fall one vote short of defeating Ervin's substitute because of the expected absence of Sens. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., and Hugh Scott, R-Pa., both consistent supporters of civil rights measures.

Dodd is in a Rhode Island hospital reportedly suffering from nervous exhaustion. Scott has been in England lecturing at Oxford University. Early Tuesday he received a call from the White House and was advised a military plane would fly him here in time to vote at the Judiciary Committee meeting.

Our Present City Commissioners are Progressive -- SO ARE OUR TAXES
VOTE FOR: Lawrence Tolman, C. G. (Jack) Pope, Nolan Victor, Joseph Stumph Jr. (Pd. Pol. Adv.)

A spokesman for Ervin, after learning that Scott was being rushed back to Washington, said only that the vote will be "awfully close."

The House-passed bill is part of an omnibus civil rights measure submitted to Congress in mid-February.

It provides stiff criminal penalties for injuring or intimidating a person because he is exercising federally guaranteed rights and because of his race, color, religion, national origin or political affiliation.

Ervin's substitute provides for the same penalties but no showing of racial, religious or other discrimination would be required. Under his bill, federal protection would extend to all citizens.

Training Aids Red Pilots

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
WASHINGTON (AP) — Improved training and combat experience are credited with enabling North Vietnamese fighter pilots to duel American jet pilots on better than even terms in recent dogfights.

The Pentagon disclosed Tuesday that North Vietnamese MIGs outkilled American jets six planes to two during a period running from late August to mid-October.

This reversed the better than three-to-one ratio in aerial kills scored by U.S. pilots over North Vietnamese fliers throughout much of the air war which began in February 1965.

This turnaround, plus a significant rise in the aggressiveness of North Vietnamese air force combat sorties, led U.S. officials to order American Air Force, Navy and Marine jets to attack the important Phuc Yen airfield 18 miles northwest of Hanoi.

Over-all, the U.S. fliers still claim an 86-26 advantage over the North Vietnamese air force in dogfight kills from the beginning of the air war to the point at which Pentagon figures ease off.

American fliers returning from the war zone have been telling newsmen of the growing professionalism of the North Vietnamese air force.

Air Force Col. Robin Olds, the leading MIG killer of the Vietnam war, told a news conference Oct. 3 "there was a notable increase in their aggressiveness and their capability" over the year of his tour.

"Either they've done an awful lot of training or they've run in a new ball team," Olds said.

The consensus among military professionals here seems to be that training and battle experience, plus more professional use of their weapons, explain the greater effectiveness of North Vietnam's pilots.

Olds told a reporter the North Vietnamese had begun to use the MIG21 as it should be used—at supersonic speeds and with tactics to match.

Other officers said the MIGs are utilizing their speed to dash into favorable firing position, to unleash their air-to-air missiles and then to get away.

The MIG21 as an interceptor is rated on a par with the U.S. F4 Phantom fighter.

The Pentagon said that between July 1 and mid-October, U.S. planes shot down seven MIGs and six U.S. aircraft were lost in air-to-air combat.

In the latter half of that period the edge swung against the Americans.

Knife, Fork Club Slates Tuesday Meet

BURLEY — Tennyson Guyer, Finley, Ohio, will be guest speaker at 7 p.m. Tuesday at the Burley-Rupert Knife and Fork Club meeting at Ponderosa Inn.

Mr. Guyer is called "Ohio's Ambassador of Good Will." There may be some among the 7,500 audiences Mr. Guyer has addressed over the past 20 years who may dispute that, but none will dispute that he is one of the nation's best. Further proof of that came two years ago when the International Platform Association named him the "most inspiring speaker in America." He has addressed audiences in every state as well as in Cuba and Canada.

He grew up in Finley, Ohio, and attended Finley College where his father, Dr. William Harris Guyer, served as president until his death. He was graduated with honors, and he has been adding to them during his speaking career. He already has accumulated five honorary doctor degrees.

A great share of the time he is on the platform many times annually.

His job as Director of Public Relations for the Cooper Tire and Rubber Co., and his second job as senator in the Ohio State Legislature keeps him from Finley and his family much of the time. He and his wife, Mae, have two daughters.

Sun Valley Bids For Travel Editors Meet

HAILEY — The International Editors Convention for 1970 was one of the main topics discussed at the Chamber of Commerce meeting Monday at the Mint Cafe.

A letter was read from Louise Shaddock, secretary of the Idaho Department of Commerce and Development, advising that an invitation to hold the convention at Sun Valley in 1970 has been issued. Miss Shaddock said both the state of Texas and the country of Austria are vying for next year's convention, and it is assumed the loser will have the 1969 convention.

Russell Horn told of the "red carpet" which Mr. and Mrs. Everett B. Taylor said was rolled out for travel editors attending this year's convention in Turkey, from which they have just returned. Mrs. Taylor heads public relations at Sun Valley.

Approximately 400 members attend this convention, and with their wives bring the total to almost 800.

The latest bulletin issued by the Associated Taxpayers of Idaho concerning the roll-back of property tax levies was read by Mrs. Roberta McKecher, secretary, and discussed.

President Keith Bird reported the platform beneath the Community Coming Events sign at the corner of Main and Crox streets is installed and it is now easy to change letters.

Mrs. McKecher reported for Mrs. Charles Dunn, chairman of the Merchants Committee, that a Thanksgiving promotion will not be held. Instead the Christmas promotion will be concentrated on, with special lighting and music to start the Saturday following Thanksgiving.

Members voted to ask Hailey Mayor George Allen to issue a proclamation that all places of business close between 2 p.m. and until the Homecoming football game of Wood River High School is over Friday. The game will be played with Shoshone. Mr. Allen was called and agreed to issue the proclamation.

Wayne Clark, president of the Yellowstone Graters of the Moon-Sun Valley Highway Association, requested by letter that everyone sign a petition which will be circulated by Blaine County vice president of the association, Robert R. Glenn, which will favor re-designation of the highway to include the Dubols section of road. He said the petition will be presented at a meeting of the directors of the highway with the State Highway Board in Boise at 1:30 p.m. Oct. 31 to consider this matter.

The forthcoming city election was discussed and everyone urged to vote in this first "at large" election Nov. 7.

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: Last week a neighbor came to our door with a disturbing story. It seems our son, age 10, had undressed her son, age 6, and whatever else took place, she was supposed to have seen.

We have never had any trouble like this before. Our son's exact words were, "I don't know what I did wrong."

This neighbor didn't know that there was a third boy there, who was older. When I questioned him, he assured me that nothing serious took place.

We appreciated this neighbor telling us, so that if we do have a problem we can correct it in time, but what we didn't appreciate was her telling the whole neighborhood.

The next day, none of our son's friends would play with him.

Three days later, the POLICE called to question us in reference to this incident. (Such tales can really get out of proportion, can't they?)

What should we do if they continue to press the issue?

WORRIED DAD

DEAR DAD: If by "pressing the issue," you mean they continue to persecute your child by refusing to allow their children to play with him, moving from the neighborhood would not be too drastic, if at all possible. Tales of this nature live a lot longer than they should.

If you are convinced that what took place was nothing "serious," and only a normal incident of exploring, due to natural boyish curiosity, forget it. But better schedule a chat between your boy and a competent child psychologist to be sure the child hasn't an unhealthy (or abnormal) preoccupation with sex.

DEAR ABBY: I am an 18-year-old boy with a problem. First let me explain that I AM clean, and have never been in any kind of trouble, but I guess you wouldn't say that I was "in" with the popular crowd. I have liked this 16-year-old girl for a long time, and finally got up the nerve to ask her for a movie date. She accepted and I thought we had a good time, but the next time I asked her for a date she said she was busy.

I asked her again, and then she told me that her father didn't want her to go out with me. I asked her why, and she said her father doesn't give reasons, he just gives the orders. This bothered me a lot because I only saw her father once to shake hands with on the night I took her out. I finally got up the nerve to call her father and ask him why he didn't like me.

He said he liked me fine, and when I told him what his daughter had told me, he said he never said anything of the kind. Could the father be lying? Or could the girl have lied to me? I need your advice.

LIED TO

DEAR LIED: Obviously, my advice to you is to forget the girl.

DEAR ABBY: A relative of mine invited me to a buffet-style supper for out-of-town company. While I was eating, without any warning whatsoever, the hostess stuck her fork into my macaroni salad. Abby, all I said was, "Please, if you want some, get some of your own."

She looked at me as tho I was in the wrong and in a very snotty tone she said, "Well, pardon ME!" Then she turned her back on me.

Then I said to her, "O, that's all right, as long as you already started it, you may as well finish it because I'm not going to eat it now." She didn't say another word to me all evening. Naturally, this spoiled the whole party for me.

Abby, what I want to know is, was she out of order for eating from off my plate? Or was I wrong in telling her I didn't like it? You know germs are passed from one to another thru the mouth and I try to be as careful as possible.

CAREFUL

DEAR CAREFUL: I don't know how old you two are, but you sound like a couple of kids. It is not the best manners to "taste" the food on another's plate, neither is it anything about which to become exercised. A closed mouth is a good precaution against "germs." And it also has other advantages.

Troubled? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Criminals Get Help From Law Enforcement

By KRED DODDS
Times-News Staff Writer

Law enforcement does not only concern itself with the arrest and prosecution of the individual, it also concerns itself with rehabilitation. And rehabilitation is control over the convicted defendant. It is a big job in this state, and in Twin Falls County. This is up to the Idaho Probation and Parole officer. Eleven such officers serve in various parts of the state. Robert Kroush is the man in Twin Falls.

His beat covers four counties in Magic Valley — Twin Falls, Camas, Blaine and Gooding. It is his job to see that men and women, once paroled or placed on probation, go straight. Often, through no fault of his own, he fails in this job. Many times he succeeds.

Probation, pardon and parole are three separate ways of life. Probation is when a convicted criminal is given another chance. Parole is when a convicted criminal is released early from the Idaho State Prison. Pardon is when a crime against the state is forgiven. Sometimes, in gross errors of justice, the person is compensated financially for his loss, but this does not happen often in Idaho.

The courts these days, including Fifth District Court, are using probation more than before. Probation can either be administered by Mr. Kroush, or by Michael Feitton, Twin Falls County prosecutor (in cases originating in Twin Falls County).

To give a clear-cut example of how probation works, we shall take a sample case.

John Doe is arrested for burglary. He waives preliminary hearing in the lower city, justice or probate court, and is ordered bound over to Fifth District Court.

On appearing in the higher court, and after consulting with his attorney — and often with a deal worked out by the prosecutor — the man pleads guilty to the crime.

The judge orders a presentence investigation, which usually takes two weeks.

Mr. Kroush then enters the picture. He delves into the man's background, compiles an arrest record, which is kept by the FBI in Washington, D.C., and when the 12 to 14 page detailed report is ready, it is presented to the court.

The judge reads it.

When the new convicted criminal appears for sentencing, the judge asks for statements from the prosecutor and the defense attorney, then from the defendant himself.

With this information, the judge will pass sentence.

For first degree burglary, for the sake of this article, the sentence is five years in the Idaho State Prison.

This sentence either can be commuted to a year, or a term to be served in the county jail of not more than a year, or it can be dropped.

The defendant, we'll say, is placed on probation. Let's say the prison term was suspended and the man was placed on three years probation.

That means for the next three years, the man will have to report monthly to Mr. Kroush. The defendant is under the control of the court and Mr. Kroush. He must be employed, and cannot move or change jobs without letting Mr. Kroush know.

If he wants to travel outside the state, he must let Mr. Kroush know in writing. The defendant shall report in person monthly to Mr. Kroush, and the defendant shall not associate or correspond in any manner with any criminals, ex-inmates, parolees or probationers.

He can't carry a weapon of any kind, can't drink any alcoholic beverages, must obey all laws, cannot loiter, not frequent improper places of amusement, can't get in any unnecessary debt, nor purchase or drive a car without the permission of Mr. Kroush.

He can't marry without consent, shall support his or her dependents, and if he is given permission to work outside Idaho, agrees to waive extradition proceedings if he is wanted in Idaho at a later date by any law enforcement agency.

In other words, his life belongs to the state.

Mr. Kroush at the present time supervises 55 such persons. His files in his courthouse office number in the hundreds.

"It's interesting work, requiring about 99 per cent common sense," Mr. Kroush said.

He has nine years experience with the Idaho State Police, another year as a detective with the Ada County sheriff's office. Once he broke up a ring of burglars and solved nearly 45 cases in one swoop.

In his work here, Mr. Kroush works with an element of society largely of unskilled laborers. "Cooperation from these people is very good. A small percentage get back into trouble at some time, but I try to prevent that if possible."

Mr. Kroush works 10 to 11 hours a day trying to keep up with those he regulates and the mountains of paper work that comes with the job.

The court, these days, is also using another approach to probation.

It is called a withheld judgment and is usually given to first offenders who have pleaded guilty, although it may sometimes be given to a first offender found guilty in a trial.

The judge will decline to find the defendant guilty, although a plea has been entered or a verdict found. The judge will then place the defendant on probation. If the defendant fulfills all the obligations of probation, he will be released from the probation and the felony conviction will never appear on the defendant's record.

In many cases in Twin Falls County and the state, a first offender will never be sent to the penitentiary, outside of a conviction of murder.

The probation officer here works closely with the courts. But as in all phases of criminal work in Twin Falls County, Mr. Kroush's job overlaps.

He has the power to violate a parolee, that is to place him in a parole violator's status. That means the defendant will be returned to the prison or to the county jail to finish his original sentence. In cases of withheld judgment, he can bring the defendant back before the judge.

As with any other type of law enforcement, more help in this area is needed. It is just one part of an event increasing effort to keep the crime rate from rising. It is an effort to keep the once-convicted from going back to prison.

Judge Rules Shouts Won't Bring Mistrial

MORRISTOWN, N.J. (AP) — Shouts by Negro playwright-poet LeRoi Jones that he was being tried by his oppressors and not his peers did not warrant a mistrial, a judge has ruled.

Jones' verbal outbursts Tuesday criticizing the court prompted both defense attorneys to quickly move for a mistrial.

Judge Leon Kapp ordered the selection of a jury to resume after Jones was led back into the courtroom from jail.

Jones, an advocate of Negro separatism, and Charles McCray, 33, and Barry Wynn, 23, all of Newark, are standing trial on charges of illegally possessing two pistols and ammunition during the height of Newark's riots last July. Police said the weapons were recovered in a green camper bus in which the trio was riding.

Tuesday Jones tried to stalk out of the courtroom and had to be handcuffed and ordered behind bars.

The 33-year-old writer had asked for permission to make a statement.

He is a law officer with many years experience.

Judge Rules Shouts Won't Bring Mistrial

MORRISTOWN, N.J. (AP) — Shouts by Negro playwright-poet LeRoi Jones that he was being tried by his oppressors and not his peers did not warrant a mistrial, a judge has ruled.

Jones' verbal outbursts Tuesday criticizing the court prompted both defense attorneys to quickly move for a mistrial.

Judge Leon Kapp ordered the selection of a jury to resume after Jones was led back into the courtroom from jail.

Jones, an advocate of Negro separatism, and Charles McCray, 33, and Barry Wynn, 23, all of Newark, are standing trial on charges of illegally possessing two pistols and ammunition during the height of Newark's riots last July. Police said the weapons were recovered in a green camper bus in which the trio was riding.

Tuesday Jones tried to stalk out of the courtroom and had to be handcuffed and ordered behind bars.

The 33-year-old writer had asked for permission to make a statement.

UN Day Is Observance Of Services

United Nations Day was observed Tuesday and was in observance of its more than 20 years of service to the world.

The importance of the United Nations as an instrument for international peace and welfare was stressed by Mrs. Anna Hayes, who spoke for the Twin Falls Chapter of the AAUW, and as chairman of the International Relations and Citizenship for the Idaho Congress of Parents and Teachers, chairman of the International Relations of the Twin Falls Extension Home-maker's Council, and chairman of the Christian World Relations for Idaho Church Women.

There were no local observances of the day, Mrs. Hayes said.

Agencies of the UN provide for the world's poor, she said.

Marijuana Widely Used By U.S. GIs

SAIGON (AP) — More U.S. servicemen in Vietnam are arrested for smoking marijuana than for any other single major offense, the Army's provost marshal said today.

Brig. Gen. Harley Moore Jr. of Honolulu said in an interview there might be several thousand of the 464,000 U.S. servicemen in Vietnam who smoke marijuana during their tour in the country.

John Steinbeck, 71-year-old son of the novelist who recently served a year in Vietnam, has written in articles for a Washington magazine that three-fourths or more of the GIs in Vietnam smoke marijuana.

Transmission Line Urged By REA Area

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Construction of a Bonneville Power Administration transmission line from the Northwest to southeast Idaho is urged by Region 9 of the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association.

The group adopted a resolution advocating the power line as it ended its annual meeting Tuesday.

The resolution — one of more than 40 passed by the group — breathes new life into an old controversy. Private power companies have vigorously opposed such a line.

Another resolution urged Congress and state legislatures to support the concept of rural opportunity, and to help rural electric cooperatives promote rural industrial and commercial growth.

Revitalization of rural areas was a major theme of the conference which was attended by delegates from 31 rural electric systems from Utah to Alaska.

Ray Brown, director of the Moon Lake Electric Cooperative of Duchesne, Utah, was re-elected interim executive committee man for the region.

Norman Clapp, administrator of the Rural Electrification Administration, warned the group that the rural electrification system is in jeopardy. He said there are strong organized interests "actively exploiting every opportunity to restrict the REA program."

100 Students Protest Utah Tuition Hike

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — About 100 students made a short, orderly march to the front steps of the Utah Capitol Tuesday to protest a proposed tuition increase at University of Utah.

Secretary of State Clyde L. Miller, acting governor, met the small group and promised to turn a letter of protest over to Gov. Calvin L. Rampton, when he returns from the National Governor's Conference.

There were placards indicating representation in the march from every state-operated university and college in Utah.

The letter of protest, asking that there be no tuition hike, was signed by student associations of the schools.

University of Utah President James C. Fletcher told a student assembly Monday a tuition increase was necessary to compensate for the university's trimmed budget — the result of state austerity.

Gov. Rampton ordered a 4 per cent general fund cutback shortly after the copper strike began affecting state revenue collections.

The march, which began at Social Hall Avenue where most of Salt Lake City's major radio and television stations have studios, was led by John Kessler, president of Associated Students of University of Utah.

Stowaway To Pay Fare For Trip Home

NEW YORK (AP) — Helmo Schoenberg, a 23-year-old German student who tried to save $35 by stowing away on a London-to-Frankfurt jet hop, will have to pay $360 for getting on a plane headed for Kennedy Airport.

Helmo's problems started when he found himself in London Tuesday without any money to get home. Being resourceful, he stowed away on a jet he thought was headed for Frankfurt.

But the short hop from London to Frankfurt turned into a seven-hour, 3,600-mile nightmare in the subfreezing temperatures of the baggage department of a cargo plane. "It was an awfully long 30 minutes," he said later.

Things won't get very much better. Seaboard World Airlines is charging Helmo $360 for his flight. And federal law forced him to be transported back to where he started — London.

... are the 11 candidates seeking the three posts to be filled in the Burley City election Nov. 7. The incumbents, Norman Dayley, J. L. Nichols and Rex Stanley, are opposed by eight other candidates, representing all walks of life. Registration is continuing daily at the Burley city hall and all persons not voting in the municipal election two years ago or having moved since must register.

11 Try For Burley Posts In Nov. 7 City Election

BURLEY — Burley voters will have a choice of 11 candidates for the three Burley City councilmen posts in the Nov. 7 election.

A total of 18 petitions were taken out of the City clerk's office, but only 11 were filed and accepted as official petitions.

All three incumbents are seeking re-election. They are Norman Dayley, J. L. Nichols, and Rex Stanley. Others seeking the posts are John Croft, Grant Fillmore, Les Morgan, S. Keith Stoddard, Augustine D. Esquibel, Richard A. Huizinga, Gordon North and Harry Wilcox.

Mr. Dayley has served one term on the city council. He is the owner and manager of Quality Upholstery Shop which he has operated for 11 years. He is vice-president of the Miller School PTA and has served four years as LDS Bishop of the Second Ward LDS Church. He is a veteran of World War II where he served as court recorder in the U. S. Army and was in charge of courts-martial for eight companies.

"I am seeking re-election to the city council so I may continue to serve the residents of Burley to the best of my ability," he said.

J. L. Nichols is just completing a four year term as city councilman. He has been a resident of Burley for 12 years and has worked at Swift and Co. for past 20 years, presently managing a two million dollar business for the firm. A graduate of Weber Junior College, Ogden, and Utah State, Logan, he attended Montana University, Missoula, and served in the U. S. Army Paratroopers during World War II.

He is Cassia County Civil Defense Public Information officer; is commander of Civil Air Patrol Cadet Squadron; president of Burley Chapter Air Force Association and state vice president of Air Force Association. He is a member of the Burley Police Reserve, Burley Elk's Lodge, Burley Lions Club and the St. James Episcopal Church. He and his wife have five children ranging in ages from 18 to 11 years.

"I have always tried to do the best job for the most people, at the best interest of the taxpayer. I feel most fortunate to have the opportunity to live in and serve the city of Burley; I consider it the most progressive city in the west. We have been steadily progressing and must continue to progress or go stagnant," he stated.

Rex Stanley was appointed to the city council last spring to fill out the term of LaMar Craner who moved from the precinct. A resident of Burley for the past six years he moved here from Jerome with his wife and three children. For several years he was employed by the telephone co., prior to going to work for J. R. Simplot Co., in 1959 when the plant was opened at Heyburn. He is serving as safety director at the plant. During World War II he served in the Signal Corps.

He is a member of the Burley Masonic Lodge, adviser for Mount Harrison Chapter DeMolay and is a member of the Pocatello Scottish Rites and the Burley Presbyterian Church. "I feel that the city council is a joint effort and it takes all members to do a good job, therefore I will not make any promises," the candidate stated.

This is John Croft's first try for political office. "I am a resident of Burley and feel it would be a privilege to serve on the city council and to help Burley continue to be a progressive growing city. I am not running for city councilman because I have a score to settle or an ax to grind. I just want to serve the people and promote efficient use of city assets and properties," he said.

Mr. Croft has been in the meat business for 17 years and is market manager at Jay's Fine Foods. A native of Heyburn, he was graduated from Heyburn High School and has served in the U. S. Army. He and his wife and three children have made Burley their home for the past eight years.

Grant Fillmore was born and raised in Twin Falls and moved to Burley in 1951. For the past 13 years he has been manager of Thriftway Drug. He was the charter president for the Burley Exchange Club and has held regional offices in the organization.

This fall he was chairman for the Western Country Jamboree, sponsored by the Burley Exchange Club in connection with the Cassia County Fair. For the past four years he has served as manager for the Merchants Building at the fairgrounds.

He is a member of the board of directors for the Burley Chamber of Commerce, Burley Parking Co. and Downtown Merchants Association of which he is a past president. He and his wife live at 1951 Hansen Ave. and have four children.

Mr. Fillmore said the new election laws have eliminated the fact that a candidate must reside in the precinct which he represents. However, I believe the residents should keep in mind the areas from which the candidates live in casting their votes. I believe the city would have a better representation on the city council if many sections of the town were represented, for a person becomes better acquainted with conditions in his own neighborhood than he does with the opposite end of town.

"I think the at-large plan has its advantages and I am not at all opposed to it. I believe a general survey of the city's needs should be made and used as guidelines for project priority. Through my activities in business, organizations and civic matters I have proven some organizational ability and leadership which are very essential for service on the city council," he notes.

Les V. Morgan stated, "I am interested in extending the growth of progressive Burley and in accenting its attractive image to investment capital and new industry, in maintaining a busy atmosphere that attracts new families and offers our sons and daughters a sound place to join the business and professional world. I feel that I am open-minded and would invite suggestion and advice from anyone that would come to me with a problem. Should I be elected, I would continue that invitation and would give equal consideration to problems from all areas of our rather extensive city.

"Among other things an aggressive administration should provide paved streets and adequate utilities for all parts of the city; a dependable water system with adequate storage for all emergencies; recreation facilities with long range planning for the future; plenty of parking facilities for customers and visitors as well as for our own business and professional people; police and fire protection for all."

Mr. Morgan owned and managed a successful hardware and sporting goods store in Burley for 26 years and sold the business this spring to Shelby's.

He holds a bachelor of science degree from University of Idaho; is a past president of Intermountain Hardware and Implement Dealers Association, a past District Governor of Lions International, and past president of Burley Lions Club. Currently he is president of Intermountain Hammer and Plow Club.

He is a member of Burley Elks Lodge No. 1384; Cassia Rod and Gun Club, Burley-Rupert Knife and Fork Club, Burley Chamber of Commerce, Community Concert Association and the Burley First Presbyterian Church. He makes his home with his wife, Helen, at 2300 Burton Ave. and they have three daughters. Mrs. Morgan is an instructor at Burley High School in the Home Economics department.

S. Keith Stoddard is owner and manager of Stoddard Appliance and Furniture. An active member in local civic and business affairs, he attended Idaho State College, Pocatello.

He served as dental technician in U. S. Navy during World War II. For 13 years he was in insurance business which includes three years as a district manager for Farmer's Insurance Group and five years as a staff manager for the Prudential Insurance Co.

In many positions in the LDS Church, including that of a Ward Bishop.

Reasons Mr. Stoddard gives for running for city councilman are "enthusiastic belief in future growth and prosperity of Burley; realization that business experience would be helpful if not essential in management of city affairs. He feels the need for a progressive forward look attitude tempered with deliberate and unshaky judgment, strongly believes that every citizen should have a voice in the government of our city and pledges to seek council from the citizenry."

Augustine D. Esquibel was born at Wagon Mound, N. M., and was graduated from Wagon Mound High School in 1943. During World War II served in the U. S. Navy. After returning from the war was engaged in raising sheep and cattle.

In 1949 he served as soil and concrete inspector for the highway department, was appointed supervisor in 1950 at the Industrial School for boys at Springer, N. M.; was elected sheriff of Mora County, in Mora, N. M., and served as policeman on Cheyenne Police Department, Cheyenne, Wyo., and Burley Police Department. He is a graduate from the Institute of Applied Science, State Police School, Civil and Criminal Investigations.

Presently he is a board member and adviser to the National Latin American Federation and is president of the local Latin American Club.

Reasons given for entering the City councilman race are "because of my interest in city government and the community of Burley as a whole. I also have a great concern for the improvement of the north side of Burley of which I am a part, for I make my home there," Mr. Esquibel said.

Richard A. Huizinga has been a resident of Burley for 15 years and makes his home at 422 W. 13th St. with his wife and three children. He attended Idaho State University and served two years in the U.S. Marine Corps. A member of the Burley Rotary Club and presently serving on the board of directors, he belongs to the Burley Chamber of Commerce and promotes the Idaho Businessman of the Year. He also has served on several community fund drives.

"I believe it is time for a civic minded young progressive person to represent the people of Burley in our city government. I am interested in all problems in all areas of the city. If elected I will be willing to listen to problems presented by the residents and work with the people in reaching an agreement for the betterment of all residents of Burley."

Gordon North was graduated from Pocatello High School and the Idaho Technical Institute, which is now known as Idaho State University, and Wilson Brothers School of Display and Design, Chicago. A Burley resident for the past 28 years, he was an independent businessman for 20 years, operating a service station and accessory store.

After selling out his own business he became associated with the Idaho Department Store where he is presently employed. A member of the First Methodist Church, Burley, he is a past president of the local Methodist Men's Club and past president of the Magic Valley Methodist Men's Club, a past secretary for the Burley Kiwanis Club and a former member of the Burley Chamber of Commerce.

He and his wife live at 1800 Hansen Ave. and they have one son who is a professor at Beadle State University, Madison, S. D.

"I believe in good government for everyone and if elected shall cooperate with our mayor, city officials and fellow councilmen to the best of my ability for the welfare of the city," he said.

The youngest candidate is Harry Wilcox who is single and makes his home with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Wilcox, 502 E. 13th St. "I am running to give the people of Burley an opportunity to advance and to provide some representation for progress," he said.

"I am a progressive candidate and I am in favor of positive city government. I am qualified because politics is my life to some extent. I am active in political organizations and have a keen interest in local, state and national government. The street issue in the north section of Burley can't be bypassed and this problem must be dealt with, for the issue is long overdue, and there is no substitute for improved streets in this section of Burley. If elected I pledge to do everything in my power to improve the street situation," Mr. Wilcox declared.

He is a member of Burley Presbyterian Church, attended Cassia and Minidoka schools; has specialized technical training in electronics and is active in the Cassia County Democratic party.

Youth Found Sane During Slayings

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Robert Benjamin Smith was sane when he killed four women and a child at a Mesa beauty college and should die in the gas chamber, a Superior Court jury decided Tuesday night.

After deliberating an hour and 49 minutes, the seven-woman, five-man jury found Smith, 19, guilty of five counts of first-degree murder and two counts of assault with intent to commit murder against the two survivors of the November 12 shooting spree.

The slender, dark-haired defendant sat quietly as the verdict was read to a hushed courtroom where his parents sat with about a dozen spectators. Only after they were out of the courtroom did Mrs. Robert L. Smith bury her head in her husband's arms and cry softly.

Presiding Judge Laurance T. Wren said he would set a sentencing date within the next two weeks. The defense had maintained throughout the trial that Smith was mentally ill at the time of the shootings. It never denied he was the killer.

Defense attorney Rod Wood said later that "the notes undermined our case. They showed a certain coyness on the part of Smith."

He referred to the state's introduction of notes written by Smith to a former jailmate which said: "My attorney is trying to make everyone on the outside think I'm insane."

A key witness was Mrs. Bonita Sue Harris Canteloupe, the only adult survivor, who testified she played dead after Smith shot her in the head and arm. She pointed to Smith as the killer during the first day of testimony.

Three other beauty school students—Mrs. Carol Farmer, 19, Mary Olsen, 18, and Glenda Carter, 18—were slain along with a customer, Mrs. Joyce Sellers, 27, and her daughter, Debra, 3.

Play Given

MALTA—Members of the Raft River High School presented a three-act play entitled "We Dood It" Friday evening at the high school under the direction of Mrs. Orville Sears.

Republicans Plan Spending Cut

By JOE HALL
WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans have $5 billion and $2 billion moves ready in their effort to win Senate approval of a multibillion dollar cutback in federal spending.

The administration, beaten in a similar fight by the House, is trying to block the attachment of any across-the-board spending curbs to an otherwise routine money resolution.

Senate votes were expected today on the resolution, which extends until Nov. 15 the authority for many federal agencies to continue to spend government money.

Congress has not completed action on these agencies' regular appropriations for the budget year which began July 1. An earlier interim spending authorization expired at midnight Monday.

Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., wants to add a provision establishing a $11.5 billion federal spending ceiling for this fiscal year. That's estimated to be worth a $5 billion cut and is almost the same as one provision the House tacked onto the resolution last week.

The House also added a broader directive to the President to reduce expenditures by $6 to $8 billion in the present year.

Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., proposes a 5 per cent cut in all appropriations except those for defense and for items fixed by law such as interest on the national debt.

He estimated this would reduce appropriations by nearly $2 billion.

Williams told the Senate Tuesday the nation is in a "chaotic financial situation" and that President Johnson has contributed heavily by "false economy promises" and by "juggling the budget figures in an effort to mislead the American people as to the true extent of deficit spending."

Chairman Carl Hayden, D-Ariz., of the Appropriations Committee said the House riders seek to make economies "by blind, across-the-board reductions" and it is impossible to know their real effect.

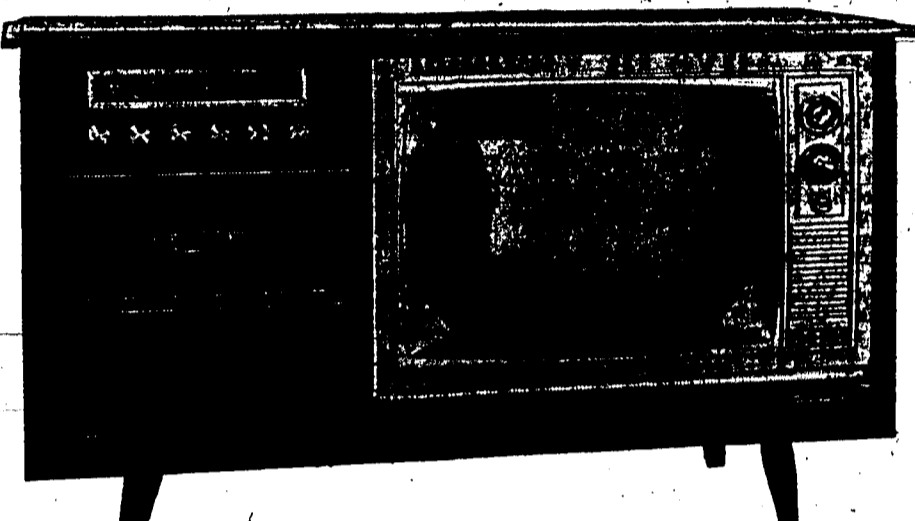

Meanwhile, progress continued in pushing through the regular money measures.

Officials Are Divided On Marijuana Views

By JACK MILLER
WASHINGTON (AP) — Top federal officials are widely divided in their views on marijuana. But they're concerned and trying to learn more about it.

The division was underscored following the statement last week by Food and Drug Commissioner Dr. James I. Goddard that he believes marijuana is less dangerous than alcohol.

Goddard recommended relaxing severe laws against marijuana to eliminate penalties against possession. He said penalties should be retained for distribution or sale.

Taking a sharply different position, U.S. Narcotics Commissioner Henry L. Giardano testified before Congress earlier this year that marijuana "is not, as some people say, less (dangerous) than alcohol or less than smoking tobacco. Some way we have got to get this across to the public."

And Dr. Phillip R. Lee, assistant secretary for scientific affairs for the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, told The Associated Press, "We just don't have enough information to know the dangers of marijuana."

But federal officials agree the growing use of marijuana is of serious concern.

To fill the gap in scientific data on the drug, the government has put high priority on new research by the National Institute of Mental Health.

The Institute's new Center for Studies of Narcotic and Drug Abuse hopes to have solid evidence in about two years.

Acting center director Dr. Roger Meyer acknowledged in an interview that the center is under heavy pressure—both public and governmental—to get the answer fast. And he said the question policymakers want to answer is whether marijuana should be legalized.

For now, says Lee, the administration's policy is that there should be no change in the law, which equates marijuana with the extremely dangerous opiate heroin and with other strong narcotics.

The Federal Narcotics Act provides for a mandatory prison term of 2 to 10 years for first offenses on possession of marijuana, though discretionary sentences are allowed for offenders up to age 26.

In Colorado, the death penalty is provided for second convictions involving persons under 25 with narcotics—including marijuana.

What are the dangers of marijuana?

Federal officials agreed in a series of interviews that it's easier to say what the dangers are not.

The President's Crime Commission said earlier this year marijuana isn't habit forming physically, although users may become psychologically dependent on it; the user doesn't feel the need with time to increase the dosage as do opiate users; there is no conclusive evidence marijuana users graduate to more powerful drugs or that it causes crime; there are no obvious lasting physical effects and have been no known deaths.

But the commission found it to be by no means harmless, saying "it can cause anxiety, confusion or disorientation."

Down Draft Of 'Copter Kills Two'
SAIGON (AP)—The down draft from the rotor blades of a heavily loaded U. S. Army helicopter collapsed a rural building Tuesday on a group of Vietnamese children, killing two of them and injuring nine, a U. S. military spokesman reported.

He said the helicopter was loaded with 8,000 pounds of rice being delivered to Vietnamese villagers. It was hovering 20 feet above the ground when the draft generated by its rotor collapsed the structure on the children.

Photo Renews Father's Hope That Son's Alive In Vietnam

COKATO, Minn. (AP) — A photograph from North Vietnam has renewed a father's hope that his son is alive in a prisoner of war camp although the Pentagon has listed him as dead for several months.

Hanoi's Vietnam News Agency released a picture Monday, showing the man with a group of Asians. In Tokyo, VNA identified him only as "U.S. Capt. Schumann" and said he was commander of a unit captured by Communist forces.

The Pentagon said it had no such name on its missing list. After a copy of the Communist photograph was supplied to defense officials, officers said the American apparently was Capt. John R. Schumann.

He was originally listed as missing, but the Defense Department said last March he died in a Communist prison camp in South Vietnam.

The soldier's father, John P. Schumann, was shown a copy of the Communist photograph at his home Tuesday and said, "It looks a lot like him."

The elder Schumann whose wife died of a stroke a few weeks ago, found his hopes bolstered that his son was still alive.

"In my own mind, I didn't think he was dead. He isn't the kind who would give up that easily," said Schumann, 61, who works for a farm implement dealer.

Mrs. Howard Lind, Bloomington, Minn., the soldier's younger sister, said, "I'm just baffled. I don't know what to think of this. I don't know when the picture was taken."

The elder Schumann acknowledged that it would be hard to tell whether the picture might have been taken before his son reportedly died. Mrs. Lind said the family was informed last March by the Defense Department that Schumann had died in July 1966 of pneumonia and a kidney disease.

She said another prisoner-of-war who was released because of the lunar new year truce made the report. According to the government statement, said Mrs. Lind, "John had died in his arms."

Stocks

NEW YORK (AP) - The stock market remained lower late this afternoon, but had cut its losses. Some issues were strong. Volume for the first four hours was 6.91 million shares compared with 7.84 million Tuesday. Losses outnumbered gains by a little less than 2-1 and the Dow Jones Industrial average had about halved a 5-point decline in late dealings. Rheem Manufacturing, up 3, passed the list on volume as it continued to respond to a tender offer for its stock from Seeburg. Sperr Rand, up 3, also was active. International Silver spurred 2 or more points on news of a 2-for-1 stock split and the company's decision to redeem convertible debentures. Honeywell rose 5 points. Sheraton gained more than 3 on news of a proposed merger with International Telephone which added a fraction. Amphenol, Whitaker Corp. and Occidental Petroleum were other heavily traded 2-point gainers. Polaroid gained 9 and Xerox 5. Bethlehem reported lower earnings and all the steel makers took losses. Autos were narrowly mixed. Xenith, IBM and New York Central were off about 2 each. Down about a point were International Nickel, Goodyear and American Can. Prices were irregularly lower on the American Stock Exchange.

Grain

CHICAGO (AP) - Grain futures prices fluctuated nervously over a relatively narrow range on the Chicago Board of Trade today. Tension and uncertainty concerning the Middle East crisis was an important factor in the trade. Another factor was widely scattered rain over portions of the United States where harvesting of record corn and soybeans crops is in progress. Business

NEW YORK (AP) - The guaranteed annual income plan now being considered by Ford Motor Co. workers is far different from the much-publicized guaranteed income that is often suggested as an antidote to poverty. The Ford plan would provide laid-off workers a bit less than 85 per cent of their take-home pay for a limited period, with the funds coming from company contributions and from the worker's state unemployment compensation. The guaranteed annual wage that has often been proposed as part of the war on poverty would provide federal government funds to a family whether the breadwinner has ever held a job or has a skill. There is very little precedent for guaranteeing money specifically to nonworkers. These plans aren't designed so much for security as to avoid abject poverty and its consequences. However, the plans have more in common than their names. Both have as their basic motivation the desire to free human beings from the ups and downs of the economic cycle, to enhance dignity, to promote purchasing power. Both also depend on much more planning than was attempted, or even possible, just a couple of decades ago. During these decades the concept of the controllable economic cycle has gained wide acceptance. This concept, sometimes called the New Economics, asserts that a low level of unemployment, a high level of productivity and relative price stability are attainable through delicate fiscal and monetary policy. Whether this is true is still debatable, but the wide swings from boom to bust are now far less discernible than they were earlier in this century. With such relative stability, industry also has less fear of the future. Its business projections are rather accurate. Since the future is not the gamble it once was, it can commit itself to a plan such as a guaranteed wage. Nevertheless, a guaranteed income may produce adverse repercussions for the less affluent corporations, specifically the financially troubled American Motors, which may find a guarantee difficult to uphold. The guaranteed income plans related to poverty demand considerable government initiative, even interference. In the old "hands off" concept, the tied man's lot to production. No production, no wages. However, the rapid advance of technology has made obsolete a lot of the minimal skills and has left some individuals without the chance of earning a living wage. As more human skills become obsolete these numbers may swell. The growing roller rolls, in part, are the result of technological advance, although certainly other factors are involved. Partly as a result, some of the guaranteed income plans are proposed as replacements for welfare.

Q. Would you advise me, a woman, 52, who lives alone and who must sustain her own apartment to buy more stocks in a utility company. My salary is $4,680 a year. I have about $2,000 in a savings account and 50 shares of the stock, which produces a yield of approximately four per cent in dividends. Should I now invest all I can for the future? Or should I try to save all I can? A. To begin with, the natural advice for you or almost anybody else who is interested in stocks of electric and gas utility companies is to buy 'em and keep 'em. Utilities are the natural foundation from which to start building investments. Sure, the market prices of low utility stocks are now below their previous levels. Many are still down from their peaks of two or three years ago. We're in a period of speculation, in which many solid stocks don't appeal to some people. They would rather chase hot-shot growth stock hopefuls. But, for really long-haul investments, stocks of utility and other established companies are the natural choices. With their steady (granted, not spectacular) growth in earnings and dividends, you have little or no real worries. This does not mean that everyone should rush out and put every available dollar in utility stocks or any other stocks. When you buy stocks you immediately take on the risk that they may fall in market value over the next couple of years. Everyone should have a cushion of safety, in the form of cash savings. Your $2,000 seems adequate, for that purpose, just in case you run into an emergency. But it would not be advisable for you to cut that cash cushion. Instead (while hanging on to that $2,000 cash reserve) you should try to save whatever extra money you can and invest that spare money in good stocks, such as utilities. You say that the 50 shares you now own are yielding about four per cent. Are you sure you're figuring right? Many high-quality utility stocks now produce a current yield (dividend divided by market price) of five per cent or more. Q. I own some shares of a mutual fund. I was married 10 months ago. In the event of my death, does my husband automatically become the owner of these shares? Or should I notify the fund? A. You should notify the mutual fund or its transfer agent (the custodian bank) to have the registration changed. Getting your right (married) name on the records as the registered owner of the shares will save a lot of complications. Whether or not you change the registered ownership to your name alone or to your husband's name and your name is up to you. Both he and you had better see a lawyer, to have a will drawn up and to have the advantages and disadvantages of joint ownership explained. Q. I own 100 shares of stock - all in one 100-share certificate. I plan to sell 50 shares. How do I do this? A. Give your broker an order to sell 50 shares. Deliver the 100-share certificate to him. He'll handle all the details and, when everything is all squared away, he'll send you a certificate for the 50 shares you haven't sold. Q. I plan to be away from home for a few months. Some friends tell me to put all stock certificates I might wish to sell during that time in the hands of a broker. I have never done this before. Do you think it's a good idea? A. If you decide to sell, your broker will have to have the certificates for the stock involved. So, if your broker has the certificates you can arrange a sale simply by making a phone call. But, if you have your certificates stashed away in a lockbox or some other safe place, you won't be able to sell. So, it is a good idea. I hope you're not thinking about taking your stock certificates along with you. You just might lose them. (Mr. Doyle will answer only representative letters of general interest in his column. He cannot answer phone queries.)

Drastic Step

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - After campaigning more than three years to get Americans to stop smoking, the American Heart Association took a drastic step Tuesday. The association's general assembly, holding its annual meeting, voted overwhelmingly to ban cigarette smoking at its own official meeting and at more than 500 of its offices across the nation. "Why don't we put our hearts where our mouths are," asked A. Von Hippel, editor of the Alaska Medical Society Journal, in offering the surprise motion to the 400 delegates in the smoke-filled room.

Six Michigan State Grid Players Are Suspended For Keeping Late Hours

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan State Coach Duffy Daugherty has suspended half a dozen of his top players for keeping late hours—making it look like a long afternoon ahead for the thin ranks of the Spartans in their football rematch Saturday against Notre Dame.

The suspended players will not be on the traveling roster for the meeting with the favored Irish on their home grounds. Michigan State, blanked 21-0 by Minnesota its last time out, already has its ranks riddled by a series of injuries.

The six players were suspended for violating curfew hours and returning late to their dormitory at East Lansing after the team returned from the Minnesota trip.

Four were to start against the Irish, two each on offense and defense. Two others had been listed as second team starters, one each on offense and defense.

Daugherty confirmed the suspensions Tuesday, adding that how soon the players might be reinstated would depend on their individual attitudes.

Daugherty refused to release the names of the players himself, saying he had promised the squad he would not and that this was a long-standing policy. He said the refusal was "in the best interests of the team and the MSU football family."

Przybycki, Law and Armstrong were to start against Notre Dame. Little is a second stringer.

Later, Notre Dame Coach Ara Parseghian told the Chicago football writers by phone that the other two suspended players were Maurice Haynes and Frank Foreman, offensive ends from Baton Rouge, La., and Louisville, Ky., respectively.

Parseghian said he got the names from his publicity office and the list also included Przybycki, Law, Little and Armstrong.

Last fall, in a battle for the rating as the No. 1 collegiate team in the nation, Michigan State and Notre Dame played to a 10-10 standoff at East Lansing.

Notre Dame was voted the top team in the country after the game.

The Irish were heavily favored in the rematch after rolling over Illinois 47-7 last Saturday.

Hart Named Player Of Week In NFL

NEW YORK (AP) — For the second time in the space of a month, young Jim Hart, the St. Louis Cardinals' free agent quarterback, has been named The Associated Press Offensive Player of the Week in the National Football League.

Hart, originally destined to back up Charley Johnson, was thrust into the No. 1 job during the training season when Johnson was called into the armed service. Instead of disaster, the Cards have found success and are tied with Cleveland for the lead of the Century Division with a 4-2 record.

The 6-foot-2, 205-pounder from Southern Illinois had a big day Sunday with four touchdown passes in the Cards' 48-14 rout of Philadelphia. Hart completed 16 of 29 for 267 yards and never was dumped or intercepted.

Although Johnson is due to finish basic training this week and go on a two-week leave, Coach Charley Winner is not thinking of replacing Hart.

"Hart still is our quarterback," Winner said after the game with the Eagles. "Johnson will be our backup man. When Charley was called up the players told Hart they believed he could do the job. He is making remarkable progress."

"It is too early yet to say we have another (John) Unitas but we have confidence in him."

Joe Kuharich, coach of the Eagles, said "Hart found his receivers after a second and third look. We didn't get him once and our guy (Norm Sneady) got knocked down seven times."

Hawks Down New York In Overtime

NEW YORK (AP) — Veteran Lennie Wilkens poured in 10 points in overtime and the unbeaten St. Louis Hawks won their seventh straight game, 135-130 over the New York Knickerbockers, in the second game of a National Basketball Association doubleheader Tuesday night.

A Madison Square Garden capacity crowd of 18,499 watched Hal Greer gun in 33 points and lead the Philadelphia 76ers to a 124-102 victory over the Detroit Pistons in the first game.

The Hawks, down 96-84 after three periods, pecked away at the New York lead and trailed 119-115 with less than a minute to play. Then Dick Snyder made it 119-117 and Paul Silas tied it with a basket with 34 seconds left.

Phipps Is Tops In Total Offense

NEW YORK (AP) — Mike Phipps, Purdue's precocious sophomore quarterback, has taken over first place in total offense among the nation's major college football teams.

New leaders also moved up in passing—Jimmy Poole of Davidson—and in punting—Bob Coble of Kansas State—but O.J. Simpson, Southern California's great runner, increased his margin in rushing yardage.

Phipps, in five games, has piled up 1,743 yards, according to the official statistics released Tuesday by the NCAA's National Collegiate Sports Services. He replaced Terry Stone of New Mexico, last week's leader, who is second with 1,180 yards in six games.

Stone also lost his pace-setting role in passing. Poole, a 5-foot-9, 160-pound quarterback, has the most completions, 102, in 173 attempts for 1,063 yards in six games. Stone has clicked on 100 passes in 220 tries for 1,364 yards.

Simpson, the star of Southern California's unbeaten, untied, and top-ranked Trojans, rolled up 235 yards on 30 carries and scored twice in the 23-6 victory over Washington. Simpson has dashed 987 yards in 180 plays and scored nine touchdowns in six games.

Doug Dalton, the runner-up from New Mexico State, has rushed for 679 yards in 11 plays for 679 yards.

Coble paces the punters with a 44.4 yard average on 35 kicks. Tom Galloway of the U. of Texas at El Paso and Steve O'Neal of Texas A&M are tied for second with 44.1

Phipps' Feet Gave OSU Clue

CORVALLIS, Ore. (AP) — Mike Phipps' feet are partly to blame for the 22-14 football upset inflicted on Purdue last Saturday by the Oregon State Beavers.

Beaver Coach Dee Andros revealed that he and his assistants noticed from game films last week that the Purdue quarterback moved his feet slightly as he took the ball from center on pass plays.

Andros told officials that the Beavers would charge as soon as the foot moved, as the rules allow.

"I watched that foot," said Beaver defensive tackle Jess Lewis, "and as soon as it moved I charged hard, knowing it would be a pass."

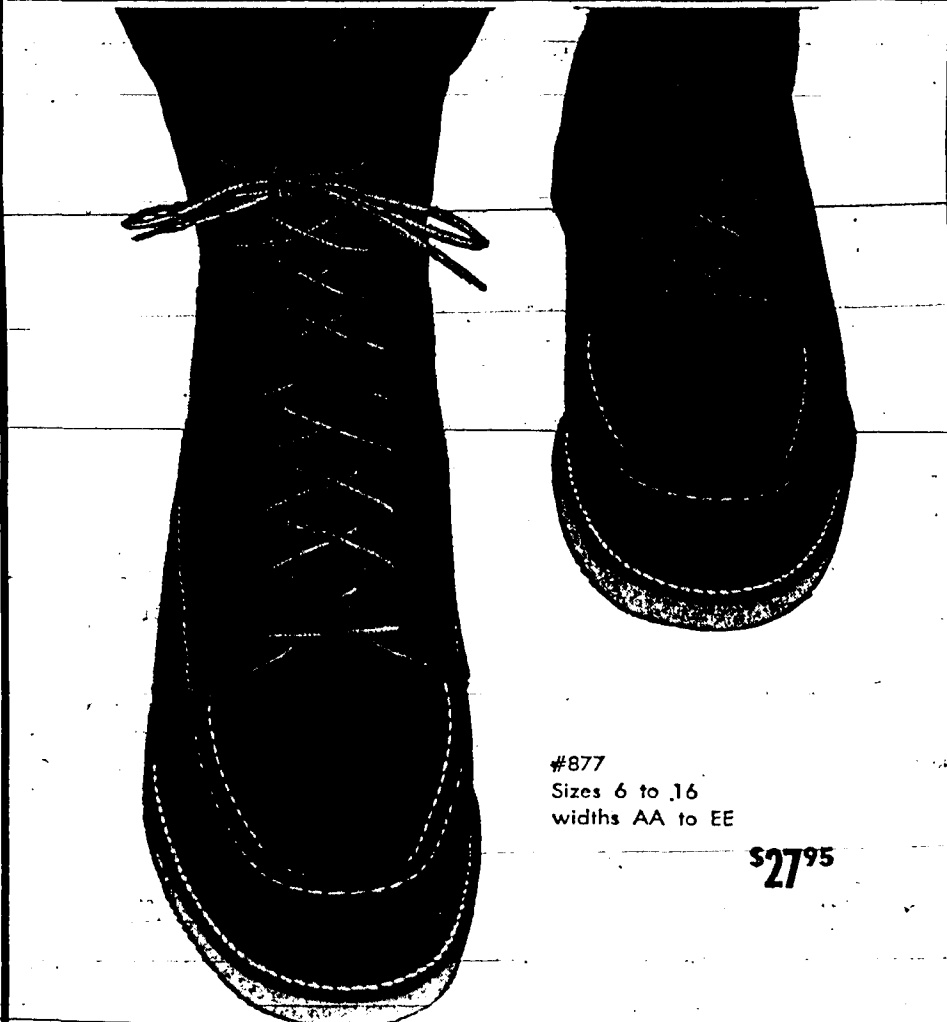

Phipps passed anyway for 169 yards but his longest completion was only 15 yards.

The foot trick must have helped. Lewis recovered two fumbles and the Beaver secondary intercepted three passes.

Westside-Declo, North Gem-Oakley Games Set For Inter-League Playoff

Declo will meet Westside High of Dayton and Oakley will take on North Gem of Bancroft in the first annual playoff between the Magic Valley Conference and the Class A alignment in the fifth district.

The games will be played as a doubleheader beginning at 11 a.m. Nov. 4 at the American Falls High School field, Oakley and North Gem, the runners-up in their respective conferences, will meet in the first game with the two champions colliding immediately after.

The playoffs received approval from the fourth district board Monday. The board's action ended a little speculation that it might be canceled. Currently, the Idaho Interscholastic Activities Association does not sponsor any state playoffs and appears against such a move.

Spokesmen for the two conferences specified that the Nov. 4 playoff is an inter-conference squabble, independent of district or any other affiliation.

The playoff is possible because none of the team in the two conferences contracted for more than nine games, leaving a 10th spot open. The state board restricts all football teams to 10 games per year.

We're looking forward to it. We think it's going to be a lot of fun," says Declo Coach Keith Wilson. "The boys have worked hard and played good football and this is a little something extra for their effort."

Oakley Coach Gary Swan expressed similar feelings, but hopes fullback Rulon Tolman will be available for action against North Gem. "We like to throw but Tolman is the man who makes it work with his running," Swan said. "If he isn't there to keep the defense honest, our passing game runs into problems." Tolman is nursing a chest injury.

It would appear that Westside, on the basis of some round-about comparative scores, is a slight favorite in the title game with Oakley, if Tolman is healthy, holding the nod in the runner-up bowl.

Idaho Gets Ready For Saturday Tilt

MOSCOW, Idaho (AP) — The University of Idaho Vandals worked against the freshman team Tuesday polishing offensive and defensive patterns in preparation for Parsons College here Saturday.

Coach Steve Musseau said most of the action Tuesday was intended to remove the kinks from the Vandals' running attack. He warned that Parsons does "everything real well. They're not a spectacular team, but they play good basic football."

Musseau said the Vandals are in good shape physically, with center Gary Atkinson the only doubtful player. Atkinson severely sprained a knee Saturday against Oregon and is not scheduled to work out this week. Backup center Dick Chaffield also is out with a broken hand, and Musseau said center duties may go to linebacker Joe Tasby.

Warriors Drop Royals 116-106

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Jimmy King led the San Francisco Warriors to a 116-106 National Basketball Association victory over the Cincinnati Royals Tuesday night. King scored 37 points, his best league scoring effort.

In the first quarter, Bill Sharman's Warriors led 35-24 with King and Nate Thurmond scoring 20 of the San Francisco total.

The Warriors led by as many as 15 points during the early stages of the second quarter but the Royals went in front 53-50 at halftime.

In the third quarter, the Warriors outscored the Royals 37-19.

Pioneer Loop Expansion Hangs On Decisions To Be Made At National Meet

KETCHUM — Expansion of the Pioneer League to include Magic Valley remains a moot question with the annual answer due probably at the winter baseball meeting in Mexico City. Warren E. (Ben) Jewell, Ketchum, league president, said Tuesday night that he had heard nothing from the national minor league headquarters concerning last week's announcement by the American League that it would expand to 12 teams in the next four years.

"We know that it will prompt a need for more minor league teams and we'll be in there plugging for at least two working agreements to expand our league to six," Jewell said.

He added the western movement was more encouraging to him than the simple fact that the American League was going to expand.

"Ever since I've been connected with this business I've found the major league teams want their minor league affiliates as close to home base as they can get them. For that reason I think our chances of picking up a working agreement with the Athletics has been improved a great deal just because they are leaving Kansas City and going into Oakland.

"I'm certain that if and when the two new franchises get into operation at Seattle we'll come high on the preferred list with them," Jewell continued.

Jewell said it appeared that Magic Valley and Boise would have the logical entries should the other two working agreements materialize.

"We know that Magic Valley has the money in the bank and the facilities and is ready to go. I've been in contact with some people in Boise and they are showing interest in returning," he noted.

The league remains solid with the addition of Salt Lake City pumping up overall attendance by 51 per cent last week. Ogden showed a small decline but Idaho Falls and Treasure Valley had increases.

"The four major league teams we have now have paid four dues into the association so I guess they plan on going again next year," Jewell added.

He said recent events in Montana indicate Billings and Great Falls are spearheading a campaign to begin a four-team rookie league there.

In conclusion Jewell noted that all the managers plus field representatives of the national association have recommended to the major league farm directors that the Pioneer League schedule be expanded to 82 games and six teams.

"Of course, there's a lot of difference between recommendations to expanding and actually putting six teams on the field. But our answer for the 1968 season should be forthcoming during the meeting in Mexico City," Jewell concluded.

Borah, Capital Top Prep Football Poll

By The Associated Press

Sportswriters and sportscasters will have to wait another week to decide whether Borah or Capital is the state's No. 1 high school football team, but a trend developed this week as the Eagles closed to within eight points of the Lions according to 15 voters.

Eleven first place votes went to the Lions and three to the Eagles while Shelley, equally undefeated, nailed down the other 10-point. Borah has 145 points and Capital 137.

Kelly High remained a solid third place choice but the

MSU Receives Statistical Honors

By The Associated Press

Besides grabbing a chunk of the Big Sky Conference football title last weekend, the Montana State University Bobcats bit off a lion's share of statistical honors.

The Bobcats' 21-6 victory over Weber handed them a broken rushing record, the lead in total offensive statistics and offensive rushing, a player of the week and a defensive standout.

MSU's Don Hass was named Big Sky Conference player of the week after breaking the conference single game rushing mark with 298 yards. Teammate Earl Hanson was named defensive standout.

The old rushing record was set by Henry Owens of Weber in 1965 when he gained 262 yards against Western State of Colorado.

MSU's "Little All-American" candidate, Hass, has piled up 923 total yards and leads the Big Sky in scoring with 42. Bobcats' Dennis Erickson with 714 total yards gained and Frank Kalfoos with 41 points are the runners up.

Paul Waite of Weber is hitting on 50 per cent of his passes for 673 yards and teammate Steve Smith is averaging 43.5 yards to pace Big Sky punters.

Montana State's 2,476 total yards, averaging 354 yards per game, gives them the lead in total offense. Montana and Idaho are one-two in defense, with the Grizzlies allowing opponents 277 yards per game and the Vandals 289.

Weber State's passing game, on both offense and defense, leads the conference. The Wildcats have attempted 153 passes and completed 71 for a total 893 yards and six touchdowns.

Idaho leads in rushing defense with an average of 166 yards per game. MSU is second with an average of 167 yards.

Knights have their work cut out for them this week as they host undefeated and sixth-ranked Vallivue of Caldwell Friday night. The Knights amassed 112 points to become the third team over the century mark.

All four of the Boise schools were named on each of the 15 ballots.

Lewiston, with a 20-7 win over tenth-ranked Wallace, jumped from sixth to fourth this week while Skyline of Idaho Falls claimed fifth place again with a 26-6 win over Bonneville.

Vallivue used a 51-6 thrashing of Emmett to rise from seventh to sixth place and Idaho Falls, with a narrow 26-20 win over Burley, slid to seventh. Shelley stayed in eighth place with a second idle weekend.

Two new names made the top ten as IHM Academy of Coeur d'Alene beat St. Maries 27-13 for its seventh win without a loss and ninth spot. Boise High spanked Pocatello 27-0, reeled off its third win in a row, and impressed the voters for tenth spot.

Homedale, 39-7 winner over Melba, leads the second ten with a 7-0 record. The TD by Melba was the first scored against the Trojans, this season.

Wallace dropped from 10th to 12th place after the defeat by Lewiston and Moscow, 20-19 loser to Clarkston, Wash., slid to 13th place.

Borah entertains Highland of Pocatello Friday night; Twin Falls meets Capital Saturday night in Boise and Boise treks to Caldwell on Friday night.

Following is the compilation of points for this week's associated Press prep football poll. (Team record and first-place votes in parentheses. Ballots rated on 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1.

Bullets Defeat Seattle 136-125

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Two swift guards, Kevin Loughery and Earl Monroe, led the Baltimore Bullets to a 136-125 victory over Seattle Tuesday night in a National Basketball Association game.

The Bullets almost blew the 22-point lead they held in the third period, when Seattle rallied and closed it within two points at 103-101 in the final period.

Forming Of Association Is Discussed

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — The possibility of forming an athletic association was discussed by 11 Southwestern and Western independent universities Tuesday at a meeting here.

Under discussion were common problems and the need for a greater association in athletics. Those attending agreed an association along the lines of the Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference could be founded to improve athletics at independent schools in the region.

Preliminary fact-finding committees were formed to prepare reports on formulation of a constitution and operating procedures, central office location, a survey of competitive sports and financing.

Schools represented included the Air Force Academy, Crigton University, Centenary College, the University of Denver, Hardin-Simmons University, Portland University, Seattle University, Utah State and West Texas State.

It was indicated Loyola University of the South, Oklahoma City University, Tulane University and Southern Nevada University expressed interest in plans, but did not attend the conference.

Another meeting is scheduled prior to the NCAA meetings in New York City early in January.

Big 10 Fails In Drawing Largest Crowd

NEW YORK (AP) — For the first time this year, the Big Ten failed to draw the largest college football crowd of the week.

The distinction went to the Southeastern Conference for the 71,849 crowd at Birmingham, Ala., that saw Tennessee upset Alabama, snapping the Tide's unbeaten streak at 25 games.

It was the first time Alabama paced the country in attendance.

Attendance at the 10 most crowded stadiums last Saturday hit 635,220, according to figures compiled Tuesday by the NCAA's National Collegiate Sports Service.

The other top crowds included: Notre Dame at Illinois, 71,227; Kentucky at Louisiana State, 65,652; Colorado at Nebraska, 65,766; Indiana at Michigan, 65,759; Oregon State at Purdue, 60,147; Auburn at Georgia Tech, 59,903; Iowa at Wisconsin, 59,512; Southern California at Washington, 58,151; and Michigan State at Minnesota, 56,554.

Montana State Proud Of Hass And Hanson

By The Associated Press

Montana State University's Bobcats are screaming loudest this week for their flashy back, Don Hass, named Big Sky Conference player of the week along with teammate Earl Hansen, defensive standout.

Besides claiming at least a share of the Big Sky Conference title, the Bobcat's weekend efforts earned them the lead in total offensive statistics and in offensive rushing.

Hass broke the conference single game rushing mark with 298 yards in the Bobcat's 21-6 victory over Weber Saturday. The old record was set by Henry Owens of Weber in 1965 when he gained 262 yards against Western State of Colorado.

MSU's "Little All-American" candidate, Hass, has piled up 923 total yards and leads the Big Sky in scoring with 42. Bobcats' Dennis Erickson with 714 total yards gained and Frank Kalfoos with 51 points are the runners up.

Paul Waite of Weber is hitting on 50 per cent of his passes for 673 yards and teammate Steve Smith is averaging 43.5 yards to pace Big Sky punters.

Montana State's 2,476 total yards, averaging 354 yards per game, gives them the lead in total offense. Montana and Idaho are one-two in defense, with the Grizzlies allowing opponents 277

Clark May Switch Signal Callers

PULLMAN, Wash. (AP) — Washington State coach Bert Clark said Tuesday he is considering switching quarterbacks in hopes of finding a winning combination for when the Cougars meet Oregon State Saturday.

Leading the Cougar offense Tuesday in a hard-hitting scrimmage was sophomore Johnny Davis, the 5-foot-10, 175 pound quarterback who hasn't seen action since the season's disastrous opener against USC.

Jerry Henderson has been doing the quarterbacking the past four winless weeks. "Davis is an excellent ball handler and has great speed and we are using this week's practices to take a good look at him," Clark said.

76ers Glad To Have Star On Their Side

By RALPH BERNSTEIN Associated Press Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — How do the rest of the Philadelphia 76ers react to Wilt Chamberlain and his reported $250,000 salary? Like a rich relative who just died and left him their fortune.

More power to him is the way the other players view Chamberlain's astronomical pay. We're glad he's playing for us is the general feeling.

Coach Alex Hannum wasted little time acquainting his National Basketball Association champions with the facts of life after Chamberlain signed for the big money.

Hannum noted that since Chamberlain has been in the league, he has raised the salary for all players. "Every player on this team should be thankful for the salary Wilt is paying," Hannum said Tuesday.

More important, Hannum told his boys something they were well aware of: "Without Wilt the 76ers are a good team. With him they are a great team."

"This team," said Hannum, "was the Syracuse Nats a few years ago. It was a 500-ball club. Then the team was sold to Philadelphia interests. It still was a 500 club. When Chamberlain was traded to the 76ers in mid-season, it finished at 500, but came within a bounce of knocking the Celtics out of the Eastern playoffs.

The next season, with Wilt all the way, the 76ers won the Eastern Division title but lost in the playoffs. Then last season, with the natural maturing of the relationship among the players they turned in a fantastic record (68-13) and won the NBA championship."

Dorsey Is College Back Of Week

By The Associated Press

Albert Dorsey celebrated his 22nd birthday last Saturday by making Kenny Stabler wish he never had been born.

Dorsey, senior defensive back for Tennessee and the Associated Press Back of the week, intercepted three Stabler passes in the fourth quarter, sealing the Volunteers' 24-13 victory over previously unbeaten Alabama.

The last of the 5-foot-10 178-pounder's thefts came with less than two minutes left in the game and Alabama driving for a go-ahead touchdown. Dorsey picked off a Stabler pass and took it 31 yards into the end zone for his first college score.

The victory moved Tennessee from seventh to fourth in the Associated Press football poll and dropped the Crimson Tide, sixth last week, out of the rankings entirely.

"YOU MUST BE KIDDING," commented commercial artist Lee Logan, left, when asked to paint white daisies on a new automobile. Dell Timpson, right, salesman, said the customer ordered the vehicles with daisies, but they just don't come that way from the factory as yet. It may be the first such vehicle in Twin Falls, but it also may be the start of a new trend which may see autos change in fashion as often as women's skirts.

Like This Automobile? It's A Daisy!

Maybe you thought you were seeing things when you glimpsed the 1968 sports car with daisies painted over the body of the vehicle.

No, you were right. They are daisies and they are permanently part of the vehicle's paint coat.

Drinking More

WASHINGTON (AP)—Tax collections indicate Americans are accelerating their intake of alcoholic beverages.

The Internal Revenue Service reported that alcohol tax collections for the year which ended June 30 reached a record $4.08 billion, up 6.8 per cent from the previous fiscal year.

Tobacco tax collections increased just three-tenths of one per cent to $2.08 billion, shy of the 1965 record of $2.15 billion in fiscal 1964-65.

This might be a preview of things to come in the field of automobile decor.

New automobile buyers might look forward to the day when they not only select a color for their new vehicle, but decide if it shall be in a paisley, plaid or stripe. Recent trade articles on the automobile industry show many agencies are selling them with tiger or zebra stripes or in other patterns similar to wallpaper or yard goods.

Lee Logan, local commercial artist who supplied the daisies for the new car, said it was

Crew Picked Up

WALVIS BAY, South-West Africa (AP)—All 36 crew members of a stricken Italian tanker, the Giorgio Fassio, 12,618 tons, were picked up from lifeboats in the South Atlantic Tuesday night, according to a brief radio message from an Indonesian freighter at the scene.

A radio distress signal said the Giorgio Fassio's engine room was flooded and the vessel required immediate assistance.

one of the most unusual requests he has had in years. Dell Timpson, who sold the vehicle, said the owner ordered it with daisies and did not want to even see it until the additional paint job was complete.

woman with daisies on her car" might be.

However, she said almost everyone either thinks it is beautiful or they think just the opposite—that it is atrocious. Her nine-year-old son, she adds, doesn't want his schoolmates to see him in the car, but he does like riding in it.

Whether it's a new trend or just a passing fancy—excuse the pun—it does draw second glances and comments.

Synod Of Bishops Votes On Changes

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The Vatican synod of bishops voted today on proposals to simplify the Mass for the world's Roman Catholics. The results were not announced.

A spokesman said the outcome of the balloting—the first of two days of voting—might be accepted by Pope Paul VI as binding on the Church. The voting was on technical changes in the Mass.

Soldiers Line Soviet-Chinese Border Near Khabarovsk

By JOHN WEYLAND
Khabarovsk, U.S.S.R. (AP) — Khabarovsk, the biggest Soviet city near the Chinese border, is full of soldiers. "Our people know the border is well protected and because of that they are not concerned," said Boris M. Minevich, president of the planning commission for this region. Minevich told foreign reporters that although armed Chinese and Soviet guards are facing one another there have not been any "significant" incidents. The border is about 35 miles west of this city of 400,000 on the Amur River. The reporters were taken to the Ussuri Sanatorium, located about 10 miles from Chinese territory, to see for themselves that life was going on normally.

Nothing was in sight there to indicate tension. The staff and 500 patients behaved as if they were undisturbed by the proximity of the Chinese. "The Chinese raised questions about the frontier," Minevich said, adding that they tried to claim islands considered Soviet territory. Soviet ships, according to this official, are continuing to use old routes. These are along the half of the river nearest this country's shore. The Chinese use the other half. Minevich talked tough about what would happen if the Chinese tried to make good their claims to Soviet territory. Peking insists much of the area on this side of the present border should really belong to it. "We all know what would happen if the frontier was violated," Minevich said. "History has shown what fate aggressors suffer."

Major Pause In Bombing Considered

SAIGON (AP) — The United States is considering a major pause in the bombing of North Vietnam this winter to test Hanoi's willingness to start peace talks, an American diplomat said today.

There is scant hope among diplomats here that even a prolonged halt in the bombing will induce North Vietnam to sit down and work out any peace settlement, that Saigon and Washington would accept. But because of heavy foreign pressure for a pause, Washington might order one in an attempt to show that the United States is eager for peace but that Hanoi is unwilling to settle for anything less than American capitulation. The prolonged bombing pause, if one is decided upon, probably would begin in December with the traditional Christmas truce. Another stand down is ordered for New Year's and a third in January for Tet, the Buddhist new year celebration. The United States in 1965 waited for more than a month before resuming bombing of the North after the Tet cease-fire. Hanoi gave no sign that it wanted to bargain and the raids were resumed.

Housewives Protest Food Costs

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — A group of housewives, charging that the food industry had not been cooperative in holding down food costs, promised today to resume their fight to get them lowered. Mrs. Armand P. Herraras of nearby Williamsville, chairman of the New York State Housewives for Lower Prices, said members of the Buffalo chapter would picket a food store Friday in a Buffalo suburb. She said that after picketing of stores began a year ago, prices were lowered and remained level for about six months. "But they've been climbing and fluctuating ever since," she said.

Fairfield Has No Competition In City Election

FAIRFIELD — There is no opposition for the two candidates running for mayor and councilman in Fairfield's Nov. 7 city election. Mayor Charles Dickinson is seeking re-election and the other candidate is Herbert Gormley, Sinclair oil dealer, who has filed for the councilman post. Mr. Gormley has lived in Fairfield for about 15 years, having moved here from Gooding. He is married and has four sons. Holdover members of the council are Dean Jewett, Carl Renfrow and John Gaenzle. George Gill, incumbent, has decided not to seek re-election.

Manville's Last Wife Gets Estate

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (AP) — Tommy Manville, the 11-times-married asbestos heir who died at the age of 73, left his millions to his last wife, 26-year-old Christina Erdlen Manville. Manville's will, filed for probate in Westchester County Surrogate's Court here Monday, leaves the widow $250,000 and two trust funds. Manville, who died of a heart attack Oct. 8, also left the widow his automobiles, jewelry and the $60,000 home at Chappaqua, N.Y., where the couple had lived since their marriage in 1960 and where he died.

CANDIDATE FOR CITY COMMISSIONER

I am for the city manager form of government but I feel the city commission should exercise more control with the possibility of reducing or eliminating some subordinate positions. I want immediate action on our airport problem as we cannot afford to lose, at the very least, the service we now have. Economy, insofar as possible, should be exercised at all times by the commission. We should facilitate better job opportunities by the encouragement of new industry and do all possible to help the existing ones. In general, I am for a good, sound and always progressive City of Twin Falls, and, if elected, will genuinely work toward this goal.

Sen. Church Plans Visit In Shoshone

SHOSHONE — Sen. Frank Church will visit at the Lincoln County Courthouse from 3 to 5 p.m. Monday.

He invites anyone who may have a problem involving the federal government, or who may wish to give him his views on legislation pending before the Senate to see him during that time.

Sen. Church states "those who have visited with me in past years tell me that they were able to accomplish much with these conversations, and I have found them very helpful in my efforts to give Idaho grassroots representation."

Jerry Brady, his assistant, will be with him.

Easter Seal Center Needs Volunteers

Help is badly needed at the Easter Seal Center in Twin Falls from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. each day to help exercise youngsters who are in the stages of learning to use their arms and legs and who hope to be able to walk.

Merle Stoddard, director, said anyone who could devote two hours any day during the week would be gratefully accepted. Age, she said, is not important as long as the individual does not have a heart condition, as exercise is involved.

Mrs. Stoddard said another class is starting for teen-agers. This will require four teen-agers to assist in exercising less fortunate teen-agers who need the assistance to walk and improve use of their legs and arms. The teen-age class will be each Thursday at 4 p.m.

Easter Seal Center personnel will train the volunteers and Mrs. Stoddard pointed out it offers an opportunity to assist others and at the same time provides good exercise for the volunteer.

Chevrolets Are Recalled For Defect

DETROIT (AP) — Chevrolet Division of General Motors said today it is recalling more than a million standard-sized 1965 Chevrolets to replace a potentially defective part of the car's steering apparatus.

Chevrolet said only four such cases had been found but that 1,143,000 cars built between September 1964 and May 1965 would be recalled to have the steering idler arm assembly replaced.

"The decision to replace the parts, without cost to the owners, was reached after some studies revealed that after extended mileage the original assembly, in some cases, may separate and result in a severe pull to the right when brakes are applied at low to moderate car speed," a Chevrolet spokesman said.

Owners of 1965 Chevrolets involved, whether the cars were purchased new or used, will be notified by certified letter to take their vehicle to their Chevrolet dealer for inspection and replacement of the parts.

The spokesman said the potentially defective part is at the base of the steering column.

Some People Get Something For Nothing By Entering Contests

By PHIL THOMAS
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Almost everybody likes something for nothing, and a few people are getting it from games that they don't really play but only enter.

All they usually have to do to have a chance at winning such prizes as sports cars, original oil paintings, milk coats, trips to Europe, color television sets or cash is sign their name and address and mail in a numbered card or entry blank.

No more writing in 25 words or less why this product is better than that one, or trying to match two halves of something, and hoping it makes one. The numbered card or the blank does the work.

These promotions are known as "sweepstakes" in the industry.

Jerry Poncher, board chairman of J&H International Corp., one of the firms that think up the games, says the sweepstakes promotions are modern versions of the 25-word contest.

"The old-style contests have just lost their punch," he says. "People don't have time to sit down and scribble 25 words or less about a product."

There are two basic types of sweepstakes. The first usually requires a visit to the marketplace, such as a supermarket, drugstore, or restaurant to get an entry card or to check whether an entry card received by other means is a winner. The card is then mailed to the promotion sponsor or his agent.

The second type is handled by sending numbered cards through the mail or by inserting them in magazines. These numbered cards carry appeals to buy or subscribe to a variety of products, but all also emphasize there is no obligation to buy.

Why the spurt in sweepstakes promotions on which many firms spend millions annually? "The giant companies are just beginning to jump on a successful promotion bandwagon," says Poncher. "The smaller, more aggressive companies have used the sweepstakes promotion to make inroads in markets controlled by bigger companies. In order to meet this competition, the larger companies have turned to the sweepstakes promotion as well."

Do those who buy something have a better chance of winning than those who don't?

"No," says Richard Kane, executive vice president of Mar-den-Kane, Inc., which specializes in promotions. "Your odds are just as good whether you buy or not. That's because the winning numbers have been preselected."

A computer picks as many winners as the company wants to give prizes. These numbers then are placed under lock and key and the promotion mailing is made.

At the end of the contest period, the entries are hand-matched against the winning numbers. The winners are checked to make sure they are not ineligible because they are relatives or associates of employees of the firm sponsoring the sweepstakes. When this is done, the remaining winners are notified by mail and their prize is delivered.

Radiogram Inquiry Is Expected

By WALTER R. MEARS
ABOARD SS INDEPENDENCE (AP) — The captain of the liner Independence says he expects a federal inquiry into the case of the White House radiogram that strayed into the hands of Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan of California.

Capt. Charles Reilly said his officers have already drafted a report on their investigation of the affair, assuming that men from the Coast Guard and the Federal Communications Commission will want one as soon as the Independence docks in New York late today.

"I assume with all the publicity, they'll be looking for us when we arrive," Reilly said.

Earlier, George F. Dunigan, vice president of American Export Isbrandtsen Lines, which owns the Independence, said irregularities had been uncovered and that he did not see how anyone could have obtained a copy of the message without help from a ship's crewman.

The radiogram was sent by White House assistant Marvin Watson to former Gov. Price Daniel of Texas, the administration's liaison man with the 59th National Governors' Conference aboard the ship.

It instructed Daniel in ways to put pressure on Republican opponents to a governors' conference declaration in support of President Johnson's Vietnam war policy. GOP governors blocked the Vietnam resolution Friday.

SLAM ROUTES OFTEN HIDDEN

There was a day when no one differentiated between the one-over-one response and that of his four club jump was a fragment bid and showed diamond support and a singleton club. South had a minimum 10 points for his two diamond call, but the fragment bid was just what he wanted to hear. Obviously all his cards were going to work for him at a diamond contract, and he bid four no-trump to check for aces.

This makes it possible to use fragment bids after a two-over-one response. North could have forced with three clubs. Hence, his four club jump was a fragment bid and showed diamond support and a singleton club. South had a minimum 10 points for his two diamond call, but the fragment bid was just what he wanted to hear. Obviously all his cards were going to work for him at a diamond contract, and he bid four no-trump to check for aces.

He ran no risk with that bid. He was going to five diamonds anyway and would pass complacently if North showed just one ace. As is usually the case with lay-down slam contracts, there are any number of ways for North and South to get to six diamonds. It is mighty easy when you see all 52 cards. It wasn't easy at the tables in the duplicate game where it occurred. Only two pairs out of nine got there.

CARD SENSE

Q—The bidding has been:
West North East South
1 ♠ Pass 2 ♠
Pass 4 ♠ N.T.
Pass 5 ♠ Pass 6 ♠
Pass Pass Pass
Opening lead—♠K

You, South, hold:
♠K2 ♠A Q 10 8 4 3 ♣K J 8 2 ♣6
What do you do now?
A—Bid four hearts. You should have a reasonable play for this contract.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of bidding two hearts, your partner bids two spades over West's two clubs. What do you do now?

Answer Next Issue

Hand analysis table showing North, West, East, and South cards and vulnerability.

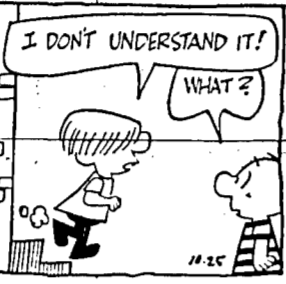

ing the point count requirements for two-over-one, and today this response promises a minimum of a good 10 points and usually shows at least 11. Some people even go so far as to promise a second bid. We don't do that, but we try to find a second bid and will do so if partner rebids in a new suit.

Young America's Date-Line

By ELE AND WALT DULANEY

Say "I Love You" Only If It's True

Dear Ele and Walt: My problem may appear insignificant, but many other girls are as bewildered as I am about it. I'm 18. My boyfriend is 21. We've dated for over a month. When he tells me he loves me, it's not just a line. I've explained my views about parking, etc., and he respects me for them. What can I tell him? "I like you" seems very trivial compared to "I love you," but like all I'm sure of at this point, and I don't want to lie to him. Lately he's been talking about his life, and when he says "No-body loves me," I'm sure he wants me to respond, "I love you," and thus reassure him. But I can't. So what do I say?—IN "Like" not "Love."

Dear Like: Some golden afternoon ask him to define what love means to you. Then share your own definition. Let him know you care about him, he is deeply interested in what he thinks, feels and becomes—although you do not love now, according to your definition of the word. You may find that his spell out of L-O-V-E equals your definition of like. Once he realizes it's the word that stops you, rather than any lack of feeling for him, he should be content to let things grow more slowly. —Ele and Walt.

Dear Ele and Walt: I have a problem which I'm sure others have. Although it's now the wrong time, I'm sure it will come up again, so here it is: what do you say to kids who've gotten C's, D's and F's on their report cards? Especially when you yourself are an honor roll student, and they've already commented on your marks. It won't do to say their grades are good, because after looking at yours, they know they aren't and they're hurt. I want to return their compliments without hurting them, but how can I? —Speechless.

Dear Speechless: No doubt about it, it's a tough situation. If the low grades come in a subject where you're master, you might frankly say: "It's too bad you got a D. Was there a particular area that gave you trouble?" and then follow through with you. —Ele and Walt.
