By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Firefighters brought the oil fires in Egypt's Suez refinery under control Wednesday night, some 40 hours after Israeli shells set them blazing in a duel with Egyptian gunners across the Suez Canal.

and requested four patrol boats and four small helicopters for them. The semi-official Cairo newspaper Al-Ahram reported the fires under control at the Nasr and Suez refinery complexes, which filled nearly three-fourths of Egypt's domestic petroleum needs. But the flames were not expected to be out until some time today.

Mrs. Neumeyer said she very rarely uses her car and it could have been parked in front of her home when the mystery photographer sighted it with his trusty camera. "But I don't really know where it was when the license number picture was taken," she added.

Student Protests Continue As Leaders Plan Meet

By The Associated Press Student antiwar protesters held demonstrations on three of the nation's major college campuses Wednesday while a National Student Association leader announced plans for a conference on "student power."

In New York City, however, more than 100 Columbia University students rallied in support of a policy allowing military, industrial and professional recruiters on campus.

National Student Association president Edward Schwartz announced in Washington a "student power" conference at the University of Minnesota Nov. 17 through 19.

The investigation reportedly was authorized Oct. 11 and is now under way. The new politics conference includes militant civil rights groups, Communists, socialists, antiwar groups and others.

Also turned back were these Republican bids to cut spending: Sen. John J. Williams, Delaware, a $5 billion spending cut, defeated 48 to 39.

Man Found Innocent In LSD Slaying

NEW YORK (AP) — A jury has found Stephen Kessler not guilty by reason of insanity in the LSD slaying of his mother-in-law—believed one of the first homicide cases to involve the hallucinogenic drug. Three times the State Supreme Court jury of 11 men and a woman had reported itself hopelessly deadlocked and each time the court directed the panel to try again. The verdict came at 8:20 p.m. Wednesday. Justice Edward Thompson ordered the 32-year-old former medical student who has admitted taking marijuana and LSD, placed in the custody of the State Mental Hygiene Authority. With the announcement of acquittal after 12 hours of deliberation, the Harvard-educated Kessler burst into tears. Throwing his glasses on the defense table, he buried his face in his hands and sobbed: "I still say I don't know what happened. I had no reason to kill her, I loved her." The lone spectator in the courtroom when the verdict arrived was his mother, Mrs. Henrietta Kessler, a tall, gray-haired woman who was a faithful attendant during her son's four-week trial. She also wept. Kessler could gain his freedom by proving that his insanity was temporary and that he is now of sound mind. The lanky, stoop-shouldered Kessler went on trial Sept. 26 charged with the first-degree murder April 11, 1966, of Florence Cooper, 57, his mother-in-law. She was stabbed 105 times in her Brooklyn apartment. At no time during the trial did defense attorney Maurice Edelbaum dispute the murder charge. The issue was Kessler's sanity and the jury was required to consider LSD as a factor in his mental condition.

Upstaged Allowance For Children Is Discussed

NEW YORK (AP)—Television star Johnny Carson was upstaged Wednesday night by a fleet-footed thief who drove off with the performer's Cadillac while Carson stood watching. The episode took place outside the RCA building where the National Broadcasting Co. has studios, police said. It was raining heavily and Carson stood in the Sixth Avenue lobby entrance waiting to enter his car less than 20 feet away at the curb. Suddenly, an unidentified man dashed into the rented green Cadillac and sped off, leaving Carson and the chauffeur standing there. Police were looking for the auto.

Republicans In Iowa Hear Reagan Speak

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — The Republican party must offer a candidate "aligned to victory" in Vietnam if it expects to elect a president in 1968, says California Gov. Ronald Reagan. "I cannot believe the Republican party will go along with those who believe we should put our tail between our legs and run for home," Reagan told a news conference Wednesday before addressing a $100-a-plate Iowa GOP dinner. Reagan was scheduled to fly to Manhattan, Kan., today on the second leg of a six-city speechmaking tour to raise money for the party's state treasuries. "I'm one who believes escalation of the war should have taken place earlier," he said, adding that if the U.S. had not exempted 94 key military targets from air attack peace negotiations might have begun long ago. Reagan said the Republican party would offer no alternative to winning the Vietnam war. "We should be there. We have a commitment. My disagreement is with stretching it out. A formal declaration of war with North Vietnam is worth considering," Reagan said, to permit anti-Vietnam demonstrators to be treated under the law as traitors giving aid and comfort to the enemy.

Allowance For Children Is Discussed

NEW YORK (AP) — Does a program to give every child in the United States a cash allowance—say $10 or $25 a month—sound like pie in the sky? About 50 experts in business, economics, labor, civil rights, government and social policy argued the matter for three days and agreed that it would be a pretty good thing for the federal government to start planning along those lines. Not even the most ardent advocate, though, thought the program was just around the corner. The consensus of the conference members, who met Oct. 22-24 at Warrenton, Va., was that the cash grants would be especially effective as part of an over-all package that included health, education and, housing programs. The members disagreed on some particulars, such as financing. The conference, sponsored by the Citizens' Committee for Children of New York under a special Ford Foundation grant, was attended by officials from three of the 62 countries that have some system of children's allowances. At a New York meeting Wednesday to report on the conference, Prof. Eveline Burns said that in view of the 15 million poor children in this country it was ironic that the United States is the only industrial nation in the world that doesn't have some form of family or children's allowances. Dr. Burns, conference chairman and professor of social work at Columbia University, would like the cash payments made regardless of family income. "Even Bobby Kennedy's children would get it," she said.

Miller, state librarian; Mrs. Clarice Morgan, Wendell librarian; Robert Saxvik, manager of KBAR radio, Burley, and Bruce Fox of KMTV television. This discussion was on public relations, the evening session was on budget problems in state libraries. More than 60 persons attended the day-long meeting.

Library Budget Problems Discussed At Workshop

More than 60 librarians, library trustees and interested citizens heard discussion on public relations and budget problems in state libraries in a workshop session at the Holiday Inn Wednesday. Librarians and trustees from all over the state attended. The workshop, sponsored by the Idaho State Library, is held annually, with four sessions in different parts of the state. This week there were sessions in Moscow, Boise and Twin Falls and the workshop moved to Blackfoot Thursday.

Twin Falls Librarian Robert Bruce said Thursday he was "very pleased with the informative session held here."

Budget problems discussed Wednesday night included how to budget for the coming year, and there was an explanation of how attention could be drawn to library budget needs.

"Money is always needed for libraries," Mr. Bruce said, and added that ways of raising money for continued operations of libraries in the state were explained during the evening session.

The afternoon meeting was a panel discussion on the public relations aspect of libraries, with budgeting an outgrowth from the afternoon session, Mr. Bruce said.

Featured dinner speaker was George W. Coen, attorney from Lancaster, Ohio, and an Ohio library official.

Mr. Coen said in his talk that Idaho libraries compare favorably with Ohio libraries, adding "Idaho's library program is very effective."

Mr. Bruce said different library subjects are discussed every year during the week-long workshop sessions.

Fatigue Factor Causes Air Force To Add Man At Sites

By BOB HORTON
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A fatigue factor has prompted the Air Force to add a third crewman to launch sites for the nation's latest land-based nuclear missile, sources report.

The Minuteman II, the Air Force found, requires three men to alternate at resting and carrying on the hour-by-hour checkouts of the missile's readiness, and other activities.

The Air Force, in response to questions, officially attributed the need for the additional officer to the greater sophistication of the 6,300-mile range intercontinental ballistic missile.

As the Air Force explained it, the Minuteman II, with preset directions to hit installations in the Soviet Union and China, "has more sophisticated computer and console equipment which requires more consistent monitoring by members of the missile combat crew."

There are 200 Minuteman II missiles stationed in hardened firing silos throughout the middle and northwest United States, along with 800 older Minuteman I launch sites each controlled by two officers.

The three-man crews spend 24-hour shifts in the missile hole, one sleeping while two work. The team consists of a missile combat crew commander, a deputy and an alternate commander ranking from lieutenant colonel down to lieutenant.

Manning the silos is an assignment of prolonged tension that has gained missile specialists a tag as "the silent silo sitters of the 60's."

The pressure has forced some missile dropouts. The Air Force said that between February 1962, when a "human reliability" test system was started, and last June 30, 106 officers lost actual or potential missile crew assignments because of unreliable ratings.

The Air Force did not specify to what extent the factor of fatigue may have been involved.

Mexican President's Visit Is Expected To Be Cordial

By FRANK CORMIER
WASHINGTON (AP) — Mexican President Gustavo Diaz Ordaz' three-day official visit with President Johnson is expected to feature hands-across-the-border cordiality rather than hard bargaining on mutual problems.

Diaz Ordaz, his wife and three children were flying directly from Mexico City to nearby Andrews Air Force Base, Md., today, there to board helicopters for the short hop to the White House and a formal 21-gun salute red carpet welcome.

"There are no outstanding issues for the two presidents to take up," one White House official said.

But he said Johnson and Diaz Ordaz "undoubtedly would discuss the Alliance for Progress, moves toward Latin American economic integration, joint efforts to boost the social and economic welfare of the Rio Grande border region and, perhaps, possible construction of one or more new flood control dams along the river.

The question of new dams became more acute following last month's disastrous flooding in the Rio Grande Valley that followed the onslaught of Hurricane Beulah.

Johnson and Diaz Ordaz, longtime friends, will be seeing a good bit of each other during the next three days.

Following the official round of ceremonies and meetings here, they will fly together Saturday morning to El Paso, Tex., for a series of three public appearances commemorating the amicable settlement of the 100-year-old Chamizal border dispute.

A friction point between the two countries for many decades, the dispute arose because the Rio Grande River changed course in the El Paso area and put a slice of Mexican territory inside the legal border of the United States.

While in Washington, Diaz Ordaz will have two private meetings with Johnson, will be guest of honor at a White House state dinner, will be entertained at luncheons by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Secretary of State Dean Rusk, and, on Friday, will address a joint session of Congress.

Early Friday evening, Rusk and the Mexican foreign secretary, Antonio Carrillo Flores, will sign a document legally establishing the new boundary between El Paso and Ciudad Juarez, Mexico.

23 Arrested Protesters Refuse Food

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ten women and 13 men reportedly have refused to eat since they were arrested during antiwar demonstrations at the Pentagon last weekend.

They and 31 others—who are accepting food—are the only persons still being held of the 67 persons arrested during the march on the Pentagon. An estimated 35,000 persons took part in the rally at Defense Department headquarters. Some of them camped on the Pentagon mall until arrested or forced to leave at midnight Sunday.

Among the men at the jail was the Rev. Daniel Berrigan, a Jesuit priest who works with the United Religious Group at Cornell University. He has refused all food since he was arrested. He pleaded no contest Tuesday to a charge of disorderly conduct, but refused to pay a $25 fine.

The fasters are not presently being forced to take food, jail officials said.

Ten of the persons now being held reportedly refused arraignment by declining to give their correct names or to stand before a federal commissioner during arraignment, 16 are serving sentences and 22 are either unable or unwilling to post bond, officials said.

Meanwhile, the Defense Department announced the two days of protests against U.S. involvement in Vietnam cost all governmental agencies involved $1,078,500.

Pope, Patriarch Have Milestone Meeting

By DENNIS REDMONT VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI and Patriarch Athenagoras, spiritual leader of the world's Orthodox churches, embraced today at the door of St. Peter's Basilica in a milestone meeting on the road toward Christian unity.

"It is unavoidable that this subject will be discussed, although no concrete suggestions are expected," said the Rev. Pierre Duprey, secretary of the Vatican's Christian-unity secretariat, citing the special interest of all Christians in Jerusalem. Athenagoras came to Rome after a tour of Yugoslavia, Romania and Bulgaria. He conferred with heads of the Orthodox churches in those countries seeking support for his unity efforts.

The silver-bearded Ecumenical Patriarch of Constantinople (Istanbul) had arrived an hour earlier for the first visit by an Orthodox patriarch to a Roman Catholic Pope in more than 900 years, since the two churches separated in 1054 because the Orthodox refused to accept the primacy of the Pope. As the bells of St. Peter's pealed, a clamorous welcome, the two church leaders walked toward each other at the entrance to the largest basilica in Christendom with their hands clasped in prayer. As they met, Pope Paul opened his arms to the 81-year-old patriarch and they embraced.

The visit of the bearded, 81-year-old patriarch to the Pope—their third meeting—was expected to accelerate contacts between their churches. Athenagoras came to Rome to repay the visit the Pope made to him in Istanbul last July. They met first in January, 1964, in Jerusalem, when Pope Paul made the first trip outside Italy by a modern pontiff.

The Orthodox Church, with 150 million members, is closer in doctrine and spirit to the 500-million-member Roman Catholic Church than any other Christian faith. Because of this, the growing rapport between the Pope and the patriarch is expected to produce the most fruitful developments in the drive to reunite the world's Christian churches. Although Pope Paul and Athenagoras were expected to give priority in their talks to advancing the reunion of their churches, the new flareup between Israel and Egypt appeared likely to command their attention.

Nixon Sees Need To Aid Non-Reds

LACONIA, N.H. (AP) — Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon says if Russia and Communist China "succeed in Vietnam, they will try it again and the risk the next time will be infinitely greater."

There is a need to strengthen non-Communist nations "so Communist China will see it is not in their interest to expand, not in their interest to export revolutions," Nixon added here Wednesday night.

Nixon said his talk to more than 800 persons jammed in a motel dining room for the annual Greater Lacombe-Weirs Beach Chamber of Commerce meeting was "nonpolitical."

Nixon said the war in Vietnam is being fought "for a more peaceful world... to win the peace in the Pacific." He added that it must be recognized that the reason the "world has not had a major war" in more than 20 years is that America has gained an overwhelming military superiority. He said the United States "holds the key to peace and freedom" for the remainder of this century and expressed confidence that Americans will have the courage and vision to "lead the world to a new era of peace, progress and justice."

Nixon noted there has been individual dissent in this nation but he felt the majority of Americans will support the belief there "will be no reward for Communist aggression" in Vietnam.

There is a need to strengthen non-Communist nations "so Communist China will see it is not in their interest to expand, not in their interest to export revolutions," Nixon added here Wednesday night.

Power Firm Okays Funds For Study

By The Associated Press
Pacific Northwest Power, the private half of the private-public power partnership investigating joint construction of the High Mountain Sheep Dam on the Snake River, approved funds Tuesday for further studies and an application to the government for a permit to build the dam.

Pacific Power, a group of four private power companies, last month reached agreement with Washington Public Power Supply System, composed of 16 public utility districts, for joint construction of the dam, estimated to cost $257 million.

One district in the WPPSS disapproved the venture. In a meeting Monday, the Cowlitz County Public Utility District voted not to pay a $40,230 share to help cover expenses in preparing a joint application to the Federal Power Commission and making necessary studies.

Fred C. Huson, president of the Cowlitz County PUD commissioners, said the board believes that under the partnership arrangement the power generated by High Mountain Sheep Dam would be too expensive for purchase by the Cowlitz PUD and might result in another rate increase by the Bonneville Power Administration.

A WPPSS spokesman in Kennewick said it was too early to tell what power costs from the dam may be until studies are completed.

A progress report will be made to a Federal Power Commission examiner Nov. 21 in Washington, D.C.

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
 DEAR ABBY: My husband is a carpenter-builder who specializes in remodeling homes. He is a fine craftsman and takes pride in his work, having learned his trade from his father who was a builder. The problem is this: When my husband calls on a prospective customer, he feels it is all right to go directly from off a job in his old dirty work clothes. He says people know he is a working man and they might even have more confidence in his work seeing him that way.

I admit there are times when it is more convenient for him to call on folks to estimate a job on his way home from work, but I say he should take clean clothes with him in his truck and clean up before calling on these people.

My theory being that if people see him dirty and sloppy they might think his work is sloppy, too.

My husband insists that his appearing in old dirty work clothes has no adverse effect on his customers, but I think he is just making up excuses so he won't have to clean up.

He reads your columns, so if you, or any of your readers have any ideas about this, I'd appreciate hearing an outsider's opinion.

DEAR WIFE: Personally, if I were interested in a remodeling job, I would hire the man with a reputation for quality work and fair prices. If he came straight off a job in his old work clothes, I wouldn't object as long as he didn't track up my carpets.

DEAR ABBY: An old gentleman (?), one whom I have befriended on several occasions, recently betrayed my trust in him by stealing some rare coins from my collection, a valuable unset diamond, a revolver from my gun collection, as well as several old keepsake antiques, which I had intended to donate to the local museum at a later date. He accomplished this during a couple of social visits he paid me in my home.

Upon discovering my loss, I paid him a return visit, and while there I complained bitterly about the theft of these items. I didn't accuse him openly, but strongly hinted that he was under suspicion.

The next day he called on me, and had occasion to visit the bathroom. On his departure I found a few of the missing coins on the wash basin. However, the most valuable coins, the unset diamond and revolver are still undisturbed.

The man in question is a very well-to-do and respected citizen in this community. (So am I.) What is the best way to regain my stolen possessions? I am positive this man is the thief, but wish to avoid publicity if possible.

VICTIMIZED IN OREGON

DEAR VICTIMIZED: In order to protect yourself, and regain your stolen possessions, I advise you to discuss this with your lawyer. (Clip this letter and reply from your local newspaper and mail it to the man in a plain white envelope — minus, of course, this parenthetical addition.)

DEAR ABBY: What, in your opinion, makes for true happiness?

DEAR PHILOSOPHER: It's hard to say. So far, both poverty and wealth have failed.

Confidential to "Worried Sick" in Cleveland: Don't Worry. Your letter has only one chance in 12,000 to be published in this column. And if it were, I would not use your right name without your permission.

Problems? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

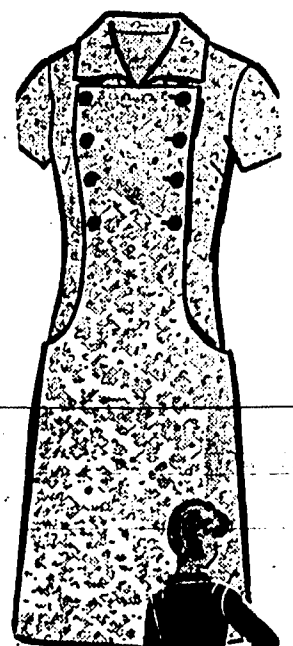

Observance Held By Area Church Women

FILER — The Woman's Society of Christian Service participated in the Call to Prayer and Self-Denial this week. The event is an annual observance by Methodist women throughout the United States.

First begun in 1887, the week focuses on guided mission study, offerings for special mission projects and aiming at a deepened spiritual life. The theme of the 1967 call is "Feed My Sheep," and emphasizes love and brotherhood through care for children and young women in the United States and leadership training for national women around the world.

Mrs. Orville Sackett and Mrs. Loren Drake were in charge of the Filer meeting. A film, "Portrait of a Woman," was shown. The service featured a special mission offering, prayers and meditation.

Yule Festival Slated Monday In Gooding

GOODING — It's not too early to start planning for Christmas, according to Ruth J. Shane, Gooding County home extension agent. The annual Christmas Ideas Festival will be held beginning at 10 a.m. Monday at the Gooding Grange Hall.

This event is sponsored each year by the Gooding County Extension Homemakers Council, according to Mrs. Lloyd Rickey, president and general chairman of the day.

The day will consist of displays set up by any club or church group in the county, demonstrations on various Christmas ideas, food, decorations, entertainment and a cooked food sale. Those attending are asked to bring a sack-lunch and a cup. Beverages will be furnished.

Anyone wanting to give a demonstration on a Christmas idea should call Mrs. Roy Graves, 834-4534, or Mrs. Shane at 834-4401.

The public is invited, free of charge, to any and all of the program, which should last until about 3 p.m.

Two Men Compete At Paul

PAUL—Interest in the Nov. 7 city election is centered around selection of a mayor.

Seeking the post are two well known men in the community, Harold Wilson, incumbent, and Tom Felton, former board member and chairman of the board.

Running unopposed are Marvin Loosle and Otto Reidlinger, for the two councilmen posts. All positions to be filled this year are for four-year terms.

Mr. Felton, board veteran of 15 years, was defeated by the present mayor, Harold Wilson, who had served two terms a few years ago.

Mr. Wilson, who came to this area 14 years ago, is manager of Henry's Farm Sales at Paul. He is active in the LDS Church, Chamber of Commerce, PTA and the Paul Lion's Club.

He is eager to see Paul develop into a self sustaining community and has played an important part in getting new business here. He was instrumental in the city setting up a master plan for long-range development and would not like to see it interrupted.

Planning is stressed by Mr. Wilson and he feels the city gets more for its money that way. He pointed out that despite all the improvements the city had this past year, it didn't go beyond its budget.

Mr. Felton operated a grocery store here for 12 years and prior to this was in the trucking business. He recently retired from operating the Felton Apartments, which he sold to his son-in-law and daughter.

Mr. Felton said, "I feel that being the mayor of Paul is almost a full time job and not one or two short sessions a month. A town's business is like any other enterprise and many mistakes would be made if one would spend only a few hours each month trying to manage things."

Paul, like all small towns is unable to pay a mayor his worth so has to elect someone they hope will work to their advantage. After serving on the board 15 years, I will let you decide. I would certainly appreciate your vote, but above all, get out and vote."

Mr. Loosle, councilman for 20 years, is an employe for the Amalgamated Sugar Co. Mr. Reidlinger, a board member for the past five years, is employed with the Minidoka Highway District.

Flag Misused

ATLANTA, Ga., (AP)—Randy Paul White was arrested after police took a second look at his colorful dress Tuesday night.

Detective W. A. Groover said he arrested White, 19, of Lilburn, Ga., on a charge of misuse of the American flag.

The officer said White wore a vest made from a flag.

The arrest was made near the Peachtree-14th Street area, a hangout for hippies.

Confused Young Man Returns Home

PARSIPPANY, N.J. (AP)—"This is unbelievable. It's like returning from the dead," said 19-year-old Bruce Burkan.

Burkan—missing and presumed dead for two months—walked into his home and told his mother that he had no idea of what happened or where he had been.

"He looked very confused and had several cuts on his face," said Mrs. Theodore Burkan, who was Mrs. New Jersey of 1966.

Her son had been missing since Aug. 22, when he left his fiancée, Valerie Schnetzer, 19, on an Asbury Park beach to put a coin in a parking meter.

Burkan said Wednesday he remembers being in Asbury Park and leaving the beach. The next thing he remembers, he said, was being in a bus terminal Tuesday in Newark.

Mrs. Burkan said she was upstairs on the phone Tuesday when Bruce walked in. She stood in complete shock for a few minutes and then "flew" down to him.

She said similar scenes took place as his three brothers, Barry, 13, Lee, 9, and Wayne, 15, came home from school.

Mrs. Burkan showed Bruce a remembrance book she kept, showing pictures and stories of memorial services conducted for him. More than 200 area residents attended.

"I never dreamed so many people cared about me," the youth said.

"No one even knows how much he will be mourned at his funeral. I've had the golden opportunity of returning."

Ethics Group Finds No Facts To Back Accusations On Sen. Long

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate ethics committee says it finds no facts to support misconduct accusations against Sen. Edward V. Long, D-Mo.

The panel now plans to push forward with its efforts to develop a code of standards and conduct for senators and Senate employes.

The bipartisan committee's work on a code has twice been interrupted, first by its investigation into misconduct charges against Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., and then by its inquiry into the affairs of Long.

Chairman John Stennis, D-Miss., said despite the delays the committee may submit a code for Senate action before Congress adjourns this year.

The committee's report Wednesday to the Senate on its closed inquiry into Life magazine allegations against Long said it found no basis for conducting public hearings.

Long said he regarded the ethic panel's unanimous report as a complete vindication. He told the Senate his honor and integrity had been questioned for the first time in his career and the report had lifted a great burden.

The May 26 Life article said that in 1963 and 1964 Long had received $48,000 in legal fees from Morris A. Shenker, a St. Louis attorney for imprisoned Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa. The magazine suggested Long misused a Senate probe of wiretapping—which he headed—in an effort to keep Hoffa out of jail.

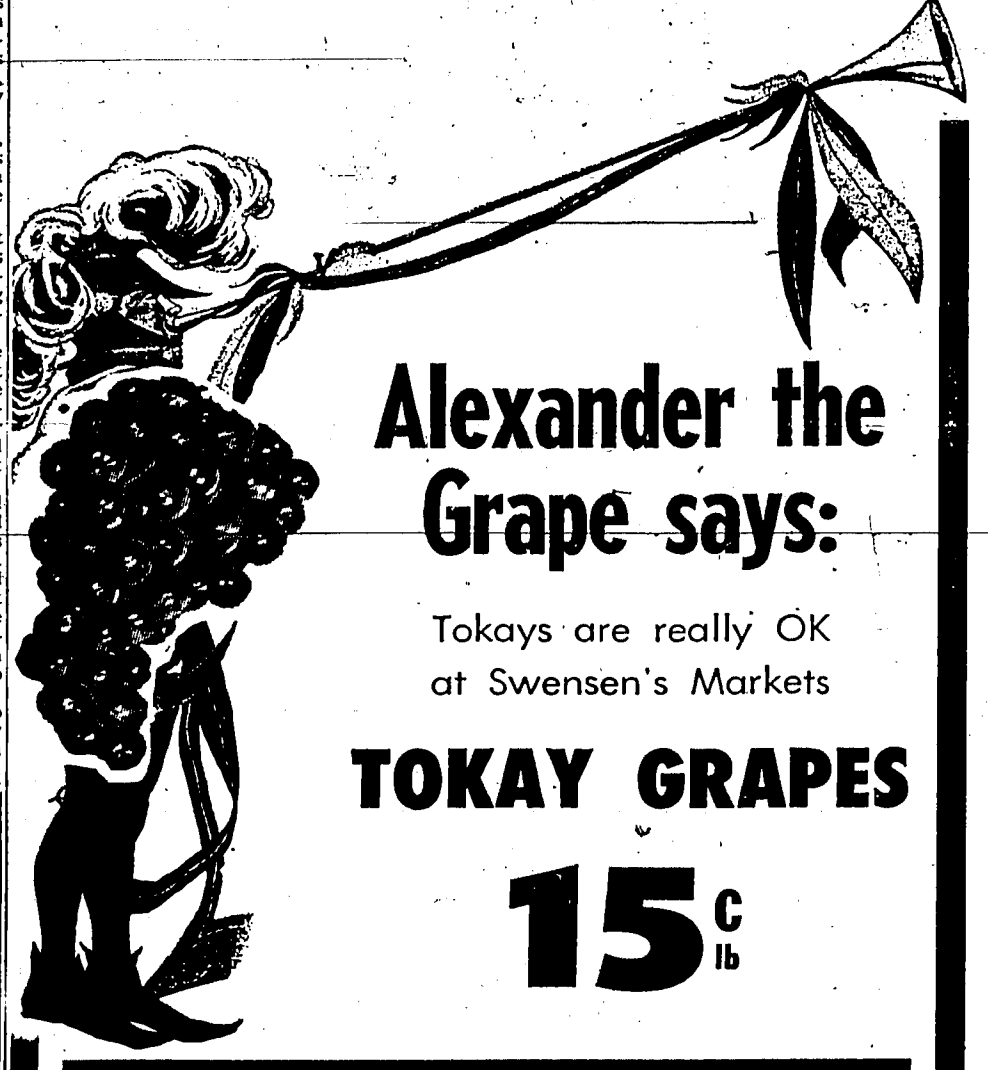

Hoffa has based attempts to overturn his conviction for jury tampering for the most part on grounds evidence against him was gained through illegal wiretapping.

Long never denied receiving money from Shenker. But he said it represented fee-splitting in connection with legal services having nothing to do either with Hoffa or the Teamsters.

The committee said five clients were involved in the Shenker-Long payments, and added: "From the evidence and information the committee has been able to develop, the committee has found no facts which show that either the payments to Mr. Shenker from the five clients, or the payments by Mr. Shenker to Senator Long, had any connection with Senator Long's duties or activities as chairman of the Subcommittee on Administrative Practice and Procedure, the subcommittee's hearings, or Senator Long's duties or activities as a member of the Senate."

Hippies On 'Hog Island' Separated

SUWANNEE, Fla. (AP)—The hippies who moved onto Hog Island in the Suwannee River to become "united in a dream" were separated Wednesday by a sheriff who thought it was "immoral of them to live like that."

Four of the six swingers, who described themselves as "a group of people living closer than brothers and sisters," were jailed by Levy County Sheriff Pat Hartley. The other two escaped.

The four bearded young men and two girls, had been camping on the 40-acre island for about six weeks, living on fish, crabs, oysters and whatever their $7-a-week budget allowed them to buy.

Hartley said he made the arrests because "they shouldn't be permitted to live like that. They weren't in my hair," Hartley said, "I was looking at it from a moral standpoint."

Arrested during a trip to the fishing village of Suwannee were: Paul Morgan, 21, of Duncan, Okla.; James Lynard, 20, a native of North Dakota who said he has lived a year in Gainesville, Fla.; Margaret Ann Zimmer, 21, of West Point, Miss.; and Lynn "Cricket" Jacobs, 18, of Gainesville.

Still at large were: Stanley Rheinheimer, 21, of Asheville, N.C.; and David Breuning, 25, of Melbourne, Fla.

Cricket was charged with vagrancy and the others were charged with contributing to Cricket's delinquency.

On the way to the Levy County jail Lynard said of the bond, "Why should we pay $200 to a machine we ran away from."

Asked how the hippies would pass their time in jail, Lynard replied, "We'll laugh a lot."

Prospects Rated Up For Opening Of Magic Valley Pheasant Season Saturday

After two kinda lean years the prospects for Magic Valley's pheasant season appear up and several thousand hunters will be out to make the Idaho Fish and Game Department's prediction come true at noon Saturday when the season begins a six-week run.

Little has changed from last year with the Minidoka project north of Rupert expected to be the top producer. Next best should be the general north Gooding and Lincoln counties country with the Salmon Tract south of Twin Falls, the Castleford area and the Hunt project in about a tossup for third billing.

The season will run through Dec. 10 and hunters are reminded that hens will not be legal targets any time during the season. The daily bag limit is four roosters and possession, beginning the second day, will be eight.

Charles Blake, regional biologist for the department, reminded hunters that the department will again conduct several checking stations. Hunters are required by law to stop at these and produce any wild game for inspection. Blake emphasized that field dressing should not go beyond the point where specie and sex cannot be readily determined. He said leaving one fully feathered wing would fill that requirement.

In addition to pheasants, all of Gooding County will become open to Chukar and Hungarian Partridge and all species of quail Saturday. A portion of the county was omitted from the September opening. The next partridge and quail season will run through Dec. 31.

Blake said he anticipated that hunter success would range about a bird per man, the yardstick generally used by management to determine a successful hunt.

Brood trend counts conducted by the department showed an upswing this year and Blake said two things were credited for that. The first was the rainy weather that struck during the nesting season which reduced farm activity and allowed hens to bring their broods off safely — particularly in alfalfa fields — when the peak of the nesting season and the first hay cutting usually coincide.

Temperatures stayed up well, allowing the birds and chicks to keep warm and dry.

"Another thing that helped and will help even more in the future is the growing use of Gaines wheat," Blake said. "This is planted in the fall and presents a density of cover for nesting before the alfalfa is up. The wheat gives the birds maximum security from man during the nesting season and also keeps alfalfa from luring them into what is pretty much a death trap," he said.

Ed Scholes, regional enforcement supervisor, reminded hunters that respect of private property must be used by all hunters if they wish to maintain the privilege of free hunting on deeded land.

Scholes noted road hunting and trespassing alienate landowners more than anything with disturbing stock, seed crop destruction and other damage actually robbing the landowner of money.

A full force of department conservation officers, augmented by auxiliary help, will be in the field this weekend, Scholes warned.

Swimmers Cop Three Of Five Gold Medals

MEXICO CITY (AP). — Don Schollander, Lynn Vidali and Debbie Meyers captured gold medals Wednesday night as the powerful United States swimming team began a last ditch attempt to catch Russia in the pre-Olympics.

The United States entered the swimming competition with only six gold medals, far behind Russia's 23. But the Americans were to get enough of the 29 medals awarded in swimming to catch up and started by winning three of the five finals Wednesday night.

Schollander, who won four gold medals for the United States in the 1964 Olympics, fought off two Russians to win the men's 100 meters freestyle. The Yale University student had a time of 54.5 compared to his Olympic record of 53.4. Georgio Kulikov was 1 of a second back and Leonid Iliechov was third in 54.7.

Giants Can't Find Fault With Packers

NEW YORK (AP). — What's wrong with Green Bay? Don't ask the New York Giants after the 48-21 beating last Sunday.

The weekly National Football League statistics also show there is nothing substantially wrong with the Packers. They lead the league in total defense, pass defense, fewest points allowed, fewest first downs allowed, fewest touchdowns allowed, fewest completed passes allowed, lowest opponent's passing percentage and also have had the fewest penalties and fewest yards penalized.

Although the offense leaves something to be desired, they lead the league in first downs rushing and top the Central Division of the Western Conference with a 4-1 record. Despite the scoring outburst against the Giants, the Packers are ninth in total offense, fourth in rushing and tenth in passing.

New York's explosive offense with a fine balance of running and passing, is first with an average of 393 yards a game. Los Angeles has the best rushing average, 158 yards, and Baltimore the best passing average, 286 yards. The Rams also are the toughest to run against, giving up only 72 yards a game on the ground.

The wall of protection the St. Louis Cardinals throw up around young Jim Hart amounts to the best pass protection in the league. The Card quarterback has been dumped only twice in six games for 24 yards.

In sharp contrast, the New Orleans quarterback has been smeared 27 times for 202 yards. San Francisco's pass rush has been most damaging. The 49ers have thrown the enemy passer 22 times for 179 yards although St. Louis has broken through for 20 smears and 182 yards. Pittsburgh has been able to get to the quarterback only five times.

Bayer Seizes Sahara Lead At 5 Under

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP). — Towering George Bayer led an awesome parade of par wreckers through the first round of the $100,000 Sahara Invitational Golf Tournament Wednesday, the big fellow knocking five strokes off regulation figures despite a badly swollen finger and competitive inactivity since last April.

Bayer toured the 7,069-yard, par 36-36-71 Paradise Valley Country Club course under summery skies in 34-32-66.

Thirty-six professionals of the 144 entered shot sub-par golf, with the defending champion Jack Nicklaus posting a 36-32-68. Arnold Palmer, suffering the agony of a double bogey and bogey on the second and third holes, finished with 39-37-76.

Six players were crowded one shot back of Bayer at 67.

They were Ken Still, 33-34, who was playing with a painful rib injury; Julius Boros, 34-33; Homero Blancas, 35-32; Frank Beard, 35-32; Bob Winginger, 34-33; and Terry Dill, 34-33.

Included in the 68 bracket with Nicklaus were Bob Goalby, 35-33; Gardner Dickinson, 34-34; Butch Baird, 33-35; and Joe Carr, 36-32.

Trujillo, Nelson Assumes Leads In South Idaho Loop Individual Stats

By The Associated Press

Riding a 282-yard passing effort against Twin Falls last week, Highland quarterback Mike Trujillo jumped into second place in total offense as the passing lead while Capital's Le Roy Nelson moved into the rushing lead in Southern Idaho Conference statistics released today.

Trujillo, in fourth place and 346 yards off the pace going into Saturday's aerial circuit against the Bruins, soared to 687 yards for his four conference games. He still trails Nampa's Dave Ober, the season-long leader, by 175 yards.

Nelson, running his average to 9.1 yards per carry, passed last week's lead Mike Heberlein of Pocatello who had to sit one out due to illness.

Trujillo climbed past everyone in passing and leads with 622 yards for the conference and 797 for the year. The rest of the state remained fairly constant.

For the season, Twin Falls' Bob Blake maintained his rushing edge with 758 yards and a 52-yard bulge over Nelson. Ober, who leads conference total offense with 862 yards, needs only 30 more to surpass the 1,000-yard mark for the year.

In the passing divisions, Trujillo leads in percentage, with .454 for the year and .462 in conference and is tied with Ober with the more dubious honor of having thrown 10 interceptions. But Ober has the lead with nine for conference-only action. Trujillo and Von Wells.

Doctors Can't Agree On Effects Of Altitude

MEXICO CITY (AP). — Some of the best sports medicine specialists in the world agree that Mexico City's altitude is just a bugaboo that can easily be overcome with training.

But others, taking their third hard look at the impact of 7,347 feet on the body of an athlete during the current pre-Olympics, warn of psychological blocs, respiratory ailments, diarrhea, weight loss and dry mouths in competition.

More than 100 physicians of Olympic entry countries exchanged information on the results of studies of their respective teams. Many also were here in pre-Olympic Games of 1965 and 1966.

Most optimistic was Soviet physiologist Anatoly Korobkov, who announced his tests indicated "the possibilities of the human body are immense and we thank Mexico for hosting the 1968 Olympics to give us the chance to learn more."

"We have found all human organs can acclimatize to this altitude and some organs even work better. I think that next year we will see many more records broken than in any other Olympics."

The big Soviet team arrived in Mexico City more than two weeks before the Pre-Olympic games started on Oct. 12 and so far has taken 22 gold medals against nine for Italy, the nearest rival.

Nigerian physician G.D. Sofolawe told colleagues that he'd been unable to convince one Nigerian athlete he could breathe normally here.

"After 10 days he still refuses to breathe right. It is psychological and points out the necessity of breathing exercises for athletes before the games," he said.

Alps climbing was recommended by Dr. Jacques Thiebaud of France, who also stressed breathing exercises. He reported dry mouths, weight loss, common colds and diarrhea "although we brought our own French food and cook." He said the French team would be found climbing the Alps 15 days before the Olympics.

Dr. Albert Dirix concluded his Belgian team was not affected after several days of practice.

BRIDGE

By Jacoby

CHANCES TAKEN ENHANCE SCORE
As in any competitive game, the best bridge players take chances in order to force their opponents to guess.

In a recent team match, both West players opened with one spade and each East jumped right to game.

At the first table South, deciding that he was not going to East and West weren't too happy with their result. They were afraid that other Easts and Wests would make four, maybe five spades, but their fears turned out to be groundless.

At the other table, North and South were playing all-purpose doubles. South doubled, East's four spade bid primarily for takeout, but North decided to try to beat that contract.

He opened his singleton club. South took his ace and West fальсeclared with the seven spot. This left South with some doubt as to the location of the deuce, but he had no reason to shift and returned the three.

West played his eight and North ruffed. This left North with a real problem. He wanted to put South in. Should he lead a diamond or a heart? If West had played the club deuce, North would have known that his partner had played his lowest club as a diamond preference signal—but where was that deuce? Eventually, North did decide on the diamond play and got his second ruff.

What do you do now?

A—This is a tough one. We favor three spades but would have no criticism of a three heart call and little criticism of three.

TODAY'S QUESTION
You bid three spades. West bids four clubs and your partner doubles. What do you do now?

Answer Next Issue

be shut out, bid five hearts. West's first thought was to bid five spades and take a small loss. His next thought was to pass and leave things to his partner. Finally, West took a third course of action and doubled.

Then he led his singleton diamond. South won and led a low heart toward dummy, but West had planned his campaign to get a ruff. He went right up with his ace and played a low spade. East got in with the queen and returned a diamond to set the contract.

What To Do? Pick A Hue

Dear Ele: About two years ago my friends started calling me "Grandma" in fun. I was, and still am, very conservative in dress and hair style. Last year was my first term in high school I really studied, putting a lot of time and effort into my work to get off to a good start. Well, it paid off! I got the best grades ever, but I also started getting grey hair. My mother started greying at 40 and my dad at 60, but I'm only 15! Please give me some advice before I go completely white!—No Grandma For Real.

Dear No: If your parents permit, see a dermatologist, and let him explain what's accelerated your greying locks. There's a chance that it may be correctable. If not, and greying dismays you, consult a dresser and pick a shade that's more "Don't-let-worry-which-incidentally does not cause greying" about what your classmates will say keep you salt-and-pepper. Their teasing will last only a few weeks, even if you decide to become a flaming, red-head.—Ele.

Dear Walt: I've never written a letter to a newspaper, but this is just too much! In fact, it's downright revolting! To the girl who asked what boys thought of pierced ears you advised: "I can't find a guy who has a strong 'pro' or 'con' attitude toward pierced ears."—You've found one now!

A girl with pierced ears is one of the most disgusting and barbaric people of our "civilized" society! Our society gave up cannibalism and head-hunting long ago, but we still have members of our culture defacing their bodies to make themselves attractive. (Is this any different from the African natives who scar their bodies to beautify them?)

I'm not alone. I asked some of my friends what they thought of pierced ears and here are their answers: "Disgusting!" "Yeech!" "Nauseating!" "As-ment report showing a "moderate" standard of living costs a city family of four more than $9,000.

"Psychologically, the family feels as much pressure as before because it wants more," said Commissioner Arthur M. Ross of the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

The report shows a "moderate" living standard cost 39 per cent more than in 1959 when the last such study was made. Fifteen per cent of the increase was in prices. The other 24 per cent was in real improvements in the form of better food, more autos and other family needs and desires.

Ross emphasized the study does not represent a typical American family, but provides a yardstick to measure the spending habits of other families.

The median income of the nation's 48 million families is about $7,500 a year.

The study was based on a theoretical 38-year-old man with a steady job earning $11,000 a year, his wife who doesn't work, a 13-year-old son and an 8-year-old daughter.

It took them $9,191 in an average U.S. city for a "moderate" living standard last year, and with price increases since then the figure is at least $9,420 a year now.

They spent $7,329 on food, housing, clothing, transportation, medical and personal care and other items and the rest on taxes, life insurance, gifts and contributions to social and charitable organizations and job-related expenses of the husband.

"It is not a poverty budget nor is it a luxury budget," said Ross. The bureau will later publish living cost figures for families with both higher and lower incomes.

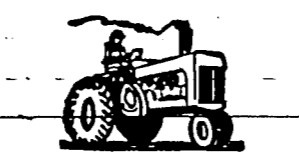

The "moderate" family budget, Ross said, shows that "aspirations and expectations multiplied at least as rapidly" as rising income and the production capacity of the economy.

The same couple without children could have lived just as comfortably with $3,778 less income. If they had four children instead of two, they would have needed an additional $2,345 income to keep up the same level of living.

The new report reflected more home ownership than the 1959 study, more families owning automobiles and many better quality and higher priced items. It showed an increasing taste for wine and less for beer.

"It's not our idea of what a family should have, but their own aspirations and needs," Ross said.

NOAH'S ARK? It may be according to Israeli artist Meir Ben-Uri, who has built this model to prove his contention that Noah's ark was a 6,000-ton vessel shaped like a squashed cardboard box. "The ark has puzzled me for a long time," he said. "We all think of it as a ship, but Noah was a simple man and no shipbuilder." He said he decided to work out for himself what the ark may have looked like when it was completed. (AP wirephoto)

Noah's Ark Unlike Visions, Artist Claims

HAIFA, Israel (AP)—Noah's Ark was a 6,000-ton vessel shaped like a squashed cardboard box—nothing like every one imagines it looked, says artist Meir Ben-Uri.

He has built a model ark to prove it. He based the design on a five-year study he made of the numerical values of the Hebrew words—each letter has an equivalent number—in the three verses in the Book of Genesis which tell of the instructions God gave Noah.

"The ark has puzzled me for a long time," he said. "We all think of it as a ship, but Noah was a simple man and no shipbuilder. So I decided to work out for myself what it really looked like."

He argues that a rectangular vessel would have needed so many support beams there wouldn't have been enough room for the animals.

It wouldn't even have gotten off the ground when the floods came because it wouldn't have had enough buoyancy, claims Ben-Uri.

Since the Bible doesn't mention a keel to balance it, he reasoned the floating zoo couldn't have been ship-shaped.

So, Ben-Uri decided, the ark must have been rhomboid-shaped, almost 500 feet long, with a carrying capacity of 15,000 tons. A rhomboid resembles a square but with the corners oblique.

Noah, with the limited resources available, must have constructed the ark lying on its side using rhomboid templates—made by joining two triangles at their base—and joining them with lightweight timber.

Ben-Uri calculates Noah built it in 10 sections, seven of them for the animals, divided into three floors; reptiles on the bottom, four-footed beasts in the middle and birds on the third.

Noah's family lived in a small cabin beside the supply of food.

"It's simple, but it must have been a major achievement at the time," remarks Ben-Uri. Nautical engineers confirm the artist's ark is seaworthy.

Cavalryman Observes 100th Birthday

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—An Indian fighter who fought the Apaches as a U.S. 4th Cavalryman out of Ft. Bowie, Ariz., celebrated his 100th birthday today, slipping two jiggers of 100 proof bourbon in a toast to both sides.

"To the Apaches who were brave men and to the men of the U.S. 4th Cavalry who also were brave," said Reginald Bradley before going to a ceremony in his honor at the Presidio.

Bradley, who now lives near Grass Valley with his daughter, came to the United States from London when he was 20.

He sailed on Sept. 10, 1888, with $100 in his pockets, headed for "the wildest state—Arizona which was a territory, becoming a state in 1912, where the Apaches were roasting people on stoves."

Then he joined the 4th Cavalry, now a component of the 1st Cavalry fighting in Vietnam.

He was mustered out in 1894 as a sergeant, was a forest ranger 10 years, then took up ranching. Despite his age, he still does some water color painting. "I'm a little surprised," he said. "I don't seem to have much wrong with me."

Wendell Man Will Attend Health Meet

Featured speakers this year will include Dr. C. H. Hardin Branch, past president of the American Psychiatric Association, and Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho.

Mrs. Rose King Dies At Age 91 In California

She was married to Joe King in 1894. He died in 1934. After the death of her husband she made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Henry Rees in Murtaugh and Twin Falls, and later in Oceanside.
