In Tuesday's accident Mannie Shaw, Corral, was headed north on Highway 93 at 7:45 p.m. when an oncoming car passed him just as two calves appeared on the roadway...

The calves belonged to Vert Loveland, Bellevue and Paul Last Thursday a 1967 Ford pickup truck owned and driven by Jack Myers, Bellevue, was damaged an estimated $1,000 and one of Wayne Clark's saddle horses killed when the animal moved across the highway as Myers attempted to miss it...

Wendell Sets Parade For Halloween

WENDELL — The annual costume parade, sponsored by the Wendell Chamber of Commerce, will begin at 7 p.m. Tuesday at the OK Tire Store on South Idaho St.

Deputy Sheriff Bill Bunn, chairman of the Safety committee, said all children participating will receive a sack of candy and that 20 prizes will be awarded for the best Halloween costumes.

8 Female Red Soldiers Hit U. S. Patrol

BEN CAT, Vietnam (AP) — Eight female Communist soldiers in full battle gear and armed with automatic weapons and hand grenades, attacked a U.S. infantry ambush patrol Wednesday and lost four of their number.

"They spotted our patrol first and fired on them," said Lt. Col. Walter E. Adams, from Washington, D.C., commander of the 25th Infantry Wolfhound Battalion.

"They fought well and they were damn good," Adams commented.

The American unit reported no casualties. The four dead women soldiers, all young, were identified as belonging to the North Vietnamese 271st Regiment, part of the 9th North Vietnamese Division operating in the jungles of War Zone C, north of Saigon.

Holden Convicted Of Manslaughter

LUCCA, Italy (AP) — American actor William Holden has been convicted of manslaughter in the 1966 auto accident, death of an Italian motorist.

The court Thursday sentenced the 49-year-old actor to eight months in jail and then suspended the sentence. He was also banned from driving in Italy for eight months.

Holden's sports car collided with the car of Giorgio Valerio Novelli, 42, on July 26, 1966 on the road between Florence and Pias. Holden was unhurt.

Mails Kit

VIRGINIA, Minn (AP) — An extension worker for the University of Minnesota thinks she has the answer to Lynda Bird Johnson's recently announced fears about her cooking ability.

Mrs. Bette Young mailed to the White House a kit containing recipes for simple meals and household hints.

Miss Johnson is engaged to marry U.S. Marine Capt. Charles Robb, a White House military aide.

Psychiatrist Views Hippie Rebellion

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — The hippie movement is but one of three rebellions shaking American culture, and it is doomed, a noted psychiatrist said Thursday.

Dr. Louis J. West, head of the Department of Psychiatry, Neurology and Behavioral Sciences at the University of Oklahoma Medical School, said the hippie movement will die because "no subculture based on the use of drugs that enervate, sap people's capabilities and bring changes in the brain will survive."

He said that while the non-violent hippies proclaim love and peace, their movement is really "an American tragedy."

Dr. West spoke in the University of Utah Medical Center on his findings while studying hippies last summer. He is on leave from Oklahoma to engage in research at Stanford University's Center for Advanced Study in Behavioral Sciences.

His base of operations for a study of the hippies was a "pad" he established in the Haight-Ashbury district of San Francisco. He was financed by a research grant, and had a staff of specialists.

While he didn't grow a beard, he did wear old clothes and said he came to know many of the young people in "hippie-land" as well as any "straight" person can.

He called the hippie movement the "green rebellion" because green is the color of nature, which members profess to love. He said the other rebellions are the "black rebellion" and the "red rebellion," or new left.

Planes Probe For Bomb After Call

POCATELLO (AP) — An anonymous phone call Thursday sparked a search on two airline flights for a bomb the caller said was "on an aircraft en route to Pocatello."

A search of baggage and planes in Idaho Falls and Salt Lake City revealed no bomb.

The search began when the Pocatello airport manager received a call at midday Thursday. FBI Agent W. M. Alexander said the caller, presumably a male, left this message:

"This is a long distance call. There is a bomb on the aircraft en route to Pocatello."

Officials searched Western Airlines Flight 412 at Salt Lake City. A West Coast flight was checked in Idaho Falls.

Neither search produced a bomb. Among passengers on the Western Airlines flight was James Y. Lee, mountain states general consul for the Chinese Republic of Formosa.

of managers as secretary and as president of the Texas Congress of PTA.

The convention theme this year is "The Magic Years."

Thursday and Friday's sessions will be workshops and a dinner is scheduled for 6 p.m. Thursday at the Holiday Inn.

Robert Gibb of Boise, Idaho coordinator of an eight-state project of designing education for the future, will give the opening speech.

Loses Foot

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) — Tex Scarborough, president of Jungland, Inc., was recovering in a hospital today after being mauled by a 4-year-old male tiger.

Scarborough's left foot was amputated at Conejo Valley Community Hospital. Investigators said Scarborough, 56, put his foot on the tiger's cage Wednesday to tie a shoe lace. The Tiger, "Charley," hooked the foot and pulled it inside the cage.

MRS. L. S. PRICE, vice president of the National Congress of Parent-Teachers Associations, will be present during the Idaho PTA convention in Twin Falls next week.

Mail-Order Pornography Business Drops

By JOSEPH E. MOHABAT
WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional clamor and a controversial Supreme Court ruling have put a big dent in the mail-order pornography business, the government's chief postal sleuth says.

Complaints about offensive mail have plunged 30 per cent, Chief Inspector Henry B. Montague said, since the Supreme Court ruled 19 months ago that lurid advertising may be weighed against the defendant in obscenity trials.

And 20 legislative proposals to combat pornography have sounded a further alarm to the commercial peddlers of snuff. "I think some of these dealers have had second thoughts since the Ginzburg case," Montague said in an interview. "They're awaiting further developments—but for now they've decided it might be wiser to keep their stuff out of the mail."

From 1962 to 1966, Montague said, complaints about offensive—if not legally obscene—mailings climbed from 52,000 to more than 187,000.

The Supreme Court, upholding the obscenity-by-mail conviction of publisher Ralph Ginzburg, ruled in March 1966 that advertising designed to titillate may be considered in deciding whether the advertised material itself is obscene.

In the following year, complaints to postmasters dropped nearly to 140,000. A California publisher of nudist magazines was convicted last February of sending obscene matter into Iowa. And complaints during the first three months of the current fiscal year are around 17,000—a 50 per cent drop from the corresponding period last year.

But if the postman is delivering less offensive material, someone apparently is circulating more. It's the opinion of Montague, a quiet, solemn man who seldom laughs, that "there's more hard-core pornography in circulation today even if it's not moving by mail. The ads are in girlie magazines instead of mailboxes. The magazines usually move by truck."

Montague and other federal officials define hard-core pornography as that depicting actual sexual relations or perversions. Virtually all of the hard-core material is pictorial, since the courts have all but eliminated the possibility of obscenity findings for printed matter.

Montague believes congressional pressure also has had a dampening effect on would-be mailers of sex-oriented advertising. Congress is considering a number of bills that would protect postal patrons from offensive mailings.

And President Johnson has signed into law a bill empowering him to create an 18-member commission to report by January 1970 on a strategy against pornography. The commission won't be named for at least several weeks.

The trend in commercialized mail order activity below the level of "hard-core" pornography, Montague said, is away from photos and film toward books, magazines and pamphlets.

Most of the mailings about which postal patrons complain are not legally obscene, Montague said. Many involve ads for sex-aid devices, couched in pseudo-medical terms. Some are thinly veiled invitations to join "correspondence clubs," lending a lurid new meaning, in the postal inspection business, to the friendly old term "pen-pal."

As for erotica and pornography entering the United States from outside, a Customs Bureau official said there has been no great change in the volume of material confiscated by inspectors.

Tighter Credit Is Foreseen

By JOSEPH R. COYNE
WASHINGTON (AP) — Signs are pointing to a new wave of tightened credit—but government officials say lenders and borrowers are unlikely to feel the effects for at least several more months.

And they contend a new credit crunch can be headed off altogether if Congress approves President Johnson's request for a 10 per cent income tax surcharge.

A credit squeeze last year resulted in a shortage of mortgage money and sent the housing industry to its knees. The recovery is not yet complete.

The newest storm cloud was the highest interest rate—5.75 per cent—offered by the Treasury Department in 46 years to borrow money for more than one year. It will apply to $1.5 billion of the $12.2 billion to be borrowed by the Treasury on Monday.

Treasury officials contend the high rate will have no appreciable effect on the ability of banks and savings and loan associations to compete for consumer savings.

High interest rates last year prompted many savers to withdraw their money from savings and loans and banks for investments paying more interest, a factor which tightened the available supply of mortgage money.

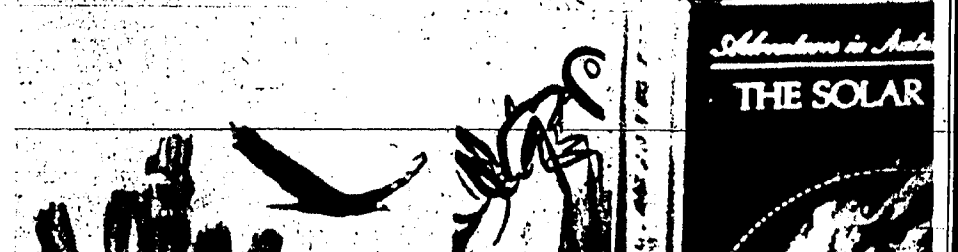

One official said California's S&L industry, largest in the nation, is already worried about possible withdrawals of money for higher-paying investments.

The end of the year could be a key time for the savings industry. That's when the next dividend period ends and when withdrawal of funds is most likely to occur.

Only this week the Securities and Exchange Commission reported that U.S. corporations offered $18.8 billion in securities for sale during the first nine months of this year, more than in all of last year.

This also places pressure on the money market and drives interest rates up.

And government officials contend they will go even higher without higher taxes since this will force the Treasury to borrow even more money.

BOOK WEEK FOR CHILDREN will be observed in Twin Falls beginning Sunday with displays set up in the Twin Falls library and in school libraries. A special story telling hour will be held at 4:15 p.m. Tuesday at the city library and children 7 years old and up are invited. Youngsters 5 to 8 are invited to a picture-book hour at the library at 11 a.m. Saturday, Nov. 4. Looking at this display in Morningside Grade School are, from left, George Staudaher, assistant superintendent of Twin Falls schools; Mrs. Norma Creed, superintendent of elementary school libraries; and Mrs. Elaine Parish, first grade teacher at Morningside.

Subsidiary Movie Companies Have Purpose

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP)— Ever hear of such film companies as Premiere, Claridge, Royal, Lo-per, International Classics and Regional Film Distributors? Probably not. Yet such firms have released many important movies.

"These companies are subsidiaries of the major film corporations, and their purpose is to release movies that are considered too 'special' for general distribution. In many cases that means too censorable."

Some industry observers fear that subsidiaries will be used to make a mockery of the self-censorship code. The National Catholic Office for Motion Pictures has decried having such companies release films that cannot qualify for a code seal. But the practice seems well accepted in the industry.

The most notable case was Michaelangelo Antonioni's "Blowup." MGM had sponsored the film, then discovered it could not get a code seal, largely because of a nude romp of David Hemmings and two teenagers. So MGM activated a subsidiary called Premiere Films to release the film.

"We did so because we thought the code office was wrong in this case," explained Clark Ramsay, new studio boss at MGM. "Our contract with Antonioni gave us the right to make certain cuts as ordered by the code; but we didn't feel they were warranted."

Ramsay added that there are no plans to use Premiere for future films. The release didn't hurt "Blowup," which has been a spectacular success at the box office.

United Artists has for several years used its Lopert subsidiary for films like "Never on Sunday" and "Tom Jones," which might have encountered censorship problems—both films are now considered so mild that they can be shown on television.

"The primary purpose of Lo-per," explains Herb Jaffe, West Coast vice president of United Artists, "is to distribute foreign-language features and other films that do not appear to be mass entertainment. They require special handling on the art-house circuit, though some turn out to be popular with a wide audience and then are taken over by United Artists."

The Motion Picture Association, police of movie morals, has taken no stand on the subsidaries. "They are not members of the association, so we have no control," says a spokesman.

But of course the parent companies comprise the association and they are not likely to act against themselves. That's why the subsidiaries will continue to be a back door to the nation's theaters for films that may not qualify for the usual entrance.

Television Audience Gets Lots Of Traveling Lately From Easy Chair

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP)— The television audience, without ever leaving its easy chairs, has done a lot of traveling lately in illustrious company. We visited London with Lucy and with Liz and Richard and Greece with Melina Mercouri. And we have had variety shows offered to us in such quantities that they are beginning to be a bit of a drag.

But with "Sophia, With Love" on ABC Wednesday night, some rubbernecking was combined with variety and the result was an unusual and totally delightful treat.

The hour program was a camera visit to the beautiful estate of the Italian film star, Sophia Loren, outside of Rome. And Villa Ponti—outside and inside—was artfully introduced by brilliant camera work. It was the stuff that picture post cards are made of.

Miss Loren wandered through this gorgeous background, sometimes singing sad, sexy songs in a breathy voice, sometimes making funny faces and always wearing wonderful clothes.

Peter Sellers turned up for a funny bit about a Nazi officer, Marcello Mastroianni slithered forward as a Valentino character and romped around the estate with Miss Loren in a burlesque of a tango.

There were a couple of sketches by Jonathan Winters, one in which he played Michelangelo and another in which he was almost all the characters in a sightseeing bus. He was pretty funny in both of them.

It was a hybrid program, defying the usual categorical identification, but it had visual beauty, a sense of humor, charm and above all originality.

NBC is expected to replace "Accidental Family" with another comedy series or perhaps a night time version of one of its day-time game shows. The notice that the Jerry Van Dyke series, which languishes around the bottom of the Nielsen lists, will not be renewed beyond the original commitment, has already been sent out.

Another NBC show in rating trouble is "The Man From U.N.C.L.E." a big loser in its time slot this season. It is a likely candidate for midseason cancellation, with its Monday hour filled by "Star Trek." This shift would open up a Friday night period for a return, perhaps, of the British-made "Saint" series.

When we went in to have makeup applied the makeup man (who is supposed to be one of Hollywood's finest) commented on my makeup and just powdered my nose.

An embarrassing moment in the show came when Mr. Linkletter grabbed hold of Mrs. Dohse's long blonde hair and asked her if it was real. "I didn't realize we were on the air." And, surprisingly, her hair color is natural.

"Mr. Linkletter was so nice—he's even nicer in person than on the air. He treated me just like a daughter. I had a great time—they really pampered me," she recalls of her experience.

The three women panelists had a luncheon the day before the two spots were taped and prior to taping Mr. Linkletter talked to them, familiarized them with the microphones and rehearsed with them.

"Jack Slattery (Linkletter's announcer) was so nice. He brought me coffee all the time," she noted, "and even offered to arrange tours of the CBS and Universal studios for me."

"I don't know what my husband's going to think of the things I said on the show," she said, "but he was more thrilled about me going than I was."

Rarity

HAGERMAN — Mr. and Mrs. Ed Larson and daughters, Debby and Michele, were privileged to see one of nature's rarities last weekend in the Island Park area.

Driving out to the Island Park dam and reservoir, they saw a cow moose contentedly munching wiliwili leaves with her twin calves. The Larsons have been unable to find the percentage for a cow moose to give birth to twins, but it is not a common thing.

For 4 Cents She Feels Like A Million

By RUTH KOONCE MILLER
Times-News Staff Writer

A young Kimberly woman feels like a million dollars and all it cost her was the price of a four cent postcard.

And, she feels like a million because she will be seen on a national network television show; one of television's top stars treated her "like a daughter," and she spent four days in sunny California, absolutely free.

Mrs. Gary (Donna) Dohse, 25, was selected to appear on the Art Linkletter Show when her postcard was drawn from among those sent in by young married women. She was a member of a panel discussing marriage, working wives, and marital problems.

The two six-minute spots she, Mr. Linkletter, and two young women from California taped are scheduled to be telecast on KMYT Nov. 2 and 3.

CBS flew Mrs. Dohse, who has been married for five years and has worked since she graduated from Twin Falls High School in 1960, to California and back.

She was given $100 to pay for her food and lodging, $150 to spend on just "goofing around" while she was in California, and a three-piece set of luggage.

Some of the questions presented to the panel by Mr. Linkletter were, "What would you do if you found out your husband was having an affair?" and, "Do you like your job and do you want to go on working?"

Mrs. Dohse said she was given some gentle prompting to say that she liked her job, but was ready to quit. "I told them, though, that I liked my job and wanted to keep on working until I was ready to start raising a family," she said.

Mrs. Dohse is employed at Farm Service in Kimberly and she has no children.

Besides not responding to the prompting, Mrs. Dohse has something else over on most television acts. "Oh, I've got to tell you about that," she enthused.

"When we went in to have makeup applied the makeup man (who is supposed to be one of Hollywood's finest) commented on my makeup and just powdered my nose."

Conflict Between Kenya, Somalia Subject Of Meeting

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP)— territorial claims against Kenya, Ethiopia and French Somalia have been a constant source of friction.

Kenya charges the Somali government with arming and training the guerrillas. Most of Kenya's 5,000-man army has been engaged in combating the elusive foe, who raid trading centers and police posts deep inside the frontier.

The guerrillas strew the desert road with deadly plastic mines believed made in Egypt, and development of the area has been brought almost to a standstill.

Kenya and Somalia agreed at the recent African summit meeting in the Congo to settle their long-standing border dispute by peaceful means. If they come to terms, general discussion may follow on Zambia's desire to join Kenya, Uganda and Tanzania in an East African common market.

The war along Kenya's arid northeastern frontier has splintered on since shortly before Kenya became independent of Britain in December, 1963.

Nomads of Somali origin make up the majority of the region's population, and many took up arms in a guerrilla campaign to unite with the neighboring Somali Republic. Somalia broke off relations with Britain and never established them with independent Kenya.

The Somali government in Mogadishu got Soviet assistance to build up its army, and Somali

Pen Pal

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)— Two detectives who captured a man running from a bank three months ago now have a pen pal. Or is it a pal in the pen.

Detectives J. F. Paschall and O. L. Adams received a letter this week from Jimmy Winters, who was convicted of a $2,778 robbery and sentenced to 15 years in prison.

Winters, 22, thanked the officers for the kind treatment they gave him when he was arrested and said: "See you in 15 years. Your pal. But I hope it isn't under similar conditions."

Area Artist Plans Annual Open House

RUPERT—Approximately 20 oil paintings will go on public display Sunday afternoon and evening at the Olaf Moller art studio on Highway 25 one mile west of the Minidoka County High School.

The 16th annual open house and exhibit is sponsored by Mr. Moller at no cost to the public.

This year the Rupert artist will show paintings completed during the summer and fall in the Jackson Hole and Sun Valley areas. The spectacular Teton and the Sawtooth mountains provide the scenes painted by Mr. Moller.

Hours of the exhibit and open house will be Sunday, from 1 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Councilman Speaks To Burley Club

BURLEY—Sylvan Burgi, Burley city councilman, was guest speaker Tuesday evening during dinner meeting of Burley Business and Professional Women's Club at Stampede Cafe.

The business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Ina Judd, president. Mrs. Kenneth Grimsman, director of the Southeastern District of Business and Professional Women's Clubs announced the semi-annual district meeting will be held in Buhl at R and R Cafe.

Clubs to be represented are Sun Valley, Gooding, Jerome, Twin Falls, Rupert, Buhl and Burley. A number of state officers and chairmen will attend with reports to be given on the National Convention held in July at New York City. The meeting will climax National Business Women's Week which is being observed on local, state, national and international levels.

Mrs. Grimsman reported that she had made an official visit to Sun Valley Club in September and the Buhl Club in October with Mrs. W. Gay Jones, district secretary-treasurer, accompanying her.

Reports were given on plans for the coming year for the Burley Club. Committee chairmen appointed by Mrs. Judd were Mrs. Lorenzo Steelman Sr., membership; Mrs. Russell Anderson, program; Mrs. Otto Vanek, personal development, and Mrs. Jones, world affairs.

Mrs. Grimsman, finance; Mrs. S. L. Walker Sr., public relations, and Mrs. Emma Glenn, legislation.

A "Plan for Progress" which is the National Business and Professional Women's Club theme for this year was presented by Mrs. Anderson who outlined programs for the coming year.

Mr. Burgi explained the duties of the local councilmen, their representation of the residents of Burley and how they were elected. A question period was held. The program was arranged by the club legislation committee.

Table decorations in the Hallway theme were arranged by Mrs. Merle Bedell.

The next social meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Grimsman, with presentation of the Business and Professional Women Club, Emblem Ceremony planned.

Ideas Change

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP) — Americans are beginning to change their attitude toward funerals, a nationwide survey by funeral directors showed today.

The shift, particularly in large cities on the East and West coasts, is toward simpler, non-religious and less expensive funerals, the survey said.

But in rural areas, particularly in the Middle West and South, the overwhelming preference is still for the traditional funeral with its public viewing of the body, religious service and public burial.

CRAFT UNVEILED
COWES, Isle of Wight (AP) — The world's biggest hovercraft was unveiled here Thursday, a 160-footer that will zip 256 passengers and 30 automobiles across the English Channel next year.

DISPLAYING PAINTING OF scenic mountain landscape is Olaf Moller, Minidoka County artist. He will hold his annual open house and exhibit Sunday afternoon at his studio, one mile west of Minidoka County High School on Highway 25.

Congress Hopes To Adjourn '67 Session Before Thanksgiving

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
WASHINGTON (AP) — With hopes high and fingers crossed, Congress is shooting for adjournment of its 1967 session before Thanksgiving Day.

Its leaders believe that with a little luck and no unforeseen snags they can hit that target date after this week's sudden break in the legislative logjam that has dragged the session through almost 10 months.

The big money bills, perennial sources of trouble, have started to move with a rush. Three more were sent to the President Thursday.

But wary leaders, accustomed to have their best-laid plans wrecked, were cautious in their adjournment predictions.

"Only fair," said House Democratic Leader Carl Albert DORTCH, when asked what he thought of chances for adjournment by Thanksgiving.

"A good chance," said House GOP Leader Gerald R. Ford. Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said the Turkey Day get-away prospects were good, if there is to be no tax hike bill.

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the House Ways and Means Committee, appeared to remove Mansfield's "if" by agreeing chances for the late-November adjournment looked good to him. Tax legislation originates in Mills' committee, which could hardly get a revenue measure ready for initial House action before late November.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen was less optimistic than the others. He felt mid-December was a more realistic target date.

The unofficial list of "must" bills for disposal this year has been narrowed. It now includes Social Security, foreign aid, anti-poverty and pay raise legislation, plus the remaining money bills. The list may be pared down further as the fever to quit spreads, with only the money measures absolutely demanding action.

None of the left-over bills would lose their advanced position if not acted on by adjournment time, since the present

Congress meets again next January and picks up where it leaves off this year.

House-passed bills dealing with aid to education, civil rights and Social Security revision may be brushed aside until next year.

Superrocket Launching Set Nov. 7

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The space agency has picked Nov. 7—the 50th anniversary of Russia's Bolshevik revolution and election day around the United States—as the target launching date for its first Saturn 5 superrocket.

The 363-foot-tall monster, the type rocket which is to one day propel three American astronauts toward the moon, is to hurl an unmanned Apollo moonship 11,400 miles into space in a major test of the new rocket and spacecraft heat shield.

In announcing the date, however, National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials said that the complexity of the rocket and launch equipment are liable to force delays beyond that time.

"This is a target date," said Maj. Gen. Samuel C. Phillips, Apollo program director. "We are in a very complex learning process and we are going to take all the time we need on that first launch."

Space agency spokesmen said status of Saturn 5 hardware and not politics dictated the date.

There was general agreement that the biggest stumbling block now in the path of adjournment is the anti-poverty program. The Senate has passed a bill to continue the program and the House plans to consider its own version the second week in November.

If the two programs are so far apart that a quick compromise would be unlikely, the anti-poverty program may be kept alive by temporary spending authority at an annual rate of about $1.2 billion instead of the $2 billion requested by the President.

Temporary financing also may be the lot of the foreign aid program if Congress can't agree on a more permanent arrangement.

The three money bills sent to President Johnson Thursday carried $16.9 billion for the space agency, the State, Justice and Commerce departments, the Department of Housing and Urban Development and some miscellaneous agencies. This was about $1.4 billion less than Johnson requested.

CRUSHED TO DEATH
BOISE (AP) — A Boise area man was killed Thursday night when he was crushed between the frame and dipper of a large cement mixer at his home on Highway 44 west of Boise.

Ada County Coroner E. D. Paris said 62-year-old Charles Clay King was mixing cement and died from a broken neck and crushed chest when caught between frame and dipper.

Paris said neither an inquest nor an autopsy was planned.

AWARD PRESENTED
POST FALLS, Idaho (AP) — A Post Falls man has received the Army's second highest award for bravery during a battle with the Viet Cong.

Awarded the Distinguished Service Cross Thursday in ceremonies in this small North Idaho community was Jerald Wilhelm, 22, who was discharged three weeks ago as a sergeant.

Presenting the medal was Idaho Adjutant General George B. Bennet.

Wilhelm was cited for taking over for his unit's medic when an onslaught of 2,500 Viet Cong battered his position.

5 Charged In Loan Unit Will Appear

BOISE (AI) — Their latest legal move denied, five men charged with felonies in the Idaho Savings and Loan Association case will appear before Fourth District Judge Merlin S. Young next Friday.

Young Thursday overruled demurrers to dismiss indictments against the five who, with one other, were indicted by an Ada County grand jury last summer.

They are charged with falsifying corporate records of the association, which closed its doors in July, 1966, and has since been in charge of the Idaho Department of Finance.

The five were ordered Thursday to make the court appearance to enter pleas to the indictments.

They are D. Spencer Grow, Provo, Utah; Horace E. Hayes, Preston; Dwain A. Knigge, Boise; Harold E. Hogan, Eagle, and Ernest Garrett, McCammon.

A sixth man, Alexander H. Walker Jr., Salt Lake City, faces an extradition hearing before Utah Gov. Calvin Rampton next week.

In overruling the demurrers, Young said the statute under which they were indicted was constitutional and that the indictment is clear as to the charge against the six.

No Competition

EDEN—Mrs. Gordon Newby, city clerk, reports there is no competition for the Eden city election to be held Nov. 7.

Candidates include James Ludlow for mayor and P. J. Eisenhauer, Milton Cunningham, Terry Burnett and Glen Teter for the three councilmen posts.

REPORT PRAISED
BOISE (AP) — Warden Orvil Stiles of the Idaho State Penitentiary had high praise Thursday for a 60-page report recommending administrative procedures for his institution.

"Of the rough draft of the report, Stiles said: 'They are sound prison procedures — excellent.'"

The report was discussed by Stiles, members of the Idaho Board of Corrections and Gov. Don W. Samuelson Thursday. It is a followup to an earlier audit of prison management which its "lack of direction and control" at the 95-year-old institution.

How to cut oil bills

1. Have your oil burner cleaned and adjusted professionally. Like a car, it needs periodic attention.
2. Use a heating oil that helps keep your burner clean. In a clean, well-adjusted burner, Shell Heating Oil can help reduce fuel consumption significantly.

Shell Heating Oil contains a special additive called FOA-SX2. This additive helps keep critical burner passages free from clogging — assures better firing.

Active Support Is Urged For U.S. Fighting Men In Vietnam

Respect for the laws of the United States and active support and backing of our fighting men in Vietnam was urged Thursday evening by Times-News Executive Editor O. A. (Gus) Kelker as he was speaker at the installation banquet of Credit Women International of Twin Falls.

The banquet, at the Holiday Inn, saw Nan Moon installed as president for the 1967-68 period, succeeding Mrs. Grace Hanel who had served in that post since Oct., 1966.

Other officers installed for the coming club year are Mrs. Laura Kemp, vice president; Mrs. Louise Emerson, secretary; and Miss Betty Jo Stark, treasurer. In addition to Mrs. Hanel, officers who served during the past year were Mrs. Judy Wight, vice president; Mrs. Myrna Rook, secretary, and Mrs. Kemp, treasurer.

Mistress of ceremonies was Mrs. Dorothy Sanborn, who introduced the speaker and guests, while invocation was asked by Mrs. Katie Bixler, installing officer was Fern Monroe. Mrs. Bernice Dunn was banquet chairman. Husbands and employers and their wives or husbands were special guests for the evening.

Enlarging on his subject of "What's Wrong With Everything?" Mr. Kelker was critical of those who showed disregard for established laws. He singled out for criticism the "draft card burners, the looters and the rioting groups."

He also declared that, regardless of party, all citizens should show respect for the President of the United States and so long as we were engaged in a war should support that effort until a lasting peace was arrived at.

"Two extremes exist today," Mr. Kelker said. "On the one hand are those who would pull out of Vietnam and on the other are those who would bomb the place off the map. The course is probably midway between these areas."

"Regardless of our personal feelings — and none of us really want war — it is up to all to support our fighting men. We must not let the moral decay of some of our people change our thinking of right and wrong, of loyalty and treason."

He also said national newspaper columnists are expressing the opinion that rioting disorders during the 1968 election year will be on a scale exceeding that in Detroit and Newark last summer. The hazards will be greater than in any previous presidential campaign in history.

"Living in this area we see no such disturbances around us. This is fortunate for all of us and for our children, but it should not cause us to lose sight of the fact that trouble is brewing and that all citizens, the real Americans among us, should give our support to a stable nation," he said.

He concluded by touching on the current political situation and declared that, although President Johnson's popularity is very low in today's polls, this could quickly change with victory in Vietnam, or even peace talks.

"At conclusion of the session, Mrs. Hanel was given a miniature gavel and plaque for her year of service. More than 75 people attended.

Thurgood Marshall's Judicial Ideas Come Into Focus During First Month

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thurgood Marshall's judicial philosophy came sharply into focus in his first month as a Supreme Court justice.

Although the term is young and the evidence necessarily limited, an analysis of his performance to date indicates a liberal stance — but a rather cautious one.

On the liberal side of the ledger, the former advocate of Negroes' civil rights joined in reversing the murder convictions of two Alabama Negroes. In one case, the court found evidence of exclusion of Negroes from juries. In the other it found the Negro confessed after the police chief threatened to kill him.

To a man, Marshall's eight colleagues voted to reverse these convictions. But in a less noticed action, the court's first Negro justice stood with liberals Abe Fortas and William O. Douglas apart from the other members of the court in a fair trial decision.

As U.S. Solicitor General, Marshall had appealed publicly to the nation's prosecutors to make sure defendants get a fair trial. Last Monday he took a significant stand in this area.

At the murder trial of a California man the prosecution introduced testimony that the defendant had offered to make a deal if he could be spared from the gas chamber.

Convicted and under life sentence, he appealed to the Supreme Court and was turned down. Dissenting, Marshall and Douglas joined Fortas in criticizing the majority for not taking the case and deciding if admission of such statements at trial should be prohibited.

In the areas of obscenity and church-state relations, however, Marshall seems to be taking a more moderate position. The result has been decisive.

He voted against hearing the appeal of an artist convicted in Miami for exhibiting six allegedly obscene statues in his backyard. And he voted against hearing an Amish farmer's claim that Kansas' compulsory school attendance law violates religious freedom.

In the obscenity case, Justices Potter Stewart, Hugh L. Black and Douglas voted to reverse the conviction and said the Miami ordinance prohibiting "the knowing possession of obscene figures or images for sale" was clearly unconstitutional.

In the church-state case, Chief Justice Earl Warren, Douglas and Fortas dissented.

Since approval of four justices is required to have a case heard by the court, each appeal fell short by one vote.

On the bench, Marshall has actively questioned the contesting attorneys. His approach has been pithy and direct. In trying to get at the heart of one case, he told a lawyer: "I don't want to get bogged down in language."

Obviously, more will be known about Marshall's views as the term wears on. But for the moment, he does not appear to be the "constitutional iconoclast" denounced by several Southern senators who opposed his nomination.

Four Soviet Ships Arrive In Port Said

PORT SAID, Egypt (AP) — Four Soviet warships arrived today to the tumultuous cheers of Port Said residents and dock workers.

The warships included two big vessels, a frigate and an auxiliary supply vessel.

The Cairo press said the visit was a courtesy call on Port Said, but the fact the ships came in the wake of the sinking of the Israeli destroyer Elath last Saturday and the subsequent Israeli shelling of oil refineries in Suez make it appear to be a demonstration of armed support for Egypt.

of loyalty and treason."

RENO, Nev. (AP) — Some 2,500 persons cheered Alabama's George Wallace Thursday night as he blustered "pseudo intellectuals who are causing a breakdown in law and order in this country."

The former governor said pseudo intellectuals have aided the Viet Cong, have tried to destroy the free enterprise system and have developed a cult which attempts to wrest control of government from the working man.

Wallace, on the first leg of a tour of five western states, defined pseudo intellectuals as "some bearded professors, some judges, some reverends and those who don't want to let the people decide about their government."

He was interrupted by applause 21 times during his speech in the Centennial Coliseum.

"The intellectuals are talking about themselves when they say 'let the people decide,'" he said.

The pseudo intellectuals talk about academic freedom and free speech, but it took 2,500 policemen to let me speak at Harvard and Dartmouth universities.

"They believe in free speech for themselves but not for those who believe in the free enterprise system," Wallace said.

He said he was not opposed to honest dissent about the Vietnam war, but distinguished dissent from "overt acts of treason."

"We ought to take the Viet Cong supporters in the United States before grand juries and indict them. They are nothing but traitors."

This drew a 30-second ovation. Uniformed policemen stood vigil at several places in the auditorium. There were no incidents.

Senator Asks Resignation Of Dean Rusk

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Calling for the "quiet resignation" of Secretary of State Dean Rusk, U.S. Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., says top Democrats should oppose President Johnson in the 1968 presidential primaries unless there is "significant improvement in the Vietnam war picture."

The statement to about 1,000 persons Thursday on the University of California campus at Berkeley was greeted with standing applause.

A Rusk resignation, he said, would "indicate at least a possibility of change" in the administration's foreign policy.

McCarthy is a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Prisoner Offers To Donate Kidney

MILTON, Fla. (AP) — A convict in Raiford State Prison has offered to give one of his kidneys to a pretty 13-year-old girl "if I can save a girl's life."

Niles Lloyd Palmer, 23, of Hurricans, Utah, wrote a letter from Cell J-45 where he is serving one year and said, "If this girl needed a heart, I would do for mine with only the request that she live her life in a way that would help others to gain a more happy life."

The girl, Karen Locklin, has undergone two unsuccessful kidney transplants since 1966. She suffers from acute anemia. Doctors say she is weakening and must have weekly treatments on an artificial kidney machine to cleanse her blood.

Palmer said he read about Karen's plight in a newspaper which reported her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Radford Locklin, had run up $40,000 in debts fighting to keep her alive. Friends and neighbors of the Locklins already have chipped in $11,000.

"I'm doing this for the reason I stated and nothing else," Palmer wrote. "I don't want any money or any favors. My time here will be up in March of 1968 and I'll proudly go back to my home state."

Louie Wainwright, state director of corrections, said, "We've had convicts on other occasions ask to donate kidneys but they mainly thought it would get a parole or other consideration. We have not permitted them to do it on the advice of the attorney general."

Wainwright said there had been legal opinions that the state would be liable in case anything happened to the prisoner.

However, Wainwright said, Palmer's request had not been submitted for a decision and it would be considered on its merits.

Wainwright said prison records showed Palmer was sent to Raiford June 1 after his arrest in Tallahassee in January for car stealing. Palmer was a high school dropout with an I.Q. of 97, Wainwright said. "He is in good physical condition," the prisons director said.

Wainwright said Palmer was a native of Albany, N.Y., and his stepfather and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Palmer, now live in Jefferson, N.Y. His wife lives in the Utah city, Wainwright said.

In his letter, published in the Pensacola News Journal, Palmer wrote: "I'm in good health and if I can save a little girl's life, she can live to enjoy the freedom I can't."

"I would feel much better as a person knowing that her parents knew I wanted to help them and that someone cared enough to give, if not their own lives, then a part of themselves so someone else might live."

Patriarch, Pope Have Private Talk

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI and Orthodox Patriarch Athenagoras met today in the Pope's study for their longest private talk yet on ways to bring their two churches back together after 900 years apart.

While the 70-year-old Pope and 81-year-old patriarch conferred in French without interpreters, their aides met separately at the Vatican Secretariat for Christian Unity.

The meeting of the Pope and patriarch was regarded as the most important since they began work to unite their churches.

In meetings in Jerusalem three years ago and in Turkey last July they spoke only briefly. Today's meeting was to last most of the morning.

In his speech at St. Peter's Basilica Thursday, the silver-haired Athenagoras stressed that "a dialogue of charity" must precede "a dialogue of theologians."

Pope Paul and his aides, on the other hand, have been anxious to move to specific issues which split the two churches into East and West in 1054, the major difference being over the primacy of the Pope.

Prelates from the Christian Unity Office, which handles the Vatican's relations with the Eastern Orthodox church, pointed out that the patriarch made a significant step toward recognizing the importance of Rome for both churches in Thursday's address.

"This seat," the patriarch declared in the largest church of Christendom, "is the first in honor and by order in the organization of Christian churches."

Many U.S. Servicemen Desert In Vietnam, Join Underworld

By JOHN T. WHEELER

SAIGON (AP) — A number of U.S. servicemen desert in Vietnam and try to live by dealing on the black market, pimping or occasionally by peddling marijuana, a U.S. military police source reported today.

The number of deserters at large runs from 40 to 100 at any given time, the source said, and their freedom lasts from a few days to several months.

The deserters are able to go underground most successfully in Cholon, Saigon's Chinese section. Those with luck make contact with black marketeers who furnish them with counterfeit PX ration cards to make large purchases for resale on the flourishing Saigon black market.

Some of them also join up with prostitutes and live partly off their earnings, a source said.

A few peddle marijuana to other GIs, but the drug is so easily available this isn't very lucrative trade.

American MPs and civilians checking identification cards at the various post exchanges are given photographs of service men absent without leave and most are caught this way, the police source said.

Once caught, the men are returned to their units and a trial by court-martial.

Some slip away from their units while awaiting trial on other charges. Many are marijuana users.

Most deserters serve their sentences in a stockade in Vietnam and then are sent back to their units to complete their one-year tours in the war zone. Sentences served in the stockade are considered "bad time" which doesn't count toward either the 12-month Vietnam service period or the time required for discharge.

The police source said no deserters are known to have escaped from Vietnam. This would require considerable money to get a fake passport and be smuggled out of the country.

CYCLAMEN PLANT CARE: If you've had your cyclamen plant in the basement or outdoors during the summer, it's time to start forcing it for another crop of blooms. Usually, the plant breaks its own dormancy and starts to sprout before this. Repotting each year is not necessary.

One reader has kept the same bulb in the pot for 35 consecutive years. All she does is remove the upper two inches of soil and replace it with a fresh mix. It is grown in an eight-inch pot and new blossoms have come on annually.

Another reader has grown her cyclamen for two years without drying it off. The plant produces buds and blooms constantly. This is a bit unusual, since cyclamen likes to have a dormant or rest period.

Grow the plant in a bright window and make sure it gets a uniform supply of moisture. Cool temperature at night means longer life for blossoms and the plant itself.

SOWING LETTUCE SEED: Although the gardening season is about over outdoors, one reader passes along a good tip: "I mix some Bibb lettuce seed with sand and in February when there's a thaw, I scatter the seed on the ground and forget about it. Then in May I have a real privilege — harvesting some fresh lettuce. I hit on this accidentally, and would like to have some of your other readers try this."

WILL FIREPLACE WOOD BREED BEETLES? Many homeowners with fireplaces ask if wood-boring beetles may be brought into the house in fireplace wood.

With few exceptions, beetles of this sort cannot infest the lumber in your home. They are more of a nuisance than anything. I've never seen any direct proof that any house has been infested with termites, carpenter ants, powder-post beetles, or the old-house borer (all pests of lumber) from infested fireplace wood.

Such an infestation is of course possible, but the risk of introducing a serious pest in fireplace wood is limited.

Incidentally, now's a good time to be on the lookout for the clover mite, a tiny pest barely visible to the naked eye, described as "grains of pepper that move." These mites feed and breed on grass and other plants such as shrubs, trees, and clover. In fall, they crawl up the foundation and hibernate under the clapboards or shingles, where they may also lay eggs.

They often enter the home in fall and winter, but they will not damage the house or its contents. Once in a while they will crawl over the skin causing irritation, although they do not bite.

CONTROL: Spray the foundation with Kelthane in fall. Spray is more effective if applied when

After two or three months in the refrigerator take them out where it's warm and light. Some gardeners place these under fluorescent lights. When they've sprouted, transplant them into

Buds Opened For U-Of I Improvements

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow — Low bids for the improvement of the beef and dairy cattle areas on the University of Idaho campus were opened today by Business Manager Joseph W. Watts.

Apparent low bidder for the basic contract was John Milton, Moscow, at $14,212. C and S

When the rose gets its first set of leaves, transfer to small pots using the same mixture (one-third each, sand, peat and loam). Keep moist and under lights. Most of them will blossom the first year.

K. T. of Fairfield: "For my money, I think that the impatiens or Impatiens plant is one of the best there is — even better than geraniums, for house plants or for outdoors. Please tell us if it can be planted from seed."

The impatiens, or "Impatiens plant" is an old fashioned item which is easily propagated from seed or cuttings. Start the seed in a mixture of sand and peatmoss, in a temperature of 72 degrees. Or you can start the plants from cuttings in plain tap water.

Does best if grown in full sun or in semi-shade. Grows fine in porch boxes, hanging baskets, or in beds. You have many varieties to select from: pink, lavender, rose and salmon. Start seed in February for outdoor crop.

L. R. of Oakley: "Please tell us if a fruit tree can be made to produce more fruit if iron nails are driven into the trunk."

Iron nails pounded into a tree have no value. Lack of fruit is not due to a shortage of iron, but usually a pollination problem. Iron can be supplied in a balanced plant food, or from the soil itself.

Builders, Pullman, submitted an estimate of $19,700 as the only other bidder on the project.

Tibes, Inc., Pocatello, was the low bidder at $5,660 for furnaces and furnace conversions at the University's Aberdeen branch agricultural station. Bingham Mechanical and Metal Products, Idaho Falls, submitted an $8,400 figure.

Iranian Visits Local Seed Firms

here describing to Mr. Shishegar work involving the growing of bean seed stocks for increase. Mr. Shishegar is spending two months in the United States touring various seed companies, universities, and sugar beet firms in an effort to gain knowledge about methods that may be applicable in his country.

One of the most all encompassing problems facing all nations today is the growth of adequate food to feed its people. Some nations have a much greater problem than others. Nations such as India pack 500 million people into an area twice the size of Alaska. And in this country Alaska has only 300,000 people, with the rest of our 200 million people scattered among 49 other states.

The United States has abundant land on which to grow the needs of hungry children... but this isn't the case in many countries. And some are becoming worse, not better.

There is one country that knows its problem; and it's doing something about it. That country is Iran. Iran is a relatively small country encompassing just over 625,000 square miles, which is less than a fifth larger than the state of Alaska. But while Alaska has only 300,000 people, Iran's population totals over 25 million.

One of Iran's recent exports is unique. It is the educated man. And when one is exported to the United States or to another country he learns what that country has to offer him and takes the knowledge back to his country to apply it to the soil of that land.

One such man is Majid Shishegar, a 35-year-old Iranian who was educated at the Ahwaz Agricultural College in Iran. He is currently employed by his country's Khuzestan Water and Power Authority, which operates a 500-acre field trial farm, testing various plants and crops that may some day ease the growing food problem all countries will one day face.

Presently in that country the seventh highest dam in the world is being completed... formerly the Diz Dam. It is now named the Pahlavi Dam after the Iranian king's family name. And the water from the Pahlavi now irrigates 50,000 acres and when completed the project will irrigate 250,000 acres of Iranian land.

According to Majid Shishegar, retical and practical side of farming and agricultural development. During his stay in the United States Mr. Shishegar has visited many California areas and has studied vegetable and field seed production and breeding methods, bean seed cleaning methods, and other areas of interest to his country. He has traveled in Utah and Idaho.

Here in Magic Valley he has been to the Rogers Brothers Seed Co. and the Asgrow Seed Co., studying seed cleaning, germination and testing operations. He will move on to Texas, Arizona and back to California before returning to Iran on Dec. 14.

Mr. Shishegar attributes the success his country has been having in helping itself toward better crops to the quality of management seen in his projects. "Good direction is the rea-

Labor Force On Farms Declining

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's farm labor force declined about 7 per cent during September and at the month's end was down 4 per cent from a year earlier. It totaled 5,799,000 workers. This, compared with an average of 7,807,000 for the 1961-65 September average.

Reporting this, the Agriculture Department said the level of farm wage rate from Oct. 1 was 8 per cent higher than a year earlier, averaging $1.29 an hour without board or room.

Technician Is On Research Center Staff

KIMBERLY—John L. Stevens has joined the permanent staff of the Snake River Conservation Research Center as physical science technician.

He will be working with Dr. James Wright in the field of meteorological research and will compile and analyze meteorological data. His duties also will include computer programming as well as the care of a number of different types of equipment which will be used in his work.

He attended the University of Nebraska at Lincoln, Neb., and received his B.S. degree in physics at Bethany Nazarene College, Bethany, Okla., last June.

He and his wife Penny live in Salem, Ore., for three months prior to moving to Twin Falls. They reside at 2163 Elizabeth Blvd.

GOV. DON SAMUELSON talks with Debra Miller, Blackfoot, Idaho Honey Queen, after signing a proclamation that Oct. 24-31 is "Idaho Honey Week." Looking on is R. I. Robinson, Nampa, member of the Idaho Honey Advertising Commission. Miss Miller gave the Governor a gift of comb honey and creamy honey. In the proclamation, Gov. Samuelson noted that Idaho is one of the top honey producing states, usually ranking in fourth to sixth place in the 50 states.

'To the church in thy house,
Philemon, verse two--Holy Bible-- is a descriptive quote for the home of Rev. and Mrs. Robert Schreckenberg, 2064 Elizabeth Blvd., Twin Falls.

Prior to that he was active in the ministry in the hills of western North Carolina. The Eastside Southern Baptist Church boasts a full program of basic Southern Baptist principles, which include a regular Sunday School -- with enrollment of 85 -- morning worship, evening worship, a training union, a Women's Missionary Union -- comprised of Girls' auxiliary and Sunbeams -- and a brotherhood organization -- the Royal Ambassadors. The church also participates in the Southern Baptist World Mission program through a cooperative movement. The church has four preaching stations, with a mission in Jackson, Nev., which was started in June of 1963 and a weekly Home Fellowship Bible Class and weekly meetings at two area rest homes. As to future plans, Rev.

Schreckenberg says the church will remain in the house until it is outgrown. When it is, a site has already been selected east of town for a permanent building. Until then, Eastside Southern Baptist church-goers can truly feel at home.

PRACTICING THE ministry in a unique manner, Rev. Robert Schreckenberg, minister of the Eastside Southern Baptist Church, utilizes his home for the newly-constituted church. New to this area, the church organization has grown considerably in the Twin Falls area. Mrs. Schreckenberg is seated at the piano.

Jewish Episode Is Portrayed

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer
NEW YORK (AP) -- With Jerusalem in fiery ruins, a remnant of its defenders retreated to a mountain-top fortress 30 miles southeast of the city. There, under siege by overwhelming Roman forces, the ragtag band of nationalist fighters didn't have a chance. "Come," said their leader, Eleazar ben Yair. "While our hands are free and can hold a sword, let us leave the world as free men."

of the largest, on-the-spot explorations on the past of the Holy Land, a two-year expedition at Masada led by Yigael Yadin, noted Israeli archeologist and former defense chief of staff. The spot marked Israel's last grim hour of freedom 1,895 years ago -- until the rise of the modern state. "Masada shall not fall again," goes the Israeli saying now. Masada is an elaborate, walled stronghold built on a peak on the west bank of the Dead Sea by Herod the Great, ally of the Romans and puppet king of Judea who died there in a crazed rage in 4 B.C. "Herodium," it was called in his day. In 66 A.D., about 33 years after the Roman military occupation government crucified Jesus, the long-smoldering Jewish resistance to foreign rule flared into general revolt, which for a time shattered the invader's control. The independence uprising gained the capital, Jerusalem, and a company of Zealots, those dagger-wielding patriots who

It runs here through Feb. 18, 1968, and later will be shown in major museums across the country. It is based on the results of Israel's large-scale 1963-1965 archeological exploration, led by Yadin and enlisting army engineers, builders of access roads and staircases, and about 5,000 volunteer workmen from around the world, helping to uncover and reconstruct the ancient fort.

Adult Class Is Planned At Hagerman

HAGERMAN -- Dr. George Carnie, superintendent of Hagerman schools, announced the first adult education class tentatively planned for the 1967-68 school year will begin Nov. 9. This first class will be on "The Stock Market, It's Workings and the Methods Used for Investments," will be from 7 to 9 p.m. This class will take either two or three sessions and it is hoped to be the first in a series of classes held especially for adults at Hagerman High School. There will be no charge or obligation to the participants of this class. Instructors who work with the market almost every day. The class is open to all adults over 18 years of age. Interested persons should notify the school by Nov. 1. Dr. Carnie hopes this will be the beginning of other classes that may be offered depending on the community reaction to this first one and their desire for future ones. Some of the subjects that could be available for adult classes are reading, math, and foreign languages. There are possibilities for the adults participating to receive either high school or college credits. There will be a fee charged for future classes of this nature. Dr. Carnie also stated it is being planned to open the Learning Center of the high school for four hours each evening except Fridays during the school year if it proves feasible. During this time, which will be from 3:30 to 5:30 and from 7 to 9 p.m., adults may come in to study on their own, use library materials available in the center or learn how to make and use TV tapes, film strips. It is hoped a large group will be on hand for this first initial class. Classes are not just for the young adult, but may be also beneficial for the retired adults, he noted.

Dinner Set
The entire congregation of the Episcopal Church of the Ascension, totaling about 400, has been invited by the church vestry to attend a dinner Monday evening at the Holiday Inn. According to John Riley, minister, about 225 persons are expected to attend the event which will begin at 7 p.m. A program is planned with those on the program being Mrs. John Hayes, Ivan Skinner, Tim Robertson and Dr. Charles Manners. Rev. Riley will be emcee.

Church Taps New Officers And Teachers
New Sunday School officers and teachers of the Eastside Southern Baptist Church for 1968 were chosen recently. Mrs. Bessie Burt was named beginning Sunday School teacher; Betty Spence, primary teacher for 6 to 7 group; Velma Gains, primary teacher for 8-year-olds; Carrie Ruth Spence, junior teacher; Mrs. Robert Schreckenberg, intermediate; and Rev. Schreckenberg, adult teacher. Mrs. Jesse Beraim was elected Sunday School secretary. Mrs. Gains is leader of the Sunbeams; Mrs. Schreckenberg, leader of Girls' Auxiliary, and Rev. Schreckenberg, leader of the Royal Ambassadors, all part of the Church's mission program.

Castleford Observances Are Planned
CASTLEFORD -- Reformation Sunday, Oct. 29, will be observed with a special interchurch service at 8:00 p.m. at the Baptist Church, sponsored by the Baptist and Methodist Churches of Castleford. The service marks the 450th Anniversary of the Protestant Reformation, which began on All Saints Eve, Oct. 31, 1517, when a Roman Catholic Priest, Father Martin Luther, nailed to the door of the Castle Church at Wittenberg, Germany, 95 theses for debate which called for reformation of certain practices within the church of his time. The 1967 observance in Castleford will be directed toward the need of continuing reformation among the churches of our time. Featured in the service will be a sound and color film entitled "Foundation for Dialogue." Written by a Roman Catholic nun, the film gives an objective introduction to the history, beliefs and practices of six Christian denominations: Roman Catholic, Episcopal, Lutheran, Methodist, Baptist and Presbyterian. It is produced for the purpose of helping Christians of various backgrounds understand each other better. The public is invited to attend the service, which will be directed by Jack Kennedy and Paul LaRue, pastors of the sponsoring churches.

Special LDS Meet To Stress Programs
Genealogy and children programs will be stressed at special meetings of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, Nov. 4 and 5. Elder W. Henry Chace of the Genealogy Committee and Edith Rich of the Primary Board will represent church headquarters in Salt Lake City at the Twin Falls Stake (diocese) conference. Latter-day Saints or Mormons, as they are nicknamed, are noted for their extensive family records associated with their temple activities. Elder Chace is in charge of the Information Service-Department of the Genealogical Society, where he has been employed since 1937. He has been a special instructor in genealogical research procedures for the Brigham Young University Extension Division in Salt Lake City. The Primary Association conducts the weekday religious and social training of the children of the church. Miss Rich is a graduate of Brigham Young University and received her M.A. degree from Denver University. She is an engineering and physical science librarian at the University of Utah. Meetings will be held Nov. 5 at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. in the Twin Falls Stake Tabernacle. Visitors are welcome, according to Stake President Lloyd A. Hamilton.

Soviet Trip Described By Minister
BURLEY -- Speaking each evening this week at the Burley Church of Christ is Dr. Otis Gatewood, who has made six trips into Russia in an effort to distribute Bibles and preach the gospel. He addressed a capacity audience at the opening lecture Sunday night on the subject "Preaching the Gospel Behind the Iron Curtain." The speaker was introduced by Dr. Donald Neilson, president of Magic Valley Christian College, Albion. Dr. Gatewood said he had taken a box of Bibles into Moscow where the guards asked him to leave the Bibles with them and that he could pick them up. But, the speaker said, he very conveniently forgot to pick them up. "They are too valuable to burn so the Communists would sell them on the Black Market. What better way could you have than having the Communists help you in spreading the gospel by distributing Bibles," he asked. Dr. Gatewood is speaking each evening at 8 p.m. Monday through Friday. Monday night he dealt with the problem of guilt, both from a religious and psychological point of view. Tuesday he discussed "Situation Ethics," and on Sunday he described his six trips into Russia. The speaker's son, David, and his wife plan to enroll in the University of Yugoslavia next year to further their preparation for preaching the gospel behind the Iron Curtain.

Valley Christian Churches Plan Sunday Meeting
Several valley Christian Churches will participate in a rally set at the Gooding Christian Church with Rev. Roger Aydelott, Rupert, as speaker. The event will begin at 1:30 p.m. Sunday with a dinner. Rev. Aydelott is scheduled to speak at 2:45 p.m. The meeting will close at 4 p.m. with a youth session.

Bean Soup
WASHINGTON (AP) -- Today's Navy Day and Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., has succeeded in getting Navy bean soup on the Senate menu alongside the traditional Senate bean soup. Senate restaurant manager Joseph K. Diamond said the Navy bean soup will go on the menu for the first time ever as far as he knows as a result of Percy's Senate floor appeal last week. Percy -- a Navy lieutenant during World War II -- assured the Senate his appeal on behalf of the Navy soup meant no disrespect for the Senate's own famous bean soup. During this time, which will be from 3:30 to 5:30 and from 7 to 9 p.m., adults may come in to study on their own, use library materials available in the center or learn how to make and use TV tapes, film strips. Loyalty Program Plan Of Church
Twin Falls First Christian Church will launch the annual six weeks Church Loyalty Program this Sunday. Stress will be placed on attendance at all services, with an attempt to involve 100 percent of the membership. Special emphasis for each Sunday will include an official Family Day, a Teacher Recognition Day, and Women's Day, when the ladies of the congregation will conduct the entire service.

BRIDGE

SOUTH SETS UP EAST FOR PLAY

Rubber bridge players tend to discount overtricks. After all, when you get 500 or 700 points for a rubber and 500 to 1500 for slams—what are a mere 20 or 30 points.

Duplicate players learn to appreciate small things. One overtrick may mean the difference between a top score and an average, two overtricks between a top score and a bottom.

We have also found that attention to overtricks pays off another way. By going after ev-the contract appeared to be a very normal one. Therefore South decided to try for one overtrick. He didn't think much of his chances, but he had nothing to lose.

He decided that he could afford to take some slight chance with his contract. He drew only two rounds of trumps. Then he cashed his king of diamonds and entered dummy with a third trump.

His next play was a low heart from dummy. East decided to try to beat the slam and ducked, whereupon South proceeded to make his overtrick.

We don't think much of East's play. One look at dummy should have told East that he had better grab his ace of hearts whenever he could, but we do admire South's technique.

The key play came when he cashed his king of diamonds early. He wanted East to know that West did not hold that card, and he also wanted to plant the idea in East's mind that the contract was a doubtful one. Of course, the play should not have worked, but it did.

Sometimes The Head Must Rule The Heart

Dear Ele: I have a problem I have someone over after 6 p.m. my dad is always drunk. Even if they just come in for a second, they can tell that he is drunk. It's ruining my whole life. Sometimes I ask him not to drink, and he says he won't, but then he does. He is 47 and feels that since I was pregnant I'm only 13 and if he doesn't stop drinking I'm afraid he will die. I was adopted and all my ex-friends always say: "Don't know that I was pregnant, but you wish someone else had adopted you?"—but I don't, I just wish he'd stop drinking!—Ter-

Dear Terry: There must be something drastically wrong in your dad's world to make liquor head. Heart first: I can see no reason whatsoever why a baby shower would be in bad taste. The fact that the child was conceived before marriage doesn't mean that understanding people can't look forward with happiness to the birth of a new human being, and pitch in to prepare for the child's coming.

Dear Warren: Saving money? Put it away in a bank where you can't get at it easily. Handy money is quickly handed out! Set a goal, make it realistic (even 25c or 50c a week adds up), and as soon as you collect your allowance or wages, rush to the bank and deposit the sum. If you can save for a specific purpose (a trip through the U. S. after graduation, a camera to earn you part-time money, etc.) you'll have much more fight than you would juggling dollars for some vague future use.

Dear Ele and Walt: I've got a terrible problem. Everytime I have someone over after 6 p.m. my dad is always drunk. Even if they just come in for a second, they can tell that he is drunk. It's ruining my whole life. Sometimes I ask him not to drink, and he says he won't, but then he does. He is 47 and feels that since I was pregnant I'm only 13 and if he doesn't stop drinking I'm afraid he will die.
