TEN-CENTS

SCARY AS OLD SATAN himself, is Joe Ward, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. L. (Sonny) Ward, as he sits prepared to take part in the "spooks and goblins festival" of Halloween. Joe really isn't as bad a fellow as it might look in this picture taken by Times-News Staff Photographer Bill King, however, as you can see in the pictures at the bottom of the page. And the chances are, instead of scaring too many people Tuesday night he'll join the rest of the youngsters in amassing a large sack of stomach ache-inducing treats.

Disappointed Suitor Kills Self After Wounding Captured Bride

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—A disappointed suitor shot himself to death today after wounding a young bride he held captive at gunpoint over the weekend in his third-floor suburban apartment, police said.

Robert Batch, 27, was dead on arrival at Doctors Hospital, a bullet wound in his heart.

Lida Caldwell, 19, was wounded in the chest and taken to surgery where doctors reported her in reasonably good condition.

University Heights Police Sgt. Chris Schoupt said Batch's mother, Martha Smith of Johnstown, Pa., talked to the boy from his kitchen and told him she loved him and would protect him.

"We heard two shots and we rushed in," Schoupt said.

Cleveland detective Capt. Patrick L. Garrity said when he entered the bedroom, the girl was still standing, although wounded.

Garrity said Batch was lying on the floor, the gun in his hand.

Both Batch and Mrs. Caldwell were carried from the home on stretchers.

Police said Batch had refused to talk to his mother.

"Get away and leave us alone," Mrs. Caldwell said from the bedroom before the shooting.

Batch had held the woman captive at gunpoint since Saturday night.

Mrs. Smith had flown to Cleveland from her home in Johnstown, Pa., to try to reason with her son. She arrived

THE FIRST STEP in getting ready for a scary Halloween as any apprentice spook will tell you, is choosing the right pumpkin for your jack-o-lantern. Here Joe Ward spots a good one on a grocery table and legs it off with ideas racing through his mind.

HALF THE FUN is in designing the horrendous face of your own jack-o-lantern. Joe Ward takes great pains in fashioning the staring eyes and ghoulish grin on the pumpkin of his choice, and has great plans as to how he'll use it on Halloween (see picture at top of page).

"Unguided"

BLACKFOOT, Idaho (AP)—Workmen with a big crane were preparing to shift to another truck today a missile which became "unguided" this weekend on a rain-slicked highway.

The missile, an unarmed Minuteman intercontinental ballistic missile, en route to Hill Air Force Base by truck, was damaged when the truck went into a slide and toppled over on Interstate 15 near Blackfoot early Saturday.

Although the missile is unarmed, the Air Force said, its solid fuel contents are being treated with the same precautions as an explosive. An area of an adjacent road is roped off to keep spectators away.

California Plagued By Fires

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Thousands of Southern Californians fled from an inferno of wind-driven brush fires today which swept an expensive hillside residential area.

California Division of Forestry officials said 15 homes were known destroyed in the Lemon Heights area southeast of Los Angeles. Flames threatened some 1,000 other homes, they said.

"It looks like another Bel Air fire," said a forestry spokesman, referring to the devastating 1961 blaze which destroyed 450 homes in an exclusive northwest Los Angeles district.

The Bel Air homes, all $50,000-plus residences, were turned into cinders in a 12-hour-long holocaust.

The flames today swept down from the Santa Ana Mountains into several Orange County residential areas in the foothills. Most of the engulfed homes were in the $40,000 to $50,000 range, firemen said.

An estimated 4,000 persons were evacuated from a thousand homes in the Lemon Heights area shortly after dawn.

The fire was the worst of two which have blackened an estimated 30,000 acres since Sunday. That surpassed the 26,000-acre swath cut two weeks ago by a series of brush fires north of Los Angeles.

The major fire continued to burn in a southwesterly direction toward the more heavily populated suburbs of Orange.

Meanwhile, the other fire in adjacent Riverside County swept down from the San Jacinto Mountains into the San Jacinto Valley. Authorities said "several structures" were involved at the Gilman Hot Springs.

The villain in the fires, at least in part, was termed the Santa Ana wind, which annually every fall blows its hot desert-spawned breath over tinder-dry Southern California forests and brushland.

Sen. Church Hedges On Backing Johnson In 1968

By MARK BROWN
BOISE (AP)—Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, a leading Senate dove and member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said Sunday he can't answer now if he will support Lyndon Johnson in 1968.

Church's statement came during a question and answer period following a speech in which he said presidential power in foreign affairs may make a "Censor" of the chief executive, whoever he is.

The senior Idaho senator said the Senate Foreign Relations Committee is considering action to limit authority of the executive in military affairs.

Church was asked if he would "sit out" the election as some Republicans did during the presidential campaign of former Sen. Barry Goldwater.

"That is unanswerable just now," Church said. "It may depend on whom the Republicans nominate."

He made it clear the Johnson administration's "policy of escalation" in Vietnam is the basis for his disenchantment.

But Church, who is up for reelection in 1968—himself, ruled out at least one Republican.

"I can tell you what I'd do if they (Republicans) nominate Nixon," Church said. "He'd just get us in deeper."

In the hour-long speech and later remarks, Church painted a gloomy picture of U. S. involvement in Vietnam if escalation runs its full course.

He said pressure will be brought to bear on the executive to "unleash the generals" because "bombing just military targets isn't enough."

"The next step is to bomb population centers," Church said. "Then we'll become mass killers."

Following that, he said, "You'll hear people calling for an invasion of North Vietnam."

This, Church contended, could lead to a direct confrontation with Communist China and a Red Chinese counter-invasion.

The senator contended that he "has never been a proponent of unilateral withdrawal," but insisted that U. S. objectives are limited to the South.

Presidents from Franklin D. Roosevelt through Johnson have been usurping congressional authority in the business of war-making, Church said.

Because of this trend, he continued, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee is considering a resolution which would require congressional assent to commitment of U. S. forces abroad "for any other purpose than immediate self-defense in response to a sudden attack on the United States."

He indicated the resolution was a belated response to the 1964 Gulf of Tonkin resolution which he termed "a blank check on the constitutional authority of Congress written in an atmosphere of contrived emergency."

Said Church:

"As a result of the passing of the war power out of the hands of Congress, perhaps the most important of our constitutional checks and balances has been overturned."

"For the first time in our history there has come into view the possibility of our President becoming a Caesar...."

Soviet Satellites Achieve Docking

MOSCOW (AP)—Two Soviet unmanned satellites joined together in space today in a rehearsal for making space platforms above the earth. They spent 3 1/2 hours in orbit together and then separated.

The first for Soviet scientists with what they called "automatic docking" of two Sputniks came almost two years after the United States joined two manned spacecraft in orbit. The unmanned Soviet venture appeared to be a test for putting cosmonauts into craft that would link up in space.

The two Sputniks, Cosmos 188 launched Friday and Cosmos 189 launched today on an orbital course close to 188's, maneuvered and joined.

They "fulfilled their program of scientific research," an announcement said, then separated on order from earth.

It termed the operation an "automatic docking" and said it had occurred at 12:20 p.m. Moscow time.

The announcement said the two satellites were coupled rigidly and were continuing the orbital flight with all systems and equipment functioning normally.

The United States has carried out successfully a docking by a manned satellite.

The operation was an obvious preparation for what the Soviet space program has long been expected to do next in manned ventures: join together craft in orbit to form space platforms.

When Soyuz 1 went up last April, reports in Moscow said it was supposed to be joined by another craft. But something apparently went wrong before the final crash that killed cosmonaut Vladimir M. Komarov.

The docking operation was proved successful, the announcement indicated. It said computers helped to bring the two devices together.

They sent television pictures back to earth, the announcement said.

It added that the docking meant large orbital stations can be constructed as the base for reaching other planets.

A space station would have the advantage for starting a major space trip of being outside the earth's gravity. A rocket could be assembled on it and then get more value from its thrust than a rocket which has first to blast loose from the earth's powerful hold.

Registration

Continues Heavy Here

Registrations were reported heavy Monday morning at the Twin Falls City Clerk's office as the final week for registering for the Nov. 7 election began.

As of Monday morning, Constable Leiser, clerk said, the books contained 3,623 names. She reminded residents that books close Saturday at 9 p.m., but will be open for two additional hours the three last nights of the week.

In addition to regular hours, residents also may register at City Hall from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights.

Absentee balloting also will be possible during those hours and such ballots will be received through 5 p.m. Monday at the clerk's office for persons who will be out of town Nov. 7.

Man Hurt When Shotgun Explodes

A Twin Falls man suffered a hand injury Sunday afternoon when a new shotgun exploded as he attempted to fire at a pheasant while hunting in Twin Falls County.

City police were notified by attendants at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital that David Vinson, 34, had been admitted with a wound in the left hand. The man told them the gun exploded, but somehow the shot missed his face. It tore through the palm of the left hand and damaged the man's left thumb, officers said. He was released from the hospital following treatment.

Humphrey Makes Whirlwind Visit To Vietnam Countryside

By PETER ARNETT
SAIGON (AP)—Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey made a whirlwind visit to South Vietnam's embattled countryside today and praised a Vietnamese official who told him corruption is hurting one of the major government programs aimed at winning the war.

"Here's a man that can talk frankly and openly, which is exactly why Americans are here, so that the Vietnamese people can speak freely," said Humphrey of Maj. Nguyen Be, the commandant of the Revolutionary Development Training Center at the seaside resort city of Vung Tau.

Humphrey stopped off at the center during a series of field trips that took him to see troops of the U. S. Riverine Force in the Mekong Delta and a model Vietnamese village.

The vice president arrived in Vietnam Sunday to represent President Johnson at the inauguration Tuesday of President-elect Nguyen Van Thieu.

Humphrey expressed confidence South Vietnam "will persevere in the face of aggression" and said he brought "a reaffirmation of the solemn pledge of American support for the Vietnamese people and their new government."

Maj. Be, a former Communist battalion commander who came over to the Saigon government, told Humphrey that the biggest problem that the massive, expensive Revolutionary Development program faces is lack of understanding at the provincial and district levels.

The vice president said he found good omens in Vietnam, particularly in the Revolutionary Development program.

Auto Workers Will Press No. 2 Target

DETROIT (AP)—The United Auto Workers, negotiating with the No. 2 strike target, Chrysler Corp., are expected to press for "the only major thing" they didn't win from their No. 1 target—equal pay for Canadian and American workers.

"Canadian wage parity is going to be a very crucial issue in these negotiations. It's a top priority item," Douglas Fraser, UAW Chrysler department director, said after the union decided to take the contract won from its No. 1 target, Ford Motor Co. to Chrysler before going to General Motors.

After the Ford agreement, Walter P. Reuther, union president, said Canadian wage parity was "the only major thing we didn't win."

The UAW contract at Chrysler's Canadian firm runs out Nov. 15.

Union and company bargaining team returned to subcommittee meetings today at Chrysler in Detroit.

UAW employees at Chrysler and General Motors have been working without contracts since Sept. 6, when Ford workers struck.

Costumed Guests See Slaying At Party

VAN NUYS, Calif. (AP)—Gaily costumed guests at a Halloween party watched and laughed as a man burst into the midst of the throng early Sunday followed by a man with a gun. They thought the shooting was all a clever skit. Then they found the man was dead.

Police said Kenneth A. Lindstrand, 37, lay on the floor of the luxurious apartment for several minutes until one of the 50 guests noticed blood coming from his mouth.

One guest said later: "It looked to everyone like a skit.

When the man fell down and was moving and mumbling on the floor we all thought, gee, this guy is really putting it on."

He said Lindstrand, a salesman, appeared at the private party in this Los Angeles suburb about 1 a.m. not in costume. He danced with a few of the guests, then left. A few minutes later he ran back into the room, followed by a stocky man carrying a gun.

"It looked like a toy," said another guest, Bruce Cane. "I saw the flashes."

There were two shots. One struck Lindstrand in the side, the other hit a wall.

The guests watched and laughed as Lindstrand writhed on the floor for several minutes while his assailant fled, virtually unnoticed, according to a woman guest who would not identify herself.

She said, "A girl sitting next to me said, 'I see blood coming out of his mouth.'"

"I told her, 'It must be a capsule he has inside.'"

"But she went up to him and it was blood. A guy went up and tried his pulse and shouted, 'He has no pulse. This man is dead..."

Cane's wife Gale said that as the guests waited for police "there was just quiet, shock and disbelief."

"Everyone walked around in a daze. It was late and word all been drinking and it was hard to grasp what happened."

Lindstrand lived in an apartment house across the street from the one where he died.

Detectives questioned all the guests, but said they had no clue to the identity of the killer.

rather light, less than 15 miles per hour, today and Tuesday. Warmer air is beginning to move into the Intermountain Region. Daytime temperatures in our valleys will be rising today and Tuesday. Highs today will be in the upper 40s into the 50s and on Tuesday in the 50s to the mid 60s. Minimum temperatures tonight will not change much from last night's readings except for a little cooler in the upper Snake River valleys. Overnight lows will be in the 20s to the low 30s except for teen readings in Camas Prairie. No precipitation has been reported during the last 24 hours in Southern Idaho valleys. Continued dry weather the next two of three days will allow late fall harvest and other farm activities to make further progress.

Five-Day Forecast

High pressure aloft will remain relatively strong through mid week with stronger westerly winds aloft moving into the Northern Intermountain Region the remainder of this week. Higher pressure at the surface will tend to persist with storm centers moving to the north of our valleys.

develop a stronger storm around Wednesday night or Thursday may produce a few showers in valley areas. However, it will move through our area quite rapidly and measurable amounts of moisture will be quite light and confined to northernmost valley areas of Southern Idaho. Days with lighter winds will be Tuesday and possibly Wednesday. Stronger winds, with some gusty periods at times are possible the rest of the week. Sunshine will average around 55 to 70 per cent of possible through Tuesday. Soil temperatures will continue their annual decline during this week but at slower rate than the past two or three days. Temperatures at the three and four inch depth will be mostly above freezing through Saturday although coldest readings may approach freezing during the morning hours. Late fall harvest should continue to make progress without delays, due to the weather. Thursday appears to be one of the worst days but additional moisture should be light and not cause prolonged delays.

Burley Truck Driver Hurt In Accident

HANSEN—A large semi-truck and trailer was demolished early Sunday morning in a wreck about three miles east of the Hansen Interchange on Interstate 80N. Investigating Idaho State Police said the driver, Calvin McMillan, 26, Burley, apparently went to sleep. The 1967 truck ran off the road into the center median at an underpass where the interstate intersects with a county road. The truck was torn apart and scattered over a large area.

Mr. McMillan, who is listed in fair condition at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital, remained in the cab of the truck, which was dislodged from the rest of the vehicle.

He was en route to Mountain Home when the accident happened about 5:30 a.m.

The truck was owned by Harvey Thornton, Declo.

Surgery On Pope May Be Delayed

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Surgery to correct Pope Paul VI's prostate ailment may be delayed by a sudden relapse that has sent him back to bed for more rest and antibiotic treatment. Exhausted by one of the most strenuous months of his 52-month reign, the 70-year-old pontiff "passed a restless night with a rising temperature" Saturday night, the Vatican said.

"The new episode of fever does not cause concern," it said later, but the Pope canceled plans to appear Sunday at the canonization of a saint and ceremonies concluding the first meeting of his world Synod of Bishops.

The relapse put in question how soon he will be strong enough to undergo the operation that had been expected next week.

It was the Pope's second relapse since he fell ill with an acute inflammation of the urinary system Sept. 4. Doctors said the ailment was caused by an enlarged prostate.

Neither the condition nor the operation to correct it are usually regarded as serious but, uncorrected, the condition can cause chronic discomfort and infection.

Doctors brought the inflammation under control with rest and antibiotic injections in September. This time the Pope put off the operation until after a month which included the synod, the first world congress of Catholic laymen in 10 years and a three-day meeting with Orthodox Patriarch Athenagoras.

Lone Bull At Fairgrounds Is Forgotten

FILER—Mrs. Tom Shouse, whose husband manages the Filer Fair Grounds, had a large problem on her hands Monday. About 1,000 pounds of problem, in fact. She assisted the Idaho Cattle-Men's Association in clerking their 28th fall range bull sale Friday and made certain all of the papers on the 170 bulls were transferred to the new owners. However, when the buyers pulled out of the fairgrounds with their new purchases Friday night, and the consignors headed home in their empty trucks there was one bull left behind.

Mrs. Shouse who sent all of the records of the sale back to Boise with the association officials said it looked for a while as if she was the new owner of a bull. After much research, however, it was learned the animal had been taken out of the sale and forgotten by the consignor who returned to his home in Rockland. It may be a long trip back for the lone bull.

Cornell University Professor Wins Nobel Prize In Physics

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — The Swedish Academy of Science today awarded the Nobel Prize in physics to Prof. Hans A. Bethe of Cornell University and the chemistry prize jointly to Britons George Porter and Ronald George Wreyford Norrish and German Manfred Eigen.

Bethe was awarded the prize in physics for his contributions to the theory of nuclear reactions and especially his discovery concerning the energy production in stars.

The British-German trio was awarded the prize for "their studies of extremely fast chemical reactions, effected by disturbing the equilibrium by means of very short pulses of energy," the academy's citation said.

Position As President Is Rough Job

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The job of being president of the United States is so tough—most citizens might agree—that it cuts months or years off his life.

It does, longevity statistics show—sharply so as the burden of the office grew after the Civil War. Presidents elected since then have lived shorter lives than those who came before.

Even so, the presidents who died natural deaths lived longer on the average than the men who tried for the office and failed and the men who served as vice president.

Thirty-two presidents — including four who were assassinated — had an average life span of 68.5 years, or 3.6 years less than their life expectancy at inauguration.

Those who died natural deaths lived to an average of 70.7 years, or 1.5 years less than the general American life expectancy at their respective times, according to an analysis released Saturday in the statistical bulletin of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co.

The unsuccessful candidates for the office lived longer on the average than all the presidents, but less than those who died natural deaths. The same is true for the men who served as vice president, except that they lived longer than the unsuccessful candidates.

The statistical bulletin takes into account the life expectancy of the men according to their age at the time of the elections or inaugurations. Life expectancies would vary according to age and time in history.

The presidents who died natural deaths lived about three-tenths of a year longer, on the average, than the 24 deceased vice presidents. Nine men now deceased served in both offices.

Chief executives who died natural deaths also outlived by six-tenths of a year the 40 deceased unsuccessful candidates who received some electoral votes.

The report says a strong case can be made for burdensome effects of the office on the longevity of presidents elected since 1860.

"The presidents since then have on the average been more short-lived than those who preceded Lincoln," the report says.

"The 15 presidents from Washington to Buchanan averaged 74.2 years, or about 1.3 years longer than might have been expected at the time of their inaugurations.

"There were 33 presidents following Lincoln who died natural deaths, and they lived an average of 66.6 years, or almost five years less than expected."

Porter is attached to the Royal Institution in London and his British colleague lives in Cambridge. Eigen works at the Max Plank Institute of Goettingen.

Eigen receives one half of the $62,000 prize while the two Britons share the other half.

Bethe, 61, was born in Alsace while it was German territory and started his academic career in Germany. Forced to leave when Hitler came to power, he spent two years in England and went to Cornell, in Ithaca, N.Y., in 1935.

Since 1937 he has held the chair of theoretical physics at Cornell.

The physics prize is the third of the 1967 Nobel awards to be announced.

The prize for literature went to Guatemalan novelist-diplomat Miguel Angel Asturias Oct. 19 for his epic novels about the troubles of the poor in his Central American country.

The previous day three medical researchers shared the prize for physiology or medicine. They were Haldan Keffer Hartline of New York, George Wald of Cambridge, Mass., and Ragnar Granit of Sweden.

Still to be awarded is the 1967 Nobel Peace Prize, scheduled to be announced in Oslo, Norway, before Nov. 15, but there has been speculation that this will not be awarded this year.

Each prize this year is 320,000 crowns, or $62,000.

Bethe contributed to the development of the first atomic bombs as director of the section for theoretical physics at Los Alamos from 1943 to 1946.

For his contributions to nuclear physics as well as other areas of theoretical physics, he was awarded the Enrico Fermi Prize by the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission in 1961.

Bethe published his first major and fundamental paper concerning the energy production in the stars as early as 1938, the Swedish Academy noted.

Bethe has contributed toward solving the riddle of the source of the enormous amounts of energy emitted by the sun and the stars, the academy said.

Fisher was singing at the Frontier Hotel in Las Vegas, Nev., when the six-pound, 10-ounce girl named Joely, arrived at 1:27 a.m. at St. Joseph Hospital.

He knew the birth was imminent and got the word of it when he came offstage. He took a plane to Los Angeles and a cab to the hospital, arriving about 3:30 a.m.

Fisher went in to see Miss Stevens and the baby and later told a confidant:

"She"—the baby—"is a cute one. It's my baby, all right."

The boyish, shock-haired singer, 39, formerly was married to actress Debbie Reynolds, by whom he had two children, and to actress Elizabeth Taylor. He and Miss Taylor adopted an orphaned child.

been expected at the time of their inaugurations.

"There were 33 presidents following Lincoln who died natural deaths, and they lived an average of 66.6 years, or almost five years less than expected."

Mansfield Sees No Hope For Tax Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield says he sees no chance Congress will approve a tax hike this year—and a Democratic colleague views such a failure as a break for President Johnson.

"There seems to be no possibility of a tax bill at this time," Mansfield said Sunday.

"I'm sorry," he added, "because I feel that a tax bill is necessary." He predicted inflation would cost the average taxpayer more than the 10 per cent income tax surcharge asked by the President.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said Congress would be doing Johnson—a political favor by refusing to approve the tax boost. He cited the possibility of higher taxes as a key reason for what he called a decline in Johnson's popularity.

"I would hope that the Congress would help him out by not passing his tax increase; and in that case, I think we could have a continuation of our prosperity without serious inflation," said Proxmire.

Mansfield became the highest-ranking Democratic leader to have conceded publicly that the tax boost proposal is all but dead for this session of Congress.

Sometimes statistics are the only way of bringing home a point, as in the case of school dropouts. Most educated adults today realize the dropout has become a serious "problem," but few have an adequate conception of the scope of the problem or what a loss it entails in economic terms to the nation.

Almost one-third of the students now in school will leave without their diplomas. For many reasons — mostly associated with boredom — they will take their ill-prepared minds and unskilled hands and attempt to earn their way in society. To the everlasting credit of some of them, they will succeed. But only after putting forth far greater efforts than their more learned co-workers.

U. S. government statistics for the year 1964 — the latest available — disclose that the median income for men 25 years of age or older who were college graduates was $8,800. For high school graduates it was $6,300, and for those without a high school diploma, $4,000.

Incomes for the more skilled have risen since that year, but based on these averages, the college graduate can expect to earn $180,000 more in his lifetime than the high school graduate and $250,000 more than the alumni of elementary schools.

Updating these figures to 1967 indicates the gap now would be in the vicinity of $200,000 between college and high school and $300,000 between college and elementary education. But statistics indicate only part of the difference.

While those with the better education are mainly gainfully employed and contributing to society, many of those in the lower-education groups are unemployed and living off the fruits of the producers. Instead of contributing to society, they are draining resources from it.

Crime statistics reveal it is also the dropout who is responsible for much of the violence and other antisocial acts which have been on the upswing for years and are still gaining momentum.

Education has become costly in the United States, now entailing an outlay of about $50 billion a year. But the cost of a poor education in an increasingly complex society, in terms of human misery and direct economic loss, is even higher.

The education gap is growing wider. Closing it without destroying the quality of education is a challenge for the 1970s. The '60s have failed so far to find the answer.

Shipping Concept

Transoceanic shipping is taking on a different look as new concepts in shipping open the trading lanes to far greater volumes of goods than formerly possible. However, it may be necessary to change some notions about maritime trust operations.

Better cooperation between shipping lines, perhaps necessitating a new look at United States antitrust laws, was the suggestion offered by Per Carlsson, managing director of the Swedish Transatlantic Line, at the introduction ceremonies of a new type of ocean carrier. The vessel, the "Atlantic Span," is a 13,000-ton carrier designed to transport both cars and containers simultaneously.

Among its unique features is a loading ramp in the stern, which requires the ship to back into berth for loading. Another feature—the one to which Carlsson was referring—is that the ship is owned by the Atlantic Container Line, a consortium of English, French, Dutch and Scandinavian shipping lines.

The "Atlantic Span" is the first of 10 ships planned by ACL. The first four will contain two million cubic feet of cargo space, spread over three decks which run almost the length of the ship. Two of the decks will carry 1,100 automobiles.

The U.S. maritime industry, which has been languishing for decades, badly needs a shot in the arm. Overlooking the possibilities pioneered by the "Atlantic Span" could be giving up one of the last opportunities to prevent the fleet from going into total eclipse.

The Older Workers

The U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics periodically comes up with proof that older workers are productive and efficient. This is news only to employers not yet aware of this huge reservoir of skills and experience waiting to be tapped.

Enlightened self-interest has accelerated the employment of older men and women in America, and the practice promises to spread. There are apparently reliable predictions that the nation's labor force will have to increase by 10 million in the next decade. Many economists foresee serious labor shortages despite the continued trend to automation.

Wise employers, looking ahead, are dipping into the available pool now.

Enforced idleness is of course no good for an individual. It is worse for an economy that can minimize it with profit and doesn't. Government statistics show that workers in the older age group have a steadier rate of output, with less variation from week to week, than younger ones.

In Magic Valley this "older" labor pool is a real thing. The older workers are available from full to part-time and they are willing.

Not only are they willing—they are reliable.

CALL FOR EXPERTS

There should be some kind of badge of honor for the repairman who can determine the cause of the trouble you are having with your car, television set, electric dishwasher or whatever, and make the correction himself. Too often the person responsible for handling the difficulty knows so little about the inner workings of these machines that he takes the easy way. He pulls out the ailing part and inserts a new one. Or he turns the instrument over to the home office for a general overhauling. The charge is unnecessarily high.

It did not take a survey to discover this all-too-common practice. But its prevalence is emphasized in a study of 19 New York City automobile repair garages recently made by the Citizens Committee for Metropolitan Affairs. A car with its distributor point incorrectly set was taken to each garage for diagnosis of its engine trouble and for its repair. Mechanics in over half the garages diagnosed the trouble incorrectly. Most recommended a full-time tune-up (at a cost ranging from $14 to $40). Only five made the correct analysis of the trouble and adjusted the distributor point immediately. One of these did it in a moment and made no charge at all.

It was apparently not so much dishonesty as incompetence that caused the other 14 to recommend overhaul jobs. The answer seems to lie in education.

The old idea of apprenticeship has its merits. Combined with excellent school training in the fundamentals of electricity, chemistry, or whatever basic subjects a technician may need as well as in their application to jobs, it produces skilled personnel.

The result of such training can be gratifying not only to those who ask for service but to the servicemen themselves. Increased support for good technical education is in order.—Christian Science Monitor

WASHINGTON — For the American taxpayer whose money is financing a $30-billion-a-year war in Vietnam there is a modicum of comfort in the news that, although South Vietnam is full of wealthy tax crooks, tax collections have increased every year for the past three years.

Figures available here show that only $80 million in direct and indirect taxes was collected in South Vietnam in 1965, but that the total rose to $110 million in 1966 and is expected to reach $165 million in 1967. This year's total should be at least twice the estimated $165 million, of course, but U.S. tax advisers in Saigon are counting their blessings. At least a start has been made in reforming the South Vietnamese tax system.

This is a considerable achievement in a country living in the chaos of war whose people have never taken the tax collector seriously. U.S. officials like to regard it as another sign that the Saigon regime is lifting the country into some kind of fiscal maturity and thus is not quite as ineffectual as its critics charge.

Under the guidance of a tax advising team dispatched by the U.S. Internal Revenue Service, Saigon is tightening its collection system. Most notably, the regime has established a withholding system for salaried workers which has increased tax collections from that source by 300 per cent in the last year. And next year new regulations will go into effect requiring estimated tax declarations and a pay-as-you-go system for self-employed professional workers and businessmen, who have been getting rich by evading taxes.

This move was forced on the government by complaints from the salaried workers, who are the hardest hit by inflation. But apparently it will be pushed through, despite continuing pressures from business men accustomed to buying off tax collectors.

"The showdown will come about the middle of 1968," says one U.S. official. "That's when the auditors will start going over the declarations of estimated taxes. If they're too low, it will mean the profiteers still own the tax collectors."

The most flagrant of the tax crooks are the wealthy Chinese importers, who are getting richer off the U.S.-financed import program designed to soak up surplus money and thus curb inflation. They bribe government officials to accept their low valuations of imported goods in order to reduce customs taxes to a minimum. One importer, for example, got a license to bring in a large shipment of canned chicken. He listed the price he paid for the shipment as 50 cents a case — five cents less than one can of chicken brings at retail — then paid the broker the actual price with a check drawn on an illegal account in Hong Kong. Other importers sink cargoes in water-proof containers in the Saigon River, claim total loss and then reclaim the cargoes and sell them duty-free.

South Vietnamese tax rates are high, but corruption of public officials and a lack of trained personnel make collections a continuing problem. Collections in the countryside, where 80 per cent of the people live amount to only 15 per cent of the total; the remaining 85 per cent is collected in Saigon-Cholon. One reason, of course, is that most of the peasants also pay taxes to the Viet Cong, whose take probably is bigger than the government's.

Yet, by Far Eastern standards South Vietnam's tax collection system has so improved in the last few years that it is drawing observers from neighboring countries. Everything is still relative.

PAUL HARVEY

No Work Makes Jack Very Dull

At the time I am tap-tapping these words into a typewriter — somewhere — I am witnessing all about me a wonderland of happy, eager people bustling about their duties, respectful and pleasant to others.

I can hardly believe my eyes and ears.

Such a few days ago Tom was a chronic complainer, sometimes plunged into the depths of depression.

Bill, often idle, was reserved, eyeing more challenging horizons.

Dave, his feet on a desk, was reading help-wanted ads.

In the overstuffed office, stenographers killed time with crossword puzzles and too-frequent primping.

In the corners, featherbedded employees contrived grievances and whispered disparagingly of management's callous indifference.

Then the strike struck. Skilled technicians put aside their tools and picked up picket signs.

Management men — supervisory personnel — Tom and Dave and Bill — pitched in — filled in — made do.

And now these few days later, with the strike continuing, I look about me and see an organization which has undergone a nearly miraculous metamorphosis.

Dave and Bill are spending long hours operating and repairing equipment and "never more happier in years."

Tom is doing double-duty, working both ends of the clock, "having a ball."

Stenographers have challenged and mastered switchboards and dialing, and I'm hearing such cheerful, co-operative voices I keep thinking I must have the wrong number.

"I hope they never come back," is overheard a hundred times a day as busy people hustle to perform jobs which they know are important.

With five doing the work of 25, every man and woman is needed — and it's a wonderful release from the imprisonment of enforced idleness.

And with five doing the work of 25, entirely efficiently as well as ultimately cheerfully, we are all asking ourselves how, through generations of "improving union contracts," we ever grew so top-heavy that duplication of duties engendered discontent.

And we keep remembering, too, that the union workers' strike was predicted on two significant complaints: they demanded shorter hours, and they said they wanted their profession to command more "respect."

And here are these substitutes working longer hours and earning respect with their cheerful competence.

True, these supervisors were probably more-than-average ambitious to start with; that's how they got to be supervisors. But the lesson I have learned from the renaissance of self-respect I see all about me is that labor's leaders — proposing shorter hours, less work — have been setting the stage for mass disillusionment.

BARRY GOLDWATER

Years Too Late And Too Little

Throughout the 1964 presidential campaign I frequently spoke of the grim fact that much, if not all, of our missile system was untried and untested in an area which might well render it ineffective in time of most dire need.

We do not know the effect on missiles of the radiation or energy pulses generated by the sort of high-altitude, high-yield nuclear explosions which the Soviet Union has tested but which we have not and cannot test under the terms of the test ban treaty.

Since the decision to go ahead with a sort of token antiballistic missile defense system (ABMS) — years too late and too little — I have warned that the same dangers apply. Radiation and pulse effects could be a serious hazard to the operation of a system upon which our lives might depend.

As some may remember, all of the warnings about our missiles aroused nothing so much as political laughter on the part of such men as Robert Strange McNamara, the hard-politicking secretary of defense, and even the President.

The American people were assured, pledged, promised and sworn to that everything was all right, that doubts about the missiles were unfounded, even funny, and that to suggest we needed to know more was about the same as coming out against motherhood or for the man-eating shark.

Every one of those pieces of political propaganda was a bald-faced deception of the American people.

This month, tacitly and quietly, the Administration has admitted the truth.

We have not solved the radiation and pulse dangers to our missiles. Research to answer the very questions raised in the 1964 campaign is finally being put into operation.

In short, the work that the Administration denied needing in 1964 is actually going ahead in 1967.

Ironically, the New York Times, which loudly shared the stage in trying to knock down all of our charges of the 1964 campaign, has carried a full report of this latest proof of the very campaign they so violently derided. They did not, however, note the connection.

The story is "This" at the Aberdeen Proving Ground, in Maryland, military technicians will shortly put into operation a nuclear reactor that will generate bursts of gamma rays and neutrons which, it is hoped, will simulate the emissions from nuclear explosions. These bursts, or pulses of energy, will be used to test the new ABMS and other systems to determine if they can be shielded against such effects in actual operation.

The New York Times reported: "The pulse reactor could be used to insure that the electronic circuits and other components of the new Nike-X antimissile system were sufficiently shielded to withstand the effects of exploding enemy missiles."

The most revealing part of the story, from both a political and technical angle is treated as merely a detail. It is, in fact, an impressive and significant commentary: this new pulse reactor, to test the reliability of missiles under actual emergency conditions, has taken four years to design and build.

To the discredit of all who dodged and deceived the issue in 1964, this means that, even as they spoke, the project which they denied was needed was actually under way.

JAMES MARLOW

The Cold Shower

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson at this moment is like a man in a full-dress suit who suddenly walked under a cold shower. But that doesn't mean he is going to drown.

Although attired in all the trappings and power of the presidency, Johnson is being drenched in a flood of criticism and dissent about the war in Vietnam and his handling of it.

He did not pay much attention to the criticism a couple of years ago when it was just getting under way. He considered his critics in those days a very small percentage of the population. The picture has changed dramatically.

The most recent Gallup public opinion poll reports that 46 per cent of the people questioned look upon American involvement in the war as a mistake. A similar poll in August 1965 showed only 24 per cent felt that way.

In this latest poll only 44 per cent said they did not think it was a mistake to send troops into Vietnam. Ten per cent had no opinion.

If the disillusionment continues to climb—and the war isn't ended—by the time the 1968 election year begins, Johnson's chances for re-election or even for renomination may seem dim, indeed. But that's only maybe.

In the first place, by the time the Democrats and Republicans pick their presidential candidates next summer, there may have been a big change in the war, favorable to the United States. That would be a big boon for Johnson.

And it will be another break for him—even if the war is still going on next summer—if most of the Republicans now considered their party's most likely candidates keep on with the songs they are singing now.

They're split on what to do about the war.

Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon and California Gov. Ronald Reagan want to make it far tougher. Michigan Gov. George Romney and Illinois Sen. Charles H. Percy are all for a softer, slowed-down war.

If any one of those four gets the nomination, and is saying then what he is saying now, his nomination will in turn split the war critics of both parties who are fed up with Johnson.

Since they are also divided into hawks and doves, the nomination of Romney or Percy would hardly be the ideal for the doves if Nixon or Reagan got the nomination.

Meanwhile two men—Johnson and New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller—are following a middle course. Rockefeller is the fifth top Republican being mentioned for his party's nomination, although he says he wants no part of it.

Johnson has avoided the extreme of all-out war against North Vietnam, just as he has refused to soften the war. And Rockefeller is the only one of those top five Republicans who has no criticism of what Johnson is doing.

All he has said so far is that he thinks Johnson is doing the best he can. If Rockefeller changes his mind about not wanting the nomination, it won't be the first time. He bowed out of the 1960 race and then said he'd accept a draft.

If he has "anything in mind like that now," he is playing a shrewd game. He has plenty of time before the 1968 nominating convention to see how the political winds on the war are blowing.

If then he decides to make a try publicly, he can take any position he wants without suffering the embarrassment that would engulf Nixon, Reagan, Romney or Percy if any of them tries to shift gears on the war.

There is dissension among the Democrats on the war and some of them already say they don't want Johnson in 1968. But they are under a handicap there.

It would be a great confession of error by the Democratic party in having picked Johnson at any time if it should refuse to renominate him in 1968. The party will have to do a lot of soul-searching before it tries that.

But, assuming Democrats make Johnson their choice again next year, the party critics who feel they can't vote for him will be in a dilemma, depending on whether they are doves or hawks, about which Republican to vote for, a dove or a hawk.

Meanwhile Johnson, because he knows all the inside stuff on the war not open to the Republicans, at this moment is probably in a better position than any candidate to know how the war will look by convention time, 1968.

Patience Needed

There can be no more important part of a child's training than forming a strong character. In that endeavor it is later than you think because those who have made a thorough study of the matter have found that a child's essential character is formed before he reaches the age of 6.

Your preschool toddler is very perceptive and he learns more from the example you set than from any preaching or admonition you may give him. Chores, starting when he is 4 or 5, are an essential part of any child's training but they are always second in importance to the example you set him.

The value of chores lies in their teaching of responsibility and good habits of work. When in the performance of his chores, your child does a poorer job than you would have done, you must be patient and show your appreciation of how well he succeeded for one so young. With praise and encouragement, his results will improve and you will have given him a sense of accomplishment an enormous boost.

When a child does a task that he knows is a necessary part of the family's daily life, he is building self-confidence. This is important because a child who appreciates his own worth is quicker to appreciate the worth of others than is a child who feels himself to be an inferior being. Since the ability to work well with others is essential for leadership, you must give your child every chance to become self-reliant.

When he wants to try a task that is beyond his capabilities, stand by and observe but don't criticize or ridicule his failure. Just tell him that, as his skills increase, he can accomplish this and other tasks that are even more difficult.

You must train your child not only to be an adult but, more important, to identify with his role as a man or her role as a woman by assigning tasks appropriate to his sex as well as his age.

Don't make the performance of chores a form of punishment and don't pay your child for doing them. As he grows older, you may want to give him an allowance for necessary expenses, but this should not be considered payment. Later, when he wants to earn a little extra money, you may want to pay him for some chores that are not a part of his regular routine but it is his regular duties that make him an important member of the family.

Expo 67 Closes 185-Day Run In Blaze Of Flags, Fireworks
MONTREAL (AP)—Expo 67 closed its 185-day run Sunday in a blaze of flags, fireworks and tributes, and its computers showed the Soviet exhibit was the star of the Canadian centennial fair.

Russia's swept-roof pavilion, the costliest of all at $12 million, attracted about 13 million guests. Canada's exhibit drew 11 million. The geodesic sky bubble of the United States was third with 9 million visitors.

While the Soviets concentrated on their achievements in science and industry, especially in aerospace, the United States showed a potpourri of Americana from space capsules to pop art to a Andy Warhol and Elvis Presley's guitar.

Some visitors complained that the U.S. pavilion was mostly trivia; others liked the informal, low-pressure approach.

Fifty-three per cent of all visitors to Expo were Canadians, but Americans flocking up to Montreal constituted 45 per cent of the sightseers.

The skyrocketing attendance reached a climax Saturday when Martha Racine of Montreal walked through a turnstile to become the 50 millionth visitor. Mrs. Racine, 39, won a trip to Osaka, Japan, to see Expo 70.

Expo's attendance clipped the old record for world fairs of 42 million visitors set by the Brussels Fair of 1958.

Among other statistics spun out by the Expo computers: —The free transit system, the Expo Express, rolled over 374,600 train miles. —25,463 youngsters turned up

Romney Stiffens Tenor Of Attacks On Johnson During Tour Of New England

By The Associated Press
MICHIGAN Gov. George Romney seemingly picking up the tempo and stiffening the tenor of his attacks on President Johnson, continues today his five-day swing through New England.

The Republican governor, who has said he'll enter the New Hampshire primary March 12 if he decides to seek the presidency, rested in that state Sunday after launching two strong verbal assaults on Johnson.

In a speech at Burlington, Vt., Romney told an audience of 1,500 Saturday night that Johnson's administration is "dis-trusted and discredited at home and its lack of credibility at home is eroding America's credibility abroad."

Earlier Romney told a meeting of GOP officials in Manchester, N.H., the nation is headed for trouble because it has "a leader who doesn't tell the truth."

Meanwhile Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, who described Johnson as a "deep personal friend," nevertheless said he couldn't pledge right now to back Johnson for re-election.

"That depends on who is running against him," Church said Sunday when asked at a meeting of the Idaho Press Club in Boise about backing Johnson in 1968.

But Church, a persistent war critic, ruled out one GOP candidate.

"I can tell you what I'd do if they nominated Nixon," Church said of the former Republican vice president. "He'd just get us in deeper."

George Wallace, the ex-Alabama governor who says he'll run for president on a third party ticket if neither major party builds a conservative platform, talked on national television of being threatened.

He didn't go into detail about the threats but said he's received them from "revolutionaries, activists and Communists—the same people who want us to lose the war in Vietnam."

Wallace blamed the nation's riots on Communists, anarchists and activists. "There are no underlying causes to burn down a city unless you don't love your country," he said. "Slums and unemployment have nothing to do with it."

He was interviewed in Portland, Ore., for the CBS television program "Face the Nation."

Gov. Ronald Reagan of California, suggested meanwhile a national law cracking down on antidraft, antiwar demonstrators.

"There are plenty of laws to cover them if we were technically in a state of war," said Reagan. "Perhaps there would be a possibility of legislation to implement the same rules regarding giving aid and comfort to the enemy."

Reagan spoke to newsmen in Sacramento after returning home from a GOP fund-raising tour to the Midwest and South.

Dr. Taylor concluded with "I defy anyone to prove other than that whatever we do for our neighbors comes back 100 fold," and he urged all Magic Valley residents to work together, the net result being an increased economy and better place to live.

President E. J. Baer, who acted as master of ceremonies,

Dr. Taylor Speaks To North Side

SHOSHONE—Dr. James Taylor, College of Southern Idaho, spoke to members of the North Side Communities and their wives at a banquet meeting recently at the Manhattan tan cafe.

Speaking on tourism, he stated "It pays to advertise," then noted that this section of Idaho has many unusual, outstanding tourist attractions and that informing the public of this will bring more tourists here, all of which will boost the economy of the area.

Using the Shoshone Ice Caves as an example, he said that "Look" and the "Saturday Evening Post" magazine list it as an outstanding tourist attraction.

He also used highway 93 as an example, stating that 4,000 vehicles stopped at the Perrine bridge and registered in one season, over 1600 of them from California. Economists say cars leave 5 cents a mile through the area they travel, even if they don't stay overnight.

Then citing the College of Southern Idaho as bringing economy to the communities, he stated it is estimated that each student will spend $200 per semester, not counting their usual school fees or rental. Shoshone has 20 to 25 attending the school, and by keeping them at home, that money is spent at home.

Gooding has 35-50, Minidoka county 33, and Jerome county has 200, with 92 per cent living at home. Every county in Magic Valley is represented on the payroll of the new building under contract at the college at this time.

Expo 67 Closes 185-Day Run In Blaze Of Flags, Fireworks
MONTREAL (AP)—Expo 67 closed its 185-day run Sunday in a blaze of flags, fireworks and tributes, and its computers showed the Soviet exhibit was the star of the Canadian centennial fair.

Russia's swept-roof pavilion, the costliest of all at $12 million, attracted about 13 million guests. Canada's exhibit drew 11 million. The geodesic sky bubble of the United States was third with 9 million visitors.

While the Soviets concentrated on their achievements in science and industry, especially in aerospace, the United States showed a potpourri of Americana from space capsules to pop art to a Andy Warhol and Elvis Presley's guitar.

Some visitors complained that the U.S. pavilion was mostly trivia; others liked the informal, low-pressure approach.

Fifty-three per cent of all visitors to Expo were Canadians, but Americans flocking up to Montreal constituted 45 per cent of the sightseers.

The skyrocketing attendance reached a climax Saturday when Martha Racine of Montreal walked through a turnstile to become the 50 millionth visitor. Mrs. Racine, 39, won a trip to Osaka, Japan, to see Expo 70.

Expo's attendance clipped the old record for world fairs of 42 million visitors set by the Brussels Fair of 1958.

Among other statistics spun out by the Expo computers: —The free transit system, the Expo Express, rolled over 374,600 train miles. —25,463 youngsters turned up

CARELESSNESS IS ONLY BRIDGE SIN
 Oswald: "How about some columns on typical good rubber bridge games?"
 Jim: "For a start here's a hand I watched recently. It was the second hand of the rubber. East and West had made game on the first one."
 Oswald: "North and South hearts, led his last club and ruffed with dummy's ten. East overruffed and led a trump. South was in dummy with the ace of trumps. He cashed the ace of diamonds and led a second diamond. East clattered with the king to drop his partner's queen, and the jack of diamonds became the tenth trick for declarer."

 Oswald: "East's play of the diamond king is typical of what I call rubber bridge carelessness. East could see that declarer was sure of his contract and had lost interest. A duplicate player would still be worrying about overtricks, and a good duplicate player would have seen that he had nothing to gain by playing his king of diamonds and would have let the trick ride around to his partner's queen."
 Jim: "A really good duplicate player would. I am not certain that the same play wouldn't occur at some tables if this hand were played in duplicate."

How To Help And Stay Pals?

Dear Ele: I have this friend whose family is on welfare. She doesn't have money for makeup or hair spray or jewelry or any of the new clothing styles. My family owns a store, and my parents have said they'd like to help her if there were some way to do it without hurting her feelings or affecting our friendship. We're both 14 so it's not possible for her to work at the store or anything like that. Do you have any other idea? — Proud to Be Her Friend.

Dear Proud: First remember your friendship can do more for her than a shipload of earrings or mini-skirts. Ideas? What about going into a baby-sitting partnership with your pal and thereby earning spare cash for both of you? If so, it would be the most natural thing in the world to discover some "bargains" at the store that you could each buy at greatly reduced prices. Corollary idea: how about taking a sewing class and then help each other custom tailor a wardrobe on your sewing machine? As for makeup, I favor the natural look for 14-year-olds. Don't you? — Ele.

FEELS DEPRIVED
 Dear Ele and Walt: I have a problem. I am from a very religious family and I am not allowed to ride in a car on Friday or Saturday night. Very many parties come on Friday nights, and I feel I am being deprived of social rights. As I grow older I know I will not be as religious as now, but my mother won't even consider my riding. I may be making a big deal, but this means a lot to me. Please, you must have an answer. — Deprived.

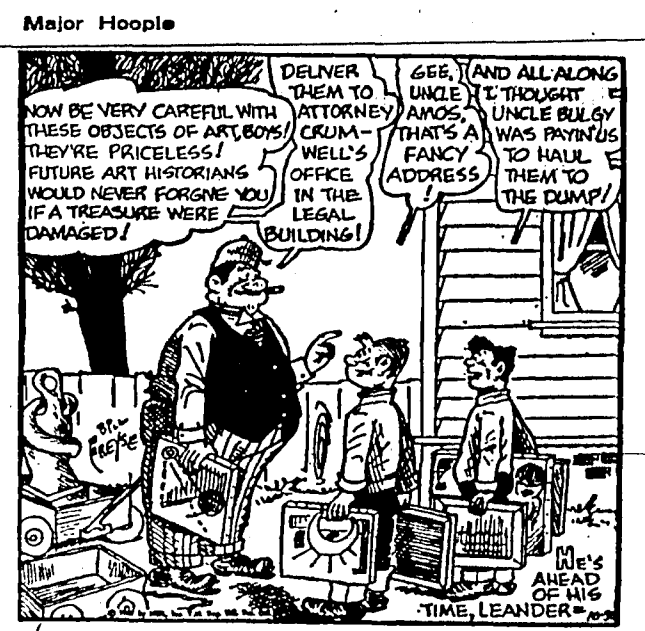

Dear Deprived: We don't have an answer, but your minister or rabbi must have some helpful ideas. If your school social life is being blocked by this religious dictum, the church or temple must provide some supplementary social outlets. Take your quandary to the man in charge. — Ele and Walt.

"BOY TALK" ANNOYS MOM
 Dear Ele: I'm 14 years old, and, as friends agree, I look more like 16 or 17. Quite frequently I meet older fellows, and they like me, but as I'm not allowed to date, it sometimes gets rough on the home front. In a way, I don't want to date yet either; I live life and I want to live these years as they come. Well, since I don't go out, I talk a lot about boys and my mom listens and gives her comments. But whenever I misbehave she starts calling me "boy crazy," and if I decide to tidy up the house she'll ask real sarcastically, "Who are you expecting tonight?" or get on the telephone to tell my aunt how boy crazy I am.

Well, I'm getting tired of this. I can't tell her this because she'll mock me even more. And I can't tell my father and expect him to say anything, because he gets accused of siding with me. I know things aren't all peaches and cream here as my brother is serving our country in Vietnam and mom worries constantly. Please help me with some good suggestions. — Rachael.

Dear Rachael: It's marvelous when a girl can share her every thought with mom. But understanding your mom's stretched nerves as you do, you'll want to censor your "boy talk" at home, so mom doesn't leap to nervous conclusions. Perhaps your dad or a woman teacher can share as a confidante? — Ele.

High Altitude
Cookery Hints
Are Explained

SHOSHONE — Do you have trouble with your cakes falling, candy hard as rocks and yeast bread with a lot of holes? The Hi Altitude Cookery Pamphlet explains how to control this problem reports Mary Lou Ruby, extension home economics agent. The pamphlet explains altitudes starting at sea level and going to 30,000 feet. At sea level 212 degrees is the boiling point. Water at 6,000 feet boils at 201 degrees, look at the differences. It takes food longer to cook by boiling at high altitude. The boiling point of water lowers 1.9 degrees for each 1,000 feet increased in altitude. Summing it up — It takes water at sea level to come to a boil — 212 degrees but this is a hot boil and will cook food faster, check your altitude and change your recipes. Call the county agent's office for your Hi Altitude Cookery pamphlet.

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: "What," you ask, "do our wonderful men in Vietnam want for Christmas?" FOOD! Anything home-baked. Fruitcakes go over big, so do brownies and chocolate chip cookies. But be sure it's wrapped properly. (Use three-pound coffee or shortening cans.) Popcorn and use it for filler. (DO NOT SALT AND BUTTER IT!) Those little marshmallows are also good filler material and can be eaten later. The guys love canned meats, tuna, sardines, salmon, shrimp, olives, spaghetti and meatballs, and dried and canned fruit. Also instant soups, cocoa, tea, coffee, salami, sausage, crackers, peanut brittle, gum and hard candies, individually wrapped to make carrying in the pocket easy. (No chocolate. It melts!) Nuts are great, too. Presweetened Kool-Aid is always appreciated because it kills the taste of the stuff used to purify the water.

SIS IN GREAT NECK
DEAR ABBY: My son, Joey, is now serving his second hitch in Vietnam, and the gift that made the biggest hit with him was a plastic, collapsible Christmas tree. It came complete with all sorts of unbreakable decorations. It only cost $5.99, but Joey said that he and his buddies wouldn't have traded it for a million dollars.

JOEY'S MOM IN TULSA
DEAR ABBY: According to our son, Tom, who just returned from 13 months in Vietnam, his favorite Christmas gift was a

ALTHOUGH THE ITEMS shown by Lt. Ernest E. Marlow, Twin Falls Police Department, and Mrs. Eugene Poulter, a member of the Altrusa Club, look innocent enough, they can be lethal. Mr. Marlow will speak on narcotics at a special meeting, hosted by the Altrusa Club, at 7:30 p.m. Friday at the Idaho Power Auditorium. Leaders of women's groups in the Twin Falls area have been invited to this special meeting which is set up to help educate Magic Valley citizens on the growing narcotic problems. Lt. Marlow needs a sound and film strip to assist in this outstanding community service program. To obtain this film is the goal of the Altrusa Club, a common goal for all Magic Valley residents. The film will cost about $200 and will be available for all groups to see and hear in Magic Valley. All women's groups in the valley are welcome and urged to send a representative to this special meeting.

"Christmas In October"
Observed By Local WOTM

"Christmas In October" was observed at the recent meeting of the Twin Falls Women of the Moose. Decorations of a white feather Christmas tree with a backdrop of twinkling lights and a Nativity scene carried out the theme. A march was held for contributions for the children of Mooseheart and the elderly persons at Moosehaven. All contributions from the "Christmas In October" march will be sent to Mooseheart and Moosehaven for Christmas.

Mrs. Lloyd Kelley, senior regent, and Mrs. H. C. Thompson, junior graduate regent, were presented a plaque from the Loyal Order of Moose for the women's outstanding work at fair booth. It was noted that sales at the booth far surpassed any previous year.

Plans were made for a hobo dance to be held in November and a carnival and child supper to be held Dec. 1. Both events will be open to the public. A letter was read concerning daisies. It was topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom entwined with lace wedding bells and Lilies of the Valley. Bouquets of yellow and bronze chrysanthemums decorated the church dining hall.

Mrs. Floyd Elhier, Rupert, aunt of the bride, cut and served the wedding cake, assisted by Tonette Robinson, King Hill. Mrs. Kenneth Watkins, Glenns Ferry, aunt of the bridegroom, served coffee and Mrs. Monte White, Nampa, sister-in-law of the bride, served punch.

Lorraine Carnahan, King Hill, registered the guests and Gloria Woodward, Phyllis McCleary and Cathy Wood arranged the gifts. Julie Carnahan, King Hill, was giftbearer and Sheri Ruberry and Laura Parish were usherettes.

The newlyweds will reside in Glenns Ferry until the first of the year and Mr. Woods will enroll at the Idaho State University.

how about a SECOND
HONEY-MOON?
NORMAN HERRETT

Let me ask you men a question. Do you have to be reminded that such-and-such a day is your wedding anniversary? I can understand. But I can't tell you what to do. I daresay your wife, smarter than you imagine, contrives some way to call the important date to your attention.

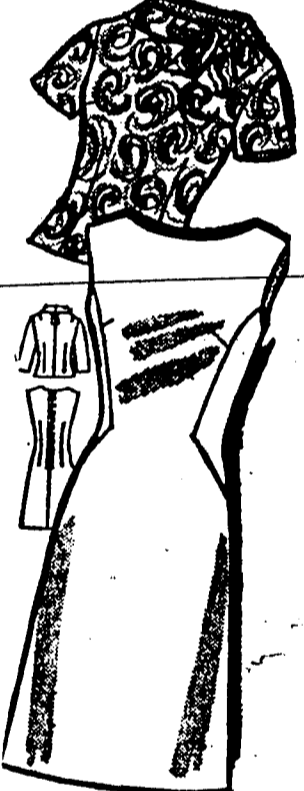

Maybe there ought to be some kind of "reminder service" for forgetful husbands. How about that? A sweet-voiced lady would phone you and say, "Don't forget, Mr. Jones, that next Thursday is your wedding anniversary." Wouldn't that be wonderful?

Then you could come here, buy her a lovely gift, have us wrap it appropriately... and on the Big Day she would be SO thrilled. You could even take a SECOND HONEY-MOON — perhaps with her wearing a beautiful new and modern wedding band chosen here. The new ones really are exquisite. New, carved designs either plain or set with tiny baguette diamonds. And quite reasonable in price, too!

Speaking of gifts, I want you to remember that we make a specialty of carrying loveliest jewelry articles in precious and semi-precious stones. The variety is almost unending. Come in today whether you have a wedding anniversary in the offing or not. We have one of the largest stocks of fine jewelry on display anywhere.

Eighth-Ranked Wyoming Is Loners Atop Western Athletic Conference

By PAT THOMPSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

The eighth-ranked and undefeated Wyoming Cowboys are riding alone atop of the Western Athletic Conference football race after breaking a not mending fences of four league teams.

And their chuck wagon is full as they insured themselves of at least a tie for their second

Colts Beat Determined 'Skins 17-13

WASHINGTON (AP) — Baltimore overcame a determined Washington defense Sunday to win 17-13 and continue their nine-year hex over their National Football League neighbors.

It was the eighth straight league victory by the Colts over the Redskins and their 16th in a row including exhibition games.

The Colts, however, struggled against the Washington defense until 9:36 remained in the fourth quarter when Tom Matte ran seven yards for the touchdown to give Baltimore a 14-13 edge.

The 65-yard drive to the touchdown was aided by a 15-yard penalty for piling on quarterback Johnny Unitas—a call obviously unpopular with the 50,574 sellout crowd.

Lou Michaels later kicked a 30-yard field goal.

Baltimore remained undefeated and now has a 6-0 record. The Redskins are 2-3-2.

The Redskins were the first to score when newly acquired Gene Mingo kicked a 42-yard field goal in the first quarter. He later kicked a 35-yarder.

The Colts came back on the second play of the second quarter as Unitas hit Alex Hawkins on a 22-yard touchdown, ending an 11-play, 76-yard drive.

Chiefs Burst In First Half; Drop Denver

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Kansas City exploded a 42-point first half with Mike Garrett showing his best running form of the season and romped past Denver 52-9 Sunday to stay alive in the American Football League's Western Division title race.

Kansas City snapped a two-game losing spell with a vengeance and Denver helped with three fumbles in the first 21 minutes. The Chiefs capitalized on all three for touchdowns, twice needing only one play.

Len Dawson fired three TD passes the first half and Jack Lee took over the Kansas City quarterbacking the last half.

The victory gave the defending AFL champs a 4-3 record. Denver is 1-7. The AFL scoring record of 59 seemed in danger at halftime.

Garrett had been bothered by minor injuries all season, but he was at full speed this time and running to open spots with skill.

He scored twice and finished with 101 yards rushing on 20 tries, despite nullification of one 33-yard run, and caught two passes for 37 yards.

Buck Buchanan, 287-pound tackle, and linebacker Bobby Bell forced two of the Denver fumbles with hard tackles. End Jerry Mays and middle linebacker Sherrill Headrick also made some big defensive plays for the Chiefs.

Oilers Win Over Buffalo In AFL Tilt

HOUSTON (AP) — Pete Beathard's one-yard touchdown run gave the Houston Oilers a 10-3 victory over the Buffalo Bills in an American Football League game played Sunday while driving rains turned Rice Stadium into a swamp with bleachers.

Two plays earlier, Beathard, the Oilers' newcomer quarterback, had raced 21 yards from the Buffalo 34 before the wet ball slipped from his grip. Bobby Maples was there to recover for Houston and take it another 12 to the one-yard line, setting up the score.

Mike Stratton had picked off a Beathard pass to stop the Oilers' opening offensive, and 10 plays later, Buffalo's Mike Mercer booted a 47-yard field goal.

In the second quarter, as umbrellas blossomed, John Wittenborn's 25-yard field goal evened the score for Houston. George Webster had recovered a fumble by Buffalo quarterback Jack Kemp on the Bills' 31 to set it up.

straight conference title Saturday night with a 15-13 victory against Arizona State University.

The Cowboys, which need only to beat New Mexico 1-6 Nov. 11 for sole possession of the crown, had to go into the final minutes to overcome the barbed wire play of the Sun Devils.

A record Tempe, Ariz., crowd of 42,344 persons watched 170-pound fullback Max Anderson streak 99 yards that gave ASU a 13-12 lead in the final quarter.

Jerry DePoyster, however, made it all for naught with his third field goal of the game with 2:37 on the clock from 26 yards out and Wyoming clutched its seventh straight victory. DePoyster also booted field goals of 38 and 31 yards and on the first play of scrimmage in the game, quarterback Paul Toscano and Gene Huey combined on a 69-yard touchdown pass play. DePoyster now has a NCAA career record of 30 field goals.

ASU's two-point conversion pass attempt after Anderson's touchdown went astray. The Sun Devils now are 5-2 over-all and 1-1 in league.

Brigham Young's 17-13 league victory over Utah was tarnished by the Wyoming win, virtually eliminating Cougar hopes for the title. BYU now is 4-2 and 2-1 in the WAC. Utah fell to 3-3 and 2-2.

The University of Texas — El Paso, a WAC member-elect for 1968, continued its harassment of WAC teams Friday night with a 75-12 shelling of New Mexico behind six touchdown passes by Brooks Dawson. Arizona fell 42-7 to undefeated, 10th-ranked Indiana of the Big Ten.

Colorado State, another WAC member-elect, held a 10-0 lead against the Air Force Academy but had to settle for a 17-17 tie.

Brigham Young relied on its ground game for the first time this year in the Utah victory. A field goal in the second period by Dennis Patera and reserve fullback Tom Rippee's four-yard plunge sent the Cougars ahead 17-7 in the fourth period.

Earlier, Phil Odle had scored on a 21-yard pass from Mark Lyons in the wind and rain-marred game. Utah scored on spectacular plays that included Gary Barkov's 99-yard touchdown run with an intercepted pass in the first period and Bill Fowler's 90-yard kick-off return with 37 seconds to play.

Arizona, which had beaten Ohio State earlier in the season, never was in the game after the Hoosiers ground out three early touchdowns. Marc Reed passed 20 yards to Ron Higuera for the Wildcats only score. Arizona now is 1-4-1.

Nobis Rallies Atlanta Past Vikings 21-20

ATLANTA (AP) — Linebacker Tommy Nobis set up one touchdown with an interception and scored on a 41-yard run with another Sunday, leading Atlanta to a 21-20 conquest of Minnesota for the Falcons' first victory of the year.

The 235-pounder, a defensive standout throughout the game, scored the clinching touchdown with five minutes left after teammate Karl Rubke deflected Ron VanderKelen's pass into Nobis' hands.

Nobis intercepted a pass by the Vikings' Joe Kapp in the second quarter and returned it to the Minnesota 23, setting up Randy Johnson's 10-yard touchdown toss to Tommy McDonald.

Johnson threw a 41-yard scoring strike late in the first quarter to McDonald after Atlanta punter Billy Lothridge faked a fourth-down kick and ran 16 yards to the Vikings' 41.

The Vikings, now 1-5-1 for the season, scored a touchdown in the second quarter when VanderKelen threw nine yards to rookie Gene Washington.

Fred Cox kicked field goals of 21 and 40 yards to pull the Vikings within one point, 14-13, in the third period, but the Minnesota kicker missed a 19-yard attempt that would have put the visitors in front in the fourth quarter.

Colorado State, another WAC member-elect, held a 10-0 lead against the Air Force Academy but had to settle for a 17-17 tie.

Brigham Young relied on its ground game for the first time this year in the Utah victory. A field goal in the second period by Dennis Patera and reserve fullback Tom Rippee's four-yard plunge sent the Cougars ahead 17-7 in the fourth period.

Trick Play Gives Rams 28-17 Victory

CHICAGO (AP) — A trick play that thrust fullback Tommy Mason into a passing role for a 51-yard scoring toss to Bernie Casey sealed a 28-17 victory for the Los Angeles Rams over the Chicago Bears Sunday.

The aerial maneuver came in the third period of the penalty plagued National Football League contest and shoved the Rams out of reach 21-0.

The triumph gave the Rams a 4-1-2 record and left the Bears with 2-5.

Mason took a handoff from Roman Gabriel, faded wide and let go to Casey as the Bear defense was sucked in.

The play came after a brief melee at midfield that saw Bear end Marty Amslwer and Ram tackle Joe Carroll being tossed out for fighting. Tackle Dick Ewey of the Bears was helped off the field with an injured leg after the ruckus subsided.

The Rams expanded their lead after Mason's aerial artistry when Willie Daniel stole a Jack Concannon pass late in the third period. They drove 37 yards with the aid of a mask pulling penalty. Gabriel capped it with a two-yard pitch to Dave Pivec alone in the end zone at the start of the fourth.

Gabriel put the Rams ahead with a 37-yard touchdown pass to Les Josephson in the first period.

The Bears, with Gale Sayers returning to the line-up after missing a game with a leg injury, tied the 7-7 early in the second. Concannon eventually cracked the final inches.

Lions Use Strong Rush To Bury 49ers

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Detroit Lions put a savage rush on quarterback John Brodie Sunday and buried the hapless San Francisco 49ers, 45-3, in a National Football League game.

The loss dropped San Francisco into third place in the Coastal Division with a 5-2 record. Detroit is 3-3-1.

Brodie frequently was tackled for losses or had to throw the ball away. During his long afternoon he had four passes intercepted. His replacement, rookie Steve Spurrier, also had one picked off.

With only 12 seconds left in the first quarter, linebacker Mike Lucci picked off a Brodie pass at the 49er 31 and ran in for a touchdown. It was the third Detroit interception of the period.

Brodie completed only eight of 28 passes.

Less than five minutes into the second quarter, quarterback Karl Sweetan drove the Lions 64 yards in nine plays for another touchdown. Mel Farr plunged over from the one.

The 49ers came back later in the second but stalled inside the 10-yard line and had to settle for a Tommy Davis field goal from the 13.

In the third quarter Carl Yepremian booted a 26-yard field goal for Detroit.

Lem Barney intercepted another Brodie pass to put the Lions in business on the 49ers 23, and Nowatzke broke in from the four for a 24-3 lead.

Nowatzke added a flat pass from Sweetan for a 19-yard touchdown. Amos Marsh scampered 18 for another and Sweetan bootlegged in from the four with 43 seconds left to close the scoring.

Oregon State Faces UCLA In Pacific-8 Conference Contest

By The Associated Press

Pacific-8 conference teams play other teams within the conference next weekend. The schedule gives sometimes strong Oregon State a chance at one of the leaders — UCLA — while hapless California faces merciless Southern Cal.

UCLA IS undefeated in both conference and nonconference competition. Oregon State is 2-1 in the conference and 5-2 overall. California lays its 1-2 conference record beneath the undefeated Trojan juggernaut.

Stanford, 1-3 in league play, travels to Washington, third in the league at 3-1. Oregon's ducks take on Washington State, which hasn't beaten anybody this year.

Last weekend Southern Cal rolled over Oregon 28-6, Washington dumped California 23-6, Oregon State clobbered Washington State 35-7 and Stanford dropped a nonconference decision to Army 34-20. UCLA drew a bye.

Southern Cal's rampant halfback O.J. Simpson was taken out of the game in the third quarter with a sprained right instep. He is expected to be in shape for next weekend's meeting with Cal.

Reserve halfback Steve Grady carried 18 times for 108 yards and a touchdown after taking over for Simpson. The Ducks didn't score until the fourth quarter and penetrated into Texas territory only once in the first three quarters.

Washington's Huskies had little trouble with California. Washington used three California errors and a long punt return by Bill Sprinkle to score early and coasted home.

Oregon State also jumped to an early lead in dumping Washington State. Two early touchdowns by fullback Bill Enyart put the Beavers out in front to stay.

The Cougars scored in the third quarter on a drive that carried 61 yards in nine plays. Army scored with two minutes left in the game to take the victory from Stanford in a seesaw battle.

The winning touchdown was set up when Van Evans, a sprinter turned halfback, returned a Stanford punt 37 yards to the Stanford 13. Army scored two plays later from the five,

Tarkenton Leads Giants Past Browns

NEW YORK (AP) — Fran Tarkenton threw three touchdown passes and scored once, leading the New York Giants to a 38-34 upset victory over the Cleveland Browns Sunday despite a gallant comeback effort by battered Frank Ryan.

The Giants, who trailed 10-0 after the first period, in the National Football League game, had opened up an 18-point lead early in the third quarter but had to dig in and fight off a closing surge by the Browns.

The New York defense smeared Ryan twice in a last-ditch series after the Browns had moved to a first-down on the New York 34 with two minutes to go. Jim Katcavage, Jim Moran and Bob Lurtsema led the rush on Ryan who played the whole game despite injuries.

Pete Gogolak, playing on a weekend leave from the Army, kicked a 47-yard field goal at 9:32 of the final period forcing the Browns to try for the touchdown in the final stages.

A crowd of 62,903 roared when Ryan, trying desperately to get off a pass on a fourth-and-12 situation with 1:17 to go, was smeared by Lurtsema and Katcavage on the Giants' 47.

Namath Passes Jets Past Boston 30-23

NEW YORK (AP) — Joe Namath's pinpoint passing paraded New York to a fourth quarter touchdown that gave the Jets a 30-23 American Football League victory over the Boston Patriots Sunday.

The triumph kept the Jets atop the AFL's Eastern Division with a 5-1-1 record and extended their unbeaten string to six games.

Namath sprayed his passes around the Boston secondary like a painter working on a canvas. He gained 362 yards through the air on 22 completions and tied an AFL record when he completed his first three attempts.

That gave him 15 straight completions, counting 12 completed last week against Miami, and tied the record set by Kansas City's Lenny Dawson earlier this season.

Namath hit George Sauer, Don Maynard and Emerson Boozer for big gains, marching the Jets to their winning TD, a seven-yard pass to Pete Lammons with just over eight minutes to play.

That climaxed an uphill struggle for the Jets who trailed by 10-0 after the first period and 20-14 at halftime.

Late Score Lifts Steelers Over Saints

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Rookie running back Don Shy scampered 33 yards for a touchdown with 1:52 left to give Pittsburgh a 14-10 victory over New Orleans Sunday and deny the Saints their first National Football League victory.

Injured quarterback Bill Nelson came off the bench at the start of the fourth quarter and directed the Steelers on two touchdowns drives after New Orleans had taken a 10-0 lead at the half.

The Saints came close to pulling it out in the waning seconds. Quarterback Gary Cuozzo passed New Orleans to the Steeler 24 with ten seconds left, but missed two tosses for touchdowns as time ran out.

The Saints came close to pulling it out in the waning seconds. Quarterback Gary Cuozzo passed New Orleans to the Steeler 24 with ten seconds left, but missed two tosses for touchdowns as time ran out.

Shy, a 6-1, 205-pound first year man from San Diego State, cracked through the Saints' defense for 108 yards in ten carries.

Interceptions by Dave Whitsell, Jackie Burkett and Obert Logan broke up three Steeler scoring opportunities.

Whitsell also intercepted a pass which the Saints turned into their lone touchdown. It came late in the second quarter after Whitsell had stolen a Kent Nix pass and returned it 12 yards to the Saint 44.

Cuozzo then passed 29 yards to Tom Barrington, hit Dan Abramowicz with a 25-yarder and Jim Taylor carried it in from the two.

Nelsen got Pittsburgh's first TD on a pass to J.R. Wilburn on a five-yard pass. Later in the fourth quarter, with Pittsburgh staying mainly on the ground, Shy went over for the winner.

Damascus Needs Win To Be Best Of Year

By ORLO ROBERTSON
NEW YORK (AP) — Damascus, the 3-year-old colt who strikes with the quickness of a cat, returned to his home base at Laurel, Md., Sunday needing only a victory in the Nov. 11 Washington, D.C., International to be acclaimed the best of the year in the world.

Mrs. Edith W. Bancroft's son of Sword Dancer erased any doubt as to his right to be crowned horse of the year in the United States when he reeled off the last one-quarter mile of the two-miles of the $106,800 Jockey Club Gold Cup at Aqueduct last Saturday in 24.25 seconds for a 4 1/2-length victory.

Like a cat stalking his prey, Damascus trailed the pace-setting handsome boy for 1 1/2 miles. Then, answering four cracks of jockey Bill Shoemaker's whip, the big bay swept into the lead and pulled away to a convincing victory.

Handsome boy easily beat Successor for runner-up honors with Gentleman James far back in last place.

Damascus was timed in 3:20 1-5, one second off Kelso's American record, and in the words of Shoemaker he could have broken the record had the early pace been faster.

For his fifth straight victory and his 12th to win in 15 starts this year, Damascus earned $69,290 to boost his 1967 bank account to $792,940 and dislodge Nashua as the one-year money winning leader. Nashua earned $752,550 in his 3-year-old campaign in 1955.

The International, a $150,000 race over Laurel's 1 1/2-mile grass course, will present Damascus with another challenge. He never has run in a grass race. But neither trainer Frank Whiteley Jr. nor Shoemaker is worried.

Eagles Use Fumble To Tip Cowboys

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Eagles turned a fumble and a surprise inside kick into touchdown drives for an upset 21-14 victory over the Dallas Cowboys Sunday in a National Football League game, before a sellout crowd of 60,740.

Philadelphia scored all its points in the first half on a 17-yard run by halfback Izzy Lang, a three-yard pass from quarterback Norm Snead to Gary Ballman, and Tom Woodeshick's one-yard smash.

Dallas, which came into the game leading the Capitol Division of the Eastern Conference with a 5-1 record, trailed 21-0 before it got on the scoreboard in the second quarter on a 15-yard pass from quarterback Greg Morton to flanker Lance Retzler.

The Eagles' offense bogged in the second half as the Cowboys' defense applied pressure to Snead. Dallas sliced the margin to 21-14 at 8:12 of the third quarter on a 64-yard TD pass from Morton to Bob Hayes.

The rest of the game turned into a battle of missed opportunities by both teams on fumbles, pass interceptions and penalties.

Business Is Under Scrutiny

By EDMOND LeBRETON
WASHINGTON (AP) — An enterprise some describe as a factory for turning out tax havens—and which others say is simply helping middle-income recipients get the same tax breaks as the rich—comes under congressional scrutiny today.

The organization is Americans Building Constitutionally (ABC), with headquarters in the Chicago suburb of Barrington, Ill.

After months of staff investigation, a House Small Business subcommittee has subpoenaed to the witness stand Robert D. Hayes, whom it identified as a trustee of ABC, and James R. Walsh Jr., described as one of its principal architects.

ABC provides services in setting up foundations that enjoy tax exemptions.

Subcommittee Chairman Wright Patman, D-Tex., told the House earlier this month that "Officials of this outfit are quite frank to admit that they are attempting to mass-produce the tax-dodging specialties that were once associated only with millionaires."

He said ABC "pitched its appeal to the upper-middle income group—doctors, lawyers and other professionals."

The tax advantages reportedly are obtained by an individual who assigns property and earnings to a foundation and is then employed by the foundation for a salary and sometimes the right to use the property—such as a house or automobile.

Patman's subcommittee and the Internal Revenue Service have been investigating a number of foundations to determine whether they in fact contribute enough to charity to qualify under law for tax exemptions.

Patman said if the technique of providing a comparatively low-priced package of services for setting up a foundation succeeds, "tax-exempt foundations will be as commonplace in this country as bath-tub distilleries were during the prohibition era."

The result, he said, "could be the beginning of complete chaos for the nation's tax structure."

Farmer Of Year Judges Introduced

RUPERT—Judges who will select the Farmer of the Year will be introduced at the weekly Chamber of Commerce luncheon recently by Agriculture Chairman Dick Westendorf.

Making up the judging team are Bill Haynes, Harold Pringle, LaMont Smith, Bob Hilliard, Rex Rasmussen, Vance Smith, Charles Clark, Wayne May, Bill Virtue and Chairman Westendorf.

The farms of Van Sorenson, Dale Stoller, Bill Wakewood, and Larry Blinco were visited Thursday morning, the judges reported. Visited in the afternoon were farms belonging to Carl Peterman, Donald McRae, Hawley Harrison and Dick Graf.

The judges choice for Farmer of the Year will be announced at the annual banquet which will be held Nov. 2 at the Catholic Parish Hall.

Ed Engert, October program chairman, introduced Art Garrity, Bureau of Land Management official in the Shoshone District. Mr. Garrity told chamber members that the public lands in this area have never been classified.

When asked what changes classification would make, he stated that it would stop acquisition of lands by Desert Entry or public sale but the area would still be open for public hunting and fishing and rock hunting.

Mr. Garrity noted the BLM is second to the Internal Revenue Department in income, returning $5 for every $1 invested. This income is from oil leases, oil shale, timber sales, grazing, and sand and gravel leasing.

A BLM film on classification was shown. President Claude Bowman announced a Merchants meeting will be held at 10 a.m. Wednesday at the chamber office.

There will be no chamber luncheon on Thursday.

Republicans To Send Uninstructed Envoys

DENVER (AP) — Republicans in western states were advised Sunday by area leaders of the party to send uninstructed delegations or delegations pledged only to favorite sons to the GOP national convention next year.

Exempted from the resolution were states which have primaries binding delegates. The recommendation was contained in a resolution passed at the closing session of the Western States Republican Conference in Denver. The conference elected Arizona's national committeewoman, Marge Braden of Yuma, as its chairman for the next two years and picked Honolulu as site of its 1969 meeting. The date will be set later.

Other officers elected were Robert Timm of Olympia, Washington national committeeman, vice chairman; Harley Markham of Pocatello, Idaho, national committeeman, second vice chairman; Estelle Stacy of Douglas, Wyoming, national committeewoman, secretary; and Ken Garff of Salt Lake City, Utah, national committeeman, treasurer.

Markham, discussing the resolution on uninstructed delegations with reporters, said it is not intended to influence the support of any potential presidential candidate.

"They are going to organize their people in the states anyway," he commented.

The conference declaration takes the same stand recommended by the Republican Governors' Association during a meeting at Jackson, Wyo., last June.

It called upon Republicans in western states to provide free and open discussion of issues and participation by all candidates and supporters. Pledged delegations, the resolution said, often are picked months before national conventions and are unable to consider all factors.

In other resolutions, the conference: — Asked that federal funds be distributed to states by block grants, with fewer strings on them.

— Called for restrictions on agricultural imports — especially meat — and sought federal action "to make ranching and agriculture once again a health community."

— Demanded that federal highway funds should under no conditions "be used or withheld for a political purpose." Markham said it was directed at a holdback carried out last year by President Lyndon B. Johnson and a similar one now being proposed.

Soviets Compete With U.S. In Ability To Wield Military Power Far Away

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union is beginning to compete with the United States in the ability to wield military power far from home shores.

It has long been a muscle-bound superpower unable to exercise much military or political influence beyond the supply lines of its ground troops. Now the Soviet Union is developing military mobility.

A U.S. admiral's report that this country is building its first aircraft carrier indicates a long-range plan to roam the seven seas instead of keeping its navy under cover of land-based warplanes. A symbol of Soviet strength with mobile political uses is the Soviet navy squadron now cruising the Mediterranean, once the private pond of the U.S. 6th Fleet.

So far the Mediterranean is the only place where the new Soviet potential has been turned into an actual political influence.

At a tense moment along the Suez Canal after the Middle East war in June, the squadron commander offered "to cooperate with Egyptian armed forces to repel any aggression."

This political gesture was not followed by any Soviet military action, although Soviet-made naval weapons have been important to Arab nations and were used to sink the Israeli destroyer Elath Oct. 21.

Other symbols of mobile Soviet strength are the massive, long-range troop transports of the Soviet air force.

The Soviet Union remains far behind the United States in physical ability to put its troops down in a foreign political situation. But, with Britain cutting back its armed forces and abandoning overseas bases, Soviet forces are moving into second place in this politically potent league.

This is a separate league from military striking power. The Soviet Union is close behind the United States in the ability to rain nuclear destruction on any part of the world.

Some here think Soviet admirals would like to establish a naval base at Alexandria or at Mers el Kebir, the Algerian base being evacuated by France. Soviet political leaders may not agree because of diplomatic and propaganda complications.

The airlift capabilities of the Soviet air force have become important in recent years. Planning in the Warsaw Pact, the East European military alliance, recently has come to count on a Soviet ability to fly troops and equipment quickly to a trouble spot.

Putting airborne troops down outside the Communist bloc remains a problem because of overnight rights. This is most apparent in the Far East.

The Soviet Union can reach North Vietnam with merchant ships, although it has kept its warships well away from the U.S. 7th Fleet in the area. It cannot fly to Hanoi by any practical route. Hostile China and sensitive neutral nations around South Asia block the way.

7 Young Poisoning Victims Buried After $2,000 Funeral

By RICH OPPEL
ARCADIA, Fla. (AP) — Seven young victims of insecticide poisoning—whose life insurance policies for $1,000 each were not in force because their father couldn't borrow the $4 premium—were buried Sunday after a $2,000 funeral.

AS their small white satin-covered coffins were lowered into two rows of open graves, the children's paternal grandmother, Margaret Bivens of Jacksonville, Fla., cried: Goodbye, little darlings, Goodbye, little darlings!

About one-fourth of the 6,000 people in this small southwest Florida citrus and cattle town crowded into the sweltering high school gymnasium for the funeral.

James Richardson, 32, father of the children, a black cloth heart sewn to his jacket sleeve, sobbed loudly during the service. His wife, Annie Mae, 29, stared blankly at the semicircle of coffins, each topped with a spray of carnations and roses.

When the coffins were opened for the recessional, Mrs. Richardson led the mourners past the dead children, shrieked and collapsed screaming before the body of 6-year-old Susie. Two men carried the mother from the funeral but she was composed again for the burial service.

Funeral Director Eugene Hixson said the costs of the funeral, including five hearses and burial plots, was $2,000. About half that amount has been donated to a fund including $189 from a Saturday night high school football game.

Both Richardson and his wife are Negro migrant orange pickers. Six of the children—aged 2 to 8—died Wednesday after eating a lunch of grits, beans, rice and hog's head. The seventh died after a night in the hospital.

Betty, 8, Alice, 7, and Susie, 6, were stricken in school. Doreen, 5, Vanessa, 4, Dianne, 3, and James Jr., 2, became sick while at home alone.

Investigators from the office of Sheriff Frank E. Cline and State Atty. Frank Schaub have questioned 30 persons in an attempt to learn how the children obtained the deadly insecticide parathion.

Terrorists Kill Danish Captain

ADEN (AP) — Terrorists shot and killed a Danish ship captain today, 13 hours after seriously wounding a senior British civil servant.

Authorities said Capt. J. S. Theisen of the chemical tanker Stainless Carrier was shot in the Steamer Point section of Aden. British marine commandos sealed off roads leading to the area and began a hunt for the attackers.

Dr. Joseph Davis, Dade County (Miami) medical examiner, is making studies of stomach contents, meal leftovers and other specimens to determine if the parathion was swallowed or absorbed through the skin. It kills both ways. Schaub said results may not be known for more than a week.

The investigation focused on discovery of an open two-pound sack of parathion in a shed a day after it had been searched by police. "We want to know who put the parathion in the shed," Cline said.
