TWIN-FALLS, IDAHO, SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 5, 1967

TEN CENTS

AN EDITORIAL

To The Voters

In a Democracy such as ours, any election is important.

The election in Twin Falls on Tuesday, at which time voters will select four men to fill as many open seats on the city council, is no exception. It is doubly important because of the issue of the city manager form of government for Twin Falls, and various other pertinent issues, are prominent ones.

The city manager form of government has worked out so well, and so efficiently, for Twin Falls that to change now and revert back to the mayor-council form is unthinkable. Being operating head of a city the size of Twin Falls is a full time responsibility. No councilman would be able to give full time to "working" for the city and operating his own business at the same time. The city manager operation is the only logical way to get the necessary job done.

It will be decided on Tuesday whether the community will continue to be an active one, going with the rest of Idaho, or if it will be one which will drift along getting no place in particular and probably not even maintaining the status quo.

The Times-News is deeply concerned over the possible implications to this community unless men actually best suited for the task at hand are elected to the four posts.

It is because of this concern the newspaper urges those interested in the future of Twin Falls—and those who are interested are surely the ones who took the time to register so they can vote—to support and mark their ballot in favor of any four of six men of the 11 seeking office.

The Times-News feels that Frank Feldman, George Bennett, Eugene G. Stacey, Frank Cook, Delbert McGuire and Lloyd Cox would all qualify as men whose thinking would be of untold benefit to the community right now, and in the future.

Plane Crash Near London Claims 37

HASLEMERE, England (AP) — An Iberia Air Lines Caravelle jet crashed on its approach to London airport Saturday night, spreading a litter of wreckage over a wide area of the Surrey countryside. Police reported no survivors among its 30 passengers and seven crew.

The plane hit a ridge of earth and pine forest about 40 miles southwest of London about 8 p.m., 10 minutes before it was due to land. Fire and rescue teams from three counties sped to the scene.

A spokesman for the Spanish government-owned airline said the plane went out of radio contact at 8:05 p.m. with no report of trouble from the pilot. It crashed at Blackdown Park, the grounds of a country mansion at the village of Fernhurst.

The French-built, twin-jet plane had set out from Malaga, a resort on the Spanish Mediterranean coast. Heavy rains lashed the area where it crashed most of the day.

Police said the plane hit a hillside in wooded country, spreading wreckage over a wide area. So far we have found no one alive and we have little hope of survivors," one officer said.

Man Arrested In Slaying Of Student

NEW YORK (AP) — A man wanted on a murder charge in a bizarre slaying in Philadelphia was spotted among the uncounted throngs of the Times Square theater district Saturday because of his interest in theater tickets and his pipe.

Stephen Z. Weinstein, 20, operator of a Philadelphia tobacco shop, was arrested by a patrolman after a short chase through the busy streets. He is accused of the murder of John Walker Green III, a Dec. 1966 freshman.

Weinstein was spotted in a Broadway area ticket agency by the owner of a Philadelphia ticket agency who said Weinstein had tried to buy tickets from him a week ago.

Green disappeared from his campus dormitory Oct. 22 after telling friends he was going to buy a pipe. His body was found Oct. 31 stuffed in a steamer trunk floating in the Delaware River.

Police said the youth had been strangled and sexually abused.

Police said the plane hit a hillside in wooded country, spreading wreckage over a wide area. So far we have found no one alive and we have little hope of survivors," one officer said.

Soviet Tests Of Orbital Bomb Viewed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration officials said Saturday that it appears Soviet tests of an orbital bomb mechanism do not violate the treaty banning weapons from space since presumably actual warheads have not been used in the experiments.

However, the State Department decided against putting the U.S. government formally on record at this time concerning the legal aspects of the orbital weapon system now believed in the test stage.

The development is getting low-key treatment from American officials. This appears due in part to serious doubts, as expressed by McNamara, about the military effectiveness of orbital bombs.

Campaign Is Strong As Election Day Draws Near

By ALLEN M. BAILEY
Times-News Staff Writer

Last minute statements were issued Saturday by many of the city's eleven candidates seeking election to the four city council vacancies.

As one of the city's most heated election campaigns in many years neared the end, the "conservative" candidates continued their intensive anti-city manager campaign against the incumbent ticket, which supports the present form of government and stands on a record which says it has been progressive yet economical for local taxpayers.

A hold-over from a previous election to bring about an election on the question of continued

Reuther Vows Equal Pay For Canadians

DETROIT (AP) — United Auto Workers President Walter P. Reuther vowed Saturday his union won't give pay for Canadian and American workers in its new contracts with the Chrysler Corp.

Entering negotiations at Chrysler for the first time since July 12, the 60-year-old union chief said he was "optimistic" the union and the company

Satellite Launch Is Postponed

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — An electrical sparking problem Saturday night forced a 23-hour postponement of an attempt to launch the ATS "plumb" satellite.

The satellite, third in the Applications Technology Series, was to pioneer new communication, photo and other types of equipment that might lead to practical benefits for mankind.

Groundbreaking Rites Held For Buhl Housing Project

BUHL—Groundbreaking ceremonies for the new Buhl Housing Authority project were held at 10 a.m. Saturday with Mayor Reed P. Murching turning the first shovel of dirt in the presence of the local housing authority board of directors.

Rev. Dalmar Talley gave the invocation and a brief talk on the Christian duties of the community in regard to the elderly citizens.

Mrs. Josephine Gilne, chairman of the housing authority, noted that decent housing, at least one that can afford, is one of the principal problems for elderly citizens today, and that this project will help provide low rent housing for elderly citizens in Buhl and the surrounding area.

The local housing authority is part of the federal government, but has been established by the local governing body pursuant to state law. Those serving on the board, in addition to Mrs. Gilne, are Warren Saunders, vice chairman; Kenneth Lamb, secretary; Mrs. Bernice Beecher and Rev. Talley.

Larry Harper is serving as executive director of the Buhl Housing Authority.

The architect for the project is Harold Gorber, Twin Falls. Otis Hall Construction Co., Twin Falls, was awarded the contract for the housing project.

Vern Perkins has been employed as secretary of the unit with Glenn Dennis as inspector. Mrs. Perkins will take applications from seniors for the temporary office on the location, from 1 to 5 p.m. weekdays.

Upon completion of the unit, it will be officially named the Buhl Project, P. 2, C. 3.

campaign tactics of four of the eleven candidates seeking office also came under fire Saturday from Edward Bennett, local attorney and co-chairman of the Committee for the Continuation of Good City Government.

Mr. Bennett's committee, supporting the three incumbent candidates and businessman Frank Cook, said his committee has attempted, in a completely fair manner, to present its position and the positions of its four candidates, Frank Feldman, George Bennett, Eugene G. Stacey and Mr. Cook.

"We have based our campaign on true facts and issues and without indulging in any personal attacks. However, I cannot stand idle when I see four candidates, namely, Nolan Victor, Lawrence A. Tolman, Joseph Stump, Jr. and C. G. Pope, place an advertisement in the Friday Times-News attacking personally the respected and dedicated citizens of Twin Falls," Mr. Bennett said.

"Charges against Paul Newton, former city engineer," Mr. Bennett declared, "are totally false and are in reality unfounded character assassination.

"The charge against Vern Riddie, one of Twin Falls' most distinguished citizens, is vicious, untrue and politics of a gutter type.

"The ad is distorted and mis-information, dispersons and misrepresentations. The irresponsibility of these four men in placing such an ad should be an indication to all voters of Twin Falls that to elect them would be a tragedy from which the city would take long to recover," the committee official added.

"It is unfortunate," Mr. Bennett said, "that we have been called on to defend our past administration against the 11 faults and misdeeds stated in See CAMPAIGN, Pg. 2, Col. 4

Registration

Registration looks at the Twin Falls City Hall closed Saturday night with approximately 3,250 people eligible to vote Tuesday in the municipal election.

An estimated 350 people registered Saturday. City Clerk Constance Leiser said absentee balloting will continue through 5 p.m. Monday.

On Tuesday the polls will open to voters at noon and remain open until 8 p.m. in the five voting precincts in the city.

Robert Coiner Captures First In Humorous Speech Contest

Robert Coiner, a member of Toastmasters Club No. 140 of Twin Falls, won the District 15 humorous speech contest in competition with six other men at the Holiday Inn Saturday evening.

His talk, "The 1968 Model," had the 110 persons in attendance laughing throughout. The theme of the talk, according to officials at the one-day meeting, was that the "wife isn't so bad" after all and men must resist temptations to trade her in for a more up-to-date model.

Second place winner was Tom Kane, Salt Lake City, representing area six; third went to Dr. Renn Derrer, Meridian, area two of the district, and other humorous speakers were Hugh Homan, Caldwell, area one; Jim Chapman, Blackfoot, area four; Gerry Bedient, Kayville, Utah, area five, and Norman Cleverling, Moab, Utah.

Toastmaster during the evening was Robert Day, Twin Falls, a member of the I. B. Perrine Toastmasters Club, and presiding was Jack Holland, Burley. Table topics chairman was Walt Tolleson, Burley; chief judge was Harold Gerber, Twin Falls, and presenting the awards was Wayne Stout, Pocatello, District 15 governor.

Mr. Coiner represented area three of the district. The district is composed of all of Utah, all of Southern Idaho, and Eastern Oregon.

About 40 attended the afternoon educational session at the Holiday Inn. Mr. Coiner had won an area humorous speaking contest earlier.

Superintendent Defends Sewage Treatment Facility

"Mr. Victor seems to want to misrepresent to the people of Twin Falls concerning the sewage treatment plant," Mr. Fullmer declared.

"He was a visitor to the plant and apparently tried to find something wrong about its operation. He asked if it was adequate to handle the sewage from the city. He was assured that it is, and that the capacity of flow could be more than doubled if necessary and still maintain a safe effluent to Snake River."

Mr. Fullmer explained the new water quality standards set for the Snake River and its tributaries that has been adopted by the state of Idaho and the federal government. "Mr. Fullmer added.

"This act states that unless the users can continue to meet these standards they would all be forced to go to secondary treatment."

This does not mean just the primary treatment plant of Twin Falls, the superintendent explained, but all industries or municipalities returning treated sewage effluent to the river.

"I want the people of Twin Falls to know they have an exceptionally fine treatment plant, and if the effluent was so murky and mucky as Mr. Victor says it is, the Health Department would have us closed down," he added.

J. L. Hansen, local resident and supporter of the "conservative" ticket of which Mr. Victor is a member, said Saturday he was with Mr. Victor when they visited the plant.

Mr. Fullmer, he said, told them the plant was only a "pilot" plant and someday the health department would tell the city to build a secondary plant or shut the existing one down. He also told them, Mr. Hansen said, that the plant was designed for a capacity of 40,000 persons, not 80,000 as stated in a recent news story.

Veteran Idaho Jurist's Study Could Change State's Constitution

BY ALLEN M. BAILEY
Times-News Staff Writer

BOISE (AP) — A veteran Idaho jurist is directing a study which eventually could result in sweeping revision — or perhaps replacement — of the state's constitution.

Although retired Idaho Supreme Court Justice Raymond L. Givens calls the document "a pretty good one," he says it does need revising to eliminate unnecessary provisions and "archaic" sections.

He says this could be accomplished either by article revision through the amendment process, or by adoption of an entirely new constitution.

Givens, chairman of the Constitutional Revision Commission, was on the Supreme Court 25 years and formerly was also a district judge, an assistant attorney general and a state legislator.

Commission members are to meet Nov. 16-18 to hear subcommittee reports on the articles of the constitution assigned to them for study with an eye to improvement.

Idaho's 1965 Legislature authorized selection of the 15-member group and appropriated $5,000 to finance the agency.

Work has gone slowly since then, Givens says, because all members had full time jobs and funds were insufficient to hire technical staff assistance.

However, the $20,000 for this year provided the logistical task in the 1967-68 biennium.

An amendment to the constitution was proposed by the commission to a 1968 special session of the legislature, which placed it on last year's election ballot.

It would have authorized article revision by a vote of the entire group and approved, $5,000 to finance the agency.

Work has gone slowly since then, Givens says, because all members had full time jobs and funds were insufficient to hire technical staff assistance.

However, the $20,000 for this year provided the logistical task in the 1967-68 biennium.

An amendment to the constitution was proposed by the commission to a 1968 special session of the legislature, which placed it on last year's election ballot.

It would have authorized article revision by a vote of the entire revision, instead of the section-by-section change now provided for.

In other words, it would have permitted submitting to voters as a single proposal, an amendment which might change a number of sections of the constitution. At present an individual amendment must be submitted for each section, and it is possible voters might approve some and defeat others, resulting in considerable confusion.

However, Idaho voters turned it down. Givens said it would have greatly aided the commission in its work. It is to be proposed again, after being approved in slightly different form by the 1967 Legislature.

Operations of state agencies were mentioned in the commission's report to the legislature last January—but with reference to a possible reduction in the number provided for in any revised constitution.

"A proliferation of departments, boards and commissions, some of which are protected by the constitution, tends to tend to executive irresponsibility," the report said.

Revisions of articles in the Idaho constitution which provide for the state court system, impeachment and election of county officers also were proposed by the commission.

"The consensus of members of the commission is that we will try to draft a shorter constitution than the one we now have," Givens said.

Subcommittees of the commission are concerned with executive, judicial and legislative provisions of the document, respectively, and each is charged with studying articles of the constitution which deal with those branches of government.

At the November meeting, commission members plan to go over proposals with former University of Idaho law professor Herbert A. Berman.

Givens said Berman probably will be hired to aid in documenting any changes and in preparing a report to the governor and legislature.

Public meetings probably will be held before the final report is written, he said.

Member of Audit Bureau of Circulation and AP

WASHINGTON — Sen. Karl Mundt, R-S.D., has not earned a reputation as the most quotable man on Capitol Hill, but voters should remember what he said the other day when election time rolls around next year. Protesting the Senate's rejection of a House proposal which would force President Johnson to cut Federal spending by at least $5-billion, Mundt declared that his colleagues had "thrown the cold water of indifference on the economy fire that is burning in the Senate." A touch flippant, perhaps, but it tells the story of political Washington's congressional incapacity for making hard decisions. Every senator, of course, spoke up in favor of economy. It was just that they couldn't see their way clear to saving any real money without being heavily to Lyndon Johnson. The House resolution, said Sen. John Pastore, D-R.I., was an effort to make the President take the heat for unpopular budget cuts. "Shame on us!" bellowed Pastore. "Shame!" Indeed, the Senate should be ashamed of itself, all right, but for doing something which could make things difficult for its membership. The House proposal is not quite a buck-passing affair. Had it prevailed, members of Congress would have shared the "blame" for cutting spending in their own districts because the cuts were made on order of Congress. Anyway, why shouldn't Lyndon Johnson be "blamed" for unpopular budget cuts? He's the man who's asking for a 10 per cent income tax surcharge while conveniently ignoring the need for tax reform which would close loopholes now enjoyed by the rich oil and gas men who contribute so heavily to political campaigns. As Harry Truman once remarked about the Presidency, "The buck stops here."

Meanwhile, the electorate has cause to be confused by the Administration's continuing arguments for a tax boost. High officials keep talking about an overhated economy with a tight labor market, but the fact is that unemployment in September rose from 3.8 to 4.1 per cent of the labor force — the highest level since late 1965.

This rise is not due entirely to determined unemployables; it is also a reflector of a situation in which people are seeking jobs and not finding them. Moreover, the average household apparently is not the inflation escapee that the Administration has made him out to be. Consumers' spending capacity for goods continues to be sluggish. Inventories remain high in relation to sales. High mortgage rates are slowing capital investment.

Nevertheless, inflation is upon us. The Bureau of Labor Statistics reported the other day that the cost of living for an urban family with a "moderate" standard of living has gone up 39 per cent since 1959. The Brookings Institution says average hospital costs of $100 a day are not far in the future. But a solution that merely hangs another tax burden on the average citizen would be not only unfair but ineffective. Sales figures show the citizen already has taken several hikes in his belt. The situation cries out for both a reduction in government spending and changes in the tax laws that would bring in new revenues from sources now getting a free ride. At least $5 billion would be realized even if Congress — and the White House — agreed only to reducing the scandalous oil and gas depletion allowances.

Time Of Concern

The time has come to get serious about the growing problem of marijuana. Hippies and flower people continue to agitate for liberalized marijuana laws, but the drug is also a problem among otherwise normal, law-abiding citizens. Recently a respected elementary school teacher was dismissed by a California school board because she had secretly smoked pot during most of the 30 years she had been teaching. Not long ago college students in a western Kansas town were caught drying the weed in a laundromat. And, now defense officials report that more U.S. servicemen in Vietnam are arrested for smoking marijuana than for any other single major offense.

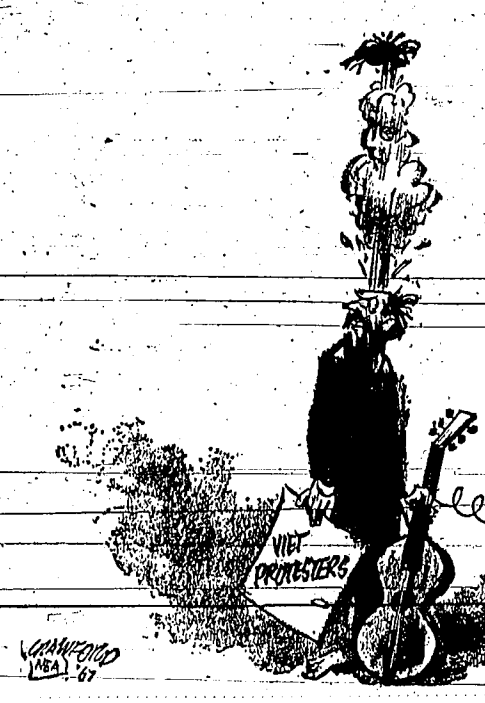

Not much is known about long-range effects of usage, but it has been tentatively established that it is not addictive. Food and Drug Commissioner Dr. James L. Goddard said recently he believes marijuana is less dangerous than alcohol. The U.S. Narcotics Commission disagrees. And a professor, after 20 years study of chronic users, says marijuana users change personality and become listless, lethargic, slow of speech and immobile. Research indicates that marijuana is not physically habit forming, though users may become psychologically dependent upon it. There is no conclusive evidence that users always graduate to stronger drugs, but some undoubtedly do. Despite the apparent lack of addictive properties, marijuana is by no means harmless. The President's Crime Commission reports that the drug can cause anxiety, confusion or disorientation, and can cause temporary psychotic episodes in some people. That the use of marijuana is growing is apparent. U.S. Customs officials seized a record 26,000 pounds last fiscal year, twice as much as in the previous 12 months. The government rightfully has put high priority on new research by the National Institute of Mental Health. Now is the time to tackle the problem, before it gets more serious.

Airport Concept

Howard Hughes believes what is needed is a whole new concept of airports to serve the supersonic age. The celebrated industrialist says such airports must be located away from populous centers, so that supersonic transports may land and depart without disturbing vast numbers of people. These remote airports then will provide shuttle service of some sort to transport SST passengers to their destinations. Hughes was talking about Las Vegas as a possible site for such an airport to serve the west coast. High speed trains, such as Hughes envisions between Las Vegas and Los Angeles, could offer accommodations just as plush and service just about as speedy as airplanes for short runs. A short run in the SST transportation age will be anything under 500 miles. There is no question that the SST is coming. How to cope with its landings and departures is the big problem — one that requires imaginative solutions. Hughes, who rarely guesses wrongly when it comes to investments, is so firmly convinced of the potential of Las Vegas that he has invested many millions in real estate, hotels and airline facilities. This area had better be given some thought to its potentialities in this field, and it had better be doing it soon.

The Neighbors Are Lining Up

WASHINGTON (NEA) — At a time when public opinion polls indicate growing doubts in the minds of some Americans as to the wisdom of the U.S. commitment in South Vietnam, it is significant to note that in the Far East the governments which neighbor South Vietnam, North Vietnam and Red China have "voted" overwhelmingly in favor of the South Vietnamese. Nine Far East countries are helping South Vietnam in this struggle. Two nations are aiding the North Vietnam-Red China invasion of the south. Three countries are neutral. South Korea, Thailand, the Philippines, Australia and New Zealand have troops fighting in South Vietnam. Two of these countries — Thailand and New Zealand — have recently decided to increase their commitment. The Republic of Taiwan has offered troops. It has a military psychological warfare team in action. Malaysia has trained 2,000 South Vietnamese military officers and police in counterinsurgency tactics and supplied armored vehicles and other military and police transport and counterinsurgency equipment. Japan has given South Vietnam economic aid. So has tiny Laos. Only Cambodia and Communist North Korea, among the Far East countries, have given military or economic assistance to the North Vietnam-Red China side in the war. Singapore, Indonesia and Burma have stayed neutral. Indonesia has been going through a revolution and Singapore is a new country struggling to get on its feet. In any situation a two-thirds "vote" of confidence is excellent — especially when the antivote is only 14 per cent with 20 per cent uncommitted. In this Vietnam war, South Vietnam is furnishing 380 fighting men per 10,000 population; the United States is furnishing 23, Korea 17, Australia seven, New Zealand two and Thailand one. These are unusually large Asian commitments when local circumstances are considered. Thailand has an insurgency of its own to fight. South Korea must guard the 38th parallel with U.S. help against a large force of North Koreans. These Asian and South Pacific lands have sent more than military aid. Korea has 118 doctors, nurses and medical support personnel in South Vietnam's provincial health programs. Taiwan has an 80-man agricultural team, a 34-man electrical power transmission and a 16-man medical team operating in South Vietnam. It has also sent agricultural tools, seeds, fertilizer, prefabricated warehouses, school textbooks and an electrical power substation. Several hundred South Vietnamese have been trained on Taiwan. Sixty Philippine civil action men operate in South Vietnam's villages. The Thais have provided rice for South Vietnamese refugees and cement and roofing materials and offered a $20 million rice credit. They're sending a medical unit. Australian civil engineers work on South Vietnamese water supply and road construction. Canberra has sent surgical teams, experts on dairy and crop practices, radio instructors and more than a million Vietnamese language textbooks and hand tools, blankets and corrugated roofing for South Vietnamese military dependents' housing. New Zealand has sent medical teams and aid for South Vietnamese technical schools. Japan has provided South Vietnam with millions of dollars in economic assistance. It has sent technicians and given funds for the construction of a large power dam across the Da Nhim River. Tokyo has donated considerable amounts of medical goods and equipment. This adds up to pretty convincing evidence the Asians and other neighbors on the spot have decided the South Vietnam fight means something to them, too.

Life On Earth??

WASHINGTON — There was great excitement on the planet of Venus this week. For the first time Venusian scientists managed to land a satellite on the planet Earth, and it has been sending back signals as well as photographs ever since. The satellite was directed into an area known as Manhattan (named after the great Venusian astronomer Prof. Manhattan, who first discovered it with his telescope 200,000 light years ago). Because of excellent weather conditions and extremely strong signals, Venusian scientists were able to get valuable information as to the feasibility of a manned flying saucer landing on Earth. A press conference was held at the Venus Institute of Technology. "We have come to the conclusion, based on last week's satellite landing," Prof. Zog said, "that there is no life on Earth." "How do you know this?" the science reporter of the Venus Evening Star asked. "For one thing Earth's surface in the area of Manhattan is composed of solid concrete and asphalt. There are no trees, no grass, no sky-scrapers since they seem to be scraping the skies." "If all you say is true, won't this set back the flying saucer program several years?" "Yes, but we shall proceed as soon as the Grubstark gives us the added funds." "Prof. Zog, why are you sending billions and billions of zillions to land a flying saucer on Earth when there is no life there?" "Because if the Venusians can learn to breathe in an Earth atmosphere, then we can live anywhere."

You see this dark cloud hovering over the surface of Earth? We call this the Consolidated Edison Belt. It means we're not stuck with it, made of, but it could give us a lot of trouble and we shall have to make further tests before we send a Venus Being there. "Over here you will notice what seems to be a river, but the satellite findings indicate it is polluted and the water is unfit to drink. This means we shall have to carry our own water which will add even greater weight to the saucer." "Sir, what are all those tiny black spots on the photographs?" "We're not certain. They seem to be metal particles that move along certain paths. They emit gases, make noise and keep crashing into each other. There are so many of these paths and so many metal particles that it is impossible to land a flying saucer without being smashed by one." "What are those stalagmites protrusions sticking up?" "They're some type of granite formations that give off light and heat. They resemble them, skyscrapers since they seem to be scraping the skies." "If all you say is true, won't this set back the flying saucer program several years?" "Yes, but we shall proceed as soon as the Grubstark gives us the added funds." "Prof. Zog, why are you sending billions and billions of zillions to land a flying saucer on Earth when there is no life there?" "Because if the Venusians can learn to breathe in an Earth atmosphere, then we can live anywhere."

MR. SPECTATOR

Some Days Are Better

Some days just naturally start out the right way. In other words some days are better. Why? Usually it is something that happens early in the morning—a smile, a handshake, sight of an old friend or just a letter. Well, this day was better because of a couple of letters. One came to The Spectator's desk. The other came to the desk of Al Westergren, the newspaper's business manager. This, too, ended up with The Spectator so now we will discuss both of them, and, when we are through, we're sure you will see what makes a better day. Vicki Rasmussen, a 12-year-old girl from Great Falls, Mont., and a seventh grade student, brought the first good feeling. Here's her letter. "Dear Friends of Twin Falls, I recently spent a couple of days in your city. I wish to thank you, and your kind attendants at your city library, for help received. "My assignment for my French class in school had to be completed by Monday, the day after I returned home. With the help of your library copy machine—it was "We had a few extra hours to visit your lovely Shoshone Falls, which is a picture I will not forget. Also the Magic Reservoir. "We were visiting Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schultz and Mrs. Margaret Stockamp while in your city. I also shopped for homecoming class and purchased my sewing supplies. "I also collected leaves for my science class and it exceeded any other due to the assistance of Uncle Henry Schultz and others in Twin Falls. "Thank you again for all kindnesses shown myself and other relatives while celebrating our teachers' convention by traveling to Twin Falls." After reading this letter, and feeling good, Mr. Westergren came in with the other note to add to the good feeling. It was from George Blackwell, who used to work in the Times-News composing room. Now he lives in Europe, has an APO address, and works for the famed Stars and Stripes. His note said: "Both Hal Hall and I agree that since I am probably your oldest overseas subscriber, I should be about eligible for a free subscription. "I pass the paper on to Hal and both of us enjoy very much reading about the progress being made in Twin Falls. Whether or not I ever return there to live, I will always consider it my home. "We marvel at the changes made in the paper and think all of you are doing a wonderful job. "Give my regards to the crew (if any of them are left) and perhaps someday we will see you all again." Like Mr. Spectator said, there's nothing like a pat on the back to get a day going in the right direction. And when Mr. Blackwell made that comment about the free subscription, he was only kidding. A check was in the letter! AN OPINION Seems that it is a little late for a poem on Halloween but Mr. Spectator got a note from Phyllis Dunn, Wendell, who said she was "so sorry for the lady from Buhl when all she sees on Halloween is 'little buggers.'" She enclosed a poem she wrote on Halloween and rather than hold it until next year—by which time we might all be here—Mr. Spectator will run it now. Perhaps this can be called the newest poem in the newest Halloween season which will not show up until October, 1968. OK? Fine. Then here goes with the poem Phyllis Dunn sent in: HALLOWEEN Halloween has a special magic And I am glad that I'm not too old, To enjoy the spooks and the goblins When one night of the year they are bold. They come down the path To knock on my door, And I hear the old chant "TRICK OR TREAT" once more. There are witches and ghosts All over here, a spooky sight; Beautiful fairies, pirates, and clowns For this is their special night. Their mothers are watching From their cars on the street, So the little ones will not get hurt As they come for their treat. The world of children is wonderful And if one day in three hundred sixty five I can treat all my little friends, Then I am glad that I am alive. GIVEAWAY DEPT. There are six small kittens at 2055 Elizabeth Blvd., who need new homes. They are just the right size to make adorable pets and are eating solid food. If anyone is interested please come and see them or we could deliver them within a reasonable distance. The telephone number is 733-8504.

JAMES MARLOW

That Barn Door Is Really Shut

WASHINGTON (AP) — That loud noise in the Senate is from the barn door that slammed when the horse trotted away. The Constitution has never given a president a completely free hand in the foreign field. But about the only real restriction it puts on him is this: Any treaty he makes with a foreign power must be approved by two-thirds of the Senate. Johnson didn't ask Congress for an okay when he sent troops into the Dominican Republic's revolution in 1965 but he did get congressional approval, through the Tonkin resolution, before using troops in Vietnam. But, as noted, Johnson asked precisely for such approval before the Vietnam war began. Yet, what is a "national emergency"? Those words are made of rubber. They could be used to apply to almost anything a president might undertake with a foreign power. As the war began to seem logged down, Putbright and others who had approved the Tonkin resolution became uneasy and critical of Johnson. One of the most memorable complaints came from Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J. Case, who voted for the Tonkin resolution, said Johnson had misused it because he "had taken advantage of the restraint and responsibility of Congress." He called this "highly irresponsible" on Johnson's part. But from what he said next it wouldn't seem Congress showed much responsibility. Just the contrary. Case said "our consent to so sweeping a grant of power was not only a mistake but a failure of responsibility on the part of Congress." This could be interpreted as meaning a self-conscious bunch of senators, ill at ease now for not paying attention to what they were doing, are blaming Johnson for it.

The Underworld

You ask us Chicagoans if we know the names and addresses of the syndicate hoodlums, why don't we arrest them. You ask me how come I can call Tony Accardo and Sam Battaglia and Sam Giancana and Paul Ricca gangsters and not get sued and still they go free, living in luxury. Well, if you're having a hard time understanding this sad circus, imagine the problems we have trying to convince our cynical Chicago children that crime doesn't pay. Recently, and for the first time, the Chicago Crime Commission published a Who's Who in the Chicago underworld. The list, republished in local newspapers, gave names and addresses of 214 leaders or puppets of the mob, plus the names of 42 businesses directly or indirectly controlled by them. Many of the addresses are in the city's plush Gold Coast or in fashionable suburbs, and the "boys" we all know well enough to call by their nicknames still reside there apparently unnoted. How come the black hand of the Mafia can pick the pocket of almost every citizen of Chicago and get away with it? Virgil Peterson, executive director of Chicago's Crime Commission, doubts that any resident or visitor could wait for 24 hours in Chicago without paying tribute to the mob. "Perhaps it's when you dry your hands in the restaurant washroom or when you park your car in a public lot or when you order a beer or put a coin in a vending machine, he check your hat or buy your shirt or laundry or pay your motel bill. It's not like the old days when you had to gamble or buy booze or narcotics or fowlie flesh before Al Capone got his New Tax laws were designed to break up that old gang of his—but they didn't. Required to show a legitimate source for their spending money, they muscled into legitimate business, put themselves in bona fide payoffs. (Highly ironic—Tony Accardo, lastlisted that he is a bona fide citizen. But he is running his quasi-legal, thrate business with the same old strong-arm methods: You

City Officials To Receive Schooling

The Twin Falls Institute for mayors and councilmen will be conducted Dec. 7 and 8 at the Holiday Inn, according to Charles Albani, political science instructor at the College of Southern Idaho.

Such institutes are being presented by the University of Idaho, Idaho State University, the College of Southern Idaho and the College of Idaho in cooperation with the Association of Idaho Cities.

Purpose of the affair is to help newly elected officials gain some perspective of the duties and problems they may face during their tenure in office. The institute is designed to help policy makers deal more effectively with a variety of problems facing the cities of Idaho. It will cover the responsibilities of mayors and councilmen and such subjects as procedure at council meetings, finance, local improvement districts, zoning, annexation, local intergovernmental relations and functional government. Mr. Albani said.

Seventy-five per cent of the funds for this program are from Title I of the Higher Education Facilities Act of 1965.

The state agency in Idaho for Title I is the Idaho State Commission for Higher Education Facilities. Other institutes will be in Moscow, Pocatello and Caldwell, sponsored by the colleges and universities in these cities.

Young Churchill May Run Again

KETTERING, England (AP)—Winston Churchill II says he may try again to become a member of Parliament, perhaps next time in this industrial city.

The 27-year-old grandson of Britain's wartime leader, who lost in his first bid for Parliament this week, said he was determined to follow a political career, but was undecided if he would accept the offer of a Conservative leader to run here.

Churchill lost by several hundred votes in the Manchester district of Gorton to Kenneth Marks of the Labor party.

Your Spine and Your Health

By Dr. Ludwig C. Landwehr

LUMBAGO, which is actually a form of muscular rheumatism, is a low grade inflammation of the muscles and their sheaths. This inflammation naturally extends to the terminal and ings of the nerves controlling the muscles, which makes movement of these structures extremely painful. It is "lumbago" when the condition is located in the lumbar region of the spine.

Dr. Landwehr says the name for curing, higher up, between the ribs or "lumbago" is lower down in the hip region and thighs.

It usually follows overstrain of the involved muscles, or exposure to cold and not at last results as interference with the nerve supply to the affected muscles. The muscles themselves are not subject to the effects of the strain or exposure, while adjacent muscles, receiving a normal supply of vital nerve energy, remain in normal condition.

GRANGEVILLE, Idaho (AP)—Jack W. Saulis, 68, Moses Lake, Wash., was charged Friday with involuntary manslaughter in the Oct. 7 shooting death of George T. Smith, 31, Mount Shasta, Calif.

EMPLOYEES OF 2 FEDERAL UNITS ARE FACING PAYLESS PAYDAY
WASHINGTON (AP)—Nearly 11,000 employees of two major federal agencies face the prospect their next payday will be payless.

Congress has yet to approve 1967-68 budgets for the Office of Economic Development, which runs the program on behalf of the Agency for International Development, headquarters for the foreign-aid program.

And the House and Senate are still far apart on terms of a resolution to restore to the two agencies stop-gap financing authority that expired Oct. 23. Their next scheduled payday is Nov. 14.

OEO has more than 2,700 employees. Besides being unable to meet its payroll, it faces a cut-off of funds for allotments to trainees in Job Corps camps and to their families.

DISMISSAL UPHHELD

BOISE (AP)—The Idaho Supreme Court upheld Friday its ruling that the driving charge against a North Idaho man on grounds the complaint was defective.

The Supreme Court said violation-complaints charging violation of state law must be brought in the name of the state. The reckless driving charge against Robert Bulgan of Sandpoint was filed in the name of the City of Sandpoint.

Bulgan was convicted in justice of the peace court in Priest River, but he appealed to Bonner County District Court. The latter ruled that justice court lacked jurisdiction and dismissed the complaint.

DIRECTOR NEEDED
BLACKFOOT (AP)—A higher salary for the State Hospital North superintendent's position has been suggested to the Idaho State Board of Health as a means to fill the vacant post.

"With no superintendent or psychiatrist on the scene, the situation at State Hospital North is serious," said state mental health director Dr. Myrick Pullen Friday.

Pullen reported at the board's final session of its three-day meeting and said he had been unsuccessful so far in attempts to find a new superintendent or psychiatrist for the Orofino institution.

The chairman of the State Mental Health Advisory Council, Lon Davis of Nampa, said the State Hospital North question was the most crucial to come before the board at present.

EXPENSES TOTALED
BOISE (AP)—State expenses from general and special funds during October totaled more than $30 million, Idaho State Auditor Joe R. Williams said Friday.

That amount included $3,354,750 from the general fund and $27,247,781 from special state funds, Williams said.

State expenses in October, 1966, were $26.5 million. Expenses by the state so far this biennium, which began July 1, are $12,785,338 from the general fund and $93,996,577, Williams said.

ACCIDENTS KILL 17
BOISE (AP)—Farm accidents killed 17 persons in Idaho during the first nine months of 1967, Howard Tankersley, secretary of the Idaho Farm Safety Committee, said Saturday.

He estimated that 1,200 persons were injured in similar accidents. He said "Injuries or deaths sustained during the harvest seasons are not included in the totals."

Operation of tractors or other farm machinery accounted for 13 of the deaths, he said. Gooding, Clearwater, Jerome and Blingham counties had two accidents each, farm deaths each in the nine-month period, Tankersley said.

GRANT APPROVED
BOISE (AP)—A conditional grant of $250,000 to aid in construction of a proposed new library for the city of Boise has been approved by the Idaho State Library Board.

Chairman Robert N. W. Bullington, Twin Falls, said the grant is contingent of passage of $1.9 million bond issue in the city's Nov. 7 municipal election.

Announcement of the grant came after confirmation of Idaho's allotment of $164,177 in federal library construction funds by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

By PETER ARNETT
LOC NINH, Vietnam (AP)—The Communists may be trying to establish a "second front" in Vietnam with their drawn-out military offensive in the rubber-growing district of Loc Ninh, which faces the Cambodian frontier.

That is the consensus of many military observers. They are beginning to discount the initial theory that the Communists were merely seeking a quick propaganda victory when they began to attack this isolated district headquarters last weekend.

Like the demilitarized zone, the "first front" of the Vietnam war, Loc Ninh is in a remote region with terrain favorable to the enemy, and a sanctuary nearby, this time in Cambodia.

The North Vietnamese have succeeded in sucking a whole U.S. Marine Division into a holding action along the DMZ, pounding forward Leatherneck outfits daily with mortars and artillery.

Almost as many U.S. infantry men will be committed to Loc Ninh if the battle continues much longer. Already, two U.S. battalions are deployed in the area.

U.S. intelligence officers find prisoners and documents captured so far give conflicting assessments of the enemy aims.

One group of prisoners said their mission was to "take Loc Ninh at any cost." Another group said their mission was to "engage Americans in battle." A third said the Loc Ninh battles heralded the beginning of a "winter spring offensive."

Whatever the true situation, the Communists have shown unusual tenacity and determination around Loc Ninh.

U.S. authorities said 800 Communists had been killed by Friday in the series of actions, including casualties inflicted by air and artillery.

Allied losses were given as 11 Americans killed and 66 wounded; 23 Vietnamese killed and 74 wounded.

U.S. officers said all reports Friday indicated the Communists were still "in an offensive stance."

This stance included the presence of the 272nd Regiment, a sister regiment to the 273rd in the 9th Division. U.S. intelligence indicates that 70 per cent of this formerly full Viet Cong division is now comprised of North Vietnamese.

Since early this year the Communists have been building up their strength, particularly in the past two months.

U.S. intelligence officers were aware of the buildup and it was evident that sooner or later, American troops would have to tangle with the Communists. The Communists decided to move first.

Blk Long Province in which Loc Ninh is situated, is one of the poorest in Vietnam despite its rubber output. Only 80,000 people live in the whole province, 20,000 of these in Loc Ninh. Most work on rubber plantations. The province is at the end of a Communist supply line that runs from the Sihanoukville port of state of wovody neutral Cambodia. The supply line runs from the Ho Chi Minh trail through eastern Laos down the Cambodian border. North Vietnamese prisoners captured in recent days say they infiltrated into Vietnam through Cambodia.

U.S. intelligence has believed that the remnants of the Communist 9th Division are based in South Vietnam, but receive supplies and reinforcements from across the border.

First Generator Of Hells Canyon Dam Will Be Flipped On Sunday Afternoon

HELLS CANYON (AP)—With a flip of a switch, the first generator of the Idaho Power Company's $250-million Snake River Hells Canyon Dam on the Snake River will begin producing electricity Sunday afternoon.

Idaho Power Board Chairman T. E. Roach will put the generator into operation in ceremonies marking near-completion of the company's three-dam complex on the Snake where it forms the border between Idaho and Oregon.

Two earlier dams, Brownlee and Oxbow, went into production in 1959 and 1961, respectively. Full utilization of the Hells Canyon Dam will not be until early 1968 when all three generator units on the concrete dam are hooked up.

Total output of the three dams will be 1.1 million kilowatts, the company said.

Construction of the three-dam complex began in 1955 amid a famous public versus private power controversy which involved proposed construction of a single, high federal dam at the Hells Canyon site.

The Federal Power Commission granted Idaho Power a license to build the three dams in 1955. The issue was contested in the U.S. Supreme Court which later upheld the FPC ruling.

The development, stretching 100 miles from the upstream end of Brownlee Reservoir to the Hells Canyon site, has quadrupled the company's generation capacity, a spokesman said.

In remarks prepared for delivery at ceremonies preceding operation of the generator, Roach said:

"This beginning of power production means that after years of overcoming roadblocks, controversy and difficult construction, we are at last within sight of our goal of completing a great new source of electricity to help pace the economic progress of our area and the entire Pacific northwest."

The power, once generation is under way, will be sent on transmission lines running up the Oregon side of the canyon to a staging area eight miles to the west.

Annual Buffalo Hunt Is Held In Wyoming Region

DUBOIS, Wyo. (AP)—At the 8,000-foot level in Wyoming, wildernes the leaves have turned red and gold against the pine-studded hillsides. The peaks show white snowcaps, while patches of ice form in slow spots along the twisting Wind River.

This was the setting recently for the seventh annual Dubois Buffalo Hunt in the Snake River Valley toward a small herd of buffalo.

The hunting party moved quietly through the privately owned meadows of the valley to a group of aspens where the small herd had been grazing. From the edge of the grove, the herd could be seen silhouetted in a grassy clearing.

About 100 yards from the herd, Warren H. Baker, a trucking firm owner from Willows, Calif., dropped to one knee and sighted in on the largest animal, a massive, 8-year-old bull that weighed nearly a ton. Next to Baker stood his two back-up riflemen, ready to drop the animal should he be wounded and charge the hunters.

The silence of the mountain air was shattered by Baker's first shot, a miss. The herd galloped a half-mile down the valley.

The hunting party finally caught the herd again on the edge of a large meadow. Baker's shot caught the big bull in the side, near the head. Struck, the buffalo took three more shots before falling to the ground.

Baker had himself a trophy. After hunting elk in Wyoming for 15 years, Baker said he was delighted to join the small club whose members can claim to have shot a buffalo.

Four Men Running For 2 Posts In Rupert City Election Tuesday

RUPERT — Running for two-year terms on the city council are Clark Cameron, Grover Newman, both incumbents, and Charles Dalry and E. V. Dal Soglio.

Grover Newman has been a resident of Rupert for the past 21 years. Since 1947 he has been a teacher in the Minnetonka county schools.

He has served as VFW commander, president of Toastmasters Club, president of the Minnetonka County Teachers Association, a member of the PTA since he began working in education.

Mr. Newman established the local National Guard Unit and served as commander for 24 years.

At present, he is a member of the Elks Lodge, Idaho Woolgrowers Association, stockholder in the Rupert Development Corp., and a Major in the Army Reserve. During World War II he served four years in the Army.

Mr. Newman is finishing a four-year term as councilman in charge of the water and sewer fund notes that additional sewer facilities are planned which will be financed with revenue already raised from sewer charges and there will be no extra bonds or tax assessments.

"My chief campaign promise when running for this office four years ago was to hold the city against additional taxes. We have been able to increase city services and the actual cost has decreased. This can be attributed to good management and old fashioned thrift."

"We started upgrading the police department in 1964. The crime and vandalism rate and traffic accident rate in Rupert have dropped. The savings from crime, vandalism, auto damage has offset the increased cost in the expansion of the police department."

Clark Cameron who is finishing the term of Wayne Holbeck who resigned, has resided in Rupert for 23 years and has operated his own business here since 1950.

Mr. Cameron has served as mayor of Rupert in 1948 and 1949. Lions Club president, two terms as president of the Rupert Chamber of Commerce, district chairman of Boy Scouts of Minnetonka District, chairman of Minnetonka County hospital board for three and a half years during the promotion and construction of the new hospital.

He was a director for two years of Intermountain Association of Hardware and Implement Dealers, bishop and counselor in First and Third LDS wards in Rupert.

"I am particularly interested in consistent progress and growth of the community in keeping with the ability of the community to meet its obligations. I have a special interest in the youth of the community as affected by the recreational facilities or program that the city provides," he notes.

E. V. Dal Soglio has lived in Rupert and operated his own business here for 13 years. He and his wife have two children. He has been a member of the fire department for 13 years, previously held membership in the Chamber of Commerce and belongs to PTA.

During World War II he served with the Army for four years and spent part of that time in Germany.

Mr. Dal Soglio says, "I am not going to make any rash promises. There has been a lot of spending done that I think could have been spent on some other things. There are things that bear looking into."

Charles Dalry and his wife have two children. He is employed at Lott Electric, has served with the National Guard, a fireman for 13 years, and belongs to the Kiwanis Club, the Kiwanis Club, and is a member of the Lutheran Church.

Mr. Dalry states, "I am asking the voters of the city of Rupert to support me in the upcoming city election. I am interested in city of Rupert programs," he added.

range planning is as vital as taking care of today's needs."

Being a resident of the county for over 30 years, a resident of Rupert for 13 years and having been employed by the city for 5 years, I feel I have a good understanding of the problems," he added.

4 Give Pleas In Savings Firm Case

BOISE (AP) — D. Spencer Grow, Provo, Utah, and three other men accused of felonies in the Idaho Savings and Loan Association case entered innocent pleas in Fourth District Court Friday.

They are among six persons indicted last summer by an Ada County grand jury. They are accused of falsifying corporate records of the Idaho Savings and Loan Association, now defunct.

One of the six, Horace E. Hayes, Preston, was not present and a continuance of his arraignment until Monday was granted by Judge Merrill S. Young.

Another, Alexander H. Walker Jr., Salt Lake City, faces an extradition hearing Nov. 14 before Utah Gov. Calvin Rampton.

Besides Grow, these arraigning pleas Friday were: Duane Kniggo, Boise, Ernest Garrett, McCammon, and Harold E. Hogan, Eagle.

Dates for trial will be set on Monday.

The association closed its doors July 6, 1966. It has been in the hands of the Idaho Department of Finance since.

Testimony Given In Texas Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate investigators have heard conflicting testimony that some anti-poverty workers in Houston were fomenters of racial violence and also undercover spies for the city's mayor.

The spy charge came Friday as Walter H. Richter, southwest regional director of the Office of Economic Opportunity, told the Senate permanent investigation subcommittee in a written statement.

"Several times when we were inclined to question activities of certain employees, it was developed that they were doing undercover work for the community action office and even the mayor's office."

Richter denied earlier testimony by Houston Mayor Louis Welch that persons on the local OEO payroll actively promoted racial tension and violence.

Welch rejected Richter's account and an aide said one of the persons Richter identified as an undercover agent "never did any cooling off" during Houston's months-of-racial-trouble last summer.

The trouble exploded into violence May 16 when a gun battle broke out on the campus of Texas Southern University. One policeman was killed and five persons were injured.

HEYBURN — The winner of the contest between Harold Hurst, current chairman of the Heyburn village board, and W. I. Duff, owner of Master Painters and Decorators, in Tuesday's municipal election will become the first mayor of Heyburn.

The local election is proving to be one of the liveliest in Magic Valley, with nine candidates seeking four posts. Only Burley and Twin Falls, where there are 11 candidates each, have more persons seeking office in the elections being held in every city in Idaho Tuesday.

The five persons seeking the two, four-year councilman posts include J. R. Brown and Jack Strauss, both incumbents, as well as Ivan Eliason, Glen Tilley and C. Fred Dayley.

Competing for the one two-year term are Mrs. L. L. Greenhalgh, former board member, and Bob Hambleton.

Voting will be held between noon and 8 p.m. Tuesday in the police judge's office east of the city office.

Mr. Hurst, an American government teacher at Minico High School, is a 14-year veteran on the city council and has been instrumental in achieving a city building code, electrical code, plumbing code and recodifying all city ordinances.

Mr. Hurst was graduated from Declo High School and attended the former Southern Idaho College of Education, Albion, and the University of Idaho, Moscow. He served in World War II and was honored for bravery under fire. He holds a MA degree in education. He serves as LDS bishop for Heyburn LDS Ward and was recently elected to the board of directors for the Association of Idaho Cities.

W. I. Duff came to Idaho in 1912 and has lived in Heyburn six years. He was graduated from Paul High School and attended four years apprenticeship training in painting in California. His wife, the former Evona Hopley, Heyburn, assists in the painting and decorating business.

He believes in rotating leaders in government as it gives the city a "shot in the arm."

"Heyburn is the biggest business in Heyburn, and it should be run as a business," he said. "There's no need to make laws unless you enforce them. I think something can be done about a certain slum area here, and it should be done," he stressed.

Mr. Duff is a member of the Knife and Fork club and the Heyburn Masonic Lodge.

Mr. Brown was born in Arkansas and has been a resident here 18 years. He filled the unexpired term of Duane Moosa and was elected to a term, having served six years.

He feels that Heyburn has a great potential and would like to be a part of achieving this.

Mr. Brown, who has served on irrigation, has helped get about two-thirds of the city's irrigation diked underground.

Mr. Brown owns and operates Brownie's Repair and is a member of the Heyburn Rotary.

- HOW I STAND ON URBAN RENEWAL—The people of Twin Falls who are not directly affected by Urban Renewal should be allowed to vote on the issue.
- HOW I STAND ON THE CITY MANAGER—I'm for the city manager form of government but do feel that a study should be made into the possibility of reducing the number of subordinate positions in all departments.
- HOW I STAND ON STREETS AND ROADS—Twin Falls needs better streets, especially in some areas. Our industries, of which we have a limited number, should at least have a paved access to their premises. There are also many residential areas which should and could be improved.
- HOW I STAND ON INDUSTRY—Twin Falls needs good industry. We should not only have the space and facilities available, but we should actively solicit good industry into our valley, and especially our town, to make this a better Twin Falls.
- HOW I STAND ON WATER—We should look into the possibility of making the water and sanitation payment being made into the form of a tax which would allow us to take an income tax deduction.

Urban Renewal Chairman Speaks Out On Project Area In Downtown Twin Falls

By FRED DODDS
Times-News Staff Writer

The chairman of the Twin Falls Urban Renewal Agency, Voy Hudson, Saturday said "uninformed candidates have created confusion on urban renewal" for the voters who will cast ballots in next Tuesday's city election.

"Urban renewal needs no defense, it can stand on its own merits. But when uninformed candidates make statements that are not factual, we (the urban renewal agency) feel obligated to bring out the truth."

In making his statement, Mr. Hudson listed laws involved in the Twin Falls downtown area urban renewal project. Plans and ways to finance the project may be presented to the city council in December or early January.

A story on the project, estimated cost and location of the project was published in the Times-News last week.

Mr. Hudson said some city council candidates have "implied that $84,000 has been spent by the city on surveys to determine our urban renewal needs. This is not right." He went on to say the city has not spent "one red cent" for urban renewal studies in Twin Falls. The money spent is a grant from the federal government, with about $70,000 spent to date on studies, planning, administration, rent and salaries. A grant of $84,001 was originally given the agency by the government. The difference between $84,001 and $70,000 remains to pay for the costs of future commitments. Another $28,291 has been asked for, but has not been allocated by the government. The additional is needed to complete studies, Mr. Hudson said.

"We on the agency feel we are getting good service for the money spent. We've stretched nine months of money to nearly 20 months."

Other points mentioned by Mr. Hudson included: Urban renewal agency members are appointed by the city council and can be removed from office by city council members.

The city council governs and rules on all urban renewal proposals after open public hearings.

The urban renewal agency is no different than other city boards such as highway, airport, parks and recreation or library, where appointments are made.

He said the city council has more control over an appointed board than an elected board.

Voters do not have a vote on the urban renewal program, but do have a chance to voice opinions at an open public hearing on any urban renewal project. Citizens do have the right to call a referendum vote on any urban renewal proposal, as they have the right on any subject.

Urban renewal officials must adhere to federal, state and local law regarding their authority.

Mr. Hudson said private property is never confiscated, but acquired with fair compensation and the owner has the right to appeal to court.

He added the urban renewal agency does "not only offer the owner a fair market value for his property, but assists him in finding a new location for his business within or outside the project area." He said the agency pays 100 per cent of moving expenses up to $25,000. The business has an opportunity to relocate in the project area.

Loan information may be obtained at the local urban renewal office.

Urban renewal in Twin Falls does not encompass five miles beyond the city limits. It has jurisdiction only for the project area itself, and then only with city council approval.

"More than 1,000 cities in the United States are happy with their finished urban renewal projects," he said.

Mr. Hudson said people with questions may consult with him, other members of the agency, or James Kelsch, executive director of the urban renewal project in Twin Falls.

"Urban renewal is no different here than a local improvement district, or a bond election. Improvement of downtown is progress, and anyone who is against the agency I feel is against progress in Twin Falls."

These four men . . . long-time residents and successful Twin Falls businessmen deserve our support . . . and yours!

- THEY ARE COMMITTED TO THE FOLLOWING:
1. To continue to do those things that are necessary in the life of Twin Falls that will contribute to a strong and vigorous future. They are proud of a good sewer system; a safe and plentiful supply of water; a good library, good city streets, fine and well cared for parks; an adequate youth recreational program and many other essential city services.
 2. They are committed to equal or excel the outstanding fiscal record that this city has maintained. Our bonds command a lower interest rate; our city operates on a CASH BASIS rather than paying interest on borrowed money; We have lived within our city budget. THE MILL LEVY HAS BEEN REDUCED!
 3. They will support and defend the "City Manager Form of City Government." They are convinced that an experienced, full-time, professional city manager—under the direction and control of a well-informed and intelligent City Council will save the city money. It will operate more efficiently than an inexperienced mayor who is constantly subjected to the whims and demands of that portion of the electorate which does not necessarily represent the thinking of the majority or the best interests of the city as a whole.
 4. They will dedicate themselves to HONEST AND SENSIBLE CITY GOVERNMENT. They will maintain city affairs in such a manner that will prevent police scandals and abuses; avoid questionable financial transactions and insist that all phases of city operation be conducted openly and THAT ALL RECORDS BE AVAILABLE FOR PUBLIC EXAMINATION!

DEMOCRACY IS THE WILL OF THE MAJORITY . . . LET'S STAND UP AND BE COUNTED WITH OUR VOTES TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 7TH.

SAMPLES OF SEWAGE coming into the Twin Falls Sewage Treatment plant from city lines and of the effluent from the plant are compared by Superintendent Earl Fullmer. All sewage is 99 per cent water, he said, but sediment in the beaker at left shows the contamination while the beaker at right shows the cleaned effluent. Until the plant went into service in 1962, raw sewage went directly from city lines into Rock Creek and then into Snake River.

Operation Of City Sewer Plant Is Explained By Superintendent

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News Staff Writer

An experiment started this summer by Earl Fullmer, superintendent of the Twin Falls sewage treatment plant in Snake River canyon, has resulted in a saving of approximately $3 per day in chlorination and, the superintendent feels, proven an important point.

For some time, Mr. Fullmer had been looking at the water which the Perrine coulee spills over the south rim of the canyon and wondering if he could put it to use.

The water, which falls some 300 feet, whipped by canyon breezes, is just about as aerated as water can get, Mr. Fullmer said. It drips to rocks as the canyon wall flattens out and rushes into a culvert and on to the river.

Near this point, one of the three main sewer collection lines enters the canyon from the eastern part of the city.

With city engineering and city manager approval, Mr. Fullmer purchased $40 worth of pipe, placed one end of it in the stream at the bottom of the canyon and piped the other into the main sewer line.

By piping this highly oxygenated water into the treatment plant, Mr. Fullmer said the oxygen combines with bacteria which are working on the sewage treatment process and eliminates much waste and putrefaction from the entire process.

By using the aerated water, he said, less chlorine is required in the plant's effluent as it reaches the river. Throughout the time coulee water was used extensive tests were made to check chlorine content requirements.

While this is only a temporary measure, because during irrigation season the Perrine coulee contains too much mud to be used, the experiment does prove that a big saving could be achieved by installing equipment at the plant to continue the aeration process.

At the present time the local treatment plant is processing about three million gallons of sewage per day, which is only about one fourth of its capacity, Mr. Fullmer said. It was designed to handle 12 million gallons per day and about the peak capacity since it went into service in 1962 has been eight million gallons per day when heavy rains filled streets and gutters and resulted in run off into sewers.

"Except for the meters and gauges registering higher readings, we would not have known the plant was operating at a higher capacity," he said.

"Peak days are Monday, when automatic washers are being used, and often on Fridays, Mr. Fullmer added.

Water being discharged into Snake River has almost no bacteria in it because of the treatment process and the chlorine.

"If it had bacteria," the superintendent said, "the Health Department would make us stop discharging into the river until the situation was corrected."

"There is very little waste at the treatment plant. It produces some 1,100,000 cubic feet per month of methane or "sewer" gas which must be burned.

Some of this is burned in furnaces and heats both the treatment plant building and the superintendent's home adjacent to the plant. The remaining excess gas is burned by other means as it must be eliminated, Mr. Fullmer explained.

The plant also produces 30 to 35 tons of sludge each year. This is the material taken from sewage through the treatment process and dried in beds where it can be collected. This is then used to fertilize the grounds around the plant and to fertilize city parks, the golf course and the lawns of the city administration building. Utilizing these products saves the city thousands of dollars over a period of years, Mr. Fullmer explained.

Studies now under way may result in revisions in the future which will require all municipalities and industries to treat their sewage by secondary treatment plants before discharging effluent into Snake River. This has come about because of many processors sending sludge material into the river from their plants and from their primary treatment facilities.

In this event, cities will be asked to meet the same standard of equipment, Mr. Fullmer said. Although the present plant is not operating at capacity or even near capacity, it would be required to change to the secondary system.

Politician Hoffman Dies At 92

ALLEGAN, Mich. (AP) — When Republican — Clair E. Hoffman was first elected to Congress in 1934, he told his family he wasn't interested in serving. He had been drafted to run in the first place.

After he finally gave in to the pleadings of his political supporters, Washington became his favorite battleground. For the next 28 years, until his retirement in 1962, Hoffman was known as one of the most colorful and controversial men in Congress. He died Friday night in an Allegan hospital at the age of 92.

No one ever accused Hoffman of "contracting" politics. He never attended a capital cocktail party or took part in congressional "inspection tour" junkets to far-off countries. Friends said Hoffman "spent 28 years in Washington without changing his old habits . . . or his mind."

Through the years, Hoffman became known as a rugged indi-vidualist and a "lone wolf" on Capitol Hill. A staunch conservative and a strong supporter of the late Sen. Robert Taft, R-Ohio, Hoffman was proud of the part he played in helping draft the Taft-Hartley Labor Law.

As chairman of a labor subcommittee in 1943-44, Hoffman dug into labor union racketeering covering much of the ground probed by Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., 15 years later. Hoffman is survived by his widow, the former Florence Wasson, and two sons, Carl and Leo, both Allegan attorneys.

Education Cost Going Up Rapidly

WASHINGTON (AP) — The cost of higher education is increasing so rapidly that by the time a college student becomes a senior he can expect to pay 15 per cent more for tuition, fees, room and board than he did as a freshman.

This was disclosed in a survey released Friday by the National Association of State Universities and Land Grant Colleges. It stated that four-fifths of the nation's public colleges and universities increased tuition and other fees this year.

Senior men attending these institutions now are paying $1,112 in total costs compared to $968 for the same items when they were freshmen. Women paid an average of $980 as freshmen and are paying $1,141 as seniors. Most universities charge women more for rooms.

Many institutions said they had to raise charges because state legislatures failed to appropriate enough funds. Others cite rising costs of food, labor and construction.

"The implication to be drawn from the rising charges by public colleges and universities," an association official said, "is that public education in America — it was once known as disappearing."

He noted that Land-Grant colleges and universities were founded to enable in-state students to obtain an education at minimum rates.

Eye-Catching Contests In Coming Elections Viewed

There are signs of discontent over Vietnam, over some domestic programs and over government costs and taxes at all levels. Question: How may this affect straight Democratic-Republican clashes? White Runs For 256 Yards To Lead Weber To 28-17 Decision Over Vandals

OGDEN, Utah (AP) — Lee White ran a total of 256 yards in 45 carries in front of a bullish Weber State offensive line as the Wildcats got a 28-17 Big Sky Conference football victory over Idaho Saturday.

Yale Surges To Win Over Dartmouth

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Reluctant Yale scored touchdowns the first four times it had the ball and shocked Dartmouth 56-16 to take over undisputed first place in Ivy League football Saturday.

The passing-running wizardry of Yale quarterback Brian Dowling who hit five passes in a row during the Yale explosion start was matched by the brilliant performance of the Yale defense. The victory assured Yale coach Carmen Cozza of his first winning season in three years as head coach.

Dartmouth, now 5-1 in all games, was pinned deep in its own territory by the Bulldog defense while quarterback Dowling directed Yale to a 28-0 lead in the first 17 minutes.

Dowling passed for a 67-yard touchdown to end Bruce Wolstein and ran for another touchdown from 30 yards out. Dowling wrecked an injury plagued Dartmouth defense which had given up only 45 points in five previous games.

Yale, beaten by Holy Cross in its season opener, now has a 5-1 record, including the only unbeaten Ivy League mark of 4-0. Dartmouth, Harvard, and Princeton each have lost one. Yale still must face Penn, Princeton and Harvard.

Yale fullback Don Barrows scored the first three times Yale had the ball. He twice played for two yards and his other TD came from one yard out. The Yale defense set up each score, by allowing Dartmouth a first down and by forcing two Dartmouth fumbles.

Vitriolic Wins Futurity, Ices Crown

LAUREL, Md. (AP) — Ogeden Phipps' Vitriolic, another son of the great sire Bold Ruler, sowed up the season's juvenile championship at Laurel Race course Saturday with a victory in the $180,870 Pimlico-Laurel Futurity.

Controlled by his regular rider Braulio Baeza, Vitriolic was last at the half-mile pole and then produced late speed in winning by three lengths from Swamazon Farm's T.V. Commercial.

The winner, coupled with Wheatley Stable's What A Pleasure as the Eclipse-trained entry, paid $320, $210 and $210 and created a minus show pool of $1,388. T.V. Commercial paid $2,600 and $2,100 as the second choice.

Two lengths behind T.V. Commercial, Harbor View Stable's Family Fun finished third and Stanley E. Hubbard's Gin-Rob crossed the finish line in fourth position.

However, Robert Ussery, rider of the latter, claimed foul against Family Fun and Pete Anderson and the stewards reversed the order of finish. Therefore Gin-Rob paid $2,100 to the winner.

The mile-and-a-half race was around one turn and over a good track and Vitriolic posted 1:45 1/5, which is 1 1/5 seconds off the track record, set by Bold Commander when a 3-year-old.

"He runs where it counts," said Baeza, in the winner's circle while awaiting the trophy presentation ceremony. "In the stretch, he performs his best this way and that's the way we want it. He improves from race to race."

The winner's share of the Pimlico-Laurel Futurity purse was $113,015 and increased Vitriolic's earnings to $429,895.

Late Scores Give Tulsa 14-0 Win

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — A rough sticky turf stymied the defenses of both teams but Tulsa's late scoring helped them to a 14-0 win in the fourth quarter to defeat Wichita State 14-0 in a Missouri Valley Conference football game Saturday.

Tulsa, one of the nation's leading offensive teams, solved the problem of the treacherous footing in the last period. The Hurricane's first touchdown came on a drive of 71 yards in nine plays.

Tulsa used the running of fullback Coe Ellison and halfback Joe Fitzgerald to set up the 37-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Mike Stripling to end, Harry Wood. The score came 1:31 remaining. The Hurricane scored again with 8:30 to go as tailback Fitzgerald ran 37 yards, capping a 67-yard drive.

drives with touchdowns, two of them short-range. Each of the fullback's yardage gains was preceded by a wide hole in the line.

Idaho defense carved by the tough Weber offensive squad. Weber was behind until the fourth quarter when the ever-present White slammed over for a 1-yard touchdown, followed by a last-minute 21-yard pass play from quarterback Paul White to wingback Phil Tuckett waiting in the end zone.

Idaho's new center from fullback Jim Pearsall, who scored on a 53-yard run in the second play of the game. He made a second TD on a 2-yard dash

Kansas Nips State In Last Six Minutes

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — Bill Bell's 30-yard field goal with six minutes left rescued Kansas 17-10 over U.N.D. at the Kansas State Saturday after Kansas State jumped ahead on Art Strozier's great one-handed catch and run for a 69-yard TD.

The victory kept upstart Kansas in first place in the zany Big Eight football title race, while K-State is 0-4. But the Wildcats gave the Jayhawks a mighty scare in the best played Kansas-Kansas State game in a quarter century before a record series crowd of 44,500.

The game had a spectacular first half. K-State dominated the third period with inspired defensive play, twice threatening to take Larry Dercher and end Jon Zook of Kansas stopped one yard inches short at the Kansas 14. Mike Bruhin's 24-yard field goal try was wide on the second drive.

The game came the great play by tight end Strozier with 1:31 left in the third period and K-State seemed headed for its first victory over Kansas since 1955 and first league victory since 1964.

Quarterback Bob Douglass led Kansas on 0 and 37 yard drives in the first half with his deadly passing and 27 and 31 yard runs. Little Bill Nosske, K-State quarterback, was a 5-7 passer on an 80-yard TD drive and 4-4-5 on a 69-yard drive to a field goal.

A blocked extra point by middle guard Emery Hicks of Kansas after the first K-State touchdown proved to be decisive.

Badger Rally Fails, Indiana Wins Seventh

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — Unbeaten Indiana, ranked 7 nationally, survived a last-minute charge by winless Wisconsin in a Big Ten battle and took a shaky seventh straight football victory Saturday, 14-0.

Harry Gosko, Indiana's sophomore quarterback, passed 15 yards to John Leisnerger for a first quarter touchdown at the end of a 30-yard drive.

Mike Perry, No. 2 Indiana quarterback, was running the show when the Hoosiers had to travel only 27 yards in their winning touchdown drive in the third quarter. Brown Moore had intercepted a pass from Wisconsin's John Bonajian to set up Mike Krivoshia plunged the last yard.

Wisconsin's Tom Schjake kicked a 27-yard field goal in the second quarter and Boyajian ran two yards for a touchdown in the fourth quarter.

The Badger's touchdown capped a 65-yard drive featuring runs of 12 and 13 yards by Gale Buccierelli and a 10-yard pass from Boyajian to Mel Reddick.

Wisconsin tried a pass for two extra points and failed but it came back in the last two minutes with an aerial attack that reached the Indiana 10 when time ran out.

through the Wildcat line. There was a round of applause from the 8,100 fans as Idaho's kicking specialist Darrell Danielson kicked true for a 45-yard field goal. Danielson also made good each Vandal conversion.

N.C. State Overwhelms Virginia 30-8

CHARLOTTEVILLE, Va. (AP) — North Carolina State's versatile Wolfpack added lustre to its No. 4 national ranking Saturday with a 30-8 Atlantic Coast Conference football victory over Virginia that ran its record for the season to 8-0.

The passing of quarterback Jim Donnan, a 85-yard punt return by Fred Combs and three field goals by Gerald Warren electrified the crowd of approximately 16,000.

Warren's field goals brought his season total to 13, an ACC season record. Combs' run came after he took Braxton Hill's punt on his 15 and galloped for State's second score with 7:28 gone in the second quarter.

Donnan hit Bobby Hall with passes good for 48 yards and 40 yards which set up two State touchdowns in the third quarter. Virginia's lone touchdown came with 5:08 left in the game when Stan Kemp hit end Joe Horne with a pass from 14 yards out.

Bobcats Drop Montana, Win Big Sky Title

MISSOULA (AP) — Montana State back Don Haas and Don Erickson drove four and one yards for second quarter touchdowns Saturday, then their Bobcat defense put down a University of Montana comeback in the fourth quarter to beat the Grizzlies 14-8 and win their second straight undisputed Big Sky Conference football championship.

The Grizzlies, down 14-0 at halftime, came roaring back in the third quarter on the passing of quarterback Ed Steiner. Steiner hit halfback Rick Strauss on a 38-yard pass and ran play to the Bobcat eight, then hit Strauss again in the end zone for the Grizzly touchdown.

Ed Steiner again passed to Strauss for two points to make it 14-8.

The Grizzly comeback continued. When John Stedham recovered a Hass fumble late in the Bobcat 31, Montana drove to the Bobcat two before the Bobcats' Wayne Pitzer and Earl Hanson stopped Steiner on a fourth down sneak play.

The Grizzlies threatened again after that but the Bobcat defense had wound the combination and the comeback was stopped.

Montana State turned an intercepted pass and a fumble recovery into touchdowns in the first half. The running of Little All-American halfback Haas — 299 yards on 42 carries — keyed the Bobcat offense. Haas got key yardage late in the fourth quarter and literally ran the Bobcats out of trouble.

Princeton Takes 48-14 Triumph

PRINCETON, N. J. (AP) — Sophomore fullback Ellis Moore and reserve tailbacks Dick Brackeen and Scott MacBrien ran and passed Princeton to a 48-14 Ivy League football victory over Brown Saturday.

Brackeen touched off a 47-yard afternoon for the Tigers with a 57-yard touchdown gallop on Princeton's third play from scrimmage. He also scored late in the third period on a one-yard sweep and again in the final minute of play from five yards out.

Moore, who picked up 134 yards in 29 carries also scored twice on a one-yard drive and a 10-yard burst around right end.

Notre Dame Smothers Navy In 43-14 Romp

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Notre Dame's 10th ranked Irish pounded error-prone Navy for four touchdowns in the second Navy.

In the 28-point second period, the Middles helped scuttle themselves with two face-mask grabbing penalties, a nine-yard punt and an intercepted pass. Playing only the first half, Notre Dame's Terry Hanratty plumped for one touchdown and flipped a 10-yard scoring pass to Jim Seymour and Rock Blom or smashed for two Irish touchdowns on a pair of two-yard runs. Navy's only comfort came as the Middle offense scored its first touchdown against Notre Dame since the last Navy triumph over the Irish in 1953 by a 35-14 score.

That came early in the third quarter, with Navy trailing 35-0, as quarterback John Cartwright smashed one yard to cap a 25-yard maddie drive after recovery of an Irish fumble.

Cartwright, who flopped as a touted passing rival of Hanratty, also scored on a one-yard drive when Navy mustered a 58-yard march in the fourth period.

TCU pushed across touchdowns in the first, third and fourth periods and held a 9-7 lead at halftime on the basis of a second-quarter field goal. Baylor covered a TCU fumble into its lone touchdown in the second quarter Bill Dowdall recovered a Frog miscue at the TCU 21 and, despite a 15-yard holding penalty, Alvin Flynn took the Bears to the end zone with a 22-yard scoring pass to Gary Alexander.

San Diego City College handed Boise College its fourth defeat of the season Saturday, 44-21, in junior college football.

Boise scored first in the first quarter when Hal Zimmerman plumped from the one and Andy Edeger converted.

San Diego's Dave Tucker kicked a 15-yard field goal in the second quarter. Then, Boise took its 14-3 halftime lead when Zimmerman rammed over from the one again and Edeger kicked again in the third quarter with two TD's and four more in the final period.

Tennessee quarterback Dewey Warren threw twice for touchdowns to end Mike Gooch and quarterback Bub Wyche completed one scoring pass to Ken Delong.

Spartan quarterback Dave Saladino hit 15 of 42 passes for 159 yards but an attempt to score was intercepted by an end zone interception.

When Tampa moved to the Vols' 28-yard line in the closing minutes of the second quarter, Roy Tice missed on a field goal attempt and the only other threat was ended when Tampa fumbled at Tennessee's 32-yard line.

Two Lead Pistons Past Baltimore

Auburn Stuns Florida With 3 Fast Scores

AUBURN, Ala. (AP) — Explosive Auburn scored 20 points in a 3-minute outburst in the 3rd quarter with the help of two blocked punts, and nipped Florida 28-21 Saturday behind the quarterbacking of Loren Carter, who scored twice and tossed two touchdown passes.

The Tigers' comeback triumph in the Southeastern Conference battle knocked Florida out of the title chase and kept Auburn's slim championship hopes alive. Auburn boosted its SEC record to 2-1 and Florida's dropped to 2-2.

The two blocked punts attempted by quarterback Larry Rentz, ruined Florida's bid to snap an Auburn jinx in Cliff Hare Stadium, where the Tigers have never lost to Florida in 11 games.

Florida led 7-6 until the Auburn explosion, started with a touchdown in the 3rd period. Three minutes later, the Tigers were in front 20-7, with Carter scoring on a plunge and a 3-yard run and throwing a 14-yard touchdown strike to Freddie Hyatt. The last two Auburn scores came after Florida punts were blocked by Mike Holtzclaw, who gave the Tigers the ball on the Gators' 21, and by Jim Rouchillon, who set an opportunity on the Florida 14.

After that outburst, Florida fought back with a pair of fourth quarter touchdowns. Larry Smith darted in on a 16-yard run and Rentz scored on a 1-yard dash. The Gators, who held Auburn without a first down for the first 22 minutes of the game, had gone in front in the second quarter on Tommy Glenn's 1-yard plunge.

USC's Top-Ranked Trojans Cop 31-12 Victory Over California

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — The No. 1 ranked Southern California Trojans overpowered a fired up California defense 31-12 Saturday and won their eighth straight game.

California scored first with two points for a safety when Bob Crittenden fell on Sogge in the end zone after Gary Fowler's 40-yard punt was downed on the USC six. Ken Wiedemann ran 34 yards for a score with an intercepted Sogge pass.

Ron Miller booted a 40-yard field goal for a modern-day Cal-foen record.

Cal's defense stopped the Trojans without a score through the first 21 minutes. Sogge then capped a 47-yard drive in seven plays with a 10-yard touchdown pass to Bob Klein.

Rikki Aldridge converted after each of USC's four touchdowns. He also booted a 20-yard third quarter field goal. Mike battle ran back a punt 68 yards for the Trojans' second touchdown within a minute after Sogge's first TD pass to Klein.

The Bear defenders battled to the last minutes and prevented a Trojan score after a 17-13 football victory over the University of Montana frosh on Saturday.

The victory gave the ISU team an undefeated 4-0 record for the year. It also closed out the coaching career of Jerry Dolinger on a winning note, as the Bengal mentor leaves his athletic post to become the school's director of high school relations.

Quarterback Jerry Dunne tallied on runs of 45 and 16 yards early in the first quarter to give the Bengal Klitons a 14-0 lead, then Canadian Joe Petrone kicked a 30-yard field goal in the second period and that ended ISU's scoring.

Stanford Surprises Washington By 14-7

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — Chuck Williams furrowed two touchdown strikes and unaided Andy Carrigan led the defense as Stanford whipped favored Washington 14-7 Saturday and broke an eight-year jinx.

Not since 1958 had Stanford beaten the Washington team but the long suffering Indians were

In full command this time and blasted the final hopes of the Huskies early in the fourth quarter.

With a fourth down at the Stanford four and only an inch to go, Washington was rocked for a one-yard loss and never again could gather strength for a serious assault.

Never trailing, Stanford counted first on a 57-yard pass play from Williams to Gene Washington in the opening quarter. The Huskies struck right back with an 81-yard ramble by quarterback Tom Manke, dead-ending the score at 7-7.

Both teams had field goal tries at 10:00. Both teams had field goal tries at 10:00. Both teams had field goal tries at 10:00.

The Cougars' only touchdown came in the fourth quarter when reserve quarterback Mike Monahan threw a 35-yard pass to Lee Sukdorf.

An outstanding play came in the fourth quarter when Idaho Frosh defensive back Ward Toome stole the football from WSU back Ken Lyday at the Idaho 40 and ran for a touchdown.

Aggies Continue 8-Year Mastery With 30-9 Win

LOGAN, Utah (AP) — Utah State capitalized on long plays Saturday and clobbered Brigham Young 30-9 in an interstate football rivalry.

Utah State scored on a run of 37 yards by Alito Taylor and John Pappas' passes of 64 yards to split end Garth Hill and 37 yards to flanker Mike O'Shea.

The win continued the Utah Aggies' domination over BYU that started in 1959. Utah State established its supremacy early when defensive safety Chuck Detweiler intercepted a pass thrown by BYU quarterback Marc Lyons and carried for 11 yards to the BYU light.

Fullback Frank Nunn punched the ball over two plays later and specialist Jim Murphy converted the first of three attempts.

Let by defensive tackle Bill Stiles, the Utah State defense put the shackles on BYU.

BYU's vaunted pass attack was dormant until late in the third quarter when the Lyons to Phil Oddie combination came alive but could not score.

Brigham Young's only touchdown came against the second defensive unit with 44 seconds left in the game. Quarterback Lyons ran over from the two-yard line.

Donnis Patena made a 52-yard field goal in the first quarter for the only other BYU score.

T.F. Nips Indians On Wells' Late Run

By LARRY HOVEY
Times-News Sports Editor

A powerful 52-yard touchdown romp by quarterback Von Wells with 2:45 left in the game, lifted the embattled Twin Falls Bruins past Pocatello's Indians 14-12 Friday night.

The Indians, behind a different and confusing defense, had stymied the Bruins through the first three quarters and picked up quick touchdowns at the opening of each half. But late in the third quarter, Von Wells, who ran his season's rushing total to over 1,000 yards with a 105-yard night, spearheaded a 55-yard march that put the Bruins on the scoreboard. Then after giving Pocatello a chance to win it on a fumble and holding with the aid of a penalty inside the five-yard line, the Bruins went for the final touchdown. The difference came when Twin Falls blocked both Pocatello's 33-yard pass to Frank Durham getting the second. Wells' two conversion passes to John Geisler, netted the Bruins' winning margin.

Pocatello took the opening kickoff and roared 65 yards in nine plays, little Bruin leading the attack. On fourth and five at the 14, Lynn Mabe hit

Vann with the touchdown pass. After that Twin Falls was stymied by two fumbles and a pass interception and Pocatello saw a thrust to the 20-yard line on a 15-yard penalty. Late in the half John McClusky recovered a Pocatello fumble at midfield but Twin Falls had only two plays to work toward the goal line. Wells hit Kelly Qualls for 20 yards on the first one but a fumble stopped the last play at the 21.

Early in the third quarter Vann caught a 65-yard punt exactly but the run put the Indians on the Bruin 34-yard line and Mabe drove them in from there. He got the touchdown on a two-yard play.

Twin Falls regained possession at its own five-yard line after a punt exchange and Blake began breaking loose. He run-ned for 27 and 21 and Wells passed to Bret Staples for 30 yards. The Bruins had the lead eight. A pass to Staples got the touchdown.

Pocatello replied with a three-play drive, time-wasting drive but Jay Ulrich finally stopped it by tackling Mabe for a 15-yard loss. The Bruins fumbled the ball back at their own 25 and then threw up the goal line stand.

From their own 23 the Bruins set the record for the longest first down, then on third and 15 Mike Nowell caught a 17-yard deflected pass on a tackle eligible play to save the drive. On the next play Wells rolled out, got a great block from Blake at the line and then personally shrugged off three separate tacklers to get the winning touchdown.

Wildcats Win On 3-Touchdown Fourth Quarter

By GARY SNELL
Times-News Sports Writer

BUHL — Bill Schank scored two touchdowns on runs of two and 25 yards and Rick Gartner added one on a 41-yard run in the final period for Filer as the Wildcats spoiled the Buhl Indians' homecoming 42-2 Friday afternoon.

Midway through the first quarter the Indians took a Filer punt and drove down to the Wildcats' three-yard line where Dan Turner scored from there for Buhl's first touchdown but the extra point attempt was no good.

With 4:04 left in the first half Clyde Wright galloped 37 yards for Filer's first score and late added the extra point.

Twenty seconds after the Indians had scored, Mike Chandler hit Tom Chandler on a 64-yard scoring play and Wright added the extra point to give the Wildcats a 14-0 edge at halftime.

Buhl scored its final touchdown in the third quarter on a 37-yard run by Turner, but the extra point attempt was no good.

Dan Glese scored the Indians' last touchdown with 5:53 left in the third quarter on a two-yard run. Mathews added the extra point.

The Wildcats threatened to score late in the third quarter after Wright romped 60 yards down to the Indians' two-yard line but Buhl pushed them back and took possession of the ball. Gartner started it off for the Wildcats in the fourth quarter with his 41-yard touchdown run and Schank added his two tallies several minutes later.

Pro-Match Tourney To Open Monday

Defending champion Ken Sparks of Nampa and four-time champion Dave Killen will be among the record field of 29 entrants in the sixth annual Idaho Pro match play championship to be held Monday through Wednesday at Blue Lakes Country Club.

The first two days will be based on round robin scores, each pro's hole-by-hole score being compared with every member of the field and the results being converted into plus and minus points.

At the conclusion of the second 18 holes, the four players with the most points will advance into the match play semifinals. The semi-finals will be played Wednesday morning and the championship decided that afternoon.

Last year Sparks defeated John Drips in the finals while Lloyd Hassel and Dave Killen were the losing semi-finalists. Those 25 pros not making the match play semi-finals will compete in a separate medal play tournament Wednesday.

Van Ness Gives Rutgers 23-7 Win

EASTON, Pa. (AP) — Rutgers moved sophomore tailback Bruce Van Ness to quarterback for the first time this season and he responded by passing for two touchdowns and running for another as the Scarlet Knights trounced Lafayette, 23-7, in football Saturday.

Lafayette drew first blood, scoring on Bill Messick's 21-yard field goal after linebacker Gick Lettieri intercepted a deflected Van Ness.

Westside Belts Declo, Oakley's Defense Shuts Out North Gem In Playoff Action

By LARRY HOVEY
Times-News Sports Editor

AMERICAN FALLS — Hard running halfbacks Larry Benson and Marv Reeder wore down the Declo-Hornets Saturday afternoon and paced the Westside of Dayton Pirates to a 41-10 decision in a conference playoff game.

The Pirates, held to a 13-13 halftime tie by the underdog Hornets, seized on pass interceptions and fumbles to turn the game into a runaway in the late going. Undefeated for the season, Westside represented the Fifth District conference against Declo, champions of the Magic Valley alignment.

For Declo, the all-round offensive play of Karl Darrington was the brightest spot, the senior halfback running well and catching several passes.

But the Hornets couldn't match the stronger Pirates in the line and the Pirates were pulling away at the end.

Declo drew first blood after Bruce Darrington covered a fumbled punt on the Westside 35-yard line. Ken Schrenk rolled out on a first down before penalty moved the ball back to the 39. Schrenk then passed to Gary Mallory for the touchdown. The point-after attempt failed.

Westside bounced right back with a sustained march. Larry Benson getting the last 36 yards on a slant play. Ray Poulson converted.

Declo had another chance minutes later when Jim Kidd recovered a fumble on the Pirates 30-yard line but this time Westside held and then uncorked an 80-yard drive, the payoff coming on a fourth-down one-yard plunge by Marv Reeder. The conversion failed.

Declo came right back with the tying points, the key play in the drive being a 36-yard pass from Schrenk to Darrington at the Westside eight. Three plays later Dan Osterhout went in from the five and Schrenk passed to Mallory for the tying point after.

Westside went ahead to stay early in the third quarter when Declo opened with an onside kick that backfired. A guard took the ball on the hop, broke through the thin covering line and romped to the 12. Declo held there but two plays later fumbled the ball back at the 16-yard line and Westside converted on the break. Benson plunging in from the two and a pass to Poulson got the point after.

From then on Westside was in control. It recovered a fumble at the Declo 38-yard line. The Hornets tossed two punts for 22 yards in losses but on the third Westside fired a 58-yard touchdown bomb to Poulson. On the first play of the fourth quarter Reeder threaded his way 30 yards on a quick opener and two plays after the kickoff Poulson intercepted a Declo pass at the 44-yard line to set up another score. It came on Benson's 23-yard romp.

Minutes later Westside got its last points when Declo, deep in its own territory, went in punt formation. The pass from center sailed over Schrenk's head and out of the end zone for a safety. In the closing minute Schrenk, passing to Mallory and Darrington, moved the Hornets to the four-yard line and Osterhout flipped a short aerial to Mallory for the final touchdown.

AMERICAN FALLS — With the defensive unit holding North Gem's Cowboys with little trouble, the Oakley-Hornets rode the passing of Mike Fehlman and running of Marv Altom and Rulon Tolman into a 12-0 victory Saturday afternoon in the runner-up portion of an inter-conference playoff.

Oakley, runner-up in the Magic Valley Conference, caught its spark off a line goal line stand that covered 30 yards to North Gem's 47. From there Oakley punched the ball home in 11 plays. Tolman and Altom rushing for most of it with Fehlman hitting short passes for a little more. On third and four, Fehlman flipped a short touchdown pass to Martindale.

A fumble gave North Gem its good chance of the day, giving Oakley possession on the Oakley 24-yard line. The Cowboys picked up two first downs, the last one on the two and one-half yard line. Oakley then had its finest defensive hour of the season, knocking the Cowboys for two yards in losses in four plays.

Oakley punted out to the 55-yard line and North Gem returned to the 15. But Altom intercepted to kill that drive a fourth down and Oakley put together a 66-yard drive.

There was one brief interruption of the drive when North Gem intercepted a Fehlman pass, but the pass stealer dropped the ball when hit and Altom recovered for Oakley — for a first down to boot. From then on it was Tolman, who got a 15-yard burst, and Altom until Oakley gained the five-yard line. A pass to Tolman got the touchdown from there.

In the waning minutes North Gem turned to long passes and hit on one to Christensen for 53 yards to the Oakley 20. A penalty moved the ball to the 15 but Oakley's Jerry Robinson covered a fumble on the next play, just before the game ended.

GOODING — Jim Stauffer hit Brad Capps on a 57-yard scoring play with 4:12 left in the game to give the Jerome Tigers a 10-4 win over the Gooding Senators Friday night.

In the first quarter the Tigers fumbled on the first play from scrimmage and the Senators recovered on Jerome's 20-yard line, but Gooding fumbled it right back to Jerome.

Late in the first quarter the Tigers Score On 57-Yard Bomb In Final 4 Minutes

Tigers drove down to midfield but soon had to punt.

The Senators took the ball on their own 14-yard line but two consecutive fumbles put them on their own seven-yard line where they tried a quick kick. The kick was blocked by the Jerome line and Ted Kinas recovered it for the Tigers.

On the first play Scott Tilley scampered five yards for the first score of the game. Rich Thompson converted the extra point.

In the second quarter Gooding fumbled on Jerome's 48-yard line and the Tigers recovered on the midfield stripe.

The Tigers drove down to the Senators' 34-yard line where Stauffer hit Capps for the Tigers' second score but the conversion attempt was blocked.

Early in the third quarter the Senators recovered a Jerome fumble on the Tigers' 42-yard line and drove down to the two-yard line where Joe Hofffield carried it in for the Senators' first score. Kenny Krahn added the extra point.

Then Senators tried an onside kick which Gooding recovered on the 50-yard line.

With 10:00 left in the game Hofffield scored again for the Senators from three yards and Krahn added the extra point to put Gooding ahead.

The battle raged and hands several times and late in the final period Stauffer hit Capps for the winning score.

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Michigan made a second quarter touchdown stand up for a 7-0 Big Ten victory over North Western Saturday night.

The Wolverines drove 70 yards in 14 plays with quarterback Dennis Brown going over from a yard out on a fourth down play for the touchdown.

Northwestern had taken a 3-0 lead on Dick Emmerich's 28-yard field goal, the ninth of his career to set a Northwestern team record.

Earlier, Emmerich missed a field goal of 45 yards and Michigan's Mike Hankwitz missed one of 31 yards.

Michigan dominated the second half, mostly on the running of halfback Ron Johnson, who set a Big Ten record with 42 rushing attempts. But the Wolverines failed to score, although they were held to a 15-yard line on the Wildcat one-yard line.

Other Wolverine drives were halted at the Northwestern 15 and five in the second half.

Johnson, who now has 815 yards in seven games, is 60 yards short of the Wolverine career rushing record of 824 yards set by the legendary Tom Harmon in 1930.

Michigan's defense halted two Northwestern drives deep in Michigan territory. First, Michigan's Phil Seymour recovered a fumble by Northwestern's Bob Olson at the Michigan two-yard line in the first half and another Wildcat drive was halted at the Wolverine 20.

The only other teams to win 500 or more college football games are Yale, Princeton, Pennsylvania and Harvard, all Ivy League schools.

Valley Edges Past Wells In 13-12 Victory

Wells drew first blood, sending wide Mense in from the two-yard line after a long pass play had set it up. The pass for extra point was incomplete.

Valley came back in the same period with a sustained drive, the payoff coming on a Thompson to Cline pass. The Vikings wrapped up their scoring in the second quarter with another drive, capped when Carl Taylor plunged in from the one.

Then came the point-after pass. Wells turned to the air to lighten things up in the third quarter. A 30-yard strike from Patterson to Jay Erickson put the ball on the Valley 10-yard line and three plays later Patterson flipped to Jerry Thorne for the touchdown.

Valley drove inside the Wells 25-yard line three times after that but all three died on fumbles.

HURDLING Ron Barry (40) of Burley tries to sail over teammate LeRoy Fink (18) who has knocked down Skyline's tailback Bruce Couch. But he's in the grasp of Skyline's Dale Shearer and the play wound up in a four-player heap. Skyline took a 28-6 decision to remain unbeaten.

Skyline Defensive Unit Earns Win Over Burley

BURLEY — Skyline's vaunted defense clamped a 10-yard lid on the Burley Bobcats during the second half and the offense unit broke away for three touchdowns to produce a 28-6 Eastern Idaho Conference victory Friday afternoon.

Skyline's undefeated record and its proud defensive mark appeared in trouble in the first half when the Bobcats moved the ball for 102 yards and trailed only 7-0 at intermission. But early in the third quarter a fumbled punt took Skyline out of serious trouble and proved the springboard to a momentum-swinging touchdown drive. From then on the Grizzly defense, anchored on a swashbuckling, ultra-smart middle linebacker, 145-pound Bruce Couch, was impenetrable. Skyline had allowed four opponents only 278 yards going into the try.

Skyline went for a touchdown the first time it got the ball. Kim Hall opened with a 34-yard pass to Jack Goddard and ended it when Gary Revello, somewhat sauntered in at the end of a two-yard quick pitch. Terry Evans kicked the point after.

Burley replied with a drive of its own, providing a brief respite from the onslaught. From its own 30-yard line, Burley moved the distance in 16 plays, beating a fourth and three at the 18 on a three-yard surge by Jim Couch. The touchdown came on a spectacular 15-yard pass catch by Ron Russell, who took the ball out of a Skyline defender's hands in the end zone just as it appeared an interception had killed the thrust. The try for point bounced off the upright.

Skyline opened the second half in serious trouble, having to punt from its own 12-yard line. But the Burley safety man fumbled the catch and Terry Evans fell on it to set Skyline up at midfield.

Hall kept for 12 and Leonard Rios stunted for 10 to start the drive. After Revello was punted for a nine-yard loss at the Burley 25, Rios, Hall and Revello came back with running plays to just pick up the first down. On the next play Bill Thomas scored and Craig Lords, injured early in the game, came on to kick the first of three points.

Skyline iced it just before the end of the third quarter when Hall hit Thomas with a 44-yarder and Goddard with another pass worth 27 to gain Burley's 15-yard line. Evans countered in from there.

Late in the fourth quarter Revello caught a 60-yard touchdown drive by getting the last four yards. The march lasted only nine plays and the points came with 2:58 remaining.

WENDELL — The Hagerman Pirates snapped an undefeated season Friday night by dropping the Wendell Trojans 32-6 in a non-conference battle.

The Pirates, playing their first 11-man game of the year, took the opening kickoff and rolled 72 yards in 10 plays, the touchdown coming on a five-yard burst by Ray Lapp. Jensen converted.

It staved like that through the half although Wendell stopped the Pirates on the two into in the second quarter.

Hagerman started wearing Wendell down late in the third period, moving 65 yards in six plays for the winning points. The big play was a 50-yard romp by Ed Bright. Lapp went in from the five after that.

On the last play of the third quarter Hagerman intercepted a pass at the 20-yard line of Wendell and five plays into the final period Bright swept in from the four. Lapp's 23-yard punt return seconds later put the ball on Wendell's 17 and within three plays Jensen went in from the four.

Wendell's only moment of happiness came on the kickoff when Brandon Eaton scurried 95 yards. But the first play after the return hoot, Lapp hooked up with Dewittson for a 65-yard scoring pass. Jensen converted.

In the closing minutes Wendell drove to the seven before being stopped.

COSTUME MISTRESS MRS. Ross Ward and young actor Lloyd Walker, who plays one of the "invisible People," in the upcoming children's play of that same name, discuss the problem of getting a toe into a pointed slipper.

Children's Theatre: Is It Done By Adults For Children, Or By Children For Adults?

AN ACTION-FILLED play, the "invisible People" appeals to children and adults alike. In this scene Cherie Lawrence, who plays Cindy, is hurried about by Dr. A. W. Frantz, who plays Mr. Glupp. It may look rough but they do it every night in rehearsal . . . and enjoy the activity more with each whirl.

GENERAL GRUMP DUMP, played by Neal Barth, delights two of the children in the play. The play's continual action delights youngsters and adults alike.

Ever been in a children's play?
You haven't?
What do you mean, you're too old?
Don't you realize that a children's play is as much for adults as it is for children?
Why . . . without children's plays it would be a dull place to live.
Adults wouldn't have a chance to act like children, and there's nothing wrong with that . . . children have the most fun, don't they?
And children wouldn't have a chance to act like grown-ups. And you and I both know how much fun that is.
Take "The Invisible People" for example. Both grown-ups and children have parts in the play. And there's so much activity that the play's a delight to both age groups.
That is unless you're too old to think young, and too young to even think.
With names like "Mr. Glupp," and "General Grump Dump," how can anybody with a quiver of life in his limbs even consider that the play isn't for him?
People run around the stage, dancing most of the time, and singing as well. They have funny things to say, and serious points to make. Children will scream with delight, and adults will try to make the children think they're just joining in.
Which is exactly what they're doing, anyway.
Without a doubt, the adult who attends children's theater production comes out feeling a bit younger, and a bit happier. For the child who attends, he undoubtedly feels a bit smarter and smug in his ability to second-guess the villain.
Children's theaters flourish in almost every community in every state. And there is good reason for them to continue . . . that is as long as hearts are young.
So, if you're a child, a young man or woman, and you think that going to a children's play is beneath you, you'll miss a great deal of fun. And if you're an adult who has never been to a children's play because you thought they were for children . . . shame on you!
No one is too old, nor too young, to have a good time.

A STUDY IN concentration, this young girl, Leona Van Leeuwen, is caught up in the action of the "invisible People." One of them herself, she watches a strong and unusual shape move in front of her . . . and around her . . . and is back of her.

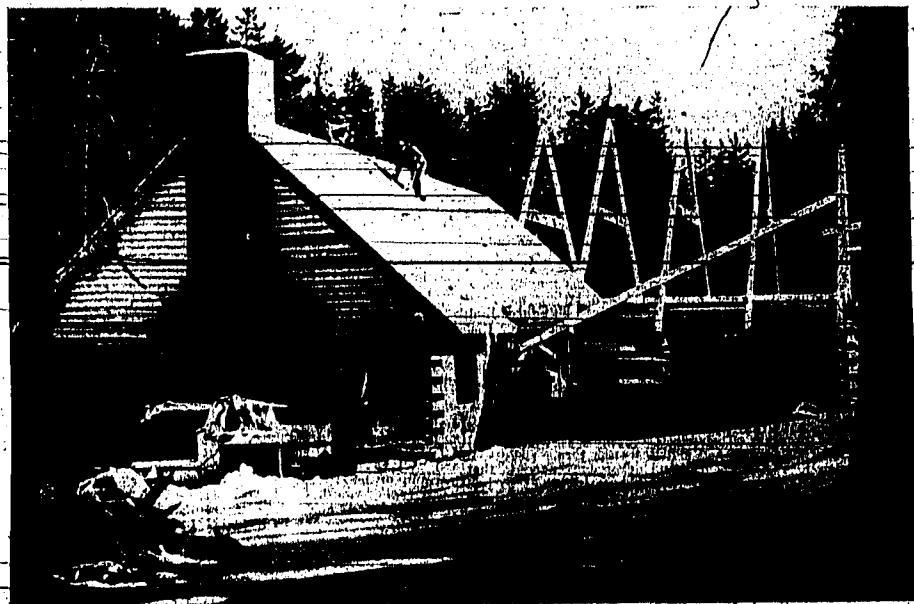

Remember When The Only Snacks You Could Buy Were Crisp Potato Chips?

By JAN A. SAINSBURY
Times-News Feature Editor
Remember how it was when there was only one supermarket in a town, and the only snacks you could buy were Ritz Crackers and potato chips. And believe it or not potato chips came in only one flavor: potato.
Nobody dipped or dunked or dragged them through assorted creamed cheeses and exotically flavored spreads until the only thing one could taste was "Tantalizing Tutti-Frutti," "Gorgeous Garlic Green," or possibly "Oriental Onion." Little was left of the lowly potato chip.
And today even less of the starchy little morsel is recognizable.
Today we have potato chips which taste like green onions, barbecue sauce, cheddar cheese, pizza, corn and garlic. For the sake of his can't figure out why some enterprising potato chip company hasn't come out with a liver flavored chip. Why not? They have crinkled and crushed them, and thickened and thinned them, it's about time they "break the taste barrier." Think of the possibilities: Bourbon, Scotch, Gin . . . and for the potato chip eater who has to return to work after a noon-time nap, with no toll-tale potato chip breath, Vodka.
Exaggeration? Not really. I think it was the Ritz Cracker people who got the ball rolling way back when. Remember . . . once upon a time it was only Ritz Crackers, and then they introduced Cheeso Ritz; for shame.
And so today we have "Puffs, Whistles, Dasey's, Bugles, Pokes, Jolly Mix, Corn Crinkles, Pizza Puffs, Tostadas, Park Crackles, Jumbo Corn, Bops, Tatars, Makos, Big 'n' Chips, Merry Makers, Triscuits, Wheat Thins, Sociables, Hamlets, Chicken-in-a-Diskot, Tild - Blits, Shaples, Swiss 'n Ham, Cheeso Nips, Fillings, and Doo Dads. And just to be different, Snack Crackers.
So if you don't really feel like tooting your Bugle, or blowing your Whistle, munching Merry Makers, biting Bops, tating Tatars, or sampling Shaples . . . then you can always go back to that old original potato chip, unflavored.
That is if you can find one.

WINTER AT CAMP TAWAKANI? Contractors are still working on the new lodge building located about 40 miles from Twin Falls in the South Hills, just beyond Magic Mountain Ski Area. The blanket of snow fell just over a week ago and slowed work on the structure. Contractors say their work should be finished in about a month. Electrical wiring and plumbing will be completed as soon as possible. Possibly the work will be finished within a month.

It May Be Fall In Magic Valley, But It's Winter At Camp Tawakani

The Magic Valley Council of Camp Fire Girls holds its summer camp usually in July. And it was one year ago last July that camp was held in the South Hills despite the fact that the main lodge building at Camp Tawakani burned to the ground only a month before.
Most of the main camp activities were moved to another building, even though it was not quite adequate in comparison to the original and larger main lodge. Camp has been held for two years using that auxiliary building. But next June it will be a different story.
The new main lodge building at Camp Tawakani is nearly completed as far as basic construction is concerned.
Within a month the structure will be fully enclosed and work can begin on the plumbing and electrical wiring.
When the main lodge burned down on June 25, 1966, just before Camp Fire Girl camp was to begin that year, it seemed hopeless that the activity could be saved. But it was. Those involved worked long hours and successfully converted another building located a short distance away from the main camp into a lodge room for the girls. Cooking along with recreation was held at the building. But the new building was still badly needed.
Insurance money was enough to start construction on the new lodge . . . but not enough to cover all that was needed. The plumbing and electrical wiring would have to wait. And they are still waiting.
There is money to supply equipment and supplies but there is not enough to pay for the high cost of labor. The Camp Fire Girls office is hoping for some donated labor to defray expenses.
Presently over 70 girls, including many from grades two in school through high school, attend the camp. The camp is also used throughout the year by groups holding retreats and outings, and by church groups for special activities. Snowmobiles have made it possible for the camp facilities to be used through the winter.
The camp is under the accreditation of the American Camping Association which sets minimum standards for all facilities at the site, and is now widely recognized for its excellence.
The camp, during its regular session for the Magic Valley Council of Camp Fire Girls hosts girls from Buhl, Kimberly, Twin Falls, Jerome, Shoshone, Filer, Eden, Hazelton, and other area communities. Included in the personnel roster are a camp director, a registered or licensed practical nurse, two cooks, a handyman, seven senior counselors, and several assistants.
The camp's main lodge will be completed with the exception of the plumbing and wiring shortly. And if the Camp Fire Girl officials have anything to do with it, and they do, the other work will get done.
Even if, right now, they're not quite sure how.
The atmosphere in the South Hills area where Camp Tawakani is located is ideal.
Tall pines and multi-colored aspens line the road most of the way to the camp. In the winter the snow clings to everything, including the road, making the world of white quite inviting.
The girls who stay at the camp spend most of their time in the finest of surroundings.
Officials of Camp Tawakani often speak fondly of comments they get regarding the facilities there.
"Do the girls have to sleep on the ground?"
"Is there someplace for them to go if it rains or snows?"
"Will they be warm enough?"
And all the officials of the camp can really say, is, "Yes." The camp has all the modern facilities the mothers could hope for.
The girls sleep in cabins which are fully enclosed. With the addition of the new main lodge to replace the one that was lost, the facilities will be as modern as possible and still retain their rustic atmosphere.
The accreditation by the American Camping Association assures the visitor to the camp of at least minimum standards. Those standards conform to the health and sanitation standards set by the individual state.
A small creek runs through the area and supplies a ready source of clear mountain water for washing and cleaning.
In the summer the green of the South Hills has its own appeal, and in its winter the white of heavy snow against the dark trees is beautiful.
And at Camp Tawakani, it's winter now.

The Money Box

BY FRANK SCHELL

Mrs. R. L. A. Burley, asks: If people are buying all our silver coins and melting them down, what are future collectors going to do for United States coins. It would seem to me that if enough of them are to be melted, children in the future will never find any silver coins in circulation.

Answer: Your question is certainly well chosen — and might add one which is of great concern to all the collecting fraternity at this time. However, to clear up one point — it is at the present time illegal to melt-down United States Coinage. The rub here is that the law applies only to individuals — and not to the government.

At the present time the Federal Reserve System Banks are retiring our silver coinage at an alarming rate, and this money is shipped to the mints and melted down into silver bars.

This has been going on very quietly for some time now, and it is certainly within reason to see the time in the not very distant future when there will be no more silver coinage available.

The unfortunate thing of course, is that all of our coins had silver content — with the exception of cents and nickels — and so there will no longer by any dimes, quarters or half-dollars in any of the older types available to new collectors except those which they secure through dealers or auctioneers.

Consequently, prices will place most of these coins out of reach of the average collector, and future generations of collectors will never have seen a Mercury Dime or a Standing Liberty Quarter.

It is true that these are scarce now, out of circulation, but they are readily available, and not expensive in the lower grades. However, with the advance in silver prices, more and more of these coins will disappear.

These are bills before congress right now which, if passed, will allow private individuals to melt these coins, as well as the government, and in any event, a great many are finding their way out of the country and being melted into silver, for sale, sometimes even to our own government.

In particular, it is regrettable that our beloved old silver dollars are going to go this way. At the present time, the majority of these coins are held by speculators, and dealers, and if the price of silver goes higher than collector value, these coins will be rapidly melted down.

It would appear that the habit of collecting coins from circulation will go by the board as so many of our other established customs have gone — and all because money, as such, is more important than aesthetic value.

I myself, can't imagine much fun in collecting if all that can be found in circulation are the late-date clad coinage, with never a coin over ten years old available to anyone.

From Mrs. B. G. Twin Falls: "Is there a chance that the government will again make silver dollars? I have heard there are still a lot of them in the Treasury — are they available to collectors?"

Answer: Your letter goes hand in hand with the first one we answered. For a time it appeared that possibly the government would strike some more silver dollars — dated 1965 — but that chance has gone completely glimmering with the present silver shortage.

If I am not mistaken, this bunch of dollars was almost struck — and then the Mint backed away from it. Your information is accurate as far as the silver dollars in the Treasury. The figure is around four million dollars, and various methods of distribution have been suggested — but my own opinion is that all of these will eventually be melted down, since there certainly are not enough of them to go around to all the people who would want one — and certainly every individual in the country is entitled to a fair chance at them.

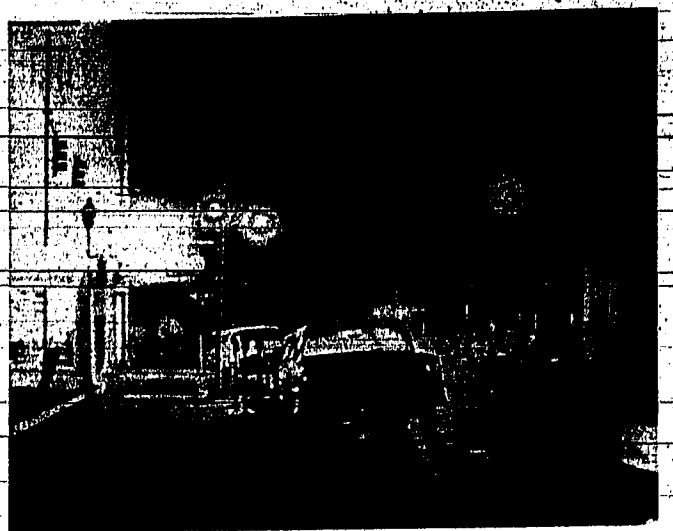

Most of these dollars held in the Treasury are quite valuable as collector's items — much more than face value — but will probably never be released by the government.

Board Meets

MALTA Grant Gunnell, Hubey Thompson and Dwayne Ward reported on a regional meeting in Salt Lake City when the board of directors of the Raft River Rural Electric Cooperative met in Malta Wednesday night.

Edwin Schlander, manager, discussed the Snaker River Association and the annual meeting. Applications for membership were discussed.

STANDING ON SECOND Street West looking across Main Avenue, Times-News Night Editor Warren Gossett took this picture late at night. The effect of a "clean-well-lighted-street" was achieved by a time exposure taken in front of the Times-News Office.

MEMBERS OF THE Paul LDS Ward women's softball team were presented two bats, a softball and individual certificates for being named the Seasonal Champions by Mrs. Olive Atwood, Mindoka State sports director. In back are from left, Mrs. Linda Wheeler, team manager; Mrs. Arveta Savage, Mrs. Barbara Broadhead and Mrs. Jackie Handy. In front are Mrs. Missy Stuart, Mrs. Sandy Croft, Mrs. Jan Perry and Mrs. Lucy Jensen. Not pictured are Mrs. Jane Merrill, Mrs. Janet Kloepper, Mrs. Hazel Peterman and Mrs. Helen Thompson.

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

If the woman of the house gets to staying home too much, she may become, or at least may feel that she has become just "part of the furniture." If it ever comes to this, she can always go out and win a sports championship.

For women, this may sound a little unlikely, but this was the case with young mothers in the PAUL LDS Ward, who were named seasonal champions in the Mindoka LDS State softball season this summer.

The 12 women, ranging in age from 21 to 35 years, are the combined mothers of 45 children. With constant activity in this fast speeding world, the mothers really didn't feel like part of the household furnishings — but they did want a change from "diapers" and that "Mama, Joe hit me!" routine.

"You never want to find out in a hurry just what age has done to you, try puffing to second, third and home, after a hard hitter made a home run and is stirring up dust right behind you.

This experience tells a more realistic story of the "shape you're in" more so than a mirror.

The first game of the season, the ladies could really run — but Oh, that next morning. Their children thought the Mamas had grown wooden legs — without knee joints.

The husbands sat on the sidelines, serving as professional critics, and trying to entertain the babies, who were crying for Mamas.

And the cheering section — this was made up of grandparents and children who "didn't know that Mama had it in her."

The women's softball team included Mrs. Linda Wheeler, manager; Mrs. Barbara Broadhead, Mrs. Jackie Handy, Mrs. Missy Stuart, Mrs. Sandy Croft, Mrs. Jan Perry, Mrs. Arveta Savage, Mrs. Lucy Jensen, Mrs. Jane Merrill, Mrs. Janet Kloepper, Mrs. Hazel Peterman and Mrs. Helen Thompson.

The women played against other women in Mindoka County under the direction of Mrs. Olive Atwood, state athletic director.

For many of the women, it had been the first time they had "run" in several years. Let alone play competitive softball. Stiff legs were awkwardly forced to hustle the panting mothers around the diamond.

Unaccustomed to the sudden change in tempo, the mothers rebel and cry out for a rest, but the cry was often times ignored by the "hard hitting mamas," who would wrap an injured limb and continue targeting for that almighty point.

And instead of the usual exchange of cooking recipes by the women, it was remedies for what to add to the hot bath each took afterwards.

During the season, necks were stretched, muscles were pulled and ligaments torn.

And everyone agreed that "getting hurt isn't half so bad when you're having fun doing it."

A bright future as a big-time horse racing jockey is predicted for a one-time RICHFIELD youth, Tim McClintick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester McClintick, former Richfield farmers, now of Kuna.

Tim made his major racing debut in southern California and since 1963 has ridden over 500 horses around the Northwest. He has been about 100 winners.

Mott Goodsell, a prominent California trainer, claims McClintick will some day take a place alongside jockeys such as Willie Shoemaker. Goodsell purchased the kid's contract from C. H. McBrayer and claims, "After a couple of months I won't be able to hold him here (Agua Caliente). He'll go right to the big apple."

McClintick says, "It's much different riding here than in the bushes. On the half milers a jockey must rush his horse to the turn, but when the jam comes he must sit up, either this or go over the rail. The pace must be judged differently on the mile track."

Tim works horses every morning at the Callente track, usually beats the trainer to work, and usually beats the trainer.

"I'm all ears, but my eyes are in the winner's circle, too," says the youth.

Timmy grew up in Richfield and graduated from eight years of school there. He attended Kuna high school after leaving Richfield three years ago. He is now 19 years of age. Tim's new contract owner is positive he will never have any trouble making the proper weight for jockeying since Tim is of small stature.

Tim's many Richfield friends and well wishers are just now learning of his success in the horse racing world, but it was often predicted he'd make a wonderful jockey when he lived in Richfield.

I favor the City Manager form of government . . . I have in no way closed my eyes to reality about all the city problems and projects.

HOWARD BURKHART
FOR TWIN FALLS CITY COMMISSION
PAID POLITICAL ADV. — H. H. BURKHART

Why Delbert McGuire FOR CITY COMMISSIONER?

- CIVIC MINDED
- EXPERIENCED IN BUSINESS
- INTERESTED IN YOUTH
- ACTIVE IN CHURCH
- INTERESTED IN THE GROWTH OF TWIN FALLS

Even though he is only 35, Del McGuire has been manager of the Frame Trout Farm for the past two years and prior to moving to Twin Falls he owned and operated a business in the Boise Valley.

Del is a veteran of the Korean Conflict having served four years as an aerial photographer. Following his Naval service he attended Boise College. Both Del and his wife, Jean, are active church and civic workers, interested in the youth of the community. Del is Scout Master of Post #71 of the Explorer Scouts. A past president of the Jaycees, he is currently serving as State Director of that organization.

WHAT DEL THINKS ABOUT THE ISSUE

1. CITY MANAGER. "I am firmly in support of the City Manager form of government. With a budget of more than Two Million, our city must be run as a business with a fully qualified, professional administrator. I have no animosity against any city official or city employees."
2. ROLE OF COMMISSION. "All problems and proposals of citizens would be given full consideration by the commission."
3. AIRPORT AND URBAN RENEWAL. "Much more study is needed on these programs. Does Twin Falls need a new airport? What would happen to Twin Falls if the existing airport facilities were not expanded? These are questions that have to be answered and

- "I will work in the interest of both Twin Falls and the taxpayers."
1. THE COLLEGE OF SOUTHERN IDAHO. "The College of Southern Idaho is one of the city's greatest assets and the City Commission should work closely with the College Administration to insure its growth and establish it as a vital part to our community."
 - "My philosophy of government is best expressed in the Jaycees Creed. We believe: That faith in God gives meaning and purpose to human life; That the brotherhood of man transcends the sovereignty of nations; That economic justice can best be won by free men through free enterprise; That government should be of laws, rather than men; That earth's great treasure lies in human personality; And that service to humanity is the best work of life."

WE'VE MADE WARM FRIENDS BY THE THOUSANDS

Eleven years ago, natural gas heated no homes in southern Idaho. Today, natural gas heats more than 53,000 homes across the southern part of the state. In less than 11 years, gas has become the preferred fuel for residential, commercial and industrial heating because it's dependable, economical and offers the ultimate in convenience.

Today, Intermountain Gas is furnishing natural gas to 64,000 customers at a cost equal to or below that of any other natural gas utility in the northwest.

THE NEW RADICALS
By Paul Jacobs and Saul Landau
They are interviews; transcripts of lectures. I guess you'd call them that. — poetry, songs and various statements by individuals and groups of individuals. The authors have selected a number of these kind of things that really give you a good idea of the movement.

"Radicals? — I didn't know you were interested in that sort of thing. What's so new about 'em? So far as I'm concerned, they're all about the same."

"No. Actually, ever though they're all lumped together as 'The Movement,' there is quite a difference between the various organizations."

"Organizations?"

"Sure, like SNCC, SDS, PSM and all that."

"Snick I've heard of; what are the others?"

"SDS stands for Students for a Democratic Society. It sort of grew out of the old LID..."

"LID?"

"LID was League for Industrial Democracy, started back in about 1930. Over the years, this outfit has apparently had quite a few subdivisions. In about 1960, one of these called SLID, that's Students League for Industrial Democracy, was taken over by a bunch of activist types from the University of Michigan. SDS came from this. According to a comment in the book, the SDS people are allies and rivals of SNCC at the same time. It says the SDSers refer to the 'snick kids,' sort of complete break with LID in 1966. It seems they thought the LID leadership was nothing but a bunch of old fogey Trade Unionists and hardly radical at all any more."

"Huh, I didn't realize these guys were so complicated. What was the other one you mentioned?"

"Oh, — you mean FSM? That was the Free Speech Movement. You remember, at the University of California at Berkeley a couple of years ago?"

"Oh yeah, — I would have thought that bunch must be one of those other groups you've been describing like SDS."

"No. Actually, the FSM seems to be distinct from SNCC, SDS or the various other elements of the movement. And there are lots of others described in the book. FSM is most likely one of many things that grow out of SLATE."

"What's SLATE?"

"That was a student body political party at Berkeley; organized about 1958. I think it was later banned from the campus. One of the really interesting parts of the book, actually most of it, is the collection of documents from various organizations in the movement. I thought the ones from FSM were especially good."

"What kind of documents are they? Tables of organization? Plans of action?"

"Oh no, nothing like that."

"New Radicals" represent a sizeable block of young, active and well-informed people. They are not only well versed in the objectives of most of the elements of the movement, but they pretty well know what the establishment is up to at the same time. Can you say the same?"

"Well, no, I guess not. Maybe I'd better pick up the thing up and take a look at it."

"Oh, and there's another thing I thought was interesting."

"What was that?"

"The dedication."

"My gosh, you even read the dedication?"

"Sure, sometimes it gives you a little insight into the author, that's where his personal feelings show."

"Well, what does the dedication show?"

"It's a sort of double dedication; each author picks his own."

"Mama!"

"No, Jacobs makes his dedication to A. J. Muste and Landau dedicates his half to C. Wright Mills."

"OK, so who are they?"

"Gosh, you are out of touch aren't you? A. J. Muste is a pacifist leader. He champions the non-violent, anti-military approach and goes back to the days of Gandhi, pre-world war. C. Wright Mills wrote The Power Elite which you must have heard of. He has written quite a bit in Studies on the Left. There is no question that Landau, especially, has been strongly influenced by Mills."

"Mmmh, — Yes, I can see what you mean."

"The last thing in the book is a chronology of events from 1954 through December 1965. It's a real help in tying together events which you've read about in the paper and the people involved in the movement."

"As confused as I am right now, that sounds like a winner. Thanks a lot, and I've enjoyed talking to you."

"Well, you're welcome."

"And what?"

"You're sure — Well, you're sure you haven't been putting me on?"

Romney Will Soon Reveal His Political Aspirations

By The Associated Press
Michigan Gov. George Romney says he'll announce soon whether he will seek the Republican presidential nomination but it won't be on a network telecast he had scheduled for Nov. 15.

Romney said Thursday he has canceled the scheduled program on the Columbia Broadcasting System because network officials insisted in knowing two weeks ahead of time whether he would announce his candidacy on the show.

CBS officials contended Romney spokesmen had led the network to believe the telecast would be used for such an announcement.

The network said in a statement that its policies on political telecasts require limiting time slots to full-headed candidates.

But Romney said his decision "should be conveyed first to all the American people at one time through media simultaneously and equally. This is what I intend to do in the near future."

As Romney and CBS released their differing versions of the arrangement, there were other developments on the political scene:

—Former Gov. George Wallace of Alabama said in Santa Barbara, Calif., that Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark should be impeached unless he cracks down on Americans calling publicly for a North Vietnamese victory. Wallace, who says he'll wage a third-party campaign unless the major parties adopt his conservative views, also had kind words for the John Birch Society.

—The protagonists in a long-playing California political feud said they'll work together for the re-election of President Johnson. Publicly burying the hatchet were former Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown and —Republican Gov. John Volpe of Massachusetts said in Dallas, Tex., that Vietnam will be the key issue in 1968 even if the candidates don't want it to be. Volpe called former Vice President Richard M. Nixon the front-runner for the GOP nomination right now.

Los Angeles Mayor Samuel Yorty who refused to back Brown's unsuccessful bid for re-election last year.

Shotguns, Mad Dogs, Angry Women Tax The Patience Of A Tax Official

Vernon E. Doshier, manager of the Twin Falls Office of the State Tax Collector, said that most audits that are made on tax forms are because of honest errors by people who do not fully understand the tax laws.

He has been with the Twin Falls office since 1961. During that time he has had some amusing experiences that weren't amusing at the time they happened.

"I've been threatened with a shotgun, had dogs sicked on me, been sick by a woman with a pair of scissors, and kicked in the shins, by a little boy," he recalls.

The only injury that has been inflicted on him, because of his job, however, is a large bruise on his ankle where the little boy kicked him because he "made my mother awful mad."

"In fact," Mr. Doshier laughed, "it was his mother that took after me with the scissors and after the kid kicked me in the shin, he rounded up his brothers and sisters and threw water balloons into my car."

Mr. Doshier, who was born in California, went to school in Jerome, and later attended college in California, is currently taking 11 credits of classes at the College of Southern Idaho.

He is reviewing accounting, taking psychology, office machine and local and state government classes, accounting for some 12 hours each week. In addition he is teaching a class to the office force at the State Tax office here.

On top of all that he has found time to work on many civic projects in the seven years he has been in Twin Falls. He is the governmental section chairman for the United Fund Drive. He also is currently vice president of the Junior Achievement program in Twin Falls. He believes this program is one of the finest things currently underway in Twin Falls. "It teaches youth the benefits of the free enterprise system," he noted.

Other organizations he has been involved in include the Inverces, the Young Republicans, the Muscular Dystrophy drive, and the YMCA.

Mr. Doshier has four daughters by a previous marriage and he and his wife, Pat, have a son and daughter.

Luncheon A Day Keeps Hunger Away

By FRED DODDS
Times-News Staff Writer

Attending and eating at luncheons is nearly an occupation for newspapermen, and so what goes on at these luncheons can be very interesting.

Usually, the reporter meets new people at each luncheon, and new people have interesting habits.

They come in all sizes and shapes; all ages and temperaments.

Luncheons do too.

There is the luncheon for the Kiwanis and the United Fund Drive. Luncheons for visiting businessmen, and luncheons for social meetings. Every time something is about to happen, and that something involves more than two people, there is a luncheon.

In fact, there are luncheons for every subject. People in Twin Falls will have a luncheon at the drop of a hat. It is the great Idaho pastime.

How far at any luncheon is not too bad.

There are even professional luncheon goers in Twin Falls. People, men and women, who make it their job to attend a luncheon every day of the week but Sunday. On Sunday they stay home and rest. Prepare for the upcoming luncheon, so to speak.

Generally, if it is a big luncheon, the professional gets fed without question. If it is small, the professional luncheon goer has to use a little imagination.

Say, for instance, the Loyalty Offspring of Idaho Juice Box Attendants are meeting. How many LOJBA members do you know? Not more than 10. And that is how many are attending the luncheon.

To get in and get a free meal, the professional luncheon goer only has to say: "I'm representing the Southside Chapter of Associated Electronics Jammers. We are interested in your meeting and may carry an article in our publication." The publication comes out every century, but no one needs know.

It's easy.

Professionals have also got the art of eating down to a science. Always sit at the front so you get served first. That way the steak is not cold when the first bite is taken.

Always act confident, even if the impersonation is beginning to crumble under the watchful and doubtful eyes of the visiting national president of the Women's Star Gazing Society.

It is usually best to take along a camera. With a camera a professional can get into any luncheon. Newspapermen also find it handy. Don't forget to take a picture, even if it's no good.

The people attending the luncheons are also interesting.

There is the fast eater. The one who finishes a mile ahead of his neighbor, then twiddles his thumbs while the others catch up. On the opposite side is the slow eater, who's steak is out as a railroad tie before half eaten.

There are also the sloppy eaters, the dainty eaters, the talkers, the quiet ones, the speaker who misses his meal while trying to get the attention of the luncheon goers.

So in the future when the boss says: "Let's go to lunch." Don't get upset. He's just showing you good old Twin Falls hospitality.

Glenns Ferry Meet Okays Highway Plan

GLENN'S FERRY—A majority of 45 persons attending a special community meeting in the Glenns Ferry City Hall Wednesday evening expressed preference for the City Plan Modified for connection with the Interstate 80 route.

This plan provides for full interchanges, east and west connection, with the proposed highway. Approval solicited in form of an added school north of the highway, which was not shown in the proposed plan.

The Glenns Ferry Chamber of Commerce will send a letter to the city council stating the outcome of the meeting; and the council will forward it to the Department of Highways, together with the recommendation from the council.

Councilmen have accepted an easement from Mrs. Alma Jackson for a sewer crossing of her property. A group of residents are working toward sewer extension in that area.

The council approved expenses of Mayor T. L. Feeny on trips to Boise and Mountain Home.

68 Volumes Are Added At Shoshone

SHOSHONE—There have been 68 new books added to the library shelves at the city library here since Oct. 1, according to Mrs. Marx Nielsen, librarian. These range from Gothic novels to historical novels to suspense stories.

Among the best sellers are "Gabriel Hounds," by Mary Stewart; "Michael, Michael," Robert Lewis; "Too Strong for Fantasy," by Marcia Davenport; and "The President's Plane is Missing," by Robert Sterling.

Mrs. Nielsen also invites all interested persons to view the bottle collection, featuring old canning jars and antique dishes at the library, as well as the display of art by the high school art class, under direction of Mrs. William Mabbutt, teacher.

She said those wanting to see "Honderaha's Programmed Learning" should do so before Monday.

CALIFORNIA BIGHORN SHEEP recently introduced to Idaho from British Columbia are a subspecies of Rocky Mountain bighorn sheep. These sheep carry the sophisticated, more scientific name, Ovis canadensis californiana to distinguish them. They were obtained through a cooperative, transplanting project with provincial authorities and trucked by the Idaho Fish and Game Department to the Owyhee mountains of southwestern Idaho. The transplants into the East Fork of the Owyhee River drainage have been successful with 12 lambs counted among the 34 counted in June, 1967. Altogether, 50 California bighorns have been transplanted. Now it appears there will soon be enough trophy rams to permit a limited harvest by hunters.

Fish And Game Department Develops New Tools For Game Management

Idaho Fish-Game Department
A dozen California bighorn sheep moved out fast through dry bunch grass and rock outcroppings. Two lambs could not keep up with the pace set by three chunky rams. They trilled, rasped, oared and belched, and more with each bound of their dander. Soon the small hand of wild sheep were gone. They had crossed a slight dip in the flat plain that hid their flight and mugged so well with the landscape that they could not be seen when they came out the other side.

These fine trophy animals, a subspecies of Rocky Mountain bighorn, had just been let out of a canvased truck that had rolled more than 1,200 miles from Williams Lake in British Columbia to the box canyons and plateaus of the Jacks Creek country south of Grand View. Unlike mountain goats whose white coats can be seen at long range, bighorn coloration goes from some shade of gray to dull brown. It does not stand out no matter what the background may be.

These sheep were brought to Owyhee County in southeastern Idaho at the end of October to try to reestablish this subspecies of bighorns in the Jacks Creek drainage, where they had not been since about the turn of this century.

They joined 38 California bighorns that had been live-trapped in British Columbia and trucked to Owyhee County earlier and descendants of these pioneers. Nineteen were transplanted to the East Fork of the Owyhee River in 1963, 9 more in 1965 and 10 last year. Biologists last spring found 38 sheep of both sexes and a wide age span. Six of the 11 rams sighted were of legal size with at least three-quarter curl of the horns. A dozen newborn lambs were seen. The sheep ranged in small bands within a radius of 15 miles of the East Fork release site.

This fall's sheep transplants from British Columbia did not go to the original release site in Owyhee County because the head count last spring showed that 71 per cent of the sheep found were new lambs, indicating that the herd is reproducing and should make it without more new blood. The Jacks Creek watershed is the same type of habitat as the East Fork, and the dozen newcomers should be able to reestablish the bands of bighorns known to have roamed there during the 19th century.

Wiley M. Shaw, project leader for big game trapping, tagging and transplanting for the Idaho Fish and Game Department, comments that if conditions are satisfactory, it is planned to move up to 20 bighorn sheep from the trap at Morgan Creek near Challis to the Morgan and Boggy Creek drainage of the Big Lost River range north of Mt. Borah. He points out, however, that trapping conditions last winter were not right and no sheep were caught.

Much of the game management work with moose, elk, bear and deer is possible now for the first time because of the recent development of patented automatic syringes and projectors called "cap-chur guns." Big animals can be im-

Paul To Vote Tuesday For First Mayor

PAUL — Residents will vote Tuesday on which of the two opponents will be the first official mayor.

Seeking the post are Harold Wilson, current chairman of the board, and Tom Felton, who was defeated by Wilson during the last election.

Although the title of mayor had not been officially given to board chairmen until House Bill No. 3 went into effect, residents still honored the chairmen with this title for several years.

Running unopposed for the two councilmen posts are Marvin Looislo and Otto Riedinger. All positions to be filled this year are for four-year terms.

Election polls will be open between noon and 8 p.m. at the city office. Judge will be Mrs. Alma Stewart and Mrs. Loola MacGregor. Mrs. Shirley Kraus and Mrs. Lavana Tibbitts will be clerks.

Mrs. Kennedy Fulfills Long Wish

ANGKOR, Cambodia (AP) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy fulfilled a long-standing wish today, traveling a thousand years into the past to examine the monumental temples of Angkor.

"It's magnificent, just magnificent," exclaimed President Kennedy's widow when she alighted from a French limousine and caught her first sight of the towering Bayon temple in the ruins of the capital of the Khmer civilization.

Her view was somewhat obscured by about 75 newsmen and photographers, with the cameramen clambering over the ancient ruins to get unusual angles for their shots.

Mrs. Kennedy put up with the hubbub gracefully and after about half an hour the newsmen and photographers were herded away so she and her party could enjoy the temples undisturbed.

She had asked her host Prince Norodom Sihanouk, Cambodia's chief of state, to keep the newsmen away from Angkor but Bangkok Thursday.

To tour the temples the president's widow wore a light blue tailored shirt, khaki slacks and brown walking shoes.

With her British ambassador to Washington, Washington newsmen Charles Bartlett and his wife, and Michael Forrestal, son of the late defense secretary.

Lipscomb said there is a great deal of misinformation and general curiosity surrounding the modern math which is taught today.

He explained that some parents in the district have requested that such a course be held to explain the mechanics of the program.

Lipscomb said there will be voluntary recitations, no homework and no examinations for the parents who wish to attend.

MRS. KAREN DEMICK, wife of Dr. Duke N. Demick, holds the screw that was lodged in the throat of her 4 1/2 month old son, Mike. The baby could not breathe and was given mouth-to-mouth resuscitation by Ron Spearing, of 351 2nd Ave. West, who is holding young Mike in the picture. Ron is employed as Assistant Manager at Seaboard Finance Company in the Lynwood Shopping Center. The incident took place next door to his office, just over a week ago.

Saving A Life Is A Pleasant Thing To Do

It was shortly after the lunch hour had ended, on a weekday, a few days ago, Ron Spearing, who is employed as Assistant Manager at Seaboard Finance Co. in the Lynwood Shopping Center, was returning from lunch with an arm-full of mail. He was just stepping onto the walkway in front of his firm when he heard the sound of a woman's voice, frightened and pleading.

"She was asking for help . . . nearly hysterical; and she had good cause. Her 4 1/2-month-old baby could not breathe.

Ron Spearing remembers only vague impressions of what actually happened. "It just happened, that's all. I did what I could do. Everything I could do."

Ron remembers setting the mail down "someplace" when he heard the woman ask a passerby if she could give artificial respiration. He also remembers that the passerby just said "no" and kept on walking.

He went over to the woman who was standing in front of the Lynwood Hardware Store, and with her went inside. The baby was lying on the floor, and a bystander remembers, "It was turning black; it couldn't breathe."

A woman, Mrs. Kate Atwood, 1064 . . .

The mother's reaction? Mrs. Demick couldn't be happier. Her young son, Mike, is bright and alert, and most of all, alive. He has an entire future before him, something that was in jeopardy only a few days before.

"When we have another child," said Mrs. Demick, "we'll name it after Ron."

"But," she continued, "I won't promise you we'll have another."

And Ron is a happy man. The child was taken to the hospital and a screw was removed from its throat. According to the mother, Mrs. Karen Demick, whose husband is a veterinarian, "The credit belongs to Ron . . . without his help I don't know what would have happened. I don't even want to think about it. I'm just so grateful."

Modern Math Classes Set For Parents

JEROME — Supt. William A. Lipscomb announced this week that special informal classes to acquaint parents with modern math will be held Tuesday in the audio-visual room at the junior high.

He said there will be two sessions, from 4 to 5 p.m. and from 8 to 9 p.m. There is no charge for the course, Lipscomb said.

However, parents may wish to buy one of the paperback books dealing with modern math for parents.

"It would be helpful if parents brought pencils and notebooks," he added.

He said that future sessions will depend on the response at the Tuesday sessions.

Lipscomb said there is a great deal of misinformation and general curiosity surrounding the modern math which is taught today.

Missile Lost

ROBINS AFB, Ga. (AP) — Anyone lost a 200-foot Titan missile?

Frank Mears, chief of the Warner Robins air material area air freight terminal, received a Titan missile Thursday by air from Norton AFB, Calif.

Mears said Robins AFB was not supposed to receive the missile. Originally worth millions of dollars, the Titan is now being phased out.

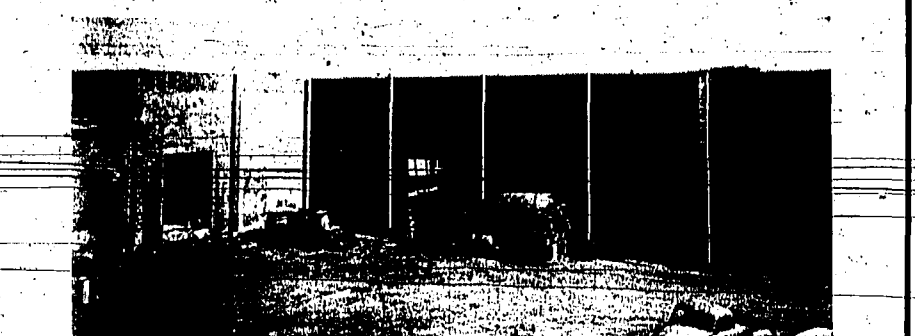

"We only know it's destined for somebody in Georgia, but we don't know who," Mears said.

RICHFIELD'S NEW LIBRARIAN, Mrs. Eugene Fadda, takes notes as she listens to comments of Mrs. R. J. Lemmon, active member of the library supporting group for the greatest number of years, and Robert Bruce, Twin Falls librarian, who attended the library grand opening Sept. 29 and was guest speaker.

THE ENTRANCEWAY TO Richfield's public library for the past 30 years has served the community well... but the new public library was badly needed. The new entrance is more in keeping with modern standards in library work as well as community development.

Richfield Woman's Club Can Relax As New Era Begins For Town's Library

By NINA BRUSH
Times-News Correspondent

RICHFIELD—A new era for the Richfield public library began this fall with formation of a library district causing the severance of all former ties. The library had formerly been operated under the sponsorship of the Richfield Woman's Club for 52 years.

Richfield's first library was opened in the entrance room of the Masonic Temple after the lodge had donated the space. The library was organized Jan. 15, 1915, when Mrs. R. J. Lemmon, president of the Woman's Club, books were donated and stored at the Lemmon home where the daughter of the family, Ruth, now Mrs. Joe McGill, collected the library opened in the space later used by pioneer Theodore B. Brush, for his office. A cupboard was built, with donated labor and materials, to hold the books, which were then sorted and listed. Borrower's cards were 10¢ each, good for one year. Library hours were usually one afternoon a week.

One winter the library was open at noon after request by the school to accommodate the pupils. The late Mrs. George R. Schwinger, the banker's wife, volunteered her services as librarian and took lunch to serve there for her husband and daughter, now Mrs. F. M. Crowther. During the war the winters were too cold, and with the shortage of fuel, two women carried library books to the home of the late Mrs. Edna Piper to be mended and catalogued. Mrs. Albert Pelley was Mrs. Piper's assistant.

When the Masonic Lodge bought its present building and moved from the Brush building, the library moved, also, and a second cupboard was built. The new library quarters were in the once famous Richfield Hotel purchased by the school district and remodeled for a gymnasium.

A small room, once part of the hotel kitchen, was given to the library. A side entranceway to the hotel made a handsome setting for the library and was easily accessible to the township.

This room was used until the recent move to the onetime Richfield drug store building, donated for a library by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Smith, now Duhl residents. No rent was ever charged for library space.

The Woman's Club is grateful for this to the onetime Richfield school district 316, and Richfield Grange, who later owned the hotel building.

Donated services of librarians made costs within the budget of a club for a number of years, but later one dollar an afternoon was paid the librarian. The library also stayed open two afternoons a week for over 30 years.

Mrs. Edna Piper contributed much to the welfare of Richfield's library during her lifetime in Richfield. It was during her work for the library, as librarian and library board chairman, that the village board levied a tax to help with expenses. The levy was set at one mill.

Through an oversight no record of that was put into the public minutes; record books of the Woman's Club were lost, too, so the board voted to donate a payment for the librarian.

To buy new books, improve the library, furnish heat and utilities—the Richfield Woman's Club did many things the past 52 years to promote the library. Among these were the annual library teas, when public donations were gladly received. Businessmen helped out considerably at that time.

Other jobs, especially the Burmah Club and North End Club, were generous in donating books as well as contributing funds at various times.

Cooked food sales, bingo and card parties, sales of donated articles, and later the annual dressed doll project at Christmas time helped make up the library budget funds.

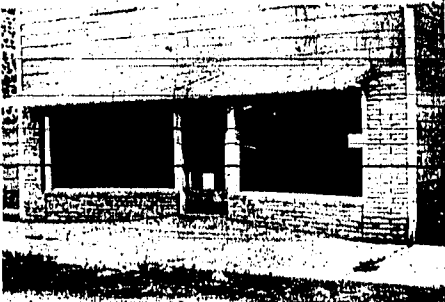

Mrs. R. J. Lemmon, Richfield's oldest woman resident, has been active in library affairs since 1915. She probably served longest as library board chairman. In former years, the librarian or library board members had to read all new books before they could be placed on the shelves.

It is remembered by some when "The Grapes of Wrath" was rejected for some time as reading material for local residents. When the book was finally allowed one high school teacher made a notable impression by stating, at a local tea, she thought it would be very educational for one of her English class students to make a report of the controversial book. A student had been renewing the book in order to make a report, it had been told by the librarian.

A member of the Lemmon family is still actively engaged in supporting the library. He is John Lemmon, chairman of the new library district board. His father, R. J. Lemmon, 91, contributes his part, by supporting his wife and son in their library enterprises. Mrs. Lemmon's latest contribution was to give a public report at the grand opening of the new library.

In spite of hard years, depressions, war, librarian difficulties, and threats of having to move, the Richfield public library has survived.

Now promoters, and especially Woman's Club members, can relax knowing the whole community is backing the new library district.

THE MODERN BRICK and awning entrance to Richfield's new public library, located in city center presents an attractive image to library patrons. The new facility has been well received by members of the community.

MR. AND MRS. Ralph Smith, Duhl, who donated their former drug store building for Richfield's new public library, visit with John Lemmon, chairman of the library board for the newly formed district.

Teen-Agers Have A Brand New "Bag," In Fact They Have Hundreds Of Them

By NORMA HERZINGER

The unselfish and patriotic ambitions of many Twin Falls High School students will indeed assist the American Red Cross in achieving its goal on a special project, "Shop Early 1967."

When Christmas comes to Vietnam this year these students from six local youth organizations will have done their part to help see that every U. S. serviceman has a package from home.

Upon receiving a list of the items suggested for the servicemen, the youths began their collections, adding personal touches to each and every bag filled for shipment. Articles suitable for shipment include ballpoint pens, new paperback books, small packages of writing paper with self-seal envelopes, plastic toothbrush holders, terry cloth wash cloth, other than white, or individually packed moltened paper wash cloth, melt chips, plastic cigarette cases, combs, adult type pocket games and mailing size voice tapes.

Other items noted include small tins of nuts or candies, vacuum packed; windproof type cigarette lighters and small kitchen size and sandwich type plastic bags, wax paper. Items not to be included in the selections are liquids, glass containers, combustibles, food or any item that would melt or deteriorate in heat, medications of any kind including foot powder, religious items or literature and political items or literature.

Last year, western area chapters sent 74,000 red and green bags filled with recreation and comfort articles. The importance of this project to the men in Vietnam is told in the many thousands of thank-you letters received by chapters throughout the country. In 1967 this area is committed to ship at least 105,000 gift bags, an increase of thirty per cent. Quota for the Twin Falls chapter is 75.

The size of the bags packed are about 12-inches by 14-inches deep. A card is enclosed in each bag to let the serviceman know who sent the gifts. So that the women serving in the Armed Services there are not forgotten a percentage of the bags are filled with feminine articles suitable for them.

Local youth groups participating in the project are the Tri-Y, Kappa-Y, Key Club, Interact Club, Futuro Teachers Association and the Future Farmers of America. Officers of these groups backing the "Shop Early 1967" are: Tri-Y—Jan Worsen, president; Mary Lynn Burkhardt, vice president; Claire Marie Emerson, secretary, and Jimmie Mathen, treasurer. Kappa-Y, Tami Toler, president; Mary Grandjean, vice president; Debbie Bodine, secretary, and Yancy Gray, treasurer. Key Club, Andy Kevan, president; Mike Frull, vice president; Glenn Hull, secretary, and Scott Williams, treasurer.

Officers of the FTA include Kondra Wanzonried, president; Patty Blandford, vice president; Barb Edwards, secretary, and Carolyn Harvey, treasurer. Rex Lytle is president of the FFA.

Special recognition should be given to those students who have given so unselfishly of their time to prepare these packages and participate in this worthwhile service. These include Lois Sallo, Linda Mort, Donna Bailey, Kathy Darrington, Ellen Fuller, Donna Turner, Donna Bankhead, Jyl Bubbs, Anita Johnson, Robbie Loveland, Diana Higgins, Janor Cochran, Gay

McCammion Youth Held In Shooting

POCATELLO (AP) — A 17-year-old McCammion youth was held Thursday in the fatal shooting of his brother-in-law Wednesday night.

Frank Clifton Jones was held as a juvenile delinquent, pending a fact-finding hearing Nov. 8, when it will be determined if he is to be handled as a juvenile or an adult, said Probate Judge Kelly Pearce.

Jones is accused of shooting Sidney Dopp, 28, through the neck with a rifle. Dopp's body was found in a street at McCammion Wednesday night. There were no witnesses.

Jones was taken into custody later when officers questioned the victim's acquaintances. At a detention hearing Thursday afternoon, Jones was charged with "premeditation and malice aforethought" in shooting Dopp, who was married to Jones' sister, and father of six.

Officers of the FTA include Kondra Wanzonried, president; Patty Blandford, vice president; Barb Edwards, secretary, and Carolyn Harvey, treasurer. Rex Lytle is president of the FFA.

Congo Asks For Special U.N. Session

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The government of the Congo has asked for a U.N. Security Council meeting to deal with an invasion by white and African soldiers from neighboring Portuguese Angola. Some U.N. diplomats expect the council to meet today.

Government sources in Kinshasa, the Congolese capital, said the invaders seized a train and some trucks and were bearing down on Lubumbashi, formerly Elisabethville and the capital of Katanga Province. Unconfirmed reports said the troops had taken Jadotville, a fortified copper mining town about 100 miles from Lubumbashi.

Congolese troops were ordered to intercept the invading force, which diplomatic dispatches reaching the State Department said was made up of about 150 soldiers of fortune mustered in Angola.

In Washington, Deputy Under-Secretary of State Foy D. Kohler called in the Portuguese ambassador to express alarm and a U.S. spokesman said his government took a "grave view" of the developments.

Hansen Tells Of Potato Package Bill

WASHINGTON, D.C. (Special to the Times-News) — U.S. Congressman George Hansen, R-Idaho, said Friday he has written to Representative Harley O. Staggers, D-West Virginia, chairman of the House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce, requesting hearings be held early next year on a bill Mr. Hansen has introduced.

The bill, Mr. Hansen said, is of considerable importance to the American housewife.

"This bill would require that all potatoes moving into interstate commerce be labeled as to the state of origin, thus assuring the housewife that if she buys Idaho potatoes she will get Idaho potatoes," the congressman declared.

Rep. Hansen said that all too often, as things now stand, the unscrupulous dealers and merchants will label non-Idaho potatoes as "Idahos."

"And they are able to get away with bilking the consumer because, while it is highly unethical, it is not illegal.

"Action on my bill would give the housewife the form of 'truth in packaging' protection she deserves," the congressman added.

Women Do Their Part For City Election

It has been said that a really dedicated League of Women Voters member would rather let a cake fall than miss an appointment with the mayor.

Such dedication has been proven recently in Twin Falls as local league members set out to do their part in the forthcoming city election. . . . And to think, at one time a woman wasn't even allowed to vote!

The old cliché, "A Woman's Place Is in the Home," doesn't bother these gals one way or another, because much of their work toward a successful city election has been done at home, telephoning non-registered residents, making posters urging registration, and planning a public meeting with the candidates so residents can cast an informed vote. All this to help make our community a better place to live and give educational and factual information on the candidates so Mr. and Mrs. Twin Falls can better understand why they are voting.

The League of Women Voters calls it "Voter Service," and service to the voters is the aim.

With the city election set for Tuesday, members of the league began its voter service plans several months ago. Mrs. Charles Glasby is chairman and a local board member.

Under new state law, any resident who did not vote in the last city election is ineligible to vote without registering. So the voter service committee began planning first how to encourage residents to be sure they were registered.

Posters were made and placed in strategic store windows downtown suggesting each qualified voter check his registration, and league members donated hours of their time making telephone calls.

After 11 candidates were certified by valid nominating petitions, the league decided to sponsor a "meet the candidates" meeting at the American Legion Hall. At the public meeting, interested residents heard an introduction of each candidate, followed by a statement on his major campaign issue.

League members solicited the assistance of the Boy Scouts to distribute throughout the city factual background information sheets on each candidate which was compiled by the members.

Voter service is one of the major areas through which the league works in the community. This outstanding program is designed to help the citizen cast an informed vote.

The league is a non-partisan organization dedicated to informed citizen participation in government. It seeks to provide factual information on candidates and issues but never supports or opposes any political candidate.

Members are encouraged to work in the party of their choice, unless they hold a board position of leadership in the local league. In order that the nonpartisan method is insured, members of the league board do not engage in any partisan political activity during their term of leadership.

WITH PENCIL AND yardstick in hand, Mrs. John Johnson joined other members of the League of Women Voters in making posters for the forthcoming city election.

MAKING POSTERS THAT were placed in strategic store windows downtown is Mrs. Dor Warr. The posters suggested each qualified voter check his registration to be sure he is eligible to vote in the Tuesday city election.

T.F. Women Do Their Part For City Election

Voter service is just one portion of the league activity, however. Currently two local studies are under way. One is an investigation of county provisions for the care of dependent children.

A newly-adopted local study is scheduled to begin soon in an effort to discover what preschool facilities are available in the county.

The league functions as a study group with an eye to action. Studies that are adopted usually lead to a consensus or stand so that members may state the league position on a study item.

In addition to local studies, the league is involved with state and national program studies. State study items include Idaho constitutional revision and the financing of public education.

Idaho league members have been studying the state's constitution since 1961 and in 1965 supported the creation of a Constitutional Revision Commission.

Nationally the league is conducting a program of research study and supporting a program to provide for all persons equality of opportunity for education and employment. Water resource development is another national study item.

A new national study, beginning last year, is an evaluation of U.S. relations with the People's Republic of China.

League unit meetings are scheduled twice each month on the second and fourth Wednesday mornings and the second and fourth Thursday nights.

Programs at the morning and evening meetings are similar and allow working women to join and participate.

Current officers of the league are Mrs. Robert Nelson, president; Mrs. Bernard Barker, first vice president; Mrs. Roy Sloten, second vice president; Mrs. Edna McKinley, secretary; and Lotus Schmucker, treasurer.

Last year in the general election, the local league set up two voter information booths and distributed candidate information for all state and county candidates as part of its voter service program.

The community service project conducted by members of the League of Women Voters in the forthcoming city election is outstanding and all participants should be commended.

Young Look, Splashy Colors Shown For Fall

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The look-for-daytime, cocktails and evening for 1968 is young, with the accent on femininity.

The California fashion creators previewed their dresses for those hours Wednesday in a parade of splashy colors, eye-catching collars, "as you like it" hemlines and belts anywhere between bust and hips.

Necklines didn't plunge or rise extremely, but emphasis was on the stylish. The stand-away-collars were featured in all lines as an attractive accent.

All designers showed bateau, jeweled and mandarin necklines — many with draped effects on the seams. Sleeves will be in all sizes and shapes for 1968, with long above-the-elbow and capped sleeves often taking the place of the puffed or tunneled sleeve.

The hemlines — neither mini nor modest — displayed the uncertainty of the designers. Most featured unpressed hems at or just above the knee — easily shortened if desired.

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have seen some real "pips" in your column, but I think this one will take the cake.

My husband and I recently attended the opening of a new shopping center. Everyone who made a purchase of one dollar or more got to put his name in the pot for a chance at the grand prize, which was a trip to Hawaii for two — all expenses paid.

Well, they drew my husband's name. When they called and told us we couldn't believe it. Now, here comes the unbelievable part. My husband's mother heard about the prize for work and she told him it would be easier for her to get away for that trip than me because I have other responsibilities and she hasn't, so she thinks he ought to take her. My husband never was one to speak up to his mother, so now he says he doesn't see how he can get out of taking her without hurting her feelings. If he takes her, what do you think would be a suitable punishment?

HIS WIFE

DEAR WIFE: From the description of his mother, just taking her would be punishment enough.

DEAR ABBY: Please help me! My problem is a jealous husband. He follows me everywhere I go. I can't even walk alone (night or day) to my mother's — two blocks away — without his following me to be sure I'm really going there.

If I go outside to water the flowers, he comes out and stands over me until I'm finished. He says he wants to make sure I don't wave to any man who happens to be driving by. I can't look at a man in a car or on foot unless I am trying to get his attention. If I speak to a man, he accuses me of being "in love" with him.

He follows me to work to make sure I don't stop off anywhere first. If I drive home from work, he asks me which way I came, why I came that way, whom I saw, etc.

No matter what I say, I'm lying. I've been cursed at and never even thought of doing it. I have been married for one year and 15 days and I don't think I can take it much longer. Is he sick or not?

We live in a small town and there's no psychiatrist here. We couldn't afford one anyway.

What can I do, short of hitting myself?

DEAR MISERABLE: I am no psychiatrist, but I have read your letter to one of the best, and he says your husband is sick. And if you continue to tolerate such treatment, you might very well be sick, too. Ask your family doctor how to get professional help for your husband.

and follow through. Your town may not have a psychiatrist, but there are larger cities near you where psychiatric help is available. You say you can't afford it? I say, you can't afford NOT to have it.

DEAR ABBY: My son, who is a physical education instructor, has a good solution concerning what to do about the "hippies."

He says the rest of us should quit our jobs, let our hair grow, stay away from bathtubs, shun all responsibility, etc., and then the hippies, not wishing to be like us, would clean up, get haircuts, and go to work.

Immigration Violations Follow Cry For Domestic

By HELEN PASTERNAK
Tucson, Ariz., Citizen

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) - Cry for domestic help has echoed across the Mexican border to the point where a large number of border residents, many of them prominent citizens, are violating immigration laws.

Some people realize they are courting trouble; others do not, said Glenn C. Choate, head of the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service office here.

"It's a means of getting cheap labor," the official said.

"You find professional people employing these maids," Choate said. "There are also those who make you wonder how they can afford a maid."

The biggest offenders are families with small children where both parents work.

The fault of the alien maid problem lies both ways with the girl hired for domestic help and her employer, according to Choate.

Mexican girls, whose ages usually range between 18 and 23, see or hear of ads asking for domestics. Or a relative, who immigrated here legally, may convince them to work in this country.

The girls use a 72-hour visitor card to cross the border; then pass it off as a passport to a prospective employer although in the U.S.

The card specifically states, "Bearer may not be employed girl to depart voluntarily. Her visitor card, if she has one, is lifted for one year.

Employers are called to the Immigration office and informed they have violated a federal law by harboring an alien. A second offense could result in prosecution.

Other girls simply jump the fence.

There are also cases of couples visiting Mexico with the prime purpose of talking someone into coming to work for them.

The worst method, said Choate, is a professional "go-between" who entices a Mexican girl to come here as a domestic.

Even though the girl may get only a small salary—some are paid as little as $7 a week or get only room and board—the "go-between" keeps on collecting a fee for getting her a job.

The only legal method for hiring a Mexican maid, Choate said, is for an employer to get her immigrated. There is no such thing as a temporary work permit, he stressed.

Immigration, he added, involves the payment of several fees and a certificate from the State Employment Service stating help could not be obtained locally.

Employers then must pay the girls at least $44 a week, provide them with room and board and pay their Social Security.

Alien maids, when they are found, are not arrested, as some employers want the girls to be loved, Choate said.

The procedure is to allow the Hospital Guild Scrapbook Wins First Place

JEROME—The St. Benedict's Hospital Guild scrapbook took first place at the recent Hospital Auxiliary convention in Sun Valley. Mrs. Boyd Freeman and Mrs. L. W. Sanberg prepared the scrapbook.

The guild has won the first prize honor for the last three years. This year the group also took a first place prize in the card table exhibit category due to the efforts of Mrs. J. T. Rickets.

The guild held its annual membership tea recently in the dining room of the Long Term Care Unit.

Mrs. Harold Klans, Mrs. Ernest Coupe and Mrs. Robert Thacker reported on the Idaho Hospital Auxiliary convention held in Sun Valley.

Leon Felder, hospital administrator, was the main speaker at the recent meeting. He outlined two programs which he suggested the guild could work on this year.

He suggested the use of a "cart" which will be pushed from room to room with toilet articles, candy gum, books, stationery and similar items for the convenience of the patients.

The second project was a volunteer escort service that would accompany the patient from the admission desk to X-ray, laboratory, or wherever the patient is directed to go.

For both of these programs he said inservice training is essential and volunteers will start training at the Nov. 20 meeting. It is hoped that any interested women in the community will attend this meeting.

A musical program was introduced by Mrs. Frank Titus. Mrs. Bob Bruce played several piano solos, and Freddie Hanson sang three solos, accompanied by Mrs. Bruce.

Guests attending were Mrs. Rose Womble, Mrs. Mack Hollway, Mrs. Robert Cooper, Mrs. Dwayne Grimes, Mrs. J. T. Stello, Mrs. Alonzo Conrad, Mrs. John Reese, Mrs. Alan Mencher, Mrs. Donald McBride, Mrs. Clyde Hanson, Mrs. Merlin Howitt, Mrs. Lauren Neher and Mrs. Jon Wilmoth.

Featuring at the tea table were Sister Mary Germaine and Mrs. Clyde Good.

Hostesses were Mrs. Earl Greenawalt, chairman, Mrs. Frank Titus, Mrs. William Last, Mrs. Ed Baer and Mrs. Robert Thacker.

Area Newlyweds Honored At Reception

DECLIO—Newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. Tim McClintock, greeted guests at a reception Oct. 17 at the First Presbyterian Church, Burley.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Ed Anderson, Declo, and the late William C. Anderson. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester McClintock, Kuna.

The couple were married Sept. 14 in Elko, Nev.

Guests were greeted by the newlyweds as they stood before a white arch entwined with garlands of greenery and topped with white wedding bells. Pedestal baskets of pink gladioli and chrysanthemums, accented with emerald leaves and pink ribbons bows, flanked the arch.

Archway rhinestones trimmed the bodice of the floor-length white beaded lace gown worn by the bride which was created by the bride's mother. Long flared sleeves and a self-bow at the waistline complemented the gown. Her chapel-length veil of silk illusion was secured by a rhinestone tiara.

She carried an arrangement of baby pink rosebuds and white carnations on a white Bible with flowing white satin streamers. The Bible was a gift from her mother.

Mrs. Manuel Arguello, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and Gava Dawn Arguello, her daughter, was bridesmaid. Best man was Leo Anderson, brother of the bride.

Julio Hitt was in charge of the guest book and gifts were arranged by Mrs. Leo Anderson, Mrs. Ed Hatch, Mrs. Ed Lydon and Pat Reed.

A white lace over pink cloth accented by pink bows covered the bride's table which was centered with a four-tiered white wedding cake. Pink swans, white love birds and holly and the traditional bride and bridegroom topped the cake that was displayed on a mirror encrusted with iron. Crystal candelabra holding pink lighted tapers flanked the cake.

Guests were served at quarter tables covered with pink cloths and centered with arrangements of pink and white chrysanthemums and pink lighted tapers in white milk glass holders.

Women's Boots
SHOSHONE — "More and more boots are made for walking," according to Mary Lou Ruby, home economist here. She said "the modern woman is no longer forced to choose between comfort and style. She can have both."

range from patent to suede. Waterproof or water-repellent boots are also done in practical good taste.

In choosing these boots, however, be sure to get what you really want. Waterproof boots will protect you completely in any amount of moisture. Water-repellent boots will shed water, however, when walking through deep puddles or in heavy down-pour, moisture may soak through.

This difference is especially important to remember when choosing boots for children. Also remember most man-made materials can be cleaned with a solution of soap and water which may save time and money for a mother of small children.

Proper cleaning care is important for all boots. Polish leather boots before wearing them. Wet boots should be stuffed with paper and dried away from heat. When wet from polish, dry them away from heat. Brush them and polish with saddle soap or boot polish. Always make sure boots are cleaned and stuffed with paper before you store them for long periods.

PLANNING A DISPLAY of bonded fabrics for a program to be presented at 1:30 p.m. Thursday, at the Idaho Power Auditorium are Mrs. Richard Reed, extension home economics agent, left, and Mrs. Dean Kohntopp, home economist from Castford. The program will be on the selection, use and care of bonded fabrics. The meeting will be open to all.

Bonded Fabrics Program Slated For Thursday

A program entitled the "Ins and Outs of Bonded Fabrics" will be presented by Mrs. Dean Kohntopp and Mrs. Richard Reed at 1:30 p.m. Thursday at the Idaho Power Auditorium.

The program is being given in connection with a statewide Consumer Education Week which is November 6 through 10.

"Bonded fabrics are really 'taking over' the textile industry. They are commonly seen in wool challis, knits, flannels and jerseys as well as in coats and many loosely woven fabrics. They add stability to fabrics and eliminate the need for mounting loosely woven and stretchable materials.

Many problems that were prevalent with the first bonded fabrics have been eliminated through study and research. It is the purpose of the program to bring out points to consider in selection, sewing and care. In order to help homemakers get the biggest returns for money spent.

The meeting will be open to all who would like to attend and questions will be welcome.

Veterans Day Dinner Planned

HAGERMAN — Plans for the Veterans Day dinner and program were formed at the meeting of the American Legion and Legion Auxillary, Lea Owsley Post No. 31, Thursday evening.

A potluck dinner will be held at the Legion Hall in the evening, with a special program following. All eligible veterans and their families are urged to attend.

The ladies are asked to bring a cooked dish for the dinner and their own table service. Appointed to the kitchen committee were Mrs. Nell Scott, Mrs. Lucille Ahy, Mrs. Eleanora McCoway and Mrs. Kay Giverson.

The Veterans Day dinner and program will take the place of the regular November meeting. A potluck dinner held jointly with the Legionnaires preceded their separate business meetings Thursday evening. Gloria Britton and Bryan Berry spoke on their experiences at Girl State and Boy State this past summer. Mrs. Clawson gave a resume on the life of Columbus. The "white elephant" was won by Mrs. Joseph Haycock.

Anything Goes In London's New Fashions

By NADEANE WALKER AP Fashion Writer

LONDON (AP) — Bonito and Clyde gangster styles triumphed at the Associated Fashion Designers show.

Apart from the much-applauded Bonito numbers, which had black skirts to just below the knee, it was nearly a clean sweep for the miniskirt, miniculotte and minishorts. One designer, in two minds about it, stuck in a schizoid number with a midcalf skirt ripping off a breakaway fastener to show printed black shorts underneath.

If you never saw a femme fatale in shorts, just wait.

To the tune of "Anything Goes," Simon Massey models paraded formal shorts in champagne chiffon trimmed with filigree and glitter. Another mannequin threw off an ostrich hemmed floor-length chiffon cape to reveal bare-bellied Turkish trousers. A naughty-nice chiffon blouse was sweetly ruffled and demure in front, but all bare behind.

The general theme of the show which is the first indication of what will be in the shops come spring, was a nostalgic harking to the 1930s.

Carnaby Street also has gone back to that gangster period for teenage males, suits with broad shoulders and wasp-waist jackets, chalk-stripes and wide-brimmed hat. This style, and that now showing for the Indies, stem straight from the current movies about Bonnie Parker and Clyde Barrow, Southwest-ern outlaws of the 30s, and "The St. Valentine's Day Massacre," about Chicago's garage slaugter of seven gangsters in 1929.

In Monday's showing, the nostalgic look was carried out in a long-bodied if brief skirted line, with jersey tunic tops a favorite.

The show is the big event of the London fashion season, and perhaps 1,500 buyers from England and abroad were here to see it.

Do Cats Have ESP?

By JEANE DIXON

WORLD-FAMOUS SEER

Illogical, Illegal, Intriguing: Return of the Notorious Chain Letter

Hayley Mills Says: "I Had to Leave Home to Grow Up"

BISHOP SHEEN: What's the last secret of Fatima? . . . Scientist ROY MACKAL: Is there a Loch Ness monster? See p. 2

ASK THEM YOURSELF

FOR ROY P. MACKAL, biochemist
Do you believe the Loch Ness monster to be a surviving species of some prehistoric beast?—T. H. L., Waco, Tex.

● No. I personally believe the creature may be some form of mollusk or perhaps a species of giant eel. There are many possible explanations for the phenomenon, but I regard the theory that there is a living creature in Loch Ness to be the most probable. This by no means rules out the other possibilities, since my opinion is based on admittedly inadequate evidence.

FOR JOHNNY CARSON

● Who writes the opening monologue for the "Tonight" show?—Eugene Samansky, Trenton, N. J.
 ● Ed Weinberger and David Lloyd write the monologue, then I edit it and add about 10 percent of the final product.

FOR MICKEY SPILLANE

● When did you become interested in writing "Detective" stories?—E. M., Red Spring, N. C.
 ● After I got out of the Air Force in 1946, I wanted to buy a house, and so I wrote "I, the Jury." S. P. Dutton, took a chance and published the book, and I was off and running; I had worked on crime fiction before World War II, when I wrote continuity for comic-book Captain Marvel.

FOR KATE SMITH

● Do you think good music will ever make a comeback and replace rock 'n' roll?—George Durst, Jamaica, N. Y.

● Good music has never been away, and therefore will not have to replace any other kind of music. It's true that rock 'n' roll is heard more but that's because it's the music of the younger generation. But, as has always been the case, when they grow older, they will discover the standard good music and good songs.

FOR BISHOP FULTON J. SHEEN

● Why hasn't the Pope revealed the final secret of the message from Fatima?—D. N., Lansing, Mich.
 ● Pope Paul has chosen not to reveal the third part of the secret. I believe that it is not unlike the other part and that it will serve only to intensify the revealed portions of our Lady's message at Fatima—do penance, pray the Rosary, honor her to bring back the world to Our Blessed Lord.

FOR PAULINE FREDERICK, NBC newscaster

● I remember a Pauline Frederick in silent movies. Could you be related to her?—John T. Mulligan, Albany, N. Y.
 ● I am not the late, great movie star, nor am I related to her. She died in 1938.

FOR LIBERACE

● Why have you been making so few personal appearances in recent years?—Mrs. Robert Watercooler, Great Bay, Wis.
 ● After a serious illness in 1963, I decided to slow down rather than be the richest piano player in the graveyard. I still make about 30 personal appearances a year, besides guest appearances on television shows.

WHAT IN THE WORLD!

Clip Job Mia Farrow made headlines when, in a fit of pique, she chopped her long tresses to the scalp.

Mia Farrow

In her new movie, "Rosemary's Baby," she repeats the process on film, going from long (a wig) to short. This time, though, it's the most expensive haircut since Samson's, with Paramount paying $5,000 to Vidal Sassoon (plus transatlantic traveling expenses) for the cutting job.

Proceed with Caution The Air Transport Association comes up with some figures to calm your fears about flying, but they may make you jittery about other things. According to ATA, 52,500 Americans die each year in auto accidents; 2,400 are killed accidentally by firearms; 7,200 drown while swimming or boating; the "innocent" bicycle costs 680 lives—and 59 people died in scheduled-commercial airliner crashes last year. The odds on a happy landing are now 99.995 percent in your favor.

Control Your Way Cars that run on hydrogen? A machine that makes the beds for you? That's what Dr. Augustus B. Kinzel of the Salk Institute predicts for us by 1980. If the shape of things to come shakes you up, he relates the following story:

Wilbur and Orville Wright

Shortly before the turn of the century, a young science teacher suggested to a bishop in Ohio that one day—man-might, actually, fly. "Rank heresy!" the bishop exploded. Luckily, Bishop Wright's two sons didn't overhear. Wilbur and Orville were busy in the barn—building a "heresy."

No Smooching New York's new Marriage Museum offers a fascinating array of courtship customs—and a startling clue to why America is having trouble wooing the people of Vietnam. It seems that Vietnamese mothers traditionally scare their children into good behavior by threatening them with "a Western kiss"—that is, a public one. In many Asian countries, even a light peck, if bestowed in front of other people, is considered an immodest display.

Blackboard Jitters Lots of parents will find themselves tongue-tied when they visit their child's class during this week's Open School Week. That's a prediction from Bel Kaufman, former teacher and author of "Up the Down Staircase." "The smell of chalk, the blackboard, and trying to fit into a child's desk make many adults uneasy." Her advice: relax. The fact that you're there means your child is ahead of the game; he has an interested parent.

A DRAMATICALLY DIFFERENT WAY TO LOOK AT THE WORLD

You See More... Enjoy More... With Projection Glasses

ADD NEW AND UNUSUAL BEAUTY TO EVERYTHING YOU SEE

TROUGH FOG AND HAZE!

LOOK DEEP INTO STREAMS

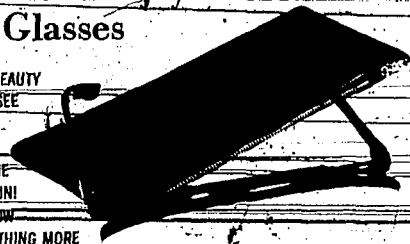

AND LARGEST ELIMINATE THE

GLARE OF THE BLAZING SUN!

FILTER OUT BLINDING SNOW

REFLECTIONS. SEE EVERYTHING MORE

VIVIDLY AND MORE DIMENSIONALLY

Revolutionary new "PROJECTION GLASSES" bring new beauty to the world about you. More than just ordinary sun glasses (although they are great as sun glasses) these projection glasses, even on cloudy days, will make every flower seem twice as beautiful, every tree a work of art and every scene so beautiful it will defy description. These scientifically designed glasses will bring forth the full beauty and magnitude of nature's work. You will see everything with new clarity . . . more vividly and more dimensionally. Even clouds will have a 3-dimensional appearance. You'll see beauty you never realized was there. Never have flowers, trees, meadows, mountains or clouds looked so beautiful as when you look at them with your amazing "Projection Glasses."

HOW THEY WORK

The lens, is a combination of amber and red which has been formulated to the most exacting optical specifications. The result is a unique orange-amber tint that is highly beneficial to eye sight. The Amber improves the vision, the red eliminates glare and conserves the "Visual Purple" of the retina which is normally consumed by bright sunlight. This means 100% improvement in night vision. Greater night vision, better stereoscopic vision, and greatly increased depth perception. Your ability to visually penetrate fog and haze is increased by 100%.

GREATER SAFETY WHILE DRIVING

Most sun glasses reduce vision up to 10% or more. The Projection Glasses actually improve vision up to 100%. This 20% additional vision is an important accident reducing factor! You will find the Projection Glasses ideal for driving in all kinds of weather: sun, rain, fog, snow, etc. You will notice an increase in your depth projection, helping you judge distances with greater accuracy. Now you will be able to see twice as far into fog and haze, reducing driving strain. While driving in the country side the scenery will look more beautiful than ever.

IDEAL FOR COULERS—FISHERMEN—SKIERS
 Golfers can play more easily on foggy or hazy days if they wear Projection Glasses.

They are able to follow the flight of their ball-oven in foul weather . . . has them spot any tendency to hook or slice. Balls that wind up in the rough are more readily located. The 10% improvement in vision helps you locate pins at greater distances. The course will look fantastically beautiful. Psychologically you will get a lift from seeing how great everything looks.

FISHERMEN will be able to gaze more deeply into the water through their "Projection Glasses" when observing the condition of the water. Headache producing glare from the water's surface will become practically non-existent. Fishing in bright sunlight will become a pleasure . . . and dull overcast days will look sunny and bright.

SKIERS can forget about blinding snow with these Projection Glasses. The snow and scenery will look even more spectacular.

WEAR RIGHT OVER YOUR PRESENT GLASSES

Projection glasses are light as a feather . . . weigh less than one ounce. The LENSES are on a hinge. Flip them up instead of taking them off. They may be worn right over your regular glasses. The lenses are shatterproof and may be worn as safety goggles in industrial plants.

Including the carrying case, Projection Glasses are the best investment you will ever make.
 No. 50 Projection Glasses $3.98
RISK NO MONEY—Try them at our risk. If you aren't excited and pleased by the "new look" at the world about you . . . the extra visibility . . . just return the Projection Glasses for a full refund.

"JUST GREAT!"

We just completed a cross country auto trip and these glasses are everything you say they are . . . and even more. The scenery looked so beautiful and my eyes felt rested all the time."

The Return of the Notorious Chain Letter

By TRAVIS ANN KELLER

A BUSINESSMAN in Raleigh, N.C., read a letter from a colleague extolling an "executive vacation plan"—but it wasn't a travel brochure.

It was, rather, an ingenious new version of that old get-rich mania which has infected the American public periodically—the chain letter.

Last December, the snowball started rolling again. Office workers noticed memos changing hands, involving lists of names and bottles of holiday "cheer." In February, postal authorities issued a general release noting a step-up of chain-letter schemes among college students in various states, involving cash and bonds.

All summer, housewives have been mailing recipes, prayers, or dish towels to strangers and then list, then remove that name, add your own at the bottom, and send copies of the letter to a specified number of friends.

When your name works its way to the top of the list, you will theoretically receive thousands of dollars. Why then do statisticians laugh over this?

Well, suppose your letter has 10 names on the list and asks you to send out 10 copies. Those 10 people mail 10 letters each, and so on. For your name to reach the top, this letter must pass through the hands of 10 billion people. That's three times the population of the earth!

You also have no way of knowing through how many levels the letter has passed before it reached you or how often the chain has been broken or how many slickers will pass on the letters but never send the money.

Immoral Cranks, crooks, and crusaders use chain letters as a means of feeding superstition, spreading propaganda, or making a fast, fraudulent dollar. A chain letter mailed to a superstitious person, threatening bad luck, can be pure torture.

Impious They are denounced by churchmen of all denominations. A leading Catholic publication calls the letters with religious gimmickry "devout impley . . . let their future circulation be one of the duties of the sanitation department."

Intingling! Let's face it, despite their absurdities, chain letters always have had a fascination. In 1935 someone hit on the idea of money as a chain-letter incentive, and send-a-dime letters took the Depression-racked public by storm. For six weeks, an estimated 10 million letters were mailed daily. The Post-Office was forced to add thousands of workers to handle the load.

The entire country was possessed. Then, as suddenly as it began, the mania stopped, leaving puzzled experts to ponder one of the greatest examples of mass neurosis in history.

Chain letters were first noted in this country during the Reconstruction, but the craze has broken out regularly since then.

As a phenomenon of the mid-60s, are they simply an amusement, an annoyance—or once again a passing fad? ♦ waiting to receive a bonanza of these items themselves. The odds against receiving such a windfall are, of course, astronomical.

Chain letters, nevertheless, have a powerful appeal to the trusting American in spite of the fact that they are:

Illegal! They have been on the books as a form of mail fraud since 1872. Post, Office General Counsel Timothy J. May states: "Chain letters which request that people forward items of value are regarded as nonmailable under existing laws governing fraud."

Letters which call for nothing more valuable than recipes, post cards, and the like are sometimes permitted.

Illegal! A typical chain letter might instruct you to send a dollar to the person at the top of the

ONCE AT a children's party at Martha Rountree's home, a beribboned little girl knelt on the floor beside my pet, Mike the MagiCat, and looked deep into his enormous green eyes:

"I want to be an actress," she whispered to Mike. "Do you think I should?"

Mike did not answer in our language, of course. He never does. He just sits there, still as midnight, and looks at you. It is a contemplative look that knows much and tells much! As his interpreter (because we have exceptional communication with each other), I told the little girl Mike's prediction: "No, you should be a writer."

That little girl is now 14 years of age and has had several of her articles published!

The story of Mike the MagiCat has never before been written, and many people will find it difficult to understand—even as my gift of prophecy is difficult for some to understand.

But while I am an ordinary person whose vocation is real estate—and whose avocation, a God-given talent, is love of humanity dedicated to helping others learn to help themselves—Mike is an extraordinary and unique animal, dedicated to being a MagiCat!

He has "predicted" for many, many children and will go on doing so as long as time permits. Once a boy of 12 asked Mike to help him make a decision between going to school here or abroad. The boy's parents had left the choice to him. Mike's answer, through me, was: "Go to school in the United States. Europe is not advisable—you will have a bad accident!"

The boy shrugged off Mike's warning and went to school abroad. Sure enough, he had a terrible skiing accident.

This plump, furry, black-and-white feline somehow senses what children are saying to him and, in his own way, responds to them. I pick up what he is thinking, so I speak for him and tell his predictions for the children.

I really believe cats have great sensitivity for all life around them, and especially for human beings and their affairs. True, all living creatures are endowed with some degree of awareness of the world outside themselves, but I think cats have extrasensory perception, a keener knowledge of the interplay of natural forces than other animals.

Mike, though, has powers even beyond those of unusual cats. As I have said, he is extraordinary and unique—characteristics he has manifested since the day he came to live with us. I recognized his magic power—so did others—thus his name: Mike the MagiCat. At the time, we were thinking of the Three Wise Men—the Magi. Mike has lived up to his name.

Mike came to us quite mysteriously. Once someone rang our bell, and I answered the door with my husband right behind me. A lady, who said she had considered drowning her kitten, simply reached down into the huge pocket of her coat and gently brought out this tiny creature. "Here you are," she said briskly, and walked off.

I handed the little piece of wiggling fur to Jimmy who took one look, raised his aristocratic eyebrows, and said: "My dear, if we are going to have a pet in our new home—and if it is not a pedigreed one—it at least should have better markings than this one. This is the ugliest marked cat I have ever seen!"

"But," he went on, "I will feed it, and we will take care of it."

Mike's special charisma had begun to work! His advice is always good. He sees a rainbow beyond the storm. He says the right thing to dry the tears and fill his little friends with hope. Mike's wisdom reflects an awareness of the past, present, and future. Balanced and calm, but not aloof from mankind, he is truly monarch of all he surveys.

Not all adults ignore Mike. A man once patted him gently between the ears. Mike looked at me. "He wants you to make a wish," I interpreted, "and it will come true." Some time later, Mike received a beautiful red-leather collar from the man. His wish had come true!

Mike loves his collar, and I often let him wear it. But Mike, good humored always, seeks no reward beyond a friendly pat.

If you have ever owned a cat yourself, you know that, beyond his mysterious qualities, he is the most real, down-to-earth, honest animal you will ever meet. When he is hungry, he lets you know. But once you have fed him, he will leave and bother you no more till next time hunger strikes him. A cat is not a flatterer, currying favor, but he knows what you think of him.

Now Mike has sensitivity in greater abundance than most cats. Shortly after Mike came to live with us and I became aware of his magic personality, he began to draw my attention to himself and then help me concentrate on my own thoughts so that it was easy to shut out distracting noises and sights. This help we could all use.

Almost from the beginning, Mike injected himself into my thoughts when he was near me. He seemed to meditate with me. He did not distract me at all—but shared his tranquillity with me. Of course, he does not make any prophecies, but I can interpret his predictions, particularly about children. And he can, through me, answer children's questions psychically!

Often I see Mike just sitting there, as if suspended in a moment of time, and his eyes will take on a faraway look. Then I know he is meditating. When this happens and I have time, I sit quietly and meditate, too.

He knows that it is an important moment, and that V.I.U.s (Very Important Unknowns) are present. Everything else must then wait while I listen and learn.

Every time I remember that Mike's former mistress wanted to drown him, a shudder goes through me like a knife!

The moment I saw him, I wanted him—for to me, he was and is the "All American" cat.

When Mike was about six months old, he disappeared. Both Jimmy and I were frantic. We searched everywhere we could think of—but no sign of MagiCat! Heartbroken, I advertised for him in a local morning paper. I had his picture inserted in the ad so no one could mistake him!

Three days later a telephone call came. A woman's voice announced, "This is the White House. We've got your cat." My secretary took the message. When I returned, I called immediately, but no one at the Executive Mansion knew anything at all about my little Mike.

I would not give up, though! After many calls I found that a secretary—the only one who might have been our mysterious caller—had just left on her vacation!

I went to bed that night downcast—but with my faith still intact that somehow my little MagiCat would be returned to us.

The next morning my janitor greeted me with, "Don't you want your cat?"

"Where is he?" I was so relieved, I hardly waited for his answer.

"They have him at the northwest gate of the White House, but they say they can't keep him much longer."

We brought Mike home with great rejoicing. He rubbed against our legs and beamed at us with his usual charm. Yet three days later he was gone again. Apparently he had managed to open the screen door of the kitchen. By now he had become a fine, healthy, handsome cat with

Jeane Dixon and Mike the MagiCat

• Jeane Dixon has become a world-famous seer because of the accuracy of her prophecies. In visions which she says come from God, she foresaw the assassination of President Kennedy and the plane crash that killed Dag Hammarskjöld. She now predicts that there will be three U.S. Presidents between 1960 and 1969—unhappy news for President Johnson, if proved true. She has been married 25 years to James L. Dixon, a Washington, D.C., real-estate dealer.

beautiful black and white markings. But this time I had an exact place to look for him—the White House on Pennsylvania Avenue. What cat needs a pedigree when he is welcome at an address like that?

I phoned the guards at the White House, identified myself, and asked, "Is my cat back?"

"What cat?"

It was a different guard! I explained what had happened before and what an exceptional cat Mike was and how important it was to get him back—I could tell the guard liked cats, too. He was sympathetic but said he had just returned from his vacation and had not met Mike.

But that same afternoon Mike came home, riding like a little king in a White House limousine with a chauffeur and two bodyguards! They had found him strolling majestically across the White House lawn.

The next day the Washington Daily News' Evelyn Peyton Gordon, social editor, ran a headline: "Mike Is Running for President in His Own Way."

I think perhaps Mike was trying to tell us something—maybe he was trying to say that here, at the White House, is where we have to be most "on watch."

Because he is a MagiCat, Mike leads an unusual life. We had a red and black miniature Chinese pagoda built especially for him in our red-brick courtyard.

Mike, too, has a custom-made wardrobe—for special occasions such as television shows. Sometimes he wears his farmer's overalls with a big straw hat. Sometimes he wears his dinner jacket and a high hat. He loves to dress up!

Though this is the first time that Mike has ever had any national publicity, children all over the country have somehow heard about him. His fame has spread far and wide, so he now has his own private secretary, Lorene Melton, to help him answer his mail.

Address your correspondence to: Mike the MagiCat, Washington, D.C.

One boy, for instance, wrote about a picnic: "I want so much to win the greased-pig contest," he wrote. "Can you help me?"

Mike's answer, written by Mrs. Melton and signed by Mike's own paw print, was that the boy was not meant to win the contest. He didn't.

This once-unwanted kitten will soon have his own comic strip. In it he will act as a sympathetic friend and adviser for children. From time to time, he will even make a prediction or two—through me.

We would like children to know that although he is the only MagiCat, all cats can understand people and communicate with them. I feel close to all cats, especially to the seven others who have strayed into our garden since Mike came—and who now live there, household members, too.

Once when I had received sad news about my brother, I was alone in my bedroom, weeping. A newly arrived stray padded to the edge of my bed and looked at me, his eyes seeking mine in sympathy. After a while, he came closer and sat there, his eyes saying, "Please don't cry. Everything will be all right."

He rubbed against me with his head and then curled up next to me. I don't know how long he stayed there. I must have fallen asleep; but when I awoke, the cat was still keeping his vigil. He gave me the feeling that my brother would recover. And he did.

I think that through extrasensory perception, cats can communicate with anyone who loves them. To try communicating with your own cat, sit down with him in a quiet place. Talk with him as you would to another person. The secret of making him understand you is the tone of your voice. If you speak with genuine goodness in your heart, he will respond, and you, in turn, will sense his answer.

If you do not perceive any response from your cat the first time, do not give up. It may take a while. Friendship takes time. You have to have the patience and wisdom of a cat and free your mind of distracting things as you sit beside him. Yet, as this is going on—as you become aware of his sincerity, reality, patience, his acceptance of life—you will be learning a great deal from him.

For a cat can be more than just a pet; he can teach, whether he be a stray from a city alley or Mike the MagiCat. All people who love cats are generous with their feelings, and they are repaid with the wisdom that cats can teach them through their gifts of extrasensory perception! ♦

3. Immediately ladle into soup plates. Generously sprinkle Parmesan cheese over each serving. 10 to 12 servings

Fondue Bourguignonne

Salad or cooking oil to half fill the fondue pot, heated to 375°F.

Beef tenderloin or sirloin, cut in 1-in. pieces (allow ¼ to ½ lb. per person)

Sauces for Fondue Bourguignonne (see recipes)

The hot oil in a copper pot (narrower at the top) is set over canned heat or an alcohol burner on a metal tray. This type of beef-fondue cooker and two-pronged forks with long handles are usually available from specialty shops or the housewares section of department stores. Plates with dividers for the individual sauces are also available and convenient but not necessary for this service. One cooker is ample for four persons.

Dishes piled with the raw meat are set on the table between guests or at convenient intervals. Pieces of meat are speared with the forks, then plunged into the hot oil and cooked one to two min., or to the desired degree of doneness; meat is transferred to the plate and eaten with a table fork, thus allowing for pieces of meat to be cooking at all times.

The meat is finally dipped into the sauces which have been spooned into the plate sections.

Chilled crisp relishes such as radishes, celery and carrot sticks, and slices of buttered dark rye bread, along with cups of steaming hot coffee, complete the menu.

Jiffy Sauces for Fondue Bourguignonne

■ Onion-Chili Sauce—Add ½ of an env. (about 1½ oz.) dry onion soup mix to ¼ cup boiling water in a saucepan. Cover partially and cook 10 min. Adding gradually, mix in a blend of 1½ tablespoons flour and ¼ cup water. Bring to boiling, stirring constantly; cook until thickened. Remove from heat; mix in 2 tablespoons chili sauce.

■ Onion-Horseradish Sauce—Blend ½ of an env. (about 1½ oz.) dry onion soup mix, 1 tablespoon milk, 2 teaspoons prepared horseradish, and desired amount of snipped parsley into 1 cup dairy sour cream.

■ Curry Sauce—Blend 1 teaspoon curry powder, 1 teaspoon grated onion, and ½ teaspoon lemon juice with 1 cup mayonnaise.

■ Mustard Sauce—Blend 1 tablespoon cream with 1 cup mayonnaise and stir in prepared mustard to taste.

■ Caper Sauce—Mix 1 tablespoon chopped capers into 1 cup commercial tartar sauce. Blend in 1 teaspoon cream.

■ Béarnaise Sauce—Blend 1 tablespoon parsley flakes, ¼ teaspoon grated onion, ¼ teaspoon crushed tarragon, and 1 teaspoon tarragon vinegar into a hollandaise sauce prepared from a mix according to package directions.

■ Paprika Sauce—Prepare 1 cup of medium white sauce. Blend in 1 teaspoon minced onion, few grains ground nutmeg, and 2 to 3 teaspoons paprika.

■ Barbecue Sauce—Blend prepared horseradish to taste with commercial barbecue sauce.

Note: If desired, add a spoonful of whipped cream to all except the onion sauce and barbecue sauce.

Velvet Lemon Sauce

Put 2 eggs, ½ teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, ½ cup soft butter, few grains white pepper, and ½ slice onion into a blender container; blend until smooth. Add ½ cup hot water, a little at a time, while blending. Turn into double-boiler top. Cook

Hayley Mills says:

"I Had to Leave Home to Grow Up"

By PEER J. OPPENHEIMER

THERE IS a scene in "The Family Way" in which Hayley Mills dries herself after a bath—the towel being her total costume. "She's come a long way from those Disney pictures," commented one woman movie-goer.

"She certainly has," said her husband. "What a figure!"

Naturally one would expect a 21-year-old girl to have grown up, yet its suddenness came as a surprise to everyone.

Hayley, in spite of her famous family background, was almost as well protected as if she had lived in a convent. She was obedient, extremely well-mannered, and had practically no interest in boys.

No wonder it came as such a shock when Hayley not only appeared in what she refers to as "my first adult movie," but by the time she finished the film, made it quite clear that she'd decided to spend the rest of her life with the film's director, 54-year-old Roy Boulting. He is 33 years older and married, although his London divorce is now pending.

Hayley's parents (actor John Mills and playwright Mary Hayley Bell Mills) were not exactly delighted with this relationship, but a drastic change in Hayley's approach to life was bound to occur. She maintains the change wasn't abrupt.

"When I lived at home," she said, "I lacked confidence. I was painfully shy, hated to meet people, and I was terribly lonely. I had no confidence in myself, socially speaking, and was leary of giving my opinion even when asked. I simply rolled on my parents too much, although they were always wonderful to me."

Her mother tried to divide her time as evenly as possible among all of her children. Nevertheless, for a couple of years before Hayley moved out of the family home, she got the lion's share of attention. Her sister Juliet was married and brother Jonathan was away at school.

Moreover, Hayley had become the most prominent member of the family, and thus, in her mother's eyes, the most vulnerable. She wanted her to be able to look after herself. So she taught Hayley how to cook, keep house, and manage a budget.

"She meant well," Hayley insists. "Too well. I knew then that I had to make the decision to leave. I believe I would have become neurotic if I had continued to live at home, depending upon my parents so much. The only way I could get confidence was to make my own decisions."

Finally, Hayley moved out of the family home. "At first it wasn't easy," she told me. "Mom didn't keep after me, and I became terribly untidy."

In a way, when she fell in love it was not surprising that it was with a man who is only four years younger than her father. "I would only want to be married," Hayley insisted, "to a man understanding enough to realize I want to be a wife and an actress. Besides, I was always around older people as I grow up. But until I met Roy, I was never seriously in love."

Hayley seems in no way responsible for breaking up Roy Boulting's marriage—which, I was told, had been in difficulty for some time—and it's likely that Hayley will marry him when his divorce becomes final. Being a woman, however, she may change her mind—as she has about marriage every time I've talked to her. At 16, she told me, "I want to get married at 21 and have a hundred kids." At 17, she insisted, "I am not going to get married for years and years."

I reminded her of that statement recently, and she said simply: "Well, I'm a lot older now." ♦

Roy and Hayley: a difference of 33 years.

Is the world really as "simple" as it appears? Is man? Or az there, as Shakespeare said, "more things in heaven-and-earth...than are dreamt of in-your philosophy"? Are flying saucers a myth, or are the authorities keeping silent about the UFO's to prevent a possible panic? Do some doctors warn against "spirit-healing" for your good -- or theirs? Will the Russians soon agree to an H-Bomb ban because their scientists have sensed the far more potent powers of E.S.P.? Has there really been a satisfactory explanation for the recurring-power-blackouts that have crippled sections of the country?

The Universe Book Club lets you decide for yourself!

Each month the Editors of the Universe Book Club "discover" the books that raise provocative questions that need answers...books that make you think...books that take "unpopular" stands to help you make up your own mind on puzzling issues of our day. These are finders books. Some are best sellers. But many others have been shoved to the back of the bookstore because they are "too controversial"...or ask too many "embarrassing" questions. These books challenge you to explore...and extend...the frontiers of human experience in the world around us. Discover for yourself the most surprising developments in psychic phenomena and E.S.P.... science and medicine... human relations and nature.
