HODDLING UNDED ENEMY—Fire are soldiers of the U.S. 1st Cavalry Division near Tam Ky, South Vietnam. The relatively inexperienced GIs were immediately scattered by a veteran noncom who shouted to his men to set up a skirmish line and a perimeter around the depression in which they were caught by the enemy fire. The troops called in armored helicopters to pin down the North Vietnamese and then overran the Communists, killing 79 while losing five. (AP wirephoto)

Disaster Strikes During Weekend Claiming 350

By The Associated Press

Disaster struck often and hard over the weekend, and more than 350 persons were reported dead or missing in a typhoon, floods, a train wreck and three plane crashes from the Philippines to Britain. In the Philippines: About 300 were believed dead or missing as casualties counted poured into Manila after typhoon Emma raged across the island and sank an interisland passenger ship.

In England: 51 were dead and 111 injured when an express train derailed on the tracks coming into London Sunday night. Another 37 died in the crash on Saturday of a Spanish airliner arriving in London from Malaga, Spain.

In Hong Kong: Only one person died as a huge Cathay Pacific Airlines Conqair 880 tilted on takeoff and slid into Hong Kong harbor. The other 126 persons aboard escaped unhurt from the floating fuselage.

In New Guinea: All seven persons aboard a light plane died today when it crashed while taking off from Goroka Airport in the New Guinea highlands.

In Italy: At least 11 persons died in a highway crash during hard rains that pushed rivers in Venice and the Po River Delta over their banks to flood roads and highways.

A Philippine national police official said 212 passengers were missing and 172 were drowned after the sinking of the interisland passenger ship.

The vessel sank at the height of Emma's fury. Her howling winds, up to 125 miles an hour, cut a swath of destruction across the Philippines. The Philippine News Service reported 104 others dead or missing in five provinces, and the Red Cross listed 10 dead in two other areas.

The Red Cross said at least 26,000 families or close to 140,000 persons were left homeless by the typhoon in 21 central and northern provinces.

Damage estimates ran up wards of $5 million.

In southeast London this morning firemen cut through a tangle of wrecked passenger cars with acetylene torches, freeing trapped passengers and recovering bodies from the derailment Sunday night of the crash express train from Hastings on the south coast.

Many of the dead were believed to be children returning with their parents from the weekend in the country. Cars began jumping the track as the train whizzed across a bridge at about 70 miles an hour. Four cars careened along on their sides and jackknifed into a giant letter "W" while another turned upside down and skidded along its roof.

Cranes mounted on railroad cars arrived to lift the overturned coaches while rescuers toiled in the rain by the flare of arc lamps.

The Iberia jetliner crashed near Haslemere, England, as it was making its final approach to London. It tore into a 100-foot oak tree, gouged windows out of a farmhouse and came to rest in huddled fragments halfway up a 300-foot hillside.

Among those killed were two Americans; W. N. Perkins of Tyler, Tex., and a Mr. Mendel whose trip originated in Decatur, Ill. Also dead in the crash was British actress June Thorburn, 38. She was expecting a baby in four months.

The Cathay Pacific plane that went into Hong Kong harbor had 12 Americans aboard, including Howard Norton, a Church of Christ missionary en route to Vietnam with his wife. The Nortons are from Oklahoma City.

Many passengers simply donned life vests and stepped into rescue boats. The one fatality was Mrs. Tran Thi-Tan, wife of a South Vietnamese officer stationed at Saigon's Tan Son Nhut airbase.

A Beechcraft Baron carrying a pilot and six passengers crashed at Port Moreby, New Guinea. All the passengers were believed to be Europeans but no names were immediately available.

U.S. Bombs Storage Area By Hanoi

By GEORGE ESPER

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. warplanes bombed a military storage area on the edge of Hanoi for the first time today and a covering U.S. Air Force Phantom jet shot down two MIGs that came up to challenge them.

The storage area that came under attack had been on the Pentagon's out-of-bounds list. The downing of the two Korean War-vintage MIGs by the fastest plane the Air Force has, brought to 98 the number of MIG kills for American airmen in battles over North Vietnam. The United States has lost 26 planes to MIGs.

The announcement came after the command reported that the U.S. Air Force jets had raided the Gia Thuong storage area less than a mile north of the Gia Lam air base, which is across the Red River from the heart of Hanoi and is North Vietnam's main civilian air field.

Credited with bringing down the two MIGs were Capt. Darrell D. Simmonds, 33, of Vernon, Tex., the aircraft commander, and 1st Lt. George H. McKinley Jr., 24, of Bessemer, Ala., the pilot. Both are assigned to the tactical fighter wing at Ubon, Thailand.

Gia Lam is also the only MIG airfield U.S. warplanes have not yet attacked and one of about five major targets still on the Pentagon's restricted list.

Among the others are the Hai Phong docks and railroad terminal and the power plant in Lao Cai, on the border of Communist China.

The Gia Thuong storage area is on the main northern railroad and highway from Communist China to Hanoi over which military supplies come for North Vietnamese troops fighting in South Vietnam. The area is between two key bridges, the Canal des Rapides and the Paul Doumer, both of which have been repeatedly attacked by American bombers.

The American F105 Thunderchief pilots reported MIG 17 and MIG 21 interceptors in the area, and one F15 had a brief clash with one of the Red jets, but the U.S. Command said neither plane was hit.

A U.S. spokesman said Gia Thuong is considered one of the largest military storage areas in North Vietnam, with 72 storage buildings, 11 support buildings and eight administration buildings in the compound. He said the American bombs, dropped on the buildings and on aircraft slips protecting the area.

The spokesman said both the Canal des Rapides and Doumer bridges had been knocked out in previous raids and there apparently was a backlog of military supplies in Gia Thuong, making it a lucrative target.

In another major strike Sunday, Air Force Thunderchiefs again raided the Phuc Yen MIG base northwest of Hanoi and reported damaging at least two MIG 17 interceptors on the ground. In South Vietnam, meanwhile, South Vietnamese infantrymen, battling Viet Cong troops near Loc Ninh.

Congolese Government Claims Defeat Of All Mercenaries

KINSHASA, The Congo (AP) — The Congolese government says it has defeated all the mercenaries that had been harassing it—the group which had held Bukavu since Aug. 8 and another band which invaded from Portuguese-Angola last week.

The government said Sunday that the rebel forces at Bukavu had fled across Kivu Lake into neighboring Rwanda and the invaders were fleeing back to Angola after a Congolese victory in Katanga Province.

In Geneva, the International Red Cross Committee said about 130 white mercenaries, 900 rebel Katangan soldiers and about 100 women and children fled to Rwanda and plans were being made to evacuate them. It did not say where they would go.

In Brussels, the Belgian Foreign Ministry charged that after mercenaries arrived in the city of Kisenge in Katanga, Congolese army troops arrested and machine-gunned five Europeans, including a Belgian, Roman Catholic priest and a nun. It said the priest was among three persons killed and the nun was wounded.

Since July, about 20 European civilians have been reported killed by the Congolese army or police.

No military details were given on either battle front. The Congolese had launched a massive attack on Bukavu early last week and kept up steady mortar fire and air attacks. Information Minister Jean-Jacques Bonito said Monday that all charges made by his group have been put down in writing and Kande said the town fell Saturday night.

Congolese soldiers took positions at the bridge over the Ruzizi River, the border between Rwanda and the Congo.

Foreign Minister Justin Bomboko said the situation was quiet in Katanga, where the invaders from Angola had split into two columns, one heading for Kasaji and the other for Kisenge.

There was no word on 25 men, women and children—mostly Belgians—who the government said were taken away by the mercenaries. Bomboko said

French-born mercenary commander Robert Denard was among the invaders from Angola. He was wounded while leading white mercenaries in a revolt against the government in the eastern Congo July 5 and was evacuated to Rhodesia. His successor, Col. Jean Schramme, a Belgian, long resident in the Congo, had been leading the force in Bukavu.

The Portuguese Embassy denied that any troops had crossed from Angola into the Congo but said the Portuguese government would check whether any infiltration had taken place.

Charges Of Falsehood Denied By Candidate

Charges by Edward Bonito—mattered to the voters and can be checked by them for their own verification.

The voters took exception to statements by Earl Fullmer, superintendent of the Twin Falls Sewage Treatment Plant, that he (Mr. Victor) "seems to want to misrepresent to the people of Twin Falls concerning the sewage treatment plant."

"We never once inferred," said Mr. Victor, "that the present system, as far as it has been built, is unworkable. We merely have stated that it is not meeting state specifications and that an additional covering plant must be built."

"We are the taxpayers' friends and our motives are unquestionable," Mr. Victor concluded. "It is so surprising that there are still some of us who believe in constitutional government, free enterprise, individual responsibility and free agency?"

Fullmer said that he had not intended to misrepresent Mr. Victor's views. He said he had only stated that the sewage treatment plant was not meeting state specifications and that an additional covering plant must be built.

King Hussein Makes Strong Bid For Peace

By WILLIAM N. OATIS

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — King Hussein of Jordan made the strongest Arab bid for peace with Israel as far Sunday, telling an American television audience Arab leaders are willing to recognize Israel's right to exist and possibly to let Israeli ships through the Suez Canal if Israel meets "the right conditions."

Replying to questions on the CBS program "Face the Nation," Hussein said a prerequisite to Israel peace talks is the withdrawal of Israeli troops from all Arab soil it occupied in the June war. Israel has said it will never let go of Old Jerusalem, which Jordan seized in the 1948 Palestine war, and Israel

Prime Minister Levi Eshkol indicated a week ago that Israel intends to keep other Arab areas it captured in June.

Artillery and tank fire punctuated the Jordanian stillness on the Israeli-Jordanian cease-fire line Sunday, marking the third border clash in three weeks between the two countries. An Israeli army spokesman said Jordanian guns opened up to cover Arab saboteurs who blew up a building at a farm settlement and were trying to cross the Jordan River to safety.

Jordan charged that Israel opened the two-hour artillery duel by firing on homes in the Ghor area of northern Jordan. No fatalities were reported on either side.

Hussein meets with Secretary of State Dean Rusk in Washington today and with President Johnson Wednesday. The king said that in his talks with Rusk and Johnson, "I am going to expose the Arab position as it stands now—I think it is a very, very tremendous change from earlier positions."

Arab countries have refused to recognize Israel's right to exist and have maintained that the 1948 state of war has never ended. This has also been the basis of Egyptian, Syrian and Jordanian refusal to let Israeli ships use the Suez Canal and his attempt in June to bar them from the Strait of Tiran leading to the southern Israeli port of Eilat.

But Hussein said the Arab leaders at the Khartoum summit conference. In September, he agreed to offer "to recognize the right of all to live in peace and security" in the Middle East. He said he would also be willing to let Israeli ships use the Suez Canal and the Strait of Tiran, Hussein replied: "I think if the right conditions were met, yes."

Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban repeated Israel's insistence on direct peace talks with Syria, Jordan and Egypt in a speech in London Sunday night.

He said a Zionist government could not be formed until the borders with Israel and her Arab neighbors

Election Day

Polls will open Tuesday at noon in five Twin Falls city precincts for the election of four city councilmen.

City Clerk Constance Leiser said the polls will remain open until 8 p.m. and all registered voters may cast ballots. More than 5,000 persons are now qualified to vote in the election. Absentee ballots are being accepted through 5 p.m. Monday, she said.

Mrs. Leiser said city election officials are asking persons who can to vote early in the afternoon and avoid an anticipated Sunday 5 p.m. rush. She said the Washington School and Memorial Lutheran School precincts are expected to be busy after 5 p.m.

Polling places are the Twin Falls county courthouse for the first precinct; Twin Falls city hall for the second; Magic Valley International, 304 Fourth Ave. W. for the third precinct; Memorial Lutheran School, fourth, and Washington School, fifth precinct.

Multipurpose Satellite In Stationary Orbit

By HOWARD BENEDICT

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A multipurpose "pinball" satellite parked itself in a stationary orbit high above Brazil today, a successful herald to one of America's busiest space weeks.

The new ATS 3, for applications technology satellite, rocketed into orbit from Cape Kennedy Sunday night to test systems that might eventually provide man with greater benefits from space, including new experiments in communications, navigation and weather prediction.

The payload initially achieved a wide-looping orbit ranging from 110 to 22,147 miles high.

After a few days of precise maneuvering, the satellite is to take up permanent station above the mouth of the Amazon River.

ATS 3 is one of four U.S. space shots scheduled this week. Also on tap are:

- Surveyor 6, set to blast off from the Cape at 2:22 a.m. (EST) Tuesday on a planned 65-hour flight to the moon. The spacecraft is intended to land in a potential astronaut landing site near the center of the moon's surface and snap photographs and analyze the lunar soil.
- ESSA 6, another in a series of operational weather study satellites, to be launched Wednesday from Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif.
- A mammoth Saturn 5 rocket, like that which will one day propel astronauts to the moon, to undergo its first test launching Thursday from the Cape. The rocket, largest man-made ever built, is to test an unmanned Apollo moonship 11.

4 Candidates Sued In District Court

A $50,000 damage suit was filed in Fifth Judicial District Court in Twin Falls Monday morning against four candidates seeking election to city council posts Tuesday.

Paul Newton, professional engineer, brought the suit against four members of a conservative bloc, Nolan Victor, Lawrence Tolman, Joseph K. Stumph Jr., and C. G. Pope.

As spokesmen for the four defendants named in the suit, Mr. Victor said Monday morning, "We feel this is a political maneuver in an attempt to minimize the truth of our statement on the conflict of interest that does exist."

"What is a conflict of interest?" he asked. "We believe one exists where Paul Newton, the former city engineer, used our taxpayers' time to speak to various civic and business groups promoting the Blue Lakes Water project. He was still the engineer on the city payroll when the bond issue was voted on in 1965 and resigned three months later to become the resident engineer for the very firm who had been retained by the city at an expense of some $13,000 to determine water needs."

"This same firm was awarded the engineering contract for the Blue Lakes project," Mr. Victor continued. "Mr. Newton's firm will receive approximately $250,000 for their engineering fees. These fees are of course estimated when the water project phases will stop and the totals added up."

In his suit, Mr. Newton charges an advertisement run by the four candidates Nov. 3 in the Times-News was intended to damage the reputation and the professional standing of the plaintiff.

He alleged information in the advertisement was false and known by the defendants to be false at the time of their advertising.

The advertisement stated, "A conflict of interest exists where Paul Newton, city engineer from 1960 to 1965 promoted the Blue Lakes water project costing millions of dollars, quit his job with the city to act as resident engineer for the very project."

"His firm will receive about $250,000 on this project," the advertisement stated.

Edward Bonito represents the plaintiff in the case, which seeks $50,000 in damages plus other sums to be set later, and costs of the suit.

Pope Talks Business After Surgery

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI discussed church business today for the first time since his operation Saturday and was visited by his two brothers.

The Pope conferred for 45 minutes with Cardinal Giovanni of the Vatican secretary of state. He also was visited by his brothers, Sen. Ludovico Montini and Dr. Francesco Montini, a heart specialist.

The Pope's progress since his operation aroused belief that he may be able to resume some of his usual activities sooner than expected.

There is talk in Vatican circles that the 70-year-old pontiff, whose prostate gland was removed Saturday, might be allowed to appear at his window briefly next Sunday or the one after to bless the Sunday crowd in St. Peter's Square.

Synopsis, Farm Summary

High pressure and clear skies in the valleys of Southern Idaho have resulted in another cold night. A new record was set at Pocatello where a 70 degree reading was the coldest for this early in the season. Rexberg and Aberdeen reported lows of 9 degrees. It was quite a bit warmer in the western valleys where a low of 27 degrees occurred at Boise.

Clear skies are the rule in Southern Idaho valleys this morning as high pressure both at the surface and aloft continues in our valley. A Pacific storm is approaching the West Coast and is forecast to move into the Pacific Northwest today and early tomorrow. High pressure aloft will remain relatively strong over the western states and the front is expected to weaken as it moved into the Intermountain Region. Increasing cloudiness is forecast in our valleys on Tuesday with a chance for showers late Tuesday and Wednesday.

Daytime temperatures will be a little warmer today. Some cooling of daytime temperatures indicated again by Wednesday. Nighttime temperatures, however, will be higher as cloudiness at night moves into our valleys.

Soil temperatures today will be in the upper 50s to the upper 60s and an occasional low 60 degree reading. Low temperatures tonight will range from the teens in eastern valleys to the 20s in western valleys. Highs on Tuesday will be mostly in the 50s.

Five-Day Forecast

High pressure aloft will remain relatively strong through this five-day period. High pressure at the surface will weaken some late in the week but will be strong in the remainder of the week.

Temperatures in the valleys of Southern Idaho will average from 2 to 8 degrees above normal. Daytime temperatures will be a little cooler during mid week with warming the latter part of the week. Nights will be somewhat milder late in the week. Some normal maximum and minimum temperatures for this period are Boise 52-30, Gooding 52-30, Twin Falls 52-27, Burley 52-28, Pocatello 48-24 and Idaho Falls 48-24.

Pacific storm systems moving into the Intermountain Region will remain rather weak in our valleys late Tuesday and Wednesday. Most weather will be associated with the low center to the north of our valleys. Precipitation amounts less than 10 of an inch are possible in western valleys from showers mostly on Wednesday. Little if any measurable precipitation is forecast to reach into eastern valleys.

Sunshine will increase again late in the week with cloudiness forecast into the middle of the week. Sunshine will average about 85 to 70 per cent of possible throughout the week. Wind speeds will be stronger through mid week with light winds again the latter part of the week.

Humphrey And Suharto Discuss Vietnam War

By T. JEFF WILLIAMS

JAKARTA (AP)—Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey discussed the Vietnam war with Indonesian acting President Suharto but did not ask him to mediate, sources in Humphrey's party said today.

The sources said Suharto indicated he could help the United States because he has diplomatic relations with both nations. They said Humphrey thanked him for the offer but never specifically requested any assistance.

A spokesman for Suharto had said Sunday that Humphrey asked the Indonesian government to mediate. The sources in Humphrey's party said this was incorrect.

Humphrey left the holiday island of Bali today. After a stop in Central Java to inspect an agricultural project sponsored by the American Food for Work Program, he was to be host to Suharto at a dinner for Suharto.

The vice president donned a sport shirt and relaxed on his overnight visit to Bali, an island of beautiful girls, colorful dances, smoking volcanoes, lush jungles and white sand beaches. He was greeted by scores of lovely girls sprinkling him with flowers, and girls in colorful sarongs lined his route to the airport today.

More talks with Suharto were expected at tonight's dinner, and it was assumed the war in Vietnam as well as Indonesia's economic plight would be high on the agenda.

Ex-Rupert Woman Dies In Colorado

RUPERT — Mrs. Corriene Goodman, 63, former Rupert resident, died Friday of bone cancer at Englewood, Colo.

She was born Sept. 5, 1904, in Emmett, and came to Rupert in 1925. Mrs. Goodman started her first nursing job in 1927, becoming a registered nurse. In 1928, she was married to Rodney G. Goodman. They operated a mortuary here until 1956 when they sold the business to Robert C. Walk and moved to LaJolla, Calif. Her husband died there in 1961.

In August, 1967, she moved to Englewood to make her home with a son, Donald Goodman. Survivors include two sons, Donald Goodman, Englewood, and Jim Goodman, Rupert; a daughter, Eleanor Goodman, South Deerfield, Mass.; five grandchildren, two sisters, Mrs. Lucille Larson of San Gabriel, Calif., and Mrs. June Brunson, Eugene, Ore., and one brother, Jim Valkor, San Jose, Calif.

Man Charged In Slaying Of Ohio Woman

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP)—Sheriff Earl L. Rife said today he has filed first degree murder charges against a service station attendant in the slaying of Karen Korn, 20-year-old niece of state labor and political leader Frank W. King.

Rife filed the charges against Mark David Hodges, 26, of Lafayette, Ohio, near Beavercreek.

The nude body of Mrs. Korn, a school secretary of Sylvania, Toledo suburb, was found a week ago in an irrigation ditch south of Perrysburg, another Toledo suburb.

Authorities said she had been shot seven times and stabbed three times.

Hodges is presently in jail at nearby Napoleon on a charge of shooting with intent to kill. That charge stemmed from the wounding of Denise Fortner, 17, of near Napoleon.

Hodges was shot last August in a drive-by motorcycle case near Napoleon. Hodges was arrested in that case last Wednesday night.

Authorities said Hodges was one of the last persons known to have seen Miss Korn alive. She had stopped at a service station in Napoleon and Sunday morning a week ago Sunday night because her car was overheating.

Miss Korn was returning home from a weekend visit with friends in Charleston, Ill., when she disappeared.

King, her uncle, is president of the Ohio AFL-CIO and a state senator from Toledo. He is the Senate Democratic leader.

Hodges is married and the father of three children. Authorities said both Miss Fortner and Miss Kern were shot with a .25 caliber pistol.

Buildup OK'd

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara today authorized a 19,800-man increase in the Army Reserve and National Guard that would include more state troops for possible use against riots.

About 125 new units would be created in the state-administered National Guard. McNamara said they were being added "in response to state requests for units to accomplish state missions."

Spokesman said this referred mainly to handling civil disorders but also included aid in disasters and other special assignments.

The increase in troops was authorized as a means of maintaining manpower levels ordered by Congress.

New York, N.Y. (Special) Science has found a medication with the ability, in most cases, to promptly stop itching, relieve pain and actually shrink hemorrhoids.

Tests by doctors proved that hemorrhoids, when gently relieved with this new, pain-relieving preparation, actually reduce in size.

Area Woman Taken To State Prison

A 20-year-old area woman was taken to the Idaho State Prison to serve a one to 15 year term for violation of probation, Twin Falls County Prosecutor Michael Felton announced Monday.

Mrs. Sharon Leo Cochran, address not listed, was taken to the prison during the weekend. She was charged Aug. 1 with first degree burglary in connection with theft of about $30 from a service station cash register at East Five Points. Mrs. Cochran pleaded guilty to that charge when she appeared in Fifth District Court.

Judge James Cunningham withheld judgment and placed Mrs. Cochran on 18 months probation on Sept. 22.

She was later accused of being involved in a knifing incident behind the Perrine Hotel on Oct. 18. Mr. Felton said the Idaho Parole and Probation officer placed Mrs. Cochran in a probation violator's status, and Mrs. Cochran was arraigned in Fifth District Court for sentencing last week.

Judge Cunningham said Mrs. Cochran is to serve not less than a year and not more than 15 years in the penitentiary if the conviction of first degree burglary.

Chances For World Communist Strategy Conference Are Dim

By WILLIAM L. RYAN AP Special Correspondent
Moscow is swarming with Communist leaders from around the world during the celebration of the 50th anniversary of Bolshevik power, but those who want to use the event for a world Communist strategy conference are likely to be frustrated. The chances for such a conference, for at least another year, are dim. This represents a Soviet defeat.

WHY DO GIRLS LOVE BANGLES?

Norman Herrett
If there's a young girl—or one not so young—in your home, you might ask her this question. The chances are she will grin broadly and tell you that it's the fashion.
And that's perfectly right. However, if you look in your history books, you will find that costume jewelry has been "in fashion" for ladies as far back as man records. Cleopatra was famous for her beauty—which was enhanced most cleverly by fabulous strings of pearls and bracelets with "bangles" on them.
Today the Modern Miss of high school and college age—not to mention her older sisters and even her mother—have a vogueish flair for all sorts of jewelry. We call this "costume jewelry" for it dresses up a frock or suit or evening gown and lends glamour to the proud wearer.
We carry a very large selection of real gem jewelry—necklaces, easter pins, brooches, regular and pierced earrings, and bracelets. All of it has been carefully chosen by us from leading jewelry manufacturers. And each piece represents jewelry craftsmanship at its best. Come in and see it!
There's always someone to whom such a gift will be thrilling. Or you might come in yourself and buy something you have been wanting.

Marxism-Leninism as a purely Russian concept. This erosion of the movement is going on in all continents, and particularly in areas which followers of Mao Tse-tung call "the third world," which by his reckoning ultimately will be arrayed against all advanced countries, including the Soviet Union.
Worried about this tendency, Moscow began early this year trying to line-up support for a world conference whose unannounced purpose would be to condemn Marxist ideas. The Russians failed, first a meeting of party leaders in Czechoslovakia and again at a meeting of almost 70 parties in East Germany.
The Soviet party has not given up, but the effort appeared doomed.
The opponents pointed out that, in the first place, a global meeting at this time would be impossible since the Chinese and their supporters surely would boycott it.
On the other hand, they argued, if the Russians insisted, the anti-Moscow parties headed by the Chinese probably would call their own conference, and that would make the chasm between the two factions wider than ever.

Kentucky Governor's Race May Give Indication Of Johnson's Popularity

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The Kentucky governor's election Tuesday may yield the first concrete evidence of whether President Johnson's Vietnam policy has reduced his popularity, as recent polls indicate.
Louie B. Nunn, a 43-year-old country lawyer from south Kentucky, is trying to become the state's first Republican governor in 20 years, partly by broadening the campaign to include national issues.
His thesis: A vote for him is a repudiation of Johnson's policies.
"Tired of the war?" a campaign slogan asks. "Vote Nunn."
Democrat Henry Ward, a 58-year-old former highway commissioner, ignores Vietnam, and all other national questions, to concentrate on state issues.

While Nunn has imported California Gov. Ronald Reagan and other GOP leaders for his campaign, the Democrats act as though they haven't been in touch lately with any party official outside Kentucky.
A month ago, unblinded observers regarded the contest as a walkaway for Ward, who is supported by Gov. Edward T. Breathitt, ineligible by law to succeed himself, and generously financed.
Democratic satellites now concede privately the race has tightened.
Jack McDonough, national chairman of the Young Republicans, has called the gubernatorial contest the "big election" of the country this year.
"In 1966 (congressional and state elections) the voters said no to LBJ," he said. "The question is whether Kentucky voters will say no to him in 1967."
If this view is correct, Ward is a victim of the times—a state symbol of what voters purposefully resent on a national level.
Ward's answer to the potential danger is to try to limit the arena to Kentucky—repeating his claimed record of honesty and efficient public service for 30 years.
He accuses Nunn of "racial prejudice and religious bigotry" and of intensifying "dishonest and disgraceful tactics." Last spring, Nunn was accused of stirring prejudice against Roman Catholics, Jews and Negroes in his campaign for the Republican nomination. He emphatically denied it.
Nunn, a dentist, Jefferson County Judge Marlow W. Cook, a Catholic, who supports him against Ward.

Bicycle Theft Ring Broken In St. Louis

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Detectives in St. Louis and suburban University City said they broke a bicycle theft ring over the week end, included in the roundup was 100 bicycles, 11 juveniles and a 60-year-old man.
Booked on charges of suspected burglary and contributing to the delinquency of a minor was James H. Schmidt of St. Louis.
Officers found two stolen bicycles in Schmidt's basement, along with five other stripped-down frames. Officers also located what they called "a truck load" of frames at another apartment.
Police said Schmidt admitted buying two bicycles from boys but said he planned to give them to neighborhood children as Christmas presents.

Mimidoka To Elect Woman For Mayor

MINIDOKA — The city of Mimidoka's first mayor will most likely be a woman, Mrs. Paul (Dorothy Courtright) is the only candidate running for the position.
Mrs. Courtright has been chairman of the board for the past six years. She has served as relief postmaster for 12 years and is also secretary of the Mimidoka County Zoning board. She and her husband have four children.
There are three other vacancies to be filled. The incumbents are running unopposed for two-year terms and one four-year term.
Bud Irwin, who has served on the board for at least six years, is seeking re-election for the four-year term. He is a rancher—Clive Schell, who has been a resident of Mimidoka for 10 years and has served on the board four years, is running for a two-year term.
Virgil Carlisle, who is employed by the Union Pacific Railroad and has lived in Mimidoka since 1948, also is running for a two-year term.
There are 27 registered voters and the voting will take place at the city hall.

JAMES ROPER was elected Cassia County Republican Central committeeman chairman during a meeting last week at the Idaho Bank and Trust Building. The election meeting was called by Mrs. Charles Ferhug, vice chairman, to fill the vacancy for the county chairman post. Dean Van Engelen, who had held the chairmanship for several years, has moved to St. Louis, Mo. Top Republican officials attending the election meeting were Roland Wilbur, Boise, state finance chairman; William Maxwell, Boise, executive director for Idaho, and David Mead, Twin Falls, regional chairman, district 5.

THINK ... VOTE INDEPENDENT

LLOYD V. COX

I am running as an independent candidate because

I think the Council needs an independent thinker and not just another person to go along with the "Block Vote." I intend to vote as I think the people who elect me want me to vote regardless of how the other six members cast their votes. I want us to have a better Twin Falls and that is what I will work for.

We have an airport

Nobody can deny this. Some day we might have a regional airport if the people of the valley decide in this direction. But someday may be a long way away so let's improve the existing facility and do it now. It needs improvement and it needs some changes. So let's do it and do it the most expedient way we know how and keep the cost down to what we can afford.

There has been much bickering about our mill levy and assessed valuations. What I am interested in is the end result — How many dollars we have to pay in taxes. I personally don't want to pay any more taxes than is absolutely necessary to run this city and that will be one of my primary aims.

Our streets, in general, are in deplorable condition

This is not an idle statement. Drove on locust, Addison Avenue, Falls Avenue, and many others and it won't take long for you to agree with me. If the present commissioners feel they have done a good job in this area, they are dead wrong.

I'm for the city management form of government

We can not possibly get a qualified man for mayor who could devote the necessary time to this job. We, as a commission, should take a good look at the various departments within our city and see just how many assistants are really needed and are their salaries really justified. Do we need an assistant city manager and assistant engineer? I want to know!

Many people have worked diligently to get new industry into our city. Unfortunately, we have not been too successful. I propose that we attempt to extend our efforts in this direction. We need good industries in our area and should do everything possible to get the job done and get it done successfully.

In conclusion,

I wish to thank those of you who have given me your support in this campaign. If elected, I will do everything in my power to justify your confidence. It will have to be the doors and not the talkers who will make our town advance. I intend to be a doer. I am convinced that Twin Falls can be a bigger and better City.

A Rare Thank You

Uncle Sam receives so few public thank yous for his generosity to the less fortunate nations of the world it is a pleasure to acknowledge the kind words of India's Chidambara Subramaniam.

Mr. Subramaniam, an official of the ruling Congress party, told the Committee on the World Food Congress that American food shipments have prevented his country from suffering "the worst human tragedy in more than a century."

The Indian, a former food minister, was not exaggerating his country's plight. Tons of millions of Indians came close to the brink of mass starvation. Only the infusion of 6.1 million tons of U.S. grain shipments this year and 8 million tons last year prevented the tragedy.

While the immediate crisis has passed, India still faces the problems of large scale malnutrition. A lack of protein in the diet has caused millions of cases of brain damage and other physical deficiencies which will continue to plague India for at least a generation. But the initial crisis has been met and overcome.

"We were fortunate," said Subramaniam, "that the people of the U.S. were willing and able to help us." The changing attitude of his government has not gone unnoticed by American officials who remember well the anti-American tirades of the late Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru, who nevertheless accepted billions of dollars in American aid, or the even worse attacks by the leftist Krishna Menon.

"The United States doesn't ask much in return for its generosity to nations like India—entirely too little, in the view of some critics—but the American taxpayer does appreciate knowing his efforts at helping others are received as the generous gesture they are intended to be."

An Urban Nation

A farmer today and a city dweller tomorrow is more than an adage expressing the attraction of bright lights to a country boy. It is a prediction of the state of the nation by the year 2000, as seen by a population analyst.

The economic geographer comments that by the turn of the century the United States will be divided into 10 "super-metropolitan areas," each covering parts of several states, and 285 smaller metropolitan areas spread from coast to coast.

All in all, says the expert, 85 percent of the nation's citizens will live within the confines of urban borders, one-third in the 10 largest cities. Some big city denizens who have not traveled outside the smoke and congestion of their respective domains for years may have the impression that this is the way things are now.

Surveys of odd types from time to time are reminders that many city slickers have never seen a cow, a horse or a chicken, and some may even be ignorant of the source of their dehydrated milk and powdered eggs. Let them be informed that areas where humanity does not mingle bumper to bumper and the term subway, if thought of at all, conjures the image of a new experience to be tried sometime.

The relative peace and neighborliness of the country and small town, it seems, are to be further invaded by city slickers, gasping for air. City planners have already completed sketches of congested living of the future, including in them belts of sacrosanct land to break the monotony of solid concrete and asphalt.

Progress such as this is easier to contemplate if one has confidence in man's space efforts. Assuming other civilizations have not arrived there first, there should still be room on Mars, Saturn and Jupiter.

THE BOISE COLLEGE BUILDING BOMB

Members of the Idaho Legislature realized that the state was accumulating a sizeable non-revenue burden when they voted this year to make Boise College a state institution.

But they probably didn't expect that the college would be unwilling a $10.7 million building program, as it did earlier this week. President John Barnes said the buildings are needed for an enrollment that is expected to reach 7,500 in five years.

The immediate problem is that, as things now stand, no state funds for construction can be available until July 1, 1969, the start of the next biennium. Construction would take additional time. That means it would be at least two years before any new buildings are completed.

Meanwhile, the college will become a state institution in January, 1969. Enrollment should rise more rapidly with an end to tuition requirements for Idaho residents.

The 1969 Legislature will have to weigh the building needs at Boise College against those of other state institutions and agencies. Since the building fund normally provides for about $8 million in construction every two years, it would take four years to build the Boise College needed.

There is some question as to whether the legislature will be willing to finance a proposed $2 million stadium from the building fund. The University of Idaho has chosen to charge students $75 a year for 40 years to pay the cost of a new $6.5 million athletic plant, including stadium and coliseum.

It would seem that the most pressing need for rapidly growing colleges is classroom buildings. Included in the $10.7 million is $4 million for classroom buildings, and $500,000 for a vocational-educational building.

Note: College can't expect the legislature to immediately vote funds for all its building requests. Some things will have to wait, as they have waited at the two universities.

On the other hand, the $10.7 million is not an astronomical figure. It may be remembered that the state acquired a sizable college plant at no cost. Those buildings have been constructed over the years by taxpayers in the Boise College district.

It isn't surprising that a school growing rapidly in enrollment would have $10.7 million in building needs. The University of Idaho's building requests to the last legislature totaled $9.1 million and Idaho State University's $4.1 million.

The legislature appropriated $3.5 million for building at the universities and $750,000 to Lewis-Clark Normal School. More money than usual was appropriated for buildings because of a non-revenue surplus from the 1965-67 biennium.

Even with Boise College, the state is in much better position in relation to buildings at state institutions than it was before the permanent building fund was created in 1961. — The Statesman.

HIGHER LAW

Few things grate on the average citizen more than to see legalism triumph over good sense. Thus many a Canadian and American will read with indignation how Albert Romeo's good deed cost him $30. This was the fine he paid for having kept a dog home and nursed to health an injured falcon.

For the judge, while commending the Albert Romeo's kindness, found him guilty of violating a provincial act forbidding the handling, possession, or keeping in captivity of any wild animal.

We do not doubt for a moment that the act is a wise one and is designed to cover a multitude of possible offenses. But we do not see the wisdom of any law that would not ask if, in this instance, a deeper wisdom did not dictate Mr. Romeo's technical violation of its provisions. Surely the honorable of the Good Samaritan has legal standing in the courts of any civilized land. Surely the intent of any law is to foster kindness and truth rather than an unfeeling disregard of suffering.

If a court must find motive to uphold a criminal conviction, surely it must take into account the motives of the Golden Rule. This will strengthen justice, not weaken it. And this will help men to that far-off hoped-for happy state of affairs when laws will not be needed to control men's acts. — Christian Science Monitor.

The Door Is Open For Radical Ideas

WASHINGTON (NEA) — If the war in Vietnam ended tomorrow, it evidently would be a keen disappointment to many American radicals who today are assailing it fanatically.

Radicals in attendance at the New Politics conference in Chicago two months ago told this reporter they saw the war as the greatest opportunity in many years to advance socially the radical social causes they and others espouse.

Their basic point is simple: They believe that this war, as no other recent blight, has stirred such convulsion in the just loosened fabric of American society, has made assault upon established government authority respectable, and thus has opened the door to radical change on many fronts.

Talking of this in Chicago, one radical saw the diligent over the most golden moment since the Great Depresion of the 1930s fanned the flames of radicalism in a then bewildered nation.

Radicals who hold to this view plainly welcome the turmoil of demonstrations and the torrent of criticisms which have plagued the Johnson administration since our heavy military entry into Vietnam. They are usually in the vanguard of such stirring as the sometimes-violent "frontal assault" at the Pentagon Oct. 21.

Were the war to end suddenly, its loosening effect upon U. S. society would be lost to ambitious radicals who recognize that they seldom make much headway except in times of great national stress.

They might then try to throw greater weight into the urban racial struggle — which is tearing the American fabric in other ways.

But one influential radical who attended the Chicago meeting on New Politics said privately it would be a serious mistake to underestimate the labors of dedicated Communists at that conference.

This man, himself stoutly anti-Vietnam war and antiracial discrimination, sees many of his radical fellow travelers as dupes for anti-American Reds who work cleverly and persistently in the emotional chaos engendered by these controversial issues.

The "innocent" radicals, then, warmly hail the opportunity for massive change they think Vietnam and the racial struggle have brought. To the great American middle, their goals seem wildly unrealistic. But, in a curious way, they are pro-American. Many are white, black, Red, or both, strike them, as just the opposite.

Civilian Casualties Light

WASHINGTON—Let us agree, for just this once, that the more respectable types among the protesters for peace — college professors, wide-eyed college students, editors, writers and the like — are sincere in their destination of the war in Vietnam. They are still the most misguided and most misinformed group since the crowd that wanted to do business with Hitler.

This would be tragic if they were merely victims of a total absence of facts, confirmed by international observers. Their plight, however, approaches the preposterous when they are given information released by the North Vietnamese regime which contradicts their own wild charges.

The cruelest of these charges, made almost daily, is that American bombing planes are killing thousands upon thousands of North Vietnamese civilians in deliberate attacks on civilian targets. It is a charge that is refuted by a recent Hanoi communique which states that during the first six months of 1967 only about 500 civilians were killed and some 1,100 wounded by U.S. bombing raids.

Now, the U.S. flew between 30,000 and 50,000 plane missions during the first six months of this year. They were aimed at targets purposely located in heavily populated areas. Yet by Hanoi's own admission, American pilots have been almost creditably accurate in avoiding civilian casualties. If the peace protesters hadn't copyrighted the word, I would call these pilots humanitarian.

So far as I have been able to learn, none of the peace protesters has mentioned this Hanoi communique. We have had no "on-the-other-hand" from the former editor, Harry Ashmore, who interviewed Ho Chi Minh, and returned to blame Washington for frustrating efforts to hold peace talks. The New York Times' Harrison Salisbury appears never to have heard of it. Dagmar Wilson, the indefatigable lady who heads Women Strike for Peace, has been struck strangely silent by this revelation. The man which tries to storm the Pentagon gave it not so much as a whisper.

I do not wish to belabor a group whose logic and double standards would be laughable under other circumstances, but have they none of their celebrated — or notorious — humanitarianism to spare for the South Vietnamese people? It is a witness to the fact that the Viet Cong and

North Vietnamese killed more than 500 civilians and kidnaped or wounded several thousand more in one week preceding the Presidential election. Every year, the Communists slaughter nearly 10,000 South Vietnamese civilians — men, women and children.

The recent peace march in Washington cost assorted government establishments more than $1 million, including $12,000 just to clean up the mess. Not a dime has been spent on any mass rallies protesting the Communist genocide in South Vietnam.

Meanwhile, in the midst of a war that reaches into every hamlet, South Vietnam has managed to hold five elections in 24 months. In all these elections, there was more than one candidate for each office. Ho Chi Minh, who is pictured by some of the chosen, useful few permitted to visit North Vietnam as a kind of secular grandfather, got 99 per cent of the vote in the 1960 North Vietnam election. The critics who ridicule the South Vietnamese elections never mention that Ho had no opposition.

Lyndon Johnson is said to be saddened by those signs reading "BY THE BUTCHER." He should n't be. A man is also respected for the enemies he makes.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Vietnam Election Aftermath

WASHINGTON—The remarkable man who is American Ambassador in Saigon, Ellisworth Duncker, is testing the extent of American influence on the newly elected government of South Vietnam. Of all the tasks he has performed so well in various parts of the world this one, somewhere between diplomat and proconsul, is the most difficult and perilous.

In the aftermath of the election Duncker put the highest priority on one particular commitment: that was to prevent the new government from taking revenge on the rivals and the runners-up. His dispatches closely followed in the White House and the State Department are said to reflect his concern over how violent reprisals can discredit the experiment in representative government.

The peace candidate, Truong Dinh Dzu, who placed next to the winners, President Nguyen Van Thieu and Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky, was the first to be arrested on a charge of a bad check charge several years old and allegedly sending money to the United States. Denying the bad check charge, he said he had sent money for the education of two of his children in American universities. Dzu, still under house arrest, is rated a shrewd and perhaps not so scrupulous operator and officials here tend, therefore, to downgrade his case.

But another test case cannot be so readily dismissed. Au Truong Thanh, minister of economics for a time in the cabinet of Premier Ky, is regarded by Americans who have known him as one of the ablest and most honest of the ruling group in Saigon. His name was stricken from the Sept. 3 ballot on grounds of "your commitment, neutrality or suspicion of having Viet Cong contacts."

After the election he applied for an exit visa to visit the United States. This was in response to an invitation from the Council for A Livable World. The council, made up largely of liberals and organized in the United States by the late Dr. Leo Bellard, had become convinced that Thanh is one of the few remaining figures capable of helping to find a peaceful solution of the war in Vietnam.

Shortly after he applied for the exit visa, Gen. Nguyen Khanh, head of South Vietnam's force of 90,000 secret police, led a raid on Thanh's house. A plot was alleged with rifles and pistols armed into the house, forcibly drove out reporters who had been alerted by Thanh to the possibility of a raid and took him to a police station. Returned to his house the following day, he continues to believe that his life is in jeopardy, as does the Council for A Livable World.

Council members have used every channel to try to persuade the Thieu-Ky government to grant the exit visa. They insist they do not want to exploit Thanh's views in a publicity campaign but rather to establish with him what he believes may still be avenues to a peaceful settlement of the war. Several senators, including Edward Brooke of Massachusetts, have asked the State Department to use whatever influence it can to allow Thanh to leave the country.

The department gives of course, the formal response that the government of South Vietnam is an independent government and the Thanh visa is an internal matter in which the United States cannot interfere. Assistant Secretary of State William Bundy says that not only did Thanh have previous contacts with the Viet Cong but more recently he has been in contact with them.

Chocolate Milk

A mother writes that she has heard that chocolate milk is not as nutritious as plain milk because the chocolate syrup destroys the calcium content of the milk. This is another example of partially right conclusion, but with a wrong reason. Chocolate milk contains less butter fat than whole milk and to that extent it is less nutritious but there is nothing in the chocolate syrup that will harm your child unless he has an allergy to it. If a child orders chocolate milk, let him have it rather than go without any milk. Chocolate milk is approved by the U.S. Department of Agriculture for school lunches. It is true that the oxalic acid contained in the chocolate syrup will combine with the calcium in the milk to make it insoluble and, therefore it will not be absorbed in the body but the amount of oxalic acid is so small that the loss of calcium from this source would be insignificant.

Many other foods that are commonly eaten contain much more oxalic acid than chocolate, yet even they do not have enough to interfere with the body's calcium supply.

Q — My daughter has cheesy yellowish plaques in her tonsils. Sometimes they come loose and she spits them out but now ones develop. What are they and how can she get rid of them?

A — When the tonsils have deep pockets, as many normal tonsils do, small particles of food may lodge in them. The plaques consist of these particles plus dead cells from the mucous lining of the pockets. They can usually be removed by pressure with a tongue blade or the handle of a teaspoon. The only way to keep them from forming again would be to have her tonsils removed but I would not advise this unless they are definitely diseased.

Q — My niece 13, has amblyopia. Will she become completely blind or is there a cure for it?

A — Amblyopia is a reduction of vision that can't be corrected with glasses and for which no cause can be found by examining the eye. It is sometimes caused by an emotional reaction, in which case it will clear up if the underlying cause is discovered and removed. In some children it is present in one eye only and is the result of strabismus, in which the eyes are in different planes. In these cases, covering the good eye may bring about improvement. Large doses of quinine and various chemical poisons are other possible causes. Every effort should be made to determine the type of amblyopia and apply appropriate treatment.

BARRY GOLDWATER

Boomerang Laws

There is a boomerang effect in politics that should be wised up to before it hits us all in the head.

Government programs which profess to help people through rules and regulations often turn around and hurt them instead.

Our minimum wage laws are a prime example. Now, after a few months of experience with the latest boost in the rate, we can see the boomerang effect in operation at its worst and most painful.

Let's start with a fact. Since the last rise in the minimum wage, some 400,000 Americans have been put out of work. Some have been put out of work because their employers could not afford to pay the new rate.

This figure isn't pulled out of a hat. It rings a hard, statistically truthful ring about it. It begins with a survey of the largest small business group in the world, the National Federation of Independent Businesses, Inc., which has nearly a quarter-million U. S. members.

Since the new wage law went into effect early this year, the NFIB has regularly been surveying its members regarding the impact of the law. On a steadily rising curve, the returns show that more than a quarter of the member firms, month after month, have been forced to lay workers off because of the new law. By a computer projection of the data, to take into account all other businesses, the small business estimate that more than 400,000 Americans have been dropped from payrolls specifically and solely because of the new minimum wage levels.

A Virginia employer who had to drop 20 of his 80 employees put it this way: "Our firm can no longer afford to pay unskilled labor at the new rate." In a stark statement he summed up the failure of the minimum wage law to protect those who certainly need help more than those in the highly organized crafts and trades.

Another concern in 1967 is young people. How do the minimum wage laws protect them? A Wisconsin law official, after firing two of his eight employees because of the new wage law, said: "We feel a jump to $1.40 an hour is way too much for a beginner out of high school."

There is no area where the minimum wage law appears to be doing a useful rather than a destructive job. Certainly any isolated examples of helpfulness would be more than wiped out by the tragic fact of putting 400,000 Americans out of work.

Those Americans, fired because of this political maneuver, now don't have to worry about getting a minimum wage. They just have to worry about getting welfare checks — which they did not need as long as they had jobs, even though the jobs did not pay exactly what some Washington bureaucrats thought they should.

The bureaucrats have done their usual job of messing everything up in order to stick to a pet theory.

Every time the minimum wage has gone up, thousands of people have been put out of work. There is accumulating evidence that more than a million Americans may face the dreary prospect of welfare checks, rather than wages, by the end of this year as a result of the new minimum wage law. Their only hope, and our only hope, is that the nation will wise up to the vast difference between government promises and government performance in such areas as this.

2 APPEALS VIEWED

BOISE (AP) — The Idaho Supreme court took under advisement Monday arguments in two appeals involving contentions that constitutional rights were denied in district court action.

James V. Higheagle, serving a term in the state penitentiary from Ada County on a charge of forgery, brought one of the appeals and Leonard Dean Gardner and Wayne Carter Peterson, convicted of robbery in Idaho Falls, brought the other.

Gardner and Peterson were denied a petition for a writ of habeas corpus in Bonneville County District Court. They asked the supreme court to reverse the district court, contending they were not advised of their right of appeal.

Higheagle pleaded guilty to forgery but he alleged he was not informed of his right to have an attorney.

Bags Animals

NEW YORK (AP) — Patrolman Patrick O'Connor, who bagged a billy goat on Wall Street last Friday added a monkey to his animal collection Sunday.

O'Connor, 42, and weighing 280 pounds, captured the stray goat after a chase down the East River Drive. He caught up with it in front of the New York Stock Exchange.

Sunday, he was one of six officers responding to a report of a monkey on a fourth-floor terrace of an apartment in the Chelsea district of Manhattan.

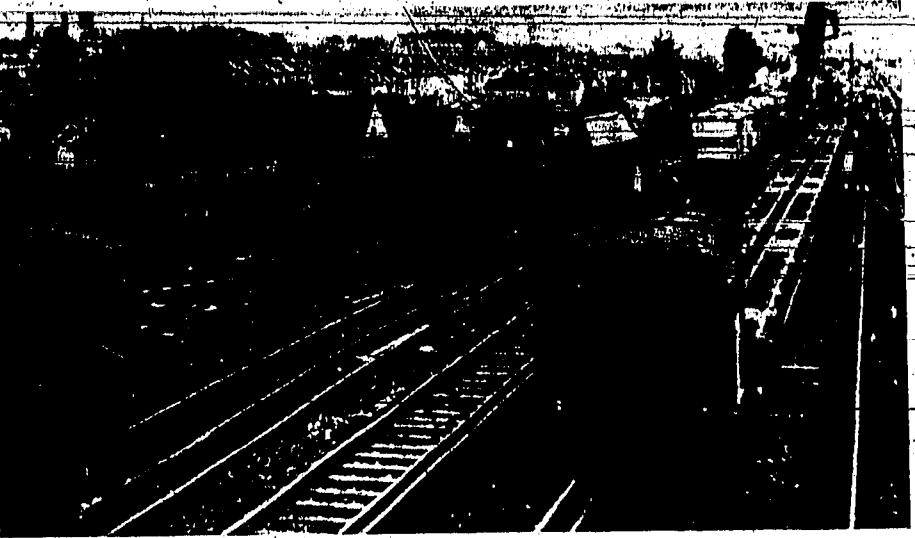

O'Connor followed the monkey to ground level, then over a seven-foot fence and into an apartment in the next building. He put the animal into a cloth sack and sent it to a animal shelter.

Mrs. Johnson Talks Of Life As First Lady

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lady Bird Johnson says the President has a reasoned, searching reaction to mounting criticism and "keeps his head high, his feet on the ground and goes on working the best he can."

"He doesn't want to be rigidly bound into one set of thinking," the First Lady said. "He's always trying to learn and explore."

Approaching the anniversary of four years in the White House, Mrs. Johnson said she has never lived so intensely. "Awareness of this house is like a shot of adrenalin intensifying the desire to do the best you can to live up to what this country wants its first family to be."

The President's hair is whiter, he has more lines in his face; "it has taken a lot—it's been worth everything it takes," his wife said.

President's Popularity Unchanged

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — The downward trend in President Johnson's popularity has halted since late August, according to the Gallup Poll.

Gallup's organization, the American Institute of Public Opinion, said for a period of more than two months, the President's popularity rating has remained virtually unchanged.

As of now, 38 per cent of those questioned say they approve of the way the President is handling his job, with 50 per cent of those questioned expressing disapproval and 12 per cent with no opinion.

The institute said in late August that 40 per cent of those questioned expressed approval of the President's actions and in September 38 per cent.

Hells Canyon Dam's Generator Started

HILLS CANYON, Idaho (AP) — Hydroelectric power was streaming up the side of the deepest gorge on the North American continent today as the first generator in Idaho Power Company's Hells Canyon Dam began its first full day of operation.

Power from the dam, last of three constructed for the company on a 100-mile stretch of the Snake River, is sent on a transmission line over the Oregon crest of the canyon in a stunning area eight miles west.

The generator began turning Sunday when Idaho Power Board Chairman F. Roach, Boise, flipped a switch in ceremonies marking first production of power at the dam.

Two other generating units on the dam are expected to be in operation by spring of 1968. Total capacity of the dam is rated at 425,000 kilowatts.

In addition to the Hells Canyon Dam, Idaho Power's Brownlee and Oxbow dams still straddle the Snake where it forms the Idaho-Oregon border.

A spokesman for the private Idaho-Oregon Power Co. said total capacity of the three-dam project is 1.1 million kilowatts and has quadrupled generation facilities of the company.

Construction of Brownlee, the first to be built, began in 1953 and was completed in 1958. Oxbow, the middle dam, was completed in 1960.

Proponents of federal development of the middle Snake area contended that power, reclamation and flood control needs of Idaho and the Pacific Northwest could be better served by a high dam at the Hells Canyon site.

Reclamation was introduced in 1948 and 1954 to authorize the Federal Bureau of Reclamation to build the proposed 722-foot structure.

The battle began 20 years ago when Idaho Power first applied for a license to develop the area and was carried over the period in the press, the Federal Power Commission, the Congress and the courts.

Nixon Thinks He'll Have To Win Four First Primaries

By JACK BELL AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Richard M. Nixon has told some Republican leaders he thinks he'll have to win all of the first four presidential primaries next year to keep alive his chance for the GOP presidential nomination.

In discussions with Republican governors whose support he has been seeking, the former vice president has made it clear he thinks only a surge in the primaries will make him a top contender in a convention he has predicted will be wide open.

The first four primaries include New Hampshire on March 12; Wisconsin on April 2, Indiana on May 7 and Nebraska on May 14. Two later primaries fall on May 28 in Oregon and June 4 in South Dakota.

In the first four of these contests, Nixon is regarded as holding an early lead over Michigan Gov. George Romney and others whose names may be on the ballot. Romney is a certain entry in New Hampshire if he tosses his hat into the ring at a scheduled Nov. 18 Michigan meeting.

California Gov. Ronald Reagan, who wants his state's favorite-son designation, has said he will act to keep his name off the New Hampshire ballot. But a write-in campaign is being organized for him that could take votes away from Nixon.

Unless he changes his mind, Reagan will not sign the necessary disclaimer of presidential candidacy intention to get off the ballot in Wisconsin. This could split the conservative vote and give Romney a chance to top the balloting.

A small group is working for Reagan in Indiana, where Nixon's campaign manager has said his candidate's name will be put on the ballot. Romney may pass up Indiana—and, unless he changes his mind, make only token campaign appearances in Nebraska.

If he could top the balloting in four states, Nixon evidently figures he could sustain a setback in Oregon and still maintain his momentum toward the nomination.

Issues Discussed By Council Hopefuls

VOTERS IN TWIN Falls will go to the polls Tuesday at noon to select four city council members from a field of eleven candidates who have waged a heavy campaign for office throughout the past few weeks. Four of the men are running as an incumbent ticket in support of continued city government on the present basis. Three others, seeking office as independents, would propose some changes. The remaining four on a "conservative" ticket, would revise the present administration and city program. Each was asked to answer four questions. Following are the personal backgrounds and the answers to these questions from the 11 men. Questions asked each candidate included: —Do you favor city manager form of government and why? —What can Twin Falls do to encourage growth of the area? —Why do you feel you would be a good city council member? —How would you propose introducing greater economy into city government if you feel such economy is warranted? Voting will be from noon to 8 p.m.

George Bennett, 478 Blue Lakes Blvd. N. 63, is running on the incumbent ticket and seeks his third term as a city council member. He is married and has resided in Twin Falls since 1940. Currently affiliated with B and B Loan Co., Twin Falls, he has had experience in real estate, oil business and eight years on the city council.

Mr. Bennett says he supports the city manager form of government as a good, businesslike manner in which to operate a city. He said an administrator with proper background and knowledge working under direction of a council made up of citizens provides more efficient and economical city government.

Growth in Twin Falls, he said, is pretty slow and to keep even at this pace, the city must remain at no less than its present condition. A face lifting for the downtown area, he said, will be necessary if the city is to keep from going backward instead of forward.

His past experience on the city council, Mr. Bennett said, has given him valuable experience in city administration and an insight into problems and needs.

Many years in private business also have qualified him, Mr. Bennett said, and now being semi-retired he has time to devote to city business. "As a city we get what we pay for," Mr. Bennett said, "just as you do in private business. I think we must determine what we want, knowing it must be paid for. Employees, we must get a $1 worth of service for each $1 spent," he added.

Howard Burkhart, 74, 527 Fourth Ave. E., has resided in Twin Falls for almost 40 years. He is a retired accountant and has served eight years on the city council, ending his previous service in 1960. He is a widower and resides alone. A son and daughter are now grown. He has been active in civic organizations, the First Baptist Church, American Legion, the YMCA Board, Salvation Army Board and numerous others.

A supporter of city manager form of government, Mr. Burkhart says he has found it efficient and economical. "Growth, he said, can only be encouraged by continuing good cultural, recreational, educational and other facilities. Tax assessments must be watched carefully, he said, to assure interested business and industrial firms they could succeed in Twin Falls.

Eight years on the city council and almost 40 years of active service in the community are most qualifications listed by Mr. Burkhart. In addition, he said, he has been successful in his business activities and now has adequate time to devote to duties as councilman.

Economy, he said must be maintained by assessing taxpayers only for services and facilities that are vitally needed.

"We have a higher income than in the past despite a lower tax levy which is good, but we must make certain our city costs do not increase at any more rapid pace than our population and size," he declared.

Frank Cook, 60, 1808 Alturas Drive, has resided in Twin Falls since 1933 and has been in business here, owning and operating his own shop, since 1934. He is married and the father of one son and one daughter. He has been active in the American Red Cross, Boy Scouts, Community Chest, Planning and Zoning Commission and other organizations.

Seeking his first term as a council member and running with three incumbents, Mr. Cook said he believes firmly in this form of government as a good way to operate a city or a business.

Growth in Twin Falls, he said should result if continued good programs and practices are provided and if the downtown area is improved so as to present a better and more prosperous appearance. More than half of the city's business, he said, comes from outside the city and must be provided for with an attractive city including the downtown area.

Success in business for the past 30 years, Mr. Cook said, should provide him with some degree of qualification. In addition, his experience in the city as a leader in civic affairs and in voluntary posts on such boards as the Planning and Zoning commission have kept him posted on the city's problems, needs and growth.

Economy, he said, is essential and must be achieved in the day-to-day operation of the city under good management. A councilman must serve the city as he would his own business when making a decision on expenditures, he added.

Lloyd V. Cox, 47, 402 Blue Lakes Blvd., has resided in Twin Falls most of the time since 1946. He is the owner and operator of the Yellow Cab Co., and has also been engaged in the real estate business. A member of the Elks Lodge, he is also active in the Lions Club and local golf association. He is a veteran of World War II and the Korean war. Married and the father of a daughter, he is seeking election as an independent candidate.

Mr. Cox favors city manager government, but would recommend some close study and possibly elimination of the assistant manager post.

Growth, he said, would be encouraged by taking better care of the development and industrial areas the city now has. Better roads and other services to some industrial areas are now needed. Further, he said, an effort should be made by the city officials to make certain every industrial development possibility is followed up and each firm that has shown any interest in this area is kept in constant contact.

As a taxi cab company operator, Mr. Cox said, he has his "fingers on the pulse of the city" and has talked not only with local residents but with the traveling public and the area's visitors. Their views of the city and the opinions they express are invaluable, he said. Further, he said, he drives every street in the city and sees every business and residential property and has a full knowledge of Twin Falls.

Economy, he said, is probably second in importance to a good progressive city.

If we have economy and nothing else, we have nothing. We must have a good economy, but progressive operation," he added.

Mr. Cox said he would consider a study of all city positions and possibly the elimination of excessive workers in some departments.

Frank H. Feldtman, 50, 106 Polk St., has resided in Twin Falls the past 18 years and has been in the real estate business as an owner and operator the past 17 years. He is married and the father of two sons and two daughters and is seeking his second four-year term as a city council member. He is a member of the Presbyterian Church and active in other civic affairs.

City manager government, Mr. Feldtman said, "is the only efficient, effective and responsible way to operate a city of this size."

Growth, he said, has been encouraged through creating a good cultural and residential climate in Twin Falls through the junior college, an adequate water supply and sewage treatment facility.

"We are now in a much better position to attract industry and business development than a few years ago. If we keep this type of progress, going and assure adequate services, growth will result," he said.

Four years on the city council have provided valuable experience, Mr. Feldtman said. He added he is as well educated as any other candidate and has served, before becoming a councilman, on the planning and zoning commission and in other city governmental and service fields.

Greater economy in government, he said, can only be achieved by cutting services or facilities.

"When we have attempted this in the past, there have been strong objections. It would seem the best means of maintaining economy is to assure taxpayers that each dollar is buying them a dollar's worth of service."

DEMONSTRATION EQUIPMENT used in a presentation of "This Atomic World" is shown here by Jesse Nance Jr., who will show the equipment at Magic Valley High schools this month. The presentation is sponsored by the Atomic Energy Commission. Talks are slated at Declo Thursday and Burley on Friday. Appearance dates at other high schools in the valley will be announced later.

A demonstration lecture sponsored by the Atomic Energy Commission on atomic energy and its uses will be presented at Declo High Thursday and Burley on Friday.

The program, titled "This Atomic World," is designed to acquaint students with the basic principles of nuclear energy, its sources and role in industry, agriculture and medicine.

Jesse Nance will present the assembly program, which breaks down into student terms including the structure of atoms, radiation, reactors, and fusion.

Mr. Nance has completed extensive training at the Oak Ridge, Tenn., facilities of the AEC. He is a graduate of Tennessee A & I State University and holds a bachelor of science degree.

Specially designed electronic equipment is used during the 40-minute program to show such things as sources of radiation, how nuclear energy is harnessed to furnish electric power for cities, the use of radiotopes to aid in diagnosis and treatment of diseases, and to learn more about life processes.

A blackboard talk to science classes, which deals more specifically with such topics as atomic structure, radioactivity, radiation biology, and careers in nuclear science, follows the assembly.

Mr. Nance will appear at other Magic Valley High schools later this month. The appearance dates will be announced later.

Richfield Farmer Peppered With Birdshot By Hunter

RICHFIELD — One dangerous out-of-county pheasant hunter at Richfield did not consider where his shot might travel when he shot a pheasant opening day.

He fired at a Richfield farmer when the pheasant flew up from the ground.

Birdshot peppered the back of LeRoy Parker who had just turned his back while tearing down a shed on one of his ranches northeast of Richfield.

His heavy clothing protected him from more than a good stinging. Parker's father-in-law, J. R. Blair, Tranquility, Calif., said the buckshot sounded like hail from inside the shed he was helping tear down.

The men yelled at the hunter, who grabbed the pheasant, retrieved by a dog, and ran to his car to make a getaway.

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: What do I want for Christmas? There are at least 100,000 South Vietnamese orphans who need help. Infant's wear, children's wear, shoes, toys. Anything. They are naked and hungry. Anyone desiring to send anything collected from friends and neighbors can address it to:

etry, cameras, record players, etc.
 No lima beans and ham, please. We get that in our C rations. Nothing in glass or aerosol cans.
 Unless chocolate is properly wrapped, forget it. It's syrup by the time it gets here. You wouldn't believe the heat and humidity here. If anything, perishable is sent, please send it "SAM" under 4 pounds. It goes air mail and gets to us within a week or 10 days. Those big packages (unless sent air mail) can stand around on a dock for three months.

DEAR ABBY: What would we like for Christmas from you people back home? A promise that you, too, will do your best to make this a better world. This will make the risks that we are taking worthwhile.

DEAR ABBY: The men in Vietnam are always glad to get some little trinkets for Christmas that can be given to Vietnamese kids. Yo-yos, balloons, plastic harmonicas, whistles, and dolls. As a gag, we once gave an ugly doll with wild white hair to a child. It really was hideous, but it ended up being a "baby doll" for that little nine year old who had never had a doll before. She thought it was beautiful.
PARATROOPER, Vietnam

DEAR ABBY: Maybe I can be of some help by telling you what we don't want for Christmas over here.
 Anything big, like heavy appliances, books, or things that are hard to store. We don't have room for them. Nothing expensive that would break our hearts. If we lost it, like expensive jew-

DEAR ABBY: Next to goodies, like canned meats, salami, tuna, chicken, canned fruits, instant soups, cookies, fruitcake, Kool-aid, instant coffee, tea and cocoa, pretzels, popcorn, hard candies, etc., something to read is always appreciated. The hometown newspaper always makes a big hit. Also paperback magazines, playing cards and games like checkers, chess, Jigsaw puzzles are great. Also, Abby, a real luxury is a clean pillowcase (we use out T-shirts) and a couple of pairs of heavy athletic socks.

Our food tastes may become more sophisticated the older we get, but our preference for cheeseburgers and French fries never changes. Any way you serve this twosome, your guests and family are sure to approve. First and foremost, these are, of course, chatty burgers like those that have been designed for the VIP's in your life, can come to the table as a Sunday-evening supper or as company fare.

These are burgers with a difference, burgers that have a flavor that will set folks wondering what it is that makes them so good. And, if you're the kind of cook who will tell about her recipes, you'll have to explain that there are a number of reasons for the superb taste and appeal of VIP Cheeseburgers.

In addition to the usual ground beef, we've added canned deviled ham, red wine and a bit of Tabasco. Different? Um-mm, yes! A sprinkling of chopped parsley goes over each portion before the final topper is added — a pretty rosette of Cheddar cheese spread, formed from a pressurized can.

While the burgers are cooking, you can be roasting the French fries. The very handy-to-use frozen kind are ideal for they'll cut down on preparation time and assure you of a perfect product. Heat and crisp them according to the directions on the package and serve from a basket or on hot platters with the cheeseburgers. You might arrange each burger on toast points and add sauteed mushrooms to your feast as well.

With elegant fries and cheeseburgers like these, your guests are sure to call for "more please."

VIP Cheeseburgers and Fries
 2 pounds, ground beef
 2 1/2-ounce cans deviled ham
 1/2 teaspoon Tabasco
 1/2 teaspoon coarsely ground black pepper
 3/4 cup dry red California wine
 1/2 cup butter
 2 teaspoons minced parsley
 Pasteurized process Cheddar cheese spread in pressure can.
Toast points
 Mushrooms, sauteed
 Frozen French fried potatoes
 Mix together beef, ham, Tabasco and pepper. Shape into four patties. Place in a flat container; pour over the wine; let marinate in the refrigerator for two hours. Drain, reserving the wine. Melt the butter in a skillet; brown the hamburgers on both sides, then add the wine. Cook to desired degree of rareness; place on toast points. Sprinkle with parsley; spoon pan juices over; top with rosette of cheese.

THESE VIP CHEESEBURGERS are burgers with a difference, burgers that have a flavor that will set folks wondering what it is that makes them so good. In addition to the usual ground beef, canned deviled ham, red wine and a bit of Tabasco has been added.

Baltimore Downs Packers 13-10 To Stay Undeafated

By GEORGE BOWEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
BALTIMORE (AP) — The amazing Johnny Unitas, man handled as he ever has been, threw two touchdown passes in slightly more than two minutes Sunday to stretch a 13-10 victory for the Baltimore Colts over their National Football League nemesis, the Green Bay Packers.

The Packers appeared to be safely riding a 10-0 lead in an old fashioned die hard defensive contest when the frustrated Colts struck from out of nowhere in the waning minutes.

Unitas, thrown three times during the game for losses of 23 yards, finally moved the Colts pass to Alex Hawkins.

With the clock nearing the final two minutes and the Colts due to kick off, Baltimore still seemed to be in a bad way. But Lou Michaels, who had been the point to that point, called a short kickoff and Rick Volk recovered for the ecstatic Colts on the Green Bay 34.

The unpredictable Unitas ran six yards on last down to pick up a first down on the Packer 23. On the very next play, an incomparable quarterback tossed to Willie Richardson, who created the ball under the goal posts from Herb Adorley and went in for the winning touchdown.

Michaels had missed a 32-yard field goal and the conversion after the first Colt touchdown.

Those points would have enabled the Colts to escape with at least a tie.

The Packers nursed a 3-0 lead on a 49-yard field goal by Don Chandler in the second quarter until early in the last period when Rocky Anderson nailed a touchdown on a 31-yard pass from quarterback Bart Starr.

The victory was the sixth for the Colts, who have been tied twice. The loss left Green Bay with a record of 5-2-1.

Vikings Nip Giants In Last Ten Seconds

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Fred Cox kicked a 13-yard field goal from out of a frantic, dramatic Minnesota rally that wiped out a 17-point deficit in the second half and brought the Vikings a 27-24 victory over the New York Giants Sunday.

The victory was only Minnesota's second this season in the National Football League. The other was a 10-7 triumph over Green Bay, also coming on a Cox field goal.

The loss, abtiter one for the Giants who fumbled away a chance for a game-winning field goal in the final two minutes, left New York with a 4-4 record and dropped the Giants to 1-7 in the Century Division lead.

Aided by two pass interference penalties that thrust them deep into Viking territory, the Giants moved to the Minnesota 20-yard line with 1:40 remaining in the game. Bill Tripletto tried to run off right tackle to move the ball into the center of the field, but fumbled and Minnesota's Garry Larson recovered.

The Vikings swept right back in a battle with the clock, and got the big play when Gene Jurgens threw a Gene Washington to set up Cox' winning field goal.

Ryan Pilots Browns To 34-14 Victory

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Injury-racked Frank Ryan fired the last quarter touchdown passes and the Cleveland Browns coasted to a 34-14 victory over the puncheon Pittsburgh Steelers Sunday in a National Football League game.

Ryan, whose status was in doubt until Saturday night because of a muscle bruise on his right arm, connected with Gary Collins and Leroy Kelly, staking the Browns to a 14-0 lead.

They were never seriously threatened.

The muscle bruise was the latest in a series of injuries this year for Ryan, none of which has caused him to miss a game. He retired after the third period with 13 completions in 21 attempts for 161 yards.

Pittsburgh started with rookie Kent Nix at quarterback, but Bill Nelson relieved him with 6½ minutes left in the half after Nix had been unable to drive the Steelers past Cleveland's 43-yard line. At that time, a field goal try was ruled when Ray Mansfield's snap from center hit kicker Mike Clark in the face.

Hawaii Scores Late To Drop Idaho State

HONOLULU (AP) — Hawaii began capitalizing on its opportunities late in the game and took a 21-8 football victory over winless Idaho State Saturday night.

The Rainbows dominated the game throughout, but failed to cash in until the third period. They broke a scoreless tie on a four-yard run up the middle by Ralph Kaspari, climaxing an 80-yard drive.

Hawaii fumbled away the ball twice on Idaho State's one, and after the second recovery Idaho State went 69 yards for its touchdown. The Rainbows' punting was excellent, and a 27-yard play produced the score. Ingram tried a two-point conversion run but was knocked out of bounds just short of the goal.

Hawaii scored twice more in the closing minutes. Jack Spitz kicked a 33-yard field goal and a 27-yard play produced the score. Ingram tried a two-point conversion run but was knocked out of bounds just short of the goal.

Interception Gives Cards 27-21 Win

WASHINGTON (AP) — St. Louis turned an interception and a fumble into fourth-quarter touchdowns Sunday to slip past Washington 27-21 in a National Football League game.

Early in the final period, free safety Larry Wilson intercepted a Sonny Jurgensen pass on the goal line and returned it 44 yards. On the next play, quarterback Jim Hart threw 55 yards to Jackie Smith, then sneaked over from the one.

Later, the Cardinals were forced to punt but John Love fumbled a fair catch and it was recovered by Clyde Williams on the Redskins' 24.

Eight plays later, John R. Jand went over from the one. The Redskins came right back with a 65-yard touchdown on a pass from Jurgensen to Bobby Mitchell, who juggled the ball for 15 yards before gaining control.

The victory, before a sellout crowd of 50,480, gives the Cardinals a 5-3 record and leaves them atop the Century Division. Washington now is 2-4-2.

The Redskins scored first when safety Brig Owens intercepted a Hart pass and ran 45 yards to a touchdown.

The Cardinals came back early in the second quarter on an eight-play, 46-yard drive culminated on an 11-yard pass from Hart to Bobby Joe Conrad.

Field Goals Power Boston Past Oilers

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Patriots combined three field goals by Gene Cappelletti, the power running of Jim Nance and a hard hitting defense for an 18-7 American Football League victory over the Houston Oilers Sunday.

Cappelletti booted field goals of 40, 12 and 18 yards before he was ejected with Houston's W. W. Hicks after an outbreak of tempers in the fourth period.

Nance piled up 108 yards in 26 carries, boosting his output for the year to 822 yards.

The Patriots, led by middle linebacker Nick Buoniconti, shakked the Houston attack, allowing the Oilers only two field downs for three periods.

In the third quarter, the Oilers had the ball for only four plays plus a punt.

On the final play of the period, Roy Hopkins was tackled by Buoniconti and Doug Satcher in the end zone for a safety, hiking the score to 11-0.

A Boston fumble on the ensuing free kick gave the Oilers the ball on the Patriots' 45. On the seventh play, Pete Bethard flipped a nine-yard scoring pass to Woodie Campbell for Houston's only touchdown.

A 31-yard punt return by Billy Johnson to the Houston 31 set up an inroute touchdown by the Patriots late in the final period.

Nance carried twice to the 11 and three plays later went off left tackle for the final five yards.

The victory kept alive Boston's slim Eastern Division title hopes, with a 3-5-1 record. Houston's Eastern runner-up, has a 4-3-1 mark.

Raiders Win Seventh Game, Beat Broncos

DENVER (AP) — Oakland, plagued by dropped passes but sturdy on defense, escaped from the tenacious Denver Broncos, 21-7, Sunday for the Raiders' seventh American Football League victory against one loss.

The Raiders rolled to an 18-0 lead before Denver, losing its eighth straight, scored on a 69-yard pass play from Steve Tenti to Al Denison.

George Blanda's 100th career field goal in AFL play from 43 yards, boosted the Raiders ahead 21-7 near the close of the third period.

A fumbled punt by Oakland's Warren Powers, recovered by Denver's Ray Kubala on the Raider 30 opened the way for the Bronco's second touchdown to narrow the gap to 21-14 as Denver's No. 2 quarterback Jim Leclair fired a 40-yard pass to the end zone.

Three plays later, Leclair punched it in on a quarterback sneak.

Oakland's first touchdown came on a 53-yard drive in eight plays highlighted by Daryle Lamonica's 15-yard pass to Bill Miller on Denver's five. Lamonica then hit a scoring pass to Miller in the end zone.

Montana State Wins Big Sky Crown

By STEVE MOORE
Associated Press Writer
The Bobcats of Montana State University have rolled to their third championship in four years and posted the only unmarred record in the Big Sky Conference.

The Bobcats took sole possession of the championship Saturday by defeating the University of Montana Grizzlies 14-0. The loss dumped the Grizzlies into three-way tie for second place in the five-team conference.

Weber State upset the University of Idaho 27-7, crushing the Vandals' hopes of tying MSU at the head of the pile and sharing the crown. The victory boosted the Weber Wildcats from an almost assured third-place ranking into second place and forced the three-way tie.

Montana, Idaho and Weber ended up with identical 2-2 conference records. MSU posted a 4-0 record.

Looking up the rear, though, the Bobcats' winning record in place, were the winless Bengals from Idaho State University.

Idaho State, in the only non-conference nation of the week-end, maintained their season string of losses, in Honolulu, Hawaii. The Rainbows defeated the Bengals 21-8 in Honolulu and handed Idaho State its eighth straight loss.

Despite the importance of the Weber-Idaho tie, all eyes turned to Bozeman and the title clash, MSU, a conference powerhouse on the ground all season, scored both of its touchdowns on rousing plays. Title All America Don Haas scored first when he took a delayed pithout from quarterback Dennis Erickson on a two-yard run. Quarter and skittered left end for four yards. Haas, who gained an impressive 200, kept the Bobcats' hope alive throughout the game.

In Ogden, Utah, Weber full-back Lee White, the league's second-ranked rusher before the game, carried 45 times for 250 yards and three touchdowns.

The Idaho Vandals coasted first when fullback Jim Pearsall scored on a 25-yard run on the one play of the game. The Wildcats countered and drove to the three before White took charge and scored.

Pearsall, who appeared to be personally battling White for the game's scoring honors, scored his second and last touchdown on a two-yard run. The Wildcats countered and drove to the three before White took charge and scored.

Idaho State, a lethargic and puncheon team all season, came within one point of the Hawaii Rainbows in the fourth quarter, but the Rainbows came back with two late touchdowns to put the game out of reach.

With conference action concluded, four of the Big Sky squads will tackle out of state opponents next Saturday. The University of Montana is idle. Idaho battles with Washington State and Montana State will take on Utah State. Idaho State takes on tough Parsons College in Fairfield, Iowa, while Weber State hosts Portland State.

Defense Gives Rams 17-7 Win Over S.F.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A rock-ribbed Los Angeles defense frustrated the San Francisco 49ers Sunday and gave the Rams a comeback 17-7 victory before an appointed Kozak Stadium crowd of 53,194—largest in five years.

Several free-for-all fights broke out in the stands near the finish. The result left the Rams in possession of second place in the National Football League's Coastal Division with a 5-1-2 record and the 49ers third with 5-2.

The 49ers' first drive from their own 23 was stalled by the Rams' defense at the 16. Tr Cross blocked a 17-yard field goal attempt by Tommy Davis. San Francisco then drove 64 yards in 11 plays and two penalties for a touchdown. With 8 seconds left in the first quarter, John Bradie passed to John Duvic Crow 25 yards and Davis converted to make it 7-0.

The Rams came back with a 60-yard, six-play touchdown drive. The big gainer was a 54-yard pass play from Roman Gabriel to Jack Snow. Dick Bass finally punched in from the end zone. Bruce Gossett kicked the point to tie it up.

Just before the half the 49ers dove to the Rams' six-inch line but the defense held.

Again San Francisco tried to take the Los Angeles 20 but Ed Meador intercepted a Brodie pass on the 10.

The Rams went ahead to stay in the third on a nine play, 50-yard drive, climaxed by a three-yard scoring pass to Les Josephson.

In the fourth quarter, a pass interception by Maxie Daughan set up a 27-yard field goal by Gossett.

Women Are Participating More and More In Cross Country

By FRANK ECK
AP News Features Sports Editor
Years ago a girl with athletic tendencies would don black stockings, black bloomers, a white middie blouse and play basketball. Today more and more of them are running cross-country.

They are running at 13 and they are running at 30. And even pregnancy doesn't stop them.

One year ago, 107 women took part in the Women's National AAU cross-country run in St. Louis, beautiful Forest Park. This year—the AAU sponsors more than 200 competitors in the fourth annual Women's National AAU cross-country championship at Albuquerque, N.M., Nov. 25.

"There were about 100 women's cross-country runs held in October," says Ollan Cassell, AAU track and field administrator. "And there are another 100 scheduled for November. Some will have as many as 325 starters. The girls are taking part in practically every sport today, but cross-country has made the most rapid strides. Two years ago in Boston only about 60 girls competed."

The coming race at Four Hills Country Club (a golf course) will be at two miles, the maximum international distance for women.

Doris Brown, 25, a married physical education teacher in Seattle, will defend the title she won a year ago by almost 200 yards. Runner-up Marie Muller, 17, of Sacramento, Calif., Sandra Knott, 29, the 1965 champion from Cleveland, and Mrs. Sara Burman, 30-year-old mother from Cambridge, Mass., will be among the competitors.

Outspoken Sara, who began cross-country running when she turned 25, says there is nothing like running to keep a woman in shape.

"People," says Mrs. Burman, "constantly talk about women not being physiologically suited for distance running. I once ran when I was three and one-half months pregnant."

Sara finished 33rd last year. Not too long ago track officials frowned on girls' running anything more than 400 yards. Even that was considered strenuous. At St. Louis the distance was one mile and a half. Now it's two miles.

"Our female athletes today would have been much more advanced in distance running if we had assumed the European attitude," says Mrs. Burman. "I signed running in the mid-1920's," explains Dan Ferris, veteran AAU official.

"Our school and recreation authorities insisted that 220 yards was the limit any girl could run. Only in recent years has the distance been gradually extended.

There is a keen interest in the coming championship because the first six girls to finish will be named to a United States cross-country team that may go to Dublin, Ireland, early next year.

Meredith And Reeves Lead Dallas To Win

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The passing combination of Don Meredith to Dan Reeves, who scored four touchdowns, carried the Dallas Cowboys to a 37-7 victory over Atlanta Sunday.

Dallas relied on at the head of the Century Division of the National Football League with a 6-2 record. Atlanta was dropping its sixth game. They have won once.

Meredith, returning to quarterback after missing three games with injuries, had touchdown passes of 60 and seven yards to Reeves, who also set up another touchdown with a pass reception and then scored it. Lee Roy Jordan intercepted a Randy Johnson pass and raced 33 yards to another Dallas touchdown.

With only minutes to go, Reeves scored again on a one-yard blast.

Dallas' other points came when zero point caught Johnson in the end zone for a safety. A pass interception set up the Atlanta touchdown in the third period. Ken Reeves stole his second pass of the day and took it back 42 yards to the Dallas 23. Johnson's passed 15 to Tom Moore then flipped eight yards to Bill Martin in the end zone.

Fullback Don Perkins, who carried 21 times for 111 yards, won over the 5,000-yard mark in his seven-year NFL career, all with Dallas. He has a total of 5,038 yards.

Robert's Nets 3 As Saints Upset Eagles

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Walter "The Lion" Roberts scored three touchdowns as the Orleans Saints upset the Philadelphia Eagles 31-24 Sunday and registered their first triumph in the National Football League.

The 5-foot-10, 163-pound Roberts, who missed last week's Saints game because of a knee injury, was the key player in the victory, catching a 49-yard touchdown pass from Gary Coozzo midway through the fourth quarter.

Roberts, a four-year pro veteran from San Jose State, took the opening kickoff and raced 91 yards for a touchdown in the eighth minute of the game. The Saints scored on a Jim Taylor fumble and dashed down the sideline 27 yards for a second score. The Saints' victory was the first since they changed a 27-yard pass from Coozzo.

The Eagles roared back after Roberts' third touchdown and pulled within seven points of the neophyte New Orleans team with 4:58 left on a 33-yard pass from Norm Snead to Timmy Brown.

But Norm Gilliam's 53-yard kickoff return put the Saints deep in Eagle territory. Charlie Durkee tried a 33-yard field goal with two minutes left in an attempt to widen the Saints' margin. His kick was wide.

The Eagles desperately tried to score a touchdown on a 60-yard passing play, but were stopped by a 15-yard punt by the Saints.

Roberts scooped up a Jim Taylor fumble and dashed down

LANDY CONVENTION IS USEFUL BID

Jim: "Why don't you take over today and talk about Alvin Landy? I started to say 'your old friend,' but he was my old friend, too."

Oswald: "Alvin was every bridge player's friend. In 1947, when he came from Cleveland to join the American Contract Bridge League, he took over the position of getting the league going again after the troubles of World War II. The 200,000 members today, reflect how well Alvin did his job. We will all miss him, and tournaments just aren't going to be make it easier and safer to compete against an opening one no-trump. The theory is that, since the no-trump is a good, balanced hand, there is little point trying to bid clubs against it unless you can afford to try an immediate club jump. Hence, when a player writes 'Landy' on his convention card, he says that if he bids two clubs against an opening no-trump he wants his partner to bid a major suit."

Oswald: "North wouldn't know which suit to bid or whether he should bid at all without the Landy convention. With that convention, he is able to bid two clubs and show both his suits at once. East's two no-trump is an effort to shut South out of the bidding, but South likes his hand and jumps right to four spades."

Jim: "South's four-spade bid is a trifle optimistic. The more conservative call of three spades probably would be better, but this four-spade bid works like a charm: Spades broke, hearts break, the queen of spades is right and all South loses are two clubs and the 'ace of trumps.'"

Can Dad Be Won Over By Her Young Boyfriend?

Dear Walt and Ele: I am a motherless 15-year-old girl who has one big problem, my dad. He seems to think that all boys are hood and I'm not allowed to date or even accept calls from boys. The thing is, I like one boy, and he thinks if he comes over and meets my dad that things will be different and that I might be able to get a few more privileges. I have asked advice from three adult friends and they said to have him come over. Should I let my dad know ahead of time that he's coming, or just let him surprise us? — Almost 16.

Dear Almost: If the boy is coming to "shape up" papa, tell him to save the trip. No one will accept "here's what you've been doing wrong" advice from a stranger, especially one 20 years younger. If the boy is willing to come and see if his behavior and honesty impress your dad favorably, he might tip the scales in favor of more social life for you once you reach 16. If he still wants to come on these terms, check with dad as to the time of his visit. Popping in during the middle of dad's favorite TV show is not the basis for a good first impression — Walt and Ele.

INVOLVED—CHECK AGAIN
Dear 'Elo and Walt: I just finished reading the newspaper and one small article got me fuming. A young girl was attacked and kicked in the street while a lot of people were nearby. Not one person did anything to help. I want to know, why? The excuses are always the same, they don't want to get involved. That's silly! You're "involved" the minute you're born, you are part of everything that happens in this wacky world even if it is very small. What is going to happen if you can't depend on your fellow human beings for help when you need it? — Involved Student.

Dear Student: You're "involved" — OK, let's check wishing to go on a non-calorie diet. When someone diet need only to appear late cheats, in class, do you take for work three days in a row.
