Shoshone Will Miss Rumble Of Mail Trains

By FRED DODDS
Times-News Staff Writer
SHOSHONE—This community of 1,416 citizens has the longest main street in the world, stretching from Portland to Chicago. Once it had the widest main street in the world, but there is some speculation that Pennsylvania Avenue in Washington, D. C., has Shoshone beat.

Each night, just after the bewitching hour of 12, Shoshone residents are comforted by the gentle rumble of old Number 12 pulling into town. A little later it leaves, and soon after that old Number 11 looms its way in from the desert.

The coming and leaving of the trains each morning is commonplace to Shoshone residents. Some set their clocks by the sounds, and cafes that line Main Street are gathering places for people who like to talk in an unrushed atmosphere.

However, on Monday trains No. 11 and 12 will run no more. At least, citizens have been told this in the days they've received no official word as yet.

Trains No. 11 and 12 carry mail. But last month, the postal department ruled that first class mail would go by airplane whenever possible.

Before that ruling, Shoshone was the mail center for Magic Valley. Everything but air mail was carried and sorted on the trains, mainly old numbers 11 and 12. Mail unloaded in Shoshone was carried to every city, town and hamlet in the valley.

That is, with the exception of mail unloaded at Gooding. At least, citizens have been told this in the days they've received no official word as yet.

Many people questioned in Shoshone were anxious to talk about the problem, but this reporter was met quite often with the statement: "Don't quote me."

They fear the wrath of something, or someone, although this "Don't quote me" attitude is not the majority feeling in this town of Idaho pioneers and rugged outdoorsmen.

The Shoshone post office lobby is closed every evening at 6 p.m. Postmaster E. R. Werry said the lobby will be used to store mail until it can be transferred.

Mr. Buzzuto said he gets a paper from Connecticut. "I used to get it on Wednesdays. Now it comes in on Friday, and sometimes doesn't even get here then."

A letter from Chicago to Sun Valley takes about two days to deliver. A letter mailed out of the Shoshone post office, and mailed to the sender, is returned now in four to five days, going from Twin Falls to Portland to Salt Lake City to Reno to Twin Falls, back to Shoshone for delivery.

A man, who refused to be identified, said he had done this several times. "Each time it's four to five days. Where in the devil does that letter go?"

Many people in Shoshone feel the changeover from train to airplane service has caused costs to mail service to rise in the Magic Valley area. They are not sure.

Mr. Buzzuto said: "I hate to see anything leave Shoshone, but I really can't blame the railroad for the postal department." He said he feels service will improve, but doesn't know when.

Shoshone has been in the mail business a long time. It started before the turn of the century when tobacco-chewing drivers whipped teams of horses over the desert.

But now it looks like the tradition is over. But Shoshone still has the longest Main Street in the world. And no one has measured to see if Pennsylvania Avenue is wider. So life goes on in this peaceful community. Only the mail service has changed.

County officials say other offices will be occupied as soon as possible. Cases will be placed Wednesday in one of the two courtrooms nearest completion.

The annex building will house two district courtrooms, the probate court, court records and a law library.

Most of the interior walls are now painted, ceilings are nearly in and walls are nearing completion.

Fifth District Judges Theron W. Ward and James M. Cunningham both have jury cases scheduled for the coming week. See ANNEX SUIT, P. 2, Col. 4.

RAIN

Synopsis, Farm Summary

A series of fast-moving disturbances from the Pacific will keep mostly cloudy weather over Southern Idaho with periods of rain in the valleys and snow on the mountains. Increasing over the weekend. No big changes in temperature are expected through Sunday. Mild weather continues in Southern Idaho, cloudy skies hold daytime readings mostly in the 50s yesterday. Overnight low were mostly in the 30s in eastern and central valleys and in the 40s in the west. Rain occurred at all reporting stations yesterday or last night and was mostly light in Magic and eastern valleys. Halley was an exception with half an inch measured at the airport. In the west, 24-hour rainfall ranged from .01 of an inch at Ontario to near a quarter of an inch at Emmett, Caldwell and Kuna.

Five-Day Forecast

Heavier than normal precipitation is expected during the next five days with temperatures averaging near or slightly below normal for the season. Temperatures will continue generally mild, through the weekend, turning colder after the first of the week. Daytime readings in the 40s and 30s are likely about Monday and Tuesday, with a little below the middle of the week. Coldest overnight temperatures will probably occur Monday night or Tuesday night with lows in the teens and 20s. Normal maximum and minimum temperatures for this period are Boise 48-25, Gooding 48-25, Twin Falls 51-27, Burley 50-23, Pocatello 48-25 and Idaho Falls 48-25. Some rain in the valleys and snow in the mountains will occur most days, but heaviest precipitation, with a chance of heavy snows in the mountains, will likely occur Sunday or Monday. The freezing level will lower and some snow may extend into the lower valleys Monday or Tuesday. Precipitation during the five days will likely average between 38 and 40 of an inch in the lower valleys with 30 or more likely in some of the higher valleys and on lower mountain slopes. Sunshine will probably average less than 40 per cent of possible with mostly cloudy skies through Monday and partial clearing Tuesday or Wednesday. Livestock men and hunters should be alert to possible warnings of heavy snows with high elevations Sunday. Ground soaking rains in the valleys will likely delay beet digging and other field work.

Annex Suit

(Continued From Page One) and only one courtroom and jury room area to share. In their statements in Boise Thursday, Prosecuting Attorney Michael Felton and former District Judge Lloyd Webb, employed by the county to direct the case, said the county acted under emergency legislative action which ordered the second District Judge for Twin Falls and the fourth in the district. County courthouse space, already overcrowded, could not accommodate the second judge, even with extensive remodeling, the attorneys pointed out. In order to meet the emergency and save the county money, they pointed out, it was decided to begin building immediately without waiting for final plans, specifications and a formal call for bids. This brought 10 general contractors of the area to the point of bringing suit against the county. The contractors charged the county acted illegally and ignored state laws on construction of public buildings by not submitting the building to bids. They said county business, including the two courts, could have been operated on an emergency basis by utilizing other building space in the city pending bids and construction of the new building. County commissioners called for bids on all sub-contract work and on materials, but paid for labor on an individual basis, eliminating the need for bids. Contractors appealed the decision of Fourth District Judge Gus Carr Anderson which favored the county. In their appeal the contractors feel they are too late to stop construction of the local building, but feel they could gain an important victory if the Supreme Court rules in their favor. A decision in favor of the con-

England's Bank Raises Interest

LONDON (AP)—The Bank of England raised its interest rate a further half per cent today to 6 1/2 per cent.

A Bank of England statement said: "Since the bank rate was raised to 6 per cent on Oct. 19, there have developed further pressures towards higher short term interest rates in other international markets.

These pressures have had their effect on sterling on the exchange markets. A further rise in the bank rate to 6 1/2 per cent has therefore become necessary."

The increase was not unexpected. Britain's trade figures for October—to be announced next Tuesday—are likely to disappoint because of the London and Liverpool dock strikes.

Financial experts said the government was anxious to avoid giving an impression of panic by increasing the interest rate soon after issuing disappointing trade figures.

It was the second time within a month that Britain's prime interest rate had been raised. On Oct. 19, the rate was increased from 5 1/2 to 3/4 per cent.

The Bank of England rate governs all the country's interest rates.

Earlier in the year the rate had been cut on three occasions by one-half per cent each time, bringing it down from the inflated-crisis level of 7 per cent.

"Invisible People" Seen Here

About 200 children who would have been unable to see the performance otherwise, sat spellbound Thursday night during an unofficial first performance of "The Invisible People."

Each year the Community Children's Theatre allows the local Altrusa Club to bring a large number of financially unfortunate youngsters to the dress rehearsal of their showing.

Altrusa Club members, who are professional, full-time working women, picked up the children, or met them at the school and later transported them home.

One Altrusa Club member noted that "these kids need something besides food, clothing and the necessities of life—and they got it Thursday night. It was obvious from the looks on their faces that this is one of the highlights of each year. The children were enchanted by the show."

The show officially opened Friday afternoon. Performances also are scheduled for 10 a.m., 2 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. Saturday, and at 4:30 p.m. Nov. 17, 10 a.m., 2 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. Nov. 18. All performances are at O'Leary Junior High School.

The show is the story of a little girl and her imaginary friends—who, she notes, are always faithful and true.

Children throughout the Magie Valley have assisted on the production by drawing imaginary friends and an imaginary village. The set and costume designs were then compiled from these drawings.

Mrs. Dale Patterson, publicity director, noted that this is the only show Community Children's Theatre will give this year. In the past more than one show a year was presented.

Tickets are available by calling 733-6121 or writing to Mrs. Leland VanderDoes, 2121 Elizabeth Hwy.

"WON'T YOU HAVE SOME TEA?" says Beverly-Heek to one of imaginary friends created by Clindy, the little girl heavily plays in the Community Children's Theatre production of "The Invisible People." The show, officially opened Friday afternoon, but some 200 youngsters who would have otherwise not been able to see the production, gathered Thursday night at O'Leary Junior High School. The free performance is an annual project of the Children's Theatre and the Altrusa Club.

BUHL Church Sets Special Days Soon
Rev. Leonard C. Glaser, pastor St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Aberdeen, will conduct three special meetings at St. John's Lutheran Church in Buhl next week.

The subjects he will discuss will center around education, stewardship and evangelism and will be scripturally centered. The meetings are scheduled for Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, and will begin at 8 p.m. each evening.

St. John's church has set Sunday as the day to recognize an important stage in the financial history of the congregation. All indebtedness on all the property which includes the church school building, and the parsonage has been paid. There will be a congregational dinner for all at 1 p.m. when the "mortgage burning" will take place. A program will follow.

All of the church organizations will assist with the preparation and the serving. Rev. Henry Traut will speak during the event.

Registration Of Voters Is Viewed
Permanent voter registration in Idaho was proposed in a draft bill approved by the Legislative Council's Committee on Election Law Revision Thursday.

Voters would register under the proposal, by signing duplicate cards, one of which would go to the county clerk's master file and the other of which would go to the precinct registrar's records.

Permanent registration rolls would be purged of names of persons who had not voted in any election for eight years, who had died or who had moved to another county or state.

Presently, Idaho voters are registered by their vote at each primary or general election.

Waters Slams Two Idaho Congressmen

BOISE (AP)—State Democratic Chairman E. T. Waters said Wednesday "the majority of our citizens must be deeply embarrassed" by negative votes he said the state's two representatives cast on the proposal to continue bodyguard protection for Mrs. John F. Kennedy and her children.

Waters said Reps. George Hansen and James McClure, both Republicans, voted against the proposal, which was adopted.

"Although the widow of our assassinated President is, no doubt, financially able to pay the cost of a bodyguard," Waters said in a statement, "this is from the point and intent of the American people and the Congress, who feel it a sacred duty and privilege to protect this little family."

Abusive Calls To Relatives Of GIs Cut
By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Pentagon reports a great decrease in abusive telephone calls to relatives of U.S. servicemen in Vietnam.

"Calls are continuing as far as is known, but at a greatly reduced level from the 1965 Vietnam buildup period," the Defense Department said Thursday in response to inquiries about the present situation.

The tracing of abusive telephone calls "has proven very successful" in attacking this problem," the Pentagon said.

Tracing was started last year and the Pentagon credited the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. with cooperation in the effort.

A rash of abusive telephone calls and some other forms of harassment caused considerable concern to American soldiers in Vietnam.

Some soldiers talking with newsmen in Vietnam have declined to give their home towns or to list the names of their wives or mothers, expressing fear that persons opposed to the war might see the names in print and make upsetting calls to the families.

Responding to the problem, the Senate earlier this year passed a bill by Sen. John Pastore, D-R.I., that would provide federal penalties for "obscene and harassing telephone calls."

The bill, awaiting action by the House Commerce Committee, would impose a maximum $500 fine or six months in jail on anyone convicted of using interstate telephone lines for such purposes.

While asserting the number of such calls has been sharply reduced, the Pentagon said it was unable to provide any figures.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The race for the 1968 Republican presidential nomination, a five-man affair for nearly a year, is now down to four. Illinois' attractive son, Charles Percy is just about out of it, with only the remotest chance a tangled up convention might turn to him.

The four remaining contenders are, of course, Richard Nixon and Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York, George Romney of Michigan and Ronald Reagan of California.

Wherever Republican governors and other party leaders gather these days, Percy's name is almost never heard. National opinion polls rank him very low and his name recognition across the country is obviously weak.

Being realistic, Percy and his political aides have long since appraised this situation accurately. Despite his favorite son ambitions, Percy has no plans to take part either in presidential primaries or key delegate-choosing state conventions.

The indications are Percy thinks it wise to wait until another day, in 1972 or thereafter.

Many party leaders seem to agree. With the GOP nominating convention at Miami Beach just nine months away, here is the outlook for the four principal contenders.

ROCKEFELLER: He is now GOP moderates' only real fallback prospect should Romney fall in the primaries.

Of disinterest do not rule him out but they do mean that only a draft will nominate him. Though perhaps a dozen Republican governors appear to favor him, drafts are very rare and deep-set conservative animosity toward Rockefeller would make this one especially difficult.

There is little likelihood he will change his mind and campaign actively. He tells friends he is weary of campaigning.

Boonville, Mo. is still embittered over what he remembers as the highly traumatic experience of his losing the 1964 race for the nomination against Barry Goldwater.

Yet Rockefeller stands in the curious position where every time he tries to reinforce his disinterest some party leader exclaims: "Beautilful! Just exactly what he should be saying at this stage of his campaign."

ROMNEY: Most of his potential party supporters consider him badly wounded by the defeat. Many professional voters, high respect for the Michigan governor's on-the-scene campaigning abilities. They think he might surprise Nixon with underdog victories in the crucial early primaries in New Hampshire and Wisconsin.

But Romney still has no viable campaign strategy for either the primary or the state-convention stages and he will soon be off to Europe and Asia.

Furthermore, some GOP skeptics think Romney is now so badly scarred by his misadventures that even a string of primary wins will not rehabilitate him. It is hard uphill for the party's most experienced early morning runner.

REAGAN: He is the only clear winner among those contenders who rode the governor's cruise ship to the Caribbean. Smooth, poised and witty as always in his public appearances, he also made points behind closed doors.

Two aides to moderate governors not eager for Reagan's nomination described his performance in shipboard Republican caucus as "clearly forceful and aggressive." Some found him impressive but aloof, a smiling "cold fish."

His popular support is obviously large and growing in the South and West. Any stumbling by Nixon would find conservative professionals turning to him in droves, though some would have reservations in Wisconsin, Nebraska and Oregon primaries.

NIXON: On paper the present leader as measured by public and private polls, organization commitments, leadership appraisal. Yet he seems to be really smashing primary victories, plus consistent poll margins over Lyndon Johnson to wipe out deep skepticism in the party over his capacity to win.

Nevertheless, moderates shaken by a defeated Romney and unable to mount a draft for Rockefeller might throw in with Nixon rather than hand the prize to Reagan.

Veterans Day

Forty-nine years have passed since the first Armistice Day when the Central Powers led by Imperial Germany surrendered to the free world after four years of the bloodiest war in history. It was the first broad-scale effort after Napoleon to bond the world to the totalitarian will.

But the seeds of despotism were not made sterile by defeat. Twenty years later there was another powerful grouping to whip the world and erase freedom. This time it took six years of blood and tears to crush the forces of tyranny.

A tyrant regime, Soviet Russia, was by force of circumstances on the free world side in World War II. The free nations expressed their gratitude to the Soviets by granting them territorial and other concessions and overlooking the conquest of a dozen nations by the Reds.

The communists have shown their gratitude by trying to undercut the free world everywhere. But the United States still remains strong.

The war in Vietnam, where more than a half million American men are engaged in bloody fighting and thousands are dying, was started by the communists in furtherance of their plan to enslave the world.

In view of the unending contention between free and despotic worlds, and the violent expressions of that cleavage through 49 years, the original Armistice Day has been renamed Veterans Day. And the original combat members of the American Expeditionary forces have been joined by millions of others.

Veterans Day is in honor of those who have sprung to the defense of a free America. It recognizes those who are fighting — and stand ready to fight — against tyranny today. No day in the year has more meaning for its own people and the human family generally.

Peace cannot be made and guaranteed by charters and treaties, by profound speeches and declarations. Nor can it be maintained by a sentimental addiction to copybook maxims. Peace is not a state of "no war," a suspension of violence, a negativity.

To see it as one or all of these is to insult the sacrifice made by those who went out to win it and bequeathed it, however briefly, to mankind.

Saturday will be a day of remembrance. Special programs are planned throughout Magic Valley. There will be many speakers and many bands and many crowds.

All the thoughts for all the veterans who have fought this nation's wars will crowd into one minute — starting at 11 a.m.

The Pivotal Date

"Ten Days That Shook the World" is one of those imperishable slogans Madison Avenue is constantly in search of. And fittingly enough, it was coined by an American writer, John Reed, who witnessed the takeover of the Russian Revolution by the Bolsheviks in October-November 1917.

Like much advertising, however, the phrase claimed far more than the product it described really delivered. The "Ten Days" may have shaken the world, agree one historian and essayist, but they did not much change the course of world events, at least not for a long while.

Another world-shaking revolution occurred on one day in 1917, notes John Lukacs in an article in the New York Times Magazine — an event whose 50th anniversary was little celebrated in comparison with the noise that is being made over the Russian Revolution.

This was America's entry into World War I on April 6, 1917.

In the short run, American intervention decided the outcome of the war. But in the long run, he claims, "This radical reversal of a political tradition that had rested on centuries of American doctrine and experience, was the greatest event of the century. Its consequences have changed the evolution of world history."

The breakdown of the Russian system of government may have been predictable in 1914. The enthusiasm with which the American people were to fling themselves into a European war in order to emerge as the arbiter of the world was not.

If we judge events by their consequences, says Lukacs, we ought to realize that the great world revolutionary was Woodrow Wilson rather than Lenin.

"It was Wilson's concept of national self-determination, not Lenin's much vaunted international rising of the working classes, that vastly transformed Europe and much of the world after the First World War, setting the stage for the Second, and perhaps even for the Third."

It can be argued that it was the failure of the heart of Wilson's concept — a world parliament of nations (which the United States turned its back on) structured to preserve peace and freedom through collective action — and the triumph of Europe's age-old system of nationalistic rivalries that prepared the stage for the Second World War.

It can be argued that it is the continuing failure of Wilson's concept which makes the Third World War an ever-present possibility.

Nevertheless, if we are looking for a date in the 20th century to which we can point and say, "This is the key; it all revolves around this," April 6, 1917, is by far the outstanding candidate.

Double Standard Liberalism

Eleven years ago the world watched as a major revolt against Soviet Imperialism broke out in Hungary.

Tragically that is just about all the world did watch. The so-called liberals, who were so quick to demand even the use of force to change the internal policies of South Africa, for instance, were as silent as a tomb as they watched Hungarian freedom fighters striving and dying.

The so-called liberals, who were so quick to support a blockade against Rhodesia, for instance, stood like statues while Soviet tanks and troops rumbled and tramped into Hungary and killed the revolt.

The so-called liberals, who even today howl about terrorism in the United States whenever a looter is yanked off to jail, nodded smugly as literally thousands of men, women and children were killed, crushed, shot, tortured by Soviet soldiers and secret policemen in suppression of and, later, revenge for the Hungarian revolt.

Every man, woman and child who died in Hungary should haunt the so-called consciences of the so-called liberals who chant their cheap little litanies of hate against America but who never raised a finger or a voice for the valiant freedom fighters of Hungary or for any other victims of Communist brutality.

This double standard shows, as vividly as anything, the corruption of so much that wrongfully passes for liberalism these days. True liberals would be sickened by what happened in Hungary just as they would always have been sickened by communism.

This double standard also provides for all the rest of us an infallible test of the credentials of anyone who would claim the liberal title. The man who crusades against injustice at home, for instance, but who will not even admit the injustice of Hungary is a pure and simple phony at the very least.

At the very worst he is simply convinced that a capitalist country can do no right and a communist country no wrong. In between these extremes he might simply be duped or dumb. In no case should he be taken as fully informed or honest editor, with himself or with his cause. (Sincerely, it is impossible to take seriously those so-called conservatives who blind themselves to every injustice just so long as it is committed by someone saying he is anti-Communist.)

Finally, however, Hungary should provide a lesson for the policies of our nation. Hungary remains an occupied state; it remains a police state, with the police dominated by the Soviet Union. Some conditions, it is true, have mellowed for the people there. But, by and large, those conditions have mellowed only to the tragic extent that the people have accepted their captivity. The overwhelming fact is that Hungary remains a captive nation and no amount of rose-colored diplomacy can peel that fact out of existence.

All of us, including President Johnson, should be reminded always of the last broadcast recorded from Budapest before the Soviet crushed the revolt: "People of the world, help us. People of Europe, whom we once defended against the attacks of Asiatic barbarians, listen now to the alarm bells ring. People of the civilized world, in the name of liberty and solidarity we are asking you to help... The light vanishes. The shadows grow darker hour by hour. Listen to our cry."

FALSE ECONOMY IN THE STATEHOUSE. For a number of years the Idaho Statehouse has had a friendly woman receptionist to serve visitors. Her job has been to tell visitors what they can find in the Statehouse and to tell them about Idaho. About 30,000 people visit the Statehouse annually and about 12,000 of them register at the receptionist's desk. The total includes hundreds of Idaho school children.

This annual service to visitors has paid measurable dividends in good will for the state. It has helped youngsters appreciate the Statehouse and its significance as a center of government. The job has been handled most recently by Suzanne Taylor, who is well-versed in Idaho history, government and geography. She has been a pleasant, gracious representative of the state. The same was true of her predecessor, Mrs. Hattie Derr.

Now the job is being plighted. The change represents a false economy. The job of registration and receptionist responsibility for administration of the Statehouse from the Land Board to the Department of Public Works. That agency has decided to eliminate the receptionist. Visitors will have to get directions or information from a male guard, who is to serve in a dual capacity. He will direct tourists to the Department of Commerce and Development for information. That department is well equipped to serve tourists. But it has always been available to visitors.

The net result will be poorer service to the public. No one could expect the guard to meet Mrs. Derr or Miss Taylor in telling people about the Statehouse and the state, or in making them feel welcome. The receptionist's job has cost the state $803 a month. It was little to pay for the service that has been provided. — The Statesman

ONE-EYED MONSTERS. The days are closing in, and it won't be long before both rush traffic periods—coming and going—will be in the darkness. It is high time, therefore, that motorists take stock of their driving lights.

One dark morning recently a Portland driver counted four one-eyed cars on his short drive to work. He had to guess whether the lights were on or off. Much is said these days about the safety features to be built into the new cars. But a padded dashboard or fire-resistant upholstery is not of much importance compared to such prime safety features as headlights and taillights in working order. How about a few well-placed traffic citations as a safety feature? — Oregonian

PAUL HARVEY

It Was The Dream We Lost

I'm a Negro hack driver in Chicago, homesick for Yazoo City, Miss.

Paul Harvey hailed my cab the other evening at the airport. He'd been where I'd lived, and we got to talking and he asked me to write it out.

I grew up and married in Mississippi. All I knew about the world beyond the river was what I'd learned in school or seen in movies on been told by outside preachers who sometimes came to our church.

And no matter how poorly the cotton crop or how scant the peanuts or how tedious my post office job back home, we always had a dream to live with. Someday we'd make it north. Someday there'd be plenty for us and equality for our kids.

Well, here I am in the Promised Land. But wages are not so an hour.

I averaged $2 — before deductions.

In Chicago we got a walk-up in a dingy South Side apartment house. The big city doesn't segregate you because you're black; it segregates you because you're poor.

I was moved from the back of a bus to the front of a cab. Back home we had a patch of green to play on and a patch of blue to breathe in. Weather like everybody wants, we had.

We rarely locked our doors in Yazoo City. We were never afraid. Here we lock ourselves in and we're still afraid.

Chicago Negroes don't get it when I tell them how we had better schools and churches in the South than here, how poor folks down there eat better than most anybody up here, how we always had the camellias and azaleas and magnolias in the yard.

I can't afford flowers now, even one at a time. Besides, cut flowers wilt. I don't blame 'em.

I want home for a family funeral last month and the kins-folk still live with the dream. I asked them to keep it. Live with that dream. Everybody ought to have one dream. "Don't wake up," I said.

They tell me I got self-respect up here, but I don't feel it. And our two just out of grade school got no creek to fish in and no yard to play in and from somewhere they're pickin' up more resentment and ugly hate than I ever remember.

I can't explain to anybody, even my own kids, who've never lived with our Southern ways about the way white people back home call me "Jesse" with more respect than people up here call me "Mister."

Why don't I move the family back to the South again? I may. We talked about it. But Mississippi can't be the same again. We can't have the green and the blue again. And no good cookin' and the "Mornin', Jesse, how's your family?" — we could return to that. But we can't get our dream back; it's gone. And that's bad. Everybody ought to have a dream.

Clean Meat Bill

WASHINGTON. The new clean meat bill is more than a victory for public safety; it is Congress telling those governors who are still swapping about states' rights and Federal interference to put up or shut up.

As overwhelmingly passed by the House, the bill is an example of how the states and the Federal government can cooperate — with the states getting Federal money for a program to be operated without serious Federal interference. It provides up to $20 million of the cost of establishing inspection systems that meet Federal standards, plus advice from Federal experts and technical and laboratory aid.

This is a program the consumer should regard with great interest. Only about one-half of the states now provide mandatory inspection of meat and meat products sold within state boundaries, and eight states have no meat inspection laws whatever, an ironic commentary on a nation which boasts of its sterilized way of life. Some of the horror stories, of diseased and vermin-ridden meat told at committee hearings were enough to send a body fleeing to Bulgaria for a clean, if not square, meal.

Because local politicians can't always be counted on to resist financial temptations held out by meat packers and processors, it is also good to know that the bill would permit the Federal government to check the records of shipments from state-inspected plants. The aim here, of course, is to enable Federal inspectors to halt bootlegging of contaminated meat across state lines.

There was eleven-hour support from the White House for an amendment which would have extended Federal inspection to plants having gross sales in excess of $250,000 annually. But this would have left about half of the plants now uninspected still free to turn out tainted meat. It also would have required the Federal bureaucracy to make up all another function, properly the responsibility of the states. The House sensibly rejected the amendment, 140 to 88.

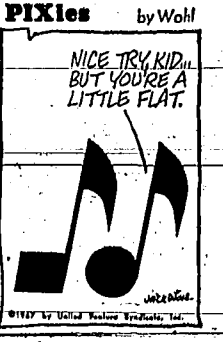

Betty Furness, Lyndon Johnson's official housewife, again showed she is flunking her homework in a plea that the amendment be adopted to save the housewife and her family. Apparently no one had told Betty that most of the filthy meat is turned out by the smaller, fringe plants, which would have remained uninspected under the amendment.

Miss Furness' last-minute plea was another illustration of the curious unawareness that has marked Lyndon Johnson's recent relations with Congress. In his more sure-handed past, Johnson would never have supported a piece of legislation doomed to defeat. Since the House passed the meat bill by 403 to 1, the White House liaison clearly lacked communication with the rank-and-file on Capitol Hill.

Indeed, the bill as passed was the Administration's own baby. Johnson proposed the aid-to-states approach this year after Congress rejected an earlier proposal for extended Federal authority. And only a week before House passage of the bill, Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman came out in support of the bill without amendment.

Miss Furness duly noted the Administration's hand favored broader Federal inspection for two years. But neither she nor the White House has explained why the President decided on the day before the House vote to place his prestige on the line in support of an amendment that didn't have a chance. A Senate majority leader named Lyndon Johnson wouldn't have been caught dead in such a future maneuver.

Drink Danger

Q—I have heard that death may be caused by a combination of alcohol and barbiturates. Is this because, when intoxicated, one is more likely to take an overdose of barbiturate? What about taking muscle relaxants after drinking?

A—Although the worst results of taking barbiturates after drinking are due to taking an overdose, the combination is always dangerous because both drugs are nervous system depressants and the alcohol more than doubles the depressant action of the barbiturate.

Some muscle relaxants contain barbiturates and others are barbiturate-free. All of them, like alcohol, are depressants. Therefore, although little is known specifically about their effect when combined with alcohol, I would advise that they be used with great caution. If at all when you have had a few drinks.

Q—What is neuritis? How long does it last? What kind of doctor is best for it?

A—This is an inflammation of one or more nerves. It may be caused by poisoning with lead, arsenic, alcohol and other chemicals, such as infections as diphtheria, leprosy, German measles, typhus and typhoid; pressure on the nerve by a tumor; injury; poor circulation or a vitamin B deficiency. How long it would last depends on the cause and how promptly corrective measures are applied. A nerve specialist would be able either to help you or prevent your wanting time and money following false leads.

Q—My husband has had polyneuritis for nine months. It has paralyzed his arms and legs and he has constant pain. Is there any cure?

A—There are several types of polyneuritis—acute fibrillar, symmetric and Guillain-Barre's syndrome, to name three. The treatment would depend on the cause. Q—My brother, 35, has a motor neuron disease for which there is no cure. Are there any dos or don'ts that would slow the progress of this disease? A—Diseases that affect the motor nerves (various forms of neuritis and polyneuritis) result in weakness, paralysis and wasting of the muscles supplied by the involved nerves. If your brother has a type for which there is no cure, there is little to be done but, before you give up hope, you might contact the nearest rehabilitation center.

Noted Pianist Will Appear In T. E. Community Concert

The first Twin Falls Community Concert of the season will feature pianist Carl Matthes at 8 p.m. Wednesday at O'Leary Junior High School auditorium.

Mr. Matthes has "taken great strides toward national recognition as a concert pianist." At the age of six he performed at the Los Angeles Conservatory and this past season performed at Carnegie Hall and the Hollywood Bowl.

He is a native of Los Angeles, and his home-town newspaper, the Los Angeles Times, is quoted as noting that "no amount of work and training can instill the natural talent he has and demonstrates."

At the age of 20 he graduated Summa Cum Laude with a Bachelor of Music Degree from the California Institute of Arts. Mr. Matthes has studied in Europe and gave a successful European debut before a packed house at Wigmore Hall in London.

Upon return to the United States he found his performance schedule filled and has toured throughout the United States. In the fall of 1968 he plans to return to Europe to open the second season of the new Westminster Theater of the Arts in London.

He-Man Movie Veteran, Charles Bickford, Dies

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Actor Charles Bickford, who played rugged he-man roles on the screen and television, died Thursday night at 78.

One of Hollywood's top character actors, Bickford succumbed in the University of California at Los Angeles Medical Center.

After suffering an attack of emphysema, he was hospitalized last July. The illness later was complicated by an infection of the bloodstream and pneumonia.

A friend said Bickford was "still hard, strong and gruff" until the end.

Survivors include his widow, actress Beatrice Loring, whom he married in 1919, and a married son Rex, 42, and daughter, Doris. No funeral plans have been made.

The red-haired Bickford, after more than 100 film credits, was enjoying success in television as the hard-fisted ranch owner on "The Virginian." Recently actor John McIntire—who moved into "Wagon Train" when Ward Bond died—filled in for Bickford.

A multimillionaire, Bickford often played a captain of industry or a domineering father of politician. He won an Academy Award nomination for "Johnny Belinda" but once described Oscars as "a little bit lousy."

Born January 1, 1889 in Cambridge, Mass., Bickford did almost everything but act in his early years. He was a writer, a playwright, a bull rider, a bicyclist and an actor.

He wrote in a sprightly style of things that happened to him in transit from a roughneck logger, hobo, barker, ranch exterminator, U.S. Navy boxer, vaudeville performer, Broadway star to cinema.

Once he got into a dispute with "Eddie" Mayer, and the producer fired him. "I wouldn't give in, I wouldn't be disciplined," Bickford re-

Holiday Ideas

The Twin Falls County Home Extension Council will hold its annual Holiday Ideas meeting Monday at the YM-YWCA.

Registration will start at 10 a.m. A business meeting and election of officers will be held, with a potluck luncheon at noon. Home extension clubs will display holiday decorations and ideas.

A small registration charge will be made. Everyone is asked to bring their own table service.

Hall Of Fame Begins 17th TV Season

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer ROY WICKER (AP)—The Hallmark Hall of Fame, which has captured more Emmies and added more distinction to television than any other series of programs, begins its 17th season Saturday night with an "opened-up" version of "A Bell for Adano."

The special is based on Paul Oskar's 1944 Broadway play, which was based on John Hersey's novel. But the television program will not be limited to indoor sets.

"It has been opened up," explains star John Forsythe, using the trade expression employed in the transition of plays to the film medium.

"We shot some scenes down at the harbor in the hills, all over. Television viewers demand this nowadays, especially with the advent of color and the popularity of movies on TV. You can no longer play a show like this one entirely in a studio.

Otherwise the play is mostly intact. Roger Herson, who adapted it for television, also went back to the Hersey novel for added material; particularly the humor which wasn't as noticeable in the play version. We have used nothing from the movie, which starred John Huston and wasn't very successful."

Forsythe plays Major Joplin, the Italian-American officer who tries to govern a small Italian village after it has been liberated by the allied armies. The role was created by Frederic March on Broadway.

The NBC special marks the actor's return to television after the disastrous "John Forsythe Show" of a season ago. The ex-

Concert Organist To Play At Burley Matinee Sunday

BURLEY—Joyce Jones, concert organist, will present a matinee at 2 p.m. Sunday for the Mini-Caslin Community Concert Association in Burley High School Auditorium.

Miss Jones has succeeded in one of the most difficult segments of the music world, the art of the concert organ. It is a pleasure to find a concert artist who, by the intelligent development of exceptional gifts and without sensationalism or publicity—has succeeded while still young. Community Concert officials say.

She has succeeded because of her brilliant virtuosity and sensitive musicianship, while her charm, vitality and love of people have endeared her to audiences everywhere she has performed.

An attractive young woman, perience appears to have caused no trauma for Forsythe, a remarkably well-adjusted actor.

"It was my own fault," he commented, "for letting myself be talked into it. I made the mistake of not demanding a strong producer to watch over the show; I thought perhaps I could keep an eye on things myself, but that's impossible when you're starting in a series."

Forsythe himself had a five-year hit in "Bachelor Father," which he admits "made me rich beyond my wildest dreams of avarice." For that reason he can't afford to call his stints, such as "A Bell for Adano" and his recent film, "In Cold Blood."

REVENUES HIGHER
BOISE (AP) — The Idaho State Tax Commission reported that revenues to the state's general fund for the fiscal year were 6.6 per cent higher than previously estimated at the end of October.

With revenues during October of $3,832,618, Idaho's general fund revenues during the first four months of the fiscal year rose to $20,805,039, according to a statement released by the office of Gov. Don W. Samuelson.

REPORT PLANNED
BOISE (AP) — A report on flood dangers in the Boise area, the first of four planned for Idaho, will be made public Nov. 20, it was announced Thursday.

The report is being prepared by the Army Corps of Engineers, which also is studying flood danger in Gem and Payette counties in southwestern Idaho, and along the Clearwater River in the Oshana area in the north.

SUIT IS FILED
BOISE (AP) — A suit against former directors and promoters of the defunct Rocky Mountain Chemical Corp. was filed Thursday in U.S. District Court on behalf of about 1,100 persons.

Among the complainants were Idahoans who had purchased stock in the chemical firm which was adjudged bankrupt in 1964. They named in their suit Lawrence H. Duffin, R. B. Hegsted, James E. Murphy, John Kobe, Henry Morrison, Irving Anderson and N. A. Jordan.

Plaintiffs asked return of money equal to their investments. No monetary amount was set.

STUDENTS CONTINUE
BOISE (AP) — More than 67 per cent of Idaho's 11,328 high school graduates of last year have gone on to some type of higher education, Dr. F. Engelking, state superintendent of public instruction, said Thursday.

STARTS WALKING
MOSCOW, Idaho (AP) — Wesley J. Stone of Moscow will start walking again to save his son's life Monday.

He will set out on a 90-mile trek to Spokane. Stone's three-year-old son, Joe, suffers from a rare kidney disease known as cystinosis. Stone started walking for the boy Aug. 3, 1966, when he set out on a 35-mile trek from Methow, Wash., to Manson, Wash. He collected $300.

Later last year, Stone walked on two occasions, and Washington State University students raised $3,500 more for research on the rare ailment which affects metabolism and usually is fatal by the time children are 8 to 10 years old.

3 Will Compete On Rifle Squad

Three area Army reservists have been named to the 34-man rifle squad that will compete in the annual Sixth Army matches next spring at Camp Perry, Ohio.

They are Sgt. I.C. Wilbert Perkins, Duhi; S. Sgt. Rex L. O'Neil, Fairfield; and M. Sgt. Richard A. Parmeter, Rupert. All three are members of the Army's 6349th Special Marksmanship unit of Twin Falls. They placed high in competition at Ft. Lewis, Wash., recently.

PROCLAMATION SIGNED
BOISE (AP) — A proclamation signed by Gov. Don W. Samuelson called Thursday for observance of Saturday as Veterans Day, "a sacred and glorious day of respect and honor to the nation's veterans."

"The search for peace with honor continues," the proclamation said, and Veterans Day is a time of "rededication to the establishment of world peace."

CRASH KILLS MAN
RIGGINS, Idaho (AP) — Idaho's traffic death toll was nine ahead of last year's today — at 246 — after Henry Winkler, 65, Pollock, Idaho, was killed Thursday night on U.S. Highway 95 south of Riggins. Idaho County sheriff's officers said Winkler's auto collided in late afternoon with a jeep driven by Charles N. Goodloe of Homedale, Idaho.

Revolt Erupts Inside Ruling Labor Party

LONDON (AP) — A major revolt erupted inside Britain's ruling Labor party today against opinion poll showed Wilson's austerity policies, and a public opinion poll showed Wilson's popularity with the voters is dropping sharply.

More than 70 Laborite legislators signed a motion calling for an immediate change in the government's program to keep unemployment up this winter, partly to reduce imports and partly to encourage workers to shift to export industries.

Wilson failed in the House of Commons lobbies Wednesday night to head off an open revolt. Political sources said he offered the rebels a debate on employment policy in a closed party caucus but they rejected this attempt to take the heat out of the issue and went ahead with their censure motion.

A national opinion poll by the pro-Conservative Daily Mail showed that 40 per cent of those questioned were satisfied with Wilson, compared with 54 per cent in the Mail's last poll Oct. 19. Opposition leader Edward Heath's rating climbed from 39 to 47 per cent. The poll showed that in a general election now, 45.6 per cent would vote Conservative and 37.8 per cent Labor. Labor had a 1.9 per cent lead three weeks ago.

The Laborite rebels know that if they forced new elections, most of them would lose their seats. Their motion is not likely to come to a Commons vote that could bring down Wilson's government.

But it is especially embarrassing to Wilson because the rebels are not confined to the party's militant left wing. They include right-wing members from the trade unions and veteran party workhorses.

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: I am 18 and people tell me I am very mature for my age. Abby, I know more about the facts of life and the course of nature than most kids and I got it straight from my mother. She told me everything starting from the age of 5. I don't know how I got the reputation, but girls from 10 to 16 come to me for information about the pill and that sort. Even boys come to me with questions. Should I answer their questions, or tell them to ask their mothers or what?
 "LITTLE ABBY"

DEAR "LITTLE ABBY": I don't know how you got the reputation of knowing so much, but it's not because you've kept it a secret. It's a girl (between 10 and 16) asks a 13-year-old for information about "the pill and that sort," perhaps her mother should know she is seeking such information, so the best thing for you to do is to tell her to ask her mother. Your own mother appears to have pretty good sense, so ask her how much she thinks you should be telling the other kids.

DEAR ABBY: We are a family of five, plus one. The new addition is a basenji hound. We got him when he was 3 weeks old. He was real cute then and everybody loved him. Today he is 8 months old and a regular pain-in-the-neck. When he eats, he slops all over. And when he drinks water, his ears get popping wet. He drools and climbs up on the furniture and slobbers all over everybody and everything. And he's still not housebroken.

My husband can't stand him. He says he makes him sick. I put up with the dog because the children love him. My husband wants to get rid of him, but it would break the children's hearts.

The hound's name is "Snoopy," but we should have named him "Smelly." But that's another problem. What should we do?
 DOG TIRED

DEAR DOG TIRED: It's not the poor dog's fault that he wasn't properly trained to be a lovable, obedient, attractive pet. Dogs (not unlike children) can't be expected to know what they haven't been taught. It may be too late to train "Snoopy," but give it a try. Otherwise, I'm with dad.

DEAR ABBY: This is for Cindy, whose husband asks her out with only an hour's notice:

God bless him for asking you and not one of the girls from the office. Let me tell you from experience, it's smart always to be ready. Have a long list of sitters you can call at the last minute. And some good "friends" in reserve in case you can't get a sitter. Do something with your hair during the day, just in case that's the night your husband wants to take you out. And always have something ready to wear.

MOV—take no chances. All you need is 5 minutes notice and I can get ready for an audience with the pope. PREPARED

Move Along, Little Dogies...

By ROBERT VANAUDELN
Times-News Farm Editor

As the sun rises over the mountains south of Jackpot, about 50 cowboys can be seen cutting out cows, calves, yearlings and bulls.

It's roundup time!

This scene of the Old West appears only during the fall when members of the Salmon River Cattlemen's Association round up thousands of cattle to be sorted and delivered home.

The day starts about 5 a.m. for these cowboys (most of them are farmers) from Twin Falls, Kimberly, Hansen, Filer, Duhl and Rogerson areas.

While cutting out the cows, there never seems to be a dull moment for most of these farmer-cowboys. Often a cow and her calf will get separated while the cow is being cut out—and then there is trouble.

At other times the area might turn into a rodeo. A cowboy might accidentally spur his horse while chasing a cow, causing the horse to buck. Then when many cowboys get their laughs at each other—watching them bite the dust—if they're lucky enough.

In cutting the cattle, some of the cowboys cut out cattle with a specific brand—until all those with that brand are cut out.

Then they start on another brand.

While part of the cowboys are cutting out the cattle, the others are holding the large herd. Some of the cowboys had young horses that they were training to use in cutting cattle. They were used, however, mostly for holding the herd while the experienced horses cut cattle.

Before the roundup is over, in about a week, more than 6,000 cows, some with calves, 1,000 yearlings and about 200 bulls will be enroute home. Some of these will be trailed and others will be trucked home.

Although most of the roundup is done the same as cowboys did at the turn of the century, a modern touch is kept. Gone is the chuckwagon. Now a pickup truck is used to haul food from the home ranch—the San Juanito Ranch—to the cowboys.

At night, instead of bedding down with the cows as their forefathers did, these cowboy-

State Brand Inspector To Retire Jan. 1

GENESSEE — Charles McCracken, 68, 15-year veteran state brand inspector, will retire on Jan. 1, 1968, according to Stanton Becker, Genesee, state board chairman.

The Idaho State Brand Board will meet in Boise Monday for the purpose of interviewing applicants for the position of State Brand Inspector.

Mr. McCracken, a longtime peace officer with over 15 years as sheriff at Soda Springs and 15 years as state brand inspector, advised he plans to fish, hunt, and rest for a while.

Resolutions Highlight State Grange Meet

IDAHO FALLS — Resolutions, ranging from unmarked police cars to labeling of potatoes, highlighted the annual Idaho State Grange Convention last week here.

The resolution that drew the most discussion was that on the unmarked police cars. A resolution favoring properly marked police cars was adopted by the delegates to the convention.

This resolution, in effect, opposes Gov. Don Samuelson's order permitting unmarked police cars in Idaho for apprehension of traffic violators.

Other resolutions adopted by the grangers including supporting congressional legislation to require potatoes to be labeled with their state of origin and calling for 100 per cent of wheat raised on allotted acreage to be made eligible for government support at 100 per cent of parity.

Opposing proposed legislation which would give the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads the right to condemn property, set its value and force acceptance of the appraised price without right of appeal.

More resolutions adopted opposed postal rate increases, opposed the U. S. paying debt of foreign nations which fail to pay their loans to the commercial bank, opposed a Surtax increase as proposed by President Johnson, opposed an electoral college system based on "one man, one vote" rule, opposed unionism on farms and favored a graduated income tax bill.

Local grangers appointed to committees include Mrs. Ed Swaepler, Burley, home economics committee, and Vernon Kohntopp, Jerome, youth committee.

Assistant Professor Gets Grant

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow — Vance E. Penton, assistant professor of mechanical engineering at the University of Idaho, has been awarded a $2,500 grant from the Corps of Engineers, Walla Walla, Wash. District, to carry on his research in predicting water content inside snow packs by remote control.

The announcement came from Dr. Richard E. Warner, associate director of the Engineering Experiment Station at Moscow.

Penton is engaged in research to develop a "pressure pillow" that will allow the Forest Service to predict the amount of water content inside snow packs and thus obtain information in forecasting the magnitude of floods and the amount of water available for future use.

The pressure pillow was first demonstrated during the winter of 1960-61, and six years of testing has followed. Much of the research has been supported by the Agriculture Research Service and by other state and federal agencies.

"The pressure pillow is more reliable in forecasting water run-off than the conventional snow tube gauge," said Professor Penton, but added, "there are some inaccuracies." With the added money, he hopes to be able to get rid of the "inaccuracies" of his invention.

State Farm Bureau Meet Set

POCATELLO — Monroe W. Hays, Filer, president of Idaho Farm Bureau, has announced final preparations for the 1967 Idaho Farm Bureau Convention to be held in Pocatello Tuesday through Nov. 17.

"We are happy to report an outstanding program that will be educational and of interest to all Farm Bureau members and guests," Hays said. He announced that Charles B. Shuman, Sullivan, Ill., president of the American Farm Bureau; U.S. Sen. Frank Church, Washington, D.C.; Dr. Kenneth Hood, Chicago, general manager of the American Agricultural Marketing Association, and Leonard Johnson, Salt Lake City, assistant director of the Natural Resources Division, American Farm Bureau, will be the featured speakers at general sessions open to the public.

General business sessions will hear voting delegates work on Farm Bureau policies to guide the organization during 1968; election of Board of Directors, Women's Committee members and Young Farmers and Ranchers Committee members.

Production Of Red Clover Seed In Idaho Down

BOISE — The 1967 production of red clover seed in Idaho is forecast to be 3.7 per cent less than a year ago, according to the USDA Crop Reporting Service for Idaho.

Total production is estimated at 2,000,000 pounds compared to 4,800,000 pounds last year and the 1961-65 average of 4,972,000 pounds. This year's increased acreage, estimated at 8,000, compares with 13,000 last year and the 1961-65 average of 15,400.

Average yield per acre is forecast at 370 pounds, compared to 360 in 1966 and would be the second highest of record dating back to 1910. Only 1954 (at 390) was larger.

Soil Meet Speakers Listed

GORDON W. ZIMMERMAN
BURLEY — Featured speaker of the Idaho Association of Soil Conservation Districts Convention Nov. 15 through 17 in Burley will be Gov. Don Samuels and Gordon K. Zimmerman, Alexandria, Va.

The state soil meeting, with headquarters at Ponderosa Inn, will be hosted by West Cassia and East Cassia Soil Districts. The Ladies' auxiliary will be meeting at the same time.

Meals will be served during the convention at Burley Elks Lodge, Ponderosa Inn and Magnolia Temple.

Mr. Zimmerman will address the group attending the convention Nov. 16 during the noon luncheon at Ponderosa Inn Driftwood Room.

Zimmerman is executive secretary of the National Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts, and is a veteran of the district movement in the United States. He participated in the first organizational work for districts in the mid-30's.

Since then, during a wide-ranging agricultural experience in farm organizations, industry and government service, he has been a consistent advocate of the District approach to conservation and development of the nation's land and water resources.

Zimmerman has worked with most of the officers of the National Association in the period since it was organized in 1948 and over the years has contributed materially to the development of District policies and programs.

Prior to assuming his present position with the NACD in 1959, Zimmerman served as research director of the National Grange, Washington, D. C.; as manager of the public relations department of Henry Ferguson Inc., farm equipment manufacturers Detroit, Mich.; and as chief of the division of information and education for the Soil Conservation Service, USDA, in Washington, D. C.

Born in Spokane, Wash., he attended school in Seattle, Chipewaut County, Wis., and Washington, D. C. He majored in business administration at the University of Maryland; worked as a reporter for the Washington Daily News until 1935, and in April of that year joined the staff of the Soil Conservation Service.

He moved from government service to private industry in 1951, first opening an office for Harry Ferguson, Inc., in Washington, and then transferring to Detroit as manager of the farm machinery company's public relations department.

In 1954, Zimmerman joined the staff of the National Grange in Washington and for four years took an active role in that farm organization's legislative and research work, with particular attention to natural resource and commodity programs.

Zimmerman has served on the National Livestock and Meat board, with the American Dairy Association, and as a member of the Agriculture Committee of the National Planning Association. He is serving his fourth year as chairman of the Steering Committee of the National Watershed Congress.

Last year he was appointed by the president to the Citizens Advisory Committee on Recreation and Natural Beauty.

Idaho officers conducting the three-day convention are Parker Woodall, president, Sweet Richard Lawson, vice president, Tensed, Dallin Regan, secretary, Idaho Falls, and Devon Jensen, treasurer, Moore.

Three districts are Glenn Nelson, Twin Falls; Don Baldus, Nez Percé; and Lamar Whyte, Springfield.

State officers of the Ladies' auxiliary are Mrs. Glenn Nelson, president, Twin Falls, and Mrs. Ellis Fuller, secretary, Twin Falls.

Mrs. Pat Kelly, bridge, is auxiliary-state-convention chairman. Assisting are Mrs. Wilbur Sohaner, Malta, decorations; Mrs. Garnet Kidd, Burley, hospitality, and Mrs. Jay Nichols, Burley registration. Others assisting with the convention are Mrs. Jerry Larson, Mrs. Jim Martin, both Burley; Mrs. Farnum Warr, Mrs. Bob Harding, both Okla.; Mrs. Carl Goringe, Okla.; Mrs. Vard Chaburn, Allion; Mrs. Lou Ottley, Elba; and Mrs. Phil Wheeler and Mrs. Selji Endow, both Malta.

Tours of the Burley area are being planned and a dance will be held Nov. 18 with Rex Palmer's Orchestra furnishing the music.

Tick Control

MEXICO CITY — Entomologist Owen H. Graham, Agricultural Research Service, USDA, reports that experimental new material, Durban, kills cattle ticks and prevents virtually all female ticks from laying eggs before they die.

He reported on the post-killer at the annual Entomological Society of Mexico meeting recently in Mexico City.

The insecticide will not be available to cattlemen until further tests are made.

Judge Gossett To Give Travelogue

BLISS — Judge James Gossett, Gooding, will show colored slides and tell of his recent trip around the world at the Dec. 7 meeting of the Bliss Grange.

Master Frank Lenker announced the public is invited. Judge Gossett will commence his talk at 8:30 p.m.

Plans were made for the annual Thanksgiving dinner which will be held Nov. 16 for members and their families. Mrs. Vern Stevens will be in charge of the meal and Mrs. Ruth Butler will be in charge of the program.

David Bishop, Boys' Stater from Bliss, gave his report. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Stevens.

Co-Ops Invested $42 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department reports farmer cooperatives invested $42 million in new facilities outside U.S. metropolitan areas during the third quarter of this year.

The facilities include a poultry processing plant, a fertilizer production and distribution plant, a grain elevator, livestock and poultry feed mills and a milk processing plant.

Wheat On Decline

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department reported today that U.S. exports of wheat are running behind year-earlier levels.

Between July 1, the beginning of the 1967 crop marketing year, and Oct. 20 they totaled 222 million bushels, including the wheat equivalent of flour sold abroad. This compared with 271 million bushels in the like period a year ago.

4-H Leading Lassies Club Holds Party

DECLO — New members were welcomed into the Leading Lassies 4-H Club at their Halloween party and potluck supper at the home of Mrs. Avalin Walker, leader.

New members are Janeen Zollinger, Diane Gillitt, Shelia Anderson, Terri Jo Waring, Dora Harris, Jackie Adams and Pamela Harris.

Officers were elected and Christine Gillitt will serve as president, assisted by Carolyn Zollinger, vice president; Pamela Harris, secretary; Diane Gillitt, treasurer; Dora Harris, reporter; Dora Harris, recognition leader; and Lena Hill, historian.

Miss Gillitt reported on a recent 4-H meeting held in Jerome to discuss a new project, "Cleaning Up America." The Leading Lassies voted to begin the project in Declo.

New projects to be taken by members will be Child Care Safety, Let's Entertain, Hand Sewing, Junior Leadership and Family Living.

High Vacuum In Milking Machines May Cause Woe

WASHINGTON — Milking machines with an excessively high vacuum could cause udder trouble, states the October Agricultural Research publication by the Department of Agriculture.

The study found: "A machine vacuum—up to 16 inches, the researchers found, did not raise the vacuum in the teat sinus. As the machine vacuum increased to 20 inches, however, the vacuum extended more fully into the teat sinus, perhaps because of the higher vacuum at the teat end diluted the teat canal."

Co-Ops Invested $42 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department reports farmer cooperatives invested $42 million in new facilities outside U.S. metropolitan areas during the third quarter of this year.

The facilities include a poultry processing plant, a fertilizer production and distribution plant, a grain elevator, livestock and poultry feed mills and a milk processing plant.

Average Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department reported today that the cost of telephone service to farm families is averaging about 1 per cent more than a year earlier. The monthly average bill is $5.15 compared with $5.08 a year earlier.

Rep. Hansen To Speak At Burley Farm Bureau Meet

REP. GEORGE HANSEN

... will speak Friday evening in Burley to the Cassia County Farm Bureau and Saturday night to the Twin Falls County Farm Bureau.

Banquet Set By Local Farm Bureau

The Twin Falls County Farm Bureau will have its annual banquet Saturday evening in the Twin Falls High School Cafeteria.

According to Louis Reinke, president, the banquet will begin at 7 p.m. Master of ceremonies will be Irvin Ehlers.

Guest speaker will be Rep. George Hansen. Rep. Hansen is a member of the House Interior and Agriculture Committee and several subcommittees.

New officers of the group, elected during its annual meeting Thursday, will be introduced.

The annual Convention began Friday afternoon with Rep. George Hansen speaking Friday evening.

The meeting opened in the conference room of Idaho Bank and Trust building. Resolutions to be acted on by the state committee were explained and discussed. The resolutions are Farm Bureau's program with respect to National and International issues.

O. M. Johnson and Vaughn Hobson were in charge of the program.

The annual Farm Bureau banquet will be at 7:30 p.m. at the Burley Elks Lodge Hall, at which time Rep. Hansen will speak. Marilee Smith, Rupert, junior talent winner will entertain the group.

Hansen was reappointed in the 90th Congress to Interior and Agriculture Committees, becoming eighth ranking of 14 Republicans on Interior and fifth ranking of 15 on Agriculture. Appointed to seven subcommittees.

designated as ranking Republican on three in Agriculture, and as second ranking on one in Agriculture and one in Interior.

He is serving a second term on Republican Committee on Committees and reappointed by Speaker of House to special visitors' facilities committee. He was assigned floor leadership and bill management responsibilities, and added to GOP Policy Committee Task Force on East-West Trade.

His subcommittee assignments are Irrigation and reclamation, public lands, Indian affairs, foreign agricultural programs, family farms and outposts, and rice.

Officers of the Cassia County Farm Bureau are Glen E. Larson, president; O. M. Johnson, first vice president; Reid Barlow, second vice president; and Kelly Hyton, secretary. Board members are Mrs. Laverne Hanks, Mrs. E. Jay Garrett, meeting.

Bill Okayed

WASHINGTON — The House recently passed, by a vote of 403 to 1, a bill authorizing federal assistance to states to develop improved intra-state meat inspection.

The House defeated a proposal that would have extended federal meat inspection to intra-state meat.

MEETING PLANNED

DALLAS, Tex. — Plans for the National Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts national convention to be held Feb. 4-7 in Dallas, will be discussed at a directors' meeting.

EVELYN SILVA

Shoshone, will speak during the noon luncheon of the Ladies' Auxiliary, Idaho Association of Soil Conservation Districts convention in Burley. She will speak Thursday, Nov. 16 during the noon luncheon at Ponderosa Inn Driftwood Room.

She is a member of the Wood River Livestock 4-H Club and will leave later this month for Chicago to the National 4-H Congress.

Wendell Girl Wins Idaho Talent Event

WENDELL—Susan Orth, member of Orchard Valley Grange No. 428, Wendell, will compete in the National Grange talent contest Nov. 14 at Syracuse, N. Y.

Miss Orth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Orth, Wendell, a graduate of Wendell high school, is a senior, majoring in math at Idaho State University, Pocatello. She won the state talent contest last week at Idaho Falls.

Miss Orth will play a piano solo for the contest number. She received her musical training from Mrs. Lillian J. Barton, Wendell. She began at the age of 8 years and studied through her junior year in high school.

In addition to her studies at the University and her music, Miss Orth is employed at the University museum by the Los Angeles County Museum. Miss Orth works under the direction of Dr. John White, of ISU.

SUSAN ORTH, member of Orchard Valley Grange No. 428, Wendell, and winner of the state grange talent contest will compete in the National Grange talent contest at Syracuse, N. Y., Nov. 14.

Restaurants

WASHINGTON (AP)—Americans who eat away from home have access to some 371,000 restaurants and other establishments that serve food, an Agriculture Department survey states. Nearly 83 per cent of those establishments were classed as public eating places. The rest are institutions.

Grange To Meet

KING HILL—The King Hill Grange will hold a Thanksgiving and birthday dinner Tuesday night at the Grange hall with Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Sherman as hosts.

The dinner will be potluck and members who have birthdays in October, November and December will be honored. Reports in the State Grange Convention will be given by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Greer.

Local ASC Official Outlines 1968 Feed Grain Program

The 1968 feed grain program, announced recently by Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman, takes vigorous action to reduce total supplies in order to strengthen prices, according to Carl Boyd, chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation, Twin Falls-County Committee.

The target is to divert from production about 30 million acres—10 million more than were diverted in 1967—in order to reduce feed grain stocks and gain much stronger prices.

At the same time, the Secretary announced that price-support loans on 1967 crops may be extended for the first time on grains in commercial storage as well as grains in farm storage.

The chairman listed the following key provisions of the 1968 feed grain program:

1. Farmers will divert to conserving uses 20 per cent of their base acreage of corn and sorghum in order to qualify for price-support loans and payments. No diversion payments will be made for this minimum diversion, except for small-farm acreages—the same as in 1968 and 1967.
2. Additional acreage may be diverted up to a total of 50 per cent of the base or 25 acres, whichever is larger. The acreage diversion rate for voluntary diversion will be 45 per cent of the total price support (loan plus price-support payment) times the farm's established yield. In the 1967 program, there was no payment for diversion except from bases of 25 acres or less.
3. For small farms (with a base of 25 acres or less), a diversion payment will be available at 20 per cent of the total support rate times the farm yield for the first 20 per cent acreage diversion, and at the regular 45 per cent payment rate on the remaining acreage diverted to a conserving use.
4. As in 1967, producers with corn-sorghum base acreages up to 125 acres will have the option of temporarily reducing this base down to 25 acres and still be eligible for the small-farm provision provided that no corn or grain sorghum is planted for harvest on the farm and the 25 acres are diverted to a conserving use.
5. Price-support loan levels under the 1968 program will be the same as in 1967—for corn, a national average of $1.05 per bushel; for sorghum, a national average of $1.61 per hundredweight. Price-support payments will continue at 30 cents per bushel for corn and 53 cents per hundredweight on sorghum, based on the planted acreage up to one-half the farm base times the projected yield.
6. Substitution provisions relating to wheat and feed grain acreage (including barley and oats) will be continued.
7. Barley is not included in the 1968 feed grain program, and producers of this crop will be eligible for barley price-support loans regardless of the acreage planted.
8. Price-support loan levels for feed grain crops not covered by the feed grain program are national averages of 80 cents per bushel for barley, 43 cents per bushel for oats, and $1.02 a bushel for rye.

Chairman Boyd said that further program details will be announced prior to sign-up time. Signups for participation in the 1968 feed grain, and wheat program, will take place concurrently during February and March 1968.

Awards Given At Gooding County 4-H Annual Event

GOODING—The annual Gooding County 4-H Achievement program held recently at the Gooding Grange Hall honored many county 4-H members, leaders and junior leaders, according to Ruth J. Shane, Gooding County Extension Home Economist.

The morning "Penny Carnival" offered games and prizes for 4-H members and was sponsored by the County Junior Leaders. At noon the Pomona Grange women, under the direction of Mrs. Phares Schiffler, helped with the potluck lunch.

The afternoon awards sessions saw many county 4-Hers receiving awards—pins and scholarships for their accomplishments during the past year. Mark Shano and Edward Koester, agricultural extension agent, were in charge of the day's activities.

Awards, donors and recipients honored Saturday included Kirk Webb, Wendell, the First Security Bank wristwatch, which was presented by James Alnstra, manager.

Marilyn Varin, Gooding, received the $25 University of Idaho Club Congress scholarship, presented by Larry Robertson of Gooding Seed. Miss Varin received the award as the outstanding 4-H'er in the Gooding area. Alternate is Allen Lemke.

Meg Sama, Gooding, was awarded the Drs. Stap and Sisk 4-H Club Congress award of $25 for being the outstanding 4-H girl in Gooding County. Gwen Medford, Gooding, was named alternate winner. Ben Glauner, Gooding County Commissioner, presented that award, as well as helping with other awards during the afternoon.

Charles Sama, manager, announced that Tingwall's $12.50 merchandise award winner was Peggy Morgan, Wendell, for her upper division clothing project.

For having the best over-all foods project, Cathy Boring, Gooding, won a General Foods Cookbook.

Winning a $25 Club Congress Scholarship sponsored by the Idaho Cattlemen's Association and based on state-wide competition was Linda Peterson, Wendell, for her demonstrations and promotion of the use of lard.

The Danforth Foundation "I Dare You" awards for the outstanding junior leadership went to Wally Bodenhofer, Gooding, past president of the junior leadership council of the Junior Leaders, Wendell, who helped lead a club of her own this year.

Eddie Bilbau, Gooding, received the engraved belt buckle, sponsored by the Idaho Cattlemen's Association, for his overall work in the beef program. Receiving a $15 scholarship to Club Congress is Paul Gillingier, Gooding, for his "Bites of the Fall" safety demonstration.

Community beautification certificates were given to the Piston Knockers Club of Gooding, Mink's Monkeys Club and Nature's Brothers Club of Wendell for their part in cleaning and beautifying the county roadsides and parks.

Winners who were outstanding in each of their fields and received special pins were: Achievement—Meg Sama, Marjono Varin, Marilyn Varin and Carole Doramus; agriculture—Doug Schrenk, Nick Lierman, Kirk Webb and Allen Lemke; alumni recognition—Chestor Mink; automotive—Brian Koester, Vance Brown, Owen Scharner and Paul Hingler; beef—Tom Harris, Arthur Butler, Eddie Bilbau and Mike Freeman; clothing—Kathy Strickland, Vu-lane Peterson, Connie Glauner, Carole Doramus.

Conservation—Doug Schrenk, Bryan Ravenscroft, Mike Strickland and Clive Strong; dairy—Elaine Trooper, Connie Robertson, Connie Glauner and Kent Chandler; style—Peggy Morgan, Marilyn Varin, Meg Sama, Laurel Medford, Connie Robertson, Gwen Medford, Julia Pavkov and Marilyn Bickford.

The days are long for these men, but when they get home with their own cattle, they wouldn't trade the roundup days for anything. Their day begins before sunup and ends after sundown.

Officers of the Salmon River Cattlemen's Association are Don Wright, Filer, president; Joe Gamman, Buhl, vice president; Victor Nelson, Twin Falls, secretary; Alvie Johnson, Buhl, treasurer, and Art Reinhold and Morris Haynes, both Kimbrelly, board members.

Increase In Retail Food Prices Seen

By OVID A. MARTIN, AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—An increase of 2 to 3 per cent in retail food prices in 1968 was forecast today by the Agriculture Department.

A marketing report said much of the expected increase would come from higher prices for meats, chickens, eggs and fruit. Production of those foods on a per capita basis will not be as large as this year.

Returns to farmers are expected to be slightly higher next year than this. But farmers will receive the same portion of the food dollar in 1968 as this year—38 cents.

Adding to the expected increase in retail food costs will be rising operating costs for food processors and distributors, the department said.

The department estimated that civilian consumers will have spent a record high of $85.5 billion for domestic farm-originated food products this year—3 per cent more than in 1966. The food outlay compares with $85.0 billion in 1966 and $14.4 billion for the 1947-49 annual average.

Re-Elected

KANSAS CITY, MO.—R. Henry Matthiessen Jr., Hume, Va., was re-elected president of the American Herford Association at its annual meeting held here attended by some 600 breeders from all areas of the country.

Wayne Naugle, Nampa, Idaho, was elected vice president after having been re-elected to the board to serve his second three-year term.

4-H Leaders Have Training Conference

Magic Valley's 4-H leaders learned how to expand the 4-H program during a 4-H leader training conference recently in Twin Falls. Leaders from throughout Magic Valley attended.

Theme of the two-day conference was "Open the Door to 4-H Expansion." This theme was chosen because the 4-H program needed to be expanded in several ways so youngsters, both in the city and in the rural areas, can have a chance to become 4-H'ers.

The Standard Oil Co. of California sponsored the conference. During one of the luncheons, Thomas Johnson, Egghland, public relations representative of Standard Oil, told the leaders why Standard Oil is interested in the 4-H program.

Helping with the two-day meet was the University of Idaho Extension Service. Extension personnel here were Dan Warren, state 4-H leader, and two assistants, Connie Meyer and Dorothy Holsinger.

Some of the topics discussed to expand the 4-H program were:

Wheat Stocks Up
BOISE—Wheat stocks in Idaho are 27 per cent more than a year ago, but only 12 per cent more than the 1965 average, according to the USDA Crop Reporting Service for Idaho.

Stocks in all locations totaled 34,426,000 bushels with 19,231,000 bushels of this amount stored in off-farm positions.

STUDY PLANNED
DOVER, Del. — A $28,000 research study to help prevent salmonella-contaminated poultry from entering commercial channels will be conducted by the agricultural experiment station, University of Delaware, under a cooperative agreement with the USDA.

CONSERVATION DISTRICT ELECTS
JEROME — Harold Grant and Arthur Baisch were re-elected to four-year terms on the North Side Conservation District Board of Supervisors.

They will assume their new terms on Dec. 15 at which time the board will reorganize. Mr. Grant is treasurer and Mr. Baisch is secretary of the present board.

They defeated George Glarborg and John Ottman in the district. Only 17 votes were cast in the election.

SHRIMP FARMING PLANS OUTLINED
MEXICO CITY — Plans for shrimp farming in lagoons along Mexico's coast were recently outlined by Mexican businessmen and Japanese scientists.

Steps to implement the plan swiftly followed an international shrimp congress and a joint convention of the Shrimp Association of the Americas and the International Shrimp Council held in Mexico City.

ALONG FENCES AND CANALS

Donald Chandler, Elba rancher, has been clearing brush from some of his pasture land. The brush on 50 acres was beaten off this week.

BEET HARVEST COMMENCED
Beet harvest commenced this week at the John Sanborn Ranch, south of King Hill in the Pasadena Valley area, by George Lake who has the ranch leased. Several acres of beets will be harvested.

Construction has started on a new three-bedroom ranch type home for Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Osborne on their Minor creek ranch northeast of Fairfield, Estop and Boorly, Gooding, are the builders.

MR. AND MRS. WALTER SCHUMACHER are in the process of moving to the Pitch-Fork Ranch of Mrs. W. W. Knox, north of King Hill, which he will farm, as well as the Tri-C Ranch, located three miles west of Glenns Ferry, which he now farms with his son, William Schumacher.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Solders and daughter, Marlin, have moved to an acreage at Gooding from the ranch of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Solders where they have lived in the tenant house. Jim Solders is employed as custodian at the State School.

MR. AND MRS. D. H. GOLD, Tuttle, have had a machine shed built by Gene Turner, Tuttle farmer, at their farm. The dimensions are 24 feet by 48 feet.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerry Maude and daughter, Lavon, who have been in farm operations with Mr. and Mrs. William Maude, Tuttle, for a year have gone to Seattle where they plan to make their home.

CORN PICKING has been completed by Jim Bonnet, Tuttle, at the farms of Mr. and Mrs. Denn Williams and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Solders.

Local Man Attends Meet On Bean Price Situation

The bean industry was discussed recently during a meeting of bean officials and the U. S. Department of Agriculture in Washington. Representing Idaho was John R. Gentry, Twin Falls, general manager of Bean Growers Warehouse Association.

This meeting was called by Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman in an attempt to do something about the bean price situation. Conducting the meeting was Rodney Leonard, deputy assistant secretary of agriculture.

Other states represented besides Idaho, were Michigan, California, New York, Colorado and Wyoming.

Discussed at the meeting were the present and future problems of the bean industry and what role the USDA can play in enhancing producer bargaining power, new legislation and what actions be taken.

Government price support programs, acreage control, export subsidies and research also were discussed by the bean officials and USDA.

Mr. Gentry, speaking on behalf of Idaho bean growers and Bean Growers Warehouse Association, one of the largest bean Co-Ops in the Intermountain Area, said bean growers need help in marketing their product.

It was the general feeling at the meeting that the Co-Op movement would have a better chance to bring growers together than any other segment of the industry. Most of those at the meeting represented bean Co-Ops.

Mr. Gentry suggested that a national advisory commission be set up of representatives from each of the bean states and work with the USDA in an advisory capacity, thus having some sort of saying in matters pertaining to beans that the USDA might decide on.

Although no action was taken at the meeting, Mr. Gentry said another meeting would be called later.

It was pointed out during the meeting that the per capita consumption of beans has dropped from seven pounds to six pounds over the past five years.

Mr. Gentry summed up the meeting that the growers will have to band together some way to get better prices to survive.

1:30 P.M. SUMMARY NEW YORK (AP)—Blue-chip strength sustained the stock market in the second day of a rally...

Volume for the first four hours was 7.45 million shares compared with 6.41 million Thursday.

Gains outnumbered losses by nearly 2 to 1 and the Dow Jones Industrial average was ahead by about 8 points.

The market rose from the start, taking off from the Thursday advance, the first in nine sessions.

Auto, steel and rubber remained mostly higher and oil was well ahead.

Prices were generally higher on the American Stock exchange.

Grain

CHICAGO (AP)—Wheat

declined more than 1/2 cent a bushel on the Chicago Board of Trade today, moving into new low territory.

Soybeans and other grains were mostly lower.

The liquidation in what started at the opening bell, under aggressive commission house and local trader selling.

Within three minutes prices were about 1/2 cent under the previous close.

Some buyer strength appeared in wheat around noon but it was not sustained and prices once again moved lower near the close.

Social Disease Training Starts

The first training session on venereal disease education was conducted Wednesday evening at City Hall by the Twin Falls Jaycees and Jay-Cettes.

A film obtained from the Public Health Preventative Medicine Division entitled "The Invaders," was shown.

After the film, Mr. and Mrs. Darrell E. Smith, who are chairmen of the project for the two civic groups, led a discussion on venereal disease and what can be done in Twin Falls to make people more aware of the dangerous results of the disease if medical attention is not received.

Dr. Fen Covington and Olan Gunn, Twin Falls County Agricultural Extension agent, helped with the discussion and answered questions from the group.

Books entitled "Students Manual on Venereal Disease," on loan from the Public Health Department, were distributed to members of the group to take home and read to give them a better knowledge of the disease.

Representatives from the following organizations were in attendance: Elks Lodge, Ladies of the Elks, Snake River Gleaners, Twin Falls Toastmasters, United Church Women, Civitan and 4-H, Twin Falls Jaycees and Twin Falls Jay-Cettes.

MRS. DARRELL SMITH, chairman of the Twin Falls Jay-Cettes' Venereal Disease Education campaign, lectures before a group of civic and church organization members on the problems of the disease. The first of several training sessions on the disease—sponsored jointly by the Twin Falls Jaycees and Jay-Cettes, was held Wednesday night at City Hall.

Contracts On Highway Projects Let

SHOSHONE—Contracts for additional highway construction in District No. 2 have been awarded, announced B. E. Sessions, district engineer. These contracts are for the construction of major structures and grading on Interstate 80N from the Sublette interchange to the Utah Line.

Successful bidders were: Peter Klewitt Sons Co., Idaho Falls, and Goodwin Construction Co., Blackfoot, for the construction of the section from Sublette to Juniper interchange. LeGrand Johnson Construction Co., Logan, Utah, and Neilson and Miller Construction Co., Twin Falls, will work on the section from the Juniper interchange to the Utah State Line.

The four contracts are for $3,034,028.

Other new contract work in the District calls for the construction of maintenance stockpiles in the vicinity of Hallett and Ketchum, and the reconstruction of the Ketchum city streets. Additionally, the contract for drilling the Bliss Port of Entry and rest area well was opened Oct. 31. Work there should begin soon.

Work now under way by state forces include: Shoulder widening south and north of Ketchum, culvert structure widening at various intervals on Highways 30 and 83, and general maintenance of all of the roadways throughout the district.

Projects now in the design and right of way acquisition stages, which will soon be ready for contract when funds become available are: Filler west to Hallett Port of Entry, Paul streets, and plumbic surfacing projects on the Banbury Hill and Bliss south sections on highway 30.

Because of the time of year and the coming winter driving conditions, it is imperative that the traveler use extra care in order to cope with the ever changing driving environment, Mr. Sessions said.

T. F. Physician Joins National Medical Group

Dr. Joseph W. Marshall of the Twin Falls Clinic has been elected to active membership in the American Academy of General Practice, a national association of more than 30,000 family doctors.

As a member, Dr. Marshall will be required to complete 100 hours of post-graduate medical study every three years. The program, unique among medical associations, is designed to help member physicians keep abreast of the latest scientific developments in medicine.

Founded in 1947, the AAGP is the country's second largest national medical association.

Wrong Day

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Greg Hutchings has been celebrating his birthday for five years and he's finally hit on the right date.

"You see," explained his mother, Mrs. H. C. Hutchings, "we've just been going along celebrating his birthday on Nov. 19. But I was going through his birth records the other day and found that he was born on Nov. 9."

Multiracial Campaigner Plans Course

GARY, Ind. (AP) — Mayor-elect Richard G. Hatcher began planning today for his "multiracial" administration while FBI agents investigated alleged irregularities in the mayoral election.

The Justice Department confirmed that federal agents were probing reports of fraudulent voting in Tuesday's election which gave the Negro Democrat a 1,350-vote victory over white Republican Joseph B. Radigan.

James H. Turner, the department's civil rights division, said no court action was planned, pending outcome of the investigation.

Radigan said irregularities were reported and he would ask attorneys to assist in reporting these irregularities to federal and state court. He did not say whether he would seek a recount, and he still has not conceded defeat.

Hatcher, 34, a bachelor lawyer and city councilman, told a news conference Wednesday, "Ours was a multiracial campaign as well as a multiracial victory. Let us once and for all put all doubts to rest. We shall have a multiracial government."

Hatcher termed his election proof "if any was needed that Negroes know how to make full use of the ballot box to make their wishes known." He said the election emphasized that Negroes across the country can obtain redress through the electoral process.

Airline Requires Hippies To Wear Shoes During Flights

By KELLY SMITH

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's all bolts-down-to shoes and socks. Airline pilots are out of jurisdiction. "Congress," said a spokesman, "has not given us statutory authority to make passengers bathe before boarding an airliner, unless it can be proven their presence has an adverse effect on aviation safety."

The FAA did deal indirectly with guitar-playing hippies last week by ruling that a passenger can take aboard only one piece of hand luggage, and it must fit under his seat. Guitars don't fit.

"Which does away with in-flight entertaining," noted United Airlines.

"Shoes are a question of policy," said American Airlines in New York. "We're meeting this week with other airlines to discuss such a policy."

An industry journal, Aviation Daily, says airlines should exercise their right to refuse passage to those not meeting cleanliness standards.

The American Civil Liberties Union says airlines have no authority to decide cleanliness. "No right at all," said a spokesman. "To do so is the same kind of reasoning that kept Negroes at Buhl High School."

Sophomore-Laden Vandals Meet Washington State In Battle Of Palouse

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow — The sophomore-laden Vandals will tangle on the turf of Rogers Field in Pullman this week in the annual battle of the Palouse.

The Vandals from Idaho, sporting a 4-4 record so far this season, are still young and will be hampered by injuries to key personnel in this game while the Cougars are figuring that the games and many times the sophomore players have covered themselves with glory. Many other sophomores have sat the Vandals back.

Coach Steve Musseau has said all season, "The young Vandals are making mistakes of commission, rather than omission and always trying to hit somebody."

Idaho will have two quarterbacks ready for the Cougars in Paul Gentle and Steve Garman, both juniors. Garman seems to work the team with more success in using roll-outs and options while Gentle has been the better passer when he moves the team. Both quarterbacks are capable of getting the job done.

Jim Pearson, the Vandals top ground gainer, is averaging 4.6 yards a carry, for 626 yards in his eight games, and also has been dropped for only 11 yards in losses in 134 carries.

Jeff Guillory, sophomore wingback from Houston and Rudy Johnson, another wingback from Tulsa, Ala., have combined with Rob Young of Spokane as the constant ball carriers and pass receivers in the Vandal backfield. Jerry Hendren, another fine sophomore from Spokane, has 30 receptions, just three shy of the all-time Idaho mark, and a total of 383 yards.

Coach Musseau will probably

Game Tonight

The Twin Falls Bruins will host the Borah Lions in the final game of the season at 8 p.m. today at Bruin Stadium.

Twin Falls carries a 5-4 record into the Southern Idaho Conference game while Borah boasts an 8-1 mark.

Vandals Set Game Plan For Cougars

MOSCOW, Idaho (AP) — The University of Idaho Vandals worked on their passing attack as well as their general game plan under cold, rainy conditions Thursday.

The Vandals are seeking a victory Saturday over the Washington State University Cougars in the annual "Battle of the Palouse."

"The Cougars have been tough all year, but their schedule has been against them," said Vandal head football coach Steve Musseau. "They will be a tough ball club to beat, but I think that this bad weather will be more of a hindrance to them than it will be to us."

Musseau said Steve Garman will be starting at the quarterback spot Saturday. And he said starting tight end Gordon DeWard will be back in action this week.

However, the Vandals learned Thursday they will lose the services of their string center Dick Chaffin for the season because he suffered a broken thumb in the game against Oregon.

'Skins Blast Packers For Signing Man

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — The Green Bay Packers announced Thursday that they have signed former New York Giants fullback Chuck Mercein and placed halfback Elijah Pitts on the National Football League's disabled list.

Mercein, 24, a free agent, was cut by the Giants last month. He was their starting fullback last season and leading rusher.

Mercein, a former Yale University star, was the New York area's second-round draft choice in 1965.

Pitts, suffering from a torn achilles tendon, was injured in last Sunday's 13-10 loss to the Baltimore Colts. He won't be eligible to play again for 30 days.

Coach Otto Graham of the Washington Redskins, who predicted the signing Wednesday, filed a formal protest over the pending acquisition. Graham claimed that Mercein had been a member of the Redskins' tax squad.

Packers Coach Vince Lombardi, Graham said, had promised not to sign Mercein if the Redskins planned to use him.

A Packers spokesman said some contact was made between Green Bay and Washington Thursday. He said he did not know the nature of the discussion.

Toledo Inches Toward New Pass Record

NEW YORK (AP) — Bob Toledo, San Francisco 49ers' sensational passing wizard, has moved to within 27 yards of breaking the small-college football record for total yardage gained.

This was disclosed Thursday with the release of the latest statistics which showed that Toledo has accumulated 2,719 passing yards.

The record is 2,945 set by George Bork of Northern Illinois in 1963.

With two games remaining, Toledo also has a shot at the all-time record of 3,343 yards established by Bill Anderson of Tulsa in 1965. The SFF state ace, who completed 33 of 50 aerials for 801 yards in the victory over Humboldt State last Saturday, has set a new standard for touchdown passes with 30.

Bob Lichtel of Bloomsburg has completed the most passes, 175. He is followed by Joe Stetser of Chico State, 172, and Toledo, 171.

Doug Van Boven of Central of Iowa continues to set the pace in rushing with 1,348 yards. Steve Turner of Southwestern Community is the punting leader with an average of 45.8 yards for 21 punts, and Harvey Tanner of Murray State, is No. 1 in passing receiving with 78, eight more receptions than runnerup Bob Tucker of Bloomsburg.

Bert Nye of West Chester heads the scoring list with 113 extra points.

Knicks Defeat Royals 123-106

NEW YORK (AP) — Walt Bellamy came off the bench late in the first quarter and sparked the New York Knicks' comeback to a 123-106 victory over the Cincinnati Royals Thursday night in the second game of a National Basketball Association doubleheader.

Eddie Miles' steal and Dave Bing's two foul shots gave the Detroit Pistons a 110-118 victory over the Seattle SuperSonics in the first game at Madison Square Garden.

Coach Otto Graham of the Washington Redskins, who predicted the signing Wednesday, filed a formal protest over the pending acquisition. Graham claimed that Mercein had been a member of the Redskins' tax squad.

Packers Coach Vince Lombardi, Graham said, had promised not to sign Mercein if the Redskins planned to use him.

A Packers spokesman said some contact was made between Green Bay and Washington Thursday. He said he did not know the nature of the discussion.

A-State Isn't Interested In Bowl Bid

TEMPE, Ariz. (AP) — A bowl game for the 6-2 Arizona State Sun Devils? Not interested, says Coach Frank Kush.

"I don't think it's fair to the kids or the coaches," he told Arizona Republic Sports Editor Verne Boatner Thursday.

"The kids have already put in a long season and it deprives them of their Christmas vacation."

As for the coaches, it's like asking you to work during your vacation. Personally, I wouldn't be interested unless I was paid another $1,000.

"But my main objection is that it plays heck with recruiting. I take off back-East-right after the season is over, and that's prime recruiting time I mean to tell you."

"When you really get down to it, you've got to get out and get after the boys. You can't tell them wait till I get back from a bowl."

Baughan Set For Revenge On Eagles

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Linebacker Maxie Baughan of the Los Angeles Rams has special plans for the big day against the Philadelphia Eagles here Sunday.

"I've been waiting for this chance ever since I joined the Rams two years ago," he says. "I spent six years with the Eagles. I feel like I did at Georgia Tech before our annual homecoming game."

"I don't suppose I'll play any harder. I always play as hard as I can—but I sure want to make a good showing."

Baughan doesn't go into detail, but it is a fact that he asked the Eagles to trade him to Coach George Allen landed him for the Rams.

Baughan has great respect for the Eagles' quarterback, Norm Snead. He has the size of the Rams' Roman Gabriel, can fight off the rush and statistically, he's the No. 2 quarterback in the National Football League.

"We seem to catch a hot passer every week now," Maxie observed.

The San Francisco 49ers jammed their signals in the game at San Francisco Sunday which Los Angeles won 17-7. Maxie said he'll continue to call the defensive audible signals at the line.

Fort Marcy Tests Best In International

LAUREL, Md. (AP) — Fort Marcy, who cost owner Paul Mellon $77,000 after being offered for sale following a poor 2-year-old campaign, faces the world's best horses Saturday in the Washington, D.C., International.

After winning only one of 10 starts last year, the gelding was placed in a horse-in-training sale in New York this past June.

But then he began to develop and Mellon was forced to top all bidders to retain ownership.

"Some horses are slow to come around," said Trainer Elliott Burch. "A couple of weeks before the sale, he turned in a great race and almost broke a track record. Of course, after that race, we had no intention of letting him go."

Harry Albert bid $76,000 for Fort Marcy, but Syl Velch, an agent for Mellon, went $1,000 higher. Two days later, Fort Marcy accounted for his first stakes victory.

Fort Marcy, with four victories on grass, is rated America's best turf runner.

Damasco, winner of 12 races in 15 starts in 1967 and headed for Horse of the Year honors, is rated a 4-5 favorite in the 1 1/2 mile international although it will be his first start in grass.

Burch kept Fort Marcy out of head-to-head meetings with Damasco—New York—but both will be shooting for the $60,000 first prize Saturday along with seven foreign entries.

The chief competition is expected from England's Ribocco. Others in the field include Ulymbol of Japan, Chateaubriand of Venezuela, Casaque Grise of France, Australia's Tobin Bronze, and He's A Smoothie of Canada.

Horse Betting Volume Hits New Record

BOISE (AP) — The Idaho Horse Racing Committee reported Thursday a 58 per cent boost in the volume of pari-mutuel betting in 1967 as compared with the preceding season.

The total wagered was reported as $1,002,222, a gain of $18,905 over the 1966 total. The number of racing days was up from 78 in 1966 to 84 in 1967.

The committee will meet Saturday in Twin Falls, executive secretary Kenneth Hammond reported, to assign 1968 racing dates.

Hammond said the increase in wagering in 1967 resulted from several factors: "The longer racing season, the fine weather and the mounting interest and enthusiasm of racing fans."

The state's portion of the revenue, which goes to the public school endowment fund, amounted to $68,888, Hammond said, a 73 per cent gain over the 1966 total of $39,805.

The school's share comes from both pari-mutuel revenues and from race meet license fees.

In addition the state's general fund received $7,405 from horsemen's license fees, Hammond said.

The racing committee itself gets one per cent of the amount wagered to finance its own operations. That totaled $19,523.

Big Sky Teams Hit Road For Five Games

By NEIL BIBLER, Associated Press Writer

Only Weber State College will have the advantage of home ground in Big Sky Conference football action Saturday as four of the five members face non-conference foes.

Weber plays host to Portland State at Ogden, Utah. Other contestants will find the University of Idaho at Washington State University in Pullman, Missouri at Idaho State in Logan, and Idaho State at Parsons in Fairfield, Iowa.

Montana State, the conference champion by virtue of a victory over the University of Montana last weekend, will be idle. Its next action comes Nov. 18 against San Diego State in California.

Saturday will be Lee White Day in Ogden as the Wildcats' top ground gainer faces aerial-minded Portland State. The Vikings have the nation's fourth-ranked passer in Ed Gorman, who is averaging 40 passes a game.

White is the Big Sky's second-ranked rusher, short only 59 yards of the total gained by Montana State's Don Hass. White probably will take the lead since Hass will be idle.

Idaho State will be meeting Parsons for the second time and already is in the hole. Parsons won last year's contest.

However, Parsons was able to overcome the University of Idaho 28-7 two weeks ago and Idaho State fell to the Idaho club 16-0 early in the season. Idaho State, in fact, has yet to win a game, falling to the University of Hawaii last weekend 21-6.

The University of Idaho, a young team, has managed a 4-4 season so far and would love to get on the top side of the ledger by beating Washington State. The Vandals have a two-pronged attack in running quarterback Steve Garman and passer Paul Gentle.

O. J. Will Play Against Beavers

LOS ANGELES (AP) — O. J. Simpson, the nation's leading collegiate runner, will start at wingback Saturday when Southern California plays at Oregon State, Coach John McKay announced Thursday.

Simpson, who has 1,050 yards in 203 carries, sprained his right instep two weeks ago, and it was feared he might be lost to the football team for up to 21 days.

The Trojans worked out for 75 minutes in full uniforms Thursday.

Garrett Has Honors For 192-Yard Day

By HAL ROCK, Associated Press Sports Writer

Miko Garrett's spontaneous foot don't hurt much any more but now the New York Jets' defensive line isn't feeling very good.

Garrett shredded the Jets' front four for 102 yards in 23 carries last Sunday as Kansas City routed New York 42-18. The performance made Garrett the Associated Press' choice as American Football League Offensive Player of the Week.

"I felt better spiritually and physically than I have all year," said Garrett, after his slants had run the Jets ragged.

The 1965 Heisman Trophy winner has been troubled by sore toes and banged up ankles this season.

"They still hurt when I start my toe," Garrett went on, "but I think my feet feel great again." They were great against the Jets with a variety of slants and cuts, gaining yardage in huge chunks.

His baffling moves had the Jets lunging and grabbing but rarely stopping him. "Some of it is artistic," said Garrett of his moves. "Some of it is spontaneous."

Then he thought a moment. "Most of it," he smiled, "is spontaneous."

Garrett's running moved into second place among AFL rushers behind Boston's Jim Nance, who had another big day in the Patriots' 18-7 victory over Houston.

The power running fullback chugged for 104 yards in 26 carries, bringing his season's total to 822, 151 more than Garrett.

Nance's running ended a string of two subpar performances against New York and Oakland in which he managed barely over 50 yards gained in each game.

Satellites

WASHINGTON — Orbiting satellites may soon be providing farmers with information, says a Department of Agriculture spokesman.

Sugar Firm Mails Final '66 Payment

SALT LAKE CITY — Checks totaling $2,000,000 have been mailed by Utah-Idaho Sugar Co. to sugar beet growers in Idaho, Washington, Oregon and Utah as final payment for the 1966 crop.

'66 Payment

The final checks brought to the company for the 2,132,900 tons of beets delivered in the fall of 1966 in the four states. Idaho growers harvested 409,878 tons of beets from their 52,328 acres, including a final payment of $567,000 in a letter sent to growers with the final payment. It was noted that sales returns from the 1966 crop were substantially higher than for the previous year, resulting in a higher payment to growers under their participating-type contract.

Payment is based on sugar content and returns from sales. Sugar content of the 1966 crop was down from that of 1965. When adjusted for the difference in sugar content between the two crops the average price paid by the company for the crop was higher in the 1966 crop by slightly more than one dollar a ton.

Under terms of their participating contract, growers received an initial payment on the crop in November, 1966, followed by additional payments from the sugar company in April and July of this year.

A regulatory payment also is made to growers by the U.S. Department of Agriculture under the National Sugar Act. An excise tax collected by the government on the manufacture of refined sugar more than compensates for the compliance payment and has returned to the U.S. Treasury more than $500,000,000 since the sugar program has been in effect.

GERANIUMS AGAIN: Few plants have stirred the imagination of gardeners as much as geraniums. Probably the reason is that geraniums cost quite a bit each spring, spurring home owners into keeping their own plants over each winter.

It's a challenge to grow your own. One reader writes: "I have a tip: Each year I save my geraniums by taking cuttings at this time of year. I cut the tops off (about five inches tall) and put a whole handful in a jar of water. I change the water there at any time in pots when convenient. Sometimes they are in water until I plant them in spring. Taking slips off the old plants each fall is to me the best way to start and keep your geraniums each year."

WALNUT TROUBLES: While it's been a good year for walnuts, we've had a lot of complaints about the quality of nuts. I'll list some problems, and city control measures.

Maggots in Nuts: Control: Next year (late July) spray trees with Sevin or DDT. Wormy nuts, due to feeding moth larvae, are a problem. They are usually found in nuts that are not fully developed. Due to frost injury, some nuts are not fully developed.

Kernels black in color, due to high temperatures in August. Mouldy nuts, due to rain or not picked up soon enough after falling. Nuts long neglected on ground become moldy, and may spread to the meat. Inferior nuts may be caused by anything which causes leaves to shed prematurely, such as insects.

Shrunken kernels or poorly filled nuts, due to short growing season or too little summer heat. While a summer drought will often cause nuts to fall to fill, a dry sunny season will produce better filled nuts than will one with excessive moisture and lack of sunshine. Rainy summers keep trees growing lots of leaves and few nuts. Early drought can reduce the size of nuts, but drought late in the season prevents kernels from maturing.

"Blank" or "false" nuts, due to lack of adequate cross-pollination. This can be due to bad weather at flowering time, or to a lack of a rooster tree bearing nuts, including the chestnut, any self-sterile. A safe practice with all nut trees is to plant at least two varieties together, with the exception of the butternut, which can pollinate itself.

HOUSE PLANTS FOUL-ROBBED: A reader writes: "Why not tell your children that a window sill full of house plants keeps out robbers from entering a home. No one feels safe this day and age, and that's why I keep a lot of plants on my window sill. Robbers don't like to move plants or hear them crash when entering through a window."

Green Thumb note: Houseplants not only keep you safe from forced entry, but are also healthful to have in your home.

PRAYERS PLANT GIVES UP: The Prayer Plant or "rabbit track" plant (Maranta) is a long-time favorite house plant, noted for its attractive markings. Leaves turn upward on the stems at night, like folded hands, hence name of Prayer plant.

CULTURE: Plants like it warm. Below 60 degrees at night will cause them to turn yellow. Hot sun scorches their thin leaves. Protect from direct sun. Soil should be a mixture of sand and peat. Sprinkle foliage and when you water, allow plants to go dry between waterings. Poor drainage or too much water causes leaves to turn black and die. Start new plants by dividing the crowns at repotting time. Use a razor to divide plant. Some of the chocolate brown spots may disappear as plants grow older.

WEEING WILLOW WEEPS: S.A.P.: This year many told us their weeping willow trees gave off a lot of sticky sap when attracted yellow jackets. What happened is that the willows had aphids, pests which secrete a sticky sap. This may attract the yellow jackets which like the aweed sap. Some willows, hawthornes and other shade trees had a black coating on foliage. This mounds that the sap secreted by aphids attracted a fungus which, possibly, was not. When it was washed off the black film, but it won't check the aphids for the next year. Best control is to spray your willows, hawthornes and other affected trees, using malathion or nicotine sulfate.

WILL WINTERS KILL BEETLES? Many gardeners feel that a cold winter will reduce the insect population for next year. There's no evidence that insects die out from winter cold. A few may kick off, but not enough to make any big difference. Don't throw away your bug gun.

TREAT GLAD BULBS NOW: Rains, dews and cool weather cause many glads to develop a rot, on the corms. Some glad bulb diseases aren't checked by drying the bulbs quickly. Many growers claim good success by treating their corms with a household disinfectant (bleach) at planting time. 1 1/2 table-spoons per gallon of water for three hours, planted same day of treatment. This will check the rot. Use 1/2 cup of bleach to 1 cup of water. However, if you've had rot on your corms, I'd dry out your bulbs, and dust them with DDT, plus a good fungicide, such as Captan, Arasan or Sargol. At cleaning time, discard all bulbs showing disease, soft spots. Bulbs with hard, sunken spots aren't seriously affected. Use a fly brush to clean the corms. Wash all bulbs now with your favorite fungicide. Be sure to leave the husk on bulbs, as they help keep them from drying out.

Best storage temperature is anywhere from 35 to 60 degrees.

QUESTION OF THE WEEK: D. E. of Rupert: "I paid over $30 for peonies and haven't had any blooms on them. The plants are out but do not bloom. Foliage gets black spots and withers. What's wrong?"

—Sounds like fireblight or botrytis. Cut off all the stalks, close to the ground and BURN them. There's no reason to dig up your roots and replace them. Treat the existing bed now by spraying with a fungicide, such as Captan, Arasan, or Sargol. Mix up one level tablespoon of each of the above to a gallon of water and drench the bed with a sprinkling can.

When peonies do NOT produce buds, it could be due to age of plants (some take three or four years to bud), too much shade, planting too deeply, or care not being taken in the first year. Reason for non-blooming botrytis is a disease which can be prevented and cured. After giving the fall treatment, keep in mind that next spring you'll want to spray the new growth with captan, sulfur or Zineb.

S. F. of Twin Falls: "I have some very fine snapdragon plants and would like to keep them over winter. My neighbor says he put his peonies around his and they keep over winter. Is that possible?"

In mild winters, snapdragons plants will come through, even without protection. However, you can often nurse them through by placing evergreen boughs, straw or pine needles around each. If the winter is too bad, protection will not help. M. G. of Minidoka: "Last spring I put up an expensive martin house and immediately sparrows came in. What kind of care does it take to attract martins. Will sparrows keep them away?"

My neighbor has a martin house and he attracts them by the dozen. I'll tell you how he does it: Each apartment is six inches by six inches by six inches, with holes in each 2 1/2" across, and exact 1/2" above the floor. The martin house should be 10 to 20 feet high. Closer to the ground it will discourage the martins.

The house is taken down in fall and put up again about Easter when martin squabs come up from south to look the situation over. Soak the house and bring back a flock. Actually, the martins will chase sparrows away from the house. Martins are great mosquito eaters and like to be near water.

Usage of Feed Grain To Be Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department says it expects domestic usage of feed grains for feeding and industrial uses during the 1967-68 crop year ending next Sept. 30 to be above the 161 million tons used during the past two years.

It said lower prices are expected to encourage heavier feeding of meat animals. In addition, it said, the number of animals to be fed is expected to be 10 percent larger than the year just ended.

Portrait Made

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House is getting a replica of a portrait of former first lady Bess Truman and efforts are being made to get portraits of Presidents John F. Kennedy, Lyndon B. Johnson and their wives.

Year-Old Record Lagna-Crop

The Agriculture Department announced today that turkusbroaden flock owners in 15 states plan to keep 11 per cent fewer breeder hens than a year earlier.

Cutback Likely

WASHINGTON (AP) — A cutback in turkey production next year appears likely as a consequence of price decline this year.

Nevadan To Co-Chairman National Research Group

RENO — Dr. Dale W. Bohmont, dean and director of the Max Baucus College of Agriculture, University of Nevada, has been named as a co-chairman of a national task force committee on foods and nutrition research.

The dean was appointed by Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman. Serving with him as co-chairman is Dr. Willis Gortner, director of Human Nutrition Research, United States Department of Agriculture. Dr. Bohmont will represent the university experimental stations in the states and Dr. Gortner, the USDA.

Along with Drs. Bohmont and Gortner, six other authorities on foods research serve on the committee. Assistance is given by agricultural medicine and the food industry.

Purpose of the committee is to determine the food and nutritional research requirements of all USDA programs throughout the nation for the next 10-year period or to 1977. This includes projected needs of manpower, facilities in food and nutrition research and also what requirements in facilities and work programs will be necessary.

"Currently," said Dr. Bohmont, "102 man science years are being spent throughout the U.S.—USDA and cooperative land grant college and university experimental station programs on food and nutrition research. According to work by the committee to date, it is estimated that 180 additional man science years to a total of 282 will be needed by 1977. The programs involve 21 state experimental stations."

According to Dr. Bohmont, the task force he is co-chairing is one of 14 which will assess research needs in all aspects of USDA agricultural programs. The committee on foods and nutrition will submit its report to the Secretary in January of 1968, in time for consideration by Congress.

"Actual research in foods and nutrition," said Dr. Bohmont, "will have to accelerate during the next 10 years to meet needs created by changing social conditions and increasing population. Such things as environmental stress and nutrition, hormone relationships, convenience foods and associated storage problems, management and production of foods, dietary needs of children, effect of diets on longevity, and home and institutional preparation of foods are among the areas in which research will take place."

Livestock, Crop Prices Behind 1966

WASHINGTON (AP) — The farm harvest season moved into its final weeks with prices of crops and livestock combined running six per cent below a year ago.

An Agriculture Department report showed Monday that prices marked their third consecutive month of decline under the impact of record production. The decrease between mid-September and mid-October was one-third of one per cent. Lower prices for cattle, hogs and eggs were primarily responsible for the decrease. Partially offsetting were price increases for cotton, milk, wheat, rice, dry beans and some fruits.

The department said farm prices in mid-October reflected 73 per cent of the old parity point of federal farm programs, the same as a month earlier but considerably below the year-earlier level of 70 per cent.

But taking government payments into account, the department said returns reflected 78 per cent of what it calls an adjusted parity ratio. This compared with 70 per cent a month earlier and 85 per cent a year ago.

Condition Up
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department reported today the condition of cattle on ranges in western states on Nov. 1 was slightly more than one per cent above that of a year earlier and the Nov. 1 average.

Law Said Needed For Wild Horses

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Mustang Association president said today a federal law is needed to preserve wild horses in the West.

Tom Holland, of Cedar City, Utah, said federal officials are powerless to protect the mustangs from capture and slaughter on ranges in 11 western states.

He said the association will urge members of Congress from the West to sponsor and push legislation to give the federal government control over the range horses. Many are being killed with the permission of county and other authorities, for culling as pet food.

Sen. Frank E. Moss, D-Utah, may introduce the first such bill, Holland said.

Holland met Wednesday with Bureau of Land Management officials. "The BLM has a hot potato on its hands," Holland said. "They say they favor preservation of the mustangs, but they actually have no control over the slaughter of the horses, which are unwanted and ignored."

Holland said the wild horse population in the West has been estimated at between 20,000 and 30,000.

Dairy Herds Continuing To Decline

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's dairy herds are continuing to decline, the Agriculture Department said today in an outlook report; the department said 1968 milk production is expected to continue at this year's reduced level with prices for milk and returns to dairy farmers remaining about the same.

"Milk cow numbers may continue to decline in 1968 at about the same rate as in 1967. A continued firm beef-cattle market and favorable off-farm opportunities will encourage cow culling and sale of dairy herds," the department said.

Dairy cow numbers have declined about 4 per cent this year, the department reports. The decrease in numbers has been largely offset, insofar as milk production is concerned, by an increase in the output per cow. This increase reflects better breeding operations, culling of lower producing animals and better feeding and care.

The report estimated that cash receipts from milk sales this year will be a record $2.5 billion. But production costs have increased to limit net returns.

Bill Signed

WASHINGTON — A bill extending the authority of the Secretary of Agriculture to make indemnity payments to dairy farmers was signed recently by President Johnson.

The bill provides for indemnity payments to dairy farmers who are damaged to remove milk from markets because it contains residues caused by feed purchased from others or spray drift from adjoining property.

Good Recipe For Hectic Schedules

As we get closer to the holidays it seems that schedules get more hectic and there is less and less time to accomplish all that needs to be done. If you are an "after-five" cook or have been out shopping until late in the day, plan dinner to include Rice Pilaf With Mushroom-Shrimp Sauce.

It is quick to prepare and uses items from the kitchen shelf or freezer. If time is really short, just add a cup of canned peas to the mushroom sauce to save preparing a vegetable. Serve sliced tomatoes and cucumbers as a salad. Finish off the meal with packaged cookies and canned fruit and you will have a well-fed family.

RICE PILAF WITH MUSHROOM-SHRIMP SAUCE
 1 cup uncooked long grain rice
 2 cups water
 5 tablespoons butter
 1 teaspoon kitchen bouquet (bottled browning sauce)

2 beef bouillon cubes
 1 teaspoon salt
 1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
 1/2 cup flour
 1/2 teaspoon pepper
 1/2 teaspoon dill weed
 1/2 cups milk
 1 can (6 ounces) or 2 cans (3 ounce size) broiled mushroom crowns
 1 pound quick-frozen shrimp, cooked

In a saucepan, combine rice, water, one tablespoon butter, kitchen bouquet, bouillon cubes and one-half teaspoon salt. Bring to a boil, cover and reduce heat to very low. Cook twenty minutes. Fluff with a fork.

Meanwhile melt remaining butter in a saucepan over moderate heat. Add onion and cook one minute. Stir in flour, remaining salt, pepper and dill weed. Blend in milk and mushrooms including broth. Cook, stirring constantly, until sauce thickens and is smooth. Add shrimp and mix lightly. Heat thoroughly. Serve sauce over rice.

 Makes four to five servings. If desired, one cup of canned peas may be added to the sauce.

This is an appetizer for the holidays which can be served hot or cold.
HOLIDAY APPETIZER
 1/2 jar (5 ounce size) smokey cheese spread
 1 tablespoon catsup
 1 teaspoon cognac, optional

1 can (6 ounces) chopped broiled mushrooms, drained
 48 bite-size pastry shells
 Watercress or parsley, optional
 Soften cheese and blend in catsup and cognac. Finely chop mushrooms and stir into cheese.

Put about one-ten spoon mushroom mixture into each pastry shell. Heat-filled pastry shells in a 350 degree oven about five minutes. May also be served on crisp crackers. Garnish with a sprig of watercress or parsley. Makes 48 bite-size appetizers.

IF YOU ARE AN "after-five" cook or have been out shopping until late in the day, plan dinner to include Rice Pilaf With Mushroom-Shrimp Sauce. It is quick to prepare and uses items from the kitchen shelf or freezer.
