Rep. Hansen Says American Farmers Are 'Hopping Mad'

By O.A. (Gus) KEIKER
Times-News Executive Editor

American farmers are "hopping mad" as they see farm production expenses climb to record highs while farm prices continue to decline.

And the end to such an unfavorable situation is not in sight, with evidence pointing to a continuation of the widening disparity between prices paid by farmers and those they receive.

This was part of the unfavorable farm picture detailed Saturday night by George Hansen, Idaho's second district U.S. congressman, as he spoke to more than 300 people at the annual Twin Falls County Farm Bureau banquet.

The speaker, a member of the House Agricultural Committee, said that today average farm prices for farm products are running about four per cent below those of a year ago, while prices paid by farmers are up three per cent.

"This widening imbalance is reflected in the parity ratio — the yardstick designed to measure farm prosperity — which currently stands at 73, compared with 81 a year earlier.

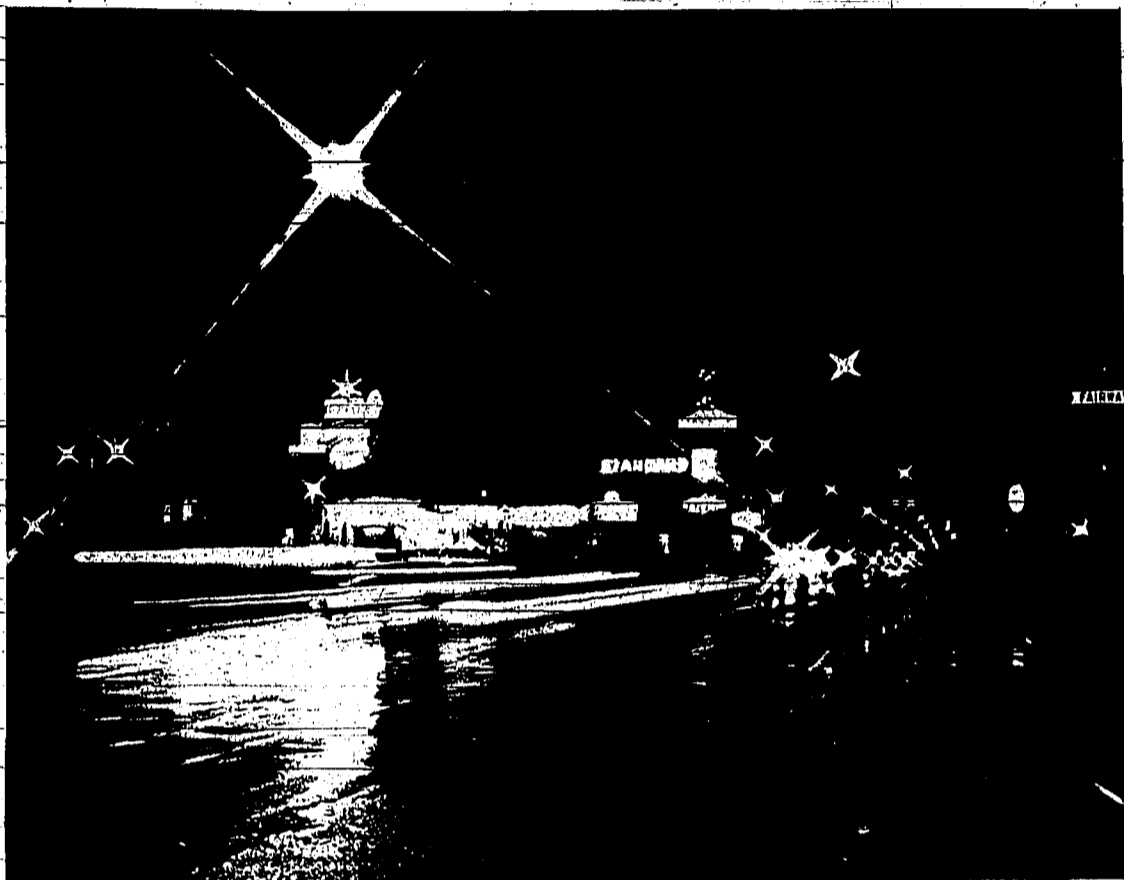

"In other words, farmers are receiving just three-fourths of what the government says is a fair return for their production. The only certainty in the parity equation is that farm costs will continue to mount as taxes go higher, as the price of machinery moves upward and as the latest round of wage-increases cranks new inflationary pressures into the economy."

Mr. Hansen was introduced by Irvin Ehlers who served as master of ceremonies. Invocation was by Earl Lyson and the welcome was by Louis Reinke, recently re-elected to the post of president of the organization.

Congressman Hansen, in being critical of the farm program under the present administration in Washington, said that

THE PRESIDENT of the Idaho Farm Bureau and Insurance Service, Monroe Hays, standing and Louis Reinke, Twin Falls County president, are seen going over the banquet program prior to Saturday's Farm Bureau banquet at the Twin Falls High School Cafeteria.

STAR LIGHT, STAR BRIGHT: a hundred stars I see tonight. The half-wet boulevards and the needle-pointed lights might well be shining in almost any town on a cold and lonely night. But home is never too cold, nor too lonely. The diamond-lights shine the length of Blue Lakes Blvd. N., looking south from Fairway. The photograph was taken during a recent rain, and the diamond shaped lights are achieved by placing a fine-wire screen over the lens of a camera. As the screen is turned the diamond-spaces of light change direction adding a new quality to an already beautiful night. The effect can be achieved with any camera. LBJ Issues New Peace Plea

By The Associated Press

President Johnson made a new plea for Vietnam peace today, as the nation observed Veterans Day.

The President, speaking to the crew of the carrier Enterprise at sea off San Diego, suggested that North Vietnam and U.S. representatives meet on "a neutral ship on a neutral sea."

Johnson, appearing at an early morning ceremony on the carrier's flight deck, told North Vietnam that "you have only to say the word for our quarrel to be buried beneath the waves."

In Washington, a Defense Department official warned that "this republic stands ready to meet its responsibilities, cost what it may."

Paul H. Nitze, deputy secretary of defense, told this country's Communist enemies there is dissent and divergence in the United States over the Vietnam war "but there is no disloyalty to duty."

President Johnson continues his inspection tour of defense facilities to coincide with observance of the legal holiday.

In the President's absence, Nitze delivered the main address at ceremonies in the gleaming white marble amphitheater at Arlington National Cemetery, close to the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars voted to boycott the observance to protest a Pentagon order that burials be restricted in Arlington because of the possibility the cemetery may run out of space.

Nitze told the gathering at the cemetery that "we face foes whose stubbornness is steeped and seasoned in closed ideological rigidity, and thus who cannot distinguish in our open, free society between dissent and divisiveness—between unity and unholy unity."

"The totalitarian temptation is always to read into divergence of views a disloyalty to duty," he said. "There is diver-gency of views in this republic—and may there always be—but there is no disloyalty to duty."

Detroit readied its biggest parade ever for a Vietnam war "and the growing number of people who support our fighting men."

Some dissenters against the war began demonstrations Friday in Nashville, Tenn., about 40 bearded pickets passed out statements protesting the war, and were handed bars of soap by some 100 students on the Vanderbilt University campus. The demonstrators were pro-

Approval Of Auto Contract Is Forecast

DETROIT (AP) — The National Chrysler Council of the United Auto Workers Union was expected to give approval today to a new three-year contract between the union and Chrysler Corp.

The UAW's International Executive Board Friday night unanimously recommended approval of the new pact, which covered workers in the United States.

Even though a contract was agreed upon several hours before a strike deadline set for midnight Wednesday, production has ground to a near halt as workers left their jobs in local disputes.

UAW President Walter Reuther sounded a hopeful note Friday when he told newsmen he felt there would be "relatively normal production at Chrysler by Monday."

Adding substantiation to Reuther's hopes, an oral agreement was reached Friday among GM, Ford and Chrysler executives after several school assemblies on Friday.

Officers Elected By Fair, Rodeo Group

Fair and rodeo officials of Idaho concluded the 31st annual meeting of the Idaho State Fair and Rodeo Association in Twin Falls Saturday afternoon.

With the reelection of the full slate of officers and selection of Pocatello as the site for the 1968 convention.

Walter H. Yarbrough, Grand View, was re-named president and Earl J. Johansson, Emmett, secretary. Continued as vice-presidents were Chas. M. Shaner, Ririe; John T. Stelle Jr., Jerome, and Jim Snow, Weiser.

A highlight of the Friday night banquet featured presentation of the all-around cowboy awards of 1967 to two Idaho performers.

Kenny Stanton, Weiser, was presented a trophy as top rodeo cowboy association performer in Idaho shows during the past season. A native of

The Dalles, Ore., the 28-year-old performer has been competing in RCA shows the past seven years. Since that time he has won $123,700. In 1963 he was 11th in all around national standings; fifth in 1965 and sixth in 1966. Last year he held 12th spot in national competition.

The young Idahoan, who gained many of his national points in Idaho shows, placed fifth nationally in 1966 in the barrel race competition and sixth in the bull riding. He qualified four years in a row for the finals in both barrel race and bull riding.

ing. In 1965, in a two-week period, he won the big Ft. Worth, Tex. bull riding event and placed second in barrel race to take $5,300 and then added another $3,300 by his combined winnings at the San Antonio show.

Another trophy, this for the all-around performing Idaho Rodeo Cowboy Association competitor, was presented by the association to Lonnie Wright, Caldwell. Lonnie has compiled a number of top records in recent years. In 1964 he was champion ICA bull rider and champion ICA team rider. In 1965 and again last year he won the ICA all-around champion cowboy title, taking in about $4,300 in ICA shows alone. He is a four-event man, competing in the main four events of the rodeo shows. Both trophies were awarded by Jim Snow, vice president of the Fair and Rodeo Association, one of those of the Friday night banquet.

Delegates to the convention approved a tentative schedule of shows for the 1968 season and these will be permanently adopted in the near future and announced by the association.

The Twin Falls County Fair and Rodeo Association will meet at the CARRIER HAS FIRE PORTSMOUTH, England (AP) — Fire raged for nearly six hours below deck on the British freight carrier Victorius in drydock today and the Defense Ministry said one crewman was killed.

Charges Expected To Be Filed In Theft, Kidnap

HAILEY — The suspect in a Friday evening robbery and kidnaping at Toll Gate, Idaho, was returned to Mountain Home Friday night by law officers where charges were expected to be filed Saturday.

Charles Brinkerhoff, Boise, is suspected of the robbery in which a woman employe of a Toll Gate cafe was abducted and forced to drive with the suspect to Bellevue where she was released unharmed.

The suspect was later apprehended two miles north of Ketchum on U.S. 93.

According to Orville Drexler, Blaine County sheriff, Mrs. Velma Center, Mountain Home, who was working with two other women at the Toll Gate Cafe, was released and given two dollars after she had been held hostage after the theft of an undisclosed amount of money from the cafe.

Mrs. Center told officers she was working in the kitchen of the cafe when a young man entered the cafe about 5:30 p.m. and drank several beers. Also working at the cafe at the time were Mrs. Charlotte Decker and Margaret Franson.

Mrs. Center recalled she heard the man ask one of the other women if there was any ranch work around the area that she knew of. The reply was no.

Mrs. Center said she had seen KIDNAP, Pg. 2, Col. 7

Anti-War Marchers Scored In Address

Paying tribute to the services of the military men who are fighting today in Vietnam and those who have fought in previous conflicts, Maj. Gen. George Bennett, Idaho's adjutant general, turned his wrath on the "minority group that is demonstrating against American defenses of freedom," in a Twin Falls Veterans Day address.

Speaking before the Veterans Day luncheon in the American Legion Hall Saturday noon, Gen. Bennett said these minority demonstrators are "masquerading in the name of patriotism, but are actually performing acts of traitors."

"We must recognize the right of dissent as fundamental to our freedom," the general said, "but the fine line between dissent and traitorous acts is being overstepped in many of the recent demonstrations across the country today."

"A quality all veterans have in common," the speaker said, "is their deep and sincere patriotism."

"Our veterans, of which there are 26 million in the United States today, have proven themselves by their service," he continued.

The speaker also praised the efforts of the veterans organizations. They have shown the world, he said, the American spirit of loyalty and patriotism which he should like to see in all of us.

Three Captive Americans Freed

By GEORGE MCARTHUR — Associated Press Writer

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — The Viet Cong symbolically turned over three captured U.S. sergeants in a day, and a U.S. document said the men had been through Communist brainwashing programs.

They gave an apparently memorized statement of thanks to the Viet Cong and to Tim Hayden, who said he represented a police committee led by Dr. Martin Luther King, folk singer Joan Baez, and Dr. Ben Jimin Spock.

But Hayden said after the ceremony that the prisoners were taken away in a car, but he would not say where.

Asked if the men were free, Hayden said, "I believe so."

"They are in the process of going home," he said. He added he could see them later in the day.

In Washington, a Pentagon spokesman said the Defense Department "has no comment whatsoever" on the release of the three prisoners, or on anything they said at the news conference.

He indicated it was premature to talk about where the men will be received back by the American side and what will happen to the soldiers after they are released.

The U.S. document concerning brainwashing was released by American officials in Saigon.

In it, Donald Rochlin, a psychological warfare adviser to the South Vietnamese government, told of an interview with a Red defector who said he personally took part in the indoctrination of two of the prisoners.

Release of the document followed the elaborately staged release ceremony at which the Viet Cong said they had "helpfully" to the antiwar movement.

At a news conference reminiscent of similar situations in the Korean war, two of three prisoners received brief statements, apparently committed to memory, thanking Hayden and their captors. Then, blinking under television lights, they ant tionally mutinied through 40 minutes of propaganda oratory.

The two were Sgt. Daniel Lee Pilzer of Spring Lake, N.C., and Sgt. James E. Jackson Jr. of Talcot, W. Va. The third American, Sgt. Edward R. Johnson of Sealife, Calif., was said by the Viet Cong to be in the next room, too sick with dysentery to appear. But no outsiders saw him.

The Viet Cong announced last Friday that the Americans would be returned to their families in a gesture of solidarity with antiwar protesters.

Bloodmobile Quota--200 Pints

A quota of 200 pints of blood is being asked by the American Red Cross for the Monday drawing to be held in Twin Falls.

Dale Patterson, blood chairman, said the drawing will be conducted from 2 to 7 p.m. Monday in the American Legion Hall. There is a great need for community-wide cooperation, he said.

Joining Mr. Patterson in urging residents who can, to donate a pint of blood is Mrs. Clara Salmon, 448 Sixth Ave. N.

Mrs. Salmon knows the value of having available blood when needed and without this vital service would not be alive today. Suffering a chronic condition which hospitalized her last February and required eight pints of blood, Mrs. Salmon suffered a relapse in August. She was hospitalized in Twin Falls with internal hemorrhaging and during two different stays including the local hospital and LDS hospital in Salt Lake City, she required 21 pints of blood.

Because she has a relatively popular blood type, there was a quantity of blood available at the Magic Valley Memorial Hospital.

More was brought in from Boise as required.

Although Mrs. Salmon and her husband Floyd Salmon are beyond the age permitted to donate blood, she said her daughter, now-in-law, grandson and a number of nieces and nephews have helped return much of the blood they needed, and they continue to support the blood drives.

"The blood program is a wonderful thing and I know once you have required its services of someone in your family, has been served by an adequate supply of loyalty and patriotism which he should like to see in all of us."

Importance Of Job Training Is Stressed

A report compiled by the South Central Community Action Agency and presented to members of the board of the organization during the past week has sharply pointed up the need for on-the-job training for many people in the Cassia, Jerome and Twin Falls County area, according to Al Morgan, director.

Mr. Morgan said the survey, which was compiled between April and August of this year, under the auspices of the Office of Economic Opportunity, indicates that between 15 and 20 per cent of the people in Twin Falls County alone fall under the economical guidelines to qualify on the government poverty schedule.

He said that although the people are not directly located by the survey, he feels that at least that many financially underprivileged people are residing in the county.

Mr. Morgan said that the first of the 100 unemployed or underemployed people affected by the program should be able to be placed in on-the-job training sometime after the first of the year.

The agency will enter into contract with the Bureau of Apprenticeship and Training, which is funded by the Manpower Development and Training Act, and as soon as that contract is in effect, more people will be hired to supervise the program.

MDTA will pay employers for the training they will give to the on the job trainees. The employer, in turn, must pay the trainee at least minimum wage for the job he is doing. Areas of occupational go from commercial art to cooks helpers and parieten.

While the report presented Wednesday night deals with the unemployed and underemployed, the Community Action Agency is concerned about all physically, financially or educationally handicapped people. They are involved in the Head Start program and have just been funded for putting some 27 boys to work under the Neighborhood Youth Corps program.

These boys, who are "high school dropouts or kickouts," according to Mr. Morgan, can be put to work for charitable or being organizations with their employment funded by NYC.

The survey reports that there are 884 families, or 3,003 people in the three county area on poverty and that 774 of these people are on welfare. It indicates that money problems bring other problems — the need for medical care, education and even legal services.

Through on the job training, Mr. Morgan said, we hope to get these people back to work and off the welfare rolls. The OEO program is not a giveaway. People have to want to work to be involved in it, he added.

Bomb Shelter Blast Kills Hulbert Taft

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—Hulbert Taft Jr., a leading broadcasting executive and member of Ohio's famous Taft family, is dead as the result of an explosion that ripped apart a bomb shelter on his suburban estate.

Taft, 60-year-old board chairman of Taft Broadcasting Co., was killed about 4 p.m. Friday when the blast wrecked the shelter in suburban Indian Hill. Fire Chief Cliff Behrman of Indian Hill termed the explosion "an unfortunate accident."

Authorities said the 40 by 70 foot shelter contained a stockpile of bottled gas, but the cause of the explosion was not determined immediately.

"There was a smell of gas in the area when we arrived," Behrman said. The blast raised the shelter's roof, which collapsed, burying Taft under the debris.

Authorities in Anderson Township, 12 miles away, blamed natural gas and fire that destroyed the home of a Taft employee before dawn Friday. Ron Doll, a news editor for WKRC-TV, and Bill Villa, a commercial photographer living in the same house, escaped unhurt by jumping from second-floor windows.

Tom Jones, news director of the station, said an investigation showed no apparent connection between the explosions.

Civil Defense

Who says nobody in Twin Falls County is interested in Civil Defense and fallout protection? In a recently completed survey of home fallout protection 66 per cent of all persons contacted in Twin Falls County returned their questionnaires for evaluation. This would indicate there is considerable interest, and despite brave words and brave stunts that have been made here in organizing Civil Defense, very little actually has been done.

There are about 45,000 persons in Twin Falls County, in an intricate drive a few years ago, fallout shelter locations suitable to take care of 7,339 of them were located. However, arrangements have been made for use of only enough shelter space to accommodate 250 persons and they have been stocked with supplies for just 750 persons.

MR. SPECTATOR

It Is Idaho Roulette!

There is probably more than one way to look at it, but although Idaho certainly isn't any "girl" as such, there are a lot of people who remember her curves. One of these people is a certain John J. Bertrand, who lives at 6020 El Dorado, El Cortijo, Calif. He drove over, around and through a few of the curves in question and he had something to say about it.

The Gold Chips There's a tantalizing project now under way at Ohio State University. The goal: To produce nothing less than potato chips of a uniform golden color. The project is being sponsored by the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center and the Ohio Potato Growers Association, Potato Chip Subcommittee.

Tip to bachelorettes: If you're looking for a husband, girls; you'll probably do better in Massachusetts than Manhattan. Last year was the third biggest bumper crop of marriages—1,894,000 in U.S. history. But the number of weddings in New York City fell off 7 per cent from the year before, whereas in Massachusetts it rose by 14 per cent.

ART BUCHWALD

Hugh Hefner's House Guest

CHICAGO — I had the good fortune the other day to be invited to stay at Hugh Hefner's mansion in Chicago. For those of you who don't read Playboy magazine, Hefner lives in a 500-room brownstone house with 345 servants, 250 revolving beds (one for each bedroom), a swimming pool refilled every morning with Mount Chandon champagne '64 and a steam room, attended by 35 Miss Universe runners-up.

lean dream is to spend a night in Hugh Hefner's mansion; but there are very few of us who actually achieve it, at least at an age when it makes sense. At the airport I was met by the Playboy limousine, a block-long vehicle containing a bar, a television set, a 12-speaker Hi-Fi set and a leather seat that turned into a revolving bed.

introduced himself as cartoonist Shel Silverstein. I asked him how long he had been staying at the mansion. "Two weeks," he said. "You must be awfully tired." "You can say that again," he said. "I stay up every night to watch the Johnny Carson Show."

WASHINGTON (AP) — A month before the Russian revolution of 1917, Lenin, who had dreamed of just that, was thinking he might never see happen in his lifetime. This wasn't the only contradiction in Lenin's thought. The Bolsheviks were only a small minority, numbering perhaps 25,000 and with no plans for a takeover, at that time in March, 1917 when Czar Nicholas II was forced out and more moderate forces took over.

conditions don't compare with the West if only because the Soviets have concentrated on industry and neglected consumer goods. Nevertheless, politically the Soviet Union belongs back another age. It is, despite the things that may be said in its favor, a political despotism. The people have no sense of democracy or self-rule.

Republican Western Strategy

Western States Republicans prefer Richard Nixon and Ronald Reagan, but most will go the 1968 convention—unpledged. I was in Denver by coincidence when the Western States Republican Conference decided on this strategy. They know they represent only 20 per cent of the party's delegate strength, but that's enough to keep any body from annulling the convention on the first ballot.

No prediction is worth much while we're still a year away from nomination time and while the primary political considerations remain unresolved.

Cassia Supports District

BURLEY — Cassia county school trustees have adopted an official policy a resolution opposing any move to change from the presently organized county school district.

The resolution, which strongly supports retention of the present county unit, was adopted by trustees at a public meeting called last week in the Burley Junior High School auditorium to discuss future plans for school facilities, since the defeat in October of the bond issue.

W. B. Whiteley, Oakley, school board chairman, indicated that after defeat of the bond election in October, some persons had suggested that if the county unit were divided into small districts, there would be more support for increased taxes to support school improvements.

A report was given by Walter Schramm on a public opinion poll showing 162 persons favoring a large centralized high school, with 283 for de-consolidation.

Nowell Hawcutt and Dr. Paul Brown both spoke in favor of building a larger, central high school. Speaking against building a large high school were Don Jacobs, who said he opposed it mainly because of transportation. Orville Voyce, Declo, admitted there was larger curricular in larger high schools but he feels a student gets much more in smaller schools.

Hal Luke stated riding the bus is no problem for students, and Elaine Ellison, Malta, said a centralized high school with full curriculum is not the whole story. Extra things are necessary for a community and he opposed a centralized high school.

Gale Keen said he favors consolidation but not a single high school. One is needed for Malta and Declo and another for Oakley and Burley students. Mrs. Ellison, Malta, said night recreation is needed for students.

S. H. Hibbard spoke on taxes carried mainly by the rural area and pointed out statistics show that de-consolidating would cost more than a centralized high school.

Parley Clark, Oakley, challenged Dr. Brown's views on favoring a large central high school. Mr. Clark stated that Oakley and Declo schools should be fixed up and added something is needed in school program besides classrooms.

John Peterson stated he has lived in several school districts, with Blackfoot schools being ideal. Idaho Falls too large. Shelley, choice, and Fifth too small. Declo is too small and putting money in a small school is moving 15 to 20 years backwards according to Mr. Peterson.

Ruel Barker, Elba, stated all plans have merits, but the school board elections have been turned down three times and there is need to talk about tax structure.

Ross Nielson suggested going to state legislature for a one per cent sales tax earmarked for school construction purpose only.

Verna Peterson believes the attitude of the people defeated the bond issue, and Hal Luke stated farmers pay a larger property tax, and "you can't fight rural areas."

Jack Snow stated the tax base needs to be changed, but present problems are over-crowded schools. The problem is current, not 10 years away. The school board can do certain things, as split shifts or 12 month school system, he said.

STANDARDS URGED
BOISE (AP) — A citizens group asked the Idaho Department of Education Friday to develop maximum and minimum standards for junior high and elementary schools in the state.

Making the request was a subcommittee of the Citizens Task Force Committee on Education which was formed to study small schools in Idaho.

After standards were set, the group said, a survey could determine whether or not schools presently complied with them and how much money it would cost to bring them up to standards.

The Easter Seal Society gives the award annually to the Idahoan who "in spite of severe physical handicap, achieves a fruitful and productive life."

Giles was to receive the award Oct. 20 at a banquet in Boise, but suffered a severe injury in an accident at his home the day before.

"Why can't I HEAR?"

This man's hearing is fading. He is beginning to enclose himself in a lonely little world, unconsciously shutting himself off from family, friends and social life. Becoming "deaf" seems to him like the end of the world. The worst part is that it may take him a long time to find out that he can be helped.

Veterans Day Noted At Hansen

HANSEN — Using "Our Two Worlds," as his theme, R. G. Ashenbrenner, Commander of the Air Force Reserve Squadron, Twin Falls, was the guest speaker at the Veterans Day program Friday morning at the Hansen school.

He compared the achievements of the scientific age, comparing automobiles' speed with that of the circling astronauts. He spoke of the 25 military bases and posts which he visited in Europe, stressing that the free people of these nations look to the United States to lead the world in supporting the cause of freedom. The U.S., according to Commander Ashenbrenner, is the salvation of Western Europe. He cited our system of Democracy as the basis of our strong country.

He stated that his hope for the youth of today was they might lift the veil of confusion which exists in order to settle our world conflicts and gain peace.

Supt. William Barnard welcomed the guests, Dean Froelich, student body president, gave a short talk on "The Significance of Veterans Day" and introduced the speaker.

Spud Labeling Hearings Set, Hansen States

BURLEY—Rep. George Hansen has received verbal assurance that hearings are planned early next year on a bill introduced by Rep. Hansen for labeling of potatoes with the state of origin.

According to Rep. Hansen, Rep. Harley O. Staggers, (D. W. Va.), chairman of the House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce, made promise of the hearings. Rep. Hansen spoke to the Cassia County Farm Bureau Friday night in Burley.

Hansen, noting that last year in the United States, more potatoes had been sold as "Idaho's" than were grown in Idaho, said "Idaho potato producers and consumers need the type protection my bill will give against unscrupulous wholesalers and retailers who label and sell inferior spuds as the genuine article from Idaho."

He also said he is pressing the Federal Trade Commission in its investigation of the current advertising campaign being conducted by the Rice Council which intimates rice is less fattening than potatoes.

Hansen said "The Rice Council's campaign violates all ethical codes of advertising and is deliberately misleading. The Council knows or should know that rice, gram by gram, is more fattening than potatoes and to intimate otherwise constitutes a fraud on the calorie-conscious consumer."

City Election Candidate Feels That Issues Were Clouded

Editor, Times-News: Some people are interpreting the election results as a public approval for the city manager form of government, and a mandate for Urban Renewal, Regional Airport, and other projects labeled as progressive, which spend vast sums of public money, encouraging us to foster our personal responsibilities and freedoms. Is this a true analysis? Absolutely not and a vote from the people of Twin Falls, minus the non-voters, would prove this to be true if the issues were faced unclouded. The returns do, however, prove a well conducted smear campaign, which keeps the candidates from doing their own dirty work, with the full support of most news media, including a telephone whisperer phase, and a fake lawsuit to plant the seeds of distrust, dishonesty, inability, disloyalty, and fear, can be successful. Tiller said, "Tell a lie often enough and people will believe it." Mention the names of Liberty Lobby and the John Birch Society and we find the image created of these groups to be exactly as traitors of America would have you believe. Considerable investigation on my part has revealed to me the truth, not falsehood, loyal Americans not Communists, dedicated citizens interested in one thing only which is to preserve the constitution and save America for Americans, in the literature and efforts of these people. No one would have questioned their motives, nor would they have been possible thirty years ago. Today the popular thing to say and do is to abandon God given principals and sacred charters. Joseph Stump Jr. has been the target for considerable unwarranted abuse because of his association with these groups. He is a fine person not an ex-convict which whispering has led you to believe. I am proud to be a right wing conservative. True growth and genuine progress comes from putting your shoulder to the wheel, not your hand in other people's pockets. Obtaining government projects and branding them as progress is building your economy on a foundation of sand. America has arrived at its point of prominence by energetic men upholding basic principles of righteousness which will never change. NOLAN VICTOR (Twin Falls)

Editorial Unfair, Unsuccessful Candidate Says

Editor, Times-News: As a candidate in the city election last Tuesday, I feel a Thursday editorial in the Times-News was not fair. Joseph Stump Jr. and Nolan Victor had my full cooperation in the campaign. I thank Mr. Victor and Mr. Stump for their help in the campaign and I think both are great guys. I do not feel the Times-News treatment of the conservative ticket in the election was fair, and I do not feel it was fair in the editorial to allege that Mr. Stump and Mr. Victor ran the election for C. G. Pope and myself. I feel the incumbents elected, along with Frank Cook, do not represent the conservative philosophy. LAWRENCE TOLMAN (Twin Falls)

Dismissal Of Speeding Count Concerns Man

Editor, Times-News: I read in the Nov. 9 issue of Twin Falls Times-News where (attorney gets speed count dismissed) Prima Facie. Does this mean the Idaho speed law is not effective, if one has a friend or partner who is a lawyer? Of course one would have a choice. They could pay a ten or fifteen dollar fine, or find some kind lawyer who would get them off the hook for about $25. Even though a person paid a lawyer more than $25, they would save much more than that on their insurance premium. So it's just a question of how wealthy you are or how you know. And we call this justice? Webster's definition of prima facie—"of evidence adequate to establish a fact, unless refuted." H. H. BARRINGTON (Twin Falls)

Two Women Survive In Fiery Crash

HEYBURN—Two young women were treated at the Mindoka Memorial Hospital, Rupert, Saturday when they narrowly escaped when their vehicle left Interstate 90 near here, crashed into the overpass-railing and burst into flames. Mindoka County officers said Mary A. Pate, 22, Moore, was driving the vehicle at 5:30 p.m. Saturday and was on the overpass when she apparently fell asleep. The vehicle struck the overpass guard, bounced back, spun around and rolled over. Before either woman could leave the vehicle it erupted into flames. A passenger, Ann Vaughn, 21, Pocatello, a student at ISU, crawled from a window. Miss Pate, who suffered more serious injuries, was pulled from the burning vehicle by an unidentified truck driver. Officers said the truck driver had difficulty stopping his large truck and trailer in time to avoid running over the wreckage of Miss Pate's small vehicle. Miss Pate was being treated for leg and head injuries, and possible chest injuries. Miss Vaughn was treated for leg bruises and released later in the day. Increasing the vote for him by 100. More than 257,000 votes were cast in the election. Unless the official count changes the outcome, Stokes will be sworn into office Monday.

Election Was Not Indictment Of Far Right, T.F. Man Says

Editor, Times-News: Contrary to your editorial clap-trap, the election Tuesday was far from being an indictment of the "Far Right." If the campaign of each candidate had been conducted by the same rules of fair play with unbiased referees there is little doubt that the incumbents would have "lost their shirts." I judge the incumbents' political skill as excellent in letting your paper and the other news media act as their "hatchet men," and in "inspiring" certain city employees to conduct a telephone campaign of smear and fright. The split on each candidate's job was a clean fiasco of themselves, while, I am convinced, they encouraged the character assassination of myself and Mr. Nolan Victor, via telephone and gossip. Friends relayed the gossip back to Mr. Victor and myself, which said I was an ex-convict and Mr. Victor a bad check artist. Two people who refused to believe these lies called me and wanted to know "if it was true that I had served time." I have not, of course. This vicious campaign against our character and integrity was highly successful, along with the highly publicized lawsuit brought against our group the day before election, in causing many voters to support the in-

Margin Of Votes Dwindles After Cleveland Vote

CLEVELAND (AP) — "The unofficial 2,500-vote margin by which Carl B. Stokes, a Negro, won the Cleveland mayoral election Tuesday has dwindled to 1,519 votes as the official count is conducted by the Cuyahoga County board of elections. The Cleveland Plain Dealer said it learned Friday night that two mistakes had reduced the Stokes margin by 892 votes in one-third of the polling places counted so far. The count was expected to be completed today. Two mistakes were in an East Side ward, where figures for Stokes, a Democrat, and his Republican opponent, Seth C. Taft, were reversed, the newspaper said. The third error was in replacing the figure 1 before the Stokes total in another precinct.

Overdrawn? Watch For The Law

By FRED DODDS Times-News Staff Writer Every wrong day in Twin Falls an estimated 100 law-abiding citizens commit a crime that could put them in the Idaho State Prison for three years. Many break the law intentionally. Others do so without a complete knowledge of the law concerned. All, however, know they are doing something wrong. They do it anyway. The law? It involves insufficient funds checks. And checks are what this article is all about. Bad checks of all types cost local businessmen upwards of $500,000 a year. This estimate is based on interviews with local businessmen, the Twin Falls County prosecutor, law officers, and the manager of the local Chamber of Commerce. Edd Bossard, head of the Downtown Retail Merchants' Association, told me recently that he would not be surprised if downtown businesses were hit in the pocketbook to the tune of $250,000 a year. Suburban stores are hurt as bad. One store manager said he had to write off $3,000 during a two-month period. Bad checks. An insufficient funds check is a check that overdraws the depositor when it is written. Under $25, and the writer has committed a misdemeanor; over, a felony. A felony can bring a 1-3 year term in the state penitentiary. Twin Falls County Prosecutor Michael Felton said the crime is committed at the instant the depositor writes and cashes the check.

Many people with $10 in the account, will write a $20 check on Monday night, then deposit a $100 paycheck Tuesday morning. They feel certain the check will be good by the time it gets to the bank. Often it is, other times it is not. But the person who knowingly wrote the check, overdrawing broke the law. An official at the Twin Falls Bank and Trust, Larry Groves, said "If the depositor is a regular customer, we usually just levy a service charge." Mr. Felton said it would be impossible to prosecute on all the violations. It isn't this type of check writer law officers are after, anyway. Most checks written that overdraw an account are made good in a week. It's the checks that are not or can't be made good that cause the trouble.

Idaho law concerns itself with forgery, no account checks and insufficient funds checks. Forgery can bring a 1-4 year prison term, no account checks 1-3 years and a $5,000 fine. Credit cards also bring about grief to the local businessman. False use of credit cards is trouble, also. A conviction on a misdemeanor or check charge can net the violator a six-month term in the county jail. In the prosecutor's office, Mr. Felton said, all bad checks that come to the attention of his office, 50 per cent have a complaint filed. Of that 50 per cent, 25 per cent make the check good quickly. There have been four felony prosecutions on bad checks this year in Twin Falls County.

This puts the prosecutor's office, and sheriff and police officers in the position of acting as collection agents. Businessmen often realize this, and know it is one way to force the person who wrote the check to make the check good. But businessmen feel when a check is sent to the police, sheriff or prosecutor, it is sent as a last resort. "What else can we do?" Mr. Bossard asked. Even so, merchants get stuck with 50 per cent of the bad checks they cash. They cash them? Businessmen in Twin Falls is very competitive, Mr. Bossard said. If he refused to cash a check, and the check is good (although he does not know this) the customer will take his business to another establishment. Businessmen, understandably, do not want to lose the business.

Opposition To Closing Of Agency Aired

JEROME—Opposition to closing of the Railway Express Agency offices in the area was "quite vocal and emphatic," Jerome Chamber of Commerce members were told last week. S. A. Kolman, who represented the chamber at a public meeting recently in Twin Falls by the Idaho Public Utilities Commission, said the agency has asked IPUC for authority to close its offices in Jerome, Buhl, Filer and Kimberly. "I felt the Jerome chamber's opposition was justified on the basis of the Railway Express Agency's own statistics," Mr. Kolman said. He said that it is possible IPUC might hold another hearing on the matter. "If the final decision is in favor of the agency, there is still the right of appeal," he explained. Mr. Kolman said that others present at the hearing were representatives from the Buhl Chamber of Commerce, Snake River Trout Farm and Green Giant.

MERCHANDISE FROM THE Junior Achievement Co. (Inves-Co.) is purchased by Kenneth Newman, vice president and manager of First Security Bank, left, and Hugh Coats, vice president of First Security Bank. Young business executives making the sale are Larry Openheim, president; Katherine Christensen, secretary, and Steve Loder, treasurer of Inves-Co., from left. The company, organized and operated by students, is manufacturing and selling half-dollar key-rings.

Through the Junior Achievement program, students are selected to organize, operate, promote and later on to liquidate individual companies. With the advice of their sponsoring firm, they are totally responsible for the success or failure of their individual business concern. Generally the experience involves the promotion and sale of company stock or other financing practices. President of Inves-Co. is Larry Openheim and other officers include Steve Loder, treasurer, and Katherine Christensen, secretary.

Junior's Business Is Healthy

Inves-Co., an unusual business establishment in Twin Falls, is well on its way to success after only a few short weeks of operation. Inves-Co. is one of several Junior Achievement companies that have been organized and are now in production as a means of giving young men and women an opportunity at first hand business experience. Young executives of the company are manufacturing and selling a Kennedy half-dollar key ring and so far in the operation have been able to show a profit. In the past three weeks they have sold approximately $300 worth, including one order of nearly $100 to the First Security Bank of Twin Falls. Kenneth Newman, vice president and manager of the bank, said the banking concern is anxious to encourage the student companies and to help them in gaining practical business experience. About 21 students are involved in the company and some 120 high school business students are participating in the entire Junior Achievement program. Rubo Mayer, manager of the Anderson-Lumber Co., sponsoring Inves-Co., said the key rings sell at $1.94 plus tax and in addition to sales to other business firms in the city, the youngsters are conducting door-to-door sales each Tuesday evening. Through the Junior Achievement program, students are selected to organize, operate, promote and later on to liquidate individual companies. With the advice of their sponsoring firm, they are totally responsible for the success or failure of their individual business concern. Generally the experience involves the promotion and sale of company stock or other financing practices. President of Inves-Co. is Larry Openheim and other officers include Steve Loder, treasurer, and Katherine Christensen, secretary.

Credit Cards Explained At Rupert Meet

RUPERT—The United States is barreling along on a credit fueled economy," Ed Hartman, of the Idaho First National Bank, told members of the Rupert Chamber of Commerce at the weekly luncheon meeting Thursday at Herring's Cafe.

Mr. Hartman and Judson Van Avory, also from the bank, talked to the group about credit, credit cards and explained the Idaho First National Bank Credit Cards which are being distributed to customers.

They outlined the benefits of the cards to the customer, the merchant and also to the bank.

More people buy on credit than pay cash as 60 per cent of department sales are credit, Mr. Hartman noted. He also stated that about 200 million credit cards are in circulation.

Merle Hanna announced that the Merchants Committee has made final plans for the Christmas opening.

Santa Claus will come to Rupert Nov. 24 to turn on the Christmas lights. He will visit again Dec. 2, 9, and 16.

Beginning Nov. 24 all stores will stay open Friday nights until 9 p.m. and from Dec. 15 until Christmas they will be open every night until 9 p.m.

Guests were Ray Tucker, Byron J. Blanton, Gary Fernau and Bob Detmers.

A CERTIFICATE OF appreciation awarded the Magic Valley Moth Ball Fleet for their assistance in Newman Day in Twin Falls, is admired by Jim Foster, left, secretary, and Earl Carter, president. The only organization in the area of retired Navy, Marine and Coast Guard personnel, the Moth Ball Fleet has approximately 45 members.

Navy Certificate Is Given Members Of Moth Ball Fleet

Members of the retired navy organization assisted in preparing for the program honoring the Newman family, whose seventh son joined his brothers in the Navy.

Wives of the members also assisted in serving refreshments and with other preparations.

The organization, says Earl Carter, president, is purely a social one with members getting together for their own enjoyment and to assist other Navy personnel and assist in special events.

There are 47 members including Navy, Marine and Coast Guard retired personnel, and their families.

To qualify, members must have at least 20 years service before their retirement. Any member of the services is eligible for the organization on retirement, Jim Foster, secretary, reported.

He said most of the members are former recruiters or those who were sent to the Twin Falls area for some other assignment, liked the area and returned to make their home here after retirement.

PLANS FOR STAGING a number of contests and riding demonstrations on Sunday in the first Gymkhana of the season at Frontier Field are outlined by Jack Windsor, left, field manager, Jackie Anderson, chairman and secretary of the event, and L. R. "Andy" Anderson. Sponsored by the Frontier Riding Club, the contests will be held each month, open to any horseman of any age. They are designed to keep riders active and horses in shape during winter months.

Riding Activity Starts Sunday

Horsemen of all ages and degrees of ability will be taking part Sunday in a gymkhana at Frontier Field, expected to be the first of a series of such events throughout the winter and spring months.

Sponsored by the Frontier Riding Club, the Sunday program will begin at 10 a.m. at the field at 1:30 p.m. and will feature competition in horsemanship, pleasure classes, barrel racing, steeple chase, with the riders mounted bareback, and a number of other special events including a "bareback tack cat" event.

In this, L. R. "Andy" Anderson, chairman said, the riders will enter the arena with only a string with which to control their mounts. Gates to the arena will be closed to prevent loss of any of the horses and riders and plenty of excitement will follow, the chairman promised.

Jack Windsor, manager of Frontier Field, said the events will continue at dates to be announced each month. The gymkhanas, he said, are all a part of the rider education and fun programs now being held at the field.

Each Sunday afternoon at the field, qualified judges assist all interested youngsters in their riding and showmanship problems in an effort to help them better prepare for coming shows next season.

The gymkhana, Mr. Anderson said, will help the riders, and they needn't be just youngsters. In putting these talents to use in minor competition, anyone of any age is invited to participate, he said.

Entries will be 25 cents per event and trophies and ribbons will be furnished by Albors-Milling Co., with a special all-around award also planned by the same firm. Riders may sign up at the announcer's stand prior to the contest.

Play-days will be held each Sunday afternoon throughout the winter, weather permitting, with the gymkhana programs interspersed through the season. Mrs. Anderson, secretary, said as many as 50 to 75 riders are expected to enter.

Jet Fuel Now Available At T.F. Airport

Jet fuel for private jet-type planes is now available at Twin Falls Municipal Airport.

Airport Manager Ed Woods said the new facility was activated this week and will fill a much-demanded need.

He said that in the past, private planes requiring jet fuel either had to be filled elsewhere or at the convenience of West Coast Airlines, which has a similar installation at the airport.

The 10,000-gallon tank was installed by Standard Oil Co. for the Reeder Flying Service dealership. Reeder's have also purchased a truck which will operate from the tank.

Mr. Woods said about 50 firms a year fly small jet aircraft in and out of Twin Falls Airport and requested this type of service. He said that the small jets can be operated more economically than propeller-driven private planes, so the demand for jet fuel has been on the increase.

Washington State Mauls Idaho By 52-14; Parsons Blanks Idaho State

PULLMAN, Wash. (AP) — Washington State mauled football rival Idaho 52-14 behind the sparkling quarterbacking of senior Mike Cadigan Saturday. An estimated 15,000 cheering fans saw Cadigan, a hunched at quarterback a year ago, steer the Cougars to their first victory since 1957.

Cadigan scored two touchdowns on runs — a third 73-yard scoring romp, which nullified by a penalty — and tossed two other scoring passes. Idaho's offense was felled most of the afternoon by a stiff Cougar defensive unit. The Vandals scored in the opening and closing quarters — first on a 54-yard breakthrough race by fullback Jim Pearson.

In the closing minutes, Idaho only sustained drive of the day, a 65-yard march, paid off with a two-yard Steve Garman pass to end Jerry Henderson. The cougars opened the scoring with less than three minutes gone after grabbing an Idaho fumble on the WSU 41. On the third play from scrimmage, Edigan hit Mark Williams with a 25-yard pass for the score.

Until late in the second quarter, the Cougars scored each time they got the ball. WSU racked up a 2-7 halftime lead and doubled the effort for 28 points in the final half.

Relief Cougar quarterbacks Johnny Davis and Jerry Henderson each accounted for two fourth-quarter scores by passing. Davis tossed a four-yard pass to end Doug Pillsbury and Henderson hit fullback Joe Lynn with a 10-yard toss just as the final gun fired.

The lanky Henderson of Spokane broke two Idaho records today, bringing his season total to 38 to break the old mark of 32 set in 1960 by Reg Carlson. His 10 receptions set a new school game standard, topping the old mark of eight set in 1954 by Frank Teverbaugh.

Cadigan far turned in the top performance of the day, perfectly executing a keeper play which time and again completely faked the Idaho defense.

Cadigan racked up 128 net yards on the ground and, though not known as a quality passer, made good on 11 of 18 passes for 182 yards.

Lindell-Led Army Crushes Utah By 22-0

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — Quarterback Steve Lindell hit on strikes of 37 and 20 yards for two touchdowns and Charlie Jarvis ran 38 yards to set up another Army crushed Utah 22-0, Saturday, for its seventh victory in eight games.

This is the Cadet's best record at this stage since the Earl Staley team of 1938 which finished 8-0-1.

Army next Saturday goes to Pittsburgh, where it never has won a game; then closes its season Dec. 2 vs. Navy in Philadelphia.

Stanford Nips Oregon With Late Rally

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — The Stanford Indians rallied in the final quarter Saturday for a 17-14 victory over Oregon and rose to a tie with Washington for third place in the Pacific-8.

Stanford scored on Bill Shoemaker's 40-yard field goal and quarterback Mark Mesquedel's two-yard touchdown within less than two minutes to overcome Oregon's 14-7 lead.

The Indiana Marty Brill recovered a fumble by Oregon's star Jim Evenson on the visitors' 17. Jimmy Williams took it to the 4. One play later, Marquess fumbled but picked up the ball and scored. Only 20,000 fans turned out for the final tuneup for each team for their big games next Saturday — Oregon against Oregon State at Corvallis, and California at Stanford.

force defensive attack limited the Vandals normally effective passing game. Garman completed 13 of 22 passes for 134 yards, but made it good for a touchdown only once.

Parsons' two-point conversion pass of the day with 125 yards including his 54-yard touchdown romp by ripping through left tackles and past a hapless WSU secondary midway in the first quarter.

'Bama Squeezes To 7-6 Win Over LSU

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Louisiana State's weakness on kicking points cost it another Saturday night and Alabama emerged in the first whistle on four fumbles — shaded the Tigers 7-6 in a Southeastern Conference thriller.

Roy Hurd, the LSU kicking specialist reinstated to the team after a week's suspension, missed an extra-point kick midway through the fourth quarter which would have pulled the Tigers into a tie.

Quarterback Freddie Haynes, Hurd's holder, bobbled the ball around before getting it up for the placement kick.

But that wasn't all. With three seconds left, Hurd was back to try a 43-yard field goal but it turned into an eight-yard pass to end Tommy Morel as the final buzzer sounded.

After struggling through a scoreless two-quarter game, Alabama got a touchdown on a one-yard plunge by fullback Ed Morgan. It capped a 51-yard march in 11 plays. Steve Davis kicked the crucial point.

Morgan had fumbled at the three and teammate David Chatham recovered to keep the Tide drive alive.

Four times earlier Alabama was shaken loose from the ball. Each time an LSU player covered the loose ball, but each time an official ruled the ball was dead before the recovery.

LSU got its touchdown on a four-yard run by Trigger Allen, who had carried the ball on two previous plays a total of 21 yards.

The victory kept Alabama's hopes for a slice of the SEC title alive. The Tide is 4-1 in conference play. LSU is 2-3.

Utah State Pins Loss On Montana

LOGAN, Utah (AP) — Forty-six years of football history in Utah State's Romney stadium ended Saturday afternoon when the Aggies shellacked Montana's Grizzlies 20-14 in a non-conference game.

The USU squad began its victory campaign before five minutes of the game had elapsed. A 17-yard pass from quarterback John Pappas caught flanker Mike O'Shea behind the Grizzly defense.

Montana flexed its offense next. With 1:20 to go end Ron Baines scored on a five-yard pass from quarterback Ed Steffen to end a 70-yard touchdown drive of 15 plays.

Sooners Eye Bowl Bid, Rip Iowa State

AMES, Iowa (AP) — Howl-minded Oklahoma turned loose its awesome offense and pulverized Iowa State 52-14 Saturday to keep its Big Eight football record perfect.

Quarterback Bob Warmack was the spearhead of an attack that saw five different players score as the No. 8-rated Sooners built their league mark to 4-0 and season record to 6-1.

FAIRBANKS, Iowa (AP) — The running and passing of fullback Frank Antonini paced Parsons to a 24-0 victory over Idaho State Saturday.

Antonini scored on a two-yard run in the second quarter, and passed to Glenn Molsinger 38 yards for a touchdown in the third period.

Antonini carried the ball 17 times for 70 yards.

Parsons' first score followed a 100-yard punt return by Jim McCoy to the Idaho State 15-yard line. It took three plays with Antonini carrying to produce the score.

Parsons moved into a 10-0 lead in the third period on a 27-yard field goal by John O'Dell.

Buffs Knock Kansas From League Lead

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — Colorado, with a healthy Wilmer Cooks starting at fullback, regained its early season form Saturday and knocked Kansas from the top of the Big Eight Conference 12-3.

The triumph capped Kansas' four-game winning streak, all in the conference and ended Colorado's two-loss string after winning five straight.

Oklahoma took over first place by defeating Iowa State 52-14 to remain undefeated in conference play.

The Buffaloes, hobbled by injuries to Cooks and other key players for three weeks, gave Kansas a "blowout" touchdown pass from Bob Douglas to John Mosler before grinding out touchdown marches in the second and fourth periods.

Both drives were capped by short yardage plunges by Cooks.

Colorado turned the tide early in the third quarter when the Buffalo defense stopped Kansas on four downs inside the Colorado five. The Jayhawks had moved for 75 yards before the Buffalo goal-line stand.

The climax on the goal line defense came when cornerback like Howard fended off a blocker and spilled Douglas as he tried to turn left end from a yard out.

After the touchdown, Kansas added two points on a run by Donnie Shanklin. Colorado tried a run and a pass and both failed after its touchdowns.

Penn State Ends North Carolina State Unbeaten Boast By 13-8

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP) — Penn State scored twice in the first period, then held on in the final minutes to upset previously unbeaten and third-ranked North Carolina State 13-8 in football Saturday.

Scouts from three national bowls watched at North Carolina State was halted on the Penn State one-yard line with 40 seconds remaining in the game. Fullback Settle Dockery was stopped short trying to plunge in for the score.

The Nittany Lions gave the Wolfpack a safety when punter Tom Cherry allowed himself to be tackled in the end zone. The strategy permitted Cherry a free kick from his own 20 and the clock ran out.

Penn State jumped into a 13-0 halftime lead with two touchdowns in the first seven minutes.

N.C. State then began knitting the Penn State line as backs Charles Bowers, Tony Baruch and Bobby Hall drove for short yardage.

On second and goal, Hall ran six yards to the Penn State three. He carried another to the one. It was then Dockery's turn, but the Penn State line held and the ball failed.

play. The first came on an 18-yard pass from quarterback Tom Sherman to tight end Ted Kwalick.

Minutes later, sophomore linebacker Kenny Onkelz intercepted a Danman pass and returned it 67 yards for a touchdown, nipping up a key block from teammate Jim Lilorelle.

Oregon State Stuns Top-Rated USC 3-0

Second-Quarter Field Goal And Defense Net Win

CORVALLIS, Ore. (AP) — The season upset second-ranked USC, and last week tied UCLA, No. 2 at the time, gave Oregon State a 3-0 upset victory over top-ranked Southern California Saturday, despite O. J. Simpson's 183 yards gained rushing.

Nebraska Slips Past Cowboys 9-0

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — A pair of key passes from sophomore quarterback Frank Patrick in Dennis Richnaffsky helped Nebraska to a second quarter touchdown Saturday and the Cornhuskers rode the advantage to a 9-0 Big Eight football victory over Oklahoma State.

The passes, a 10-yard gain to OSU's 18, and a four-yard touchdown toss, were the only Patrick completions in nine first half tries.

Bill Bomberger put the game out of reach with a 20-yard field goal in the game's final five minutes.

Nebraska's victory, boosting the Huskers' season mark to 6-2 and the conference record to 3-2, kept alive a slight title hope for the defending Big Eight champs.

OSU was all but eliminated from the title chase on a 1-3 loop record, 2-1 over-all.

The only threat by either team had been a desperation 51-yard field goal try by OSU's Craig Kessler midway through the second quarter.

Nebraska's ensuing touchdown drive, engineered in 10 plays, started on the Huskers' 33. Sophomore Joe Orduin denied the Cowboy defense with a 21-yard run before Patrick made his key passes to Richnaffsky.

UCLA Sets Rose Bowl Date At USC, Smothers Washington 48-0

LOS ANGELES (AP) — All-American candidate Gary Bohan of UCLA fired three touchdown bombs and scored once himself as the Bruins, roaring on toward the Rose Bowl, thrashing Washington 48-0 Saturday. It was the worst Washington defeat since 1937.

Robounding with revenge from its 16-0 tie with Oregon State a week ago, UCLA remained undefeated in eight games and retained a 4-0-1 record in the Pacific-8 Conference.

The Bruins hit the scoreboard for six touchdowns in the first half and a 41-0 lead at halftime. The final score was the worst in the history of Washington Coach Jim Owens. His previous worst afternoon was when Minnesota defeated the Huskies 46-7 in 1957.

Coach Tommy Prothro began sending in UCLA's reserves in the second quarter and kept them in through the second half. In an apparent effort to hold the score down, fullback Rick Purdy played quarterback in the last period.

Bohan, a senior and a leading Heisman Trophy candidate, set the pattern of the rout on the Bruins' first play from scrimmage.

A Washington punt rolled to the Bruins nine and on the first play Bohan checked a tremendous pass to Ron Copeland. It went for 67 yards to the Huskies' 24 and three plays later, Bohan's eight-yard strike found Greg Jones headed for the end zone and a touchdown.

Bohan subsequently completed touchdown passes of 39 yards to Dave Nuttall and 42 to Harold Busby, ran 24 himself for a tally and wound up with a total-winning-passing yardage of 333 yards.

IT'S SHEER LUXURY TO LEAD A DOG'S LIFE

This dog has never had it so good! He lives in a home that's heated with natural gas. He spends most of his time on the floor because the furniture is off limits. But even the floor is warm in this home because natural gas provides uniform "fresh air" heat from floor to ceiling. Little people find this feature of natural gas heat particularly appealing because they live on the lower level, too.

Today, gas heats more than 53,000 homes in 60 southern Idaho communities and has also become the "first choice" fuel for water heating and cooling. Intermountain Gas Company is efficiently supplying natural gas to its customers at a cost equal to or below that of any other gas utility in the northwest.

Fink's 73-Yard Scoring Scamper Sparks 12-0 Win

Houston Tops Memphis With Late Effort

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston built a powerful come-from-behind attack around the speed of Paul Gipson and Warren McVea and the passing of Dick Woodall as the 10th ranked Cougars defeated Memphis State 35-18 Saturday night in the Astrodome.

State crossed midfield only once in the first half but Houston could not get its explosive attack under way until after the fourth quarter when it took a 43-yard pass from Ricky Thurston to Richard Condy early in the second quarter.

Gipson, netting 154 yards in 22 plays, scored three touchdowns and Woodall passed 52 yards to Calvin Achey for another as the Cougars struck back for their sixth victory in eight starts.

McVea, who suffered a concussion with injuries, did not work his way into the end zone, but he gained 100 yards in 15 plays, included were 50 yards in six carries during the 77-yard surge that gave Houston a 7-0 halftime lead. The San Antonio speedster also took a 12-yard pass from Woodall for a key fourth down play that gave the Cougars new life at the Memphis seven as Houston moved to its second and clinching touchdown.

Fort Marcy Cops Win In International

LAUREL, Md. (AP) — Fort Marcy staged a thrilling stretch drive with a record Damascus Saturday and won the $150,000 Washington, D.C. International at Laurel Race Track as American representatives ran 1-1 in the nine-horse field.

Carrying the dark gray silks of Paul Mellon's Rokeby Stables and with veteran Manuel Szabo using his whip liberally, Fort Marcy showed "Damascus" desperate stretch bid and scored in the 1 1/2-mile event by the narrowest of margins.

Tobin Bronze from Australia was third and Canada's He's a Smoothie was fourth.

Back of the four leaders in order came Japan's Speed Symbol, Gaaque-Grae, France's 3-year-old filly, the highly regarded Ribacco, representing Yugoslavia, and American-owned Eugene's Chinoiserie, and in Command, the second British representative.

Fort Marcy, generally acclaimed America's top grass course performer, covered the 1 1/2 miles in the comparatively slow time of 2 minutes, 27 seconds, in picking up first place money of $39,000.

Gooding Uses Five Long Drives To Overpower Wendell By 35-14

GOODING — The Gooding Seminars put together five touchdowns in the first half — three of them in the first half — to defeat the Wendell Trojans 35-14 in the windup of the Big Eight Conference season for both clubs Saturday afternoon.

Gooding went for its first score after a fumble exchange. From its own 40-yard line Gooding moved the distance in 11 plays. Joe Hollifield got the last 11 in three carries, finally going in from the zone. Ken Krahn booted the first of five conversions.

Danny Jacobson got Wendell right back in the game when he seemed capable of generating much clan for the occasion. What it was was a dogfight between the 30-yard lines for three quarters and in the end it was a matter of too much Burley line.

The teams preferred to slug it out on the ground. Minico throwing only three times, all incomplete, and Burley hitting three for seven. But all that evaporated when Fink swept right end, extricated himself from two pickles, got a fine block and sailed the 73 yards.

That broke the halation and in the final three minutes the Bobcats roared 91 yards with Mike Kelley sweeping in from the 15.

The 30-yard lines were inviolate in the first half and in the third quarter Minico put Burley in a hole with a fumble recovery. From then on the Spartans maintained fine field position but could do nothing with it. The Spartans' best effort came late in the period when they put together three first downs and moved to Burley's 20 before giving up the ball.

Burley kicked out and Minico punted it right back. On the first play — five plays into the fourth quarter — Fink shook loose on the line.

Minico had the ball twice after that, punting on the first time and missing on a fourth down at the Bobcats' 34 after a short Bobcat punt.

After that it was a matter of Fink and Kelley for two-three minutes, when the Bobcats started getting outside and Kelley picked up 26 yards in two runs to make the drive threatening. The Bobcats moved to the Spartan 15 in 11 plays with Kelley getting 40 of the 52 yards. From the 15 Kelley got outside, took advantage of a fine block by Dave Disoglio and went in standing up.

Northwestern Explodes To Stun Iowa

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — Northwestern's gambling Wildcats, led by halfback Chico Kurzwaski, scored four second-quarter touchdowns in a span of fewer than seven minutes, and humbled Iowa 30-24 Saturday in a Big Ten football game.

Iowa opened the scoring with a one-yard touchdown play by Steve McKinzie to take a 7-0 lead.

Northwestern scored on a penalty and field goal before marching 70 yards to take a 12-7 lead on Kurzwaski's short smash.

This gave Northwestern the opportunity to employ the on-side kick which the Wildcats used to perfection.

The Wildcats recovered two of Tom Garrison's on-side kicks, one grabbed by Dennis White and the other by Dennis Coyne and turned them into touchdowns.

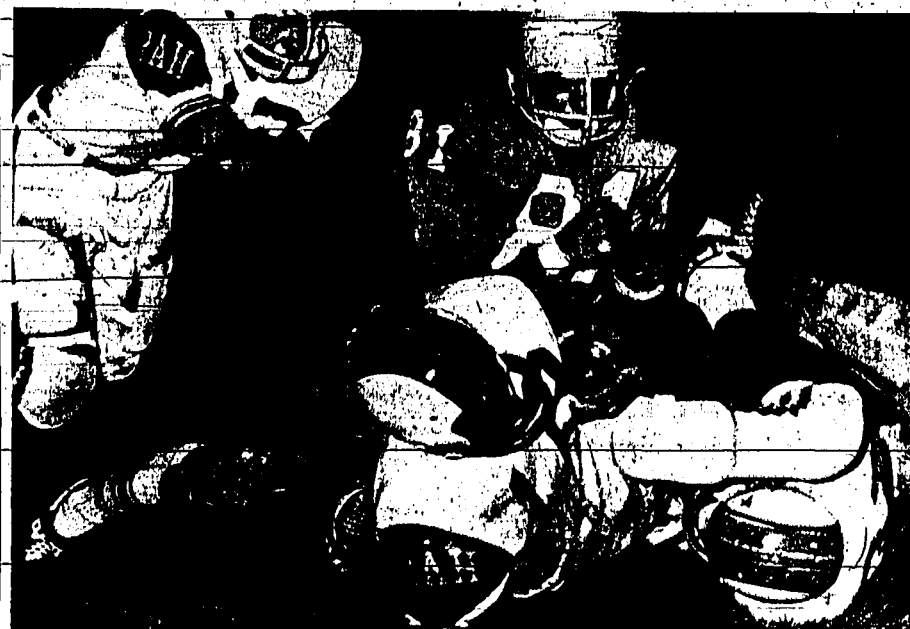

After Iowa scored a 32-yard field goal on Bob Anderson's 32-yard field goal near the end of the first half, the Hawkeyes also tried an on-side kickoff. It backfired as Northwestern got the ball and moved 52 yards in 37 seconds for still another touchdown and a 32-10 halftime lead.

Rams Nip Indians

POCATELLO (AP) — Highland's Mike Kelly caught a pass that bounced off the fingertips of three Indians defenders and another Highland receiver and legged the bobbled aerial into the end zone on a 49-yard play that gave the Rams a 28-21 win over luckless Pocatello Saturday.

The final score came with one minute to play and 5,000 fans witnessed the closest match ever fought between the two schools.

Pocatello missed a chance to tie the game early when two first period touchdowns were called back by penalties.

DOG PILE begins forming on Borah's Dan Cafferty as Twin Falls' Jerry Mills (81), with an unsolicited and illegal assist from an unidentified Borah player, comes in for a landing. Action came during Borah's 59-7 victory, the worst defeat ever sustained by a Twin Falls team. The Bruins ended the season with a 5-5 record.

Borah Pins Worst Loss In History On T.F.

Twin Falls found out what it is like to play Borah a week after an infrequent loss as the Lions, smarting from a loss to Capital a week ago, ran through the Bruins for a 59-7 victory. It was the worst defeat in the history of Twin Falls football, the previous record being a 54-0 setback at the hands of Pocatello way back in 1916.

A rash of fumbles and interceptions moved the result out of doubt—if there ever was any—early in the game. Borah converted two quick fumbles, a roughing the kicker penalty and a pass interception for 24 points in the first 15 minutes. Then Bret Staples gave Twin Falls its only moment to cheer as Staples romped 97 yards on a kickoff return and Gordon Hansen converted. Twin Falls moved across midfield on its own steam only three times during the night.

There was one bright spot for Twin Falls as senior linebacker Jay Ulrich played a great defensive game until a sock in the eye put him out for the night midway through the second quarter.

Cline Leads Valley Past Shoshone 20-0

SHOSHONE — Senior Halfback Ron Cline piled up a mountain of yardage Saturday afternoon in leading the Valley Vikings to a 20-0 victory over the Shoshone Indians.

Shoshone was unable to move with any consistency against the Valley defensive unit, penetrating to the 20-yard line only once. Meanwhile, Valley picked up touchdowns in each of the first three quarters.

Cline was particularly effective on counter plays, setting up the first touchdown with a 20-yard romp. From then on he only got better.

Shoshone took the opening kickoff but fumbled at its own 40-yard line after one first down. On the next play Cline ripped through on a counter to the 10-yard line. He got the touchdown let or on a three-yard power play and came back with the same pattern for the extra point.

In the second period Shoshone punted the ball to Valley's four-yard line and the Vikings moved 86 yards for the touchdown. It came on a two-yard keeper by quarterback Russell Jarvis, Shoshone stopped the point after attempt.

The final points of the game came on a 25-yard pass from Jarvis to Lon Thompson, who was in the end zone. Carl Taylor plunged in for the extra point.

Keyes Breaks Mark, Purdue Rips Gophers

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — Purdue buried Minnesota's Gophers 41-12 Saturday in rain and mud, and its fabulous Leroy Keyes broke a 24-year-old Big Ten one-point scoring record with his 12th, 13th, and 14th conference touchdowns of the year. Purdue came from behind twice in the first half before leading Minnesota's 11-0.

Skyline Claims League Crown

IDAHO FALLS (AP) — Skyline walked off with the Eastern Idaho Conference championship and two travelling trophies Saturday afternoon by beating Idaho Falls 20-14.

For Coach Vernon Ravastan's Grizzlies, it was the second time they had dumped the Tigers in the annual Veteran's day classic that began last season with the inception of Skyline High School.

Skyline jumped into an early lead by scoring two touchdowns in the first quarter and one in the second-to-hold a 20-0 edge at halftime, but the Idaho Falls defense stiffened up and the offense began clicking to give Idaho Falls two touchdowns in the last half of the game and frighten the Grizzlies.

plays later Hopkins ended it with a two-yard buck lateral run. The big play in the drive was a 43-yard scamper by Hollifield.

Again Wendell replied with a march, getting the score when Lancaster squinted loose and rolled 35 yards.

Late in the fourth quarter Randy Hopkins stopped another Wendell drive with a pass interception at the five-yard line. Gooding drove for its last score in 12 plays. Hollifield got 19 yards and Dwight Shipley added 11 on a reverse to get the ball out of trouble. The touchdown came when Hobby Olander went in from the one.

Stauffer-Capps Pass Nets Win In Last Minutes

Syracuse Rips Holy Cross; Csonka Stars

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Syracuse wrapped touchdown drives around a record breaking performance by big Larry Csonka and unleashed a tough defense to throttle Holy Cross 41-7 Saturday.

The victory, which counted in the Cross State Conference standings, averaged an earlier 24-13 loss at the hands of the Indians.

The combination of Jim Stauffer and Brad Capps gave the Tigers the winning touchdown with 3:34 left in the game and Stauffer threw to Capps for the decisive extra point.

The high-charging Orange defense held the Crusaders to minus total yardage through three periods, set up three touchdowns by forcing a short punt; intercepting a pass and recovering a fumble.

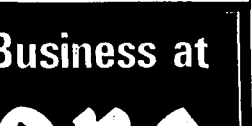

The Indians had just stopped the Tigers deep in Buhl's territory but the Indians fumbled right back to Jerome.

The Indians scored their line touchdown early in the final quarter on an intercepted pass by Malcolm Perkins on Jerome's 10-yard line and ran in for the score. The extra point attempt fell short.

The first three quarters were a defensive battle with both teams having excellent opportunities to score but no knockout punch.

The 20 carries by the Orange workhorse brought his season total to 211, breaking his own record of 197.

Quarterback Rick Cassata, who scored twice and completed 14 of 25 passes for 138 yards, gave Syracuse a score early in the first period on a one-yard sneak after a Holy Cross fumble.

Old Tradition Gets New Twist At Buhl Social

By NORMA HERZINGER

BUHL — The completed package was wrapped as beautifully as the decorative gifts on the mantel, but the contents were a little different — it contained the guest of honor.

Strange, you say. Well, not when you know the whole story. It all amounts to a new twist to an old tradition, a bridal shower. Instead of the usual run-of-the-mill parlor games, chit chat and opening the gifts that ordinarily come with this type of social, the hostess, Mrs. Andy (Barbara) Anderson, Buhl, came up with some new ideas and new inspirations for a party honoring Nancy Roberts.

If you are a designing woman with all sorts of good ideas you would have fit in perfectly with the 26 guests, as they were given packaging materials, ribbons and bows, packages of white crepe paper, pins and a piece of net, and told, "Be creative. We are going to make a wedding gown for the bride-elect."

Now for the average group of women this might have been an impossible task, not knowing just where to start, but not for these bright-eye party-goers, they set out with great vigor to make a wedding gown. And make it they did.

They draped Miss Roberts with yards and yards of crepe paper and came up with a complete paper wedding gown including the lily points on the long tapered sleeves. And to think I have difficulty with my sewing when I have a complete pattern with full detailed instructions.

Guests were sectioned off into three groups to make the gown, the train and the veil. The finished results were astounding, to say the least. From a distance you couldn't tell it from the real McCoy.

Miss Roberts modeled the gown for the group and to add the finishing touch, Mrs. Anderson provided the blue garter.

Another highlight of the evening was an original reading on the life of Miss Roberts, composed and read by her mother, Mrs. William Edward Roberts, Buhl.

Have you ever tried to sit for two hours without crossing your legs, even at the ankles? Well, this was another diversion of the evening, and, believe (Continued On Page B-3)

THE GUEST OF HONOR, Nancy Roberts, stands very still as guests drape her with yards and yards of white crepe paper to fashion her a paper wedding gown. The party in honor of Miss Roberts was held at the home of Mrs. Andy (Barbara) Anderson, Buhl.

A NEW TWIST to an old tradition was applied at a recent bridal shower in honor of Nancy Roberts as guests assembled the paper wedding gown worn by Miss Roberts. Guests constructed the gown in about one hour with crepe paper, ribbon and bows, pins and a piece of net.

LEGS AND BOWS! To sit for the entire evening without crossing your legs was the object of this game. A clothespin was attached to the hem of each guest's dress and the minute she saw someone cross her legs she could confiscate her clothespin. This was the only game played at the party, and it is surprising how difficult it is to keep from crossing your legs.

Corsage Making Program Given For Jay-C-Ettes

Buhl — Bonnie Johnson presented a program on flower arranging and corsage making when members of the Rupert, Twin Falls and Buhl Jay-C-Ettes met at the Buhl Jaycee Room for the November district meeting.

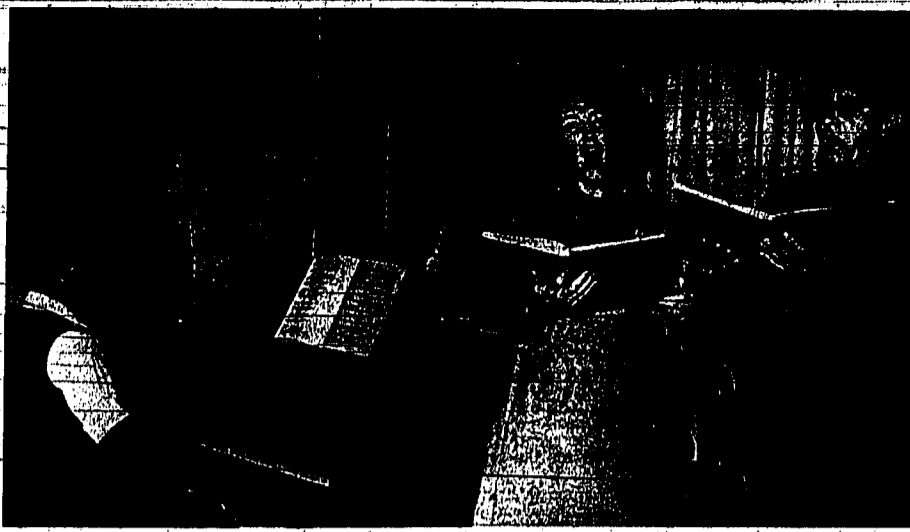

Mrs. Johnson fashioned a corsage from leaves gathered in her yard and presented it to Mrs. Darryl McRoberts.

Mrs. Dick Messersmith, ninth district vice president, urged the clubs to send as many delegates to mid-year convention as possible. She also noted that the Twin Falls Jaycees are making a bid for the 1968 state convention and they would like to have all the clubs in the district wear costumes to mid-year.

During the business meeting the presidents from Buhl, Twin Falls and Rupert gave their semi-annual reports. The group discussed ideas for the forthcoming Christmas welfare projects and ideas concerning the state secondary project which is acquainting the public with the growing problem of social diseases.

It was suggested that the district host a family sledding party as a group to cut Christmas trees.

Rupert won the gift for "man miles" in coming to the meeting.

PRACTICING SELECTIONS they will present at the Twin Falls Music Club program at 8 p.m. Monday at the VWCA are Mrs. Mary Walker, center, and Jay Fowles, Shoshone, accompanied by Mrs. Robert Harvey, Mrs. Helen Thomas, Kimberly, assisted by Mrs. Walker, Mrs. Jackie Westendorf, Flor, and Mr. Fowles will present the program on the life and music of Puccini. The Twin Falls Music Club is affiliated with the National Federation of Music Clubs.

The next district meeting is in January.

Best Costume Prize Given

Old Tradition Gets New Twist At Buhl Social

(Continued from Page B-1) mo. It isn't easy — especially for an office gal who crosses our legs the minute we stick them under the desk. And when you are told the rules of the game and instructed not to do this, it is always more likely you will.

Each guest was given a clothespin tied with a pretty green and pink ribbon. This clothespin was attached to the hem of each guest's dress and the minute she saw someone cross her legs she could confiscate her clothespin. Then of course, the one with the most pins won. This was the only game played at the shower, and it was really quite hilarious to watch as guests very unconsciously crossed their legs, then realized what they had done.

A more talented group of people I have never met, as several of them were called upon during the evening for special entertainment, including Miss Roberts and her sister, Gloria Roberts, who sang several folk songs. Presiding at the elaborately decorated tea table were Mrs. Lee Harvey and Mrs. Larry Hulme, sisters of Miss Roberts. Pat Anderson, daughter of the hostess, assisted the honoree in opening her gifts.

Miss Roberts was married to James Edward Guest, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Mullon Guest, Twin Falls, in rites Oct. 28.

They are granddaughters of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Griggs Sr., La Grange, Ore., and Mr. and Mrs. D. E. (Dick) Richards, Scappoose, Ore.

Mr. and Mrs. Griggs announce the engagement of Karen to Thomas Stephen Gill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Gill, West Allis, Wis., and grandson of Mrs. Laura Krythe, Milwaukee. Mr. Gill is a chemical technician employed by the Allis-Chalmers Co., and will complete his studies in dramatics at BYU in Provo next year where the couple will reside.

Karen is a Brigham Young University senior in youth leadership and a member of the Girl Scouts of America. Their spring marriage will be solemnized in the Idaho Falls LDS Temple.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gill hosted an engagement dinner honoring them in the West Allis home.

The engagement of Gayle to George Earl Trenkle, Pocatello, was an event of the ISU homecoming festivities and proclaimed at the homes of their parents. Late summer nuptials are planned in the Shoshone Ward LDS Church.

Mr. Trenkle, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold D. Perron, Shoshone, is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon F. Perron and Mr. and Mrs. George Merritt, Shoshone, and Mrs. Maude Trenkle, Denver, Colo. A junior majoring in biological science, he plays tackle on the Idaho State University varsity football team. He has been employed by the Bureau of Land Management the

DON'T FORGET MODELING EVERY WEEK AT THE ROGERSON

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: Do I have the right to insist that my boy friend remove the tattoo from over his heart? It says Sharon. Before we started going together, he went with this girl named Sharon. I never knew her, but I am very jealous of her. My boy friend says you can never remove a tattoo once it's on. But I have heard that you can. I suppose he could cover it with a piece of adhesive tape, or maybe go back for some more tattooing and change the Sharon to some kind of a logo or design.

Anyway, I can't see marrying a guy who has a tattoo on his chest. He says it doesn't bother him. Well, it bothers me. Am I wrong to feel this way, and isn't there some way to get it off?

MILLIE

DEAR HURT: You don't say how old your sister-in-law is, but if she's more than 10 she's a nitwit. Don't discuss it with your husband. And don't take it up with your mother-in-law. Maybe she said it and maybe she didn't. Avoid your sister-in-law. Either she's too unrelatable to be belovéd, or she's a first class troublemaker.

DEAR ABBY: We are another pair of "in-laws" who are called nothing by our daughter-in-law. After 2 years we are still greeted with "Hi." When we told our son we would like to be called something (after all, even a dog has a name) he said he'd mention it to his wife, but apparently he never has.

Perhaps some good came of this, because we finally woke up. For years we deprived ourselves of luxuries so our son could have a college education. We never took vacations because we were saving for him. My husband isn't too well, and now I've persuaded him to retire early and enjoy himself instead of worrying about how much he will leave to our son and his family.

It seems that addressing us in some half-way respectful manner poses a tremendous "problem" to our son's wife. If she thinks this is a problem, wait until she reads our will!

"HIS" IN-LAWS

DEAR MILLIE: Assuming your boy friend doesn't still have Sharon under his skin, he could easily get her off his chest. Tell him that a skin specialist can remove the tattoo. And he won't have to hold still for any further needling.

DEAR ABBY: The other evening while I was preparing supper, my husband's unmarried sister dropped in. As she often does, she asked me to call her mother and tell her a lie as to why she wasn't going to be home for supper that night. I told her if her mother found out that I lied to her she wouldn't think much of me as a person, and I just didn't want to do it.

She replied, "Well, she doesn't think much of you anyway. She is always talking about the way you dress, and the way you do your hair and your make-up—how overdone it is."

Abby, I was crushed. I always try to look my best and people are always complimenting me on how fashionable I dress, and how well-groomed I look. I never thought I would lie. I have been just heartsick about it. Should I discuss it with my husband? Should I take it up with my mother-in-law, or what?

HURT

DEAR ABBY: As I sit here watching my beautiful baby boy while he no cheerfully laughs and plays with his little stuffed doggy, I want very much to know something.

Do fathers of illegitimate children ever think of their precious offspring? If you can't answer my question, maybe they can't.

Thank you.

A GIANT WEDGE shoved into North America's deepest gorge slows water and produces 425,000 kilowatts of power by controlling its flow. The concrete and steel wedge that is the Hells Canyon Dam was built to its full height in 18 months despite the problems encountered by the narrow and craggy gorge. Hell's Canyon Dam rises 330 feet and contains enough concrete to build a two-lane highway from Twin Falls to Butte, Montana.

WHEN FINISHED the Hells Canyon Dam alone will produce 425,000 kilowatt hours of electricity per hour. That is four times the total output of the entire Idaho Power operation in 1947. In that year its total output was about 100,000 hours. The 425,000 kilowatt figure is more impressive when one realizes that the one dam alone could provide all the power needs, totally, for a city the size of San Diego, or for two the size of Salt Lake City, or for 25 cities the size of Twin Falls. It has enough power in output to run three times the irrigation pumps in the Magic Valley.

At The Bottom Of The Canyon The Men Never Saw Heaven, And Hell Was Every Day . . .

Sunday, Nov. 12, 1967

Twin Falls Times-News C-1

By JAN A. SAINSHURY
Times-News Feature Editor
Hells Canyon is not spelled "Holl's Canyon."

There is no apostrophe—and if you've seen it spelled with one, it was wrong.

"The people who live here," explains John Skow writing in the July 1, 1967, "Saturday Evening Post," "are careful to point out that it should be spelled 'Hells,' not 'Holl's.' Not a canyon belonging to hell—that would not be especially frightening—but a canyon of many hells, each man-to-his-own."

But Hells Canyon has changed drastically; its transformation from a natural wilderness to a gorge divided by concrete and steel, with motorboats purling on backed up waters where once a narrow ribbon of white water ran, is now nearly complete.

That the dams are now a reality fails to make the controversy surrounding them since their beginnings 20 years ago a moot point.

Dams, like people, are molded by events surrounding their birth and growth.

"In December, 1950," reports Theodore Saloutos, Professor of History, University of California, in "Current History," May, 1958, "the Idaho Power Company, a Maine corporation, applied to the Federal Power Commission for a license to build a dam at Oxbow, stating among other things that this was only one of a series of low dams contemplated in the area. This immediately brought protests from the United States Department of the Interior and others sponsoring the high dam. Subsequent proceedings before the Federal Power Commission extended over a period of four and one-half years."

But there are three dams controlling the flow of the Snake River through the mighty Hells Canyon in existence today. Brownlee, Oxbow, and Hells Canyon—and if they still provoke arguments between advocates of public power and those supporting private power—they do so in the midst of concrete proof that private power won its battle with the public power sector of this country.

Three great dams are impressive.

Their engineering prowess is astounding:

And something will be learned from their construction, as it is with all great projects built by man. There are things that happened in the narrow gorge at Hells Canyon that only the engineers working there will take note of. It will be recorded in engineering books as an extraordinary undertaking in the history of dam building.

Something is always learned from such great construction. The first hard hats on a large construction job, worn in the interest of safety, were worn on the construction of the Golden Gate Bridge. And other firsts also crept into engineering books from that great project.

And so it will be with Hells Canyon.

The engineering books will be cross-indexed with the difficulties encountered by man in his efforts to pour concrete and inhibit the flow of water to do his bidding. And because of the four men who died building the Hells Canyon dam, four other men on projects to be built a hundred years from now will have a slightly better chance to survive the high cat-walks, the tons of loose rock, and the mistakes which have been made for years without anyone knowing they were mistakes.

The difficulty of it all can be summed up in the words of one worker who said, "How do you pour concrete to build a dam when it's an all-day job just getting there?"

But that was years ago; today a modern highway belies the difficulties encountered by those who first had to cut a trail in order to cut a path, in order to cut a narrow road, in order to build a dam.

Project upon project had to be finished before the project the men were there to build could even begin.

And when the cutting started, the controversy increased. Before man had taken his machines into the deepest gorge in North America, those who supported any and all actions to keep nature natural were at work to stop the destruction that would have to come. And when the actual work began the cries of those people rang with genuine feeling for country that was wild and would be wild no longer.

Ten years ago in "the Aug., 1957, 'Reader's Digest,' William Hard, in an article called "Pacific Northwest Stands On Its Own Feet," echoed the feelings of thousands when he said, "For now some seven years the federal power advocates have been imploring the congress to authorize the building of a federal Hells-Canyon-dam. There is no more persistent political effort in the United States. It is energetically supported by a quite thrilling Congressman from Idaho named Gracie Splot. She is widely known in Washington as "Hell's Bells Gracie." She is immortalized by letters which appear on a Hells Canyon cliff and which says: "Gracie Splot Here. . . is it not . . . curious to hear advocates of a federal dam at Hells Canyon complaining because the Idaho Power Co. could have received a temporary deferral of taxes? At present rates the Idaho Power Co. will pay 600 million dollars in federal and state taxes during the course of its license."

"The federal dam, being owned by the government would never pay any taxes at all."

"The Pacific Northwest is right now my favorite region. It is producing men who can stand on their own local feet."

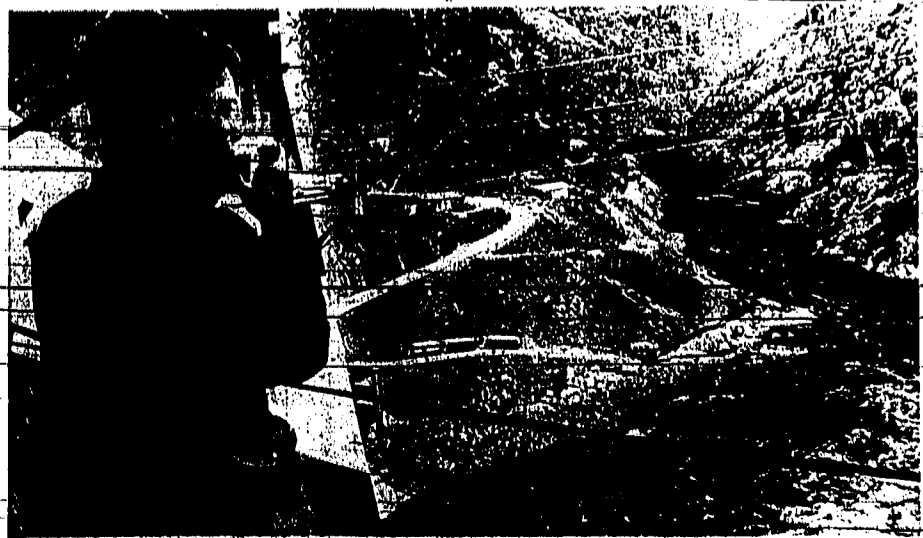

And down through the years that sentiment has grown among many and the rift between those men and the public power advocates has also grown. The issue of cheap power coming to the front as an issue affecting all who live in Idaho.

One of the outspoken of all who attack the private power efforts to keep public power away is John Gerassi, former editor of "Rolling Stone" and "Newsweek" magazines, and a professor of Journalism at New York University. In a book written in 1966, and published by Macmillan Co., Gerassi reports, "Idaho Power Company is not an Idahoan company. It is owned mostly by Middle Atlantic and New England companies—70 per cent of the common stock."

"Only 7 per cent of the stock is held by people or firms in the Idaho area. It has no interest in providing Idahoans with cheaper service."

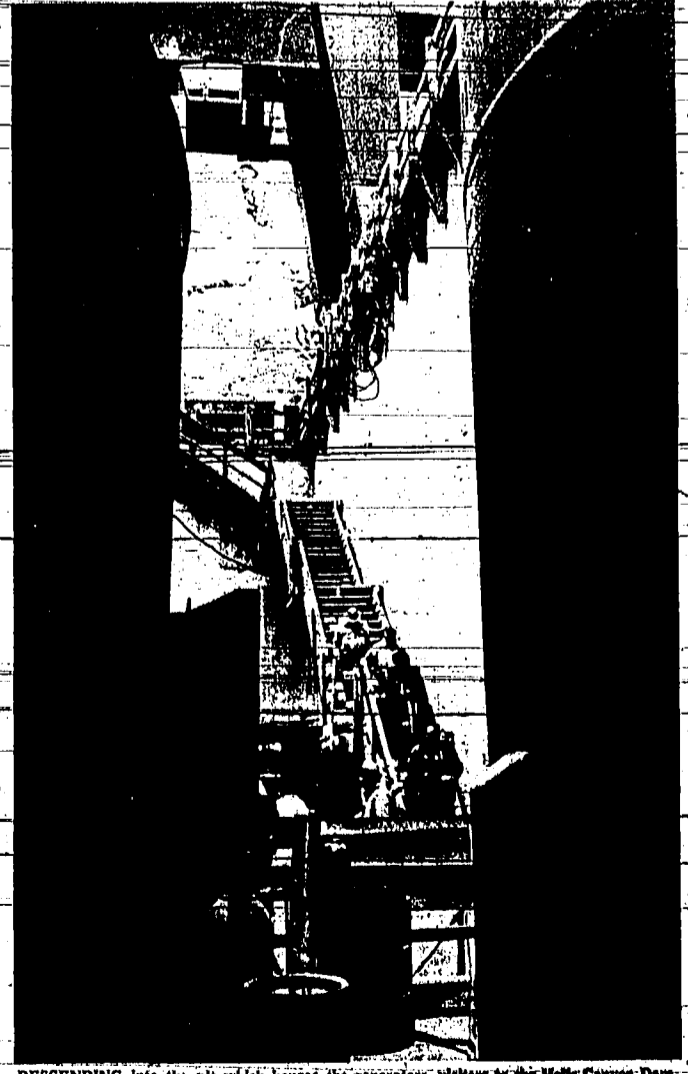

"It is quite understandable that the power companies in neighboring states do not want BPA to expand its service to Idaho. If it did, new industries might go to Idaho rather than to the neighboring states. And if Idaho Power does not expand to meet market demands, it will have to buy subsidiary power from the power companies in neighboring states. Furthermore, such Idaho companies as J. R. Simplot, which use the wet-acid process to produce phosphatic

A YOUNG BOY visiting the dam takes pictures of its magnificent surroundings. Few visit the dam without taking their cameras, and few return from the harsh and rugged Hells Canyon with film they haven't used. Although the open house was held last Sunday, visitors will not find the road open all the way to the third dam, Hells Canyon Dam. The road stops short by about a mile although the dam is still in view. Construction work continuing until next spring will prevent visitors at this facility until then. However, Brownlee and Oxbow dams are open to visitors.

DESCENDING into the pit which houses the generators, visitors to the Hells Canyon Dam were able to see the rotation of the huge shafts which generate the tremendous amounts of power. Framing the staircases on either side are the housings for two generators. The massive proportions can be seen in the first picture on page three. At Hells Canyon there are three of the units—only one is in operation at the present time, after the "first power" ceremony held last Sunday.

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

The children of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Richardson, BURLEY, surprised them on their 60th wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Richardson were married Oct. 30, 1907, at Greeley, Colo. Following their marriage they moved to Oklahoma where they lived for one and one-half years. In the spring of 1908 they moved to the Burley area where they homesteaded an 80-acre farm, east of what is now DEELO. The farm they homesteaded has been their home.

The couple has one son, and three daughters who all attended the 60th wedding anniversary. They have nine grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

The highlight of the occasion was Loyd Wanzor, Caldwell, Idaho National Fiddler Champion, who played many old time tunes, accompanied by his daughter, Cheryl.

Relatives attending the affair were Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Richardson, (a son), Caldwell; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Penrod, ALBION; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gummerson, RUPERT; Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Turner, BURLEY, (all three daughters).

Grandchildren attending were Dorothy Richardson, Caldwell; Sgt. Revolver Fewkes, Mountain Home Air Force Base; Leslie Turner, and Bob Turner, both Burley; Mr. and Mrs. B. Fuller, Buddy Fuller, Denise Fuller, and Lisa Fuller, all TWIN FALLS; Mr. and Mrs. Lee Cannon, and Kiri Cannon, all GRACE.

Other guests were Mrs. W. D. Taylor, BURLEY; Cathy Doeck, CALDWELL, and Sgt. Dale Williams, Mountain Home Air Force Base.

Danny Churchman, 8-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Churchman, will wear a "tricky" Halloween costume. Just before the bell rang at school Halloween day, for the children to return to class and their Halloween party, he fell off the monkey bars at school and broke his arm.

That pretty well fixed up his plans to go out with friends to "trick or treat."

However, Dana Newby and Keith Mabbitt, who live nearby, volunteered to collect a few treats for him during their tour. They gathered the materials en route to the Lincoln school carnival.

There they gave the sack of treats for Danny to his sister, Stacy. She took it into wrap it in her coat in the girl's room, where she was sure it would be safe until she went home.

The final trick of the day for Danny was when Stacy went to get her coat to find the sack of treats for her mud brother had been stolen, "and to think it had to be a girl, too."

Bill Whitton, HEYBURN, thought his wife, Irene, was only joking about seeing a five-point buck lying down over yonder and handed her his 300 Savage rifle with casual instructions to "shoot it in the head, dear," during a recent hunting trip. Whitton knew that his wife

The Money Box

BY FRANK SCHELL

From L. S. Gooding, Idaho: "Will you please give your opinion of this coin in your Money Box?" The letter is accompanied by a pencil tracing of a coin.

Answer: Your coin is a 10-centime piece of Napoleon I, Emperor of France. The "10-Cent" on the reverse actually has a period after the "10" which means it is an abbreviation of "centime" rather than "cent." The coin was struck between 1804 and 1815. Since the rate of exchange is about .002 cents for a franc, and the franc contains 100 centimes, this coin's face value is practically nothing. However, collector value of the coin in brand new condition is fifty cents.

From L. A. Twin Falls: "I have a coin made of copper, about the size of our fifty-cent piece. One side has a picture of a man dressed in old-fashioned clothes, and around it the words 'Province du bas Canada' and 'Deux Sous'. On the other side is what looks like a wreath, with a big '20' in it, and it reads 'Bank Token' and 'One Penny', with the date 1837. Can you tell me about it?"

Answer: This is not a coin, but a token. It was not issued by the Canadian government but by the Bank of Montreal, The Quebec Bank and the City Bank. The picture on the obverse (front) was not actually a person, but since the engraver dressed the man in the clothes of a fur-trader, the people of Canada identified the figure with that of a well-known Canadian pioneer, Louis James Papineau, and the coins were called "Papineaus" for years. These tokens were issued because of a shortage of small change but had no legal status.

Most Canadian money has always been made with both French and English wording on it, and the tokens are no exception. The "deux sous" on one side, and the "One Penny" on the other constitute the same value. This particular token can be bought for about two dollars in uncirculated condition, but it is not scarce and in the lower grades is worth very little.

From R. D. Burley: "I have found a peculiar Canadian penny. The queen's head is on one side, but the other has some kind of bird on it, and it has two dates — 1807 and 1807. Is this a real coin — and is it very valuable?"

Answer: Sorry — it is worth one cent — less here in the United States, since our rate of exchange would reduce the value. Canada was formed in 1867 and is now celebrating its one-hundredth anniversary. The first of January, this year, a new set of coinage was issued in Canada, commemorating this event. All the reverses of Canadian coinage were changed for this one year, and the small cent has a depiction of a dove on it, with the two dates. After this year, their coinage will return to the conventional "maple leaf" on the cent. The coin is in constant circulation in Canada, and is the current cent, so has no value at all, except face value.

From Mr. C. L. Twin Falls: "Your column last week carried a statement which said there were still some silver dollars in the mint. This can't be true, since the silver certificates have to be redeemed with a dollar, and if they had any they would have to give them to anyone who presented a silver certificate. I think your information is wrong."

Answer: My information is correct and I will have to disagree with you.

The Mint does have about 4 million dollars retained in the Treasury and they do not have to redeem Silver Certificates with silver dollars, since the law has been changed to allow redemption with a dollar's worth of silver. Thus they can pay off in silver granules, silver dust or silver bars, as they prefer, but they do not have to give you a silver dollar.

Sorry — but that's the law — and the government will hang onto the rest of the silver dollars or melt them into bullion, as they prefer.

(Questions on coins and currency should be sent to The Money Box, c/o The Times-News, Twin Falls, Idaho 83301.)

3 Ex-State Employees To Make Appeals

BOISE (AP) — Appeals for reinstatement are to be heard Monday from three former Idaho state employees by the Idaho Personnel Commission — including that of former chief meat inspector Dr. C. H. Kennedy.

The commission Thursday postponed until Monday its review of Kennedy's appeal. A commission hearing officer took evidence in the case several weeks ago, but the group is expected to hear oral arguments before reaching a decision.

Kennedy was dismissed last summer. Appeals are expected to be heard from former liquor dispensary manager Curtis Kasper, former Idaho Falls and former state patrolman William Green of Nampa.

They said the main objections they have found at the local airport are trees which have grown since the last survey in 1965.

Anything that is more than 150 feet above the elevation of the center of the runway is considered an obstruction, even if the natural lay of the land climbs 150 feet above that point.

Purpose of the surveys, which are conducted at all U.S. airports, is to determine what type of craft can safely land in and out of the airports.

Airport Survey Being Conducted

Two members of the Coast and Geodetic Survey, operated under the auspices of the Federal Aviation Agency, are at Twin Falls Municipal Airport for a periodic inspection.

The two men, Darrell Wilkes and Dick Dow, both based at Rockville, Md., should wind up the survey by the end of this

Lynda Is Mailing Out Invitations

WASHINGTON (AP) — Engraved wedding invitations with the presidential coat of arms are being mailed this weekend to some 500 friends and relatives for the marriage of Lynda Bird Johnson and Marine Capt. Charles S. Robb.

The White House staff has been busy hand addressing the invitations.

Lynda Johnson, whose wedding is to be Dec. 9, is the first daughter of a President to be married in the White House since 1914 and the invitations are a collector's item.

Guests also are receiving a small card inviting them to the White House reception following the ceremony and the traditional smaller response card is included.

VISITORS ARE DWARFED by the concrete and steel of the generator housings. The three generators sit side by side and produce the 425,000 kilowatts of power. The only one now in operation can be seen only partially in the foreground. Hells Canyon Dam is the final dam of the proposed three to be constructed. It is the downstream dam in the complex which cost $230 million, and will ultimately produce 1.1 million kilowatts.

THE EARLY STAGES of development in the Hells Canyon Dam show the complex interior of the dam in its beginning stages of construction. Concrete now covers the three huge tubes seen in the left center of the photograph that carry water into the giant turbines. Much of the superstructure can be seen in the photograph, and in the background men work where water now works to produce electricity.

An Engineering Trilogy: The Impossible At Brownlee, Oxbow And Hells Canyon

"It is ironic," continues Gerassi, "that today Idaho is the most backward of the Western states in power consumption — ironic because Idaho's greatest Senator, William E. Borah, a Republican and staunch free-enterpriser, was well aware half a century ago of the dangers of leaving electric power in the hands of private companies. . . . Senator Frank Church agrees, and he has been trying to expand BPA power by action in Congress. But Idaho Power Company disagrees. It does not want to expand too quickly, for it does not want Idaho to get new industries. 'Why should we bring in new industries?' one of the Boise executives shouted . . . when I asked him why he supported Idaho Power. 'Start new industries and before you know it, you've got unions, and then you've got black men coming in, and then there's no end to it. Drugs, prostitutes, juvenile delinquents. What the hell do you want new industry for?'"

And for those advocates of public power, who favor little or no increase of industry in the state the question is a hard one to answer.

And so a third faction opposing both private and public power, with advocates of both got into the act. They were the ones who wanted no dam at all . . . at least not on one of the country's most majestic and wild rivers.

Despite economic statements pointing out that the dams provide better, lower cost electricity, while the Idaho Power Co. already gives needed tax revenue to local, state and federal governments, which the company says will ultimately total some $10 million annually, those who love the untamed land that man gradually erodes away with his machines, still do not agree.

Only four months ago, in the July 1, 1967, issue of the Saturday Evening Post, John Skow in an article called, "Farewell to Hells Canyon," said, "When the so-called Snake River is tamed by a new dam the stark beauty of Hells Canyon will be buried forever under tons of water — and a large part of America's wild heritage will die with it.

"A river dies by drowning, and the Snake is to be drowned in its Hells canyon stretch by . . . dams, one a 400-footer in the canyon itself, and the other a 600-foot dam 58 miles down stream whose waters will lap at the base of the first.

"The only purpose of the Hells Canyon dams," says Skow, "is to make electricity. Their reservoirs will not be used to irrigate farmland, and flood control on the Snake and Columbia rivers is well handled by other dams. . . . It is always possible to build a dam, but it is not possible to make a wild river. The arguments were not raised, however, and now there is no longer any point to them."

But the story isn't told by saying that man has destroyed beauty in his quest for more power to light someone's dream. For there is beauty in what man builds . . . real beauty.

When the Golden Gate Bridge was first built primary opposition came not from those who said it was economically foolish, but from those who said it would destroy the beauty of the bay. And today one of the great sights in the world is the 4200 foot center span of the mighty Golden Gate.

What man makes to control his environment can be beautiful or ugly, and there are a thousand designs for every one selected. The initial plan presented by the designing engineer on the Golden Gate Bridge was a hideous combination of a cantilever and a suspension bridge . . . looking much like a monster trying to touch both shores.

In the canyon of many hells, "each man to his own," is a different story.

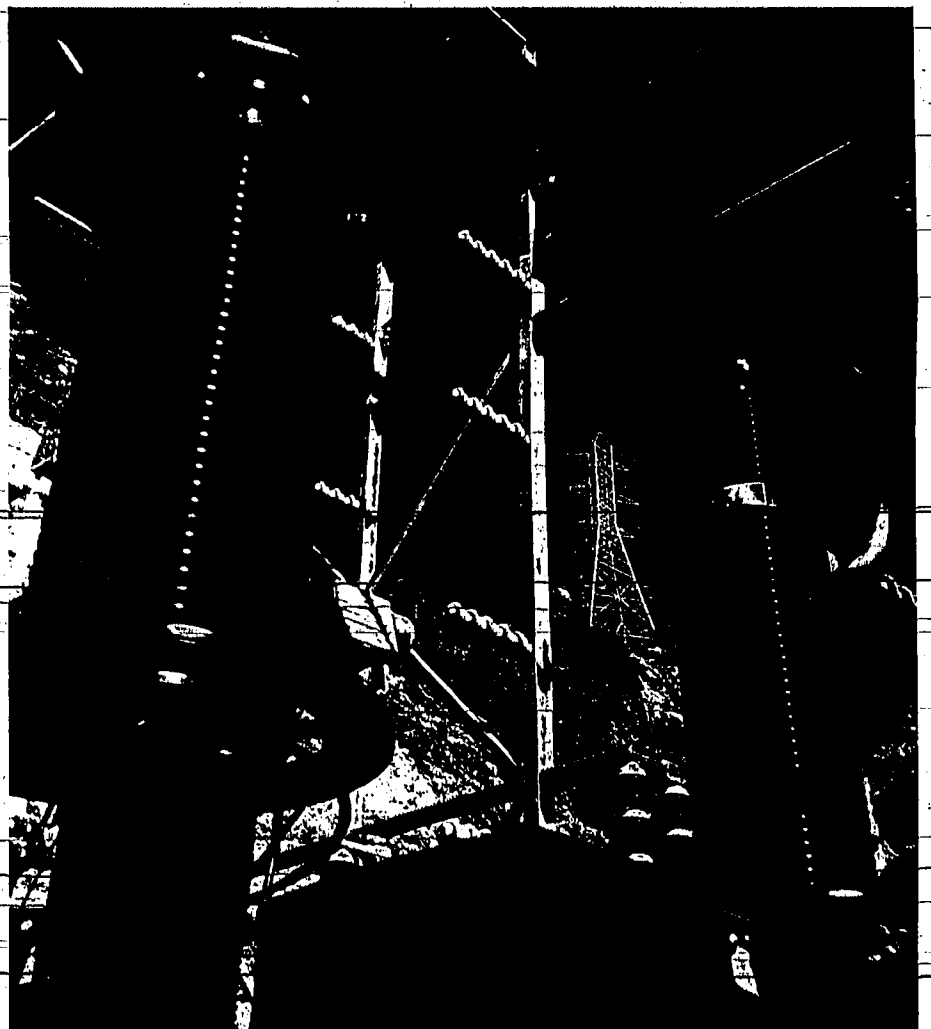

No one man should be able to stand near the gigantic towers of concrete and the cavernous steel housings for the massive generators and not feel the vibrations of man's accomplishments above those of the whirling turbines.

Public or private, nature's beauty or man's, it is a matter of choice. Not the individuals, but the groups of individuals which make up states and nations.

Hells Canyon and its complex of three man-made dams will be complete next spring. It was built by the Idaho Power Company, and it is a most magnificent sight to see.

TWO HAPPY MEN smile broadly as they learn that nearly 10,000 visitors will have seen the Hells Canyon facilities during the open house held this past weekend. At the left is T. E. Roach, Chairman of the Board of Idaho Power, and with him is the Idaho Power Company president Albert Carlson, who described the Hells Canyon project as the "culmination of our efforts to keep faith with the area we serve."

CIRCUIT-BREAKER BUSHINGS in the switchyard on the face of Hells Canyon Dam provide a picture window for the first steel tower of the 230,000-volt transmission line that carries electricity to tie with Idaho Power Company's interconnected system at Pallett Junction. The line extends eight miles up and over a mountain on the Oregon side of the narrow gorge. Thirty towers in the new line were erected with a jet-powered helicopter.

MRS. GRACE KEVEREN, Librarian of the Twin Falls Senior High School, demonstrates a new microfilm reading machine. The Senior High School has purchased three of the units and has in microfilm many magazines dating back to 1880. The units are the only ones of the kind in this immediate area, and no other high school in Idaho is believed to have this equipment.

How Do You Read A Magazine When It Comes In A Little Yellow Box?

Have you ever looked through a magazine in a public library, or your high school library when you were in school, only to find out that the page you needed had been ripped out?

Well, if you have, you're among millions of others who complain about those who know no better than to destroy valuable reference materials.

But there is something being done about it, and it's called the microfilm reader.

Twin Falls High School is one of the few high schools to be equipped with three of these reading units available to their students.

According to John Lawrence, the principal, and Mrs. Grace Keveren, librarian, the students are reacting very well to the new study aid.

The school has purchased three of the units, at a relatively low price of $100 each. And they have a growing list of microfilmed material to go with them.

The machines are in full operation this week which also happens to be National Education Week. Students at the Twin Falls High School are now able to look at any of 20 well known and respected magazines including one in full color.

And not only can they read current issues in the library, but the microfilmed copies are not limited to last year or the year before, but go back a full five years in copy depth, and the years 1960 and 1961 are now on order.

The magazines now available to be read on the microfilm readers at the high school are: American, Atlantic Monthly, Business Week, Current History, Harper's, Life (in color), Mun-cal America, Nation, Natural History, New Republic, Saturday Review, Science, Science News Letter, Senior Scholastic, Scientific American, Theatre Arts, Time, U.S. News and World Report, U.N. Monthly Chronicle, and Newsweek.

Gov. Connally Won't Seek Fourth Term

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas Gov. John Connally, one of President Johnson's closest friends and political allies, announced today he will not seek a fourth term.

Connally told a news conference: "I have reluctantly concluded that after the drain of what will have been eight years of vigorous public service, I no longer can be assured—in my own mind that I could bring to the office for another two years the enthusiasm, the resilience, the patience that my conscience would demand and the state would deserve."

"I therefore do not intend to be a candidate for re-election as governor of Texas."

Connally's decision could have a bearing on Johnson's chances in Texas in the 1968 presidential elections.

The governor, secretary of the Navy under President John F. Kennedy, has been Johnson's campaign manager in some previous political races and was expected to be a powerful influence for Johnson by his mere presence on the general election ballot with the President.

The microfilm is 35mm, and comes in small boxes the regular size of which makes them ideal for filing. A full year's issue of Time magazine fits in two small boxes taking up less room in a filing cabinet than a transistor radio of standard dimensions. "Pages" do not rip, and locating a particular issue is simplicity itself. The "reader" simply runs the microfilm through a guide into the machine and on to a second take-up reel and flips a switch. A manual control lets him move the pages one after another on to the viewing screen, or whizz by a dozen pages or so, to the one he wants. It is a simple way to do research and saves librarians a thousand headaches a day.

Expensive? Not really. In point of fact most of the microfilms and readers over a short period of time cost less than binding the periodicals would.

As pointed out earlier, the readers cost $100 each and project the image onto a large screen for easy reading. "Life Magazine" comes in full color at only $38.00 for the full year's issue. "Time" costs only $22.00 a year, black and white. And the "Atlantic Monthly" costs $7.00 for a year's issue on microfilm.

One cabinet about half the size of an office desk can contain 23 different magazines with issues from 1955 to 1964.

That same amount of shelf space in a school library is almost prohibitive.

No more lost magazines? That's right. Unless of course the student has a microfilm reader at home.

Students Are Listening To Mr. Ed, A Talking School Bus

By BURL OSBORNE
GUNNISON, Colo. (AP)—Mr. Ed is a talking school bus, and after more than a month on the job, students and teachers alike are listening to what he has to say.

If he keeps his job — and it appears that he will — talking buses may crop up throughout the country where educational leaders are watching progress of the project.

Mr. Ed is a brainstorm of a teachers group here, aimed at providing educational, or falling that, entertaining diversion for students as they are carried to and from school.

Some of the 54 students taking part in the experiment spend as much as two hours daily on the bus, making the 32-mile trip between home and school.

Now, as an alternate to the rowdy jostling that has dismayed bus drivers since bus driving began, students can don earphones and tune in on any one of seven tape recordings, or a radio station.

What they hear on the tapes might be the story of Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs, for the first-grade set, or the story of John H. Glenn Jr.'s flight into space, or a comedy monologue for the older students. Or, in the case of many teen-age students, rock the nod.

Project leaders are watching for changes in behavior, interest and attitude by the students, said James R. Ralno, the acting project director.

Behavior already has changed, he said. "We're no longer plugged with having to quiet the kids down and get them to school."

They're not nearly the disciplinary problem they were," he added.

School administrators also are watching student reaction. If the report is good at the end of the year-long test, it seems likely the system of audio-equipped buses will spread. Ralno said about 20 letters of inquiry already have been received from throughout the United States and Canada.

The bus was named Mr. Ed after J. Lee I. L. O. L. "The Talking Hours" by the committee of teachers that drew up the plan and attracted the $43,600 federal grant to finance it.

Water Film Is Shown To Declo PTA

DECLO — "Land, Water and People" was the film shown by George Forscher to members of the Declo PTA Wednesday night at the grade school.

The Southern Idaho Water Users Association was instrumental in organizing the material for the film which encourages the raising of the American Falls Dam to utilize the 1,400,000 acre foot of water currently being wasted through Millner Dam runoff.

Mrs. Norman Smyer and Mrs. Dale Kidd reported on the recent State PTA Convention held in Twin Falls.

The Declo High School's Home Economics Club, the Future Homemakers of America, was discussed by Nadine Thornton, president, and LaAnn Hurst.

They related the goals of the organization and some of the future activities planned.

Everett Pardow, president, announced the room count prizes were won by Mrs. Claire Peterson's second grade and Mr. Keith Wilson's 10th grade.

KILLARNEY LAKE WATERS on the Coeur d'Alene River were purchased from private owners by the American Game Association several years ago and donated to the Idaho Fish and Game Department. Some 120 acres along the shore have been purchased by the Department, along with the lease of 740 acres and 300 acres of U. S. Forest Service land and are being improved for duck production and public hunting. Standing in foreground are Jerry Malott (left), Coeur d'Alene, and Tom Reinacker, now of McCall.

Killarney Lake: It Provides Public Shooting And Waterfowl Breeding

By JACK McNEEL
Idaho Fish-Game Department
The sky over the marsh was alive with ducks — birds coming, going, and meeting in the air. Hunters crouching below were having such tremendous hunting that many of them concentrated on shooting only the larger ducks and let the smaller species, primarily wood ducks, pass by unharmed.

This scene has taken place the past two years on opening day near Killarney Lake on the lower Coeur d'Alene River. Coeur d'Alene hunters have long known of this area as a waterfowl producer. During the 1930's the land was owned by a shooting club from Coeur d'Alene and a cabin they erected for their members remains to this day.

The land was little utilized except by local residents for a number of years. A change in ownership occurred in 1964 when the American Game Association purchased the land from the shooting club. In the fall of that same year the American Game Association presented the 360 acres to the Idaho Fish and Game Department. With the gift also came two restrictions: the area had to be maintained as both a waterfowl breeding area and as a public shooting area.

The Department has since bolstered the size of this area by purchasing outright 120 acres, leasing an additional 740 acres and entering into an agreement with the U.S. Forest Service for managing 300 more acres. If the necessary arrangement can be made this will be increased by as much as 800 more acres of marsh land. The area is a natural for duck production and subsequent hunting in the fall. Roughly eighty percent of the area is marsh land during the summer months with the remaining twenty percent consisting primarily of a large island. Tremendous quantities of wild rice and duck potato produce both food and cover for the waterfowl. Wild rice as high as ten feet tall extending five feet above water level can be found throughout the marsh and about 1300 acres in the immediate area is now covered with rice with the boundaries spreading rapidly. Birds hold well in the rice, too, which pleases the hunters as they get some excellent jump shooting right in the marsh.

How is your posture? When you lean down check your neck and shoulders for tightness. Does the small of your back relax in the comfort of your bed? Or does it stay tense and rigid? When your back or shoulders muscles are tight, they may pull your spine out of line. This causes misalignment of vertebrae and consequent aches and pains. Permanent ill-effects can be the result. Your Doctor of Chiropractic can correct spinal misalignments and reduce your back tension.

bring off broods of nestlings. This program will be increased for several years to offer these birds every chance to become established. As an aid for the geese—there were 16 nesting structures erected last spring for the use of these birds. They were mounted on steel poles two feet above the expected high water. Unfortunately the spring runoff was within one foot of the all-time high and completely covered all but one of the nesting structures. Therefore plans now call for raising the structures even higher and placing them on pilings. Five more goose structures have already been built and will be placed in the management area before the next nesting season.

This portion of the state is heavily utilized by wood ducks during the nesting season. This little duck has the unique habit of nesting in hollow trees often high above the ground along lakes and sloughs. Many of these hollow trees have since been removed making nesting sites a premium. An attempt is being made to provide more nesting sites for this bird by constructing nesting boxes which are then attached to a tree or post along a waterway. Boy scout troops from several north Idaho communities have assisted in this project with large numbers of wood duck nesting boxes now scattered throughout the panhandle.

Seventeen of the boxes were placed near Killarney Lake last spring and within two months of the time they were put up 11 boxes were being utilized. Four boxes had been put up the year before and nine others at other spots along the river bring to 30 the number of boxes in the immediate area with more planned for next spring.

The area is largely surrounded by water which makes crop production difficult because of the problems involved in getting machinery to the suitable places. Plans call for planting crops for waterfowl both on Department controlled land and some adjacent private holdings when equipment can be moved into these spots. Agreements have already been reached with persons owning adjacent land which

Americans Have Little Confidence In Any Politician's Ability To Handle War

by The Associated Press
The Gallup Poll says most Americans have little confidence in President Johnson, or any other politician for that matter, has the ability to handle the war in Vietnam successfully. In a survey conducted for the National Broadcasting Co., the pollster-making organization reported 48 per cent of the persons responding said they have "little or no" confidence in Johnson's ability to bring the war to a satisfactory conclusion. Only 20 per cent said they had a "lot of confidence, and another 32 per cent said they have limited confidence. But none of the potential Republican candidates fared better than the President: Only 10 per cent said they have a lot of confidence in the war-handling abilities of Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York or former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, 9 per cent were fully confident of Gov. Ronald Reagan of California, 4 per cent of Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., and 3 per cent of Gov. George Romney of Michigan.

The President's ability to handle race relations brought "little or no" confidence marks from 31 per cent of those surveyed. However, more than 32 per cent said they have little or no confidence in any of the possible candidates in that area.

In other political events, a bronze plaque mounted on it has been placed on the island in the middle of this Killarney Lake management area. The plaque serves to identify the area and give credit to the American Game Association for its purchase of the initial tract of land.

Thursday, George Wallace, Alabama's former governor, spoke in Toledo, Ohio and was met with what one aide called the "worst demonstration he has ever encountered."

Nine persons were arrested after fighting broke out between hecklers and police. They were part of a mostly Negro group of about 100 that joined through the first 15 minutes of the speech. Most of the 2,200 persons in the audience appeared to favor Wallace and tried to drown the boos with applause and cheers.

Wallace arrived in Ohio Wednesday for a week-long tour of six of the state's cities. He says he is reading support for a larger campaign if he decides to run for the presidency on an independent, states rights ticket in 1968.

In Michigan, Gov. George Romney said he will go to Detroit's Veterans Memorial Building Nov. 18 to tell the nation's voters whether he will seek his party's presidential nomination.

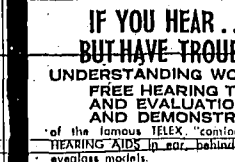

Observers said the trip may well be a sentimental journey. Romney announced his first candidacy for governor during a speech in the building in 1962.

Meanwhile, Shirley Temple Black visited the California state capital in Sacramento, breakfasted with Republican legislators and was introduced on the floor of the Senate and Assembly.

MAKE A GUESS! A world famous hunter, or a world famous jockey? If you guess hunter, you'd be wrong. The man behind his deer is John Longden, one of the world's most successful and best known jockeys. Retired now for over a year, Mr. Longden has been hunting in Idaho for years. His guide in the Stanley area was Ted Williams.

Retired Jockey Is Still Riding Strong

Jockey John Longden was the annual leading jockey in 1947 and 1948. In 1947 he rode 1,327 horses and won 310 races. Since then his name has been seen regularly on the sports pages throughout the world. He started his racing career in 1927 and has been the jockey on 6,032 winners bringing his owners a total of $27 million.

And John Longden also loves to hunt. He has hunted in Alaska, Canada, and throughout Idaho. And he came to Idaho a few weeks ago to try his luck. According to Mr. Longden, "I love to hunt. It's great relaxation for me. About the only other sport I'm active in is golf, and I don't do that very much."

John Longden weighs 110 pounds and is now 60 years old. He retired at 59, in March of 1966.

"March 12th, to be exact," says Longden. "I'll never forget that date because it was a nice way to go."

Longden won his last race at San Juan Capistrano and the winner's circle garnered $100,000. Longden was right, it was a nice way to go.

But to say that John Longden is through with racing is like saying Dizzy Dean was through with baseball when he stopped pitching. John Longden, at 60 years of age, is just beginning to see some of the big races of his life.

Mr. Longden is now in charge of training for Frank McMahon Stables. McMahon is a Canadian oil man who has a fancy for horses, and John Longden is giving the stable direction.

Last year just after Longden joined the McMahon effort the stable bought on Longden's say-so, a $200,000 colt. And they bought another this year for $250,000. And according to Longden, "We haven't even started the one from last year yet."

Longden and the McMahon stables will have 15 or 20 horses running in Santa Anita, Dec. 26th.

Predictions? John Longden isn't about to say.

His only report is that "we hope to have good luck with our horses, that's all."

Mr. Longden resides in Arcadia, California, and has two sons, both of whom are also involved in horse racing—but as he points out—not for the same stable.

Whatever the result at Santa Anita, Longden's 40 years of racing experience won't hinder their chances.

PILOT HARRY MERRICK, left, stands with jockey John Longden just after the two lifted Mr. Longden's deer into the plane's baggage compartment. Mr. Merrick is Chief Pilot for Reader Flying Service of Twin Falls, where Mr. Longden chartered a flight to the Stanley area and back.

CAPTAIN EASY

by Leslie Turner

BLAZES!
THESE MELONS MUST WEIGH 900 POUNDS!

EASY, I'VE CREATED A FRANKENSTEIN MONSTER, WITH MY GOGGROW!

THE AIRFORCE COULD WIPE OUT AN ENTIRE CITY BY DROPPING A THOUSAND O' THESE MELONS!

AT LEAST, WE CAN EAT WATERMELON TILL HELP COMES, BENITA!

BUT WE'RE ISOLATED FROM THE OUTSIDE WORLD... EVEN MY MAIL IS DEPOSITED IN A BOX ON THE HIGHWAY!

THE 'LAWN' HAS BECOME AN IMPENETRABLE JUNGLE... WE MAY NEVER SEE ANOTHER HUMAN!

AND HERE COME THE CABBAGES!

NOT THE BOSTON CABOTSES?

EASY, HOW CAN YOU MAKE A CRUDE PUN AT A TIME LIKE THIS?

I'VE HEARD THAT PEOPLE OFTEN GET GIDDY IN THE FACE O' DEATH! BENITA WILL YOU MARRY ME?

OH, EASY! WHAT A WONDROUS WAY TO DIE!

NEXT WEEK: THE PRAYING 'PREACHER'.

CONFOUND IT! THAT KID IS ALWAYS ON THE OTHER PHONE!

ALL SET, JUNE?

YES, I'M ALL SET, FREGGLES. PUT AN 'X' IN THE CENTER SQUARE!

IS THE CONVERSATION IMPORTANT?

HE AND JUNE SEEM TO BE WORKING ON SOME ALGEBRA PROBLEM!

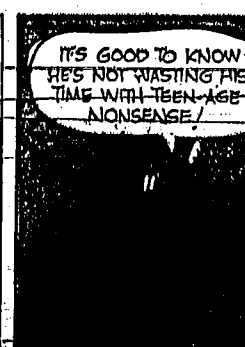

OKAY, AND I'LL PUT AN 'O' IN THE UPPER RIGHT CORNER.

WELL, AT LEAST HE'S GETTING HIS HOMEWORK DONE.

MY CALL CAN WAIT, MARY! I DON'T WANT TO INTERRUPT SCHOOL WORK!

IT'S GOOD TO KNOW HE'S NOT WASTING HIS TIME WITH TEEN-AGE NONSENSE!

IT'S YOUR MOVE. WHERE DO YOU WANT THE NEXT 'X'?

BOOTS

DID I EVER TELL YOU HOW I CAME TO BE KNOWN AS "DEADEYE DUD, ROD?"

A MILLION TIMES, BUT GO AHEAD. I'LL BE BAGGIN' RABBITS TODAY WHILE YOU'RE STILL WINDBAGGIN'!

T.M. Reg. U.S. Pat. Off.

HI, BOYS! MANY RABBITS AROUND HERE?

YESSIR. A HUNDRED AND TWO!

A HUNDRED AND SEVEN IF YOU COUNT SADIE'S FAMILY, BOB!

SADIE'S FAMILY?

SADIE'S A MOTHER RABBIT THAT GOT HURT AND WE NURSED HER AND FED HER LITTLE BUNNIES ALL SUMMER!

CUTE LIL TADS, TOO!

THROUGH SADIE WE MADE FRIENDS WITH ALL THE OTHER RABBITS AND SQUIRRELS AROUND HERE!

YEAH, THEY EAT FROM OUR HANDS AND WARM THEIR CUTE LITTLE NOSES IN OUR POCKETS!

BUT YESTERDAY SADIE HOPPED UP TO A HUNTER EXPECTING A CARROT AND HE TOOK HIS GUN AND... SNIFF... UH... DUD... "YEAH, ME TOO, PAL. LET'S GO!"

SOB SOB

CAREFUL, ROD, DON'T RUN OVER ANY OF THE POOR LITTLE THINGS!

THEY'RE GONE, HANK! GET OUR GUNS OUT OF THE TREE!

IF WED TALKED A LITTLE LONGER, MAYBE WE COULD'VE BOUGHT THEIR GUNS CHEAP!

Ask Them Yourself

FOR RICHARD M. NIXON

Just how do you finance your many world tours?
—C. D. Calhoun, Erwin, Tenn.

● The cost is offset by the articles I've written and the articles that will be written as the result of those tours.

FOR JOAN RIVERS, comedienne

If your first child is a girl, what advice will you give her regarding a show-business career?
—I. D. Lancaster, Pa.

● I would advise her to keep away from show business. Although I'm successful now, I still remember how terrible it was in the very beginning, working one-night stands and many times sleeping in my car to avoid the expense of a hotel room. Show business is great when you're on top, but getting there is a long and difficult journey.

FOR SHELDON S. COHEN,

Commissioner of Internal Revenue
Can parents of retarded children claim any special income-tax deductions?—M. C., Atlantic City, N. J.

● There is no special deduction in the law, but there are provisions which allow parents to recover some of the money spent on their care. Besides the regular $600 dependency deduction, parents can claim child-care and medical expenditures, such as the cost of sending a retarded child to a special school.

FOR PETER LUPUS

of "Mission Impossible"
How much weight can you lift now?—Frances Jones, Durham, N. C.

● When I was concentrating on body building a few years ago, I lifted my greatest weight—950 pounds. Now I just work out to keep in shape, but recently, just to test myself, I pressed 650 pounds.

FOR DR. STANLEY W. JACOB,

Department of Surgery, Oregon Medical School
Has your "miracle" drug, DMSO, been made available to arthritis sufferers yet?—E. C. Nelson, Camargo, Ill.

● Not yet, but three international symposia have been held on the use of dimethyl sulfoxide during the last two years.

and three American pharmaceutical firms have stated that DMSO was ready to be a prescription drug. A Senate subcommittee under Sen. Edward Long of Missouri is looking into the matter this fall. Rep. Wendall Wyatt of Oregon has called DMSO "a persecuted drug" and plans legislation to turn the DMSO question over to the National Academy of Sciences.

FOR BILL FRANCE,

President of NASCAR
What system is used in recording laps in a sanctioned NASCAR race such as the Daytona 500?—C. W. Brown, Dothan, Ala.

● There are two scorers for each car in the race. Each scorer is given a card with blocks lined off and numbered for each lap. He also has access to a clock which counts seconds from 1 to 10,000. As each car completes a lap, the scorer records the elapsed number of seconds, thus timing the lap to the nearest second as well as recording the laps completed. After every 10 laps, the tabulators make position standings. The chief scorer also makes spot checks during the race.

FOR ANDY WILLIAMS

Did you name your children Christian and Noelle after Biblical characters?—Dabbie Orr, Colorado Springs, Colo.

● No. I chose the name Noelle for my daughter because she was one of the greatest gifts I've ever received and the name personifies the spirit of Christmas. I chose Christian for my son because it personifies warmth and togetherness.

FOR BERT STERN, photographer

What do you believe is the secret of Twiggy's appeal?—D. R., Waco, Texas

● I think her greatest appeal is her honesty. She's totally different from the "posy" model we've seen in recent years. Twiggy is contemporary; she expresses what is going on today.

FOR DICK SMOTHERS

Did you write the famous folk song, "Tom Dooley"?—N. C., Rockwell, N. Y.

● The song was originally written by someone else, but I did revise the old standard of "Tom Dooley" for our act at "The Purple Onion."

WHAT IN THE WORLD!

Star Pupils What's a child star got that your child hasn't? Aside from a steady job? Mrs. Katherine Deeney, schoolmarm to ivy's "Family Affair" kids, Anissa Jones and Johnnie Whiteker (see photo), says they're born with the right combination of talent and chemistry. If a child needs lessons in how to act, forget it, Mrs. Deeney, who once taught Shirley Temple, says of Shirley's political ambitions: "Any child who manages to become a star certainly has a higher IQ than most."

Katherine Deeney

Shape of the Future We've had sex epics, and we've had space pictures. Now the two merge in a new movie, "Barbarella," currently being filmed. It's set in the distant future and stars John Phillip Law as a "guardian angel" of Jane Fonda.

Jane Fonda's "Guardian Angel"

He wears wings and a feathery apron, while Jane is rather scantily clad but wingless because she's "more human" or "less evolved"—depending on your point of view.

End of the Line Geologist Hugh Brown's recent book, "Cataclysms of the Earth," is a serious scientific work about the destruction of world order by natural phenomenon. It happens about every 5,000 to 7,000 years, he says. The Polar Ice Cap gets so heavy it tilts the world, sending oceans over continents and putting the tropics into deep freeze. The last time that happened was during the life of Noah—some 7,000 years ago. If you've done your arithmetic, you'll understand why Brown is turning slightly green.

Hyp Athletes When Wayne Walker was boosted out as kicking specialist for the Detroit Lions, he turned to a hypnotist in desperation. "And darned if the guy hasn't helped me," says Wayne, who regained his confidence—and his job. He isn't the first athlete to be entranced, however. Hypnotism cured Don Newcombe of his flying litters, helped Whitey Ford beat the smoking habit, and eased Maury Wills' anxiety over hurting his million-dollar legs. A pitcher named Bill Faul even practiced self-hypnosis, using the blinker lights on his car.

Happily Ever After Actress Lynn Redgrave is expecting a "Georgy Girl" or boy at her own next spring. Just in time for her first wedding anniversary to actor-photographer John Clark. "It doesn't matter which sex it is this time," she says, "because I'm planning to have lots more." On being married, she says: "I always thought it would be nice, but it's even nicer than I thought!"

When Charles Is King, Who Will Be Queen?

Britain's royal heir will be 19 years old this Tuesday and soon must make the momentous decision—will he choose royalty or commoner as his wife?

By GRAHAM and HEATHER FISHER

Most eligible young women in Europe have their eyes on Prince Charles, but he'll have to look the field over carefully before choosing his Queen.

PRINCE CHARLES, in London on a shopping expedition, was on his way into one of the city's largest department stores, when he almost collided with a young lady on her way out.

She was quite attractive, and, princes being no different from other young men when it comes to young ladies, Charles quickly checked off her more obvious attributes against his personal 10-point list of desirable feminine qualities.

"She was a real smasher," he confided to a friend later. "The only girl I've seen who might have gotten 10 out of 10."

That she did not qualify for 10 out of 10 was due only to the fact that Charles had no opportunity to hear her speak. Did her speech match her appearance? Or did it have the cockney twang of a modern-day Eliza Doolittle?

Almost any other young man would have found some excuse to speak to a girl so attractive—and not just to testis her rating. He would have somehow discovered her telephone number.

But not Charles. Britain's royal family has become more democratic in recent times, but there still is no way a future king can get to know a strange girl he briefly encounters in a shop doorway.

The question is: How well can any girl get to know Prince Charles? Because he is who he is, his relationship with the opposite sex can never be that of an ordinary man. His attitude must be governed always by the knowledge of his unique position, at present and in the future as well.

In Honolulu, on his way to Australia, he blushed scarlet when an exuberant American teen-ager placed the traditional Hawaiian lei around his neck, and planted a kiss on his cheek. It was probably the first time Charles had been kissed by anyone outside his own royal family circle.

"My, he is growing up, isn't he?" commented Queen Elizabeth when told of the kiss.

At Gordonstoun, the private school he attended, Charles did go to a party given by a lawyer's daughter, and in Australia he even asked a girl he danced with to go to the theater with him.

The girl was overawed rather than enthused. "Would that be wise?" she asked cautiously.

"I didn't ask if it would be wise," he replied with a touch of spirit.

The girl's question, of course, was understandable. Charles, in his relationship with the opposite sex, will be faced for many years with the question—is it wise? For Prince Charles there can be no lingering good nights, no necking in the rear seat of a parked car. Wherever he is, whatever he does, an official guardian, in the person of a royal equerry or personal detective, will never be far away from him.

Prince Charles, 19 years old on November 14, is without doubt the world's most eligible bachelor, and the time may come when he will indulge in Princess Margaret's old game of "dodging the detective."

His unshibbled aunt, during the high-kicking days of her youth, took great delight in giving her official watchdog the slip. But Princess Margaret was never the heir apparent to the throne. Charles is. He is also more like his mother than his aunt in temperament. He knows the royal rules, and chances are that he will abide by them.

Not until the right young woman comes into his life—someone approved by his parents, Parliament, and the British people—will he be permitted to be alone with a girl long enough to indulge in more than polite conversation. For romance can lead to marriage, and marriage for Charles is governed by law.

Two edicts in particular limit his choice of a future bride. Under the Act of Settlement, no Catholic can succeed to the throne. So if Prince Charles marries a Catholic, she cannot become Queen, and any children are automatically removed from succession to the throne if they are raised as Catholics.

Secondly, the Royal Marriages Act dictates that descendants of King George II (that includes Prince Charles) must have what is termed "the consent of the Sovereign in Council." This means the consent of the reigning sovereign and her Privy Council.

Were consent to be withheld, Charles, once he is 25, could still give a year's notice of his intention to marry, and no one could legally stop him from doing so. But the storm of controversy would almost certainly force him to give up his right to the throne.

What sort of a girl would be considered suitable as the wife of Britain's future king? Princess Margaret married a commoner, but Charles is someday to be king, and the British like their sovereigns to be shrouded in mystique, so for Charles to emulate his aunt would be unthinkable.

A princess would seem to be the logical choice, but princesses these days are few and far between. Time has thinned the royal courts of Europe, and the princesses of the few monarchies which still survive—Greece, Sweden, Denmark, and Norway—are either already married or are too far outside an acceptable age group.

What few eligible princesses remain are mostly German. Foremost among them is Princess Xenia of

QUIPS AND QUOTES

A soft answer turns away wrath, but it lets in an awful lot of door-to-door salesmen. —Ivern Boyett 400 pages of "giddaps," he exclaimed with wonder.

"Yps," the novelist said. "Stubb'n huraw." —Frances Denson

Over and Out

Out of sequestered caves and nooks
The merry trout come leaping,
Sporting in sylvan streams and brooks,
And the fisherman watches, weeping.
Yes, now is the time the fish come out,
Rainbowed, profuse, and splendid,
An advent that leaves no slightest doubt
The fishing season has ended!

—George Starbuck Colbrath

After a long sojourn in a mental hospital, the great novelist seemed to be regaining his sanity. He even had asked for a typewriter and, for the past three months, he'd been pounding at it every day. At last, announcing that his new novel was finished, he proudly turned the manuscript over to the hospital's chief psychiatrist.

The doctor opened it eagerly and began to read.

"General Jones leaped upon his faithful horse and yelled, 'giddap, giddap, giddap, giddap . . .'" The doctor scanned through the rest of the pages.

"Why, there's nothing here but I just realized what Twiggy reminds me of. It's Elizabeth Taylor—as painted by Picasso.

—Robert Orban

The lady patient was eager to cooperate and get things over with as quickly as possible. Leaning back in the chair, she opened her mouth as wide as the Grand Canyon and waited for the dentist to begin his work.

"Madam, it's not necessary to open so wide," the dentist explained. "I'm planning to stand outside." —Scott Keller

Prussia, a vivacious, dark, pretty girl who is a year younger than Charles. He met her when he was in Athens for the wedding of King Constantine and Princess Anne-Marie of Denmark. Princess Xenia has a cousin also eligible, 15-year-old Princess Victoria. If 15 sounds young, this is something that time will rectify. If they married when Charles is 25, Victoria would be 21. Pouty the same difference in ages there is between the Queen and Prince Philip.

Other princesses of the blood royal whom Charles might consider include Princess Margaretha, daughter of Prince Frederick Ferdinand of Schleswig-Holstein; she is only eight months older than Charles. Or possibly her cousin, Princess Marita, only two months older.

Princess Marie of Hanover, the oldest daughter of Prince Ernest August, will be 15 this month and is certainly a possibility.

Another bridesmaid Charles met in Athens was Margarita, who is 18 this year. She is the daughter of ex-King Michael of Romania. She has two sisters, Elena and Irina. Both are eligible candidates.

In recent years, however, Britain's royal family has discarded its traditional habit of marrying into European families. True, Charles' mother married Prince Philip, who is Greek by birth. But environment and upbringing have made him British save for a signature on his birth certificate. Since then, Princess Margaret, the young Duke of Kent, and Princess Alexandra all have married British subjects.

There is every reason to believe that Charles, when the time comes, will do the same. Two of the prime requisites for budding romance are time and proximity, and the girls most likely to have such factors on their side are those whose families are friends of the Queen.

Three families are especially prominent among the list of names closest to the royal family—those of Lord Rupert Nevill, Col. Harold Phillips, and Maj. David Butter. Lord Rupert is an especially dear friend with whom the Queen and Prince Philip often stay when they feel the need of a quiet weekend.

Among them, the three families can muster five daughters about the right age and of varying degrees of attractiveness. Lord Rupert's daughter Angela, petite and dark with large lustrous eyes, is only a few months older than Charles. Her coming-out party last May was held in the historic surroundings of the Palace of St. James by special permission of the Queen—a pointed sign of royal favor.

Major Butter's eldest daughter Sandra is also a few months older than Charles, and she has two sisters who were bridesmaids at the wedding of the Queen's cousin, Princess Alexandra. This emphasizes their closeness to the royal family.

There are other aristocratic young girls whom Charles is des-tinued to see with increasing frequency. The Duke of Northumberland, for example, has two attractive daughters living at his castle at Aynwick—Victoria, a striking 17-year-old, and her attractive sister, Julia, 16. The Marquess of Anglesay has a 17-year-old named Henrietta, while Brigadier Marquess Douro, who currently holds the post of British military attaché in Madrid, has a daughter, Caroline, 15.

Some young ladies, of course, may be considered to have a slight advantage over others even in this select group—Elinor, the 14-year-old daughter of the Earl of March, for example. Her grandfather is the Duke of Richmond, with whom the Queen traditionally visits when she goes to Goodwood races.

Margot Cholomondeley, daughter of the Earl of Rocksavage, has a similar advantage in that her father always plays host to the Queen when she attends the Chester races.

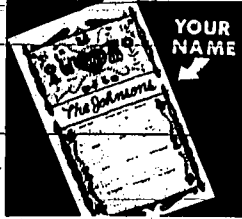

Of all the possible candidates, there is none with quite so many advantages as 17-year-old Henrietta Fitzroy. Her mother, a countess, has been appointed recently to the oddly named post of Mistress of the Queen's Robes, which means that she is in attendance to the Queen on all state and ceremonial occasions. In addition, Henrietta's brother, Lord Ipswich, is a close friend of Charles, and Henrietta herself has known the Prince since the two of them were babies.

In the days before Charles was whisked off to school, Henrietta—"Etta," as Charles calls her—was a regular visitor to Buckingham Palace for weekly dancing classes. When boys and girls teamed up for lessons in various dances, Charles was always quick to grab "Etta."

In a sense, they were childhood sweethearts, and once in an outburst of childhood exuberance, Charles confided to the rest of the class, "I'm going to marry Etta when I grow up."

Charles has now reached maturity and will, in the foreseeable future, make the all-important decision most men eventually make—who will be his partner for life.

But Prince Charles' decision will be based as much on honor and position as on love. ♦

Congress

By FRANCES P. BOLTON with Flora-Rheta Schreiber

U.S. Representative from Ohio

a middle-aged widow refused to "wait for old age" spanning from FDR to LBJ managed to get into the House visitors' gallery. We had just stood for a vote when the "fireworks" started. I wish you could have seen those Congressmen trying to squeeze under the tables! Most of them were too large to make it, and I laughed.

"Get down," one colleague yelled.

"Be quiet," I said. I remained standing and a bullet whizzed past my ear.

"Frances, what are you doing?" another Congressman shouted as he pushed me through the door. To say it was exciting would be a vast understatement.

I have known many moments of pride during my tenure, but two incidents stand apart from all the rest.

One was when Oliver joined me in the Congress, and we became the first mother-and-son legislative team in Congressional history. During Ollie's three terms in the House, our relationship was highly professional, and it was one time when a mother and son could vote against each other and get away with it, as we did.

A second source of great personal gratification occurred when I had the privilege of seconding Sen. Margaret Chase Smith's (R., Maine) nomination for the Presidency during the 1964 Republican Convention. Margaret and I came to the Congress around the same time and under the same circumstances. Her husband had died three weeks after mine, and she, too, had been elected to fill out his term.

It is marvelous to have a job as thrilling as mine, to have the health to do it, and I hope a little more judgment than at the beginning. Two years ago, when I celebrated my 25th year in the Congress, I told my colleagues: "What I appreciate most is that you have ceased to think of me only as a woman in Congress. Now, I am just one of the boys!"

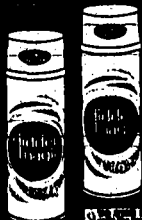

It is my fervent wish to continue serving in the House of Representatives and to remain "just one of the boys." ♦

Oliver Bolton served in Congress with his mother for six years.

PROCTER & GAMBLE

HAWAII:

Answers

Game of all kinds abounds in Alaska.

Trout or marlin—Hawaii has both.

to a Sportsman's Prayer

Boundless pleasure awaits anglers and hunters alike in these travel paradises, where fine game, fish, and fowl abound

By ERWIN A. BAUER

ALASKA and Hawaii aren't exactly in the next county for most hunters and fishermen, yet their waters and ranges are luring more and more of the nation's 40 million sportsmen every year, and they find the trip by plane or boat well worth the effort.

Little wonder, when you itemize all the game and fish, familiar and exotic, awaiting them in our youngest states.

Let's look at Alaska first. No other place on earth has so many magnificent bears or so many species. All are fair game for sportsmen, for both spring and fall hunting.

The brownies (Kodiaks) and grizzlies are the best known of all. Together they inhabit the entire state, except the extreme Arctic tundra regions, and both are among the greatest game animals in the world.

There are other bears, too. Blacks are abundant in the forests of southeastern Alaska, and polar bears range on the far-north Arctic shores.

It's doubtful that hunting for moose, the world's largest deer, is better anywhere than on the Kenai Peninsula. The bulls are numerous and of record size. Add also the splendid hunting for caribou (high plateaus and mountain slopes of the Brooks and Alaska Ranges), goats (on coastal mountains, Kenai and Chugach Range), Dall sheep (interior Alaska mountains, Brooks Range), and deer on the timbered islands of southeastern Alaska.

One of the world's most coveted trophies, the Dall sheep, is found only in Alaska and the Yukon. Virtually no sheep or bear hunting is possible, though, without a guide.

One of Alaska's most amazing spectacles each September occurs at Cold Bay on the tip of the Alaska Peninsula. Virtually all the ducks and geese in the entire state assemble here before the fall migration. It's probably the world's largest concentration of water fowl.

The principal big-game species in Hawaii are much in contrast with Alaskan game. Wild boars, now estimated at 100,000, were introduced by the first Polynesian immigrants, and hunting them in these tropical surroundings is a lively experience. Then there are wild goats, sheep, and axis deer imported from Asia.

There is fast wing shooting on 19 public hunting areas and on private lands where gunning is often a grab bag proposition. The Hawaiian roster of international game birds available includes Korean ring-neck and Japanese blue pheasants, California valley quail, Japanese quail, Chukar partridges, Chinese lace-necked doves, some bar-shouldered doves, wild pigeons, and Roessev's pheasants and francolins.

Angling everywhere around the Hawaiian Islands is premium-grade, yet it's mostly undiscovered by serious fishermen on the mainland. The best bet, perhaps, is the Pacific around the island of Hawaii. Giant black, blue, silver, and striped marlin cruise the warm currents off the Kona coast, and charter boats filter out of Kailua every day to catch them. There is also an excellent charter fleet at Kawaia Basin, Oahu.

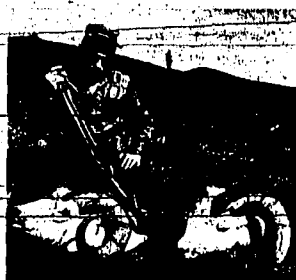

Besides the big billfish, a visiting angler can expect to catch dolphin, wahoo, tuna, barracudas, and potential-record amberjacks. He may even hook a species no other angler has ever hooked. There is also freshwater bass fishing in many reservoirs. No matter what the species, though, it's doubtful whether a sportsman could cast or troll in greater comfort. The average year-round temperature is 75.

An Alaskan angler has far from perfect weather, but the fishing is often so sensational that rain and chill winds make little difference. The vast salmon fishery is well known to everyone, with chinooks (kings) and cohos (silvers) running into southeast coastal streams in incredible numbers each summer.

Next-most-important game fish is the rainbow trout, which almost reaches its maximum size and abundance in the Mt. Katmai region of Ten Thousand Smokes. Fishing for rainbow trout here in the Brooks and Battle Rivers is like angling in another world. The Newhalen is a "hot" rainbow river, too. Another native here is the rare Arctic grayling which leaps like a ballerina on the end of the line.

Lake trout, northern pike, Dolly Varden, and cutthroat trout also are numerous in Alaska, with its seven million acres of lakes and more than a million miles of potential fishing rivers, much of it never fished before. To catalogue even the best waters would require volumes.

The truth is that, between them, our two youngest states contain the greatest fishing and hunting a sportsman can find anywhere. ♦

Hairdos for the Holidays

The long and short of it as shown on cover: soft waves (left) form the split-level style. Hairdo à la Shirley Temple revives the curl.

By ROSALYN ABBREYAYA

■ WHAT DO fashion pundits predict for hair this season? Long or short? Straight or curly? The answer is, for the first time in a long time—"Everything goes!"

And clothes hold the key. In an age when a woman can slip on futuristic plastic or crashing geometric garb, no one length or style can be dictafed.

Yet, ironically, the curly look (especially in short hair) is on the rise, framing the face ever so romantically. The neat, close-to-the-head look also is beginning to make points. But long and short are coexisting without precedent.

What to choose for yourself? Here's a thumbnail guide: The long mane is strictly for the younger gal but can be beautifully adapted in medium length for the over-25 set, softly waved or pulled back in split-level style (see cover). The short hairdos seem to flatter more faces, but if a mass of curls seems weighty, try a combination of smooth at the top and curls from crown to nape.

And for the holidays to come, the simplest hairdo can be decorated or interlaced with glitter combs, jeweled hairpins, or sparkling barrettes. Those featured here are from Ben Hur, at notions counters around the country. ♦

Studded hair pins by Ben Hur cascade winnigly down one side of this pttic hairdo which sports elongated curls.

This SAMPLE PUZZLE represents the Name of a Famous Personality (one of those listed below)

Which of These Names Is the Correct Solution?

- KENNEDY MARCONI LINCOLN
WEBSTER MADISON SHERMAN

Read This Explanation Carefully:

This contest is made up largely of puzzles like the Sample above—puzzles that represent the names of famous people. And since this is just a Sample Puzzle, let's work it out together to give you the idea.

Note the objects, the letters, the plus and minus signs. The letter B, for instance, is followed by "plus" LION. So we jot down B L I O N— from which we're told to subtract O. Crossing out O leaves B L I N, to which we add O T and then LANTERN. That gives us B L I N G O T L A N T E R N, from which we are directed to subtract what might be either a baseball PLAYER or BATTER. And since there's no P, L or Y in the letters we have down, it must be BATTER—which letters we now cross out, and then cross out N. That leaves L I N C O L N, which is the correct solution to this puzzle!

EVERYONE who completes the Contest gets a beautiful, deluxe 3-volume Library issued on Jacqueline Kennedy, John F. Kennedy, and Winston Churchill.

A PROPOSITION

A wild new thing is about to happen: the mad, mod scene is about to witness the birth of a fantastic new magazine destined for greatness. Its name is Avant-Garde.

As its name implies, Avant-Garde will be a forward-directed, daring, and wildly hedonistic magazine. It will report on every aspect of the brilliant new life-style now emerging in America, and it will do so with no pur-sons and no inhibitions.

The pages of Avant-Garde will explode with biting satire, incisive profiles, audacious reportage, lush graphic art, consciousness-expanding fiction, and poetry that speaks. Avant-Garde will cover Art, Politics, Science, and every other subject of interest to readers of superior intelligence and cultivated taste. It will be a bi-monthly of:

Beauty, bringing to graphic art a transcendental new kind of high;

Truth, eschewing platitudes and really telling it like it is; and Love, unabashedly reveling in the One Universal Ultimate Good.

In short, Avant-Garde will be a hip, joyous, beautiful new magazine. It will be the voice of the Turned-On Generation.

Perhaps the best way to describe Avant-Garde for you is to list the kinds of articles it will print:

The Dead-Serious Movement to Run Allen Ginsberg for Congress

Homage to Muhammad Ali—High praise by 35 celebrities (including Marlon Brando, Jackie Robinson, and Woody Allen)

Coming: Synthetic (and Therefore Legal) Marijuana

Radio Free America—A professor's plan (already in motion) to establish a pirate radio station off the coast of California

The "Best" of Charlotte Moorman—The gifted young cellist describes her arrest for giving a concert hall festival "topless"

The CIA's Super-Sabotage "Super-Spook"—An expose of an operative who is paid $1 million a year to sink Joe Big Brother

The Intellectual Companions of Jacqueline Kennedy

Bob Dylan's Suppressed—and Fiftiest—Song Lyrics

Salvador Dali: A New Dimension in Erotic Art—Drawings created especially to celebrate the launching of Avant-Garde

George Romney's Bizarre Religious Beliefs Toward the Elimination of War—A little-known exchange of correspondence between Einstein and Freud

Understanding Zowie—A glossary of Switched-On Generation jargon

The Fugs—New York's most way-out electronic rage-rock nerve-thrill company

A Gastrotopical Guide to the Year 2000

The Writing on the Wall—The emergence of graffiti as a medium of social protest

Movie Over, Lady Chatterley—A preview of several erotic classics soon to be published in this country for the first time

The Prison Poems of Ho Chi Minh

Mixed-Media Art: The Pop World's Newest "Scrambled Omelette"

My Love for You Is Stronger than Dirt—The Madison Avenue dating scene as observed by Dan ("How-to-Be a Jewish Mother") Greenburg

Poets at War—Bitter anti-war verse by GI's in Vietnam

John Lennon as a Master of Prose

Legislation—and Perfectly Legal—New Ways Around Abortion Laws

Everett Ruess as "The Wizard of Ooze"—A Pop Impression

The Emergence of Abstract Expressionist Journalism—As exemplified by the L.A. Free Press, N.Y. East Village Other, and Berkeley Barb

Group Psychotherapy on TV

Aubrey Beardsley's Suppressed Erotic Works—A Portfolio

A Geneticist's Plea for State-Sponsored Breeding of Supermen

Pornographic Film Festivals at Lincoln Center by 1970—Predictions by an underground film-maker

In sum, Avant-Garde will be a feast of gourmet food-for-thought prepared by the avant-garde for the avant-garde. It will be the quintessence of intellectual sophistication.

The creative director of Avant-Garde is one of the most fertile minds in America, publishing today: Herb Lubalin, the country's foremost art director (it was he who designed the elegant—and cruelly suppressed—quarterly Eros). In addition, the staff of Avant-Garde includes several of the most gifted artists, writers, and photographers of our time.

In format, Avant-Garde will more closely resemble an expensive art folio than a magazine. It will be printed by costly offset lithography on the finest antique and coated papers. It will be bound in 12-point Franknote boards for permanent preservation.

Avant-Garde will be available by subscription only. It will cost $10 per year. This is not cheap, but we have a proposition:

If you will enter your subscription right now, before Avant-Garde's first issue is sold out, we will send you eight months—the better part of a year—for only $3.99. This is a MERE FRACTION of its actual value!

As a Charter Subscriber, you will also be entitled to:

—Buy gift subscriptions for only $3.99.
—Renew your own subscription for $3.99 forever, despite any subsequent price increases.

—Begin your own subscription with Volume 1, Number 1. This is not to be taken lightly since first issues of high-quality magazines invariably become valuable collectors' items.

Since this spectacular offer will be withdrawn as soon as Avant-Garde's first issue is sold out, we urge you to act at once. To enter your subscription, simply fill out the coupon below and mail it with $3.99 to Avant-Garde, 110 W. 40th St., New York, N.Y. 10018.

Then sit back and prepare to enjoy a completely uninhibited new magazine that really blows the mind.

Avant-Garde, 110 W. 40th St., New York, N.Y. 10018.

Enclose $3.99 for an eight-month subscription to the magnificent new magazine Avant-Garde. I understand that I will be entitled to all Charter Subscriber privileges and that I am paying a MERE FRACTION of the standard $10 per-year price!
