Gooding County School To Be Discussed

HAGERMAN — School trustees of Blaine, Gooding and Wendell schools will meet with Hagerman trustees here Nov. 27 to discuss the possibility of a countywide high school. Dr. George Carnie, Hagerman superintendent of schools, reported.

Dr. Carnie also announced an open house will be held at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday at the grade school with a film on the reading program to be shown to all parents, after which parents may visit classrooms of their children.

Open house will be held at 8 p. m. Nov. 28 in the Hagerman High School, with parents to meet in the gymnasium for the reading program film. After the showing of the film, parents will visit teachers or tour the individualized Learning Center.

THE FALL IS WHAT the author liked best. Ernest Hemingway died in the shadow of these mountains. And from his memorial near Sun Valley on Trail Creek, visitors can now see snow on the top of Mount Baldy at Ketchum. The leaves have turned and the air is crisp. Soon skiers will be seen in this tourist area and winter will be here. Residents feel it is one of the longest fall seasons on record, but the sight at Mount Baldy brings hope.

3 Freed Army Prisoners Not Brainwashed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department said today the three Army prisoners freed by the Viet Cong were not brainwashed and had withstood their captivity "with great courage."

"We have talked to them briefly, and it is quite clear that they have not been brainwashed," said press officer Robert J. McCloskey.

His statement contradicted implications circulated by U.S. officials in Saigon a week ago.

A U.S. document released at the time the prisoners were set free quoted a psychological warfare adviser telling of an interview with a Red defector who said he took part personally in the indoctrination of two of the sergeants.

The soldiers, who arrived in the United States Monday night, are hospitalized here and at Ft. Bragg, N.C.

"On the basis of our talks with these men it seems clear... that the men withstood their long ordeal with great courage and intelligence," McCloskey said.

M. Sgt. Daniel Lee Pitzer, 37, Spring Lake, N.C., had been held prisoner four years. He and S. Sgt. James E. Jackson of Talcott, W. Va., are recuperating at Ft. Bragg while M. Sgt. Edward R. Johnson of Seaside, Calif., is under treatment here at Walter Reed Army Hospital.

The police said they have seized 167 bars, each weighing 2.2 pounds. Authorities believe there are at least three international gold smuggling rings now operating with headquarters in Lebanon, Switzerland and France.

Japan has become the target of the smugglers because of a gap in the price of gold between the Japanese and world markets. One gram of gold in Japan costs $1.01, about 68 cents more than on the international market.

College Costs

It was a pleasant surprise to many Magic Valley parents of college students to learn this year that while the cost of higher education continues to go up, the direct cost to the student in many cases is coming down. The change is due to the fact that there are many more sources available to a student for his tuition expenses than his own or his parents' pockets. Scholarships are up, both in numbers and in individual size. New methods of financing, including low cost government-backed loans, provide a convenient loan now, pay later arrangement. But one of the most rapidly expanding sources of funds for higher education is the business community.

Corporations long have been among the most generous supporters of colleges, but a large part of their contributions went directly to the institutions to use in any way they saw fit. The last few years have brought a significant change. Beset by shortages of skilled and professional labor because of the prolonged period of prosperity and alarmed by the attitude some youths seem to have toward business and the profit system, corporations have launched a number of ways of aiding themselves by helping a student through college. Some involve direct scholarships linked with summer or other part-time work. Other aid plans are in the form of agreements that a student will accept a position with a company in exchange for help with his college expenses. More and more firms are accepting college students on a part-time basis, giving the employers the opportunity of gauging abilities and talents for possible future positions. The companies also are able to decide before committing themselves whether the student would fit into the operation. With fixed expenses—tuition, room and board—in the Ivy League schools running to $3,000 or more a year—and rising—and with the cost in many state-supported colleges now well above $1,500, scrounging up the necessary financing is not an easy task for most parents today. It never was. But the premium on a college education today is much higher than ever, and thousands of youths are responding to the challenge.

Is It Charity?

Rep. Wright Patman of Texas is justifiably upset about "charitable foundations" that are in reality nothing but tax dodges. He brought before the House Small Business Subcommittee on Foundations an ingenious fellow, Robert D. Hayes, who operates an organization that teaches sub-millionaires how to set up "foundations" which provide all kinds of personal boons. Hayes cheerfully told the House investigators how a doctor, for instance, could avoid taxes by carrying on his usual work as an employee of a "scientific foundation." He could live at his usual level, but save all kinds of tax money. Moreover, he could send his children to college through tax-exempt "education grants" from the "foundation." And though he couldn't take his sneakily gained profits with him, when he dies the family can keep the assets of the foundation, without paying inheritance or estate taxes. Every such foundation, by which one taxpayer avoids his proper share, puts a greater burden on other taxpayers. What Hayes does is not new, however. It is an extension of tax avoidance that is common among the very wealthy. Hayes just moves it down a notch. The trouble is that the entire body of tax laws (especially income tax) is such a crazy hodge-podge that it creates islands of privileges in a quagmire of inequities. Someday the little taxpayer is going to rise up and insist that the income tax either be made simple and equitable, or be done away with altogether.

MR. SPECTATOR

When The Spirit Moves

Mr. Spectator is reminded of one of the classic utterances of the late Mark Twain. It went something like this: "In my life I have had many sorrows, most of which never happened." As so it is with many things. One, for instance, is athletics. Only recently Mr. Spectator compared the spirit shown by members of the girls' drill teams of the high school as against the spirit shown by the football team members. Somewhere along the line someone missed the hint. Rumblings have been heard that the teachers are angry, the players are angry, the coach is angry. Angry about what? There is really nothing to be sore about. The comparison was made from first hand knowledge. Frankly, Mr. Spectator had hoped that the players would rise up in arms, perhaps add their name to a sarcastic petition of defense and present it with much fanfare to Mr. Spectator. But this was not to be. Only the distant rumblings were heard. Nothing in the form of a solid protest appeared with the exception of one, forlorn, typewritten note which the sender didn't even bother to sign. Ordinarily no attention would be paid to an unsigned note but in this case—to be fairer than fate—it will be printed in full. So here goes: "It stirred my juices somewhat when I read your comparison of spirit of our high school girls' drill team to that of our football players. Those wonderful girls do have the spirit and they are great. But let's give our football players credit for having equally as much spirit even if they were not so great in the winner's circle. If the spirit had been the deciding factor those young gentlemen would have won the conference. Unfortunately, a few of our people support the team only when it is a winner. Some have been very critical of the 59 to 7 score with Borah. Wonder how they feel about the Green Bay Packers defeating the Cleveland Browns 23 to 7 two days later? Well, frankly, Mr. Spectator, I wouldn't know how anyone would feel about that, unless they played for the Packers. But as far as winning is concerned, he is not really sure who put so much emphasis on that when contests first started unless it was because in the real old days the loser would be dead one. But today the loser can go on to win other contests. So that isn't really what is important. The real angle to this entire discussion is that the sun will come up tomorrow just as it did today. And if it doesn't you will not be around to see it anyway. So now comes basketball and Mr. Spectator will be sitting in the bleachers yelling for Chuck Farmer's charges to beat every team they play. No objection to Mr. Spectator's spirit, is there? GIVEAWAY DEPT.: Have two kittens—one black and one grey—to give away. They are part Siamese, about six weeks old and are housebroken. WASHINGTON — The first session of the 90th Congress will be notable chiefly for the redoubtability of the Republican leadership and reactionary Southern Democrats that it is still comparatively safe to attack the poor. Their behavior during the debate on the anti-poverty program has been a step backward to the Neanderthal. It is easy to understand the stony rationale involved. In America, the poor are outnumbered by the rich and comfortable and thus can be abused with impunity in most areas of the country. The exceptions are the big Northern cities, and here the taxpayer has suffered from the frantic efforts of Northern liberals to award every family on relief a kind of personal bank supplied with federal funds. But it is the Republican-Southern Democrat anti-poor bloc that has behaved most outrageously. Behind a front of "economy" it has gone to shameful lengths to emasculate the anti-poverty program. Its move in the House to cut $800 million from the program had only one aim — to cripple the program to point where the poor would be left not only without help but without hope. This may seem a curious posture for politicians who wouldn't think of slicing up their own vote — catching Rivers and Harbors appropriations, or of reducing the subsidies paid tobacco farmers, or of speaking out against the scandalous 27 1/2 percent oil and gas depletion allowance. These are characters who fight furiously for their own expense accounts and the right to accept legal fees from firms involved in legislation before Congress. But it isn't really so strange. Except in big-city ghettos, the poor don't have enough votes to matter, and nowhere are the poor listed among the big campaign L.A. contributions. Generally speaking, it is politically realistic to lambaste the poor. In its own mealy-mouthed defense, the Republican-Dixiecrat crowd mounts protests over abuses found in the war on poverty. In so doing, it is performing a necessary duty. A good house cleaning clearly is in order for a program which spends federal money in Nashville to finance a "hate whitey" school and to hire two Houston students under indictment in the killing of a policeman. The Office of Economic Opportunity has a record with maddening carelessness to charges that poverty workers provoked riots in various cities, and in Nashville, advised job seekers to lie on their applications in order to qualify for bigger salaries. But these abuses are not valid reasons for abandoning the program or crippling it. There will never be any justification for those meat-axe blows in the name of "economy" which resulted in cutting off the $3 a month paid to each Job Corps member and the $50 a month paid each VISTA volunteer. The

there has arisen a new philosophy that the poor should not be saddled with the responsibility of helping themselves. However, there never was a case of dismantling the program, and the voting records of Goodell and Quie reveal the utter phoniness of the Republican-Dixiecrat assault. Both have voted against the anti-poverty program every year since its inception in 1964. They are prime examples of the band of guerrillas on Capitol Hill which seeks only to destroy what it can't, or won't, understand. "economizers" even sank their claws into the Head Start program for pre-school children, which has been hailed on both sides of the aisle as a resounding and heart-warming success. Reps. Charles Goodell, R-N.Y., and Albert Quie, R-Minn., have insisted all they want to do is improve the anti-poverty program. Well, a case surely can be made for that aim. As practiced in some parts of the country notably New York City and Chicago, Sargent Shriver's operation seems designed solely to make its employees rich, and

MARQUIS CHILDS Actors Have It

WASHINGTON — Whether the current California syndrome of the professional actor projecting on television a polished political image is the wave of the future or just another slightly kooky California aberration is what worried office seekers would like to know. If it is the former the drama schools will have a lot of new pupils. Son, George Murphy, the song-and-dance man out of those old times; Gov. Ronald Reagan; the star of Death Valley Days; and now Shirley Temple of The Good Ship Lollipop for Congress. That is the roster and the rumor is that the Democrats are conducting central casting for a candidate for the Senate race next year. The Democrats have a performer getting a remarkable precedent. Mayor Sam Yorty of Los Angeles has his own television show, with commercials as thick as raisins in a Christmas pudding. What is more, Yorty, a master of the benefit dinner, has developed an astute caution that might have saved poor Senatorial candidates at the bottom of the $100 tickets for the recent Yorty birthday ball: "Ball proceeds are a gift to Mayor Yorty and will be used by citizens for Mayor Yorty to further the mayor's citizen information service and for other purposes at the committee's discretion." That takes care of any nasty questions from the Bureau of Internal Revenue. The squares in politics, envious of the smooth, fluent Reagan manner recently took comfort from what is widely assessed as his first big blunder. That was his denial of the charge in the Drew Pearson column that two of his staff assistants had been dismissed on homosexual grounds. This was after his "communications director," Lyn Nofziger, had told several newspapers that this was the reason for their disappearance. Only California could have sent the crusading novelist, Up-ton Sinclair, into orbit as a candidate for governor. He won the Democratic nomination in 1952 and ran on the platform and poverty in California (epic). He called for government-owned plants, production for use, full employment and an elaborate pension plan. Wealthy Californians were frantic, seeing socialism and doom just ahead. They poured large sums into the campaign of a rather mediocre Republican, Frank Merriam. When the votes were counted Merriam had 1,138,000 to 870,000 for Sinclair, and California was saved. Another exuberant phenomenon in the exotic California spectrum was Dr. Francis E. Townsend, popularly known as Old Doc Townsend. He had an old-age pension plan calling for five dollars a week for every citizen (FIDEF) for all persons over 60 agreeing to retire and get out of the job market. It would have cost the treasury more than $20 billion. At the height of the rage 3,000 Townsend clubs had at least a million members. But along with this aberrant strain California has a strong moderate progressive tradition that has contributed much to the phenomenal growth of the state. It began with Hiram Johnson, who, as governor, set the pattern of orderly development of the state's great resources with restraints imposed on private enterprisers. Earl Warren, who won an unprecedented third term, was the model of the moderate progressive. So in his own way, struggling with the enormous problems of water in a land that is his desert, was Edmund G. (Pat) Brown. It is in this tradition that Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel is running for re-election next year. The San Diego Union in a recent editorial said that better than any man in public life he knows the state's water, agricultural and industrial problems. He is truly "the product" and the editorial, of the political heritage of the reform movements.

Lyndon, I Don't Know How To Tell You This, But ...

BRUCE BLOSSAT McGarthy: Threat To LBJ

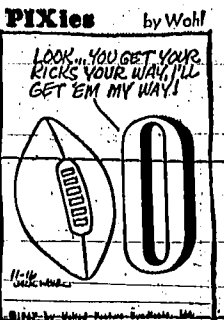

WASHINGTON (NEA)—There is no question Democratic leaders are regarding Minnesota Sen. Eugene McCarthy as a more realistic threat to President Johnson's orderly re-nomination in 1968 than Sen. Robert F. Kennedy of New York has ever been. Believably, Kennedy has told this reporter and many others again and again that he had no intention of becoming involved in the 1968 race in any way except as a full supporter of the President's renomination and reelection. Those who have been engaged in efforts to draft him or otherwise "enlist him," mostly as a prop to their anti-Vietnam war objectives, have been doomed from the start to a fruitless enterprise. McCarthy is another story. He obviously cherishes the limelight and the national scene. At the height of his state party's bitter internal warfare last year over efforts to dump the then-incumbent Gov. Karl Rolvaag, observers discovered McCarthy on the scene but aloof from the battle—discussing on some relatively obscure aspect of foreign affairs. His credentials with Democratic arch-liberals are reasonably secure. He placed his favorite Adlai Stevenson, in nomination at Los Angeles in 1960. Earlier, backing his fellow Minnesotan, Hubert Humphrey, in the Wisconsin primary, McCarthy went beyond the call of duty in assaults on John F. Kennedy, whom the liberals eyed suspiciously. McCarthy wanted the vice presidential nomination with Johnson in 1964, when it was still no disgrace, in the liberal's view, to be associated with the President. The senator was pushed aside, of course, for Humphrey. The crushing of McCarthy's 1964 hopes left him a free agent, and he has since gained fresh stature with party liberals by attacking the President consistently on Vietnam. Right now he appears to be increasing his exposure to dissident Democratic groups, and the betting is he will decide to make a run for the White House next year—with his name entered perhaps in such primaries as New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Wisconsin, Oregon and California. War critics eager to "go!" the President suddenly see McCarthy as providing the missing focus for their endeavors. Very possibly the Minnesota could cause Johnson serious embarrassment, either by beating him in some primary and corraling convention delegates, or by coming close enough to suggest that huge opposition exists. But it has to be remembered that in 1964 the Democrats had 2,316 delegate votes overall. The 1968 total is unlikely to be much different. Only the wildest dreamer in the antiwar camp can imagine that McCarthy would come within several miles of the 1,150 votes needed to nominate. Johnson's adversaries have been strolling lately that the President is losing more and more support among the young, the academic community and religious leaders. New opinion polls underscore his slide among young people. But in 1964 only 24 percent of actual voters were 35 years of age and under, and that figure is expected to rise no more than a point or two in 1968. The young are great under voters. In the seasoned Democratic leaders, who will be strongly influencing the choice of convention delegates in most states, understand well where the actual votes are. A flurry for McCarthy in some primary states might shake them, but not enough to shatter their traditional support of an incumbent president.

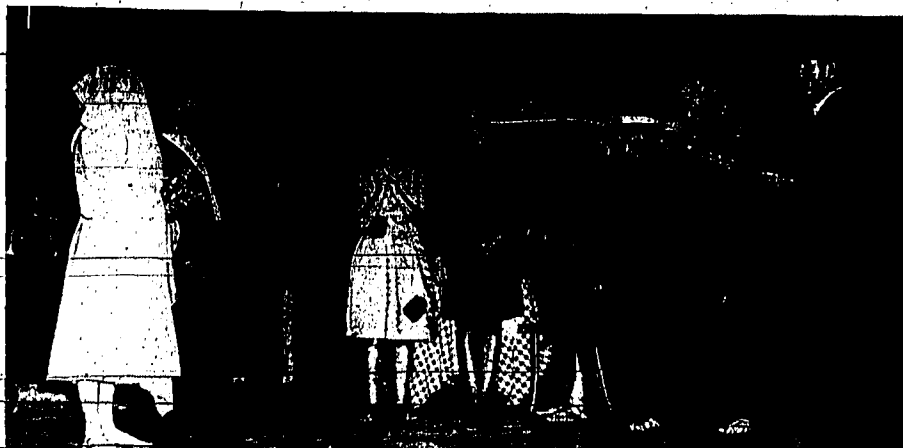

BARRY GOLDWATER Welcome Action

Churchill to John F. Kennedy have emphasized the necessity that such treaties mean exactly what they say — least an aggressor be tempted to test and probe to find out how strong the intent behind them might be. We have a real deal to make. We have from such tests and probes than from a "clear" posture of strength in the face of communism. But to make such treaties meaningful, we have to have an indomitable force in being and an indomitable will to use it if need be. If the defense policies of this nation are going, for economy reasons, to settle for intent, best in the development of strategic weapons systems, for instance, we simply will not have the power to put teeth into the pacts. It would be better for us to face such a fact now rather than to kid ourselves about it. We cannot bluff in the world. We really have to hold it in a card. If we don't, the president thing to do might be to fold. I do not want this country to fold or to abandon its place of leadership in the world. I do not want to see us turn to isolationism. I do not believe we can build a Maginot line against the Communists any more than the French were able successfully to maintain one against the Nazis. But the decision should be shared by all citizens. A review of our treaties might bring the question the attention it deserves. Such a review should and could establish, for all the world to consider, whether this nation is going to maintain a role of international responsibility and leadership or whether it is going to retreat behind a fortress America or Maginot line concept. In short: whether the United States is going to go isolationist. One fundamental would have to be established in regard to the treaties. Each one of them, in effect, faces us with the possibility of instant war. That is one of the reasons why such treaties are so great a force against aggression. Communist nations would always have to think twice if they really believed an attack against this or that nation would be considered as an attack against the United States. (Continued from Winston)

HAL BOYLE Mask Of Sameness

NEW YORK (AP)—Now and then life wears a mask of tire-some sameness. Everyday actions become irksome by their repetition. "I'm bored with it all," the soul exclaims inwardly in shallow self-pity. It helps at such times to put life in perspective by drawing up a list of possible adventures that might make the world more exciting. You may never perform these postponed pleasures, but it is fun to consider them. "I'm bored with it all," the soul exclaims inwardly in shallow self-pity. It helps at such times to put life in perspective by drawing up a list of possible adventures that might make the world more exciting. You may never perform these postponed pleasures, but it is fun to consider them. Find a varied treasure. Prove to my wife's satisfaction that the longest distance between two points is the shortest way home. Catch a mouse in a trap. Come in first in the rat race. Inherit fame or money. Tell a joke to a group of live people without at least three of them informing me later that they had heard it before. Discover any kind of food that tastes better after its calories have been removed. Reach up and find my brow is wet with honest sweat. Get a callus on my finger from counting the cash in my wallet. Shame the devil by telling the truth. Con a widow out of her mite. Win a game of stud poker aboard a Mississippi river steamboat. Wear a police press card in my handbag, as those reporter fellows do in the movies. Have any newspaper stop its presses and tear open the front page for any story I ever covered. Teach a love nest. Tattoo an eagle or a girl's name in living color on my forearm. Wrestle a boa constrictor. Keep a psychiatrist on the edge of his seat listening with awe to the tale of my troubles. Dance a dithyramb, the boogaloo, or a blith-strathpary. Make a secret rendezvous with any lady—of a kingly European royal family.

Humphrey Speaks To Young Demos

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey Saturday outlined "a coalition of retreat" in America and said "the retreaters will have trouble settling on one presidential candidate who will suit their divergent views of the world."

Humphrey added, "Those who think America is involved in the world for keeps and who want this nation to play a role of firm and creative leadership will vote for President Lyndon Johnson."

Humphrey said, "The coalition of retreat on foreign policy, is bipartisan; it runs from far right to far left, and its objectives are not homogeneous. 'The retreaters will have trouble settling on one presidential candidate who will suit all their divergent views of the world, but I think I can simplify their choice,' the vice-president said to more than 1,000 delegates.

Humphrey said, "Those who want to let the world settle the issues of war and peace, development and starvation without American participation will find themselves another candidate," Humphrey said.

Coach At Hansen Talks To PTA

HANSEN — Gordon Hogan, coach of football and basketball, showed films on football and basketball rules and an official's job is, at the PTA meeting Thursday night in the small gymnasium. He answered questions at the end of each film.

Hansen made the remarks in a speech before the national convention of the Young Democratic Clubs of America which had hours before shouted approval for a resolution "suggesting" that President Johnson consider "a bombing pause in Vietnam."

Humphrey called on the young politicians, all of them under 40, to support LBJ for re-election.

Humphrey said, "The coalition of retreat on foreign policy, is bipartisan; it runs from far right to far left, and its objectives are not homogeneous. 'The retreaters will have trouble settling on one presidential candidate who will suit all their divergent views of the world, but I think I can simplify their choice,' the vice-president said to more than 1,000 delegates.

Mrs. Ted Crockett gave a short report on the highlights of the PTA convention held recently in Twin Falls. She stated that an eight state program is designing education for the future, and there is a task force of 25 working in Idaho.

However, Democratic National Chairman John M. Bailey, who was at the convention, said "what they say here is important. I think the young Democrats are clearly in support of the President."

At the general convention session, called at midnight and lasting until after 4 a.m., a spirited call for the re-election of Johnson received a standing ovation that "outlasted" any other demonstration of the four-day meeting.

Tired Peddler Steps Out Of Nazi Limelight

By LUIS NOLI

PANAMA (AP) — The tired, old peddler suspected of being Adolf Hitler's last Gestapo chief has shambled out of the limelight a free man and says he expects his business of selling ties and combs to benefit from his international publicity.

Francis Willard Keith, who informants claimed was Heinrich Mueller, boss of Adolf Eichmann, went to the home of a well-known Panamanian family after the government released him Friday following 76 hours confinement.

The family said it had known Keith since the time he says he arrived here in 1940; five years before Mueller was last seen in Hitler's Berlin bunker just before the collapse of the Nazi regime.

Allies Aren't Likely To OK Cease-Fires

By BARRY KRAMER
SAIGON (AP) — The allies aren't likely to go along with three-day cease-fires at Christmas and New Year's and a seven-day halt for Tet which the Communists announced Saturday.

There is no doubt shorter cease-fires, running one day at Christmas and New Year's and perhaps 48 hours at Tet, will be observed by the allies.

Such truces have been the rule in recent years, though repeatedly marked by bloody incidents, and President Nguyen Van Thieu said Nov. 11 they probably would be observed again this time.

However, the two sides have never agreed on a cease-fire. Each has proclaimed its own. Because of the informality of these arrangements, the allies have always classified the attacks during the truce periods as incidents rather than violations.

But South Vietnamese and American officials are unwilling to accept the Communist government.

Washington Wednesday said it was not happy about the prospect.

1967 Fall Potato Crop Boasts Advantages 1966 Yield Lacked

By MARK BROWN

BOISE (AP) — The 1967 fall crop of Idaho potatoes has all the advantages that the 1966 crop lacked — favorable growing conditions, ideal harvest weather, adequate storage.

Despite prices which are running between 75 cents and $1 per hundredweight, below last year for fresh potatoes, all the experts predict a good year for the farmer.

Although the 1967 crop is, in total, smaller than last year's, the amount of marketable potatoes is greater. Last year's record crops was marred by a mid-harvest freeze which damaged many potatoes in the ground, causing them to rot in storage.

The competitive position of the state in the fresh potato market has been improved because two major potato producing states — Washington and Idaho — are having the same kind of problems. Idaho had last year.

In those two states, bad weather has damaged up to 20 per cent of the crop and delayed harvest. Idaho was able to beat them to the market.

"Idaho has had a fine distribution through the national markets," said Dr. Richard Ohms, University of Idaho extension potato specialist.

"The crop is of excellent quality and we have moved more potatoes into the market than at this time last year."

Despite the lower prices, Ohms said the producer is in a more favorable position than last year. One reason is that cost of production has been lower.

"Last year a farmer had to pay up to $1.50 in labor to get a sack of good number ones," Ohms said, "because it took so long to pick out the good ones from the bad ones. This year he can get it done for 50 cents."

Other factors also influence the price and profit for potatoes. Fresh market prices are seldom at their highest point during the early post-harvest season. As the first flood of harvested potatoes begins to thin, prices tend to rise.

As the processing industry uses up the potatoes contracted for in the spring, it begins buying on the open market — potatoes stored in cellars and warehouses. As the supply goes down, the prices again tend to rise.

Idaho potato farmers have generally good quality potatoes — average. By quality, last year's stored crop began to rot because of the freeze which caught them while still in the ground.

And the time during which fresh potato market could be considered a gauge of a good year for the farmer is passing. Each year the percentage of the total crop which is processed — made into dehydrated or frozen food products, starch or flour — has increased.

In 1966, nearly 70 per cent of Idaho potatoes sold were processed.

The coming practice in potato farming is to contract field run potatoes to a processor. In Idaho and adjacent Malheur County, Ore., 33 per cent of the total potato acreage was under contract to processors this year.

In past years, a contract has been for about $1.40 to $1.50 per hundredweight with incentive payments for higher than average quality potatoes and penalties for lower than average.

This year, according to John Shaw, secretary of the Potato Processors of Idaho Association, contract prices are "a little higher" than last year.

The 1967 fall crop of Idaho potatoes is forecast by the U.S. Department of Agriculture at 1.7 billion hundredweight, a drop of nine per cent from last year.

In the United States, the crop is forecast at 231 million hundredweight. Idaho's nearest rival in production is Maine, with 38 million hundredweight.

During the past week, prices for fresh potatoes paid at shipping point has been $2.75 to $3 per hundredweight for number ones and $3.10 to $3.75 for prime bakars.

RED'S TRADING POST

Hanoi In Midst Of Red Struggle

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

A carefully polite North Vietnamese rebuff to Moscow this week hints that Hanoi is uncomfortably in the middle of a Soviet-Red Chinese struggle for influence.

The development could mean relatively little—but it could mean a good deal, if, as some Americans persist in thinking, the Soviet political leadership is actively interested in creating a climate for negotiations in Vietnam; it could indicate that (four) of Peking plays an important role in Hanoi.

In connection with the celebration of the Bolshevik Revolution's 50th anniversary, the Supreme Soviet decreed the award of the Soviet Union's highest honor, the Order of Lenin, on Ho Chi Minh.

The decree said the award was in recognition, among other things, of President Ho's contributions to "the unity and solidarity of the socialist camp and the international Communist movement."

The Russians said the award "manifests our conviction that the parties and the people of our two countries will continue consolidating and developing our cooperation in the struggle against imperialism, as well as in peaceful creative labor." The decree itself described Ho as a "staunch fighter for socialism and Soviet-Vietnamese friendship."

not is not in a position to affront Moscow, whence comes the bulk of North Vietnam's economic and military support. But Ho's big neighbor, Red China, is looking on and likely would be irked should he accept an award from those Peking currently calls "revisionist renegades and scabs."

Peking could view an award extended in the name of "unity" as support for Moscow of the notion that international communism must take steps to end the splintering process in the movement provided by Red China's dissidence.

What Peking thinks of those efforts is abundantly clear. For days the Chinese have been denouncing Soviet efforts to bring about a world Communist conference. They have accused the Soviet leadership of using the Bolshevik celebration as an excuse for calling "an anti-Communist, anti-China, anti-people counter-revolutionary minister meeting of renegades and scabs" whose purpose would be to condemn China as the splitter of the movement.

Hanoi depends heavily on Moscow, but it depends in many respects on Peking as well. The reaction to the Moscow honor suggests it is having a difficult time staying on the fence.

Hanoi quickly announced that Ho sent a reply to the Soviet party's central committee, telling of his "boundless emotion" on learning of the decree, but adding that in the circumstances of the Vietnam war, "my mind would not be at rest should I accept now the particularly great honor."

"For this reason," said the message, "while thanking you with all my heart, may I ask you to postpone the presentation of that infinitely high and noble award until the day our people have driven off the U.S. imperialist aggressors and completely liberated our fatherland. Then, on behalf of all my compatriots, I shall receive with honor and joy the order bearing the name of the great Lenin."

The flood prose softened a reply which otherwise could be considered a sharp rebuff. Hanoi

Liner Drifting In North Atlantic

NEW YORK (AP)—The liner Crispinum, carrying 485 persons, drifted without propulsive power in the North Atlantic today after an explosion and fire in the engine room, the Coast Guard reported.

But, the Coast Guard said, the liner reported that there were no injuries to passenger or crew as a result of the incident Friday night.

The position of the liner was given as about 70 miles east of St. John's Newfoundland. The Coast Guard said the captain expected to have power back on the engine in a few hours.

TAXES-TAXES-TAXES

Yes, your tax bill will be higher in 1967 than in 1966. WHY? Simply because the COMBINED TOTALS of all TAX LEVIES as certified by the various TAXING DISTRICTS range from 3% to 19% more than in 1966.

TAX LEVIES are the prime basis on which your AMOUNT of TAX is COMPUTED.

The APPRAISED VALUE or considered FULL CASH value of your property, almost without exception remains the same in 1967 as it was in 1966. Tax payers are welcome at anytime to view the appraisal records of their property, as well as that of their neighbors if they so desire in the assessor's office.

If constant increases in your taxes don't meet with your approval it is manifestly important that you attend budget hearings, so that you will have a better knowledge of how your tax dollar will be spent.

The Assessor's office is not the PROPER PLACE to complain about taxes caused by HIGHER TAX LEVIES which will be the case in Twin Falls County in 1967.

This is a FACT FINDING message, not particularly a FAULT FINDING ONE. Once again, I feel that in fairness to the taxpayers of Twin Falls County that they be fully aware of the tax increase for 1967. Again hopeful that this will avoid an unnecessary trip to this office as to why.

CLIFFORD THOMPSON,
COUNTY ASSESSOR

THIS IS THE CAMPGROUND at which Blaine County's unsolved murder occurred. Glen A. Coppinger was shot to death in front of his trailer, parked at the spot this picture was taken. The scene here shows where a California couple was camped. Mr. and Mrs. Joel Panches, Santa Maria, Calif.,

Tourists And Residents In Blaine County Armed Themselves After Aug. 1 Murder

(Continued From Page One) "I plan to solve this murder," Sheriff Drexler said recently in his office. He was pouring over a red folder containing every detail of the incident. "Somebody there is a man who would give his right arm to know what I've got in this book," the sheriff said. He patted the book gently.

Sheriff Drexler said he had now evidence from the FBI, but declined to say what it is. Today, more than three months after the shooting, the case is still very active. Sheriff Drexler, aided by Idaho State Police investigators, Twin Falls Police officers, and Duce Cain and Guy Cole of the Sun Valley security office, has never given up.

"I guess in the past three months we've talked to at least 175 people in connection with this thing," Sheriff Drexler said. Mr. Coppinger, a Boise man, was living in the Holly area while working on pre-fabricated houses for the Boise Cascade Corp. A teen-age son, Larry, was not with the family at the time of the shooting, Mrs. Coppinger now returned to Boise to live, but is in contact with Sheriff Drexler.

"She's been very cooperative, and calls whenever she remembers something else about that night," he said.

Sheriff Drexler is a slim, silver-haired law officer who speaks slowly and deliberately. "Several suspects were picked up shortly after the shooting,"

Farm Bureau Asks Repeal Of Trade Law

BOISE (AP) — Farm Bureau Federation members resolved that Idaho's fair trade laws should be repealed and that the inventory-tax phase-out should be continued in closing sessions of their convention Friday.

The Idaho federation also voted to continue cooperation with other groups in efforts to obtain equalized freight rates, and if necessary by a lawsuit financed by donations.

One resolution passed asked that the state's fair trade laws be repealed and a "no limit" scale provision be enacted instead.

Another asked for continuation of the phasing-out of the property tax on inventories, livestock and timber products passed by the Idaho Legislature this year.

Proposed resolutions to require all farm equipment to display special "slow moving vehicle" stickers and asking that all paved roads have at least a center line were defeated.

So was one recommending that the Idaho Fish and Game Department study a program to require hunting license purchasers to pass exams proving they know how to handle firearms safely.

he said. One near Jerome was questioned, then released.

A description of the possible getaway vehicle has been furnished by Miles Nance, Ketchum, who was frying fish near the campground an hour before the shooting. He told officers he and his wife were at a forest camp near Trail Creek and saw a blue and white station wagon cruising on the highway near the Boundary Campground.

"With this information, we got hold of one real good suspect," Sheriff Drexler said. The suspect, not identified, was placed in the area at the time, had the same type of vehicle in question, and fitted the description. "He was given a polygraph test and questioned. I'm still not satisfied about him," the sheriff said.

Sheriff Drexler said he knows where the man can be reached, although he is out of the state.

The shooting, according to Sheriff Drexler, did not affect the tourist trade in the Sun Valley area, but "people who camped out armed themselves and it was a dangerous situation."

According to Sheriff Drexler, there is no apparent motive for the shooting-murder. "Robbery?" he asked. "I think not. People camping out generally don't have much cash on them. Not enough cash to risk a shooting."

He said it is a senseless killing, but added that he and all law officers connected with the case are "proceeding in all directions, trying to arrive at a solution to the incident."

The file in his office, combined with files in State Police and Twin Falls Police Department, heard the shots and aided the Coppinger family while a masked intruder made his getaway in a vehicle parked on a nearby highway. This campground, about four units large, was empty days after the Aug. 1 shooting. People in the area armed themselves then.

"There could have been more than one man involved in this," Sheriff Drexler said. He would say nothing further.

He and a deputy cover an area of 2,648 square miles. The constant Blaine County population is 5,400, but it can rise to 25,000 during an average tourist day. He and the deputy serve civil papers, control traffic, investigate all types of crimes in the county, and patrol to maintain law and order.

It is a fulltime job, without having to worry about an unsolved murder.

"But I worry. I worry a lot. It keeps me going," he said. The Coppinger case is never far from his mind, and several hours a day, the case gets full attention.

Soon, he hopes to get some rest. It will come when the case is solved.

forming arts, according to Mrs. Aldrich-Bowler, associate director of the Buhl Antique Festival Theatre.

Such a center would expand the educational experience through art forms, presented formally in performance and informally under study-stressed situations. It is planned to implement and inspire living presentations on the part of both teachers and students and to demonstrate the potential of educational programs in the arts through cooperation between school districts.

Since this is an experimental education project, approval by the Idaho State Department of Education and Office of Education is necessary before it is funded, in addition to the local board acting as sponsoring agent.

Funds for the project must be used for the special use stated and not for general operations, Mrs. Bowler noted at the trustees meeting.

Supt. Rex Engolking reported that replacements for Melvin Wilson, business education instructor, and Judy Heintz, special education teacher, have not yet been secured. He said some applications have been received and certification of the applicants is yet to be cleared with the Idaho State Department of Education.

It was reported Dr. H. E. Hammerquist and Harold Traxler will attend the state trustees meeting in Moscow. Dr. Hammerquist will report on teacher tenure and the contract laws as they relate to Idaho.

A state-wide education planning committee known as the Idaho Task Force for Education in conjunction with the Idaho Education Department of Education have requested local school districts to analyze and evaluate their programs of edu-

Dental Survey Is Taken In Blaine Area

HAILEY — Approximately 3,200 Blaine and Custer County grade school children participated in a dental survey which began at Mackay Elementary School and was completed at the Carey School Friday.

The survey was conducted by the Dental Health Section of the Idaho Department of Health in cooperation with local dentists, the Blaine County public health nurse, local school nurses and school officials.

Volunteer help in recording the survey was provided by local PTA groups and the survey was conducted by staff members of the Dental Health Section.

According to Dr. Allen Cutler, chief of the Dental Health Section of the Idaho Department of Health, this study is being made to determine the extent of dental health problems in the area-for-program-planning purposes.

The survey is made to arouse community interest in oral health, and to provide data for evaluation of future dental health programs and activities.

Dr. Cutler said individual reports of the inspection will not be sent to parents. The survey was conducted to determine dental decay experience in age groups, and as such consists of only rapid visual observation.

He stated that parents should take their children to the family dentist as often as he recommends, cut down on children's consumption of decay producing sugars and starches, and supervise their oral health practices at home.

A similar survey was run about four and one-half years ago.

Assisting with the survey at Ketchum grade school were Mrs. Martin Peterson and Mrs. Ben Walker; at Halley, Grade School, Mrs. Wayne Brower and Mrs. Ted Uhrig; Bellevue, Mrs. Uhrig and Mrs. Trudi Swanger; Wood River High School, Mrs. James Hurst and Mrs. Jesse Beckley and Carey, Mrs. Milton Bume.

cation. Trustees will meet in a special session Tuesday to establish the procedures that will be used to evaluate the "Buhl" school system. It is hoped that such an evaluation will be done primarily by local citizens.

Trustees approved a change in the morning bus route serving the students in the McCollum addition. Due to overcrowding on buses three and four, a separate trip will be made by bus seven to pick up all of the children in the McCollum addition. Because fewer students ride home on the bus in the afternoon, they will continue to ride buses three and four.

President Discusses Farm Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson told a national farm organization Saturday that there have been mistakes in federal farm programs and that his aim is to correct them.

In a telephone address to the National Grange convention, meeting in Syracuse, N.Y., the President said that he believes the farm income situation "should be improved and I hope is improving, but it is not improving fast enough."

"So I am going to be here trying to correct some of the mistakes that have been made. I am going to be here trying to preserve our farm program and to preserve a good healthy condition for the American farmer."

Johnson did not elaborate, but it was clear from the context that he was talking about federal programs.

CHANUTE AFB, Ill. (AP) — The pilot of a crippled Air National Guard transport carrying Gov. William L. Guy of North Dakota executed an emergency landing at Chanut Air Force Base Saturday.

Lt. Col. Alexander P. MacDonald of the National Guard brought the C-14 into the base with one of its four engines missing. The craft touched down on a runway half covered with foam.

Californian Speaks To School Aides

MOSCOW, Idaho (AP) — Max Rafferty, superintendent of California's public schools, said Friday educators must "bring back love for all this hate, they say everything would be real cool."

"Well, now, maybe they've got something. Of course, I'd like to be around—though at a safe distance—the first time our bearded and sandaled friends tried selling the virtues of love as opposed to hate to those two imminent peace lovers—Ho Chi Minh and Mao Tse Tung," Rafferty said.

He also blamed educators for promoting the "education myth." He said it should be made clear "education cannot wave a magic wand and cure all the ills facing America today."

Plans Made For Control Of Sugar

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman proposed Friday a sugar control program for 1968 which would limit marketings in the United States to 10,800,000 tons, raw value. This compares with 10,800,000 tons being allowed to move into this market this year.

Of the total, 3,025,000 tons would be allocated to domestic sugar beet producing areas; 1,100,000 tons to mainland cane producers; 1,265,375 tons to Hawaii; 1,140,000 tons to Puerto Rico; and 125,000 tons to the Virgin Islands. The remainder would come from various other countries.

American markets are supplied under a quota system which allows sale of specified amounts by domestic, offshore and foreign producers under a sugar control law.

The purpose of the law is to stabilize prices and supplies. Under the sugar law, Freeman has authority to increase quotas during the year should the market indicate the need.

The program is being submitted to interested persons who will be given until Dec. 8 to submit their comments. Shortly thereafter the secretary will announce the 1968 program.

Reunion Set

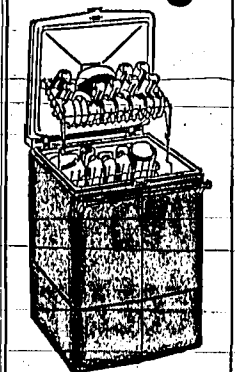

NEW YORK (AP) — A Vietnam veteran is scheduled to hold a reunion Monday with an old friend—a year-old dog who was a pet of several thousand GIs.

Spec. 4 Frank A. Coronato, 22, of Great Kills, Staten Island, will pick up Foo when the freighter Robin Hood docks at Bayonne, N. J.

Coronato, who recently finished a 12½-month tour in Vietnam, told of troubles he had in getting clearance to come to this country. "Coronato said he required more papers than I did."

Changes For Hospital Are Discussed

BLACKFOOT (AP) — Several major additions, alterations or adjustments at State Hospital South would have to be made should it be decided to consolidate the institution with State Hospital North and locate the combined hospital at Blackfoot. South Hospital Superintendent Dr. C. G. Stillinger and business administrator Dexter Fowler said Friday the consolidation would require: — An added 300 beds, to be obtained either from SHN or another source. — Additional tables, chairs and eating utensils to be used in dining room space believed already adequate to handle the extra load. — The possible necessity of relocating the institution, since the present authorization is for 543 beds and the total census in the combined hospital would be about 640.

Obtaining additional funds, estimated between 300 and $400,000 for food and medication, although no additional cost is forecast for operation and plant maintenance. — A possible increase in salary costs for nursing, dietary workers and housekeepers. — The probable initiation of some sort of state-supported clinical service to be furnished in the Lewiston, Moscow or Coeur d'Alene area due to distances involved. — In an outline submitted to the interim budget committee at its Blackfoot meeting, Stillinger Fowler said the consolidation at Blackfoot would create a serious overcrowding. But, they said, this would depend on the type of patients received — such as geriatric, ambulatory, custodial, acute treatment or bed cases. The change, they said, "would give us a census comparable to the 1958-1959 years."

Johnson Finds TV Secret

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has found for his television news conferences a not-so-secret weapon in a gadget called the lavalier microphone. Television professionals have been using them for years. They're nothing more than small mikes that hang around the neck by a cord. For all his TV exposure during four years in the White House, however, Johnson had not tried one out until Friday at his live television-radio news conference.

Johnson and his aides were elated with the results. Most Washington reporters who saw him either person or on the TV screen agreed he had turned in an improved performance. And the President was delighted to receive a growing stack of congratulatory telegrams which hailed his new TV personality. By using the around-the-neck microphone, Johnson was able to direct the rather formidable rostrum behind which he normally has stood in rather wooden fashion. Wired for sound, he could roam about, discard his eyeglasses and wave his arms and fists for emphasis.

For four years, Johnson has been searching for a way to hold televised news conferences in a manner that would not invite invidious comparisons with his articulate and photogenic predecessor, John F. Kennedy. It seems likely he will henceforth adopt the lavalier microphone as his own personal contribution to the ever-changing format of presidential news conferences.

"He'll never be tied to a rostrum again," one aide predicted. Because of his new freedom of movement, Johnson seemed to many observers to be much more relaxed and, in fact, to be bringing into the nation's living rooms the Johnson who, in the past, had been seen only by a few in private conversations.

In one sense, the whole country got a tube's eye view of the "Johnson treatment." Many thought it likely that Johnson, in the 11-plus months remaining before the 1968 election, will be much more willing to hold television-radio news conferences. Until Friday, he had held only three such all year.

Negro Mayor Says Riots Probable

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Richard G. Hatcher, the Negro mayor-elect of Gary, Ind., says the chance of a riot in his city is about as probable as in any American city.

"I think it is not a very good thing to speculate publicly about riots," Hatcher said Friday in the state where his parents were born.

He said the potential for a riot in Gary, a steel manufacturing city of 178,000, is "just about the same in every city in this country." Gary's population is about 55,000 Negro.

"If we would face the fact that there is something almost obscene about people living under conditions we would not want animals to live in," Hatcher, whose parents were born in Macon, Ga., was in Atlanta for a program commemorating Lincoln's oration of the Gettysburg Address in 1863.

He said his victory at the polls last week represents a triumph for Black Power, which he said is a concept "not necessarily bad."

"It is not a concept that is necessarily detrimental to the best interests of this country," said Hatcher, 34, a Democrat who edged out a white Republican for the mayoralty. He takes office in January.

"Some people try to make Black Power synonymous with violence and hatred, that simply is not true," he told a news conference. The mayor said his definition of the controversial slogan rejects violence and hatred and stresses consolidating Negro efforts to make gains.

Pair Acquitted Of Charges Stemming From $1.5 Million Mail Train Heist

By WILLIAM F. NICHOLSON BOSTON (AP) — Mrs. Patricia Diaferio, 32, and the mother of four, and John J. Kelley, 33, were acquitted today of charges of taking part in the biggest cash robbery in U.S. history, the theft of $1.5 million from a U.S. mail truck in Plymouth.

The defendants stood solemnly as the verdict was returned at 4:09 p.m., Friday slightly more than an hour after the 11-man, 1-woman jury was given the case after 11 days of testimony.

Mrs. Diaferio, a Boston resident, burst into tears when jury foreman Louis Alpert of Weston announced the acquittals. Kelley, of Watertown, broke into a huge grin.

"You could say I was just a little bit delighted," he said when he walked out of the courtroom.

Mrs. Diaferio hugged her lawyer, Joseph J. Balliro, as they walked down the hall and said, "I think he's a doll."

"We knew all along what the jury would do," said her husband, Santos. "The jury was just wonderful. Just wonderful."

The prosecution charged that Mrs. Diaferio was the woman who stood at a makeshift barricade at an exit ramp on Route 3 and helped divert northbound traffic off the highway so the truck could be robbed undisturbed about four miles up the road on Aug. 14, 1962.

The barricade was erected just as the mail truck traveled in rural countryside carrying cash mailed by Cape Cod banks to the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston.

The thieves bound and gagged the two-man crew on the truck and then drove it to a remote part of Route-128 in nearby Randolph.

Several witnesses identified Mrs. Diaferio as a big-bosomed blonde they saw at the barricade.

But it, Angus Perry, a pilot for Northeast Airlines, conceded he might have been mistaken in his estimate of bust size when Balliro had Mrs. Diaferio wear a tight blue sweater and stand sideways in front of the witness stand.

Statements Made After Romney Talk

WASHINGTON (AP) — Michigan Gov. George Romney's announcement he will seek the Republican presidential nomination drew prompt welcoming statements Saturday from some Republicans. Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., called the announcement "a courageous decision by a man of great courage," while Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., suggested the whole nation should take a look at Romney, who he said "has shown tremendous ability."

Griffin also pledged unequal support, saying "We have a winner." The Romney decision, Griffin said, "will be welcomed by millions of Americans who yearn for the fresh, vigorous leadership of a statesman with vision and integrity." "The battle ahead will be tough," Griffin said, "but the whole life of George Romney is a story of overcoming obstacles. He runs best when the going is rough." Scott glossed short of a direct endorsement of Romney, saying "I look forward to our next President being a Republican." But he praised Romney as an able man. "He has shown Republicans how to get elected and he has carried his Republican running mates with him to victory in Michigan," Scott said. "I know him and I like him. The people of Pennsylvania like George Romney and in him we have an expert prospect for our next President."

Udall Talks At Banquet For Church

BOISE (AP)—Idahoans have a big investment in the seniority of Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, Secretary of the Interior Stewart Udall said Saturday.

Speaking at a $50 a plate dinner for Church, Udall said there is "big work ahead in the next six years" and cited the Southwest Idaho Water Development Project.

"Idaho will be badly crippled in its work to make the Southwest Project a reality if it does not have a Democrat in the Senate," Udall said.

"Frank Church has a show now what he can do for Idaho."

Udall, in an interview with the Associated Press, said he was at the dinner in Church's honor as "a spokesman for the administration."

The interior secretary said Church has been "one of the real stars" in promoting legislation for conservation and water development.

He cited the creation of the federal land water fund, Senate approval of the wilderness bill and Church's efforts in behalf of the scenic rivers bill.

While Idaho Republicans occupied one Boise hotel plotting how best to defeat Church, the affair for Democrats began at another hotel.

The Republicans finished a day-long State-Senate-Committee meeting during which most talk centered on whether Rep. George V. Hansen, R-Idaho would seek the GOP nomination to oppose Church.

Indonesian Tribesmen

PONTIANAK, Indonesia (AP)—Dyak tribesmen in this jungled island are continuing massive attacks on Chinese, killing scores and reverting to cannibalism.

Horror-stricken missionaries coming from the interior reported that eight men in one village were hacked to pieces.

At least 15 villages, populated predominantly by Chinese in the interior, have been demolished. Several have been burned to the ground.

Chinese, who control the economy here, are pouring out of the inland areas by the thousands. Each carries only a little cash and a cooking pot.

The Dyak terror campaign, which began the last week of October, followed a declaration of war by the tribesmen on Chinese Communist guerrillas operating here.

But thousands of innocent Chinese have been dragged into the killings. Firm estimates place the dead at about 70.

Needy Persons Are Given Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—Five million needy persons received food during September under the Agriculture Department's domestic food aid programs, the programs included the food stamp plan under which the needy in areas where it operates get supplemental food by buying power in the form of food coupons redeemed by the government through banks and a program under which food is donated through local welfare stations.

The number assisted in September was 4 per cent greater than last June.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dr. J. Blom Phillipson has been elected president and general manager of Idaho Nuclear Corp., succeeding Dr. Charles Trent who returns to Aerojet-General, the parent corporation, for a new assignment.

A DUTY TO GOD AWARD is presented here to Karl Galloway by his mother, Mrs. Garth Galloway, Twin Falls. Mr. Galloway looks on. Karl is one Boy Scout of three given the award recently at the LDS Fifth Ward Church. The award was presented in ceremonies officiated by Bishop Alton Alexander. Karl is a Times-News paper boy.

Kennedy Plans No Support To Candidates

By JACK BELL (AP) Political Writer WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., has announced intention of campaigning either for President Johnson or the latter's possible opponent, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., in 1968 presidential primaries.

Kennedy, who has announced he will support a Johnson-Humphrey ticket for re-election, has made it clear to friends he feels this commitment to campaign for the President applies only after Johnson's re-nomination.

At the same time, he will avoid repudiation of McCarthy's views on Vietnam, which are essentially similar to his own. But he expects to stand aside while the Minnesota senator follows the path of primary contests.

The New York senator said recently he would have something more to say about his commitment if and when McCarthy officially enters the contest. But he has told his associates not to expect any startling pronouncement.

The guessing among them is that he will say it's a free country in which men are at liberty to oppose each other in the primaries but will avoid any specific endorsement of either.

This would mean that party members critical of Johnson who have rallied around Kennedy would be left on their own to follow McCarthy or to stand aloof from his crusade.

In the judgment of the Kennedy camp, McCarthy will have to provide something more than Vietnam dissent to make a respectable showing. The thing he will have to meld with are frustrations with the President's domestic programs.

If the Minnesota can do that, they do not discount the possibility that he could take away from Johnson some New York state convention delegates, chosen in primaries. This would mean a split delegation for Kennedy to head at the nominating convention.

Although President Johnson said Friday he doesn't know what McCarthy plans to do and "I am not sure he knows what he plans to do," Democratic colleagues say the Minnesota senator has left no doubt in their minds that he will enter at least four primaries.

Robert Kennedy is only one of several war critics likely to be embarrassed by a McCarthy campaign. The word has gone to Johnson strategists, for example, that Sen. Edward M. Kennedy hopes he won't be asked to run as a favorite son for the President in Massachusetts, where McCarthy has indicated a primary entry.

Sen. Gaylord Nelson, a policy critic seeking re-nomination, will be on a spot if the names of Johnson and McCarthy are on the ballot in the Wisconsin primary.

The same thing could happen to Sen. Wayne Morse in Oregon and to Sen. George S. McGovern in South Dakota if McCarthy gets into primaries in those states.

Most of these senators make no secret of the fact that they would be happy if McCarthy gave up his crusade. But they don't think he will.

At the same time, he will avoid repudiation of McCarthy's views on Vietnam, which are essentially similar to his own. But he expects to stand aside while the Minnesota senator follows the path of primary contests.

Alabama Correctional Center Teaches Prisoners Trades

By PIET BENNETT SWEIGNER, Ala. (AP)—Marvin, a three-time loser, is out of prison and earns $700 a month—honestly.

Johnny, a junior high school dropout booted out of the Navy with an undesirable discharge, a convicted forger and embezzler, owns a part interest in a barber shop and attends college in his spare time.

Dwight tried to hold up a loan company with a toy pistol, but the stickup went sour and he went to the penitentiary. Now, he's assistant manager for a California laundry.

The three men (only the names are false) are products of a pilot project in prisoner education being conducted at Draper's Correctional Center here. It has just celebrated its third anniversary.

"We don't have the easy ones to work with," says Mrs. Donna Seny, a program director in Draper's Vocational-Educational Demonstration Project.

Prisoners with the best records are sent to a minimum security prison. Draper keeps those more likely to cause trouble.

Only sex offenders are barred from the training program. Mrs. Seny says that's "just a precaution, but they really need more psychiatric help than we can provide."

The project has helped 271 inmates learn a trade. Prison gates have opened for 210 of the graduates and only 27 per cent have come back. Most of them are caught in what Mrs. Seny calls technical violations, such as excessive drinking and failure to report for work. Only 13 per cent have been returned for other crimes.

Before the Draper program began, about 70 per cent of Alabama's ex-cons were eventually returned to prison. Mrs. Seny says the national rate is about 60 per cent, although the experts don't agree on an exact figure.

Draper trains younger prisoners—their average age is 23—as welders, barbers, service station attendants and mechanics, electrical appliance repairmen, bricklayers and sign painters. Many of the courses are taught through programmed material developed here.

Courses in personal social adjustment and work relations are an important part of the program. Mrs. Seny calls these the things that help them advance in a job.

The effectiveness of the training is reflected by the fact that a barber shop and a garage have each hired six graduates.

Draper's 35 staff workers do not abandon the parolee after he is released. They watch his progress carefully and help him get necessary psychiatric or medical care—even an operation.

The Draper project is still growing. Mrs. Seny says plans are under way for centers in Alabama's major cities where trained counselors would be available at any hour to help ex-cons make the often painful adjustment to society.

Legal Battle Takes Shape In Manila

MANILA (AP)—A legal battle shaped up today as the victorious Nacionalista party of President Ferdinand Marcos asked the Supreme Court to annul the one Senate victory of an opposition Liberal.

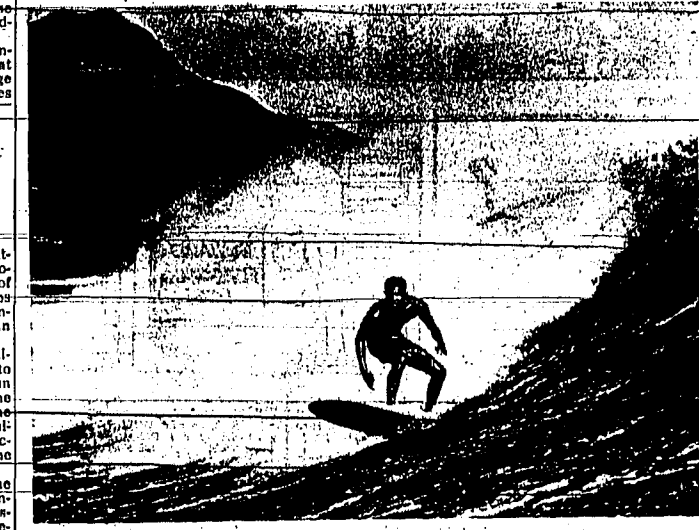

The court gave Benigno Aquino until Nov. 27 to reply to charges he had no right to run because he had not reached the minimum age for a Philippine senator, 35. That date is Aquino's 35th birthday and an election commission had ruled he could run.

Aquino, in turn, accused the Marcos government of "countrywide manipulation and emasculation" of the election returns.

With two-thirds of the returns in, Nacionalistas had won six of the eight contested Senate seats and 30 of 47 majority races. They secured 28 of 65 governorships and led in 20 others.

CHESTER, Pa. (AP)—About 50 shoppers stood on the sidewalk and cheered as four men battled in a display window of a downtown furniture store.

Police said one of them was a holiday man who tried unsuccessfully to rob the store Friday night. He was subdued and arrested.

LEAD DIRECTION REQUIRES SKILL

We always hesitate to write about lead-directing doubles because, in a sense, any time you double when your partner is on lead you expect him to consider his lead in the light of your double. Various specific conventions apply only to doubles

North's jump to three no-trump. Without a club lead South will knock out the ace of diamonds and start with nine top tricks. If he takes the spades and heart finesse he will actually make two overtricks.

Furthermore, no one could criticize a spade lead by West in the event that East had not doubled three no-trump. West would hope to hit his partner with good spades and enough other stuff to keep declarer from running off nine tricks before the spades can be run against him.

In fact, some people are prone enough to try surprise leads that they would still open a spade after their partner's double. That is, they would do so unless they were playing this specific convention. In that case they would open a club and hope for the best. The best would materialize. South would have to go after diamonds and East would collect one diamond, four clubs and 200 points.

A—Bid four spades. You don't expect that there will be a slam, but you certainly want against no-trump contracts. This does not apply. When you double a three, six or seven no-trump contract you are saying, "Partner! Lead my suit!"

TODAY'S QUESTION
East opens one club. You, South, hold:

of slam or three no-trump contracts. Against a freely bid slam, the double just asks your partner to make an unusual lead. Thus, if you have bid a suit and then double a suit slam contract, you are asking your partner to lead some other suit. Against no-trump contracts this does not apply. When you double a three, six or seven no-trump contract you are saying, "Partner! Lead my suit!"

Everybody Changes—Often For The Better

Remember toddling days when dad warned, "Don't touch the stove, you'll get burned!" If you have no p.s. "ouch" on that memory, you were one kid in a million! For most of us maturity is more a process of surviving our own mistakes than recognizing the wisdom of others. We'll look at 10 "ouch" signs and still insist on a finger test.

Call us human, and qualify that with "flawed"; we're flawed human beings. No one owns a road map for living, we falter along by trial and error. This "street is a dead-end avenue, we'll retrac our steps and try another boulevard. Ouch, that was an intoxicating experience, but what an unpleasant hangover. Never again! Exploring in this manner we're bound to make some mistakes. And others are sure to note our tumbles. If they will grant us our four-ups as they accept their own, we can still grow and learn and better ourselves. But if we're convicted, soiled and executed, that's the end of the line.

KEEP OPEN MIND ON SECOND CHANCE
Hardly what we want for ourselves, is it? OK, let's make sure we open second chance to others. Examples are in order. Meet a guy named Phil. We've known him for some nine years, and for eight years he was walking under a perennial gloom cloud. Everything he saw was quickly judged a "waste of time." Negativism was his creed. Eight years seems long enough to evaluate a guy. But how fortunate for us that we agreed to try one more project with him. For when we started to work with Phil this last Spring, we discovered that contact lenses, a girlfriend and insights from a college psychology class had released a new man. He bubbles, he sparks, he's one of the most delightful people we know now, and does he get positive, good things done. Let's examine Celia and Clyde. Celia is a blue-skies gal. She's always making elaborate plans to go over the rainbow, and then stubbing her toe on half-a-dozen mundane details that crash the whole scheme. It's frustrating and working with her, but shall we rule her out because of past glories? Or do we try again to collaborate, this time electing her ideal girl with her ideas supervised and broken into step-by-step components by practical Clyde? Good idea? But Clyde's been known to liberate some club funds for his own use. Not possible to use him? Or, since his slip was three years ago, could we give Clyde another chance? From our examples (all true cases, incidentally), you can see we believe in second chances. Some might call it reforming. We'd prefer to just recognize the fact that people can benefit by experience.

TIME BRINGS WISDOM
Time brings rust to metal, rot to wood, but wisdom to humans. What about us? Do we welcome a reformation or block it, justifying "He'll never change. It's just an act." We must on our own compassion and "you're out" criterion, we declare ourselves inflexible, a dangerous claim. To whom do we owe a second chance? How about the little guy who was such a pipe-squawk in the 7th grade? Doesn't he deserve at least one date in his junior year to show you the guy he is today? So you was a bully 10. Now that his older brothers are out of the house and no longer tormenting him, could he be different from the school-yard sadist he was? What do we want for ourselves? Do we want to drag the ghosts of years past in clanking chains after us each day, or do we want compassion and a second chance from others? In freeing others, we grow less rigid, more capable of working with a variety of people and more valuable ourselves. Maybe we get taken once in a while, but when we dare to trust someone, we're never a fool no matter how much we are fooled. More often than not, our trust will inspire lifelong loyalty. And the benefits of such a trust may sweet echoes over the years: "Someone gave me a chance once, so I'm going to give you the benefit of the doubt today..."

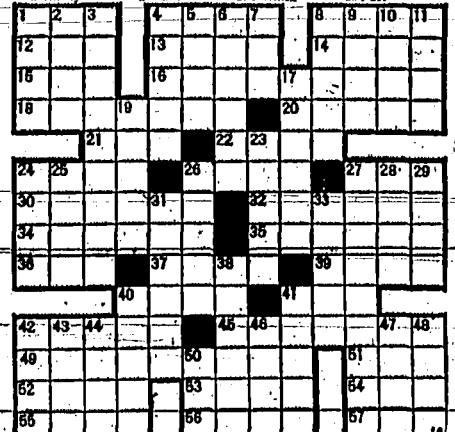

Formal parties don't occur very often, but when they do you'll want to be aware of some of the special and everyday etiquette involved. For Ele and Walt's helpful "Prom Newsletter" rule her out because of past glories? Or do we try again to collaborate, this time electing her ideal girl with her ideas super-

Times-News Sports Editor

When one sits down to figure out an all-day football team he immediately runs into problems finding interior linemen.

A year ago the area produced some fine players, immediate standouts and consensus picks.

But in keeping with the old honored tradition of picking we've come up with our players that most impressed us during the season.

Again this follows the Times-News pattern of making the selection a one-man's opinion.

At quarterback we find a re-peater in Twin Falls, Va. Von Roper, who can do more things with his hands than anyone in the area.

At halfback we find a re-peater in Twin Falls, Va. Bob Blake, who can do more things with his hands than anyone in the area.

dridge kicked the extra point to clinch the Bruins' first victory over UCLA in three years and atone for their 3-0 loss a week ago to Oregon State.

Executive Director Tom Hamilton of the Pacific-8 Conference made it official that Southern Cal would go against the Big Ten representative in the big New Year's Day bowl game in Pasadena.

A crowd of 80,772 jammed into Memorial Coliseum for the annual struggle between the cross-town rivals in a game in which UCLA needed either a tie or victory to win the bowl assignment.

Simpson, a junior speed merchant, began his memorable run from the Trojan's 36, ran to the left toward the USC bench, reversed the field, opened the throat and raced on in with no one touching him.

Equally brilliant was the UCLA quarterback, Gary Behan, who just a minute before had thrown a 20-yard touchdown pass to Dave Nuttall, that put UCLA in front 20-14.

But the try for the extra point by Zenon Andrusyshyn was wide to the left and the failure cost UCLA the Rose Bowl trip and possibly their No. 1 national ranking.

Behan, in the Bruins' last touchdown, completed four of five passes for 57 yards and the extra drive for what looked like the winning tally.

UCLA halfback Greg Jones ran 12 yards on a Behan-guided drive for the Bruins' first touchdown, but a Behan pass into the flat later in the first period was intercepted by Pat Cashman, who raced 55 yards for the tying touchdown.

N.M. State Romps Over New Mexico

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)—Quarterback Sam Olivinas passed for five touchdowns as New Mexico State pulverized New Mexico 54-7 Saturday in a season-ending football rivalry that had a short-lived exciting start.

Olivinas' touchdown plays covered 52 and 17 yards to end Howard Taylor for a 14-7 half-time lead. He added 20 yards to wingback Mike Carroll in the runaway second half.

The performance by Olivinas shattered a New Mexico State record of 18 touchdown passes in a season, giving him 19 and bringing his career TD pass mark to 40, which tied another school record.

The game before the smallest crowd in the seven-year history of University Stadium, 8,326 persons, left New Mexico State with a 7-21 record and handed New Mexico of the Western Athletic Conference a 1-9 work-sheet in its third straight losing season.

Olivinas completed 20 of 30 passes for 408 yards. He combined with Taylor on the Aggies' first play of the game for a score and a quick New Mexico State lead.

Keyes Sparks Purdue To 21-7 Victory Over Michigan State

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP)—Purdue's Leroy Keyes, national scoring leader, caught a pass for one touchdown and threw for another Saturday in a 21-7 football victory over once mighty Michigan State.

The twisting, turning Purdue halfback picked up 193 yards on the ground in 24 carries in helping keep the ballmakers in beating in Big Ten Conference play.

Purdue, beaten only by Notre Dame and Michigan State last year en route to the Rose Bowl, finished its vengeance business for the year with a convincing victory.

Notre Dame Blasts Georgia Tech 36-3

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Notre Dame hammered Georgia Tech into submission 36-3 Saturday with a three-touchdown outburst in the second quarter that continued Irish domination of the intercollegiate football rivalry.

Gladius scored again on a plunge in the third quarter and the Irish added 10 points in the last period on Joe Azarov's 31-yard field goal and Ron Dushney's 20-yard touchdown run.

Bob Bartzick kicked all three extra points.

Surprising Tar Heels Upset Duke

DURHAM, N. C. (AP)—Quarterback Gayle Bomar scored one touchdown and passed for another as inspired North Carolina upset Duke 20-9 Saturday in an Atlantic Coast Conference football game.

A crowd of 44,000 saw North Carolina bring a frustrating season to a rousing finish by dominating play throughout.

The Tar Heels, who had beat only Maryland in nine games this season, scored touchdowns in the first, second and third periods.

The Tar Heels scored again in the second period on a five-yard pass from Bomar to end Charlie Carr to cap a 41-yard drive.

North Carolina rolled 66 yards for its third period touchdown with Dick Wasotowski diving over from the one. A holding penalty against Duke figured in the drive.

Duke's Bob Reisenfeld kicked a 45-yard field goal in the third period. The Blue Devils ended their scoring with a touchdown early in the final period on a 12-yard pass from Larry Davis to Frank Ryan. A 22-yard run by Davis set up the touchdown.

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Lynn Moore, whose clutch 22-yard pass reception set up the winning touchdown, knifed over from a yard out with 6:56 to play to give Army a 21-12 victory over Pitt Saturday.

Moore, a sophomore halfback, grabbed Steve Lindell's pass and rammed to the one, two plays before on a fourth and 15-yard situation.

Richmond Stuns William-Mary

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP)—Astonishing Richmond shook up William & Mary with a bone-rattling defense and the running of halfback Joe Kellum Saturday and whipped the Indians in football for the first time in five years, 16-7.

Another halfback, Mike Dixones, scored both splinter touchdowns on one-yard plunges in the opening period, but it was Kellum's running that kept the Indians from posting a victory at their homecoming game.

THIS IS HOW Roger Rouse was knocked out by the light heavyweight champion Dick Tiger in the 12th round of their title fight in Las Vegas, Nev., Friday night. Tiger TKOs Rouse, Worries About Home

By BOB MYERS Associated Press Sports Writer

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Indestructible Dick Tiger, still the light heavyweight champion of the world, pocketed his $75,000 guarantee Saturday and made plans to return to his violently disturbed Africa, where he may not have a dime.

The 38-year-old former two-time world middleweight champion retained his crown in the heavier-115-pound-division when he stopped the No. 1 contender, Roger Rouse of Anaconda, Mont., in the 12th round of their scheduled 15-round fight in the Las Vegas Convention Center Friday night.

Held virtually to even terms by the jabbing Roger through eight rounds, Tiger scored clean knockdowns in the ninth and 10th rounds and ended it with one punch, a right that caught Rouse coming in, in the 12th.

Referee Jimmy Olivas didn't bother to count the last time. In the strife in Africa, Tiger may have lost his worldly possessions in his native Nigeria, from which his people have succeeded to form the new Republic of Biafra.

But Tiger learned just before the fight that his family—including his newly born seventh child—is safe in Biafra. It was the first word he had received since he slipped out of Biafra almost six weeks ago.

The attendance was a disappointing 3,733 who paid $44,500. Madison Square Garden of New York, co-promoter with the Silver State Boxing Club, guaranteed $50,000 television money.

The show about broke even, give or take a few thousand lost by the Garden.

Arizona Tops Air Force On Late Drive

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Arizona put together the only two sustained drives of the afternoon for touchdowns in a come-from-behind 14-10 homecoming victory over the Air Force Academy here Saturday.

Arizona used 17 plays on an 88-yard march and 12 for 51 yards on the other.

The Air Force Falcons hit on a 30-yard scoring pass from Steve Turner to Dale Moorhead on the second play after Carl Jansson intercepted a Bruce Lee pass on the Arizona 40.

Jansson intercepted again on the Falcon nine as Arizona threatened in the final minutes.

Tim Sarnoski of Arizona missed field goal attempts of 39, 32 and 37 yards but kicked both conversions.

Dennis Louthamer kicked a 32-yard field goal and the conversion for the Falcons.

The Air Force is now 2-5-2. Arizona is 3-1-1.

The Falcons couldn't capitalize on two chances late in the final period when they made a pass interception and a few minutes later Ken Zagzabski recovered a Danny Joe Ryan fumble.

96-Yard Drive Points Oklahoma To Orange Bowl

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—A 96-yard drive, climaxed by a 30-yard touchdown pass, marched the Sooners into at least a Big Eight title tie and an almost certain Orange Bowl bid with a 14-10 triumph over Kansas Saturday.

The Sooners, trailing 10-0 early in the third quarter scored in the waning moments as quarterback Bob Wernick found and Steve Zabel in the open for the go-ahead touchdown.

Oranges, held by the criss load outside the Owens Stadium gates in anticipation of an Orange Bowl bid, trained down on the field.

The final touchdown shattered a Kansas dream which had been masterfully constructed by Bobby Douglass. He guided his team to a 23-yard field goal by Bill Bell in the first quarter and then stepped over from the one-yard line for what appeared to be the clinching touchdown.

But the Sooners, roaring back with their mighty offense, scored with Steve Owens running seven yards on the first possession after the Kansas touchdown.

The only Kansas touchdown came after a Sooner punt attempt which was blocked at the Oklahoma 25 and set Kansas up at the Sooner 10. Douglass, on a fourth and one situation, stepped in behind his right guard with the score.

The Oakland Raiders will have almost everything going for them Sunday when they attempt to solidify their Western Division lead in the American Football League by defeating the Miami Dolphins in one of four games on the circuit's schedule.

The Raiders will be at home, well rested because they were off last week. They are riding a four-game winning streak while the Dolphins have lost seven in the last 10.

In addition, the Raiders' closest pursuers, San Diego and Kansas City, will be meeting on the Chiefs' field, New York is at Boston and Denver at Buffalo in the other games. Houston is not scheduled.

The Oakland-Miami game will be the only one between the two this season. The Raiders, leading San Diego by one half game and Kansas City by 1 1/2, defeated the Dolphins twice last year, 23-14 and 21-10.

The Dolphins moved the ball well, gaining 243 yards, against San Diego last week, but lost 24-0. Bob Griese, going all the way at quarterback, completed 13 of 39 passes for 186 yards without an interception.

Kansas City, defending league champion, has scored 127 points and yielded only 37 in putting together the first regular season victory off their 3-10 triumph over Boston in which Lenny Dawson completed 19 of 20 aerials for 186 yards and two touchdowns.

San Diego beat the Chiefs 45-31 earlier this season as Dick Post gained 116 yards in 15 carries and caught four passes for 43 yards.

Bobby Bell, all-league linebacker, is a doubtful starter for the Chiefs because of a severely sprained ankle.

Utah State Downs Utah 19-18; Arizona Staters Top Brigham Young 31-22

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP) — Tallback Alie Taylor capped a quick hitting Utah State comeback Saturday when he jacked into the end zone in the fourth quarter to give the Aggies a 19-18 victory over Utah in a traditional cross-state football rivalry.

Taylor's TD climaxed a 20-yard burst outside tackle and ended an 84-yard, six-play drive.

Utah senior Jack Gehrke came off the bench early in the fourth quarter to engineer the Utah 80-yard drive to their only lead of the day.

Gehrke's 18-yard pass to tallback Charles Smith gave the Utes an 18-13 lead with 6:40 left.

Starting on their own 16 after the kickoff, USU netted seven yards in three tries, then drove the final 77 yards on three explosive plays.

USU fullback Frank Nunn picked up the first 35 yards on a quick opening drive. Quarterback John Pappas then hit tight end Gene McKeehan for 22 before Taylor bolted over for the touchdown.

The Aggies built a 13-6 halftime lead on the passing of Pappas and field goals of 33 and 34 yards by senior Jim Murphy.

Lightly-Rated Bugged Wins Richest Race

CHERRY HILL, N.J. (AP) — Bugged, so lightly regarded early in the year that it took a $10,000 supplementary fee to make him eligible for the race, came charging out of the closely packed field and won the $314,535 Garden Stakes on a cool, showery Saturday afternoon at Garden State Park.

Under the lash of Eddie Belmonte's whip, the C.V. Whitney colt emerged from the pack about 70 yards from the finish and held on for a neck decision over favored Iron Ruler, 1 1/2 m. Peter Kissel's October 11 o.m.s. Farm.

It was a length back to Family Fun from Lou Wolfson's Hat View Farm in third place.

Another 12 lengths back came Francie's Hat from Al Lipp's Saddle Rock Farm for fourth in the field of 13 2-year-olds.

For his fourth victory, his first stakes, in 11 starts, Bugged earned $188,721 as compared to his previous bank balance of $34,000.

Overlooked by the most of the crowd of 32,083—the mutual machines were kept busy calculating the possible payoffs, on such highly regarded juveniles as Iron Ruler, Sublet and T.V. Commercial—Bugged paid $33, $13.20 and $8.80.

Dallas-Washington Rivalry To Steal Some Of NFL's Spotlight

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Dallas-Washington clash, suddenly one of pro football's hottest rivalries, figures to steal some of the attention from Baltimore, Green Bay and the three-team struggle in the National Football League's Century Division in weekend games.

The last four games between the Redskins and Cowboys have been decided by a total of 10 points with a total time of one minute, 41 seconds remaining.

Dallas, 7-2 and leading the Capitol division by three games, is a solid choice over Washington, 3-4-2, in the Sunday afternoon game at Dallas, but two recent developments make it look a little tight.

Cowboy quarterback Don Meredith still is troubled by a sore shoulder, and the Redskins have ace receiver Charley Taylor back in action after missing most of the last three games with a pulled hamstring muscle.

The game will be televised (CBS-TV) to most sections of the country as the second half of the television doubleheader, beginning at 4 p.m. EST.

Baltimore, 7-0-2, risks its unbeaten record at home against Detroit, 3-4-2, and rebounding Green Bay, 6-2-1, is at home against tough San Francisco, 5-4, in a couple of other major attractions.

Los Angeles, 6-1-2, is at Atlanta, 1-7-1; St. Louis, 5-3-1, is at Chicago, 4-5; Minnesota, 2-5-2, is at Cleveland, 4-4; New Orleans, 1-8, is at Philadelphia, 4-5; and Pittsburgh, 2-6-1, is at New York, 4-5, in other NFL action.

In the American Football League, Denver, 1-5, is at Buffalo, 3-8; Miami, 1-7, is at Oakland, 7-1; New York, 6-2-1, is at Boston, 3-6-1, and San Diego, 6-1-1, is at Kansas City, 6-3.

All games are Sunday.

Meredith is expected to start for the Cowboys, but still had some soreness in his throwing arm today. Meredith hit Dallas Receiver with a 36-yard touchdown pass with 10 seconds remaining in the Cowboys' 17-14 victory over Washington earlier this year.

The Redskins, who must win to retain any hopes for the Capitol Division, rallied for a 31-28 victory over San Francisco last week, with Sonny Jurgensen

Their only first-half touchdown was late in the first quarter on a two-yard pass from Pappas to flanker Mike O'Shea.

Murphy's kick for the conversion was the eventual winning margin.

Utah sophomore quarterback Tim Collins hit flanker Bill Fowler with scoring passes of 14 yards in the second quarter and 36 yards in the third.

Syracuse Overpowers Boston 32-20

NEWTON, Mass. (AP) — Bowl-hopeful Syracuse struck for two quick touchdowns, including a 37-yard jaunt by Rick Cassata on the second play from scrimmage, and then fought a battle of football frustrations Saturday before overpowering Boston College 32-20.

Cassata, a senior quarterback, and Larry Csonka combined for a tremendous attack as the Orangemen kicked their record to 7-2.

Syracuse dominated the action, but had trouble after Csonka's one-yard touchdown plunge at 5:05 of the first period.

The Orangemen found themselves in a desperate battle for survival until midway through the final quarter. Then, while leading 19-14, Syracuse linebacker Jim Cheyunka intercepted a BC pass and returned 25 yards for a touchdown.

After forcing a punt, Syracuse bounced right back, Cassata passing 18 yards to Jack Jones for another score.

Csonka, Syracuse's all-time leading rusher, gained 18 yards on the first scrimmage play of the game, moving the ball to the BC 37. On the next play Cassata cut back after faking a handoff, broke to his left and raced for the touchdown. Csonka carried 30 yards for 184 yards.

Cassata's 38-yard drive a few minutes later, but BC rebounded and moved 76 yards for a touchdown, Joe DiVito passing 10 yards to Steve Kives in the end zone.

Montana
Roars Past
Portland

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Bryan Magnuson scored three touchdowns in the first half Saturday, leading Montana to a 55-7 victory over Portland State in a nonconference football game.

Thinking advantage of four turnovers by Portland—State Montana had a 35-0 halftime lead and easily recorded its seventh win of the season against three losses.

Magnuson scored on runs of 22, 7 and 4 yards. Rod Lung ran 14 yards for a score and Rick Strauss scored on a 55-yard pass play from Ed Steiner before intermission.

Jim Searies sparked the second half for Montana, passing 40 yards for a touchdown and Strauss and scoring on a 1-yard run. Steiner also ran for seven yards and Montana's final score.

Portland State's only score came in the third period on a 49-yard pass play from Ed Gorman to Don Suloff.

Holy Cross
Drops Rutgers

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP) — Quarterback Phil O'Neil passed for two touchdowns and ran for himself to guide Holy Cross to a 21-10 football victory over Rutgers Saturday.

Brusling running by Steve Jutras, Tim Hawkes and 5-foot-4 Ralph Lilore provided most of the Crusader attack, on a cold rainy day which drove most of the 16,000 fans home by halftime.

TEMPE, Ariz. (AP) — Arizona State, led by the running of fullback Max Anderson, handed Brigham Young University a 31-22 Western Athletic Conference football defeat Saturday night.

Anderson, a 170-pound senior, rushed for 151 yards in 24 carries and scored twice, once from 22 yards out and again on a one-yard plunge.

Plunker J.D. Hill tallied the other two ASU scores, one of them coming on a 65-yard punt return after BYU had capitalized on early Sun Devil miscues to take a 9-0 lead.

BYU, which scored early in the opening period on a 28-yard field goal by Dennis Patera, tacked on another score only minutes later when end Phil Odle went over with a 22-yard pass from Terry Safford.

The Sun Devils took the initiative in the second period and virtually put the game out of reach when they scored three touchdowns. A 33-yard TD pass from quarterback John Rosebrough to Hill closed out the scoring in the first half.

The second half was a series of frustrations for BYU, which moved the ball consistently for 20 minutes only to see their drives blunted by crippling penalties or fumbles.

The Cougars were unable to put the ball across for a score until 1:08 remained in the game, when Lloyd Jacobsen caught a 28-yard scoring pass from Marc Lyons. ASU's only score in the second half came on a 32-yard field goal by Bob Rokita in the final period.

Tennessee Romps Past Rebels,
Appears On Way To Orange Bowl

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Tallback Walt Chadwick passed over Ole Miss since 1958, virtually clinched the Southeastern Conference championship for the Volunteers and made them an odds-on choice for a trip to the Orange Bowl.

Tennessee romped to a surprisingly easy 20-7 victory over Mississippi in nine plays. Chadwick threw a 10-yard scoring pass to end Terry Dalton, Fulton, who returned to action for the first time since being injured on Oct. 14, picked up 30 yards on the drive and Chadwick added 12 more.

Mississippi has only 100 games against lowly Vanderbilt and Kentucky standing in the way for its first league title since 1966.

Mississippi's lone score, in the first period, came at the end of six-play drives that covered 41 yards after a pass interception. Baby Wade plunged over from the one.

The rest of the game was dominated by Tennessee, with quarterback Dewey Warren moving the Vols through the air and Charlie Fulton and Chadwick leading a crushing ground attack.

Minomna's Ben, under Earl J. Knapp, led most of the way but Chadwick, with Larry Adams riding, cut the front-runner midway the stretch and they battled furiously to the finish.

Adams claimed foul but it was not allowed and they split field and second money of $9,817.

Codorniz paid $2.80 while Minomna's Ben returned $4.80. Reles of War was third in the field of seven, reduced when Country Friend, the high weight and favorite, came down with a fever and was scratched.

Wichita Thumps
West Texas State

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — A fired up Wichita State University offensive unit combined with an inspired defense in the second half and downed West Texas State 22-13 Saturday.

Two Shocker sophomores, tallback Kenny Lee, kicker Rich Anderson and linebacker Rich Stivers, a junior, did most of the damage for Wichita State. Lee, a 6-foot, 105-pound established two Wichita State offensive records—116—earned the ball 53 times and picked up 204 yards. Lee also scored two touchdowns.

Anderson also shattered two Wichita State kicking marks. The 5-9, 175-pounder booted two first half field goals and added another in the second half to give him a record five for the season. One of Anderson's field goals was from 44 yards out, all-time setting a school record.

TENNESSEE'S flying ace Walter Chadwick takes to the air in the first half of action to set up Tennessee's first touchdown against Ole Miss. Tennessee won the game 21-0. (AP wirephoto)

Quick Scores Lift Indians Over Cal 36-3

STANFORD, Calif. (AP)—Two touchdowns within 22 seconds in the fourth quarter gave California a 36-3 victory over Stanford Saturday night in the "Big Game" series that began in 1902.

California quarterback Randy Humphries passed 10 yards to end Wayne Stewart for the game's first touchdown five seconds into the final quarter to take a 12-3 lead before 74,500 fans.

After the ensuing kickoff, Nate Kirkman fumbled and Mike McCaffrey recovered for California on the Stanford 21. On the second play, Humphries passed the 21 yards to Stewart in the end zone.

BULLETS WIN
NEW YORK (AP)—Jack Martin tossed in 11 of his 22 points in a fourth quarter Baltimore surge, leading the Bullets to a 101-82 National Basketball Association victory over the New York Knickerbockers Saturday night.

Coach Bill Yeoman started sending Tom Tresser well before the half was over.

for a post-season bowl because of a probation status imposed by the NCAA for recruiting violations.

Idaho moved into the Astrodome with a traveling squad that included 17 sophomores and the undermanned Vandals had only one serious threat before they covered a fumble at the Houston 38 late in the third period.

Six plays after the recovery, Jim Wickboldt passed 26 yards to Rich-Toney for the lone Idaho score.

Steve Garman's runs and passes had sparked an early 42-yard Idaho threat to the Houston 7, but the Cougars held on the Vandal offense was seriously hindered on the first play of the second quarter when the Idaho quarterback suffered an injury that sidelined him the rest of the game.

The 77-points broke a Houston school record set last year with a 73-14 victory over Tulsa.

Herbert's 11 conversions also erased a mark of 10 that he set against Tulsa.

By the time Yeoman began calling on his reserves Houston had piled up a total of 342 yards to only 61 for Idaho. Houston finished with a net of 622 while limiting the Vandals to 172.

In addition to scoring two touchdowns, Gibson left the game after only a few third period plays with a net of 103 yards in 20 carries. He ran his season rushing total to 1,022 yards. McVea did not play the second half but had 89 yards in 9 plays.

Navy Ties Vandy In Last Minute

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—Navy quarterback John Cartwright hit end Rob Taylor in the end zone with 44 seconds left Saturday to salvage a 35-35 football tie with Vanderbilt which had rallied for 20 points in the last.

Cartwright, setting an academy record for single game offense, moved the Midshipmen 66 yards in less than two minutes to set up the tie in a wild finale in which four touchdowns were scored.

But John Church's kick for the winning extra point was blown aside by a strong 20-knot wind.

Vanderbilt, trailing 29-15 going into the final quarter, had taken advantage of two Navy fumbles and a short punt into the teeth of the wind for three touchdowns to vault into a 35-29 lead.

A 35-yard scoring toss from Roger May to Dave Strong with little more than two minutes to play gave Vanderbilt what appeared to be the victory. That touchdown, closely followed an 11-yard scoring pass to Jim Whiteside and a one-yard scoring plunge by Whiteside.

But Cartwright quickly marched the midshipmen downfield for the tie, hitting Taylor with several passes.

In the process, Cartwright ran his total offense for the game to 358 yards. The record had been 308 set by Helaman Trophy winner Roger Staubach in 1964.

Minnesota Shatters Indiana 33-7, Nears Rose Bowl

By LEW FERGUSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP)—Bravely Minnesota shattered Cincere Indiana's dream of a perfect season Saturday as Curt Wilson ran for four touchdowns and passed for another to give the Gophers a 33-7 victory for the inside track to the Rose Bowl.

Minnesota needs only to defeat Wisconsin next Saturday to make its third trip to Pasadena in eight years.

Indiana, which had reeled off eight straight victories to gain a fifth place ranking in The Associated Press college football poll, not only saw its perfect record smashed but also its hopes for the school's first Rose Bowl appearance were dealt a crucial blow.

BARRY CONSO (16), Indiana University quarterback, is downed by University of Minnesota's Tom Wickal (11) for a six yard gain during the first quarter of the Big Ten game in Minneapolis. Minnesota upset Indiana 33-7. (AP wirephoto)

THE BONFIRE IS as traditional at a high school pep rally as a hot dog is to a football game. This roaring fire behind the Twin Falls High School was set Thursday night in pre-game activities. Fire department officials, along with a fire truck, were on hand to see that the blaze didn't get out of hand.

A PROTEST RALLY? Not really. Unless, of course, you consider that these students are protesting against apathy. They are yelling for more spirit — school spirit. And the shout, "WE'RE GONNA WIN!" grows louder.

LOOKING LIKE A MONSTER, this high school boy received the wrong end of a whipped cream pie, all part of the activities that make up their big day. The boy was hit with the pie because his class failed to yell the loudest.

We Will Have These Moments To Remember, And With Any Luck We Will Forget A Few

By JAN A. SAINSBURY
Times-News Feature Editor

If that big day at high school seems like it happened only yesterday, then it's probably later than you think.

If it seems like only days ago when you went out on that most special of dates, and then you suddenly remember that then FDR was president — well, it makes you think.

But certain things always happen, seemingly on cue, during at least one of the "big days" at every high school that has ever existed.

Noise parades, pep rallies, school assemblies, air horns, all go to make up that one day that everyone who has ever been to high school remembers. Sometimes they remember several big days, all wrapped up together — but they remember something, nevertheless.

In my school we put old cheese in the ventilation system, and nailed the doors to the girls' rest rooms shut.

We were playing our biggest game of the year, and we were determined to win at all costs.

Still, in the excitement, no one realized that doing these things would not help our team one bit. But we didn't care. It was fun.

We climbed up the fire escape on the tallest hotel in town and threw water bombs (balloons filled with water) at the open cars which passed below in the mid-day parade through the center of town. We fought five year old kids for candy kisses thrown out of passing cars in the parade. We knew we were older and bigger — but after all — they were faster.

And we drove all over town, six of us in a car, trying to entice (pick-up) sweet young girls. It never worked.

At least not when we had six in the car.

There was always one or two who had read the label on a beer can earlier and thought he was drunk, and acted like he thought he was drunk.

And some were loud, and some were mean, and some were funny, and some just held hands and smiled a lot. Everyone cheered.

At the assemblies the boys dressed up like girls, and the girls felt a bit self-conscious. The senior class clown was warned not to tell an off-color joke or he wouldn't graduate —and he told it anyway; and he graduated.

Teachers complained that the students were getting out of hand, which is what they said the year before, and the year before that. It was true then. And it's true now. And it will be true a hundred years from now — as long as there are students and teachers and big days.

At the beginning everyone knows the home town will win. It just has to be. To even say that they might not is treason in the highest order. And thirty seconds before the final gun sounds at a humiliating 59 to 7 defeat the cheerleaders scream "SPIRIT — WHERE'S THE SPIRIT — YOU'VE GOTTA HAVE SPIRIT. COME ON GANG . . . YELL!"

And when the final gun does sound, the pretty co-eds jump and slap their hands in the air, broad grins on their faces, not really knowing at all that a loss is not something to cheer about.

We always got home too late, and our parents were never really understanding. When we grew up — it would all be different.

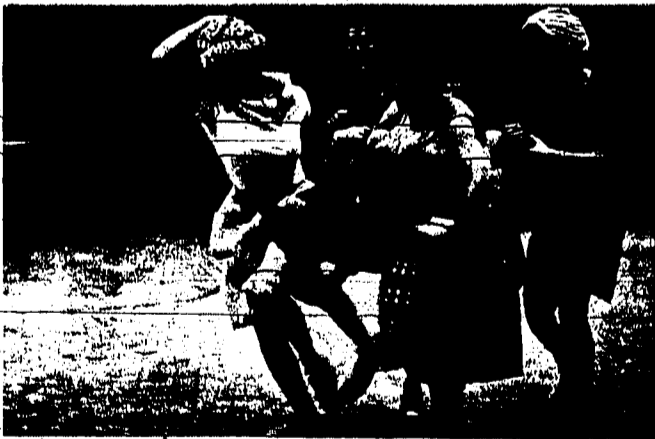

So very, very different . . .

AND THERE ARE ALWAYS PRETTY GIRLS TO LOOK AT . . .

AND TO LOOK AT . . .

REMEMBER: THE BOYS always dressed up like girls? and everyone laughed . . .

KEEPING COOL IF, not calm; Miss Claremarla Emerson, Brain Day Queen, is crowned in ceremonies before her subjects, the students at Twin Falls High School. Miss Emerson is a senior at the school.

AUTHOR OF A BOOK—about fire-fighting in Western forests, William R. Filler, Burley, looks at the first copy from the press which was received last week. A retired Navy man, he has resided in Burley the past year and one-half. The new book is entitled "Where There's Smoke."

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

William R. Filler, who has made his home in BURLEY for the last one and one-half years, is the author of the new book, "Where There's Smoke," a big novel about the men who fight man's relentless enemy, fire, in our Western forests.

The first copy of the published book was received by Mr. Filler this past week at his home, 204 W. 25th St., Burley.

"There just are not words to describe the excitement and joy of holding and seeing the first copy of your own novel," Filler stated.

Born and reared in a small Pennsylvania farming community, Filler elected to gain knowledge through travel rather than in high school. A non-too-successful three-year Navy career was followed by working eight years on the Southern Pacific Railroad engine service.

Ten years of the depression dictated versatility in endeavor: two years in CCC camps and US Forest Service, and several more years in industrial and highway construction.

His service career was renewed in a Nevada National Guard unit. He was commissioned from the ranks in 1942 to serve in Europe, occupied Japan and 13 months in Korea.

Loss of useful vision forced retirement as major in 1960. In 1963 he began writing his novel in longhand and being unable to see his work, he became discouraged. In February, 1964, he entered a school for the blind and was taught to type.

"They also taught me a new outlook on life which I am grateful for their teaching," stated Filler.

In August, 1965, Filler again returned to his writing, now able to type his story. The days and months began to roll by with the work of writing and re-writing. The manuscript was at last completed and mailed to Carlton Press, New York, the publishers, in March, 1966.

When asked where he got the background for the story, Filler said much of the information was gained during the two years he spent in the CCC camps and the Forest Service lookout station where he lived and worked for one year in the Nevada mountains.

The fast moving story is also a convincing plea for an awareness of the beauty and value of the great trees of our timberlands.

The story concerns ex-Army Lt. Gordon Baird and moves from the courtroom setting which is the scene of his conviction and disgrace to the great outdoors of the high Sierras where he attempts to overcome his clouded military past by becoming a fire lookout in the Forest Service.

On a lonely tower on top of Mt. Baldy in the very heart of a great wooded area, he finds love in the person of lovely Juanita Stanhope, who owns a summer home located in the mountains near the lookout station.

He also finds final vindication and a smashing climax is provided when he defeats a Communist conspiracy to destroy by fire a considerable area of valuable timberland surrounding Stanhope's folly.

This comes as the last in a series of planned holocausts that enlist all the combined efforts of the men of the Forest Service and hundreds of volunteers to extinguish the big blaze. The descriptions of their struggles provide a high point of the book.

With its varied and well-rounded characters, its action spiced with romance and danger, "Where There's Smoke" makes for an unforgettable reading experience.

Carlton Press has set Dec. 4 as publication date for Filler's book, "Where There's Smoke." As soon as copies are available an autographing party is being planned by Mrs. Max Murray at Sadie's Gift Center, 230 13th St., Burley. Date and

FIFTH CHINESE DAUGHTER

By Jade Snow Wong

Jade Snow Wong was the fifth daughter of the Wongs, born in San Francisco. Until she was five years old her world was almost wholly Chinese. Life was secure but formal — sober but quietly happy — and the few problems she had were concerned with what was proper in the behavior of a little Chinese girl.

She learned discipline early but she knew her mother loved her because she made her bright silk Chinese dresses for holiday wear, embroidered with gold thread and bright-colored beads, and washed her, and cleaned her white buckled sandals. Father must love her because he taught her her first lessons from Chinese books and put her high on his shoulder above the crowd so she could see the Lion Dancers on the streets at Chinese New Year and sometimes he took her downtown with him on business errands to the foreign American world.

Later she went to live with an American family and they encouraged her to go to school dances, where she met her first "beau."

It was he who advised her to go to San Francisco Junior College since she could not afford to go to the university. Here she really learned the difference between the Chinese world and the American way. After she graduated she was persuaded by friends to go to Mills College where she was offered a scholarship and jobs to pay her way. She lived with the Dean of Women and through her met members of the faculty and other students. At Mills she learned to think "even more in the Western pattern."

One summer she took a course in "Tools and Materials" and thus was introduced to the wonder and marvel of pottery — she rejoiced that at last she had discovered the fascination of clay. She was graduated from Mills with a Phi Beta Kappa membership and Distinction in Economics and Sociology.

After graduation Jade Snow sought a teaching position but was told she could not expect to get anywhere because racial prejudice on the Pacific Coast was a handicap to her. She did find work in the shipyards and it was here that one of her bosses told her she could never expect to get far in the business world because she was a woman.

When she was seven Jade Snow started to go to an American public grade school where she learned new games and how to read from left to right. Her father continued to teach her to read Chinese and to write the intricate Chinese characters. She asked her mother how long she had to go to school and was quite surprised that she "would have to spend practically all her life in school."

Father — Wong — or Daddy Wong — as he encouraged, his family to call him, manufactured denim overalls and all the things she needed as they grew old enough and all the girls helped with housework. So Jade Snow was kept busy in the factory. In the home and at the two schools.

Jade Snow was a high school senior when she decided to work away from home and her first job was serving party dinners and washing dishes for her family who labored by type rather than name, "the noisy family," "the apartment house family," "the political couple," and "the bridge-playing group."

She decided to accept his challenge and proceeded to open a tiny shop in the window of a store on Grant Street where she installed her wheel and displayed her stock for the passing public to see. Jade Snow Wong is still in the business of making pottery and has expanded her field of expression to other forms of art.

A brass and cloisonne plate is on display at the Twin Falls Library which a kind friend allowed us to show so that the public may know what beautiful things Jade Snow Wong makes.

Your Spine and Your Health

By Dr. Ludwig C. Landwehr

X-Rays give information about your spine and body, they enable the doctor of chiropractic to analyze your spinal balance — and — health. X-Ray and palpation (feeling with his fingers) are important factors for him — on your spine which he partially bent his diagnosis. The D.C. examines the relationship of the bones of the spine to each other and to other bones and structures. Many postural conditions result from occupational causes or other activities that put abnormal stresses on parts of the body and ultimately can cause more physical problems.

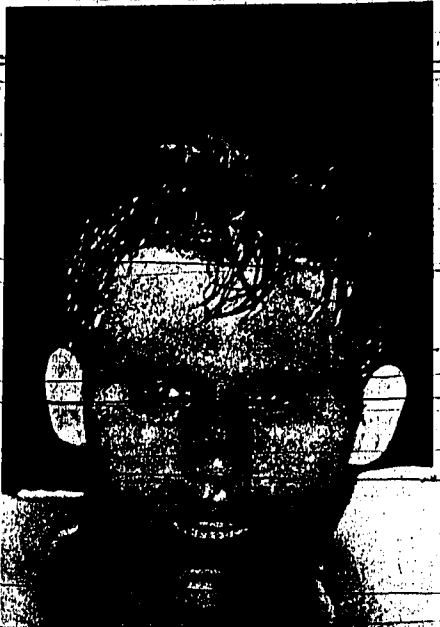

X-Ray diagnosis aids the doctor of chiropractic to correct your problems and enables him to give you sound advice which can help avoid future illness and/or discomfort.

Radar May Solve Problems Of Flocks Of Birds In Air

BOULDER, Colo.—A University of Colorado electrical engineer is using radar to monitor the migration of birds.

Dr. Warren L. Flock hopes to learn more about:

The possible role of radar in reducing hazards of collisions between aircraft and birds.

The way flocks of birds cluster up radar screens making it difficult to track aircraft.

Ultimately, results of Flock's research may provide federal aircraft controllers with a basis for establishing bird migration predictions, or for a system that will guide aircraft around or over large flocks of birds in much the same manner they now guide planes away from thunderstorms or other disturbances.

His research even may help biologists improve their techniques of studying bird migration, and flights from roosting to feeding areas.

The need for this kind of research is self-evident, Flock believes. "Fatalities and considerable aircraft damage have resulted from collisions between birds and aircraft," he said.

Flock pointed out, "An astronaut was killed while piloting a plane in Texas. A commercial aircraft crashed on takeoff at Boston, and another airliner crashed in Maryland after colliding with a Whistling Swan. The CU engineer said the U.S. Air Force spends about $10 million annually repairing aircraft damaged by collisions with birds. "In 1965 bird strikes required the replacement of 75 jet engines costing up to $130,000 each," Flock noted.

"We've established the ability of radar to detect flying birds. On the other hand many persons, including some concerned with operating radar systems, are quite unaware of this capability. Operators who have worked with radar for many years, for example, may be surprised to learn that birds can be detected," Flock said.

He said there are at least three reasons for lack of familiarity with bird echoes:

"Most radar operators are not interested in birds so they haven't been expecting to see bird echoes."

"It's necessary to know how to look for bird echoes, which may not be at all obvious in normal operations."

"It's widely held that bird echoes have been eliminated from radar detection by circuits designed for this purpose. This is not the case."

Flock acknowledged that circuits designed to minimize bird clutter on radar scopes have been successful up to a point. "They can't, however, blot out echoes from flocks of birds. And," Flock thinks, "it might be a mistake to eliminate all bird echoes."

Flock, a bird watching hobbyist since youth who has made a career of studying electronics, chides himself for not recognizing the possible merits of this study sooner.

He thought about the problem for about a year. Then, last spring he began his experiments with the cooperation of the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) Air Route Traffic Control Center at Longmont, Colo., and the FAA's facility at Denver's Stapleton International Airport.

CU recently was awarded a $5,891 grant from the Air Force Office of Scientific Research to enable Flock to continue his research through next September.

Flock isn't alone in his concern and research. Canadian authorities are conducting exhaustive studies on the problem. Frank C. Bellrose, a biologist with the Illinois Natural History Survey, also has been active in radar studies of birds in the Midwest and the East.

Flock currently is concentrating his study on bird movements in the Central Flyway, a path birds take out of Canada to reach the Gulf Coast. This path takes birds over Montana, parts of Wyoming, and Nebraska, northeastern Colorado, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas.

The birds show up as "blips" on any bright radar screen.

The CU engineer is able to trace their movement by making time exposure photographs of radar screens.

Working with the close cooperation of FAA officials at Longmont and Denver, Flock has been able to obtain good pictures of large formations of birds over Lusk, Wyo., North Platte, Neb., and smaller formations near Stapleton Airport. Radar images picked up at Lusk and North Platte are transmitted to the Longmont FAA facility for viewing and interpretation.

Flock has been helped in his project by Flight Lt. W. B. Lange of the Royal Canadian Air Force, who was a CU graduate student last year.

GRANT OSTERHOUT

MAGIC VALLEY PORTRAIT . . . Local Man Admits That He Never Left His Heart In San Francisco

Almost everyone at one time or another has heard someone say about the city of New York, "It's a great place to visit, but I wouldn't want to live there." But that particular phrase is seldom said about one of our nation's other great coastal cities: San Francisco.

Grant Osterhout of Twin Falls, not only says it, but stands behind his statement with his reasons why. His first reason as he puts it is, "A genuine love for Magic Valley."

Grant Osterhout is a 41-year-old Twin Falls businessman, who is married and is the father of two children. For the past three years he has been General Manager of the three offices of the Reliance Credit Corporation, located here, in Boise and in Gooding.

Grant Osterhout started with Reliance Credit Corporation shortly after his return to Twin Falls and the Magic Valley area from San Francisco, in 1951. He has been with the company ever since.

In San Francisco, he attended school at the Golden Gate College, studying Accounting and Business Law. He also worked for various firms during his stay in that city, working almost exclusively with credit, thus laying the foundation for his present position as General Manager with Reliance Credit Corp.

Mr. Osterhout was born in Idaho and raised in the American Falls School system. He went into the service in 1943 until 1946, during which time he served in the Armed Guard and I love the independence of Idaho. "In Idaho," Osterhout continues, "and especially in Magic Valley, the people are friendly . . . and I like that. I like people, but not in very large numbers. And I do enjoy the fact that here you can walk down the street and see people you know and enjoy. In San Francisco if you see someone you know on the street it's a miracle."

In Twin Falls Grant Osterhout plays a lot of golf, something he never did in San Francisco. He also serves on the Advisory Committee for the Office Occupations Class at the Twin Falls High School.

Why does Grant Osterhout like Idaho so much . . . and why doesn't he want to live in San Francisco?

"I love professional football, and I do miss that part of San Francisco. I'm a 49ers fan. I used to live in the football stadium on weekends in San Francisco," says Osterhout, "but I'm glad I'm here. I love to fish

A SUCCESSFUL IDAHO hunter checked this exceptionally large 230 pound, six and a half year old mule deer through the Marzing check station this year. Regional game biologist Dick Norell of the Idaho Fish and Game Department is shown weighing the animal. Age and sex information is also taken on game animals. Then this information is compared to previous years and with other areas. This animal was killed on McBride Creek in Owyhee County by David Hicks of Boise.

Didn't Get Elk Or Deer? Take Heart, Great Hunter, You're Not Alone

By JIM HUMBIRD

Idaho Fish-Game Department There is more than one way to judge how good or bad an elk or deer season has been. Idaho's fame as a big game state dwells so many others that hunter success figures tend to lose their meaning. Hunters who do bag an elk or deer say the season was good. Those who do not score will that it was a bust. Nothing will change their minds. Nonresidents who have hunted in other states boast that Idaho is the place to go, whether or not success crowns every trip.

Compared with other places, Idaho is tops among the few elk states, and very good for deer. However, it is worth pondering that three elk hunters in four do not get game, and that one deer hunter in two does not bring home venison.

Game managers say that both the elk and deer success ratios would climb if hunters just would stay with it and keep going out until they get their elk or deer—or both.

Statewide figures show that the number of hunters who kill deer is the first time out in season is about 10 per cent of all the men, women and youths who are trying. The ratio is much less on elk hunters.

In other words, a 50 per cent hunter success ratio for deer is the average over a full season, with nearly half of all nirmonds going out after deer every week or so until success crowns their efforts. The sad truth is that the rest just go out once and give up.

This means that 100 hunters will bag ten deer on their first trip out. If all 90 of the unsuccessful hunters try at least once more—which won't happen—and 40 per cent of them find game, all still will have undried legs.

By the end of the season, slightly more than half of the starting Idaho hunters have shot deer. Most of the others made just one or two safaris.

Such odds may seem out of line to hunters who have tried hard and failed to get some wild meat for the deep freeze. It is a fact, just the same, that Idaho's deer and elk hunter success ratios are higher than those of most other states. Especially is this true for elk and Idaho has led the pack in all but one of the last 15 years.

Looked at still another way, Idaho hunters bagged more than a half million whitetail and mule deer, and 116,869 elk from 1959 through 1966. These filled food lockers with chops, steaks and roasts, hamburgers, bolonias, sausages and pepperoni. The chase filled a spiritual need to get close to earth and its harmony for a brief spell, and it brought brisk trade to numerous small tradesmen in all parts of the state.

There are still good opportu-

Thefts Of Traffic Signs Are Reported

In the past few weeks in Twin Falls no less than 12 traffic signs have been stolen or demolished by vandals, City Engineer Ron Scheufele said Friday.

Four signs, including the two stop signs from a railroad crossing on South Lusk Street, which had just been installed, disappeared Thursday night, city police reported.

Mr. Scheufele said most of the signs are probably in some college or high school student's room. He warned that theft of the signs constitutes a law violation and persons caught taking the signs or with them in their possession will face court action.

The traffic signs, he said, are costly and are the property of the public. Mr. Scheufele urged residents to report missing traffic signs immediately because of the danger of accidents, and to report to the police if they see what might be the theft or destruction of a sign.

Cemetery Area Election Slated

WENDELL—An election will be held Dec. 4 for one commissioner of the Wendell Cemetery Maintenance District for sub-district No. 1 to serve for a term of four years.

Incumbent T. H. Boyd is not seeking re-election, but Ben Kober and Edward Gunning are competing for the post.

The election will be held at the Civic Club rooms from 1 to 7 p.m. The electors of the entire cemetery district may vote for the commissioner and no previous registration is required.

Petitions may be filed with Mrs. Eleanor Freeman, clerk, until Nov. 27. Petitions may be obtained from Mrs. Freeman.

As all game animals, they do respond to human invasion of their range, as well as to the availability of food, cover and other necessities of life. They may move, and they do become wary.

"So, it is worth saying again, the best success in deer hunting comes from knowing the area to be hunted, knowing deer habits, and going out time and again until Lady Luck smiles."

MRS. SUE DO, from Taipei, the capital city of Taiwan, visits with Mrs. Roy Painter, of Twin Falls, in her home. The two ladies became friends after Mrs. Painter discovered through a mutual acquaintance that Sue Do was working at the Magic Valley Memorial Hospital. Mrs. Painter has spent time vacationing in Taiwan.

Taipei Trip Ties Twin Falls Duo Together

Friendships often begin in the most unusual ways. Not long ago, Mrs. Roy Painter, of Twin Falls, never dreamed that she would become fast friends with a girl from Taiwan, a small country halfway across the world. She had visited that country, and had returned without ever having met the girl. And for Sue Do, or Sue Shih, depending on which country she is in, it was a surprise to meet someone from America, especially Twin Falls, who had not only visited Taiwan, but had spent considerable time in a modern hospital in that city, for it is Sue's job to work in a hospital here in America.

But it happened, and both are happier for it. Sue Do, as she calls herself in this country, has been in the United States for four years, and admits to being "over 25 years old," but won't say how much over. She just smiles and says she read in an American book that women here didn't have to say. And it seems that American customs are at work in other areas, at least until Sue returns home next year. She has used her husband's name of Do in this country, because of our system whereby the wife takes the husband's name. But in Taiwan that is not the case. There she is Sue Shih, and her husband is Joseph Do. When asked how someone knows whether or not she is married, she has a most logical answer. "My husband tells them." Simple. Sue came to the United States in November of 1963 to work on her education, majoring in Medical Technology at Utah State University. There she met Joseph Do whom she had known in Taiwan, and they were married two years ago. Joseph is majoring in Food Science and Technology.

A final part of Sue's training is the practical experience gained in laboratory work in a hospital. She applied to the Magic Valley Memorial Hospital, "for many reasons, but an important one was that I liked the name; it sounded so friendly, and besides I wasn't far from my husband who is still in Utah." But how did Sue Do meet Mrs. Painter?

Not so simple. Mrs. Roy Painter was on a tour of the Orient and visited Taipei, a city of a million people, and the capital of Taiwan. During the early days of her trip, she fell in the hotel in which she was staying, and broke her hip. Mrs. Painter spent the next 32 days in the hospital in Taipei. She was impressed with both the country and the hospital facilities, and feels that she received more than excellent care, at a very moderate cost.

Her doctor was Dr. Su-Wel Teng, who received his training at the Harvard Medical School, and is a consultant to our armed forces.

After Mrs. Painter's return to the United States she still hadn't met Sue, who had been at Utah, and who moved to Twin Falls just recently.

Mrs. Painter was to deliver a speech on her trip before the Presbyterian Church Women in Twin Falls, and in her conversation with a woman in that group she learned of Sue and her work at the Magic Valley Memorial Hospital. Mrs. Painter contacted Sue and was able to arrange through the hospital's cooperation for Sue to accompany her to the program. And since then they have been good friends.

Sue enjoys America, and Americans. She is somewhat in question of its youth, however. "I think that some of the young people do not respect their parents as they should. In our country we do what our parents say because that is the way we were brought up." When Sue and her husband Joseph return to Taiwan, they will leave a good friend behind. And one can never leave behind many good friends.

MRS. SUE DO, or Sue Shih, which is her maiden name, and is the name she goes by in her home in Taiwan, uses a slide-rule to compute formulas in the laboratory at the Magic Valley Memorial Hospital.

Blue Pencil Is Won At Meet

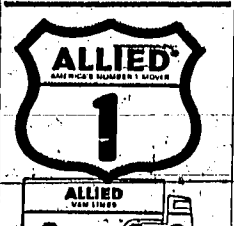

Mrs. Kenneth Show won the Blue Pencil when the Twin Falls Toastmistress Club met Friday morning in the Colonial Room of the Roperson Hotel. Her topic was "Presidents and Music."

Other speakers were Mrs. Ben Eldredge and Mrs. Richard Tucker. Mrs. John Burkhardt was appointed a member of the educational task force being organized to evaluate the Twin Falls School system.

Theme of the meeting was "Our American Heritage." Mrs. Daryl Anderson led the pledge to the flag and gave the invocation. Mrs. Terry Sullivan and Mrs.

William Claborn were guests. Mrs. Burkhardt presented textology and Mrs. Eileen Lindemood gave table topics.

Want Raise In Pay? Here's How To

Get It... Assuming Your Boss Agrees

Four of every 10 men who walk into the boss' office to request a salary increase walk out rejected. According to "How to Get a Raise," an article by Myron Brenton in the November issue of "Man's Magazine," most raise-seekers are turned down because they simply haven't mastered the art of getting a pay boost.

As in everything else, there are rules to follow in requesting a raise, "indicates Chester Burger, who has served as management consultant for more than 100 corporations and owns his own New York consulting firm. Although the rules sometimes vary with the personalities and firms involved, there are many hard-and-fast measures that working men in all fields are advised to follow. Two apply particularly to men who have begun new jobs, and are looking forward to paving the way for a pay raise.

1—"Get that raise before starting." The employee can negotiate beforehand for a stipulated raise after six months or a year, provided that he subsequently demonstrates an ability to produce as per expectations.

2—"Plant the seeds that will sprout a raise." Chester Burger, a strong proponent of this idea, points out that although an employee may have no definite guarantee of a raise when he begins a job, the feeling he generates after several months of sincere, dedicated enterprise will give the employer no qualms about giving a raise.

For the man who has been on the job a while and is seeking more money, there are three major rules:

1—"Know the company you work for." A basic knowledge of the functions of the entire firm—not just the immediate department—will help. This includes, of course, knowing the superiors who carry the most weight, who approve raises, which departments are doing well, which might be looking for a man to step up, etc. Simply getting to know fellow employees and their jobs, and how one's job relates to theirs, can be very helpful.

2—"Make the company know you." There are many sad cases of men who put in long hours on the job, without complaint, slavishly, diligently year after year, but who consistently get by-passed when it comes to raises and promotion. This is often because they are too content to work in the shadows and fail to make their efforts known. Visibility is the key word. According to best-selling author Vance Packard, "The Status Seekers," "The Pyramid Climbers," "Increased personal visibility has become central to the strategy planning of many of the knowledgeable young men in large organizations."

There are many ways of achieving visibility. Packard tells of one lower-echelon executive who made it a point to get to know everybody who counted in his company. He deliberately took on an extra routine job, organizing the vice president's file of reports and making the file a more organized and valuable tool.

Many men participate in trade or organization programs in order to gain visibility. Also, asking the boss questions about the business, and seeking his advice, will make the employee visible. But he has to be sincere in his approach or else the boss will smell a phony. The sycophantic worker is the type any boss can do without.

If one of the requirements for getting a raise or promotion is to be visible, a wage-earner either has to play the game or pray for a miracle.

3—"Show the company you are a mind-expander." A good way to gain the boss' favor is to demonstrate your interest and desire to make use of your ability. Experts suggest that every man ask himself some challenging questions about his job and its significance to his company, and if he might be able to elevate himself. The elevation could be done via special training, either on-the-job or at an outside institution. If a boss knows that a man is looking to get ahead in his firm, by taking on the added responsibility of his study, or knows that the man has eagerly undertaken an on-the-job course, the employee becomes a prime candidate for consideration when future pay boosts and promotion are due.

Even workers who can't try for raises in conventional ways—union men—often earn extra money from their employers.

These men, although their raises are guaranteed automatically at fixed amounts under the terms of their contract, take advantage of the bonus plan—in operation at many companies—which rewards workers for suggestions on improving company efficiency.

Ford Motor Co. makes awards of up to $5,000 for accepted suggestions, and also throws in a Ford Galaxie to the man who makes the best suggestion each year. An International Business Machines (IBM) employee once received the astonishing sum of $10,000 for a single suggestion.

Over a 17-year period, a General Motors die-caster named George Horzli has gained an additional $41,905 for 35 suggestions.

Of course, before anyone can think about getting more money from his firm, he should always make it a point to put himself in "the boss' shoes" for a while and consider a few factors.

"I think this is a desirable approach whether or not a man is applying for a raise," says Ernest Henderson, board chairman of the Sheraton Corporation of America. "It could help him recognize whether a raise is justified, as well as help him recognize where he could do better." A hard look at yourself and your work production may convince the worker, in the final analysis, if his quest for a raise is actually worth consideration.

The boss is only interested in job performance—and if that is up to his expectations, chances for a raise are good. The man who deludes himself into thinking that other factors will turn the boss in his favor is sadly mistaken. An employer is not apt to place too much emphasis on need as an excuse for a salary boost. Need for more money is irrelevant to the man's performance and whether it is deserving of a raise. So is length of service in a non-union shop. If a company doesn't give automatic raises, and the work isn't satisfactory, the boss is not indebted to give the employee a raise. Employers also frown on the use of a real or pretended job offer from another firm as a wedge to force a raise. This tactic has backfired many times and is not advised.

The one sure-fire way of having the confidence to expect—and get—a raise is to follow the established rules of the game. After all, raise-seeking is an art in itself, and only those who have mastered the art are likely to command any attention.

Big Wood Canal Firm Elects Aides

SHOSHONE—Directors have been named for the Big Wood Canal Co. board.

Charles Pondleton, from Shoshone; Julius Schmidt, South Gooding; and Willard Nelson, Dietrich, were elected for three-year terms.

Carry-over directors are Clifford Dayley and Wendell Johnson, Richfield; Donald Sandy and Francis Stimpson, Shoshone; Charles Mulder and Cecil Trooper, Gooding.

Willard Nelson was elected chairman; Donald Sandy, first vice-chairman; Charles Mulder, second vice-chairman, and Dorothy Silva, secretary-treasurer.

Canal company officials report Magic Reservoir is almost half full with 95,000 acre feet of water. A year ago it held 18,800 acre feet. Inflow into the reservoir held up much better this year, leading a larger carry-over after this irrigation season.

The Big Wood Directors decided that stock water should be delivered Monday. Water will probably be turned on so that water will be on the farms at least by Tuesday.

American Falls reservoir had a carry-over of more than one-fourth of its capacity after the irrigation season, instead of being empty as it was a year ago.

The stock water to North Shoshone and North Gooding will be turned off Nov. 30. Any ponds for stock watering can be filled before that time.

AMONG THE GUESTS at the Regimental Ball for officers of the 116th Armored Cavalry Regiment at the Holiday Inn were CW4 Bilas Russell, regimental staff administrative specialist, Twin Falls, and Kay Robillot, Boise.

CAUGHT UNAWARE OF the camera are Col. and Mrs. Ted Pence, Buhl. Col. Pence is the new regimental commander for the 116th Armored Cavalry Regiment. After dinner and presentation of awards, officers and their ladies danced to the music of the Allan Dovers Orchestra, with Velma Guyer, the current Miss Twin Falls, as guest vocalist.

at the Holiday Inn. Mrs. Bennett, second from left, and Mrs. Elliott were special guests. The saber presentation marked the retirement of Brig. Gen. Elliott as commander of the 116th. He retires after 31 years of military service.

Regimental Ball, Presentation Of Saber Mark Retirement Of Brigadier General

By NORMA HERZINGER

Although she tried to conceal the tears, they were very evident as Mrs. Edward G. Elliott, Burley, watched her husband, Brig. Gen. Elliott, former regimental commander of the 116th Armored Cavalry Regiment, receive a saber during the Regimental Ball at the Holiday Inn.

The presentation, from officers of the 116th Armored Cavalry Regiment, was made by Maj. Gen. George B. Bennett, adjutant general of the state of Idaho, and could be considered, with the sentiment involved, one of the highest honors paid to a commander from his officers.

Gen. Elliott was officially retired June 30, 1967, after 31 years of military service. During his address to the officers and their ladies, he noted he was the last of the old Troop K, 116th Horse Cavalry, soldiers serving in Idaho.

Gen. Elliott started his military career as an enlisted man in Troop K in July, 1936. He was appointed a second lieutenant in the Army Reserve in 1938 and entered active duty during World War II with the 96th Infantry Division March 10, 1942, and served in the Pacific Theater.

He was released from active duty in 1946 and appointed Lieutenant Colonel in the Idaho National Guard in the 183rd Infantry in 1948. He became regimental commander of the 116th Armored Cavalry Regiment in July, 1958, and received his promotion to colonel in 1959. Gen. Elliott in civilian life is manager of Elliotts

Inc., Burley, dealing in farm machinery.

The significance of the saber is a sentimental one dating back to the old horse cavalry days when officers had to train with them. Since the units are now armored cavalry, the saber has fallen by the wayside.

This is the second saber presentation made by officers of the 116th Armored Cavalry Regiment, with the first marking the retirement of Col. James C. Leighton, former commander.

Special guests at the ball seated at the head table included Lt. Col. and Mrs. Tom Hovenden, Boise; Col. and Mrs. Ted Pence, Buhl; Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Bennett, Boise; Lt. Col. and Mrs. Sam Magaw, Twin Falls, and Col. and Mrs. James Brooks, Boise. Lt. Col. Hovenden is retiring commander of the Third Squadron; Col. Pence, new Regimental Commander of the 116th; Lt. Col. Magaw, regimental executive officer, and Col. Brooks, assistant adjutant general of the state of Idaho.

All squadron commanders were introduced and Capt. Wesley Dobbs, regimental adjutant, read the orders of the day announcing awards won by the squadrons this past year.

The 116th Armored Cavalry Regiment includes three squadrons, with the First Squadron headquartered in Caldwell; Second Squadron in Pocatello, and Third Squadron in Jerome.

After dinner, officers and their ladies danced to the music of the Allan Dovers Orchestra, with Velma Guyer, the current Miss Twin Falls, as guest vocalist. Arrangements for the ball were made by Lt. Col. Magaw. Guests attended from throughout Idaho,

More Than 400 FHA Members, Mothers Attend Conclave In Filer

By MARJORIE LIERMAN
Times-News Correspondent

FILER—Hosting a convention entails a lot of planning, effort and hard work. Long hours are spent making up programs, name tags, posters and room signs. Speakers must be engaged, meals planned, seating arrangements made for banquets and luncheons.

But conventions are also exciting and activity-packed, and no exception was the recent conclave of the Future Homemakers of America which saw more than 400 of the girls and their chapter mothers descend upon the Filer High School for the Fourth District sessions.

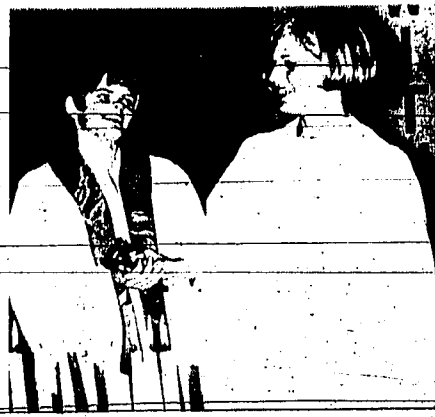

Buses from the chapters in the district started arriving at the school at an early hour, and as they stepped down from the buses, the girls made a colorful sight in their individual chapter outfits. Colorful two-piece dresses, smocks and skirts, mini-skirts and mini-dresses were the order of the day.

A large hand-painted poster bearing the slogan—"Up and Away with FHA," hung behind the table where members of the Castleford Chapter registered guests. As the morning sessions began, Patty Gold, Hagerman, recreation chairman, got the convention off to a lively start with group singing. Mary Lou Hagerman, Wendell, served as convention pianist.

Eileen Potucek, Castleford, district president, presided at the opening ritual which featured a processional of district officers and officer candidates. The presentation of the colors was made by the Minico Chapter.

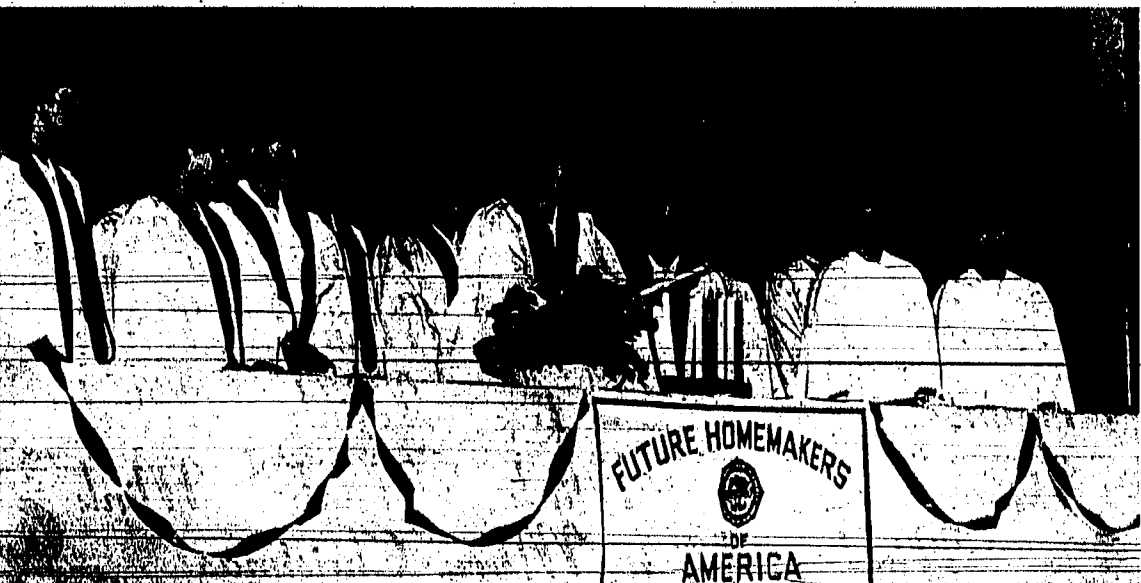

Rev. Ralph Calrne, pastor of the Filer Methodist Church, gave the invocation, which was followed by the JULIA ANNE Mackay, Minico, newly-elected Fourth District president, receives the gavel from Eileen Potucek, Castleford, outgoing president. Officers were installed in an impressive candlelight service which marked the close of the convention. The FHA slogan, "Up and Away With FHA," is shown in the background.

SOME OF THE members of the Burley Senior Chapter register at a desk where Castleford Chapter members are in charge of registration. More than 400 girls from 18-area chapters attended the all-day session hosted by the Filer Chapter. Several chapter mothers accompanied each group.

THE FOURTH PURPOSE of the FHA is explained by LeEllie Parker, Minico, as she lights the fourth candle before the installation of the new officers. The nine candles were lighted by the outgoing district officers before the new officers took office. Officers were attired in white robes with red ties.

DISPLAYING THE SCRAPBOOKS which were judged first and second place winners at the Fourth District Future Homemakers of America convention held in Filer are the two hostesses who were in charge of preparing the scrapbooks. Cindy Meyer-Gooding, left, exhibits the first place winner which will be sent to the state FHA convention. Anita Johnson, Twin Falls, shows her chapter's scrapbook which was named second place winner.

FHA Members, Unit Mothers Attend Parley

Miss Gold and Miss Gonzales introduced the officer candidates and briefly interviewed each one. Valdi Parsons, Nádine Thornton, Elaine Ambrose, Miss Potucek and Rebecca Jones gave the national convention reports.

Mrs. Marshall LeBaron, science teacher at the College of Southern Idaho, was guest speaker during the morning.

Mrs. Larry Harvey, Mrs. Lida of 1967, spoke at the chapter mother's luncheon and related her experiences at the Mrs. America Pageant.

The noon luncheon was followed by a devotional service by the Wendell Chapter and a report from J. Hans Hunter, state president. The Raft River Chapter presented a skit.

One of the high points of each convention is naming the prize-winning scrapbook which will be sent to the state convention for competition. The scrapbooks this year, which had been compiled by the historians of the chapters, were all excellent and the judges, Midge Fischer, Rev. Joseph John and Mrs. Reuben Lorman, spent several hours carefully examining the entries and choosing a winner.

The traveling plaque was presented to the Gooding Chapter for its scrapbook which had the theme, "Roundup of FHA Ideas." The book carried out a western motif throughout with clever horse drawings, miniature boots, saddles and 10-gallon hats. The judges mentioned it would be a very appropriate entry for a western state.

The colorful entry of the Twin Falls Chapter was named second, and the Filer and Hagerman chapters tied for third place, with Jerome given honorable mention.

Skills portraying the aims and ideals of FHA were presented by the Glenns Ferry, Twin Falls Senior and Declo chapters.

The impressive candlelight installation service brought the convention to a close. Wearing white robes with scarlet stoles, the new officers slowly marched down the aisles of the school auditorium and onto the stage where they stood behind a long table draped in white and centered with a large arrangement of red roses. Eight white candles and one red candle were placed in front of the flowers, and as each district officer came forward to light her candle, she explained one of the purposes of the organization.

These are the purposes of the Future Homemakers of America: 1. To promote a growing appreciation of the joys and satisfactions of homemaking. 2. To emphasize the importance of worthy home membership. 3. To encourage democracy in home and community life. 4. To work for good home and family life for all. 5. To promote international good-will. 6. To foster the development of creative leadership in home and community life. 7. To provide wholesome individual and group recreation. 8. To further interest in home economics.

As she installed the new officers into their positions, Miss Potucek presented each one a rose, the organization's flower, and outlined the duties of each office.

Julia Anne Mackay, Minico, was installed president; Bonnie Lowry, Shoshone, vice president; Linda Barinaga, Castleford, secretary, and Linda Griffith, Jerome, treasurer.

Charlyne Bonch, Raft River, is chairman of recreation; Carol Meyer, Filer, chairman of public relations; Mary Lou Hagerman, Wendell, chairman of degrees; Cathy Borling, Gooding, historian, and Bonnie Taylor, Minico, chairman of area projects. The parliamentarian is appointed by the board of directors.

The convention ended and the girls boarded buses for the return trip home. Each girl carried with her a host of happy memories—and a newly-awakened realization of the FHA Creed: "We are the Future Homemakers of America. We face the future with warm courage and high hope; for we have the clear consciousness of seeking old and precious values. Mr. Amies Designs For Royalty

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Editor

Though he will discuss every detail of his men's wear line, British designer Hardy Amies loyally but tactfully refuses to enter any discussions regarding the wardrobe or personal taste of his most important client; the Queen of the British Empire.

Norman Hartnell. Designing for royalty is not making working clothes to certain specifications," he says. These are:

1. The outfit must be different from any other likely to be worn at the time; though it must certainly be appropriate.
2. The garment should free the royal wearer to handshake, wave, and accept bouquets.
3. Though skirts must be a stylish length, the designer must keep in mind how they will behave on yachts and windy places, while the wearer is seated on speaker's platforms, or climbing in and out of vehicles.

4. The "over-all visual" effect must be kept in mind, though the photographs of a costume are not of primary importance.
5. And, as with any other client, the designer must keep in mind the most flattering lines and hues, as well as the likes and dislikes of the Very Important Wearer.

If you like, make a batch of the sandwiches, wrap them

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Don't you think a girl's steady boy friend (almost her fiancé) should be allowed to come to dinner at her house as often as he wants to? Mother has set a limit of three times a week.

I say Leo should be welcome here every night as we plan to marry as soon as one of us gets out of school and gets a job. Daddy has gotten very hateful about it and calls Leo a free-loader behind his back. He says any boy who will accept a dinner invitation more than once a week without inviting the girl out, even for a hotdog, is a bum. Leo isn't a bum. He just doesn't have the money to take me out so the only time I get to see him is when I invite him here for dinner. He used to drop by to study every evening and he'd stay on for dinner.

But never more than five nights a week. How can I get my parents to make Leo welcome any time?

LEO'S STEADY

DEAR STEADY: Leo may be your "steady" but he hardly qualifies as a "fiance." I think three times a week is plenty. And if you see Leo only when he's feeding his face at your table, maybe three times a week is too much.

DEAR ABBY: I am in the sixth grade and I hate my teacher. If she is ever in a class with her skirt rolled up at the top to make it shorter, she makes her unroll it, and tells her if she catches her with her skirt rolled up again she will call her mother.

Abby, a girl can come to school with a real, real, short mini-skirt, like eight inches above the knees, and Miss K doesn't say a thing, but the girls with their skirts rolled up get the Dickens. I don't think this is fair, do you?

HATES MISS K

DEAR HATES: Girls who wear mini-skirts to school obviously do so with their mothers' knowledge and approval. But if a girl's skirt is rolled up, she's probably showing more leg than her mother sent her to school showing.

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I live in a very nice new apartment building where most of the tenants socialize with each other. We're not newly-weds. The average is 50.

Well, last summer a now craze hit this building. All the women went on diets. Now, I'm all for it, when it's done sensibly, but about six of these women, my wife included, have gone off the deep end. No cocktails, no sweets. Nothing but eggs, meat, and cottage cheese!

I will admit, they do look better, but it hasn't improved their dispositions any. My wife has lost 25 pounds since July; (I call her "The Twiggy of Monopause Manor.")

My problem? How can I get a decent meal around here?

MY PROBLEM? HUNGRY

DEAR HUNGRY: What do you want? If you're just right, be a good guy and satisfy your craving when your wife isn't around. Otherwise, do yourself a favor, and join her in meat, eggs, and cottage cheese.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "SECRET PEN PAL": With the holidays approaching soon, if you anticipate being hostess to another gang of rude relatives, either do it gracefully and silently, or see your travel agent now.

Troubled? Write to Abby, Box 89700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90060. As a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Anne Marie Campeau, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Leo Campeau, Twin Falls, and Craig Allen Hopkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Volney Hopkins, Genesee, were united in marriage Oct. 13 at the Twin Falls LDS Stake Chapel.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Bishop Orvel Thompson before baskets of gladioli, carnations and chrysanthemums.

Her shoulder-length veil was held by a crown of glass daisies from England.

She carried a bouquet of red roses and her jewelry was a cultured pearl pendant, a gift from the bridegroom.

Studdy McClain, Twin Falls, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Marilee Sackett, University of Idaho, and Nancy Hopkins, Genesee, sister of the bridegroom.

Don W. Hodge, Twin Falls, was best man. Kim Maughn and Reggie Larson, Buhl, served as ushers.

Mrs. Deloy Blingham played the wedding music.

A reception was held in the Cultural Hall after the ceremony.

The three tiered white wedding cake was displayed on a table covered with white net over satin, accented with pink satin bows. The cake was decorated with pink rosebuds and silver leaves and topped with pink bells and orange blossoms. Pink ribbons extended from the bells on the wedding cake to two heart-shaped cakes decorated with pink roses and bells.

Skirtless Suits Introduced

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Editor
NEW YORK (AP) — Though it has seemed for some time that miniskirts might minimize themselves out of existence, it took the man who invented topless swimsuits to come up with bottomless dresses.

Even so, with the skirtless suits which California designer

Rudi Gernreich introduced to buyers Tuesday as a part of his Siamese influenced spring collection there was a modicum of modesty.

Though wide-belted jackets stopped short of expectations, the painted manikins were primarily covered with ballooning bloomers or Oriental clappers.

Much less so were the bare-foot, barelegged, bare-nearly all-beachwear babes who opened Gernreich's show with his Hardy-knitwear collections.

To anyone farther away than the second row with less than 20-20 vision the parade of miniskirted manikins seemed to be wearing bright islands of cloth magically clinging at strategic places. The magic was vinyl which Gernreich used liberally as shoulder straps, side panels, portholes and picture windows on bench shifts as well as bikini suits that already showed enough.
