Provisions Put On Benefit Bill

By JOE HALL
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has voted to provide an extra $250-million a year in federal funds to hospitals in payments for their elderly medicare patients and to require states to provide welfare for families with unemployed fathers.

Security bill Monday during the fourth day of Senate floor debate. The measure remained before senators today as Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield pressed for final Senate action by Wednesday.

Many important amendments remain to be considered. Results of floor action announced they would make a major effort today to substitute the House version of Social Security cash benefits and taxes for the Senate Finance Committee's proposed schedules.

The committee voted for substantially larger monthly payments than the House as well as for higher payroll taxes. A bipartisan group of 15 senators said they plan to push amendments to the welfare sections of the bill designed to remove what they term coercive provisions which might force mothers on welfare to work.

The amendment-in-boost-medical payments to hospitals, sponsored by Sen. Jack Miller, R-Iowa, and adopted by voice vote, would make it possible to reimburse them on a per diem basis.

Social Security administration experts said this would boost payments by $250 million a year since it would mean averaging of costs over all classes of patients.

Elderly patients generally cost less than younger ones, they said, and up to now the administration has insisted on limiting reimbursement closely to the costs for the specific old persons involved.

Sen. Fred R. Harris, D-Oklahoma, offered the amendment to require all states to put into effect by mid-1969 programs to provide welfare-aid to families with dependent children and jobless fathers. It was adopted 35 to 36.

Under present law states are not required to include unemployed fathers in welfare assistance programs and only 22 do so.

Harris said this meant many fathers were leaving their families just to make them eligible for the Aid to Dependent Children program. The cost of Harris' amendment was estimated at $60 million in federal funds plus $30 million to $35 million in state money.

Helicopters Get Wounded From Hill 875

SAIGON (AP) — While U.S. planes and artillery pounded dug-in North Vietnamese gunners, helicopter crews removed today the last of 140 American paratroopers wounded since Sunday in bitter fighting on the slopes of Hill 875.

Associated Press correspondent Peter Arnett reported one of the most brutal fights of the war under way as men of the 173rd Airborne Brigade attempted to take the remaining enemy bunkers on the hill in the central highlands 14 miles southwest of Dak To.

Short of food and water, the paratroopers battled stiff enemy fire as they continued their push to the summit. They used flamethrowers against the enemy's intricate bunker system.

U.S. jets pounded the entire area, attempting to keep to a schedule of one strike every 15 minutes. U.S. artillery gunners fired in the area.

Maj. Gen. William R. Peers said he felt the paratroopers would be on the summit of the hill late tonight.

U.S. casualties have mounted to at least 230 dead and 822 wounded during the 18 days of fighting around the Dak To Valley.

Highway 30 Rerouting Asked As Initial Redevelopment Step

Initial steps toward a downtown redevelopment program for Twin Falls were initiated Monday night by members of Twin Falls Unlimited in their request to the city council for rerouting of U.S. Highway 30 through the city.

Richard Ashenbrenner, president of Twin Falls Unlimited, a group of downtown property owners, tenants and other interested businessmen, outlined the aims of his group and introduced Curtis Eaton, who presented the formal request.

Mr. Eaton called on the council to meet with the Idaho Highway Commission in the near future and to request it approve revision of the highway on the basis of the plan outlined in the recently completed comprehensive plan for the city.

This would swing the highway from its present one-way course along Main Avenue and Second Avenue south and west a block in either direction to bypass the immediate downtown center where a mall type development is proposed.

City Manager Herb Derrick suggested that before a formal plan is offered, the highway commission, a working meeting be held with the downtown group, city engineer, district highway engineer and city highway advisory commission to settle on the full proposal. Such a meeting has been set for next Monday night at 7:30 p.m. by the city council.

Mr. Eaton pointed out the Twin Falls Unlimited group has reviewed its course of action during the past few months and feels now is the time to take action so the beautification and modernization of the heart of the city can begin. No discussion was held on financing although it is generally recommended by the downtown or involved carry their own financial burden through formation of a local improvement district.

In other Monday night action bills were opened from three insurance groups for city coverage. Apparent low bid of $7,411.60 from Allstate Insurance

Co., was accepted pending study of the bid to determine if it meets all specifications.

Other bids on the insurance included the Twin Falls Association of Insurance Agents on behalf of Robertson and Obenchain, $7,912.68, and Truck Insurance-Exchange, $12,338.00.

City Manager Derrick was authorized to spend $1,500 to $1,600 which was budgeted for the current year to light tennis courts at Harmon Park. This will cover nearly all of the lighting project, the city manager said, with probably about $600 needed to complete the work in the next budget.

Merle Stoddard met with the council to ask that the city purchase a SNCC demonstration which triggered rioting last April 8 and 9 could have been initiated by as few as a half dozen people.

Sorace was a witness before the Senate permanent subcommittee on investigation.

He said SNCC worked out a plan called Operation Nashville which he said, called for the teaching of "racism and hatred," and for the organization of juvenile gangs.

Sorace's account was virtually identical to one he gave the Senate Judiciary Committee on Aug. 3.

The committee also plans to hear from Fred Brooks, 20, identified as a Black Power advocate in Nashville.

Plane Wreckage Probed After Fatal Ohio Crash

By JAAN KANGILASKI
CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — A team of federal investigators went to work today trying to determine why a TWA jet passenger plane crashed while approaching the Greater Cincinnati Airport Monday night, apparently killing 84 of 82 persons aboard.

"We counted up all our passengers again, and now find there were 75 passengers and seven crew members," said TWA District Manager A. B. Krueger. "There are 18 survivors."

"That leaves 64 persons not accounted for. I don't want say they are all dead, but I don't have much hope for finding any more survivors," Krueger added.

Six of the survivors were reported in serious or critical condition in various area hospitals.

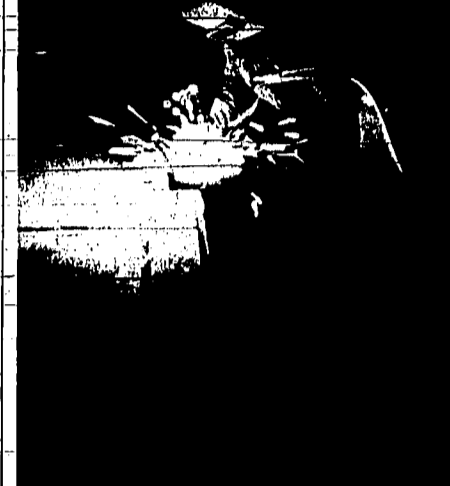

Most of the injured were rushed to St. Elizabeth Hospital in Covington, Ky. Two-thirds of the nurses at the hospital ro- signed last week in a dispute with this management—but most of them reported back to work Monday night to care for the injured.

The debris-strewn crash scene is in an orchard about 1.5 miles north of the airport and not far from the site of the 1965 TWA "Airline" passenger plane crashed in 1965 with heavy loss of life.

Greater Cincinnati Airport is built south of the edge of a plateau above the Ohio River. The American Airlines plane smashed against the hillsides 50 feet below the edge of the plateau. The TWA plane that crashed Monday night came down a few hundred yards past the edge, in plain sight of the runway lights.

Members of the National Transportation Safety Board team arrived during the night. Several of them visited the crash site in the dark, but one of them, Oscar Laurel, said nothing significant was found. He said the team would be fully organized today.

Woodrow McKay, chief tower controller at the airport, said "a pretty good fire broke out" after the plane hit.

ONE OF THE LARGEST noon signs in Idaho will be moved into place Wednesday on top of the Perrine Hotel, and a workman is seen here blazing away into the night preparing a base for the huge sign. When the sign is installed, in about a week, it will read "Cactus Pete's," and will have room to list shows at the Jackpot, Nev., nightspot. Workmen began transporting the sign from Jackpot Tuesday. It is 70 feet long, and will act not only as an advertisement, but will guide lonely pilots into Twin Falls on dark nights. The sign is being installed by the Young Electric Sign Co., Twin Falls.

Israelis Attack Jordan Positions

By ED BLANCHIE
TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli fighter-bombers streaked through pouring rain today to attack Jordanian tanks with rockets and bombs in the heaviest fighting on the Jordan River cease-fire line since the June war.

Pilots claimed six tanks and an armored car were destroyed, but one French-built Mystere jet was shot down by ground fire, the Israeli army said.

The pilot bailed out. Amman Radio reported he was killed. The Jordanian radio claimed another Mystere was shot down, but the Israelis denied this.

The planes were ordered in during a fierce battle across the Jordan River—the fourth clash in as many days, which the Israelis charge was planned by Amman—between the Allenby and Umm-Shart-bridges.

Amman Radio said the Jordanians lost only one military vehicle and there were no casualties to Jordanian personnel. It claimed Israeli tanks and other equipment were set ablaze, two Israeli gun positions were destroyed and most of their personnel were killed.

Amman said King Hussein, now in London, was in constant telephone contact with his brother, Crown Prince Hassan, until the fighting stopped, and that Jordan's delegate to the United Nations had been instructed to inform U.N. members of the battle.

The Israelis said their air forces went into action after the Jordanians moved tanks up to the Jordanian positions.

Devaluation Of Pound May Set Approval Of U.S. Tax Increase

By STERLING F. GREEN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A possibility that the congressional roadblock to a tax increase may be demolished emerged Monday among the financial shock waves created by devaluation of the British pound.

Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, holder of the key to tax legislation as chairman of the House Ways and Means committee, announced the committee will meet Nov. 28 to hear new administration proposals for reduced budget spending.

Deep spending cuts are the condition set by the committee for considering President Johnson's proposal for an anti-inflationary 10 per cent surtax on individual income and corporation taxes as of Jan. 1.

Congressional sources said the administration plans to mount a strong push to meet that deadline, despite the short time remaining. That could mean prolonging the session until Christmas.

The surtax had been considered dead for this session; Johnson so conceded on Friday at a news conference.

But on Saturday Britain devalued the pound from $2.80 to $2.40. On Sunday the Federal Reserve Board moved to devalue the dollar from speculation by raising its discount rate.

Mills, an Arkansas Democrat, disclosed in a speech at Hot Springs, Ark., that Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler advised him, during the eventful weekend, that the administration has prepared a new plan for spending cuts for the committee to consider.

The stock market slumped in heavy early trading, then recovered most of its loss. The morning session was a reaction to the devaluation and to the Federal Reserve's defensive tightening of its discount rate.

An increase from 4 per cent to 4.5 per cent in the interest rate charges in lending money to commercial banks.

American officials voiced satisfaction and relief by nightfall at the behavior of American and world financial markets following the shock of devaluation.

Star Billing

WASHINGTON (AP) — A sleek Soviet jet liner has star billing at Dulles International Airport as it undergoes a series of tests aimed at clearing the way for nonstop Moscow to New York air service.

The Aeroflot IL-62 touched down at Dulles Monday night and in the floodlit, televised confusion, four newsmen got a sneak preview of the inside of the craft from six pretty Soviet stewardesses.

They said they found the air stalls—apparently due to a non-operating ventilating system—but otherwise the interior of the plane appeared to measure up to standards of most American passenger jets.

The flight, Petrov said, brings the Soviet and American capitals to within 11 hours of each other.

Policeman Testifies At Riot Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Nashville, Tenn., police captain testified Tuesday that the climate for Negro riots in his city was created by what he called inflammatory speeches by Stokely Carmichael and incitement by members of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee.

Carmichael, a Negro militant, formerly headed SNCC.

He said SNCC demonstration which triggered rioting last April 8 and 9 could have been initiated by as few as a half dozen people.

Deserters Say Most U.S. GIs Don't Want Vietnam Fighting

By JOHN WEVLAND
MOSCOW (AP) — Four U.S. sailors who deserted the carrier Intrepid in Japan told the Soviet public today that a majority of American servicemen do not want to fight in Vietnam.

A Soviet peace committee's "look-alike" they are "waiting" in Moscow but declined to give their whereabouts or future plans or to allow foreign newsmen to talk with them.

The four young men said on Moscow television Monday night they deserted in protest against U.S. policy in Vietnam. They are Richard D. Bailey, 19, of Jacksonville, Fla.; John Mitchell Barilla, 20, of Catonsville, Md.; Craig W. Anderson, 20, of San Jose, Calif.; and Michael Lindner, 19, of Mount Pocono, Pa.

It became clear to me that we were killing people," he said. "I am convinced that the United States does not have any right to be in Vietnam."

Anderson said, "We would like to be an example to those who are beginning to understand the Vietnamese war."

He said that on the basis of what he observed on the Intrepid, he did not think the majority of pilots favored the war.

"But they prefer to remain silent," he said. "This personal indifference was one of the main reasons we decided to do something."

On the Moscow television program Monday night, broadcast in Russian and English and apparently recorded, the four answered questions put to them by three members of the Soviet peace committee.

Bailey said U.S. troops are imposing "Americanism" on the Vietnamese and that the an-tionary movement in the United States will mushroom.

"It appears I have lost a son," said Bailey's father, Homer Bailey, in Jacksonville, Fla. When he last heard from his son, the father said, "he was very proud of his uniform and his contribution to his country."

He turned against the war he said, after watching planes loaded with bombs fly off from the Intrepid on raiding missions day after day.

"It became clear to me that we were killing people," he said. "I am convinced that the United States does not have any right to be in Vietnam."

Anderson said, "We would like to be an example to those who are beginning to understand the Vietnamese war."

Bill Okayed For Meat Inspection

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Agriculture Committee approved unanimously today a bill that would greatly extend federal inspection of the nation's meat supply.

The bill is the result of a compromise hammered over the weekend by Sens. Joseph M. Montoya, D-N.M., and Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., who previously sponsored differing versions.

"This is a remarkable victory for the American consumer," Mondale told newsmen. "It represents the end of a long, hard road," he said, in guaranteeing a wholesome meat supply.

"Our desire is to complete the report and file it as quickly as possible and hopefully bring it before the Senate Wednesday for final action," Montoya said.

If approved it would be sent to a Senate House conference. The House has passed a bill that would provide federal financing of up to 50 per cent of the total cost to those states wishing to improve their inspection programs, but would not provide for federal inspections.

The MVCC Panthers will play the BURNING BASKETBALL LEAGUE today afternoon and the annual alumni banquet will be held at the Stampedo Drive Inn dining room at 6 p.m. Friday.

British Mideast Peace Plan May Be Used

By MAX HARRISON
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Despite a new Soviet delay in approving a peace plan is assured of approval when the Security Council meets again Wednesday afternoon.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov obtained the 48-hour delay by introducing a proposal containing some of the provisions of the balance. Eban called it "backward looking."

Britain's Lord Caradon expressed surprise that the Soviet proposal made no mention of a special U.N. representative. He noted that this was not only a major feature of his own resolution but was also part of a U.S. proposal—and one sponsored by India, Mal and Nigeria.

The purpose of the Soviet move was not clear, since dip-

Top Draft Call Set For January

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon today ordered the induction of 34,000 men into the Army in January, the highest draft call in 14 months.

The main reason for the high call, the Pentagon said, is that "the Army is now replacing the relatively large number of draftees originally inducted about two years ago when it was in its initial strength build-up" for the Vietnam war.

Speed Limits

(Continued From Page One) make increasing speed unsafe at this time. The resolution Monday night also calls for increasing existing 25-mile-per-hour limits on highways within the city to 35 miles per hour with the exception of the downtown area. In the downtown area, the city proposes 25-mile-per-hour limits on Main Avenue from Second Street East to Second Street North; on Second Avenue West and South from Second Street West to Second Street South, and on Shoshone Street from Main Avenue to Fourth Avenue South and Fourth Avenue West. In a recent meeting with the district highway engineer, Elaine Sessions, the city said indications were the state would accept recommendations from the city and that their own proposals were merely offered as suggestions. City Councilman John Angerbauser voted against the resolution. He said he felt the state engineers had made a study which supported their suggestion speed limits in that the survey showed 85 per cent of the drivers were traveling at the recommended speeds or higher.

Turf Club To Lose License

Licensing of the Turf Club for the racing liquor by the city has been ended by a resolution approved by the Twin Falls City Council. Closed for the past several years, the club has been reissued a city liquor license each year on the basis of an appeal from the owner, Hugh Faulner, who has been in the process of selling the building and property. He advised city officials he needed the license to make the sale acceptable to the prospective owners. However, since the sale has not materialized and as other establishments are anxious to acquire liquor licenses, restricted to a certain number based on population, the city officials agreed the license should not be held for an establishment not currently in business. A notice of determination has been sent the Turf Club owner, City Clerk Constance Leiser reported.

An Israeli spokesman said Jordanian tanks opened fire at 8:45 a.m. (1:45 a.m. EST) a few miles south of the Umm-Shart Bridge, at a point where Israeli and Jordanian gunners duelled for two hours Monday. "Israeli forces returned the fire to silence the source of the enemy shelling," the spokesman continued. "The enemy fire did not stop, so the air force was called in." The Jordanian communique said the Israeli attack was concentrated in the area of the Al-Jenby Bridge, 10 miles north of the Dead Sea, and about 200 miles west of Amman, the Jordanian capital.

Snowstorm Belts Parts Of Rockies

By The Associated Press. A snowstorm belted the northern and central Rockies today and a surge of arctic air invaded upper areas of the Midwest. The storm, which hit by the winter onslaught with raw winds reporting 4 inches of snow and 1-and-a-half inches of rain and snow also fell over Idaho, chiefly in the south and east, eastern Nevada, and most of Utah. Alta ski resort near Salt Lake City reported one foot of snow in higher areas, and about 10 inches in the vicinity of the lodges. Many highways in northern Utah were snow covered and slick. Those included U.S. 89 in Logan Canyon, U.S. 91 in Saratoga Canyon, U.S. 40 through Parleys and Daniels canyons, and 50-6 over Soldier Summit. This was the first real sign of winter to interrupt a long warm dry Utah autumn. Temperatures were expected to drop into the 20s tonight — coldest of the season. Heavy rains continued to plague parts of Southern California. Los Angeles reported nearly 1-2-3 inches of rain in six hours. Cold wave warnings were issued in the Nebraska Panhandle, Wyoming and eastern Colorado. The Weather Bureau said the arctic air was expected to drop temperatures to zero to 10 above in the area.

Gentlemen: Your package containing hundreds of pairs of eyeglasses donated by warm-hearted and generous people in your area arrived at our office this morning, and the task of sorting and testing has already begun. It is difficult to put into words the thanks and gratitude of a little boy or girl or an elderly man or woman, upon being fitted with a much-needed pair of glasses that he or she could not afford, sees clearly the little everyday things that we with good vision take for granted. At such a time, it is understandable that the recipient is usually speechless. On behalf of all those needy persons who will now be able to enjoy better vision, we take this means to thank you and your kindhearted fellow citizens for your generosity and compassion, and to ask for each of you, all of God's blessings. So far, nearly half a million people have been helped to better vision by people like you, and this need for discarded glasses continues. We will be grateful for anything you may be able to do for us in the future. Yours very sincerely, s/Mrs. Fred R. Emerson, Publicity Chairman

Deadline Nears For Mailing Of Christmas Packages Overseas

Twin Falls Postmaster Fred Sanger Tuesday urged citizens of Twin Falls and the Magic Valley area to use the correct address on letters and packages going to servicemen overseas. He said the Christmas rush this year is expected to be heavy this year, and also urged citizens to mail Christmas cards and packages early.

He said overseas mailing often is delayed because letters or packages are not properly addressed.

"The most common problem has been the failure of people to include the very important five-digit APO or FPO number in the military address."

Mail not having the numbers has to be sent to a military locator directory where time-consuming searches are made to determine the correct address.

Four essential elements, according to Mr. Sanger, are: The service member's identity and his full name and his service number. The complete military unit. The gateway post office, either New York City, San Francisco or Seattle, and the APO or FPO number.

If any of the four elements is missing, there is a delay.

Overseas mail is airifted on a space available basis year around. The service provides that—parcels weighing five pounds or less and measuring not more than 60 inches in length and girth combined will be airifted to military servicemen overseas.

Mr. Sanger said that although parcels would be airifted overseas, the articles paid at surface rates will be moved by surface transportation within the United States.

Second class publications such as newspapers and magazines will be airifted from San Francisco to Vietnam.

Parcels going overseas also should be marked SAM, for surface or airtail mail.

Parcels going to Vietnam should be mailed no later than Dec. 1 and airmail letters should be sent no later than Dec. 10, he said.

Packages weighing more than five pounds should be mailed now to arrive in Vietnam and delivered by Christmas.

Recently the Postal Department did away with surface delivery and sorting of mail, and now airmail and first class letters go out of Twin Falls by airplane.

There has been some delay of mail delivery in communities in Magic Valley that surround Twin Falls.

However, airmail Christmas mail will be delivered through Magic Valley by truck this year, after the mail arrives in Twin Falls by air.

United States, Russia Both Face Problems In Vietnam War

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent.

President Johnson is pictured as trying to persuade Americans that they are gradually winning in Vietnam. The Communist side is engaged at the same time in spreading the idea that an American attempt to force victory would be dangerous to the world.

The Russians, confronted with their own dilemmas in Southeast Asia, probably would settle for a long, drawn-out stalemate in the Vietnam war, so long as the standoff continued to drain U.S. resources without raising the danger of a Soviet-American showdown. They may calculate that events could get out of hand, at least from their point of view.

Even if what Soviet propagandists say is intended only to introduce a red herring into the Southeast Asia situation, there is an ominous sound to it. The propaganda, notably that portion of it directed to Southeast Asia, insists that the United States has a new "escalation plan," based upon the invasion of North Vietnam and extension of the war into the rest of Indochina.

Radio Peace and Progress, Moscow's propaganda voice for Asia, makes the claim that Gen. William C. Westmoreland, the American commander, visited Washington specifically to talk with President Johnson about a new plan to invade the North.

"It appears Gen. Westmoreland wants to prove that it is indispensable to continue the operations of the Vietnamese patriots for a U.S. victory," Moscow said. "The new criminal plan also provided for the extension of the war to Cambodia and Laos. With this aim in mind, Green Beret units are being transferred to the frontiers of Laos and Cambodia."

This suggests that should American fortunes in Southeast Asia improve dramatically, there exists an already built-in pretext for heavier Soviet involvement in the situation. There seems more than a veiled hint in the Soviet words that a U.S. attempt to achieve an appearance of victory would inevitably lead to wider war in Asia and perhaps to World War III.

The question of widened war in Asia may depend upon the definition of "victory." If victory for the American side means capitulation and withdrawal of North Vietnam's troops from the South, the Soviet Union will face the necessity of considering what response it should make to uphold its claim to the leadership of international communism.

The United States is the leading power in today's world. It is deeply committed by the expenditure of blood and riches to the future of South Vietnam and Southeast Asia. Most advocates of a change in administration policy do not go so far as to demand a precipitate U.S. withdrawal such as the Communists seek.

The Soviet Union, too, has invested riches in the Vietnam war, though on a far lesser scale than the United States. It likely fears to have that investment go down the drain, as did the Soviet investment in the Arab cause in the Middle East.

President Johnson has spoken in terms of "limited victory." Neither the United States nor the Soviet Union seems to relish the prospect of an expanded war in Asia, though each is aware that events can make it inevitable. The mathematics of the global struggle thus can be so frightening as to suggest that each side may weigh the advisability of stopping short of a clear-cut defeat for the other.

Battle Won

CHICAGO (AP)—A political organization and restaurant have won their battle to tone down the activities of a neighboring karate school.

Judge John J. Lupe of Circuit Court issued a temporary restraining order Monday against the Korean Karate Institute.

The order banned the institute's instructors and patrons from jumping, marching, pounding, stomping or kicking in such acts disturb persons below its second-floor quarters.

Operators of the Saynt Nova Restaurant and the 46th Ward Democratic Organization had complained that the karate tactics caused plaster to fall and chandeliers to shake.

The judge suggested that floor mats might reduce sounds.

Meat Institute Endorses Compromise

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Meat Institute gave a qualified endorsement today to a compromise federal meat inspection bill under consideration by the Senate Agriculture Committee.

But the institute called for changes in the proposed measure to give greater time for small meat packing plants to comply with federal standards. Failure to provide extra time, it said, would force out of business thousands of such small plants.

Sens. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., and Joseph F. Montoya, D-N.M., who had authored rival meat packing bills, agreed over the weekend to a joint measure that is expected to win quick approval from the Agriculture Committee.

The compromise version would give states two years in which to meet federal standards. In the meantime, U.S. inspectors could check all plants and close those considered a hazard to public health unless the state immediately moved to eliminate health hazards.

Current law allows federal inspection only of those plants that ship meat across state lines.

Redrafting Of Idaho Law Suggested

BOISE (AP) — Nez Perce County Prosecutor Roy E. Mosman says a law requiring identification of persons placing political advertising should be redrafted by the Idaho Legislature if it is unconstitutional, as was found recently by a district court.

Mosman, who had a case involving the law thrown out of Second District Court in Lewiston last week, told a reporter for the Idaho Daily Statesman he feels the law was drafted to provide protection against "scurrilous campaign tactics."

The law requires that any advertisements or political literature must carry the name of the principal officer of the organization sponsoring it.

Mosman had filed a complaint against Dean Barney, Lewiston, charging him with violation of the law. He charged that Barney had circulated literature casting doubt on the business abilities of former State Sen. Cecil Andrus, a Democratic gubernatorial candidate.

Mosman claimed the literature did not bear the name of the organization's principal officer.

Second District Judge Paul H. Witt dismissed the case out on the grounds the law conflicted with the free speech and press provisions of the U.S. Constitution.

Move Planned To Subsidize Butter Sales

WASHINGTON (AP) — A strong move is being prepared to get next year's session of Congress to subsidize the sale of butter to consumers.

The leadership for such legislation will be taken by the National Milk Producers Federation. It will propose that the federal government make payments to manufacturing plants which would enable them to sell butter to retailers at considerably lower prices. They in turn would lower retail prices, a development designed to narrow the price advantage margarine now enjoys over butter.

The federation argues that such action would make it unnecessary for the Agriculture Department to buy and store surplus butter because the product would move instead into consumer shopping baskets. At present butter bought by the department is used mainly for welfare donations.

The Tax Loophole

The average American taxpayer has to be the most generous soul on earth.

Each pay day, he donates a large chunk of his earnings to the government in the form of a withholding tax. He never sees this money. He is so used to not seeing it that he doesn't even consider it to be his own.

Each April, he submits a formal accounting of his previous year's income in such a manner that, each April, he receives the accolade of the Internal Revenue Service as the best little taxpayer in history.

And rightly so, for he knows that the welfare of the nation depends upon his hundreds of dollars, multiplied by the millions. Because he cares about the welfare of his nation, he is ready and willing to pay a tax on top of his income tax, when and if Congress decrees it.

But our average taxpayer is also a little selfish. It almost appears as if he doesn't want anyone else to help in supporting the country.

He expresses sympathy for the poor fellow with a seven-figure income, who, in theory, is liable for a 90 per cent tax—even though no one ever pays near that much and there are at least a half-dozen millionaires who pay no taxes whatsoever.

He seems unconcerned, judging by his silence on the matter, that more and more wealthy individuals are avoiding their fair share of income taxes through such stratagems as setting up foundations.

According to Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., whose Small Business subcommittee is investigating this area for the sixth time in 13 years, private foundations and charitable trusts have proliferated by the tens of thousands.

There is even an organization, Americans Building Constitutionally, which he charges "mass produces" tax-exempt foundations for a fee.

A prime example is a physician in Aurora, Ill., who healed himself quite effectively from the ravages of the YRS by setting up a foundation for "medical research."

The doctor still practices the same as always, but his patients pay their bills to the foundation, which pays the doctor a salary. The doctor's house, car, retirement benefits and insurance also come from the foundation—tax free. As "assistant medical administrator," the doctor's wife shares in tax-free fringe benefits.

Patman's goal is not to eliminate private philanthropy. The foundations set up by the Carnegie, Ford and Rockefeller fortunes, to name but a few, have been of incalculable benefit to the republic. It is merely to tighten the laws around phony foundations which are nothing but personal tax dodges.

"America's political dream used to be a chicken in every pot and a car in every garage," says Patman. "If we ever reach the point where there is a tax-exempt foundation in every home and assets such as a home and car are transferred to that foundation, that will be the beginning of a nightmare for federal, state and local government."

But as long as the aforementioned average taxpayer remains willing to dip ever deeper into his pocket to make up for what is lost through the foundation loophole, and other loopholes, Congress is not going to rush to deprive him of the privilege.

Oil Production

When the Mideast crisis started last summer, United States officials said this country would not be affected by a loss of crude oil imports. This country imported less than 5 per cent of its total oil.

Now, this prediction seems to be correct. But the Mideast crisis has hurt other nations.

During early fall, the United States increased its crude oil production 48 million barrels above normal. Of this extra, 22 million barrels went to Europe, 21 million went to the East Coast to replace interrupted imports of oil.

During August, the United States supplied 20 per cent of England's oil needs.

This all points up a very important fact—the United States is able to produce all the oil it needs for its national security. In addition, production is able to handle all domestic needs, and still make a good profit through exports.

But oil and gas are hard to find. Of 3,889 exploratory wells drilled in the United States during the first six months of this year, only 708 produced even a trace of oil or gas. The other 3,181 were dry.

Oil and gas may well be called the lifeblood of any nation. An Army needs oil to run, the housewife needs oil to get to the neighborhood grocery store.

Oil plays one of the most important roles in foreign relations. That is why the Mideast is vital, and that is why nations seek good relations with Mideastern countries.

The United States has enough oil to last a long time, but it's nice to have the feeling we can get oil from the Mideast if it's needed. Right now we can't.

So the United States on one hand is interested in soothing relations in the Mideast, while on the other hand the United States is in no great hurry. The more oil the United States exports, the more the domestic economy is boosted.

The crisis in the Mideast is a touchy problem in more ways than one.

Life In Space

How scientists wished upon that star—the morning-evening star, otherwise known as the planet Venus.

Though Mariner 2 reported five years ago that the temperature of Venus—800 degrees—was much too intense for life, the slight hope remained that it might have exaggerated conditions.

Now, while Russia's Venus 4 probe found somewhat cooler temperatures about 100 to 500 degrees, it reported that the planet's dense atmosphere is almost entirely carbon dioxide with very little water vapor.

Early evidence from Mariner 5, which arrived on the scene a day later, confirms the picture of earth's twin-size neighbor as a dry, dusty, torrid world hostile not only to any conceivable form of native intelligent life but to any that might want to land there.

With Mars, the only other planet besides earth and Venus orbiting in the sun's "temperate zone," ruled out by Mariner 4 as too cold and its air too slight to be a likely haven of higher life, it appears that man is unique—in his solar system, at any rate.

But the search for some kind of living organisms, if not intelligent ones, outside the earth will go on. For we know that life is tough and determined and will thrive if given the slightest chance.

Scientists recently discovered 10,000-year-old seeds of an arctic plant buried deeply in frozen silt in the Yukon. After 100 centuries, the seeds were still able to germinate in the laboratory and grown normally.

One cannot communicate with a primitive Martian or Venusian moss, of course, yet somehow it is important to us to know if it exists. Most of us will live to see the day when men will find out first hand, when astronauts follow the paths pioneered by their amazing machines.

Perhaps by then intelligent life on earth will have progressed to the point where we speak, not of Russian spectaculars or American firsts, but merely of human accomplishments.

WASHINGTON — Predictably, the more frantic among the dissenters to the Vietnam war have set up a whirl of protest over Selective Service Director Hershey's recommendation that students who physically interfere with military recruiting officers on campus be made subject to immediate drafting. It is the whimpering of a mob that seeks to preserve special privilege by forcing its views on others.

In his car for four hours. But Hershey's recommendation involves a much deeper principle. Student dissenters are not a right but a dispensation, a special privilege. They are, in Hershey's words, "given only when they serve the national interest." Since interference with recruiting, especially by force, can hardly be classified as "in the national interest" in time of war, the only excuse for continuing the deferments of students guilty of such interference

This is a curious posture for young people who are forever proclaiming their right not only to dissent but to publicize their dissent and to publicize others. In effect, they are applying the standards of totalitarianism, by brooking no dissent from their own views and depriving their fellows of the right of free speech. They abuse their right to protest on the promise that this gives them a parallel right to harass anyone who disagrees with them.

Strangely, most of this abuse is spread forth in the name of a "democratic society." But clearly these protesters haven't the slightest conception of democracy's basic principles, which protect the views of all, not just the mob's. Yet too many college authorities have bowed to these hoodlums, instead of proclaiming the university's responsibility to see that any student is free to talk openly with any prospective employer.

At Berkeley, for example, both the CIA and Dow halted on-campus job interviews after anti-war gangs threatened to throw the interviewers out. A demonstration leader, Mike Lerner, gloated that this showed "we have power." It is the same kind of power Hitler's Brown shirts had.

Stassen: Incurable Itching

WASHINGTON (AP)—If anyone has an incurable presidential itch, it's Harold Stassen. He's been scratching for years, and he is not through yet although most people thought he was years ago.

Hope for Stassen is like a rubber band. He's been stretching it all his life.

From the exercise he got you'd think he'd be in wonderful political condition. He's been running for something since he was 22. For a while he was so successful, back in the 1920s, he was called the "Boy Wonder" of American politics.

He's not a boy anymore. He's 60. But he never hung up his sweatshirt. He tried for the Republican presidential nomination in 1948, again in 1952 and again in 1964. He never had a chance any of those times.

Meanwhile, maybe just to keep in shape for the big event later or because he was just anxious for something, he tried in 1958 for the governorship of Pennsylvania and in 1959 for the mayor's job in Philadelphia. He was drowned both times.

A few men have outmatched him in success—William Jennings Bryan was a little more successful, at least in trying. He tried for the Democratic presidential nomination, three times—1896, 1900 and 1908—only to lose in the elections.

But those two would-be presidents, Stassen and Bryan, not only couldn't hold a candle to Norman Thomas, they couldn't hold a match to him although Thomas, who got the Socialist party's presidential nomination six times, was different from Stassen and Bryan.

In this year's August edition of Esquire magazine, when he said, I don't rule out the 1968 nomination" for himself, he gave this view:

"I want a progressive Republican party. I want a strong United Nations. I want peace in Vietnam."

But he doesn't always stick to the same line. Early in 1952 he said he was the most likely compromise candidate if a deadlock for the nomination developed between Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Sen. Robert A. Taft. In May 1952, he was saying Gov. Earl Warren of California was a likely compromise candidate.

But his worst political boo-boo came in 1950 when he was in the Eisenhower administration and suddenly told a news conference, in an effort to block the renomination that year of Vice President Richard M. Nixon, that his own private polls showed Nixon would be a handicap to the re-election of President Eisenhower.

He suggested Christian A. Herter, governor of Massachusetts, as Eisenhower's running mate. Herter called Stassen's performance comic opera. Herter nominated Nixon. Stassen, after a brief talk with Eisenhower, seconded it.

The road was all down hill after that. Yet, at 22 he was elected a county attorney in Minnesota and at 31 was elected governor. He was twice re-elected.

Too Much Food

No matter how thankful we are that we live in a country where there is plenty to eat, we should not make that an excuse for stuffing ourselves. Eating too much places a heavy burden on your digestive system and makes for an undesirable gain in weight.

Whom do the Pilgrims eat turkey at Thanksgiving because it was in season and wouldn't be again for another year, we can thank to cold storage, have turkey the year-round. And, thanks to modern canning methods, we can also have cranberry sauce or jelly any time we want it.

If you do overeat and then depend on well-advertised drugs for relief of stomach distress, you are only storing up trouble for yourself. Trying down and hoping your discomfort will go away will do no good, either. You take your food primarily to give you energy. So, if you eat too much, you would do well to go outdoors and work it off.

Q. What is the cause and treatment of Paget's disease? A. Since you are a woman, I assume you are referring to cancer of the nipple and not the Paget's disease that involves the bones of the legs, lower spine and skull. The cause is unknown and, since this form of cancer involves only the skin and superficial breast tissue, it can be cured by surgical removal if this is done early in the course of the disease.

Q. I drink about three pints of milk a day. Is this too much? If so, why?

A. Milk is an excellent food at any age. Adults who are not definitely allergic to milk should drink at least a pint a day. If you are overweight, three pints a day will not hurt you. If you are overweight, you should switch to milk with only 2 per cent fat, or, better yet, to skim milk.

Q. What are Norflex and Dexamethasone for? Are there any bad side effects?

A. Norflex is given to relieve tension spasms in the voluntary muscles and Dexameth is a cortisone-like drug used for arthritis and other inflammatory diseases. The side effects of Norflex include dryness of the mouth, palpitation, blurred vision, nausea, drowsiness and headache. Those of Dexameth include moonface, growth of hair on the face, acne, peptic ulcer, insomnia and weakening of the bones of the spine.

The New Reaction

WASHINGTON—How does the President of the United States react when he reads day after day that his standing in the country has dropped to an all-time low?

Here from one of his close associates who sees him at least twice a week is a staff picture of the Johnson suffering the hammer blows of adversity as against the triumphant Johnson of 1965. Skeptics as well as the hard-line Johnson haters will laugh the picture of a new Johnson to scorn. But this reporter has checked it against observations of those in the official family who also have frequent access to the President and they confirm it with some reservations.

Today—and this is the basic change—the President has arrived at a philosophic plateau of acceptance of the harsh realities he confronts. His attitude is colored with a certain fatalism.

It follows that he is far less given to the explosions of temper that at any time since he entered a state of shock. He is easier to work with. He shows flashes of humor that occasionally even turn on his own person.

At the signing of the bill creating a public television authority, which showed Mr. Johnson, the passionate believer in education, at his best, he could joke about the White House telegram interested during the governors' conference on the independence.

The President no longer believes that by cajoling and coaxing editors, columnists and publicists he can shape public opinion and change his standing in the country.

Johnson is in charge of a listener that at any time since he entered the White House. At the dinner he gave for the doves Senators he heard out their views. He has sought out opponents of his policy in order to hear their views.

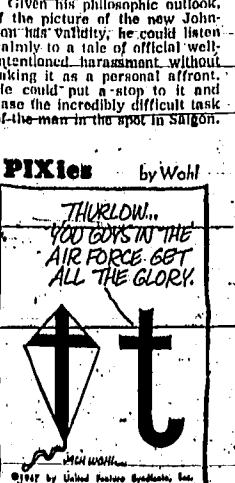

This view of the new Johnson, from a friendly associate who has nevertheless objective, does not signify that he has agreed whatsoever the President has modified his stand on Vietnam. With the arrival in Washington of Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker from Saigon and Gen.

William C. Westmoreland, the Vietnam commander, an awareness of flaws in the relationship between officialdom there and officialdom in this capital is coming into focus. The President is justifiably proud that he was able to persuade a man of the caliber of Herter and integrity to take the Saigon post.

One flaw arises from the eager-beaverish nature of the Vietnam specialists both in the White House and the State Department. Instead of allowing him to pursue his independent course as he counsels the new South Vietnamese government, in the hopeful direction of moderation and a more popular acceptance, Bunker is harassed by a stream of telegrams coming from all and sundry. Under the rules of the game an "immediate cable" must be put in the hands of the recipient at once no matter what time it is received. The consequence is that Bunker is awakened two or three times a night by messages that often are irrelevant and trivial. This is hardly conducive to clear-headed labors in Saigon's steamy heat.

Given his philosophic outlook, if the picture of the new Johnson has validity, he could listen calmly to a tale of official well-intentioned harassment without taking it as a personal affront. He could put a stop to it and ease the incredibly difficult task of the man in the spot in Saigon.

LBJ Signs Bill Setting Commission

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has signed a bill setting up the National Product Safety Commission and has urged Congress to get to work on 11 other pending consumer bills.

Delay in consumer legislation "is bad" the President said. Declaring Congress has a pressing responsibility to act on the bills ranging from a "truth in lending" measure setting standards for disclosing interest charges on credit—debt—to a stringent meat inspection bill.

He said the new commission is faced with the tasks of "determining what products are dangerous and need to be guarded against, evaluating how good present state and local laws are in this field and citing what steps must be taken to protect children and others from hazards in the home."

Gas Scare Over In Alabama City

NEWTON, Ala. (AP) — Nearly 3,000 residents of this south-east Alabama town were back in their homes today after officials announced 10,000 gallons of deadly chlorine gas, unleashed in a railroad derailment, had dissipated.

"It seems like everything is back to normal now," Police Chief Charles Brackins reported Monday night.

The mass evacuation was ordered Saturday night after a railroad tank car containing the chlorine and 48 other cars derailed about a mile from the town. The fire broke out in the wreckage and for a time officials feared an explosion might release all the gas at once.

Brackins said he believes the danger was eliminated when safety valves on the tank car popped open and allowed the gas to escape gradually.

Officials said the gas-carrying tanker flipped over in the crash and they were unable to move it. They also pointed out the danger of explosion was increased by several cars of propane and propane gas which also had plunged off the tracks.

Brackins said it took just 33 minutes to evacuate the town.

The residents lived with their relatives, or stayed in motels. Others were quartered at a community center in nearby Ozark, Ala.

These were the No. 1 and 2 teams in the nation. Both to escape gradually, died with it. All-Americans, like State's Bubba Smith, George Webster, Clinton Jones and Gene Washington.

JUST WHY HER late husband was honored with a certificate by President Lyndon Johnson is something of a mystery to Mrs. Albert W. Sowle, a veteran of the U.S. Marine Corps during World War I. Mr. Sowle died Oct. 28 at the age of 94. A few days later his widow, above, received the special certificate of appreciation from the White House.

Certificate From President Is Mystery To T. F. Widow

Several days after the death of her husband Oct. 28, Mrs. Albert W. Sowle, 1621 Poplar Ave., received some mail from the White House and on opening it found a large certificate with gold seal commemorating the service of her late husband.

"This certificate is awarded by a grateful nation in recognition of devotion and selfless consecration to service to country in the armed forces of the United States," the certificate reads.

Mr. Sowle, who at 94, had resided in Twin Falls most of his adult life, was a member of the U. S. Marine Corps during World War I. Just why he should be honored by the certificate signed by President Lyndon B. Johnson, is something his widow is unable to explain.

"If he ever did anything unusual while in the service," Mrs. Sowle said, "he didn't tell me about it. In fact, he didn't get overseas as the armistice was signed just before he was scheduled to leave."

"Recruiting officers in Twin Falls also are unable to explain the certificate, saying that if they are being sent to all servicemen's widows, it is a policy not known to them. Mrs. Sowle said she has not been able to find anyone else who has received a similar certificate.

Mr. Sowle, who operated the Perrine Barber Shop for many years, had to misrepresent his age to get into the service, Mrs. Sowle recalls. At 38 he was too old for acceptance into the U. S. Marine Corps so he lopped off a few years. The rigorous training, Mrs. Sowle recalls, almost killed him, and he had to build up his weight to stay in the service, but he made all requirements.

He also was a charter member of the Twin Falls American Legion Post 7, Mrs. Sowle said.

McNamara Launches New Navy Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara has launched a $1 billion navy program to build a new airplane to counter the Soviet submarine threat, the Washington Post said Monday night.

The new plane, called the V5X, would fly off Essex-class carriers and is to be ready for duty in about five years.

The Post said McNamara's approval represents a major victory for the Navy and a setback for Pentagon systems analysts who argued that land-based aircraft should get the antishubmarine warfare role.

The Pentagon had no direct comment on the Post story but it was learned the V5X program is a "next-generation" program which has been on the drawing boards for some time.

A Column for Sports Fans

By Bob Reese

"The battle of the titans" is a phrase used a lot... but once in a while it really fits. And one of those times was the memorable afternoon of Nov. 12, 1964 when the undefeated Notre Dame met undefeated Michigan State.

These were the No. 1 and 2 teams in the nation. Both to escape gradually, died with it. All-Americans, like State's Bubba Smith, George Webster, Clinton Jones and Gene Washington.

Nick Eddy, Jim Seymour, Page and Hady.

It was a true battle of giants. State led 10-7 at the half, but Notre Dame, without passing star Terry Hanratty, tied it up in the final quarter. In the last minute the Irish ran out the clock to preserve the tie, and keep the debate raging.

There'll be other "super games" but many think that battle to be "No. 1" will never be equaled... There's no debate about which car is "No. 1" for 1967. Dodge Charger is the new Dodge Charger in our showroom now. Come in... see all the features that put the new Charger in the lead for years to come.

RIVER FLOW CUT.
LEWISTON, Idaho (AP)—The flow of the Snake River was cut for about two hours at Hell's Canyon Dam Monday by Idaho Power officials after a $650,000 fishing barge broke loose from its mooring just below the power plant.

Water flow had to be reduced by 7,000 cubic feet per second until the barge, owned by Idaho Power, was retrieved downstream and re-secured to its mooring, said Logan Lanham, customer relations spokesman. Lanham said the barge is used to trap migrating steelhead and salmon which are transported in tank trucks to hatcheries elsewhere.

PROGRESS REPORTED.
BOISE (AP)—The chairman of a legislative committee on Idaho's criminal laws said his group made "substantial progress" Monday and may have a report for the 1969 Idaho legislature.

Sen. Sam Kaufman, R-Boise, said his committee reviewed Idaho statutes dealing with crimes against the person during a one-day session Monday in Boise.

It was the second meeting of the committee, created early in 1967 by the legislature.

HUNTER RETURNS.
EMMETT (AP)—An elderly Emmett man, reported missing overnight on a hunting trip, returned to his home safely Monday.

PHARMACIST SPEAKS.
BOISE (AP)—An Idaho State University pharmacology professor told law enforcement officials Monday that marijuana is harmless but that "the use of it is stupid."

Dr. Robert B. Nelson said marijuana does not cause physical dependence or addiction, but noted that a person using the weed may have hallucinations and become "less concerned with what goes on around him."

Nelson spoke at a conference on drug control called by the Idaho Board of Pharmacy which administers drug laws in Idaho.

MRS. BROOKS TALKS.
CALDWELL, Idaho (AP)—Profitable farming has become increasingly more difficult, State Sen. Mary Brooks, R-Carey, told a Republican women's organization Monday.

Mrs. Brooks, assistant chairman of the National Republican Committee, said farm income is decreasing while costs of production are increasing.

Turning to national problems, Mrs. Brooks said four major issues are expected in the presidential election. She listed them as the war in Vietnam, inflation, the growth in "general disrespect for law and order" and problems of farmers.

DISCUSSION SET.
BOISE (AP)—A proposal to institute a traffic safety center for training of driver education instructors at Idaho State University will be discussed at a Nov. 30 meeting of the nine-member Governor's Traffic Safety Commission.

Cancer Takes Life Of Biochemist

NEW YORK (AP)—Dr. Casimir Funk, the biochemist who discovered vitamins and did pioneer research on hormones, diabetes and cancer, is dead at the age of 83.

He died Sunday of cancer at the Albany, N.Y., home of his son, Dr. Ian Funk, a psychiatrist.

His landmark discovery was made known to the world in July-1912 when he published a paper called "The Etiology of Deficiency Diseases" in the British Journal of State Medicine.

In the paper he found that substances which he called "vitamines" were essential to life. He coined the word from the Latin "vita" for life and "amine" for chemical compounds containing nitrogen.

He made the discovery while investigating the cause of beriberi, a wasting disease particularly common among people whose diet consisted mainly of polished rice.

In experiments with pigeons he found there was an important nutritional substance in the bran coating that was not in the polished rice itself.

The substance led to the discovery of thiamine or vitamin B1 but the real significance was his finding that a definite chemical material could prevent a disease.

Dyak Tribesmen Kill 200 Chinese

PONTIANAK, Indonesian Borneo (AP) — Fierce Dyak tribesmen have killed nearly 200 Chinese traders after declaring war on Communist Chinese terrorist bands in the Borneo jungles.

CONFERENCE ENDS TOKYO (AP) — Red Chinese military men have concluded an 18-day conference apparently aimed at solidifying Defense Minister Lin Biao's place as Mao Tse-tung's political heir.

Traveling with him will be Air Force Lt. Col. David R. Scott, 35, veteran of the Gemini 8 flight in 1966 and civilian astronaut Russell L. Schweickart, 32, venturing into space for the first time.

Early in 1968 Air Force Col. Frank Borman, 39, will command the second manned trip aboard a Saturn 5, joined by Air Force Lt. Col. Michael Collins, 37, and Air Force Maj. William A. Anders, 34.

Sorry!

What ever became of the street signs the city ordered last spring, a city council member was asked to know during the Monday night meeting.

All in all, it was a discouraging report. Herb Derrick, city manager, said they did arrive, but some of the little sheets of waxed paper between the painted signs had been left out and about half of them stuck together and came out wearing all the wrong letters.

So back to the factory went the entire order. Then, has the company advised when they will be re shipped, the councilman queried again.

"No," throw-in City Engineer Ron Schuffolo, "the company has been on strike during the last six months. Sorry about that."

Flies Off

SEATTLE (AP) — David Stewart, 24, said he was driving an injured seagull to the humane society for treatment Monday when it escaped from a bag and began thrashing around the car's trunk.

He parked the vehicle and waved traffic past, but another truck driver didn't see Stewart's parked truck in time. The trucks collided, causing $2,500 damage.

Navy Capt. Walter M. Schirra Jr., 44, will command that flight, joined by civilian astronaut Walter Cunningham, 35, and Air Force Maj. Donn F. Eisele, 37. They are to check the spaceworthiness of the command craft and its ability to protect spacemen during its fiery skip back into earth's atmosphere.

The Schirra crew got its assignment after the three astronauts they understudied were killed in a fire in their Apollo ship atop a Saturn 1 at Cape Kennedy, Jan. 27.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think is going on when a husband suddenly starts signing off his letters with "Regards" after so many years of "Love and Kisses"?

My husband is an air force sergeant and was transferred to the Philippines a few months ago. We have five children and are looking forward to his service retirement so we can have a normal family life.

He doesn't even wish me "Best Regards." Just "Regards."

SINCERELY YOURS,
WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: The next time you write to your husband, tell him that you noticed the change in his "signing off" and ask if there is a reason for it. Let him know that you are delighted with his "Regards," but you'd like to know what happened to his "Love and Kisses."

DEAR ABBY: Am I engaged or not? This whole situation is very confusing. Here is what happened. Axel left for Vietnam in June. We talked about getting married when he gets home next year. First of September he wrote saying he had bought a set of rings before he left, and if I wanted to become engaged I should write and tell him and he would ask his brother Olaf to drop the rings off at my house. I wrote back, "Yes, have Olaf drop the rings off," so that's what happened.

O.K., so now I have the rings right? My mother says this is like no engagement she ever heard of before, and I should have waited for Axel to get back and give me the rings himself. I say I don't care who gave me the rings. I am engaged. What do you say?

DEAR ENGAGED: I say, you're engaged. And congratulations.

Problems? Write to Abby, Box 8700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90048. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Last January my son went north to get a job. While he was there he phoned to say he had met a "wonderful" girl and they had been married. Naturally we were surprised, but I'm so pleased, so we were happy, too.

A couple of months later he called to say that he and his wife were splitting up and he was going to join the army, his reason being that his wife was going to have a baby that wasn't his. He said that he knew nothing about her condition when he married her, but she admitted to having known it all along.

Well, this poor girl called us and said she had no money and nowhere to go and she couldn't go home, so we sent her money and told her to come stay with us until her baby is born.

She's here now, and, Abby, she is really a sweet girl. She plans to give the baby away when it comes. We wrote our son about what we had done, and he was very angry at us and wrote back saying we shouldn't have had anything to do with her.

We keep writing, trying to explain, but he won't answer our letters. Even if it's not our son's baby, it's an innocent child. What is your advice? We can't turn this poor girl out. BUT WILL OUR SON EVER SPEAK TO US AGAIN?

DEAR MOTHER: If he doesn't,

DEAR ABBY: Do blondes really have more fun? If so, why?

REDHEAD

DEAR REDHEAD: Could it be that they're easier to find in the dark?

NO-TRUMP CALL WAS BAD BID

In hand-a-mad at a competition each board counts exactly the same in the final standing. A win by 10 points and a win raised to three on the theory that his seven hearts would all take tricks at no-trump.

As you can see, three no-trump is a very bad contract. Judy's king of spades held the first trick, but she wasn't too happy about it. Jim did play the seven, but if Jim had started with his two spades he would have to shift after winning the second spade with his ace and would naturally shift to a club. After all, South had bid diamonds, not clubs. Judy solved the problem of getting a diamond return from Jim by leading her ten of spades at trick two. This led to an unacceptably high spade was a most unusual example of a suit preference signal.

It wasn't needed this time because Jim had a third spade to lead back, but good players go out after every trick they can get. Jim knew he could get three no-trumps with a spade lead but he played a diamond anyway. This gave Judy two diamond tricks in addition to the rest of her spades, and South was down three instead of only two.

CARD SENSE

Q—The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
1♣	1♠	1♠	1♠
2♣	Pass	Pass	?

You, South, hold:

♠ Q 10 7 6 ♣ K 3 2 ♣ J 7

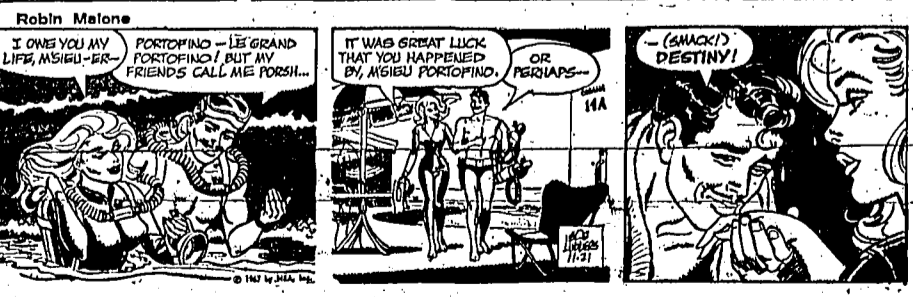

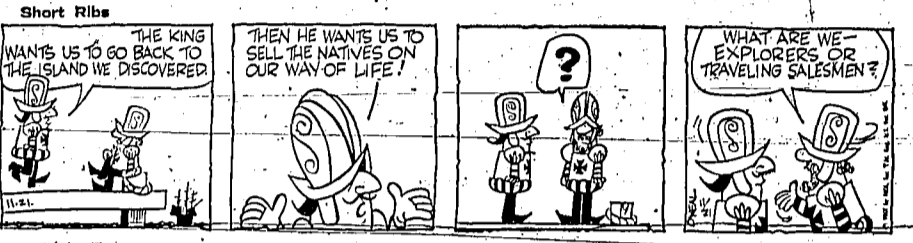

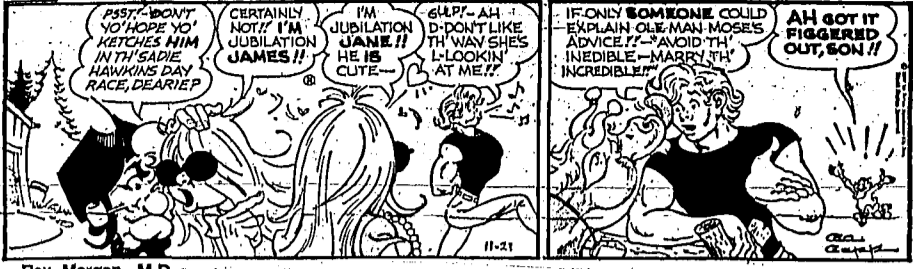

What do you do now?

A—Double. This modern bid is for takeout, not for business. It shows something like you actually hold. If you are afraid that your partner will read your double as "for penalty," you should bid two spades.

TODAY'S QUESTION

You do double and your partner bids two hearts. What do you do?

Caught In The Act And Stuck With The Bill

Dear Ele and Walt: Recently I went out with my girl friend Joan's steady. While we were ordering dinner, who came up but Joan! Right there she began to broadcast the whole situation. I was never so embarrassed. Rich, my date, got up and left me with two dollars and a bill for $11.85. All I had in my purse was 97 cents. I explained the situation to the waiter, and he said he'd call my father. When my father finds out he'll blow his top because he has very strong feelings about stenders and dates and loyalty and stuff like that. I don't want to hurt anyone's feelings so please tell me what to do fast.

Dear Urgent: If you have $11.85 in your savings, make tracks to the restaurant; pay the bill, and then promise yourself you'll never enroll in another two-timing situation. If funds are unavailable, either you (a) tell the boy he has an $11.85 bill due immediately, or (b) tell the whole story (at which point he's likely to call the boy anyhow!). By the way, we have "loyalty and stuff like that" too, shouldn't you?—Ele and Walt.

Dear Ele: I am 12 years old and got to wear hose-on-leaster. You may think that's kind of young—but that's beside the point. My sister did not get hose until she was 12, but she got here at Christmas. Because of this she thinks she's being favored by my parents. I do not agree. Anytime we mention it she has a fit. I think she is being very immature and selfish about me wearing hose a year before she did. Will you please tell me your opinion?—Not Favored.

Dear Not: Be honest. If the ages were reversed, would you be unconcerned at sister's earlier hose launching? Such jealousy is inescapable. My only advice is not to bring up the stocking subject yourself and not to argue the question if she does.—Ele.

BETTER TO SAY HI!

Dear Walt: Often, when I see people I know, I say a plain "hi" while they say "Hi! To!" I am always conscious of their saying my name, while I completely omit their name. Is there anything impolite with greeting people this way?—Joe

Dear Joe: Ele has a lightning quick recall. The minute she sees a face, the name is on her tongue. I, however, suffer with a five-minute delay. I know the person, but the name is off in space somewhere. Shortly after we part it comes to me: "Hey, that was Horace Smogelap!" If you have Ele's quick mind, it's always more personal to greet the person by name (there's no music sweeter to a human than the sound of his own name.) But if you're cursed with my slow head, it's better to say a "hi" than to avert your eyes and pretend you didn't see the guy because you can't recall the name. Or for a town Date-Line card of this paper.

3 P.M. QUOTATIONS NEW YORK (AP) - The stock market opened ahead of its price of the day this afternoon in an impressive recovery. All of Monday's losses were wiped out and the market pushed on to greater gains. The Dow Jones Industrial average at 2 p.m. was up 13.33 at 869.11.

IBM advanced 18 points, Xerox 7, Control Data, Scientific Data 10, Whitaker and Child Camera more than 4 each. The devaluation of the British pound and the boost in U.S. interest rates were being seen in better perspective, analysts said. At the same time, it was regarded as a healthy sign for the interest rate structure that Chairman William P. Miller, D-Ark, of the House Ways and Means Committee was calling for a hearing to consider the income surtax and a cost-cutting package.

Occidental Petroleum re-couped about 7 points in very active trading. Inland Steel, which eased, was the volume leader. Up about 4 were United Air Lines, Illinois Central and Boeing. Among 3-point gainers were Collins Radio, Westinghouse Electric, Sperry Rand and Eastern Air Lines.

Most gold-mining stocks sank as profits were taken on their rise of Monday. Prices advanced in active trading on the American Stock Exchange.

CHICAGO (AP) - Wheat futures prices fell more than a cent a bushel on the Chicago Board of Trade today, settling seasonal lows again. New lows were posted in four of the five contracts.

Rye futures, which generally fluctuate in the direction of wheat prices, also moved into new seasonal low ground. There appeared to be no visible effect on the commodity market from last weekend's devaluation of currency by some European countries.

Officers Check Leads For Escapee

RUPERT - Minidoka County Sheriff's officers Tuesday were checking leads in an effort to find Dennis Clark, 23, who escaped officers Sunday night while returning to Minidoka County Jail from the hospital where his left wrist was X-rayed.

Officers said the Van Gas pickup truck which was stolen Sunday night was found abandoned near Heyburn Monday night, but a 1961 Mercury belonging to Lynn Johnson, who lives five miles south of Rupert, was stolen.

Officers believed that Clark may have taken the first truck, abandoned it and then left with the Johnson car.

Clark was one of seven prisoners who escaped from the local jail in December, 1965, and was apprehended a few weeks later in Huntsville, Tex. Since he was there, he served a sentence in Huntsville, which he just completed three weeks ago when Sheriff Theo Johnson returned him to Rupert.

He is serving time for forgery, jail-break and grand-larceny.

Business Mirror

BY JOHN CUNIFF AP Business Analyst NEW YORK (AP) - The book industry is counting on a vigorous Christmas trade to help record its 15th straight year of higher sales. The total for December 31 should be close to $2.5 billion.

To achieve that goal, a good Christmas season is essential, and so all the "coffee table non-books," the big, arty editions with artlessly big prices, have been laid on display counters with care so that next spring these oversize volumes, shop-worn and tattered, will be dramatically marked down or remainders, that is, sold to wholesalers.

Their very presence now signals the start of the big Christmas book buying season. Even to this point it has been a good year for publishing, but its problems, perhaps, are that they certainly aren't in the sales department. They are mostly about prices, some sleazy works, and with college students prating volumes on office copiers.

Nothing, however, seems to interfere with sales growth. Charts show an upward trend, interrupted upward slant for the past 20 years, supported by growing population, federal aid, and a rising demand for knowledge.

Few, if any, industries have had such a big, steady growth over so long a time. A survey by Publishers Weekly indicates the trend will continue this year. Of more than 100 key bookstores checked, 67 per cent reported sales increases for the third quarter, lending support to forecasts of a big final three months.

One large bookseller reported in the survey that prices were artificially high to take advantage of the library funds or to give discount-houses the advantage of saving their customers even more money.

The term "library" refers here to federal aid to schools and libraries to assist them in stocking their shelves. For the first time ever, in fact, some librarians are free of oppressive budget problems.

There may be some truth in this response about prices, for a lot of $7.95 books will be offered by discounters this season for $6.95, and book clubs may especially higher price cuts, especially for the most expensive works.

There is confidence in the industry, however, that the pricing problem is not likely to extinguish the powerful demand that has thrust sales so high nor that high prices will stop the almost inevitable increase in the number of works that appear each year.

Last year, for the first time in history, the industry published more than 30,000 titles. This year, through September, the figures are even higher, with 20,192 titles added, 4,000 of them new editions of old works.

Although these figures seem huge, they still do not include a great number of works that seldom get into the usual commercial channels, such as 2,901 U.S. Government publications and 14,813 university theses.

The Daily Investor

By WILLIAM A. DOYLE

Q. One stock has held my attention a long time. After five years of dangling around 34 1/2 shares, it shot up above $9 when new management took over. I intend to buy 100 shares when it comes down to $5.

My take-home pay is $78 a week. I have $600 in U.S. Savings Bonds, $250 in a savings account and own some land which I am going to sell for $700. I will buy the stock out of my money, get from the land sale. What is your opinion of my investment plan?

A. In my opinion you're not planning to invest. You're all set to speculate - roll dice in the stock market. Now, I have nothing against speculating - by people who have the spare cash and who can afford it. But, from the information you provide about your financial situation, it's crystal clear that you can't afford it.

If you don't want to think about even the most conservative type of investment in stocks, you just don't have any extra money to put out on the risk that goes with every stock. The stock you mentioned in your letter might possibly turn out to be a profitable investment, but it has to be counted as a high-risk thing. That's definitely not for you.

When new management takes over a company very often (but not always) this change improves the company's profits and prospects for future growth. The result can be a runup in the market price of the stock. Investors and speculators get interested and their buying drives the price higher.

At some brokerage firms customer-merch more - especially if they are big producers. And a few brokerage firms pay their customers' men straight salaries. But in those firms the amount of a commission a man brings in has a big bearing on when he'll get his next raise.

Q. I have been watching a number of stocks and would like to know when and where their annual stockholder meetings will be held. How can I get this information?

A. The sure way is to buy some stock in each of those companies. Then, you'll get a notice of the annual stockholder meeting of each company. You'll also get a proxy, which you can use to vote your shares (for the election of directors and other things) in case you don't attend the meeting.

If you don't have any stock, you can write to the companies or ask your broker when the meetings will be held. But, if you're not a stockholder, you may not be able to get in to the meetings.

Doyle will answer only representative letters of general interest in his column. He cannot answer phone queries.

Southern Cal Surpasses Tennessee For Top Spot In College Grid Poll

By DEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Southern California, a 21-20 victor over UCLA in the big game of college football season, moved back into first place in the Associated Press poll Monday. The Trojans edged Tennessee in the next-to-last vote of the 1967 campaign.

The Trojans collected 21 votes for the top position and 492 points in the balloting by a national panel of 47 sports writers and broadcasters. Southern Cal dropped to fourth place a week ago after losing to Oregon State.

Tennessee was named No. 1 by 15 voters and accumulated 410 points in maintaining second place. The voting was on a basis of 10 for a first place, 9 for second, 8 for third etc.

Director Asks Sportsmen To Use Care

BOISE (AP) — Idaho Fish and Game Director John R. Woodworth urged sportsmen Monday to use care in hunting so that game they wound, but do not kill is lost.

Each year, Woodworth said, unknown numbers of birds and big game animals are wounded and eventually die. He said a big percentage of them could be recovered with proper care by the hunter.

"In all cases," Woodworth said, "a thorough knowledge of the weapon is necessary. The hunter should be aware of the range and killing capacity of his gun."

"Another important factor is knowing the wildlife. Certain species will react in a recognizable way when they are hit or crippled. Knowledge of this behavior can reduce crippling losses."

"If an animal has been hit, the hunter should carefully search the area for it. Too often wildlife is lost because the hunter is too impatient to search for the cripple or else he hasn't bothered to mark the spot where the bird or animal dropped."

Stockton And Hammer Win Golf Tourney

RANCHO LA COSTA, Calif. (AP) — Two young men from opposite ends of the country, Dave Stockton and Laurie Hammer, birdied the final hole Monday and won a thrilling 1-stroke victory over Richard Martinez and Bob Lunn in the $15,000 Hugg Scotch Golf Championship.

Stockton, San Bernardino, Calif., and Hammer, Sarasota, Fla., forged a 3-under-par 33-38 — 69 in the rain-delayed final round to go with earlier rounds of 70-67-67 for a 72-hole total of 273, 15 under par.

Stockton hit a wedge shot 10 feet from the cup on the par-3, 185-yard 18th hole, and the tall blond Hammer sank the putt for a birdie 4, the championship and the $22,000 first prize, which they split.

Martinez, Laguna Beach, Calif., and Lunn, Sacramento, were tied for the lead after the second and third rounds and led the tourney as late as the 69th hole. They went a hole in one to have their first three-putt green of the tournament.

It was on the 16th hole, the 70th in the tourney, from 14 feet beyond the hole and Lunn missed the return putt for the bogey 4. That dropped them into a tie with Stockton and Hammer.

Martinez-Lunn shot 34-37-71, 3-under-par, for 67-64-72-71—274. The runner-up finish was worth $13,200 to the pair, their top individual checks.

In third place at 275, after a final 70, were Ron Smith, Tacoma, Wash., and Ray Floyd, St. Andrews, Ill. They won $5,250.

In fourth with a final round 71 were Jerry Steelsmith of Santa Barbara, Calif., and Dick Lytle, Chula Vista, Calif., at 276.

Reports Denied
MOSCOW, Idaho (AP) — The University of Idaho Monday denied reports that football coach Steve Musso has been rehired for another year, and said a final decision isn't likely until mid-December at the earliest.

Musso said reports that his contract had been renewed for another year were "not reviewed reports."

President Ernest W. Hartung said the university's athletic board of control earlier in the season tentatively recommended continuing Musso in the job.

But Hartung said "that consideration was made earlier in the season and will have to be reviewed."

Before a decision is made, Hartung said the athletic board of control would again have to meet to make a final recommendation — "that's not likely until after Thanksgiving"—and then the board of regents would have to make the final ruling. The regents are not scheduled to meet before mid-December, Hartung said.

Steve Stangeberg of Georgetown, fifth in 1966, climbed to second this year. However, just before the three-mile mark he dropped from serious contention and was 100 yards behind the winner at the finish line.

Tom Donnelly, of Villanova was third. Terry Donnelly, of William and Mary fourth and Ray Smith of Penn State fifth.

Cross Wins Annual Cross Country Run

NEW YORK (AP) — Arthur Dulong of Holy Cross, who shattered the Freshman record last year, broke the varsity mark Monday in winning the 59th annual ICA cross-country championship.

The 19-year-old sophomore from Randolph, Mass., covered the five mile University Division race over the cold and windy course in 24 minutes, 4.4 seconds, easily bettering the 24:15.6 mark established last year by Charlie Messenger of Villanova.

Messenger never threatened this year. He said later the cold weather hampered his breathing. He wound up a distant eighth.

Steve Stangeberg of Georgetown, fifth in 1966, climbed to second this year. However, just before the three-mile mark he dropped from serious contention and was 100 yards behind the winner at the finish line.

Tom Donnelly, of Villanova was third. Terry Donnelly, of William and Mary fourth and Ray Smith of Penn State fifth.

Tennessee To Meet Oklahoma In Orange Bowl As Lineup Begins

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
Tennessee and Oklahoma, two of the nation's Top Ten, landed in the Orange Bowl Monday while the Sugar Bowl reached out for untested Wyoming and the Cotton Bowl grabbed colorful Alabama for the Jan. 1 football spectaculars.

This was "Grab Bag Day" for the promoters of the post-season college games—under an embargo by the National Collegiate Athletic Association—and lineups were virtually set for the four oldest and most established bowls.

The other bowls—there are 13 in all, running from Dec. 2 through New Year's Day and beyond—also began scrambling for talent.

Here are the major pairings: ROSE BOWL — Southern California (9-1) vs. Minnesota (7-2) or Indiana (8-1).

ORANGE BOWL — Tennessee (7-1) vs. Oklahoma (7-1).

SUGAR BOWL — Wyoming (10-0) vs. Louisiana State (5-3-1).

COTTON BOWL — Alabama (7-1-1) vs. Texas A&M (5-4), Texas (6-3), Texas Tech (5-4) or Texas Christian (3-5).

Announcements were expected momentarily for the other bowls.

Penn State accepted an invitation to the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla., on Dec. 30.

Bowl officials are hoping to land the winner of Saturday's game between Florida, 6-2, and Florida State, 6-2.

The Sun Bowl at El Paso, Tex., picked Mississippi (4-3-1) to play an unnamed opponent, Dec. 30. The Liberty Bowl at Memphis, Tenn., Dec. 16 is reported interested in Missouri (7-2), Georgia (6-3), Auburn (6-3) and Nebraska (6-3), among others.

Colorado (7-2) was chosen for the Bluebonnet Bowl at Houston Dec. 23 with the opponent to be chosen from one of the runners-up in the Southwest Conference race.

Southern California, with its great running back O. J. Simpson, clinched the Rose Bowl spot Saturday by edging UCLA 21-20, but its Big Ten opponent was delayed until after the final games this week involving Minnesota and Indiana.

Minnesota apparently has the inside track after smashing the previously undefeated Indiana Hoosiers last Saturday 33-7. The Gophers close their regular season against wisconsin while Indiana must tackle the powerful Purdue Boilermakers, ineligible to return to Pasadena because they made the trip last year—Indiana gets the bid if it beats Purdue.

The Orange Bowl pulled a coup in grabbing Tennessee, second in the national rankings, and Oklahoma, which can clinch the Big Eight title this week by beating Nebraska.

Wyoming, playing Louisiana State in the Sugar Bowl, is one of two major untested-united teams, finishing with a 10-0 record for the Western Athletic conference crown. The Cowboys rallied for a 21-19 triumph over Texas El Paso last Saturday.

Louisiana State lost games to such powerhouses as Miami of Florida, Tennessee and Alabama and tied Mississippi but another Mississippi State last week 55-0.

Alabama brings to the Cotton Bowl the renowned Paul "Bear" Bryant, rated on of the game's all-time great coaches, plus a spectacular left-handed quarterback, Ken "The Snake" Stabler.
