SANTA CLAUS AND helpers distributed goodies to children thronging the downtown area of Twin Falls Friday morning when he toured the city. He and his five helpers were paraded through town on a bright red fire truck, escorted by police cars.

SANTA'S CHARM CAUSED as many adults as children to turn out Friday morning for his appearance at the Lynwood Shopping Center. He arrived via helicopter at 10 a.m. and immediately began taking requests and distributing goodies. He and his young helper were nearly overwhelmed by the large crowd of spectators who flocked around.

Holiday Road Toll Mounts

By The Associated Press
The number of deaths on the nation's highways mounted today as many Americans celebrated the long holiday period after a traditional Thanksgiving dinner with relatives.
But the early death toll lagged behind last year's pace that led to 748 traffic fatalities for the 102-hour Thanksgiving period, a record for any holiday.
At 1 p.m. EST 219 deaths were counted.
For comparative purposes, the Associated Press made a survey of traffic deaths covering a 102-hour nonholiday period equal to that of the Thanksgiving holiday. From 6 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 8, to midnight Sunday, Nov. 12, there were 567 deaths reported.
Motorists were faced with hazardous driving conditions in sections of the West, Southwest, North and Northeast. The Weather Bureau reported that highways in 15 states were slippery from rain, snow or freezing rain.

Gold Rush Is Turmoil In Western Europe Markets

By LOUIS NEVIN
LONDON (AP)—The gold rush became a stampede in Western Europe's bullion markets today and scenes of near pandemonium were reported in the bidding for gold shares on the Johannesburg stock exchange.
The Swiss National Bank moved to halt forward sales of gold—sales for delivery of the metal in 30, 60 or 90 days—to protect its dollar holdings.
The record sale of bullion also was reflected in the London silver market in the general rush to get out of paper money and into something solid like gold, silver or even stock in a gold mine.
It was a reflection of the general public uneasiness following Saturday's devaluation of the pound and also speculation that the United States will be unable to hold the line of $35 an ounce for gold which it is pledged to defend.
A change in the U.S. buying price for the metal could mean huge profits for speculators.
In London more than 100 tons of the metal was believed to have sold for the second day running. A record 10 tons changed hands in Paris. No estimates of sales in Zurich were available.
In Switzerland all gold transactions must take place in dollars and the Swiss National Bank's move was described as a measure of prudence to protect its supply of dollars.
London dealers reported a gigantic turnover in the bullion market.
The price remained unchanged as the United States and its partners in the international gold pool continued to provide the metal in great demand. But the run on gold, which developed after Britain devalued the pound raised threats to the dollar.
Dealers said the turnover in the first hours of selling today indicated that a record would be set.
Gold stocks were also strong on the London Stock Exchange, but industrial shares continued the big decline that set in with wide profit-taking Thursday. Within half an hour of the opening the Financial Times index of 130 Industrials had plunged below the 400 level for the first time in weeks.
Record gold sales were reported Thursday in the London, Paris and Zurich markets as buyers, apparently expecting still more countries to devalue their currencies, traded paper money for gold. The French government let the word out it would resume cashing dollars. See GOLD RUSH, Pg. 2, Col. 1.

U.S. Envoy Tries To Head Off War

By PHILIP DOPOULOS
ATHENS (AP)—U.S. presidential envoy Cyrus R. Vance sought in Athens today to head off a Greek-Turkish war over Cyprus, a spokesman announced in Brussels that the two nations had accepted the good offices of Manlio Brosio, secretary-general of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, in their dispute.
An informed source said the Athens probably would go first to Ankara, then to Ankara, leaving Brussels soon.
Greece and Turkey are members of the Atlantic alliance and hold strategic positions on NATO's southeastern flank.
Both nations had alerted their military forces, and Turkish planes swept over Cyprus again, as they have every day for the last week.
The tense situation caused the U.S. Embassy in Nicolasia to order the evacuation to Beirut of 400 American wives and children from Cyprus. The State Department advised American travelers to stay away from Cyprus, Greece or Turkey, and the Canadian government issued a similar warning to its citizens.
Vance arrived in the Greek capital after talks with Turkish leaders in Ankara—Thursday that roused resentment in the Turkish press and a rock-throwing anti-American demonstration by 2,000 students eager for war. He was met with reserves by Turkish officials and made no comment on the negotiations. Another Turkish threat in 1964 to go to the aid of the Turkish minority in Cyprus was thwarted when President Johnson issued a sharp private warning to the Ankara government.
Vance could expect a warmer reception in Athens, where the military regime is in a less advantageous position. For the Greeks, war in Cyprus would mean fighting 800 miles from their mainland by only minutes from Turkish jet airfields 40 miles away. Turkey also is stronger militarily than Greece, and the Greek dictatorship can count on little or no aid from abroad.
Johnson's special envoy said he probably would go back to Ankara after his talks in Athens and later possibly by Paris. Coincidentally with Vance's trip, Jose Roiz-Bennett, a special representative of U.N. Secretary-General U. Thant, arrived in Turkey bearing a message "calling for restraint."
Cyprus was tense after new flights over the island by Turkish jets, the killing of a Greek Cypriot and two bomb blasts in the Greek quarter of Nicolasia in the Turkish section of the capital, Turkish Cypriots dug fortifications and put up barricades.

Stands Firm

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the face of the gold-buying rush reported from Europe today the Treasury Department stood firm on its policy behind President Johnson's Nov. 18 pledge to maintain the value of the U.S. dollar in terms of the metal.
Treasury aides said there is no intention for Secretary Henry H. Fowler to make any statements beyond those he made shortly after Great Britain's devaluation announcement last Saturday.
At a Tuesday news conference Fowler emphasized that the best single thing that should be done to protect the dollar is prompt enactment of the 10 per cent income tax surcharge urged by the administration.

Youthful Hunter Is Marooned On Island

RUPERT—A youthful duck hunter was expected to be rescued early Friday afternoon from an island in the Snake River after the boat he and a companion were in apparently capsized.
The Minidoka county sheriff's office received a call at 8:55 a.m. Friday from Loren Pruitt, at the Unit A pumping station, located at 1450 West and 600 south, near the north side of the Snake River in Jerome county.
He said one of the boys made it to the north shore and came to the station to report the predicament of his companion, who was marooned on the island.
Sheriff Theo Johnson and Deputy Sheriff Manfred John and State Patrolman John Brewer all went to the scene. They reported Clyde Richan, Paul, who used his boat, was unable to reach the island because of extremely low water.
He put his boat into the river below the ramp at Unit A, but had to turn around when he got within two miles of the island after shearing two pins and breaking a propeller.
Another small boat was on its way to the site at noon. It was planned that the rescuers would carry the boat over the rocks to the edge of the water when they put into the river.
Officers reported the water was extremely rough as well as low, and a hard wind added to the difficulty of the rescue work.

Injuries Are Fatal For Crash Victim

JEROME—James Harvey McDermmond, 67, Kimberly, died Thursday morning in St. Benedict's Hospital here as the result of injuries received in a one-vehicle accident Nov. 19 seven and one-half miles south of Shoshone on Highway 93.
Mr. McDermmond was a passenger in a 1966 Datsun pickup truck owned and driven by Edwin Lynch, 44, 729 Greenwood Drive, Twin Falls, who was

WASHINGTON (AP)—Five color photographs released today show what the earth looked like at intervals of two to three hours last Saturday, from a satellite hovering 22,300 miles above equatorial South America.
In the dramatic sequence, the antarctic remains visible constantly, since it currently is in sunlight all day. The arctic, not actually seen in the films, is in 24-hour darkness at this time of the year.
The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said the pictures were taken between 7:30 a.m. and 7:30 p.m.

Nasser's Talk Blasts Hopes For Peace Plan

By ERIC GOTTGREU
JERUSALEM (AP)—A tough speech by President Gamal Abdel Nasser warning that Egypt will fight if necessary to get its territories back, today strengthened Israel's determination that a settlement can be reached only through direct negotiations with the Arabs.
One Israeli diplomat said Nasser's speech Thursday "torpedoed" hopes raised by Egypt's acceptance of the U.N. Security Council resolution on the Middle East and puts us back at square one.
"That's why we want direct talks with the Arabs—not a U.N. arranged settlement," the source said.
Nasser ruled out such negotiations or an armistice with Israel in an address to his National Assembly and said the Israelis must evacuate all areas of Egypt, Jordan and Syria seized in the June war.
"What has been taken by force cannot be recovered without force," he warned.
Optimists at U.N. headquarters in New York suggested that Nasser might be talking tough to keep his people quiet, a standard tactic of his. But Israeli Cooperative Council To Convene In T.F.

Members of the Idaho Cooperative Council will gather in Twin Falls Monday and Tuesday for their annual convention. The convention will be held at the Holiday Inn and registration will start at 9 a.m. Monday. The general session will begin at 9:30 a.m. and conclude with the session at 11 p.m. Monday. The convention will be held at the Holiday Inn and registration will start at 9 a.m. Monday. The general session will begin at 9:30 a.m. and conclude with the session at 11 p.m. Monday.
The plan, sponsored by British calls for appointment of a neutral peacemaker to promote a permanent settlement, Israeli withdrawal "from territories occupied in the recent conflict," an end to the Arab state of belligerency with Israel and the recognition of all nations in the Middle East "to live in peace within secure and recognized boundaries."
Rather than endorse this, Nasser said "time on our side" and that Egyptian forces should wait until ready.
"When the time comes, we will not be on the defensive," he declared. "If we resort to military action, our friends would understand and even support us."
Gunnar Jarring, the Swedish ambassador to the Soviet Union, has been named special U.N. mediator for the Middle East. He said he would probably fly from Moscow to New York Sunday for talks with U.N. Secretary-General U. Thant.
"It's not been possible to follow the situation too closely from here," Jarring said. "I'm not entirely in the picture, so I can't comment."

Man Escapes Bad Injury In Job Accident

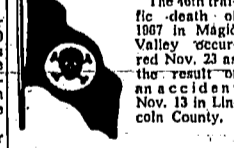

A warehouse employe for Rogers Brothers Seed Co., 560 Washington St., escaped serious injury Friday shortly before noon when he was pinned between a large wooden seed bin and a cinder block wall at the main warehouse.
Henry H. Buchanan, manager for the firm, said the man was taking a break in the mill cutting some metal and was not visible to another worker who was operating a warehouse tractor.
The other worker backed the tractor into the empty bin and pushed in against the wall, pinning the other worker.
Fortunately, he said, the box, being empty, gave and the worker was not crushed. Mr. Buchanan identified the injured man as Lawrence Miller, 45, Twin Falls. He was reported in good condition but still under observation Friday afternoon at the Twin Falls Clinic.

Malaysian Troops Sent To Demonstration Site

PENANG, Malaysia (AP)—The Malaysian government rushed police reinforcements and army troops tonight to this tropical island city after day-long demonstrations that began as protests against currency devaluation and turned into racial clashes.
Despite almost continuous demonstrations that smashed the windows of many buildings including the U.S. Information Service cultural center, the police reported only three police officers and three civilians injured.
There were fears the casualties would mount if the Chinese and the Malays, Malaysia's two main racial groups, do not halt their clashes in north Malaysia's largest city.
Many of the demonstrations were broken up with tear gas. The local police chief and Deputy Prime Minister Tun Abdul Razak reported the situation under control at dusk.
Razak, speaking to newsmen in Kuala Lumpur, the Malaysian capital of 180 miles south of Penang, blamed the trouble on "Communist elements who were trying to use schoolboys to carry out their objectives to create chaos."
The demonstrations began shortly after dawn. Gangs of Chinese youths on bicycles and motor scooters began searching for shops that had opened in defiance of a general strike called by the left-wing Labor party to protest the 14.3 per cent devaluation of the old sterling-backed Malaysian dollar last weekend.
The youths routed hundreds of persons from restaurants and foodstalls that were serving breakfast.
Furniture was smashed and windows were broken at many shops.

Soldier Returns From Vietnam Alive After His Funeral

By KEN CLARK
ELIZABETHTON, Tenn. (AP)—Pfc. John W. Guinn, 23, returned from the Vietnam dead today for a tearful reunion with his mother, brothers and sisters. A crowd of 350 cheered as he stepped from a plane at Tri-City Airport.
Blanche Guinn, who mistakenly thought she buried her son in a military funeral here Tuesday, burst into tears when she saw her red-eyed ramrod straight son step from the commercial plane.
"God bless you, God bless you. Oh, God bless you," she repeated over and over, while Guinn embraced her. Then, she fainted in the arms of Rep. James H. Quillen, R-Tenn., who personally escorted her to the airport for the reunion—and who is demanding from the Army a report and explanation.
She was taken in a wheelchair to a waiting car. She, her son and five of his brothers and sisters then went home for a belated Thanksgiving dinner.
Guinn said he knew personally the Kentucky soldier—Pfc. Quinn-W. Tichenor of Louisville—who was buried in his own grave Tuesday. They were in the same Army company "right in the middle of a bunch of the action in Vietnam" but in different platoons, he said.
"I'm glad they've got it all straightened out now," he said before he boarded a commercial flight at Seattle. He arrived earlier at McChord Air Force Base near Tacoma, Wash., on a military flight.
Guinn said Tichenor was in the 2nd platoon of his company and he was in the 1st. "We took advanced infantry training together at Ft. Polk, La."
Guinn's mountainside home was still bedecked with floral wreaths from the funeral his mother had thought was for him.
He said he and the dead man were acquaintances but not close friends.
Guinn said he talked to his mother, Blanche Guinn, by telephone from Vietnam, Thanksgiving Day, but she didn't tell him of the mistake.
Until a Seattle Post-Intelligencer reporter talked to Guinn at the Seattle airport, he was unaware of the mistake.
Mrs. Guinn had quoted John as saying on the telephone from Vietnam:
"I'm coming home. I don't know what the deal is, but they're sure getting me out of here fast. I'll be home in 24 hours."
The Army said in a statement that two members of Guinn's unit mistakenly identified the body of Pfc. Quinn W. Tichenor, 23, of Louisville, Ky., as that of the Tennessee soldier.
The identity was not verified, through a standard check of fingerprints by the Federal Bureau of Investigation, until Tichenor's body had been buried by Guinn's mother in services near here.
"I went through some other woman's grief," Mrs. Guinn said Thursday. "He (Tichenor) resembled John so much. I brought him home and kept him overnight. Now, another mother will have to go through this."
The Army said it "sincerely regrets this error and the resultant heartbreak caused the family of both soldiers." Tichenor's body is being disinterred and will be shipped to Louisville for reburial.
Tichenor's widow, Thelma, was notified in Louisville by a chaplain from Ft. Knox of Tichenor's death and mistaken burial. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel H. Tichenor, also live in Louisville.
Guinn, after visiting his mother, will be reassigned to Ft. Bragg, N.C.
One of 10 children, Guinn was drafted last April and went to Vietnam as a member of Company A, 1st Battalion, 35th Infantry, 4th Infantry Division. Tichenor was in the 31st Regiment of the 4th Infantry.
Guinn's parents are divorced. Mrs. Guinn said John's father could not be located for the funeral and may not know what has happened.

Synopsis, Farm Summary

The first taste of winter weather this season is in store for most valleys of Southern Idaho. Eastern valleys of Idaho have already experienced snowy conditions but colder weather snow will occur in western and central Idaho valleys as well during the next 24 to 48 hours. Moist air has spread out ahead of an approaching Northern Pacific storm front which is located from Northern Idaho to Northwestern Oregon. Slight to moderate traces of rain in some western and central valleys by early morning. Measurable amounts of moisture occurred yesterday in southern prairie valleys with 1/2 of an inch at Grace, 3/4 at Soda Springs and .01 of an inch at Bear Lake. Slight to moderate traces of rain is headed our way from the Gulf of Alaska. The storm front now in the Pacific Northwest will continue southeastward and move across Southern Idaho tonight and Saturday. Light amounts of rain or snow may occur at times today, but measurable amounts of moisture will be greater tonight and Saturday with the frontal passage. The precipitation falling tonight and Saturday will be snow with small amounts of it.

accumulating on the ground. Heavier snows will occur in mountain areas and motorists planning trips over higher mountain passes should be prepared for snow and reduced visibility. Colder air will be moving into the Intermountain Region behind the front resulting in lower daytime temperatures Saturday and Sunday. Maximum temperatures today will be a little lower in western valleys with light to moderate traces of rain in the upper 30s into the 40s. Maximum temperatures on Saturday will be in the 30s and low 40s. Minimum temperatures tonight will be in the low 20s to the low 30s. Daytime temperatures in eastern valleys were from 1 to 7 degrees higher. Grace and Bearburg were the coolest with 35 degrees for their highest readings. Emmett reported 57 degrees for their maximum temperature yesterday. Clouds moving well ahead of the approaching front prevented the expected morning readings last night. Instead minimum temperatures were from one to as much as 17 degrees higher than the readings 24 hours ago. Lows ranged from 23 at Halley to 39 at Emmett.

Five-Day Forecast

Colder, low pressure aloft is forecast to be the major factor influencing weather conditions in the Intermountain Region the next five days. This will bring more wintery weather to the valleys of Southern Idaho. Temperature will average from 5 to 12 degrees below normal in our agricultural valleys. Cooling is indicated by Saturday as cold air from the Gulf of Alaska spreads into the northwestern states. Daytime temperatures will lower into the upper 30s to the 40s. Saturday weekend with only small day day changes into mid week. Cloudiness at night should prevent extremely cold nights with temperatures mostly in the 20s. The best chance for nighttime clearing would be Saturday and Sunday nights and nighttime readings would be in the 20s at that time. Some normal maximum and minimum temperatures for this period are Boise 43-27, Gooding 42-24, Twin Falls 45-24, Burley 45-23, Pocatello 40-21 and Idaho Falls 37-19. Light rain at times in valley areas today will change to snow tonight and Saturday producing light measurable moisture amounts and some snow that will stick on the ground. Snow showers will continue on Sunday particularly in mountain areas and possibly valleys in the east. Another stronger storm is expected to develop in the valleys Monday night and Tuesday. Precipitation amounts will range from 20 to 35 of an inch through Wednesday with snow accumulating as the cold arrives. Sunshine amounts will be limited during this period to about 20 to 30 per cent of possible. Winds will be stronger during the next few days during this five-day period.

16,880 T.F. Tax Notices Are Sent Out

Special greetings in the way of the 1967 property tax notices for the first payment, she said, in Dec. 20. Any taxpayer who has not received a tax notice and normally pays taxes on real property should contact the treasurer's office, she said. Her office is open from 8:30 a.m. until 5 p.m. Monday through Friday for receiving of payments, and they may also be sent in by mail, in either case—the treasurer said, the payments should be accompanied by the notices. Most assessments for the current year are the same as last year, but many of the taxing agencies indicated levies to account for the higher tax bill, she explained. The county assessor, who collects personal property taxes, said about 2,000 of these have been mailed and a subsequent roll is now being prepared which will add about 64 notices. These will go into the mail Monday or Tuesday he said.

Inspection Of Idaho Autos Begins In Less Than 6 Weeks

By ALLEN M. BAILEY
BOISE (AP) — Idahoans may begin having their cars inspected for safety under a new state law in less than six weeks, and they must all be inspected by the end of next year.

The law, passed by this year's legislature, is designed to insure that major mechanical points which affect drivers' control over their cars are in good condition.

Service stations and garages across the state will be doing the inspecting under state authorization, and drivers will receive windshield stickers to prove their vehicles are checked and they had paid the $2 fee.

Inspection is required once each year.

Harold Davis, head of the Vehicle Inspection Division of the Idaho Department of Law Enforcement, said the state's only concern was for drivers' safety, not making money.

"We're not selling parts," he said, "we're selling safety."

Inspection stations will get $1.50 of the $2 inspection fee and the state gets the rest. The $1.50 would be deducted from bills for any repairs to bring vehicles up to standard, he said.

Drivers are often lulled into believing their cars are safe simply because they run, safety officials have said. But the failure of brakes, steering or tires could take a car from its driver's control — with fatal consequences.

In the case of faulty exhaust systems, even cars parked with their motors running may become gas chambers, with their occupants being asphyxiated by carbon monoxide gas which seeped into the vehicle from its exhaust.

"It takes a certain amount of judgment on the part of the inspector," Davis said, "to decide if one of the inspected points is really unsafe."

But he said if bad judgment is used, the inspector at fault will be caught.

Brakes, lights, turn signals, steering, horns, glass, mirrors, exhaust systems, tires, windshield wipers and registration are the main items to be inspected.

"Most of the inspection standards are spelled out in the law, but a few are arbitrary," Davis said, "and the inspectors' judgment must be relied upon."

Brakes must generally have about a year's wear left on them, must not pull too much to one side and must stop the car within 25 feet from a speed of 20 miles per hour.

Pentagon Studies Plans To Re-Equip Vietnamese

By FRED S. HOFFMAN, AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon authorities are studying U.S. military proposals to re-equip the South Vietnamese army, so it can take on a larger share of the war burden.

Modernization of the Vietnamese army, development of better leadership, and the lifting of self-confidence are basic to Gen. William C. Westmoreland's hope for beginning at least a "taker withdrawal" of U.S. troops by late 1969.

The United States has been trying to fashion the South Vietnamese army into an effective fighting force for six years or more.

But Westmoreland, U.S. commander in Vietnam, believes this objective is within grasp and is basing his program on that faith—judging by his statements in Washington this week.

The plans envision a staged modernization program to provide the South Vietnamese regular army with about 225,000 M16 rifles and with M60 machine guns by December 1968.

"In 1969, the South Vietnamese would be given a considerable number of helicopters and new ground vehicles such as personnel carriers. More Vietnamese airman would be trained as helicopter pilots.

The United States now provides most of the airpower and artillery for the South Vietnamese army. There is no indication of any major change in this—possibly because U.S. military leaders in Vietnam have used control of those important resources to apply leverage on the South Vietnamese when persuasion was needed.

The Vietnamese army now has a mixture of M14 rifles and small number of the M16s given to the South Vietnamese elite airborne and marine units.

The M16 is lighter than the M14 and has a higher rate of fire than either the M14 or the carbine.

The South Vietnamese regular force—number some 334,000 men—and there are indications virtually all of them eventually will get the M16.

Westmoreland reportedly won approval in principle of his proposal but details aren't firmly set. No dollar figure on the cost of the project was available.

Detailing his plans at the National Press Club last Tuesday, Westmoreland said that in 1968 his command intends to "provide new military equipment to revitalize the Vietnamese army, and prepare it to take on an ever-increasing share of the war."

He also forecast that next year the United States is counting on decreasing the number of military advisers "where the professional competence of Vietnamese officers makes this possible."

Dick Gregory Begins Fast In Protest

CHICAGO (AP) — Dick Gregory, Negro comedian active in civil rights campaigns, began Thursday what he described as a "lawfully protesting against my government's policy in Vietnam."

Gregory, who previously announced he would be an independent candidate next year for U.S. president, running on a peace platform, said he will consume only water during the 32-day fast period.

"I ask all those who, like myself, are opposed to war to demonstrate their determination by not buying a turkey for Christmas dinner," he said.

Gregory said he will maintain his schedule of personal appearances during the fast, appearing in 26 cities for lectures and concerts.

Idaho Could Lose

If George Hansen decides to run for the United States Senate, opposing Frank Church, the action could end up in a distinct loss for all the citizens of Idaho. Mr. Hansen has been in the House of Representatives long enough that now he carries a good amount of "weight" when he goes about getting things done that will be of benefit to Idaho. If he ran against Senator Church, and won that race, then some untold individual would end up in the Second District seat in the House and Mr. Hansen would be a Senator on the bottom of the seniority list. If, on the other hand, Mr. Church was the victor for the Senate post he now holds, then Idaho would still end up with an untold and unimportant person in the House. So right now, for the benefit of the state in general and the Second Congressional District in particular, it would be for the better if George Hansen would run to succeed himself in the House. This would assure the most benefit for Idaho's citizens. Mr. Hansen is good for Idaho. A contest between Mr. Church and Mr. Hansen at this time would not be in the public good because there is a strong chance Mr. Church would defeat Mr. Hansen. Mr. Hansen's seniority and knowledge in the House would then be sacrificed. If Mr. Hansen is serious about wanting to attempt the jump from the House to the Senate—and there is no reason to assume he is not serious about it—then he should wait until Senator Jordan's term is completed. It is common knowledge that Senator Jordan does not plan to run for another term when the current one is completed. Political experts in this area openly express the feeling that Mr. Hansen could not beat Mr. Church. These same experts will admit that if Mr. Hansen runs to succeed himself in the House, he will be victorious. If Mr. Hansen decides to throw his hat into the ring to succeed himself, this means that Idaho would be assured of a good and influential man to represent the Second Congressional District.

Transition

"After the first great quake was over, the dead lying in heaps, the Japanese came in droves, dragging their children into the courses and up onto the terraces of the building, praying for protection by the God that had protected the Toikoku." The tragedy referred to was the catastrophic earthquake of 1923, in which 143,000 Japanese died. The Toikoku was the Imperial Hotel, designed by the author of the passage, Frank Lloyd Wright. The Imperial was a new Tokyo hotel in 1923, and one that had weathered more destructive resistance from all sides during its design and construction than the rattling of the quakes it was designed to survive. What the Japanese were warned would collapse when the first earthquake struck still stands today, a monument to the imagination and inventiveness of its architect, and his respect for the culture into which he was attempting to blend new ideas. The structure was designed to float on a massive pin-cushion of concrete spikes. It did. Piping and wiring were placed in shafts and trenches so as not to break during violent vibration. They did not. It was designed to fit its Japanese environment. It did that, beautifully. Now, new tremors shake it, this time from the owners who plan to replace it with a 26-story structure. Friends of the late architect and former student sought in vain to preserve it. Why save it? The architect could offer some reasons. "I meant to show them how to use our new civilizing agents—call them plumbing, electrification and heating—without such outrage to the art of building as we ourselves were practicing and they were then copying. And I believe I could show them how to build an earthquake-proof masonry building. To realize this ambition in concrete form, apparent in a structure that acknowledged and consciously embodied a Japanese pattern, was what I intended to do in this masonry building 500 feet long by 300 feet wide. It was a world complete within itself. It now may be seen." But not much longer, which seems incredible for a nation that reveres its landmarks. And the Imperial Hotel, although less than half a century old, is a Japanese landmark and an architectural triumph. Frank Lloyd Wright said all really good buildings are transition buildings. "Were I to build it again," he said of the Imperial, "it would be entirely different, although employing the same methods and means."

Militant Teachers

All the unrest in the educational world these days is not confined to students. A new breed of militant educator is rising in this country, and any doubts about it should be laid to rest by the results of the latest survey of public school teachers, says the National Education Association. The question was asked for a representative national sample to teachers: "Do you believe public school teachers should ever strike?" Two years ago, 53 per cent responded "yes" to the same question. This year the figure was 50 per cent. Both surveys showed that more men than women favored the use of strikes. At the other extreme, nearly 35 per cent of the teachers polled in 1965 voted against striking at any time. This year less than 25 per cent did. The key word in the question is "ever." Most teachers still believe that strikes should be a method of last resort. Only a small number feel they should strike the same as other employees. But this proportion, too, is increasing: 3 per cent in 1965, 4 per cent in 1967. Again, more men than women are in this category. Undoubtedly contributing to this new masculine-led militancy is the fact "the average male classroom teacher cannot afford to give his family even a moderate standard of living in a large city." So charges Sam M. Lambert, executive secretary of the NEA. According to the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, the head of an urban family of four must spend $9,200 a year to have a "moderate" way of life. Yet the average salary for a male teacher is still only $7,500. Even with summer jobs, moonlighting and all other income, it only comes to an estimated $9,011. In past years, a male teacher simply left teaching for something better paying, says Lambert. "Now he has stopped running and started fighting to make his job pay what it should. . . I am with him in a fight to the finish." Lambert's words are echoed by Dr. Milton Schwebel, recently named dean of Rutgers University, Graduate School of Education: "School people who have been docile and allow themselves to be third-rate citizens have finally come to life." One way they are coming to life is through unionizing. "Anyone who thinks he can stop teachers from unionizing is out of touch with history or deluding himself," says Schwebel. "Those who oppose it are only fighting a delaying action and wasting energy and money in the fight." He believes that the move of teachers into organized labor is part of the tide of history and that "teacher power" promises to benefit not only teachers but the schools they teach in and the kind of teaching they do. For the sake of the noncombatants in this battle—the nation's children—we hope he's right.

WASHINGTON — On the delicate subject of racial imbalance in the nation's schools, the President's Civil Rights Commission suffers from the disease of most outfits set up to investigate alleged abuses. It tends to disregard those acts which do not support its predetermined attitude. Now the commission has embarked on a grandiose project to sell Congress and the public on the idea of "educational parks." In doing so, its members blithely ignore the circumstance that all the evidence is now in on the wisdom of busing school children to achieve racial integration. Indeed, results so far have been negative. As visualized in "study papers," the educational park is a vast complex, accommodating from 15,000 to 30,000 students from kindergarten age to senior high school. It would involve the busing not only of Negro children but all pupils. The idea, of course, is to abolish the neighborhood schools that spawn de facto segregation. As topping to its scheme, the commission wants a federal law banning racial imbalance in the schools, but carefully does not consider the case of Washington, D.C., where 90 per cent of the public school pupils are Negro. Unfortunately for its case, the commission bases its argument on the famous Coleman Report, published 18 months ago by Office of Education. The Coleman Report has been challenged by findings in both New York City and San Francisco, where busing Negro children into predominantly white schools has had no "white" effect on their achievement scores. Moreover, the commission's interpretation of the Coleman Report has been disputed by the report's very own author, Prof. James S. Coleman of Johns Hopkins University. As the commission sees it, the Coleman Report says Negro children are progressing faster than those in segregated classrooms and therefore integration is necessary to raise the achievement scores of Negro pupils. Not so, says Prof. Coleman in a recent paper. "Such inferences," he says, "are mistaken and the recommendations following from them are self-defeating." Prof. Coleman goes along with the commission's promise that racial integration in the schools is an important goal in its own right. But he adds with what surely is sound logic that building a multi-racial society is not necessarily the same thing. It seems to me Prof. Coleman has struck an important blow against the misty thinking of some of our more wide-eyed reformers. Ideally, education should not be mixed into the same stew with the problem of integration. We should ban politics in the classroom except in cases where segregation is employed to give the white children a better education than black children. Any tinkering with our school systems should have as its sole aim the improvement of those systems. Whether or not that improvement involves sitting Negro and white children in the same room. No one but an unreconstructed racist would oppose educational parks merely because they would be integrated. The country has come at least that far in shrugging off prejudice. But the commission is plugging such parks purely as an integration measure. No arguments have yet been advanced that the parks would offer our children a better education or even be better than a modern neighborhood school. Since federal funds would be crucial to the educational park project, the commission would seem already to be in trouble. The Senate Appropriations Committee—in a recent report, told the Office of Education to spend no more money on busing or "any other activities" designed to eliminate racial imbalance in the schools. Clearly, somebody has got to come up with hard evidence that integration produces better report cards before we ship our tax dollars across town to some chromium-plated learning factory.

Iodine Intake

Q — I am always hot, even in winter, and am miserable in summer. What could cause this? A — An overactive thyroid or the menopause. Q — In 1966, part of my thyroid was removed. I am taking a new drug called Letar. Is it superior to Synthroid or Proloid? Are there any bad side effects from these tablets? A — Letar and Synthroid are synthetic crystalline thyroid hormones of high potency and Proloid is a highly purified thyroid extract. They all have the advantage that an adequate dose is contained in a small tablet. The only side effects would be that too large a dose would cause the symptoms of toxic goiter. Q — My son, 10, has a low basal metabolic rate. He is taking Proloid. His last BMR was 22. This week he had a T-3 test which the doctor says is normal. What is the T-3 test and what is the normal range? Will the Proloid tablets keep him underweight? A — The T-3 test is another thyroid function test based on the uptake of radioactive iodine by the thyroid gland. It is considered to be a little more accurate than the chemical determination of the PBI (protein-bound iodine) level. For meaningful results of either test, however, the patient must have abstained from taking iodized salt or drugs containing iodine for six months or more. The test may also be influenced by taking thyroid extract. The normal range of the T-3 test is 0.78 to 1.07. If the dosage of Proloid tablets is too large, it could cause your son to lose weight, become listless and have a rapid resting pulse. Q — What would happen if a person who has had part of her thyroid removed didn't take the thyroid extract prescribed by her doctor? A — She might develop signs of thyroid deficiency. Q — I have been plagued with mumps for several years. Some skin specialists say it could be caused by diet and others say not. Since none of them have helped me, do you think I should see an endocrinologist? A — Mumps are hard, non-inflammatory white heads that may be found on any part of the body but chiefly on the face. They are small sebaceous cysts caused by obstruction of oil ducts in the skin. There is no evidence that they are influenced by diet or by the endocrine glands. Since they do not affect your health and are of cosmetic importance only, they can hardly be classified as a plague. It is best to leave them alone unless they are too unsightly, in which case your family doctor can remove them, using sterile technique, in his office. Q — I have coronary insufficiency and arteriosclerotic heart disease. What causes me to have so much pain? Will smoking make it worse? What kind of life can I expect from now on? A — When any muscle is deprived of oxygen through an interference with its circulation there is severe pain. Because smoking causes your blood vessels to contract it will definitely make your heart condition worse. You can expect a good life if you will lay low until your heart has had a chance to recover and if you follow your doctor's recommendations. Q — Can my being exposed to mumps in the early stages of pregnancy harm my baby? A — If you were already immunized with mumps, or failed to catch this disease in spite of your exposure, there would be no danger.

Aid, Comfort And Despair

WASHINGTON — My good friend, Kronig, was a picture of despair. "What's the matter, Kronig?" I wanted to know. "I can't help it," he said. "Every time I open my mouth I give aid and comfort to the enemy." "But how?" I demanded. "I don't agree with President Johnson's policies in Vietnam. And he said that every time we say we don't agree with him, Hanoi is encouraged and wants to continue the war." "That's true, Kronig," I said. "The President knows from whence he speaks. North Vietnam would probably be at the negotiating table right now if people like you didn't oppose President Johnson's policies." "But that's just the point, Kronig," he cried. "I haven't opened my trap for six months and we're not anywhere nearer resolving the problem than we were before." "You mean you haven't been

BARRY GOLDWATER

Indispensable?

There is an obvious attempt in the Washington rumor mill to link Dean Rusk and Robert McNamara as the two absolutely indispensable members of the Johnson Cabinet. The reason is obvious; there have been repeated and loud calls for the resignation of both. "Right there," says the balance ends. It is unfair and factual to link Secretary of State Rusk in any sense with Defense Secretary McNamara. Just look at the record—and, also, the reasons behind the demands for these resignations. Rusk is under fire because he has done his job superbly well, as well as any secretary of state in my memory. While other members of the Administration have snickered away at the foreign policy of the country, particularly in regard to the intervention in the Dominican Republic and in Vietnam, Rusk has steadily and eloquently defended the foreign policy of his President, the position of his country and the prospects of freedom. McNamara's case is quite different. The calls for his resignation come because he has done his job miserably, if at all. In terms of the war in Vietnam, McNamara has been a constant peril. His inability to meet simple logistical problems has meant, for instance, that our troops there have from time to time been short of everything from helicopters to ammunition. No matter how McNamara might support the President otherwise, this display of inept adequacy surely has undercut him as well as our fighting men. On global strategy, Rusk has been manfully holding the line against Communist aggressions all over the earth, and behaving like a man who fully recognizes that communism is dead (at all) speak more loudly than her peaceful words. McNamara has led the chorus that seeks to create policy based on the assumption that the Soviet Union is every bit as interested in peace as we are. McNamara's well-known views on the most dramatic manifestation of this determination—that communism is mellow rather than murderous. No one to be sure, could accuse Rusk of being a hard-line anti-Communist, but, at very least, he acts to

A Crooked Neck

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tolerance has a crooked neck. This comes from leaning over backwards not to appear intolerant. The result is that violent demonstrations are getting more violent. Freedom of expression, including the right to dissent, is a basic American right. But expressing dissent through violence is not a right. Only the peaceful kind is. Violent expression is a national disgrace. If permitted to continue, it opens the door to anarchy since it is a defiance of law and order. But there seems to be a great public reluctance—and particularly on the part of government leadership—to urge and take strong action to prevent mass violence or to crush it fast when it occurs. In Detroit last summer Negroes looted and burned and Michigan and national authorities showed great hesitancy to meet the violence with full force fast and flush it. They last week in New York where Secretary of State Dean Rusk spoke at a hotel, bands of anti-Vietnam war demonstrators, unable to pierce the police lines set up to protect Rusk, turned the night into a riot. They pelted policemen, automobiles and buildings with steers' blood and resisted arrest. Forty of them were arrested and a number of persons, in-

Personalities Of Four Defectors Discussed

By The Associated Press
 What their friends and families primarily remember about four young American sailors who defected to protest the Vietnam war is how normal they seemed, how much like the boy next door.

If there was a common thread to their lives before their Navy service it was their apparent lack of radical leanings and their average interests and family backgrounds.

The sailors, who jumped ship while the carrier Intrepid was in Japan Oct. 24, and appeared later in Moscow are Richard D. Bailey, 19, of Jacksonville, Fla.; John Michael Barilla, 20, Catonsville, Md.; Craig W. Anderson, 20, of San Jose, Calif., and Michael Lindner, 19, of Mount Pocono, Pa.

J. Karl Schwartz, a vice principal at Catonsville High School, remembers Barilla "had an orange record; nothing especially outstanding. He did not have many hobbies and he was not an athlete."

"Just an average personality boy. He wasn't even absent very much. I know he worked on the outside the whole time he went to school. He had to attend summer school, once for a failure in English, but that was in the 10th grade and nothing important."

Any extracurricular activities? "Not one is listed," said Schwartz. "He was more of an extrovert than an introvert. All the other kids liked him. He had a lot of friends."

Barilla was an airman in the Navy, studying aviation electronics and seemed to like it and his mother, Mrs. Nicholas Barilla.

Richard Bailey was born in Philadelphia where his father, Homer Bailey, a Prudential Insurance Co. executive, was working at the time. They moved to Jacksonville in 1952.

Through elementary and junior high school Rick was a good student and active in Cub Scouts and Boy Scouts. He was a junior counselor for YMCA and worked with a Boys' Club. In high school his grades slipped somewhat and though he completed the 11th grade he lacked full credits toward graduation.

The next year he lived with an uncle in Rosemont, Pa., where he enrolled, then dropped out of high school.

He enlisted in the Navy at Jacksonville on his 18th birthday—the earliest he could do so without consent of his parents. He completed his high school work through Navy correspondence courses.

Sidney Friend, principal of Parker High, recalled Rick as a fine young man who presented no special problems in school and got along well with his fellow students. He wasn't active in athletics, music, or dramatics.

Chuck Vann, of Jacksonville, was Rick's best friend before he enlisted and Chuck visited Bailey when the Intrepid called at Mayport, Fla., Naval station.

"He showed me what he did aboard ship and was very proud of his work. Rick is a dedicated person in himself. He and I used to talk a lot about the Vietnam war. He thought it was a just cause. He once told me he was very proud of his uniform."

Michael Lindner spent his senior year at Pocono Mountain High School, after his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Lindner, moved from near Toledo, Ohio. Classmates remember his as one of the boys who went to the field of rival Pleasant Valley High School prior to their 1965 annual football game and daubed the press box with Pocono Mountain's red and white colors.

The school administrator said none of the teachers got to know Lindner well but their impression was that he was far brighter than the below average marks indicated and had little motivation.

He dropped out of school in that senior year but later received tutoring and was awarded a delayed diploma.

—girl in his class remembers he "was something of an attention getter. He liked to wear his hair long, but he could be serious."

His father said, "Mike was never interested in politics and just can't understand his becoming so interested at this time." And his mother recalls that Mike visited home twice after enlisting and "was proud of his uniform. Everything about it had to be just right before he went out."

In San Jose, Irene Anderson Hill, widowed mother of Craig W. Anderson, said she had not seen her son since May 1966, shortly before he left for overseas.

"He hadn't written for several months, but I didn't think that was unusual," Mrs. Hill said. "He just didn't write much."

Anderson enlisted in the Navy at Alameda, Calif., in the summer of 1965 as an airman apprentice after spending a year at West Valley College.

In Lincoln High School he had played defensive tackle on the undefeated football team.

"He was a good bright boy," recalled football coach Tim Woods. "You could picture him an all American boy."

Sinatra And Miss Farrow Separate

By BOB THOMAS
 HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A "trial separation has been mutually agreed upon."

The bare announcement signaled a rift in the 11-month marriage of Frank Sinatra, 51, and Mia Farrow, 22, and touched off speculation over reasons for the break.

The news was released Wednesday by James Mahoney, publicity agent for the two stars. He said neither of the Sinatras had comment.

The twice-divorced Sinatra married the young star of television's "Peyton Place" on July 19, 1966, in Las Vegas, Nev. Their jobs often kept them apart, as she made a film in England with Lawrence Harvey and he continued his far-flung activities in the show world.

But the pair appeared to be in accord during the times they were together. A few weeks ago she was much in evidence as the singer taped his latest television special.

Earlier this week, the Sinatras held a small farewell party for Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton who visited here briefly.

Friends indicated problems between Sinatra and his young wife were aggravated by troubles concerning their current films. Miss Farrow has been a principal in "Rosemary's Baby," and the film, directed by Polish Roman Polanski, lagged behind schedule. She had been slated to join her husband in filming New York locations of "The Detective."

U.S. Views Red Use Of Cambodia

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some U.S. military experts express concern that North Vietnam, Red China and the Soviet Union are planning to use a Cambodian port to get arms and ammunition to Communist forces in South Vietnam.

This development could come if the stepped-up U. S. bombing of land routes from North Vietnam seriously slows the movement of supplies to the front. It is expected that the intensified bombing attacks, begun in August, will begin showing their effects perhaps in January.

The port in neutralist Cambodia is Sihanoukville, on the Gulf of Siam.

Although there have been military studies of a possible quarantine or blockade of the port, it is believed that this country's top civilian defense leaders would not approve of such a step under present conditions.

Washington has refused to authorize the bombing or mining of Haiphong Harbor in North Vietnam, where Soviet ships deliver supplies. The reason is a wish to avoid direct confrontation with the Soviet Union or Red China which could lead them to more directly enter the Vietnam war.

It is for much the same reason that a quarantine or blockade of Sihanoukville would likely not be approved.

In addition, the United States is seeking to avoid further trouble with Cambodia's chief of state, Prince Sihanouk, who already is hostile to the American effort in South Vietnam.

Sihanouk professes neutrality in the war, but with or without his approval, U. S. military officials say, his country has been used as a sanctuary by Viet Cong and North Vietnamese forces for rest and resupply purposes.

Red Team At Hansen Wins

HANSEN — The Red team, with nine members present, won with a score of 331 points at the Modern Woodmen rifle contest held Tuesday evening. The Green team, with eight members present, shot a score of 300 points.

William Thompson was high scorer for the men's individual shoot with 48 points; Joe Hill second, score of 47, and Leroy Thompson, third, with a score of 46.

Mrs. Ruth Hill was high for women with a score of 45 points; Lydia Mae Pyron and Mrs. Minerva Smith tied for second place with scores of 41 points, and Mrs. Helen Reynolds was third with a score of 40.

Since the group is planning to attend the annual Spring Woodmen Rifle and Rifle contest to be held in March, the teams practiced shooting without lights except for the targets, which made a difference in their scores, but since this is a state regulation, it was decided to start practicing the rifle shoot in this manner.

Dec. 19 will be the annual Christmas Party. Mr. and Mrs. William Thompson and Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Thompson were hosts for the evening's shoot.

Riot Control Training Set In Idaho

BOISE (AP)—Idaho law enforcement agencies are preparing for two northern Idaho riot control training schools, which will be held early next month.

Idaho State Police Superintendent L. Clark Hand said Thursday the first two of six planned training sessions would be held Dec. 5-6 in Coeur d'Alene and Dec. 7-8 in Lewiston.

Instructors for the classes in riot control and use of riot control equipment are up here from the state police, the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the Idaho National Guard and the state attorney general's offices.

About 260 state, county and city officers will take the courses across the state, according to state police training officer Lt. Ervin Dunn.

Four additional classes in other parts of the state are planned, he said.

Chairman Of Pride, Inc. Is Resigning

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rufus "Catfish" Mayfield has announced he is resigning as board chairman of Pride, Inc., the work-training program which won praise and a $2 million federal grant for its success in rat control and cleanup projects last summer.

Mayfield, a 20-year-old school dropout, was virtually unknown until last May when he organized some Washington Negro youth to protest against the death of a friend who was shot by police.

Later in the summer he won a $500,000 Labor Department

Biggest Whale In Captivity Is Released

LOS ANGELES (AP)—For eight years Blimbo was the biggest whale in captivity, and he proudly blimboed his way around.

The 6,000-pound pilot whale grew to 20 feet, 8 inches at Marineland of the Pacific. He was the oceanarium's biggest star, but he was sulky.

At the climax of the whale show, Blimbo lunged 20 to 25 feet out of the water—straight up.

At times, though, he refused to perform at all.

Then, last June, he smashed a double-pane observation window at the whale tank and spilled 350,000 gallons of water that injured four persons.

At least one of his tankmates, a dolphin, was found dead, and Blimbo was blamed by some.

The oceanarium disclosed Wednesday that Blimbo was returned unannounced to the ocean "in late June or early July" near the spot where he was captured in January 1959.

No reason was given for the release.

Pete's in Jackpot. Among those attending the luncheon were, from left, Norma Herzinger, Times-News women's editor, and Ruth Koonce Miller, Times-News staff writer.

JoAnn Castle Is Bubbly As Champagne On Wolk Show

By RUTH KOONCE MILLER, Times-News Staff Writer
Luncheon with JoAnn Castle, one of the stars of the popular Lawrence Welk television show, is a riotous affair.
Miss Castle consumes glass upon glass of iced tea, is not ashamed to refill her plate from the smorgasbord, and keeps up a running commentary between gulps and bites.
And, between all that, she kept snatching my pen away instead of giving out with the standard, "Don't quote me."
There is really nothing too standard about this talented musician. She is just as vibrant and bouncy in person as she is on television. But, television doesn't do her justice.

She is much younger and prettier in person, and her bubbly personality has more of a chance to come through in a face-to-face conversation than in a TV tube-to-face encounter.
Miss Castle notes during the act that she is currently performing at Cactus Pete's in Jackpot. "They don't dare let me talk much on the television show."
She says whatever happens to come to "that mind under the blonde wig she wears (10 of them)." And, more often than not, whatever comes to mind is funny.

During an average year Miss Castle logs some 100,000 air miles and numerous road miles. The Wolk show takes only one day to do—it is taped on Tuesday. Because of her performance at Jackpot, she will not be seen on this week's show.
She started as a dancer and singer at the age of 3 and made numerous appearances in her home state of California.
Miss Castle is a big girl—tall and muscular. She proudly announces that "being a honky-tonk piano player is kind of an odd occupation for a petite girl like me."
This is not her first Idaho appearance. She last appeared in the Twin Falls area with a contingent of the Wolk group in 1961.
During her stay in Twin Falls and Jackpot she is driving a car furnished by Able Urquien Oldsmobile-Buick.
"I'm so glad to have that car," she quipped with typical Castle logic, "because now I'll be able to visit Burger and contact."

Miss Castle is appearing at Jackpot through Sunday.
Hosting the luncheon Tuesday was Holland Houburg. Guests included members of the Cactus Pete's staff and Ray Rostron, Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce manager.

'Spanglish' Is Becoming More Pronounced

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ, MEXICO CITY (AP) — In the verbal billiards of the younger generations, the sound caroming off conversational cushions from Buenos Aires to Mexico City is really Spanish—with lots of English.
How would you order a frankfurter in this city? "Un hog dog" will get it. Or a box spring for your bed? Just ask for "un box spring."
The Spanish-English potpourri is generally called Spanglish. Purists, damning "Imported Barbarisms," deplore the "mongrelization" of the language of Old Castille.

The closer the country to the United States, the more pronounced Spanglish becomes. It seems less apparent below Columbia—Argentina—excepted and strongest in Puerto Rico and along the U.S.-Mexico border.
Carmen Ibanez de Rivas, professor of the Americas, notes that some English words, especially the most modern ones, lack adequate Spanish equivalents. Examples: switch, socket and paint thinner. In Spanglish they come out phonetically as "swee-chi," "so-kei" and "lin-nor."
"The most influential factor in the proliferation of those expressions," says Mrs. Rivas, "is probably the American tourist."
Spanglish is used by middle and upper classes, Mrs. Rivas believes, especially among those with travel experience aboard. "Many use it to give themselves 'cachet' of social nature," she says.
Spanglish isn't so noticeable among lower classes because most of the terminology involves articles out of their economic reach. In Mexico City, for instance, two working girls might go to a "loncheria" — lunch counter or sandwich shop — for a plain ham sandwich, sometimes spiced sanchulch, or a "hamburguesa," or hamburger. The poor calls his sandwich "tortas."
Some Spanglish terms are phonetic hand-me-downs from the English. In the Dominican Republic, dresses advertised for "linceys" are for teen-agers. In Caracas, the fellow who guards a store is the "ganchiman—watchman. "El Chopinse" in San Juan is the shopping center. Sports have chipped in with such as "tubby" for baseball two-hase hit and "nocout" for knockout. Words like "futbol" for football and "gol" for goal have been accepted by standard Spanish dictionaries.

Skiing Adventure In Tetons Is Subject Of Club Movie

Tickets are now on sale by students of the College of Southern Idaho for the area's first winter ski film.
The film, a Dick Barrymore production, will be shown at 8 p.m., Dec. 4 at the O'Leary

Junior High School and is open to the public. Tickets will also be on sale at the door.
"The Winter Spell" is a skiing adventure based on the experiences of seven skiers who roam the remote regions of the Teton National Forest in Wyoming via snow vehicles. Their trek climaxes with a heavy snowstorm, the resulting deep powder and several days of skiing unmarked powder, unseen by other skiers.
Some beautiful winter scenery and top powder skiing shots are promised in the new Barrymore film, college ski club members say.

$1,000 Worth Of Beef Is Killed

GLENN'S FERRY — More than a thousand dollars worth of beef was killed on a county road across the Snake River south of Glenn's Ferry early Wednesday morning, sheriff's officers report.
At 4:20 a.m. two miles south-east of the ferry on a Glenn's Ferry Highway District road, a 1967 Kenworth truck and trailer driven by M. Deloy Paskett, 24, Burley, travelling south in foggy weather at 25 miles per hour came upon a herd of about 25 cattle and could not stop in time.
Five of the fat steers were destroyed in the accident. They were valued at $250 each and belonged to Dan Wicher, Glenn's Ferry. The driver was not injured, officers said.

Sentiment Still Has Pulling Power With "Sophisticated" TV Audiences

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
NEW YORK (AP)—The television audience may be getting more sophisticated and harder to please, but it doesn't change much where sentiment is concerned. Years ago when the audience and television were young the carefully coordinated birth of Lucille Ball's real-life child and the "I Love Lucy" baby made headlines and caused a real stir in TV-owning homes. A few seasons back when Kate, the "Farmers' Daughter" was a long lost married to her congressman, the comedy series jumped out of its unsensational spot in the Nielsen rating list up into the top 10 for one show. Early this month when Betty Jo of "Petticoat Junction" married her high-flying suitor, the program jumped into ninth position on the list. Now that the wedding is over, "Petticoat Junction" has subsided into its usual spot about a third of the way down the Nielsen list. By now the Nielsen race has been run, the losers are about to be replaced and the marginal entries are fighting for a chance to go for a second season.

At the same time, it seems evident that the three networks have shown the most powerful features in the expensive movie packages they bought from the various film studios. Movie ratings in TV are dropping—not much, but dropping. In the most recent Nielsen report, only CBS Friday night movie was in the top 10. The week before that, two features were well down in the bottom half of the list of almost 100 shows.

This is the season that the trade paper "Variety" calls the "year of the feature revolution, and it is a year when a number of pretty good regular shows are not getting the attention they deserve. One is NBC's "Music Hall," produced by Gary Smith and Dwight Hemion, two young, bright men. The variety series shows imagination, presents its guest stars under flattering circumstances and provides an hour that usually slips by fast.

Wednesday night, for instance, the theme was "the Nashville Sound" in music, and while that didn't mean much, it did bring together some attractive musicalmakers. There was Dinah Shore, who doesn't turn up on television much any more; Eddy Arnold, the country western singer who is becoming a more attractive performer as he grows more accustomed to television; and pianist-singer Ray Charles.

The music was great, the background attractive and the production in good taste. It was a pleasant, relaxing show for the rest of a holiday. The holiday fare, if one disregards the usual reports of morning parades and the afternoon football, will be pretty much the standard series.

FHA Girls To Clean Their City Hall

GLENN'S FERRY—Two girls from the local Future Homemakers of America Club were given approval by the Glenns Ferry City Council Tuesday to do some cleanup work in the Glenns Ferry City Hall, as part of a beautification project the club is undertaking.

The council decided to recommend to the Department of Highways the Interchange City Modified Plan, with added school access from the north, for the Interstate 80 route at Glenns Ferry.

A beer and liquor license was approved for the Sturgeon Inn, upon application by Robert and June Warburton.

News Of Record

GOODING COUNTY Sheriff's Blotter
David C. Crankovich, 27, Fairfield, escaped injury when the 1964 Dodge pickup truck he was driving hit an icy stretch of road about 10:15 a.m. Monday 15 miles north of Gooding on Highway 40.

Crankovich, who was traveling toward Gooding, came around a corner and hit the snow-covered road. He lost control of the truck when it hit the road and overturned on its side. Damage to the pickup truck was estimated at $300. The truck was owned by the Soil Conservation Service, Crankovich's employee.

Scouts Will Sponsor Show At Hagerman

GOODING — Del Roby, Idaho adventurer and outdoorsman, will present his all-color outdoor show at the American Legion Hall in Hagerman at 8 p.m. Tuesday, under the sponsorship of the Boy Scouts, Cub Scouts and Explorer Post 108. All three groups are sponsored by the LDS Church.

The two-hour series is in full sound as well as living-color and each segment is as different as day and night, according to Roby.

Roby has spent his lifetime hunting, fishing, exploring and photographing his country. He is a sportsman who does hunt for trophies, but does it with principles of conservation uppermost in mind.

Shooting is done only at trophy specimens which also provide food and a great deal of shooting is done with a camera rather than a gun.

The show opens with a movie called "Adventure In The Selway." This is a shooting, scenic film that depicts a pell-mell ride in a rubber raft down the tricky Selway that tears through the great Selway-Bitterroot wilderness area from its headwaters to its confluence with the Lochsa.

Besides the Selway-river-run, the program includes a goat hunting film set in the craggy magnificence of the Selway wilds and called "The Sure Footed" and an interesting short film on catching sturgeon, keeping them alive and properly caring for the delicious white meat for later eating.

Two more water shots make up the agenda. One is a breathtaking trip down the Snake River through the notorious Hells Canyon Gorge, in a high-powered boat called the "Salmon River King."

The other show depicts the struggle of two small power boats shooting white water rapids and battling the famous River of No Return. This portion also includes a contest with a giant 8-foot sturgeon.

The Boy Scouts are selling advance tickets to the show, and points out that this glimpse of Del Roby's magnificent wilderness terrain is well worth seeing.

Censoring Of TV Movies Is Discussed

By BOB THOMAS
AT-Home-Television-Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The director of broadcasting's self-censorship code has been in town for some tough talk with moviemakers about the kind of films that can be seen on television.

Washington-based Howard H. Bell, director of the code authority for the National Association of Broadcasters, came to Hollywood to acquaint the studios with how the code works. It's tougher than the lately liberalized self-censorship of movies.

"It has to be tougher," explains Bell. "After all, television comes into the home and can be seen by persons of all ages. We can't recommend certain programs for mature audiences, as the movie makers do."

Even the presenting of shows late in the evening is no assurance that young persons won't be watching. In today's society, teen-agers might well be watching TV at midnight.

That means that the industry's censors will be standing ready with scissors as today's crop of outspoken movies hits the home screens in two or three years. But Bell, who tries to keep up with the current films as well as television programming, believes that most of the movies will be able to play television.

In most cases if there is a nude scene or profane word, such scenes can be deleted without any serious damage to the story line," he observed.

Despite growing frankness in all fields of expression, Bell does not believe television will try to keep up with the other mediums.

"As of now, profane language and nudity are not permitted on television. That may change as our moral standards change. But television can't be the leader in bringing about that change. That function must be observed by the theater and the motion picture," Bell said.

Another field of concern for the broadcasting code is the movie trailers—advertisements for films that are showing in local theaters.

"That is becoming an increasing problem, now that producers are making so many seditious films, as well as those about hippies, drugs, etc.," said Bell. "Many of these ads are aimed solely at shock and present scenes out of context. 'Sex and the Single Girl' was an example; the TV ads made the movie seem sexier than it was. Another case was 'The Carpetbaggers.'"

"We have urged Hollywood to cooperate in preparing more acceptable trailers."

Course At Buhl Is Only One In Idaho

BUHL—Buhl High School is the first school in the state of Idaho to have adopted the Introductory Physical Science Course.

The course was developed by teachers and scientists through a "feed back" process. It is not a typical or traditional textbook centered program. IPS gives students experience in observation, a basic laboratory skills, a knowledge of how to analyze experimental data and generalize from it, and how to correlate an abstract idea with a concrete situation.

They develop a feeling for experimental errors and approximate, and an ability to judge what is and what is not important in the interpretation of an experiment or a model.

The IPS course furnishes both a sound foundation for future biology, chemistry, and physics courses and sufficient nourishment in the essence of the spirit and the substance of science for those students who will terminate their study of science with this course. The course is geared for all levels of ability.

According to Bob Humphries, head of the science department, it is the human effort involved in the development of science that is stressed in the course. The students get most of his information from the original source, from nature itself, usually through his own real investigations in the laboratory and sometimes from careful descriptions of more difficult experiments or from films. He correlates and generalizes his observations and from this constructs models or theories.

which can be manipulated logically to raise new questions leading to new experiments. The emphasis is placed on experimentation and logical development rather than on cataloging facts and names. The results are that the students are keenly interested and highly motivated, and the teachers are able to direct students' attitudes and study habits into profitable channels early in the high school years.

According to Dennis Boyes, IPS instructor, the course required that students actually perform the laboratory experiments and that the specified equipment is on hand and easily accessible.

The science department also announced that they are now in the third year of using the Biological Sciences Curriculum Study—Green version—which is a new approach to biology.

The course is oriented to laboratory work for about 80 per cent and uses textbooks and lectures about 20 per cent. Research has found that student retention is better with this type course than with a lecture method.

Henry Savage, biology instructor, stated that his course was geared to all levels of ability and that subject matter was selected to increase the students' effectiveness as a future citizen. The text is written in a manner that requires the laboratory work for full interpretation.

The science department invites anyone interested to visit the department and see the facilities available to the Buhl High School science students.

Little Short

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (AP)—Richard Paddock, formerly a police officer in Bowie, Tex., decided to try for a badge in Los Angeles, so he packed his wife and four children in their car and headed west.

Their car broke down in Santa Fe, N.M., and Paddock bought a new one. Its fuel pump gave out in Flagstaff, Ariz., and the water pump failed at Blythe, Calif.

The gas tank was empty and so was Paddock's wallet Thursday when they reached San Bernardino. An elderly widow gave the Paddocks $10.

Strength Of Enemy Is Declining

SAIGON (AP)—The U.S. Command, revising downward its estimate of Communist military strength lined up against the allies in South Vietnam, put the total today at between 223,000 and 248,000 men.

Announcing a complete overhaul of its intelligence appraisal of the enemy's potential, headquarters omitted from its new tabulation 40,000 Viet Cong political agents previously included.

The gun-carrying Reds and the card-carrying political agents have been lumped together in estimates that totaled 297,000.

Under the new look, Communist military ranks have been cut from 9,000 to 34,000 men.

The political cadres were estimated to total 75,000 to 85,000, a sharp rise. The figures apparently included some Viet Cong who formerly had been classified as guerrillas.

How to cut oil bills

1. Have your oil burner cleaned and adjusted professionally. Like a car, it needs periodic attention.

2. Use a heating oil that helps keep your burner clean. In a clean, well-adjusted burner, Shell Heating Oil can help reduce fuel consumption significantly.

Shell Heating Oil contains a special additive called FOA-52. This additive helps keep critical burner passages free from clogging—assures better firing.

Brig. Gen. Winant Sidle, chief of information, told newsmen, the latest estimate of military strength included regular-army units, administrative and logistical services and guerrilla forces.

"The decline is due mostly to killing them off," Sidle said.

Birchers Use Telephone To Attack Sen. Kennedy

By JACK BELL WASHINGTON (AP)—If you dial a certain number on the Washington telephone exchange, you can hear an anonymous, crisp voice, speaking for the John Birch Society, accuse Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., of treason.

The recorded voice assails Kennedy as the backer of "liberal and revolutionary... Chinese-oriented Negro groups," and Luther King and the financial angel of the Congress of Racial Equality—CORE. The voice suggests CORE is dedicated to "killing white people to accomplish its objectives."

Without any reference to time or place the voice says Kennedy, a critic of President Johnson's Vietnam war policies, once vowed he would be "willing to give his blood to our Communist enemies in Vietnam."

"If this isn't treason, how do you define it?" the sepulchral voice asks. Kennedy was not immediately available for comment.

His press secretary, Frank Mankiewicz, said there was nothing in the broadcast that "even approaches the truth."

"It is so false as to be comical," Mankiewicz said. He added that another recorded telephone talk last week had denigrated similar "untruths" about Kennedy. Mankiewicz said he wondered how the telephone company could permit this to go on.

The Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. said no company officials were available for comment. The recording identified its sponsor as "Let Freedom Ring" of Fairfax County, Va., across the Potomac River from Washington. It urged callers to send 35 cents to a Sarasota, Fla., post office box for "Facts on Bobby Kennedy." If they want to learn more about the New York senator's actions, the recorded voice also advertised a Nov. 30 showing of a film on the life of John Birch, an American killed by the Chinese at the end of World War II. The film is to be shown Nov. 30 at a public library in McLean, Va., the name Washington suburb Kennedy lives in. It said the film showing will be sponsored by local John Birch Society chapters.

The John Birch Society, a militantly conservative organization headed by Robert Welch of Belmont, Mass., has called for impeachment of Chief Justice Earl Warren, Welch once labeled former President Dwight D. Eisenhower a "dupe" for the Communists.

Swiss Banks Cut Sales Of Gold ZURICH, Switzerland (AP)—Leading Swiss banks, following recommendations by the Swiss National Bank, temporarily suspended forward sales of gold today.

Banking sources said the measure was in line with standard Swiss bank policy to stem speculation. Forward sales make up only a minor part of trading and do not affect normal gold dealing, which continues as before.

OFFICERS NAMED BOISE (AP)—Most statehouse offices were manned Friday by reduced staffs, thus giving many state employees an extra day off in observance of the Thanksgiving holiday.

RULING MADE BOISE (AP)—The Idaho Supreme Court upheld Friday in part and reversed in part a district court ruling in a Bonneville County estate case.

Gov. Don W. Samuelson authorized the procedure, instructing departments to have on hand only enough employees to take care of customers.

The lawsuit involved the estate of S. R. Spencer, Idaho Falls, insofar as it pertained to the McKel-Spencer Trading Co., a partnership.

The Governor was at his home in Sandpoint and planned to return to Idaho on Sunday. He returns to Boise Sunday evening, then leaves for Denver for a regional educational conference Monday.

The supreme court affirmed the district court action dismissing the lawsuit against one of the defendants, Idaho First National bank, but reversed it as it related to other defendants.

Oregon Man Is Held For Theft

BUHL—Robert Floyd Thatcher, 29, Ogden, is being held in Twin Falls County jail on charges of auto theft following an accident in Tremonton, Utah.

He said the entire amount was used to finance residential property.

Thatcher told officers that he was hitchhiking from Oregon to Colorado and that while in Buhl he found a 1956 Chevrolet station wagon, registered to Guy Martinson, Buhl, with the ignition unlocked, so he took the car and continued on his way.

In Idaho during the same period, disbursements came to $2,485,200, with $977,800 for residential property, $50,000 for commercial and industrial property, and $1,457,400 for farm loans.

Near Tremonton he apparently went to sleep and the car careened off the road. Thatcher was taken to the hospital in Tremonton, where he was treated for minor injuries.

Upon investigation of the accident, Utah Highway Patrol found that the car had been reported stolen in Buhl and notified local authorities. Buhl police officer Jim Lowder and Deputy Sheriff Jim Turner returned the man to Twin Falls. The car was demolished.

They're moving up— they're moving over...

Chrysler sales have jumped 59% in the last four years. Why are people moving up to Chrysler in record volume? We can think of at least a half-dozen reasons right-off-the-bat:

- No. 1: There are no junior-size Chryslers. When you buy Chrysler you buy a big car. A luxury car.
- No. 2: A full-size Chrysler is priced just a few dollars more a month than the most popular smaller cars comparably equipped.
- No. 3: Chrysler engineered for brute strength, sure control, total comfort.
- No. 4: Big 383-cubic inch Chrysler V8 runs on regular gas.
- No. 5: Over 50 Chrysler luxury options to choose from.
- No. 6: Chryslers are beautiful.

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: I am a 16-year-old girl who has a very unhappy home life. My folks fight all the time. They have been fighting ever since I can remember. They treat me like dirt and I want to tell you, it is miserable and rotten.

My boy friend, Denny, is 17 and he comes from a home that's even rotten if there is such a word. His folks not only fight all the time, but his father beats his mother. Anyway, Denny has been crazy about me ever since 8th grade and we are thinking of getting married when he graduates from high school in June. If the army doesn't get him, he hopes to work days in a garage and go to trade school for mechanics at night. He's real good with cars and motors.

Should I quit school and get a job when Denny graduates? I'd have only a year to go and could finish later. We wouldn't have much money, but we wouldn't need much, and it isn't we'd have each other. I need advice. Thank you.

DENNY'S GIRL

DEAR GIRL: Don't use marriage as an excuse to get out of the house — no matter how miserable it is. I urge you to finish high school while you have the chance. The "later" you mention rarely comes. Children usually do, instead.

DEAR ABBY: Can a girl get pregnant from kissing with her mouth open?

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: Not if she opens it to say NO!

DEAR ABBY: Why must our 16-year-old son be penalized by the auto insurance companies just because he is a teenager?

RAY worked all last summer at a very responsible job, and since there was no other way to get to work, we loaned him the money to buy a little sports car. Ray had already taken driver's education in school, plus on the road training, so our confidence in him was completely justified. He is an A-B student, and used the car for very little pleasure driving. He has never had a ticket, nor has he ever scratched a fender.

Despite his excellent record he may be forced to give up his car. Why? Because his insurance premiums are $500 a year! Almost every cent Ray made has gone for insurance.

And listen to this. When my husband tried to get cheaper insurance with another company, he received a letter stating, "We will not insure any male sports car driver under the age of 30!"

Is this fair? Please say something in your column that may help responsible teenagers to get a break on auto insurance. Thank you. RAY'S MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: I agree, it's too bad that responsible teenagers should be penalized for the carelessness of other drivers in their age group. Unfortunately, statistics show that teenagers (especially boys) are poor risks. I am sure the insurance companies are aware of this.

They could consider giving a break to students with better grades, because they are usually more mature behind the wheel. I would like to hear from insurance companies about this problem so I can pass the facts on to my readers.

DEAR ABBY: There is only one answer for HAMBURGER PUSS whose tender face was constantly irritated by her boy friend's rough beard. She should ask him to SHAVE AGAIN!

I had the same problem with my boy friend (now my husband of 18 years). Old electric chin used to tear up my face during those smooching sessions. Now, when I whisper, "Are you going to shave tonight, dear?" it sends him flying for his razor with flashing eyes. I wouldn't trade my heavy-bearded man for the most handsome peach-fuzzed face in the world.

ISU Prevents All-Losing Season, Edges Portland 22-21 On Late Field Goal

PORTLAND (AP) — Rich Carrillo kicked a 40-yard field goal with 7:33 left in the game Thursday to give Idaho State a 22-21 victory over Portland State in a football game billed as the Cranberry Bowl.

Carrillo was up for an earlier miss and gave Idaho State its first victory after nine losses. PSC finished at 4-6.

Portland State exploded for three touchdowns after quarterback Bill Ingram had put Idaho State ahead with a four-yard run.

Portland State got its touchdown on an eighty-yard run by quarterback Ed Gorman, an 11-yard pass from Gorman to Terry Livermore and a 30-yard pass from Gorman to Don Sulist.

Idaho State's Mike Acker

brought the score to 21-13 before the half ended with a three-yard run. The conversion kick missed.

Idaho State made it 21-10 in the third quarter on a 21-yard pass from Ingram to Lory Harp.

A fumbled punt reception by Dan Withers of PSC kept Idaho State in control after Carrillo kicked the field goal.

Carrillo's miss on a point after touchdown gave PSC a 21-13 halftime lead. He said he looked up too soon on the conversion try.

When he went in for the field goal try, Carrillo was "scared and I admit it. I was almost too scared to look up after I kicked the ball. When I did the ball already was past the goal post."

ISU coach Leo McKillop, whose resignation was effective after the PSC game, said, "I tell everybody that I coached the kickers."

Portland State scored all its points in the second quarter and came close minutes before Carrillo's winning boot, but Larry Korychuck intercepted a Gorman pass in the end zone to end the threat.

Hiskey And Lively Are Tied For Lead

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP) — Handsome Babe Hiskey, who grew up on the shadow of an Idaho golf course, barely missed a 20-foot putt for an eagle on the 18th hole and tied for a five-under par 67 Thursday for a share of first place with Texan Billy Lively in the first round of the $10,000 Alvin Dark Invitational golf tournament.

Hiskey, a fixture on the PGA national tour who won the Calumne Classic at Lafayette, La., two years ago, had a bad day for his birdie on the last hole after his birdie on an eagle died an inch from the cup.

The darkly intense pro had blazed the front side of the 6,742-yard par 36-37 Lake Charles Country Club layout in five under.

Lively, from Canton, Tex., finished early with a 33-34-67. In second place, one stroke behind the leaders, were Dave Gumlin, Robert Stone and Jim Wright.

Defending champion Joe Campbell finished back in the pack with an even par 72.

W.G. Harrelson, the Boston Red Sox ace who won the Baseball Division title in this tourney a year ago, led his group for the first round with a 34-38-72.

Philadelphia Phillies manager Gene Mauch shot a 76.

Hayes Leads Dallas Past Cardinals 46-21

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Bob Hayes scored on plays covering 60, 58 and 34 yards as the Dallas Cowboys whipped the St. Louis Cardinals 46-21 Thursday night in a National Football League game.

Hayes' tremendous speed was too much for St. Louis to contain as he returned a punt 69 yards for a touchdown and caught scoring passes of 59 and 34 yards from Don Meredith.

Lance Rentzel's 74-yard reception of running back Dan Reeves' option pass gave the Cowboys a 30-14 lead at the outset of the third quarter.

The victory, Dallas' 8th in 11 games, gave the Cowboys a 3-4 game lead in the Capitol Division with three games to play.

The loss crippled St. Louis' chances of catching Century Division leader Cleveland.

Meredith tossed a third touchdown pass, a 10-yarder to Rentzel, late in the game.

After a 28-point first quarter, in which both teams scored two touchdowns, the Cowboys took the game away from St. Louis on Danny Villanueva's 22-yard field goal and the Meredith-Hayes 50-yard scoring strike.

Dallas built its lead to 37-14 in the third period on Rentzel's first touchdown and the second Meredith-Hayes bomb.

Rookie quarterback Jim Hart, who was injured in the third quarter when tackled while attempting to pass, shocked the Cowboys on the second play of the game when he hit Jackie Smith with a 67-yard touchdown pass.

Don Perkins' one-yard run evened the score after a 54-yard Dallas drive. Then Hayes, breaking two tackles and turning the speed race 62 yards with Chuck Entwistle's punt and the Cowboys never trailed again.

Charley Johnson, on military leave for weekend play with the Cardinals, replaced the injured Hart and pulled St. Louis 70 yards late in the third quarter for its third touchdown.

Sooners Drop Nebraska To Clinch Title

LINCOLN, Neb. — Oklahoma's Eddie Hinton rumbled 23 yards for a come-from-behind touchdown in the final quarter Thursday and the fifth-ranked Sooners clinched their first undisputed Big Eight title in five years with a 21-14 victory over Nebraska.

The triumph ran Oklahoma's season record to 8-1 over-kill. The Orange Bowl-bound Sooners are 6-0 in the conference going into next week's win/loss game against Oklahoma State.

For the Cornhuskers, deposed Big Eight champions, the loss closed out a 6-4 season, poorest since Bob Davony became head coach five years ago.

Nebraska spotted the powerful Sooners 13 early points on a touchdown and two field goals, then rallied for second quarter touchdowns on the passing of sophomore quarterback Frank Patrick to lead 14-13 at the intermission.

Late in the third quarter, a short Nebraska punt gave Oklahoma field position on Nebraska's 33. A 10-yard Bob Warmack pass to Steve Zabel preceded Hinton's touchdown sprint on the third play of the final period.

Celtics Lose, 76ers Win In NBA Twin Bill

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Seattle SuperSonics built an incredible 44-point halftime lead over the Boston Celtics and went up to a stunning 133-108 upset victory Thursday night in the first game of a National Basketball Association double-header at the Spectrum.

In the second game, the Philadelphia 76ers snapped a two-game losing streak and moved to within a game of the front-running Celtics in the Eastern Division race by defeating the San Diego Rockets 128-117.

An unbelievable crowd watched the SuperSonics run off 15 straight points for a 25-8 lead early in the first period on their way to handing the Eastern Division-leading Celtics one of their worst defeats in many years.

"We don't want to rush Berry. He'll be there if we need him," Bery demonstrated during an offensive practice at Memorial Stadium that his separated shoulder has healed. He caught several passes and was dumped on the hard turf once with no ill effects.

Texas A-M Rides 80-Yard Pass Past Texas, Into Cotton Bowl

By The Associated Press
 Ed Hargett passed Texas A&M into the Cotton Bowl Thursday with an 80-yard touchdown toss to Bob Long in the last quarter that enabled the Aggies to defeat rival Texas 10-7 at College Station.

While the Aggies wrapped up the Southwest Conference title, Orange Bowl-bound Oklahoma won its first Big Eight football crown outright in five years with a come-from-behind 21-14 triumph over Nebraska at Lincoln.

Hargett unlimbered his arm from his own 20 and Long caught the pass at the Texas 36 and carried a Longhorn defender over the goal to give the Aggies their first SWC championship in 11 years and send them against Alabama New Year's Day.

Texas threatened once more, but Buster Adams intercepted a Bill Bradley pass at the Aggie 15 to insure A&M's sixth victory in seven conference games.

A&M had led 3-0 at the half on Charley Riggs' 32-yard field goal, but Bradley's passing and Ted Koy's running put the Longhorns ahead with a touchdown in the final period, Bradley going over from the two.

Notre Dame Favored At Miami

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The University of Miami, still miffed at being overlooked as an Orange Bowl contender by local officials, goes against Notre Dame Friday night in an all-touchdown underdog. But Irish football Coach Ara Parseghian feels the Hurricanes have three factors in their favor.

"There are three reasons, aside from personnel why Miami will have an advantage," said Parseghian. "The heat factor is one. It's a night game, and Notre Dame has not played a night game all season. And Miami has had two weeks to prepare, while we have had less than one."

In two of the last three years, Notre Dame has failed warmer weather November tests. In 1964, the previously undefeated Irish lost at Southern Cal, 20-17, in their final game of the season. They wound up 1965 with a scoreless tie against Miami in the Orange Bowl.

However, last year Notre Dame trounced Southern Cal 51-0 without breaking into a sweat.

The crowd for the game — over 70,000 — could be the greatest over to see a football game in Florida. It also will be the largest to see a Notre Dame game this season.

Berry Healthy, But Won't Start

BALTIMORE (AP) — Alex Hawkins will start at left end for the Baltimore Colts in San Francisco Sunday, although Raymond Berry, the old master pass receiver, is healthy and ready to play.

"Raymond looks ready but the work will start," Coach Don Shula said before pro football's only undefeated team flew west Thursday evening.

"He'll be there if we need him," Bery demonstrated during an offensive practice at Memorial Stadium that his separated shoulder has healed. He caught several passes and was dumped on the hard turf once with no ill effects.

Negro Athletes Vote To Boycott Olympic Team

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A group of Negro athletes, including two members of San Jose State Collego's world-record mile relay team, voted Thursday to boycott the 1968 Olympic Games.

The vote taken of 200 participants in a Black Youth Conference was unanimous, a spokesman said.

A short time earlier, a disturbance involving 50 young followers of militant Black Power leader Ron Karenga and a small leftist group was quelled by police.

Several shots were fired, and a man identified as Michael Lasky was beaten up by the mob before police arriving in 20 squad cars rescued him. Lasky has described himself as a local Communist party leader.

Two youths were taken into custody. No other injuries were reported.

The fight occurred outside the Second Baptist Church in which the Black Youth Conference was being held.

Among athletes at the meeting were Lew Alcindor, basketball star of the University of California at Los Angeles, teammate Mike Warren and Tommie Smith and Lee Evans, members of the world-record mile relay team from San Jose State.

Smith also holds the world record of 19.5 seconds for 200 meters and 220 yards on May 7, 1966, in San Jose, Calif.

Evans ran with Smith on the team which set a world record of two minutes, 39.8 seconds in the 1,600-meter relay July 27, 1966, in Los Angeles.

Edwards led a protest charging discrimination against Negroes in the San Jose State College community which resulted in canceling San Jose State's football home opener with the University of Texas, 21-0, last October.

The protest group threatened a sit-in on the Spartan Stadium turf to prevent the game.

Rams Convert Lion Errors Into 31-7 Win

DETROIT (AP)—The Los Angeles Rams capitalized on a series of Detroit mistakes and exploded for 17 points in the fourth quarter to defeat the Lions 31-7 Thursday in a National Football League Thanksgiving Day game.

Ram quarterback Roman Gabriel fired two touchdown passes and fullback Les Josephson added two more scores on short runs.

The victory, eighth for the Rams against one loss and two ties, kept them within striking distance of the unbeaten Baltimore Colts in the Coastal Division of the NFL.

The Lions, 3-4-2, jumped to a 7-0 lead in the opening quarter after Dick Leibrer intercepted a Gabriel pass at the Rams 35 and ran it back to the eight. Karl Sweetan moved the lions in to score in two plays, with Tom Nowitzke going over on a three-yard burst for the score.

Sweetan, replaced by Mill Plum just before the half ended, failed to move the Lions, who otherwise never got inside the Ram 40 in the first half.

Los Angeles tied the score late in the second quarter, driving 82 yards in six plays. Gabriel, who had gotten off to a slow start, hit Jack Snow with a 39-yard scoring pass to tie the game. Snow made a great over the shoulder catch just inside the corner of the end zone.

Mel Farr's fumble set up the second Ram touchdown, but he lost the ball after taking a pass at the Detroit 17 and Chuck Lamson recovered for the Rams. Josephson scored two plays later on an eight-yard run.

The third Ram touchdown came at the start of the fourth quarter when Gabriel hit Billy Truax on a six-yard strike.

Gosssett booted a 23-yard field goal a few plays later to make it 24-7.

The Rams drove 55 yards in eight plays late in the final period, with Josephson going over from the two.

Proud Clarion Favored To Win Handicap

By The Associated Press

Kentucky Derby winner Proud Clarion, whose vaunted stretch kick fell short last week, comes back Saturday as the favorite to whip seven or eight rivals in the 1 1/2-mile, $50,000-added Galt Fox Handicap at Aqueduct Race Track.

The Derby Dan colt, winner of the Roamer Handicap before bowing to Mr. Right by five lengths in last Saturday's Queens County Cap, picks up topweight of 124 pounds in the Galt Fox and will have Bratlio Baza in the saddle.

Of interest will be the first U.S. appearance of Psyche, a 5-year-old mare owned by the Templeton Stable of Winston Guest, Jean Deforge, one of the leading riders in France, who is on hand to pilot the Argentine-bred mare. She'll carry 113 pounds, one more than her full sisters—Nirako from the Hasty House Farm.

Politely, the favorite, splashed through the sloppy going and won the $57,500 Firenze Handicap by six lengths over Green Glade at Aqueduct in Thursday's holiday feature.

Lifeline took the Alligator Stakes at Tropical Park by four lengths over Winter Street. Miracle Hill scored by three lengths in the Thanksgiving Handicap at the Fair Grounds.

Dancer's Image bent Martin's Jig by a nose at Laurel while Moslem Foss made a four-point rally by taking the Thanksgiving Day purse at Narragansett.

Sharp Curve surprised with a four-length victory over the favored Nevada Margra in the Thanksgiving Day Handicap at Bay Meadows.

Dakota Man Wins Cross-Country

FORT COLLINS, Colo. (AP)—Arjan Gelling of the University of North Dakota pulled away in the final stretch Thursday to win the United States Track and Field Federation cross-country meet by 30 yards over Ray Barrus of Brigham Young University.

Gelling's time over the slightly more than 6-mile course was 31:58.8. Barrus was 14 seconds behind followed by Mike Ryan of the Air Force Academy and Jerry Richner, a Pittsburg University freshman.

Late Charger Score Beats Denver 24-20

SAN DIEGO (AP)—Dick Post's eight-yard touchdown run with 2:33 remaining in the game gave the San Diego Chargers a come-from-behind 24-20 victory Thursday over the Denver Broncos in an American Football League game.

The Chargers set up the scoring score when Steve DeLong recovered a fumble by Denver's Charli Mitchell on the Bronco 24-yard line. Post carried for gains of 11 and 5 yards before driving off right tackle for the winning tally.

The Broncos tried to come back through the air, but Chuck Allen picked off two Steve Tensi passes following the go-ahead touchdown and the Chargers ran out the clock.

The Broncos grabbed a 7-0 first quarter lead with Al Denson scoring on a nine-yard pass from Tensi. They lengthened the lead to 14-0 in the second period when Tensi capped a 63-yard drive with a five-yard touchdown pass to Eric Crabtree.

The Chargers scored when John Hadl moved them 22 yards in three plays following a 42-yard punt return by Ken Graham. Post drove up the middle to narrow the gap to 14-7.

Denver struck back on Bob Humphreys' 13-yard field goal for a 17-7 halftime lead. Just before the second period ended, Hadl moved the Chargers to the Denver 17 before his pass, intercepted by Willie Frazier, was picked off in the end zone by Jack Lentz.

The teams traded field goals in the third period, San Diego's Dick Van Raaphorst booting a 24-yarder and Humphreys kicking one from 16 yards out for Denver.

Steady Duncan shot new life into San Diego when he blocked an attempted 19-yard field goal by Humphreys scooped up the ball and ran 72 yards to score, closing the gap to 17-17.

Oakland Roms Past Kansas City

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Four pass interceptions and Pete Bannazak's excellent fill-in job for injured Clem Daniels fired Oakland to a 44-22 romp over Kansas City's fallen champs Thursday and kept the Raiders on top of the American Football League's Western Division.

The victory gave Oakland a 6-1 record while dropping the defending AFL kings to 6-5.

The game was never really in doubt after cornerback Willie Brown's 25-yard scoring run with an interception made it 17-3 in the first period. Brown also intercepted the Oakland 23-yard line, taking the ball away from Otis Taylor to stop a Kansas City drive at the outset of the second half.

Safety Warren Powers set up the first Oakland touchdown with an interception at the Raiders' 45, and hit a 33-yard touchdown run with another interception pass in the last quarter made it 37-16.

Quarterback Daryle Lamona had little trouble picking the Chiefs' defense apart. His favorite target, flanker Fred Biletnikoff, faked out Fred Williamson for a 34-yard pass which got up a TD for a 30-12 lead.

Bannazak, a second-year pro who had carried the ball only nine times in his pro career, ripped the Chiefs for 81 yards in 13 carries and caught four passes for 27 yards.

Kansas City's Len Dawson was used in a floor pass rush from Oakland's front four, led by end Isaac Lassiter and tackle Dan Birdwell.

Dawson made few attempts to move the ball on the ground and was dumped six times for 53 yards while trying to pass.

Mrs. King Is Upset By Aussie

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Judy Tegart of Australia scored a smashing upset over Billie Jean King, America's Wimbledon and U.S. titleholder, Thursday in the women's quarter-finals of the New South Wales Lawn Tennis Championships.

The score was 6-3, 7-9, 6-0.

The Australian girl, in an iron role, first defeated Elena Subirats of Mexico, 6-2, 6-1 and then, after a brief rest, took the court for her three-set victory over Mrs. King of Long Beach, Calif.

The defeat of Mrs. King momentarily postponed the awaited clash between the current queen of women's tennis and big Margaret Smith Court of Australia, former Wimbledon and U.S. champion who is making a comeback after 18 months of semi-retirement.

Alston Lists Hits, Defense As Big Needs

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Walter Alston, the team manager in charge of the club's disappointing headlong collapse from first in 1963 to eighth in 1966, counted the old Brooklyn Dodgers, of course.

The Dodgers did not divulge salary figures but the 55-year-old Alston reportedly will receive $55,000 for 1967, the same he is supposed to have made in 1967.

Alston, it appears, was not some pretty good pitcher over the years. I'm satisfied. What is needed for 1968? "Two things—hitting and defense," he replied. He pinpointed on defense the infield and particularly shortstop. Several tried but none really succeeded at shortstop last season.

He said the defense cost the club more runs than it should have. He'll take a long look at the said. "Besides, we've had all the talent in spring training.

Alston also said that if he can come up with another pitcher, he might go with a five-man pitching rotation instead of the usual four.

He feels, he explained, that a veteran such as Don Drysdale, or a busy young man such as Don Sutton, might benefit from an extra day's rest.

Another interleague trade highlighted other baseball news as Cincinnati dealt outfielder Floyd Robinson and right-handed reliever Darrell Osteen to the Oakland Athletics for right-hander Ron Tompkins.

Robinson, 31, acquired by the Reds from the Chicago White Sox last year, was hampered by injuries in 1967 and hit only .238 as a reserve. Osteen, 24, finished last season with Buffalo and had a 10-4 record.

2:30 P.M. SUMMARY NEW YORK (AP) — recovery by blue chips put the Dow Jones Industrial average into plus territory late this afternoon even though gainers were outnumbered by losers in the stock market as a whole. Trading was fairly active.

Determination of the United States to maintain the value of the dollar in terms of gold was cited as a reason for renewed firmness in the market despite the gold-rush buying in world markets.

Occidental Petroleum needed the list on volume, making a fractional gain. The company announced a stock split and dividend boost but is calling convertible preferred, thus diluting its common.

Some glamour stocks erased early losses and showed gains among them. Data, up nearly 3 in active trading. Polard wiped out a loss and showed a 6-point net gain. IBM was up about 1 1/2.

U.S. gypsum was off about 3 while losses of about a point were shown by Johns-Manville, Reynolds, General Electric and RCA.

Steels firmed, showing fractional gains. Most auto stocks were lower by small fractions. General Motors canceled a loss and traded unchanged.

A mixed tone prevailed on the American Stock Exchange where gold-mining stocks posted gains.

New York Police Commissioner Speaks To Advisory Unit On Civil Disorders

By JOHN D. McCLAIN WASHINGTON (AP) — Police Commissioner Howard R. Leary of New York City has told President Johnson's Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders the requisites of a riot include what he called "dry grass" conditions.

Leary told the commission the agitator inevitably turns his attention to teen-agers, exciting them into committing acts of vandalism.

At that point, he said, a sufficient police force is required first, to prevent further vandalism and then to head off looting.

"This is most critical area, because it is at this point that the agitator's efforts to turn a disturbance into a riot will succeed or fail," Leary explained.

If large-scale looting can be prevented, he continued, it will give the "decent, orderly and reasonable" forces within the community time to work and plan to give a chance to argue against destruction and disorder.

Leary's testimony and that of three others who appeared Sept. 20 concluded that adequate community relations programs are needed to avert riot conditions.

One major course of action was the creation of a National Public Safety Director of Dade County, (Miami) Fla., is the police-community relations approach "in which you attempt to enlist or involve the total community in the problem-solving machinery."

Such relations, said Police Chief William M. Lombard of Rochester, N.Y., provide one of the necessary measures to bridge the gap between the police and the minority group in the community.

Survivors include his widow, Oakley; one son, Hilton Pratt Matthews; one daughter, Susan Matthews; mother, Mrs. Clara Matthews; three brothers, Ennis Matthews and Maurice Matthews, both Oakley, and Hal Matthews, Burley; two sisters, Mrs. Trafford (Blanch) Bray and Mrs. Arthur (Mae) D. Schorzman, both Burley.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p.m. Monday in the Oakley LDS Stake House by Bishop Hilton Critchfield. Final rites will be held in the Oakley Cemetery. Friends may call at Payne Mortuary Sunday afternoon and evening and at the Oakley church Monday from noon until time of services.

WEST COAST AIRLINES at Twin Falls had two flights canceled Friday morning because of weather.

Ronald (Hap) Masoner, local agent, said that although stiff winds were blowing at the airport, the flights were canceled because of severe icing conditions between here and Salt Lake City.

The 7:30 a.m. flight from Salt Lake and the 9:30 a.m. flight to Salt Lake both were canceled, affecting about 30 passengers who would have either boarded or disembarked here.

Personnel at Reddy's Flying Service reported they were running no flights Friday morning and that a few private planes that had taken off from Twin Falls were forced to return.

WEST COAST AIRLINES at Twin Falls had two flights canceled Friday morning because of weather.

Ronald (Hap) Masoner, local agent, said that although stiff winds were blowing at the airport, the flights were canceled because of severe icing conditions between here and Salt Lake City.

The 7:30 a.m. flight from Salt Lake and the 9:30 a.m. flight to Salt Lake both were canceled, affecting about 30 passengers who would have either boarded or disembarked here.

J.C. Penney Earnings And Sales Are Up

NEW YORK — J. C. Penney Co.'s earnings for the third quarter were $25,670,865, an increase of 4.4 per cent. Volume increased 7.3 per cent to $706,407,455.

After a moderately strong August, the Penney officers noted that September and October both were characterized by sluggish buying activity and fell short of expectations.

This was blamed on strikes and unfavorable weather in some areas, as well as consumer wariness.

While they anticipate a record Christmas buying season, they said results will depend to a substantial degree on the level of consumer confidence.

Net earnings for the first nine months of 1967 were up 2.8 per cent to $2,468,058.

Survivors include his widow, Oakley; one son, Hilton Pratt Matthews; one daughter, Susan Matthews; mother, Mrs. Clara Matthews; three brothers, Ennis Matthews and Maurice Matthews, both Oakley, and Hal Matthews, Burley; two sisters, Mrs. Trafford (Blanch) Bray and Mrs. Arthur (Mae) D. Schorzman, both Burley.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p.m. Monday in the Oakley LDS Stake House by Bishop Hilton Critchfield. Final rites will be held in the Oakley Cemetery. Friends may call at Payne Mortuary Sunday afternoon and evening and at the Oakley church Monday from noon until time of services.

Farm AND Ranch

Nov. 24-25, 1967 Twin Falls Times-News A-1

SECTION

Area Cattleman Is Idaho Grassman Of Year

By MRS. M. L. DANIEL
Times-News Correspondent
FAIRFIELD—Persistent good management in his overall farming and cattle raising has won for Everett Coates, Camas County stockman, the coveted title of 1967 Idaho Grassman of the Year.

Coates states that he didn't plan to enter the contest until urged to do so this spring, so he didn't do any special preparation in the preceding years in order to win the title.

Coates is farming over 3,100 acres of dry and irrigated land in the Willow Creek section east of Fairfield near the Blaine-Camas county line. About 200 acres of the Willow Creek hottomland is irrigated from a creek. In some of the past years he has used sprinklers to irrigate more land.

His main crops are wheat, hay and grass. Intermediate wheat-grass and bromo have been used with alfalfa. About 75 per cent of the land of the place has been tilled at one time or another.

Coates runs between 300 and 400 cows on his place. About two-thirds are Black Angus and the other are Herefords. He raises his own replacements.

He has his place fenced and cross fenced so that he can move his cattle to distribute the fertilizer and to keep from overgrazing his pastures. Stock black and red cattle on lush pastures prove his efficiency.

Twelve ponds and springs have been developed on the place for pasture and range water. A well, over 300 feet deep, provides a lot of water for his cattle.

Fertilization and crop rotation has resulted in good yields. Four tons to the acre of alfalfa was produced in the Willow Creek bottom land this past year.

Coates states that as any farmer knows, there are always the disappointments and setbacks in farming. After a cold spring this year the crops finally started to make some growth. Then in June a devastating hailstorm pounded the growing crops and runoff water swirled around the ranch buildings.

The outlook appeared grim at that time, but the added moisture and favorable weather later on helped produce an abundant grass and hay crop.

Coates has been farming on the property since 1937 and added the Willow Creek ranch to his holdings in 1944. His folk are homesteaded part of the farm. His mother, Mrs. Julia Coates resides in Twin Falls.

He learned farming by working for his folks during his school days. He does much of his own work and employs one full-time hired man who resides with his wife and family in one of the tenant houses on the ranch.

The log and flagstone ranch home is located in a picturesque setting on the east side of Willow Creek amid shade trees. Tenant houses and barns are nearby. The Baseline Road runs between the houses on the north and the barns, sheds and corrals on the south. Much of the farm is rolling land that has been taken out of sheepbrush.

As busy as Coates is with his farm and cattle, he still takes time to participate in organization and civic activities. He is presently serving as a trustee on the school board, and has for many years.

He has served as a Camas County Commissioner, a past member of the Grants and Coconino Committees gave him technical help in his endeavors.

Camas County was represented in 1964 when Gwinn F. Rice, more Cattleman's Association and is presently chairman of the Camas Cattle Grazing Association. He is a director of the Camas Prairie Wheat Growers.

Supper Held

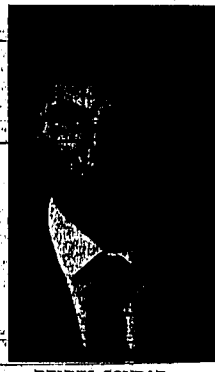

BLISS — A Thanksgiving potluck supper was held by the Bliss Grange under the direction of Mrs. Vern Stevens, home economic chairman.

The remainder of the evening was spent playing games. The next meeting, Dec. 7, will be a business meeting.

mer Esther Moody who also is a member of a pioneer Camas Prairie family. She was a school teacher on the Prairie. They have two children, a daughter, Linda, who is a sophomore at the University of Idaho, and a son, David, who is attending Camas County schools. For diversion, Coates enjoys music and plays the guitar.

Coates was sponsored by the Camas County Chamber of Commerce and says that much credit for his winning the title is due to the efforts and help of the late Ray Alzola, county agent. Also Dick Gooby, soil conservationist from the Gooding office and the local ASC Committee helped him technical help in his endeavors.

6 Area Students En Route To National 4-H Club Congress

Six Magic Valley 4-H'ers left early Friday morning for Chicago to attend the National 4-H Club Congress to be held Sunday through Thursday.

These six young people all won scholarships to the national congress. They won the scholarships for being the state project winners.

One of the six left Spokane late Thursday night on a special train and the other five left Shoshone where the train picked them up at 2:40 a.m. Friday. The 4-H'ers leaving Spokane were Mary Hanke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Hanke, Glenns Ferry.

The other five, who will leave from Shoshone, are Barbara Baird, Carey; Evelyn Silva, Shoshone; Beth Britt, Twin Falls; Dan Shewemaker, Kimberly; and Dennis Conrad, Castleton.

These local state winners are determined by a judging committee of 12 or more made up of various county extension agents and extension specialists. The award is made after a careful review of each member's 4-H club record which they have compiled personally and submitted for judging.

Competition is extremely keen among those submitting their records and only those with extended and very outstanding accomplishments are awarded this national trip. Aside from compiling the record, each contestant is required to write a story covering their experiences in 4-H club and their personal appraisal of value received.

Many of the sponsors, such as American Oil, DuPont and General Motors, sponsor the 4-H Club program to the extent of paying all the expenses for one winner from each of the 50 states.

Miss Hanke, who was sectional dairy winner in 4-H, is a double winner this year. She first won a state sponsored award and then later the sectional award. Sponsoring the sectional award is the Oliver Corp.

Her mother, Mrs. Hanke, will be a guest at a banquet Tuesday in Chicago. With Miss Hanke and her mother will be Mr. and Mrs. Dan Warren, Moscow. Mr. Warren is state 4-H leader.

Miss Baird, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Baird, Carey, is being sponsored by Sperry and Hutchinson, Inc. She is a top student in her class at the Carey High School. She has won several district awards in 4-H. She has won district purple ribbons for home improvement, foods, child care and demonstration. This past summer she worked in her grandfather's bakery, decorating cakes and baking. She also is piano accompanist for her church.

She has been a junior 4-H leader and has held all 4-H offices.

Miss Silva is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Corwin Silva, North Shoshone. She has been in 4-H for eight years and has completed 50 projects. Some of the projects include conservation, forestry, foods, clothing, health, dairy, safety, and water, home grounds improvement, home improvement, junior leadership and horse.

She is a member of the Wagon-Wheel Variety 4-H Club, led by Mrs. Dean Barney and Mrs. Silva, and the Wood River Livestock 4-H Club, with Mrs. Clifford Stutzman as leader.

Miss Britt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Britt, has completed 30 projects in her eight years of 4-H work. These include junior leadership, safety, clothing, foods, health, electrification, gardening and photography.

She is a member of the Happy-Go-Lucky 4-H Club with Mrs. Britt as leader, and has been a member of the Merry Maids 4-H Club, led by Mrs. Robert E. Norris. She was a state winner in safety.

Shewemaker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Shewemaker, Kimberly, was a state winner in beef. He has completed 16 projects in his eight years of 4-H work.

Some of his projects include welding, beef, junior leadership and safety. He is a member of the Future Livestock 4-H Club with Mrs. Jack Claborn Jr. and Mrs. John Feldhusen Jr. as leaders. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Scott were young Shewemaker's 4-H leaders for seven years.

Young Mr. Conrad, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Conrad, Castleton, won the state tractor award. He has been in 4-H for eight years and has completed 32 projects, including tractor, junior leadership, welding, beef, woods, electrification, dairy and automobile.

He is a member of the Valve Lifters 4-H Club with his father as club leader. He also has been a member of the Sunny Side Livestock 4-H Club, led by Frank Southwick, and the Feeders and Breeders 4-H Club, led by Lloyd Johnson.

Miss Britt is sponsored by General Motors. Mr. Conrad, American Oil, and young Mr. Shewemaker, Dupont.

GAZING OUT OVER part of his Angus and Herefords is Everett Coates, Fairfield, the 1967 Idaho Grassman of the Year. He was named Idaho Grassman of the Year recently in Boise. He farms about 3,100 acres of dry and irrigated land in the Willow Creek area and runs between 300 and 400 cows.

Food Product Imports First 8 Months Up

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department reported today this country imported 5 per cent more food products during the first 8 months of this year than a year earlier. But farm exports dipped by the same percentage.

A food situation report said imports of livestock food products, essentially, dairy products and meats, increased 9 per cent.

This rise in imports has brought sharp criticism from some farm groups and support in Congress for tighter restrictions on the inflow of foreign products, particularly when there is an abundance of most food products in this country and farm prices are running below last year's level.

Tighter controls on imports of dairy products were established by President Johnson effective July 1.

Imports of meats, particularly beef, have increased this year but not enough to put into motion legislation requiring the imposition of import quotas.

Imports of nonfood agricultural commodities through August this year were down 18 per cent from a year earlier. Included in this category were wool, live animals, hides and skins.

27,556 Acres Of Alfalfa Seed Certified

BOISE — Alfalfa seed grown on 27,556 acres met certification in 1967, reports Harold Finnell, manager of the Idaho Crop Improvement Association.

The acreage was less than last year. Fieldmen inspected more than 33,000 acres, but 5,000 acres were rejected because of weeds. The three top varieties certified were Vernal, 10,460 acres; Ranger, 8,200 acres, and Harrogate, 2,894 acres. Fifteen counties grow seed. Owyhee was first with 10,183 acres approved. Canyon was second with 3,882 and Elmore was third with 2,413.

Twenty public varieties, seven varieties of seed firms and three varieties for European certification were in the program. Five varieties certified for the first time this year were Beaver, Dawson, Irequels, Ladak 65 and Rambler.

Soybeans Top Kennedy Round Talks

By OVID A. MARTIN
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A study of the Kennedy round trade negotiations at Geneva discloses that the soybean got the major share of foreign trade concessions granted American farm products.

As a consequence, foreign market opportunities for this rapidly expanding domestic crop has been increased — significantly perhaps. The impact would be spread rather broadly over American agriculture, for soybeans are becoming major sources of income in many areas of the country.

Foreign trade partners granted concessions — nearly all duty reductions — of $228.5 million a year on U.S. farm products. Of this amount, an estimated $176 million — or 77 per cent — went to soybeans and soybean products. The products include soybean oil and soybean meal, the latter used mainly as a livestock protein feed supplement.

Richfield Grange Sets Yule Party

RICHFIELD — Richfield Grange Christmas dinner party will be held at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 13 at the Methodist recreation rooms. A no-hostess supper will be featured.

New Grange officers are Glen Ross, master; Burt Akina, overseer; Jack Hubsmith, steward; Mrs. Eugene Alexander, lecturer; Mrs. Glen Ross, treasurer; Mrs. Burt Akina, secretary; Rupert Golcochea, gatekeeper; C. F. Chatfield is assistant steward; Mrs. Rupert Golcochea, lady assistant steward; Mrs. John Base, chaplain; and the three graces are Mrs. H. A. Ross, Mrs. Jack Hubsmith, and Mrs. Edgar Stubbs.

New Officers Are Named By Soil Group At Burley Meet

BURLEY — The R. N. Irving Chapter Soil Conservation Society of America held its 11th annual meeting recently at Pocatello.

Opening remarks were made by Dick Gooby, Gooding, president. "Resource Planning in Gooding County" was discussed by a panel. Panel members were Charles Case, SCS; Del Taylor, FWS; Clyde Petersen, county planning commission, and Mr. Gooby, SCS.

During the panel discussion it was pointed out that city, farmers and businessmen worked together on the planning for the future. The three steps followed were inventory of resources and setting the facts; projecting of future needs; and making plans for the future. Under the three steps, recreation, water and soil, uses of land, range and agricultural, educational and finances were all taken into consideration.

In Gooding county the planning group started in October, 1966, and have high hopes of having the planning completed by May, 1968. At present Camas, Blaine and Lincoln counties have started their planning programs.

Mike Mazzone, Twin Falls, Snake River Boy Scout Council Executive, spoke to the group on "Conservation Projects for Boy Scouts." In order for the Boy Scouts to earn a merit badge in Conservation it has become necessary for the Soil Conservation personnel to work hand-in-hand with the Boy Scout officials. Last year a one-week camp was held for Boy Scouts sponsored by Soil Conservation, Forest Service and Bureau of Land Management.

Robert A. Erkins, Buhl, president of Snake River Trout Company spoke on "Raising Trout Commercially." "Raising fish is one of the oldest types of farming known," Erkins stated. "The greatest problem today in raising fish is the chemicals harmful to fish in the water," said west section councilman; Glen Logan, Burley, south section councilman, and Charles Howard, Aberdeen, eastern section councilman.

Amalgamated Sugar Co. Directors Have First Board Meeting In Idaho

When large corporations have regular board meetings, usually they meet in a meeting room and discuss the firm's financial matters. Recently a large corporation in this area added a different twist to the usual board meeting.

Directors of the Amalgamated Sugar Co., with headquarters in Ogden, combined a field and factory inspection trip with a board meeting. According to A. E. Benning, company president, directors have toured company facilities before, but this is the "first out-of-state board meeting in memory." Usually the board meetings are held in the firm's headquarters in Ogden.

The eight-member board first toured the Twin Falls factory, seeing how the sugar content is extracted from the sugar

Techniques that increase yield do not necessarily control erosion. Much of our high crop production comes at a high cost in tons of soil washed from the fields. And that which is already in effect needs constant maintenance and flexibility to adapt to changing needs and technology.

beat. The research facilities in Twin Falls also were toured. After touring the Twin Falls factory, the group went to Paul and visited the company's largest factory, the Mini-Cassia factory.

While at the Mini-Cassia factory, the group saw the ion exchange system, which improves the extraction efficiency.

Later, while on route to Boise, the directors stopped in Hammett to inspect the beet receiving station, one of the largest in Idaho.

Both the Nyssa, Ore., and Nampa facilities also were inspected.

During the board meeting in Nampa, plans for the company's annual stockholder meeting in January were discussed and a review of the just-announced fiscal 1967 operating and financial results was made.

The directors termed the "out-of-state" tour and meeting outstanding and enjoyed the new twist to the usual board meeting.

Course On Butchering Is Available

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. — For colonial farmers, butchering was the season's final food-gathering activity. It was a festive occasion. Friends and neighbors joined in the day-long revelry.

Who doesn't enjoy eating cured bacon, or homemade sausage and scrapple? But those days it's difficult to find butchers who sell home-cured meats. Sausage-making becomes a do-it-yourself project.

To give instruction to those doing their own butchering, experts at The Pennsylvania State University have prepared an easy-to-read correspondence course titled "Dressing and Curing Meats." The nine-lesson course gives killing methods, cutting procedures, curing formulas, and complete instructions on how to make such delicacies as sausage, scrapple and liverwort.

Anyone can enroll in the course simply by sending his name and address with $2.50 to Butchering, Box 5000, University Park, Pa., 16802. Make checks to PENN. STATE. There are no other charges and a complete course copy comes to you by mail.

THESE FOUR MEN were awarded recently the 1967 Meritorious Service Awards by the National Pea Improvement Association for their outstanding scientific accomplishments, relating to pea improvement. They are, from left, Dr. M. E. Anderson, Twin Falls, Rogers Brothers Co.; Dr. W. H.

Pierce, Twin Falls, Asgrow Seed Co.; Dr. E. J. Renard, Rigby, Cannors Seed Corp.; and Dr. J. C. Walker, Mazama, professor of plant pathology at University of Wisconsin. The three Idaho men were at one time students of Dr. Walker's. They received the awards in Milwaukee, Wis.

4 Pea Scientists Receive National Awards

Three Idaho men, along with a Wisconsin professor, recently received Meritorious Service Awards from the National Pea Improvement Association.

Two of the Idaho men are from Twin Falls and the other is from Rigby. Another unique factor of these three men is that they were at one time students of the Wisconsin professor and the two Twin Falls men were students at the same time under the professor.

Receiving the awards at an awards luncheon in Milwaukee, Wis., were Dr. Melvin E. Anderson, Twin Falls, plant pathologist for Rogers Brothers Co.; Dr. Walker H. Pierce, T-w.in Falls, former director of the Asgrow Seed Co. research center at Filer; Dr. Earl J. Renard, Rigby, Cannors Seed Corp., and Dr. J. C. Walker, Madison, Wis., emeritus professor of plant pathology at University of Wisconsin.

Of the four men, Dr. Anderson is the only one still active in pea research, although Dr. Walker, once in a while, teaches or conducts experiments at the University. Dr. Pierce, Dr. Renard and Dr. Walker all have retired and Dr. Anderson plans to retire in about one year.

Dr. Anderson has a long and most impressive record as a pea breeder. In fact, he is one of the most successful pea breeders known today, and he is even more famous as a bean breeder.

Dr. Anderson joined Rogers Brothers in 1933 after finishing his classic Wisconsin investigation on cabbage yellows resistance. His primary task with Rogers Brothers was to incorporate Fusarium wilt resistance into the pea varieties of that time. He worked on this problem for two years in Wisconsin and in 1935 transferred his breeding program to Idaho.

During the last 34 years he has developed 41 pea varieties, many of which have stood the test of time and gained wide acceptance. Fourteen of these have exceeded a million pounds annually, and several enjoyed this volume for 10-20 years.

Among the famous pea varieties developed by this energetic researcher are Ace, Winner, Famous, Eureka, Wasatch, Target, Bonneville, W. R. Thomas, Laxton 251, Victory Frezzer, Trojan, Frosty Midfrezzer and Small Slove Frezzer.

He has been a leader in the incorporation of disease resistance into new varieties.

Dr. Pierce is a man of many talents. For many years he was director of Asgrow's research center near Filer, a position which called for both administrative and research skills. His phytopathological research talents became evident as early as 1926 at the University of Idaho where he worked as research plant pathologist during 1926-30 and 1933-37, and performed some of the pioneering researches on pea virus diseases.

At Wisconsin during 1930-1933 he first discovered the differences between common bean mosaic and yellow bean mosaic. He joined Asgrow in 1937 as plant pathologist and plant breeder, with responsibilities for pea and bean breeding. During the past 30 years he has truly been one of the world's great pea breeders.

He is credited with developing and perfecting about 45 pea varieties, many of them unusually successful contributions. Some of these are Pixie, Early Harvest, Early Sweet 11, Elf, Resistant Early Perfection 320, Trojan, Nugget, Pluperfect, Coronet, Frezzer 60, Venus and Sprite.

Dr. Pierce's outstanding success as a pea breeder has been attributed to several factors, among which are good organization, a thorough knowledge of the improvements needed, a good "eye" for proper plant characteristics, and above all a willingness to work long hours necessary to accomplish the task instead of enjoying the beckoning trout streams.

Dr. Renard has been referred to as the Dean of American pea breeders. Few other men, perhaps none, have enjoyed the same wide measure of success as a pea improvement specialist.

He began his researches with peas in 1925 while still an undergraduate with the late Prof. Delwiche at the Ashland, Wis., experiment station. Since that time, he has devoted his long successful career to pea improvement.

His comprehensive study on the origin and nature of rogues in canning has remained a classic. For about 37 years he has been the pea breeder for his company and for a good share of that time he also has handled the production manager responsibilities.

Dr. Renard has developed a large number of very important processing pea varieties among which are Wilt Resistant Alaska, New Line Alaska, Wilt Resistant Perfection, Wilt Resistant ant-Early Perfection, New Line Early Perfection, Largo Seeded Perfection, Perfected Wales, Dark Skin Perfection, 3049 Early Perfection, 3019 Early Perfection, 3502 Early Perfection and 7025 Early Sweet.

Perfected Wales and Dark Skin Perfection are among those especially widely used for a long time. He has incorporated some Fusarium root rot tolerance into certain of the later developed varieties—a pioneering achievement.

Dr. Walker, the professor who taught the other three plant pathology, has made many unique and significant contributions to pea improvement during the past 40 years.

He performed and supervised many pioneer practical and fundamental studies on the very important Fusarium wilt disease of peas. These experiments helped lead to the development, in cooperation with Prof. Delwiche, of the first wilt-resistant varieties, such as Alaska, Wisconsin Early Sweet and Wisconsin Perfection.

These resistant varieties, and their progenies, saved the Wisconsin pea canning industry from threatened destruction by pea wilt.

Soon thereafter the near-wilt disease became a subject of Dr. Walker's researches, and again control was accomplished by the development of the first wilt and near-wilt-resistant variety, Delwiche Commando.

Dr. Walker has made very important contributions to our fundamental and practical

Aluminum Pipe Used In Spud Storage

NAMPA—Potato growers now are finding potato storage easier, thanks to aluminum culvert pipe.

Nampa farmer Elmer H. Tloeg uses 18-inch-diameter, 16-gauge perforated aluminum pipe as ventilation ducting in a 116 by 400-foot potato shed to draw in fresh air, which aerates potatoes.

First, ducts are cut in the walls of the building. Then 22-foot long sections of the pipe, supplied by Kaiser Aluminum's Boise distribution center—are inserted in the ducts and run out toward the center of the building.

The sections of pipe are bandaged together with aluminum slip-couplers into desired lengths, then laid parallel at 10-foot intervals across the floor. As few as two men can hand-install each length of the lightweight culvert, which normally is laid just before a truckload of potatoes is brought in, allowing the matery two years because of truck to move freely as far into the warehouse as needed. Also is more difficult to join into various lengths, weighs more than aluminum and loses which tends to rot in approxiair-through-seepage.

BRIDGE

TWO WAYS CAN SAVE SOUTH
People who watch bridge games are divided into three classes. The kibitzers who sit right back of the players, the clubbers who sit back of the kibitzers and the tilters who stand way back and go tsit after a bad play.

his contract. He had two ways to do it. One way would have been to play three rounds of diamonds after drawing trumps so as to strip his hand and dummy of that suit. Then a club lead would have stuck West in.

A more elegant line would have been for South to play the second trump, then enter dummy with the second trump and take a club from dummy to his jack. This play would be expensive if the second diamond were ruffed, it wouldn't work any better against the actual East-West holding, but it would give West a chance to go wrong with ace-queen of clubs. West would be in with the queen and might just get desperate and shift to a spade.

As for East's comment of "nice play," we must agree with him. West made a remarkably fine play when he led out his ace-queen of clubs after winning the king of spades. If he had done this, South would have stripped the diamonds and spades and end-played West in that club suit.

South drew two rounds of trumps and took the spade finesse. West was in with the king and after a lot of thought proceeded to cash his ace and queen of clubs. Then he got out with a spade and eventually South had to lose another club trick.

A—Bid Four Hearts. If you want to be extra conservative bid bid three.

Instead of bidding two hearts, your partner bids two diamonds. What do you do now?

Too Much 'Goo' Is Still Girlish?

Dear Ele and Walt: Our 14-year-old daughter reads your column, so perhaps you can "get to" her. Just what should be the rules concerning the use of makeup for a freshman in high school? Our daughter says we're "cloddy and old-fashioned" because we do not like to see eye makeup on such young toms. Because she is not allowed to do so, she pleases about this matter, she has threatened to run away from home!

If I make references to what we did when we were in school (making allowances for the changing times), she informs me that after all "that was in the dark ages." Several times her 18-year-old brother has said she looks better without so much eye makeup and added that he is not allowed to do so, she pleases about this matter, she has threatened to run away from home!

Dear Puzzled: When your daughter was in pre-school, it was a delight watching her clump around in your high heels playing at being a "woman." Today she's using make-up to the same end, wanting to jump into adulthood with the thrust of mascara, eyeliner, et al.

—May we suggest that you do some joint research? Buy a copy of SEVENTEEN Magazine and an issue of VOGUE, and then study the pictures together. Try to see which models you can agree are too heavily made-up for teenagers, and which are subtle improvements on naked time of day and location. You'll both giggle at the thought of wearing gala evening makeup (designed for soft artificial lights) at noon on the campus steps (would you believe, the witch of the West)! Then go to your local department store or YW offers a charm and grooming course to help your daughter learn to use the tools of today. You can bet they'll teach her that "make-up that looks like 'goo' is amateurish. Out of this mutual study, we're sure you can come to mutually agreeable guidelines.

SITTING ATOP HIS combine is Harold Huyser, Dietrich, who has been named Wood River Soil and Water Conservation District's outstanding cooperator for 1967. The district selects an outstanding cooperator each year in cooperation with the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. awards program.

Dietrich Farmer Named Outstanding Cooperator By Wood River Soil Group

SHOSHONE — Harold Huyser, Dietrich, has been named the Outstanding Cooperator for 1967 by the Wood River Soil and Water Conservation District Board of Supervisors.

In the selection of an outstanding cooperator, many things must be taken into consideration. First of all, the Cooperator should be operating an efficient farming enterprise. Then, secondly, he should show an interest in the people and the things which are around him, and third he should be interested in procuring and installing on his farm the most up-to-date practices and seeding the most inherently productive varieties of crops.

And, perhaps, supervisors feel the fourth requirement is that the Cooperator take an interest in keeping woods, destructive insects, rodents and other pests from invading his fields.

Harold Huyser has been operating his present farm three miles west of Dietrich for 14 years, having farmed in Lincoln county a total of 18 years.

He states nothing has brought him and his family more peace and happiness than their triumph over the principles of agriculture. They have acquired and are maintaining one of the top-notch dairy herds in the county. Their dairy barn is equipped with the best obtainable milking equipment, including not only milkers, but the vacuum equipment and the bulk tank as well.

The dairy cows are trained so they can hire neighbors or total strangers to attend to the milking chores on those days and nights when the Huyser family wishes to be absent, with no drop in milk production.

Huyser also demonstrated triumph over agricultural principles in the management of his farm and irrigation system. He still has considerable lengths of pipelines and lined ditches to complete before he will have completely conquered the irrigation water loss problems, but the problems are recognized and progress is being made toward their solution.

His work is outstanding in management of varieties of hay and pasture stands, elimination of weeds, insect control, etc. Grazing on pasture is related and erosion by wind and water has been virtually eliminated from the farm.

He has been active in that he has attended almost every meeting of the Wood-River-Soil and Water Conservation District. He presently is alternate supervisor or with the board, and has spoken on technical subjects before the district. He is an alternate member of the Wood River Resource Area Committee representing Lincoln County and has attended all meetings of that committee since its organization in 1966.

The committee is dedicated to study of and solution of problems affecting people in Blaine, Camas, Gooding and Lincoln counties, specifically the people concerned with the Big and Little Wood River drainages.

Huyser has taught Sunday school classes in his church, Shoshone, and has been an active assistant to county 4-H Club leaders.

Bud Allen and crew branded and vaccinated their cattle at their ranch east of King Hill Sunday. Helping with the cattle were Tom Facett, Hagerman; Nathan Jones, Glenns Ferry; Josie Hall and Wade and Evan Griddle, King Hill.

Bob Korb, Glenns Ferry, has finished combining corn on the Wesley Pink farm in King Hill.

$2.48 Billion Paid To Farmers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department reported today that government payments to farmers for complying with various crop control and farm-aid programs totaled $2.48 billion during the first nine months of this year.

The payments are expected to continue well above $3 billion in 1968, officials said.

South Idaho Water Users Group Elects At Burley

BURLEY — William Beck-Murtaugh-Hansen, is the new president of the South Idaho Water Users Association, a newly organized non-profit corporation whose objective is to increase the height of the American Falls Dam when it is rebuilt.

George Forschler is executive director, and directors include Elmer Parrott, Salmon River; Heber Zollinger, Raft River; Ray Anderson, Oakley Fan, and Jim Martin, Lower Goose Creek.

The association is composed of five water improvement organizations, the Lower-Goose-Creek Water Association, Murtaugh-Hansen Cooperative Canal Co., Salmon River Canal Co., and Raft River Fan and Oakley Fan groups.

Herman Bedke, Burley, and Lloyd Webb, Twin Falls, were retained as legal representatives. Jack Cimborn and William Lansing are legislative representatives.

A documentary film entitled "People, Land and Water" has been produced under the sponsorship of the five water groups. Brochures are being printed to be distributed when the film is shown, giving facts and figures on the water situation in the area and what could be done with the water wasted each year over Milner Dam if the storage space was available.

Four copies of the film have been made for showing at Chambers of Commerce, civic clubs, granges and other organizations. Gov. Don Samuelson and high state officials and the Idaho Water Resource Board members already have viewed the film.

Arrangements are now under way by Mr. Forschler working with Sen. Len Jordan, Rep. George Hansen and Interior Department officials in Washington.

ton, D.C., to arrange series of film showing in the capital after the first of the year, on the water situation.

The group will promote uses of all upstream resources of the Snake River as provided in their incorporation papers.

Sen. Dick High, Twin Falls, attended the meeting as an observer.

Cold Storage Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture's bountiful production of food this year is reflected in heavy storage of perishable products in cold storage.

The government reports that Nov. 1 stocks of foods in public warehouse cooler space took 84 per cent of the total capacity compared with 67 per cent a year earlier. Stocks in freezer space occupied 81 per cent of the total space compared with 73 per cent a year earlier.

Four Area Students Receive Union Pacific Scholarships

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow — Robin Wells and Patricia-Light, both Twin Falls; Rodney Stewart, Rupert, and Robert Ohlenschlaen, Jerome, were among 38 University of Idaho students who received $200 Union Pacific Railroad Scholarship checks recently. The awards were made by Joe W. Jarvis, Omaha, supervisor of livestock and agriculture for Union Pacific, and by E. Boyd Baxter, agricultural agent from Boise.

Mr. Jarvis said Union Pacific's scholarship program, now in its 47th year of operation, represents an investment by the railroad in the farm youth of America, which is the greatest potential possessed by the field of agriculture.

"The program has completely proved itself as an incentive to encourage young people to further their education in agriculture and allied fields," he said. "Since the start of the program in 1921 we have awarded more than 10,000 scholarships and more than 1,500 of the winners have been from Idaho." The scholarships are awarded each year to one 4-H Club member and one vocational agriculture student in each of 198 counties served by the railroad. They may be used at the University of Idaho or any of 14 other land grant colleges in the West.

Denies Charges

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department denied charges today made in Congress that meats imported in the United States are not inspected.

The agency said in a statement that such a charge had been made by Phil Campbell, Georgia commissioner of agriculture, in testifying on a meat inspection bill pending before the Senate Agriculture Committee.
