

What's That White Stuff?

Snow fell in Magic Valley Tuesday morning amid the sound of happy children's voices and the grumble of drivers who had to scrape car windows.

It was unusually dark at 7 a.m. when many started driving, and roads were slightly snow covered and slick. However, no major accidents because of the snowfall were reported.

This snow is expected to be followed by more in the near future.

In the valley, there was a slight trace of white stuff in Hagerman, Gooding and Bliss. Northwest, about three inches of snow fell at Ketchum Monday night and early Tuesday. In Hillyard and Fairfield there were only flakes.

Mrs. Howard Platt, at Galena Lodge, said about six inches of new snow fell on top of Galena summit, making snow depth about 18 inches there now.

It was 10 degrees above zero at Halley Tuesday morning. Residents there, looking skyward, predicted snow soon.

It was snowing lightly at Garnett Tuesday at noon. At Burley there was just enough snow to make the ground white. Most of it was gone by noon however, and there were no snowmen in sight.

A trace of snow was reported at Rupert and near Albion.

THE FIRST SNOW fall of the year. Isn't it pretty? The snow we mean, not the busy hand scraping the windshield. Those who left cars outside during the night found a thick layer of the white stuff Tuesday morning. It reminded many, that despite rumors, winter is on its way. Roads were slick for a time during the early hours, but just traffic knocked most of the snow away by the time workers started into Twin Falls for another day at the office.

Firemen Present Program For Pay Increases To City Council

The Twin Falls city council met unofficially with city firemen Monday night and heard members of the firefighters' union present a program aimed at a wage increase.

The council also met later with members of Twin Falls Unlimited and downtown planners on rerouting of Highway 30 on Main Avenue.

In the second meeting, Mayor Egon Kroll said three tentative plans were formed. Another meeting on the subject has been scheduled for Dec. 14.

At that time, city officials, members of the Urban Renewal Agency, state highway officials and members of Twin Falls Unlimited will continue work on the downtown proposals.

New Sheriff May Be Named Next Week

Appointment of a Twin Falls county sheriff to succeed James Benham, who resigned Monday to accept the office of Idaho Brand Inspector, probably will be made next week, Heber Loughmiller, county commission chairman, said Tuesday.

Four applications have been received, he said, and the commission will wait for a formal endorsement from the county Republican Central Committee. The applicants have not been identified.

point a Democrat under the circumstances.

C. D. Lunte, chairman of the Republican Central Committee, is out of the state but expected to return by Wednesday, commissioners said, and a meeting of the committee probably will be called shortly.

Mail Begins April Fool Early To School Office

April Fool Day came on Nov. 28 this year.

Now, this is ridiculous, but it's a fact according to Dr. Ernest Ragland, superintendent, and George Staudner, assistant superintendent, of Twin Falls School District No. 411.

At least, their Tuesday morning mail contained a couple of communications they consider must belong in the April Fool category.

Mr. Staudner received a letter from the United States Department of the Interior, Fish and Wildlife Service, Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, Portland, Ore.

It informed him he had been issued a permit to "possess, cause to be mounted and transported, but not to sell (1) whatling swan."

"I don't even know what a whatling swan is," commented Mr. Staudner Tuesday morning. "I don't have any idea what the letter is about, or why I've been given this permit."

In the same mail, Dr. Ragland received a letter from The Comparative Education Society, Dr. Gerald H. Rendent State University, Kent, Ohio, inviting him to accompany a group on a visit to Siberia.

McNamara Quits To Be World Bank President

By FRANK CORMIER WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara, for nearly seven years manager of the world's biggest military establishment, is resigning to become president of the World Bank.

nation was made by the United States, which traditionally plays the nominating role because it is the largest single financial contributor to the bank.

There had been recurrent reports in recent months that McNamara was anxious to leave his Cabinet post, which has often demanded working days of 12 and 18 hours, sometimes seven days a week.

Turkish Warships Circle Around Coast Of Cyprus

By ALEX EFTY Associated Press Writer Nicosia, Cyprus (AP) — Turkish warships circled off the Cyprus coast for two hours today, then disappeared in a fog.

Kyrenia, 15 miles north of Nicosia, said between six to eight ships were within Cyprus' 12-mile limit of territorial waters.

The exercise appeared to be a new threat of force, to pressure Greece in the tense diplomatic negotiations with Turkey.

MOSCOW (AP) — Five or six men attacked and searched the American and British military attaches in Moscow after they were served apparently drugged wine on a trip this month near the Romanian border.

China Seating Is Denied

By TOM HOGE UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. General Assembly voted decisively today to keep Red China out of the United Nations for another year.

The 122-nation assembly defeated by a vote of 58-45 a resolution by Communist Albania and 11 other nations that would have given the Chinese seat to Peking and expelled Nationalist China from the world forum.

Laos did not participate in the vote and Saudi Arabia was absent.

The attaches toured an experimental winemaking farm in the area at the suggestion of their Soviet guide, sampled its wines and shared a meal.

Credit Squeeze Signs Prevailing

By JOSEPH R. COYNE Associate Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP) — Signs of a credit squeeze similar to the one last year that forced homebuilding into a tailspin are increasing—and both Johnson administration and industry officials insist only a tax increase can head it off.

ment has reported other indications of tightening money, especially for mortgages.

Many of the symptoms match last year's and they began developing before the Federal Reserve Board raised the discount rate from 4 to 4 1/2 per cent in reacting to devaluation of the British pound.

—Loan commitments by S&Ls—an indication of future homebuilding—are showing signs of slowing with such pledges down during September and October.

Other interest rates are pegged upward from it.

—The Federal National Mortgage Association reduced the price it will pay for mortgages it buys in its secondary market operations, this was done to conserve the agency's resources.

Attack Draws Criticism

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle's renewed attacks on the United States, Britain, Canada and Israel provoked widespread angry criticism today and added new strains to France's relations with nations which have been her friends and allies in the past.

Even in France, De Gaulle was sharply faulted by wide sections of French opinion for some of the views he voiced at his Monday news conference.

There was only a passing attempt among De Gaulle's French critics to come to the support of Britain after De Gaulle again slammed the door to British entry into the Common Market.

Shopping Days To Christmas

Residents of the Twin Falls area do have the Christmas spirit.

If you don't believe it, ask Mrs. Thelma Martin.

Monday she faced a bleak Christmas holiday, having lost her home and all of its contents in a Thanksgiving night fire.

Tuesday, however, after her predicament was made public in a news story, Mrs. Martin said she had received many calls offering much needed clothing for her children.

Synopsis, Farm Summary

The low pressure center which was off the Washington-Oregon coast yesterday morning moved southward to Nevada last night accompanied by mostly light snow in the valleys east of the Cascade mountains. Brief light snow occurred at a few places in southwestern Idaho and southern Magic Valley early in the morning, and in degrees forenoon light snow was reported in southeastern Idaho valleys. Partial clearing will occur in western parts of Southern Idaho this afternoon and in the east by tonight as the disturbance moves east of the Rockies. An arctic wave is moving out of the Gulf of Alaska will bring a return of overcast skies and possibly more general light snows in the valleys and heavier snows in the mountains by Wednesday afternoon or night.

occasional snow rather windy conditions and temperatures remaining mostly below normal. Temperatures continued considerably below normal yesterday with afternoon readings in Eastern valleys in the 30s and upper 20s. In Magic Valley the middle 30s and in western valleys the upper 30s to low 40s. Late night was in degrees warmer than Sunday night as a result of overcast skies spreading across Southern Idaho. Lows ranged from the teens in the east to the upper 20s and a few low 30s in the west. The unmeasurable precipitation was reported at 8 a. m. today. Traces of snow had fallen at Caldwell, Twin Falls and Kimberly and it was snowing in the Sawtooth Mountains. Travelers warnings have been issued for near blizzard conditions in the mountains of Wyoming, Colorado, New Mexico and Arizona for tonight beginning in Arizona mountains this afternoon.

Arctic Air Keeps Grip On Country

By The Associated Press Frigid arctic air maintained a tight grip on much of the country today and touched off heavy snow squalls from the Great Lakes into New England. Accompanied by strong westerly winds, the squalls left up to three inches of snow on the ground from New York to Maine. Seven inches of snow had fallen in Booneville, N.Y., in seven hours with 18 inches reported on the ground. Thirteen inches was reported on the ground at Hanksville, Mich., in the upper peninsula.

Travelers Warnings for Snow

Travelers warnings for snow freezing rain or sleet were in effect from eastern New Mexico, western Texas and Oklahoma northward to the mountain areas of Wyoming and Colorado where hazardous driving warnings were posted.

Rain continued to fall on the West Coast from Oregon to central California.

Clear skies prevailed from the Rockies across the nation's mid-section to the Appalachians but frigid temperatures were the rule.

Early morning temperatures ranged from 76 degrees at Key West, Fla., to 7 below at International Falls, Minn.

Twin Falls Banker Given Title Of Rural Appraiser

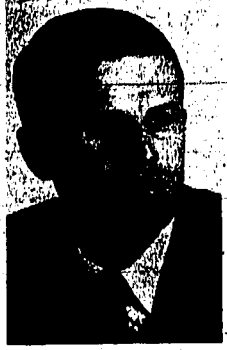

The title of accredited rural appraiser was awarded David R. Mead, 730 Grant Ave., during the annual meeting of the American Society of Farm Managers and Rural Appraisers in Chicago.

The title was awarded Monday.

The award goes to society members with years of experience in professional rural appraisal. The title has been conferred only 303 times since 1937.

Mr. Mead is assistant vice president of Fidelity National Bank in Twin Falls, working presently as a loan officer. He was in the mortgage banking business with Utah Mortgage Loan Corporation for 10 years before joining Fidelity.

He is a graduate of Purdue University and has a master's degree from Utah State University. He also is a veteran of the Korean War.

Anniversary

LAWTON, Okla. (AP)—Superior Court Judge Robert Landers was unusually serious Monday. He showed it each time he made the trip from his office to the courtroom 13 times in all.

"Each time I make the trip today, I feel less like doing what I have to do," the judge told newsmen.

On each trip to the courtroom Landers had granted a divorce. Monday was his 30th wedding anniversary.

Gov. Williams Asked To Aid Racial Peace

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—The head of a national group seeks to promote racial harmony by saying violence-prone groups "are not likely to continue their present activities" if the state's elected officials oppose them.

Kenneth L. Dean, director of the Mississippi Council on Human Relations, Monday called on Gov.-elect John Bell Williams to give his position on the Ku Klux Klan, the Citizens Council and a group known as Americans for the Preservation of the White Race (APWR).

Dean said he was not accusing any of the groups of participating in violence.

It was the latest exchange about the spate of bombings in Mississippi since September. There have been two in Jackson and one in Laurel since Nov. 15.

Williams did not respond directly to Dean's statement but referred to a statement he issued last week after the bombing of the home of Rabbi Perry E. Nussbaum in Jackson.

"I have nothing but contempt for anyone who would engage directly or indirectly in the senseless and despicable type of atrocities recently experienced," the statement said. "I have the same contempt for anyone who would willingly encourage or condone such violent crimes."

Dean told a news conference it appeared that "a number of elected officials in our state are giving indirect support to the right-wing organizations."

Policeman Infiltrates School Ring

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP)—A rookie policeman told today how he infiltrated a group of marijuana-smoking high school students in an attempt to halt the peddling of narcotics to teenagers.

Patrolman Glenn Boggs, 23, said he enrolled in Corpus Christi High School, got himself kicked out twice for cutting classes and faked "getting high" on marijuana to win the youths' confidence.

He compiled a list of 200 teenagers he said he observed smoking marijuana or taking pills. Thirteen persons, one adult and the others under 21, have been charged as dealers suspected of selling to teenagers as a result of his investigation. Police say they expect more arrests.

Boggs said he spent two months and two weeks with the teen-age set.

"Boy, those people were real paranoid," the officer said in an interview. "The first buy order, 'Are you a narc?' (federal agent)—I replied, 'Yeah, man—twice on Sundays and every day of the week.'"

"That's the way most of them were—suspicious of everything, but they would always make the sale."

He attended marijuana parties and faked smoking by sucking around his fingers, breathing deep and cupping his hands, he related. Sometimes he slept on a nearby island with the teenagers or at their parents' homes.

"Some of those kids have all the money in the world," Boggs said. "They were just hanging around the marijuana because it's some kind of a status symbol. They aren't hippies."

"This (marijuana) is their life. People can say it's not addictive or bad for you, but every one of them I've known and dealt with—well that's all they think and talk about."

He said the students made trips to buy marijuana in Mexico and sold it for $4 to $6 for a matchbox of the stuff or 50 cents for a cigarette-style smoke.

Boggs said marijuana was a "24-hour-a-day deal with them," and they even smoked it in the restrooms at school.

Boggs said most of the teenagers would not sell marijuana for a profit but supplied their friends in an attempt to gain status.

"They just wanted to turn everybody on," he said. "They want to turn the world on."

His masquerade came to an end when he ran into old Navy buddy who told the teenagers Boggs was a policeman.

Tobacco Unit Discounts News Report

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Tobacco Institute, spokesman for the nation's tobacco industry, discounts as meaningless a new government report listing the tar and nicotine content of 39 kinds and sizes of cigarettes.

And two of the five Federal Trade Commission members also questioned the validity of the findings.

The report said Marvel filter cigarettes had the least tar and nicotine. It said the brand with the most tar content was the nonfilter, king-size Chesterfield, and the one with the most nicotine was the same type Raleigh.

The Tobacco Institute said the rankings meant nothing because there is "no scientifically established relationship between tar and nicotine levels and human health."

The institute added that "smoking a 30-millimeter butt length, as recommended by most tobacco companies, and two of the FTC commissioners, should have been the basis for the test."

And, the institute said, while there are more than 150 kinds and sizes of cigarettes made in this country, only 53 were tested.

Chairman Paul Rand Dixon of the FTC and A. Everett McIntyre, another commission member, in questioning the validity of the findings, said there should have been greater uniformity in the butt lengths to which the same cigarettes were smoked.

Chairman Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., of the consumer subcommittee of the Senate Commerce Committee, made the report public.

Magnuson hit out at the new 100-millimeter cigarettes as a "serious backward step." He said they "represent added tar and nicotine and escalate the hazards of smoking."

Cornell Chaplain Is Reclassified

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP)—A second chaplain at Cornell University has been reclassified as eligible for the draft into the armed forces after protesting the war in Vietnam.

The action came Monday five weeks after the Rev. Paul E. Gibbons, 34-year-old father of three, returned his draft card to the Selective Service Board in Ithaca along with an anti-war statement.

He was reclassified as 1-A delinquent, which means that he must be available for possible induction into the service at any time. The "delinquent" designation refers to failure to carry a registration certificate as required by law.

Appraisal Of The "Libertarian" Court

Pursuant to Section 40-108 Idaho Code, Thursday is hereby designated as the day of the week on which legal notices will be published.

WASHINGTON — Justice John Marshall Harlan's comment on the 6 to 3 Supreme Court decision striking down Maryland's loyalty oath requirement for public employees and officeholders should merit at least a footnote in the history books as a capsule description of the legal thinking of the Court's majority.

In a dissent joined by Justices Potter Stewart and Byron White, Harlan remarked that "the only thing that does shine through the opinion of the majority is that its members do not like loyalty oaths." Not even a newspaper columnist can improve on Harlan's appraisal of this "libertarian" Court which consistently votes with its glands.

Any sane gathering would find it impossible to denounce Maryland's loyalty oath for teachers, which was the basis for the court's ruling. The oath says simply, "I do hereby certify that I am not engaged in one way or another in an attempt to overthrow the government of the United States or the State of Maryland or any political subdivision of either of them by force or violence." It would seem inconceivable that such an oath could infringe on any individual right except that of tossing a bomb at the White House.

But, ho, ho, ho! The court majority strained its collective mentality to the limit and came up with an opinion delivered by that famous translator of the Constitution Justice William O. Douglas. Incredibly, Douglas charged that the oath's language lacked precision and clarity, presumably because it employed words of more than two syllables. Apparently in all seriousness,

Douglas asked: "Would a member of a group that was out to overthrow the Government by force or violence be engaged in that attempt in one way or another within the meaning of the oath, even though he was ignorant of the real aims of the group and wholly innocent of any illicit purpose?" His preposterous reply was, "We do not know, nor could a prospective employee know, save as he risked prosecution for perjury."

These utterances surely should be recorded among the more seriously fatuous of the 20th Century. Why in the name of Earl Warren wouldn't a teacher know the aims and purposes of an organization he willingly joined? Our present crop of pedagogues may be somewhat softer in the head these days, but I reject the premise that they are so idiotic as to be unable to recognize subversion when it fetches them a smack in the mush.

Rocky Road Ahead

The British, said a French observer some years ago, are marching to economic ruin in perfect discipline while the French are enjoying prosperity in utter anarchy. This fairly described things in 1949, the year Britain last devalued the pound when it was still in the midst of its postwar austerity program, and long before De Gaulle brought stability to French politics.

Lord Snowden, husband of Princess Margaret, as he arrived in Cardiff, Wales, the other day to attend a conference to plan celebrations for the formal investiture of Prince Charles in 1969. The Welsh, or at least some of them, want no part of an English Prince of Wales.

Elusive Answer

Is the war in Vietnam "the same as Korea?" The administration and its supporters say there is no essential difference between the two wars. They view communism as a monolithic and implacable foe of democracy. They see the Ho Chi Minh regime as a paper front for communist expansion in Southeast Asia.

But the political order which the Frenchman referred to and on which the British seemed almost to hold a patent of invention can no longer be taken for granted. Not only is Prime Minister Harold Wilson under fire, from his own Labor party as well as the opposition Conservatives, but resurgent nationalism is straining the seams of the not-so-United Kingdom.

Wayne Brandstadt, M.D. On Sweeteners

Q — I love honey. Does it contain any vitamins? Is it any food value? Will it cause diabetes? A — Although honey contains a small amount of vitamins B and C, I would not rely on it to supply your vitamin needs. It is an excellent source of sugar and can be recommended as a part of your diet provided it is balanced in other respects.

Q — I have been taking Thorazine for several years. Is it harmful to take it for so long? A — Too large a dose taken over a prolonged period may cause dark pigmented areas to appear on the hands and face. It may also cause insomnia, restlessness, mental confusion, convulsions, nasal congestion, blurred vision and waterlogging of the tissues.

Bruce Bioassat The Assertions Are Curious

WASHINGTON (NEA)—President Johnson's critics on the war like to say that he keeps changing the administration's argument for U. S. participation in Vietnam. peril the security of the United States. Itself." Five months earlier and only a few weeks after we had begun bombing North Vietnam, the White House — answering a critic — U. S. actions by U. N. Secretary General U Thant — said: "We conduct our policies within our commitments to the rest of the world, in what we consider the best interests of the United States."

On May 13 of that year Johnson said in a nationally televised speech that Red China's target was both to dominate all Asia and "to erode and to discredit America's ability to help prevent such Chinese domination." Rusk, on June 23, said he could not understand Hanoi's aversion to peace talks with the United States since "they, too, fear the ambitions of Communist China in Southeast Asia."

IT'S WHETHER RATHER THAN WHERE Nothing has been quite the same on the Middle Snake River since the U. S. Supreme Court ruled there will be no license for High Mountain Sheep dam until the value to the public of an undammed stream is more thoroughly explored.

Recreation still exists, but it has been compromised. Sometimes that is necessary. Flood control or the demand for electric energy are sometimes more vital, on the whole, than the least tangible value in leaving a stream undisturbed. But when that decision is made, it is a question of priorities — a question of which is more important. It is not literally multiple use.

GIANT EARTH MOVING machines are working at full speed on a new five-mile stretch of highway that will carry traffic from the Hansen Bridge to Kimberly and Highway 30. The new roadway, being built by Holmes Construction Co. at a cost of $884,384, should be completed by the fall of 1968. It will provide the main route between Interstate 80N and the communities of Kimberly and Hansen and will be one of two main Twin Falls links with the Interstate. State highway engineers say when completed it will replace the present Addison Avenue.

Highway Work Continues On Kimberly-Hansen Connector

By DONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News Staff Writer
Workers for the Holmes Construction Co., Burley, are taking advantage of weather to gain time on the $884,384 project for a complete new highway routing from the Hansen Bridge to Red Cap Corner at Kimberly.

State Highway Department assistant district engineer, James Pline, Shoshone, said work has been under way the past several weeks. Right of way has been cleared of trees and fences and crews are now building the highway grade and installing irrigation and drainage structures.

As long as weather permits, he said, Holmes Construction Co. will continue hauling dirt to build the grade which will slope gently from the Colner and Primm properties to the Hansen Bridge across Snake River Canyon.

Several low spots between Highway 50 and Kimberly are being filled. Mr. Pline said the project involves 5.3 miles of new highway and is scheduled for completion by the fall of 1968. When completed it will become State Highway 50, replacing Addison Avenue East on the state system.

It will connect with Highway 30 at Kimberly and will serve as the main connecting link with Interstate 80N at the Hansen bridge interchange, serving Hansen, Kimberly and Twin Falls.

As long as ground remains unfrozen, grade work will continue and crews expect to continue most of the winter replacing irrigation structures as concrete pouring can continue during most winter weather conditions, Mr. Pline said. By spring all irrigation structures will have to be complete so as not to interrupt the flow of water to farms in the area. A canal structure is now being installed by the contractor near the University of Idaho Experiment Station at Kimberly.

This is one of several projects

Series Of Shootings Unconnected

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP)—Investigators in St. Clair County said today they have not been able to connect a series of sniper shootings which left two dead and three wounded over the weekend.

Police said they believe more than one person may be involved in the shootings.

Sheriff's deputies, stepped up their efforts following the fatal shooting Sunday of Joseph Cook, 23, of Caseyville. Cook was shot as he stood near a car on an isolated road near Collinsville.

Joseph Iwanowski, 44, of French Village, near East St. Louis, died Monday of three gunshot wounds in the neck. He was shot Saturday while working in a railroad tower in East St. Louis. Police said the assailant climbed a 30-foot ladder before shooting Iwanowski.

Weapons of different caliber were used, police said. In one of the shootings, a bullet was sprayed with bullets from both sides at the same time, they said.

1968. It will provide the main route between Interstate 80N and the communities of Kimberly and Hansen and will be one of two main Twin Falls links with the Interstate. State highway engineers say when completed it will replace the present Addison Avenue.

The district's first such screening program has just been completed, the assistant engineer said, at the junction of Highway 93 and State Highway 25 north of Twin Falls. Here, in keeping with new legislation regarding billboards and junk yards along federal and state highways, special plantings have just been completed to screen a wrecking yard from the highway.

Mr. Pline said both evergreen and broadleaf plants were used in plantings completed last week. In addition to hiding the wrecking yard, he said, it will beautify the area. The new law requires screening or removal of such things as junk and wrecking yards adjacent to the highway. Federal and state funds are used in the screening with no cost to the property owner, he explained. Road signs along Interstate 80N in Jerome County will be under contract this winter, he said, and work is now complete on straightening and improving sections of Highway 93 in the vicinity of Rogerson in Twin Falls County.

Two Bodies Believed To Be Students

BUFFALO, Mo. (AP)—Two bodies found in a soybean field south of Buffalo may be those of two Montreal college students who were hitchhiking home from a summer vacation in Mexico, authorities said.

Montreal officials said Bertrand Kidd, 20, and Marjorie Sharp, 21, students at McGill University, were last seen Sept. 16 when they left a bus north of Mexico City.

The Missouri Highway Patrol said clothing near the woman's decomposed body bore a Canadian manufacturer's label.

The patrol said W. S. Cheek of West Memphis, Ark., recalled that about three months ago he brought two young hitchhikers from near the Mexican border to the Texas-Oklahoma line.

Cheek's description of the pair generally fit the victims, the patrol said. He also recalled that the girl said her father was a banker in Montreal.

The bodies were found Sunday on a farm 60 feet off U.S. Route 65, Coroner Jerry T. Cantlon estimated they had been in the field about three months.

A metal detector disclosed four .38-caliber slugs among the remains.

12 REASSIGNED

BOISE (AP)—Twelve former port of entry personnel have been reassigned to positions with the Idaho State Police, Supt. Clark L. Hand said.

The transfer was made on the instructions of Gov. Don W. Sanderson, who said it was a measure to check the state's rising traffic death toll.

The move increases the number of state policemen to a total of 101.

Hand said the men will be replaced as soon as successors are trained.

REVIEW PLANNED

BOISE (AP)—Procedure used by other states in federal-state cooperation in fighting forest fires will be reviewed Saturday by an Idaho Legislative Study Committee.

The committee was set up by the 1967 Legislature to study, specifically, a bill given the state by the federal government for expenses in fighting forest fires on state-protected land in the Garden Valley area in the summer of 1966.

But since the legislature met, fires burned widespread areas of state-protected land in northern Idaho, and again the federal government was called upon for assistance.

Chemicals Meet Set For Dec. 6

All persons interested in agricultural chemicals are invited to a meeting sponsored by the Idaho Agricultural Chemical Coordinating Committee, to be held at 8 p.m. Dec. 6 at the Holiday Inn.

A report on the state's meeting will be given and officers elected. Those planning to attend should notify Don Silvers, at the Twin Falls Feed and Ice Co.

Boyhood Friends Die Together In War

By TOM KUHN (AP)

MIDVALE, Utah (AP)—Through most of their boyhood days, the lives of Jimmy Martinez and LeRoy Tafuya were intertwined. Grief-stricken parents now hope their sons' bodies don't arrive from Vietnam on the same day.

A brother of Jimmy explains, "We're trying not to have them buried on the same day so both families can attend."

Both—violent soldiers, before their young deaths one day apart in the Vietnamese jungle, grew up together in Midvale. "They lived on the same avenue, a few houses away from each other," says Mrs. Victor Clinton, mother of LeRoy.

Martin Lance Cpl. Martinez, 20, planned to be home for Christmas, but a communist mine explosion near Quan Tri on Nov. 22 riddled his body with steel shrapnel.

Army Spec. 4 Tafuya, 19, was hit by a rifle bullet on Nov. 21 near a contested, vine-tangled hill called "R. V. Barlett's."

The bodies are expected to arrive by air at nearby Salt Lake City Airport Wednesday or Thursday.

"Of the same group that used to run around together, there was Isaac Gutierrez. He came back wounded and in Dan's car," Mrs. Clinton said. "LeRoy and Gutierrez went through basic training together."

"There was Bobby Loya who was in the same company as LeRoy," she went on. "LeRoy in his last letter said his platoon and Bobby's used to go out together. When Loya's platoon got in trouble, they went out to help."

Loya remains in Vietnam. He has a few months remaining before he returns home to Midvale.

Victor Martinez, like Clinton, is an employee of strikes-tired Kennecott Copper Corp. He and his wife speak only limited English of a son, Norbert, 28, is the family spokesman.

"We feel real bad because of the friendship," he said. "He and his brother had been wounded twice before being killed; recuperated on a hospital ship. We have received two purple hearts," he said. There will be a third.

Jimmy volunteered for military duty at 17. "He would have returned in January," his brother continued.

Mrs. Martinez heard about her son's death while home alone, when a marine major dropped by several hours before the official telegram to offer condolence. "It's been harder on dad," the brother adds.

The marine's last letter was received in the mail two days after the telegram. It told the family of the good news—a new program for "short-timers" that might have him home before Christmas. "He was bringing rings home for his fiancée so they could get married," the brother said.

Mrs. Clinton found out about her son's death after a telephone operator informed her of an urgent message. Only days before they had moved from the old neighborhood where LeRoy grew up to a new residence in nearby West Jordan.

A few hours later, an Army colonel knocked on the door. The telegram arrived later.

"DRY" HOLIDAYS

BOISE (AP)—Christmas eve and New Year's eve will be dry in Idaho this year, the Department of Law Enforcement said.

Both days fall on a Sunday when no liquor sales are allowed.

Idaho law prohibits sale of liquor on Christmas Day, but it is allowed on New Year's Day.

However, the law also prohibits sale of intoxicants prior to 10 a.m. on any day and the hour between midnight of New Year's eve and 1 p.m. New Year's day will be dry also.

HEADS DISCUSSION

BOISE (AP)—Idaho Atty. Gen. Allan G. Shepard will head a discussion group at the Dec. 13-16 meeting of the Council of State Governments in Cleveland, Ohio.

Shepard's panel will include U.S. Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark and will be focused on law enforcement and judicial administration.

IDAHO SETS RECORD

BOISE (AP)—Idaho set a new employment record in October, the Department of Employment reported Tuesday.

It was the result primarily of seasonal demands. The department listed total employment as 291,700, up 4,500 from September and 6,400 more than in October, 1966.

Unemployment was listed as 8,000, equal to 2.7 per cent of the labor force. That compared with 8,800 or 2.9 per cent in September and 9,000 or 2.4 per cent in October, last year.

SCHOOL CLOSED

HONG KONG (AP)—The Hong Kong government closed down a Communist school today where terrorist bombs were being manufactured by students and considered action against other Red schools in the colony.

A FIELD PHONE operator with the U.S. 173rd Airborne Brigade rests while he can't but remains ready for calls with three handsets close at hand and loudspeaker at his elbow on the crest of Hill 875 near Dak To, South Vietnam. ## Egyptian Papyrus Documents Are Back In LDS Church Hands

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

NEW YORK (AP)—A batch of ancient Egyptian papyrus documents, linked to some scriptures of the Latter-day Saints Church and long believed lost in a fire, today were back in church hands.

N. Eldon Tanner, of the church's three-member First Presidency in Salt Lake City expressed "excitement and great appreciation" at recovery of the material. He called it "most valuable."

The collection, turned up in Egyptian archives of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, includes the ancient original of a facsimile drawing accompanying some of the church's scriptures, The Book of Abraham.

Whether the papyrus script, in Egyptian hieroglyphic and hieratic symbols, contains any of the text of the book will be a matter of intensive study by experts, Tanner said.

"We just aren't sure yet," he added. The documents are a fractional portion of ancient papyri obtained by the church's founder, Joseph Smith, in 1835, along with four Egyptian mummies purchased by church members in Kirkland, Ohio.

All of the material had been thought destroyed in the Chicago fire of 1871, church leaders said, until Dr. Aziz S. Atiya, a University of Utah authority on Middle East antiquity, happened on some of it in the museum here.

"There is no doubt that it is part of the original sources from which Joseph Smith worked," he said.

The Book of Abraham is part of the Pearl of Great Price, one of four volumes of scripture accepted by Mormons, the others being the Bible, The Book of Mormon and Doctrine and Covenants.

In a forward to The Book of Abraham, Smith says its text was translated from ancient papyrus records from Egyptian tombs, handwritten by the biblical patriarch of Israel.

The book tells of a stay in Egypt by Abraham, and of his being saved through prayer from sacrificial execution by idol-worshippers. No mention of such a period is made in the old testament account of Abraham.

Safe Place?

SACRAMENTO, Calif.—Leo Gullford of Sacramento carried his money in his left sock, believing it a safe place for a bankroll.

But perhaps at Christmas season, people begin thinking of socks filled with goodies.

Gullford told police Monday that while sitting in a tavern, he reached into his sock for money to pay his bill.

A moment later, he said, two men knocked him off his chair, pulled his shoe and sock off and ran away with the sock, which contained $125.

turned up here is a drawing showing a man stretched out on a slab with another figure raising a sword above him. It was identified as the original of a copy reproduced by Smith with the book's text.

As to whether any of the text also is included in the documents, Dr. Henry G. Fischer, curator of the museum's Egyptian department, said it appeared doubtful, but "this is something the church will want to study."

Both he and church officials said much of the script is from the Egyptian Book of the Dead, with which mummies commonly were buried. The material dates back possibly 3,000 years, Dr. Fischer said.

Church officials said that after Smith's death in 1844, his widow sold the Egyptian material, and that at least two of the four mummies were burned in the Chicago fire. It was assumed that all of the documents had perished.

Dr. Fischer said the museum obtained the collection in 1947 from the late Alice Heusser, of Brooklyn, daughter of the housekeeper of the family to which Smith's widow had sold the material.

Included with it was a letter from Smith's widow, dated May 20, 1840, showing the material once belonged to him.

Dr. Atiya said he was doing research in ancient Coptic papyri when he stumbled accidentally on the documents. "It was one of my most important finds," he said. "I realized its importance to the church."

The collection was presented to Tanner in a brief ceremony at the museum Monday by its director, Thomas P. F. Hoving, who said it was being given to the church as the "logical, inevitable, historical way to handle it."

"We're happy that it's going to its home," he said.

Freeman Says Farmers Must Organize

YUMA, Ariz. (AP) — Agriculture Secy. Orville Freeman says farmers will have to organize to get their full share of the American standard of living.

Addressing a farm-city week banquet in Yuma Monday night, Freeman said the farmer has provided his city cousin with the best diet at the lowest cost of any agriculture on earth, but receiving only about two-thirds of his rightful share of the nation's riches.

He told some 500 persons that none of the bargaining ideas are his own, adding that he has been listening, learning and reporting what he hears to the President.

Freeman said these are the major proposals being considered:

1. Creation of a national farm bargaining board to serve farmers in much the same way the

Twin Falls Times-News

National Labor Relations Board helps labor.

2. Broadening the use of current marketing agreements to include more commodities and set minimum prices and other terms.
3. Allowing producers of a single commodity to vote on setting up a bargaining unit that would establish a fair price binding on all producers within the area. Producers selling for less would be penalized the amount between the sale price and the established minimum.

Acree allotments could be set by a second referendum if over-supply becomes a problem.

"It's high time farmers are rewarded for the superlative job they do for the nation," said Freeman.

Former King Hill Man, 54, Dies

KING HILL — Shig Tomita, 54, former resident, died Saturday in a hospital in Torrance, Calif.

He moved to King Hill with his family in 1941 and farmed the former C. A. Walsch ranch south of King Hill. He moved to California about 10 years ago and served as manager of the produce department in a large store in Los Angeles.

Survivors include his widow, one son, two daughters, mother and several brothers and sisters. Funeral services were held Tuesday at Centenary Methodist Church, Los Angeles.

Services Set

BURLEY — An invitation is extended to the community to attend the 8 p.m. Wednesday Advent services at Zion Lutheran Church. The Advent services will be held each Wednesday through Dec. 20, announced Rev. Glenn A. Koch.

The services will focus on events around Christ's coming at Christmas and will serve to make the holiday season more meaningful, Rev. Koch stated.

McCarthy Hopes Early Entry Will Solidify His Support

By JACK BELL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota expressed his early entry as a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination will solidify behind him currently diffused opposition to President Johnson's Vietnam policies.

McCarthy's official announcement that he will undertake the probably unrewarding task of trying to deny an incumbent President renomination is set for Thursday.

Acknowledging he is ready "to get my foot wet," McCarthy said in an interview Monday that an early start is essential if he is to convince prospective supporters he means business.

He indicated he will pledge to go all the way even if he encounters setbacks in early primaries.

Inherent in this is his obvious belief that some of the score or more of organizations that have been springing up to push Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., as an antiwar candidate will turn to him if they become convinced Kennedy means what he says when he asserts he will not run.

New Hampshire may furnish a test case in this respect. Kennedy backers there have ignored the senator's repudiation of their efforts. This far McCarthy's crusade seems to have attracted little attention in the state which holds the first primary, on March 12.

McCarthy isn't at all sure he will be on the ballot there. He said he may visit New Hampshire during Congress' Christmas holiday to sound out his chances in a primary that might find Sen. Thomas P. McIntyre or Gov. John W. King running as a stand-in for Johnson.

McCarthy previously had mentioned the April 30 Massachusetts primary as one in which he might take a flyer. But Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., has been discouraging such a venture.

The Minnesota senator will visit Wisconsin about Dec. 10 in an effort to put together an organization to back him in the April 2 primary there. He is confident he could muster a significant vote against Johnson in the state.

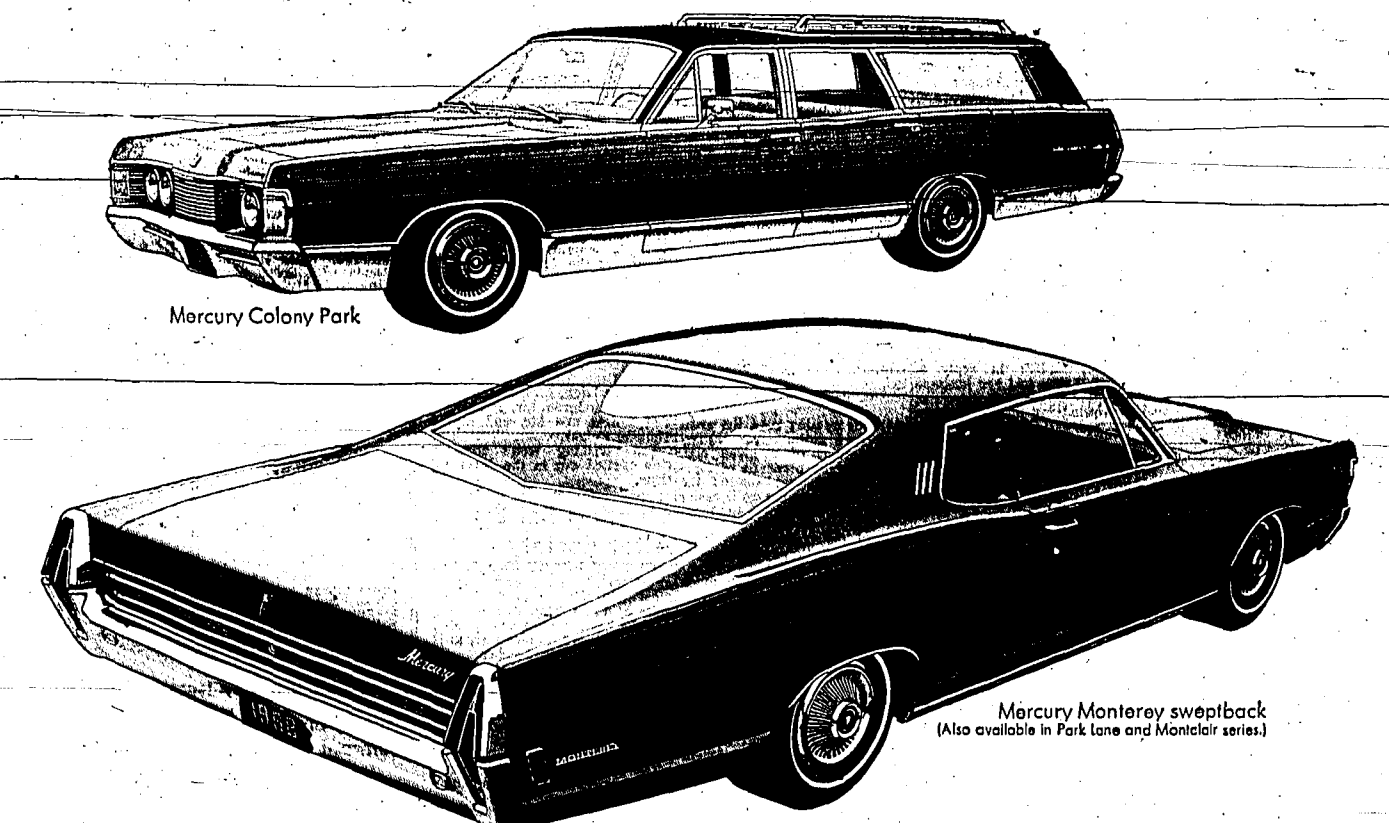

McCarthy is resigned to having his name entered in the May 14 Nebraska and May 28 Oregon primaries. He thinks he will do well in Oregon but has some doubt about how Nebraska Democrats will greet his candidacy.

So far as McCarthy is concerned the big one will be the June 4 California primary. He hopes to get the disident California Democratic Council to back him as a peace candidate against Johnson.

His hopes for California were boosted Monday when Rep. Don Edwards, D-Calif., announced his support of McCarthy.

Edwards, also a critic of the war, said he would work in behalf of a California delegation to the Democratic convention supporting McCarthy and "committed to peace in Vietnam."

more depressing than the sight of a bare coffin wherein rests the remains of a loved one. Somehow the presence of flowers at a funeral softens the whole effect and makes it easier to bear. And of course the number of floral pieces is an indication of the number of friends who wished to pay their final respects.

Personally, I am very much opposed to the family asking that contributions be sent to such a charity in lieu of flowers. Let them give to their charities, and I will give to mine.

Disease Hits 1,000 Farms In Britain

BY MICHAEL R. CODEL
LONDON (AP) — Britain's five-week-old epidemic of foot and mouth disease has ravaged more than 1,000 farms of their livestock but it is just beginning to hit the housewife's pocketbook.

Meat prices at London's giant Smithfield Market jumped 3 to 8 cents a pound over normal wholesale prices Monday.

Much of this can be attributed to delays in imports caused by the wildcat dock strike, which didn't end until Monday. But the reduction in the supply of domestic meat due to the epidemic is expected to keep the price up.

Agriculture Minister Fred Peart denied in the House of Commons Monday that the epidemic is out of control, but his ministry's own mounting scorecard of outbreaks and slaughter were disheartening.

With 1,180 farms hit and 208,000 animals slaughtered, so far, the damage is estimated at $28.4 million in lost meat and $33.6 million in breeding, time and replacement costs to farmers.

Forty-six new outbreaks were reported Monday, and there has been an average of about 34 farms infected each day since the epidemic began.

Despite these figures, only one per cent of Britain's livestock has been infected.

To check the spread of the epidemic, all of England, Wales and Scotland are "restricted areas," and farm animals may be transported within these areas only to local markets for immediate slaughter.

Hundreds of social gatherings, such as family meetings, events and family reunions within the infected 38 counties have been canceled.

Many roads have been covered with disinfectant-drenched straw to prevent passing cars from carrying the virus.

Fairfield Boasts First Christmas Decorations

FAIRFIELD—A holiday atmosphere has been created on the main street of Fairfield with giant red balls on green standards installed on every light pole from the railroad tracks to the north city limits.

Strings of foil and colored lights were installed across the center business district last weekend. This is the first time the town has had any holiday decorations—except for a few colored lights and a Christmas tree in the center of town.

This project was started a few years ago by the Camas Club who put aside $100 a year toward street decorations. This year, Mrs. Lloyd Barron, Mrs. Joseph Cook and John Gaenzle, Idaho Power representative, were able to purchase street decorations from Boise.

Much of the work on the project was donated. Electricians installed outlets and checked wiring on the decorations. A service station cleaned some of them. Other volunteers from the Chamber of Commerce, the Fairfield Elcom and the county and city employees helped install them.

In addition to the decorations the Camas Club is sponsoring a county-wide lighting contest, with Mrs. Russell Pale as chairman. Prizes of $15, $10 and $5 will be awarded to the three best lighted homes. Rules and regulations will be given later.

Idaho Laws Contain Little Known Facts

By FRED DODDS
Times-News Staff Writer
Hidden away in Idaho law books are little known facts about country life in the Gem State.

For instance, if one looks hard and long enough, he will find in the section on county jails that a husband and wife, if confined at the same time, are allowed to share the same cell.

One attorney recently (in another county) was responsible for getting the judge to marry a male prisoner. It was one of those hasty, shotgun marriages, and the maid-of-honor was the attorney responsible.

After the ceremony, the lawyer pleaded with the judge. "Please, find the woman in contempt of court. Give her a day or so in jail."

It was one of those rare instances when someone wanted to be put in jail, and her attorney was helping.

The judge, however, refused. The newlyweds were denied their honeymoon.

Memory Expert Will Talk Friday At Burley Meeting

ORVILLE G. FITZGERALD

BURLEY — Orville G. Fitzgerald, a memory expert, will be the featured speaker at 7 p.m. Friday at the Burley-Rupert Knife and Fork Club dinner meeting in the Burley Elks Lodge dining room.

Professionally, Fitzgerald is an insurance counselor. On the side, he indicates he does it for fun, relaxation, and a fee, he is a lecturer who convinces his listeners that by a "little trying," they can have as good a memory as anyone.

Mr. Fitzgerald can take one quick glance at the numbers on a dollar bill and read them back in any order requested. Moreover, he can remember them and guarantee that the next time he sees one, be it a year or more, he still can give the numbers.

"The mind is an IBM machine and files everything automatically, all one has to do apparently is call on it for the answers," states Mr. Fitzgerald. "The business of forgetting telephone numbers, persons' names or addresses is the 'bunk,'" he says.

Among Fitzgerald's demonstrations is how one may acquire the ability to remember names upon meeting persons for the first time. He meets some 50 persons and later recalls all their names, first and last, then tells how he does it and how others can do it.

"There are no gimmicks in the memory business," states Fitzgerald, who is universally trained and educated. "Attaining a good memory is merely a matter of psychology, philosophy, and the use of common sense," explains Fitzgerald.

He makes his home at Pittsburg, Pa., has literally given memory courses to hundreds of thousands of persons who have been members of his audiences in most of the United States.

With the epidemic still spreading, the International Poultry Show, which was to take place in London Dec. 6-8 was canceled. Poultry is not affected by the disease but the Agriculture Ministry has appealed to farmers and others engaged in agriculture to avoid large meetings.

Young Britons Want To Leave
LONDON (AP) — Nearly half of Britain's young people want to emigrate, according to a public opinion poll.

The survey, conducted by National Opinion Polls for the Daily Mail, said 1,000 young people between the ages of 15 and 21 were asked if they wanted to emigrate. Forty-three per cent answered yes, 52 per cent no and 5 per cent had no opinion.

Those who wanted to leave cited declining British prestige, class distinctions and high taxes among their chief reasons.

No Turkey

BOSTON (AP) — Richard Cardinal Cushing sang and kissed the girls at his annual Thanksgiving dinner for senior citizens Sunday, but a new set of false teeth kept him from eating the turkey dinner.

Cushing, 72-year-old Roman Catholic archbishop of Boston, was host to some 1,400 elderly persons in South Boston.

He joined in the sing-along and strummed guitar accompaniment to "Bye Bye Blues" and then left his guests with this advice: "Be true to your false teeth, and they'll never be false to you."

Poll Shows Kennedy Is Leading LBJ

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy now leads President Johnson by a 52-32 per cent margin when voters are asked whom they would prefer as the Democratic nominee for president next year, the Louis Harris Poll reported Monday.

This compared to a Kennedy lead of 42-41 per cent in September of last year and 48-39 last month. The unsure category was 16 per cent this month, 13 per cent last month and 17 per cent a year ago.

Meanwhile, the latest Gallup Poll found Johnson's popularity taking an upswing for the first time since June. George Gallup, director of the American Institute of Public Opinion found 41 per cent of those interviewed approving the way Johnson is handling his job.

This November rating represents an increase in Johnson's popularity from October and September polls by Gallup in which only 28 per cent approved the President's performance.

The Gallup Poll also found Johnson winning back disaffected Democrats, with 63 per cent of the Democrats questioned approving Johnson's performance in the latest poll compared to 63 per cent in October.

The Louis Harris Poll copyrighted by the Washington Post noted that Kennedy gained ground despite his repeated disavowals that he is interested in running for President in 1968.

The poll found the major source of Kennedy's gain are two groups to which he has consistently appealed: young people under 35 and women. Among young people he jumped from 47 to 71 per cent in one month as the preferred Democratic nominee over Johnson. Among women he is preferred by 70 per cent compared with 61 per cent in October.

Magazine Reveals Romney's Politics, Church Influence

NEW YORK (AP) — Before George Romney first ran for governor of Michigan in 1962, a magazine article says, he went to Salt Lake City and warned leaders of the Mormon Church that his political career would put heat on his church's racial policies.

The report is made in the issue of Look magazine appearing Tuesday. The writer is T. George Harris, senior editor of Look and author of a forthcoming book, "Romney's Way."

Harris gives this account of the Salt Lake City meeting: Romney declared he was politically independent from church influence and made it clear that his stands would not be altered by what Harris characterizes as Mormonism's anti-Negro bias.

Romney—a declared candidate for the 1968 Republican nomination for president—told David O. McKay, the Mormon president, and a group of advisers that if there were any religious objections to his running for governor, he wanted to know them.

UAW Sets Sights Upon Auto Firm

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers, with Ford and Chrysler new contracts all wrapped up, moved on to General Motors Monday with indications that automation and use of computers would be major problems.

UAW officials distributed a 24-page release in which they accused GM of trying to remove some auto jobs from UAW category by putting them into computerized fields with white collar, nonunion workers.

Setting the battle line for some anticipated hard-nosed bargaining, the UAW told GM:

"The union never has complained of automation. In fact, it has staunchly defended automation, often in spite of membership disbelief that automation is

Harris says of Romney: "He always refused to let the AMC board raise his pay to the point of the blue-chip chiefs, and never above the $200,000 line. Any time his total salary and bonus ran to unseemly heights—or if, on the other hand, the company needed to hold down costs—he turned cash back in the till."

last year, the figures he released show. The figures indicate he paid $1,000,555 in taxes on an income of $2,972,923.

good for the economy and the total community. Twin Falls Times-News, Nov. 28-29, 1967

"The union cannot continue to defend it if it is coupled with continuous displacement and erosion of the union with the new method arbitrarily assigned to industry."

GM vice president labor relations Louis G. Seaton had told workmen earlier Monday as he emerged from a preliminary meeting with the UAW that he was optimistic. "GM is well aware of the economic dimensions of the Ford and Chrysler settlements and is prepared to bargain within the dimensions of those agreements."

Seaton said he expected it would take until early next year to resolve all local issues at GM's plants. Currently, some 18,000 such unresolved issues remain from an original agenda of 31,000, he reported.

WAS MONDAY A BLUE DAY?

Busy, hectic, frustrating days are "blue" for everyone, and Mondays especially seem to get all the blame. But if every day is blue for you, take stock of your capabilities and commitments and try to plan your days and activities more sensibly. Don't over-extend your energies and time limits. Take it easy and save your health. . . . It is your most important responsibility.

BRIDGE

By Jacoby

WHICH BRIDGE GUILTY MOST?

If you were called upon to decide on how many crimes were committed in today's simple little hand and just which criminal should be given the severest penalty for his transgressions, what would you determine?

We are going to tell you in advance that South and West were good players and North South was guilty of the crime of hogging the play. He really had no excuse for hiding one and three no-trump. He was not guilty of stealing the contract, since East and West handed it to him on a silver platter.

East was guilty of a real crime at trick two. His correct return was the king of diamonds. The lead of the three spot would have merely been a misdemeanor. The play of the six spade was a felony that was punished by loss of game and rubber.

As for West's failure to win the second diamond, we are going to let him off with a suspended sentence to be served the next time he has a blind spot. West should not have been fooled by his partner's ridiculous lead at trick two. He could have reasoned that good player South would have won the first diamond trick with an original holding of king-ten-eight, and that therefore had player East was just living up to his reputation when he returned that six spot.

CARD SENSE

Q—The bidding has been:
West North East South
1 1 1 1
Pass 3 4 Pass 1 1
You, South, hold:
A Q 10 7 5 3 2 K 3 2 J 7 7
What do you do now?
A—Bid four spades. You have much more than a minimum overall but no reason to think about a slam.

TODAY'S QUESTION
Instead of bidding three spades, your partner bids two clubs over your one spade overall. What do you now?

Good Address

Young America's Date-Line

By ELE AND WALT DULANEY

Legalize 'Pot?' We'd Rather Not!

Dear Ele and Walt: Do you think "pot" should be legalized? I think it would be better than liquor. Look at these facts:

- (1) It has about the same brain deterioration as alcohol and it does no more harm to the body than cigarettes.
- (2) It's said to lead to bigger stuff, but that's just everybody's assumption because most heroin addicts started on pot. But most of these addicts would have ended up on heroin anyway. They just wanted to start on the low grade to build up their capacity to handle a harder drug.
- (3) Most alcoholics drink to drown their worries. One of many is the absence of money. Even at the rate of pushers, pot would be cheaper than alcohol. (And if it were legalized even with a tax charge to help the government, it would be cheaper still.)
- (4) It's safer for driving than alcohol, after the person gets their minds first try. (It's like school, you can't start in the third grade.)

Dear Anonymous: Basing an argument for drugs on the cons of alcohol or cigarettes is like trying to support the Empire State Building with a scaffold of bamboo sticks. Arguing which poison is least dangerous does nothing to erase the fact that they're all poisons that rob you of a slice of our senses and a measure of our futures. We're addicted to reality, the warm glow of being real with the people we care about. All the seductive "take a trip to fairyland" invitations in the world sound just like the zombie's roll call to us.

Dear Senior: The fact that you value this question is sufficient indictment. Experiencing such discomfort at the memory of the afternoon's ranking proves that this brand of "fun" is not only cruel to its victim, but personally indigestible to you. If you can't block future slice-'em-up sessions, at least don't lend your support to the cruelty by remaining with the group.

For shy guys: Ele and Walt Dulaney can help you swing his affection. Well, sometimes they in-care of this newspaper, that a boy needs love too. I don't believe that it should be "First Kisses," to Datineline, up to the boy 100 per cent of the time to take the initiative. After he's given her a ring and said envelope.

HOW TO WRITE A GOOD CLASSIFIED WANT AD 1-IT'S ALWAYS BEST to start your advertisement with the name of the article or service you have to offer.

2-BE CLEAR. Readers respond more quickly to a clearly written advertisement. One of the most important parts of any advertisement is to include the price.

3-MAKE IT EASY for the reader to respond to you. Always insert your telephone number or your name and address. If you do not have regular hours, give a preferred time to have prospects contact you.

4-PLACE YOURSELF in the reader's position and ask yourself what you would like to know about your offer. The answer you give will make a good Classified Ad.

Congo Wins Respect Of Africa Neighbors

By MORT ROSENBLUM
KINSHASA, the Congo (AP) — Two years ago Joseph Desire Mobutu moved quietly but unquestionably into power. He's still there, and that's an achievement in itself.

When Mobutu took over, Leopoldville was the isolated capital of a loose-hipped nation riddled with violent dissent. Africa looked on the Congo as a doubtful member of a family struggling for stature. It was shot through with graft and incompetence at all levels. Its debts were astounding and its economy quivering.

Mobutu tried to rebuild from the bottom. He wrote a new constitution, adopted a new monetary system and even changed the name of the capital to Kinshasa.

He hasn't ended corruption but his nation has won new respect among its neighbors and is no longer a joke at international gatherings.

Regional feelings aren't diminished much but the central government works outside Kinshasa. Bulky bureaucratic provincial governments exist no longer.

Despite a parade of crises, there is a general feeling of stability. The country is orderly and there is no question of who is in charge.

Some say the price is too high. They say one political party is not enough—though the constitution allows two, only one has been sanctioned. And they find too many uniforms in the streets.

Others say that is just what the Congo needs after five years of chaos when hundreds of parties fought like crabs in a bucket and anyone who could cover the authorities did as he pleased.

Thoughtful Congo students give Mobutu credit for trying. They point out he has had to spend half his time facing crises.

Some Congo watchers fear, however, that Mobutu overestimates the Congo's relative riches and power, and has perhaps put too much emphasis on proving its generosity and resources.

The proof should come next year. Will he put medicines in the hospitals? Will he develop the interior? Will he find ways to get exports to the world market?

Difficult tests will involve the Foreign Ministry, headed by his ebullient deputy, Justin-Marie Bomboko. Relations with Belgium, once the mother country, are taut. Withdrawal of Belgian teachers nearly closed all the Congo's universities. That problem eased but there will be others.

Financial nightmares over transferring Belgian concerns to Congolese concerns still go on, seven years after independence.

The United States has kept firm relations with the Congo, offering millions, as have other Western nations. The Soviet Union has been bargaining about reopening its Kinshasa embassy to join five Eastern European nations already represented.

Many of the Congo's problems are petty but they can total up to irritating levels. A root cause is bureaucracy. Though the government payroll is down to 70 per cent of the budget—not low but better than the 88 per cent it once was—workers don't go far enough and minor officials often seek supplements.

If they can state that all employees of the company are subject to the same rules... Never mind the loss in talent to the company and the economy or the loss to the individual, both financial and psychological.

At the turn of the century, when arbitrary retirement became a matter of public discussion, the life expectancy was 48. Today it is over 70.

Age Of 100 Will Not Be Too Unusual

By JOHN BARBOUR
Associated Press Writer
HOUSTON, Tex.—(AP)—Today there are some 20 million Americans above the age of 65 and even some 12,000 above the age of 100. By the year 2000, the United States will have 65 million people over 65.

There could be even more, a New York City doctor suggested Monday and the age of 100 might not be so unusual.

If medical science finds an answer to the artery-clogging disease of arteriosclerosis—and well it might—"Look out!... there may be as many as 150 million over 65," said Dr. Irving S. Wright of Cornell University Medical College.

Indeed, he said, without arteriosclerosis setting the stage for the major killers, heart attack and stroke, it is difficult to predict how long people will live or what will kill them.

But even present prospects make the philosophy of arbitrary retirement at age 65 a questionable one, Dr. Wright told the winter meeting of the American Medical Association.

Medical science must find a way to measure biological age, rather than merely toiling up a man's years.

For many of today's 65-year-olds, society and science have created an artificial and painful dilemma.

Science has extended life and potential usefulness. But society—the company, the union, the retirement plan—arbitrarily end a man's working days when he reaches 65.

For those who want to quit and pursue long standing dreams of leisure or other activities, society's plan is fine, Dr. Wright said. But society should concern itself with those who do not want or enjoy a life of idleness, especially if it means a curtailment of their living standards.

The arguments are made that people over 65 tend to become more rigid, resist new ideas, and stand in the way of the advancement of younger men, he said. But in many cases, these arguments do not stand.

The personnel officers have by and large been among the staunchest supporters of compulsory retirement plans," he said. "It simplifies their prob-

Mass Arrests Made During Racial Riots

By BRIAN GOMEZ
Associated Press Writer
PENANG, Malaysia (AP)—Police made mass arrests Monday in an effort to break up leftists and gangster-type Chinese secret societies accused of triggering three days of racial riots in Malaysia.

Curfews were imposed in Penang and the capital, Kuala Lumpur, 180 miles south of here, after rioting between Malays and Chinese which began Friday took 11 lives and left nearly 200 injured, 93 seriously.

The government reported 410 persons, including about 300 Chinese, have been arrested throughout Malaysia under the Internal Security Act, which provides for indefinite imprisonment without trial. Another 270 were detained as curfew violators.

Tun Abdul Razak, deputy prime minister, told a news conference in Kuala Lumpur that 22 homes, two shops and a factory had been burned in the riots in Penang and Butterworth over the weekend.

He proclaimed the security situation "well under control" in Penang and Kuala Lumpur.
