"That's telling" concludes Idaho State Police Sgt. Calvin Bernard.

Signs Of Trouble Ahead For Speeders

By RUTH KOONCE MILLER
Times-News Staff Writer
Some inspired citizens, in a round about way, have been accomplishing their purpose—getting motorists to slow down.

A new statewide battle against traffic accidents and deaths has caused the state force to clamp down on speeders and they have been doing a booming business with radar.

running radar practically in the front yard of Kimberly Nurseries.

Cyprus Puts Last-Minute Cog In Agreement

By WILLIAM N. OATIS
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—A last-minute hitch was reported today in an agreement among Cyprus, Greece and Turkey to end the recent threat of war.

That's move was designed to lessen the prospect of adverse Greek public reaction. It was believed the Greek people would be less aroused by a positive response to an appeal to than by outright capitulation to Turkey's demands.

While disposing of the immediate issues such an agreement would not settle the basic differences which brought the Greek-Cypriot majority and the Turkish-Cypriot minority to civil war in 1963 and has kept the island in a state of armed truce since a U.N. peace force intervened the next year.

Con Thien Fighting Erupts, Ending Lull

By GEORGE ESPER
SAIGON (AP)—The Con Thien war front erupted again Thursday, with U.S. Marines driving North Vietnamese troops from their bunkers after a close-quarter battle just below the demilitarized zone.

Three more Leatherneck companies joined the battle, giving the Marines about 700 men. Maneuvering around the enemy's flank, the Americans drove the Communists out of their heavily fortified positions in a four-hour battle.

Field reports said 26 North Vietnamese and 15 Americans were killed and 54 Americans wounded in the fighting, which was at such close quarters that the Marines could not use their artillery.

400-mile-long land border with Cambodia. The enemy's aim on both fronts apparently is to operate close to his supply trails and to draw Americans away from protection of more populous areas where the government's pacification program has been making progress.

Auto Workers Set GM Target Date

By GENE SCHROEDER
Associated Press Writer
DETROIT (AP)—The United Auto Workers General served notice today on General Motors that it has set Dec. 14 as a "target date" for reaching agreement on a new national labor contract covering the automaker's 380,000 UAW-represented workers.

al issues by Dec. 14 and then concentrating on local issues at plants around the nation early next year.

Whether or not the union makes any special demands of GM could be a key factor in causing a strike.

One company source said that if Reuther goes for any "frosting" on the cake at GM, "He'll be in for a big fight."

UAW President Walter P. Reuther told newsmen following a two-hour meeting of the union's General Motors Council that if no agreement is reached by the target date, the union will then set a "strike deadline."

Reuther indicated top officials of the union were not in favor of calling workers off their jobs during the Christmas and New Year holidays.

The union chieftain said the UAW strategy is aimed at obtaining an agreement on national issues by Dec. 14 and then concentrating on local issues at plants around the nation early next year.

Whether or not the union makes any special demands of GM could be a key factor in causing a strike.

Meet Between Ambassador And Viet Cong Emissary Thwarted

SAIGON (AP)—Well-informed sources said today a meeting between U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and a high-ranking representative of the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front was thwarted recently when South Vietnamese police arrested the Viet Cong emissary.

parently regarded reports from other sources that a meeting between U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and a high-ranking representative of the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front was thwarted recently when South Vietnamese police arrested the Viet Cong emissary.

The Liberation Front representatives were Le Van Huan and Nguyen Thi Thieu, those sources said.

At the Diamond Dragon ranch on 5177th Creek, just north of Timmerman lodge, it was 8 below, while at Hailey, the low recorded was 8 degrees above zero. Carey had a low of zero.

U.S. Residents From Washington To New York Man Shovels, Brooms, Plows

By The Associated Press
Residents of the heavily populated belt from Washington to New York manned shovels, brooms and plows today as they began to dig out from the first heavy snowfall of the season.

The snow swirled across the Eastern seaboard Thursday and dumped up to 12 inches of snow on the strings of cities stretching from Virginia through Maryland, Pennsylvania and New Jersey into New York.

The snow forced cancellation of flights to and from Washington National Airport and Friendship International Airport, between Washington and Baltimore. But Dulles International Airport at Chantilly, Va., continued to operate as crews alternately cleared one runway and then another.

Snow-laden tree limbs snapped power lines throughout Washington's suburbs in Virginia and Maryland. Phone service was cut off in Alexandria and Arlington, Va.; power was expected to be restored in most areas today.

Forecast

Partly cloudy today and tonight. Mostly cloudy with a chance of occasional rain or snow and winds 15 to 25 miles per hour at times Saturday, warmer tonight and Saturday. High in 30s, low 5 to 15, except Camas Prairie high 37, low 0 to 10. Probability of measurable precipitation 10 per cent today, 20 per cent tonight and 40 per cent Saturday. Outlook for Sunday occasional snow.

Temperatures at 8 a.m.: 10 at Jerome, 5 at T. F. Weather Bureau, 10 at T. F. Entomology Laboratory, 0 at Rupert, -9 at Fairfield, 14 at Buhl, 8 at Castleford, 5 at Gooding. At noon, 30 at T. F. weather bureau with 70 per cent humidity. Barometer: 30.18. "Soft" temperatures: At T. F., four-inch 35-37, eight-inch 37-38, 20-inch 43, 38-inch 52; at Buhl, three-inch 33-30; at Castleford, three-inch 31-30.

30-Day Outlook

December temperatures will average near-normal in Eastern Oregon and Southern Idaho. Frequent storms moving inland from the Pacific will provide heavier than normal precipitation in all states west of the continental divide. In an average year the seasonal cooling trend continues in December but at a slower rate than in October and November. Normal daily maximum temperatures in Southern Idaho drop about 4 to 7 degrees during December and range between about 30 and 38 by the end of the month. Normal minimums cool 3 to 6 degrees to the teens and low 20s by Dec. 31. Heavier than normal precipitation will probably provide monthly totals of 1 to 3 inches.

In most agricultural areas with locally heavier amounts in the Wood River Valley, Camas Prairie and the higher valleys in Eastern Idaho. This should occur as both rain and snow in the lower valleys and almost entirely as snow at elevations of 5,000 feet and higher. Skies will be cloudy much of the time with sunshine 30 per cent or less of possible sunshine hours. Bare soil will likely be frozen below the 4-inch depth most of December in central and eastern valleys with freezing extending to a foot or more during the latter part of the month. In the west upper layers will be frozen at times during the month. Soil under sod or other protective cover will freeze more slowly.

Synopsis, Farm Summary

Clear skies, an unseasonably cold air mass and extensive snow cover combined to produce the coldest night of the season so far in South Central and South-eastern Idaho. Temperatures dropped to zero and below in the upper Snake River Valley, reaching 7 below at Aberdeen, Pocatello and Idaho Falls and 6 below at Rexburg. It was below zero at Fairfield and West Yellowstone reported 15 below by 5 a.m. Magic Valley lows ranged between zero at Rupert and 12 above at Buhl. Western valleys were generally lacking in snow cover and early morning temperatures were in the lower 20s. Little or no snow fell yesterday in western and central valleys and light snows reported in eastern valleys measured less than .10 of an inch of moisture. Most reporting points in Eastern Idaho had one to 3 inches of snow on the ground and about 6 inches remained at Fairfield and Halley. Pressures are currently rising over the northwest, but a deep low pressure center in the Gulf of Alaska is moving toward the Canadian Coast and will reverse this trend tonight or early tomorrow. Upper winds will back to southwest ahead of this system, to bring considerably warmer air at upper levels into the southern Idaho surface temperatures but will follow a warming trend through Saturday and Saturday night and Sunday. The five-day forecast indicates temperatures averaging near normal Saturday through Wednesday with a warming trend over the weekend and temperatures again after the first of the week. Precipitation will be heavier than normal, occurring mainly during the weekend and again late Monday or Tuesday. Normal maximum and minimum temperatures for this period are Boise 41-26, Gooding 39-23, Twin Falls 44-24, Burley 42-22, Pocatello 38-20 and Idaho Falls 35-18. Days will likely range between 20 and 50 of an inch in most agricultural valleys with heavier amounts likely in Camas Prairie, the Wood River Valley and higher valleys in Eastern Idaho.

Egypt Downs Three Israeli Jet Fighters

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Cairo radio reported today Egyptian anti-aircraft batteries shot down three Israeli Mirage jet fighters in the Suez area. The three planes fell on the Israeli-held eastern bank of the Suez Canal and the Gulf of Suez, the broadcast said, adding that the three pilots bailed out, one of them landing in the waters of the gulf. It was the first reported clash in the Suez Canal area since President Gamal Abdel Nasser's speech eight days ago in which he said Egyptian military forces were stronger than before the June war. A military communiqué read over the radio said two Mirages violated air space over Suez City at 10 p.m. and were hit by anti-aircraft fire. The communiqué said that at 3:30 p.m. two other Mirages had entered Egyptian airspace, and one was shot down.

Damage Suit Filed Over Pupil Case

BURLEY — A $76,000 damage suit has been filed in Fifth District Court in Burley by a father against the Cassia County school district, a principal and teacher for inflicting corporal punishment on his son, Michael Booker Harvison, Burley, filed the suit Thursday in which he claims "grievous corporal punishment" was inflicted on his son. Named as co-defendants with the school district No. 151 are Lowell Turner, Burley Junior High School principal, and Derold Schaeffer, the teacher.

Family Of 8 Comes Out Of Seclusion

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "God has instructed us to shut ourselves in like Noah in the Ark," Robert Holt told the judge. It was only "under the Lord's guidance," Holt said, that he and eight members of his family abandoned Thursday their nearly eight-month religious vigil locked inside their two-story southern Los Angeles home. Holt, 36, and his wife Loyce, 33, surrendered to sheriff's deputies after a warrant had been issued for their arrest. They had failed to appear in court Monday to face charges of keeping their daughters, Robbie, 6 and Sally, 9, from school. Instead, Holt, his wife and children, his brother Ralph, his sister Ella Mae Johnson, her two teen-age sons and Holt's mother, Ella Holt, 66, remained hermit-like in the home, seeking refuge from a "sea of sin," as Holt put it. Why didn't Holt return to court as he had promised, asked Municipal Court Judge Harry Schaefer during the couple's arraignment. "I received a higher commandment from God after signing my word," the former aircraft engineer replied.

Taxpayers

(Continued From Page One) between desires and needs when it comes to dividing up the county revenue and the commissioners are committed to cutting all frills from the coming budget. Tax increases, Mr. Loughmiller said, are becoming evident. Last year for example, an average property owner in Filer was paying 17 per cent more on his total county tax bill than he did the previous year. The commissioners pointed out there are public hearings on school budgets and urged taxpayers to attend these. "We will not go into school costs in our meetings," Mr. Loughmiller said, "although these do make up a part of the total county tax bill. Property owners should make it an important concern to let the school trustees as well as county officials know how they feel about proposed expenditures before the tax levies are set."

ALOHA, PRETTY FLOWERS for pretty women, dancing in the moonlight and swimming in winter time. It's all part of the "Magic of Hawaii" tour sponsored by the Times-News and Magic Carpet Travels. Here four people going in February practice Hawaiian customs in eager anticipation. They are, from left, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Salisbury, hosts of the tour, and Mr. and Mrs. Larry Christensen. The tour group leaves Twin Falls Feb. 7 and total cost per person is $545. Those wanting to go are urged to sign up now at Magic Carpet Travels.

Blue Pacific, Green Islands And Winter Joy Offered In Tour Package

On Feb. 7 a group of happy vacationers will gather in the Twin Falls airport, bags packed, and leave for a 10-day tour of the Hawaiian Islands.

It's a sure bet that many will come back with brightly colored shirts, deep tans and a new outlook on life. The tour is designed to prepare even the most hardened executive for the year in between vacations.

The tour is sponsored by the Times-News and Magic Carpet Travels. Cost is $545 per person, and includes air fare, transfers from airports, hotel rooms, sightseeing and golfing fees.

Yes, that's right. Golfing fees. This tour has an option. The group can take part in the "Magic of Hawaii" tour, and take it easy, or take the golfing tour.

Everyone knows golfers can't relax, but they can sure have fun.

In the first, vacationers will leave Twin Falls Feb. 7 and arrive in Boise by West Coast Airlines. In Boise, members board a United Airlines jet for breakfast and a quick arrival in San Francisco. At 10 a.m. members are winging their way west over the blue Pacific ocean. After an in-flight movie and lunch, they will leave the plane in Honolulu on the first

Red Cross Drive Held For Cassia

BURLEY — The Red Cross Fund Drive in Cassia County is well under way, reports Gene Rinebold, fund drive chairman.

The fund drive is a continuation of the drive that was started in the spring and then was canceled because of the Boy Scout drive. The volunteer fund drive workers plan to end the drive Saturday evening.

George Forscher, Red Cross Cassia County chairman, said "Residents of the county are reminded that the quota must be met or the Red Cross services to the county will be discontinued. Services the county residents could lose are the bloodmobile, aid to military families, the swimming lessons and first aid training."

A number of business firms and organizations are giving 100 per cent contributions. The first to give 100 per cent was the Burley City Police officers.

Others giving 100 per cent in the first two days were Cassia County courthouse officials; Burley City Hall officials; Bureau of Land Management; Soil Conservation Service; Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service; Bridge Post Office and Cassia County Central School Office.

Farm Home Administration; Forest Service; Bonneville Power; Burley Post Office; Burley Fire Department; City of Burley Service Department and Cassia Memorial Hospital.

Shepard Gives Opinion On Official's Power

By ALLEN M. BAILEY
BOISE (AP) — The Idaho Legislature cannot take powers from a constitutionally elected official and give them to an appointed one, a legal opinion from Atty. Gen. Allan G. Shepard said Thursday.

In the opinion, Shepard answered a specific question from Budget Director James Defenbach about whether the State Department of Administrative Services could design and implement a computerized accounting and bookkeeping system at Boise College.

Defenbach is acting department head.

State Auditor Joe R. Williams, who is an elected official, had said his office should handle the Boise College changes.

Defenbach criticized Williams and the state's accounting system, claiming Idaho's fiscal system "dates back to the early 1840's."

"We know that the job hasn't been done as far as systems are concerned in Idaho," he declared.

The opinion appeared to limit the declared.

the powers of the newly created administrative services department's management services division, Defenbach said that division's duties were to recommend changes to the governor.

Idaho's constitution set up the elective office of auditor to control the state's fiscal matters, the opinion said, and it said the legislature could not take away powers either expressed in the constitution or create an office and invest in the appointee the powers and duties conferred upon a constitutional officer, would nullify the constitution and render it a mere scrap of paper.

The opinion said in quoting a past court decision on a similar matter.

Defenbach was appointed by Gov. Don W. Samuelson.

"To state that the constitutional officer responsible for supervising the fiscal concerns of the state should be forced to base his determinations and findings on a system of bookkeeping or accounting which is unsatisfactory to him is to emasculate his ability and his office," it said.

It is within the powers of the auditor, the opinion said, to prescribe bookkeeping and accounting systems for Boise College.

"I am not in disagreement with the attorney general's opinion," Defenbach said.

Federal Aid To Education Faces Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Civil rights and religion appear the dominant issues as the Senate opens debate on a $1.2 billion federal aid to education bill.

Sponsors expressed hope the measure could be voted on today and sent to a conference with the House, which earlier passed its version.

But opposition loomed from Southern Democrats and conservatives of both parties.

Major provisions of the bill would extend for three years the 1965 Elementary and Secondary School Act, by far the biggest federal aid to education program.

The measure would continue for the same period the so-called impacted areas program of grants to school districts with enrollments swollen because of federal facilities such as large military bases. It also would establish new programs intended to aid school dropouts and Spanish-speaking children and extend federal aid to adult education programs for three years.

WASHINGTON.— Forget Vietnam and Black Power for a few minutes. How about that red-hot report of the National Advisory Commission on Health Manpower, which is crammed with controversial findings on the competence of the medical profession despite the fact eight of the 15 members of the commission are doctors? Without accepting the report as the last word on the subject, I yet find it salutary that most of its proposals have been endorsed by Dr. Dwight L. Wilbur, president-elect of the American Medical Association, who served on the commission. I will award the Taj Mahal to anybody who can remember when an AMA president last okayed a suggestion that not all doctors are reincarnations of Pasteur. This is a tough report, and it is a tribute to the medical majority on the commission that it declined to scuttle its toughest provision. That provision calls for back-to-school refresher courses or periodic examinations for doctors and dentists seeking to qualify for renewal of their licenses. At present, of course, state governments license doctors and dentists for life, regardless of how ignorant or incompetent they may become as new techniques are developed. Many doctors would have a valid gripe about such legislation. They are those who have done their best to keep abreast of developments in their science, who have always been overworked, and who are now burdened with the time-consuming paperwork connected with Medicare and other health programs. Yet these dedicated men are the first to acknowledge the importance of protecting the profession from the sluggards and money-grabbers who couldn't care less about perfecting either their skills or their knowledge.

Another controversial section of the report calls for a "peer review" system, established to oversee doctors and hospitals at both local and state levels. In effect, these review boards, made up of physicians and health officials, periodically would hold doctors and hospitals accountable for the knowledge and techniques. Admittedly, this system would be a nuisance to the profession, especially to those medical tycoons interested only in their third Cadillac. But it might make mandatory refresher courses unnecessary. The knowledge that he would be required periodically to satisfy a review board probably would cause even the most pragmatic medico to take time off from his golf for a perusal of the latest method of treating measles. Besides, the poor patient should get some consideration.

Hospitals are another thing altogether. Too many of them are run like factories, apparently for the convenience of a callous personnel which is inclined both to clock-watching and criminal negligence. The commission would offer "financial rewards," presumably of Federal funds, for efficiency and quality and community service just in order to lower costs. Unfortunately, there appears to be no other way to persuade some hospitals to turn honest, if not humanitarian.

Clearly, the commission has faced the primary fact of life in this age of the handout in prescribing a solution for the shortage of doctors and dentists. It would offer loans to medical and dental students covering the full costs of tuition and living expenses, with an option to repay the loans over a long term or through direct governmental service; in the military, the Public Health Service or in a "Poverty Corps" for doctors. I suppose this solution must be inevitable, but it is not particularly happy one. It smacks of those magazine advertisements which proclaim "It's too bad Joe Brisk can't go to college," and ask donations to make Joe's matriculation possible. Whatever happened to the kid who used to work his way through school?

It May Take More Than A Couple Of Aspirins

Debate Alternative

The warm response to Senator Eugene McCarthy's initial soundings as a possible primary opponent of President Johnson on the Vietnam war issue should encourage him to continue. We hope he will disregard the cries of dismay from Democratic wheelhorses horrified at the thought of a "divisive" party battle, and the malicious innuendo that he is motivated by mean considerations of revenge.

There is no point in trying to conceal the fact that Democrats, like the people in general, are divided. The division exists, and the question is whether those who oppose Administration policy are to be given a vehicle of political expression. If Senator McCarthy finally decides to give them one, he will serve the highest interests of the country and his party alike. Whether the President can or cannot be denied renomination, whether he can or cannot be induced to adopt a more sensible Vietnam policy, the people are entitled to a full and open debate and a chance to express themselves politically.

If the debate is to be fruitful, however, it must deal not only with the desirability of ending the war, but with specific policies that will enable it to be ended. The Administration keeps repeating that it dearly desires peace and pines for peace negotiations. To draw the issues sharply, Senator McCarthy will have to cut through the fiction of consensus and fasten attention upon the critical question of what national objectives in Asia should be adopted in order to make a negotiated peace possible.

Administration policy is to invest greater and greater armed power in securing a military position on the mainland of Asia for the purpose of "containing" Communist China. The alternative is to adopt a policy of neutralization for Southeast Asia under which military confrontation can be ended and Vietnam turned over to the Vietnamese, with international guarantees against armed invasion from any quarter in the future. Both Hanoi and the National Liberation Front are committed to military neutralization for Vietnam; terms could be negotiated if the United States adopted the same objective.

Administration policy is to support a military government in Saigon which represents a minority of the people and lacks either the will or the ability to bring about social reforms that will gain broad public support. The alternative is to work for a representative government in which the National Liberation Front shares power proportionate to its actual political strength in the country. Nominally, the NLF claims to be the "sole" representative of the South Vietnamese people, but there is every reason to believe that a coalition could be negotiated if we modified our equally untenable position that the Saigon generals are the "sole" representatives.

Administration policy is to seek an illusory military "victory" in behalf of an anti-Communist South Vietnam which could survive only as a military dependent and protectorate of the United States. The alternative is to seek a political settlement under which an interim government ends the civil war and the people of Vietnam themselves ultimately decide, after all foreign troops are withdrawn, whether and how North and South should be reunified. The national Liberation Front has strongly indicated that it does not contemplate immediate reunification by force. A reasonable settlement based on the Geneva accords, to which the United States occasionally pays lip-service, could be negotiated if that, rather than military victory, were our objective.

The Administration's war in Vietnam is one phase of a policy of global military intervention, holding forth the prospect of one armed confrontation after another, to "contain" an international Communist "conspiracy" which no longer exists. The alternative is a policy of political and economic support for impoverished peoples, of peaceful competition with Communist regimes, and of collective, not unilateral, defense against actual armed aggression. Debating the fundamentals of our foreign policy in such terms would enlarge the discussion to encompass not only the war itself but the underlying containment philosophy of which it is the current expression.

We hope Senator McCarthy and others of his mind will accept the Administration's challenge, now taking shape in yet another propaganda drive to convince the people once more that victory is just around the corner, and lead a rational discussion of the policies that have involved us in a universally unwanted war. Millions of Americans want to know that reasonable alternatives do exist, that the national interest can be served by them, that there is an honorable way out. Whatever the political consequences of a national debate, it is imperative to conduct one.

PAUL HARVEY

Disillusion Is Contagious

Labor, demanding a bigger and better voice in government, eventually won control of Britain's government, but in two weeks the British laborites have struck out. Now the shattering devaluation of the British pound has alerted many Americans to an increased awareness of the hazard of too many eggs in one basket.

In Oklahoma, contemplating a second vote on a right-to-work law, proponents exude renewed confidence. Presently, in many states, government forces you to belong to a union. Probably government never intended to let itself get into such a position, but by authorizing closed-shop contracts and dues checkoff government mousetrapped you into a choiceless predicament. Nineteen states — authorized by the Taft-Hartley Act to put it to a vote — have erased that mistake. Oklahoma probably will make it 20.

What this means is that in states which vote a right-to-work law, you may belong to a union if you wish — but nobody can force you to. Labor unions leaders are vigorously opposed to these right-to-work laws. They protest that these laws are aimed at destroying unions, reducing wages. The fact is that, in most of the 19 states which have adopted such laws, business is booming and wages are higher.

Figures from the Department of Labor and the Department of Commerce confirm that right-to-work states lead the nation in overall rate of economic growth. The two states with the fastest increase in the rate of manufacturing employment, Arizona and Florida, are right-to-work states. Seven of the top 10 are right-to-work states.

The percentage of time lost due to labor disputes is only about half as great in right-to-work states. And hear this: wages have increased more in Texas where there is no compulsory union membership than in Oklahoma which presently enforces union membership.

Obviously, industry in the right-to-work states is able to pay higher wages because of reduced featherbedding and a generally stimulated economy. The present right-to-work states contain only 28 per cent of our nation's population, but they have recently gained 64 per cent in new manufacturing jobs.

Some union spokesmen single out Arkansas as a state with a low per capita income despite a right-to-work law. But two factors contradict this conclusion. One is that Arkansas, despite that law, has more union members than Oklahoma (112,000 to 83,000). Also, Arkansas' economy since the right-to-work law was enacted has accelerated faster than before.

In summary, the right-to-work states lead the nation in economic growth, in the creation of new jobs and industry, in wage improvement in industrial jobs, and — by percentage and by actual dollars — these states produce more new wealth and new income.

More and more union members are beginning to recognize these advantages. Last year a public opinion poll in Iowa disclosed that 59 per cent of that state's union members prefer right-to-work.

There is an increasing awareness, abroad and at home, that the best climate for the most people to make the most money is a climate of freedom.

The Opportunity

WASHINGTON (NEA) — If it is true, as the data seems to indicate, the Ho Chi Minh apparatus in the south is being reorganized for a conventional, long-range underground insurgency, it opens an opportunity for U.S. and South Vietnamese government forces.

In the months immediately ahead, the Americans and South Vietnamese have their best opportunity to date to make real gains in knocking out the Viet Cong-North Vietnamese political-economic-psychological warfare underground organization which is the real base of Communist strength in South Vietnam. This organization provides the intelligence, recruiting and logistics base on which the VC and the North Vietnamese armies operate.

The underground organization, depleted in the past two years when the Communists thought a quick victory was in the offing, bumbled widely in its dealings with farmers and the city poor.

The new VC cadre, out to build a base for a long-term underground war, will have to mend fences in areas where second-rate VC cadre replacements of the past two years antagonized many people with crude terrorism, exorbitant tax collection and pompous arrogance.

The VC underground structure today is weak in many spots. These loopholes are being mended in the reorganization. But this will take time. Replacement of second raters with able men is not quickly done. Thus the U.S.-South Vietnam opportunity is to act before Hanoi has time to rebuild the tight-knit organization it once had.

In this new situation, any "peace talks" in which Ho participated would be a maneuver to buy time to enable the new party underground to fix itself securely in place.

On our side, the VC-North Vietnamese underground, rebuilding must be fought principally with U.S.-Vietnamese civilian effort which must overtake in quality the military buildup of the past few years. This doesn't require huge numbers of new U.S. personnel. Rather, it means small numbers of highly skilled, highly motivated, carefully picked men who have the ability to get along with other men.

For the job at hand is to work with and inspire — not dominate — Vietnam's villagers.

As a corollary, new types of Vietnamese leaders will have to be trained for work in the countryside, where the war will be won or lost. The traditional upper-class, white-shirted Vietnamese is not effective in farming communities. He must be replaced in the hamlets by local, young leaders chosen from among typical village families.

These leaders — who understand how the other half lives because they're from that group themselves — must be trained and sent back into the hamlets to match wits with the VC-North Vietnamese underground. This new brand of men on our side will also create the basis for widened leadership in the hamlets when the war is won.

Burning Tongue

Q — My sister, 49, has had a burning, sore, swollen tongue for over a year. She has been to three doctors who have given her vitamins and allergy shots but these haven't helped her. What would you advise?

A — A swelling or a burning pain in the tongue may be caused by a vitamin deficiency, iron deficiency, thyroid deficiency, anemia, excessive smoking, allergy to lipstick, rough jagged teeth, trichinosis or neuralgia. In many persons, however, the cause cannot be identified. The condition is commonly seen in women who are in their 50s and are emotionally high-strung. Fear of cancer may cause them to magnify the soreness in the tongue out of all proportion. In such cases, after a thorough examination to make sure no serious disease is present, a short course of tranquilizer often helps.

Q — Every morning on arising my tongue is heavily coated. What causes it and what can I do for it?

A — The cause is failure to eat enough food that requires much chewing — dry toast, raw carrots, raw apples and the like.

Throughout chewing of these foods removes the coating of dead cells that is constantly accumulating on the surface of your tongue. If for any reason you can't eat these foods, you may use a small cloth to hold the tip of your tongue and brush the surface once or twice a day with a toothbrush.

Q — Since February I have had what my doctor calls a black hairy tongue. I have been using hydrogen peroxide as a mouthwash but it doesn't help. Is it cancer? How can I get rid of it?

A — Black hairy tongue is caused by a fungus. It is not related to cancer. If it cannot be removed by brushing your tongue with a toothbrush, you should see your doctor.

Q — I have migratory glossitis or geographic tongue. What causes it? Is there any cure for it?

A — The cause of this patchy redness of the tongue is not known. The condition is not serious. The chances are that if you don't brag about it, no treatment is required and it usually clears up in a few days, but it may return.

BARRY GOLDWATER

Late In The Day

President Johnson has finally begun an effective report to the American people and the world on just what is going on in Vietnam.

His dramatic, highly charged press conference was a good beginning. For the first time he spoke candidly and convincingly of which U.S. interests are directly at stake in the Vietnamese war, rather than resting his case on vague notions of old commitments or trying to explain it through the actions of the past.

President Johnson can and should make a good case for prosecuting the Vietnamese war on his own.

Tragically, the beginning of his new policy of effective communications has come late in the day. Begun earlier, when so many of us were calling for it, it might have headed off a good deal of the wild dissent that has developed, and on which so many friends of the Viet Cong have focused as the weakest point in our entire effort.

As it stands, President Johnson must still realize that the Communists are hoping to win the war in Washington, not on the battlefield where our men have thrashed them soundly.

In his first effort, the President went a long way toward making it clear that this is no civil war, that it is a clean-cut case of aggression which, if permitted to succeed, would be strong encouragement for more and more aggressions throughout the area.

His telling point — that more South Vietnamese have been killed by Communist terrorists, while trying to vote, than North Vietnamese have been killed by our bombing — is a much needed slap at those who insist it is we, not the Communists, who are terrorizing the land. But this point could have been made long before. And it and other like it need to be made many times in the future.

Also for the first time the President came squarely to grips with the problem of bombing pauses. This time he did not play politics, but forthrightly made it clear that any bombing pause not accompanied by Communist response in kind would just increase our casualties while not increasing at all the chances for peace.

It is not unkind, I hope, to remind him that this emphasizes, rather than diminishes, the responsibility which the administration must accept for having insisted on such pauses in the past, despite the advice of diplomats and military men. Dean Rusk — for instance, is widely supposed to have opposed the bombing pauses all along.

If there was a weakness in the President's maiden fight toward public communication regarding the war, it was that he did not come to grips with the possibility of our losing at a conference table everything for which we have fought on the battlefield.

His statements during the Manila conference might be construed to mean that we would pull out of Vietnam willy-nilly. Given some sort of paper-scrap justice by the Communists. Such an action, of course, would do nothing but encourage the Communists to take over.

Or there is the matter of U.N. Ambassador Arthur Goldberg's statements suggesting the possibility of a coalition government in which the Communists would play a significant role. That, too, would mean defeat on the installment plan.

It is to such points, now, that I hope the President will address himself as forthrightly and as convincingly as he did to the overall situation during his fine and encouraging press conference. Political opponent or not, I wish him well in the task. It is our republic that is at stake.

DEMONSTRATIONS AGAINST WAR

The antidraft demonstrations at Oakland, Calif., and the mass protest against the Vietnam war scheduled for this weekend in Washington can hardly be considered exceptional in the light of the policies the Johnson Administration is pursuing. We do not condone draft-card burning and other illegal acts, but it must be recognized that the war is the most unpopular in American history — and there is more to it than that.

In the first place, Congress has not declared war. In World War II the United States was attacked and Congress declared war. So no comparison at all can be made with that conflict. United States involvement in the Korean war had the backing of the United Nations and world opinion generally. The United States is going it alone in Vietnam and world opinion is against us.

It is difficult to blame a draft-age student for protesting when he sees what is going on. Our affluent society proceeds on its way without making any sacrifices at all. Most hawks are well-fed, comfortably housed people of middle age, who are completely safe. There are no shortages, no wartime controls on prices and wages. The home front is doing nothing to share the sacrifices of the young people who have to fight in the jungles 10,000 miles from home. The wonder is that there is not more protest.

The current Administration line that the security of the United States is at stake in Vietnam simply is not believed. Vietnam, North and South together, is a tiny primitive land and the young people know it. The Administration's implication that if it cannot win in Vietnam China will some day attack the United States is feverish speculation at best, and at worst a repudiation of diplomacy in favor of preventive war. Today's young people do not share Washington's cynicism.

Insofar as they have been brought to the point of disbelief in what the country's leaders tell them, that is the fault of President Johnson and the other policy-makers, not the students. It is unfortunate for our society that mass protest should seem necessary to so many, but the young people are seeking a better world than their elders made for them and their attitudes cannot be ignored. —St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

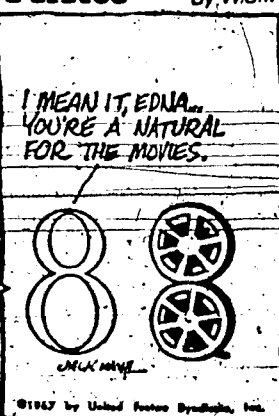

NOT SO CHARMING

Jackie Kennedy's private visit to Cambodia has had one unpleasant by-product. U.S. correspondents who followed her there (almost 100 of them) have provided her host, Prince Norodom Sihanouk, a wide audience for critical comment on Mrs. Kennedy's country.

The Cambodian ruler rose to the occasion of the press invasion by telling reporters, among other things, that Red China is "a better friend of Cambodia than is America and that U.S. troops are committing 'aggression' in Vietnam and are violating the borders of Cambodia (used by Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops as a sanctuary).

One cannot blame the prince for speaking sweetly of the Red-Chinese. He knows that it is they, not Americans, from whom he has reason to fear aggression. But his harsh words for America on this particular occasion have sullied his reputation for charm and good manners. —Portland Oregonian

Americans May Pay More Taxes In 1968

By EDMOND LEBRETON
WASHINGTON (AP)—The American taxpayer won't pay higher income taxes this year but might in 1968 if President Johnson cuts spending enough, says Chairman Wilbur D. Mills of the House Ways and Means Committee.

Mills told reporters Thursday it's out of the question for Congress to pass the administration's complex tax bill in the remaining weeks of the current session of Congress.

The Kansas Democrat's remarks followed completion of his committee's hearings on Johnson's plan for a 10 per cent surcharge on income taxes, combined with an administration spending cut plan.

In presenting the plan, Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler said it would be unthinkable not to start work on it promptly.

But Mills let the hearings lapse without scheduling any working sessions.

"We will reconvene, however, whenever there is more for the committee to consider on which we can appropriately take action," he said.

Mills said he assumed the next move would be for Budget Director Charles L. Schultze to discuss the proposed spending cuts with the House Appropriations Committee.

The tax spending plan would require action by three committees—Ways and Means for the $7.4 billion tax increase; Appropriations for spending cuts, projected at $4.1 billion but which Mills said should be greater; and Government Operations for a proposal, initiated by Mills, for a commission to make a long-range study of government programs.

Mills said he doubts even his committee could complete its part of the work by Jan. 1.

Mills said the administration should be able to cut expenditures by $2 billion to $3 billion more than its estimate, and that such a cut "would enhance the acceptance of a tax increase by the American people."

He also emphasized he wants spending held down during the year beginning July 1 as well as the present fiscal year, and applauded Schultze for saying this was the administration intention.

But Mills also gave the administration a "broad" hint his committee may want to see the 1968 budget figures before deciding on taxes.

"I believe that more particularly more specific information is needed in this area before we can come to any conclusions on the tax increase," he said.

Twin Falls Times-News
Dec. 1-2, 1967

The committee's senior Republican, Rep. John W. Byrnes of Wisconsin, agreed the panel would want to know 1968 budget plans before endorsing a tax hike.

College Is Boycotted By Girl Students

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Some 300 girl students boycotted classes today at Albertus Magnus College to protest what they call backward thinking by the college's administration.

The boycott was staged by about half the student body at the Dominican liberal arts college for girls. It followed the suspension Thursday of 21 members of the student government for alleged violations of curfew hours and dress regulations.

"All that we really want is a voice in the college," said Ann Bain, acting president of the student body.

The students are primarily concerned with regulations banning the wearing of slacks on campus and requiring their return to dormitories by 12:30 a.m. on weekends.

The college president, Sister Marie Louise, said the students "claimed a right which the college does not recognize to change these regulations." She said the suspensions were imposed when the students "persisted in defying the authority of the college."

Burley Highway Vote Set Monday

BURLEY — Burley Highway District election will be held Monday with polls open from 1 to 7 p.m. with just one candidate on the ballot.

Jones Leonard, Declo, has filed for the highway commissioner for a four-year term. Leonard will be replacing Eryne Dewey, who has moved from Declo area in the district.

Polling places are Burley Highway District Office, 402 19th St.; Burley; Burley Christian Church; Milner Community Hall; View LDS Church; Declo Village office and the W. C. Paul residence in Jackson area. Holdover highway commissioners are Max Gillette, Burley, and Sirlie Powers, Unity.

Wearing It

SEATTLE (AP)—A police officer stopped a motorcyclist driver recently because the cyclist was not wearing a crash helmet as required by a law passed by the 1967 legislature.

The cyclist, however, insisted on a quick check of the new law. The law specifies that a cyclist must wear a helmet with the chin strap fastened, but does not specify where the helmet must be worn.

The cyclist didn't get a ticket. His helmet was strapped firmly to his leg.

Personology Is Topic For Burley Club

BURLEY—Mrs. Reed Walker was guest speaker Tuesday evening at a dinner meeting of the Burley Business and Professional Women's Club at the Stampede Cafe dining room.

A talk on "Personology" was given by Mrs. Walker, a qualified teacher. She explained how it could be applied beneficially in daily life with a better understanding of one's self and those around you, and she gave a spot check on each of the present.

The program was arranged by Mrs. Otto Vaneck, personal development chairman.

During the business meeting a report was given on the social meeting held recently at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Grimsman, where the Impressive Business and Professional emblem ceremony was held. Mrs. W. Gay Jones was co-hostess.

Plans were made for the annual Christmas party which will be held at 7 p.m. Dec. 12 at the home of Mrs. Russell Anderson.

A covered dish dinner will be served followed by a silent auction and a gift exchange. A program on safety will be presented by Ken Barry, Burley police officer.

Guests were Mrs. Manuel Gutierrez, Mrs. Cindy Taylor and Mrs. Walker.

Tony Curtis And Miss Kaufmann Are Separated

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP)—Actor Tony Curtis and wife Christine Kaufmann reportedly are separated today after almost five years of marriage.

Miss Kaufmann, a German movie beauty, was married to Curtis at the age of 18 on Feb. 8, 1963. She was quoted as saying "Yes, it's true," when asked by the Los Angeles Herald Examiner to confirm the separation.

Later neither she nor Curtis could be reached for comment. Publicists for both stars refused any comment.

Curtis, 41, was previously married for 11 years to actress Janet Leigh.

Singer-Added By Group Appearing At "Alley"

Musical "Misfits" Have Facelifting

By NORMA HERZINGER

The popular musical group, Johnny and the Misfits, has had a "facelifting," and the face is the pretty one of Carletta Williams, who not only is pretty, but can sing, too.

This group, currently appearing at the Alley, boasts two singular attractions a little different from most of the Magic Valley bands, a Jerry Lee Lewis type lead piano and a gal vocalist. The lead piano in itself is distinctive enough for enjoyable variation, so when a gal is added, it's got to spell "sugar and spice, and entertainment plus."

The Misfits featuring Carletta, as the group is now called, chose this name after Johnny Clayton left the group to move to Utah. The band is composed of David Starr, Twin Falls, outstanding piano player who shares the spotlight with Carletta as vocalist; John Williams, Burley, plays the bass, guitar and assists with the harmony singing; Gary Moore, well-known drummer from the Buhl area, and Carletta, who plays rhythm guitar as well as a bass.

The group likes to be billed as not just a country music group, but pop and rock, too. As one spectator stated while listening to them the other night, "When they play country music it sounds like country music, and when they play pop and rock it sounds like it." To a music critic, this is an excellent compliment.

David, who patterns himself after Jerry Lee-Lewis and Floyd Cramer, is originally from California. He came through Southern Idaho with the Saddletitles doing a road show, and liked it so much here he stayed. David not only is good at the piano, he sings and writes some of his own songs, one he has recorded for Cannon records in St. Louis, "Answer From Heaven."

Carletta has sung with several Magic Valley country and western groups including the Playboys and the Tune Twisters, and has been well known in the music world since high school days. She is about to cut a record for MVI and will be backed by the Misfits.

John was born and raised in the Burley area and the list of musical instruments he plays are numerous and includes the trombone, drums, bass guitar, rhythm guitar and harmonica. He has just recently returned from six months active duty with the Army National Guard.

Gary is well known in Magic Valley as one of the best drummers in the area and originally played for the Country Gentlemen. He has played drums for the Walden Brothers and Johnny Clayton and was the drummer on Clayton's two current hit records on the MVI label.

Eight War Protesters To Be Sentenced

The Alley is one of the newest supper clubs in Twin Falls and the Misfits featuring Carletta can be seen there Wednesdays, Fridays and Saturdays from 8:30 p.m. to 1 a.m. Ralph Faught is owner and operator of the Alley, located at 121 4th Ave. S.

See me for a new Volkswagen or a good USED CAR. Ben Eldredge, Youree Motor Co., 612 Main Ave. S.

The students staged a sit-in at the center.

Those convicted were Henry A. Huey, 20, D. Austin Mitchell, 22, Howard Nokes Jr., 25, Lynn Wilde, 20, Gisele McDowell, 26, Jan Levy, 19, and Susas Roberts Goodrick, 20, all of Salt Lake City, and Steven Holbrook, 25, Bountiful.

Defense attorneys contended that while the demonstrators had stationed themselves near the entrance, they were sitting in an aisle and were not completely blocking the entrance or exit of persons with business at the center.

U.S. Atty. William T. Thurman testified that he had to "force myself through this human barricade." He said, "I did so by stepping over them, pushing against them."

TV May Undergo Revolution Because Of Feature Films

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Television programming, which has been wedded to fixed formulas for 15 years, is undergoing a small-scale revolution because of the popularity of feature films this season.

That is the outlook as seen from the vantage point of Herbert S. Schlosser, who as West Coast program vice president for NBC is one of the handful of men who decide what will appear on the home screen.

From the days of 12-inch screens the half-hour program, particularly the situation comedy, has been a staple of television. This season the half-hours, particularly the new ones, have been hurting because of the competition of six nights of feature films on the networks.

"There will still be room for the half-hour show," observed Schlosser, "but the trend is toward fewer of them."

"There will probably be more hour shows and 90-minute shows as well. We have even considered a two-hour series, but that is something that will need to be carefully planned."

Why have feature films proved so popular this season? "Because the audience has been getting a general run of bigger pictures," Schlosser theorized. "Many of them are only two years old, and that adds to the appeal."

"Also I believe the features are popular because the country is becoming more urban all the time. More people of higher income and upper middle-class watch them than most other programs. That helps make

Court Asked To Rule On Legality Of Residency Requirements For Welfare

By BARRY SCHWÉID
WASHINGTON (AP) — In 1941, a unanimous Supreme Court decided California could no longer make it a crime to bring a poor man into the state.

California had argued to no avail that a huge influx of Depression migrants had increased the state's taxes and the cost of welfare outlays.

The California law, said Justice James P. Byrnes, posed an unconstitutional barrier to the interstate movement of "commerce"—which to the 1941 Court meant people as well as goods.

The states, said Byrnes, cannot write laws to isolate themselves "from difficulties common to all of them by restraining the transportation of persons and property" across their borders.

Now, 26 years later, the Supreme Court is being called upon to decide if the states can protect themselves against increased welfare costs by barring aid to new residents.

Three federal courts—in Connecticut, Delaware and the District of Columbia—have ruled out such residency requirements. Connecticut has appealed to the Supreme Court, and Delaware, at least, is expected to join.

Elsewhere in the nation's courts the attack on residency barriers continues, with the open support of the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Said Earl Johnson Jr., director of the OEO's Legal Services Program, after the Connecticut requirement had been struck down: "Once the challenge is made, the illegality has come clear. Hopefully, this process of refinement will continue."

The authorization for residency restrictions came with congressional enactment of welfare programs in 1935. In the case of aid to dependent children—the program specifically involved in the Connecticut appeal—states cannot impose waiting periods greater than one year without losing federal money.

Last year, according to government figures, $2,265,346,000 was spent on the aid to dependent children program, with the federal contribution — $1,299,940,000 — accounting for 57.4 per cent.

The latest figures, for July 1967, show 4,978,000 persons assisted.

There probably is no accurate way of determining how many would-be recipients were kept off the rolls by residency requirements. For one thing, explained Peter Smith, a lawyer with Neighborhood Legal Services here, social agencies advise the poor against applying when they know they haven't been in the state long enough to qualify.

Connecticut aside, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare lists only nine states as not having residency requirements for the program. They are Alaska, Georgia, Hawaii, Kentucky, Maine, New Jersey, New York, Rhode Island and Vermont.

SERVICE TO END

BOISE (AP) — The Idaho Public Utilities Commission said Thursday it has authorized Valley Transportation Co., of Lewiston, to discontinue bus service between Lewiston and the Dworshak Dam near Orofino.

The PUC said curtailment of construction at the dam, because of unfavorable weather, has reduced passenger volume to the extent that expenses are twice the revenue.

The suspension was authorized until May 18, 1968.

JUDGE DIES

BLACKFOOT, Idaho (AP) — Seventh District Court Judge Paul Crane, 46, died shortly before midnight Wednesday in Bingham Memorial Hospital, following a long illness.

Long associated with court affairs in east Idaho, Judge Crane had held an executive position at the State Youth Training Center, St. Anthony, and served as Police Judge of Arco for three years in the 1950s. He was also Butte County probate judge. He practiced law in the office of Keith Jergensen in St. Anthony.

AGENDA PLANNED

BOISE (AP) — Reports on proposed development of the Bear River in Southeastern Idaho are on the agenda for the next meeting of the Idaho Resource Board, Director Robert R. Lee reported Friday.

The board will meet Dec. 8, in Boise.

Lee said a legal opinion regarding Bear River will be presented and reports on studies by board staff members will be given.

A progress report also will be submitted by Lee as to the proposed High Mountain Sheep Dam in the Snake River along the Idaho-Oregon border. The board has entered the case as an intervenor.

GUARD WILL BE CUT

BOISE (AP) — Idaho's National Guard will have to be reduced in strength in the future as a result of a directive from the chief of the national bureau, according to Maj. Gen. George Bennett, Idaho Adjutant General.

The directive stated that the army national guard would be reduced in size from 417,000 to 400,000 by next June 30, he said.

"The net effect on Idaho will be that we will not be able to replace all the normal losses that occur as a result of Idaho guardsmen completing their service obligations," Bennett said in a statement.

SALE REPORTED

BOISE (AP) — The Idaho State Land office, reported Thursday the sale of 320 acres in Ada County to Charles O. Balt. Boise, for the appraisal price of $25,600.

LOW BIDDER

BOISE (AP) — Drake Plumbing and Heating, Boise, the apparent low of three bidders Thursday for well house and water works equipment at the new state penitentiary site south of Boise.

Bids were opened in the office of the State Department of Public Works.

APPEAL PLANNED

LEWISTON, Idaho (AP) — Nez Perce County Prosecutor Roy Mosman has said he plans to appeal a Second District Court decision which dismissed his charges against a Lewiston man.

Dean M. Barney had been charged with distributing allegedly illegal campaign literature, Mosman said, during last year's election campaign for governor.

The attorney had said in the charge that Barney had distributed campaign literature which impugned the business ability of Democratic gubernatorial candidate Cecil Andrus. He said the material bore only the name "Gem State Citizens," but failed to carry the name of the organization's responsible officer, which was required by Idaho law.

Carmichael's Passport Will Be Lifted

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department says it plans to lift the passport of Stokely Carmichael but knows of no other punishment in store for the Black Power firebrand.

Press officer Carl Bartz said the only penalty Carmichael faces is surrender of his passport for traveling to Cuba last summer without State Department validation.

Carmichael told newsmen Thursday in Oslo, Norway, that he'll be arrested on returning to the United States and jailed for up to five years.

Carmichael, former chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, said he intends to return home after today's final session in Oslo of Bertrand Russell's so-called war crimes trial, at which he is serving on the jury.

Nixon-Eisenhower Team Appears

NORTHAMPTON, Mass. — Julie Nixon and David Eisenhower, 19-year-old grandson of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, whose friendship grew from childhood acquaintance to college dates, plan to marry after they graduate in 1970.

Julie said the families have known each other for a long time and their reactions to the engagement last Saturday in New York were "just perfect." They are "all excited about the engagement," she said.

The young couple appeared radiantly happy Thursday night when interviewed on the Smith College campus where Julie is a sophomore. They had dined together at the Baldwin House dormitory and then spent the evening in Amherst, a few miles away, where David is a sophomore at Amherst College.

No date has been set for the wedding, but both said they are certain the wedding will not take place until after they are graduated.

David, who is majoring in history, said he is thinking of going to law school after graduation. Julie, who has not picked a major, said she will look for a job after graduation.

David said he had thought of becoming engaged for some time and, because he did not have enough money for a ring, offered to work at an Amherst College dining hall.

He said he mentioned the plan to his grandmother, Mamie Eisenhower, and that she offered him her late mother's ring asking, "Do you think Julie would like this?" David accepted.

The ring belonged to Mrs. John S. Doud of Denver. David is the son of retired Army Lt. Col. John S. Eisenhower, of Phoenixville, Pa.

Refugee Airlift From Cuba Beginning Its Third Year

By THEODORE A. EDIGER

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A daily airlift bringing a seemingly endless stream of refugees from Communist Cuba began its third year today. The "freedom flights" have brought 90,000 Cubans to the United States.

The anniversary of the massive migration operation is observed here as "Cuban-American Day." A movement began to make this observance nationwide every Dec. 1.

Two airlift flights arrive each week-day at Miami International Airport from Varadero, Cuba, a beach resort frequented by American tourists in pre-Castro days.

Routinely, buses whisk the emigrants to Freedom Gate, where U.S. officials process them. Then the refugees go to Freedom House to await assignment to a new home somewhere in the United States. Nearly three-fourths of the arrivals fan out throughout the 50 states, the rest remain to swell Miami's Cuban colony of some 150,000.

U.S. officials said more than 50,000 applicants—enough to keep the sky shuttle going for another year—already have been cleared for the migration and are awaiting their turn. Exiles say more than one million—one-seventh of all the people in Cuba—would like to hop aboard. That would mean another quarter century of airlifting.

During the first two years, the airlift covered enough miles to encircle the earth 16 times. There were 1,002 flights at 400 miles per round trip.

Each flight cost U.S. taxpayers $850. That adds up to $850,000.

Exiles invited President Johnson, who permitted the airlift to start Dec. 1, 1965, to ceremonies here, but he couldn't make it.

John F. Thomas of Washington, director of the Cuban refugee program under the Health, Education and Welfare Department, and Henry Taylor, State Department Cuban affairs coordinator here, will address exiles at a meeting tonight.

Miami Mayor Stephen Clark proclaimed Cuban-American Day. He said, "We hopefully pray that these inalienable rights essential to human dignity soon may be extended to all Cubans in their homeland." In schools, Cuba was the theme in music, art and compositions.

Douglas Asks Basic Social Revolution

NEW YORK (AP) — Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas called Thursday for a "big, basic social revolution" in the United States to meet what he called the "needs of the inarticulate 20 per cent of our population."

The justice was talking about the poor, but he also said the rest of America is threatened by electronic computerized snooping by government agencies.

"We run a great risk of becoming serfs in the new feudalism which seems about to overcome us," he told about 100 students in a seminar at Pace College.

Douglas said U. S. laws were biased against the poor because they "were drawn up by the establishment and not by the poor and there is a great difference between those two groups."

"The right to march and the right to protest is now legal," he said, "and this is a good thing because the poor cannot buy time on TV or radio or the John Birch-type billboard to put up on the highways."

Government loyalty procedures, he said, "put 20 million people through the mill as respecting their ideas."

In opposing this, he said: "We need to keep open a very wide concept of ideas. We live in a world of revolution; we need new ideas."

PLANS TO MARRY

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Matt Cimber, last husband of the late Jayne Mansfield, applied Thursday for a license to marry 23-year-old dress designer Christy Hilliard Hanak.

Most Of Vietnamese Population 'Secure'

By BARRY KRAMER

SAIGON (AP) — Two thirds of South Vietnam's 17 million people now live in secure areas controlled by the Saigon government, U.S. mission's computers say.

The U.S. Embassy today unveiled its new computerized Hamlet Evaluation System—or HES—and said the "secure" population has increased more than a million since last January.

Ambassador Robert W. Komer, who heads the American side of the pacification program, told a news conference that HES provides a detailed monthly check on the campaign for the allegiance of the South Vietnamese living in the country's 12,600 cities and hamlets.

A checklist on 18 major criteria is filled out on computer cards for each hamlet by the U.S. district adviser and put through computers in Saigon and Bangkok, he said, enabling the allies to get a good idea of where the "other war" stands.

In addition to hamlet security, the cards include information on such matters as schools available, development projects, health facilities and even whether the hamlet chief sleeps in the hamlet at night.

Pointing out that human evaluators weren't even sure how many hamlets were in South Vietnam before HES went into operation last January, Komer said the new system is "not even near perfect, but it's more objective, more systematic and it focuses on the key aspects of pacification."

"I think it's getting a pretty accurate picture," he added.

HES evaluates hamlets on an A-to-E scale. A hamlets being most secure, E the least.

Only 8,650—or 63 per cent—of South Vietnam's 12,600 hamlets can be evaluated. The rest are controlled by the Viet Cong. But Komer said population figures are more important than the number of hamlets considered secure because the hamlets vary in population from 50 to 20,000 persons. Saigon and other large cities are classed as a group of hamlets.

He said government-controlled hamlets tend to be larger and more prosperous since the government gives higher priority to more heavily populated areas.

Secure hamlets are those in the A, B and C categories. They now embrace 66.6 per cent of the population. Contested, or D and E hamlets account for 16.2 per cent of the population, while another 17.2 per cent lives under Viet-Cong control, according to HES.

How to cut oil bills

1. Have your oil burner cleaned and adjusted professionally. Like a car, it needs periodic attention.
2. Use a heating oil that helps keep your burner clean. In a clean, well-adjusted burner, Shell Heating Oil can help reduce fuel consumption significantly.

Shell Heating Oil contains a special additive called FOA-5X. This additive helps keep critical burner passages free from clogging — assures better firing.

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: Every Thanksgiving my husband's boss who lives out of state sends us a huge bouquet of roses. The box they come in bears the name of a local florist, and their truck delivers them, so it's not as though these flowers have been shipped any great distance. Well, I have never seen grrier flowers in my life! It is getting to be an annual joke around here. They aren't even worth putting into a vase. I just open the box and carry it right out to the trash.

Then I sit down and write a "thank you" note for the "beautiful" flowers. I told my husband this year. I think we should tell his boss what kind of flowers he has been paying for. My husband says we should be quiet. What do you say?

MRS. M. J. L.

DEAR MRS. L.: I say a rose by any other name would smell. And so would the deal you've been getting from your florist. By all means let the sender know the kind of flowers you have been receiving. He would appreciate it.

DEAR ABBY: Mine is a problem I can't discuss with anyone. Teddy, our 12-year-old son, wants to take ballet. He is slim, graceful, a very beautiful boy and not very masculine. He's been taking ballroom and tap since he was nine, but I never dreamed he'd become interested in ballet. His father will die. He's a rugged sportsman and has a five handicap in golf. Teddy has always been a rather delicate child and never cared much for sports so I thought dancing would be good exercise for him.

I am worried because you don't see many real he-men in ballet, and I do so want our Teddy to be a real he-man, marry some nice girl and have children. I would love to have a little granddaughter. Teddy is our only child and I was so disappointed when he was not a girl. I wept for a week.

Should I discourage his taking ballet, or do you think it's too late?

TEDDY'S MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: First, you ought to find a psychiatrist with two couches. One for you and one for Teddy. The doctor can tell you if it's "too late," and if so why. Environment plays a very important role in shaping a child's destiny. Many a mother's "dream" of having a "little girl" has created a nightmare for the unlucky boy she bore instead.

DEAR ABBY: Why is it that when young married couples want to go some place, they just shove their kids off on their parents? They never seem to care if we have plans of our own. We wouldn't mind in case of emergency, but usually it's just to get rid of their kids for a while.

Toys Needed

FILER — The American Legion Auxiliary, assisted by other organizations in the area, each year has distributed Christmas baskets of food to needy families.

The last several years, the Filer Civic Club has held a drive for good repairable toys which the club has repaired and repainted and put into the baskets for children of the families.

The toy drive is now under way and those having toys to donate, are asked to contact Mrs. Don Lierman or Mrs. Donald Lowder, both Filer.

Social Events

Star Social Club will meet at 12:30 p.m. Monday for a potluck dinner with Mrs. W. R. Chase, west of Twin Falls. Those attending are asked to bring a Christmas gift and their own table service.

HANSEN — Members of the Latawah Club will meet at the home of Mrs. Grant Carlson, for a 1 p.m. Christmas party and dinner Tuesday. The scheduled place of meeting was changed from the Clarence Hollifield home to the Carlson home.

Canton Colfax No. 13 and Ladies Auxiliary of the Episcopalian Church will meet at 6:30 p.m. Monday at the Twin Falls Odd Fellows Temple for a potluck dinner honoring Mrs. Fern Porter, president of the Department Association, L.A.P.M., when she makes her official visit, and Mrs. Pauline Howerton, reviewing officer. A business meeting will be held after the dinner.

The Sagebrush Swingers, sponsored by the Fourth of July Club, will play for an old-time round dance at 8:30 p.m. Saturday at the Twin Falls Moose Hall. The public is welcome.

Shower Held

RICHFIELD — Mrs. Robert Faddis and infant daughter, Annesa Marie, were honored at a shower at the home of Mrs. Peter Appell. Mrs. Louis White-seal was co-hostess.

Game prizes were won by Mrs. David Whitesell, Mrs. Eva Sorenson and Mrs. Carl Robinson. Sandra Kelly, University of Idaho student, attended from out-of-town.

Gifts were sent to the Boise home of Mr. and Mrs. Faddis. The baby girl was born Thanksgiving Day at St. Luke's Hospital, Boise. Mrs. Faddis is the former Elaine Davis, Richfield.

Denise Krogh, Froeming Plan August Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Valdemar N. Krogh announced the engagement of their daughter, Denise Valerie, to Dennis Karl Froeming at a party at their Santa Clara, Calif., home. Mr. Froeming is the son of Karl A. Froeming, Lewiston.

Miss Krogh is a graduate of Santa Clara High School and is attending San Jose State College, San Jose, Calif.

Mr. Froeming was graduated from Lewiston High School. He is a 1964 graduate of the University of Idaho, with a B.S. degree in forestry, and is employed by the U. S. Soil Conservation Service, Twin Falls.

An August wedding is planned.

Charm School Class Slated

The next Charm School class, sponsored by Camp Fire Girls and the Junior Club, will meet Saturday at the Idaho Power Auditorium at 1:30 p.m.

The subject will be clothes and modeling and will be conducted by Mrs. Richard Reed, Mrs. Robert Musser and Mrs. Robert Latham.

Final plans will be made for the concluding tea to be held Dec. 9 at the Methodist Church Fireplace Room. There will be exhibits explaining the work accomplished in the classes, fashion modeling of clothes provided courtesy of Paris Jr. Shop, and musical entertainment. Mothers of students will be special guests.

Mrs. Nicholson is Speaker For Women's Club

FILER — "Nothing has been able to stop men or women, who have a fling for it, from writing books, regardless of the toll, sleepless nights, and nerve-wracking moments they do experience," stated Mrs. T. S. Nicholson when she spoke to members of the Filer Women's Club on "The Dilemmas of an Author."

Mrs. Nicholson told some of the events in the career of Paul Molloy, a popular columnist whose writings appear daily in the Chicago Sun-Times. Winner of the National Headliner Award and the George Washington Honor Medal, he has spent nearly 20 years as a newspaperman and has written the best-seller book, "And Then There Were Eight."

"It is said that a good inspiring thought put into a book is stronger than a statue carved in marble, and a book is the noblest invention conceived by the human mind," said Mrs. Nicholson, adding that most of the books written by the best authors live on through the ages and become masterpieces.

In honor of National Art Week in November, Mrs. Nicholson also exhibited a number of oil paintings. Musical selections during the program hour were presented by Yvonne Lutz and Pamela Meyer.

Mrs. Ellis Coates and Mrs. E. A. Beem are members of the tea committee.

EVERY CITY NEEDS A QUALITY DRY CLEANER. THEY'RE HARD TO FIND. TRY US. WE BELIEVE WE FILL THAT ROLE HERE.

Do you have funny ideas about dry-cleaning? The public knows little about the business. That's why superior cleaners are hard to find. When the public knows a little about your business, you don't have to be very professional. We like to be "professional" and we believe we deserve the business of particular people.

Most women believe their clothes are tossed with the apparel (perhaps very dirty) of other people, into one big vat of fluid for cleaning.

The quality cleaner would no more do that than fly. A workman's overalls or a boy's dirt-caked jeans never get within speaking distance of your nice dress in our plant.

Clothes are carefully marked for identification, and then they are sorted — according to type and how soiled they are. If you have several nice garments, they are enclosed in a mesh bag together — with no one else's clothes. Then, with similar bags of nice things they are given their dry-cleaning, in constantly filtered and renewed fluid.

The overalls and jeans hobnob only with their own kind. Ditto your dress or jacket or capris.

Modern dry cleaning in a good plant is a matter of great personal skill and devotion to high standards, combined with mechanical and electrical controls that were unknown a generation ago. We combine conscience with "dials" and controls. It's necessary.

IF EQUIPMENT, PROCESSES, KNOWHOW, and CONSCIENTIOUS WORKERS make a quality dry cleaner, we're it. Try us now today — for SUPERIOR CLEANING — at NO EXTRA COST.

Governor to Ask Study Of Institutions

By EARLE L. JESTER
 BOISE (AP)—Gov. Don W. Samuelson agreed today to ask the National Institute of Mental Health to study Idaho's mental health needs and facilities and recommend a course of action.

The institute's report may be the basis for a decision whether any of the present institutions should be abandoned.

There have been suggestions that work now performed at the two hospitals, at Orpin and Blackfoot, might be consolidated in one, with the other available for other uses.

An aide said Samuelson's request will ask that the study begin as soon as possible after Jan. 1 and be completed by July 1.

Dr. Myrick W. Pullen Jr., state mental health director who met with the governor, said such a study usually takes from six weeks to three months.

Also meeting with the governor were Lon Davis of Nampa, chairman of the Idaho Mental Health Advisory Council, and Fred G. Humphreys of Boise, a member of the State Board of Health.

Dr. Pullen said the survey is needed because of developments in treating mental patients.

Idaho Road Safety Plan Is Outlined

BOISE (AP)—A proposal for a $162.7 million 10-year highway safety program in Idaho was outlined Thursday by the governor's new Traffic Safety Commission.

Commission Executive Secretary David J. Dehlin listed projects which would have to be undertaken by Idaho in order to obtain its full share of federal highway aid funds.

Among them were the new motor vehicle inspection program which begins Jan. 1, motorcycle safety regulations and a system of identification of high accident rate locations.

Suggestions for reducing the state's rising traffic death toll were asked by Gov. Don W. Samuelson in brief remarks. He said worthy ones might be put before the legislature in its special session in January.

Elderly Indian Woman Is Dead

LANDER, Wyo., (AP)—Mrs. Mignie White Antelope, believed to be the oldest Indian on the Wind River Reservation, died Wednesday night in a Lander hospital.

She was said to be 113 at the time of the battle of the Little Big Horn when Gen. George Custer's troops were wiped out. That would make Mrs. White Antelope, an Arapahoe, 104 years old at the time of her death.

WELDA, Kan. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Griffith were awakened early Wednesday by the barking of their poodle Skippy.

The couple discovered their home was on fire. They ran outside in their night clothes in 30-degree weather. But they couldn't find Skippy.

They found the dog after the fire was out—dead of smoke inhalation under a bed.

No Room

NEW YORK (AP)—Sweden's General Torso Talkoth had to pin a medal from King Gustav VI as the right shoulder of retired Metropolitan Opera star KURS Branzell Thursday. The singer left shoulder already held so many there wasn't room for another.

The medal named Madame Branzell "Eager to the Royal Court" and was supposed to have been presented by Swedish diva Birgit Nilsson. But the new Metropolitan star was snowbound in Raleigh, N.C.

"Weed" Burned

CHICAGO (AP)—Clouds of marijuana smoke billowed toward the ceiling in the basement of the U.S. Customs Service Thursday, but the agents weren't having a pot party. They were burning in an incinerator 425 pounds of the narcotic weed, worth $450,000, that was confiscated during the past three years.

1967 Crop Damage In Magic Valley Listed

The loss ratio on four insured crops in seven Magic Valley counties is 71 per cent for the 1967 crop year, according to information released by Douglas H. Bertoch, district director of Federal Crop Insurance Corp. This means that 71 per cent of the premium income is paid out in indemnities.

The four crops are barley, beans, potatoes and wheat and the seven counties are Camas, Cassia, Gooding, Jerome, Lincoln, Minidoka and Twin Falls.

Primary causes of damage were excessive heat to bean, potato and barley crops, with hail and winterkill being causes of damage to the wheat crop. In Camas County 19 farmers were paid a total of $27,062.80 for damaged wheat due to hail. With secondary causes being winterkill and snow mold. Eleven Cassia County farmers were paid a total of $22,634 for wheat damaged by winterkill and secondary by hail; four Cassia County farmers were paid a total of $1,184 for barley damaged by excessive heat and hail; three Cassia County farmers were paid an estimated $3,852 for beans, damaged by excessive heat and one for halo blight; five Cassia County potato farmers were paid an estimated $14,047 for insured crops damaged by excessive heat and water rot.

Five Gooding County farmers received a total of $430 for losses of wheat due to excessive heat and wind; two barley farmers were paid a total of $738 and one barley farmer was paid $945 for damages due to hail.

One Minidoka County farmer was paid $318 for excessive heat damage to wheat and one barley farmer was paid $31.25 for damage also due to excessive heat; a total of $2,678 was paid to seven bean farmers in Minidoka County, all but two due to excessive heat damage and those two to halo blight, and seven potato farmers were paid a total of $18,509 for damages due to excessive heat and early die.

In Twin Falls County, six wheat farmers were paid a total of $1,452 for damages due to excessive heat. An estimated total of $21,324 will be paid to 25 bean farmers for damages due to excessive heat, with one case of wireworm damage. One Twin Falls County farmer will receive an estimated payment of $1,700 for damages to potatoes due to excessive heat.

Mr. Bertoch stated that losses have been minimal for the 1967 crop year compared to the losses in other years for the prior three crop years, when heavy losses occurred due to frost and freeze. This year the harvest season was long and in most counties frost-free.

Federal Crop Insurance fieldmen are now in the process of completing loss claims. The spring sales campaign will start after the first of January. For further information, interested farmers may contact personnel at the Twin Falls district office at 628 Blue Lakes Blvd. N., Twin Falls, or call 733-8449.

One wheat claim was paid to Jerome County for $156 due to excessive heat; 11 bean farmers received a total of $9,317 for damage caused by excessive heat, one halo blight and one rot. There were no claims on barley in Jerome County this year.

In Lincoln County, two wheat farmers were paid a total of $738 and one barley farmer was paid $945 for damages due to hail.

One Minidoka County farmer was paid $318 for excessive heat damage to wheat and one barley farmer was paid $31.25 for damage also due to excessive heat; a total of $2,678 was paid to seven bean farmers in Minidoka County, all but two due to excessive heat damage and those two to halo blight, and seven potato farmers were paid a total of $18,509 for damages due to excessive heat and early die.

In Twin Falls County, six wheat farmers were paid a total of $1,452 for damages due to excessive heat. An estimated total of $21,324 will be paid to 25 bean farmers for damages due to excessive heat, with one case of wireworm damage. Farm Labor Costs May Soon Drop

By OVID A. MARTIN
AP Farm Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—Shrinkage in labor as an item of farm cost is such that within three years it may fall below taxes and the cost of fertilizer in dollar outlay.

Looking to the year ahead, the Agriculture Department said because of an expected continuing tight labor supply and rising wages, farmers will continue to substitute labor-saving methods and machines for manual labor.

Hired farm labor used this year was said to have averaged 1,260,000 workers, down 100,000 from last year. This was a decline of 50 per cent since 1950.

Hourly wages earned by farm workers this year was put at $1.11 compared with $1.03 last year, 82 cents in 1960 and 58 cents in 1950.

U.S. Farm Situation Explained By Speaker

By ROBERT VANAUDELN
Times-News Farm Editor
"The farmer is getting the short end of the stick!"

This statement was made a few days ago by David W. Angevine, administrator of the Farmer Cooperative Service, USDA, Washington, D. C., to the Idaho Cooperative Council.

This statement also was made recently according to Mr. Angevine, by President Johnson during a White House conference. At this conference President Johnson issued a challenge to the American farmers to get them to work together so efficient producers can make adequate living.

Mr. Angevine said the Administration has received several proposals on what to do about the farm situation and is willing to take these proposals and sell them to the public as well as to those on Capitol Hill.

There are two courses the American farmer can take, Mr. Angevine stated.

The first course of action to take is legislation by (1) having Congress create a board to fix quotas to achieve fair market price, (2) extend the marketing orders and agreements and (3) have legislation to certify an organization as an authorized bargaining representative.

The second course of action that can be taken is that farmers work together and use cooperatives more effectively.

Mr. Angevine said the purposes of the state councils and Farmer Cooperative Service is to help farmers get better prices, help reduce cooperative expenses, help farmers increase economic power, help cooperatives serve member's needs and to help people of the state to appreciate the aims and accomplishments of rural cooperatives.

"The progress or decline of cooperative marketing is one way to measure cooperative achievement in Idaho," Mr. Angevine told the council. He added that "most farmers do not really appreciate the potential of cooperatives working together."

"Cooperatives can assure farmers continued control of each segment of agriculture if enough farmers will work together. Working together probably means contracts, pools, agreements of joint use of purchased equipment, etc."

"Presently many cooperatives in Idaho are doing very well because farmers are working together, but in some areas there are not enough of them working together."

"About six per cent of the U.S. population are farm people and one-sixth of these are members of cooperatives."

Mr. Angevine concluded that "The key to successful cooperatives is 'Are farmers willing to work together?'"

SOME OF THE trophies that will be awarded Dec. 8 and 9 during the annual Intermountain Quarter Horse Association convention in Twin Falls are inspected by the convention committee. From left, Clyde Smith and Beverly Smith, from left, are preparing more than 80 trophies earned by the high point performing horses of the past season. The saddle will be awarded the outstanding junior showman of the region. Awards for the Idaho Quarter Horse Breeders Association also will be presented.

Sen. Mary Brooks Questions Rice Council's National Advertising Drive

RUPERT—Sen. Mary Brooks, chairman of the Agricultural and Livestock Committee of the Idaho State Senate, said today that she felt a national advertising campaign by the Rice Council of America should be investigated by the Federal Trade Commission. "This advertising is unfair to the potato industry and both deceptive and misleading from the consumer point of view," she said.

Sen. Brooks says the "thrust of the Rice Council's advertising is that rice makes you slim and potatoes make you fat." In their advertising, the Rice Council advocates using "gobs of gravy" or burying the rice in butter, and forget about the calories, she said. "Then they ask 'Did you ever see a fat Chinese?'"

Although an obese Chinese may be a rarity in food-short China today, in happier times this was not true, she said. "No one ever confused Charlie Chan with the Thin Man!"

"If the Rice Council's advertising copywriter believes that 'gobs of gravy' on rice is less fattening than on potatoes," Senator Brooks says, "he should consult his calorie counter, or better yet his personal physician. The United States Department of Agriculture publication, 'Nutritive Value of Foods' reports that a baked potato weighing 99 grams contains 90 calories, while a cup of cooked rice weighing 168 grams has 185 calories.

"In other words, there is a little less than one calorie per gram in potatoes and a little more than one calorie per gram in rice. The report says both potatoes and rice contain only a "trace of fat." Obviously, the calorie count in butter or 'gobs of gravy' remains constant, whether applied to rice or potatoes."

"The potato industry is a highly important segment of Idaho agriculture. Idaho leads the nation with potato production having produced over 70 million hundredweight in 1966. The total cash receipt for this production was $112,843,000 or 20.8 per cent of the total cash received for farm products in the state. In 1966, the average price received for Idaho potatoes on the National Market was $2.05 per hundredweight. At the present time, the national average is only $1.72.

"With this depressed price, about the last thing Idaho potato growers need now is an advertising campaign designed to scare the consumer away from this highly nutritious and delicious food."

The Idaho Senator also points out that since subsidy payments are made to the rice growers, they can afford to finance an extensive promotional campaign. "Potato industry people feel strongly about this, as potatoes are a nonsubsidized crop, and thus the United States Government is indirectly assisting the rice growers in their attack on the potato industry."

"With these facts in mind, I firmly believe that the Federal Trade Commission should investigate the current advertising campaign being conducted by the Rice Council," Sen. Brooks concluded.

Conservation Election Set For Dec. 5

SHOSHONE—Wood River Soil and Water Conservation district will hold an election Dec. 5 to select two members to the district board of supervisors.

Polling place will be at the district office in Shoshone from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Eligible voters are farmers and ranchers and their wives who are district co-operators.

For this election, voters need not register, and if they are co-operators who own or rent land in Lincoln County, but live in communities outside the county, they and their wives are eligible to vote.

Terms of Wendell Johnson and Martin Jauregui expire this year.

To date, Wendell Johnson, Martin Jauregui, Floyd Kisting and Waldo Faught have been nominated. Space will be provided on the ballot for write-in candidates names.

The election is non-political in nature. Judges will be Mont Johnson, Mrs. Paul Bancroft, Mrs. Robert Gaskill and Mrs. Lawrence Tew.

Officers Named

BOISE—New officers of the Idaho Woolgrowers Association were named during closing sessions of the state convention here.

Elected were Walter E. Little, New Plymouth, president, and R. J. Rich, Burley, vice president.

Future Farms?

DETROIT—Ford Motor Co. U.S. tractor and implement operations has made a study and come up with a prediction of what's in store for farmers in the year 2000.

Some of the predictions: Cows will have 1,000 offspring... tractors will run by remote control... corn plants will be squat trees... cows will live in high-rise barns where environment is controlled... huge plastic domes will cover crops which will be grown under computer-controlled environment.

"The heart of the farmer's operation will be a control center equipped with a wide array of electronic wizardry to help him produce crops two to five times as abundant as today's," the report states.

Production of Dry Beans Better Than Anticipated

BOISE—Production of commercial dry beans in Idaho is now expected to total 1,620,000 hundredweight (clean basis), according to the USDA Crop Reporting Service for Idaho.

This is up 54,000 hundredweight (three per cent) from the October forecast as final yields were better than anticipated earlier.

Output at this level is 21 per cent below last year's total and nine per cent below the 1961-65 average. Yield per acre, at 1,800 pounds, is up 40 pounds from last year, and only four pounds below average.

Meet Set

MOSCOW—The third annual Tri-State Dry Pea and Lentil meeting to be held here Monday will feature a number of reports of interest to growers and dealers in the two pulses, the sponsors said today.

The meeting will start at 10 a.m. in the Student Union Building on the University of Idaho campus. Sponsoring the meeting are the Pacific Northwest Pea Growers and Dealers Association, the Washington Association of Dry Pea and Lentil Producers and the Idaho Pea and Lentil Producers Association.

Farmers Are Urged To Check Grain

HAILEY—Blaine county farmers are urged by Carl Schoessler, chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation county committee, to check on the condition of any grain they have stored on their farms under Commodity Credit Corp. loans.

Mr. Schoessler said fewer inspections are now made by the ASCS county office than formerly. He reminded that final returns will be based on the condition of the grain when the loan is paid off or the grain is delivered in payment of the loan.

He said where grain is found to be deteriorating the farmer should notify the county office immediately so arrangements can be made to move it and minimize the loss to the farmer.

Mr. Schoessler said farmers in the county had placed some 67,258 bushels of wheat, barley, and oats under loan this year as of Nov. 1, which is a larger amount than last year.

Castleford Youth's Skill On Tractor Lauded At Meet

CASTLEFORD—Dennis Conrad, 18, Route 1, Castleford, was recognized as the outstanding 4-H tractor member from the state of Idaho this past week at a "honor banquet" during the 48th annual 4-H Congress in Chicago.

Dennis, who had participated in the 4-H Tractor program for four years, received a special plaque from the newly-elected Miss Teenage America, Stephanie Ann Crane, St. Louis, Mo. His educational trip to the Congress was the gift of the American Oil Foundation, which supports the tractor program of the Cooperative Extension Service in 40 states through the National 4-H Service Committee, Inc.

A club member for eight years, Dennis belongs to the Valve Lifters Club, which his father, Charles, serves as a local leader.

Now a senior at Castleford High School, Dennis is an all-round athlete, having participated in football, basketball, wrestling and track. He's also had time to play in the pep band, serve as president of his church youth group and as a Junior Scoutmaster.

At the banquet, the American Oil Foundation received the highest award of the Federal Extension Service, the 4-H Crested Clover; for its long-time support of 4-H educational programs. Dr. Lloyd Davis, administrator of the Federal Extension Service, Washington, D.C., presented the special citation to L. W. Moore, Foundation president.

Farm, City Week Noted By Grangers

WENDELL—"Farm and City" week was observed by Wendell Grange No. 82, at the Grange hall.

Henry Schmidt, Grange Master, welcomed the members and their guests, and explained the purpose of Farm and City week.

Mrs. Ivan Miller, lecturer, lighted the centennial candle and Mrs. Kirk Hays gave the prayer of Thanksgiving.

A colored film strip, "Providers of Plenty," was shown by Edward Koester; Gooding County Agent. Mrs. Arthur Byce read a poem, and C. T. Crow read a humorous article.

The candlelighting service was conducted by Mrs. Ray Ruby, Mrs. Delbert Wilcox and Mrs. Richard Jasper. Mrs. Clifford Brown, Hagerman, played several accordion solos.

Mrs. Kirk Hays, 1967 lecturer, was presented with a blue ribbon citation from National Grange for her program of "Operation Forward" by Mrs. Ruby.

Music for dancing was provided by Mrs. Brown. Prior to the program, a Potluck dinner was served to more than 50 members and guests.

Gem Wheat Growers Unit Plans Meeting

BOISE—Idaho State Wheat Growers Association President Ellis Odberg, Genesee, listed Idaho's problem-plagued freight rate situation as one of the major issues to come before growers at their annual State Convention in Boise, Dec. 7-8.

In urging all the state's wheat producers to attend the conference, Odberg promised an in-depth review of the present transportation picture and proposals for new courses of action to seek long-awaited solutions at the Boise meeting.

"We plan to attack this transportation issue from all angles this year," Odberg said, "and we are looking for producer's agreement of several new courses of action to come from this convention."

Odberg said featured speakers on transportation problems will be Charles Cortella, traffic manager of California Milling in Los Angeles, and Robert L. Henry, Boise, Idaho Transportation Council administrator.

He also said Rexburg wheat grower Dick Smith will speak on Idaho's freight rate position from the grower's standpoint.

Filer Grange Donates For Yule Project

FILER—Filer Grange members have voted to donate cash to the American Legion and Auxiliary Christmas project of taking baskets of food and toys to needy families in the area.

Plans were made to order dessert cook books compiled from recipes of Grange members throughout the nation and to sell the books. The Grange will serve the 4-H Clubs awards banquet Dec. 8.

Loren Drake gave reports on farm situations and told of hearing Con. George Hansen and State Rep. William Roberts speak. Ted Glassinger showed a film "Three for the Future," which deals with chemical controls on agriculture, dyes and medicines.

Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Pettin-gill served refreshments.

New 4-H Club Formed In T.F.

A new Twin Falls 4-H club has been formed—The Merry Measures.

Leader of the new club is Mrs. A. F. Nelson. Officers include Mary Nelson, president; Cathy Musser, vice president; Kerrie Turner, secretary-treasurer; Susan Herzinger, recreation and roll call; Sheila Burton, reporter.

The club's first project is handy handsewing.

Cedar Draw Grange Fetes Ex-Members

BUHL—Former members of the Cedar Draw grange were honored during a meeting held recently with Master T. R. Hicks in charge.

They included Mr. and Mrs. Merle Ewing, Vale, Ore., and Mrs. Sena Wraga, of the Bryant Grange, Arlington, Wash. Mrs. Wraga is the mother of Mrs. Lee Matthews.

Mrs. Wraga talked on her trip to Syracuse, N. Y., to attend the National Grange meeting. She accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Lee Matthews, but returned to Buhl several days before they did.

Mrs. Ted Hicks, past lecturer, was presented with two awards from the state and national grange for her work last year.

The group discussed plans for a square dance and set Dec. 16 as the date for the annual Christmas party.

Members went to the airport to welcome home Mr. and Mrs. Lee Matthews, who arrived home from the national meeting in New York. Mrs. Bud McNealy read an article taken from the New York Times on an interview with Mrs. Matthews after she had placed second in the national judging for her entry in the class A division.

Mrs. Matthews told of her prize, a five-day expense paid trip to New York City and a plane trip to Anderson and Lyman, S. C., to see the cotton mills of Lowenstein and Sons Co. She also thanked the grange for the orchid sent to her for the final judging.

Report Given To Grangers

TUTTLE—Reports of recent sessions of the National Grange at Syracuse, N.Y., and State Grange at Idaho Falls were given at a meeting of the Gooding County Grangers at the Tuttle Grange Hall.

The reports were given by Mr. and Mrs. Ira Kistler and Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Bumgarner, all Gooding, on the National Grange and Barbara Butler, Bliss Grange; Ben Glauner, Gooding Grange; Mrs. Ray Ruby and Mrs. Ivan Miller, both of the Wendell Grange; on the state Grange.

Certificates and checks were given to winners in the state and national contests, both individuals and Granges by Mrs. Kistler, home economics chairman for last year, and by Mrs. Ruby, Pomona lecturer.

Mrs. Kistler said the home economics chairman would be known as Director of Women's Activities, as decided by the National Grange.

A literary program was presented and a triple trio from Hagerman High School sang. A film was shown by Ed Koester, Gooding county agent.

PRODUCTION TO RISE
DETROIT—A report made by Ford Motor Co. tractor division stated that by the year 2000, milk production per cow will be some 30,000 pounds. It also stated that cows will have to increase their efficiency or they will be out of the milk business.

Wood River Fire District Election Set

SHOSHONE—Members of Wood River Center Grange granted use of their building to the Wood River Fire District for their Dec. 4 election. R. B. Kelley and Kenneth Coulter will be up for re-election.

During the Grange business meeting Gene Guthrie reported on the state meeting he attended at Idaho Falls where Sen. Frank Church and Gov. Don Samuelson spoke.

Books on history of the Idaho State Grange were distributed by Guthrie to Mrs. Ada Sandy and Mrs. Donald Sandy.

A discussion was held on the state police car non-markings, some opposition voiced to this action.

For the program Mrs. Waldo Jones gave a reading, S. M. Hall gave the "Song of the Lazy Farmer," and a skit was presented by Dale Eden, Waldo Jones and Mrs. Clifford Stutzman.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Eden were given their obligation. Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Hall served refreshments.

Rail Rate Increase Is Predicted

BOISE—Idaho Transportation Council administrator Robert L. Henry, Boise, said at a meeting of the Idaho Wheat Commission in Boise that he is predicting another sizable increase in the rail rate next year.

He told the commission that he expects initial action on such an increase well before the start of the 1968 harvest season. He indicated the rate hike will be proposed to offset declining rail income and rising operating costs.

Henry also reviewed neighboring Montana's freight rate problems and said that because growers there are further out of position in shipping costs than Idaho producers, even a sizable cut would have little effect on local charges.

Reviewing other wheat business, the Idaho Commission elected to co-sponsor the compilation of up-dated statistics on wheat production in Idaho by varieties. Commission chairman Ward Meadows, American Falls, said this new study, which is proposed by officials of the USDA's Statistical Reporting Service, would contain figures on the 1968 wheat production but content depends upon dedication of matching funds from co-sponsors.

Meadows and commission member Gwinn Rice, Hill City, represented Idaho Wheat Commission at a recent Wheat Utilization and Research Conference at Fargo, N.D., and reported a growing need to promote increased wheat products consumption in domestic markets.

MUD and SNOW TIRES

These studs inserted into the regular Country Squire Tire Tread by your Cooperative give ice-biting traction.

The stud maintains excellent retention in the tire and stability in the tread. Proper gripping remains through most of the tire life because the slow wear rate of the tungsten carbide steel corresponds to the slow wear rate of the Country Squire tread rubber. Years of testing in The United States and Finland have shown that traction is increased by 180% and stopping traction by 70%.

The Country Squire Tire offers 10 plus benefits for gripping "go" power in mud and snow, great tire strength and happier winter motoring.

Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Ruby, Hill City, are having a 20 by 60 foot prefabricated home built on the site where they previously resided in a trailer home. They will keep a small herd of the family cattle to feed on the prairie. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Ruby, will move most of the cattle to Wendell where they will feed them during the winter. Good fall weather has prolonged the pasture season on the prairie this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Gwin Rice, Hill City, are building an addition to their farm shop. The shop and another metal building are being joined to make one unit.

Mr. and Mrs. Mir Funkhouser and family have moved from the Melvin Fletcher farm to the former E. F. Wilson farm south of Fairfield.

Dwight Osborne, Fairfield, and Arlin Ashmead, Corral, were among the farmers attending the Farm Bureau convention in Pocatello.

Mr. and Mrs. Rex Ward and family, Malta, have moved into their new ranch home. Their former home was destroyed by fire in late September. Since then they have been living at the Sunset Motel in Malta owned by Mrs. Ward's brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Wither Parke.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Chandler, Elba, trucked some cattle to the Valley Livestock Sale in Rupert on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Chandler have purchased a new Hereford Herd Bull from the registered herd of Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Ward, Elba.

A coyote caller has proved a boon to coyote hunters in the Marley area of Richfield. One big coyote, blamed for killing several sheep, trotted right out to be shot when some hunters used the caller.

Cornfields are being harvested in North Shoshone. Work has been going on the past two weeks with Ervin Braun and Eldon Braun running the harvest machine. Work has been done on an average from six to 17 acres, at the Ervin Braun, George Tschannen, S. M. Hall, Waldo Jones, Elmer Jones, Tony Palacio and Cal Bateman farms.

Waldo and Elmer Jones, north Shoshone, finished their potato harvest this week, and, as has been the custom the past few years, used a group of Indians from the Duck Valley reservation for the harvest work. The reservation is near Mountain Home.

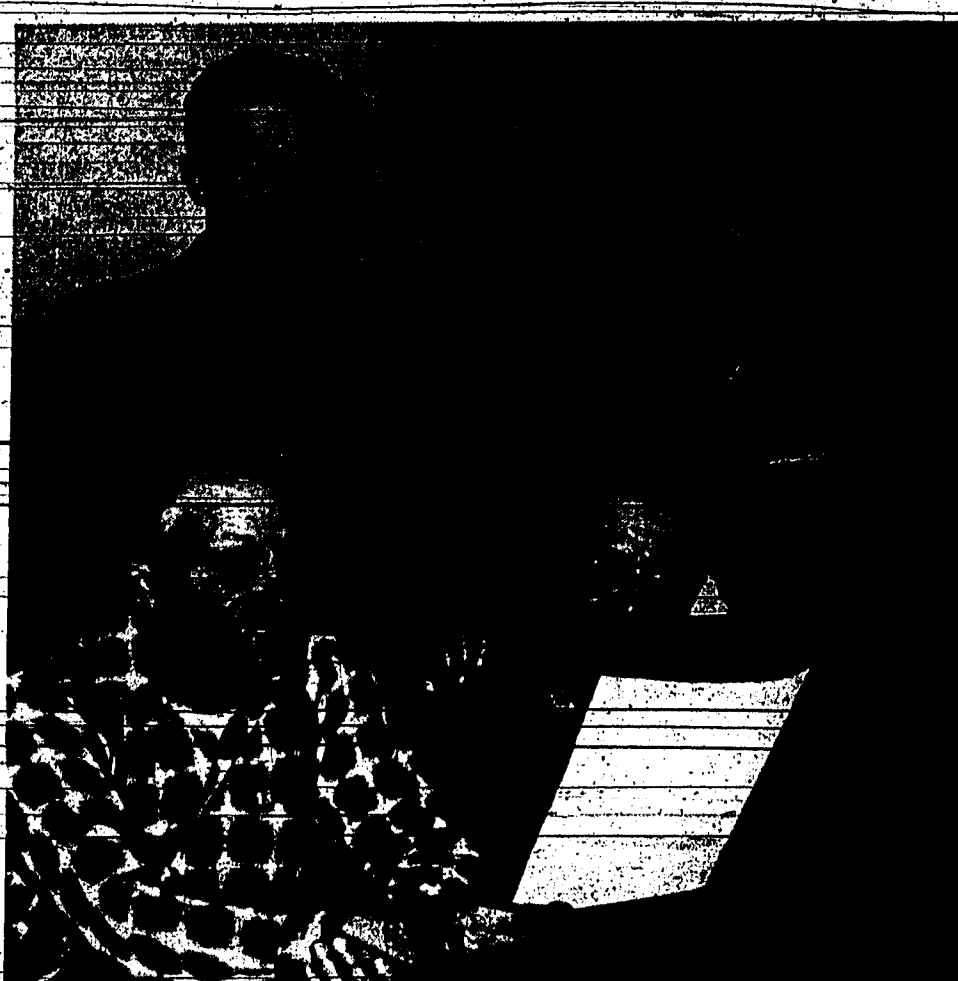

Reseal Plan For '67 Crop Grains Listed

The Department of Agriculture has announced a reseal (loan extension) program for major 1967 crop grains in commercial storage as well as on farms, according to Carl Boyd, chairman of the Twin Falls County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

Available before the respective crop loans mature in the spring and summer of 1968. The "commercial" reseal program will be available in all areas and the "on-farm" reseal program will be available where the TSC state committee determines that the crop can be safely stored on the farm.

The four were elected recently for four-year terms.

Cattle Feeders Group Sends Protest Letter To Johnson

BOISE — The Idaho Cattle Feeders Association, recently safeguarded their draft cards and sent a letter of protest to President Johnson that he would veto not riot in the streets or any legislation that altered present stage demonstrations in public buildings. It will take more pounds of beef than ever before to purchase a car or truck in the coming year.

"All of this while we suffer 1947 prices and the effects of a wildly varying amount of beef imports even as we attempt to stabilize our production under the American National Cattleman's Development Program.

University of Idaho, Moscow — Tips on feeding and continues to compound one more managing dairy herds will be economic tragedy upon our in offered at December meetings industry by its stand against any in 14 counties of Southern Idaho, further import quota changes. George Cleveland, dairy specialist, "Imports have forced the list of the University of Idaho price of cows to such a low extension service, announced to point that many women are day. He said operators of dairy keeping these critics at home. enterprises of all sizes are in. These holdbacks will produce another calf while the rancher awaits a more equitable market and this will add to an overburdening supply of beef! Such a policy can only brew an even more serious depression of parity.

The dates are: Dec. 4, Driggs and St. Anthony; Dec. 5, Rexburg and Rigby; Dec. 6, Pocatello and American Falls, with the Aberdeen area of Bingham county included in the American Falls meeting; Dec. 7, Montpelier and Grace; Dec. 8, Preston and Malad; Dec. 11, Idaho Falls and Blackfoot, and Dec. 12, Burley, for Cassia and Minidoka Counties. County agents are making local arrangements at each place. Richard Ross, head of the dairy department at the University of Idaho, will discuss feeding the high producing cow. Dave Thacker, dairy scientist at the Caldwell Branch Experiment Station, will present information on calf raising. He will also discuss corn silage feeding. Dr. Richard Hall, extension veterinarian, will give suggestions on control of animal diseases. Joe Hall, manager of the Idaho Dairyman's Association, will discuss imitation products confronting the dairy industry. Cleveland's topic is development of a modern dairy breeding program with emphasis on herd sires.

waived over the head of import quota changes is a most effective instrument, but where is it when government employees and well organized industrial workers obtain annual pay increases that reflect in ever higher basic prices?

"Only certain minority segments of the economy are subjected to cheap foreign competition that is not forced to pay our staggering tax bill. Why do you discriminate against us?" "Young men are not coming into the cattle business. As we get older, we must work even harder and longer hours to meet our same basic needs. The old men have about had it, Mr. President. Those areas of our economy dependent upon the cattleman are rapidly learning this the hard way.

"A realistic import quota program, with monthly or quarterly quotas, as proposed by the American National Cattleman's Association will go a long way towards averting this tragedy.

"We urge your positive consideration of this appeal. We seek only our fair share of the American prosperity which we have rightfully earned. We are too proud of our country and ourselves to burn our draft cards or riot in the streets, but we might very well die in poverty on your doorstep."

Jerome Farm Bureau Names New Officers

JEROME — William E. McCoy was re-elected president of the Jerome Farm Bureau during the group's annual reorganization meeting.

Other officers are Gordon Hollifield, vice president; Mrs. Herman Stammerloh, secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. Arnold Werner, county women's chairman. They will take office on Jan. 1.

McCoy reviewed the Multi-County Service agreement with Jerome, Gooding, Lincoln, Blaine and Camas counties. Each county will have a representative on the multi-county office committee with the Jerome County Farm Bureau president as chairman.

The Jerome office will serve as the center of the Multi-county area, performing services to the counties as agreed by the committee and according to the service agreement. Mrs. Dan Suhr, county women's chairman, reported that the food booth at the Jerome County and District Fair was very successful and thanked all who helped.

She announced that Bob Ohlenschien, Jerome, was the district III winner of the Farm Bureau talk meet and would be a contestant at the State convention in Pocatello, Nov. 14-17. Walter Shouse, Hazelton, will be nominated by Jerome county voting delegates to the state convention, for state director from district III.

Shouse is past president in both Twin Falls and Jerome counties, and is presently State and National Affairs chairman for Jerome County. He also served on various other committees of Farm Bureau. Two delegates and two alternates to the state convention were elected.

They are Dean Weatherwax and Bill McCoy, delegates, and Gordon Hollifield and Dan Suhr, alternates. Mrs. Dan Suhr and Mrs. Bill McCoy will serve as Women's delegates, with Mrs. Weather-

Weather Affects Winter Wheat

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U. S. Weather Bureau reports that continued dry weather over much of the great plains, the southwest and southeast is adversely affecting the fall-sown winter wheat crop. "Wheat continued to develop slowly in western Kansas, parts of Colorado, New Mexico and Texas because of dry soils," said the bureau's weekly weather and crop bulletin.

Dodgers Trade Johnson, Reds Swap Ellis In Baseball Mart

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The Chicago Cubs grabbed Lou Johnson from the Los Angeles Dodgers to fill their right field gap and the busy Cincinnati Reds shipped pitcher Sammy Ellis to the California Angels in their fifth swap of the winter Thursday as trading continued at the baseball winter meetings.

Johnson, the 34-year-old well-traveled veteran who was the star of the Dodgers' pennant victory in 1965, was counted upon by Manager Leo Durocher to do the job that required 11 different right fielders last season.

In return for Johnson, who hit .270, 11 homers and drove in 41 runs last season despite ankle and knee injuries, the Dodgers acquired infielder Paul Popovich and minor league outfielder Jim Williams.

Ellis, a bullpen grad who became a 22-game winner in 1965 but lapsed to 8-11 last season, was sent to the Angels in return for two young right-handed pitchers Bill Kelso, who was 5-3 with the Angels, and Jorge Rubio, 0-2 with the Angels. Both Kelso and Rubio figure to be relief men for the Reds. Ellis, 26, will be a starter for the Angels.

"We have been trying to get a starting pitcher," said Manager Billy Rigney of the Angels. "A change of leagues may be a good thing for this young man."

American Is International Bowl Champ

PARIS (AP) — Jack Connaughton of Oconomowoc, Wis., overcame a first frame split and went on to defeat Kazuo Hayashi of Japan 195-172 for the third International Masters Bowling Championship Thursday night.

Connaughton, the current American intercollegiate champion, started the title game with a dismal 3-10 split which he failed to convert.

Connaughton got five strikes and five spares in the remaining frames. Hayashi still had a chance to win until he suffered a 4-10 split in the 10th frame.

Hayashi whipped France's Rene Ferrie, 213-179 and Italy's Lina Braghiero, 242-168, to earn a shot at Connaughton.

Connaughton's victory was the second in a row for the U.S. John Wilcox of Williamsport, Pa., won the Masters in London last year.

Connaughton averages 200 for the entire tournament including the qualifying and semi-finals.

Skiers Hunt For Bamboo Poles

Businesses and individuals having useless bamboo poles are asked to donate them for use in marking hazards and trails on ski runs.

in track SKI-DOO to win the west

The amazing Super Alpine.

The people that invented snowmobiles built this one just for us. It won't bog down in Western powder — it's not afraid of mountains of snow. And, it's here now at SKI-DOO dealers throughout the West. The Super Alpine — completely redesigned for '68.

Lively new power — Super Alpine's new 370 cc Rotax engine gives you more power than ever for faster take-offs, easier hill climbing, heavier hauling. And its new 'power control' transmission automatically delivers perfect torque at every speed for smoother cruising.

Lively new performance — The Super Alpine gives instant electric starts. Easy to handle 'power link' steering. Quick, responsive braking. And the best flotation in the industry! Its weight is spread evenly on twin tracks to cover a larger snow surface — giving it the lightest footprint of any snowmobile. Unlike single track machines, Super Alpine won't bog down or dig in — no matter how deep or fluffy the snow.

Lively new looks — Super Alpine's new, chromed front bumper gives you smart looking protection. New, dual tunnelled headlamps light your way to nighttime fun. New, deep-ribbed seats bring added comfort on long safaris. A hidden storage compartment offers added convenience. And the cab is easily removed for quick servicing.

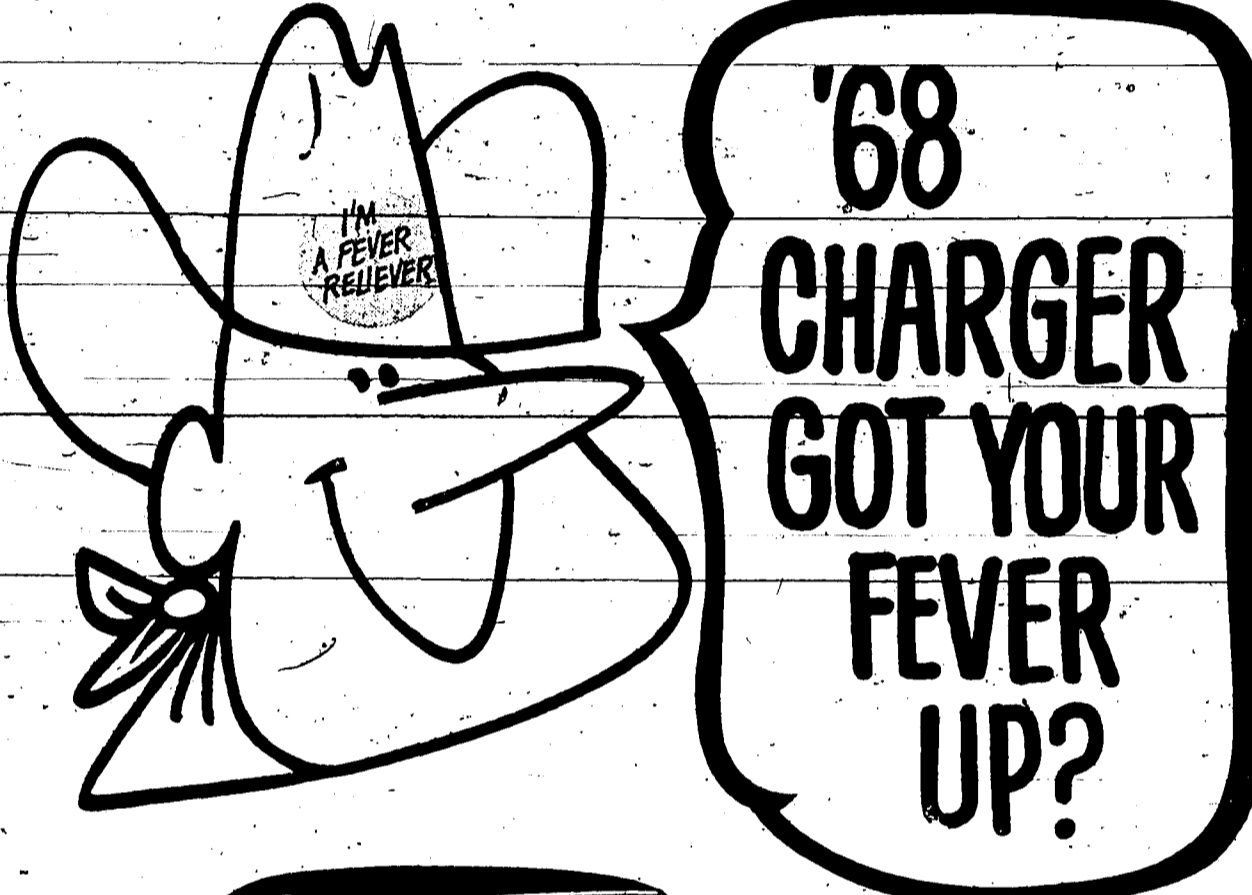

Visit your nearby SKI-DOO dealer now. And meet the 1968 Super Alpine — the liveliest riding, best performing snowmobile that ever roamed the West.

no other snowmobile can offer you more

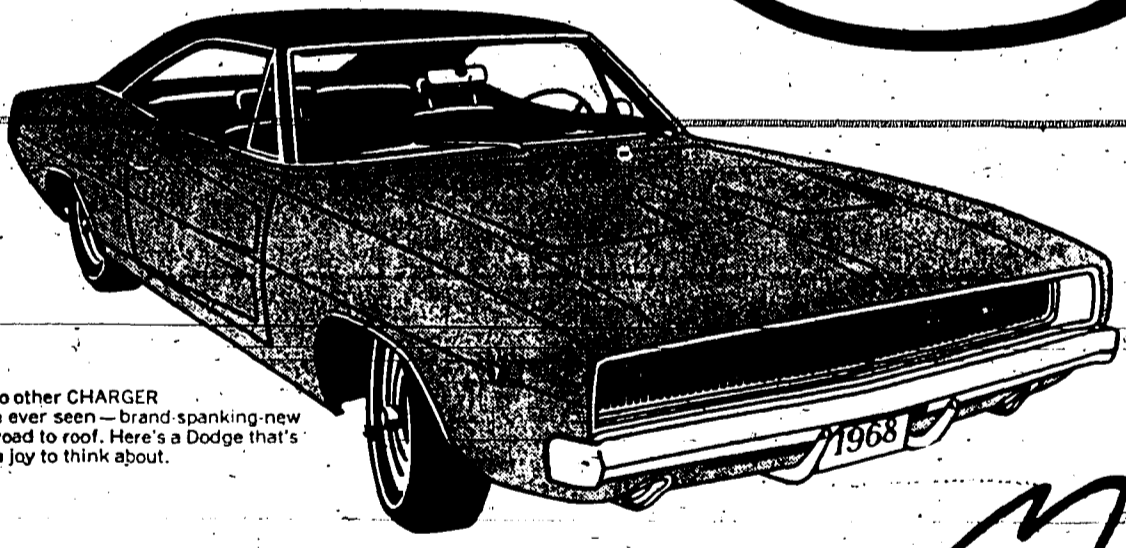

Unequaled experience. Built and backed by the world's leader, Bombardier — over 40 years experience in snowmobiles have gone into the '68 Super Alpine. Your guarantee of dependable quality year after year.

Certified service. Parts, accessories and repair service by factory trained personnel are available from qualified Bombardier dealers across North America.

Revolutionary warranty. The 1968 Super Alpine is protected by Bombardier's new, one-year parts and service warranty — the first ever offered.

PREEMPTIVE BID STIRS THINGS UP
The opening preemptive bid is designed to stir things up at the table. Sometimes it kicks right back at the man who bids it, but frequently it pays delightful dividends.

trumps, but West was ready with the jack. A fourth club was led and East was able to over-ruff dummy. Then East led another diamond, and it didn't matter whether South ruffed high or low. If he ruffed low, West would discard and make two trump tricks eventually. At this point South came up with a classic remark. He said, "My bidding wasn't that bad. I could have saved two tricks in the play and been set only 800."

Do you see how? There were two ways. One would have been to lead the king of spades at trick two. The other would have been to discard his king of clubs when the third diamond was led, instead of ruffing with the ten as he actually did.

In any event we prefer to credit East with a successful preempt and to sympathize with North and South.

What do you do now?
A—Your partner could have bid four spades directly. The fact that he made two other bids on the way indicates that he is a slam-minded. Your hand is not a slam type, but you should up with the ace and lead another diamond. East was in and played his five of clubs. West took two club tricks and led a third club for his partner to ruff.

TODAY'S QUESTION
You bid five spades and your partner bids six clubs. What do you do now?

Answer Next Issue

South could have passed over the three diamond opening, but South was not going to be shut out and we can't blame him. He didn't need to find much in the North hand to have a good shot at three spades or even more, and you can't sit around and wait for sure things.

West had his sure thing. He doubled and opened the eight of diamonds. South took the trick and tried to sneak in his singleton heart, but West went right up with the ace and led another diamond. East was in and played his five of clubs. West took two club tricks and led a third club for his partner to ruff.

East continued with the slaughter by leading a third diamond. South stuck in the ten of

ELE AND WALT DULANEY

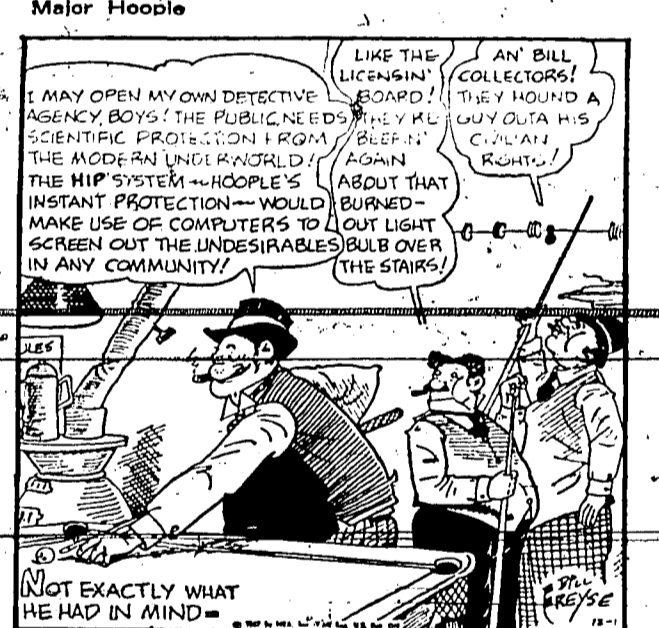

Don't Worry, You're Normal

Dear Walt: I'm 15 years old and the next he was a sophomore in high school. I've done everything possible to get him to see a doctor, but he refuses to do this. Because I go to an anti-parents-Christmas, because all boys school. I only get to his parents promised to take see girls once a day, and that's because I walk home through letter in football, and he's afraid of competition. He made me in B. E. clothes really get me promise to let him handle it going. Then to get any girl pleased, I've got it pretty sure, I have to go to the drug- store to look at Playboy, etc. I friend sometimes have to go also find myself staring at girls in mini-dresses and at girls with tight clothes that make their physical features stand out. I-psyched out right! As a friend, really get excited at times. May- Mitch's health must be your be it sounds like I am a sex maniac, but I don't think so, I really get all scared around a girl my own age. In my crowd usually I'm the only one who doesn't bring a girl to a dance or football game. I'm six feet tall, and a little overweight that helps to know. Do you think there could be something wrong with me because I get turned on so easily? - Chuck

Dear Chuck: Don't panic at your frequent reactions. They are common and normal for guys your age newly aware of the marvelous differences between the sexes. Now, do something so you can get acquainted with some real girls, not just Heffer's paper Playmates. As a first step, get your doctor's guidance to pare off those extra pounds, so you can feel in A-1 shape. Then make it your business to join coed groups (church youth group, Junior Achievement, Young Democrats or Young Republicans, etc.) where you can work side-by-side with girls, and get to know something more about them than just their dimensions. Don't pretend to be the Big Lover, just be yourself. - A 15-year-old guy trying to be friends. - Walt

WAIT A WHILE
Dear Ele and Walt: This is an answer to that girl who was adopted and wanted to trace her real parents. She ought to think a lot more about what she's doing. Sure, her parents say they will help her find her real parents, but they are only doing it because they love her. The thought that she might want to go back to her real parents must really hurt them. Believe me, I know, because almost the same incident happened with my brother (he and I are both adopted), and I know my parents were really and deeply hurt. If she wants to find her real parents, she can wait until she is on her own and then check on them without her adopted parents' help. After all, they have raised and loved her with their hearts, so really they are her "real" parents! - Another Adopted Kid
