Times-News Sports Editor Gets 1967 State Conservation Award

COEUR D'ALENE — Larry Hovey, Times-News sports editor for the past 10 years, received the Idaho conservation communicator of the year award at the Governor's Award banquet here Saturday night.

The banquet is sponsored annually by the Idaho Wildlife Federation in cooperation with the Sears Foundation. Each year the federation selects the nine individuals or groups felt to have contributed most toward preserving and perpetuating the state's wildlife and outdoor resources.

It is the fifth major award for Hovey, who has been named Idaho Sportsman of the Year on three occasions and won the National Baseball Writer's award for coverage of Class C baseball in 1963.

The conservation communicator award has been presented twice before, to Ted Trueblood, Nampa, nationally known outdoor writer, and the Boise Statesman last year.

Frank Cullen, Coeur d'Alene, a recently retired member of the Idaho Fish and Game Commission, was selected as state conservationist of the year. Cullen, invited to represent Idaho at the National Conservation Achievement program, is eligible for national conservationist of the year honors.

Other awards presented Saturday went to:

Earl McClellan, Plummer, soil conservationist of the year; Harold Fermo, Boise, water apothecian; Royce G. Cox, Lewiston, forest; Jack McNeal, Coeur d'Alene, education; Emery E. Hedlund, St. Maries, legislative; Explorer Scout Post 300, Teton Peak Council, Idaho Falls, youth, and Kootenai-La-tah-Shoshone Natural Resource Committee, conservation organization of the year.

The awards are sponsored by the state group, the National Wildlife Federation and the Sears-Roebuck Foundation. The object of the program is to honor individuals and groups for their conservation achievements. Kimball discussed the new breed of conservationist following the awards presentation.

He said it is no longer sufficient to preserve wilderness and wildlife but that conservationists must work to enhance the value of present resources.

"We're already overusing our outdoor resources in many places and population pressures will make the competition increasingly keen," he said.

Cardinal Spellman Dies At Age Of 78

NEW YORK (AP) — Francis Cardinal Spellman, who looked like a cherub but spoke with authority as senior primate of the Roman Catholic Church in the United States, died Saturday after a "massive cerebral accident." He was 78.

Cardinal Spellman experienced some "difficulty" following a surprise appearance at a charity dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel Friday night.

Members of his household discovered his illness Saturday morning. He died at 11:45 a.m., less than two hours after he was taken to St. Vincent's Hospital in Manhattan.

Cardinal Spellman was dean of American cardinals and as archbishop of New York since 1959, headed the church's richest diocese.

He was a fervent theological conservative, a militant anti-Communist, an ardent patriot, a tireless fund raiser, an efficient administrator, and a firm disciplinarian and moralist.

His annual Christmas visits to American forces around the world were legendary. On one of them, last year, his call for an "allied victory" seemed to go against a plea by Pope Paul VI for a truce and negotiated peace.

Cardinal Spellman later explained that he meant "victory for the sake of genuine peace."

A year ago, after the Pope had asked for the resignations of all bishops over 75 years of age, Cardinal Spellman disclosed that his resignation had been refused by the Pope.

Speaking from his pulpit at St. Patrick's Cathedral, Cardinal Spellman said he would "carry on these responsibilities as long as I am able, to the best of my ability."

He went for some medical tests to Cleveland Clinic—far enough away to give privacy and not worry his friends, it was said.

A chubby man, with a round, cherubic face and pale blue eyes behind rimless glasses, he was known as a skilled administrator and financial organizer. But he also had an artistic urge.

He wrote poetry, and a novel, "The Founding."

Of his managerial abilities, he once said: "My practice is to let important matters be handled by people smarter than I am."

He made his archdiocese an economic buttress to the entire Church, and at a 75th birthday dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in 1964, he announced a lump $75,000 gift to Pope Paul VI—$1,000 for each year of the cardinal's life.

But his sentiments, on the occasion, were spiritual. "Without God, my capacity is nothing," he said.

In 1966, he was honored as "Churchman of the Year" by the Religious Heritage of America, an interfaith organization.

JAKARTA (AP) — A conference between Moslems and Christians bogged down today when Moslems pressed demands that Christian missionaries pull out of rural areas.

Reds Accuse U.S. Of Savage Attack

SAIGON (AP) — Communist China accused U.S. pilots Saturday of making a "savage" dive-bombing attack on a Chinese freighter in a North Vietnamese port near Haiphong. It said eight Chinese crewmen were wounded.

Battle reports from allied headquarters were scanty as the war appeared to be in another waiting lull. Ground fighting was "light and scattered and monsoon weather again limited the U.S. air offensive over the North.

The official New China News Agency said bombs exploded above the water 11 yards from the freighter Hongqu No. 154 on Nov. 25 and damaged the vessel in 20 places as she lay at anchor at Hong Gai, 18 miles north of Haiphong.

U.S. military spokesmen in Saigon and Washington declined to comment. The U.S. Command had reported Nov. 25 that American pilots raided a naval dispersal area 39 miles east of Haiphong and about nine miles east of Hong Gai.

NCNA quoted the Chinese Foreign Ministry as saying American planes have attacked Chinese freighters in international or Vietnamese waters many times. It said the ministry issued a strong protest.

North Vietnam's foreign minister, Nguyen Duy Trinh, said repeated U.S. attacks on foreign freighters in Vietnamese waters "constitute a serious war escalation step." His statement was distributed by Hanoi's Vietnam News Agency.

In the war, B52 bombers dumped 75 tons of explosives on the demilitarized zone dividing the North and South, where two days of sharp fighting had raised the threat of a major assault from the thousands of North Vietnamese troops camped in the area. But U.S. Marine defenders reported no new battles along the DMZ.

FOREST, Miss. (AP) — A killer, tornado swept across a small community near here Saturday, leaving two persons dead and demolishing five homes. Ten persons were injured.

Michigan Demos Blast War Policy
DETROIT (AP) — A group of dissident Michigan Democrats called today for the ouster of Democratic National Chairman John Bailey, blasted President Johnson's Vietnam policy and hinted the presidential candidacy of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn.

in strongly worded position papers, the resolutions committee of the Michigan Conference of Concerned Democrats condemned Bailey for what it said was his attempt to rig the 1968 national convention for Johnson's renomination.

Such action, it said, was "arrogant and dangerous to the democratic process" and is justification for Bailey's resignation or removal.

Flood Deaths In Java Hit 160
JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — The death toll from a wall of water released by a broken dam in Central Java rose to 160 today and a military spokesman at the scene said the possibility of sabotage was being investigated.

The dam broke last Wednesday night after heavy monsoon rains, releasing a flood which slammed through three small towns without warning while many residents slept. It destroyed or damaged 600 houses.

Conservation Emergency Fund Proposed
BOISE (AP) — A legislative committee heard a proposal Saturday to create a conservation emergency fund for Idaho by imposing an additional $5 per person excise tax.

Sen. A. J. Gaige, R-Boise, told members of the Idaho Legislature's Fire Costs Committee that the past two fire seasons have shown a need for such a conservation fund.

He proposed that the fund be kept at a total of $2 million to $5 million by imposing a "conservation tax" of $5 for each person filing an income tax return in Idaho.

He likened the "conservation tax" to the $10 "head tax" paid by each person filing an income tax return. The "head tax" goes to the state's permanent building fund.

Gaige said he estimated the tax would raise $1,500,000 a year and added that it could "probably" be discontinued after two years.

The fund would be administered by the governor with approval of the Idaho Legislature. It would be in addition to existing fire suppression and governor's emergency funds.

Gaige's proposal followed discussion by the committee of means of spreading fire suppression costs among recipients of "intangible" benefits of forest lands.

Fire costs are now borne by the owners of the land and the state and federal governments.

Sen. R. H. Young, R-Nampa, chairman of the committee, said he believed the committee should look into means and make recommendations to a special session of the legislature scheduled for January.

The committee was created by the 1967 Legislature to investigate charges by two federal agencies for fire suppression during a rash of fires in the Garden Valley area north of Boise in 1966.

The committee voted to instruct a subcommittee to continue negotiations with the U.S. Forest Service and the Bureau of Land Management over a settlement of claims against the state for the federal help in 1966.

Jack Gillette, assistant land commissioner in charge of forests, told the group the state may not have to pay a Forest Service charge of about $130,000 because a certain kind of contract was not signed at the time of the fire.

Steelworkers Set Death Rites On No-Strike Proposal

By NEIL GILBRIDE
AP Labor Writer

MIAMI BEACH (AP) — The United Steelworkers Union pronounced formal death rites Saturday on a controversial no-strike proposal that would have tried to avert a major bargaining crisis with the big steel industry next year.

"We're not closing the door" to such a proposal in the future, said Steelworkers President W. Abel, but he added it was too late for 1968 negotiations.

Abel said steel companies have already started stockpiling in preparation for next year's contract battle, which some Johnson administration officials fear might present grave political problems in the midst of the 1968 presidential election campaign.

"It became clear that the steel industry was not prepared to agree to those safeguards, guarantees and inducements" which the union wanted in exchange for a no-strike pledge, said a statement by the union's executive board.

Steelworkers' contracts expire next Aug. 1 for some 450,000 workers of major steel manufacturers, triggering negotiations that will have a major impact on the nation's economy just a few months before the 1968 presidential election.

Abel said that, in exchange for an "experimental" no-strike agreement, the union had considered asking for a wage hike guaranteed even before bargaining began, and promises that steel firms would not build big stockpiles as a hedge against a strike.

The plan would have involved submitting unresolved issues to binding arbitration. Steel contracts usually run three years and a union source said of the shelving of the no-strike proposal, "that's it until 1971" when it might be discussed again.

On another matter, Abel said he wished Auto Workers President

Sen. Ray Rigby, D-Rexburg, suggested that the fund be spent with the consent of the Land Board which consists of five elected state officials, and the Idaho land commissioner.

dent Walter Reuther would attend next week's AFL-CIO convention, at which many labor leaders expected Reuther to pursue his fight with President George Meany of the 14-million-member labor federation. Meany ignored Reuther's let-it-stagnate, said American ter saying that General Motors workers have never had it so negotiations would keep all Auto good.

Economists Hit Steel Price Hike

By LEWIS HAWKINS
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration struck hard Saturday at a new increase in steel prices.

Other steel producers have not announced their plans but "Big Steel" is the industry's largest corporate unit and normally is the benchmark on prices.

Ackley argued that not only is a steel-price increase unjustified at this time but the industry's "costs and prices are already too high—not too low."

The economist acknowledged that 1967 has been a disappointing year on the profit side for the steel industry but said 1968 promises to be much better.

An increase in prices is not the answer for the industry, he said, because: "The way for steel to solve its problems is not to raise its prices but to lower its costs through improved technology and productivity."

Cyprus Settlement May Be Far Away

By ALEX EFTY
NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Hopes of a quick settlement of the Cyprus crisis faded sharply Saturday. President Makarios refused to give in to the Turkish demands he has been rejecting for the past four years.

U.S. special envoy Cyrus R. Vance spent nearly 12 out of the night, conferred with Makarios until shortly after midnight. Discussions were resumed seven hours later. Following an afternoon break, talks continued Saturday night.

A dispatch from Athens said the Greek government appeared deeply concerned during the day that objections by Makarios might upset the Greek-Turkish peace accord.

The Makarios government and the Greek Cypriots were stunned by what they considered to be a total surrender by Greece's military regime to the Turkish threat.

Informed Greek Cypriot sources here termed the over-all effect of the package plan as amounting to a realization of the long-standing Turkish aim of a Cyprus majority on the island. See CYPRUS, Pg. 2, Col. 7

Storm Inflicts Damage To Washington And Oregon

By The Associated Press
A continuing Pacific storm, caused a small earth-fill dam to break near Everett Saturday afternoon, washing out 250 feet of the Great Northern Railroad's main lines.
A railroad official said the cascading water hit about 2:45 p.m., tearing out track and about 150 feet of seawall along the coast, about one mile south of Everett.
The dam was at the North Star Sand and Gravel Co. The railroad spokesman said it would take at least 12 hours to repair the damage. Meanwhile, trains were being routed over Northern-Pacific tracks.
The storm also dumped more than a foot of new snow on mountain passes, creating hazardous driving conditions, but building a skier's paradise.
The weather bureau said snow would continue in the mountains through Monday, with the down-fall heavy at times. Winds in the mountains were expected to be gusty and temperatures in the 20s were reported Saturday afternoon.
Small craft warnings were posted for Saturday night and Sunday in the Strait of Juan de Fuca and on the inland waters of Western Washington.
Showers with hail at times, were forecast through Monday for Western Washington. Soaked rain and snow showers were expected in Eastern Washington. Snowfall is expected mostly above 1,500 feet, though snow also was forecast for the Western Washington foothills.

High tides along the Oregon coast caused an estimated $100,000 damage at Cannon Beach Saturday. Some flooding also was reported at Astoria, Ore., and highway flooding was reported in Tillamook.
Heavy seas caused serious damage to the Coast Guard lifeboat station at Neah Bay early Saturday. About 200 feet of the station's pier was demolished and a 44-foot lifeboat was swept away, but later recovered.
A coastguardman was rescued after he was thrown into the choppy water when the pier collapsed while attempts were being made to recover the lifeboat. His name was not reported to 13th District headquarters.

Chains were required for travel over Snoqualmie, Stevens, Cayuse and White passes Saturday afternoon.
Aberdeen recorded 2.26 inches of rain in the 24 hours ending at 8 a.m. Saturday. It was the heaviest downpour there since Oct. 21, 1956. Quillayute on the Northern Washington coast received 2.10 inches of rain. Hoquiam had 1.58 inches and Everett had 1.01.

to partition the island between its Greek-speaking majority and its Turkish minority.
The package deal was hammered out by Vance in a quick succession of air trips between Athens and Ankara, Turkey's capital, earlier in the week.
Its main points: The withdrawal of 12,000 Greek and 1,200 Turkish troops, that arrived in Cyprus illegally following the outbreak of intercommunal fighting in December 1963.
The demobilization of the Turkish invasion force poised on the Turkish coast, accompanied by a Turkish guarantee of the island's integrity and a return to the status quo on the island before the flashpoint on Nov. 15.
Compensation for Turkish victims of the attack on the two villages hit by the Greek attack on Nov. 15. Twenty-five Turks were killed.
Reduction of the Greek Cypriot national guard troops and military police units, now estimated to number 10,000 to 15,000, down to 2,000.
Recognition of the existence of separate Turkish Cypriot police and Turkish Cypriot self-government in the Turkish Cypriot enclaves scattered about the island.
Widening the powers of the 4,500-member United Nations Peace Force on the island.
Greek Cypriot sources claimed that President Makarios had no objections to the first three points but had expressed strong reservations to the last three after his first meeting with Vance Wednesday and Thursday.

mishap about 3:40 p.m. and an ambulance from Magic Valley Ambulance Service was dispatched to take the injured youths to the hospital.
Officers said the youths reported they saw the train too late to stop and skidded into the side of the rear engine, which was "backing" another engine into Twin Falls. The road was snow covered and slick and the truck the boys were in slid into the train.
There were newly posted stop signs on both sides of the track, however, and the Carson boy said he believed one of the signs, which was knocked down, hit him on the head as he was thrown from the vehicle and the Poulton youth, who was behind the seats, remained in the truck.
The truck also knocked over a cattle guard on the north side of the crossing and then went into a ditch, remaining upright.
Wendell Allison, Glenns Ferry, was engineer on the locomotive and other crew members included V. J. Hunt, Pocatello, and R. Murray, address unknown. Minor damage was done to the locomotive.
Idaho State Patrolman Frank Mogenssen, who investigated the accident, assisted by Twin Falls County sheriff's officers, said citations are pending.

Johnson Vows Support Of Demo Choice

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson promised Saturday to support the Democratic presidential candidate next year — without saying whether he plans to be the nominee.
In a telephone speech to a six-state regional Democratic conference at Charleston, W. Va., Johnson said:
"We haven't had our primaries, we haven't had our convention. So there is really no way of guessing who the candidate might be. But I do want to say this: I fully intend to support him."

Body Found Near Home Of Vigil

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The body of Mrs. Elia Holt, 66, was found Friday by sheriff's deputies who broke into the weed-choked suburban home in which her family had locked themselves for eight months.
The woman had been dead possibly two to four weeks, deputies said. Cause of death was tentatively said to be natural causes.
The Robert Holt family ended their "religious vigil" Thursday, and a municipal court judge ordered Holt, 36, and his wife Loyce, 33, held in lieu of $2,000 bond.
They were charged with failing to send their daughters, Robbie, 6, and Sally, 9, to school since last April. The girls and a teen-aged nephew were turned over to juvenile authorities.
Sheriff's deputies said they found Mrs. Holt's body in an upstairs bedroom of the home in the Dominguez district.

THIS SMALL PICKUP TRUCK was demolished and two of its four occupants were hospitalized after it struck a Union Pacific locomotive which was "backing" another locomotive into the Twin Falls terminal. The vehicle skidded on snow-slickened roads and was unable to stop. Idaho State Patrolman Frank Mogensen, left, noted that it was fortunate the truck hit the train instead of the train striking it. Also shown is Twin Falls County Deputy Sheriff Charles Johnson. The accident occurred about 3:40 p.m. Saturday south and west of Berger.

Bet-Crazy British Wagering On Imaginary Horse Races

By JOHN FARROW
LONDON (AP) — Bet-crazy Britons now are betting on imaginary horse races.

Newspapers carry "betting form" and favorites" in morning editions. You take your pick from an entirely mythical field, then read your evening paper to see if you've won.

And British bookies who have taken the bet will pay out real money in this entirely fictitious exercise.

The reason for the fantasy is that British horse racing has been banned because of an epidemic of foot and mouth disease.

Each morning the Daily Mail and the Daily Sketch print cards, form, jockeys and possible betting on these pie-in-the-sky races.

At night you buy the London Evening News — a member of the same group of associated newspapers — and if you win you pick up and if you lose you pay out.

This fanciful business is described as being run as "News market" — a place that doesn't exist. It's a play on the name Newsmarket, headquarters of British horse racing.

The Daily Sketch explained it this way: "It's a fact and fancy meeting; for there is no such place as Newsmarket yet all the races have been actually run."

In other words the names of the races, the time of the races and the names of the horses were fictitious. But the form, jockeys and weights were real enough.

The entire card printed in the morning papers was related to actual races, some of them run years ago. It was on the basis of those actual races that the Evening News printed its results and the bookies paid out.

Canada Faces Growing Drug Problems

OTTAWA (AP) — More youths are turning on in Canada than ever before with LSD and marijuana, federal officials say.

Most are hippies in their 20s. There are reports hippies are sowing easy-to-grow marijuana along the Trans-Canada Highway for use on later hitchhiking trips.

"We are finding marijuana in every city in Canada," an official says. The upsurge in the use of the psychedelic drug LSD — lysergic acid diethylamide — and marijuana comes at a time when officials feel they have checked the use of heroin and other more dangerous drugs.

Narcotics investigations have turned up 82 cases of LSD use this year and attributed one suicide to the drug.

Until five years ago, marijuana offences seldom numbered more than 20 a year and usually involved touring U.S. musicians, officials say.

Last year, of 871 arrests under the Narcotics Control Act, 304 involved marijuana and 144 convictions resulted.

The first 10 months of 1967 found 1,345 arrests under the federal act, 779 of them involving marijuana.

The 336 convictions to Oct. 31 this year are more than double the number in all 1966, illustrating the growth of the problem.

Task Force For Education Urged

BOISE (AP) — Formation of local "task forces for education" in Idaho school districts was urged Friday by the Idaho Unified Education Council.

The council is made up of representatives from the Idaho State School Trustees Association, Parop Teacher Association and teachers.

An evaluation form has been proposed for use by the task forces in an attempt to give citizens a voice in evaluating their schools and in planning the schools' future.

Scout Council Training Program Set

Vic Cypher, Southside District Boy Scout training chairman, announced Saturday that the district is working toward 100 per cent trained leadership by Dec. 15 of this year.

To help with this program, Cub Scout leader and den mother training has been set up for Monday, Dec. 4, at the Council Service Center, 164 Main Ave. N.

Den mothers may take training from 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m., with subjects covering handicraft, den meeting operations, finances, program planning and the achievement plan. The program is under the direction of Mrs. Rita Hamilton.

The evening session for Cubmasters and committeemen will include program planning, parent cooperation, den chief procurement and training, the pack committee, the Webelos den, pack thrift plan, the achievement plan and ceremonies.

This evening session is under the direction of Mr. Keith Jensen, council Cub training director, who is responsible for all Cub training conferences in this area.

The evening program will begin at 7:30 p.m. Assisting Mrs. Hamilton in the morning session will be Mrs. Marjorie McClure, Mrs. Margie Jensen, Mrs. Wanda Cole and Mrs. Zenda Assisting Mr. Jensen will be Vaughn McArthur, Dick Starling, Dave McClure, Neil Wirsching, Don Overland and Tom Schelin.

"All these people have had many years of experience in the Cub Scouting program and will be of great help in training Cub Leaders," Cypher said.

In addition to this program, Archie Brown will be holding a similar program for Scout leaders the same evening, the same time and place.

All Scouting leaders, committee personnel and parents are invited to attend either of the sessions.

Draft Card Burning Is Discussed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department maintains freedom-of-speech provisions of the Constitution don't extend to draft card burning.

Appearing before the Supreme Court, Solicitor General Erwin N. Griswold and other department lawyers argued in behalf of the constitutionality of a 1965 law passed making the burning of draft cards a crime.

The Supreme Court has agreed to review a decision by the U.S. Circuit Court in Boston that ruled the law is invalid because it abridges free speech.

The Boston case involves David Paul O'Brien, 20, of Framingham, Mass., who publicly burned his card in 1966 to protest the draft.

WASHINGTON — The importance of rabble rousers such as Frederick H. Brooks is not in themselves. They merit public attention only because there is a danger that white America will be persuaded they represent Negro America.

Brooks, former chairman of the Nashville Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, pointed up this danger in his recent appearance before the Senate permanent investigating committee.

Since almost everything that happens on Capitol Hill is news, Brooks' appearance was given wide publicity, and the nation thus got the picture of a Negro "spokesman" who advocated shooting Lyndon Johnson "as a last resort."

There was something basically ridiculous about the testimony of this Black Power leader who ran the "hate whitey" Negro Liberation School — with some Federal help — in Nashville. It was glaringly revealed in his dialogue with Sen. John McClellan, D-Ark., committee chairman.

"Would you shoot Lady Bird?" asked McClellan. "If she was my enemy," replied Brooks. "She is the wife of Lyndon Johnson and I consider him my enemy."

Well now, there are laws that impose penalties for any individual who threatens the President or a member of his family, but let that go. The government doesn't mess around much any more with enforcing laws, although plans are afoot in Tennessee to prosecute Brooks for refusing induction. What is relevant here is Brooks' attempt to drag every Negro in the country into support of his philosophy of violence.

Brooks claims that a majority of Negro people should gain their rights by whatever available means — and if that means violence that's what I mean.

The claim has to be preposterous if the country is to avoid a period of violent conflict between its white and black citizens. The violence advocated by Brooks, which could include "taking a good bead" on President Johnson, surely would be met by white violence. It is hard to imagine any greater disservice Brooks could do his people.

It is a disservice because all across the land white citizens read Brooks' words and wondered. They couldn't possibly believe that Brooks represented the Negro community, and yet they wondered.

Frederick H. Brooks and Stokely Carmichael and H. Rap Brown are more than a danger to relations between the plain white citizen and the plain black citizen. They are a problem for the Negro politician, who in seeking office must marshal carefully every vote he can get.

That problem was illuminated a few weeks before the elections when I appeared on a Chicago TV panel with Richard G. Hatcher, who subsequently was elected the first Negro mayor of Gary, Ind. Several times I inquired whether Hatcher would renounce Carmichael Brown, and each time Hatcher either refused to do so or dodged the question.

Despite the temptation, I do not suggest that Hatcher thus put himself in the same camp with the violent advocates of Black Power. His attitude suggested only that as an underdog who had been disowned by the rather laudry Democratic organization, he could not afford to alienate any Negro voters who might regard the Carmichaels and the Browns as champions — if a touch radical — of their cause.

This attitude also was reflected in the response of another panel member, Mrs. Medgar Evers, widow of the martyred Mississippi civil rights worker, when asked for her appraisal of the Carmichael wing. The radicals, replied Mrs. Evers, "did some good" because they brought the plight of the Negro forcefully to the public's attention.

Clearly, then, Frederick Brooks and his kind pose a much more serious danger to the Negro public official than they do to Lyndon and Lady Bird Johnson.

Hatcher and the new Negro mayor of Cleveland, Carl Stokes, already are on the spot because they have reached a high plateau of prominence. Frederick Brooks and his pals make their positions more difficult if only because their skins are black, too — and their mouths are big.

PAUL HARVEY The "Doc" Returns

The medical profession, after two generations of specialization, "turning back the clock" in your advantage. The family doctor is coming home — but you won't recognize him.

Since 1966 four major reports have underscored the urgent need for many more family-type doctors. Now the American Academy of General Practice has proposed the American Board of Family Practice, and the AMA president, Dr. Milford Rouse, has urged all members of his organization to support it.

No horse-and-buggy family doctor diagnosing everything as either fever or colic, this new breed. Indeed, a new specialty, family medicine, is being created.

There are 19 primary specialties in medicine; this will make 20. The new specialty will require three years of post M.D. graduate training, then a certification examination covering the usual clinical areas plus behavioral sciences and preventive health care.

These specialists in family medicine will be re-examined and recertified every six years. No other specialty has so strict a requirement.

The goal is to produce many more doctors competent to administer preventive as well as episodic care on a comprehensive basis. Hopefully, the medical manpower shortage will be eased. Further, if more patients can be visited at home or treated as outpatients, there will be more hospital beds for the seriously ill.

Presently, mother and child, dad with a swollen prostate, junior with something in his eye and baby sister with anything at all must visit or summon at least four specialists for diagnosis and/or treatment.

It has been assumed that the pyramiding, accumulation of medical knowledge in each specialty is so voluminous that no one individual can hope to remain currently proficient in more than one. This assumption ignores the fact that at least 75 per cent of all disorders are not highly technical; in these cases the most efficient physician long has been the family physician who knows something about a lot of things.

The new breed, will, in fact, know a lot about a lot of things. As is, in the medical school environment, the student has little opportunity to explore and understand the behavioral aspects of his profession. Patients tend to become charts, and charts tend to become the final criteria for diagnosis and treatment.

Thus, many physicians have become disease or ailment oriented, have not acquired a total patient perspective.

There have been three revolutions in the practice of medicine in the United States. The first was in 1840 when the AMA established almost by force minimal educational standards for practicing physicians.

The second revolution was early in the 20th century when the AMA sought and obtained minimal standards for medical schools.

The third revolution started with government medicare. It is to meet this new, fast-increasing need for streamlined delivery of health services, private and public, curative and preventive, on a community basis — that the old family doctor is being reinstated in his position of friend, counselor and comfort-er.

Many tried to take his job, but nobody took his place.

JAMES MARLOW Not Too Happy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Besides the packages of trouble stacked under the tree, the tree itself is trimmed with irony. So this will not be the President Johnson's happiest Christmas.

For a while, after it became clear American forces in Vietnam were going to have to stay quite a while, there was a bustle and fervor about the criticism dumped on Johnson.

It came from all directions, including Congress, in the form of denunciation of American involvement or a variety of proposed solutions, although only Johnson, not the critics, would have the task of applying the solutions.

Neither Johnson nor those around him have been any match, in the multitude of their answers, for the vaster multitude of criticisms.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, probably more than anyone in the administration, has talked the most in defense of the administration and the war. But now he sounds like a broken record. So do the critics.

It's the same thing over and over on both sides. Just before Thanksgiving Gen. William C. Westmoreland, U.S. commander in Vietnam, visited Johnson here and went around spreading optimism. But it won't help Johnson's Christmas much.

He was predicting the beginning of a U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam in two years. But by then the 1968 presidential election will be long over and it's the election Johnson has to begin worrying about now, in addition to the war.

It's easy to say Johnson has it made anyway, that the Democratic party, no matter how unhappy it may be over having Johnson run again, can hardly deny renomination to a president. But it has happened before.

At the moment public opinion polls show public confidence in him at an all-time low. Worse than that, from his viewpoint, it's hard to see how he can increase that confidence unless the war takes an unexpectedly good turn.

Sunday in the New York Times there was a two-page ad, both pages packed with the names of men and women, paid for by an organization calling itself Dissenting Democrats working to deny Johnson renomination in 1968.

As of now he doesn't know how much opposition he is going to have within the party. So far only Sen. Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota has indicated he may run for the nomination. McCarthy may not be a major stumbling block for Johnson. Although he is called an intellectual, he is, a former teacher. McCarthy does not have a distinguished record in Congress and he sounds vague on answers about Vietnam.

He spoke Sunday of a White House policy of taking action without consulting Congress and said it comes "very close to a four-year dictatorship." If he meant Johnson moved U.S. forces into Vietnam without consulting Congress, he's wrong, and he should know it.

In the 1964 Gulf of Tonkin resolution which Congress approved, giving Johnson a go-ahead to use the armed forces as he thought necessary to repel Communist aggression in Vietnam, the Senate vote was 88 to 2 and the House vote 416 to 0.

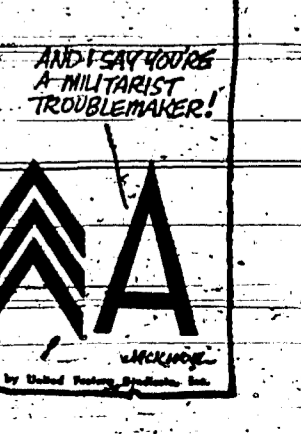

McCarthy was one of the 60 who voted for the resolution. Like other senators who did the same, he has regrets now, and has no hesitancy about lambasting Johnson.

Since they will probably continue doing it, or some of them will, in the 1968 campaign, Johnson will have this on his back all the way. But that's not all.

There's no reason to think Negro riots won't be just as big next year as they were in 1967, and probably worse. But they occur in the summer in which, if Johnson gets renominated, he will have to start his campaign.

No president in recent memory — except Herbert Hoover in the 1932 depression and Harry S. Truman in 1948 — will have started thinking of a second term under as many handicaps as Johnson. Truman made it, Hoover didn't.

Death Of The Train

The fact the Union Pacific has asked for, and been given permission to, cut train service over the main line which goes through Shoshone and Gooding, is not unique so far as railroads go.

Mail trains — and also passenger trains — are becoming sort of unique over the United States and apparently there can be nothing done about it.

Transportation is changing and today the bulk of the people go by private car with those who travel by air coming in a good, substantial second.

To the "oldsters" the change is really something. These people remember the day of the huffing, puffing, smoke expelling "Iron Horse" with the steam whistle moaning throughout the night. They remember the smell of the coal smoke, the click of the rails under the wheels and the crowds in the railroad stations.

Today all these are gone. The youngsters of today will never know that thrill. It is passing before our eyes and there is little of the old railroad days left. This change happened once before long years ago. The train took the place of the horse. Now the train is being shunted to one side and the cars and the airplanes are the way to go.

According to the Interstate Commerce Commission, 89.15 per cent of all intercity traffic in the United States in 1966 was by means of the private automobile. That percentage can only go higher as the 41,000-mile Interstate Highway network nears completion.

As for the remainder of intercity travel, railroads were low man on the pole with 1.87 per cent. Buses accounted for 2.48 per cent and airlines

6.18 per cent. It is the airplane and economics that bid fair to finish off the passenger train completely — with an assist from the Post Office Department in its decision to stop sending mail by rail.

Consider this comparison presented by William J. Quinn, president of Burlington Lines: The Burlington's California Zephyr, operating between Chicago and Denver, averages more than twice as many passengers as does a 727 jet — 166 to 72 — and could carry more if they were available.

But while the railroad has two fast trains between Chicago and Denver, the airlines operate some 22 flights daily, and carry more passengers over-all. Six crewmen, including stewardesses, operate the jet, 47 operate the train. Wage costs for the one are $391; for the other $2,288.

The train's diesels burn $500 worth of oil; the jet consumes $300 worth of kerosene. Total revenue for the Zephyr is slightly over $5,000 per trip. For the jet, it is slightly over $3,400. But expenses for the Zephyr add up to $5,400; for the 727, $2,500.

Thus for every trip the train makes, it loses about $400; for every trip the plane makes, it earns about $900. Then there is the jet's speed, which is as pleasing to the accountant as it is to the traveler.

The jet makes the trip in two hours; the train in 18½ hours. In terms of revenue per hour, the jet earns nearly $500. The train loses some $20 an hour. For every passenger it carries, the plane earns $13.12 for the airline. For every passenger the train carries, the railroad loses $2.07. And so, on and on.

MR. SPECTATOR

Give It To 'Em, Grandma!

Grandma is up in the air. She's fighting mad — or should we say angry? She's ready to have something done and she wants to start it right now.

What's to be done? She wants to do away with those pesky mini-skirts and such stuff and have someone, somewhere, open up a "Grandma's Shop" where people (gals) her age and thereabouts could buy basic and pretty styles.

And Grandma wrote Mr. Spectator a note. She didn't sign her name to the letter but it was postmarked Jerome so it is safe to assume that's where she has her home. She writes like this:

"Why doesn't someone start up a Grandma Shop in this region where Grandmothers can buy pretty, basic styles in dresses, etc., for themselves?"

"So many of us cannot wear shifts, mini-skirts and the like. Styles now-a-days cater to our young and slender gals and too many designers seem to be trying to do away with clothing completely.

"Topology this and topology that. Now they are working on skirtless outfits. "Why don't they join a nudist's colony? Perhaps they would be glad to come back to simplicity and decency."

Well, Grandma, you're right, a lot of ways. Although skirtless styles might be interesting, at the age Mr. Spectator has now reached, it would be much too late. Perhaps there are some places in Magic Valley where a Grandma can buy a dress that isn't made for a youngster or for someone who is built like a pencil. If there is such a place, the owner can yell and we will broadcast the news to Grandmothers — one and all.

THE SMALL TOWN Life is pleasant, life is good. Here in this small town neighborhood; You know everybody and he knows you. Perhaps too well — some things you do. Like who bought what, and how much he paid.

Who's spending too much of what he's made; Who puts on the dog, who struts his stuff. And who isn't staying home enough — Here we're fraternal. Here we speak — The good and the bad, the strong and the weak.

We know the children, we know each pet; We know how much everybody's in debt; We solve our problems, we earn our pay — And I hope, by golly, we keep it this way! ... May Napier Burkhart Buhl

BOUQUET OF ROSES

Harold Siles, the circulation manager of the Times-News, received a note the other day from Mrs. Homer Stanley of Augusta, Ill.

She wrote that last September "we had the privilege of passing through your town and spending the night there. We were very much impressed with your locality, the friendliness of the people, the courtesy shown us and by your paper, given us by courtesy of the Rogerson Coffee Shop. We would like very much to subscribe to your newspaper for six months. Send us a bill."

To which Mr. Spectator might add: Something like this makes most any day seem a little worthwhile.

ALL BOWLING! If it did nothing else, bowling provided an exercise in arithmetic for the scorekeeper. Now the tallying of strikes, spares and splits is going the way of the pinboy.

Computers can calculate the score in a wink, print it on a sheet and project it on a screen. It's probably just a question of time before science will produce electronic bowling, too. After all, baseball has had automatic pitching machines for years.

When the day comes, bowlers may never have to leave the bar, which may be just the way the alley owners would like to have it.

Romney Will Not Quit — Really

WASHINGTON (NEA) — As he streamlines his campaign outfit for what can only be called "Operation Way Uphill," Michigan's Gov. George Romney plans to keep up his quest for the 1968 Republican presidential nomination even if he loses the inaugural March 12 New Hampshire primary.

That resolve might be altered if Richard Nixon simply crushes him in New Hampshire, or if Romney's vote total there falls behind both Nixon and a write-in tally for Gov. Ronald Reagan of California.

But if Romney were to lose to Nixon narrowly, the present intent is to treat it as a moral victory, as an impressive upsurge nearly wiping out an original estimated 2-to-1 Nixon lead in the polls.

By Dec. 1, Romney should be getting preliminary findings from a costly new poll now being taken for him in New Hampshire. Almost certainly it will underscore the immensity of the task facing him as his newly consolidated organization, to be based wholly in Washington, gets going the first week in December.

At least for a time, a few key aides and consultants like Travis Cross and Walter DeVries will stay close to the governor in Lansing. Even as Romney contemplates the rough odds in New Hampshire, his curious brand of undaunted optimism is leading him to dispatch a key organizational aide to Wisconsin soon to shore up his frail organization there.

The consensus of professional judgments up to now has been that Nixon has far and away the best of the party hierarchy laying ground for him in the April 2 Wisconsin primary. But Romney is planning a heavy infusion of eager young blood in an attempt to mount an uphill fight on the already widely praised New Hampshire organizational pattern.

There is nothing defeatist about the governor's broader planning, either. In the two days leading up to his formal announcement of a candidate, youngish Romney organizers from nearly 20 states (including Alaska) met in Detroit to offer progress and plot strategy. Only eight states thus far have formal Romney committees but a big step-up is promised for December.

The Detroit parley marked the first time Romney forces from a wide area have come together and was vaguely reminiscent of more comprehensive meetings held by Barry Goldwater's state leaders in Chicago in February of 1964.

Romney's New Hampshire campaign manager, William Johnson, and another key leader of that first primary, John Dearth Dourif, were among those who sparked the Detroit conference with advice on how to put a state effort together.

With the governor's campaign financiers confident they have in sight the $1 million to $2 million needed for New Hampshire, Wisconsin, and other early 1968 undertakings, his strategists are also looking beyond the effort he must make should he win those first two primaries.

He is getting quiet advice to cut his probable losses in the May 14 Nebraska primary (an all-candidate affair like Wisconsin and Oregon) by doing as little active campaigning there as possible. Top Nebraska Republicans are saying he would run a bad thing to Nixon and Reagan. The advice is being carefully weighed.

A token effort of none at all in Nebraska would automatically reduce to three the maximum total of victories Romney could muster in the four most-advertised primaries. Consideration, therefore, is being given to still others, including the District of Columbia test on May 7 and South Dakota on June 4. But decision on these possible "backup" endeavors is months off.

McCall Urged To Declare Coast City Disaster Area

CANNON BEACH, Ore. (AP) — The mayor of Cannon Beach has asked Gov. Tom McCall to declare the city a disaster area. Mayor Gerald R. Gower said the area received at least $100,000 worth of damage from a 10-foot high tide Saturday.

Three years ago, but the damage this time is more widespread. We actually have higher water," Gower said.

The tidal wave spread down the West Coast after the disastrous Alaskan earthquake. Saturday's water flooded sewers and undermined the main seawall, Gower said.

There were moments Saturday when the downtown business district had waist-high water.

Logs and water knocked out windows in waterfront buildings and flooded basements.

The flooding came on the heels of the highest tides of the year. The high Friday was over 10 feet and the high Saturday was nearly 10 feet.

Strong winds Friday night whipped the Pacific Ocean and kept the water from receding.

The Coast Guard said there were no reports of rescues or shipping problems. The state police did not know of any injuries.

Cannon Beach was not the only area to see high water.

State police said there was some flooding in the eastern section of Astoria, at the mouth of the Columbia. Cannon Beach is south of Astoria.

Further south, there were reports in Tillamook of highway flooding. The state police office said both lanes of traffic were covered Saturday morning at the junction of U.S. 101 and a county road which follows the Miami River.

Debris pushed against the main coastal highway just south of Garibaldi, which is on the north end of Tillamook Bay.

Water and logs pushed through windows of the Surtide Resort in Lincoln City north of Newport. The restaurant of the Surtide Inn in Depoe Bay closed after water was poured through it and onto the highway. Depoe Bay is between Lincoln City and Newport.

A family watching the tide action at nearby DeLake was swept into the ocean but rescued unharmed, according to reports from the area.

There was little damage south of the Newport area, although state police in Coos Bay said water crossed the U.S. 101 in a few low spots.

Local Highway District Election Slated Monday

Anyone over 21 years of age who resides in the Twin Falls Highway District is eligible to vote in Monday's balloting for a four-year board member.

District No. 3, is being sought by Ora W. Jones, present holder of the board seat. No others have been nominated.

There are three members of the board.

Balloting places are the courthouse, the City Hall and the Highway District office, 1122 Highland Ave. E.

A Highway District employee noted, when stating voter requirements, that voter turnout has been so light in past years that votes generally cost "about $2.50 apiece."

SPEAKER NAMED
BOISE (AP) — An India-based home economist and nutritionist will speak at the Dec. 7-8 convention of the Idaho State Wheat Growers Association, executive secretary Harold West said Saturday.

Ivelene Vannoy, an employee of Western Wheat Associates, will describe India's food problems and the potential for wheat sales to the Asian country. West said that wheat now plays an important role in areas of India where rice has been a mainstay for centuries.

MEET SCHEDULED
IDAHO FALLS (AP) — Water leaders from throughout Idaho will gather here Dec. 14-15 as the Idaho State Reclamation Association assesses the water front at its annual state convention.

Speakers for the session will include Governor Don W. Samuelson; Harold T. Nelson, Boise, regional director for the Bureau of Reclamation; Carl H. Brown, Washington, D.C., executive director of the National Reclamation Association; Dorrell C. Larsen, Boise, extension irrigationist for the University of Idaho Agriculture Service; Leroy Stanger, Idaho Falls, vice chairman of the Idaho Water Resource Board; Col. Robert J. Gleson, Walla Walla, Wash., district engineer for the Corps of Engineers; Robert S. Gibb, Idaho state coordinator for the State Department of Education.

PROJECT STARTED
PLUMMER, Idaho (AP) — A group of high school students at Plummer, in North Idaho, is building a three-bedroom house in an effort to increase their interest in such subjects as algebra and English.

Construction of the house near Plummer High School — which will later be leased to a faculty member — is in lieu of the standard type of manual training for 12 youths involved, the school said.

"Some high school students are bored in academic classes such as English, algebra or chemistry," said Principal Karl Wetter. "They often either flunk out or quit school."

INSTITUTE SET
POCATELLO (AP) — Some 25 Indian leaders from western states are expected to attend a one-day Indian management institute scheduled Monday at Idaho State University.

The workshop is jointly sponsored by the university, the Bureau of Indian Affairs and Arrow, Inc.

Workshop Director Dr. Joseph Hearst, dean of the college of liberal arts, said the program will focus on community development and management.

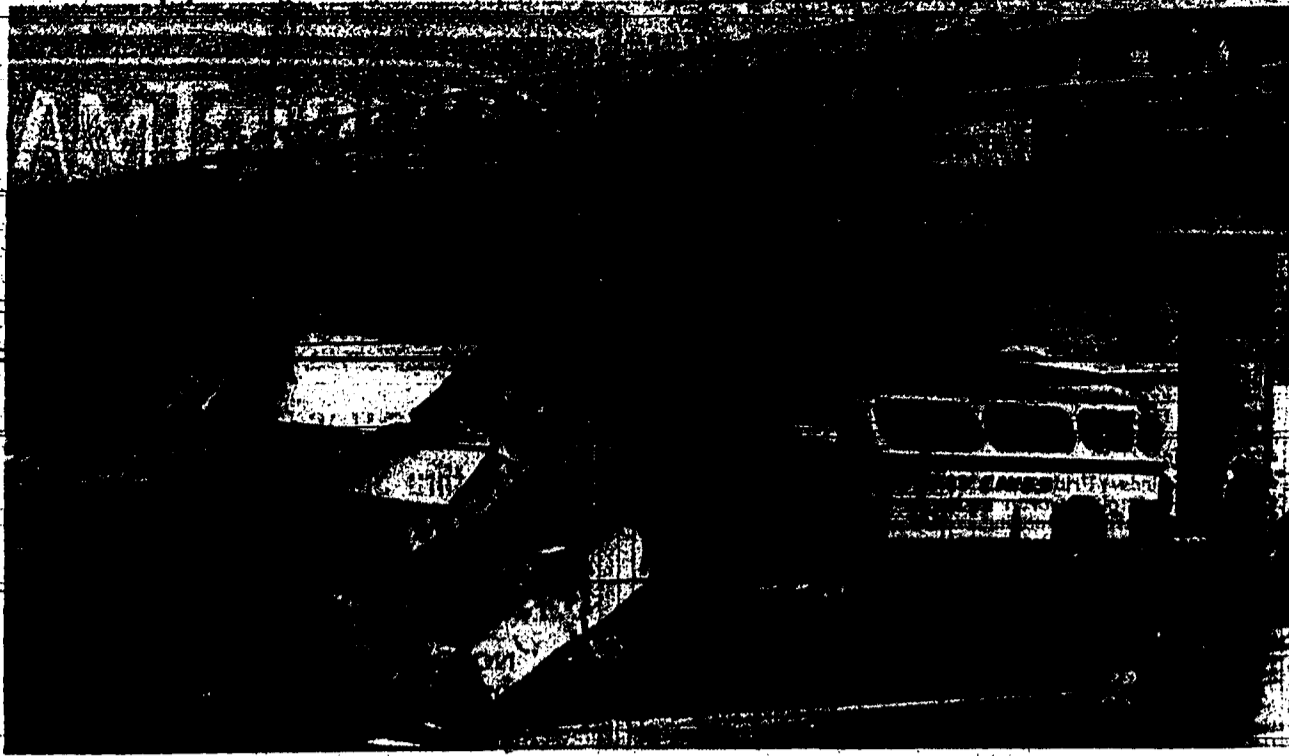

CHAIRMAN RE-ELECTED
BOISE (AP) — Mrs. Helen Beckley, chairman of the Department of Nursing at Idaho State University, was re-elected Friday chairman of the state-wide committee on coordination of nursing education in Idaho.

The group, holding its second annual meeting, named Florence Miles, chairman of the department of nursing at Boise College, as its vice chairman, and Mrs. Ruby Leonore, public health nursing coordinator for the Idaho Department of Health, as the secretary.

BACKTRACKING CHARGED
BOISE (AP) — Idaho Democratic Chairman E. T. Waters said Saturday Gov. Don W. Samuelson has had to "back-track" because of a decision early in his administration to discontinue roving ports of entry.

Waters noted an announcement last week by the Idaho Department of Law Enforcement that eight new truck weighing stations would be constructed in Northern Idaho.

Law Enforcement Director Warner C. Mills said they were built because trucks were overloading and avoiding existing weigh stations.

Legislative Unit Has Nearly Completed Proposed Revisions

By ALLEN M. BAILEY
BOISE (AP) — In spite of objections from some political groups, a Legislative Council committee has nearly completed proposed revisions of Idaho's election laws.

The Legislative Council's Committee on Election Laws will meet Monday in Pocatello to draft final proposals for revising and condensing the laws, with a few specific proposals still to be discussed.

Less than a month remains before the Dec. 31 date on which the revisions are to be ready for submission to the full council, said Severn Swenson, the council staff member assigned to the committee.

Committee members, headed by State Sen. Arthur Murphy, D-Mullan, have discussed several major changes, such as use of electors' oaths instead of prior registration and the elimination of county party structure, giving it instead to legislative districts.

However, those proposed changes were not adopted by the committee. Murphy favored the elector's oath system of registration at the time of voting, but the committee voted against it, apparently because of outside political pressure.

Objectors apparently wanted to keep things the way they are. Swenson said the changes proposed were an attempt to "try to revise and recodify the election laws in logical order, to eliminate confusion" and to provide for "more effective administration of the laws."

Using election statutes from other states as a guide, recommendations of the committee members and its advisory council and comments from others, the group has adopted three major changes:

— Central county registration with slight changes in the registration procedure itself.

— Shortened political campaigns, with the primary elections in September, instead of August, and candidate filings beginning June 1, instead of May 1.

— Possible re-structured political parties, with new laws governing the selection of candidates and state nominating conventions.

Although voting against the elector's oath registration procedure, the committee did recommend that additional information about voters be required on voters' registration certificates.

To aid in keeping people from changes were adopted by the voting illegally, Swenson said, committee which would require county clerks to notify the precincts listed as voters' previous points of registration, require the State Health Department to notify the secretary of state of persons who die, and allow continuous registration during the period between elections.

No one's name would be purged from the registration rolls unless he had not voted in the preceding eight years. Registration could be with the precinct registrar, but all records would be kept by the county clerk.

Present state laws set forth precisely how political parties must be organized. Proposed laws would leave that up to the parties' state conventions.

A group would qualify as a political party if it had at least three candidates in the previous general election.

A new party could be created by presentation of petitions containing signatures equal in number to 10 per cent of the total vote cast for governor in the previous election.

Once a party is so formed, Swenson said, it would follow the same rules as the present two major parties.

Party conventions could nominate for the primary election no more than two persons for any office. Any person receiving 80 per cent of the total convention vote would be the only candidate on the primary ballot.

Other proposals would designate the secretary of state as the chief state election officer, with power to prescribe the form for ballots on state elections.

"We probably had 44 different ballots in 44 different counties in the last election," Swenson said.

Soviet Union Has Divorce Problem

By ANTHONY C. COLLINGS MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union has growing problems with divorce and broken homes, a Soviet philosophy teacher says, and he gives a main cause as a failure by young people to see the difference between sex and love.

The broken homes result in new cases of hoodlums, drunkenness and other social ills, teacher U. Sturenko wrote Friday in Komsomolsky Pravda, voice of the Communist Youth League.

He also blamed a "loss of feelings" and charged that Soviet schools encourage children to be overly cold and rational, rather than "cultivating emotions."

In a Volga farm region north-east of Moscow, he indicated, 26 per cent of all marriages ended in divorce last year, a sharp jump from 16 per cent the year before.

While giving a frank look at family problems that usually are hushed up in the Soviet Union, Sturenko did not report the national divorce rate. He said that, in general, "the relative number of divorces is growing."

Up-to-date national figures are hard to come by. The most recent official statistic, for 1965, shows 18.2 per cent of Soviet marriages ending on the rocks. Sturenko's comparable 1965 figure for the Kostroma area was 16 per cent.

A Soviet scientist said last year, in reporting an earlier rate of 11 per cent, that most divorces were caused by drunkenness.

A new law last year making divorce easier was another factor possibly explaining the rapid rise in the reported rate, observers said. In America about one out of every four marriages ends in divorce.

"Love lies at the basis of any great accomplishments," Sturenko said, adding: "One way or another, man's happiness is connected with sex questions."

Soviet young people think love is the basis for their marriage, he said, "but far from everyone who gets married for what he thought was love really felt this lofty emotion."

Four New Trustees Named For College

The new appointees include Harold Arnold, Albion groceryman; Bill Fess, Middleton school psychologist; Marion Ingalls, Tacoma, Wash., and T. E. (Red) Wright, Brownsville, Tex.

Mr. Wright, who operates a plant nursery in Brownsville, recently planted nearly 6,000 Scotch pine trees on the MVCC campus with the help of the local Soil Conservation Service. These trees are to be used for shrubbery transplant and commercial uses.

Mr. Ingalls, a long time friend of the college, is part owner of Evergreen State Builders in Tacoma. Mr. Middleton is a former major in the Air Force Reserve.

Dr. Neilson noted that the appointment of these men to the board of trustees will be a real help to the college. "With the added vision and wisdom of these men, the college should continue to progress," he said.

Tuberculosis Still Poses Gem Problem

GLENN'S FERRY—State Rep. Alvin Joslyn told the Glenns Ferry Chamber of Commerce last week that really great strides have been made toward the eradication of TB.

However, the disease is very much alive and an ever present danger to Idaho residents, Joslyn said.

He reported that there are 50,000 deaths reported every year in this country from TB and that $50 billion dollars is spent in care and research. There have been 40 new cases of the disease reported for Idaho during the past nine months. These could have exposed as many as 400,000 people, Joslyn warned.

Joslyn is concerned with the new move on to close the State TB Hospital at Gooding and replace it with regional health centers throughout the state, because he fears the economy-minded people in state government may act too fast and close the hospital before the centers are operable. He urged help in supporting continuance of the hospital for the time being.

Mr. Joslyn, State Easter Seal Chairman, reported that 93 percent of the money contributed in this program remains in the state.

President Glenn Hall reported that a vote of the members revealed that 30 to 3 felt a need for a labor housing unit in this area. Five felt it should be either inside or adjacent to the city; 18 felt it should be adjacent to the city, and five, that it should be in some other community; six opposed the city providing sewer or water outside of the city limits for any business or industry, but 27 were in favor of this service.

The vote was a result of recent opposition by some residents to the proposed migratory housing project at Glenns Ferry.

The annual Farmers' Night Dinner is being planned for late January or early February, depending on other activities already planned for those dates.

Appointed

FILER—Mrs. LeRoy Fleener, Hollister, has been appointed hot lunch chairman of the Filer Schools, according to Tom Turner, superintendent. She will assume her duties Jan. 1.

Mrs. Fleener will replace Mrs. Loren Farmer who resigned the position because of increased duties as school district clerk-treasurer.

Public Is Invited To Tenth Annual Presentation Of "The Messiah" Here

"The Messiah," a product of George Fredrick Handel, will be presented at 8 p.m. Dec. 10 at the Presbyterian Church by the Magic Valley Council of Churches.

About 100 people from all over Magic Valley will be participating in the pre-Christmas production. This is the 10th anniversary of the production by the Magic Valley Council of Churches.

Handel said of "The Messiah," "When I composed the 'Hallelujah' I did see all Heaven before me, and the great God himself."

The present custom of audiences standing during the performance of the "Hallelujah" stems from opening performance of the work, when the audience, so moved by the music, stood up and remained standing until the chorus ended.

Directing the performance for the fourth time will be Roger Vincent, Filer. Tom Holter, Jerome, is organist and Teala Bellini, Twin Falls, pianist.

Others participating in preparing for the production are Mrs. Alice Reed, Buhl; Mrs. Larry Harvey, Twin Falls; Mrs. Larry Hovey, Twin Falls; Mrs. Roger Vincent, Filer, and Mrs.

Marge Harvey, Twin Falls. The public is invited to attend the annual affair.

KING HILL — Mr. and Mrs. Dean Hadley, who have operated the Koffee Kup Cafe at Hammett the past three years in conjunction with the Village Cafe here in King Hill, moved to King Hill this week and will operate the cafe here in King Hill.

Cassia County Teachers Hear Guests

BURLEY — Dean Chatburn, secondary supervisor of reading, and Clara Birch, elementary supervisor in reading for the Boise schools, were guest speakers at the Cassia County Education Association meeting Wednesday night at the Burley High School.

They explained the new International Reading Association program and pointed out that participation in the field of reading and sharing of ideas is beneficial to the teaching of reading in the public schools. It was recommended that Cassia county organize and participate in IRA. Ray Reid was chosen chairman to investigate possibility of such an organization locally.

A filmstrip "School Birds" was shown and Harold Blauer spoke briefly. The next meeting is scheduled for Jan. 30 in Burley.

Malta Lions Host Yearly Game Night

MALTA — Malta Lions club members and their wives hosted the Burley, Rupert, Paul, Heyburn and Jerome Lions at their annual game night in Malta.

William Hallack, Boise, district governor, and Fred Clubb, Twin Falls, deputy district governor, and their wives were special guests. Mr. Hallack spoke briefly and presented pins to Alvin Nedd, Orville Ward, Lloyd Schorzman, Dale Pierce, Albert Smith and John Pierce, past presidents of the Malta club.

Charter night observance, commemorating the founding of the Lions club, also was held.

About 100 persons attended the banquet which was followed by dancing. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Elwain, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Nedd, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Helly and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Schorzman were in charge of the dinner.

John A. Pierce was in charge of decorating.

KEEP 1450 KC ON YOUR RADIO DIAL

CHRISTMAS GIFT STORE RED'S TRADING POST

Most people could buy 2 washers for the price of this one. In time they may have to.

This is about the $349 Hotpoint Electronic washer. It can outperform yours a dozen ways. And it may last you twice as long.

It has 32 different washing speeds.

Who needs 32? Everybody really. Trouble is, people are used to thinking in 2 and 3 speed terms. When they should be thinking about the over 700 natural and man-made fibers used in regular and permanent-press fabrics today.

To wash them all properly, 3 speeds just won't do. This washer will. We say it has 32 speeds. We could say 51 or 64. Because it has a continuously variable control that lets you dial any speed, just as you'd tune a radio. This unlimited variety of action is why the Hotpoint Electronic can duplicate natural, hand-washing action.

In fact, it can hand-wash anything better than you can. Sequined sweaters, cashmeres, lace gowns, beaded shells, nylon. We've field-tested this Hotpoint with all of them. And all kinds of washes from two pounds of delicates to sixteen pounds of heavily soiled clothes.

We built it like a satellite.

We built this Hotpoint Electronic as if we were going to put it in orbit. Using space-age technology. Solid-state components. Transistors. Printed circuits. Gold-plated contacts. All-porcelain finish, inside and out. To prevent rust, corrosion, breakdown, or baking for years-to-come. Nobody will sell you a service policy for this machine.

It has an unheard-of 5-year in-the-home service plan.

That's right, 5 years. If there should be any manufacturing defect (nobody's perfect) in 3 or 4 1/2 years from now, our factory-trained men will service it. Anywhere in the continental United States. And it won't cost you a cent! The service plan covers the call, materials, parts, labor. You might compare that with anyone's service plan. In fact, please do.

A matching Electronic dryer.

We don't want you to put an ordinary dryer with this washer. So we built an Electronic dryer to match. There's an electronic sensing device in it that shuts the dryer off when the clothes are dry. And it can always tell. No matter what the load, fabric, or moisture content. This dryer has the same careful quality, durability, and 5-year service plan as the washer. It costs $199.

Cost vs. Price. There's a difference.

At $349 for the washer and $199 for the dryer, this Hotpoint pair costs $548. They're the most expensive you can buy. Which has nothing to do with cost. Cost depends on how long a thing will last. And this pair costs 100¢ per month less than ordinary machines. ($55 down, $12.32 a month.) And we'll gladly arrange a 5-year plan for you! This is the only pair we know of that you can take 5 years to pay for. BUT then, if we didn't think they'd be going strong 5 years from now, we wouldn't back them with a 5-year in-the-home service plan. Of course, the washer and dryer may be purchased individually, with favorable low monthly terms.

If you figure it out with pencil and paper, this is both the highest-priced and the least expensive washer & dryer you can buy.

A free booklet.

There's more to the story. We think the more you learn about these two, the more you'll want them. So we'll be glad to give you a free copy of the owner's manual. It gives you all the details. Pick up your free copy next time you're in the neighborhood.

Chamber At Shoshone Needs Funds

SHOSHONE — Extent of Shoshone Chamber of Commerce Christmas activity will depend on how much local businessmen cooperate in raising funds, members of the Chamber decided at their Monday noon meeting.

A fund drive will be conducted, with many business houses where dues have not been paid thus far this year being contacted in an effort to carry out the usual program. A special meeting is set Monday to decide whether or not to go ahead with the lighting contest this year.

Though funds are not sufficient to handle the cost, the group did decide to have the annual Children's Christmas party, with a free movie at the Rex Theater and treats distributed by Santa Claus Dec. 8.

Ivan Hopkins, Herb Forbes and Cecil Cope were named to the nominating committee for the election meeting set for 7:30 p.m. Dec. 11 at the Manhattan Cafe. Ray Rostron, Twin Falls, will speak.

Kenneth Crothers, superintendent of schools, asked a chamber member be named to the school evaluation committee. Kenneth Blackburn, president, named Wilson Churchman to serve on this committee.

A letter was read from the Sun Valley airlines at Gooding urging use of air mail delivery from this area to Salt Lake City. No action was taken on the matter until after further study is made.

Melvin D. Alsager, from the Department of Health, spoke regarding underground pollution, stating this was more serious than dumping sewage into a stream.

He outlined laws pertaining to pollution, noting that the licensing of well drillers to stop drainage use for sewage, was a step to control the problem in Idaho. He urged local citizens to work toward a sewer system here.

Other guests were Dale Riedesel and John Straubar, Twin Falls, and Floyd Silva, Shoshone.

Industry Planning Explosion

By JAKE BOOHER JR. FARMINGTON, N.M. (AP) — Technicians worked Saturday to seal a 4,240-foot-deep hole as final preparations got under way for the first industrial use of a nuclear explosion.

Barring further delays a 26-kiloton "peace bomb," with the power of 26,000 tons of high explosive, is to be detonated 55 miles east of Farmington Wednesday in a remote area of the Carson National Forest in northern New Mexico.

The explosion, called Project Gasbuggy, is to help determine whether such detonations can help free natural gas from tight rock formations from which, otherwise could not be obtained economically. The Atomic Energy Commission, El Paso Natural Gas Co. and the U.S. Bureau of Mines are joint sponsors of the $4.7-million Gasbuggy, which the AEC says is the first industrial use of a nuclear explosion.

The nuclear device, enclosed in a 13 1/2-foot diameter, has been lowered 4,240 feet, just below the gas-bearing Pictured Cliffs Rock formation which spokesmen say is typical of low-permeability, "tight" formations in the West. It has been estimated that if the nuclear explosion technique works in such formations, the nation's natural gas reserves could be doubled.

The 18 1/2-inch-diameter hole was being filled up to 700 feet below the surface with cement. Above that was to be 650 feet of a special sand which packs tightly and the final 50 feet was to be filled with polymer to act as a sealing substance.

The giant rig which drilled the hole was being removed from the ground zero area, as were trailers and other unnecessary equipment. Because of the depth of the detonation, AEC spokesmen say no crater around ground zero is expected. But they do not discount what they say is a slim possibility that some radioactive materials might escape from the hole.

Two Fires Noted At Glens Ferry

GLENN'S FERRY — The Glens Ferry Volunteer Fire Department was summoned at 7:30 a.m. Friday to extinguish a fire in a carload of onions that came in on an east-bound freight train.

This was the second time in two days that the department was called. On Thursday a fire originating in the electrical wiring of the gas furnace at the Job Doyle home caused considerable smoke damage and necessitated replacement of some furnace parts.

Mrs. Doyle was at home and called her son, Bill Thompson, who extinguished the fire before the department could arrive to pour on water.

T. F. Man Is Honored For Heroic Act

James Howells, presently a member of the Twin Falls Police Department, recently was awarded a citation to accompany the Air Force Commendation Medal he received for meritorious service in Vietnam.

The then Staff Sgt. Howells was a flight mechanic aboard a C-130 aircraft on July 7, 1966, when a bomb was discovered aboard.

The citation notes that Sgt. Howells' "professional skill, knowledge and leadership aided immeasurably in disposing of the bomb and saving the lives of 92 persons, C-130 aircraft and its crew."

"By prompt action and humanitarian regard for his fellow man, Sgt. Howells has reflected credit upon himself and the United States Air Force."

Upon return to the United States, Sgt. Howells was promoted to technical sergeant. He also was awarded the Air Medal with eight oak leaf clusters after 410 missions in Vietnam.

He was discharged in August of this year. He and his wife and three children live in Twin Falls.

Senator Says McCarthy May Succeed

By WALTER R. MEARS WASHINGTON (AP) — A Republican senator believes Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy might build backing for a full-scale presidential bid in 1972 with his Democratic primary campaign of Vietnam dissent next year.

The senator, who asked that his name not be used, made the prediction as McCarthy launched today the first road trip of his challenge to President Johnson.

"The Minnesotan makes his first speech as a declared candidate before the Conference of Concerned Democrats in Chicago.

His campaign trip opens with an airport rally, strategy talks with dissident Democrats from presidential primary states and a private dinner with wealthy supporters who could provide vital financial help for his four or six-state primary challenge.

Scanning the current Democratic scene, the GOP senator said McCarthy's campaign as a symbol of resistance to the administration's Vietnam policy could make him a contender in 1972.

McCarthy acknowledges there is little chance he can wrest the 1968 nomination from Johnson. "If he revives the old Adlai Stevenson organization among the Democrats, he might have substantial support in 1972," the GOP senator said.

McCarthy has said he anticipates support from rank and file Democrats who lined up with Stevenson in his 1952 and 1956 presidential campaigns, and tried unsuccessfully to win him a third nomination in 1960.

Should Johnson seek and win renomination and re-election, his second full term—the constitutional limit—would end after the 1972 presidential election.

But a Democratic politician, who also didn't want to be named, said he doubted McCarthy could muster the support or the money to present a formidable challenge to the likely Democratic contenders for the 1972 nomination.

McCarthy said in announcing his own candidacy Thursday that he would not have entered the race had Kennedy consented to run in 1968.

And he said a later Kennedy entry might take over whatever support he is able to build. Kenedy has said repeatedly that he will not be a candidate for the presidency in 1968.

Gov. John B. Connally of Texas, a longtime Johnson personal and political friend, accused McCarthy of acting as a Kennedy "straw horse" in a bid to try to coalesce the dissidents and get some accurate approximation of their numbers and their strength.

Connally made his comments to a newsman Friday in New York. He was a White House guest of Johnson's Wednesday night.

DESPITE THE CONDITION of this 1966 GMC two-ton, 10-wheeler truck which collided with a Union Pacific train of loaded sugar beet cars, the driver, Ignacio Isasi, 38, Heyburn, was not seriously hurt. He was dismissed from Cassia Memorial Hospital, Burley, Friday, after being treated for head lacerations. Two wreckers were needed to pull the truck loose from the front of the train. The train traveled 300 feet after the collision, carrying the truck along. Officers said the driver failed to see the flashing red lights at the railroad crossing on East Main Street in Burley Wednesday night. The demolished truck was owned by the B and C Trucking Co., Burley.

Burley, Rupert Hospitals Are Accredited

BURLEY — Thomas Harris, administrator for Cassia Memorial Hospital and Minidoka Memorial Hospital, announced this week that both institutions have been approved for a full three-year accreditation.

The joint commission on accreditation of hospitals includes the American College of Physicians, American College of Surgeons, American Hospital Association and American Medical Association.

creditor, spent a full day at each hospital checking and making reports. Accreditation is the standard which hospitals and medical staffs set as their goals, Harris stated.

The accreditation or approval guarantees a patient that the hospital's physical plant and the practice of medicine within the hospital both meet high standards. This includes proper keeping of medical records, the medical staff policies, and having an administrator who is adequately trained and an adequate nursing staff. This makes the second three-year accreditation for the Cassia Memorial Hospital. Minidoka Memorial Hospital had been on a one-year provisional accreditation because there was no pathologist associated with the hospital, and this problem has been taken care of," stated Harris.

NEGROES ADMITTED
WASHINGTON (AP) — Three Negroes have been admitted to membership in the Indian Spring Country Club in suburban Maryland. The club thus became the first of some 40 country clubs in the Washington area to accept Negroes.

Memorial Hospital had been on a one-year provisional accreditation because there was no pathologist associated with the hospital, and this problem has been taken care of," stated Harris. Now Minidoka Memorial Hospital has its first three year accreditation.

AEC Asks Treaty On Weapons

By ROBERT GOLDENSTEIN
AP Science Writer

CHICAGO (AP)—The heads of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission and the International Atomic Energy Agency called Saturday for a nonproliferation treaty to prohibit the acquisition of nuclear weapons by additional countries.

Their pleas highlighted the 25th anniversary observance of the world's first self-sustaining nuclear chain reaction at the University of Chicago—a two-day event attended by several hundred leading nuclear scientists.

Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg, chairman of the AEC, said a nonproliferation treaty plus effective safeguards against diverting nuclear fuel to bomb production are essential.

Both steps must be taken, he said. "If programs for expanding the peaceful applications of nuclear energy are to be pursued with maximum effectiveness in an atmosphere of mutual trust where nations can feel assured that other nations are not engaged in nuclear developments that could threaten their security."

"The plutonium produced in nuclear power reactors has a massive potential for good or evil," he said.

Seaborg said that projections indicate that by 1980 enough plutonium will be produced throughout the world each day to furnish fuel for 100 million kilowatt days of electric power "or alternatively to furnish the explosive ingredient for tons of nuclear weapons."

Sivgard Eklund, director-general of the International Atomic Energy Agency, Vienna, predicted that unless there is a complete draft of such a treaty by mid-1968, "the momentum generated for this issue will be lost, and the prospects for an agreement will be nullified."

He said the momentum for such an agreement was generated when the United States and Russia submitted to the eighteen nation disarmament committee in Geneva more than three months ago identical draft proposals for nonproliferation.

He said, however, that amendments submitted to the committee by delegates dealing with specific views have presented difficulties.

ISU Is Offering Adult Classes

Classes offered through Idaho State University's Continuing Education program will be offered to adults during evening courses in Twin Falls and the Burley-Rupert area.

Dr. Richard Merriman, director of Southeast Idaho Continuing Education, said that persons interested in the courses should contact his office at ISU. Courses in all areas will carry regular credit from ISU, he said.

Registration is tentatively planned for Jan. 29 to Feb. 2, and each class must have a minimum enrollment of 12.

Army Surrenders Fight With Draftee

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Army has surrendered in its battle to hold on to a draftee who spent his entire 18-month hitch at home with his wife, some of the time earning $130 a week at a job.

The Army announced Friday that Pfc. Joe A. Smith, 23, of Brownsville, Calif., would be released from active duty probably next week.

At the same time the announcement was made by the 6th Army U.S. District Judge Robert C. Peckham was issuing a show-cause order for the Army to explain why Smith should not be discharged. The judge laughed when he heard about the release.

Like all the other draftees, Smith received 30 days leave at the end of his basic training at Ft. Hood, Tex., in November 1965. He went to his Sacramento Valley home to await orders.

Smith waited... and waited... and waited. No orders. Finally, he took a $130-a-week logging job with Sillen Bros. Inc., at nearby Yuba City to support himself and his wife, Glenda, 23.

He waited a year and a half. All the while, the Army sent Mrs. Smith a monthly allotment check of $95.20—and in Smith's name they sent an $18.50 U.S. savings bond every three months. But he didn't get his private's pay because he wasn't at a post to sign for it.

Last June 13, Smith figured his time was up, donned his almost new uniform and presented himself for discharge at the Oakland Army base. There was a bit of a fuss.

"You've got to be kidding!" exclaimed an officer when he heard Smith's story. Smith said he sure wasn't.

The Army wanted Smith to serve for real—his 18 months, to return all the money they had paid in allotment checks and bonds. The American Civil Liberties Union took up Smith's cause.

While the case was simmering, Smith was sent to the 6th Army presidio in San Francisco and employed as a runner. He even made private first class.

Smith said the Army also wanted to charge him for desertion, but dropped it for insufficient evidence.

"I didn't expect trouble," Smith said when the case was first made public. He said he didn't try to hide the fact he was in the Army.

Smith's release from the Army means—like other draftees—that he still has the remainder of a six-year service obligation to serve: active reserve for two years during which he will attend weekly drill, inactive reserve for another two. Then he gets his discharge.

An Army spokesman said he was "not certain" about what would happen to the Army's demands for return of the bond and allotment money. But he said he expected the release to be "normal" and none of the money would have to be returned.

Your Spine and Your Health

By Dr. Ludwig C. Landwehr

"Tractor Back" is a relatively new, yet common, ailment among our farmers, causing much discomfort, pain and many lost working hours. If today's farmer still would work with horses, he would have to let them rest after 8 to 9 hours, yet because his tractor doesn't need the rest, the farmer works himself almost twice as long. The bouncing, jolting and concentration over such a long period of time will fatigue the muscular system to such an extent, that the whole skeletal framework finally sags, causing nerve pressure and the usual resulting loss of proper body mechanics, with its—lower-back pain, shoulder pains, neckaches, and headaches.

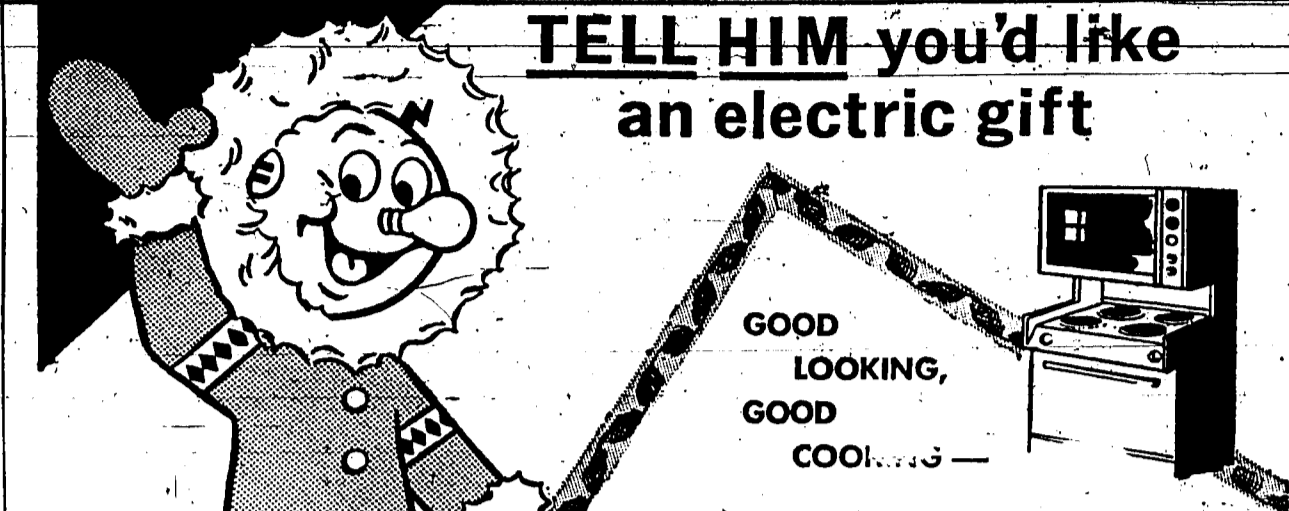

A regular check with his doctor of chiropractic and thereby obtaining relief from pain and distress, as well as avoiding many chronic ailments in later life, will for every farmer add to his own comfort and well-being.

(One of a series of articles published in the public interest to explain and illustrate the practice of scientific chiropractic, written by Dr. Ludwig C. Landwehr, whose office is located at 717 Main Ave. W., Twin Falls, Tel. 733-0522.)

Historic Albion Normal Finding Secure Modern Day Spot As MVCC

By FRED DODDS
Times-News Staff Writer

ALBION — In 1893 hardy Albion residents decided it was high time their sons and daughters got a college education. However, the nearest college was far away.

With travel restricted then, a sheepskin might have been on the moon. To meet the problem, the pioneers built their own college.

Today, the first building of Albion State Normal School still stands. It is being used now by the school's heir, Magic Valley Christian College.

It is a building of brick and stone and ivy grows on its walls. It looks like it was designed primarily to ward off Indian attacks. Today one can wander through its rooms and get a feeling of the past.

In fact, the past is apparent throughout the 44-acre campus. Ancient chairs, dusty manuscripts and old books, and time-worn equipment.

Education here is different, but it is good.

Nearly everyone in Magic Valley these days has a relative that at one time attended Albion Normal. It has a long history of educational ups and downs.

The state legislature established Albion Normal in 1893. The old building was put up, and later several wings were added. Later, those wings burned to the ground.

During the early years, Albion Normal operated as a secondary school as well as a college. In 1947, the name was changed to Southern Idaho College of Education. More than 6,000 teachers were trained in this tiny college, at one time capable of handling 400 students.

The school closed in 1951, and reopened in 1957 under its present name.

But trouble followed the school like a plague. In 1960 the college added its third and fourth year of instruction. It may have been too much.

In 1965, it reverted back to a junior college, and in that year the college got a new president.

Since 1965, college officials paint a glowing picture. At that time there were only 18 unhappy students on campus.

Today there are 82, and next year the administration is looking toward an enrollment of 120. A figure of 180 is seen in two years, and from there... who knows?

Dr. Donald R. Neilson heads up operations from an ancient office in the administration building. He talks freely, looks a little bit like Ed Sullivan, and is proud of the school's history and even thinks the basketball team can improve its record soon.

The team is not famous for high scores, but at least male

students get to play basketball in the spring the college has a track team.

The college is at the base of a large mountain, and in the summer faculty and students fish the clear streams and lakes and hike the wild trails.

It is a campus uncommon in American colleges. Students call the president "Don," and the president replies to each by name. Dogs and cats are allowed on the campus, and students even keep them around the dormitories.

Jobs in the area are plentiful, with demand for workers exceeding the supply. Twenty-five per cent of the students are from California, some from Canada, Arizona and Massachusetts.

The college has 14 full-time faculty members, with two-thirds of the faculty having master's degrees or above.

"Kids can get a good education here," Dr. Neilson said. "As good as the first two years at Harvard, if they apply themselves."

One very important thing college officials are quick to mention is that it is not a church school. Many of the students who attend are members of the Church of Christ, but the college is not church affiliated.

Fifty per cent of operational costs come from the students, the other 50 per cent from private donations.

The college does, however, emphasize Christian development.

Classes range in size from 30 students to one. Dr. Neilson said teachers do not like to teach to one student, "but we will if the student needs the course."

Next year the college hopes to start a flight training program. The trimester plan will be inaugurated next fall with students able to attend from September to September.

Average expenses are: tuition, $375 a semester, room $80, board, $225.60, and books and supplies, $37.50.

Roughly it costs a student about $1,500 a year to go to school at Albion.

College officials deal harshly with those caught smoking, or passing bad checks.

The school has a full-time nurse who doubles as a teacher. For the benefit of this reporter, Dr. Neilson set up a soccer game for women in the school's gymnasium. Girls, screaming, lined up facing each other at opposite ends of the gymnasium.

With a flourish the coach tossed in the ball and the girls ran for the center of the floor.

Splat!

Dr. Neilson and a coed helped the injured girl out of the gymnasium, and she was later pronounced good as ever, except for the swelling on her ankle.

The library has nearly 17,000 volumes, with 3,000 of these being ancient books worth their weight in gold.

Nineteen people serve on the board of trustees, and most are from Idaho.

To be a student, graduation from high school is required, and graduates must have a C average or better. Character references are required.

Those who graduate at Albion must have 64 credit hours. An associate in arts degree is given, and courses offered range from art to speech, chemistry to music, biology to history, languages to Bible study.

There are married students on campus, and improvement of buildings goes on constantly.

"We have a good future," Dr. Neilson said.

Wendell, Capital Students Given Top Drama Ratings

LBJ Signs Bill On Guard Merger

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill designed to prevent the merger of the National Guard and the Army Reserves was signed today by President Johnson, ending a three-year struggle between Congress and the Defense Department.

The bill, called by its backers the Reserves Bill of Rights, would give statutory authority to the Reserves as a separate component of the armed services.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara touched off the controversy in 1964 when he proposed to merge the Army Reserve with the National Guard.

Since 1965, college officials paint a glowing picture. At that time there were only 18 unhappy students on campus.

Today there are 82, and next year the administration is looking toward an enrollment of 120. A figure of 180 is seen in two years, and from there... who knows?

Sen. McCarthy Embarks On Quest For Nomination

CHICAGO (AP)—Sen. Eugene McCarthy embarked on his quest for the Democratic presidential nomination Saturday and said President Johnson's leadership is sounding in America "a message of apprehension, a message of fear."

The Minnesota senator appealed for a return to "the promise of greatness" he said.

The text McCarthy prepared for the Conference of Concerned Democrats did not mention his own candidacy but stressed the platform on which he is running: opposition to Johnson's policy in the Vietnam war.

Rep. Don Edwards, D-Calif., told the conference McCarthy "shares our concern about multiple problems we face at home," and added "We must dedicate ourselves to the nomination of this man for president."

Conference leaders withheld flat endorsement of McCarthy, however, and indicated at a news conference that there would be none.

"It is a war which is morally wrong," McCarthy said.

Time and again his speech evoked the memory of Stevenson, twice the Democratic nominee for president, and of the assassinated Kennedy.

"John Kennedy set free the spirit of America," McCarthy said. "Quiet courage and civility became the mark of American government, and the new programs of promise and of dedication were presented."

McCarthy already has said that Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., brother of the late President, could become heir to backing built by his campaign against Johnson.

The senator said the spirit of Kennedy's leadership has given way to "a mood of frustration, of anxiety, of uncertainty."

"Instead of the language of promise and of hope, we have in politics today a new vocabulary in which the critical word is war: war on poverty, war on ignorance, war on crime, war on pollution. None of these problems can be solved by war but only by persistent, dedicated and thoughtful attention."

Then he turned to the Vietnam war, calling it a conflict of questionable legality and constitutionality; a war which is diplomatically indefensible, a war which "cannot stand the test of proportion and of prudent judgment."

BIRD'S EYE VIEW shows huge sign going up atop Perrine Hotel at Main Avenue and Shoshone Street in Twin Falls. A giant crane lifted the big sign into place Friday. The job of erecting the sign began several weeks ago, triggering a bit of controversy over whether the old hotel building would provide a strong enough base. The city building inspector says engineering studies indicate that it is more than adequate to support the sign, even in a strong wind.

Large Crowd Attends Fete At Hagerman

HAGERMAN — Despite bad weather a large number of parents and interested persons attended the third annual open house at the Hagerman Junior-Senior High School.

Dr. George M. Carnle, superintendent, gave a brief explanation on the individualized Learning Center project and accomplishments. Jack Martin, principal, introduced the faculty.

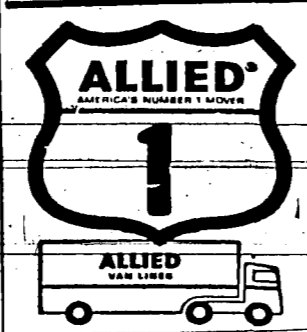

Five minute talks on how the LEC has benefitted teachers in their daily classroom work were given by Mrs. Larry Hobson, Mrs. Ella Certibarte, Mrs. Martin and Mrs. Lloyd Brown. Wayne Ills, agricultural teacher, showed audio and visual aid equipment used as helps for the teachers.

The group was then invited to go to the high school where they were taken on a tour of the Learning Center by students. After the tour parents visited with their children's teachers. Questionnaires were distributed to determine community interest in adult classes and usage of the school Learning Center after school hours.

Administration Rolls Out Biggest Guns For Tax Hike

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—The Johnson administration rolled out its biggest guns to support its long-standing proposal for a tax increase this past week. And it injected the devaluation of the British pound as an added reason for a boost.
Meanwhile, the U. S. dollar held firm as speculative gold buying abated abroad. Demand for gold had rocketed after the Nov. 18 cut in the value of the British pound from $2.80 to $2.40.
Under pressure of the devaluation, the recalcitrant House Ways and Means Committee resumed hearings on President Johnson's proposal for a 10 per cent income tax surcharge.
The administration sent Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler and William McCleskey Martin, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, before the committee to press its case.
But after hearing them, Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., committee chairman, ruled out action on a tax increase this year and suggested that the administration cut spending, deeply into government spending.
Fowler told the committee that failure of Congress to approve a tax increase would result in "the higher, crueler and unrepeatable tax of inflation, weakened confidence in the dollar, brutally high interest rates and the risk of a return to the old cycle of boom and bust."
Martin agreed with the administration's position that inflation has to be restrained by a tax increase and spending cuts.

"Inflation is no longer just a threat—it is a reality," Martin said.
The administration advised the committee it will cut spending by $2.6 billion in addition to reductions of $1.5 billion already made by Congress.
Mills advocated a further reduction in spending of $2 billion to $3 billion.
The dollar was bolstered by a pledge by the International Gold Pool to use all resources to keep the price of gold unchanged at $35 an ounce.
U.S. Steel Corp. raised the price of some light, flat-rolled products $5 a ton, or 2.1 per cent.
Affected were cold-rolled carbon-steel sheets used in automobiles and appliances and high-strength, low-alloy steel sheets used for some machinery and construction and in highway and bridge spans.
These products account for about 17.5 per cent of the industry's total production.
If other companies join in the boost, the industry's selective price increases this year will have covered nearly 62 per cent of its total output.
The cost of living in October moved to a record high in its ninth consecutive monthly increase. The Labor Department's consumer price index rose to 117.5, up three-tenths of 1 per cent from September and 2.6 per cent from a year earlier. This meant it took $11.75 to purchase goods and services that cost $10 in the 1957-59 base period on which the index is based.
The October increase was due mainly to higher prices for clothing, services and new cars.
The United Auto Workers Union began bargaining on a new contract with General Motors Corp. Agreements have been reached with Ford and Chrysler, but local disputes threatened to hamper Chrysler operations.

How Much More Can Farmer Take Is Question Of Woman

Editor Times-News:
How much more can the farmer take? Honestly, I am wondering if people really think the farmer can stand all these taxes. Our Secretary of Agriculture said that there has never been a business in history withstand a 42 per cent cut in income and survive and since 1940 the farmer has taken a 42 per cent cut in income.
Quoting Look Magazine — suburbanite income is $7,114 vs. $5,845 and farm $3,228 with farmers having the larger families of three.
For an example to what has happened to the farmer — 1960 we purchased a 160 acre, 80 share of water, 1960 we paid $154 and owned more cattle than we do now. We paid $2 a share for water. 1967 we owe $398 which makes our taxes double, plus $100 which makes us this year with all the taxes we will pay almost $700. If taxes keep this up we will be paying $1,000 by 1970, which is half of the profit made on this 160 acres. 1967 water assessment was $3.10 a share or $248, an increase from $180 in 1960.
What will happen to our water assessment if they build the new dam at American Falls? Will our water go up to $10 or $20?

Censor Of Supplement Said "Objectionable By Reader"

Editor, Times-News:
In reference to the Nov. 26 letter of Mrs. Ruth Horsh, Mrs. Horsh contended that the Times-News did a commendable job in not allowing the "Family Weekly" and its "objectionable" advertisement to be distributed with your paper.
In my opinion, the damage was committed when your paper withheld the supplement. The damage was that your 21,000 readers lost the freedom to decide for themselves what was objectionable to them and what was not.
They lost the right to be their own censors, which in a country such as ours should be theirs.
Your paper stated its reason for withholding the supplement was that the advertisement was not in standing with your policy of "good family" reading. How hypocritical can you get? Your paper is filled every day with stories of murder, rape, kidnapping and other "good family" reading.
"Was the story you ran on your front page on Wednesday, Nov. 22, about the baby who had its heart cut out and a pop bottle inserted in the cavity "good family" reading?
Your advertising contains ads for alcoholic drinks. What has alcohol ever done for "good family" relations? This type of reading is "objectionable" to me.
Although the advertisement was not in the best of taste, it was no more objectionable to me than many of the other items in your paper.
What was objectionable to me was that your paper took it upon itself to decide the issue for me.

Editorial Dealing With Liberalism Is Commended

Editor Times-News:
Your editorial in the Sunday, Nov. 26, edition of the Times-News on word meaning was excellent, and encouraging.
Normally, we conservatives expect to find such a truthful appraisal only in some of the malign "radical right" publications.
You stated: "It was only after the socialists corrupted the word liberal by adopting it that integrity began to lose meaning and disappear from daily use. Most conservatives would fully agree but we put it a little stronger by claiming the socialist stole the liberal label some 20 years ago."
Until about 1948 liberal meant approximately what conservative means today, i.e. less government control and more personal responsibility; being liberal and charitable with your own purse, but unalterably opposing government welfare programs which are not charity but Robin Hoodism.
Your editorial was a chink in the armor of the socialists who have disguised themselves as liberals the past 20 years. Many people are getting wise to the socialist corruption of words.
Some are also learning that conservative stands for old-fashioned Americanism and the golden rule; for absolutes such as the ten commandments as opposed to the socialist-intellectual lie of everything, including truth, being relative.
Because so many Americans are waking up to the socialist and communist disguised "liberal" clothing, I won't be surprised if in next year's election we find current liberals stealing the conservative label en masse.

T.F. Woman Says Alcatraz Should Be Given Hippies

Editor, Times-News:
After reading an article in the Times-News of a hippie mother that cut the heart out of her two-year-old baby while under the influence of a drug, I couldn't help but wonder if they'd punish or help her.
Those people that take this drug LSD "don't" want help. I think she should be punished the same as any other murderer. She committed two crimes — taking drugs and killing her own baby in cold blood.
They've been trying for years to decide what to do with "Alcatraz" and these hippies or flower children want to be left alone. So why not put them all over there and let them plant all the flowers they want to. Then see how much and how long they'd have a ball.
They'd have a place of their own where nobody would bother them and receive no help. Just maybe they'd think twice before they'd try these drugs.
They could change the name from the "Rock" to "Hippie Ville."

Jerome Woman Says Idaho Losing With Sen. Church

Editor, Times-News:
I wish to compliment you on your valid reasoning in your editorial "Idaho Could Lose" — however, the distressing element which I see is not whether or not Con. Hansen could beat Sen. Church and possibly lose his seniority in the House (I feel that there is more than one competent individual in the state who could fill the vacancy and with responsible ability as Representative Jim McClure in the First District), but rather that Sen. Church must be opposed by the one man in Idaho that has all the qualifications to oppose him — Con. George Hansen.
I am confident that George Hansen at the top of the ticket in Idaho would have a tremendous appeal to those voters who will take the time to listen to him in the coming campaign and examine Sen. Church's voting record.
I am sure Sen. Church could find a high paying job in the United Nations if we voted him out of office.
In reference to those particular "political experts in this area", I am active in politics and I have yet to see or hear of a so-called "political expert" who has all the right answers.
I don't know how many of those who are behind Con. Hansen all the way because I feel Idaho and the nation "has been losing" with Frank Church!

CSI Sweeps Pair From Idaho Freshmen

Vann And Barnett Lead Scoring As Golden Eagles Win 60-41, 56-52

The College of Southern Idaho Golden Eagles overpowered the University of Idaho Frosh 60-41 Saturday afternoon for the second win in as many days over the Vandal Babes.

Friday night the Eagles won 56-52 in a squeaker that went down to the final minutes.

Saturday's contest was a different story, however, as the Eagles kept a commanding lead throughout the entire game.

Larry Barnett connected for 12 points in the first half to lead the Eagle attack.

The Eagles took a quick 7-0 lead as Barnett, Fred Trenkle and Tom Bush hit quick buckets and Pies Vann added a free throw.

The Vandals battled back to within two points, but Barnett pushed through three more field goals to give the Eagles a comfortable lead.

The Eagles had a margin of 10 points midway through the first half and built up the lead to 30-18 at half-time.

CSI freshman center Tom Bush did a fine job of holding down Adrian Prince, the Idaho sharpshooter, to six points in the first half.

In the second half Ron Adams pumped through 11 points as the Eagles widened the margin.

The Vandals scored 25 points in the last half compared to CSI's 30, but the first half told the story as the hustling Eagles outplayed the taller Idaho team.

In Friday night's game Pies Vann was the man of the hour as he pumped through 26 points to lead the Eagles past the Idaho frosh.

The lead changed hands several times through the game, but midway through the second half the Vandals putted away with a five point lead and were able to maintain it until the last few minutes.

With about four minutes remaining in the game CSI started to gain on the Vandals, and with 3:13 left Vann hit on a short jump shot to give the Eagles a slim 51-50 lead. CSI held off a Vandal press in the closing minutes to post the final 56-52 victory.

ISU Defeats Northern Arizona 95-86, Downs C Of I 100-72

POGATELLO, Idaho (AP) — The Idaho State Bengals, despite a poor first half, took a 95-86 basketball victory Saturday night over visiting Northern Arizona. The Bengals grabbed their second win of the season using fast breaks to wear the Lumbards down late in the game. Guard Chuck Parks sank 33 points, 25 of them in the second half, as ISU came from behind three times to win. Teammate

Ron Boone, added 25 points for the Bengals. Veteran forward Jim Plump led Northern Arizona with 27 points. The score was tied nine times with the lead changing hands six times.

Friday night the Bengals opened their season by breezing to a 100-72 win over College of Idaho.

In a sloppily played game, the Bengals relied on their taller front line and the sharpshooting of veteran guards Ron Boone and Chuck Parks. In an early game the ISU Frosh beat the C of I junior varsity 70-47.

Passing Helps Vols Drop Vanderbilt

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Tennessee overpowered Vanderbilt 41-14 on the passing of Dewey Warren and the running of Water-Chadwick and Richard Pickens Saturday and won its first Southeastern Conference football title since 1956.

Warren Touched Off Tennessee's Touchdown Parade

Warren touched off Tennessee's touchdown parade midway in the first period when he hit flanker Richmond Flowers with a pass that covered 64 yards to the Vandy three. Chadwick plunged three yards for the TD. The drive covered 88 yards, and the Vols subsequently marched 50, 70, 49 and 53 yards for their remaining touchdowns.

Ellis Downs Bonavena Twice To Win Decision

BY GEORGE W. HACKETT
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Jimmy Ellis knocked Oscar "Ringo" Bonavena down twice Saturday and went on to a tight but unanimous decision over the Argentine in their 12-round semifinal bout in the World Boxing Association championship elimination tournament.

Ellis, a one-time sparring partner for deposed champion Cassius Clay, floored Bonavena in the third and 10th rounds in the grueling fight.

Ellis' only mark was a cut over his left eye, suffered early

In the eighth round, in winning, Ellis, 37, is only one fight away from his goal of the heavyweight championship of the world.

His next bout will be against the winner of the Jerry Quarry-Thad Spencer bout on Feb. 3 at Oakland, Calif.

Ellis, fighting before a hometown crowd, came in at 194½ pounds while the bull-strong, awkward Bonavena weighed 206½.

Bonavena, 25, almost overpowered the Louisville boy with his strength and had Ellis in trouble later in the fight, which was telecast nationally by the American Broadcasting Company.

A classic boxer, Ellis started strong but seemed to slow down near the end. He was clinching and hanging on but Bonavena was unable to capitalize on the advantage.

Bonavena, who started his professional career in this country, took the decision with little emotion and was embraced by his handlers.

It was a combination of rights and lefts to the head, thrown by the champion of Argentina, that opened the cut over Ellis' eye in the eighth round. But by the time the fifth had opened, the cut had stopped bleeding and Ellis, the son of a Baptist minister, seemed to have shaken off its effects.

Bonavena was unmarked around the face, but his body was a rosy red from Ellis' punches.

Each fighter earned $75,000 for his afternoon's work and Ellis now stands to pick up $125,000 when he goes into the title fight.

It was set up by the WBA after it stripped Clay of his title for refusing to accept military service.

Shortstops, Pitchers Were Hot Items At Trading Market

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
MEXICO CITY (AP) — Shortstops and starting pitchers were the hot items on the Mexican baseball trade mart with such big names as Zoilo Versalles and Luis Aparicio changing uniforms in 13 transactions involving a total of 33 players and 14 of the 20 big league clubs.

The biggest wheelers and dealers were the Baltimore Orioles, Los Angeles Dodgers and Chicago Cubs, each of whom made three deals or sales. The only American League team that did not get into the swing was Oakland. National League clubs who did not deal were Atlanta, Houston, Philadelphia, San Francisco and St. Louis.

The Dodgers' acquisition of shortstop Versalles and right-handed pitcher Mudcat Grant from the Minnesota Twins for catcher John Roseboro and reliever pitchers Ron Perranoski and Bob Miller involved the most glamorous names.

Walter Alton counts on Versalles to bounce back from a 200 year to fill the shortstop gap at Chavez Ravine and also figures Grant, a 21-game winner in the Twins' pennant year of 1965, to come back from a 5-6 season.

After all, Versalles is only 27 and was the most valuable player in the American League in 1965. It is interesting to note in passing that the Dodgers later sold to the New York Yankees the shortstop they got from Pittsburgh last year to take Maury Wills' place. That would be Gene Michael, who hit only .202.

ing staff. He got John O'Donoghue, a long reliever and spot starter, from Cleveland for Eddie Fisher, the knuckleball expert, and picked up Howard and Nelson from the White Sox. The other Baltimore transaction was the conditional sale of outfielder Sam Bowens to Washington.

Boston also moved to get more pitching help for Jim Lonborg in acquiring Ray Cupp from the Cubs for cash and a minor league outfielder, Bill Schlessinger.

The Yanks, who had hoped to land Aparicio in an involved three-club swap with the Detroit Tigers and Orioles had to settle for Michael from the Dodgers.

In their only other deal they bought first baseman John Bocabella from the Cubs for their Syracuse, N.Y., farm of the International League.

Pittsburgh and Detroit swapped relief pitchers, the Pirates sending Dennis Ribant, a part time starter and bullpen man, to the Tigers for Dave Wickersham.

The New York Mets' only activity was announced here but actually amounted to the completion of deals made previously. The Mets got catcher J. C. Martin from the White Sox in last summer's deal for Ken Boyer and sent right-handed pitcher Bill Denney to Washington to complete the transaction by which Gil Hodges became the new Met manager.

The groundwork for more deals probably was laid at the meetings because many clubs still have dire needs.

Wood River Overcomes Jerome 54-50

HAILEY—The Jerome Tigers took an early 8-0 lead but Wood River rallied back to take a 54-50 win over the Tigers Friday night.

Louie Hurst was the leading scorer of the game with 17 points.

Jerome's top scorer was Jim Stauffer with 11 points.

Even though this was the first game of the season for both teams they looked pretty good.

In return for filling some of the Dodgers' needs, the Twins got much-needed bullpen help in the left-handed Perranoski and the right-handed Miller. With Earl Battey now retired, Roseboro, despite his 34 years, figures to be the No. 1 move for an instant pennant in 1968.

The Baltimore-Chicago White Sox deal, which sent 33-year-old Aparicio back to his old Chicago home of seven years with outfielder Russ Snyder and minor leaguer John Matias for pitchers Bruce Howard and Rogers Nelson and infielder Don Buford, also could be important.

The White Sox plan to move Ron Hansen from short to second to make room for the return of Aparicio. Hank Bauer, Baltimore manager, always has liked Howard, a right hander, and figures him to be a starting pitcher. Buford, a handy man who can play second and third, is expected to give Brooks Robinson occasional rest at third base.

Cincinnati, which had been very active in the trading department before arriving in Mexico, made another swap sending right-handed pitcher Sammy Ellis to the California Angels for two right-handed relief pitchers, Bill Kelso and Jorge Rubio. Ellis no longer fitted into the Reds' starting rotation and Bill Rigney, manager of the Angels, was happy to add him to his starting list.

The surprising Chicago Cubs of Manager Leo Durocher bolstered their outfield by getting veteran Lou Johnson from the Dodgers and giving up only extra infielder Paul Popovich and minor league outfielder Williams. Lee tried 11 different men in right field last season and was happy to land a proven regular in Johnson, the batting

Indians Score Early To Down Filer

SHOSHONE — The Shoshone Indians jumped out ahead of the Filer Wildcats early in the game and then coasted to a 56-46 win Friday night.

The Indians took a 20-5 first period lead and then fought off the oncoming Wildcats to win the opening game of the season.

Gooding Overwhelms Kimberly

GOODING — The Gooding Senators broke loose in the third quarter to overwhelm the Kimberly Bulldogs 80-50 Friday night.

Larry Larsen hit 15 out of 17 free throws to keep the Senators in the game, and Kenny Krath helped out in the field goal department.

Gooding did not have a comfortable lead until the third period.

start of the Dodgers' 1966 pennant drive.

Most of the other swaps involved fringe players who figure to warm the bench or man the bullpen for their new clubs. Jose Cardenal, a speedy outfielder, may become a regular now that he has been traded by the Angels to Alvin Dark's Cleveland Indians to back up his pitching staff.

Bauer's deals for the Orioles were designed to help the pitch-

Second Period Elurry Gives Valley Win

BUHL — The Valley Vikings scored 23 points in the second quarter to take a 53-33 win over the Buhl Indians Friday night.

In the field goal department, Buhl only hit seven out of 49 and Valley connected for 15 out of 50.

Buhl had to use the free throw to keep in the game as they hit 19 out of 36, but the Vikings hit a little better percentage with 23 out of 25.

Midshipmen Build Up Lead, Hold Off Strong Army Attack To Save Win

By WILL GRIMSLEY Associated Press Sports Writer PHILADELPHIA (AP) —

John Cartwright, a ball-faking Houdini, and Jeri Balsly, running like a berserk ghost, made a shambles of Army's vaunted defense for three periods, but it took a guard to save a 19-14 victory for Navy Saturday in the 68th inter-service football rivalry.

Behind 19-0 and frustrated every turn by the fired-up underdog Middies, Army's Cadets came to life under sub quarterback Jim O'Toole for two dramatic touchdowns in the final nine minutes of the game.

Navy Played, Won Second Season

By RALPH BERNSTEIN and KEN RAPPAPORT Associated Press Sports Writers PHILADELPHIA (AP) —

Navy Coach Bill Elias said Saturday the Middies played, completed and won its second football season this year with their stunning 19-14 upset of favored Army.

The 4-1 record in the first nine games was the first season, Elias said.

The grey-haired Navy coach said he and his staff "have been working day in and day out, week in and week out just trying to take Army. This is the biggest win of my coaching career."

Asked if he thought the victory over the Cadets saved his job, Elias grinned, "I have no control over that so I didn't worry about it."

In the Army dressing room, the saddened players heaped praise on Navy's explosive first-half offense led by quarterback John Cartwright.

"Cartwright's about the best we've seen all year," said Bud Neswischewy, the talented defensive roving linebacker and captain of the team. Before the Navy loss, Army had an 8-1 record.

Elias said the defense he sprung on Army and the so-called power-I offense had been kept under wraps all season, just waiting for the Cadets.

The 43-year-old Navy coach described the defense which kept Army from crossing midfield until the second half as "a roll-action, simulated man-to-man that at times turned into a zone. They wouldn't have scored if Rick Bayer hadn't fallen down on a pass play."

Army Coach Tom Cahill joined his team in lauding Cartwright who "really played well. He did the job."

Steve Lindell, the starting Army quarterback who was bottled up all afternoon, said the reports that Cartwright gets rattled obviously were untrue.

Elias explained why the Middies went to the air in the final four minutes of play while leading 19-14 and deep in their own territory.

"In the past," said Elias, "we have been putting our offense to sleep when we got a one- or two-touchdown lead and thereby gave the momentum to the other team. We turned around against Army and kept playing in those final minutes like we were behind."

Quarterback Kenny Stabler, unable to pass because of wind and rain, darted 47 yards through the mud Saturday for a fourth-quarter touchdown that gave Alabama a 7-3 football victory over arch-rival Auburn.

The eighth-ranked Crimson Tide, headed for the Cotton Bowl, clinched second place in the Southeastern Conference standings with the victory, although Auburn dominated play and allowed Alabama only two first downs before Stabler's run.

Stabler completed only three passes for 12 yards and had one throw intercepted, but he swept the Tide to its eighth victory against a loss and a tie with his run, when he faked a pitchout and then outlegged Auburn defenders with 11 minutes left in the game.

Auburn, bowing for the fourth straight year to Alabama and held without a touchdown the last three meetings, ended the season with a 6-4 record and a 3-3 SEC record. Alabama finished with a 5-1 league mark.

Chrysler Recalls 8,200 1968 Cars

DETROIT (AP) - Chrysler Corp. Friday recalled 8,200 of its 1968 model cars because of possible built-in mechanical problems on an estimated 65 of the vehicles.

The firm said it has called in 8,000 Plymouth Fury, Dodge Polara, Dodge Monaco and Chrysler cars to search for 50 which may have a defective speed control device. Another 200 Plymouth Barracudas were recalled to check for a possible faulty suspension control arm on about 15 of the cars.

A Tribute To Our Insurance Men!

The man who "writes you up" for insurance is one of the most human of all salesmen. He deals in human nature. He must keep a myriad of facts and figures at his finger tips. He must be persistent, persuasive and personable. The sincere Insurance Man offers you something you owe to yourself and your family. He insures your life, with ample protection for your loved ones. He insures your home, your car, your personal possessions. He sells accident insurance and, oftentimes, special kinds of protection covering other personal or business assets. You're doing yourself, not him, a favor when you buy well-planned insurance. Consider him one of your most needed friends!

Who Gets Time To Rest At Nursing Home?

By JAN A. SAINSBURY
Times-News Feature Editor

Meals for 200 persons are prepared each day. On Sunday that takes 24 fryers, and a whole beef is used each two to three weeks. A dietitian is employed along with a supervisor of cooks, and special menus are made out to comply with a variety of special diets for those who need them.

"A washing machine breaks and the administrator is called to see what can be done about it. Someone parks in a no parking zone and a visitor can't get out. The administrator is called again. A newspaperman wants a tour of the facilities, and the administrator complies. And he returns to a mound of paperwork taken care of only to answer the phone a hundred times a day. People are on duty 24 hours a day, and their responsibility is far greater than that of most people. They are concerned with people who are bright and aware, and people who are not, people who never out of bed, people who need constant attention, people who are looking for more rest and companionship than they might get elsewhere, and people who need what everyone needs—affection and understanding. At a nursing home most of the people have little time to rest. For those who work there, rest is a word relegated to others. For the residents of a home most need less rest than some think. And if one calls it rest, it is a different kind of rest. It is rest captured during the long hours of a day and absorbed during the even longer hours at night. And keeping the moments between those periods of rest full of interesting and enjoyable things is part of a nursing home's job.

Euphemistically as well as realistically the one time term

"rest home" has given way to the more accurate term "nursing home." Registered nurses are on duty 24 hours a day. Homes approved for Medicare in Twin Falls County are the Mountain View in Kimberly, the Hazeldele and Sky View Manors in Twin Falls, and the Herral Nursing Home in Buhl.

Included at the Hazeldele and Sky View Manors in Twin Falls is a section of buildings known as a Retirement Center, and is reserved for those who do not need skilled nursing care, yet desire such helps as meal preparation and house cleaning.

With the advent of the Christmas season nearly everyone at the nursing homes or retirement centers becomes more active than usual. Halls are decorated. And then more decorations are made. Groups are invited to sing Christmas carols; and a Christmas Eve Party is planned.

During the day at most nursing homes, and specifically Hazeldele Manor in Twin Falls, Occupational Therapy classes are held for all who wish to participate. The "students" make dolls, corsages, center pieces and other handicraft items. Materials include such things as scraps of velvet, lace, feathers, and old medicine bottles.

Classes are also held on such subjects as genealogy; in this case it is a history and geography subject in which each person tells the story of his life and points on a large wall map of Europe and the country where his parents were born. And the stories are far from dull. One man told others of living on the banks of the Rhine River in Germany during his boyhood. His father was a customs man on the border between Holland and Germany and directed the shipments of cattle down the Rhine. And two ladies in the class compared notes of their beginnings in Switzerland.

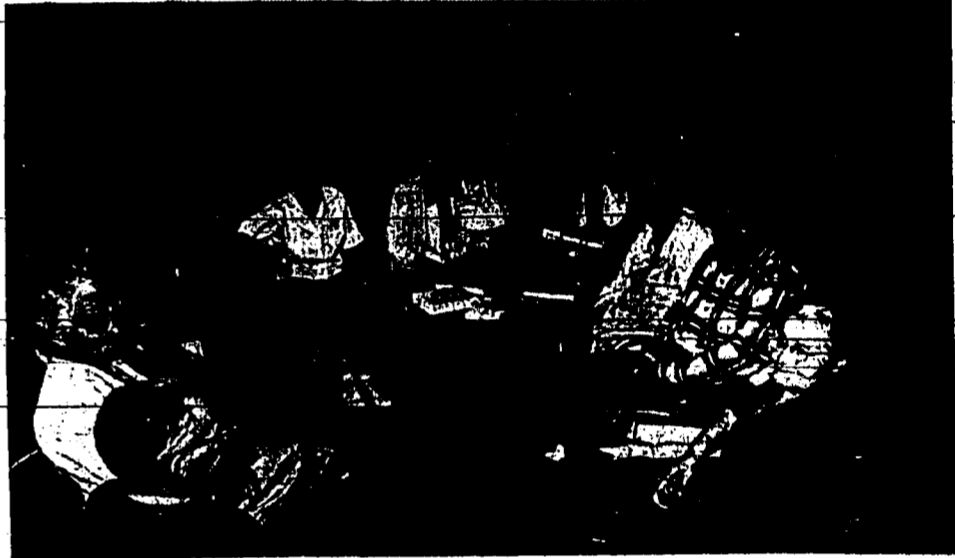

In the summer patio parties are held and later in the year many attend the County Fair in Filer. On Sundays a sermonette is provided by someone from the Ministerial Association. Another is given on Wednesdays. Slide shows are popular at most nursing homes, and recently those at Hazeldele Manor saw slides of a trip to Egypt presented by a local couple.

Hundreds of bulbs have been planted about the area by those in a "garden club" to enhance the surroundings.

And the activities continue. For those who live at a nursing home it can become lonely. Visits are always important. And visitors come often.

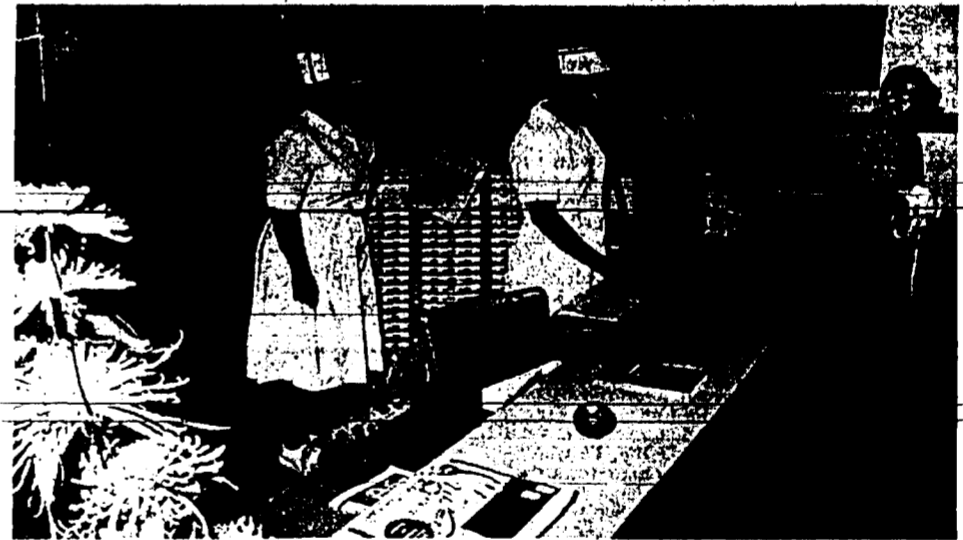

Requirements for operating nursing homes are set by the Department of Health of the State of Idaho, and are responsible for high standards found in most homes.

RESIDENTS OF HAZELDELE Manor gather around a birthday cake for a birthday party held each month. Presents are given and candles are blown out. And the women won't tell their age—even though one said, "Off the record I'm 94."

ADMINISTRATOR HAROLD DRAKE is in charge of both the Hazeldele Manor and the Sky View Manor, two Twin Falls nursing homes. They, along with others in the area, offer full Medicare programs, modern facilities, and a great deal of concern.

TWO NURSES, MRS. Jean Hazen, supervisor, and Mrs. Olive Bean, put in time behind the desk while others also see to nursing the individual needs of the people staying at the nursing home. Despite comprehensive paperwork, the primary responsibility of the registered nurses is to attend to the residents, and often the desk is vacant while someone is being looked after.

THIS REMODELED HOME has a wealth of history in its attic. The renovators discovered newspaper after newspaper dating from the early days of Twin Falls, and magazines no longer published. If you have lived in your house for some time, take a look in the attic. You may have forgotten about the hundred dollar bill you stashed away twenty years ago. And if you've only lived in your house a short while, who is to say what, or who, might be left up there. Happy hunting.

Easy Does It: Attics Are Full Of History

In 1909, January 28, 29, and 30, the First Annual Exhibition of the Twin Falls County Poultry Association was held at the Orpheum Theater in Twin Falls. In its program the Idaho Department Store advertised as "The only Department Store on the tract," and Dr. G. F. Baker took a half page advertisement proclaiming after his name, in bold black type, "The Dentist; Best Work, Lowest Prices, Twin Falls, Idaho." And the Twin Falls Bank & Trust Company in that same 68-page program listed their Capital Stock as $100,000.

"Bisbee, of the Electric Studio," advertised that he never missed an engagement, and wanted to know "You love your farm home, don't you? Of course you do." His studio was at that time (1909) across from the Nordling Hotel, near the present bus depot in Twin Falls.

And so in that one program—booklet for the First Annual Exhibition of the Twin Falls County Poultry Association, much of the valuable history of Twin Falls exists. A card which fell out of the booklet when it was located in the attic of an old home, dating back to the beginning of Twin Falls, read: McPherson's Grandview Poultry Ranch, Peavey, Idaho.

And that was just the beginning. In the attic of that home, which was remodeled by Vic Graybeal of Twin Falls, there were old magazines and letters dating to 1900. The letters were addressed to Alex McPherson, Director of Experiment Stations at the Milner Dam, and many request information on the climate and conditions of the area by people interested in moving here.

Another advertisement in the extremely farm-oriented material was one from the Jones-McIntire Meat Market, Kimberly, Idaho, and read, "How to Make Your Chickens Lay: Get a trough long enough for your flock and keep Ground Bone in it all the time. You will find it on hand any time you call at Jones-McIntire."

And one from the Twin Falls Times read, "Hot Air will run wind-mills and sell real estate. But it won't. Boost Newspaper Circulation. The Twin Falls Times does not claim to send a copy to every home in the United States, but it does reach more homes on the Twin Falls tract than any other paper, and that is the reason that advertising in the Times pays dividends to the home merchant. Subscription books are cheerfully shown to advertisers." A subscription then was $2.00 a year.

And one of the most interesting of all is from the G. E. Conkey Company of Cleveland, Ohio. It reads, "Conkey's Roup Cure in the drinking water cures the sneezing, wheezing, gasping Moping Fowls. If they can't see to Drink, you can still give it, dipping their heads in a weak solution of Roup Cure in Warm Water, holding in about three seconds. But don't let Roup rule the Roost. Ask for Conkey's. Your dealer has them, if he is down to date. We make a definite Remedy for each Disease."

A 1911 magazine, similar in makeup to the National Geographic, but containing news, called "The American Review of Reviews," shows President Taft "at Atlanta, Georgia, Last Month."

And a copy of The Idaho Daily Statesman headlines, "Defense gives hints of how it expects to controvert Orchard's Testimony." That was in June of 1907, and the Orchard spoken of was Harry Orchard, later convicted of the murder of Governor Steunenberg, of Idaho.

And a display advertisement on the inside page reads, "Cancer! May develop from a wart or mole: Dr. Holverson." Strawberries were 10 cents a box, three for 25 cents. A for-rent classified advertisement read, "For Rent — Suite of offices in Union block. Price $15." An attic full of history for the looking.

You may not be as lucky. Or then again you may find even more.

The Money Box

BY FRANK SCHELL

First question this week comes from M. L. Buhl, Idaho, and reads: I have an Indian Head Penny, dated 1902. It has what looks like a ring around it, and I cannot tell whether it was made that way or if someone put the penny in the ring. Can you tell me which, and also the value of the penny?

Answer: The mint has never turned out any coins with rings around them. I would judge from your description that this is a coin mounting ring. Years ago a great many coins were mounted this way to wear as jewelry, although I must confess I have not heard before of a one-cent piece used this way. Most of the coin mountings were more valuable pieces of money. I would be interested in seeing this coin to check it. The 1902 Indian Head Cent is not particularly valuable, since they are found to be too cold. When a man is fishing, he doesn't mind the cold as long as fish are biting, so out went Mr. Brown decked out with an extra set of clothing. Just as he was getting his fishing gear ready in his still boat, it was struck by the dentist's moving boat. About $40 worth of fishing gear went to the bottom and the only thing he could salvage besides himself was a can of worms which remained afloat. Because of the heavy clothing, the two feared of going under and not being able to come back up. He said if it hadn't been for all the people, including the dentist, who came to their rescue, they never would have made it. He said the water was certainly icy, but didn't seem too noticeable to them at the time because of all the excitement. Air tanks brought the boat back to the surface and it was towed in by another boat. Gaynel received quite a scare and her grandfather realized this and saw wisdom in making her go back out in the boat on the lake.

He said to not go back out could make the fear greater and prevent her from enjoying this sport in the future. As soon as the boat and motor were completely dried-out, the 80-year-old man and his 22-year-old granddaughter got back into the boat and finished fishing. The motor just took right off like nothing had ever happened," he said.

Albin Brown, PAUL, and his granddaughter, Gaynel Brown, Twin Falls, put on two sets of heavy clothing to keep warm while fishing, but it almost cost them their lives. While fishing in Mr. Brown's boat at Magic Dam, their boat was struck by a boat operated by a Nampa dentist. The boat capsized, throwing the two occupants into the icy water, which quickly absorbed into the two layers of clothing. The dentist quickly stalled his motor and hung onto the hands of the two victims being weighted down by the water. Witnesses on the shore came to the scene with two boats and each rescued one accident victim. Mr. Brown said he was so weighted down that it was quite a struggle for the persons in the boats to pull them inside. His ribs were bruised during the struggle to get him into the rescue boat, but his granddaughter was pulled in without incident. Mr. Brown has been fishing at Magic Dam the past 15 years, owns a cabin there and has made friends from all over the country. He said he has never been so glad to see his friends come see him in all his life, as when the rescue units came towards them. Being a fishing enthusiast, he was eager to get on the lake by 8 a.m., a time which others readily available from dealers. You do not describe the condition of the coin — but low price on it could be as little as 10¢ while the highest you could get for an uncirculated 1902 would be about $2.00.

Question: "Could you tell me if a pierced silver dollar is of any value? It's an 1858 F. The lettering on it looks like 'Ds 20 Gs' (D. W. Twin Falls Idaho).

Answer: This question is a little puzzling, since you do not give me a description of the coin, but the letters "Ds 20 Gs" is an inscription found on Mexican and Spanish coins of this period (Pillar Dollars — the so-called "piece of eight") signifying the silver content of the coin. I would judge then that on one side of this coin you will find the Mexican Eagle, on the other a Liberty Cap emblem (or possibly a bust of the Spanish Emperor).

The letter "F" following the date is unknown to me and must be another letter which has been worn enough to look like an "F". Look at the coin carefully and see if the legend "8R" precedes the date. It is doubtful if this 8-reale piece has much value if a hole has been drilled in it, since it is not a scarce coin. However, it is most interesting to speculate on its identity and the column would appreciate it if you would mail the coin to us for identification. It will be mailed back to you promptly.

Question: I have an Indian Head cent which is fastened in a circle of what looks like aluminum. There is a horseshoe on the aluminum around the cent and on the other side it says "Keep Me and Never Go Broke." Can you tell me anything about it? From Mr. R. L., Twin Falls, Idaho.

Answer: Not much, since there is no other legend on the aluminum. From 1898 to about 1930 a great many of these pocket pieces were turned out — supposedly to bring luck to the owner. Many of them were advertising tokens and had some kind of advertising legend on them, together with a business name. They were primarily intended for "give-away" advertising. I have seen them with Indian Head Cents, Lincoln Cents, and occasionally a buffalo nickel, in them.

The value of course would be whatever value the coin might have. There are collectors of these pieces.

Lament: I Wonder Who's Watching Me Now

Nineteen eighty-four is here. TV surveillance of streets and shores proposed for Newport Beach, Calif., is strikingly similar to the closed circuit TV system that kept track of almost everything citizens did or said from birth to death, in George Orwell's famous novel, "1984."

On November 13 the Newport Beach city council gave the go-ahead for an application to the U.S. Department of Justice for a grant to finance the TV system, for which components already exist.

This development dramatizes an apparent nationwide penchant for general surveillance of all people, honest and dishonest alike, to deter and apprehend some dishonest ones.

These pieces, but most of them want only encased cents which have the issuer's identity inscribed on them. Send me a description of the coin and I can give you an estimated value on it.

Question: I have what looks like a penny which has been flattened out. One side has raised lettering which says "1934" and below a kind of globe the words "A Century of Progress." The back of it has a real dim picture of Lincoln on it — what is it? This question comes from R. R., Twin Falls, Idaho.

Answer: You have an elongated cent. Beginning with the World's Fair (Columbian Exposition) in Chicago in 1893, the elongated cent has been popular as a souvenir item. Actual copper cents are rolled between rollers, resembling an old fashioned clothes wringer. One of the rolls has the lettering on it, and by pressure this lettering is transferred to one side of the coin, at the same time flattening it out. Your cent came from the Chicago World's Fair which took place in 1933-34.

It has little value — probably fifty cents at the most. (Questions on coins and currency should be sent to The Money Box, care The Times-News, Twin Falls, Idaho 83301.)

Most people conclude from news stories that snoopers are mostly after bookies, syndicate hoodlums and tax cheats, a survey by a national life insurance company indicates.

However, "The average urban citizen can't go a single day without being spied on, listened to or peeped at," says Bernard Fensterwald Jr., chief counsel for a senate subcommittee investigating invasion of privacy. In Newport Beach, mobile TV cameras are expected to be focusing on shopping centers, intersections and four miles of beach front within a year. The cameras will pick out people a mile away in the dark.

Fixed cameras will be installed in supermarkets, banks and other public places. Police officers will watch monitors and alert cruising patrol cars in case of trouble.

Already, millions of retail store customers are under daily surveillance, a survey reports. The eyes of clerks and store detectives—male, female and juvenile—follow them as they shop, though they may be unaware of their churches or Eagle Scouts.

Security people lurk behind the scenes, peering at shoppers through innocent-looking floral arrangements above floor level, or observing them in strategically located, all-seeing parabolic mirrors that reflect 180 degrees of the scene in front of them.

One-way glass is the store detective's favorite ploy. He hides behind false bay windows made with one-way glass. (Such devices are called Trojan Horses.) He even sits behind the one-way glass wall of "change booths" in department stores, watching for women who slip merchandise under their clothing. Scandal-wary stores are hiring more female detectives for booth duty now, however.

Some stores train TV or film cameras on customers. Usually the cameras are in full view, to deter shoplifting. Says one camera manufacturer: "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of apprehension." Security measures seem justified. Statistics imply that honesty is going out of style in America. Petty—and not so petty—thievery by customers and employees seems to be the national pastime.

At least 25 million larcenies will be committed in the United States by the end of 1967, says Paul D. Astor, president of a company that provides undercover men who pose as employees to detect employee pilferage. Thirty per cent of all business failures are due to theft by employees, according to the Firemen's Insurance Company.

As a result, business and industry has taken up employee surveillance in a big way. One expert estimates that 30,000 to 40,000 firms use polygraphs (lie detectors) regularly.

One company pulled the plug on its polygraph when the device labeled the company's president a misfit. Another lie box indicated that all employees in a Corpus Christi, Tex., store were dishonest. "We decided to overlook all but the extreme cases," said the disillusioned owner of the store.

A Midwest executive said that home phones of employees with access to customer lists, advertising plans and other trade secrets are commonly tapped. Companies monitor phone calls to learn what employees think of one another, and how hard they sell.

One executive of a large firm hid tiny transmitters in the toilet paper rolls in the ladies' room. Executives suspected of hanky-panky with secretaries are likely to acquire a "tail."

A San Antonio, Tex., workman went berserk one day, picked up a hammer, and smashed the TV camera trained on employee of a sash and door company. At his arraignment, the incensed employee shouted: "I don't care if they execute me. I did it for the working people."

The boss sometimes spies on his employees; but employees also spy on each other. Free-lance peeping Toms using cheap bugs and taps and optical devices available through newspaper advertisements are snooping just for fun throughout America, the insurance company survey indicated. Some authorities attribute the current spying vogue to the "James Bond mystique." Others say that the amount of part-time surveillance has been exaggerated and that most snoopers listen in on party lines.

One case of "hobby snooping" involved a Denver man who tapped the terminal box in his apartment building and spent many a happy hour snickering as he listened to his neighbors' phone conversations.

Federal agents also spy on private citizens, not just Communists and other enemies of the country. The Treasury Department conceded to Sen. Edward V. Long's subcommittee investigating eavesdropping and surveillance that microphones were hidden in Internal Revenue Service offices in 57 cities. Sheldon Cohen, IRS commissioner, admitted cases of eavesdropping private citizens.

Post Office peepholes have been helpful in catching citizens who pocket ball-point pens. An FBI agent testified in court that he installed an eavesdropping device in the office of a Milwaukee attorney who represented a nightclub operator charged with income tax evasion.

War protester David Harris, former Stanford student body president, said: "Every time we had a rally there'd always be an FBI agent there with his camera, with a telescopic lens, taking pictures of everybody."

"Indiscriminate surveillance, even to deter crime, may not be worth loss of privacy to people who never have and never will commit a crime against society," the insurance company survey notes.

Sen. Long advocates absolute prohibition of private wiretapping. FOR FAST SELLING RESULTS USE TIMES-NEWS WANT ADS

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

A pet crow which is well known among JEROME children and the young in heart is missing again. Mrs. George Davis, 321 E. Ave. B., reports her pet has not been home for about two to three weeks.

The bird loves children and frequently joins a young bicycle rider by landing on his shoulder and "bumming" a ride. He also visits most of the schools and if there is a window open, he is not above joining a class.

Last week Mrs. Davis read an item in the Times-News "Seen Today" column about a pet raven in TWIN FALLS and immediately checked it out, but it was not the same bird. Dennis Haynes, Twin Falls deputy sheriff, has his pet raven for about six months and it was given to him by a neighbor boy.

Mrs. Davis' bird has been a family pet since it was a baby and can say "Hello" or bark like a dog and laugh like a man. Last winter the bird disappeared and was adopted by a young boy who clipped his wings and attached a pigeon band to one leg.

When the crow tired of his new home, he came back to the Davis home, walking because of the clipped wings. He was gone about six weeks that time.

So Mrs. Davis still is hopeful she will find the bird again. She says if anyone knows of a crow hanging around a home, "asking" for a handout, she will be happy to come and get him. Just call her at 324-2486.

Although the crow has had the run of the Davis place and most of Jerome, he often disappears for a day or two and then returns home, usually at night, but it's been several weeks now

Supt. Harry Durall To End 34 Years On Camas School Faculty In June

FAIRFIELD — Thirty-four years on the Camas County school faculty has given Supt. Harry Durall an opportunity to influence and help mold the lives of many youths.

Mr. Durall has announced that he intends to retire at the end of the term in June. He states that his most satisfying experience is watching his high school graduates go on to institutions of higher learning and become successful in their chosen field.

Percentage wise, there are more students from Camas County High School entering institutions of higher learning than is average. Many of these have made the honor roll. The school has also enjoyed an enviable record in athletics.

Mr. Durall was chosen this last summer to chaperone 30 high school students from the Western states to the United Nations Pilgrimage which included a bus tour of the United States and Canada.

Born in Oologah, Okla., while it was still Indian Territory, Durall attended his first two years of school at Collinsville, Okla.

His family decided to move West and settled on a homestead at Voltage, Ore. There he attended a one room school until he completed the eighth grade.

The journey was made in November and Durall recalls his father saying that "Anyone must be crazy that would start out in winter across 150 miles of desert with four small children."

In the meantime, the Duralls owned the Fairfield Motor Co., which is now operated by Charles Dickinson. They purchased the Western Auto Store in 1953 and sold it to Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Daniel in 1954.

He is a member of the Masons and the IOOF lodges, belongs to the Methodist Church and has served on the board in various capacities.

He feels that the school needs a closed TV system; a better guidance program; an individual learning center with a reading center; more vocational training for the slow learners with some form of on-the-job training and an involvement of the teachers in research.

HARRY DURALL

During this time, in partnership with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Frostenson, they constructed the first ski lift at the Soldier Mountain site.

He states that on the move from Oklahoma, that the family came by train to Vale, Ore., which was then the end of the railway. His father bought a wagon and a team of Indian ponies and the journey from Vale to Voltage took a week.

He adds that during the years 1957-1966 the gillnet catch of "Group B" steelhead in the late fall fishery ranged from 2,000-8,000 fish, with an average of 3,700. This year the commercial catch of "Group B" steelhead was estimated at 6,000 fish.

He started his teaching career at Meridian High School in 1928 where he coached football and taught social studies.

He was appointed superintendent of schools in 1940 and served for six years when he retired to serve a term in the state legislature as representative from Camas County.

Humble Fisherman Can Learn Mighty Philosophical Lesson From Steelhead

By JIM HUMBIRD

Idaho Fish-Game Department It can be argued without much fear of contradiction that steelhead trout teach a man more about the real philosophic purpose of angling than any of the other fish species that are praised for courage, strength, agility and resourcefulness.

There is something to be said, too, of the guys and gals who fish for steelhead. In a way they are as much unlike other anglers as waterfowlers are different from other hunters.

Like angling for all species of fish, the time between strikes varies from day to day and sometimes from one hour to the next.

For example, Tom Welsh, McCall, regional fisheries biologist, reports that he checked 41 steelhead fishermen on the main Salmon River east of Riggs recently and found just three of the giant salt water rainbows in the creel.

This is the slow slide of steelhead fishing. It does bet better, as shown in the report of Don Corley, Salmon, regional fisheries biologist, and Mel Reingold, fisheries biologist. They named a steelhead check station one Sunday last month and found 62 anglers with 29 fish. No matter the luck or how chill and overcast the day may be, steelheaders wait for the line to sway and grow taut, for the hissing of nylon through the river, for the battle with the hook and wild vigorous shadow that soon will break out of the depths in a vibrant silvery leap against a background of rocks and willow.

scribed in terms of eternity. In all truth time does stand still and won't start its measured stride once more until all that strength and beauty has been dragged out on the sand and rocks, shorn of all its mystery, like a fish in the marketplace.

This year the run into the Columbia River of "Group A" steelhead, weighing six or seven pounds each and numbering 92,000 fish, was the smallest on record. By the time the run reached Bonneville Dam some 40 miles east of Portland, Ore., the count had dropped to 78,870 of the "Group A" steelhead.

This figure was below the 85,000 fish escapement goal at that point set by the Oregon Fish Commission.

Steelhead in the "Group B" run of larger fish (the Idaho record is 28 pounds, 10 ounces) was 40,792 at Bonneville Dam. This was more than had been anticipated at first and exceeded the 35,000 escapement goal at this point set by the Oregon Fish Commission.

Stacy Gebhardt, fishery management supervisor for the Idaho Fish and Game Department, gives background information on steelhead trout and chinook salmon passage in the Columbia River system, including the Snake, Clearwater and Salmon rivers of the Gem State, from records he maintains in Boise.

Gebhardt continues, "Water temperatures in the Columbia River during July, August and September were above normal, and the Snake River entering the Columbia was reportedly a temperature block, holding up steelhead movements from two to six weeks. Such a condition could account for the high mortality of 'A Group' steelhead, and goes a long way toward explaining what happened to the 30,000 missing fish above The Dalles."

This year the early fall commercial gillnet fishing season was delayed until Aug. 6 to allow greater escapement of "Group A" steelhead.

Normally the season opens July 30, with 70 per cent of the catch consisting of steelhead during the first eight days, according to Gebhardt. Comparative figures show that the 1966-1965 steelhead catch averaged 35,000 fish a season. The estimated 1967 take was 16,564.

He adds that during the years 1957-1966 the gillnet catch of "Group B" steelhead in the late fall fishery ranged from 2,000-8,000 fish, with an average of 3,700. This year the commercial catch of "Group B" steelhead was estimated at 6,000 fish. The Indian catch of steelhead above Bonneville Dam is estimated to be near 15,000 fish.

Of course, the final count of both groups of steelhead at Ice Harbor Dam is the best augury of what is in store for Idaho steelheaders. More than 42,000 of them crossed Ice Harbor, and 13,600 of these showed up at the Clearwater Dam above Lewiston. At least that many more found their way into the main Salmon River.

Gebhardt said that the run developed much better than appeared likely earlier in the season, but that "it must be remembered that over 61,000 steelhead were counted at Ice Harbor Dam in 1966."

Meanwhile, Idaho steelheaders on the banks of the Snake, Clearwater and Salmon rivers build small fires the driftwood being wet, of course — watch their lines and rods and boil some coffee to go with their sandwiches.

Book Review

"THE LEAST ONE" Gordon Deal The words Gordon Deal uses in the setting of this novel are most applicable for today. "This country is a mover-on. Once ever so often it happens that instead of moving on we begin to draw back. The third man come to the fore and there's a fear so deep it seems as though it's a trait of national character. We step softly around the dark edges of our dilemma and those circling steps become a vicious trap with no visible end. We don't have the courage of a coon, that'll leave a leg in a trap if it takes leaving a leg to go free, though! God knows in normal days courage is a trait of a nation."

scuttle Bottoms the family clawed some hard won satisfaction. They asked no quarter. Life was full of misfortunes, sweat, blood and tears, but it did not occur to the Swords not to fight on.

Mama may have been desperately poor, but she was desperately proud. She scratched at right-but as she says, "We never been down so far we had to eat cornbread for breakfast."

There is symbolism in the identity of Boy. As he searches for himself through the maze of the accidents of fortune, he comes at last to know who he is.

One might think this is a depressing novel with its deprivations, struggles and trials, but there is a tender emotion and a delightful humor that leaves you with an enduring satisfaction.

RIDERS LINE UP for a final inspection by the judge at the close of a pleasure class. Even the rider who doesn't win a ribbon gets something from each class. Here Judge Les Sharp, in hat, inspects each rider and horse and offers suggestions and criticism of each performance which will help the rider in future contests. Acting as ring steward is Fred Robinette. While events are open to riders of all ages, most are school age youngsters.

A CONSISTENT WINNER in the Frontier Riding Club sponsored event is Doug Smith. Because of several seasons of show experience young Doug has a slight edge over some of the other riders but his experience also contributes to the event as he helps set the pace for the younger horsemen. One of the events won by young Smith in the November gymkhana was the barrel racing.

WARMUP BEFORE actual competition begins gets the kinks out of the horses and riders at Frontier Field. Each Sunday from 30 to 50 young cowboys and cowgirls gather at the field to work their horses in preparation for next summer's show season. Clothing is not necessarily show ring caliber but is dictated by the weather. Youngsters are more concerned with learning proper show ring discipline than with their appearances in the practice shows.

Cowboys, Cowgirls Keep Abilities Sharp Competing In Local Gymkhana

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES, Times-News Staff Writer
Not all of the cowboys and cowgirls in the Twin Falls area go south for the winter. A group of the most enthusiastic can be found every Sunday at Frontier Field sharpening up their own abilities and keeping their winter coated mounts in shape for the coming season. Under sponsorship of the Frontier Riding Club, some 35 to 40 boys and girls take part each Sunday in "play day" programs and once each month compete for ribbons and awards in a gymkhana. The next such program for this year will be held Dec. 3rd at 1 p.m. Although the programs provide recreation for the youngsters in the winter, they have a more important value. Through the weekly events, youngsters with little or no experience in showing horses are gaining valuable training. Frontier Riding Club officers, provide experienced judges and show participants each week to offer pointers and helpful criticism. "Mary, your horse is on the wrong lead," may boom out over the loudspeaker in the informal programs because everyone including the chairmen and announcers are purely amateur. The young horsemen usually show up in levis and sweat shirts with head scarves replacing the broad brimmed hats the girls wear in the regular show rings. Everyone wears a good pair of boots, but otherwise they just dress for the weather — and the weather may range from sunshine to rain or snow, and wind. Barrel racers usually turn a little wide on the barrels and sometimes the horse refuses to follow the proper pattern, but there's always time after each ride for the announcer to tell the younger rider what he could have done to get a better performance and the rider indicates that when he's in the show ring in genuine competition he'll do just that. "Aside from the riders and committee members very few persons show up at the field for the event. Sometimes a few parents huddle in the stands to observe their youngsters' riding ability, but more often than not hardly anyone not on horseback bothers to attend since it's more fun to participate than watch. Spectators would, however, find the gymkhana contests almost as entertaining as the more organized summer show events. Events during the gymkhana and the practice sessions range from horsemanship and pleasure classes to barrel racing and pole bending. One of the highlights comes when riders remove saddle and bridle from their mounts and with only a piece of string attempt to put them through the paces of a regular horsemanship class. Just to prevent any run aways, the arena gates swing shut as the riders climb aboard bareback. The judge and other ring officials frequently take cover when riders are asked to "change directions and enter your horses." Jack Windsor, manager of Frontier Field, and Andy Anderson, chairman who also serves as announcer, hope to see some much better horse shows in the area next season as a result of the off-season program.

ONE OF THE MORE exciting parts of the competition comes in the "free for all" event. Here riders remove the saddles and bridles from their mounts, the arena gates swing shut and horses are put through their paces by signals from the riders and use of a piece of string for control. This often proves the true test of a well managed horse and a determined rider.

ONCE-EACH MONTH the regular Sunday "play days" become gymkhana programs in which riders compete in actual show events and receive ribbons and awards. Here five-year old Jeff Johnson, too young to compete in the ring gets into the act by handing out the ribbons. Accepting an award for a good performance is Anne Harvey.

Buhl Jaycees Set Banquet For Jan. 27

BUHL — Annual Distinguished Service Award banquet will be held Jan. 27. Jaycees decided Tuesday evening in the Jaycee room. Merlin Judson is the chairman for the event. Others working on the program include Perry Hansen, outstanding young educator award; Max McCoy, outstanding young farmer award; Dick Bencken, senior award, and Bob Fields, junior DSA award. Larry Tenary, orange sale chairman, reported that the oranges will be sold Dec. 11 and 12 with the proceeds going to finance the Jaycees' Christmas activities. The annual Christmas lighting contest will be held this year with bigger and better prizes. Plans are being made to contact Santa Claus and make arrangements with him to have some free time for children to phone and talk to him. Dates and times will be announced as soon as they are confirmed with him.

IN HIGH SCHOOL SUE WAS A NOTED-CELLIST

Childhood Sweethearts Become Mr. & Mrs. In November Rites

They say a "first love" is always the sweetest, one you'll never forget. This is doubly true for Sue Louise Ellis and 2nd Lt. David A. McClusky, for in their case the "first love" was one that endured. They were wed Nov. 18, in the first big wedding of this holiday season, after an 11-year "courtship." They have been sweethearts since they were 13.

A love of this nature that can defy the vicissitudes of grade school, high school and college has laid a firm foundation for a very happy future for this young couple.

Sue is the daughter of J. Owen Ellis and the late Mrs. Mae Louise Ellis, and David is the son of Dr. and Mrs. David A. McClusky, all Twin Falls.

Sue, until her marriage, was an English teacher at Twin Falls High School. Her accomplishments throughout her high school and college days, were many, and really should be mentioned. She won a scholarship to the College of Idaho on her scholastic ability in high school and went to Europe during the summer of her junior year in college with the Gamma Phi Tour Group.

She was Duchess of the College of Idaho Intercollegiate Knights, honorary men's service organization, her sophomore year and participated in the regional "Favorite Duchess" contest held at Mammoth, Ore.

She was a member of the Twin Falls Civic Symphony Orchestra and has played the cello since grade school. She is a graduate of the University of Idaho with a B. A. degree in letters and science, majoring in English.

In 1956 she was chosen to be a model for the College of Idaho Art Summer School session at Sun Valley as the typical American Teen-ager.

David, who is serving in the Air Force and will be based at Tinker Air Force Base, Oklahoma City, Okla., is a pre-med graduate of the University of Idaho. He has one year of his military obligation fulfilled, with three years to go as an officer in the field of communications logistic command. His assignment is flying to South American countries checking communication centers. He does plan to go into medicine in the future.

At the University of Idaho he was vice-president of the Associated Study Body, affiliated with Sigma Chi Fraternity and was one of the top eight honor students in his class at the university.

The couple was married in November rites at the Episcopal Church of the Ascension, with Rev. John Riley performing the nuptials.

The altar was banked with arrangements of Baccara roses and camellia foliage. A matching arrangement was placed on a white pedestal in the back of the sanctuary and each window was decorated with tall white tapers placed in a bank of evergreens and Baccara roses.

The bride looked radiant in her Bridal Original gown, a demifit "A" line of souffle with an oval beaded and pearl keyhole neckline and bell sleeves. The gown was enhanced with a mantle chapel train. A crystal "wedding cake" queen's crown held her elbow-length veil of English silk illusion.

She wore a delicate heart necklace, a gift from the bridegroom; a 1909 penny from the bridegroom in her shoe; carried a lace handkerchief, borrowed from Mrs. Roy M. Laird, and wore a blue garter, a gift from Mrs. William Carter.

The bride carried a cascade bouquet of white Butterfly roses and garlands of moss green velvet ivy. Loops of pearls matching those on her gown accented the bouquet.

Maid of honor was Mary McClusky, sister the bridegroom, and bridesmaids were Mrs. Jim Carter and Carol High. Karen Louise McClusky, sister of bridegroom, was candlelighter.

Robert McClusky served as best man for his brother and ushers were John McClusky and Kent Kleinkopf.

Cheryl Schow played a cello solo, accompanied by Mrs. Mary Howell. Miss Schow also played background music for the reception, accompanied by Mrs. Henry Coiner.

The bride's attendants were all gowned alike in floor-length dresses fashioned of gold-colored silk faille. They wore on their heads circlets of velvet leaves with bows of matching ribbon draped from the crown.

Each carried a nosegay designed with Baccara roses and moss green velvet leaves tied with matching ribbon.

Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bridegroom's parents, 123 Fillmore St. Guests entered and signed the guest book attended by Karen McClusky. She was seated at a diminutive round table covered with an embroidered white organdy cloth, skirted to the floor.

A background of topiary trees of white doves complemented the reception setting. The bride's table, covered with a white embroidered cloth, was centered with a four-tiered wedding cake. The entire base of the cake was encircled with garlands of greenery and Baccara roses and was topped with a nosegay of the same flowers and two crystalline love birds.

Matching silver candelabra held tall white tapers. Refreshments were served from a matching silver punch bowl and coffee service.

A large arrangement of white roses and camellia foliage was placed on the serving buffet. Throughout the entire home Princess Amy chrysantheums in low white jardiniere were used as floor decorations. Gold and colored bowls held Starburst pompons and these were used on low tables. Matching Italian cherub candelabra flanked a garland of green smilax and miniature Zorina roses on the fireplace mantel.

Cake was served by Mrs. Lee Larson and Mrs. Benny Larson, with Mrs. David Erickson serving punch and Mrs. Donald Belier, Kuna, and Mrs. Elmer Smith, Salmon, pouring coffee. Gifts were displayed in the family room downstairs by Mrs. Maxine Peckhardt. Lace boys with white wedding bells enhanced with green velvet streamers decorated the windows and a large arrangement of Starburst pompons was centered on a large round coffee table.

Guests attended from Moscow, Blackfoot, Boise, Ketchum, Salmon, Dubois and many Magic Valley communities. Sue and David will reside in Oklahoma City.

Yule Potluck Set By Area Women's Club

HAZELTON — Plans were made for a Christmas potluck for the wives of the Happy Homemakers Club and their husbands.

Each member and her husband are invited to attend the potluck to be held at the home of Mrs. Lawrence Schwarz at 7 p.m. Dec. 11. Each member is asked to bring, besides their designated foods that were assigned, six dozen cookies. These cookies are to be six different kinds and will be exchanged at the party so each member may take six different kinds back home with her.

Mrs. Bernard Schwarz and Mrs. Kyle Human reported attending the open meeting held in Jerome recently and conducted by the home agent, Kathleen Farrell. "New Fibers and Fabrics" was the topic presented.

The nominating committee presented the new officers for the coming year and these were voted on. The new officers are Mrs. Lawrence Schwarz, president; Mrs. Curtis Romans, vice president; Mrs. Kyle Human, secretary, and Mrs. Bernard Schwarz, councilman.

Many ideas for making Christmas gifts were presented by members and most of the members tried their "luck" at making medallions out of foil Christmas wrapping.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. Sam Thornton.

LESSON GIVEN

SPRINGDALE — The cultural refinement lesson, "Ideals of Womanhood in Relation to Home and Family," was presented at the recent LDS Relief Society meeting by Mrs. Earl Christensen. Prayers were given by Mrs. Kent Smith and Mrs. Fred Johnson. Mrs. Leon Johnson

One of the most pleasant ways to cope with social obligations is to invite friends for dessert and coffee. The occasion might be a planned one such as a welcome to a newcomer, a party for a guest or a shower for the bride-to-be. Or, maybe it's just a neighborly gathering of friends during a leisurely Saturday or Sunday afternoon.

In Sweden, where the gracious hostess always keeps coffee service in readiness for guests, the usual accompaniment is an attractive platter of cakes or cookies. With so many ready-to-serve frozen cakes, pies, cookies and other pastries available at food stores, it's a simple matter for American hostesses to adopt the Swedish custom of dessert-and-coffee entertaining.

For special occasions, Swedish homemakers frequently offer their guests thin, wafer-like cookies which are rolled into cones and filled with a creamy mixture enhanced with fruit or other flavorings. The following Swedish Cone Cake, made the short-cut way with packaged ice cream cones, features a filling that combines frozen strawberries and vanilla ice cream.

Besides offering a dramatic dessert, it's an excellent choice for large groups because it's easy to serve. There's no last-minute cutting or serving and no need for dessert plates since the cones are eaten as finger food.

SWEDISH CONE CAKE

- 1 package (10 ounces) frozen sliced or halved strawberries with syrup, thawed
- 2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
- 1 pint (2 cups) vanilla ice cream
- 12 sugar ice cream cones

Drain juice into measuring cup. Add water to make one cup. Pour into small saucepan. Sprinkle gelatin over juice and let soften about five minutes. Stir over low heat until gelatin is dissolved.

Whirl strawberries in a blender, press through a sieve or chop until fine. Beat ice cream until slightly softened. Blend in strawberries and gelatin mixture. Chill, if necessary, until mixture thickens enough to mound. Spoon mixture into cones. If a decorative topping is desired, finish tops with a rosette of mixture made by forcing it through a pastry tube fitted with a large star tip.

To serve, arrange flat on a serving tray or stand upright in glasses or a bowl filled part way with sugar. (For the illustrated Swedish Cone Cake, triple the recipe using 36 cones. Arrange filled cones in a circle on an 8-inch serving plate with tips pointing toward center. Continue stacking cones in smaller circles until a mound is formed.)

Makes 12 servings.
Note: Cones can be filled up to 30 minutes before serving. If allowed to stand longer than this, the filling may soften the cones.

Women Meet

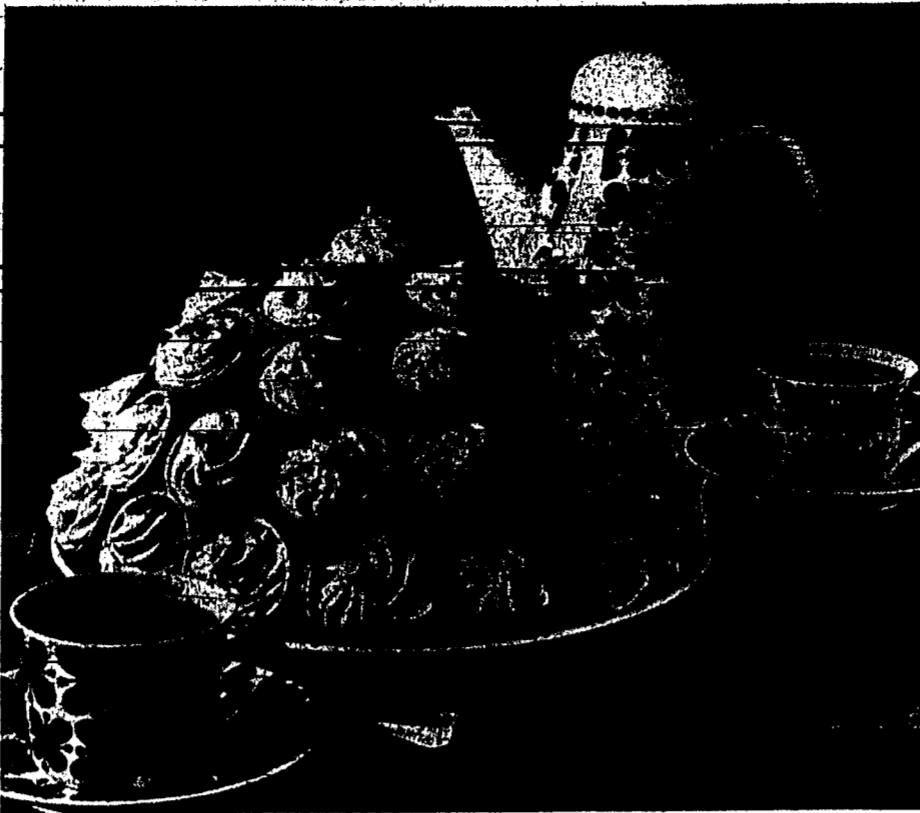

BUHL — The Buhl Council of Catholic Women met recently at the Catholic Parish Hall, with Mrs. Paul Schmidt presiding.

A thank-you to the public and to the parish was extended in appreciation for making the annual bazaar such a success.

The program was given by Sister Mary Idelle entitled "Vocation."

Refreshments were served by the November church committee. The next meeting is Dec. 14.

and Mrs. Gareld Marchant were in charge of music.

FROZEN STRAWBERRIES contribute fresh fruit flavor and delicate pink color to the ice cream filling of these packaged, ready-to-fill sugar cones. This simplified version of a famous Swedish dessert is ideal for dessert-and-coffee entertaining where the choice must be dramatic as well as easy to prepare and serve.

Newcomers Club Luncheon To Feature Christmas Music

The December luncheon of the Welcome Wagon Newcomers Club will feature Christmas music by Mrs. David Mead, accompanied by Mrs. Donald Youtz. The luncheon will be held Tuesday at 12:30 p.m. at Kay's Super Club.

Mrs. Gus Averett and Mrs. George LaGrange will model the latest fashions from Ropers and there will be hair styles from Margo's Beauty Salon. Baby-sitting is provided at the YWCA during the luncheon. Any new resident in the city interested in attending the Christmas luncheon can make a reservation by calling Mrs. Robert Peterson, 733-1630, by Monday noon.

Future activities of the club were planned at the board meeting at the home of Mrs. Peterson. The bridge and pinocle players will not meet again until January.

The knitting group meets at 1 p.m. Dec. 12 at the home of Mrs. Tom Durland, 602 Al-turas Drive.

Mrs. Malvin Glasscock is chairman of the hobby group,

Buhl Philathea Matrons Host Salad Luncheon

BUHL — Mrs. Ora Babcock and Mrs. Harry McCauley hosted the Philathea Matrons members when they met recently at the First Baptist Church. A salad luncheon was served to the members and two guests, Mrs. Ivan Bonar and Mrs. Ona Sample, Castleford.

Mrs. Alice Walpole gave the prayer. The courtesy and flower committee reported that flowers have been sent to Mrs. Lauren Shriver and Ralph Fulkerson.

Birthday wishes were extended to Mrs. Berta McBroom, Frances Langford and Esther McCauley.

The class decided that each member would bring a gift-wrapped package for the boys at the Idaho Youth Ranch at the next meeting.

Mrs. Bessie Gilmore, program chairman, read scripture from the book of Luke. She also gave an account of a recent trip to Oklahoma, and told of visiting the church that she had attended there years ago.

Civic Club Members Hear Education Programs Topic

SHOSHONE — Speaking on education at the Civic Club meeting recently Mrs. Floyd O. Kisting, Dietrich, told of current legislation talk which may mean changes even in local school systems.

A national move, she pointed out, is under way to include sex education in the school system. The need for such is recognized in view of the rise in venereal disease, increased teen-age pregnancies and teen-age marriages.

She also pointed to what she called the "militant rumble" among Idaho teachers in what she states will very likely be a "stack of contracts" with a demand for increase in salaries.

Explaining the need to improve Idaho kindergartens, she said educators feel many of the kindergartens now in existence are nothing more than baby sitting centers or nursery schools. There is a desire to incorporate the kindergartens into the public school systems.

Further study is under way, also to determine the time a child should enter first grade, something other than age. By mental and physical tests, the child's ability could be determined. This is not aimed so much at allowing the brilliant child to begin earlier, as it is to see to it the slower children do not start before they are ready and thus become a continual school problem, never quite reaching potential.

Referring to the education referendums being prepared for the voters which would take the offices of superintendent of instruction and mine inspector from the election methods, Mrs. Kisting said a careful study should be made before voters cast their ballots. If the referendum passes the inspector of mines would be appointed by the Governor and the Superintendent of Public Instruction would be appointed by the Board of Regents.

Finances of public schools was outlined by Mrs. Kisting and she quoted Gov. Samuelson who said, "One of the best ways to get quality in schools in Idaho is to get rid of some of the smaller schools." She then gave figures to show that the smaller schools cost the taxpayer much more without giving quality of training.

"A task force and the governor will make strong recommendations to the legislature for consolidation of more schools," the speaker stated.

Then she urged local citizens to let their legislators know their feelings on educational matters.

Mrs. Kisting will have brochures in the near future regarding a humanities course to be offered at the College of Southern Idaho, aimed at cultural appreciation. There would be no grades or tests, only an evaluation at the end of the course to see if the course had been successful. Adults will be encouraged to take the course, to be given from 8 to 10 p.m. Monday nights at the school.

Mrs. Corwin Silva conducted the business meeting, during which report was made on the fencing project at the Mary L. Gooding Park, the secretary's report given by Mrs. Harrell Thorne, and the treasurer's report, by Mrs. William Kerner.

Ways to improve interest in Civic Club were considered and members voted to hold the meetings in the future in members' homes. They will continue to be held at 2 p.m. on the third Friday of each month, unless it is designated otherwise. Those present Friday stated they felt this would provide a more comfortable and friendly atmosphere for the meetings.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Jack Dunn, Mrs. Wallace Fixen and Mrs. Leonard Daugherty.

Sam Levenson's Book Reviewed

Mrs. Paul Victor reviewed the book, "Everything But Money," by Sam Levenson, for members of the Book Lore Literary Art Guild at the home of Mrs. Ver Cox.

The author's sketch was given by Mrs. Stanley Vandenbark and the guided thought by Mrs. Vaun McArthur. Mrs. Joel Tate and Mrs. Howard Arrington were co-hostesses.

The Dec. 7 meeting will be the Christmas party at the Holiday Inn.

Plans Made For Holiday Party

WENDELL — Plans for the Christmas party were made at the evening meeting of the Friendship Club at the American Legion Hall, Wendell.

Action was taken to complete the Christmas plans. Each member will bring Christmas cookies and a Christmas gift to the American Legion Hall, Wendell, at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 14. Prior to the business session, a Thanksgiving dinner was served. The ham, rolls and beverage were furnished by the club and the rest of the most pollock. The remainder of the evening was spent playing games with prizes.

Installation Set For Area Job's Daughters

HAGERMAN — Marie Slane will be installed as honored queen Dec. 9 at an open installation for Bethel No. 45, International Order of Job's Daughters, at 8 p.m. at the Masonic Temple.

Others to take office include Karla Behrens, senior princess; Arlinda Partin, junior princess; Ruth Chick, guild; and Christ Slane, marshal.

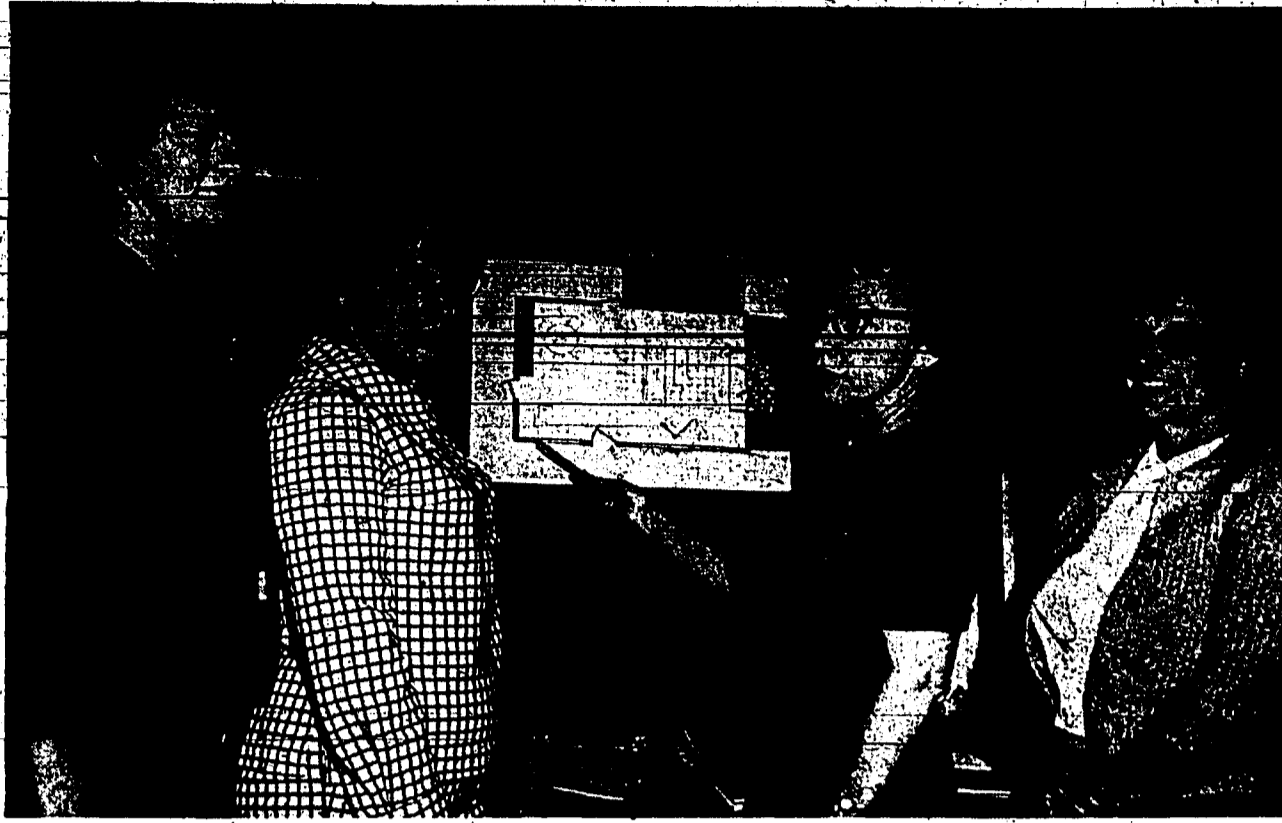

An initiation was held for Mary Daniels, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Daniels, Bliss, Lynn Bennett, honored queen, introduced past honored queens, Kathy Miller, Sandra Briggs and Rose Hoag.

Miss Bennett announced the official visit of the grand guardian, Mrs. Ila Remy, Nampa, for Jan. 30.

A discussion was held on the quarter of beef drawing set for the latter part of December.

Refreshments were served by Ruth Chick, Mary Carpenter and Linda Mull.

The Dec. 13 meeting was canceled because of installation.

WITH THE AID of Mrs. Mary Lou Ruby, extension home economist for Blaine, Lincoln and Camas Counties, left, Mrs. Willma Shryah, home furnishing specialist from the University of Idaho, second from right, demonstrated various color schemes and furniture arrangements in a course of three lessons. The three-lesson course was conducted at the Blaine County Court Rooms. Here, Mrs. Floyd Slane, second from left, and Mrs. Robert Vernon, right, take pointers. Coordinating colors of walls, floors and furniture were demonstrated and each participant showed a room of her home as it is today and, from knowledge gained in the lessons, demonstrated what changes she will make in the future.

New Counselor Is Announced

RICHFIELD — A new second counselor was named for the LDS Relief Society by Mrs. Mark Jaynes, unit president, at the cultural refinement lesson meeting at the Richfield LDS Church.

Mrs. F. M. Crowther, the new appointee, conducted the lesson on "Ideals of Womanhood in relation to Home and Family," assisted by Mrs. Jennie Thomas, Mrs. Clifford Dayley, Mrs. Ken Dixon, and Mrs. Charlie Jaynes.

The Relief Society bazaar will start at 6 p.m. Dec. 7. A ham dinner will be served and food and fancy work booths will be set up in the Cultural Hall as well as a general store. Mrs. Lloyd Lee is in charge of booth arrangements and Mrs. Mark Jaynes the dinner. Homemade candies of many kinds will be sold.

Club Honorary Members Feted At Tea, Party

BUHL — The Cedar Draw Community Club met at the grange hall for a birthday party and a tea for honorary members. Hostesses for the afternoon were the officers and the yearbook committee.

Guests were Mrs. Ed Harper and Mrs. Ted Hoffand, Filler and Shirley Stutzman.

Mrs. Harvey Grindstaff and Mrs. Bill Zink read the history of the club and the club song was sung by the group. The song was written in 1924 by Mrs. Lucy Askew, Shirley Stutzman played several piano selections and Mrs. Grindstaff read a tribute to the honorary members.

Honorary members at the party include Mrs. Lucy Askew, Mrs. Arthur Bell, Emma Blenz, Florence Cobb, Alberta Ewing, Mrs. Glenn C. Gould, Emily Kodesh, Cora Wilhite and Mrs. Foster Gulick. The ten women were presented corsages from the club.

The hall was decorated with baskets of chrysanthemums and appliqued bouquets. The tea table was covered with a lace cloth over orchid and centered with a round birthday cake. The cake was baked and decorated by Mrs. Henry Dahlquist and featured orchid roses and green leaves on white icing. Crystal candelabra with orchid tapers flanked the cake. Silver appointments completed the table decorations.

Newlyweds Are Honored At Open House

Buhl — Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dickard and Mr. and Mrs. William Watt hosted an open house for Mr. and Mrs. Jim Watt, who were married Nov. 24 in Moscow at the Buhl First Christian Church.

In the receiving line were the bride and her parents and Mr. and Mrs. Gary Waymire, Richland, Wash. Mrs. Waymire is a sister of the bride. The bride's corsage was of pink rosebuds with the other ladies wearing corsages of white feather chrysanthemums.

The reception table was covered with a pink satin cloth and a lace cloth. Gold candelabra held pink taper candles which were surrounded by pink roses and white feather chrysanthemums. Centering the table was a white tiered wedding cake decorated with pink butterflies and topped with two white wedding bells within an arch.

Punch and coffee were served to 100 guests by Mrs. William T. Atkins, Mrs. Wendell Gannon, Mrs. John Barker, Mrs. Charles Cullings, Mrs. William Roberts, Mrs. Fred Brailford, Mrs. Jack Skinner and Mrs. Ruth Senften.

Entertainment was provided by Mrs. Fewel Chisham, who sang, accompanied by Mrs. Blanche Smith. Mrs. Gerald Jensen played piano background music and Terry Lechner sang and played the guitar.

Phyllis Unzicker, Sandy Skinner, Deanne Roberts and Suzanne Smith were in charge of the guest book and the gifts.

Resignation Letter Read

Buhl — A letter of resignation as treasurer from Mrs. Lione Miller was read when the Ladies Lions met at the home of Mrs. Harry Esslinger, president. A discussion was held on the appointment of a new treasurer, and it was decided to wait until the next meeting.

It was reported that flowers had been sent to Mrs. Bruce Fuller and Mrs. Louis Monnin. A thank-you card was read from Mrs. Monnin.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Esslinger and Mrs. Bill Shriver.

Mrs. Fronk and Mrs. Gibson each received a Pallas Athene charm and an engraved certificate.

Pallas Athene, First Pearl Awards Given By Sorority

BURLEY — Pallas Athene Award and First Pearl Awards were presented recently at the home of Mrs. Glen Logan by Alpha Psi Chapter, Epsilon Sigma Alpha.

Mrs. Kenneth Fronk and Mrs. W. D. Gibson received the Pallas Athene first degree award. The award is made on the merit of points acquired by the members of Epsilon Sigma Alpha in their diligent efforts in working on committees, philanthropic service, educational, rushing new members and attendance.

Mrs. Fronk and Mrs. Gibson

each received a Pallas Athene charm and an engraved certificate with their names embossed. Mrs. Gibson presided at the ceremony for First Pearl awards as each recipient held a yellow candle. Members receiving the First Pearl award were Mrs. Logan, Mrs. Ken Hulzinga, Mrs. W. F. Quast Jr., Mrs. Darrell Schafer and Mrs. Roger McBride.

During the ritual, each member was presented a Pallas Athene yellow rose with the gift of a First Pearl charm attached. This award is given for the service the pledges give to their sorority in the field of social, philanthropic and education.

The tea table was covered with a lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of yellow jonquils. A silver tea service and crystal punchbowl completed the table decor.

Ronald Sneed was guest speaker for the program. Mr. Sneed is owner of Gem Memorial Gardens and spoke on "Pre-Arranged Death Plans."

Plans were made for the Hobby Show at K'Tilliams Decorative Arts, with Mrs. Dick Tilley as guest demonstrator. Committee members for this event are Mrs. Ken Hulzinga, Mrs. Bill Mal, Mrs. Dick Hulzinga and

Sandra Adams, Strickland Say Nuptial Vows

SHOSHONE — Sandra Adams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kyle Adams, Gooding, became the bride of Larry Strickland, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Francis (Berniece) Strickland, Gooding, in a double ring ceremony, Oct. 7 at the LDS Church, Wendell.

Bishop Bob Rogers, Gooding, performed the service. Church decorations were baskets of dark pink roses. The bride was given in marriage by her father. The bride's floor-length gown was made of white powdered satin. It had long lily point sleeves and a six-foot train which fastened at the waist line. Her white net elbow-length veil was held by a crown of pearls. She carried a bouquet of dark pink roses.

Mrs. Delila Boger, Twin Falls, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Other attendants were Mrs. Lyrene Warren, Gooding, sister of the bride; Mrs. Cheryl Adams, North Shoshone, sister-in-law of the bride, and Sharon Strickland, Gooding, sister of the bridegroom.

Debbie Strickland, Gooding, sister of the bridegroom, and Lisa Hiram, Gooding, niece of the bridegroom, were flower girls. Linda Satchwell, Bountiful, Utah, cousin of the bride, and Dean Hiram, Gooding, nephew of the bridegroom, were ringbearers.

Jack Lane, Twin Falls, was best man. Boyd Codington and John Bilboa, both Pocatello, and Rody Adams, North Shoshone, brother of the bride, were ushers.

Burt Satchwell, Bountiful, uncle of the bride, played the traditional music and accompanied his wife, Carol, who was soloist.

After the ceremony, a reception was held in the Cultural Hall. The reception table was covered with a white lace cloth. The three-tiered cake was white with pink roses, silver leaves and was topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom in an archway. It was made by Leona Brannon, Twin Falls. The cake was flanked by heart-shaped cakes.

Cake was cut and served by Doris Wickel, Albion, aunt of the bride, assisted by Ann Gilman, Gooding, Twyla Satchwell, Burley, aunt of the bride, was in charge of serving the punch, assisted by Marilyn Mullins and Kathy Stuart, both Gooding.

Mrs. Kay Bonning, Gooding, sister of the bridegroom, was in charge of the gift table. Kathy Kelley, Burley, cousin of the bride assisted at the gift table, and Lori Nelson, Gooding, opened the gifts. Treasa Satchwell,

MR. AND MRS. LARRY STRICKLAND

Social Events

Burley, cousin of the bride, and Cindy Lowman, Gooding, were in charge of a gift record book. The gifts were carried to the table by Janna Satchwell and Julie Satchwell, Bountiful, cousins of the bride. Becky Jones, Gooding, was in charge of the guest book. Willis Cheney, Gooding, was master of ceremonies for the program.

The couple took a wedding trip to Pocatello. The bridegroom is engaged in farming in the Tuttle community, southwest of Gooding, where the couple will reside.

Guests attended from St. Louis, Mo.; Bountiful, Utah; Boise, Albion, Burley, Twin Falls and other nearby towns in Idaho.

Dear Abby

BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I need some advice before I go out of my mind. My husband and I have been married for two years, and I just found out for sure that I am pregnant with our first child. When I told my husband, I thought he would explode. I have never seen him so angry. He has restricted me to the house. I can leave only to go to work, and then I have to come straight home. I can't visit my friends or relatives. I can't go downtown to do anything. Not even grocery shopping in the neighborhood.

He doesn't want me any place where any of his friends can see me and know that I'm pregnant. He keeps threatening to get out legally, or illegally, as he wants no part of being tied down at 21. I love him and don't want to lose him. How can I get him to change his attitude? I am also 21.

NEEDING HELP

DEAR NEEDING: Something is fishy here. Why is your husband so violently opposed to letting his friends know that you are pregnant? You are married, and there is nothing to be ashamed of. He "tied himself down" at 19 when he married, so his "reason" for exploding doesn't make much sense. And what's this "restricting business!" If you submit to his unreasonable demands in order to "hold" a husband who has threatened to "get out legally or illegally," you are asking for the abusive treatment your poor excuse-for-a-husband is dishing out.

DEAR ABBY: I am 15 and I babysit for a few people in the neighborhood and I really love it.

Tonight, one of the neighbors telephoned me and asked if I was available to sit for her on New Year's Eve. I was, so I told her yes.

Right after I hung up the telephone, my mother asked me who called and what for, so I told her.

Then my mother said, "I might need you to sit for ME on New Year's Eve."

I told my mother that I had already promised this other lady and I couldn't break my promise.

My father, who is very quick tempered yelled, "You'll sit for your mother if she needs you!" Abby, you always tell us kids to do what our parents say, but this time I think I am right and they are wrong. What do you think?

SITTER

DEAR SITTER: The best of parents can be wrong now and then, and unless you agreed to check with your mother before accepting other sitting dates, they were wrong this time.

DEAR ABBY: We have two very small boys. One is five and the other is two and a half. My problem is, I feel that my husband expects too much too soon.

"These little tykes come to the table happy and hungry, but by the time my husband gets thru correcting their every move—" (Sit up straight, take your elbows off the table, stop talking with your mouth full, you're eating too fast, you're eating too slow . . . etc.) these poor kids leave the table in tears with their plates practically untouched.

How can I make my husband understand that besides making the boys dread mealtime, it could be bad for their health?

OHIO

DEAR OHIO: You have THREE "little boys." Tell the one you're married to that all the his criticisms may be justified, there is a more effective way to teach children. It's true serious digestive problems often develop when children (and adults, as well) attempt to eat while they are upset. Implore your husband to pause, control himself and to resist the urge to shout criticisms and orders at the table. "Gentleness" is the key word here. And should he forget, a "gentle" kick in the ankle from you may remind him.

CONFIDENTIAL TO WALLY: Taking your steady girl friend to the office Christmas party is like going hunting with the game warden.

Troubled? Write to Abby, Box 68700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Mrs. Read Is Club Hostess

BUHL — Mrs. Earl Read was hostess for the first November meeting of the Sew Long club. Guests were Mrs. Hazel Hollen, Mrs. Gail Hesselholt and Mrs. Frank Southwick.

Discussion was held on the meeting being held this month by the extension office in Twin Falls. The leader training meeting held recently on "Buying, Use and Care of Bonded Furniture" was attended by Mrs. John Wilson and Mrs. Earl Meier. The Extension Homemakers Council meeting was held Nov. 13, and was attended by Mrs. Harry Edinger, Mrs. Greg Wasiko and Mrs. Meier.

It was announced that a meeting would be held at the Idaho Power Auditorium in Twin Falls on "Refinishing Wood Furniture" and that the meeting was open to anyone interested in attending.

The current event for the evening was given by Mrs. Alfred Dais, Mrs. Jerry Turner, Mrs. Read and Mrs. Wasko.

Mrs. Hesselholt presented a lesson on liquid embroidery. Re-

GARLIC ADDS ZEST
To give a rolled shoulder of lamb extra zest before roasting, insert small slivers of garlic in the meat. You can do this by making tiny cuts in the lamb, using a small sharp knife, and then adding the garlic.

Freshments were served by Mrs. Read.

HOW TO WRITE A GOOD CLASSIFIED WANT AD 1-IT'S ALWAYS BEST to start your advertisement with the name of the article or service you have to offer. If you have an apartment or room for rent, or property for sale, your advertisement with the location. 2-BE CLEAR. Readers respond more quickly and accurately when given complete or definite information. One of the very most important aspects of any advertisement is to include the price. 3-MAKE IT EASY for the reader to reach you. Always insert your telephone number or your name and address. If you do not have regular hours, be sure to add extra time to have prospects contact you. 4-THE GREATEST READER ATTENTION can be secured for your advertisement by using consecutive insertions. Play safe—a seven-day ad is best and costs less. There are also very special monthly rates for those who are desirous of keeping their name and offering before the public every day. You can stop your ad in the evening and only for the days it is published. 5-PLACE YOURSELF in the reader's position and ask yourself what you would like to know (about your offer). The answer you give will make a good Classified Ad. 6-CLASSIFIED readers are already interested in buying your used or new merchandise. These people have the money and are already in the market to buy. So give them every advantage you can with good ad copy. 7-WANT ADS THAT FAIL to bring attention do so not through any lack of readership, but because they are often careless, worded and do not contain enough information to get prompt action. 8-TO PLACE YOUR ADVERTISEMENT in the Twin Falls Times-News, call 733-5346, the greatest Classified Want Ad audience in Magic Valley, call 733-5346, or give or write to Times-News' free phone numbers if you live in an area outside Twin Falls and ask for an Ad-taker. It's as easy as calling a friend because our Ad-takers are scheduled to be helpful in such matters. Remember, you get 7 days for the price of 8.	Card of Thanks WE wish to express our sincere thanks to the many friends who gave their kindness, sympathy and beautiful floral offerings at the recent loss of our beloved husband, Mr. Raymond L. Skelton. Special thanks to Reverend Hargrave of the National Guard, T. P. of the 11th Airborne and the Wendell Memorial Church. The family of Raymond L. Skelton. Batman's Prop Man Leads Busy Life

An assignment to the "Batman" staff can be a Hollywood prop man's delight — or nightmare, according to veteran property master Ted Cook. Mr. Cook holds the assignment of being "Batman's" chief prop man and finds it, to say the least, "challenging."

Other series seldom require the bizarre gags and gimmicks demanded by those who produce and write the various adventures of the Dynamic Duo plus Batgirl for Greenway Productions in association with 20th Century-Fox Television.

"Take 'The Felony Squad,'" says Cook, "which is filmed right next door to 'Batman.' They use ordinary pistols and ordinary handcuffs and that kind of stuff. We have to have everything anyone could think of for Batman's utility belt, plus specially rigged umbrellas for the Penguin, wild guns for Mr. Freeze and antique Egyptian gimmicks for King Tut." Cook said many of Batman's tools must be specially crafted, since everything must conform in some manner to the configuration of a bat.

"Sometimes," he adds, "it's enough to drive me batty. But it's never dull, that's for sure."

"Batman" stars Adam West, Burt Ward and Yvonne Craig and airs every Thursday night

'Lost In Space' Producer, Writes, Too

Producer Irwin Allen, who brings "Lost in Space" and "Voyage to the Bottom of the Sea" into thousands of homes each week, engaged in a myriad of activities before becoming a producer of science-fiction and science fact television series and motion pictures.

Mr. Allen had his own radio program in 1939, which he wrote, produced, directed and narrated for 11 years. Simultaneously, he also had a Hollywood news column that was syndicated in 73 newspapers throughout the world.

When television came into the picture, he was the first to create a celebrity panel show. It was titled "Hollywood Merry-Go-Round" and more than 1,000 celebrities made their television debut on this series during the four years it was on the air.

While still working on radio and television, he opened a literary agency to represent writers and literary material for the radio and motion picture industries.

AGENCIES COOPERATE — WASHINGTON (AP) — The FBI, says Director J. Edgar Hoover, is working with all other federal and local law enforcement agencies to fight organized crime.

The result was that he soon was writing and producing moment pictures and was responsible for such boxoffice successes as "The Big Circus," "The Lost World," "Voyage to the Bottom of the Sea" and "Five Weeks in a Balloon."

Mr. Allen went into television production in 1964 and is now known as the genius of science-fiction adventure dramas. Currently he is hard at work on a new series, "Land of the Giants," which will be seen next year.

"Lost in Space" is seen over CBS-TV in color every Wednesday night.

Modern Man Poisoning His Environment?

By JIM THOMASSON Associated Press Writer ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Is man poisoning his environment through indiscriminate use of pesticides?

Dr. Samuel W. Simmons, the man who heads what is probably the largest single program dealing with the relationship between pesticides and public health, doesn't think so.

But neither does he discard the possibility entirely.

"I don't mean that we don't have a problem but that everything is under control," said Simmons, chief of the pesticides program of the National Communicable Disease Center in Atlanta.

"Our use of pesticides is greater than any other country, but we have a pretty good record. However, new compounds are coming all the time and we have to be on guard. We are on guard."

Simmons said Rachel Carson's book, "The Silent Spring," aroused public concern about pesticide poisoning of the environment and led to increased federal funds for research on pesticides.

"But we were in this pesticides work 15 years before her book was published," Simmons said Friday in an interview.

The pesticides program which Simmons directs is now a highly coordinated, $7-million-a-year project with the primary responsibility for determining the effect of exposure to pesticides on human health.

In addition related work on pesticides is done by various other government and private agencies.

"As a result, Simmons said, "we have pesticides residue levels of the total environment—wildlife, soil, water, air—and if it does show up to be excessive, we know it."

Simmons said there is no indication that residue levels of pesticides are getting sufficiently high to endanger human health.

Work At Easter Seal Center Is Explained

Work at the Easter Seal Center in Twin Falls was explained recently to Twin Falls Soroptimist Club members in a meeting in the Round-up room of the Rogerson Hotel.

Merle Stoddard, who directs the center, discussed programs, including lip reading and work with mongoloids. She said assistance from volunteer workers is invaluable in assisting handicapped children served by the center.

Mrs. E. P. Messner, who directs a missionary program for her church, explained projects to collect clothing and other needs for poverty-stricken regions in Mexico. Her son, who is a missionary there, assists in collecting clothing, bedding and other necessities to be taken to Mexico.

Soroptimist Club members will outfit two junior high school girls at Christmas time and have also selected a family of five to adopt for the holiday.

Nature Plays Tricks

For the past four months, Southern California has been experiencing one of the driest seasons in many years. The temperature has been well into the 80s and often into the 90s.

Because of this unusual weather, one of the biggest double-crosses in Hollywood history took place during the filming of 20th Century-Fox Television's high-action adventure series, "Voyage to the Bottom of the Sea."

Producer Irwin Allen decided some time ago to enlarge the outdoor tank, which is used in the filming of his show, by some 200,000 gallons of water. For weeks, crews of men slaved over the added construction to get it ready for the filming of a particular shot.

After many hard days of work, the tank was completed and the production-crews moved in. Mother Nature, however, had other ideas. On the precise day that the company was to shoot, the dry spell broke. Series stars Richard Basehart and David Hedison reported to the tank in their frogman suits only to be informed that the rain would hold up production and that the crew would have to move indoors. That is precisely what they did. In fact, they were indoors for the next four days, while the long awaited rain continued to fall.

"Voyage to the Bottom of the Sea" is seen every Sunday evening in color over ABC.

Glenns Ferry PTA Hears Librarian

GLENN'S FERRY — Mrs. Virginia Anderson, Glenns Ferry High School and Elementary Librarian, discussed the "Learning Center" as libraries in some advanced schools are termed, at the Glenns Ferry Area PTA meeting Monday evening in the high school.

Mrs. Anderson explained that the State Department of Education sets standards for materials and books purchased by the school libraries. She pointed out that a school is not accepted in the Northwest Accrediting Association unless certain standards are met by the library.

Some of these requirements are maintaining a current card index, a required number of books for the size of the school, an accredited librarian, and instruction given for proper library usage.

Mrs. Anderson explained that the school library usage as a study hall decreases its effectiveness. She is pleased that the elementary pupils are reading some 400 books per week.

Mrs. Maxine Jones discussed the Junior High library, explaining that the building has good library facilities, including adequate room and organization. Since she can give it but a few hours each day, it is not yet completely organized.

Mrs. Jones said that the library would benefit from past issues of National Geographic Magazine, and any Look, Life, and other news magazines from the past five years.

Mrs. George Willis, membership chairman, reported 170 members. Mrs. Frank Jones, class won the contest between rooms, with 19 of the parents of her 20 pupils joining the PTA.

Mrs. Betty Graffe reported $215 turned in so far on the calendar sale. Mrs. Barbara McEdden, football booth chairman, said that a total of $211 was realized from that concession.

President James Kling reported that a magazine chairman from King Hill is needed since there has been a resignation.

Mr. Kling discussed the state convention just held in Twin Falls, saying that those who attended were impressed with the advances anticipated in education. He also announced that the PTA will distribute Scotch Lite tape strips for the children to apply to their bikes.

Art from Mrs. John Parke's art class was displayed, and she explained the processes used in creating some of the creations.

BUCKY'S CHRISTMAS CAPER is our modern story-strip for the Christmas season, truly written for the space-minded younger generation, as well as for the young-at-heart readers of any age. This happy little story stars Bucky and his crew and tells how they bring Christmas to the strange Land of Wiggits. Watch for this delightful holiday fantasy beginning Monday, Dec. 4, in this newspaper.

Falls Don't Hurt Stunt Man

Charles Horvath, who plays an Indian brave in 20th Century-Fox Television's "Daniel Boone" series episode, "A Matter of Blood," Thursday, Dec. 28, on NBC, has been a stunt man in motion pictures and television for 22 years — and has never had an accident serious enough to put him in a hospital.

Mr. Horvath has had accidents which would have hospitalized others, but not this iron-boned 200-pounder who was born in Hungary. He told "Daniel Boone" star Fess Parker that he has worked with broken ribs, even at times when he had to take falls from horses. One time he had to fall through a deck opening onto a pile of rags and boxes — from a 60-foot mast. "Not only this," he told Parker, "but I had to time the roll of the ship so I could fall directly through the opening or literally be killed."

Mr. Horvath spent two afternoons timing the ship's roll, as he dropped rocks through its hold. "I made the leap successfully and was paid $2,000 for the stunt," Horvath said, "but the camera had a malfunction and I had to do it all over again. That's when I really sweat it out."

He added that he was paid another $2,000 for the second try. "Daniel Boone" is an Arcolia-Fosper Production in association with 20th Century-Fox Television.

More than 1,000 evergreen trees are expected to be taken from Bureau of Land Management and Forest Service lands in two areas of Magic Valley by people who enjoy cutting their own Christmas trees.

So far about 150 lodge pole pines have been taken from the head of Goose Creek about two miles above the Rock Creek Ranger Station. Cutting permits are available from the station and a Forest Service employee is on duty to assist amateur loggers.

District Ranger George Fry said he expects about 350 more trees to be taken from the area in the next two weekends. The area is open to cutting on Saturdays and Sundays.

The BLM area, a mile and a half south of Almo, will be open to cutting one day only, Dec. 9. Signs have been posted designating the area for cutting the pines. BLM officials said 600 permits will be issued.

Both cutting places are in areas which need to be thinned.

Duryea Joins Feature

Dan Duryea, the renowned screen menace and a recent addition, as Eddie Jacks, to 20th Century-Fox Television's "Peyton Place" cast, has fallen hook line and sinker for his new role.

"With really good roles so scarce, I consider myself very lucky to be in 'Peyton Place,' Eddie Jacks is the best part I've had in a long time," Duryea claims.

For starters, the actor points out that viewers seem always to remember the "bad guys" which is why he prefers playing the heavies he has created through the years.

"A heavy seems to have more dimension than a hero," says Dan. It's his theory that in the tension-filled atmosphere in which we exist today, people need an outlet. "When television provides someone callous or cruel, it gives them someone to root against instead of for. This releases the pressure," Duryea feels.

"I thought long and hard before committing myself for a long run on 'Peyton Place.' It's not always easy to join a company which has been a close-knit unit for three years. But the cast and crew, our executive producer Paul Monash and everyone involved in producing the series have been marvelous. After the first week, I felt as though I'd lived in 'Peyton Place' all my life, Dan admitted.

"Peyton Place" airs every Monday and Thursday night over ABC.

Card Burning Legislation Is Defended

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department told the Supreme Court Friday draft card burning "may add a theatrical aura to a protest" but it isn't a form of free speech which the Constitution protects against prosecution.

Solicitor General Erwin N. Griswold and other Justice Department lawyers suggested protesters should express their dissent in other ways—such as by distributing literature or holding a public meeting.

Draft card burning does not fit in traditional concepts of "symbolic speech," they said, and therefore Congress acted constitutionally in 1965 when it made the burning of draft cards a crime.

The U.S. Circuit Court in Boston ruled that the amendment to the selective service law was invalid because it abridges free speech. The Supreme Court has agreed to review the decision, and department lawyers expanded on their views in a brief submitted to the court.

HEART ACE IS GILT-EDGED

One of the nicest things to know about an ace is that you don't have to play it at the first opportunity. Banks may lend money on aces but they pay no interest on tricks that may be taken earlier than necessary.

Opening lead—♥ Q

South wasted no time taking the first trick with dummy's ace of hearts. Then he led a diamond to his queen. East played the seven and West allowed the queen to hold but was careful to grab the second diamond lead.

West played the jack of hearts. East overtook with his king and led a trump. South went up with his ace, entered dummy with the ace of clubs and led a third diamond. East was mean enough to ruff, and the best South could do was to overruff and run out all his trumps slowly and carefully, but to no avail. There was nothing he could do about his last heart. Had South bothered to think a little at trick one (which is the best time to think), he would have let the defense win the first heart trick. If hearts were continued, South would have time to ruff his third heart. If East overtook and led a trump, South would be in almost the same situation as if he had won that first trick. The difference would be that dummy's ace of hearts would be an extra entry. The play would proceed with East leading a trump at trick two. South could win and lead a diamond. Assuming that West were smart enough to duck the first diamond and win the second, his best play would be to knock out dummy's ace of hearts.

A third diamond would be played. East would ruff and South would overruff. Then South would cross to dummy with the ace of clubs and lead the last diamond.

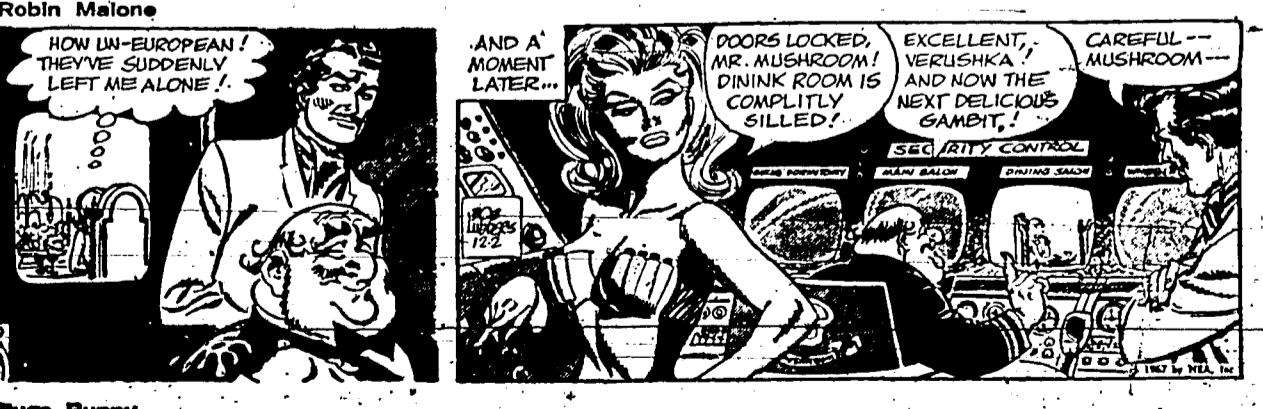

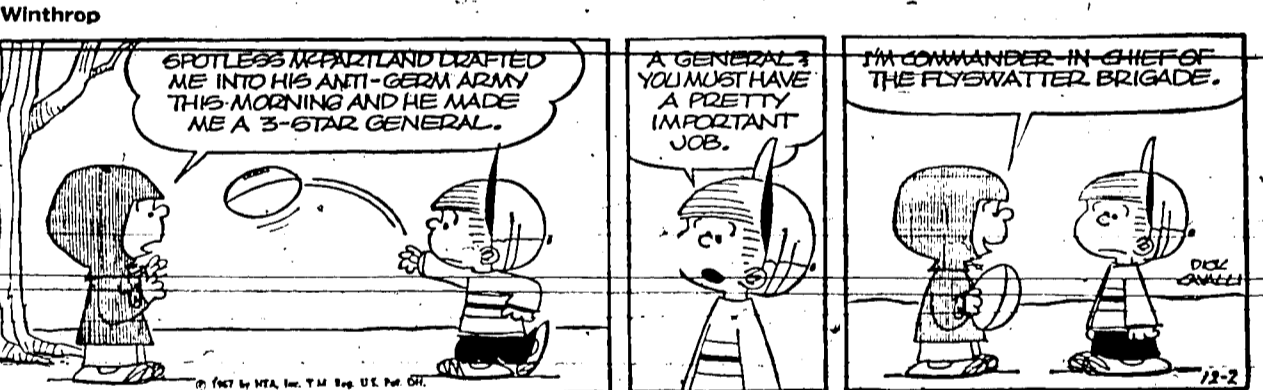

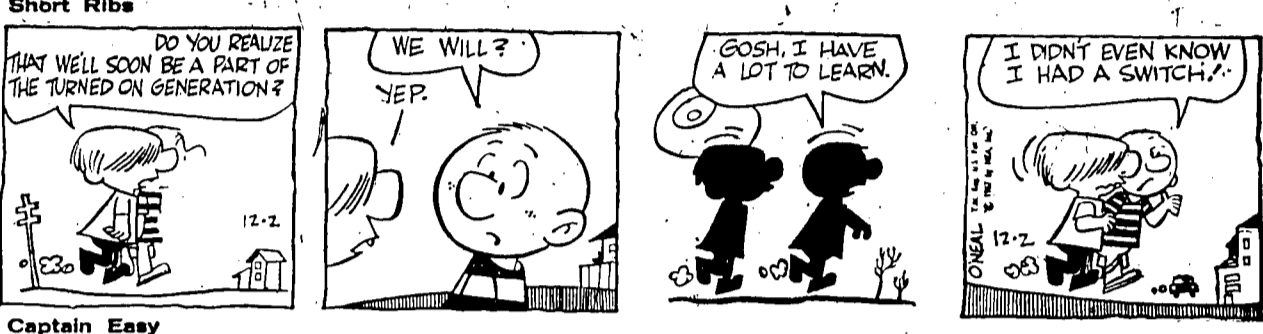

Poor East would want to ruff, but you can't ruff when you are out of trumps. South would get to discard his losing heart.

Is This Mod Or Madness?

Dear Walt: This friend of mine has a problem. He thinks he's a real Mod dresser, but he really doesn't know how to match clothes. Last week, for instance, he wore a blue double breasted suitcoat, and very light tan pants to a school dance. My friends agree with me that his taste is awful, but no one knows how to tell him this. Do you have a suggestion?—Concerned Person

Dear Concerned: The Mod style has uprooted ordinary rules of mix-and-match, and substituted "fun" guidelines: If any person enjoys the costume, he concocts, he's in Mod style. Compared with some of the outfits I've seen, this fall, your friend is a tasteful conservative. Instead of making a big thing out of this, hold your tongue. When college years, he'll go ivy league!—Walt

HE'LL GET THERE
Dear Walt: I live in San Francisco and the guy I like lives in Redwood City, 35 minutes away. Pretty soon we're having a big school dance and I'd like to ask Myron to come up. But since he doesn't have his license yet, how does he get up here? True his brothers or parents could drive him up, but then they'd have to go home and after three or four hours come back again to drive him home. Can you think of a solution that would be more convenient for both Myron and his parents?—Sherrrie

Dear Sherrrie: Four ideas: (1) Could Myron find a car-driving buddy to be a blind date for a friend of yours for that dance? (2) Could Myron's parents drive him up to SF, and then scoot, leaving your family to run him home? (3) Could Myron bus up to the big town, and then connect after the dance with his family—for future transportation? (4) Would any of your brother-type buddies host him overnight?—Walt

THREATENING PHONE CALLS
Dear Walt: My problem worries me so much I think it's eating my brains out. Since July I've been having phone calls where the kids threaten me that if I leave the house, they will beat me "to a bloody, toothless pulp." I know this isn't just talk, because in the school auditorium when the lights go out I get hit on the arms and kicked in the ankles. I'm so scared, I can hardly eat and when the phone rings I have to go to the bathroom. I was thinking of going to another school. Would you help?—Scared, Scared, Scared

Dear Scared: You have every right to be afraid. This persecution is right out of the Nazi guidebook. If you haven't done so already, tell your parents exactly what's been going on, and inform the school counselor of the situation. They'll decide what to do next. An unhitched phone number, a change of school, a stake-out by the Juvenile Crime Prevention Bureau, or even a move to another town may be in order. But don't let fear seal your tongue. It's highly likely that these same sadists are terrorizing others!—Walt

HE WON'T DANCE
Dear Ele: My problem isn't that big, but it's killing me. You see, I love to dance. I can dance modern, Hawaiian, jazz, regular, any kind. But my boyfriend can't dance at all. It took me a month to really get him to learn how to dance slow, and either he can't catch on to anything else or he doesn't want to. But what really makes things worse is he's always taking me to these dances so he can listen to the bands (he is a lead singer in a group). So I stand there all night just trying to dance while he is listening to the band. So...?—Dance Nut

Ask Them Yourself

FOR REP. L. MENDEL RIVERS, chairman, House Armed Services Committee

If a family has only one son to carry on the name and he is drafted, would he be sent into a combat zone?—Mrs. M. Williams, Ralston, N. C.

● Possibly. Status as an only son does not qualify an individual for hardship discharge or special assignment unless he meets the definition of "sole surviving" son—that is, a person whose brother or brothers have died in service, leaving him as the only remaining son. An only son is expected to fulfill all military obligations, including assignment to a combat zone.

FOR GOV. LURLEEN WALLACE,
Alabama

In news reports about your recent operation, you seemed very brave—but weren't you truly afraid of the outcome?—Mrs. Paul Redeker, Springfield, Ill.

● Yes, I did have moments of anxiety about my condition and about the possible outcome. Primarily, my concern was for my family, which I am sure would be the reaction of any mother finding herself in a similar situation. However, the tremendous outpouring of good wishes from people throughout the United States was a great source of comfort to me, especially those from former patients of the M.D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute in Houston, Texas, where I was treated.

FOR JUNE LOCKHART

of "Lost in Space"
How did you learn self-hypnosis? Did you have a teacher or a do-it-yourself book?—Mrs. J. T. Kee, Austin, Texas

● Heavens, how did you find out about that? I once read a book on the subject and practiced it, but I'm not sure I ever was successful. I did find that the practice was relaxing.

FOR MR. BLACKWELL,

fashion designer
What is your opinion of the way Twiggy dresses?—D. D. North, Las Vegas, Nev.

● For a teen-ager, Twiggy is an attractive boy. In real life I can't believe she wears all the clothes she's paid to model. Some day she may gain a little weight (or add a little bark, so to speak), then she may change her name to "large branch."

FOR JIM TAYLOR,

New Orleans Saints
What are the real reasons for your decision to leave the Green Bay Packers?—Dennis Engelbracht, Manitowoc, Wis.

● I left Green Bay simply because I wanted to play out my career in my home state of Louisiana, near my home in Baton Rouge. I also am very satisfied with my contract with the Saints, and I look forward to playing for them for the next few seasons.

FOR BILLY GRAHAM

Is it true that during your teens, you were considered to be a bit on the "wild" side?—Stanley Shelor, Jr., Los Angeles, Calif.

● That's a matter of opinion. During my teens I was full of rebellion against my religious upbringing, but I may not have been "wild" by today's standards. My friends and I liked to run taxi drivers into a ditch with our jalopies or race through the middle of town, shouting, singing, and even driving on the sidewalk. My life had little purpose, but I remember making myself one promise: I would never become an undertaker or a preacher.

FOR BARBARA EDEN

I have heard that you spend an extraordinary amount of time filming "I Dream of Jeannie." What is your schedule?—D. S., Lansing, Mich.

● In actual filming, we try to keep a nine-to-six schedule, but if you want to include the time I spend in make-up in the morning and having my hair done, I'd say my work period would be closer to a 13-hour day.

FOR HANK KETCHAM,

creator of "Dennis the Menace"
Are you married? If so, do you have a family?—J. Robert Lilley, Bristol, Tenn.

● Yes, I'm married and have one son, Dennis, who originally inspired the cartoon 16 years ago. Dennis is now a U.S. Marine lance corporal in Vietnam.

WHAT IN THE WORLD!

A New LBJ. The burning question in the art world is—will critic Lyndon Johnson now change his mind about his official portrait, the one he called "the ugliest thing I ever saw"? A recent exhibition by sculptress Marisol at the Sidney Janis Gallery in New York had as its theme, "Heads and Chiefs of State." The particular "chief" everyone came to see was titled "LBJ, 1967" and showed the President holding three doves, namely Lady Bird, Lynda Bird, and Luci B. No art reviews as yet from the White House authority.

Mystery Song The record hit, "Ode to Billie Jo," has started a national guessing game: What was thrown off the Tallahatchie bridge? Says Bobbie

Bobbie Gentry

Gentry, who wrote and recorded the ballad, "It's nothing definite, like a baby, as some people think. I meant it as a kind of symbolism."

Psyche-Delights Once you've colored most coloring books, that's it. Not so with "Designs to Color," a collection of abstract psychedelics by a Houston, Texas, housewife named Betty Schaffner. Betty's fans cut out the designs and shellack them on lamps or walls for decoration. They also can be used to decorate cars, doors, or garbage cans. To transform a refrigerator, for instance, you choose a design, have it blown up to the right size by a local blueprint company, then transfer the outline to the refrigerator with carbon paper or by blackening the back with a soft lead pencil. Then color away with textile or lacquer paints. "The designs are so abstract," says Betty, "that no matter how you color them, they can't turn out wrong."

Double Trouble U.S. Olympic officials are worried that the altitude may hinder our athletes at next year's games in Mexico City. But Dr. Daniel J. Hanley, chief physician for the U.S. team, now advises that Mexican food and water may have a more cramping effect. One solution: bring our own vittles along to the land of Montezuma. That maneuver, though, might give our diplomats indigestion.

Smokers Anonymous In an experiment at Dartmouth College in New Hampshire, student smokers were asked to put $50 into a pool. They could get back their share of the pool only by quitting the habit. During the four months of the experiment, 84 percent stopped smoking and 37 percent did not take it up again later. The percentages are better than any other anti-cigarette campaign we know of, which goes to prove that you have better luck when you appeal to people's wealth rather than their health.

45 YEARS OF MEDICAL PRACTICE...AND 10,000 OVERWEIGHT PATIENTS PROVE YOU CAN Get That Weight Off Quickly!

You can lose 5, 10, 15 or more pounds the first week!

Dr. Irwin Stillman's Quick Weight Loss Diet debunks the myth that the only way to lose weight is to lose it gradually. He proves with facts not theory that rapid weight loss is the most effective reducing method.

IN JUST ONE WEEK you can see the weight on the scale drop rapidly, and the fat melt away. Dr. Stillman's records show that... patients averaged a loss of 6 to 7 pounds in the first 3 days on the Quick Weight Loss Diet.

IN JUST ONE WEEK you can get rid of the pounds suddenly gained from too much "good living." Sudden slimming is yours with the Quick Weight Loss Diet.

IN JUST ONE WEEK you will be delighted and impressed by your decided drop in weight. If you have failed with other diets, the big loss of weight the first week from the Quick Weight Loss Diet will give you the confidence you need to continue.

DR. IRWIN MAXWELL developed the QUICK WEIGHT LOSS DIET in the course of his 45 years of medical practice. The diet has been tested and proved by over 10,000 patients. It works!

His first rule is: GET THAT WEIGHT OFF QUICKLY!

The diet helps you do that by burning up 275 extra calories of body fat a day! And that is a secret of its success. This diet requires no will power after the first week. As soon as you see that you've lost 5, 10, or even 15 pounds in just your first week, you'll have all the encouragement you need right from your scale.

EAT AS MUCH AS YOU WANT

The amazing thing about the Quick Weight Loss Diet is that you get all the nutrition you need...you do not count calories...and you eat as much as you want! Actually, by sticking to permitted foods, you put a "brake" on your appetite so that—without bothering to count calories—you eat far less than usual.

But should you suddenly feel the urge for a midnight snack, go ahead. You don't have to put up with hunger pangs. Nor do you have to feel guilty if you eat "a little bit extra." As long as you eat permitted foods only, you may eat as much as you want!

NOT JUST ONE DIET... BUT 60!

In addition to the basic Quick Weight Loss Diet, there are 60 different quick-reducing diets that cover an array of emotional and medical needs. For example, there's an Anti-Acne Diet, Anti-Allergy Diet, 6-Meal-a-Day Nibbler Diet, Bread-Cheese-Wine Diet, High Fat/High Protein Diet, etc. And every one is a quick-reducing diet that slims you down in a hurry.

If you're the type who must have variety, you can switch from one Diversion Diet to another...lose weight...and never eat a boring meal!

HELPS PEOPLE

WHO COULDN'T REDUCE BEFORE

Hundreds of Dr. Stillman's patients were "veteran dieters"—people who have tried to lose many times before, and failed. Here are a few case histories:

MRS. E. G.—Five years ago she weighed 194 and was only 5'1". She had tried to reduce 14 times before without success, losing a few pounds at first, then gaining them back. With the QUICK WEIGHT LOSS DIET, she lost over 10 pounds the first week; was so encouraged she continued eagerly. In a year she got to her desired weight of 105 and has maintained it ever since.

MRS. E. E.—At 5'2" she weighed 155 instead of her ideal of under 110. She vowed to reduce after overhearing people call her "butterball." In just two months she was down to an attractive 115. Letting up too quickly, she gained nine pounds in a month, went back to the diet, dropped back to 115 in two weeks, then to 110. If her weight goes up again, she knows that a few days on the QUICK WEIGHT LOSS DIET will bring it down again.

MR. D. E.—He was 5'11", weighed 243 pounds and said he felt like an old man. He was only 32. His blood pressure was a dangerous 210/135. In 14 weeks he went down to 183 and his blood pressure dropped to a safer 150/100. He says he feels like a "new man." After holding this interim weight for a while he will lose about 20 pounds more, then stabilize at his ideal weight of 165.

WHY THE DOCTOR'S QUICK WEIGHT LOSS DIET WORKS

You, too, can lose weight fast. No matter how many times you've tried other diets and failed, this program will work. Everything you need to know is in the book, THE DOCTOR'S QUICK WEIGHT LOSS DIET. Read it and you will learn:

- How to figure your ideal weight.
- What foods will start you losing at the amazing rate of 5, 10 or even 15 pounds a week.
- Dozens of hearty meat, fish, egg and cheese dishes which you may eat to your heart's content.
- Why this program works where gradual loss programs fail.
- Why calories count, but you don't have to count them.
- How to hold your ideal weight after reaching it.
- Gourmet foods that help you stay slim.
- Facts to help "scare" the fat off you.
- How to help children, teenagers and the elderly to lose weight fast.
- Why overweight people must DIET OR DIE YOUNGER!

"READ IT ON THIS "MUST-SLIM" BASIS
Send for the book...read it...put the QUICK WEIGHT LOSS DIET to work for you. If you aren't 100% satisfied with your weight loss—and satisfied that the loss is permanent—return the book and get your money back. Give it a 10-day trial.

Mail the coupon today. You have everything to gain—better health, greater vitality, a slim, young-looking figure. And nothing to lose but fat!

HAILED BY REVIEWERS

For example, the medical reviewer for King Features Syndicate, himself a physician, writes:

"This is a no-nonsense approach to losing weight. It cannot help but work if you follow the [author's] directions...this book is probably the best medicine as well as the best friend a fat person could ever have...It also offers encouragement along with exercises. These two factors are as important as diet; the three together, written in such a pleasant style, set this particular book apart from being just another diet plan."

"This diet saved my life"

The author, Dr. Irwin Maxwell Stillman, was a "fatty" once himself when he suffered a severe heart attack. Realizing that his life depended on losing 50 pounds fast, he used the Quick Weight Loss Diet to do it. His reducing method saved his own life and has kept him slim and vigorous ever since.

Dr. Stillman is a Diplomat in Internal Medicine, has been Clinical Instructor in Medicine at LONG ISLAND COLLEGE HOSPITAL, and is a Fellow in both the American Geriatric College and the American College of Angiology.

What Kind of Wife

Will Lynda Bird Be?

She's charming, witty, and personable and will probably model herself after the one woman she considers the perfect wife—her mother

By FLORA RHETA SCHREIBER

ON DEC. 9 in the East Room of the White House, President Lyndon Johnson will take a respite from the pressures of his office. That day, he will give away his daughter Lynda, almost 24, to 28-year-old Marine Capt. Charles Spittal Robb.

The foremost question in many people's minds is: What kind of wife will Lynda Bird be? Before you can answer this question, it's essential to know Lynda Bird's personality and background—and, equally important, how they match those of her handsome fiancé.

I've known Lynda since 1960 and have found her to be a vibrant, perceptive, and engaging young woman—yes, even witty. In 1962, for example, she was asked at a reception whether she was the then Vice-President's daughter. Her straight-faced reply was, "I've been known to deny it."

One of the more important attributes for any wife is to see the other person's side and to be fully aware of the other's emotions. Happily for Captain Robb, Lynda has this ability. And like her mother, Lynda remains calm and relaxed when under severe pressure, something President Johnson might tell Robb is most essential of all in a good wife.

How do she and Chuck measure up in the all-important yardsticks of a successful marriage—compatibility, emotional stability, and social and economic backgrounds?

Compatibility is, of course, the cornerstone of any marriage, and judging them upon past academic performances, Lynda and Chuck have much in common.

A government and history major, Lynda was an honor student at the University of Texas. Chuck won a scholarship in engineering at Cornell, but, after his freshman year, when his family moved to their present home in Milwaukee, he transferred to the University of Wisconsin and changed his major to business administration.

"Chuck," says a friend, "is beautifully organized, with a very high but carefully sheathed IQ, a man who knows where he is—and where he is headed. I suspect this is not toward a lifetime in the Marines."

The soon-to-be married couple also share a zest for hard work. "I really like to work," Lynda told me when she was a freshman in college. "If I didn't, I wouldn't have spent the past seven years at the National Cathedral School, which allows little play." An article in her high-school yearbook first twits her about her Texas drawl, then says: "With all her extracurricular activities, one marvels at Lynda's ability to get her homework done—ahead of time, no less."

Chuck not only worked hard at school but at the age of 10, after his family lost a great deal of money in a fruitless real-estate venture, took to selling newspapers. He also caddied to supplement the family's income. Today, however, his family lives comfortably, and his father, a man of great charm and expensive tastes, is a district manager in Milwaukee for an airline.

Chuck has learned his boyhood lessons well. His work in the Marine Corps was so distinguished that six months after basic training, he became the executive Marine officer of the cruiser Northampton, the ship which would be the Presidential command post in time of war. The crew is, of course, an elite group.

Lynda and Chuck also share a love of sports. She likes to ski and is a fairly good marksman. In college, he played par golf and championship volleyball, but at present his sports activities are limited to touch football.

Both bride and groom eagerly read news magazines and are up on current events. Lynda reads books voraciously, but Chuck doesn't read them at all—simply to save time, he says.

If it's important for a husband and wife to share a hobby, then Lynda and Chuck have one—bridge, which brought them together in White House sessions. When Lynda was 17, she spoke to me of her love for bridge and regretted that her father didn't play. One night, however, as she reported it, "Daddy was watching Mother and me. 'How do you play this game?' he suddenly asked. We taught him, and he won the first time he played."

Compatibility also rests in similarity of background, both socially and emotionally. When they attend their son's wedding in the White House, the James Robbs will not be strangers in an awesome place. They long have been a part of the permanent Washington and Virginia society. Both attended White House receptions when they lived in Georgetown. James Robb's father was for many years secretary to Sen. Henry G. Davis of West Virginia. Frances Robb, Chuck's mother, comes from an old aristocratic Washington family and lived in the capital before her marriage.

Emotionally, both Lynda and Chuck have had their share of parental devotion, which many experts feel lays a base for a stable marriage. Chuck's Milwaukee friends refer to James and Frances Robb as "the fun parents I wish I had." As for Lynda, her father was never too busy with politics to neglect interest in her appearance, school activities, and views on public issues. Lady Bird's conversations with her were always sprinkled with such words of endearment as "pumpkin," "baby dear," "honey child," or "angel."

More and more, psychologists have come to regard order of birth in the family as a gauge for pre-stereotype image of the "little wife." Her parents have encouraged her to have opinions of her own and to fulfill her individuality as a human being. Unlike her sister, Lynda isn't the least bit domesticated. When Luci married Pat Nugent in 1966, she let it be known that she wanted a large family. Even before marriage, she had displayed an interest in sewing and cooking.

Lynda, however, with a job on a magazine, a flair for politics, and a worldly rather than a domestic orientation will probably always remain a career woman. Her mother has had her own career and so, too, has her future mother-in-law. Mrs. Robb is a fashion illustrator for a four-shop women's apparel own. She has been a friend, companion, confidante, and political partner. The President himself says of his wife, "She is never a person who will admit her own pain or ask for mercy. If she has any fault, that is it."

Lynda will probably be equally dedicated but less Spartan. "Daddy worships Mother," she says, "tells her his problems, but he sometimes forgets that she might want to cry on his shoulder." One senses somehow that Lynda might cry on Chuck's shoulder. For, less reserved than her mother, Lynda will more freely express her own emotions.

Lynda and Chuck first got to know each other in mid-July of this year when she spent a weekend as his date with friends at the beach at Rehoboth, Del. Late in July she went to London for a two-week visit. She thought a lot about Chuck in London, where she dated actor George Hamilton, and even bought a tie to bring Chuck as a gift. But instead of giving it to him, she gave it to her father mainly because she wasn't then really certain about how Chuck and she felt toward each other.

She saw Chuck again shortly after returning to Washington. One evening in August of this year they talked until 3 a.m. in the White House solarium, the same room in which Luci met Pat Nugent. That night Lynda and Chuck were certain of their feelings and decided to become engaged.

They knew that he would go to Vietnam soon and would not return until 1969. That was too long to wait, so they chose the December wedding date.

They decided on a furnished apartment for the time left in Chuck's Washington tour. While he is gone, Lynda will take an apartment in New York and continue working, but after Chuck's Vietnam tour, they'll buy a house.

Meantime, as Dec. 9 approaches, Lynda, always one to do her homework, has been reading a book entitled "The Marine Corps Wife." Among the book's many injunctions is that a Marine's wife should remember that her husband is, first of all, married to the Corps.

Easier to swallow is the recommended Marine vocabulary. Before setting off for a vacation in Mexico, Lynda, the perfect Marine Corps wife-to-be, already called her luggage "gear"—an indication that, while every bit the modern woman in career and intellectual involvement, Lynda will be like her mother and most other women—a wife above all. ♦ dicting marital happiness. Both Lynda and Chuck are their parents' first-born and, as such, have the psychologists' stamp of approval for making a go of it together. While Lynda's sibling rivalry was confined just to sister Luci, Chuck is the eldest of four children: Wick, 26, a Navy career man, David, 22, a postgraduate student at the University of Wisconsin, and a 19-year-old sister, Marguerite Trenholm, who will be one of Lynda Bird's bridesmaids.

Lynda and Chuck are used to the big-sister-big-brother role. Lynda always helped Luci with her homework and stood by as a comforter when their parents were away. Chuck has played the protective older brother, particularly to Wick, whose bad eyesight impeded his high-school studies. This can be interpreted to mean that as husband and wife they will give each other strong emotional support and bear the mature responsibilities a family brings.

Lynda brings to her marriage no chain in Milwaukee, and she also does advertising art on a few freelance accounts.

What Lynda will bring to her marriage, besides the wit and wisdom of her own personality, is compassion and understanding. As Katherine Lee, her high-school principal, puts it, "Lynda has great awareness of the suffering in the world, great concern for things to be as right as possible. She has remarkable ability to do the thoughtful thing. And she is very intent on fulfilling the image of what she thinks she should be."

Thoughtfully, for instance, Lynda refused to have a formal debut on the grounds that "my parents are too busy to be pinned down to that much planning."

She probably will do what every young bride does—emulate her mother. The image Lynda has before her is that of a woman who from the day of her marriage has aimed at being a "perfect wife." Lady Bird Johnson always placed her husband's interests before her Dolls this year can do anything—walk, crawl, or chew. "That Kid" by Hasbro talks back—with five sassy phrases. Take his slingshot, for example, and he warns, "The monster will get you!"

What's in Santa's Toy Bag This Year?

■ ONE OF the joys of being a parent is the excitement of Christmas toy shopping. One of the perils is in choosing the wrong toy, a disappointment for parents as well as for child.

To side-step such disappointment, we've culled some samples of the kinds of toys children will be asking Santa for this year. We based our choices on the new child-tested trends—and on some unchanging criteria for what makes a "good" toy.

Good toys can be played with in more than one way, so a child is not quickly bored. They don't break easily, so a child is not frustrated. They give a child a chance to express his feelings through

Steamed Pumpkin Pudding with apple slices and served with Lemon Zest Crème is an elegant dessert.

Look What 4 Cups of Pumpkin Will Make!

Steamed Pumpkin Pudding

1 1/4 cups fine dry bread crumbs
1/2 cup sifted regular all-purpose flour
1 cup lightly packed brown sugar
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon ground cloves
2 eggs, fork beaten
1 1/2 cups canned pumpkin
1/2 cup cooking or salad oil
1/2 cup undiluted evaporated milk
Lemon Zest Crème (see recipe)

- Blend the dry ingredients in a large bowl and set aside.
- Beat eggs and remaining three ingredients together. Add to dry ingredients; mix until blended.
- Turn into a well greased 1 1/2-qt. mold. Cover tightly with a greased cover, or tie greased aluminum foil tightly over mold. Steam* about 3 hours.

MELANIE DE PROFT Food Editor

- Remove pudding from steamer and unmold onto a serving plate. Decorate plate with drained cinnamon-apple rings, whipped cream, and sugar cubes soaked with lemon extract (see photo). Immediately ignite the sugar cubes. Accompany with a bowl of Lemon Zest Crème.

One 2 1/4-lb. pudding

*To steam, place mold on trivet or rack in a steamer or deep kettle with a tight-fitting cover. Pour in boiling water to no more than one half the height of mold. Cover steamer; bring water to boiling and keep it boiling at all times. Keep water level at one half the height of mold throughout steaming.

Lemon Zest Crème

1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/2 teaspoon ground ginger
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 cups sifted confectioners' sugar
1/2 cup lemon juice
1/2 cup chopped walnuts

Cream the butter or margarine with ginger and salt in a bowl. Add the sugar gradually, beating constantly. Add lemon juice gradually, continuing to beat until blended. Mix in nuts.

About 2 1/2 cups crème

Walnut Pumpkin Loaf Cake

2 1/4 cups sifted cake flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon ground ginger
1/2 teaspoon ground nutmeg
1/2 cup butter or margarine
2 teaspoons vanilla extract
1 teaspoon grated orange peel
1 cup sugar
2 eggs (about 1/2 cup)
1 cup canned pumpkin
1/2 cup milk
1/4 cup finely chopped walnuts

- Thoroughly blend the dry ingredients and set aside.
- Cream the butter or margarine with extract and peel; add sugar gradually, creaming well. Add eggs, one at a time, beating thoroughly after each addition.
- Alternately add dry ingredients in thirds and a blend of pumpkin and milk in halves, mixing until blended after each addition. With final few strokes, stir in nuts.
- Turn batter into a greased, bottom only, 9x5x2 1/4-in. loaf pan; spread into corners.
- Bake at 325° F. 70 to 75 minutes.
- Cool 15 min. in pan on wire rack. Remove cake from pan and cool on rack.
- If desired, sift confectioners' sugar over top.

YOUR CHILD MAY HAVE PIN-WORMS
1 OUT OF 3 DOES

Fidgeting, loss of sleep and a tormenting itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms... ugly parasites that medical experts say infect 1 out of every 3 persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it. To get rid of Pin-Worms, they must be killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do... and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly, easily. Ask your pharmacist.

Don't take chances with dangerous, highly contagious Pin-Worms which infect entire families. Get genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge—small, easy-to-take tablets... special sizes for children and adults.

the WONDERFUL WORLD OF CHILDREN

Florentine Figurines

In the illustrious art masterpiece tradition of Italian galleries come these captivating chubby cherubs. Each is in a different playful pose, radiating the child-like innocence and purity of the tender years. One is standing on his head; another rolls on his back while the others romp and dance in pure pleasure. Recognize instantly the same grace and beauty of the great masterpieces of Italian art.

Everyone who has thrilled to the master works of Florence, Rome, The Vatican and the inspiring sculptures of Michelangelo and Cellini, will treasure these Ivorex figurines. Skilled artisans capture all the intricate detail, the remarkable life-like feeling of movement of the 6 Florentine Cherubs as they dance and play. The mock ivory texture is enhanced with delicate antiquing to produce works of art in the grand Renaissance manner. Each is approximately 3 inches.

You will arrange them, then re-arrange them and be impressed to find new pleasure in the variety of decorative designs they form. A shelf or table will suddenly take on new beauty. The basic maternal significance of all the great angel cherubs is now yours at a remarkable price. Our first delivery from Italy has just arrived. We suggest your early order now, for yourself and for those special persons to whom you will want to give them. And the set of 6 is just $3.98.

The only one in sight,
So up the parking lane I sped

And when I'm 99, I'll hear
The crunch, the crash, the tear
As I hit the brakes—and then the rear
Of the sports car hidden there.

QUIPS AND QUOTES

The doctor had seen the woman's small son through a severe case of chicken pox. When she received his bill, though, she thought it was much too much. She phoned the doctor to complain.

The doctor listened, then said, "But you mustn't forget that I paid six visits to your house while your son had chicken pox."

"I won't forget," the woman said. "But you mustn't forget that he infected the entire fourth grade!"

—Dorothea Kent

By the time the average politician finds out he's wrong, he has too many backers to quit.

—Rex Mobley

On Sunday morning, the weary husband, bleary-eyed but determined, made his way downstairs to the kitchen. A half-hour later he returned, carrying a breakfast tray which he carefully set down on the bed before his delighted but astonished wife.

"What a wonderful surprise!" she exclaimed. "The tray is beautiful, darling, and the food looks delicious."

"Then you see everything I've done?" he asked.

"Of course, dear, every detail. Why?"

"Because," the husband said briskly, "this is exactly how I want my breakfast from now on."

—Frances Benson

An elderly American lady, traveling in the Near East, was touched by the sight of a lame beggar.

"Oh, you poor man," she said. "It must be terrible to be lame." Then handing him a large coin, she added, "But, you know, it would be worse if you were blind."

"That's very true, madam," he replied. "When I was blind, I got nothing but slugs." —Flora Rand

The ladies met over coffee. "So you've given up taking those tranquilizers?" the first one asked.

"Yes," her friend replied. "I found myself being pleasant to people I shouldn't even be speaking to." —John M. Williams Money talks, but these days it takes a lot more of it to hold an audience.

When a doctor has ended His day's ministrations, Do you think he has reached The end of his patients?

—Joyce K. Megginson

"Well, I always told you, you wouldn't be happy any place!"

I was just thinking...

His Name Is "Big Town"

HE HAD no home, no faith, no future, and no one to love him.

He was proud of all this.

He looked strong and healthy. He said he'd never been sick. Never had a permanent job. Never loved anybody. Never put down a root.

He was a wanderer.

And he was old and tough. His conversation was punctuated with the unprintable. He said exactly what he thought, and he didn't care who heard him say it.

In a way, he was refreshing. For a listener, it was like rising from a forest of polite platitudes into the rarified air of cold, clear honesty, however shocking for conventional lungs.

He was a hobo and I met him only once. I will never forget him because he gave me a special gift he didn't know he had to give away.

I envied his freedom, his knowledge of all the places I never have seen and never will visit. I was jealous of his complete denial of the ties that sometimes bind the spirit, and I admired him for his casual castigation of conforming.

But that's not what he gave me.

I remember his words about sex, which he substitutes for love, and about ancient history, with which he replaces faith, and he used these as a kind of shield against feeling. A man who has so much to fight must be talking simply to convince himself.

He admitted that once he had a family, but he didn't remember much about it and didn't need it. He said he didn't need affection and never gave it. He said he didn't want anyone to care about him or help him.

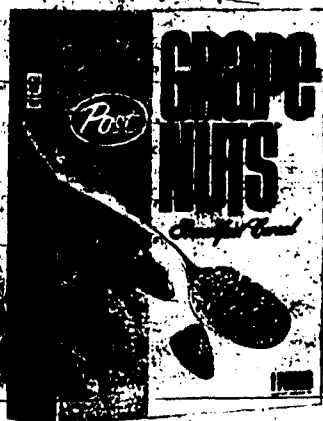

But last week he sent me a postcard from Idaho, with an affectionate scrawl across it, just as though he were a man off on a little trip remembering the folks back home.

For more than 50 years he has been quietly running away.

And now he's nearly 75 years old, and he hasn't made it yet.

He was proud of all this.

He looked strong and healthy. He said he'd never been sick. Never had a permanent job. Never loved anybody. Never put down a root.

He was a wanderer.

And he was old and tough. His conversation was punctuated with the unprintable. He said exactly what he thought, and he didn't care who heard him say it.

In a way, he was refreshing. For a listener, it was like rising from a forest of polite platitudes into the rarified air of cold, clear honesty, however shocking for conventional lungs.

He was a hobo and I met him only once. I will never forget him because he gave me a special gift he didn't know he had to give away.

I envied his freedom, his knowledge of all the places I never have seen and never will visit. I was jealous of his complete denial of the ties that sometimes bind the spirit, and I admired him for his casual castigation of conforming.

But that's not what he gave me.

I remember his words about sex, which he substitutes for love, and about ancient history, with which he replaces faith, and he used these as a kind of shield against feeling. A man who has so much to fight must be talking simply to convince himself.

He admitted that once he had a family, but he didn't remember much about it and didn't need it. He said he didn't need affection and never gave it. He said he didn't want anyone to care about him or help him.

But last week he sent me a postcard from Idaho, with an affectionate scrawl across it, just as though he were a man off on a little trip remembering the folks back home.

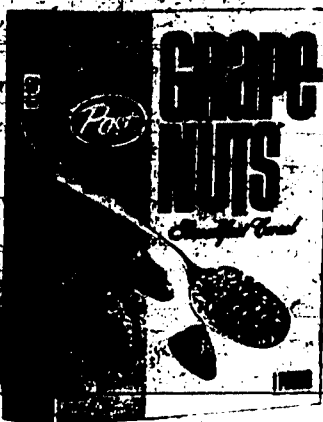

For more than 50 years he has been quietly running away.

And now he's nearly 75 years old, and he hasn't made it yet.

Any Hope for the Common Cold?

By CLAIRE SAFRAN

Dr. Maurice R. Hilleman is on a winning streak in his lab. And because of this, the rest of us may soon be able to say good-bye to the sniffles.

Not long ago, FAMILY WEEKLY featured an article on Dr. Hilleman's discovery of a new mumps vaccine. Now comes word of his most recent health breakthrough—a revolutionary way to give our bodies a "false alarm."

By this piece of medical trickery, he can trigger our bodies into producing a substance that may protect us from the common cold and also from a wide range of less common but more deadly diseases.

As head of the research team of the Merck Institute for Therapeutic Research in West Point, Pa., Dr. Hilleman has long been aware of a natural, virus-fighting substance known as interferon. Isolated in the lab and injected into animals, interferon proved some 10 years ago that it could ward off a whole spectrum of virus infections.

The price, though, was definitely wrong. The National Institutes of Health calculated that it would cost about $5,000 to manufacture just enough of the substance to prevent only one human cold.

Interferon, though, is a substance that also is produced by the body itself. When body cells are attacked by a virus, they release interferon into the blood to circulate protection to the cells not yet under attack. Interferon works like antibodies do, with the exciting difference that any given antibody works against just a single disease agent and interferon works against an assorted army of them.

The secret that eluded scientists up until now was how to stimulate the body to produce interferon before an actual infection—and without bad side effects. This is what Dr. Hilleman and his team have done.

He reports a substance that masquerades as a virus but without viral effects. It's one of the basic chemicals of life, ribonucleic acid (RNA). Injected, it sends out a false signal that viruses are invading. The body reacts by mobilizing its defensive system of interferon. In this way, it becomes immune to true viruses as well.

So far, researchers have experimented only with mice and rabbits in the lab. But the results have been so dramatic that they're preparing to test it soon on humans.

Interferon gives only short-term immunity. For longer-lasting protection, other researchers are following the vaccine trail.

The research problem is that we have a superabundance of knowledge. As Dr. Robert J. Huebner of the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases explains, "Like the old lady who lived in the shoe, we have so many viruses we don't know what to do." Yet he feels that having identified the enemy (or 150 of them) we are ready to fight back.

Some scientists have suggested a one-shot vaccine that would mix from 40 to 100 of these different cold viruses. That sounds good, but each strain would have to be so weakened as to become ineffective.

Dr. Huebner predicts that the first effective vaccine will be for children, who are the ones hit the hardest. It will be made from the viruses that most commonly attack children.

There's good reason for this all-out, double-pronged war on the common cold. Pick any day this winter and you'll find some 20 million people in the United States with running noses, rasping throats, and stuffy, aching heads. These symptoms will happen to nine out of 10 people at least once this year, and to most of us, they'll happen three or four times.

While old wives' tales such as eating garlic capsules and vinegar pickles or chewing raw, seasoned peanuts aren't likely to help cure a cold, Grandma's favorite remedy is still what most doctors prescribe: go to bed, keep warm, drink lots of liquids, and take an aspirin.

That's about the best you can do this winter, and some medical people are pessimistic about being able to do much better in the near future.

But many optimists like Dr. Hilleman say hopefully, "Wait till next year!" ♦

Quick 'n easy with Kraft Pure Orange Marmalade and Betty Crocker Date Bar Mix

1 package Betty Crocker Date Bar Mix	¼ teaspoon baking powder	1 cup raisins
¾ cup hot water	1 teaspoon cinnamon	1 cup or 1 package (8 ounces) candied red or green whole cherries
3 eggs	¼ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ cup Gold Medal Flour	¼ teaspoon allspice	¼ cup Kraft Pure Orange Marmalade
¼ cup Kraft Pure Orange Marmalade	1 cup whole pecans or almonds

Heat oven to 325°. Grease and flour loaf pan, 9x5x3 inches. In large bowl blend date filling from Date Bar Mix and hot water. Mix in crumbly mix, eggs, flour, ¼ cup orange marmalade, the baking powder and spices thoroughly. Fold in nuts, raisins and cherries. Pour into prepared pan. Bake about 1 hour and 20 minutes or until wooden pick inserted in center comes out clean. Cool thoroughly. Wrap and refrigerate. Just before serving, heat ¼ cup orange marmalade until thin. Spoon over fruitcake. If desired, dip underside of candied fruit pieces in heated marmalade and press fruits on top of cake.
