

Tiger Tries To Carry Off Idaho Marine Near Demilitarized Zone

DONG HA, Vietnam (AP) — Hey, did you hear the story about the tiger tried to drag off a U.S. Marine? "He sort of made a sound like un-yah."
So with an un-yah, Marine Lance Cpl. Jim Shepherd was off-bouncing on his belly, his arm firmly in the tiger's jaw. The tiger pulled Shepherd as a little puppy jerks at the end of a towel.
"I kept hitting him in the neck and face and all he'd do is blink and keep pulling," Shepherd said.

Shepherd, 19, of Montpelier, Idaho, has been in Vietnam four months along the demilitarized zone with the 3rd Battalion, 9th Marine Regiment.
He sleepily recalled the incident today from a bunk in Dong Ha dispensary where he is undergoing preventative treatment to preclude rabies.
It happened one day last week at about 1:30 a.m. Shepherd and five other Marines had set up in an ambush position overlooking a jungle trail five miles south of the demilitarized zone. Shepherd, 6 feet tall and 170 pounds, was on the right end of the line with each man about two arms' lengths apart. They gazed down a 20-degree clear slope to a trail along a creek.

Shepherd was lying on his belly, his rifle cradled in his left hand and his head turned to the right.
The tiger came from the left, passing in front of the other four men. Only the squad leader, a corporal, next to Shepherd, saw the beast.
"The squad leader was whispering something," Shepherd said. "Something hit me gently on the arm. I thought it was the squad leader jabbing me."

"I turned around and I saw that big thing chomping right into me. Yikes. He started pulling me."
Shepherd was being pulled down the slope toward the creek, about 10 yards away.
"I was too scared to yell. My buddies didn't want to shoot because they were afraid they'd hit me."
"I was hitting him with my right fist as hard as I could. I grabbed his neck once. The skin was real loose.

"If I had tried to jerk away, he would have taken my arm off, I bet."
"He got me into the water, and I guess he figured he couldn't get me across the creek. He probably didn't know what to do with me."
"Gosh, I thought he was going to get on top of me and go for my neck."
"Except for his opening 'un-yah,' the tiger was quiet and all business. The other Marines had remained quiet, too, and the 30-second-long incident dragged on in a silence broken only by Shepherd's muffled blows and the sound of his body scrapping over the ground and splashing into the water.

Then one of the other Marines stood up quickly, Shepherd said.
"He (the tiger) must have seen one of my buddies. The tiger left in one big jump. He just disappeared."
"I stood up, all wet, and got out of the creek and went back up."
"A medic with the Marines supplied a battle dressing to Shepherd's wound, which had bled and had swollen shut.

"As I was getting bandaged, the tiger was still around. We didn't see him, but we could smell him. He smelled like something dead," said Shepherd.
The main wound, about a half-inch deep, took eight stitches to close.
Shepherd is a quiet fellow who likes to hunt and fish and is a veteran of Con Thien during that advanced position's worst days in September.
"I guess that tiger is pretty funny now, but I didn't think so at the time," he said.

Heart Transplant Appears Success

By KENNETH L. WHITING
CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — A South African man with the transplanted heart of a 25-year-old girl pumping his blood announced today: "I am feeling much better."
Louis Washkansky, 55, a Lithuanian-born businessman, was able to speak 33 hours after a medical breakthrough operation. The tubes to a respirator were removed from his throat, permitting him to speak his first words since Sunday's surgery.
But he remained in a critical period at what Groote-Schuur Hospital called the world's first human heart transplant.
Heart specialists around the world were waiting to see if Washkansky's body would accept or reject the heart of Denise Ann Darvati, an accounting machine operator killed in a car crash.

Dr. Berger said that without the transplant Washkansky would have been dead within a few days because his heart's muscle was worn down.
The landmark operation was supervised by Dr. Jan. H. Louw, the hospital's chief surgeon, with Prof. Chris Barnard performing the surgery.
Surgeons removed the heart from Miss Darvati's body first and kept it going by a mechanical pump while they took out Washkansky's damaged heart. They then transplanted the girl's heart into the man's chest and started it beating with jolts from electrodes.
"It was like turning the ignition switch of a car," said Dr. Louw.
The case was followed with See TRANSPLANT, Pg. 2, Col. 5

New Sheriff To Be Named Here Tuesday

Heber Loughmiller, chairman of the Twin Falls County Commission, said Monday the board will take action Tuesday on the appointment of a sheriff to succeed James H. Benham, who has resigned to accept the office of the state brand inspector.
He said the commission will hold up action on the appointment until receiving an endorsement or recommendation from the Twin Falls County Republican Central Committee. The committee has advised it will meet Monday night and take action on a recommendation for the appointment.
Four applications have been received by the county commissioners.

President Of Cyprus Welcomes Peace Proposals From Thant

SCENES SUCH AS this one on the northwest corner of the Blaine county hospital grounds at Halley greeted Magic Valley residents who went for a Sunday drive to the mountains either north or south of Twin Falls. The Christmas trees, decorated by nature, are the result of last week's heavy snowstorm across the entire valley. However, most of the snow is gone in the Twin Falls area, but the white stuff is beginning to pile up in the mountains, much to the delight of winter sports enthusiasts. (Photo by Dorothy Povey, Times-News correspondent)

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — President Makarios of Cyprus welcomed Secretary-General U Thant's peace proposals for his strife-torn island Monday and called for the complete withdrawal of all non-Cypriot armed forces other than those of the United Nations.
Makarios also called for "effective guarantees against any military intervention in the affairs of Cyprus." This, he said, "is a demanding necessity for peace."
The Cyprus reply to Thant's appeal came a day after Greece and Turkey had accepted the proposals. In a preliminary reply Sunday night, Cyprus had said Thant's program was "particularly constructive" and had promised a more detailed reply within 12 hours.

The Turkish reply to Thant's proposals expressed reservations over two sections that were dropped—one calling for a broader function for the U.N. Peace force in Cyprus and one providing special rights for the Turkish Cypriot minority.
Thant said only that the U.N. force could play a broader role in keeping peace and quiet on the island.
U.S. presidential envoy Cyrus Vance wound up his talks with Makarios in Nicosia Sunday without overcoming the Greek Orthodox archbishop's objections to those provisions and another one for disbanding the Greek Cypriot National Guard.
Vance went to Athens and then left for Washington, saying he was "gratified that tension in the area had receded." His choice of words underlined that full agreement had not been reached.
At the end of the 3½-hour meeting in Nicosia, Makarios looked pleased, in marked contrast to Vance. He told newsmen: "I don't think there is a crisis. I mean there is no reason for it."
As President Johnson's special envoy, Vance had helped Greece and Turkey reach their agreement on moves to prevent war between the two after the Turks threatened to invade Cyprus because of a clash there last month in which 27 Turkish Cypriots were killed.
But to make Greece's concessions go down more easily with the Greek public, the strategy was to have the governments respond to an appeal from Thant rather than give way to each other. Thant apparently changed the terms of the appeal after Vance informed him of Makarios' unyielding resistance.

Plans For Cut In Spending Pushed Ahead

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration plans to press ahead with its plan for slashing $4.1 billion in spending from the budget even though its proposed 10 per cent income tax surcharge appears dead for this year.
But the congressional stall over action on the tax program appears certain to delay, possibly into 1969, any tax revision aimed at correcting alleged inequities.
Sources reported over the weekend that President Johnson, who offered the spending cuts as a package with his tax proposal, will slash the budget even without approval from Congress.
Even so, spending will still be higher in the fiscal year ending next June 30 than the figure forecast by Johnson in his January budget message to Congress.

Cable Car Runs Wild, Hurting 43 In San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — With passengers screaming in terror, a cable car ran wild down one of San Francisco's steepest hills Sunday night, ramming a car which exploded into flames and crashed into nine others.
Ambulances took 43 persons, most of them from the cable car, to four different hospitals with burns and bruises. Critically injured was James Van Baalen, 30, of San Francisco.
The accident occurred near the end of the line at Fisherman's Wharf.
The six-ton Hyde Street cable car, nearing the end of its two-mile run from Powell and Market streets in a heavy downpour, rolled onto the steep grade and went forward out of control on rain-slick tracks.
According to passengers, the cable car careened for a block and a half down Hyde. Sooty passengers jumped off. At Bay Street the car rammed an auto which bounced off others as its gas tank ruptured.
"A big sheet of flame hit the cable car," said Jim Kosek, 22, of Clarendon Hills, Ill. Kosek, just returned from serving in Vietnam, said the cable car seemed to have "lost its brakes."

Several persons were injured in the autos that were hit after the initial impact.
Another cable car passenger, Lorena Matson, 29, of San Francisco, said: "As the cable car started down the steep hill toward Bay Street, the driver said, 'oh, oh, it looks like we're gonna lose our cable.'"
"We thought he was just kidding the tourists and we laughed. Then we just kept going. Some people jumped off, screaming. There was a white car at Bay Street. Then things were falling. There was fire."
The cable car continued for another block and stopped at North Point Street. Its front windshield and the ancient woodwork on the right side smashed. But the steelwork in front appeared intact.
Officer Frank Coombs said he believed the cable car had lost the grip on the sub-paved cable that pulls the cars up the hills of the city.
Police said the cable car gripped man, Arthur Coats, and the conductor, Frankeman, Lou Abels, were not injured.
The car is moved by an underground cable coursing along a slot between the tracks at nine miles an hour. The gripman operates a steel grip which extends down into the slot and grasps the moving cable.
Four devices can be used by the gripman and conductor to slow or stop the cable car.
A wheel brake clamps a metal slow down on the front wheel truck. Two 20-inch-long wood blocks press down on the two rails by a lever operated from the rear. An emergency brake drives a guillotine-like piece of metal down into the cable slot. Or the cable itself is used by the gripman to keep the car from gaining too much speed.
Cause of the cable car failure was under investigation.
Andrew S. Hallidie invented the cars. They have been running in San Francisco since 1873.

Suspended

LONDON (AP) — The British government today announced meat dealers will suspend for the time being imports of meat from all countries in the world where foot and mouth disease is endemic.
Chiefly affected would be Argentina, which supplies about 90 per cent of Britain's imported chilled beef, and Uruguay.
Fred Peart, minister of agriculture, said countries not affected by the order include the United States and Canada.
Meat prices in Britain have already risen by up to six cents a pound as a result of dock strikes and the foot and mouth epizootic.

Go-Slow Strike By Engineers Cripples British Railroads

By MICHAEL CODEL
LONDON (AP) — A go-slow strike by engine drivers crippled British railroads today and jammed the highways with commuter traffic. Most people got to work, though it took them twice as long.
The slowdown, termed by Labor Minister Ray Gunter "the silliest dispute of the decade," threatens the nation's lagging economy.
Since midnight, freight train drivers have refused to start with brakemen riding in the rear cabs of their locomotives—an economy move imposed by the nationalized Rail Board. Each man who refuses is sent home without pay, so another train can't move.
As this spreads among the 36,500 men of the drivers' union, passenger trains have to be canceled from the time tables.
Scores of freight and passenger trains were canceled. The engineers of a milk train refused to move, and 20,000 gallons had to be siphoned into trucks. The state railway said up to 25 per cent of all passenger services might be canceled.
Roads into London were jammed even more than usual by traffic 50 per cent above normal. Automobile associations organized car pools and commuter pickup points.

Prime Minister Harold Wilson called his Cabinet to assess the effects of the strike and possibly to declare an emergency, mobilizing all available transport to take over the load from stalled trains.
Army trucks may be used to haul essential goods and Royal Air Force planes to fly the mail.
The engineers claim that train guards, who are members of the rival National Union of Railwaymen, should not be allowed to ride in the empty cabs at the rear of locomotives. The Associated Society of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen said the guards belong in cabooses which were discontinued at midnight to save $600,000 a year.

17 SHOPPING DAYS TO CHRISTMAS

By The Associated Press
Rain and snow carried on blustery winds fell on the Northwest today and frost and freezing temperatures ranged into Gulf states as far south as north Florida.
Travelers were warned to expect heavy snow in the Sierra Nevada tonight. Gale warnings were flown along the northern Pacific Coast. Locally heavy rains soaked coastal sections while scattered snow fell inland over the higher mountain peaks and passes.

Biafrans Down Jet Fighter

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — Biafran forces have shot down a jet fighter supplied by the Russians to the Nigerian government, the secessionist radio claimed today.
The broadcast said four charred bodies were found in the wreckage of the plane, which was downed Saturday north of Calabar, in the southeast corner of Biafra.

throughout the day and that the allied troops pushed the Communists about 2½ miles north-northeast. At nightfall, there was still moderate to heavy contact. U.S. headquarters said the allied troops also took five prisoners and captured 42 weapons.
One of the Communist attacks on U.S. installations was on the main Army headquarters at Long Binh. A second was a few miles from Long Binh, and a third was near an American division headquarters.

SAIGON (AP) — American infantrymen and South Vietnamese Marines boxed in a Viet Cong battalion in the Mekong Delta today and reported killing 200 in a day-long battle that raged into the night.
Initial field reports put U.S. casualties at four dead and 33 wounded, South Vietnamese at 15 killed and 50 wounded.
The delta battle coincided with more of the enemy artillery and rocket attacks which have become the prevailing pattern of the Vietnam war in recent weeks. Communist troops shelled a U.S. destroyer, killing two Americans and wounding three, under a bazooka attack on the U.S. Army headquarters just outside of Saigon, sank one cargo barge and set another afire, and ambushed an Army convoy.

Seven delegates from Twin Falls County, headed by Jack D. Claiborn, left Monday morning for Cheyenne, Wyo., to attend the annual convention of the National Beet Growers Federation.
Mr. Claiborn, first vice president of the national organization and president of the Idaho Beet Growers Association, also is chairman of the resolutions committee.
The convention opened Monday afternoon with a resolutions committee meeting. On Tuesday a meeting of Utah and Idaho growers is scheduled.
Convention sessions will continue through Friday, when a wage and price hearing for the 1968 season will be held by the U.S. Department of Agriculture at 9:30 a.m.
Among convention speakers will be Gov. Stanley Hathaway of Wyoming and U.S. Gale McGee, D-Wyo. J. B. Kirkland, president of the National Council of Employers; Rodney Leonard, deputy assistant secretary of agriculture; and Tom Murphy, director of the U.S. Sugar Policy staff, also will speak.
Others attending from Twin Falls County include S. L. Pickett, local president; Carl Boyd, secretary; Howard Parish, Clarence McKibben, Jay Cobb and Clarence Hollifield.

Interplanetary Trip Set For Pioneer 8

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer
CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Pioneer 8 spacecraft is being readied here for an interplanetary journey which could provide the best information yet on how great a danger the solar wind poses to astronauts venturing beyond the Earth's atmosphere.
The payload is to be launched Dec. 13 in a two-in-one shot. Also riding aboard the Delta rocket will be a small satellite intended to provide ground stations of the Apollo man-to-moon network with tracking and communications practice. The package is called TTS, for test and training satellite.

Pioneer 8 is to rocket into an extremely wide orbit about the sun, ranging from about 93 million to 102 million miles from the surface. This is approximately the route travelled by Earth as it also orbits the sun.
As the craft zips along on its lonely mission, its instruments will radio information about the solar wind, cosmic rays and electric and magnetic fields.
Two earlier Pioneers, 6 and 7, still are operating, and the combination of the three payloads should give scientists the broadest picture yet of conditions in interplanetary space. All three were built for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration by TRW Systems, Inc.

Of major interest is the solar wind, a great radiation storm that blows constantly through space.
The storm originates with solar flares which erupt on the sun. These are huge thermonuclear reactions beneath the seething surface which shoot tremendous clouds of radiation streaking through the solar system at a speed of more than a million miles an hour.
The Earth's magnetic field serves as a protective umbrella and traps these deadly particles, forming the Van Allen radiation belt which surrounds the globe. Without this protection, life as we know it could not survive on our planet.

About 40,000 miles from Earth, on the sunlit side, the solar wind smashes against the magnetic field, and radiation particles that are not trapped flow around the earth like waves around the bow of a ship. The wind then trails out behind the Earth on the dark side like a ship's wake, creating a tail-like magnetic cone.
At times this cone, called the magnetosphere, envelops the moon. Some scientists believe it could serve as a shield against radiation for astronauts venturing to the moon.

8 Inches Of Snow Falls At Ketchum

Snow began falling Sunday evening in the Ketchum area and piled up eight inches of new light dry snow by Monday morning.

Only about two inches of new snow fell at Hailey and in the area around Carey and Gannett no new snow was reported.

All telephone lines were out to Galena and a report was not available from that area.

U.S. Highway 93 from Hailey to Ketchum was reported icy and snow covered Monday and extremely slick.

Only snow flurries and clouds were reported in other areas of Magic Valley.

Some highways and roads in the vicinity of Gooding and Shoshone still have broken snow floors and are slick in spots, state police reported, as a result of last week's heavy snowstorm.

Although more snow is expected to open in the local area at this time, a number of skiers are taking advantage of early snow at Galena Summit to get in shape for the season. About one and one-half feet covered slopes around the summit prior to the recent storm.

Tiger Attack Story Amazes GP's Mother

MONTPELIER, Idaho (AP)—"You're kidding... I didn't know... we hadn't heard from him for two weeks..."

"Oh, thank you for telling me..."

That was the amazed reaction today of Mrs. Robert Shepherd when an Associated Press reporter told her it was her son who nearly became a tiger's meal near the demilitarized zone of Vietnam.

The incident occurred last week, and the name of the Marine dragged off by a tiger was released today.

He was Lance Cpl. Jim Shepherd, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shepherd of Montpelier.

"That's him, all right," his mother said when read the Vietnam story which described him as 6 feet tall, 170 pounds, and a member of the 3rd Battalion, 9th Marine Regiment.

"The last we heard from him was about two weeks ago," his mother said. "He wrote he was glad to get away from Con Thien because his ears were ringing all the time there. He moved to guard a bridge at Cu Lu, and even did some fishing there. I sent him some fish hooks and he said he caught fish for the natives."

He said he was leaving there to go to 'The Rock Pile,' but I didn't know what that meant."

Young Shepherd grew up at Nampa, Idaho, and moved to Montpelier with his family when a junior in high school.

"His mother described him as a 'normal' boy, who played basketball and football until he tore ligaments in his knee in his senior year. He graduated from high school two years ago."

She said he loved the outdoors and liked to hunt and fish more than anything.

His father is a mechanical foreman for the Union Pacific Railroad in the shops at Montpelier.

He has one sister, Linda, now Mrs. Jim Parsons; wife of a man assigned to a navy troop transport at San Diego, Calif.

Cardinal's Body Lies In State

NEW YORK (AP) — Dressed in the white, red and gold splendor of a Prince of the Roman Catholic Church, the body of Francis Cardinal Spellman lay in state in St. Patrick's Cathedral today.

Thousands of mourners filed by the catafalque, placed in the center aisle, after a solemn High Mass of requiem sung Sunday night by Archbishop John F. Maguire and nine concelebrants. Archbishop Maguire has been named administrator of the archdiocese by Pope Paul VI to serve until a successor is named.

Shortly after midnight, the great bronze doors of the cathedral were shut.

Four New York City firemen and policemen stood guard over the coffin of African mahogany lined with bronze which will remain in place until funeral services Thursday for the cardinal, who died Saturday of a stroke at the age of 78.

All seven surviving American cardinals have been invited to the Thursday services.

The six cardinals currently in the United States have indicated they will attend, but whether Francis Cardinal Brennan, head of the Vatican's Secret Rota, would return from Rome was not known.

As mourners filed the cathedral and messages of condolence poured into the chancery including those from the Pope and President Johnson, speculation began on who would succeed Spellman.

Although the selection of a successor is finally made by the Pope, this will be the first major American church appointment under a new nominating system set up to give American bishops more say in the choosing.

Illness Takes Joseph Kalb

BUHL — Joseph D. Kalb, 91, died Saturday at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital of an extended illness.

He was born Oct. 12, 1876, at Perkinville, Pa., and married One Green in Twin Falls Nov. 14, 1917. Mr. Kalb came to Buhl in 1912 and operated his own tailor shop for many years.

Later he had a shop in the New York Store in Buhl and did tailoring and alterations for the store, working with Dave Barringer, manager. Mr. Kalb belonged to the Nazarene Church.

Survivors include his widow; one son, Richard Kalk, Alameda, Calif.

Funeral services will be conducted at 1 p.m. Tuesday at the Buhl Nazarene Church by Rev. Fred Stiles. Final rites will be held in the Buhl Cemetery. Friends may call at the Albertson-Dickard Funeral Home until 8 p.m. Monday and Tuesday until noon.

Transplant

extreme interest in the United States, where heart disease is the nation's leading killer.

"It sounds to me like a damn good job—scientifically valid," said Dr. Norman E. Shumway, head of the cardiovascular surgery division at the Stanford Medical Center.

He said his staff is ready to perform the same operation when the right combination of dying patient and donor—whose heart must be taken no later than half an hour after death—occurs at Stanford.

Dr. Shumway predicted that within 10 years doctors will be transplanting hearts with the same frequency they now transplant kidneys. About 600 persons throughout the world were living with transplanted kidneys as of last February.

Dr. Michael DeBakey, who led the development of the heart pump, said in a Houston newspaper, "certainly would be a great achievement if they're able to overcome the rejection."

Dr. Kenneth Sell of the U.S. National Medical Research Institute said there was "quite a definite chance" Washkansky might survive two years or more since several dogs which have received heart transplants are still alive two years afterward.

One abortive heart transplant effort was made in 1964 at the University of Mississippi. Surgeons there kept a patient alive despite a failing heart in a long but futile wait for a suitable human donor. In desperation they finally transplanted the heart of a chimpanzee, which failed after one hour.

Edward Draney Taken By Death

BUHL — Edward J. Draney, 82, died Sunday at a local nursing home of a long illness.

He was born July 23, 1885, at Seneca, Kan., and never married. He farmed in Kansas for many years, coming to Buhl in 1966. He visited with brothers and sisters until becoming ill. Mr. Draney belonged to the Catholic church and the Knights of Columbus.

Survivors include two sisters, Mary Draney, Buhl, and Sister Cornelia, Raton, N. M.; three brothers, Ralph Draney, Castleford; George Draney and Frank Draney, Buhl.

Funeral services will be held in Kansas. Friends may call at the Albertson-Dickard Funeral Home until 8 p.m. Monday.

Campaign Set

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. said today his organization will lead "waves of the nation's poor and disinherited to Washington, D.C. next spring to demand redress of their grievances by the United States government and to secure at least jobs or income for all."

Steelmakers Must Make Next Move

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The next move in the latest confrontation between the government and the steel industry over prices is up to the steelmakers who must decide whether to go along with U.S. Steel Corp.'s price increases.

Both sides agree the industry, whose profits slipped by 31 per cent in the first 10 months this year, has its problems.

U.S. Steel, biggest producer in the industry, hiked prices Friday on cold-rolled sheets used in cars and appliances by $5 a ton, or 3.5 per cent.

The next day Chairman Gardner Ackley of the President's Council of Economic Advisers urged other producers not to follow U.S. Steel's lead. He said, "Costs and prices are already too high—not too low." He said improved technology is the way to better profits.

U.S. Steel and other producers had no reply to Ackley immediately, but the other producers said they are looking into U.S. Steel's action. If the others follow U.S. Steel's lead, the industry will have raised prices piecemeal this year on products accounting for 62 per cent of shipments.

In the past, other producers have assessed government reaction to the first increase then followed in line when they thought the increase would stick.

Candace Mossler Flashes Diamond

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Candace Mossler, who was acquitted with her nephew, Melvin Lane Powers, on charges of murdering her husband, flashed a big diamond ring Sunday but refused to say her marital status.

"Why not? We have no plans to get married," said the blonde widow, as Powers watched with a broad grin.

The aunt and nephew were ruled innocent last March 6 of the slaying of Jacques Mossler, 69.

Now Possible To Shrink Painful Hemorrhoids

And Promptly Stop The Itching, Relieve Pain In Most Cases.

New York, N.Y. (Special): Science has found a medication with the ability, in most cases — to promptly stop itching, relieve pain and actually shrink hemorrhoids.

Tests by doctors proved that in case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction of the inflamed hemorrhoids took place.

The secret is Preparation H®. There's no other formula like it. Preparation H also soothes irritated tissues and helps prevent further infection. It's ointment or suppository form.

Police Here Investigate 2 Burglaries

Burglaries of the Frontier Service Station, 222 Addison Ave., and of a parked automobile at 173 Caswell Ave., were being investigated Monday by Twin Falls city police.

Officers said entry to the service station was gained by breaking a rear window. One cigarette machine was broken and between $8 and $7 taken, police reported. Nothing else was bothered, including several other vending machines.

The loss of tools and a tire from the parked automobile represented an estimated $330 in value, officers said. The vehicle, an International Scout, was owned by D. L. McFarland, 173 Caswell Ave. Officers said a new snow tire, a set of sockets, a leather tool kit and a number of tools owned by the firm for which Mr. McFarland is employed, were taken from the vehicle.

Twin Falls News In Brief

Twin Falls Civic Symphony orchestra will rehearse at 7:30 p.m. Monday instead of Tuesday this week only.

Primrose Rebekah Lodge 76 will meet Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the IOOF hall. Birthday anniversaries from July through December will be honored. All members and visiting members are invited to attend.

Joel Peterson, owner of Julie's Flowers and Gifts, 202 Shoshone St. E., has been accepted as a member of the Florafax Delivery, Inc. One of the world's largest flowers-by-wire organizations. Florafax officials say the affiliation means speedy world-wide delivery of flowers for local residents.

HEYBURN — Funeral services for Mrs. Tressie E. Sturm will be conducted at 1 p.m. Wednesday in the Joseph Payne Memorial Chapel, Burley, by Lee Ellis. Last rites will be held in the Shoshone Cemetery. Friends may call at the Payne Mortuary Tuesday afternoon and evening and prior to services on Wednesday.

Folk Singer Improving After Beating

GLENDALE, Calif. (AP) — Folk singer Jimmie Rodgers was reported well enough to make telephone calls from his hospital bed today, although his manager said he is still "in very serious condition."

"He insists on making telephone calls to friends and they are letting him do it rather than get all worked up over it," said Seymour Heiler, Rodgers' manager.

Hospital officials refused to comment on Rodgers's condition.

Heller said the 33-year-old singer could be hospitalized "anywhere from a week or two to a couple of months."

Rodgers was found unconscious and beaten along a freeway early Friday. He suffered a skull fracture. He had apparently been attacked with a blunt instrument during a robbery attempt, according to his physician, Dr. William L. Donham.

Heller said Rodgers has no recollection of Friday. "He's lost the whole day." He said the only thing that remains is "the impression that he was hit with a tire iron."

Mrs. Mabel Smith Dies At Rupert

RUPERT — Mrs. Mabel Davis Smith, 89, Rupert, died Sunday night at a local rest home of a lingering illness.

She was born May 28, 1878, at David City, Neb., and on Oct. 4, 1905, she was married to Frank W. Smith there. They came to Rupert in April, 1952, from Powell, Wyo. Her husband died Jan. 2, 1953.

Survivors include one son, Gordon F. Smith, Rawlins, Wyo.; one daughter, Mrs. Floyd (Phoebe) Greer, Rupert; two sisters, Mrs. O. F. Wilgus, Oregon City, Ore., and Mrs. Daisy Kindler, Palo Alto, Calif.; three grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p.m. Wednesday at the Walk Mortuary Chapel by Rev. Roger Aydelott, Christian Church pastor. Last rites will be held in the Rupert Cemetery.

Special Legislative Meet May Have To Raise Taxes

BOISE (AP) — The expected special session of the Idaho Legislature early next year may be faced with a proposition to raise taxes to provide a $2 to $5 million emergency fund.

The proposal was raised at a meeting this weekend of the legislature's Fire Committee in Boise.

Advanced by state Sen. A. J. Gaige, R-Boise, the plan would involve levying a 5% "conservation tax" on each person filing an income tax return in Idaho.

Gaige said he believed the past two fire seasons in Idaho have pointed up a need for some kind of emergency fund to deal with natural disasters.

During the summer of 1967, fighting forest fires throughout the state cost an estimated $1.5 million in state funds for men and materials.

The legislative committee itself was created to investigate charges by two federal agencies for fire fighting assistance totaling some $500,000 during 1966.

Gaige said the tax would raise an estimated $1.5 million a year and could "probably" be discontinued after two years.

He proposed that the fund be in addition to existing fire suppression and governor's emergency funds.

The proposal came after members of the committee discussed means of spreading fire suppression costs among recipients of "intangible" benefits of forest lands.

Committee member Rep. J. Ward Chatburn, R-Atton, said costs of fire protection should be borne by sportsmen and recreation and conservation interests as well as land owners.

"The timber and grazing man has been paying all along," Chatburn said. "It's getting to be the short end of the stick."

Committee chairman Sen. R. H. Young, R-Nampa, said committee members "would be remiss in our duties if we didn't look at these problems and come up with recommendations for the special session."

A subcommittee was instructed to continue negotiations with the U. S. Forest Service and the Bureau of Land Management over settlement of claims against the state for assistance in 1966.

Assistant land commissioner Jack Gillette told the group the state may not have to pay a certain kind of contract was not signed at the time of the fires in 1966.

Lincoln County Sets Civil Defense Meet

SHOSHONE — A County Civil Defense Conference will be conducted at the local courthouse at 8:30 a.m. Friday. Dave Hansen of the University of Idaho will conduct the conference.

After registration, there will be a study period until noon, then another study period until 3 p.m.

Purpose of the conference is to answer and discuss all questions county residents may have on the subject of civil defense. There will be no charges for the instruction and everyone is welcome to attend.

Three persons from Lincoln County attended a recent shelter managers instruction course held in Jerome.

This was a full four-day session and as part of the training, 19 trainees entered a regular fallout shelter and spent 22 hours confined there, using all the facilities, including emergency food, sleeping accommodations and sanitation. As a result of this training, three individuals in this county are qualified as shelter managers.

Reid Newby, county civil defense director, states that though Lincoln County has adequate shelter space, it is lacking in qualified shelter managers. The questions might be asked on "how to react in confinement, within 490 feet with 48 other individuals?"

Unmarried Teachers Adopt Girls

POMPANO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Twin schoolteachers, June and Joan Marhefka, both 29 and unmarried, today had two 5-year-old daughters to care for—orphans from Bogota, Colombia.

The children Consuela and Marisol, arrived over the weekend from South America for their first meeting with the Marhefka sisters and found little girls' bedroom outfitted with pretty clothes, stuffed pink animals, and jump ropes.

There are bicycles hidden away for Christmas.

Joan and June Marhefka have been studying Spanish since May when they applied to the Colombian government to adopt a child. They were urged to apply to the South American nation by a fellow teacher, Joanne Pinyo of Fort Lauderdale who had taught in Bogota.

Colombian law allowed the unmarried sisters to adopt children of their own sex. The investigations by social workers were completed this summer.

The sisters know about adoption. Although they are the natural children of Mr. and Mrs. John Marhefka of Johnstown, Pa., there was an adopted brother, two foster brothers and a foster sister in the family.

Oz Character, Bert Lahr, Dies At 72

NEW YORK (AP) — Bert Lahr, the beloved Cowardly Lion of "The Wizard of Oz" and veteran of countless stage and movie roles, died today at 72.

Lahr's death at Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center was attributed to a massive internal hemorrhage. He had been under treatment since Nov. 21 for a back ailment and pneumonia.

One of the great comic actors, Lahr's career spanned some 50 years and ranged from the classic Cowardly Lion in "The Wizard of Oz" to Estragon in the difficult "Waiting for Godot."

Which did he like best? "Strangely enough," he said once, "it was 'Waiting for Godot.' It was controversial. Those that hated it, spit at it. Yet it had its cult, and it created a different type of audience for me."

"It was like—it was like playing Carnegie Hall. It changed my whole career. Before that I was a buffoon. This gave me a chance to play Shaw and Moliere."

But it is as a clown that Lahr will be remembered by millions who saw him—and who will see him—as the Cowardly Lion.

Lahr was born in New York City on Aug. 13, 1895, not far from the expensive Fifth Avenue apartment that came with success. As a teen-ager, he joined a children's vaudeville act called "Nine Crazy Kids."

"It was horrible," he said, "but I got the bug, you know."

Agriculture Economy Is Being Viewed

By OVID A. MARTIN
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration, with an eye on next year's elections in farming areas, is expressing concern over the possibility too many hogs and chickens could make the agriculture economy unstable.

The result of overproduction of livestock could be a further decline in farm prices and incomes.

The administration is worried enough about the prospects to have summoned livestock and poultry leaders to a conference with Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman here Dec. 7.

The administration wants the session to get as much public attention as possible. It is inviting agricultural writers and broadcasters from major livestock and poultry areas.

The concern over livestock and poultry production grows out of this year's record large grain crops and resulting low prices. These prices appear to be encouraging some farmers to expand hog and poultry production at a time the department feels this could be economically disastrous.

Increased production this winter and next spring could bring sharp declines in prices just when candidates are out campaigning for votes.

Freeman feels it would be wiser for farmers to limit hog and poultry production and store their extra feed grain in a government price support loans.

The administration's worry over the outlook has a basis in the past. Over the year, cheap feed grain prices usually have brought cheap livestock prices — through the process of overproduction of the latter.

Diver Shot

MARSHALL, Tex. (AP) — A diver in a spearfishing contest was fatally shot Sunday by a duck hunter who apparently mistook him for an alligator, according to police.

The diver, Jim Clark, 35, of Shreveport, La., had surfaced by a stump on Caddo Lake near where the hunter was in a boat.

Contest officials said the area in which Clark was diving was marked by flags to caution boaters and water skiers that a diver was below the surface.

The name of the duck hunter was withheld pending further investigation by Harrison County officers.

Court Will View FCC Requirements

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court agreed today to examine Federal Communications Commission requirements that free air time be given to persons who have been attacked in a radio or television broadcast.

The FCC regulations, known as the "fairness doctrine," were found constitutional in June by the U.S. Circuit Court here. The Supreme Court's decision to review that ruling came on an appeal by Red Lion Broadcasting Co., Inc., operator of WGBM AM-FM in Red Lion, Pa.

The broadcaster told the Court in its petition in September: "The requirements that a broadcaster seek out any person who is alleged to have been personally attacked, furnish him a script, tape or summary of the broadcast, and grant him free time for reply, irrespective of his ability to pay, places an obvious and unreasonable burden upon the exercise of free speech."

The FCC and the Justice Department, opposing high court review, had described the circuit court's ruling as "correct."

They said the "essence" of the fairness doctrine is to make sure the airwaves do not become monopolized by one point of view.

The case stems from a "Christian Crusade" broadcast over the Red Lion station in which the Rev. Billy James Hargis of Tulsa, Okla., criticized Fred J. Cook, author of a book about Barry Goldwater.

About Face

Some time ago in a military magazine a cartoon appeared showing two Army privates talking. One was dressed in cook's attire and was leaning out the mess hall window. The other, in uniform, was sitting in an idling truck. Sure enough, the man in the truck had been a cook on the outside and the man in the window had been a truck driver. This brings us to the John Brown of Lakewood, who sat at home for 223 days, wearing Army orders. He had been sent home on leave, with orders to go to Vietnam. But while at home, he received instructions canceling the Vietnam orders.

He was to wait. Further orders did not come. It seems Mr. Brown did everything possible to get things straightened out. Nothing happened. Mr. Brown was finally discharged, but later billed by the Army for extended leave. It reminds us of the old Bilko television show, where a Colonel tried to telephone a friend in the Pentagon. After a series of fruitless calls, he quipped: "How does a spy manage to find anything in the Pentagon?" The Army now advertises more than 300 job specialties. It promotes the modern Army. But some things never change.

Filling The Need

In October, 1966, the U. S. military services began still another attempt at making useful soldiers—and in the process useful citizens—of inductees and enlistees who prior to that time would have been rejected for low aptitudes.

Of course this is not the first time the services have lowered their standards to accept greater numbers of young men than otherwise would have been inducted. But experiences in the past for the most part were not encouraging.

The Army, which in the past as in the present had the largest number of "new standards" men (as they are currently being called) recalls with some concern that after the Korean War a large part of its prison population and disciplinary problems were caused by members of the lowest aptitude group.

But since 1966, when the armed forces lowered entrance mental requirements, the nearly 50,000 men inducted under the new rules have not fared badly. They have experienced an attrition rate double that of other inductees, but at four per cent this is not considered too high for efficient manpower utilization.

Group IV men, those who score between 10 and 30 percentile points in the Armed Forces Qualification Tests, have proven themselves able learners in some aspects of military life, but not qualified for others.

They have mastered advanced individual training in infantry, gun crews and allied specialties. Generally they are ill-equipped for specialties in electronics, communications, intelligence or other occupations requiring skills or reasonable ability to read and write.

It is interesting that, although 43 per cent of the first group of "new standards" men are high school graduates, the majority do not possess elementary abilities in the written word. Teaching them to read and write sufficiently well to undergo military training has been one of the primary requisites of the new program.

At present the plan is to absorb 100,000 of the Group IV men into the services annually, to help relieve the personnel pressures caused by the Vietnam war. There is no reason why the program should not work.

Certainly there is sufficient variety of activity involved in any of the services that persons with even substandard abilities can contribute their share to the overall effort. Before the age of mechanization, automation and electronics, a man's abilities in such activities were never inquired into when he joined the Army.

DAYLIGHT ON THE SNAKE

The joining of rival public and private power groups for the construction of the proposed High Mountain Sheep dam on the Columbia river seems to us to offer a happy solution to this long-standing controversy.

Except for the Nez Perce site slightly downstream and below the confluence of the Salmon river, High Mountain Sheep is the most important engineering project remaining undeveloped on the Columbia river system within the United States. And Nez Perce has been substantially abandoned because of the disastrous effect it could be expected to have on salmon and other fisheries.

Besides adding a productive capacity of 2,000,000 kilowatts to the hydroelectric system of the Pacific Northwest, High Mountain Sheep would exercise a still more valuable function in equalizing stream flow. Strategically situated in the middle reaches of the Snake between Oregon and Utah, its large impoundment would regulate the release of water to the enhancement of the useful productive capacity of the system of dams, including Bonneville, downstream to the Pacific Ocean, and to maintain navigation and assist irrigation.

For 13 years this far-reaching development has been held up by contending claims of the Pacific Northwest Power Co., a syndicate of four investor-owned utilities; the Washington Public Power Supply System, a group of 16 public utility districts; and the United States Department of the Interior. The case has gone to the United States Supreme Court and back to the Federal Power Commission for new hearings. Now WPPSS and Northwest Power have agreed on a joint venture.

Through their example of co-operation we hope public and private enterprise generally may learn by doing to rise above wasteful distrusts and animosities and contribute together to the advancement of both these vital sectors of the nation's economy. —St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

WARNINGS FROM ALL THE WORLD

Speaking of the drive for quotas on American imports, President Diaz Ordaz of Mexico told Congress: "You can do what you will in this respect. But before you act it might be well to stop and consider what effects your action would have on the rest of the world." Quotas would be economically disastrous for all, including the United States.

One of the first effects might well be the scuttling of the Kennedy Round tariff cuts. These have not been fully ratified by any of the major trading nations. As Eric Wyndham White, the general secretary of GATT, began a tour on behalf of the agreements in Toronto, he was fully aware that his effort could be scuttled by Senator Dirksen and the protectionists in Congress.

The signature of the United States has been accepted on condition that the Senate ratify the special agreement on higher grain prices, and repeal the rule under which some imports are taxed at our domestic prices rather than the prices to the importer.

The Common Market, negotiating as a unit, signed the Kennedy agreement, subject to approval by each of the member governments. None of them has acted so far. They have protested to Washington against the proposed quotas. Britain, so far, has accepted only the chemicals, grains and anti-dumping agreements, not the Kennedy package as a whole. Japan has signed only the grain and anti-dumping agreements, subject to ratification. Britain, Japan, the Latin Americans and many of the underdeveloped countries also have complained to the United States.

Even if adopted, the Kennedy agreement provides for retaliatory action against protection measures. But it would be so difficult to determine the precise tariff increase necessary to offset, for example, an American quota on steel that there would be a strong temptation to tear up everything.

Specific restrictions proposed in Congress would affect imports worth $8,500,000,000 or 25 per cent of the total, and the Dirksen scheme would raise the barriers at least twice as high. The United States cannot afford that kind of economic isolationism. —Christian Science Monitor

WASHINGTON — Nearly two weeks after Gen. William C. Westmoreland's cautious prediction that U.S. troops might begin leaving Vietnam within two years, administration sources are leaking a "further explanation" to give support to the general's prediction.

It is that President Johnson, in effect, has delivered an ultimatum to the new government of President Nguyen van Thieu of South Vietnam demanding that he put up or else. This is not the sort of disclosure the administration likes to announce officially, for obvious diplomatic reasons, but it comes from people who usually know what is going on.

The explanation is tied to General Westmoreland's announcement that in 1968 the U.S. will turn a major share of front-line defense of the Demilitarized Military Zone (DMZ) to the South Vietnamese army and otherwise give the Thieu regime more responsibility for the war.

For example, Westmoreland says the object of the "limited phase of the war will be to show the world" that guerrilla warfare doesn't pay. He is challenging one of Hanoi's — and Red China's — most sacred concepts. Both the North Vietnamese Communist Chinese leaders have insisted that the war in South Vietnam is a "model of what they call national liberation movements." A victory for our side would be more than a military defeat for the enemy. It would be a defeat for its pet ideological concept.

Nixon: Congress Ear Attentive

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Richard M. Nixon quietly slipped into town Thanksgiving week and, to no one's surprise, scored a smashing triumph at a hugely attended breakfast of the House Republican conference. House GOP officials had 140 written acceptances for the affair, and before he began talking others had drifted into the room and were lining the walls.

Nixon's high status with members of the House and Senate has, of course, been widely assumed, but it was never more in evidence than at the breakfast. It is being helped along, incidentally, by liaison work done by a new addition to Nixon's Washington campaign staff, Donald Jackson, former congressman from California.

Significantly, however, Nixon captivated House Republicans not with the kind of specifics that are their daily bread but with highly generalized comment about Vietnam, America's position in Asia, Europe, Africa and Latin America, the dilemma of the cities, the country's need for new leadership.

Says one friend: "It was kind of cloudy and vapory but it went over well." Indeed, Republicans on Capitol Hill generally seem to accept the idea that Nixon and other 1968 GOP presidential prospects should keep very loose and flexible on the major issues — at least in the early stages.

This notion is said to have been a considerable factor on the decision by Sen. John Tower of Texas not to become Nixon's campaign manager when that post was vacated in 1968 by Henry Bellmon, former governor of Oklahoma who seeks a U. S. Senate seat there next year.

It was clear that a "Nixon's man," Tower would appear to be a stand-in for the former vice president in the Senate, and that the Texas' major 1968 votes there would be examined microscopically as likely expressions of Nixon's own views. The prospect of boxing Nixon in began to look very real.

Tower, of course, had other problems on his mind. One is the demand on his time, the same factor that led Bellmon to seek release from the Nixon chairmanship earlier than he first intended. Ideally, it is a heavy duty job.

Moreover, Tower is intricately bound up in the politics of his home state. Top Texas Republicans are thinking big for 1968, hopeful of winning more seats in Congress and the state legislature and, since the announcement that the popular Gov. John Connally will not run again, of taking that chair.

To these hopes, the long-talked-of favorite son candidacy of John Tower is seen in Key Texas circles as crucial.

It could provide the cement of party unity in a situation that might otherwise crumble into serious factionalism—some of it inherent, some of it related to the obvious rivalry between forces favoring Nixon and those pressing for Gov. Ronald Reagan of California.

GOP State Chairman Peter O'Donnell, publicly noncommittal but privately accepted as a staunch Nixon advocate, appears to have been among those key Texas who argued that for Tower to take on the heavy-duty Nixon chairmanship would be to handicap seriously the favorite son-unity gambit regarded as central to the party's best hopes in the state next year.

The weight of all factors finally led Tower to say "no" to an offer that had first been extended to Bellmon in early October.

Bellmon, who wanted to quit in early January, will stay on until the Nixon forces find another replacement. In any event, however, his commitment ends with the April 2 Wisconsin primary, after which he will be wholly taken up with his own campaign in Oklahoma.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Virginia, There Is A Europe

WASHINGTON — Yes, Virginia, there really is a Europe and there is a North Atlantic Alliance, and your Uncle Sam thinks about them both at moments like this when a small war threatens over Cyprus.

That paraphrase of the editor's famous reply to the little girl who wrote to ask if there really was a Santa Claus says something about the preoccupation at every level of government with Vietnam and Asia.

Next month the foreign ministers of the NATO countries will meet to go through their semi-annual ritual of consultation. They will hold their meeting for the first time in the new NATO headquarters in Brussels, built at a cost of $10 million, one-fourth paid for by the United States, with France a saboteur at the conference table, trying to wreck America's gold position.

As customary, the word here is that this will be a quiet meeting between amiable friends. But two items, one on the agenda and the other at the very least a loud offstage noise, will put in sharp perspective NATO's limitations. A military alliance hastily created out of fear of a Russian invasion of Western Europe, later proved to be for the most part imaginary. NATO is searching for other reasons for being.

The item on the agenda—perhaps the principal item—is the report of a study group headed by Belgian Foreign Minister Pierre Harmel. This grows out of the demand of European members at the last council meeting for a political role for NATO. Since the study was started, America's partners in Europe have been shocked at the announcement by the United States without any prior consultation, of the decision to build a thin antiballistic missile system.

That shock would be translated into stern language. The question at this late date, when the military has been so dominant for so long, is whether NATO can be transformed.

The offstage noise will be raised over what stand NATO should take, if any, on the military dictatorship in Greece. NATO planes, tanks, guns and planes were turned loose by the colonels to overthrow the government in Athens. Denmark and Norway feel so strongly that the question of the status of Greece may even be formally considered by the council, although this is unlikely.

The Greek tragedy is an acute embarrassment, suggesting that the whole concept of a military alliance extended far beyond the shores of the North Atlantic, with the United States as the principal defender, supplier and prop, is a dubious one. Washington is shouldered with the responsibility for a harsh military regime now putting on mass show trials in which prominent Greek citizens are accused of plotting out of Communist sympathy to bring down the duly elected government and the King.

The record of the fears that brought NATO into being is reported with the austere voice of reason in George F. Kennan's remarkable "Memoirs 1925-1950." Kennan knew more about the Soviet Union than anyone in the overgrown military-foreign policy establishment.

Convinced that Russia's entire history made the case against Russian military invasion beyond the borders of the Soviet Union, Kennan argued for a political-economic union of the European powers that would not draw in the United States as a dominant partner and principal supplier.

While supporting the 1947 proposal for aid to Greece, he opposed the universal sweep of President Truman's declaration of "free peoples who are resisting subjugation by armed minorities or by outside pressures." He also spoke out against rearming West Germany.

In Kennan's view, this seemed to commit America to the role of policeman whenever an internal communist threat might be found.

Critics maintain that Washington has been most tardy in insisting the South Vietnamese do more, but the Johnson Administration claims it was "politically unfeasible" to force Saigon's hand earlier. No real effort, say sources here, could be expected from Saigon's standby government, but Washington now has a right to expect "more responsibility" from Thieu's popularly-elected regime.

Although even Johnson's most acrimonious critics will applaud his attempt to get the Thieu government cracking, there is no guarantee of success. Like the Westmoreland hope of gradually withdrawing American troops, the new Vietnamese role depends on American assumptions about the enemy.

Westmoreland and most of the military assume no substantial escalation by either the Viet Cong or the North Vietnamese. Dissenters in Johnson's official family refuse to believe that Hanoi would accept total defeat so easily.

Westmoreland took cognizance of this in his speech to the National Press Club. His exact words were that it was "inconceivable" it would be possible to begin withdrawing U.S. troops within two years. Thus he seemed to be saying that this would not be possible if Hanoi escalated its effort. As Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield commented, it is not quite time for the American people to swallow such optimistic predictions whole.

The Backache

Q—My sister had a complete hysterectomy 28 years ago. Last month she started to menstruate. Her doctor says it is nothing to worry about and that it will stop of its own accord. Where does the blood come from after all these years?

A—Since the uterus has been removed, the bleeding must be from adjacent tissues. It is important to find the source of the bleeding and check promptly.

Q—I am a housewife. What side effects will occur if my uterus is removed?

A—You will no longer menstruate. If your ovaries are not removed there will be no "side effects." If they are removed at the same time you will have what is known as a surgical menopause. The attending symptoms can be prevented by giving you carefully regulated doses of female hormone.

Q—If my womb is tipped backward would that cause backache or headache? Would my menstrual periods be irregular?

A—This may be a cause of backache that is worse during menstruation. It is not a direct cause of headache. In rare cases it may cause painful menstrual periods but would not cause irregularity.

Q—I have been taking Valium and donnatal for 14 months. Is it harmful to take them for so long?

A—Diazepam (Valium) is one of the minor tranquilizers. It should not be taken by anyone who has glaucoma or who is pregnant. Its side effects include drowsiness, dizziness, fatigue, blurred vision, nausea and headache. If the dosage is adjusted to your needs, it should not cause side effects. After prolonged use it must be withdrawn gradually or convulsions may occur. Donnatal is a mixture that is given to relieve sour stomach. Because it contains a barbiturate, it may be habit-forming.

Q—Would Valium have a bad effect on one's mental health? Is it habit-forming? What is the difference between Valium and Equanil?

A—in some persons Valium may cause manic excitement, depression or hallucinations. These effects disappear promptly when the drug is withdrawn. Anyone taking this drug should avoid all alcoholic beverages. It is not habit-forming. Valium and Equanil, although chemically different, are both minor tranquilizers.

Into The Future

One of the favorite arguments for federal interference in scientific research is that such efforts today are too expensive to be financed privately.

Such matters are entirely too important to be left to bureaucrats alone.

Some projects, notably those connected to national defense, of course, involve timetables and spending that are beyond private interest. There may always be a place for federal financing in such areas so long as we live in a world threatened by aggressors.

But to let this need slowly squeeze the life from private research, or to distort our thinking as to the origins of scientific advance, would be a tragedy of major significance.

Two items, specifically, remind me of this. One is about a possible breakthrough in genetic research. Another is about the politicalization of science in Red China.

In the field of genetics, more and more scientists have become convinced that it will not be many years before, by tinkering with the basic molecules of living systems, we can start "designing" people before they are born—assuring them a good mind and a healthy body, for instance.

Should such genetic engineering take place solely under federal sponsorship, there is at least the possibility that the control of the processes also would be by federal authority. That, in turn, would mean the control of the processes by specific individual bureaucrats.

It may sound like science fiction, but to give bureaucrats such power would be to give them, in effect, the power to mold populations to their blueprints.

Such a possibility dwarfs in its implications even the problem of controlling nuclear explosions.

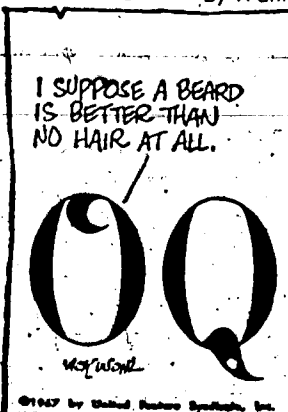

tool of the Communist bureaucracy. Every major scientific paper, for instance, must be prefaced by a discourse on the "ideological purity" of the scientific developments involved.

But how, some may ask, could any scientist work under such circumstances? The human mind, particularly the mind of genius, can work virtually any situation. The curiosity of genius is not necessarily turned off by bars, bayonets or other threats.

Some midnight, in Red China, Zanzibar or Brooklyn Heights, a scientist might well wake up with the idea that would render all modern weapons obsolete and put one power into absolute dominance over all others. It could happen in a dictatorship. If it does—watch out.

Individual not collective genius makes the main breakthroughs. A man working in an old barn might cure cancer just as well as a man working in a huge government lab. Or either might turn the trick with a weapon. Federal funds are no magic key. The mind of man is the key. And to pretend in any way that only federal funds can turn the key is to risk more mischief than any of us might now be able to imagine.

Shoshone To Hold Meet On Book Service

SHOSHONE — A meeting will be held at 8 p.m. Monday at the Public Library here to discuss continuance of the bookmobile service to the county. County Commissioners, school representatives and other interested persons are invited to attend.

The bookmobile, an experimental program financed by federal and state matching funds, has during the past year maintained a bookdrop at Dietrich and Palmer's Service and recently at Johnny's Country Store.

People of the area are invited to hear an explanation of the rural library service as carried out the past year.

"Magichords" To Sing Dec. 16

SHOSHONE — "The Magichords," a singing group of professional and business men, will present a program at the Shoshone Baptist Church at 8 p.m. Dec. 16.

There are 64 members in the choir and there will be four special barbershop quartets. The entertainment will be a fund-raiser for the Muscular Dystrophy drive for Lincoln County. There will be no admission charge, but a free-will offering will be taken.

Eisenhowers Go To Winter Home

INDIAN WELLS, Calif. (AP) — Former President and Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower, beginning a stay at their winter home, say they "couldn't be prouder" of the girl friend picked by grandson David.

The 19-year-old son of the John Eisenhowers has given a ring to Julie Nixon, 19, daughter of former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

"It looks like another good Eisenhower-Nixon ticket," the former president quipped to newsmen.

Plan To Picket

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People plans to picket the coronation of the 1968 Rose Bowl queen Tuesday night.

Since the New Year's Day pageant was started in the early 1900s, Samuel C. Sheats of the NAACP said, the queen and her court have been Caucasian.

"We consider it an affront to the many charming and exemplary young nonwhite and non-Anglo girls in this area that none has ever been chosen," Sheats said.

SPEAKERS NAMED

BOISE (AP) — Two Idaho legislators will be among speakers at the 21st annual Taxpayers' Conference Wednesday in Boise.

President John Dahl, Boise, of the sponsoring Associated Taxpayers of Idaho said Reps. H. Ferd Koch, R-Boise, and William J. Murphy, D-Wallace, will address the one-day meeting.

GI Stays In Vietnam As Buddhist

GIA DINH, Vietnam (AP) — A young New Jersey Jew who came to Vietnam with the U.S. Army is staying on as a Buddhist monk.

Stephen J. Shlafer, 25, went through a Buddhist ceremony in a pagoda just outside Saigon Sunday and emerged as a monk with the new name of Thich (Venerable) Thien Hien.

His mother, Mrs. Pat Shlafer, said in Springfield, N.J., her son told her during a visit a month ago his stay in the pagoda would be temporary and he would return to the United States next year to go back to the University of Washington. Many Buddhist men spend periods of several months or years as monks, then return to their former lives.

"When I was a kid," Shlafer told newsmen, "I was a Torah (scriptures) reader in the synagogue. My parents didn't get excited about that. I don't think they're excited about this. They probably think it's another one of my wild schemes."

Shlafer came to Vietnam in 1963 as a Vietnamese interpreter after training at the Army's language school in Monterey, Calif. After his military service he studied Vietnamese literature at Van Hanh University, a Buddhist school in Saigon. Scholarships from the University of Michigan and the University of Washington helped finance him.

Sponsors Of Federal Aid To Education Bill Seek Assurances

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate sponsors of a $14.2 billion federal aid to education bill seek administration assurances aimed at easing Southern fears over the cutoff of funds because of alleged segregation.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., said the bill's floor manager, said Sunday consultations were going on with officials of the Health, Education and Welfare Department over while the measure is under floor debate.

Morse said he knew Southern senators "have a great many reservations about the bill" because of the way HEW has proceeded in school desegregation cases.

At the same time, Morse and other sponsors of the bill made it clear they did not want to take floor amendments which could have the effect of weakening the 1964 Civil Rights Act, which bars federal aid funds for projects where racial segregation is practiced.

The sponsors said they hope HEW can come up with some statement about its handling of future desegregation cases which would satisfy the Southerners.

The Dixie senators declined to bring up any of their proposed amendments in the civil rights area when the bill first was called up for debate last Friday. Democratic Leader Mike Mans-

GRAZING DISCUED

COEUR D'ALENE, Idaho (AP) — Livestock can be grazed on private owned land at less expense than on federal range-land, the Idaho Cattlemen's Association was told today.

C. W. McMillan, Denver, executive vice president of the American National Cattlemen's Association, made the statement in remarks prepared for the association's annual convention.

"The value of a federal grazing permit for either cattle or sheep," he said, "has been capitalized into the value of the base ranch property and is an annual cost of running livestock on federal range lands."

TRAFFIC TO RESUME

BONNERS FERRY, Idaho (AP) — Traffic over Great Northern Railroad tracks east of here was expected to be back to normal Monday after cars from derailed freight train were cleared.

Students Seek Injunction On Hershey

WASHINGTON (AP) — A national student group said Sunday it will seek a court injunction against Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey's directive to strip military deferments from persons interfering illegally with recruiting or the draft.

The suit was to be filed in U. S. District Court here today, the National Student Association (NSA) announced. Student government presidents of 15 universities, including Harvard, Notre Dame and California, are listed among the plaintiffs.

The court complaint charges that the directive violates the guarantee of free speech and uses the draft as an illegal means of punishment.

Hershey, the director of the Selective Service, wrote local draft boards Oct. 24 suggesting that those who interfered illegally with recruiting or operation of the draft were not acting in the national interest and should be denied deferment. He indicated they should be reclassified for priority callup.

Edward Schwartz, 24, president of the NSA, announced at a news conference the plans to file the suit.

The complaint cites the reclassification of a University of Utah student who demonstrated at the Salt Lake City induction center, an Oklahoma student who was a member of the Students for a Democratic Society and a 34-year-old minister who mailed his draft card back to his local board at White Plains, N. Y.

pliance with federal desegregation guidelines.

"School districts would take the position that there is no need to make a settlement with HEW," Libassi said in a statement. "Because they would have an additional grace period of up to 12 months before they would lose a dollar."

It now takes an average of 10 months for a school district to complete the process through which federal funds are cut off.

Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., said he was prepared to speak at length against the bill if the Fountain amendment or some version of it were not restored. Other Southerners said no filibuster is planned, however.

Under its terms, the department would have been required to go through a lengthy, formal process to cut off funds. The Fountain rider was heavily opposed by the Johnson administration.

Major Libassi, director of HEW's civil rights office, said the Russell amendment would "seriously weaken the entire negotiating process" by which HEW brings schools into compliance.

Under its terms, the department would have been required to go through a lengthy, formal process to cut off funds. The Fountain rider was heavily opposed by the Johnson administration.

Bird Battle

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite the introduction of sophisticated psychological warfare, the Pentagon apparently is not winning its battle against thousands of invading starlings.

Batteries of loudspeakers are employed to amplify recordings of the cries of wounded birds. The thought is that the starlings will get the idea the Pentagon grounds are not for the birds and will evacuate.

The results seem a stand-off at best. Several thousand starlings have recently been seen perched in trees near the Pentagon's north-west gate, shrieking back at the anti-startling records and displaying no inclination to move on.

Planeload Of Americans To Leave Cuba

HAVANA (AP) — A planeload of American citizens and their Cuban relatives is scheduled to leave Cuba Tuesday, but a reliable source who reported this could not say whether the flight means resumption of the repatriation airlift.

The source said a Mexican airliner is due in Havana Tuesday to take about 80 American citizens and their Cuban relatives to Mexico. One source said the chance of more such flights might depend on the repatriates refraining from statements attacking Fidel Castro's regime after they reach the United States.

About 900 American citizens—longtime residents of Cuba—and some 2,000 of their relatives have been trying for several years to leave Cuba, but the Castro government has refused to let them go.

They are not eligible for the daily flights which take about 3,700 Cuban citizens a month from the beach resort of Varadero to Miami. The government has never said why it won't let the Americans and their relatives leave.

Yule Party Set Friday For Grange

WENDELL — Annual Christmas party for Orchard Valley Grange No. 423 is scheduled for Friday. The party will begin with a potluck dinner. There will be a Christmas program and treats. The community is invited to participate. Mrs. Mark Strickland, home economics chairman, will be in charge of arrangements.

The plans were made at the Friday evening meeting of the grange. Reports of the State Grange meeting were made by Frank Orth and Omer Schmidt.

Howard Niccum and Kirby Hill were appointed as captains for a membership drive. The losers are to furnish the program and dinner for Booster Night.

The program arranged by Mrs. Frank Orth consisted of a report of the National Grange by Susan Orth. Miss Orth played a piano solo and gave a reading. The candle lighting ceremony was conducted and the meeting concluded with a game conducted by the lecturer.

McCarthy Gains Support Of Demo Group

CHICAGO (AP) — Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy has gained the support of the Conference of Concerned Democrats in his bid to wrest the Democratic presidential nomination from President Johnson.

Between 450 and 500 persons from 42 states closed a two-day conference Sunday by shouting their endorsement of McCarthy for the 1968 nomination and unanimously approving a resolution praising the Minnesota lawmaker's "dynamic leadership."

The conference was aimed at finding an alternative to President Johnson's Vietnam policy.

The resolution favoring McCarthy said in part: "McCarthy is a statesman who possesses the qualities of courage, leadership, humility and vision needed to instill faith in our government."

McCarthy announced Thursday he would be a candidate in four and possibly more states.

Represent Idaho

Jack Swisher and Lin Hintze, both Twin Falls, represented Idaho at the Conference of Concerned Democrats. They will give a report on the conference at 8 p.m. Saturday at the meeting of Magle Valley Citizens for Peace to be held at the home of Mr. Swisher, 282 Du Bols Ave. W. Interested persons are invited to attend.

presidential primaries. During a conference session Saturday he said he will take part in the Massachusetts primary. The primaries named Thursday were those in Wisconsin, Nebraska, Oregon and California.

In an address to the organization Saturday, McCarthy sailed the Johnson leadership for delivering a "message of fear" on the war in Vietnam.

He was asked by a delegate what relationship his campaign had with the activities of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y.

McCarthy replied: "There's no conspiracy, collusion or common plan between us. What he will do is up to him. Somebody had to make the test and now that we've made it we are going to pursue it."

Gerald Hill, a conference chairman and president of the California Democratic Council, expressed the belief that the conference's stand on Johnson and McCarthy represented a majority view of the American people.

Hill introduced the resolution endorsing McCarthy. It was seconded by Karl Anderson of Eau Claire, Wis., Leonard Robins of St. Louis Park, Minn., and Theodore Wise of New York City.

Before the statement of position was voted upon, Zolton Feeney, who resigned as state Democratic chairman of Michigan in protest of President Johnson's Vietnam policy, addressed the group.

He backed McCarthy but also told the delegates that "there is still time with McCarthy or some other candidate next year" to achieve victory.

The state delegations included Democrats holding positions on the local level. The only national lawmaker besides McCarthy who took part in the conference was Rep. Don Edwards of California, former national chairman of the Americans for Democratic Action. Some campus groups were represented.

Tinsel-Like Chaff Confuses Red Radar

By BOB HORTON AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon is buying huge quantities of tinsel-like "countermeasure chaff" to throw a blizzard of confusing images into radars guiding North Vietnam's anti-aircraft guns.

The move reflects efforts to curb U.S. aircraft losses in the war, now totaling 758 over North Vietnam in less than three years of operation.

The chaff, made up of bread-sized strips of aluminum-coated fiberglass, is fired in puffs by American pilots approaching bombing target areas.

The puffs reflect enemy radar signals and create blips on radar screens just like planes, confusing anti-aircraft crews.

"It's like someone rolling a bunch of coconuts down a hill toward you with a hand grenade somewhere among them," a Navy officer explained.

In the past few days the Navy has ordered more than $1 million in chaff canisters, equaling its total purchases for the fiscal year ending last June 30. The Pentagon said the Navy will order an additional $3 million more by next summer.

The Air Force is more than quadrupling its use of chaff. Officials said they expect to buy $6.44 million worth, up from fiscal 1967's $1.4 million.

Both services will get fresh supplies of chaff over the next few months as the United States prepares for intensified bombing during the good weather months beginning in North Vietnam about March.

The use of chaff to foil enemy detection gear goes back to World War II. The tactic has assumed increased importance as the Pentagon seeks to counter North Vietnam's unprecedented air defenses.

Blue and silver in color, the chaff now in use resembles the shiny icicles used to decorate some Christmas trees.

GRAVEYARD CROSS KNOCKED out of position by mortar fire and another one poked marked by small arms fire is the scene at a cemetery outside the perimeter at Bu Dop South Vietnam, special forces camp after a Communist attack. The cemetery marks the farthest penetration by the enemy before they were driven out by American and South Vietnamese defenders. Troops of the U. S. 1st Infantry Division are shown patrolling the area. (AP wirephoto)

LBJ Is Keeping Name Off Popularity Ballot In New Hampshire Primary

By JACK BELL AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is keeping his name off the popularity contest ballot in the New Hampshire primary March 12 but soon after could lose the option of concealing his future political plans.

Johnson has shrugged off questions about whether he is seeking a second elective term. But the bridge he has said he will cross when he comes to it may be just around the bend in the April 2 Wisconsin primary.

In New Hampshire, a candidate's name can't be posted on the presidential primary ballot without his consent. In Wisconsin, his name can be entered by a state commission and he must disclaim any intention of running to get it off.

Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre, D-N.H., said in an interview Sunday that in line with the President's wishes, Johnson will not be entered in the popular vote contest but will be represented with a slate of Democratic National Convention delegates.

"The President doesn't want to disclose his intentions officially in March in a state where we have only about 85,000 registered Democrats," McIntyre said.

The public impact of New Hampshire's primary has always been out of proportion to the relatively small numbers of voters involved.

When the late Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., trounced President Truman in the state's 1952 voting, Truman said presidential primaries were a lot of "eyewash." But he announced soon after that he wouldn't seek re-election.

McIntyre predicted that those ignoring the denials of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., that he has any intention of becoming a presidential candidate in 1968, will furnish most of the opposition to Johnson's Vietnam policy in the state's balloting. They may stage a write-in drive and enter delegate candidates favorable to Kennedy.

He said he doubts that Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., an avowed candidate for the Democratic nomination, will enter the popularity contest, adding McCarthy is little known in the state. If he does come in, McIntyre or Gov. John W. King probably will run as a Johnson stand-in.

Johnson, in a telephone speech to a six-state regional Democratic conference at Charleston, W. Va., promised Saturday to support the 1968 Democratic nominee. But he did not say whether he plans to become that nominee.

Baltimore Edges Dallas, Continues Winning Streak

By GEORGE BOWEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Colts staged another miracle finish Sunday as Lenny Moore ran two yards for the winning touchdown with 1 1/2 minutes to play for a 23-17 victory over the Dallas Cowboys, protecting the only undefeated record in the National Football League.

Moore's touchdown on the end of a 50-yard drive came on top of two fourth period field goals by Lou Michaels — one a line drive of 53 yards — and brought the Colts their 10th victory. They have been tied twice and remain atop the Coastal division with two games to play.

Despite the loss, their fourth in 12 games, the Cowboys nailed down the Capitol Division title when Philadelphia and Washington played to a 35-35 tie. The Cowboys lead by 2 1/2 games with two to go.

The Cowboys forged into a 17-10 lead early in the fourth quarter, capitalizing on a poor punt, a pass interception returned 26 yards for a touchdown by 265-

-pound linebacker Dave Edwards and a fumble recovery. But the Colts came to life when Michaels rifled his long three-pointer at the start of the last quarter. He added his third field goal of the game from 27 yards out and the Colts then seemed to follow a script for the winning touchdown.

The defense forced Dallas to punt to mid-field after the kickoff. The Colts, with quarterback John Unitas hitting on passes of 12 yards to John Mackey and 39 yards to Willie Richardson, moved routinely for the score.

Unitas had three of his passes intercepted but managed to throw a five-yard touchdown pass to Ray Berry in the first quarter following Michaels' 29-yard field goal.

Dallas scored two touchdowns within half a minute before the half for a 14-10 lead. Quarterback Dan Meredith hit Bob Hayes for a 35-yard strike before Edwards scored.

Dallas' scoring ended early in the third quarter on a 17-yard field goal by Danny Villanueva.

The Colts' defense was not to be outdone by the thieving Cowboys. Four of Meredith's passes were intercepted and he was limited to a net gain of 28 yards on 10 completions in 27 attempts.

Unitas connected on 22 of 39 for 275 yards, putting him over the 3,000 yard passing mark for a season for the third time.

DON PERKINS of the Dallas Cowboys finds himself headed into a human wall during Sunday's game against the Baltimore Colts. Halting Perkins is Billings Ray Smith, No. 74, and Orrell Brass, No. 81. Perkins picked up eight yards on the first quarter play. The Colts scored a touchdown in the closing minutes to defeat the Cowboys 23-17. (AP wirephoto)

Steelers Build Up Early Lead To Drop Lions

DETROIT (AP) — The Pittsburgh Steelers built up a 21-0 lead on the passing of Kent Nix and the running of Don Shy and held on to whip the Detroit Lions 24-14 in a National Football League game Sunday.

The Steelers defense held Detroit to 10 yards rushing in the first half and blocked two field goal attempts.

The victory was only the Steelers' third this season. They have lost eight and tied one. The Lions, winless in their last five starts, fell to a 2-7 record.

Nix moved his team to two touchdowns on long drives two of the first three times the Steelers had the ball. Shy mixed both drives with one-yard plunges for the scores. Nix also hit J. R. Wilburn for a 67-yard scoring strike. Mike Clark added a 17-yard field goal in the fourth quarter.

The Lions got inside the Pittsburgh 48 only once in the first half. With Milt Plum at quarterback, the Lions drove to the Steelers' 17, but a field goal attempt by Garo Yepremian from the 32 was blocked.

Detroit finally scored in the third quarter, driving 80 yards in 13 plays, with Plum hitting Mel Farr with a four-yard scoring toss.

Chiefs Come From Behind To Down Bills

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Kansas City rallied from a 13-6 halftime deficit for a 23-13 American Football League victory over Buffalo Sunday behind the receiving of Otis Taylor and the running of Mike Garrett.

Taylor got the winning 34-yard touchdown with 13 minutes to go, outwrestling safes Tom Janik and Hagood Clarke near the goal line. This climaxed a 78-yard 11-play drive directed by Len Dawson.

The victory gave Kansas City a 7-5 record in the West, while Buffalo is 3-9 in the East. The same two clubs met for the AFL crown last year.

Linebacker Bud Abell started Kansas City on the way back on a 17-yard run with his recovery of a fumble by tight end Paul Costa. This put the Chiefs on the Buffalo 31 and they scored in eight plays for a 13-13 tie. Gene Thomas got the TD from two yards out.

Garrett carried five times for 22 yards in the drive and Taylor's nine-yard reception after a penalty put the ball on the Buffalo five-yard line.

Kansas City got an early 3-0 edge when Jan Stenerud kicked the first of three field goals. But Jack Kemp rallied the Bills 43 yards in seven plays, getting the TD on an 18-yard pass to Keith Lincoln, and Mike Mercer kicked 35- and 40-yard field goals.

Broncos Rally To Stun New York 33-24

NEW YORK (AP) — Denver turned five interceptions and an electrifying 72-yard punt return by Floyd Little into an incredible 26-point second period and stunned the New York Jets 33-24 Sunday.

The loss dropped the Jets into a tie with Houston for first place in the American Football League's Eastern Division. The Oilers defeated Miami 17-14 and pulled even with the Jets, each with a 7-3-1 record and three games to go.

Little, who later suffered a broken left collarbone, scored the only points of the period that weren't set up by an interception. His touchdown was the first scored on a punt in the AFL this year.

Passing through a driving rain, Joe Namath never had a chance against the opportunistic Broncos. Denver packed three touchdowns and two field goals into 10 minutes midway through the period and then halted New York's only penetration of the first half with its fifth interception.

Jack Lentz, a rookie safety, started the string of thievery with an interception that led to a 43-yard field goal by Bob Humphreys.

AAU Americans Down Clearfield

CLEARFIELD, Utah — The AAU American team, led by Tom Moreland of Buhl, defeated the Clearfield Job Corp team 101-88 in a double overtime Saturday night.

Clearfield led most of the way, once having a lead of 19 points, but the AAU team, with Moreland pumping through 42 points, came back and tied it 85-85 at the end of regulation play.

Alabama's Athletic Dormitory Is Bryant's Best Recruiter

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — Alabama's football players are hard and tough on the field but when they enter their plush dormitory, they go soft and easy.

If they didn't, Paul W. Bryant Hall "wouldn't" look as good now as when it opened in September of 1963.

It took a special act of the Alabama Legislature for the athletic dormitory to be named for coach Bear Bryant's since state-financed buildings in Alabama are not normally named for living persons.

"The players take as much pride in the dorm as they do in their football—that's why it looks as good now as when it opened," says Bryant Hall manager Gary White.

"The fact that the dorm itself is unique probably adds to this, along with the fact that it's named for coach Bryant," White says. "The respect they have for him probably carries over to the building named after him."

Bryant Hall occupies a prominent place on campus. A fountain in front squirts water high into the air.

The three-story building is centrally heated and air conditioned. All the players' rooms are carpeted. They include built-in furniture, two beds, study desks, two closets, lavatory and two chests of drawers.

The second floor contains two study rooms and a library.

On the first floor are two dining rooms, four guest rooms, a television room, a ladies' lounge and the main lobby which, along with the dining rooms, is in Italian Provincial.

Each guest room has a small color television and there is a large color set in the TV room. The wallpaper design in that room is a stock certificate replica.

When the 130 players, football and basketball, enter the dining rooms, they know they will eat well. Special diets keep them strong, healthy and lean, just as the Bear likes his players.

Married players move into the dorm a week before the first game and live there Monday through Thursday during the football season.

After the Saturday game, they are given the rest of the weekend with their wives and then it's back to the wall to wall carpeting Sunday night.

One of the married players, senior fullback Kenny Martin of Hermet, La., says that "living here in a place like this, the athletes take more pride. The fellows get along better, and that makes for better team spirit. I feel pretty privileged just to eat here."

The team's ace quarterback Kenny (Snake) Stabler, knows both sides of the street. He had to move out of the $1 million hall when Bryant suspended him last spring for "nonconformity."

Stabler made amends and moved back in before the season began.

"You have to live somewhere else to appreciate the difference," he says. "The other dorm wasn't nearly as nice. The floors weren't carpeted—the rooms weren't anything like ours."

"The dorm has got to be one of the biggest recruiters. I came to Alabama because I wanted to play for coach Bryant, but the dorm helped. It sells boys. You can't live any finer."

Fumble Gives Packers Win Over Vikings

MINNEAPOLIS - ST. PAUL (AP) — Green Bay's Tom Brown recovered a Minnesota fumble at the Vikings' 28 yard line and the Packers turned it into a game winning 19-yard field goal by Don Chandler with eight seconds left to claim a 30-27 National Football League victory Sunday.

The triumph gave the Packers, who already had clinched the Central Division championship, a 9-2 record and dropped Minnesota to 3-7-2.

The Packers owned a 27-17 lead going into the fourth quarter before the Vikings stormed back to tie. Minnesota then got the football with 3 1/2 minutes to play before Joe Kapp tumbled the snap from center with the Vikings trying to gain a first down at their own 15. The ball was kicked or batted into the Packer secondary where Brown fell on it.

Green Bay ran five plays to move to the Minnesota 12 before Chandler kicked his winning field goal.

The Vikings' output of 27 points, best against the Packer defense this season, was keyed by Dave Osborn's 155 yards on 21 rushes. Osborn broke the Vikings' team record of 146 yards set by Tommy Mason in 1963.

Minnesota took a 17-13 lead early in the second half on Kapp's six-yard pass to John Beasley after Earnest Mackler intercepted a Bart Starr pass.

Fleckman Takes Cajun Golf Classic

By BEN THOMAS
Associated Press Sports Writer
LAFAYETTE, La. (AP) — Rookie Marty Fleckman drilled a check for $5,000 while Montgomery, who put his second shot on the playoff hole into a sand hole of a sudden death playoff trap, collected $3,300 for second place.

The 24-year-old Texan made PGA history with his victory, becoming the first player to ever win a tournament in his first official start.

The 30-footer was the third straight birdie for Fleckman. He sank a 23-footer at 18 to tie for the lead. Just before, Montgomery, an ex-TCU player, missed an eight-foot putt on the same hole which would have given him sole possession of the lead.

Fleckman canned an eight-footer at 17.

Fleckman wound up with a 67-68-71-69-275 while Montgomery, the first round leader, had a 64-72-71-68.

Fleckman's victory gave him a check for $5,000 while Montgomery, who put his second shot on the playoff hole into a sand hole of a sudden death playoff trap, collected $3,300 for second place.

Tied for third place at 276 were Laurie Hammer and Jim Grant. They got $2,300 each.

Granger And Campbell Give Oilers Win

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston's Hoyle Granger and Woodie Campbell ran for touchdowns that carried the Oilers to a 17-14 victory over Miami Sunday and into a share of first place in the American Football League's Eastern Division.

The victory pulled the Oilers into a tie with the New York Jets at 7-3-1 after the Jets were upset by Denver 33-24.

Granger stored in the first quarter on a 10-yard run, ending a 52-yard drive helped by Campbell's 19-yard sprint.

John Wittenborn, who kicked Houston's extra points, booted a 20-yard field goal in the second period for the Oilers' 10-0 half-time lead.

Campbell wrapped up the game in the final period with a touchdown drive from the one that provided a 17-7 lead. Pete Beathard's 13-yard pass to Sid Blanks was the biggest gain in the 81-yard excursion.

Miami quarterback Bob Griese managed only 40 yards in the air in the first half, but cut loose in the third quarter with a 44-yard touchdown pass to Jack Clancy.

After Campbell's score, Griese made it interesting with a 62-yard scoring play to Jack Harper on a fourth-and-12 play. Harper caught the ball on the Oiler 22 and ran the rest of the way.

Interception Clinches Win For Browns

CLEVELAND (AP) — Linebacker Jim Houston ran back a pass interception 79 yards for the touchdown that clinched Cleveland's 24-14 victory over New York Sunday, all but sealing up the Century Division title for the Browns in the National Football League's Eastern Conference.

Houston picked off a pass from Fran Tarkenton, the Giants' scrambling quarterback, at the Cleveland 21-yard line and went all the way, brushing Tarkenton aside and beating tackle Willie Young to the end zone with 13:26 left in the game.

That boosted the Browns' margin to 24-7 and killed Giant hopes of a Yank.

New York flashed briefly to life after Joe Morrison scored on a nine-yard run late in the third quarter.

Pete Gogolak booted an on-side "kick" on the "kickoff" following Morrison's touchdown and the Giants recovered. They were driving for another touchdown when Houston stopped them.

Tarkenton completed 26 of 43 passes for 187 yards. But the Browns' four dropped him five times for losses of 36 yards.

Cleveland led 17-0 at halftime on a one-yard run by Leroy Kelly, a 24-yard touchdown pass from Frank Ryan to Gary Collins and Lou Groza's 15-yard field goal.

The victory gave the Browns an 8-4 record and left New York 6-6, with two games left for each club.

DETROIT (AP) — The Pittsburgh Steelers built up a 21-0 lead on the passing of Kent Nix and the running of Don Shy and held on to whip the Detroit Lions 24-14 in a National Football League game Sunday.

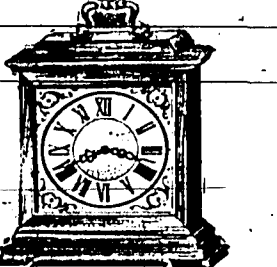

The Steelers defense held Detroit to 10 yards rushing in the first half and blocked two field goal attempts.

The victory was only the Steelers' third this season. They have lost eight and tied one. The Lions, winless in their last five starts, fell to a 2-7 record.

Nix moved his team to two touchdowns on long drives two of the first three times the Steelers had the ball. Shy mixed both drives with one-yard plunges for the scores. Nix also hit J. R. Wilburn for a 67-yard scoring strike. Mike Clark added a 17-yard field goal in the fourth quarter.

The Lions got inside the Pittsburgh 48 only once in the first half. With Milt Plum at quarterback, the Lions drove to the Steelers' 17, but a field goal attempt by Garo Yepremian from the 32 was blocked.

Detroit finally scored in the third quarter, driving 80 yards in 13 plays, with Plum hitting Mel Farr with a four-yard scoring toss.

UCLA Team May Have Rough Road Ahead As Season Gets Under Way

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The road ahead appears rocky for UCLA's national collegiate basketball champions and superstar Lou Alcindor.

The Bruins just managed to beat Purdue 73-71 Saturday night and extend their winning streak to 35 in the feature game of the first weekend of the season.

A 30-foot shot by Bill Sweek in the last second of play won for Coach Johnny Wooden's Wonders, the unanimous No. 1 choice in the pre-season Associated Press poll.

The towering 7-foot-1 Alcindor scored 17 points in his first game as a junior, but it was his rebound and pass to Sweek that set up the winning shot.

Rick Mount, Purdue's highly touted sophomore, had tied the score on a free throw with 29 seconds left but missed a shot from the corner that Alcindor grabbed for the rebound. Sweek took the pass and shot from the top of the foul circle. It was his only basket of the game.

Although he missed the shot that would have upset UCLA, Mount made an impressive varsity debut before a sellout 14,200 in Purdue's new campus arena. He was high scorer in the game with 23 points and brought the Boiler-makers from behind at 71-66 with two minutes to go.

Mount was not the only sophomore to make headlines in his varsity debut. Mike Casey of Kentucky threw in 28 points to lead the Wildcats over Michigan 98-79 before 12,761 in the new University Events building on the Michigan campus.

The victory gave veteran Coach Adolph Rupp of Kentucky No. 781 of his career. He is only 10 short of the all-time 771 chalked up by the retired Phog Allen of Kansas.

Calvin Murphy scored 41 points in his first game for Niagara, but the Purple Eagles were upset at home by Long Island U., 84-79.

"Pistol" Pete Maravich, son of Coach Press Maravich of Louisiana State, rang up 48 points in his first varsity game as the Tigers whipped Tampa 97-81 at Baton Rouge.

Soph Charlie Miller of North Carolina tallied 18 points to go with Larry Miller's 30 and helped the fourth-ranked Tar Heels beat Virginia Tech 89-76 at Chapel Hill. Another soph, Mike Maloy of 10th-ranked Davidson got 17 points and 17 rebounds to help the Wildcats beat Virginia Military 80-73 at Charlotte.

Towa scored a 79-73 home court victory over Bowling Green by 20 points from soph Chad Calabria. And soph Don Ogletree scored the key points in the closing minutes for Cincinnati's home 83-79 triumph over Indiana State.

Fifth-ranked Vanderbilt had to struggle to win on the road against Southern Methodist. The Commodores pulled out an 88-84 overtime victory helped by Tom Hagan's eight points in the extra period.

Elvin Hayes, the Big E, paced the second-ranked Houston Cougars in a 110-79 romp over Sacramento State with 35 points. In another home court triumph fifth-ranked Kansas routed Utah State 84-55 behind Phil Harmon's 24 points.

Sixth-ranked Dayton opened at home with a 78-61 victory over Northern Michigan in the other game involving a team in the AP Top Ten.

Gabriel Pilots Rams Past Falcons 20-3

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Quarterback Roman Gabriel fired two touchdown strikes to lead Los Angeles to a 20-3 victory over the Atlanta Falcons Sunday and keep the Rams in the pursuit of Baltimore in the National Football League's Coastal Division.

The Rams scored in each of the first three quarters in a rather listless game before 40,395 in Memorial Coliseum. They go into the final two games of the season against Green Bay and then the Colts with a record of 9-1-2.

Baltimore, which defeated Dallas 23-17, is 10-0-2.

Atlanta in two games with the Rams this year has yet to score a touchdown. Los Angeles beat the Falcons in Atlanta Nov. 18, 31-3.

The Falcons struck first, scoring on a 45-yard field goal by Wade Trayham in the first four minutes. The score was set up when Les Josephson fumbled on the first play from scrimmage and Chuck Sieminski recovered on the Rams' 29.

Bruce Gossett kicked a 22-yard field goal, the first of two, to tie in the first quarter and from then on it was all Rams.

Gabriel shot a bullet pass of seven yards to Jack Snow in the second quarter for a 10-3 lead at the half. The pass climaxed an 11-play, 53-yard march.

Midway in the third quarter Los Angeles put together a 71-yard parade which ended when Gabriel threw a 19-yard pass to Bernie Casey, who fielded the ball at his shootops in the end zone.

Eagles, Skins Battle To 35-35 Tie

WASHINGTON (AP) — Philadelphia built up a 21-point third-period lead, then had to hang on to salvage a 35-35 tie as Washington roared back Sunday in a National Football League game.

A 36-yard field goal attempt by Washington's Gene Mingo was wide to the right, ending a game that featured the sharp passing of quarterbacks Sonny Jurgensen of the Redskins and Norman Snead of Philadelphia.

The tie eliminated both teams from the title race in the Capitol Division of the NFL, with Dallas assured the title. Washington is now 4-5-3 and Philadelphia 5-6-1.

Snead threw two touchdown passes to flanker Ben Hawkins of 69 and 63 yards, one to running back Tom Woodshick of 13 yards and one to Gary Ballman of three yards. Woodshick also ran for a 10-yard TD.

Jurgensen hit tight end Jerry Smith for touchdown passes of 18 and 21 yards, split end Charley Taylor for seven yards and flanker Bobby Mitchell for 10. Pete Larson ran three for the final Washington TD with 1:55 left to play.

Jurgensen completed 30 of 50 pass attempts for 366 yards and four touchdowns. Snead was 21 for 34 attempts for 288 yards and four touchdowns. Jurgensen threw two interceptions, Snead three.

Raiders Use Pass To Drop Chargers

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Oakland quarterback Baryle Lamonica threw four touchdown passes ranging up to 64 yards Sunday, leading the Raiders close to the American Football League's Western Division title in a 41-21 victory over the San Diego Chargers.

A disappointed throng of 52,661, largest in San Diego's sports history, saw the former Notre Dame passer hit on scoring tosses of 18 yards to Fred Bilenkoff, 64 and one to Billy Cannon and 29 to Bill Miller in putting the Oakland record at 10-1 with three games left.

Lamonica, who came to Oakland in trade this season after understudy duty at Buffalo, also had a hand in the fifth Raider touchdown.

With the ball at midfield, the Chargers tried a safety blitz. Lamonica checked off his signal and tossed a short pass to fullback Hewitt Dixon who carried to the San Diego two.

Larry Todd scored on the next play. Veteran kicker George Blanda booted five conversions and field goals of 24 and 21 yards.

San Diego trailed 31 to 21 at halftime as John Hadl kept the Chargers in contention. He scored the first San Diego touchdown on a one-yard dive and threw touchdown passes covering 57 yards to Lance Alworth and 29 to Gary Garrison.

Salt Lake To Host Tennis Tournament

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Some of the country's top tennis players will be after the Western Indoors Championships beginning Thursday at the Salt Lake Tennis Club.

Among them are Jeff Borowiak, Santa Monica Junior College, 1967 national junior champion; Tom Gorman of Seattle, a member of the reserve Davis Cup squad; Brian Chene, University of Arizona, Western Athletic Conference champion and Dean Schlobohm of Stanford.

The tournament could match the number two and three ranked doubles teams. Defending champion Stan Smith of Los Angeles and partner Bob Lutz could go against Utah's Jim Osborne and

TIES RECORD

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jim Ringo, Philadelphia Eagles center, tied a National Football League record Sunday when he played in his 180th consecutive game against the Washington Redskins.

Ringo, a 15-year veteran from Syracuse, tied the record held by Dick Modzelewski, formerly with New York and Cleveland.

CARTWRIGHT PICKED

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — John Cartwright, Navy quarterback, was selected to play for the North team in the College All-Star football game in the Orange Bowl Christmas Day; it was announced Sunday.

Jim McManus of California, Smith and Lutz are Davis Cup team members. McManus captains the reserve Davis Cup team of which Osborne is a member.

"Most of the players are seeking Davis Cup berths," said Harry James, meet director.

Sixteen singles matches will be played Thursday morning, followed in the evening with the doubles matches. Quarterfinals in both singles and doubles will be Friday. Singles semifinals will be Saturday afternoon with finals in singles and doubles ending in championship play Saturday night.

WAC Teams Have 7-1 Record After Season's First Weekend

By PAT THOMPSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Western Athletic Conference basketball teams sport a 7-1 record after the 1967-68 season's first weekend with the only defeat by a narrow margin—Arizona State's 75-73 setback to San Jose State Saturday night.

But New Mexico and Utah each won their second games of the season while the 1966-67 co-champions, Brigham Young and Wyoming, opened with victories.

Wyoming, which won a play-off from BYU last year to advance to the NCAA, buried Nevada Southern 120-87. Brigham Young turned back Denver University 88-78 on the road.

Floor leaders Mervin Jackson and Walt Simon combined for 35 points in a 70-58 nod over Texas Tech at Salt Lake City while New Mexico was winning its second straight road game 68-63 over Seattle. Jackson pitched in 22 points.

The two schools elected to the All-Stars, a group of former collegiate plays, 103-76; Arizona squashed San Jose 94-59 and Colorado State fell 71-61 to Weber State in Friday night's games.

Bill Davis poured in 17 points for Arizona, which was scoring its most ever in an opening season game.

New Mexico with Ron Nelson scoring 19 points, jumped into a 62-54 lead with 2:21 to play

Sayers Has Good Day As Bears Down 49ers

By CHARLES MCMURTRY
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Smiling and fighting the final seven as 26,000 fans looked on, it was the smallest San Francisco crowd since 1954.

Coach George Halas, apparently deciding finally on Con-cannon as his regular quarterback, saw the former Boston College ace lead Chicago to its fourth victory in five games and a 6-6 record.

Coach Jack Christianson of the 49ers started rookie quarterback Steve Spurrier a second straight game, but switched to No. 1 Brodie in the second period. The 49ers' sixth straight defeat was their longest losing string in the NFL, and gave them a 5-7 record.

Sayers took the kickoff on his three and raced almost the length of the muddy gridiron. In the second quarter, he faked a run to the right, then swept left 15 yards to the corner.

In the third period, the former Kansas flash raced with a punt through a half-dozen 49ers on a 58-yard touchdown sprint.

The 49ers scored in the third period on a 63-yard pass-run, John Brodie to Dick Wicker. It was San Francisco's first touchdown in 11 quarters, going back to the final period at Washington, Nov. 12.

The Bears came right back with a 15-yard touchdown pass from Jack Concannon to Dick Gordon.

San Francisco went 86 yards against Oregon. Stretch Howard scored 15 of his 17 points in the second half including the Lobo's final points.

Lyndon MacKay made 23 points and Jackson 16 as the shorter Utes but rebounded the All-Stars 73-49.

This week's schedule:
Monday — Pepperdine at Arizona State; Texas Tech at Brigham Young; Weber State at Arizona; Colorado at Utah; Sacramento State at Wyoming; Pan American at Texas-El Paso.
Tuesday — Sacramento State at Colorado State.
Wednesday — Pepperdine at New Mexico; Arkansas State at El Paso.
Thursday — Arizona State at Creighton; Northern Arizona at Arizona.
Friday — Oklahoma State at Wyoming; Idaho State at Colorado State.
Saturday — Arizona State at Southern Illinois; Texas at Brigham Young; New Mexico at Texas Tech; Utah at Utah State; Idaho State at Wyoming; Australia Victorians at Colorado State; Arizona at El Paso.

Hart Passes Cards Past Saints 31-20

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Young Jim Hart hit Jackie Smith for two second-half touchdowns passes Sunday as St. Louis broke open a rugged defense battle and whipped New Orleans 31-20 in a National Football League game.

New Orleans had jumped to a 3-0 lead in the first quarter when Charles Durke booted a 41-yard field goal. But John Roland came back three plays later with a 54-yard touchdown dash to give St. Louis a 7-3 lead and the Cardinals never trailed again. Roland rushed for 106 yards in 21 carries.

Hart hit Smith on scoring pass plays of 20 and 76 yards while Prentice Gautt rushed 19 for another St. Louis touchdown. Quarterback Bill Kilmer sneaked over from six inches and Charlie Brown scored the four for New Orleans touchdowns.

2:30 P.M. SUMMARY NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market remained well ahead in heavy trading late this afternoon. Volume for the first four hours was 8.36 million shares compared with 6.19 for the like period Friday. Gains outnumbered losses by almost 2 to 1. The Dow Jones Industrial average rose 2.77 to 881.93. Steels were generally higher. Strides were made by some of the glamor-growth stocks. Xerox, anticipating revenues exceeding $1 billion in 1968, rose 10 points. IBM and Polaroid gained 8 each. U.S. Steel and Republic Steel advanced about a point each. U.S. Steel's price boost for cold-rolled steel sheet led to expectations that other companies would follow. First Charter Financial, down more than a point, paced the list on volume as it reacted with other savings-and-loans to higher interest rates. Among active stocks, SCM spurred more than 3 points while Occidental Petroleum, Chrysler, Spartan Industries, Ling-Temco Vought, Royal Dutch and Ford advanced a point or better. Up about 2 were General Dynamics and Illinois Central. Prices also rallied on the American Stock Exchange.

Business Mirror

By JOHN CUNIFF, AP Business Analyst. NEW YORK (AP) — The concept of a negative income tax, an idea that has floated for years in the sometimes gaseous academic atmosphere, seems once again to have drifted into the world of very practical considerations. The latest to advocate such a tax, which would aid the poor and substitute for many welfare programs, is also the first major business executive to do so independently. He is Arjay Miller, president of Ford Motor Co. Negative income tax plans vary, but generally they set an earnings base below which families receive federal money to bring their living conditions up to a standard, and over which they must pay a tax. The tax structure, in other words, would be made to do much of the work now handled by many welfare plans. Like a thermometer, it would concern itself with degrees below zero, down into the no-income areas. Since such plans were first suggested early in the 1960s a great amount of research has clarified, refined, exposed and often supported their advocates. The negative tax plans have been winning followers. Prof. Milton Friedman of the University of Chicago, who was Barry Goldwater's economic adviser as well, is generally credited with first publicly defining and publicizing the concept. Public interest and discussion grew as the idea was seen as a possibly simple and efficient remedy to the hedge-podge of welfare payments. This discussion, which includes the position that a negative income tax is socialist, heated up considerably early last year with reports that a blue ribbon commission recommended to President Johnson that every American family be guaranteed a minimum annual income. The riots of the past two summers undoubtedly have had perhaps no accident that business advocacy, the next evolutionary step, should begin with one of the largest employers in Detroit, the most riot-damaged city in the nation. Miller's endorsement is bound now to be followed by more public discussion and more endorsement from business—as well as criticism. Public discussion may show the concept to be full of pitfalls. The most commonly stated criticism so far is that a dose of any sort destroys initiative. A major problem is to program incentives into the concept. How, for example, do you encourage an individual to cross the line into the tax-paying area when he need pay no tax—gets paid in fact—if he remains poor? Even before such problems are worked out, the next step in the evolution could very well come next year, when the negative income tax or its cousin the guaranteed annual wage could very well reach the stage of political advocacy. The Justice Department had urged the court to settle the issue, saying the exclusion of Negroes from "the experience of integrated living" and the denial of "decent living conditions" is perhaps the most fundamental cause of racial tensions. The court made no comment except to say it would hear an appeal by a Negro ball bondsman and his white wife who have tried — unsuccessfully — to force a developer in the St. Louis area to sell them a house and lot. The department said a "single, isolated refusal" to sell a house to a Negro when comparable housing in the same area is readily available may be beyond the reach of the Constitution and federal law. But, the department said, discriminatory exclusion of Negroes from an entire community appears to violate both. A private developer who is permitted by the state to perform such public functions as laying out streets assumes the state's constitutional obligation not to practice racial discrimination, the department theorized. The couple, Joseph Lee and Barbara Jo Jones, contended the Constitution and an 1866 federal rights law prohibit "discriminatory refusal" by a realtor to sell to Negroes. They told the court they had been turned down by operators of Paddock Woods Development in North St. Louis County, Mo., because of a general policy of not selling to Negroes. The U.S. Circuit Court in St. Louis ruled against the couple last June.

The Daily Investor

By WILLIAM A. DOYLE. Q. There is a lot of discussion these days about the desirability of buying "performance" stocks, rather than the tried-and-true blue chips. The investment grade stocks seem to be in disrepute, among certain people, especially those who write "market letters" for brokerage houses. I enclose one such comment, in which the writer says that "older investors do not understand or want to understand performance stocks." He says we oldsters "represent the true lunatic fringe in today's market" and are "speculative dropouts." He makes it sound almost reasonable for me to switch out of my nice, conservative, good-yielding stocks into the go-go issues. But he'd better watch his language or this doddering old fool is going to wash his mouth out. Care to contribute some strong detergent? A. It would take more than that to clean up all of the nutty ideas that are floating around Wall Street these days. It's obvious that you have been around investments much longer than I have. Well, haven't there always been some birds sounding out, loud and clear, that they have discovered the sure road to stock market riches? But it does seem that there are many more singing that tune now. With the stock market boiling, this is only natural. The more noise these characters make, the more business they drum up. These days the performance stocks — the so-called go-go items — are attracting lots of attention. You can meet all kinds of Wall Streeters — mostly young ones — who claim to have picked all the winners. Like horse players, they never mention their losers. I know you're only kidding. You're not about to start wadding out of high-quality stocks. But the danger is that the Wall Street hotshots will cool a lot of other people into thinking they can become millionaires in a hurry. This is no rap against all brokers — just those who have gone ape on this performance stock thing. When customers start switching in and out of high-flying (sometimes low-flying) go-go issues, brokers collect lots of commissions. But, in the end, we hear a familiar lament: "Where are the customers' yachts?" Q. I note that, when companies report earnings for fiscal periods, the figures are sometimes "restated" or "adjusted" to reflect a stock split or a stock dividend. What does this mean? A. Simply that the earnings per share for the year ago period were recalculated to reflect the number of shares of stock the company now has outstanding. Here's an example. Say that in the three months ended Sept. 30, 1966, XYZ Corp. earned a net profit of $2 million. And say that, during that period there were exactly one million shares of XYZ common stock outstanding — owned by stockholders. Earnings per share were $2. That's easy. Now, say that since then XYZ stock was split two-for-one. As a result, there are now two million shares outstanding. To adjust the per share earnings for that period, the $2 million-dollar profit is divided by the two million shares outstanding. The adjusted earnings figure works out to $1 a share. Here's where this becomes important. In calculating the earnings per share for the latest fiscal quarter (the months ended Sept. 30, 1967) the net profit figure must be divided by the number of shares now outstanding. So, the adjusted figure for the year-ago fiscal quarter can now be compared, realistically, with the per share figure for the latest reporting period.

Reagan Views

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — The only way to get the North Vietnamese to the conference table is to "make them hurt too much not to," California Gov. Ronald Reagan said today. "The Communists have always been long on talk and short on accomplishment," said Reagan, who is visiting Yale University as a Chubb Fellow. "We have to hurt them more than they want to be hurt in order to make them sit down and negotiate." Asked at a news conference whether he favored stronger military action than the United States has yet taken, Reagan indicated he agreed with the escalation of the past several months. "I believe we've turned the corner," he said, "and the situation is better than what we have been told."

Chances Of Peace Talks

The Republican governor said he disagreed with Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey's proposal to draft as quickly as possible all eligible young men who take part in anti-draft demonstrations. "Emotionally I could go along with General Hershey," said Reagan, "and I can understand how he feels. But rationally, intellectually, I can't go along with using the draft to punish people."

Bodies Of 5 Children

WOODSTOWN, N.J. (AP) — The charred remains of five children who perished in a fire on a migrant labor farm were buried Saturday in a single coffin. The children of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Taylor—Ivory Lee, 7; Eugene, 4; Evelyn, 2; Wanda, 15 months; and Edward, 6 months — died Monday as an early morning fire swept a wood frame bungalow at the Jill Brothers Farm near here. Mrs. Taylor was picking vegetables in a field nearby at the time. Her husband was in Philadelphia where police said he maintains a permanent address. Some 180 persons from surrounding communities attended a simple church memorial service as did the Taylors, who were supported by relatives during the brief service.

Prejudice Of Builders To Be Discussed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court announced today it would decide whether racial discrimination by large suburban developers violates the Constitution. The Justice Department had urged the court to settle the issue, saying the exclusion of Negroes from "the experience of integrated living" and the denial of "decent living conditions" is perhaps the most fundamental cause of racial tensions. The court made no comment except to say it would hear an appeal by a Negro ball bondsman and his white wife who have tried — unsuccessfully — to force a developer in the St. Louis area to sell them a house and lot. The department said a "single, isolated refusal" to sell a house to a Negro when comparable housing in the same area is readily available may be beyond the reach of the Constitution and federal law. But, the department said, discriminatory exclusion of Negroes from an entire community appears to violate both. A private developer who is permitted by the state to perform such public functions as laying out streets assumes the state's constitutional obligation not to practice racial discrimination, the department theorized. The couple, Joseph Lee and Barbara Jo Jones, contended the Constitution and an 1866 federal rights law prohibit "discriminatory refusal" by a realtor to sell to Negroes. They told the court they had been turned down by operators of Paddock Woods Development in North St. Louis County, Mo., because of a general policy of not selling to Negroes. The U.S. Circuit Court in St. Louis ruled against the couple last June.

15 Girls Drown

BANGKOK (AP) — Fifteen teen-aged girls drowned Sunday when a pleasure boat capsized and sank 12 miles south of Bangkok. Seventeen others were missing. Only eight girls, all students at Bangkok secretarial schools, made it safely to shore. They were on a voyage to an island off Rayong in the Gulf of Thailand. Reports reaching Bangkok said a sudden storm capsized the boat. Fishing boats from nearby villages picked up 15 bodies.

As Boat Capsizes

ROGERSON — Approximately $70 in change, 10 cartons of cigarettes and 12 candy bars were reported missing Monday in a burglary of the American Service Station, Rogerson. Deputy Sheriff Tom Majors said a window in the restroom at the rear of the service station was broken out sometime during the night. DRK Young, station operator, told county officers Monday at 7:30 a.m. All of the money was in the form of small bills and rolls of coins, officers said.

Military Chief Is Selected

By ED BLANCHE
JERUSALEM (AP) — Premier Levi Eshkol announced a new military chief of staff Sunday while the Israeli army reported that Arab saboteurs had struck twice more.

Eshkol named Brig. Gen. Haim Bar-Lev, 43, to succeed Maj. Gen. Itzhak Rabin, mastermind of Israel's victory in the June 5-10 war. Some government officials said Rabin would be sent to Washington as ambassador.

Defense Minister Moshe Dayan proposed Bar-Lev, a soft-spoken soldier who fathered Israel's tank power, to assume command of the armed forces. Dayan also said he was happy Rabin would "continue to work in the national interest," adding support to the reports of the Washington assignment.

Rabin, 44, has been armed forces chief for the last four years, one year longer than usual. He built the Israeli fighting forces into the swift, hard-hitting military machine that crushed the combined armies of Egypt, Jordan and Syria.

In Tel Aviv Sunday an army spokesman said Arab saboteurs blew up a section of the Jerusalem-Tel Aviv railroad line and also hit a water tower and road equipment in a public works depot.

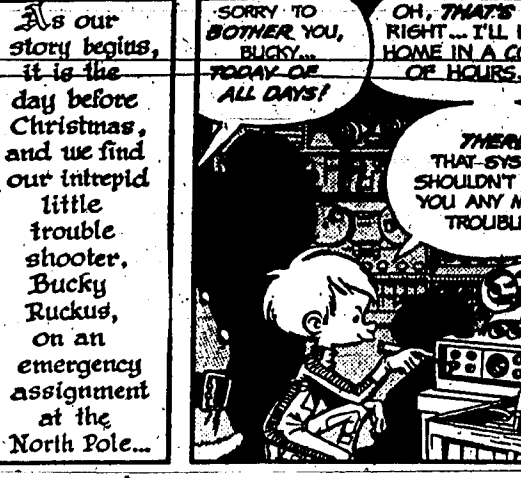

Two saboteurs waited too long after placing one explosive charge and were blown to pieces.

Leaflets signed by the El Fatah terrorist movement were found near both of the raided facilities. They warned of more attacks.

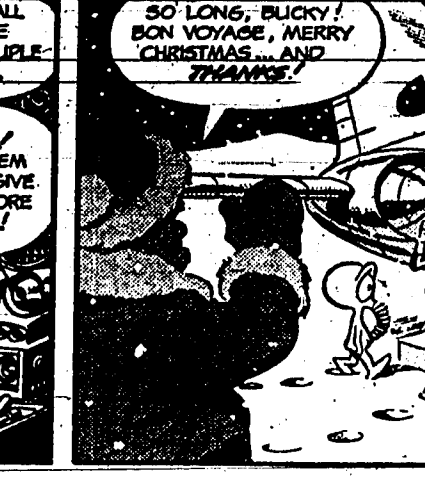

Throughout the Middle East, the 30-day holy month of Ramadan was under way for all Arabs. Cannon boomed out its beginning at dawn Saturday. The cannon sound every dawn, reminding Moslems that they should fast until sundown and another cannon.

Favorite Son Candidates May Bolster Bid Of Sen. McCarthy

By WALTER R. MEARS
WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Democratic senators who oppose U.S. war policies in Vietnam are considering favorite son presidential primary races, campaigns which could bolster the White House bid of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy.

Sen. Vance Hartke of Indiana and George S. McGovern of South Dakota said favorite son campaigns are a possibility and both added they generally agree with McCarthy's opposition to current U.S. policy in Vietnam.

A favorite son candidacy is a tactic to hold national convention delegations together most often used by state politicians who frequently aren't serious candidates themselves.

McCarthy, a Minnesota Democrat, announced Thursday he will challenge renomination bid in 1968 on a platform of disagreement over Vietnam policy.

McCarthy listed four primaries as certain targets. They are Wisconsin, Nebraska, Oregon and California.

He said he also will enter the contests in either New Hampshire or Massachusetts — or possibly both.

McCarthy said he can always adjust our plans, but he said he would not enter the New Hampshire race.

Kennecott Pushing For Referendum

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Kennecott-Copper Corp. renewed Sunday its campaign for a worker referendum in the 143-day-old nationwide copper strike.

Kennecott has asked that striking copper workers be polled on the question of a "voluntary cooling-off period," which the company says it would prefer to a Taft Hartley injunction.

The United Steelworkers of America has previously termed the company proposal "ridiculous."

Edmund J. Flynn, industrial relations counselor for Kennecott's Western Mining Division, spoke on a special Utah-Arizona television hook-up Sunday and termed union demands "outlandish."

More than 95 per cent of the nation's copper production has been halted by the strike which began July 15. About 60,000 workers are idled.

In addition to wage disagreements, the company and unions have split over union-proposed company-wide bargaining. The company's wage offer has a company price tag of 50.6 cents per hour. The unions say they have asked for about 99 cents per hour.

Major negotiations have not been held in the strike since mid-October.

News Of Servicemen

Commissionaryman JC Stephen R. Laughlin, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond G. Laughlin, 251 Harrison St., Twin Falls, was advanced to his present rating while serving aboard the repair ship USS Jason, home ported in San Diego, Calif.

Seaman and Mrs. Larry Fullmer are visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Neal Garrison, 670 Lynwood Blvd., and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Brandley, 1549 Willow Lane, Twin Falls. For the past two years Seaman Fullmer has been stationed aboard the USS James Owens, home ported in Charleston, S. C. They will be in Twin Falls until Dec. 26, when they will leave for Little Creek, Va., where Seaman Fullmer will enter UDT training. Mrs. Fullmer is the former Vicki Garrison.

Army Pfc. Donald D. Price, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer K. Price, Rupert, participated in three months of field training exercises at Camp Drum, N. Y., with the Sixth Armored Cavalry Regiment. He is a member of Headquarters Troop of the regiment's Third Squadron.

Mr. and Mrs. Denver Alfred report their son, Engineer William P. Alfred, was a member abroad the attack transport USS Navarro when it gave assistance to the storm-battered British freighter SS Habib Mariker in the South China Sea.

The freighter had been forced aground on Lincoln Reef by Typhoon Emma which had smashed all the ships lifeboats. The USS Navarro answered the distress call and lowered boats to the rescue of 43 crew members from the battered freighter. After minor medical attention 38 members were transferred to the SS Bengalis nearby.

Allred has been on the USS Navarro the past four months in the Vietnam area. He has been to the Philippines, Japan, Da Nang and Okinawa. He was assigned to the USS Navarro in May, 1967, and has been at sea since July.

Cpl. Earl Shields was recently promoted to corporal in the Marine Corps in San Diego where he has been attending radio relay school. He graduated as a technician among the top five of the class.

Bounty Asked

PORTLAND, Ore., (AP) — Portland's acting mayor, City Commissioner Francis Ivancie, says he will ask the City Council to establish a bounty on rats.

Ivancie said that when he was a boy in Minnesota, there was a bounty of "10-cents a tail" for rats.

He said it would be "helpful to the democratic system and the Democratic party to have more than one man under consideration."

But Fulbright said he did not plan to campaign for McCarthy in any primary races. Nor did other war policy critics offer any campaign assistance.

Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, expected to seek the GOP presidential nod, said in Portland, Ore., he views McCarthy's candidacy as likely to generate "a high level debate on the Vietnam war" that he said could be "a healthy development." Nixon has generally approved Johnson's war policies.

McCarthy is expected to announce his primary plans in the next few days.
