Heart Patient Wants To Get Out Of Bed

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — Five days after his historic heart transplant operation, Louis Washkansky has only one major complaint, his surgeon said today—the doctors won't let him get out of bed.

"He says he is aching from lying too still," said Dr. Christian Barnard. "He is keen to get out of bed. He is allowed to sit up but that is all so far."

Mrs. Washkansky visited her husband Thursday for the first time since the operation and found him strong, cheerful and "just too beautiful."

"I'm feeling fine," Washkansky told his fellow South Africans in a nationwide broadcast from his bedside.

Barnard said Washkansky is, in fact, somewhat tired.

area north and east of Jerome and also the area to the south of town were badly drifted Friday morning, although they were passable. Jerome school officials did not want to attempt to send buses.

Shoshone got about four inches of new snow Thursday and roads north of town were reported to be badly drifted but school was in session there Friday. Gooding roads were plowed, but there was considerable drifting in the rural areas.

The usual ground blizzard conditions were reported on Highway 30 north of Malta to the Cottrell Port of Entry Friday morning, with four or five vehicles reported off the road at one time.

High winds whipping the snow across the road brought visibility to zero through the night, state patrolmen said. Drifts narrowed the road to one lane. Conditions improved at daylight. Traffic was stopped at the port of entry Friday morning for several hours. The highway is bare from Malta to Strevell, but from Strevell into Salt Lake City, icy conditions are reported.

Between six and eight inches of new light snow fell in a day-long storm at Magic Mountain Thursday. Unpacked depths of approximately two feet were reported at the ski lodge.

A Civil Aeronautics Board examiner has recommended that the merger be approved.

A spokesman for the Phoenix-based Bonanza said that of 1,312,993 shares outstanding, 894,946 or just over 68 per cent favored the proposal. Only 1,454 shares, or less than 1 per cent voted against the plan.

700 Chanting Demonstrators Go Through Lower Manhattan

By JOHN SHANAHAN
NEW YORK (AP) — A chanting band of about 700 antiwar demonstrators flanked by a heavy police detail meandered through Lower Manhattan today, converging finally on Army Intelligence center.

Scattered fighting broke out, and police arrested at least 12 persons.

It was the fourth round of "stop the draft" demonstrations, aimed originally at closing an armed forces induction center.

At least three persons were hurt during a brief free-swinging fracas which broke out early in the march. It was sparked by a counterdemonstrator's attack on a marcher carrying a Viet Cong flag. Two were taken into custody then.

Among the marchers was baby doctor Benjamin Spock, who was arrested Tuesday during the first of the demonstrations. Three policemen marched beside Spock, and he narrowly missed being drenched at one point when water was thrown from a window.

Eggs also were thrown at the marchers.

The fighting started near City Hall, shortly after about 500 antiwar protesters had marched out of their staging area, Lower Manhattan's Battery Park.

Counterdemonstrators and the protesters clashed after a man tried to wrest the Viet Cong flag

FELLOW OFFICERS, COUNTY employees and friends staged a farewell party Thursday afternoon for Sheriff and Mrs. James H. Benham, and even "Charlie," the courthouse mascot, received a gift. Here Mr. and Mrs. Benham and "Charlie" admire gifts given them by courthouse employees and county officials. The sheriff will leave Tuesday for Boise where he becomes state brand inspector.

Farewell Party Honors Sheriff Benham And Wife

More than 100 Twin Falls county employees, elected officials, attorneys, law enforcement officers and other friends attended a farewell party Thursday afternoon in the new county judicial building honoring Sheriff and Mrs. James H. Benham.

The Benhams will leave Tuesday to make their home in Boise where Mr. Benham will become Idaho state brand inspector.

A leather brief case was presented Sheriff Benham and an engraved silver serving tray Mrs. Benham by the courthouse employees. Even "Charlie" the Benhams' pet Pomeranian was not forgotten — employees presented him a toy bone.

The Benhams have made their home on the fourth floor of the county courthouse in the sheriff's apartment adjoining the county jail for nearly 12 years. County employees during the past several years have become friends with Charlie adopting him as a courthouse mascot.

Sheriff Benham thanked those attending for their excellent cooperation over the past years and said he feels he is leaving the office in good hands with the appointment of Paul Corder, Kimberly, as sheriff. He urged the county employees, attorneys and others to give the new sheriff the same consideration and cooperation they have given him.

Mrs. Helen Henderson and Mrs. Flora Warner were in charge of arrangements for the Thursday afternoon party, the first event to be held in the county's new and partly completed judicial building.

from a marcher. Police moved in quickly and separated them and the march continued, with demonstrators chanting, "We have won, we have won."

"Hell no, we won't go!" they shouted earlier as they moved away from the staging area.

Baby doctor Benjamin Spock, arrested on the first day of the protest, was at the rear.

Earlier today, a large detail of police prevented a possible confrontation between antiwar demonstrators and counterdemonstrators in Battery Park.

Police again outmanned the demonstrators by a good margin. Their superior numbers through the week have continually frustrated the groups led by the sponsoring "Stop the Draft Week Committee," described as a coalition of 50 antiwar groups.

The New York City Police Department said Thursday night an "honest mistake" led to the seizure, interrogation and photographing of some 100 demonstrators Thursday after they marched to a point across from the United Nations.

The Thursday demonstration did not seriously try to disrupt the Lower Manhattan armed forces induction center—principal target of the first two protests.

Air Cavalrymen Pursue Battered Red Battalion

By GEORGE MCARTHUR
SAIGON (AP) — American air cavalrymen riding helicopter gunships today pursued a battered Communist battalion that left a fourth of its fighters dead on the sparse coastal dunes of Binh Dinh Province.

American officers said the battalion of 600 North Vietnamese regulars had lost 150 dead at the last count, which did not cover spirited fighting in the last 24 hours. Korean troops just to the south reported killing another 61 Reds.

The North Vietnamese were being pursued along the coast by about 300 men from the 1st Air Cavalry Division. Another two companies with an equal number of South Vietnamese troops were blocking to prevent the Communists from trying to push inland toward better cover.

It was the heaviest fighting in Binh Dinh in three months. The U.S. Command also reported action on other old battlefields—ranged shelling at Con Thien, a night-long guerrilla attack in the Mekong Delta and another Red attack—which cost the Communists 45 dead—at the district town of Bo Duc, near the Cambodian border where much recent fighting has flared.

Binh Dinh, however, was the most important spot for Allied commanders, particularly because it had been quiet for so long and the Red force there—the veteran 22nd Regiment of the 3rd North Vietnamese Division—had shown little recent willingness to do battle. The action started Wednesday when a helicopter patrol spotted the Reds, and two Air Cavalry companies landed in battle order flushed them out. By Thursday night the North Vietnamese had been pushed from the concealed bunkers and fortifications that made up their hidden base, but the running battle continued.

Air Strikes raked the enemy during the day Thursday and Friday, and flareships stuck overhead in the hours of darkness.

As night fell Friday, American officers said the cavalrymen were still in pursuit. Other officers said the enemy death toll would certainly rise.

U.S. spokesmen said no American casualty figures would be revealed until the action was broken off.

The battle is close to main National Route 1 along the coast and in an area under undisputed Red control for years, until the big U.S. sweeps of the past 12 months.

Near Bo Duc, north of Saigon where the Communists have benefited from the Cambodian border three miles away to keep pressure on Allied positions since Nov. 28, a byproduct of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division was heavily assaulted early today, U.S. spokesmen said the Reds were hurled back with 45 killed, while the Americans had four killed and 14 wounded.

Labor Leaders Slam LBJ

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Leaders at the AFL-CIO convention have criticized President Johnson's call for unions to restrain their wage demands. Some say they will ignore the appeal.

"It was pretty pious nonsense," Jerry Wurf, president of the State, County and Municipal Workers Union, said of Johnson's appeal. The President asked at a Washington conference of businessmen for business to hold the line on prices and for labor to go slower on wage hikes.

Union chiefs who will be negotiating major contracts in steel, telephone and aerospace industries during the 1968 presidential political campaign year also said they will ignore Johnson's plea.

"We want a share in the improvements in the economy," said President I. W. Abel of the United Steelworkers Union, which will be negotiating new contracts for 450,000 workers in the most worrisome 1968 bargaining battle to the Johnson administration.

Steel contracts expire in August and a long strike would be close to the November election. Johnson brought steel negotiations into the White House in 1965 when he was trying to hold wage hikes to 3.2 per cent a year in the big "wage guideline" battle. A White House settlement then avoided a strike Johnson had feared would hurt the economy.

"I certainly would have been impressed if Johnson had twisted the arm of the steel companies," Wurf said of Johnson's call for wage-price restraint following a round of steel price increases. "As it is, it was pretty pious nonsense."

Kennecott Turns Down Board Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — A second major copper producer — Kennecott Copper Corp. — turned down today a proposal for establishment of a fact-finding board to settle the five-month-old national copper strike.

Kennecott President Frank R. Milliken told Sen. Mike Mansfield and Lee Metcalf, Montana Democrats, their proposal is unacceptable because it appears to call for companywide and industry-wide bargaining.

The senators' proposal was turned down Thursday by the American Smelting and Refining Co. and sources here expressed doubt it would be accepted by the Anaconda Co. or the Phelps-Dodge Corp.

The fact-finding board proposal has been accepted by the Steelworkers Union representing the copper workers.

Volunteers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Peace Corps said today that Samuel H. Sheppard, Cleveland osteopath who served 10 years in prison but later was acquitted of second degree murder charges in the death of his first wife, has volunteered for Peace Corps duty.

A spokesman for the corps said the application was received late last week and is being processed. This normally requires about eight weeks.

Sheppard did not limit his application to volunteer work in his professional field, as an osteopathic physician, the spokesman said.

Strengthening Of City Governments Is Advised

Mayor N. E. (Coley) Smith of Caldwell told a group of area mayors and councilmen Thursday night that more "Idaho cities, even the small ones of about 2,000, are going to have to go to the strong mayor-council type of government or the city manager-council form."

He said at present many of the cities are operating under a weak mayor-council form of government which does not do much for the growth of a city or other important objectives.

Mayor Smith was guest speaker at a banquet held during the opening day of the Twin Falls Institute for Mayors and Councilmen. The affair, under the sponsorship of the College of Southern Idaho, was designed primarily to give newly elected city officials a look into their forthcoming duties.

Attendance Thursday was about 40, but had dropped off to about 30 Friday, according to Charles Alban, institute director and instructor at CSI. He said many of those who were attending returned home because of bad weather conditions.

The conference ends Friday afternoon after a full two days of panels, speeches and film

First Outbreaks Of Flu Reported

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The first outbreaks of influenza for the 1967-68 epidemiologic year were reported today by the National Communicable Disease Center.

The first reported outbreak affected approximately 3,000 of 18,500 students at Western Michigan University, Kalamazoo, Mich.

Attending Thursday was about 40, but had dropped off to about 30 Friday, according to Charles Alban, institute director and instructor at CSI. He said many of those who were attending returned home because of bad weather conditions.

The conference ends Friday afternoon after a full two days of panels, speeches and film

13 SHOPPING DAYS TO CHRISTMAS

President Johnson Joins In Dress Rehearsal For Lynda's Wedding

By FRANCES LEWINE
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson joins in the dress rehearsal today as his daughter Lynda and Marine Capt. Charles S. Robb go through final preparations for their historic wedding—just one day away.

The White House was being dressed gaily in a Christmas decor of spruce trees, holly, mistletoe and garlands of greens and red and white flowers.

An imposing white altar, flanked by two fluted white columns, carpeted in white and centered with a cross, was under construction in the East Room. A buffet table 30 feet long was going up in the State Dining Room. And 500 bags of rice were being filled for use by guests in showering the newlyweds as they leave for a honeymoon.

The wedding principals, meanwhile, were taking on a last round of partying, with a rehearsal dinner tonight given by Robb's parents. Stage stars Carol Lawrence and Gordon MacRae shut down their Broadway show tonight to salute the bridal couple with songs from their musical about marriage, "I Do, I Do."

When it comes to Saturday's East Room wedding ceremony, however, Lynda and Robb say "I will, I will," according to the Episcopal Marriage Ceremony from the Book of Common Prayer.

For the first time in the final week of the wedding, the couple split up Thursday night to have separate parties—she with her seven bridesmaids and he with his groomsmen, sword bearers and friends.

Robb's bachelor dinner was considered a success because it was kept a secret and because President Johnson joined in saluting his future son-in-law.

The affair was conducted in the security of the Army Navy Country Club in suburban South Arlington, Va., not far from the Pentagon.

White House sources said the party was "a wonderfully kept secret—no member of the press was there."

Robb presented gold cufflinks as a gift to his best man and groomsmen and a silver picture frame for each of the swordsmen. They will be filled later with color pictures of the sword arch as the bride and bridegroom passed beneath it.

Lynda, holding forth in the second-floor family quarters of the White House, gave her bridesmaids an inch-long gold pin in the shape of a bird with its wings spread, sitting on an arrow that pierces a tiny ruby heart.

There was a growing aura of excitement in the executive mansion as the wedding day drew closer.

A dozen houseguests—relatives, the minister and out-of-town bridesmaids—were in residence and the presidential grandson, 5-month-old Lyn, was the star of the third floor. It was announced the infant son of Luci Johnson Nugent will not attend the wedding.

Workmen were practicing some of the logistics for the big event, including a quick scene shift that will see the big altar moved out to a nearby rooftop and the East Room changed into a ballroom for dancing to Peter Duchin's orchestra after the wedding.

All through the ceremony, the six-foot tall wedding cake will be hidden behind a white screen, running the width of the south end of the room. The screen will be whisked away when it's time to cut the cake with Capt. Robb's ceremonial sword.

The eyes of two cameras and a reporter will watch from a screened position behind the altar when Lynda and Robb exchange their vows.

And the word will be relayed by walkie-talkie when the Rev. Canon Gerald McAllister of San Antonio, Tex., pronounces them "man and wife."

10 Office Days Left Before Tax Deadline

Taxpayers of Twin Falls County have only 10 more office days in which to pay the first half of their 1967 property taxes, County Treasurer Ruth Jones reminded residents Friday. She said this far payments have reached about $1,010,911.73 but about half of this is from mortgage holders and less than $500,000 has come in from individual property owners. Mrs. Jones said there is more than $4 million yet to be collected before the deadline of Dec. 20. Most of the payments, she said, are sent in by mail, but many property owners prefer to call in person. Lines at the treasurer's office windows have been extremely short and not until after 1 p.m. is there any waiting by taxpayers, she said. Mrs. Jones urged taxpayers to keep the deadline in mind and to get payments in as soon as possible noting her office expects a heavy rush of business near deadline time.

Social Security Measure Seems Assured Of Passing

By JOE HALL
WASHINGTON (AP) — A Social Security bill containing the biggest cash benefit and tax increases in history—but still falling far short of administration proposals—appears assured of congressional approval.

Senate-House conferees reached final agreement on the bill Thursday night after a marathon session. Sponsors expressed confidence Congress will send it to President Johnson next week.

Major provisions of the bill would:

—Increase basic benefits for the 24 million Americans now on the rolls by at least 13 per cent with a 25 per cent hike for those at the bottom of the scale. The minimum monthly payment would go from $44 to $55. The boosts would be in checks distributed next month.

—Raise the taxable base from $6,600 to $7,800 next year so that the maximum tax for a worker and his employer now $290.40, would jump to $343.20 in 1968.

—Limit federal grants for the medicare program of aiding indigent persons with their health costs in a move to check the steadily rising cost of this assistance.

—Write tight new restrictions and work requirements into the welfare program of Aid to Families with Dependent Children in an effort to get the recipients off relief and into jobs.

The final version of the legislation is far closer to the bill passed by the House than to Johnson's recommendations of the Senate version.

Many of its welfare provisions reflect increasing congressional concern over soaring costs of relief programs.

The bill would boost Social Security benefits $3.6 billion in 1967, the first full year of operation, compared with $7.1 billion under the Senate measure and $3.4 billion under the House version.

Taxes would be increased in 1969 by $1.5 billion over what present law would yield. But there still would be a $4.7 billion revenue-to-outgo surplus that year.

Johnson asked for a 15 per cent general increase in benefits and a $70 minimum. The Senate accepted this.

But the final increases included in the bill were much closer to the 12 1/2 per cent hike and $50 minimum voted by the House.

The conferees swept aside or scaled down dozens of liberalizing amendments put into the bill in the Senate. Among them were:

—Permission for men and women to retire at age 60 with actuarially reduced benefits. Now they must wait to age 62, except for widows who can get payments at 60.

—Allowance for retired persons to earn up to $2,400 a year without losing any benefits. The present limit is $1,500. The conferees adopted the proposed House figure of $1,680.

—Disabled children's benefits up to age 22. Present law, which is retained, cuts these off at age 18.

—Special $50-a-month payments for persons 72 and over who lack sufficient coverage to get full Social Security. They now get $35. The conferees accepted the House figure of $40.

—Provisions for disabled widows and widowers to get full-scale benefits equal to 82 1/2 per cent of the spouse's primary entitlement. The conferees took the House language which would give them 50 to 82 1/2 per cent of the entitlement—and then only if the person is age 50 or older.

—The right of persons 65 and over to continue to deduct full medical expenses on income tax returns. Under present law, which is retained, these persons lose this right effective this year on returns due next April. They will be allowed to deduct only medical expenses which exceed 3 per cent of income and drug expenses which exceed 1 per cent.

—Extra grants to enable states to increase welfare payments to the needy aged, blind and disabled by $7.50 a month.

—Permission for blind persons to qualify for disability payments even if they are able to work.

—Aid to needy children in foster homes.

—A requirement that all states include aid for unemployed fathers under the Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) program.

Also wiped out was a controversial drug amendment sponsored by Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., under which the government would determine and publish a list of low-cost effective drugs for use in the medicare and medicare programs.

In its place the conferees put a requirement that states must guarantee use of reasonably priced drugs—for medicare assistance.

In accepting the harsher House position on AFDC, the conferees knocked out Senate language that would have exempted mothers with preschool children from a compulsory work requirement.

They also retained a much-criticized House freeze that would limit federal payments for the program to the proportion of children on the rolls in a state as of January 1968.

Irrigation District To Vote On Tuesday

RUPERT — An election will be held Dec. 12 to elect three directors for the A and B Irrigation District.

The terms of Edward E. Smith, Division 2, Dale E. Cribb, Division 3, and Fred Kasworm, Division 5, are expiring.

Petitions have been filed for Division 2 — a three-year term, by Edward E. Smith and Joseph C. Flood; Division 3 — a one-year term, Dale E. Cribb; Division 5 — a one-year term, George Giarborg.

The election will be held from 1 to 7 p.m. at the following polling places: Division 1, Harold Holton residence, 900 West 600 East; Division 2, East Water Office, 700 North Meridian; Division 3, Harold Ingram residence, 900 North 600 West; Division 4, District Ditch-riding house, No. 110, George Ward residence at 300 North 1650 West; Division 5, West Watermaster Office, 100 South 1100 West.

All qualified electors of the district are entitled to vote at the election. Qualified electors are those qualified to vote under the general election statutes of the State of Idaho, residents of the counties wherein the district is situated and the owner or husband or wife of the owner of land within the district.

Kennedy Hits Directive From Hershey

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy says it shouldn't be surprising that young people are willing to break the law when, according to the Massachusetts Democrat, draft director Lewis B. Hershey "indicates he will ignore the law."

Kennedy demanded Thursday that Hershey withdraw an Oct. 26 directive to local draft boards. It recommended that young men be drafted immediately if they interfere with induction proceedings.

Such a recommendation, Kennedy said, would let draft boards "sit as both judge and jury" to impose an unauthorized penalty.

"Only a tortured interpretation of the draft law could justify using inductions as a punishment," Kennedy told the Senate.

He said Hershey, director Selective Service, was quoted as saying he wouldn't withdraw the directive "even if the Department of Justice declared it unconstitutional. But he would withdraw it if ordered to do so by the President."

Army Fights For Training Finances

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army is warring with administration budget planners who want to cut $52 million in training funds for key National Guard and Reserve units, Pentagon sources say.

At issue are funds involving proposed training and supplies for a 150,000-man force of Army National Guard and Reserve units which would be the first called up in a war emergency, sources said.

If the cut went through, the sources said Thursday, it would take three months instead of two in order to ready these troops for deployment.

The issue presumably will be resolved before the Pentagon presents its spending plans to President Johnson, who sends his 1968-69 budget to Congress next month.

Happy Holidays

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — With lots of beer, good-looking girls and rest in one of the nation's plushiest resorts, 60 GIs will spend rest and recreation time from Vietnam in sunny Arizona this Christmas.

For the third straight year, the Camelback Inn is hosting "Christmas Out of the Fox Hole." The 60 servicemen who arrive Sunday evening are all returning from Vietnam.

The program started three years ago when former owner Jack Stewart thought it would be a good way for the battle weary men to spend the holidays.

Peanut Butter Standards Set

WASHINGTON (AP) — Peanut butter, says the government, really should contain peanuts—lots of them.

Noting a "trend by some manufacturers in recent years to reduce the peanut content" in peanut butter, the Food and Drug Administration proposed a federal standard to assure at least a 90 per cent peanut content in each jar.

Interested parties have 30 days to submit comments on the proposal. After that the FDA will issue an order.

Awards Are Presented To Civil Air Patrol Members

Members of the Idaho Wing of the Civil Air Patrol in Twin Falls held their annual Christmas party this week, and presented two awards for outstanding service.

Receiving the second highest award the Federal Civil Service has to offer was Ardyce Fries, Secretary for the Air Force Liaison Office of the Civil Air Patrol.

The presentation was made by Capt. Paul Parton, Air Force Liaison Officer, who commended Mrs. Fries for her outstanding contribution to the Civil Air Patrol effort.

Mrs. Fries came to Twin Falls with her husband Ray Fries, when he was assigned as NCO advisor to the Army National Guard. They have been in Twin Falls since 1963 after returning from a three-and-one-half year stay in Bangkok, Thailand, where Mrs. Fries worked with the Navy Department.

An award for exceptional service was presented to Lt. Col. Bill Bosworth of Buhl. He is presently deputy for personnel, and is a past deputy wing commander. Lt. Col. Bosworth has been a member of the CAP for 15 years.

WASHINGTON — Sen. Bobby Kennedy's recent utterances on the Vietnam war are the best key to understanding why he leads President Johnson by 63 to 32 per cent in that Louis Harris poll on which many of the voters would prefer as the Democratic nominee in 1968.

Bobby, it is clear, has something more going for him than his name and his hippie haircut.

The man has the happy knack of saying things that reflect the plain citizen's concern over Administration policies from Saigon to Tierra-del-Fuego. He has assumed the role of the pragmatic, preoccupied with American self-interest.

It is possible to challenge Bobby's recent charge that there has been a switch in the official rationale for U.S. involvement in Vietnam, and that instead of a war to help the South Vietnamese decide their own future it has become a conflict to check Chinese Communist expansion. But Lyndon Johnson has been stressing both of these goals for long months, and he is unheard of by those who won't hear him.

Bobby is on sound ground, however, when he reminds the American voter of an obvious fact—that the South Vietnamese are not doing their share on the battlefield, in Buffalo and Oklahoma City, the working stiff needs no private briefing to understand Bobby's resentment over the failure of the Vietnamese people to "make the effort." Anyone who reads newspapers is as annoyed as Bobby Kennedy is by the knowledge that the South Vietnamese "over the past year have done less, far less," and that "we're carrying the burden of the war."

When Bobby wonders aloud why it wasn't the South Vietnamese troops that went up Hill 875, he is not merely a rich man's son or a distinguished politician, he is a voice on Main Street. Americans still prefer to help only those who help themselves, and they compare the South Vietnamese unfavorably with the hard-fighting South Korean troops of the Fifites.

Nor does the plain citizen take much comfort in Vice President Humphrey's reminder that the South Vietnamese have the job of pacification. This is not quite the same as slugging it out with the enemy at Dako, and besides there have been too many stories of 9 to 5 working hours by the Viet pacifiers and their unfortunate habit of running away at the sound of the first shot fired in anger.

Bobby has put his finger on something the administration seems unable or unwilling to recognize. It is the feeling among many voters that South Vietnam, after all, belongs to the South Vietnamese, and if they're not interested enough in saving it from Communism to do their share of the fighting then all the lofty phrases from the White House sound a trifle silly. One of the problems Lyndon Johnson must tackle successfully before next November is convincing the American people that we're not only needed in Vietnam, but wanted.

The Kennedy view on the Vietnam war is of a piece with his long-held position on the immoral sales of arms to those curious Latin-American regimes which use their countries as private property for personal profit. More than a year ago, Bobby urged that the United States cut back economic aid to Latin-American nations engaged in military buildups at the expense of social reform. In his best horse-sense manner, Bobby has argued that selling weapons of war to such nations creates conflict and instability between and within those countries.

Congress made a tentative pass at the problem this year by attaching an amendment to the foreign aid bill requiring the President to cut off aid if he finds a country is diverting its own resources to unnecessary military expenditures. But leaving it up to the President is like giving a Senator the responsibility for cutting his own pay.

Bobby Kennedy could be President some day, an eventually which may not be considered an unmixed blessing in view of some of his less endearing characteristics. If he makes it, however, it will be because of his capacity for putting big issues into perspective by arguing the country's self-interest in plain, street-corner English.

Espionage

Spying by governments on one another is never an easily discovered enterprise, nor sometimes even easily defined. After all, it is the legitimate task of legations in every country to find out as much as possible about the host country in order to maintain satisfactory relations.

The dividing line between diplomatic curiosity and espionage at times may be quite fine.

There is little doubt, however, how to classify snooping which concerns military armament and plans. As indicated by increasing public identifications, Western Europe has become a hotbed of international intrigue rivaling, in numbers of agents, any other period—including the two world wars.

Britain, France and West Germany in particular can be counted on for almost a continuous stream of security infractions of the highest order. Cabinet officers and other highly placed government persons have been involved in a number of these cases. While not all may appear as glamorous as the Profumo affair, all cast serious doubt on the advisability of the United States sharing significant defense secrets with any other nation.

Free Europe has access to much U.S. weapon technology by virtue of a common relationship in NATO and other defense agreements. In fact, it is from within these organizations that a number of spy rings have been revealed.

West Germany now holds the dubious honor of hosting the most active espionage networks in the world. Spy revelations have become so commonplace the recent exposure of five important rings and the arrest of 12 top agents caused little more than routine discussion in the German press.

Divided Germany is a natural geographical and political center for espionage activities. Not only is it a long-standing confrontation site between East and West, but Bonn has become one of the more influential capitals of the world.

Important agencies of the Bonn government have been infiltrated in the past by East German and Soviet agents. Alfred Frenzel, a deputy in the Bundestag and a member of its defense committee, transmitted secrets to Czechoslovakia for four years until his arrest in 1960.

Heinz Felfe, who for 10 years held an important post in the German intelligence service, was another important communist spy. Now Moscow is concentrating on lesser agents to accumulate as much information as possible without attracting attention.

In the world of the undercover agent, at least, nothing has changed but the intensity. That seems to be on the increase.

New Stereoscopy

Even Orville and Wilbur Wright might have laughed at this ungainly, three-legged flying machine. It stayed off the ground only 8 1/2 seconds, and traveled only 10 feet from its takeoff point.

Orville did better than that in man's first powered flight at Kitty Hawk in 1903. He stayed off the ground 12 seconds and moved 120 feet. Later the same day, Wilbur made a 59-second flight, traveling nearly one-sixth of a mile.

Hardly any newspapers reported the Wright brothers' feat the next day, but Surveyor 6 got headlines all over the world for its 8-second flight. The difference was that the Wrights took off from terra firma, while Surveyor 6 was the first earthmen's contraption to lift itself off the surface of the moon.

Surveyor 6 took pictures from its new location. Scientists in Pasadena will pair the pictures with earlier ones taken from 10 feet away, and will get the effect of a three-dimensional view of the moon's rocky surface.

This will be great for lunar scientists, but it won't do much for the public. Television stations are not equipped to transmit 3-D pictures. Newspapers and magazines are not equipped to publish them. Most readers and TV watchers are unequipped with the necessary viewing devices.

This could bring back the stereoscope—a 3-D viewing gadget that is found mostly in antique shops or in the attics of families that haven't discarded anything for 60 years. Couples used to sit in the parlor looking at travel pictures through the stereoscope and marveling at how life-like the three-dimensional effect was.

Actually they were looking at two different pictures, taken from slightly different angles and mounted so that neither eye could see the other eye's picture.

License Plates: Revolting!

Well, here we go again. Seems as though things roll along just fine for awhile and then the roof falls in—or something just about as bad.

What's it this time? It's those new license plates which are now appearing on the automobiles hereabouts.

Really, now, did you ever see anything as revolting, or lacking in style? And to think that we all got charged a buck more for them!

In the daytime they are just about the poorest excuse for anything of beauty we have ever seen. At night they reflect—but if you are tailing the car ahead close enough to read the numbers then you are a dead duck if he stops.

And, dear readers, we are stuck with these plates for five years. Five, long years! Each of those years you'll buy a little date tag to attach to them, but the plate proper you will keep.

Want to drum up an interesting conversation? If you do, just ask anyone: "How do you like the new license plates?"

The answer will hit you like a ton of bricks—unless you duck before it comes.

HERE WE GO

Dear Mr. Spectator:
Yesterday, finally being overcome by the Christmas spirit (after all—it's Dec. 6), I went into a local gift shop to buy a couple of those small brass bells. You know, the ones with the nice tinkle that costs about $3 a pound to use for decorations.

"I'm sorry, but we're out of them—the flower children from Sun Valley bought them all up last summer."

"And, what," I asked, "did the flower children want them for?"

"Seems as if the kids were wearing them, interspersed with flowers, beads, etc."

Which all leads one to believe that there ain't nothing safe anymore—and makes me wonder how many of these Santa Clauses running around are actually hippies in their winter dress.

AIRPORT MONEY

Dear Mr. Spectator:
Anyone who still thinks that aviation isn't important to a community or an area need only look at what the citizens of the state of New York did.

They voted to pass a $2 1/2 billion bond issue with the money going to airport construction and improvements. There will be another jet airport for New York City—the fourth—and every county in the state will get an airport or extensive improvements on one in each county now in use.

Reverse The Research Gap

The most urgent task for Robert McNamara's successor as secretary of defense will be to reverse the research gap.

Under the McNamara rule at the Pentagon, and based upon an unshakable belief that one-sided disarmament is the way to peace, the defenses of this nation purposefully have been held in a state of suspended animation.

Not one major new strategic weapons system has been introduced since the Administration of Dwight Eisenhower, on whose foresight and planning we continue to live so far as defenses are concerned.

The McNamara research policy has been that this nation will not begin any project unless the enemy—potential enemy, to use the polite phrase—has begun a project on its own which makes our response essential.

The slightest exercise of common sense would indicate that this is a guaranteed way to fall behind.

The major affected areas of research have been in nuclear weapons and space weapons. It is reasonable to assume there has been an adverse effect, also, in terms of chemical and bacteriological weapons and defenses, but these topics are even more of a taboo for public discussion than the most guarded nuclear matters.

Thanks to the McNamara "responsive rather than innovative" research policy and to the nuclear test ban treaty—the passage of which was substantially aided by McNamara and the men he assigned to it—this nation has fallen well behind the Soviet Union in researching and harnessing the effects of high-yield, high-altitude nuclear explosions.

Explosions of this sort, as was pointed out repeatedly by Republicans in the 1964 presidential campaign, have the effect of seriously disrupting electronic systems such as those on which we depend to launch and target guided missiles.

McNamara's men, however, have delayed research in the area as long as possible. Only this year was it announced that we are beginning serious efforts to shield our missiles against this danger.

When it comes to space weapons, the story is too apparent to require retelling. While McNamara and his men have steadily resisted and scuttled needed research in this area, the Soviet military has gone ahead so strenuously and successfully that they have now announced the capability of putting weapons of mass destruction into orbit.

All that McNamara's men have been able to produce in the way of response is to say, pitifully, that so long as those weapons do not make a full orbit of the earth they would not technically violate the space weapons ban which McNamara has been instrumental in pushing.

It has been apparent for years that the failure to keep our defenses in shape was the most potentially fatal failure of this Administration. To be sure, the same Administration has brought us closer to federal bankruptcy than any other in memory, but, bad as that is, it would be far more feasible to ride out economic disaster than to survive the sort of horrible pressures that Communism could bring to bear on us should its leaders find themselves in possession of a clear-cut advantage in the field of weapons.

It is for that reason that every American should regard the successor to Robert McNamara closely and with the deepest possible concern.

Democratic Doves On The Spot

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Minnesota Sen. Eugene McCarthy's decision to make the 1968 race against President Johnson gives the country's Vietnam critics the focus they want yet puts the Senate's covey of Democratic doves in a troublesome limelight.

While the National Conference of Concerned Democrats is busy making McCarthy its new hero, the dovish senators must prepare to decide whether to throw in with them, side with the presumably "unconcerned Democrats" who continue to back the President, or try to go on judging the whole thing.

Of seven Democratic doves for whom the matter has urgency because they are up next year, three already have decided to support Johnson's renomination and election. They are Sens. Joseph Clark of Pennsylvania, Wayne Morse of Oregon and Ernest Gruening of Alaska.

The choice is tantalizing in varying degrees for the other four: Sens. Frank Church of Idaho, George McGovern of South Dakota, Gaylord Nelson of Wisconsin and J. W. Fulbright of Arkansas.

In 1962 McGovern won a first term by less than 1,000 votes. A lively campaign by McCarthy, based in a neighboring state, will not make it easy for the South Dakotan to pick his way through the minefields in 1968.

Nelson, another McCarthy

neighbor, will find him smack in the middle of the influential Wisconsin primary held April 2. If Nelson opts for loyalty to LBJ, many in the state's academic enclaves will cut him hard. If he pleases them by backing McCarthy, resentful loyalists could hurt him in a fall race against a possibly strong Republican rival.

Fulbright, whose distaste for the President and his Vietnam policies seems to have reached obsessive proportions, has a particularly agonizing problem. He faces a tough 1968 primary adversary in former Gov. Orval Faubus, and he comes from a section of the nation where war support is relatively strong.

Church may perhaps feel somewhat less pressure in Idaho, though a stout Republican opponent might find him a more vulnerable target in the fall if he had backed McCarthy in a losing cause against Johnson.

Actually, McCarthy's candidacy puts on the spot all the Democratic doves, not just those with thorny 1968 problems. That includes McCarthy himself and at least three others—Sens. Stephen Young of Ohio, Vance Hartke of Indiana and Albert Gore of Tennessee—who face the voters again in 1970.

What will hereafter be examined in far sharper light are their arguments against the war and their credibility and credence as both blessing and curse.

Over the months since early 1965, they have many times shifted their critical ground, even as they chided the President for shifting his arguments. They have been fuzzy about alternatives.

With McCarthy stepping into the presidential arena, the soft times are over. The interrogators will be tough not only on him but on supporting doves as well. They will want less fuzz and more fact.

Some may want to know why McCarthy, Fulbright and some other doves have not gone to Vietnam in the period of heavy U.S. participation to test their criticisms in on-the-scene investigations.

Young of Ohio has been there. McGovern made a tour in the early stages of our big effort. Clark talks of going early in 1968. For most of the others, that is about it. Basically, they have been armchair critics. In at least two instances, Democratic doves are said to have resisted urgings that they go.

Though senators are supposed to be the foreign affairs specialists, the evidence at hand suggests that more Democratic governors than senators have visited Vietnam in the last 3 1/2 years.

Under staidler glare on this and many other counts, the Senate's Democratic doves may come to see McCarthy's candidacy as both blessing and curse.

WAYNE BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Start Early

Q—In July, I had trouble with my vision. My doctor said I had glaucoma and advised me to come back in four months. He didn't prescribe any treatment. Could this trouble get better without treatment?

A—If there is any doubt as to whether or not you have glaucoma, certain so-called provocative tests should be made. If these show that you have glaucoma, treatment should be started at once to prevent permanent damage to your retina.

Q—If a person has glaucoma must he have his eye taken out?

A—No. Every effort must be made to preserve as much vision in the affected eye as possible.

Q—I have had four attacks of pancreatitis, and am on a fat-poor diet. When I get an attack I have to go to the hospital. Is there anything I can take to prevent future attacks?

A—Most attacks of pancreatitis begin with pain in the upper abdomen and vomiting. When the condition becomes chronic with recurring attacks, the attacks are usually less severe and in some persons can be controlled with a diet high in carbohydrates and protein and low in fat, plus pancreatic enzyme if there is a deficiency of pancreatic function. If this doesn't work, removal of 95 per cent of the gland may be necessary.

Q—What is the best treatment for neurasthenia?

A—Before treating neurasthenia, it is necessary to determine the cause. It may be caused by depression, worry, a recent bout of an infectious disease (hepatitis, influenza or pneumonia), a chronic low-grade infection, thyroid deficiency or other disturbances of the glands of internal secretion, hookworm manifestation, anemia or a nutritional deficiency, to name a few of the possibilities. No single course of treatment would fit all of these ills.

Q—I am a boy, 19, 6-foot-2 and weigh 160 pounds. How can I put on weight without taking any drugs? I also have a protruding stomach that I want to get rid of.

A—Since your weight is very nearly ideal for your age and height you should try to maintain it rather than gain or lose. You will tend to gain as you grow older, anyway. Since your protruding abdomen is not due to obesity, you should try to correct it by strengthening your abdominal muscles. This can be done by such exercises as lying flat on the floor and slowly raising your legs. When standing erect make it a habit to pull your abdomen in.

DON MACLEAN

You Tired Too?

(Editor's Note: Mr. Childs is on vacation. During that period the Don Maclean column will be carried.)

WASHINGTON — Forgive me for taking some umbrage at recent remarks of Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz, who has attacked the press as being the "scavengers" of bad news. After all, before I turned to fiction, I used to be a reporter myself. (I thought I'd say that, before Secretary Wirtz did.)

Wirtz says he's just plain "tired" of reading about trifles such as the war in Vietnam, riots, slum problems, etc., when there are so many wonderful facets of the Great Society which we could write about. I guess, so far as the press is concerned, the labor secretary feels that things are going from bad to Wirtz.

Actually, this retreat from reality has been growing on Willard for some time. Back around Labor Day unimaginative reporters went to all the usual sources for inspiring statements about the significance of the grand holiday for the working-man.

AFL-CIO chieftain George Meany made his traditional proclamation that the period be used for somber reflection on the future of mankind. President Johnson quickly endorsed Meany's remark and added a sociological note: "We are charged with the duty to assure the rights of every American."

The exception, when it came to thought-provoking Labor Day messages, was the utterance of the Labor Department's W. Willard Wirtz, who said he thought the period was "a time for a good laugh."

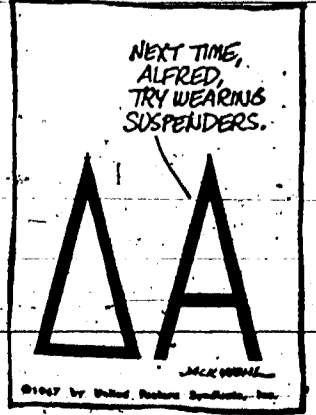

Unfortunately, three months ago, we did not recognize these early signs of Mr. Wirtz's advanced state of melancholia and escapism. Now, these subconscious factors have manifested themselves in a violent assault on the press, whom Mr. Wirtz, in his illness, sees as the villains, rather than merely the bearers of bad tidings. (Transferences such as this are not unknown in psychiatry.)

The temptation, of course, is to say to Mr. Wirtz that certain of his Labor Department programs are good for a laugh any time, particularly the restrictions against immigrant labor which caused some crops to rot for lack of harvesters. And one might add that the press would love to stop writing about Vietnam, riots, slum problems, etc., if only the administration would DO something about these things.

But any of these retorts, including one that while Wirtz may be getting "tired" of reading bad news we are getting tired of reporting it, might be needlessly unkind to a man who obviously no longer is capable of coping with real life and needs help.

Fire School To Be Held At Hazelton

HAZELTON — Robert Bopp, assistant fire chief, told Hazelton city council members of the Idaho State Fire School to be held at the city hall in the near future.

He explained that this is a formal training for firemen and will extend over a 10-week period with three-hour sessions totaling a 30-hour course.

Jim Voeller, a Pocatello engineer, representing the health department of standards for Idaho, informed the council at a meeting this week that the disposal plant in Hazelton will need enlarging in approximately three years.

It was reported that one thousand tons of chips have been purchased for the city streets. Councilmen decided to help Lions members financially in developing a tennis court at the city park.

A red blinker light has been installed at the Hazelton Grade School and will be patrolled by the city during the week to stop traffic while buses are being loaded and unloaded.

Joe Wagner, Jack Grant, and Robert Stokesberry will attend the institute for mayors and councilmen to be held at the College of Southern Idaho in Twin Falls Thursday and Friday.

Baltimore's Public Schools Condemned By National Education Association

By DAN DONAHUE
BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—The National Education Association has condemned Baltimore's public schools. Deficient, neglected and dilapidated are among the words of censure.

Though smarting from the slap, Baltimore which nurtured Edgar Allan Poe, Ogden Nash and H. L. Mencken is striking back with a campaign of its own to show "the progress and the quality of our school system."

An investigative team, said the NEA's Executive Committee, found "teachers underpaid, buildings under-equipped, schools understaffed and the school system underfinanced."

The NEA also said: "De jure segregation has been replaced by de facto segregation in the Baltimore schools, and the painful process of re-segregation has begun."

"Baltimore's fiscal authorities have consistently slashed budget requests and the cumulative effect of their short-sighted actions has caused severe problems."

Gov. Don W. Samuelson created the commission earlier by executive order, asking it to advise him on salaries for top appointed state officials.

Included would be state employees not covered by job classification schedules prepared by the state personnel commission.

Announced as members of the commission were John W. Anderson, Twin Falls; E. G. Chaffler, Idaho Falls; Lee Connelly, Moscow; Bruce A. Eckersell, Rigby; Duane B. Hagadone, Coeur d'Alene; W. Grant Kilbourne, Pocatello; Dr. James Kircher; Burley; Les Randall, Wallace; George H. Rauch, and Raymond G. Speer, both Lewiston and Lloyd E. Haight, Larry Barnes, Richard M. Chastain and J. L. Terteling, all Boise.

More than 90 per cent of the 4,600 children attending four-hour double shifts are Negroes, and 26 of the 30 elementary schools with no libraries are Negro.

And so it launched, at its convention in Miami last summer, the national campaign to persuade business and industry, teachers and parents, that Baltimore is guilty of "tragic neglect of children in the inner city schools."

The Public School Teachers Association, NEA's local affiliate which sought the action, blamed election-year politics for the city's cutting $5.1 million from a $139.5-million school budget.

City and school officials accused the teacher association of acting out of spite after losing a representative election to the rival Baltimore Teachers Union.

The NEA said it was invoking only partial sanctions. It did not censure the head of government, or urge teachers to boycott classes, as it had previously in Florida.

Reaction was immediate. "We ought not to stand idly by and let this smear take place," said Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin, a Republican noted for his liberal views and rapport with minority groups. McKeldin left office Dec. 5.

"We feel the action taken is totally unwarranted," said Dr. Thomas Goedeke, acting superintendent of schools.

"The poor in Baltimore are overwhelmingly Negro, and the affluent in Baltimore are overwhelmingly white," said the NEA report.

"It is difficult to justify the expenditure for the number of football stadiums and swimming pools for the senior high schools in white neighborhoods, while children in the slum areas attend school in firetraps."

"The poor are not poor out of choice. Negroes did not create the ghetto."

"These people have been victims of the kind of system which, as George Bernard Shaw said, forces a man to be a boot-black and then points to his occupation as proof of his inferiority."

Goedeke said three schools built in 1962, six in 1963, five in 1964 and six in 1966 were inner city schools.

with minority groups. McKeldin left office Dec. 5.

14 Named To Governor's Commission

BOISE (AP) — Fourteen men were announced Thursday as members of the governor's commission on state executive salaries.

Gov. Don W. Samuelson created the commission earlier by executive order, asking it to advise him on salaries for top appointed state officials.

Included would be state employees not covered by job classification schedules prepared by the state personnel commission.

Messiah Soloists Announced

Each holiday season for the past 10 years a large group of Magic Valley residents have banded together to present the Christmas oratorio, the Messiah by Handel.

The music of the production, to be presented Sunday, is beautiful and fitting, and has been an institution of the holiday season. This year two well known Idaho soloists will be featured, including Gordon H. Eichmann, bass-baritone from Boise.

GORDON EICHMANN well-known bass-baritone from Boise, will be making a guest appearance Sunday when the Messiah is presented at the Twin Falls Presbyterian Church.

Many local people will remember him for a recent performance with the Gem Dandies during the Barbershop Quartet concert held here. Mr. Eichmann is a native of Boise and attended San Diego State University and Washington State University, where he received a Bachelor of Arts Degree in music education.

He is a past director of the Boise Elks Glee men and has appeared in many musical productions such as "South Pacific," "Annie Get Your Gun," "Kismet," "Camelot," and the operas "La Boheme" and "Pagliacci."

He has studied voice with Lucille Lippincott and the late John Henry Phillips.

The other featured soloist, Jay Fowles, of Shoshone, is perhaps more well known in this area where his tenor voice has been heard frequently. He is also well known in Boise where he has appeared in the operas, "La Boheme" and "La Traviata." During his college years at Brigham Young University and Indiana University he sang leading roles in "The Bartered Bride," "Rigoletto," "La Boheme," "Johnny Schicchi," and "The Merry Widow."

Other soloists are Mrs. Eldon Wood, Burley; Mrs. Richard Reed, Twin Falls; Mrs. Beryl Carr, Twin Falls, and Mrs. Rex Reed, Buhl.

Roger Vincent, Filer, is directing the production. Mrs. Teala Bellini is pianist and Tom Holter, organist.

The public is invited and there will be no admission charge.

JIM FOWLES tenor from Shoshone, will be among featured soloists Sunday when the Magic Valley Council of Churches presents the annual production of the Messiah.

Saving Time

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) Alcoholic Beverage Control agents are rounding up liquor law violators in Charlotte and Mecklenburg County by telephone instead of raids.

Twenty-three persons were telephoned this week and told that warrants for their arrest had been signed, charging them with selling untaxed liquor.

"Ten of them have already come down and posted bond," said ABC Agent Henry Severs. "This method saves us time and equipment, and if some don't show up, we'll get them."

Animal Stars

About In TV

By CYNTHIA LOWRY AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Ivan Tors, who in "Daktari," "Flipper" and "Gentle Ben" has created more animal stars than most producers ever achieve with humans, plans to move into a world more dangerous than the African jungle—daytime television.

In that world of specialty programming, soap operas seem to go on forever. Then there are the reruns of old nighttime programs. And finally, there are the game and panel shows. These are the shows that, unlike the soaps, are given little time to stay around and build an audience. And it is a game show that Tors and his associates will unveil on ABC Dec. 18.

Tors' maiden daytime effort is called "Treasure Island" and claims to be played out in the most expensive "set" ever created for television—a man-made island and "lagoon"—really a pool loaded with electronic gadgets for special effects.

"Daytime television," said Sherman Adler, an executive of the production company, "is completely dominated by shows made inside studios. This one will be completely taped outside of studios."

That is important, Adler thinks, because he did some research and found that programs shot on location almost invariably received good audience ratings.

The island and lagoon were built near Palm Beach, Fla., and contributed by John MacArthur, millionaire owner of a nearby resort hotel and other real estate. It cost more than $500,000.

This has been dictated less by love of show business than a desire to promote the location and the hotel—and to help attract more show business from New York and Hollywood. Tors has been a Florida booster for several seasons and has been producing both feature movies and TV series in studios near Miami.

In a fancy setting, contestants will play a rather routine TV game—encountering obstacles, bumping into each other in boats, following clues and, finally, digging for treasure.

"It can't miss," said Adler. "It starts in winter and all those people in cold climates will just love looking at tropical Florida."

Suppose they like the palm trees and lagoon but hate the game?

"Well," said Adler, "I really don't have much time to watch TV but I think it's a great game. It will bring people to Florida and show business to Florida."

Dollar Backed By Supply Of Gold Bullion

By JOSEPH R. COYNE
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration is backing its defense of the dollar with a ready supply of $475 million in gold bullion.

The Treasury Department said Thursday it transferred that much gold from its money stock to a special fund that makes gold sales to foreign governments.

It was the largest single shift of gold in U.S. history, surpassing a $448 million movement in February 1947 to cover the original U.S. subscription to the International Monetary Fund.

The shift also dropped the monetary gold supply to its lowest level in more than 30 years.

The monetary gold stock now stands at $12.434 billion, the lowest since the $1.433 billion on July 28, 1937, after undergoing the largest weekly drop on record.

The move of $475 million in gold to the Exchange Stabilization Fund, as the special account is called, underscores U.S. determination to defend the dollar internationally from speculative attack.

President Johnson said earlier this week the attack had been "decisively repelled" at a relatively small cost in U.S. reserves.

Total U.S. reserves, including gold, convertible foreign currencies and the U.S. reserve position in the IMF, were near $15 billion at the end of October.

U.S. policy, restated immediately after devaluation of the pound, is to buy and sell gold at $35 an ounce. Any increase in price would represent devaluation of the dollar.

To help keep the price at $35, the United States covers 59 percent of all sales on the London gold market as part of a pool of seven nations.

LONDON (AP)—A bundle of feathered talent called Ted, who meows, coughs, sneezes and woff whistles, was crowned "Britain's best talker" Thursday.

Judges at the National Exhibition of Caged Birds decided the mynah's extensive vocabulary put him at the top of his class.

"Fugitive" Character Changes Pace

By CYNTHIA LOWRY AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Barry Morse, the actor who relentlessly pursued David Janssen in "The Fugitive" for five years, has gone back to his first love, the theater.

Morse, the long, lean Londoner with an impeccable public school accent, now is directing a play aiming for Broadway. He recently completed the direction of a fantasy, "Mr. Dickens of London" which will be an ABC special next Tuesday night.

Since the dramatic windup of "The Fugitive" in late August, Morse has not visited California and has no plans to return for awhile.

"It must have seemed like more, but I appeared in only about one-third of the shows," he said. "It was an actor's dream—a steady job and I knew well in advance when I was needed. Meanwhile I could be busy with other things—a one-man Dickens show and a summer repertory theatre, to mention two."

The series, he said, was helpful in giving him an identity as an actor on a national basis—"although people still have a tendency to regard me with some initial apprehension."

"And I, on the other hand, have had to be extremely careful both playing the part and talking about it. It would never do to suggest that a law enforcement officer was acting like a neurotic nut all those years."

Few viewers were aware that he was an Englishman using an American accent.

Barry and his actress wife, Sydney Sturgess maintain apartments in London—which is home base—Los Angeles and Toronto where he worked for years. A son, Hayward, is an actor in England. Their daughter, an actress, is married and lives in Canada.

The Morses have been married for 28 years and find that two active careers in one family work out very well.

"We figured out that we have really been together a total of 10 or 12 years," said Morse. "It would be impossible for us to get bored."

His combined experience as a director and a Dickens buff led to Tuesday night's show, a tour of the city in Dickens' time with Sir Michael Redgrave as Dickens.

"The most difficult thing was to find old, unchanged sections of the city—or at least camera angles—without television antennae sticking up or cars rolling into view."

Disney's Guidelines Followed In Enterprise

By BOB THOMAS AP-Movie-Television-Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The death of Walt Disney a year ago brought shock to the world and caused concern for the future of his entertainment empire.

Today the Disney enterprises continue to function and grow within guidelines Walt laid down. His brother Roy, 74, remains as titular head of the empire, but much of the decision-making is accomplished by an executive committee consisting of those who worked closely with Walt in planning film entertainment, the Disneyland park, the coming Disney World in Florida, etc.

Most committee members are 30-year veterans of the Disney operation. Two represent a new generation: Ron Miller, 34, son-in-law of Walt, and Roy E. Disney, 38, son of Roy. Miller is a Disney director, and younger Roy has been nominated for a position on the board in February.

Ron Miller is oddly cast for the role of movie producer. He looks like a professional football player, which he was. He is a handsome 6 feet 5 with a muscular frame that varies between 230 pounds, where he would like to keep it, and 265, where it has been lately. He is a Los Angeles boy, his football prowess in high school having won him a football scholarship at University of Southern California.

His performance at end of that school and the Ft. Ord team during Army service brought offers to play pro ball for the Los Angeles Rams. By then he was married to Diane Disney, Walt's oldest daughter.

"I played for a year, and then Walt offered me a job," says Miller. "He thought it would be better for the family if I stopped traveling and stayed home for a change. He was able to get me into the Directors Guild, and I started in 1958 as an assistant director on 'Old Yeller'."

Miller continued as assistant director on the "Walt Disney Presents" television hours and the "Zorro" series, then became associate producer with his father-in-law on such films as "Bon Voyage," "Tiger Walk" and "Summer Magic." In 1960 he acted as general director for the Olympic games at Squaw Valley, an assignment he especially enjoyed—he and Diane are avid skiers. They now have six children.

Roy E. Disney has been hanging around the studio since he was a toddler, but oddly enough, he didn't intend to work there.

"I was going to be an aeronautical engineer," he says. "But when I nearly flunked calculus in college, I realized that wasn't for me. I switched to an English major."

The first guests returning and ceremonies renaming a CBS theater in his honor; Radio City Christmas Show," NBC, 9-10, taped portions from the 1966 holiday program of the Music Hall theater.

Roy had worked in the studio publicity department during summer vacations, but he entered full-time entertainment "through the back door" in 1952. Jack Webb was then filming his "Dragnet" series on the Disney lot, and Roy got a job on the series as apprentice film editor.

The assignment led to a position as assistant film editor, for Disney and he worked on the nature films "Living Desert" and "The Vanishing Prairie."

He spent a year and a half in the wilds of the Rocky Mountains filming scenes for "Peril" later went to Europe where he wrote a book about the film.

After more work as assistant to Winston Hibler, producer of the nature films, Roy made a decision.

"I went into Walt's office and told him I ought to be making a film of my own," he recalls. "So he gave me the chance, and I found out how hard producing a picture can be."

His first was "The Otter and the Family," which he wrote and produced. Now he is making shows for the Sunday night television series. Roy is slight and plain-spoken, like his father and uncle. He is married and has four children.

As was true of Walt, both Miller and younger Roy enjoy their work—"I figure I'm in the most exciting business in the world," says Ron. "I'm happier'n hell," says Roy.

Since returning from Vietnam last June, Walt, 54, has been stationed at Marine Headquarters as deputy chief of staff for manpower and director of personnel.

Grow Found Innocent Of Funds Misuse

PRICE, Utah (AP) — The former president of Utah Savings and Loan Association, D. Spencer Grow, Provo, was found innocent Thursday of a charge of misapplication of $22,500 of the firm's funds.

Seventh District Court Judge S. W. Keller, Price, directed the jury to return a verdict of innocent on a motion by defense attorneys Phillip Christensen and Ford Paulson.

"The proof in this case did not sustain the charge," Keller told a packed courtroom shortly before 2:30 p.m.

The state ended its case earlier Thursday. The defense asked a motion to direct a verdict of innocent after the noon recess.

"My family and I are very grateful and appreciative that Judge Keller had the courage to rule in the manner he was convinced was right," Grow said after the trial.

The trial was moved to Price on a change of venue motion. Attorney Heber G. Ivins of American Fork had charged that Grow misapplied the funds in land dealings four years ago in Lehi, Utah.

Ivins and his assistant, George

E. Ballif, were unavailable for comment and it was not known if the state would appeal the decision.

In Provo, Utah County attorney M. Dayle Jeffs, involved earlier in the case, said it was a "most difficult and confusing issue."

Grow still faces a charge of misapplication of $34,000 from the now-defunct association. Jeffs said a ruling from Orem City Court Judge Merrill Hermanson on whether to bind over that case is pending.

Perfect Excuse
CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—An insurance executive had the perfect excuse for avoiding an overtime parking citation Thursday—the meter arrived there after he did.

The anonymous driver parked his car in front of a business at 9:30 a.m. to make a quick trip to the store. At 9:32, a city employee erected a parking meter at the space. At 9:34, a meter maid began issuing a parking ticket.

The meter maid relented after the executive explained the predicament.

Foreign Aid Bill Opposers Vow Fight
WASHINGTON (AP) — House members who led the fight to shear President Johnson's foreign-aid bill pledge to resist the Senate's effort to restore $500 million of the funds.

The Senate approved Thursday a $2.7 billion foreign-aid appropriation for the current fiscal year, compared with the $2.2 billion passed earlier by the House.

Senate-House conferees now must seek a compromise, with House sources predicting the bargaining will be tough.

The Senate voted 56 to 22 for the higher figure after brief discussion. In addition to the foreign-aid funds, the bill would provide $583 million for other overseas programs, including the Peace Corps, and $300 million for the Inter-American Bank.

The $2.7 billion package approved by the Senate allocates $2.2 billion for economic aid and $510 billion for military aid. In the House the corresponding amounts were $1.8 billion and $365 million.

Hollywood Won't Be Abolished

LOS ANGELES (AP) — City councilmen won't abolish Hollywood after all.

The possibility arose when the council's planning committee recommended rescinding a 1937 ordinance that created boundaries of the movie capital within the city of Los Angeles.

One councilman vowed that if his colleagues abolished Hollywood, he would propose the entire city of Los Angeles be renamed Hollywood.

The vote Thursday to leave Hollywood alone was unanimous.

Women's Section

Dear Abby

BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: Why do some people give the newspaper boy the run-around when he tries to collect for the paper?
 They say, "Come back tomorrow, Sonny, I don't have any change right now." And when he comes back and they answer the door, and some folks keep the poor kid standing there while they go for the money, and it takes them so long you would think they had to go to Fort Knox to get it. But just let the newspaper boy deliver the paper late once and they are on the phone in 2 minutes talking to the complaint department. Do our kids a favor, Abby, and mention this in your column.

FOR THE BOYS

DEAR FOR: Most folks don't realize that every newspaper carrier is "in business for himself." He pays for the newspaper out of his own pocket, and has to collect to get even. It's unfair to keep him coming back to collect. Our young men who have the initiative to take a paper route deserve your consideration. Won't you please have the money ready when he calls — the first time!

DEAR ABBY: I am very much in love with a young woman and she says she loves me, too. Naturally, I have marriage in mind, but I do not want to propose to her now because I am in the army, and I anticipate going overseas, and I feel that it would be unfair to her to be engaged to me under those circumstances. Am I wrong?
 IN DOUBT

DEAR IN: Yes. Ask her anyway. A girl in love would consider it a privilege, not a sacrifice to wait for her man.

DEAR ABBY: I am doing my Christmas shopping now, and I am tempted to "forget" a certain niece and nephew of mine. They are 15 and 17, and ever since I can remember their mother has picked up the telephone about the middle of January to thank me for the lovely gifts I sent her children for Christmas. This just burns me.

I have grandchildren who are 8 and 9 years old, and they write their own thank-you notes. Of course the spelling is not always perfect and the writing is sometimes difficult to read.

but at least they've written the notes themselves.

I am not the type to start family fights, but I would like to let those lazy teen-agers know how I feel.

"GOOD OLD AUNT E"

DEAR GOOD: Why don't you tell them? But don't be so hard on the teen-agers. They can't be expected to know what they haven't been taught. Their mother should have trained them years ago to write thank-you notes. And falling in this, she's as guilty as they are.

CONFIDENTIAL to Del Ray Beachcomber: Yes. See your lawyer about changing your will. Fate is what happens to you while you're making other plans.

TESTIMONY CONFLICTS

BOISE (AP) — Two psychiatrists gave conflicting testimony Thursday in the five-day-old first degree murder trial of Edward J. Quinlivan.

Quinlivan is accused of causing the June 16 fire at his Boise home which allegedly caused the July 9 death of his wife, Blanche.

Boise psychiatrist Dr. Dale Cornell testified Thursday Quinlivan appeared to have been suffering from schizophrenia the night he allegedly set the fire, but knew he was doing wrong at the time.

Dr. Walter Rapaport, Oakland, Calif., agreed Quinlivan was schizophrenic, but claimed the man could not have known he was doing wrong in starting the fire.

ASSURANCE WANTED

BOISE (AP) — The president of the Idaho State Wheat Growers Association told members Thursday that Americans want the assurance of sufficient wheat for emergencies stored on farms across the country.

Speaking at the association's state conference, Ellis Oldberg of Genesee said U. S. Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman made a mistake last year when he called for a second 15 percent allotment increase.

The mistake could have been corrected, Oldberg said, by adding an export certificate payment to the present wheat certificate program.

Rep. James McClure, R-Idaho, was to speak at a Friday banquet.

MISHAP IS FATAL

BONNERS FERRY, Idaho (AP) — Herman Sinclair 54, Bonners Ferry, died Wednesday after being struck by a Great Northern Railway wrecker four miles east of here, officials said.

The wrecker was working at a derailment site when the accident occurred, authorities said. Sinclair died in an ambulance en route to a Spokane hospital.

ARTICLES FILED

BOISE (AP) — Articles of incorporation were filed Thursday in the office of Secretary of State Pete T. Cenarrusa for Investors Development, Inc., Boise, which listed $1 million in capital stock.

Incorporators for the investment and real estate firm were Marlon F. Talbot, Selbert M. Dove and Eugene B. Chaffee, all Boise.

SPEAKER NAMED

BOISE (AP) — Col. Walter Devan, wing commander at the Mountain Home Air Force Base, was announced Friday as the speaker for the next headliner luncheon of the Idaho Press Club.

Secretary John Clark, Boise, said Devan will speak Tuesday, Dec. 12. The no-host luncheon will be at the King's Table in Boise.

Clark said Devan will discuss sonic booms and the Mountain Home Air Force Base role in the Vietnam War.

Soroptimists Sell Fruitcakes

Members of the Twin Falls Soroptimist Club are selling fruitcakes during the Christmas season to raise funds for civic and charitable projects, it was announced Thursday.

The effort is to raise $100 for clothing and meat for seven baskets to be used by needy families. The project is valley-wide, it was reported.

Fruitcakes may be purchased by contacting Mrs. R. P. Howard at 151 Second Ave. E., or by telephoning 733-3688. Cakes also may be purchased from any club member.

NOMINATION OK'D

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate confirmed today the nominations of LeRoy P. Walters to be postmaster at Moyie Springs, Idaho, and Wayne R. Guyser to be postmaster at Weiser, Idaho.

Navy Will Discharge More Than 30,000 Enlisted Men

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy, which is tying up 49 ships to free key men for Vietnam war duty, will discharge more than 30,000 enlisted men a month or two early, sources report.

The move, which reportedly will save about $18 million, apparently is part of a Defense Department drive to cut spending where possible in a bid to avoid a big supplemental money request to Congress.

The new development came to light Thursday, shortly after the Navy acknowledged 6,200 experienced petty officers and other enlisted men, chiefly from Atlantic and Pacific fleet ships, will be used for war duty. The manpower cut will be made up within a year, it said.

As the Navy explained it, the 3,700 petty officers and 2,500 other enlisted men will be sent to "meet additional personnel requirements" in Southeast Asia, to staff the battleship New Jersey—now being prepared for Vietnam war duty—and to man the new destroyer tender Puget Sound.

As a result, 49 ships will be either laid up, placed on skeleton

MAN CHARGED

BOISE (AP) — A 41-year-old man who allegedly held an Ada County sheriff's deputy captive for 30 minutes Thursday was charged with second-degree kidnapping.

John Sprague, no address listed, was charged after he allegedly held and threatened deputy Denny Wells at the Kuna dump southwest of Boise Thursday afternoon.

He was held in lieu of $2,500 bond.

PRESIDENT ELECTED

BOISE (AP) — A Nampa man, August Michaelis, is the new president of the Associated General Contractors of Idaho after his election Thursday at the organization's annual meeting.

Norm Parson was named vice president of AGC and E. Laats, Boise, was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

The contractor voted to oppose voluntary arbitration of labor disputes and contracts, the resolution was against a national AGC guideline which said earlier that a system of voluntary binding arbitration should be used in connection with labor agreement renewals.

GOVERNOR SLAMMED

BOISE (AP) — E. T. Waters, Democratic state chairman, asserted Friday that Republican Gov. Don W. Samuelson was unjustified in complaining about federal consideration of Idaho's requests for forest firefighting aid.

At a news conference earlier this week Samuelson said it appeared states with Democratic governors get more attention from the Johnson administration than those with Republican governors.

Waters said the governor was overlooking the federal grants the state does receive.

"Uncle Sam," Waters said in a statement, "spent more than $8 million to fight our 1967 flames while we still owed the federal government a fire debt of $750,466 from 1966."

DIRECTORS TO MEET

BOISE (AP) — Directors of the Idaho Crop Improvement Association will meet Dec. 12-13 in Boise. Harold Finnell, manager, announced Friday. Results of a mail ballot election of directors for the south central and southeastern districts will be announced.

Sugar Beet Growers Seek Organization

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP) — A resolution seeking the formation of an organization to represent the nationwide sugar beet industry was approved by the National Beet Growers Federation Thursday.

Some 350 sugar beet growers from nine western states also passed several other resolutions at the conclusion of their two-day convention here.

They are seeking government assistance in checking non-farm corporations that enter into agriculture.

A concern was expressed by members over a trend of non-farm corporations entering the agricultural field "for purposes other than to be complete farming enterprises dependent solely on returns of the actual operation."

The resolution pointed out that the non-farm groups "may be seeking tax advantages which are detrimental to the entire farm economy and the nation as a whole."

Dr. Schick Dies

NEW YORK (AP) — Dr. Bela Schick, 90, whose development of the test for diphtheria led to the virtual conquest of the disease, died Wednesday. Schick, a native of Hungary, developed the test in 1913. It laid the groundwork for current effective inoculations against the disease.

Cardinal Spellman Is Buried At St. Patrick's Cathedral

NEW YORK (AP) — Francis Cardinal Spellman, eulogized for his service "for God, for his country and his neighbor," was buried beneath the high altar of St. Patrick's Cathedral with the full pomp and panoply of 19 centuries of the Roman Catholic Church.

President Johnson headed the list of notables from varied faiths and many nations who assembled Thursday to render final honor to the best-known American prelate five days after he died of a stroke at 78.

The Rev. Robert I. Gannon, said in his eulogy the cardinal would be remembered "first and foremost as a faithful and devoted priest... he never tried to impress anyone—even the most exalted."

An impressive array of public figures including Johnson, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, New York Sens. Robert F. Kennedy and Jacob K. Javits and Mayor John V. Lindsay attended the services.

Also present was an imposing group of eminent churchmen and many U.N. officials, some wearing the costume of their native lands.

Outside thousands of mourners gathered on Fifth and Madison avenues and maintained a hushed solemnity in the chill and damp wind. Thousands more watched the service on television throughout the metropolitan area.

The service started with a procession of religious leaders of the many faiths clad variously in black and white cassocks, purple chasubles and academic gowns into the majestic neogothic cathedral.

Eighteen churchmen, led by the apostolic delegate to the United States, Archbishop Luigi Raimondi, and including six American cardinals, joined in concelebrating the solemn requiem Mass for the cardinal who had served as archbishop of New York since 1939.

The service, the first requiem Mass for a cardinal to be conducted entirely in English, concluded with a solemn procession down into the white Italian marble archbishop's crypt where six of his predecessors rest.

SNCC Fails To File Tax Return

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Regional officials of the Internal Revenue Service have disclosed that they have no record that the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) has ever filed an income tax return or a tax-exempt financial statement.

They also have declined to discuss the matter further.

When asked about the situation Thursday, IRS District Director A.C. Ross said only that he could not comment on it. He was then asked if he would deny the service was investigating SNCC's tax situation and auditing the tax returns of Black Power advocate Stokely Carmichael.

"No, I do not deny it," Ross said.

The Associated Press learned of the financial investigation of the militant Black Power organization and its former leader—Carmichael—through persons involved in business transactions with the group. However, except for the disclosure of the IRS records, there was no official comment.

Carmichael, whose Black Power talk and speeches opposing the U.S. policy in Vietnam have spanned much of the world in recent months, was not available. Neither could H. Rap Brown, the current SNCC chairman who succeeded Carmichael last May, be reached.

Attorney Howard Moore, Jr., who handles legal matters for SNCC in Atlanta, indicated that he was aware of the IRS actions but added: "I have no comment on what the government does."

Bill To Protect Indians' Rights

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate passed and sent to the House Thursday a bill to protect the rights of American Indians.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., chief sponsor of the bill, said it marked "the first effort to confer on reservation Indians the fundamental constitutional rights that belong to all Americans under the Bill of Rights."

AIR TAXI

The six American cardinals were James Francis McIntyre of Los Angeles, Richard Cushing of Boston, Lawrence Shehan of Baltimore, Patrick O'Boyle of Washington, John Krol of Philadelphia and John Cody of Chicago.

President Johnson, accompanied by several aides and Postmaster General Lawrence O'Brien, flew up from Washington for the service and returned when it was over.

Johnson slipped into the city so secretly that one police department bureau said, "We didn't know for sure he was coming until we heard over television that his plane had landed at Floyd Bennett Field."

The secrecy stemmed from the series of antiwar demonstrations which have taken place in Manhattan during the week.

Guest speaker was Mr. Clubb, who spoke on Lionism with special emphasis on eye conservation.

Dinner meeting for Lion club members and their wives will be held the first Monday of each month and the regular business meeting will be held on the third Monday of the month.

2:30 P.M. SUMMARY NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market widened its losses late this afternoon in fairly active trading. The Dow Jones Industrial average declined 4.39 to 877.83.

Volume for the first four hours was 7.77 million shares compared with 9.19 million Thursday. The market was scrambled in early trading but as the day wore on there was a sizable margin of losers over gainers. Declines in pivotal blue chips dragged down the industrial average. General Electric dropped 3 and Du Pont 1.

American Telephone traded at or slightly below 50. It dropped below that figure Thursday for the first time since 1966. Preweekend caution reigned, especially in view of the market's strength earlier in the week and renewed concern about possible credit-stiffening measures by the Federal Reserve.

Among the very active issues there was a mixture of strength and weakness. United Par. City Mining was the volume-leader, gaining nearly a point for a big percentage rise.

Avco jumped about 4 points. Sperry Rand 2, Bausch & Lomb 2, American Broadcasting and 2, Spartan Industries and McDonnell Douglas a point or so. Also active, General Aniline & Film, Fruehauf and Standard Oil of California lost about a point each. Continental Oil was a very active fractional loser.

Prices were generally higher. 3 P.M. QUOTATIONS NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

Business Mirror

NEW YORK (AP)—Remember the wage-price guideposts that were supposed to keep business-and-labor-playing-within noninflationary bounds, seeking increases only as permitted by greater productivity?

As used originally by President Kennedy and Johnson the guideposts were powerful weapons used more than once to roll back waves of price increases by steel and aluminum; among other industries.

Supposedly they were voluntary, but they really weren't. In violating them, a business or union risked being called unpatriotic; relations with a big customer, government, could be soured; government stockpiles of goods could be unloaded on the market to drop prices automatically.

Battered by such bludgeons, industries howled for days, and there was a much thrashing about as in a football game, but the guideposts prevailed.

What a contrast now. They are gone today. And nothing as original, or as effective, has been found to replace them.

President Johnson conceded as much this week when the administration's opposition was raised to no avail against steel price increases. "We have exercised such rights as we had," the President explained.

The rights he spoke of are those of persuasion, nothing more. And the steel industry, for its part, has exercised the right to ignore the pleas. For days now, steel prices have been percolating higher.

This week's episode also is a symbol of how out of order, how imbalanced and uncontrolled, is an economy that just a couple of years ago hummed like finely meshed machinery.

The culprit, of course, is inflation. For a while merely beat the posts. Both business and labor in the interests of national economic security, held back their price and wage demands.

Last year, however, a wage-price spiral was whipped up by the heat of an intensifying inflation that only less government spending or a tax increase could contain. The guideposts were dropped.

The explanations given by the violators was that the lack of government restraint in spending, and its own acceptance of agreements that exceeded the guideposts, put unbearable pressure on both business and labor.

For many months, and even up to recent months, the administration has hinted that some form of replacement for guideposts was being considered, even though it still refused to believe they couldn't be resurrected.

No effective substitute seems to have been found and inflation is drawing a choke-strain around the economy and time is running out.

Prices are rising, mortgages are almost prohibitively high, the value of the dollar is being challenged abroad.

Until the administration cuts heavily into its planned expenditures, Congress declines to raise taxes.

The other option, if it can be called that, is to invoke controls on wages, prices, rents and credit. But this, too, demands cooperation from Congress and is politically unpopular.

Parker Resigns So Colts Can Add Player For Pennant Drive

BALTIMORE (AP) — Jim Parker, an outstanding National Football League offensive lineman for a decade, retired Thursday so the Baltimore Colts could activate a healthy replacement in their championship stretch drive. The retirement is effective immediately.

Beban Frets About Status In 2 Drafts

NEW YORK (AP) — Gary Beban came to town Thursday to pick up the 1967 Heisman Trophy and talked about two drafts.

As a senior at UCLA, the nation's most outstanding college football player can be sure he'll be snapped up quickly in one draft — the pro football kind. He can only hope, however, that he won't be grabbed right away in the other draft — the military variety.

"Right now, I have a student deferment and I'm on a waiting list to get into a reserve unit, but my status is the same as any young man in the country," said the brilliant quarterback, who was honored at the Heisman dinner later in the day.

"I don't know whether I'll be drafted as soon as I graduate or not. I don't speak to my draft board, and they don't speak to me. The only unfortunate thing about the draft is it leaves you so uncertain."

"If I'm drafted, though, I won't complain. You can't take from this country without giving back. It's too tremendous a country not to give back something."

As for the football draft, the 21-year-old Californian is looking forward to it because he wants to take a crack at pro ball.

"I've been in athletics all my life," he said, "and I feel I have to try it. You try it and you're not good enough, that's it. But if you never try it, you'll never know."

"It probably is one of the most unselfish moves ever done in sports," Coach Don Shula said of Parker's voluntary action taken because of an aching right knee.

Shula explained that only the 40 players on the roster in Sunday's game will be eligible for any playoffs for the championship. The Colts are leading in their Coastal Division with two scheduled games remaining.

Parker's knee has been bothering him since the second game of the season and his place at right tackle has been taken by Sam Ball, a second-year man from Kentucky.

Wisconsin Man Loses Left Leg

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — University of Wisconsin sophomore football safetyman Melvin A. Walker was described in good condition Thursday after having his left leg amputated just below the knee Wednesday night.

The 20-year-old native of Institute, W.Va., lost the leg when gangrene developed from complications of an injury received in the Minnesota-Wisconsin game here Nov. 26 and subsequent surgery.

He was described by Wisconsin assistant coach Roger French as in good spirits. "His attitude is far beyond what you would expect in a situation like this," French said. "Mel's terrific; he harbors no bitterness."

TAKES POINT LEAD

BOSTON (AP) — Winger Johnny Bucyk became the highest scorer in Boston National Hockey League history by firing his 17th and 18th goals of the season Thursday night in the Bruins' 3-1 victory over the New York Rangers.

Shula said Parker came to him two weeks ago and said "if he were called upon to play, he wouldn't be able to do the job" and wanted to retire.

Shula said he advised Parker to wait until this week after which no player changes could be made. "Yesterday he went all out and after practice came to me and said 'coach, I can't do it.'"

Shula said he probably will reactivate Dale Mermelaar, who has been on the reserve squad, for Sunday's game against New Orleans. Mermelaar is in his ninth pro season.

"Deep down in my heart I know I can't help the team," Parker said. "Anyone could do a better job."

Parker was voted a NFL All-Star at both guard and tackle after coming to the Colts in 1957 from Ohio State, where he was a linebacker. He was drafted first and he said this was a big thrill even than playing on the Colt championship teams of 1958 and 1959.

Asked about giving up an opportunity at sharing in the lucrative spoils of another championship and playoff against the American Football League winner, Parker replied "I never thought about it."

"Money is important, but I would feel worse if it was thrown away on account of me," said the 275-pound Parker. "So why should I be selfish?"

The 33-year-old giant said his knee trouble has been described as an arthritic condition and he first was affected by it two years ago when he was clipped.

In the game against the Philadelphia Eagles Sept. 24 he hurt it again while sliding on pass protection without being hit.

"I'm in a lot of pain," he said. "Sometimes I get up in the middle of the night and drive around for a couple of hours."

Fred Trenkle's hot outside shooting plus the off-the-bench scoring punch of Ron Adams and Boo Glover carried the College of Southern Idaho Golden Eagles to a revenge 78-61 victory over Western Wyoming of Rock Springs Thursday night. Twice Trenkle's hot jumping shooting from the corner got CSI going, at the beginning of each half, while Glover teamed with the Shoshone sophomore to break a zone press and defense that gave the Eagles fits in the early minutes of the second half.

Adams, a sophomore from Spokane, had his best night, rebounding and on defense and he potted 15 points. But largely it was Trenkle's night. The 6-3 Shoshone man hit the first two buckets of the game as CSI spun into the lead and appeared pulling away at halftime — although the score was only 31-21. Coach Bud Nelson's Spartans came out in the second half with its zone and some five-for-five field goal shooting by Harrison McClendon. The Spartans whittled away eight of the 10-point lead but never could quite pull even.

Almost an exact replay of CSI's catch-up effort at Rock Springs in the 72-67 defeat 10 days ago. Credit for blunting the rally was shared by Trenkle, who hit four — for four from the corner and Glover who came off the bench to break the zone press with three quick buckets. Right after that Mark Rich, New York, stole the ball three times. By then CSI was back on top by 11 and with 11 minutes left it was all over. The Eagles crested at 64-42 and coasted in.

Western Wyoming led only once during the game, Rufus Woods, Chicago, hitting for a 2-0 margin. Trenkle erased that with two buckets but Woods tied it. Tom Bush's free throw was followed by a Ples Vann field goal and the Eagles were ahead to stay with just under three minutes gone.

Woods, who wound up with 17, got most of them in the first half and kept Western Wyoming in contention. But Glover and Tom Bush sparked a CSI flurry late in the half for the 10-point lead.

Wyoming's zone press never bothered CSI in the second half but the zone did. The Eagles couldn't penetrate it and missed with long one-handers. Little Ernie Dunn got four quick points and then McClendon took over with his five — straight effort. With 2:57 gone McClendon's second bucket cut it to 33-21. Trenkle hit twice and Bush got a tip-in but those three were sandwiched around McClendon field goals and the margin stayed at two points.

Then Glover came into the game. He broke the press for two buckets and got an assist feed off to Bush for another. Trenkle added another long jumper and CSI was back on top by 10. Woods and Dunn got three Spartan points to reduce the margin to seven again before Bush, Rich, Glover and Trenkle all got unanswered points for a 57-40 margin.

CSI, now with a 4-1 record, will travel to Boise Tuesday and return home Saturday for a date with nationally-touted Eastern Utah.

USC Has 3 All-Americans; Simpson, Beban, Csonka, Keyes Compose Backfield

By TED SMITS
Associated Press Sports Editor
NEW YORK (AP) — Three stars from the nation's No. 1 college football team, the University of Southern California, including the peerless O. J. Simpson, head the football All-America announced Thursday by The Associated Press.

Ron Yary, offensive tackle, and Adrian Young, a linebacker, and fellow Trojans from the national championship eleven, joined Simpson, one of the greatest of modern running backs, on the first team.

The only other school to place more than one man on the first team was Notre Dame, represented by Kevin Hardy, 270-pound defensive end, and Tom Schoen, a defensive back.

Two players are repeaters from the 1966 all-America: Wayne Meylan, Nebraska, middle guard, and Frank Loria, Virginia Tech, defensive back.

The team was selected on the basis of recommendations from the top Ten AP football boards in each of the eight National Collegiate Athletic Association districts.

Not since 1946 has there been such unanimity on the All-America backfield. That was the year of Army's Felix "Doc" Blanchard and Glenn Davis, Georgia's Charley Trippi, and Notre Dame's Johnny Lujack.

In 1967 it is Gary Beban of UCLA, the Heisman Trophy winner, as quarterback; Leroy Keyes, Purdue's versatile halfback; Larry Csonka, Syracuse's great, 230-pound fullback; and Simpson, sometimes known as "Orange Juice," whose real name is Orenthal James, and who scored 11 touchdowns and threw three scoring passes. Simpson and Keyes are juniors, the other two seniors.

Beban, a 6-foot, 191-pound clutch performer, led UCLA to a 23-5-2 record over three seasons and in 1967 scored 11 touchdowns, passed for eight, and ran up 1,586 yards total offense.

His efforts put him in fifth place on the all-time collegiate total offense list with 5,197 yards, back of Virgil Carter, Brigham Young; Johnny Bright, Drake; Jerry Rhone, Tulsa; and Steve Spurrier, Florida.

Keyes, 6-foot-3 and 199 pounds, who still has a year to play at Purdue, led all college scorers with 19 touchdowns and 114 points. He set the Purdue single-game rushing mark with 225 yards against Illinois, and against Minnesota he scored three touchdowns through a defense that had allowed only six in seven previous games.

Csonka broke almost every Syracuse offensive record set by such greats as Jim Brown, Ernie Davis, Jim Nance and Floyd Little, and wound up his career only 66 yards short of 3,000 despite a hand injury that handicapped him in the final three games.

Among his Syracuse records are: most rushing yards for one game, 216; most rushing yards for one season, 1,127; and most rushing yards for career, 2,934.

As for Simpson, Al Davis, general manager of the Oakland Raiders of the American Football League, succinctly describes him: "He's so explosive, nothing can stop him from greatness. He has everything a great back needs."

Simpson was the nation's rushing leader with 1,415 yards despite missing one full game and part of another with injuries, and almost single-handedly beat both Notre Dame and UCLA with second-half explosions.

Once the test of a fleet halfback was that he could do 100 yards in 10 seconds even. But not Simpson. He does 9.4, and is a member of Southern California's world-record 40-yard relay team.

The South contributes both the first team offensive ends, Dennis Homan of Alabama and Ron Sellers of Florida State. Another southerner, Edgar Chandler of Georgia, is at offensive tackle along with Yary of USC, and at offensive guard are Garry Cassells, Indiana, and Rich Sotter, Houston.

Bob Johnson, 6-4 and 225 pounds, the keystone performer of one of the finest Tennessee teams in years, is at offensive center.

Along with Hardy of Notre Dame, at defensive end, is Ted Hendricks of Miami. The first team defensive tackles are Dennis Byrd of North Carolina State and Greg Pipes of Baylor.

Meylan is a repeater at middle guard, but recognition was given to Oklahoma's fine middle guard, Granville Liggins, by placing him in one of the line-backer posts. Other linebackers are Young, the Trojan, and Bill Hobbs of Texas A&M.

Dick Anderson of Colorado rounds out the defensive backfield which includes Schoen of Notre Dame and Loria of Virginia Tech.

Castleford Rallies Past Kimberly

KIMBERLY — The Castleford Wolves, trailing 15-0 after the first three matches, wound up with three straight pins Tuesday night to claim a tight 30-27 wrestling victory over the Kimberly Bulldogs.

Castleford heavyweight Wright capped the come-from-behind effort when he won with a pin on the last event of the evening.

Results of the matches, Kimberly men listed first, include: 98 pounds, Johnson pinned Kelly; 106 pounds, Ginder pinned Reinhold; 115 pounds, Murphy pinned Ripa; 123 pounds, Moore was pinned by Whitely; 130 pounds, Dodge was pinned by Welch; 136 pounds, Ledbetter drew with Wheeler; 141 pounds, Bourn was decided by Reinhold; 148 pounds, Feldhuston pinned Shafer; 157 pounds, Shewmaker pinned Hepworth; 168 pounds, Klimes was pinned by Frey; 183 pounds, Steel was pinned by Parkson, and heavyweight, Ethridge was pinned by Wright.

Honors Come To Raiders' Lamonica

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Honors finally have come doubly to Daryle Lamonica, Oakland Raiders quarterback who was named Associated Press Offensive Player of the Week in the American Football League at the same time he became the league's No. 1 passer.

It's been a long climb for the onetime Notre Dame star, who was an unsung backup man for Jack Kemp on the Buffalo Bills for four seasons.

He was acquired by Oakland last February in a trade which he said turned out to be "a happy, pleasant surprise."

Taking command as the Raiders' starter, he has led the team to a 10-1 record and the brink of its first Western Division title.

Last Sunday he completed 21 of 34 passes for 349 yards and four touchdowns as the Raiders downed the second-place San Diego Chargers, 42-21, for a 1½-game lead with only three left to play.

Sunday's performance put Lamonica in top spot in the league with 176 completions in 346 attempts for 2,555 yards and 26 touchdowns this season.

"I always felt my day was coming," said Lamonica. "My ultimate goal has always been to be a No. 1 quarterback, no matter how long it took."

After four seasons polishing the Buffalo bench, the young man from Fresno, Calif., finds the contrast gratifying.

Arizona Claims Third Victory

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — The University of Arizona defeated Northern Arizona University 82-74 in Tucson Thursday night as the Wildcats broke away to their fastest start in the last three years of basketball.

Bill Davis set a season scoring high as he hit 28 points for the Wildcats. The win is the third of the season for Arizona against no defeats.

The Wildcats had no easy time of taking revenge over a double loss to Northern Arizona last season. The Cats led by five points at the half and every time they pulled away in the second half the hard pressing Loggers cut the margin in lead.

Dick Williams scored 17 for the Lumberjacks. Northern Arizona is now 1-1 for the season.

Starr And Gabriel Headed For Halo Or Horns In Crucial Test

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The quarterbacks generally get the fame—or the blame in a losing cause—in football.

So it will be Saturday when Bart Starr leads the Green Bay Packers against Roman Gabriel and Los Angeles in a vital game for the Rams in the National Football League title race.

There's a little something extra going, however, in the case of the teams' fullbacks, Dick Bass, the little scooter of the Rams, and Ben Wilson of Green Bay.

Wilson moved up when Jim Taylor switched to New Orleans and Jim Grabowski went out of action with injuries.

Only 10 others have hit or passed the figure.

"It's a big game for us," he continued. "Every game is. The more you win the more you want to win."

Said Coach Vince Lombardi, "Ben has done a good job. I think we've got more out of him than anyone expected. I've never had a fullback quite like him. Jim Taylor was powerful but he was also quick. Ben makes more than 200 yards and that's light for him."

Bass, at 5-10 a chunky, extra-

The Bluejays then pulled within four points, 81-77, with one minute left. In the final seconds the teams matched points until at seven seconds Roger Deter converted a pair of free throws to make it 87-81.

Burley FHA Members To Sell UNICEF Cards On Saturday

BURLEY — The Burley High School chapter of Future Homemakers of America will sell UNICEF greeting cards in the Burley post office Saturday. The project is part of a national project of the organization, according to Ronda Harney, chapter president, and Mrs. Helen Morgan, adviser. All proceeds go to the United Children's Fund which helps mothers and children in 117 countries.

High School FHA Chapter president and Mrs. Helen Morgan is the adviser. UNICEF (formerly the United Nations' International Children's Emergency Fund) is now the United Nations' Children's Fund furnishing aid which is given only upon the request of governments, to encourage those countries to undertake programs that will help the people help themselves. The aid takes various forms. Basically, it consists of the equipment and supplies not available locally, that are essential for medical services, disease control, nutrition, social services, education and vocational training. It includes transportation and demonstration of equipment necessary to train local personnel in vital fields, as nurses and other health workers, midwives, teachers, nutritionists and social service workers. Campaigns are launched against malaria, tuberculosis, trachoma, and other diseases attacking children. For sound nutrition countries are being helped to stimulate production of safe, low-cost milk, develop other protein rich foods for children, and train workers for nutrition education. UNICEF trains teachers and teachers set up vocational training for boys and girls. For better family life, countries are calling on UNICEF to start day-care centers, mothers' clubs to teach modern child-rearing, homemaking and to train child welfare workers. UNICEF is now aiding children and mothers in 117 countries. The Burley Representative for UNICEF is Mrs. Paul Tudlow.

Glenns Ferry Interchanges Are Studied

GLENN'S FERRY—Bill Sachl and Dean Tisdale from the State Highway Department met with the Glenns Ferry City Council Tuesday to study the council's recommendations concerning the Interstate 80 interchanges at Glenns Ferry.

The council requested the two men to check with the State Park Department on a possible route to the contemplated Three Island State Park.

Glenn Buettner, electrical engineer from Boise, was authorized to make necessary repairs to the water pump controls. He estimated the cost at approximately $800.

The Council approved a building permit for Al Luna for $114,000 and a one-inch water meter and sewer hook-up for the Covina Apartments he is constructing.

Brent Taylor and Milford Fletcher of the Glenns Ferry Lions Club discussed possibilities of a beautification project. They proposed a playground and park combination in the southeastern part of town, suggesting that grass be planted on the two-acre plot.

The council felt that the city water for irrigating this much grass would be too much of a requirement, and suggested possibly a grass strip around the border might be maintained. The council suggested that the Lions might plan on a portion of Hull Memorial Park for its activities in some improvement.

The council considered the proposal of Johnson-Underkoffler & Briggs, consulting engineers, concerning refinements of the proposed sewage treatment lagoon system.

Mechanical aeration was suggested for the ponds to prevent excess algae growth. In a hot summer as just experienced in Southern Idaho, problems have developed in some such projects of the growth of duckweed, as well as odor problems.

The State Health Department has for this reason suggested the aeration be included in the plans. The expense of this aeration would be no more than the original plan, and could be less expensive, since the ponds would be smaller than had been expected, it was noted.

The council renewed the beer licenses for Johnny's Bar, Joe's Place, Moose Lodge, South Side Market, DeRail, Meserole's Market, Carl's Market, Hansen's Cafe, and The Merc.

It also renewed the auditing contract with Rife, Wilson and Przybylski for 1967-68; approved bills of $2,243; approved Ordinance No. 279 providing for the sale of sewer bonds; moved to revise the city code governing liquor license applications to bring it in line with the State Liquor Code.

Wood River Soil District Has Awards Event

Wood River Soil District held its annual awards event recently in Shoshone. The event was held at the Shoshone Chamber of Commerce and Bergin Funeral Chapel. The awards were presented to the winners of the annual soil conservation contest. The winners were: first place, Shirley Gaskill; second place, Mrs. Robert Gaskill; and third place, Mrs. Wanda Paulson. The contest was held to promote soil conservation and to recognize the efforts of the district's members.

Gov. Samuelson also presented the Lincoln Grassman of the Year award. The 1967 award was presented to Pete Arrossa. Alternates were Oscar Korman and Duane Wolverton. The 1968 Grassman of Year awards also were presented. These winners were Richard Blincoe and Martin Jauregui, Pete Arrossa and C. D. (Sid) Lezamiz, alternates.

Another award was made. This time Mrs. Robert Gaskill, Shoshone, presented a portrait of Gov. Samuelson to the governor. Mrs. Gaskill made the portrait from a picture of the governor.

Also during the evening poems were given by David G. Mitchell, Shoshone, and Gene Kling and Claudia Reynolds, both Dietrich. Vocal numbers were given by the Richfield High School Chorus and the Shoshone High School Chorus.

Featured speaker during the evening was Gov. Samuelson. He said research is the "key which will unlock the door" to full utilization of Idaho's natural resources.

"We must," said Gov. Samuelson, "have a farighted and action-filled program. Conservation is dynamic, yet it has but one goal—to conserve and manage natural resources so that we can use them intelligently over and over again to improve the quality of life for people—all of our people."

"Research time and time again has provided dramatic evidence of its ability to aid in improving the principles and technology for management, development and protection of our natural resources."

"The future demands for food and fiber make it absolutely mandatory that the pace be quickened. With its rich potential, Idaho simply cannot afford to miss its golden opportunity to develop fully its enormous resources."

Growers supplying company territories at Twin Falls and Mini-Cassia (Paul) received $11.25 per ton, compared with $10.50 last year. Farmers in South-eastern Idaho and Northern Utah supplying the company's Lewiston, Utah, plant received $11.50 a ton, 75 cents better than a year ago.

In southwestern Idaho, Amalgamated's Nysa and Nampa factory districts made first payments averaging $9.90 per ton, about the same as last year. Beets in this area are valued on the basis of each grower's sugar content, individually—not a district average as the others are—and the payment basis varies from man to man.

Company general agriculturalist, H. A. Elcock said the comparable, or higher, basis of the first 1967 crop checks was established in the face of a significant reduction in the current crop's sugar content.

"We were able to hold the line, or actually increase the amount, for two reasons," he explained. "Company net returns from sugar sales were higher in our 1967 fiscal year which ended Sept. 30, and the 1967 sugarbeet purchase contract itself was improved."

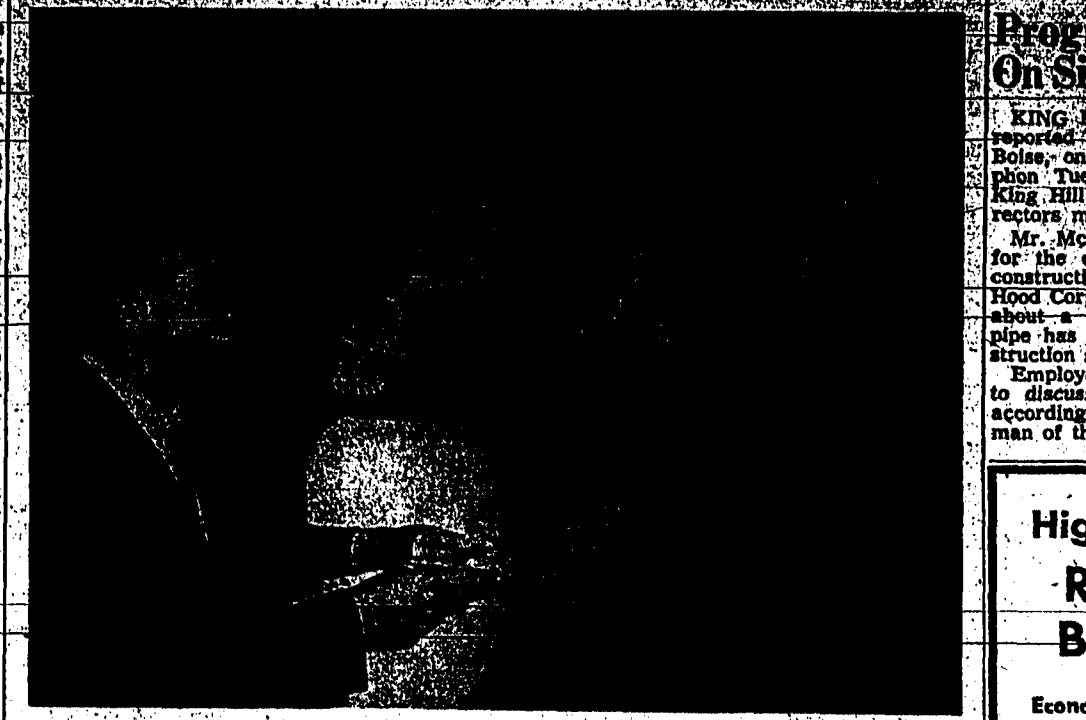

The company said this week's payments applied to deliveries made on or before Oct. 31. Late this month, more checks will be issued for beets received through Nov. 16, and in early December, a third mailing will cover final deliveries.

The initial payment on each sugarbeet crop typically represents about 85 per cent of the total company purchase price. However, as net returns are a part of the formula, the final computation waits a full year until all the beets have been processed and all the sugar has been sold.

Blaine, Camas and Gooding Soil and Water Conservation districts serve as technical advisers to the Resource Area Committee.

Progress Made On Siphon Work

KING HILL — Progress was reported by Don McCarter, Boise, on the Glenn Ferry Siphon Tuesday night when the King Hill Irrigation District directors met.

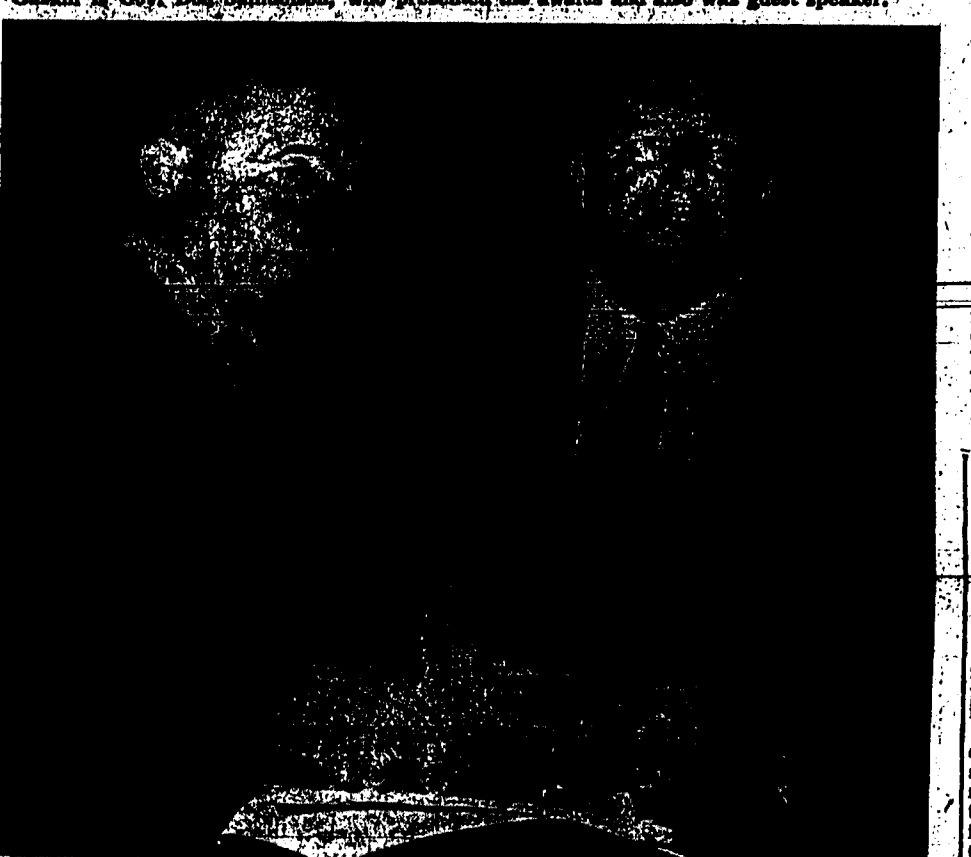

Mr. McCarter is the engineer for the district and the work construction is being done by Hood Corp., Boise. He says about a third of the siphon pipe has been laid at the construction site, west of King Hill. Employees met with the board to discuss working conditions, according to Don Flock, chairman of the board.

RECEIVING AWARD AS 1967 Lincoln County Grassman of the Year from Gov. Don Samuelson is Pete Arrossa, Shoshone. Mr. Arrossa received the award during the Wood River Soil and Water Conservation District's annual awards event recently in Shoshone.

$15 Million Is Initial Payment For '67 Beet Crop

The primary market for beet sugar produced in the three states is the population-heavy Midwest. In the next 12 months, Amalgamated will ship roughly 5,000 carloads of the finished product in bag and bulk to places like Chicago, Minneapolis, Des Moines and Kansas City. Final settlement on the 1968 crop was made just about two weeks ago, and it also represented progress in the form of more money for farmers.

The 1968 beet prices increased for the second straight year in all company served districts and were the highest in history at Nysa and Nampa.

Beet values vary by district because of differences in sugar content. However, areas that have lower sugars frequently produce higher beet tonnage per acre, so individual farm results depend largely upon the grower's skill and determination.

Devaluation Will Affect Farm Exports

By OVID A. MARTIN AP Farm Writer WASHINGTON (AP)—Devaluation of the British pound will adversely affect some American exports to Britain, principally less essential items, the Foreign Agriculture Service predicts.

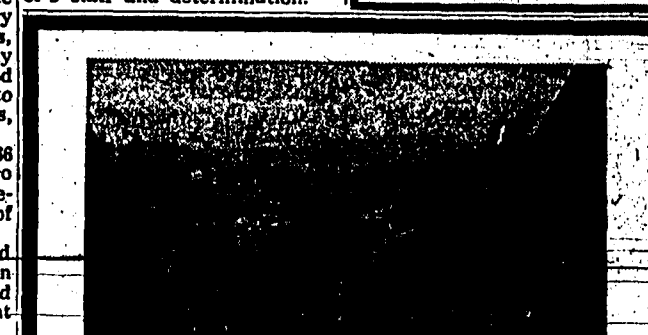

Exports of farm products might be hurt less than some manufactured products, it said in a report.

Because of the recent devaluation, the pound buys less in the American market because it takes more pounds to pay for a given product than previously.

In 1966, this country's exports to the United Kingdom totaled nearly $1 billion worth of agricultural commodities.

The service said that the British most likely will cut back on nonessential commodities first. Thus, it said, U. S. agricultural exports should not feel the impact of devaluation to the same extent as other items.

That's what the farmers of America are doing. And they're doing it with fewer farms, less land and fewer farm hands. How? By utilizing the important technological advances available, scientific farm planning, and long-term mortgage credit.

The Federal Land Bank has been a leader in the farm mortgage field since its inception in 1917. We have served agriculture in a real and important way. We are proud to be a member of this important team.

U.S. Health Team On Alert For Hoof And Mouth Disease

By OVID A. MARTIN WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department said today its animal health team is alert for any outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease among livestock in this country.

Officials said they are keeping close tab on a serious outbreak of the disease in Great Britain because the world's increasing mobility increases the chances of the malady being spread to disease-free areas.

The department maintains personnel at ports of entry to guard against the introduction of these and other diseases from other countries. In addition, local farm officials and veterinarians are on the alert for possible cropping up of the disease in this country.

The department is ready to move at a moment's notice to quarantine any affected farm and livestock.

Officials said the outbreak of the disease in this country could bring great loss to the nation's multi-billion-dollar livestock industry with a resulting shortage and high meat prices.

The last time the disease appeared in this country was in 1929. But there were serious occurrences in Canada in 1951 and in Mexico in 1946.

This country relies heavily on a legal bar against the importation of livestock and meats from areas where the disease exists.

Primarily a malady of cattle and swine, foot-and-mouth disease also infects other cloven-footed animals, including sheep, goats, deer, antelope and buffalo. The disease is widespread in Europe, Asia, Africa and South America. Humans are rarely infected by the disease.

Under "favorable" conditions, the virus causing the disease may remain infectious for long periods in animal carcasses, by products, straw, bedding, and even pastures. It can be readily spread by contaminated animals, persons, vehicles, and materials that bring the virus in contact with susceptible animals.

Wood River Resources Unit To Meet

SHOSHONE—There will be a meeting of the Wood River Resources Area Committee at 8 p.m. Dec. 12 at the courthouse in Halley.

This committee, as originally declared, has been organized to study and take such action as may be appropriate toward solutions to the problems which affect Blaine, Camas, Lincoln and Gooding counties. Water and soil resources, flooding problems, and a host of other resource problems are considered.

At the Dec. 12 meeting, old business may include discussion of the proposed Boulder Flats reservoir and dam problems. Boulder Flats is not yet a dam.

There may one day be a reservoir and a dam there if the studies indicate it will be feasible and if the benefits to be derived are adequate to make the expense justifiable.

New business will include a discussion on recent land law revision to be conducted by William T. Mabbitt, Bureau of Land Management, Shoshone.

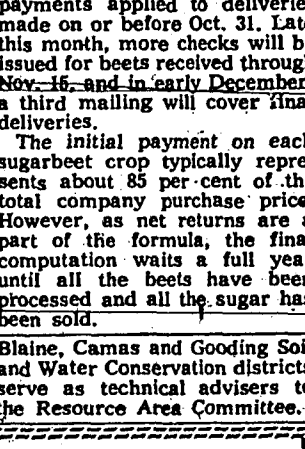

Don Fredericksen, Gooding, heads the Wood River resource Area Committee. Wood River Soil and Water Conservation district is represented by Charles J. Johnston, Corwin Silva and Harold Huyser. All other interested persons are invited.

Soil Conservation personnel who assist the Wood River, Blaine, Camas and Gooding Soil and Water Conservation districts serve as technical advisers to the Resource Area Committee.

Growers Have Annual Meet

More than 300 bean growers from throughout Magic Valley attended the 43rd annual Bean Growers Warehouse Association stockholders convention this week at the National Guard Armory, Twin Falls.

Highlighting the meeting was discussion of the group's financial status and problems of bean marketing. Giving the financial report was Raymond Myrick, representing the Jacobson, Jentzsch, Severson and Jones, Walla Walla, Wash., Bean Growers' accounting firm. Mr. Myrick told the group that despite the low crop year, the firm still is a million-dollar business.

Harold Bersagle, Denver, president of the Outwest Bean Inc., marketing association for Bean Growers, told the group how the marketing association began and some of the problems in bean marketing. He said new methods of processing beans for the consumers is one major item that needs exploring.

Also talking on the bean marketing issue was Larry Mertes, Denver, general manager of Outwest Bean Inc. He said most of the pinto beans shipped out of Magic Valley are going to the South and Southwest. Southern California, he said, is a good marketing area for Pinto beans.

Great Northern beans are being marketed in the North, Midwest and in the New York area. Most of the exports consist of Great Northern beans, although some countries are requesting Pintos.

John Gentry, Twin Falls, general manager of Bean Growers, said that the biggest problem in marketing beans is competition. This is the reason for the low bean prices, he explained.

Also speaking was George Nilsen, Spokane, Spokane Bank for Cooperatives.

During the business session of the convention three directors were re-elected. They were M. R. Cothran, and Harold Atkins, both Buhl, and Carl D. Irwin, Kimberly. They were re-elected to three-year terms.

HAROLD BERSAGLE
Denver, president of Outwest Bean Inc., marketing association for Bean Growers Warehouse Association, spoke on the problems of bean marketing during Bean Growers annual meeting earlier this week in Twin Falls.

Delegates Report
FILER — Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Thomas, delegates to the State Grange Convention held in Idaho Falls, reported on the convention at the Grange meeting in the Grange Hall.

Plans were made for the annual Christmas party to be held Dec. 15. Members are asked to bring pies for refreshments and gifts for a gift exchange.

Craig Dunlap reported on a recent farm sale. Mr. and Mrs. Wayne McCandless served refreshments.

WEEDS COSTLY
Estimates indicate that weeds cost U.S. farmers $5 billion annually since they increase the cost of labor and equipment, reduce yield and contaminate crops.

Threshing Of Beans To Cost More In 1968

Increased operating costs combined with decreasing income caused Magic Valley custom bean threshermen meeting at the Twin Falls County Farm Bureau office, to approve a boost in threshing prices for contract beans in 1968.

Delbert Clampitt, Kimberly, who served as chairman for the meeting, and other representatives pointed out that costs of new combines, repairs and labor have doubled in the past 25 years, but that there has been no increase in the price of threshing during that time.

In the meantime the price of contract beans to the farmer has increased, it was pointed out, and seed companies have developed beans which are more delicate to thresh and cause slower, more careful operation.

Suggested price approved by threshermen attending the meeting will be 70 cents per 100 pounds with an allowance of 5 per cent for dirt.

Clampitt said he expected other bean threshermen who were unable to attend the meeting would follow the suggested change.

Attending the meeting and approving the increase were: Clampitt, Robert Niven, Lanny Wooten, Dick Irwin, Larry Irwin, Johnathan Alldritt, J. O. Cox Jr., H. D. Gardner, Louis Bulcher and Ralph Cox, all Kimberly; Louis E. Reinke, Rodney Requa, Ellis Fuller, Les Jones, Harry Rayl, B. L. Patrick, Ron Patrick, Dave Lawrence and Glen C. Davis, all Twin Falls; Harold Bulcher, Jerome; David Morris, Eden, and Max Galley and C. W. Hollifield, Hansen.

National Grange Aide To Talk Here

Grange members from six Magic Valley counties have been invited to attend a meeting at 8 p.m. Monday in Twin Falls to hear an official and well-known speaker from the National Grange organization.

Tom Speedy of the local Grange said all interested persons of the local area are welcome to attend the Monday meeting. Invitations have gone to Granges in Minidoka, Cassia, Lincoln, Jerome and Gooding counties as well as Twin Falls County, to hear an address by Harry L. Graham, legislative representative of the National Grange since 1963. Mr. Speedy said he is one of the top speakers of the Grange organization and a noted authority on agricultural legislation, programs and problems.

State Grange Master Ernil S. Jerome, Meridian, will accompany Mr. Graham to Twin Falls and also will attend the Monday meeting in the local Grange Hall. Refreshments will be served following the meeting.

Mr. Graham is well-known nationally and internationally as a representative of the Grange. He has represented that the grange before Congress and served as a consultant to the Department of State for the conference on food and agricultural organizations of the United Nations in Rome. He also represented the Grange in an international agricultural conference which has been held in Washington, D.C., Rome, London and Mexico City.

Mr. Graham was also appointed to the agricultural committee of the National Planning Association and has served on the advisory board of the U.S. Department of Agriculture in various capacities including wildlife and rural area development. He is a native of Illinois and has held various positions in that state and in Indiana including editor of the Indiana Grange News. His education includes studies at Cornell University, Garrett Seminary, Evanston, Ill., and Ithaca College, Ithaca, N.Y.

GROWING PRODUCTION
Gross production of fruits, berries and grapes in the United States is expected to reach 14.3 million short tons by 1970—about double the 7.5 million-ton level of the past few years.

Production Of 3 Area Cows Listed

Performance records of Registered Holstein cows in two areas herds have been listed in an official production testing report from Holstein-Friesian Association of America. Along with milk and butterfat content, levels of solids-not-fat (SNF) output are given for individual animals.

The Holstein testing program includes the capability for recording the SNF nutrients, such as protein, lactose and minerals found in milk. This solids-not-fat production is credited to the lactation records.

Since 1962, total nutrient testing has provided Holstein breeders with another selection tool for herd improvement. It is also a useful measure of milk's food value for dairy processors and homemakers.

The animals and their actual production levels are:

Jewel Stockland 5473490, a 4-year-old Registered Holstein, has credits of 20,960 pounds milk, 754 pounds butterfat and 1,774 pounds solids-not-fat in 385 days; Dora Piebe Four Stars 4869816, a 7-year-old, had produced 18,820 pounds milk, 714 pounds solids-not-fat and 1,620 pounds butterfat in 316 days.

Production sampling and testing procedures were supervised by the University of Idaho in cooperation with official Holstein breed improvement program.

Consumption Of Red Meat On Increase

RENO — Consumption of red meat in the United States has continually been on the increase, according to William C. (Bill) Behrens, Cooperative Extension livestock specialist at the Max C. Fleischmann College of Agriculture, University of Nevada, Reno.

This, he points out, has made us the largest producer and consumer of meat of any country in the world.

According to recent statistics supplied by the Western States Meat Packers Association, says Behrens, "each and every U.S. citizen consumes on the average of 170.5 pounds of red meat per year. This breaks down to 104 pounds of beef, 4.8 pounds of veal, 4 pounds of lamb and 58 pounds of pork."

The Western Meat Packers Association, points out Behrens, credits much of the fact that we are such a meat-eating nation to our system of federal, state, county and municipal meat inspection systems.

Because of these systems the association notes, we in the U.S. have the most wholesome and safest meat supply in existence. Along with this goes the necessary facilities for production, slaughter, storage, cutting and merchandising of meats.

Mel Claar Is Named To Hickman Hall Of Fame

BOISE—M. C. "Mel" Claar, secretary of the Idaho Wool Growers' Association since 1928, has been selected as a member of the Hickman Hall of Fame. The choice was announced by T. Donald Bell, head of the animal science department at the University of Idaho and member of the executive committee of the Hickman Club. The group consists of Idaho men who have made noteworthy contributions to the livestock industry. The hall of fame is named in honor of the late C. W. Hickman, long-time professor of animal husbandry at the university. It was started in 1952. There are 25 members. A portrait of Claar will join pictures of others in the gallery of the Agricultural Science Building at Moscow.

"His energetic and dynamic personality, his positive and aggressive approach to the solution of many problems by working effectively with others, together with his ability to manage financial affairs of the association on a sound basis have provided 40 years of dedicated service to your organization and the livestock industry that is virtually without parallel," Bell said.

Claar is a graduate of Twin Falls High School. He was book-keeper for the Utah Construction Company in Nevada before joining the wool growers as a book-keeper in 1927. The following year he became secretary and has since filled that position with headquarters at Boise.

Bennett Creek Grazing Unit Buys Bar-X Ranch

GLENN PERRY — Mr. and Mrs. Adin Hall have sold their Bar-X Ranch in the Cold Springs Creek area northwest of Glenns Ferry, and will give possession Feb. 1.

Adin was born on the 100-year-old Hall ranch which was started by his father. Purchasing the holdings was the Bennett Creek Grazing Association, composed of 14 Ada County farmers from the Star, Eagle, and Middleton area, which was incorporated May 18, 1967.

Paul-Akins, Eagle, is president; Pat Nobles, Star, vice president; and Farrel V. Barr of Eagle, secretary-treasurer. Considerable research and travel was made by the members before the association settled on the Hall property as answering their needs.

Assisting in the technical phases of the purchase were Herb Edwards, Elmore County Agent, and the Extension Service, which helped draw up articles of incorporation and the bylaws of the association. Engineering services for the construction and land development are being provided by Cy Higginson and Arch McCabe and the Soil Conservation Service.

A range management plan was provided by Gary Blincoe and the Bureau of Land Management.

Tom Correll and the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service county committee are helping by sharing $20,000 of the cost on the development work.

Seth D. Redford and the Farmer's Home Administration made a $440,000 loan to purchase the Hall holdings, and an additional $87,000 loan for land and range development. Redford explained that the grazing association loans are made to groups of family-sized farmers and ranches in order to provide summer grazing for livestock. Winter care and feeding are provided on the members' individual farms, to which the cattle are returned in the fall.

Supposedly the grazing association loans provide an increase in income, thus strengthening the rural communities. They make use of the land and water resources, shift use of land from production of commodities in surplus supply, improve livestock quality, provide for a more stable operation and increase the members' share in land equity.

FHA grazing association loans can be made to a limit of four million dollars. Repayment of loans cannot exceed 40 years and the interest rate is set at five per cent.

The Bennett Creek Grazing Association's present operations include provision for 1,000 cattle for eight months of grazing, according to Redford.

Price Index For Feed Up 1 Point

BOISE — The index of prices paid by Idaho farmers for feed on Nov. 15 rose one point from mid-October this year, reports the USDA Crop and Livestock Reporting Service for Idaho.

Compared with Nov. 15 a year ago, feed prices were down nine points. Increases during the month were shown in price paid for mill run, chick starter, alfalfa hay, beef cattle concentrate (90 per cent and over) and stock salt.

All other feed items were unchanged or lower in price than the previous month.

Northrup King Honored For Contribution To Agriculture

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn.—Northrup, King and Co., Minneapolis-based seed firm was honored for outstanding contribution to agriculture by the Federal Land Bank.

This agricultural award is part of the Federal Land Bank System's 50th Anniversary program honoring the United States farmer and individuals and organizations in all 50 states who have made notable contributions to the nation's agriculture.

Hans T. Hagen, president, Federal Land Bank of St. Paul, presented the medal and commended Northrup King for the work done in seed-improvement that has benefited the farmer.

D. K. Christensen, Northrup King, chairman of the board, accepted.

Coordinated research, production and marketing programs, developed and integrated into a smooth working unit are Northrup King's keys to progress. The results: imaginative new products, new production methods and new marketing techniques to aid the nation's farmers.

The research program of this 80-year-old firm is basic to providing new, improved products for the farm. In each marketing area across the country, crop taylor-made for local growing conditions are in demand.

Today a research staff of nearly 100 plant breeders, agronomists, soil researchers, entomologists, pathologists, bacteriologists and other experts spend full-time meeting these demands—both by developing new and improved items and by discovering better ways of growing currently available crops.

Beef Cattle Improvement Program Vital

A major segment in the economy of Idaho is beef cattle. Proven methods are available to the industry for increasing producer profit without increasing numbers of cattle.

These methods, which can be significant to purebred and commercial producers, as well as feeders, include the principles of "record of performance in beef cattle."

Performance in beef cattle includes all traits that contribute to the efficient production of highly desirable beef. A record of performance is the systematic measurement of these traits and the use of such records in selection.

The function then of a beef cattle improvement program is to help find genetically superior individuals within a herd so that maximum production can be achieved.

Another phase of the beef improvement program is production testing. Production testing is the cow herd phase of the program where productivity of each individual cow in the herd is measured in terms of calf weaning weight and grade.

Currently there are six cattlemen in Twin Falls County that are participating in the production testing program. They are Ralph Baughman, Buhl; William Yoder and Arthur De Vissler, both Filer; C. J. Boss, Hollister; Ellis Fuller and Roy Jesser, both Twin Falls.

Recently weaner calves owned by Jesser, Fuller and DeVissler were weighed and graded by Twin Falls County Agent Donald Youtz and three judges, Herschell Boydston, John Feldhusen Jr. and Jay Cobb.

Weighing and grading weaner calves is part of the production testing program.

Calf weaning weight reflects the mothering ability of the cow, as well as the genetic growth potential of the calf. This trait is moderately high in heritability, which means that selection for the trait is effective.

Cows that produce heavy calves one year tend to also produce heavier calves in following years.

Culling cows with the lightest calves each year is a sound practice that will rapidly increase weaning weights.

All cattlemen interested in production testing program are asked to contact the county agent's office.

AN ANGUS CALF that doesn't like to be weighed, is attempting to get out of the chute. Trying to put the calf back in the chute is Lyle Fuller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Fuller, Twin Falls. Watching his son is Mr. Fuller. This calf was one of many that were weighed and graded which is part of the Production Testing Program now under way in Twin Falls County.

Stored Grain Infestation Is Explained

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow—Insects can be a major factor in lowering stored grain quality, reported Roland Portman, University of Idaho extension entomologist at grain sanitation meetings.

Infestation of stored grains can come from many sources, Portman stated. An insect infested burlap sack may have been used to cover a hole in a truck bed that carries grain to storage. Or insects may hitch a ride to storage in the cracks and crevices of the floors and walls of the truck.

"All truck beds should be inspected, reconditioned and thoroughly cleaned before harvest begins," Portman advised.

All the grain in a storage bin very seldom becomes infested at one time. Usually a few insects start to feed on the kernels in a small, confined area. As they eat they are able to produce moisture needed for their development and multiplication. Soon a "hot spot" is formed, and this in turn speeds up the development and multiplication of the insects.

"Soon the entire bin seems to become infested at one time," Portman stated. "Repeated periodical probing will detect the insects before the entire bin becomes generally infested."

The university extension entomologist pointed out that turning and aerating grain during periods of cool, dry weather will help break up hot spots and the concentrated insect populations. Fumigations during turning and immediately after turning the grain are effective in controlling stored grain insects.

"Fortunately, of the total number of insects that attack stored grain, only a few species are found commonly infesting Idaho's grain storages. Probably this is due to our winter weather conditions," Portman reported.

Consumption Up

New Zealand's meat consumption per capita is among the highest in the world despite the fact that the country exports 93 per cent of its lamb, 54 per cent of its beef and veal and 44 per cent of its mutton.

The average New Zealander eats 229 pounds of meat annually, second only to Uruguay's total and a third higher than the U.S. total.

HENS LAY AT 20 WEEKS

Most hens start laying eggs when they are about 20 weeks old and continue laying until about 14 months old.

Gas Price Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department reports that farmers are paying an average 11 per cent more for liquid petroleum gas this year than last. About 49 per cent of farmers use this gas for home heating and cooking. The average price per gallon this year was put at 14.5 cents.

WRONG BIDS
WRONG BIDS
 Here is another Bridge World magazine question. The bidding on the box is what actually took place. Our correspondent says, "We both bid badly. Will you adjudicate the degree of guilt?"

respond two hearts with a four-card suit, but this time we can afford to do so since we can always return to spades.

So our first criticism goes to our correspondent's system. Our second goes to North's two-club response.

Now we get around to South. North responded two clubs and South bid a slam all by himself. The slam would have been a lay-down if North had just held six clubs to the ace-king or five to the ace-king-queen; but South might have realized that if North held either of those good club holdings, North would be looking right at them.

Somehow or other we have found that no matter how well we play, our partner who is looking right at his own cards can bid them—better than we can.

South might well have passed at four spades. Failing to do that, he should have merely bid five diamonds to give his partner a chance to wriggle off the hook. Instead he hung him.

CARD SENSE

Q—The bidding has been:
 West North East South
 1♥ Pass 1♠ 1♦
 4♥ Pass 2♥ 3♠
 Pass 4♥ Pass 5♠

You, South, hold:
 ♠ A Q 10 7 6 5 3 ♦ A Q 10 7 6 5 3
 What do you lead?
 A—Ace of diamonds. Second choice is your singleton trump.

TODAY'S QUESTION
 Instead of bidding one heart over your one diamond, West bid a spade. Your partner bids two diamonds and East passes. What do you do now?

Answer Next Issue

Most experts play limit raises today because they just can't bid hands like North's without them. North is clearly too strong for a single raise, yet he wants to play spades. If he could merely bid three spades (non-forcing) to show 11 or 12 points in support of spades his worries would be over.

He can't do that and has to temperize with two clubs or two hearts. When we do so with hearts, we would do with bid a suit we don't intend to play, we try to bid one where we have top cards.

Of course, we don't like to

Bow In His Hair Seems Only Fair

Dear Eile and Walt: My daughter is just approaching dating age. In preparing for this, I want to establish some guidelines. Since a number of the boys in our town favor the long, fly-away, Albert Einstein hairdos, I am prepared to welcome them in our home. But I am deeply concerned at the thought of these same boys chattering her around on dates, while their vision is partly obscured. My daughter considers you both quite modern in outlook, and often quotes you to me. May I tell her therefore, what you think of the idea of a father asking a boy with such hair to take her to a date?—Not hostile to Hippies.

Dear Not Hostile: We think it's a very logical request, one that's quite in-tune with the hippy "love thy neighbor" credo. If you "love" other people, you certainly don't risk their safety with your hair style. Samurai knights, Indian acouts, and America's founding fathers pony-tailed their locks, so if you ask a modern Samson to tie back his hair when behind the wheel, he certainly shouldn't feel his virility has been insulted.—Eile and Walt.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?
 Dear Eile and Walt: What you say seems very sensible to me, so I'd like your opinion on this: how should a person take being called racial names in a joking way? Things like "jap" or "white" for you would be matched by "Spik" and "Wop" for my friend and me. The people who use these names are smiling and seem friendly.—Mike.

Dear Mike: It would be absurd to pretend we all came out of the same blender. Our ethnic differences lend spice and warmth to a computerized world. If the kidding is 360 degrees, with everyone getting a friendly hit, then be glad you're in a group that's comfortable enough to admit it's not homogenous. But if the kidding is strictly focused on you two, or if it results in 24-hour-a-day nicknames, then speak up: "I admit I'm proud of being Italian, but let's not make that my sole claim-to-fame. The name's Tony, let's use it—hub?" —Eile and Walt.

APPLES IN YOUR BACKYARD

Although the fact that apples are healthy has been known for many years ago, back in Devonshire, England, where it was decreed: "Ate an apple avore gwaiv to bed. Makes the Doctor beg his bread."

Next year, why not plant an apple or two in your backyard? Some of the fruit may be wormy, but you'll still have a lot of clean fruit, if you give the trees a little care.

POINSETTIA PLANT FOR CHRISTMAS?

Poinsettias for Christmas bloom need to be kept in a dark room from September until Thanksgiving, starting at 6 p.m. and continuing until 2 a.m. the following day. After Thanksgiving, it does no good to put the plant in a dark room at night.

Grow it in a bright window and give enough water to keep soil uniformly moistened. Look for white fly under the leaves. Spray with aerosol sprays if white specks are noticed under the foliage.

FORSYTHIA BLOOMS IN FALL

I've had readers tell me their forsythia bushes produced a bronzy color on the foliage, and the yellow blossoms appeared in great numbers in October, unusual for a spring flowering shrub.

This drastic change in flowering happens quite often, especially if the spring buds were frozen. An excess of carbohydrates builds up inside these shrubs and for some reason they bloom in the fall. This year we had a lilac bush which flowered in October.

BUCKWHEAT FLIES

Buckwheat flies (also called "honey" flies) have been a real pest indoors this fall. Mild fall weather brings in flies to bug us.

Fortunately, the cluster fly is easier to combat than the regular house fly since they gang up in the attic and are more sluggish. Buckwheat flies are not as filthy as the regular house fly.

CONTROL: Use aerosol sprays

to knock down the pests long enough for you to remove them with a vacuum sweeper. Be persistent. The flies hide inside in cold weather, come out on sunny days. In winter, the flies rest next to the sheathing and clapboards. If you find a buckwheat fly in your soup, don't mean too loudly since the pest is not as filthy as the regular house fly.

"RESURRECTION PLANT"

Common names always baffle me, and the "Resurrection Plant" in the trade is no exception. The so-called Resurrection Plant is Selaginella and it gets its name from the fact that it can be dried into a compact brownish ball and be brought back to life merely by placing the roots in a pan of water. The only care it needs is a bright or semi-shady window, and a soil mixture of sand, peat and loam. Give it plenty of water, but do not overwater.

"AN APPLE A DAY"

The apple is perhaps the most important fruit grown in our region. There's something to the old expression "an apple a day." Present day research indicates that the pectin in the apple helps reduce cholesterol in the blood stream.

Apples contain vitamin A and C, thus help skin problems and prevent viral infections. The fact that apples are healthy (any fruit is actually good for you) was learned many years ago, back in Devonshire, England, where it was decreed: "Ate an apple avore gwaiv to bed. Makes the Doctor beg his bread."

DISCUSSING FARM LEGISLATION

with Rep. George Hansen, R-Idaho, on the steps of the Capitol building in Washington is Bert D. Barlow, Mr. Barlow, Twin Falls, is operator of one of the largest warehouses in Southern Idaho and ships beans to all parts of the world. While in Washington he joined Rep. Hansen for lunch at the Capitol Restaurant, but boycotted the famous "bean soup," served every day, because he said it was not made with Great Northern, Small Red or Pinto beans, that are grown in Magic Valley.

Chemical Group Names New Officers

Region III, of the Idaho Agricultural Chemical Coordinating Committee met recently in Twin Falls and named Don Stivers, Twin Falls, as the chairman for 1968, according to outgoing secretary, Ivan Hopkins, Shoshone.

Ches Standley, Twin Falls, outgoing chairman, joined the new board of directors. Other officers and directors elected were, Robert Carlson, Buhl, vice chairman; Donald Youtz, Twin Falls, secretary-treasurer; J. W. Beck, Murtaugh, and Jerry Romans, Burley.

KEEPING GREEN TOMATOES LONGER

A reader writes: "During World War II, I had a victory garden. We kept green tomatoes a long time after frost, by using a weak solution of household bleach. First we'd wash the green fruit with the chlorine bleach, then dry them clean with paper towels. The tomatoes were then packed in fresh newspapers, in bushel baskets, stored in a cold part of the cellar. From time to time I sorted them over, using the ripest ones first. We had nice fresh, firm tomatoes way up into December, almost to Christmas. The bleach killed the bacteria on the outside of the tomato's skin."

AZALEA PLANT LOSE LEAVES?

If your leaves dropped, don't worry. New ones will come on, if you give the plant ample water, a bright window, and a temperature of 70 degrees during the day, and 65 at night.

QUESTION OF THE WEEK

R. F. of Twin Falls: "Last year I ate some nectarine and must say that the fruit is the sweetest I ever ate. Are they hard? Please tell us something about them."

Many people never have eaten a nectarine. Some call the fruit a "fuzzless" peach because this is what it looks like. Many believe that the nectarine is a cross between a peach and a plum, but it isn't. The truth of the matter is that the origin of the nectarine is unknown. It probably is a "sport" developed from the peach. It's not a new fruit, having been known centuries ago. A nectarine is a nectarine. They used to be white fleshed only, but flesh of the newer cultivars is a golden color; the fruit is larger and firmer.
