Severe Earthquake Shakes Western India, Killing 65

BOMBAY (AP) — A severe earthquake shook a large stretch of western India before dawn today, and the Maharashtra state government said 65 persons were killed in the Koyana area 200 miles south of Bombay.

Bombay newspapers received a report from the area that more than 100 persons were killed, most of them when their homes collapsed on them as they slept.

The government said 1,000 persons were injured and 5,000 were homeless.

The report from the state government, said most of the casualties occurred near Koyanagar; a town of 10,000 built for workers at the giant Koyana hydroelectric dam and plant.

The government said the Koyana dam was not damaged but another hydroelectric plant at Khopoli, between Bombay and Poona, was put out of commission.

This knocked out electric service to several thousand square miles, including Bombay and its population of 4.5 million. In the metropolis hundreds of thousands poured into the streets and spent the rest of the night in the open.

An area from Sura, 150 miles north of Bombay, to Goa, 300 miles to the South, and to Poona, 120 miles to the east, was rocked by three tremors. The Bombay observatory said its seismograph went out when the power supply failed immediately after the first tremors.

In the last big quake in the area eight years ago, 110 persons were killed.

All-India Radio reported one death in Bombay, a man who was awakened by the tremor, rushed to a balcony and fell to the street. Little damage was reported in the city, but the power cut stopped heavily traveled urban trains and curtailed pumping of water.

The meteorological observatory in New Delhi said the shock had a magnitude of 7.5 on the Richter scale, sufficient to cause severe damage near the epicenter, which was located 70 miles south of Poona.

All-India Radio said 80 percent of the houses at Koyanagar were damaged.

Power transmission at the Koyana dam was stopped until an inspection was completed.

BURLEY (AP) — Four-year-old Michael Martin stood on a chair today to receive a purple heart medal from Mayor Joe Peters and Army Maj. Spencer Miller.

The boy's father, Clayton Martin, was killed in Vietnam Oct. 16.

Michael's mother attended the ceremony at Burley city hall.

His grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Martin, live in Idaho Falls.

Florida Sets Up Tornado Watch Following Tragedy

PANAMA CITY, Fla. (AP) — A new tornado watch was issued today for the Florida Panhandle, ravaged Sunday morning by roaring twisters which leveled hundreds of homes, killed two and caused more than $7 million in damages.

Ten Florida Panhandle cities were hit Sunday morning and residents spent a restless night as tornado watches were posted and then lifted at 7 a.m. today.

The second watch was put in effect at 9 a.m. The Weather Bureau said the threat of twisters would last until 3 p.m. EST.

At Fort Walton Beach, a community 60 miles west of here, 220 homes suffered extensive damage.

More than 200 persons were injured in Florida, several critically, and a watchman at a wrecked shopping center in Fort Walton Beach was reported missing.

Air Force families, flattening 30 homes and damaging 24 others, leaving one dead, nine seriously hurt and about 400 persons homeless. That tornado touched down five more times before fizzling out.

Damage was estimated in the Fort Walton Beach area at more than $5 million by Okaloosa County Sheriff Ray Wilson and at $1.5 million to housing at Tyndall by public information officer Hank Harsham.

Water, gas, electricity and telephone service was cut off in the northwest section of Fort Walton Beach.

Tornadoes also hit small towns between Panama City and Pensacola 150 miles west.

One twister smashed into the Alabama coastline, damaging homes at Mfilin and raking a boathouse in Bon Secour, Ala., where the uninsured loss was estimated at $20,000.

Three-year-old Joan Coker, one of six children dug out of the wreckage of their Fort Walton Beach home, died at Eglin Air Force Base Hospital Sunday where her mother gave birth to her seventh child during the storm, hospital officials said.

The parents were identified only as M. Sgt. and Mrs. H. Coker. Officials said the Cokers' two-story home was leveled by the twister.

Loveta Byrd, 29, the wife of M. Sgt. Jerry J. Byrd, died of a crushed skull and her husband was critically injured when their two-family house split in two before the tornado at Tyndall.

A six-month-old baby adopted by the Byrds two weeks earlier was asleep in the same bedroom but was unharmed.

Big Sign Conforms To Laws

The Cactus Pete's sign atop the Perrine Hotel is safe and conforms to all city building and sign requirements, Rev. Coulam, city building inspector, said Monday.

The sign was placed two weeks ago by the Young Electric Sign Co. It is one of the largest signs in Idaho and Utah.

Mr. Coulam said Monday the city had received some criticism because it allowed erection of the sign.

"The sign conforms in every way with city ordinances," Mr. Coulam said.

He said there was intensive study made of placement of the sign before approval was given.

He also reported that $1 million worth of insurance is carried by owners of the sign, in the event it should fall and hurt someone. "However, chances of this happening are very remote," Mr. Coulam said.

"The Perrine Hotel is strong enough to support that sign. In fact it could be 499 feet from the ground and the support would still be strong enough," he said.

However, city ordinance provides that the sign cannot be more than 25 feet above the roof of the Perrine Hotel. It is not.

"With the work Young's did on the roof before placing the sign, I would say the building is even stronger than it was," he said.

He said wind in Idaho is not strong enough to topple the sign.

Mr. Coulam said there had been complaints that the sign is detracting, and will cause people to bypass downtown Twin Falls.

"This, if it is ever the case, is not the city's fault. We only enforce laws, and in this case owners of the sign met the requirements of every law," he added.

He said there are other rooftop signs throughout the city "nearly as large" and none of them have created controversy.

"People can place a truck on a roof, as long as it conforms with city laws," he said.

Most of the injured lived in a housing area at Tyndall Air Force Base and at Fort Walton Beach.

Officials estimated damages at more than $7 million. Gov. Claude Kirk asked federal help for what he termed a disaster area.

Helmeted National Guardsmen toting rifles patrolled the cities and highways to prevent looting, turned back sight-seers and helped in the massive cleanup.

Kirk toured the Bayou Wood section of Fort Walton Beach Sunday hours after a twister spun off from a violent thunderstorm had smashed 50 homes at 1 a.m.

The storm bounced over a lake and tore a five-mile long swath it left 220 homes wrecked.

Five hours later another funnel ripped into a row of duplex homes at the housing area for

Enemy Troops Mauled In Suicide Assault On Post

SAIGON (AP) — Viet Cong troops were badly mauled in a suicide assault Sunday on a fortified U.S. artillery post 50 miles north of Saigon while other guerrilla units made three sharp attacks on outposts within 25 miles of the capital.

The enemy death toll in major actions over the past week climbed past 1,200, according to U.S. and South Vietnamese calculations.

An estimated 400 Communists charged out of the predawn darkness toward bunkers in the American artillery post but were caught in a heavy cross-fire of machine guns, grenade launchers, 40mm cannon and 105mm howitzers level for point-blank fire.

GIs found 124 enemy bodies on the battlefield and said many were only teenagers. One American was killed and 31 wounded in the two-hour battle for the 120-man post.

The U.S. Command reported that seven Americans were killed and 46 were wounded in the three skirmishes around Saigon, with almost all the casualties at Nhat Tan.

Renewed skirmishing also was reported along the central coastal plains, where 30 Viet Cong died in one action. But guerrilla fire brought down a U.S. Air Force Phantom jet and the two crewmen parachuted into the middle of a firefight between the American ground troops and the Viet Cong. A helicopter pulled the airmen to safety.

It was the 216th U.S. combat plane reported downed by enemy action in South Vietnam.

In the ground assault on the U.S. artillery post one Viet Cong who got through the barbed wire and deadly crossfire jumped into a U.S. bunker and was strangled by an American sergeant. The Communists overran one bunker and destroyed an M60 tank. An American in the bunker played dead and escaped with an eye wound.

The artillerymen took two prisoners, one of them a major who commanded the Viet Cong assault battalion.

The U.S. troops also reported finding packets of heroin on some of the enemy bodies.

"The only logical conclusion is that they take this stuff before an attack," said James D. Oenbrink, an Army doctor from Palm Beach, Fla. "It makes them like a drunk person. They don't know what hit them and they don't care."

TWIN FALLS COUNTY residents now have a new sheriff. He is Paul Corder, sworn in here at 9:03 a.m. Monday by Heber Loughmiller, chairman of the county commission. The swearing in ceremonies were conducted at the commissioners' office. Mrs. Corder and the couple's daughter, Mrs. Bruce Clark, watched. Outgoing sheriff James H. Benham also watched, then continued moving his furniture out of the sheriff's apartment in the courthouse.

Paul Corder Receives Sheriff's Badge In Courthouse Ceremony

Forty-eight-year-old Paul Corder became the 13th Twin Falls County sheriff at 9:03 a.m. Monday when he was sworn into office by County Commission Chairman Heber Loughmiller.

The ceremonies were conducted while former Sheriff James H. Benham moved furniture from his apartment in the courthouse to a truck just outside the commissioner's office.

In 1908 Charles W. Dyer took the first oath of office as sheriff of Twin Falls County. Mr. Benham was sworn in in 1956. He submitted his resignation two weeks ago, and announced at that time that he has been appointed the new Idaho brand inspector.

The appointment was confirmed then by Gov. Don Samuelson. Mr. Benham takes over his new duties Jan. 1.

Watching the quiet ceremonies Monday in the courthouse were Sheriff Corder's wife and his daughter. He also has a son who is a detective with the Twin Falls Police Department, and another daughter. They were not present.

County Commissioners Morris W. Carlson and Bill Chauncy also witnessed the ceremony. Mrs. Corder pinned on Sheriff Corder's new badge right after the oath was administered.

Past Twin Falls County sheriffs, with the dates they took office, are Mr. Dyer, 1908; Howard C. Vanaunderlin, 1910; F. M. Kendall, 1914; A. N. Sprague, 1918; E. R. Sherman, 1920; and M. E. Finch, 1922.

Also E. F. Prater, 1928; A. C. Parker, 1938; W. W. Lowery, 1940; B. R. Rayborn, 1946; and Jesse E. Carlton, 1948.

Mr. Benham held office the longest length of time, nearly 12 years. He was also in office when voters passed an amend-

Rusk Confronts Treaty Opposition

By CARL HARTMAN
BRUSSELS (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk today took on the task of overcoming West German and Italian opposition to the proposed treaty to check the spread of nuclear weapons.

Rusk arrived Sunday night for the semiannual meeting of the North Atlantic Council, the policy body of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. The NATO chiefs of staff were meeting today, and Rusk planned a round of talks with West European leaders.

The United States and the Soviet Union have agreed on a nuclear treaty except for the section on how to inspect peaceful nuclear industry to see that no uranium or plutonium is diverted to make weapons.

West Germany says inspection by the International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA), which the Soviet Union insists on, would destroy the authority of a body laboriously built up by West European allies, the European Atomic Energy Community, better known as EURATOM, a branch of the Common Market.

The Italians agree. They are worried that nuclear industry will prefer to go to France, where there is no likelihood of IAEA inspection.

On the Communist side objections have been heard from Romania—the maverick in the Eastern bloc.

American diplomats have come up with several proposals for "marrying" IAEA inspection to the system that Euratom has developed. At least one of these compromises may satisfy Moscow, but Bonn has not bought any yet.

Hailey Woman Dead, Two Hurt In Crash

RICHFIELD—A Hailey woman was killed and two other persons hospitalized Sunday as the result of a head-on collision on icy roads six miles east of Richfield.

Mrs. Emma Astuy, 76, Hailey, was killed instantly when the 1963 Mercury her husband, Dan Astuy, 75, was driving collided with a fair condition Monday with a broken leg. Mr. Astuy is reported in good condition at Sun Valley Hospital.

Deputy Sheriff Donald Green, who was driving behind the east-bound Peterson car, called ambulances to the scene and assisted at the scene.

Riding with Mrs. Peterson were her three children, Lauria, 10; Tracy, 7; and Letia, 6. They were bruised but not hospitalized.

The patrolman said the road was "solid ice." The Astuys were driving west. Damage to the vehicles was estimated at between $400 and $600.

The death is the 47th for Magistrate Valley this year and the third to occur in Lincoln County.

Funeral services for Mrs. Astuy are pending at Bird Mortuary, Hailey.

Neighbors Respond To Fire Alarm In Heyburn

HEYBURN — Mrs. Adelle Toews, a widow living alone on a side road just east of the Simplot processing plant at Heyburn, has worried for the last several years about what would happen to her if an emergency should arise.

Monday she was no longer particularly concerned about this worry. She has discovered she has plenty of neighbors who will help her.

Mrs. Toews loves animals. She formerly was a member of the humane society in Boise, and recently she has been involved in trying to get funds to start a Mini-Cassia humane society and animal shelter.

Meanwhile, she has been using a shed on her property as temporary shelter for stray dogs and cats that happen by. She also has a 12-year-old cat of her own that she keeps in the shed, along with horse tack and other equipment.

During the recent cold spell she has been keeping a heat lamp going in the shed to help keep the old cat warm. Sunday night a support on the lamp gave way and it dropped onto the bedding in the cat's bed.

The bedding caught fire and the cat ran for the house. Mrs. Toews couldn't figure why the cat wanted in the house, and didn't notice the fire. But a neighbor, Hugh Smith, did notice the fire and turned in an alarm, about 9 p.m.

About 40 men responded, including firemen, neighbors and employees at the neighboring Simplot plant, and got there in time to put the fire out before it had caused more than minor damage.

It is comforting to Mrs. Toews to know she has such good neighbors.

Governor Returns To Statehouse

BOISE (AP) — Gov. Don W. Samuelson returned to his desk in the Statehouse Monday after flying home from Florida where he attended the National Republican Governors Conference.

Samuelson and his wife arrived in Boise late Sunday after visiting briefly at Auburndale, Fla., the site of their marriage.

The governor had one public address on his week's schedule, at the Idaho Reclamation Association convention in Idaho Falls Hospital, Jerome, where she

Scientists Probe Industrial Nuclear Blast

By JAKE BOOHER (AP)
FARMINGTON, N.M. (AP) — Scientists seek today to determine whether the first industrial nuclear explosion will render new wealth from the bowels of the earth.

A thermonuclear device was exploded 4,240 feet below the earth's crust Sunday. Preliminary indications were that the explosion, called Project Gasbuggy, had done its job by creating a huge subterranean chamber from which natural gas can be recovered, spokesmen said.

Dr. Robert H. Thalgott, Gasbuggy deputy project manager for the Atomic Energy Commission, told newsmen at a briefing after the blast that no radioactive material had escaped from the ground and none was expected to.

Dr. Harry Reynolds, a scientific advisor to Gasbuggy, said there was reason to believe that an underground chamber 160 feet in diameter and as tall as a 35-story building had been created 3,500 feet below ground zero.

The AEC said drilling into the chamber begins today, although no substantial evidence on whether the nuclear stimulation concept really worked is expected for "several weeks or months."

Scientists estimate the nation's natural gas reserves will be doubled if nuclear blasts are found to be a feasible way to free gas from underground rock formations.

The nuclear device, which had an explosive punch estimated as equivalent to 20,000 to 30,000 tons of TNT, was detonated in the Picture Cliffs formation of the gas-bearing San Juan Basin. Windpuffs rattled in Farmington, 55 miles to the west. Newsmen and others, at an observation sight five miles from the detonation point, felt the sharp shock wave which thundered under the northwest New Mexico hills.

Telephone service at the site was interrupted when equipment was shaken out of place. AEC spokesmen said the ground at the observation site heaved one-third of an inch, while the shock was described as far more severe at Gasbuggy control complex 2 1/2 miles from the detonation point.

"We were rising in the air," one scientist at the complex reported.

Joint sponsors, who have been working four years on the $4.7 million Gasbuggy Project, include the AEC, El Paso Natural Gas Co. and the U.S. Bureau of Mines.

State Meat Inspection Supervisor Is Ordered Restored To State Employment

BOISE (AP) — A dismissed state meat inspection supervisor has been ordered restored to state employment, but it may be some time before he is actually on the payroll.

Eventually, he will receive back pay for the time since his dismissal, unless the order by the Idaho Personnel Commission is overruled.

The commission said Dr. C. H. Kennedy must be restored to his old job as supervisor of state meat inspection or to a similar one. His salary at the time of his dismissal last April was $458 a month.

Richard Weston, the hearing officer for the personnel commission, said that the Idaho Merit System law, under which Kennedy appealed his dismissal, provides that either side may take exception to the commission's findings of fact and conclusions of law.

A spokesman for the attorney general's office, which represented Commissioner of Agriculture Stanley Trenhaile in the case, said there has been no decision as to whether there will be an appeal.

Trenhaile has declined comment on the ruling.

Kennedy was dismissed by Trenhaile who said during hearings before the personnel commission that the former meat inspector had been "arrogant" and "arbitrary" in dealing with meat packers.

Buhl Girl Hurt In Auto Mishap

EDEN — Minor injuries were received by a 9-year-old Buhl girl when a car driven by her mother, Berniece O. Knight, 47, hit a registered Black Angus bull early Sunday morning about three and one-half miles southeast of here. Idaho State Police said it was still dark at the time of the accident occurred and Mrs. Knight was unable to see the black bull in time to avoid hitting it.

Her daughter, Sharon Knight, was slightly injured, and another passenger, Sandy Sharp, 9, Twin Falls, escaped injury. The bull, owned by John E. Roice, Eden, was injured. Officers said the bull had wandered out of a feed lot at the west end of the site of the accident at the intersection of the Valley road and a county road.

Synopsis, Farm Summary

After a rather pleasant day yesterday a touch of winter is returning to the valleys of Southern Idaho and East-Central Oregon. Skies are cloudy and light snow has fallen. Most snowfall has been too light to measure. An approaching cold front is moving into Southern Idaho from the north. As the storm moves throughout our area a few snow flurries or periods of light snow and gusty winds will occur. Mostly light amounts of snow are expected. A minor disturbance aloft will also be moving across the Intermountain Region today and will cause snow flurries to linger in some southern central valleys and in Eastern Idaho valleys. Partial clearing is forecast for tonight with partly cloudy skies.

W. K. Potts, Buhl, Dies At Age 65

BUHL—William K. Potts, 65, Buhl, died Monday morning at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital after a short illness. He was born April 5, 1902, at Ogden, Utah. Mr. Potts was a foreman at the Amalgamated Sugar Co. in Twin Falls from 1935 to 1945, and for the past several years was an agent with Farmer's Insurance Group in Buhl. He was a member of the LDS Church, and Bishop of the Second LDS Ward from 1945 to 1966. He married Henrietta DeHaan, on April 12, 1928, in Salt Lake City and she died June 21, 1963. Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. Wednesday at the Buhl Second Ward LDS Church with Bishop Don Watson officiating. Final rites will be in Ogden, Utah. Friends may call at the White Mortuary Tuesday night and at the church Wednesday morning.

Glenns Ferry Hosts First Chariot Race

GLENN'S FERRY — The first chariot race of the season for the Wood River Racing Association was held Sunday afternoon at Glenns Ferry, sponsored locally by the Three Island Riding Club. Next Sunday's race will be held at Kuna with members of the Wood River group competing with the Boise Valley Chariot Association. Results of the initial race were H. Peterson over Bob B. Robinson, Fred Roy over Ted Uhrig, H. Hackworth over James Carpenter, R. Chugg over Howard Haslam, H. Peterson over Tim Kramer, and Eddie Johnson over Dee Wolverton. Weldon Henderson over Tom Shouse, Alma Morrison over Jim Abshire, Dan Clark over Jim McArthur, Ernie Stevens over B. Hackworth, Pat Tschannen over F. Bowen, Tom Webb over H. Peterson, and Bud Roseberry over LeRoy Heth.

Mrs. Moore, Gooding, Dies

GOODING—Mrs. Emma Frances Moore, 80, died Saturday night at Gooding Memorial Hospital of a brief illness. She was born May 11, 1887, at Jewell, Iowa, and was graduated from high school there and was married to George E. Moore June 28, 1911. The couple came to Bliss where they lived until 1921. At that time they moved to a farm in Alberta, Canada. In 1923, they returned to Idaho, farming near Corral on Camas Prairie. They went to Bowden, Alberta, Canada, a few years later, living there for 12 years. In 1959 they retired from farming and returned to Gooding. They had observed 56 years of marriage. Mrs. Moore belonged to the Christian church. Survivors include her husband, Gooding, one brother, Henry S. Hoon, Jewell, Iowa; six nephews and two nieces. She was preceded in death by three sisters. Funeral services will be conducted at 11 a.m. Thursday in the Thompson chapel by Rev. Harold Hake. Final rites will be held in Elmwood Cemetery. Friends may call at the chapel Monday evening until time of services.

Three Hurt In Two-Car Collision

Two persons were taken to Magic Valley Memorial Hospital following a two-car accident at the intersection of Fourth Avenue North and Fifth Street North. City Police reported Edward F. Hughes, 41, Twin Falls, was traveling northeast on Fourth Avenue North and another vehicle driven by Ivan C. Waters, 51, was traveling southwest on Fifth Street North when they collided. Mr. and Mrs. Waters were taken to the hospital by Magic Valley Ambulance Service. Mr. Hughes lost several teeth when his head struck the steering wheel. Hospital officials said Mr. Waters suffered possible fractured ribs and his wife had a head gash. Both were treated and released. Mr. Hughes was charged with failure to yield right of way by police.

Police Talk To 2 Youths About Theft

Two Twin Falls boys, 14 and 15, were questioned Monday by juvenile officers in connection with the theft of a 1966 automobile Saturday afternoon. Officers said the vehicle was reported stolen by Robert Harney. It was taken from in front of the library. The owner said his son had driven the car to the library and had left the key in the vehicle. Officers alleged one of the youths questioned Monday saw the vehicle and drove away. He picked up a companion later. A city officer saw the vehicle in a local parking lot and gave chase. Police said several patrol cars later stopped the youths on Eastland Avenue after a high-speed chase.

Christmas Seal Returns Lagging

Twin Falls County residents have sent in Christmas Seal returns totaling $2,421.00 as of Dec. 1, according to Mrs. Fred Higgins, Twin Falls County chairman. Mrs. Higgins said additional contributions will be needed if the Idaho Tuberculosis Association is to continue programs for eradication of tuberculosis and control of other respiratory diseases such as emphysema and bronchitis.

Wheel Comes Off Heyburn Bus

HEYBURN — A Heyburn school bus loaded with about 30 high school students lost a wheel Friday afternoon, making the second time such an accident has occurred in the past five weeks. No one was hurt and the bus was not damaged, school officials said. John Holyoak, Minico high school teacher who drives the bus, told officers he was slowing for a stop sign at 500 West and Alfreco road when the left rear dual wheels came off. The incident happened three blocks from the Heyburn Junior High School as students were en route home about 3 p.m. Friday.

School Desegregation Legality To Be Decided

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court agreed today to decide the constitutionality of school desegregation by "freedom of choice."

It said it would review a ruling by the U.S. Circuit Court in Richmond that validated a freedom-of-choice plan for schools in New Kent County, Virginia. The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People Legal Defense and Educational Fund had appealed. Freedom of choice plans permit students to choose the school they wish to attend. The fund said its operation in the rural county east of Richmond had brought no substantial desegregation.

There are two combined elementary-high schools in the county and the fund said, one of the schools remains all-Negro.

According to fund figures, 111 of the 739 Negro students in the county last school year entered the previously all-white New Kent school.

With the Watkins school still all-Negro, the fund said, 85 percent of the Negro students in the county attended school last year only with other Negroes.

The appeal said that since there is no residential segregation in the county "logic and reason would seem to dictate" that the two schools be desegregated by establishment of geographic school zones.

Fraternity Dance Fire Claims Three

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — "It was like everything was soaked with gas... A wave of flame came across the ceiling and the whole place went up."

That was how collegian Lance Kollmer, 19, of Deerfield, Ill., described the way a fire turned decorations at a pre-Christmas college fraternity dance into an inferno, killing three persons Sunday.

Nine others at the Delta Tau Delta house party in the heart of the University of Pennsylvania campus were injured—mostly from jumping from their lives from second-story windows.

Fraternity members said about 100 men and their dates were at the party earlier. Kollmer was among a score of partygoers staying until the last minute before girls' curfew at 2 a.m. He was in the room where the blaze broke out in a 14-foot snowman made of chicken wire stuffed with paper.

The victims—all of them trapped on the second floor when flames enveloped the only stairwell—were Joseph J. Growchowski, 19, a Penn sophomore of Franklinville, N.J.; Kent D. Smith, 20, also a sophomore, of Wilmington, Del.; and Susan Sagerdorph, 17, of Philadelphia, a guest of one of the fraternity members.

Fire officials said a spark from a cigarette may have started the blaze.

Death Takes Mrs. Estep, 65, Gooding

GOODING — Mrs. Lois Marguerite Estep, 65, died Sunday morning in a Boise hospital of a lingering illness. She was born Dec. 29, 1901, in Golden City, Mo., and attended schools near Maple Grove, Mo., on May 5, 1918, she was married to Jerry Estep in Gooding in 1941. Mrs. Estep belonged to the Gooding First Baptist church. Survivors include her husband, two sons, George Estep and Bill Estep, both Gooding; one daughter, Mrs. Walter (Lois) Beery, Gooding; three brothers, Albert Hall, Gooding; Carroll Hall, Boise, and Everett Hall, Durango, Colo.; one sister, Mrs. John (Gladys) Brook, Avilla, Mo.; eight grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. Funeral services will be conducted at 11 a.m. Wednesday in the Thompson chapel by Rev. Kendall North, First Baptist church. Final rites will be held in Elmwood Cemetery. Friends may call at the chapel Tuesday evening and Wednesday until time of services. The family suggests any memorials may be made to the heart fund.

Judge

(Continued From Page One) day he thinks he will like his new quarters much better. Dark green carpeting and modern new furniture in his new wood-paneled office provide a much more judicial background. District Court clerks also were moving into the new building Monday. Their quarters are across the hall from the new courtrooms. Probation officers have been using their new building quarters for the past two weeks. Yet to move in is Probate Judge Richard Reed and Prosecuting Attorney Michael Felton.

The new law library has also been in use in the judicial building for several weeks. County officials still are awaiting a decision from the state Supreme Court as to whether or not their new judicial building actually is all legal.

MONONUCLEOSIS
Q. What causes and what are the symptoms of infectious mononucleosis?
A. The cause of infectious mononucleosis is unknown although a virus may be responsible. Mild fever, a feeling of tiredness, lumps or pain in the neck, and sore throat are all symptoms of the disease. The acute disease rarely lasts longer than ten to fifteen days, but there may be a period of weakness for several weeks and occasionally for months. No special treatment beyond rest is indicated.

GIRDLES
Q. Does the wearing of a girdle make the abdominal muscles flabby?
A. No. The usual garments worn by women do not provide sufficient support to substantially reduce the tone of the abdominal muscle, thereby causing flabbiness. It is our purpose to render professional prescription service and to offer the finest quality health aids and silkroom supplies.

Red China May Be Cracking The Whip

WASHINGTON — Intelligence reports reaching the State Department from Far Eastern listening posts suggest that Red China may be trying to whip up another military confrontation between Pakistan and India to add to U.S. worries along the lower tier of the Asian continent. The intense secrecy that has surrounded negotiations for a new round of Chinese economic aid to Pakistan raises the suspicion that Peking's benevolence may take the form of fighting planes and tanks. Field Marshal Ayub Khan, Pakistan's strongman president, has insisted that the aid will be channeled into "industrial and communications sectors," but no details have been forthcoming. Of the three powers contributing to Pakistan's economy, Peking alone has continued to supply arms. Both the U. S. and the Soviet Union have cut off military aid, and today Washington offers Pakistan only spare parts for old hardware. Moreover, both Peking, and Rawalpindi have been most secretive about the extent of Chinese arms aid, leading some Western experts to conclude that some of the "economic" grants have in fact been military.

At any rate, the effect of this new aid program will be highly political. Pakistan is determined to bolster its defense against what its politicians describe as Indian "invasion plots." They point to India's growing military strength and a new aggressiveness among Indian leaders, especially the extremist Hindu elements, concerning the dispute over the status of Kashmir.

Peking has long supported Pakistan's claim to this Himalayan state, and recently there has been an increase in Chinese demands that India bow to Pakistan's claim. Chinese-Pakistani "cultural associations" in major Pakistan cities hammer daily at the Kashmir issue.

As some Foggy Bottom people see it, Peking would like nothing better than an all-out war between Pakistan and India over the Kashmir question. Such a conflict would weaken both nations, always a much-desired eventuality of Communist expansionists and of particular interest to a neurotic China which fears any neighbor not under its heel.

Moreover, an Indian-Pakistan war would pose the possibility of intervention by either the United States or Soviet Union, or both. Peking would dearly love to stand by and watch the U.S., already heavily committed in Vietnam, expend even more of its resources on the Indian sub-continent. A U.S.-Soviet confrontation, of course, would be frosting on the cake.

The problem is heightened by Pakistan's apparent conviction that Peking is playing the altruistic Santa Claus. The Pakistan government insists that the West is overly suspicious of Red China, and that the Chinese are too preoccupied with their domestic problems to have any aggressive designs against their neighbors, Pakistan itself, in turn, is so preoccupied with fears of India that it can see no further.

Meanwhile, the Chinese Embassy in Rawalpindi is conducting a missionary campaign in behalf of Mao Tse-tung's "Cultural Revolution." Pakistan is being flooded with the little red buttons signifying support of the Mao policies, and the embassy's propaganda machine issues daily blasts at the U.S., the Soviet Union and Great Britain. Even fellow-traveling Burma and Cambodia found such campaigns intolerable and clamped down on them, but "independent" Pakistan seems oblivious of their perilous significance.

"—But Don't Get Me Wrong; I'm All For You!"

Steel Price Hike

There is no question that the American steel industry is under pressure. Domestic consumption of finished steel has declined this year, from 100.9 million tons in 1966 to a projected 94 million tons in 1967. Yet even as it has declined, imported steel has comprised an increased percentage of it.

Steel quickly matched the price increase, and the trend was on throughout the industry.

Indications now are that foreign-made steel will account for about 12 per cent, or 11 million tons, of total domestic consumption this year, reports the industry magazine, Steel.

The steel industry has all kinds of figures to show that its profits are a lower percentage of its gross income than many other industries.

This is an increase from 10.7 per cent of the 100.9 million tons used in 1966. American exports of steel, once amounting to several million tons, have fallen to about 1.7 million tons.

But if the record of the past 20 years holds any lesson, it is that higher steel prices merely result in higher prices for everything else, including the cost of making steel. We end up right where we were—except that it now takes more dollars to buy the same amount of goods and services.

Britain's devaluation of the pound is expected to give a boost to foreign competition, says Steel, both by making British steel cheaper and by forcing downward price adjustments by other steel-exporting nations.

This is not to mention the even greater advantage the latest price increase will give to foreign competition. American steelmakers would like to curb that advantage by having the government establish import quotas for foreign countries. So would the makers of a lot of other products.

In the face of all this, on the eve of new labor contract negotiations, and in spite of current estimates that total 1967 production of unfinished steel will be only about 6 per cent below the record of 134.1 million tons made in 1966, Big Steel has performed in its customary manner — by raising prices.

In light of the way the steel companies have reacted in the face of foreign competition in an open-market situation, the nation should think long and hard before it gives them, or any other industry, built-in protection against that competition.

U.S. Steel Corp., the nation's largest producer, led the way as it has in the past by raising prices of flat-rolled steel by $5 a ton. This kind of steel is used in a wide range of products, especially automobiles and household appliances, and accounts for some 17 or 18 per cent of all steel made.

But if the steel companies succeed in pricing their product so far out of competition that the government eventually has to do something drastic to rescue this most basic industry, the nation could experience more than the effects of administered inflation.

Trying as hard as No. 1, Bethlehem

The drive, already gathering, would be on for protectionism across the board. Foreign governments would retaliate, and the result would be the rebuilding of the high tariff walls of the 1930s that it has taken a generation to begin to dismantle.

PAUL HARVEY

Behind The Cigarette Smoke

Does all this epidemic of safety consciousness strike you as grotesquely incongruous? It does me.

Now we publish alongside the names of cigarettes the potentially deadly tar and nicotine content of each—while a government official is telling us that marijuana is not really so bad as we'd thought.

I was "crusading" against the cigarette in the years ago when many newspapers refused to publish my columns on the subject because they "just can't believe it!"

Now tax dollars are earmarked for nationwide campaigns to alert our citizenry to that hazard.

And at the same time there is a new, acute awareness of safety padding in motor cars.

And there is a public preoccupation with legislating against firearms.

Yet while we continue, in these respects, to demonstrate an almost neurotic anxiety about our safety, we continue to rot our liver with liquor and increase the horsepower under the hood and tranquilize and narcotize ourselves with a 11 manner of pills and powders.

It's the incongruity which makes the new cigarette warnings appear ludicrous.

We hear all sorts of concern for our safety behind a shock-absorbing steering wheel. Yet comparatively little for our safety aboard a busload of knife-fighting hooligans.

Congress appeared positively panicked in its sudden concern for federal meat inspection, though the worst that can happen to you from eating tainted beef is dysentery.

Are we like the disgruntled workman whose foreman is too big to whip so he goes home and beats up his wife? It sounds as if we are panicked by the dandelions in the lawn and almost unmindful of the crabgrass.

I don't know the derivation of the expression, but back home we used to call it "nit-picking" when anybody got incensed over a rain-stained hat while the river was about to burst the dam.

Aside from the health consideration, booze and bennies incite crime. Nobody hits a cab driver over the head for a cigarette or strangles a schoolgirl while under the influence of nicotine. Yet the lopsided fuss we are now making over this one self-harmful habit is smoke-screening a whole covey of culprits.

Don't misunderstand: Paul Harvey is a long-time reformed smoker. We're the worst kind. And I'm proud of our medical men forcing government recognition of this hazard over well-financed objections of the tobacco industry.

All I'm asking is why just this hazard? Too much public fuss over the cigarette and none at all over worse poisons can defeat the purpose.

Indeed, if a thoroughly mercenary, conscienceless tobacco manufacturer wanted to sell his product even over your dead body, he would probably castigate and agitate and irritate cigarette smokers by just such an inconsistent indictment as this until his breast-beating became laughable and his product generally acceptable again.

BRUCE BLOSSAT

The GOP: A Helping Hand

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The Republican party in Michigan is trying to gain what it has not had for decades—the trust and support of the problem-ridden people of the cities.

In Detroit and many other places, it has created what amounts to a social action arm, whose goal is problem-solving in behalf of thousands of harassed, frustrated, often angry citizens who are looking for help.

At the core of this so-called "involvement program" are steady efforts to help young jobseekers to talk dropouts, into continuing school, to aid victims of bureaucratic bungling or indifference as encountered at all levels of government.

The key element in these endeavors is the Metropolitan Action Center set up last April on Detroit's Woodward Avenue in one of the city's worst Negro slums. Today it handles an average of more than 60 problems a day.

Undoubtedly, the single most spectacular achievement of the Michigan GOP's involvement project came last summer when, with the emergency help of party groups in some 17 counties, 160,000 pounds of food was trucked into Detroit to provide relief for thousands of victims of the July riot.

gram occasionally looks a little like the old "Christmas baskets for the poor" which Democratic big city bosses made famous in the early 20th century.

At its most complex, the involvement effort casts its leadership as a pressure group upon government, as trouble-shooters, social workers, financial and job counselors. Its very tangible presence as a problem-solver stands as a rebuke to impersonal, often inefficient bureaucracies.

To the extent it works well as an offset to flumby government agencies, Michigan Republican leaders see this undertaking—now spread across more than 30 counties—as a practical and persuasive Republican answer to what they consider is the automatic Democratic approach: Simply asking more money for government programs which are already hopelessly bogged down.

(Actually, on a still quite limited scale, the Democratic party is beginning to try something similar to the Michigan program in Massachusetts and New York.)

The Michigan leaders, spurred on by tough-minded State Chairman Ely Peterson, make no secret of their fundamental political purpose in all this. Reads a party document in part:

"It was imperative that we act swiftly and decisively to improve the Republican image in the big cities. . . we had to prove to the inner-city people that their best interest today rests in the modern Republican party."

The leaders recognize that this new adventure in social action may put strains on established party concepts about free enterprise, property rights and the like. Says the same document:

"The Republican philosophy can withstand the test of such challenges and at no cost should an action center be taken away from a program because of fear that it might be too controversial for the Republican party."

That the Democrats have also begun to stir on the social action front makes a larger point. Popular distrust today embraces both parties. Increasingly, they are being viewed as simply mechanisms for the self-perpetuation of politicians who make promises they either cannot or will not fulfill.

An endeavor to give the parties the color and substance of social action agencies may ultimately be put down as a healthy move toward self-preservation, if—over a span of time—the social results prove impressive. But it is far too early to tell. "Involvement" is in its infancy.

MR. SPECTATOR

Watch The Wallet, Folks!

This is the Christmas season and everyone is happy. But don't run away with yourself. The spirit of Christmas does not prevail among all men.

Some are out for a fast buck and that activity just might cost you money—your Christmas money.

Yes, this is probably the happiest season of the year for the young, the old AND THE PICKPOCKETS. And we do have them in Twin Falls. Really! So remember: From the pickpocket's point of view, this is the ideal time. There are crowds in every shopping district and they are all there for the same reason—to spend money.

Christmas shoppers are notoriously careless with their belongings. A sales clerk in a large department store may find any number of pocketbooks and packages belonging to customers on her counter. These owners are lucky. They will have their belongings returned to them.

Mr. Spectator would like to hand out a little sage advice. Here are just a few things to keep in mind during the remaining days between now and Christmas.

Keep cash you carry to a minimum. Use charge plates or checks wherever possible.

Never open your purse or wallet in a crowd or display your money carelessly.

Men should carry wallets in inside coat pockets or side trouser pockets.

Beware of jostlers in a crowded store or public conveyance. If jostled, check immediately to be sure nothing is missing.

Women should never allow their purse to hang loosely from their arms. Hold it close to the body with the hand over the clasp.

Never lay a pocketbook on the counter while shopping.

Don't withdraw large sums of money from banks while en route to shopping areas.

Beware of strangers who offer to open doors or help carry packages.

These are obvious rules, but often forgotten in the hustle and bustle of the season. Reviewing them now may save grief later.

DRIVING COST

The news from New York City is enough to terrify all but the most affluent motorists. In parts of Manhattan, fines for illegal parking and moving violations will rise to $25, and parking overtime at a meter will cost $15.

In other areas of New York City, fines will also rise, but to lower levels. The new rules also prohibit payment by mail for moving violations.

If stiffer fines will help make it possible to drive without agony in New York, the plan is commendable.

DAY BEFORE CHRISTMAS

Twos the day before Christmas
And all through the house
Everyone was dashing
Around like a mouse!

The kids were excited
And Dad full of panic
For Ma was so busy
She was very near frantic.

There were cribs to decal
And stockings to sew
For it seems every one
Had a hole in the toe.

Lots of gifts to be wrapped
And more candy to make,
Oh, good glory be,
We'd forgotten fruitcake!

So dash around, dash around
And get busy all,
For it soon will be time
For Santa to call.

At last the kids are both tucked
In their beds
While dolls keep dancing
Around in their heads.

Nearby Ma and Pa
Have just settled down
Saying they're glad Christmas
Just once a year comes around!

CHARITY?

With all the money we're spending to feed the hungry all over the world, you'd think we could do something to fatten up our own skinny, underfed girls who have to model clothes for a living.

You know, the ones whose pictures are in the Christmas catalogues we're getting from the big department stores.

Did you ever see one of these girls who was fat? Or even on the plumpish side? They have 'em!

Models have thin, bony faces and thin, bony bodies. Their cheek bones stick out. Their eyes are sunken and hollow. And you can tell they're worried and unhappy because they hardly ever smile, even when they're having their picture taken.

Notice how often they have to prop themselves up to pose—on a fence rail or a tree stump? Why, they're just plain tucked out from lack of nourishment!

Charity, they say, begins at home. Let's begin it with these underfed girls with the hollow cheeks and pinched faces.

Rheumatic Fever

A reader writes that her grandson, 4, has rheumatic fever and is being treated with penicillin and cortisone. She wonders whether the disease can be cured, whether there is danger of a recurrence and whether treatment with cortisone is harmful.

Rheumatic fever is a serious disease that usually strikes children who are between 5 and 15. Most cases follow scarlet fever or a streptococcus sore throat. Because the disease smolders, like a fire that has been only partially put out, it is not safe to say that it has been cured but, with skilful treatment, recurrences can be prevented. Cortisone is usually given for only a short time during the acute stage and, when so given, there is no need to worry about harmful side effects.

When the acute stage has completely subsided, most doctors recommend a periodic course of treatment with a long-acting penicillin and avoidance of overfatigue to ward off recurrences.

Q—My son, 13, had rheumatic fever when he was 6. He made a good recovery but our doctor says he should never participate in such sports as football and track, which he greatly enjoys. What do you think?

A—Authorities agree that such a boy should avoid the so-called contact sports (football, basketball, boxing and wrestling). If he shows no signs of recurrence of his rheumatic fever and no evidence of damage to his heart, there is no reason why he should not enjoy track, swimming, tennis and similar sports.

Q—When is the best time of the year to have a child's tonsils removed? They say that summer is a bad time because it increases the risk of poliomyelitis. Is this true?

A—If your child has been immunized against poliomyelitis with the Sabin oral vaccine, this is no longer a hazard. He shouldn't have his tonsils out, however, if he has a cold or other respiratory infection. Incidentally, removal of the tonsils by freezing has some advantages, can be done in the morning in about 15 minutes and the child can eat soft foods for his evening meal.

Those Decisions

WASHINGTON (NEA) — As Robert McNamara prepares to leave the Pentagon, a great deal of misinformation is being spread about the attitudes of this country's senior military officers.

It is easy to picture men in uniform as smoke-snorting warmongers anxious to charge here and there.

Actually, the present top hierarchy in the Pentagon is heavily laced with very cautious men extremely leery about getting into any war and intensely worried about the United States becoming militarily involved too deeply in any overseas area.

Among Pentagon military men there are mixed feelings about the purely military worth of our sustained bombing of North Vietnam. Basically, the bombing was instituted for political-psychological reasons. That is, the purpose was psychological, to wear down Ho's will to carry on the war. It was a White House, not a military, decision.

The recent McNamara-Joint Chiefs of Staff arguments over bombing were less arguments for or against "all-out" bombing than arguments over whether this type of target or that was more important. Sometimes, in fact, the targets for which some military men argued would have "escalated" the war less than the targets which McNamara and the President chose.

In any event, in a war it is the duty of a military man to present what to him are militarily the most-effective targets. It is not within his competence to decide on the political considerations. He bows, not in disagreement; rather, he bows because he is concerned with only a part of the problem.

Take an example in World War II. When Eisenhower's forces were advancing in Europe, he sent messages to Washington stating that militarily it would be wise for U.S. and West European forces to advance as quickly as possible to Berlin, but that there might be political reasons for holding our forces back (and allowing the Russians to move in first). He waited for the President's word. Roosevelt made his decision to hold the U.S. forces back for political reasons. The overruling of Eisenhower's military suggestion did not indicate he was more or less a hawk than Roosevelt.

Actually, in the Pentagon there was considerable feeling among some military men against going into the Vietnam war at all because they believed it would be inconclusive and ineffective. President Kennedy's political decision was that it would be effective.

The high-ranking Pentagon military men whose views this reporter knows are overwhelmingly against a war with Red China and against invading North Vietnam. They believe the war must be won in the south. Most of these top military men known to this reporter now believe that while military action is necessary in South Vietnam to achieve the President's purpose, in the end the war will be won by the pacification projects which help to build democratic government, schools, medical stations and agriculture in the hamlets.

Local Students Planning European Tour

Approximately 25 Twin Falls high school students are making plans for a very special six-week experience next summer. They will go in two groups on a study tour of Europe and will study on some 40 college and university campuses across Europe.

League Schools in Twin Falls and the surrounding area, said the Twin Falls group will be among some 6,000 high school and college students taking advantage of the special program. Last year 5,000 students participated and it will be increased by about 1,000 this year. Any student from 15 through 19 years of age is eligible to participate.

Most of the Twin Falls students going are English and history students as the program, originally established for foreign language students, has now been expanded to numerous other subjects, including art, music and other suitable academic courses, Mr. Larsen explained. Mr. and Mrs. Larsen will make the trip with the students, as will Mrs. Ethel Warberg, high school teacher, and Mrs. Vaughn Pond.

PLANS FOR A summer six-weeks tour of Europe are discussed by students Dave Frantz and DeAnna Larson of Twin Falls High School and tour counselors Sterling Larsen and Mrs. Vaughn Pond. The two counselors, along with Mrs. Larsen and Mrs. Ethel Warberg, will accompany about 25 Twin Falls high school students to Europe for the special study program this summer under the Foreign Language League schools.

Students travel in groups of eight, Mr. Larsen said, and remain with one teacher-advisor throughout the tour. Each pays his or her own way and the cost, because of the size of the program, is exceptionally nominal. The entire six weeks, including jet transportation to Europe from New York, food and lodging, transportation around Europe and other expenses costs about $725 per student.

While in Europe, the students spend four hours each morning in classroom study on various campuses. Afternoons and holidays are given to guided tour excursions to points of historical interest in the various countries where they are studying at the time.

Mr. Larsen said the Foreign Language League headquarters is in Salt Lake City and was organized by a friend he has known for many years, James De Bry. Eight years ago the first tours were held, with 124 students, and in just eight years the program has grown to its present size of some 6,000, he pointed out.

The program is new this year in Twin Falls, Mr. Sterling explained. He said about 21 students already have signed for the coming summer, although they may continue to sign up until Feb. 1. This year's program, limited to 25, will probably be expanded in the future, he said.

Leading American educators have praised the program as a new concept in education, Mr. Larsen said. It combines classroom instruction with a person-to-person contact with the people of Europe. First-hand observation of points of interest in foreign countries makes them something more than just a history book study, he explained.

First Civil Defense Meet Successful

SHOSHONE — The first Civil Defense conference of its type was held Friday at the local courthouse.

According to county director, Reid Newby, though this is the first such conference in Lincoln County, it is the 85th in Idaho. State officials attending said this was one of the "very best" due to enthusiasm and interest.

During the morning sessions, a movie on the topic was presented, followed by a talk by David Hansen, adult education director of the University of Idaho.

He explained in detail workings of Civil Defense during the afternoon followed by small group discussions. Considered were shelter management, radiological defense, warning and communications. Each group then made recommendations for improvements that should be made in the Lincoln county civil defense program.

Merl Tibbs, State civil defense officer, was also present.

Announcement was made of the shelter management course to begin at 7 p.m. Dec. 15 at the courthouse. Other scheduled meeting dates will be decided then, all of the classes will total 16 hours, Newby said, with about eight hours study and eight hours shelter stay.

When setting up the shelter stay schedules, Newby said time available of those wishing to take the course will be considered, some of them will be set for night or seven Sundays in order to allow as many as possible to experience this part of the course.

He would like whole families to take this part of the course, to allow them an idea of how it would be for entire families to be put into a public shelter area, with no privacy, crowded conditions, poor food and little water, "all of which could happen" if it were the "real thing," Newby points out.

Protest Set

MOSCOW, Idaho (AP)—A demonstration against sale of toys fashioned like implements of war by Moscow merchants is scheduled for tonight by two University of Idaho organizations.

The campus Committee for the Peaceful Solution of World Problems and the Moscow Chapter of the In-Peace and Freedom intend to distribute literature between 7 and 9 p.m. to shoppers, a student spokesman said.

Arlon De Meyer said the group feel "there is sufficient evidence to establish a correlation between the degree of violence aroused in children and the kind of playthings they are offered."

A two-car accident Wednesday sent Mrs. Clara Shelton, 47, to Minidoka Memorial Hospital and caused damages of $1,500 to the two vehicles.

Mrs. Shelton was a passenger in a 1963 Buick driven by her husband, Joseph Shelton, 55, Rupert, when it collided head-on with a 1966 Ford Falcon driven by A. Edwin Larsen, 54, 431 Rose St., Twin Falls.

Mr. Larsen was traveling south on Meridian Road two and one-quarter miles south of Rupert when the car in front of him slowed to make a right turn into a field. He reported that he tried to stop his vehicle, was unable to and, awerved, colliding with the oncoming car driven by Mr. Shelton.

Mrs. Shelton is reported in good condition at the hospital.

CHARGED IN MURDER
NAMPA, Idaho (AP) — A 36-year-old Nampa man has been charged with second degree murder in the shooting death of a father of four outside a Nampa tavern.

Charged with the shooting was Telesforo G. Jimenez, Nampa. He was arrested less than an hour after police found the body of Andy Gonzales, 31, outside a tavern door.

Police said Gonzales was shot while he stood by a parked truck outside the tavern Friday night. He is survived by the widow and four children.

Jimenez was arraigned Saturday.

WOMAN HOSPITALIZED
BOISE (AP) — An elderly Boise woman was in a hospital today with head and back injuries she told police were inflicted by a masked man who beat her and stole her purse.

She was taken to the hospital Sunday night after seeking aid at a neighbor's house. She told police she was attacked outside her garage when she returned from an evening with friends.

The victim, Mrs. Georgia McPherson, 65, was listed in poor condition.

Police later found her purse with $30 in currency missing.

BEAL SWORN IN
BOISE (AP) — Burns Beal, former Republican state senator from Moore, Butte County, was sworn in Monday as a member of the Idaho Public Utilities Commission.

He was given his oath of office by Chief Justice C. J. Taylor.

Beal was appointed to the commission by Gov. Don W. Samuelson to fill the vacancy caused by the death two months ago of Ralph Paris, Payette. Beal's term runs until 1972.

Labor Okay On War Policy Is Challenged

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The first challenge to the AFL-CIO's strong support for President Johnson's Vietnam war policies arose on the floor of the labor federation's convention today, with one delegate saying "this war is a tragic mistake."

The debate arose over a proposed resolution saying "the AFL-CIO reaffirms its unequivocal support of President Johnson's policy in Vietnam."

Charles Cogen, president of the 140,000-member American Federation of Teachers proposed a substitute measure that "the AFL-CIO take no position on the Vietnam Situation."

AFL-CIO President George Meany has pledged the support of his 14-million-member federation to Johnson's war policies and homefront social program.

Leon J. Davis, president of a New York local of the Retail, Wholesale and Department Workers union, said "This war is a tragic mistake."

There was no immediate action on the proposed resolution.

Shriver Vows To Keep Watch On Antipoverty Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sarag Shriver promises Congress he'll keep a close watch on the way cities carry out a controversial proposal to put community antipoverty programs under public control.

The director of the Office of Economic Opportunity sent the assurance to Congress as the House prepared to vote today on a two-year extension of the antipoverty program.

The bill, a compromise between earlier House and Senate versions, would authorize $1.98 billion for the current fiscal year and $2.18 billion next year. The House is expected to send it to the White House, ending a long, rough trip through Congress.

Although the bill makes many changes in administration and operation of the three-year-old program, most debate has centered around a House-adopted provision to permit states or local governments to designate themselves as Community Action agencies.

Nearly all the agencies which receive and allocate federal funds for various programs are private although public officials generally serve on their governing boards.

When the Senate passed the measure 62 to 16 Friday, Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said the House provision would turn the program over to politicians.

Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., said it would be emasculated.

But Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., who fought unsuccessfully to eliminate the provision in a House-Senate conference, said there was "nothing disastrous

GIVEN INTERVIEW
BOISE (AP) — Idaho Gov. Don W. Samuelson will have by Tuesday names of at least two persons for appointment to a vacancy on the district bench in eastern Idaho.

Seven applicants were interviewed this weekend. The vacancy was created by the death two weeks ago of Seventh District Judge Paul Crane of Blackfoot.

Names of the applicants were not released by the Idaho Judicial Council, which conducted the interviews in executive session.

Council secretary Thomas Miller, Boise, said at least two and not more than four names will be forwarded to Samuelson.

McCLURE SPEAKS
CALDWELL, Idaho (AP) — Rep. James A. McClure, R-Idaho, differed sharply with "dovish" contemporaries this weekend, saying the war in Vietnam is strengthening the resolve of other Asian nations against communism.

In a speech at a Republican luncheon, McClure contended that fighting now in Vietnam may prevent the outbreak of World War III elsewhere.

He called the conflict "a demonstration for all to see that America is determined to halt communist aggression."

"Despite what others may say," McClure said, "I am convinced that we are preventing the outbreak of World War III by drawing the line in Vietnam."

STATE ELEVATED
BOISE (AP) — The State of Idaho has been elevated from a missionary district to a diocese by the Episcopal Church.

The action came at this weekend's primary convention of delegates from 11 congregations across the state. Retained as diocesan bishop was the Rt. Rev. Norman L. Foote.

The new designation means the Idaho convention will now elect its bishops. As a missionary district, its bishops were appointed by the Episcopal House of Bishops.

OFFER OPPOSED
KELLOGG, Idaho (AP) — The president of Bunker Hill Co. indicated opposition today to the $39.2 million offer of Gulf Resources and Chemical Corp. for Bunker Hill stocks.

C. E. Schwab urged shareholders to be cautious and said they could "do better" than the GRC offer, made in New York last week.

Schwab said he was advised last Friday by R. H. Allen, head of GRC, that the tender offer was "the initial step to seize control of Bunker Hill and merge it into GRC."

McCarthy Suggests U.S. Concede Some Areas Of South Vietnam To Viet Cong

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy suggests the United States should concede some areas of South Vietnam to the Viet Cong in a bid to generate peace talks.

The proposal by McCarthy, the Minnesota Democrat who plans an antiwar campaign challenge to President Johnson in four 1968 primaries, drew immediate fire Sunday from the administration.

Eugenie M. Anderson, a U.S. representative to the U.N. General Assembly, said of McCarthy's proposal:

"I was surprised to hear him say that because I think that anyone who understands the Communists understands that you don't begin negotiating with Communists from a position of weakness if you want to negotiate seriously and expect to achieve anything by negotiations."

In an interview, Mrs. Anderson predicted ultimate U.S. success in Vietnam if the public shows the same perseverance

"that the South Vietnamese are showing."

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey also ruled out yielding to the Viet Cong control of land in South Vietnam.

"I think this struggle will be won in the countryside," he said. "This is why I have never believed in enclaves. And this is why I think that some of these gimmicks that have been devised have not really had much merit to them."

McCarthy said the Viet Cong has strongholds in some areas of South Vietnam, and suggested there are other areas the United States need not control.

"You let the Viet Cong come in, you see what happens and during that time you try to negotiate," he said.

The Minnesota also said the reported impending resignation of U.N. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg is evidence of U.S. reluctance to negotiate an end to the Vietnam war.

McCarthy spoke on the CBS program "Face the Nation." Humphrey was interviewed on ABC's "Issues and Answers." Meanwhile Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., 75-year-old dean of the Senate and a Johnson war policy critic, said in an interview that Johnson "is really asking unconditional surrender."

In Princeton, N.J., the Gallup Poll said its November survey of 1,583 households indicated a growing number of Americans believe Red China would intervene in the war if the United States showed signs of winning.

Gallup said nearly 49 per cent of those polled in November feared Chinese intervention, as compared with 40 per cent in August and 38 per cent in June.

History-Making Heart Patient Undergoes Cobalt Treatment

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — Louis Washkansky, the history-making heart transplant patient, underwent cobalt treatment today for the third time since the operation Dec. 2 and was described as making satisfactory progress.

Cobalt treatments and drugs are being used on Washkansky to counter the natural tendency of the body to reject foreign tissues, such as the new heart. A spokesman at Groote Schuur Hospital said there are no signs that his body is trying to reject the heart, and no infection has occurred.

"Mr. Washkansky had a comfortable night," said a bulletin issued by the hospital today. "He enjoyed a meal of steak and eggs Sunday night and porridge, two soft boiled eggs, toast and coffee for breakfast." It added that his doctors saw him this morning and were satisfied with his progress.

Since they are dealing with the unknown, the doctors said there may be complications they had not foreseen. But one said privately: "We think we've got our problems licked."

"I am very confident he will pull through," said Dr. Christian N. Barnard, leader of the team which replaced the 53-year-old wholesale grocer's failing heart on Dec. 3 with the healthy heart of a 25-year-old woman killed in an auto crash.

Barnard, in an article on the historic operation for The Associated Press, said the future of heart transplantation appears most encouraging and plans are under way for a second such operation at Groote Schuur Hospital within the next few weeks.

He warned, however, that heart transplant operations will not become widespread for a number of years.

"The difficulties are not only those associated with the organization of a large and highly skilled team but are most particularly concerned with the supply of suitable hearts for transplantation," Barnard said. Developments in overcoming the rejection tendency may mean the donor and recipient will not have to be so closely matched and may even allow the use of organs from animals in man, he said.

"Research work in the field of organ preservation may advance sufficiently to allow the establishment of organ banks," he added, "but despite all these possible future expansions of the technique, the demand for new hearts is very likely always to exceed the supply."

"Artificial hearts are the logical alternative, and even though these are more likely to be freely available in the future, their development, and even more so their perfection, are still many years ahead."

Since Washkansky came through the first recorded heart transplant, the main worry had been the natural tendency of the body to reject foreign tissue, and there was a faint sign Saturday that might have indicated rejection. Treatment to counteract this was intensified slightly and X-rays Sunday showed no sign of rejection.

Barnard said doctors now are concerned primarily about the risk of infection since treatments to counter rejection tendencies have lowered Washkansky's natural resistance.

Rupert Decorates For Yule

By FLOSSIE KAY
Times News Correspondent

RUPERT—One of the community services which the Rupert Chamber of Commerce gives that many people aren't aware of is the Christmas street lighting project.

For several years the Chamber has matched funds with the City to purchase new decorations and to replace bulbs, wire, and things that wear out each year.

Clarence Birrer, Chamber chairman of the lighting committee, pointed out that real fir boughs were used to trim the street light posts as it has more warmth than the artificial greenery and it has to be replaced each year.

Besides the trim on the light posts, each of the main intersections has garlands and a big light and the park in the square is decorated.

The jolly Santa Christmas tree in the center of the park was purchased last year and the new item this year is the Noel sign at one of the entrances to the park.

Mr. Birrer also noted that the lights are being spread out to the outlying areas. The street light posts along Highway 30 are trimmed with greenery and Christmas decorations.

The lights are put up each year by city employees with help from the Project Mutual Telephone Co. employees and equipment.

Because of this joint effort Rupert is dressed in her holiday best and a visit, especially at night, really fills one with the yuletide spirit.

THIS JOLLY SANTA Claus Christmas tree is one of the many seasonal decorations which give Rupert a Yuletide appearance. Each year the Chamber of Commerce matches funds with the city to purchase new decorations and replace others. The tree was purchased last year and this year a new item is the Noel sign at one of the entrances of the park in the Rupert city square.

Government Workers May Get Bonus

WASHINGTON (AP)—Final congressional action on raising postal rates and the pay of federal workers is expected in time to give government employees a Christmas bonus: Salary boosts retroactive to Oct. 1.

Similar increases are in line for members of the military services under separate legislation.

The postal rate increases, affecting all classes of mail and increasing to 6 cents the cost of mailing a first-class letter, will not take effect until Jan. 7.

Two bills containing the increases—one covering postal rates and civilian employees and the other covering the military—are scheduled for House action today.

The Senate approved the military pay bill Friday, shortly after a compromise was reached. It is expected to move quickly on the postal measure so President Johnson's signature can put the machinery into motion to include the retroactive increases in the next paychecks of government workers.

The postal pay bill, glued together by the House Post Office Committee in an effort to make it veto-proof, exceeds Johnson's recommendations, both in the cost of the pay boosts and in the revenue expected from new postal rates.

But the President is expected to sign it.

It also contains the latest form of a bill vetoed by the President last summer to increase life insurance coverage for federal workers, and it has a stiff ban on future nepotism applying to all employees of the executive, legislative and judiciary branches.

Supersonic Transport Plane Shown

TOULOUSE, France (AP)—To the blare of martial music, model No. 001 of the French-British supersonic transport plane Concorde made its first public appearance today.

The needle-nosed plane with delta wings set far to the rear of the fuselage was not unduly exposed to the elements, however. It was towed just outside the doors of the big specially fitted out hanger at the edge of the airport, where it towered over the figures of pilots and hostesses from 16 airlines that have ordered Concorde.

The Concorde is the first of the projected supersonic passenger planes—SSTs—in the world. The Soviet Union has announced it has one under construction and it is expected to be given a test flight some time next year. An American SST will be built by Boeing.

The maiden flight for the Concorde is set for Feb. 28.

With an estimated cost of almost $1.5 billion—about twice the estimates when the program was begun in 1962—the Concorde is the most expensive international public works project undertaken. Development costs are being shared equally by the French and British governments. Sud Aviation in France and British Aircraft Corp. are the principal developers.

Airlines have already ordered 74 of the planes which fly about 2.2 times the speed of sound. This comes to about 1,450 miles an hour. The first production model is expected to enter service in 1971.

Concert Set

JEROME—The Jerome High School band and various choruses will be featured in a district-wide Christmas concert to be presented at 8 p.m. Dec. 18 at the high school gymnasium.

Students from the elementary level through high school will take part in the event. The program is free and the public is invited.

FIREMENS CALLED

GLENN'S FERRY—The Glenns Ferry Volunteer Fire Department was called to the Earl Heath home at 950 E. Cleveland Friday afternoon. A fire in one wall had been extinguished before the department arrived. Charles Bullock, chief, said he did not know how the fire originated.

Out Our Way

Better Go!

BRANDENBURG, Ky. (AP)—Mrs. Garland Brown recently asked her five-year-old daughter, Emly, if she intends to go to college.

"If I don't," the youngster sighed, "the Army's going to get me."

Nobel Prizes Given To 1967 Winners

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)—King Gustav VI Adolf distributed the $62,000 Nobel Prizes for physics, chemistry, medicine and literature to the 1967 winners Sunday. They included three Americans.

The money for the annual awards comes from the legacy of dynamite king Alfred Nobel.

The fifth category in the Nobel awards, the Peace Prize, was not given this year.

The recipients received their awards in a ceremony in Concert Hall before an audience consisting of 2,000 invited guests, including royalty, statesmen, scientists and diplomats.

The awards:

—Physics: Prof. Hans A. Bethe, 61, of Cornell University, Ithaca, N.Y., cited for "contributions to the theory of nuclear reactions, especially his discoveries concerning the energy production in stars."

—Medicine: Shared by three men, Dr. Haldan Keffer Hartline, 64, of the Rockefeller Institute in New York; Dr. George Wald, 60, of Harvard University, Cambridge, Mass.; and Dr. Ragnar Granit, 66, of the Royal Caroline Institute, Stockholm. They were cited for discoveries of what makes the human eye see.

—Literature: Miguel Angel Asturias, 68, Guatemalan writer and diplomat, cited for "highly colored writings rooted in a national individuality and Indian tradition."

—Chemistry: Shared, with one half going to Prof. Ronald G. W. Norrish, 67, and George Porter, 47, both of Britain, and the other half to Manfred Eigen, 40, of West Germany, for their "studies of extremely fast chemical reactions, effected by disturbing the equilibrium by means of very short pulses of energy."

Jimie Rodgers Is Recovering

GLENDALE, Calif. (AP)—Folk singer Jimmie Rodgers was reported in "very much improved condition" Sunday following a second operation in which nearly one-fourth of his skull was removed.

"This is by far the smoothest day he's had so far," said Dr. William Donham. "If he continues to improve he should be off the critical list in three or four days."

"It's still anybody's guess how this thing will turn out, but Rodgers has the constitution of a horse and is responding extremely well."

Administration Financial Policies Hit By GOP Chiefs

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republican leaders charged today that administration financial policies "are marked by wild extravagance" and said this may lead to a White House request that gold backing behind the U.S. currency be eliminated.

The Republican Coordinating Committee unanimously approved a declaration that: "Eight years of deficits and irresponsible spending have brought the nation to the brink of financial crisis."

"We deplore that the Johnson administration may soon find it necessary to request removal of the remaining gold backing behind our currency, now 25 per cent, thus turning it wholly into paper money," the committee statement said.

Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, the House GOP leader, proposed the policy statement and said he understood "that some of the members of the administration" have been discussing possible removal of the gold backing of currency.

Earlier, Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis., said the influence of Republican governors on presidential politics is "going down the drain." He said this decrease in influence has caused George Romney's chance of winning the GOP nomination for president next year to fade.

Laird, talking with newsmen outside a session of the Republican coordinating committee, said the governors "made a mistake" in failing to align their forces behind one of the contenders for the presidential nomination at their three-day conference at Palm Beach, Fla.

'I Spy' Wedding Held For Stars

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—It was an "I Spy" wedding for actor Robert Culp and actress France Nuyen.

The wedding Saturday took place at the home of the show's producer, Sheldon Leonard, and looking on was Culp's co-star, Bill Cosby.

It was the third marriage for Culp, and the second for Eurasian actress.

For the ceremony Miss Nuyen wore a mini-dress and mini-veil.

Rupert Receives Federal Grant

RUPERT—Local Improvement District No. 10 was approved at public hearing held by the Rupert City Council meeting.

Telegrams from Sens. Len Jordan and Frank Church were read notifying the council of approval of its application for a federal grant of $11,880 which will be used for an interceptor sewer and lift station in the northeast zone in the E Street area.

Carl Williams asked approval of a plat of his Big Valley Subdivision which he has changed to meet FHA specifications. The council approved the plat and will check on the cost of placing underground electrical service there.

Al Southall was appointed as chairman of the Library Board to fill the vacancy left by Dr. R. C. Phillips who resigned as chairman but will remain as a member of the board. Ruby Gilmore was appointed to fill the vacancy on the board left by Dr. Charles Lehrman who is moving to Buhl.

The council voted to proceed with installation of the pumping unit on the sewer outfall line at 200 South and 100 East. Hamilton and Voelker were authorized to draw up the specifications.

Indiana Man Opens Center For Reagan

WASHINGTON (AP)—A "Reagan for President" headquarters is being set up here by an Indiana millionaire who says he's never seen Reagan except on television.

Walter J. Dilbeck Jr., who as an Army private was cited for turning back a German charge singlehandedly, aims at turning the cause of American politics with a national campaign to gather petitions supporting California Gov. Ronald Reagan for the Republican presidential nomination.

"I think if he gets enough backing he'll come out, I think that's what he's waiting for," said Dilbeck. "I find the interest underneath everywhere is for Reagan."

2 Arrested In Bridge Collapse

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Local officials have arrested two construction officials in connection with the collapse of a partially completed bridge which killed at least 19 workers last Monday.

The two, field engineer Mario Perez Gonzalez and Juan Antonio Colunga, general manager of the firm which built temporary supports for the bridge, have said the collapse may have resulted from flaws in the earth beneath the structure.

Their attorney, Andres Iglesias Baillet, contended that two were scapegoats arrested to calm adverse public reaction.

The fire chief noted the deteriorating condition of some of the buildings in town creating a fire hazard. Property owners will be notified and action will be taken to get the buildings and lots cleaned up.

Police Chief Ed Cuervo reported that reserve officers had served 2,162 hours in the last year.

The council voted to send three men from the electrical department to electrical code school and authorized payment for their manuals.

The mayor was authorized to sign an extension rider to an agreement with the Union Pacific Railroad covering power line encroachments.

15-Year-Old Admits Kidnaping, Slaying

By HARVEY HUDSON
PARIS (AP) — A 15-year-old school boy admitted Sunday that he kidnaped and killed Emmanuel Malliart, 7, last Monday, police report, and then led police to the shallow grave where the body was found in a small wood near his home.

Jean-Claude M., no further identification is permitted since publication of the names of minors in criminal cases is forbidden in France—told police he killed Emmanuel with a thick piece of wood about 15 minutes after he had left school in Versailles Monday to go home for lunch. The boys attended the same school.

Professor To Give Talk At Rupert Meet

RUPERT — Russell B. Withers, associate professor of Agricultural Economics at the University of Idaho, will be the guest speaker at the United Crop, Inc., annual meeting which will be held at 10 a.m. Wednesday in the Rupert Elks Lodge.

Professor Withers has been teaching agricultural economics and doing research on crop production costs in Idaho since 1961 when he received his Ph. D. from Cornell University. He received his B. S. and M. S. degrees from Utah State University.

Last year he received the associate professor title. He has published cost studies for potatoes, dairy production, sugar beets and farm production credit.

Two three-year term directors will be elected at the meeting.

Pfc. Curtis G. Hansen, who is a member of the 101st Airborne Division which recently departed for Vietnam, spent a 10-day leave visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alton Hansen, Burley. He is in the Military Police Co. and has had special training as a crew chief on a Huey helicopter.

After about two hours, Jean-Claude M., who turned 15 only two days ago, was taken to police headquarters. A short time later his mother, accompanied by two policemen, arrived there. Shortly after midnight a man about 50 years old, a friend of the mother, was seen stretched out on the rear seat of a car entering headquarters.

T. F. Pioneer Woman Dies At Age Of 91

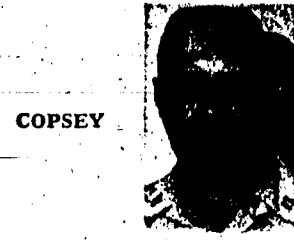

Mrs. Clementine Drury Smith, 91, 251 Fifth Ave. E., Twin Falls, died of a short illness at noon Sunday at Hazledel Manor.

She was born Dec. 25, 1875, at Hustiford, Wis. She was a pioneer of the Twin Falls area where she came in August, 1905, from Omaha, Neb., to join her husband. She homesteaded a farm northeast of Twin Falls.

She was married to George H. Smith in 1898 at Pender, Neb. He died in 1928 in Twin Falls.

Mrs. Smith was active in the Christian Science Church and was one of the organizers of the group in the Twin Falls area. She was interested in civic affairs and her husband set up the bookkeeping for the first official books for Twin Falls County in 1904.

Surviving are three daughters.

Chaplain Roy D. Copsey, son of Mrs. Mae I. Copsey of Gooding, has received the Air Force Commendation Medal at Pleiku Air Base, Vietnam. Chaplain Copsey was decorated for meritorious service at Minot Air Force Base, N. D. He was cited for his outstanding professional skill, knowledge and pastoral duties. He is a member of the Pacific Air Forces and also served during the Korean War.

Head Covered

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A woman entering a suburban Catholic church began rummaging around in her purse, evidently looking for her chapel veil. She couldn't find it but inspiration led to a novel head covering—a $1 bill.

Mrs. Albert (Frances) Murray, Pocattello; Mrs. Rudy (Mary) Aminger, Aptos, Calif.; and Mrs. Jack (Margaret) Wood, Los Angeles, Calif., are son, Walter Smith, Twin Falls, and four grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren. Two children preceded her in death.

Funeral services will be conducted at 11 a.m. Wednesday at White Mortuary Chapel by a Christian Science reader. Final rites will be at Twin Falls Cemetery. Friends may call Tuesday and until 10 a.m. Wednesday at White Mortuary Chapel.

Committee Reports On Klan Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Ku Klux Klan continues to use terror as a tool to achieve white supremacy and remains "a vehicle of death, destruction and fear" says the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

Summarizing a two-year investigation in a 371-page report, the committee said Klans "operate today as in the past—as conspiracies to deprive certain citizens of rights guaranteed by the Constitution."

"Klans moreover have continued to rely on terrorism as an instrument for achieving so-called white supremacy and other objectives," the committee said.

"Klan involvement in kidnappings, beatings, arson, bombings and outright murder in recent years compels the committee to view a Klan as a vehicle for death, destruction and fear."

The committee said 16,810 Klansmen were members of 14 Klan groups operating in 18 states with the heaviest membership in the United Klans of America headed by Robert Shelton of Tuscaloosa, Ala. The report traces the history of the Klan and lists the 714 individual units, or Klaverns; it found in operation. The total includes 56 women's auxiliaries.

PRESTON, England (AP) — Fearful of a disastrous explosion, 60 firemen fought flames in a large dockside warehouse here Saturday and saved hundreds of barrels of stored rum.

Pair Of Church Robbers Captured By Congregation

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—A man and a woman wearing woolski masks interrupted a church sermon Sunday with an attempted holdup.

Both were captured by the congregation of the New Liberty Missionary Baptist church after the gunman fired a shot which ricocheted off the floor into the back of a pew.

James Morris, 28, a member of the congregation, was confronted by the pair when he had a coughing spell and stepped out the rear door of the church.

The man shoved a pistol against Morris' head and marched him down an aisle.

"The cause of Christ is in the church," the Rev. Ken Ashlock, the minister, was saying. "Surely the love of God abides there."

"The love of God is nowhere!" shouted the gunman. "Don't say another word, preacher."

The man and woman, urging Morris ahead of them, went up to the pulpit and the woman whispered to the minister: "We want all the take."

"The money's not here, it's in the office," replied the Rev. Mr. Ashlock, stepping out of the pulpit to show the way.

The woman marched the pastor down one aisle and her companion, holding his cocked pistol to Morris' head, walked down the other aisle.

As Morris and his captor neared the rear of the church, the gunman lowered his pistol. Hugh English, a member of the congregation, leaped out of his seat in a back-row pew and grappled with the gunman. The

In front of the hammer of the pistol. The gunman snapped the revolver repeatedly but English's hand stopped it from firing. Clell Drisk, the church treasurer, seized the woman and pinned her arms behind her. Then police were called.

Dear Abby

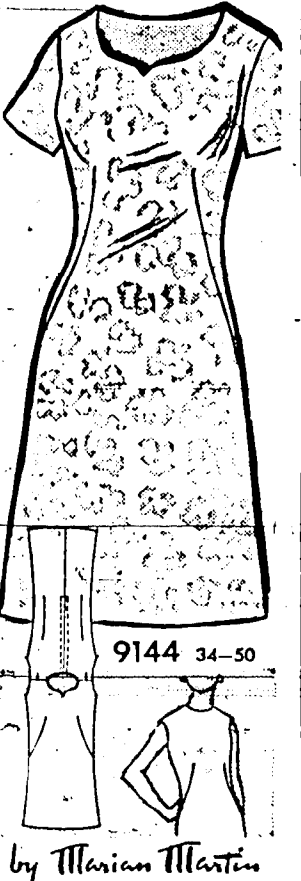

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: I suspected my husband of being untrue to me, so I went to a lawyer about a separation or divorce. My husband denies any unfaithfulness and he wants us back together again. (We have children.)
My lawyer told me that every man is untrue to his wife at one time or another, and my husband is no exception. He said the more trusting a wife is, the better it is for her husband. It makes cheating easier.
Is this true, Abby? I just can't believe it. My husband is a good father, and he said he was happy with me in every way. My lawyer says I have two choices. Go back to my husband for the children's sake and put up with his cheating, or divorce him and raise my children alone. Please say something to help me. I love my husband, but I am so confused.
M IN FLA

DEAR DIGS: If you give him any more money, you left your brains in your other head. Lend him bus fare and tell this groovy guy to go home and get his wallet.
DEAR ABBY: I am 69 and my wife is a little older. In our younger years, unfortunately I was too busy making a living to learn how to play cards. My complaint is that my wife goes out with a group of ladies who have been her life-long friends and they play cards on the average of twice a week.
I have no objections to that except sometimes she doesn't get home until 1 o'clock in the morning! In the meantime I sit alone. She takes the car and picks up some of the others, and at her age her reflexes could be slowing down and if she gets into an accident, that is all I need.
She says it is her "diversion." I say, "Why can't we do something together for diversion?" She thinks I'm selfish. Well, if worrying about her is selfish, then I'm selfish. Please print this with your answer, but don't use my name or town. I will be governed by your advice.
SELFISH

DEAR M: There are plenty of faithful married men, and your husband could be one of them. The only thing you can be sure of is that your lawyer cheats on his wife. Give your husband another chance.

DEAR ABBY: I work, and make a pretty good salary. The guy I go with is still in college, and he gets an allowance which is almost as much as my salary, but he never seems to have any money. I am always helping him out with money for gas, cigarettes, and movies. If he would ask me for a regular "loan" and pay me back, I wouldn't mind, but he always says he left his money in his other pants. He's real groovy otherwise and I really dig this guy. How should I handle it?
DIGS HIM

Marian Martin Pattern

DEAR SELFISH: Are you honestly worried about your wife? Or are you a little jealous because her "diversion" does not include you? Don't expect your wife to give up her card playing after all these years. Occupy yourself on those nights, and you won't be so lonely, resentful, and worried.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "T and J": When I said, "Your marriage has little chance to succeed," I didn't necessarily mean it would probably end in divorce. There are many marriages today that are utter failures, though undissolved.

Gift Exchange Held At Party

KING HILL — The Annual Christmas gift exchange party was held Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Elmer Williams, sponsored by the King Hill Home Improvement Club members with Mrs. John Davis, president, in charge of a short business meeting.

Election of officers was not held and the women decided to present Sandra Bennett, student at the Deaf and Blind School at Gooding, with a Christmas gift. Mrs. Williams was appointed to see about the gift.

Gifts were exchanged and refreshments were served by Mrs. Williams and assisted by Mrs. Martin Woodward.
The next meeting will be January 4.

MR. AND MRS. GARY D. AUFDERHEIDE

Linda Ulrich, Aufderheide Wed In November Ceremony

The Immanuel Lutheran Church, Twin Falls, was the setting for the Nov. 4 wedding which united in marriage Linda Ulrich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Ulrich, Hollister, and Gary D. Aufderheide, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Aufderheide, Filer.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Harold then before an altar decorated with large baskets of purple and turquoise chrysanthemums and gold candelabra holding white tapers. The center aisle was decorated with turquoise carnations tied with turquoise and purple bows.

The bride, escorted down the aisle by her father, wore a Bridal Original gown, fashioned with a scalloped, sabrina neckline of Chantilly lace and sprinkled with sequins. The dress featured a fitted bodice and long lily point sleeves. The skirt of cascading ruffles edged with lace swept into a cathedral train.

She carried a cascading bouquet of white gardenias centered with a lavender orchid. Peau de soie with pearls and crystals in a cascade caplet held her elbow-length veil of English silk illusion.

Becky Ulrich, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Karen Aufderheide, sister of the bridegroom, Nanette Bunce, Pocatelto, and Sandra Ulrich, sister of the bride. Naomi Aufderheide, sister of the bridegroom, served as junior bridesmaid and Carla Van Wensveen, Salt Lake City, cousin of the bride, was the flower girl.

Marlin Aufderheide was best man for his brother. Groomsman were Glenn Fischer, Logan, Utah; Wally Jerke, Soda Springs, and Roger Jones, Hollister. Jerry Aufderheide, brother of the bridegroom, was the ringbearer. Ushers were Ray Aufderheide, brother of the bridegroom; Mark Aufderheide, Jerome, cousin of the bridegroom; and Paul Ulrich and Robert Ulrich, cousins of the bride.

Nelda Meyer played the wedding music and accompanied Pam Gardner, Pocatelto, soloist. Mrs. Roger Newton, sister of the bridegroom, was in charge of the guest book at the church.

Colts Continue Winning Streak, Will Battle L.A. Rams For Division Title

By GEORGE BOWEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
BALTIMORE (AP) — The unbeaten Baltimore Colts plodded to an unimpressive 30-10 rainy Sunday victory over the lowly New Orleans Saints to go into the last National Football League scheduled game next Sunday at Los Angeles needing only a tie to win their division. It was the 11th victory for the Colts, who have been tied twice, making them the first league team since the Chicago Bears in 1934 to go through 13 games without defeat. Los Angeles posted its 10th victory 27-24 over Green Bay Saturday. The Rams have lost one and tied two, one with the Colts and that have to win to take the Coastal Division crown over Baltimore. Quarterback John Unitas suffered one of his poorest passing days in a long time against the Saints, winner of only two games. The Colts had to resort three times to field goals by Lou Michaels in order to score. Unitas completed only 10 of 24 for 148 yards and failed for only the second time this season to throw a touchdown pass. He had several knocked down at the line of scrimmage and twice was dumped for losses. With the defense setting up all the opportunities, the longest Colt scoring drive was 40 yards, and that was the last. Tony Lorck ratted one yard for a touchdown at the end of a 29-yard thrust in the first period, and Tom Matte ran for two yards after the Colts had to travel from the New Orleans 30 in the second period. Jerry Hill plunged a yard for the Colts' fourth period touchdown, set up by Alvin Haymond's 33-yard return with a pass interception. Michaels 21, and 17 yards to run his consecutive string to 10. The Saints scored on a 35-yard field goal by Charles Durkee early in the third quarter, and later in the same period Charley Brown scampered five yards for a touchdown.

Punt Rule Likely To Stay On Books

By FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeature Sports Editor
Are the athletic directors who are members of the National Collegiate Athletic Association football rules committee ganging up on their hired hands, the men who coach the sport? There may be no answer to the question until January when the coaches meet in New York during the annual NCAA convention. While the coaches are busy trying to wind up the football season, some athletic directors seem to have "a thing" going for them. You might call it electioneering before the polls. It concerns the 1967 punt rule which forbids interior linemen on the punting team from leaving their stations until the ball is punted. Both Ivy Williamson, chairman of the rules committee and athletic director at Wisconsin, and Len Casanova, Oregon's athletic director, have said in effect: "I see nothing wrong with the new punting rule. Coaches believed the rule would add to injuries and bring on more out-of-bounds punts. The rule has cut down on the number of fair catches of punts as we intended it would." Dave Nelson, rules committee secretary-editor and Delaware's athletic director, is the latest to defend the controversial rule which has added yardage on punt returns. Nelson points out that on 584 reported punts only three injuries have turned up. May the rules committee finally did come up with a good rule last January. However, Duffy Daugherty, Michigan State's coach who has lost seven games for the first time in his career, says: "I hope they are right regarding the injuries. I know many coaches who don't like the punting rule and maybe we ought to wait until all the returns are in." Nelson says there might be a rule change to speed the ball into play within 20 seconds instead of the present 25 seconds. Such a move might add another 10 plays to a college football game. Conversely, it might add more five-yard penalties because some teams use a slow count between plays and these teams might have trouble operating within 20 seconds. Nelson says college teams now average 15.6 seconds between plays. Nelson also indicated the possibility of limiting substitution. Some colleges are complaining about transporting too many players because of the current unlimited sub rule. You will hear all kinds of suggestions from the coaches following the bowl games. The suggestions will be kicked around at the convention and a week later the rules committee of 16 members will head down Florida way and try to come up with rule changes. Sometimes they listen to the pleas of the coaches. Sometimes they don't, which was the case last January when the new punting rules went on the books.

Athletic Director Dies At Kentucky

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Bernie A. Shively, athletic director at the University of Kentucky, died Sunday afternoon about two hours after suffering a heart attack. Shively, 64, had been athletic director at Kentucky since 1938. Before that, he served in other capacities at the university for 11 years. Shively was found at home by his wife and rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital, where he died. The UK head was a past chairman of the NCAA Tournament Committee and, for the past 14 years has been president of the Southeastern Conference Coaches and Athletic Directors Association. He also served as chairman of the SEC basketball committee for a number of years, and was past chairman of the NCAA summer baseball group. Survivors include his widow and two children. Shively's son Doug, is an assistant football coach at Kentucky. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

CALDWELL — Dick Brott scored 22 points to pace the AAU National team past the College of Idaho frosh 67-63 Saturday night.

Another fine product of United States Tobacco Company

The 49ers built up a 17-7 lead at halftime but had to fight off a strong Falcon comeback in the second half led by quarterback Randy Johnson. Johnson, who completed only four passes in the first half, came alive in the second half and put the Falcons back in the game with three touchdown passes, one an 82-yard bomb to end Ray Ogden, the longest scoring pass in the Falcons' two-year NFL history. Another scoring pass was a 13-yard toss to flanker Gary Barnes, who later dropped a sure touchdown pass which would have given the Falcons at least a tie. Johnson also hit Jerry Simmons for a 21-yard score in the final period.

Washington Saves Win Over Steelers

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Sonny Jurgensen suffered one of his worst days but salvaged a 15-10 victory for Washington over Pittsburgh Sunday with a late 33-yard touchdown pass to Charlie Taylor in a National Football League game played in a driving rainstorm. Jurgensen, the league's leading passer, completed only nine of 32 passes for 155 yards as Taylor, the league's top receiver, and Washington's other ends kept dropping the rain-soaked ball. But Taylor, who had caught only one pass in the first 55 minutes, made the two key grabs in the Redskins' winning touchdown drive. He took a Jurgensen pass for 16 yards on a third-and-seven situation that carried to Pittsburgh 44 and five plays later beat Bob Hohm for the final touchdown with 2:56 to play. Pittsburgh made a last-ditch bid to come back, but Paul Krause picked off his third interception of the game to clinch the victory. Rookie Kent Nix, who went all the way at quarterback for the Steelers, teamed with J. R. Wilburn on a 78-yard drive that put Pittsburgh ahead for the first time 10-9 early in the fourth quarter.

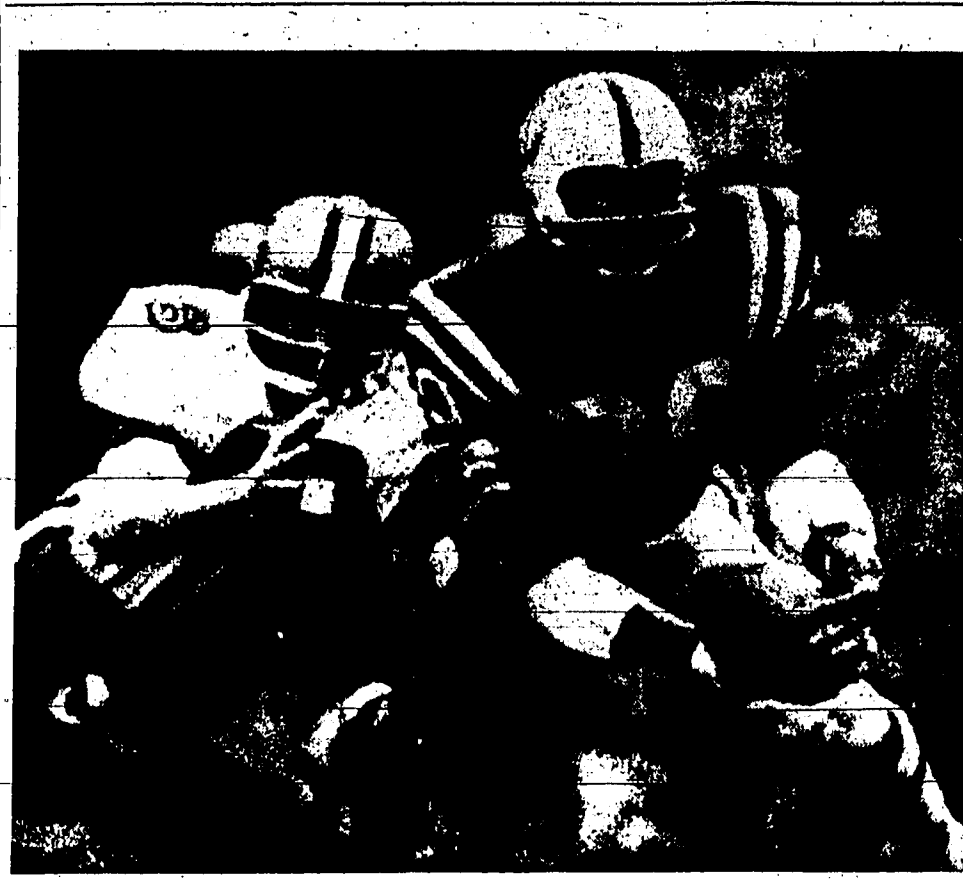

Hawks Take Close Win From Bulls

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Zelmo Beaty scored the game-tying basket in regulation time and then added four points in overtime as the St. Louis Hawks used a pressing defense to come behind and whip Baltimore 114-110 in a National Basketball Association game Sunday night. Baltimore, dropping its sixth straight game, led by seven points with 3:40 to play. But then Paul Silas, Len Wilkens, Dick Snyder and Beaty led the charge that snatched the victory for the Hawks. Silas, who fouled out with 2:36 left in overtime, led the Hawks with 25 points. Beaty, who scored 12 straight points during one stretch in the third quarter, added 22. Don Ohl, of Baltimore, led both teams with 27. Earl Monroe added 26 for the losers.

Mira's First Start Good For 49ers

ATLANTA (AP) — George Mira, starting his first game at quarterback this season, fired two touchdown passes to power San Francisco to a narrow 34-28 victory over Atlanta, snapping the 49ers' six-game losing streak in the National Football League. Mira, hobbled by an injury earlier this season, hit flanker Dick Wicher for a 37-yard strike in the first period and tossed a seven-yard pass to Sonny Randle in the second quarter. The former Miami passing star consistently hit his receivers on key third-down plays.

Who Is Going To Beat UCLA Seems To Be Big Question

By TED MEIER
Who's going to beat them? College basketball fans asked that question last March when UCLA ended the first year of the Lew Alcindor era by crushing Dayton for the national championship in the NCAA tournament final. They are asking it again following UCLA's rout of Iowa State in Los Angeles Saturday night 121-80 for its 37th straight victory behind Alcindor's 45-point performance. Louisville, ranked third nationally to UCLA in The Associated Press poll, was given a chance in pre-season calculations, but the Cardinals were upset Saturday by unheralded Northwestern 88-83 despite 36 points by Westley Unself. Louisville does not have a regular season game with UCLA but was looking ahead to a possible meeting with the champs in the NCAA tourney this season. UCLA is idle this week, but the Alcindor-led Bruins doubtless will be big favorites to whip Bradley, Notre Dame and Minnesota in their next three games, Dec. 22-23-27, respectively. That would seem to leave it up to the second-ranked Houston Cougars and Elyin Hayes, the Big E, to stop the all-conquering march of the Bruins. Houston is slated to meet UCLA in the Astrodome on Jan. 20, a game that may draw a record basketball turnout of 40,000. Before UCLA equalled the third longest winning streak in the college sport, previously achieved in order by Texas, North Carolina and Cincinnati, Houston had made it four in a row by beating Illinois at Campaign 54-46 behind Hayes' 25 points. Louisville was not the only high ranking team to be upset Saturday night. Fourth-ranked Kansas bowed to Chicago Loyola 83-73 in the second half of the Chicago Stadium doubleheader following Northwestern's surprise victory over Louisville on the play of three soph, Mike

Reeves, Jim Sarno and Don Adams. Fifth-ranked North Carolina tumbled before eighth-ranked Vanderbilt at Nashville 89-76. Sixth-ranked Dayton did not play but was upset by Eastern Kentucky 76-75 Friday night. Purdue, Kentucky and Boston College, the other teams in the AP Top Ten, won. Purdue, No. 7, rebounded from a Friday defeat to Washington to turn the tables on the Huskies at Seattle 84-77 behind 30 points by sophomore Rick Mount. Kentucky, No. 9, made it four in a row by whipping Penn at home 64-49 and upping Coach Adolph Rupp's career victories to 764. Boston College, No. 10, won on the road against Connecticut 76-70. Davidson, Duke, Louisiana State, Wyoming, Utah, New Mexico and Brigham Young kept their records clean. Davidson romped over Michigan 91-70, Duke downed Alabama 86-80, LSU took New Orleans Loyola 98-56, Wyoming overcame Idaho

Dawson Paces Chiefs Past Jets 21-7

NEW YORK (AP) — Len Dawson marched Kansas City to a pair of third quarter touchdowns and Fred Williamson returned an interception 77 yards for another score as the Chiefs defeated the staggering New York Jets 21-7 in an American Football League game Sunday. It was the second straight loss for the Jets, who went into the game tied with Houston for the A.F.L. Eastern Division lead. The Oilers played Western leader Oakland. The Jets and Chiefs were locked in a scoreless tie at halftime with both teams staying on the ground and the defenses dominating. Dawson threw only 13 times in the first half and Namath, who set a club record with 60 passes last week against Denver, attempted only six. But Dawson broke the log jam after the Chiefs took the second half kickoff. He paraded Kansas City 74 yards in 11 plays, throwing passes of 10 yards to Mike Garrett, 20 to Otis Taylor, and 26 more to Garrett. The Chiefs went down to the Jets' one-yard stripe and had a fourth and goal. Coach Hank Stram sent the field goal unit on the field, but the Kansas City offensive team waved them off and Curtis McClinton took the ball in. The Jets ran only three plays before Kansas City had the ball again, this time after Matt Snell fumbled at New York's 35. Snell was hit by Bobby Bell, and Bud Abell recovered the loose ball. Five plays later, the Chiefs scored again with Dawson hitting Chris Burford for 11 yards and the TD. Now Namath had to throw, and the Chiefs were waiting for him. Williamson plucked his long pass intended for Bill Mathis out of the air at the KC 23 and raced 77 yards for the wrapup TD. It was welcome insurance when Namath passes began to click, and the Jets finally scored.

Wolman Is Expected To Sign Deal That Will Make Him Mere Figurehead

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Jerry Wolman isn't technically selling the Philadelphia Eagles but he is expected to sign this week a deal which places the National Football League club in hock to absentee ownership and makes him a mere figurehead.

The money is to be divided, $2.6 million for 30 per cent of the stock, and $12 million as a loan, secured by the balance of the club's stock.

Wolman remains as club president and the majority stock will remain in his name. Control of the franchise, however, until the loan is repaid, passes to the Raab interests. Ostensibly, Wolman is keeping his word — "I will never sell the Eagles as long as I live." The one-time bankrupt grocer from Shenandoah, Pa., however, is taking the first step of what could be his forced exit from professional football.

In order to carry out the transaction Wolman had to get complex Wolman financial empire, which is on the brink of collapsing. By agreeing to the deal, these people will be bailed out of financial losses, some saved from bankruptcy, the source said.

Scottish Golfer Carries Extra Item

DUNDEE, Scotland (AP) — Scottish golfer Willie Stewart regularly carries 15 items in his bag—the regulation 14 clubs and a 12-ounce shotgun.

He's head greenkeeper of the Caird Club, Dundee, and the club's crack shot in its war against the crows.

The thieving birds, with no regard for golf etiquette, swoop down and pick up the balls from the middle of the fairways.

Stewart, 28, walked over the course with his gun at his shoulder, trying to pick the crows off. But he found that didn't do much good.

"The birds realized the danger and stayed out of range," he says.

"So I started packing my gun among my clubs and behaving like an ordinary golfer. I don't know whether these crows are of above-average intelligence, but they fell for it."

"If they see a man with a gun they keep away. If they see a man at the tee, swinging a golf club, they're ready to pounce."

"I'm having some success. There are fewer crows than there were."

Stewart got approval from the local police before going golfing with a shotgun.

There was no objection. Everybody in Scotland plays golf—even policemen.

Rookie Fires Miami Past Chargers

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Rookie Bob Griese passed for two touchdowns and ran for another Sunday as he led the lowly Miami Dolphins to a 41-24 upset victory over San Diego, and knocked the Chargers out of the American Football League's Western Division title race.

The "fired-up" Miami defense set up three touchdowns with a fumble recovery and two pass interceptions. The Dolphins' Charger quarterback John Handl's passes in the sea-saw battle that saw Miami twice come from behind.

It was defensive back John Bramlett's interception that set up the touchdown that put the game out of reach.

He snagged a Handl pass on the Chargers' 35-yard line and raced back 30 yards to the Chargers five.

Fullback Stan Mitchell bulled over from the one seconds later and Booth Lustig's kick made it 41-24.

Trailing 13-10 at the half, San Diego quickly went ahead when Lex Duncan returned the kickoff 60 yards, setting up rookie Russ Smith's four-yard touchdown run a few plays later.

The Dolphins, who went into the game with a 2-9 record, came right back on a 70 yard drive highlighted by Griese's aerials and 17-yard run by the rookie from Purdue. He clinaxed the drive with a 10-yard scoring pass to end Doug Moreau and the Dolphins took the lead for good.

Review Held

The Kaji Kuroi Karate Club held a promotional review this past weekend at the local dojo.

Kelvin Barrus and Mike Stephens both received the orange belt, and Dwight Baker, Mike Anderson, Billy Arma and Ricky Van Derdoes, all received their first degree in the yellow belt.

Master Karate Man, Raymond Tobosa, was unable to attend because of an emergency.

Cleveland Cops Century Division Title

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Linebacker Jim Houston intercepted a pass and rambled into the end zone to give Cleveland a fourth quarter touchdown as the Browns whipped St. Louis 20-16 Sunday to win the National Football League's Century Division championship.

The Browns, down 9-7 at the half, turned Ben Davis' 37-yard kickoff return and another intercepted pass into field goals to earn the right to play Dallas for the Eastern Conference championship. Cleveland is now 9-4 and St. Louis 6-6.

The game was played in 40-degree weather before 47,782 fans and a national television audience.

The Browns scored their first touchdown in the second quarter when quarterback Frank Ryan hit Paul Warfield on a 38-yard pass. Lou Groza added field goals of 33 and 23 yards for Cleveland.

Jim Bakken kicked field goals of 12, 42 and 26 yards for St. Louis. The Cardinals' lone touchdown came in the fourth quarter after Bill Koman recovered a Leroy Kelly fumble at the Browns' 17 and quarterback Jim Hart hit tight end Jackie Smith on a 15-yard pass play.

John Roland, the league's No. 2 ground gainer, was injured in the third quarter and did not play again. The preliminary diagnosis was a knee injury.

The game ended with St. Louis on the Cleveland 18 as Hart passed 41 yards to Smith, but he could not get out of bounds and the Cardinals had used up their timeouts. The game ended before another play could be run.

Field Goals Spark Raiders Past Houston

HOUSTON (AP) — The Oakland raiders, sparked by George Blanda's four field goals, beat Houston 19-7 Sunday and clinched the Western Division title in the American Football League.

The victory left the Raiders with an 11-1 record while San Diego was upset 41-24 by Miami, eliminating the Chargers, 8-3-1, from the race. Houston remained in a tie for first in the Eastern Division with the New York Jets, who lost to Kansas City Sunday, 21-7. Houston and New York each have 7-4-1 records.

Blanda kicked four field goals and Hewitt Dixon scored on a 27-yard run in the Raiders' comeback from a 7-0 halftime deficit.

The first half was scoreless until 50 seconds remained. Then Houston's George Webster intercepted a Darley Lamonica pass and returned it 23 yards to Houston's 40.

Oiler quarterback Pete Beathard fired a 32-yard pass to Woodie Campbell and a 28-yarder to Hoyle Granger, for a touchdown, giving Houston a 7-0 lead.

Oakland's Willie Brown intercepted a Beathard pass early in the third period and in 17 plays, seven passes, Oakland marched to the Oiler four to set up Blanda's first three-pointer, a 12-yard effort. Two 19-yard passes from Lamonica to Bill Miller were the drive's big gains.

After that, Oakland moved at will, taking over as Blanda added field goals of 25 and 26 yards.

Dan Conners intercepted another Beathard pass to set up the Oakland touchdown on Dixon's 27-yard TD run, and Blanda added his longest field goal of the day: a 45-yarder.

Houston got only as far as Oakland's 27 in the second half.

Business chief A. Kay Belnap said the vendors would have to carry bonds covering any 1967 obligations not satisfied as well as for amounts of all classes of new licenses ordered.

New licenses will also be needed by hunters who want to be in on the finish of the 1967-68 migratory waterfowl seasons, as well as the Hungarian and chukar partridge and rabbit seasons, he said.

Salmon and steelhead trout permits for next year should also be obtained by fishermen expecting to fish for those ocean-going species.

Sayers Has Good Day, Bears Tie

CHICAGO (AP) — Gale Sayers ran wild again through mud and rain but all the Chicago Bears could manage Sunday was a 10-10 tie with the Minnesota Vikings as Fred Cox booted a 25-yard tying field goal midway in the final quarter.

It was the first National Football League tie for the Bears this season and the third for the Vikings, who have won three games.

Sayers, who picked up 131 yards in 20 carries, set up a 12-yard field goal by Mac Percival in the first period with a 38-yard run for a 3-0 lead.

Minnesota forged to a 7-3 halftime lead when Joe Kapp hit Jim Phillips with a 35-yard touchdown pass in the second quarter.

Early in the third quarter, Roosevelt Taylor intercepted a Kapp pass which gave the Bears the ball on the Viking 39. Jack Concannon hit Johnny Morris with an 18-yard pass to the 21. Sayers then went 14 yards on a zigzag pattern and on the next play went around right end for a seven-yard touchdown.

Chicago took its narrow 10-7 advantage into the fourth quarter and when Percival missed a 39-yard field goal attempt, the Vikings marched from their own 20 to the Bear 18 before Cox booted his tying goal with 8:02 remaining.

A 55-yard desperation pass from Kapp to Gene Washington was the key play in the drive.

Aided by a series of penalties in the final two minutes, Minnesota drove to the Bear 23 and a 30-yard field goal attempt by Cox with 12 seconds to play was blocked.

Sweetan Puts Detroit Past Giants 30-7

NEW YORK (AP) — Karl Sweetan threw three touchdown passes for the Detroit Lions in a 30-7 upset victory over the New York Giants in a National Football League game Sunday.

The Lions' quarterback, who had completed only 39.6 per cent of his passes in previous games, hit Amos Marsh for 35 yards, Bill Malinchak for nine and Gale Cogdill for 52 on scoring plays.

Detroit, which had not won since Oct. 29, completely smothered Frank Tarkenton and the Giants' offense which had ranked third in the league.

Tarkenton was smeared four times for losses of 63 yards and completed only three of 16 passes for gross yardage of 48 yards before he gave way to Earl Morrall late in the third period. Tarkenton's best play was a scramble, winding up with a lateral to guard Pete Case for 29 yards.

The Lions piled up a 21-0 lead in the first half and added a safety to the third period when Bruce Maher blocked Morrall's punt and it bounced through the end zone. Morrall did the punting because Ernie Kov, troubled with a sore ankle, did not play.

Tom Watkins dashed over from the four in the final minutes of the game and Garo Yepremian added his fourth extra point.

Vendors May Order New Regulations

BOISE (AP) — Idaho fishing license vendors may begin ordering 1968 licenses and fishing regulations, the Idaho Department of Fish and Game announced Sunday.

Business chief A. Kay Belnap said the vendors would have to carry bonds covering any 1967 obligations not satisfied as well as for amounts of all classes of new licenses ordered.

New licenses will also be needed by hunters who want to be in on the finish of the 1967-68 migratory waterfowl seasons, as well as the Hungarian and chukar partridge and rabbit seasons, he said.

Salmon and steelhead trout permits for next year should also be obtained by fishermen expecting to fish for those ocean-going species.

Keeping Golf Game Of Skill Is New USGA President's Hope

By ROY MALONE
Associated Press Writer
ST. LOUIS (AP) — "We're trying to keep golf a game of great skill," says Hord W. Hardin, "and the way you do that is through the rules of play."

Hardin is the only nominee for the presidency in the United States Golf Association elections Jan. 27. He believes the organization's biggest task is to get everybody to follow the same rules.

One would think that drawing up rules for golf would be an easy matter for the game's governing body, the USGA. But, in recent years, some of the professional players have said there should be different rules for amateurs and professionals.

The USGA feels, Hardin points out, that in golf the only game where professionals and amateurs compete against each other, the same rules should apply for both.

Hardin, 55-year-old banker-attorney in St. Louis, has served in various capacities with the USGA since 1951.

"No matter how intelligent the touring player is, it may be expecting too much of him to be completely objective where the rules are concerned," says Hardin.

What bothers the professional? Mainly, the new rules on the green, including continuous putting and "one-clean" of the ball. Studies by the USGA show that time lost on the green is one reason why the game has slowed down. The new rule says each player should continue putting until his ball is in the cup in stroke play. But some of the pros favor alternating putts.

Another objection is that certain conditions require the ball to be cleaned more often.

Hardin says he feels the ball-cleaning argument is one that may be resolved.

"I can remember just 10 years ago when a player had to putt even with a big glob of mud on the ball. But I think there can be some leeway under the rule that applies to local conditions," he says.

Under the leadership of William Ward Fosbury of New York, the USGA has ruled out the pendulum or "astride" putting style. Wording the rule was tough. Several pros have a stance similar to what someone would use straddle style.

With the growth of golf as a spectator sport, and with more people playing it, Hardin says, "We want to keep the game golf—not let it become croquet, shuffleboard or billiards, or let it degenerate into a game of gimmicks."

Hardin participated this year in meetings with the Royal and Ancient Club of St. Andrews in Scotland which virtually rules the golf world outside this country. These meetings have eliminated all differences in rules—British rules call for a slightly smaller golf ball.

"But the bigger ball requires more skill, and no one in this country wants to change that rule," says Hardin.

Defense Gives Dallas 38-17 Triumph

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The Dallas defense, featuring Mel Renfro, Jethro Pugh and Lee Roy Jordan, tied Philadelphia into knots until late in the day and carried the Cowboys to a 38-17 victory in a meaningless National Football League game Sunday.

The staunch trio, kingpins of the celebrated "doomsday defense," set up four of the Dallas scores.

Don Meredith quarterbacked Dallas to its first touchdown but went out with a broken nose midway of the open quarter. Craig Morton took over and his passing was instrumental in sending Dallas to three of its touchdowns, one of which he threw five yards to Dan Reeves. Reeves also did some nifty passing. He threw on the half-back pass to Lance Rentzel for 45 yards and the final Dallas touchdown.

Philadelphia used a recovered fumble and an intercepted pass for two of its scores. Joe Scarpati took back a Jerry Rhome pass 67 yards for one of the Eagles' touchdowns late in the game.

The other Philadelphia touchdown came on a 69-yard march engineered by Norm Snead, who pitched 31 yards to Ben Hawkins for the score.

BIG HAND GETS EXPERT PLAY

Jim: "How about a discussion of the rubber bridge tournament at the Sands Hotel in Las Vegas in October?"

Oswald: "It is quite an event. If they also awarded Master Points, they would probably have 1,000 pairs entered. As it is, quite a few top experts go there to play for the prize money and to have a general good time. All matches are straight rubber bridge beginning with eight hands getting longer as you stay in. Also the method of play insures three days of the North hand and Curtis jumped right to seven spades."

Oswald: "The bid would be silly in any other game, but I see that Curtis would make the hand if he played correctly. He did, didn't he?"

Jim: "He won the first trick with the diamond ace and played two rounds of spades, winning up in his own hand. Then he took the heart finesse successfully. Business was looking up."

Oswald: "Yes, it was. I assume he ruffed a diamond, entered dummy with the ace of hearts, ruffed another diamond, ruffed his last heart in dummy, ruffed dummy's next to last diamond and played out his last trump to discard a club from dummy."

Jim: "This also forced East to make his third discard of a club since he had to hang on to the jack of diamonds. Smith had a perfect count by this time and was able to make the last three tricks with clubs because each opponent was holding two clubs and it didn't matter where the queen was."

CHICAGO (AP)—Corn futures advanced two cents a bushel on the Chicago Board of Trade today in active dealings influenced by the weather.

Wheat futures declined 1 1/2 cents a bushel but other commodities showed only small changes.

The advance in corn prices was the best movement in many weeks. New precipitation in the Corn Belt over the weekend brought in a wave of buying of corn futures on the opening.

As payment for uprooting himself from the serenity of retirement, Huntoon and his wife will receive a daily living allowance, exposure to a foreign culture and the satisfaction of helping others. Nothing more.

Huntoon, who spent 27 years with Montgomery Ward and retirement was manager of merchandising and purchasing in New York, will lend his knowledge and advice to a Cypriot dry-goods wholesaler and retailer.

The job, to last about three months, will cost the wholesaler about $1,000 a month, but Huntoon will get none of it. Instead it will go to the International Executive Service Corps, which made the arrangements.

The corps, which most people know as the Executive Peace Corps or by the even more familiar term of Paunch Corps, already has completed 361 foreign assistance projects in less than three years and is expanding steadily.

In addition, 90 projects are under way, 69 are about to begin and many more are now being arranged in communications between Madison Avenue headquarters and private enterprises in 40 foreign nations.

All this has been accomplished on an annual budget of about $2 million, 40 per cent of which is donated by American corporations or received in service fees, and 60 per cent of which comes from the U.S. government.

"We feel we run a tight ship," said a spokesman for the corps, which is staffed by highly experienced personnel, headed by President Frank Pace Jr., former secretary of the Army and former chairman of General Dynamics.

Skills bank of 3,500 names is now maintained and added to as the result of personal applications, recommendations and more recently from recruiting drives among corporations.

From this bank the corps attempts to fill requests such as: "A records production manager to spend three or four months assisting a recording and tape manufacturer in Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia."

"A production executive with experience in the manufacture of sewing machine needles to spend three months in Taipei, Taiwan."

"A glass technologist to help an Istanbul, Turkey, firm go into the manufacture of windshields."

When the requests come in and that is the only way in which the corps agrees to get involved—the following questions are asked:

—Is the requesting firm willing to pay a fee for assistance, a fee which amounts to only a small percentage of what would be charged by a private consultant, were he available?

—Is the client firm sound enough to profit from the help and advice?

—Will the firm's success be of probable benefit not only to itself but to the free enterprise system of its country?

Most of the requests come originally from Latin America. While interest there remains high, based on the number of requests through November, expansion in the Middle and Far East has been strong, and requests from African companies now are coming in.

The Daily Investor

By WILLIAM A. DOYLE

Q. My wife and I plan to buy a new car in a few months. We will have enough cash (about $2,000) to pay the difference between our old car and the new one. I am 60 years old and our income is $14,000 a year. We have had three years' experience investing in four mutual funds. Those investments have increased in value approximately 15 per cent each year.

Would it be better to use the $2,000 to pay for the car and invest the money in mutual fund shares, borrowing enough to buy the car? The interest would be deductible and the monthly payments would be a kind of forced savings.

A. You almost have yourself convinced, don't you? Look, if you were absolutely sure that the money you make on the mutual fund investment will be greater than the interest costs on the loan, the answer would come quick and easy. It would be a loud "Yes."

Sure, the interest on the loan would be a deductible item on your income tax return. But you have to get at least that much in income and/or growth from your investment, in order to make up for the money you are out of pocket in interest costs. And you had better be sure you know the true amount of interest. The charges on some installment loans can be staggering.

Basically, you've come up against a problem that most families run into sooner or later—Whether to borrow and invest or to pay off debts such as the mortgage on the family home. For most families (the sensible move is to pay off the debts; then think about investing.

You and your wife, however, seem to be in better financial shape than most people. If you are ready and willing to borrow and run some extra risk of investing, go to it. Just be certain that you understand all the details and the risk involved.

Q. I wrote to a brokerage firm for some information and have been solicited for business ever since. The firm even sent me a complimentary copy of a book written by its president, on which the retail price is $25. Is this outfit reputable?

A. My dictionary defines "reputable" and "honorable, respectable, estimable"—to which we might add some familiar words from the Boy Scout oath, "trustworthy, loyal, clean" and so on.

Readers keep writing in asking about individual brokerage firms. This column just can't comment on that subject. To do so would be just as bad as touting individual brokers.

All brokers operate under the same regulations. But picking one or two to suit you is your own choice. I'll say again that it's pretty much the same as picking a family doctor.

But I will add this thought. Any outfit that uses high-pressure selling tactics and gives away books that are alleged to sell for $25 apiece seems somewhat suspect. We'll rewrite the old line to read: "All brokers are created equal but some are more equal than others."

Q. The market prices of stocks of life insurance companies are way below the highs they hit around 1964. But shouldn't they still be considered good long-term investments? And why did these stocks suddenly fall out of investors' favor?

A. Yes, most observers still count the stocks of well-managed life insurance companies as solid investments for really the long haul. But it may be that patience before they get back the prices they saw three or more years ago.

Back then their sky-high prices were just numbers—with little or no relation to true value. The stocks had been bid way up by out-and-out speculative buying. As so often happens, the buying demand dried up; the gamblers unloaded; the insurance stocks slumped to present levels. But most people who have owned them for many years still have reason to be happy.

(Mr. Doyle will answer only representative letters of general interest in his column. He cannot answer phone queries.)

Murders of 2 Women Are Investigated

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP)—Detectives brought a young man and an armload of bloody men's clothes to the police station Sunday and said they were questioning a suspect in the Whiskey Creek murders of two young women.

One of the victims was identified tentatively Sunday as a Miami Beach divorcee, Terry Rae Kent, 23, while the younger woman was marked only as her roommate named Ann.

Detectives rushed from headquarters after receiving the identification from Miss Kent's former husband, Billy Frank, and returned with the young man. Officers said the man's parents also were at headquarters.

Police said earlier the woman may have been killed because she witnessed the death of her younger companion.

"There is little doubt," a detective said, "that whoever killed the younger woman wanted to make sure that the other woman—apparently a witness to the killing—was also dead."

Both bodies were found Friday night, weighted by concrete blocks wired to their necks. The time of death and a watch stopped at 12:12 indicated the bodies were dumped in the desolate Whiskey Creek, once a hide-out for rum-runners, at high tide when water is eight feet deep. One of the bodies was spotted floating feet up after dark at low tide and officers found the other when they probed from a police boat. The time of death was set between 2 and 3 p.m. leading to the conclusion the murders were committed on a boat.

Agriculture Policy Hit By Farm Leader

CHICAGO (AP) — Charles B. Shuman, head of the nation's largest farm organization, criticized the Johnson administration's agriculture policy today as a failure in virtually all respects.

"We are completing the harvest of the largest crop in history, produced at the highest cost on record, and selling at the lowest prices in a decade," Shuman told the annual meeting of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

He said government farm control, direct payments and price support programs are being used to hold farm prices down and to force farmers to accept payments in lieu of the full market price.

"Approximately 20 per cent of net farm income," Shuman said, "now comes from direct subsidy payments from the federal treasury and cotton farmers get almost half of their total crop returns from this source."

Shuman, whose farm organization claims to have 1.7 million families as members in 49 states and Puerto Rico, said policies advocated by the Department of Agriculture have turned farming into "A subsidy-oriented business. Farmers want their industry profit-oriented."

Shuman called "ridiculous" statements by Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman that the 1967 surplus grain production was a record price problem. He said that what would happen with a no-controls free market operation in agriculture.

"The wheat and feed grain production binge of 1967 was not a product of the free market, but must be charged to the mistakes of the administration in promoting an extensive 'feed the hungry world' campaign coupled with rose price predictions," he said.

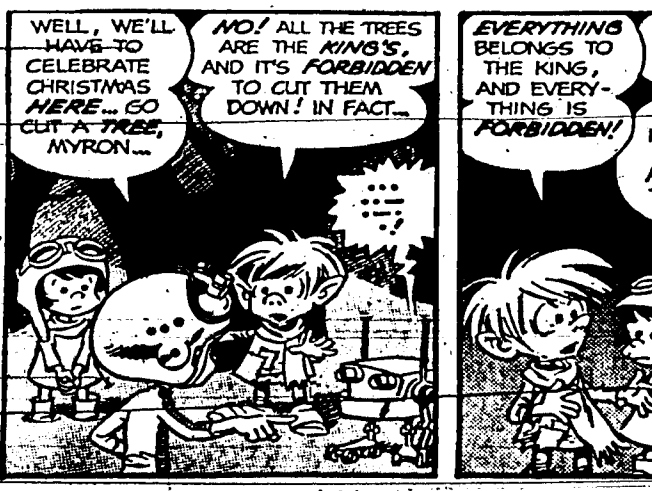

"Farmers feel with some justification that they were double crossed."

Spot Remover Fumes Kill Youth

EAST PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP) — Sniffing spot remover brought death to 16-year-old Joseph Martin.

A medical examiner said the boy died Sunday of heart and respiratory failure caused by inhaling fumes from the cleaning fluid.

He was found unconscious Saturday night in his home with a plastic bag containing saturated tissues wrapped around his nose and mouth.

Varied Hours Posed For Liquor Stores

BOISE (AP) — Varying hours for state-owned liquor stores was posed as a means to "better serve the people" at a week-long meeting of the Idaho Legislature's Committee on Liquor Laws.

The meeting Saturday in Boise was the first business session of the committee since it was organized last March.

The group has held hearings in various communities and wound up its hearing schedule Friday in Boise. At the final hearing, arguments for and against liberalizing restrictions on sale and use of liquor were voiced.

Chairman Rep. Robert Green, R-Boise, said he had received many comments that the standard noon to 7 p.m. selling hours in the state-operated liquor dispensaries were not "serving the needs of the people."

Green contended that a flexibility of hours might silence some of the criticism. He speculated those who advocate private liquor sales or longer bars hours might be satisfied if the dispensaries stayed open longer.

After hearing a staff report, the committee members agreed that abolition of the state monopoly would not be economically feasible if the consumption of liquor in Idaho did not increase.

The report estimated that if the state were to maintain the same amount of revenue it now gets from markup of prices on liquor, a tax of $7.50 a gallon would have to be imposed.

The tax would make it impossible for a private operator to survive, Green said.

Romney Stops In London For Talks

LONDON (AP) — Gov. George Romney arrived today for two days of talks with British leaders and said he expects "to get the British viewpoint on a number of matters—Vietnam, international monetary affairs, European-American problems and the Common Market."

The candidate for the Republican presidential nomination came from Paris, the first stop on a world tour.

House Beauty Shop Will Be Reopened

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House beauty shop, which vanished in the night, is headed for a prompt reopening.

It was only last Saturday night that Mrs. Mabel Solomon, out of the shop she operated for some 30 years.

Since this was discovered last Monday morning congressional wheels have been turning rapidly and the shop's reopening is set for today.

On Wednesday, Rep. Martha Griffiths, D-Mich., introduced a proposal authorizing up to $15,000 to buy new equipment, set up a select committee to oversee operations and hire a manager. The House didn't blink an eye or say a word before accepting the plan.

Mrs. Griffiths, Rep. Edith Green, D-Ore., and Rep. Catherine May, R-Wash., were named to the committee and promptly went to work.

They ordered $12,000 of new equipment—hair dryers, chairs and shampoo stations—got the old quarters painted and the floors cleaned.

They hired a manager, Mrs. Betty J. Osust of nearby Rockville, Md., at $15,000 a year. The manager's salary will be drawn out of income of the shop, open to anyone but used primarily by House employees, women members and wives of male members.

When Mrs. Solomon operated the shop, she paid no rent, no utilities and even got free towels. Mrs. Griffiths claimed Mrs. Solomon grossed $143,000 last year. There had been a dispute over the operations and Mrs. Solomon had been ill for about six months.

Program Planned

TOLUCA, Mexico (AP) — Mexico's defense minister, Gen. Marcelino Garcia Barragan, announced a 1968 program costing $18.65 million to improve the army with new aircraft, modern communications, more transportation and new barracks.

Lynda, Husband Honeymoon On Island

CHARLOTTE AMALIE, V.I. (AP) — President Johnson's daughter Lynda and her new son-in-law honeymooned today in the privacy of one of the Virgin Island's most exclusive resorts after the first White House wedding in 53 years.

Lynda and Marine Capt. Charles S. Robb spent their wedding night at the White House, then slipped aboard a commercial airliner Sunday afternoon and flew to San Juan, P.R. A private plane took them to St. Thomas, and then they had a 15-minute boat ride to St. John, three miles east of St. Thomas, where they are staying at the Caneel Bay Plantation.

A rumor persisted that the couple would go on to Hawaii, but there was no confirmation. Robb has leave from his military duties until Dec. 29.

have visited at the Caneel Bay home of millionaire Laurence S. Rockefeller, who has developed the northeast tip of the nine-mile-long island as an exclusive resort.

While the newlyweds relaxed in the Caribbean, Mrs. Johnson planned to fly to Texas today to join the President at their ranch. He flew down Saturday night after the wedding, saying he was "very tired."

Robb's family, from Milwaukee, held a big reunion Sunday at an inn near Winchester, Va., attended by his 83-year-old grandmother, Mrs. Harvey J. Sims, and 59 other relatives.

The White House bustled with the workmen changing from wedding to Christmas decorations. They had plenty of red and white flowers, holly, mistletoe and other evergreens left from the wedding.

The traditional floor-to-ceiling Christmas tree was being installed in the Blue Room, where the bridal couple and their parents greeted guests with hugs, kisses and handshakes after the ceremony.

In the place of the wedding altar in the East Room, a crèche with a Nativity scene was being installed.

But the wedding itself isn't likely to be forgotten soon.

Lynda, 23, goes into the history books as the seventh presidential daughter to wed in the White House.

The President said the wedding couldn't have been better—"everything was great."

Another presidential daughter, 83-year-old Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth, who was married in the same spot in 1906, called it asked: "Who giveth this woman to be married to this man?"

Lynda's wedding dress was by Geoffrey Beene, a simple long white satin A-line with a frilly veil and a 12-yard silk train. Her hair was swept up in a pompadour and she wore pale makeup and false eyelashes.

The bridegroom wore his Marine dress uniform.

The couple clasped hands, smiled into each other's eyes and whispered "I love you" after they exchanged marriage vows and rings. The ceremony started on the dot at 4 p.m. and they were declared man and wife 16 minutes later.

The solemn President, a white rose in the lapel of his cutaway, softly ad-libbed into the Episcopal wedding text "her mother and I do" when Canon Gerald N. McAllister of San Antonio asked: "Who giveth this woman to be married to this man?"

Five hundred guests crowded the East Room and the cross hall of the White House for the wedding and the reception which followed with dancing, a lavish buffet and champagne. The party spilled over into a pink-lined tent outside the state dining room.

Matron of honor Luci Johnson Nugent, 20, admitted tears welled in her eyes as she watched her sister marry. She cried at her own wedding, too. She and her husband, Patrick J. Nugent, said they enjoyed "this one more than their own—"all the fun and none of the trauma," said Luci.

Lynda pulled her husband's glittering sword from its scabbard and together they cut the first piece from a towering six-foot white wedding cake. Unlike Luci and Nugent, who could hardly hack through their cake, Lynda and Robb made it with the greatest of ease. The bridal couple went off for their first dance to the tune of "Love Affair to Remember," played by Peter Duchin's orchestra, which also played for Luci's White House reception.
