ATHENS (AP) — Speculation grew today that the Greek military junta was trying to find some formula to bring King Constantine back from exile and restore a measure of normalcy to the apprehensive nation.

This speculation came as Foreign Minister Panayiotis Pipinellis reached Rome and went at once to the Greek Embassy, Constantine, who fled to Rome with his family after his counter-coup against the regime failed Wednesday, last was reported in the embassy.

One highly placed official in Rome said: "The indications are that a compromise solution of the Greek crisis may be in the making."

Informal sources said the military strongmen need the umbrella of the monarchy to present a better face internationally. It was noted that the regime, in creating a regency, took pains to preserve the institution of the monarchy. And Constantine presumably wants the throne.

The reports flew as the military government declared that "absolute order" prevails throughout Greece.

Brig. Stylianos Patakos, one of the junta members, said: "Let the enemies of Greece be informed, and all those who may have doubted, that the entire Greek people are supporting regenerative efforts of the national government."

Both the United States and Britain were taking new looks at their relations with the military regime. The U.S. State Department said it was withholding recognition in the wake of the young king's ouster, while Britain held that its recognition was invalidated because the chief of state to whom its ambassador was accredited—the king—had fled the country.

Commission To Rule On Reinstatement

BOISE (AP) — The Idaho Personnel Commission said today it will have a ruling shortly — by Monday at the latest — on a request to delay the reinstatement of a former chief meat inspector, dismissed earlier this year.

The commission ordered Dr. C. H. Kennedy reinstated to his former position or a comparable one because he was not dismissed for sufficient reason. But State Agriculture Commissioner Stanley T. Renhall requested a delay in the effective date of the reinstatement order because of his pending appeal of the commission's order. He said there might be litigation if Kennedy were given his back pay and the reinstatement later reversed by a court.

Idaho Water Board Will Issue Bonds For Projects

IDAHO FALLS, Idaho (AP) — The Idaho Water Resources Board plans to use its authority to issue revenue bonds to finance state reclamation projects, the State Reclamation Association was told Thursday.

LeRoy Stanger, the board's vice chairman, told the association's convention that it may be necessary for the board to use its bonding capacity to participate in construction of the proposed High Mountain Sheep Dam.

An earlier speaker, Executive Director Carl R. Bronn of the National Reclamation Association, told the group that unless federal reclamation spending was not increased from present levels, no new irrigation projects should be started in the next nine years.

Stanger, reinforced Bronn's statements. "We are becoming acutely aware that if potential areas to insure continuation of the state's water resources can no longer rely on the fed-

ICE JAMS WHICH caused flooding Thursday afternoon in the basement of the Jerre Cover home, are being removed by two Twin Falls Canal Co. employees. Minor damage was done to the home when the Perrine Coulee overflowed its banks near the Lynwood Shopping Center. In about two hours the water level had been lowered about six inches. Ice problems were reported in many canals in the county and a full force of canal company employees was out working in an effort to prevent more flooding. A cold weather continues the problem will exist.

Ice Jams Cause Trouble In T.F. Area Canals, Basement Flooded

Ice jams, caused by extremely cold weather the past few days, continued to cause problems Friday as Twin Falls Canal Co. employees had a full force out to prevent a repeat of Thursday afternoon's flooding of a Twin Falls residence.

The Jerre Cover home, 1135 Alder Drive, was slightly damaged when water began running into it Thursday afternoon. The home is located east of the Perrine Coulee, which is overflowing near the Lynwood Shopping center where the coulee runs under Blue Lakes Boulevard North.

The water was running into the lower, basement portion of the Cover home. Mr. Cover said he didn't believe there would be much damage as his family and friends were able to sweep the water down a floor drain in an adjoining room.

Canal Company employees said the jam may have been caused when ice broke loose near Sunset Memorial Park. As the ice floated down the coulee it continued to break more ice loose and caused the jam near the vicinity where the coulee runs under Blue Lakes Boulevard North.

Employees of the canal company spent several hours breaking ice loose and keeping it moving through the channel.

The water started seeping into the Cover home about 2:30 and by about 4:30 p.m. the water level had been lowered about six inches, but the back yard and patio area of the Cover home still resembled a skating rink.

Ice was continuing to cause problems Friday morning in canal company streams, but no other flooding was reported.

Cutoff date for water has been set for Dec. 31. The farming community it is possible the cutoff date will be earlier.

Water has been kept running the company said because there is still much stock in the fields. Mr. Cover said this is the fourth time the coulee has run over its banks and into his home, but the last time, was about five years ago.

Albion Home Is Destroyed During Blaze

ALBION — A two-story frame house owned by Dean Baumgartner was destroyed by fire Thursday night.

The fire reportedly was caused when Mr. Baumgartner, who is partially blind, was attempting to thaw out frozen water pipes with a blow torch. He got out of the house unharmed, except for some singed hair.

Members of the Albion volunteer fire department and Magic Valley Christian College students were able to get most of the furniture out of the burning house. Witnesses said flames shot some 15 feet into the air. The fire occurred at 12:15 p.m. Thursday.

Wes Woodall, Albion town marshal, and Keith Amende, local farmer, were assisted by the volunteers at the scene. Value of the house was estimated between $5,000 and $6,000.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson signed into law today what he called a landmark bill designed to make sure that the meat the housewife puts on the dinner table is pure and unadulterated.

Foreign Aid Hassle May Delay Congress

By JOHN BECKLER
WASHINGTON (AP) — A last-minute hassle over foreign aid may endanger prompt congressional adjournment after Senate and House conferees agreed on other remaining major bills.

With a chance to go home after more than 11 months in session, both the House and Senate expected to approve today compromise on an appropriation of $1.77 billion for the anti-poverty program that is only slightly below the amount the administration said it needed, although well below the $2.06 billion it originally wanted.

A $9.3 billion, two-year extension of the Elementary and Secondary School Act worked out in what one Senate conferee called "the toughest conference I've ever been in."

Final action on another bill to start the surge for adjournment when the Senate votes on it before noon.

The House flagged down the rush at least temporarily Thursday when it rejected 196 to 185 a compromise $2.3 billion foreign aid appropriation bill. It sent the measure, which would appropriate the lowest foreign aid total in the program's 20-year history, back to the conferees.

They quickly agreed to a figure $20 million lower, setting the stage for another House confrontation on which early adjournment hopes appear to ride. Another big obstacle to adjournment on schedule was removed Thursday night when conferees agreed to the school aid bill that would authorize funding for the program through fiscal 1970.

Senate OK's Record Benefit Bill

By JOE HALL
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today passed a Social Security bill carrying record cash benefit boosts, the highest payroll tax in history and tighter restrictions on welfare programs.

Approval on a 62-14 roll-call vote followed a 2 1/2 hour debate on the measure. But, with passage apparently certain, few senators listened to the final arguments.

The vote cleared one of the major obstacles remaining to final adjournment of the 1967 congressional session, expected later today.

The bill would increase Social Security benefits $3.6 billion and hike payroll taxes $1.5 billion during its first full year of operation, 1969.

The 24 million Americans now on the rolls would begin receiving next March Social Security checks increased by at least 13 percent.

They said they had assurances from Johnson, who is expected to sign the measure, that efforts will be made to change these next year.

The bill also would put limits on the rapidly growing Medicaid program that provides health benefits for indigent families.

The Senate actually passed the bill Thursday when Long, Louisiana Democrat and majority whip, caught opponents of the welfare provisions off-guard and only about a dozen senators were on the floor.

Agreement

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors Corp., world's largest auto maker and manufacturing company, reached agreement with the United Auto Workers today on a contract expected to raise the wages and benefits of a third of a million employees by roughly six per cent over the next three years.

Agreement came after a 30-hour bargaining. It marks the first time in a year that saw two of the major automakers settled by strikes that the crisis atmosphere was absent. No strike had been expected in any case until after the first of the year.

U.S. Planes Return To Hanoi For Second Day To Hit Bridges

By GEORGE McARTHUR
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — U.S. warplanes returned to Hanoi today for the second day in a row to attack key bridges linking the capital of North Vietnam with supply lines running northeast to Red China.

U.S. officers said Air Force F105 Thunderchiefs from bases in Thailand hammered the Canal de Rapides bridge five miles northeast of the center of Hanoi. On Thursday U.S. pilots attacked Hanoi's biggest bridge, the mile-long Paul Doumer railroad and highway structure.

Other details of today's raids were not immediately available, but Tass, the Soviet news agency, reported from Hanoi that "many" U.S. planes raided the Communist capital. It gave no details.

The American command said one American and one Communist plane were downed in the raids Thursday. This brought the announced total of U.S. combat planes lost over North Vietnam to 761, and the U.S. Command in one of its period summaries of losses said that more than 3,000 U.S. aircraft have been lost in the war.

In Saigon, the South Vietnamese government announced a 24-hour Christmas truce beginning at 6 p.m. (5 a.m. EST) Christmas Eve and said it had decided "in principle" to observe a 24-hour cease-fire for New Year's and a 48-hour cease-fire for Tet, the Vietnamese lunar new year at the end of January.

The Viet Cong got a propaganda jump nearly a month ago by announcing it would observe three-day cease-fires at Christmas and New Year's and a seven-day truce at Tet.

It was assumed the U.S. Command would suspend the bombing of North Vietnam for the South Vietnamese, but there was no immediate announcement of this.

The Communist defenders of Hanoi and Haiphong filled the skies Thursday with SAM missiles, blistering anti-aircraft fire and MIG fighters. One American F105 Thunderchief was lost to "unknown causes," the U.S. Command said, and a Navy Crusader jet halsted a MIG17 from the sky with an air-to-air missile.

Mao's Wife Said Forced To Retire
HONG KONG (AP) — A Chinese newspaper said today Premier Chou En Lai of Red China and Defense Minister Lin Biao had forced the wife of Party Chairman Mao Tse-tung into retirement.

There was no confirmation of the report. Mr. Mao, referred to as "Chiang Ching," was a leader of the Cultural Revolution that Mao launched to purge his enemies, led by President Liu Shao-chi. Lin succeeded Liu as Mao's heir apparent.

FLIGHT PERMITTED

Heyburn Searchers Find Bodies Of 2 Brothers In River

By ARVETTA SAVAGE
Times-News Correspondent
HEYBURN — The bodies of two young teen-aged brothers from Heyburn were recovered from the icy waters of the Snake River Friday noon, after a search through the ice while skating which began when they failed to return home from ice skating Thursday evening.

Arlyn Barlow, 14, and his brother, Douglas, 13, sons of Mr. Heyburn were recovered from the icy waters of the Snake River Friday noon, after a search through the ice while skating which began when they failed to return home from ice skating Thursday evening.

officers said. Sheriff Arlin Johnson said the body of Arlyn, the older boy, was located about noon and his brother was found about half an hour later. He said Howland Croft located the bodies by using two wire clothes hangers which, unbelieveable as it sounds, apparently acted similar to a diving rod.

The sheriff said Mr. Croft walked holding the two clothes hangers which were extended full length, in front of him, parallel to each other.

About three minutes after he came onto the ice holding the clothes hangers in this manner, Sheriff Larson said, they came together over the ice where the bodies subsequently were found.

Officers said the river was frozen almost to the center and searchers using boats had to break the ice to move in the water.

Mr. Barlow said the boys left about 5 p.m. Thursday to skate and when they did not return at 6 p.m. the family started searching and continued until midnight.

The father said a hole was found in the ice Friday morning with tracks leading to it, heading west. Another set of tracks, showing scuff marks, also led to the hole, indicating one of the boys hurried there to help his brother, the father surmised.

Dragging operations began Friday morning. Bob Hambleton, using a search boat, found a black ballpoint pen under one inch of ice about 85 feet north of the hole where the tracks led. It was not known if the pen belonged to one of the boys or had been dropped by one of the searchers Thursday night.

The family watched the search operations from their living room. Mr. and Mrs. Barlow moved to their Heyburn home only about four months ago; they had operated the Frosty Spot in Paul for several years.

Mr. Barlow is in the insurance business in Burley. The couple has eight other children, four older than the two boys. George Ball, who lives nearby, said Friday he saw both boys at dark and Douglas, the smaller one, was near where the hole was found.

A pair of shoes of one of the boys was found on the boat dock Thursday night.

Benefit Bill

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, who was in his office on other Senate business at the time, said later: "There is such a thing as decorum and dignity in this body."

And Kennedy said bluntly: "I thought I was dealing with men."

Kennedy directed his ire at Long and Sen. Robert Byrd, D-W.Va., the No. 2 and No. 3 figures respectively in the Senate Democratic leadership.

The cash Social Security increases in the bill will total $3.6 billion a year.

They will amount to at least 13 percent for all 24 million persons now receiving benefits.

For individuals, it means a 25 percent cost boost, from $44 to $55 a month at the bottom of the scale and at the top, a jump from $142 to $160.50. The average monthly benefits for a man and wife will go from $145 to $165.

The payroll tax will be raised by increasing the taxable base from the present $6,600 to $7,800 starting next year.

This will mean the maximum levy for an individual and his employer, now $290.40, will be $343.20 in 1968.

The benefit increases will be first reflected in February checks to be received March 3.

Temperatures in the upper air continue to rise but this has had little effect on surface temperatures in most sections. A number of stations in Eastern Idaho were not quite as cold last night, but temperatures were still

However, it has not reached that stage yet, city officials pointed out. There is still local planning to consider, and city officials said no action would be taken until the proposals are presented to the citizens of Twin Falls.

"The engineers seemed impressed and receptive to the idea, but there is still a lot of work to do locally," John Angerbauer, city councilman, said.

5 Days Left For Payment Of '67 Taxes

There are only three office days and five full days remaining for people to pay real property taxes in person, County Treasurer Ruth Jones said Friday.

She said Wednesday at 5 p.m. is the deadline for making payments at her office. For payments mailed in, checks must be postmarked no later than midnight Wednesday.

Taxpayers are lagging behind in their payments so far, she said, and there is almost no waiting at the treasurer's office for those making payments in person.

Payments have totaled only $1,674,990 of a total of $4,904,126.23 that will be paid in real property taxes this year.

Usually by this time about twice this amount, or 70 per cent of the total tax payment is called by Dec. 20. If trends continue, she said her office expects an extremely busy three days next week. The first one-half of the total tax payment must be in by Wednesday she pointed out.

Idaho law requires, she said, that any payments not received by the deadline cannot be accepted until Jan. 22 when books open again for tax payments. This will require that late payments include eight per cent interest and two per cent penalty.

Arco Man Dies In Auto Mishap

MOORE, Idaho (AP)—A two-car collision on U. S. 93A two miles south of Moore killed an Idaho man, state police said Thursday.

The accident occurred late Wednesday.

The dead man was Mark Hanna, 73, Arco.

Police said Hanna was riding in a car driven by Mrs. Marie Judd, Arco. Mrs. Judd and Hanna's brother, William, also in the car, were injured.

The vehicle smashed into the rear of another vehicle halted at the highway's edge.

The death increased Idaho's 1967 toll to 270, two less than the record 272 deaths in 1962.

Business Is Slow

Lines at the entrance of the Twin Falls county assessor's vehicle licensing office have all but vanished and although sales are steady, officials said residents should purchase plates now.

As yet the county has not received all of the 27,000 plates ordered, but the supply is still adequate. No word has been received in the Twin Falls office as to deadline for displaying plates other than the regular Jan. 18 deadline.

Mr. Stansell said the four were selected "because of their outstanding contributions to community programs in the past and their personal interest in the livestock industry."

The new directors are Kenneth Newman, Twin Falls, an official of the First Security Bank; Ed Novacek, Buhl, an official of the Idaho First National Bank; Tom Prescott, Jerome, a partner in the firm of Prescott-Craig Agency and O. A. (Gus) Kelker, Twin Falls, executive editor of the Times-News.

Since its inception several years ago, the Livestock Hall of Fame has become recognized as one of the outstanding organizations in the West, formed for the express purpose of honoring those who have made livestock programs in the past and their personal interest in the livestock industry.

Found

SHOSHONE — The picture of Gov. Don Samuelson missing from the Lincoln County Courtroom for several months, has been returned.

And, it appears, those who took it, did so because "they liked it" and wanted to have an oil painting made from it.

Full confession was made at the Wood River Soil & Water Conservation District awards meeting recently, when the oil was presented to Mrs. Samuelson. Mrs. Robert Gaskill had made the painting from the photo. Floyd Silva admitted "securing" the picture for Mrs. Gaskill to use — and he also "restored" it to its original place behind the judge's chair a few days ago.

Dinner Held By Richfield Grange

RICHFIELD — Richfield Grange members and guests held a holiday dinner party Wednesday evening at the Methodist recreation rooms. Glen Ross, Grange master, performed introductions and conducted a short business meeting.

Next meeting will be Jan. 10 with place to be announced.

Auto Bought For Minidoka County Work

RUPERT — Minidoka County Commissioners have approved a bid from Rupert Auto for a Dodge Coronet for the assessor's office. The bid was for $1,222.70 with a 1965 Dodge trade-in.

Also approved by the commissioners were bids by Norman Wall to construct two boat ramps at Lake Walcott, $384; Wright Brothers to remove the partition in the center of the auditor's office and replace it with an I beam, $496.40; Wright Brothers to install a new cement floor in the auditor's office, $498; Croft Construction to move refuse at the Paul dump grounds, $245 each time it has to be moved.

Under consideration is a request by the University of Idaho extension Service for the county to increase its share of the three county agents' salaries from $1,000 to $1,500 each to provide the funds necessary for a salary raise.

Also approved were recommendations made by the fair board for improvements at the fairgrounds. Some of the items on the list which will be done as the funds become available are a new horse barn, shaded seating in several areas and improved parking facilities.

Luther King: An Adventure In Anarchy

WASHINGTON — In discussing plans to cause "massive disruption" of governmental functions in Washington next spring, Dr. Martin Luther King says in his best sanctimonious manner that "God only knows what we will face in terms of chaos" if the government fails to knuckle under to his adventure in anarchy.

King is wrong again. It is not only God who knows what will happen. King knows, and so do all his pious, professional palm-reading cronies. They all know that their "non-violent" plans can result in nothing but bloodshed and broken heads all around if they succeed in putting the government out of business. King himself admits that dispatching "thousands" of demonstrators to Washington is "risky" because of the ugly mood of many Negroes in the nation's slums. But he adds comfortably that these "angry and bitter" people will respond to "nonviolence" — if it's militant enough. English scholars are free to try to figure out that sentence.

In attempting to force Congress and the Administration to provide "jobs or income for all" — a nice, blood-letting, demagogic phrase — the King campaign will seek transportation tieups, school boycotts, and, of course, sit-ins to block entrances to such installations as the Capitol and the White House. One of King's elegant thugs says another tactic might be to tie up Washington hospitals with waves of "sick" youngsters drafted from Negro homes. He says this would be "useful and dramatic." It would also prove fatal, or at least malevolently harmful, to some genuinely sick kids.

It is not surprising that King should shrug off any problems of financing. That "Jordy, tax-exempt Ford Foundation has donated $200,000 to "educate" leaders of this half-baked rebellion, and King has said this money will provide a nucleus of 3,000 "demonstrators," whose numbers will grow "way up into the thousands." Henry Ford's ghost must be doing something.

Any rational citizen even mildly interested in the principle of government by law must find King's utterances preposterous. He expresses concern for "the stability of civilization and the potential of free government," and then goes ahead with a massive conspiracy to break the law. His march on Washington has nothing to do with law and order or the workings of a free government, but is an attempt by a minority to impose government by tyranny. The threat is not even tacit, but stated; King says failure of his conspiracy would bring down "the curtain of doom" upon the nation.

Clearly, King is out of touch with reality. His statement that "a clear majority in America are asking for the very things which we will demand in Washington" is, by the kindest interpretation, a horrifying piece of wishful thinking. His "majority" does not even include a majority of Americans with black skin in a country whose Negroes represent a tiny 10 per cent minority.

There is also something almost calculatedly neurotic about King's position that the government "will not move to correct the problem involving race until it is confronted directly and dramatically." The answer to that is that the Negro has made his greatest gains in history during the past five years, gains which were achieved in legislative chambers, not in street-corner confrontations.

King says the Washington disorder is "a last desperate attempt" to get the nation to respond to "nonviolent action." What does the man plan for an encore — a landing of Black Power paratroopers, led perhaps by Stokely Carmichael, on the Pentagon's roof?

"Can't Understand It—His Brand Had 10 Per Cent Less Nicotine!"

WAYNE BRANDSTADT, M.D. On Sanitation

The only thing that is better than a prompt recovery from an attack of viral hepatitis is not to get it in the first place. Since there is no vaccine against this disease, prevention is largely a matter of community sanitation. There are, however, a few preventive measures that can be applied within your home. To prevent the spread of hepatitis by contaminated hands, every member of the family should make it a habit to wash hands thoroughly before meals and after each trip to the toilet. For this purpose, the use of a soap that contains hexachlorophene gives the best protection.

Children should be taught to keep dirty objects out of their mouths. When any circumstance, such as a flood, endangers the local water supply you should boil all drinking water for at least 12 minutes. Giving gamma globulin to persons believed to have been exposed to this disease was formerly advocated, but recent studies suggest that it is not very effective for this purpose.

Q—Is a cold passed from one person to another or are the germs picked up through the air?

A—The common cold virus is present in the secretions of the nose and throat of persons in the early stages of the disease. It is borne through the air in tiny droplets when such a person sneezes, coughs, laughs or talks. It may also be transmitted by contaminated articles, such as eating utensils. In dealing with anything so tiny as a virus, the relative importance of one means of transmission over another is hard to determine.

Q—I am 70 years old. I get cramps in my feet and legs every night. What can I do for them? Would brewer's yeast help?

A—Small doses of quinine sulfate, with or without aminophylline or other drugs, are often prescribed for muscular cramps. This treatment has helped some persons. It should not be used during pregnancy. Chloroquine phosphate is also helpful. These drugs should be taken only under medical supervision. For immediate temporary relief, nothing beats getting up and walking or massaging the cramped muscles.

Brewer's yeast is a rich source of vitamin B and is not harmful, but I know of no evidence that it will help your cramps.

The Political Pot

Some might think it is too early to back any candidate for Congress with the elections nearly a year away. But the announcement in Twin Falls that a group has been formed to "draft" Lloyd J. Webb as a Republican candidate for Congressman from the Second District in case George Hansen decides to try for the Senate is refreshing.

Whether or not Mr. Webb ever gets to run for the post, it is good to know that Magic Valley is not just counting itself out of any race for a top political office. The representatives from this area in Congress have been few, and there haven't even been very many candidates for the Idaho congressional posts from Magic Valley in recent years.

The last congressman who claimed Magic Valley as his home was John Sanborn of Hagerman, who served from 1947-1950. Before that there was Henry Dworshak, Burley, 1939-1946, and Addison T. Smith, Twin Falls, 1913-1933.

Mr. Dworshak also served as an Idaho senator from 1947 until his death in 1962. Another Magic Valley man to serve in the U. S. Senate was Frank Gooding, Gooding, who held the post from 1921 until he died in 1928.

Magic Valley has no dearth of men of this caliber, who can do a good job for this state in Congress. We can include Lloyd Webb in this category, and there are many others.

Scofflaws

New York City, which recently put into effect a stiff fine scale for errant motorists, has adopted another measure to bring to justice those who find it convenient to thumb their noses at the law—the computer.

As recently as two months ago, as many as 60 per cent of New York motorists who got tickets did not pay their fines. By tracking down those most guilty of ignoring citations, by computer, and publicizing the resulting convictions and fines, the scofflaw rate has been cut to 40 per cent. In months, city officials expect it to be down to 10 or 15 per cent. More than 800,000 scofflaws now have their license numbers, names and addresses in the computer's memory bank. It is a simple procedure to run the latest additions in traffic tickets through the computer to see how many unpaid fines may be on hand against any individual.

About 100 court summonses and warrants go out weekly to the most flagrant violators. Others are notified by mail and telephone. Millions of dollars in additional revenue are being taken in by the city. That new electronic member of the police department is earning his keep. Some New York motorists are even learning to obey the law.

Listen And You Hear . . .

Mrs. Beverly Hughes, who is a third grade teacher in Shoshone and who also resides in Twin Falls, sent Mr. Spectator a few "nuggets from the gold mine of children's writings."

Being a teacher in the grades, and living day by day with youngsters in an age where they are impressed by things most of us take for granted, she is in a good spot to collect such gems of wisdom. At Christmas-time, too!

"These children live in a wonderful world," she wrote, "and if they trust you, once in a while they will tell you about it—if you are listening."

Well, Mrs. Hughes apparently is trusted by the kids and also listens to them because her observations are most interesting.

Mr. Spectator will share some of them with readers of this column—so here goes:

"There are a lot of other things I want but I will wait for another Christmas."

"It was a baby deer that was left on Santa's doorstep. They named him Rudolph."

"The reindeer will want a lot of sugar for such a long trip."

"Please make my grandpa well."

"You are so friendly to the children."

"... wants a picture of Santa because I love you so much."

"While Santa is delivering presents, and the reindeer are parked up in the sky, they ate some leaves off the bushes of heaven."

"Santa's deer always seem to be new. He never has to shop any 'used reindeer' lots."

"Please help my great-grandmother who has heart trouble and is 80 years old."

Santa speaking: "I'm going to have to lose some weight so the deer can carry me faster from house to house."

"Please make my grandpa well."

"... is glad there are lots of 'No hunting' signs at Santa's reindeer ranch."

And so it goes. Gems from the minds of the active youngsters who have not forgotten how to dream like most of us adults. Mr. Spectator believes like Mrs. Hughes that if you listen you will know what these youngsters are thinking.

CHRISTMAS LONG AGO

Merry Christmas to you
And may your day be grand!
And bring to you the precious things
To be used at your command.

But the Christmas Time of long ago
Was really a Christmas Day
'Twas filled with Faith, you know,
Of Santa Claus on the way.

The huge tree, cornered against the walls,
Was filled with oranges hanging,
As well as popcorn balls—
Which kept the morning clanging.

The wooden toys were homemade
But to us, unknown
The memory of them will never fade
Of course, we now are grown.

The homemade paper cups
Were filled with homemade candy
The walnuts were always cherished
In baskets that were handy.

That huge, large dolly, way up high
On top of the Christmas tree
Was made of rags
But dressed so beautifully!

We children treated her with respect
And let the young ones do no harm
And took chances, like we elect,
To keep her in our charm.

The fancy mittens for the boys
Were handled with great care
They knew that Mother helped Santa
Make them from underwear.

The wonderfully decorated cake
Was lurking us, on the table,
If we behaved as we should,
'T would be a lasting fame.

The corn cob pipe that father smoked
Was lying upon the shelf
And he lit it from the tobacco can
A treasure just for himself.

We had to eat our breakfast
And go and do our chores.
We hurried fast, so no one else,
Would beat us through the doors.

And the eldest child of all
Was allowed to check the name
That was written upon the gift.
From Santa Claus of great fame.

We thanked God for our treasures
And to this day remember
That Christmas comes as always
On the twenty-fifth of December.

Changes Due In Pentagon

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Ten Pentagon changes are likely with Robert McNamara out.

Large institutions in the long run have a way of reasserting their authority over the men who run them. For awhile, a determined man may have his will, and he may, during his tenure institute systems that will change the institution. But the institution weakens such a man and turns back on his changes. This action is slowed down, but not stopped, when one "strong" man is followed by another. It is unusual that a strong man follows a strong man. It is therefore best to bet on the institution.

By this reasoning, the following changes are likely in the Pentagon regardless of the man who follows McNamara:

1—Undoubtedly, more delegation of authority and decision making will come. Men down the line will surely get more chance at responsibility.

2—Morale will probably go up. The operation will become a little stopper.

3—The intangibles of war—those things that cannot be measured on computers—will likely receive more consideration.

4—Things will be less exciting.

5—Almost assuredly, there will be less tendency to equate honest difference of opinion in the services with disloyalty to the chief, less internal spying on what officials are saying privately. As a result, officials who disagree with the secretary of defense won't be looking over their shoulders furtively while they work.

6—Pentagon officials will have more time to move ahead on positive programs instead of being embroiled in the "turbulence" brought about by constant reorganizing.

7—Some McNamara reorganizations may fall apart. These are the ones which have been held together in name only by his insistence.

8—A step-up in basic and state-of-the-art research is possible.

9—Greater receptivity is likely to adopting new systems—such as Polaris (a pre-McNamara decision) and a nuclear Navy (which McNamara has dragged his feet on)—with greater speed.

10—A tendency may develop to adopt a greater variety of weapons systems, each to backstop the other. The new men will not likely be so certain as McNamara that they are dead right in the systems chosen and assume that in a war it's impossible to predict exactly what will happen or which weapon will fail to do the job expected of it.

On the other hand, McNamara and his immediate predecessors have made some vital changes in the Pentagon. The most important of these—unification of major services, unification of the budget, systems analysis, computerization of some important functions and cost effectiveness in its true sense of getting the most for the dollar—have been the result of hard-fought changes which began with James Forrestal and continued down through Charles Wilson, Thomas Gates and, finally, McNamara.

McNamara's genius has not been in conceiving new ideas or ways of doing things but in his salesmanship and his drive to put ideas into effect. He took concepts begun by his predecessors and whipped them through by persuasiveness and by brute force.

McNamara has had the effect of a strong purgative. He has gutted out some musty ideas and obsolete ways of doing things that everyone recognized as being wrong but most men dared touch only chip by chip. Unfortunately, McNamara has, in cleaning out fat, also carved into some muscle. The Defense Department now needs time to digest those ideas that will work and to eject those changes that waken it.

BRUCE BLOSSAT

McCarthy: The Primary Task

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Friends of Sen. Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota say that today the chances of his entering the kickoff presidential primary in New Hampshire are no more than 50-50.

A few weeks ago, these backers indicate, the senator had all but decided upon a whitewash New Hampshire effort involving as many as perhaps 30 days of on-scene campaigning.

Fresh appraisal of the outlook there suggests to the McCarthy forces, however, that this first key primary would be much tougher to win than was originally thought.

Significantly, it was this judgment, not the possible scheduling difficulties the senator might develop if he decides to visit Vietnam, which associates stressed in discussing New Hampshire.

If McCarthy should still choose to enter that primary (most likely against some stand-in for President Johnson), the decision probably will not be made until the holidays. And the senator might limit himself to just a few speech appearances there.

Now that he has added Massachusetts to his roster of primary states, the pressure to enter New Hampshire may be diminished. He has satisfied the obvious requirement that he do battle somewhere on the eastern seaboard.

Nevertheless, the altered appraisal of his New Hampshire prospects could be symptomatic of conditions McCarthy may encounter in other states where first judgments were rather optimistic.

In Wisconsin, for instance, one respected observer told this reporter that, though the Minnesotan has a chance to win national-convention delegates in three congressional districts, he might well wind up winning nothing at all in the April 2 primary. He is said to be strongest in the 2nd, 5th of Madison's academic complex, with the 10th (northwest Wisconsin) and 5th (north Milwaukee) following in that order.

Even if McCarthy won those three, he would still own just a handful of Wisconsin's 1968 delegates (the total was 46 votes in 1964). The President, whose name would automatically be on the ballot there under Wisconsin law if he were a candidate, would get the bulk.

California, where the prize would be huge (154 votes in 1964) and the senator would likely face another Johnson stand-in, is widely thought to be McCarthy's best bet. Yet even here some appraisers think he would have more trouble than the early-talk-suggested.

Massachusetts, California and Wisconsin clearly are the senator's brightest prospects, but the indications today are that these and all his other 1968 undertakings may be much tougher than he and his backers imagine even in their most realistic moments.

ART BUCHWALD

McNamara's Yarn

WASHINGTON — The debate over whether Secretary Robert S. McNamara jumped or was pushed out of his Defense Department job goes on unabated in Washington. McNamara-watchers were caught flat-footed when a London bank teller leaked that the secretary of defense had been nominated to head the World Bank.

One student of Great Society upheavals was still kicking himself this week when he told me: "I should have known something was wrong when Capt. Chuck Robb didn't select McNamara as his best man for the Linda Bird wedding."

All sorts of stories about how President Johnson and Secretary McNamara agreed to part have appeared in the newspapers and on television, and as usual I'm the only one who got The Inside Scoop.

It has been known for some time that Secretary McNamara and former secretary of state, Shirley Temple Black disagreed on the strategy of conducting the Vietnam war. Shirley has wanted the center of Hanoi and go for all-out victory against the enemy. She has been supported in her position by the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Secretary McNamara, on the other hand, has been more cautious than Shirley, hoping to eke out some sort of settlement short of blowing up all of Southeast Asia.

President Johnson was somewhere in the middle. While he respected his secretary of defense, the Shirley Temple solution sounded more appealing as each day went by.

The President would have probably let things ride as they were, except for a casual conversation he had with McNamara a few months ago. The President asked him:

"Bob, where do you do your banking?"

"I have a friend at the Chase Manhattan," the secretary of defense replied.

"Have you ever thought of putting your money in the World Bank?" the President asked. "I understand if you open an account there before January you get a free set of dishes."

McNamara said, "I have the greatest respect for the World Bank, and I sure could use a free set of dishes, but I don't know anybody over there."

"I know George Woods, and I'll give him a call tomorrow."

"Gosh, Mr. President, you don't have to do that."

"Don't be silly. It's no trouble. Besides, if I get someone to open an account there, I get a free set of dishes, too."

President Johnson made a call to the World Bank the next day and talked to Woods. Much to his surprise, he discovered that not only was the World Bank short of depositors, but it was looking for a president as well.

Suddenly President Johnson got an idea. Instead of just opening an account for McNamara, he'd make him president of the World Bank. In this way Mr. Johnson could show his appreciation to his secretary of defense, and at the same time have a friend there in case the United States ever needed a loan.

The President decided to spring the announcement on McNamara as a surprise, so he didn't mention a thing about it. Secretary McNamara had forgotten about it, too, and went about his business hoping he could cool down Shirley Temple.

Then one day in London some loudmouth told a reporter that McNamara was going to be the new head of the World Bank.

The President was chagrined because he wanted to break it to the secretary himself on Christmas morning. (The appointment was going to be inserted on a Christmas card and delivered to Secretary McNamara with the set of dishes.)

Unfortunately, when the story leaked the President had no choice but to confirm to McNamara that, indeed, he was going to be the new president of the World Bank.

Secretary McNamara gulped and said: "But all I wanted to do was open an account there. I didn't mean to head it up."

"Bob, you should know by now when your President does something, he does it with style."

"Bob, where do you do your banking?"

"I have a friend at the Chase Manhattan," the secretary of defense replied.

"Have you ever thought of putting your money in the World Bank?" the President asked. "I understand if you open an account there before January you get a free set of dishes."

McNamara said, "I have the greatest respect for the World Bank, and I sure could use a free set of dishes, but I don't know anybody over there."

"I know George Woods, and I'll give him a call tomorrow."

"Gosh, Mr. President, you don't have to do that."

"Don't be silly. It's no trouble. Besides, if I get someone to open

Johnson Says Republicans Aren't So Bad

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, who vigorously attacked Republican leaders earlier this week, says they aren't so bad after all.

"I say good things about the members of the other party when there are good things to say," Johnson told a White House audience Thursday. "We frequently have that opportunity."

Johnson had told the AFL-CIO convention in Miami Beach, Fla., that Republicans are "wooden soldiers" riding a buggy capable only of going backwards and downhill.

But while signing the Flammable Fabrics Act he told his White House listeners, including several congressmen: "I don't want to get into name-calling contests. I don't want to say any ugly things about individuals. But I do about programs and about bills."

The Republicans aren't dropping the matter there. The President's speech was broadcast on the major networks and the GOP demanded equal time, which will be granted tonight. Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen and House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford will respond to Johnson's Tuesday night speech.

The TV round robin will continue next Tuesday night when Johnson participates in a one-hour interview on the three major radio-TV networks. "Conversation With the President" will be taped in advance.

Johnson seemed to have the 1968 election on his mind Thursday—although he hasn't announced whether he'll seek another term.

He attended a 200th birthday party at the Smithsonian Instition in honor of the Encyclopaedia Britannica hosted by former Connecticut Sen. William Benton, head of the Britannica.

Benton made the transition from politics to business and the President told him with a grin: "I may need to know something about business—depending on your frame of mind." It was clear he meant the frame of mind of American voters.

If Johnson wants relief from his own problems, he could study the trials and tribulations of another President Johnson—Andrew, the 17th chief executive. The President received the first copy of the initial volume of "Andrew Johnson Papers" a new approach is needed in U.S. diplomacy "geared to a conceptual approach to the problem at home and abroad, not to individual solutions based on the illusion that we can escape problems by fragmenting them."

—Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota, who plans to oppose Johnson in several Democratic primaries as an antiwar candidate, told a Manchester, N.H., audience the problems afflicting many Negroes—unemployment, family instability, poverty, segregation, immobility—can't be solved until Negroes are able to move to the suburbs. He urged a massive federal program to provide improved housing.

—Michigan Gov. George Romney, an announced candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, said in Bonn, Germany, there would be no pullout from Vietnam regardless of the '68 voting results. "I want to stress that I think there will be no lessening of our determined efforts to find a satisfactory solution," Romney told newsmen.

—New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, considered a leading but unannounced contender for the GOP nomination, wrote in the Quarterly Foreign Affairs

Dr. Taylor Elected To College Post

Dr. James L. Taylor, president of the College of Southern Idaho, was elected secretary of the Northwest Association of Junior Colleges at a meeting concluded Wednesday at Portland, Ore.

Dr. Taylor, who has been head of CSI since its establishment about three years ago, said that no other Idahoans were named to elective offices. He said other officers are from Washington, Oregon and Utah.

States included in the association include Idaho, Utah, Washington, Oregon, Nevada, Montana, Alaska, and part of Canada.

The local president said he felt his election was "quite an honor, especially since CSI is such a new school."

The next annual meeting, he stated, will be next year in Reno, Nev.

The meeting just concluded began Sunday. Dr. Taylor said a highlight of the meeting was a speech on federal participation in higher education by Edith Green, United States representative from Oregon.

Prior to attending the Portland meeting, Dr. Taylor was in Washington, D. C., for two days where he attended a workshop sponsored by the American Association of Junior Colleges on federal legislation.

Versatile "Saints" Back Many Of Nation's Recording Stars

Versatility is a word defined by Webster as "having many aptitudes and changing with ease from one thing to another." This word describes perfectly the musical ability of The Saints, one of the most adaptable groups in Idaho.

Well known in Magic Valley for their first-class styling, they are called upon frequently to back famous recording celebrities appearing in Jackpot, which is the basis of their activities during December.

Being such an adept group of musicians, you can find them playing for country and western-type dances as well as formal balls for the various lodges, and they have played for countless social functions throughout Southern Idaho.

The group really gets western each September when they play "background" music for snorting bulls, bucking horses and speeding steers at the Twin Falls County Fair and Rodeo. Their music adds much to the flavor of the rodeo and trying to synchronize music with the high spirited action of rodeo stock is an art in itself.

In this capacity they have probably played before as large and diversified an audience as any group of entertainers in Magic Valley.

The Saints, headed by Ray Crumbliss, Twin Falls, outstanding lead guitar player, features George Serr, Wendell, as

Although they usually stick to their own instruments while entertaining, they are all extremely good singers and spell occasionally with the vocalizing. Each with a different style, they are ready to accommodate any and all requests.

Ray organized The Saints in 1963, with the newest addition to the group being Bruce, when asked how in the world they ever came up with such an auspicious name, Ray said, without much hesitation, "Well, really now, don't you think it befits our personalities."

They take a lot of kidding about their chosen appellation. Only recently during the Country Music Festival in Jerome, three members of the Kings Harvesters, who specialize in religious songs, sang the closing number, accompanied by The Saints. When it was evident the audience would keep insisting on an encore, Dick Shaffer of the Kings Harvesters, walked up to the microphone and said, "I guess we could do one more, it's not often we are accompanied by "The SAINTS."

This past week the group backed Capital Records' Roy Clark, from the famous television show, "Swinging Country," a 30-minute color day program.

This week they are appearing with MGM recording artist, Marvin Rainwater, whose shows can be seen through Sunday. Starting Dec. 19 and continuing through Dec. 26, they can be seen with Johnny Dollar, well-known Columbia recording artist, and the second weekend in January they will be backing the famous Rex Allen.

Marx Discovers Jobs Increase After Sixty

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "When I turned 60, I thought I was washed-up, that nobody would want to hire me. And now I've got more offers of jobs than ever before!"

Such is the position of Groucho Marx, the irreverent elder statesman of American comedy who refused to act his age, which is 72. Among the offers which most appeal to him: 1. A series of interviews for Public Broadcast Laboratory; 2. A nightly news commentary on television with Goodman Ace and Groucho; 3. A syndicated series of five-minute television tapes with Groucho grousing about contemporary customs.

These projects cast Groucho in his latter-day role as the satiric sage, the commentator with sharp aim at proposity and human-folly. That is how today's generation knows him. Those who hark back to the mad musical comedies of the Marx Brothers will be able to view the master in his fine old form tonight on NBC's Kraft Music Hall. Groucho is host and performer on a special called "A Taste of Funny," and he will be performing in his classic roles as Captain Spaulding and Dr. Hacksenbush. He sings, he dances, he lopes about the stage like a lecherous fox. His performance may prove a revelation to youngsters who know him only as the acid quizzmaster.

Groucho is no mossback who yearns for the good old days of vaudeville; he has reiterated that the general run of comedy in vaudeville was pretty corny and tired. He does claim that humor has fallen upon bad times in recent years, and he offered his reason for the decline.

Indiana Mayor-Elect Charts Plans

NEW YORK (AP) — Richard Hatcher, mayor-elect of Gary, Ind., has outlined some of the details in the war he has declared on his city's slums, crime and air pollution.

The 34-year-old Negro lawyer said in an interview Thursday night he plans to ask high school students to donate their summer vacations to working in the slums, and tutoring other children.

"Through this we hope to get people who don't have jobs trained in basic skills like carpentry, so they can earn money for themselves and help their families," he said.

Hatcher said he had been meeting with members of Gary's business community. "In Gary, that means the white community," and that "right now I couldn't say they have a true understanding of the depth of the problem, but I think they are trying to understand and given an opportunity I think they will respond in a most meaningful way."

"Sometimes," added the man who has billed his election as a constructive example of black power, "I'm not so sure I understand all the depths myself."

Hatcher said he planned to ask businessmen to "do a lot of things," among them form non-profit corporations to build and renovate slum housing, and to find "places in their corporations for people who are unemployed."

Discussing his campaign promise to seek all the federal aid funds he can find, Hatcher said he had talked with "just about every federal department, Housing and Urban Development; Health, Education and Welfare; Labor, Justice and the poverty program."

"We have been given oral promises that our applications will receive the greatest amount of consideration possible," he said.

CAR DERAILED — A spokesman for the Union Pacific Railroad said a derailed freight car was blocking the main line near Kuna, south of Boise, Thursday evening and traffic was being routed through Boise with little delay.

One car and the wheel trucks on two other cars went off the tracks at the site of a bridge, hampering efforts to clear the line.

There was little damage in the derailment which occurred earlier Thursday.

Christmas Events Begin At Church

Special events and services honoring the Christmas season at Lynwood Chapel began Thursday evening with a Christmas party for all the ladies of the church in the Fellowship Hall.

The annual Christmas program by children of the Sunday school will be presented Sunday during the Sunday school hour, beginning at 10 a.m. The theme will be "What Is the Spirit of Christmas?" It will be developed by recitations, skits, group songs and special numbers. Christmas treats will be given to all children following the program.

The junior and senior high school classes will have charge of the Sunday evening program at 7:30 p.m. The junior high school class will enact a play, "Is Christ In Your Christmas?"

Caroling is scheduled for 7 p.m. Tuesday with the adult group meeting later at the Guy Simons home for refreshments. Rev. D. L. Mikel will conclude a series of Christmas messages on Dec. 24 during the morning worship hour while evening services at 7:30 p.m. will be highlighted by the choir presenting a cantata "A Song Unending." The public is invited.

Out Of Office

WILLOW GROVE, Pa. (AP) — The Administrative Management Society says the office Christmas party has moved out of the office and into a nearby restaurant or tavern.

The society says 68 per cent of 133 firms contacted are having Yule parties this year but only 25 per cent of those will be held on company premises. The rest are being held in restaurants, hotel dining rooms and clubs.

Gold Prices Edge Toward Official High

LONDON (AP) — Gold prices edged toward the official ceiling today as buyers again joined the gold rush in fear of a formal ban on sales to speculators this weekend.

The price was $35.1974 per ounce, just an eighth of a cent below the top price fixed by the seven-nation gold pool, which is publicly pledged to supply cash buyers. Thursday's opening price was $35.1934.

Dealers in London, who handle orders from the European continent and particularly from Switzerland, said demand was very heavy, but slightly below Thursday, when the market opened with orders for a record 60 tons.

A major factor in boosting the price was the fall in the value of the pound on foreign exchange markets. The pound was at $2.4015, about a tenth of a cent less than Thursday and a post-valuation low.

The weekly Economist estimated that 190 tons of gold—$210 million worth—had been sold through the London market the first four days of this week.

Diplomat Lester Pearson Is Retiring To Nurse His Bruises

By BEN BASSETT

AP Foreign News Editor

Lester Bowles Pearson, the diplomat who reluctantly became a politician, is retiring to nurse his bruises.

He doesn't put it that way. He says he's grateful for the opportunities he has had, and thankful for party loyalty.

But Pearson, though he emerged from two elections as Canada's prime minister, was never able to win majority rule in the House of Commons. Too many Canadians in too many areas never quite bought what he offered.

His announcement Thursday that he is resigning from leadership of the Liberal party means he must give up the prime ministry. He carries on in both posts until a new party leader, who also will take the government job, is chosen—probably in March or April.

Canada thus faces a new choice, not an echo of recent elections, when it next goes to the polls.

John Diefenbaker, longtime leader of the other major party, also has surrendered to history in this 100th year of Canadian confederation. His successor as the Conservative chief is a new face on the national scene, Robert Stanfield, ex-premier of Nova Scotia.

Stanfield's age—53—in a shadow the Liberal party's huddles when it selects Pearson's successor. Foreign Secretary Paul Martin is 64 and has been around a long time; that may be held against him. Other Cabinet members in their 40s may have a better chance, but the field is not limited to them.

The prime ministry goes to the man leading the party that came in first in the most recent election. Pearson ousted Diefenbaker in 1963 but fell short of winning a majority of Commons seats. He tried again in 1965, and again was on top but short of a majority.

The Liberals have ruled because the Conservatives and the minor parties in Commons couldn't get together to provide an alternative government, and because no one wanted the expense of another election in which he couldn't win a majority.

Barring a major vote against them in Parliament, the Liberals could stay at the helm through most of 1970 since the nominal term is five years. With new leadership on both sides, an earlier election is likely.

"Feast Of Nations" Set By Institute

The annual "Feast of Nations," sponsored by the Twin Falls LDS Institute of Religion, will be Dec. 16. This event features delightful dishes from all over the world.

This year, dishes from France, Japan, Hawaii, Mexico, New Zealand, Scotland, England and Italy, will be served. Entertainment or music will provide an atmosphere of that country.

The affair will be held at the home of Frank Craven, 1019 Morningside Drive, at 8 p.m. Admission: 50 cents. Contact Janet Dummer, 731-1116, Shirley Christensen, 733-7872 or Merl Egbert 733-2336, for more information.

Dolly Dimples, Former Circus Fat Lady, Weighs 110 Lbs.

DANIA, Fla. (AP) — Dolly Dimples, one-time circus fat lady with a 79-inch bust and a waist seven feet around, now complains she is underweight.

Celeste Geyer, a svelte 110 pounds today at 4-feet-11, weighed 555 pounds in 1950. That was when she worked in sideshows, carnivals and circuses.

She had a heart attack in 1950 and a doctor put her on a menu of baby food and said, "Diet or die, Dolly!"

"Right before I had my heart attack I used to pray to die because I was so helpless," said Mrs. Geyer, now 66 and operator of a small gallery of amateur art in this suburb of Miami. "I lost 401 pounds in 14 months," she said.

"I couldn't even cross my legs then," she said, motioning at the poster.

"Actually, I'm a little on the skinny side right now. I try to stay between 116 and 122 but "I'm down to 110 pounds," she said.

Her diet is 800 calories daily. For example, she has a cup of chicken soup, a soda cracker, gelatin salad and skimmed milk for lunch.

"In school all the kids called me tubby and fatty. I'd come home crying and eat some more." I was about 150 pounds when I was 13 and 295 when I dropped out of high school," she said.

"That's when I met my husband, Frank. At night I'd shake him a fresh pie or cake and he'd eat one piece so I'd finish it. I gained 100 pounds in a year." Frank, who weighed 135 pounds, died earlier this year.

"It used to take 12 yards of cloth to make my dress. Now I'm a size 12," she said.

"My friends told me I'd kill myself if I went on a crash diet," Mrs. Geyer said. "Well, if

Senate Okays Controversial Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — By a standing vote of three to two, the Senate passed and sent to the White House Thursday a controversial bill to give new duties to the dormant Subversive Activities Control Board.

Despite previous debate which occasionally became heated, only five members were in the chamber. Sens. William Proxmire, D-Wis., and Albert Gore, D-Tenn., voted against passage. Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen and Sens. Sam Ervin Jr., D-N.C., and Alan Bible, D-Nev., supplied the votes to pass the measure.

While giving new duties to the five-member board, the bill also holds open the possibility the board may go out of business.

Proxmire said he hopes that is the result.

The measure awards the agency some duties designed to supplant those ruled unconstitutional by the Supreme Court. One of the new functions, barring Communists from defense plant jobs, was ruled out last Monday.

The bill empowers the board to hold hearings and declare groups to be Communist dominated or controlled.

It also contains a provision requiring the board to act or cease to exist. It has held no hearings in two years.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN M. ZELNICK

Nancy High, John Zelnick Wed In November Ceremony

Carrying a bouquet of cascading Phalaenopsis orchids, white feathery carnations and leather leaf, Nancy Allen High became the bride of John M. Zelnick in rites Nov. 24. The orchids were very special for Nancy as the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest W. Zelnick, brought them from their home in Panama.

Taking the orchids through customs caused a good deal of interest, so much so that officials neglected to look into the other luggage but all wanted to see the orchids and hoped that they would arrive in Twin Falls in good condition.

Miss High is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard S. High, Twin Falls. The single ring ceremony took place in the Valley Christian Church, with Rev. Forest J. Hibbard officiating. The church was decorated with circular candelabra containing tall white tapers and two large baskets arranged with large pink chrysanthemums, pink carnations, Regemina heather and pink satin ribbon.

The bride wore an antique-style gown of fine imported faille and Cluny lace. The empire line of the dress dropped in the back to the waist, with the full train sweeping out from the shoulders. Scalloped lace formed the yoke and sleeves and was applied on the skirt and train in an exquisite design. Her veil of illusion, also in an ivory tone, was held by a half-moon of lace with rhinestone and pearl trim.

The bride wore a lavalier which had belonged to her great-grandmother, and carried a linen handkerchief which had been made by a great-grandmother over 100 years ago.

Carol High, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Janet High, cousin of the bride, was a junior bridesmaid. Bridesmaids were Phebe Wheeler, Clinton Corners, N.Y., and Nancy Worrell, New Haven, Conn., both former college roommates of the bride.

Best man was Paul Zelnick, brother of the bridegroom. Ushers were Dick High and David High, brothers of the bride. Candelighter was Steven High, and the ringbearer was Douglas High, both cousins of the bride.

Mrs. Harold Nye was the organist, and Mrs. David Mead, soloist. After the ceremony, the bride and bridegroom greeted guests at the reception held at the Holiday Inn. The bride's table featured a three-tiered wedding cake decorated with wedding bells, tiny cupids, Lilies of the Valley and white-rosobuds made of icing. The cake was encircled with little pink chrysanthemums, heather and leather leaf. Candles, mints and napkins all followed the same color scheme.

The wedding cake was cut and served by Mrs. Robert High, aunt of the bride. Mrs. Leslie C. Gillette, grandmother of the bride, presided at the coffee table. Mrs. Howard Ilk, cousin of the bride, and Katy Breckenridge served the punch. Mary Lou Ilk, cousin of the bride, was in charge of the guest book.

The couple left immediately after the reception for Philadelphia, Pa., where the bridegroom is doing graduate work at the University of Pennsylvania. They plan a wedding trip to Panama over the Christmas holidays.

The rehearsal dinner was hosted by the bridegroom's parents at Kay's Supper Club. The gift of the bridegroom was a gold bracelet made from a set of gold coins given to the bridegroom many years ago from the coin collection of his Grandfather Zelnick.

Out-of-state guests included Mrs. Ed McMullin, aunt of the bride, and Mr. Charles McMullin, cousin of the bride, both Ely, Nev., and Mr. and Mrs. Jack George, Atherton, Calif.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Bill Jones and Mrs. Ben Taylor.

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: What do you do with a mother-in-law (Hubby's Mom) who is generous to a fault? We have been married 2 years now and all this time we have been trying unsuccessfully to fight off lavish gifts, free trips, etc.

We want to be independent and would rather have less than always be saying "thank you" for this and that. My mother-in-law is a very extravagant person, and when she buys for us in the same grand manner that she buys for herself, it's my poor father-in-law who has to pay the bills, and Abby he is not hat rich.

We have told her over and over again that we don't want anything, but she won't take no for an answer. Please tell us what else we can do.

LOSING PATIENCE
DEAR LOSING: The "no" that seems to be posing a problem is not the one your mother-in-law won't take for an answer. It's the one you and your husband seem unable to make stick when you try to refuse her gifts. No one needs to be the recipient of a gift he really does not want. Put a little more conviction into your "no" — and if she gives you the gift anyway, give it back.

DEAR ABBY: They say that worry kills more people than work. Is this true?
WORRIED
DEAR WORRIED: Undoubtedly. Because more people worry than work.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 47-year-old bachelor with a problem like I'm sure you've never been asked to solve before. I can't make my mind up between Hazel, a 30-year-old divorcee, and her mother.

I started going with Hazel and thought I was in love with her until I met "mamma." It was love at first sight with mamma. She is 48, but you would never know it. Abby, I am going nuts between these two. Mamma and I started seeing each other on the Q. T. because we didn't want to hurt Hazel, but Hazel found out about it and she threatened to kill me. Now they are both on my neck to make up my mind. I feel like a rat, but I can't help it. Is Hazel too young for me? Is mamma too old for me? They both have their good points, but I really prefer mamma. Can you tell me what to do?

DOUBLE TROUBLE.

DEAR DOUBLE: If you prefer mamma, go ahead and marry her. But don't accept any dinner invitations at Hazel's unless you take along a food taster.

CONFIDENTIAL TO Fort Worth Reader: If you don't want him the way he is, leave him alone. You can't teach an old dog new tricks. The "old dog" you have in mind may not want to learn any new tricks. Especially from an old trainer.

How has the world been treating you? Unload your problems on Dear Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069. For a personal, unpublished reply, include a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Social Events
Russell Dilles Sagebrush Swingers will play for an old time round dance at 8:30 p.m. Saturday at the Twin Falls Moose Hall. The public is welcome.

He has to have THOROUGHLY PROFESSIONAL KNOW-HOW! If he has all these, and truly WANTS to provide good service, he can do it. But it isn't a simple or easy job.

If it were, all cleaners would do perfect work. They don't. We're going to talk to you about some of these things in our ads. By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — If the loosening of the consumer purse strings is to take place on a large scale, as forecast and anticipated by merchants for months now, it should show up in Christmas sales.

The retailers have a lot going for them this year. Not the least, perhaps, are credit cards, which make impulse buying almost dangerously easy and which conveniently postpone payment until after Christmas.

These plastic disks have been handed out like calling cards this year, many thousands of them having been mailed without request to individuals who need only affix their signatures before using.

A factor that tends to make merchants merry is the rate of consumer savings. For more than a year Americans have been banking at a very high rate. They now have the money to spend and merchants hope to tempt them.

On the other hand, if the tight-fistedness prevails through Christmas it is going to be a lesson for everyone in just how serious is the malaise that some claim has afflicted the acquisitive American.

For reasons that sociologists and economists have been studying with growing curiosity, the carefree consumer who ran up big credit bills, who bought with abandon through the first half of the 1960s, now seems worried and perhaps a bit less secure.

This does not mean he is in the doldrums, but it does mean that he is more cautious than carefree, a bit hesitant and conservative. He has been buying but not with the vigor he is capable of showing.

His worries are many. The disturbing condition of world finances, inflation, taxes, the justified criticism of some product quality, the Vietnam war, racial problems, the coming elections are believed at the root of this mood.

Despite this, some evidence now exists that the Christmas spirit may have prodded the consumer out of his lethargy. November retail sales were distinctly higher than in October.

The November total of $26.5 billion—which includes everything from cigarettes to cars—was an increase of $400 million over October. But still it wasn't all that good, for October was a terrible sales month.

The upward trend, however, has brought much joy to the hearts of merchants, and the National Retail Merchant's Association forecasts that Christmas shoppers will spend about $4.85 billion in department stores alone.

The importance of Christmas to merchants is appreciated when it is realized that the figure projected by the NRMA is equal to about 17 percent of a full year's department store sales.

The Christmas effect is more or less pronounced in many other outlets, including liquor, variety, apparel, shoe, appliance and even food stores.

Proprietors of the nation's liquor stores have been selling their wares at a monthly rate this year of between $500 million and $600 million, but they will be disappointed if December sales don't exceed $900 million.

Variety stores, where impulse buying accounts for many sales, have had an erratic experience this year, their sales ranging between $330 million and a bit more than $500 million, very little better than the previous year.

If sales between Thanksgiving and Christmas fail to double that rate the variety store merchants will feel let down, for January sales traditionally plummet to about one-third the December total.

Because Christmas sales reflect consumer ebullience or lack of it, a lot will be learned about the mood of the nation when the sales reports come in shortly after the new year.

Board Urged To Be Slow On Spending

SHOSHONE—Shoshone school trustees have been cautioned against expenditures for new programs.

Floyd Silva and Don Rowe, representing the Lincoln County Tax Equality Association, appeared at the monthly board meeting to question the advisability of expenditures from surplus funds for new programs not specifically presented at the budget hearings.

Trustees also considered a proposal by Dale Chatterton, president of the Shoshone Teacher's Association, that the school district pay the premiums of a medical and hospitalization plan for its employees. Two plans were presented and action was postponed pending presentation of additional plans and study of the budget.

Board members took under advisement a request by Reid Newby, Lincoln county defense director, for release of several teachers to receive training to qualify as local shelter managers and other civil defense responsibilities. Half the expense involved would be provided by the federal agency.

Board members agreed to request postponement of retirement for Mrs. Elmer Smith until May 31 and for Frank Lane until Dec. 31, 1968. Both are eligible for retirement Jan. 1 under the state public employee retirement system.

Green Giant Adding To Buhl Plant

BUHL—The Green Giant Co. has started construction of a new corn building in Buhl.

The new building, according to Green Giant officials, will house seven corn huskers and is being added to the Buhl complex to allow more efficient use of existing facilities.

According to Austin Hayden, vice president-USA production, a "buffet-size" cooker is being transferred to Buhl from the company's Ripon, Wis., plant. The new cooker is being installed to provide the western market with seven-ounce corn at a lower freight cost.

The increased facilities at the Buhl plant are part of Green Giant's 1968 capital budget of nearly $10 million.

Payments To Beet Growers Set

Sugar Act conditional payment will be made to Twin Falls County sugarbeet growers shortly after Jan. 1. Carl Boyd, chairman of the Twin Falls County ASC Committee announced today.

The amount of payment on the 1967 sugarbeet crop will be $2.40 per ton. The Chairman stated that Sugar Act payments are made each year to growers who meet certain conditions.

These conditions include compliance with the minimum wage regulations and the child labor requirements established by the Department of Agriculture and compliance with acreage restrictions on years when restrictions are imposed. There were no acreage restrictions in 1967.

Payments are being computed by the county ASC office at the present time, according to Mr. Boyd. The unusually late harvest of the sugarbeet crop this season plus the use of a new reporting service which has been inaugurated by ASC this year will likely delay the issuance of any payments to growers until after the first of the year.

For the first time, a report of payments made to each farmer under ASCS programs during 1967 will be mailed to the farmer the latter part of January. This report is expected to be helpful in preparing individual income tax returns. In order to insure the completeness of this report, the issuing of payments between Dec. 22 and Jan. 1 is discouraged. Every effort will be made, however, to make the sugarbeet payments shortly after Jan. 1. As soon as the payments have been computed growers will be notified by mail to come to the TSCS office and sign their applications for payment.

For the 1966 sugarbeet crop the Sugar Act conditional payments amounted to approximately $873,000 paid to 642 growers in Twin Falls County. The number of growers in the county is slightly less this year. An excise tax on all sugar sold within the United States provides funds which more than offset the cost of the conditional payments made to the sugar producers and the administrative costs of the sugarbeet program.

Hagerman Girl Winner Of Contest

PATRICIA GOLD daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Gold, Hagerman, won first place in the state in the canning section of the National Junior Horticultural Association's 1967 contest.

HAGERMAN—Patricia Gold, 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Gold, Hagerman, won first place in the state in the canning section of the National Junior Horticultural Association's 1967 contest.

Miss Gold netted about $700 on five acres of sweet corn. The yield on her acreage was nearly double the average for the area. She expects to use the money to help pay college expenses after she graduates from high school.

Armand Eckert, Buhl, was second; Jack Southwick, Castleford, third, and Norman Eckert, also Buhl, was fourth. Barbara Benjamin, Lewiston, was first for Idaho in the experimental horticulture project and placed second in the national contest. She was first in the Western Region last year.

3 Buhl Farmers Get Together To Solve Irrigation Problem

BUHL—Concern, cooperation and cash have helped Gordon Bennett, Homer White and Frank Hartl, all Buhl, solve a problem that has troubled them for years.

The problem was a 2,600-foot delivery ditch which ran between the Hartl and White farms to carry water to Bennett's property. The highly erosive ditch was eating into Hartl's field at an alarming rate, and due to the difference in elevation between ditches, and mouse holes, a lot of White's head water managed to leak into the growing gully.

Frank Hartl got the group together, and signed a cooperative agreement with Balanced Rock Soil to obtain help from the SCS Conservation Service in Buhl.

SCS surveys showed that a 10-inch concrete pipe would not only carry Bennett's water, but all of Hartl's waste water which had previously dumped into the ditch.

Armed with the engineering designs, the group approached the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service to request a pooling agreement for the group to obtain ACP cost-share on their $3,000 project. The county committee approved the request, and the men were ready to hire the contractors.

Within three weeks, the pipeline was in operation. Total time from first idea, through surveys, designs, obtaining cost-share, to full operation of the new line was about three months, and could have been less, if crops hadn't still been in the field.

Was it worth it? You bet, all three agree. By actual timing, it now takes Bennett about seven minutes to get his water to his farm where it is used to take four hours. Hartl has regained almost two acres of his farm, and that's a paying proposition he feels—and Homer White is really looking forward to a summer of irrigating where he doesn't have to spend a lot of time repairing washouts of his water into the problem ditch.

GORDON BENNETT, RIGHT, points out to Homer White and Frank Hartl, another large chunk of soil ready to fall into his badly eroded delivery ditch. The ditch ran between the White and Hartl farms. The three men went into a partnership on the project to fill the ditch and replace it with a pipeline.

THREE HAPPY FARMERS watch as water gushes from the end of the half mile of pipeline they recently completed. During the test run of the line water came through the line in seven minutes, compared to the four hours it took through the earthen ditch. They are, from left, Frank Hartl, Homer White, and Gordon Bennett, who cooperated with each other for finances, and with the Balanced Rock Soil Conservation District for the surveys and engineering plans.

Higher Beet Prices Seen

CHEYENNE, Wyo.—Indicated higher returns for the nation's sugarbeet growers will bring increased 1968 plantings, the executive vice president of the National Beet Growers Federation told the group at its 22nd annual meeting recently.

Richard W. Blake, Greeley, Colo., who has been the operating head of the Federation since 1946, saw beet payments for 1968 "around $17 per ton, an increase of $3 since 1965."

The grower leader attributed the increase to higher sugar prices and improvements in the beet purchase contracts.

Blake noted that several beet sugar companies have put a "floor" under 1968 payments. This provision, tied directly to the price of raw cane sugar at New York over which beet processors have no control will protect growers, Blake said, from inefficient sales practices of recent years.

Even with increased plantings next year, Blake saw production for the fourth straight year falling short of the beet sugar marketing quota. The beet crop must be more "financially attractive to farmers," he said, or they won't produce a quota-size crop.

The spokesman pled for closer cooperation of beet growers associations with producers of other farm commodities and praised Secretary of Agriculture Freeman for his firm stand on Senate Bill 109, a measure which would strengthen farmers' bargaining power.

Blake said that other commodity groups could gain from the same kind of collective bargaining that beet growers have enjoyed for years. He noted that "sugarbeet growers have done more along organization lines than most other commodity groups."

Agriculture has a tough road ahead, the Coloradoan predicted. "Less than six per cent of our people still live on farms," he said, and no "farm program can be approved without support from urban-oriented legislators."

Consumers must recognize the farmers' plight, Blake continued, and must realize that "heavily stocked shelves in the grocery store" can no longer be taken "entirely for granted."

Blake noted "we've simply got to improve our communications" and increase consumers' "appreciation of agriculture's great role in our nation's stan-

Four New Members Join Knoll Grange

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Ruhter and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Jorgensen became new members of the Knoll Grange during a recent grange meeting.

Carl Davis was elected and installed as gatekeeper. He was installed by Harry Sharp, master. Mr. Davis fills the vacancy left by George Benham who resigned.

Reports of new wheat varieties, farm labor conditions and other farm problems were given by the agricultural committee.

The origin of Christmas, yule log and Santa Claus was given by Mrs. Glenn Dossett. "Christmas Tree and Mistletoe" was read by Mrs. Glenn Debban and Mrs. Elmer Annis told of Christmas customs in Ireland.

Decorations for the Christmas tree were brought by members and the tree will be decorated for the grange's children program. The program, to be arranged by Mrs. Bryon Platt, will be held at 8 p.m. Dec. 22.

Mrs. Sharp has received cookbooks from grangers throughout the nation and are available on contacting her.

dard of living." Farmers, he said, should not be wrongly "tarred and feathered" every time prices rise.

The speaker commended the U.S. Department of Agriculture for recent effective administration of the price objectives of the Sugar Act, which he said were equally fair to consumers and producers, but he complained that improvement "has come from too low a starting point," the result of "cheap sugar price policies of previous administra-

Blake called for continued grower support in consummating a new international sugar agreement which would prevent dumping of surplus sugar on world markets at less than production costs.

Blake spoke against pending national legislation which would give unfair advantage to cane sugar refiners by permitting them to move their product under unregulated barge rates from Gulf points to mid-western markets in competition with beet sugar processors which must move their commodity under regulated rail rates.

Similarly, Blake noted, cane refiners should be placed under marketing allotments the same as beet processors. He questioned the economic wisdom of permitting the largest cane refiner to "encompass too large a share of the market at the expense of other primary distributors."

In closing, the beet grower leader urged the Federation to set immediate plans for extending the Sugar Act, which expires in 1971.

Advice Asked From Gooding Area Farmers
 GOODING — A meeting will be held Dec. 19 in Gooding to seek the advice of small farmers on programs they feel may help them stay on the land by improving their incomes. Dell E. Taylor, county supervisor of the Farmer's Home Administration, announced today.

The meeting will be held from 9 a.m. to noon in the basement of the Lincoln Inn. All small farmers and persons interested in the small farmers in Gooding, Jerome, Camas, Lincoln, Blaine and Minidoka counties are invited to attend.

Helping to conduct the meeting will be Dick Gooby, Forrest Bristow, Edward Koester, Dean Durfee and Jack Hougaard, all Gooding; Lynn Bradshaw, Minidoka County; Paul Sullivan, Jerome County; and Frank Dallas, Lincoln County.

Information gained at the meeting will be forwarded to Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman for use in developing proposals for strengthening government assistance to small farmers.

More than 100 similar meetings are being held throughout the country.

"All USDA agencies are working cooperatively in developing ideas to improve income from small farmers," Taylor said, "but before any further steps are taken in the development of special programs for small farmers, we want to find out what the people who will benefit from the programs think about the kinds of programs they need to boost their incomes and stay in farming."

"We hope that this will be a constructive and productive meeting resulting in good ideas for solving some of the small farmer's problems," Taylor concluded.

Taylor is serving as chairman of the Gooding County USDA Technical Action Panel.

Computerized View Of Idaho Cattleman Listed
 COEUR D'ALENE — William Barratt, senior vice president, Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Spokane, speaking at a session of the Idaho Cattleman's Convention in Coeur d'Alene, gave a computerized view of the successful Idaho cattleman.

The mythical Idaho cowman, according to Barratt, has a median yearly gross income of $13,150. His operation consists of 3,515 acres of private, leased, forest and grazing permit land. He has an average of 520 cattle and spends 10.2 per cent of his income for improvements.

The average cattleman statistically employs 1.9 full-time workers and 3.6 part-time workers, not counting his wife, and pays out an average of $8,675 in annual wages. He owns 3.0 trucks, including pickups, and 1.68 cars which are driven an average of 52,791 miles yearly. He hires an additional 5,635 truck miles per year. To break it down still more, Barratt said the imaginary cattle rancher keeps 8.1 horses and 2.5 dogs.

the Crossleys are just about as nice people as you can find to play bridge with or against. Not that we had anything against them. It was a pleasure to meet Clark Merritt and Robert Krost, but after all, they were strangers to us and Cap and Charley weren't.

In their semifinal match their opponents were vulnerable after making a part score on the first hand and pegging out on the second. Charley decided it was time for some fireworks and opened with four hearts on the third hand.

South should have passed and would actually have set the four heart contract if he had taken his two aces, but South was a duplicate player and didn't want to be shut out of his spade suit. He overcalled with four spades and Dr. Crossley doubled.

When the smoke had cleared away, South had taken three trumps and the ace of clubs and the home pair had 1,700 points on their score. Just a top-bottom situation in duplicate but enough to win the rubber bridge match rather easily at the Sands.

FCC Clears Way To Cut Phone Rates

WASHINGTON (AP) — Action by the Federal Communications Commission has cleared the way for lower telephone rates throughout the country. Now it's up to the states.

The FCC approved, Thursday a temporary plan allowing state utilities commissions at their option to reduce interstate telephone charges by $65 million next year. One FCC official predicted most states will make the reductions retroactive to Dec. 1.

A spokesman said when the matter is finally resolved, some time before next Feb. 1, the FCC will restore the full $85 million. And, he added, there are proposals to increase this amount.

The FCC, conducting a lengthy probe of the financial structure of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., voted last July 5 to permit the states to make an $85 million reduction in intrastate rates.

How to cut oil bills

1. Have your oil burner cleaned and adjusted professionally. Like a car, it needs periodic attention.
2. Use a heating oil that helps keep your burner clean. In a clean, well-adjusted burner, Shell Heating Oil can help reduce fuel consumption significantly.

Shell Heating Oil contains a special additive called FOA-5X®. This additive helps keep critical burner passages free from clogging — assures better firing.

Impressive Church Structures Criticized

By GEORGE W. CORNELL, AP Religion Writer
 NEW YORK (AP) — Down through history, the churches have been famed for their magnificent buildings. But impressive structures are not such a point of pride anymore. In fact, they've become a target of criticism—and sometimes of picketing. They're causing pangs of conscience to numerous Christian thinkers, who say the churches should get rid of their preoccupation with physical facilities as a mark of achievement—their so-called "edifice complex." "It is an instinct as old and as universal as religion itself to raise up monuments to one's duties and symbols of one's dedication and devotion to them," writes a Lexington, Mass., priest, the Rt. Rev. Msgr. George W. Casey. But such imposing construction often arouses envy and resentment, he says, adding that the Church ought to "travel light" so far as its external possessions go. Instead, he says, it has become "property-bound." In New York recently, Episcopal Bishop Horace W. B. Donegan ordered a halt on spending to complete construction of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, saying the money should go to help the poor.

In Washington, a dozen Catholic seminarians early this month picketed the National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception, contending that a planned further expenditure of $25 million on it should be used instead for the needy. Voicing the struggle of conscience going on about the issue, the Rev. Walter Burghardt of the Jesuits' Woodstock, Md., College, said he wasn't sure whether such elaborate buildings reflect Christianity or "something un-Christian." "On the one hand, there is a passionate conviction that basilicas and marble columns are an anachronism, an affront to the poor, a medieval display of pomp and popery while stomachs are empty and bodies bleed on the battlefields," he said. "On the other hand, there is an ageless tradition that man does not live by bread alone, a feeling that if an unfinished

Grace Baptist Church Plans Activities

Many Christmas activities have been planned by the members of the Grace Baptist Church, 211 Fourth Ave. E., Twin Falls. Sunday at the Sunday school hour, 9:40 a.m., the Sunday school Christmas program will be presented. Special music, both vocal and instrumental, plus recitation by each age group, will blend together to emphasize the true meaning of Christmas. After the program treats will be distributed to all.

December 24, at 7:30 p.m., the church choir will present John W. Peterson's cantata entitled "Born A King." December 31 the evening service will be given over entirely to music and verse. After the service there will be a time of group singing, games, and refreshments especially designed for the young people.

The New Year will be ushered in with a time of meditation and prayer. The public is cordially invited to attend these services to share with the congregation of the Grace Baptist Church the joys of this season of the year when the world pauses to reflect on the coming of Jesus Christ, the Son of God.

Program Set
 HAGERMAN — The Hagerman Methodist Church will present a musical Christmas program at 8 p.m. Sunday. Rev. E. V. Hargreaves will also present a special film. In lieu of a gift exchange, those attending are asked to bring a gift suitable for a boy between 11 and 18 years of age for the Youth Ranch at Rupert.

Event Stated
 SHOSHONE — The Christmas program for the Assembly of God Church here will be held at 8 p.m. Dec. 20 at the church. Youth of the church will present a play, "No Room in the Inn," and children will give recitations. There will be several musical numbers also.

Celtics Nip 76ers, Take Division Lead

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Celtics survived the loss of battered Bill Russell to beat the Philadelphia 76ers, 102-101 Thursday night and take over first place in the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division, .031 percentage points.

Russell, already taking cortisone treatments for bursitis in his right hip, took a finger in his right eye at the four-minute mark of the second period and left the game complaining of blurred vision.

After the game, Russell went to a hospital for examination. The Celtics trailed 35-28 at Russell's departure, but, led by Larry Siegfried and John Havlicek, fought back to tie the 76ers 64-all midway through the third period.

The Celtics led by nine points in the last quarter before Philadelphia's Wally Jones and Luke Jackson led a comeback that tied the game at 100 with a little more than a minute to play.

Then Boston's Don Nelson sank a jump shot for the winning basket. Siegfried got slapped with a second technical for talking back to referee Earl Strom, and was ejected from the game with 15 seconds left. Philadelphia then got off four shots before the buzzer sounded, but none of them went in.

Siegfried led the Boston scorers with 20 points. Hal Greer topped the 76ers with 20.

Negro Leaders Support Olympic Boycott Idea

NEW YORK (AP) — Dr. Martin Luther King and Floyd McKissick said Thursday they support a boycott of the Olympic games by Negro athletes.

They also called for the removal of Avery Brundage as head of the International Olympic Committee.

An organizer of the boycott said Brundage has shown himself to be anti-Semitic and anti-Negro.

Dr. King, Nobel Peace Prize winner and head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, said he and the conference view a boycott as "a protest and a struggle against racism and working to eliminate."

McKissick, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality, said he hoped a boycott would remind people that "an athlete is only on the field two or more hours, after which he becomes a black man again subject to the same discrimination other black men must live in."

Dr. Harry Edwards, associate professor of sociology at San Jose State College and head of a boycott committee, said Brundage is "totally unacceptable as head of the Olympic committee."

Edwards said his group's research had disclosed what he called "demonstrable and provable anti-Semitic and anti-Negro" statements and actions by Brundage.

Edwards said Brundage owns and operates a country club in Santa Barbara, Calif., where no

But Hunt never played for the Cougars as he was pitching for the Cincinnati Redlegs at least part of the time. Eddie Tillman and John O'Dell, a couple of ex-Weber stickouts, also are on the club.

The Nationals are area men who have banded together to keep active in the game after high school and college. The Nationals have good height and have added Ken Drott, a 6-8 ex-Denver University player who had two years with the pros.

Unitas Is Named Most Valuable Player In National Grid Loop

By GORDON BEARD Associated Press Sports Writer BALTIMORE (AP) — A quarterback with a creaky right elbow who has little regard for personal record, has been named the Most Valuable Player in the National Football League for 1967.

John Unitas of the unbeaten Baltimore Colts, imperturbable when faced with blitzing linemen or booring fans—or even with lavish praise—was impulsive as ever when he learned of his latest honor Thursday.

"It's nice to know that people feel I deserve the award," Unitas said, "but it doesn't make a whole lot of difference to me if I'm named all this or all that. Winning an award doesn't help a team on the scoreboard."

The 34-year-old quarterback, who earns about $125,000 a season, received 40 votes in a poll of NFL sports writers and sportscasters conducted by The Associated Press.

Defensive end Dave "Deacon" Jones of the Los Angeles Rams, who play the Colts for the NFL's Coastal Division title Sunday, received three votes.

Two apiece went to running backs Leroy Kelly of Cleveland and Gale Sayers of Chicago. One panel member did not vote in the MVP competition.

Unitas previously gained the honor in 1959. He also was named to the NFL all-star team this season for the fifth time in 12 years, and has played in nine pro bowl games. He was voted the MVP in three pro bowl games and in the 1958 and 1959 NFL championship games.

The honors mean as much to Unitas as his NFL records of 251 touchdown passes, 4,066 pass attempts, 2,242 completions and 32,815 yards gained passing. In other words—they mean little.

"I'm only concerned about doing my job to the best of my ability," Unitas said. "That's all anybody can expect. If I do what I'm supposed to do, the job gets done. If not, tough it." "I'll do it the next time."

Unitas rebounded from a disappointing year to capture the MVP award. The Colts won two of five games, and fell out of title contention in 1966 after Unitas suffered a shoulder injury in the ninth game. He finished the campaign in pain and with 24 interceptions.

This season, protected by an almost rebuilt Baltimore line which has allowed him to be trampled only 18 times, Cgach Doh Shula recommended Unitas snapped back remarkably. He has tossed for 19 touchdowns and yielded 14 interceptions while connecting on 58 per cent of his attempts.

Although recovered from the shoulder injury, Unitas is bothered with a chronic tennis elbow because of his peculiar delivery of a pass. As a result, John cut down on his throwing in training camp and at the daily practice sessions.

Unitas said in Los Angeles, "that I am convinced the players are the ones who really count and they skillfully or hand together and indicate if they play at Wimbledon, let them in or to permit them to play."

"This will create the pressure that will make it difficult for amateur officials to suspend anyone."

Universal suspension could wreck the annual Davis Cup competition.

A packed meeting of about 200 delegates voted in favor of the open tournament. Only a handful voted against.

The decision to arrange the date for the revolutionary act at April 22 was made toward the end of a long debate. It gives the International Federation time to study the move.

Derek Parham, chairman of the rules and international committee, put the case for open tennis as simply as this: "The resolution is not that we should have an open Wimbledon, but that we should remove shame and hypocrisy from the game."

By the action, the British have opened Wimbledon to the professionals. It has been the major shrine of amateur tennis since 1877.

Just how the various national associations and the International Federation will react is not known although few countries have come openly to Britain's support on the issue in the past.

EDEN-HAZELTON—The Jerome Tigers picked up 13 points in the final three matches, five on a forfeit to defeat the Valley Vikings 28-24 in an intra-Jerome County wrestling squabble.

Jerome neutralized Valley's strength in the lighter weights and bombed home where it got the advantage in the upper divisions.

Results of the matches, Valley men listed first, include 98 pounds, McClain was pinned by Ross; 108 pounds, Waters was pinned by Quintana; 115 pounds, Kroll decided Hill; 123 pounds, Dean pinned Zahn; 131 pounds, Taylor pinned Blum; 136 pounds, Mince was pinned by Larson; 141 pounds, Water pinned Jackie; 145 pounds, Dill decided Jackson; 157 pounds, McNurland decided Chmes.

British Rebel, Okay Open Tennis Tourney

LONDON (AP) — Britain's tennis fathers voted Thursday to open tournaments despite the threatened suspension by the international organization that controls the sport in all parts of the world.

In open tournaments amateurs and professionals would compete in the same event with the amateurs getting trophies and the pros receiving cash prizes, the same as in golf.

The change was made by substituting the word "player" for "amateur" and "professional" in the British rules. Thus all competitors now carry the same designation. It will become effective April 22, two days before the start of the British hard court tournament.

The International Federation had threatened to suspend the British association if it had gone through with its original plan to have the new rule become effective on Jan. 1.

By the action, the British have opened Wimbledon to the professionals. It has been the major shrine of amateur tennis since 1877.

Just how the various national associations and the International Federation will react is not known although few countries have come openly to Britain's support on the issue in the past.

Athletics For Idaho Schools Are Evaluated

BOISE (AP) — The future of intercollegiate athletics at Idaho's institutions of higher learning provided a discussion topic at the state board of education meeting Thursday but there was no decision.

Dr. William E. Davis, president of Idaho State University, voiced strong support for the sports program, saying that football "is a part of the total university offering."

"I have to believe," he added, "that football is a part of the American culture."

The question was raised during a discussion of a student referendum planned at Idaho State Jan. 11-12. Students will express their views on discontinuance of intercollegiate football, and also on a proposal to build a $2.5 million covered stadium financed by student fees.

Philip W. Dufford of Boise, board president, said the student vote can be of an advisory nature only. He said the final decision must be made by the board.

He said this is because a student at the university would be concerned for a maximum of four years, whereas the board must administer the school on a continuing basis.

Davis said the students "well understand this."

Dufford said if the proposed stadium could be built for $2.5 million, the school would be "getting quite a bargain."

Dufford said he has visited an indoor stadium at the University of Illinois which cost $3.5 million. It is not used for football, he said, but is used for basketball, ice hockey and performing arts programs.

Plans under consideration at ISU call for a stadium which would seat 15,000.

Davis said there was "a lot of misconception" regarding the financing of athletics. He said Big Sky Conference regulations set limits on the subsidizing of athletics and he said the maximum payment permitted an individual is about $1,100 to $1,200 per year, represented primarily in actual costs with only a small amount of spending money.

He said the total ISU athletic program costs about $400,000, of which $116,500 comes from state funds. Student fees provide $142,000, he said, and the remainder comes from ticket and other revenue.

Davis said dropping of football would not materially cut costs, because coaches are employed on a year-around basis, coaching more than one sport.

Joseph McCollum, board member from Twin Falls, said if football is abandoned other sports also should be dropped.

He expressed belief sports do not interfere with a school's academic program. He said he believes the schools which were rated in the top ten in football also rank near the top in academic prestige.

Filer And Buhl Wrestle To Deadlock

FILER — The Filer Wildcats and Buhl Indians took turns pinning each other Thursday night and wound up in a 30-30 draw at the end of their dual wrestling meet.

Filer took the sub-98-pound class on a forfeit and then came 11 straight pins. Dan Turner, John Walker and Andy Barron got the final three pins of the night to pull out the draw for the Indians.

In a jayvee preliminary, Filer topped Buhl 20-15 in a seven-match session.

Results of the varsity match, Filer men listed first, include 98 pounds, Shetter won by forfeit; 106 pounds, Griff was pinned by Hart; 115 pounds, Slater pinned Buckendorf; 120 pounds, Lutz pinned Schmidt; 130 pounds, Laseen pinned A. Eckert; 136 pounds, Gines was pinned by Kuntz; 141 pounds, Meyers was pinned by N. Eckert; 138 pounds, Henstock pinned Baird; 157 pounds, Ulrich pinned Marlow; 168 pounds, Nelson was pinned by Turner; 183 pounds, Sligar was pinned by Walker, and heavyweight, Orthell was pinned by Barron.

Lonborg And Sox Reach Agreement

BOSTON (AP) — Jim Lonborg, the Boston Red Sox pitching ace who posted 22 regular season victories, and added another two in the World Series, signed his 1968 contract Thursday in a brief meeting with General Manager Dick O'Connell.

"It only took about a minute," the 24-year-old Lonborg said after moving into the $50,000-a-year category.

The salary is believed to be at least double what he earned this past season.

"I hope others are just as easy," he said in referring to the usual trouble in signing members of a pennant winning team.

"He got a decent raise which he deserved for the season he had. Jim and I talked recently and he just wanted to think it over for a while. It didn't take long today."

"I came in about two or three weeks ago to pick up my mail and had a brief talk with Mr. O'Connell," Lonborg said. "I didn't hesitate in signing when I saw him this time."

Lonborg, who blossomed into stardom in his third season with the Red Sox, said "we were realistic about the contract."

"It is a good stepping stone," the good looking bachelor said with a broad grin.

Knap Named As New Boise Grid Coach

BOISE (AP)—Appointment of Tony Knap, now defensive coach for a professional team at Vancouver, B.C., as new head football coach at Boise College was announced Thursday.

He replaces Lyle Smith, who was promoted to the job of director of athletics as Boise begins sports competition as a four-year school.

Knap has been on the coaching staff at Vancouver for two seasons. Prior to that he served as an assistant coach and for four years as head coach at Utah State University.

He is a graduate of the University of Idaho, where he was a teammate of Smith in the 1937 and 1938 seasons.

Boise College is in its third year of four-year academic status. However, it has continued to play intercollegiate sports as a junior college but will shift to four-year status with the beginning of the next season.

Second Best In Colt-Ram Game Sunday Means End Of Season

By BOB MYERS Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Baseball's fabulous Bill Vecek is credited with saying, "Second place in the World Series ain't much."

And it ain't going to be much for the losing team when the Baltimore Colts and the Los Angeles Rams slug it out here Sunday for the Coastal Division title in the National Football League.

It'll just be zip and out of everything for the loser, an ironic fact because these rivals head into the final game of the regular season with the best credentials in the entire NFL.

Baltimore, despite a rash of injuries which would have killed most teams' title chances, has not been beaten in 13 games. Two ties, one with the Rams, 24-24, the other with upstart Minnesota, 20-20, are the only blemishes on the Colts' record.

The Rams have won 10 games, the most in their history. A loss to San Francisco, 27-24, and ties with Baltimore and the Washington Redskins, 28-28, were their setbacks.

Baltimore's record is 11-0-2, the Rams 10-1-2. The Rams must win, which would give them the same 11-1-2 record as Baltimore. NFL rules in this division game say the team scoring the most points in the two-game series wins the title.

Free safety Eddie Meador made only the All-NFL second team on defense, but as far as his teammates are concerned, Meador is indeed All-Pro first team. Second team wasn't enough.

What this 199-pound, 5-foot-11 guy has done this year is typical of the Rams' present status. Aside from roaming around on defense, Eddie is one of the league's leading punt returners, 19 for 123 yards; and is among the best pass interceptors, 7 for 96 yards returned and two touchdowns.

Dodge Aims For NASCAR Title

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Unless there is a change of plans, Dodge will make a run for NASCAR's Grand National driving and manufacturers titles next season, using big, strong Buddy Baker as the driver.

Details haven't been worked out, but Ray Fox, the 52-year-old Daytona Beach veteran, may be the key man in the car-building effort.

One source says Fox will build Baker's superspeedway cars, and direct the strategy in

NEW YORK (AP) — Pete Maravich of Louisiana State and Calvin Murphy of Niagara have played only three games each in their college varsity careers, but already they've gained a distinction no one ever has had.

According to major college basketball statistics released Thursday, sophomore Maravich and Murphy have higher scoring averages than any previous major collegian ever had at any ranking time in any season.

Maravich, son of the LSU coach, is averaging 47 points a game while Murphy, an oddity at 5-foot-10, has scored at a 45 clip.

There's a long way to go, of course, but just for the record, the only sophomore ever to win the scoring title was Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati in 1958. That was the first of three titles for him.

Lew Alcindor, UCLA's 7-foot All-American, is ninth among the leaders with a 30-point average.

Florida's Neal Walk, who is eighth in scoring, is first in rebounding, averaging 24.8 a game, and Joe Allen of Bradley has the best field goal percentage, 80.4.

Terry Gamber of Northwestern is tops in free throw accuracy with a perfect mark of 15 for 15. Glen Combs of Virginia Tech has missed one free throw in 23 tries for second place. Seven other players have missed only one foul toss with their attempts ranging from 16 through 21.

Houston Blasts Montana State

HOUSTON (AP) — All-American Elvin Hayes scored 45 points Thursday night to spark undefeated, second-ranked Houston to a 113-67 victory over Montana State and the championship of the annual Bluebonnet Basketball Classic.

Mississippi State won third place by dawning George Washington 70-55.

Houston took an 8-0 lead in the first 1 1/2 minutes and went on to lead by as much as 50 points, 111-61, late in the game.

2:30 P.M. SUMMARY NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market headed irregularly lower early this afternoon after wiping out an early rise. Trading was fairly active.

Volume for the first four hours was 8.08 million shares compared with 9.07 million Thursday.

The Dow Jones Industrial average was off slightly. Gains on the New York Stock Exchange were outnumbered narrowly by losses, having backed away from an early advantage of 3-2 to the upside.

Reports on the gold situation again caused hesitation and led to caution by traders. Gold-mining stocks advanced, while the trend softened in the over-all list.

Homestate, the nation's largest gold producer advanced a couple of points. American South African Investment ran up more than 3 points.

IBM sank about 9 points. Polaroid 4 and Xerox about 3. Du Pont held a 2-point gain.

U.S. Gypsum rose a couple of points and Pan American Sulphur advanced more than 3 in active trading.

Brunswick and American Motors were fractional losers in heavy trading. Profits were taken on recent strength. Also active, Twentieth Century Fox, McDonnell Douglas and Hazeltine fell more than a point each.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange ranged generally higher.

CHICAGO (AP)—Soybeans futures advanced two cents a bushel and wheat and corn 1/2 cents on the Chicago Board of Trade today, influenced by a flood of rumors concerning the international monetary situation.

The rumors included that the U.S. reportedly would devalue its dollar over the weekend; that Great Britain again would devalue; that the Johnson administration would remove its multibillion dollar cover on currency and other unconfirmed stories.

Soybeans had shown some early firmness, based on a U.S. Department of Agriculture report that more soybeans had been placed under government loan in the last month. Because this action removed more soybeans from the free market, prices advanced.

Wheat and corn futures had opened mostly lower under active commission house, local trader and commercial selling. There was also some hedging of corn.

Investor

By WILLIAM A. DOYLE

Q. I moved recently and cannot find two stock certificates. I tried getting in touch with the brokerage firm where I bought the stock. But that firm seems to have just vanished. I contacted another brokerage house and finally got the addresses of the companies. I wrote them about a month ago, telling them of my plight. But I have not heard from either of them.

Did I do the right thing by writing to those companies? What else can I do to get duplicate copies of the stock certificates? A. Yes, you did the right thing. And there are some more things that must be done. Since you have received no reply to your letters, I suggest you write again to the office of the treasurer of each company. Send your letters by registered mail, return receipt requested.

In your letters ask that transfer of your stock be "stopped." That should prevent the sale of the stock by anyone who might have found the lost certificates. Now, if the stock has been transferred to someone else's name, you will have to prove that you are the owner. And that can involve sometimes long and costly court action. If you run into this problem you'll need a lawyer.

Assuming that the stock hasn't turned up in some other name, you must next obtain a lost security affidavit. Then comes one expense you can't duck, Rye 1.00 1/4-1.06 1/4. Barley 1.06-1.16 1/4. Soybeans 2.52 1/2-2.57 1/2. Sacked bran 51.00-51.75. Sacked shorts 50.75-51.50. Wheat futures closed from up 7/8 to 1 1/4.

AN indemnity bond isn't cheap. You can expect to pay about five percent of the market value of the stock for an indemnity bond. So, if you lose a certificate for 100 shares of stock trading at $20 a share, be prepared to pay $100 for that bond.

The moral of the story comes too late for you. But it should help other readers. Keep your stock certificates in a safe place. Q. We are two old fogies. My husband is 96. I am 74. We have some good stocks. At their closing prices yesterday the total value of the stock was $50,020. The dividends are $2,256 a year. If we sold the stocks and put the money in savings accounts paying five percent interest, we would get $2,501 a year. True or false? That's $245 more than we get on dividends. What's your opinion? The answer to your first question is easy, "True." Simple.

Scientists Synthesize Primitive Form Of Life

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — Dr. Arthur Kornberg says genetic material that he helped synthesize in a test tube could "with reservations" be considered a primitive form of life.

At Stanford University, Kornberg and Dr. Mehran Goulian, who is presently on the University of Chicago faculty, manufactured viral DNA, the nucleic acid essence of life, and it, in turn, produced active viruses in living cells.

Kornberg outlined his reservations at a news conference Thursday: The impossibility of defining "life" or "living" to the satisfaction of both laymen and scientists, the lack of a sharp line separating the simplest living bacteria and the most complex virus, which may or may not be characterized as living, depending on the scientist's attitude.

"We know that the viral DNA molecule which we have synthesized can reproduce itself inside a (living) cell and generate new viruses," said Kornberg, head of Stanford's department of biochemistry.

Dr. James A. Shannon, director of the National Institute of Health, called the achievement of Dr. Kornberg and his associates "one of the great landmarks of research in the life sciences."

Certain forms of cancer that may be caused by viruses and possibly diseases of genetic origin are problems that "the tremendous future potential of the new development" may help solve, Shannon said in Washington.

Kornberg and Goulian took DNA—deoxyribonucleic acid, the basic hereditary material of every living cell—from a simple virus called Phi X 174.

They put the Phi X DNA as a template or pattern into a test tube with a solution rich in the four genetic compounds which make up strands of DNA. They added two catalyzing enzymes, DNA polymerase and DNA li-gase.

The original DNA, aided by the enzymes, synthesized copies of itself from the "building blocks" in the solution, about 6,000 blocks in each circular strand of DNA.

The researchers carefully separated the original DNA from the synthesized DNA and introduced the latter into bacteria called E. Coli, common to the human intestinal tract.

Phi X virus infects and destroys E. Coli by invading the bacteria cells and replicating until the cells burst.

The man-made DNA worked the same way, replicating complete Phi X viruses.

Samples were sent to Dr. Robert L. Sinsheimer of the California Institute of Technology, who discovered Phi X in 1959. He tested the samples and found them fully infectious.
