Officer's Lawyer Blasts Publicity In Police Case

By FRED DODDS
Times-News Staff Writer

Two Twin Falls police officers accused of preparing false evidence, allegedly to strengthen a narcotics case, were freed Thursday after posting $1,000 bond each.

Ed Heath was arraigned in Twin Falls County Probate Court Wednesday afternoon, asked for a preliminary hearing, and posted the bond. Mike McGreer showed up at the sheriff's office Thursday morning and posted his bond. His arraignment is pending. Probate Judge Richard Reed is out of town.

The charges against the officers created a storm of controversy throughout Twin Falls, with Attorney Douglas Kramer issuing a statement concerning the incident. Mr. Kramer is defending Mr. Heath.

Mr. Kramer said, "I criticize Police Chief Frank Barnett and County Prosecutor Mike Felton for the publicity they have created."

He added: "It is generally considered unprofessional for a lawyer to discuss lawsuits in a newspaper and I now find myself attempting to defend a man after the Times-News has run a four-column, three-line headline and a byline story as the result of a press conference called by Mr. Felton and Mr. Barnett."

The attorney claimed Dr. Samuel Shepard was convicted in Cleveland, Ohio, in 1954 for the murder of his wife because of newspaper editorials and articles. Dr. Shepard was later acquitted of the crime.

Mr. Kramer went on: "Many other people have been wrongfully convicted in this manner and the only conclusion I can draw is that the prosecutor and chief of police are either egotistically seeking an undue amount of publicity for themselves or their case is so weak they believe they must convict by a newspaper rather than in a trial and a court of justice."

Continuing, Mr. Kramer said, "From what I know of the case now I believe my client has done exactly what he was trained to do by Chief Barnett and I would hope that society will not allow a young man who wants to be a police officer to become the scapegoat for a chief who wants an undue amount of publicity."

"In this day when crime runs rampant it seems a little strange to me to see our law enforcement officers involved in public disputes between themselves and before the newspaper. Mr. Barnett and Mr. Felton got too carried away with their condemnations. Maybe they ought to take a long look at themselves in the mirror."

Mr. Heath and Mr. McGreer were suspended from the police force last Friday by Chief Barnett.

Wednesday afternoon, following a morning press conference, Chief Barnett signed a felony complaint against the two officers.

Mr. Heath and Mr. McGreer are accused of "preparing false evidence on Dec. 21 by placing a package of marijuana wrapped in foil in a car for evidence against Grant B. Humphries and Harold Ruebelman."

Humphries and Ruebelman were arrested the night of Dec. 20 at the Perrine Memorial Bridge and accused of illegal possession of marijuana.

After the arrest, the car was searched, according to Chief Barnett, and a package of marijuana was found. Chief Barnett said where it was found and how it was wrapped "seemed strange."

The chief said other officers conducted an investigation. He alleged the marijuana found in the car came from a police station display case.

Mr. Heath and Mr. McGreer were suspended last Friday. The complaint accuses them of placing the marijuana in the Humphries-Ruebelman car.

The incident was discussed by the Twin Falls city council following a regular business meeting Wednesday night.

The charges of illegal possession of marijuana against Humphries and Ruebelman, both of Jerome, have been dismissed and Mr. Felton has indicated the two men do not face any additional charges.

CHEERS AND A Happy New Year wish will be extended from the State Police in District 4 Saturday night through Monday as they serve free coffee to all motorists stopping at the two ports of entry in the district. The coffee, courtesy of Albertson's in Twin Falls, will be brewed at the Cotterel and Hollister ports of entry. Tasting the coffee are, from left, S. D. (Scotty) Luckert, supervisor of the Hollister port; Harold (Bud) Miller, manager of Albertson's, and Lt. Dean Bennett, supervisor of District 4. The State Police advocate frequent stops for holiday drivers to relieve driving tension and urges all motorists passing the ports to come in and relax with a cup of coffee.

Air Force Is Asked To Suspend Supersonic Flights Over Resort

SUN VALLEY—Secretary of the Air Force Harold Brown has been asked by Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, to suspend supersonic flights over Sun Valley in response to resort officials who feel the vibrations from sonic booms are a contributing factor to avalanche problems.

Harry Holmes, Sun Valley manager, said while there is not enough snow for any immediate avalanche danger, ski officials here feel that the flights which occur almost daily over the valley can cause some damage as the snow pack increases.

Regular and consistent flights have been noted by resort officials and Mr. Holmes said they occur about once a day, usually between 11 a.m. and noon. He said Mountain Home Air Force Base first was informed of the possible hazard and later Sen. Church also was notified of the situation by Mel Davis, who operates the ski lifts at Sun Valley.

Sonic booms are believed to have caused an avalanche earlier this season on the south slope of Lower College, an area not skied at this time of year.

Mr. Holmes said he believes the situation should be made known to the Air Force, which perhaps is not aware of the results of the sonic booms when the vibrations are captured in a valley such as Sun Valley is situated in. He noted that he had talked with ski resort operators in the East this summer and while they also had supersonic flights they did not seem to be aware of the problem.

Sen. Church also called on the chief of the U.S. Forest Service and the director of the Office of Emergency Planning to join with him in urging the Air Force to impose immediate restriction.

"I recognize the security needs of our nation," Church told Brown, "but I would respectfully urge that the air space in the vicinity of this crowded winter resort be restricted to the type of flight that does not create sonic booms."

"I am certain that the Air Force in the course of its necessary security flying, would not even remotely want to be responsible for a possible avalanche triggering that could send a mountainside roaring down onto an unsuspecting and populated valley floor."

Church asked that the restriction be imposed immediately inasmuch as "an unwarranted sonic boom could wreak havoc tomorrow."

A Federal Reserve Board ruling which would tighten the amount of reserves that banks must have on hand, was looked at Thursday by local bank officials as a "gentle restraint on credit" to hold down inflation.

The ruling, which would increase the amount of reserves in banks the size of the local ones to 12 per cent, only ups the amount of reserves one-half per cent, a total of about $550 million in 2,000 banks across the country.

Kenneth Newman, vice president and general manager of First Security Bank, said he feels the ruling is "a move on the part of the Federal Reserve to get banks moving in the right direction on holding back inflationary pressures."

He said loan officers will begin giving a little more thought to restricting advancements of money on certain types of ventures.

The move, he said, could be because the surtax was not approved by the congress. "The surtax," he said, "would have gone a long way in this direction (helping hold down booming inflation)."

L. A. Frazier, president of Fidelity Bank, said that the increased reserve has a small effect in a "bank this size," but that it all has the effect of making money tighter to the borrower.

He, too, felt the move may have been because of Congress' refusal to approve the surtax.

Ernest Burpy, manager of Equitable Savings and Loan, said the local branch of that firm has received no notification from headquarters to make any changes in business. He said the ruling applies largely to banks rather than institutions such as Equitable.

A spokesman at First Federal Savings and Loan said that while the ruling would have no direct effect on that company, any time money is tightened, it has an indirect effect on all business.

Armored Truck Robbery Believed 'Inside Job'

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—Hijackers escaped with $301,000 in an armored truck Wednesday by driving it out of a parking lot crowded with people while the two guards were in a department store.

The truck was found within 30 minutes abandoned about 1 1/2 miles away from the shopping area, in nearby Boardman, with $32,000 still inside. Police said the hijackers switched the rest of the loot to a getaway car.

Authorities said that someone evidently had a set of keys to open the truck doors that locked automatically when closed. There was no sign of forced entry into the Kane Secret Service Co. truck.

The two guards, Steve Sulik, 46, of Boardman, and James Lockhart, 45, of Youngstown, were in the Almart Department Store about "four or five minutes," according to Boardman Police Chief Don Hawkins.

"When they returned, the truck was gone."

Several witnesses outside the store said a man in uniform got into the truck and drove away. It was found abandoned in a wooded park area.

"They were certainly familiar with the operation," said Hawkins. "I would say it has every appearance of being an inside job."

The chief said the robbery, largest in the recollection of officials in the Youngstown area, was pulled by "two or three men."

Police said at least two keys were needed by the robbers—one to open the door on the driver's side and another for a side door to get the money.

U.S. Marines Fight Strong Red Force South Of Da Nang

By GEORGE McARTHUR
SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Marines battled a powerful Communist force today 20 miles south of Da Nang. A helicopter airlift landed a detachment of the 5th Marine Regiment in a muddy rice paddy that later seemed ringed by a battalion of the enemy—perhaps 500 men.

AP correspondent Kim Ki Sam reported in a dispatch from the area that virtually every helicopter landing the Marines and removing the wounded drew sniper and machine gun fire.

"The Marines built up their force and consolidated their position behind the two and three-foot-high dikes as sporadic firing continued into the night," Sam wrote. "There was no announced casualty report from either side."

Heavy enemy machine gun and mortar fire spewed from a fortified hamlet about 400 yards from the landing zone. Marine jets and helicopter gunships worked over the Communist positions there and in tree lines around the paddy, their bombs and rockets landing so close that in some cases splinters whizzed over the Marines.

Other action in three battles in South Vietnam's coastal provinces had raised the Communist toll to 288 dead since the Christmas truce.

American paratroopers of the 173rd Airborne Brigade launched the third assault Wednesday as helicopters landed them in a jungle area 250 miles north of Saigon where a Communist force of battalion size was reported.

The paratroopers almost immediately flushed a force of about 300 Viet Cong and held them at bay for nine hours while artillery roared in and 31 jet planes in succession pounded them.

The battered Communist force pulled back along bloody jungle trails by nightfall, and 31 enemy bodies were found along with 18 abandoned submachine guns. Twelve paratroopers were killed and 34 wounded, the U.S. Command said.

The battle took place about 25 miles into the jungled foothills west of the coastal city of Tuy Hoa.

Tractor Proves Slow Steed In Attempt To Outpace Police

BURLEY — Three Alabama men, suspects in the attempted theft of a safe from a bowling alley in Tremonton, Utah, were apprehended Thursday morning in Cassia County after one of the suspects ran his vehicle into a ditch and the other two, aboard a "borrowed" tractor, were unable to outdistance pursuing officers.

Cassia County officers said a night marshal at Tremonton observed three men attempting to load a safe into a car. The men jumped in the car, left the safe in the parking lot, and took off.

When they reached Snowville, Utah, about 18 miles southeast of Strevell, they abandoned the car. Two of the men, George Edgar Castleberry, 21, Marburg, Ala., and Rufus Duram, 20, Claxton, Ala., then got into a 1965 Chevrolet, leaving Castleberry's brother James Castleberry, 18, also Marburg, afoot. The younger Castleberry then obtained a 1962 International and headed for the Idaho border.

The Utah Highway Patrol and a Box Elder County deputy sheriff spotted the International and chased it into Idaho to a point about three miles north of Strevell, where it went into the ditch.

James Castleberry was apprehended there about 9 a.m. and was placed under arrest by the Utah officers.

At about the same time, Charles Peugh, Idaho State Patrolman, spotted the Chevrolet the other two men were in and chased it at speeds of up to 100 miles an hour after the driver of the car refused to stop at the Cotterel Port of Entry.

Officer Peugh chased the car toward Burley and finally into a potato field owned by Theo Robinson. The state officer had been joined by Rupert city and Minidoka County officers at this point. The suspects' car became stuck in the field, and making a last-ditch effort at escaping, they boarded a tractor and took off through the potato field.

The three law enforcement vehicles surrounded the tractor and George Castleberry and Duram were apprehended at about 9 a.m., some six hours after the incident at the Tremonton bowling alley.

The three men are in the Cassia County jail and are expected to be returned to Utah to face charges there.

Norwegian King To Visit In Washington

By FRANCES LEWINE
SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson announced today that King Olav V of Norway has accepted his invitation to make a state visit to Washington April 24-25.

The 64-year-old monarch also will visit other cities in the United States afterwards, the Texas White House said. Details were not announced.

Both President and Mrs. Johnson met the Norwegian king in 1963 when Johnson made a visit to that country as vice president.

The President expects to stay in Texas two or three weeks.

He continued working with his staff on budget and legislative matters, his press secretary, George Christian, reported.

The Texas White House issued a report made to the President today by Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare John Gardner saying:

"Every $7,000 spent by federal and state agencies on vocational rehabilitation of disabled people is resulting in an increase of over $35,000 in the lifetime earnings of rehabilitated persons."

During business Wednesday, the President signed crime con-rol and health bills he hopes will bring the nation's capital closer to becoming a model city.

Johnson continued to move ahead with 1969 budget conferences today.

He acted just before a midnight Wednesday deadline to approve a controversial "bill that will give District of Columbia police more power to fight crime in Washington."

The chief executive coupled the signing with a statement from his Texas White House calling on Congress to look to the problem of crime in all cities.

"No more serious problem faces America than the growing menace of crime in our streets," the President said, noting that "public order is the structure on which any society grows and prospers."

Johnson said he hopes Congress on its return Jan. 15 will give "the most urgent attention" to his proposed safe streets and crime control act "to help local communities meet their local responsibilities in fighting the causes of crime," and he also plumped for passage of "strict gun control legislation to keep firearms out of the wrong hands."

The U.S. Command, in its weekly summary issued today, said 166 U.S. personnel were killed in the seven-day reporting period ending at midnight Saturday. A week earlier 187 were reported killed.

The number of Americans wounded climbed to 1,381, after dropping to 932 a week earlier. Of the 1,381 wounded, the command said 762 did not require hospitalization.

Bus, Subway Workers Set N. Y. Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — Thousands of bus and subway workers shouting and roaring their approval have voted overwhelmingly to strike at 5 a.m. New Year's Day unless they have a new contract by then.

The voice vote at Wednesday night's mass meeting followed an appeal by leaders of the 36,000-man Transport Workers Union for the Transit Authority to make an equitable offer.

"We don't want a strike," Matthew Guinan, international president of the TWU told the meeting. "We know that the last strike cost the city a lot and our own workers a lot."

Daniel Gilmartin, president of Local 100, and other speakers emphasized the union's unwillingness to compromise on its demand for retirement at half pay after 20 years' service.

Firings Are Discussed By City Council

Members of the Twin Falls City Council, following regular business Wednesday night, discussed informally the firing of two city police officers who are accused of preparing false evidence in a narcotics case.

The officers, Mike McGreer and Ed Heath, were charged under the Idaho felony statute Wednesday afternoon by Police Chief Frank Barnett. McGreer and Heath are accused of trying to strengthen their case following the arrest Dec. 20 of two Jerome men. The Jerome men had been charged with illegal possession of marijuana. Those charges have been dismissed.

The officers were discharged last Friday.

Pony Express

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, said he told Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien in a letter that the old pony express could have gotten a letter to its destination faster than the U.S. mails did this week.

The Idaho senator said he received an airmail letter from Sun Valley, Idaho, 14 days after it was mailed.

He said he asked the postmaster general why the airmail letter had taken longer to get from Sun Valley to Washington, D. C., than the 10 days it took the pony express to travel from St. Joseph, Mo., to Sacramento, Calif., in the 1860's.

Plant Fire Claims Two

GOODYEAR, Ariz. (AP) — Fire flashed through a munitions plant, fatally injuring two persons in one of two fires in the nation at such factories Wednesday.

One man was killed and 15 injured in a fire and explosion at a Hanover, Mass., plant that manufactures antipersonnel mines for use in Vietnam.

The fire at this Phoenix suburb occurred in a small building housing a mortar shell assembly room, about 30 feet from the main plant of Unidynamics, Inc. The building remained intact.

A company spokesman said only two persons were in the building when the blaze went through it. He declined to say what was manufactured in that building.

WON'T SEEK TERM

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — U.S. Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper announced Thursday he will not seek another term in office.

Greece Has Moderate-Extremist Conflict

By PHILIP DOPOULOS
ATHENS (AP) — The Revolutionary Council behind Greece's regime is reported beset by an internal conflict between moderates and extremists.

The moderates, headed by Premier George Papadopoulos, favor a softer line against opponents of the army group that seized power April 21, informed sources said.

The extremists, according to the sources, want repressive measures continued; a continuation of press censorship and persons they consider hard-core leftists to remain in jail.

This situation was underlined by the regime's about-face on the Christmas amnesty announced Saturday by Papadopoulos.

The premier said that all political prisoners arrested after the April coup would be set free.

About 2,600 such prisoners are being kept on the Aegean islands of Leros and Yloura, and Papadopoulos said they would be among those freed. But 24 hours later the military dictatorship's chief security officer, Col. John Ladas, said those on the islands were "hard-core Communists" who were not included in the amnesty and only about 300 persons would be set free.

So far the premier has said nothing about this reversal of his announcement.

Ladas is considered one of the leaders of the Revolutionary Council's extremist faction. Others are said to be Col. Constantine Karydas, secretary-general of the ministry to the premier's office, and Air Vice Marshal Antonios Skarmaliarakis, head of the civil aviation authority.

The moderates are reported by Papadopoulos and the other two leaders of the coup who have been considered a ruling junta—Deputy Premier Stylianos Patakas and Coordination Minister Nicholas Makarezos.

Rap Brown Talks

NEW YORK (AP) — H. Rap Brown told a small meeting of African students today that the United States "has never addressed itself to our grievances," and outlined why his Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee reorganized last May to fight "racism and economic exploitation."

City Told Turf Club Not Dead

The Twin Falls City Council was told Wednesday night that there are plans to have the Turf Club on the north edge of the city rehabilitated, with a new $750,000 convention center taking the place of the old building now there.

However, interim financing for the complex depends on issuance of a beer permit by the City Council.

The council was asked by Attorney Robert Balleisen to delay action on the beer permit for six weeks. Mr. Balleisen said he was acting on behalf of the owner of the Turf Club, Hugh Faulkner, Mountain Home.

What followed Mr. Balleisen's request was a long discussion involving council members, City Attorney William Langley and Mr. Balleisen.

The council finally took action, passing a resolution granting 1967 and 1968 beer permits to Mr. Faulkner and the Turf Club. But the resolution was passed with restrictions. If Mr. Faulkner does not get approval for financing by Feb. 15, 1968, or if he does not start construction on the new complex by March 15, 1968, he will forfeit all rights to beer and liquor licenses in Twin Falls.

He has to have the beer license from Twin Falls in order to keep his state liquor license, Mr. Balleisen told council members.

The agreement has to be signed by Mr. Faulkner by 5 p.m. Friday.

The council also accepted the resignation of Voy Hudson from the Urban Renewal Agency. Mr. Hudson resigned due to health reasons, he said in a letter read by Mayor Egon Kroll.

The city also approved a letter which will be sent to the National High School Rodeo Association. The letter invites rodeo officials to have the National High School Rodeo in Twin Falls County in 1971.

The council then adjourned to 7:30 p.m. next Tuesday at which time new councilman Frank Cook will be sworn in, along with incumbents Frank Feldtman, Eugene Stacey and George Bennett. A mayor will be elected at that time.

Summary, Extended Outlook

A storm center is located in southwestern Nebraska this morning with a weak front extending westward into Northern Utah and Southern Idaho. Low clouds are the rule in Southern Idaho valleys with some light snowfall occurring in eastern valleys early this morning.

Precipitation during the past 24 hours has been confined to the 2,000-foot valleys of Idaho. Amounts have mostly been light, although Soda Springs reported .25 of an inch of moisture. All other amounts have been less than .10 of an inch. Temperatures have been right for the formation of icy spots on highways in Southeastern Idaho and care should be exercised by travelers going into that area.

No large-scale change in weather patterns is expected in our area during the next two or three days. The northwesterly flow of moist air will continue to provide considerable cloudiness in Southern Idaho, particularly in eastern valley areas. Areas of valley fog will increase as surface pressures become higher again following the passage of the front now in our valleys.

Reserve Board's Action Is Viewed

By JOSEPH R. COYNE
WASHINGTON (AP) — Some business leaders view the Federal Reserve Board's moderate move toward tightening credit as not-too-subtle pressure on the administration and Congress to raise taxes and cut spending.

The board announced Wednesday its unanimous decision to raise reserves on checking accounts—meaning banks must keep more money on hand at all times and thus cut back on lending. The action, said the board, was taken to stem inflation at home and strengthen the dollar abroad.

"It shows that Martin is trying to get his message across to the President," said one Midwestern banker of the surprise action.

The banker, who asked that his name not be used, referred to Chairman William McChesney Martin of the Reserve Board, who has urged spending cuts greater than those recommended by Johnson while backing the President's proposal to hike taxes.

A similar assessment was given by Ward C. Krebs, chairman of the credit policy committee of Wells Fargo Bank of San Francisco.

"Since there has been no fiscal support in combatting inflation by this administration and Congress, it is necessary for the Federal Reserve to go it alone," said Krebs.

That view was oft-repeated by other bankers contacted by The Associated Press in the wake of the board's announcement.

All seven board members have publicly endorsed Johnson's proposed 10 per cent income tax surcharge, which the House Ways and Means Committee plans to consider for a second time Jan. 22.

Wednesday's announcement was the first by the board of a switch from its policy of easier money which has marked 1967. There have been hints of a tightening, however, in recent banking statistics.

What the board did was to require banks with demand deposits—usually checking accounts—exceeding $5 million to place 17 per cent of them in reserve if they are large city banks and 12.5 per cent if they are small banks.

The present requirement is 16.5 per cent and 12 per cent, respectively.

The move, effective in two stages next month, will reduce the capacity of about 2,000 banks to lend money by about $550 million.

These banks do about 75 per cent of the nation's banking business.

The impact was minimized by making the action effective in January when the need for reserves normally declines after the Christmas shopping rush.

Red Forces More Active In Laos

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Reliable military and diplomatic sources said today that North Vietnamese and Pathet Lao forces are more active than usual in Laos but no large-scale Communist invasion of the country is taking place.

The sources, both American and Laotian, said the Communists have staged unusually large scale raids for rice on the agricultural communities of Nam Bac, near the royal capital of Luang Prabang, and Phalane, near Savannakhet in the south.

Military sources said both areas are still in government hands.

Sources in Vientiane, endeavoring to explain reports of a Communist invasion, said the Laotian government frequently claimed the situation is "tense" in order to protest the presence of North Vietnamese troops in the country.

American intelligence sources estimate there are 40,000 North Vietnamese combat and support troops in Laos in the areas controlled by the Viet Cong.

In Washington, the Pentagon and the U.S. State Department at first took a similar attitude toward reports of new Communist military activity in Laos.

But after reports from Saigon and Bangkok of large-scale North Vietnamese inroads into the kingdom, State Department spokesman Robert J. McCloskey said Communist attacks in Laos are of serious concern to the United States "and we are watching the situation closely."

WASHINGTON—When the historians get around to our times they are quite likely to conclude that the senseless violence of the anti-Vietnam war protests did more than superficial damage to the nation's psyche. At this point, they seem to be eroding the basic tolerance of the American people.

There is much evidence of this, down to and including Main Street's growing suspicion of anyone with a beard and the tendency among some citizens to judge Bobby Kennedy by his haircut. Louis Harris adds a frightening piece of testimony in his latest poll—that the militant and untidy methods of some of the protesters are causing more and more Americans to doubt the right of peaceful protest.

In July, according to Harris, only 80 per cent of those polled nursed this doubt; too many by any yardstick. But by December this figure had risen by 10 percentage points.

This is not only bad for what might loosely be called the American soul—it is just what the Black Power bunch and the Bully Boys for Peace ordered. Their kind of philosophy, embracing guerrilla warfare and the invoking of certain "rights" which deny the rights of others, cannot flourish in an atmosphere of tolerance. To succeed, they require a divided country and, especially, a country whose citizenry has begun to wonder whether the principles of free speech and freedom of dissent should be pruned back.

It is one thing for Americans to deplore the irresponsibility, the physical violence and the property damage which mark the "demonstrations" of the radical protesters. Indeed, it is curious that Main Street has been so patient with a government which seems determined to ignore clear violations of the law. But it will be tragic if the people turn against the orderly and peaceful dissent guaranteed by their Constitution.

At the same time, it is not merely irony that these sordid exhibitions have strengthened public support of President Johnson's Vietnam policy. Again, this is an eventuality which had to be anticipated by the Vietnamists, who know perhaps better than anyone else that the American public is offended by displays of bad taste and calculated efforts to disrupt public order.

The only conclusion possible is that the radicals couldn't care less about whether their demagoguery has any effect on the conduct of the war. Their mission is to obstruct, to hurl that rock at that cop—not to persuade.

Low Harris's poll shows the campaign is going according to plan. Of those polled, 76 per cent feel anti-Vietnam demonstrations "encourage the Communists to fight all the harder." Seven in 10 Americans object to the "lack of dignity" and "lack of respect for law and order" in the demonstrations. And, again ironically, the number of citizens who are doubtful about the Vietnam war has dropped by a whopping 13 per cent since July.

Politics, of course, is a science littered with ironies, and so it is not surprising that the behavior of the radicals has produced new sympathy for Lyndon Johnson's position. When the less attractive of the peace bloc gets all the headlines, it is natural for the public to decide that Johnson must be doing something right.

In that connection, Sen. Gene McCarthy has hardly proved himself a rallying point for the more respectable among the anti-war crowd. During a recent appearance at the University of New Hampshire, the Minnesota senator who is challenging Johnson for the Democratic nomination, seemed concerned only with staying in the good graces of the Bully Boys.

McCarthy listened to a Black Power speaker denounce America as "a predominantly criminal society... a racist nation... and a leadership of Caligulas," and then declined to challenge this exposition except to question mildly whether the United States is "basically racist." Gene McCarthy is a decent and high-principled man, but his ambition seems to have persuaded him to save his courage for a rainy day.

Opinion Polls

One of the latest public opinion surveys reports that interest in the space program has dropped to its lowest level in four years.

Nobody should be surprised by this, or read more into it than it warrants. Even if space travel is mankind's greatest adventure, it is asking too much to expect the individuals who make up mankind to remain constantly excited and enthused about something they can take no personal part in.

Nor should too much weight be given the dip or rise in the latest poll regarding the President's popularity, or the shifting rankings of the national problems that are uppermost in people's minds.

Opinion polls should not be discounted, of course. They can be useful guides—straws in the wind, as the politicians say—especially if taken at regular intervals and compared.

But there is danger in these instant analyses of public thinking, unless they are kept in proper perspective. The safest conclusion that can be drawn from any one of them is that it merely suggests how the presumed average person feels about a particular issue at a particular time.

A survey of husbands and wives at any given moment would find many of them expressing doubts about the wisdom of the greatest adventure most people ever embark on—their choice of spouse.

If the excitement of newly wedded bliss can fade, if fickleness can creep in where once was absolute conviction, how much more great and distant things over which one has no immediate control—presidents, poverty, wars, pollution and the like?

It would be as foolish for governments to try to make national goals match every changing hue of the public mood, or for presidents to change their policies because they failed to win a vote of confidence among a "representative sampling" of the public, as it would be to permit divorce action by whim.

With space programs and presidents just as with marriages, we are pretty much stuck with what we have committed ourselves to. Great changes should not be undertaken lightly or too frequently.

The Founding Fathers knew what they were doing when they decided that four years was long enough and short enough a period to entrust any administration with the responsibility of running the nation—and that every four years was often enough to entrust the citizens of the nation with the power to pass the ultimate verdict on the way the job was being done.

"Let's Make This a Nice, Friendly Little Game!"

RAY CROMLEY

Most Students Are "Solid"

WASHINGTON (NEA)—News reports on a four-year survey of students at Stanford University and the University of California have left unsaid very pertinent findings on student beliefs.

Studies of 1,000 men and women students showed attitudes toward family life, human values and ambitions which vary greatly from those one would imagine from the publicity given student riots and student marches in the nation's colleges.

The women seniors at both Stanford and California seem to have said overwhelmingly that when they were married they wanted their husbands to wear the pants in the family.

Faced with the statement: "After I am married, when it comes to making decisions, if I had to choose one or the other, I would want my (husband's) wishes to have priority," a whopping 82 per cent of the women questioned said "yes."

Only about one in nine wanted her wishes to have priority over her husband's.

Most of the senior women, in fact, said they "would not want a husband who could not control me." Only 7 per cent of the women questioned disagreed strongly with this idea.

A third of the senior men apparently did not get the message. They said they would want their wives' wishes to have priority over theirs in making decisions, if it had to be one or the other.

Each of the senior students questioned listed three things he expected to be most important in his life after graduation. In addition to his career, these objectives turned out to be "relationships and activities with future family," "love and affection" and "developing a personal identity."

All through the questioning, the great need felt for binding a home life, the urge for love and affection and the quest for finding themselves seemed to be uppermost in the minds of a majority of senior students. The primary needs the students listed also included a desire for "emotional well-being," "maintaining self-respect" and "being accepted and liked by others."

Wealth, fame and recognition, sexual needs, sensory and aesthetic pleasure were listed as among the three most important human needs by only a tiny minority.

One out of nine of the Stanford and California senior men and between a fourth and a fifth of the senior women said that they prayed "frequently."

Another quarter said they prayed "occasionally."

Most of those who prayed said they did so "because it puts me in touch with a power greater than myself," "to find out what God's will is" or "because I feel anxious."

Now these are not the "wild" thoughts of people who are about to do violent harm to society. These are, on the whole, quite conservative views.

It would be well to judge our college students, not by the gyrations of small minorities, but by the quiet beliefs of the majority.

WAYNE BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Those Over 65

As a result of the ever increasing advances in medical science there is an ever greater number of persons who are surviving past age 65. Such persons often need surgical operations. Whereas, in the past, operation on elderly persons was limited to life-saving emergencies, they are now undertaken for all types of surgical conditions with confidence in their success. This change in attitude has been brought about by better knowledge of the normal physiology of the aged, better surgical technique and modern drugs.

Two or three centuries ago, it was common to observe senility in persons who were in their early 40s. In any era some persons reach senility at a much earlier age than others. This is because it is the diseases one encounters, not the number of one's years, that gives one the appearance of being old.

When an elderly person needs an operation, therefore, the surgeon's first duty is to determine how well his body is functioning. This is especially important as regards his heart and blood vessels. Clues will be furnished by the electrocardiogram, blood pressure and pulse rate. A chest X ray, measurement of lung capacity, electroencephalogram and tests of liver and kidney function are also important.

When these tests indicate that the operation can be safely undertaken, the question of an anesthetic arises. Here again, great advances have been made in recent years. Respiratory complications have been avoided by giving the anesthetic through a tube introduced into the windpipe and by greater use of local or spinal anesthesia. Lowering the patient's body temperature also has certain advantages.

Whenever possible, it is a great boon to an elderly patient if the operation can be performed in his home instead of a hospital. The fear that an operation might send an aged person into a mental crisis has been dispelled by the fact that in most cases it results in improved mental outlook, a keener interest in one's surroundings and greater physical ability.

The dangers of bed rest (internal blood clots and bed sores) cannot be overemphasized. Most patients can be gently placed in a comfortable chair within 24 hours following operation and can safely use a commode chair instead of the despised bedpan.

Q—A doctor told a friend that she has a heart murmur. What does this mean? Is it serious? Can it be cured?

A—A functional murmur, one that is not caused by a structural change in the heart, is of no significance and usually clears up with exercise. On the other hand when the blood flows through the heart over roughened or leaky valves a doctor can hear an organic murmur. This may or may not be serious, depending on other findings. A doctor would not try to cure the murmur but would treat the underlying cause.

He Couldn't Land

(Editor's Note: Could this have taken place over Washington on Christmas Eve?)

WASHINGTON—Hello, control tower, control tower. This is Santa Claus X564. I am at 10,000 feet and heading toward Washington. Can you clear me? Over.

Hello, Santa Claus X564. This is control tower, Washington. Can you hold over Baltimore at 18,000 feet? We have 301 aircraft stacked up and cannot clear at this time.

But, control tower, this is Christmas Eve and I've got a lot of packages to deliver.

We know it's Christmas Eve, Santa Claus X564, and that's why all the planes are stacked up. You're going to have to wait your turn like everybody else.

All right, I'll go to Chicago first and come back later.

Hello, Chicago, this is Santa Claus X564 requesting permission to land.

Sorry, Santa Claus X564, we can't handle any more traffic tonight. Request refused.

But, Chicago, my reindeer are running out of gas, and I've got a heavy load.

I can't help you, X564. We have no parking space available. You will have to go to Detroit or Toronto.

This is Detroit radar control center. Please identify yourself and explain what you're doing in the pattern.

This is Santa Claus X564—I am trying to land to deliver toys to children in the Detroit area.

DON MACLEAN

The Big Scream

WASHINGTON—If the President said the following, say tomorrow afternoon, Sen. J. William Fulbright (D., Ark.) and others would scream:

"He who dissuades one man from volunteering or induces one soldier to desert, weakens the country's cause as much as he who kills a U. S. soldier in battle. . . . Must I shoot a soldier who deserts, while I must not touch a hair of a wily agitator who induces him to desert? This is none the less injurious when effected by getting a father . . . to write to a soldier that he is fighting in a bad cause, for a wicked administration or a contemptible government. I think that in such a case, to silence the agitator, and save the boy, it not only is constitutional, but, without, a great mercy."

Abraham Lincoln said that during the Civil War. (Sen. Thomas J. Dodd dug it up while doing research for a speech.)

MICROSCOPES: They spent millions of dollars on an enormous garage for the Rayburn Building, complete with loading ramps for trucks which supply the Democratic and G.O.P. printers located there, and then discovered that the entrance ways are too low to permit the passage of trucks. So now, they're having to tear up the driveways and dig them deeper.

Names Make News Dept.: The new director for the Food & Drug Administration in New Orleans is Jack Bologna.

Do you realize that if Congress would stay in adjournment for all of next year, simply by not making any new appropriations we might have a chance at reducing the national debt?

The Customs Bureau passes along a couple of its adventures last year: . . . by arriving at an international airport was found to have concealed in a secret pouch in her dress two live, miniature Doberman pinscher puppies.

Did you file a flight plan, Santa Claus X564?

I did for Washington but they wouldn't let me land there. I was coming to Detroit later in the evening.

You cannot land without filing a flight plan. Please get out of the pattern immediately. You are endangering other flying aircraft.

Hello, Detroit, I'm on a very tight schedule. Couldn't you possibly make an exception in this case?

No exceptions. Suggest you go on to St. Louis. Over and out.

St. Louis tower, St. Louis tower, this is Santa Claus X564. Urgently request landing instructions as I've picked up a great deal of ice and I've had to feather two reindeer.

Santa Claus X564, please identify cargo and type aircraft.

Am carrying toys in a two-runner sleigh.

CAA regulations strictly forbid landing of sleighs on runways.

But this is an emergency. Hundreds of thousands of children are waiting for their presents.

You should have thought of that before you took off, Santa X564. Perhaps you better try Los Angeles.

Los Angeles tower, I am coming in for a landing. Identify yourself, please.

I'm a big, fat jet aircraft with four motors and I make a horrible noise and spew out all sorts of pollution.

Well, why didn't you say so in the first place? You're welcome to land any time you're ready.

An incoming package from Vietnam was opened and found to contain a seven-foot python.

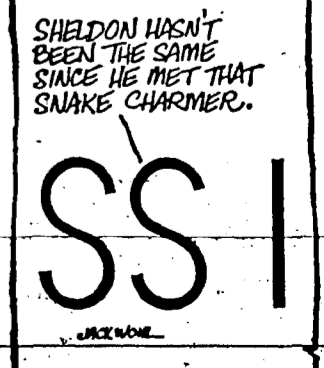

This is the silver anniversary of the Seabees. Yes, sir, only 25 years ago they built the first Officers' Club.

SIGHTS: Rep. Maston O'Neal (D., Ga.) suggests that George Washington University here find a new name for itself. He notes that the school, named for the patriotic general who raised an army and defended our freedoms in the darkest hour of the Republic, last week issued a directive suspending all military recruiting on campus.

Where do your tax dollars go? Well, the Health, Education & Welfare Department uses some of them for publications such as a recent gem which informs citizens how to make cherry pie.

It even contains the official, Federal definition of a cherry pie: "Cherry pie is the food prepared by incorporating in a filling contained in a pastry shell, mature, whole, pitted, stemmed, red, sour cherries." (Now you know.)

MR. LONG EXONERATED

The action of the Senate Select Committee on Standards and Conduct clearing Missouri Senator Edward Long of wrongdoing must be taken as a definitive answer to ethical questions raised about his legal fees and his conduct of Senate investigations. The Senator has maintained his innocence, but the judgment of his peers, reached after an extensive investigation, should resolve any doubts about the legality of what he has done.

Since Mr. Long entered the Senate in January, 1961, he has received more than $140,000 in a fee-sharing arrangement with Morris A. Shenker, St. Louis lawyer. Mr. Long has said the fees resulted mainly from five legal cases he referred to Mr. Shenker, and that no public issues or conflict-of-interest were involved. Representatives of the five clients were interviewed by the committee investigators. Mr. Long appeared voluntarily before the committee to give detailed information about the payments. The committee found no substantiation for complaints of impropriety, and published the names of the clients.

The committee also found no basis for allegations that Mr. Long used a wire-tapping inquiry by a Senate subcommittee he heads to help James R. Hoffa, Teamsters union boss, avoid prison. Hoffa is serving an eight-year term for jury tampering. Hoffa asserted he and his lawyers were victims of electronic eavesdropping by the Federal Government. At that time Hoffa was represented by Mr. Shenker.

In short, the report the committee made public yesterday contained nothing critical of Mr. Long's activities. But despite this blanket exoneration, there remains something about the fee-sharing arrangement with Mr. Shenker that the public may regard as poor policy on the part of its junior Senator. A continuing arrangement to receive fees from a lawyer of wide legal interests and strong political connections comes perilously close to being on a retainer. Is that really a desirable relationship, even if Senator Long has been absolved of legal blame? There will be no definitive answer until the Senate adopts a policy regarding its members who are practicing lawyers. — St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

LET'S SUIT THE HOURS TO THE NEED

Most Idahoans will agree with State Rep. Robert Green, Boise Republican, that some flexibility ought to be exercised in establishing the business hours of state liquor stores. Representative Green, chairman of the legislature's interim committee on liquor laws, told the committee Saturday that the present law requiring liquor stores to be open from noon to 7 p.m., and during those hours only, works a needless hardship on some people.

For most people in most communities, those hours may be as good as any, because they make the stores accessible both to day and night shift workers. But in certain communities with special problems some other hours might be better—say closure at 10 p.m. for the benefit of tourists arriving in town late in the evening.

The legislature should concern itself with the policies of liquor law enforcement, but it is self-defeating to try, as it has done in the past, to deal also with the minutia of administration. It should allow the state liquor dispensary to set the hours of its stores according to the needs of the communities they serve. — Lewiston Tribune

Gifts For Men Are Best Sellers This Christmas

NEW YORK (AP) — Turtle-neck sweaters for men, swords and musical whisky bottles were an instant hit in the shop-nation's stores this Christmas season, boosting sales on the whole to record levels.
 Both suburban shopping centers and large downtown department stores across the nation generally reported record or near record sales, although there were some soft spots where sales did not meet expectations, an Associated Press spot survey found Wednesday.
 "We were not disappointed, but we were not elated," said Walter Berquist, president of Bullocks Department Stores in Los Angeles, in a middle-of-the-road report. "It was not a sensational Christmas season."
 However, Maurice Cohen, president of Lechmere Sales, a Boston discount chain, called it "The best year yet. The past

Food Stamps Help Needy Americans With $1 Million In Food Every Day

WASHINGTON (AP) — Orange and blue bills that look like play money are helping 2.6 million needy Americans buy nearly $1 million worth of food every day.
 Known as food stamps, by June 30 they'll be circulating in 1,200 areas of 43 states and Washington, D.C., including 8 of the nation's 10 most populous cities.
 Backers of the stamp program call it the most promising approach yet to the goal of putting better food on the poor man's table without making it a handout.
 Nobody gets food stamps for free. The poor pay for them, swapping cash for stamps worth many dollars more.
 Some find it a little cold-blooded that the government extracts money from those it professes to help.
 But Congress shows its approval by giving the Agriculture Department a bigger budget for stamps every year—$185 million for the current fiscal year, up from $116.3 million last year.
 "We've got to get away from this idea of giving the poor ev-

He was cited for his leadership and management abilities in all phases of his work. He was further commended for planning and organizational duties in the relocation of the Armed Forces and Examining Station from Ft. Douglas to Salt Lake City.
 Maj. Lang has just completed a course in Special Warfare at Ft. Bragg, N.C., and is spending the holidays in Twin Falls. He and his wife, the former Martha Lee Johnson, Twin Falls, have four children.
 The first of January Maj. Lang will begin an eight-week course at Ft. Bliss, Tex., on Vietnamese language. He is being assigned as a military ad-

Price Of Trip Can Be High

Weird World Of Acid Heads

By FRED DODDS
Times-News Staff Writer

THE TWIN FALLS Police Department's juvenile officer is Ernest Marlow. It is his job to help teen-agers, and a large part of his time these days is devoted to speaking on drugs and drug use. He presents programs to area schools, lectures to parents and school officials and trains officers in the department. A stepped-up narcotics program in area schools is planned next year.

Last summer this reporter saw a 16-year-old boy under the influence of LSD. The boy had every appearance of being out of his mind. He was raving about re-entry and retro rockets.

Police, who had seen him wandering barefoot through a residential section, took the youth to a physician, suspecting the mind drug was the source of the boy's trouble. The boy was treated, but the "trip" had done its worst.

The boy was a runaway from San Francisco, and before his parents could come to Idaho to get him, he escaped and lived for a week under a railroad bridge.

He was found later and taken to San Francisco, but he had joined the long list of statistics of those who fall under LSD.

The drug is listed "dangerous" and the Food and Drug Administration has limited its use to research purposes.

Known as Lysergic Acid Diethylamide, it was discovered in 1938 by Dr. Albert Hofmann, a Swiss chemist. He was trying to find a new drug to treat migraine headaches.

Dr. Hofmann took a sample and later said space and time became disorganized. He was overcome with the fear that he was going crazy, and had to control a strong desire to kill himself.

The effect was similar to that undergone by a mental patient suffering from schizophrenia. Physicians thought the drug might help in curing those patients, but later found it does little good, and often makes patients worse.

Many who have experimented with LSD have themselves become schizophrenics and are doomed to spend the rest of their lives babbling in a padded cell, their arms bound tightly in a straightjacket.

In its crude form, LSD is simple to make. Lysergic acid is a basic ingredient, but fortunately now, this acid is hard to come by.

Since it has come under federal control, a new synthetic similar to LSD, called DMT, has been found. Both mind altering drugs can be made in a high school chemistry laboratory by good students.

This article will not reveal how LSD or DMT are made. However, there are other ways to take a trip, as many have found. The seeds of some of the morning glory varieties give an LSD effect when eaten, but usually these seeds have to be eaten in large quantities.

The best recommendations for the use of LSD come from people who allege their concept of life has taken on new meaning following use of the drug. Some will say they were able to solve tough problems after use. Writers claim they write better and artists state their paintings are inspirational.

Physicians say this is hogwash. Tests of individuals show that the mental capacity does not improve, and quite often regresses. The patient only feels he or she has found something different to replace an otherwise drab life.

Dr. Myrick Pullen, head of Idaho's mental health department, said recently social background has a lot to do with the taking of the drug. People, usually teen-agers, come from middle and upper class families, they have poor emotional relationships with others, feel insecure, are usually non-religious, and have no real goals in life. Suicide rate is high in this group.

Youngsters take the drug mainly because they don't want to feel left out of the group. It's something like taking that first cigarette out behind the barn.

A person can take as many as 100 trips, often more, then take one too many.

A girl in California wound up a mental cripple after her second "trip." Others have tried to fly off high buildings, some have walked in front of cars. One walked into the ocean, thinking he was God and the waves would fall back as he approached them.

Hippies use LSD. They have a cult of their own, LSD is part of a religion to them. In fact, the drug is taken as a type of communion, and even today there is a movement to have the drug legalized because it is part of a religious movement.

Far fetched? Not in the least. Indians in the Southwest have chewed peyote for years. It is an hallucinogenic drug, and is used in ceremonies of the Native American Church. Legal.

The use of peyote is limited, however, and use is not abused by the Indians.

Users of LSD are called "acid heads." Use is called taking a "trip." It is not habit forming and there are no withdrawal symptoms, although the body builds up a tolerance to the drug.

The trip may take a person into a world of beautiful peace and sharp insight, often it takes a person into a world of frenzy and terror. Either way, the person never quite sees life the same again.

Some animals have had brain damage after being given small doses of the drug.

A person who may be nervous in nature, or whose sanity may be more precarious than he realizes, can become a permanent mental cripple through a single use of LSD.

Anyone with heart trouble, a liver malfunction, epilepsy, or people with unstable personalities, should, under no condition, ever use LSD, physicians say.

Next, the addict, hard drugs and marijuana.

Underwater Holt Memorial Set

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — The Australian Underwater Federation plans an underwater memorial to former Prime Minister Harold Holt near the spot where he disappeared into the sea Dec. 17.

A statue or plaque will be located within 100 feet of the shore and will be easily visible from the surface, the federation's president, Tony de Finia, said today.

Marigolds

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., is in town preparing to lead the Rose Bowl parade New Year's Day, but the 72-year-old lawmaker isn't said on the flower involved.

"Give me a year or two, and we make it the Tournament of Marigolds," Dirksen told newsmen after arriving Wednesday.

In the Senate he has pushed marigolds for adoption as the national flower.

Why? a newsmen asked. "Well, because I like the marigold," Dirksen replied. "Don't I count for something?"

Shareholders Are Handed Bleak Picture

BOISE (AP) — A bleak picture for shareholders of the defunct Prudential Savings and Loan Association was sent out by the Idaho Department of Finance Wednesday.

In a letter to shareholders of the association, Commissioner John D. Silva told shareholders "in all likelihood, you will suffer a serious loss on your investment."

The association, with main offices in Burley and a branch office in Preston, was closed last Feb. 7 by the department. Silva said inadequate liquidity, high loan delinquencies and improper assets were the reasons for closure.

The firm is not federally insured. Silva outlined three possible alternatives for recovery of money invested in the association by shareholders.

—Reorganization of the firm by a local investment group.

—Orderly liquidation of the firm's assets.

—Bulk sale of assets of the association by sale to another savings and loan company.

The actions of the Department of Finance had been delayed until early November by a suit brought by stockholders of the association. The suit was settled in favor of the department.

Assistant Commissioner Tom McEldowny said Silva was currently negotiating with several existing savings and loan companies for possible sale of the defunct firm's assets.

A balance sheet for the association showed a capital deficiency of $208,000. Silva said the loss would be even greater because some of the firm's assets had been overvalued by the management.

Scientific Groundwork Is Being Laid To Stem Declining Lobster Supply

By JIM STROTSMAN
AP Aerospace-Writer
CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)

Aided by ideas from aerospace industries, the State of Maine is laying scientific groundwork to turn the tide on lobster supply.

Experts claim a gradual drop in ocean temperature over the past few years has caused the annual Maine lobster catch to dwindle. They have chosen a first experimental site to see if shoreline coves can be warmed artificially by discharge from power plant coolant systems.

If successful, other coves along the northeastern United States coastline may be heated to improve the over-all lobster crop.

"We propose to apply in the field information we have gained over the last 20 years," said Robert L. Dow, director of research for the Maine Department of Sea and Shore Fisheries. "We think we have enough background to develop information on how lobsters could be produced in greater number at reduced cost."

Ideally, the average annual temperature for Maine lobsters, Dow said in an interview, is between 47 1/2 and 49 1/2 degrees.

For 1967, however, the average water temperature will be between 44 1/2 and 45 degrees, he predicted.

Scientists at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology blame the cooler offshore waters on a change in solar activity, which has shifted westerly winds to lower latitudes. They claim it may be another 20 years until a warming trend begins.

"The cooler water has not only affected lobsters," Dow said, "but other shellfish—oysters, clams, shrimp and scallops. And it is not only peculiar to Maine. Other Northeastern states and Canada have had similar problems."

Statistics tell the story. In 1957, Maine's lobster catch totaled 24 1/2 million pounds. In 1965, it was down to 19 million pounds. Dow predicted the 1967 total will be about 15 million pounds.

The large marine crustaceans grow by shedding their shells. But they "molt" or grow-less often in colder water. As a result, there are fewer lobsters around of legal size, Dow explained.

In an experiment to see if the tide can be turned against Mother Nature and in favor of lobster fishermen, the Maine Department of Sea and Shore Fisheries is considering plans to raise the water temperature in a cove on Cousins Island, Casco Bay, by distributing heated water discharged from the coolant system of a nearby power plant.

Heated water from the plant now rises to the surface of the cove, the director noted. The problem will be to distribute this heat so temperatures on the bottom are suited to the comfort and happiness of the lobster population there to promote molting, growth and reproduction. Only a few degrees change from the present water temperature would be necessary for this to occur, officials said.

Rupert Elks Distribute Food, Toys

RUPERT — The Rupert Elks Lodge distributed 53 boxes of food and toys to needy families in Mindoka County Sunday as part of their annual Christmas project.

The boxes were filled Saturday night at the Elks Lodge on an assembly line basis by 200 members with Gary Anderson, chairman of the project, in charge.

Much of the food and most of the toys were donated. Each member gave at least one toy, some were used and many were new. King's Variety Store donated many also.

The Amalgamated Sugar Co. donated sugar, Max Herboldt and Roland Jones the potatoes, Chester Critton the chickens.

Fruit was given by the Lady Elks and the Senior Class of Minico High School donated the Christmas trees.

The boxes also contained milk, bread, candy, oranges, butter, lard, oatmeal, jello and other items. Mr. Anderson noted that these items were purchased at cost.

Money for the project was raised by the annual Charity Ball and by donations from the 600 members of the lodge.

Names of families were given by members who knew of a family's need. Some are permanent residents and many of them are transient workers. The number per family averaged seven. Some had as many as 15.

Members gathered at the lodge Sunday morning and loaded the boxes and trees into pickups for delivery. This is an annual project and has been done each year since the lodge was organized.

Winners Are Listed For Yule Contest

WENDELL — Mr. and Mrs. Alan Johnson are the first place winners in the Wendell Christmas home lighting contest, Bill Bunn, general chairman, said Wednesday.

Their display is entitled "First Noel." Mr. and Mrs. Richard Eaton won second for their humorous display while the outdoor fireplace scene of Mrs. Gertrude McKissick which happened to include a live dog at the time the judges went by, placed third.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Simerly received fourth for their lighting display and fifth prize went to Mr. and Mrs. Ole Kjevmoen in the rural area.

Judges were Phil Koll and Mark Koll of the Wendell Realty. Some of the lights were not on during the judging and some vandalism was reported, so the judges said it is possible that good displays were missed.

DOWNTOWN TWIN FALLS

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: When my husband courted me I was secretly flattered because he was terribly jealous. I thought it was proof of his love. Now that we've been married for seven months, I'd give anything if he weren't so jealous. He is jealous of every man I mention, look at, or pass on the street. He accuses me of winking at them and giving them encouraging signals and what not. He accuses me of meeting men on my lunch hour, and says he "knows" I have been with a lover if I get home fifteen minutes late. No one is safe from his filthy accusations. (Even the young boy who delivers the newspaper!) He keeps after me to "confess" things and there is nothing to confess! I will gladly go to the police station and take a lie detector test or truth serum. Anything to prove my innocence once and for all.

FAITHFUL

DEAR FAITHFUL: Sorry, but even if you were to subject yourself to a lie detector test and truth serum, it wouldn't mean a thing. Your husband would probably accuse you of being in cahoots with the man who gives them. Your husband is the one who needs the help. Constant accusations without basis is symptomatic of a very disturbed mind.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is not another woman. It's a pipe. My boy friend is forever sucking on that blooming pipe, and it is driving me out of my mind. He is either knocking it against something to loosen the old tobacco, or packing some fresh tobacco into it, or cleaning it, or looking for matches. It really keeps him busy. He doesn't even enjoy it. He says he only took up a pipe because he quit smoking cigars and this gives him something to do with his hands. Help!
ALMA

DEAR ALMA: Don't complain. You could be lucky.
DEAR ABBY: Will you please explain why a daughter will ask her poor, aged mother to come and prepare the evening meal for her family, and then, after completing all the chores, about 10 o'clock at night, this selfish daughter will let her mother walk home alone in the dark while two cars are parked out in front of the house? I would like to see this answered in the newspaper.
WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: For the most accurate answer to your question, ask the daughter.

DEAR ABBY: Re: the bride who divorced her groom of three weeks because he refused to use a deodorant: You said, "Too bad she didn't work up more of a sweat over him before they married."
I'll bet she did; but, like most women, she planned on "reforming" him after the wedding.

As far as I'm concerned, a woman has never had better grounds for divorce. A man is not more masculine because he goes around smelling like an animal (skunk). Neither is he less a man because he uses a deodorant. A daily shower, or even two, is no protection against perspiration odor. Only a deodorant is. No matter how good a man looks, it's how he SMELLS that counts. And the same goes for women.

Oregon State And WSU Take Wins In Portland Meet

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Oregon State's deliberate attack gave the Beavers a 54-42 basketball victory over Texas Wednesday night in the first round of the Far West Classic, before 12,522 fans.

Washington State defeated Princeton 82-75 earlier. The Beavers rolled to a 30-17 halftime lead and then went into a semistall.

The fans booed both teams intermittently in the sloppily played game.

Oregon State's 7-foot center, Vic Bartolome, led all scorers with 19 points. Gary Overbeck, the Longhorns' 6-8 pivot man, who has been injured, scored 10, as did Kurt Papp.

Washington State's two big men, 6-9, Jim McKean and 6-7, Ted Wierman scored 27 apiece for the Cougars in the victory over Princeton.

Oregon State plays Washington State in the semifinals at 9 p.m. Friday. Wednesday's losers play at 1:30 p.m. Friday.

Continuing the first round Thursday night, Oregon, 2-4, meets Utah, 8-0, and fifth-rated North Carolina, 5-1, plays Stanford, 3-3.

Washington State trailed at halftime 40-35, as Joe Heiser and Geoffrey Petrie hit consistently on long corner shots for Princeton.

McKay Fears Unpredictable Indiana Ways

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — It takes only a 10-minute chat with Coach John McKay to get the firm impression he doesn't believe his national champion Trojans of Southern California will chase Indiana out of the Rose Bowl New Year's Day.

The uninhibited Hoosiers from the Big Ten, McKay says in effect, too often just don't do what any sane football purist knows they should do.

McKay was asked Wednesday what has impressed him and his coaching aides the most after studying game films of Indiana's remarkable season. John's reply was instant.

"Their quickness and an outstanding offense. You just don't know what they're gonna do," he said.

McKay didn't say that quite possibly the Indian players themselves often didn't really know what they were going to do, either, but having won nine games and lost only one, who is to knock such uncharted, unpredictable strategy?

McKay made it plain he has great respect for Indiana's backs, all of them. He paid particular compliment to quarterback Harry Gonso and the converted quarterback, halfback John Isenbarger.

"Isenbarger didn't pass too much but he was great in the clutch when he did," said McKay. Isenbarger threw only 13 times but he completed 5 for 132 yards and, significantly, for 3 touchdowns.

HUSKIES WIN JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)

The Washington Huskies, under the hot shooting hand of Dave Carr, nudged Mississippi State 82-80 Wednesday night.

Being Lefty Hasn't Hurt Ken Stabler

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Many things distinguish Ken Stabler in the Alabama backfield, not the least of which is that he's a lefty.

He has compiled a fabulous passing record and has won most of the Crimson Tide's games with his running and throwing. But the fact that he's a southpaw has caused most of the comment.

"The popular conception is that a lefty tends to fade his passes," says offensive coach Ken Meyer of the Alabama staff. "But no one has yet found his throws to fade."

Besides, his record for accuracy would indicate that there couldn't be much to either the comment.

Stabler, who will be the quarterback when Alabama's Crimson Tide tries to engulf Texas A&M in the Cotton Bowl Monday, completed 64.9 per cent with his throws last year and that is the Southeastern Conference record.

It bettered the records of Harry Gilmer and Joe Namath, the latter a season yardage record-setter with the New York Jets of the American Football League only recently.

The lanky Stabler is a long-ball thrower who, according to Meyer, "puts it just where he wants to put it."

As Alabama compiled an 8-1-1 record last season, Stabler was credited with winning at least six games.

Knicks Swap Coaches To Halt Skid

NEW YORK (AP) — The slipping New York Knicks dropped Dick McGuire as coach Wednesday and replaced him with scout Red Holzman. McGuire will take over Holzman's job as scout for the National Basketball Association team.

The announcement was made by Irving Mitchell Felt, board chairman, and President Ned Irish, shortly after the Knicks had lost their fourth straight game, 114-105, to the Philadelphia 76ers. It was their ninth loss in 12 games.

Expected to be a leading contender in the league with the addition of the expensive star rookies Bill Bradley and Walt Frazier, the Knicks instead have slumped to fifth place in the six-team Eastern Division.

No announcement was made on the length of Holzman's coaching contract. Presumably it will depend on how the Knicks fare under him.

"The decision was made today on the change," said Irish. "Holzman was the logical man to consider. He has the background and knows the personnel. It was just a swap of jobs."

McGuire said "I knew it was coming. When a team is losing changes have to be made."

Holzman said he doesn't plan any drastic changes immediately.

Borah Has Top Shooters; T.F. Leads In Defense

A quick look at the statistics for December show how Borah came through the month without a defeat as Coach Terry Conley's Lions lead the loop in field goal shooting and have the best three sharpshooters.

Statistics released today by conference coaches show that lanky Jim Cowen, Borah, is leading with a .571 percentage from the floor followed by teammates Jay Satterfield at .545 and Dennis Labrum at .543.

Borah is shooting at 47 per cent as a team to lead handily there while Twin Falls, leading in offense and defense, tops in free throw shooting at .807.

Lanky Mike Stewart, Caldwell junior, holds the scoring lead with a 23.2 average with Captain John Grant second at 19.6. John Henning, Twin Falls, leads for the two conference games played so far with 50 points, two more than Stewart.

Sabin Landaluce of Boise has assumed the free throw shooting lead with a .862 percentage, replacing Twin Falls' Mark Miller who slipped to .777. Craig Johnson, Highland, leads for hatcher honors with 28 fouls while Steve Shaw, Nampa, is tops in rebounds with 95 take-downs.

Lombardi Says Green Bay Respects Cowboys' Speed And Quick-Hitting Power

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — as last year," said the Packers' Vince Lombardi praised the blazing speed and quick striking power of the Dallas Cowboys Wednesday, after sending his Green Bay Packers through a brisk 90-minute drill for Sunday's National Football League championship game.

El Paso Is Not Awed By Rebel Record

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — University of Texas at El Paso coach Bobby Dobbs said Wednesday he is impressed with Mississippi football tradition and a 6-1 record the Rebels are bringing into Saturday's Sun Bowl game.

But Dobbs said his Miners aren't scared of the Southeastern Conference team that played four teams which got bowl invitations, including a 13-13 tie with the Sugar Bowl's Louisiana State.

Ole Miss lost to Alabama, which is in the Cotton Bowl, 21-7, and 20-7 against second-ranked Tennessee, which is in the Orange Bowl. The Rebs beat Georgia 29-20. Georgia lost in the Liberty Bowl to North Carolina State.

"It's our biggest challenge," Dobbs said as he watched his players file onto a practice field. "Ole Miss is big, fast, agile and strong. Add pride and tradition to this and it adds up to the fact that we will have our hands full."

Santana Gains Davis Cup Point

BRISBANE, Australia (AP) — Manuel Santana of Spain stunned John Newcombe 7-5, 6-4, 6-2 Thursday and gained one point for Spain in the Davis Cup Challenge Round, already clinched by Australia.

Australia's John Newcombe and Tony Roche routed Santana and substitute Manuel Orantes, 6-4, 6-4, 6-4, in the doubles on the Milton Stadium court Wednesday for an unbeatable 3-0 advantage in the best-of-five series.

Seamons Sets Record For EIC Free Throw Shooting

Larry Monroe of Skyline and Dean Lee of Bonneville have squared off in a two-man battle for Eastern Idaho Conference scoring honors while Minico's Bobby Seamons already has set a conference record with perfect free throw shooting.

According to statistics compiled by the league coaches, Monroe is leading the loop with a 21.7 average while Lee is just behind at 20.2. But in total points Monroe has 152 in seven games against 81 in four for Lee.

Seamons' a 5-9 shooting whiz in his second year as a Minico starter, has pumped through 19 free throws in six games without a miss. Last year the diminutive guard shot 90 per cent for the year.

Boatwright, 6-6 Minico sophomore, and Lee are leading the circuit in field goal accuracy with a .540 mark while Monroe is a solid .527 with 58 field goals in 11 attempts.

Lee also ranks second in free throw shooting with 27-for-35. Monroe holds a more dubious honor in leading with 29 fouls while Garth Sutton, Madison, is first in rebounds with a total of 68.

UCLA Wins, Utags Lose In L. A. Classic

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The UCLA Bruins drubbed the Minnesota Gophers 95-55 Wednesday night in the second game of the Los Angeles Classic. St. Louis University rocked Utah State 97-78 in the opening game and will meet the Bruins Friday night.

With Lew Alcindor scoring 28 points the No. 1 ranked Bruins trapped the Gophers into turnovers and shot with 61 per cent accuracy to record their 40th consecutive victory.

Lucius Allen and Edgar Lacey supported Alcindor with 19 and 14 points respectively. The Gophers were led by Al Nuness and Tom Kondila with 19 and 18 points.

The Bruins buried the Gophers right at the beginning, 13-2, and Minnesota never saw daylight after that. Alcindor and Allen hit with consistency as the Bruins led 47-19 and then 51-25 at the half.

UCLA concentrated on defense in the second half, stretching the advantage to 67-28 after six minutes and 50 seconds of action.

St. Louis had little trouble with Utah State after the Billikens got over their opening lethargy.

With 7-foot pivot man Rich Niemann and Tom Thomas scoring 22 and 19 points, respectively, the Billikens took advantage of their superior height and sharper passing to smother the Aggies in the second half.

Utah State scoring was led by Jim Smith with 26 points and Shaler Hallimon with 21.

BEAT CELTICS

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Paul Silas hit for 10 points in the fourth quarter, breaking three ties and leading the St. Louis Hawks to a 116-113 victory over the Boston Celtics Wednesday night.

The Daily Investor

By WILLIAM A. DOYLE

Q. My wife and I have always lived in rented quarters but are considering buying a condominium apartment when we retire to Florida next year. I can afford to pay the full purchase price because I have about double that amount in savings. I can count on a retirement income of at least $500 a month from pension and Social Security.

I am told that it is much easier to sell a property that carries a large mortgage, because the new buyer would need only a small cash payment. So, I could pay 25 per cent down and get a mortgage at, say, 6 1/2 per cent interest on the balance. I am reluctant to do so, while my savings are earning only five per cent. It seems to me that such a mortgage might be a liability, rather than an asset. What is your opinion?

A. Right in line with yours. I've been told what you've been told. But that theory just doesn't make sense, in most cases. It would, however, if interest rates shot up after you got your mortgage. I'm not about to predict the future course of interest rates. They're sky-high now.

Let's say you pay 25 per cent down and get a 6 1/2 per cent mortgage. And say that at some future date, when you have decided to sell, the going rate on new mortgage is eight per cent. (Doesn't that sound unlikely?)

The person you sell to could take over your mortgage and start paying 8 1/2 per cent on the unpaid balance. He wouldn't have to get a new mortgage, on which he would have to pay eight per cent. This would make the purchase more attractive to the buyer and make it easier for you to sell.

But, unless interest rates go up, the fat mortgage will have no advantage at all. And, during the time you have the property it will cost you extra money. If, by getting a mortgage, you were able to put your money to work earning more than 6 1/2 per cent you would come out ahead. But you're getting five per cent on your money. So, no matter how you figure it, you would come out a loser. Besides the money angle, there's the peace of mind to consider. Why strap yourself with big mortgage worries, when you don't have to? A paid-up home is the best investment the average family makes in a lifetime.

Q. You wrote, "Many good-grade utility stocks are now selling at prices that provide a current yield of close to six per cent." I assume you are referring to preferred stocks. Can you provide a list? I understand, of course, that you accept no responsibility in furnishing such information.

A. No, I can't provide a list of those or any other types of stocks. To do so would leave this column wide open to a charge of touting. Other people wouldn't be as "understanding" as you.

No, I wasn't referring to preferred stocks — or "which the dividend payments are fixed and never change. I was writing about common stocks — on which the dividends can be raised or lowered, depending on the profits of the companies which have issued those stocks.

And many common stocks of solid utility companies are selling at current yields (annual dividend divided by market price) near six per cent. To get a list, trot down to any broker's office.

Q. Two and a half years ago I purchased 10 shares of stock in a big automobile company. I received my stock certificate and have been getting dividend checks. But my last name was misspelled on the certificate and the checks. I decided to have this corrected this year. I sent back the certificate and received a new certificate, with my name spelled correctly.

But, at the time I should have received the next dividend, I just received a letter from the company "welcoming me as a new stockholder." I am missing that dividend. I wrote two more letters to the company's "stockholder records department" but have received no reply. What do I do now?

A. Write again — this time by registered mail, return receipt requested. The company's not trying to cheat you. But, along with many others, that firm has evidently had a fiasco in its record-keeping. The mail-bag points up that sad situation.

2:30 P.M. SUMMARY
NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market firmed somewhat but remained lower late this afternoon. Trading was heavy.

The rally that got underway Tuesday and continued more strongly Wednesday bogged down at the opening of trading.

Some brokers said the Federal Reserve Board's raising by $500 million the reserves of commercial banks must keep idle behind demand deposits put a crimp into what was the beginning of a strong yearend rally.

Declines among individual stocks outnumbered advances by about 120 issues.

Trading started at a fast clip and the New York Stock Exchange ticker tape soon fell three minutes behind in reporting floor transactions.

Weakness was displayed by steels, mail order-retails, aircrafts, utilities, tobacco, building materials and drugs.

Rubbers, nonferrous metals and oils were mostly higher.

Prices declined on the American Stock Exchange.
