OFFICERS SEARCH THE AREA surrounding the scene of a fatal car crash Friday for belongings of the family involved. Kathy Root, 13, was fatally injured and her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. William Root, and four children were injured. The family was moving from Vancouver, Wash., to Murray, Utah, and contents of their heavily loaded car were scattered over a large area of the median strip on Interstate 80N.

4 Still Hospitalized After Fatal Wreck

Four members of a Vancouver, Wash., family were still hospitalized Saturday with injuries they received Friday in an accident which claimed the life of another family member. Kathy Root, 13-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Root, was identified as the victim. She reportedly died from a fractured neck at the accident scene about a mile east of the interchange of U.S. Highway 83 and Interstate 80N. Others in the car were Mr. and Mrs. Root, Mary Root, 6, Joan Root, 16, Therese Root, 7, and Gerald Root, 14. The latter two children were treated for car was heavily loaded with luggage, boxes and the seven passengers. Pieces of the vehicle and scattered personal items littered the dividing strip. Officers believed that all of the occupants, with the exception of Mr. Root, were thrown from the demolished vehicle. Family members from California and elsewhere were reported to be in Jerome assisting the Root family with arrangements. The body of Kathy Root is being sent to Salt Lake City by Hove Funeral Home, Jerome. Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the O'Donnell Mortuary, Salt Lake City. Requiem mass will be celebrated at 10 a.m. Wednesday at St. Vincent's Catholic Church, Murray. Final rites will be at Mount Calvary Cemetery.

The 48th traffic death of 1967 in Magic Valley occurred Dec. 29 as the result of an accident in Jerome County.

minor injuries and released from the hospital. They were reported to be staying with a Jerome family. Mr. Root, 39, was listed in fair condition, his wife and Joan in fairly good condition, and Mary in good condition late Saturday at St. Benedict's Hospital, Jerome, where they were taken by ambulance. Idaho State Police said the accident occurred about 12:30 p.m. Friday when the right rear tire on the eastbound Chevrolet stationwagon blew out, causing the car to skid across the road. The vehicle went down an embankment and landed upside down in the median strip between the two lanes of the interstate. The family was moving from Vancouver to Murray, Utah, officers reported, and said the

Law Officers Set Meeting On Disorders

By HARRY KELLY
WASHINGTON (AP) — Police officials of the nation's 100 biggest cities begin meeting in discussion Jan. 15 to plan how to prevent or control civil disorders in a year of war, Negro unrest and presidential election campaign. President Johnson ordered Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark to arrange the training sessions which will involve top police officers exchanging views on preventing and controlling civil disturbances. Mayors or their representatives have been invited to join some of the closed sessions which will begin at Airlie House conference center in Warrenton, Va., then move on to regional meetings around the country. In proposing the sessions in November, President Johnson said, "These conferences should make maximum use of the skills and experience gained by several agencies of the government, and of local officials who have been successful in preventing or controlling civil disorders."

AMBULANCE ATTENDANTS and officers prepare to lift Mrs. William Root, 38, onto a stretcher at the site of a 12:30 p.m. Friday accident in Jerome County. Mrs. Root's daughter, Kathy, was killed and five other members of the family injured. At right is Idaho State Police Lt. Dean Bennett, and ambulance attendant Walt Mildon is in the white jacket.

City Council Okays Turf Club License

A go-ahead for plans to rehabilitate the Turf Club north of Twin Falls was given by the city council Friday when the council approved a beer license for the establishment. The council originally was told of plans for the convention center during a Wednesday night meeting, at which time Robert Balleisen, attorney for Mr. Faulkner, asked action be taken on issuance of the beer license. The beer license was necessary for Mr. Faulkner to keep his state liquor license. An affidavit listed the restrictions placed on the beer license has been notarized and submitted to the Idaho State Department of Liquor Law Enforcement. Mr. Kroll stated that if Mr. Faulkner did not meet the

South Vietnam Responds To Pope's Appeal For Prolonged Holiday Truce

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnam announced Saturday the New Year's truce would be extended by 12 hours in response to Pope Paul VI's appeal that the holiday be observed as a "Day of Peace" throughout the world. The New Year's truce, originally for 24 hours, will begin at 6 p.m. Sunday. The Viet Cong's own three-day truce began at 1 a.m. Saturday, but there was no agreement by the allies to observe it.

A series of engagements were reported in the northern part of South Vietnam long after the Viet Cong truce had gone into effect. The Foreign Ministry issued a statement saying the truce extension had been ordered "in the spirit of His Holiness, Pope Paul's appeal of Dec. 15 that Jan. 1 be observed as a 'Day of Peace' throughout the world." The ministry said the government and people of South Vietnam "appeal to the Communist forces to respect the New Year's truce."

A spokesman for Pope Paul in Vatican City said the pontiff was "deeply grateful" for the truce. The spokesman added that the Pope was still awaiting some reply from North Vietnam to his peace appeal of Dec. 22 in which he offered himself as a mediator in Vietnam. There was speculation that the truce extension was the subject of the urgent meeting Friday between President Nguyen Van Thieu and U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker. Thieu denied this. He would not say what the subject of the Bunker discussions was other than it was "urgent."

In a delayed report, the Marines announced Operation Badger Tooth along the border of Quang Tri and Thua Thien Provinces and said 27 enemy were killed there Friday in "close-range fighting along the coast of the South China Sea." In the fighting that began in that area Wednesday, the command listed 48 Marines killed and 81 wounded. Marine forces were reported moving on through that area. Just to the south of those two northernmost provinces, 33 enemy were reported killed in a

Marine operation called Auburn which began Thursday. That operation in Quang Nam province has centered around the coastal town of Hoi An. Cumulative Marine casualties were listed Saturday at 22 men killed and 47 wounded. Heavy strikes by U.S. warplanes, supported the Marines, but over North Vietnam American planes were held by bad weather Friday to 66 strike missions. They struck at supply points north of Haiphong. A Navy Phantom jet was shot down as it flew relatively low over a North Vietnamese island on a reconnaissance mission. The two crewmen nursed the crippled plane out over the Gulf of Tonkin, bailed out, and were picked up by a helicopter. It was the 771st U.S. plane reported lost over North Vietnam. In politics, President Thieu in a talk to diplomats ruled out negotiations with the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front (NLF) and said only North Vietnam could end the war. Thieu also told newsmen at the diplomatic reception that a Viet Cong emissary who was arrested Dec. 1 on his way to contact the U.S. Embassy was of low rank and he doubted he was a legitimate representative of the NLF.

By SPENCER DAVIS
WASHINGTON (AP) — A high Johnson administration official said Saturday the United States will approach the problem of the Communist use of Cambodian territory as a sanctuary with the greatest restraint. At the same time William P. Bundy, assistant secretary of state, said there are indications the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong Communist forces "are developing a pattern of military action that could mean more significant use of border areas — not only in Cambodia but in Laos and along the demilitarized zone" in Vietnam. In a year-end interview, the State Department's top Asian expert said the next development "is somewhat more in the laps of the North Vietnamese than it is of ourselves." "If they take additional action this will create a more difficult situation," he said. "We believe developing a pattern of military two years that one of the actions that could be taken that would assist in this situation would be an enlarged role for the International Control Commission (ICC). Bundy declined specific comment on the recent interview of Cambodia's chief of state, Prince Norodom Sihanouk, which apparently has opened the door to U.S. hot pursuit of Communist forces illegally making use of Cambodian territory.

Nor would Bundy comment on Sihanouk's invitation for the United States to send an emissary to talk with him. That matter now is under White House consideration. However, in the first official comment on Sihanouk's move, Bundy declared: "We understand that the prince is dedicated to the preservation of Cambodia as it now stands and to the continuation of its neutral posture in international relations."

"We have made it clear over and over again that we support Cambodian independence and territorial integrity and recognize and support their policy of neutrality."

Burden On Taxpayer Increases On Jan. 1

WASHINGTON (AP) — The burden on the U.S. taxpayer will increase New Year's day even though Congress did not adopt President Johnson's proposed 10 percent tax surcharge. Congress approved a maximum payment during 1968 of $343.20 based on the same 4.4 percent rate and maximum earnings of $7,800. The maximum payment would have remained at $290.40 if the coming year under the old law.

This and repeal of the stamp tax are the only two changes in tax law now scheduled for 1968. The measure approved by Congress this year will boost the maximum Social Security tax to $460.20 for both the worker and his boss by 1968 compared with $372.90 under the old law. This will mean a tax rate by 1968 of 5.9 percent. For the self-employed, the maximum tax will go as high as $460.20 by 1967. It was $422.40 during 1967 and will jump to $499.20 during 1968.

The burden would increase further if Congress adopted the proposed surcharge on individual and corporate income taxes which the House Ways and Means Committee plans to reconsider on Jan. 22. Key committee members, however, say action will depend on efforts in the new federal budget to save money. During 1967, a person earning Power Outage Blacks Out Area Of T.F.

A power line outage near Rogers Bros. Co., 560 Washington St. S., blacked out power in areas of Twin Falls for a little over 30 minutes between 6:30 and 7:30 a.m. Saturday. The trouble first was reported down at Rogers Sheet Metal works and there was some delay in repairing it due to the confusion in the location. A spokesman for Idaho Power Co. said about 400 customers in downtown Twin Falls and the southern portion of the city were affected. He said repairmen found that a transformer had been knocked loose on one of the poles and an overhead conductor was burned out. The workmen said no vehicle was around when they arrived, but they believe a car must have hit a guy wire on the pole on which the transformer was mounted.

Recalling Autos

DETROIT (AP) — Nearly 500,000 Pontiacs manufactured between September 1964 and October 1965 are being recalled to check for a possible defect in the steering mechanism. The Pontiac Division of General Motors said the steering idler arm assembly "in a few cases might separate and result in a pull to the right when brakes are applied." The company said 479,470 letters were sent to Pontiac owners, asking them to return their cars to dealers for free inspection and replacement of any defective parts.

Mini-Cassia Group Told Region Airport Not Dead

A Burley-Rupert delegation Friday called a meeting with Twin Falls County commissioners to discuss the status of the regional airport concept in Magic Valley after money was included in the Twin Falls County budget to assist on repairs of Twin Falls City Municipal Airport. Bill Chancy, member of the commission, said that the delegation, including Neil Wier, chairman of the regional airport commission, and Ed Elliott, president of the South Idaho Chamber of Commerce, was concerned that Twin Falls County was scuttling the regional airport idea in favor of improving the city facility. Mr. Chancy said he and other commissioners assured the group that it was not the intention of the Twin Falls County Commissioners to abandon the idea of a regional airport. He said that it is the feeling of his group that the present facility needs to be maintained and upgraded while Magic Valley is working toward the regional airport.

1967 Political Events Leave Door Open For Anything To Happen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Major political developments of 1967 mostly were significant for the effect they might have on 1968's national elections. But they also were inconclusive enough to leave the door open for nearly anything to happen in what could be a national turning-point election such as those of 1860 and 1932. President Johnson, bounced around in the polls, jabbed even by some other Democrats and seeming to swerve little through it all, was the central political personality through the year. The main cross he bears—the Vietnam war—was the prime political issue, with race and money not far behind. Nixon, Rockefeller, Romney, Reagan, Kennedy, McCarthy, Humphrey, Wallace and other names flitted back and forth across the political landscape, jockeying for position. But it was the issues that seemed to point toward some climax, just as the slavery fight and the depression had done in earlier years. The pollsters, the sociologists, the traveling reporters seemed to find a growing puzzlement through the country. —How do we end an unpopular war? —What's the answer to Negro-white problems, riots and crime? —How do we stay on our financial feet, both individually and collectively? While the polls reflected dissatisfaction much of the year with Johnson's handling of these hot potatoes, they produced no knight on a charger to solve them. The President, with little apparent reservoir of goodwill, seemed more directly affected in the polls by issues of the moment than were some of his predecessors.

Wallace, the segregationist, states rights former governor of Alabama, is vowing to put his American Independent Party on the presidential election ballot in most states. Miles away in belief, vigorous opponents of U.S. policy in Vietnam scrambled all through the year to find a candidate to oppose Johnson, more likely within the Democratic party rather than in a third party. Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., criticized U.S. policy enough to raise hopes in some of these people that he would take on Johnson. As winter approached, however, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota said he'd oppose Johnson and enter some presidential primary elections. That raised speculation he might be a stalking horse for Kennedy, but both men denied it. Vietnam directly and indirectly got on some ballots in 1967.

San Francisco voters turned down 2-to-1 a proposition that the United States get out. In Cambridge, Mass., the vote was 3-to-2 against a resolution urging prompt return of GIs from Vietnam. But in a war-oriented special congressional election south of San Francisco, Paul N. McCloskey, a Republican Korean War veteran and so-called dove, soundly upset Vietnam hard-liner and better-known Shirley Temple Black, onetime child movie star. Republicans could be found almost every side of the Vietnam issue. Michigan Gov. George Romney suffered from it perhaps more than any other GOP presidential aspirant. He was accused of being on several sides. Romney entered 1967 as the seeming leader for the nomination. He and Johnson tangled in midsummer over use of federal troops at Detroit riots and the jut-jawed governor came off well. But in September he said U.S. officials "brainwashed" him during a 1965 visit to South Vietnam after which he had endorsed U.S. policy. He plummeted from first to fourth in one poll. Even a formal declaration of candidacy in November and a round-the-world tour in December did not seem to rekindle much support. Instead, there seemed to be growing feeling among moderate Republicans that New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, who said he doesn't want to be president—should be the nominee. The favorite's role, however, fell to former Vice President Richard M. Nixon. He advocated more bombing, spent the year traveling and writing, and showed up with his customary Though denying nomination aspirations, California Gov. Ronald Reagan, another cross-country speaker through the year, seemed ready to inherit Nixon's conservative support if Romney tarnished the Nixon campaign. Sen. Charles H. Percy of Illinois, another vigorous denier of 1968 ambitions, seemed a likely compromise candidate if Nixon and Reagan, then Rockefeller and Nixon, knocked each other out before or during the August GOP national convention in Miami Beach. Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey spent his year echoing Johnson and no doubt hoping he'd be on the ticket again next time around. Although big-city riots and the cries of supermillitant Negro leaders led to some conclusions that the civil rights drive was being hurt, Negroes won significant election victories. Carl B. Stokes in Cleveland and Richard G. Hatcher in Gary, Ind., each narrowly won mayoral campaigns centered on the race issue. Though Congress talked long and often about Vietnam and race, it acted more decisively in the money area. And the GOP kept up a drum-beat of attacks against high interest, climbing living costs and the mounting federal debt. One exchange near the end of the year showed how the past of 1967 could be a prologue to the expected bitterness of 1968. Johnson called Republicans "wooden soldiers" and said he would not "be deterred by a bunch of political fishmen who want to advance their own interests." House Republican leader Gerald R. Ford retorted that Johnson was a wild-eyed engineer of a runaway locomotive. Who the voters would agree with remained to be seen.

Woman Freed On Bond For Vote Charge

CROWN POINT, Ind. (AP)—A Democratic precinct committee woman, Mrs. Marion Taylor, 41, is free on $15,000 bond after being charged with voting irregularities in the recent primary election.

Mrs. Tokarski was indicted Friday by the Lake County grand jury. She was charged in five counts with conspiracy to violate the Indiana election code through false voter registration.

The charges grew out of a grand jury investigation into possible fraud in the Nov. 7 election that put Democrat Richard Hatcher, a Negro, into Gary's mayoral office by a narrow margin.

A second person named in the indictments was not identified by Henry Kowalczyk, Lake County prosecutor. He said a warrant must first be served.

Mrs. Tokarski charged in U.S. District Court on the eve of the election that plotters planned to cast thousands of "ghost" votes in an effort to defeat Hatcher, who will be sworn in as the city's first Negro mayor Monday.

Mrs. Tokarski's bond was posted by Jackie Shropshire, a law partner of Hatcher.

The mayor-elect said Mrs. Tokarski had shown "extraordinary courage" in admitting her part in the alleged scheme.

Mrs. Tokarski said that after joining the alleged conspiracy and then renouncing it, she was threatened with death for "blowing the whistle" on the plot.

Value Declines

SPOKANE (AP)—The value of mineral production in Idaho, Montana, Washington and Oregon declined $118.8 million this year.

The Bureau of Mines said the Pacific Northwest mineral production declined to $438 million. The federal agency blamed the decline on labor disputes shutting down mines and smelters, low zinc and gold prices closing mines and lower consumption of sand, gravel, stone and cement.

Mineral production was valued at $106.2 million in Idaho, $188.2 million in Montana, $68.8 million in Washington and $77 million in Oregon.

Special Investigation Team Aids Law Enforcement Units

By ALLEN M. BAILEY
BOISE (AP)—Idaho law enforcement agencies—if they need them—may use the services of a special investigation team of the Idaho Department of Law Enforcement.

Law Enforcement Commissioner Warner Mills said the investigators were appointed last April to help any agency needing extra help because of a crime which takes an extraordinary amount of time to solve, the investigation of which leads to another part of the state or which needs a detective with special skills to solve.

So far this year, the investigators have been called upon to work on three killings, including the unsolved murder of a Boise man and stabbing of his daughter near Sun Valley in August.

"I see it as a proper function of state government to be of aid and assistance to local jurisdictions where needed," Mills said.

Two investigators appointed were Chet Howard, formerly an investigator for the Division of Liquor Law Enforcement, and Weaver Bickell, formerly an Idaho State Police lieutenant in charge of ports of entry.

Mills is quick to emphasize, however, that his two-man special investigating team is not an attempt to take over law enforcement by the state.

The two specially trained men, he said, are "something that is needed," particularly by law officers in rural areas. Aside from the Sun Valley killing, the detectives were asked to help authorities after a man's body was found in a Coeur d'Alene tavern and to help solve the murder a year ago of a 13-year-old girl in the small eastern Idaho town of Shelley.

Mills said local authorities direct the investigations.

The state detectives have power to arrest a person anywhere in the state, they have the use of technical equipment and may even travel to another state, as one did to Spokane.

They have investigated the possibility of arson in a Fruitland school fire this year, misrepresentation in the sale of automobiles and misuse of narcotics by persons working around medical facilities, Howard said.

Other problems investigated include auto theft, burglaries, violations of laws governing licenses of doctors, nurses, cosmetologists, chiropractors—a and even some malicious damage to property in the form of tacks thrown into someone's driveway.

Investigations of a trail of burglaries and stolen cars which led to Boise resulted in the arrest of escaped inmates of the Washington State Prison, he said.

"We could use four more just like us," he said.

Mills said his department definitely is not interested in taking over the jobs of sheriffs, police and marshals, but he hinted that such specialized workers as a chemist and a pathologist might be needed at some future date by the department to aid Idaho law officers. However, such an addition would need to be approved first by the legislature.

Although most of Howard's and Bickell's services have been for smaller law enforcement agencies, any law enforcement office may ask their assistance, from the Ada County Sheriff's office on down.

It costs the counties or towns nothing. But it can pay off, Mills said, when a sheriff is confronted with a series of burglaries which may continue into another county—but which he may not be able to follow-up because of the heavy work load in his own county.

Crossing

GLENN'S FERRY—Three hundred cows and calves were herded across busy Highway 39 Friday afternoon about six miles east of Glenns Ferry.

Officers assisted in clearing the highway of traffic for the crossing, which brought the cattle from the Black Mesa farms south of King Hill to the Barron Ranch north of town.

LBJ Confers With Rusk On Cambodia

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—President Johnson conferred at his Texas ranch Saturday with Secretary of State Dean Rusk on matters ranging from the budget to Cambodia. But there was no White House comment on Southeast Asian developments.

Presidential press secretary George Christian emphasized that there was "nothing special" about Rusk's arrival.

"He usually comes in when the President is here," the secretary said. "They're working on year-end matters and the budget."

Christian said it would be only natural, though, for the two men to talk about such important pending matters as Vietnam and Cambodia.

There still was no comment from the Texas White House on reports that Cambodia's Prince Norodom Sihanouk is ready to talk to a U.S. envoy on the issue of North Vietnamese and Viet Cong use of his country as a war sanctuary.

And, Christian said, he had nothing to say about any possible peace move implications in the 12-hour extension of the New Year's truce in Vietnam. The South Vietnamese have granted the extension in response to Pope Paul's worldwide plea for peace.

Atom Energy Role In U.S. Is Forecast

By FRANK CAREY
WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's atomic energy chief forecast Saturday that by the end of 1980 nuclear power plants will be supplying about 25 percent of the total U.S. need for electricity.

That would mean a gain of more than 25-fold in the next 13 years—since at present atomic power plants account for less than 1 per cent of the country's total electrical generating capacity.

Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, said prospects for such a sharp rise in the nuclear power field stem from an increasing trend on the part of electric utilities companies in the past two years to "go nuclear" in planning new plants.

Seaborg told about it in a year-end statement reminding the nation of "the growing number of peaceful applications of the atom and of future uses expected to ease mankind's aged-old problems of food, water and health."

Woman Hurt

Melba Patrick, 171 Blue Lakes Blvd. S., was held for observation at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital Saturday night after a tumble from a pickup truck about 4 p.m. on Highland Avenue.

She was reported to have a dislocated shoulder and possible other injuries. Her husband was driving the pickup truck. She was taken to the hospital by Magic Valley Ambulance Service.

New Mother Is Shot To Death

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A new mother was shot to death and her estranged husband critically wounded Friday night in what police called an apparent murder-suicide attempt in the busy maternity ward of a hospital here.

Police identified the victim as Mrs. Cynthia Hamilton of North Philadelphia. She had given birth to a boy on Tuesday. The assailant, identified as Alexander Hamilton, turned the gun on himself after shooting the woman, according to witnesses, police said.

The incident occurred in a ward at Women's Medical College Hospital in the East Falls section. Also in the ward at the time of the shooting were two other patients and several visitors, a hospital spokesman said.

Miami's New Crime Policy Gets Support

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Miami's new controversial "get tough" anticrime policy proceeded today with official support, but in the face of criticism by some Negro leaders.

Police Chief Walter Headley assured a City Commission public hearing Friday he would wage war on crime relentlessly against whites and Negroes alike.

Headley said his new policy that includes arming police with shotguns, increased use of dog patrols and stop and frisk tactics, was initiated in the Negro district only because of a crime wave there. Forces will be deployed throughout the city as needed, he said.

The police chief entered the crowded hearing room carrying a bulging brief case. He said it contained more than 500 telegrams and letters from throughout the nation regarding his crime fighting campaign.

Later, he told reporters the communications expressed about 100 to 1 satisfaction with his program.

After dozens of citizens, mostly Negroes, expressed clashing opinions on the matter, Mayor Stephen Clark told Headley: "You are charged with enforcing the law without discrimination and by all legal means." A majority of the commissioners supported Headley.

Praise for the "get tough" policy came from some Negro businessmen and ministers. Opposition came from civil rights leaders who expressed fear the crime war would be concentrated against Negroes.

Scientists At Plum Brook Work On Pill

SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP)—For more than a decade, scientists at nearby Plum Brook have been working to develop a center for research into space propulsion systems of the future.

Now science is tackling another problem at the center: Can a birth control pill be developed to keep down the rapidly growing herd of deer roaming the Plum Brook acres?

National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials say the deer herd has more than doubled during the past seven years and now numbers more than 700.

The deer are so tame they poke their heads through laboratory windows and "even graze around the nuclear reactor," a NASA spokesman said Friday.

To try to solve the problem, a fertility research program will be launched next month by the Ohio Cooperative Wildlife Research Unit under the direction of Dr. Tony J. Peterle of Ohio State University.

NASA personnel will help in the first phase of the operation, which will seek to determine how many members of the herd are pregnant. They will do this on a "sampling" basis, with some personnel assigned to shoot a certain number of deer for study.

Venison from the samples will be given to state institutions.

The deer "will be studied to determine certain endocrine, reproductive and physical characteristics," said John D. Harder of Ohio State.

"What we are trying to discover is some kind of birth pill which could be fed to the deer at regular intervals," said Harder.

NASA says its major concern at the moment is that "if the herd continues to increase at its present rate there will not be enough food at the center for them."

Accounting Error Sets Up Headache

MONTPELIER, Vt. (AP)—A $300 million accounting error by the state Highway Department has given Vermont's first Democratic governor about the biggest financial headache of his six-year administration.

Gov. Philip H. Hoff made the startling disclosure of the $300 million mistake at a press conference Friday. He said the error arose from the Highway Department's estimate of the total cost of the state's 10-year arterial road building program.

The arterial system was outlined to the 1966 legislature as a $142.7 million program. Hoff said the actual cost of completing the program is now estimated at $457 million.

He said he will ask the legislature for a one cent a gallon increase in the gasoline tax in 1968 to help bail out the highway program. Vermont now has a 6 1/2 cent levy on gasoline.

The tax boost was not the only bad news he had for motorists and taxpayers. Hoff said the estimate error also would mean delay in completing several highway construction projects, on delays ranging up to nine years.

Republican Committee Chairman Elbert G. Moulton, an avowed foe of the governor, said the Highway Department situation was "an unbelievable and incredible mess."

It's comforting to know that the cost is within reason

Hearing Due On County Zoning Revision

A public hearing is expected to be called in Twin Falls County around the middle of January on the newly revised Twin Falls County zoning ordinance.

Zoning Administrator George

Ottens said the county zoning commission has gone over the revised county ordinance and approved it in its streamlined form.

Only one major change, he said, is included in the new ordinance which is the creation of a "R-3" zone for approximately one-eighth of a mile deep surrounding the College of Southern Idaho campus.

This, he said, was designed to provide a buffer area of homes, multiple family units, apartments and boarding houses in the vicinity of the school. The recommendations for such zoning came from college officials, Twin Falls city and county officials, he said. Present zoning around the college site is agricultural and residential.

A request for commercial zoning on property on the northwest corner of the Washington Street and Falls Avenue intersection was denied by the county zoning body. The owner proposed the construction of commercial complex that would include laundry, service station, restaurant and other commercial operations.

Property owners appealed the decision of the zoning board to the County Commission and its decision will be announced, Mr. Ottens said.

Death Takes Rupert Man

RUPERT—George Andre Villet, 86, Rupert, died Friday at a local rest home of a lingering illness.

He was born Sept. 15, 1881, at Logan, Utah. On Jan. 17, 1907, he married Effie Stocks in the Logan LDS Temple. He was an assistant master mechanic for the Amalgamated Sugar Co. for 47 years at Lewiston, Utah, and also had done construction work at all the firm's other plants.

Mr. Villet was a high priest in the LDS church and had belonged to the Rupert LDS Second Ward for the past 14 months. His wife died in 1965.

Survivors include one son, Brent Villet, Rupert; two daughters, A. K. (Helen) Burnham, Idaho Falls, and Mrs. C. F. (Janean) Foster, Oklahoma City, Okla.; one half-brother, Orson Thatcher, Logan, Utah; one sister, Mrs. Amy Keller, Glendale, Calif.; nine grandchildren and 14 great-grandchildren, and one great-great-grandchild.

Funeral services will be conducted at noon Tuesday in the Hall Mortuary Chapel, Logan, Utah, by Bishop Herbert Harrison, Lewiston. Last rites will be held in the Logan Cemetery.

Coin Devalued

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—In a bid to make Brazilian exports, particularly coffee, more competitive on world markets, Brazil devalued the cruzeiro Friday for the second time in 10 months.

Devaluation was 18 1/2 per cent, from 2.7 cruzeiros to the dollar to 3.2 Brazil's last devaluation, in February, was 23 per cent and was coupled with a currency reform. The country then did away with the old cruzeiro, inflated practically to worthlessness, and issued a new one worth 1,000 old cruzeiros.

Brazil, like other nations, faced stiffer competition in some trade areas after Britain devalued the pound sterling in November.

WASHINGTON—From a long-range viewpoint, the White House is being asked to consider the untoward effects of the Vietnam war on the nations of the Communist world.

Predictably, since its people must take a catholic view of world developments and try to project American thinking 10 years ahead, this suggestion comes from State Department intelligence officials. In a nutshell, they say the war has set back U.S. relations with the Soviet satellites to the point where a new start probably will have to be made once the war ends.

In taking this position, these diplomats are in massive disagreement with the Central Intelligence Agency and the Defense Intelligence Agency. Both CIA and DIA mount the familiar, more traditional arguments that the Communists can only understand firmness in the application of power and thus are privately impressed by the American stand in Asia.

But State's spy shop sees it this way: Until the war, there were elements within the Eastern European countries which were pressing with some measure of success for an era of peaceful coexistence with the United States. These elements pointed out that since World War II the U.S. had shown none of the aggressiveness which was the post-war nightmare of the Stalinists. They wanted in on the economic benefits accruing from friendly relations with Washington.

Now, however, the war has strengthened the hands of the conservatives, who argue that the conflict shows that the worldwide struggle for power was continuing, with the U.S. determined to achieve a permanent foothold in Asia.

American involvement in Vietnam, therefore, had become a weapon in the hands of those orthodox Communist leaders who resist any attempts at re-party discipline. They are using this weapon in the debates raging inside every Communist party in Eastern Europe over the direction the party should take.

The reformers have been demanding concessions, and more personal and intellectual freedom. They argue that authoritarianism is stunting the growth of Communist countries. The conservatives, fearful of losing their own personal power, argue that the war proves the Communists can't afford to permit more freedom, that the party leadership must remain unbending in the face of American "adventurism" and the danger that the Vietnam conflict will expand into a wider war.

Recently, the reformers have taken the position that a liberalizing of Communist life would serve the propaganda end of offering a contrast to American "imperialism." The conservatives have replied that in a world of tensions the party must maintain firm controls over national resources, lest the satellite nations be caught unprepared for a major war.

Another effect of the war, according to State's intelligence findings, is its erosion of the reformers' argument that more is to be gained by cooperating with the West. In the present mood of Congress, Czechoslovakia has all but abandoned hopes of "most favored nation" tariff treatment in the U.S., and Yugoslavia is faced with a sudden cut-off in American wheat shipments due to the policy of tying in aid to Vietnam policies.

President Johnson, of course, is limited in his choices by the recalcitrance of Hanoi and the Viet Cong. He cannot negotiate a peace if they refuse to sit down to the peace table. For the present, at least, he can only pursue his bridge-building to the East as best he can, and hope against expert diplomatic advice that there will be no new stiffening of Eastern European attitudes that will make that effort futile.

"Relax, I'm Just Going to Remove Your Communism!"

ART BUCHWALD It's A Hard Run

WASHINGTON — President Johnson indicated the other evening in his first fireside chat that he's going to run hard in 1968 to recoup his popularity, which with every public opinion poll seems to be going down.

A large staff is already preparing for his campaign and the President has urged anyone who has a good idea to speak up.

The other day, one of the President's trusted political advisers came up with the most revolutionary plan to date.

"Mr. President," he said "I've been studying the polls and they seem to be taking on a pattern."

"You're damn right, and the pattern's against me."

"But wait. The two leading candidates for the Presidency in the political polls are Sen. Robert Kennedy and Gov. Nelson Rockefeller. The question we must address ourselves to is why?"

"Ah'll tell you why. Cause Ah'm doing all the work, and they're doing all the griping."

"Perhaps so. But the scientific reason is that both men have formally announced that they will not be presidential candidates in 1968."

"If you'll notice this graph, it shows that as soon as the American people hear a candidate is going to run for office, his popularity goes down; but as soon as a candidate announces that he doesn't want to run for office, his popularity soars."

"What are you driving at?"

"Mr. President, I think you should announce in your State of the Union speech that you will not run again for the Presigency in 1968."

"You must be out of your cotton-pickin' mind," the President said.

"Think before you speak. When you announce this on nationwide television, your popularity will reach new heights. You'll lead every poll in the country. There will be demonstrations in the streets, people will tear their clothes and wail. They'll be screaming in front of the White House. Johnson! Johnson! Schools will close, factory workers will leave their jobs, students who are lying down in front of draft boards will sit up. The country will be in a frenzy."

"Ah must admit Ah like the picture you paint. But will it work?"

"It worked for President Nasser," the adviser said.

"Ah knew the whole thing had a familiar ring to it. But it's risky. After all, the United States is not Egypt."

"That's not the point, Mr. President. As soon as you announce that you're not going to be a candidate in 1968, Bobby Kennedy will announce that he is a candidate. And as soon as he announces it, his popularity will start slipping while yours will be going up. There will all over the country, and everyone will be begging you to accept a draft."

"Ah reckon it makes sense, and Ah think Ah might buy it. But Ah've got one problem."

"What's that, sir?"

"How do Ah break the news to Hubert?"

The Police

Some people, reading about the firing of two Twin Falls policemen who are accused of planting evidence in a narcotics case, will jump at the opportunity to berate all policemen and, in particular, to say nasty things about the Twin Falls Police Department.

The thing all should remember is that the Police Department cleaned its own house. It wasn't a case of pressure forcing the action. The cleaning out already had taken place before the incident became general knowledge.

The charge against the two officers is a serious one. Whether they are guilty of it will be determined in a court of law. But, it is the type of activity that no law enforcement agency can afford to be tainted by. The prompt action by Police Chief Frank Barnett is to be commended. Prosecutor Michael Felton also is to be commended for taking the necessary action of filing criminal charges against the two officers.

If the two officers are innocent, we trust it will be brought out in a trial. Meanwhile, the citizens of Twin Falls are assured that officers must answer to the law, the same as they, and that their Police Department and judicial machinery are concerned with safeguarding the rights of the individual.

It is unfortunate the incident occurred. But we can be proud that the proper action was taken without hesitation. It always is much better that a guilty person might escape justice than that the people lose confidence in their law enforcement agencies.

Death Toll

The 1967 Idaho traffic death toll has broken all records. In light of this, new and increased efforts should be made to protect motorists in the state.

Earlier this year Gov. Don Samuelson expressed concern about the danger on the highways. By ordering unmarked Idaho State Police cars into the field, he took a step toward lowering the death rate. At the present time, the death toll is one of the chief executive's prime concerns.

Recent statistics show that of the 273 people killed in the year, up to the day after the Christmas weekend, many had prior convictions of speeding, drunken driving and failure to yield the right of way.

Gov. Samuelson and Idaho State Police officers have shown a desire to save lives. But the motorist has to pay attention and obey the laws before any good can be done.

With the 1967 statistics, the outlook is grim indeed. This New Year's weekend promises to be bloody.

And most of the highway deaths this weekend, officials report, will be the result of drinking or sleeping at the wheel. It is hard to tell people not to drink when they drive. But drinking and driving don't mix. England has proven this. In a crackdown during the Christmas weekend, the death rate there was cut in half. The reason? Police in England enforced the drunken driving law to a harsh degree.

The holiday traffic toll in England during the Christmas weekend was just over 80. A year ago in the same period it was more than 170.

Idaho State Police offices and ports of entry throughout the state this holiday weekend will have free coffee. Police stations and sheriff's offices in the state will also offer coffee to the weary traveler.

State Police have even offered to take motorists home, if the motorist feels he or she has had too much to drink.

This is above and beyond the call of duty, but it is an effort to cut the traffic death rate. The effort is commendable.

But the effort will do no good unless the motorist takes advantage. As with every holiday, or every day in the year, we urge caution and safety on the road and in the home. The holiday should be death free.

We hope it is.

DON MACLEAN Old Days Of Less Politeness

WASHINGTON—According to Rep. Sidney R. Yates (D., Ill.), Congress is too busy these days to engage in the colorful debates that once took place on the floors of the House and Senate. While Yates is inspired by some of the things current Congresses are doing, he sort of years for that time when things were more spirited and there was less politeness.

Yates uses as an illustration an exchange between Henry Clay and a long-winded opponent who, after a terribly long speech, turned to Clay and said, grandiloquently, "You, sir, speak for the moment. I speak for posterity."

Clay replied: "You are right, sir. And apparently you are determined to speak until the arrival of your audience."

Microscopes: Public housing planners here are talking about a blue-eyed concept for an apartment building in which people on the public dole and those making less than $3,000 per year will live side by side with folks making $10,000 annually. Of course, where they're going to find all the $10,000-types who'll want to live in that building has not been determined.

Speaking of slums, etc., while some people have trouble with rats, I recently had a bat problem. Apparently the bat got in the house through the chimney. Sports fans might like to know that I dispatched it to Bat Heaven with a nine-iron, but it took me three strokes.

House members have duly noted that the New York Stock Exchange has moved to protect traders on the floor from attack by visitors in the gallery. The NYSE has installed bulletproof glass.

"There has been a tremendous flow of people from our rural to our urban areas," says Rep. Frank Thompson Jr. (D., N.J.), "and this movement has created enormous problems for our cities. In recent years, this movement has reached the dimensions of an exodus. In fact, the flight from farm to city has even come to the attention of the Agriculture Department!" (At last.)

BRUCE BLOSSAT Is Great Leadership Vital?

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Some disillusioned Americans, including men of prominence, seem to argue at times that this country may be "lost" if it cannot quickly find "great leadership."

Yet historians like Thomas Bailey who review U.S. presidential history find only a handful of "greats" in the whole roster. Through most of our nearly 200 years as a nation, we have had to struggle along with good to average to mediocre leadership.

In those long, lean years without great presidents at the helm, the country did not exactly wither away. Propelled by strong economic and social forces, helped constantly by infusions of energetic people from other lands, the United States simply went on growing, building, muddling through the problems of its national youth.

We are told by many of the disillusioned, however, that if the nation in 1968 does not oust President Johnson and install a "more inspiring" leader, it can expect nothing but a critical deterioration of its strength through unending war in Vietnam and racial revolt in its own cities.

Actually, this notion reflects another aspect of the enduring romantic dream that even the worst problems can be solved by swift, thrilling strokes from the hand of the President, the Congress, or both.

As it relates to Congress and the making of "packaged solutions," the dream has been largely dashed. The hope for an all-compassing leader lingers on.

It is fed by the idea that if John F. Kennedy had lived, it would all be different—we would not be fighting a major though limited war in Vietnam and there would be no turmoil in the cities.

The idea is not only unprovable, but improbable. Whatever leadership qualities Kennedy might have shown, he could not have wished away a deteriorating war or the frustrations of millions of Negroes who, even as he still lived in 1963, were turning increasingly to militant action.

The other side of the proposition is, however, more readily subject to test. For whether Johnson wins re-election or is replaced by one of the four principal Republican contenders, the nation in 1969 is not likely to find itself led as the "great leadership" advocates would have it led.

Neither Richard Nixon nor Governors Rockefeller of New York, Romney of Michigan or Reagan of California seems to have inspiring impact upon the American people.

We shall learn, one way or another, whether we are truly dependent on the high leadership the disillusioned advocates demand. If we somehow muddle through well short of the prophesied disaster, the answer will be given.

Their call is not, of course, the only sound heard from frustrated Americans in this Age of Disillusion. As the heavily publicized protest movement against the war and the surge of black power militancy both make clear, there are countless people (mostly young) whose disenchantment seems too great to be cured by even the most spectacular "establishment" leadership.

Their avowed goal is the "destruction of the system" as too far gone to achieve peace and the proper aims of a modern industrial society. What they would put in its place is not plain.

Nor is it evident, in this age which deems leaders even as it calls for "great leadership," where a wholly new system would find the kind of human driving force today's young disenchantees seem to want.

Disillusion should be foreign to the young. They are supposed to be the bearers of hope and the instillers of new energy in any society. That so many are lost to any undertaking but the effort to destroy must strike many still hopeful Americans as a human wastage nearly as tragic as their loss in war.

PAUL HARVEY Are The Undertakers Happy?

Are undertakers happy?

There has to be a better way to phrase that question. But I just came from a convention of the National Selected Morticians. It was the golden anniversary of their organization. From the speakers' table I looked over across that jam-packed Chicago auditorium and, sure enough, I witnessed the same "image of tranquility" which had impressed me during two previous conventions of funeral directors.

Unlike the outdated image of the solemn, long-faced, "Digger 'O Dell" caricature of the undertaker who was "supposed to look sad," these appear to me to wear very few frown lines.

"At today's prices, the undertaker can afford to be happy," I hear the skeptics say.

But that's why the word "happiness" distorts this analysis. What I see in these faces reflects a very deep and very profound "composure" such as few of us know in these difficult days.

I sought to learn why in this of all professions men and women appear to have learned the secret to the quiet heart.

Statistically, I discover that funeral directors are characterized by a more-than-average active church membership.

Daily they witness the "effects of death" on those with religion and on those without. Apparently, this is a convincing testimonial.

They see daily the effects of death on a family and on a community and what most of us treasure as "life" becomes so transitory as not to be worth worrying about. The stock market is less important to a mortician.

Further, as they mold what's left of our earthly remains seeking to erase the effects of an accident or a prolonged illness, the mortician must either despair, drop out of the profession and become a drunk.

Or else he develops a profound respect for the soul of man which once wore and now survives — this worthless clay.

Another factor contributing to this conspicuous tranquility is the fact that most funeral homes are family businesses. Often five or more generations of a family will grow up in the rooms upstairs, gradually increasing participation in the rewarding business downstairs.

Rewarding, because the essence of personal satisfaction involves helping others. And where the doctor and the minister are in and out, the funeral director lives with the bereaved for days — counseling, comforting, standing by.

I am aware of the Biblical admonition that we are not to judge others except by their fruits. Yet it has always seemed to me that the long-faced Christian is a poor showcase for what he's "selling."

Visits with professional morticians — recent and repeated visits with large numbers of them — have left me with much admiration and some envy.

For in their comparatively untroubled faces and unhurried voices and unanxious consideration of what most of us consider "grave problems," they are living testimony to the measurable, provable personal rewards of doing unto others.

MR. SPECTATOR Humor On The Decline

Humor is supposed to be an ageless commodity. But according to at least one humorist, the contemporary scene is one of the most humorless eras in American history.

Most of the current generation probably never heard of Frank Sullivan, Robert Benchley, Ring Lardner, Ronald O'Keefe Stewart or E. B. White. It is a pity. These men contributed humor relief in the 1920s and 1930s.

Where is the like of these men, or of Mark Twain or Artemus Ward—humorists of other periods? It may be true as some have suggested, that Americans have lost their sense of humor.

Sullivan, the 75-year-old humorist, made this point in a recent interview. What humorists do exist, he said, sit on the sidelines because they consider "the times gloomy."

Well, perhaps there is cause for gloom in the world, although the average American family hardly shares most heavily in it. But it was during just such periods of stress in the past that the public was most receptive to humorists.

Could it be that the humorist himself is to blame, or rather what passes for humor today? Sullivan blames the mood of the country, a fatalistic, apathetic mood, for the lack of humor.

But a Mark Twain, a Will Rogers or a Robert Benchley probably would have people laughing—at themselves.

Many of the best humorists were products of poor homes, homes poorer by far than the so-called "deprived" home of today. Sociologists will have to figure out what connection, if any, there is.

In the meantime, what the country may need most is a humorist to cheer up its humorists.

AN IDEA
Dear Mr. Spectator:
Someone ought to do it someday!
When the cheerful person looks up and asks: "Hi there, Jop, how are you?"
You ought to really tell him how you are. You would keep him busy for a few hours and would actually stop him from asking that silly question.

4 Hawaiian Vacations To Be Given Away

The annual Twin Falls Merchants-Times-News free Holiday in Hawaii promotion will begin Thursday when coupons will begin appearing in various advertisements.

As an added attraction this year—the manager of the store in which the winning coupon is deposited, also will receive an expense paid trip for two to Hawaii.

Coupons for the free trip for two to Hawaii must be placed, with the entrant's name, address and city on it, in a receptacle in the store whose name the coupon bears. Entrants must be 18 years of age or older.

Advertisements bearing the coupons will appear in the Times-News Jan. 4 through Jan. 26. Special advertisements bearing the names of all participating merchants will appear Jan. 4, 7, 11, 18, 21 and 24. Coupons on these advertisements are bonuses and the name of the store where deposited must be written in.

This year's Magic Carpet tour to Hawaii is called "Double Magic" since participants are offered their choice of two vacations.

Those who wish to sightsee while in the Islands will go on the Magic of Hawaii Tour and those who are golf enthusiasts will have an opportunity to golf at three world famous courses. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Salisbury will host the tour.

Plenty of free time is available for rest, fun and shopping. The four people traveling on the tickets sponsored by the Twin Falls merchants and the Times-News can go on whichever tour they wish. The whole group will travel together to Hawaii and, when respective tours are complete, will rejoin each other for the trip home.

The winning name will be drawn Jan. 27 and the Hawaii Tour begins Feb. 6 and ends Feb. 15.

The drawings brings to an end a citywide "Million Dollar Days" Jan. 25, 26 and 27. Some stores will have special drawings during the contest for prizes other than the Hawaii trips.

Reasonable facsimiles of the coupon may be deposited, but no reproductions by duplicating devices. Employees of the Times-News and their immediate families are not eligible to enter. Employees of stores, however, are eligible, except in the store where they may be employed.

Man Hit By Ricocheting .22 Bullet

FAIRFIELD — A Twin Falls man was listed in fairly good condition Saturday at St. Benedict's hospital, Jerome, where he was taken Friday after being accidentally shot in the upper right leg.

Idaho State Patrolman Frank Mogensen, who investigated the incident, said Carol O. Edwards, 37, was apparently shot when his nephew, Calvin Edwards, 14, also of Twin Falls, shot at a rabbit that ran between them in brushy area near the Richfield diversion dam in Camas County.

He said the .22 rifle bullet apparently ricocheted off of a willow branch. He was taken to the hospital by young Edwards and the two other members of the hunting party, Cloyce Edwards, Twin Falls, and Conrad Edwards, California.

Classes Planned At T.F. YWCA

Registration for winter classes to be held at the Twin Falls YWCA will begin Jan. 7.

Classes being offered are beginning and advanced bridge, instructed by Mrs. Ada Burgess; art in various mediums, taught by Martha Carlson; folk guitar for adults and high school students, instructed by Wayne Wynkoop; knitting, taught by Mrs. Warren Williams, and morning and evening gymnastics taught by Mrs. Leona Gilbert.

Volleyball will again be held at the Presbyterian Church gym at 9:30 a.m. every Tuesday beginning Jan. 9.

Most of the above mentioned classes will begin the week of Jan. 8.

HOLIDAYS COINCIDE
JERUSALEM (AP) — The Christian New Year, the Jewish Chanukah festival and the Moslem Id el-Fitr, the end of the Ramadan fast, coincided this year. Jerusalem Mayor Teddy Kolk held a reception for hundreds of church leaders, including Arabs from Israeli-occupied East Jerusalem, and foreign diplomats.

ONE OF THE SPOTS which will be visited on the Double Magic Tour of Hawaii this year is the rugged NaPali cliffs of Kauai on the north shore of the Garden Island of the Hawaiian chain. Two free trips to Hawaii will be given during the annual Twin Falls Merchants-Times-News Hawaiian promotion. In addition, for the first time this year, the manager of the store where the winning coupon is deposited, also will receive a free trip for two.

Drug Firms Violate Laws On Antitrust

NEW YORK (AP) — Three major drug firms have been found guilty of antitrust violations in the manufacture and distribution of $1.7 billion worth of antibiotics.

The conspiracy case against the American Cyanamid Co., Bristol Myers Co. and Charles Pfizer and Co. marked a significant confrontation between the U.S. government and the multi-billion-dollar U.S. pharmaceutical industry.

A U.S. District Court jury of 11 men and a woman found the three firms guilty of restraint of trade, conspiracy to monopolize and actual monopoly. The panel returned the verdict Friday night after beginning deliberations Thursday.

Maximum penalties on the charges are fines of $150,000 against each defendant. The convictions also open the way for civil suits for major purchasers. The Sherman Antitrust Act provides for treble damages against violators.

The trial occurred as growing federal involvement in the health field through Medicare and other programs has generated increased concern over the cost and quality of that care.

The drug industry has been undergoing increasing scrutiny by the federal government. Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., has been conducting a wide-ranging probe of drug prices.

Clifford D. Siverd, president of American Cyanamid, expressed surprise and disappointment in the verdict and said the firm would "take all possible steps in the federal courts to have this adverse decision set aside."

A Pfizer spokesman commented, "We disagree with and are deeply disappointed by the verdict of the jury. There are still questions to be ruled upon by the trial court and we shall therefore not comment at this time beyond saying the charges against us in this case are unfounded."

The trial opened Oct. 23. The three firms were accused of entering into arrangements during the period from 1953 to 1961 to produce and distribute broad spectrum antibiotics in violation of the Sherman law.

During the trial the government prosecutor said Pfizer and Cyanamid "realized 'enormous' profits on the antibiotic called tetracycline.

When the cost of manufacturing 100 capsules of the drug ranged from $1.09 to $3.61 for the two companies, he said, each sold the quantity of tetracycline to druggists for $30.00 and the consumer's cost was $31.

In addition to the three firms, the indictment obtained by the Justice Department in 1961 also named the Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp., whose drug making arm is quinop, and the Upjohn Co. as co-conspirators but not defendants.

The prosecutor said the cited companies agreed to limit the manufacture of tetracycline to the three defendants and sale of the drug to the defendants and co-conspirators with all sales by the parties to be at substantially identical prices.

Attorneys for Pfizer held that the drug price was arrived at independently by the firm and was not the result of any conspiracy.

Increase In Medicare Premium Hit

By JACK MILLER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The leader of a nationwide citizens group says increasing the premium for the voluntary part of Medicare means the nation's elderly are "having to pay for the failure of Congress to prevent the escalation of doctors' fees."

"It's disgraceful," said William R. Hutton, executive director of the National Council of Senior Citizens, which claims to be the largest organization of the elderly in the country with 2 million members in 2,000 affiliated clubs.

The increase from $3 to $4 a month, announced Friday and effective April 1, applies to the part of Medicare which pays doctor costs. It was expected. The government contributes an equal monthly amount.

Hutton's group has urged Congress to set limits on doctors' fees under Medicare. But he said in an interview it hasn't been done because "the medical profession has an enormous political influence and Congress is afraid because it needs them (doctors) to run this."

Comment from the American Medical Association on the new rates was not immediately available.

Critics of Medicare say it has a built-in tendency toward higher costs because doctors are free to charge "reasonable and customary" rates.

Administration officials say they have no plans to ask for any form of fee-setting or limitation on fees.

An administration source said one reason it is not now considering fee schedules is that doctor's fees are not expected to rise even as fast as the cost of living next year.

And, he noted, some AMA leaders recently expressed concern about the increase in doctor's fees.

"They know there's a lot of pressure" for a fee schedule, he said.

Hutton and others have argued that rates should be fixed—the way they are, for example, under the Blue Shield private medical insurance plan.

The $4 rate announced by Secretary John W. Gardner of the Department of Health Education and Welfare will remain in effect for the next two years. Gardner said the increase was based on actual costs since the program began July 1, 1966, and on projected costs.

"Officials said one-fourth of the increase was the direct result of the rise in doctors' fees.

Wants Less

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—A retired Memphis fire captain has asked the city Pension Board to lower his pension.

Pension Board members said the request from George Ikard was the first they had received.

Ikard said he receives a city pension of $202 a month, Social Security payments of $44 and a $78.75 soldier's pension. He said his Social Security payment will increase $11 a month and this, with a city pension increase, will put him in a higher income bracket and cause him to lose his soldier's pension.

Ikard asked the board either to cut his city pension by $10 a month or withdraw a recent $25 increase in it.

Pope Grateful For Cease-Fire

VATICAN CITY (AP) — A Vatican spokesman said today Pope Paul VI was "deeply grateful" for the New Year's truce extension announced by South Vietnam.

Word of the extension was rushed to the pontiff in the apostolic palace.

A spokesman in the press office said that "of course the Pope is comforted by this development."

He also said the Pope was still awaiting some reply from Hanoi to his peace appeal of Dec. 22 in which he offered himself as mediator for any peace effort in Vietnam.

Twin Falls Times-News Sunday, Dec. 31, 1967

As word of the truce extension was taken to the Pope, the Vatican released the text of the special peace prayer the pontiff will say Monday to mark the world Day of Peace, he has proclaimed.

Tito Reveals Plans For Purge

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — President Tito said today the Yugoslav Communist party will be purged before the ninth congress of the party scheduled for the end of 1968.

In an interview on Yugoslav television, Tito said decisions of the eighth congress of the Communist party in 1964 "were not carried out strictly and it came to a series of negative appearances which were contrary to decisions of that congress."

He said that before the ninth congress all negative appearances should be eliminated.

"We must prepare the union of Communists in order that it can bring on the ninth congress decisions as regards our interior development. Therefore, we must clean the party of those who have no place in it," he said.

STUDY PLANNED
BOISE (AP)—A study geared toward providing computerized access to traffic records will be conducted by federal and state agencies, Gov. Don Samuel said Friday.

The study, costing $12,600, is to be carried out by a private consulting firm.

The Department of Law Enforcement said Idaho's share of the project cost is $4,854.

EMPLOYEES LISTED
IDAHO FALLS (AP)—The National Reactor Testing Station's permanent work force reached an all-time high of 5,564 this year, a year-end report from the Atomic Energy Commission says.

A lack of new projects resulted in a decline of the construction employment at the NRTS said AEC Idaho Manager W. Ginkel.

Funding for continuing NRTS projects for the fiscal year ending next June 30 is estimated at $18 million and $70.8 million for operations and equipment expenditures. Both figures represent increases.

PROBE URGED
BOISE (AP)—Continual use of present schools should be investigated before Idaho educators get more buildings, a state education task force member told a Boise civic group Friday.

Cal Osborn, Boise, asked: "What's so sacred about a 180-day school year?"

There isn't another business which would let property stand idle three months each year, he said.

Osborn said the system of summer vacations was set up to accommodate a rural population which needed young people's work in the warm season. Farming is becoming less and less a dominant factor, he said.

MARINE KILLED
BOISE (AP)—The death of an 18-year-old Boise marine in Vietnam has been reported by his parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Grim Jr., Boise, said their son Garry L. Gabriel was fatally wounded by mortar shrapnel.

OUTLINE DISTRIBUTED
BOISE (AP)—An enforcement outline for laws governing trucks, snowmobiles and motorcycles has been distributed to Idaho State Police.

Superintendent L. Clark Hand said special attention is given to laws governing truck load, length, and width limits; keeping snowmobiles off public highways and streets; and use of helmets by riders of motorcycles.

A law requiring helmets becomes effective Jan. 1, Hand said.

Mrs. Lockard Dies In T.F.

Mrs. Greita B. Lockard, 69, Route 2, Twin Falls, died Friday night in Magic Valley Memorial Hospital of a long illness. She was born Aug. 18, 1898, at Scottsville, Kan., and came to Twin Falls from Washington in 1951.

She was a member of the Methodist Church. She was married to James E. Lockard on April 8, 1917, at Beloit, Kan. Mr. Lockard died Aug. 29, 1967.

Surviving are a son, James Lockard, Kimberly; four daughters, Mrs. Geraldine Turntine, Bayside, Calif.; Mrs. Dorothy Norris, Hansen; Mrs. Arlene Street, Joplin, Co.; and Mrs. Verda Thomas, Louisville, Ky.; a brother, Arvard Blodgett, Toledo, Ohio; two sisters, Mrs. Ted R. Wood, Forstoria, Ohio, and Mrs. Joe Heidrick, Beloit, Kan.; 12 grandchildren and 8 great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Wednesday in Reynolds Funeral Chapel with the Rev. Dr. Harold N. Nye officiating. Concluding rites will be held at Twin Falls Cemetery. Friends may call Tuesday and Wednesday until 1 p.m. at the chapel.

INVESTMENTS PAY
BOISE (AP)—Investments of idle state funds in short-term government bonds, has returned $765,000 to the Idaho treasury, State Treasurer Marjorie Ruth Moon said Friday.

And more than $1 million more is expected from other bonds as they mature early next year, she added.

The treasurer said she agreed with Idaho Finance Commissioner John D. Silva that state investment laws should be changed to allow funds to be placed in short-term time deposits (savings accounts) at banks.

Silva contended that such deposits could draw greater rates of interest than investment in comparatively low-yield government bonds.

Miss Moon disagreed with Silva's estimate that inability to do so is costing state and local governments $9 to $13 million annually.

She said if laws were changed to allow state time deposits "the difference would not be so much in the interest rate we could earn, but in the place where the investment is made."

COURTHOUSE IS REMODELED AT RUPERT
RUPERT—The auditor's office in the Minidoka County courthouse is getting a much needed facelift.

A partition between the two outer rooms has been removed and a new cement floor put down by Wright Brothers of Rupert.

"Money was approved for the placement of an I beam but when the partition was removed it was discovered that this would not be necessary.

The new cement floor is to be covered with targinal and the whole office has been painted and will be ready for occupancy right after the first of the year.

The office staff has been working in a room across the hall and in the county commissioner's room upstairs.

The bill for the renovation will be approximately $1,700 according to Auditor August Bethke.

FUNDS RELEASED
BOISE (AP)—The Idaho Highway Department said Friday that it was advised that forest highway funds and public land funds withheld since early November have been released for use by states.

Idaho projects affected by the release include the Warren-Wagon Road, the Tip Cup Project east of Wayan and additional paving between Stanley and Lowman on State 21.

The state said it was not yet known just how much money was involved.

AIDE TO TOUR
WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. James A. McClure, R-Idaho, said Friday he was among the House Interior and Insular Affairs Committee members picked to tour the Pacific Trust Territory in the Western Pacific.

The trip will be the first three weeks of January, McClure said.

The territory consists of more than 2,000 islands in an area about the size of the United States and the United States administers it under an agreement with the United Nations.

IDAHOANS REMINDED
BOISE (P)—Idahoans were reminded Friday that no liquor will be sold in Idaho on New Year's Eve, because state law does not allow liquor sales on Sundays.

Liquor Law Enforcement Director Richard L. Cade said that even dispensing liquor at private gatherings—unless in a private home—would be illegal on Sunday.

'Quakes' Listed

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Something wasn't quite right about those last two "earthquakes" in the Denver area. Seismographs throughout the region recorded a minor tremor Thursday, and a smaller tremor was recorded Dec. 22.

But the experts couldn't agree on where it was centered.

Then Prof. John Hollister of the Colorado School of Mines had a hunch: How about that Highway 40 construction?

"Sure enough the 'quakes' turned out to be explosions of TNT. Thursday's was 2,800 pounds and the earlier one 1,800 pounds.

4 Children Are Victims Of Fire

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—Four children were burned to death in a tenement fire late Friday night while two others fled to safety down a fire escape from the third-floor apartment.

Police said the children's mother, Mrs. Lucille Bush, 27, who is separated from her husband, was in a tavern on the first floor of the building when the fire broke out.

A fire captain, John Dugan, was reported in critical condition at a hospital after suffering a heart attack. He was one of the first to enter the bedroom where the children's bodies were found.

The dead children were identified as Ulysses Jr., 6, Arnold, 5, Cora Mae, 4, and Lana Pearl, 1.

'67 Wasn't Best Year For Gem Farmers

By ALLEN M. BAILEY
Associated Press Writer

Spokesmen for Idaho's largest industry—agriculture—say this has not been a particularly good year for farmers, in spite of fairly good weather conditions.

There were some bright spots, however, with fruit production up considerably from 1966 levels and wheat production up a whopping $17 million dollars.

The potato crop in the nation's largest producer of the staple starch item for 1967 was estimated this week by the U.S. Department of Agriculture at 63.9 million hundredweight—or down about $17.6 million from last year's crop, which was worth $118 million.

The 1966 potato crop in Idaho was a "whopper of a crop" according to Clarence White, of the department's statistical reporting service in Boise.

"But we don't hear too many enthusiastic stories this year from potato growers," said Idaho State Grange Master Ermil Jerome, Meridian.

In fact, Idaho potato growers received national attention earlier this year when they gave away potatoes in the Twin Falls area to emphasize their contention that prices were too low.

This fall, the growers announced they planned to plow the smaller potatoes back into the ground, harvesting only the larger potatoes, because handling and harvesting costs of the smaller ones were too high for the market value.

Wheat ranchers have increased their production this year after the acreage allotment for Idaho was raised by 32 per cent, and the value of the crop went up from $58.5 million last year to $78.4 million this year, White said.

Production of such crops as apples, peaches, prunes and sweet and sour cherries was cut back severely in 1966 because of both late spring and early fall hard frost—but this year those crops showed increases of from 30 to more than 200 per cent.

Their values were estimated at $4.5 million for apples; peaches, $848,000; prunes and plums, $2.1 million; sweet cherries, $1.2 million; sour cherries, $265,000.

Third in value among Idaho crops was sugar beets, but an estimate of their production will not be available until next year.

White said they probably would have a value of about $30 million for the 2,946,000 cwt. produced.

A big increase was registered in the value of the alfalfa seed crop—which went from $4.8 million to $6.3 million—because of increased production and higher prices.

The hay crop went down in value this year by about $5.3 million, to $74.3 million. White said, and the barley crop went down less than $1 million, to $23.6 million.

Dry beans produced were worth about $11.9 million and a little less than $1 million below the 1966 crop. Hops also went down.

"I might say that the consumer has been getting a real bargain in prices of goods raised on the farm," Jerome commented.

He said government agricultural price programs are attempts to help consumers by keeping prices down and farmers by subsidizing them so they can sell at low enough prices to compete.

"Many of our items don't seem very cheap when they get to the consumer," Jerome explained—but he said that was because of labor and other expenses in packaging and marketing the goods.

Although the year's wheat crop increased drastically in value, he said, prices generally were down. One reason he gave for depressed prices was the fact that about 80 per cent of the Idaho crop was sold in a 60-day period.

Wheat growers discussed encouraging farmers to provide for more storage of wheat on farms until market conditions are favorable. They can secure loans under government programs to allow them to do so, Jerome said.

Potato farmers weren't the only ones dissatisfied with prices they were receiving this year.

Last spring, dairy farmers in south-central Idaho poured milk in city streets in several towns and into gutters.

Jerome said he feels the dairy industry has a bright future, however, although the number of dairy farmers is now about half that of a few years ago.

"Some of our import problems have been settled, at least for the present," he said. A recent presidential order stopped a flood of french imports, for instance, which was depressing the market.

Quake Recorded

DEBAR, Yugoslavia (AP)—An earthquake toppled many walls Friday night in this Macedonian town which was demolished by quakes a month ago.

People scurried in the streets during the tremors that lasted several seconds and many remained outside for the rest of the cold night.

Wheat growers discussed encouraging farmers to provide for more storage of wheat on farms until market conditions are favorable. They can secure loans under government programs to allow them to do so, Jerome said.

Traditional Kiss Brings In New Year...

Juniorettes Hold Special Assembly Meet

BURLEY—Junior High School Juniorettes held a special assembly recently under the direction of Janice Weed, president. Guest speakers were local college girls.

Speakers included Sally Crane and Darla Turner, both attending Ricks College; Susan Broadhead, Brigham Young University; Diane Shelby, Utah State University, Logan, and Sheila Stocks, Idaho State University, Pocatello.

The college girls discussed their individual campuses and higher education. Each stressed the importance of early planning for college and participation in extra-curricular activities.

Also pointed out were the advantages college students have at meeting people, developing talents and personality. The junior high students were urged to work toward college admittance in their high school years by keeping grades above average.

Learning independence and making decisions are important parts of college and having a goal in life before going to college and selecting a career were also pointed out by the college girls.

Membership in a sorority and standard of dress were also discussed. The five college girls are former members of Juniorettes.

$168 Donated To Ward Fund

ALMO—Approximately $168 was donated to the ward fund from the Almo LDS Ward benefit dinner and carnival held recently at the Cultural Hall.

The Relief Society, which was in charge of the event, had booths containing quilts, aprons, novelties and many other items. Mrs. Gordon Edwards and Mrs. Arthur Taylor were in charge of the booth.

All other ward organizations assisted with the project. The MIA sponsored a homemade candy booth, with Mrs. Zenith Taylor and Mrs. Clark Ward in charge, and a cake and pie walk, directed by Mrs. James Lloyd. The primary was in charge of the children's fish pond. Dart and balloon games were directed by the Sunday School.

Election Held

Members of the Mothers Club of the First Christian Church met at the home of Mrs. Charles Moser for their annual Christmas auction and election of officers.

Officers include Mrs. Keith Jensen, president; Mrs. Robert Lindsey, vice president; Mrs. Garland Metcalf, secretary, and Mrs. Evelyn Carr, treasurer.

The installation is set for Jan. 8 at the church parlor. The devotional service was given by Mrs. Moser, "A Christmas Present." A special prize was won by Mrs. Neal Morrison's mother, Mrs. Albert Gurski.

are normal to everyone, but new to you. You are much too young to be dating "older, more mature boys." And furthermore, you would be wise to postpone kissing until you are older and mature enough to control the consequences.

If, at age 14, you've gone to "second and third base," you had better get out of that league or you'll be known as the "Home-Run Queen" by the time you're 18.

CONFIDENTIAL TO C. B. S. (R.N.): I am well aware that every doctor has treated women who imagine that he is taking more than a professional interest in them. It's usually only wishful thinking. Such women should take a man along when they go to the doctor's office. To protect the doctor!

DEAR ABBY: Altho I'm only 14, I have gone out with boys who are much older and more mature than I am.

My problem is that I am "turned on" very easily. I have high moral standards, but as soon as a boy kisses me, my resistance melts away. At first I thought this was the only reason the guys were taking me out, but girls I've talked to say that some of the guys I went out with were really slow.

What do I do? Kids say I'm cute and I have a good figure. So far I've gone only to "second and third base." I'm afraid I can't stop myself. Is something wrong with me? WORRIED

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for seven months. It's the second time for both of us. I am 63 and my wife claims to be 58, but we keep running into people who knew her back in Fort Dodge, Ia., and they say she's got to be 63. MR. AND MRS. BILL GROVES (Dudley photo)

Kathleen Carr, Bill Groves Recite Vows In T.F. Rites

Kathleen Rae Carr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walker Carr, and Bill Groves, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Groves, all Twin Falls, were united in marriage in rites at the First Christian Church, Twin Falls.

Rev. Donald L. Hoffman officiated at the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with white candelabra holding lighted tapers and flanked by beauty baskets of gold feathered flowers accented with bronze-colored chrysanthemums and white bows.

The bride, escorted by her father, wore a gown of delustered white satin peau de soie, fashioned with a scooped neckline enhanced with lace roses. The gown featured a fitted bodice and long lily point sleeves. The front of the bell skirt was bordered with lace flowers and her bell-shaped wattleau train was fastened at the waistline with a small satin bow.

Her elbow-length veil of double tiered silk illusion net, bordered with six-inch scalloped lace and held by a seed pearl crown, was borrowed from the matron of honor. She carried a cascade bouquet of white shatter carnations centered with her gold feathered corsage and tied with gold velvet ribbon streamers.

The bride carried an old handkerchief belonging to her mother. Her jewelry was a pearl and diamond pendant, a gift from the bridegroom, and pearl drop earrings.

Mrs. Gary Askew served as matron of honor, with Sandra Carr, sister of the bride, as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Dan Anderson, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Ronald Rhodes, friend of the bride.

The bride designed her own gown and those of her attendants, and all were fashioned by Mrs. Elmer Huether, Twin Falls.

Gary Askew, friend of the bridegroom, served as best man, with Bob Groves and Steve Groves, brothers of the bridegroom, and Dan Anderson, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, as ushers. Candlelighters were Ron Carr and Darrell Groves, brothers of the bride and bridegroom.

Mrs. Donald Hoffman played the traditional wedding music and accompanied Mrs. Larry Arma, aunt of the bride, soloist.

A reception was held after the ceremony. Gifts were received by Mary Ann Groves, Debbie Huether, Mike Arma and Kevin

Sorority Sets Meet On Jan. 4

GLENNIS FERRY—Members of Xi Alpha Alpha, Beta Sigma Phi, will meet at 8 p.m. Thursday with Mrs. Tom Hartung for the first get-together of the year. Mrs. Betty Wise is program chairman for the evening and plans to have one of the adult education teachers in the local school discuss and explain how the classes are accepted and what they accomplish locally.

Plans for the queen's luncheon, sponsored by the chapter for the five Elmore County chapters, will be formulated. At this annual luncheon the Valentine queens from all the chapters are introduced. It is held the Sunday prior to the heart fund ball, which is set for Feb. 10.

Mrs. Richard (Cindy) King is Valentine queen for Xi Alpha Alpha, and the other Glennis Ferry chapter, Alpha Delta, has Mrs. Joe (Joan) Woods for its queen this year.

Guild Welcomes New Members

FILER—Three new members were welcomed into Peace Guild Lammers was chosen vice president at the Christmas meeting held in the home of Mrs. Delwin Butterfield. They are Mrs. Ralph Lierman, Mrs. Roland Clindister, and Mrs. Joyce Harding. Mrs. Marvin Ruhter presented the opening devotional service on "Christmas" and Mrs. Butterfield led the topic study. A potluck dinner preceded the business meeting and a gift exchange among members and a baby shower for Mrs. Clindister were highlights. Members made plans to remember shut-ins with Christmas baskets.

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN DEAR ABBY: My husband and I went to his mother's house for Thanksgiving. When we got there, my mother-in-law sent me home to change my dress.

Abby, I was wearing a brand-new dress. It was a "mini." Not a real, real short mini. It hit me about six inches above the knee. I wore a new pair of net hose to match my dress, and I thought I looked very sharp.

My mother-in-law said it was not "appropriate" for a married woman with two children to dress like that. I am 22 years old and am not ready to dress like an old lady yet. I am not fat, either.

My husband didn't even stick up for me. He just said, "I'll run you home so you can change." So he took me home and I put on an old-fashioned thing that came down to my knees. Now I want to know if you think a married woman should dress to please herself or her mother-in-law? ANGRY

DEAR ANGRY: A married woman, if she is wise, will not knowingly dress in a manner which will provoke criticism and disapproval from her mother-in-law. Yours, however, exceeded her authority in demanding that you change. You did the ladylike thing in deferring to her wishes, but in all other circumstances, I say—dress to please yourself.

my furniture, too. None of my friends have ever heard of a husband paying rent to his own wife. Have you? PAYING RENT

DEAR PAYING: Your wife is a "sharp little business woman," all right, and she is giving you the business. I've never heard of a husband paying rent to his wife, either.

DEAR ABBY: Altho I'm only 14, I have gone out with boys who are much older and more mature than I am.

Holiday Party

BURLEY — Cassia Memorial Hospital Employees Association held its annual Christmas party at the Ponderosa Inn, with husbands and wives of members as guests. Mrs. Tom Wildman played dinner background music.

Tom Harris, hospital administrator, was master of ceremonies. Don Norton, president of the association, and June Cole, vice president, made the arrangements.

After a buffet dinner, the Christmas program was presented, including a Christmas musical by Dr. and Mrs. A. Paul Brown, and a skit by Mrs. E. J. Cutler and Mrs. Helen Welch. Bill Ramsey gave a reading; Polly Cargill and Jane Whitesides presented a dance number, and the Pink Ladies Sextet sang a selection.

Music for dancing was furnished by Mr. and Mrs. Wildman.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN CLINTON FAUX
... Buhl, will be honored on their Golden Wedding Anniversary with an open house from 2 to 5 p.m. Jan. 7 at the Buhl Christian Church Fellowship Hall. Mr. and Mrs. Faux were married Jan. 7, 1918, in Twin Falls. They are parents of three children, Howard Faux, Sandpoint, and Mrs. Richard Howard and Mrs. Melvin Reynolds, both Buhl, and have 12 grandchildren. All friends and relatives are invited to the open house. The couple requests no gifts.

Table Setting Demonstration Is Presented

FAIRFIELD—Mrs. Mary Lou Ruby, home demonstration agent, presented "Setting a Pretty Table" at the December meeting of the Prairies Home Demonstration Club.

Mrs. Ruby displayed the correct use of silver, dishes and glassware. She also showed various kinds of tablecloths and placemats to be used as a background and to tie in with the different kinds of dishes. She demonstrated the arranging of various centerpieces for a dining table. She conducted a quiz on table manners.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Loy Vanskilke, with Mr. Lee Daniel as co-hostess.

The next meeting is a potluck dinner in January. Each member is asked to bring a favorite dish and the recipe for it. The recipes will be made into a booklet.

Appreciation Certificate Is Presented

A certificate of appreciation for outstanding cooperation with the American Red Cross blood program was presented to the Twin Falls Jay-Cettes during the December meeting.

Making the presentation were Dale Patterson and Bill Boyd, who are involved in the local Red Cross program.

Another award, from the Easter Seal Society, also was presented for work done on its behalf by the Jay-Cettes unit.

Mrs. Joan McCoy drew the winning ticket for a hamper and articles prepared by the club.

Mrs. Jan Halstead's committee will host a party for the winning committee led by Peggy Morgan.

Candidates for an election to be held in January will be announced by Mrs. Judy Steele, Mrs. JoAnn Wolfe and Mrs. Sylvia Hoyt, members of the nominating committee.

Plans for an orientation meeting are being prepared by Mrs. Charlene Vollmer, Mrs. Twyla Messersmith and Mrs. Wolfe.

Names of secret pals for 1967 were revealed and names for 1968 drawn.

The next meeting will be the annual Rose Banquet at 7:30 p.m. Jan. 9 at the Depot Grill.

Past presidents, Key women and former members will be honored.

Door-To-Door Beauty Shop Project Noted

HAGERMAN — A "Door-to-Door Beauty Shop" was the topic of discussion at the meeting of the Hagerman Chapter of Future Homemakers of America recently.

The purpose of the "beauty shop" is for each FHA girl to participate in assisting women, especially the elderly or shut-ins, shampoo and set their hair. The girls will go to the house of the individual wanting their assistance.

There will be no charge for this service, but donations will not be refused. Posters will be placed in downtown areas informing the women how to contact one of these girls for their services. Susan Brooks, Robin Lemmon and Peggy Hendrickson were appointed chairmen for the project.

A skating party has been scheduled for Jan. 19 depending on the weather. The site of the party was not decided upon.

Joan Berry was appointed chairman for the party.

Susan Brooks, Kelly Strawser, Barbara Laca, Marviena Hays and Cheryl Sandy were appointed in charge of the Christmas decorations for the high school.

Refreshments were served by Susan Gisler and the group sang the birthday song to her in honor of her 16th birthday anniversary.

CLASS FETED
DECLO — The Guardian class members of the Declo Ward MIA were entertained by their teacher, Mrs. Nalon Taylor, at a chili supper held at the church. Gifts were exchanged and a goodwill box was delivered to a family in the ward. A Christmas candle centered the table which was covered with a red holiday cloth.

BETTY HECK

Betty Heck To Wed Williams In Twin Falls

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Heck, Twin Falls, announce the engagement of their daughter, Betty, to Bill Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otis Williams, Shoshone.

Miss Heck, a 1964 graduate of Twin Falls High School, will be graduated in June from Idaho State University with a degree in mathematics education. She is affiliated with Alpha Omicron Pi Sorority.

Mr. Williams, a 1962 Shoshone High School graduate, is also a senior at Idaho State University, majoring in mathematics education also.

A Jan. 29 wedding is planned in Twin Falls.

Janet Lierman, Feiler Say Vows In November Rites

FILER — A gold and white afternoon wedding, Nov. 25 in the Peace Lutheran Church, united in marriage Janet Lynne Lierman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Lierman, and Michael R. Feiler, son of Maj. and Mrs. Robert Feiler, Ft. Bliss, Tex.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. T. D. Johnston before an altar centered with an arrangement of bronze-colored chrysanthemums, gold and yellow pompons and pyrantha. Matching arrangements of gold and bronze-colored flowers adorned the gold candelabra which held white tapers. The family pews were marked with gold satin bows.

The bride, escorted down the aisle by her father, wore a Bridal Original gown of imported rayon organza which featured a crescent waistline, oval neckline enhanced with pearls and lace lily point sleeves. Her long train of Chantilly lace was caught at the shoulders of the gown and buttoned down the back with small satin buttons.

Her shoulder-length veil of imported French tulle was held by a rhinestone and pearl crown. She carried a cascade bouquet of staphanotis centered with a white orchid. She wore a pearl ring, a gift from the bridegroom, and a pearl pendant, borrowed from her grandmother, Mrs. Katherine Held.

Mrs. Neal Allen, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Don Lierman, sister-in-law of the bride, and Patricia Feiler, sister of the bridegroom. Tamara Allen, niece of the bride, was flower girl and carried a gold-colored basket filled with white flowers.

Following an Army tradition, the bridegroom's father served as best man. Don Lierman and Robert Bryson were groomsmen and Dwight Stedmon and Larry Matthesen were ushers.

The candles were lighted by Chad Graves and Brent Lierman.

GLENN'S FERRY — Alpha Delta Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, will meet with Mrs. Claude Egusquiza at 8 p.m. Thursday. The program will be presented by the hostess and Mrs. Gerald Bybee. A white elephant auction will be conducted to raise funds. There will be a start made on plans for the chapter's participation in the Heart Fund dance in February.

GLENN'S FERRY — Mrs. Lorraine Clark will be hostess in her home for the first meeting of the Worthwhile Club at 2 p.m. Jan. 5. Mrs. Richard Kincaid is co-hostess. Mrs. Walter Schumacher, King Hill, will take over as the new president and plans this session as a suggestion time, with the members giving ideas of what they would like to see worked out in programs during the year.

Canton Colfax No. 13 and the Ladies Auxiliary Patriarchs Militant will meet at 8 p.m. Monday in the Twin Falls IOOF Hall. There will be an installation ceremony.

Husbands Are Guests Of WSCS
SHOSHONE — A potluck dinner was served by members of the Methodist Woman's Society of Christian Service for their December meeting. Husbands were guests. The event was held at the Church Fellowship Hall.

Rev. George Nothdurft showed slides of his trip to South America. Hostesses were Mrs. Jack Dunn and Mrs. Wallace Fixsen.

Holiday Dinner Party Held

Amid festive surroundings, the Le Livre et Plume Literary Arts Society members and their husbands met recently at the Depot Grill Caboose Room for a holiday dinner party.

Miniature green and red elves, perched on holly filled sleighs, centered each table. Bookmarks of red felt trimmed with gold braid were given as individual favors.

Mrs. Leonard Holst welcomed the members and guests and Mrs. Dell Timpon presented a review of the humorous book, "The Snake Has All The Lines," by Jean Kerr.

The table centerpieces were given as special prizes to Mrs. Ray Moss, Mrs. Lynn Pettingill and Mrs. Mel VanNoy.

Anniversary Is Observed

WENDELL — The 50th Wedding Anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Estes, Orchard Valley area, was observed recently.

Due to illness, it was impossible to observe the occasion with open house. However, their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Warren (Irene) Tolmie, and family, Caldwell, spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. Estes. Telephone messages came from their family at Bow Island, Canada, Mr. and Mrs. Norvall (Iris) Coffman and Mike, and from their other grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs. Kenny Primmie and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Carlson.

A few friends from Jerome, Wendell and the Valley area called at the Estes home.

Mr. and Mrs. Estes were married Dec. 10, 1917, at Shoshone. They moved to Orchard Valley area in 1919, where they have resided through the years.

ACTIVITIES DISCUSSED
HAGERMAN — Future lessons and activities were discussed at the St. Catherine's Altar Society meeting recently. The group signed a Christmas card to send Mrs. Joseph Ollivier, who is out of town. A Christmas gift exchange was held and hostess, Mrs. Marie Laganan, served refreshments. The next meeting is Jan. 9.

SOME 55 PERSONS attended a chicken dinner get-together at Herrett's Arts and Science Center Wednesday night. Those attending were comprised of members of the center's museum and planetarium staff. Special guests were Mr. and Mrs. Donald Crabtree, a science consultant for Idaho State University and two older members who are now associated with the American missile program, Tony Schneider and Chris Talkington, both formerly of Twin Falls.

Herrett's Science Center Staff, Alumni Have Reunion

Present members and alumni of Herrett's Arts and Science Center, Twin Falls, gathered Wednesday night at the center to enjoy a chicken dinner and to renew old acquaintances. The affair, attended by 55 persons, also drew several special guests, including Mr. and Mrs. Donald Crabtree. Mr. Crabtree is associated with the science department at Idaho State University. Other special guests were Air Force Captain Tony Schneider and Chris Talkington, both of whom are associated with the U.S. missile program.

The main purpose of the gathering, stated Norman Herrett, director of the center, was for old and new members to meet each other and to explain what each is presently doing.

Mr. Herrett, commenting on the success of the event, said, "It was a big moment in the program, a big boost for the program by evaluating what we have done in the past 15 years."

Greetings Given

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet leaders published today coolly proper greetings for the 20th anniversary of Communist Romania, whose relations with the Soviet Union have been strained.

Pravda, the Soviet Communist party newspaper, also carried a reply from Romanian party Secretary-General Nicolae Ceausescu to Soviet congratulations on his recent election as president.

Ceausescu, the driving force behind Romanian efforts to take an independent line from Moscow, said cooperation between the two countries "will constantly develop in the interests of our peoples."

Red-Handed

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The holdup man showed a note Friday to Carole Steger, teller at the Barclay Bank. But he turned and fled when Miss Steger said her cash drawer was locked.

Charles Peddle, the bank's operations officer, followed the man to the California-Canadian Bank and there the note netted $976.

Peddle ran to a nearby traffic officer, who took John D. Hudson, 20, into custody. The $976 was recovered, police said. Hudson was booked for suspicion of bank robbery.

Reduction In Power Rates Is Announced

FAIRFIELD — A rate reduction has been announced for Prairie Power Co-Operative, according to Ralph Gibbon, manager of the office at Fairfield.

Directors of Prairie Power Co-Op at their regular monthly meeting approved a new all-electric heating rate for members of the Co-Op. Mr. Gibbons stated that they had been working with the Rural Electrification Administration for the past several months in obtaining the new rate.

The new rate is at a cost of one cent per kilowatt hour for all service requirements over 600 kilowatts per month. The new rate will become effective on the Jan. 15, 1968, billing period. The new rate will constitute an eight per cent reduction for electric heat in homes on the system, according to Gibbons.

The Prairie Power serves Camas Prairie, Pine and Featherline and homes along the South Boise River north from Anderson Dam.

Illness Blamed

TOKYO (AP) — Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai has indicated that illness has caused the absence, from public view of Chiang Ching, wife of Mao Tse-tung.

The Nov. 8 issue of Canton Wanke Tungsun quoted Chou as saying "arduous struggle has impaired Comrade Chiang Ching's health, but spiritual consolation and inspiration will certainly make up for the loss."

Mao's wife has failed to appear at three important gatherings this month that she would normally attend.

Climbers May Top Grand Teton New Year's Day

MOOSE, Wyo. (AP) — National Park Service rangers say the 17-member climbing team working its way up Grand Teton Peak is ahead of schedule and may attempt final assault on the 13,766 foot mountain Sunday.

Ranger Duane Graf said he talked with expedition leader, Paul Petzoldt of Lander, by radio today and was told "everything looks real good."

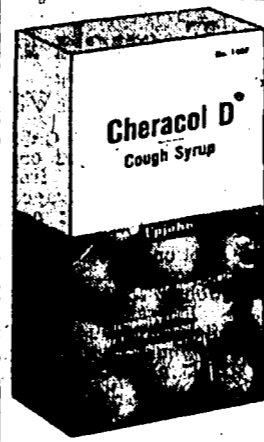

The climbers planned to reach the peak highest in the Teton Range—on New Year's Day.

Petzoldt said the weather was clear, with little wind, and the party would attempt to reach the lower saddle of the peak—about 700 feet from the top—to-night.

Petzoldt said the mountaineers would separate today with 11 going to a hut at the lower saddle. A five or six man team will attack the summit Sunday, weather permitting, and another team would follow if the first group is successful.

The climbers camped Friday night at the Upper Moose Meadows, below timberline and about 9,000 feet elevation.

Anderson's 2 Touchdowns On Punt Returns Lift Blue Past Gray 22-16

By REX THOMAS
MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—All America Dick Anderson of Colorado scored two touchdowns on long punt returns Saturday to give the North a 22-16 victory in the Blue-Gray football game.

The 6-2, 198-pound defensive back from Boulder, Colo., scampered 69 yards for one score in the first period and 62 yards for another touchdown in the final quarter. Anderson's second scoring run almost came to a halt at mid-field, but big McKinley Boston of Minnesota broke him loose with a ferocious block. Anderson himself had wriggled free from two tacklers before he got into the open.

Never before in the 29-year history of the all-star game had any player managed to run more than one punt back for a touchdown.

Green Bay Expected To Set NFL History By Winning Third Title

By JACK HAND
GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—Green Bay's solid old professionals, fresh from an inspired victory over Los Angeles, are favored to make football history against the explosive Dallas Cowboys in Sunday's National Football League title game at Lambeau Field.

Vince Lombardi's battle-tested warriors are shooting for an unprecedented third straight playoff title against a Cowboy team that blew Cleveland out of the Cotton Bowl last Sunday, 52-14 for the Eastern Conference crown.

A sellout crowd of 50,861 is expected to watch in frigid weather while the Packers and Cowboys battle for a winner's share of about $7,800 each and a chance at the $15,000 jackpot in the Super Bowl Jan. 14 at Miami against the American Football League champion.

The game shapes up as a brutal battle up front between the Packers' rebuilt interior line and the Cowboys' Dooomsday Defense that will determine whether Bart Starr can recapture the magic that led Green Bay to a 34-27 victory in a dramatic thriller last Jan. 1 at the Cotton Bowl.

When Dallas has the ball it will be the same type of struggle by Willie Davis and Co. to try to charge past the Cowboys' protective curtain for Dandy Don Meredith, the erratic but often brilliant passer.

Memories of last New Year's Day championship game still are fresh in both camps. Dallas has lived all year with its failure to cash in on a first-down-and-one situation on the Packer two-yard line in the final seconds and the final frustration when Tom Brown intercepted a Meredith pass thrown with Packer Dave Robinson draped around his shoulder.

Idaho Interviews Four Coaches, Lists Five More

Four candidates for the University of Idaho football coaching job were interviewed Friday and Saturday and five more are slated to sit in with the screening committee early this week.

Bob Hayes, billed as the fastest human, caught only one pass in that memorable game when he was shadowed by Green Bay's Bob Jeter and Herb Adlerley. He caught only two when the Packers beat the Cowboys 20-3 in an Aug. 28 exhibition game.

If the Cowboys are to upend the one-touchdown favorites it will be up to Meredith to hit Hayes and Lance Rentzel, the speedy flanker, while establishing ball control on the running of Dan Reeves, Don Perkins and rookie Craig Baynham.

The game will be carried on national television and radio (CBS) at 2 p.m. EST with the Green Bay and Wausau areas backed out on TV.

Wardle Leads Burley Past Skyline 69-61

IDAHO FALLS (AP)—Dimitivue Jay Wardle scored a blistering 28 points Friday night as he paced Burley's undefeated Bobcats to a 69-61 win over Skyline's Grizzlies.

Wardle, along with Greg Bunn, paced the Bobcats in a free scoring second period that gave the visitors an 11 point edge at halftime after holding a one-point lead at the end of the first period.

El Paso Scores Twice In Final Quarter To Drop Mississippi 14-7 In Sun Bowl

By PAT THOMPSON
EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—A vicious defense kept Mississippi in check Saturday until a slumbering offense awoke for two fourth-quarter touchdowns and a 14-7 victory for the University of Texas at El Paso in the Sun Bowl game.

The Miners limited Mississippi to only 109 yards total offense, spotted Ole Miss a 7-0 halftime lead and then flashed their offense," Ole Miss Coach Johnny Vaughn said, "but someone neglected to emphasize their defense to us. Their defense is every bit as good as their offense."

The Miners limited Mississippi to only 109 yards total offense, spotted Ole Miss a 7-0 halftime lead and then flashed back with two last-period touchdowns.

He passed five yards to flanker-back David Karns for the TD, and Jerry Waddles kicked the extra point that gave the Miners a 7-7 tie early in the period.

AAU Americans Post 107-62 Win Over Nationals

BURLEY—Putting seven men in double scoring figures, the AAU Americans ripped the AAU Nationals 107-62 Friday night and their fourth victory in as many meetings.

The Americans seized the lead at the outset and the Nationals never were really in the game. Rogerson Anderson paced the victory with 20 points but Milt Horton added 19, Dale Ewan 17, Examples 16, Tom Moreland 11, Lanny Brower 10 and Lynn Edler 13.

Mel Hine's 15 points paced the losers while Ken Cantrell added 11 more.

East Edges West 16-14 In Shrine Game

Hardy, Williams Spark Strong Eastern Defense

By CHARLES MCMURTRY
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A strong ground game and a defense that completely stifled All-American Gary Beban of UCLA gave the East a 16-14 triumph over the West in the 43rd annual Shrine charity football game Saturday.

The East took a 3-0 first-quarter lead, and was ahead, 9-7 at the half after the teams exchanged 37-yard touchdowns in the second period.

Before a sellout crowd of 48,000 in Candlestick Park, the East went ahead 16-7 in the third period.

Quarterback Gary Davis of Vanderbilt gambled with fourth down and three yards to go but couldn't find a receiver and ran four yards into the end zone.

The West came back with a touchdown in the fourth quarter on Beban's five-yard pass to Phil Odle of Brigham Young, his chief but seldom-hit target all afternoon.

A 28-yard pass to San Diego State's Haven Moses had set it up. Moses caught the earlier West touchdown pass.

The West had started on the East 37-yard line. A 58-yard punt by Bob Lee of University of the Pacific went out on their three-yard line and the East was forced to punt.

Davis and Hardy were voted the game's outstanding offensive and defensive players.

STOPPED for no gain, East quarterback James Raye (16) of Michigan State comes to a halt in the grasp of Neal Starkey (47) of the West on a fourth down situation early in the East-West Shrine classic at San Francisco. The East went on to claim a 16-14 decision as its defense stifled the West. (AP wirephoto)

Sports FROM ALL ANGLES

By LARRY HOVEY
Times-News Sports Editor
With the cold new year dawning the man on the hot spot is Paul Ostyn, athletic director at the University of Idaho.

In filling the position of football coach at the University of Idaho, Coach Ostyn comes out a loser either way because the Boise area Vandal Boosters have another club which is an association of Ed Troxel, coach of Boosters and Paul Ostyn Hat-

On the other end of the state — including the Spokane area — is a group of "Bring In A New Face" Vandal Boosters. And while Ostyn's recommendation will be only one in a series of judgments to be passed along before the Board of trustees approves the final decision, Mr. Ostyn is going to bear the brunt — either way.

The basic matter, of course, is Ed Troxel, the highly successful Borah High School coach who went to Moscow as an assistant coach leaving a Bryn Mawr impression behind him in Boise, complete with water walking ability.

And, of course, Mr. Ostyn left Twin Falls in kinda the same position.

But it was always felt in this area, where he was known best, that the longer he lasted, the more respected he would become. When he spearheaded a drive for new athletic facilities, helped upgrade financial support within the department and stemmed the ebbing caliber of competition evident on future football schedules, he did receive more support.

Now with the Troxel thing he's back on the spot. The big threat is that either way a large rift will develop within the state and the losers will definitely be counted on both sides. The school would be the worst hurt. There is a feeling in belief in the state that Mr. Ostyn does not like Mr. Troxel, going back to the high school days when Mr. Troxel's Borah team belabored Mr. Ostyn's Twin Falls clubs. Not so.

"If the final decision is Ed, I can work 1,000 per cent for and with him," says Mr. Ostyn. "If the decision is someone other than Ed, I will work 1,000 per cent for and with that man."

Eight months ago this column carried remarks by Mr. Ostyn that praised the work done by Mr. Troxel in recruiting.

Conversely, we've never heard Mr. Troxel say anything derogatory about Mr. Ostyn, first or second hand.

"I'll tell you this," Mr. Ostyn told this writer Saturday night, "we have interviewed two people the last two days that have been darned impressive."

He wouldn't elaborate on which two, noting only there were four and one of these was Coach Troxel.

"We still have five more to interview and some of these carry very impressive credentials on paper," he continued.

Kentucky Overcomes Notre Dame

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Sophomore Mike Casey almost single-handedly picked up sixth-ranked Kentucky and carried the Wildcats to an 81-73 basketball victory Saturday night over scrappy Notre Dame.

Casey, who was named the game's most valuable player, scored six points in less than a minute in the closing moments of play to pull Kentucky ahead for only the second time in the game.

The Wildcats' only other lead was 2-1 in the first minute of play on a hook shot by Dan Isel.

When Casey started his one-man scoring drive, Kentucky was trailing 61-60 with 5:43 to play. But Casey scored two straight jump shots and another field goal to put Kentucky into the lead for good.

The 6-foot-4 sophomore poured in 27 points to top Kentucky scoring, followed by Phil Argento with 18 points.

Ice Fishing Opens On 3 Area Lakes

Ice fishing will open Monday on three Magic Valley reservoirs, reminds the Idaho Fish and Game Department.

The department noted all-species fishing will be available at Fish Creek Reservoir north of Carey, Little Wood Reservoir, and Roseworth Reservoir.

Roads into Fish Creek and Little Wood reservoirs are open and should be plowed out to accommodate travel. The department reports there is five inches of snow on top of 15 inches of ice at Fish Creek Reservoir while Little Wood has eight inches of snow on eight inches of ice.

Warm weather and rising water levels have brought about unsafe ice conditions on Roseworth Reservoir and anglers are urged to use extreme caution.

Fishermen are allowed to use as many poles as they can handle but all fish must be taken through the ice. Fishing is not allowed on any open-water areas on any of the reservoirs.

Kimberly Nips Valley In Tourney Finals

HANSEN — An eight-point scoring flurry in the final two minutes carried the Kimberly Bulldogs out of a 53-53 tie and into the Snake River Holiday tournament title with a 61-56 victory over Valley Friday night. Murtaugh belted Hansen 59-37 for consolation honors.

A three-point play by Lynn McMasters followed by points from Larry Rietz, Denny Erickson and Rick Erickson nailed the lid on Kimberly's win over Valley. Kimberly usually held the advantage over the first three quarters but never had more than five points to spare. Getting two straight buckets from Ron Cline in the third quarter, the Vikings moved ahead 32-27 for their biggest edge of the evening but in the final 90 seconds Kimberly rallied back into a 35-35 deadlock.

In the first minute of the fourth quarter it was tied two more times before Kernin, Rietz and McMasters reeled off six points to give Kimberly a 45-39 edge. That lead stretched to nine points at the midpoint of the quarter.

Then Don Meyer flashed to life with some great shooting to put Valley back in the game. He opened with a three-point play, watched teammate Lon Thompson hit two free throws and then hit three straight from the field to fashion the 53-53 deadlock.

McMasters broke that when he converted a three-point shot off a missed Kimberly foul play. Rietz, who was 13 for 15 from the foul line, added two free ones and Denny Erickson connected for two more at the line. Rick Erickson's short jumper shoved the advantage to 61-53 and Kimberly coasted in while Valley got closing points from Meyer and Thompson.

In the final quarter McMasters began pulling away again, paced by Phil Nebecker, who wound up with 24 points in two quarters.

Castleford Edges Dietrich To Take Holiday Tournament

By GARY SNELL
Times-News Sports Writer
DIETRICH — The Castleford Wolves downed the Dietrich Blue Devils 58-54 Friday night to claim first place in the Dietrich Holiday Tournament, while Richfield defeated Brunau 52-47 in the consolation bracket.

In the first game Friday night, the Tigers took an early 9-11 lead, but Brunau, with the help of Mack Bachman and Alan Noble, fought back to tie the score at 25-25 at the end of the first half.

The Wolves, with Bachman and Noble again providing the scoring punch, took a slim 37-36 lead going into the final period as Guy Colyer hit a field goal in the last seconds.

The fourth period was a neck and neck battle until the last minute.

With 50 seconds remaining in the game Ray Trussell tied the score at 47-47, but Rick Hiatt hit his only point of the night and Terry King hit two field goals in the closing seconds to give Richfield the win.

In the championship game the Wolves took a commanding 18-10 lead at the end of the first period, but had to fight off a strong comeback by the Blue Devils to pull out a slim 29-28 lead at the end of the first half.

Dietrich, with the help of Willis Anderson and Randy Lee, pulled to within two points of the Wolves with about five minutes left in the half.

Castleford maintained its lead throughout the fourth period as both teams just matched baskets.

Blanda's Toe May Be Key To AFL Playoff Battle

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — One of the men Coach Wally Lemm of Houston fears most when his Oilers play the Oakland Raiders here Sunday for the American Football League championship and a Super Bowl berth is old man George Blanda, 40.

Blanda quarterbacked the Oilers when they won the 1961 AFL championship for Lemm. His four field goals were the winning margin when the Raiders beat the Oilers at Houston, 19-7, three weeks ago.

"We'll have to prevent the Raiders crossing the 50-yard line," Lemm observed. His team has the best defensive record in the AFL, only 199 points allowed opponents in 14 games. Oakland has yielded 233, second best.

The game, pitting Eastern champion Houston, 9-4-1, against Western king Oakland, with a 13-1 record, will be televised at 5 p.m. EST, with Northern California blacked out.

A sellout crowd of 53,000-plus in the new Oakland Coliseum assures a record gate of $500,000-plus.

There will be a record $864,000 in radio and television receipts. Of the TV-radio money, $345,600 goes into the player benefits and pension fund. The other $518,400 goes into the game funds, of which 38 per cent of the net will go to the winning players: 29 per cent to the losers; 10 per cent to the winning club; and 9 to the loser and 16 per cent to the league.

Each winning player will receive about $6,500, each loser $5,000.

Houston or Oakland led the league in most statistics this season, both offensive and defensive, and had some of the individual leaders.

Oakland's John Rauch is Coach of the Year and quarterback Daryle Lamonica is Most Valuable Player.

Oakland's Blanda is AFL scoring leader with 116 points, every one on place kicks: 20 field goals and 56 conversions.

Lamonica threw the most touchdown passes, 30, and was the leading passer in statistics of 220 of 425 completed for 51.8 per cent and 3,223 yards.

Houston's Zeke Moore is the kickoff return champion, with an average of 28.9 on 14 returns.

Ryun Is World's Best Athlete

LONDON (AP) — Jim Ryun, University of Kansas miler who lowered the world record to 3:51.1 last June, was voted the world's outstanding athlete Saturday in a poll of The Associated Press' European sportswriters.

Billie Jean King, the bouncy Californian who won both the Wimbledon and Forest Hills tennis titles, was rated the No. 1 woman athlete.

Jim Ryun, 23, is a miler who lowered the world record to 3:51.1 last June, was voted the world's outstanding athlete Saturday in a poll of The Associated Press' European sportswriters.

UCLA Shellacks Wyoming 104-71 To Claim Crown In Los Angeles Classic

LOS ANGELES (AP) — UCLA, held in check for the first 15 minutes, cut loose and blasted Wyoming 104-71 Saturday night for its sixth straight Los Angeles Basketball Classic. Iowa, playing its third consecutive overtime game, defeated St. Louis 80-77 for third.

The top-ranked Bruins, meeting their stiffest challenge since their 73-71 opening game victory over Purdue, led only 39-32 before breaking loose for their 42nd straight victory.

After that, they delighted the roaring crowd of 14,918 by outscoring the Cowboys 52-17, until Lew Alcindor, Lynn Shackelford and Mike Warren were removed with 8:11 remaining.

Shackelford, attacking the Cowboys' zone defense with deadly outside shooting, led the scorers with 24 points. Alcindor added 20 and Warren 16.

The victory was UCLA's eighth of the season, and it marked the sixth time the team has scored more than 100 points in a game.

Alcindor was chosen the tournament's most valuable player for the second straight year.

Joining Alcindor on the All-Tournament team were Mike Warren and UCLA's Lucius Allen, Wyoming's Mike Eberle and Sam Williams of Iowa.

In earlier games, Tennessee won fifth place with an 85-66 victory over Utah State and Southern California finished seventh by beating Minnesota 78-65.

Trailing by 15 points in the first half, Iowa overcame the 28-point performance of Rich Niemann, 7-foot-1 St. Louis center who fouled out with 2:31 left in the overtime and his team ahead by one point.

Sam Williams led the Iowa resurgence by scoring 32 points for a three-game tourney total of 87.

Iowa went ahead to stay on a foul shot by senior forward Dick Agnew with 2:10 left in the overtime. A goaltending call on St. Louis' Charles Boyd following a layup by Ron Norman increased the margin to three points, 78-75 and clinched it.

Tennessee, improving its record to 6-1, featured a balanced attack led by 7-foot center Tom Boerwinkle, who had 17 points. Jim Smith led the losers with 21.

The Volunteers, defending Southeastern Conference champions, took command early and never were in danger as they handed the Aggies their fifth defeat against seven victories.

Tennessee moved to a 13-4 lead. After Utah State rattled off the next eight points, the Vols pulled away to stay.

Tennessee's 1-3-1 zone defense pressured Utah State and forced repeated errors.

Ron Taylor, USC's 7-foot junior center, scored a career high of 22 points to lead the Trojans. Guard Al Nunez paced the Gophers with 21 while USC forward Bill Hewitt added 19 to the Trojan victory.

USC raced to a 10-2 lead and was never headed as it lifted its season's record to 6-5. Minnesota is 3-7. But it was Taylor's rebounding that won it for USC.

The Trojans' biggest lead was 77-54 with less than three minutes to play. The Gophers all ready out of it, then closed the gap against USC's reserves.

North Carolina Tops Oregon State 68-61

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Larry Miller scored 33 points, 19 on free throws, Saturday night in leading North Carolina to a 68-61 victory over Oregon State for the championship of the Far West Basketball Classic.

The game was a rugged defensive battle, with five players fouling out and 50 fouls being called.

Miller was named the most valuable player in the tournament. He was the Classic's leading scorer with 84 points in three games.

Vince Fritz of Oregon State scored 23 in the championship game and was picked for the All-Tournament team with Jim McKean of Washington State, Mervin Jackson of Utah, and Miller and Charlie Scott of North Carolina.

In the battle for third place Utah beat Washington State 85-78.

Utah held a 14 point lead late in the second half, but it shrank to six points at intermission. Washington State came back and tied it 38 all, and the Cougars went ahead 42-41 with 17 minutes to go on a jump shot by Lenny Allen.

Jeff Ockel, 6-foot-7 pivot man, scored 21 and Mervin Jackson had 19 for Utah. Ted Wierman led WSU with 18.

Because of the way the tournament was set up, Washington State finished lower than Princeton which they beat in the first round.

The tall Tigers grabbed a 39-32 halftime lead and were never threatened. Senior guard Joe Heiser scored 29 for Princeton. Art Harris led Stanford with 23. Oregon jumped to an 11-3 lead and never trailed, holding a 37-24 halftime advantage.

Texas played without regulars Gary Overbeck, Wayne Doyal and Larry Lake. Overbeck had a shoulder injury. Lake and Doyal were ill with intestinal flu.

Ken Smith led Oregon with 26 points, bringing his tournament total to 61. Billy Arnold led Texas with 20, raising his tournament total to 63.

Vandy Drops Davidson In Sugar Bowl

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — The one-two punch of Bo Wyden and Tom Hagan powered ninth-ranked Vanderbilt to an 80-67 victory over No. 8 Davidson Saturday night for the championship of the Sugar Bowl Basketball Tournament.

Hagan pumped in 26 points and Wyden 23 as the Commodores dumped the Wildcats for the second time this season.

Memphis State beat Michigan State 73-57 in the consolation game.

Davidson, led by Rodney Knowles and Mike Maloy, charged ahead of the Commodores at 40-39, when Vandy put on a scoring spurge.

Wyden netted two straight field goals and Hagan scored two consecutive three-point plays to move Vanderbilt on top by 49-40.

Knowles led Davidson with 20 points while Maloy tallied 18.

The victory gave Vandy a 9-1 season mark. Davidson is now 8-2.

Jumping Allowed Between Leagues

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Professional football has no legal weapon to keep players from jumping between the two major leagues after playing out their options, says commissioner Pete Rozelle.

But both the American and National Football leagues will soon have an arrangement to assure just compensation for the team which loses a player to the other circuit, Rozelle said.

Such an arrangement is already in effect within, but not between, the two leagues.

Rozelle, in Green Bay to check on preparations for Sunday's NFL championship game, spoke at a news conference Friday before flying on to Oakland for the AFL title game there Sunday.

Florida State Erases Halftime Deficit, Ties Penn State 17-17

By RON SPEER JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Sharp-shooting Kim Hammond wiped out a 17-point deficit with a record passing performance and led Florida State to a 17-17 tie with Penn State Saturday in a wild Gator Bowl football game.

The Nittany Lions blew their halftime lead with a wild gamble and a costly fumble after controlling the first half with the help of defensive surprises prepared in 10 days of secret drills and the clutch passing of quarterback Tom Sherman.

But the surging Seminoles came back after Penn State gambled and failed on a fourth and one situation in the third quarter on their own 15.

Hammond tossed a 20-yard scoring strike to All-American end Ron Sellers and when Penn State fumbled away the following kickoff, Hammond capped a 22-yard drive with a one-yard touchdown leap.

Grant Gutherie kicked a 25-yard field goal with 15 seconds left to give the Seminoles a tie, something Florida State Coach Bill Peterson said he would never settle for in a bowl game.

Hammond hit on 37 of 53 passes for 362 yards, shattering Gator Bowl records in all departments, and Sellers hauled in 14 catches for 145 yards with his receptions setting a new standard.

Sherman was erratic but hit when he had to, tossing a nine-yard pass to Jack Curry late in the second quarter and then hitting Ted Kwaliuk with a 12-yard scoring strike just before the half.

The Lions, shuffling their defensive backfield to cope with the Seminole passing attack, kept Florida State off balance in the first half, and got great running from sophomore halfback Charlie Pittman.

The 182-pound speedster gained 105 yards rushing in the first half, but added only 19 in the last two quarters when the Seminoles took charge of the battle played before a record crowd of 68,019.

Penn State gained only 37 yards rushing and did not complete a pass in the second half.

But the Lions kept the Seminoles from scoring a winning touchdown in the final seconds, with defensive back Frank Spaziani knocking a desperation pass out of the grasping hands of Sellers in the end zone with 20 seconds left.

Gutherie then booted his clutch kick despite a chorus of boos from Seminole fans, who earlier in the year watched Florida State settle for a tie against Alabama.

Peterson said on the eve of the game he had no regrets about going for a tie against Alabama in a regular game, but he added, "I'd go to win in a bowl game."

However, with the ball on the 15 and fourth down coming up, he sent in Gutherie for the tying kick.

Washington Huskies overcame a seven-point Texas Tech lead with a late rally and defeated the Red Raiders 76-71 in an inter-sectional basketball game Saturday night.

Pat Woolcock of Washington hit a field goal with 4:56 to play in the game to break a 61-61 tie and gave the Huskies their first lead of the second half. They soon increased it and won going away.

Dave Carr was the leading scorer for Washington with 16 points, followed by George Irvine and Jay Bond with 13 each. Jim Nelson and Vernon Paul led Tech with 15 points each.

The lead changed hands 15 times, 14 in the first half, and the game was tied 19 times. The Huskies were down 39-35 at halftime and fell behind 59-43 with 12:13 to play in the second half after a free throw by Jerry Haggard and two charity tosses by Joe Dobbs as a result of two technical fouls on Washington Coach Mac Duckworth.

Washington got only one more field goal than Tech but built its winning margin at the free throw line, hitting 28 of 34 attempts while the Raiders made 25 of 35. Forty-nine fouls were called.

Oklahoma City Belts BYU In All-College

By BILL LITTLE OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Rich Travis poured in 45 points, including a tournament record of 20 field goals, to lead Oklahoma City University to the championship of the 32nd All-College Basketball Tournament over Brigham Young 91-88, Saturday night.

Travis, the nation's third leading scorer and named the most valuable player in the tourney, hit 29 points in a dramatic second half in which five points was the greatest margin by either team.

OCU is unbeaten in eight games this season.

In the battle for third place, Wally Tinker hit 26 to give Auburn a 76-61 win over Virginia Tech. Fordham won the consolation title 81-70 over Xavier of Ohio.

After a nip-and-tuck battle throughout, Brigham Young took a 76-72 lead with seven minutes remaining. The Chiefs struggled back to tie the game, then went ahead on a basket by Travis 80-78 with 3:55 remaining.

Ron Koper hit four free throws and Ardell England added two to keep the Chiefs ahead in the final seconds.

But Kari Liimo had 29 points for Brigham Young. Randy Schouten had 22 and Marty Lythgoe hit 20.

Fordham held a commanding 41-27 halftime lead, but Xavier had chopped the margin to 71-68 late in the game before the Rams edged away.

Bill Langford, who became the 11th Fordham player to score more than 1,000 points in his career, hit 19 points. Frank McLaughlin scored 20 for Fordham and Bob Quick hit 32 for Xavier.

In a game for seventh place, Idaho State came from behind in the second half to beat Arkansas 77-75. Arkansas had four men in double figures, led by Robert McKenzie's 24 points. Ron Boone had 22 for Idaho State.

Grayson Loses Libel Judgement In Supreme Court

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP) — The Washington State Supreme Court reversed 6-2 Saturday a $175,000 libel judgment granted former University of Washington basketball Coach John Grayson because of an article about him in the Saturday Evening Post.

The court ordered a new trial, saying that Grayson, although not a public official, was a public figure in which the public has a justified and important interest.

The Curtis Publishing Co., publisher of the Post, contended that the U.S. Supreme Court decision prohibiting public officials from collecting damages for nonmalicious statements about their public conduct should apply to Grayson's suit.

The majority opinion, written by Judge Robert Hunter, agreed.

Judge Frank Hale, in a dissenting opinion in which Judge Hugh Rosellini joined, said the courts would "do great mischief to... the long-cherished common-law ambition that for every wrong, there is a remedy" if this doctrine was extended "to every libel case involving persons of prominence."

The suit was based on an article by Al Lightner of Salem, Ore., at the time a basketball referee, as told to a freelance writer, Al Stump. It appeared in the Jan. 5-12, 1963, edition of the Post.

Lightner criticized what he called "basketball bullies, reckless coaches, rowdy players and riotous fans who disgrace our colleges." Grayson was named as an example of "explosive bench behavior."

Four months after the article appeared, the university declined to renew Grayson's contract as head basketball coach. He failed to obtain employment for the 1963-64 season and sued Curtis for $300,000.

The judge in the King County (Seattle) Superior Court trial ruled out the "public official" defense, saying Grayson did not qualify under the U.S. Supreme Court ruling, which was in a case against the New York Times.

The Supreme Court majority rejected Curtis' contention that the article did not charge Grayson with "a crime, moral turpitude, lack of integrity, or incompetence in his chosen profession."

"Considering the article as a whole," the majority said, "We think the statements made therein, with respect to the plaintiff's alleged lack of good sportsmanship, and its effect on others, are of such a character as to charge him with an impropriety necessarily affecting his competence to successfully carry on his career as a university basketball coach."

The court also said the publishing company failed to establish the truth of this article by incontroverted evidence. It said the facts, particularly about Grayson's conduct during a Washington-UCLA game described in the article, were in dispute and properly a matter for the jury to consider.

ECAC Title Is Won By Columbia

NEW YORK (AP) — Sophomore Jim McMillan capped a 20-point second-half spree with 12 straight Columbia points in the closing minutes as the Lions upended St. John's, N.Y., 60-55 Saturday night for the ECAC Holiday Basketball Festival championship.

Louisville trimmed Boston College 81-74 for third place behind the torrid shooting of Jerry King, who hit on all seven of his shots from the floor in the first half.

The Lions, who came into their first Holiday Festival with a three-game losing streak but swept past West Virginia and Louisville into the final, shaded the Redmen in a frantic stretch duel in which McMillan hit on two driving layups, a short jump shot and six pressure free throws.

The 6-foot-5 sharpshooter was named the tournament's most valuable player, following the tight title game. He scored 25 points in the game for a three-game total of 90.

MR. ROBERT R. BRUCE, Twin Falls Librarian, looks over a copy of the book, "Where There's Smoke," presented the library by the author, William R. Filler, standing. The book is Mr. Filler's first novel and is published by Carlton Press. Mr. Filler is a retired Army major, and a resident of Burley. He presented the library with two copies of the book, and the library in turn purchased four additional copies. "We have a good demand for books written by local area authors," said Mr. Bruce. He also said that he had received many favorable comments on the novel from a wide variety of readers. The book, "Where There's Smoke," is about firefighting and lookouts in the High Sierras.

White Water Film Shown At Shoshone

SHOSHONE — A film on "The White Water Trip of 1966" was shown at the Cub Scout pack meeting Thursday night, held at the high school recreation room. Ed Boyd, Twin Falls, Scout executive, was narrator for the film. Between 90 and 100 persons attended the meeting.

The opening ceremony of the flag presentation was by Den 2. There are now four dens with 34 boys registered in Cub Scouts here.

Awards presented went to Billy Ohlinger, a gold arrow and one year pin; Jim Monroe, assistant denner bar, gold and silver arrows and one year pin; Frank Monroe, gold and silver arrow and one year pin; Larry Chapman, silver arrow and one year pin.

Morgan Borden received a denner bar and two silver arrows, Brian Ross, one year pin and bear award; Kevin Dunn, gold arrow and one year pin; Chris Hansen, assistant denner bar, and Alan Chess, a denner bar.

Bobcat awards went to Douglas Oneida, Daniel Stewart, Dennis Edwards, Clint Low and Daniel Magoffin.

No Fire

GLENN'S FERRY—"Where there's smoke there's fire" proved untrue near King Hill Friday noon when a large transport truck from Detroit, Mich., seemed to be enveloped in smoke.

It turned out that the driver of a John F. Ivory Moving and Storage truck had filled up with diesel fuel at Bliss, but the motor was not equipped for diesel, resulting in billows of smoke.

The tank had to be drained and filled with gasoline before the smoke was dispelled.

Engine Burns

GLENN'S FERRY—The engine in a beet truck owned by Daniel Ozuna, Glenn's Ferry, was destroyed by fire Thursday afternoon.

The blaze started in the gas line and by the time and extinguisher could be brought to the scene, the engine was destroyed and some damage resulted to the interior of the cab. The vehicle was parked on a Glenn's Ferry highway district roadway outside the city limits.

The Himalayas: They're Jagged For A Reason - To Keep Men Off

By JAN. A. SAINSBURY, Times-News Feature Editor

From the beginning of time as mountains were made, man has felt the urge to climb them. In the beginning it was to climb nearer the gods. And then it became something to do, because no man had ever done it before. And today when mountains have been tamed by the ropes and pitons of the climber, new faces are sought which have never been climbed before.

Some go to mountains to be close to them, to their beauty, but do not climb. Yet many do; and the thin air seems to fill their lungs with a joy of living and the fulfillment of conquest that air on a valley floor fails to do.

The Asiatic mountain system, over 1,500 miles long, and cutting through Pakistan, Kashmir, India, Tibet, China, Nepal, Sikkim, and Bhutan, comprises the Himalayas, or "abode of snow."

There is something exceptionally romantic, in a traditional sense, about the Himalayas. They cannot be thought of, or for the fortunate, viewed, without some feeling of wonder. Thoughts of expanses of brilliant white neve, still untouched by man and unmarked by the metal spikes of the crampons fitted to the soles of boots stimulate that wonderment.

A feeling of individual adventure surrounds the stories of life and death as men, known only by their names and their deeds, scale a chimney one at a time, each moving in turn to place his full weight on a two inch ridge of age old rock a hundred feet above where the others wait.

But most of us never see such mountains. And most will never climb them. But for those who do the reward is looking down at the beauty of this world from the top of all that is.

On the 20th of October, just over two months ago, Dr. Paul B. Heuston, radiologist, Twin Falls, Idaho, left San Francisco with a party of experienced mountain climbers.

Included in the party was Barry Bishop, on leave as photographer for the National Geographic Society, who was one of the few Americans to climb Mt. Everest in 1963 and spent the night just below the summit. His feet were frozen; his toes were lost.

The group arrived in Tokyo, and spent five days touring Japan. They climbed Mt. Fuji, and then moved on to Bangkok, Thailand, then to Dacca, Pakistan, and on to Katmandu, the capital of Nepal, which lies between India and Tibet. And in northern Nepal the main section of the Himalayas rises in craggy splendor against the stark blue of the Asian sky.

This is where they ended, a place mountain climbers have loved and longed for since man first saw those mountains.

The party spent 30 days hiking and climbing the central Himalayas, and totaled over 225 miles during that time.

They spent considerable time in the region of the Dhaulagiri Mountains, and Annapurna. They spent time in Jonson, a town which is only a two day hike from the Tibetan border, and is as close as an outsider can get under the present relationship with Red China.

The party planned to go to a place called Danbush Pass which is at 17,500 feet and to establish a base camp there to climb Little Tukche Peak, but they ran into an early winter monsoon, and the heavy rain and snow prevented this. They were able to get to 15,000 feet, but no further. Porters helping carry equipment, who were Nepalese and Tibetan could not get through.

The men acting as guides were Sherpas. There were six of them. Three of the Sherpa guides were presented the medals by members of the Himalaya Alpine Club.

The "Tiger" is a special medal presented to a Sherpa who has distinguished himself on a climb in the Himalayas.

The head guide was Nima Dorje, who earned his medal with the Swiss on Dhaulagiri in 1960. Tenzing Nienma earned his medal with an expedition on Everest in 1963 for his work on the West Ridge with Dr. Thomas Hornblin, and Will Unsoeld, who were the first to climb Everest by the West Ridge. The third tiger was Penba Tarke who went above the 28,000-foot level on Everest with the Indian Expedition in 1964.

The party moved on to Annapurna from Danbush Pass, hoping to get to base camp, but again they came on heavy weather and could not get through.

Still the climbs were outstanding. As Dr. Heuston puts it, "We found the country fantastically beautiful. Much of the time was spent hiking in tropical and subtropical foliage, with numerous poisettia shrubs lining paths. We picked limes, lemons, and oranges on our way. And it is utterly amazing to stand at 15,000 feet elevation and to see mountains still rising 13,000 feet around you. The immensity of the peaks is hard to comprehend until you have actually seen them. We even took a charter flight around Mt. Everest, and still they are hard to believe."

The party also visited many religious shrines in the area, and included educational institutions in their tour.

Dr. Heuston, himself, spent considerable time visiting with the radiologist at the United Missions Hospital in Katmandu.

Dr. Heuston reported that the hospital has 135 beds and that the radiologist was at the hospital for a three-year mission. "It was interesting," said Dr. Heuston, "to see the excellent work the man has turned out with the antiquated equipment available at the hospital."

Each night or in the late afternoon Dr. Heuston and two other doctors in the group set up a camp and had sick call for the natives. Word always got around and through the interpretation of the Sherpas the three doctors treated over 300 people during their stay. Several teeth were also extracted during the sessions.

And the sights were always changing.

As the group walked along the Kali Gandaki river they witnessed the cremation of a dead native in ceremonies traditional, and final. The ashes would end up in the Ganges.

Most of the party in which Dr. Heuston was included are members of the Sierra Club, an organization of back packers and mountain climbers whose main interest is the preservation of natural resources and the beauty of nature.

On the third day of December the excitement of the actual climbing, and the exhaustion of the clear crisp air gave way to the sights of San Francisco.

But before the group arrived at the Gate City they had spent time in Calcutta, Hong Kong, Tokyo and Honolulu on their trip home.

Thirty days out of a man's life: 30 days of living.

Ducks And 2 Kimberly Youths Create Situation Comedy Of Confusion Plus

By FRED DODDS, Times-News Staff Writer

This is the story of a duck hunting trip. The most unusual, and probably most unproductive, trip in the history of duck hunting. It is a pursuit of the mighty duck. A story of excitement and danger, fun and frozen toes.

The story is true, the names of the participants have not been changed. It all happened more than 15 years ago during a cold winter weekend.

Duck season had opened weeks before. It was after school on a Friday night and Bill Hahn approached me in the hall at school. "Let's go hunting," he said.

"Okay," I agreed. Hahn, now a biochemist, had a motorcycle then. He promised to stop by my house early the next morning. That night I worked feverishly, borrowing my grandfather's single shot 16-gauge shotgun, conning my dad out of a box of shells, and getting three battered decoys.

Long before dawn the following day, with a large lunch, my equipment and a jug of hot tapioca pudding, I ventured forth into the cold morning to await the arrival of Hahn.

The sound of his arrival preceded him a half mile. Paul Corder, who is sheriff now, I am sure used to cringe whenever he heard Hahn fire up that motorcycle and blaze a loud trail of muffled blast the half mile down the highway to the center of town. Many times Hahn was warned to tone it down by Mr. Corder.

And so it was I heard in the distance the boom-boom-boom. I knew he was coming.

Hahn arrived in a cloud of dust, remarkable for that time of year, and announced in a voice loud enough to wake the neighbors (even loud enough to wake the entire village of Kimberly at that time): "Let's go, Dodds, those ducks won't wait all day." It was 3 a.m.

"Great," I screamed and ran happily to the motorcycle. In a few minutes we had two shotguns, an onion sack filled with lunches and decoys, a heavy pair of boots and the two of us on that one motorcycle. It was cramped and dangerous.

Hahn was just starting to pull away when my dad came running out of the house in his shorts, a blanket wrapped around his shoulders. "Hey you idiots," he screamed.

"What?" "Have you got your duck stamps?" "Our what?" Hahn said. "Our what?" I said.

"Duck stamps," Dad said. It took a while, but dad finally managed to convince us that we would spend the rest of our life in Paul Corder's jail if we didn't get a duck stamp.

Now where can you get a duck stamp in a tiny village at that hour of the morning? Answer. You call up the postmaster and get him out of bed. In Kimberly then the postmaster was a woman. But she had an assistant who was a man, and better yet he was an avid duck hunter.

So we got our duck stamps and were on our way by 5 a.m.

The place we selected was just below the Hansen bridge. There is a trail that leads into the canyon just to the west of the bridge on the south side of the canyon. Parking the motorcycle and packing the equipment over our shoulders, we struggled to the bottom of the canyon arriving just after daylight.

It was a hunter's paradise. Birds by the thousands rose and circled overhead. A cold wind whipped down the canyon, ice formed at the edge of the river.

Soon the sun was well up. Excited beyond imagination, we began firing at the circling birds.

Blam, blam. It sounded like the Korean War, or a pep rally. I fired that single shot 16-gauge like it was a semi-automatic. The barrel began to heat.

Hahn worked the bolt action of his shotgun like a madman. I overdid it. My shotgun refused to open after countless shells had been fired, but not without result. Hahn and I both got a bird at the same time.

They fell from the sky and plopped 25 feet out in the river. "We got some, Dodds. We got some," Hahn ran back and forth, up and down, ranting. I laughed with him.

Hahn then ran around a clump of weeds, yelling still: "Let's get our ducks out of the water." He broke through on the edge of the river and waded out to his waist.

We have to pause shortly to tell the reader that this is no small accomplishment. It must have been near zero that day. And Hahn up to his waist in water. It was the birds that did it.

With Hahn in the water, I ran around the weeds and up an outcropping of rock to get a better view of the water. He was out of sight and all I heard was a loud groan, maybe it was a curse word.

"Hey Dodds," Hahn yelled. "What?"

"These things are pigeons." "I couldn't believe it. Hadn't we seen the birds circling above? Isn't this perfect for ducks? It was beyond belief."

And yet, there was Hahn, up to his waist in water, blue as the barrel of his shotgun, cold and upset, holding a small and quite dead pigeon in his hand. My "duck" also turned out to be a pigeon.

Disappointed, we climbed out of the canyon and shot a jack-rabbit, which we ate over an open fire.

The next day, rested and warm, we tried it again. No more of this Hansen Bridge stuff. We were going to strike out, discover new lands to conquer.

We "discovered" Devil's Corral. No matter it was private land long before we first set foot there.

Devil's Corral is a beautiful little place a few miles below the Twin Falls falls. It is on the north side of the river and hard to get at. Climbing down into the canyon, we had to borrow the Idaho

IN A SUBURB of Katmandu, the capital of Nepal, school children of Batan, listen to a teacher's message.

Power Co. cable car that spans the river below the falls in order to get to the north side. From the cable car it is a short hike into Devil's Corral.

The water there is deep and blue-green and the banks of a small creek are lined with watercress and cattails. The creek is formed by several underground springs. Trout as large as your leg grow in the waters of the creek, and above, still in the canyon, there is a small lake.

It was at this lake, approaching with stealth, that we again found ducks. Carefully we aimed from a spot deep in the cattails. On command, we opened fire. We thought it strange then that the ducks wouldn't fly. They would just quack and flap their wings and scoot over the water until we blasted them.

True, we weren't good sportsmen, but we were excited and had visions of being mighty hunters returning with game slung over our shoulders.

We killed eight and were about to collect them when a voice up on the canyon rim drifted down. "Hey, what're you guys doing?"

"Nothing," Hahn shouted back. "Nothing my..." the man said, then he inquired if we had killed any of the wife's tame ducks.

Two miles later we paused for a moment to catch our breath and to look back to see if we had been followed.

"Man," Hahn gasped. He was prone on the trail in front of me. "Yeh," I agreed.

We started out again, Hahn in front, eager to get across the river and out of the canyon. As we started I began fiddling with my shotgun, visualizing a hoard of ducks rising in front.

"Know what Hahn," I said. "If a duck flew up now I'd... Blooey."

The shotgun in my hands roared and fell to the ground. Hahn grabbed violently at his left ear and toppled to the ground.

"Hahn," I screamed. "Hahn, did I kill you, Hahn?" "No, but you almost did," came the feeble reply.

I helped him to his feet and we staggered to the cable car. Hahn was not hurt, but pulling our way across the river in that car I ran a pulley over my finger. Today I still wear the scar.

Helping each other out of the canyon, Hahn, tired, wanted to take a short cut. Needless to say, he fell about 30 feet, broke his shotgun in half and nearly knocked himself out.

Cursing, we got out of the canyon only to find we had lost the key to Hahn's motorcycle.

Late that night we wandered into Kimberly, tired, defeated and aching. Hahn managed to repair his shotgun. I gave mine back to grandpa.

A few weekends later we managed to shoot a tiny teal duck in the Snake River Canyon. At least I think it was a teal. It could have been a tiny mallard. At least it wasn't a pigeon. We ate that duck, then buried the remains military style. Today, a tiny stone somewhere in the canyon marks the grave.

Hahn and I have never hunted ducks together since that time.

The Money Box

BY FRANK SCHELL

The column continues to receive letters asking about the value of Silver Certificates, although we have attempted to answer in the column, before.

Silver Certificates have been discontinued, and are gradually being withdrawn from circulation. After June 1st of next year, they can no longer be redeemed for silver, although they will still be legal tender. Therefore, if you are going to redeem them for silver, they must be presented to the Treasury Department in Philadelphia, or to the San Francisco Mint, for silver redemption.

Silver dollars are no longer available, but they will be redeemed by the government with silver granules or silver crystals.

The silver which you get from the mint is sold to you at less than market price of the silver, since the government has turned this price loose, therefore, if you redeem silver certificates for silver, it can be sold for more money than the original one dollar which you have in it.

Most dealers are now offering 45 per cent over face value for these silver certificates. If you care to sell them, they, of course, buy silver with them and re-sell it for about 1.89 per dollar. However — uncirculated, crisp new silver certificates have more value than the collector's items, and will in the future appreciate rapidly, since no more are being made. The later dates will not go up too rapidly, but in 10 years' time, they will be worth considerably more than face value.

Old, worn out, crumpled certificates will never be worth much more than face value, and if you have a number of them, it would be to your advantage to trade them for silver at the mint, or sell them and take the 45 per cent premium.

You cannot mail them to the Mint — they must be presented over the counter.

The column will furnish names of dealers who are interested in purchasing them, if you drop us a self-addressed, stamped envelope. We have an interesting letter from a reader who tells us that her son, who is in Thailand, has informed her there is no shortage of United States silver coins in the Orient.

This is a puzzler which I have never found an answer for. It seems to always be true that our money is available in foreign countries when we cannot find it here. Even United States gold coins, which are illegal for us to use, circulate quite frequently overseas.

This reader also asks if silver dollars will be re-called for melting. In this writer's opinion, the government will never recall silver dollars, but may gradually dispose of them by melting as they are turned in. It is doubtful if even a government decree would induce people to turn in such coins. There was much gold held out in 1935 when it was demanded by the government, and it is now on the open market for purchase, although it is not legal tender.

Mrs. G. R. Shoshone, Idaho, writes us requesting prices on French money. She says she has a considerable amount of it. French money is readily available, even back into the 1700's and has very little collector value. A few of the large, silver coins are in demand, and worth quite a bit, but all the minor coins (copper and silver) are worth very little, and modern coins — the last fifty years, or so — are practically worthless.

The column wishes to thank all the readers who have been so generous with tokens, and with their letters this past year. To all of you — A Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year from The Money Box. We hope all of you find a very rare and valuable coin in the coming year.

AS YOUR MINISTER SEES IT

"A World To Live In"

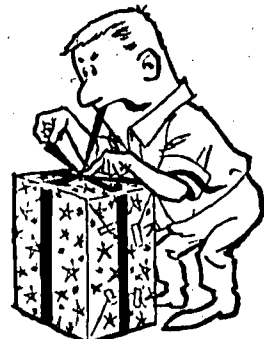

A breakthrough has been made in Charlie Brown's world. And the breakthrough marks the advent on earth of a more materialistic concept of God than we've ever had or seen before. This doesn't go over too well with those who border on spiritualism, or think themselves to be the "good and religious people" of our day. In fact, it never has gone over very well with such. But there it is, nonetheless. God comes in a person. That person is born into the world in the usual manner. His growth takes place through influence of home, school, and what amount of work his father can introduce him to at the shop. There comes the times of great doubting, of working things out as to vocation; he becomes tired, hungry, and at times needs a great deal of understanding. He knows good times and bad. The most terrible comes on a Friday; the most wonderful takes place some three days later.

world. He lives in it — to the full. He uses things of this world to express the love God has for His creation. Clay is used to return sight to a blind man; a coin helps Jesus define church and state, and where our allegiance goes; water is turned into wine, and the best at that; He feeds the five thousand, with food; a Cross is used. And the examples could go on and on. This is the kind of breakthrough God makes in Jesus. Right into this world to live in it and to be a part of it. Sure, it can end for you when the Twelve Days of Christmas come and go. Or, this very secular Jesus can be a part of your secular life each day you face it. That's up to you. God has made his move.

What about you, Charlie Brown? Are you going to keep on saying how bad things are in this naughty world (to borrow phrasing from an English collect); or, will you decide after all to live in it? He did.

TWO YOUNG GERMAN men stopped in Burley recently on a hitch-hiking trip around the world. Walter Singer and Dieter Stempel, both 25, left their home in Munich in August with $1,000 each. Mr. Singer is studying to be an attorney and Mr. Stempel is preparing to be a certified public accountant. From Burley they went to Salt Lake City, Denver and then south to Mexico City. The traveling students planned to visit several South American countries before boarding a boat for Europe.

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

A trip around the world by hitch-hiking is well under way by two young German men who stopped in their travels long enough to spend a night in BURLEY recently.

Walter Singer and Dieter Stempel, both 25, left their homes in Munich in August, each armed with $1,000. Mr. Singer is studying to be an attorney and Mr. Stempel intends to be a certified public accountant.

After leaving Germany they went through Asia and toured Japan before flying to Los Angeles. Then they traveled up the coast to San Francisco, spending a week in California.

The two were headed for Salt Lake City when a couple from Boise picked them up at Lovelock, Nev., and upon hearing the story of their world travels, told them they must see Idaho. When they arrived in Boise, the travelers found themselves facing TV cameras and microphones from the radio station.

After seeing the sights in the state capital they were guests of the couple who had given them a ride.

It was near nightfall when they arrived in Burley so they inquired at the police station if there was a YMCA or Youth Center where they could get lodging. The Burley officers welcomed the pair and offered them hospitality for the night in the city jail.

During their stay in Burley, the travelers declared that while American food is all very good, "American French fries are just hard to top." They also said the United States ranks first, as far as they are concerned, in hospitality with Japan, which they found to be a very progressive country, second.

The men each have a pack of 50 pounds consisting of personal gear, mostly clothes. They dress to fit the climate and the occasion and their wardrobe includes everything from beach clothes to dress attire.

Rupert Man Hurt In Altercation

RUPERT—Floyd Orr, 38, Rupert, was given emergency treatment at Minidoka Memorial Hospital about 7 p.m. Thursday for injuries received in an altercation at a local bar.

He told his attending physician that he had been hit over the head during a fight, possibly by a chain. After he was treated and released, Orr was taken home by Burley police.

He has signed a complaint naming Dometrio Trujillo and Johnny Trujillo, both Rupert, and Burley police were making out the papers against the two Friday afternoon.

From India they traveled through Burma, Thailand and to Malaya where they found an enterprising small country. The people seem to be doing everything possible to better their living conditions and upgrade their country.

The young men visited the war zone in Vietnam, traveling with GI's in jeeps and trucks and staying at the army camps

Trimester Will Begin Jan. 2

ALBION—The winter trimester at Magic Valley Christian College opens Tuesday, Dr. Donald R. Neilson, president, announced Friday.

Most students have pre-registered, but those who have not may complete their registration Tuesday. Local area residents are reminded that MVCC offers a general liberal arts program for the freshman and sophomore years leading to an Associate in Arts degree.

Prospective students are invited to contact Dean Fred J. Waddell at his office in the Administration Business office or call him at 678-2105.

Youths Charged

WENATCHEE, Wash. (AP)—Five youths were charged Friday with malicious destruction of a railroad bridge in connection with a fire that destroyed a Great Northern Railway bridge approach over the Columbia River near here Wednesday.

The misdemeanor charges were filed in nearby East Wenatchee Justice Court. No trial date was set immediately.

Two of those charged are Stan Evenhaus, 19, East Wenatchee, and Stephen Scholer, 18, Wenatchee. Names of the others, all under 18, were not released.

Air Force Sergeant Compares Germany And Twin Falls, As Farming Areas

Tech. Sgt. Tom Jarrett, and his wife Billie, along with two children, came to Idaho for the first time late in August of this year. And along with a general enjoyment of the area, he finds it reminds him greatly of many places in Germany, around the area in which he was stationed.

TECH. SGT. TOM JARRETT

"Friendliness is a big part of it," says Sgt. Jarrett. "Both Sembach Air Base in Germany and Twin Falls are farming communities. They even grow the same crops, with the exception of grapes for wine, which Germany seems to do a bit more of, wouldn't you agree?"

The Jarretts, which includes Mike, who is 6 years old, and Sharon, who is 9, spent considerable time in Germany before coming to Twin Falls. But Tom Jarrett began his Air Force career as a bachelor. He joined the Air Force in 1951 after he completed his education at Abilene Christian College at Abilene, Tex. He went first to Panama, and spent three years there. After his tour of duty there he was transferred to Denver and stayed in the Lowry Technical School for six years. He married his wife during his stay there. Both Tom and Billie Jarrett are from Dallas, Tex.

The couple moved on assignment to Las Vegas for three years, and then went to their overseas assignment to Germany. And from Germany, it was a long trip to Twin Falls.

Sgt. Jarrett had been trained as an administration supervisor in a materials office in Germany, and came to Twin Falls as administrative assistant to the Liaison Office of the Civil Air Patrol.

After coming to Twin Falls one of the outstanding enjoyments the family finds here that they did not enjoy as fully in Germany was access to a large library. The Twin Falls library is a constant source of enjoyment to the Jarrett family.

In addition to what amounts to a hobby of reading, Tom Jarrett has developed skills with the 8mm motion picture camera and has taken many moving pictures of Germany. He has also given talks on Germany in the Twin Falls area, aided by his color slides and motion pictures. Recently he presented his movies along with a talk to students of the Harrison Elementary School who were studying Germany at the time.

"But most of all," says Tech. Sgt. Tom Jarrett, "we find that the people of Twin Falls have accepted us as part of the community, and it is a joy to be here."

Book Review

THE NIGHT OF THE HUNTER

By Davis, Grubb

One of the librarian's great pleasures is the re-discovery of books, books that he read long ago and had forgotten, or books that he had intended to read when they were new but had failed to do so because of forgetfulness or lack of time.

"The Night of the Hunter" was highly praised by book reviewers when it first appeared. Its story served as the basis for a much-lauded motion picture. Yet I somehow failed to read it until a recent day when, in search of another book, I happened to take it from the shelf.

If you are a connoisseur of fine writing, you will find this a beautifully written book with an unusual style. The setting and events are seen through the eyes of the simple people of the West Virginia hills. If you are looking for a good story, you will find that this one builds to a height of suspense and terror that even the most talented blurb-writer could not describe.

The terror starts when Ben Harper, waiting to be hanged, has Preacher as a cell-mate. Preacher has a long trail of murder back of him, but because he is a Preacher and "a man of God," people believe in him and confide in him. Ben confides most of his great secret, but not all, not the final all-important fact. When Preacher is released from prison, he becomes the Hunter, of the book's title, hard on the trail of Ben's secret, that is now the secret of Ben's young son, John.

Everyone believes in Preacher except John who recognizes the Hunter for what he is. No one will believe anything against the Preacher. Willa, the mother, is a victim of the Hunter. John tries desperately to save himself and his little sister, but Pearl, like women of all ages, believes in the Preacher and tells him all she knows about the secret.

After a terrifying escape and pursuit, the children find refuge with old Rachel Cooper, but the Hunter is still on their trail and eventually he finds them. Rachel is their dauntless defender. The blue men finally come to the rescue, and John is at last free from the burden of the secret that his father has left in his care.

The story ends at Christmas. It ends most appropriately with the small boy alone with the fears that remained from the past terrifying days. "I ain't afraid of you!" he whispered to the shadows. "I got a watch that ticks! I got a watch that shines in the dark!" . . . But the night of the hunter was gone forever and the blue men would not come again. And so John pulled the gospel-quilt snug around his ears and fell into a dreamless winter sleep.

Times-News Will Carry Special Series On Medicare And Social Security Rules

Two of the country's best newspaper writers on legislation and Social Security have written the newest and most authoritative book on the extensive new Medicare and Social Security provisions and benefits.

"What You've Got Coming from Medicare and Social Security" is a 96-page, illustrated, easy-to-understand book offered in this area exclusively through the Times-News. The detailed manual is by Bruce Blossat, Washington Correspondent for the Times-News and Newspaper Enterprise Association, and John Troan, authority on Social Security legislation and editor of The Pittsburgh Press.

The first installment of the 15-part series will be in Tuesday's edition of the Times-News. Troan's 1965 book explaining the pilot Social Security and Medicare program sold nearly one million copies.

The 1968 book, which costs only $1 a copy, clearly outlines the benefits, provisions — and costs — of the sweeping new legislation passed in December by Congress.

A 15-part, illustrated newspaper series by Blossat beginning Tuesday in this newspaper, highlights and explains the new changes in the Social Security program. Blossat has been carefully following the legislation through Congress. The book enlarges and expands the information in the series, covering all benefits and eligibility standards for all Social Security and Medicare programs.

Troan started writing on Social Security in 1940. After interesting stints as a wartime combat correspondent, science and medical writer for The Pittsburgh Press, then for Scripps-Howard Newspaper Alliance in Washington, Troan was named editor of The Press. His interest in Social Security has continued throughout the years.

Blossat started in the newspaper business with United Press in Chicago and was editorial columnist for a number of years for Newspaper Enterprise Association before going to the Washington Bureau. He has become an authority on politics, civil rights, economics and legislation.

a way with words

An Old Irish toast: "May you be in heaven a half-hour before the Devil knows you're dead."

Would you like to live by a lake? Possibly a lake-side address? The "Rand McNally Cosmopolitan World Atlas," 1951 Edition, shows a lake in south-central Massachusetts, known as "Lake Chaggogg-agogg-manchauggagogg-chaubuhlagungamaug." Put that on your envelope and mail it.

A million is a thousand thousand; a billion is a thousand million and a trillion is a thousand billion. But what of numbers larger? The only way we can really understand them is to know how many zeros follow the numeral "1." Thus a million has 6 zeros, a billion has 9, and a trillion has 12. But let's go even further.

If there are 33 zeros after the numeral "1," it is a "decillion." Forty-five zeros make it a "quattuordecillion"; and 153 zeros give you a "quinquagintillion." Just think — next time you want to occupy your youngest child, tell him to go off somewhere and count to a quinquagintillion.

Not too many years ago an American mathematician, Edward Kasner, who died in 1955, and who was a professor at Columbia University simplified the word "googol," followed by 100 zeros, by coining the word "googol" to designate it. Otherwise it would have been described as "10 duotrigintillions."

But the man outdid himself. He went a giant step further and declared that the number 1, followed by a googol of zeros, would be called a "googolplex." And so it is.

And by the way if you wish to go the other way it may be interesting to note, that one trillionth of a second is called a "twelfth-second," and one trillionth is a "svedberg." So now you know.

Someone passed the following thought on to this column: "Wouldn't it be nice if Bob Hope could spend next Christmas at home?"

Why is it when a man has a new car and still owes $5,000 on it he feels rich . . . and a man who owns a 1952 clunker and has $5,000 in the bank feels poor? Something's wrong there.

There is a linguistic term that someone other than a linguist originated called "The Bull." And it means, as Coleridge called it, "a mental juxtaposition of incongruous ideas, with the sensation, but not the sense, of connection." They go like this:

"Half the lies our opponents tell about us are not true."

"A man cannot be in two places at once, unless he is a bird."

"This piece is chock full of omissions."

"I marvel at the strength of human weakness."

"The best way to avoid danger is to meet it plump."

"Single misfortunes never come alone."

"The greatest of national calamities is generally followed by one greater."

"The man I am about to introduce is known all over the world, and other places as well."

And finally, "If you don't like it, sit down and get out!"

And, did you hear about the cow that got a divorce? Someone gave her a bum steer.

U.S. Stands By Offer For Border Probe

By SPENCER DAVIS
WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States stood by its offer Friday to bolster the international inspection machinery for the borders of neutral Cambodia. And it gave close scrutiny to an open message from Prince Norodom Sihanouk on the use of his country as a Communist sanctuary.

State Department press officer Robert J. McCloskey said the United States would withhold comment while the text of an interview given by Sihanouk to the Washington Post is being studied. The same word was given out at the Texas White House.

At the same time there were strong indications that Sen. Mike Mansfield, the Senate Democratic leader from Montana, would be asked to represent President Johnson if and when talks are arranged with the mercurial prince in his capital at Phnom Penh.

Sihanouk singled Mansfield out by name, calling him a just and courageous man considered to be a friend of Cambodia who would always be welcome, either as a private visitor or as a representative of Johnson.

Sihanouk's interview with Washington Post correspondent Stanley Karnow said that Cambodia was not an enemy of the United States. He was quoted as saying that if limited combat broke out between American and Vietnamese forces that were both illegally in his country "it goes without saying that we would not intervene militarily."

The prince called for immediate reinforcement of the International Control Commission, made up of Indian, Polish and Canadian representatives. The ICC was created to supervise Cambodian neutrality.

The United States contends that thousands of Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops use Cambodian territory as a sanctuary and base for attacks in Vietnam.

Many West Europeans oppose the Vietnam war, so it would not be hard for a deserter to find friends to help him from the authorities even if the legal loophole is closed.

The loophole would not prevent prosecution of a deserter if he returned to the United States. And it does not offer even temporary comfort to draft dodgers who have not been taken into the forces. But they are protected in the fact that violation of the draft law is not an offense covered by extradition treaties.

OZY OCELOT and Fall, a Lhaso Apso dog, romp playfully. The two get along well together, but a Persian cat, also owned by the Shanes, is a bit dominated by the size of the ocelot. Still the three play together often, and seem to enjoy it.

MR. AND MRS. JERRY SHANE hold a 4½-month-old ocelot. They have named it Ozy Ocelot, and plan to keep it as a pet. The playful animal has had its claws removed; and although ocelots are most comfortable in hot climates, Ozy seems quite at home near the fireplace of the Shane home on 8th Avenue North.

Sihanouk Is Back In Asia Developments

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Prince Norodom Sihanouk, who has a knack of baffling Westerners, is back in the center of the Southeast Asian stage and may hold an important key to developments there in the critical year of 1968.

Voluble, unpredictable and unquestionably revered by the vast majority of the six million people of Cambodia, Sihanouk manages to keep outsiders guessing.

They are guessing now whether Sihanouk, having taken a close look at the possibilities, has decided that Cambodia no longer should provide Viet Cong fighters a refuge from American pursuit.

Much could turn on his decision. Should Sihanouk decide the menace of Vietnamese or Chinese Communism is as great or greater than what he considers to be the menace of the Americans, South Vietnamese and Thais, it could lead to introduction of a new element in the Southeast Asian conflict.

It could mean, for example, a United Nations presence, or bequeathed supervision by the International Control Commission set up in 1954 to oversee the Geneva agreements on Vietnam.

In turn, this could be a first small but significant step toward establishing communication between the contending sides in the Vietnam war.

Prince Norodom Sihanouk Varman, of an old and proud royal line, resents being called mercurial and volatile. But to many Western eyes and ears he seems all of that: one day soft and ingratiating, the next harsh and accusatory. He has opposed the French and wooed them, welcomed the American and rejected them, praised the Communist Chinese and denounced them.

His great ambition, few deny, is complete independence for his nation. In what could be considered a constant battle for national survival, he is viewed by most of his compatriots, and by many a foreigner, as a hero-statesman.

The Khmer kings from whom Sihanouk is descended once ruled a much larger area encompassing parts of what are now Thailand and South Vietnam. Territorial disputes still linger. He appears to consider both the Thais and Vietnamese potentially his worst enemies.

At the same time, his speeches and statements show his distrust of Communists, whether home-grown Cambodian, Viet Cong, North Vietnamese or Chinese.

He has displayed equal distrust of Americans. He broke relations with the United States in 1965, accusing the Central Intelligence Agency of plotting against him.

Though he likes to compose songs, play jazz on a saxophone, make movies and captain a basketball team, the 45-year-old Sihanouk resents any implication that he once was a playboy. His country has blossomed with new schools, hospitals and roads, and with increased production of rice, rubber and other agricultural products.

Gifts: Some Get A Little, Some Get A Lot... But This Man Got An Ocelot

"On the twelfth day of Christmas my true love gave to me — an ocelot!"
"An ocelot?"
"That's right, an ocelot."
"All right; so now you've got it, what are ya going to do with it?"
"I don't know; what are you supposed to do with an ocelot?"
"I don't know either."
"By the way — what's an ocelot?"

In some homes the conversation above might have been real; but not in the Jerry Shane home. Both Jerry and his wife Penny knew they were going to get the ocelot. But how they got it is a story in itself.

An ocelot is essentially a new world cat which ranges from South Texas to South America. Its fur is tawny and is somewhat like a leopard, although the ocelot is much smaller.

And for Mr. and Mrs. Shane it all started as something of a joke.

Mrs. Shane had decided to get her husband, who is not overly fond of having any pet in the house, a Persian cat for Christmas. She was sure the purring effect of a furry white feline would do wonders. But one day when he was questioning her about possible Christmas presents, and after she had already ordered the Persian, she jokingly remarked that she was going to get him an ocelot for Christmas, hoping to throw him off the track of the Persian cat.

But it didn't work that way. Jerry became intrigued with the idea. He got a book on ocelots, and became more and more interested. And soon Penny Shane was so deeply involved with the "joke" about getting Jerry an ocelot, that there was nothing to do but get him an ocelot.

But one just doesn't walk down to the local ocelot store and pick up the furry pet.

Penny began to call her friends asking if they knew of any ocelots for sale. She was directed to the San Diego Zoo, and after a telephone call there proved of no use, she called a friend in San Francisco who suggested she place a call to Florida. She did and the first person she talked to said they wished they had 400 of them to sell. But they didn't.

Finally one was located at the Cincinnati Zoo.

Not an inexpensive pet, the ocelot was welcomed with open and protective arms. Accustomed to living in warm climates, Ozy Ocelot is pampered a bit, and kept quite warm. Its claws have been taken out, and its teeth filed just slightly.

Although a cat, it doesn't walk as the traditional house cat does, but more like a leopard, or tiger, with long stalk, stretching steps.

It is a beautiful animal, and an unusual Christmas present.

Desertions From American Forces Are Few Despite Antiwar Feelings

By CARL HARTMAN
BRUSSELS (AP) — Desertions from American forces in Europe have been few, military authorities say, despite feelings against the Vietnam war and a sizable loophole in the agreement that requires European nations to return deserters.

U.S. Army headquarters in Europe listed 335 men away without official leave on Nov. 1 out of 225,000, including 46 deserters to Eastern Europe. The Air Force says it has had no deserters in Europe for more than three years.

The Army says volunteers for Vietnam service are increasing, with 10,500 registered up to mid-August, compared with 14,000 for the whole of 1966.

More has been heard about deserters in Britain than anywhere else. In London the "Committee of 100" distributes leaflets urging American soldiers to desert or refuse to serve in Vietnam. A spokesman claimed that the number of those who do so is increasing, but he gave no figures.

Two young Americans in London—Harry Pinkus, 24, of New York City and Joel Gladstone, 27, of Teaneck, N.J.—have launched a drive to encourage American youths abroad to resist the draft. They took an ad in a London newspaper and the country where they are stationed, their presence in a second country is not "in connection with their official duties." So they are not, strictly speaking, any longer members of an allied force.

There has been no confirmation by the Dutch government but there seems to be little to prevent an American soldier in Germany from getting pass for a short leave in Holland and then staying there. The bulk of U.S. forces is in Germany.

RULE TO END

LONDON (AP) — The new year will mark the end in Britain of the rule of abstinence under which Roman Catholics may not eat meat on Fridays, a spokesman for John Cardinal Heenan has announced. The rule will be replaced by voluntary acts of self-denial, he said.

News Of Record

MINDOKA COUNTY State Police Blotter

At 1:15 a.m. Sunday a 1962 Ford driven by Ronald David Eppers, 21, 29 Palms, Calif., hit the rear of a 1961 Ford Falcon driven by Joyce Robbins, 44, Heyburn, demolishing it and damaging the car in the amount of $850. Mrs. Robbins was proceeding north and slowed down before entering the Heyburn road as it was slick. Eppers was unable to stop in time to avoid the collision and struck the Robbins vehicle causing it to hit the bridge railing.

A 1968 Volkswagen left the road on Interstate 80 North at 3:45 p.m. Sunday when the driver, Allan Dowd, 21, Helena, Mont., apparently dozed at the wheel. It rolled one and a half times coming to rest on the top. Damages were estimated at $2,000.

Probate Court

Three brothers, James, Tim and Joe McKnight, Paul, were arraigned Thursday on charges of first degree burglary. They were remanded to custody of the sheriff in lieu of $500 bond. They are charged with burglaries committed earlier this month at Hadden's Barber shop and Jay's Foodtown both at Paul. Some of the stolen goods was found in an apartment in Paul where the boys are living.

The court has appointed an attorney to represent the brothers as well as a juvenile who is involved also.

LYNCH

Coast Guard Cadet 2.C. Thomas R. Lynch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin J. Lynch of 729 Greenwood Drive, has completed the first semester of his junior year at the Coast Guard Academy at New London, Conn. He will begin his second semester at the academy following the Christmas holidays. The curriculum at the academy is designed to provide the potential officer with the best possible education to aid him in any of the positions in which he may find himself after graduation. When the cadet completes his four years at the academy he will be awarded a Bachelor of Science degree and granted a commission as an ensign in the Coast Guard.

Melvin W. Pelley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert S. Pelley, Richfield, was promoted to Army private, pay grade E-2, upon completion of basic training at Ft. Dix, N.J., recently. The promotion was awarded two months earlier than is customary under an Army policy providing incentive for outstanding trainees. Pvt. Pelley received a B.A. degree in 1966 from the College of Idaho at Caldwell.

Pvt. Steven D. Davis, 21, is home from Army Medical Training Center at Fort Sam Houston, Tex. Pvt. Davis, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Davis, Rt. 3, Twin Falls, is on Christmas leave and will report back to the Texas base Jan. 2.

Army Pfc. Curtis G. Hansen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alton E. Hansen, Burley, has arrived in Vietnam with the 101st Airborne Division. Pvt. Hansen is a military policeman in the division's 101st Military Police Company.

Ask Them Yourself

FOR STATE REP.

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER IV

When did you first become interested in West Virginia politics? What prompted this interest?

—Margaret M. Brooks, Squire, W. Va.

● I came to West Virginia in 1964 as a consultant to President Johnson's Commission on Juvenile Delinquency. I became interested in antipoverty work and joined the Action for Appalachian Youth Program as a field worker. I ran in the race for the state house of representatives on the Democratic ticket because I felt that political action is the most effective way to solve today's problems and that the great public decisions are made through politics.

FOR JACQUELINE SUSANN

Is it true that the prototypes for the three girls in your novel, "Valley of the Dolls" were Grace Kelly, Marilyn Monroe, and Judy Garland?—Ethel Hamilton, Atlantic City, N. J.

● No. The girls in the book were all composites. I have known many famous actresses in my years in the theater and on tv. Most writers draw certain characteristics from different people—assemble them, create their own being, their own looks, and out comes a character. That's how I came up with the characters Jennifer, Anne, and Neely. (They will be played by Sharon Tate, Barbara Parkins, and Patty Duke in the movie version.)

FOR CHET HUNTLEY

When you broadcast the Vietnam casualty report every Thursday, is the number of enemy dead estimated or confirmed?

—Joseph Gyssek, Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

● The Vietnam casualty figures we broadcast are the confirmed figures.

FOR PATTI PAGE

What did you give up to be a success? Was it worth it?—T. X., Kankakee, Ill.

● Initially I gave up an art scholarship to a top college. Then when success really set in, I gave up my private life. I never had a moment for myself. I couldn't even find time to marry the man I loved. I changed everything the day I discovered the price of success was far too high to pay. I have since married and have limited myself to three months a year working on the road—never consecutively. Why? Because I have two children to raise, a husband to care for, and the ordinary chores that a big house requires.

FOR LORNE GREENE of "Bonanza"

Do you have any sons, and, if so, what do they do?—Mrs. Richard Fagre, Provo, Utah

● I have one son, Charles, who is now traveling through Canada, gathering material for a book for tourists on inexpensive ways to visit that country.

FOR MAX COLWELL, manager of the Tournament of Roses.

What has been the biggest headache in your 45-year association with the Rose Bowl?—E. G., Stanford, Conn.

● In 1923 Navy was to play Washington, and Navy took 15,000 tickets. Then two Navy "gold braids" got into a feud, and one, an admiral, sailed his Pacific fleet out on "maneuvers" on Dec. 31. That left the other one holding 15,000 unsold tickets—and the Navy facing a financial fiasco. Luckily, the University of Washington was able to sell the tickets at the last minute—and tie the game, 14-14.

FOR CAROLYN JONES

Do you ever get nervous when you are about to perform? If so, what do you do about it?—D. B., Waco, Texas

● Many years ago I discovered that yoga exercises were valuable in helping me to relax. The breathing exercises are especially good for relaxation.

FOR JIM TAYLOR,

New Orleans Saints. Would you consider weight-lifting a helpful exercise for football?—J. Sercia, Monterey, Calif.

● Definitely. A controlled weight-lifting program not only builds up strength but also is instrumental in developing stamina. Some of the greatest strides in sports today can be attributed to advancements in weight-lifting. I know that much of my success is due to such a program.

WHAT IN THE WORLD!

Men's Fashion Note Last year if anyone turned up at your New Year's formal without a black tie, you'd have called him a slob. This year you may have to let him in. Turtlenecks worn with dinner jackets are the latest thing in men's formal wear. Robert Kennedy, Johnny Carson, Lord Snowden, Noel Harrison, and Charles Robb are some turtleneck converts—and even Amy Vanderbilt has given the fad her etiquette okay.

Noel Harrison in formal

an inflatable manlike figure designed to discourage stick-ups and pick-ups.

Sweet News Scare rumors have been flying that artificial sweeteners are a health hazard. The Food and Drug Administration now reports, "No such evidence." So back on your diets, everyone!

Curtain Time The Grand Ole Opry in Nashville, Tenn., the "Palace" of country music, is getting a new stage curtain, which means that Opry lovers will have a chance for the memento of a lifetime. A three-inch snip of the Glamour Girl Some of today's big stars wander around in jeans but not Sandra Dee. She drives about in a Rolls-Royce, and the last time she counted, she had 14 fur coats. (She doesn't count stoles and such.) Still, she's practical about her luxuries. "On the full-length coats," she explains, "the bottoms zip off to change from evening length to mini."

Refurred Sandra Dee

old curtain will be included in a limited-edition record album, "Stars of the Grand Ole Opry." Last year they did the same thing with bits of the curtain from that other opera, the old Metropolitan in New York.

Virtue Rewarded The cost of charity may be less than you think. According to tax tables, if you're the head of the household and have a taxable income of $12,000, then a $100 donation costs you only $73. The Government pays the rest by reducing the amount of your income tax.

Power of a Lie A group of researchers strode into the Oak School in South San Francisco, Calif., brief cases bulging with "phony" intelligence tests. They gave the tests, then picked 20 percent of the pupils at random and lied about them, telling their teachers that these students could be expected to spurt ahead. In one first-grade class, the children who had been lied about gained 24.8 IQ points more than their classmates. The teacher hadn't spent extra time with these children, but her attitude had shown them that she thought highly of them. Her expectations were based on a lie—but the lie worked!

What the Seers Predict for 1968

By BRAD STEIGER Author of "Strange Powers of Prophecy," "We Have Lived Before," and "ESP—Your Sixth Sense"

NEW YEAR'S Eve. The time when we look wistfully backward—and anxiously forward. What will happen to us in 1968?

Of course, nobody can be sure, but parapsychologists do believe that some persons indeed have the unique ability to predict the future.

The experts, of course, give no credence to phony fortunetellers, palm readers, stargazers, and spiritualists. But in the case of select "seers," the evidence is overwhelming: they have been uncannily accurate in their forecasts.

FAMILY WEEKLY asked a number of world-famous seers to predict what 1968 has to offer, and they have come up with some startling pronouncements. Right or wrong, only time will tell—but here's what they say we can expect:

JOHN PENDRAGON

John Pendragon, England's remarkable seer, is regarded by many to be the most gifted prophet and clairvoyant of our time. His forecasts consistently have proved to be 85-to-90 percent accurate.

In print and as much as one year in advance of the actual occurrence, Pendragon predicted Pres. John F. Kennedy's assassination, the retirement of Nikita Khrushchev, the detonation of Red China's atomic bomb, Lyndon B. Johnson's election and his operation, the New Orleans investigation of the "plot" to kill Kennedy, the Middle-East crisis, Russian Premier Alexei Kosygin's visit to the U.N., and the recent illness of Pope Paul.

Among the events which Pendragon forecasts for the coming year are:

- The sudden death of a duke, which will require a postmortem and an inquest.
- Two princes will have trouble with their health, one so seriously that his condition will make headlines.
- The beginning of a coalition government in Great Britain which will be, in effect, a dictatorship by 1975, whether the Royalty remains there or not.

• A French doctor or scientist will make a remarkable discovery which will lead to a greater understanding of the cause and cure of certain malignant conditions of the body. He will be rejected by Britain, but America will accept and extend his theories.

• Russian Premier Kosygin will withdraw from office owing to pressures within the Kremlin. It will be announced that he is retiring for reasons of health.

• The war in Vietnam will continue with unabated fury for many more months.

• Japan will become a great thorn in the side of China and of communism in general. Closer links will be established among Japan, the U.S., and Great Britain.

• There are great pressures building up within President Johnson which will undermine his health, perhaps rather suddenly. There will be an increasing opposition from his detractors, both with regard to Vietnam policy and home affairs. The death of a close personal associate also will affect him in his private life.

• There will be an archaeological discovery of some importance in northern Texas, probably on the border of New Mexico, in the vicinity of the panhandle city of Amarillo.

• Severe earth tremors and floods may cause a number of casualties in San Francisco.

R. C. "DOC" ANDERSON

R. C. "Doc" Anderson of Rossville, Ga., gained fame as a prophet by predicting Pres. Franklin D. Roosevelt's death, the detonation of the first atomic bomb, the election of President Eisenhower, and the dates for the end of fighting in both theaters of World War II.

For 1968, "Doc" Anderson offers these interesting predictions:

- George Wallace will be elected the next President of the United States, and his victory will be a greater upset than that of Harry Truman's in 1948.

• Within two years the U.S. and Russia will be allied in a war against Red China.

• There will be more riots in our cities, but a law will be passed to stop such violent outbreaks of lawlessness.

• Israel will prevail, although there will be continued trouble in the Middle East.

• A cure for cancer will be announced soon.

MALVA DEE

"The amazing Canadian psychic" is the name earned by Malva Dee, the seeress of "Enchanted Acres" in the Haliburton Highlands of West Guilford, Ontario. She predicted in print the death of Sir Winston Churchill, the Watts riots in Los Angeles, and the Munsinger affair, which scandalized Canadian government circles.

She agrees with John Pendragon that there are "... pressures around President Johnson which will take him from the public eye."

Among her other glimpses of 1968, she sees:

• There will be no major outbreak in the Cold War which will trigger a nuclear war. There will be the usual rumors flying back and forth, however, and some minor incidents will occur. But due to the coming U.S. election, there will be a "hands off" policy enforced by the Russians.

• India will face a time of peril, as fire will ravage a large city. Other nations will lend a helping hand.

• New Orleans, Cleveland, Houston, Memphis, and Los Angeles will be in the headlines as racial trouble spots.

• Disension may be felt between Canada and the United States over water rights. A plan will be drawn up and will be rejected by Canada as being totally unsuitable. An alternate agreement will be reached.

• A noted member of the British Royal family will die.

U.S.-Russia at war with Red China! A cure for cancer!
Peace gestures from Hanoi! These are some startling
New Year's forecasts from world-renowned predictors

- A new approach to skin-grafting will be developed. Medical research will also release a drug which will have a freezing action on diseased portions of a person's body.
- A new food from the sea will be produced in a very palatable form and will be widely accepted by consumers.
- Women's skirts will become longer; square-toed shoes will remain popular.
- The Mississippi Valley will be deluged by a great flood this spring.
- There will be many reported sightings of UFOs, and a flying saucer will crash-land in an unpopulated area.

PAUL TWITCHELL

Paul Twitchell is the world's leading authority on eckankar, the ancient science of soul travel. As a young man, Twitchell journeyed to Tibet in the company of his stepsister to seek out the masters who use soul travel to heal and to predict the future. He has set up spiritual centers for eckankar across the nation.

Twitchell foresees:

- A serious schism in the Catholic Church will develop during the fall and winter months. The fight between Church liberals and conservatives will grow into a battle of such proportions that the Vatican will try to close the gap by placing restrictions on both sides.
- Chiang Kai-shek will be in the news again with an attempted invasion of the Red Chinese mainland.
- Earthquakes will rock Alaska during the early summer. Quakes will also be felt on the West Coast of the U.S., but the damage will be relatively minor.
- One of the leading soft-drink firms will make an announcement that it has perfected a nicotine-free cigarette.
- A split in the ruling group in Hanoi will bring about an objective peace gesture during the middle of the year. The peace overture will be brought about because of the waning interest of Russia in supporting the North Vietnamese with military goods.

- A new type missile will be announced by the Defense Department early in the year. It will be an answer to Soviet Russia's new program for a similar weapon.
- Former Gov. George Wallace of Alabama will make a strong race for the Presidency on an independent ticket. The only thing that will defeat him will be a lack of strength among the business people who will be afraid to change the political scene.
- Premier Kosygin will be out of office by the end of '68.
- Prime Minister Indira Gandhi of India will hand in her resignation by the end of the year. Trouble will mount so fast and so heavily that the country will turn against her. There will be confrontations with the Chinese.

JAMES CAMERON

James Cameron of Scotland is a famed reader of tarot cards (playing cards with checkered backs, used for fortunetelling). He foresees some friendly relations coming with Russia. "Some pleasant things will be said about the U.S. in Moscow, and a high-ranking Russian official will visit America in late summer," he says.

Among his other forecasts, Cameron predicts:

- An international incident will be caused by the attack on an American vessel by the Red Chinese.
- America and Russia will have a common disagreement with Red China.
- Castro will be suspected of having a hand in a governmental change in a small South American republic that will establish an apparently Communist regime.
- There will be legislation in the U.S. to ban the supply of certain drugs. But, regrettably, a hitherto unknown plant will yield what at first will seem to be a mild narcotic. It will turn out to be an insidious new source of drug addiction.

- There will be a large number of well-authenticated sightings of UFOs, but governments will continue to be reluctant to authenticate these reports.
- In late summer, an important scientific discovery will be announced when a distinguished professor will describe his latest findings in the field of solar research.

DOROTHY
SPENCE LAUER

Dorothy Spence Lauer is one of America's most amazing clairvoyants. Her column has appeared in Search magazine for 15 years.

A resident of Glendora, Calif., Mrs. Lauer has possessed a high degree of ESP since her youth. "My mother gave me some very sound advice." She said: "Live normally, and don't let this gift rule you—you rule it!"

Mrs. Lauer agrees with the other seers in predicting that the Vietnam war will be a "long, hard pull." She also foresees:

- A new drug for cancer which will be slow-working, but will point the way to a cure.
- New and better birth control.
- A startling announcement from FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover.
- A major change in the Roman Catholic church that will rock the nation when it is made public. The Pope will be hailed as having made a correct decision.
- The remarkable show of the Russians at the Olympics. Sweden and Canada also will be strong. The U.S. will win an outstanding victory if a certain young man tries his best.

Resolved

With 1968 at hand,
 These resolutions I have planned:
 Start diet, give up sweets and bread.
 Turn off tv and read instead.
 Prepare a budget, make it stick.
 Explore the new arithmetic.
 Walk the dog when it is raining.
 Pay the bills without complaining.
 You like them, dear? I'm glad you do.
 It just so happens they're all for you:

NEW
X-300 DISSOLVES RUST!

■ NO MORE SCRAPING! ■ NO MORE WIREBRUSHING!
 ■ NO MORE SAND BLASTING!

We developed Naval Formula X-300 for big jobs — dissolving rust and scale from steel ships, bridges, etc. Now you can use it on small jobs too — renewing rusty tools, fences, bikes, auto bodies, gates, boilers, you-name-it.

EASY TO USE
 Just brush Naval Formula X-300 onto rusty surface or apply with a rag. It is very tacky and sticks to anything, even ceilings. And it won't stiffen, evaporate or flow away, regardless of temperature. Let it stand a while — then flush or hose it off, and the rust will be off too. Naval Formula X-300 dissolves many times its weight in rust!

PREVENTS FURTHER RUST
 Surface is not only rust-free. It leaves a thin rust-inhibiting film that you can paint over, or leave as is. With Naval Formula X-300, you can save those rusty tools and toys you were going to throw out... restore rusty fences, gates, machinery to look like new... and save hours of backbreaking work to boot.

REMOVES RUST STAINS
 And, as an added bonus, Naval Formula X-300 removes stubborn rust stains from stone, concrete, ceramic or vinyl tile, terrazzo, linoleum, clothing... and even pitting from aluminum!

NON-FLAMMABLE • NO FUMES • NO DANGER

NAVAL FORMULA X-300 has a mild, pleasant aroma. No noxious fumes or acid smell. Non-flammable. No skills required to apply. Used extensively on: Ships and Boats • Gates • Tools • Fences • Gates • Boilers • Pipes • Scaffolding • Railings • Metal Stairs • Roofing • Structural Steel • Oil Drums • Machine Parts • Autos and Trucks • Bicycles • Railroad Equipment • Plows • Garden Tools • Sprinklers • Water Tanks • Metal Doors • Chains • Escapes • Tractors • Bulldozers • Cranes

FAMILY WEEKLY COOKBOOK

Colorful Punches

MELANIE DE PROFT Food Editor

Clove-studded oranges and lemons float in Cinnamon-Citrus Cider, and mince-meat-filled cookies complement this aromatic, spicy drink.

■ Here is a collection of the punches that have become favorites with FAMILY WEEKLY readers.

Cinnamon-Citrus Cider

Stud 3 oranges and 3 lemons with whole cloves until well covered. Put into a shallow baking dish. Set in a 325° F. oven for 1 hour. Put 4 qts. apple cider and twelve 2- to 3-in. cinnamon sticks into a saucepan. Cover; bring to boiling and simmer about 1 hr., or until of desired cinnamon flavor. Remove cinnamon just before ready to serve. Using one or more drops green food coloring, tint to desired color. When ready to serve, transfer oranges and lemons to a heat-resistant punch bowl; prick peel thoroughly with a fork. Pour hot cider over fruit. Ladle into punch cups.
About 4 qts. punch

Spiced Lemon Tea Punch

3 cups freshly boiling water
6 tea bags or 6 rounded tea-spoons black tea
3 2-in. cinnamon sticks
12 to 16 whole cloves
2 to 3 teaspoons grated lemon peel
1 cup sugar
1/4 to 1 cup lemon juice
6 cups freshly boiling water
2 2-in. pieces crystallized ginger, cut lengthwise in halves

1. Pour 3 cups boiling water over tea. Add cinnamon sticks, cloves, and lemon peel. Allow to steep for 5 minutes.
2. Remove tea bags; add sugar and stir until dissolved. Strain. Return cinnamon sticks to the tea. Add lemon juice, 6 cups boiling water, and ginger pieces; stir to blend. Ladle hot punch into serving cups.
About 2 1/2 qts. punch

Imperial Punch

1 1/2 cups orange juice
3/4 cup unsweetened pineapple juice
1/4 cup lemon juice
1/4 cup lime juice
1/4 cup grenadine
1/2 cup sugar
3 cups chilled ginger ale
1 cup chilled sparkling water

1. Blend the first six ingredients; stir until sugar is completely dissolved. Chill thoroughly.
2. When ready to serve, pour fruit juice mixture into a punch bowl. Add the ginger ale and sparkling water; stir gently to blend.
3. Float a tinted ice block, if desired.
About 2 qts. punch

Hot Buttered Cranberry Punch

2 cups water
4 cups fresh cranberries, rinsed
1 1/2 cups water
3/4 cup lightly packed brown sugar
1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon ground allspice
1/4 teaspoon ground cloves
1/8 teaspoon ground nutmeg
1 teaspoon salt
1 can (1 pt. 2 fl. oz.) unsweetened pineapple juice
Butter or margarine

1. Bring the 2 cups water to boiling in a saucepan. Add cranberries and cook, uncovered, without stirring 5 min., or until skins pop.
2. Force cranberries through a food mill or sieve to make a purée.
3. Meanwhile, bring to boiling in a saucepan the 1 1/2 cups water, brown sugar, spices, and salt.
4. Add the cranberry purée and pineapple juice. Return to heat and simmer 5 minutes. Keep hot over simmering water until serving.
5. Ladle punch into serving cups or mugs and add dots of butter or margarine to each cup. Serve with cinnamon stick stirrers, if desired.
About 1 1/2 qts. punch

Four-Fruit Refresher

4 cups apple juice
2 cups cranberry juice cocktail
2 cups orange juice
1/4 cup lemon juice
2 teaspoons vanilla extract
1/4 cup sugar
2 cups chilled ginger ale

1. Blend the first six ingredients; stir until sugar is completely dissolved. Chill thoroughly.
2. When ready to serve, pour fruit juice mixture into a punch bowl, add ginger ale, and stir gently to blend.
About 2 1/2 qts. punch

EDITORS' NOTE: Bob Crewe knows what's happening in music because, as one of the nation's leading record producers, it's his job to make it happen. As writer, arranger, and producer for top recording stars, he captures the beat of the times so successfully that in the past 10 years he has sold some 100 million records. Occasionally he emerges from behind the scenes to record such hits as "Music to Watch Girls By" with his own group, the Bob Crewe Generation.

Rock 'n' roll is dead. Finished. More and more, it becomes blasphemy to call the new sounds—the sounds of 1968—by that worn-out name.

Rock 'n' roll began as a boom-boom-boom, a primitive beat set to simple lyrics. "Pimple music," they called it then. It's grown up now.

The beat has become clarified, the lyrics are evolving into poetry. Encrusted with ideas and inventions, pop music is now borrowing musical influences from other times and countries.

Beatle George Harrison grabs a sitar, and raga-rock is born. If you listen closely to a Supremes record, you'll hear classical Tchaikovsky changes. Tune in to the acid-rock of Moby Grape or Jefferson Airplane and you're caught up in free-wheeling sounds. Pop music has turned into a selective, electronic form where anything goes, where everything that has ever happened in music is bubbling into a new sound, an art form.

All of this has happened at amazing speed. Remember, it was only 1963 when the Beatles hit our shores with a simple, basic yah-yah-yah beat. The amplified guitar and superloud drumbeat buried the lyrics, often on purpose. The idea was to wrap yourself up in the sound and go dancing.

Today, though, the lyrics come up strong, and people are listening. Adults who shuddered at "I wanna hold your hand," applauded the poignant words of the Beatles' "Eleanor Rigby."

It's still the teenybopper who makes a pop star, who dares to buy a new record because she likes it, not because someone has told her it's "in." But today she's a scout for her big sisters. She bounces off the new sound waves, and the older people pick up on them. "I can't stand rock 'n' roll," the older generation still says, "but I love that 'Sgt. Pepper' album, or 'Aretha Franklin,' or 'The Mamas and the Papas.'"

In 1967 they heard pop music splinter into many different sounds. There was the folk-rock of Simon and Garfunkel, Bob Dylan, and Donovan, the raga-rock started by the Beatles and quickly picked up by the Byrds and the Yardbirds. There was the soul music of James Brown and Mitch Ryder, the good-time sounds of the Mamas and the Papas and the Lovin' Spoonful. From San Francisco come psychedelic or acid-rock by groups like the Grateful Dead.

All of this should come together in one super-sound in 1968. Folk, rhythm and blues, soul, all of these influences will remain strong. You'll still catch the sitar in the background, used as the Beatles do, for sound effect. But the one-chord Indian music, the monotony of the oriental drum, will wear itself out. The music reflects the way the Orientals think, in one straight, continuous line, but the Western ear demands more diversity.

Coming through strongest in this intricate new tapestry of sounds will be the direct influence of church music. It is no longer the wailing, stomping, blues sound of Negro gospel. Now we are hearing the influences of medieval and classical church music, the purity of line of an "Ave Maria," the intricacy of Beethoven and Brahms.

What has happened is that a generation rebelled against the music of its parents. But a generation rebels in the same crablike motion as an individual. With one outward movement, you push away the old standard values.

Yet another movement impels you toward them, if only to investigate, disprove, and then reject. The danger is that the rebellion will backfire and the old values will ring true, after all.

Today the young people wind flowers in their hair and bells around their necks; they dress up in bizarre costumes that proclaim their rebellion against the older generation and the traditional beliefs. But listen closely. You can almost hear them singing "Onward, Christian Soldiers"—with a rock beat. It's their own version, of course, but try fitting the old words of a hymn to today's music. You'll see it works. Try listening to the words. They're about love, about honesty. They wail in the dark for people of the world to care, please care, about each other.

The new sound in 1968 will be a combination of soul-searching lyrics and complex, chromatic harmonies. With no disrespect intended, it could be called "Vatican Rock."

It will be played by performers who will be more polished and professional than we have seen in pop music for some time. The audience today is a demanding one, and the most fickle we have ever known. They don't amble into a record shop and, as their parents did, casually ask for so-and-so's new record. Today heroes come and go; a performer is only as good as his last hit record.

The audience will make an overnight sensation of a Bobbie Gentry, then topple her into obscurity if her second record isn't as good as "Ode to Billie Jo." Only a group with the inventive genius of the Beatles can stay on top for long.

They'll still be up there in 1968. So will the Doors, Beach Boys, Four Seasons, and Supremes. This will be Mitch Ryder's year to come into his own. It will be a crucial year for the Rolling Stones, a testing year for Janis Ian, who has shown flashes of brilliance. And it will be a memorable year for an unknown group who will come out of the blue with the right sound at the right time.

Today's audience will not buy anyone who tries to rhyme moon with June; they're looking for someone who will tell it like it is. The right sound for 1968 will be the sound of honesty. ♣

DAVID HEMMINGS: Can Marriage Humble This Egotist?

David and Gayle in Ankara.

I FIRST MET David Hemmings in Ankara, Turkey, during location shooting for his latest film, United Artists' "The Charge of the Light Brigade." I wanted to find out how his overnight success (as the photographer in "Blow-Up") had affected this reportedly brash, conceited young man.

"Success hasn't changed me in the least," he said off-handedly. "I was a precocious child, and I'm still self-centered and egotistical. People don't change; they become more of whatever they were to start with. The only difference is that I'm less hypocritical about my conceit than others."

Hemmings readily admits that he has a double standard of behavior. At work he is on time, dependable, and easygoing. In his private life, he is the direct opposite—he can't even keep an appointment when he's the host.

He recalled a birthday party he threw in Hollywood for Vanessa Redgrave, his costar in "Blow-Up," "Camelot," and "The Charge of the Light Brigade." At the appointed time, 40 guests turned up only to find that their host had left for London a few hours before.

"Vanessa understood, but some of the guests were pretty sore," he explains. "I didn't want to hurt anyone's feelings. I'm absent-minded."

Apparently someone has learned to take him as he is—23-year-old actress Gayle Hunnicutt of Fort Worth, Texas. Gayle met Hemmings at a Thanksgiving party in Peter Lawford's beach house.

"I was just getting out of the pool, and he was coming toward me," Gayle says. "I was simply fascinated by his face."

David married her a short time ago in Italy and is determined to "make sure it'll last this time." His first marriage to actress Jennis Lewis ended in divorce early in 1966.

"Gayle is good for me," he explains. "I've never been able to make friends easily because I've always thought the only way to live is to live selfishly. Gayle has changed that some. I get along with people better now."

Hemmings credits his brashness and conceit to his entrance into show business as a nine-year-old singer. He toured Europe with a British opera company for five years, but this career came to an end when his voice broke. "At that age I hadn't developed tolerance," he says.

After his stint with the opera company, David returned to school in England but soon found that he couldn't take the discipline and decided to leave. His parents objected, so he left home, too. He then enrolled at the Epsom School of Art, where he nurtured his natural talent for painting.

Hemmings also has a much different attitude toward the press than most actors. When Gayle returned to Turkey after six weeks in Hollywood, for example, David's first move was not to make a date with her—instead, he saw a reporter who had flown in from London. "When the public reads your name 10 times, they're likely to remember you," he states.

Next to acting, David is most involved in painting. In fact, the paintings he did while at Epsom Art School gave him security until he got his break in films. "Doesn't matter, though," he says. "Money means nothing to me. I had too much when I was little. I get about $250,000 for this film, but it'll probably all be gone before I leave Turkey."

David tried to analyze why he is such a spendthrift. "It's part of my guilt complex, based on my conscious lack of responsibility toward my parents. They were never in favor of my career and never understood me."

"I feel guilty about not having made more of an effort myself," he adds. "In a way, I never really grew up. Having been thrust into an adult world as a child, I could never do without adulation. I always looked at myself too much; I was too set in my ways and became quite inflexible. I have to be the center of attention. But I hope to change for Gayle's sake."

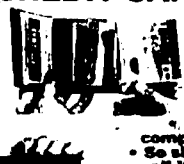

True, David Hemmings has a tremendous streak of selfishness, but marriage might well topple his towering egotism. —Peer J. Oppenheimer

ELECTRIC SOCKS

For cozy foot comfort on cold days

These brand-new Electric Socks are the most convenient, most comfortable you've ever seen. Operate from a tiny battery that fits into a pouch strapped around the top of the socks. This does away with bulky batteries that have to be strapped around your waist. These socks are comfortable, easy-to-wear. And they work just as effectively as the old type. Batteries heat just as long. They keep you warm and comfortable in any weather!

Everyone who spends time in the outdoors in winter loves them. Football fans, ice fishermen, hunters, hikers—or people who just can't seem to keep their toes warm. These guarantee solid comfort no matter how icy the ground gets—or how cold the weather!

They operate like small electric blankets, with a specially-designed heating element that gives steady, constant heat. Socks, too, are heavyweight—warm in themselves! Battery can be disconnected instantly when you don't need heating, is easily removed for washing. Give size needed (small, medium, large). Special knit stretches to fit snugly, comfortably. Terrific bargain at only $7.95 a pair, plus 50c PP & Hdlg. #715.

Custom fit for any dress you make guaranteed on this precision adjusting form—or no cost!

Aristocrat of Dress Forms

A professional precision adjustment form (DuPont Neoprene) gives body material great flexing and holding power.

- "dial" your measurements into size computer—clip lock—form becomes YOU.
- Adjusts to regular, half sizes... many variations: 8 to 20 (also model 24 to 50).
- Each shoulder raises, lowers. Each bust expands, contracts, raises, lowers.
- Waist narrows, widens, shortens, lengthens. Hips widen, narrow, raise, lower.
- Entire form gains, reduces with you—adjusts to other family members.
- Strong steel stand—and form—take apart easily—stow away in drawer.

If you're without a dress form—just trying this one (at our risk) can change your life.

This form guarantees a custom-fit expensive look to each dress you alter or make—or no cost. Yet it saves you money so fast it often pays for itself the first or second time used.

This custom fit form saves hours adjusting patterns and fitting cloths—up to 50% of sewing time, it saves struggling, twisting, turning—trying to get the right fit. It saves ripping out seams for a simple alteration, or just because your skirt didn't hang properly the first time.

It's perfect for beginners. Here is why all of this is so.

THE SECRET OF CUSTOM FIT

Would you like every dress you alter or make priced for its custom-fit expensive look? While you smile—inside—at the money and time you've saved—at the end of embarrassment of poor fit "home-made" clothes—or the success of your first dress-making attempt.

The secret is custom adjusting of standard patterns to your differences (there's only one you). When you pin the pattern to an exact duplicate of you; this adjusting is simple and easy.

And this custom-fit life-size dress form becomes—exactly YOU—with YOUR waist—YOUR shoulders—YOUR neck—YOUR bust line—YOUR hips.

This is because in each body area an ingenious size computer "dials" your measurements. A Tab (like a tape measure) slides through a slot under the area answer window. When your measurements appear in each window, just clip lock in position. Automatically the DUPONT NEOPRENE processed body material has already adjusted—in each body area—to become YOU! Custom adjusting of patterns to you has become as easy as before it was difficult.

A LIFE-SAVER FOR BEGINNERS

Because the hardest part of home sewing is making adjustments—exactly what ADJUST-O-MATIC makes so simple.

With it beginners easily make hems—adjust hemlines—make alterations so perfectly, store-bought clothes fit like made-to-order. You save the $3 to $5 paid before to fix a shoulder line—shorten a hem—take in a waist line. You're more satisfied with the way your clothes fit.

Fitting in this form is so easy you quickly form old dresses into new. Too tight or too loose—too large or too small dresses fit again. You easily alter, redesign, remodel your own dresses, coats, skirts, blouses. You begin to make your own simple dresses then more complicated ones. Later, you even design your own styles, and all on this form.

DOES MORE THAN ANY OTHER FORM

This master pattern-maker's form has every possible professional dressmaker trick and short cut built right into it.

It's unlike any other form. To adjust there's no maze of wire and bolts to struggle with. Simply slide, adjust and clip lock. It's pinnable—throughout! No gaps down front or side or around neck give difficulty.

Scientifically placed guide lines let you know when your dress is perfectly centered on the form.

The light steel stand is so adjustable, raises or lowers precisely to any point 4" 2" to 5" 6" (add length of your head from neck up to measurements of any form). It's handsome, rubber-tipped, gives steady support. It assembles, takes apart easily.

Luigi Cella's lifetime—as master pattern maker for VOGUE—McCALL's and others—is built into this form.

All his life—Luigi has designed dress forms—some of the world's most expensive—to give custom fit to the very rich. But Luigi built this custom fit dress form for you—to adjust more precisely than any other—do many dressmaker tricks others can't—yet cost a fraction of what others do.

Work with this form anywhere. Lap, table, chair. Want to work on shoulders—back—underarm seam—front—waist—hips? Presto! One hand lifts form off stand. Without ever getting up from your chair you can take ADJUST-O-MATIC apart and work in sections.

Every adjustment—each contour line—the height range—the angle of the darts—posture angle of the form—all have been checked and rechecked by fashion fit leaders, home dress-making authorities and fashion editors.

AMAZING NO RISK OFFER

Instead of bulky, heavy cast-iron framing and body, ADJUST-O-MATIC uses DUPONT NEOPRENE processed body material. Shipped direct to you disassembled it costs a fraction of ordinary forms. There are several parts to each section—only 15 in all. To assemble, adjust or take apart each step is simple and fun with clear can't-go-wrong directions.

When you try it for 30 days without obligation you'll realize why it's so amazing. Full refund if not delighted.

All ADJUST-O-MATIC costs is $5.49 yet it has many features dress forms costing six times more do not have. Try at our risk. Reserve yours today.

Americans work harder than any other people on earth to make adequate financial provision for their families after they are gone—BUT much of their hard-earned money is wasted, siphoned off by a scandalous probate system before it ever reaches their loved ones

NORMAN F. DACEY

Why Haven't You and Your Family Been Told These Facts?

- On average, it takes one to five years to close out an estate. During that time your spouse can draw a pitifully-small "widow's allowance" but your children can't draw a cent.
- It costs three to ten times as much proportionately to settle a poor man's estate as that of a millionaire.
- Under the existing probate system, complete strangers may share your estate with your family.

But, in the next 60 seconds I will tell you of an astonishingly simple way to transfer absolutely everything you now own to your loved ones after your death without delay, without red tape and without the excessive probate costs which your estate may otherwise be called upon to bear.

If you don't take the steps I suggest, my advice to you is "Don't die," because complications will start the moment you do. Your estate will come under the jurisdiction of a special court. Sometimes called the "orphans," "chancery" or "surrogate" court, its most common name is "probate" court. If you've left no will, it will dictate one for you in accordance with your state's law which won't necessarily read as you would wish. Now your children can start their long one-to-five-year wait to get what is left of their inheritance after the appraiser fees, executor or administrator fees and probate court costs are deducted.

THE UGLY SIDE OF PROBATE

Senator Robert F. Kennedy recently charged that courts handling probate are "shot through with scandal, scandal that has been documented over the years."

Fiorello LaGuardia called the probate system "the most expensive undertaking establishment in the world." The New York Herald-Tribune editorially denounced those "clubhouse lawyers" who "profit to the extent of one million dollars annually in fees, many taken, at a large percentage, from small guardianships where every dollar is needed." The Bridgeport Post called the probate system a "grave train." An article in the Journal of the American Bar Association called the Connecticut probate system "one of the most viciously corrupt."

Probate judges on average are the highest paid judges in America. Many of them work on percentage and may earn more than the governors of their states. The income of one judge was 20% higher than that of the Chief Justice in Washington.

The clerk of a Chicago probate court appointed 691 "special guardians" in a nine-month period. One of his friends got 76 guardianships—an average of two a week. A probate judge has reported that 90% of the appraisers appointed by a probate court perform no service whatever for the fee they receive. Many conscientious members of the bar are worried about the corruption built into our probate system but most lack the courage to speak out.

It is up to you to do something to help yourself. Sooner or later some of your own family's money will be involved. Don't wait and let your family and your children face this problem. Learn now how to avoid the probate system.

THE MAGIC KEY TO AVOID PROBATE

How can you give your loved ones the very maximum estate in the very minimum time after you have gone? By avoiding probate. Yes, virtually everything you now own can be quickly and easily transferred to your heirs after your death—and exactly as you specify, without any red tape, without publicity, without strangers meddling in your affairs and draining off the financial security you worked so hard to build for your family.

You can achieve all this very simply by a method which few laymen know about called an "inter vivos" or "living" trust. Indeed, only a small proportion of lawyers fully understand its use—the American Bar Association has just issued a training film to be shown to local bar associations to educate them on its advantages.

Even the manufacture of this book is extraordinary. It is not even printed on regular book paper. Norman F. Dacey has insisted that it be printed on the highest quality bond paper suitable for the important legal forms it contains (and which you will be able to fill in), so that these will last over one hundred years.

It's amazingly simple: Let's assume that you own a piece of real estate which you wish to leave to your wife at your death. In a simple "declaration of trust" you say in part: "I declare that I am holding this property in trust for my wife. Upon my death my successor trustee is to turn the property over to the beneficiary and terminate this trust. I hereby appoint as successor trustee the beneficiary hereunder." Upon your death, your wife, acting in her capacity as successor trustee, simply turns the property over to herself as beneficiary. She is then immediately the complete and absolute owner of the property. That's all there is to it—no executor's fees, no appraiser's fees, no probate court cost. No one-to-five-year wait. No piece in the paper telling all your business.

VITAL IF YOU OWN A SMALL BUSINESS

Passing on a small business, incorporated or unincorporated, to relatives or employees is extremely important. If necessary, your business can be quickly sold by the beneficiary-trustee if that is your and their wish. Otherwise, it could be tied up in probate court for years. A distress sale under probate procedures may produce little or nothing... may even create obligations. With an "inter vivos" trust, your successor trustee can quietly, privately and immediately investigate possible buyers... then take his time to make the deal that will give your family the very maximum, with no undesirable publicity to harm the sale.

tee can quietly, privately and immediately investigate possible buyers... then take his time to make the deal that will give your family the very maximum, with no undesirable publicity to harm the sale.

WHY THIS BOOK IS AMERICA'S NO. 1 BEST SELLER

I wrote this book to tell a few friends and clients how to avoid probate. They told their friends... and now it has zoomed to the top of the best-seller list because Americans everywhere are discovering that it frees them from the bondage of the iniquitous probate system.

In it you will find an explanation of why it is vitally important to you and your family that you avoid probate. Next, you'll find the actual trust instruments needed to exempt your home or other real estate, your savings or checking account, your stocks, your mutual fund shares, your small unincorporated business, your close corporation... even your personal effects such as jewelry, antiques, paintings, etc.

With each instrument are instructions that even a school child can understand, and a picture of how the instrument should look when it is completed. All of the instruments are specially perforated for easy removal from the book and actual use.

In addition, you'll find precise advice on a wide range of family financial planning decisions which you are called upon to make on matters of life insurance, taxes, investments and the like... the very things you and I would talk about if we sat down in your own home to discuss your financial estate problems.

LOADED WITH TAX-SAVING IDEAS, TOO

I'll show you a special way to give support to an elderly relative or to a growing child. I'll show you how you and the beneficiary can gain valuable tax benefits. I'll show you how to make gifts to charity to take effect at your death—but give you important tax benefits this year. I'll even tell you exactly what you do if you change your mind about any of the trust arrangements or want to change a beneficiary and provide necessary forms.

WHAT DOES ALL THIS MEAN?

It means that you're going to learn how to make the money you earn safer and more productive, you're going to pass it on to your family at your death with a minimum of wear and tear from taxes — and you're going to avoid completely the up-to-10% or 20% cost, the one-to-five year delay and the unwelcome

PUBLISHER'S NOTE

Your own lawyer may not like this man because of his courageous fight against the probate system. (On the other hand, he might be one of those enlightened lawyers who will positively agree with Mr. Dacey's fight.) But in a hundred books and articles, in more than than 500 broadcasts, Norman F. Dacey has brought his case for the streamlined passing of personal property to the American people. The American people have responded. Norman F. Dacey is bombshell news today. He is America's best known professional estate planner. Senate committees, the Justice Department, the Defense Department, the largest consumer organization in America have all sought his professional assistance. At the invitation of the U.S. Air Force, he has delivered a series of lectures on estate planning at the Air Force Academy. Now you can obtain his guidance in planning your estate. We are proud to have published this historic book.

The author has also insisted that you be permitted to examine the book at no risk to your self. Accordingly, you may examine it in your own home for ten days and return it if it is not all that we claim it to be.

During the past 90 days we have printed and completely sold out nine editions. It is constantly in short supply. It has been first come, first served. Order it today on our special money-back guarantee. It costs nothing at all unless you are completely satisfied, and otherwise only $4.95. Send the coupon below.

publicity which will attract the attention of unscrupulous persons to your heirs. And you're going to keep the sticky fingers of any probate racketeers out of your family's affairs.

To my knowledge, there's never been a book like this before. It is truly a "do-it-yourself kit" which will enable any literate American to administer his own estate. If you came by your money easily and you don't much care who gets it when you're gone, the book isn't for you. But if you're a hard-working American and you want to decide for yourself, with a conscientious lawyer if you like, who is to get your estate when you're gone, and if you have no intention of bequeathing a chunk of it to the local probate court, this book was written for you.

Test Your Sense of Humor

By JOHN E. GIBSON

EVERYBODY likes to laugh and be amused, but they vary tremendously in their capacity to appreciate humor. Some go through life finding very little that strikes them as laughable; others have the ability to find the lighter side of almost anything.

Scientists have found that your sense of humor reveals a great deal about your character, personality, and general outlook on life. To find out some interesting things about your personality, simply compare your sense of humor with these significant findings.

■ It is true that intelligence and a well-developed sense of humor go hand in hand?

Yes. Studies at Purdue University and Vassar College have shown conclusively that a keen appreciation of wit and humor indicates a correspondingly keen intelligence. Evidence indicated that those less well-endowed intellectually generally find the fewest things they consider amusing.

■ Can you tell a man's personality type by the brand of humor he prefers?

Yes. Studies at University College in London show that introverts prefer jokes of the more subtle, sophisticated variety; jokes that are artfully and ingeniously contrived. On the other hand, extroverts prefer jokes that are simple and uninvolved and show a fondness for off-color humor.

A man's body type also is directly related to the type of humor he prefers. Short, heavy-set people enjoy simple, uncomplicated humor; tall, lanky individuals like subtleties, puns, and delayed-action humor; the athletic type prefers direct humor without shading.

■ Is it true that persons with a good sense of humor are the hardest to deceive?

Yes. The better developed a man's sense of humor is, the harder it is to trick him by bluff, cunning, flattery, or subterfuge. This has been demonstrated at Purdue University, where students who made the highest scores on sense-of-humor tests also scored highest on tests designed to evaluate astuteness and level-headedness.

■ If a person fails to get the point of a simple, easy-to-understand joke, does that indicate he lacks a sense of humor?

Not necessarily. Humor-reaction experiments at Yale University show that failure to understand a joke may be the result of a person attempting to protect himself from the anxiety the joke arouses. In cases of this kind it was found that there is really a hidden wish not to understand the humor.

A good sense of humor requires the ability to regard things in their proper perspective, and less well-adjusted individuals tend to be lacking in this department. Their inclination to take themselves too seriously extends not only to humor but to other things as well.

■ Does a well-developed sense of humor tend to complement a well-balanced personality?

Yes. Research at Yale University shows that the better adjusted a person is, the more readily he responds to the humor in jokes, cartoons, and everyday situations. Maladjusted persons tended to miss the point of jokes and to regard humor with either apprehension or indifference.

■ Is it true that people who have a keen sense of humor tend to have the most sympathetic insight into the character of others?

Yes. Studies at Michigan State University show that those who are the quickest to perceive humor have the ability to sense the underlying motivations of others and share their point of view.

■ Is a sense of humor actually an important factor where physical health and well-being of persons are concerned?

Yes. Findings at Michigan State University and elsewhere show that a sense of humor provides a safety valve for releasing health-sapping tensions. Looking at the lighter side of things is an invaluable aid to health, happiness, and a long life. ♦

NEW! RADAR-TYPE FULL RANGE SOLID STATE ANTENNA

SKYPROBE PULLS IN COMPLETE AIRWAVE SPECTRUM

End weak spots in TV and radio reception due to antenna not pointing in the right direction. Now Skyprobe utilizes basic radar techniques that sweep a full 360 degrees in every direction. Pull in sharp pictures, vibrant sound from every broadcast station within your area.

Amazing new solid state antenna is just 18" high, weighs just over 2 pounds. No more hazardous superstructures that sway in the wind. Installs in minutes, with a few screws, on roof, window ledge. Especially helpful for apartment dwellers. Never deteriorates from rust or corrosion like other clumsy metal antennas.

It's ready to hook up at once. No assembly. Twin lead-in wires for TV and radio. For color or black and white, UHF, VHF. For AM and FM.

Try it 10 days without risk! If this new solid state antenna does not give you the best home entertainment you have ever enjoyed, return it for full refund. Test it against the local radio or TV station that you are not now receiving, but should. Its full range, probing in every direction of the air waves, will bring it to your set NOW.
