TWIN FALLS, IDAHO, WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 10, 1968

TEN CENTS

center; Dr. R. A. Drake, one of the owners of the facility, and William L. Chancey, county commissioner. Construction will begin on the new $200,000 retirement center Wednesday, and completion of the center will free 25 beds at the nursing homes now being used by individuals as retirement quarters.

Ground Broken For Start Of New Retirement Center Here

Construction began Wednesday morning on a 40-bed retirement center adjoining Hazel and Sky View Manor on Filler Ave. E., which will provide a new type of care and facilities for senior citizens in Twin Falls.

of an "it" will feature 20 private rooms, each self-contained, and 10 semi-private rooms. Area Law Officers To Have Riot Training

By FRED DODDS
Times-News Staff Writer
It's riot time in Twin Falls again as an estimated 60 area law enforcement officers are expected to attend a two-day riot control training school.

The training is in line with President Lyndon Johnson's request to have law enforcement and military personnel prepared for riots. The action came after last summer's civil rights riots in major U. S. cities.

State Suggests U.S. 30 Bypass Downtown Center

By FRED DODDS
Times-News Staff Writer
The State Highway Board in Boise today announced a surprise proposal to two Twin Falls city councilmen Tuesday to bypass U.S. Highway 30 from the downtown area to the edge of the city.

They would not be acceptable. He said they told the board Twin Falls downtown businessmen and others would oppose re-routing the highway.

Plan one is: Re-routing one-way, north-west-bound traffic off Main Avenue by joggling from Main Avenue to Second Avenue East and North, then back onto Main. The plan calls for leaving Second Avenue South and West as it is, one-way southeast bound.

made to increase downtown shopper trade and ease for shopping. Mr. Feldman said Wednesday, "I have no impression yet. The highway board is not committed either to re-routing Highway 30 out of the main part of the city or accepting our proposals. We will just have to wait."

Surveyor Televises Moon Scene

By RALPH DIGHTON
Associated Press Science-Writer
PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — A narrow, winding, dangerous rock with what a space official called "divine guidance," Surveyor 7 settled down gently on the moon Tuesday night and televised the widest scene yet found by U.S. lunar probes.

It landed on a crater-pocked, boulder-strewed, crater-ringed ridge 18 miles north of Tycho's rim. Between the craft and the rim was a desolate scene, reminiscent of the crater Copernicus photographed earlier by lunar orbiters.

Scientists televised shortly after touchdown showed a landscape littered with rocks ejected from miles deep when the 50-mile wide Tycho was formed by a meteor impact ages ago.

at leg. Leo Shearer, assistant director of the U.S. space agency, said the scene was a "new conference." "The final 13 feet of the quarter-million mile flight was under divine guidance."

The latter would be raised over a period of years.

Improving Foot Of Snow Reported In Hailey Area

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — The world's fourth heart transplant patient, MIKO Kasperik, was able to get over the edge of his bed at Stanford Medical Center today, doctors said.

More than a foot of new snow fell in the Hailey area Wednesday morning and it was still snowing at noon. The snow fell intermittently during the night and settled to a steady fall by morning. The latest snow depth at Galena ridge was 33 inches, while 28 inches in the ground at Kelchum.

3 Patients Strangled At Hospital

Authorities said four patients at the hospital were being questioned in connection with the deaths. Their names were not released.

The Forest service office at Hailey reports 58 of an inch of precipitation with more than 20 inches on the ground. In the Twin Falls area the sun was shining Wednesday, but winds up to 35 miles an hour caused three West Coast Air lines planes to divert Twin Falls Municipal Airport Tuesday night and Wednesday morning, according to Ronald (Fap) Mason, local agent.

City Of Portland

Anyone who has had to ride the Portland Rose from Denver to Shoshone, for instance, because he missed connections with the City of Portland, won't shed a tear over news that the Union Pacific is planning to discontinue it. The Rose is a true whistle-stop-passenger-train of the old-fashioned variety. It chugs its way across a route roughly comparable to that covered by the pioneers on the old Oregon Trail, and while it makes the distance in considerably less time, it makes almost as many stops as the covered wagons did.

of transportation across the vast distances of the West and gave the residents of the many smaller communities a feeling of being tied in with the rest of the country. The automobile, combined with the tremendous improvement of the highway network in the last quarter of a century, has eliminated most of the need of the passenger train for personal transportation throughout the West. But there still are some persons who cannot afford an auto, who are too old, or who can't drive for some other reason, who will be affected as passenger trains are discontinued. Buses will take care of most of these, and feeder airlines will care for some of the rest. Life in the West will go on, little affected. There will be some personal inconveniences, maybe even minor tragedies, as some railroad employees lose their jobs, have to take up a new line of work and maybe have to move to a different community.

MR. SPECTATOR

We're Glad To See You?

Have you ever been in the midst of one of those days when you know you'll never be able to do what HAS to be done — and company drops in? Rough, eh? But think how much rougher it would have been if you had known that some of the visitors may not have come just to pay a nice, friendly call, but to critically inspect your place, make notes on what they saw, and then to back home to publicly point out what they may think is wrong with the way you're doing things.

When financial hotshots of the U.S. government were questioned by a congressional committee recently, it developed they could be off as much as $8 billion in their estimates of how much the administration is actually cutting the federal budget in the big battle over taxes and economy. This has to be definitely comforting to those of us who have sweat it out for hours trying to track down a 36-cent discrepancy in balancing our bankbook. And we felt pretty silly, too, when we had to pay our own money.

Who can say for sure? But perhaps it does stand to reason that while a Monday morning quarterback can do a fair job of coaching the team from what he sees on television, the paper he can possibly do even better if he actually sees a little of the game from the 30-yard line.

How lovely are the daylight hours. After the darkness of the night: How great the miracle of God That bathes this world in light. Then when each day comes to its close; And the sun sinks in the west; We thank Him for two miracles; For darkness and for rest.

One, unnamed U.S. official in Vietnam (who should qualify for a Medal of Valor and a transfer to the diplomatic corps) is quoted as saying bravely, "No, hee. We feel it's important that they (the VIs) see the effort out here. Especially since it's said that some of the Vory Independent Visitors are paying their own way. The expenses for the others are being picked up in one way or another by Uncle Sam, possibly the most generous of the big spenders.

Dear Mr. Spectator: I think that "Office Clerk" really missed a bet. Doesn't she know that her reply should have been, "Fine, thank you" — and give the party a big smile in return? Everyone would be much happier. Mrs. E. L. C. (Hagerman)

As most citizens are aware, increased postal rates, including a cent for first class mail, went into effect Sunday. Congress thoughtfully dated the new rate after the Christmas mailing, which was something to be grateful for, but it goes into effect just in time to increase the cost of mailing the last installment due on 1967 income taxes.

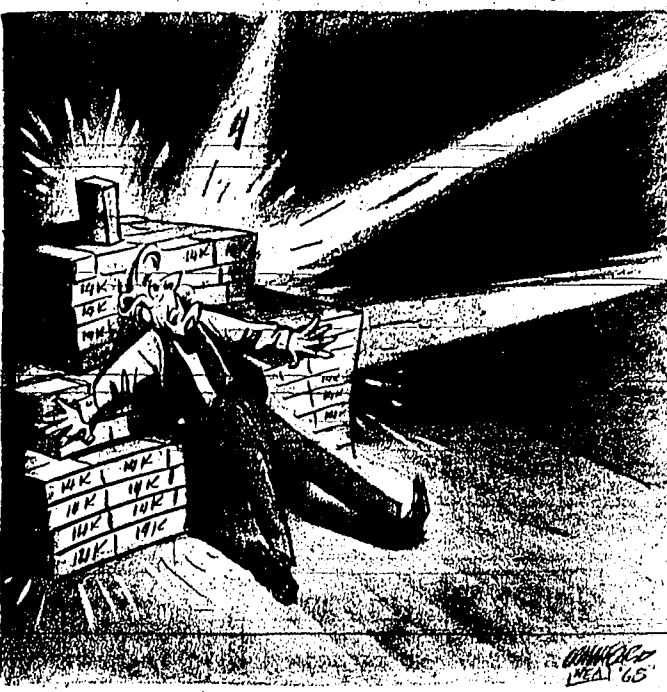

THE NEW YEAR. Centuries ago the Julian calendar selected January as the first month of the year and the first of January as the first day of the year. The calendar year applies no complications economically, politically or in other ways. Governments have their fiscal years, industries their production years, agriculture its crop years, society its seasons. Few of which coincide with the calendar year. But custom dictates observance of the New Year. We are all in the grip of inexorable time which taxes our health, faculties, strength and features. But it is the measure of the most precious gift of all — that life — can apply to it in ways that contribute most to one's generation.

WASHINGTON — When the historians get around to the Great Peace Protest of the late Sixties, I suspect they will report that the movement took its first giant step backward when it was disclosed that its members were men of measured daring. They do not take the Big Risk. They're Bully Boys for Peace. For their own sakes, because I am eager to believe in their sincerity, I am ashamed of their performance in joining in, burning or otherwise illegally disposing of only 618 draft cards. What of all those brave words we heard about preferring jail to living under this fascist government? I guess the Bully Boys ate them.

The total has to be depressing to the leaders of the Great Peace Protest — whose motto is "Let's you and Uncle Sam fight" — because it includes a count in 46 states. What must Stokely Carmichael be thinking? It's enough to send Martin Luther King into a decline, I hope. Moreover, even in compiling this puny record, the Bully Boys have managed to hedge their bets. Selective Service headquarters says only half of those who destroyed their draft cards are "vulnerable to the draft" — that is, were in classifications in which they might be expected to be called soon. The others are classified 4-F or in other categories not subject to immediate call.

mark of the four-flusher. It is further evidence of the Great Peace Protest consists of young citizens who might find themselves at home at a Rotary Club luncheon if they washed their necks. These, it turns out, are merely obnoxious kids who snicker the grownups by urinating in public on taxpayers' property, and carefully avoid the danger of being hauled off to a Federal pen for a man-sized offense.

BRUCE BOSSAT Romney: 90 Days To Make It

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Michigan's Gov. George Romney, standing lower than his worst detractors would have imagined a year ago, probably has less than 90 days to save himself from extinction as a Republican presidential candidate. In that span, the first two critical primaries will be fought in New Hampshire and Wisconsin. And if Romney does not do well in both of these, his last thin chance will have vanished. For 14 long months, since he scored a smashing third election triumph as governor in 1966, Romney has gone about the world in an incredibly self-destructive odyssey. A new nadir was reached when a dispatch from Vietnam told of his evidently fumbling efforts to establish rapport with U.S. troops in the field and in hospitals.

governor, his evidently solid instincts on domestic social issues, all seem to comb him as a man of obvious promise for the White House. But from mid-1965, and most particularly since late 1964, Romney has exhibited to friends and press and citizenry a yawning "knowledgeability gap" in the crucial foreign-affairs field. His many stumbles over Vietnam are, of course, a very old story now. But what may not be fully appreciated are the embedded elements of his make-up and background which have made the closing of his "knowledgeability gap" next to impossible. The hardest, yet the necessarily fundamental, thing to say on this score is that Romney is a quick but thin study.

ble company, some political questions. "Yet he has always been the man in a hurry," it's a long through documents as he races through his early morning rounds of the "compact golf." He bent toward action rather than study has governed him. But, suddenly, the drive, the speed, the dedication which carried him so far so fast were not enough. Aspiring to the presidency, Romney heeded broad command of the great world issues. He did not have it. A man of 60 with a strong religious "set" to his mind and a lifelong habit of "quick thinking," he was caught. There was almost no time for deep study. It is most revealing of his personal dilemma that he found excuse after excuse not to undertake a 4-6 weeks' intensive study of foreign issues last year at his "bracketed island mansion." It is also revealing that he often tries to make errors, like his celebrated "brainwash" affair of September, seem like well-thought-out "policy mistakes." The effort only compounds the error as his own aides have told him. George Romney faces his critical 90 days in painful awareness that there is no way to hurry into the knowledge expected of a man who aspires to the American presidency.

WAYNE BRANDSTADT, M.D. Diagnosis

The idea that a disease has a single cause, produces definite symptoms, and is amenable to a certain treatment was prevalent when I was a medical student, and was fostered by the medical textbooks of the time. This idea persists in the minds of most patients is abundantly evident. I propose here to take it apart. Consider, for example, a disease as well-defined as pneumonia. The cause includes such factors as the general state of the victim's health and his resistance to the invading organism, which may be one of several types of bacteria, virus or fungus. Although certain symptoms are more or less characteristic of pneumonia (chills, fever, sweats, loss of appetite, rapid breathing and cough), their order of appearance, may vary and one or more of these cardinal symptoms may be missing. For this reason, your doctor must make use of other diagnostic procedures — chest X ray, blood counts and sputum examination. His must also be constantly on the alert for complications.

a complex creature made up of many variables. Pneumonia is a different disease in the owner of a one-man store, who is worried not only about the outcome of his illness but also about the interruption of his business, and in a student on vacation. The patient's emotional reaction to his disease is a part of its total impact. Furthermore, pneumonia is a different disease in a child who is just recovering from measles, a high school football star, a professional athlete, a man with tuberculosis or an octogenarian. Because in the treatment of any disease so many variables enter the picture, the treatment must be individualized to suit the patient. If the patient is allergic to one or more of the most effective drugs, others must be found. If he has a weak heart, drugs that would aggravate this condition must be avoided. If he is taking a maintenance dose of insulin, a drug that would increase or decrease this action must be given with caution. No, this diagnosis and treatment of disease is not a simple matter of one plus one equals two. That is why the best results are obtained when you are lucky enough to have a doctor who has known you for several years.

MR. SPECTATOR

We're Glad To See You?

Have you ever been in the midst of one of those days when you know you'll never be able to do what HAS to be done — and company drops in? Rough, eh? But think how much rougher it would have been if you had known that some of the visitors may not have come just to pay a nice, friendly call, but to critically inspect your place, make notes on what they saw, and then to back home to publicly point out what they may think is wrong with the way you're doing things.

When financial hotshots of the U.S. government were questioned by a congressional committee recently, it developed they could be off as much as $8 billion in their estimates of how much the administration is actually cutting the federal budget in the big battle over taxes and economy. This has to be definitely comforting to those of us who have sweat it out for hours trying to track down a 36-cent discrepancy in balancing our bankbook. And we felt pretty silly, too, when we had to pay our own money.

Who can say for sure? But perhaps it does stand to reason that while a Monday morning quarterback can do a fair job of coaching the team from what he sees on television, the paper he can possibly do even better if he actually sees a little of the game from the 30-yard line.

How lovely are the daylight hours. After the darkness of the night: How great the miracle of God That bathes this world in light. Then when each day comes to its close; And the sun sinks in the west; We thank Him for two miracles; For darkness and for rest.

One, unnamed U.S. official in Vietnam (who should qualify for a Medal of Valor and a transfer to the diplomatic corps) is quoted as saying bravely, "No, hee. We feel it's important that they (the VIs) see the effort out here. Especially since it's said that some of the Vory Independent Visitors are paying their own way. The expenses for the others are being picked up in one way or another by Uncle Sam, possibly the most generous of the big spenders.

Dear Mr. Spectator: I think that "Office Clerk" really missed a bet. Doesn't she know that her reply should have been, "Fine, thank you" — and give the party a big smile in return? Everyone would be much happier. Mrs. E. L. C. (Hagerman)

As most citizens are aware, increased postal rates, including a cent for first class mail, went into effect Sunday. Congress thoughtfully dated the new rate after the Christmas mailing, which was something to be grateful for, but it goes into effect just in time to increase the cost of mailing the last installment due on 1967 income taxes.

THE NEW YEAR. Centuries ago the Julian calendar selected January as the first month of the year and the first of January as the first day of the year. The calendar year applies no complications economically, politically or in other ways. Governments have their fiscal years, industries their production years, agriculture its crop years, society its seasons. Few of which coincide with the calendar year. But custom dictates observance of the New Year. We are all in the grip of inexorable time which taxes our health, faculties, strength and features. But it is the measure of the most precious gift of all — that life — can apply to it in ways that contribute most to one's generation.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Banquo's Ghost Is Still Here

WASHINGTON — In the fanfare launching the program to check the dollar drain the cost of the Vietnam war was carefully kept off-stage. But like Banquo's ghost it will not fade as a reason for the worsening position of the dollar. The cost of the war, as narrowly interpreted in administrative terms, may not be primarily responsible for the greatly increased outflow of dollars in the latter months of 1967. There are, however, a host of related costs contributing to the drain from one small area where more than a half-million Americans are in uniform. A large share of foreign aid funds goes to Southeast Asia. The care of the more than 2,000,000 refugees from the fighting in Vietnam, inadequate though it is, constitutes an increasing legal. The effort to salve the conscience of warring civilians — again woefully inadequate — is part of the cost, some of it volunteered, some of it from government sources. The State Department tries hard to make it appear that the United States is not helping non-friendly allies. Thirty-one nations besides the United States are assisting Vietnam under the free world assistance program, a department memorandum stated. Six other countries not counting the war help program and the United Nations also assist, according to the memorandum. But in response to an inquiry from Sen. J. William Fulbright for specifics it was shown that the assistance given by 13 of these countries totaled altogether $26,000. At least three of the countries listed — Brazil, Thailand and Venezuela — apparently gave no assistance in 1967. In many cases, as Fulbright noted, assistance to South Vietnam is far less than the amount of trade with North Vietnam. He pointed out that Japan's total two-way trade with North Vietnam, according to figures furnished by the State Department, was 20 times the amount of Japanese assistance to South Vietnam. The senator also noted that American spending in Southeast Asia is enriching many other countries, and notably Japan. For the period reported Japan provided a total of $2,250,000 in assistance to South Vietnam for the same months — most of them exports either purchased by the United States or by the South Vietnamese government with funds provided by Washington — amounting to $138,000,000, which compared with a total of $36,000,000 in 1965. Japanese exports directly related to the war for fiscal 1967 were estimated between $1.4 billion and $1.7 billion. Another case in point is Formosa; officially the Republic of China. For the period June, 1964, through December, 1966, Chiang Kai-Shek's China gave Vietnam $75,000 in assistance. Formosa's exports to South Vietnam in 1966 were $50,000,000, compared to $29,000,000 in 1965. In addition, Formosa noted that American soldiers on leave in Formosa for rest and recreation spend about a million dollars a month. Japan, a swiftly expanding economy owes a great deal to the American occupation beginning in 1945. Under Gen. Douglas MacArthur the Japanese accepted a constitution calling for almost complete demilitarization and they may have spent more on defense expenditures in 1967 than in 1965. Great pressures have been put on friendly nations to slow down or stop their trade with North Vietnam. And in the past year this pressure has had a marked effect. But the figure nevertheless point up America's lonely role in Asia. If, as the gloomier prophets are saying, this country faces a new isolation out of a growing disillusion with the mounting cost of a war that seems to have no end, one of the causes may be found in the lonely burden the United States carries.

PAUL HARVEY

The Gag Writers

With the most effective but least conspicuous of all political weapons — Churchill mastered its use as few have. I heard Sir Winston, in Commons and in schoolhouse campaigns, humble adversaries with a paper phrase sharp enough to make its point felt yet never quite sharp enough to draw blood. That image-destroying joke was used in 1960 by professional humor-analyst, Robert Orben, who is presently in demand by politicians of both parties for one-line "winnies" with which to spice their campaign oratory. Orben says it was not his intention to hurt Nixon. He insists that his highly published comedy quotes "reflect trends" rather than "create trends." Review his monthly mailings to clients during the two years prior to the 1964 election, and in this barometer the rise and fall of political issues and political candidates is easily traceable. You can trace the rise of Barry Goldwater's public acceptance toward nomination time — "Barry's life will be filmed by 10th Century-Fox." And the decline toward election time — "In your heart you know he's right; in your guts you know he's nuts." Orben says, "There is no better way to assess the impact a candidate is making than by the reaction of audiences to jokes about him." He believes Robert McNamara was laughed out of Washington with such barbed phrases as "They offered McNamara the job of baseball commissioner, but he wanted to close second base. Or, 'The man who gave us the Great Wall can't build a wall.' Orben believes that "jokes, tailored to attack specific enemies, are the political weapon of the future. As politicians have discovered, employees, speech writers, many already do! Orben does not identify his own clients, for obvious reasons. He does admit that he was on retainer by "a political party" during the 1964 campaign. Many American statesmen and women have made good use of a personal gift of wit, from Abe Lincoln through Everett Dirksen — and including Clare Boothe Luce. Adlai Stevenson "almost" had it, but he overshoot the target as consistently as most professional politicians are inclined to understand it. Orben has some of the light touch with which Will Rogers helped us smile at topical headlines: "Noah, Kennedy, is sending out a dove named McCarthy — look for land in 1968." "I'd rather fight the witch; now if we could only convince the South Vietnamese." Presently there are 250 comedy writers in show business, another 100 writing jokes for advertising and industry; Orben believes there will be 10 times that many grinding out material for politicians within the next two decades. So the "isn't he clever!" candidate may have earned you. But more likely he bought it!

Road Deaths Decline Numerically

CHICAGO (AP)—Traffic deaths in the United States during the first 11 months of 1967 declined numerically and in relation to total mileage.

But the National Safety Council, in so reporting today, noted that the numerical difference was slight. Up to Dec. 1 motor vehicle fatalities totaled 47,810—just 150 below the toll for the corresponding period of 1966.

Travel increased from more than 850 billion miles during the first 11 months of 1966, the council said, to more than 887 billion miles in the same length of time in 1967.

But deaths per 100 million vehicle miles up to Dec. 1 last year numbered 5.4 compared with 5.6 in the corresponding period of 1966.

Traffic deaths in November 1967 totaled 4,700, a slight gain over the 4,650 in November 1966. Fatalities soared to a record 83,000 in 1966.

LETTER SENT
KELLOGG, Idaho (AP)—Officials of Bunker Hill Mining Company urged stockholders to keep their shares Tuesday in a night letter to shareholders.
 C. E. Schwab, company president, made the request as merger talks between the mining company and Utah Construction and Mining Co. continue.
 Schwab told stockholder Bunker Hill's common stock market value was $58 per share, tax free. This value, he said, was based on Monday's stock market closing bid price.
 He added this was the value shareholders would receive upon completion of the proposed merger with Utah Construction and Mining Co.

 Also on the ballot will be proposals to abandon intercollegiate football at ISU, and to increase student fees $6 a semester to finance academic scholarships.

Officials To Set Guides On Emergencies

BOISE (AP)—Ten state, county and local officials were chosen Tuesday by Gov. Don W. Samuelson to draft a manual for use by state agencies in disaster emergencies.
 Samuelson suggested the comprehensive emergency plan at a meeting Tuesday of officials who would be directly concerned in the event of any natural or man-made disaster from a mining person to a nuclear attack.
 Persons and agencies primarily responsible for meeting each type of disaster would be designated in the state plan, as well as the funding capacity of the agency.
 The governor was complimented for the disaster plan, which was described as "absolutely essential" by Gen. William Wilcox, commander of the National Civil Air Patrol.
 Officials on the subcommittee to draft the disaster manual include State Adjutant General Maj. Gen. George Bonnett, chairman; State Aeronautics Director Chet Moulton; Civil Defense Director Charles Rountree; Law Enforcement Commissioner Warner Mills; and communications director Bert Colwell.

Fresh Vegetables Will Cost More

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. housewives will have to dig deeper into their pocketbooks to buy fresh vegetables this winter.
 The Agriculture Department said Tuesday that production of vegetables for fresh markets this winter will be 11 per cent below last year's level and 5 per cent below average.
 Shorter supplies are expected to boost prices for cabbage, carrots, celery, lettuce, onions, tomatoes, cucumbers, beans, sweet corn, egg plant and green peppers.

Shriver Says Antipoverty Unit Failed To Make Middle-Class Believe Benefits

By TOM FEPPY
WASHINGTON (AP)—Director Sargent Shriver of the Office of Economic Opportunity says the antipoverty agency has failed to make white, middle-class Americans believe they benefit directly from helping the poor.
 "We've got to come up with a plan or a way to demonstrate to the middle class that everyone benefits when a person out of work gets a job," Shriver said in an interview Tuesday.
 "There must be some way."
 Shriver said the task of winning support from the $8,000 to $20,000 income group rates concentrated effort by the antipoverty agency this year—but he is not sure what approach will be taken.
 "The elimination of poverty is a goal that will benefit white people as well as black people," Shriver added.
 "We've gotten through pretty well to the leadership groups—the doctors, the lawyers, the social workers, the politicians—and to the lower levels," he said. "But we haven't gotten through or penetrated to the mass in the middle."
 "There is a great misunderstanding about what we're doing. They look upon this program as a Robin Hood program—that we rob from the rich and give to the poor."
 "It's true we're using taxes paid by the rich—not to give to the poor but to help the middle class out of poverty so they can become independent of the government, get off welfare, begin to earn their living and become consumers and participants in the free private enterprise system."

 Shriver reiterated he has made no decision on whether he'll leave his post soon, possibly in January or February, in Illinois, his home state.
 "There have been rumors off and on for the past two years, especially in recent weeks—that he would run either for governor of Illinois or for U.S. senator from that state. Candidates seeking to run in Illinois must file by March 11.

ADAM CLAYTON POWELL is surrounded by cheering admirers in the Watts section of Los Angeles Tuesday as he tours the area that was partially destroyed by Negro rioting.

Powell Takes Three-Mile Walk In Watts

By GENE HANDSAKER
LOS ANGELES (AP)—Hundreds of Negroes mobbed him Tuesday as he walked through riot-ravaged Watts, besieged by admirers and calling everywhere, "keep the faith."
 Here from self-imposed exile in the Bahamas, Powell gives today at UCLA the first of 14 lectures at colleges and universities on what he calls the black revolution.
 "I've come here," he said Tuesday, "to talk to my soul brothers and soul sisters. One day, history is going to record that the second civil war and the beginning of the black revolution was born here."
 Five days of fiery rioting in August 1965 left 34 white and Negro dead and $40 million property damage in a 4½-square-mile southside area including Watts.
 From a pickup truck before starting his walk, Powell told the crowd: "The eyes of black Africa, brown Asia and even white Europe are focused upon people like us. We are the salt of the earth."
 "Don't be ashamed of anything that has happened, and don't be afraid of anyone. Stand up and speak out boldly in God's name."
 Referring to his expulsion from Congress last March, Powell said:
 "You see what they're trying to do to me? If they can do it to me, they can do it to you, John James."
 On his walk, puffing a thin cigar, the shirt-sleeved, 59-year-old Powell strode swiftly, escorted by members of the Black Students Association. He beamed, waved and called repeatedly, "keep the faith, baby" or "soul brother."
 A crowd chanted "We Want Powell!" An exuberant youth flung himself at him in a flying tackle, embracing him, kissing him on the cheek and crying, "this is my brother!"
 Somebody asked, "Do you think the poverty program's doing anything down here?"
 "No," Powell snapped. His opinion of California's Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan? "A nice actor." Powell is a Democrat.
 A caravan more than a block long followed him at times. Briefly he mounted a red panel truck, but 35 or 40 Negro youngsters also crowded aboard on top, running boards and rear step and Powell continued on foot.

On Watts' main business street, East 103rd, called "Charcoal Alley" after the rioting left lots vacant where business buildings were burned, Powell paused.

"I'd like everybody to be quiet for just a minute," he said. "I'd like to bow our heads—whether you believe in Allah, Yahweh or no God—in silent prayer in memory of our soul brothers and soul sisters who died here."
 Momentarily there was comparative quiet. Then Powell, driven in a hard-rod convertible that maneuvered slowly through jammed traffic, was gone.
 "I'm happy now," a man said. "I saw him!"

Fun-Filled Hawaiian Tour Scheduled Feb. 6

By NORMA HERZINGER

While most Magic Valley residents are struggling into snow boots and warm woollens, a fortunate few will be breaking their summer wardrobes out of mothballs and taking off for a sun-filled vacation in Hawaii.

They will be part of a group leaving Feb. 6 on the sixth annual Hawaiian tour for 10 days. The group will visit the islands with tour hosts Mr. and Mrs. Joe Salisbury, who have planned an exceptional tour of the most outstanding attractions in Hawaii. Not to be forgotten is the promise of ample free time to shop, browse and just take life easy.

After studying every brochure available on Hawaii, I find the islands have every ingredient for the ideal vacation, and am a little envious of those planning the tour.

I understand the average temperature on the islands is 75 degrees, which wouldn't be hard to take, and the scenery is spectacular. Hawaii is not just one island, but a chain of islands, each differing from the others. The four major islands, Oahu, Hawaii, Kauai and Maui, have distinct personalities and offer sightseeing unlimited. There are lush tropical valleys, sheer waterfalls dropping hundreds of feet, a wild confusion of tropical and semi-tropical plant life, delightful wooded areas at higher elevations and cactus-covered ranchland. There is even a beautiful canyon on Kauai, a colorful counterpart of the Grand Canyon in Colorado.

The Magic Valley group will arrive in Honolulu Feb. 7 and will go first to the fabulous Ilikai Hotel at Yacht Harbor and Waikiki Beach.

They will be in Honolulu Feb. 8 through Feb. 11. During these four days, their schedule will include an afternoon cruise of Pearl Harbor; a half-day tour of the southeast end of the island, visiting fascinating Sea-Life Park, and a visit to the famed Polynesian Cultural Center.

Although the schedule sounds full, there will be plenty of "do as you please" time for beach, browsing, etc.

The Garden Isle of Kauai will be a highlight of Feb. 12, along with a boat trip on the Wailua River up to famed "Fern Grotto."

To Grand Canyon of the Pacific on Feb. 13 by way of Nawiliwili Harbor, Menehune Fishponds, Kila plantation and Moir's Cactus Gardens. The group will visit Spouting Horn, Kukulolono Park and back to Polpu Beach for a free afternoon to enjoy the beach for fishing, surfing, sunning or just watching.

From Kauai the group will go to the "Valley Isle" Maui Feb. 14.

Upon arrival there the tour will commence with a trip to Kula on the slopes of Haleakala, for a breath-taking view of the island. They will motor to Iona Valley, then proceed along to Kaanapali. They will see Maui Divers' Black Coral Curio Headquarters, old school and historic print shop and visit old prison.

Hilo City, volcanoes and orchids are on the agenda for Feb. 15. They will visit the orchid gardens and anthurium nurseries, Volcano Wonderland and famous Volcano House.

The fun-filled vacation will end with departure date set for Feb. 16.

Hawaii is probably the world's most famous year-round playground, and those scheduled to take this annual tour are looking forward to it with great anticipation. The number of reservations for the trip is limited, but space is still open if reservations are made immediately. Reservations can be obtained by contacting the Times-News tour desk or Magic Carpet Travels.

EXPLAINING TRADITIONAL Hawaiian attire to Mrs. Larry Christensen, left, and Mrs. Ruth Stubbs, both Twin Falls, is Mrs. Don Warr, Twin Falls, formerly from Hawaii. Mrs. Christensen and Mrs. Stubbs are among those scheduled to take the Hawaiian tour.

CHECKING OVER the grass skirt and other articles native to Hawaii is Mrs. Ruth Stubbs as she plans her trip to Hawaii. Mrs. Stubbs will be married immediately prior to the trip and she and her new husband, Perry Cattingham, Burley, will be honeymooning in the islands.

TOUR HOSTS, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Salisbury, check over the travel folders and scenic attractions of Hawaii as they plan the sixth annual tour, co-sponsored by the Times-News and Magic Carpet Travels. The tour is set to leave Twin Falls Feb. 6.

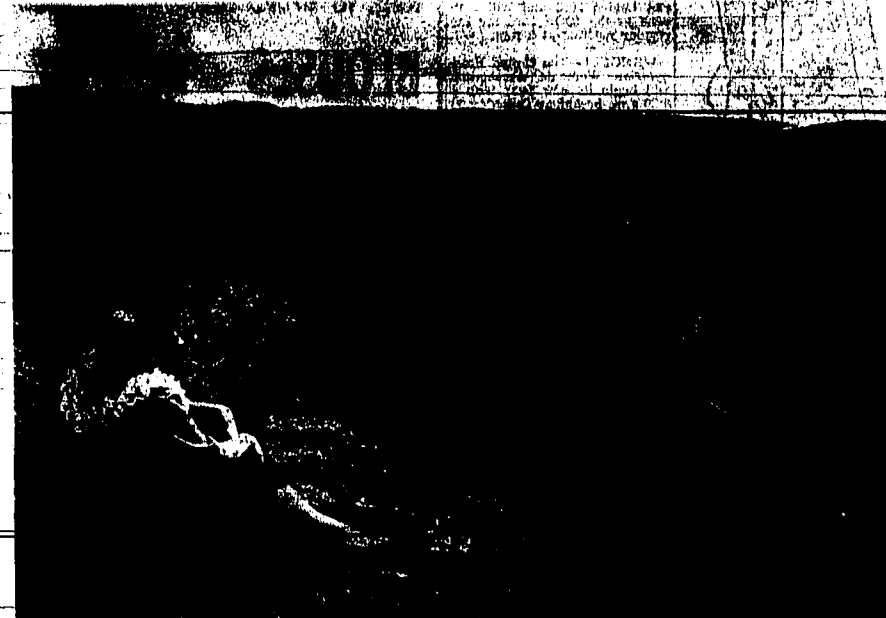

SELECTING SUITCASES for her forthcoming trip to Hawaii is Mrs. Larry Christensen, left. Mrs. Bill Smith is assisting Mrs. Christensen in the selection of luggage best suited to accommodate clothing for Mr. and Mrs. Christensen.

CAMERA PANS among those taking the forthcoming Hawaiian tour will have a field day, as these visitors are trying to stop the action of this Polynesian entertainer's hips.

Vacationers will have the opportunity to snap as many pictures as they like as they view a hula show and other attractions on the islands.

ONE OF THE SCENIC places to be visited by those taking the Hawaiian tour is the Waimea Canyon on the island of Kauai, often called the Grand Canyon of the Pacific. The canyon is one of the most colorful attractions in Hawaii.

Dear Abby

By ARIGAIL VAN BUREN

Dear Abby: I am a divorced woman in my thirties. I am an intermediary to a very successful, prominent family man who has a very fine reputation. He is always telling everyone what a wonderful wife he has, but you should see this bird operate behind closed doors. I do receive an excellent salary, with many fringe benefits, but it seems that being mauled goes with the job. He simply cannot keep his hands off me. I have threatened to walk out, if he doesn't cut that stuff out. He promises he will, but the next day he is right back, locking the office door, and starting the whole thing over again. I know you will say walk out, but it's not that easy. I am the sole support of myself, two children and an invalid mother. This job is five minutes from my home, no carfare, no lunches, and as I have said, the pay is wonderful. Now what?

MAULED IN PHILLY

Dear Mauled: Walk out, anyway. Your next job may not have as many fringe benefits, but neither will it require constant training.

Dear Abby: In reference to the recent discussion in your column as to the propriety of dress or undress before one's young children, let me say that it is a mistake for adults to

Rebekahs Set Installation

It was announced that Alta McMinimy, Rebekah Assembly president, will visit the Grand Lodge Jan. 28. A potluck supper will precede the business meeting.

The next meeting is Monday.

OFFICERS NAMED

FILER—Mrs. Julie Jaspur was elected president of St. Anne's Society Club at the home of Mrs. Harold Brown. Mrs. Merl Leonard is secretary-treasurer. Mrs. Joe Kreppek is hostess for the Jan. 18 meeting.

try to anticipate children's reactions concerning this. If parents are comfortable in a state of undress when a young child appears, it will very likely be accepted in a normal way by the child. If parents are uncomfortable and embarrassed, the child will react in the same manner. In support of this, I submit the following:

A father came home and found his 6-year-old son staring at a picture in a popular men's magazine. The picture showed a curvaceous young woman, bare to the waist. The horrified father tried to be nonchalant and asked the boy what he found so fascinating about the picture. The boy replied, "I'm looking at this lady here. Daddy, look, she's lucky, she gets to go barefoot."

It took the father a full minute to realize that the "Lady" was indeed "THE FATHER!"

Dear Abby: I'm writing to you because I know that millions of mothers read your column faithfully, and some of them need to know what's on my mind.

Why don't mothers teach their daughters how to do a wash? Today at the coin laundry I met a sweet, young girl. She asked me, a perfect stranger, to please help her with her laundry. She didn't have the slightest idea of how to go about it. She didn't know which fabrics to wash together and she was even going to put bleach in her colored wash!

This girl was 21 and married and seemed intelligent enough. She said she had never even had to help with the laundry at home. Then she moaned, "Gee, I miss the maid."

I am only 22 myself, but I sure felt like an experienced housekeeper today. I'm so glad my mother taught me how to wash.

CONFIDENTIAL TO D. D. The principle is the same. A man who would steal an egg would steal a chicken. And a man who would steal a chicken would steal a chicken farm. If you have to watch him after you've warned him, can him.

Q. I would like to know why I can't switch out of one stock into another without having to pay an unnecessary tax on a so-called profit. For example, suppose I own 100 shares of XYZ stock, worth $30 a share, and my broker switches me into 200 shares of QRS stock, worth $25 a share.

A. It doesn't make any difference what you do with your Federal tax code spells this out very clearly. If your cost basis (the price you paid for the XYZ stock) is less than $50 a share, you will realize a profit by making the switch. That profit is subject to tax as a capital gain.

Q. I understand that I can exchange Series E, U.S. Savings Bonds for Series H bonds and that the income tax would be zero at that time. But suppose I then cash in the H bonds. Would I then have to pay income tax on the E bond income? Or, suppose I hold the H bonds until maturity and cash them at that time. Would I still have to pay income tax on the E bond interest?

A. You get a "yes" answer to both questions. The exchange of E bonds for H bonds is a special deal set up by the U.S. Treasury Department. Because E bonds "accrue" (build up) interest, people are not required to report and pay Federal income tax on the interest on these bonds until they cash in those bonds.

Q. I am a shareholder in a company. I believe that the traditional market for a stock company should not limit itself to steel but should consider the entire market and perhaps diversify into plastics and even urban real estate.

A. The two most commonly used examples of the concept are Lilt Industries and Textron, both of which have had enormous growth in the past decade, mostly through acquiring other companies, and which have taught a lesson to many other free form corporations.

Q. I am a shareholder in a company. I believe that the traditional market for a stock company should not limit itself to steel but should consider the entire market and perhaps diversify into plastics and even urban real estate.

A. It is a philosophy rather than a type of corporate structure. It is "opportunity oriented" toward the widest possible range of industries and products, whereas traditional management is industry oriented toward particular markets, customers or techniques.

Q. I would like to know why I can't switch out of one stock into another without having to pay an unnecessary tax on a so-called profit. For example, suppose I own 100 shares of XYZ stock, worth $30 a share, and my broker switches me into 200 shares of QRS stock, worth $25 a share.

A. It doesn't make any difference what you do with your Federal tax code spells this out very clearly. If your cost basis (the price you paid for the XYZ stock) is less than $50 a share, you will realize a profit by making the switch. That profit is subject to tax as a capital gain.

Q. I understand that I can exchange Series E, U.S. Savings Bonds for Series H bonds and that the income tax would be zero at that time. But suppose I then cash in the H bonds. Would I then have to pay income tax on the E bond income? Or, suppose I hold the H bonds until maturity and cash them at that time. Would I still have to pay income tax on the E bond interest?

A. You get a "yes" answer to both questions. The exchange of E bonds for H bonds is a special deal set up by the U.S. Treasury Department. Because E bonds "accrue" (build up) interest, people are not required to report and pay Federal income tax on the interest on these bonds until they cash in those bonds.

Q. I am a shareholder in a company. I believe that the traditional market for a stock company should not limit itself to steel but should consider the entire market and perhaps diversify into plastics and even urban real estate.

A. The two most commonly used examples of the concept are Lilt Industries and Textron, both of which have had enormous growth in the past decade, mostly through acquiring other companies, and which have taught a lesson to many other free form corporations.

Q. I am a shareholder in a company. I believe that the traditional market for a stock company should not limit itself to steel but should consider the entire market and perhaps diversify into plastics and even urban real estate.

A. It is a philosophy rather than a type of corporate structure. It is "opportunity oriented" toward the widest possible range of industries and products, whereas traditional management is industry oriented toward particular markets, customers or techniques.

Q. I am a shareholder in a company. I believe that the traditional market for a stock company should not limit itself to steel but should consider the entire market and perhaps diversify into plastics and even urban real estate.

A. The Board of Directors of Investor's Mutual have declared a dividend, according to L. T. Dolphin, Twin Falls representative.

Jerome Appoints Leaders

JEROME — Appointments for the Jerome city council for 1968 are announced by Mayor Earl Greenwalt.

Ed Dior is the president of the newly organized council which includes Marshall Everheart and S. M. Weeks, who were elected last November.

The mayor said Elwin Tinker has been assigned to streets and irrigation; Mr. Duer, police and fire departments and inspection; Mr. Weeks, city water department, parks, recreation and library; Mr. Everheart, sanitation and sewer; Mayor Greenwalt, city administration and water utility personnel.

Councilmen Weeks and Dior were appointed to serve on the finance committee with Mayor Greenwalt as alternate.

Department heads re-appointed were Lynn Dingham, fire chief; Clarence Vignit, police chief; Mrs. Mable Beveridge, city clerk; Bill Oedermt, public works director; J. C. Shupe, police judge; Mrs. Wilson B. Churchman, treasurer.

LaMar Box was named to a three-year term on the gas board. Lawrence Harper, fire chief, was named to a three-year term on the fire board. He was appointed to the post for $150 per month for six months. He will serve as adviser on the Senior Citizen Housing project and his salary will be reimbursed to the city by the federal government upon completion of the project.

Three sites are under consideration for the housing unit, the Wayne H. Lawrence property directly east of the intersection of North Fillmore and 1st Avenue East, the two-block area west of the hospital and the Kings property on East 10th Street.

Councilmen decided to call for bids for a new police car.

4 Hospitals To Apply For Certification

BOISE (AP) — Idaho's four state hospitals plan to apply for federal certification to receive medicare patients as soon as they have met the federal standards, according to Dr. Terrell O. Carver, state health administrator.

Heads and business managers of State Hospital South (Blackfoot), State Hospital North (Oronogo), the State School and Hospital (Nampa) and the State Tuberculosis Hospital (Gooding) met with Carver and federal social security and public health officials Tuesday.

Only the Gooding institution now meets federal medicare standards.

The hospitals "should have available the services that medicare beneficiaries are entitled to now," Carver said. "The problem is that funds appropriated by last year's legislature are not sufficient to make necessary improvements in the facilities. All hospitals must be certified by the Social Security Administration before recipients of medicare may be admitted."

Economic Boom Is Behind Bars

WASHINGTON (AP) — America's economic boom apparently extends behind bars.

The General Accounting Office reported Tuesday that 51 factories at federal prisons produced a 16 per cent increase in sales to $31.3 million during fiscal 1967 which ended last June 30. Overall profits were $11.8 million compared with $8.5 million the previous year.

Federal Prison Industries Inc., which operates the prison industry, paid a $4 million dividend into the U.S. Treasury.

Employment Up In December

WASHINGTON (AP) — Employment continued rising in December, rounding out 1967 with a record-high average of 74.4 million Americans at work.

At the same time, the unemployment rate dropped back down last month to 3.7 per cent of the civilian labor force and wound up the year with a 3.8 per cent jobless average.

NEW OFFICERS for the 1968 Shrine Club year are, left, Vic Graybeal, president, and Carl Berg, vice president. Mr. Graybeal presided over the first new year meeting of the club Monday night at the American Legion Hall. During the meeting Shrine Circus plans were discussed. New secretary-treasurer of the club is Bud Taylor.

Wilson Will Check Out Peace Feeler

TOKYO (AP) — British Foreign secretary George Brown said today that Prime Minister Harold Wilson will check out North Vietnamese Foreign Minister Nguyen Duy Trinh's reported peace feeler during Wilson's coming visit to Moscow.

"If there is a change," Brown told the Foreign Correspondents' Club of Japan, "let us decide how to use it."

Brown said when he gets to Washington Thursday he also will take up Trinh's statement Dec. 30 that North Vietnam "wants to talk with the United States if the U.S. government unconditionally stops the bombing of North Vietnam and all other acts of war against his government."

Wilson will be in Moscow Jan. 22-24 and meets President Johnson in Washington Feb. 8-9.

Brown has been meeting for two days with Japanese Foreign Minister Takeo Miki.

Progress Of Buhl Project Is Reported

BUIH — Supt. Rex Engelking announces the report on the proposed "Parnassus" project, for a performing arts center here under Title III, had been submitted to the U. S. Office of Education in Washington, D. C. in mid-December ahead of the Jan. 1 deadline.

The project report had been previously submitted to A. D. Luke, state director of Title III in Boise, for his information and any recommendations. This report covered all phases of the proposed project, including objectives, procedure, planning, need, dissemination of information and personnel.

The report was the result of two years of planning by Engelking and Aldrich-Bowler, speech and drama instructor at Buhl high school.

On July 6, 1967, a mini-grant for "Planning a Program in the Performing Arts" was granted, with Mrs. Aldrich-Bowler named as project director. Under her guidance, a 24-member coordinating committee has been working since then on different parts of the program to determine the practicability and value of the project.

According to Mr. Engelking, there are several other groups from Idaho, competing for this funding from the government for different projects, so it is not known what the probability is of the Parnassus project being approved. It is expected that it will be at least 60 days before word is received from Washington, D. C.

Engelking outlined the main objectives of the project as a program "to make English and literature programs more meaningful; to increase the use of dramatic materials, equipment, and personnel available in the area schools; and to promote art, writing, and music in the secondary schools in the immediate nine-county area."

Salmon River Steelhead Closure Grabs Spotlight In Outdoor Group's Meet

The now closure of steelhead fishing in the Middle Fork and Main Salmon Rivers and honoring of three long-time sportsmen-conservationists highlighted the annual Southern Idaho Fish and Game Association meeting Tuesday night.

Receiving honors for their many years were Earl Davidson, Lual Drexler and J. Paul Thomas, who have been members of the association for over 30 years and figured prominently in all that group's projects.

One of the biggest crowds in years turned out for the event, mostly to discover the thinking behind the new April 15 through May 30 closure of steelhead fishing in this area's most popular steelhead streams.

Don Corley, Salmon region fish biologist for the Idaho Fish and Game Department, noted the basis for the new rule is to protect the spawning steelhead.

In years past, Corley noted, the high, rolled spring runoff usually automatically cut off the fishing access around mid-April, protecting the spawners on the spawning riffles.

The light water year of 1968 proved something had to be done he said, as the water remained clear and anglers enjoyed great success throughout the spring. Corley said this also led to illegal snagging practices when the fish were in four to six feet of water and vulnerable.

Coupled with this is the steady decrease of what biologists term A-class steelhead, the long-running spawners, in the Columbia River through man-made hazards.

"A spawner, one that gets up into the Salmon River headwaters, is worth more than any fish below it," Corley rationalized. "It needs the greatest protection here to be able to reproduce."

The sportsmen questioned the department's thinking in the annual closure, noting that in light water years it already had power to invoke emergency closure. They questioned whether the present "spring closure" was a premature one that the steelhead didn't spawn until later. They also asked why this was necessary with new hatcheries augmenting the steelhead population with artificial plantings.

Jim Simpson, Boise, chief of fisheries, noted it was the department of wanting to supplement natural runs, not to replace them established. The hatchery idea is designed to make it possible to reduce success from one fish per 25 hours to something less. In addition, Simpson emphasized, the plant idea is still new, workable in theory but unproven in practicality.

Corley noted of the million and one-half steelhead smolt planted in the Pahsimorol River out of the new Niagara Springs plant, one third have passed over the Columbia River dams, one third are languishing in the Pahsimorol and probably will not last the winter and the other third presumably is en route to the ocean. He and Simpson noted other projects have been started but haven't evolved through the full cycle.

Corley also noted that the closure was made inflexible because of the old low water years—and the time required to gather data to substantiate an emergency closure. "It takes two weeks to compile all this information. We can't simply arbitrarily call an emergency closure. Two weeks comprises one-fifth of the planned closure and in that time we can lose a lot of spawners. We can't depend on snowpack measurements because we don't know when the weather will break."

Corley used a graph to show that spawning started around mid-April, peaked in early May and tapered off toward the end of that month.

The sportsmen also argued that if the spawner must be protected in the upper Salmon River drainage, then similar protection should be used on the lower part of the river from Lewiston up. The department replied that the fish biologists were moving past those points toward the headwater spawning beds. They became more vulnerable in the main river higher up where they schooled in front of tributaries waiting for the final spawning urge.

Simpson noted that 50 to 55 percent of all spawners are being taken from Salmon River against 25 percent for the Snake and Clearwater Rivers.

"We want to harvest as many as we can and still maintain a healthy population," Simpson

Castleford Hands First Loss To Declo

CASTLEFORD — Castleford's Wolves turned loose a ball-hawk in full court press in the last quarter Tuesday night and came from way behind to topple previously unbeaten Declo 64-51.

The victory, Castleford's sixth in 10 outings, ended Declo's win-

Casper Can Become Three Time Winner

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Billy Casper, who just won the Southern California Open, goes into the Bing Crosby Pro-Amateur Golf tourney Thursday with hopes of becoming the first pro to win it three times.

Paired with young Bob Dickson, the U.S. and British amateur champion, Casper also could become only the fourth golfer ever to win both the pro and pro-amateur divisions of the tourney.

National Open champion Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer, Casper and most of the other big names of golf have arrived for practice rounds.

With the "luck of the Crosby," pale warnings were posted Tuesday for northern California. The Monterey Peninsula, where the tournament is played over three courses.

It's traditional for a storm to hit the Crosby tourney. Last year, a gale on the third day forced a postponement and Nicklaus' victory came on Monday instead of the usual Sunday.

King's $104,500 event will be played over three courses, and all have been pronounced in their best condition by Jack Tuttle, PGA tournament director.

The field of 168 pros and 168 amateurs will rotate among the three courses the first three days. Then the pros and pro-amateur teams which survive the 54-hole cut play Sunday for the $40,000 pro first prize and $2,700 top payoff in the pro-am.

Casper with 280 was runner-up last year to Nicklaus' 284, with Palmer third at 291 after a disastrous 9 on the 14th hole.

Casper was in 1959 with 277 and in 1963 with 285. He's never won the pro-am.

Palmer, after 12 Crosbys, never has won here. He's been in the top five only three times.

In other action, they named Varn Smith, Fred Ehlth and Jack Spencer to the board of directors, which will reorganize later. The group also heard several committee reports.

ning streak in seven games and regrouped the Magic Valley Conference for a lighter championship race than was expected.

Castleford's victory came in the last three minutes when Denn Alfred and Doug Bybee got the crucial points—the last ones with 20 seconds left.

Declo fell behind 10-14 in the first quarter but then exploded with a 20-point second quarter to pull into a 34-22 halftime advantage. It appeared Declo all the way in the third quarter when Castleford went ice cold and hit only one field goal in 17 minutes. Declo swarmed into a 16-point lead but then the Wolves went to the press.

The effect was almost instant as the Wolves started back and whittled away all but three points of the deficit with three minutes left. Then Alfred hit two free throws to close the margin to one and the teams battled over the next two minutes.

But in the final minute Bybee shook loose for a pair of fast break crumples to nail down the upset.

Twin Falls Vaults Into Lead In State Rankings; Burley, Minico In Top 10

Handing previously seventh-ranked Minico and Burley consecutive nights, the Twin Falls Bruins vaulted from fifth to the top rung on the basis of 14 ballots cast in this week's Associated Press prep poll.

Sports FROM ALL ANGLES

By LARRY HOVEY
Times-News Sports Editor

The machinations of politicians are upon us in the realm of high school coaches at the University of Idaho and, based on a statement by the university president, Dr. Ernest W. Hartzung, the power of the Boise faction seems to have loomed up very large since last Saturday.

The athletic board made a decision to designate three order with a man named McNeese heading that list, we understand. Ed Troxel, the former Borah High School coach and now an assistant at Idaho, was not in the top three. But it appears Mr. Troxel's chances have sharply increased, particularly with Dr. Hartzung's idea of reviewing the top six finalists with the board when it meets in Twin Falls early next week.

Speculation is a fun thing to do. Speculate on the athletic board largely is unattachable by the political powers in the Capitol area. So it went about selecting what it thought would best fill the bill.

Now the board and Dr. Hartzung are very subject to political pressure. We understand that Dr. Hartzung has been bombed by an avalanche of phone calls and mail from just about everyone from the governor through the entire legislature on this matter.

Generally it is believed Dr. Hartzung has about 98 per cent to say about who the man will be with the board, of course, having the power of veto. It isn't likely that in normal circumstances, however, this would be used against a president's choice.

But when the legislature and the board with the appropriate votes start telling people dependent on them for funds that certain things might make them a bit more lenient and/or stringent, they get a listen.

It is this column's belief that each day past today that Idaho withholds the announcement raises Mr. Troxel's chances that much more.

Either way, the repercussions around will be worth some more speculation next week. We trust that the announcement can be held longer than next Tuesday.

Couch Chuck Farmer's crew shelved Nampa 83-68 and came back with a 60-51 win over Borah to complete the Southern Idaho Conference sweep. The Bruins grabbed nine first place votes and 134 points as compared to one first place ballot and 115 points for the runner-up Lions.

No. 1 Ranking Means More Work For T.F.

The Moscow Bears slumped from second to third after a 52-44 loss to Coeur d'Alene, but still managed three first place votes and an even 100 points.

Caldwell remained in fourth place and earned the other first place vote of the week. With a loss to Boise, Pocatello dropped from fifth to fifth this week to round out the top five.

Downing Payette and Valluue easily, the undefeated Weiser Wolverines (8-0) climbed to sixth place from an eighth place the last week. Riggins slipped down from sixth of last week despite a loss to Madras.

Bonneville's Bees jumped from 10th to eighth and Boise climbed from an 11th place tie to ninth. Minico, with a loss to Bonneville, slipped from the eighth place tie to 10th to round out the top 10.

Nampa's Bulldogs, seventh last week, slipped to three-way tie for 13th with Declo and Salmon, both undefeated.

The Highland Rams claimed 11th place ahead of Coeur d'Alene and Preston and Skyline of Idaho Falls were the only other two schools mentioned by the voters.

Arbitration Board Will Have Decision On Track Feud Soon

By WILL GRIMSLEY
NEW YORK (AP) — The special Senate Arbitration Board, promised Tuesday that a decision will be made shortly on the long-simmering AAU-NCAA sports control dispute.

"You can say that our finding will be handed down before the first 'track meet' at Madison Square Garden Feb. 9," the New York attorney and widely known labor negotiator, said.

"We expect the principals to be morally bound to abide by the decision."

Sparks in the bitter war over control of the nation's amateur sports flow again this week at the annual convention of the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

Marvus Plant of the University of Michigan, NCAA president, said he was distressed over the repeated violations of the moratorium by the AAU and added: "The arbitration proceedings are not making much progress."

The Rev. Wilfred H. Crowley, president of the U.S. Track and Field Federation which is challenging the AAU's right to run the sport in this country, said:

American Loop To Name New Kansas City Owners

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
KANSAS CITY (AP) — The American League will make a decision on the owner of Kansas City's 1969 expansion franchise at a full league meeting here Thursday.

The league's screening committee will submit its choice to the owners, who are expected to approve the selection.

In addition, the 50 officials and club owners will discuss details of the expansion player draft. Joe Cronin, American League president, said at his Boston office Tuesday "I expect my final decision on the expansion draft until this summer."

The new Kansas City owner will pay $5,350,000 for the club, including a $100,000 membership fee for 30 players at $170,000 per man.

The four applicants for the franchise are Ewing Kauffman, president of Marion Laboratories; and groups headed by Alex Barker, president of Civic Plaza National Bank; John Latschko, president of E. J. Hillman & Co.; and Richard Stern, president of Stern Brothers, with Crosby Kemper Sr., retired chairman of City National Bank.

The new owners must set up an organization, conclude a lease on the $43 million Jackson County sports complex, start by hopefully in 1970 and negotiate a lease for Municipal Stadium, until the complex which provides stadium football and baseball stadiums is ready.

The expansion draft doubtless will bring some lively discussions here. The league's expansion committee has proposed a plan under which existing teams would freeze 15 players initially. Some clubs "want" to freeze more than 15.

Kansas City was granted a new franchise after Charles O. Finley was allowed to move his Athletics to Oakland, Calif., starting next season. At a meeting in Mexico City late in November, the league awarded a conditional 1969 expansion franchise to a Seattle group.

Seattle must pass a $40-million bond issue Feb. 13.

SEATTLE (AP) — University of Washington assistant football Coach Bob Monroe, who specialized in defense, has resigned to go into business. A replacement will be named within a week or two.

his group would go to court if AAU demands AAU certification. AAU suspended any athletes competing in the Feb. 9 meet. Federal Spending In Idaho Listed

WASHINGTON (Special) — Senator Frank Church has released a report showing that expenditures by the Federal Government in Idaho during fiscal year 1967 totaled $342,744,000. Included are payments for salaries, grants, price supports, contracts, direct loans, benefit payments, etc.—essentially every form of federal funding.

The Bureau of Internal Revenue collected $284,457,000 from Idahoans during the period. Thus Federal outlays in the State were $130 for each $1 collected by the IRS.

Federal outlays in Idaho as reported by the various agencies and departments for fiscal year 1967 are as follows:

Department of Agriculture, $101,429,969; Department of Commerce, 1,756,205; Department of Defense, 15,161,000; Department of Health, Education and Welfare (1), 112,010,882; Department of Housing and Urban Development, 37,304,027; Department of Interior, 18,359,645; Department of Justice, 211,017;

Department of Labor, 5,481,510; Post Office Department, 17,405,870; Department of State, 18,802; Department of Transportation, 28,783,808; Treasury Department (2), 22,099,075; Agency for International Development, 372,308; Office of Economic Opportunity, 17,201,567; Office of Emergency Planning, 43,518; General Services Administration, 3,210,803; National Aeronautics and Space Administration, 36,300; Small Business Administration, 7,076,765; Veterans' Administration, 34,001,220; Atomic Energy Commission, 66,368,140; Civil Service Commission (1), 6,158,745; National Science Foundation, 486,974; Railroad Retirement Board (1), 6,055,049; Water Resources Council, 47,800.

Total for all agencies was $59,741,087.

This includes payments from Trust Funds and interest payments on government bonds.

Total Internal Revenue Collections in Idaho, which were $284,457,000 in fiscal year 1967, do not represent all taxes or funds paid to the Federal Government by Idahoans. Not covered in the collection figure are loan repayments, irrigation and power payments, and various taxes paid by residents of the State, but collected by Internal Revenue outside the state at the point of manufacture or fabrication. Many corporations doing business in Idaho have their head offices in other states and pay their taxes there. Also, payments to trust funds are not included.

The federal outlays, as listed above, represent largely funds obligated in the State. Some of the funds paid in prime contractors do not come to rest in Idaho. Insured loans were excluded in this report because such funds come from local sources and are merely insured by agencies of the Federal Government.

Release of these figures does not imply any approval of all federal expenditures," Senator Church said. "Some of these have supported and others have opposed.

Federal expenditures, by county, in Idaho for fiscal year 1967:

| County | Amount |
|------------|------------|
| Latah | 13,631,500 |
| Lewis | 4,016,959 |
| Lincoln | 3,339,576 |
| Madison | 4,308,576 |
| Minidoka | 8,939,219 |
| Nez Perce | 15,304,201 |
| Oneida | 3,255,891 |
| Owyhee | 5,130,501 |
| Payette | 5,743,128 |
| Power | 6,436,000 |
| Shoshone | 17,407,852 |
| Teton | 2,166,896 |
| Twin Falls | 21,352,123 |
| Valley | 6,262,226 |
| Washington | 6,060,920 |

Daniel Boone Descendant, 96, Still Teaches Music

CHARLESTON, Mo. (AP) — Daniel Boone, 96, still teaches music to her family. Miss Boone has taught her granddaughters, who think she may be the nation's oldest music teacher, doesn't believe rock 'n' roll is music, but she insists "all music has its place."

"Every child should begin with classical music, because it is the basis of all music," she said.

She acknowledges jazz has merit. "Guy Lombardo and a few other top band leaders produce beautiful music," she said.

Miss Boone lived 22 years in her native Clinton, Ky. Her great-grandfather, Bryan Boone, was a brother of Daniel Boone.

The family moved to Charleston in 1893. She is the youngest and last surviving child of Judge and Mrs. William Fenton Boone's 10 sons and 3 daughters.

One of her voice pupils was Betty Cooper, who became the wife of Missouri Gov. Warren E. Hearnes.

"She has a beautiful voice," Miss Boone said.

The nearly blind woman gives lessons in her quarters at a nursing home. She began losing her sight 23 years ago.

Miss Boone uses a strong light on her piano to teach. She minimizes the glare by wearing an eyeshade.

One of her voice pupils is Kathy Delaney, 16, a high school sophomore who is the sixth generation of her family.

Phaseout Of 3 Taxes Is Supported By Hailey Unit

HAILEY — Phaseout of the inventory, livestock and forest products tax was supported by members of the Hailey Chamber of Commerce Monday noon at the Main Cafe.

The discussion followed a letter read from the Salmon Chamber of Commerce in which they urged that the phaseout of these taxes should proceed in accordance with the law enacted by the 1967 Legislature.

Blaine County Assessor W. D. Martindale pointed out that county commissioners, assessors and treasurers, at their respective conventions during 1967, all went on record as opposed to the phaseout of the tax, believing it would narrow the tax base of the state.

In discussing this phaseout in relation to a sales tax, he said, "It all boils down to taking money out of one pocket and putting it in another."

In discussing his office, he pointed out that revenue stamps on deeds are no longer necessary, which, he said, makes it very difficult for county assessors to arrive at a true value of property for assessment purposes.

Mrs. Roberta McKorcher, secretary, told of an effort being made to determine which of Idaho's chambers of commerce are the oldest in the state, and said she would endeavor to find out when the Hailey chamber was first organized.

A letter from the National Old Time Fiddlers announced they will again hold their annual festival and contest at Welser this year and thanked the chamber for their assistance in putting this on in the past.

Mrs. Charles Dunn was thanked for her efforts in the Christmas merchants' promotion by vice president Jerry Johnson, who conducted the meeting in the absence of President Keith Bird. Mrs. Dunn, in turn, thanked those who helped her and requested the Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph Co., an Idaho Power Co., who put up the street decorations, to now take them down.

The current law for Halls, which makes 10 p.m. the deadline for minors to be off the streets, was discussed.

Blaine County Sheriff Orville Drexler commended the city council on an enforcement of this law, but added only the school year months are stipulated for its enforcement. He pointed out that enforcement of the law also is needed through the summer.

Members voted that the chamber request the city council to change the law to include the three summer months and place a larger fine for violation.

Mrs. Jerry Johnson was introduced as receptionist and laboratory technician for the THREE MEMBERS of Kanarraville's all-woman fire department work on an ancient fire truck in this Southern Utah town. Alarms are sounded on party lines, and firewomen

Kanarraville's Fire Fighters Wear Dresses, Hear Alarms On Party Line

By TOM KUHN
KANARRAVILLE, Utah (AP) — Kanarraville's fire fighters wear dresses and hear alarms on a party telephone line.
The entire volunteer fire department is made up of women — 15 mothers and grandmothers. Kanarraville is an unincorporated community of 236 in southwestern Utah, about 12 miles from Cedar City. Most of Kanarraville's men work in Cedar City.
"I get so there just weren't enough men in town," says Mrs.

Chester Williams, the town postmistress who became fire chief seven years ago when the women organized. "We do it to save things here."
Mrs. Williams recently turned the fire chief's job over to a sister-in-law.
The firewomen respond to alarms while clinging to a rumbly old fire engine.
"It's really laughable," says State Fire Marshal Robert A. Tanner. But he says the women do an efficient job.
"When the men are working miles away," he said, "there's no chance of response to an alarm unless the women man that machine."
The women have put out many grass and trash fires and even a shed or two. The volunteers range in age from the 20s through the 60s.
"Everyone has children," Mrs. Williams said, "and some have grandchildren. In other words, most of us are past 30."
The Kanarraville Fire Department keeps its tired old pump in a fire house built with bakesale money.
"It just don't have any speed, but it gets there, anyway," she said.
Five stations are contacted effectively by telephone. Eight families are on a party line.
Just to make sure, the siren on the sputtering fire engine also is activated.
She said there have been fires to fight outside the town limits. However, Mrs. Williams said, "We try not to go any further than we have to because the truck is so old."
She said maintenance on the truck is done by the men. Kanarraville's limited general fund keeps gas in the tank and antifreeze in the radiator.
The pump, equipment and protection gear all are discarded of the Cedar City Fire Department. Each woman can operate every piece of equipment.

Snow Survey Is Reported For Cassia

DURLEY — Snow survey results for Jan. 1 in Cassia County were announced Monday by Gerald G. Larson, work unit conservationist.
Snow pack and water content ran approximately 50 per cent of normal with Clear Creek near Naf and Summit Springs listed as exceptions. They ran 70 per cent and 88 per cent respectively.
The snow pack and water measurement for Cassia County were Howell Canyon, 10.2 inches of snow, 4.3 inches of water and 40 per cent of average; Boy Scout Camp, 13 inches snow, 4.2 inches water and 48 per cent average; Summit Springs, 10 inches snow, 3.2 inches water and 68 per cent average; Barber Gulch, 4.6 inches snow, 1.7 inches water and 59 per cent average; Clear Creek Meadows, 21 inches snow, 0 inches water and 70 per cent average; and Bostetter, 13 inches snow, 0 inches water and 50 per cent average.
Soil moisture conditions were found to be very dry in the first two feet both below a snow pack and where there is no snow pack. Moisture readings are taken at the same time that snow depth and density are measured.
Electrodes which have been buried at one, two and three foot levels, reflect the amount of moisture present at the various levels.
These moisture stations are located throughout the county.
The snow surveys were made by Burke Scholer and Floyd Praeger.

March Draft Call Set At 39,000 Men

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon called today for 39,000 men to be drafted in March, the highest military manpower request in 17 months.
The March request, placed with the Selective Service System, is the highest since October 1966 when the Pentagon sought 49,200 inductees.
Other draft quotas this year included January's 34,000 and February's 23,500.
Monthly draft calls are based on planned increases in the military system and varying replacements needs.
The Pentagon said the March draft quota "supplies currently approved force levels and will assure a timely flow of replacements for men completing their terms of service."
The March inductees will go into the Army as they have for the past 23 months.

Road Unit Gets Set For Spring Breakup

Truckers and other highway users were reminded Monday by the Idaho Department of Highways officials in Shoshone, to begin watching for the red and yellow speed and load restriction markers along state and federal highways.
These markers appear each spring, usually early in February and remain into May, denoting the annual spring breakup of highways due to frost, freezing and thawing of the ground, during winter moisture and temperatures.
Some highways will be posted for maximum legal loads and any truck or bus with a gross weight of 10,000 pounds or more will be restricted in critical areas to 30 miles per hour. These restricted speed zones will be designated by red and yellow highway markers, the red to indicate speed of no more than 30 miles per hour and the yellow to indicate legal speeds may be resumed by the heavy vehicles.
Lists of highways involved in restrictions during the spring breakup period are maintained by the Department of Highways and are sent to trucking firms and other operating heavy vehicles. Others who are interested in knowing which highways carry restrictions may obtain the list from any district office.
On highways not carrying speed restrictions, but maintaining legal load limits, there will be no restrictions for vehicles carrying legal or below weights unless breakup begins.
Speeds in this event may be restricted, officials said, but generally the routes will allow transportation of legal weight loads into the state on main highways and between major terminals within the state.
Highways in the local area included in this category are State 24 from the Highway Interchange in Rupert, State 25 from Bliss to Rupert, State 28, Bliss to Gooding; State 27, Burley to Paul; U.S. 30 Idaho-Oregon state line to Burley; U.S. 30 S, Burley to the Idaho-Utah line; U.S. 30 N, Burley to Idaho-Wyoming line.
Others include State 46 from Wendell to Gooding and U.S. 93 from the Nevada-Idaho line to Hailley.
When highways are posted, overload special permits will be

SOUTH MUST FIND QUEEN

Some of the easiest hands to bid turn out to be the hardest to play. South has a very nice hand—some trump opening, North counts his 22 high card points a couple of times to make sure that he really has them and jumps to the grand slam. Even if his partner has happened to open with only 17 points, the total will be 37 and there should be a good play for the grand slam.

The play and defense turn out to be difficult. Unfortunately for South the only four card suit in each hand is diamonds, and while he has 12 top tricks there is going to be a two-way finesse for the queen of clubs in the cool of the evening.

South will start proceedings.

Dental Date

Long Overdue

Dear Walt and Ele: I am going steady with a wonderful guy. The only problem is his decayed teeth. I hate him to kiss me because the thought of those teeth make me sick to my stomach. I don't want to hurt his feelings by suggesting he see a dentist, but I've had it. New ones would improve his looks 100 per cent. Some kids I know are laughing and making fun of him and these remarks make me feel embarrassed and ashamed. — Yellow But Melow

Dear Mellow: What's more kind is to just ease out of the relationship without giving him a chance to correct the problem that pushes you out, or to gather yourself up to let him know how you feel? Personally we'd vote for privately telling him. "Dad, let's do long expense dates for this next year and build a fund to fix your teeth. It's going to be a holdback when you start looking for work and it's a definite damper on my own romantic spark. If I didn't care so much about you, I'd never tell you." Will he take it well? Let's hope so. Many dentists, incidentally, will do the work now and let you pay off the cost over an extended period of time! — Walt and Ele

OK ON SHOWER

Dear Ele: Concerning "In Doubt's" letter about having a baby shower when her mother-in-law feels it would be in bad taste, well, I too was pregnant when I married 10 years ago. Nevertheless, my husband and I were thrilled about our "early arrival."

Need help to find "the kind way out"? Send 10 cents and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for "Easing Off Steady Relationship" to Young America's Date-Line warranted stand must expose cure of this paper.

Dear Mother: Your experience enlightens my mind. Instead of knowing to mom-in-law's demands, I'd now suggest the girl tell her: "My friends want to give this shower, not for me, but for your grandchild. It means more than presents, it means that the youngster will be respected and loved. I intend to let them do this generous thing. If you're prepared to love your grandchild, you'll come!" — Ele

Juror Cited

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A note was sent asking the judge to look at Juror No. 1 in the jury box because the man appeared to be ill Monday.

The judge took a long look, cited the man for contempt of court and sentenced him to 30 days in jail for being drunk.

A mistrial was declared and the juror was led to jail handcuffed to the defendant in the rape case he was supposed to help decide.

Broadcasting Fairness To Be Studied

WASHINGTON (AP) — With an eye toward this year's presidential race, two major networks want the Supreme Court to take a new look at federal equal-time regulations.

The court was asked to decide before next spring whether Federal Communications Commission rules requiring broadcasters to provide free time to individuals or groups to answer "personal attacks" and "political editorials" don't violate free press constitutional guarantees.

An appeal to the high court was filed Monday by the Columbia Broadcasting system and National Broadcasting Co., along with the Radio Television News Directors Association and eight operators of radio and TV stations.

FCC rules require every station that broadcasts a statement attacking the "honesty, character, integrity or like personal qualities" of any individual or group, furnish a tape, script or summary of the attack, and offer free broadcast time for an answer.

The same applies when a station broadcasts an editorial favoring a specific candidate.

The appeal said certain programs such as interviews contain many editorial statements.

It maintained that allowing replies to each such statement would prove impossible.

The net effect of the so-called fairness doctrine would be to force stations to eliminate such statements altogether, said the appeal.

It noted requests for free time would be likely to increase sharply as this year's political campaigns get under way.

Former Exchange Student At Minico Visits In Area

RUPERT — Giselaue Melifuu, a former exchange student at Minico High School, and her father, Roger Jaeckert, are visiting friends here.

Giselaue, better known as Gigi, attended school here in 1961 and lived with the Orton family of Hoyburn.

She was an exchange student from France and at present is living in Cayenne, French Guiana in South America where they operate an import-export business.

Gigi was active in many school activities. She belonged to the Ski Club and laughed at Lora Orton when Lora broke her leg while skiing but the next day Gigi fell while skiing and broke her leg.

She had a role in the operetta which was being presented by the music department and Mrs. Orton found her removing the cast from her leg so that she could take part. It required some persuasion on Mrs. Orton's part to convince Gigi that this was impossible.

Gigi was an attendant to the homecoming queen, a member of the Panarettes and other clubs.

Open house was held for Gigi
