Grave Digging Is Tough Job, Especially In Winter

By FRED DODDS
Times-News Staff Writer
Ever watch a gravedigger at work?

Many of us have visions of a very dark night, a dog howling in the distance, fog drifting just under crooked gravestones and two sinister figures clad in top hats and cloaks working silently with shovels. There might be a black cat looking on curiously.

If you have visions like that, you'd better visit the Twin Falls Cemetery or Sunset Memorial Park.

Grave digging is done in the daytime, and workmen will use just about anything to get the job done—dynamite, gasoline-powered tools, shovels, axes, picks—in the time allotted them, which is about two hours.

Gravediggers, it was learned in a recent visit to the Twin Falls Cemetery, are not sinister figures lurking about the tombstones' either. Sometimes they are teenagers making a little extra pocket money, sometimes they are cleaners with their yards. Right now four men are busy at Twin Falls Cemetery.

It takes four men to dig a grave in the dead-of-winter. Frost reaches 12 inches into the ground and it's like digging through solid steel.

On call through the week, Bill Madland, his son Bill Jr., Lloyd Satterfield, foreman, and Elmer Jones are the grave diggers. Mr. Madland is president of the Twin Falls Cemetery Association, his son is manager and Mr. Satterfield is foreman.

Mr. Jones has a gravedigger's respect for the dead. During the day he walks among the tombstones in the cemetery and talks about those buried there as if each were a personal friend.

"Remember Mrs. Co-and-co? She's right here and there's a place for her husband when he goes. Right here, see!"

The cemetery is far from full yet. In fact, at the present death rate, it will take more than 70 years before all the plots are gone.

At the present time more than 800 are buried there.

In the actual digging of the grave this time of year, the four gravediggers find the plot hard. A plot has to be measured right, within inches.

Once it is located and measured, its location is logged in a book for ready reference. Then Mr. Madland marks a large rec-angle, which is the grave. It has to be large enough to fit the casket and the covering cement vault. In 1906, when the cemetery opened, vaults were wooden, but now they are cement and they protect the casket.

"Digging a grave, the men sometimes hit a vault nearby. Mr. Jones said he finds that some vaults, in the ground more than 10 years, are in perfect condition."

When the four worked on a recent grave, they had to use a gasoline-powered hammer to cut into the ground. They cut around the rectangle outline, going nearly six inches deep.

With the cut made, they sliced again until the sod was cut into small squares.

These they flip out, exposing the dirt underneath. The frost is still there so they have to cut again, and again. After the frost is gone, the going is easy and a grave can be finished in about an hour and a half.

Graves do not go six feet. This is an old wives' tale, Mr. Madland said. "The dead must be buried in a sanitary manner," he added, saying that graves at Twin Falls Cemetery are at least four feet six inches and four feet 10 inches deep.

The gravediggers both open and close the grave. Often the grave is left open before the funeral and always it is closed right after the funeral, no matter what the time.

Grave robbers? No. It's just that the gravediggers have a high regard for the family. They feel the family deserves immediate attention in such matters.

"Sometimes they watch us fill in the grave, then come up and shake our hands," Mr. Jones said.

Mr. Jones and Mr. Satterfield take good care of their cemetery—as does Robert Harney across the street at Sunset Memorial Park. They smooth the grass and rake the leaves and worry nights about vandals and treat each family as if the death were a personal loss.

Grave digging is a personal business to them. They babysit the dead and read the inscriptions on the tombstones.

"There's a lot of history here," Mr. Madland said. He spoke of one woman who died after caring for 20 homeless men most of her life.

The names of those 20 men can be read on her tombstone. She made it easier for them in life, they showed their respect in death.

A man, killed by the Indians in 1846, is there.

Many other markers are individual stories. The dates "1834 to 1910" are a story. A person does not need the details to feel the drama.

One day in the cemetery is not wasted. It can be interesting.

DIGGING A GRAVE In the middle of winter is not an easy job. But the shovel has given way to the power drill in this picture, as Bill Madland Jr. tries to cut through 12 inches of frost. Standing by is Elmer Jones. They are preparing a grave at the Twin Falls Cemetery. This scene is repeated once or twice a week, but it will be at least 75 years before the cemetery is full.

Hatfield Would Not Hesitate To Support Gov. Rockefeller

By JACK BELL
Asst. Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore., says New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's position is flexible enough to unite Republicans on the Vietnam issue if he becomes the party's presidential nominee.

Hatfield, a critic of President Johnson's Vietnam policies, said in an interview he does not believe that Rockefeller's general support of the course Johnson has pursued in Asia would preclude him from offering alternatives.

"I think Gov. Rockefeller's position on Vietnam is flexible," Hatfield said Wednesday. "I would have no hesitancy in supporting him if he were the nominee."

The Oregon senator added he isn't taking sides in the nomination contest.

Rockefeller's brother, Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller of Arkansas, cheered on Wednesday Maryland Gov. Spiro T. Agnew's move to draft the New Yorker.

But other Republican governors generally are willing to support the course Johnson has pursued in Asia, which next meets in New Hampshire, at least until he has tested his vote appeal in Wisconsin. So if there is a Rockefeller move, it probably will have to be taken without any formal release from his commitment to Romney.

Gov. John H. Chafee of Rhode Island, who has joined Rockefeller in supporting Romney, has quickly to backing the New York governor if the latter would just indicate a willingness to run. Chafee heads the Republican governors association, which next meets in June.

Gov. David F. Cargo of New Mexico, who hasn't endorsed any candidate, said he thinks Rockefeller could be persuaded to run if enough governors get behind him.

Rap Brown Takes Refuge In Cuba Mission After Incident

By JIM MONROE
NEW YORK (AP) — Black Power militant H. Rap Brown took refuge for nearly six hours in the Cuban mission to the United Nations after he and a rookie patrolman were involved in a shooting incident outside the building.

The episode Wednesday evening escalated into something of a minor diplomatic incident. The mission sent a sharp note to U.N. Secretary General U Thant protesting police mistreatment and abusive behavior.

Police said the patrolman involved would go into criminal court today seeking a summons charging Brown with harassment.

Just before he left the mission at 10:45 p.m. for an undisclosed location, Brown told newsmen waiting outside that the day's events were the "action of the Gestapo police" and "instigated by Mayor Lindsay and President Johnson."

It is an action to crush dissent," he charged. "We came in as guests and we serve notice again that if white people are going to play Nazis, black folks ain't going to play Jews."

The Cuban U.N. delegation said that upon instructions from its government, it "denounced" the United Nations the flagrant violation of the territorial integrity of Cuban soil by the American authorities.

The statement, signed by Jesus Jimenez, charge d'affaires of the delegation, called on Thant to intervene in the affair.

Patrolman Alfred Smith, remained outside. Police Capt. William Lakesman said Brown, in passing, pushed Gleason who then followed the two Negroes to the street. Brown was carrying a package and Gleason asked what it contained.

"Why don't you mind your own business and go away?" Brown was quoted by Gleason as replying. Gleason said a shoving match ensued as he tried to take Brown and Smith into custody.

Instead, he went back inside the mission while an armed mission guard held the door open.

Jacques Nevard, deputy police commissioner for press relations, gave a second version of the incident later saying Brown and Smith attacked the policemen without provocation as they left the mission.

After they were inside, Gleason called his superiors at the U.N. precinct, bringing successfully another patrolman, a sergeant and finally Lakesman.

When they attempted to enter the mission, the Cuban officials exercised their right of extrajurisdiction and refused to admit them.

Inside, Brown called his lawyers, Stephen Hyman and Harriet Van Tassel. Lakesman held a sidewalk conference with the lawyers, checked with his superiors and then announced that Brown would be allowed to leave the mission without interference.

Both guests were forced to go back to the Cuban mission in view of the violent aggression and the threatening action of the American police," the statement said.

The incident began when Brown, 24-year-old leader of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, and Smith left the mission about 5 p.m. Brown said he had been there for an interview.

Patrolman Richard Gleason on routine guard duty at the mission, was warming himself in the vestibule, an accepted practice, police said. His partner, Patrolman Alfred Smith, remained outside.

Police Capt. William Lakesman said Brown, in passing, pushed Gleason who then followed the two Negroes to the street. Brown was carrying a package and Gleason asked what it contained.

"Why don't you mind your own business and go away?" Brown was quoted by Gleason as replying. Gleason said a shoving match ensued as he tried to take Brown and Smith into custody.

Printing Machine Is Seized

NEW YORK (AP) — Secret Service agents have seized a printing press and a large amount of counterfeiting equipment in Ohio following their confiscation here of $4.1 million worth of phony $100 bills—the largest haul in the history of the Secret Service.

Two men have been arrested in Ohio and charged with printing the counterfeit money.

A Miami Beach lawyer, Joel Lee, 39, was arrested here. He allegedly was salesman and traffic manager for the ring that planned to unload $50 million in fake $10, $20 and $100 bills. Authorities say that apparently none of the phony money got into circulation.

Albert E. Whitaker, agent in charge of the Secret Service in New York, has predicted more arrests.

Secret Service agents, acting with local police, seized counterfeit equipment in a raid late Wednesday at a vacant store room in Wellsville, Ohio. No arrests were made.

Police Capt. Pete Trainer said he understood that the equipment was connected with the counterfeit operation in which the two Ohio men had been arrested. The material seized included a photocopy camera, two boxes of paper, a

Dilettante Publicity Has Imagination

When it comes to publicity there are very few angles that haven't been used by the Dilettante Group of Magic Valley, Inc.

This year, for instance, the principal players—board members and staff—were taken to a 170-mile round trip to Sun Valley to get a picture of a scenic background befitting "The Sound of Music," which will be presented in March.

And then there was the time the photographer patiently waited for about an hour for a horse to yawn while doing publicity on "The Music Man." The leads for that show also wandered through a cemetery for about an hour trying to get just the right backdrop for a photograph.

Last year during "Yankee Rainbow" a telegram was sent to the mayor of Dublin, Ireland, inviting him to attend the show. Of course, he didn't have time, but the telegram made good publicity.

Publicity, as such, doesn't make the show any better. But it has succeeded in the past few years in helping insure the Dilettante shows having nearly sellout performances.

Proceeds from the shows are put back into the next year's production and also are used for scholarships for students interested in the arts.

This year, added to all the posters and billboard which will be displayed all over Magic Valley is a brightly blonde woman who is zooming around in a new car which has been painted to advertise the show.

Jill Miller, New York, the director for this year's show, and her car, donated by Willis Motor Co., probably will be some of the best advertising the show will have. Miss Miller will be staying with various members of the Dilettante organization in large percentages of that 150 are seen on stage each year. They are painting scenery, working in the box office or ushering people to their seats. Tickets for "The Sound of Music" will go on sale about the middle of February. The show will be presented in March.

The week-end members started rehearsals with Miss Miller, who arrived in Twin Falls Jan. 3.

Mansfield Views Next Session

By WALTER R. MEARS WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield says the next session of Congress could open with a civil rights filibuster.

A civil rights bill, virtually certain to ignite heated debate, already is on the Senate docket as the opening business after Congress reconvenes Monday.

"I think there's going to be some conversation on it," Mansfield said of the measure. He added in a Wednesday interview that the debate could be lengthy.

The measure is designed to protect Negroes and civil rights workers from racial violence. It would make it a federal crime to use violence or threats to interfere with the exercise of civil rights by members of minority groups.

"I'm very hopeful we can pass the bill," he added.

But Mansfield said the measure "is in deep trouble" if Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen opposes its terms. And Dirksen has said he will.

In another prediction, Mansfield said he expects a renewed request for higher income taxes but not "too much in the way of new proposals" in the coming session of the United States Congress next Wednesday.

The Montana Democrat conceded Congress is unlikely to adjourn until after next summer's political conventions.

Senator Urges Airline Fare Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — Airlines were urged Wednesday to reduce airline fares for "senior citizens" as they are doing for young persons and the military, said Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho.

Church said he had written to airlines serving Idaho and other parts of the U. S., asking them to consider the reductions for older persons.

Three State Land Sales Reported

Two 320-acre tracts in Gooding County were sold. George C. Rathko, Boise, paid $16,000 for one and Ralph Faulkner, Land, Inc., Gooding, paid $9,800 for the other. Each tract was appraised at $8,000.

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Me and my big mouth. Now I've really done it. My little 4-year-old granddaughter asked me if the stork really dropped her down the chimney, and I laughed and said no. Then she asked me how she got here, and I simply told her that she was Mommy's tummy. Now what was so terrible about that?

My daughter-in-law is very angry with me because she's afraid the child will ask her how the seed got there. My son has sided with his wife and I am in the doghouse.

Abby, I cannot stop putting off telling a child what he will eventually learn anyway. But what am I to do about my son and his wife? I don't like being on the outs with them, but I think they are wrong, wrong, wrong.

THORNY

MODERN GRANDMA

DEAR MODERN: I happen to agree with you. First, try to educate your son and his wife to your way of thinking. It is far healthier for the child to bring them out of the Dark Ages, continue to answer all questions as honestly as possible. Time will prove you right.

DEAR ABBY: Do you think a man who would cheat on his wife?

CHRISTY

DEAR CHRISTY: Only a man who can't resist nice round figures.

DEAR ABBY: My father, who is 82, wants to remarry. This will be his fourth wife since Mother died six years ago. His lady friend is 70. She seems pleasant and intelligent enough, although she, too, has had three divorces in the past 10 years.

Question: My brother and are paying for Dad's support. He is still able to enjoy life and look after himself, but at times he acts a little strange. Should we give our blessings to this marriage? We want to be fair, but, oh, dear!

DILEMMA IN DAYTONA BEACH

DEAR DILEMMA: I would not encourage anyone who acts a little strange to marry. Especially at age 82, with a history of three divorces in six years.

DEAR ABBY: The other evening I very nearly hit a little boy on a bicycle. I was almost on top of him before I saw him. His bicycle had no reflectors. Please print this as a reminder to parents of youngsters who have bicycles. I am not calling "reflectors." They can buy luminous paint and "decorate" the child's bicycle so it will be seen by motorists at night.

"Every time I think of how close I came to hitting that little boy, I tremble."

U.S. Army Shortages Observed

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. Army divisions and brigades that form a strategic reserve to meet any new crisis abroad, are short nearly one-fifth of their major equipment.

This situation exists more than two years after the Defense Department began putting in heavy orders for gear and supplies to support a big military buildup for the Vietnam war.

Asked for a report on the present equipment situation in the strategic reserves, the Army replied Wednesday: "The active Army divisions and brigades currently stationed in continental United States have on hand approximately 82 per cent of the major equipment, major items and equipment."

The Army defined a major item as "one which in itself performs a function" such as trucks and tanks.

It estimated only about one-half the shortages will be filled by June 30.

Beyond an across-the-board percentage the Army declined to provide a breakdown of short items.

But while the strategic reserves are short of the allocated equipment, the Army apparently has made progress in modernizing their gear.

In May 1966 the Senate preparedness subcommittee complained state-side divisions were backward with their equipment and tracked equipment which had been taken "an excessive number of miles."

The new report said fewer than 1.2 per cent of the major items on hand are less than five years old.

The preparedness subcommittee charged in March 1966 that the Army's divisions in the United States were not combat-ready because they were being used to train draftees and recruits. Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara acknowledged this was so.

A separate Army report, furnished on request to The Associated Press, showed this problem has been overcome. The Army said its major training requirements in the ranks of its divisions and brigades in the United States.

Coins Taken From Pay Telephones

Three telephone booths were damaged and coins removed from coin boxes, city police reported Wednesday.

Officers said investigation indicated persons breaking into the coin boxes used a device designed for this specific purpose and were able to crush the telephone, breaking open the coin retaining box and removing it.

Located on Addison Avenue West and on Shoshone Street and Blue Lakes Boulevard North were entered, officers said, and damage and loss of coins amounted to about $100 per booth.

Naval Academy Finalist Named

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. James A. McClure, Idaho, said Wednesday six finalists have been chosen to compete for an appointment by him to the U. S. Naval Academy.

The six are Frank Dingler, Coeur d'Alene; Gary Groffsoma, Mountain Home; Craig Hesse, McCall; and Gary Celuska, Kenneth Deal and Stephen Johnson, all of Boise.

Powell Challenges College Students

By LINDA DEUTSCH LOS ANGELES (AP) — Black Power will be the saving grace of the United States, he shouted. Adam Clayton Powell, pacing as he spoke, Powell challenged some 6,000 students at University of California at Los Angeles Wednesday to "move out and try to create a new society."

The new Negro leaders "don't mind white followers but they don't want white leadership," he declared.

It was the first public speech by Powell since he broke his self-imposed exile on the island of Bimini and flew to California late Monday. He plans to make 13 more speeches at other U.S. colleges.

"I have a faith," Powell said, "that one day... black and white young people are going to walk the streets of America and say: 'This is our land. It doesn't belong to those gentle people in Washington. It belongs to us. It's the days of the civil rights movement are over. Great old men like Phill Randolph and Roy Wilkins—they've had their day,' he said.

Even Martin Luther King, Powell said, "changing his philosophy. He said that during a recent visit to Powell's retreat at Bimini, King told him 'he's going to reverse his white philosophy.'" Powell said King, who advocated passive resistance was not going to preach violence, "but he said he's going to stop saying only nonviolence."

Black Power advocates, Powell said, are insisting on full equality—not all those phony civil rights bills that don't mean a damn thing.

"We're insisting on full equality now," he said. "It's gonna come baby. It's gonna come."

Loud cheers and applause came from a section of the auditorium occupied by members of the Black Students Union. Powell addressed many of his remarks in their direction.

"I'm not of the ghetto," he told them, "because I love my people. I like to be with my soul people."

Turning to the other side of the audience he cried, "and you white students—there are as good as you are. And in a sense... we are better than you."

"The trouble with you young white men and women," Powell said, "is that you have no leadership. Whether we agree with them or not, we've got to get Stokely Carmichael, our Floyd McKissick, our Rap Brown and the old man of the sea—Adam Powell."

"We black folks, we got a new breed of cats," he said.

Powell vowed he would eventually return to Congress—"how can they exclude me from Congress and allow good old Christian Tom Dodd to stay there?"

But he said he will continue to avoid New York where there is a warrant for his arrest on a criminal contempt charge stemming from a libel judgment.

Hells Canyon-Snake River National Area Is Proposed

IDAHO FALLS, Idaho (AP) — A "Hells Canyon-Snake River National Area" has been proposed by an Idaho Falls group in its national campaign to delay construction of the proposed High Mountain Sheep Dam.

The Hells Canyon Preservation Council began distribution this week of its information supporting a campaign to preserve the Snake River's canyon along Idaho's western border with Oregon.

The canyon, deepest in North America, "is a magnificent area," the group says, and "it should be kept this way for the enjoyment and inspiration it offers to fishermen, hunters, wild river and wilderness enthusiasts, and photographers."

Private and public power firms have advocated construction of the dam a few miles upriver from the Snake confluence with the Salmon River.

"The national scenic river area classification will allow hunting and fishing in the present form, allow private property owners to maintain status quo, including grazing rights; allow existing roads to stay open," the council's statement says.

Its pamphlet points out a recent study by the Bonneville Power Administration showed nuclear power is now economically competitive with hydroelectric power.

Packers Prepare For Super Bowl Contest

By JACK HANDBLUM

PORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Vince Lombardi sent his Green Bay Packers through a 90-minute contact-drill Wednesday because he thought the National Football League championship game looked a little sluggish and rusty in a closed workout at Yankee Stadium.

"I think by tomorrow we'll be in good shape," said the coach of the Packers who is preparing his squad for the Super Bowl game Sunday in Miami with Oakland's American Football League champions.

"This is a big game," said Lombardi, "but it's not the end of the world. The Packers will continue to operate no matter what happens Sunday."

Asked about recurrent rumors that this may be the last Packers' game he coaches, Lombardi said:

Raiders Try To Find Key To Packers

Boca Raton, Fla. (AP) — Oakland Coach John Rauch, his eyes a bit bloodshot from watching and rewatching films of Green Bay's last three games, isn't sure how much he's learned from the footage.

"There's never enough film to look at as far as I'm concerned," said Rauch before sending the American Football League champion Raiders through another practice Wednesday at a preparatory camp for Sunday's Super Bowl showdown with the National League champion Packers.

"You'd like to have all their games if you could. But we've worked from film all year long," Rauch continued. "In the AFL we don't use scouts. We exchange two game films, and that's it. I guess with three Packers films, we're ahead here."

Rauch has learned anything special from the Packers pictures, he's not saying.

"I'd venture to say that if you asked 10 people how to beat Green Bay," said Rauch, "you'd get 10 different answers. In any game, we must prepare for anything that might develop out of any formation."

Rauch said he thought the Raiders' best chance against the Packers would be to use a varied attack.

"I think you have to establish some balance," he said. "Otherwise you'll just get your back there waiting for you."

The Raiders spent 90 minutes working on offense Wednesday, and Rauch continued to be pleased with his club's progress.

"There's still work to be done," he said. "But we're coming along nicely. I'm very satisfied."

ISU Students To Vote On New Stadium

POCATELLO, Idaho (AP) — Idaho State University students voted to approve a $12 million Friday to recommend a fee increase of $12 a semester to finance a $2.5 million sports center.

If approved by the students and the State Board of Education, ISU would be the first university in the nation to have a covered sports center.

The proposed sports center would seat about 15,000 persons and be used for football, basketball, track and other non-athletic activities. It would be financed by the student fee increase over a 35-year period.

Also on the ballot will be proposals to abolish intercollegiate football at ISU and to increase student fees $6 a semester to finance academic scholarships.

About 4,300 students are eligible to vote.

ISU President William E. Davis has said he would recommend the sports center to the state board unless students approve it.

NCAA Ends Moratorium, Retains 1.6 Grade Rule

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Collegiate Athletic Association reopened its war on the amateur Athletic Union Wednesday by calling off its moratorium on sanctioning of outside track and field events.

In a statement passed at the annual convention of the college body, the NCAA said it would demand that every event promoted by an outside source would have to carry NCAA certification.

This has been a sore spot in the long-standing war between the NCAA and AAU over control of amateur sports.

Walter Byers, executive director of the NCAA, said the action was delayed until Nov. 1 in order not to jeopardize the U.S. efforts in the 1968 Olympics in Mexico City, 1968.

The AAU has insisted that it cannot accept track and field events, and it has steadfastly refused to meet the college demands for certification.

The so-called moratorium has been in effect since August, 1965, at the start of the Senate Commerce Committee hearings and has prevailed through a study of the problem by a special arbitration board named by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

Earlier the NCAA retained the 1.6 rule which sets an academic standard for any athlete on scholarship and found itself in the middle of another controversy with political and social overtones.

Dr. Mason W. Gross of Rutgers University, defending the admission of a boy who failed to meet the standard, protested what he called "a ridiculously unjust and inflexible application of the rule."

The rule specifies that an athlete must project a 1.6 grade average on a national table in which 4.0 is the maximum.

The original rule, strongly objected to by Ivy League and other Eastern colleges, also said that the athlete must maintain this average — equivalent to a D — in order to remain eligible for athletic competition.

In an amended version, adopted

Maris Agrees To Terms With Cards

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Roger Maris will play another season with the World Champion St. Louis Cardinals.

The National League club said Wednesday Maris had agreed to terms for 1968 at a meeting in Florida with general manager Bing Devine and Stan Musial, the club's senior vice president.

Terms of Maris' baseball contract were not announced, but indications were that he received about the same amount as 1967 when he was paid $75,000.

The 33-year-old Maris, who came to the Cardinals a year ago in a trade for third baseman Charley Smith, hit 261 home runs last summer. He batted in 55 runs and delivered the game-winning hit 18 times.

Maris, a rightfielder, teamed with Curt Flood and Lou Brock to give the Cardinals one of the finest defensive outfields in baseball.

CSI Begins Tough 3-Game Road Swing

College of Southern Idaho's Golden Eagles are on the eve of the toughest part of the schedule, slating a three-game swing through Idaho State, Utah State and BYU this weekend and following with a trip to North Idaho State next week.

"We just hope we can get one alive," says Coach Eddie Sutton, who isn't the kind to settle for any kind of a split. "We're going down there to win all three games, but it's going to be a tough weekend."

The Eagles will play ISU on Friday and travel on to the Utah State game Saturday. They will spend Sunday in Salt Lake City and complete the tour against the BYU-yearlings Monday.

Clarence (Ben) Glover, a sophomore starter, returned to CSI Tuesday and will make the weekend trip. After that the young Yonkers man is uncertain about his future here.

Glover missed two games in returning late from vacation, worked out Tuesday night and then indicated he might leave school.

"I don't know. Basketball just doesn't seem that important to me right now," he said Wednesday night. "I'm going to make the trip this weekend and see if that does anything for me. If it doesn't, I think I'll go home Tuesday and get a

Social Security Will Take On Truly Staggering Proportions In 3 Decades

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Social Security, a minimum-entitlement program, will begin to take on truly staggering proportions in a bit more than three decades in the year 2000.

Presently there are just under 24 million Americans drawing retirement, survivors' or disability benefits — not to mention the added protection most of these are getting under Medicare.

Official estimates for the number likely to be drawing payments in 2000 range from 37 million to 42 million.

If that does not seem a large number, consider the outlook for 2020, when the number of benefit recipients is estimated to range from 53.7 million to 59.6 million.

So when one talks of "future coverage" in Social Security, what is involved is simply a steady entry of numbers in categories already covered. There are today no significant groups of Americans not covered by Social Security or by other social insurance plans under civil service and railroad retirement.

The enlargement of numbers in consequence of several factors — basic population growth, a soaring rate of aged persons in absolute terms though not significantly in percentage of the overall population, advances in medicine and in the art of keeping people alive longer and hence on Social Security rolls longer.

Population age trends evidently have swung through several cycles. For a time two decades or more ago, it seemed adequate and was quite fashionable to say that the American population was, proportionately, aging fast.

More recently, a "youthening" trend was detected, but public figures tended to overstate it. The median age never did drop to 25, as some politicians had claimed. It is around 27 others, at least, slightly as birth rates, at least for the time, have slipped off.

But the country's total population is today so huge, having passed 200 million and being bent, apparently, on a still higher course, that absolute numbers in all age groups are tremendous.

At the age end of the spectrum, the trend is magnified by health advances (and, of course, the very treatments made possible now under Social Security's Medicare features), which keep many of the aged longer than a few decades back.

In this country today there are an estimated 13,000 people 100 years of age or older. Not long ago, the centenarians could be counted on the fingers of a few hands.

More remarkable still, the Census Bureau estimated that there are now 40 million Americans 60 years old or more.

These particular aged folk are now old today to have done the work and piled up the earnings needed to qualify for any but the most limited special Social Security benefits. But they are a harbinger of the future. Those who replace them later in the upward brackets will be qualified — and draw benefits a long time.

These are the operative trends for anyone interested in Social Security's future coverage, since coverage across the work spectrum is nearly universal today. The only new group brought under the tent by the 1967 law were clericals. They could qualify before by taking certain steps. Now they are in unless they opt out.

Spain Is Official Custodian Of U.S. Interests In Egypt

By JOSEPH E. DYMAN
CAIRO (AP). — When you telephone the American Embassy in Cairo, the greeting is "Spanish Embassy."

No, it's not a wrong number. The red and yellow banner of Spain is flying from the building. The full response should be in Spanish, American Embassy men say.

Ever since Egypt broke relations with the United States at the outbreak of war last June, Spain has been the official custodian of U.S. interests here. The personnel includes a limited number of American nationals and some veteran Egyptian employees, operating under the Spanish flag.

This is a relatively new work in diplomatic relations, developed in recent years in this part of the world to handle the mess of a break in relations in case of war.

Such a full break did not happen here. Instead, through an exchange of formal notes via Madrid and New Delhi, it was agreed that some Americans would stay on in Cairo to handle Embassy affairs under the Spanish flag, while some Egyptians remained in Washington under the Indian diplomatic cloak.

In addition, the two countries maintained consular relations. Under these agreements, Donald C. Burgess, a mild and hearty career diplomat with many highly placed Egyptian friends from previous duty here, heads a staff which now has grown to 14 other Americans. Burgess is the American Ambassador in everything but name. He has diplomatic status as a member of the Spanish list. In all official business, Burgess and his staff are meticulous in identifying themselves as part of the Spanish Embassy.

Under an agreement worked out in June Burgess has the right to his own diplomatic courier. The courier takes Burgess' reports directly to Washington without having to pass through Madrid. Burgess uses his own code in communications with Washington. An Egyptian employs a corresponding status in Washington under the Indian flag.

Council special appointments by Mayor Ward were Brown, a lighting system schedules and changes. A film on street lighting was shown by the visitors. Mayor Ward reported on meeting with the county commissioners in regard to city dump problems. No solution has been reached.

Tillman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Tillman, Route 1, Bloomfield, Mont., is taking part in the 10,000-mile flight of 101st Airborne Division units to Vietnam, the largest and longest aerial troop deployment in history. His wife, Norma, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Winnett, 816 Monroe St., Gooding.

Sergeant Tillman, a flight engineer, flies aboard one of the Military Aircraft Command (MAC) transports that is airlifting units of the 101st Airborne Division from Ft. Campbell, Ky., to Vietnam. Sergeant Tillman is a member of the 62nd Military Aircraft Wing at McChord AFB, Washington.

They also protested the deterioration of service of the passenger trains as has been indicated by the type of service offered the past few years, president Gilbert Person reports.

Guests were Richard Groby, Gooding, and Mrs. Shirley Tewa, Shoshone. A thank-you letter was received from Mrs. June Roessler for the prize she received in the art contest.

Sticky

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Iowa (AP)—Stanley Earl Hoot Murlin is faced with the sticky task of tacking 9,000 one-cent stamps.

Murlin ordered 9,000 post cards for customers' annual bills last October before the stamps were available. From one to five cents for postage.

"I'd write my congressman," said Murlin, "but I'd only have another stamp to lick."

City Budget Is Set For Richfield

RICHFIELD — The proposed Richfield city budget was set and newly elected officials sworn in at the initial council meeting of 1968 held Monday night.

The proposed budget of $10,850,000 will be discussed at a public hearing set for 8 p.m. Feb. 5 at the regular board meeting. The budget allows $8,000 for the general fund; $4,000 for streets and alleys; $800 for fire fund; $1,400 for irrigation fund; $1,800 for street lighting; $400 for recreation; and $400 for public works.

Mayor Clifford Ward was sworn in for a four year term and John Lemmon, councilman, two year term. Howard DeWitt, councilman elect, was not present.

James M. Brown was elected council president. Mrs. Ross Swainston was appointed police judge and re-appointed city clerk. Lester Johnson was re-appointed city marshal and Cecil D. Hobbey, Gooding, retained as city attorney.

Council special appointments by Mayor Ward were Brown, a lighting system schedules and changes. A film on street lighting was shown by the visitors. Mayor Ward reported on meeting with the county commissioners in regard to city dump problems. No solution has been reached.

2 EXPENSE-PAID TRIPS FOR 10 EXCITING DAYS IN

HAWAIIAN OVEN — A whole pig is laid in an "imu" or underground oven of hot lava rocks, along with yams and sweet potatoes and bananas. All the food is wrapped in ti-leaves and buried in sand, then the imu is sealed over and the food allowed to steam through for several hours. All the guests gather 'round to watch the men take the pig out of its hot bed when it is time to begin the feasting. Hawaii Visitors Bureau Photo.
