

Air Reservists Prepare For Duty As U.S. Seeks Crisis Settlement

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nearly 14,000 air reservists prepared to muster for military duty as the United States pushed along diplomatic paths to a possible "diplomatic" settlement of the Pueblo crisis.

President Johnson's approach obviously was to compile an air of determination with a readiness to use diplomacy in settling the crisis.

While the U.S. embassy made no comment on the new attempt, a Soviet source said the ambassador "again was unsuccessful in getting the Soviet government to play some role in unraveling the crisis."

consider what U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg called a "grave threat to peace."

In seeking the session for today, Goldberg said he hoped it would lead to the immediate return of the Pueblo and her crew.

In Moscow, U.S. Ambassador Joseph P. Thompson, who had no luck Tuesday in persuading the Soviets to act as intermediaries in the dispute with North Korea, made another call at the foreign ministry today.

While the U.S. embassy made no comment on the new attempt, a Soviet source said the ambassador "again was unsuccessful in getting the Soviet government to play some role in unraveling the crisis."

source, who cannot be identified, said his government has no intention of getting involved.

"The prospect that Moscow might relent looked rather dim after the official Soviet news agency Tass said Thursday that North Korea acted 'rightfully' and denounced the call-up of U.S. air reservists as a 'threatening act.'

The North Korean also talked tough. The official newspaper of the North Korean Communist Party said Friday the Pueblo's crewmen "must be punished by law."

It was not clear whether this meant the North Koreans planned to try the U.S. Navy men on some kind of charges, or would demand their punishment as the price of their being freed.

Any move to try the Americans would almost certainly inflame members of Congress, some of whom already are demanding direct military action to reclaim the ship and its crew.

Navy sources in Washington said messages from the ship's master, Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher, furnish evidence that the crew blew up the Pueblo's air conditioning machinery and that the North Koreans evidently got "nothing that really compromises us."

In Congress, Rep. Paul Findley (R-Ill.) offered a resolution that would place Congress on record as backing Johnson in any try at recovering the Pueblo and its company.

North Korea called itself fully prepared to meet any attack by the United States, and threatened it would "deal a hundred fold" the regulations.

The tone of these statements suggested North Korea is in no mood to listen to the Security Council or that body should act.

North Korea is not a U.N. member and has a history of ignoring the world organization's efforts to solve peacefully divided Korea's disputes.

White House Press Secretary George Christian said Johnson's move, through Goldberg, to bring the U.N. into the problem

"reflects his earnest desire to settle this matter promptly and, if at all possible, by diplomatic means."

What will happen if diplomatic means should fail remained very much in doubt.

The call-up of 14,787 Air Force Reservists and Naval Air Reservists will serve to give the United States a "little more" power at a time when pilot and plane resources are spread thin because of the Vietnam war.

Current plans are to keep the air reservists at their home bases. That means some may be able to go home tonight.

Sources said they expect the air reservists to function as back-up for overseas forces, possibly including additional regular flying units that may be moved out into the Pacific, closer to the scene of the latest crisis.

For the most part, the Air Guard and Air Reserve planes are old models. The Naval Reserve aircraft are a bit more modern.

But Guard leaders say their squadrons are full strength and fully equipped, and could be sent overseas "immediately" if needed.

Army and Marine sources said they have not been given any sign that any of their reserve ground units would be called up.

THE PUEBLO INCIDENT took a large part of Idaho Sen. Frank Church's time Thursday when he met with people at the Cassia County Courthouse. It was a regular visit for the youthful senator, but there was seriousness in his face, even as he greeted two women in the front of the courthouse here. In a talk with newsmen, he said the Pueblo incident had the problem with North Korea was a "grave situation." Tonight he will speak at the Twin Falls Jaycees' Awards Banquet.

27-Point Agenda Listed For Legislative Session

By EARLE L. JESTER
BOISE (AP) — Idaho's legislative session to consider a 27-point agenda — including some items not previously mentioned.

The agenda includes appropriation of permanent but a (1) in a fund money for a new state library in the Capitol Mall and the revision of state law to permit housing of women prisoners at the state school and hospital in Nampa.

Excluded from Gov. Don W. Samuelson's official call for the session, as had been anticipated, was the providing of more state money for the public schools in the current biennium.

He has insisted there is not sufficient surplus in tax revenue to justify further school appropriations.

Some teacher groups have indicated they will stage demonstrations at the opening of the special session Monday, leaving their classrooms to do so.

Primarily the special session is being called to deal with problems resulting from last summer's extensive forest fires.

The legislators will be asked to appropriate money to redress the deficiency warrants which have been issued to pay fire costs and to replenish emergency fire suppression funds which were exhausted.

They also will be asked to authorize some new programs intended to strengthen the state's ability to deal with such disasters as the 1967 fires. These include establishment of what could become a multi-million dollar reserve fund and the setting up of a training plan to prepare state employees to better meet such disasters in the future.

Samuelson proposed last year that women prisoners now being housed at the state penitentiary in Boise be transferred to the Nampa Institution where he said they could provide useful employment which might train them for work after leaving the prison.

The legality of the proposal has been questioned. Samuelson put on the agenda a request that the legislature authorize such procedure.

The proposal for a new state library in the Capitol Mall and the revision of a plan to construct such a building at the present site of the combined library and state historical museum in Boise's Julia Davis Park.

Under the revised plan, the museum would remain in the present building, which would be renovated, and about $45,000 in state money, appropriated a number of years ago but never used, would match available

Jerome Teachers Plan To Leave Classes On Monday

When the special session of the Idaho State Legislature opens Monday in Boise, school will have a mute reminder of educational problems facing the state.

Between 50 and 60 Jerome teachers have voted to leave their classrooms and attend the opening day's session. Indications are Friday that the Jerome members of the Idaho Education Association will be the only group from Magic Valley Fourth District to attend, but Arco, Challis and Salmon teachers also have voted to attend, according to Warren Van Camp, president of the Jerome unit.

The Jerome teachers appear in the minority in their action, as at a meeting of Magic Valley IEA members at the Twin Falls Lincoln School Thursday night, it was overwhelmingly voted that "this is not the time to declare a professional holiday," reports Walter Slaughter, IEA secretary, Fourth District President.

The district IEA official stressed that teachers feel continued pressure should be put on the legislature and the needs of education brought before them.

One of the basic problems facing IEA members, Mr. Slaughter commented, is lack of accurate information as to what the "actual situation" in the statehouse is.

"Area teachers are agreed that the educational needs of the state must be faced in the next session of the Legislature, Mr. Slaughter added.

"The Jerome teachers are not going to demonstrate, but 'just being there' will call attention to the importance of the problem," Mr. Van Camp declared.

2 Marines Escape Captivity, Run Barefoot Through Jungle

By JOHN LENGELE
DA NANG, Vietnam (AP) — After two weeks in North Vietnamese captivity, two young U.S. Marines tiptoed past a dozen guard and raced barefoot through the jungle to safety.

Cpl. Steven D. Nelson, 19, of Elkhardt, Ind., and Lance Cpl. Michael Robert Roha, 20, of National City, Calif., were in excellent shape when they reached U.S. Marine positions Tuesday two days after their escape. Now they are going home to duty in the United States, 10 1/2 months early for Roha, nine months for Nelson.

Nelson's family was notified Jan. 9 that he was killed in action. They were notified that he was safe as soon as he returned.

Nelson said the report he was killed was based on a wrong identification of a body by a Marine buddy.

Nelson and Roha told a news conference today about their capture and escape.

They were with a Marine pacification team in the hamlet of Chua Luu, about 17 miles northwest of Da Nang, when about 200 North Vietnamese attacked their outpost Jan. 7. Of the 17 Marines and 29 Vietnamese militiamen there, seven Leathernecks were killed and all the rest, except Roha and Nelson, were wounded.

"I guess I stunned them as much as they stunned me. About 15 yards farther on an NVA jumped and pushed a pistol into my stomach."

Neither man had boots on and in a few hours their feet were bleeding as they followed a trail to the mountains. They were given sandals, fresh trousers and shirts. When they stumbled their captors helped them to their feet. The next day, the men were in a company-size base camp, in a bomb shelter in which they could stand nearly erect.

Roha followed and was next to the hamlet when the guard opened his eyes for a second, then dozed off again.

"My heart stopped beating, said Roha. 'I almost tumbled from being so scared.'"

The Marines' race into the tangled jungle to escape was as fast as they could run.

Rep. Hansen Questions U.S. Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. George Hansen, R-Idaho, in a telegram sent Thursday to Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara, termed the U.S. handling of the U.S.S. Pueblo high-jacking "questionable."

Hansen asked: "Why the slow, lightly armed vessel equipped with electronic gear was not taken to probe close to North Korean waters without protection? Why the American public was not informed until nearly 2 1/2 hours after North Korean harassment started? And why measures were not taken to intercept the Pueblo during the more than two hours it took to reach Wonson Harbor after the capture?"

After More Than 40 Years Assistant Postmaster Retires

During the Christmas season, retired from his post as assistant postmaster in Twin Falls, completed his final day of work in the local post office. He is retiring to devote full time to hunting, fishing, golfing and just resting.

AFTER 40 YEARS and seven months, Vey Gish, assistant postmaster in Twin Falls, completes final duties before his retirement. Friday was his final day of work in the local post office. He is retiring to devote full time to hunting, fishing, golfing and just resting.

day an employe terminated at the "clear" bench. Management and Mr. Gish has a number of terms on his record in which he was employed for only one day and then terminated until needed again.

He worked only briefly as a substitute mail carrier and then moved into the office as a clerk. He held this position for 15 years.

Mr. Gish will be honored Sunday by fellow employes with a dinner. He has worked under four postmasters beginning with P. W. (Coe) McRoberts, then M. A. Strunk, W. W. Frantz and the present postmaster, Fred Sanger.

For the post office, Mr. Gish's services have been profitable in many ways. As of Friday, his final day in the office, he has 40 hours of unused sick leave. Based on a 40-hour week, this would amount to more than a year of service.

Plans for his retirement at this time do not include anything special except for smoking, fishing and golfing. He has been active in the Elks Lodge, American Legion and the National Association of Postal Supervisors, having served as president of the state organization.

He and his wife, Marthe, have one son, Walter, who is in Europe.

Tax Refunds Are Running Some Plumper

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tax come tax refunds are running a little plumper this year. The Internal Revenue Service said Thursday the nearly 105,000 refunds it had mailed out as of Monday to early-bird taxpayers averaged $153. Last year at the same time the average was $128.

IRS said its computer system is working along nicely. The smoother operation of the system plus a tendency of many taxpayers this year to get their returns in early has enabled the agency to process twice as many returns as it did in the comparable period a year ago.

Refunds through Monday totaled $16 million, a $10 million increase from 1967, the tax collectors said.

LT. CMDR. G. WILLIAMS

will report for active duty with the U.S. Navy Reserves Saturday morning in Alameda, Calif. He is the only reservist in the immediate area to be included in the call issued Thursday for some 14,600 reservists.

Local Navy Reservist Is Recalled

Lt. Cmdr. George Williams of the U. S. Navy Reserves will leave Friday afternoon for Alameda, Calif., where he has been called to active duty, with the carrier-based attack squadron, unit VA 873, one of several called back into action Thursday.

Formerly a commanding officer of the Twin Falls Reserve Squadron, NRCC 13-29, Mr. Williams went to more than a little trouble to retain his reserve status.

After many inquiries and letters he learned he could affiliate with the unit in California, but it would mean driving to Salt Lake City once each month and from there fly by navy aircraft to California for the monthly meeting of the unit.

Because he was a navy pilot in World War II, he retained the aviator status in his affiliation with the Twin Falls unit. There were no such ratings in the Twin Falls area, so necessary negotiations were undertaken and the rating was changed to maintenance engineer.

There were countless units he might have affiliated with, including 10 at the Naval Air Station in Alameda, and only one of these has been called to active duty—VA 873, the one he finally joined.

Lt. Cmdr. Williams is the only officer in the Twin Falls area known to be among those called by the Navy.

Snowbank

CORNWALL, N. Y. (AP) — Mrs. John Garlogh suddenly found herself in the middle of a snowbank in her living room.

A gear on the blower half of a city snowblower broke as the machine passed in front of her house. Flying ice and snow broke the living room window and piled up on the floor. Mrs. Garlogh suffered minor cuts from flying glass.

City work crews shoveled out the snow, cleaned up her living room and replaced the window.

Senior Citizens Housing Project At Buhl Is About Half Finished

BUIH — Work on the senior citizens housing project is about one-half completed. The work on the project, which will be named Lincoln Courts, is slightly ahead of schedule, according to Mrs. Josephine Gilne, chairman of the Buhl Housing Authority.

Five units have reached the stage in construction where the roofs are on, with electrical work and plumbing started. Concrete footings for two more units were started this week.

Mrs. Gilne noted that the project may be ready for occupancy ahead of schedule, depending on the weather.

Prime contractor for the unit is the Otis Hall Construction Co., Twin Falls. Sub-contractors have been let in A and B Plumbing, Dan Daniels Roofing, Electric Equipment, all Twin Falls; Nyer Construction Co., Gooding, for the brickwork; Robert Mottl Twin Falls, insulation; Meyers of Twin Falls, landscaping, and Winn and Co., Buhl, is working on the exterior with the J. A. Clawson Construction Co., Twin Falls.

The project will be electrically heated, involving cable heating with auxiliary wall heaters. There will be no overhead power or telephone lines, as they will all be underground.

Each of the 40 one-bedroom units will have doors wide enough to accommodate a wheelchair, sliding glass doors will lead to individual patios which will have a protective overhanging roof. All patios will be double paneled and included with each unit will be drapes, electric range and tile flooring.

Jim Robinson, San Francisco,

a government inspector, visits the project monthly, and Glenn Donney is serving as the local inspector during construction.

The focal point for the residents of Lincoln Courts will be the community center building, an existing 40 people, with a range and refrigerator furnished. Dishes, silverware, folding chairs and tables will also be provided in the building. Mrs. Gilne stressed that the building would be available for rent to local non-profit groups.

Applications are still being taken and Mrs. Wilbert Perkins, project secretary, is available at the trailer located at the site between 1 and 3 p.m. Monday through Friday to take applications and answer questions.

Prospective applicants may also contact any of the members of the Buhl Housing Authority for information about the qualifications for residency at Lincoln Courts.

In addition to Mrs. Gilne, others serving on the board include Mrs. Ralph Lamb, Kenneth Beecher, Warren Saunders and Rev. Dolmar Talley.

Idaho County Sheriff Hit For Not Carrying Out Orders

BOISE (AP) — Had a county sheriff promptly carried out instructions from the Department of Law Enforcement, an Idaho man might not have been killed in a traffic accident, Law Enforcement Commissioner Warner Mills said Thursday.

The sheriff responded sharply, saying "Warner Mills is way out of line."

Borchmann Auger, 85, of Grangeville, was killed early this month in a one-car accident in Boise County. The car he was driving smashed into a rock wall adjacent to the highway.

Mills said he learned that the state of Washington last November had reported the same man was involved in a traffic law violation in that state.

Because of the nature of the violation, Mills said, he sent an order on Dec. 1 to Sheriff Gene Fuzzell of Idaho County, instructing the sheriff to have Auger submit to a physical examination and eye test. Provisions for such examinations are included in a 1967 law.

Mills said a check showed that the test had not been given and that during the first week in January Auger was involved in a minor accident in Boise. Eight days later the accident occurred in which the Grangeville man was killed.

"The legislation calling for physical and eye examinations was passed for the purpose of removing from the highways those who are not qualified to drive," Mills said.

"Had this driver and sheriff complied with instructions, Idaho might have had one less traffic fatality in January."

Fuzzell, however, said "we fulfilled our obligations." He said his department gave Auger forms for both the eye test and the physical. He said under these conditions, the driver may go to the doctor of his choice.

"I can't force him to do this," Fuzzell said he knew that Auger did have an eye test and that he was given the form for the physical. He said he did not know if Auger actually took the physical.

Fuzzell said the Washington violation occurred when Auger was there to get new glasses from a Washington optometrist.

Bomb Fragments Found Around B52 Crash Site

By JOSEPH P. MOHAT THULE AIR BASE, Greenland (AP) — The U.S. Air Force found hydrogen bomb fragments Thursday around the spot where a B52 bomber crashed and buried on thick ice near this Arctic Circle base.

But, the Air Force doesn't know whether the rest of the four bombs aboard the big Strategic Air Command jet are buried in the snow and ice or at the bottom of North Star Bay under about 800 feet of water, Maj. Gen. Richard O. Hunziker told a news conference.

All the debris is being left "right where it is," said Hunziker, "because right now I have control of the contamination and I don't want to let it get away from me." He added that it had not been decided whether to search deeper for the rest of the bombs.

The plane crashed on a nine-foot thick blanket of ice covering North Star Bay near Thule base. The flame-scorched area and fragments of the plane indicate that the B52 may have exploded on impact.

One crewman perished in the crash. Six others parachuted to safety. One of them, Capt. Frank P. Hopkins, has been returned to Andrews Air Force Base, Md., suffering a broken arm and a minor frost bite.

where the plane crashed, Hunziker said. But while "every piece of debris we found was contaminated" by the device's radioactive contents, Hunziker said, "based on the information we now have, this does not present a dangerous situation to anyone."

Hunziker said he does not know what percentage of the thermonuclear device aboard the plane has been found. Hunziker said the bombs apparently were on board the huge aircraft not thrown from it when it plunged into the ice. He displayed a photograph of what he called the plane's impact area and a long, black scar on the ice where the plane slid for several hundred yards, spewing fuel and burning. Hunziker, a SAC officer, is directing identification and recovery efforts in the area. The crash area, two helicopters and eskimo-driven dog sleds are ferrying technicians to the scene. Air Force efforts are being hampered by dark and cold. News reports arrived at Thule Thursday are to be flown over the site. A deep blue twilight hangs over Thule for about two hours around noon and the rest of the day is black as night. Flashlight beams are used in the minutes. Hunziker said he is ordering more helicopters and trying to provide electric power to the recovery area.

He said the contaminated area is more than 300 yards wide around the impact point. The debris he identified as fragments of H-bombs, were found on top of two feet of snow.

A noted expert on the effects of radiation, Dr. Wright Langham of UCLA's Los Alamos Laboratory, flew to Thule Thursday and told newsmen that on the basis of early information, "I am fairly sure that the plutonium is fixed in other words, confined to the contaminated objects themselves and not radiating deadly rays into surrounding air."

Gardner's Resignation Caused By Lack Of Program Support

By JACK MILLER — WASHINGTON (AP) — John W. Gardner's sudden resignation as secretary of health, education and welfare was prompted in part by his belief Congress and most Americans won't face up to severe domestic problems, sources report.

Gardner's resignation Thursday, to take effect March 1, caught even his closest associates by surprise. President Johnson accepted it "with deep regret."

No successor in the Cabinet post has been named but initial speculation focused on HEW Undersecretary Wilbur J. Cohen, 54, a veteran of federal social programs since the New Deal days of President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

In his resignation letter to Johnson, Gardner pointed out he had planned to stay only two years in the Cabinet and already has served six months longer.

An official close to the HEW chief, asked to explain the resignation, handed a newsman a copy of a Gardner speech just month and pointed to these paragraphs:

"I believe we are now in a situation in which the gravest consequences for this nation will ensue if we fail to act decisively on the problems of the cities, poverty and discrimination."

"It does not seem to me that either Congress or the public is fully aware of the alarming character of our domestic crisis. We are in deep trouble as a people. And history is not going to deal kindly with a rich nation that will not tax itself to cure its own miseries."

Gardner has reportedly chided at budget cutbacks in HEW programs forced in part by increased U.S. expenditures in Vietnam.

But a White House spokesman said the resignation had nothing to do with Vietnam, and Gardner said neither way policies nor budget cuts were factors.

Gardner, 55, a Republican who formerly headed the Carnegie Corporation, said he would return to the foundation as a consultant on city problems.

Gardner is the latest in a string of high officials to leave the Johnson administration. Others who have resigned include Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara; Chairman Gardner Ackley of the Council of Economic Advisers; and Charles L. Schultz, director of the Budget Bureau. In addition, it is widely expected that Arthur J. Goldberg will quit his Cabinet post as ambassador to the United Nations.

Under Gardner, HEW put into effect many of the most sweeping new domestic programs since the 1960s. They included Medicare, Medicaid and many new commitments to health research and education.

GIRL MEETS BOY and Baloo, the bear, and Bagheera, the panther, register much more pensive expressions than does 'Mowgli,' who has never seen a girl before. The three characters are among those featured in Walt Disney's animated film feature, 'Jungle Book,' currently being shown at the Orpheum Theater in Twin Falls.

Disney's "Jungle Book" Held For 2nd Week

"Jungle Book," the last animated feature personally supervised by the late Walt Disney is being held over for its second week at the Orpheum Theater in Twin Falls.

The co-feature is "Charlie, the Lonesome Cougar," also a Disney production, featuring a tame cougar.

"Jungle Book" is an all-cartoon feature inspired by Rudyard Kipling's "Mowgli" series. "Mowgli" is a child who has been reared by a pack of wolves and whose safety depends on his return to civilization.

"Mowgli" is so fond of the many animal friends he has acquired during his life in the jungle that he is reluctant to leave them.

The film represents 30 years of cartooning experience and the voices and personalities of an all-star, unseen cast.

"Jungle Book" was three years in the making and is the pinnacle of Disney's cartooning ambitions. The film is musical-comedy in nature.

Disney noted that the bear in the story called for a "Phil Harris" type, so went right to the top and got Mr. Harris himself to do the vocal work for the bear. Other voices heard in the movie include Sebastian Cabot as a panther, Louis Prima as King Louie the Ape, and others.

And, not without romance, "Jungle Book" has a boy-meet-girl ending, devised by Disney.

Goldwater Sees Seizure As "Probe"

SEATTLE (AP)—Barry Goldwater said Thursday he believes the seizure of the U.S.S. Pueblo by the North Koreans is a "probe" to see how far the United States will go.

The former Republican presidential candidate told about 2,800 persons at the University of Washington, "We never ended that (Korean) war—it should be the A No. 1 lesson on how not to end a war."

However, he said the United States should not "proceed with great haste" in trying to secure the release of the intelligence ship and its crew. He said the government should pursue the matter through diplomatic channels, but at the same time, he is ready to teach the North Koreans they made a mistake.

Goldwater, an Air Force Reserve major general, had a word for critics of the Vietnam War: "We did not start that war," he said. "I would urge you young eloquent people to change your voice from Vietnam to the United States to those of those in this world that are causing us trouble."

Conrussa said he has decided to take up the issue of disposing of the stamps with the State Board of Examiners.

The girl's 25-cent piece will be returned.

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: Am I a dope to accept an engagement ring from a guy who admitted it was his "same-diamond-he-gave-a-girl-three-years-ago" I didn't ask him any questions because I never knew him when he was engaged to her and I figured it wasn't any of my business. Right?

Well, a very good friend of George's said she thought I was a dope for accepting a second engagement ring, but Abby, he had the diamond reset, so it's not like it was the same ring. Do you think I was a dope?

ENGAGED.

DEAR ENGAGED: No, if George can tell two birds (chicks, that is) with one stone, there's no harm done. (P.S.: Keep your eye on that "good friend" of George's who thought you were a "dope" — just to make sure she doesn't take you for one.)

DEAR ABBY: If this letter makes sense, it will be a miracle because right now I am so nervous I can hardly think. Yesterday I came home and found my 16-year-old son putting on my makeup! He had lipstick on his lips, eye shadow on his lids, and he was putting on mascara. He acted embarrassed when he saw me, but he didn't run and hide. All he said was, "Just wanted to see how I'd look."

He was wearing his regular clothes, but he had his shoes and socks off, and later I found my high-heeled slippers under his bed. I can't understand things like this. Abby, what does it all mean? We have three other children and they are normal. I can't tell my husband. It would kill him for sure. I am worried sick and don't know what to do. DESPERATE MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: This boy could be normal, too, and is

Crochet Ideas Are Explained

SHOSHONE — There is always some occasion coming up — a new baby or an anniversary or a special birthday anniversary — that calls for a gesture. And it's not always easy to think up something new in the way of a gift, so here are a few ideas to consider in case you enjoy crocheting, suggests Mary Lou Ruby, extension-home-eclectic agent.

With a crochet needle and heavy cotton yarn, you can make an attractive throw rug to add charm and color to any room. For a baby's or child's room, applique it with colorful little animals cut out of felt. For a bathroom, rug, machine-embroidered bare footprints. An embroidered or applique plant monogram is always a nice personal touch.

Cotton yarn is so durable and wonderfully washable that the recipient of such a gift could enjoy it for years. Just be sure that any decorative motif, such as applique or embroidery, is color-fast and as safely washable as the yarn itself — because a throw rug is in constant use will need frequent washing. A throw rug in constant use will need frequent washing.

Mrs. George Hesselholt prepared the program but was unable to attend because of illness. Mrs. Jake Stahlecker, vice president, presented the program.

A sketch, "The Court" was presented with Mrs. Joe Wasko, Mrs. Al Krauter and Mrs. Stahlecker taking parts.

THANK YOU! WE APPRECIATE THE COMPLIMENTS ON OUR CLEANING SERVICE.

We suggested in a recent ad that people not pleased with their present cleaning service give us a try.

Many did. And we have received enough compliments to encourage us to follow up our intention of telling YOU some interesting things about the cleaning business.

Believing that a great many people want to take good care of their precious apparel (and items don't have to be expensive to be precious), we started several years ago, the purchase and installation of modern EQUIPMENT to make our plant one of the best in the area. It is expensive, but if a cleaner wants to spend the money, he can have equipment nowadays that does a great deal of work automatically.

For instance, we clean your clothes in constantly renewed cleaning fluids. We don't have to measure it in by hand or keep track of how many garments have been cleaned before we change the fluid. It's done automatically and continually.

The fluid being used in our plant now was not being used an hour ago. It has been filtered and cleaned in a process going on every hour we work.

Clothes-handling equipment, drying, pressing — all have the aid of devices designed for the purpose. So you get cleaner clothes with less manipulation and handling on the part of your cleaner.

Properly cleaned then, your clothes will wear longer. We want you to try our service. We're equipped to serve you well, and we're dedicated to that end. Call us now and see what we're talking about. Which is — SUPERIOR CLEANING at NO EXTRA COST.

Please now and start your experimental adventure with SUPERIOR CLEANING at NO EXTRA COST.

Area Swine Breeders Producing Top Hogs

By ROBERT VANAUDELN
Times-News Farm Editor

Swine breeders in Southern Idaho are producing top quality hogs for today's consumer. This was summed up after a carcass contest this week by Wade Wells, University of Idaho animal husbandman.

of these carcass contests is to show the producer what he is producing in the swine industry and that leaner cuts are more desirable than ones with more fat.

The trend of the housewife today, Mr. Wells said, is to buy leaner cuts of meat and also the ones that are marbled. On marbling, he added, this does not mean lots of fat through the meat, but "featherings" of fat through the meat.

The carcass contest was sponsored by the Southern Idaho Swine Breeders Inc. and awards were presented to the top three winners in both the carcass contest and the market hog show.

Carcass contest winners were Bill Mink, Gooding, first; Ray Olsen, Twin Falls, second, and Clark Mills, Twin Falls, third. In this event, Mr. Wells and Otto Florence Jr., Independent Meat Co., were the judges.

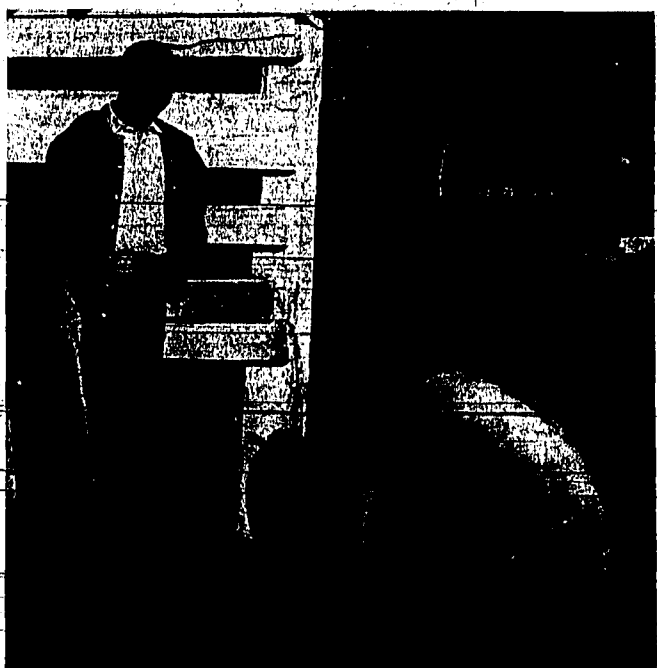

In judging the carcasses, Mr. Wells and Mr. Florence examined the lean cuts, color, texture, firmness and overall quality of meat. In addition to standard requirements of minimum length, minimum loin eye and maximum back fat.

Top 10 were picked by the three judges during the market hog show, but not all placed the same in both events.

Mr. Wells noted that the loin eye of one of the hogs was very large, as compared to others. It measured 7.5 square inches while others measured around five square inches. The minimum allowed in the contest was four square inches.

MARKET HOG SHOW winners are, from left, Billy Loughmiller, Twin Falls, first; Ray Olsen, Twin Falls, second, and Harold Grant, Eden, third. There were 24 hogs from throughout Idaho in this event.

TOP WINNERS in the hog carcass contest and market hog show, held this week at Independent Meat Co., were Bill Mink, Gooding, left, first place winner in the carcass event, and Billy Loughmiller, Twin Falls, market hog show winner. Independent Meat Co. presented the trophy to Mr. Mink and Rangens, Inc., presented the trophy to Mr. Loughmiller.

The presentation was made during the association's annual meeting in Twin Falls earlier this week.

Idaho Feed And Grain Association Names Officers

New officers of the Idaho Feed and Grain Association Inc. were named during the group's annual meeting earlier this week in Twin Falls.

New president of the association is Del Jones, Caldwell, Ida Best. Other officers include Richard Reinke, Ashton, Reliance Grain Co., first vice president; Rulon Trost, Nysaa, Ore., Farmers Feed, second vice president; B. E. Barker, Twin Falls, Twin Falls Flour Mills, treasurer; and Charlie Hendricks, Burley, Union Seed Co., secretary.

Delegates to the convention heard speakers tell of new varieties of cereal grains, world seed exploration, the new Grain Standards Act, vitamins in animal feed and other related fields of the feed and grain industry.

Some of the speakers included Dr. Charles Peterson, University of Idaho; poultry science department; Herahel Ellis, Portland, USDA area supervisor; Howard Roylance, University of Idaho extension agronomist; Harold West, Idaho Wheat Commission; and Dr. Earl Collator, president of World Seeds Inc., Salinas, Calif.

Apart from the feed and grain industry, one speaker discussed the proposed Southwest Idaho Development Project. Speaking was W. A. McGregor, Bureau of Reclamation area engineer for Snake River development. Mr. McGregor said this proposed project, covering about 15,000 square miles consists of utilizing the land and water resources within this area. He said this area contains about 10 million acres and is divided into four areas.

He said these areas are the Bruneau division, Mountain Home division, Garden Valley division and the Weiser division.

On the Bruneau division, the area from Buhl to Bruneau, along the Snake River, about 240,000 acres could be developed within this proposed project.

Dr. V. H. Bohman, chairman of the animal science division of the University of Nevada, discussed developments of grass tetany. He showed a film showing symptoms of grass tetany in cattle and explained how to treat for this disease.

Also speaking that is not related to feed or grain was Tim Brennan, executive director of the Idaho Retailers Association. He spoke on the inventory tax.

Mr. Brennan said there was a movement on to have the inventory tax reinstated. His kind hope is that this does not happen. He said already industry and businesses are expanding in Idaho because of the phase-out of the tax and if it was to be reinstated, several industries would move out of state.

Get the jump on weeds and bugs now!

We've got a man — he's a trained Agronomist — who keeps his fingers on newest practices in weed and insect control. Nice guy, this Agronomist. He's perfectly willing to share his know-how with you, and it doesn't cost a cent. For up-to-the-minute information, all you have to do is contact him through your American Oil Farm Man. Ask about the big line of AMOCO Insecticides and Herbicides too. Each is designed to do a particular job particularly well. Funny thing is that in winter they mostly go unnoticed, except by our Agronomist, of course. But just wait a couple of months. That's when they become real celebrities (and sometimes just as hard to find). So put yourself a big jump ahead. See your American Oil Farm Man, and order now. That way you'll be sure to have all the AMOCO Insecticides and Herbicides you need, when you need them. Ag-Chemicals... another quality reason to farm with American Oil. You expect more from American and you get it!

Soil Fertilization Is Discussed At Area Plant Food Association's Meet

Soil fertilization seemed to be the theme of the annual conference of the Southern Idaho Plant Food Association this week in Twin Falls.

Speakers discussed such items as straw decomposition, latest research on zinc for beans, future irrigation in Magic Valley, fertilization of irrigated pastures, major cultural practices for maximum potato production and to sugar beet fertilization.

About 175 fertilizer dealers and salesmen and soil specialists attended the meeting, held in the Holiday Inn.

Straw decomposition was outlined by Dr. J. H. Smith, soil microbiologist at the Snake River Conservation Research Center in Kimberly. He said straw must be turned under as soon as possible for best decomposition results.

On zinc for beans, John Brown, chemist at the Kimberly research center, said zinc fertilization is necessary in this area for top bean production. Mr. Brown said of the bean varieties planted show the zinc deficiency. He added that usually only beans have this deficiency.

Virgil Kennedy, University of Idaho farm management specialist, discussed the economic considerations of fertilizer applications and fertilizer decisions. He also discussed farm land management.

Mr. Kennedy added that there is continuation of enlargement of farms, but the number of farms is decreasing. He said although corporations have entered this field, they are still a small percentage.

Fertilization of grain wheat was discussed by Wayne Thiesen, extension soils specialist. He outlined the best way to fertilize grain wheat to get maximum yields.

On fertilization, Keith Campbell, Salt Lake City, Stauffer Chemical Co., spoke on fertilization of irrigated pastures; John Morris, Twin Falls, assistant director of research for Rogers Brothers, bean fertilization; Frank Robinson, Twin Falls, Green Giant Co., on pea fertilization.

Edward Koester, Gooding County agent, spoke on fertilization of maximum yields of corn, both sweet corn and silage corn.

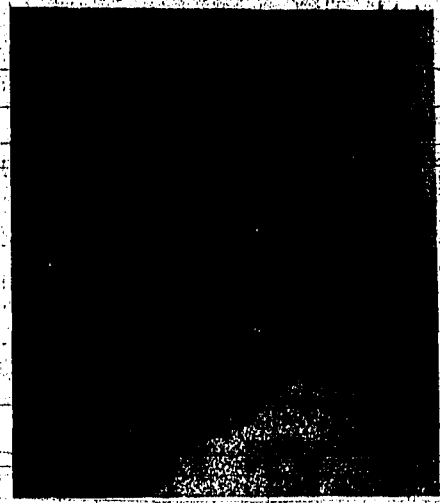

On sugar beet fertilization, this discussion was given by Robert D. Day, Twin Falls, assistant to the general agriculturalist, unamalgamated Sugar Co. Luncheon speaker was Jack Lindsey, Los Angeles, International Minerals Corporation. He spoke on salesmanship and computerized farm management.

Other speakers included Louis C. Cheenut, Federal Lands Bank speaker; Dr. Marvin Jensen, investigation leader on water management at the Kimberly Research Center, and Dr. Robert Kunkel, horticulturist, Washington State University, on major cultural practices for maximum potato production.

Holding Action Effects Noted

RUPERT—William Hepworth, past national director from Idaho, who is coordinating the National Farmer Organization's holding action in this area, reports that the effect of grain holding is being felt.

He further reports that this hold is for contracts and at the opportune time, other commodities will be added, beginning with meat, then milk and eventually all agricultural commodities will be held until the food plant of America has been shut

USING CHART to help illustrate his talk during the Southern Idaho Plant Food Association's annual meeting in Virgil Kennedy, University of Idaho farm management specialist. Mr. Kennedy spoke on economics of crop rotations during the meeting held in Twin Falls earlier this week.

Weed Work Done In Gooding County During '67 Outlined

GOODING—The Gooding County Weed Control Committee held a meeting recently in the county auditor's office to outline the weed control work for 1967. The committee, headed by Harold Henderson, chairman of the Gooding A.C.S. County Weed Department, Big Wood Canal Co. and others as to what weed control work had been done.

Walt Higgins, Gooding County Weed Supervisor, reported that the department had total receipts of $22,140.00 and of this amount $19,240.00 were collected currently and $12,900.00 were applied to the tax rolls. The department purchased $35,471.00 worth of chemicals. This included 1900 gallons of chemicals. The department received $1,000.00 from the State Highway for weed control.

The chemicals which are most extensively used in the county are 2,4-D, atrazine, Tordon, Cyral and Dowpon. About 250 acres of corn were treated with atrazine this year with good results reported.

The county presently owns five rental rigs. There was considerable discussion on the timing of applications of chemicals. Another problem is getting the recommended amounts of chemicals applied. It was pointed out that many applicators really do not know the rate they are applying.

Harold Henderson, chairman of the Gooding A.C.S. County Weed Department, Big Wood Canal Co. and others as to what weed control work had been done.

There was a discussion on the possibility of a weed control meeting or school in Gooding County in February in conjunction with some adjoining counties.

There was general consensus in Gooding County and that nearby is one of the main causes.

Past Year Was Good For Chucks

SHOSHONE—With lots of green feed, 1967 was a good year for rock chucks, noted Ivan Hopkins, county agent here.

In May a cooperative bait mix with Magic Grange was held. There were 24 residents who received bait then.

Late in December a new starting point was attributed to Jim Powell, Richfield. Other farmers wishing information on this may secure it at the county agent's office.

EXTRA CHANCE TO WIN PAYS

South's jump to three spades meets with our full approval although some of our modern minimum-bidders would content themselves with merely bidding two.

North could hardly count on a triumph and went right into Blackwood. He was slightly disappointed at learning there was a missing ace. He considered back dummy's king. South also felt that way at first. Then he discovered an extra chance and proceeded to make his contract.

Two leads pulled the adverse trump and South carefully retained the nine in dummy. They played three rounds of clubs in order to discard one of his diamonds. Next came three rounds of diamonds with the third diamond being ruffed. Since diamonds had broken 3-3, South was able to enter dummy with his line of trumps and discard one heart on the 13th diamond.

This sort of play comes up all the time. It doesn't always work because suits have a nasty habit of not breaking 3-3, but you can see that South risked nothing by trying it.

If diamonds hadn't broken, South could still have tried the heart lead. It wouldn't have worked. The ace would still be in the East hand; but South would have given himself an extra chance.

a six no-trump bid but finally settled for six spades. It was a very good settlement. As long as East did not open a heart against no-trump, there would have been no play for that slam. At first glance there seems to be no play for six spades without a low heart lead from West. South must attack hearts himself, and the ace is 'Touchy' Teacher? Tell Him Off!

Dear Ella: My friends and I are in our first year at junior high school. One of our teachers gets very fresh with us and other girls. He has been kicked out of other schools because you made out with some girls. He is in his early 60's. We would like to know how to handle this problem, but don't advise us to go to the principal or our guidance teacher. It just won't work because other girls have tried. Natalie for the Girls.

Dear Natalie: As you'd guess, the teacher is a sad case. I'd suggest the girls make it a point not to be alone with him, and if he does sneak a sly pat or pinch to say "I don't like to be touched by you, James. If you do it again, I'm going right to my father and complain. That wouldn't be very nice for you or me, so please keep some distance from me." —Ella.

WANTED TO VISIT BOY'S FAMILY

Dear Ella: I am a mature 14-year-old girl with a boyfriend who lives 200 miles away. It is not very often that he is up here to see me as he is only 15½ and he has to work very hard to afford the bus ticket up and back, and to also have money to take me the places we like to go.

Recently his parents formally invited me to spend the weekend with them, and my mother said no on the grounds that she doesn't believe in encouraging young romances. Well it just so happens that among my friends there are three girls who have boyfriends living further away than mine does, and their parents allow them to take the bus or plane to visit their boyfriends. So you can see why my mother's decision seems so unfair to me. Do you agree with me or her? —Willow.

Dear Willow: May I grab your personal adjective "mature"? If you're mature enough to get the maturity to accept a fact, and the fact is your parents do have

CSU Nips BYU Freshmen 62-55, Hosts Alaskan Team Saturday Afternoon

Fine outside shooting by defensive specialist Larry Barnett lifted the College of Southern Idaho Golden Eagles to a light 62-55 decision over the talented Brigham Young University frosh Thursday night.

A crowd of about 2,000 watched the Eagles break a two-game losing spell and run their record to 12-2. CSU met back a pair of games with an unknown quantity in Sheldon Jackson Junior College.

College of Sitka, Alaska. The teams will meet at 2 p.m. Saturday in the Twin Falls gymnasium and wind up with an 8:15 p.m. Monday battle.

Barnett's shooting, particularly in the early part of the second half, staved off BYU for a nine-point flurry midway through the half, opening up a 12-2 lead for the Golden Eagles. That finally broke BYU's game-long zone defense.

The Cougar yearlings coming out in a man-to-man defense after that CSU easily matched points, play by play. Eddie Sutton "wait for a defensive mistake" game.

Sharing in the honors was Shoshone sophomore Fred Trenkle who, getting help at times from other teammates, clamped a 17-point lid on BYU's line. Bart Johnson, Johnson wound up with 17 points, but that was 11 under his average.

CSU opened hot and gunned into an 8-0 lead while the first five BYU shots bounced away. But finally Johnson and the 6-9 Finlander Vakkio Valino, not BYU's offense untracked. Midway through the first-half the Eagles mounted a 22-12 lead and appeared on the verge of breaking zone as Ron Adams hit four of five on BYU's line. Tom Bush clipped in with points.

But BYU started going more to Valino who carried six points and helped BYU cut back to within 27-25 by halftime.

A reserve, John Benson, had the game at 27-25 in the second half began and Valino shoved

Ranked 17th

College of Southern Idaho's Golden Eagle basketball team is ranked 17th in the nation, according to the poll released by the National Junior College Athletic Association Thursday.

The ranking, Coach Sutton said, was based on the first 12 games of the season and did not include two losses dropped out of the top 20 now but being 17th out of over 900 junior colleges in the nation is a very fine honor that our boys have worked very hard to earn."

Pleasing Coach Sutton more, however, was the statistical report which showed CSU is third in the nation defensively.

Negroes Say Demands Must Be Met

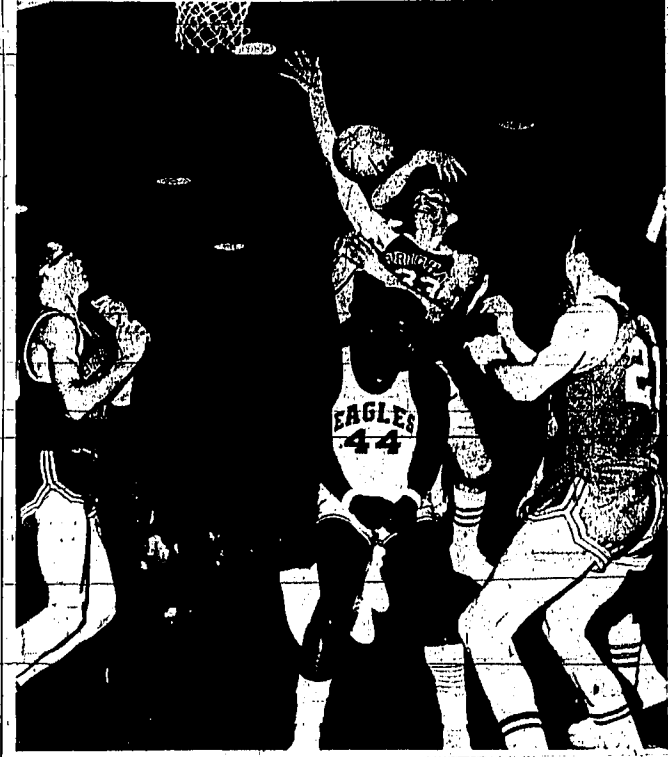

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Negroes in California insist that their demands are met, they will quit their teams.

A joint statement said Thursday their boycott threat did not end with the return of five Negroes to basketball practice. They are seeking the firing of three white coaches and the hiring of several Negro coaches.

"Unless our demands to eliminate discrimination are met, the boycott threat still stands, the statement said.

Swiss Skier Is Upset Winner In Slalom; American Is Third

By ERIC WAHA
 ST. GERVAIS, France (AP) — Fernando Bockatay of Switzerland scored an upset over the heavily favored French skier and America's Kiki Cutter finished an impressive third Thursday in the Grand Prix Slalom, conclude to next month's Winter Olympics.

Miss Bockatay, gaining her first international ski victory since 1966, made two almost flawless runs through heavy snowfalls for a total time of 1:20.68, and Rosie Fortna, of Warren, Vt., was 13th in 1:21.67.

The American team—wendsy Allen, Judy Nagel and Penny McCoy—placed in the top 10 in an encouraging display less than two weeks before official opening of the Grenoble Alpine Cup.

Ferrari And Ford Idled By New Rule

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — With the snarling prototypes of Ford and Ferrari on the sidelines, some of the old glamour will be gone when the Grand Prix of Monaco starts on the second of the season.

But speeds will be just as breathtaking, and the rivalry more widespread, when the cars roar away from the starting line Feb. 3 in the year's first race—gruelling 24 hours of Daytona.

A controversial rule adopted by the International Automobile Federation, ruling body of the sport, outlawed this season the mighty machines with which Ferrari and Ford wanted many fierce duels. It limited prototype engines to three liters.

And it put Germany's little two-liter Porsches, unchallenged kings of their class, in an ideal position to strike for a clean-sweep of world honors.

Openings Set For Big Game Hunting Season

BOISE (AP) — Opening dates for a big game hunting season were set Thursday by the state Fish and Game Commission.

Dates are much the same as last year's except in several Panhandle white-tail deer hunts, where seasons will start later.

A major change this year will be in the printed material: Maps for controlled hunts for moose, antelope, mountain goat and some elk and deer units will be on one sheet of paper, instead of separate sheets as in past years.

Opening dates for the various types of game are as follows: Elk and deer: Sept. 21 in roadless buck country; Oct. 5 in surrounding perimeter areas where access is better; Oct. 19 and Nov. 2 in big blocks of units in northern, central and southern Idaho.

Black bear: Sept. 7 in all 21 units north of the north Salmon River. Grizzly bear is not a legal game animal.

Mountain goat: Controlled hunts; opening dates are Sept. 7, Sept. 28 and Nov. 16.

Bighorn sheep: Controlled hunts; opening dates are Nov. 30 and Dec. 1.

Antelope: Permit hunts; opening dates are Sept. 21, Oct. 5 and Oct. 12.

Antelope: Permit hunts; opening dates Sept. 28 and Nov. 9.

The commission set the following dates for archery hunts: Deer: Sept. 7, Sept. 21, Nov. 2, Dec. 16 and the Saturday following the close of the rifle hunt in Unit 39.

Black bear: Sept. 7, Sept. 21, Nov. 2.

Antelope: Sept. 7.

Mountain goat: Sept. 7.

Vikings Hide Opinion On Draft Picks

By LEW FERGUSON
 ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Vikings coach George Allen hid his opinion of the No. 1 draft choice in professional football's 1968 college-player draft next Tuesday.

Barring an unforeseen 11th-hour trade of their bonus selections, Allen hasn't made a decision and may not until Tuesday morning. And he won't announce it even if he has made the decision before that.

It still is possible, although apparently not probable that the Vikings will have a pick from the New York Giants as part of the Fran Tarkenton trade, Minnesota could have exercised the bonus last year, but delayed its use until this year.

The Giants had Vikings as a bonus as a condition in the merger of the National and American football leagues.

Mentioned as quarterbacks who might be involved in a trade with the Vikings are Bill Riggins and Jim Hill. Riggins and John Brodie and George Mira of the San Francisco 49ers.

"Yes, I've heard those stories," Finks said. "I would say that the Vikings might be interested in one of them, but I leave it to the front office to decide."

"It's early yet. The draft isn't until Tuesday."

T.F. Football Job Is Still Wide Open

Applications for the Twin Falls high school head football coaching job and athletic directorship still are being received daily and the board of trustees is in no hurry to come to a final decision.

John Wolf, member of the board, said Thursday night "the quality of the applicants is very good and very gratifying. We're still getting some and we want to make sure we take a good look at every one." He added there has been no preliminary screening as yet and all applicants remain in the running.

The two positions opened up earlier this month when Merl Eden resigned. He had served as football coach and athletic director for the past three years.

There has been some discussion that the athletic director's job would not be given to a major coach, perhaps combining it with an assistant principal's position.

Shepard To Plug Houston Football

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Astronaut Alan B. Shepard Jr. has accepted the chairmanship of a citizens committee to stimulate interest in professional football in Houston.

Mayor Louie Welch announced plans for the committee after S. Adam U. owner of the Houston Oilers, spoke last month of moving the Oilers to Seattle unless season ticket sales increase.

Namath Has New Cast For Knee

NEW YORK (AP) — Quarterback Joe Namath of the New York Jets had a cast placed on his bothersome left knee Thursday in an effort to correct a small tear of the tendon.

Physicians at the Lenox Hill Hospital said the cast, probably would remain on the knee for three or four weeks.

While Namath has had operations on his right knee, he never has undergone a knife on his left knee. However, during the last season he was bothered by what doctors described as a mild case of tendinitis.

Sports FROM ALL ANGLES

By LARRY HOVEY
Times-News Sports Editor
It has become increasingly evident that basketball fans want blood.

They either are arriving or have arrived at the point where they expect things to happen on a basketball floor—should you be mistletoe.

There is a growing demand to call men "pro" basketballists.

We think it all a bunch of baloney. We think basketball is a game of finesse.

It is entirely okay with us if pro basketball wants to play that way.

It is not so much that we are using all tall and do not have the polish and body control that some of the reserves killing on the bench possess.

There is a classic example playing in the state right now.

The second tallest man in fact, he is getting a lot of rebounds, less than eight minutes per game, and must be leading the state in fouls.

And the crowd yells "let 'em play" every time he has a rebound.

Friday night San Diego in Idaho and Montana is at Washington State. Saturday night San Diego moves over to Gonzaga in Spokane while Idaho travels to Washington State.

meanwhile, goes to Seattle to meet the University of Washington. In their only weekend games, Weber State is at Northern Arizona University in Flagstaff, Saturday night while Montana State heads for Portland State.

It's the opening of a five-game road trip for Weber's Wildcats. They have a six-game victory streak going—and overall they have won three of four early bouts on the road.

Coach Ron Nord will continue to do with Grizzards sophomore John Clark. Clark, who previously a starting forward, will take over for Johnson and 6-foot-8 sophomore Tom Jones will replace Hanson at forward.

"We're not going to the coast to lose either night," Nord said, "but we're going to have to perform in the best possible way to stay in these games."

High individual game, Ray Johnson, 50; high scratch team game, Idaho, 57; high handicap team game, Zebra, 48.

Bowling of the week: Raymond Johnson, Grace Ringenberg. Persons 17A defeated Kimberly Plumbing, 2-0; 17B defeated Kimberly Plumbing, 2-0.

The athletes' awards, for former Idaho prep standouts who completed college careers in the last year, went to: Charley Nipp, Coeur d'Alene; Vic Mann, Kellogg; Allen Simmons, Coeur d'Alene; Rod Bohman, Troy, and Dave Schlotthauer, Post Falls.

Booster winners, honored for service to sports and their communities, were: John Matlock, Lewiston; Dr. James Lucas, Moscow; Packey Boute, Moscow; Bob Angel, Elmer Drechsel, Wilson; Al Coffey d'Alene, Coeur d'Alene.

COEUR D'ALENE (AP) — A small parochial school in Idaho's Panhandle boasts a remarkable athletic record.

Since Gene Boyle took over as head coach at IHM Academy in Coeur d'Alene, he has compiled an overall record of 127-20 losses, an 87 percent.

Boyle is a 25-year-old math major from Carroll College in Helena, Mont.

He came to IHM Academy four years ago and now coaches basketball, football and track.

"When track was introduced last season, his squad placed first in the district and third in the region.

In basketball, IHM Academy has a winning streak of 18 straight, including a 12-0 record this season.

"I have been real fortunate to have a fine crop of athletes," he said.

Hockey Loop Says Helmet Is Must
TORONTO (AP) — The Toronto Marlboros of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series will wear helmets in all future games and practices.

Stafford Smythe, vice president of the team and a governor of the National Hockey League, said Wednesday the ruling is mandatory.

The decision follows a move by Hal Emms of the Niagara Falls Flyers, also a Junior A club.

Emms' ruling followed the Jan. 13 death of Bill Masterton of the Minnesota-North Stars of the NHL. He suffered head injuries in a game against Oakland.

Four Golfers Share Lead At 4 Under

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Four golfers wound up in a tie for first place with four-under-par 67s, supplying a bit of something for everyone in the first round of the $100,000 Los Angeles Open Tournament Thursday.

Twenty-eight of a field of 148 bettered par 36-35-71 under sunny skies at the 7,021-yard Brookside Park Golf course.

The leaders: Gene Littler, with 31-36-67, who won this event 12 years ago.

Eighteen-year-old Watson, Tex., 31-31, who has been a pro less than a year.

Al Geiberger, 34-33, the 196 Professional Golfers Association champion.

Cliff Clark, 32-33, who last won a PGA tournament in 1952.

Arnold Palmer, the defending champion and three-time winner of the Los Angeles event, shot a fine 34-35-69 which was a net, but behind 10 other players.

Billy Casper, another favorite, carded 35-36-70, and Masters Champion Guy Brewer finished with 36-35-72.

One stroke behind the leaders were six pros—Doug Sanders, George Knudson, Dave Marr, George Archer and Don Bley, each with 35-33, and Ray Floyd, who did it in reverse 33-35.

Others who did it were Charlie Sifford, Terry Wilcox and Dale Douglas.

LONG ISLAND NAMED NO. 1 SMALL COLLEGE
By The Associated Press
Evansville has relinquished the lead in The Associated Press' small-college basketball poll to unbeatens Long Island University.

But the Purple Aces still have a few aces up their sleeves.

Duke (12-0) accumulated six first-place votes and 110 points in the latest poll while Evansville drew three votes for the top spot and 109 points.

Points were awarded on a basis of 10 points for a first-place vote, 9 for second, 8 for third, etc.

Southwestern (Louisiana) switched places with Indiana State, climbing to fourth while State fell to sixth.

There were no other changes. Southwest Missouri State held fifth place. Trinity, Tex., retained the No. 7 position followed by Guilford, Pan American and Lincoln, Mo.

Edgar Lacy Leaves UCLA Cage Team, Coach Hopes He Returns

LOS ANGELES (AP)—UCLA's basketball team flew to New York City Thursday without 6-foot-6 Edgar Lacy, who apparently became angry when criticized publicly by Coach John Wooden.

Lacy, a starter much of the season, failed to show up for practices on Tuesday and Wednesday and wasn't present when the squad boarded the plane for the Eastern trip to play Holy Cross and Boston College.

Lacy was removed with about 11 minutes to play in the first half at Houston, when Wooden said Lacy had "screwed up."

Lacy was expected to play in the Houston game, but he was injured in a Jan. 12 game against California.

WESTON'S BIDS TO BECOME BEST FOR FLORIDA
GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Although he is still growing and improving, Weston's bid to become the best of the Florida Gators is bidding for honors as one of the nation's most complete basketball players.

At 6-foot-10 and 227 pounds, Walk is closing in on virtually every single-season Gator record for scoring and rebounding.

Walk is the best big man in the South this year, says Ralph Stout, a veteran official who works in the Southeastern, Atlantic Coast, Ohio Valley and Southern Conference.

Walk is the best big man in the South this year, says Ralph Stout, a veteran official who works in the Southeastern, Atlantic Coast, Ohio Valley and Southern Conference.

Through 16 games, Walk has scored 428 points and grabbed 311 rebounds.

His fiery play helped Florida defeat Vanderbilt in December when the Commodores were ranked No. 3. He scored 17 points in the last half and collected 19 rebounds as the Gators rallied from a 45-30 deficit.

MILD WINTER AIDS BIG GAME HERDS
OLYMPIA (AP) — The extremely mild winter—thus far—has been a boon to the state's elk and deer populations.

The State Game Department has done almost no feeding of the Yakima herd, usually a necessity because of heavy snows and cold weather.

On Jan. 20, Walk scored 28 points and took 23 rebounds as Florida beat No. 4 Kentucky.

Seagren Lifts World Record In Pole Vault
NEW YORK (AP) — Bob Seagren of the University of Southern California pole vaulted 17 feet, 4 1/2 inches Thursday night, breaking his own world indoor record.

Seagren's record breaker came on his third and final attempt at the height. He had previously cleared 16-8 and 17-0 1/4 on his first try.

The first two attempts at 17-1/2 saw him clear the bar only to knock it off coming down. On the last attempt, he was over with room to spare.

Elford Drives Into Monte Carlo Lead

MONTE CARLO (AP) — Vic Elford of Britain drove his Porsche into the unofficial lead in the final stages of the Monte Carlo rally Thursday night when vandals reportedly forced race and rally leader Gerard Larrousse of France.

Elford took over when Larrousse dropped out in his Renault Alpine midway through the night's mountainous 200-mile test after hitting an icy patch at high speed on the descent from Turlin Pass.

Early reports indicated the Frenchman was dropping back anyway under pressure from Elford, but some reports said vandals high on the pass threw ice and stones in front of his car and Larrousse was going too fast to avoid them.

A second Porsche driven by Pauli Tulonen of Finland was second to Elford, and the Mini-Cooper of Rinaldo Allonen of Finland was third.

Sixty cars qualified for the final run before one was withdrawn and six were abandoned shortly after the start. Survivors were expected back before dawn Friday, with the first provisional overall standings expected about mid-morning.

Seattle Pins Defeat On Montana State
SEATTLE (AP) — Seattle University's Lou West scored 33 points and pulled down 15 rebounds Thursday night to lead his Chiefs to a 74-61 basketball victory over Montana State.

The lead changed hands five times in the first 14 minutes, but the Chiefs forged ahead on a three-point play by Tom Litt who were in front 40-34 at the half.

West, who hit 11 of 10 from the field, outjumped 6-foot-8 Jack Gillespie, who is six inches taller, as Seattle dominated the boards. The Chiefs had 50 rebounds to 26 for the Bobcats.

Gillespie led the losers with 29 points and Little had 21 for Seattle.

The Chiefs built up a 12-point lead early in the second half, but saw it trimmed to five at 48-44. Then West and Little led a charge that put Seattle in front 78-58 and the Chiefs coasted the rest of the game.

Twin Farrington had 18 points for the Bobcats and Don Luce contributed 13.

The win broke a four-game losing streak for Seattle and left the Chiefs with a 6-17 record.

Birmingham Lawyer Views Idaho Laws

MOISE (AP) — A Birmingham, Ala., attorney was in Boise Thursday meeting with government officials and reviewing Idaho's election laws concerning the presidential campaign of George Wallace.

Secretary of State Pete T. Conrath has said Wallace's third party ticket cannot, under Idaho law, be put on the presidential ballot.

The attorney, R. B. Jones, said from his preliminary study of the state laws "it looks to me there is no way, whatsoever, that Wallace's name can be put on the ballot."

Conrath did say, however, that a write-in campaign would be legal.

Jones met with Conrath and Atty. Gen. Allan Shepard during the afternoon.

Jones was asked if Wallace supporters were considering taking the issue to court.

"We don't like to go to court," Jones said. "I don't know."

Council Sees Big Crisis In Korea

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — U.S. Ambassador Harlan Cleveland told the North Atlantic Council today the worst crisis in Korea since the 1953 armistice had broken out because of North Korea's seizure of the Pueblo.

The 15 nations in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization agreed to follow the situation closely. U.S. sources said Cleveland described a mounting series of incidents over the past years which showed a carefully laid out campaign on the part of the Communist government of North Korea. These included an attempt by North Korean infiltrators to assassinate President Chung Hee Park of South Korea.

The sources said that the purpose of the rebel meeting, which Cleveland called on orders from Washington, was to ask America's allies to use any channels they have to let the North Koreans know how grave the United States considers the situation.

Representatives of the chief NATO military command, Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers Europe, attended the meeting.

Officers Expelled

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — The Greek military dictatorship today expelled 33 high-ranking officers from the army and retired 12 others. All were accused of siding with King Constantine in his unsuccessful attempt Dec. 19 to oust the junta.

EBJ Attends White House Dinner Party

WASHINGTON (AP) — A weary looking President Johnson stole a few hours of relaxation Thursday night, saluting key government leaders at a White House dinner.

The black-tie affair attended by 183 guests had many light moments—including an impromptu violin duet in which Supreme Court Justice Abe Fortas showed off his fiddling skills.

But there was an undercurrent of seriousness. Without directly referring to the current crisis over the seizure by the North Koreans of a U.S. intelligence-gathering ship, several speakers alluded to the responsibilities weighing on Johnson.

"We're all aware tonight that this is a time of great decision," said Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

A round of applause greeted Humphrey's reference to the "awesome burden" carried by Johnson.

Humphrey was one of the three guests of honor, each representing a different branch of government. The others were House Speaker John McCormack and Chief Justice Earl Warren.

Johnson saluted them in his toast as men "who have borne great responsibilities and helped make great decisions. Yet they have never forgotten the people

Explosives Shatter Three Businesses

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Plastic explosive tucked through the mail slots of three businesses exploded early today within 22 minutes, police said, shattering the offices of two companies that ship packages to Cuba and damaging a garage.

Police Sgt. Russ Lensburg said he learned of the bombing while investigating the first blast when a second explosive detonated at the same spot. Lt. James H. Knight said the second blast apparently was accidental.

All the hardest-hit offices. All Travel Agency on Coral Way, owner J. Astigarrara said he ships food and clothing packages to Cuba on a commercial basis. He blamed the bombing on a group that calls itself "Cuban Power."

Last Saturday a group calling itself "Cuban Power" said it exploded a bomb in a B25 airplane loaded with similar packages to Cuba and parked at Miami International Airport.

The group later issued a warning, signed "Ernesto" and captioned "War Communiqué No. 1" threatening further bombings—including planes in flight—unless such shipments to Cuba were halted.

The packages—mainly food and clothing—are shipped to relatives by exiles here.

Area Youths Vying For Academics

WASHINGTON — Sen. Lew Jordan, R-Idaho, has announced that seven area youths are among those he has nominated for military, naval and air force academy positions.

He said the youths "reflect as a group an extraordinary ability."

There are three vacancies in the U.S. Naval Academy; two in the U.S. Air Force Academy, and one at the U.S. Military Academy at West Point.

Among the six nominated for West Point is Steven Ryals, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elden Ryals, Filer.

Denmark King Names Pacifist

COPENHAGEN (AP) — King Frederik IX named a pacifist critical of Denmark's membership in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization today to try to form a new government after the Socialist's election defeat.

The king chose Hilmar Baunsgaard, 47, whose Radical Liberal party made the biggest gains in Tuesday's national elections in which voters registered disapproval of Denmark's inflation and the government's efforts to cure it.

Justices Are Cool To Draft Card Burning Law Protests

By BARRY SCHWEID

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court has given a cool reception to contentions the 1965 law making it a crime to burn draft cards was a congressional act of hysteria designed "to punish those bent on" stamping out dissent.

The American Civil Liberties Union also argued Wednesday before the high court that draft card burning is "symbolic speech" protected by the Constitution.

Both arguments put forth by ACLU lawyer Marvin M. Karpatkin drew icy responses from the justices.

Karpatkin maintained Congress passed the legislation to punish conduct it considered unpatriotic. "The only legislative purpose here," he said, "was in stamping out dissent."

Chief Justice Earl Warren wondered if a soldier who broke his weapon in Vietnam could be considered to have performed an act of symbolic speech.

And Justice Abe Fortas drew a parallel to a disenterer throwing a brick through a White House window or his "quivering body" in front of a train carrying troops.

Both Fortas and Justice John M. Harlan suggested it isn't the court's function to examine the motives of Congress.

Fortas told Karpatkin, "You have no case to support your argument that a law of Congress can be declared unconstitutional because of improper motive."

The hearing brought the court in touch with the emotional way some young Americans are dissenting from the Vietnam war.

The question is: Can they do so by burning their draft cards without winding up in jail?

So far 21 American youths have been indicted, and 14 of them convicted, under the law. It was passed without public hearings, 303 to 1 by the House on Aug. 10, 1965 and by voice vote of the Senate three days later.

Presumably its use will pick up if the court reverses the judgment of the U.S. Circuit Court in Boston and declares the statute constitutional.

In the case at hand, David P. O'Brien, a 19-year-old pacifist, burned his draft card on the steps of a Boston courthouse in March 1966 and turned over the charred remains to FBI agents who watched him.

The act, which could put O'Brien in jail for four years, was described by Karpatkin as a peaceful "expression of dissent."

"Abstract discussion," the government lawyer, dark-haired and argued, "is not the only form of speech protected by the First Amendment."

Court Action Over Burros Is Dismissed

Court action brought on behalf of four or five allegedly "hungry" burros was dismissed by Probate Judge Richard Reed here Wednesday afternoon after the judge ruled the state failed to show the statute governing care of animals had been violated.

Homer Quinn, 63, 510 Jefferson St., was charged with allowing his burros, pastured in the 2100 block of K in the City Road, to go without food and water during the period of Dec. 7 to Dec. 13, 1967.

A complaint against Mr. Quinn was signed by Jimmie Lee Elm, Mr. Ling and Kathleen Gill who had purchased two baby burros from Mr. Quinn and checked on their purchases at the pasture, testified the animals appeared to be starving and that never during the week in question could they find evidence the animals had been fed or watered. Both said they made frequent checks at the pasture and the animals in their opinions were not receiving proper care.

City police officer Gary Cordeiro who took pictures of the burros said he did not believe they were receiving as good care as his own burros but he could not say they were going without care.

In dismissing the charges, Judge Reed admonished the defendant to keep in mind there are statutes governing the care, feeding and watering of animals and asked the defendant to make certain the animals do have proper care.

MICHAEL J. BURKE, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Jay Burke, 160 Monroe St., has received a Purple Heart for wounds received in action in Vietnam.

Seaman Burke has been in Vietnam for seven months and is a crew member of a utility supply boat which serves Marine and Army field units in the critical northwest section of South Vietnam near the demilitarized zone.

2 American Jetliners Given To Ky

SAIGON (AP) — Two American-built jet passenger liners, Boeing 727s, were turned over today to Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky for Air Vietnam, the South Vietnamese government airline.

Ky said he had selected the American planes for political as well as technical reasons over French-built aircraft when the matter of purchase came up last year. He was premier then. The Boeing 727s were formerly in service with Pan American World Airways and were rebuilt upon completion of an agreement between that line and Air Vietnam.

Ky told a newsman following a ceremony at Tan Son Nhut Airport that the 727s were mechanically and technically superior to the French-built Caravelle jets, one of which Air Vietnam has been using for several years.

Yellowstone Film Shown To Chamber

BURLEY — Bill Cain, West Yellowstone, Mont., was guest speaker during the noon luncheon Monday of the Burley Chamber of Commerce at Bryan's Cafe.

Tours by snowmobile are available into the park and Mr. Cain presented folders giving prices for group tours and prices for overnight lodging.
