First Major Bill Concerning Fires Passed By Senate

By EARLE L. JESTER
BOISE (AP)—The Idaho Senate approved today — over considerable voiced opposition — the first major bill resulting from last summer's forest fires to reach the stage of final consideration in the legislature's special session.

The vote was 28-5. The measure creates a disaster and conservation reserve fund, intended to better prepare the state for dealing with such incidents as the major fires which swept Idaho forestlands.

Some of those voting for the bill indicated in speeches they might vote against a companion measure appropriating money for the fund.

Consideration of the fire problem was the major purpose for the special session which began last Monday.

The other is whether former Alabama Gov. George Wallace, an announced presidential candidate, should get his name on the ballot in Idaho.

Sen. R. H. Young, R-Nampa, president pro tem and chairman of the legislative committee, pointed last year to study the fires, was floor sponsor of the bill creating a disaster and conservation reserve fund.

He said it would give the state "a fourth line of defense" in dealing with the fires which swept wide areas of Idaho timber.

LOOKING ACROSS THE snow-filled Hiphline Canal, south of Five Points East, the morning sun casts soft shadows. Looking like sand on a desert the snow creates irregular patterns in the bed of the canal. Clouds form in the distance and hang heavy on the South Hills. The only movement is caused by the wind as it drifts snow across rocks and around fenceposts, and weeds bend in the direction of its movement.

Sen. Stennis Says Expansion Of War Will Require More Men

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., said today that expansion of the war in Vietnam probably will require additional military manpower above the 525,000 U.S. forces now earmarked for Southeast Asia.

Stennis, chairman of the preparedness subcommittee of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said he is confident that President Johnson is considering plans more may be called to active duty in addition to the more than 14,000 called up last week following North Korea's seizure of the U.S. intelligence ship, Pueblo.

Stennis said senators would examine in detail both "the draw down on our manpower, planes and ships as a result of the expansion of the war."

U.S. Armed Forces Strike Back At Hot Red Offensive

By ROBERT TUCKMAN
SAIGON (AP) — U.S. armed forces struck with major infantry and armored units at Communist forces in Saigon and several other menaced cities today, combating a Red offensive that Gen. William C. Westmoreland called "a go for broke proposition."

Sniping persisted in Saigon streets after nightfall. Shots were fired at a U.S. billet called the Five Oceans, South Vietnamese marines were reported battling an enemy force of undetermined size north of the Tan Son Nhut airbase.

Reporting on operations elsewhere, the U.S. Command announced helicopter-borne troops of the 1st Cavalry Division secured Quang Tri City, capital of South Vietnam's northernmost province.

Gunships helped thwart the 800 or so Communist troops who had driven into that city, 10 miles below the demilitarized zone.

Three companies of U.S. Marines, a platoon of Army tanks and two battalions of South Vietnamese troops — more than 2,000 men in all — battled to clear an enemy force estimated at half their number from Hue, the old imperial capital.

Riflemen of the U.S. 4th Infantry Division flew into Dalat, a mountain resort 140 miles northeast of Saigon, to help Vietnamese forces drive out infiltrated Viet Cong platoons.

The guerrillas had seized the center of Dalat, a market place and a U.S. military police barracks. Westmoreland predicted the Communists will follow up their current drive against key cities with their biggest offensive of the war, a drive in the northern provinces below the demilitarized zone.

Petition Asks Disqualifying Of Williams

BOISE (AP)—A petition asking disqualification of State Auditor Joe R. Williams from considering a lame board member, a request for a North Idaho mining permit has been filed in the Idaho Supreme Court.

Late Wednesday the court denied another request, that the land board be prevented from conducting a hearing on the permit application.

The board has its hearing scheduled for Friday in Wallace on the permit for the permit to mine in the St. Joe River in Shoshone County. An assistant attorney general will conduct the hearing and report later to the board.

Wage Law Increased To $1.60 An Hour

By NEIL GILBRIDE
AP Labor Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal minimum wage rose to $1.60 an hour today for 33 million workers and to $1.15 for another 8.5 million job-holders.

But because most workers already are paid above the minimum, some 7.3 million people actually will get pay hikes — about $2.3 billion more a year.

Those whose pay will rise Thursday are the working poor," said George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO. And while Meany said the hikes resulted from political action by the labor movement, he stressed its goal remains a $2 hourly minimum.

Nixon Tells Candidacy In Letter To New Hampshire

NEW YORK (AP) — Richard M. Nixon announced today in an open letter to the citizens of New Hampshire that he would be a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

The former vice president told the people of that state "the choice of face are larger than any differences among Republicans or among Democrats, larger even than the differences between the parties. They are beyond politics."

Nixon said in his long-expected declaration: "Peace and freedom in the world, and peace and progress here at home, will depend on the decisions of the next President of the United States. For these critical years, America needs new leadership."

Nixon told the voters that he learned "the awesome nature of the great decisions a President faces" during his 14 years in Washington, and said he had a chance to reflect on the lessons of public office and measure the nation's tasks and problems during the past eight years.

He noted he had visited New Hampshire often in the past but said he was not asking the support of voters now on the basis of old friendships. We have entered a new age, and I ask you to join me in helping make this an age of greatness for our people and our nation."

He plans to take off next on a six-day campaign swing through New Hampshire, Wisconsin and Oklahoma.

Johnson Presents Economic Report

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson sent his Economic Report to Congress today along with another appeal for swift action on a tax increase and renewed appeal to business and labor leaders to resist "the false promise of price controls established in January 1967."

Johnson signed the report at a ceremony in the Cabinet Room at the White House. Members of his Council of Economic Advisors were on hand along with several governors.

Johnson said he was pleading with Congress "to enact the tax of a single penny on the dollar" of the average American's income "because even in a period of unparalleled continuing prosperity challenges lie ahead that call for sacrifices that some people seem unwilling to make."

The White House has rejected emphatically all proposals for direct price and wage ceilings. But Johnson's advisers are known to have been exploring the possibility of some formula to replace the controversial and now virtually defunct wage-price guidelines established in January 1967.

South Korea President Doesn't Believe In Unifying North And South By Force

By K. C. HWANG
SEOUL (AP) — South Korean President Chung Hee Park said today he does not believe in unifying North and South Korea by force but warned North Korean Premier Kim Il-sung "there is a limit to our patience."

In his first public statement since 21 Communist commandos tried to assassinate him in Seoul Jan. 21, Park said North Korean agents are trying to create conditions for the North to reunite Korea forcibly under Communist rule.

Our 600,000-men armed forces are fully prepared to deal counteroffensively immediately to the enemy under any circumstances and at any time, and we are closely watching their moves," he said at a ceremony launching a highway construction project in Seoul.

Bankruptcy these days is an interesting state of affairs. For one thing it doesn't carry the social stigma it did 20 years ago. For another, it is becoming a way of life for many Americans.

Bankruptcy Not Applauded, But Stigma Is Gone

Take the most common type of bankruptcy, the wage-earner family that has spent beyond its means. Once bankruptcy is taken out, the debts are nearly wiped away. The family is almost debt free, probably for the first time since marriage.

Auto Workers Agree On New Contract

WINDSOR, Ont. (AP) — The United Auto Workers and Chrysler Canada Ltd. today reached tentative agreement on a new contract covering 10,000 striking workers at Chrysler's Canadian subsidiary.

Birth Control Aid Offered To U.S. Poor

WASHINGTON (AP) — Birth control services for the nation's poor will be offered — not just available on request — under policy guidelines issued by John W. Gardner, secretary of Health, Education and Welfare.

Until this point, the department's policy was to provide family planning information only if it was requested by persons receiving federally supported health and welfare services.

But Gardner said in a Wednesday memorandum: "Plans for comprehensive health services including maternal and child health must include consideration of the need for family planning services. Beneficiaries of assistance programs or other money payments should be fully informed of the availability of family planning services."

Gardner said an individual's eligibility for relief should "in no way" be dependent on the acceptance or refusal of such contraceptive advice. And, he said, family planning programs "shall guarantee freedom from coercion or pressure of mind or conscience."

President Johnson has asked Congress to provide more than twice the $28 million budgeted for birth control programs this year to extend services to about 900,000 women in the fiscal year beginning July 1, compared with about 125,000 women this fiscal year.

Gardner's policy statement was read at a ceremony in which Mrs. Katherine B. Gettiner was sworn in as the department's first deputy assistant secretary for population and family planning.

Trailer Gone

OCALA, Fla. (AP) — Mrs. Eliza Davis said her 45-foot mobile-home, a weekend retreat deep in the Ocala National Forest, was missing when she went there recently. Authorities said they have no suspects, no evidence, no witnesses and no leads.

WASHINGTON — Two recent news items should be of more than cursory interest to both President Johnson and members of Congress in this election year, for they are both ominous signs of the awakening of that slumbering giant known as the general public.

A Louis Harris Poll reported that one of the few things that interested the 90th Congress was its refusal to pass Johnson's 10 per cent income tax surcharge. In a poll which gave Congress a 41 to 59 per cent negative job rating, 54 per cent applauded this refusal, as against 26 per cent who disapproved.

In New York, meanwhile, a state senator named Joseph Zaretzki warned Gov. Nelson Rockefeller that a people's tax rebellion was brewing over the governor's call for a 20 per cent surcharge on the state's income tax. They have reached the limit of endurance," said Zaretzki, "with the taxpayer now paying a third of his income in local, state and Federal taxes."

The situation thus reflected in these two reports may be the reason for what looks like a new attempt on Capitol Hill to seek a reduction in the tax depletion allowances allowed the oil and gas industry and practically every other so-called "extractive" industry in the oil and gas case, this amounts to a deduction from taxable income of 27 1/2 per cent of gross profits, a piece of legislation suspiciously out of line with modern tax practices.

At any rate, even New York's Sen. Jack Javits, who previously has seemed unaware of the allowance, now says maybe it should be reduced. And two Wisconsin legislators, Sen. William Proxmire and Rep. Henry Reuss, will lead the attack on the provision. Privately, a number of others on Capitol Hill have indicated they'll join the fight when the time is propitious.

Proxmire last year labeled the depletion allowance "the biggest single loophole in our tax structure." Reuss has noted that it gives the oil and gas and other mineral industries an unfair advantage over other American business by permitting them to escape their fair tax burden.

As a result of this provision, says Reuss, "the five largest United States oil refiners paid the following percentages of their income in Federal income taxes: Standard Oil of New Jersey, 1.7 per cent; Texaco, 0.8 per cent; Gulf, 0.6 per cent; Mobil Oil Corp., 5.0 per cent; Standard Oil of California, 2.1 per cent." These payments, said Reuss, came in a year in which corporate taxes generally were 48 per cent.

He might have added that they also came in a year when the average working stiff paid an income tax of 15 per cent of his earnings.

For this reason alone, both Johnson's proposed 10 per cent surcharge and a proposal by Sen. Phil Hart, D-Mich., for a tax on excess corporate profits are unfair. To be sure, corporations generally are growing faster than the Vintner was and perhaps should be tapped for more taxes, but not until the scandalous depletion allowance is subjected to surgery. The plain citizen should be left alone — period.

The oil and gas companies make much of the fact that they pay heavy state and local taxes, but they cannot compare their situation to that of the individual taxpayer. They can raise prices, and do, to meet the burden of increased taxes; the individual cannot. Meanwhile, he is now expected to pay a municipal income tax in almost half the country's bigger cities.

Fortunately, the Harris Poll seems to indicate that the public at last is taking an angry interest in the taxes it pays. If enough citizens communicate this interest to their Congressmen, 1968 may be the year Washington decides to give the working stiff a touch of representation.

Inventory Tax

Gov. Don Samuelson is to be commended for not putting the inventory tax question on the agenda for consideration during the special session of the Legislature.

The question was taken care of a year ago when the Legislature voted to phase out the tax.

But there has been talk of repealing the phase out law—in effect, talk of putting the inventory tax back into force. Indications are the longer the talk goes on, the stronger it will become.

This is a political year, and to a popular politician one must vote in favor of education and in favor of the buy-it-now-instead-of-later philosophy.

We feel, however, that Gov. Samuelson has made a wise decision in keeping the inventory tax question off the agenda. His reasoning is that the business Idaho will attract will more than compensate for the loss in inventory tax revenue.

Those who oppose this viewpoint say "business" is not coming in fast enough, the tax base is not strong enough to meet the demands of progress. They also argue that repeal of the phase out law would give teachers a pay raise now, and would offer funds for other needed state projects.

People should realize the importance of starting somewhere.

The inventory tax cast a bad image on the state. People paid more for goods in Idaho simply for the privilege of trading in the state. Because of this, business and industry was not attracted.

Gov. Samuelson, in his speech at the joint session of the Legislature Monday, said new business is now locating in the state.

This is what Idaho has needed for years, and now it is finally coming to pass.

True, there was an initial loss when the inventory tax law was phased out. But this loss will eventually be made up and surpassed by revenues gained from new business.

Everyone stands to benefit in the long run.

Teachers and others should consider the picture five or 10 years from now. A wait like this is hard to justify, that is true, but the wait may be well worth it.

And if the inventory tax is kept out of the picture, Idaho can eventually boast of a sound tax base that will withstand some of the worst of tragedies.

It is our feeling also that the attraction of large industry to the state will in no way affect the beauty of Idaho's wilderness.

Our larger cities are far removed from the beauty of the mountains and there is plenty of room to take care of all new Idahoans who want to visit the wilderness areas.

Idaho can have its cake and eat it, too.

Smylie Rumbblings

There are rumbblings on the horizon from former Gov. Robert Smylie. His appearance on the political scene, after a year's silence, makes us wonder what's up.

Since the second extraordinary session of the 90th Legislature began last Monday, Mr. Smylie has commented on many and varied issues. For instance, he has placed himself opposite Gov. Don Samuelson on the aid to education issue, then turned around to comment on the presidential GOP race coming up this summer.

Ever since Mr. Smylie left office a year ago there have been rumors about his future. He told the public he planned to take it easy for a while, then write a book or go into business.

He has been working at the practice of law, a profession he followed before becoming governor of Idaho.

Even before he was voted out by his own party there was talk that he might run for the Senate.

We wonder if that talk might not come up again.

Mr. Smylie is beginning to sound very much like a candidate for some office. And everyone knows Sen. Frank Church is up for re-election this year.

There have been rumors also that Idaho Congressman George Hansen will run for Sen. Church's seat. But Mr. Hansen has not announced and party faithful ledge on this situation. Mr. Hansen is a sure bet to be re-elected to Congress, but Sen. Church is powerful.

Mr. Smylie, on the other hand, may consider he has nothing to lose. He is a master politician and there is no doubt he could raise the financial backing for a senatorial campaign.

Presidential election years are interesting in a lot of ways. At home, when a young popular senator is up for re-election, things become even more acute. There is no doubt an all-out effort will be made by Republicans to get the Senate seat away from Sen. Church.

It just remains to pick the best man for the job.

Idaho Atty. Gen. Allan Shepard seems to be out of the picture by his own choosing, and at the moment that leaves only Mr. Hansen and Mr. Smylie.

We see no dark-horse candidates strong enough to tackle Sen. Church.

Mr. Smylie may become more outspoken on issues as time goes on. He is an interested citizen and a man with a knowledge the press likes to seek out.

But his comments may be due to more than his interest in government and politics.

We wonder.

MR. SPECTATOR

The City Park Stumps

If you have enjoyed the beautiful City Park in near-downtown Twin Falls, then don't take a look at it now.

Someone, with a determination to cut and hack away at trees which were once so beautiful things, has changed all that. The donated stumps, looking for all like a dead forest in some forgotten fairy tale, now dominate the scene.

Surely some way could have been figured out to trim the trees or whatever it was that someone had in mind. But to cut them down to the point where they no longer look like trees surely isn't the way to do it.

Frankly, Mr. Spectator doesn't know very much about preserving trees, with the possible exception that most of them can stand water and fertilizer.

But Mr. Spectator — together with a lot of other local residents — doesn't like what has happened to the trees in City Park.

We are reminded of the poem "Trees" which says they lift their leafy arms to pray. The City Park trees lift nothing but stumps!

WEATHER

Now come the scientists with the news that air pollution is causing winters to become colder. Less sunlight is getting through to the earth on this continent.

To those who yearn for the hard winters of yesteryear this information might come as good news. But the cost of declining temperatures might be an angle for convincing the country that pollution must be abated.

If scientists could prove the cost of rising fuel bills will be more that it would cost to mount an all-out fight against pollution, that fight would have wider appeal.

"I Think We Just Lost Something"

Inadequate Man Must Worship

"Take one God away from a man and he'll create another." Man, inescapably aware of his finite inadequacy, must worship something bigger than himself.

Robert Ruark wrote that the white man was responsible for African ferment "because we took away the native's historic tribal rites and failed to replace those with something of value."

Similarly, recently, our Christian churches have so compromitted themselves that many youngsters, disillusioned and confused, are grasping at spiritual straws.

A bearded guru from India has made a tremendous impact on America and England because he appears to fill the void which was left when Christian churches began to "tolerate" everything.

Both membership and attendance in America's mainline churches are lagging behind our population increase.

The Gallup Poll shows that 93% of Americans believe "religion is important," but only 60% belong and only 30% attend!

They know what they need, but they aren't getting it in church!

Meanwhile, cults are flourishing.

This Indian philosopher advocates a system of "meditation" which leads to "blissful consciousness." His system, he says, "also will eliminate wars, famine and earthquakes."

MARQUIS CHILDS Need To Respond

WASHINGTON — By calling up the reservists the President has dramatized the need to respond to the threat of another war in Korea. The initial response is the one that could have been expected: the call of duty comes first even for men who may be responding for a second and a third time.

This was the pattern in the Korean War that began in 1950 only five years after the end of World War II. The similarities then and now are uncanny. The emotions are deeper this time because the attack was directed not at other Koreans but at an American crew and an American ship.

The disruptive effects are the same on men who have got a start in civilian life and are pulling for homes, auto and the budgets that are part of the installment-plan way of life. The havoc created in individual lives at the start of the Korean War blunted the first patriotic response when it became apparent that the war would be a long one. This was one of the reasons for the growing unpopularity of the Korean conflict as it drew in more and more Americans who had already served in the big war.

There is doubt about the immediate need for pilots among those close to the front lines of pilot training and the relationship between civil and military aviation. They go so far as to say that even in the event of a greatly increased need in Korea the backlog is sufficient.

Pilot training is a problem both in time and in money. This is the reason the Air Force tried last year to draw in reserve pilots by a voluntary appeal in a computerized screening process. 2,300 Air Force Reserve officers not on active duty were found to be suitable for a call up. Letters were sent to the 2,200 and out of this effort 75 officers returned to duty, of whom five were pilots.

The aviation industry takes a calm view of the effect of the President's action in calling up nearly 15,000 air reservists.

Not even in the Cuban missile crisis when two divisions were moved was any thought given to the need for the kind of priority travel imposed in World War II. During the Cuban crisis 400 planes were made available to the Department of Defense through a standing arrangement with the Air Transport Association.

Both the Army and the Navy have tried to persuade reservists to come back in recent months. The Navy recently sent letters to lieutenant commanders and captains as volunteers appealing to them to return to active duty. Still other naval reservists with special skills have been imported to put on the uniform again. Few have responded, most replies giving the reason that having only just established a civilian base and with a family to provide for they could not afford it. While the initial patriotic response submerges individual discontents, this will not be for long. The increasing unpopularity of the Korean War was one of Harry Truman's crosses in his last years in the White House.

RAY CROMLEY The Crime War

WASHINGTON (NEA) — President Johnson's approach to combating crime in the streets poses a serious question of whether it gets at the root of the problem.

In his State of the Union message, the President asked for $100 million to develop state and local master plans to combat crime, to provide better training and better pay for police and to bring the most advanced technology to the war on crime.

Though some will argue whether these actions should be federally or locally financed, few will question the need for more local planning, better training and pay in a greater use of technology in the nation's police forces.

But scientists who spend their time studying police forces and crime in the major cities recently outlined for this reporter their list of problems that must be solved first if crime in the streets is to be significantly reduced.

These men said there must be new respect for the policeman and his job among the general citizenry.

In an era when many law-abiding citizens look down on the police and subconsciously regard the man on the beat as an enemy, effective capture and conviction of criminals is extremely difficult.

Today, on a wide scale, citizens refuse to cooperate with the police. They refuse to come forward as witnesses. They know of crimes and won't report them. They use their influence to get sickle fixed and other law violations "quashed" for their friends, their children and themselves.

The police forces must attract more men of technical, managerial, accounting, scientific and organizational skills.

If police departments are to be efficiently administered and if crime detection is to become more scientific, local police systems must attract large numbers of college graduates and men with graduate degrees.

Of late, percentages very few college graduates are joining local police forces.

Higher salaries alone won't bring in the better-educated men.

Able men with high qualifications want work that brings respect.

They want work in which they can assume responsibility and meet challenges commensurate with their knowledge and background.

It won't be enough to institute training programs. You can't usually make a doctor or a lawyer of a boy with only a high school education by means of a few part-time night courses, or even with a one-year leave of absence at some specialized school.

Though there are brilliant exceptions, if you need doctors or lawyers, you normally must employ young men who have graduated from medical or law school, or men well on the way. The men who study crime say the same approach will have to be made by the nation's local police forces.

Nixon, Romney Top Field

By ADOLPHE V. BERNATOS CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Michigan Gov. George Romney top the 11-man Republican field while Minnesota Sen. Eugene McCarthy is the only nationally known entrant among four Democrats in the nation's earliest presidential derby.

The filing deadline for the March 12 New Hampshire primary passed Wednesday with no nomination papers offered for President Johnson or Sen. Robert F. Kennedy of New York, whose Democratic backers plan formal write-in campaigns in the preference poll.

Observers also expect a wide-spread write-in of New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's name on the GOP ballot, although he said he isn't running. A Republican primary victory was registered in New Hampshire four years ago by Henry Cabot Lodge, an unpledged candidate, despite state campaigning by Rockefeller and the eventual nominee, Barry Goldwater.

During the 11th hour rush to the secretary of state's office, the only surprise filing was the name of Florida Gov. Claude R. Kirk Jr. in the GOP race.

State Rep. Aram Parnagian of Dover said he registered Kirk because "a new voice should be heard from."

If Kirk wants to be taken off the ballot, he has 10 days in which to notify the secretary of state.

Nixon, the 3-1 pre-primary poll favorite over Romney, was entered by his state campaign chief, David Sterling of Hillsboro, three hours before the deadline.

He presented almost 1,000 signatures, although only 100 were required by state law. Romney had personally signed up on the opening day of the filing period.

Less than an hour before the filing deadline, Manchester Mayor John Monagan submitted papers to put former Minnesota Gov. Harold Stassen on the GOP ballot. This is Stassen's fourth house race in the state there were in 1948, 1952 and 1964.

BOISE (AP) — State prison officials are investigating apparent plans for an escape following discovery of the beginnings of an escape tunnel.

The planned tunnel was found Wednesday during a search of a prison laundry and clothing rooms. Holes drilled in a concrete floor were found at a location about 20 feet from the prison's back wall. An electric drill and other tools were found in a locker with a false bottom.

Warden Orvil Stiles said they had no suspects but were investigating.

Denver Hospital Initiates Ski Program For Amputees

By BURL OSBORNE ARAPAHOE BASIN, Colo. (AP) — Army Capt. Ron Morrison buckled a ski on the one leg he brought back from Vietnam and set off down the snow-swept slope. A dozen other soldiers, each missing a leg, followed suit. And a like number of children, each missing an arm or leg, followed suit. "It means a lot to get a chance at being people again," said Morrison, 26, Fort Atkinson, Wis., who was wounded twice in Vietnam before a booby trap in the Mekong Delta took his right leg last Aug. 13.

It was an effort to provide this chance that fostered a learning-ski program for Morrison and about 29 other amputees—nearly all Vietnam combat veterans—at the Army's Fitzsimons General Hospital in Denver.

Across town at the same time, Denver Children's Hospital was setting up similar therapy for 18 children who had lost legs either through accident or congenital defect.

Then Col. Paul W. Brown, who set up the Fitzsimons program, and Dr. William F. Stank, who organized it at Children's Hospital, got together and combined their efforts. Now the men and boys make the weekly trip to Arapahoe Basin ski area together. "I came up here to have a good time. I don't care if I never learn to ski," said Morrison.

But he and his friends are learning. Progress of the amputee students has astonished their volunteer instructors at the Willy D. Butcher, Pocatello.

U.S. Civilian Finds It's Every Man For Himself In Saigon

By PETER ARNETT SAIGON (AP) — The tall young American civilian crouched behind the high concrete wall of a pistol-ramp to his thigh and a high-powered rifle in his hands. His clothes were dirty and he hadn't shaved for two days.

Ron Fleming, 26, a Harvard graduate, was defending his Saigon home. Like scores of other Americans in the embattled Vietnamese capital, he had discovered that law and order had broken down in many places and it was every man for himself.

The young psychological warfare operative crept along the wall, then motioned those behind him to stop. At the corner he put a finger to his lips for silence, then raised the M14 rifle to his shoulder.

The crack echoed around the small cluster of neat concrete homes in the compound, Fleming said. "He's not there now. Maybe I got him. That night he and the friendly neighborhood sniper."

A few minutes later two bullets cracked in the air. The sniper was still there. Fleming began stalking him again, as he had been doing for 30 hours.

All over Saigon, particularly in the heavily populated outer suburbs, Americans like Fleming have taken up arms to defend their homes.

"We have no choice," said missionary Richard Taylor of the Christian Missionary Alliance, who comes from Auburn, Maine. "We have bullet holes in our shutters. Men like Fleming afford some degree of protection. Without them we would have no one."

Fleming lives in a compound of five houses in the Chi Lang area, a little American community of nine men, three women and four children. Some of the heaviest fighting in the battle of Saigon has occurred within two blocks.

Most of the time the main highway alongside the compound has been deserted. Helicopters have strafed in the rear. "We sort of look on ourselves as a frontier community," said Fleming, "and it has brought out the frontier spirit in us all."

Two embassy people who had spoken to each other in months because of the conflicting nature of their work are good buddies now. This siege has brought them together.

"But I found out one thing. The compound killer, a veteran of the U.S. Army who lured gleaming Swedish K machine gun and kept bragging about how many VC he would kill if he got the chance, bugged out the moment the going got rough."

He and another 20-year-old took over the leadership of the compound. We are working together fine."

Fleming borrowed three M14 rifles from a nearby U.S. military unit and issued one to Don Wilson, a slightly built diplomat from Detroit's Southfield section. Wednesday night Wilson spent one three-hour watch on the driveway leading into the compound, another on the back fence of the missionary house, and a third at the rear of the compound.

"The Americans have seen no Vietnamese police or troops since fighting erupted around their compound early Wednesday morning. At daylight Wednesday they decided to defend themselves.

"The vigilantes" keep a careful watch. They have no telephones, and communication with the world outside their compound is limited to occasional visits by friends and trips to the nearby U.S. military compound to get food.

Some of the group prepared to leave today particularly the married ones with the children. Fearing more heavy fighting around them, they thought they would move into hotels. But Fleming and Wilson said they would stay. "Where else would I go? This is home," said Wilson.

Closing Stocks And Markets

Stocks

CLOSING SUMMARY
NEW YORK (AP) — Glamour stocks made a rebound today as the stock market closed in the midst of a recovery drive. Trading was active.
 Losses still outnumbered gains in the final minutes but the Dow Jones industrial average showed a gain.
 Analysts called it a technical recovery from an over-sold condition. Some credit also was given to President Johnson's economic message.
 Recently battered stocks such as Telydine, IBM, Control Data, Occidental Petroleum and Xerox snapped back with sharp gains.
 The New Penn Central stock made its debut with a strong rise over the previous closing price of Pennsylvania Railroad.
 The market was slightly lower at the start, after a rally, then followed. A renewed attempt at advance got more of a following and the list was on the upgrade at the end.
 Gains were also made by such chips as Chrysler, Goodrich, United Aircraft, American Can, Lorillard and U.S. Gypsum.
 Prices also did better on the New York Stock Exchange.

College Stars Are Taken In Late Draft Picks

NEW YORK (AP) — Quarterbacks Kim Hammond of Florida State and Dewey Warren of Tennessee, sprinter Jim Hines of Texas Southern and All-American defensive back Tom Schoen of Notre Dame were among the top collegians picked in the closing day of the combined American and National Football League drafts.

Although most of the cream had been skimmed off the top Tuesday when the 20 pro clubs completed five rounds of selections, some still remained for the later rounds.

The teams were selecting a total of 462 players, including extra picks for Cincinnati, the new AFL team, during the 17 rounds.

Hammond, who threw 15 touchdowns passes for Florida State, went to the Miami Dolphins of the AFL in the sixth round, using a draft right acquired from Denver in an earlier trade.

Warren, out of action because of injuries during much of the Tennessee season, was a sixth-round pick of the Cincinnati Bengals who had acquired quarterback John Stofa from Miami in a recent deal.

The Miami club also grabbed Hines, the sprinter whose 8.1 seconds for 100 yards tied the world record last year. Hines is a flanker-back with Texas Southern.

Schoen, Notre Dame's 5-foot-11, 178-pound defensive back and daring punt return man who was converted from a quarterback, was an eighth-round pick by the Cleveland Browns.

Cincinnati, given special consideration as the latest expansion team, had 45 selections but traded a few of them away. Owner-Coach Paul Brown had nine picks in the sixth round in which he had all the other AFL selections, except Miami's. The Bengals drafted first and last in each round, except the first, but spun off some of the rights in trades.

Ron VanderKelen, the one-time Rose Bowl hero from Wisconsin who has served time as a backup man with the Minnesota Vikings, was drafted off to the Atlanta Falcons in return for a seventh-round pick.

Sixth Round: San Jose State defensive end; Chicago, Jim Schmading, defensive end.

Seventh Round: Minnesota, Oscar Reed, Colorado State running back; Houston, Paul Toocano, Wyoming quarterback; Pennsylvania State, Washington defensive back.

Eighth Round: Oregon State end; Denver, Steve Holloway, Weber State defensive back; Pittsburgh, John Knight, Weber State defensive end; San Francisco, Casey Boyette, Brigham Young running back; New York Jets, Frank Robinson, Atlanta quarterback; Los Angeles, Bob Richardson, Washington backer; Cincinnati, Steve Hranstka, Weber State defensive back.

Ninth Round: Utah defensive back; Houston, Gene Austin, Utah State defensive back; Kansas City, Jack Griffith, Utah quarterback.

Tenth Round: Cincinnati, Wally Scott, Arizona defensive back; Pittsburgh, Larry Stille, Utah State defensive back; Denver, Dan Hunsaker, Arizona defensive back; Washington, Dave Steinman, Western Washington backer; Philadelphia, Al Tavan, Colorado State defensive back; Oakland, Larry Plante, Colorado backer.

Eleventh Round: Atlanta, William Harris, Colorado running back; Denver, Cliff Grier, Utah State defensive back; New Orleans, K. T. Trappner, Montana State defensive end; Houston, Max Haber, Brigham Young tackle.

Twelfth Round: Washington, Dave Zwick, Santa Barbara tackle; Chicago, Harold Gargus, New Mexico State defensive tackle; Green Bay, Jim Farler, Colorado end; Cincinnati, Steve Lewis, Texas Tech pass end.

Thirteenth Round: New Orleans, Wilmer Cooke, Colorado running back; Pittsburgh, Robert Lantz, Northern Montana defensive end; Detroit, Jim Oliver, Colorado State running back.

Fourteenth Round: Atlanta, Ray Hall, San Jose State tackle; Dallas, Robert Boliva, Arizona State defensive end; Chicago, Jim Murphy, Utah State kicker; Baltimore, Walt Blackledge, San Jose State backer.

Fifteenth Round: Cincinnati, UCLA line backer; Atlanta, Jim Schmidt, San Francisco defensive back; Los Angeles, Steve Gaudin, Southern California defensive back; Minnesota, Bob Lee, U. of Pacific quarterback; Miami, Bill Honch, Arizona center; Washington, Frank Iosco, Colorado defensive tackle; Philadelphia, Joe Borcetti, Philadelphia tackle; San Francisco, Dennis Patra, Brigham Young kicker; Chicago, Gene Layton, Colorado State defensive tackle.

Girls Given Saliva Test At Olympics

By JOHN FARROW
GRENOBLE, France (AP) — Girls for the Winter Olympics arrived in France Wednesday and immediately were asked to lick a little bit of paper.

Object of the exercise: to decide whether they are girls or men.

An official of the International Olympic Committee said the sex of athletes would be determined by saliva tests.

"Each girl is required to lick the paper," the official said, "then the paper is sent to a laboratory and the result will be known 36 hours later."

The IOC decided to introduce the sex test for the first time in the Olympics in Grenoble to stop posing.

An official of the IOC said that the result of the tests would be made known only to the doctor of the team involved.

Each saliva test will be numbered so that nobody apart from the doctors knows to whom it refers.

Burley Cops Victory Over Winless Buhl

BURLEY — Burley got its scoring punch underneath Wednesday night as the Bobcats rolled over the Buhl Indians 65-0 in a non-conference battle.

Bunn and Ron Russell provided 31 points on the inside to carry the Bobcats in front in the first quarter. Buhl, unable to win in 14 outings so far, stayed within seven in the first quarter but fell a little farther off the pace each quarter.

Burley won the preliminary 67-62.

Beattie Tries To Head Off Controversy

GRENOBLE, France (AP) — Bob Beattie, who never has ducked controversies during his five years as U.S. ski coach, tried to prevent one from starting Wednesday.

The Olympic coach of American skiers, who is reportedly considering stepping down from the job at the end of this season, denied there was anything serious in his dropping of Penny McCoy of Bishop, Calif., from the Olympic team.

"In the first place," he said, "the racers who were selected last April following the final trials at Alpine Meadows simply formed the basic squad from which the final team would be named."

"Secondly, there is no hard and fast rule that additions can't be made later. Our sole aim is to put our best skiers into the Olympics, regardless of who they are or what they've done in previous years."

"McCoy was perhaps the No. 1 U.S. female skier in 1966 and for part of 1967. But, Beattie explained:

"Five of the eight girls we picked last April were injured at the time, and Penny was one of them. She suffered a concussion during the Wild West Classic at Jackson Hole but didn't tell us anything about it until later. And the injury turned out to be more serious than we thought."

"As a result, she didn't ski very well down in Chile during the summer. When she hurt her ankle later and our other girls failed to come back, we started looking for help."

"This is where a trio of youngsters entered the picture."

Kiki Cutler, 19, of Bend, Ore.; Judy Nagel, 16, of Enningclaw, Wash.; and Erica Skunger, of Stowe, Vt., also had competed in Chile.

CSI Hosts C Of I Freshmen Friday

A pair of freshmen clubs are on tap Friday and Monday for the College of Southern Idaho Golden Eagles and one appears to be a breather while the other is expected to be tough. The Eagles, carrying a 14-3 record, will entertain College of Idaho's youngsters at 8:15 p.m. Friday and come back Monday against a respected Weber State team.

Coach Eddie Sutton said he knew nothing about College of Idaho's freshmen, not having had an opportunity to scout them. "It's the kind of team to be a little wary of," he said. "When you start looking past someone or expect an easy game you are a good target for an upset."

However, he has seen the Weber frosh. "They have a good frosh ball club with a 6-9 boy in the middle who can get the ball off the board and also put it through the hoop. I would say they appear to be a little better than Idaho State and Utah State but not up to BYU," he said. "With that big guy in the middle they will be tough for us to handle."

With a pair of 100-plus point efforts against Sheldon Jackson JC over the weekend, CSI has pushed its average offense to 25.8 points per game. The defensive mark also has come up slightly to 61.1.

Dowler Isn't In Favor Of Grid Union

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Fluoride Boyd Dowler of the Green Bay Packers said Wednesday he does not favor a proposal to unionize professional football players.

Dowler appeared at the winter convention of the Wisconsin Broadcasters Association as a stand-in for Packers Coach Vince Lombardi, who was honored by the group as "Wisconsinite of the Year."

"I am too old to get mixed up in joining a union," the Packers veteran said during a question period following his acceptance of a plaque on behalf of his boss.

"I don't believe it would be a good idea. I would just as soon take care of my own salary situation myself. I think it should be done on an individual basis, rather than collectively."

Lombardi was unable to appear because the annual player draft kept him in Green Bay. Noting that Lombardi has called an unprecedented post-season news conference for Thursday night to disclose his future plans, Dowler said he had no idea what the highly successful coach had in mind.

U.S. Enters 113 In Winter Games

NEW YORK (AP) — The United States has entered a team of 113 athletes, 23 of them women, in the Winter Olympics at Grenoble, France, starting next Tuesday.

The U.S. Olympic Committee said Wednesday that it has entered a maximum number of entries in each of the seven sports on the program with the exception of the Women's Nordic events.

The United States has no entries at all for the three women's cross country ski races, dominated by the Russians and the Scandinavians.

Minico Drops Blackfoot In 66-62 Victory

RUPERT — The Balanced Minico Spartans fought off a strong scoring display by the Blackfoot Broncos Wednesday night to claim a tight 66-62 Eastern Idaho Conference victory.

Although Minico took the lead in the early going and never trailed again, Blackfoot never was out of the game and trailed by only one point going into the fourth quarter.

But the Spartans, getting points from all five starters, managed to stay ahead. The biggest lead in the final period was six minutes and Blackfoot didn't get closer than three.

T.F. Matmen To Entertain Buhl Tonight

The Twin Falls Bruins will entertain the Buhl Indians at 7 p.m. Thursday in their final dual wrestling meet of the season.

Following the match both teams will point toward the opening of the district tournament in Twin Falls next Thursday. A meeting will be held Monday night at Twin Falls High School.

The Bruins posted their second victory over Jerome Tuesday night, piling up a 34-14 spread. Results of the matches: Twin Falls men listed first, include 98 pounds, Stone pinned Buhl's 166; Wanderlich was declared by Quinn in a 1:15 Royal Lounge ended Blue Lakes Trout Farm's win in a 4-37 decision. Mike Gray had 16 for the winners, Kent Henderson 12 for Blue Lakes.

Patryl Cameron's 24 points Valley Nursing Home past Sheld's 58-35. Host had 10 for the losers.

Bruins Face Swing To Nampa, Borah

With rebounder - scorer Von Wells on the doubtful list, the Twin Falls Bruins face a tough road trip this weekend against the Nampa Bulldogs and the Borah Lions. Fighting for the Southern Idaho Conference lead, the Bruins, tied with Borah, Pocatello and Caldwell going into the swing, probably face the difficult assignment of winning both to remain in contention.

"Sure it's tougher to win on the road," says Coach Charles Farmer, "but I still say what I did at the first of the year. I'm not afraid to take this team into any gym in the state."

Coach Farmer said Wells, who saw only eight minutes action last week due to an ankle injury, sustained a displaced tendon. The 6-2 senior, averaging 12 points and hitting 50 per cent from the field for the year, was still hobbling in practice Wednesday.

"If Von feels he can play some we'll put him in," Coach Farmer said. "If not, that just means we'll have to ask the boys to play a little harder."

Coach Farmer said last week's loss to Pocatello was attributable to a lack of defensive sharpness and rebounding. "I think we gave up the baseline something like six times for cringles and that's something a good defensive team doesn't do. The rebounding simply wasn't there. We know this team is better than that. I think we had one of those little recessions that happen every one in a while and that along with Von being unable to go cost us the game. I put the pressure on but I still feel that if we play good ball and win on the road we can still fit into the picture somewhere. These other contenders have to play each other, too, and on any given night no team is safe this year."

With a 50-point weekend, John Hoinning raised his average to over 20 points and currently is hitting .415 from the field for the year. Howard Hedrick moved in front in team rebounds and the Bruin team offensive average remains the best in the league.

U.S. Enters 113 In Winter Games

NEW YORK (AP) — The United States has entered a team of 113 athletes, 23 of them women, in the Winter Olympics at Grenoble, France, starting next Tuesday.

The U.S. Olympic Committee said Wednesday that it has entered a maximum number of entries in each of the seven sports on the program with the exception of the Women's Nordic events.

The United States has no entries at all for the three women's cross country ski races, dominated by the Russians and the Scandinavians.

Knight's Takes Last-Second Win

Terry Hugemann's swisher with two seconds left lifted Knight's Shelters to a 28-27 victory over Mike's Cold Storage Wednesday night in city recreation basketball play.

Knight's Stan Meyers and Mike's John Root shared point honors at night.

Royal Lounge ended Blue Lakes Trout Farm's win in a 4-37 decision. Mike Gray had 16 for the winners, Kent Henderson 12 for Blue Lakes.

Patryl Cameron's 24 points Valley Nursing Home past Sheld's 58-35. Host had 10 for the losers.

Minister Is Rupert Speaker

RUPERT — Dr. Herbert E. Richards, Boise, was the guest speaker at the annual Chamber of Commerce Installation banquet Monday night at the Rupert Elks' Lodge in Rupert.

Dr. Richards holds degrees from Dickinson College, Drew University and Theological Seminary, Columbia University, and College of Idaho and completed advanced studies at the Union Theological Seminary and Bucknell University.

He taught for seven years at Drew University and Theological Seminary. He also taught at Howard University and at Columbia University and in 1948 received the alumni status in religious education from Dickinson College. He is listed in "Who's Who in American Universities" and in "Who's Who in the West."

At the present time he is serving as minister of the First Methodist church in Boise. For the past 12 years he has conducted weekly radio broadcasts and has written numerous articles, hymns and poems.

Dr. Richards told the chamber members that they must follow the commands given paratroopers. The first command is "Get ready." "We must get ready for peace on earth, good will to men," he stated.

The second command is "Look up." In the United States we still have the privilege of saying "Under God" while in some countries this is not possible, he noted.

The third and last command is "Follow me." Dr. Richards urged chamber members to take the lead in the community, stressing that "You are important men. You are leaders in three Americas."

New officers were installed. Claude Bowman, president for 1967, introduced the new president, Ken Bell, and presented him with the gavel.

Other officers introduced were Robert Balch, 1st vice president; Ruth DeThomas, secretary-treasurer, and directors Bill Hannos, Ed Hartman, Richard Engbert, Merlyn Hanna, John Trevino, Elmer Rosencrans, and Marvin Heinrich.

Outgoing officers Ed Engert, Judson VanEzery, and Demar Hollinger were presented with plaques and a 10-year award was given to LaVon Culbert who is the secretary in the Chamber office.

Mr. Bowman was presented with a plaque by the new president.

Guests included President and Mrs. Robert Burnam and Vice President and Mrs. Ralph McCombs; Hayburn, President and Mrs. Bob Saxvik and Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Blauer, Burley; and President and Mrs. Joe Bauer and Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Hollinger, Paul; president of MVCC, Don Nielson, and his wife; and Burley Chamber secretary-manager, Mrs. Agnes Anderson and her husband, Fred.

Third Party To Hold Utah Meet

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Authorization has been given to the state chairman for the American Independent Party to hold a nominating convention in Utah.

The party, which supports former Alabama Gov. George Wallace for president, is headed in Utah by Herbert Grizzell, Salt Lake City.

Secretary of State Clyde Miller gave the letter of authorization to Grizzell, saying the party now can legally hold a state convention, nominate party officers and select a slate of candidates.

Cassia County Democrats Elect Ed Elliott Chairman

BURLEY — Ed Elliott has been elected as Cassia County Chairman of the Democratic Central Committee to fill the vacancy created when Dennis Curtis moved from the county.

Officers of the Democratic Party which will be working with the new chairman, Mr. Elliott, are Roy Anderson, Oakley, vice chairman; Mrs. Hazen Hatch, Burley, secretary; Odeen Redman, Albion, treasurer; Robert Saxvik and Mrs. Robert Saxvik, Burley, state committeeman and committeewoman.

"Our first job is to strengthen the party in the county and next on the list is to fill vacancies in the precincts," Elliott stated.

He entered politics for the first time during the last election and ran for state senate seat held by Sen. Don Loveland for three terms.

Mr. Elliott and his brother, George Elliott, own and operate Elliott's Inc., John Deere farm equipment on north Overland Ave., Burley.

He is a past president of the Burley Chamber of Commerce and is presently serving as president of the South Idaho Chamber of Commerce.

Marketing Cited As Key To Industry

POCATELLO, Idaho (AP) — Marketing has been cited as the key to the future of the Idaho potato industry.

"If we are to find a solution to our market problems, then we must look back at the changes in marketing," Charles Parr, Burley, president of the Potato Growers of Idaho, Inc., told the final session of the fourth annual Idaho Potato Conference Wednesday at Pocatello.

Parr suggested Idaho growers may have to band together to form collective marketing organizations to compete.

"We're running into more competition every year," Parr said, mentioning fresh market competition from Washington and competition from packaged food products.

"We are letting others in the door when we do not ship 12 months of the year," Parr stated. "We must give thought to air-conditioned storage for all-year marketing."

A similar theme was expressed at a panel discussion on whether the small acreage farmer can survive. The general feeling was the small farmer can survive if he employs such methods as pooling of crops, community storage, equipment sharing and the most modern techniques of farming.

Two Testify For Dredge Mine Rights

GRANGEVILLE (AP) — Two men requesting permission for dredge mining rights along 40 miles of the Salmon River downstream from Riggins testified at a State Land Board hearing here Wednesday.

John Mock, Lucile Miner and Marcus Ware, Lewiston attorney, told some 80 members of the board they intend to mine only the exposed bedrock with no earth moving or bank alteration. They said a six-inch suction hose would be used in the dredging operation. It would have a capacity of 50 cubic yards of loose sand and minerals per day.

Mock and Ware said the operation seeks gold nuggets on the bottom of the stream. They said no sand bars would be disturbed and there would be no restrictions on fishermen, rock hunters and boaters. But diving would be prohibited in the dredging area.

The operation would be halted during fish spawning seasons, they said, or until the Idaho Fish and Game Department set a limit on the amount of fish that would be no harm to spawning operations.

Most of the opposing testimony was based on the contention that the dredging operation would harm spawning fish, pollute the water and interfere with boating and rock collecting.

Edward Middlemist, Boise, state mineral supervisor, and Marvin Vandenberg, Coeur d'Alene, state land agent, conducted the hearing. They said the State Land Board would review testimony presented at the hearing. A decision might be made at a Feb. 13 meeting of the board in Boise, they said.

Some Job Expenses Are Deductible From Taxes

By RAY DE CRANE
NEA Publications

By the nature of their employment some workers have out-of-pocket expenses during the year in connection with their job that are properly deductible on their income tax returns. If such expenses are reimbursed to you through an expense account and you account to your employer you have a stand-off—nothing to report and nothing to deduct.

But if your expenses are not covered by your employer or if your reimbursement is only in part, this is the opportunity to get full credit. Some of these items are properly claimed as "business expenses" on your return and others may be claimed only as "miscellaneous deductions" if you are itemizing deductions on your return. The distinction depends upon your work and whether you were reimbursed.

So-called outside salesmen, those whose primary job is selling on the road, may deduct as business expenses all of their ordinary and necessary business expenses for which they were not reimbursed.

This might include all auto expenses; fuel charges; railroad fares; cost of lodging and meals while away from home at least overnight; tips; baggage charges; laundry expense while in a travel status; secretarial telephone and telegram charges; gifts to customers and prospects up to a yearly limit of $25 each; and all ordinary and necessary entertainment expense.

If you do not qualify as an outside salesman you can claim as a Part III business deduction on your return only your necessary transportation and travel expenses. All other unreimbursed expenses must be claimed as a miscellaneous deduction if you itemize deductions on your return.

deduction you may claim a flat deduction of 10 cents for each of the first 15,000 business miles driven and seven cents for each mile thereafter.

A moving expense deduction may be claimed if you were transferred to another city by your employer or moved because you changed jobs. You must have expenses for which you were not reimbursed and failure to move would have meant an additional 20 miles or more each way in getting to work.

You must be employed in new area for 39 weeks of the following 52 weeks.

The deduction includes the actual cost of moving your household goods in addition to transportation, lodging and meals en route to your new location for you and your family.

Either attach a statement to your return detailing these expenses or complete Form 3903 which is available from IRS for this purpose.

(NOTE: Listing dividends; charitable contributions.)

Contest Won By Attendance Team

WENDELL — The Kirby Hill team won the attendance contest sponsored by the Orchard Valley Grange. They received 18 points, compared to 15 for the W. H. Niscomb team.

The Hagerman sisters, Chris, Mary Lou and Anne, sang with guitar accompaniment during a meeting of the Grange. Steve Evert sang a solo, accompanied by his mother, Mrs. Loyal Crosby, and a reading was given by Randy Hill and a tap dance number by Terry Bird.

Kay Cutler, assisted by Frank Orth, reported on the evaluation of the school survey made recently.

Big business for young adults

From coast to coast, in hundreds of communities throughout the United States, high school students are "learning-by-doing" what business is all about.

These teenagers are in Junior Achievement. They meet each week, from September to May to operate their own miniature corporations. Each Junior Achievement company is composed of approximately 20 achievers who, under the guidance of adult Advisers from business and industry, form their own board of directors, work force and sales staff. The young people elect officers and decide on a product to manufacture and sell.

Opportunities unheard of twenty years ago exist for today's young people. But along with increased opportunities have come greater responsibility and tougher competition. In today's highly competitive world, Junior Achievement is an invaluable asset for making your teenager more aware of his abilities and the standards necessary for success.

FLEISCHMANN DISCOVER A MAR FOR PE UNDER

We didn't plan it that way, but kids turned out to be new Soft Fleischmann's most loyal supporters. They have their reasons. That it's soft enough to spread without "big people" help. The way it tastes on a muffin. Or a cracker. Or a finger.

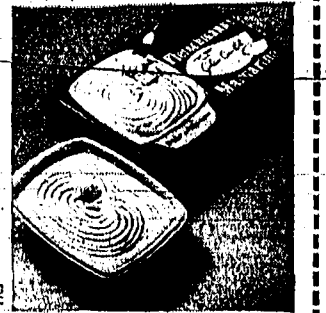

Even that the empty tub can hold a lot of useful stuff like marbles and rubber bands. None of which has much to do with the reasons you might buy Fleischmann's. Like low saturated fat, or the good nutrition of 100% corn oil.

But who cares. They like it. And it's by liking things that are good for them that they get to be people over 4' 10".

Painting Stolen

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Rembrandt's 306-year-old "Portrait of a Young Man," valued at more than $100,000, was stolen from the Eastman House Museum, police said Wednesday.

Police said they believed more than one man was involved in the theft because the painting and its frame weighed more than 150 pounds.

The frame was found hanging in a fence adjoining the museum room after the theft was discovered.

Nixon Holds 3-1 Lead Over Romney

NEW YORK (AP)—Former Vice President Richard Nixon holds nearly a 3-1 lead over Gov. George Romney of Michigan and a 3-2 lead over Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York as the choice of Republican voters for the GOP presidential nomination, the Gallup Poll said today.

Nixon has increased his lead over Romney since a November poll but his margin over Rockefeller has been sharply reduced, the poll stated.

Republican voters in 320 communities across the country were asked: "Suppose the choice for president in the Republican convention narrows down to Richard Nixon and Gov. George Romney (Gov. Nelson Rockefeller), which would you prefer to have the Republican convention select?"

When Nixon was pitted against Romney, the former vice president was favored by 68 per cent of the voters in 26 per cent for Romney with 6 having no opinion. The figures last November were Nixon 65 per cent, Romney 31 per cent with 4 per cent having no opinion.

Against Rockefeller, it was Nixon 55 per cent and Rockefeller 41 per cent, with 4 per cent reporting no opinion. Last November, Nixon led 65-31 per cent with 4 per cent no opinion.

Among eight leading prospects, Nixon wins 42 per cent of the vote, Rockefeller 27, Romney 12, and Gov. Ronald Reagan of California 8.

In a Nixon-Rockefeller contest, Gallup reported that Reagan backers threw at least a third of their support to Rockefeller. Gallup also noted that fewer Rockefeller supporters go for Romney in a Nixon-Romney "showdown" than vote for Nixon.

GREAT, LITTLE AND NO KNOWLEDGE
Sometimes it is true that a little learning is a dangerous thing. The student followed to four rounds of clubs, discarding a spade from dummy, while

The game was duplicate and when the results were in, it turned out that the student and most of the supposed good players had all made the heart play and gone down one. The professor who knew nothing about the principle of restricted choice had all played the hearts to break and made their contracts, and the professor had also made the game.

"How come you didn't play the diamonds the way I did?" asked the student.
"It was all a matter of giving myself a slight extra chance," replied the professor. "I got the same club lead and diamond shift as you did, but I let the first diamond ride to queen. In dummy and led the three of hearts from that hand. East should have played low, but he saw no reason not to split his heart honors and put up the pack."

"When he followed low to the second heart lead, it was obvious to me that he had started with Jack-ten-small. He wouldn't have played the pack from pack-small. So I made the simple play of the ace and made my contract along with all the ordinary players."

CARD SENSE

Q—The bidding has been:
West North East South
Pass 2♥ Pass 3♦
Pass 4♥ Pass 7
You, South, hold:
AK75 ♠ 2 KQ854 ♣ 475 ♠
What do you do now?
A—This is a "trough" one. Your good hand looks rather poor now, but you should still bid four spades and await developments.

TODAY'S QUESTION
You bid four spades, and your partner continues to five clubs. What do you do now?
Answer—Next Issue

NORTH

West dropped the eight of spades and deuce of diamonds. East led a diamond. The student rose with the ace and saw no reason not to attack the heart suit right away. He led out the king and queen and noted the fall of the ten spot from East. The student had learned all about the principle of restricted choice and knew that East might just as well have played the Jack if he held Jack-ten, while he would have had to play the ten if that were the only heart left in his hand. In addition, the student remembered that East had shown up with four clubs to his partner's two, so that West was very likely to have started with four hearts. The student finesse-corrected the setting trick with the Jack.

"Cute" Is Being Clever In Land Of Never-Never

CUTE is a four-letter word. Pronounce it "yeececkli," and define it as cotton-candy of the spirit, entirely without substance.

"Cute" examples: A TV commercial with two ladies. "Are you still using that old tooth-paste?" asks one. "But it's ever-loving—marvelous—sensational—Arrest," cries the second, shaking on the very can. "Right, and just throw it out," says the first. "I've found something new and absolutely incredible." "But that is Arrest you're holding!" "No, it's new Arrest," croons her friend, and ad nauseam. CUTE is a representative of a student group to an adult V.I.P. "Will you address our convention?" "What do you want me to talk about?" asks the candidate. "Oh, about 45 minutes." "I'm willing adults to lay the benediction of their approval on a project by "giving speech" when they have nothing of the sort to say. And CUTE is inviting.

AND THEN FORGET
CUTE is collecting canned goods for Thanksgiving baskets for the needy, or caroling at the hospital on Christmas and then forgetting about the recipients for the next 35 days. CUTE is a gesture of seasonal "turn on the faucet of brotherhood" di-recting.

CUTE is giving the senior class gift to the school of a mahogany trophy case to hold cups engraved in the stone. CUTE is most sexy, spending a thousand lunch hours playing cards, and really talking to each other about the fears, hopes and faith that make you human and real.

It's a criminal waste of hu-man potential to let the CUTE, including a self-addressed envel-opes devour our time, eating the heart out of a life that could count for something. When we let our days slide into a swamp of "cute" we lose vital energy and self-respect.

to become real, a truly alive and human being, we must edit the myriad things that clamour for our attention and devote ourselves only to what is meaningful. Unless we make judgments and set priorities, we'll never be free to turn the full force of our abilities to something that counts. And if we fail to do this, when it's finally time to die, our epitaph will read: "He could have lived, but he was too cute."

You'll find Ele and Walt's "Dating Hints" an interesting and informative pamphlet. For a copy, write to Teenage Date-Line, in care of this newspaper, enclosing a dime and a self-addressed envelope. "I've found God, inner peace and the cure-for- acne-by-taking-acid" demand government leaders should be provided to help students form their opinions.

and, can a real SG refrain from recommending to the principal exactly what treatment should be given students who are caught with drugs? Do you really want them expelled forevermore? Or should they be sent off with a brief "naughty-naughty" slap on the wrist? What will best help the human school library has an empty shelf which could and should hold sex education materials.

CUTE is co-existing with people reciting last night's TV plays, which include the most sexy, spending a thousand lunch hours playing cards, and really talking to each other about the fears, hopes and faith that make you human and real.

It's a criminal waste of hu-man potential to let the CUTE, including a self-addressed envel-opes devour our time, eating

Farm Loan Group Plans T.F. Meeting

Jay H. Felt, assistant vice president of the Federal Land Bank of Spokane, will be the featured speaker during the annual meeting of the Federal Land Bank Association of Twin Falls. It was announced Wednesday by W. R. Nutting, association manager.

The meeting is scheduled for Monday and will be held at the Holiday Inn. Registration will begin at 11:30 a.m.

Mr. Felt began his career with the land bank system in 1950 as field man for the Idaho Falls association. In 1951 he moved to Gooding where he was manager through 1956. With the retirement of J. W. McDowell in 1957, Mr. Felt assumed the position of manager of the Twin Falls Association. March 1, 1968, he accepted the position of regional manager for Idaho, which he held until April 1, 1964, when he was promoted to his present position.

Mr. Nutting said other items on the agenda during the meeting will include reports by the manager and board of directors. Two directors will be elected to fill the vacancies brought about by the expiration of the terms of Melvin Jagers and Elmer Dossert.

The Federal Land Bank Association of Twin Falls is a farmer-owned financial institution dealing in long-term loans, serving Twin Falls County and the First Segregation in Jerome County.

Ordinances Discussed At Burley Meet

BURLEY—The Burley Chamber of Commerce held an open discussion on the Blue Card and the Green River Ordinances during the noon luncheon Monday at Bryan's Cafe.

Mrs. Fred Anderson gave a brief history of the Blue Card system which the chamber has used for the past four years.

Ken Church, city attorney, explained the Green River Ordinance which is a city law.

Bill Parsons, a member of the chamber board of directors and an attorney, pointed out that according to the ordinance against selling door-to-door in Burley, it is still up to the local residents to make the final decision if they buy or slam the door in the seller's face.

During the discussion it was brought out that the blue card was issued or refused to persons or groups to help protect the local residents and the local merchants.

Mr. Church pointed out that according to the city ordinance, a door-to-door salesman must purchase a city license which costs $25 per day. The blue card is not a license to sell, Church pointed out.

Members were urged to purchase tickets to the annual Chamber of Commerce dinner which will be held Feb. 15 at the Ponderosa Inn. J. W. Godfrey, Omaha, Neb., executive officer of the Union Pacific Railroad, will be guest speaker.

Mini-Teens Elect Aides At Shoshone

SHOSHONE — Officers have been elected for the Mini-Teens 4-H club. They are: Mary Jo Haran, president; Penny Egan, vice president; Denise Blackburn, secretary; and Denise Blackburn, reporter.

Mrs. Mary Lou Ruby was a guest at the first club meeting held at the home of Mrs. Arthur Osburn, leader. Mrs. Ruby gave the girls club tips on 4-H projects.

Mrs. Kenneth Blackburn is assistant leader this year. The next meeting will be held at the Osburn home Monday.

Denise Blackburn, Tammy Kinney and Beverly Osburn will give demonstrations. Refreshments will be served by Brenda Scott.

President Proclaims Heart Month

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson hailed breakthroughs in heart surgery and new triumphs in drug treatment today as he proclaimed February American Heart Month.

"The outlook is brighter for heart victims everywhere," he said.

Nevertheless, Johnson pointed out that heart and blood vessel diseases continue to be the nation's No. 1 killer and said a task of great magnitude still exists.

He urged the people of the United States to support all essential programs of research, training, education and service in this field.

Princess Benedikte's Wedding Will Be Rather Subdued, Matching Her Nature

By JOHN GALE
COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP) — As royal weddings go, Saturday's ceremony for Princess Benedikte will be somewhat subdued, matching her shy and unobtrusive nature.

The princess, second in line to Europe's oldest throne, is the last to wed of the three daughters of King Frederik IX and Queen Ingrid.

There will be nothing to match the royal pageantry of Athens in 1964 when her younger sister married King Constantine to become Queen Anne-Marie of Greece.

Nor will there be a carbon-copy repeat of last June's colorful royal wedding in Copenhagen when her elder sister Princess Margarethe was married to a former French diplomat who is now Prince Henrik of Denmark.

Benedikte has chosen the family chapel at the royal Fredensborg estate 25 miles north of Copenhagen for her own nuptials. There amid familiar surroundings, she will become the bride of German Prince Richard zu Sayn-Witgenstein, who owns and manages a large forested ancestral estate near the small Westphalian town of Berleburg. He is 32, she 23.

After the ceremony, the couple will take a 20-minute drive in an illuminated car through the streets of Fredensborg, little more than a large village.

Benedikte has always been the quietest, though some say prettiest, of Denmark's three royal sisters. Like all of them she is in direct lineal descent from a Viking plunderer named Gorm the Old who died about 950 A.D., the first Danish king recognized by historians.

Today the royal house represents a conscientious constitutional monarchy existing within a self-governing democracy. There is no serious republican clamor among Danes and no party for such a movement. The matter is not even openly debated among Social Democratic politicians who are more active on the issue in other Scandinavian lands.

Without going overboard, Danes seem to like the cozy and comfortable traditions of a royal family, jingling cavalrymen and guards in bearskin hats who patrol palace approaches.

Benedikte as a child walked to school with her mother, trailed by a chauffeur-driven limousine which would then pick up Queen Ingrid to return her to the palace. Crowds never gathered on such occasions. Danes seem to feel their royal family is entitled to its private moments.

At 5 feet 9 Benedikte is long-limbed and lovely. She skis in Norway most winters and is fond of horses.

Elder sister Margrethe studied at five universities, but Benedikte had an uncompleted formal education—two Copenhagen schools and a Swiss finishing school.

She learned to sew, cook, make her own clothes and use a typewriter. Like Britain's Princess Alexandra, she has taste in clothes and often shops for herself in Copenhagen's smarter stores.

For relaxation, she likes music both classical and pop. She is the sister most often seen sitting beside her music-loving father at an opera or ballet performance.

They were presented gifts as well as Maurice Dunlap, drill master, and Neal Allen, assistant drill master and Mr. Vickers. Mrs. Red Reed, who was in charge of the horse show, also was presented a gift.

A western band composed of Bobby Jones, Jim Wallis, Rudy Williamson and Terry Niendorf played and sang several selections. Slides were shown of the Elko Riding Club and of parades in Halley, Twin Falls and Gooding. Mr. and Mrs. Neal Allen showed slides.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Shouse and Mr. and Mrs. Dunlap were guests of honor.

Officers Are Honored By Riding Club

FILER—Gifts were presented to officers and drillmasters when the Filer Wranglers entertained their husbands and guests at a smorgasbord Monday night at the Depot Grill, Twin Falls.

Jim Vickers served as master of ceremonies, introduced the officers, Mrs. Floyd Owens, Mrs. Vickers and Mrs. Jack Bishop, who served as president, vice president and secretary-treasurer respectively.

Chemical May Prove To Be Tooth Decay Preventative

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
NEW YORK (AP) — Tooth decay can be prevented in animals by putting a harmless chemical in their food and water, dental researchers reported Wednesday.

The discovery "may well be a major break-through in the control of dental caries (decay)," an editorial in the Journal of the American Dental Association declared.

The chemical is an enzyme, dextranase, that breaks down dextran. And dextran is a main ingredient in sticky "plaques," containing bacteria, that form on teeth to initiate the process of decay.

The plaques in turn can harden into calculus or tartar, setting the stage for destructive gum disease that causes enormous loss of teeth and gums and bone.

The new findings therefore hold promise of combatting both tooth decay and periodontal or gum disease. Human tests of the new approach are planned, the research team said, to try to find whether dextranase can be a useful and safe agent to fight tooth decay and gum disease.

The findings by Dr. Robert J. Fitzgerald, Dr. Paul H. Keyes, and Diane M. Spinnell, M.S., all of the National Institute of Dental Research, Bethesda, Md., and Dr. Thomas J. Stoudt of Morck, Sharp and Dohme Research Laboratories, Rahway, N.J., are described in the February issue of the dental association journal.

The enzyme treatment is "not a panacea for all plaques," even if it works well in humans, Dr. Keyes said in a telephone interview.

It has been most effective in removing or preventing plaques on smooth surfaces of teeth.
