Filibuster Shapes Up Over Bill

By JOHN CHADWICK
WASHINGTON (AP) — A filibuster against the administration's civil rights bill is taking shape following defeat of a substitute measure backed by Deep South senators and introduction of an open housing proposal.

After three weeks of desultory debate, there were those rapid-fire developments Tuesday on the bill aimed at protecting Negroes and civil rights workers against racial violence.

The Senate voted 54-45 in a table and thus kill a substitute offered by Sen. Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, who had been seeking to work out a compromise, said the vote all but ended hopes for achieving such an agreement.

—Sens. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., and Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., offered an amendment that would ban discrimination in the sale or rental of all housing except owner-occupied dwellings containing up to four units.

The two actions generated talk of filibusters.

Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., said he favors "extending debate on the civil rights bill as long as is necessary to defeat it."

Mansfield said his intention is to allow the debate to go on for a reasonable time and then to file a cloture petition and see what results.

TACTICS USED BY: James Koutnik, Republican Central Committee member, in selling Lincoln Day Banquet tickets, may not be too ethical, but are effective. Unless, of course, they are used on a Democratic office holder such as Harold Lancaster, county clerk, above. Lancaster steadfastly resisted the "high pressure" sales of the Republican. Tickets are on sale by all committee members for the Lincoln Day Banquet Friday at 7 p.m. in the Elks Lodge. George W. Abbott, chairman of the Nevada State Republican Committee, will be featured speaker.

Johnson Asks Creation Of Drug Bureau

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, calling for federal enforcement of narcotic laws "fragmented," asked Congress today to create "a new and powerful Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs."

He also called for an antitrust law that would make it a felony to cross state lines to incite or take part in riots.

In a message to Congress, Johnson said "hallucinogenic drugs such as mescaline and LSD present 'an insidious and growing threat to our nation's health, particularly the health of young people.'"

He called for transferring the Treasury Department's Bureau of Narcotics and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare's drug abuse control powers to the Justice Department to create the new bureau to clamp down on drugs.

Johnson also called for:

- Top priority to battle organized crime through the Department's series of strike forces "in cities beset by racketeering."
- New laws to make it a federal crime to engage in gambling "as a substantial business activity in interstate commerce."
- Also, he asked for a measure to preserve the government's taxing authority over gamblers in such a way that it will agree with the Constitution.

N.Y. Garbage Moldering In Streets

NEW YORK (AP) — The leader of a five-day strike by sanitation men begins a 15-day jail term today for defying a court's ban on work order as 40,000 tons of garbage—enough to fill 666 railroad cars—lie moldering in the streets.

John J. DeJury, president of the striking Unaffiliated Sanitationmen's Association, was sentenced Tuesday and fined $250 for criminal contempt under the state's Taylor law which forbids strikes by public employees.

Meanwhile the garbage piles grey apace with no progress reported in negotiations.

U.S., North Korea Hold 4th Secret Meeting At Panmunjom

By K. C. HWANG
SEOUL (AP) — The United States and North Korea held their fourth secret meeting at Panmunjom today on the seizure of the Pueblo, South Korean sources reported. U.S. troops halted 400 South Korean students trying to march on Panmunjom to protest the negotiations.

The South Korean sources said the secret meeting preceded an open session and asserted the United States handed over an apology to the Communists. A U.S. military spokesman denied this. But he did not deny a secret meeting was held.

About five miles south of Panmunjom, U.S. Army troops clashed with demonstrators. South Korean college students who tried to march across Freedom Bridge.

South Korean police said the students fired rifle bullets to halt the students in a two-hour melee. They reported at least 21 students were injured, nine seriously. A statement from the 2nd U.S. Infantry Division, whose unit was involved, said no one was injured.

Most of the students were rounded up by the South Korean national police, a 2nd Division spokesman said.

A few students actually crossed the well-guarded bridge but were headed off by U.S. troops and South Korean police. Even had all the students crossed the bridge, they would have been unable to reach Panmunjom. The way is barred by a fence 10 feet high and heavily guarded.

The students were demonstrating against U.S.-North Korean talks for the release of the USS Pueblo and her crew. Police said the demonstrators were trying to march over the bridge across the Yalu river to the conference site at Panmunjom, where U.S. and North Korean officials met today at an open meeting of the Military Armistice Commission. But the students were not mentioned at the meeting.

Dead Pueblo Crewman Is Oregon Man

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon today identified the dead crewman of the USS Pueblo, the intelligence ship captured by the North Koreans, as Duane D. Hodges, a fireman from Crowell, Ore.

It also gave the names of three injured crewmen: Fireman Apprentice Steven E. Galt, described as seriously injured; Radman J. C. Charles H. Crandall and Marine Sgt. Robert J. Chleca, both described as slightly injured.

The Pentagon gave the home town of Hodges only. It said no further identification will be provided for the other three men under standard Pentagon policy applying to all missing or captured military personnel.

There was no word as to how young Hodges died.

Mortician Says Evidence Not New Dillon Retrial Plea Disputed

JEROME—W. L. (Bud) Hove, owner of the Hove Funeral Chapel, said Wednesday evening he knows about the Michael Dillon murder case was volunteered to a author's letter months before the trial got under way.

Hove said he had not neglected my civic duty. I am confident the clarification of new evidence in this case was discussed at the preliminary hearing in the spring of 1967," Mr. Hove said.

The new evidence question centers around a motion made by the 18-year-old Dillon's defense attorney, James May, Mr. May was asked for a new trial for Dillon, alleging a blond or gray whisker hair may have been found under the fingernails of Mrs. Anna Simerly, 66, Jerome.

She was murdered the night of March 14 and Dillon has been convicted by a jury of killing her.

Tuesday, Dillon was sentenced to 20 years in the Idaho State Prison. The jury delivered its guilty verdict two weeks ago. The verdict was guilty of second degree murder and sentenced to 20 years in the prison.

Wednesday, he said he offered this information at a preliminary hearing held in May of 1967.

The defense attorney, in an affidavit, contends he was aware that scrapings were taken from Mrs. Simerly's fingernails, but he adds that he was unaware a whisker hair was contained in the scrapings.

Mr. May alleges he was not informed of the whisker hair until Jan. 29 after the trial was over.

This question will be discussed at a new trial.

County Erred On Legal Building--Supreme Court

A ruling from the Idaho Supreme Court, announced Tuesday afternoon, stating Twin Falls County Commissioners erred in building the county judicial building with day labor rather than through general contract, brought expressions of satisfaction Wednesday from Twin Falls contractors.

What the ruling will mean as far as the possibility of any further action against the county or the commissioners because of the "illegal" construction is anybody's guess at present.

The judicial building was completed during the period of litigation and is now in full use. The county and the Supreme Court ruling cannot change the shape of the building.

None of the parties directly involved in the litigation had any comment on these possibilities Wednesday.

Two local contracting firms brought legal action against the county when the board of commissioners elected to go ahead with the construction without calling for a general contractor bid.

The action of the county, upheld in district court, was then appealed to the State Supreme Court by the contractors. The Supreme Court decision was pending during final stages of construction of the building, which is now occupied.

Contractors who brought the action said Wednesday they were delighted with the high court's ruling in that it proves the law requiring bids on all major projects by public agencies is valid.

Ray Neilsen, who acted as chairman of the 10 plaintiffs in the case, said Wednesday he had no special comment as yet on the ruling, but he feels it is a victory, not so much for the contractors, but largely for the taxpayers of Idaho.

"This was all we were attempting to do," Mr. Neilsen said. "We wanted to find out if the law as written was enforceable."

Mr. Neilsen added contractors will probably discuss the ruling at the next regular meeting and may issue comments at that time.

Mr. Blanton, legal counsel for the contractors, said: "We feel that the court issued an opinion which correctly analyzed the law."

He pointed out that the action was by and on behalf of Twin Falls County taxpayers for proper expenditure of funds in construction of a public building. He said it sought to force See COURT RULING, P 2, C 4

House Approves Timber Measure

By ALLEN M. BAILEY
BOISE (AP) — A bill strictly limiting state participation in timber protective associations was passed 40-27 by the House today in the Idaho Legislature's special session.

Passage of the measure after a suspension of the rules appeared to leave the way open for the lawmakers to go home the end of the week, the second of the session.

Rep. Jenkin I. Palmer, R-Malad, served notice of possible reconsideration, however, preventing the measure from going immediately to the Senate.

The measure, introduced by several Democrats, would force a serious reorganization of the Priest Lake Timber Protective Association in North Idaho, one of three such organizations of which the state is a member.

Two of the worst forest fires last summer began on association land and lawmakers have said that if proper equipment and personnel had been available promptly, the fires might not have burned out of control.

Rep. Vernon Ravenscroft, D-Tuttle, one of several Democrats who introduced the controversial bill, said the measure was aimed at no specific association, but he severely criticized operations of the Priest Lake-Timber-Protective Association.

Two of the worst forest fires in North Idaho last summer started on association land, and some lawmakers have said that if proper equipment and personnel had been available the blazes would not have gotten out of control.

Under the bill's provisions setting minimum acreages for the association and providing for boards of directors to be organized on proportionate land ownerships, the Priest Lake Association would have to be drastically altered.

But Rep. Robert M. Hankenson, D-Coeur d'Alene, produced maps to illustrate timber lands near present Priest Lake Association land which could be added to the association to make it conform.

Presently, Ravenscroft said, the state owns 92 per cent of the land in the association, but has only one member on the five-member board.

Three other board members do not even own land, but have been association members through purchases of timber from landowners.

The Priest Lake Association has only about 210,000 acres, Ravenscroft said, which does not give it a broad enough assessment basis to finance fighting of large forest fires.

Reading from a State Forestry Department statement made three years ago, the lawmakers said the lack of depth in supervisory personnel is a "serious shortcoming" of the Priest Lake Association.

"Neither does the association have sufficient manpower to conduct hazard management (slash burning) programs," the statement said.

Other timber protective associations of which the state is a member, the Clearwater-Potlatch and Southern Idaho Timber Protection Associations, would be affected in only minor ways by the bill Ravenscroft introduced, he said.

Other bills considered in the morning by the House included the 65-2 appropriation bill to fund the governor's emergency fund with $200,000, $25,000 of which would be before training state employees in fire fighting.

Other legislative action in both houses included mostly routine bills.

Retrieved

BOISE (AP) — Three bills passed in the current special session on the Idaho legislature had to be retrieved from the governor's office when it was learned they passed through legislative chambers too quickly.

Two House bills, it was discovered Tuesday, passed the Senate without having been read on three separate days, as required by legislative rules, and a Senate bill slipped through the House with the same problem.

When clerks discovered the error, the Senate bill and one House bill were brought back, read for the required third time and re-passed.

The other House bill had already been signed by the governor, however.

Special Forces Camp Battles Red Attack Headed By Tanks

By GEORGE ESPER
SAIGON (AP) — Vietnamese irregulars and U.S. Green Beret advisers battled today to hold the Lang Vei Special Forces camp against a North Vietnamese attack, apparently for the first time in the war, by Russian-made tanks.

The camp, in the northwest corner of South Vietnam astride an invasion route leading from Laos toward the U.S. Marine stronghold at Khe Sanh, was obviously hard hit but held out through the day, according to the last official word in Saigon.

Radio Hanoi broadcast a Viet Cong declaration that Lang Vei was overrun at 2:30 a.m. along with two highland outposts little more than a mile to the south and the defenders were annihilated or captured.

Reports from Da Nang said a Special Forces sergeant had radioed that only five of the 25 Americans in the Lang Vei camp were still alive and four others in the headquarters bunker. He reported a knocked-out tank was on top of the bunker.

The U.S. Command said Lang Vei's defenders destroyed five of the also Russian T34 tanks sent against them.

The massive assault on Khe Sanh, four miles west of the long anticipated offensive along the northern frontier, which Gen. William C. Westmoreland has predicted will be the biggest enemy push of the war, exceeded the furious assaults on South Vietnamese cities and towns last week.

The campaign against the cities, the largest enemy offensive so far, has died down at most points after eight days, but Viet Cong forces still fought stubbornly in Saigon and Hue.

The U.S. Command said the enemy death toll in the past eight days reached 22,748 in midnight Tuesday. It said 1,788 allied troops have been killed, including 614 Americans and 1,130 South Vietnamese.

Military spokesmen said the North Vietnamese began pounding the Lang Vei camp with artillery at dusk Tuesday, then launched the ground attack about two hours later. The nine Russian tanks rumbled east along Highway Nine, leading the infantrymen through the camp's minefields and three lines of barbed wire.

TEMPERATURES WERE BELOW freezing, but there were promises of the mercury hitting above 80 before the day was over for Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Hite, Jerome, left, and Dr. and Mrs. Francis H. Fox, Twin Falls. They were among 34 leaving the Twin Falls airport today for the Hawaiian Islands on the annual Times-News tour. More than 100 well-wishers were at the field to give the tour members a sendoff. They will return, tanned, in 14 days.

Tourists Leave For Hawaiian Holiday

It was a fine morning to leave the islands. The 34 were members of the annual Times-News and Magic Valley Tour for the sixtieth anniversary of the state's admission to the Union. They changed to United Airlines and a jet flight to San Francisco.

After a brief stopover in the Bay City, they boarded an Intercontinental United jet for the hop to Honolulu. Headquarters for the tour will be the new and plush Likai Hotel on Waikiki Beach.

Tour leaders were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Salisbury, Twin Falls, sponsored by the newspaper.

The tour will include places of interest on the Island of Oahu and also Kauai and Maui.

Tour members are scheduled for a return to Twin Falls the evening of Feb. 16. This is the sixth annual tour to Hawaii sponsored by the newspaper.

CSI Bonds To Raise Dormitory Funds

By RUTH KOONCE MILLER
Times-News Staff Writer

College of Southern Idaho trustees opened the door Tuesday to further expansion of campus facilities when they approved two recommendations of the CSI housing commission.

The commission, appointed a year ago, recommended the appointment of First Security Bank of Idaho as fiscal agent to work on the sale of revenue bonds totaling approximately $1.5 million for construction of a student union building and dormitory. The commission also recommended that the revenue bonds be put on a competitive market for sale, instead of a negotiated sale.

The housing commission, composed of Mike Gray, chairman, Twin Falls; Maurice Guerry Jr., Castleford; and Jack Russell, Jerome, met Tuesday noon with trustees for a special meeting at the Holiday Inn.

The housing commission has been exploring possible sources of financing of the two projects since their appointment, and have eliminated nearly every source but revenue bonds. Originally it was believed the facilities could be financed through the Department of Housing and Urban Development, but appropriations by that department have not been set.

Mr. Gray said that if the HUD appropriation comes through, it would still be possible to finance through that department, even though the revenue bonds are placed on a competitive market. HUD's rate of interest, about three per cent, is considerably lower than the approximate five per cent that would be charged by other sources.

The two facilities, according to college president Dr. James L. Taylor, are necessary for any successful institution. The day is past when such facilities are considered to be "extras," he said.

The revenue bonds will be liquidated by student fees and student user fees of the two buildings, and will probably be on a 25-to-30-year basis.

The dormitory proposed would be co-educational and freshmen students attending CSI who do not reside within commuting distance probably would be required to live in the dormitory, Dr. Taylor predicted.

Mr. Gray said that with the appointment of First Security as fiscal agent, work can begin on the predicted revenue bond sale. He said target date for bidding of the bonds probably would fall in about June of this year.

First Security acted as fiscal agent on the $3 million bond issue which was sold to partially finance projects currently under construction on the new campus. Some of the $3 million is still in reserve.

Those projects include an academic building, a fine arts center for which no bond money is being used, a maintenance building and heating and cooling complexes. Some landscaping, parking, etc., also is included in the first phase.

The housing commission, which acts as a subsidiary of the trustee, is under the direct authority of the board of trustees. Their appointment was approved by the governor of the state and they work under specifically defined boundaries.

The report on this matter will be discussed at the next board meeting, at 8 p.m. Feb. 19.

Record Snow Needed To Raise Water

BOISE (AP) — It would take record snowfalls between now and April 1 to bring water supplies for 1968 up to normal, a report from the U.S. Soil Conservation Service-Weather Bureau and Idaho State Reclamation engineer says.

Snowfalls in January and December were below normal levels. "The heavy snow cover that has persisted at the valley elevations throughout Idaho has been very misleading as to the water supply outlook for 1968. Snow has remained on the ground at low elevations, but this is not an indicator of the mountainous terrain which creates the water supply for Idaho," the report, released Tuesday, said.

However, it said while water levels in small reservoirs are now below normal levels, the level on larger rivers are excellent. The report said winter storms followed an unusual pattern. By way of example, it noted light storms have left a normal or better snowpack on the Lost River watershed while adjacent watersheds are well below normal.

LBJ Assured Of Support For Plans To Plug Dollar Drain

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is assured of Capitol Hill support for his plans to plug the U.S. dollar drain but still faces strong opposition to his proposed income tax hike.

That was the situation as Chairman William P. Mills, D-Ark., wound up his House Ways and Means Committee's first round of hearings on the balance-of-payments program Tuesday.

Mills invited administration officials to speed up their recommendations for some sort of assistance to U.S. exports and protection against foreign government-aided imports. If these were combined with the proposed tax on overseas tourist spending in some form, Mills said, the package could be passed by his committee and passed by the House before the Easter recess expected to begin about April 10.

But Mills left no doubt he remains unconvinced by arguments for a 10 per cent income tax surcharge to reduce the budget deficit.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler had been urging the surcharge as an indispensable part of the balance-of-payments program, arguing it would bolster international confidence in the dollar.

But Mills told Fowler, "I don't see the answer in a tax bill."

Mills called his committee into executive session today, however, to consider one aspect of Johnson's tax program — extension of the automobile excise and telephone taxes at their present levels. Without congressional action, the automobile tax would drop April 1 from 7 to 2 per cent and the telephone tax from 10 to 3 per cent. The reduction would mean an annual loss of $3 billion in revenue. Mills did not indicate what form of travel tax he thinks his committee might approve. The most controversial part of Johnson's proposal, a graduated tax on travelers spending above $7 a day outside the Western Hemisphere, has been criticized in Congress and elsewhere as too drastic, too complicated and too hard to enforce. But Mills told newsmen he is confident something can be worked out.

Doubt: Yale's Coffin To The Bitter End

WASHINGTON—If I were a draft dodger I am afraid I would have some doubts about the heralism of some of these older men who have satyaged around the country, claiming to be on my side. In particular I would wonder whether that Yale chaplain, William Sloane Coffin Jr., was prepared to stick with me to the bitter end. Coffin seems to have had some second thoughts since he and four other individuals, including the baby doctor, Bon Spock, were indicted on charges of conspiracy to aid and abet draft law violations. Last October, when Coffin helped deliver 357 draft cards to the Justice Department, he charged the government was derelict in its duty for not prosecuting him and demanded "a moral, legal confrontation" with Uncle Sam. Now that that confrontation has been granted him, however,

Coffin insists he "never told anybody to violate any law." Bolderly, Coffin seems to have indulged himself in the defense of a fellow draft dodger by the old cry: "There's nobody in here but us chickens, boss."

Undoubtedly, the Coffin-Spock group will attempt to raise legal doubts about the Vietnam war—but not on the ground that the war violates some U.S. treaties and that therefore draftees cannot be convicted of refusing to participate in it. But the courts in the past have refused to hear such defenses even when raised by youths who have refused induction.

Perhaps both Coffin and Spock have had time to delude into the notion that those who have opposed the draft law too indignantly. The old Socialist, Gene Debs, went to jail for encouraging draftees to oppose the World War I draft. In World War II, a man was convicted because he advised his cousin to flee the country to escape the draft, and so was a woman who in 1954 counseled nine men to reject the peacetime draft.

All this razzmatazz is good, if not clean, fun, and nourishing to the ego of a certain type of celebrity. But it is also safe, a circumstance that reminds me of the youth who risked a jail sentence by refusing to be drafted has a right to ask whether the 500 will stand with him in the dock in a showdown. A "draft counselor" who flees the kitchen when it gets too hot is reduced to the approximate status of the doctor-fixer who stations himself in the snug neutrality of ringside.

Every home had a fireplace because wood was cheap and plentiful. It gave a fellow a feeling he was getting ahead in the world when he saw his name printed for the first time in a telephone directory. Fountain pens were supposed to last a lifetime. You worried terribly if you broke a mirror because that meant bad luck was dogging you for seven years of bad luck. Few families sent a rug to the cleaner. One of the Saturday afternoon chores of childhood was to hang rags on a backyard rope and whack the dust out of them with a wire beater. It was a genteel mark of respect perly for a family to own an electric blanket, although the first one to use it had a secret terror of being electrocuted while asleep. Without a potted palm. Every farmer wore a blue and white checkered shirt. If you lost your sweetheart to another fellow, your friends consoled you with the sage saying, "Girls are like stretchers—if you miss one, there'll always be another along soon." Mother was certain you were born with real musical talent if you could put a piece of tissue paper on a comb and hum a recognizable tune on it. Every block in an American city had a public telephone booth, and every other kid in the block was trying to raise the money to take a muscle building course by mail. No girl who valued her reputation would appear in public without a tight sweater. You could get a good cup of coffee anywhere in the United States for a nickel. Parents weren't afraid of talking back to their children. Those were the days! Remember?

Memory Museum

NEW YORK (AP) — Memory is the perfect museum. Its doors never close. It is always open, any hour of the day, every day of the year. At the whim of an instant one may stroll through its long galleries and see a past ecstasy, a previous glory. Your own museum of memories is pretty well stocked if you can look back and remember when—

RAY CROMLEY

Past Hijackings

WASHINGTON (NEA) — U.S. historical experience with efforts to secure the release of hostages doesn't give rise to hope for quick results in the USS Pueblo case. Probably the most famous American captivities are the return of hijacked U.S. ships and their crews, lasted 10 years and ended with the United States paying sizable tribute.

Navy ships made shows of strength in the area. When one American merchant convoy was being formed up for movement through the Mediterranean with Navy escort, the 15-gun frigate President Decatur and the 13-gun sloop USS Vesta Algers. Mactay reports that the appearance of this force had a more soothing effect on the day... than a dozen George Washingtons loaded with presents.

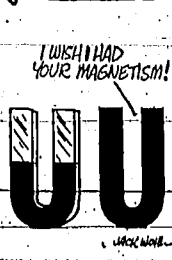

In July, 1785, the Algerians captured two American vessels. The day of Algiers held the 31 men aboard for a ransom of $20,000. Negotiations for the release of these men went on for a decade. Eleven of the 21 died before being ransomed. Before a green e-mail was received, the Algerians had jammed 10 more U.S. merchantmen. Finally, Congress in 1785 paid $92,463 for the ransom of 115 men, including the survivors of the 1785 incident and as a partial payoff to prevent future hijackings. The United States also agreed to send an annual tribute to Algiers for "protection" of its commerce from Algerian raiders.

Decatur captured the Algerian flagship, entered the harbor of Algiers, took the capital city and forced the ruler to surrender all U.S. captives, pay an indemnity and give up his exactions of tribute. Decatur then went on to Tunis and Tripoli and forced the same agreements on their rulers. These acts ended the Barbary state attacks on American shipping. The North Africans continued, however, to attack the ships of European nations and other countries for another decade and a half.

MARQUIS CHILDS

It's The Art Of The Possible

WASHINGTON — Politics, as defined by John F. Kennedy, is the art of the possible. The new secretary of defense, Clark Clifford, might well have had this framed above his desk in his law office where the rich and the powerful sought his intercession in the labyrinth of government.

ing the conditions for a bombing cessation. He said that Hanoi would be expected not to take advantage of a step by increasing the rate at which men and materiel were being sent from the north to the south. If this means what it seems to, Hanoi would not be required to break off the normal supply that moves under the impact of the bombing.

To say that Clifford contrived Harry Truman's re-election in 1948 against all the odds is a slight exaggeration. Undoubtedly by his sage and steady counsel, he contributed greatly to that result. Once Truman put his trust in a man he could take advice and act on it.

A practical, pragmatic temperament is the hallmark of his initial success as an adviser to President and then in accumulating a large fortune in a relatively short time. In this same pragmatic approach is reason to hope that he can help find a way out of the quagmire of Vietnam, not to mention the new trap of North Korea.

The statement was made in response to interrogation by Sen. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, who gives the impression at times of wanting to bomb everybody everywhere. It is arguable that if Clifford had wanted to redefine American policy he would have done so in a carefully worded opening statement. Surely, however, as a veteran of the same he knew what he was saying regardless of the context.

In bringing Clifford from the back room into the fierce white light of a cabinet post of incredible complexity, the President put a high estimate on his value. For Clifford the opportunity is unparalleled. It dwarfs his experience with the peppy man from Missouri who fought an underdog fight to confound all the prophets and the pundits.

No one could have expected the newly designated defense secretary in his first appearance before the senate armed services committee to expound any radical shift in policy. His first task was to re-establish a working relationship with congress where harassment of Robert S. McNamara has become a year-round sport. Clifford excels in existing real and imagined grievances.

Certainly now his loyalties are to the man in the White House. Clifford has said that at his age, 62, he will not in all probability be able to resume his law practice after he leaves government. The debit-and-credit-relationship with his clients ends as he serves his ties with his firm. Knowing so well the intricacies of the business-government relationship, Clifford should be a superior watchdog.

Our losses were light. We only lost 45 men. "But General, that means you have only five men left, including yourself." "Look, we have to lose some men, but we're taking all precautions to keep our losses to a minimum. Besides, we can always count on the friendly Indians to help us to turn against the Sioux for starting hostilities during the Indian Lunar New Year."

Custer's Last Conference

LITTLE BIGHORN, Dakota, June 27, 1876 — Gen. George Armstrong Custer said today in an exclusive interview with this correspondent that the Battle of Little Bighorn had just turned the corner and he could now see the light at the end of the tunnel.

Hills for the Americans. All he's going for is a psychological victory, but the truth is that we expected this all the time and we're not surprised by it.

mass attacks against our positions. Thanks to our interdiction of their supply lines, they are not only short of bows and arrows, but gunpowder as well.

"We have the Sioux on the run," Gen. Custer told me. "Of course, we still have some cleaning up to do, but the redskins are hurting badly and it will only be a matter of time before they give in."

"That's good news, General. Of course, there are people who are skeptical about the military briefings on this war and they question if we're getting the case the truth as to what is really happening here."

"You seem to be surrounded at the moment, General." Obviously the enemy plans have gone awry," Gen. Custer said. "The Sioux are hoping to win a big victory so they'll be able to have something to talk about at the conference table. Look at this latest body count. We've just killed 3,000 more Indians and lost 50 of our men."

It's Good News

It's good news that Twin Falls has been selected as site for the 1971 National High School Rodeo finals, pending approval of facilities here during a visit of the national board. It is a tribute to the dedication and hard work of the group of local men who have been working towards this goal for many months.

Uniform Justice

An American Bar Association committee has recommended a drastic reduction in prison sentences, with five years the limit in all except serious crimes where public protection is the overriding consideration.

A first offender got 18 years on a bad check charge in Indiana, while a man with a bad record got 98 days for robbing a bank in California.

Soviet Officials Fear Syria May Launch Attack On Israel

By ERIC GOTTFREU, JERUSALEM (AP) — Soviet officials expressing worry that the Syrians may attack Israel, Defense Minister Moshe Dayan declared Tuesday night that the Arabs are too weak to start another war without help from a big foreign power.

Dayan expressed the hope and belief that the Soviet Union would not encourage the Arabs to large-scale warfare, but he said Israel must reckon with all eventualities and keep its economy on a war footing.

He told a meeting sponsored by the Jerusalem Students Association, however, that despite Soviet replenishment of Arab arsenals and reorganization of the Arab armies, they have no chance now to defeat Israel on the battlefield.

In Moscow high-ranking Soviet sources said Tuesday that the Syrians might be preparing a desperate attack on Israel in April and that the Soviet government wants to stop them. But although the Syrians get their arms from the Soviets, they have repeatedly refused to how to the Soviet line that political—not military—means should be used to regain Arab land lost to Israel in the 1948-49 war.

"When it comes to Israel, they don't listen to us," said one Soviet source. Soviet officials said the Syrian hatred for Israel is so unrelenting that it could explode into suicidal attacks. They added that the Syrian leaders also loathe Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser so much that they might count another military success if it led to Nasser's ouster.

Soviet leaders plan to continue spreading Russian influence in the Arab world by supplying weapons and strong political support. But if another war broke out, the Soviet sources said, Moscow would again stand aside to avoid risking a nuclear confrontation with the United States.

Syria has been fully resupplied by Moscow since the Arab defeat in June. Informants say Syria has received modern T-55 tanks to replace its vintage armor and large numbers of MIG-21 fighters and TU-16 strike bombers.

A Soviet submarine base has been built at Latakia, Syria's northern port, and Soviet ships have stemmed into Latakia to unload missiles, tanks, artillery and warplanes for Syrian use.

On Jan. 19, Dayan said he believed Soviet troops had penetrated down to the operative level in the Syrian and Egyptian armies and were even manning artillery and anti-aircraft guns. "I surmise they are in there at the planning stage," the defense minister said, "and if war comes, it will be their decision."

Romney Tries To Make Asset Of "Brainwashing"

By WALTER H. MEARS
LACONIA, N.H. (AP) — Gov. George Romney is trying to make a campaign asset out of brainwashing—a word that once dealt him a severe political setback.

Romney doesn't use the troublesome term, but New Hampshire audiences seem to understand his code. He only reminds them that he once used a dramatic word to focus attention on his charge that the government is not telling Americans the truth.

Credibility was a major Romney theme as the Michigan governor rolled northward from Nashua Tuesday seeking presidential primary votes in his campaign for the Republican nomination for the White House.

"It's time the government of the United States told the truth," he said in Laconia. "It's just that simple. I found out some time ago that we're living in a shocking period when you can't believe your own government."

Then he reminded the local Lions Club of the word he doesn't utter.

"Everybody's using every word they can think of to indicate we're not being told the truth, except the word I finally used."

Romney said he used the term after trying every other description available. "Nobody paid any attention," he said. "So I used one that went around the world. And I'm glad I used it."

Romney made his controversial remark in a Labor Day interview in Detroit, and it set off a political uproar.

He said a brainwashing by generals and diplomats in Saigon three years ago had led him to endorse administration policy in Vietnam.

The word came to symbolize Romney's decline in opinion polls rating the potential Republican presidential contender.

There was criticism even among some Romney supporters on grounds that a man seeking the White House should not pronounce himself susceptible to such tactics.

But as he campaigned in Tilton, Romney said, "I think events have proven me so right that it's about time for some other people to stand up and tell the truth about what's going on in Vietnam."

What is going on, Romney said, is that the U.S. cause is suffering setbacks while Communist guerrillas enhance their strength.

"We have been led to believe that we're making great progress," he said. But Romney said Communist attacks in the major cities of South Vietnam show they have support there as well as in the hamlets, "and there is no security in Vietnam, for anybody."

Romney said he has never advocated withdrawal but, rather, an emphasis on political instead of military efforts plus a U.S. peace offensive.

LOW BIDS LISTED

BOISE (AP) — The Fife Construction Co., Brigham City, Utah, was listed as the apparent low of three bidders Tuesday for construction of roadway, drainage, structures, lighting signs and pavement of 7 miles of U.S. Highway 20 in Bonneville County by the Idaho State Highway Department.

The bid was $910,354.

The Kraeger Asphalt, Inc., Coeur d'Alene, was listed as the apparent low of three bidders for building a plant mix pavement wearing course on six miles of U.S. Highway 95 from Plummer north and furnishing roadmix in stockpile near Rockford junction in Benewah and Kootenai counties.

The bid was $95,843, the department said.

OUTLOOK GOOD

BOISE (AP) — The outlook for highway construction in Idaho this year is good, says chief highway engineer Ellis Mathes.

Mathes noted the recent cutback in federal funds stipulated the states would get five per cent less than in 1967.

Mathes said Idaho had a larger than normal year in 1967 and consequently the cutback of five per cent based on that year will not be serious.

He said the state can spend $33.80 million dollars in 1968. Expenditures of between $34 million and $35 million had been planned, Mathes said.

JOINS IN PLEA

BOISE (AP) — The Hells Canyon Preservation Council, Idaho Falls, has joined the list of outdoor or conservation associations urging intervention in construction of the planned High Mountain Sheep Dam.

The council wrote to Gov. Don Samuelson asking the governor to use his office to help prevent construction of the proposed Snake River project.

Torino...for people who know there's more to a performance car than painted stripes.

1968 Torino GT Fastback (Top)
1968 Torino GT Hardtop (Bottom)

Anyone can paint stripes on a car. Ford's performance champs earn their stripes the hard way. Torino swept the first five places in the Riverside 500. It's the Pace Car for the Indy 500. It's the hottest-selling new car in the country! Fairlane took first place in its class for braking and for economy in the Union/Pure Oil Performance Trials—in fact, Ford Motor Company cars won more classes than all other manufacturers combined! If it's performance you want, ride with a winner! See the man with Better Ideas... your Ford Dealer.

FACTS ABOUT THE 1968 TORINO

When Torino takes the first five spots in the Riverside 500, first time out, you know it's tough. These cars, of course, were driven by professionals and were made to meet the special demands of competition. But, the same kind of basic durability and maneuverability are built into every Torino we make. So if you want stripes, get 'em on the car that gives them meaning! Choose from three GT models—fastback, hardtop and convertible. All with a 289-cu. in. V-8, wall-to-wall carpeting, all-vinyl interiors, styled steel wheels and wire-ovals. Or choose the regular hardtop or 4-door sedan. Like the GT's, they've got a new, longer, 116-in. wheelbase for smoother riding comfort, more room and more trunk space. You can even have a Torino Squire wagon, with 2-way Magic Doorgate. See America's hottest newcomer at your Ford Dealer's soon!

Class A And B Wrestling Tournery Begins Tonight; Minico, Declo Favored

Defending champions Minico and Declo are expected to retain their titles this week when the fourth district combined Class A and Class B wrestling tournament is held in the Twin Falls gymnasium. The meet will open at 7 p.m. Wednesday and run through Friday night.

Wolves Come From Behind, Drop Hansen

HANSEN — The Castleford Wolves had to come from behind in the final period Tuesday night to drop the Hansen Huskies 59-47.

The Huskies jumped out to an early lead but the Wolves came back and tied the score at 24-24 by the end of the first half, but fell behind again in the third frame, as Mel Williams and Dale Barnard pulled down the needed rebounds for Hansen.

The Hansen Jayvees could not compete with the depth of the Wolves as Castleford used fresh players in the final period to overtake the Huskies and pull out the win.

The Hansen Jayvees won the preliminary 58-53.

Minico is the only champion in the Class A district has ever known and no one expects Coach Red Inlanson to give up the boat this year—although this will be a "rebuilding year" for the Spartans.

The runner-up spot looks like a fight between Burley and Twin Falls, but most of the teams have at least one man who could bring in a title. Seconding Declo on the Class B side probably will be Valley.

The coaches seeded their top four men at a special meeting Monday night and also approved

Illness Leaves Three U.S. Athletes

GRENOBLE (AP)—The stomach trouble that confined three United States speed skaters to bed for two days disappeared Tuesday, allowing them to train and march in the opening ceremony of the 10th Winter Olympics.

First to throw off the bug which has hit many athletes here for the Games, was Bill Langton, 20, of New York. He even weathered a heavy snow storm to take a practice run around the cold, open air track before returning to the Olympic village for the march to the opening ceremony.

Also free from illness was Diane Holm, 16, of Northbrook, Ill., one of the few Americans considered to have a chance for a speed skating medal. She also took a spin round the track.

The third skater, Toy Dorgan, 21, of Springfield, Ill., was able to leave the village, but the team doctor decided she should not chance catching cold by training.

New York Rolls Past St. Louis

NEW YORK (AP) — Dick Barnett and Willis Reed ignited a New York explosion that beat the four-seeded and six-halfway knicks rolled over St. Louis 121-100 in the nightcap of a National Basketball Association doubleheader at Madison Square Garden Tuesday night.

In the first game, Detroit took advantage of San Diego's cold shooting for a big first half lead and crushed the Rockets 120-93. The Knicks, beating St. Louis for the first time in four starts and ending the Hawks' three-game winning streak, broke it open with 10 straight points at the start of the final period.

Pressure Does Not Seem To Bother Lobos

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — "It's pretty hard to pressure a group that wasn't supposed to win anything," Coach Bob King says about his sixth-ranked New Mexico basketball Lobos.

King was asked if the pressure of a 17-game winning streak and last week's No. 1 spot in the Associated Press poll might have affected the Lobos at Arizona, where they dropped a 69-68 decision.

He said Tuesday he had hoped for a break-even season from his sophomores and untired juniors when the current campaign started; he had lost nearly all of last season's scoring power to graduation, including Mel Daniels.

Western Athletic Conference coaches, in a preseason poll, agreed unanimously that New Mexico would be this season's cellar team.

Now they're 17-1 overall and 4-1 in the league, nationally ranked, and eager to start a new victory streak.

"We're not very good," said the team's only veteran, senior guard Ron Nelson. "We just win."

Leading, Nelson said, is "the one thing we don't think about. We know the teams we play have better personnel—individually, we know we have to work harder to beat them."

Lee Lifts Dietrich Over Richfield

RICHFIELD — Randy Lee hit eleven points in the final period Tuesday night, to lift the Dietrich Blue Devils over the Richfield Tigers 55-51.

The Tigers had taken a comfortable lead in the early minutes and maintained it until the final frame. The Blue Devils had pulled to within three at the end of the third period, and with about four minutes remaining in the game Dietrich took the lead and never gave it up.

The Tigers had a chance to at least tie the game in the last 25 seconds as they stole the ball twice but failed to put in two lay ups.

The Richfield Jayvees won the preliminary 53-38.

Eisenhower Gets First Hole In One

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower shot his first hole in one Tuesday while golfing at Seven Lakes Country Club, a club spokesman said.

"This is the first one I've ever made," Gen. Eisenhower said to his companions after carding an ace on the par-3, 13th hole.

The 77-year-old Eisenhower's score was not announced but he scored an eagle on the par-4 No. 8 hole and missed a hole in one on the 18th.

president of the I.T.F. retaliated by announcing Britain would be suspended as of that date. But since then the United States, Australia, Sweden, and West Germany have declared their support of Britain.

The Paris meeting could explode into a bitter wrangle leading to a breakaway movement by countries favoring open tournaments.

It might even go the other way and result in the resignation of I.T.F. officials who stick rigidly to the amateur only rule.

Ask the next five people you meet who makes the best portable T.V.

You're going to get five different answers. Some people wouldn't let one brand into the house. Others swear by that same brand. One model by a particular manufacturer is best if you live in a fringe area. But don't take it out on a boat. Sure, you'll get five different answers, because people have different needs. When you pay your money and take your choice there's a reason for your choice. And luckily, we live in a country with a system that offers a big choice. It's called the free enterprise system.

Come-As-You-Are Party Held

BURLEY—A come-as-you-are party was hosted recently by XI Omega Chapter, Beta Sigma Psi, at the home of Mrs. Rex Weech.

Special guests were members of Beta Eta Chapter, Rupert, and Alpha Zeta Chapter, Burley.

Members of XI Omega Chapter called on each of the guests in a two-week period and what ever they were wearing at the time they were called was how they were to be dressed for the party.

Games were played under the direction of Mrs. Rich-Me-g-gird, social chairman of XI Omega Chapter. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Faye Horholt, Beta Eta member; Mrs. Deanna Thompson, Alpha Zeta member, for games played. A special prize was awarded to Mrs. Robert Brock, Alpha Zeta member, for costume.

A smorgasbord lunch was served.

HEAT BLADES
When you are in a hurry and have to mix cold shortening with an electric mixer, you can cut down on the mixing time by heating the beater blades in hot water for a few minutes first. This also keeps the cold, stiff shortening from clogging the blades.

Rip Van Winkle couldn't sleep with nagging backache

Nagging backache, headache and muscular aches and pains may come on with over-exertion, emotional upsets, or everyday stress and strain. If this nagging backache, headache, sleepless nights, is wearing you out, making you miserable and irritable, don't wait, try Doan's Pills — an analgesic, a pain reliever. Doan's pain-relieving action on nagging backache is often the answer. Get Doan's Pills — not a habit-forming drug but a well-known standard remedy used successfully by millions for over 70 years. See if they don't bring you the same welcome relief. For convenience, always buy Doan's large size.

Annual Bohemian Dinner Is Scheduled By Buhl Women

BUHL — Plans were made for the annual Bohemian dinner to be held March 17 when the Buhl Women of the Moose met for their regular meeting.

Committee reports read were homemaking, publicity, Moon-lavan-child care and college of regents.

Communications were read from Ed Novacek, past president of the Buhl Chamber of Commerce, thanking the women for the dinner entered for the Chamber of Commerce banquet.

A letter was read from Mrs. Lloyd Harper.

A cake walk will be held at the next meeting by the hospital committee, with Mrs. Joe Komadoski as chairman. The College of Regents will sponsor a card party Saturday it was announced.

The membership committee is planning a dance for Feb. 24.

Mrs. Elbert Stewart is chairman of the committee. "Pearl and the Pennies" will furnish the music. Members are asked to bring sandwiches or cookies.

Mrs. Clifford Brown will serve as chairman for the dinner to be held at the Country Club March 2. On March 22 the group will serve dinner for the Christian Church state convention. The group approved serving for two class reunions in July.

A sports bowling carnival will be held in Pocatello on March 2 and 3. The Loyol Order of Moose is sponsoring men's and women's teams for this event. Mrs. Nile Canton is chairman of arrangements for the women's team.

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: I am dating a gentleman who is quite well-to-do, but he has a thing about money. He's not really cheap or anything like that, but he always makes sure I know how much he spends on me.

For instance, he gave me a nice Christmas present, but afterwards he said, "You know, your gift cost me $75." And if he takes me to dinner and a movie, he later says, "Would you believe that evening let me back $30?"

I enjoy this man's company, Abby, but his always bringing up money makes me feel uncomfortable. My father says he will make a good husband. My mother says he won't. What do you say?

DIANE

DEAR DIANE: I say that a man who makes you feel "uncomfortable" about money when he's courting you will make you feel miserable about money if you marry him. He may be long on dollars, but he sounds short on sense.

DEAR ABBY: I used to think that only unhappily married women become attracted to other men.

I love my husband very much and have a near-perfect marriage, but for a year now I have been fighting a terrible attraction for another man.

When I first realized how I felt about him I was so upset with myself I couldn't sleep. I became extremely irritable and disgusted with myself. Then I told myself that it was only natural to find this man attractive, that he was just a friend and that is all I'd ever want him to be. I avoided him as much as possible, but still tried to be friendly so no one would notice.

Just about the time I thought I had my thinking straightened out, my emotions flared up again, and I was back where I started from. I don't understand myself. I have no desire to ruin my marriage, but this is driving me crazy and I don't know what to do.

I need some suggestions as this battle with myself has been going on too long.

BEWILDERED

DEAR BEWILDERED: Keep talking to yourself, Sister. And tell yourself that this is the stuff of which broken marriages (and broken hearts) are made. (How love me, it is.)

DEAR ABBY: My husband is in business in another town which is about a two-hour drive from here, so he comes home only on week-ends.

Everything was working out fine until about six months ago when he started bringing me "presents." You see, during the week my husband stays at a trailer court which is located near the city dump, so every time he comes home he has the trunk of his car filled with junk he's picked up from the dump.

Last week he brought home some moldy shower curtains, hard paint brushes, some rusty nails, and old traps. And Abby, he puts all this stuff in our basement!

If I try to throw anything out there's a big fight. We live in a new home, and I want it to look nice. I never had a moth before, but now I am seeing spiders in my basement and even silver fish!

I am so disgusted, I am ready to give him the whole house for his junk and move out. We own four other houses and have no money worries, but can't take this. What should I do?

FED UP

DEAR FED UP: You need me to tell you that your husband is not behaving in a normal manner? The man could be mentally disturbed. Trick him, trap him, or tranquilize him into seeing his physician. And fast!

Troubled? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Hobo Theme Is Used At Party

ALMO — A hobo theme and motif was used when the Firelights and Merryhands of the Almo LDS Ward held their annual Daddy and Daughter party.

The 100-lunch supper was set on around an imitation bonfire and a short program given after a supper. Sharon Cahoon and Vickie Jones told hobo jokes and Lynn Darrington related a hobo story.

Serenade singing, rummy games and round dances were held with Mrs. Arley Cahoon playing the piano for dancing. Mrs. Jesse Lloyd and Mrs. Robert Ward, class leaders, were in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Harold Durfee, ward primary president, was a special guest. Prayers were given by Mary Darrington, Susan Ward and Debra Ward.

Miss Stastny, Thompson Say Wedding Vows

Patricia Jo Stastny, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Stastny Jr., Murtaugh, became the bride of David Neil Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Thompson Jr., Hagerman, in a double ring ceremony performed Dec. 30 at St. Edward's Catholic Church, Twin Falls, by Rev. William R. Gould.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a demilitarized line gown of pearl de sole. The bride's neckline, long sleeves and floor-length skirt were outlined with headed lace. Her floor-length veil of scalloped Swedish lace was held by satin and pearl roses. She carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations and red roses. The bride's gown and veil were designed and made by her mother, Mrs. Colla Neilson, Los Angeles, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Other attendants were Debby Stastny, sister of the bride, Murtaugh; Janice Kallisk, cousin of the bride, Paul; Mrs. George Daines, Gooding; and Joyce Vitteco, Murtaugh.

Sherry Ralregh, Sunland, Calif., was flower girl. Todd Shouse, Twin Falls, was ring bearer.

Michael Thompson, Las Vegas, Nev., brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Leo Lehmann, Gooding; Richard Miller, Pocatello and Jerry Jolley and Clifton Jensen, both Hagerman.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at the Carillon. Organist was Mrs. Merle Owsley, Hagerman. Carla Soares, Wendell, was in charge of the guest book.

The cake was cut and served by Mrs. Art DeGiorgio and Mrs. Mike Stastny, both Murtaugh. Mrs. Louis Hranac, Hansen, served punch and Mrs. Clyde Allen, Hazelton, served the coffee.

Gifts were displayed by Mrs. Dick Morris, Mrs. Ray Lytle, Connie Lytle and Carolyn Mills, all Twin Falls. Gifts were carried by Kathy Ralregh, Christy

Chicken and Ham Croissants
Open a can of refrigerated crescent dinner rolls. Unroll the dough and separate into eight triangles. Combine one cup diced cooked chicken with two tablespoons mayonnaise and one tablespoon finely-chopped green pepper.

Place a slice of ready-to-serve ham on each triangle. Top with about two tablespoons chicken mixture and roll each triangle to form a croissant.

Place on ungreased baking sheet. Bake in moderate oven, 375 degrees, 10 to 15 minutes until golden.

Serve with a mild curry sauce made by combining one cup dairy sour cream, one tablespoon butter, one teaspoon curry powder, one-fourth teaspoon salt and one-eighth teaspoon pepper. Heat, but do not boil.

Milner Club Views Slides

MILNER—Mrs. Edwin Brune showed slides of their trip to New York and other Eastern States at a meeting of the Friendship Circle Club Thursday afternoon at her home.

Transplants May Prompt Murder Charge

By RALPH DIGHTON
AP Science Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — "Any day now—perhaps tomorrow—someone is going to hurl a charge of murder at the doctor in some heart-transplant case."

This "will no longer be true. To get "out-patient" coverage of costs, the older person will need the supplemental doctor-bill insurance.

At the same time, the revisions add further to the lure of the supplemental program by providing that certain "in-hospital" charges — like X ray and "other laboratory services" — shall be borne by this coverage.

From the government's view, if and when all the qualified elderly have signed up, an important goal will have been attained. From the viewpoint of the nation's health-care system, however, the prospective additions to the Medicare rolls will further overburden an already badly strained structure suffering from shortage of space, medical facilities, doctors and nurses.

This prophecy by Dist. Atty. Evello J. Younger will lead this week to formation of a committee of medical and legal authorities to draft legislation expected to serve as a guide to cities across the nation.

The committee, which Younger believes will be the first of its kind anywhere, holds its initial meeting Friday. Younger says it will include representatives from medical schools and societies as well as law enforcement experts.

"The need is immediate," Younger said in an interview explaining his plan. "I have information that at least two major medical institutions in this area—which I am not free to name—are gearing up for heart transplants whenever the opportunity arises."

"These are reputable institutions, but even they may be subjected to criticism. And what of the small hospital, or the individual doctor, who may have plans that I don't know about? Is there anything to prevent them from attempting a transplant of a heart or some other vital organ? Even if such an operation were successful, the situation is loaded with potential complaints.

There are many foreseeable situations not covered by existing law. We have a duty to protect the physician from charges that he is using humans for guinea pigs, and at the same time the public must be assured that living beings, no matter how desperately ill, will not be sacrificed.

"The publicity about recent heart transplants is a heady wine. It builds reputations for doctors, hospitals and even nations."

South Africa Younger said "has never had so much publicity as it has had since Dr. Christian Barnard made the first human heart transplant."

Younger said it is inevitable "that somebody will get in a hurry and use bad judgment as the frequency of such operations increases. We have a duty to anticipate such problems and know how to handle them when they arise."

Among the questions Younger will ask the committee to tackle:

1. Precisely when does death occur? When breathing stops? When the heart stops? When an electroencephalogram shows no further brain activity?

2. Who shall have priority in obtaining available hearts?

3. Who shall give consent for the taking of a heart? Younger pointed out that the donor may be unconscious and unable to give consent, and that relatives—particularly if they are of different religious beliefs—may seek criminal action later against the physician.

4. Who shall give consent for implanting a heart in a minor?

A VIETNAMESE WOMAN weeps as a South Vietnamese army ranger, right, reloads his carbine to fire again into her house in Saigon. The woman protested that only her children were in the building, but the government troops said they were fired upon by Viet Cong guerrillas in it. The woman's children escaped injury although her home was seriously damaged. (AP wirephoto via radio from Saigon)

Americans Over 65 Urged To Sign Up For Medicare Doctor Bill Insurance

By BRUCE BOSSAT
WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Medicare's doctor bill insurance program, as distinguished from hospital insurance features, is entirely voluntary. But the Social Security Administration really would like all Americans 65 and over — upwards of 10 million people — to volunteer.

The reason is that, if they do not sign up, then in one way or another they will be the losers for it.

That explains why Commissioner Robert Ball of Social Security has just written letters to 1.1 million 65-and-over Americans cautioning them that they only have until April 1 this year to sign up for doctor bill insurance at the new, current premium rate of $4 a month.

In addition to this 1.1 million, there are another 500,000 Americans qualified by age for this supplemental program who have not signed up. But Social Security does not have current addresses for them because they have never enrolled in the basic hospital insurance program.

In his letter urging sign-up, Ball points out that $4-a-month medical insurance is in the government's judgment a good buy which will inevitably cost present nonparticipants more later if they do not sign up by April 1.

For every year that passes after a qualified elderly person's first chance to enroll, his premium automatically goes up 10 per cent. Thus the person who waits until 1969 to sign up will have to pay $4.40 a month instead of $4.

Ball also notes that the commercial insurance companies and Blue Cross-Blue Shield have largely rewritten their policies for people 65 and over to make them a supplement to rather than a substitute for Medicare. In other words, the older person who tries to do without the government's program evidently will not get its well-protected against medical emergencies.

Since Social Security retirement and related benefits go up for many millions of Americans, beginning with their March 2 checks, it is figured that those still outside the doctor-bill program can bear its cost to them fairly well. Generally, the $4-monthly premium charge will be deducted from regular benefit payments.

Where the enrolled older person gets no such payments, he is billed by the government.

The penalty for a delay in signing up could ultimately be more than just higher premium charges. Any qualified elderly individual who fails to enroll in the three-year period after his first opportunity to do so will not be able to get the extra insurance protection at all.

Under the revised 1967 Social Security law, which covers the whole field of Medicare, there are a few troublesome smaller wrinkles in the situation, too.

For instance, under prior law the basic hospital insurance — available automatically to everybody 65 and over — covered certain "out-patient" hospital expenses. After April 1, 1968,

FINE EXAMPLE OF DUMMY PLAY
Victor Mollo writes: "If a player is so often in the limelight as G1 or G10 Belladonna. Somehow he seems to fold the right cards at the right time when the right people are kibitzing. Examples of his dummy play have inspired countless articles, but the one which follows has not been published before. It occurred at rubber bridge.

"With a sure loser in spades and another in hearts, the contract appeared to hinge on locating the queen of diamonds. What then was the best way to play the hand? Belladonna decided to let the opponents find the queen for him. He won the opening spade in his hand, cashed dummy's ace and king of clubs, ruffed a club, entered dummy with the ace of hearts and ruffed the last club. If East had followed to the fourth club, Belladonna would have discarded his heart, since he could not have afforded the chance of an overruff by West.

"Then he put the opponents on lead with a heart. Winning

What do you do now?
A—With seven hearts, your partner is using the greater slam. In this case you can't hold all three top honors in hearts, since you responded two no-trump to the bid. Therefore you have the best possible hold, and ruffed the last club and must bid the grand slam.

TODAY'S QUESTION
Instead of bidding three no-trump, your partner has bid three clubs over your two no-trump. What do you do now?

She's A Mother To The Community

Dear Ele and Walt: My problem is my mother. She does everything for other people but herself. I don't like a finger for us. She can go to other people's houses to cook for them, clean their houses or weed their yards, but she scolds us for not keeping the house neat when she's always to "help" to help at all. The last straw was this Christmas.

She spent a lot of money on presents for our relatives, her cousins and her sister and other people, but then she didn't buy us anything. And this was after she asked us what we wanted and made us write out a list. I can't stand this any longer! Can you help me? — Nothing.

Dear Ele and Walt: Because my parents consider me dependable, I have almost unlimited use of our second car. Consequently a lot of guys who don't drive or can't get the car don't like me. I've had to expand my efforts in the community to win good regard of outsiders and then neglect her own family suggests her values are topsy-turvy.

But since she is so concerned with public opinion, ask her what you're to say when people ask, "What did you get for Christmas?" Or what you're to say when they comment on what a wonderful housekeeper she is. This may start her doing a little more at home and showing a little more concern for you. — Ele and Walt.

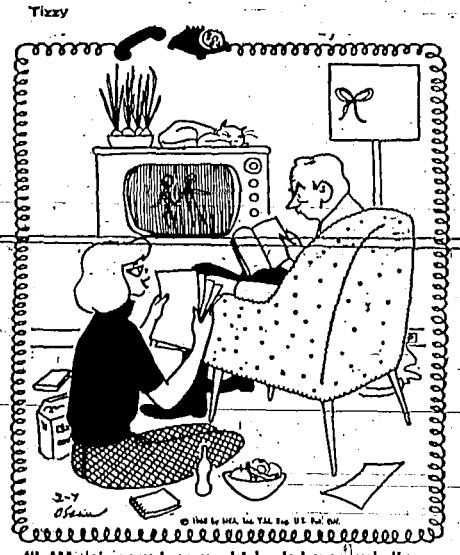

PROTECTIVE PAL
Dear Ele: My best friend is a private girl's school. We go to private girl's school. Our spring prom is coming up and there was a deadline for signing up for bids. Well, after the deadline passed, Faye and I were at another school's dance and she met a boy she'd known before and started to ask him to be her date for our prom. But I cut in because I was afraid she'd be in a real spot. Well, now she won't talk to me because she thinks I was jealous and just wanted her to stay away from the prom since I couldn't go. How can I correct this idea? — Lynne.

Fast Ends

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—Caduceus, the maladjusted African python at the Henry Dooley Zoo, has finally decided to eat something after 18 months.

The 16 1/2 foot snake devoured a rabbit with a simple swallow.

Warren Thomas, zoo director, said Monday the question is whether Caduceus will continue to eat. If not, the zoo staff will continue the force feedings which have kept the reptile alive.

Grange Heads Attend Meet At Tuttle

Seniors At Glenns Ferry Take Honors

GLENN'S FERRY—Seniors of Glenns Ferry High School topped the honor roll for both the six weeks and the semester. For the six weeks roll, there were five seniors who rated 4.0, and for the semester four girls made the grade.

Those on the six weeks highest honors were John Barnes, Connie Jones, Bill Layne, Janet Monte and Doug Shenk; while for the semester were named John Barnes, Dorothy Sherman, Janet Monte and Doug Shenk.

Others in this class who made the roll were Dorothy Sherman, Gloria Hansen, Dreda Godfrey, Bob Parish, Jane Watson, Phyllis McLeary, George Lake, Dick Keck, and for the semester, Bill Layne, Dreda Godfrey, Connie Jones, Bob Parish, Diana Keck, George Lake, Jane Watson and Gloria Hansen.

Three juniors made both rolls for highest honors, Christine Williams, Louise Hanson and Tom Seese. Others who were on both rolls below a perfect 4.0 were Ernest Hamilton, Jill Tripp, Tish South, Ben Christensen and Mike May. Juniors on the sixweeks roll included Lenzy and Jerry, Harv Knox, Both Davids, and for the semester were Ann Wilson and Connie Brown.

There were three on the sophomore honor roll for the six weeks, earning 4.0, Rocky Trail, Reed Thompson and Virginia Montz; on the semester, Diana Keck, and for the semester, Phyllis Russell. Other sophomores on both rolls were Dale McLeary, Mike Shenk, Ginger Seese, Becky Gray, Diana Hontst and Phyllis Russell also made the six weeks roll while Rocky Trail, Karl Koch, Rosant King and Christine Graham earned semester honors.

Two freshmen made highest honors for the semester, Joann Brannan and Debra McKeath, while Debbie Carnahan also was on the list of honors. For the six weeks, Joann Brannan had 4.0 and included in the listing were Debbie Carnahan and Debra McKeath.

Committee continues hearings on the proposal aimed at reducing the U.S. balance-of-payments deficit by $300,000 a year with a Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler once more the top administration official.

As unveiled Monday by Fowler, the plan would impose a graduated tax on the spending of U.S. travelers outside the Western Hemisphere—nothing on the first 77 a day, 15 per cent on the next $3 and 30 per cent on everything above $15.

There also would be a 5 per cent excise tax on all international air fares and on water transportation outside the Western Hemisphere, plus a 90 per cent reduction in the duty-free privilege on gifts and goods bought abroad and brought home by travelers.

Although Rep. John W. Byrne of Wisconsin, senior Republican Ways and Means Committee member, sharply questioned Fowler for three hours, he later told a newsman: "It looks as though traveling is the only one to be taxed."

Committee Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., did not question Fowler and other administration witnesses.

But he later told an interviewer "we will have to do something" about the tourist contribution to the dollar drain.

Howard L. Clark, president of home and abroad, were predictable to the proposals.

A New York travel agency official, Dick Bryce, said the proposal would force "people to be accounts while on vacation."

Howard L. Clark, president of American Express Co., said: "I think such taxes could lead to retaliation affecting our present favorable balance of trade" with many countries.
