Final Action Is Pressed

Special Session Ending

By EARLE L. JESTER
BOISE (AP) — A compromise bill setting limits on timber fire protection assessments was passed 48-20 by the House today and it appeared the legislature's special session might wind up later in the day.

The bill went back to the Senate for approval of House amendments which removed lower limits on assessments against timber land owners by fire protective associations and districts.

It also would require that assessments be made on the basis of costs of each association or district, no landowners would pay only for costs of firefighting in their own associations or districts.

But it would not result in elimination of the controversial Priest Lake Timber Protective Association, where two of last summer's most disastrous fires originated. Legislation approved earlier in the House would do that.

Backers of the compromise said they anticipated it would be accepted in both the House and Senate.

Leaders said they thought final adjournment could come in early afternoon.

Action on "must" legislation was completed Thursday with Senate passage of a bill to appropriate $164,000 to pay outstanding deficiency warrants for fire fighting bills. That bill had already passed the House.

Also approved in the Senate was a House-passed bill to pay session costs.

Still on the calendar were measures affecting the controversial timber protective associations and the dredge mining law. Failure to act on these bills would leave the statutes unchanged.

Problems resulting from last summer's forest fires were the main reasons the session was called. Major bills dealing directly with those problems — and some designed to prevent similar future problems — have received legislative approval.

Efforts were still being made to persuade Gov. Don Samuelson to add the subject of election reform to the session agenda, but there were no indications he would act.

The call for election law change has centered on the provision which would not allow a third party presidential candidate on the Idaho ballot. The question arises with the announcement of former Alabama Gov. George Wallace, that he will run as a third-party candidate.

Although many of the non-fire fighting items on the special session agenda were corrective, the session did deal with some major items.

Proposals of a non-corrective nature which gained session approval would:

- Provide $175,000 for improvements at Farragut State Park for the 1969 National Boy Scout Jamboree.
- Centralize the new division of the State Police.

3 Negro Students Die In Violence

ORANGEBURG, S.C. (AP) — Three Negro students were killed in a brief but bloody exchange of gunfire with police Thursday night in the fourth night of violence on two adjoining college campuses.

Thirty-seven other persons were injured in the outburst, which started when state troopers and National Guardsmen attempted to push the students back onto a campus to douse fires they had started.

The crack of gunfire or fireworks could be heard throughout the night from the grounds of South Carolina State College and Claflin College, both predominantly Negro institutions, but this morning all is quiet.

The outburst began Monday night with a rock-throwing demonstration against the All-Star Bowling Ladies, a privately owned alley operated by Harry K. Floyd on a segregated basis. Students from the two colleges have been trying for months to integrate the facility.

Thirteen persons were injured in fire-ups earlier this week.

Chief J. P. Strom of the State Law Enforcement Division said Cleveland Sellers, 25, South Carolina coordinator of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), was arrested after the incident. Thursday night on charges of inciting a riot. He was taken to the South Carolina Penitentiary at Columbia and held under $50,000 bond.

Associated Press photographer Dozier Mobley, who was on the scene of the shootings, said the incident lasted only three or four minutes.

He said the students had set a bonfire near the entrance to South Carolina State College, another near a warehouse across a street, and another by throwing a gasoline bomb against a nearby home of an elderly white woman, Mrs. Mamie Brunson.

About 50 policemen moved in from an intersection 1 1/2 blocks away where the college area had been sealed off. They followed by about 50 National Guardsmen.

Peace Bid Issued By Trinh

By JOHN RODERICK
TOKYO (AP) — North Vietnam offered the United States this week and the withdrawal of the 20th anniversary of the biggest Communist offensive of the Vietnam war.

The peace bid was made by Foreign Minister Nguyen Duy Trinh, who said Hanoi would go to the peace table "as soon as the United States has proved that it has really stopped unconditionally the bombing and all other acts of war" against North Vietnam.

The promise of more fighting was held out by Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap, North Vietnam's defense minister and the victor of the 1954 battle against the French at Dien Bien Phu.

Speaking at a reception marking the 20th anniversary of the North Korean army's gain of control of light on until he won final victory.

Trinh's peace proposal, which said the 1954 Geneva armistice agreements could be the subject of the talks, was made in an interview with a French news agency correspondent in Hanoi.

State Department officials in Washington immediately began studying Trinh's statement. The initial reaction was that there was no fundamental shift in position.

Trinh went a step further than he had in his previous two declarations when he said that the "relevant problems" to be discussed were "questions related to a settlement of the Vietnam problem on the basis of the 1954 Geneva agreements on Vietnam; there are also other questions which could be raised by either side."

Though he insisted that Hanoi's long-standing four-point declaration when he said that the Viet Cong's five-point conditions for settling the war will stand, he said their "spirit" was a U.S. troop withdrawal from Vietnam. He added that the "democratic principles and the main clauses" of the 1954 Geneva agreements.

Man Shot In Altercation In Jerome

JEROME — A Jerome man was shot twice and another beaten in a fight early Friday in the 500 block of West Avenue N.

Both are in St. Benedict's Hospital in fair condition, with the man shot facing surgery, Jerome police, called to the scene at 2 a.m., were busy trying to piece together information Friday morning by talking with witnesses.

Police Chief Clarence Yingt, one of the first officers at the scene, said Delbert Crawford, about 20, Jerome, was shot in the upper chest just below the neck, and shot again in the groin.

The weapon used is a .25 caliber Italian make pistol.

Phillip Emerson, 21, 253 Quince St., Twin Falls, was beaten about the head, Chief Yingt said.

Details of the incident are cloudy. Chief Yingt said he and his officers are trying to determine what happened at the scene.

"It apparently was a fight, but this is all we know."

Several juveniles were being questioned at the Jerome Police Station during the early morning hours.

It was reported that Crawford was scheduled to undergo surgery at the hospital and it would be "some time" before officers could talk with either man.

Special Panel Plan Rejected In Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor John V. Lindsay rejected early today the recommendations of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's special panel for ending the 8-day-old sanitation men's strike.

Hours later, Rockefeller turned down Lindsay's renewed call for National Guard help in removing the tons of festering garbage.

The striking sanitation union had agreed to the special panel's offer of a $425 annual pay increase, only $25 above a state mediator's proposal made before the strike. The city had also rejected the $400 settlement offer.

Asked if he thought the Guard would be called out, Rockefeller replied: "No, I honestly don't."

The governor said he was "very hopeful" that Lindsay that would change his mind about the formula offered by the special mediators.

Shop stewards for the strikers voted unanimously to accept the recommended settlement, which would have raised their pay $425 a year retroactive to July 1.

Grim and haggard at a pre-dawn news conference, Lindsay declared: "I said yesterday the city would not pay blackmail in order to conclude this strike. The proposed settlement, in my view, asks the city to pay a little blackmail."

Lindsay was known to have felt that a strong stand might help bring an end to the rash of illegal civil employe strikes that have marked his administration. It was apparent he was disappointed in not getting firmer support from Rockefeller, a Republican like himself.

"Garbage was piling up in the city's 6,000 miles of streets at the rate of 10,000 tons a day. Six engines began regular patrols of the streets, and vacuum trucks were used as public burning sites."

T.F. Junior Achievement Unit Competes At Boise

Some 30 young Twin Falls High School students, representing about 120 in Twin Falls, are learning to be successful businessmen and businesswomen, left by bus Friday morning for Boise where they are competing in a regional International Management Conference.

More than 250 young people from Idaho, Montana, Colorado and Wyoming will be competing for trophies in the regional Junior Achievement Conference.

Mike Gray, one of the directors of the organization, said the local youths attending have been judged the top business people in their companies. The local program now has five companies operating. Some of the products manufactured and sold are Kennedy key chains, fire extinguishers for fire departments, bulletin boards, tie clips and memo pads.

Operating in much the same fashion as executives of actual business enterprises, the youths learn the value of increasing production as related to profit. The five companies have sold between $70 and $100 worth of stock to businessmen; their parents and friends.

Mr. Gray said most stockholders should receive a dividend when the assets of the five com-

Compromise Solution Will Assist Hospitals

BOISE (AP) — Gov. Don W. Samuelson said today a compromise solution appears to have been found to clear the way for construction funds for new hospitals in Oneida and Gooding counties.

Following a meeting this morning in the governor's office, Samuelson said an apparent agreement has been worked out between Sister Peter James, administrator of St. Alphonsus Hospital in Boise and the Idaho Advisory Council for Hospital and Medical Facilities Construction on allocation of federal Hill-Burton hospital funds.

Sister Peter James is in Denver. However, Fred Humphries, member of the hospital advisory council, confirmed that she had agreed by telephone to relinquish a part of the hospital's 1969 grant so the Oneida and Gooding hospitals could proceed with their construction plans.

Lee Wagner, chairman of the board of directors at Gooding Memorial Hospital, said Friday, "If this is true and Sister Peter James will let us have some of the 1969 money it will clear the way for construction of our new hospital here."

He said, "Gov. Samuelson deserves a lot of credit for this solution. He has dealt fairly and has researched the problem very carefully."

They are most appreciative of the charitable viewpoint being taken by Sister Peter James and the hospital's administrative staff," said Rep. Jenkin L. Palmer, R-Malad.

Sen. John V. Evans, D-Malad, praised the governor's effort in helping to bring about the compromise.

"We are happy the governor was able to negotiate with the hospital board and the State Board of Health on this compromise," Evans said.

The Idaho Board of Health obviously had given its approval of a $1.04 million federal grant to St. Alphonsus, and earlier this week reiterated its position. That money is for the current fiscal year.

Prior to this, Oneida and Gooding had requested a portion of the funds.

Palmer said Oneida has requested $241,000 for its hospital project and Gooding about $208,000.

These requests still will need the formal stamp of approval from the advisory council and board of health before the counties will be eligible for the Hill-Burton funds.

Palmer said it was his understanding that St. Alphonsus will defer approximately $500,000 of its 1969 request so this money can be allocated to Oneida and Gooding.

NEW OFFICERS AND DIRECTORS of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce were announced Thursday night during the group's annual banquet at the Holiday Inn. More than 250 people attended the affair. New Directors Are Introduced At Annual Banquet Of T.F. Chamber Of Commerce

By RUTH KOONCE MILLER
Times-News Staff Writer

Those of the four new directors of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce were introduced Thursday night at the annual Chamber banquet which drew about 250 Chamber members, guests and members of other Magic Valley chambers.

Steve Bancroft, Larry Harvey and Holland Houffburg were all at the banquet at the Holiday Inn. The other new director, Paul Jones, was out of town. The four men will be serving three-year terms on the board of directors. Howard Allen, new president, made the introductions.

Other new officers of the board include Harold Hove, first vice president, and Dr. Harry Drumbach, second vice president. Mr. Allen succeeds Earl Faulkner as president.

Mr. Faulkner was made the first charter member of a new group formed within the Chamber membership. He was presented with a sports jacket bearing the emblem of the Chamber.

Such jackets will be the official dress of the new group.

The group, designed primarily as a public relations unit, Mr. Allen said, will be composed of past directors and directors of the Chamber who have served at least one year in office.

Ray Rostrom, Chamber secretary-manager, commended the group during the banquet meeting that the growth and success of communities depends upon those who live there. Mr. Rostrom was pinch-hitting for the scheduled speaker, Everett L. Barnhardt, vice president of Adolph Coors Co., who became ill and was unable to fulfill his speaking engagement.

The Chamber manager also told the group that while there are people in every community who would like to see the community stay just as it is, "communities do not stand still — they either go backward or they go forward."

Lloyd Webb served as master of ceremonies.

Hugh Wilson, director of the Idaho State Chamber of Commerce, presented Bob Day, past president of state unit, an appreciation plaque.

Other presentations included a "hands across the mountain-type" gift from the Cody, Wyo., Chamber of Commerce, the Cody Club, to the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce. Elaine Anderson, a member of the Twin Falls Chamber and a past member of the Cody Club, made the presentation.

Mr. Allen told the group some of the things that can be looked forward to during the 1968 Chamber year. He said that "we will see expansion of our local airport — although we're not giving up the idea of a regional airport."

He also reported that in addition to negotiations with Jockey Men's Wear, the Chamber is negotiating with an electronics firm in California, and there is a small manufacturing firm in the downtown area. Mr. Allen did not disclose what the last operation is.

He said that 1968 also will see the progress of Future Twin Falls Unlimited and the beginning of the renovation of the downtown area.

Among out-of-town guests attending were representatives of Chambers of Commerce in Dallas, Burley, Rupert, Buhl, Harman, Jerome, Albion, Heyburn, Paul, Fillet, Kimberly, Halley, Shoshone and Wendell.

OFF TO BOISE where they will attend a regional International Management Conference for the Junior Achievement program are Danna Clark, a member of a local Junior Achievement company, and Jay Fuhrman, one of the advisors. About 30 local youths involved in the program were delegates to the convention, which will include representatives from three other states and Canada.

County Will Ask District Judge To Rule On Building Emergency

Following a review of the Tuesday decision of the Idaho Supreme Court, Twin Falls county commissioners and their legal counsel concluded Friday morning that the ruling does not say the construction of the new judicial building is illegal, nor does the decision require that in the opinion of the District Judge was required before the type of construction followed by the county would be proper.

Judge Anderson ruled that the commissioners' decision as to the existence of an emergency was conclusive. However, the Supreme Court ruled the decision was only presumptive and sent the case back to Judge Anderson for decision as to whether an emergency did in fact exist, justifying the construction.

"We believe that an emergency did exist and we will ask Judge Anderson to so find," the officials declared.

The position of the county, as judgment should be against the county.

The commissioners then unanimously agreed that their legal counsel, Lloyd Webb, and County Attorney Michael Felton should take further action by preparing information to establish that an emergency did exist at the time of the start of construction.

This information should then be presented to District Judge Curran Anderson, Pocatello, who heard the case and to Webb and the commissioners.

"Our actions have always been based upon our belief that the approach to the construction was legal and in the best interests of the county's taxpayers in view of the emergency caused by the state of the facilities of the old courthouse and the addition of another district judge," the statement concluded.

County officials won the action in District Court brought against them by 10 local contractors. This decision, appealed by the contractors, resulted in the Supreme Court ruling issued Tuesday afternoon.

One of the 10 plaintiffs said following the Supreme Court ruling that his group felt the ruling upheld the law requiring public agencies to build by calling general construction bids and that he believed there would be no further action by the contractors.

Ray Nilsen, chairman of the contractor group, said a meeting will be held in the near future by general contractors of the area and the court ruling will be asked and a position may be taken by the group at that time. No date for a meeting has been announced.

U.S., W. Germany Drop Joint Work On Jet

Win Falls Times-News
Feb. 9-10, 1968

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and West Germany reportedly are dropping joint development of a revolutionary, new jet fighter that could take off and land vertically.

The results so far have been disappointing to many defense officials. The U.S.—West German effort has been one of a number of projects the Pentagon has been supporting for years in the development of a wide variety of prototype aircraft, using different design approaches to vertical and short take-off and landing.

The type of aircraft that can take off straight up and land straight down or fly off a short field is considered important for the kind of fighting that is done in underdeveloped countries such as South Vietnam where the United States has had to install an expensive complex of air bases. Despite dropping of the U.S.—German project, sources said technology on such planes will continue in both countries.

"DEEP-FREEZE" FRUIT for the birds has been plentiful in the Halley area this winter. The juncos, wings grosbeaks, chickadees, and a few bluejays and robins that remained here all winter have all shared. Things have changed, however, the past few days, with an influx of selfish starlings. When a starling has had his fill he is a "dog in the manger" type of bird. Those who watch the other birds feed acquire a great dislike for these intruders. Does it bother the starlings? Not at all.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)—The Swedish Navy is using bayonets and high-velocity bullets on pigs to train military doctors and medics to handle combat casualties. The animals, heavily anesthetized, are shot at close quarters with high-velocity and "dum-dum" bullets—or slashed with bayonets. They are given transfusions while being carried on stretchers to the operating tables, then are operated on under simulated combat conditions. An army spokesman said the army hopes to start similar training next summer, using napalm.

Miss Gatti Speaks To Burley BPW

BURLEY—The dinner and business meeting of the Burley Business and Professional Women's Club was held at the Stampede Cafe dining room with Myrlam Gatti, exchange student from Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, as speaker.

Mrs. W. Gay Jones, international relations chairman, introduced Miss Gatti, who told how she was selected to come to Burley. She spoke on her country, the people, schools, industries, the climate and seasons, and her own family.

She displayed a number of typical items from her country, most of them representing some type of handicraft. She told of her impressions of this country and some of the things she was learning to do such as helping in a typical American household.

In her home in Brazil all the work in the home is done by servants and she is proud and happy to be included in the family group of the T. W. Matthews home, at Springdale near Burley, she stated.

Plans were discussed for the preparation to host the South Central District of Business and Professional Women's Clubs for their spring meeting. This will be a luncheon and business meeting April 7 at the Ponderosa Inn. Mrs. Otto Vaneek was named chairman of the decorating committee. Mrs. S. L. Walker Sr. will have charge of the entertainment.

Guests were Miss Gatti, her American sister, Carolyn Matthews, and Mrs. Cindy Taylor.

A social meeting of the club was held Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Steelman with a covered dish dinner. Mrs. Walker reported she had arranged for the church to be a school of high school girls, attending at the district meeting.

Mrs. Kenneth Grimsman, South Central district director, reported that she attended the Midwinter State Business and Professional Women's board meeting at the "Wentley's" Hotel, Boise. Part of her business included plans for the state convention which will be held in June at Lewiston.

Guests were Mrs. Howard Helderman, Mrs. Manuel Gutierrez and Mrs. Taylor.

The next meeting will be held Tuesday at Stampede Cafe dining room with members of the Rupert Business and Professional Women's Club as special guests. Norman Nielson, Burley attorney, will speak on "Wills and Small Estates."

Area Nazarene Church Plans Revival Campaign

Rev. Robert Emsley, an evangelist from Chicago, Ill., will conduct a revival campaign in the Jerome Church of the Nazarene Feb. 11 through 18.

Mr. Emsley was born in England of Methodist parents. He studied at Cliff College, and served as pastor of three churches before he resigned in 1954 to devote full time to the work of evangelism.

In recent years Mr. Emsley's ministry has been in the United States with the exception of several brief visits to his homeland for evangelistic work and special speaking engagements.

"Bible exposition is very much needed in these days, and Mr. Emsley is an outstanding Bible expositor. His messages are inspiring, enlightening and people love to hear him expound the Holy Scriptures," stated Pastor Don C. McBride.

He reports that a slide presentation, "Wentley's England" and other features will highlight the services.

Less Conversation About TV Bothers Executives

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The single thing that has been troubling television executives for the past few seasons is troubling them more than had ratings: it has been the fact that people seem to have stopped talking much about television.

The viewers groan a lot and say that days go by when they don't even bother to turn on the channel set—and one suspects that they exaggerate. But television's current offerings just don't seem to bring on the violent reactions of those good old days.

But during the past week television has—somewhat unexpectedly—moved back into the mainstream of viewers' conversation.

On Monday night the Premier of NBC's "Rowan and Martin's Laugh-In," a midseason replacement, arrived with a pace and verve that was stimulating. It took some impudent funny sidewalkers on subjects ranging from government to Charles de Gaulle to rock 'n' roll and "pot. And the networks, which have been afflicted with a desire to please all the people all of the time, have suddenly decided that controversial material isn't all bad.

The day after the premiere show viewers talked, with debate.

"Kiss Me Kate" Big In Germany

NEW YORK (AP) — The musical "Kiss Me Kate" has run up a performance record in German cities equivalent to a five-year Broadway run.

In 1967 it became the first American musical produced in East Germany, where it has since been joined by "My Fair Lady" and "Hello, Dolly!"

Ex-Diplomat Claims Middle East War Could Have Been Prevented By U.S.

By GARVEN HUDGINS
WASHINGTON (AP) — The veteran American diplomat who was deputy chief of mission in Cairo from 1945 to 1949, said the Israeli-Arab war erupted last June was political (timidly in Washington kept the United States from taking steps that might have prevented the war.

He is David G. Nes, whose resignation from the U.S. Foreign Service was revealed Monday. Nes, who had 28 years with the service, said he resigned because he became convinced that the State Department had barred him from any meaningful assignment.

In an interview at his Washington home, Nes contended that deterioration of U.S.-Egyptian relations figured in President Gamal Abdel Nasser's decision to close the Gulf of Aqaba to Israeli shipping, a decision which ultimately led to the war.

"We warned Washington from Cairo that Nasser felt he was being pushed into a corner," Nes said, "and we predicted that he would lash out. We recommended some kind of gesture from Washington which would assure Nasser that we were not hostile, but this recommendation was ignored."

"Nobody in Washington was willing to take the political risk involved in doing anything for Egypt," Nes said. "I believe the actors are getting a bit weary of their roles, too."

What started two seasons ago as a campy put-on called "Batman," today has become a self-consciously cute bore. The pretentious use of the cliché, once as dull, being to be an irritant.

"Don't Drink" Is Far-Reaching

NEW YORK (AP) — Broadway shows attract customers from near and far, but the box office of "Don't Drink the Water" claims some kind of record for remote reach.

The comedy now in its second year, has drawn orders from Lower Slaughter, Wyre-Piddle, Long Ichington and Oswaldtwistle, all in England; Clain Athies and Ballymore, Ireland; and on this side of the sea, from Painted Post, N.Y.; Correctionville, Iowa; Bad Axe, Mich.; Ekakala, Mont.; and Weeping Water, Neb.

BUREAU TO MEET HANSEN

NEW YORK (AP) — All members of the Hansen Community Farm Bureau are urged to attend a meeting at 8 p.m. Monday in the Hansen Grange hall, reports Jack Lang, chairman.

parliament had refused to heed warnings from its Cairo embassy on the gravity of the Middle East situation.

The State Department denied this accusation. Later, at a news conference, President Johnson said Nes' views were "prejudicial."

Nes told this reporter he is convinced Nasser's decisions to expel United Nations troops from the Gaza Strip, to dispatch 60,000 Egyptian soldiers to the Sinai Desert on Israel's borders, and to deprive Israel from access to the Gulf of Aqaba, all were based on Syrian and Soviet intelligence reports.

"Those reports," Nes said, "warned of Israeli troop build-ups on the Syrian frontier. We advised the Egyptian Foreign Ministry that on the basis of our own intelligence there was no truth to these reports. But Egyptian distrust of such a point then that the Egyptians refused to believe us and were convinced we were covering up for Israel."

"If we had been able to demonstrate to Nasser that we were not hostile to him, I believe we might have been able to dissuade him from the actions which led to war and we might have been able to prevent the conflict."

Nes said Nasser's distrust of the United States developed from a series of incidents over the 11 months preceding the outbreak of war. He singled out delay in processing an Egyptian request for $155 million in food aid, made in February 1966, as a major factor.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABIGAIL VAN BUREN: DEAR ABBY: Your advice is needed badly. I am a 15-year-old girl. My best friend (I'll call her Tummy) is also 15, and she's about three months pregnant. Tummy isn't married and she doesn't have any single friend but me.

The boy who got her pregnant took off, and she doesn't even know where he is now. She says she doesn't care, as he showed his true colors by running away, and she is better off forgetting him. I agree with her.

Abby, if Tummy's folks find out they will kill her. I can't ask my mother to help her. She wouldn't let me even speak to Tummy if she knew about this.

Tummy keeps talking about running away or killing herself. I can't take a chance on getting a letter at my house and neither can Tummy. Someone might get suspicious and open it, so will you please tell me in your column if there is a home for unwed mothers who would take my friend? She doesn't have any money. Thank you.

— A FRIEND

five years (long before I knew my husband) and I have always gone to lunch with a group of my co-workers. The men outnumber the women, but most of the men are old enough to be my father. Furthermore, I am not naive, and I can tell when a man has more than just a platonic interest in me. And believe me, nobody around here has.

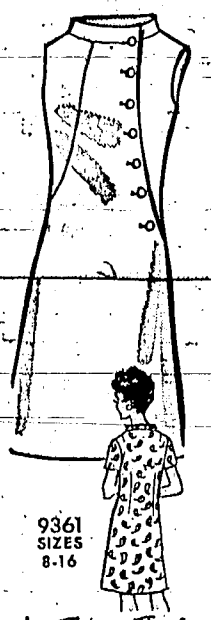

My husband resents my lunching with these men. He thinks that because I am attractive and extremely bosomy, every man I know has designs on me. His jealousy is getting me down. Must I give in and stop these harmless luncheons just to please a jealous husband? I pay for my own lunches, and there are always other girls along.

BUGGED: If you "give in" to one unreasonable demand, a precedent will have been set, and others are sure to follow. There is nothing wrong with lunching with your co-workers. Tell your husband to grow up and to show a little more confidence in himself and in you.

DEAR FRIEND: Find "SALVATION ARMY" in your telephone directory. Listed under it is BOOTH MEMORIAL HOSPITAL. Telephone other number, explain the situation, and they will help you. Good luck.

DEAR ABBY: I am a working girl, 23, married two years and am extremely happy with my husband and my job. However I have a problem which borders on the ridiculous. I have had this same job for

MR. AND MRS. RICHARD L. NELSON

Rupert Miss, Nelson Recite Nuptial Vows

RUPERT — Sub Balch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Balch, Rupert, and Richard L. Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Loren C. Nelson, Burley, exchanged wedding vows in a ceremony Jan. 2 in the Rupert Methodist Church.

The double ring ceremony was performed before tall candelabra and arrangements of white chrysanthemums and gladioli by Rev. Warren McConnell.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a baby doll gown of champagne-colored re-embroidered lace with an empire waist and rounded neckline. Scallops outlined the long sleeves and hem of the skirt.

A crown of pearls held her bouffant, shoulder-length veil of bridal illusion. She wore tiny pearl earrings and an heirloom pendant belonging to the bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. T. Matthews, Decla, and carried a bridal bouquet of cascading white roses and Lilies of the Valley centered with a white orchid.

Carol Hawk attended the bride as maid of honor and Sherman Bellwood was best man.

Organist was Mrs. Charles Lehman.

The couple was honored at a reception at the church Jan. 5. Michelle Nelson, sister of the bridegroom, was in charge of the guest-book.

The bride's table was covered with a cloth of white embroidered organza. The four-tiered white wedding cake which was decorated in gold and topped with a floral arrangement was displayed on a mirror. Crystal and gold candelabra completed the table decor.

Punch and coffee were poured at individual round tables. Guests were served at tables covered with white organza. White and gold floral arrangements centered each table.

The cake was cut and served by Mrs. Ruth Hawk. Mrs. Steven Antone and Mrs. Olga Lish poured the punch and coffee. Assisting were grandmothers of the bride, Mrs. Marion A. Balch and Mrs. Helen E. Hoffman.

Steven Balch and Brian Balch, brothers of the bride carried the gifts. Also assisting with the reception were Mrs. Glen Allen and members of the WSCS Morning Circle.

A kitchen shower, given by Mrs. Frank Spencer and Mrs. Rex Taylor, Burley, feted the bride prior to the wedding.

Mrs. Bus Goode and Mrs. Howard Toeva were hostesses for a linen shower.

CLEANING AS WE DO IT IS PRACTICALLY A SCIENCE. YOU'LL LIKE IT. TRY IT NOW.

Had you investigated the dry cleaning business a generation ago, you would have found that many spots and stains were taken out through a tedious experimental process. Sometimes a garment's fibers would be pretty well worn through before a hard-working cleaner removed the spot — if he removed it.

Nowadays, the modern cleaner has the benefits of a great amount of chemical and other research — if he wishes to avail himself of it. It doesn't come cheaply, but it's the only way to KNOW what to do instead of guessing.

In our plant we have different cleansing and spot and stain removing agents. Some of them may be, indeed must be, used in combination to remove stubborn stains that would otherwise render your garment useless. The processes for formulas we use range from very simple to rather complex, but they are all designed to do their jobs with little or no shock to your fabrics.

Cleaners call this process "spotting," but it makes more sense to you to call it "spot removal." We believe we know more about this than any typical cleaner needs to know — and we believe our superior knowledge is good for your garments. Call us and try what we call SUPERIOR CLEANING... at NO EXTRA COST.

Phone now and start your experimental adventure with SUPERIOR CLEANING at NO EXTRA COST.

FAMILIAR SIGHT at this time of year to sheepmen is ewes with lambs. This photo shows an ewe with her two lambs. Lambing season is well under way in most areas, particularly in Hagerman Valley.

Western Saga Of Emnity Between Sheep And Cattlemen No Longer True

By WILMA LARSON, Times-News Correspondent

HAGERMAN — "The age-old saga shown on most Western shows and which was an actual fact in the early days of the west is no longer true," commented Frank Henslee, manager of the Salmon Falls Sheep Co.

"Today," Henslee said, "nearly all the sheep men are also cattle men." At least that proves to be true in Hagerman Valley.

The sandy soil, the milder climate and the abundance of good water make Hagerman an ideal place to winter livestock and especially good to "lamb out" sheep.

Most of the sheep in the valley are owned by the Salmon Falls Sheep Co., Jones and Sandy Livestock Co., Brailford Brothers and Deke Peterson.

Peterson is a newcomer to the Hagerman area, buying the Eyle Porter lambing operations a few years ago. Peterson's main operations are at Carey, but he also has a small operation in Hagerman for lambing. During the summer, he pastures his sheep in the Muldoon area at the head of Little Wood River.

The Salmon Falls Sheep Co. have two summer bands which are combined during the winter after the lambs have been sold. The Jones-Sandy Livestock Co. runs four bands in the summer composed of the ewes and the lambs.

Brailford Brothers have eight summer bands. A band of sheep will vary between 800 to 1,300 sheep depending on twin births.

These sheep companies all schedule their lambing to start in January. Shearing is done by contract shearers in early March. The Bureau of Land Management, range on the Brunau area when it opens in the spring.

With the "fast moving pace" of today and the mechanized age, few sheep are trailed out to the desert as of years ago, but are trucked out. Most of the sheep in the valley are trucked out about 25 miles to the Saylor Creek area.

From there, the sheep are grazed 10 to 12 miles or about 40 miles out from Hagerman. The sheep are kept there until about May 1, then are grazed to the Bliss bridge, across the Snake River Crossing, at this point, the sheep are then grazed north of Bliss and Gooding onto the summer range.

Due to the absence of water on the Brunau range, trucks mounted with huge tanks holding about 1,200 gallons of water haul water out to the bands of sheep. The water is emptied into four troughs from which the sheep drink.

In the past few years, the BLM with the cooperation of the stockmen, drilled a well in the Saylor Creek area equipped with a storage tank, thus saving about 25 miles for each truck of water hauled to the sheep.

Most of the sheep in this area go to the summer range in the Sawtooth Valley, Brailford Brothers pasture part of their sheep during the summer on the Humboldt range in northern Nevada.

The Salmon Falls Sheep Co. grazes its sheep to Ketchum, but some are loaded in trucks at Timmerman Hill just south of Bellevue and are hauled the rest of the way to summer range. By the time the sheep reach the Timmerman Hill area, the July tourist traffic has become fairly heavy in that area and it is very difficult to trail sheep under those conditions.

Jones and Sandy Livestock Co. summer range is mainly around the Cape Horn and Bear Valley area. Brailford's summer range in Idaho is on the headwaters of the Salmon River.

Most of the lambs are sold from the range. Jones and Sandy do not keep any lambs for replacements as they, like most of the other sheep men in the area, purchase yearling ewes each year from Montana, Wyoming, Washington or Oregon.

Most of the sheep men in this area find that by breeding a white face ewe to a Suffolk buck, they obtain a better lamb and still have a good fleece from the ewes at shearing.

Twin births are not uncommon with sheep. It is not unusual for a band of ewes to produce about 40 per cent twins. Ewes and their new lambs are kept in a covered shed two to three days depending on space due to heavy lambing and the weather.

From the lambing area, they are put in a mixing pen and from there into larger pens where they will eventually be combined into a band which will stay together when they go to the summer range. They will continue to stay together as a band until the lambs are sold and the ewes are returned to the home range in the fall or early winter.

Shearing crews today make a circuit of their work starting out in warmer climates where lambing starts earlier and ending their session with the clippers in eastern Idaho and Montana.

An experienced sheep shearer can clip 100 sheep a day. An average sheep will produce a 10 pound fleece.

Because of an occasional death of a ewe or multiple births where the mother cannot care for them all, there are always a few "buns" or orphaned lambs. Some of the sheep men who do not have the time to bother with these, give them to a child in the neighborhood, much to the youngster's delight and usually to the child's mother's dilemma.

Very seldom does one ewe accept another ewe's lamb, but these "adoptions" can be made with some when the ewe's lamb has died.

Most of the sheep labor today is furnished by Basque aliens who are in the country under contract with the Department of Labor and the Immigration Service and handled by the Western Range Association.

Approximately 1,600 Basque boys are under contract in the Western states.

The Basque men come to this country for the first time under a three-year contract. After fulfilling the first contract, they may apply for permanent status if they wish to remain here longer. As a rule, the Basque herdsmen are most reliable and good workers.

During the lambing season, a cook is hired who cooks for all the men working with the sheep. At other times during the year, the Basque herdsmen cook for themselves in the "origin" trailer house, a canvas topped wagon equipped with a bed, cupboard space, and a wood stove used for heat and cooking.

Most Basque herdsmen are famous for their cooking. The sour dough biscuits which at one time was one of the mainstays of the sheep herder has been replaced with regular yeast bread since the introduction of dry yeast.

The "crack jar" sitting on the back of the cabinet which held the sourdough "start" is no longer a familiar sight in the sheep camp.

And not to be forgotten, is the faithful sheep dog, which can make the job of herding sheep, much easier.

Along with the changing of the "Old West," the modern day sheep men find feed and ranch can be utilized much more efficiently by having both cattle and sheep. said, "Government agencies find you can go a better job with both types of livestock," referring to better range practices.

The Salmon Falls Sheep Co. runs 300 head of cows, and usually have about 250 head of cattle on its ranch in the valley and their property near Wendell. Some of the cattle go on range during the summer, but most are kept at the ranch.

Jones and Sandy run 125 head of cattle which are kept on their ranch at Hagerman. Bill Jones is the sheep manager for the company and Alfred Sandy manages the "farming and the cattle."

Brailford Brothers own 500 head of cows. These are summered on private range land in CONFERRING WITH Jay Felt, assistant vice president of the Federal Land Bank of Spokane, center, is W. R. Nutting, left, manager of the Federal Land Bank Association of Twin Falls, and Clarence Hoeffield, right, president of the local association. Mr. Felt was in Twin Falls earlier this week to speak at the local group's annual stockholders' meeting.

Program Set For Farming Frontiers '68, Dossett, Jagels Re-Elected As Land Bank Directors

Farming Frontiers '68, a new program devoted to the business of farming, will be held Tuesday at Gem Equipment Sales, Twin Falls.

The program features motion pictures about the electronic revolution in agriculture, new crop varieties, agricultural research discoveries and new livestock development.

The program starts at 10 a.m. and will continue all day at Gem Equipment Sales, according to Fred Wannanried, manager.

Elmer Dossett, Twin Falls, and Melvin Jagels, Clover, were re-elected directors of the Federal Land Bank Association of Twin Falls during the annual stockholders meeting earlier this week.

The election took place during the annual meeting at the Holiday Inn, Twin Falls. The association makes long-term agricultural loans to farmer and ranchers in Twin Falls County and the First Segregation area of Jerome County.

Holder directors include Clarence Hoeffield, Hanson, president, William Whittington, Edson, and George Atkins, Buhl. Mr. Dossett also was re-elected vice president.

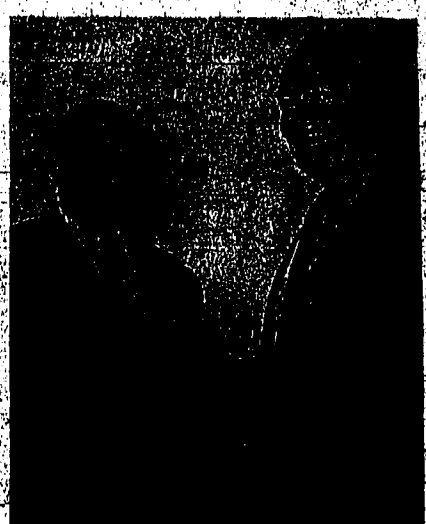

In his manager's report, W. R. Nutting said the local association made good progress during 1967. He said the association did about 35 per cent of the total farm loans in Twin Falls County.

The total long-term agricultural loans to farmers and ranchers by the local association last year was $1,583,230, an increase of about $240,000 from 1966. Mr. Nutting said.

Jay H. Felt, assistant vice president of the Federal Land Bank of Spokane, a former Twin Falls resident, was featured speaker.

Mr. Felt said it took the American farmers about 200 years to establish their own farm Blaine County.

These ranchers have proved the old theory that "cattle and sheep don't mix" is not correct.

CONGRATULATING each other for being re-elected as directors of the Federal Land Bank Association of Twin Falls are Elmer Dossett, Twin Falls, left, and Melvin Jagels, Clover. They were re-elected during the group's annual stockholders' meeting earlier this week in Twin Falls.

Dealership Operated By Father, Son

HANSEN — A new innovation in feeding came to Magic Valley last summer when Lee Lucich and his sons, Gary Lucich and Eddie Lucich, took the dealership for Pro-Lix, a liquid supplemental cattle feed.

They are the only dealers in Idaho, and the only other dealer in Oregon. The Lucichs serve farmers and ranchers west to Bliss, Gooding and Shoshone, and east to Malheur and extend some into northern Nevada as well as the immediate counties in Magic Valley.

Pro-Lix is manufactured by Rice Liquid Co., formulators of the product, at Aliceville, Ala., near Mobile. The Western States Sales distributor is Mutual Products, Minneapolis, Minn.

Gary Lucich, who is in charge of the service of the product here, states there are two general types on the market now, one is a non-proteinous nitrogen, and the other is a natural protein base.

The Lucichs' Pro-Lix tank container for this liquid feed is situated at a railroad spur on the main street in Hansen and it comes in from Alabama. They have the feeders and a large truck as equipment to handle the product.

Since Gary Lucich is in charge of the Pro-Lix end of the business, his father, Lee Lucich, is running the service station and grocery. He is an experienced mechanic and repairs machinery and cars.

Eddie Lucich attended a month's training session in Oregon in preparation for service station work. The Lucichs have purchased property north of Hansen, across the Hansen bridge, beside the freeway.

They are planning to build a service station, motel and lunch facilities soon, which they will operate in conjunction with the station at Hansen. Eddie will run the one on the freeway. There is a younger son, Bobbie, who will be able to help soon, as he is a high school student.

Gary Lucich stated that one reason they have chosen Hansen as an outlet for their Pro-Lix liquid feed is that it is close to the freeway so that delivery can be made quickly either direction.

It is centrally located and it is close to Burley on the East and Bluff and other towns on the west from Highway 30, also which passes Hansen.

Index Up

BOISE (AP) — The Jan. 15 index of prices received by Idaho farmers was up six points from mid-December, at 262 per cent of the 1910-14 average, the U.S. Department of Agriculture said today.

The mid-January index was 19 points below the same figure last year.

T.F. Man Returns From Europe After Studying Market Potential For Beans

"The potential of marketing dry edible beans — the kind grown in Idaho — in Spain, Italy and France, is good," said Mr. Wilson, Twin Falls, who has just completed a 2 1/2-month study in those three countries studying the market potential for dry edible beans.

Mr. Wilson, representing the Rocky Mountain and Western Bean Dealer Marketing Development Federation Committee, made an in-depth marketing analysis of Spain, Italy and France for marketing beans.

He said he is "encouraged by the information secured on bean marketing potential in these countries for dry edible beans produced in the Rocky Mountain West."

The reports that he has been sending in will be evaluated by the committee and if the committee feels the information secured warrants a marketing development program in any or all of the three countries, then the project will be drawn up and submitted to the Foreign Agricultural Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

This project is a joint venture by the Western Bean Dealers Association, Rocky Mountain Bean Dealers Association and the Idaho Bean Commission in cooperation with the USDA's Foreign Agricultural Service.

Two area men are on the committee that will study the reports on the market potential in these three countries. They are Tom Morrison, Gooding, Beakon Bean Co., Idaho Bean Commission, and William Morgan, Burley, Morgan-Lindsay, Inc., Western Bean Dealers Association.

Mr. Wilson said while he was in Europe he contacted only wholesalers and canners. He said it was felt that at this time the best progress would be made through canners because of the increasing demand for convenient food in Europe the past few years.

He received tremendous cooperation from the U.S. embassies and consulates in all three countries," Mr. Wilson said. He said he spent most of his time in Spain, contacting wholesalers and canners.

"Overall," he said, "I feel the potential is very good."

Other members of the committee that will evaluate Mr. Wilson's reports are Bernard Brown of the Chester B. Brown Co. of Nebraska, chairman of the committee; Carl H. Carbone, Tynidad Bean and Elevator, Denver, and William Horton, Mountain States Bean Co., Denver.

Average pounds of milk produced per cow, including dry cows, was 598, and average pounds of butterfat produced per cow, including dry cows, was 39. The number of cows producing 40 pounds or more of butterfat was 588.

Ways Listed For Saving Fuel On Farm Tractors

Fuel savings of up to 15 per cent can be achieved on farm tractors by modifying the carburetor and ignition systems to eliminate the carburetor adjustment and automatically adjust the fuel-air ratio to various speed and load conditions.

J. A. Weber, professor of agricultural engineering at the University of Illinois, Urbana, and G. E. Small, graduate assistant in the mechanical engineering department at the University of Illinois, Urbana, point out the traditional carburetor adjustment is done at full speed, steady conditions, and is a compromise between maximum power and the best fuel economy.

"To adjust for maximum power at full speed, full-load conditions wastes fuel at part loads," they said. "Conversely, adjusting to the most economical mixture limits the maximum horsepower and torque rise of the engine."

Describing modifications that were made to the carburetion and ignition systems of a six-cylinder farm tractor and the results of laboratory and field evaluations of the modified design, Weber and Small said the spark advance was changed until maximum torque was achieved. Next the carburetor was adjusted to a new fuel-air ratio and the spark timing adjusted as before. Enough tests were made to determine points of minimum fuel use efficiency and maximum power.

Tests were then made at various manifold vacuum readings and finally the engine speed control was changed and the tests were repeated until the complete range of manifold vacuums, speed control settings, and fuel-air ratios was covered. The carburetor was redesigned to have one fixed jet for part load and another vacuum-operated jet to add the additional fuel flow needed for full-load operation.

It was estimated from laboratory tests, Weber and Small said, that the new design could result in a fuel saving of up to 15 per cent. To evaluate the new design in the field, the new carburetor and distributor were installed on a tractor and it was

Advance Payments Continue On Feed Grain Program

Advance payments to farmers participating in the feed grain program, will be continued in 1968, Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman has announced.

Farmers may apply for an advance payment at the time they sign up to participate in the program. The signing began Feb. 1 and will continue through March 15, 1968.

Carl Boyd, chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee, explains that the advance payment will be 50 per cent of the feed grain diversion payments. Advance payments will not be made on wheat marketing certificates or on Feed Grain Price-Support payments.

Under the feed grain program, diversion payments on the larger farms will be made on acreage withheld from corn or grain sorghum production above the qualifying 20 per cent of the base. This additional diversion payment rate per acre will be 45 per cent of the total local price support (County loan rate plus the price-support payment) times the yield. (The total local price support in Twin Falls County is $1.50 per bushel for corn and $1.08 per hundred weight for sorghum.) For the larger farms, the diversion payment will be made on the qualifying 20 per cent.

Special provisions continue to be available for small farms. If the farm has a Feed Grain base of 25 acres or less, the diversion payment will be approximately 20 per cent of the total local support times the yield on the first 20 per cent of the base and at the regular 45 per cent payment rate on the remaining average diverted to conserving uses.

As in 1967, producers with corn-grain sorghum bases up to 125 acres will have the option in 1968 of temporarily reducing their bases to 25 acres and being eligible for the small-farm provisions.

Under these circumstances, feed grains cannot be planted on the farm if the grower is to remain eligible for program benefits.

The annual Bean Growers Award Banquet, sponsored by the Northrup, King and Co., will be held Wednesday in the Twin Falls Elks Lodge building.

Social hour will begin at 6:30 p.m. with the banquet immediately following.

Four awards will be given to bean growers for raising outstanding beans. The awards will be given for beans, Kinghorn and others of this class; green beans, Sprito and others of this class; green beans, Tendercrop and others of this class, and all other bean classes.

D. K. Christensen, chairman of the board of Northrup, King and Co., Minneapolis, Minn., will be guest speaker.

Green Giant Foundation Is Offering 3 Scholarships
 BUHL.—The Green Giant Foundation has announced that for the 1955 scholarship year, graduating high school students in all Green Giant company plant towns are eligible to apply for one of the foundation's three scholarships.

The foundation offers three scholarships annually, a general career, an agricultural career and a home economics career scholarship.

Recently the Green Giant Foundation increased the total amount of money available for such scholarships in communities where the Green Giant company has major plant and/or growing operations. During the first six years the foundation awarded 150 scholarships. These cash awards plus the summer job earnings, have thus far totaled approximately a quarter of a million dollars. About 75 per cent of the recipients have taken advantage of the job opportunity award.

In addition to the scholarships, the foundation also will award $25 savings bonds to the outstanding member of each FFA chapter participating in the agricultural career scholarship program.

The agricultural career scholarship is offered to students seeking professional training in agriculture at a Land Grant college or other college offering a four-year program in agriculture. The recipient of the home economics scholarship must attend an accredited college or university offering a four-year course in home economics.

The general career scholarship recipient must choose his own course of study as well as college or university. Students interested in applying for the Green Giant Foundation scholarships should contact Wes Keeney or Rex Engelking, Buhl, Idaho, for application forms.

Recipients of scholarships in this area in the past years have been Gerald Adams, 1952; Virn Griffith, 1953; William Patton, 1954; Michael Pierce, 1955; Lesig Bennett, 1956; and Thomas Snyder, 1957. All general scholarships: Karl Klein-Kopf, Twin Falls, 1954; Loren Honstead, Kimberly, 1955; Randolph Niefenegger, Wendell, 1956; Robin Wells, Twin Falls, 1957; all agricultural careers: Robert DeWitt, Kimberly, 1954; and home economics: Karl Klein-Kopf, Twin Falls, 1954; Loren Honstead, Kimberly, 1955; Randolph Niefenegger, Wendell, 1956; Robin Wells, Twin Falls, 1957; all agricultural careers: Robert DeWitt, Kimberly, 1954; and home economics: Karl Klein-Kopf, Twin Falls, 1954; Loren Honstead, Kimberly, 1955; Randolph Niefenegger, Wendell, 1956; Robin Wells, Twin Falls, 1957.

For the first time in this area, a home economics scholarship is being offered by the Green Giant foundation. To qualify, the applicant must be a high school senior who has had at least one year of home economics and who is or has been an active member in the local FFA chapter.

Graduating seniors need not be currently enrolled in a home economics course. The young lady must be of good character and have a record of leadership and service; must be prepared to show financial need; and must have been accepted by an accredited four-year college or university of her choice.

The recipient will be selected by a committee consisting of the state FFA representative, the high school's senior home economics instructor, and the high school's principal or guidance counselor, according to the Green Giant officials at the Buhl plant. Also, the $200 scholarship must be used at an accredited college or university offering a minimum of a four-year course in home economics.

4-H Kickoff Event Set In Glenns Ferry
 KING HILL.—Plans were made for the 4-H kickoff dinner to be held Feb. 25 at the school lunch room in Glenns Ferry when the Passadena Valley 4-H Club members met at the home of Mrs. Lee Traylor, leader.

The committee from the club who will assist with the decorations are Terry Parish, Rocky Trail and Herbie Hanke. The dinner is to be a potluck dinner and all 4-H leaders and friends are invited to attend.

Rocky Trail showed a film on the "Pathways of Facts" and gave an illustrated talk on the film. Following the film members held a quiz concerning the feed problem.

Members discussed purchasing a tree for the Elmore County Fairgrounds and Rocky Trail was appointed chairman of a committee to take samples of water for testing in the community. The group also discussed attending the bull sale to be held at the fairgrounds in Gooding Feb. 17.

Refreshments were served by Peggy and Sheri Pruitt.

4-H Builder Club Formed For Blaine
 SHOSHONE.—A new 4-H Builders club has been organized for Blaine County, reports Mary Lou Ruby, home economist, Shoshone.

Appointed to the nominating committee were Jack Burton, chairman; Rusty Baird and Barbara Baird.

Connie Meyers, assistant state FFA club leader, discussed "What Makes Good Leaders" and also "What Are Some Education, Service and Social Activities Builders Clubs can take part in."

All 14 year olds and older are welcome to attend the Builders Club meeting set for 7:30 p.m. Feb. 12 at the Carey High school.

At the first meeting were Gale Stocking, Laurie Baird, Jean Stocking, Barbara Baird, Dennis Patterson, Ken Green, Jack Barton, Gary Parke, Dale Stocking, Dennis Meenefer and Rusty Baird.

Special 4-H Television Project Set
 A special 4-H Club project will be offered by television again this year. It was announced by Olan Genn, Twin Falls County 4-H Club Agent.

The first telecast will be presented at 1 p.m., Saturday, Feb. 24 on KMVT—Channel 11. Any youngster between the ages of 10 and 18 may enroll and complete the project. However, the material is designed for fourth, fifth and sixth grade students, Genn said.

Agent Genn says enrollment cards and information regarding the 4-H Club project by television will be furnished to all grade schools in Twin Falls county in advance of the beginning date.

He added that the same material will be supplied to grade schools in other counties. Those interested in taking the project may complete the enrollment card and mail it to the state 4-H Club office. The card is self-addressed.

When the enrollment card is received in the state office, each youngster will receive by mail his project material which is to be completed as he watches the program each Saturday for ten weeks.

Genn says the project will present ten, thirty minute telecasts covering the phases of natural science and says the instruction and demonstrations are excellent.

Satisfactory completion of the project by any and all who are enrolled will be presented a certificate of completion plus being made eligible to attend 4-H Summer Camp in July.

START YOUR OWN TOMATO PLANTS: If you've been having trouble raising your own tomato plants try this trick from readers: Try this mid-winter mixture of sand, peat, and a little garden soil, bake it in an oven at 180 degrees for one-half hour. Then take a cardboard milk container (half-gallon size), slice top off lengthwise, and fill half full with the soil mixture.

There were 10 seeds in two rows. Seed is sprinkled with a little peat moss. As the plants grow, instead of transplanting them, we gradually add more soil around each plant, until the box is full. We wait until the last day of March to take the seed. On warm days, the boxes are set outside for a while to help harden them.

Care must be taken not to overwater because there's no drainage in the waxed container. Try this method. Do not fertilize until planting into the garden when danger of frost is over.

Our reader continues: "We enjoy your articles and in spite of our advanced age, but we're learning to be a healthy, worthwhile hobby. We dread the time when our age will force us to give it up!"

BOYSENBERRIES — WHAT ARE THEY? You hear a lot about Boyseberries, Dewberries, and Loganberries, but few people ever take the trouble to explain what they are and what they'll do for gardeners.

I'll try to explain what they are. First, the Loganberry, it's a hybrid or plant "made" originated in California by a Judge Logan the western blackberry (a Dewberry) and a red raspberry. The result, a Loganberry, a plant not altogether hardy in northern gardens, unless you take the trouble to mulch them heavily with straw.

Boyseberries are a cross between a Loganberry, raspberry and blackberry. Berries are tremendous—often more than two inches long, and very delicious. Canes are long and thorny and fruit is to be produced. If you're willing to fuss with it, you can protect the canes and grow them on trellises in summer. Plant them six feet apart.

If you want to try dewberries, grow the "new" plant. Buy the plants in north, unless you give it protection. Then there's a Youngberry, similar to the Boyseberry (or Spineberry) and it comes with spines and without spines. The Youngberry and the Boyseberry are replacing the Loganberry. There's also Nectarberry which is similar to the Boyseberry and there's a thornless Boyseberry for your garden. Don't go overboard on the thornless sports—since they are not as productive as the thorny plants.

In general, all the brambles just mentioned take about the same care. Try not to grow Boyseberries where tomatoes, peppers, eggplants and peppers have grown recently since their crops sometimes infect the soil with a wilt disease.

Boyseberries and its relatives are started by layering tips of new canes in fall. They root in spring and can be cut from the parent plant. Mulch the plants with sawdust, straw, plastic sheet or whatever is available, to keep down weeds,

Feeding Problem
ARGONIA, Kas. (AP)—The Arthur Drouhard family has a double feeding problem since the birth of a two-headed calf last week.

The heads are joined at the forehead, there are two sets of eyes, two noses, and two mouths.

The Drouhards are bottle-feeding the calf, which seems to do better with two bottles at once.

Cattle, Calves On Feed Total 199,000 Head
BOISE (AP)—Cattle and calves on feed for slaughter in Idaho, totaled 199,000 on Jan. 1, the U.S. Department of Agriculture reported today. The total was up 28 per cent from that on Oct. 1 but was one per cent less than on Jan. 1, 1967.

The department said commercial hatcheries in Idaho produced an estimated 517,000 chicks during December, bringing the total for the year to 6,906,000. Production in 1968 totaled 6,290,000.

Annual Meet Set Tuesday In Rupert
RUPERT—Annual meeting of the Blaine County Lamb and Wool Pool is scheduled for Tuesday, Feb. 13, according to County Agent LaMont Smith.

Mr. Smith said a tour is planned to begin at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday, but so far only the farm of Jim Harmon is on the list of stops. More farms may be added later this week, Mr. Smith said.

The group will be served lunch at the Emerson Grange hall following the tour, and the annual business meeting will be held.

Guest speakers for the meeting include Wade Wells, Boise, who is an extension livestock specialist, and Kenneth Fredrickson, a sheep research scientist at the Dubois Experiment Station.

A new director to serve a three year term will be elected during the meeting.

Two Join Dairy Hall of Fame
POCATELLO—W. J. Wagoner, Meridian, a Jersey breeder, and Henry Drury, Preston, a Holstein breeder, have been elected to the Idaho Dairy Hall of Fame at the annual convention of the Idaho Dairyman's Association at Pocatello. The selection was announced by Joe Fritz, Fruili land, president of the Idaho Purebred Dairy Cattle Association.

There are 22 members of the Hall of Fame, started in 1958. One or more members are chosen each year for outstanding accomplishment in the dairy industry.

Snowmobile Facility Planned In Camas

FAIRFIELD — Plans to build and operate a winter sports facility for snowmobiling on the Willow Creek area in Camas County are announced by four men who have formed Sawtooth Recreation, Inc.

Incorporators are Cecil Hobdy, William Oakley and A. L. Osborn, all residing in Fairfield, Barron, Fairfield. A day lodge is to be built on Willow Creek, 11 miles north of Highway 68 and the Blaine siding.

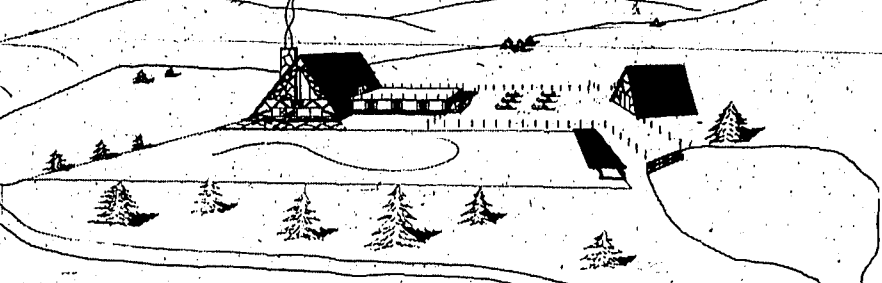

Known as "Willow Run," the area will be operated for snowmobiles under a special use permit application now pending with the U. S. Forest Service. In addition to the lodge, plans call for the building of three safety patrol huts to be situated at vantage points, five to 15 miles from the main lodge. Sawtooth Recreation, Inc., will provide 50 rental snowmobiles, walkie-talkie radio units and safety patrol huts for all units. Safety patrol huts will be manned by trained personnel.

The entire recreation area includes the Ditto Flats, Little Smokey and Wells summit in addition to Willow Creek and Devil's Dive. These areas are completely free of avalanche danger, offer ideal snow conditions and terrain and include some of the most primitive, serene winter scenery in Idaho, the operators state.

Patrol huts will be heated and provide sanitary facilities. A garage facility and mechanic shop will be maintained at the main lodge on Willow Creek. Target date for construction is June 1, and it is hoped the facility will be ready for opening for next winter.

The entire area is being set aside for the snowmobile enthusiast and anyone may use the area for this purpose, Mr. Osborn added.

"WILLOW RUN," a new winter sports facility designed specifically to cater to the popular new sport of snowmobiling, is being planned by Sawtooth Recreation, Inc., a firm that was chartered this week in Boise. The lodge will be located on Willow Creek in Camas County, 11 miles north of Highway 68 and Blaine Siding.

Class A Mat Title Goes Up For Grabs Tonight; Declo Is Class B King

Declo's Hornets wrapped up the Class B district championship in a decisive display of power Thursday but the Class A division tightened up and gave all the prospects of the best finishing night in the nine-year history of the event.

The finals will be wrestled off at 7:30 p.m. Friday at the Twin Falls High School gymnasium.

Declo moved through the second round with the remarkable boast of putting all 12 men into the final Friday night, in the tournament and right now the Hornets need send only the coach down Friday night to pick up the trophy. Declo has 117 points against 67 for runner-up Valley.

But in the Class A division, Twin Falls came up with a couple of unexpected victories while Minico, which had only three top seeds, lost one of those. At the end of the session the Bruins were ahead 74-72 while Burley wasn't far away with 62.

That makes the final night of the tournament look like this: Twin Falls leads while the men fighting for championships against five each for Burley and Minico. The championship may well be decided in the under-story wrestling where third and fourth-place points will be up for grabs. Minico will have seven points while Burley has two (worth two points without pin points) while Twin Falls will have five and Burley four.

In head-to-head competition, Twin Falls will meet Minico twice and Burley twice for championships, which now have everything riding on each. Minico and Burley meet only once in the finals. The Twin Falls-Minico head-to-head confrontations in the third-fourth place matches will occur three times while Minico and Burley meet once.

Marichal And Giants Reach Agreement

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Juan Marichal, still looked to as the mainstay of the San Francisco Giants and a big plus toward their National League pennant hopes, agreed Thursday to pitch next season for a reported $100,000.

The big right-hander also agreed to fly into San Francisco in a week or 10 days to sign, and to report for bats and conditioning exercises a week ahead of spring training in Arizona.

With Marichal satisfied, the Giants have signed 21 players, including all of their stars and their pitching big four: Marichal, 14-10 last season; Mike McCormick, 22-10; Ray Sadecki, 12-6; and Roy Perry, 15-7.

They also have signed Willie Mays, Willie McCovey and virtually every key player except outfielder Jesus Alou, whom they expect a signed deal soon.

Marichal, from his home in Santo Domingo, sounded relaxed and happy in a telephone chat with Giants Vice President Charles S. Rooney.

Marichal is completely satisfied with his contract, is in top condition and anxious to begin work. He made no mention of the aches and pains which he suffered much of last season because of repeated injuries.

The Giants hope the 30-year-old, high-velocity pitcher will return to his superb 1963 form. He won 33 games and lost only 15 in those four 21-games-or-better winning years. His pay jumped from $40,000 to $100,000 in that time, marked by two long holdouts.

The complete Class A scoring summary going into the final night are Twin Falls 74, Minico 72, Burley 62, Buhl 42, Jerome and Filer 27 and Wood River 13. Class B totals are Declo 117, Valley 67, Castleford 62, Kimberly 52, Rat River 17, Oakley 11 and Shelton 4.

Buhl Surprises O'Leary, Claims Frosh Hoop Title

The Buhl freshman completed their Cinderella story Thursday night by downing O'Leary 52-42 and claiming the annual State basketball tournament championship.

Buhl, which moved down three straight opponents and wasn't favored in any of the games, had some battling over the first three quarters but in the final period stuck a good defense on the Cubs and rolled in.

It marked the first victory for a Buhl club over O'Leary in four years.

In gaining the final Buhl knocked off Minico and Burley. No other details were available.

Idaho Hires Two Football Assistants

MOSCOW, Idaho (AP)—The hiring of two new assistant football coaches was announced by the University of Idaho Thursday—one of them to replace another now assistant who changed his mind about coming here.

Harvey L. Griffin, head of defensive coach at the University of Texas at El Paso and Pete Manning, former Canadian and National Football League half-back were named to the assistant posts by Athletic Director Paul Oetym.

Manning, now an assistant at Florida State University, replaces Al Conover of the same school who was recently announced as a new Vanderbilt assistant. Oetym said Conover changed his mind at the last minute after being promoted to FSU's assistant head coaching position.

Manning played for Toronto and Calgary in the Canadian Football League and then was a running back for the Chicago Bears for three years before coaching at Wake Forest, the University of Michigan and then Florida State.

Griffin, an Oklahoma State University graduate, coached two high school championship football teams at Enid, Okla., before joining passing specialist Bobby Dodd's staff at El Paso.

Oetym said the new coaching staff now is complete. It includes head coach Y C McNease and assistants Tom Rogers, former assistant defensive line coach at the University of Alabama; Benson P. Holland, former head coach at Holladay High School in Missisquoi; and Ed Troxel, former Boise High School coach and assistant to Idaho coach Steve Musseau last season.

Powell Fires 3 Under Par To Lead Meet

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Club professional Jimmy Powell of Riverside, Calif., knocked out a eight-under-par 64 Thursday to lead the way through the first round of the $150,000 Andy Williams-San Diego Open Golf Tournament as 68 players shattered regulation figures at the Torrey Pines Golf Club.

The 33-year-old Powell, a native of Dallas, Tex., who rarely plays in major tournaments any more, ripped out 32-32-64 over the 6,700-yard, par-36-36-72 course. The weather was cloudy most of the day as the field of 144 pro-amers and when the King was over three of the big-name stars had been overshadowed.

Jack Nicklaus had a 33-34-67, Billy Casper 34-34-68, and Arnold Palmer settled for even par 36-36-72.

Tied behind Powell, whose best finish in a PGA tournament was eighth at St. Paul in 1962, were Ray Floyd, Rod Funstett, Ron Raff and Tom Weiskopf, each with a 66.

Nicklaus wound up in a tie with Dave Hill and Marty Fleckman.

There were nine deadlocked at 68, including Alpie Sking Pott, Kermitt Zarley, and Al Gelberger.

Brundage Has No Plans To Resign Post

GRENOBLE, France (AP)—"We're still in the driver's seat," a smiling Avery Brundage, president of the International Olympic Committee, said Thursday in spiking rumors that he planned to resign over the recent controversy involving commercialism in the Winter Games.

"Brundage isn't resigning, and the IOC is solidly behind him," the 80-year-old Olympic chief made his statement in an interview with The Associated Press, answering a wave of criticism in the French press and on the French television network.

"They have been very abusive," Brundage said, citing the French sports news paper L'Equipe as one of the most critical. "They have printed that this is a great disaster for me, that I will have to resign."

"Nothing is farther from the truth," Brundage has been president of the IOC since 1952—a militant champion of pure amateurism throughout his tenure and he is scheduled to come up for reelection at the Summer Games in Mexico in October.

"What are Brundage's plans?" "Well see," answered the strapping Chicago hotel executive, a former Olympic star, raising his hands in the air. He is not known as a man who quits under fire.

The controversy involved a last-minute decision by the International Ski Federation to permit commercial markings on the skirts of the Alpine contestants.

The move threatened momentarily to eliminate Alpine skiing—a blue ribbon event for the French—from the competition.

Miss Fleming Increases Skating Lead; Weather Hampers Olympic Action

By WILL GRIMSLEY
GRENOBLE, France (AP)—While bizarre weather plagued outdoor Olympic events, Peggy Fleming—the world's top ice ballerina—stayed in door Thursday and whirled to a virtually unbeatable lead in women's figure skating.

Skiier Billy Kidd, meanwhile, trudged out on the slopes in nearby Chamrousse to test his troublesome left ankle in the men's downhill race but was sent back indoors for at least one more day of rest by high winds, fog and a snowstorm that forced postponement of the race.

"This ankle feels pretty good," the Stowe, Vt. flash said. "I've got it taped, I'll be ready to go whenever they hold the race."

Kidd sprained his ankle Wednesday.

The first two runs in the lug singles also were called off after officials decided mild weather at Villard-de-Lans had made the ice track too soft.

Both events were scheduled for Friday, weather permitting. Nothing bothered Miss Fleming, however. The 19-year-old world champion from Colorado Springs, Colo., increased her 40-point lead to 72.2 as she sized up judges and spectators in the last three of the five compulsory figures.

Even more important, she received an ordinal score of nine, which is perfect for the compulsory segment of the event, which counts for 60 per cent of the total score. Saturday's free skating will determine the other 40 per cent.

Final results are based on ordinals, which actually are places that judges award the skaters. In other words, each of the nine judges rated Miss Fleming first so her ordinal total is nine.

"Barring accidents, the gold medal is in the bag," said an elated Carlo Fassi, Peggy's trainer.

If indeed, the pretty brunette with long black eyelashes wins the gold, it will be the first for the United States in the event since Tonye Albright brought it home in 1956.

The Americans also have a chance for the bronze medal. East Germany's Gabriele Seyfert is solidly in second place, but Albertina Noyes of Arlington, Mass., is in a three-way spin for third with Bextrix Schuba of Austria and Hans Maskova of Czechoslovakia.

The 19-year-old New York University student was in fourth place after the compulsory figures with an ordinal score of 39, eight behind Miss Schuba and two ahead of Miss Maskova. Janet Lynn, 14, of Rockford, Ill., is in the field of 22 skaters finishing in 1:12.10 and 1:12.18 for a total 2:24.28.

Paul Lavoy, of Manchester, N.H., and Bob Hurcher of New York took seventh in 2:22.84 after split times of 1:11.30 and 1:11.54. Howard Clifton of Elkhorn, N.Y., and Michael Luce of Keene, N.Y., were 10th in the field of 22 skaters finishing in 1:12.10 and 1:12.18 for a total 2:24.28.

Brundage Has No Plans To Resign Post

GRENOBLE, France (AP)—"We're still in the driver's seat," a smiling Avery Brundage, president of the International Olympic Committee, said Thursday in spiking rumors that he planned to resign over the recent controversy involving commercialism in the Winter Games.

"Brundage isn't resigning, and the IOC is solidly behind him," the 80-year-old Olympic chief made his statement in an interview with The Associated Press, answering a wave of criticism in the French press and on the French television network.

The controversy involved a last-minute decision by the International Ski Federation to permit commercial markings on the skirts of the Alpine contestants.

The move threatened momentarily to eliminate Alpine skiing—a blue ribbon event for the French—from the competition.

Miss Maskova, Miss Lynn, the youngest member of the U.S. Olympic squad, has 840.7.

Conditions must be as close to perfect as possible for huge races because it is a dangerous sport. A competitor races down the track, lying almost flat on his back on his luge, which resembles a child's sled. A luge is much heavier than a child's sled—it weighs 44 pounds—but it also is much lighter than the 400-pound bobsled.

Nine-time world champion Eugenio Monti of Italy and brakeman Luciano De Paolis swept into the lead on the first two runs of the two-man bobsled competition as the U.S. teams held seventh and 10th positions.

The last two runs are scheduled for Friday night.

Monti and De Paolis covered the 1,500-meter course in a track record one minute, 10.13 seconds on the first run—and then turned in a 1:10.72 clocking for a total 2:20.85.

Idaho State Names Three Grid Aides

POCAHELLO (AP)—Athletic Director Milton "Dubby" Holt announced today appointment of three assistant football coaches who will serve on the staff of new head coach Ed Cavanaugh.

The appointments have been approved by the State Board of Education after submission by ISU President William E. Davis.

The three are Randy Tyson, Gene Dahlquist and Jeff Freis. Named earlier was Tom Jewell, who will serve as freshman coach and also will be in charge of summer job recruitment. He is the lone holdover from the staff of former head coach Leo McKillip.

Holt said the latest appointments leave one spot open, with that expected to be filled soon.

Tyson, who will be defensive coordinator and administrative assistant, is 27 years old and joins ISU after serving last year on the University of Rhode Island staff. He is a 1963 graduate of Utah State University.

The new offensive backfield coach is 25-year-old Gene Dahlquist, 1965 graduate of the University of Arizona.

Last season he was head football coach at James B. Robinson High School, Norfolk, Va.

Another Arizona graduate is Jeff Freis, 25, who will coach the ends and flankbacks. Freis played under Cavanaugh while the latter was line coach at Arizona. Freis coached junior football teams the past two seasons in Montreal, Canada.

RFK Colleagues Say Attack Isn't Start Of Assault

WASHINGTON (AP) — A source close to Sen. Robert F. Kennedy says the New York Democrat's sharp new attack on U.S. policies in Vietnam doesn't mark the start of a "systematic" Kennedy assault on President Johnson's war strategy.

The source's comments came in an interview after Kennedy, disputed enemy casualty figures put out by the U.S. Command and challenged the concept that the United States emerged victor from recent savage fighting in South Vietnam.

"The senator said recently, in announcing he doesn't plan to contest President Johnson for the Democratic nomination, that he felt this decision left him free to speak out on the important issues of our time," said the source.

"Vietnam certainly is an important issue and Sen. Kennedy will no doubt discuss it again," he added, "but he definitely is not planning any systematic assault on current Vietnam policies."

Kennedy, in a speech Thursday in Chicago, said the U.S. military effort to end the war is like sending a lion to hunt an epidemic of jungle rot. Of U.S. charges for a military victory, he said:

"It is time to discard so proven a fallacy and face the reality that a military victory is not in sight, and that it probably never will come."

Kennedy's assertions that one casualty figure appeared exaggerated was disputed by the Marine Corps commander in the Pacific.

Lt. Gen. Victor H. Krulak, said he had no comment on the speech.

area, told newsmen in Honolulu that Communist losses in recent weeks are above 25,000.

Kennedy said, "Our intelligence chief tells us that of 60,000 men thrown into attacks on the cities, 20,000 have been killed. If only two men have been seriously wounded for every one dead, a very conservative estimate, the entire enemy force has been put out of action."

"Who, then, is doing the fighting?"

The Soviet news agency Tass reported on Kennedy's speech, saying it "contained very serious criticism of the Vietnam policy of the U.S. government."

A White House spokesman said he had no comment on the speech.

State Department officials meanwhile studied a new statement by the North Vietnamese foreign minister indicating Hanoi may wish to keep peace exchanges going with the United States despite its sharp new military offensive.

Hanoi radio quoted Nguyen Duy Trinh as saying Vietnam peace talks "will begin as soon as the United States proved" it had stopped bombing and "all other acts of war" against North Vietnam.

That closely paralleled Trinh's statement—well in advance of the current Communist offensive—that such talks "will start" when the bombing and U.S. "aggression" against the North is ended.

Rupert Man Pleads Innocent

RUPERT — Marvin Hanks, Report, pleaded innocent to a charge of assault with a deadly weapon when he appeared before Fifth District Judge Sherman Bellwood Tuesday.

Hanks is charged with the Dec. 15 shooting of Alfred Aragon, Rupert, in Rupert.

Judge Bellwood reduced bond for Hanks from $2,500 to $1,000. No time for trial has been set. Hanks is presently free on bond.

Ex-Resident Of Twin Falls Dies

Word has been received here of the death of Frank E. Martin, 65, Santa Rosa, Calif., former Twin Falls resident.

While in Twin Falls he married the former Donna Winn, but was later divorced. He worked as a mechanic at the Schwartz Garage while in Twin Falls. Then he joined the army and during 1957 he retired from the Army as a lieutenant colonel. He was a lifetime member of the Kelse, Wash., Elks Lodge No. 1482, Santa Rosa Kiwanis Club and the Santa Rosa Lodge No. 47, A.F. and A.M.

Surviving are his widow, Carol Martin, Santa Rosa; a daughter, Mrs. Patricia Genaro, Sylmar, Calif., and a step-son, Rupert Hall, Sebastopol, Calif., and several brothers and sisters in Washington.

Burglary

A number of cigarettes were reported stolen in a break-in Wednesday night at the Sheriff Service Station on Addison Avenue West.

City police said entry was gained through the overhead doors of the building and the front was broken from the cigarette machine. No money was taken, Twin Falls City police said. Investigation is continuing.

Final rites were held in Portland.
