PROGRESS AND EXTENT of construction on the College of Southern Idaho campus is portrayed in this Times-News aerial photo. At top is the fine arts center, with the academic building looming up in the middle, and the maintenance building at the bottom. At middle right is the communication tower. A proposed physical education center will be located approximately to the right of the fine arts center, and above the tower. The proposed student union building will be located across from the fine arts center and next to the academic building. A large parking area will be located north of Falls Avenue, which bisects the upper left hand corner of the photograph. The three buildings currently under construction are scheduled to be ready for occupancy this fall. An application has been made for funds for the physical education center.

Communists Begin Second Offensive On Viet Cities

SAIGON (AP) — Red gunners shelled Saigon's Tam Son Nhut air base and about 20 other South Vietnamese centers Sunday in second-wave attacks that had been widely forecast to follow the enemy's lunar new year offensive. A spokesman at U.S. Headquarters in Saigon said first reports indicated the attacks were "not nearly as intense" as those 10 days ago against 35 towns and cities. Coordinated barrages of mortar shells and rockets were launched in the early morning darkness against cities and military installations, from the central highlands to the Mekong Delta. Allied troops braced for a possible renewal of the enemy's human wave assaults. There was only one report, however, of an infantry attack immediately following up on the shelling. This was at Tay Ninh, a provincial capital 60 miles northwest of Saigon, which was one of the few major cities not attacked in the Viet Cong's all-out push Jan. 30-31. Guerrilla fighters struck there at a South Vietnamese army compound. The shelling came after a day in which Viet Cong and North Vietnamese regulars expanded the 16-day-old battle for Hue again to a once-cleared section of the old Imperial capital. Preliminary reports said some planes were damaged, a chapel burned and six men injured at Tam Son Nhut, where Gen. William C. Westmoreland was spending the night at U.S. headquarters. At least one missile exploded at a corner of the perimeter of the headquarters. This was believed to have been a 120mm rocket, among the largest in the Communist arsenal. South Vietnamese military headquarters also is at the base. The mortar rounds landed at the main gate. Two exploded that before January there had been a certain amount of complacency about the guerrilla threat while the government plunged ahead with an economic program which has been making notable strides. That in itself has been enough to cause fits among the Communist leadership in North Korea, which has made the South's economy one of its main targets. The North's aids have alerted the government and the army to the dangers ahead, and both realize that a significant test may be coming with the next big Communist thrust. There is little talk here now of ending the arrangement whereby the United States, in the person of the U.N. forces commander-in-chief, Gen. Charles H. Bonesteel III, has operational control of South Korea's 560,000-man army. To do so would be to play into Communist hands.

Civil Disorders Scored

By STEPHEN M. AUG WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark, the man President Johnson has chosen to direct the federal effort against crime, warns the growing number of acts of civil disobedience are irresponsible, intolerable and cannot be permitted. Clark made the remarks during an interview concerning the questions concerning Dr. Martin Luther King's plan to bring thousands of impoverished Negroes to Washington in April to demonstrate for jobs. It was probably Clark's toughest public statement, and comes from the man upon whose shoulders Johnson has placed two of his biggest—and politically most dangerous—domestic burdens: an increasing crime rate and big-city disturbances. King has promised nonviolent, peaceful law-abiding demonstrations. But he has said they will "escalate to disruptive proportions if Congress doesn't help the needy." In the interview, Clark said "it's clear that any disruption of the activities of this city or any part of this city, or any office of this government, or any of its branches is intolerable and cannot be permitted." Clark's role in crime fighting has brought him unusually close—at least for an attorney general—to local police departments. He continually emphasizes that law enforcement primarily is a local responsibility, and the administration's safe-streets bill during a massive antiwar federal antiwar effort. Clark would not place a priority for action against any particular type of crime, saying that priorities would vary from city to city. But at the federal level where the government can take direct action, he placed top emphasis on organized crime, and second, drugs. "Organized crime tends to be interstate and therefore means the inability of local law enforcement to cope with it," he said. Clark emphasized the need for drug control because "the major activity in drugs centers around youth attitudes and personalities. It's not just drugs, and if they're looking for kicks, maybe they'll try marijuana, maybe LSD, maybe something else." He believes that if young people "are exposed to marijuana, they're probably exposed to dangerous drugs and society has a highly important stake in these drugs." "If we've learned anything about drugs in the past few years, we've learned drugs can be very harmful." Johnson for months has pushed Clark further into tougher, more sensitive areas. Last October it was Clark who organized federal forces at the Pentagon during a massive antiwar demonstration in which about 35,000 persons took part. Clark is chief administration spokesman for the newly proposed antiwar law and for a variety of civil rights legislation. One of the Johnson Cabinet's most liberal members, Clark is highly thought of by many of the officials with whom he must cooperate to work—the nation's police chiefs. Quinn Tamm, head of the influential International Association of Chiefs of Police, says Clark "is more interested in helping local law enforcement than any attorney general I have known." Tamm says he But Clark's continued strong stand against wiretapping and electronic eavesdropping and his favorable views on recent Supreme Court decisions conflict with the views of most police officials.

Airmen Due

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three U.S. fliers released by North Vietnam are due to land at Andrews Air Force Base near Washington near midnight Saturday before being sent to hospitals for rest and checkups. The Pentagon said Air Force Maj. Norris Overly will go to Wright-Patterson Air Force Base hospital in Dayton, Ohio; Air Force Capt. John P. Blain will go to Lackland Air Force Base hospital, San Antonio, Tex.; and Navy Lt. J. David P. Matheny will go to the Bethesda Naval Hospital in nearby Maryland. The Pentagon said the three fliers, the first captured American airmen to be freed by North Vietnam, will not grant interviews or make statements upon their arrival.

Backers Of Rights Bill Seek Cloture

By JOHN CHADWICK WASHINGTON (AP) — Backers of embattled civil rights legislation hope to make an impressive showing in a crucial Senate vote Tuesday on whether to impose cloture and cut off debate. Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., floor manager of the legislation, and other supporters do not, however, contend they can get the necessary two-thirds majority to cut off the debate. Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen has taken a stand against cloture, and without his help the move appears to have no chance. But Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said "We expect to do very well." He told newsmen that if more than half of the 100 senators vote for cloture, "it will be decisive evidence that the Senate wants this bill." The last time the Senate applied the seldom used rule was in 1965 when, by a vote of 70-30, it cut off debate on a bill to protect Negro voting rights. The bill now before the Senate is designed to provide Negroes and civil rights workers with federal protection against racial violence. An amendment offered last week would prohibit discrimination in the sale or rental of housing. Twenty-nine senators — 20 Democrats and 9 Republicans — filed a petition Friday to put an end to the debate that has been going on in desultory fashion since Jan. 18. Under the rules, the cloture petition will automatically be voted on one hour after the Senate meets on Tuesday. It will take 67 votes to shut off debate if all 100 senators vote. Hart, expressing hope that supporters of the bill will make a good showing, said that around 60 votes for cloture might convince the leadership not to give up on the legislation. But he said if there are only about 45 votes for cloture the bill will be measured no doubt will be shunted aside without another attempt to cut off the debate. Majority leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., has said that a second cloture petition probably will be filed if the vote Tuesday is reasonably close. Roy Wilkins, chairman of the Leadership Conference on Civil Rights, urged senators to resist any attempt to set the bill aside if the cloture move does not succeed Tuesday.

Payments To Welfare Jump To New Highs

By JOHN BECKLER WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal welfare payments took their biggest jump in history last year, and these indications only half the eligible recipients are now receiving aid. In a year of rising national income and high employment, 686,000 people were added to the welfare rolls, more than double the previous year's increase and three times the average increase over the last five years. And the Department of Welfare estimates the number of people now being assisted is only 25 percent of the total population whose income is below the poverty level, and half the number that would be eligible under federal welfare regulations. While the rolls increased, the number of federal public aid welfare in 1967 decreased, the cost of medical benefits skyrocketed due to rising hospital charges, and more states activated welfare programs under the inducement of federal support. The combination of factors has stripped the federal treasury of funds to keep some of the programs going and sent administration officials hurrying to Congress for an emergency appropriation of $1.15 billion. That would be in addition to $4.1 billion already appropriated.

Berlin Anti-War Protest Is Held

BERLIN (AP) — A leftist-sponsored Vietnam congress opened in West Berlin today to the chant of "Ho-Ho-Ho Chi Minh" and under a huge Viet Cong flag. Some 3,000 persons, mostly students, packed the main auditorium and adjoining rooms at a technical university. The congress is being sponsored by the German Socialist Students Union. On the speakers' list was Dale A. Smith, 23, of Pittsburgh, Pa., who said he had been invited to attend as a representative of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee.

LBJ Talks With War-Bound Troops

by DOUGLAS H. CORNELL POPE AIR FORCE BASE, N.C. (AP) — President Johnson told Vietnam-bound men of the 82nd Airborne Division Saturday that duties of freedom may become more difficult and dangerous before this planet knows a secure life. Johnson made a sudden, secret flight from Washington to visit paratroopers of the 82nd Airborne Division on their way to Vietnam. Johnson said that he had been invited to attend as a representative of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee.

Red Korean War Acts Expected To Increase

By WILLIAM F. RYAN SEOUL (AP) — Both Americans and South Koreans expect North Korea to step up its attacks of the South before long. The big American concern is that angry retaliation by South Korea might threaten large-scale hostilities. There has been a lull in North Korean commando raids since the failure of the attempt by a 31-man killing team to assassinate President Park Chung Hee Jan. 21 and the seizure of the USS Pueblo and its 83-man crew two days later. The season changes soon in Korea. Spring is coming and conditions are better suited in warmer weather to the guerrilla operations of commando infiltrators from North Korea. The Communists have at their disposal anywhere from 3,000 to 10,000 trained guerrilla commandos. They have anywhere from 20 to 40 swift, Soviet-built, diesel-powered boats which can carry large teams southward for infiltration purposes. The expectation among the Americans is that the North Koreans will be probing soon for weak spots. One of the main aims, experts say, is to undermine confidence in the South in its government, and to strike at the burgeoning economy here by frightening away foreign investors. A long-range aim is Communist domination of the South. Nobody here doubts that it is an obsession with Kim Il-sung, the Stalin-like Communist chief in the North. His method—the use of guerrillas, confusion and terror—is what is called here the "porous war." The strategy is to push and stab until stopped. The Americans and Koreans admit that the Communists reaped dividends from their January ship seizure and assassination attempt. They have implanted a certain amount of apprehension in South Korea and

Bank Of Idaho Is Considering High Rise Office Building Here

Joseph Blanco, Boise, president of the Bank of Idaho, has invited officials of Forward Twin Falls Unlimited and the Twin Falls Renewal Agency to meet and discuss plans for inclusion of a new Bank of Idaho building in the proposed development project in downtown Twin Falls. Blanco said, "We are seriously considering construction of a high rise bank building with rental office space if the need for such a facility becomes apparent in our study." If the application for a charter in Twin Falls is approved, we want to proceed as quickly as possible to provide service to the Twin Falls area. "The future growth of Twin Falls and the Magic Valley is most promising and Bank of Idaho is anxious to help accelerate the economic expansion of the area and to assist in the revitalization of the downtown area."

Hall Of Fame Event Slated Here Monday

Five Magic Valley men, well-known in the field of agriculture and livestock will be honored Monday evening at the annual Southern Idaho Agricultural Livestock Industry Hall of Fame banquet. The banquet, scheduled at the Holiday Inn, Twin Falls, will begin at 7:30 p.m. A no-host social hour will start at 8:30 p.m. Master of ceremonies for the banquet will be Ray Rostrom, secretary-manager of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce. The five men who will be honored, joining the 48 previously elected to Hall of Fame membership, are the late Warren Dulak, former county agent for Twin Falls County; John W. Noh, Kimberly sheepman and farmer; Otto Florence Jr., general manager of Independent Meat Co.; Dr. D. A. Jackson, Twin Falls veterinarian; and Frank Jougland, Rupert sheepman.

Ten Injured As Chairlift Clutch Snaps

OLEAN, N.Y. (AP) — Ten persons were injured, four seriously, when a 3,200-foot-long chairlift filled with weekend skiers went out of control Saturday and careened backward down a slope at the nearby Grosstalk Ski Resort. Some skiers on the lift were slammed against a concrete building housing the ski lift machinery at the bottom of the hill. Others fell or jumped from the chairlift to the snow 10 to 30 feet below. State Police said a surplus snapped in a clutch of the ski lift mechanism, causing the chairs to back up and down and then slide back down the hill. The injured were rushed by ambulances and station wagons to hospitals in this southwestern New York city.

Supplies Seized

SAIGON (AP) — Troops of the U.S. 9th Infantry Division seized a vast store of weapons, ammunition and other supplies today from wreckage of an enemy sampan fleet blasted by air strikes 27 miles west of Saigon Friday night. About 100 sampans had been spotted moving on the Bo Bo Canal, only eight miles from the Cambodian border, military sources said. Helicopter gunships were called in and, with later attacks by fighter-bombers, 93 of the vessels were destroyed.

Mrs. Ella M. White Dies In Twin Falls

Mrs. Ella M. White, 87, a pioneer businesswoman in the field of funeral service, died late Friday night at a Twin Falls nursing home of a long illness. She was born May 1, 1881, in Fisher, Minn., and attended schools in Minnesota and worked in a bank in London, N.D., before coming to Idaho. She moved to Gooding in 1910 and then to Twin Falls in 1914. Mrs. White founded the White Mortuary in 1924, at a time when women were seldom associated with or interested in the mortuary business. She studied at home to pass the Idaho State Board and received an embalmer's license. She operated the firm which bears her name in a downtown location until 1959, when, with her son-in-law, Hugh Phillips, she moved to a new building, the chapel by the park, which has housed the firm since then. Mrs. White was always interested in and worked for the growth and progress of Magic Valley, and at her retirement in 1948 she had given 30 years of service to Magic Valley. Mrs. White was an active member of the Business and Professional Women's Club for many years, a member of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce, Idaho Funeral Service Association, National Funeral Directors Association and the "We're prepared to stay out now to forever if need be," was the reply of Phil Constans, executive secretary of the Florida Education Association. Constans announced that 35,000 teacher resignations, handed in as the legislature struggled over a funding bill for education, had been "accepted" as of 5 p. m. Friday, when the Legislature adjourned. Teachers rejected the bill it left on Kirk's desk. After a meeting with PEA leaders, Kirk prepared to return later in the day to Tallahassee where he is campaigning against the presidential bid of Alabama's George Wallace.

Resignations By Thousands Of Florida Teachers Create Stage For Showdown

By JIM PURKS TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Florida plunged heading Saturday toward the greatest education showdown in its history—a paralyzing exodus by 35,000 to 40,000 teachers whose leaders were ready to go all in. If necessary, to get more money for the schools. Gov. Claude Kirk, who interrupted a political speaking tour in the west to fly back to Florida, appeared in an "open letter" to the teachers not to strike and "desert your children." "We're prepared to stay out now to forever if need be," was

Sergeant Tells Of Vietnam

Why does a young soldier who has just survived a nine-month tour of duty in Vietnam volunteer to return for another eight months? This is a question answered frequently by Sgt. James L. Peterson, Twin Falls, now home on special leave after nine months in the heaviest fighting zones of Vietnam as a member of the U. S. Army Special Forces.

The reason, Sgt. Peterson says, is twofold. He plans to go to college, and if he left the service now it would be several months of waiting to enroll and would mean a temporary job at best. The other reasoning is something more complicated. After several months of living and working closely with the same group of men you just can't walk out on them.

"You feel as though you are deserting your friends and fellow servicemen at a time when you are vitally needed. There is a high percentage of reenlistment among the men in the Special Forces," Sgt. Peterson said.

Peterson explains, the men work directly with the Vietnamese or Cambodians.

The job of the Special Forces, he said, is to develop available high caliber native forces into top quality fighting units. They are organized, equipped with uniforms, fighting gear and trained by the American Special Forces. The units also are paid a salary, as are the American servicemen, and can thus do much to supplement the efforts of the American units in Vietnam.

It is not an enviable position. Usually there are about three Americans with each 100 Cambodians or Vietnamese, and the Viet Cong will always attempt to wipe out the three Americans first, Sgt. Peterson, who worked as a radio operator and in demolition, explained.

A son of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Peterson, Twin Falls, he is married and he and his wife, Linda, have a four-month-old daughter whom he had not seen until arriving home on special leave.

Before returning, Sgt. Peterson has the unpleasant duty of taking the personal belongings of a buddy who was killed recently to the man's family in Texas.

Morale is generally high among servicemen in Vietnam, he said, although news of rioting and protest demonstrations is disgusting to most.

"We have plenty of opportunity to hear the latest news and sometimes the protest actions get pretty disgusting. Most of the time, however, we are too busy with more important things to worry about them and most of us understand these are simply people, misinformed or unable to understand the real issues," the serviceman commented.

Food, at least for the special forces, is generally good with frequent hot meals flown in by helicopter, but in the field it is generally rice and dried fish.

Medical care is the best, he added. Wounded are flown out, again by helicopter, as soon as they are injured and are taken to nearby medical facilities or, if severely wounded, to Japan or even the United States.

ORGANIZATION CHART - IDAHO WING - CIVIL AIR PATROL

Idaho CAP Wing Inspected By Team From Air Force

Three members and a civilian son, administrative assistant, employee of the United States Air Force arrived at Twin Falls Municipal airport Friday afternoon by a Convair T-29 to make the annual inspection of the Idaho Wing of the Civil Air Patrol.

Members of the party are Lt. Col. John W. Mosley, director of the Rocky Mountain Region Air Force Civil Air Patrol Liaison Office; M. Sgt. Lawrence Watson, administrative assistant; M. Sgt. R. S. Knutson, director of supply; J. M. Ogle, director of aerospace education, and R. H. Fletcher, director of communications.

The latter two men are civilian employees of the U. S. Air Force. Mr. Ogle has been in Idaho since Monday traveling throughout the southern and eastern regions of the state with Capt. Paul Prorton, liaison officer for the Idaho Wing of the CAP, explaining aerospace education at schools.

The inspection team, all from Denver, continued the inspection Saturday, returning to Denver Saturday afternoon.

Some of the departments of the Idaho Wing which came under their scrutiny were administration, information, communications, cadet training and operations. Col. Woods said that results of the last annual inspection were favorable in the Idaho Wing.

Mr. Ogle said that the inspections are made to determine if the Idaho Wing is current and fulfilling missions assigned to it. A formal critique of the inspection was held at 1 p.m. Saturday.

The Idaho inspection was the first of five to be conducted by the team. Other states which will receive scrutiny of CAP activities in the region are Utah, Wyoming, Montana and Colorado.

Inspections, such as the one in Twin Falls, has previously been conducted by CAP National headquarters until a recent regionalization of such responsibilities.

'68 Camaro—lowest priced of all leading sportsters.

Otherwise known as "The Hugger," it's sporty like Corvette, yet has family-style room. What other sportster at its price gives you features like Astro Ventilation, wide-stance and a 327-cu.-in. standard V8? Camaro: It's growing faster in popularity than any other sportster in the industry.

Now you can "customize" your Camaro with bold new striping, mag-spoke wheel covers, a spoiler cut back, new "houndstooth" upholstery, plus four new colors for Camaro: Corvette Bronze, Brilliant Green, Le Mans Blue and Rallye Green.

'68 Chevelle—prices start lower than any other mid-size car's.

Mid-size means we put all the good things—like Full Coil suspension for a big-car ride—into a slightly smaller size. Comfort items like supple vinyl upholstery and wall-to-wall carpeting are yours in most models. And Chevelle comes sized to your needs. Coupes and convertibles ride on a sporty 112" wheelbase, while sedans and wagons have a family-size 116" wheelbase. Get America's most popular mid-size car—Chevelle.

Salary Question

It is difficult for anyone to take a stand contending that a man is not underpaid just because he has enough time available in which he can work at another job to supplement his income.

complicated by other factors and is considerably more difficult. They have to consider whether they are justified in raising the pay of one type of city employe, without corresponding adjustments in wages for all the rest of the employes.

The work week of a Twin Falls fireman is 56 hours, which sounds like a lot of hours compared to the normal 40 hours that most people now work.

About the best move for the city is to try and determine what a fair wage for its firemen is, compared with similar communities; determine what is the most effective and economical way to run the department, as far as number of personnel, type of personnel and work week, again compared with similar communities, and then operate the department in that fashion.

The Twin Falls firemen work 24 hours on duty, followed by 48 hours off-duty, during which period their time is their own. Their sleeping hours during their duty days are from 9 p.m. to 7 a.m. This, admittedly, is not like sleeping at home, and they have to answer any fire or emergency calls that come in during that time.

This is just what the City Council has proposed to do—make a thorough study of the department and then come up with a decision both on salaries and operation. The city can't afford to come to a hasty decision on this matter, and it is much too late at this point to hope that the necessary study can be made in time to provide for any major pay adjustments in the budget currently being formed.

WASHINGTON — In January, 1966, the widow of a prominent Washington physician was suffocated with bed clothing in her bedroom. A handyman who had painted her home two weeks before was questioned by police, failed a lie detector test and later confessed to the murder.

But today the handyman, Harry Gross, is a free man, released into the community by a Supreme Court ruling which is concerned more with a matter of procedure than with the question of whether the guilty should be apprehended and punished.

his confession was inevitable—not false—on the grounds he was detained for four hours before arraignment. The appellate judges had no alternative under the so-called Mallory rule, promulgated by the Supreme Court, which says there must be no "unnecessary delay" in booking a suspect.

for four hours after he failed the lie detector test, before being arraigned before a magistrate. But there was no evidence offered that he had been subjected to any third-degree tactics. His defense raised no claim that the confession was not voluntary. The appellate court did not announce the jury for convicting an innocent man. He was released by Judge John J. Sirica, "with reluctance."

suspect should be arrested, thus protecting both the suspect and the police from the claim of a false arrest.

Curiously, the appellate court deplored that the police should have booked Gross immediately after he failed the lie detector test because at that point "the finger of suspicion pointed at him." But the police, actually, were more painstaking than the court demanded of them. They tried to make sure before booking him that the man they were looking for was the man they were looking for.

They are blaming everybody and everything these days for the nation's worst crime wave. It seems always to be the parents' fault or the schools' or the fact it was raining or the criminal was allergic to red caviar.

There may be imperfections in Title III and if so it will be up to Congress to correct them. As of now, however, it places the cops a bit more of a fair shake in its context with the criminal. And as Judge Sirica noted, Title III would keep Gross in jail, where he belongs.

I'm tired of seeing the Vietnamese war "played" like a spectator sport for American television.

Let's get out. "Horror! We'd lose face in Asia!" "We've had no face in Asia for 20 years."

Other emerging nations would surrender to the Reds? If their national allegiance is that diluted, so be it.

Finger Down Our Throat

Some of us with an opportunity to counsel and an obligation to counsel wisely have been wrangling with an arduous appraisal of Uncle Sam's unbecoming posture in Southeast Asia.

But when present policy is so conspicuously confused and ineffectual, somebody has to propose an alternative.

The Communists will not be able to hold that lumpy-dumpy hemisphere in their own grasp any more than the British could the French did or the United States.

War still is hell, however unreal it appears on TV. Every wishy-washy Washington utterance is predicated on fear, fear of world opinion, fear of Russian intervention, fear of Red China's reaction, fear that

For hundreds of us observing last Valentine's Day on the bring of bachelors, it meant an endless string of spinsters who are returnable, exchangeable and believe it or not, refundable.

Most people lie a little about their personalities. Some cannot draw the line between what they are and what they would like to be and others, like me, want to make themselves sound as appealing as possible to avoid ending up with a series of machine-picked dates.

The idea is to match men and women who are compatible mentally, physically and emotionally. We all have 50 areas of compatibility. It seems, and when 40 of your areas match 30 of his areas, zap! it could be love.

Once the tests are processed, you just sit back and receive callers—up to the next five every 60 days for 10 of them.

Interest Rates

(Editor's Note: Mr. Marlow is III. His column today is written by Edmond LeBretton, Associated Press writer.)

per cent, while the limit remains on the statute books for whatever symbolic value it may have.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Liberals in Congress and the executive branch are being forced by unyielding economic pressures to search their souls on the possibility of changing sides on a deeply-felt issue.

The private market long ago found a way around the FIA interest limitation. This is the almost universal practice of charging a discount, expressed in "points" or "percentages" of the amount provided for a loan.

The reaction in Congress was swift—and discouraging to some administration strategists who were reported hoping that at least a temporary lifting of the ceiling could be passed quickly.

He argued also that the FIA ceiling would tend to push interest rates generally up, by bidding up the price of loans, and that states would have to raise their own interest ceilings or see their citizens excluded from FIA benefits.

Then the Senator has dinner with five or six reporters. He gets, exactly the opposite picture. The war cannot be won. It is stalemated. Corruption and favoritism are so rampant that the government cannot possibly win any widespread popular support from a cynical and war-weary people.

But the 4½ per cent limit has long been a rallying cry for those who believe in government action to keep interest rates down.

This is the first war in modern times in which censorship of the press has not been applied. That word censorship creeps in through the cracks of intense feeling. From the practical viewpoint, however, it seems impossible since it would have to be carried out by South Vietnam, which is a sovereign nation.

Congress last year relaxed the rule indirectly. It allowed Treasury notes to be issued for terms up to seven years instead of five. Notes are not subject to the ceiling.

So now what actually are medium-term Treasury securities are selling for more than 4½

MARQUIS CHILDS

The Pessimism Is Resented

WASHINGTON — Both the President and his Vice President are putting all their great powers of persuasion into convincing Congress and the public that the communist assault beginning two weeks ago on Vietnam's cities was a failure.

Of the complaint about the distorted reporting out of Vietnam two conspicuous examples are cited. One is the emphasis in the past two weeks on the part played by American troops in expelling the invaders.

of Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker. He gets a round of official congratulations for his part in the assault on the cities. The war is being won. It is not stalemated. The South Vietnamese are giving a good account of themselves. The Thieu government is moving—slowly—but moving—to carry out much-needed reforms.

In the private performance, as contrasted with the public exercise in persuasion, strong resentment of the pessimism coloring many interpretations of the assault comes out. So intense is the feeling that it suggests a crisis of confidence as between the news media and the administration. The reporting out of Vietnam distorts the facts and lends credence to the gloom of the critics of the war; this is the implication in the bitterness.

Of course in the first onslaught when so many hundreds, if not thousands, were wounded and cut up by Viet Cong terrorists, hospitals were so crowded that patients were lying in the halls and anywhere that space could be found. Wounded Americans who could be moved were flown to the Philippines and Okinawa. Eventually 6,000 beds were available—and the civilian wounded were given adequate hospital care.

This is the first war in modern times in which censorship of the press has not been applied. That word censorship creeps in through the cracks of intense feeling. From the practical viewpoint, however, it seems impossible since it would have to be carried out by South Vietnam, which is a sovereign nation. And American news media already—smiling and—such actions as the expulsion of Newsweek's Iverott-Martin, would certainly fight back against censorship by the South Vietnamese. (One high administration official pressed in a briefing with reporters about intelligence and other failures finally responded: "Which side are you on?")

Twice during the past two years Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey has gone to Saigon to rally opinion in Vietnam and here at home. He is seriously considering a third mission in the near future to show the ardent belief of the administration

George Wouldn't Believe It

They're all getting into the swing of it. Nearly every merchant in Twin Falls will be getting into the act this year with some ritually low priced bargains. The act, of course, is George's birthday anniversary.

And even George Washington himself wouldn't believe some of the "once-a-year-prices." For a few examples, if you get to the right store early in the day, you may be able to purchase an automobile for $25, maybe a washing machine for $5 or a vacuum cleaner for just $10.

Air Guard Being Called In Moving Supplies, Troops

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air National Guard is being called on for a heavy increase in its overseas flights to help move supplies and men as part of the latest addition to U.S. troop levels in Vietnam.

The Guard has been making an average of less than 100 overseas transport flights per month but it was disclosed Friday it will fly an additional 115 missions before the end of the month.

Both developments were seen as tied to the Pentagon's announcement early in the week that 10,500 combat troops are being sent from the United States to augment the forces in Vietnam.

District Reports School Growth

HALEY — As a result of the Iowa Educational Development text, which has been given in Class A School District No. 61 the past five years, the scholastic growth rate at Carey high school during that period of time has been 40 per cent and Wood River High School achieved a growth rate of 53 per cent.

West Coast Airline Adds Mexico Stops

Direct air service between the Pacific Northwest and major winter resort cities of Mexico will be possible upon approval by the Civil Aeronautics Board of the merger of West Coast, Bonanza and Pacific Airlines, it was announced here Saturday.

Nick Bez, president of West Coast, said the Air West members had received notice from the C.A.B. Wednesday that it is granting Bonanza operating rights to Guaymas, La Paz, Matzatan and Puerto Vallarta.

"Soon after Air West is approved by the C.A.B. through-plane service from Seattle to Puerto Vallarta will be offered," Bez said.

Search For Downed Pilot Is Abandoned

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Pentagon says a large-scale search has produced no sign of a pilot downed by Communist Chinese MIGs and has been abandoned.

The search—involving U.S. carriers, destroyers and airplanes—was for Lt. (jg.) Joseph P. Dunn whose Navy Al Skyraider was shot down when it strayed near Communist China's Hainan Island Tuesday, a Defense Department statement said.

Spokesmen would not say how close search operations were to Hainan. The Communist Chinese claim Dunn's plane and another Skyraider violated its airspace and accused the United States of "war provocations."

The Defense Department statement on the search was issued Friday after the Copying News Service published a story that the Pentagon had refused permission to the U.S. 7th Fleet to search near the Communist Red Chinese Island.

The statement did not challenge the story but said the 7th Fleet "responded with a large-scale search."

The statement said the second pilot saw Dunn parachute from the plane, and said a rescue attempt was made but failed after eight hours after Dunn went down.

"No ships had reached the scene at this time," the statement said, "and the carriers were still 10 hours from helicopter-launching position."

The statement said Vice Adm. VA F. Bringle, 7th Fleet Commander, dispatched a destroyer and several planes which were later joined by the carriers Coral Sea and Kearsarge and more destroyers.

Man Charged In Strangling Deaths Of 3

GAFFNEY, S.C. (AP)—A 30-year-old textile worker charged with the slaying of a teenage Negro girl was charged additionally today with murder in the strangulations of another girl and a woman, both white.

All three bodies were found recently hidden under brush in the country near the discovery of the body of a teenage Negro girl who was murdered in Cherokee County. The bodies were nude.

The man, Lee Roy Martin, was arrested at a textile mill in Gaffney Friday, shortly after the discovery of the body of Opal Diane Dinkson, 15, who had been kidnapped the previous Tuesday as she waited for a school bus.

Martin, married and the father of three children, was whisked to the State Department of Corrections at Columbia, the state capital.

Cherokee County police signed warrants today charging Martin with murder in the strangulation "on or about Jan. 30" of the white residents of Gaffney, Mrs. Nancy Carol Paris, 20, and Nancy Rhinehart, 14, whose bodies were discovered about five miles apart in the county on Thursday, Feb. 8.

Gem Of College Staff Is Many Faceted

MEDICAL OFFICE PRACTICE student Andrea Briggs displays her new-found knowledge to Dr. Adele Thompson and Dr. Donald Sonlus, in whose dental office she is learning medical office terminology.

DR. ADELE THOMPSON

... dean of women for the College of Southern Idaho, is one of the most versatile women in Magic Valley. Her duties are many and she fulfills them all with charm and intelligence.

REGULAR VISITS to women students such as Mary Tows, Shoshone, who reside in private homes, is one of the duties of the dean of women. Any unmarried student under 21 years of age must live in college-approved housing.

Dean Of Women Serves As "Sounding Board"

By RUTH KOONCE MILLER
Times-News Staff Writer

Dr. Adele Thompson is a woman who commands as much respect as any in Twin Falls without being stuffy about it.

She can mentally be laughing and crying with her charges, the some 650 women students at the College of Southern Idaho, but she is still a bulwark of strength to them; helping solve problems ranging from "whether to bleach my hair" to "should I move from my parents' home?"

Dr. Thompson maintains that she is not dean of women to give advice . . . "I'm here to listen." That's what is known in academic circles as a "sounding board." In other words, among Dr. Thompson's many duties, she must patiently sit and listen.

Just as often as not, however, it is the parent and not the student who has come to the dean for advice. And, just as often, such conferences are over the telephone, because parents seem to be more reluctant than their children to accept and publicize the fact they are having trouble at home.

Such conferences take place over the telephone late at night, on street corners, in the post office—just any place a parent may happen to encounter the pretty and perky dean who is assisting in molding the lives of CSI students.

These are the things that keep her busy prior to,

Miss TOPS '68 Is A Trim Lass

A television comedian recently described Joey Heatherton as "Twiggy, before the blowout." And the audience reacted with wild whistles and sounds of approval for the shapely Miss Heatherton.

There are a lot of women today who, although fighting a weight problem, wouldn't want to be a Twiggy — but they wouldn't mind looking a bit more like Joey Heatherton. They band together in groups, throughout the nation, to try and accomplish just this purpose. The groups, which have grown wildly popular in the last few years, are known as TOPS clubs.

TOPS is the shortened version of Take Off Pounds Sensibly, and the purpose of TOPS is primarily to help all the overweight who are sincerely interested in doing just that—losing pounds sensibly.

Last week a TOPS club in Twin Falls, the Nix-On-Pix Chapter, crowned its 1967 Queen. She is Barbara Jacobs, a trim lass with the "Twiggy before the blowout" look. We won't dwell on where Barbara stood in the weight bracket when she started with TOPS. The important thing is where she is now, and that's why she is the queen.

She was crowned by runner-up Roberta Dunlap at a meeting in the home of Mrs. Ralph D. Holmes, and honored with a new outfit she will wear to the state TOPS convention, a trophy, a gift, long-stemmed red roses, a tiara and a corsage.

The TOPS club success is based on the principle of group therapy, getting together those who have a common problem and discussing it frankly, without fear of being laughed at or misunderstood.

The members of the chapters compete with one another in a friendly fashion, with contests and lots of fun, while attaining their ideal weight and maintaining that weight.

The success and enthusiasm of the group provides encouragement and incentive to individuals who lack the willpower to accomplish their goal alone. TOPS is not a course of a few weeks of losing weight, but of learning to change those bad eating habits and gaining new and successful ones to follow for the rest of their lives, and at the same time gaining happiness and satisfaction.

Queen Barbara has quite a success story of her own to tell. "For Christmas of 1966," she relates, "my husband bought me a lively outfit, but when I tried on the sweater it fit like a glove. I wanted to cry, and did. Feeling bad, my husband took the sweater back and I went to a store to find something big enough for me to wear."

"While in the doctor's office with my youngest son, in February, I got on the scales. I had hit a new high. Coming home I made up my mind that I had to do something. Making a phone call to the Chamber of Commerce, I found out about my local TOPS chapter."

"I attended the next meeting with a friend who also was overweight. My folks, hearing that I had attended a meeting, urged me to join. They also gave me money to pay my first year's dues. I had no excuse not to go, now. I joined the next week."

"I have had ups and downs during the past year, but without my TOPS friends I know that I would never have made it this far. I still have 15 pounds to lose to reach my goal, but with the encouragement of my TOPS pals and family, I'll be there very soon."

"This year for Christmas my husband returned to the same store for my outfit. As he said, he didn't have to ask the clerk for the biggest size in the store, but a much smaller one. For this, I have TOPS to thank."

Also honored at the meeting were Nancy Wormsbaker and Bonnie Fry, both "three-month queens," who received gifts and corsages.

The Nix-On-Pix TOPS Chapter meets at 1:30 p.m. Tuesdays at the City Hall. Anyone who is sincerely interested in losing weight sensibly and who needs encouragement and moral support is welcome to attend the meetings and join the group.

CROWNED 1967 QUEEN of the Nix-On-Pix Chapter, TOPS Club, by runner-up Roberta Dunlap is Barbara Jacobs. She was given the title during a recent meeting at the home of Mrs. Ralph D. Holmes, and honored with a new outfit she will wear to the state TOPS convention, a trophy, a gift, long-stemmed red roses, a tiara and a corsage. Nancy Wormsbaker and Bonnie Fry were honored as three-month queens with gifts and corsages.

Women Meet At Base NCO Club

GLENNIS FERRY — Guests at the meeting of the Chapter Delta Kappa Gamma Society, in the NCO Club at the Mountain Home Air Force Base were Mrs. Eva Johnson of Glenns Ferry High School; Mrs. Ann Joseph of the Base Elementary School; Janet Lawson of Grandview schools, and Ann Marie Hart, who teaches at the Mountain Home Job Corps.

Musical selections were flute and clarinet duet by Ralph Joseph and Vincent Houston. "The art of living is the art of changing yourself," said Mrs. Beulah Edwards in her inspirational message.

A trio presenting the program on "Comparison of Avowed Values versus Practicing Values" included Mrs. Marjorie Campbell, Mrs. Lena Naillon and Mrs. Maxine Dalton. They explained how a value differs from a belief, a superstition, a prejudice, an attitude and an opinion, and states that values are the compass that gives man direction.

MR. AND MRS. MICHAEL LEE POTTER

Dana-Jo Peak, Potter Recite Nuptial Vows

JAILILEY — The wedding of Dana Jo Peak and Michael Lee Potter was solemnized Jan. 27 at the Community Baptist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Rodney Peak, Hailey, and Mrs. Dean Peak, Burley. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Van Potter, Gunnlett.

The single ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Eric Jungbauer in the presence of the family and friends of the young couple.

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. She wore a beige nubdy wool street-length dress with pale pink accessories. Her corsage was of pink rosebuds and freenched carnations.

Mrs. Michael Barker attended her sister as matron of honor. Roger Fry, brother-in-law of the bride, was best man, and Riley Peak, brother of the bride, was usher.

Mary O'Donnell was organist. A reception, following the ceremony, was held in the church annex. The bride's table was covered with white linen.

Three pink tapers flanked the three-tiered wedding cake which was decorated in pink and topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom.

The cake was cut and served by Mrs. Howard Porter, Boise, sister of the bride. Mrs. Roger Fry poured coffee, and Mrs. Kenneth Burrell poured punch.

Marle Dixon was in charge of the guest book. Mrs. Elmer Peak, Shoshone, and Mrs. Paul Whitehead, Arco, guests of the bride, assisted by Mrs. Kenneth Van-Louven, Dietrich, and Mrs. John Urgula, Shoshone, presided at the gift table.

Out-of-town guests attended from Shoshone, Gooding, Dietrich, Emmett, Arco, Boise, Wendell and Jackson, Wyo.

The couple will reside at 518 2nd Ave. N. — Hailey.

Mrs. Woodland Gives Lesson

SPRINGDALE — "Development Through Homemaking Education" was the homemaking lesson presented by Mrs. Wayne Woodland at the recent LDS Relief Society meeting.

Dinner was served by Mrs. Horace Coltrin, Mrs. O. E. Christensen, Mrs. Dewayne Clayton, Mrs. Gene Coltrin and Mrs. Wesley Hurst.

Mrs. Ralph K. West, work director, and Mrs. Clayton were in charge of the all-day work meeting.

The social relations lesson will be presented at the Tuesday meeting by Mrs. Clyde Wardle.

Rebekah, IOOF Plan Annual Pancake Supper

GOODING — Plans for the annual Rebekah and Odd Fellows pancake supper were made at the regular meeting of the Marguerite Rebekah Lodge 99, Mrs. Robert Montgomery, Mrs. Manning Patterson and Mrs. Catherine Roberts were named to a committee to assist the Odd Fellows Lodge in planning the event.

During the roll call of officers and past noble grands, all past noble grands formed a circle on the floor in recognition of the assembly president's desire to indicate that past noble grands are standing behind future officers of the lodge.

Seven sick calls were reported and it was announced that Mrs. Jack Byrum's husband was seriously ill in the Sun Valley Hospital.

Mrs. Mabel Swindig, Seattle, Wash., was accepted as an associate member, and Mrs. Montgomery read the president's letter.

Mrs. Eva Mae Moore, noble grand, asked the ways and means committee to investigate and report on ways of raising money for the president's project of improving the grounds at the Home on the Hill, Caldwell.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Doris Van Dorn, Mrs. Mary Rapp and Mrs. Betty Mink.

BOX SOCIAL HELD

Beta Sigma Phi Chapter Selects Valentine Queen

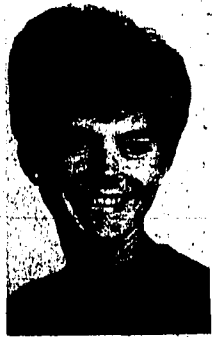

RUPERT—Mrs. Larry Duff was honored as Valentine Queen for Beta Sigma Phi Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sanders.

Members of Beta Sigma Phi Chapter and their husbands held a covered dish dinner, followed by dancing in honor of their Valentine Queen.

Mrs. Duff was announced queen by the pledges of the Beta Sigma Phi Chapter by means of a mock trial and passing of sentence. Mr. Duff presented the regal throne to his wife and she was given an engraved silver tray from the Beta Sigma Phi Chapter.

She received from her sorority sisters a sterling silver charm to signify her reign as chapter Valentine Queen and a traditional long-stemmed yellow rose.

Valentine Queen is an International Beta Sigma Phi contest sponsored each year and each chapter selects a girl to represent that chapter. Pictures of the candidates are judged by a Hollywood actor and the nation at winter's picture is the cover for official publication, "The Torch of Beta Sigma Phi."

Two Women Give Meringue Demonstration

EDEN—A demonstration was given by Mrs. Ed Bruns and Mrs. Sam Thornton on how to make "soft" meringues when members of the Happy Homemakers Club met at the home of Mrs. Lena Bruns.

Kathleen Farrell, Jerome County extension agent, was a special guest and a discussion period was held giving each member a chance to ask Miss Farrell questions.

A report was given on the installation of officers held in Jerome recently and special attention was given to an announcement made that day on the bookmobile. It was reported that the bookmobile visits Hazelton the second and fourth Tuesdays between the hours of 2 and 4 p.m. On the same day from 3:30 to 10:30 p.m. it will be parked at the Trinity Lutheran Church at Eden. Adults are urged to participate in this as well as children.

Mrs. Ernie Bushhorn and Mrs. Ray Meyerhoff were guests at the meeting. The next meeting is March 11 at the home of Mrs. Roy Coulson. It has been suggested that members meet at the Wash House in Hazelton and form a car pool for this meeting. "Ideas—With—Cheese" is the title of the lesson and will be presented by Mrs. Roy Coulson and Mrs. Curtis Romans.

Leona Hills, Bowlin Recite Nuptial Vows

HAZELTON—The Lynwood Chapel was the setting for the Jan. 12 ceremony uniting in marriage Leona Hills, daughter of Mrs. Gladys Hills, Twin Falls, and Eugene Bowlin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Bowlin, Hazelton.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. W. Winkle before a setting of blue and white carnations on white wrought iron stands.

The bride wore a pale blue gown with lace and accented with pale blue beads on the bows. Her shoulder-length veil was held by a pearl and rose with tiny pearls and sequins. She carried a circular cluster of miniature roses.

Mrs. Dwight Skelton, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Sonny Bowlin, cousin of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Dick Shaffer and Dwight Skelton. Robert Bowlin and Ronald Bowlin were the miniature bearers and bridesmaids. David Skelton and Linda Skelton were candlelighters and Susan Skelton was the flower girl. Soloist was Wayne Duncan.

The reception was held immediately after the ceremony. Reception assistance was given by Ed Lindemood and Geraldine Lindemood. Sue Bowlin, sister of the bridegroom, was in charge of the guest book and Brenda Bowlin and Carole Shaffer were in charge of the gift room.

The three-tiered cake was topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom and was decorated with blue roses and silver leaves.

The couple took a wedding trip to California and will reside in Hazelton where he is engaged in farming and the bride is employed by Sierra Life Insurance Co. as an executive secretary.

Bible Study Lesson Given

HAZELTON—Mrs. Joe Pharris presented the lesson, a Bible study on Mark, from the book, "A Member of the Company," to members of the United Presbyterian Women at a recent meeting.

Mrs. Raymond Wilson was hostess and the devotional services were led by Mrs. Alma Reinman. Mrs. Mabel Budd gave the mission yearbook of prayer service.

The next meeting is Feb. 28 at the home of Mrs. Budd.

MR. AND MRS. EUGENE BOWLIN (Davis photo)

Don Saxman Slated to Speak

FAIRFIELD—Conservation Officer Don Saxman will be featured at the February meeting of the Town and Country Christian Women's Club. Mr. Saxman will show slides taken from helicopters during the big game count in the area north of Fairfield. Some of the local sportsmen participated in the count.

The meeting will be held at 7 p.m. Feb. 28 in the American Legion Hall and will be Sweetheart Night with husbands invited. It will feature a catered ham dinner.

Ed Shaw, Caldwell, principal of the Nampa Christian High School, will be the devotional speaker. Mr. and Mrs. Shaw will provide the musical program.

Reservations must be made with Mrs. Nellie Abbott or Mrs. Earl Pearson. The event is open to the public.

Club Installs

FILER—Three new members of the Filer Civic Club were installed into the club membership at a dinner meeting at the Holiday Inn.

The three new members, Mrs. Eldon Groschans, Mrs. Rod Berry and Mrs. Grant Hall, were presented corsages.

The club's constitution and by-laws were amended to make the club's working year correspond with the year of the county home extension service.

Fred Baugh Shows Slides For Epsilon Sigma Alpha

The February business meeting of Alpha Nu Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Baugh and was presided over by Mrs. Maurice Fuller and Mrs. Leo McFarland to serve on a committee to look into a philanthropic project which the group can work towards under the Gold Strike group savings plan set for Feb. 21. This will be the social meeting for February.

Mrs. Feeler reminded members to be sure to get their ducks to her for the duck dinner. Mrs. Dwin Clark and Mrs. McFarland were asked to investigate the plans and cost of materials for building a playhouse for the members volunteered to serve as leaders in the Easter Seal Parade.

Mrs. Feeler reminded members to be sure to get their ducks to her for the duck dinner. Mrs. Dwin Clark and Mrs. McFarland were asked to investigate the plans and cost of materials for building a playhouse for the members volunteered to serve as leaders in the Easter Seal Parade.

There were also a number of slides of birds of the wild animals, birds and fish found on the Sawtooth National Forest. Mrs. Jay Moyle asked for a record of philanthropic hours for each of the members and reported on the previous month's birthday parties at Hazel Dell and Sky View Manor.

Mrs. Dick Johnson, president, Lesson Given

SPRINGDALE—Mrs. Marjorie Jones gave the lesson, "Landscaping the Home Grounds," at the Happy Homemakers Extension Club meeting held recently at the home of Mrs. M. H. Manning, Springdale.

Mrs. Wilmoth Daddow was a guest. Mrs. Harvey Freestone received a special prize. Plans were completed for club members to conduct the Heart Fund drive during February.

Mrs. Jones is hostess for the March meeting. Ann Jean Scholer, county extension agent, will give the lesson, "Measure Up For Best Fit."

Duties Aplenty Go With Title Dean Of Women

All in all though, the College of Southern Idaho has been fortunate in the basic lack of serious student problems which have cropped up during its two years.

Because the college has no campus, and as such, no official student housing, the dean of women must help find acceptable housing for out-of-town students.

This takes up most of her afternoons. Besides finding acceptable housing, she must periodically check each residence to make sure that the girls are still living there, that there are suitable proper surroundings, and just generally checking into the girls' welfare.

While Dr. Thompson obtains housing for both men and women students, it is understandably, the girls who have the strictest rules and regulations.

No women students are allowed to have private entrances, for instance. Supervision of the many living establishments, scattered all over Twin Falls, extends to men and women students not being allowed in each other's rooms.

This college approved housing is for students under 21 years of age who do not reside at home.

After Dr. Thompson and other members of the staff council students prior to enrollment and find them a place to live, the work is not over. Upwards of 90 per cent of the CSI students are employed, either on a part or full time basis, and this is part of the dean of women's job.

The college makes every effort to place students in jobs. Often a job makes the difference in whether a student can continue his education.

Dr. Thompson is quick to point out that the company she is working for is remarkably well in providing jobs for students, just as they have housing.

After a full day at the office and inspecting housing units, Dr. Thompson teaches classes at night. She instructs two typing courses, a medical business practice course and medical office classes.

As dean of women, Dr. Thompson is the official hostess for college functions. She presides at teas, dances and other social activities, and with a warm and exceptional good-humor.

Part of her responsibility at social and other functions includes scheduling and approving extra-curricular activities. A large wall calendar in her office is her working "Bible." Each college function must be registered with her office, be approved and supervision assigned.

As dean of women, she will become more and more the center of femininity in Magic Valley and will be looked up to not only by CSI students, but by her peers.

Dr. Adele Thompson is a woman who well deserves this respect and admiration. She wears it as well as her attractive clothes. She's never without a smile, can converse (in a Southern accent) on any number of subjects, and, it goes without saying, that she is well educated.

Coffee Hour Set Wednesday

BUHL — Mrs. Josephine Gilne has been elected as a new member of the Camp Fire Girls council to represent the Buhl area. Mrs. Otto Dolar is a committee member.

There will be a coffee hour at 2 p.m. Wednesday at the Buhl R Cafe Banquet Room. Mrs. V. A. Vanderhark and Mrs. Dorothy Peavey will be present from the Twin Falls Council.

New groups are to be formed in the third, fourth and fifth grades. Camp Fire has taken on a new horizon to include the junior miss. Mothers interested in having their daughters in the new groups are asked to attend the coffee hour.

Rebekahs Set District Meet

Plans for a district meeting to be held Feb. 24 in Ellier were made at a meeting of the Princess Rebekah Lodge No. 76.

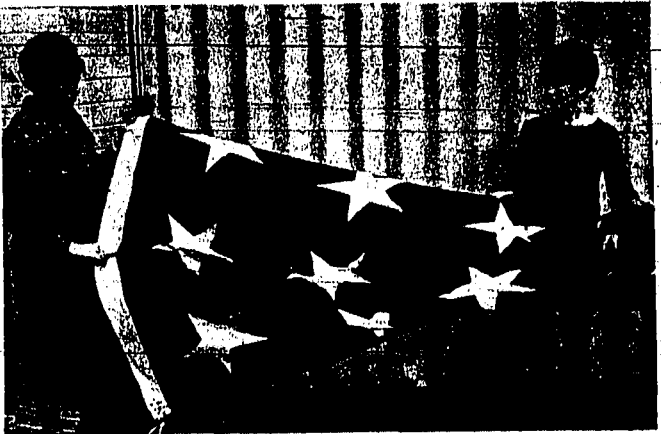

Mrs. Georgia Martin, Mrs. Dale Bowman and Mrs. Wilford Benedict were appointed to the program committee for the district event.

Mrs. Alice Shiffler, right support to the vice grand, and Mrs. Guy Cleveland, inside guard, were installed by Mrs. H. O. Widener, lodge deputy.

All officers read the duties of their posts under the leadership of Mrs. Widener.

Mrs. Bernice Lambert, noble grand, conducted a Valentine game. Mrs. Robert McCracken, chairman, Mrs. Geneva Baird and Myrtle Anderson served refreshments which carried out a Valentine motif.

The next meeting will be Tuesday at the IOOF Hall.

DISPLAYING A HUGE U.S. Flag that will adorn the west wall of the LDS Stake Cultural Hall for the Stake Gold and Green Hall Arp. In top picture, Karen Cole, left, and Peggy McRide. The flag is 20 feet, 8 inches wide and 37 feet and 9/16 inches long. The poster announcing an old-fashioned floor show is shown by, from left, Wilita Bishop, Karln Barus and Evonne Halladay. The ball is set for 9 p.m. Feb. 24 at the LDS Stakehouse on Maurice Street. Theme for the event is "Born Free." Music for dancing will be furnished by the Dale Platt Orchestra. The floor show will include a male quartet, Jay Smith, Darrell Glenn, Bill Jacobson and Howard Kinger, singing the theme song; patriotic guitar duets by Kathy Christensen and Wayne Forey; and a girls' drill team from the Fifth Ward. A contest between the 14 wards will be held to see which one has the best attendance, with the bishop being named "Bishop of the Month." Two surprise numbers will be featured during the floor show.

Dual Theme Used For Area Lihoma Party

BUHL — A dual theme, "The Sweethart Tree" and "Getting to Know you," was used when the Lihoma girls of the Buhl First Ward LDS Primary held their annual Daddy-Daughter party in the Cultural Hall.

The hall was decorated with life-size silhouettes of a father and daughter beside a large tree festooned with red hearts. A small palm tree encircled with tiny red hearts was center stage. The tables were decorated with large red hearts and floral sprays.

A turkey dinner was served to the girls and their fathers and special guests, following the instruction of Mrs. Earl Leatham, Lihoma counselor. Mrs. Randall Stewart, Caynata teacher, was in charge of the entertainment. The dinner was under the direction of Mrs. Fay Hunt, Firelight teacher, and Mrs. Wendell Watson, Merriland teacher was in charge of the decorations. The dinner was served by the Mia Maids of the MIA.

CLASS PRESENTS PROGRAM CASTLEFORD — Mrs. James LaGrone's speech class presented the program for the FAS Sewing Club at the home of Mrs. LaGrone. Humorous readings were given by Kay Wing, Kay Lyn Murphy and Janet Johnson. A dramatic reading was given by Lisa Kinyon. Linda Barinaga gave a talk on FHA goals.

vacation by Janeen Hutchinson. After the dinner, a program was presented with the Lihoma girls singing. A tribute to fathers was given by Julie Brown. Mrs. Laura Hunt sang "The Sweethart Tree." Bert Welster spoke for the fathers giving a special tribute to daughters.

Gandy Wilson of the Caynata class, Chris Baggett of the Firelight class, and Kalyan Montgomery of the Merriland class spoke on the awards and trophies they earn each year in preparation for graduation from Primary. Mrs. Evelyn Hales, Primary president, commented on Primary activities. The program was concluded with group singing, led by Mrs. Maxine Wilson, with Kathy Watson at the piano. The benediction was given by Bishop Don Watson.

The party was under the di-

Three Needed

BUHL — The Ellier area now has four Blue Bird and Camp Fire Girls groups, but three more leaders are needed for additional groups which could be formed if 10 leaders were found for them.

Each leader is only allowed ten girls per group and there are still a number of interested little girls who will not be able to participate in the program unless volunteer leaders are found, according to Mrs. Jack Steelsmith, area chairman.

Leaders are needed for a second grade group, third grade group and a fifth grade unit. Organizations to sponsor the new groups are also needed. Anyone interested should contact Mrs. Steelsmith.

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: I am an unmarried woman with a problem dark hair on her legs should I can't confide to anyone. I have to "beg" her mother to think I am in love with my 16, her shave it off. After all, chance I get, just to look at his face to shave, he doesn't him and listen to him. He is have to "beg" his mother to let married and has a fine family him shave, does he?
 I know there is no hope for me, but I can't help the way I feel about him. I don't want to give up going to church, but I'm afraid if I keep going there I shall not be able to hide my feelings much longer. What should I do?
 CHURCH MOUSE

DEAR CHURCH: (You are one reader I am not going to send to your clergyman.) What you feel is not "love." It's a combination of respect, gratitude, admiration, and devotion with a penchant for fantasizing. Look for a nice single man in whom you can develop an interest, and regard your pastor as a spiritual leader and a good friend.

DEAR ABBY: Every year my husband gives a "birthday party" for Ruby, his first wife who has been dead for 12 years now. All their old friends are invited and they have a regular party for "Ruby"—food, drinks, birthday cake, and everything. Then they all go out to the cemetery to "talk" to Ruby and leave her a piece of birthday cake. I have no objections to my husband visiting Ruby's grave on her birthday, or any other day, but this "birthday party" really gets me. I've gone to two. Do I have to go to any more? And what do you think of such parties? WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: I think your husband is digging pretty deep to find an excuse to give a party. You don't have to go to these parties unless you want to. And neither does anyone else.

DEAR ABBY: I have a 6-year-old son and I think there is something wrong with him. Mentally, I mean. He does terrible things, just to provoke me, and when I give him a good spanking he seems to enjoy it. It's almost as though he can't get enough of a "beating." The harder I hit him the better he likes it.
 Abby, I am at the end of my rope with this kid and I have had some pretty terrifying impulses. Please, please tell me what to do. My husband doesn't believe in head doctors, but I'm afraid our boy needs one. He just isn't normal.
NO NAME, PLS.

DEAR NO NAME: Ask your pediatrician what he thinks of your son's behavior, then follow his recommendation. People who don't "believe" in head doctors usually need them most.

Gruebner Takes Win In Tennis Meet

SALISBURY, Md. (AP)—Fourth-seeded Clark Gruebner upset defending champion Charles Pasarell and third-seeded Cliff Richey easily eliminated surprise semi-finalist Stan Smith in the U.S. National Indoor Tennis Championships Saturday.

Gruebner, 26, defeated Pasarell, 16, 6-4, 6-4, 6-3.

Richey, 28, upset Smith 7-5, 12-10, 6-3. Smith, the nation's seventh-ranked player from Pasadena, Calif., had used a booming serve to upset second-seeded Arthur Ashe Friday.

Richey, ranked No. 3 in the U.S., was the master with his strokes, his retrieving and placements, and only once in the last two sets was he at a disadvantage while serving.

Gruebner, the fourth seed from Beckwood, Ohio, seldom scored points against Pasarell's service but three sudden serves broke provided the margin of victory in an afternoon match.

Bell Leads

PARK CITY, Utah (AP)—Danny Bell of Sun Valley, Idaho, established himself as the man to beat Saturday during first round competition of the Intermountain Division of the United States Ski Association's Junior plant slalom derby.

Bell broke to a 1:19.8 clocking over the one-mile course.

In the girls division, Jane Bales of Cranford, N.J., and Keavert of the Jackson Hole Ski Club tied with times of 1:28.5.

Blackfoot Is 71-52 Winner Over Burley

BLACKFOOT (AP)—Burley's Bobcats went down in defeat at the hands of the Blackfoot Broncos Saturday night, 71-52.

Mike Rose collected 29 points for the Blackfoot squad, followed by Slim Dennis, Ed Brown, 18, Bobcats LeRoy Fink and Ron Russell shared the shooting honors for Burley with 10 apiece.

The Broncos took the tip-off and ricked up four points before the Bobcats got to the field goal. Blackfoot chalked up a 14-2 lead with just over four and one-half minutes to play in the first quarter.

The Bobcats rallied, however, and as the period ended, they trailed the Broncos only 24-16.

The Blackfoot squad claimed a 22-point lead for a few seconds during the second frame, but Burley closed the gap somewhat by the end of the period.

Burley outscored the Broncos in the third period, but at no time during that quarter were the Bobcats able to come closer than 14 points.

Two U.S. Runners Set Records

MOSCOW (AP)—Two United States youngsters scamped 50 meters on a board track Saturday night faster than they ever had before.

The youngsters were competing in an international indoor track meet with 10 countries represented.

Bill Gains, a 19-year-old high school senior, ripped through the distance in 5.4 seconds, clipping one-tenth of a second off his previous best effort for men.

A few moments later Barbara Forrell, 20-year, old junior at California State College at Los Angeles, did it in six seconds.

That was one-tenth of a second faster than any other woman had done before.

The meet is a two-day affair, and more than 4,000 spectators watched the opening events.

Other countries represented were Canada, Norway, Hungary, Finland, Czechoslovakia, Poland, Rumania and Bulgaria.

ROYALS NIP BULLETS. CINCINNATI (AP)—Oscar Robertson, who suffered one of his worst shooting nights in his career, still won the game with two seconds left to give Cincinnati a 117-115 victory over Baltimore in a National Basketball Association game Saturday night.

OAKLEY—The Oakley Hornets wrapped up the Magic Valley Conference basketball championship by downing the Castleford Wolves 91-52 Friday night.

The Hornets, coming out of the playoffs with a 10-2 record, scattered Castleford an early four-point lead but came back to register a 14-8 margin. After that Coach Gary Smith's charges pulled off a 12-point margin and stayed about that level throughout the night.

Oakley's best effort came in the second period when Rufan Tolman and Kim Martindale sparked the Hornets to a 20-point quarter. They carried the Hornets into a 34-21 game and Oakley, with Don Craner joining in double-figure shooting, matched baskets on it.

After paced Castleford with 15 points, two more than Ed Khyon, Oakley won the first game 47-27.

MADARIETA Leads Pirates Past Mushers

FAIRFIELD—Pocahontas Madarieta pumped through 18 points in the final period Friday night to lead the Hagerman Pirates past the Camas County Mushers 79-64.

Hagerman (six) early led the Mushers but the Pirates scored a 36-33 lead at the end of the first half.

The Mushers were able to keep their lead until the final period, as the Pirates started converting their free throws to pull out the win.

GLENNS FERRY Rallies To Drop Valley

EDEN-HAZELTON—The Glens Ferry Pilots, after falling behind 16-5 at the end of the first period, fought back to drop the Valley Vikings 64-55 Friday night.

The Vikings started out hot but the Pilots turned a man-to-man defense, but they edged to a zone defense and Valley was stopped.

Glens Ferry took a 20-28 edge at the end of the first half and maintained the lead from then on.

MURTAUGH IS 67-46 Winner Over Hansens

MURTAUGH—The Murtaugh Red Devils, putting nine men in the scoring column, strode past the Hansens Huskies 67-46 Friday night in a non-conference game.

Murtaugh hit the first two points of the game but there was no hope for an upset. By the end of the first period Murtaugh was on top 28-17 and by halftime it was 52-17.

KNUDSON Leads In Phoenix Open

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Geoffrey Knudson, his now weightlifting program seemingly paying off, shot an one-under-par 70 Saturday to ward off a covey of challengers and carry a one-stroke lead into Sunday's final round of the $100,000 Phoenix Open Golf Tournament.

Knudson, 31, Toronto, Canada, who appeared to have lost some of his Friday putting touch, collected one bogey and only two birdies to finish with a 6-hole total of 87-84-70-70.

The pace, was Tommy Shaw of the Golf, Inc. who shot a two-under-par 68 Saturday to remain where he was at the start of third round play.

DONNELLEY IS T.F. Athletic Director

BOB DONNELLEY, head wrestling and assistant football coach at Capital High School of Boise, has been named athletic director-physical education coordinator for the Twin Falls school district.

Dr. Ernest England, superintendent of Class A school district No. 411, said the local school board and Donnelley reached agreement Friday. The contract followed a rather whirlwind courtship between the two, Donnelley making application just over a week ago and impressing the board during an interview Monday night.

"We believe we have a very fine, energetic young man in Mr. Donnelley and his ideas of establishing a program throughout our school system, including the elementary schools," Dr. England said.

Donnelley will work out of the high school, where he will be athletic director without any coaching duties.

"I'm really eager to get started. I think it is a great opportunity," says Mr. Donnelley, who was in Twin Falls during the weekend with the Capital wrestling team.

Athletic programs have been a hobby of Donnelley's for years, the 34-year-old having studied and discussed many of the most successful in the nation with the people in charge of them. "I feel strongly about a physical education program from grades one through 12," he said. "My first duty here will be to learn about the personnel, facilities and the program as it exists. After that I will be able to see how to incorporate new ideas into the program and places for expansion."

Donnelley graduated from Boise Junior College and the University of Idaho but after school went into the sporting goods business in Spokane for a few years. He received a physical education assignment at South Junior High School in Boise and spent 10 years in the system, eventually graduating to varsity sports at Capital.

He is married and has three children, two sons, Pat and Mike, and one daughter, Katie. "We go Irish all the way," he smiled.

BOB DONNELLEY is the new athletic director-district physical education director for the Twin Falls school district. Currently wrestling and assistant football coach at Capital High School of Boise, Donnelley's first assignment will be to help in selecting the new Bruin football coach.

BLISS—Leon Ballard and Randy Lee combined Friday night for 49 points to shoot the rallying Dietrich Blue Devils past the Bliss Bears 68-59 and into their third straight Northside Conference championship.

Bliss gave the Blue Devils some hard minutes over the first three quarters and generally held a slight edge. But Dietrich came up with 21 points in the third quarter to take the lead and the Devils held it from then on.

Jim Robbiner enjoyed a good shooting night at the outset as Bliss managed a four-point lead at the end of the first quarter and pushed that to five by halftime.

Dietrich made several bids for the lead in the opening minutes of the third quarter but didn't move ahead until about a minute and a half remained in the period. In its last 90 seconds, the Devils moved in front by eight.

Lee wound up with 20 points while Ballard gunned through 20. Robbiner hit 22 for Bliss.

Dietrich won the first game 67-33.

CAREY HOLDS OFF TIGERS, Wins 54-50

CAREY—The Carey Panthers had to fight off a hard scrapping Richfield team to pull out a 54-50 win over the Tigers Friday night.

The Panthers moved in front early in the game, and widened to 29-20 at halftime.

Carey pulled even further ahead in the third period, and once had a lead of 15 points before the Tigers started to dig back, but the Panthers were able to pull out the win with the use of free throws.

The preliminary was won by the Carey Jaycees 42-28.

T.F. Golfers Set Opening Tournaments

Members of the Twin Falls Golf Association set up their opening tournaments at a tee-off dance during their first meeting last week.

The competition will begin with the spring basket ball tournament, those entering having until March 31 to qualify. The matches will start April 2 and must be completed by May 1.

The first medal play meet will have its first round May 30 and second round June 2.

The tee-off dance is slated for April 6 at the Elks building.

Officers for the year are Ken Harbert, president; James McCord, first vice president; George Merritt, second vice president; Weldon Haskins, secretary-treasurer; and Bob Fisk and Clyde Thomson, board members.

Committee chairman are George Merritt, handicap chairman; Jim McCord, hole-in-one; Vern Parkin, entertainment; Bob Fisk, social activities; Thomson and John Leinen, public relations; Merritt, McCord and Thomson, tournament chairman; and Harbert, Haskins, Scotch ball chairman, and Ray Wright, nine-hole boards.

The first association meeting will be held March 13 at the municipal club house.

BURLEY—Still smarting from a lopsided defeat a month ago, the Burley Bobcats turned spoiler Friday night and defeated the Minico Spartans 66-55.

The result, which only adds to the legend of this cross-hair grudge series, toppled Minico out of sole possession of the Eastern Idaho Conference but Coach Les Roh's crew still will share it with the Bonnaville Blues.

Minico, although putting four men into double scoring figures, did not shoot well although Burley did a better defense job than last time when the Bobcats felt 68-48. Meanwhile, Ron Russell had his best scoring night of the year, canning 41 points and sharing point honors with teammate LeRoy Fink.

Burley stormed into a 17-8 lead in the first quarter as Minico had trouble finding the range. By halftime Coach Kulton Budget's Bobcats had a 40-point cushion and extended that to 18 points in the third quarter.

Burley also took the first game.

GLENNS FERRY Drops Winless Buhl 79-66

GLENNS FERRY—The Glens Ferry Pilots defeated the winless Buhl Indians 79-66 Saturday night as both squads fluffed out its regular season play.

Glens Ferry jumped out in front, early in the game and had no trouble after that as the Buhl squad lost its 18th straight game.

The preliminary was won by the Glens Ferry Jaycees 66-31.

VANDY PINS THIRD DEFEAT ON VOLS

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Ninth-ranked Vanderbilt, hitting 52 per cent on field goals, handed seventh-ranked Tennessee its third consecutive loss, 75-63, and made the four-team Southeastern Conference basketball race even tighter Saturday.

Battling Tennessee on even terms on the hardwood, Vandy jumped out front early in the first half and its fast break put more points on the board than Tennessee did with its disciplined offense.

Bill Justus scored 21 for Tennessee, but Coach Tom Boerwinkle fouled out with 36 minutes left and Vandy leading by 12 points—a major factor. Vandy quickly moved to a 68-51 lead.

During three first-half spurts, Vandy outscored Tennessee a total of 22-7 and led at halftime 32-28.

Tecateño, Teton Win State Mat Titles

Twin Falls Shares Class A Second Spot; Ruddles Is Only Area Champion

A brother act of sophomore Billy Caccia and three-time champion John Caccia and Ron Keller got the crucial points Saturday night that lifted the Tecateño Indians to the 1968 Idaho State Class A wrestling championship while Teton of Teton County took the Class B title almost unopposed.

Billy Caccia came from behind with a reversal in the last 10 seconds to defeat Twin Falls' Vic Stone in the 99-pound class. The match was pivotal since Twin Falls was leading at the time. Keller nailed down third place and added a bonus point to deadlock the score and the older Caccia then, fittingly, finished up by scoring the 157-pound and accounting for the decisive points. John Caccia ended his career with 67 straight victories.

Meanwhile, Snake River, with Randy Jones repeating as state title, got the points and deadlock Twin Falls for second place at 42. Twin Falls, which wasn't supposed to win its own district meet, didn't win any of four matches Saturday night but still pulled its first ornamental hardware out of the tournament.

In the Class B division, Middleton nailed down second place with 75 points while defending champion Parma had a big night and wound up third with 68. Declin picked up 27 points during the final session to clinch fourth with 41.

Eagles Drop Weber, Bow To Eastern Utah

The College of Southern Idaho Golden Eagles pulled away midway through the final half Saturday night to defeat the Weber State frosh 72-0 and gain a split of a weekend swing into Utah. Twin Falls' three runners-up in Dean Qualls and Logan Hazen, each of whom were defeated by one point in the finals, and junior Mike Buckendorf, who met the defending champion, only one Class B area member made the finals, O. Parkison taking second place at 183 pounds.

City Junior Bowl Champs Are Crowned

Six junior bowling teams were crowned Saturday in the third annual Twin Falls city tournament at the Bowladrome. The tournament is for three-man teams, run on a handicap basis, reports Arnold DePaul, meet director. Each of the top series bowlers in the six divisions received a trophy as did the winning teams.

Wood River Topples Kimberly 66-49

The Wood River Wolverines used their quickness and an alert zone defense to topple the Kimberly Bulldogs 66-49 Friday night. The taller Kimberly team pulled down the biggest share of the rebounds, but they could not penetrate the Wolverines' defense, as Wood River took advantage of hand passes by the Bulldogs to use a fast break and lay in two points.

Rockland Takes Win Over Hansen

The Rockland Bulldogs handed the Hansen Huskies a 66-36 loss Saturday night. The Huskies have completed three straight seasons without winning one game. Rockland moved out in front early in the game and had no trouble after that.

Idaho Skiers Dominate Meet

Idaho skiers dominated the Freer International Slalom Tournament Saturday. ## Utah Staters Rap Colorado State 96-75

LOGAN, Utah (AP) — Jimmy Smith and Shaler Hallman led high-scoring Utah State to a 96-75 intercollegiate basketball victory over Colorado State Saturday night. Utah State jumped out to a 42-22 halftime lead and increased it to 26 points, 70-50, with 5:30 to go. CSU never threatened.

Columbia Dumps Harvard 115-56

NEW YORK (AP) — The backcourt combination of Heywood Dotson and Bill Ames led nationally sixth-ranked Columbia to a 115-56 basketball rout of Harvard Saturday night. The victory was the 13th straight for the Lions and kept them first place in the Ivy League, each at 9-1. Columbia is 17-3 for the season. Harvard is 4-12.

Minnesota Ties With St. Louis

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Minnesota had to settle for a 2-2 tie with St. Louis Saturday night, still regained sole possession of second place in the West Division of the National Hockey League. Wayne Connolly's two goals gave the North Stars a 2-0 lead over the Blues before the game was half gone. But St. Louis battled back to tie it 2-2 at 2:08 of the third period.

Magic Valley Educators Plan Meet Here Tuesday

School administration subjects will be discussed when an estimated 85 Magic Valley school officials gather at the Rogerson Hotel next Tuesday.

Topics featured will be merit pay, trustee responsibility, school formulas, teacher qualifications and the recent Idaho task force for education studies completed in valley schools.

Speakers will be Walter Gillis, principal of the Barrington Consolidated High School at Barrington, Ill.; Dr. Robert Shive, professor of education administration at the University of Idaho; Harold Farley, assistant superintendent of public instruction of Idaho, and Zane Harrison, president of the Idaho School Trustees' Association.

The Barrington school system has had a merit system for teacher's salaries during the last 10 years; it was reported.

An evening banquet for the trustees, superintendents and wives will follow the day meeting. Dr. James Taylor, president of the College of Southern Idaho, will be the banquet speaker. Entertainment will be furnished by members of the "Sound of Music" cast.

After the banquet, the group will be guests of the CSI basketball game. The local college will host Northern Idaho Junior College.

This meeting is one of six such workshop sessions being presented to Idaho school trustees. The purpose is to bring information to local school boards to help trustees develop better learning and teaching techniques for students.

Settles Dispute.

TACOMA, Wash. (AP) — The Tacoma Human Relations Commission tried to settle an alleged case of job discrimination by bringing the female complainant and her employer together.

She said she had been discriminated against. The employer said the woman was not producing and should be fired.

The case was resolved, Commissioner Myron Taylor said, when the employer sold his drive-in restaurant to the woman.

Ketchum City Council To Meet

KEYTCHUM — The City Council has a busy evening mapped out when they meet next Monday at the City Hall.

A revised agreement between the Sun-Valley National Association and the city regarding condominium development adjacent to the new school will be discussed.

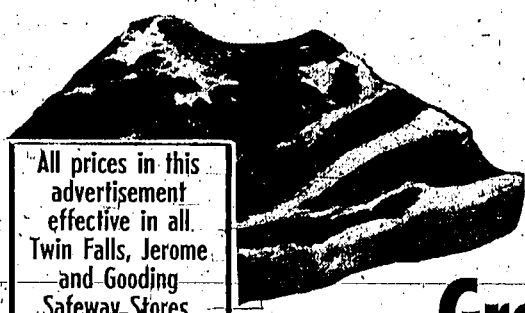

Robert Vernon and Earl Hargraves of the Idaho Power Co. will discuss the street lighting contract with the city. The City Attorney will report on progress of the sewer project. A discussion will be held on police car bids.

The proposed budget for 1968 will be presented.

a way with words

Have you ever given any thought to the phenomenon of scented toilet paper? What good does it do?

Behind every successful man is an astonished mother-in-law.

A youthful figure is something you get when you ask a woman her age.

Every man is self-made, but only the successful ones admit it.

It seems that the gate broke down between Heaven and Hell and St. Peter appeared at the broken part of the gate and called out to the Devil:

"Hey, Satan, it's your turn to fix it this time."

"Sorry, sir," replied the boss of the land beyond the Styx. "My men are too busy to worry about a broken gate."

"Well, then," growled St. Peter, "I'll have to sue you for breaking our agreement."

"Yeah," said the devil, "and where will you get a lawyer?"

And just so the other professional men in town don't feel slighted, did you hear about the clever bouncer who sent the doctor, with the beautiful wife, a bushel of apples?

Ever wondered why after dinner speaking is an avocation monopolized by men? Simple. Women can't wait that long!

A football game is a contest where a spectator takes four quarters to finish a fifth.

A psychiatrist once observed a patient through the crack in his office door. The patient was waiting to get in for consultation, and the doctor often observed his patients this way, to get an idea of how they acted when no one was around. As the psychiatrist watched the man took out a tobacco pouch and opened it. It was filled with pipe tobacco which the man began to stuff in his nose. After his nose was fully packed with the tobacco the psychiatrist couldn't stand it any longer and burst into the room and said, "Can I help you?"

And the man looked up with a pleasant expression on his face and said, "Yes, do you have a light?"

Did you hear about the Texan that was bragging that Texas has the largest of everything . . . even out-houses. And the man listening to him said, "In Texas you need them."

Two mothers talking: "It's really none of my business but have you noticed what your daughter is up to?"

"Why no. What is it?"

"She's knitting tiny garments."

"Well, thank goodness. I'm glad to see she's taken an interest in something besides running around with boys."

An anatomy is something that everybody has, but it looks better on a girl.

Did you hear about the little boy who told his teacher, "Teacher, the stork came to our house last night." And the teacher replied, "That's wonderful, was it a boy or a girl." And the youngster said, "I don't know, but we've got it chained to the porch and if it lays an egg I'll let you know."

Young people are smarter today than they were 20 or 30 years ago. Smarter in a hundred ways. They are exposed to more and therefore become much more aware of the world and its ways. One young man at a dance came up with the perfect comeback after being slighted by a 16-year-old girl one year his senior. The boy had asked the girl to dance, and the girl said, "I'm sorry I won't dance with a child." And the boy to his eternal credit said, "I'm sorry, I didn't know your condition."

A telling cartoon in the "New Yorker" this week shows three middle-aged women sitting in a comfortable home sipping tea or coffee, obviously well-off, and the caption reads, "I'm sure the young Eisenhower boy and that Nixon girl don't smoke anything strange."

And in our never ending search for the perfect gift we have come up with still another bargain so wonderful that you can't afford to pass it up. From "Hunting World, New York," you can buy, and we quote: "The Ostrich Egg, super-sized edition of nature's most perfect shape. The most 'in' ornament you can find. Average 5 1/2 x 4 1/2 inches, on hand, turned, polished rosewood base, $32.95. And don't forget to include $1.25 postage." Hurry, the supply is limited. After all how much can we expect from an ostrich?

And finally, how many of us have wanted to do something just like this . . . and how much satisfaction it would give. An old retired sailor paid a boy a dime to knock on his door early each morning and shout, "The skipper wants to see you immediately!" And the boy would then leave and be on his way as the loud voice of the sailor roared out, "Tell the skipper to go to hell!"

Twin Falls Times-News A-1

SNOWMOBILING is an enjoyment sport. The surrounding and the beauty of nature are constantly changing as you move up and down and across vast meadows covered with snow. It is nearly effortless, and being so appeals to young and old.

Tough Machine Gets Snow Job

Snowmobile Fun Suits Old And Young Alike

By JAN A. SAINSBURY

Times-News Feature Editor

In the summer the cry from the purists who insist that man was meant to walk through the woods and not ride on gas-engined, cleat-tired, chain-driven trail cycles, can be heard through the hills of Idaho. And now that it's winter, all that has stopped? Not on your life.

The present cry of protest from the purists, who have their extremely good points, concerns snowmobiles, those gas-powered, belt-driven, mechanical snowshoes that cut up miles after mile of placid snow-covered countryside, and leave behind them a two-foot wide depression in an otherwise smooth scene.

In a word, the trail-cycle, snowmobile enthusiasts call their means of travel "progress." The outdoor purists believe that they are prostituting nature, and stealing from the outdoorsman his last vestige of sanctuary.

One avid trailwalker, a n.d. mountain climber, and his partner in climb, yell with joy at the sight of a busted clutch handle from a trail cycle, or the shattered chain from a two-cycle terror. The same feeling is found in the winter when the backwoods buff sees a snowmobile embedded hopelessly in drift, lying on its side with a ball of snow in its track, like a hockey player who had swallowed the puck.

But the snowmobilers have their points . . . most of them involving a great amount of fun. Riding a snowmobile is an exciting experience that is difficult to describe because of the unusual sensation it gives. It is not as fast as skiing for the most part, but you can travel uphill nearly as fast as you can travel downhill. You can get to nearly any place you choose without bothering anyone else, and without the need of a lift or tow. But without gas and oil and an engine-in-good-repair-a-snowmobile can't sail effortlessly down the hill like a skier. Without power it is stuck and nearly immovable. It costs more than some activities—for a new snowmobile you can pay from $750 to $1500 for an average machine. Refinements cost more.

Still the lure of snowmobiling is nearly overpowering, once you have ridden on one for any length of time. This writer drove a large snowmobile for one full day recently at Ketchum, during the Annual Ketchum Snowmobile Rally. There were many entries in many races and the event was as exciting as any other kind of race. They have their own language and their own way of doing things when it comes to snowmobiling. And for those who might be interested in trying the sport a few points may be in order.

The fantastic growth of the young sport has left a few with an expression of disbelief on their faces. Most of us remember when the word snowmobile was first used not many years ago and when hardly anyone had seen a snowmobile. Today there are 31 snowmobile manufacturers and 120,000 machines were sold in 1967, with 100,000 projected for this year. Two years ago only 50,000 were bought . . . and not even skiing has enjoyed such a fast growth.

New clubs have formed, and are forming all the time. The sport is popular in every section of the country. Members take part in organized rallies, jamborees, safaris, snow festivals, track races, cross-country races, and regional and championship races. Even snowmobile polo is starting to find enthusiastic interest where fields 200 yards by 100 yards are used with goals at both ends. Eight snowmobilers participate with four on each side. And the rules are being formalized this year.

"Snow Goer" is a magazine devoted to snowmobiling fans. And one firm predicts an excess of one million machines and five million organized fans in the next few years.

For the nature-loving purist who doesn't want his pretty smooth slopes marked up by the tracks of mechanized man, his days are numbered. For the average man, who doesn't care about "pure nature," snowmobiling is one way of getting away for the weekend, even if "away" is where the furist doesn't want him to be.

It, like other sports, is also dangerous.

Last month two young men left McCall with snowmobiles and soon were reported oversteer and believed lost in a raging through the mountains and the South Fork of the Salmon River watershed. Search teams were formed and one of the youths was found dead, and the search abandoned after all hope that his companion was alive was gone.

The danger comes in taking a snowmobile into an area where one cannot get out in case of failure without snowshoes and warm clothing. The machine can get you in too deep before you even realize it's cold.

The buddy system is recommended, but a violation of it can lead to certain trouble in a cold, wind-swept, snowy area.

Using a snowmobile, Dale Barwood, district conservation officer of the Department, went out from Fulmer Park beyond the huge sand dunes and ran a line of colored flags on poles along the Juniper foothills. He passed the word that beyond the line of foothills for people. The big game herds would stay to their side of the winter range, and snowmobiles must not cross over the line.

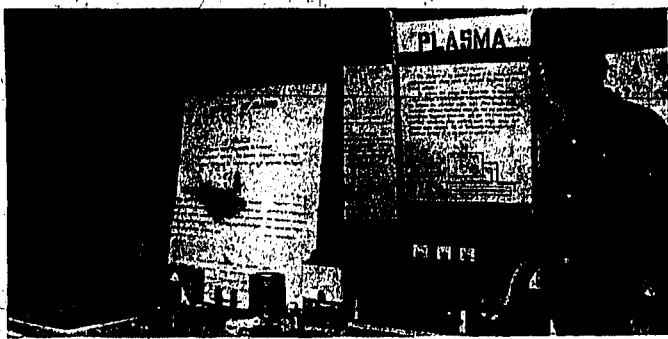

He said later that the winter enthusiasts shouldered the responsibility and did much to help build a good image by practicing courtesy and safety in snowmobile driving in town and country alike. The reason for the action was obvious, "big game animals are spooky now and begin to move out when they see a line of machine approaching, even though it may be as much as a mile off. When spooked, they burn more energy, and cow elk and moose, and doe deer are getting heavy with calves and fawns and too much of a stress could mean to them or their young too soon, or weaken calves and fawns so much that death claims too many of them."

Some states have passed regulatory laws to curb snowmobile activities, sometimes drastically. It is true of many Canadian provinces also. Minnesota probably has the most extensive controls, including registration fees. Several other states have laws with provisions similar to those in Idaho. Among these other states are Nevada, Alaska, California, Nebraska, Wyoming, Montana and Oklahoma.

SEVERAL SCENES FROM the world of snowmobiles are pictured here. Snowmobiles are social vehicles, drawing owners together to discuss the pros and cons of a particular trail or slope. The Times-News Turret can be seen in one of the pictures, and was the source of much enjoyment for an afternoon in Ketchum recently. Racing snowmobiles is great sport and the use of body english as another picture shows, is not against the rules.

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

Mrs. Wendell Bailey, ALBION, is watching a dream come true day by day. She and her husband have purchased the home of the late Andrew Lounsbury, early day president of the D. L. Evans Bank in Albion.

The brick home will be completely renovated and decorated in the period of the early 1890's and open to the public for guided tours.

For many years Mrs. Bailey, who is an enthusiastic antique collector, has dreamed of owning the old home and acquired it from Art Schiwe in January, 1967. Unknown to Mr. and Mrs. Bailey, they also purchased at least 110 bats that had taken refuge in the attic and trim of the house. At first, the Baileys planned to restore the upper story without removing the plaster, but to their dismay they found that the bats had moved in.

They removed the plaster lath and sprayed to exterminate the pests, and it was at this time Mrs. Bailey counted 119 flying from just the front of the house. No one knows how many retreated through the back exit.

After many such unexpected trials, the major repair work is progressing satisfactorily, and the carpenters have torn down a dilapidated back porch and kitchen. A new addition has been built using the battens board siding like the original structure.

The old showplace has a new roof to ward off the heavy snows and the Baileys have worked hard themselves to replace the old walls which will eventually be papered with wallpaper similar to the designs used sixty years ago.

Candy stripe carpeting has been purchased, after much shopping for the exact pattern in Salt Lake City, Twin Falls, Burley, Pocatello and Open, to take an 114 yards to carpet the sitting room, bedrooms and hallway.

The upstairs bedrooms will be furnished to accommodate a boy and a girl. Among the many pieces of antique furniture collected by the Baileys for the house are a gold finished iron bedstead, a commode, a quaint rocker and a doll's display for the little girl's room.

A matching oak bed, dresser, commode and an old fashioned pieced quilt of the log cabin design will be in the boy's bedroom.

The lower floor consists of dining room, two bedrooms, parlor and winding staircase, in addition to the newly built kitchen. The parlor will be furnished with a five-piece walnut parlor set the couple bought on a recent trip to Oklahoma City. It has carved dolphin heads on the corners of each piece and is adorned with hurl inlay.

Mrs. Bailey, who stated that she was especially thrilled to find such a fitting set for the home, will recover the seats with green antique velvet.

In addition to the beautiful parlor set, an antique walnut organ, that still plays with exceptionally true tones will decorate the room.

Two antique style telephones which were found in Grouse Creek will be used to connect the Lounsbury House and the Bailey home, which also houses the Albion Post Office.

The master bedroom will be furnished with a walnut and cherry bedroom suite and old handmade lace curtains trimmed with hand applied flowers will adorn the windows.

A complete set of oak furniture including a table and six highback chairs, a sideboard, and china closet will be used in the dining room. The large room will be heated by a Franklin stove.

Accent pieces in the home will include Seth Thomas clocks dating back to 1886, numerous bowls and pitcher sets, a feather picture 700 years old that was made by Mrs. Bailey's grandmother, and many beautiful antique dishes handed down in the family for many years. Five antique moustache cups belonging to her grandfather will also be displayed.

Rooms of clothing and high buttons owned by Mr. Bailey's mother, which fill five old camel-back trunks also will be used to make the home seem just as it was when the prominent Lounsbury family headed Albion society.

Several exclusive chandeliers will grace the fashionable home, to provide the lighting. Providing the lighting for the dining area will be a chandelier with a deep red glass shade over a lower bowl of amber, with clear prisms in a g l i n g like fringe around the lower edge.

These have been converted to electricity, although this particular one still has the kerosene bowl and wick.

Mrs. Bailey purchased this one through an antique dealer and it was originally in the Bonanza House, the home of Brigham Young, in Salt Lake City.

An antique butter churn of the wooden wheel type was found in the basement of the home broken into several pieces, but Mrs. Bailey has painstakingly glued it together piece by piece, and it will be displayed in the kitchen of the home, together with many other articles of by-gone days.

Brick for the two-story structure was killed on the Floyd Schiwe farm in Albion, and it is believed that grandfather of the owners of the Badger Brothers Lumber Co. in RUPERT built the old mansion, that boasts 10-foot ceilings of tin tile.

When the house was first built an open porch was erected across the front, however, it has since been closed in, but will be opened again in the renovating plans. Four posters for the porch have not been found yet and the Baileys are interested in acquiring posters of this type.

Everything in the home will be labeled by Mrs. Bailey so that everyone may know of the origin of her antique collection. Also on file will be a folder telling of the history of some of the older residents of the Albion area, which at one time was the bustling county seat of Cassia County.

It was at this time that Mr. Lounsbury held numerous offices in the county and was instrumental in the beginning of the D. L. Evans Bank. He organized the Albion Mercantile in 1904 and served as president of that company, which at that time was the largest concern of its type in Cassia County.

Mrs. Bailey is anxious to see more restoration in Albion since it was the first seat of Cassia County, established in 1879, and she feels that it is an ideal place for a county museum. She cited as an example the old bank building that is still using the original bank vault of rock, but now instead of money it is used for storage of various items.

"The old Arnolds Store was the scene of the famous Diamondfield Jack's trial and could easily be restored," Mrs. Bailey commented, "as well as the old hat shop."

The Money Box

BY FRANK SCHELL

From G. R., Burley, Idaho: "I have a large copper coin. On one side is a man on a horse and around it the wording 'Bank of Upper Canada' and the date 1857. On the other side it looks like some tools, crossed in the center with a crown above. Around it the words 'Bank Token' and 'One Half Penny.' Can you tell me anything about it?"

Answer: This is not a coin. It is just what it says — a "token." The Bank of Upper Canada coined these in 1850, 1852-1854 and 1857, before the institution failed. Eleven tons of these tokens were discovered in the vaults of the bank in 1887 after its failure, and were supposedly melted down—but many of them found their way into collectors' hands. They are not scarce, except for a few varieties, and command about $3.00 in uncirculated condition. For common circulated specimens the charge is about 50¢.

From E. M. L., Twin Falls, Idaho: Is it true that silver dollars are only worth a dollar and a quarter apiece? How come they are so scarce if they are not worth more than that? I would like to sell silver dollars if I had some to sell?"

Answer: The silver content in the dollar is now equal to about $1.74 which is the value of the silver at current prices. However, this price fluctuates from day to day. Most dealers are offering $1.50 to $1.60 each for common silver dollars, with un-circulated specimens a round $1.75 to $2.00 and, of course, scarce coins bringing higher prices. If you have silver dollars to sell, drop this column a card and we will be glad to put you in touch with an honest dealer who will pay you what your coins are worth.

At the present time, it is illegal to melt these coins to recover the silver in them, even though the silver has more than face-value but bills are before congress to allow this procedure.

From T. D., Buhl, Idaho: I have some of the wooden nickels which have been issued during Sagebrush Days here in Buhl. Some people tell me they will be worth a lot of money—do you think this is so?"

Answer: As far as I know they are worth a nickel apiece—which is a lot more than they cost at the start. A great many people save wooden nickels and they make a nice collection because there are literally thousands of them. In fact, if you want to start a collection, one dealer advertises 100 different wooden nickels for $4.00. I am afraid they will never command much of a premium, because if they suddenly went to be in great demand, so that the price went up on them, there is no law to stop some manufacturer

WENDELL—Elaine Ambrose, Wendell High School Junior, has received word that her poem has been accepted for publication in the National Anthology of High School Poetry. Her entry was selected from over 100,000 submitted in Idaho.

This is the second time that she has had a poem published in this National Edition. Miss Ambrose is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Neal Ambrose.

T.F. Scout Meets With Samuelson

Richard Shobe, Twin Falls, was among eight Idaho Boy Scouts at a recent report to the state held at the office of Gov. Don Samuelson.

The annual event takes place each year during Scout week. Young Shobe was the Snake River Area Council's representative to the convolve. He and the seven other Scouts represented some 58,000 boys who are involved in all phases of Scouting in the state.

Burley Club Opposes ISU Lecturer

BURLEY—Burley Soroptimist Club members have expressed disapproval of Dr. Timothy Leary being allowed to speak at the Idaho State University, Pocatello, and letters of protest were being written by the club to officials.

The stand on this type of lectures was taken during the noon luncheon Wednesday at Bryan's Cafe.

Members pointed out they are not against freedom of speech, but they oppose Dr. Leary's "flower-power" type of lecturer being given at an educational institution supported by Idaho taxpayers.

"Urging our young people to drop out of school immediately is wrong," Soroptimist members said. "In high times we stand up and be counted and voice our feeling on what is happening at Idaho State University."

Letters of protest are being sent to president of Idaho State University, State Board of Education, Gov. Don Samuelson, Board of Regents of the university and all Soroptimist clubs in Rocky Mountain Region (32 clubs). A copy of the news release on Dr. Leary's lecture carried in Sunday issue of Times-News will be attached to the letters.

Appreciation was expressed during the meeting for the Times-News allowing a reporter to Pocatello to cover the lecture. Members felt the story brought to light what is happening at the university.

The business meeting was conducted by Vivien Odney, president. A report on the recent rummage sale was given by Mrs. Jack Masog, wyes and means chairman.

Letters were read from Mary Ann Ham and Kathleen Dayley, who have been selected as Girls of the Month by the Soroptimist Club. Miss Ham is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ham and Miss Dayley is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kendall E. Dayley. Both are seniors at Burley High School.

Fifty-Five Thousand And One!

Today, natural gas heats over 55,000 homes throughout southern Idaho. And every 20 minutes of every working day, gas heats one more! Natural gas provides circulating, "fresh air" heat that responds instantly to outside temperature changes. You don't have to store it... you don't have to order it... it's delivered silently underground... and you pay for it after you use it.

Yes, gas now heats more than 55,000 homes in 61 southern Idaho communities and has also become the first choice fuel for water heating and cooking. Intermountain Gas Company is efficiently supplying natural gas to its customers at a cost equal to or below that of any other utility in the northwest.

TIMES-NEWS STAFF WRITER Fred Dodds, seen here in various stages of SCUBA diving activity, tries the cold water at the dock near the Twin Falls. With the wet-suit, Dodds can keep quite warm due to the body-heat being trapped inside the suit. The icy-water becomes bearable, and the avid fan of SCUBA (Self-Contained Underwater Breathing Apparatus) can dive in the winter as well as the summer. In the panel of pictures Fred Dodds is seen getting ready for his dive, waving goodbye, or at least "see you later," jumping into the frigid water, sinking out of sight . . . and finally, after much wonderment topside, emerging and crawling onto the dock, exhausted, but happy. # Creature From The Black Lagoon Isn't Creature, It's Frogman Fred

BY FRED DODDS
Times-News Staff Writer

When I first started diving 11 years ago it was under circumstances beyond my control. It was in the ocean and I was being trained by professionals. There was no joy diving. No hunting for lost treasure beneath the waves.

It was diving for a purpose—place underwater explosives and to accomplish a military mission. But the thrill has never worn off.

For years since my first leap into the sea with 50 pounds of equipment on my back I have wanted to reach out the depths, to enter the water and surface only when my air supply runs out.

This is possible with SCUBA, for one. The initials stand for self-contained underwater breathing apparatus and military jargon aside that's just what it means. Self contained for periods of five minutes or an hour and beyond, depending on depth and the amount of compressed air carried with you to Davey Jones' Locker.

Compressed air is what you breathe, not oxygen. Compressed air is a strange gas that will be explained later in this article.

Diving is an expensive hobby, so since my days in the Marine Corps I have either watched as a bystander or borrowed gear from a willing law enforcement officer.

But last week, with my wife's good wishes, I invested in a complete outfit of underwater SCUBA, or to the outsider, skin-diving equipment.

It came by truck on a Friday night and for the next few hours I rummaged with valves, figured weights and adjusted what needed adjusting. Experience showed the way on most of the gear, but things have changed. Things such as valve connections, straps and masks. But the principle is the same and by Saturday morning, I was ready for my first dive with my own equipment.

The day broke clear but crisp with cold.

I had chosen as my objective for that day a shallow lagoon at the Twin Falls falls. The water is clear and the place is easy to drive to.

I wanted to check out the equipment and adjust my weights for effortless dives that will follow later this year.

My first freshwater dive last weekend brought out a curious fact in human nature, and one that I'm sure will follow me or anyone else who chooses to dive in Idaho waters. People are bewildered and curious about SCUBA equipment. They like to watch.

For one thing, the snorkelers were certain I would freeze to death. The water temperature was 54 in the lagoon, 46 in the river just a few feet away. The air temperature was worse, dipping close to 25 degrees when I went down.

People remained on the bank watching me, all of them wrapped warmly in heavy winter clothing.

The dive was easy, but I had trouble getting down as I didn't carry enough lead weight about my waist. At one point I took a huge rock and jumped into the river, sinking rapidly to the bottom, about 20 feet.

I went back the following day with more lead weights and this time was able to get down easily. The third day, on a Monday, I went down again with more lead weight, now about 20 pounds, and found conditions perfect.

The gear then was termed in order.

The gear comes in various pieces—if we are to include all that is needed or wanted by the individual. There is the "wet" suit, which consists of jacket, pants, hood, gloves and boots. Then there are the fins, a must for any SCUBA diver; a regulator to control the breathing underwater; the air tank; the boot to hold the air tank to the back; the face mask, and finally the weight belt.

The weight belt is very important. The "wet" suit is buoyant and will float a man, and the air tank itself, filled with air, will float a man. With the two—the tank and the suit—the diver must have weight to take him down. The right weight is the weight that will let a diver move about with freedom under the surface, neither rising nor falling.

The fins and the arms control the diver's movements beneath the surface.

The "wet" suit is self-heating and means what it says. It gets wet, inside and out. But water, trapped next to the body, is heated and the body in turn is kept warm. The diver can stand very cold water wearing a wet suit and there is very little "getting used to the water."

Compressed air in the tank comes at about 2,000 pounds pressure contained in about 72 cubic inches of space. This is what you breathe. It is good for great depths, but the diver must remember the deeper the dive the more the pressure, and the more the pressure the more the air is compressed.

Say you have a cubic foot of air on the surface. Two hundred feet down that same amount of air might be compressed into a space of half a cubic foot, or less. Therefore, if the lungs hold four pints of air on the surface they will hold four quarts several hundred feet down.

Rising fast, the air will expand and mope a diver has had his lungs ruptured by too much air inside his body.

The diver also has to beware of the bends, although with one air tank and the depths of any freshwater lake in Idaho there is little danger of the bends.

The bends are caused by nitrogen in the blood, put there by the compressed air and the pressure—a diver is under all great depths.

Rising, a diver must come up no faster than his bubbles are rising, and he should stop at certain levels until the nitrogen leaves his bloodstream.

There is the story told of the diver who came up too fast from 120 feet in the ocean after spending about two and a half hours down. He experienced cramps in

First Of Six Educational Events Set

The first of six spring workshops for Idaho School Trustees was held in Coeur d'Alene Friday, with one scheduled for Tuesday in Twin Falls.

Other workshops slated include Moscow, Saturday; Boise, Monday; Pocatello, Wednesday; and Idaho Falls, Thursday.

School board members from throughout the state will attend the workshops planned in their various areas. The main purpose of the workshops, according to D. F. Engelking, state superintendent of Public Instruction, is to keep trustees informed of new educational development on a state and national level.

Each of the workshops, in afternoon and evening sessions, will feature the same general agenda. The Assistant State Superintendent and Zane Harrison, Fairfield, Trustee Association president, will lead discussions on Idaho's Task Force for Education.

The trustees will consider the Task Force organizations and the responsibility in reporting recommendations to the Citizen's Advisory Council of the eight-state project.

Dr. Robert Shreve, professor of school administration, University of Idaho, will present the 1967 revision of the Trustee Handbook, which was updated from a 1951 publication by the university.

The Twin Falls workshop will be at the Rogerson Hotel.

STANDING ON THE grounds of the construction site for the new fine arts auditorium at the College of Southern Idaho, players of the Dilettante Group of Magic Valley wear costumes symbolic of the shows the group has produced and will produce this year. Standing in the far back are Jim LaGrone, representing the Music Man, and Helen Gee, representing Kiss Me Kate. In the foreground, from left to right, are: Brad Hickerson, Finlan's Rainbow . . . Roger Vincent, Carousel . . . Mrs. Lloyd Walker, South Pacific . . . Mrs. David Mead, Sound of Music (to be done this year in March) . . . Dr. Arthur Franz, Brigadoon . . . Galp Connor, Oklahoma . . . Letha Harder, Can-Can . . . and Richard Shobe, Annie Get Your Gun. It is hoped that the auditorium will be finished in September, and the facility will be used for next year's Dilettante production.

Dilettante Group Sees Fruition Of Nine-Year Dream

The dream of a Civic Auditorium began a long time ago for a few people in the Magic Valley. It started as a hope, and little more . . . and today the concrete foundations are solid, and the superstructure is taking shape. In less than eight months the city of Twin Falls will see the final phase of a new auditorium that was eleven years in the making.

It is nearly impossible to separate the beginnings of the Dilettante Group of Magic Valley from the concept of a Civic Auditorium for the community and the area.

The original idea for a group devoted to the performing arts and based in Magic Valley came from Mrs. David Mead, who felt that there was enough talent in the area to warrant the effort and sustained work such a project represented.

Marty Mead missed the performing arts when she moved into Magic Valley, and so along with others interested in the same thing, she began the work which today results in the Dilettante Group.

The few people initially interested back in 1959 began to toy with the idea of doing a full production. No half measures. It would be nearly impossible. But, it could be done.

The Valley lacked this type of cultural outlet, and so about 15 people began the first effort. With no money to back a production on a full scale basis, four of those people borrowed money from a bank to underwrite the project, having nothing to fall in their work to show for their newly acquired indebtedness.

By the time the first production was over more than 150 persons were involved in the effort to bring a new cultural experience to Magic Valley on a continuing basis. The 150 were involved in everything from set designing to costume making, and from acting to applying makeup. Some sold tickets, and some prayed a lot that the production would be a success—for them so much depended on it.

and its masterpiece, free man. All of the arts, poetry, music, ritual, and the visible, the the-atre, must singly and together create the most comprehensive art of all, a humanized society.

The first performance presented the musical production by Rogers and Hammerstein, "Carousel." It was planned for a three-day run, and as first tickets did not go well. But on the third night word-of-mouth advertising caught up with the residents, and people started lining up to get tickets. The musical was scheduled for three additional nights and more tickets were sold.

And because of that initial success, the following year, in 1960, the Dilettante Group of Magic Valley became a legal corporation.

Based on a dream that enough people in Magic Valley had enough talent to sustain a program in the performing arts, the Dilettante Group realized its goal of providing a cultural outlet in the area.

But there was more to the dream than simply existing as a legal corporation, or providing a yearly program of cultural interest. There were the plans for a Civic Auditorium.

The first money realized from the production of "Carousel" was given in part to establish a fund for the sole purpose of seeing the creation of the hoped-for Civic Auditorium. The Civic Auditorium Association was founded in 1959 with this money, and being added to throughout the years it has culminated in the present fine arts center being built at the College of Southern Idaho.

Due for completion in September, next year's Dilettante production will be held in the facility.

The first Dilettante production was held at O'Leary Junior High School, and then the group moved to Filer for its production, where it has performed since. There have been many productions through the years: Carousel, Annie Get Your Gun, Brigadoon, Kiss Me Kate, Oklahoma, Pajama Game, Can-Can, South Pacific, The Music Man, Finlan's Rainbow, and now the Sound of Music. The production scheduled for this year, The Sound of Music, will be presented March 8-11 and 13-16, and will undoubtedly be one more success in the successful history of an idea too good to fail—the Dilettante Group of Magic Valley.

Book Review

NICHOLAS AND ALEXANDRA
By Robert Massie

The first World War is a terrible ordeal for Russia. Its soldiers are badly equipped; guns, artillery and ammunition are lacking. The casualty lists are unbelievable.

This is Robert Massie's first book although he has written for various magazines and is new to the literary world. His subject, the last years of the Imperial Russian and the Romanov rule, has always been a most interesting one to many readers. As one reviewer said, "It reads as lightly as a novel."

Nicholas, like many princes of his day and before, is not ready for the throne. He knows almost nothing of the ways of government. His chief interest in life is the army. He meets Princess Alexandra of Hesse, granddaughter of Queen Victoria, becomes completely infatuated with her, and after a very persistent courtship they are married.

Shortly after Nicholas becomes Tsar of Russia, many elements begin working against imperial rule in Russia. Karl Marx's writings are widely read, and the Bolshevik party becomes the driving force.

Nicholas and Alexandra are a devoted couple absorbed in their family life and their four daughters. The birth of a son and heir to the throne brings them boundless joy. We can hardly imagine their heartbreak when it is discovered that the child is afflicted by hemophilia, the dread disease that has afflicted so many of the royal families in European royal families. There is no remedy known for this affliction. The little boy is a charming, intelligent child, but his sufferings from the terrible attacks of his disease are a constant and dreadful worry to his parents.

In contrast to the quiet family life of the Tsar and his family are the descriptions of the Royal entertainments and palace life. It is fascinating to read about the level of adornment, and gorgeous clothes worn by the women at court functions. One wonders what has happened to all these splendid things. We do know that a few pieces of the crown jewels are now worn by Queen Elizabeth of England.

The revolution breaks out. Russia is in chaos. The Royal Family are made prisoners and moved from place to place. Attempts at rescue fail. The influence of other European governments and royal families fail. Finally, the police force is brutally killed in the famous cellar at Ekaterinburg.

Such was the tragic end of the last Emperor and Empress of Russia. The Russian Revolution has continued to this day with a worse record for killing and oppression than the Bolshevik government in the days of the Terrible. Though we are told that there have been changes for the better in the condition of the Russian people, one wonders if the total change has been for the better.

For this reader the point of the book is this: Had it not been for the agony of Alexis' hemophilia, had it not been for the desperation that drove his mother to reliance on Rasputin, first to save her son, and then to save the autocracy, might not Nicholas II have been brought eventually to rule Russia under a constitutional government similar to that government that seems to be satisfactory to all of England?

Argentine Girl Acts As Ambassador In Three Magic Valley Area Homes

An "Experiment in International Living" sounds like a lofty program participated in by the rich or the stately — and it's neither. It is an exciting program for the young people of this area.

As an example, Maria Zilli, 24, from Tucuman, Argentina, is spending considerable time in the United States. She has toured New York and Washington, D. C., and has stayed in an American home in Kimberly, Idaho, for two weeks. The home was Mr. and Mrs. Larry Irving's. She also lived in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Ashenbrenner during the past week, and is now staying for an additional two weeks with Mr. and Mrs. John Breckenridge of Twin Falls.

After her three two-week periods in American homes Miss Zilli is allowed to visit a city of her choice in the United States. And she has selected Miami, Fla.

Through the program Maria Zilli, who is an attractive and polite girl, has spoken to both the Lions and Rotary Clubs in Twin Falls, and had also talked before many civic groups as well as before school children. She is a great fan of several American foods, and is especially fond of the American way of fixing pancakes with blueberry syrup, and prefers chocolate ice cream in this country to other ice cream she has tasted.

According to Miss Zilli, the people in Argentina don't combine foods there as we do here in America. They have a steak or roast, usually beef, every day, and many vegetables... but there are no casseroles as such in her country.

Another Ambassador in the "Experiment in International Living" program is Gillerino Bustamante, who is presently living in Jerome.

About $40 Is Taken During T.F. Burglary

Approximately $40 in small change was taken from vending machines at Beggs Poultry plant, 2000 Fourth Ave. E. and machines were damaged to the extent of $60 in a burglary earlier in the week.

Officers determined the loss amount Friday from owners of the machines. Entry was gained by a back door which was unlocked and three vending machines were broken open and the cash boxes removed. Police said there was $14.35 in a cigarette machine; $9.00 in a candy machine and $15.00 in a coffee machine. The burglary is still under investigation and occurred sometime between 11:30 p.m. and 4:30 a.m. Wednesday.

DRAFT CALL SET

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Draft director Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey predicted Friday that draft calls through June will run about 40,000 men a month.

Heads Drive

WENDELL—Mrs. A. C. (Ben) Morgan, East Ave. B., is the Wendell chairman to assist in the 1968 Alumni Fund Campaign for the College of Idaho. The appointment was made by Donald D. Price, Alumni fund chairman.

This year's funds will be specifically earmarked for the student aid fund.

MISS MARTA ZILLI, who is 24 years old, stands next to Mrs. Rudy Ashenbrenner in the Ashenbrenner home in Twin Falls. Miss Zilli, a native of Argentina, is part of a group known as the "Experiment in International Living." Through the organization Miss Zilli visits three families for a period of two weeks each, becoming a part of the family.

Filer Girl Speaks Frankly Of Peace Corps

By JAN A. SAINSBURY
Times-News Feature Editor
Whom Gayle Cobbs, a 19-year-old University of Idaho coed, stepped onto a street in Ecuador, South America, she was a brand new member of the U.S.-Peace Corps.

"I was amazed at the poverty and squalor—and I was shocked to see a man, dressed as well as you're dressed urinate in the street. We were herded into buses like cattle and taken to the capital of Ecuador, Quito."

Gayle Cobbs is an attractive girl. She is mature, much more so she feels than she was before she lived and worked in Ecuador as a Peace Corps member.

"I met a Negro girl from Nigeria who was educated in the United States while I was at the U of I, and it was through my talks with her that I decided that I wanted to join the Peace Corps. I applied by taking the general and basic aptitude tests, but I had no idea that I would be accepted. They check into your character and background, and those aptitude tests run into 15 pages. And then one day I got a telegram addressed to Miss Janet Cobbs. I use Gayle, but my real first name is Janet, and when I saw that telegram addressed to "Janet," I knew it was something official from the Peace Corps. It said that I had been accepted and would be sent to Latin America."

Gayle had selected Nepal, Thailand, and El Salvador, but her three choices, but she was assigned to Ecuador. She studied for a month to learn Spanish at the university during her training period. She was also subjected to survival training involving extensive knowledge on how to live from the land. The training period lasted from June 22, to Sept. 10, and on the 15th of September she left the United States for Ecuador.

"The church isn't anything like the Catholic Church here in the United States. It is absolutely dogmatic over there, and it is so strong that it rules nearly everything. Many volunteers actually have given up their Catholic religion after being exposed to the dogmas of the faith in Ecuador. A favorite statement of theirs is translated as, 'If God wants it,' and they apply it to nearly everything. If a baby is killed, it was because God wanted it. And the Virgin Mary is all, and God and Christ get little in mind."

Gayle believes that the Indians who make up 45 per cent of Ecuador's population will be involved in a revolution someday.

"Some say they are sharpening their machetes. They are an intensely proud people and wear all white covered by a dark blue or gray poncho. They are very proud. And as I said before, some say they are sharpening their machetes, and I believe it. All of South America is in a revolutionary state, and they could have a military junta overthrow the government anytime."

One of Gayle's most pointed remarks concerned the strength of the Catholic Church in Ecuador.

"The church isn't anything like the Catholic Church here in the United States. It is absolutely dogmatic over there, and it is so strong that it rules nearly everything. Many volunteers actually have given up their Catholic religion after being exposed to the dogmas of the faith in Ecuador. A favorite statement of theirs is translated as, 'If God wants it,' and they apply it to nearly everything. If a baby is killed, it was because God wanted it. And the Virgin Mary is all, and God and Christ get little in mind."

"Why should they get good grades, they have a family to take care of and there are few who don't."

Gayle explained that even 20 to 25-year-old men fail to get jobs and live off their families.

"The families are extremely important. There is little love from the father but the mother often carries the child, on her back until it is four or five years old, and takes it every place she goes. The mother and child are extremely close. "And the girl there," said Gayle, "isn't free at all. She must keep her place, and I found this out the hard way. I was with a boy standing with some others and I began to express an opinion and one of the others look at the boy I was with and said, 'I think you should tell your woman to shut up — she has no place in this circle.'"

It is difficult for the American girls serving in the Peace Corps to even have a date in Ecuador.

"You must have 10 or 20 kids in your apartment, and never only one or two. It becomes extremely difficult to assert your independence as a woman because the philosophy is simply to keep the woman barefoot and pregnant in the kitchen. The woman does not have a mind, and she must learn that that is the case."

The real problem is often the ugly American. I never dreamed there was really such a thing until I saw it. The Embassy Population has money and they are the ugly American. They have their fine clothes and jewelry and the American dollar is an excellent commodity."

According to Gayle only in the lower classes can the Peace Corps member find friends. The upper classes believe we're all CIA agents.

And besides, the upper class in Ecuador doesn't like us because we are disrupting the lower classes. As it stands now the lower class must step off the street for the "buena gente" or rich people to pass."

Gayle believes that the Indians who make up 45 per cent of Ecuador's population will be involved in a revolution someday.

One of Gayle's most pointed remarks concerned the strength of the Catholic Church in Ecuador.

Gayle Cobbs, who spent two years at the University of Idaho before being accepted by the U.S. Peace Corps for a stay in Ecuador, looks out from a window of her home in Filer. She has been back from South America only a short while, and plans to marry a former Peace Corps man, Bill Brazier, who also served in Ecuador. The two plan to be married March 2nd.

or more corps members. Members of the Peace Corps in Ecuador receive $100 a month to pay for everything they need. And they must try to keep their sense of values.

"You have to decide whether or not you're going to keep your standards or try to be well liked by the people who live around you who have little or no moral code, comparable to ours at least."

"If you only have one lock on your door in Ecuador, people think you're crazy."

Gayle, however, also pointed out that if they like a Peace Corps worker they can be very honest. It is a matter of time and place. She relates one story of leaving a bill equivalent to about $60 dollars in American money on a table as about 25 women came into the room. The table was at the other end of the room and when she remembered it she was heartless as it represented a great deal of money when your total allowance for the month is no more than the 400 dollars she didn't want to let the people know, however, that she didn't trust them by going and getting it, so she waited until after they had fled out at the end of the session, and the bill was still there. It made Gayle happy for the bill was in plain view and could have been taken by any one of the 25 women.

Because of the Peace Corps Gayle was able to travel on her vacation days and was able to see a great deal of the country. She did contract an illness when she first arrived in Ecuador; it was typhoid. She refused to leave, however, and stayed to serve her time there.

Her most dramatic experience and in her mind the most unsuccessful part of her work, came when she was asked to teach a class on hygiene to the 14 to 20-year-old girls. She was asked to do so by the principal of the high school. She held her first class and the next day mothers came to school and would not allow their daughters to learn of such things.

"In Ecuador the girls know almost nothing of their bodies; it is just their way."

Gayle is happy to be home, but is thankful for the experience of being a Peace Corps volunteer. It was another way of life, and according to Gayle, made her appreciate this one more.

Dr. Harris, Gooding, will speak on "Working With Leprosy in Africa" and Mrs. Elvora Staples, R.N., state coordinator, Boise, will discuss the nurse refresher course.

A tour of the school is slated at 7 p.m. and a board meeting is scheduled also at 7 p.m. Wednesday for all officers at the school. Hostesses will be Marilyn Hendry and Frances Whorton, Gooding.

TOUGH HAND LOOKS EASY

There are 11 Americans in Mollo's list of immortals. We write about American players, all the time, so we are only going to mention one of the 11 now.

Norman Kay, who works full time as a stock broker, plays is, but it takes a real expert to make it at the table. Here is how Norman played it.

East and West were playing intermediate jump overcalls, and Norman decided that East would hold the ace of hearts. This left him with four losers unless he could find some way to bring in the diamond suit without giving West a chance to gain the lead.

Norman started proceedings by rising with dummy's king of clubs. East took his ace and continued the suit whereupon Norman discarded a diamond from his hand. Then he ruffed the third club with a high trump and played out his ace and king of trumps. When both opponents followed, he played the ace and king of diamonds and ruffed a third diamond. Since diamonds had been king enough to break 3-2, he was able to enter dummy with the ten of trumps and discard two of his hearts on the last two diamonds.

A—Just bid six spades. Your partner may still go to seven and will surely do so if one of his kings is in spades and he holds the queen of clubs.

TODAY'S QUESTION
Instead of responding one diamond, your partner responds one spade to your one club opening. What do you do now?

bridge only on weekends and vacations. He has found time to teach his wife enough bridge so that she has become a life master and recently won the Masters Mixed Pair championship with Edgar Kaplan while Norman looked on proudly and happily.

Norman is a master of correct technique and does his winning by playing straight down the line.

Today's hand is what most experts (particularly those who see the hand later) describe as a laydown for four spades once the nine of clubs is opened. It

Don't Dream Away These Precious Days

Dear Ele: I am a 16-year-old girl. Lately I have found myself just sitting and daydreaming about the sex act, and imagining what it will be like for me after I'm married. Then I imagine what it will be like to be pregnant. Can you tell me if it is normal to think about this? I will be watching Date-Line for your reply.—Dreaming

Dear Rad: I've only one thought, and there's no guarantee it would work. But if you and the boy are really "best friends," you ought to be able to at least say: "Don't want your permission to do something, I've got my own money. Now what could make the prom perfect for me would be to double with you. But you're doing all the part-time work you can manage and that money's tied up. OK, if our situations were reversed, would you be willing to take some of your free time and work so I could go? You can't say no because you would. How about it then? If I can find a part-time job, will you let me do for you what you'd do for me if tables were turned? Is our friendship bigger than small-time pride?—Walt

HE'S GOT THE PICTURE

Dear Walt: I'm in a diplomatic quandary. My girl gave me a painting for Christmas, and it's got to be absolutely the worst painting in the world. The colors are muddy—you can't tell what it's supposed to be and since it's about four feet tall, there's no such thing as ignoring it. I hate that picture. Everytime I look at it, it spoils my day. But here's the hang-up: At least twice a week my girl comes over to cook dinner, play cards or watch TV, and she's going to be looking for the picture, since she painted it herself. Ideas? — Bachelor Pad.

Dear Bachelor: "Accidents," "thats" or friends who "can't live without the painting" will serve you no good. There'll only be a replacement from the artist's gallery. Either you relocate the picture out of the normal traffic pattern so your eyes won't be assaulted too often, or you gather the courage to say: "Sarah, I love you. I love your sense of humor and your consideration for other people, but I do not love your painting. Would you rather have me store my Christmas picture in the closet, or do you think it is one who'd appreciate that style of art and should have it?"—Walt

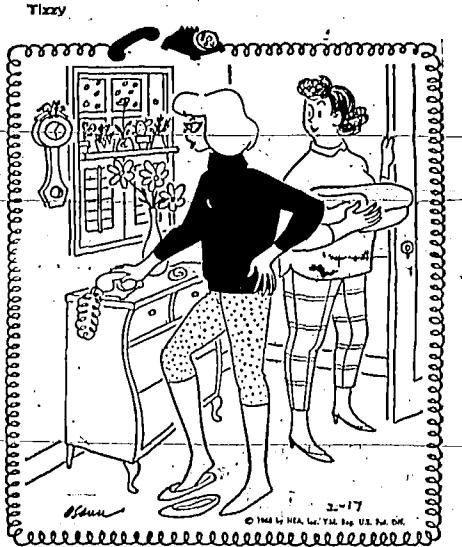

I've talked to her, but all she says is that this is a habit of hers. If I deliberately turn the light out on her to show her what it feels like to be left in the dark, she screams that I did it on purpose and if I don't put the light back on for her, she'll take back a shirt or won't drive me someplace I asked to go. So I never have any power behind what I say. — In The Dark.

Dear Dark: If all the static to date hasn't broken mom's LBJ habit, you'd better learn to live with it. Strategy: buy a reading lamp and plug it into an outlet that's not controlled by the wall switch. Then you'll suffer no further backouts when mom clicks her way out of the room.—Ele and Walt.

Prom time and formal parties don't occur very often, but when they do you'll want to be aware of some of the special—and everyday—etiquette involved. For Ele and Walt's helpful "Prom Newsletter," send your request to Teenage Date-Line, in care of this newspaper, enclosing a dime and a self-addressed envelope.

YOUR TWIN FALLS FIRE FIGHTERS

Protest the Treatment We Have

Received from the City Council

Included in the membership of the Fire Department are veterans of World War II, the Korean and Vietnam conflicts. These men have fought aggression and for our Democratic way of life over half the face of the globe and they deem it an honor to settle down in a community where the Government is "of the people," "by the people," and "for the people."

We are beginning to wonder about the above statement. We feel that we are part of the community, at least we try to be. We take an active part in our churches, schools and community service projects. We have been in favor of, and voted for all the major improvement programs in our City. We have fought fires and we have more buildings standing as a monument to our success than vacant lots that speak of failure. We even voted for, and helped to elect the men who are now serving on the City Council.

We are appealing to you the people to intercede in our behalf. Protest the approval of the City budget until such time that the City Council will meet with the Fire Department and consider their request.

We the fire fighters ask the people to appear at City Hall at the public hearing at 7:30 P.M., February 19th and help protest the final reading of the City budget.

Respect for the Chain of Command

On August 22, 1967 the representatives of the Fire Dept. started with due respect, to go through the chain of command to seek permission for an audience with the City Council to ask that they appoint a committee from the council or from the citizens of the City of Twin Falls, to sit with the Fire Department representatives and hear the problems concerning the wages and wage structure of the Fire Department, so that an agreement could be reached satisfactory to both parties.

On August 22, 1967 we met with our Fire Chief who granted us permission to meet with the City Manager. On August 24, 1967 we met with our City Manager and asked permission to meet with our City Council, but were denied permission. In return permission was granted that we could meet with the Fire Commissioner, who is a member of the City Council.

On August 24, 1967 to November 6, 1967 the representatives of the Fire Department were referred back and forth from the City Manager to the Fire Commissioner several times and still not getting permission to meet with the City Council. Consequently, recognizing the run-around we decided we had to do something to get around this brick wall. Our only alternative was to contact the City Mayor.

On November 6, 1967 the City Mayor was contacted and without hesitation, permission was granted for an audience with the City Council.

On November 27, 1967 we met with the City Council and made our request for a committee to meet with us and discuss our problems. From this time until January 29, 1968 we heard nothing from the City Council.

On January 18, 1968 a letter was mailed to the City Council and City Manager to log their memories, but to no avail.

On January 24, 1968 we met with our new Fire Commissioner to brief him on our problems in hopes it might help, and again to no avail. Consequently on January 29, 1968, we attended the Council meeting for the first reading of the 1968 City budget and made a formal protest of the budget in its present form, and asked that the budget not be balanced with the Fire Fighters' wages.

On February 5, 1968, we were granted a meeting with our City Council. At this time we heard a report from our City Manager. After this report an informal discussion followed and our problems were somewhat discussed, but the end results were once again to no avail.

by Leslie Turner

DAWN, ON GEORGIA'S FABULOUS Jekyll ISLAND, WHERE EASY AND MCKEE ARE IN SEARCH OF BURIED TREASURE...

"EASY, NO FRAGRANCE CAN COMPARE WITH BACON AND EGGS SIZZLING ON A HOT SKILLET!"

"RIGHT, MR. MCKEE! IT'S ALWAYS A PROMISE OF A BRIGHTER DAY!"

"LET'S GET BACK TO OUR DIGGING!"

"I'LL HAVE ANOTHER EGG AND SOME MORE HOME FRIES!"

"EASY, WE'VE DUG FOUR FEET DOWN IN A FIFTEEN-FOOT CIRCLE... STILL NO TREASURE!"

"WAIT! I'VE STRUCK SOMETHING. SOH!"

"BLAZES! A HUMAN SKULL!"

"THE REST, TOO! BONES, FRAGMENTS OF CLOTHING! EASY, WE'VE REALLY COME ACROSS SOMETHING!"

"IT'S PIRATE GOLD, LIKE IN STEVENSON'S 'TREASURE ISLAND'... LET'S DIG!"

"MR. MCKEE, THE TREASURE CHART DATES BACK TO ONLY FIFTEEN YEARS!"

MEANWHILE...

"FROSTY, WE'RE ONLY A MILE FROM THE TREASURE!"

"IN FACT, IT'S RIGHT DOWN THIS OLD CLAY ROAD..."

"TODAY, STUDENTS, WE ARE GOING TO STUDY THE HABITS OF THE GOLDEN EAGLE!"

"BIRD-WATCHING IS FUN!"

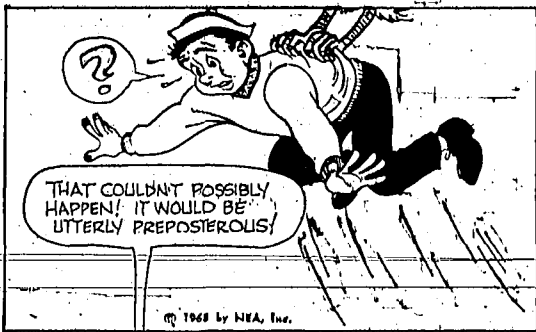

"PROFESSOR MOSS, IS IT TRUE AN EAGLE CAN ACTUALLY PICK UP A HUMAN BEING IN ITS TALONS?"

"JUNE, THAT'S NONSENSE!"

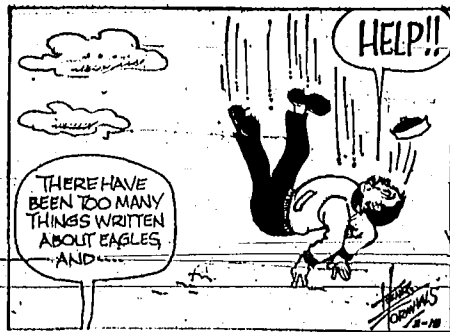

"I HEARD AN EAGLE SOMETIMES FLIES AWAY WITH SOMETHING; THEN DROPS IT FROM A HEIGHT TO STUN IT!"

"EAGLES DO THAT WITH SMALL ANIMALS, DAISY, BUT NEVER WITH ANYTHING THE SIZE OF A HUMAN!"

"THAT COULDN'T POSSIBLY HAPPEN! IT WOULD BE UTTERLY PREPOSTEROUS!"

"THERE HAVE BEEN TOO MANY THINGS WRITTEN ABOUT EAGLES AND..."

KEVIN PEEKS AT THE CONTENTS OF WALLY'S HOLLOW WOODEN LEGS, WHICH HE HAD RISKED SO MUCH TO RECOVER.

FAITH! A TREASURE MAP! NO WONDER HE WAS IN SUCH A DITHER TO GET HIS WOODEN LEG BACK!

BUT IT'S NONE OF MY AFFAIR! I HAVE NOT SEEN IT!

AQUI VIENE KEVIN! HE HAS YOUR LEG TOO!

URRAY! I'LL BE A WHOLE MAN AGAIN!

SO YOU SPEAK SPANISH! THIS MAY BE HELPFUL--THE WRITING ON THE CHART IS IN SPANISH!

FLAT MAY MY PURSE BE, GENTLEMEN, BUT I'LL TREAT YOU IN GRATITUDE!

...AND THAT'S THE TRUTH, MATES! I'M IN MANILA LOOKING FOR HELP TO FIND A WRECK FILLED WITH ENOUGH GOLD TO BUY A NATION!

IT'S NOT AN EASY TASK AND COURAGE IS NEEDED. WOULD YOU JOIN ME?

IT'S 400 LEAGUES* AWAY, NEAR AN ISLAND, BUT I-- ONLY I KNOW THE LOCATION!

WE'LL MEET HERE TONIGHT!

1,200 MILES

GARABAI! WHAT A SPINNER OF TALES! HE WAS HIT ONE TOO MANY TIMES, OR DREAMS OF GOLD HAVE MADE HIM WITLESS!

HE MAY BE TELLING THE TRUTH, PEDRO!

WHAT? DOES GOLD BLIND YOUR SENSES TOO? THIS WALLY WAS FULL OF Grog AND HIS TONGUE HUNG IN THE MIDDLE!

I HAVE NEWS FOR YOU, LITTLE ONE!

LITTLE PEOPLE

Old One!

Wizard Wot! You old phony!

How's the hypnotizing business these days?

Fine! It's going good!

Very good at the moment!

You're an old green frog! Hop, hop, hop!

Galump-galump!

Boop!

Now, Wizard, if the fun and games are over, shall we have a spot of tea and visit a bit?

FOR RICHARD M. NIXON

What are the rewards and frustrations of the Vice Presidency?—N.D., Atlantic City, N. J.

● I think the knowledge that he is helping shape the destiny of a great nation is probably the greatest satisfaction that comes to a Vice President. As for frustrations, there are many, for an administration tries to accomplish many things and very often falls short of its goals. President Eisenhower, who elevated the Vice Presidency to a level of great influence in the Executive Branch, did more than anyone else to improve the ratio of rewards to frustrations.

FOR MARLIN PERKINS

Director, St. Louis Zoo. Some time ago on to a huge, all-white snake was shown. It was purported to be the only white snake in existence. Was it real or a fraud?—Mrs. Beatrice Burton, Clearwater, Fla.

● To my knowledge, the only large all-white snake was an albino python captured in India a few years ago by Peter Ryhiner. I understand that this snake since has died. It was, however, widely displayed and had been on tv. There is a picture of this snake with Mr. Ryhiner in his book, "The Wildest Game."

FOR MARLO THOMAS of "That Girl"

What happens to all the beautiful clothes you wear on tv?—Joan Dieck, Pleasanton, N. J.

● The Cardinal fashions are carefully rotated among shows. For instance, if I wear an outfit for important scenes in one segment, it is stored until it can reappear for perhaps a walk-in-a-door scene in another episode. Rarely, I may take something for my personal wardrobe.

FOR AIR FORCE LT. GEN. THOMAS MOORMAN

How does a high-school senior go about getting an appointment to the Air Force Academy?—Mrs. Robert Anderson, Honono Falls, N. Y.

● Young men should apply for nominations to the U. S. Air Force Academy during the spring of their junior year in high school. Academy entrance requirements, curriculum, and programs are explained in detail in the school catalog, copies of which may be obtained by writing to the Registrar, U. S. Air Force Academy, Colorado Springs, Colo. 80840.

FOR IVAN TORS, producer of "Daktari"

Are your animals insured against injuries, and are actors working with the animals insured?—Mrs. Florence De Boer, Rapid City, S. D.

● Yes. As with valued players in other tv shows, both human and animal stars are insured against injury during production. Since the series began, our most serious injuries have been nothing more than occasional scratches.

FOR CHET HUNTLEY

Did you appear in the motion picture, "Pride of St. Louis"?—Ray Steele, Campbell, Ala.

● Yes. I played a baseball announcer.

FOR MRS. GEORGE ROMNEY

When a person is at a social gathering and an alcoholic beverage is offered, what is the best way to refuse it tactfully?—G. D. Kent, Cincinnati, Ohio

● If the hostess asked me what I preferred, I simply would say tomato juice or a soft drink. I would never find this question embarrassing or difficult.

FOR LAWRENCE O'BRIEN

U.S. Postmaster General. If the zip code is put on an envelope, why is it also necessary to include the city and state?—Mrs. Ruth White, Ruidoso, N. M.

● Until there is a much higher percentage of zip-coded mail, post offices still must sort mail to some cities using the old method. Use of the code varies from city to city, and it would be impossible for a mailer to know which post offices are sorting by the codes.

FOR EVA GABOR

Where did you grow up? Which one of your sisters came to the U. S. first?—Connie Crum, Sarasota, Fla.

● I was born in Budapest, Hungary, went to school in Switzerland, and was the first of the sisters to come to the U. S.

WHAT IN THE WORLD!

Politic Footnote Perhaps the last word on why Shirley Temple flopped at the ballot box belongs to humorist Harry Hershfield. He points out that her former costars, Ronald Reagan and George Murphy, both made it in politics, then explains, "The female of the speeches is deadlier than the male."

Shirley Temple (circa 1934)

Look Before You Leap If you're planning a wedding, this is the wrong time of year. Nobody knows why, but statistics show that January, February, and March marriages don't stay tied as long as June nuptial knots.

Black Is Back It's been missing from the fashion scene for a few seasons, but "the little black dress" now it's back in a big way. According to a new book, "Naked We Came," this wardrobe basic was originally decreed by Chanel. It seems that when one of her lovers died, the Parisian fashion designer decided that all womankind should join in her mourning.

Chanel decreed black

Teachers in Trouble There is hardly a teacher in high school today who has not been intimidated by the spacer of the leather-jacketed, knife-fingering pseudo-hood slouched in her classroom. This observation comes from Jenny Gray, a Sacramento, Calif., high-school teacher. To aid her colleagues, she has written a book, "The Teacher's Survival Guide: How to Teach Teen-Agers and Live to Tell About It."

Revamped Vaccines One of these days, vaccination may be as easy as breathing. Children will sit in a playroom or darkened theater and simply inhale vaccine droplets floating about in a man-made fog. The method already has been used successfully against tuberculosis and will soon be tried for measles, whooping cough, influenza, and other diseases carried through the respiratory tract. It will be a lot less painful than the familiar needle—especially if the movie they show is a real goodie.

Hit Parade At last there's a rock-'n'-roll group that even a mother could love. They're the Cowells, a mother-and-son combo with scrubbed faces, short hair, and a million-selling hit,

Mother and her Cowells

"The Rain, The Park & Other Things." As someone recently noted, they are a cross between the Beatles and Billy Graham.

Hairy Story Phyllis Diller's wild hair-do, while inspiring a fad of goofy coiffures, has also prompted the Rocky Mountain Cosmetologists' and Hairdressers' Association to name her, appropriately, "The Woman We Can Do the Most For!"

Disneyland Records announces

THE WALT DISNEY

STORY-TELLER TREASURY

8 BOOKS ★ 8 RECORDS ★ 8 MUSICAL SCORES

containing the most endearing children's stories of all time!

ere's the easiest, happiest way to introduce your children to wholesome musical entertainment, story telling delights and reading fun. Let Disneyland Records introduce them to Mary Poppins, Winnie the Pooh, Snow White, Bambi, Pinocchio, Cinderella, Peter Pan and Jungle Book through the Story Teller Treasury.

There has never been anything exactly like this before! Not just records . . . not just books . . . not just the most exciting, enthralling music and song ever put on records for children. . . . But ALL THREE in a series of 8 unique self-contained Walt Disney albums . . . Each a fascinating full color illustrated book . . . each a twelve inch 33 1/4 rpm record with story and music recorded in high fidelity sound. (The record slips into its own safe-keeping sleeve in the back of each book.)

ONLY WALT DISNEY STUDIOS, with the uncanny ability to blend music, song and story to entrance the very young could have created such a revolutionary and effective way to introduce and help your child enjoy reading.

ONLY WALT DISNEY STUDIOS, with the huge library of songs and music could have selected just the perfect group of stories to tell in the inimitable Disney-land style.

A MAGNIFICENT COMBINATION OF LONG PLAYING RECORDS AND ILLUSTRATED BOOKS!

Here in the rollicking Walt Disney Treasury are 8 entrancing tales . . . each complete with story on the printed page, clear narration and lilting memory-building music.

With this unique audio-visual combination, your child instantly is absorbed in the words . . . sees them . . . hears them . . . begins to repeat them aloud, as he listens to the clear easy Disney narration,

JUNGLE BOOK Rudyard Kipling's classic tale in story and song presented in the inimitable Disney-land manner.

SNOW WHITE and the 7 DWARFS First of the great full-length Walt Disney animated films. Music from original sound track.

MARY POPPINS Here is the entire story with music, song and pictures to delight young and old alike.

SPECIAL IN-HOME FREE TRIAL

All 8 Disney Classics yours to audition FREE for 10 days!

Save almost $12.00

YES, all 8 Walt Disney Story-Tellers, each filled with pages of happy full color . . . each a complete story, with its own 33 1/4 RPM hi-fidelity record for ten days FREE!

And once you've listened to all 8 . . . once you've seen how much your children love them, how much they learn from them . . . how much they would love to have them for their very own, you're going to be delighted at how easy Disneyland Records has made it to add the whole Treasury to your home. . . . The entire Treasury . . . eight books and records, eight complete stories, costs far less than you would expect to pay for a collection of this size and quality. Originally made to sell for $31.84, through this announcement, you may now own all eight for just $19.96 . . . a savings of almost $12.00. Think of it. . . The entire collection yours for only $19.96. Only after hearing these records and deciding that you want your children to own them . . . to enjoy again and again . . . do we ask you to buy! Even then you need not pay all at once. . . . But only $4.99 a month for four months, if you prefer.

BAMBI Walt Disney's story of a deer among the other animals in the forest. Songs and music, from the sound track. Narrated.

WINNIE THE POOH The delightful story of Winnie the Pooh and the Honey Tree. All the songs from the motion picture.

PINOCCHIO No children's library would be complete without the story of this lovable puppet who can't stay out of trouble.

They Call Him Dr. Live-Again

With all modern science at his disposal, Dr. Howard Rusk works his greatest miracles among the handicapped with old-fashioned doses of hope By JAMES H. WINCHESTER

SEVERAL years ago, major-league catcher Roy Campanella broke his neck in an automobile accident. He was completely paralyzed below the neck.

"I was told I'd be a helpless cripple for life," Roy remembers. "Then I met Dr. Howard Rusk, and he planned a program for me.

"One of the things was a class where I had to learn to catch a ball. I just couldn't believe, the way I used to catch a baseball, that I couldn't grab hold of this big old basketball we used. It always hit me in the face. Finally, I did it.

"Today I'm still in my wheel chair, but I've remarried, travel a lot, and earn a good living running a business, broadcasting, and making after-dinner talks. It was Dr. Rusk who turned me into a productive human being again."

Campanella is one of many celebrated ex-patients Dr. Rusk has helped through his work at the New York University-Bellevue Institute of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation—Joseph Kennedy, father of the late President, was another. So was photographer Margaret Bourke-White. But Dr. Rusk's patients for rehabilitation come from all over the world. Some are rich. More are poor. They are young and old. But they all have two things in common: they have suffered; they are willing to work to get better.

"Disability breaks some people; life breaks some people," explains Dr. Rusk. "But, if through opportunity and courage and hard work you can conquer your disability and get back into life again, you have a depth of spirit that the average person knows nothing about.

"It is not the arms, legs, eyes, or ears, but the spirit that makes a man and that man should be judged for what he can do rather than for what he is unable to do."

As a medical missionary for the disabled, Dr. Rusk acts in an advisory capacity for numerous private and governmental organizations. Currently, he is working on rehabilitation programs among the handicapped of South Vietnam, particularly the young victims of the war.

Dr. Rusk will accept a challenge anywhere on earth—as long as it helps the disabled. On a recent visit to South Korea, where he has been particularly active in setting up rehabilitation programs, a group of orphan children greeted his plane, holding aloft signs reading "Long Live Dr. Live-Again!"

Supervising a therapeutic bath, Dr. Rusk works to heal both spirit and body.

Typically, Dr. Rusk remembers a wedding he attended in Cleveland. The bride had lost both her legs when struck by a hit-and-run motorist. The groom was paralyzed from the waist down and confined to a wheel chair as the result of a fall. They met when both were patients of Dr. Rusk in New York. Attending rehabilitation classes together, they fell in love. Both are now working, the girl—who has two artificial legs—as a computer operator in a bank; he as a photographic technician.

Some 28 million people in the United States today suffer some sort of chronic disability, and a quarter-million more are disabled each year by disease and accidents.

Dr. Rusk's idea is that these people with hurt bodies but whole minds and hearts—these people who could be you or I—can, with rehabilitation and special training, live rich, full, happy lives.

"The image of a physical wholeness and ability being synonymous is ridiculous," Dr. Rusk argues. "You can be the best tennis player in town and too stupid to make a living. You don't have to do the 100-yard dash or the high jump in order to be the best lawyer, doctor, teacher, radio commentator, potato peeler, elevator operator, and a thousand other jobs.

"The heart of our program is a very simple one," he explains. "We test for 137 inherent needs in daily living—the things that you and I do every day almost unconsciously. Can you brush your hair? Can you clean your teeth? Can you shave? Can you put on your pajamas? Can you walk? If you can walk, can you get up and down an eight-inch curb?

"I'm always asked: 'How long does it take?' Well, if a man with a broken back below the waist level doesn't have any complications, our average training time is 120 days. With strokes, the average is seven weeks as in-patients. We've just done a survey of 475 broken necks. Their average training time is roughly about seven months."

Doctors and therapists—from 68 different countries so far—also are trained at the Institute. Then they go back home to spread Dr. Rusk's gospel. One of the things that Dr. Rusk stresses strongly to both his patients and trainees is that inactivity can be more harmful than the damage done by the original accident or illness. Immobilization means body-muscles and joints deteriorate. Patients acquire the attitude they're invalids. Calcium leaves the bones.

All kinds of classes and exercises are used to help restore injured parts. Arts and crafts, for example, help bridge the gap between incapacity and the manual dexterity needed for gainful employment.

Before Pearl Harbor, Howard Rusk was a fashionable St.-Louis internist. "I know nothing about rehabilitation and wasn't particularly interested," he admits. Then—as an Air Force doctor—he became deeply concerned. Military convalescents, he felt, were forgotten men. To correct this, he pioneered new concepts.

Rusk's job for the duration of the war was to see that anyone who could fight did, and that anyone who was physically incapable of rejoining his service was fitted back into a pattern of useful existence.

The philosophy of the Air Force convalescence program was that it wasn't enough to mend a man's physical wounds. His emotional, social, and vocational needs had to be cared for as well.

"The important thing," says Dr. Rusk, "was the concept of totality. There is no use in teaching someone to walk again if he has such anxiety that he won't go outside the house." His programs worked. The result: 82 percent of all U. S. casualties returned to duty.

Out of uniform, Dr. Rusk continued his crusade to prove that even the most seriously handicapped—using what they have left—can fight back to a life of purpose. ←

How Your Family Can Cope with INFLATION

Here are dollar-saving tips designed to trim your budget and put muscle in your money

By Dr. HEROLD C. HUNT

Chairman, National Committee for Education in Family Finances

with Theodore Irwin

IN MANY cities the price of a haircut has risen to $2.50.

Some supermarkets used to give away dog bones. Now they package them and charge 25 cents. In California, a marriage license has jumped from $5 to $8. The reason is, of course, inflation.

Inflation has been defined as "when the dollar isn't what it used to be." The consumer-price index indicates that in 1988 living costs will rise about 4 percent. It means that for every dollar you spend, you'll be penalized four cents. Inflation has become one of the biggest problems facing our country.

How are you and your family faring? Rather than complain, fight the phenomenon by taking practical countermeasures.

Let's start with some basic principles. You can earn more, cut expenses—or, most likely, do both. Most Americans do have a larger income today than a few years ago, although increased earnings often do not entirely offset higher prices. More and more, then are moonlighting for a second income and some 15-million wives are working.

A higher-paying job is, of course, one sound answer to inflation. I know of one man who took advantage of his company's offer to pay for a course in electrical work and thus boosted his annual wages from $6,200 to $9,300.

Consider, too, the various hedges against spiraling prices. During an inflationary period, it is sound economics to invest in real property. Owning a home, rather than renting, eventually pays off—provided the house is in a neighborhood that will grow, not deteriorate. Your equity increases as the home's value generally keeps pace with the national economy.

Investing in common stocks and bonds, particularly in growth industries, may turn out to be a good hedge because they represent ownership in tangible assets that advance in value during inflation. But remember that stocks can go down as well as up. You should consult a reputable broker.

As for the other main attack on inflation, paring expenditures, the strategy is to get the most mileage out of your dollar. Probably your spending habits will have to be re-adjusted, your buying better organized. Tackle each phase of family consumption with an eye to pruning. Here are some fundamentals:

Shelter-Home Maintenance. Housing takes 20-30 percent of your net annual income or an average of 24 cents of your spending dollar. As I've said, owning a home can be a wise hedge during inflation. While apartment rentals go up, payments on your mortgage stay the same. When you buy, unpainted brick or stone is cheaper to maintain than frame, stucco, or painted brick. A well-insulated house, costs less to heat and cool, so if you add insulation and storm windows, they will pay off in the long run. In buying, a larger down payment will save you mortgage interest. If possible, get a house that already has a mortgage you can take over; chances are it will be at a lower interest rate than you can obtain today.

During periods of inflation, a homeowner should learn to be a jack-of-all-trades. Through library books, government pamphlets, or adult-education courses, you can master many do-it-yourself skills, thereby paring costly home repairs.

Buying practical tools is a shrewd investment. On expensive equipment, however, like a power snow remover, you may be able to work out a pooling arrangement with your neighbors.

Household Expenses. As money becomes tight, more families are buying used major appliances (freezers, refrigerators) from friends or neighbors on the move. Also watch the classified ads. To save on tv repair charges, you can take out the small tubes and check them yourself at an electrical-service store. Conserve fuel by keeping your home at a constant temperature. Take advantage of thrift shops, bazaars, auctions, and church fairs.

Food. From 22 to 29 cents of your dollar goes to feed your family. Store managers find that male shoppers generally choose attractive but high-priced extras (socktail snacks, etc.), so it's best for the housewife to do the major marketing. When possible, buy in large quantities—family-size cans of tuna and two-pound cans of coffee, for example.

Watch your newspaper's food pages for the Department of Agriculture's food "plentiful"; buy them in volume after each crop arrives, then can or freeze what is not eaten. Time your buying of canned or frozen foods to benefit from end-of-summer surpluses.

Plan your menus around the weekly supermarket special. Week-end specials are usually good buys. Avoid food shopping early in the week when prices are generally highest. Note: beef, veal, and es-expenditures carefully will find that the dollar can still go a long way.

pecially pork are apt to be less expensive in the spring, so you might stock your freezer then. When you buy whole fryers and cut them up yourself, they'll probably cost less than cut-up chicken.

Clothes. It's possible to save as much as 30-50 percent on clothing. Plan your wardrobe around clothes you already own. Stick to one or two main color schemes and get variety through accessories. Too many colors require more accessories. Buy your basic style or multipurpose garments off-season, when you'll find substantial markdowns. Standard sizes (small, medium, large) are generally cheaper than specific sizes. Women should buy hose in quantity. With six pairs in the same color, if one springs a run, you can keep matching the remaining stockings.

Thrifty men prefer permanent-pressed trousers and wash-and-wear shirts rather than soft fabrics which don't hold creases. Your family can save much during the year by using the self-service dry cleaning in a laundromat.

Think ahead to what your clothing needs will be and keep an eye out for department-store sales on such items as boxes of shirts.

Transportation. For the typical family, transportation may take a 10-percent slice of the family dollar. But it is the largest variable within the fixed expenses of a family budget. You can get to work by walking, taking a bus, or driving a limousine. When buying a car, keep the price within 25 percent of your gross annual income. Make as large a down payment as you can afford to cut down finance charges. It may be cheaper to borrow from a commercial bank or credit union than to finance through the dealer, who passes it on to a finance company.

If you're accustomed to buying a new car every year, consider leasing instead. Remember, too, that a new car depreciates fastest in the first two years, so think about picking up a three-year-old model for at least half the original cost.

On gasoline, unless your car has a high-compression engine, you can save about $35 a year by using regular instead of premium grade. As for insurance, two-car families can obtain a worthwhile discount by insuring both cars with the same company. Don't overlook the "good student" or driver-training discount for your teen-ager.

Recreation - Entertainment. Evaluate your hobby. Is it too extravagant? Try converting it for added income, as in ceramics, crocheting, or cabinet-making, to offset expenses. Instead of buying gifts, you might make them with your hobby by skill—people do appreciate the personal touch. In sports, bicycling or hiking would be much cheaper than golf or bowling. Use your community's free recreation facilities.

For a vacation, schedule part or all of it during the off-season for reduced hotel and motel rates. Think about a camping trip for a vacation or visit parents in the country. Dine out less often, reserving it for special occasions.

Medical Expenses. During an illness, take only the medicine your doctor prescribes. Check different drugstores for the lowest price on expensive prescriptions; they do vary. If possible, use the generic name of a drug; it's cheaper. Utilize free or low-cost health facilities available to the public, such as hearing, vision, and speech clinics, or places where cancer and diabetes can be detected. Many city health departments provide free immunizations for children. And you should have adequate health and disability-income insurance.

Life Insurance-Savings. With inflation, now and ahead, what you judged enough for life insurance and savings 10 years ago will not do today. If you believe $25,000 in insurance is adequate for now, at the anticipated inflationary rate you'll need $37,000 in 1978.

To cut insurance costs, get as high a policy at one time as you can manage; policies of less than $5,000 cost more per $1,000 than larger ones. By paying premiums annually rather than monthly, you save as much as 8 percent. And pick up all the low-cost group insurance your company offers, as well as any group coverage by your union, fraternal organization, or other such associations.

As for savings, if your bank pays interest only once a year, and from the first of the month, consider switching to a bank that offers a higher interest rate, pays from the day of deposit, and credits you with interest quarterly.

Taxes. Many citizens unwittingly overpay income taxes. Make a habit of keeping full expense records when you incur them. This can save you money in deductions. Most commonly overlooked deductions are medical costs, property losses (through fire, theft, windstorm), and exemptions for dependents. If your tax picture is complicated—with perhaps a side-line business—it's wise to seek the advice of an accountant.

Credit Charges. You might save the equivalent of a week's salary during the year by not buying "on time" and avoiding interest charges. Make charge purchases or loans only when they are imperative. When you do buy a "big ticket" item on an installment plan, you're likely to pay less interest by taking out a bank or credit-union loan than by using a dealer's finance arrangement.

On loans or purchases, keep the repayment period short to cut down on interest. Remember that the true annual interest rate on credit fees quoted, for example, as "1 percent a month" actually comes to 22.2 percent a year, if based on the original amount owed and paid in 12 monthly installments; on "$5 per $100," the true rate is 9.2 percent a year. For loans, shop around among several sources—commercial banks, credit unions, life insurance, savings-bank passbook loan.

Obviously, each family lives and spends differently. Not every economy or hedge I have suggested will apply to your household, but they represent a pattern to guide you. You can adapt whatever ideas are suitable to your family, and I'm sure you'll create your own techniques. What is important is that you develop an attitude of conservation in the face of inflation.

Don't think you have to be downright penurious. Yet even millionaires have their money-saving quirks. The wife of a New York banker does her own hair and orders groceries by phone to keep from impulse buying. A prosperous attorney figures out airline schedules so that he can get a discount flight. Mrs. Johnny Carson keeps all kinds of boxes which she can use for sending gifts. J. Paul Getty, who may be the world's wealthiest man, will not accept postage-due mail. Multimillionaire H. L. Hunt carries lunch to his Dallas office in a paper bag daily.

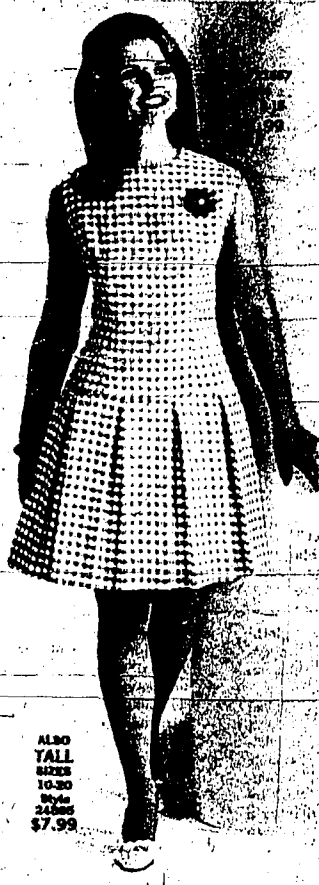

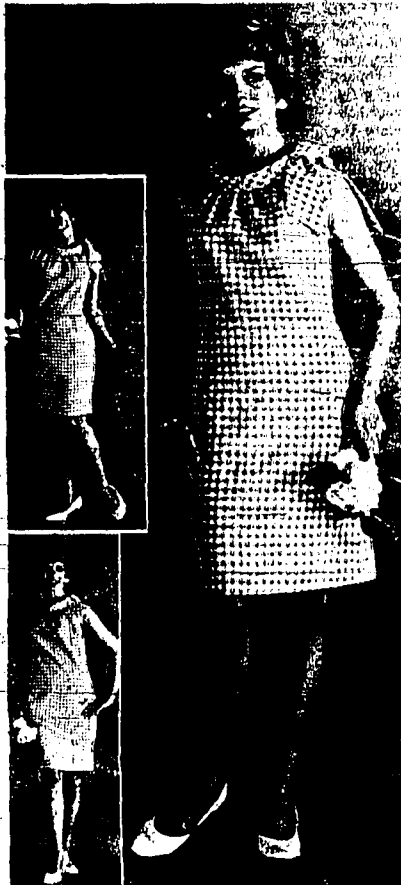

Certainly you don't have to indulge in such idiosyncracies or forego real pleasures to pinch a few pennies. But beating high living costs will take a little effort. Out of it will come a satisfied feeling that you are doing something about that "old demon inflation." ♦

The Secret of Being a Good Conversationalist

By JOHN E. GIBSON

YOU WILL be a better conversationalist if you avoid being an overtalker, an undertalker, or a tangential speaker.

Stanford University's Prof. John Eisonson has made a study of good, bad, and indifferent conversationalists. His findings show how conversational traits reveal secrets about your personality.

Are you an undertalker?

These people, Professor Eisonson finds, seem to be good conversationalists because they know when to punctuate another speaker's remarks with "uh-huhs" or lengthy "ums."

Many persons, particularly those who are looking only for a listener, actually enjoy conversing with such undertalkers.

Professor Eisonson found that the underlying reasons for undertalking may be: 1) a wish to avoid becoming involved in true communication; 2) unwillingness to pay attention; 3) innate shyness; 4) a wish to escape from the possible consequences of one's words. The undertalker has a feeling of inadequacy; he is afraid to stick his neck out.

What about an overtalker?

We all know persons who talk too much. Often the more they talk, the less they say. Why do they keep on? Usually because they are afraid to stop. When they're not talking, they feel ill at ease. They talk to cover up this nervousness.

Are all talkative people overtalkers?

By no means. There are many talkative people who wish to share freely their thoughts and feelings. If they are able to listen and then to respond in terms of what someone else has said, we may assume that their overtalking is a form of giving.

Do you worry about breaking a sudden silence?

"Most of us," says Eisonson, "have been in social gatherings when, after considerable chatter, a silence fell. Some hosts measure the success of their parties by the length and loudness of the chatter—silence must be avoided."

There are some persons who admit to memorizing "void fillers" so that they will not have to contend with silent periods at social gatherings. These persons tend to be apprehensive about life in general and feel inadequate in coping with its problems.

The more self-confident a person is, the less he is bothered by a sudden silence.

Are you a tangential speaker?

He is one who must protect his sense of superiority. He must put down the initial speaker or take control of the conversation through the use of irrelevant wit.

You have just made what you consider an impressive point in a group discussion, for instance, and the tangential speaker chooses this moment to call attention to the bandage on your finger. "What did you do to your hand?" he asks. While you are trying to decide whether to ignore him or fumble for a reply, he snatches the conversational ball. Or he may try to disconcert you with a dubious variety of lefthanded wit. He will try almost anything to spoil your story and thus grab control of the conversation.

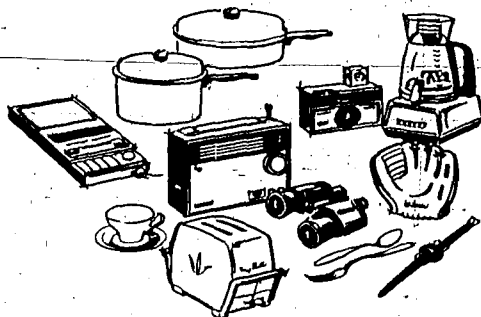

What is the secret of being a good conversationalist?

Be yourself. Almost anyone can be interesting if he is completely at ease. Only then can a person's natural charm find full expression. Remember this the next time you are expecting guests to drop in for the evening: If you are tense, your state of mind will quickly communicate itself to your guests, who will become tense in turn. *

JOHNNY WHITAKER AND ANISSA JONES OF

"FAMILY AFFAIR" Nice Kids or Spoiled Stars?

By PEER J. OPPENHEIMER

It's a "family affair" for Johnny and his parents, Anissa and her mom (right).

WHAT happens to a seven-year-old boy and a nine-year-old girl who become stars of tv's most popular family program? How do they react to autograph hunters and adulation? Are they still kids? Or are they spoiled stars?

These questions ran through my mind when I met Johnny Whitaker and Anissa Jones, who play Jody and Buffy in "Family Affair."

Johnny Whitaker is the veteran of the two. The freckled, strawberry-blond with the gruff voice was only three when he started making tv commercials.

From the very beginning, Johnny has managed to dissociate himself from his work when he leaves the set. In fact, he didn't even want to be in the "Family Affair" series. At the time, his mother told him that he had an excellent chance to get the part, his reply was, "Does that mean I can't play ball with the kids?"

She told him he'd have to cut down on some of these activities, and he said, "Then I don't want to do it."

Naturally, living in an adult world and getting so much attention have some effect on Johnny. But it is promptly squelched once he gets home. Mrs. Whitaker says, "Johnny is one of eight children, so when he acts up we point out that he is just one-eighth of a family. Like his brothers and sisters, Johnny has his chores. He has to make his bed, clean his room, and take out the trash."

In spite of making a great deal of money, Johnny's allowance is proportionate to his age, not his earnings. "I get 50 cents a week," Johnny says. "Sometimes I buy birthday presents for somebody, but mostly I buy candy with it."

He also admits that he has learned to love money. "I changed my mind about work. Now I'd rather go to the studio than play ball because I get paid for work, and I don't get anything for playing ball."

Mrs. Paula Jones has more of a problem with Anissa: Divorced from Dr. J. P. Jones of Purdue University, she has no one to help her raise Anissa and her younger brother Paul, who is a head taller but whom Anissa dominates completely. Also, Anissa's diminutive size (she weighs only 45 pounds and is barely 44 inches tall) may have something to do with her wanting to "prove herself."

Unlike Johnny, Anissa had never been in front of a camera before she started the series but had always liked performing. According to her mother, Anissa has a pretty wild imagination, which, of course, helps in her work.

Like Johnny, Anissa is a very sensitive child. When Johnny forgets his lines, he might easily break into tears.

Anissa's sensitivity shows in respect to her brother Paul. It was her idea that he work as an extra in her series, for which he got $25—or $22 after deductions. While Anissa gets only 25 cents a week spending money, she begged her mother to let Paul keep all of his "because working as an extra is terribly boring, and, besides, he doesn't make too much."

The most unbiased opinion about Anissa and Johnny came from Katherine Deeny, the studio teacher assigned to them. "Some days they make a mess out of their schoolroom, like most youngsters," she says, "but usually they are quite neat. They are good-natured children who take their classes very seriously. Not doing well bothers them."

At this point, Johnny is fairly sure that he wants to stay in show business although not necessarily as an actor. "First I want to go to college," he says.

Anissa changes her mind rather regularly about what she wants to do when she grows up. "I want to be a sign painter," she says honestly. Says her mother, "I knew she would say that because last night she played with a little girl whose father is a sign painter."

That's normal—and that's the nicest thing about Johnny and Anissa: they act their age. ♦

Dentures or 'Bridges' Must Be Cleaned

like fine jewelry

Tests prove that modern dentures are 15 times easier than natural teeth. Thus they are easier to scratch and damage from harsh brushing or abrasives.

That's why more and more dentists now suggest soaking dentures clean in KLEENITE instead of hard brushing with abrasive pastes or powders.

Special Triple-Action

KLEENITE's triple-action formula—(1) detergent—(2) oxidizer; (3) solvent—cleans your dentures like fine jewelry. It helps soak away stains—penetrates even toughest lacoco stains...Helps restore original whiteness to teeth and true pink color to gums. The difference it makes will amaze you!

IMPORTANT! To clean artificial teeth like fine jewelry, get KLEENITE to do the job at all drug counters.

Never Take a Laxative Again!

New Miracle Regulator Helps Relief Come Naturally

New York, N.Y. (Special)—Research has discovered a wonder-working substance that helps correct constipation without laxatives!

Doctors say most constipation occurs when waste loses moisture in the colon. To give relief, laxatives have to force action—flush, irritate or distend the intestine.

The new miracle substance works in a completely different way. It helps natural moisture in the colon work more effectively. Thus by working on the problem, not on you, it helps correct constipation as no laxative can.

This discovery is now available under the name REOUROL. It is not habit-forming. No warning on the label—no prescription needed. Try REOUROL—you may never take a laxative again!

Now Many Wear FALSE TEETH With More Comfort

To overcome discomfort when dentures slip, stick or loosen, just sprinkle FABRICRIT on your plates. FABRICRIT fits dentures firmer. You eat better, feel more comfortable. FABRICRIT is alkaline—won't sour. Helps check plate odor. Dentures that fit are essential to health. See your dentist regularly. Get FABRICRIT at all drug counters.

BACKACHE Aching Muscles

You long to ease those pains, cure lameness, until the cause is cleared up. For palliative or temporary pain relief try DeWitt's Pills. Famous for over 50 years DeWitt's Pills contain an analgesic to reduce pain and a very mild diuretic to help eliminate retained fluids thus flushing out irritating acids causing bladder wastes.

DeWitt's Pills often succeed where others fail. If pain persists always see your doctor. Insist on

PIN-WORMS A FAMILY AFFAIR

Plinging, itching and a burning in the anal area often telltale signs of Pin-Worms. . . ugly parasites that medical experts say infect 1 out of every 5 persons in America. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, they must be killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do . . . and here's how they do it:

Pin— a sticky coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's medicine, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly, easily. Ask your pharmacist. Don't be fooled by cheap, dangerous, highly contagious Pin-Worms which infect entire families. Get genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge—small, easy-to-take tablets . . . special sizes for children and adults.

Child Won't Pay Attention?

Accumulated ear wax impacted down your ear canal and within eardrum cause temporary deafness. For fast relief—use DeWitt's Otis Ear Wax Remover. Scientifically made only to soften excess ear wax for easy removal. Only 75¢. DeWitt's Otis Ear Wax Remover. Accept no substitutes.

A Dinner for the Man in Your Life

MELANIE DE PROFT
Food Editor

Here are two exciting recipes for a male-pleasing dinner. Round out the meal with whipped potatoes, buttered broccolli spears, apple and dill-pickle salad, currant gingerbread, and coffee.

Candlelight Pineapple Bombe traps a deliciously icy sherbet within thick coating of rich ice cream.

The Master's Pork Chops

- Sauce (see recipe)
 6 1-in. thick pork chops
 1/2 cup flour
 1 teaspoon salt
 1/2 teaspoon Accent
 1/2 teaspoon pepper
 1 egg, slightly beaten
 2 tablespoons water
 2 cups finely crushed round buttery crackers
 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
 2 onions, finely chopped
 1 clove garlic, minced

1. Prepare sauce.
2. Meanwhile, coat chops with a mixture of flour and seasonings, dip both sides in a blend of egg and water, and finally coat with cracker crumbs.
3. Brown chops on both sides in hot butter or margarine in a large heavy skillet. Remove browned chops and keep warm.
4. Add onion and garlic to fat remaining in skillet. Cook, stirring occasionally, until onion is soft.
5. Return chops to skillet. Pour sauce over all. Cover and cook over low heat about 50 min., or until meat is tender; baste occasionally during cooking.
6. Remove chops to a warm platter. Pour sauce into a gravy boat and pass at the table. 5 servings

Sauce

- 1/2 cup lightly packed brown sugar
 2 teaspoons dry mustard
 1 cup water
 2 tablespoons cider vinegar
 1 cup catsup
 3 oz. (1 pkg.) cream cheese
 1 lemon slice
 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
 1 tablespoon bottled brown bouquet sauce

Mix the first two ingredients in a saucepan. Stir in the water, vinegar, and then a blend of the catsup and cream cheese. Add the lemon slices and butter or margarine. Heat thoroughly, stirring occasionally. When ready to use, remove from heat and mix in the bottled brown bouquet sauce.

Candlelight Pineapple Bombe

- 1 can (1 lb. 4 1/2 oz.) crushed pineapple, undrained
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 3 cups miniature marshmallows
 2 teaspoons vanilla extract
 1 teaspoon almond extract
 1/2 cup chopped toasted pecans
 2 qts. vanilla ice cream, softened slightly

1. Put pineapple, salt, marshmallows, and a blend of extracts into a heavy saucepan. Set over low heat, stirring occasionally, until marshmallows are melted.

2. Remove from heat and cool. Stir in the nuts. Turn mixture into a refrigerator tray and set in freezer until sufficiently set to spoon into lined bombe.

3. Thoroughly chill a deep 7-cup mold by filling it with ice water; set aside. When ready to use, pour out ice and water and quickly line the mold with two thirds of the ice cream. Turn thickened pineapple mixture into center and spread remaining ice cream over the top. Cover with aluminum foil; freeze overnight.

4. Shortly before ready to serve, wrap a hot towel around mold for a few seconds only, and run a knife around edge. Invert mold onto a chilled serving plate. If mold does not lift off, repeat the hot towel procedure. Decorate the bombe (see photo), with rosettes of tinted whipped cream, stemmed maraschino cherries, and canned pineapple chunks.

8 to 10 servings

COATS OF ARMS
IN THE ARCHIVES OF
SANSON
INSTITUTE

READ HOW THE SANSON INSTITUTE HAS PRESERVED
THE RECORDS FROM OVER 20 EUROPEAN COUNTRIES.

In 1850, Mr. William Hubert Baddon of Sheffield, England began a library of coats of arms. This collection of books, written in the medieval language of the "heralds", was brought to the United States and from this collection the archives of the Sanson Institute of Heraldry in Boston was begun. Representatives of the Sanson Institute have constantly searching for still older sources and additional reference volumes in order to revive interest in the art of heraldry and its meanings. A trip to Holland, a chance find in Brittany, a visit to a small village library in southern Italy... all have contributed to the compilation of what is recognized as one of the most complete Heraldic libraries in existence. The Sanson Institute research staff has been trained to translate accurately and correctly the medieval heraldic language and to interpret authentically the meanings and descriptions of these Coats of Arms. Modern technological advances were called upon to execute the monumental task of attaining the ability to research, draw, and catalogue over 500,000 names and Coats of Arms, as well as their interpretations and reference sources. Many of our reference books are centuries old (some dating back as far as the 1600's). The Sanson Institute, through its knowledge of heraldic traditions and determine by accepted formulae a coat of arms applicable to surnames exactly the same as yours or an older form of that surname from which your present name may have emerged. Utilizing their highly skilled and specialized personnel to give meaning to the knowledge which has come down from the Middle Ages, the Sanson Institute can now offer you a most decorative and colorful coat of arms which was earlier granted to a distinguished person whose surname was the same as, or an earlier form of, your family name... a replica of an antique that will be a welcome addition and conversation piece in every home.
