Stewardess Tells Story

Hijacked Plane In Miami

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A gunman wearing a white cowboy hat and tennis shoes pushed a stewardess into the cockpit of a Delta jet over Florida Wednesday and held a pistol under her ear until the pilot detoured his craft and 100 persons to a landing in Cuba.

About five hours after the hijacking, Delta Air Line Flight 343 returned to Miami, leaving behind in Havana a young man who gave his name to the airline as "S. Wilson."

The man boarded the Chicago-Miami flight with 64 other persons at Tampa. Other passengers said he had been drinking heavily at the airport bar.

Delta officials said he bought a $21 first class ticket at 12:44 p.m. Wednesday in the airline's downtown Tampa ticket office. It was a one-way ticket to Miami.

"He told us he didn't care who he killed or how badly he shot up the plane," said Joy Bleil, 28, of Elmwood Park, Ill., Mrs. Bleil, the senior stewardess, was held in the cockpit as a hostage until the giant, $8 million airliner was escorted into Cuba by four MIG fighters and touched down at Jose Marij airport.

"He said he was facing a death sentence for the hijacking," she said, "and the pert bruddette in a news conference by the crew at Miami International Airport.

The pilot, J. D. Galney, 49, said the crew made no attempt to overpower the hijacker.

"The man was all wrought up," Galney said.

He was described as about 25, dressed in a sloppy manner, dark complexioned and slim-

Johnson Asking Big Housing Goal

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson asked Congress today to "set a far reaching goal" to build 20 million new homes and apartments during the next 10 years.

This was the dramatic centerpiece of Johnson's longest speech in Congress since he took office, labeled "The Crisis of the Cities."

Johnson said the housing and urban development act he seeks would, among other things, reduce six million "substandard units of housing where more than 20 million Americans still live."

In the first five years of the program, Johnson said he wants $2.34 billion of contracting authority to build or rehabilitate nearly 2.5 million housing units.

Some other key points in the cities program were proposals to:

- Authorize adjustment of FHA interest rate ceilings "to reflect the economic realities of the financial markets."
- Authorize a program of flexible VA home loan interest rates in this period of tight money.
- Establish a cooperative federal-state industry program to reinsure property insurance policies in high-risk city areas—especially those that might be targets of urban rioting—by chartering a national insurance development corporation within the department of housing and urban development.
- Permit insurance companies to defer taxes to the extent that they participate in the plan to provide property insurance in the high risk areas.
- Johnson's blueprint was a long range one, calling for only relatively modest increases in federal outlays during the first year.
- "No single statement or message," he said, "can embrace the solutions to the city's problems. No single program can attack them."
- He said that despite his 10-year goal, "no one can say how long it will take, or how much of our fortune will eventually be committed."

Jerome City Council Hires Police Chief

JEROME — Former Payette Police Chief C. L. (Chuck) Punney was hired by the Jerome City Council Wednesday night as the new police chief at this Northside community.

Mr. Punney replaces Clarence A. Yngst, who was asked to resign two weeks ago by the Jerome City Council.

Other Jerome police officers, Capt. Elsa Hall, also was asked to resign at that time.

Since then, John Howes has been acting police chief.

Mr. Punney will get a salary of $350 a month.

Mr. Yngst and Mr. Hall were asked to resign by the council because of an alleged lack of cooperation between the mayor's office and the chief of police and Capt. Hall.

Mayor Earl Greenawald had made various charges against Mr. Yngst prior to the latter's resignation from the force.

Mr. Punney, at Payette, had been asked to resign as police chief also but was retained as a patrolman. It was reported there were difficulties between the Payette mayor and Mr. Punney, causing the action last fall.

Mr. Punney is a veteran law enforcement officer and three years ago directed a massive manhunt for three escapees from the Washington State Prison.

Jerome Police Commissioner E. J. Dyer said Thursday he was "pleased" with the hiring of Mr. Punney. "He comes highly recommended, even by the mayor of Payette with whom there were certain difficulties last fall."

He said the entire Jerome city council and the mayor were pleased with Mr. Punney's hiring.

Mr. Punney will begin his duties in March.

The Jerome police force, when fully staffed, will consist of nine people.

Copper Strike Has Effect On Wallace Area

WALLACE, Idaho (AP) — The nationwide copper strike has made Wallace School District 203 a "disaster area, educationally," Gov. Don Samuelson has been told.

Supt. Otto Isler made the statement in a letter to the governor Wednesday. He said the district was faced with the possibility of closing the Silverton Elementary School, west of Wallace, and reducing the elementary and junior high school staffs by five to meet the money crisis.

He said the economic slump was due to the copper strike, with the district's income going down as operational costs "continue to spiral upward."

The district will attempt to pass a five mill school levy in an election scheduled for next Tuesday.

The trouble came because of the prolonged strike at the Galena mine which has been tied up in the eight-month-old strike. The mine is operated by American Smelting and Refining Co.

One-Third Of Florida's Public Schools Closed

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — A third of Florida's public schools were closed today as nearly 40 per cent of the state's public meetings despite a personal plea from Gov. Claude Kirk for an immediate return to the classroom.

The Republican governor, who was censured by the Florida Inactive Association last fall for his stand on school spending, told the teachers he has no plans to call another special session of the legislature in the near future.

"There's no reason to go ahead and spend $17,000 a day for the state to stand on the sidelines," Kirk said. The governor said he might consider a second special session if the Democratic-controlled legislature indicates its attitude has changed.

The state Department of Education reports on a survey of Florida's 1,349 schools Wednesday, said 503 schools were closed. Several counties reported additional schools would be closed today for "planning days" called by school boards.

In Tallahassee, state attorneys obtained a Feb. 28 hearing date on their petition to have the FEAC officials cited for contempt of court for allegedly violating court injunctions against inducing teachers to remain away from classes.

The FEAC called for mass resignations last Friday after rejecting a $25.5 million spending and tax package passed by the legislature.

County school boards have drawn heavily on Florida's big pool of retirees in manning still-open schools, using former teachers, lawyers and chemists as substitute teachers. The practice has drawn criticism from the FEAC and its county affiliates who contend the substitutes in many cases are not qualified.

Hanoi Radio Center Hit By U. S. Planes

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. planes for the first time in the war attacked the Hanoi radio station that beams out all Communist propaganda from North Vietnam. U.S. Command announced Tuesday. But monitors said Radio Hanoi was still on the air.

The strike Wednesday against the station, which military spokesmen said has the most powerful transmitter in Southeast Asia, coincided with these other developments indicating a sharp escalation in both the ground and air wars:

- Air Force F105 Thunderchiefs attacked another target for the first time, a manufacturing military storage area 41 miles southwest of Hanoi.
- The number of Americans killed in combat jumped to a record high for the war last week, 543, and there were 2,547 wounded, 120 less than the record. It was a week of hot fighting in the Viet Cong's lunar new year offensive against South Vietnam's population centers.
- Official U.S. sources disclosed that a new Communist force was organized and equipped by the Chinese without any foreign help, has been used in the war for the first time.
- The same sources said elements of two Communist divisions are still menacing Saigon.
- Johnson's blueprint was a long range one, calling for only relatively modest increases in federal outlays during the first year.
- "No single statement or message," he said, "can embrace the solutions to the city's problems. No single program can attack them."
- He said that despite his 10-year goal, "no one can say how long it will take, or how much of our fortune will eventually be committed."

U.S. sources also disclosed that the North Vietnamese 324th Division had moved across the demilitarized zone to the area of Quang Tri City, key provincial capital 34 miles north of Hue. About 50,000 Communist troops were reported to be in or just on the fringes of South Vietnam's two northernmost provinces—Quang Tri and Thua Thien.

The attack on the Hanoi radio station apparently was intended as a blow against Communist propaganda claims of great victories in the South and of shoot-

Church Attacks Foreign Policy In Senate Speech

WASHINGTON (Special) — Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, told members of the U.S. Senate today that "nothing in the constitution suggests that the federal government was established for the purpose of restructuring the world."

In a telegram excerpt from the major speech Wednesday, Church said, "The bipartisan foreign policy of the United States has left us ill-equipped. Since the end of World War II, our attention has been largely diverted away from the problems at home and riveted instead on distant shores. So, too, have our resources."

"Today we are much more in a warfare, than a welfare state. Of the $17-billion voted by Congress in 1967, an astonishing 74.7 per cent went for war or war-related programs, while only 12.2 per cent went for health, education and welfare."

The American dream of omnipotence, said the Senator, "has shattered before our present agony in Vietnam. Whatever the eventual terms of settlement, we have learned the chastening lesson others learned before us, that there are limits to what outsiders can accomplish by force of arms."

"The presence of a huge American expeditionary force in this small Asian country has reduced to puppyry, in the eyes of its own people, the very government we sought to bolster. Can unheeded warnings over many years now be used to unmake a war? Clearly, they cannot; the questions must be reframed. The victims of events, we must now ask if the premises of 1953, which have brought us to the realities of 1968, will be relevant in the world of 1978. Fear blinds us; fear of communism which transcends faith in freedom; fear of a future that we cannot shape with our own hands."

Decision On Bank Branch Is Expected

BOISE (AP) — A decision will be announced at noon next Monday on an application by the Bank of Idaho to establish a branch office at Twin Falls, Commissioner of Finance John D. Silva said Wednesday.

If the State Department approves the application, approval still will be needed from federal authorities.

The Bank of Idaho, which announced earlier that it had asked authority to establish the branch, said that if it gains approval it plans construction of a new office building in Twin Falls.

Protests to the new bank branch may be filed with Commissioner Silva in writing or verbally prior to the Monday decision.

Ex-Senator Lucas Dies In Hospital

ROCKY MOUNT, N. C. (AP) — Former Sen. Scott W. Lucas, 74, of Illinois, died early today in Rocky Mount's Park View Hospital after suffering a cerebral hemorrhage.

Lucas was rushed to the hospital from Florida bound train and was admitted at 10:40 p.m. Wednesday night. Dr. Rufus Ratchford of the hospital staff said he died at 5:50 a.m.

Lucas was Democratic majority leader in the Senate when he was unseated by Republican Everett Dirksen in 1958.

Liberals May Have Buried Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate liberals who staved off an attempt to ditch open housing legislation may have buried at the same time chances of pushing any civil rights bill through Congress this session.

By a 58-34 vote, the Senate rejected Wednesday a table and thus kill a proposal to prohibit discrimination in the sale or rental of virtually all housing.

But Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield called the vote a futile move that could doom President Johnson's basic civil rights program.

The next crucial step will be a second vote Monday on whether to cut off the five-week civil rights debate that has stalled the Senate since Congress reconvened in mid-January.

To break the Senate's debate-limiting closure rule and bring the legislation to a vote would take a two-thirds majority of senators voting.

An attempt Tuesday to invoke closure fell seven votes short. The count was 85 to 73.

Mansfield said if the new closure move fails Monday, that will be the end. "Twice is enough," he told newsmen. "We will have exhausted every effort."

Police Stand By

LORMAN, Miss. (AP) — More than 100 state highway patrolmen stood by at Alcorn A&M College today where nine persons were injured during a dormitory riot.

About 40 highway patrolmen were in the first group sent to the all-Negro school in southwestern Mississippi to quell a riot in a dormitory.

They said they had to fire on 200 students to clear the burning building Wednesday and were shot at by persons armed with pistols and a shotgun.

Shotgun Blast Nothing For Boy Who Had Pen In Heart

Tim Williams, 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Williams, 918 Spruce Blvd., was back in Magic Valley Memorial Hospital Wednesday night.

Two years ago he underwent surgery to remove a portion of a ball point pen from an artery at the entrance of the heart. The surgery and his survival made medical history across the country. The injury resulted from a home made rocket he and his friends fashioned from the pen.

Wednesday night, young Tim was playing some guns in a gun rack he had made for his parents and decided to see if the .10 gauge shotgun had been unloaded. Without taking it out of the rack, he opened and closed the chamber twice. The second time the gun discharged, sending a volley of shot into the content basement wall. The shot ricocheted back, striking the youth in the left elbow and side.

After an interval of about an hour, the youth decided to call his parents. Mr. Williams is in the Navy reserve forces in California and Mrs. Williams is visiting him.

Advised by his mother to call a doctor, the youth and a friend went to the hospital where he was treated for the injury.

Police reported the injury was not serious and the boy was treated and released to his home.

Rap Brown was under way in New Orleans. Campbell was hospitalized with a head injury. Brown was later arrested on charges he violated his bond on a gun charge. (AP wirephoto)

Rap Brown Sent Off To Jail

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Black Power advocate H. Rap Brown was sent to jail today as his lawyer drafted a defense on a new charge and tried to raise $100,000 bond.

Attorney William Kunstler of New York hoped to get the bond reduced at the preliminary hearing, the next legal step facing the militant Negro leader.

On Brown, a spokesman for the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, after he lost a legal argument in federal court about a court order limiting his travel.

The FBI said Brown, during a recess, told FBI Agent William H. Smith, "We will get you better not find out where you live, and if you have any children we will get them too."

When Brown walked out of the courtroom Wednesday, vowing to go on a hunger strike in jail, the FBI hustled him to a U.S. commissioner's office to hear the charge of intimidating and impeding an FBI agent.

Commissioner Fritz H. Windhorst fixed bond at $50,000. In federal court, a few minutes earlier, Brown posted another charge violation of a federal firearms law had been fixed at $50,000 and he had been ordered to forfeit $3,000 of his old $15,000 bond.

Poll Shows Republicans Favor Nixon

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — More than half of the rank-and-file Republicans surveyed recently by the Gallup Poll favor former Vice President Richard M. Nixon as the party's 1968 presidential candidate.

The poll said Wednesday that Nixon, who collected 51 per cent of the votes in the survey, continued to widen his lead in a field of eight top Republicans.

Nixon's new top challenger, New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, his closest rival in the survey, by 28 percentage points, according to the February poll. January figures showed Nixon with a 13-point edge over Rockefeller.

Surging in California Gov. Ronald Reagan with eight percentage points.

Michigan Gov. George Romney, besides Nixon the only other declared GOP presidential candidate, was fourth with 7 per cent of the vote and eight per cent of the vote when added.

He has lost 5 per cent of the votes since last January and 17 per cent since last September in similar Gallup polls.

Nixon also has registered gains among independent voters, a group who do not align themselves with either of the two major parties. Rockefeller had drawn even with Nixon among independents in January, but the former vice president now leads the governor by 35-25.

When the voters were asked which one of eight Republicans they would like to see nominated as the GOP candidate for president in 1968, 51 per cent said Nixon; Rockefeller, 25 per cent; Reagan, 8; Romney, 7; Sen. Charles Percy of Illinois, 3; Sen. Mark Hatfield of Oregon and Mayor John Lindsay of New York City, each 2 per cent, and retired Army Gen. James M. Gavin, 1. Six per cent expressed no preference.

Talks Of LBJ, Thant Are Fruitless

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson and U.N. Secretary-General U. Thant talked about Vietnam Wednesday without evidencing any progress toward negotiations to end the war.

Thant received red carpet treatment for the one-hour White House session, which he termed useful. A presidential spokesman described it as friendly.

The U.N. officer reported on his just-concluded trip to India, Rangoon, Britain and France in search of a formula to get peace talks going. He met with North Vietnamese diplomats in New Delhi and Paris as well as with the leaders of the countries he visited.

Administration sources here said U. Thant was apparently not encouraged by what he found. The secretary-general was understood to have uncovered no particular shift in India's position toward the United States, but conditionally halted his bombing in order to get North Vietnam to the conference table.

Bermuda Meet May Be Last Such Session

WASHINGTON (AP) — A scheduled treaty to Bermuda by Britain and House members for a four-day U.S.-British parliamentary conference may mark the last such session on that sunny island.

Rep. Wayne Hays, D-Ohio, said the site of Igloo, British Columbia, may be shifted "to get away from the criticism the word 'Bermuda' seems to promote."

The conference, which is to begin Sunday and continue through next Thursday, is the eighth Britain and the United States have had in Bermuda.

American attendance is at this point uncertain. Four members of the House and four from the Senate normally have met at Bermuda with a like number of members of Britain's Parliament.

"It's a good conference," said Hays, who is uncertain about attending this year. "There's a lot of give and take."

An official at the British Embassy said the treaty of the meeting will be monetary policy. "The meetings will be confidential," he said.

Hays said conference organizers are discussing having future meetings held alternately in Great Britain and the United States. His mild criticism of a winter conference in Bermuda is one reason for the possible shift.

The conference schedule lists daily conference meetings at 10 a.m., with a reception each evening and a Monday black-tie dinner for delegates and wives.

It carries this footnote: "The social activities schedule is tentative. A final schedule will be received on arrival in Bermuda."

Seven Die As Fire Sweeps Ohio Home

POWHATAN POINT, Ohio (AP) — Seven people, including a mother and five of her children, died early today in a fire which swept through their small wooden home near this Ohio River community.

It was Ohio's second tragic fire with so many victims, less than a week last Monday when a fire in a Cincinnati home killed six children.

The victims here were 26-year-old Mrs. Cleve Stoenbecker; her five children, Florence, 12, Pauline, 10, and Helen, 9, and Cleve Jr., 1, all Mrs. Becky Wolfe, 59, a cousin who lived with the family.

There were two survivors, both of whom were burned badly but who managed to jump through a window to safety. The father, Claude, 32, and his son Steve, 10.

Authorities said part of the dwelling was made of logs, with a small frame addition where Fire Chief Wilbur Perry of Potosi, Mo., says a blaze apparently started from an overheated coal stove.

Sen. Church

own hands; fear of sudden devastation hurtling down from the skies. The nuclear monster we ourselves unleashed returns, like Frankenstein's, to haunt our lives. Theologists testify that a frightened man strikes out in all directions, a characteristic conspicuous in our own foreign policy of recent years."

Sen. Church called for a general reassessment of American foreign policy, stating "if we could only overcome our obsession with the status quo, we could start a s-k-i-n-g-some-practical questions."

"I don't propose swinging the pendulum back to ostrich-like isolationism. One extreme needn't call for the other. I propose, rather, that we find a rational middle ground where the limits of our resources, and where we reserve direct military measures for those occasions when that middle ground is present through the security of the American people."

"I wish I could express some confidence that, by an act of our own will, we might soon commence to alter this country's position toward the world, in one selective, intelligent, but I have no such confidence. Like other nations before us that drank deeply from the cup of foreign adventure, we are enamored with the notion that actual war is a moral alternative. Besides, powerful vested interests now encrust and sanctify our policy. Were we to wait for the hierarchy of either political party to advocate a change of course, I fear we would wait indefinitely."

Sen. Church pointed to the deterioration of public morality and the growing crime rate in America, tying them in with the present policies of the United States.

In summing up his Senate talk, Church said he would continue to guerrilla warfare on our own streets before we begin to put first things first. How long do we have to wait before the men who occupy the seats of power finally see that though the republic may be a United States, it is a government, and far-reaching, there are none so important as those who owned the American people?

"Out of such an awakening, a new age would dawn. We would not sit and wait for relief. We would redouble our vigilance, bequeathed to us by our earliest statesmen, men who understood, from the first, that our capacity to influence other lands depends upon our moral leadership, not our military might; upon the force of our example, not the force of our arms."

Rostron Talks On Water At Blackfoot Luncheon

BLACKFOOT (AP) — Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce Manager Ray Rostron said in Blackfoot Wednesday whether the American Falls Dam is raised or not doesn't matter so much as unity of Idaho people regarding the destiny of the state's water.

"Whether the dam is raised and the size of the reservoir increased or it is kept the same, we in Idaho have got to get together in our thinking. If we don't conserve the water we do have, it will go to other states," Rostron said.

He was in Blackfoot to address chamber members here at a noon luncheon. The subject of his speech was what chambers of commerce can do for their communities.

Idaho and Twin Falls have excellent economic possibilities, he said, but cautioned that progress comes only with cooperation between individuals. The chamber at Twin Falls serves individuals with daily information about questions they have, he said, chamber committees and councils are busy doing the work individuals can't accomplish alone.

"With organization and cooperation in mind, we can make Idaho a great place in the nation, with high civic pride. Some people would have their towns stay as they are but things never stay still—they either go forward or backward."

"Citizens and members of chambers of commerce must be willing to work together to succeed," he said. "Animals and insects are busy doing the work individuals can't accomplish alone."

Increase In Salaries Is Below Normal

BOISE (AP) — The rate of increase over the past school year of Idaho teachers' salaries was less than the national average, while the rate of increase in spending per pupil was greater.

Public school teachers' salaries rose seven per cent across the nation, comparing 1966-67 to 1967-68, to a $7,320 average.

The State Department of Education said Wednesday the average in Idaho for the current school year is $6,045, which compares to $5,703 for last year.

This works out to an increase of about 4.4 per cent.

Nationally, per pupil spending rose about 10 per cent with per pupil spending for the current year estimated at $623 per pupil for last year at $560.

In Idaho, the increase was 11.9 per cent with per pupil spending for the current year estimated at $517 and for last year $462.

Elmore Meet To Discuss Gem Program

GLENN'S FERRY — Every five years the county extension service participates in program projects when the county is invited to make known what it would like the service to include in its programs.

People have a chance to examine what has been accomplished in the past and to evaluate how effective it has been, and suggest how in future extension work can be developed to coordinate with such agencies as education, mental health, and welfare to help people in Elmore County.

The meeting will be held in the Elmore County Courthouse in Mountain Home at 2 p.m. Friday, reports Mrs. Marilyn E. Jordan, extension home economics agent.

Youth, 10, Is Witness To Utah Shooting

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — A 10-year-old boy on his way to school witnessed a murder and suicide on a city street Wednesday.

Police said Scott Roskelley, 49, shot his estranged 45-year-old wife, Cleo, in the head, then turned a pistol on himself.

Officers said the boy, whose name was withheld, saw Roskelley pull up to his apartment in a truck-camper. The man's wife stopped behind in a car. The boy told police that Roskelley opened the car door, and shoved the woman over. He said he heard a shot and saw the woman slump. Aftaid, he began to run.

When he heard another shot, the boy, Cleo, turned to see Roskelley fall to the pavement outside the car.

Pamphlet On Snowmobiling Is Available

Sawtooth National Forest personnel have just completed publication of a pamphlet designed to assist and inform all snowmobile owners and operators on the safest and best way to enjoy their machines on public or private lands.

Published in cooperation with the local snowmobile associations and the Fish and Game Department, the pamphlets are available from any Forest Ranger station or from the Sawtooth Forest Headquarters in Twin Falls.

P. Max Rees, supervisor, said snowmobiling on public and private lands is rapidly increasing. There are more than 225,000 of the machines in use nationally now, compared to only 8,000 in 1964.

"This impact is being felt on the Sawtooth National Forest as well as on the portions now recovering winter recreation by snowmobile. This pamphlet is designed to make people aware of the hazards and to encourage their common sense in winter travel. Emphasis in the pamphlet is on respect for property of others, protection of wintering big game animals and safety," Mr. Rees said.

In addition to specific rules for snowmobile travel, the new pamphlet lists proper supplies and equipment for safe snowmobiling.

Midshipmen Caught With Marijuana

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — The superintendent of the U.S. Naval Academy says 13 midshipmen face dismissal on charges of smoking marijuana in their rooms in Bancroft Hall, the academy dormitory.

Rear Adm. Draper L. Kauffman, the superintendent, said Wednesday the dismissal recommendation would be made to Secretary of the Navy Paul R. Ignatius.

Acceptance of this recommendation by the secretary is generally considered the final step. It would be the largest group dismissed from the academy in its 123-year history.

The incident marked the second time in 10 months that midshipmen had been caught smoking marijuana in their rooms. That houses the 4,000-man brigade of midshipmen. Four were dismissed in a similar incident last June.

Kauffman said the current problem came to light after an unidentified midshipman reported that he had seen several midshipmen who appeared to be smoking marijuana in a midshipman's room in Bancroft Hall.

A spokesman at the academy said an investigation made his observation over the weekend and led to the strict honor code to report to his superiors.

The academy said the Naval Investigative Service in Washington was continuing its probe to determine the source of the drug and stop its use.

Though the names of those involved were not released, the academy said they included 11 juniors, one sophomore and one senior.

"Smoking marijuana is a violation of academy regulations, U.S. Navy regulations and the U.S. Uniform Code of Military Justice."

A spokesman said the midshipmen involved would probably not face disciplinary action such as a court-martial but would simply be dismissed and become eligible for the draft.

The Antagonists Lack Sense Of Values

WASHINGTON — Nobody won the battle of Orangeburg, because three human lives were snuffed out and it didn't settle anything. The Negro students at the two South Carolina colleges and the white population of Orangeburg are still figuratively, at each other's throats only more so.

As is so often the case, the antagonists seem to lack a sense of values. The fighting in which the three youths were killed was the climax to a students' campaign against an Orangeburg bowling alley whose owner barred Negroes. This raises the question of whether a bowling alley should be taken that seriously.

Predictably, our dandy little Attorney General Ramsey Clark, says it should. He has filed suit against the alley for alleged violation of the public accommodations section of the Civil Rights Act of 1964. In doing so, Clark is well within his official rights, but his action suggests that one side is a touchless potty than the other, which is political flummery.

I will go along with those who argue that in such confrontations cops should take the minimum dose of abuse before firing any shots in anger. This is not a felicitous argument, but it imposes one of the two basic attitudes mandatory in these situations. Those who complain about police brutality, however, ignore the second requirement, which is that demonstrators or mobs make it absolutely clear they are not about to attack the cops.

There was sporadic gunfire from the campus before the killings. The shooting which caused the deaths of the three youths was a spontaneous reaction to the wounding of a policeman, who appeared to have been shot in the face. Later, it was learned he had been hit with a heavy object, but that isn't how it appeared when he was carried away.

Both good sense and prudence say the police should not have fired into the mob even with such provocation. A police force properly trained and disciplined would have employed other tactics to quell the rioters. But riots are a relatively new thing on the American scene, and there hasn't been opportunity to train every police force in the country in methods for dealing with them.

Moreover, the police have a case in most of these riots. They have learned their sometimes fatal sorrow that demonstrators sometimes come equipped with firearms, as witness Detroit and Newark, where the snipers were not throwing just rocks. The instinct of self preservation, if not the average cop facing an angry mob, especially if he has heard shots in the neighborhood.

Besides, the demonstrators apparently were under the not always benign spell of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee. From experience, most cops react to SNCC's presence in just about the same way the police chief of Caracas would react to news that one of Fidel Castro's drill instructors was in town.

All this does not excuse a situation which made possible indeed inevitable, the taking of human life. But it does argue that since demonstrations and riots seem to have become a way of American life, the demonstrators and rioters should bear at least a dollop of the responsibility for the violence they provoke. If the law says a bowling alley should not discriminate racially, it also says folks should not commit mayhem on cops.

Deafening Silence

There hasn't been much noise recently about the arid Southwest having designs on the water in the Northwest states of Idaho, Washington and Oregon, but don't fool yourselves—it hasn't been forgotten.

A reminder turned up this month in a speech made by Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., to the Senate Chamber of Commerce. Sen. Jackson noted that California congressmen are mounting a new offensive to divert Columbia River water to the Southwest. "They are doing this," he noted, "despite growing evidence that diversion is the most costly approach to solving water problems."

The Washington senator, chairman of the Senate Interior and Insular Affairs Committee, said studies are showing that water desalination and weather modification can provide additional water at less cost than a giant federally-sponsored siphon from the Pacific Northwest.

"The man-made river some people in the Southwest desire would cost billions," Sen. Jackson said. "If the Southwest can find the power in the Congress to win on the diversion issue, it may also force the Northwest to pay a good part of the cost out of the federal Columbia River System Basin Account. This would directly affect the cost of power in the Northwest."

He went on to point out that the Senate voted down diversion studies last year, 70-12, but noted that California congressmen have united to introduce new legislation in the House this year calling for such studies. Colorado congressmen introduced similar legislation.

Department of Interior officials testified recently that diverting water from the Columbia River would cost more than $150 million a year, compared to $80 million a year for desalinated Pacific Ocean water transported 300 miles into Lake Mead on the Colorado River. An operational weather modification program could increase the flow of the Colorado River by 20 percent at a cost of only $1.50 an acre-foot.

Sen. Jackson further stated that "it simply does not make sense to transport water 500 to 1,000 miles away to irrigate crops that could just as well be raised in Washington and the Northwest."

Idahoans can well heed the Washington senator's words. The threat to the Columbia River is a direct threat to the entire Northwest, including the Snake River Plains of Idaho.

Road Toll Drops

Deaths on U.S. highways in 1967 remained at about 53,000, the same level as 1966, and the National Safety Council is rejoicing. Perhaps rejoicing is too strong a word, but the council is happy the number was not higher last year, because the figure of vehicle miles driven was higher.

In terms of statistics, this means the rate of fatality was 5.5 per 100 million vehicle-miles, down 4 per cent from the 5.7 rate of 1966.

Despite this slight improvement,

Howard Pyle, council president, warns: "Any progress that has been made against the factors that produce traffic accidents will dissipate unless the nation strengthens its current efforts for traffic safety."

An estimated 1.9 million persons also suffered disabling injuries from auto accidents last year. The absolute statistics of dead and injured are not made less painful by the knowledge that it required more vehicle miles to produce this carnage.

MR. SPECTATOR

Diary Of An Operation

Someone once said that a coward dies a thousand deaths, a hero dies but one.

Well, Mr. Spectator died a thousand times the other morning, but is still around to tell about it. Tell about what? His operation, of course.

It's one of those deals. He knew he was going to have to have the surgery done — go under the knife, as it were — but there was always the hope that something drastic would happen to stop it. Perhaps the doctor would drop dead. Perhaps the hospital would burn down. Alas! Nothing came along at all and so at the appointed hour of 8 a.m. on that dreary, rainy last Tuesday morning he started the long walk from the front entrance of the Magic Valley Memorial hospital to the operating room far beyond the X-Ray department.

Mr. Spectator turned from the main hall into the hall leading to the operating room. To his tired old eyes it looked more like a tunnel than a hall.

It was empty. The bench at the far end looked miles-and-miles-away. But he plopped down upon it. He might be lucky. Perhaps they had forgotten all about him. No such luck.

A side door opened and Craig Hill, who turned out to be an operating room assistant or something along that line, asked Mr. Spectator to come in. The door shut behind him. He was trapped!

Commands — all gentle, of course — were given by young Mr. Hill. Tie off. Shift off. Undershirt off. Slip on the backward gown. Sit on the table. What's your address? How old are you?

Mr. Spectator balked on the age question. Whose business was it how old he was? Suffice to say that he was so far along in life that most of his friends were dead.

A rustle behind the table. Enters one Joyce Dalrymple, a nurse. A mask covers her face. Why should she cover it up? Actually it wasn't that bad.

She wheeled in a strange looking machine — along with bundles of sterile cloth of various styles and length. Mr. Hill plastered a cold and greasy bit of metal on Mr. Spectator's back. This, he said, would serve as a ground so the machine wouldn't blow up.

Seems as though they attach you up with electricity rather than a needle. Much neater way, but you must be grounded to ward off any explosion or something. All very interesting to say the least.

Flat on his back on the table went Mr. Spectator. He was relaxed, despite the fact he had been strapped down. These medical people are plenty smart. Once you get in they make sure you cannot run out until they have done their job.

Enters one Dr. John McKain. He had hid his face, too, and he must have run out of towels because his hands were dripping wet. Dr. McKain's long suit is heart surgery. Mr. Spectator figured he would be a great guy to have around in case he started gasping for breath.

The spot on the body on which the operation was to be performed was washed. Then some cold feeling liquid was spread over it. Mr. Spectator's eyes were covered with a cloth. Dr. McKain said it was to keep the blood from running down. Mr. Spectator knew better. It was to eliminate any eavesdropping so he could operate on himself next time around.

Then the needle with the local anesthetic. A prick and no more feeling. Then the announcement by the good physician that he was ready to start cutting. Still no feeling.

All along the doctor was telling Mr. Spectator it wouldn't hurt. Mr. Spectator never heard the assurance above his screams for help.

Fifteen minutes or so passed. It was over. The die was cast. The sick was healed. In fact the sick was there no more — it had been cut away.

Mr. Spectator gulped down a couple of aspirin which the nurse said, were to ease the pain when things started to wake up. Little did she know he had consumed six others before he went to the hospital.

Undershirt back on — shirt back on — tie back on. Mr. Spectator stood on weak legs. He glanced in a mirror.

Disappointment! What an all that cutting there should have been a much larger bandage. Such is life!

At least he lived through it. What a relief. And that mole on his forehead — the one people looked at instead of looking him in the eyes — was gone forever.

Mr. Spectator's forehead is all smooth again — with the exception of a couple of wrinkles placed there by Father Time!

OPERATION SEQUEL

Mr. Spectator is sick again. Happened just a day after the above story was written about the big mole operation. Now why is he sick?

Ignore the part in the original story about that fancy electric sew-em-up machine. Just ain't so. Mr. Spectator changed bandages this morning. They're four black-headed stitches in that hole in his head. He was framed!

Next doctor appointment for him is Friday afternoon. Sure-as-hell-looks-altogether will be taken out. Mr. Spectator is sick — at heart that is.

A coward dies a thousand deaths . . .

PAUL HARVEY

It's Our First No-Win War

Americans, ours is the only nation in the world which has ever purposely fought a no-win war.

When Hungary rebelled, Russia waded in and wiped out the rebels in nine bloody days. We called them "barbarians," but their war cost 3,000 lives. Ours in Vietnam has already cost 300,000 lives.

The French were beaten and thrown out of Africa and Indochina.

The British gave up and got out of Asia and the Far East.

But we, neither beaten nor victorious, are presently engaged in our second pulled-punches war — where the announced objective is a stalemate on the 50-year line.

Our Star Deputations is strange willingness to commit more and more of our sons and our guns and our funds all over the world — but not fight all-out to win.

There could not be a better design for the gradual destruction of the United States if the Peeking Communists were themselves blueprinting our destruction.

Our professional military men in Korea and since have been thrust into situations which are unbecoming, embarrassing, degrading. The very idea that we can bomb secondary targets, but must spare primary targets — is inexcusable, indefensible and un-American.

Yet, absurd as this posture is, in a presidential election year I hear nobody offering the voters a real, honest-to-God-Sam alternative. The alternatives to our present pussyfooting are all-out or get out. And nobody seems to want to recommend either.

I know something of the fear which the politicians face. I've faced some of it myself in recent weeks.

When I began to document the case for withdrawal I received white feathers in the mail.

Further, it is uncomfortable and embarrassing to find myself in bed with some peace-at-any-price people whom I do not respect.

But most personally hurtful is the fact that there are many sincere American patriots left over from an earlier era who still pledge their allegiance. "My country, may she always be right, but—right or wrong—my country!"

They would blindly follow a blind leader if he carried our flag.

And I love those people. I admire and respect them. I'm proud for a lifetime to have been one of them.

But after an agonizing reappraisal I am convinced that heeding either Hawk or Dove is preferable to the chicken-polly which presently sends American sons into worthless jungles to fight today's war with lesser weapons than the last one.

No, my country is right in so many ways that she is worth fighting for. But in this no-win war my country is wrong—and it's time somebody says so.

WAYNE BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Drug Combination

Q—I am taking Raufrax N Mifflid. In three days my blood pressure is high. Does this drug have any bad side effects?

A—Drugs derived from Raufrax serpentina are among the best remedies for hypertension. The drug you are taking is one of the safest because the addition of Naurestin makes it possible to get the desired effect with relatively small doses, as with all powerful drugs, side effects may occur. Any unusual symptom should be reported to your doctor.

Q—is it true that a pinch Epsom salt taken each day will lower the blood pressure?

A—So small a dose would have little effect, good or bad, on the body. It is not recommended in any dosage to lower the blood pressure.

Q—I am taking Duril for high blood pressure. Has it any bad side effects? Does it affect the hair?

A—Chlorothalidide (Duril) is primarily a diuretic. It should not be taken by anyone who has kidney or liver disease. If you have a problem with your hair, some other cause should be sought.

Q—I have a slightly elevated blood pressure and am taking Diupres. Has it any bad side effects?

A—This is a combination of chlorothalidide and reserpine which is said to be more effective than either drug alone. In the recommended dosage, it should not cause any side effects.

Q—I have high blood pressure and am taking Mebaral which keeps my pressure around 100-90. I also take Placidyl to help me sleep. Is it harmful to take these drugs continually.

A—Mebaral is a barbiturate. Both drugs are habit-forming. Q—I have high blood pressure and am taking Aldomet. Will it help me? What are its side effects?

A—Methyldopa (Aldomet) is an effective blood pressure reducer. In too large a dosage it may cause headache, weakness, dry mouth and lightheadedness. Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Q—When I take aspirin my right eye swells up and I get nauseated. Is there any substitute I can take without a prescription?

A—There are many non-addicting pain killers that do not contain aspirin, but none that are safe to use without medical supervision.

Q—After a fall, I developed a mild arthritis of my shoulder and elbow. I play golf without bringing on any pain. Could this aggravate my arthritis?

A—Not so long as it causes no pain. In cases of traumatic arthritis, complete recovery is the rule.

The Best Face

WASHINGTON (AP) — Carried to their logical extreme, administration claims that the mass Communist offensive strengthened South Vietnam appear to indicate the allies would be better off if only the enemy attacked more.

Or that Sunday's assaults on the Tan Son Nhut air base and other areas were good medicine.

Or, carried to absurdity, that the South Vietnam army should attack its own cities and thereby guarantee national unity.

Of course, presidential adviser Walt Rostow didn't mean to imply any of these things, but his latest assessment of the Viet Cong raids on the cities illustrates how hard the administration is trying to put the best face possible on some difficult circumstances in the war zone.

Rostow, telling newsmen of the briefing, gave to former President Dwight D. Eisenhower in California, said of the recent attacks:

"We're in the middle of a battle that is unresolved but from their own documents they failed to achieve their objectives and may have left the South Vietnamese army and government institutions stronger than before the attacks."

Rostow said the enemy actions have driven the South Vietnamese populace "closer to a sense of nationhood than ever before."

Elliott Bunker, U.S. ambassador to Saigon, told me the same thing at Rostow in a television appearance Sunday. Bunker said the South Vietnamese army gained confidence in the Jan. 29 fighting.

"I think the people have gained confidence in them," Bunker declared. "There is an indication, I think, that the government has probably a wider support today than it had before the Tet (lunar new year) offensive."

Officials in the Pentagon acknowledge that if the Tet attacks proceed anything like the Viet Cong will has the capability to launch damaging attacks on certain cities and in-

Anybody Here Seen Charlie?

WASHINGTON — My friend Kober doesn't seem to identify too much with what is going on in the cities of South Vietnam these days, so my friend Schultz had to explain it to him.

"Suppose," said Schultz, "you came home one night and found the police surrounding your house, and suppose you said to the chief:

"Hey, what are you shooting in my house for?"

"Don't worry, Sir, Charlie's in there, but we'll get him out."

"That's fine, but do you have to shoot at every window to do it?"

"It's the only way. If we don't rout out Charlie, there will never be any peace in this neighborhood."

"That's just great, but in the meantime would you stop using that flame thrower on my house?"

"Charlie's dug in and we have to use everything we've got. It's for your benefit, Sir. The sooner we get him out of there, the better it will be for everybody."

"I'm sympathetic with your problem, and I'd like to get Charlie out, too, but where are

I going to live if you keep firing mortars into the roof?"

"Good heavens, man, don't be unreasonable. There's more at stake than your house. If we don't get Charlie out of there, we'll lose the respect of everybody in this city."

"Why did you just blow off that tank?"

"We thought he might be up there. Look, you can always get a new chimney."

"Sure, but what am I going to do for a new garage, since you just blasted mine away?"

"You can't fight crime and lawlessness without doing SOME damage. Now, be a good guy, and just stand back so we can move this artillery piece up here."

"Now wait a minute, you're going too far. I forbid you to use artillery against my house."

"You are in no position to forbid us to use anything, Charlie has to pay for his crimes."

"That's all right with me, but his going to pay for my house?"

"If I'm sure somebody will take care of it. Besides, that's not our department."

"I don't want to be a bore the seminar are to promote an awakening on the part of Idahoans to world situations and the needs of the world's poor, and to promote an awareness of the responsibility all humans have for one another, regardless of nationality or environment.

"We are hopeful this will lead to concrete suggestions whereby the time, talent and treasure of more Idaho people can be brought to bear on the growing problem of world hunger, disease and misery," stated John D. Riley, general chairman of the seminar.

Mrs. Rowden presented petitions with nearly 1,000 signatures to the board Tuesday recommending a deferment. Her two older sons, James and John, were both 21 when they died.

Mr. and Mrs. Rowden and Douglas all work at the Medford Corp., a lumber complex. A fourth son, Malcolm, 10, also lives at the family home in Jacksonville, Ore.

SPEAKER NAMED

BOISE (AP) — Mrs. Endicott Peabody, wife of the former governor of Massachusetts, will be a featured speaker March 2 at a Democratic Women's Workshop in Boise, part of the state party's Jefferson-Jackson Day series.

Peabody is now assistant director of the Office of Economic Planning.

The women's workshop will be held prior to the state central committee meeting, according to Violet Harms, Boise, organizer of the workshop.

OPTION TAKEN

WALLACE, Idaho (AP)—The owner of the Galena mine near Wallace, Callahan Mining Co., has announced it has taken an option to acquire a manufacturing firm in California.

Callahan said the option to buy Pathway Hollow of El Cajon, Calif., involved 117,165 shares of stock.

President Orders Embassy Bombing Be Cleared Up Fast

WASHINGTON (AP)—Working under President Johnson's personal order to clear up the case quickly, police and FBI agents probing a bomb explosion at the Soviet Embassy are exploring a possible link with a dynamite theft in nearby Virginia.

They said Wednesday night they had "several leads" on the case.

Eighteen sticks of dynamite and 50 blasting caps were reported stolen from a construction site in West Springfield, Va., a Washington suburb.

The theft was noted Wednesday shortly after the pre-dawn explosion shook the four-story embassy, just four blocks from the White House.

Johnson and Secretary of State Dean Rusk expressed regrets but the State Department rejected the charge of inadequate protection. There were indications the Soviets would be compensated.

One embassy official said the explosion could have been the work of fanatics inflamed by a three-day mock trial of communism which ended Wednesday on the Georgetown University campus in Washington. It was sponsored by a coalition of anti-Communist groups and included lengthy testimony concerning Communist torture and religious persecution in Iron Curtain countries.

Police had no comment on this theory.

No one was hurt in the blast but it did slight damage to a first-floor office and reception room, shattered windows in nearby buildings and shook U.S.-Soviet relations.

The Soviet government formally protested the incident, accused the United States of providing inadequate protection and demanded compensation.

The Daily Investor

By WILLIAM A. DOYLE

Q. I plan to borrow some money to buy a house, which I would then rent out. I would set the rent high enough to cover the mortgage payments, real estate taxes and all expenses.

Would deduct the depreciation (say four per cent of the cost of the house) each year on my income tax return—giving me a tax shelter.

When my accruing investment in the house became large, I would sell—hopefully at a profit. Then I would buy a more expensive house, thus avoiding any tax on the profit. By retirement, I might have built up full ownership and the rent would help support me. What do you think of this investment plan, in contrast to buying stocks or mutual fund shares?

A. I'm not going to knock your estate, as an investment. It can be very profitable. But your plan has one big hole in it. If you sell rental property, your profit most certainly will be taxed—as a capital gain.

You seem to be under the rules mixed up. It is only when you sell your own home (your "principal residence") and use the money to buy a more expensive home that you don't pay tax on the profit. In that case you are exempt from the bill on some distant date—when and if you sell and buy a less expensive home or move into rented quarters. But this rule does not apply to income property such as you are considering buying.

And, because you are claiming a depreciation allowance on your annual income tax returns, the chances are that you will have a good profit, when and if you sell. Don't misunderstand. Depreciation is a good thing. Just be sure you understand it.

You mention four per cent depreciation. That's about right. In the bookkeeping trade, it's called a 25-year straight line depreciation rate.

Let's say you buy a house, with a purchase price of $25,000.

Using the four per cent rate, you take a depreciation deduction of $1,000 on your income tax return each year—reducing your taxable income and the tax you pay. You have built yourself a nice little tax shelter.

I hope you realize that you can't depreciate anything forever. If you own the house in this example for 25 years, you will have taken the full purchase price in depreciation. Your cost will then be zero. No more depreciation.

And the depreciation you take reduces your cost. So, if you sell, you'll have a bigger profit. In this example, let's say you sell after five years. After taking $1,000 a year depreciation, your cost basis (originally $25,000) is reduced to $20,000. If you sell for more than that, you have a profit—taxable as a long-term capital gain.

As long as you have the ground rules straight, you will most likely find your investment plan quite profitable—especially if you set the rent high enough to do more than just meet expenses. Better than stocks or mutual funds? Only time will tell. My own bill went.

Red Troops Form Ring Around Khe Sanh

By JOHN T. WHEELER
KHE SANH, Vietnam (AP)—The 40,000 North Vietnamese troops surrounding the Khe Sanh combat base have closed their siege ring so tightly that neither withdrawal nor reinforcement of the U.S. Marine garrison could be carried out except at a cost of heavy casualties, Marine officers at Khe Sanh believe.

Under the cover of several days of heavy fog, the Communist troops have established bunkers and trench positions within 300 yards of Marine positions.

Snipers are close enough to fire on Marines planting mines and strengthening barbed wire defenses around the two-mile square combat base, 14 miles south of the demilitarized zone.

It appears that the battle for Khe Sanh, expected to be the biggest of the war, is still some days and possibly weeks away.

A veteran Vietnamese battalion commander whose troops hold part of the eastern perimeter said he believed the North Vietnamese would continue to dig bunkers and tunnels and reposition supplies for some weeks to come.

He said history had proved North Vietnamese commanders expand massive effort to prepare battlefields so they will have the maximum advantage tactically and enjoy the maximum protection from air and artillery strikes.

North Vietnamese tanks have been reported in Khe Sanh village less than two miles from the Marine perimeter around the base's air strip. Two weeks ago, North Vietnamese tanks spearheaded the assault which overran the Lang Vei Special Forces Camp four miles west of Khe Sanh.

It is not known how many tanks the North Vietnamese have in the Khe Sanh area, but the number is assumed to be considerable.

Despite one of the largest aerial campaigns in history to cut the North Vietnamese supply routes, the Communists' trucks have made it as far as Khe Sanh village with supplies.

Senior Marine officers remain confident that they can beat back any North Vietnamese attack. But they concede that any defensive positions can be overrun if the opposing commander is willing to commit enough troops.

Some Marine officers are concerned about the strictly defensive, "let them come to us" role assigned to the 5,000 Leathernecks and 500 Vietnamese troops defending the Khe Sanh complex.

One Marine officer said the North Vietnamese high command is being allowed to set up the chessboard with the knowledge that the Communist troops will have the first move when the battle is joined.

One officer, asked how he felt about being cooped up behind barbed wire, replied: "I've got a fever. It's what Gen. Rommel called panzer fever." Many other Marine officers also say the opportunity to reinforce Khe Sanh and return the Marines to an offensive role has passed.

Any force coming into the base by helicopter would suffer heavy casualties from the artillery and machine-gun fire that zeroes in on the landing strip.

A helicopter assault outside the perimeter also would be extremely risky because the North Vietnamese hold key hill positions that could rake landing zones with heavy fire.

Virtually all resupply at Khe Sanh is done by air drop.

Marine officers also say retreat or withdrawal from Khe Sanh is almost unthinkable. The Leathernecks and Marines to the east would almost certainly run into massive ambushes. The twisting narrow road the Marines would have to use is almost perfect for enemy ambush.

The Enterprise is commanded by Capt. Kent L. Lee, 46, a native of Florence County, S.C. Lee's wife is the former Mary Edith Buckley, of Piedmont, Calif., and she and their three children live in Piedmont.

Enterprise Returns To Vietnam War

SAIGON (AP)—The nuclear-powered aircraft carrier Enterprise, the world's biggest warship, returned to the Vietnam war today after being diverted to Korean waters because of the Pueblo crisis.

The 85,000-ton carrier joined two other 7th Fleet flagships—Ticonderoga and the Bon Homme Richard—in the Gulf of Tonkin 100 miles off North Vietnam.

This is the Enterprise's third tour of duty in the Vietnam war. She had just left Japan on her way from the United States when North Korea seized the U.S. spy ship on Jan. 23. The carrier, which has 100 planes, was diverted to Korean waters for a show of force which didn't get the Pueblo or her crew released.

Jackie's Trip Is Touching Off Rumors

MONTREAL (AP) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy took her children to Canada Wednesday for a skiing holiday, touching off rumors that she was on her way to marry Lord Harlech. There were quick denials from the British peer and from a spokesman for her Canadian host.

"There is no truth at all in the rumors," the 40-year-old peer told a newsmen in London. "I am not seeing Mrs. Kennedy in the near future. There is no question of an engagement or anything like that."

Rumors that Mrs. Kennedy planned to fly on to London to meet Harlech were denied by a member of the Timmins family at whose country estate she and her children are staying.

"We're here to ski," the member of the family said. "After the weekend, we're all heading back to Montreal, I suppose."

Mrs. Kennedy, Caroline and John, are staying with in-laws Robert Timmins, in Ste. Agathe, Que., about 55 miles northwest of Montreal.

The Timmins family spokesman laughed when asked whether Lord Harlech was coming to Ste. Agathe.

"That's too funny," he said.

The latest rash of marriage rumors stemmed from an item in the New York newspaper Women's Wear Daily. It said the "hottest rumor in town" was that Mrs. Kennedy and Lord Harlech would be married on Washington's Birthday.

Harlech was ambassador to Washington during the Kennedy administration. His wife was killed in an automobile accident last May 31, and Mrs. Kennedy flew to England for her funeral.

Buhl Trout Farm Is Star

TV Special Is Fish Tale

In a little more than 30 years there will be six and one-half billion people crammed into the confines called earth. To feed this mass of humanity is one of the staggering problems facing world leaders today.

Idaho gets its share of this attention next Friday night. The story "Tomorrow's World: Feeding the Billions," will be seen at 9 p.m. Friday over Cable Vision on Channel 2, Salt Lake City.

Featured in a part of the national presentation will be Robert Erkins' Snake River Trout Co. near Buhl.

Mr. Erkins and his staff of professional fishermen, nearly 60 in all, produce millions of fish — trout — a year at the hatchery.

Viewers, in addition to watching the Idaho fish-growing operation, will see how sea water can be used for drinking water and how food can be processed from the depths of the oceans. They will see how fish men can become a wholesome food, and how fish production can be improved.

It is estimated that sometime in the next 30 years most of the starving people in the world will be eating foods processed nearly entirely from the earth's waters.

By the 21st century, nearly

Bach Is Coach For Penn State

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP) — John Bach, after 18 years of basketball coaching at Fordham University, will take over as Penn State's head basketball coach this spring.

His appointment to succeed John Egl was announced Wednesday by Penn State Athletic Director Ernest B. McCay.

Egl, 45, announced several weeks ago he was asking to be relieved of his coaching duties after 14 years in the post. His teams won 180 and lost 133.

Bach, 43, has a career record of 258 victories to 192 losses.

downing the poor-shooting Valley Vikings 81-51 while Kimberly exploded into a big margin in the middle quarters and dropped to 69-58.

The meet continues Thursday night with Wendell and Shoshone coming into play for the first time at 8:45 p.m. and Castleford, holding the first night bye, playing Kimberly. At stake in the tournament are two trips to the state meet in Burley. Kimberly hit Declo with a strong three-pronged scoring attack in Larry Rietz, Lynn McMasters and Rod Bulcher, who accounted for 60 of the Bulldogs' 69 points.

The shorter Hornets put up a stiff battle in the first quarter and took a 16-15 lead in the opening minutes of the second period on Karl Darrington's basket. But then Declo started mashing and Kimberly's height seldom gave the Hornets a second chance. Rietz connected to shove Kimberly back on top and then came points from McMasters and Bulcher and a fast-break cripple by Rietz. Declo stood for a moment on two long shots by Lewis before Denny Erickson and Rietz hit two each and McMasters added three free throws to push the Bulldogs into a 33-20 halftime edge.

Midway through the third quarter, with McMasters coming up with some fine assist passing, Kimberly wedged in front 42-23.

Declo started coming back on the shooting of Gary Mallory and late in the game closed the gap to five points. McMasters got a free throw and Rick Erickson added a cripple off a steal to pull Kimberly out of danger. Declo's last chance came with 1:17 left when Darrington hit a jumper but in the closing minutes Rietz and Bulcher padded the Kimberly cushion.

Glenns Ferry stormed off to a 16-0 lead in the first minutes against Valley and eight points was as close as the Vikings could come after that.

The Pilots' zone defense didn't keep the ball outside as well as Coach Gordon Brown wanted it to in the early minutes but they hurried some hurried shots within a six-foot area around the bucket and missed.

The Pilots mounted a 14-3 lead before Don Meyer got Valley's first field goal on a rebound shot. Bloxham entered the game and hit three straight to keep Valley from falling completely out.

The Vikings stayed within eight to 14 points over the half but in the second half Glenns Ferry stretched out and creased with a 50-32 lead early in the fourth period.

At that point Bloxham, Tony Bragg and Thompson hit points to close the gap to 12 but Valley lost its momentum when it blew an all-time triple play steal.

Pack's free throw got Glenns Ferry off 50 before Meyer hit a rebound shot to reduce the margin to 11. The rally died the next time down the floor when Wilson and Hall got four points to re-establish the count at 15.

From then on Wilson and Hall got enough points to keep Valley at least 10 points back.

NCAA Selects Five More Teams

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The National Collegiate Athletic Association announced five more teams Wednesday for its college division basketball tournament next month.

They were Philadelphia Temple (17-3), Cheney (Pa.) State (17-4), Assumption of Worcester, Mass. (12-3), Bridgewater State (12-3) and American International of Springfield, Mass. (17-4).

Britain Defies Tennis Group

LONDON (AP) — British tennis officials again defied the International Lawn Tennis Federation Wednesday and repeated their determination to go ahead with open tournaments.

The British Lawn Tennis Association rejected a report on amateurism by the I.L.T.F. chairman, Derek Hardwick, chairman of the I.L.T.A., said the federation's plan for authorized, or semi-professional, players is "the quintessence of hypocrisy."

The I.L.T.F. prepared its report in accordance with the I.L.T.A. that has arisen from Britain's open plans.

HEMMED IN, Kimberly's Lynn McMasters tries to get off a jumper against the Declo Hornets in A-3 district tournament action at Shoshone Wednesday night. A foul stopped the attempt. Kimberly went on to claim a 69-58 victory.

NFL Owners Approve Bargaining Agent

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Football League agreed Wednesday to recognize the NFL Players' Association as the exclusive bargaining agent for the athletes, pending verification of an unbiased check of membership.

The agreement, announced jointly by Ted Kheel, labor consultant for the owners, and Dan Shulman, labor counsel for the players, was announced after a meeting between representatives of the two groups.

Both sides emphasized the step was only a formal procedure that would lead up to bargaining on basic issues.

Shulman declined to list the players' demands that will eventually come up for arbitration.

Coyotes And Snakes Watch Runner Train

CASA GRANDE, Ariz. (AP) — Howling coyotes and frightened rattlesnakes provide the eerie chorus for distance runner George Young as he peds his way through early morning desert mists in preparation for the Summer Olympics.

And indoor track fans across the country have been adding to the triumphant chorus.

Young, after 10 years of a tortuous, self-imposed training routine, has yet to lose in seven indoor races this year, winning six 2-mile events and another at three miles.

His best 2-mile time, going into this week's National AAU meet in Oakland, Calif., was 8:31.8 in Los Angeles. He clocked 8:31 in the Metras Games 3-miler.

Twice an Olympian, the 31-year-old high school science teacher already has been felled once by a bleeding ulcer in his pursuit of that most elusive and fleeting of goals—"my best effort."

So, at 6 o'clock every morning, Young dons sweat togs and takes to the dirt roads of the desert 10 miles outside Casa Grande. Sometimes it is so dark he can hardly find his way.

"A lot of running is by starlight," said Young, "but I always look for the moon to be out so I can see the road."

"I have company," said Young of his daily seven to eight mile run. "The coyotes are always yipping and howling, and when it's warm you can hear the rattlesnakes."

"You can't see the snakes, but hearing the rattle is enough. My heart jumps up into my mouth."

In the afternoon, Young goes through a 90-minute routine at the high school track which he calls his interval workout, running short distances against the clock.

Why does Young, married and the father of a young son and daughter, do this? "I had an undistinguished track career with the University of Arizona, says his almost evangelical approach to track began in 1959.

"It was after a meet with the Russians," recalls Young. "I got beat real bad. And that's when I started to train hard. I knew I could whip them."

Weber Grabs Big Sky And NCAA Berth

By The Associated Press

It's all over but the shouting in the Big Sky Athletic Conference basketball race with Weber State College leading the league by two games with four left to play.

Coach Dick Motla's Wildcats all but iced the championship over the weekend with important victories over Idaho. With the title goes an automatic berth in the NCAA first round regional playoffs in Salt Lake City March 9.

Monte Vrenon of Weber was named Big Sky player of the week for his defensive play in the Idaho series.

Jack Gillespie of Montana State continues his point output with a 23 per-game average, followed by Montana's Ron Mayo at 20.2 and Ron Boone of Idaho State at 19.5. Jim Thacker, Idaho's bright spot, is averaging 19.5 per game. Gillespie also maintains the rebound lead with 16.1 per outing. ISU's Ed Wilson is at 14.5.

Phil Waddell of Idaho leads in two departments, hitting on 55 per cent on his field goal tries and 82 per cent of his free throw attempts.

Weber dominates the team statistics, leading the pack in the NCAA first round regional playoffs in team defense. Idaho State is tops in team offense and Idaho in team free throw percentage.

Idaho Aims For Uniform Big Game Season Dates

BOISE (AP) — The Idaho Fish and Game Commission said Wednesday that if this year's opening dates for hunting seasons prove popular, they may remain in effect indefinitely. The season openings in the future would vary by day of the month, but not by day of the week.

This gives sportsmen eight to nine months to plan hunting trips. Woodworth said it would be of advantage to some sportsmen and to outfitters and guides to know season starting times as far in advance as possible. With the exception of the mourning dove, cottontail and quail, rabbit seasons, which begin Sept. 1, all hunting seasons for 1968 will begin on a Saturday.

Burley To Host Minico In A-1 Tourney Friday

Minico meets Burley at Burley Friday night in the opening round of the first quarter of the best A-1 regional basketball tournament since the classification was established four years ago.

After a great start, the Twin Falls Bruins were held to a 7-7 Southern Idaho Conference record and have lost five of their last seven games. Coach Charles Farmer estimates that his Bruins can get back to the edge they showed early, they will be a tough team to stop.

From a scoring viewpoint the tournament is a matter of points. All three boast a good starting and capable scoring duo. So the championship will hinge on which team does the best against the auxiliary men on the rebounding boards.

In the late stages of the season, Minico shifted to position for close-in shots, largely by sophomore Jim Boatwright. The 6-6 youth is hitting better than 50 per cent from the field.

Burley has largely gone the way of its guards with LeRoy Fink hitting over 50 per cent and teammate Jay Wardie gunning it in.

Pistons Suspend 6-10 Post Man

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Pistons indefinitely suspended center Joe Strawder Wednesday after he missed a flight with the club for a game out of town.

Strawder, the club said, missed a plane taking the Pistons to New York for Tuesday's game against Chicago, which Detroit lost 124-121 in overtime.

ning through about 45 per cent. The two generally are worth 40 to 45 points per outing. Coach Rulon Budge needs help from his underneath men and in a couple of instances got good scoring from Ron Russell and Bunn.

Coach Charles Farmer estimates that his Bruins can get back to the edge they showed early, they will be a tough team to stop. The Bruins have a great scoring potential in John Henning, runner-up in the SIC scoring chase with a 19-point average.

Forward Von Wells and Howard Hedrick are 40 per cent shooters and at 6-2 and 6-7 will have to anchor the Bruins' rebounding. Coach Farmer again will be drizzling centers between Kent Driscoll and Jerry Mills with junior John Bradley slated for relief action.

The season Burley and Minico have played each other around once—each winning on the home floor. The Bruins dropped Minico by 22 points in Twin Falls but that was early in December. Burley and Twin Falls have not met this year.

Irving Reedy was the top rebounder in the EIC and the 6-4 senior, in his third tournament as a starter, is generally worth 10 points. Senior guard Rob-Sea-son has turned from a scorer to a feeder much of the year and Tom Cook has developed into a front liner.

Burley has largely gone the way of its guards with LeRoy Fink hitting over 50 per cent and teammate Jay Wardie gunning it in.

SHOSHONE—Various phases of the Community Action program were explained to the City Club and guests when the January meeting was held at the courthouse. Joe F. Flaherty, Boise, from the state office of Economic Opportunity, was the speaker, introduced by Frank Dallas, of the local FHA office.

There were guests from Halley, Richfield and Twin Falls, as well as the guests from Shoshone area.

"Explaining the community action program is central to the War on Poverty," Mr. Flaherty said, "help is provided through the program to both rural and urban communities with technical and financial assistance to implement anti-poverty programs.

The community action programs vary as the needs of the people vary in different parts of the nation.

They include multi-purpose neighborhood centers, containing various services and local agency offices, manpower and job development projects, Head Start programs and Head Start follow-through programs into the first grades, legal service programs, comprehensive health centers and other health services, family planning programs, housing serices, adult education, tutorial services, upward bound programs, foster grandparents programs and local planning and coordinating efforts, enabling local agencies to better allocate their resources.

"By bringing together the appropriate voluntary and government agencies and by contacting the state government to determine how its agencies and programs can help in the total anti-poverty effort, the local community starts on a sure footing toward developing a successful Community Action Program," Mr. Flaherty said.

Mrs. Corwin Silva, president, conducted the meeting and led members in recitation of the club collect.

Mrs. R. G. Neher and treasurer, Mrs. William Karner, reported on funds raised the past few years on projects. In view of these, the committee for the fund raising project said the club will sponsor a public dance April 20.

Funds raised will go toward assisting other community organizations in putting in a new scoreboard at the school recreation field. The club has donated $25 to the Rotary Club project for cooking outlets at the park shelter.

A letter of thanks was read by Mrs. Harrell Thorne, secretary, from Perry Hadlock, president of the Rotary Club.

Members of the club accepted the invitation of Mrs. Ivan Hopkins to hold the February meeting at her home. She is one of the hostesses, to serve with Mrs. Paul Jacobson and Mrs. Oliver Payne.

A memorial to Mrs. Elin Vredenburg will be made by the club and her obituary prepared for the District Federated Women's Club magazine.

Mrs. Silva reported on a discussion she had with State Federated Women's Club president, Mrs. Helen Dickinson. Mrs. Silva pointed out that every member is listed on a committee any one of which could be developed to the betterment of the community if the committee cared to put forth the effort.

Spotlighted

Abigail Van Buren, whose "Dear Abby" column appears in the Times-News, is a national spotlight this week.

Abby, in real-life Mrs. Morton Phillips of St. Paul, Minn., is the subject of a picture article in the current issue of Look magazine.

The magazine article shows "Dear Abby" working on her newspaper column, giving advice to youngsters, being an "exuberant" hostess and telling how she manages to combine a busy career with being a mother and a wife of a successful business executive.

Her brand of advice, "decent" with "back-fence" practicality, heavy on aphorisms, with an occasional ray of wit, the article reports, is what "sells" her column.

But along with handing out advice, the "decently organized" columnist also takes teenage dilemmas seriously and is currently sponsoring a research project on a scene at Stanford University. She explains in Look her views on smoking, drinking, hippies, sex before marriage and why she doesn't think a woman should be forced to have a child she doesn't want.

PINOCHILE PARTY HELD — Mr. and Mrs. Richard George were hosts to members of the Double Three Pinochle Club at a party at their home. Mr. and Mrs. James Sargent won the high prizes; Mrs. William McCoy, traveling, and Mrs. J. E. Neumann and Farnum Warr, low.

Carl Kinney Is Speaker At Civic Club Meet

SHOSHONE — A talk on the United States Constitution was given by principal of the local high school, Carl Kinney, during the Civic Club program recently at the home of Mrs. Ivan Hopkins.

Mr. Kinney gave the historical background of the constitution, stating, "we have been under the constitution only three years longer at this time than the country had been under English rule prior to adoption of the constitution."

On reviewing the branches of the government, he outlined the five basic qualities of the constitution and noted changes in political parties over the years. He stated, "If the Communists tried to take over our government, they would have to gain control of all three branches of government."

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: We are an elderly couple, and childless. We have lots of nieces and nephews who were brought to our small place when they were young. We loved them and kissed away their bruises, and always remembered them with nice gifts at Christmas and birthdays, and so on. Now they are grown men and women with families of their own, and we are quite forgotten. We have written them letters, which were all ignored. However, we are still on their Christmas card list, although none of them has ever taken the extra five minutes to add a personal line or two.

Well, back in the thirties, the Mrs. and I inherited a little property, which was sold. On the advice of a banker friend we bought IBM and General Motors stock, and as you probably know, the investment was a good one.

We never lived extravagantly with fancy automobiles or showy homes. Never took expensive vacations as we like it here. We gave to charities, modestly, but never appeared rich because of the money hanging off the front of our backs. We enjoy simple pleasures like gardening and cozy nights around a fireplace. We have watched the mailbox for years for letters from our kids, but none have come. We have their printed store-bought cards at Christmas time. Our best friend is our mailman. On several occasions he has rung our bell, wanting to know if we were all right because his child's eye was stinging. Last Christmas he brought me a nice pipe and a can of tobacco. And he gave the Mrs. some powder and perfume. We gave him a turkey as he has a good wife and five small children. One day he is going to get a real big surprise, Abby, because in our will we have left our mailman $80,000. The rest will go to our church, crippled children, and the blind. Our relatives will get nothing because they gave nothing of themselves. I don't care how you sign this as long as you don't use our name or town. Sincerely yours, A QUIET COUPLE

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem. I like the guy I double-date with more than the guy I date. How can I get his mind off the girl in the front seat long enough to notice the girl in the back seat? GREEN EYES

DEAR GREEN EYES: You had better try to get his attention some other time. If the girl in the back seat shows any interest in the boy in the front seat, she's apt to wind up sitting at home.

CONFIDENTIAL TO 'LOVED AND LOST' Your "problem" reminds me of an old Chinese tale: "One tear met another tear floating down the river. Said the first tear, 'I am the tear of the woman who lost her lover.' The other tear replied, 'And I am the tear of the woman who got him.'"

Problem? Write to Abby, Box 87700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Oregon Miss, Fischer Say Wedding Vows

FILER — Sally Kathleen Myers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Myers, Salem, Ore., and Wayne Paul Fischer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Fischer, Filor, were united in marriage Dec. 20 in Zion Lutheran Church, Corvallis, Ore.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Michael L. Moler before an altar decorated with poinsettia plants and gold candelabra holding white tapers and flanked by large white baskets of red and white poinsettias. A decorated and lighted Christmas tree stood in the background.

The bride wore a gown of de-lustered white satin, fashioned with bell sleeves, an empire waist line and A-line skirt. A full train fell from the shoulders. Handcut applique lace embellished the scooped neckline, sleeves, hemline of the gown and train.

Her fingertip veil of silk illusion was held by a crown of illusion petals adorned with pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of red roses and white carnations encircled with white lace.

Julio Ann Myers, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Marion Mason and Barbara Gidley.

Glenn Fischer was best man for his brother, and groomsmen were Dan Nusselt, Corvallis, and James Bornklee, Baltimore, Md. Ushers were Jack Stahand, Oregon City, and Dave Probstal.

John Harrel, Corvallis, was organist and accompanied Mrs. Arthur Goldgrabe, soloist.

The reception was held in the church parlor. The refreshment table was covered with a lace cloth over satin and centered with a square wedding cake, decorated with red roses and topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom. Matching floral arrangements of red and white carnations, centered with slender white tapers, flanked the cake.

Mrs. Lester Blair and Mrs. Spiros Vergis cut and served the cake. Mrs. Robert Straw and Mrs. Ernest Growing presided at the coffee service and punch bowl.

The couple will reside at 207 Westville Ave., West Caldwell, N.J., where the bridegroom is employed as an electrical engineer for Western Electric.

The bridegroom's parents hosted a rehearsal dinner at the church. Special guests at the wedding were Rev. and Mrs. Carl Lasser, Sherwood, Ore.

BAD THINKING LOSES HAND

The bear gets a little, the bull gets a little and the hog gets nothing at all. At least that's an old Wall Street saying.

It doesn't always apply at bridge. Sometimes the hog comes out on top but year in and year out it is an expensive habit to be a hog.

South's one spade response is a typical hog's bid. When your partner opens the bidding and ing lead of the queen of hearts and the defense started with two tricks.

If West had held the ace of hearts or if any other suit were opened it wouldn't make any difference whether North or South were declarer. As long as the defense can't take their first two tricks, North and South have a clinch to make six spades and might even make seven if they played for it.

Of course, South could not visualize the final result when he bid respond one spade. However he might have looked ahead a trifle and said to himself, "If this hand does play in spades, I would prefer to be dummy. It shouldn't be a tough hand to play and the only lead that can really hurt us will be a heart lead through some honor combination in my partner's hand."

That is good bridge thinking but the hog is not a good bridge thinker. If he were, he wouldn't be a hog.

You, South, hold:

What do you do now?
A—We don't know! A pass is too conservative a slam bid or no chance that you can invite your partner to bid a slam and get him to accept the invitation. We would probably bid six spades and hope for the best.

TODAY'S QUESTION
Instead of passing over your two spades West bids three diamonds, North and East pass. What do you do now?
Answer Next Issue

you have a sound opening bid of your own you should bid as normally as possible and the normal response with the South hand is one diamond.

Most of the time the choice of one spade won't hurt since the hand will play at three no-trump, or if it does play in spades, it won't make any difference which hand is declarer. This time our hog was really punished. They reached a spade slam. West had a normal open-

Demon Rum Makes Girl A Demon

Dear Ele and Walt: If a person gets drunk and says all sorts of bad things, does that indicate that the person is really like one of those demons who live under the earth and are really evil? Apparently so far, it just something that liquor does to the new relationship each time. But there will come a time when a boy wants to say good-bye for the first time does. How would you want him to treat you then? How would he break it to you? What should he tell mutual friends beforehand? How soon should he start going straight again? This would be worthwhile discussing with your prof-pal, and would reassure him that his daughter is a "caring person. Why not try and see if the chat isn't of value? — Ele and Walt.

Dear Ele: My boyfriend, Pierce, is a very nice fellow. He is a big dancer between sharing and showing off. When we're alone and you kiss me, we're sharing tenderness and I like it very much. But when there are other people around, I think of them when I want to concentrate only on you. This is "performing" and it spoils the fun. If he still persists, stop acting and let him see how little response you feel in these circumstances. A "cold" you should chill his public grandeur. — Ele.

Dear Beam: Try one more or with words. "Pierce, there's a big difference between sharing and showing off. When we're alone and you kiss me, we're sharing tenderness and I like it very much. But when there are other people around, I think of them when I want to concentrate only on you. This is "performing" and it spoils the fun. If he still persists, stop acting and let him see how little response you feel in these circumstances. A "cold" you should chill his public grandeur. — Ele.

Dear Teri: Today "going steady" means "channeled dating." For an undetermined period of time the couple date only each other. It's no commitment for any future "tomorrow." You're right there.
