

$1.2 Billion Is Asked To Aid Conservation

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson summoned Congress today to help reserve the nation through a $1.2 billion program to conserve America's natural resources, "not only for man's enjoyment, but for man's survival."
The President put priority on conservation programs which focus on the pool of pure water and air, aiding development of the land, preserving and creating beauty and wild outdoor recreation facilities.
The program proposes a probe of "peaceful promises of the ocean's depths in cooperation rather than competition with other nations."
It seeks new authority to act against shipowners who discharge oil along the shores, in part by assessing them with the cost of cleaning up the mess. The latest oil pollution incident, at San Juan, Puerto Rico, spread 1.5 million gallons of oil over bay and beaches when a tanker broke in two earlier this week.
Johnson asked for governmental authority to control strip mining which leaves the land scarred and barren.
He asked for more national parks and wilderness areas.
Urging action against air pollution, he said: "From the great smokestacks of industry and from the exhaust of millions of machines, 130 million tons of soot, carbon and grime settle over the people and shroud the nation's cities each year."
He also sought action on water pollution and control of "the debris and clutter cluttering our landscapes and spoiling beaches."
"Conservation's concern now is not only for man's enjoyment but for man's survival," he said.
Secretary of the Interior Stewart Udall said the program carries a $1.2 billion cost, with $600 million now being spent. Udall called the message "the most comprehensive, most significant conservation message ever sent up to Congress by a President."
A key proposal was more governmental aid to communities building water-treatment plants to fight water pollution, with the aim of generating $1.4 billion worth of plant construction.
The President also urged final legislation to save these natural wonders.
The Potomac River, which weaves a loop through Washington, Maryland and Virginia for some 200 miles, by making it a national river, because failure to preserve it "will make us the nation of generations to come."
2. California—Resolution will depress in El Dorado National Forest, Ventura Wilderness in Los Padres National Forest, wilderness area designation for the San Rafael and San Gabriel wilderness areas.
3. Colorado—The "Hot Tops," 4. Arizona—Mt. Baldy, Pine Mountain, Sacamonte Canyon.
5. The Spanish Peaks.
Johnson said other possible preservation areas he surveyed are in Arkansas, Oklahoma, Georgia and Florida.
The President also asked Congress to speed up legislation to control dealing with aircraft noise. Plans would be certified on the basis of noise levels.
Johnson proposed a new law to supplement earlier legislation which would make it unlawful to discharge oil from a shore facility, or from a ship operating within 12 miles of the coast.
Officials said it was not an attempt to extend the three-mile territorial limit, this nation's record, but was intended to expand the previous standard by liability which was limited to gross medical negligence and to the three-mile line.
The accompanying provision to require the polluter to pay all cleanup costs, contrast with present liability limited to the salvage value of the ship involved.
Johnson said no reservation of the special Gulf of Tonkin resolution, saying it was "based on false representations."
The establishment of the resolution by Congress in 1964 preceded the recent escalation in Vietnam.
Fulbright recently held hearings on the controversial naval involvement in the Gulf of Tonkin, involving two U.S. destroyers, "Ladd" and "North Vietnam's torpedo boats. He concluded the Johnson administration gave misleading information to Congress regarding alleged attacks by the Communist vessels.
Kennedy renewed his charge there is "deep seated corruption in the South Vietnamese government." He said Johnson had commented on such allegations—accusations in a December, 1966, issue of the "New York Times" that "there's stealing in Beauport, Tex."
"If there's stealing in Beauport, Tex.," Kennedy said, "there's stealing in Vietnam."

On New Vietnam Action

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford said today President John F. Kennedy's Vietnam and related actions. He said the question of more troops for Vietnam will be one of the major decisions he made. Clifford, sworn in as Pentagon chief last week, said he had a "strong feeling" about the Vietnam situation. He said that a process of discussion, examination and—exactly as different as they have been under any other President—has been going on since Gen. Curtis LeMay's arrival in Vietnam in 1965.

Attendance at the Twin Falls seminar of world hunger, disease and misery outraged that of others held this week through out the state.

At the first session Thursday night at the Holiday Inn, some 135 people attended to hear talks by James C. Jennings, Washington, D.C., and Wilson Radway, New York City, two men who have been working overseas and seeing the suffering which exists in various poverty stricken areas.

The two men stressed that further resources are needed in developing countries where the mortality rate from malnutrition is extremely high.

Father John Riley, chairman of the sponsoring committee, said that attendance at the other seminars in Idaho Falls, Boise, Nampa, Caldwell, Zerkow and Pocatello, ran about 100 or under.

He said that through the seminar itself, and visits by Mr. Radway and Mrs. Jennings to Robert Stewart Junior High School, a church youth group and the Kiwanis Club, about 700 people have been reached to date.

During the Thursday night banquet, a special award was given to the Buhl Farmers' Association for its contribution of hundreds of thousands of pounds of beans to CROP, the department of "in-kind" resources of the United States.

The seminar continued Friday morning with a workshop and was scheduled to conclude prior to Friday.

The board had been exploring the possibility of the new schools since it received results of a survey of the county's school system. The survey team recommended that the two schools be constructed one to be near Rupert and the other in the west end of the county.

Swamp Benefit MONROE STATION, Fla.

(AP) — A benefit in most places usually means climbing to a light tax and appealing to your stomach for the chicken-a-la-king you're told is 30,000 pounds of wild hog, swamp cabbage, blackberries and what the sponsors describe as "other delicacies." Proceeds from the local alligator wrestling and turkey shoot this weekend go toward conserving the everglades.

Oregon May Have GOP Race

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Oregon may be the place where Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Richard M. Nixon first meet head-to-head in a primary battle for the Republican presidential nomination.

Rockefeller, who refused Thursday to rule out a race in the Oregon primary, must himself provide the answer. He has two weeks to decide whether to leave his name on the ballot.

The New York governor appeared to move closer to active candidacy Thursday when he said he had no "present intention" of entering the Oregon race but added: "I do not make a definitive statement ruling it out."

"I said I was ready, willing to serve a call," he declared. He said later his decision depended on whether there was a "genuine demand or draft or whatever you call it."

Rockefeller's followers in Oregon already have collected more than 30,000 signatures on petitions to put his name on the primary ballot. Only 1,000 names are required.

Only last week, Rockefeller had said he would file a disclaimer before the March 22 deadline to keep his name off the Oregon ballot. The primary is May 28.

Oregon law requires an affidavit that says "without qualification that he is not now and does not intend to become a candidate for said office at the forthcoming presidential election."

Both Nixon and Rockefeller have been successful in previous Oregon campaigns. Nixon won the primary in 1960 and carried the state 3-2 against John F. Kennedy in the general election of 1964.

But Rockefeller won the 1964 primary by a wide margin from a field that included Nixon and Barry Goldwater, using the slogan, "he cared enough to come."

The Olympics

It seems to have become fashionable among some circles—in recent years to snipe at the value of the Olympics and the allegedly autocratic ways of its governing committee.

Those who oppose the international games often charge that it fosters a kind of super-nationalism and indulges in world politics to such an extent that the primary purpose is all but forgotten. They point to news stories such as the many dealing with disagreements during the recent winter Olympic games at Grenoble, France, and to the uproar in the last couple of weeks about the decision of a number of African nations to boycott the summer Olympics because the Olympics committee has refused to bar South Africa, the world's most candidly divided racist nation, from participating.

What they fail to recognize in their arguments is that almost all of the political upheavals connected with the Olympics are generated by sources outside the sports fraternity, which try to use the tremendous amount of publicity the games attract for their own purposes.

From all reports, the situation among the athletes who take part, for the most part, is peaceful. There is a true spirit of individual, rather than national, competition in all but a few rare cases, and many close friendships have been fostered by Olympics contacts between athletes of various countries as poles apart politically.

At the same time, the "system" should get the blame—or credit—for the Gulf of Tonkin resolution which led to massive United States intervention in the Vietnam war.

In August, 1964, President Johnson and members of Congress were still on their honeymoon. During that idyllic interlude, Johnson could get practically anything he wanted on Capitol Hill. Besides, an election was coming up, three months hence, and the Democratic majority was not about to sabotage its candidate by refusing his request that he be authorized to take "all necessary measures" against North Vietnam "to prevent further aggression."

Parentally, the Tonkin Gulf resolution was a piece of political iron. It probably was running as the candidate who opposed sending "American boys" to fight in Asia, while the Democrats wanted Barry Goldwater as a warmonger. Yet the resolution, paved the way for the first U.S. air strike against North Vietnam, an act of war in any language.

At any rate, it is absurd for some members of Congress to put all the odds on Johnson. Neither the Maddox nor the Turner Joy was so much scratched during the two attacks by North Vietnam patrol boats on Aug. 2 and 4, and no American was wounded. In passing the Tonkin Gulf resolution, Congress was guilty of one of the most flagrant examples of over-reaction in the nation's history.

This is something odd—the proliferation of a Senate-Bill Fulbrighter of Arkansas, Wayne Morse of Oregon and Joe Clark of Pennsylvania, who will have five with. In their haste and partisanship, they were guilty of poor judgment. They were killed because they supposedly possessed "superior judgment." They were killed, statesmen who did not take their own medicine.

This is not to absolve either Defense Secretary McNamara because even sending the Maddox and Turner Joy to those waters could be considered a provocation under the circumstances.

A part of the destroyers' mission was to intercept the North-Vietnam radar installations to intercept their signals and the degree of their areas. Since there was a grim chance the U.S. would be successful in intercepting their hostilities, it was militarily important to know at what point the radar beams would be discovered by shore radar.

McNamara has called this adventure a "routine patrol," and has said the destroyers were "operating in waters where we had every right to be." He was right, from the standpoint of international practice. But the operative word here is "routine."

The Fulbrighters, Morse and Clark were mouthing a "well-argued case" when they insisted that in times of world tension, and especially in an area where a war was being fought, it was neither wise nor prudent to make such "routine patrols." In their view, the U.S. was looking for trouble and found it.

Nobody at the Pentagon will deny that there was a risk in making such patrols. But it is the military's premise that information picked up by electronic surveillance is of particular importance in times of stress. Or, put another way, if there were no such thing as a communist spy, would a communist be necessary?

However, this does not lessen the responsibility of our politicians, especially the Senate. The Senate's role in foreign policy is to advise and consent. It is particularly important that members be unusually stingy with their advice. But, of course, everybody would be better off if the Senate days-and-November was just around the corner.

Cong-Economic Strangulation

WASHINGTON (NEA)—If the Viet Cong are not to be eliminated by effective defense systems, in some respects, they can be used to strangle the economic life of the South to direct it where they will.

At a recent convoy can get through, often without major difficulty. But normal commerce can be blocked for considerable periods of time.

When the time is psychologically right, armed convoys can also be harassed or ambushed in order to further slow down the supply of essentials to the cities.

The Viet Cong control points can be taken by military assault. The VC know this, of course, and have alternative control points to move to.

Find The Cause

I have chronic colitis. Recently my stools have been pencil-thin. I read that this is a symptom of cancer of the colon. What do you think?

Although very thin stools are sometimes seen in persons with cancer, this is not a diagnostic finding. A feeling that evacuation is not complete is much more significant but this, too, is a subjective finding. It is not conclusive. In chronic colitis the stools are often mushy or ribbon-shaped. They may be of normal consistency at the start of a movement and wind up loose or watery.

I have been taking Prellin for spasms of the colon for over a year. What are the side effects of this medicine? Q. What is the cause of the pain of the legs called charley horse? Can anything be done for it?

The term "charley horse" sometimes used loosely to refer to any kind of muscle pain in the thigh, is properly restricted to overstretching of muscles in the muscles in the front of the thigh. It is not caused by an infectious germ and for this reason no kind of antibiotic would be helpful. In this case I agree with your doctor 100 percent.

It is not caused by an infectious germ and for this reason no kind of antibiotic would be helpful. In this case I agree with your doctor 100 percent.

MR. SPECTATOR

The Refreshing Turnabout

You would have to see it—or hear it—to believe it, but it is true.

With all the bumbling because Union Pacific wants to cut off several passenger trains which go through various sections of Idaho—and most of the rebuffings were protest—was startling to hear that two communities didn't care whether the passenger trains continue or not.

The two communities were Blackfoot and Idaho Falls. In the case of the Blackfoot protest, they pointed out that if the passenger train were, in fact, losing money for the railroad then they shouldn't be continued. The argument was carried to the manager of the Idaho State Automobile Association.

He said they should be marketed so that they can be replaced to travel in the same direction next winter," he declares.

According to tire manufacturers, the angle was a slight angle and this causes them to fly over a little on one side. Much of the effectiveness of the studs is lost if the tires are replaced to travel in the opposite direction.

"Also a danger, if the tire direction is reversed," said Mr. Navarro, "is that the holes in the tires become exposed—just as if they were being worn out. Kind of like having your old horse throw shoe, eh?"

TIRING PROBLEM

Dear Spectator: If you haven't taken your studded snow tires off the car and packed them away until next winter, here's some advice from Richard Navarro, emergency road service manager of the Idaho State Automobile Association.

He said they should be marketed so that they can be replaced to travel in the same direction next winter," he declares.

PEN-PALS

Looking for a pen pal? Mr. Spectator got one the other day from a Japanese girl, 22 years old, who wants to communicate with someone in the U.S.A.

She wrote that an exchange of letters and ideas at this time in history would result in "our having a better understanding of each other and this would mean a better friendship between your people and mine."

She adds that many Japanese youths do not know how to make contact with American youth but that the youth council on International Friendship is willing to write them. The Times-News as a possible source for pen pals.

Who would like to pal in Japan then here's her name and address: Yoshiko Ueno, 1-17 Miyamotocho, Tokorozawa-city, Saitama, Japan.

A THOUGHT

Dear Mr. Spectator: I am quoting from James Russell Lowell's "The Good and the Beautiful" which says "It is not the world we live in that we should hate but the world we are in."

Of course the best quotation about freedom is still our beloved Constitution of the United States.

And, when he has thought, he his cause strong for you and for the freedom will risk the other half for the freedom in spirit.

The Tax Increase Is Alive

(James Marlow is Ill. Today's column is written by Joe Coyle.)

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson's 10 percent income tax surcharge proposal, now seven months old, has remained virtually unchanged since a November 14 meeting with the Senate group.

An optimist when it comes to the surcharge's chances in Congress, Fowler pointed out in a recent interview that it took more than a year to win final approval of the last two tax cuts.

There are reports that any extension of the surcharge in Vietnam might prompt the administration to propose a surcharge even higher than 10 percent.

Some of Fowler's optimism probably springs from a statement by Charles William D. Mills, D-Ark., of the House Ways and Means Committee, earlier this month.

And some officials appear more hopeful than at any time since last fall that the surcharge will become law before long.

Secretary of the Treasury, Henry H. Fowler, one of the architects of the surcharge, expected to make a new appeal for the tax when he testifies

Wednesday before the Senate Finance Committee.

Although the committee is primarily considering a House-passed tax to prevent the annual drop in tax rates from dropping on April 1, it will be Fowler's first chance to bring the surcharge before the Senate group.

Nixon's Latest Crisis

WASHINGTON—Richard Nixon had another crisis just last week. I didn't realize it until he was returning from George Romney's press conference where he announced he was no longer a candidate for reelection as president.

My first thought was that the "people" had been passed over. It could very well turn out to be one of the dirtiest political campaigns in history.

"What that will it prove?" he asked.

"Suppose the old Nixon accused me of something that would be horrible and that the sympathy would go to the new Nixon."

"I'm following you," the volunteer said.

"The new Nixon could go on television with his family and his dog and let the people judge whether he's the old Nixon or the new Nixon."

"That's how much you know about Republican politics," he said.

"Nixon was counting on beating Romney. He thought he could win his last term. Now that he has no one to run against, he can't prove he's a winner."

"You mean Romney double-crossed Nixon by pulling out before Nixon could officially announce he was running?"

"I'm not saying who Romney pulled out, but you can draw your own conclusions. With the new man in the race, Nixon has to run against himself."

"What about Rockefeller?"

"Rocky's too smart to run in the primaries. He figures by the time Nixon campaigns in the primaries, people will be tired of him. If he wants to do someone else for the Presidency, that's that. If he works so hard for the presidential spot he should get it."

"That's what Dick says." "Why don't you have Nixon run against Harold Stassen?"

Pickup Camper Manufacturing Firm Locates In T.F.

A new camper manufacturing firm has located in Twin Falls. The firm was founded by Howard (Bill) Sturtevant, reports some units already have been completed. The firm's location at Volvo Builders Supply.

Mr. Sturtevant, who located in Twin Falls at the invitation of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce Industrial Development Committee, has begun construction of telescopic campers named the "Sturdybill".

The line of campers includes a complete line from one-man truck campers and slide-in units, up through the telescopic units.

Mr. Sturtevant said the greatest advantage of the telescopic units is that in the parked position they have great stability, less wind resistance, less danger in maneuvering due to crosswinds, lower fuel consumption and the ability to park in most garages and to get off the highway in thick brush and trees.

The units will be marketed through a dealer organization.

Mr. Sturtevant has an Associate of Arts degree in Business Administration from a college in Nevada City, Calif., where he was raised. He entered the camper business shortly after graduation from college, working in the manufacture of Custom Coach.

He also worked for the camper division of that firm, manufacturing campers under his own name.

He found this operation limited in Palo Alto, Calif., because of available space and a keen competition for his services. Looking for a new place to locate, he contacted the Industrial Division of the Chamber of Commerce and was invited to come to Twin Falls and view the opportunities here.

The industrial committee contacted Volvo Builders Supply as a supplier of necessary materials and an arrangement was made to supply both materials and temporary quarters for the camper firm.

Mr. Sturtevant and his wife Patricia, have three children.

Witnesses Protest Rail Termination

BOISE (AP) — While the Union Pacific Railroad claimed it lost more than $200,000 in the first nine months of 1973, a group of witnesses appeared at a Pocatello hearing to protest a proposal to discontinue passenger service between Pocatello, Idaho and Butte, Mont.

"These people don't want us to discontinue service," complained railroad attorney John J. Burbel, "but they're not protesting."

Railroad officials said further operations will mean more losses since the U.S. Post Office is now handling mail by railroads. They say the mail, which is now being diverted to air transport, was their biggest source of revenue.

Witnesses representing veterans' organizations, the Shoshone Indian Tribe and government appeared before the Interstate Commerce Commission hearing.

ICC Examiner Robert Murphy will hold hearings in Idaho Falls, Dillon, Meridian and Boise before formulating a recommendation to the ICC in the matter. Meanwhile, the ICC has issued a temporary order that train service will continue.

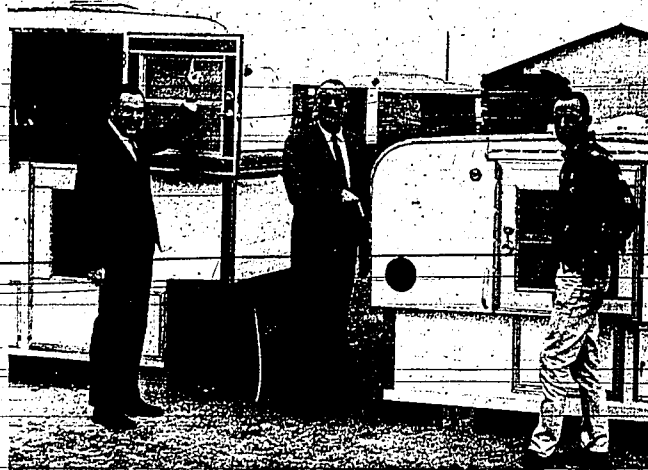

Union Honors Retired Members

GLENN FERRY — Retired members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen celebrated their 35th anniversary Tuesday night in War Memorial Hall.

Fifty-year plus were presented to Lester Allison, Ralph Muck, D. E. (Bob) Smith and Joe Roseaver. Rose, Awards also were made for 10, 25 and 30 year memberships.

Joe Arnold was chairman of the dinner committee, assisted by Leo Tripple, Charles Grog, Kenneth Starkey, Curtis Allison and Wendell Allison.

Gold Experts View U.S. Mart Prices

SPOKANE (AP) — A realistic picture of gold prices in the United States price on gold should be $10 or even up to $122 per ounce on the free market, a panel of gold specialists said this week.

A suggestion to permit the price of gold to fluctuate to its own level in an open market was advanced during the fourth and final seminar on gold by a panel comprised of mining specialists.

They agreed that the current U.S. standard of 35 American dollars per ounce is unrealistic in the current world market.

Richard Kibitsky, consulting mining engineer from Spokane, said the price should be $105 an ounce on the basis of comparing with 1934 prices of gold, silver, platinum and palladium with their prices of today.

Research statistician Frank Lilly said the price of gold, when reviewed in perspective with other metals, should be $119.60 per ounce. Statistically, the price of gold should be $122.18 an ounce.

Lilly said the London gold parity equivalent on the revealed pound sterling is $119.60 an ounce. He said a price of $122.18 would be required to provide the same U.S. Treasury gold surplus as in 1934 when the gold price was raised to $35.

Karl A. Jasper, a Spokane mining man, agreed gold should be allowed to find its own price in a free market.

Baby's Rites Set

GOODING — Franklin Gary Osborne, 14-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Osborne, died Wednesday at Gooding Memorial Hospital of a long illness.

He was born Oct. 19, 1967, in Gooding. Survivors include, in addition to his parents, two sisters, Kristian Osborne and Elizabeth Osborne, both Gooding; maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Aselbo Anderson, and paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Osborne, all at Gooding.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday at St. Edward's Catholic Church with Rev. Dennis Falk as celebrant. Laid to rest will be held in Elmwood Cemetery under direction of Thompson Chapel. Memorials may be made to the Crrippin Children's Hospital.

High Court Hears Report On Alcoholics

WASHINGTON (AP) — mental treatment of chronic alcoholics would flourish if they were not punished for public drunkenness, the Supreme Court was told Thursday.

Peter B. Hutt, a lawyer speaking for the American Medical Association and eight other organizations, said interest in treatment emerges "as soon as the jail is reached, to hide the problem."

Beyond that, Hutt argued that chronic alcoholics are sick and that correcting them for simply being drunk is public health, not a criminal act.

The problem is before the court in the case of Jerry Powell, a 67-year-old shoe store man in Austin, Tex., tavern who has been arrested 74 times in 18 years.

Federal courts in Washington and Richmond, Va. have prohibited the jailing of chronic alcoholics for being drunk in public. Now the Supreme Court is to decide if such a rule should be adopted nationwide.

Plans For Remodeling Rupert's Civic Building Aired At Meet

RUPERT — Preliminary plans for the remodeling or rebuilding of the city's Civic building, the first project of the city's Chamber of Commerce.

The architect's drawings, prepared by Clarence Smith, were presented to the city council by engineer Ron Klebe. The first proposal is for remodeling the present Civic building.

This would entail an addition of approximately 1,800 square feet, divided, with a 572 square foot addition on the south side and the rest on the north. Total cost for the construction would be about $15,000.

The other plan presented to the council proposed the building of a separate building, to be placed on a site not yet selected but probably to be chosen from among the city's parks.

The building would be constructed in civil defense standards, cover about 4,500 square feet, and cost about $250,000. On the south side, the space for the city police department would be extended to the east and west, and a room provided for temporary holding of drunk persons, which are being detained in a cell near the city water tower.

CORRY, Pa. (AP) — The Superintendent of Corry High School, where 70 students were paddled for playing hooky, says he has been besieged with commendations.

"I'm very pleased and surprised," said Ray Eiler. "One lawyer even wrote from Philadelphia, 'You don't know me,' he said, 'but I want to congratulate you,'" Eiler said.

"I get the feeling that a lot of people think that this ought to be done more often," he said.

He said truancy has dropped off sharply.

Rupert Youth Is Sent To State School

RUPERT — One of the youths charged with illegal possession of marijuana after a drug raid in Rupert in January was sent to the State Industrial School at St. Anthony Wednesday.

Mike Cunningham, 17, Rupert, earlier appeared before Twin Falls County Probate Judge C. Richard Reed who bound him over to the State Board of Health with the recommendation that he be sent to St. Anthony.

The youth's attorney, appealed the decision to District Judge Sherman Bellwood, and Cunningham has been attending Winona High School.

Judge Bellwood this week denied the appeal and ordered the youth to be sent to St. Anthony.

TWO WARINGS, Fred and Fred Jr., will be appearing with "The Pennsylvanians" at 8 p.m. Sunday at the Burley High School Auditorium. The elder Waring, initiator of the group, is appearing in his 51st year as leader of "The Pennsylvanians." The band is appearing under the auspices of the Burley-Rupert Shrine Club.

Fred Waring's Pennsylvanians To Perform Sunday At Burley

BURLEY—Fred Waring, in the first time during a performance at the University of Michigan, the dancers were getting somewhat rambunctious, so he interjected "Rock of Ages" into the schedule. The hymn eased the situation and also was the beginning of a Waring trademark, the interjection of inspirational music into programs devoted primarily to popular music. There is scarcely a phase of show business in which the group has not participated and people throughout the United States and the rest of the world have given them one of the widest audiences of any group. In the late twenties, the group expanded their horizons, playing in the Broadway shows, following an engagement at Des Ambassadeurs in Paris, then to Hollywood for the first all-musical film "Syncope." At the beginning of the thirties, Fred Waring's group name was changed to "The Pennsylvanians." With Fred at the baton for

"The man who shot the world's largest known bear in 1910, a 4 1/2-inch polar bear, will introduce the Breakthrough adventure films in a series of four films at 7 p.m. Friday at O'Leary Junior High School. The film also was shown Thursday night. The bear will be featured in one of the three films which will be shown. The title of that film, "White Fur," aptly describes the successful hunting sequence. His hunting prowess has also been illustrated by his "grand slam" in sheep hunting. In hunting circles a grand slam is defined as bagging the four principal subspecies of wild sheep found on the North American continent. They include the Dall or Alaskan White Sheep, the rare Stone Sheep, the Rocky Mountain Big Horn and the rarer still Desert Big Horn. Mayor Seeks Injunction In City Strike

CARBONDALE, Ill. (AP)—Mayor David Keene says he will seek an injunction to get striking city employees back to work. The controversy began Wednesday over the dismissal of Chief of Police Jack Hazel on grounds of "being uncooperative." The dismissal started a police department walkout that spread to the fire and public works departments. The council voted Thursday afternoon to reinstate the police chief pending an investigation. If all city employees return to work, the striking workers replied at a city council meeting Thursday night by demanding the dismissal of the city manager and the public safety director as well as the price for returning to work. Before the demand was issued, City Manager William Norman and Richard Wilhelmy, public safety director, submitted their resignations but the council did not accept them immediately. The five-member council said in a statement that the strike workers' orderly government. Sheriff's deputies and police from Southern Illinois University took over law enforcement duties, but the striking policemen and firemen voted to provide emergency service for no pay. Wilhelmy did not elaborate on the grounds for his dismissal of Hazel, who said he did not know to what "being uncooperative" referred.

Report Due Saturday On Fire Costs

BOISE (AP)—A subcommittee which has been reviewing $3-million fire bills submitted to the state of Idaho by the federal government for costs of fighting last summer's forest fires will report its progress Saturday. Sen. R. H. Young, R-Nampa, Senate president pro tem, said the subcommittee will report to the legislative fire study committee, which he heads, at a meeting in the statehouse. Originally, the committee was directed to study state conditions in the wake of forest fires during the summer of 1966 for which Idaho was billed for about $350,000 for assistance given by the federal government. But extensive fires last summer resulted in additional federal assistance, and many more bills.

Local, state and Southern Baptist Convention representatives are producing the institute for workers in all the churches of the Utah-Idaho Southern Baptist Convention. Representing the Sunday School Board were Dr. Earl Mead of Dallas, Tex., Ernest Holloway and Elsie Paine of Nashville, Tenn. The program featured a Bible interpreter who gave fundamentals on how to interpret the Bible. The purpose of the institute was to offer help to all Sunday School officers and leaders in developing skills and understanding the depth and understanding of the concept and methods of teaching God's Word in the contemporary world.

award for being the most active member of the chapter. Phi Theta Kappa was installed on campus at the College of Southern Idaho at a formal banquet Dec. 22, 1967, with Dr. James Taylor, college president, officiating.

21 Students Honored At Phi Theta Kappa Initiation And Pledge Banquet

By NORMA HERZINGER
Twenty one students who have excelled academically at the College of Southern Idaho were honored at the recent Phi Theta Kappa initiation and pledge banquet held at the Carillon.
Nine of the students were initiated into the scholastic honor fraternity while 11 of them were pledged for the following semester. During the next semester, these students must maintain their high grade point average and display qualities of leadership and service.
The College of Southern Idaho has grown in great distinction and depth since its inception about three years ago and Phi Theta Kappa right along with it. The college first received special emphasis on academic achievement when Dr. James Taylor, college president, formally installed the college Phi Theta Kappa Dec. 22, 1967.
This first installation banquet brought recognition to all full-time academic students who earned high grades. When Taylor received a 3.0 average for membership of 14.

Phi Theta Kappa, a national honorary scholastic fraternity, is the junior college equivalent of Phi Beta Kappa, the four-year scholastic honor. To qualify for membership, the student must have a grade point average of 3.2 or better for the previous semester, of good moral character and possess fine, recognized qualities of citizenship as judged by the faculty. The students must also carry an academic work load of at least 12 credit hours in courses leading to a recognized degree in a fully accredited four-year college or university.
During the first banquet, the chapter sponsors featured Mrs. Lucille Cunningham, Mrs. Joan Edwards, and Mrs. Marion Tanager, who made honorary members. Initiated at this year's banquet were Robert Jacobs, Geraldine Mecheis Wilma Stone, Mrs. Lucille Cunningham, Mrs. Joan Edwards, and Mrs. Marion Tanager. Pledges then took a dedication pledge pin which was the head of Minerva, the Greek goddess of knowledge and wisdom. Jan

R. Jones, Janice Boyer, Peggy Ann Williams, E. Vanley, Gene S. Sandoz, Warren Mansfield, Elvin Brown Jr. and Darrell R. Petti.
The ceremony for the initiates was conducted by the chapter officers. Mrs. Joan Edwards, president; Larry Weeks, vice president; Denise Key, treasurer; Kathy Meeks, secretary; and Bruce Wojcik, historian.
The goals of the organization, dedication to scholarship and service to school and community, were explained to the new members and each was given a pledge pin.
Mrs. Joan Edwards, president, spoke on his use of the government grant for experiments with new teaching materials and methods.
A special award was presented to Douglas King for being the most active chapter member. The award was presented by Mrs. Edwards.
Joyce Guyer was soloist, accompanied by Mrs. Kathy Meeks.
Special guests included Dr. Taylor, faculty members and parents of honored students. Mrs. LeBaron and Mrs. Tanner.

Twiggy Shucks Modeling Stance For Movie Career

By NADEANE WALKER
The Fashion Writer
LONDON (AP) — Twiggy, sick of looking giggly, has decided to shuck the modeling and move into the movie business. She said Wednesday: "I got a big bed up with it, really. I'm just sick of looking as an actress." She really broke out in the new London studio apartment of her manager and boyfriend, Justin de Villeneuve.
In their first interview for many months, Justin declared solemnly: "Twiggy is going to break out as the biggest thing ever after her first movie." Twiggy's large, round eyes looked bigger than ever with disheveled hair. "She doesn't see herself as an actress," Justin chuckled, "but she's a natural. She really broke out in the new London studio apartment of her manager and boyfriend, Justin de Villeneuve."

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: I am 30 years old. I support myself. I'm not looking and live a fairly normal, happy life, but I'm beginning to wonder if maybe I'm foolish to work the way I do. What I'm trying to say is, I have a girl friend who works part-time like maybe two days a week. She has had four husbands and she's single again. She has boy friends for ever. One day he rents an apartment lets her drive his car, another painted and papered her whole house and she bragged she gave him—was lunched like a few daughterly kisses. She sees the rent-oyer on weekends and she also has a truck driver staying with her off and on when he's in town. I don't know how she gets away with it. Shouldn't someone tell these things the score?

DEAR ABBY: I have been dating a boy 1 1/2 years. I am 21 and he is 23. He has talked about getting married after I graduate from college, but I am not sure he is the one for me, and I have told him so. (I date other boys, too.)
My problem is every gift Bill gives me points toward marriage. For Christmas he gave me services for six in a very nice set of dishes. For Valentine's day, he gave me service for 12 in some expensive stainless steel silverware. And for my birthday he gave me an electric blanket.
I don't have a hope chest, but Bill wants to be putting things in fill one up. He isn't rich, and these gifts are

YOU TELL YOUR CHILDREN NOT TO "SPOT" THEIR CLOTHES

But We "Spot" Everything You Send Us!
We aren't sure whose use of the term "spotting" is the purer English. But when cleaners say "we do a spot," they really are "unspotting" your clothes. We believe no one does this better than our experts, using the finest solvents and materials available. Try our cleaning — if you don't know this to be true, and you will possess NEW TRUTH.
The best dry cleaners (like us) use solvents not readily available to you. They are expensive and therefore rather precious. We have equipment that preserves and cleans these cleaners. Hence our solvents are not exposed to much air evaporation. And being constantly filtered, they are kept clean and clear.
In their first cleaning here, your garments lose most of their "spots." But then they are carefully inspected for stubborn ones; difficult ones; that the general cleaning didn't remove.
Here's where your cleaner's highly specialized knowledge and skill and equipment go to work — together. If you think this isn't tricky! For we have to consider not just the spot alone, but the garment and its fibers. If analysis indicates it is a heavily dyed item, then we use special solvents. These solvents are called "fancy spotting" — the use of precisely selected chemicals diagnosis of the spot color. Sometimes we use three or four of five different chemicals, and solvents within a few inches of each other — each for a different spot or stain.
And if our "get tough with soil" policy indicates it, the garment may go through the first cleaning cycle again. The process is so gentle that it could be done endlessly with no ill effects. But we can't describe our work really. You should try it and KNOW what SUPERIOR CLEANING IS — at NO EXTRA COST.
Phone now and start your experimental adventure with SUPERIOR CLEANING at NO EXTRA COST.

Stocks

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market paraded its losses late this afternoon on moderate trading. Gold and silver-mining shares continued strong.

Foreign gold trading in Europe was strong and record prices for silver in world markets pushed the mining stocks on the Big Board.

The overall market was down about 3 in late trading. Xerox J and U.S. Smelting a point or so. Fractional changes were noted among trading steel and motors.

South gold miners, Dome gained 2 while American, African, Campbell Red Lake and Homestake were up about a point.

The rally in silver stocks brought gains of a point or so to Calhoun, Mining, Porter Hill, Summit Mining, Newstack Honduras and Rio Mining.

Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange.

By JOHN CUNIFF AP Business Analyst (AP)—How many Americans can really say how they would be affected by an increase in the price of gold?

The answer requires no guesswork. It is a question of knowledge. It is filled with rumors, misinterpretations, and wild speculations held together by a thread of fear.

To the average American, the price of gold is a distant and abstract concept. It is not one that he would ever need to know.

My friends, however, have been told and bought and sold stocks and they will have paid a registration fee or commission. They just pay commissions.

Unless your friends go to a real and managed to turn the trick of having when it was low and selling when it was high I think you're all being taken.

That dog of a stock you named Fed Cattle Prices Up At Sale Here

Fed steers and heifers were 50 cents a dollar higher than all other classes were steady to strong during the Wednesday sale.

With that thing you bought however, I doubt that it makes much difference. Face your rolling dice in the stock market. That dog can't be counted as an extra fee.

Some brokers do advocate short sales. You look around long enough and you'll find many number of brokers willing to advocate short-selling.

As for the "opportunity" to make a profit on a short-sale, I don't see it. You have to cover your short sale sooner or later.

But the market price goes up and keeps on going up (as has been known to happen) look out. You have to cover your short sale—sooner or later.

The higher the price, the bigger your loss.

I bought some stock and my broker charged me $45 commission, plus $15 brokerage. Two of my friends bought some of the same stock from other brokers.

There are some stocks (and many) on which the buyer must pay a registration fee. Your dog should know this. But that's not the only thing you should know.

You may have the idea (as comes down) that brokerage firms' commissions are strictly regulated. That's not exactly the case.

Under stock exchange rules, brokers must charge a "minimum" commission which is set on a sliding scale.

Some brokers do advocate short sales. You look around long enough and you'll find many number of brokers willing to advocate short-selling.

New Material To Improve Soil Noted

Twin Falls County farmers learned of a new material that improves the soil, thus resulting in bigger and better yields during a meeting this week at the Holiday Inn.

The material, Procal, was explained by Robert Hayden, Waterloo, Iowa, co-owner of Western Sales Co., distributor of the material. The meeting was sponsored by Western Sales Co. Local manager is Ken Henderson.

Mr. Hayden said Procal is a natural deposit formed many years ago through the forces of nature. It is mined in Colorado and chemically, it is an enriched bed of anhydrite and gypsum that contains, in addition to the free sulphur and calcium, magnesium sulphate, soluble organic matter and over 28 other micro-nutrients.

It also contains the sulphur ions which stimulate nitrate formation, but nitro-compounds and is 30 per cent available the first year to plants.

Mr. Hayden said Procal improves the soil in this area by unlocking the nutrients that are already in the soil.

Spain Shipping Rice To Russia

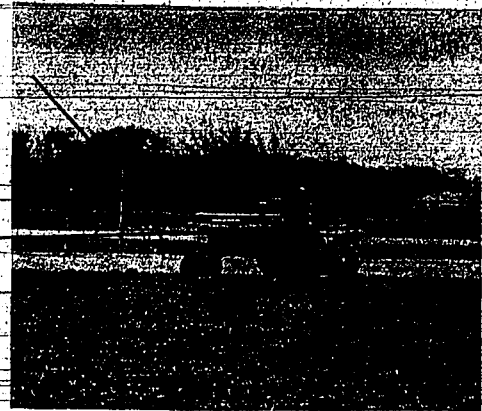

MADRID, Spain—Three loads of Spanish rice have been embarked at Seville for export to the Soviet ports of Odessa and Leningrad.

This rice for Russia comes from the banks of the river Guadalquivir, where increased areas are being prepared for the growing of this crop, and where grains equaling the famous Valencia varieties have been achieved.

Following the rice to the Soviet Union will be loads of soybeans and other items for Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Watkins and family, Wendell, have moved to the trailer home on the 101 Ranch of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kasar, east of King Hill, and will be employed by the Green-Giant Co., Buhl. The firm has the land leased for raising corn.

Top Dress Early For Bigger Wheat Yields

PRINCETON, N.J. — Winter through the winter in good wheat should be, top dress early, says Mr. Cox. Both yields for larger yields, states T. R. Cox, chief agronomist, Central Agricultural Research Center, Princeton, N.J.

How much nitrogen should you use? As a general rule, the crop should be fertilized on before the spring thaw and rains begin. Second, your application equipment won't cut up the field as much as you would expect. It will take or cause excessive compaction to damage the soil, and third, you'll give wheat a fast, early start—help it to get ahead of weeds.

If you apply nitrogen later than recommended for your area, he says, you may get less yield increase, get low quality wheat, get uneven or late maturing and increase weed growth.

Most winter wheat fields will respond profitably to a top dressing of nitrogen, providing fertilizer was applied at seeding to bring the crop

Growers Should Raise Less Potatoes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Faced with surplus from last year, the Agriculture Department is urging growers to produce fewer potatoes this year.

It is recommending the acreage planted to early summer and fall crop potatoes be reduced 5 per cent below year-earlier averages. It also advises a 4 per cent reduction in plantings of late summer crop potatoes.

The department says overproduction last year caused potato prices to drop to extremely low levels. The agency is making payment to growers for disposing surplus potatoes into byproduct uses, such as flour, starch and livestock feed.

Insofar as the fall crop — the largest of all — is concerned, the department has recommended reductions as follows by major producing states: Maine 10 per cent; New York 7; Minnesota 2; North Dakota 5; Idaho 15; Washington 15; Malheur County, Oregon 15; balance of Oregon 9, and California 10.

field tests in which 75 pounds nitrogen increased protein from 11.2 per cent to 13.5 per cent and sedimentation value from 44 to 66.

Extra premium for the higher protein and improved sedimentation, just about paid for the nitrogen. The extra number of well-filled heads, for maximum yield increase, top dress with nitrogen before sprouting growth starts, concludes Mr. Cox.

The main point is this — get started early to stimulate tillering or stooling out — to get more stems and leaf surface to produce a greater number of well-filled heads. For maximum yield increase, top dress with nitrogen before sprouting growth starts, concludes Mr. Cox.

For the best in potato wireworm control without crop residues, apply Diazinon.

Excellent potato wireworm control, even in strains that are resistant to some other insecticides. That's what you can expect from Diazinon's insecticide. And there's no need to worry about insecticide residue to contaminate your crop... or crops following potatoes in rotation. In fact, Diazinon may be applied for effective soil insect control in many crops including sugar beets. Diazinon stays long enough to do a job on wireworms, but there's no danger that crops will be rejected because of residue. Diazinon is available in several formulations: liquid, wettable powder and granular. So it works in all standard equipment and fits any program you decide on. You can broadcast it, or put it on combined with fertilizer before planting. Incorporate into the top 4 to 8 inches of soil. And Diazinon is easier to handle than many other insecticides. Just follow the label as you would with any insecticide.

Plan to use Diazinon for effective wireworm control this year and solve your residue problem, too. Your supplier can give you all the details when you order the formulation you need. Geigy Agricultural Chemicals, Division of Geigy Corporation, Ardsley, New York 10502. Geigy Diazinon

Soil Structure, Fertilization And Irrigation Explained To T.F. Farmers

Fertilization of row crops and pastures, soils and irrigation water are topics of discussion during the Twin Falls County Soils and Fertility Conference held this week at the Holiday Inn.

Sponsoring this meeting was the Twin Falls County Extension Service. Speakers were the chemical industry representatives, soil research scientists, soil specialists and agronomists.

Dr. Jensen said that only eight per cent is fertilized according to its needs. He said that many farmers do not fully realize the good economic return that can be obtained from fertilizer on grass pastures. The speakers discussed the importance of the return on the pasture at the Callen Brothers ranch.

Dr. Jensen also added that irrigations during a cropping season can be used for a number of crop growth, climatic conditions and precipitation.

He added that in the near future, perhaps within five years, farmers will control the crop nutrient level by periodic analysis of plant tissues and soil. He also mentioned that the amount of water applied to a crop is not enough for good seed yield, that zinc must also be adequate. He said zinc must be incorporated into the top four to six inches for noticeable results.

The economics and fertilization of alfalfa was discussed by Olan Genn, Twin Falls County agricultural agent. He said growing alfalfa as a cash crop and for soil improvement may not be profitable when compared to growing other crops on the farm.

In a recent survey, he said, that on the average it costs the farmer about $23.15 per ton to grow alfalfa and then put it in the stack. The price of hay in the area is about $13.15 per ton, thus the farmer was losing $10.00 per ton.

However, Mr. Genn said, the value of alfalfa for livestock feed is often twice the market price of alfalfa in this area.

On-fertilizing alfalfa, Mr. Genn said, "It is to be made to grain, adequate phosphate for the alfalfa should be applied ahead of seeding the grain. Addition of nitrogen to new alfalfa immediately after harvest may be profitable, he added.

Mr. Genn concluded that it is anticipated that alfalfa acreage will continue to decrease while alfalfa quality will increase. He said feeders are demanding better quality every year.

Merrill Cherry, manager of Simplot Soilbuilders, Twin Falls, spoke on fertilization of grain, wheat and methods of application. He also explained the new variety and why it fits on popular among area farmers.

Mr. Cherry told when to plant grain, how to plant it and when to fertilize and water it.

Pasture management and fertilization was discussed by Coley Parshin, Farm Service, Inc., Kimberly. He said there are about 700,000 acres of cropland in Idaho and 500,000 acres are irrigated. But only eight per cent is fertilized according to its needs.

Mr. Parshin said many farmers do not fully realize the good economic return that can be obtained from fertilizer on grass pastures. The speakers discussed the importance of the return on the pasture at the Callen Brothers ranch.

Farm Bureau Aide Raps Johnson's Proposal

CHICAGO — President Johnson's farm message to Congress calling for a permanent extension of the 1965 Agricultural Act had news for farmers, Charles B. Shuman, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, said today.

"What this means," Shuman said, "is that the Administration wants to continue to drive down farm prices and make farmers dependent on government subsidies for a large share of their net income. More than twenty per cent of net farm income now comes from direct subsidy payments from the federal treasury."

"The farm programs that the President wants to make permanent have pushed the parity ratio, a measuring stick that indicates how farmers are doing, to 47 percent—the lowest since the depression of 1931."

"Farmers can't stand the continuation of government farm programs which have wrecked their market prices."

"The President's recommendation for the establishment of government-owned reserves of farm products, which he calls a national food bank, is another scheme to hold down farm prices."

"In recent years, the Administration has repeatedly dumped government surplus stocks on the market to drive down the price of grain and to force farmers into 'voluntary' farm programs."

"Government held reserves are obviously bad for producers as they cannot be insulated from the market; they are costly for taxpayers and unnecessary for the protection of consumers," Shuman said.

"Farmers' opposition to the establishment of food stock reserves was properly reflected in the selection of such legislation last year by the House Agriculture Committee."

Shuman said that Farm Bureau was in agreement with the President's recommendation for the Packers and Stockyards Act.

Farm Bureau Shuman said also supports the extension of

Fair Building Remodeling Is Discussed

The Mountain Rock Grange met with the Twin Falls Grange recently at the Twin Falls Grange Hall. Discussion was held on the remodeling of the agricultural building at the county fairgrounds.

The charter was dropped in memory of Murrel Stillman with Mrs. Terry Sullivan as hostess.

Mike O'Dell, IFAA public speaking winner, on the local chapter level, gave his speech, "American Enterprise System," Rocky Sullivan and Susan Billington played guitars and sang several selections. A patriotic tableau on "The American Flag" was narrated by Mrs. Clifford Davis.

The Hollister Grange will meet with the Mountain Rock Grange Wednesday with members of the Twin Falls Grange attending.

Bull Sales Big Business At Filer

FILER — Bull sales are big business and involve large sums of money as proven by recent figures compiled at the Twin Falls County Fairgrounds where spring and fall Range Bull Sales are held.

From the year 1952 to 1967, a period of 15 years, the amount of money has been paid for bulls consigned through the sale ring here. This would be a rough average of more than $5,000 per sale since the sales are held twice through the years in October and February.

Prices paid for animals and the number consigned vary through the years, states Duane Henderfick, Boise, secretary of the Idaho Cattlemen's Association. However, during these 30 years more than 5,500 bulls have gone through the ring.

T.F. County Advisory Unit Has Election

New officers of the Twin Falls County Extension Advisory Council were elected during the council's annual meeting recently in Twin Falls.

Roland Patrick, Caldwell, was elected president. Other officers elected were Ralph Bandman, Bull, vice president, and Mrs. Frank Southwick, Castleford, secretary.

Reports were given by the county agents, William Loughmiller, livestock committee, and Tom McClain, crops committee. County and extension programs also were discussed.

half of 1967. The club raised $85 mostly by collecting pop bottles and donations, particularly from the 'Every Woman's Club, Castaloff. The club has 14 members and the leaders are Mrs. Lawrence Hill, Mrs. Earl Hudson and Mrs. Tom Barron. More funds are needed for the camp fund.

Meat Produced Under Federal Inspection Down

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department reported that meat produced under federal inspection last week declined about 10 per cent below the previous week and about 14 per cent below production last week of January.

No department figures were available on slaughter in non-federally inspected plants.

The department reports that the National Farmers Organization livestock price changes since the withholding action started. The department said that the average of 20 major livestock markets last week compared with 118.8 the previous week and $17.85 the last week of January.

Cattle brought a reported average of $27.98 a hundred pounds for choice steers at Chicago last week, compared with $27.83 the previous week and $27.30 the last week of January.

Meat produced under federal inspection last week was reported at 510 million pounds compared with 564 million pounds the previous week, 585 million pounds the first week of February and 588 million pounds the last week of January.

Slaughter under federal inspection last week was estimated at 505,000 cattle, 1,254,000 hogs and 182,000 sheep. This compared with an estimate of 551,000 cattle, 1,393,000 hogs and 202,000 sheep for the previous week and about 561,000 cattle, 1,484,000 hogs and 228,000 sheep the last week of January.

New Weights, Measures Laboratory At Boise To Be Completed In May

BOISE—May will mark another milestone in the progress of Idaho's Department of Agriculture, as well as the federal government to establish uniform weights and measures.

Construction on the new Weights and Measures Laboratory, located at the end of Warm Springs Avenue in Boise, is scheduled for completion at that time.

In 1955, the federal government, through the National Bureau of Standards, allocated money to purchase new precision standards of weights and measures and laboratory equipment to be issued to all states at the rate of 10 states per year.

Idaho is in the third group of states to receive these new precision standards. The Idaho Legislature then set aside funds for the construction of a special laboratory building during the 1967 session, and construction began last fall. However, the completion of this laboratory building is only the beginning of a far-reaching program.

This program is designed to provide all states with equipment so they might become significant elements in the National Measurement System.

This National Measurement System is dedicated to the idea that all instruments used in weighing and measuring be in direct accordance with the national standards.

Our State Measurement Laboratory will subsequently be operated to maintain state inspection equipment at utmost accuracy, more specifically, in accordance with the national standards.

Max Stamm, Garr Waymet, Milton Osterhout and Boyd Paulson.

Dan Walton, Rupert, regional director of the field staff, presented the Cassia County group their charter. Ralph Hastings, Paul, field director for the southeast Idaho counties, assisted with the organizational procedure and answered questions on the National Farmers' Organization. Several members of the Rupert NFO attended the meeting.

Mr. Waymet, president of the newly formed group, announced that 100 Cassia County farmers have joined the organization and a county-wide membership drive is now under way.

also available to assist in any way.

The Division of Weights and Measures of the Idaho State Department of Agriculture is anxiously awaiting the completion of the laboratory structure and the arrival of the new standards and balances. The Division is enthusiastic about the prospect of better serving Idaho's public with new precision equipment.

Jerome Couple Has Prize Arabian Colt

JEROME — Romping and bounding record of siring national champions. The colt's dam, Tazi Saba 12188, is the daughter of the famous Abu Farwa. Rafrair's sire was fourth in the 100 most popular living purebred Arabian stallions and Fajdir topped the list. Little Rafrair's grandsire was sired and his sire was fourth. The colt was sired by Rafrair, the colt for a brood mare band and is destined to be a winner.

Alfalfa Seed Meeting Held At Gooding

GOODING — An alfalfa seed production meeting was held here Tuesday to about 25 to 30 delegates. As the alfalfa fields approach the bloom stage, the bees are incubated for about eight days. The leaf cutters have two serious predators in this area which need control.

Seed control, stands, fertilizers, University of Idaho Extension agent, and Naibian Miller seed grower from Owyhee County.

Many details of seed growing were discussed, especially the handling of leaf cutter bees. Some of the larger growers have lost at the dinner.

"Something to think about" by Derral Warner, American Oil Agronomist.

Is AMOCO. Anhydrous Ammonia the answer to the high crop cost problem on your farm?

It takes a high yield just to cover your crop growing costs, not to mention making a profit. That's why AMOCO Anhydrous Ammonia is so important. Its 82 percent nitrogen content punches up total plant vigor... helps produce the profit yield; it can spell the difference between profit and loss in bad years... mean top profits in good ones; And it's the most economical source of nitrogen you can buy. Because it's applied deep in the root zone, Anhydrous Ammonia promotes strong root systems that help standability, and give the plant a "boarding house reach" for the other important nutrients you have provided. Ask your American Oil Farm Man about the Benefits of AMOCO Anhydrous Ammonia. Or stop in at the Center and talk to us about it. No obligation, of course. AMOCO Anhydrous Ammonia... another quality reason to farm with American Oil.

You expect more from American and you get it!

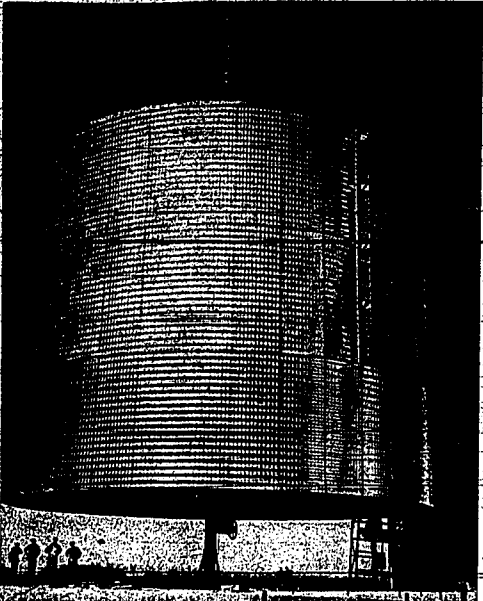

To learn more about AMOCO Anhydrous Ammonia, call the American Oil Farm Service Center at your American Oil Farm Man.

UP SHE GOES. This Belton metal grain tank is being hoisted into the air so workmen can add a 10-foot section to the tank. Constructing the metal grain tank is Vern Schutte and Sons. This is one of six planned by the construction firm for Feeders Grain Supply, Burley. When completed the six tanks will hold about 300,000 bushels of grain. The tanks are built over a cone-shaped concrete pit which are 11 1/2 feet deep and will hold about 4,330 bushels. The pits also will be self-cleaning. Mr. Schutte and his sons have built many Belton farm buildings and grain tanks in the Magic Valley area. These tanks, when completed, will have a total of 41,000 bolts in each tank, giving it tremendous strength.

Beef Council Defines Its Research Plan
BOISE — The Idaho Beef Council defined its research program at its recent meeting in Boise, according to John McBoyle, Grangeville, chairman, who stated that some confusion has arisen as to the meaning and application of research as it applies to the Idaho Beef Council.
In the Idaho Beef Council Law, passed in the 1967 Idaho legislature, a definite provision is made for research by the Council.
A recent grant of $600 for help to aid in the serious death loss problem due to Larkspur is only a small phase of research that will help eradicate or control cattle diseases.
Other research programs of the Council will include marketing, production, opinion, distribution, economic, and product in addition to many others. Research is a broad term, and as it relates to the cattle industry, it will be applied to anything new or old needing investigation, information, corrective or preventative action. Research started many new innovations and products on Idaho ranches, feedlots, dairies, and auction markets; and it is a constant process for the betterment of the beef industry and Beef as a healthful food product, said McBoyle.

Soil Structure Is Improved By Bio-Chem
Good soil structure is absolutely necessary to profitable cropping. It is only recently that scientists have recognized the effects of poor soil structure; and even more recently that science has begun to learn the correct control exercised on soil structure by microscopic soil organisms.
Farm Builders, Buell, a division of American Bio-Chem, Inc., has Bio-Chem that contains enzymes, amino acids and carbohydrates that "create a more favorable environment for the bacteria naturally in the soil. The bacteria are stimulated to multiply and really go to work."
"The composition of organic matter is accelerated by Bio-Chem," states Emory Wiser, regional manager of Farm Builders. The soil is made more receptive to water, and more retentive. Compaction layers are softened and ultimately destroyed.
"Nearly all application is by means of "culture plants." The culture plants, of several hundred types, are installed beside the irrigation system. Serum is melted corn usually the better from which a thin stream of what looks like water but is Bio-Chem flows into the irrigation system.
"Only in a fermentation process occurs. No great head of foam forms on the tank, but they bubble continually." Mr. Wiser says Bio-Chem improves environment for existing soil organisms, speeds a breakdown of organic waste into a usable form, aids aeration and improvement of soil structure and reduces the waste of water and fertilizers.
For further information on Bio-Chem, contact Bill McBoyle, Wiser at 543-3106 in Buell.

Spud Growers Chosen For Farm Bureau

ROBERT — Minidoka County potato growers have named five members to the Potato Committee of the National Farmers Organization.
Elected to this committee were Warren Helms, A. Gillies, Rodney Hansen, Darwin Nelson and John Hansen. The purpose of the committee is to represent the county NFO in all matters pertaining to the potato industry, and to work with other county committees to design and obtain a fair and equal contract that will benefit the potato grower.
A milk board was elected earlier this week and is composed of Ron Hawley, Fred Lewis, John Thain, Jack Hillerbrand, and Ralph Jurgensmeier.
A survey of Minidoka county is presently under way by the local NFO to determine the potato storage; how many farmers have contracted, how much potato acreage is available in the county, and all other information pertinent to the industry.

Vitamin A Needs May Be Critical, Says Professor

MADISON, Wis. — Stockmen may be puzzled as to why they hear and read so much more about the need for carotene and vitamin A now than they did in former years.
Dr. Gustav Bohstedt, emeritus professor of animal husbandry at University of Wisconsin, says, "It seems that a shortage of this vitamin has for years been a limiting factor in livestock production, and only relatively recent nutrition experiments have brought this shortage to light."
"We know that vitamin A exists in feed crops as carotene, or pro-vitamin A. It is a yellow substance, in forage covered up by the green color. But even in yellow corn as well as in egg yolk, carotene exists only as a secondary color to xanthophyll or similar color of non-biological importance."
"Only in milk or butter or cheese does carotene survive intact by its yellow color."
"Some cows or breeds of cows are more efficient than others in metabolizing the yellow carotene to colorless vitamin A in which condition the vitamin must be to do the good, consuming animal or human any kind."
"Why the concern over vitamin A? Partly because our modern farm animals grow or produce more rapidly than they did years ago, and thus require a richer supply of the vitamin to support such performance."
"Forage crops are the richest sources of carotene, but frequently a hay or silage crop is lost to the farmer for best vitamin content. Alfalfa in its early hay stage may have 20 milligrams per pound, but when cut at 24 bloom only eight milligrams, and past bloom just three milligrams per pound. Similar great reductions take place with other forages."
"When the way a forage crop is cured or ensiled may have a more or less damaging effect on its carotene content. Hay cured in the rain or by methods may be practically devoid of carotene. Even if harvested in good conditions, half of the carotene in it is lost during the TRIMMING the feet of a Suffolk ram with a power trimmer is John Hendrix, Eden. The air power trimmer was shown to sheepsman this week during a school for sheepsman on trimming feet of sheep at Jerome. Conducting the school were Dr. Richard Hall, extension veterinarian, and Dr. Robert Simons, State Sheep Commissioner and veterinarian. Both discussed new equipment for sheepsman and several diseases also were discussed. Many area sheepsman and FFA members from Carey attended the school. Dr. Lawrence Rubel, Jerome veterinarian, told how to care for equipment.

Growers Okay Contract With Simplot Firm

CALDWELL (AP) — Potato growers in Southwestern Idaho and Eastern Oregon have accepted a 1968 contract with J. R. Simplot Co. with the price unchanged from that of 1967, a contract representative announced today.

Robert Skyles, Nimrod, chairman of the Bargaining Committee for the Treasure Valley Potato Growers Bargaining Association, said the contract provides for a base price of $1.20 per hundredweight, the same as in 1967.

Skyles said the company has indicated it will sign up approximately the same amount of acreage this year as it did in 1967.

Erosion Is Problem In Washington

By The Associated Press
Agriculture experts say recent rains and an unusually dry winter have produced severe erosion problems in Eastern Washington.

Lawrence Brown, Lincoln County agricultural extension agent, said the erosion will make harvesting of winter wheat difficult in many areas.

In Spokane, county agent Clayton B. Kelsey said damage to winter wheat lands "is the worst in ten years."

Rains early last week damaged some sub-irrigated lands, Kelsey said, and some reseeded will be required since winter wheat was washed out or covered with mud.

Whitman County agent Felix M. Entenmann, however, thinks last week's rains were on the whole beneficial.

"The rain penetrated every bit of annual crop land and this damage to summer fallow land was quite extensive," he said.

But "the winter was generally a success in that it produced plenty of water for irrigation," he said.

Meanwhile, the Weather Bureau says the Pacific Northwest should not be short of water this summer despite the "less-than-normal" snowfall along the Cascade Mountains.

The spokesman, hydrologist Anthony Polos, said there would be plenty of water for irrigation.

"The people who are going to hurt are farmers in Eastern Washington and Oregon areas who depend upon winter snowfall for their crops. Those who use irrigation are in no danger," he said.

Valley Grange Accepts Member

HAGERMAN — Mrs. John Ayres was accepted as a new member at the Hagerman Valley Grange meeting last week.

Replies to "change" letters sent to Sen. Frank Church and Sen. Len Jordan regarding large businesses buying farms for tax purposes were sent by Percy Polard, acting master.

Mrs. Stanley Hoskovec, home economics chairman, read a letter encouraging Grange members to enter the cooking contest which will be held April 5 at the Ramona Theater, Buhl.

A cooking contest will be featured at the next meeting, March 18. The program will be on the Hagerman school learning center.

APRICOPTS FOR THE HOME GARDEN

Pruning is a good idea for most trees and shrubs. The best time to prune is in late winter or early spring, before the buds break. Pruning helps to maintain the shape and health of the plant, and can also increase its productivity. For example, pruning a fruit tree can help to increase the size and quality of the fruit. Pruning a shrub can help to keep it from becoming too large and overgrown. Pruning a tree can help to remove dead or diseased branches, and can also help to improve the tree's overall health. Pruning is a simple task that can be done by anyone with a few basic tools and a little knowledge. It is a good idea to consult with a professional arborist if you are unsure of how to prune a particular tree or shrub.

Conduct Of '69 Farm Census Different Than Previously

WASHINGTON—The conduct of the 1969 Census of Agriculture will differ in a number of important ways from the conduct of previous censuses of agriculture. Farmers will be asked to fill out and mail back their questionnaires, and census takers will be used only to follow-up as necessary.

A full questionnaire will also be sent to each farmer, and a simplified questionnaire will be sent to the smaller farms. Some of the detailed questionnaires will be sent to a limited number of farms will be covered in special questionnaires to be sent to the main questionnaires have been collected.

In 1964, 27.5 per cent of the farms had a gross value of sales of $10,000 or over, but they accounted for more than 84 per cent of the total value of farm production. Farms with a gross value of sales of less than $2,500 were 42 per cent of the total, but they accounted for less than 2.5 per cent of the total value of sales.

In order to bring the resources spent on collecting and processing the data in line with the economic contribution of the farms, the census takers will be used only to follow-up as necessary.

For larger farms, the content will be similar to that of the 1964 questionnaire. For smaller farms, an abbreviated version will be used which will call for less detail than that for the larger farms. Tabulations and publications will show some data for all farms, and some data for information only for the larger farms.

Tentatively, the general farm questionnaire will be used to collect data for all farms, and the simplified questionnaire will be used to collect data for the smaller farms. The general farm questionnaire will also be used to collect data for the larger farms.

Certain supplemental questions will be asked of the larger commercial farms as of Jan. 1, 1970. It will also be used to collect basic production data for the smaller farms.

Information on the use of commercial fertilizers, specified expenditures and other data will be collected from the larger commercial farms as of Jan. 1, 1970.

YESTERDAY'S ROSES PULL UP

OLD FASHIONED roses are being pulled up and replaced by new varieties. The old varieties were often large and bushy, and they were often prone to disease. The new varieties are smaller and more compact, and they are often more resistant to disease. The new varieties are also often more colorful and longer lasting. The old varieties were often used for formal gardens, and they were often used for hedges and borders. The new varieties are often used for informal gardens, and they are often used for containers and hanging baskets. January Chick Output Listed

BOISE—Commercial hatcheries in Idaho produced an estimated 55,000 chicks during January, reports the USDA Crop and Livestock Reporting Service for Idaho.

This is seven per cent more than the previous month's total, and it is the highest total since January, 1967, when 54,000 chicks were produced.

Prospects Good

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department reports a team of trade experts has found prospects for sales of U.S. wheat to Japan, the Philippines, Korea and Taiwan to continue good for the present.

The U.S. government officials and industry leaders recently spent two weeks in these countries promoting U.S. American wheat. The United States currently is exporting about 125 million bushels a year to these four countries. The department said these countries were "responsive" to the U.S. wheat, and they are expected to continue to purchase U.S. wheat at competitive prices.

T.F., Borah, Capital And Nampa Gain Semi-Finals In A-I Cage Tournament

BOISE (AP)—Nampa was champion, dominated the basketball team to survive the height in the game against first round of the state tournament. Despite giving away a half-length game in the first round, Nampa made a game of it until the two were outswatted Idaho final minutes.

Two other southwest Idaho final minutes. Borah plays Capital and Nampa plays Twin Falls. In the losers bracket it will be Pocatello and Blackfoot, and Coeur d'Alene and Blackfoot.

In the Twin Falls-Blackfoot game it was shooting accuracy that made the difference. Twin Falls' field percentage was 36.6 per cent on 21 of 58 shots. Blackfoot netted only 19.6 of 45 tries for a 43.6 per cent.

Blackfoot also suffered from errors, turning over the ball 12 times.

After trailing the entire first half, Borah caught the Pocatello Indians with an ice cold third quarter and then stayed off a closing rally to win 58-56.

Gene Larry Price paced the Borah comeback with six points in the third quarter and Dan Caffery went to the boards for key rebounds to hold the Borah.

All Gallows hit 20 points today led Pocatello while Price was tops for Borah with 14. Dennis Labrum of Borah hit 13.

T.F., Buhl Clubs To Play In LDS Tourney

Twin Falls Seventh Ward Ensign team and the Buhl Second Ward M-Wen, will be the only southwestern teams advancing to the all-church tournament in Salt Lake City. The meet, the largest church play-off in the world, begins Monday night.

Twin Falls Seventh Ward Ensigns, comprised of high school-aged boys, battled from behind in the first half to top Ontario First Ward 58-49 while Buhl Second Ward just ousted Mount Zion 71-70 in the regional finals.

Both of the two teams—won in conference and playoffs games.

Twin Falls Seventh will meet Cincinnati Second ward at 7 p.m. Monday at the Pioneer Ward Building.

On the Twin Falls team are Mark Rose, J. D. May, Jerry Stivers, Murphy, Jones, Warren Stinchecker and Brewer. The Buhl team includes Dave Stivers, Murphy, Jones, Warren Stinchecker and Brewer.

Dodgers Open Operation Bounce Back

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The Dodgers' season of ups and downs started at a gallop in Dodger town.

The Dodgers, touching all the bases, were determined to rebound from last year's eighth-place finish, and first at Los Angeles since 1952.

Bill Butler and now at their spring base and under the scrutiny of Manager Walter Alton and his staff.

Buhtler long has advocated distance running as a means of improving player's endurance, strengthening their legs, feet and ankles and preventing injuries. When some of the Dodgers began working out in Los Angeles prior to spring training, Buhtler—who runs a mile every day—got the go-ahead for his conditioning program.

The Dodgers ran quarter-miles and half-miles in addition to their regular work.

The trainer planned to have everyone running a mile a day eventually.

When heavy-legged outfielder Alvin Darker, outfielder Jim LeFebvre to a mile race, publicity chief Ben Patterson scheduled a Florida Derby for March 20 at Vero Beach and started lighting the derby line.

There may be a Derby, but LeFebvre has declared himself from the race after being left at the gate in a half-mile race.

"I've been in a half-mile well, almost a half-mile," said Ferrara. "Now he won't race me any more."

"That's right. I'm not going to run against him anymore," LeFebvre confirmed. "But it's his own fault. We weren't supposed to be racing the first time. I was just trotting along. Then, all of a sudden he starts running like crazy. Then he says he's too fast for me."

"They're still going to have another race, but I'm not going to be in it. I'm not one of the fastest guys in camp—but definitely. And neither is Ferrara, although I have to admit he's not bad at the distances."

Long-Island Given No. 1 Spot In Poll

By The Associated Press
 The Long Island University Blackbirds, leaders in the Associated Press' final small-college basketball poll, turned their attention Thursday to the National Invitation Tournament in New York where they hope to match the success of the Southern Illinois Salukis.

LIU drew eight first-place votes and 142 points in the final vote by a national panel of 16 sports writers and broadcasters.

Kentucky Wesleyan finished a close second with five first-place votes and 123 points. Points were awarded on a basis of 10 for first-place vote, 9 for second, etc. and the balloting was based on games through last Saturday.

Southern Illinois is a sound up in third place followed by Illinois State, McNeese State, Norfolk State, Pan American, Evansville, Indiana State, and Trinity, Tex.

Kimberly Meets IHM And Potlatch Tests Pilgrims In A-3 Semi-Finals Today

By LARRY HOVEY

Kimberly Academy of Coeur d'Alene and runner-up Kimberly fought into another showdown Thursday after Potlatch and New Plymouth, clinched after noon victories in the opening round of the A-3 basketball tournament.

IHM and Kimberly will meet in the final quarter of the A-3 tournament at 3 p.m. Friday. The Pilgrims and Potlatch battle in a 65-49 decision. Glenn's victory out at 3 p.m. for the right to host North Gem play at 1:30 p.m. Friday with Firth and Middleton meeting at 7:30 p.m.

Kimberly, the underdog, improved its 13-7 record, against 21-3 for Firth, got a 23-point effort from smooth Larry Rietz and a supporting performance from Lynn McMillan and Denny Erickson to shove Firth into the consolation bracket.

Kimberly's defense kept the Pilgrims from scoring more than 10 points in the first half and the second quarter. Rietz, who had a 15-15 record in the A-3 tournament, led the Pilgrims with 15 points and 11 rebounds. Erickson, who had a 15-15 record in the A-3 tournament, led the Pilgrims with 15 points and 11 rebounds.

Opening lead—♠ 4

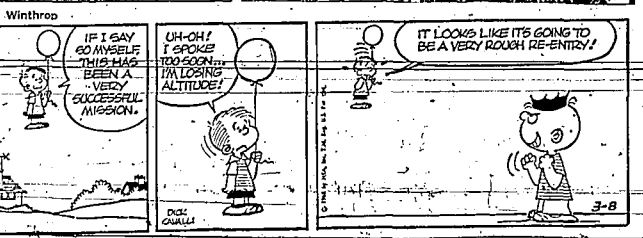

Take a singleton lead as an example. You will find that every look-on-play includes an examination of a player with the ace of trumps opening a singleton against a game contract on the theory that if he has a partner he will get an immediate ruff, while even if his partner doesn't hold the ace, there will be an excellent chance to get a ruff later if declarer isn't able to pull trumps immediately.

If West were on lead against a four-heart contract, we might recommend the lead of the singleton ace of clubs. West would expect his partner to hold some ace and West would really expect to get in a ruff at some stage of the play.

When West led the singleton club, you would be just about minimum.

TODAY'S QUESTION
Instead of leading two clubs, East bids two diamonds after defense and West would really expect to get in a ruff at some stage of the play.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR AN organizational meeting of a Comprehensive Health Plan Committee for Magic Valley were made here Thursday by discussing comprehensive health care. From left, Magic Valley Memorial Hospital; J. E. Karpach, chairman of the Governor's Advisory Committee; Marilyn Blackburn, nursing representative; and Meris W. Carlson, county commissioner. An statewide meeting tentatively set for April 8 in Twin Falls.

Comprehensive Health Plan Is Discussed

Groundwork for establishing a meeting will be held to coordinate the local organization and money can be allocated to priority needs. Mr. Karpach explained under the state-wide plan was the 89th Congress, known as the Public Law 89-746—adopted by the Governor's Advisory Committee. He said that the plan is to select the fields which are priority needs for federal funds and more advisory committee. They will be asked to attend the local planning meeting tentatively set for April 8, as will county, city, health department, hospital and health and medical organizations. Should an appropriate law be available for one state, the money hope of the committee that at least 51 per cent of the program be channeled to another. George Dlick, Castleford, and Walter Toews, Durley, are also summer rather than administrative agencies, applications are made on the 31-member governor's for states.
