Mixed Emotions Greet Kennedy's Announcement

By JOHN MORGANTHAUER NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's announcement that he will run for president was greeted Saturday with disdain from President Johnson, resistance from Sen. Eugene McCarthy and chilly opposition from most of the Democratic establishment.

The New Hampshire primary. "They were content," he said, "to stand on the hill and pitch hotlines and dance by the light of the moon."

Gov. Lester Maddox of Georgia said he would campaign hard against Kennedy than he did for himself—Kennedy's bid, he said, "will add to the chances" of Gov. Wallace.

Vatican Reports On Mason Action

VATICAN CITY (AP) — A Vatican communique today denied press reports that the Roman Catholic Church had changed or is considering a change in its opposition to Free Masonry.

The Vatican termed "groundless" reports that it was bypassing Canon Law and allowing Catholic converts to keep their membership in Masonic organizations without incurring excommunication—the traditional penalty for converts to the Catholic faith.

The reports began with news from Rome saying that a group of Scandinavian bishops had quietly obtained a revocation of the ban on Free Masonry in Oslo, however, a Norwegian-Roman Catholic spokesman said the Vatican had lifted the ban late in 1966. But he added that so far as he knew, the dispensation applied only to converts to the Catholic faith and not to those already members of the church.

Today's Vatican communique said: "According to very recent reports in the daily press of various countries, the Holy See allegedly has authorized the person in charge of the Mason organization by persons who converted to the Catholic religion and its discipline applied only to converts to the Catholic faith and not to those already members of the church. We are authorized by the competent office of the Holy See to deny this information as groundless."

The competent office is the Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith, headed by Fr. Cardinal Saper of Yugoslavia.

The communique apparently made no room for exceptions to the general rule included in the church canon law.

It implied, however, that there can be some changes in the present Vatican attitude to Masonic orders, presumably in the context of the church law regarding the Holy See to deny this information as groundless.

Aviation Safety Seminar Scheduled To Be Held In Twin Falls Tuesday

LEO E. PEIRCE

Two officials of the Federal Aviation Administration will speak in Twin Falls Tuesday afternoon during the area-wide aviation safety seminar to be held in conjunction with the Idaho Power Co. auditorium.

Between 80 and 100 licensed pilots of Magic Valley, and other interested persons, are expected to attend the session which will feature "discussions on unusual weather phenomena as well as traffic control, communications and flight service."

The two speakers will be Leo E. Peirce, chief of the FAA flight service station at Burley airport, and John Quinn, Salt Lake City, quality control officer of the FAA's pilot training program in the Northwest.

Mr. Quinn's presentation will include three short color films, "Wake Turbulence and Paths to Safety. It will also show color slides of unusual aviation situations and will explain their effect on aircraft control, flight service and communication on answering questions from the floor."

In announcing the special program, the officials said it is designed to promote aviation safety in Magic Valley. Anyone interested in flying from those areas, including those who are not pilots, are welcome to attend, the officials said.

INDUSTRIALIST-DIES
WASHINGTON (AP) — Henry Salt Lake City, 61, board chairman of the Timken Roller Bearing Co., died Friday night of a heart attack. Timken, of Canton, Ohio, was in Washington at the time of a business conference.

The son of a German immigrant, Timken was named a director of the firm at age 27 after short stints of unusual graduation from Harvard.

Civilian Force In Vietnam To Be Cut

SAIGON (AP) — The United States will substantially reduce the size of its 3,000-member force of Americans working for civilian agencies in South Vietnam, it was learned Saturday.

The action is in line with President Johnson's efforts to stem the flow of dollars overseas.

The announcement on the staff cuts is expected soon.

The U.S. Agency for International Development, largest of the civilian agencies with 2,000 American employees, is considering recommendations to cut 250 employees—a 10 per cent reduction.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman said "Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker has ordered all other U.S. agencies in South Vietnam to take a hard look at the size of their American staffs with an eye toward making cuts."

Robbed
BOSTON (AP)—When the clerk in Boston Municipal Court inquired, "Robert Bailey? Bailey kept to his feet and shouted, 'I was robbed!'"

Bailey, 31, in court Friday for disturbing the peace, fell asleep in the prisoners dock while awaiting disposition of his case.

Some 20 defendants were milling around as court progressed.

Police said some of the other defendants apparently took $65 from Bailey's pocket on the way to court.

Two jailiffs searched the defendants who remained, but police said they apparently left the court before the theft was discovered.

Mauritius Is Seething After Independence

PORT LOUIS, Mauritius (AP) — Two planes of British troops who have been trying to keep peace between antagonistic racial and religious groups in Mauritius returned to their Singapore base Friday.

About 100 remain in the independent island. The light infantry troops arrived in mid-January when rising tensions between Creoles and Indians led to the open friction between the two groups.

Area Development Meeting Set

Programs to strengthen economic development and planning will be emphasized at a one-day Economic Development Conference in Twin Falls.

About 200 business, industry, government and civic leaders from throughout Southern Idaho are expected to attend the session, sponsored by the Federal Business Administration and held in the American Legion Hall.

Oliver Davis, regional director, SBA, said the conference will cover methods of planning, and executing economic development programs to benefit economy in the state.

Speakers will include SBA representatives from Washington, San Francisco and Boise, as well as officials of the Idaho Department of Commerce and Development and the Farmers' Union.

WASHINGTON — Now that most of the super liberals have relieved themselves of their sopping mea culpa, perhaps it is time to take another look at the blatantly political document otherwise known as the report of the President's National Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders.

In the hysterical atmosphere created by the report, it is probably unlikely that we will see a midnight visit by grimaced storm troopers who will whisk me away to a correctional cell for a tussle with the rack or a bibulous session with a quart of castor oil. But just let me "take along" a volume of Menckler and I'll go quietly.

As I read the report, written by an 11-man panel loaded with an assortment of right-wing special interests and representatives of liberal interests, all whites should be hauled off to noisily, anyway, after first paying $20 billion as reparations to the Negro community. His pitch is that the Negro who loots a liquor store or burns down a city block is merely expressing his Constitutional dissent to white racism and should forthwith be elected to the Board of Overseers of Harvard.

Although legislation in the past five years has done more for the Negro's civil rights and personal dignity than any similar action in the nation's history, the white majority is indicted for standing mute while police and National Guard bullies drag Negroes off to concentration camps.

Last summer's riots, says the report in effect, were only the just retribution exacted from the whites for their neglect of the Negro.

It even charges those whites who have moved out of cities into more or less leafy suburbs for deserting their responsibilities.

Perhaps the only white suburbs should be chided, but for leaving the relatively uncomplicated existence of the high-rise apartments for the eternal vertigo with balky lawnmowers, snobish and surly neighbors and PTA meetings.

People, whether white or Negro, do not exit themselves to these, dubious. Edgus, because they are racist but because they have made a buck and have been persuaded that a life of frantic commuting and exorbitant country club dues will be good for their souls.

Why Hold Back?

The recent talk from various quarters that heart transplants are immoral or unethical is ridiculous. It is this same kind of talk that has held mankind back. It was talk like that in 1492 that nearly stopped Columbus from setting forth on his journey across the Atlantic.

problems are new. Show me just one problem with heart transplant operations. He continued, "Why do we have to have new definitions of death—commissions to tell us when a patient is dead?" He said physicians have been doing such for years, and there has never been any indication a physician might induce death by his own fame.

No Offensive Schools Must Be Integrated

One of the most puzzling things about the war in Vietnam today is that the United States to launch a huge offensive.

Mihel and Meuse-Argonne offensives were launched. The war ended. One does not have to be senile to realize that immediately the nation waited for the offensives of World War II to get under way.

The Propaganda

Whatever the long-range effect of the communist attacks on key Vietnamese cities may be, one thing appears certain: Washington's handling of the "hoochies" in the press has widened the credibility gap of the Johnson administration.

the "last gasp" theory which postulates that the enemy is throwing aside his cover and making huge sacrifices of troops in order to win concessions at the negotiating table. But even if this is so, America is not improving the chances for negotiations by underplaying the seriousness of the attacks.

JAMES MARLOW

Schools Must Be Integrated

Federal officials acknowledge the actions of local school districts in attending racial imbalances. The report by the President's National Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders, says that the 1964 Supreme Court decision in Brown v. Board of Education and the 1964 Civil Rights Act struck down school segregation by law.

Saving The Eagle

One trouble has been the farmer's and the waterfowler's notion that the only good eagle is a dead eagle. Because it occasionally saves a wild duck, more often it steals a fish from an osprey (fish hawk). It can find an osprey to rob. The osprey also has been declining.

It's Rubbish

If "race prejudice" causes riots, how come last year's worst ones were in the North, not in the South? If "poverty" causes riots, how come the worst ones were in Newark and Detroit, two of our richest cities? And how come there were no riots during the Depression?

TO THE CITIZENS OF THE CITY OF TWIN FALLS, IDAHO

We the Members of the Twin Falls Fire Fighters Local #1555 wish to thank you very much for your support in our drive for better wages. We especially want to thank the three thousand plus who signed our protest. The City Manager has informed the Fire Fighters, that it is the opinion of the City Attorney that the state law does not allow a referendum vote of salaries of City Employees. It is the opinion of the City Attorney that the state law gives the power of establishing salaries for Municipal Employees solely to the City Council.

The Fire Fighters are of the opinion that the voice of the people should be the determining factor in all forms of Government and that if we were to take this to court a verdict could be obtained in the Fire Fighters' favor. Unfortunately the Fire Fighters do not have the funds to do this. We have not given up. We will continue to fight for what we think is just and fair.

We have adopted this poem written by Edmund Vance Cooke as our motto.

HOW DID YOU DIE?

Did you tackle that trouble that came your way
With a resolute heart and cheerful?

Or 'hide your face from the light of day
With a craven soul and fearful?

Oh, a trouble's a ton, or a trouble's an ounce.
Or a trouble is what you make it.

And it isn't the fact that you're hurt that counts,
But only how did you take it?

You are beaten to earth? Well, well, what's that!
Come up with a smiling face.

It's nothing against you to fall down flat,
But to lie there—that's disgrace.

The harder you're thrown, why the higher you bounce;
Be proud of your blackened eye!

It isn't the fact that you're licked that counts;
It's how did you fight—and why?

And though you be done to the death, what then?
If you battled the best you could!

If you played your part in the world of men,
Why the Cotic will call it good.

Death comes with a crawl, or comes with a pounce,
And whether he's slow or spry,

If isn't the fact that you're dead that counts,
But only how did you die?

Dr. Blaiberg Leaves Cape Town Hospital

SMILING UP at heart surgeon Dr. Christian Barnard is Dr. Philip Blaiberg, after Blaiberg was released Saturday from Groote Schuur Hospital in Cape Town, South Africa. The retired dentist, 39, is the only person to survive a heart transplant operation. It was performed 74 days ago by Dr. Barnard. Blaiberg said thoughts of going home were foremost in his mind. He may go to the Cape Town airport by cable from Cape Town.

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — Philip Blaiberg, the only person to survive a heart transplant operation, stood confidently out of Groote Schuur Hospital and into the bright sunlight today.

"I am very well indeed," he told a waiting crowd of newsmen, nurses and on-lookers. "I am delighted to be going home and home is the main thing on my thoughts. Thank you all very much for coming to look me up."

One of the nurses who looked after the 33-year-old retired Cape Town dentist for 74 days asked him with a smile: "Can I kiss you?"

"Certainly," he replied.

With Barnard, who directed the delicate transplant surgery on Blaiberg Jan. 2 and on the world's first heart transplant patient, Louis Washkansky, who died 18 days after surgery.

Blaiberg shook hands with Barnard and said several times in a choked voice, "Thank you very much, thank you very much." Then Blaiberg and his wife, Ellen, stepped into a large black limousine for the drive home.

Shortly before his dismissal, Blaiberg received a thorough physical examination by the transplant team and was declared fit to leave the hospital.

Blaiberg's discharge had been expected for some time. Shortly after the operation, in fact, Barnard spoke in terms of three weeks before the sturdy, bald-headed man could go home.

The way is clear now for Barnard to perform his next heart transplant, which he has said would be soon, although he has no specific patient in mind.

Blaiberg, who is married and has three children, is recovering from the heart taken from the body of a patient who died of a brain hemorrhage.

The retired dentist made steady progress except for one medical complication. He had given indications that his body was rejecting the new heart, and raised the dosage of drugs to counter this.

Blaiberg spent his entire hospital recuperation period in a specially equipped room.

Barnard had been anxious to get him out of the hospital as soon as possible, because the doctor says his doctors' germinal medical examinations are far more resistant to treatment than what Blaiberg is likely to pick up outside.

Blaiberg will remain in complete isolation at the apartment block where he lives in suburban Kenilworth for about a month while he readjusts to normal conditions.

He will have to go to Groote Schuur three times a week for at least the next month for constant checks and further treatment.

GAMBLING RAID
BOISE (AP) — Boise Police arrested eight persons Friday in a gambling raid on the Boulevard Club, 1000 N. Myrtle. Police seized a large quantity of cash and other items. The club owner, Albert Bertrando, who was charged with operating a gambling house, and several other persons were charged with the misdemeanor offense of gambling and that of the club manager playing a game called "pangulungu." Officers said about $500 in cash, chips and checks were on the table when the raid was conducted.

Prayer

LONDON (AP) — A church in the heart of London's financial district invited bankers to pray for the city Friday. The Rev. Leslie Whitehead, Anglican rector of the Church of St. Edmund the King, reacted to the gold crisis by posting this notice: "Prayers for bankers."

Undisputed by the poor attendance, the Rev. Mr. Whitehead commented: "It is not to be wondered at in the minds of those concerned in financial affairs after this long time toward the 'Armageddon'."

Paul Budget Hearing Nets No Protests

PAUL, Minn. — No protest was voiced during the annual budget hearing for the city of Paul. The budget was set at $3,300,000.

Mrs. Theo. Tibbitts, assistant city clerk, announced the budget appropriations as Administration, $10,500; City Building, $3,200; Police Dept., $2,000; Parks and Recreation, $1,800; Streets, $1,400; Sewer, $3,500; Engineering, $12,000; Legislation, $3,800; and Garbage, $5,100.

Alvin Crowley and Mr. Harding of the State Department of Highways met with the council to discuss plans for the new four-lane highway on Highway 25 through the city limits, and noted that construction will get under way in about two months.

Tom Felton, who has a business along the construction site, asked about parallel parking, and was informed that it would not be allowed.

The state plans to construct the four lanes, with painted divider and left-hand turn area. The city decided to not lower the present water line along the highway, saying that the three-foot deep level was sufficient.

Electric Rate Reduction Is Worked Out

HEYBURN — Heyburn City Councilmen have worked out an electric rate reduction which will amount to $27,000 the first year with individual utility bills reduced 8.2 per cent.

This new schedule will consist of industrial, commercial and residential classifications, and all businesses will not be rated commercial.

Plans were discussed concerning single phase wire were rated residential, and businesses being serviced by three-phase wire are classified commercial rate.

The reduction will go into effect May 20, according to the council, which met Wednesday night.

There was no protest voiced on the budget hearing and the $345,500 appropriation, which is slightly higher than last year.

Gene Burgess, Heyburn, was hired new dog catcher.

Plans were discussed concerning the annual spring cleanup to be held in April and councilmen decided to hold the July-September quarter Chamber of Commerce and Scouts this year.

"Purchase of a radar system was approved for the police department. City employees will receive approximately a five per cent increase in pay.

Don Hill, city electrician, installed a power meter Friday night on the city's new Snake River Power Association.

The bid presented by Elliot's, Inc., Burley, was for a public utility diesel tractor, costing $3,124.

Buhl Antique Theatre Gets Tour Funds

BUHL — The Antique Festival Theatre of Buhl was granted a grant of four funds recently by the Idaho State Commission for the Arts and Humanities in Boise, according to John Barker, director of the ART board of directors.

In order to receive these funds of approximately $6,000, the local group must match this with about $200 in scholarships and at least $3,100 in sustaining memberships, program book advertising and ticket sales.

Present plans are for the Antique Festival Theatre to take all three of their 1958 plays on tour this summer, performing 15 or more performances. Contracts have been arranged with Lewiston, the College of Idaho at Caldwell, Aberdeen and Idaho State University at Pocatello.

Other possible performance sites would include Wallace, Grangeville, McCall, Boise, Idaho Falls, Mountain Home, Air Force Base and Silver City. The Idaho Cattlemen's association, which has a special event center in Buhl, has also been requested the group to present one of their plays. "A Texas Story" is the event.

A regular summer run, or 15 or more performances, will be presented in Buhl for this year, the fifth season of the Antique Festival Theatre.

NEW PRESIDENT POCATELLO (AP) — Mike King of Twin Falls was elected Idaho State University student body president during balloting at the university Friday.

Elected vice president was Les Purce of Pocatello. The two winners received 56 of the total 1,488 votes cast.

ENLISTMENTS BOISE (AP) — A limited number of Idahoans without previous military service may enlist in the Idaho National Guard. It was announced Saturday by Idaho Guard Chief Col. James S. Cooke.

Only 129 enlistment spaces have been allotted to Idaho. Brooks said, after lifting of a temporary ban on enlistment of persons without previous military experience.

Units which may take the new men are in Payette, Weiser, Caldwell, Homedale, Emmett, Gooding, Buhl, Jerome, Alameda, Twin Falls, Burley, Rupert, Pocatello, Preston and Blackfoot.

RATE MEETING BOISE (AP) — The Idaho Public Utilities Commission announced today it held a public hearing March 13 for Idaho truckers and approved several rate increases.

Asking for the changes were Garrett Freightlines, Inc., Clark Bank Lines, Inc., Pacific Industrial Tariff Bureau, Inc., Intermountain Tariff Bureau, Inc., and the Idaho Motor Tariff Bureau, Inc. The PUC also announced it would hold three hearings on proposed changes: April 1 in Twin Falls, April 11 at 9 a.m. in Boise and April 11 at 1 p.m. in Boise.

POLEY SPEAKS COEUR D'ALENE, Idaho (AP) — Rep. Tom Foley, D-Wash., urged the United States Friday to double the price of gold and pledged his opposition to legislation authorizing the Colorado River Basin project.

Foley told a Chamber of Commerce meeting that the "best course of action" for the United States is to increase the price of gold from $35 to $70 an ounce.

Foley predicted legislation authorizing the Colorado River Basin project would be approved by the House Interior Committee next week but said he would continue to oppose any version of the bill that provides for diversion of water from the Columbia River to the Southwest.

MORE TAXES BOISE (AP) — Idahoans last year paid 15 per cent more in property taxes than they did two years earlier, according to Max Vost, executive manager of the Associated Taxpayers of Idaho.

Paul Budget Hearing Nets No Protests

PAUL, Minn. — No protest was voiced during the annual budget hearing for the city of Paul. The budget was set at $3,300,000.

Mrs. Theo. Tibbitts, assistant city clerk, announced the budget appropriations as Administration, $10,500; City Building, $3,200; Police Dept., $2,000; Parks and Recreation, $1,800; Streets, $1,400; Sewer, $3,500; Engineering, $12,000; Legislation, $3,800; and Garbage, $5,100.

Alvin Crowley and Mr. Harding of the State Department of Highways met with the council to discuss plans for the new four-lane highway on Highway 25 through the city limits, and noted that construction will get under way in about two months.

Tom Felton, who has a business along the construction site, asked about parallel parking, and was informed that it would not be allowed.

The state plans to construct the four lanes, with painted divider and left-hand turn area. The city decided to not lower the present water line along the highway, saying that the three-foot deep level was sufficient.

Riot In Rome BOISE (AP) — Riot police used fire hoses today to break up a clash between students of rightist and leftist groups at the University of Rome.

The students used flags in a jab—each other and three stones, bottles and bits of 3000 in the brawl near the philosophy and law colleges.

At least 15 students were injured and taken to Rome's Policlinic Hospital. Others received medical assistance on the way from a Red-Cross truck standing by.

TOUR OF CSI's fine arts building was taken Friday by members of the Fine Arts Commission following a noon organizational meeting at the Holiday Inn. Officers and members of the group are, from right, James Kinney, chairman; Mrs. Jerry Callen; Jerome, vice chairman; Mrs. Jack Ramsay; Filer, secretary; Dr. Harry Brumbach, and Bob McManis. The five members were recently appointed by CSI trustees. Their main duties will include receiving requests from the public for the use of the building. The estimated cost of upkeep and utilities for the building will be $24,000 annually. The commission is expected to meet within two weeks to discuss projected fees and other aspects of public use of the fine arts building now under construction on the CSI campus.

Former T.E. Resident Dies In California

Mrs. Ada Chase Taylor, 84, former Twin Falls resident, died Friday in Eureka, Calif., of a long illness.

She was born July 13, 1883, in LaPorta, Pa., and was married to John W. Taylor in 1906 at Elmira, N. Y. He died Nov. 19, 1957. He was attorney general of Idaho for two terms. She was a member of the Episcopal Church.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. George (Ruth) DeWeller, Twin Falls; Mrs. Edith (Edith) Nelson, Eureka, Calif.; and Mrs. Gabe (Jean) DeRoeth, Spokane; one son, Paul Taylor, Rupert; and five grandchildren.

Graveside services will be held at 1 p.m. Wednesday in Sunset Memorial Park under the direction of White Mortuary Chapel with Rev. John Riley, Episcopal Church of the Ascension, officiating.

Pilots Attend Clinic For Instructors

Several Magic Valley pilot and flight instructors attended a recent flight instructors clinic at Boise, sponsored by the Idaho Department of Aeronautics.

Several of those attending were not registered flight instructors, but rather took the course to familiarize themselves with new rules and regulations. Flight checks were not given at the school, but will be given later to those requiring them.

Those attending from Magic Valley were Omer Patrich, Kenneth L. Hopper, Walter F. Huber, L. James Koutnik, Harry R. Merrick, Kenneth L. Owens, Eddy D. Patton, Kenneth Round, Ivan H. Skinner and Thomas A. White, all Twin Falls; Keith E. Lauder, West Falls; B. D. McKinney and Lloyd E. Shewmaker, both Kimberly; James K. Sullivan, Jerome; Joseph H. Higher Prices

LONDON (AP) — Five London daily newspapers with national circulations are increasing their price by one penny to five pence a copy Monday to offset higher cost.

The rise was attributed by the papers to the increase of 40-50 a ton in the price of newsprint — one result of the pound's devaluation last November.

Three other London papers went up a penny in January.

Police Catch 3 Escapees After Break

BOISE (AP) — Three state prison inmates were back in custody Saturday afternoon two and one-half hours after walking away from a work detail at the new state prison site.

State police said the three men were recaptured without a struggle at about 5 p.m. about three miles north of Paton.

They were identified as Larry Dionne, 23, serving a five-year term; Domingo Moreno, 19, serving a three-year term; and Irvine Pankin, 25, also serving three years. Details on convictions were not immediately available.

The men were part of a detail working at the construction site of a new prison south of Boise.

A prison spokesman said they apparently took a pickup truck from the prison site. It was found near Nampa.

Police said the men were apprehended in a Union Pacific railroad passenger train after a chase by a Parma police patrol car.

Idaho Teachers To Decide Course Of Action In Next Week

By EARL L. JESTER
BOISE (AP) — Idaho teachers will decide the coming week the course they will follow in their drive for more money for the public schools.

The Idaho Education Association, which holds its regular annual meeting Friday and Saturday, will hold a special session Wednesday evening and Thursday.

The only purpose of the special session is to consider whether some form of militant action should be taken by the teachers. This could be a walkout or refusal to sign contracts for next year.

Wayne York, IEA executive secretary, said sentiment as to what to do "appears to be mixed."

"The teachers were united right after the special session," he said. "Since then every school district has done everything possible to raise salaries as much as they can."

He said the result may be that there is less militancy now among the teachers.

"This is unfortunate," he said, "because the entire education program needs to be improved for the benefit of the boys and girls."

While the teachers are a factor in this, he is not the only factor. It would not prevent teaching during the Delegate Assembly, which is presently in Idaho from what happened in Florida. Earlier York said the most likely action by the Delegate Assembly would be a request to the National Education Association that it impose a sanction against Idaho.

This would mean that teachers throughout the nation would be told it would be unethical to sign a contract to teach in Idaho, which would not prevent teaching during the Delegate Assembly, which is presently in Idaho from what happened in Florida.

York said he was advised by the National Education Association that the largest unit of the IEA to determine whether its organization might be strengthened.

The Boise association has 500 members, about 9 percent of the entire IEA membership, York said.

Buhl Accepts Challenge To Raise Funds

By PAULINE DAY
Times-News Correspondent

BUHL.—Soft, glowing candlelight, paper flowers and music transformed the Buhl National Guard Armory into a splendid setting for the first "Light the Way" benefit, a half-price dinner, sponsored by the Exemplar Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi Sorority, Saturday evening.

Music for the event was furnished by the Allan Devries Orchestra, who appeared through the courtesy of the Sun Valley Local, American Federation of Musicians, No. 474.

The "Light the Way" fund drive project came into being when the people of Buhl accepted the challenge to raise $17,500 to match funds available for expansion of the Buhl Public Library and improve lighting at the high school football field and the city softball park.

State Sen. John M. Barker and Pat Hamilton, president of the Buhl Farmers National Bank, are serving as fund drive co-chairmen, and report that $675 was realized from this first planned benefit.

Rollie Homling, a long-time resident of Buhl, with a spirit and desire to improve the community, provide for the betterment of youth, improve and maintain recreational opportunity and promote a joint community effort to benefit all, provided the people of Buhl with the challenge through a request from his estate for $10,000 for the installation of lights for the football field and the softball park, provided the amount would be matched.

Also contained in the will was the stimulation that the income from an invested $50,000, or approximately $4,000 a year, was to be for the benefit of the Buhl Public Library Board for the purchase of books.

The proposed plan for the library includes possible expansion of the building with space for audio-visual aids, plus replacement of the heating plant and installation of air conditioning, improvements which have been under discussion by the library board for some time.

Sen. Barker advised the Buhl City Council that part of Idaho funds, allocated under the Federal Library Service program, now has been earmarked for Buhl library construction.

In a 60 per cent matching grant for up to $15,000. Based on an estimated total cost for expansion and repairs of $25,000, this leaves $10,000 to be raised locally. Private sources and the City of Buhl have pledged $2,500 at this time, including approximately $500 for architectural fees.

To fully qualify for the federal grant, complete architect's plans must be presented to and approved by the State Library Board, together with evidence of ability to supply 40 per cent of the total cost by June 1. Funds allocated for this fiscal year ending June 30, which are not matched, will go into another federal fund, and will be lost as far as Buhl is concerned.

Improved lighting for the high school football field would include increasing the ground light, which now measures 12 candlepower, to 50 candlepower. The recommendation is for 100-watt quartz type lights, on new poles, to bring Buhl up to modern standards. The 50 150-watt incandescent lights now at the football field would be moved to Paris Softball Park to augment the present lighting for the softball diamond. The baseball field has never been lighted, and would have 120 150-watt quartz type lights.

Improved lighting at these fields would greatly benefit Buhl and provide exceptional facilities for softball and baseball tournaments.

By meeting the challenge of raising the necessary $17,500, the residents of Buhl and the surrounding area will benefit from $45,000 worth of improvements without a bond issue.

Serving on the "Light the Way" committee are Sen. Barker, Rex Englekling, Joe Fehrenbacher, Mr. Hamilton, C. T. (Bud) McNealy and Dean Mickelwait.

Mrs. John Miracle was general chairman for the Saturday benefit, assisted by Mrs. Ted Diehl, Mrs. Bob Rankin, Mrs. Derek Cantrell, Mrs. Jack Salmer, Mrs. Cecil Wright, Mrs. Warren von Lindern and Mrs. Max Smith.

Plans for other fund-raising projects are under way by several clubs and civic organizations. The challenge can only be met as a community effort, not through the work of a few.

chairman of the recent "Light the Way" benefit held Saturday night at the Buhl National Guard Armory, sponsored by the Exemplar Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi.

Women's Section

DANCING TO THE MUSIC of the Allan Devries Orchestra are Mayor and Mrs. Myron Thompson during the recent benefit dinner-dance at the Buhl National Guard Armory. The music was provided through the courtesy of the Sun Valley Local, American Federation of Musicians No. 474.

AMONG THOSE SERVING on the "Light the Way" committee are, from left, Pat Hamilton, president of the Buhl Farmers National Bank; John Miracle, school board president; and State Sen. John M. Barker. Other members of the committee are Rex Englekling, Joe Fehrenbacher, C. T. (Bud) McNealy and Dean Mickelwait.

A challenge has been offered to Buhl residents as they combine efforts to match $10,000 left to the city through a bequest from the estate of Rollie Homling, a long-time Buhl resident. The recent benefit is just one of several planned.

THE BUFFET TABLE is an inviting setting for Mr. and Mrs. Pat Hamilton, left, and Mr. and Mrs. Rex Englekling during the recent dinner-dance hosted by Exemplar Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, as the first of several planned events to raise money to match funds available for expansion of the Buhl Public Library and improve lighting at the high school football field and city softball park.

Twin Falls Alumnae Of Kappa Kappa Gamma Meet

Money will be raised to give scholarships to qualified women.

Annual Council Meeting' Olives

KING HILL — Mrs. Walter Schumacher, King Hill, president of the Glens Ferry Worth-while Club, announces the annual Western Regional District Homemakers Council meeting is April 2 at Homedale. Theme for the event is "International Flair," with Olives members as hostesses.

Featured speakers at the convention are Mrs. Don Samuelson, "Heritage in the Governor's House"; Mrs. Joe Eiguren, "On, Homestead, History and Traditions of the Basque Settlement between Spain and Oregon"; Mrs. M. J. Mosler, "From the Northwest Nazarene College, Nampa, 'Homemakers in South America'"; and Florence Herrity, "Homemakers in Hawaii."

The Olives CowBelles will serve bouillon at the close of the meeting. All reservations should be in by Friday.

Spring Wedding Plans Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Meadows announce the engagement of her daughter, Gannell, to Harold M. Cruser, son of Mrs. Ethel Williams, all Twin Falls.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Caldwell High School and attended Kinnman Business Unit, Spokane, Wash.

Mr. Cruser is a graduate of the University of Idaho, where he was affiliated with Sigma Nu Fraternity. He is employed by First Security Bank in Ketchum.

A May wedding is planned.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN W. ANDERSON II (Leysou photo)

Marie Urrutia, Anderson Say Nuptial Vows

SHOSHONE — Marie Urrutia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Urrutia, Shoshone, and John W. Anderson II, son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Anderson, Twin Falls, were united in marriage in the Nuptial Mass at St. Peter's Catholic Church here.

Rev. William McQuaid performed the single ring ceremony before a setting of yellow feathery chrysanthemum and candle light candles before the altar.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of Chantilly lace over satin with a chapel train. The neckline was designed with seed pearls and the bodice had a small ruffle centered with seed pearls and the tiny-point sleeves.

Her above-length veil was designed in the same lace as that in the gown. She wore pearl earrings, a gift from the bridegroom, and carried cascading bouquet of yellow roses.

Bonnie Reid, Twin Falls, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Becky Call, Twin Falls, and Mrs. Joan Faye, sister of the bridegroom, Seattle, Wash.

Teresa Urrutia, niece of the bride, wore gift ring and Michael Urrutia was ring bearer, nephew of the bride.

Bill Robinson, Pocatello, served as best man. John Reid, Moscow, and Gary Faye, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, were ushers.

Connie Urrutia was organist and Julian Legarreta was soloist.

Mrs. Dale Eden, registered guests from Pocatello, Burley, Rupert, Twin Falls, Richfield, Moscow, Shoshone, Hailley, Ketchum, Salt Lake City and Seattle.

Rings were displayed by Mrs. Ruth Lawrence, Cheryl Moss and Janice DeBoard.

A reception honoring the couple was held after the wedding ceremony.

The bride's table was covered with white satin, centered with a three-tiered wedding cake decorated with yellow flowers and topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom. The cake was baked and decorated by Mrs. Lucille Robinson and cut and served by Mrs. Richard Urrutia and Mrs. Daniel Urrutia, sisters-in-law of the bride.

Punch and coffee were served by Mrs. Kenneth Burrell and Mrs. Joe Letz, aunt of the bride.

The couple took a wedding trip to Sun Valley, Jackson Hole and Western Yellowstone.

A dinner at the Holiday Inn was given by the bridegroom's parents after the rehearsal.

After the trip to Boise, the bride will continue to make her home in Twin Falls while her husband is stationed in Vietnam with the Armed Forces.

The bride was honored at a miscellaneous shower hosted by Mary Ruth Lawrence, Cheryl Moss and Janice DeBoard. A lingerie shower was hosted for the bride by Elaine Hult, Helen Slater and Bonnie Reid.

WEEKLY RECIPE WINNER
MRS. P. FISHER
145 S. 7th St. - 635-4004

Pride of Erin Potatoes
8 baking potatoes
2 tablespoons finely sliced green onion
1/2 cup melted butter or margarine
1/2 cup milk
2 teaspoons salt
8 green onion tops
 Parsley
1 tall can pitted rice
1 can dairy sour cream
1 1/2 cup milk
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
 Scrub potatoes. Bake in a 425 degree oven for one hour or until done. Save eight olives for garnish and cut remaining olives into wedges. Combine sour cream, milk salt and nutmeg. Heat, but do not boil.
 Carefully scoop potato from shells. Mash and whip in sour cream mixture, olive wedges and sliced onion. Heap mixture into potato shells. Drizzle with butter. Broil about five minutes or return to hot oven for about 15 minutes or until tops are golden.
 Garnish with "pipes" made by placing 2 inch iron chain top in each reserved olive. Fill bowls of olive pipes with parsley. Makes eight servings.
 (The Times-News will pay $5 each week for the best recipe submitted for Magic Valley Favorites. If you have a favorite recipe, just mail it to the Recipe Department, Women's Page Editor. The recipe becomes the property of the Times-News and cannot be returned.)

All-Club Day Scheduled For Tuesday In Wendell

Wendell—Plans for the All-Club Day to be held at the American Legion Hall beginning at 11:30 p.m. Tuesday were made by the host club, the Home Improvement Club, at the recent meeting at the Civic Club Rooms.

"Tomorrow's World" was given by Mrs. Hazel Haverford for the thought for the day. Committees were appointed to furnish cookies, rolls, punch and coffee. All other club members are to furnish salads for the salad bar.

The Hilldale Club, Mountain

View and West Point Ladies Club will provide the door prizes. The Hilldale Club will register those attending, and Hobby Club will decorate. Members attending are asked to bring their own table service. Each club is responsible for one number for the program.

The Home Improvement Club will work with the City Council again this year to judge the cleanup project. Edward Johnson will name the time for the city cleanup project.

Plans were made to attend the district meeting to be held at the Gooding-Grange Hall, March 28. Registration will be held from 9 to 10 a.m. during the coffee hour. The noon luncheon will be served by women of the Gooding-Grange. The Wendell Home Improvement Club is in charge of registration. Mrs. Orville Horn is in charge of the program.

Mrs. Edwin Bitterli and Mrs. Robert Simerly were in charge of the social hour.

Latawah Club Hosts Dinner

HANSEN—A potluck dinner was held by members of the Latawah Club at the home of Mrs. Charles Hoffield.

Several suggestions were discussed for the food of the club. Since the club has resigned as a Federated Club member, some changes are contemplated.

The suggestions will be brought to the next meeting which is April 2 at the home of Mrs. Grant Carlson.

Officers which were to have been elected at this meeting will be elected at a later date pending contemplated changes.

A gift will be purchased for the club's adopted girl at Nampa State School for Deaf.

Mrs. W. C. Kluttz, program chairman, read several items as the program feature.

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
 DEAR ABBY—My wife has always been the religious type but she's never stated with one religion. We have been married for 16 years, and she's been just about everything you can name. Now she's joined a new church on the edge of town. Some man picks her up at 6 o'clock Sunday morning and she doesn't get home until noon on Monday. I asked her what kind of church lasted all day and all night and she said it was the Deacon's house for "bodily nourishment" and special prayers. After that they all go outside and commune with nature and meditate, and pray some more. They go somewhere for "communion and berry juice" (they don't drink tea or coffee). They sometimes drive to the home I went along with this for four Sundays, but now she has started to go on THURSDAY—too. What do you think?
SUSPICIOUS
 DEAR SUSPICIOUS: You could easily solve the mystery by offering to go with her.

DEAR ABBY: You said in your column that engaged couples usually select the engagement ring. TOBIETTE R. Wells, however, to differ with you. My husband and I have been married for 22 years, and he selected my engagement ring himself. I am of the opinion that if a young man doesn't know a young lady's likes and dislikes well enough to select a ring for her, he doesn't have any business marrying her. An engagement ring is a gift, and it's none of the lady's business how much the man spends for it.
 B. J. D.

DEAR B. J. D.: Things have changed a lot in 22 years. If you ask a jeweler who sells engagement and wedding rings, I'll wager he will tell you that he sells more rings to couples than to men. And it wouldn't surprise me one bit to learn that many a woman will shop alone first, and later bring the man in to buy.

DEAR ABBY: I have been keeping steady company with a goodlooking widow for a year for the recreation.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 6970, Los Angeles, Cal. 90089 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The division of the school in which Miss Cope will enroll offers training in several career fields including public relations, fashion merchandising, business administration, writing, preparatory, professional modeling and a course in finishing and self-improvement. It also included the recreation.

Miss Eslinger Is Bride-Of-Kenneth Elkin
BUHL—The Buhl First Christian Church was the setting for the marriage of Barbara Eslinger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Eslinger, and Kenneth Patrick Elkin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Eckert, all of Buhl. The ceremony was performed Feb. 10 by the Rev. Delmar M. Talley before a background of candles and baskets of large feathery chrysanthemums in shades of pink.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an empire gown of pearl and tulle with a floor-length bell-shaped skirt, a high wide neckline, and elbow-length bell-shaped sleeves. Fur accents accented the hem and sleeves of the gown.

Her fingertip veil of illusion lace was held in the fellowship hall of the church. The bride's table was covered with lace over pink satin and centered with a four-tiered wedding cake. The cake was decorated with lattice hearts, bells and pink rosebuds, and topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom. The cake was baked and decorated by Mrs. Leonard Walcott.

On the other side of the cake was a pink candle and Spider chrysanthemum arrangement. Mrs. Ralph Eslinger, the bride's aunt, and Mrs. Kenneth Eslinger, cousin of the bride, cut and served the cake. Mrs. Clyde Norstrom and Mrs. Melvin Scherbinke, both nunts of the bride, March 26 meeting at the home of Mrs. Eugene Alexander.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Wayne Easterday, wore an off-white nylon knit street-length and fitted, belted with long sleeves, her turquoise and bridegroom. The headpiece and accessories were a vibrant green accented with a cascade of green orchids. She carried a white silk handkerchief belonging to the bridegroom's grandmother, the late Mrs. Callie Hartley, and wore a jade necklace and earrings, a gift from the bridegroom.

Mrs. Barbara Frey, twin sister of the bridegroom, was matron of honor, and Gail Cooke, daughter of the bride, was bridesmaid.

Howard Hine, brother of the bridegroom, was best man and soloist, accompanied by Mrs. Wayne Thompson, Jerome.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the church. The bride's table, covered with lace over green satin, was set at Castleford.

Jerome Couple Marries In Methodist Church Ceremony

JEROME—Terese Annette Hagler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Hagler, and Glen Scott Sidwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Sidwell, both of Jerome, were united in marriage in a ceremony Feb. 3 at the Methodist Church.

John Garrahand gave the double ring ceremony before an altar setting enhanced with arrangements of white carnations and fern on candleabra, three candle arrangements on the altar and a lighted candle in each window arranged with white netting and hearts accented with blue ribbons.

Traditional wedding music was played by Mrs. Kathleen Dellinger, organist, with Mrs. Donna Golay as soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white embroidered Venice lace-cape gown silhouetting a fitted bright satin. The bride gown, the lace cape was gathered on a rounded yoke and swept into a waltz capel train. The ivory point sleeves were caught at the wrists with tiny satin buttons. The gown was styled by the bride.

The bride wore a white and lace leaves with pearls held her float veil of English silk tulle, borrowed from her cousin, Mrs. Steve Beer. She carried four white Cattleya orchids centered on a white job's Daughters of the Valley.

Maid of honor was Susan Hagler, sister of the bride, and Janice Jones, Mrs. Patty Robins, Caldwell, friends of the bride, and Judy Carroll, niece of the bridegroom, as bridesmaids.

Candlelighters were Pamela Hagler, sister of the bride, and Jane Walters. Scattering white carnation petals in the path of the bride was the flower girl, Brenda Kersey. Bill Hagler, brother of the bride, carried the rings on a white satin and lace heart-shaped pillow.

Lane Sidwell was best man for his brother, with Tom Sidwell and Dennis Sidwell, brothers of the bridegroom, and Steve Hagler, brother of the bride, as groomsmen.

A reception was held immediately after the ceremony at the Methodist Church Fellowship Hall.

Gifts were registered by Mrs. Beer, with Pamela Hagler and Jane Walters carrying the gifts.

Army 1st Lt. Walter O. Harper, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin R. Harper, Buhl, received the Bronze Star and the Air Medal during recent ceremonies in Vietnam. He earned the Bronze Star for heroism in action while serving as a forward artillery observer with a company of the 1st Air Cavalry during a search and destroy mission. While his unit was pinned down by enemy fire he moved forward to call in and direct artillery fire on enemy emplacements. He also assisted in safely evacuating several casualties. The Air Medal was awarded for 1st Harper's meritorious achievement in airmanship in support of combat operations in Vietnam. He is executive officer of Battery A, 7th Battalion of the 12th Artillery, 1 Field Force, Vietnam. His wife, Phyllis, lives in Salt Lake City.

Army Pvt. David R. Jarolmek, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jarolmek, Burley, has completed a wheeled vehicle mechanic course at Ft. Ord, Calif. He was trained to repair light, medium and heavy wheeled vehicle chassis components. Instruction was given in the fundamentals of electrical and transmission systems.

T.F. Woman Predicts Crisis Over Gold Reserve System

Editor, Times-News:
I am sure that the House voted to remove the requirement that every dollar be backed by 25 cents of gold, thereby reducing $107.7 billion in bullion to $26.9 billion.

In a resolution of June 16, 1930, the Soviet Central Executive Committee instructed the government to liquidate the gold reserve of the Soviet financial policy "the establishment of moneyless accounts for the distribution of the money system" quoted in William Henry Chamberlain's "The Russian Revolution, 1917-1921, 1925, Vol. 2, P. 103.

So, the victorious communists, after the Russian revolution, have immediately to abolish money, to result in the production and the state distributing. They did so by merely printing money, and without even lead as a backing.

The result was, writes Chamberlain, "the complete refusal to exchange their grain, furs, precious stones, or pieces of worthless paper, or secret paper, simply sold it."

The farmers generally were unable to realize that since everything they were growing to eat, their money was being printed more than they needed for themselves. That result was the famine of 1932-33.

A later soldier described by C. E. Bechler of 1891-2.

Church Council, Government Condemned In Jerome Note

Editor, Times-News:
Magie Valley has recently been visited by representatives of the National Council of Churches in a seminar to acquaint us with their many programs to alleviate the ills and hunger of the world. But the main thing we heard is that the billions in relief that has been given through individual churches and Foreign Aid have been a drop in the bucket.

Deaths In Mine Draws Jerome Writer's Ire

Editor, Times-News:
I feel that someone should say something about the 21 men killed in the Louisiana salt mine and place the blame for such a disaster on the heads of the responsible.

A law was passed recently requiring federal inspection of mines and according to reports this was done at the Louisiana mine and recommendations were made and there matter stop.

Idaho Power Again Subject Of Letter

Editor, Times-News:
I like your Sunday column. The man from Jerome and I are in the same graveyard.

An investment that I made some 37 years ago in a rental residence has just undergone that phase of change of tenants. Any landlord knows the best time to repair and repair, is when the place is vacant. To my surprise this morning, I found the meter cut off without advice or consultation. Yes, sir, "flameless electric water heater" and the stoker heat were on a dry run.

That old house has been a constant revenue for the Idaho Power Co. for all those past years, probably $10 a year or more. Ask in all fairness what private business could survive such inhuman treatment?

Free Speech Mentioned By T.F. Official

Editor, Times-News:
It is the belief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars that a great injustice is being done the taxpayers of Idaho. The college at Pocatello has the operation policy where the students can have and are having any speaker of their choice at the taxpayers' expense.

Do not misunderstand our position on this matter. We are not trying to censor the free speech or are we saying the students going to college should not hear both sides of the story and get a chance to form their own opinions.

By having the open door policy we believe that the students have started to abuse the use of taxpayers' money in having known recruiters for subversive groups and the use of drugs flown in to speak to them when we have well known doctors and professors who are not recruiters for such subversive groups of hippies and drugs who could give a true picture of the other side.

Farmer Gives Advice About Subsidy Program

Editor, Times-News:
After reading your article "The Farm Scene" in last Sunday's Times-News, I believe your words should have been said.

During the period between 1950 when America's glut of surplus grains was beginning to show, and 1953 what happened?

The federal government spent billions of dollars on the feed grain program? The feed grain growers are still producing more than they can sell at a good price.

It should be quite obvious to you an editor, to the general public, and to me, a farmer, that the crop subsidy on grain should have the same status as other professions?

Buhl Writer Alleges Fix In Politics

Editor, Times-News:
The withdrawal of George Romney is a most unusual thing. We think perhaps a certain "millionaire" government must have slipped him a million dollars to step aside. He would not miss it at all. When we got under old King George we thought we were going to be a free nation. But we are now ruled by a few millionaires. Were Ligon here now he could not say "we have government for the people" by the people. In his time there was not this terrific power. Any nation with this setup cannot be called free. I do not remember his name, but a so-called great man once said: "Give me enough money and I can rule any nation." When the rest of the land, business and all kinds of property is owned and controlled by a few billionaires and millionaires, the power is in their hands, no preference who elect as president.

Robert Kennedy Is Object Of Critical Letters

Editor, Times-News:
"He is too young," says Bobby Kennedy. In effect, "I can do anything better than you."

He was stumped when asked whether or not he was an opportunist. And also how he was going to cooperate with Sen. McCarthy was hard for him to explain, but at the same time in competition with him.

In my book his younger brother, John, inherited the family intelligence. Teddy's chances it seems to me are damaged for his whirl at the presidency.

All I can say for Bobby is that he had his hair combed out of his eyes, and he has a beautiful family of little Kennedy's, also to make their kids in turn for the highest honor in government.

As far as I am concerned "his too" dead duck. That goes for the party also. As he said before in the Public Square in New Mexico in Vietnam. Aid as long as Ho Chi Minh is being supported by half the world, why should he wave the "white flag"?

On 3 Fronts After Crisis

By JACK LEFFLER AP Business Writer NEW YORK (AP) — The United States moved on three fronts this week to protect the dollar from the speculative gold buying stampede that swept Europe.

The Federal Reserve Board raised its discount rate to 5 percent from 4 1/2 percent.

The Treasury released an additional $450 million of gold to the Exchange Stabilization Fund, which is operated by seven Western governments to maintain the U.S.-fixed gold price of $35 an ounce.

The speculative scramble for gold reached such a frenzy, that the British government, at the request of the State Dept., closed its gold market. The London Stock Exchange also was closed.

In a number of other countries, stock exchanges were closed and trading in gold and foreign exchange suspended to ease the pressure.

The increase in the U.S. discount rate boosted the interest charges of the Federal Reserve to member banks to its highest level since 1933. All other interest rates stem from the discount rate.

Elimination of the gold cover will free $104 billion of the U.S. gold stock to meet foreign demand.

Release of the $450 million in gold left the United States with $11.1 billion—gold—the lowest since 1938 and about $1.7 billion less than a year ago.

In the U.S. copper industry, major breaks appeared in the sell-off.

Patented management and labor since the United Steelworkers of America and 25 affiliated unions called a strike last July 16.

Kennecott Copper Corp. and Phelps Dodge, two of the Big Five, announced tentative agreements on new labor contracts.

But a return-to-work wasn't imminent. The pact must be submitted to union members for ratification and Kennecott has fiscal deficits at plants in Utah, Nevada, Arizona, New Mexico and Maryland to resolve.

Bruins Rattle Santa Clara For Far West Crown

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — The Bruins led over the West Coast UCLA and Lew Alcindor Athletic Conference champion Santa Clara in the first five minutes and won the NCAA Far West regional basketball tournament 87-65 Saturday night.

Alcindor scored 22 points, pulled down 18 rebounds and blocked five shots in sending his team into next week's NCAA semifinals against Houston—only team to beat the second-ranked Bruins this season.

Houston advanced Texas Christian University to the NCAA Midwestern regional crown and a trip to the semifinals at Los Angeles.

Cliff Allen and Mike Warren provided the Pacific champion and defending NCAA national champion Bruins plenty of outside firepower.

UCLA, now 27-1, went ahead of Santa Clara for good on a bucket by Allen at 14:15 in the first half. The score steadily piled up after that.

The Bruins held a 51-31 half-

Ohio State Outlasts Kentucky By 82-81

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — The Buckeyes with 24 points, halftime lead. Ohio State, all but out of the scored, the winning basket with 10 minutes left. Ten days ago, three seconds left on a five-point game, knocked off fifth-ranked jump shot.

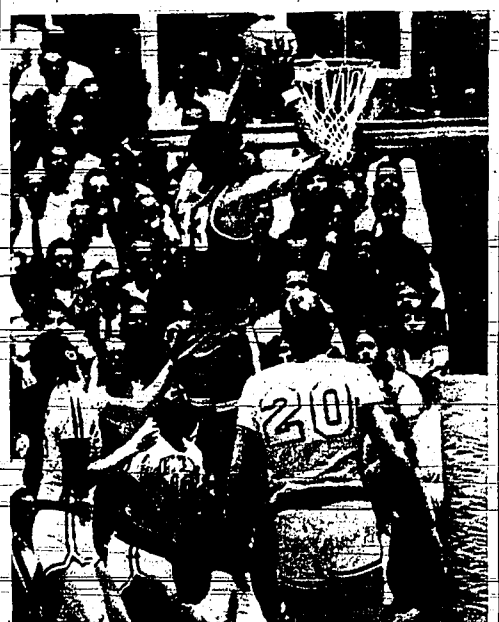

Kentucky 82-81 Saturday night. Kentucky opened a six-point lead at the start, but it wilted under hot shooting by the Buckeyes and Ohio State held a 44-40 State at the top 25-21, but Kentucky's Mike Casey hit from 15 feet for another tie.

A field-goal by Casey and a foul by Kentucky tied the game at 44-44. Casey headed by three, but it vanished when State's Steve Howell's 25-footer put Kentucky's Mike Pratt made one of two foul shots for a 46-44 lead from the side for a State advantage.

Jack Jessel, Kentucky's scoring leader with 19 points, tipped two points with 26 seconds left for an 81-80 edge, setting up 50 seconds of overtime.

Marquette, sparked by Brad Lulich and George Thompson, beat East Tennessee 69-57 in the game for third place.

North Carolina Rallies To Nip Davidson In Eastern Regional

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — North scorer, led behind in the second half as All-American Larry Rostenberry scored his first goal and the Tar Heels, behind by half and could not overtake the Wolfpack.

North Carolina, which shot 44.4 percent from the field, scored 82-75 in the opening game of the regional basketball championship Saturday night.

The fourth-ranked Tar Heels will play Ohio State Friday night at Los Angeles in the first round of the NCAA Conference championship tournament.

Hayes Zeroes In On Point Record As TCU Bows Out

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — All-American Elton Hayes and TCU played on the national stage. The score mounted to 59-26 at half-time, although TCU never gave up and used a full-court press. Houston's 1-3 zone defense was as devastating as ever, led by 6-7 Theobalds, 6-6 Ken Spain and 6-5 Don Chaney.

In the opening third place game, All-American Westley Unseld triggered a scuffling fast break and his teammates bombed Kansas State's zone for a 63-53 victory.

The 6-foot-6, 210-pound Unseld controlled the backboards, and his long, accurate passes downcourt led to many layups.

The victory gave ninth-ranked Louisville a final season record of 21-7.

Solons Blank Sox 9-0 On One-Hitter

By The Associated Press

Barry Moore pitched five hitless innings and Frank Bernina yielded just one hit in four innings as Washington bombed Boston, 9-0 Saturday in an exhibition baseball game at Winter Haven, Fla.

Andrews ruined the combined no-hit bid by the Washington left-handers with a bucket single off Bernina in the eighth inning.

Ed Brinkman and Mike Epstein led the Washington attack with four hits each. Brinkman included a three-run homer.

Shortstop Don Kessinger, just back from a two-week tour with the Army Reserve, committed three errors but scored the winning run in the seventh inning as the Chicago Cubs nipped Cleveland 21-0 at Seaside, Ariz.

Tommy Davis and Luis Aparicio, both acquired during the winter, kept their averages up by alternating out to hit in three as the Chicago White Sox edged Detroit 5-1 at Sarasota, Fla.

Orlando Cepeda crashed a tie-breaking, two-run homer in the seventh, sending the St. Louis Cardinals to their fourth straight victory, 5-4 over the New York Mets at St. Petersburg, Fla.

Felipe Alou singled home Woody Woodward in the first inning and Atlanta went on to a 2-0 victory over Oakland in West Palm Beach, Fla.

Pittsburgh, led by rookie shortstop Fred Pate's three hits, unseated a 17-hit barrier against Philadelphia and blasted the Phillies 7-4 at Clearwater, Fla.

Ron Davis clinched a five-run second inning for Houston with a three-run homer. Houston topped Minnesota 5-2 at Cocoa, Fla.

Willie Mays homered in the first inning and San Francisco erupted for nine runs off Sam Ellis in a 10-1 rout of the Angels of California at Phoenix, Ariz.

Holladay Claims LDS Hoop Crown

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Holladay Third Ward staved off a late rally by Baldwin Park, Calif., Friday night to win the LDS All-Church basketball tournament.

CHICAGO (AP) — Three Philadelphia players scored 85 points between them Saturday night to boost the 76ers to a 113-121 win over the Bulls.

Walt Frazier scored 35 points, George Gervin 31 and Elvin Hayes 19.

After Davidson, regarded 11-2 lead 46-43, North Carolina came back on two free throws and a goal by Miller to go ahead 47-46 and never again was headed.

North Carolina's victory halted a Davidson "winning streak" of 17 games, leaving the Wildcats with a 21-5 record against a 27-3 Tar Heel mark.

North Carolina, which shot 33.3 per cent in the first half, wound up with a 45-percentage for the game. Davidson was 41.9 per cent in the first half and finished 33.1.

The seventh ranked Columbia Lions, however, Friday night by Davidson 61-50 in overtime. shot 61.1 per cent, the first half and went on to hand third-ranked St. Bonaventure its second loss here after 23 victories. The Bonnies shot 31.7.

Five Columbia players scored in double figures as the Lions turned the game into a rout in the second half. Heyward Davidson led the scoring with 20 points.

Effect Of Heat On Fish Eyed In Columbia River

RICHLAND, Wash. (AP) — legislation on location of nuclear cooling devices on the Columbia River may be required until the effects of heat on fish in the region's rivers are known, a Portland power executive said Friday.

Gen. E. C. Itchner, vice president of Portland General Electric Co., told the Washington Legislature's Joint Committee on Nuclear Energy a $200-million cooling water from it into the Columbia River temperatures could be as high as 100 degrees Fahrenheit, he said.

Itchner said that such a temperature could be as high as 100 degrees Fahrenheit, he said. He said that such a temperature could be as high as 100 degrees Fahrenheit, he said.

John Day Dam Gates Close On April 16

PORTLAND (AP) — The flood gates on the $445-million John Day Dam will close on April 16, water will be backing up and by April 21 a 7-mile stretch of the Columbia River will be a huge lake.

The U.S. Army announced the move in Portland on Thursday. They said they wanted the lake formed as quickly as possible, so the spring run of chinook salmon can swim over the fish ladders.

John Day dam is about 60 miles east of Portland.

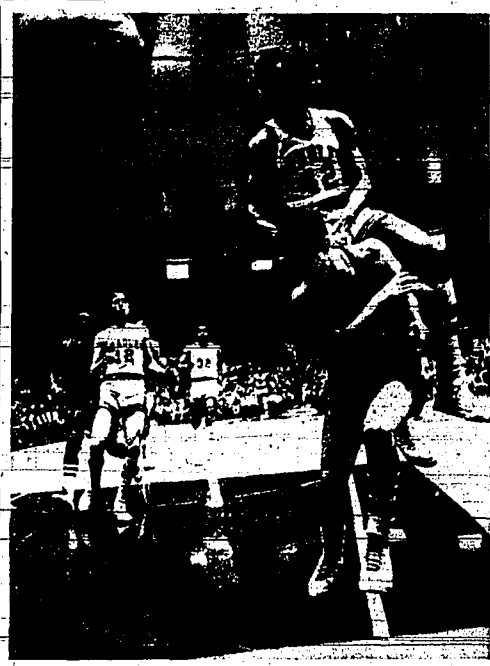

The water behind the dam will rise almost 100 feet. This will flood areas where towns used to be. The Army Engineers have moved the towns to higher elevations.

After the John Day floodgates close, the river flow below Bonneville Dam, further west, will be abnormally low for a while, the Engineers said.

The new dam will produce its first power in June. The hydroelectric project will be formally dedicated in September.

Lack Of Speed Dims T.F. Track Outlook; Cryder Tops Returnees

A little strength in the field, highlighted by Coach Klein's trying to coach Kline's punch in the lows with Blake and Jeff Youst, both a little short to get the severe pace cadence without a struggle. Those two also will be the brunt of the pack, probably, because of their lack of speed.

The distance team appear to be headed by Juniors Gordon and Hanson, Stone and Reiman with several others trying to get into the mix.

Coach Klein says that the team's lack of speed is the main reason for their poor performance in the NIT. He says that the team's lack of speed is the main reason for their poor performance in the NIT.

Villanova Claims NCAA Indoor Track Title As Ryan Completes Double

Sports

By Larry Hovey Times News Sports Editor

DETROIT (AP) — Villanova's Souble with a slow 4:06.5 mile race in the first round of the 1968-69 season. The track season begins this week and it doesn't appear that the Valley area schools will be able to start until the first of the season meets will be held in this area. This refers to the Minnesota Invitational which will bring together Minnesota and Twin Falls. Hovey Borah and defending champion Tom Balle state what should be a dazzling show. Between the two they have probably the two best sprinters, the best prospects for relays and three of the top four or five hurdlers in the state.

Minnesota also is coming out with a baseball team this year with Dick Warburton at the helm. Falls and Valley on the diamond now. About 150 years ago there were about 20 high schools playing baseball in the area but the weather finally forced that to one Twin Falls for a couple of years.

There is every indication that the usual 150 Idaho high schools will be held this year. In fact, it might never be run again unless a new set of circumstances can be brought to bear. Traveling expense is the major concern right now.

Rumors floating around the area last week that all of the Negro football players in the state would be drafted to the army are true. They were all on campus and in the weight room during the night, a photo call check showed.

Only six Marie Valley men are listed on the University of Idaho's spring sports roster. Coach and president of the club are Dick Spaeth, Jerome, are on the poll team: Dan Faught, Shoshone, are the sprinter for the track club and Gary Rasmussen and Bob Holmes, both Twin Falls, are on the baseball club.

Howard Humes, the general on College of Southern Idaho basketball team a year ago, currently is winding up his season with Indiana State in the national NCAA basketball tournament. Humes averaged nine points per game for the team, which once was ranked second nationally, and was praised by his own coach as a fine leader and ball handler.

Other ESP athletes — Don Deery played for his high school coach at Idaho State. He is now at Wells. Don Stevens played center for the Idaho State basketball team. He is now at the University of Idaho.

It appears the administration is moving to move the state meet for Idaho on the basis of cost. It is the opinion here that the biggest time factor is the cost. It is understood the need for the use of it to extend the season day and the operation of a two-day event. In the first place, it would extend the length of the season by a week—allowing more time to complete by elimination of the regional. Each district would have three or four days to complete to the state qualifying. The need is obvious in that the third district is rarely the one to qualify. It is in track year-in and out when this area comes up with anything the next year. Frank Payne or two of the top five boys in the state in several events. Don's quality state. A good example came a few years ago when sixth place in this region's district was better than third place in the state.

The reason we say the administrators don't understand comes from statements like one we remember well. "Would you like the field events one day and track the next?" The first day — it could be evening, remembered the administrator, qualifying for all events with the possible exception of the mile and two thousand, including the relays. It would actually be all the regional's wrapped up in one day. But whether they know it or not, the administrators had better prepare for the day because Idaho track is advancing very rapidly than any other sport and the demand will only become greater.

Between the two they have probably the two best sprinters, the best prospects for relays and three of the top four or five hurdlers in the state.

Minnesota also is coming out with a baseball team this year with Dick Warburton at the helm. Falls and Valley on the diamond now. About 150 years ago there were about 20 high schools playing baseball in the area but the weather finally forced that to one Twin Falls for a couple of years.

There is every indication that the usual 150 Idaho high schools will be held this year. In fact, it might never be run again unless a new set of circumstances can be brought to bear. Traveling expense is the major concern right now.

Rumors floating around the area last week that all of the Negro football players in the state would be drafted to the army are true. They were all on campus and in the weight room during the night, a photo call check showed.

Only six Marie Valley men are listed on the University of Idaho's spring sports roster. Coach and president of the club are Dick Spaeth, Jerome, are on the poll team: Dan Faught, Shoshone, are the sprinter for the track club and Gary Rasmussen and Bob Holmes, both Twin Falls, are on the baseball club.

Howard Humes, the general on College of Southern Idaho basketball team a year ago, currently is winding up his season with Indiana State in the national NCAA basketball tournament. Humes averaged nine points per game for the team, which once was ranked second nationally, and was praised by his own coach as a fine leader and ball handler.

Other ESP athletes — Don Deery played for his high school coach at Idaho State. He is now at Wells. Don Stevens played center for the Idaho State basketball team. He is now at the University of Idaho.

It appears the administration is moving to move the state meet for Idaho on the basis of cost. It is the opinion here that the biggest time factor is the cost. It is understood the need for the use of it to extend the season day and the operation of a two-day event. In the first place, it would extend the length of the season by a week—allowing more time to complete by elimination of the regional. Each district would have three or four days to complete to the state qualifying. The need is obvious in that the third district is rarely the one to qualify. It is in track year-in and out when this area comes up with anything the next year. Frank Payne or two of the top five boys in the state in several events. Don's quality state. A good example came a few years ago when sixth place in this region's district was better than third place in the state.

The reason we say the administrators don't understand comes from statements like one we remember well. "Would you like the field events one day and track the next?" The first day — it could be evening, remembered the administrator, qualifying for all events with the possible exception of the mile and two thousand, including the relays. It would actually be all the regional's wrapped up in one day. But whether they know it or not, the administrators had better prepare for the day because Idaho track is advancing very rapidly than any other sport and the demand will only become greater.

Mays Says He Is Helping In Own Way

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — "We're all God's children and we're all fighting for the same cause. Every one must do his job in his own way," Willie Mays, San Francisco Giants great outfielder, said Friday.

Mays, who has been charged by Jackie Robinson, the first Negro to play in the major leagues, that Mays "is not sufficiently involved in the civil rights struggle." Robinson, in a television show in San Francisco Thursday, said Mays "should do more" for civil rights.

Mays, told sports writers at the Giants training camp in the great deal of Jackie Robinson, Jackie has been through a lot and all Negro athletes should be grateful to him.

However, Mays declared, "that doesn't give him the right to speak for us. I can't go out and picket. I can't stand on a soap box. People like Mr. (Martin Luther) King and Mr. (Roy Wilkins) are better equipped than I."

"I have been doing things for race relations for a long time in my own way. I want no credit for it. I have worked for the Job Corps and I make speeches to kids. I have the understanding it is the important thing."

Valley Nursing Home Nips Mike's Cold Storage For Magic Valley Outlaw Title

FALLS — Valley Nursing Home of Twin Falls erased an eight-year hold on the outlaw title by nipping Mike's Cold Storage of Shoshone 29-33 to win the 11th annual Magic Valley Outlaw basketball championship. The Jr.-Sr. field. Firm control of the consolation title by downing Shields of Fair 41-60.

Mike's Cold Storage net figured among the favorites at the start of the tournament, set in the court hall of the finals against the younger Valley Nursing Home crew and shot into a 29-21 intermission edge.

But the Shoshone crew went ice cold in the second half, making only two field goals, and Valley quickly shot back into a lead.

Larry Eller and Howard Hedrick got the points that knotted the game at 31-31 but then Eller went into a cold, e.o.l. streak.

FAIRFIELD, Ore. (AP) — The Oregon Game and Fish Commission today voted to place mountain lions in a trophy class with a limit of one per hunter per year, corresponding to the legislation taken by the Legislature during the spring meeting of the Oregon Game and Fish Commission.

After Valley posted a 35-21 lead, both teams went over three minutes without scoring. With 2:50 left, Hedrick hit a short jumper for Valley before George Aronson got a Shoshone field goal. With 23 seconds remaining, Fred Staples' free throw moved Valley ahead 39-38. Byron Wells rebounded, shot pulled Mike's to within one with 13 seconds left, but Shoshone didn't get another shot after the buzzer.

In the afternoon session, Fairfield ousted Royal Lounge of Twin Falls 46-36 while Shields of Fair defeated Mike's 41-30.

In the consolation consolation final, in the winners' bracket, Valley eliminated Murrumbidgee 35-29. Mike's was ousted by Acme Machine of Fair to the sidelines 66-40.

Seven Marks Fall In WSU Indoor Meet

PULLMAN, Wash. (AP) — Seven meet records were broken and two tied Saturday in the 26th Washington State University Indoor Track and Field Meet.

The Ohio team—NAIA champion in 1955, was leading the 15 first places, in the 100-yard varsity division, WSU grabbed 4 of 15 firsts.

Valley athletes set 3 of the 5 varsity meet records.

Johnson broke a six-year-old triple jump record with a jump of 49-1/2 and joined Dick Olson as a double winner with a long jump of 23-1/2.

Valley's runner ran the 400 in 47.7 seconds, returned to anchor WSU's No. 1 relay team to a record 3:11.8.

The other varsity records went to Idaho state records holder Rich Smith, who set the discus and shot put records.

John Lee cracked a meet mark with a 8.4 second performance.

Montana's only winner was javelin thrower Mike Ungstad. He threw the spear 228-10.

Central State Takes NAIA Cage Crown

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Central State of Wilberforce, Ohio won its second NAIA basketball championship in four years Saturday night by holding on to a 75-67 victory over Fairmount of Fair.

Wills Says Base Stealing, Bunts Always Important

By RALPH BERNSTEIN Associated-Press Sports Writer
FT. MYERS, Fla. (AP) — Major league players about his pet peeve—the bunt—got very nervous when he said a bunt in the late innings or bunts for a hit with his team ahead by a lopsided score.

"They hate me plenty of times when I'm ahead, say 10-2 in the ninth, the other club has given up, can hardly wait for the game to end, and I steal or bunt for a hit."

Wills sat in the stands before a recent exhibition game and spoke of the things that have made him a great ball player—the steal and the bunt. "There is no such thing as a stolen base which doesn't mean anything," he said.

Wills stole 104 bases for the Los Angeles Dodgers in 1952, a record he hopes to better never will be topped. He admitted there is no way a player can steal all the bases without hitting a game. "But you have to steal sometimes just to keep in condition to test a pitcher, to build your confidence," he said.

"Then, when the time comes that the stolen base means something, you know you've got the base," Wills explained.

"Now, your legs aren't tight from not having a stolen base in a week. You have the confidence. There is always a place for the stolen base. There is no place for getting thrown out with a Roberto Clemente or Willie Stargell coming to bat."

Wills offered another reason why the steal can be important, regardless of the inning or the score. He said his Pittsburgh teammate, Clemente, lost the RBI hit last year to Orlando Cepeda by one. "If I'm of first, Willie Clemente can't get a hit. I'm going to steal. Then, if Roberto hits a high chopper I score for him."

"These things are important to individuals' besides 'being collective.' What's good for the player is good for the club." Turning to the bunt, Wills said anytime the third or first baseman is down and gives him the room to drop one down the line they're going to get it. "I have 100-100 to be hit. They bunt, bush, bush, bush. What am I supposed to do, try and hit a home run? I'm not that kind of hitter."

"Um, a third baseman and I move up when I suspect the bunt. I'm going to hit it. They have to hit it past me."

Up-Tight World Of Hero Is Reality Of Success Without Drugs

By JAN A. SAINSBURY
Times-News Feature Editor
Congressional Medal of Honor winner Lt. Col. Bernard Fisher spoke to Idaho State University students Thursday on the subject "Success Without Drugs." Or did he?

If you ask a student who attended he will tell you that Col. Fisher talked about almost everything but success without drugs. He was in his 45-minute address did Fisher mention drugs or their effect on his mind? He neither cited personal experience nor mentioned the possible detriments that usually follow the indiscriminate use of consciousness expanding drugs.

Fisher, however, was more than just interesting. There is a quality which surrounds men who receive great honors. The audience leans in and because of that fact it is quiet, and still. Col. Fisher began to speak, his voice was soft with a drone-like tone, and students in the audience listened as if they wanted to be sure they would miss nothing.

Col. Fisher spoke of his childhood, hatefully, and mentioned his first few days in the service. He spoke of survival training as if it were a game, and then admitted to having hopes that he wouldn't have to attend another. He has completed seven. The last one, Fisher said, was in the Nevada mountains in the winter. After the training he was sent to the jungles of Vietnam. Col. Fisher smiled to himself, and then went on.

Students listened quietly and respectfully. There were no disturbances. It was only when the question period was opened that the Idaho Medal of Honor winner found himself on the short end of a flexible stick held by 150 college students.

Why did the situation develop? What caused students who had listened patiently for 45 minutes to begin asking questions about the Vietnam war, and wanting to know if killing women and children under a hail of bombs was the answer?

Then finally, someone asked, "What has all this got to do with drugs? How are we supposed to be a success without drugs?"

The situation started with a visit by Timothy Leary to the ISU campus in February. Leary is the self-proclaimed "Messiah" of what he calls the "Turned-On Generation." He is an advocate of lifting all legal restrictions on drugs and permitting their free use.

An article appeared in the Times-News the weekend after the Leary appearance, providing considerable comment. Along with other items in other papers throughout the state, prompting a reevaluation of the so-called "open-door" speaker's policy at ISU. Faculty and students alike, concerned with academic freedom and the right of the individual to decide for himself what he will or will not see and hear, worry constantly about the narrowing of their fields.

To a man, they all believe that if the student has not learned how to judge a man's philosophy as to right and wrong by the time he is in college, then he or she shouldn't be in college.

The opinions came to a head in several student forums and a decisive comment was made as editorial opinion in the ISU student newspaper.

The editorial concerned the proposed appearance of a man advocating birth control, and as a part of his program advocating the legalization of abortion. The Student Senate at ISU did not allow the man to appear on campus in action independent of the administration. Still some students and the student newspaper felt that this was censorship and not an "open door" policy.

The editorial in the Bernalred credentials were questioned—it was now told, told and not suggested, that because the man had neither a Ph.D. nor an M.D., he would be unqualified to speak on such a touchy subject as abortion.

"Students are reminded," the editorial continued, "that a speaker is speaking on campus tomorrow. His talk: 'Success Without Drugs.'"

"It would seem that a holder of a Congressional Medal is immediately qualified to speak on any subject."

"How patriotic to consider that!"

And the editorial went on to say that Leary was canceled because "too many radical speakers" had been invited. And it further pointed out that it was strange "that in save our free speakers' policy we should have prohibited a man from appearing."

So much for the background. An honest, to goodness hero was going to appear at ISU and speak on drugs. At least the Bengal said so. Quoting from the front page Wednesday, the day before Fisher's appearance, the final paragraph in the story said:

"During his talk Col. Fisher will point out how one can exist and still enjoy life without the use of drugs. He will try to counter those arguments advanced several weeks ago by LDS advocate, Timothy Leary, the "heavenly reported."

When the audience finished listening to the Vietnam hero tell about the difficulty of survival training and the thrill of flying a jet plane at 1,500 miles per hour, they wanted to know more. And more was offered.

The message was there of course, if the listener had the time to look for it. Fisher simply described the beginnings of his Air Force career to the audience, and then sat down. The implication was that here is a man who did everything in a normal, safe and sane manner, and ended up winning the Congressional Medal of Honor, the highest award the country can bestow for valor in battle, and he did it without drugs. But the message wasn't pointed enough.

The student paper had said that Fisher would try to counter those arguments advanced (Continued on Page A-3)

AN ISU STUDENT from Twin Falls, Richard Gyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Gyer, a retired J. C. Penney manager, commented on Lt. Col. Fisher's talk at ISU after the presentation. "In my opinion, and quite a few around me shared the same opinion, he gave a good speech but didn't say anything about the subject we were told he would speak about. He gave us an idea what he had done and what he is now doing, but the buildup the Bengal (ISU student newspaper) gave us was that he would show us how to get closer to God and really without drugs, just as Leary (Timothy Leary, LSD advocate who spoke on ISU's campus recently) was supposed to tell us, only Leary advocated drugs. Col. Fisher didn't ever touch on the subject, not once, and so I just didn't work. I also think the audience was not typical of the average ISU student." Richard Gyer is a sociology major at the university, and is in his junior year.

preceding the ISU lecture as he toured the state speaking to high school students on behalf of the Idaho Narcotics Alcohol Education Foundation, Inc. He returns to his tour of duty in Germany today.

STUDENTS AT ISU watch intently and respectfully as Lt. Col. Bernard Fisher, Air Force pilot and winner of the Congressional Medal of Honor, speaks to them about his experiences prior to, and in, Vietnam. Extremely self-poised and restrained in his manner, Lt. Col. Fisher failed to answer many questions asked him by ISU students and visitors, but in doing so he earned considerable respect for his patience and good humor in the often-tense situation. As one student put it, "It got up-tight a few times. You could feel it." The audience totaled more than 150 people, and admission was free. Lt. Col. Fisher, however, did speak to much larger crowds earlier in the week and on half period

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

Good food and fellowship and his would-be stars, his usually complement each other, daughter, Ora Lee Wiseman, but each element reached a special place in the Twin Falls church, which is a perfect example of the Methodist Men's Club held its German song, singing their communal 24th anniversary. Tuesday night, separate numbers in the TWIN FALLS church, began to disintegrate for each other. In 1951, the club was formed, and it has been moving forward to this day. Membership was apparent, however, and friends and despite the fact that "My Father and Mother were proud of the club, and "Where O Where Have My Most church dinners, the men's Little Dog Glee" as well as have little difficulty in attracting a capacity crowd, thanks to the reputation established for such lowly characters, all came excellently both in cuisine and entertainment.

This year's program, produced to a large degree by the men themselves, was no exception. Arranged by Clarence Dudley, president, the banquet entertainment was fast moving and varied from a trombone solo by Rex (Harold) Nye to musical accomplishments already well known in the valley. The "where O where have my most church dinners, the men's Little Dog Glee" as well as have little difficulty in attracting a capacity crowd, thanks to the reputation established for such lowly characters, all came excellently both in cuisine and entertainment.

Presidential chair was caddy added to the musical repertoire in a guest number, the actual number, as directed by Karl Wilson, Al Dougherty, Clarence Dudley and Russell Bennett (imported) Boyce. This was disclosed under the title of "Just A New Hampshire Town."

The father so praced the program with the appearance of the "Purity Pals," otherwise known as Elaine Dwyer, Ora Lee Wiseman and Barbara Mack, latter, accompanied by Clarence Dudley. The youthful ensemble was added by an enthusiastic trio of guitar strumming high school youngsters, Wes Harland, Yost and Jimmie, who indicated their "Hayseed Trio" is ready for business.

Appeals in the somewhat universal desire to "let one's hair down," and get away from it all, included as usual, Mrs. Edna Snodgrass, Chet Bartlett, Earl Diazaron, Dr. Howard Rank, Eugene Champlin, presenting the coffee break attire, complete with coffee pot, and Cliff Smith in a "Purity Pals" Bill Smith, often seen in decorous circumstances, wowed the audience by losing flowers, as he personified the "Hayseed Trio" whose "sul" word, he intoned, was "Q-A-V-E."

Also, a very slick presentation, produced by Dr. Ozzie Fuller whose abilities long have been used in the pink notes. Dressed in top hat and vest and sporting a cane, Dr. Fuller was seeking talent for his "opera,"

The true country, however, Jim has been a church member since 1924 and he attended the Oakley schools. He was the 10th child of 13 born to Joe H. Martin and Emma Worthington Martin. Mr. Martin makes his home at present in the city of Burley.

With a family of 13 children there was always something to do. Mr. Martin recalls, with each child at home having chores to take care of until play time, and never a shortage of playmates.

Jim's brothers and sisters still living are Mrs. T. (Verma) Robinson, Mrs. Fred (O'Neil) Miller, Mrs. Mary Steele, Phil Martin and Max Martin, all Burley. Jim's wife, Mrs. Gertrude (Mrs. Frank) (Gerrie) Speckman, all Oakley. Jay Martin, Jerome, and Mrs. Kenneth (Becky) Speckman, all Burley.

In 1943 Jim entered the military service during World War II, returning to live at Jerome where he farmed and was engaged in commercial trucking.

"At Jerome is where I met my sweetheart, Elaine. We were married in January 1952, at Las Vegas. The couple farmed in the Hazelton area for 12 years. They are the parents of three children, a son, Jamies, and two daughters, Stephanie, and Rebecca. 11.

The first "Outstanding Young Farmer" award was presented to Jim in 1959. While living in Jerome State Representative and served two terms, 1951-53 sessions—and was mentioned in "Spinner" when he sponsored the bill which authorized the purchase of the 200 acre plot in the city of Jackson, redeemable in gold on demand or in gold or lawful money. Also the following Silver Jubilee medals: $5.00, $10.00, $15.00, $20.00, $25.00, $30.00, $35.00, $40.00, $45.00, $50.00, $55.00, $60.00, $65.00, $70.00, $75.00, $80.00, $85.00, $90.00, $95.00, $100.00.

JAMES G. MARTIN

Chairman of Transportation and Defense Committees. In 1952 Jim moved his family to 225 South 20 East, Burley. With his two brothers, Max and Bill, he owns and operates a section of land in the south of Burley which is irrigated from deep wells. During irrigation season Jim can be seen with his son changing water at daylight each day. He is a member of the Chamber of Commerce, and is a director of the Cassia County Camp Fire Council.

Mr. Martin has a great interest in water. He is a director of South Idaho Water Users Association, director of South Idaho State Reclamation, a member of State Soil Conservation District Water Committee, Director on Columbia Plateau Reclamation Council, which operates Idaho Reclamation, and a member of the Legislative Council of the Idaho State Reclamation Service.

Idaho has the land and water we must keep Snake River water here and put it to use on our land so that all southern Idaho will be prosperous," he stated. "Our present desert land just needs irrigation water to make one of the greatest agricultural areas in the United States," he added.

Jim and his brother Max are the owners of Guy's N Doll clothing specialty shop at 2271 Burley. Max, Burley, which is operated by the two men's wives, Elaine and Virginia. Four years ago Jim and his brother built an Aframe cabin at Ketchum. A weekend cabin is family fun, and it gives the family-time to try-out the slopes for skiing.

His hobbies include antique collecting, golf, snow skiing, and traveling. He has been to Mexico several times and three years ago to Hawaii. "Even after traveling and visiting, and seeing several places, Marie Valley is the best place to live and raise a family—because of the friendly people, fresh clean air and the climate," Jim stated.

Udall Claims Idaho Power Accord Near

WASHINGTON (AP) — Interior Secy. Stewart L. Udall says there will be some compromising, but "we are on the verge of getting a wheeling agreement with Idaho Power Co."

Udall made the comment at a news conference Thursday. He referred to a proposed agreement for transmitting Bonneville Power Administration electricity over Idaho Power Co. lines to southeastern Idaho.

Udall said the wheeling agreement has been one of his top objectives since he became head of the Interior Department seven years ago.

Sens. Frank Church, D-Idaho, and Frank E. Moss, D-Utah, announced earlier that representatives of rural electric cooperatives and other interests in the southern Idaho-northern Utah area will meet in Washington March 22 to make suggestions on improvements they would like in the proposed contract.

Udall didn't say what is the main stumbling block to the wheeling contract. It is known that Idaho Power Co. insists that the annual increase in the federal power to be sold to southeastern Idaho amount to more than seven per cent.

Water Forecast Set Auction On March 23

CAREY—State snow survey supervisor Morland Nelson of the Soil Conservation Service will present the annual water supply forecast at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the LDS church auditorium.

The forecast is sponsored by the State Conservation District and Little Wood River Irrigation Co. Elwin Conter, Blaine Conservation District chairman, stated a number of measures will be necessary for water users to make the best use of the limited water supply for the coming irrigation season. These measures will be discussed at the meeting.

Water Standards BOISE (AP) — The Idaho Water Pollution Control Advisory Council asked Friday that the State Health Board set public hearings on adoption of water quality standards for instream uses.

Built Scouts Set Auction On March 23

BOISE — An auction sponsored by the Explorers and Boy Scouts of Idaho will be held 11 a.m. March 23 in the old Safeway building.

Items to be auctioned include farm machinery, livestock, straw and hay in addition to supplies, including catered dinner for four, a wedding cake, dressmaking and knitting.

A cooked food sale will also be held in conjunction with the auction. Hamburgers, pie and drinks will be sold during the day.

Anyone wishing to donate to the auction is asked to contact Robert LaPray, Emergency Wier, Leo Ooster or Don Stinson. Proceeds from the auction will go into the scout assessment fund toward scout camps.

The Money Box

BY FRANK SCHELL

Our thanks to Mrs. Brown, Edna Dwyer, for sending the Department Store, and Wilson Brothers tokens. They are new and certainly appreciated.

Again the myth the value of a dollar bill with a "K" on it is circulating around. From time to time we try to expose this story. Just before the assassination of President Kennedy, the Dallas office of the States started printing one-dollar Federal Reserve notes. Before this time, they have always been printed in blue ink and twenty dollar values have been printed in green ink. This is a very little "attention" was given them.

Recently Federal Reserve Districts and the rules are number of them are printed in blue ink. They are also lettered with the alphabet, A corresponding to B, C, and D. Thus Dallas is the 11th district, has the letter designation "K" on the note.

Recently a rumor started that the K had been put on the Dallas note to commemorate the death. Every few months the column receives letters inquiring about the value of such notes. Once and for all time, this note has no extra value—in fact it has been issued in the amount of over thirteen million.

Please note that we do not have a penny. Our coin is the one-cent piece and three United States has never made a penny. We also had these coins from 1900 until 1908 when reducing the size of the coin, but they have always been one-cent pieces—not pennies.

Have you ever come into a post office and asked for a five-penny stamp?

AS YOUR MINISTER SEES IT

"Social Unrest: What Does It Mean?"

By JOHN W. BOYD, Pastor

Seven-day Adventist Church

Two visitors to the question they queried, "Are there that Jesus said about the world should come, or do we look for another?" I believe that the answer? "This same search for a leader is being carried on to this day. People are longing for security, for something they can depend on, for a leader they can trust.

The human heart doesn't seem to be satisfied. Searching youth turn to the "hippie" movement. Others experiment with hallucinatory drugs. The revolts on university campuses and the riots in many cities are symptomatic of this unrest, of this desire for something, a something that seems at odds with the actual philosophy. Does this end in the social chaos as the end of the rainbow? Or does this unrest in the social indicate that Jesus Christ is inadequate for today's problems?

Many of the youth discern the discrepancy between the teachings of Christianity and the practice of those who claim to be Christians. Disillusionment has come because the youth have equated the materialistic lives of so-called Christians with the actual philosophy which Christ lived and taught. The attitude of many modern Christians is aptly stated in the Bible, "I am rich and increased with good, and have need of nothing. But the words of God declares of such: "and knowest not that thou art a fool? For all that thou hast is laid up, and thou knowest not that the price of it shall be consumed. And thou knowest not that the price of it shall be consumed. And thou knowest not that the price of it shall be consumed."

Let's examine this claim that the Scriptures testify of Him. We know He was born in Bethlehem. Old Testament scripture made a prediction, more than 700 years before His birth: "But thou, Bethlehem Ephratah, though thou be little among the four corners of Judah, yet thou shalt be great; for thou shalt be called in Israel." Micah 5:2.

The virgin birth was also predicted. "Therefore the Lord himself shall give you a sign; Behold, a virgin shall conceive and bear a son, shall call his name Immanuel." Isaiah 7:14. Zechariah 11:12, and 13, foretold that He would be sold for thirty pieces of silver and that this money would later buy the potter's field. It is stated in Psalm 41:9 that He would be betrayed by a friend. Luke 22:11 tells how His disciples were used in His trial. Also, Psalm 21:16 and 17 predicted that His hands and feet would be pierced and that lots would be cast for His garments.

When it is considered that the birth, life, and death of Jesus Christ fulfilled more than 60 prophecies of the Old Testament—and these were made hundreds of years before His birth—an intelligent person can only conclude that He is that One that was to come. The Old Testament declares that One is coming. The New Testament declares, "He came!"

The certainty of this truth gripped the hearts of the early Christians—there is no wishy-washy lack of faith in Peter's declaration, "Neither is there salvation in any other: for there is none other name under heaven given among men, whereby we must be saved." Acts 4:12.

Paul wrote, "For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God: For we are His workmanship, created in Christ Jesus unto good works." Ephesians 2:8, 9.

Let's look at a prediction about the "ill-work of Christ." "The Spirit of the Lord God is upon me; because the Lord hath anointed me to preach good tidings unto the meek; he hath sent me to bind up the brokenhearted, to proclaim liberty to the captives, and the opening of the prison to them that are bound; for to proclaim the acceptable year of the Lord, and the day of vengeance of our God; to

Standalls To Direct Bliss PTA Program

Bliss—Mr. and Mrs. Norman Standalls were elected co-presidents of the Bliss PTA Wednesday evening.

Other officers elected were Mrs. and Mrs. Doran Butler, vice-presidents; Mrs. Lavera Stueffer, secretary; and Mrs. Gene Morris, treasurer. Officers will be installed in May.

Guest speaker for the evening was Zane Harrison, a member of the State Association of Teachers for the Idaho Board of Education.

Mr. Harrison spoke on the problems faced by a small school such as a limited curriculum and added expense of taxpayers in comparison to a larger school. Other topics touched upon included legislation and education and the current teacher-salary problems.

East and west winners include Mrs. J. T. Shelly and Mrs. V. R. Teasley, first; Mrs. A. D. McMahon and Mrs. L. R. Dunbar, second; and Mrs. Gus Averett, Thomas and Mrs. R. M. Peterson, third.

comfort all that mourn." Isaiah 61:1, 2.

As we read the life and teaching of Jesus Christ, we find this prophecy fulfilled. Jesus didn't go about seeking government aid to carry on His work. He didn't join any picket lines, nor organize a march on the Synhedrin to get His way. His life and work were involved with people, not pressure groups.

Jesus taught of a new birth, a new life, and a new earth. "He was an optimist! He believed in a small minority, yet he declared, 'This power of the kingdom shall be preached in all the world—for a witness unto all nations; and then shall the end come.'" Matthew 24:14.

We read in the Bible, "My thoughts are not your thoughts, neither are your ways my ways, said the Lord. For as the heavens are higher than the earth, so are my ways higher than your ways, and my thoughts than your thoughts." Isaiah 55:8, 9. I do not doubt that the problems of our present world are due to failure on the part of Christians. It is desirable that the failure comes in His followers not living up to their high calling.

OWNERS OF THE Twin Falls Health Club, Dr. John McNeess, and Jerry Shane sit in an area which has been designed for relaxation. The club is located in the basement of the Albertson store on Filer. The entrance is at the rear of the building. The project began with just one room for workouts and showers, and now has spread to a sizable club.

2 Men Keep Weight Down And Appetites Up

Dr. John McNeess and Jerry Shane got together one day and decided they needed a place to work out. And today they have it.

It started very near the first of the year in a small room in the basement of the Albertson store on Filer. And today it covers many rooms.

Dr. McNeess and Jerry Shane were the only two to begin with, but as they began to add things such as inclined boards for weight work and a steam room for "sweating out" the tension of a hard day at the office, others became interested. And others joined the club.

Today, after only a short period of operation the club has 40 members and offers a capacity for about 50 according to the two owners.

Facilities offered include the steam room, weight, a paddleboard court, and a rubber wally such as ping pong.

New equipment is being ordered, including new individual lockers, and additional exercise equipment.

The facilities are open nearly all hours of the day to accommodate the business or professional man, and ladies hours are arranged for family enjoyment.

The two men evenly mix business with pleasure and stay in shape at the same time.

A PADDLEBALL COURT keeps many of the members of the Twin Falls Health Club in good condition. The strenuous exercise is usually followed by a steam bath or cool shower.

Report Given On Teaching At Hagerman

HAGERMAN—Two high school teachers and a student teacher gave reports at the board of trustees meeting for school district No. 233 this week.

Mrs. Kathleen Brown, commercial instructor, described her individualized programs in typing, shorthand, and bookkeeping. She stated there is a spread in nine chapters in student achievement in her bookkeeping course and she feels this new method of teaching is much more satisfactory for both teachers and students.

At Wilson reported on the adult welding class which is being taught by Wayne Hill, structural steel instructor. Wilson reported 13 Hagerman men were taking the welding course. He also noted that 19 local women were enrolled in the beginning typing class instructed by Mrs. Brown.

Mr. Anderson reported that a modern math course will be organized if there is enough interest in the community to make it feasible. This course will be taught by Kenneth Leavitt. Any area resident interested in this class should call the school as soon as possible.

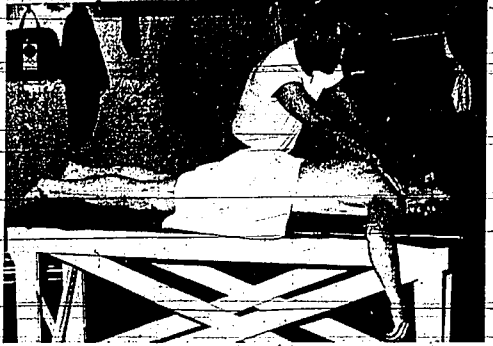

Miss Anderson further reported that many requests for a bookkeeping class to be offered this semester. If a qualified teacher can be found, this class will be added to the evening class activities.

Miss Anderson, a University of Idaho student teacher at the high school this nine weeks, reported on the micro-teaching activities at Hagerman. Teachers are now using to develop and improve their instructional skills.

Miss Anderson reported the teachers record a lesson on television and at the conclusion of the lesson, students give an evaluation of the lesson in several different areas such as understanding the aims; organization of content; method of instruction; concentration; review and total reaction to the lesson.

Miss Anderson further described using a committee of teachers to review the video-tapes with the teacher presenting the lesson to give suggestions of the strengths and weaknesses of the presentation.

The teacher then re-teaches the same concept to a different group of students at a later time to see if the suggestions can be put into practice. She reported the teachers were very enthusiastic.

A RUBDOWN IS GIVEN at the Twin Falls Health Club. The new feature has been added several nights a week to give patrons a way to ease the muscles they tighten up by being there in the first place.

Democrats Oppose BPA Agreement

BURLEY—Magie Valley area Democrats have passed resolutions opposing the Idaho Power Co. agreement made recently by the Bonneville Power Administration with the Idaho Power Co.

The resolution, which stated in part, "The BPA should not have signed the 20-year contract for rates Idaho on a different basis of rates with Oregon and Washington which is not fair..." was not unanimous, local Democratic party officials noted.

Party members attended from throughout the Second Congressional district. Other topics discussed were the coming election, and candidates for the U. S. Representative from the second district.

Local arrangements were made by Ed Elliott, Cassia county Democratic chairman.

Nature's Mystery Prompts Counting Waterfowl By Fish-Game Department

BY JIM HUMBRID
Idaho Fish-Game Department
Nature is the great mystery of our time. It is the two-year migration of birds from polo nesting grounds near the Arctic Circle to friendlier skies and back once more with the first signs of a change in season. Part of the phenomenon is the ebb and flow of the numbers of ducks and geese on migratory routes in central Idaho as they build up and then move on across the face of the land.

Ducks on the wing, or the honk of Canada geese in a stream, cause feelings of restlessness in the breasts of hunters and bird watchers alike. Factors in the mystery of this, save the hatched chick about "the call of the wild." Somehow a great shifting wedge of feathered travelers which breaks up and regrouping continues as it scuds daily through the air. It strikes chords deep down in everybody, not just those who hunt for waterfowl. It is a migration with dogs, guns and decoys for black shaper to come slanting out to the mark. Yes, flight is a mystery, but the volume and pattern of the flights into and through the state's smaller areas are controlled by group feelings of restlessness from planes. All counting areas are normal concentrations of waterfowl which have refuge characteristics. They are: North Lake, Market Lake, Camas, American Falls, Minidoka, Newburg, Strick, Deer Flat, Nez Perce, and Idaho Falls and Boundary.

There were two regular counting areas until 1967, when American Falls Reservoir was added as a weekly check point. The regular weekly counting schedule is checked of periodically by aerial surveys to verify migration peaks and reports of unusual concentrations. The last year American Falls was added as a weekly check point, counted by pilot-reducer manager Robert Twist of the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife.

Spotlighting was the date of the first count of the 1967 season and the tenth year of fall flight surveys in Idaho. What Twist found on his inaugural flight was that the early movement of pintails came in late August. Normally the pintail peak has passed prior to the time of the first weekly fall waterfowl count. Most of the migrating pintails came down to eat food and loaf in American Falls Reservoir. There were 23,000 of them in all with the abundance of other species of ducks, and geese, about 200,000 at the first week of September.

Waterfowl observers for the week ending September 16 found the early annual buildup at American Falls continuing, and the total for all species in southeastern Idaho for one striping the number of green-winged teal, shovellers, redheads, mallards and other ducks for the same week of 1968. Elsewhere in the state, waterfowl numbers were comparable with the previous year for the same date. Because of the big concentration of pintails in southeastern Idaho, total Idaho waterfowl numbers last September 16 were placed at more than a million, including something less than 10,000 geese and 45,000 coots. Total waterfowl for the same date in 1966 was tallied at 239,525.

The time pattern of the 1968 duck migration was close to what had been in 1967, but a higher number level. The peak 1968 occurred the third week of September, in 1967, 1963 and 1965. Thus the peak count came four out of five years last prior to Christmas. In 1967, the peak count came late fall during the week ending November 18. The statewide total was 629,123, compared with 725,182 on the same date in 1966.

Cumulative duck counts on the combined Idaho counting areas last fall was 10 percent higher than it was in 1966, largely due to the late movement of pintail ducks. Cumulative duck counts of the areas during the fall migration period is not the same thing as weekly checks on waterfowl concentration waters. Ducks and geese movements were the same, which would indicate that along ice-free rivers and streams during the annual mid-winter migratory waterfowl inventory January 29-31. The 1968 waterfowl total was 629,123, compared with 525,052 in 1967. There were 23,000 of them in all with the abundance of other species of ducks, and geese, about 200,000 at the first week of September.

Elsewhere in the state, waterfowl numbers were comparable with the previous year for the same date. Because of the big concentration of pintails in southeastern Idaho, total Idaho waterfowl numbers last September 16 were placed at more than a million, including something less than 10,000 geese and 45,000 coots. Total waterfowl for the same date in 1966 was tallied at 239,525.

The time pattern of the 1968 duck migration was close to what had been in 1967, but a higher number level. The peak 1968 occurred the third week of September, in 1967, 1963 and 1965. Thus the peak count came four out of five years last prior to Christmas. In 1967, the peak count came late fall during the week ending November 18. The statewide total was 629,123, compared with 725,182 on the same date in 1966.

Cumulative duck counts on the combined Idaho counting areas last fall was 10 percent higher than it was in 1966, largely due to the late movement of pintail ducks. Cumulative duck counts of the areas during the fall migration period is not the same thing as weekly checks on waterfowl concentration waters. Ducks and geese movements were the same, which would indicate that along ice-free rivers and

That was nearly 65,000 ducks and geese more than the number found during the week long mid-winter waterfowl inventory and taken from a much smaller area. Some 12,000 geese alone were seen, compared with just over 5,000 during the mid-winter census. Many years of duck and goose banding by state and federal workers have helped pool waterfowl migrations among wet marshes from the north to the south. This is the basis of the international resource perpetually renew itself for all time.

hatched and raised last year? What number did at the hands of hunters, predators and from natural causes? How many came from such of the far-flung breeding grounds? What percentage of them returned? Answers to these and a myriad of other questions must be known by the federal and state agencies in this country and Canada and Mexico that are working through all seasons to help this international resource perpetually renew itself for all time.

Prescribed Burning Sites for shrub regeneration on elk winter range on a study area in Sherman Creek, a tributary of the Lochsa River in the Clearwater drainage. The immediate effect of brushfire burning is to make shorter wider shrubs out of tall thin ones. Taller shrubs soon grow out of rest of elk, a condition which already has happened in much of Idaho's elk range. This means that winter forage for elk is less abundant than it was 10 years or more ago. Shorter shrubs, with vigorous but tender sprouts, seem to be the best answer to providing more elk food quickly.

Even so, a fire has been known abundant than it was ten years or more ago. Shorter shrubs, with vigorous but tender sprouts, seem to be the best answer to providing winter elk food quickly.

Forest Fires Prescribed By Fish And Game Department For Range Control

Hells Canyon, the deepest gorge on the North American continent, has two close rivals in the Idaho wilderness. One is the Snake River, which flows east from Riggins to the decaying mining town of Shoup, and south from the mouth of the Middle Fork to Digger Falls. Both of these wild rivers, as well as the untamed Snake River to the west, knife through precipitous mountains which are natural fortresses.

Both of these wild rivers, as well as the untamed Snake River to the west, knife through precipitous mountains which are natural fortresses.

Some of their descendants still pass on tales of their famous pitched camps on the sheltered banks and banks of these beautiful streams. Ancient rock paintings or petroglyphs on the walls of caves usually dwell on the mountainous faces. The people of the past, it is said, not only had natural protection from most "enemies" but also had a major source of food. The rivers gave up big fish of many kinds at all times of the year. Six species of big game animals roamed close to camp and were killed and drained to make pemmican. Indian legend and rock paintings on the canyon walls tell of the great feat of the Sheepeater Tribe who walked a burned-out canyon level to desert camps for hunting and fishing. The tribe's name, "sheepeater," is said to mean "one who eats the flesh of sheep." The tribe's name, "sheepeater," is said to mean "one who eats the flesh of sheep."

The Idaho Fish and Game Department's research on prescribed burning is located in part of the Lochsa drainage in the Clearwater National Forest. Its effectiveness in growing more winter food for elk already has been proved over three years. Woodworth says elk are more plentiful in areas where light fuels are, two factors most important in determining the success of a fire. "Habitat below 30 per cent and mats of dried bracken fern insure an adequate fire," Woodworth explains. "Fire control has not been a problem in the spring or fall."

"However, more men are necessary for fall burning to insure that the fire stays within bounds. Snow at higher elevations and on north exposures break down provides a good fire cover during the spring burning season. Discs, torches and good equipment are necessary to allow effective burning."

The other growth of getting within reach of big game animals is being studied. On the mechanical cutting of tall shrubs. The other is the use of chemicals, called herbicides, to do the same thing. The cost of cutting tall shrubs comes down to "the way to too-much-fuel, but the experimental work goes on."

Most of north-central Idaho's best elk range is on the National Forests. The public attitude toward fire regeneration work must be done in the U.S. Forest Service. The Idaho Fish and Game Department game biologists assigned to the study, which includes representatives of industry and range as well as key deer hunters, have demonstrated that prescribed burning can be used for winter. Burning phases were hard for primitive people to control. It was demonstrated that a litter of moss and of the Lochsa drainage in the burn is the crevices of hills. Clearwater National Forest, also on this slope, birds fire that allow for months, even in rain prescribed burning can be used for winter. Tree snags can be effectively to make more winter shelter to the ground, but their food available for elk. Woodworth says the immediate effect of brushfire burning. It has been known to break out all over again as much as 40 days after it escaped under brush from the original burn. Ponderosa pine trunks are charred for months after the sun's elk range. This means that burning area has burned.

Col. Fisher Talks With College Students

(Continued from Page 1A) — by LSD advocate, Timothy Leary. And he wasn't walking out, but later stated in this writer's office that he was simply going to protest. They simply got aboard with the lack of preparation on Fisher's part. They expected a rebuttal to Leary, and they received an interesting talk by a fine man on something they did not come to hear.

The opinions of several Magic Valley area students attending the ISU proved interesting. The students all attended the talk by Fisher.

Clarence Groubush, a junior and a math-education major, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Groubush of Jerome said that, "Fisher isn't a politician, he's a military man. I thought that the opinions of many of the students were lousy—they were talking to a pilot about things he simply couldn't answer."

Richard Gyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Gyer of Twin Falls, is a sociology major and a junior. He said that, "Fisher didn't want his 'tail' because he came to talk about the kind of men the military is building, not countermanding Leary."

Jerry Randleker, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Randleker of Burley, a junior and government major said that, "He struck me as a good officer going at good as possible. The talk was irrelevant to the theme, but the man was sincere."

Tanya Robbins, a graduate art student and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Forest Taylor of Burley said that, "I find Fisher's lack of logic, lack of pertinent information, and lack of general purpose very disconcerting. Many expressed the feeling that the man was not well-read and prepared on the subject of Vietnam as the students in the audience. And the audience felt the same.

At one point after it became obvious that Lt. Col. Fisher was not going to talk about drugs, and offer alternatives to Leary's suggestions, the following exchange took place between Fisher and a young coed in the audience:

"You said all you're trying to do is be a good person. Can't a person be good without killing?"

Fisher answered that when a man enters your house at gunpoint you protect it.

"But is Vietnam our house?"

Fisher said, "In a way, yes. But if you object to the way the President runs things you can vote for another President; that's what I do do."

Fisher mentioned that he was grateful to his "Father in Heaven for the blessings I have—received and stated that he believed "our Heavenly Father guides us, and he guided me undoubtedly in Vietnam."

At the end of his talk, just prior to the questioning period, Fisher ended his formal talk, and there was no applause.

The questions began promptly and with no incident. Soon they were exclusively oriented to the Vietnam war. And the reason for being there originally, faded and gave vent to emotions which pitted a military man against an audience that believes predominantly that the Vietnam war is immoral.

The subject everyone expected to hear was forgotten.

This writer met with Col. Fisher an hour before his appearance at ISU in a suite of rooms at the Bannock Hotel in Pocatello. In a personal interview with the field of honor winner, Col. Fisher proved to be a softspoken man who believes in doing the best he can in the profession he has chosen.

When I was taken into the suite I was introduced to Col. Fisher, shown a plate to sit, and then presented with Fisher's "views" about what he would say by two other men who seemed to be intent on representing Fisher. One was Robert W. Hoag, Executive Director for the Idaho Narcotics Alcohol Education Foundation, Inc., and "Dick" Oberg, a J. R. Simplot employe in Pocatello, and a member of the Idaho State Alcohol Commission.

The two men were concerned with what Fisher had to say, and tried constantly to say it for him. I finally got to talk with Col. Fisher for about 10 minutes, long enough to find out that he is a very humble man, who wants very much to get back to his six children, all boys.

Although the ROTC at ISU is named as a sponsoring agency, it is obvious that the Idaho Narcotics Alcohol Education Foundation, Inc., made most of the arrangements.

The INAE, Inc., is responsible for labeling a speech having nothing to do with drugs. "Success Without Drugs." It also seemingly is using Fisher as a testimonial, and, unfortunately, has done little about the product his sponsor wishes him to sell.

Col. Fisher is a war hero, and winner of this nation's highest award for bravery; no one expects him to be more than that.

The INAE, Inc., however, it would seem, has done a disservice to Fisher. It has put him before a university audience and offered a catchy title to a speech which never existed.

It is not the fault of the students that they wanted answers. Bernard Fisher did not supply it. It is not Col. Fisher's fault that he didn't come prepared to answer such questions.

It is the fault of those who failed to coordinate their efforts sufficiently to prevent the situation which developed at Idaho State University.

Lt. Bernard F. Fisher was the Congressional Medal of Honor in 1966 when a fellow pilot was downed at A Shau, Vietnam. Aircraft maneuverability was limited, and pilots were forced to operate within range of hostile gun positions. Major Fisher observed a fellow airman crash land on an enemy-held airstrip. He believed that the downed pilot was seriously injured and feared that the pilot would be captured. Major Fisher landed his aircraft and successfully rescued the downed pilot.

Nineteen bullets struck his airplane as he landed on the runway. Fisher picked up the pilot and flew back to the airbase at Pleiku.

He was awarded the medal for his "conspicuous gallantry" his profound concern for his fellow airman, and his intrepidity at the risk of his life above and beyond the call of duty.

Bottle Strike

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The strike of 50,000 bottle makers ended its 44th day Friday, with many of the glass container manufacturers agreeing to a new contract.

The end-of-week-long negotiations moved here from Miami at the government's request. It was glass container manufacturers made their 15th contract proposal to the Glass Blowers Association (AFL-CIO). Negotiations recessed for the weekend, however, without acting on the proposal.

Union members struck 17 glass container companies last Feb. 12, closing 85 bottle plants east of the Rockies. The glass blowers averaged 3.8¢ an hour. Union demands were not disclosed.

A U. S. Mediation and Conciliation Service spokesman said there were no plans to invoke a Taft-Hartley injunction to end the strike. An injunction was not ruled out, however. If the strike caused a critical container shortage.

Fewer People Have Pro Diets Than 10 Years Ago

WASHINGTON — Fewer people are eating adequate diets today than 10 years ago, according to reports by the department of agriculture, Ivan Hopkins, county extension agent here states.

Fifty per cent of the households that were contacted had "good" diets at the time of 1957, compared with 60 per cent in 1967.

Decreased use of milk and fruits, the most important sources of calcium, vitamins and ascorbic acid, was chiefly responsible for the decline over the 10-year period.

Food economists said that to have good diets, awareness of the foods that make up a good diet, a desire to choose these foods, and sufficient money to buy adequate food must become universal.

Little regional difference in proportion of households with good diets was found. Western states were "a bit better" than rest-of-the-country. Conditions were also about the same for city and rural areas.

Report showed that as income goes up, diets get better, but high income did not insure proper eating. More than one-third of the families with incomes of $10,000 and more had diets below allowances for one or more nutrients.

Rev. Ellway said that the school has not better. School meals are being expanded to include milk, bread, cereals, fruits, and vegetables. Over 200,000 and guides to smooth — and cleaning.

Follingstad To Perform At Burley

BURLEY — Dave Follingstad, Valley High School music instructor, will be featured on a program of percussion instruments at 8 p.m. Monday during a meeting of the Burley Music Club at the home of Mrs. Don Holmes, 255 South Oakley Highway.

A scholarship committee and a nominating committee will be chosen at the meeting.

During the board meeting this week at Idaho Bank and Trust Conference Room, Mrs. Don Norton, National Music Week chairman, discussed plans for the national week May 5-12. Arrangements are under way for local young musicians to present programs for the service clubs in the community during the week and community concert is being arranged by the local club, which is affiliated with the National Federation of Music Clubs.

Theme of National Music Week is "Music, a Keystone for Learning."

Other plans include a poster contest in junior high schools, an invitation to the Desert Art Guild for an art exhibit and other musical events during the national observance.

Mrs. Keith Harris, president of the Burley Music Club, announced the May state board meeting will be held in Boise and Mrs. Maurice Hestgen, Gastonia, N.C., national president, will attend.

It was announced that Marilee Smith and Sally Gibbs, both seniors at Minion High School, received a rating during the Twin Falls Junior Music Club competition. Both girls are now eligible to enter state competition for scholarships. They sang a duet and Miss Gibbs also sang a soprano solo.

About $160 was netted by the Burley Music Club from the American Music Concert held last month, reported Mrs. Harris. The proceeds will be used for scholarships to summer music camps for local young musicians.

Land Board

BOISE (AP) — Further delay in a special study before the Idaho Land Board regarding withdrawal of state-owned lands in the Payette Lakes area.

It asked the newly created National Resources Advisory Board last fall to assist in establishing policy, but the chairman of the subcommittee assigned the task said the group is not yet ready to make a recommendation.

Fred K. Nichol of Nampa, a Canyon County commissioner, said he has visited the Payette Lake area and inspected the state's land holdings.

"We need more information before we can make a sound recommendation," Nichol said. "We need to know a little more about the appraised value of the state's property and what it might sell for."

"We also need to know what can or cannot be done regarding sewage disposal in the Payette Lake area."

At Minion High School, received a rating during the Twin Falls Junior Music Club competition. Both girls are now eligible to enter state competition for scholarships. They sang a duet and Miss Gibbs also sang a soprano solo.

Milk Won't Hurt Youth's Complexion

—SIBHOONE— Teenagers can go right on drinking milk without concern that it will blotch their complexions, according to a report by home economists agent here.

There is no evidence that milk will cause acne, in fact, milk nutrition authorities say that elimination of the important elements supplied by milk—calcium, Vitamin D—and riboflavin—would have harmful rather than beneficial results.

Acne in boys and girls is not caused by improper diet—the American Medical Association's committee on skin health and cosmetics says acne is caused primarily by hyperactive glands in the skin.

The glands secrete too much and become plugged. Hyperactivity is presumably caused by imbalance of hormones, especially in the early teens.

Although not caused by diet, the acne condition once established may become worse with poor eating habits. An exception has been established by thinness of the skin and the fatty foods. However, this has not been proven.

People with acne react differently to various foods and soon learn whether a particular food aggravates the condition. Because nutrient demands are greatest in adolescence, specialists say efforts must be made to assure a good supply of calories, proteins, vitamins and minerals.

a way with words

Let's get back to words this week... and the quaint things people do with them.

Read the following sentence and make a mental note of how many "f's" you find in it. Count each time the letter "f" appears and note your answer.

"Finished files are the result of years of scientific study combined with the experience of years."

If you're fair you will probably find less than there are... and if you find the actual number you are a rare individual. The answer is six, and if you didn't find that many go back and look again.

Now, if you did get six as your total, don't feel too smug. And if you didn't get six, you may have cause to feel a tad superior. It seems that the higher the intelligence the more scanning a person does when reading. Rather than simply reading the words the more intelligent person, or at least the one trained in reading, reads groups of words rather than individual and will often skip nonessentials. Look back at the sentence and see if what you missed was a preposition or the like... something you "missed off" as not really important.

Ever hear a friend toss off the word "coincidence?" He says, "It was a coincidence, that's all" or "That's too coincidental; it could never happen."

The next time you hear someone use the word coincidental give some thought to the following: "It could never happen," happenings; they are for real...

"Life" photographer Stuber Reese took a picture of a group of deer which included three albinos. Later when the statistics came out on the number of deer and the number of albino deer it figured out that the mathematical odds against a picture of that kind were 79 billion to one. The picture was taken in northern Wisconsin, where there are 850,000 white-tailed deer, twenty of which are albinos.

The following example of a seemingly ultimate coincidence comes from a book called "The Art of Clear Thinking," by Rudolf Fleisch, Ph.D., of New York University.

"In 1908 the Rev. James Smith, pastor of a small Negro congregation at Reids Ferry, Virginia, mysteriously disappeared. Soon afterward the corpse of a large Negro was found in the Nansemond River near the church. There was evidence of a blow on the head with a blunt instrument. The body was unrecognizable; but its clothes were identified as similar to those worn by Smith. Also, a woman friend of Smith who had not seen the body told the authorities that if it was Smith, they'd find a ring with a purple setting on the little finger of the left hand. They did. The most likely suspect of the murder was Smith's rival and successor, the Rev. Ernest Lyons. He was tried; convicted of second-degree murder, and sentenced to eighteen years in prison. Three years later Smith was found alive in North Carolina, where he had absconded with church funds. He wore a ring with a purple setting on the little finger of his left hand. The fateful ring on the corpse in the river had been sheer coincidence. Lyons had served three years in prison for 'murdering' a man who was still alive."

Ever wonder where "Ye Old Tavern," or "Ye" old anything, comes from? The "Ye" actually means "The," and nothing more. It's just that in old typography printers had a letter for the "th" sound, which was shaped something like a "Y." Those who didn't have the typeset substituted "y" for the "th" symbol, and so today it is custom that a quaint store, or an old-fashioned shop to be called, "Ye-ol'-something-or-other. But it just means "The."

What about words used to create false impressions? Especially in history. Take the following examples which most people think are true:

—Voltaire said: "I don't agree with what you say, but I will defend to the death your right to say it." It never said—it was published in a book about Voltaire, written in 1907.

—Abraham Lincoln wrote the Gettysburg Address on the back of an old envelope while he was going to Gettysburg, Pa. Wrong. He wrote on the speech for weeks and even made corrections in it after it had been delivered.

—In a game of heads or tails the chances of the next toss depend on the previous ones. Not so; the coin simply can't remember, and the odds are always fifty-fifty.

—Mark Twain said: "Everybody talks about the weather, but nobody does anything about it." Not so; the best guess is that Charles Dudley Warner wrote it in an editorial for the "Hartford Courant" about 1890.

—Adolf Hitler's real name was Schicklgruber. Not so; Schicklgruber was the maiden name of Hitler's grandmother, and his father was born out of wedlock, but legitimized as Hitler.

—and last and certainly least, Jan Sainsbury, Feature Editor of the Times-News is not a girl; Jan is neither—the name, that is. Take note—there are many other males with the name Jan. Jan Murray, Jan Garver, Jan Pierce, and we could go on and on, but we can't remember any more.

Finally—last week we mentioned a scrambled word which read, "Terabay," and said it was a simple word in the vocabulary of any junior high school student. A Miss Debby Pool of Rupert, and a Mrs. Ione Gould, of Burley, both wrote us with the correct answer. The word was "Betrayal," a somewhat difficult word to unscramble due to the fact that not too many words end in "yal," and it is an unusual combination to go for. Congratulations to those who got it.

Detroit Mayor Says Negroes, Whites In Dangerous Race

LARRY J. PALADINO Detroit (AP)—Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh says white and Negroes in Detroit and its suburbs are in an arms race that may be stepped up if pleas for a return to family.

—What does the arms race involve?

—A 46 per cent increase in the rate of physical registrations in the city since last July's riot.

—"Bombling sales of shotguns and rifles, which are exempt from gun registration laws.

—Stepped up gunrunning to where pistols can be bought with regular money.

—Clinics teaching hundreds of citizens how to load, aim and fire handguns.

—Unspiced posters, publicly displayed, which say: "Warning: Black Power, this area protected by white citizen militia."

—Individual citizens have been flocking to gun stores.

—Norman West, owner of Newman's Gun Shop, says: "We're getting business from people who want to protect their families and their homes. I'd say sales are up about 30 per cent since last February."

—The shop is located just south of what was the main area of trouble in last July's violence.

—West said many of his customers had their property—clothing, television sets and so on—looted during the riot.

—Some gun buyers desiring training in the use of their new weapons found their way to gun clinics, two of which were in operation before the riot.

—One was in Detroit, conducted for weeks, many of whom had been hit frequently by hoodlums as crime mounted in the city.

—In the three months after the gun clinic started, grocery store holdups dropped sharply.

—Some still occurred, and grocery stores were looted.

—Six gunmen and one grocer were slain in half a dozen shoot-outs following the clinic.

—Detroit police earlier had criticized the gun clinic, warning that "while by gun" could not be allowed in Detroit and an armed citizenry could pose a danger to itself.

—But police in Highland Park, a city of 30,000 persons surrounded by Detroit, started a gun clinic for Highland Park citizens.

—Highland Park Police Chief William E. Stephens backed the idea.

—"A person who has a driver's license should first know how to drive," said Stephens. "A person who gets a gun permit should first know how to use a gun."

—Another gun clinic was formed in Dearborn, which juts into Detroit's southwest side.

—The clinic has trained 230 persons so far—all of them white women—and has a waiting list of some 350 more.

—The trained trainees "definitely have a fear that a riot might come to their door," says Lisa Rozet, the president of the Dearborn Pistol Club. She helps the city's recreation department train the women.

—Dearborn's trainees are all white. Stephens says about one-third of the trainees in Highland Park are Negroes.

—The Detroit clinic aimed at "process—draw some whites, some Negroes."

—In some homes in suburbs riping Detroit, basement rifle ranges have been built for target practice.

—Some homes have stocked extra food in the event trouble isolates them for long.

—"The black-power warnings" have appeared in suburbs to the northeast of Detroit.

—Police say they don't know who is posting the signs wherever they find them.

—In the wealthy Green Pointe Station, 195 men and one woman recently volunteered for duty as auxiliary policemen in case trouble erupts.

—The Rev. Albert Cleage, a militant black nationalist, through the city's major Negro weekly, the Michigan Chronicle, has urged Negroes to store one month's food against the possibility of trouble.

—He says he is pessimistic about the coming summer. He says his group fear it "may be a time when white provocation will provoke some kind of violence."

—The Inner City Voice, a militant Negro periodical which claims a circulation of 15,000 in Detroit and bills itself as the "Voice of the Revolution," tells the worst thing they could do is readers that revolutionaries are must be willing to die, if necessary, for their cause.

IS ANYONE THERE?
By Isaac Asimov

A perplexing dilemma engendered by the fact that over half of the world's scientists are presently alive is the fact that mandatory attempts to become scientifically enlightened are rendered futile by the sheer mass of the information at one's disposal. For those who choose to take science in moderate doses, Isaac Asimov's essays and books are indispensable. Isaac Asimov, as any librarian knows, is an astonishingly prolific writer, covering topics that range from archeology to physics. Further, his books are easily readable, examining arcane scientific matters on a level comprehensible and even enjoyable to the non-scientist.

Although the present volume is to be found in the library's "Is Anyone There?" section, its content is of interest to both adults and young adults. Many of the essays collected in "Is Anyone There?" first appeared in scientific periodicals, and they span over a decade. The essays purport to speculate "on the known and unknown" and their subjects range from "The World's Fair of 2014."

The first section of the book under the heading "The More or Less Known" treats such diverse topics as LASER, lasers, time travel and cosmology. The latter, with its potential for both beneficial and destructive uses, is one of the most amazing discoveries of modern science. While this incredible light can be used to prevent some kinds of blindness by welding loosened retinas so rapidly that surrounding tissues are not affected, it can be used to puncture metal, and, of course, as a weapon, the "death ray" of science fiction stories.

An essay on the "less known" treats the effect of the discovery of quarks on cosmology. An English astronomer, Fred Hoyle, relinquished the "continuous creation" theory because of these subjects fifty billion trillion miles away in space and ten billion years ago in time, and why he did so, although too complex to relate here, is fascinating reading.

Another section of the book, "The More or Less Known," often approaches science fiction, and deals with the future of man and off-life-on-earth as well as with flying saucers and extraterrestrial life. Although Asimov does not deny the possibility of intelligent life in the universe, he does not believe in flying saucers in the sense of considering them to be vehicles piloted by extraterrestrials. They may, he contends, be explained in a fashion that does not involve spaceships.

Although he admits that "predicting the future is a hopeless, thankless task," the author's discussions of future life are enlightening. His surmises about the effects of the population explosion on our natural resources and those of increased automation and mechanization on daily life are wholly plausible. If not so, they are wholly plausible. For example, "the 2014 Fair... will feature a Yast Bar at which 'muck turkey' and 'peaso' steak will be served." Yet his considerations of space exploration and colonization of the moon still sound hopelessly fantastic.

In a final series of essays Asimov defends science fiction because it "does something no other form of literature does, consistently considers the future." And we are living in a society which must consider the future.

These essays will undoubtedly arouse questions and controversies. They will not leave the reader feeling complacent.

Your Spine and Your Health

by Dr. Ludwig C. Landwehr

Many boys and girls do have structural problems that are more pronounced than they are in their parents. When the shoulders/hips protrude, the feet flat, the shoulders are too round or lower on one side, it is a problem for the holder of a driver's license, but should be of concern to the one who is a member of a professional organization.

What can be done? First more attention must be given to posture. Second, a doctor of chiropractic should be consulted for advice, counsel and treatment if necessary to correct structural problems. He also may recommend a series of exercises and movements which will help build up the weak areas.

(One of a series of articles published in the public library's "Health and Welfare" section, written by Dr. Ludwig C. Landwehr, whose office is located at 717 Main Ave., W. Twin Falls, Tel. 732-5322.)

Young Couple At Fort Hall Improvises Under VISTA

By RALPH HANSON
 Blackfoot, Idaho (AP) — For the child who spends his preschool years in the cooperative housing of an Indian reservation the sudden world of school can be strange and bewildering.

Helping to ease this transition for a small group of children in the Bannock Creek corner of the Fort Hall reservation is a modest school, operated by a VISTA couple, Gary and Carol Smith. VISTA stands for Volunteers in Service to America.

Each weekday morning, Gary Smith makes a 20-mile round trip through the snow runs to Indian homes in the Bannock Creek area, picking up children for the daily, two-hour preschool.

Most parents are willing from the start to have their children attend. Others who refuse at first eventually consent.

Sessions are held in a weathered, old elementary school building. The simple, high-ceilinged classroom has been brightened up with a coat of paint.

The atmosphere is that of an exciting kindergarten.

Four-year-olds enjoy games and playground fun. In the process of shaping clay on a pottery wheel, brightly colored paperlike children learn new words — simple English words some of them may never have heard before.

They learn words that go with a variety of everyday objects. They learn the sounds of words used to identify the colors in the spectrum. They learn the configuration of letters which spell their own names.

And, after a while, they begin to talk using some of the words they've learned. "At first, they won't talk at all," Smith says. "After a while, you can't keep them quiet."

Getting them to talk freely and confidently is important with the children who have learned the Shoshone language and don't know many English words. The more words they know and can use freely in speech the better their chances when they start first grade.

Most Fort Hall reservation children attend the predominantly Indian elementary school on the reservation townsite. But Indian children in the remote Bannock Creek district, a part of the reservation which handles into another county, attend elementary school in American Falls.

Here, in a 25 per cent white school, they are first exposed to an organized school situation. Under a flood of unfamiliar words and usages their all-important first impressions are often negative.

Idaho has no statewide, year-round kindergarten program.

Proposed State Park Is Described

BLISS — Sage Rep. Vernon F. Ravenscroft described the proposed state park at the Magic Bluffs area.

Harold Butler, Chamber of Commerce chairman, reported the plans are completed and negotiations are under way with the property owners.

Rep. Ravenscroft also gave a brief resume on the new hospital plans for Gooding County, stating that funds for the project will not be available before July 1st.

The dinner meeting was held at the Circle Bar Cafe. The next meeting will be held at the Oxbow Cafe, April 8.

Shoshone Rotary Club Has Film

SHOSHONE — A film on Idaho, Idaho, Gem of the Mountain, from Richfield Oil Co. was shown to members of the Rotary Club Wednesday noon.

Mary Dene Hunter, Rupert, explained a booklet she had for sale, "Home Our Flag Through Knowledge," then explained how to honor the flag.

Ida Newby was program chairman. The birthday song at the Circle Bar Cafe. The next meeting will be held at the Oxbow Cafe, April 8.

FOR JAMES J. ROWLEY

Director, U.S. Secret Service
Also Secret Service man assigned to Patrick
Nugent and Captain
Charles Robb—W. M.
Tallahassee, Fla.

● No: The Secret Service protects the President's immediate family only.

FOR ANN LANDERS

Syndicated columnist
"When and why did you start your advice column?"—John Docherty,
Somerville, N. J.

● I started in 1955 because I felt it would be a very good way to help people who, for a variety of reasons, would not seek the advice of a clergyman, a physician, or other such persons.

FOR JACK LESCOULIE

"Why did you quit the
"Today" program, and what are you doing now?"
—Mrs. W. R. Harrison,
Bluefield, Va.

● I didn't quit—I was fired. Nothing lasts forever; that's one of the interesting things about the broadcasting business. After 14 years on the program, with impossible hours, my health was beginning to fail. I am doing TV commercials.

FOR ARLENE FRANCIS

I have noticed that you always wear the same heart-shaped necklace.
"Why?"—Suzette F. Johnson,
Somerville, Tenn.

● My husband gave this necklace to me. I would never think of taking it off.

FOR PETER GRAVES

"Mission: Impossible"
You and James Arness look alike. Are you related?"—Trudy Pearson,

● Yes. We're brothers.

FOR SALLY FIELD

"The Fling Nut"
I understand that one of your hobbies is keeping an ant farm. Where did you get it, and what are your other hobbies?—Frances Benson, Holly, Colo.

● The ant farm was a gift from my friend Connie Seims. My other hobbies include swimming, surfing, tennis, and golf.

FOR PAUL LORENZ

Marketing Vice President, Ford Motor Company.
"Why doesn't Ford manufacture a compact car in the U.S. to compete with Europe's leading imports?"—H. P., Gaudet, Biloxi, Miss.

● Ford does build smaller cars in high volume in Europe. It is more economical to supply world-wide demand for smaller cars there than in our U.S. plants. While some of these small models are sold in the U.S., higher sales volumes are necessary before they could be produced here economically.

FOR SHIRLEY TEMPLE BLACK

"Did you think of running for public office before George Murphy and Richard Reagan were elected?"—Theresa Macawish, Los Angeles, Calif.

● Yes. Some 16 years ago I spent three years in Washington, D. C., and I thought of public service in an elective office many years before my respected friend, Senator Maurice and Governor Reagan.

FOR GEORGE CALLUP, Jr.

President, Callup Poll. "Have your known anyone who was interviewed by a Gallup pollster. How do you conduct your polls?"—D. C., McAllister, Okla.

● Modern scientific polling rests upon the laws of probability and upon carefully observed sampling procedures. In a truly representative sample, each potential voter must have an equal chance of being selected. But it is wholly unnecessary to interview millions of people to arrive at correct conclusions. A few hundred interviews will produce selected by rigorous sampling methods will give highly accurate results.

FOR GENE WILLIAM ECKERT

Commissioner of Baseball.
"There are more than 100 million telecasts each year and only 28
national baseball telecasts. Why aren't more baseball games televised?"—Mrs. J. L. Zumwalt, Canyonville, Ore.

● Since baseball franchises have local tv contracts, many more baseball games are telecast than football games. The New York Yankees and New York Mets, for instance, televise 300 games each season.

WHAT IN THE WORLD!

Good "Neighborhood" A boy in Carbon-dora, Ill., stops worrying about his overzested ears when Fred Rogers sings, "Like You As You Are." A Schenectady, N.Y., girl starts feeling better about the new baby in her house because he says, "I can never be like you."
Low in key, high on charm, "Misterogers"
Neighborhood, seen on educational TV, ad-delights youngsters from 3 to 8—and educates their parents. As he explains, "When a doll has lost its arms, it's small comfort to say, 'That's too bad.' What the child wants to hear is 'Well, that happens to toys, but not to real people.'"

Geundheit! The best way to keep from catching colds may be to keep smiling. Medical science has never fully explained the sniffles, but in a recent study, Dr. Merl M. Jockel noted that 25 out of 26 colds were preceded by states of depression. He thinks there may be a causal relationship. "If you rarely catch cold, he suggests, it may be that you can fight off depression.
Or perhaps you overcome it by direct action or through crying. Since weeping and colds have similar symptoms, he wonders whether colds are not "symptomically expressed tears."

Target for Tomorrow—Finding a cure for cancer is the most important issue facing the world between now and the year 2000, according to 90 percent of the Americans, Britons, Italians, West Germans, and Frenchmen pollled by the French Institute of Public Opinion. Abolishing war was listed second by everyone but the British. They prefer to concentrate on a 30-hour work week.

High Note—Who's it like, long on a millitar in the rock-'n'-roll world? Joan Sutherland, the Metropolitan soprano who manages to look almost as good as the sound, admits, "My own son, who's 12, hasn't yet indicated any love for opera, though he does like rock 'n' roll. Frankly, there are many things about it that I like myself." Still, it's mostly young people who crowd backstage for Joan's autograph. "I guess there are enough young people to go around for both kinds of music," she says.

Who'd ever think of performance when it comes to station wagons?

Pontiac, naturally.

As they are, the Executive Safari (the one with wood-grained vinyl paneling) and Calais. Both are available with a third seat. The choice is yours.

Pontiac Motor Division

There's no such thing as an underpowered Pontiac wagon. (Or any other Pontiac for that matter.) This philosophy is reflected in those two stylish creatures above. Standard power in both is a 400-cubic-inch V-8, almost 100 cubic inches more engine than in the so-called low-priced wagons.

Of course, Bonneville—the ultimate wagon—is blessed with even more hauling prowess. A 340-hp V-8 is standard. As are a boy of elegant touches like courtesy lamps and power-operated tailgate window. Our Tempest Safari (that comes encased in walnut wood-grained styled paneling) and Tempest Custom Wagons are no slouches either. Our new 250-cu.-in., 175-hp Overhead Cam Six is standard. And V-8 fans can order an optional 350-cu.-in., 265-hp, regular-fuel V-8. Or a 320-hp version that burns premium. Last, but not least, all seven Pontiac wagons are endowed with Wide-Track. We wouldn't have it any other way. And neither should you. The great Wide-Track drive is on.

How Spring Comes to America

By JOSEPH WOOD KRUTCH

ACCORDING to the astronomers, Spring always begins on March 20, 21, or 22, and this year, so they say, it is on the 20th. Our ordinary mortals don't always agree with them exactly because we really feel Spring in our bones instead of seeing it in the skies.

But one thing is certain: It is everyone's favorite season. Until about 200 years ago, Spring even was the beginning of the year on calendars which made March 1 New Year's Day. And perhaps we ought to put it back there. In fact, poets sometimes do when they call March "the mother of months."

Something, of course, can be said for all seasons. Summer is warm and lazy. Autumn brilliant and bracing. Henry Thoreau even had high praise for what he referred to as "that grand old poem called Winter." But most of us would be glad to swap February for another May. Spring is better than Autumn because Autumn is the end of something; Spring is a beginning full of new life and new hope.

The oldest known poem in the English language is a short one about the beginning of Spring—the rebirth of life—which in Europe is announced by the first calls of the cuckoo just as in much of the United States it is proclaimed by the first robin. And it is safe to say that more poems have been written about Spring than about all other seasons put together. Everyone feels Spring in one way or another, and it makes me remember poems even if I can't write them.

When the hounds of Spring are on Winter's traces, The mother of months in meadow or plain Fills the shadows and windy places With lush of leaves and ripple of rain.

Astronomers can tell to the very minute, to the very second even, just when Spring begins. That is because it means to them the instant when the sun reached the point where it will no longer dip a little lower to the south, every day, and where, instead, it will begin to climb higher and higher in the sky until on one day—in June—it will stand straight overhead at the equator.

Most of us have no way of making such measurements and possibly would not be much interested in them if we could. To us Spring means something less abstract and mathematical. Each of us has something we see or feel which means for us that our Spring has begun no matter if it is a little bit before or a little bit after what the astronomers announce. Even they probably shuck their overcoats in response to phenomena more earthily than their astronomical calculations.

Just what does mark Spring's beginning for you or for me? It depends partly upon where we live and partly on our temperament. To the dedicated New England bird watcher, for example, it may be the first twitter of the red-winged blackbird, or (if he lives in my own Southeast) the first outbreak of the curlew-billed thrasher.

At the other extreme there is the completely urbanized man or woman who doesn't know or care how any bird sounds. To him, it may be wholly a question of when Spring hats appear on the heads of his lovely lady friends.

During the many years I lived in New England, I came to think the surest, most mathematical evidence that the longed-for Spring had actually arrived was the great chorus of Spring peepers ringing out loud and clear from every pond or permanent puddle.

In case you don't know, they are the tiny frogs which come out of hibernation by the hundreds or thousands in early Spring and for a brief period are the loudest sound in nature. I called the peepers the most mathematical announcers of Spring because they make a calculation which would baffla a meteorologist. They take into consideration the maximum to which the temperature has risen, the minimum to which it has fallen during the night, and the relative length of the warmer and colder periods, besides, no doubt, other factors hard to get down in tables or charts.

But at last they know that the moment has come. It has been just warm enough, just long enough, and without too much cold in between. They inflate the little bubble in their throats and send out the clear notes audible half a mile away. On that day, we know one Spring at least has arrived.

Another sign that I—and I am sure many others—used to watch for was the sudden greening of grass that has been brown all Winter. But I never succeeded in catching the moment when this happened. Who can say that he ever saw a blade of grass come up out of the ground, much less than he ever saw one of the spears which survived the Winter turn green?

Again and again I have resolved to catch them at it, or at least, to be able to say, "Yesterday, the grass looked as it has looked ever since the snow left. Today it is different." But, as usual, I mislaid this as I have mislaid other important things of nature.

Who's do all the things that spring up in the Spring country? Where have the plants, animals, birds, and bugs all been? They weren't here, last week; suddenly they are here again.

To that, there is no answer, but most of the answers come down to one or the other of two things. Either they have been taking a Winter vacation in some land where there is no Winter or they have been hidden somewhere sleeping our Winter away—often in a deep and dreamless sleep.

The little Spring peepers have been sleeping in the mud at the bottom of the pond. The woodchuck has been curled up in some comfortable underground nest, his heart just barely beating and sometimes breathless the earth's magnanimity has something to do with it. The 10th century American poet William Culen Brynaut had a simpler theory:

Some of my Eastern friends cherish the notion that there really are no seasons out here, and they ask me if I don't miss them. But they are quite mistaken. Here the seasons are less dramatic, more subtle. But Spring is very different from Winter, nevertheless. One feels it in the air and senses it in the changed light, as the sun rises higher and higher. Presently birds like the black-chinned hummingbird which had left us for an even warmer climate are back and the mesquite trees put out bright green leaves.

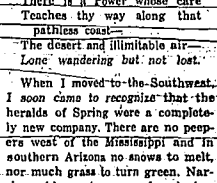

There are many different Springs in different parts of our country. Each has its signs familiar to those who live there and most of us feel a lifeline of the heart when we recognize them for one more year.

We know that Spring always will return. Even during the depths of Winter, we are intellectually confident that it will come back. But I wonder whether our sense of relief when the seasons returns isn't a leftover away from that most human vacationers go.

Though the robin has often gone no farther than the nearest warm valley, the chimney swifts have been in Peru and the ruby-throated hummingbirds come back to us from Florida or farther south. Other species of hummingbirds fly nonstop across the Gulf of Mexico to come back to us from Central America.

How do they find their way there and back again—sometimes back to the same tiny nest they occupied the Summer before? No one really knows, though there are a number of theories. Modern science believes that the position of the sun or perhaps the earth's magnanimity has something to do with it. The 10th century American poet William Culen Brynaut had a simpler theory:

Gray squirrel

The desert and illimitable air— Lone wandering but not lost. When I moved to the Southwest I soon came to recognize that the heralds of Spring were a completely new company. There are no peepers west of the Mississippi and in southern Arizona no snows to melt, nor much grass to turn green. Narcissus blooms in my garden during January, and you can hardly call that Spring.

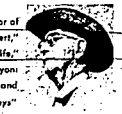

Some of my Eastern friends cherish the notion that there really are no seasons out here, and they ask me if I don't miss them. But they are quite mistaken. Here the seasons are less dramatic, more subtle. But Spring is very different from Winter, nevertheless. over from those days long ago when earliest man had no such experiences as ours, and perhaps no real memory of the past with which to reassure himself. When night fell, he may have feared that it would never be light again; when Fall laid waste Summer's green and cold-penetrated his bones, he did not know but what this was the end of the world. No wonder that when he connected the seasons with events in the sky, his first scientific achievement was a measurement of the sun's altitude and the determination of the day when it had reached its lowest point and begun to climb again.

For a long time he may have feared that the end of some Winter would never come, that the sun would continue to sink and Spring never make its appearance again. On the fateful day when the sun should begin to mount, he gathered in crowds at Stonehenge on Salisbury Plain, and he must have sent up a cry of relief when the sun actually did appear. Just when it should, between two of the huge pillars. He must have said to himself, "For another year at least we are safe. Spring and Summer are coming again."

It is to think that the gladness with which we still welcome Spring is an echo of that long ago. And I hope that I will never be so old or so dull as not to feel it.

Can't read a note of music? Fine!

At Conn Organ, we've invented something for people just like you—people who want to make music without a lifetime of learning.

It's a completely automatic, visual playing guide called the Conn "Show-Chord." It shows you how to play basic organ chords without the aid of a book. With "Show-Chord," a beginner's simplest melodies enjoy a rich chord accompaniment. You actually create music in minutes, yet "Show-Chord" never restricts or limits your ability. It's like a built-in teacher that helps you gain proficiency faster than you ever imagined.

You'll find this amazing Conn exclusive on Models 492 and 460 home spinet organs. Both offer solid state circuitry, with such dramatic features as a two-speed built-in Leslie speaker system and repeat percussion. Both come in your choice of popular decorator styles.

Conn models start at $895. Your Conn dealer can arrange convenient terms. And even if you can't read a note of music, we'll have-in minutes!

QUIZ

Are You a WORRIER?

Anxieties are part of our nature, but here's how to cope with them

By JOHN E. GIBSON

LIFE IS frightening to most of us, for we all have fears and anxieties.

Science has been taking a hard look at what gives us that uneasy feeling—and has come up with some interesting facts:

What kind of person is the most fearful?

Psychologists have found that the seemingly carefree person is often most plagued by fears. He adopts his flamboyant manner to conceal his anxiety from himself and others.

What do people fear?

Rutgers University psychologists made a study of the most common fears of both sexes. Men had three chief fears: 1) fear of failure; 2) fear of being rejected by others; 3) fear of being rejected by a woman.

Women reportedly had similar fears. But they were less fearful of being rejected by a man, much more fearful of rejection by others, and less afraid of being a failure. But they had many more intense fears than men, including fears of appearing foolish or ridiculous, the prospect of a surgical operation, fear of men, and fear of dead bodies. The findings for women—that women are more fearful than men, just that they either are more upset by various situations or are more honest in reporting their feelings.

Is it true that good men have the fewest fears?

Yes. Psychologists agree that a man who is on good terms with himself and who feels he is doing his best is far less subject to anxieties than the man filled with self-doubts and inner conflicts.

Does anxiety dull your wits or sharpen them?

It depends. One person will find his perception dulled, another will experience the opposite effect. At Duke University, psychological tests showed that anxiety sharpened the wits of superior students but dulled the faculties of the average ones.

How can you judge your A.C. (anxiety quotient)?

Here is a procedure to measure the amount of anxiety you feel at any given time, based on studies conducted at Stanford University. The more you find applicable, the higher your anxiety level: 1.) Are you tense and ill at ease in conversation? 2.) Do you scowl and wrinkle your forehead? 3.) Are the palms of your hands frequently moist? 4.) Do you have trouble concentrating? 5.) Are you jittery and easily startled? 6.) Do you sigh frequently? 7.) Are you easily fatigued? 8.) Is your voice plaintive? 9.) Do you have any nervous mancrisms, such as pulling at your hair or rubbing your chin?

Do people who are socially and financially secure have fewer fears and anxieties?

No. University of California investigators interviewed a cross section of the adult population of the entire Los Angeles metropolitan area. The findings: people who have plenty of money and high social status have just as many fears and anxieties as the poor.

Is moving from place to place a source of anxiety?

Yes. Surveys conducted by the University of Arizona show that people who have changed their residence frequently tend to become more fearful than those who have moved less often.

How can you fight worry?

1. Do not live in the past or the future. Live in the present. Do the best you can now. Do not speculate about tomorrow.
2. Remember that hurry increases worry. Try to arrange your schedule so you don't have to rush. Allow time for the things you want to do. Anything that will not fit, postpone.
3. Do not think of problems as justifications for anxiety. Think of them as challenges.

Sandy Dennis: The Star Who Lives with Fear

By PEER J. OPPENHEIMER

WHEN Sandy Dennis won the Academy Award last year for her supporting role in "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" she refused to come to Hollywood to pick up her "Oscar."

When there was talk about another Oscar this year, she made no bones about it—she'd go to Hollywood for it.

These two simple decisions tell a lot about Sandy Dennis, her fears and the subtle change that has come over her.

"I was filming 'Sweet November' in New York when the Awards were handed out," she says frankly. "That was one reason I didn't go. More important, I hate to fly. Because I didn't go, I was called anti-Hollywood and anti-Awards. If I should win this year, I'll be there. It's easier to go than being criticized."

That response shows a mellowing for a girl who a short while ago was contemptuous of Hollywood—and sometimes her fellow actors. Sandy still doesn't compromise her opinions—she just keeps them to herself.

How Sandy views her fear of flying is indicative of the anxiously-ridden girl herself. "My husband (musician Gerry Mulligan) says it's fear of failure—in this case, the plane's. But I don't believe it. I think it's embarrassment: how would I behave if the plane went down? Would I scream, make a fool of myself?"

Sandy readily admits that most of her emotions are based on fear: fear of not being entertaining, fear of not having good—taste in clothes ("I never cared much for getting dressed up. It's such a bother"), fear of not being a good wife, fear of not being considered beautiful.

In spite of slightly prominent teeth, a minor weight problem, and a certain plainness, Sandy is in her own way very attractive. She disagrees though. "I was an ordinary little girl," she recalls. "I had no musical talent—I hated school—I swore braces—not much good, they did!—and I was a little fat—I never dated—just stayed at home."

Home for Sandy was Hastings, Neb., and later Lincoln, where her father worked. Her mother still works there.

Sandy became interested in acting because of her love of reading. "I'd read a book and find myself being that character." Her first attempt to act in high school ended in total failure, but a few weeks after graduation she read for the title role in "Time Out for Ginger" at the Lincoln Community Theater. "I got the part. When I did, I told them I didn't want it. I wanted to play the 35-year-old woman in 'The Rainmaker'; which they were going to do later. No, they didn't throw me out. They gave me the part."

Sandy doesn't like people—just cats, dogs.

After a year at Wesleyan College, she came to New York. "I never stayed or got real desperate, but I did live on unemployment insurance from time to time." Slowly she made her way to the top Broadway paces.

Next came Hollywood, and Sandy didn't like it. "Now I've been there, I know what I didn't miss."

The way she likes to live is in a far-zoned apartment on New York's unfashionable Upper West Side with so many dogs (6) and cats (30) that she had to buy a house to accommodate them.

Fortunately for her marriage, Gerry is reconciled to her infatuation with pets. In fact, it's amazing how two people who are so different can get along so well. Unlike Gerry, Sandy admits to having no knowledge of music, hites traveling, dancing, night clubs. "My idea of a nice evening is to stay home with a good book—I just don't like people much."

That's a fear, too. But people, especially theater and movie-goers, do like Sandy—maybe because they have fears, too, and they see in this "plain" girl someone who has conquered many of them. ♦

If Your Dentures Are Over 2 Years' Old...

Dentures—especially older dentures—are harder to clean and keep clean than natural teeth. And because they are 16 times softer, they are easier to damage or scratch.

That's why so many dentists suggest sodding dentures clean in KLEENITE instead of harsh brushing with abrasive pastes or powders. With KLEENITE you can now clean your precious dentures like face jewelry—clean them thoroughly but safely.

Because its easy-to-use formula combines 3 different stain-removing actions: (1) detergent, (2) oxidizer, and (3) solvent—KLEENITE soaks and cleans dentures clean 3 ways at once.

What's more, KLEENITE is instantly-activated the moment you put it in water. It surges into every denture crevice. It penetrates toughest tobacco stains... helps soak away film. The difference it makes... even in the dingiest denture... will surprise you.

Putting On

Beauty tattoos on your hand and knee. What a with-it way to have fun!

There's another with-it way, too. For those so-called "difficult" days of the month. They won't be difficult any longer with Tampax tampons. They're the modern sanitary protection. Worn internally they leave no tell-tale signs. You put on what you want to wear with no wrinkles or bulges. Nothing can show, no one can know.

Tampax tampons are made of pure surgical cotton, lightly compressed. They give you all the comfort and protection you want and need. Without any give-away odor or irritation. Your hands need never touch the tampon, and there are no disposal problems. The Tampax tampon and its silken-smooth container-applier can both be flushed away.

There's another great thing about Tampax tampons. They're small enough to tuck away in your purse—along with your extra tattoo.

From the lively spring green to the deeper shades, green is the color—either natural or planned—of many flavorful foods. For added nutrition and eye appeal, use such foods lavishly and artfully in your daily meal preparation.

Wearin' o' the Green Macaroni Casserole

For a party of 6 to 8, bake only one of the casseroles and freeze the other for future use.

- 4 cups (4-1/2 lb.) elbow macaroni, cooked and drained
- 1/4 cup minced green pepper
- 1 1/2 cups green olive slices
- 1/2 cup minced parsley
- 1/4 cup minced chives
- Shredded sharp Cheddar cheese (1/4 cup per casserole)

1. Mix cooked macaroni and green pepper with Cheese Sauce. Grease two 2-qt. casseroles (see To Freeze).
2. Measure 3 cups of macaroni and cheese into each casserole. Using 1/4 of the olive slices and parsley-chive mixture, completely cover macaroni surface with olive slices and sprinkle with parsley-chive mixture forming a green layer ("ribbon"). Carefully spoon 2 cups of the macaroni and cheese over layers. Using remaining olives and parsley-chive mixture, form second layers and top with macaroni.

3. If casserole is to be baked immediately, sprinkle with 1/4 cup shredded Cheddar cheese. If freezing one casserole, see To Freeze.
4. Bake at 350°F. 30 min. or until bubbly. Two 2-qt. casseroles

Cheese Sauce

Cook 1/4 cup chopped onion until crisp-tender in 5 tablespoons hot butter or margarine in a large saucepan. Blend in a mixture of 1/2 cup regular all-purpose flour, 3/4 teaspoon salt, 3/4 teaspoon Accent, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, and 3/4 teaspoon dry mustard. Heat until bubbly. Add 6 cups milk gradually, stirring until blended. Bring to boiling; cook 1 to 2 min., stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Add 6 cups (1 1/2 lbs.) shredded sharp Cheddar cheese and stir until melted. Mix in 1 1/2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce.

To Freeze: Line the casserole with heavy-duty aluminum foil leaving ends long enough for wrapping. Proceed as in step 2. Seal using drug-store fold. Freeze, then remove from casserole for storing. When ready to heat, remove the frozen macaroni block from foil and place in original casserole. Bake covered at 350°F. 1 hour. Sprinkle with cheese. Bake uncovered, 30 min. or until bubbly.

Lime-Grapefruit Salad

- 2 tablespoons (2 env.) unflavored gelatin
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 cup cold water
- 2 cups unseasoned pineapple juice
- 1 can (6 oz.) frozen limeade concentrate, thawed
- Green food coloring (3 drops)
- 2 cups fresh grapefruit halved sections (membrane removed)
- 9 sliced cucumber slices

1. Blend the gelatin and sugar in a saucepan. Add water; mix over low heat until gelatin is completely dissolved. Remove from heat.

2. Stir in juice, concentrate, and food coloring. Remove 3 tablespoons for glazing cucumber slices.

3. Chill remaining gelatin over ice and water until it is slightly thicker than consistency of thick unbeaten egg white; stir frequently.

4. Mix the grapefruit into gelatin and turn into an 8-in. square pan. Gently press a cucumber slice onto center of each proposed serving. Immediately spoon reserved gelatin over top. Chill until firm.

5. Line nine chilled salad plates with escarole. Cut the gelatin into nine servings and place on the escarole. Place a small bouquet of watercress to one side of each serving. Drizzle thin mayonnaise with pineapple juice and drizzle over the escarole. 9 servings

TAMPAX

SANITARY PROTECTION WORN INTERNALLY
MADE ONLY BY TAMPAX INCORPORATED, PALMER, MASS.

Custom fit for any dress you make guaranteed on this precision adjusting form—or no cost!

Aristocrat of Dress Forms

A professional precision adjustment form (DUPONT Neoprene) gives body material great flexing and holding power.

- "dial"—your measurements into size computer—clip lock-form becomes YOU.
- 48 inches to regular, half size—many variations 8 to 10 (also model 20 to 50).
- Each shoulder raises, lowers. Each bust expands, contracts, raises, lowers.
- Waist narrows, widens, shortens, lengthens.
- Hip widens, narrows, raises, lowers.
- Elastic form gains, reduces with you—adjusts to other family members.

Adjusting stand stands—and form—like ADJUST really

If you're without a dress form—just trying this one (at our risk) can change your life.

This form guarantees a custom-fit expensive look to each dress you alter or make—no cost. Yet it saves you money so fast it often pays for itself the first or second time used.

This custom fit form saves hours adjusting patterns and fitting clothes up to 30% of sewing time. It saves struggling, twisting, turning—trying to get the right fit. It saves ripping out seams for a simple alteration, or just because your skirt didn't hang properly the first time. It's perfect for beginners. Here is why all of this is so.

THE SECRET OF CUSTOM FIT

Would you like every dress you alter or make treated for its custom-fit expensive look? ... While you smile—inside—at the money and time you've saved—at the end-of-embarrassment-of-pain-it-homes-made look—on the success of your first dress making attempt.

The secret is custom adjusting of standard patterns to your differences (there's only one you). When you pin the pattern to an exact duplicate of this, this adjusting is simple and easy.

And this custom fit form becomes exactly YOU—with YOUR waist—YOUR shoulders—YOUR neck—YOUR bust—YOUR hips.

This is because in each body area an ingenious size computer "dial" you measure with. A Tab (like a tape measure) slides through a slot under the area narrower window. When your measurements appear in each window, just clip lock in position. Automatically the DUPONT NEOPRENE processed body material has already adjusted in each body area—to become YOUR Custom adjusted patterns to you has become as easy as before as it was difficult.

A LIFE-SAVER FOR BEGINNERS

Because the hardest part of home sewing is making adjustments—exactly what ADJUST-O-MATIC makes so simple.

With it beginners easily make beams—adjust hemlines—make alterations so perfectly, store-bought clothes fit like made-to-order. You save the $3 to $5 paid before for a superior line—shorter or hem—take in a waist line. You're more satisfied with the way your clothes fit.

With this form, it is easy you quickly find old dresses into new. You fight or fool those—large or too small dresses fit again. You easily alter, reduce, or extend your own dresses, coats, blouses. You begin to make your own simple dresses—more complicated ones. Later, you can design your own styles, and all on this form.

DOES MORE THAN ANY OTHER FORM

"This master pattern-maker's form has every possible professional dressmaker trick and short-cut built right into it—"

It's unlike any other form. To adjust—there's no maze of wire and bolts to struggle with. Simply slide, adjust and clip lock. It's pinable—throughout. No gaps down front or side or around neck give difficulty.

Scientifically placed guide lines let you know when your dress is perfectly centered on the form.

The light steel stand is so adjustable, raises or lowers precisely to any point 4" to 5' (and length of your head from neck up to measurements of any form). It's handsome, rubber-tipped, gives steady support. It assembles, takes apart easily.

LUIGI CALLI'S innovative design

CALLI's and others is built into the form.

All the life—Luigi has designed dress forms—some of the world's most expensive—to give you a custom fit in every inch.

But Luigi built this custom fit dress form for you—to adjust more precisely than any other—do many dressmaker tricks others CAN'T—yet cost a fraction of what others do.

Work with this form anywhere. Lap, tab, chair. Want to work on shoulders—back—underarm seam—front—waist—hips? Perfect! One hand—lifts form of stand. Without ever getting up from your chair you can take ADJUST-O-MATIC apart and work in sections.

Every adjustment—each contour line—the height—neck—the angle of the darts—posture angle of the form—all have been checked and rechecked by fashion fit leaders, home dress-making authorities and fashion editors.

and introduce him to the educator-approved I CAN READ book club.
Sponsored by the Editors of My Weekly Reader

WOULDN'T you like to help your child learn to read earlier and faster... to acquire an eagerness for reading that could be a real advantage in the school years ahead?

Now you can... for an investment so modest that any parent can afford it. Just print your child's name and address on the coupon below and mail it today. We will send you all three books shown here, (retail value $5.85)—and bill you for only $1. plus a small shipping charge as your introduction to the I CAN READ Book Club for Boys and Girls.

Why we make this unusual offer

Frankly, this introductory price is far less than our actual cost for these famous children's books. Each is 64 pages. Each is colorfully illustrated. Each is handsomely bound in durable 6 1/2" x 8 1/2" covers.

But it's not the low price or the beauty of these books that is so important. It is the books themselves—and what membership in the I CAN READ Book Club can mean to your youngster. We want you to see how quickly your child will be reading these stories all by himself. Learning new words. Putting phrases and sentences together. Reading aloud without any help from you. All this is possible because these are not ordinary books.

What makes these books so different? Simply this: The I CAN READ Book Club is sponsored by the Editors of My Weekly Reader, the well-known classroom paper loved by millions of boys and girls from kindergarten to 6th grade. These Editors know how to interest and teach children. They have chosen books written by the most gifted children's writers in America. Books which have a charm that youngsters 4 to 8 find irresistible. The stories are written in words children understand or can recognize. The plots are so entertaining that any child becomes eager to read each story from beginning to end—all by himself!

And then, just as eagerly, he loves to tell the story to someone else. Unlike other books for beginning readers that are read once and quickly forgotten, the I CAN READ books have a lasting quality—they are read, re-read, and talked about by children because they can identify with the story and the characters.

Helps youngsters learn on their own! Membership in the I CAN READ Book Club will increase your child's desire and ability to read on his own—and may jump him years ahead in reading skills! Because the stories are set in large type and illustrated in bright colors, by prize-winning artists, even little ones are attracted to the pictures and soon begin associating them with the words.

As The New York Times said of the first I CAN READ Book, "One look at the illustrations and children will grab for it. A second look at the short easy sentences... and the children will know they can read it themselves!"

The Saturday Review writes, "The repetition of words... encourages beginning readers without boring them." And Rudolph Flesch, author of Why Johnny Can't Read, states: "...it will make an enormous contribution to primary education."

Mail coupon for your 3 books today!

Send no money; we will bill you for only $1. plus shipping after the books arrive. Then, if you wish to continue your child's membership, another enchanting I CAN READ selection will be mailed each month. Not at the bookstore price of $1.95, but at the special member's price of only $1.49 plus shipping. Even then, you need not keep any monthly selection unless you wish to. Just return it within 10 days and pay nothing. Cancel membership at any time after purchasing only two regular Club selections.
