Vietnam U.S. To Increase Efforts

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson disclosed Saturday he intends to tell the nation Sunday night that he will be increasing U.S. troops and supplies for the Vietnam war—but not the dimensions that have been the center of speculation.

Johnson said also that there is not anything to announce at this time about other bombing.

It was a news conference question about his thinking on the possibility of such a move that Johnson said he would like to announce by radio and television from his office at 9 p.m. EST Sunday.

"I will at that time," he said, "discuss troop specifications that have taken place, what our plans are, and what information we have that we are able to take into account."

Johnson said he has not had any other questions of some importance.

"It will be more or less a review of the reviews which have taken place together with an announcement of some actions that are being taken."

At that time, Johnson said, he would try to have an estimate of what he called "the substantial increase in the number of troops, planes, helicopters, tanks, ships, ammunition and other things being sent to Vietnam."

Johnson said the Tet offensive began in January.

World's Richest Nations OK 'Paper Gold,' France Hedges

By CARL HARTMAN
STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)—Nine of the world's 10 richest nations decided Saturday to create a new kind of "paper gold" which would be used to eventually replace the gold standard as the basis of the world's currencies.

The nations are France, West Germany, Italy, the Netherlands, Belgium, Luxembourg, Denmark, Sweden and Norway.

A text is expected to be completed by mid-April. Then it will be presented to the International Monetary Fund.

Then the fund must get agreement Monday after a two-week interval. It was closed because of a record run on gold that led to a refusal of the United States to sell gold at a price of $35 an ounce.

At this stage, France is expected to be the only member to support the paper gold from the start.

Despite the need for this move, Wickman said: "I hope this will have a calming effect on the gold market next week."

The big market in London

A communique issued after the two day meeting by finance ministers and central bank governors said:

"The ministers and governors reaffirmed their determination to cooperate in the maintenance of exchange stability and orderly exchange arrangements in the world, based on the present official price of gold."

The object of the new arrangements is to supply new reserves to add to the $71 billion under the Special Drawing Rights (SDR) of the International Monetary Fund in proportion to its contribution to the fund. The United States is a 24.6 percent quota in the fund. It would get $246 million of each $1 billion of SDRs.

The central banks of member nations would count the SDRs among their reserves just as they would gold and foreign currency. The central banks would also be able to transfer SDRs to one another just as they now transfer gold.

Second FIHA Is Down In Thailand

SAIGON (AP)—A second plane and its crewmen are the six new U.S. FIHA jets that missed their scheduled flight into the Vietnam war area last week. An Air Force report said the second FIHA crashed in Southeast Asia yesterday after an inflight malfunction. The two crewmen were rescued.

The term "inflight emergency" also suggested mechanical trouble.

The FIHAs first went into combat over North Vietnam—mainly in the Southern Panchak area—just last Monday. They were based in Thailand.

Bombs Thrown

NEW YORK (AP)—Five bombs were thrown in three Manhattan department stores Saturday, but apparently none caused major damage, as there was no fire or explosion.

Police said clerks at two of the stores told them they saw Negroes throw the bombs.

The fire department did not release details immediately.

It did say bottles filled with kerosene and fitted with wicks were tossed in Klein's, Macy's and Bloomingdale's.

Police also were reported at Gimbel's, but the cause was not immediately known.

Swept Up

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—A Chicago man knocked into Bourbon Street in a scuffle Saturday was swept up by a street-sweeping machine and carried for three blocks before the device ejected him.

Police said Joseph Nathan Peters, 27, was taken to a hospital after being ejected. Peters reportedly suffered a broken leg.

Patrolman Peter Dale said the man was picked up by a street-sweeping machine while he was being sought.

During the fracas, the officer said, one of his fellow officers held Peters' arm to prevent him from being ejected.

The other two youths, said Dale, pulled Peters in front of a bus—street-sweeping machine.

The machine, which sucks up trash like a vacuum cleaner, picked up Peters and carried him three blocks—apparently unknown to the driver—before it dropped him.

Declaration Of Freedom Is Approved

DETROIT (AP)—Delegates to a Black national convention Saturday drafted a declaration of independence from the United States, which—among other things, called for "blacks who go into the streets, light fires, and fall into American hands" to be treated as prisoners of war.

The proposed declaration of independence was combined with a draft of a constitution for a separate Negro nation to be set up in five states in the South.

The leaders of the convention said 50 Negroes had achieved "definite status as citizens in 10 states by indicating they intended to renounce their American citizenship and become citizens of the new country."

Those delegates who sign the final version of the declaration of independence and followed by Tuesday Sunday will have formally renounced their U.S. citizenship, found in the preceding first two paragraphs.

The document called for "government in captivity," supported by Negroes who wished to renounce their American citizenship to take office in Texas, Louisiana, Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi, Florida and Louisiana through the United States through political agitation and secession—across the country as a result of the exploitation of these states and the loading system on the first action."

Students At Negro College End Boycott

BOWIE, Md. (AP)—Students at Bowie State College ended their boycott and relinquished control of the campus Saturday night after four hours of negotiations with state and college officials.

The students said they did so after Atty. Gen. Francis B. Burch promised to come to the school Monday and investigate their complaints, then report his findings Monday afternoon to the State College Board of Trustees.

The students said they also gave the expectation that they meet with student leaders by Wednesday and agreed it clear that "some concrete action" were not taken by Wednesday, four more demonstrations are not at an end.

Negro Cause Championed

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy urged union members Saturday to support the Negro cause by striking for their fellow Americans' rights to employment and housing.

McCarthy, a Democrat, said the message of his campaign for the Democratic nomination for the White House.

He said the issue, here it is under consideration in which you can say yes or no as to what you want done.

For Wisconsin, the choice comes next Tuesday.

Frank Benson Plans Senate Seat Test

JEROME—Frank L. Benson of Jerome, former Idaho Attorney General, will run for the Senate this fall and will oppose Idaho Sen. Frank Church in the Democratic primary.

"Idaho Democrats," said Mr. Benson, "should send a Senator to Washington who will support the war in Vietnam and the way it is being fought is the burning issue of the 1968 campaign, and so long as present policies are increased military pressure so far as it goes in Vietnam, that there must be a complete withdrawal of U.S. forces before negotiations can even begin."

"The proposal of Hubby Kennedy to negotiate including the complete withdrawal of U.S. forces is more than a political gimmick," Mr. Benson said.

"The Bobby Kennedy, Frank Church and the other are promoting the war because they create the impression in Communist countries that we are still committed to the war."

"Another issue which concerns me here in Idaho," continued Mr. Benson, "is the farm problem. We need congressional action to bring price for farm commodities up to line with the rest of the world."

"Both Mr. Church and Mr. Benson are so busy blaming the present economic conditions on the problems of the present constituents. The people of this state would do well to see that neither is returned to Washington."

Mr. Benson came to Idaho at the age of 6 from Coalinga, Utah, and grew up on a farm near Burley.

Upon graduating from what is now Idaho State University, he taught school for four years in Montana and intermittently attended the University of Montana Law School.

Returning to Idaho, he located at American Fork and was elected prosecuting attorney for Blaine.

He later served in the Attorney General's Office at Boise.

Czech Elected

PRAGUE (AP)—Gen. Ladislav Svoboda, 52, was elected today president of Czechoslovakia by 252 votes out of 386 at a meeting of the National Assembly.

Svoboda, described as "Czechoslovak Eisenhower" was appointed Friday as the Communist party, making his election a certainty.

He replaces old-time Communist Anton Novotny who was forced from power in a 1968 revolution.

Six deputies abstained and 12 were absent.

Svoboda had been the sole candidate for the unanimous approval of the National Assembly.

Kennedy Has Talks With Indian Tribes

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. (AP)—Sen. Robert F. Kennedy played a role in the talks Saturday. And he had time to reflect on what the explosive said 50 Negroes had achieved.

He ate breakfast with Navajo and became citizens of the new country.

The document called for "government in captivity," supported by Negroes who wished to renounce their American citizenship to take office in Texas, Louisiana, Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi, Florida and Louisiana through the United States through political agitation and secession—across the country as a result of the exploitation of these states and the loading system on the first action."

Plan For The Future

The regional airport concept for Magic Valley which would result in building a first-class field some 2000 north of the Snake River Canyon, is a project in which all forward-looking individuals should unite and take an active part.

The Times-News heartily endorses the regional airport plan and has been for the program since the idea was first suggested. Legislation sponsored by Richard High, which made formation of a regional airport district possible, was actively supported by this paper.

Establishment of a regional airport district is being actively carried on by a special committee named by Governor Samuelson to get the job done. They are to be complimented on their work.

There are many steps to be undertaken, and completed, before such a field could be a reality and foremost in this line is the bond issue which would provide the necessary funds. These bonded funds, of course, would be in addition to those which would be provided by grants from the government.

The immediate problem seems to be the fact that the Valley at the present time is not favorable to a bond election of any type and many individuals—including those who want the airport most—admit that now is not the time to take "final flight" before the people.

There are many reasons why the bonding climate is not favorable. Everyone is probably facing a rise in taxes on the national level, a continuation of the costly war in Vietnam and a cutback of federal spending in all areas.

Rising local taxes plague the citizens who ordinarily would support this project and there is every reason to believe they would not support it at this time.

So, why not do the next best thing? Why not do all the necessary groundwork which the creation of the airport calls for short of calling for the bond elections? Then, when the mood is right—and the end of war in Vietnam would do more to change tax thinking than anything—the issue could come up for a vote and forward-thinking citizens would actively support it.

This temporary situation of uncertainty on the part of taxpayers is understandable. Without their backing the airport would never get off the ground. Without the availability of federal funds, it would never be completed even if the bonds were voted.

In this most necessary period of waiting, while the groundwork is being laid for the push for a Valley-wide election on the Nordisle in which all the counties would participate and in which all would benefit, it is well to have an alternative. We have this alternative in Joslin Field, the municipal airport south of Twin Falls.

The city and county officials have been working to raise private funds which will result in upgrading Joslin Field to such an extent that it will not slip backwards so far as air transportation is concerned. Upgrading of Joslin field would not be a permanent, long-range solution.

We must at least maintain the present facilities to keep what West Coast Airline service we now have, to do that to Joslin Field in the belief that almost immediately a regional field would become a reality, would be folly.

It would surely result in a situation where airline service as we know it would become a thing of the past.

We cannot permit this to happen in Magic Valley. We must maintain our position as gateway to Sun Valley. We must provide the best airline transportation while being extremely miserly with our funds. Joslin Field can be better without a bond issue and with a minimum of monies.

This upgrading of the twin fields with the result in raising money down the drain. The national concept of aviation is now to have separate airports for the airlines and for general aviation.

The field at Twin Falls could be the general aviation field. The place where private planes would be housed, where fire-fighting planes would be housed and utilized, where students would be taught to fly and where flying clubs could operate.

The new field, on the north side of the canyon, would be for the airlines and the business jets and the air-taxi operators. The use of one field would not hinder use of the other. It would be the most welcome step.

So the safest bet right now is to hang onto the field south of the city and maintain it as an all-purpose field. When the regional field does have its day—and we are sure this day is coming—we will have the two airports that can do the job and provide our needs for years to come.

The real importance of aviation in this Valley is only dawning. In the near future passenger travel will be only a small part of aviation as such.

Greater still will be utilization of the system for moving freight and produce. Right in this area fish raised in the cold waters of our hatcheries would be shipped out over evening and would be on the tables of the world the next day. This would be through the crops harvested in our fertile fields. The possibilities stagger the imagination.

The time to get ready for this surge through the air is right now. The time to ask the help of all the taxpayers comes now. The time to settle down and stable. We all dislike waiting for improvements, but this time we must.

There is no other sure course now open.

MR. SPECTATOR

That Old Battlewagon

Fred Dodds, the Times-News staffer who is a former Marine and who, as such, rode through the hell of Vietnam in various capacities, knows a few things about those old battlewagons.

Mr. Spectator pointed out in a recent column, one of the old ladies—the New Jersey—now getting ready to go to Vietnam. This time throwing shells weighing 200 lbs. each at targets 25 miles or so inland in Vietnam.

So, in talking to Mr. Dodds, Mr. Spectator tells him to put down a few thoughts about those old battlewagons that are now getting back in service. Here goes:

The battleship is back and there is no doubt old salts of the sea are glad to see them.

Because of the high loss of men and planes over Vietnam, the Navy has presented a good argument in bringing back the old battleship—the largest ship afloat. It's a heavy 10-mile-wide, and sometimes, especially near the North Vietnam border, only 3 miles wide. The battleship can job a shell 25 miles, with amazing accuracy.

And the fire power aboard one of the large ships is amazing. Sixteen inch guns cross the decks, and there are the three inch 55's, the anti-aircraft guns and light arms.

The big guns are termed in by computers and as one old Navy man once said, "They can knock the eye out of a goat at 20 miles." Each time one of the guns is fired, it is like a 100-ton hammer through a mallet.

The guns can direct a military outfit faster than planes and often better.

It is good to see them back. The battleship is a floating city. More than 3000 men serve on and in the battleship. The ships carry hospitals, data processing centers, bakeries, barber shops, and even a movie theater.

The sight of a battlewagon off the coast of Vietnam should be a welcome relief to the weary ground troops now fighting for lives in the jungles of Vietnam.

The cost of re-commissioning these monster ships will be small in comparison to the 1968 war effort America is now engaged in.

Use of the battleship in Vietnam is a positive step to aid the troops now there.

WASHINGTON—The Senate action requiring members to be almost as honest as a second-story man emphasized again that, when it comes to their pocketbooks, there is very little difference between liberal and conservative politicians. In its adoption of a bond, officially described as a "Code of Ethics" by a 67 to 1 vote, the sneaky-thief philosophy prevailed.

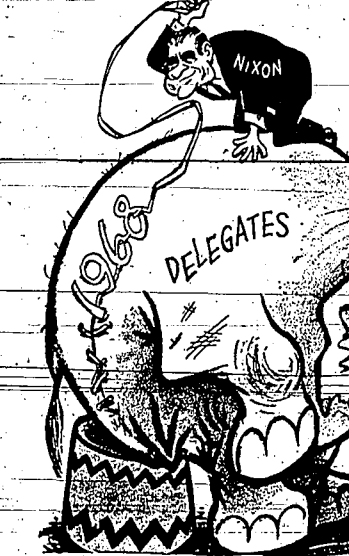

As any rate, the 671 vote on adopting this code is less significant than the 32 to 28 vote to accept the Yarborough-Schick amendment, since many Senators opposed to the amendment voted for the complete bill as the best that could be passed at this time. They included such as Cliff Case, D. New Jersey and Joe Clark, D. of Pennsylvania, who had argued for a tougher code, and a sprinkling of other Democrats (15 in all) and Republicans (13 in all).

It is fascinating to peruse the list of Senators who approved the Yarborough-Schick fishery. There was that rock of integrity, Sen. Bill Fulbright, D. Ark. There were those bleeders for the Common Man—Phil Hart, D. Mich., Gene Harris, D. Wash., Russell Long, D. La., Warren Magnuson, D. Wash., Lee McClellan, D. Mont., Walter Mondale, D. Minn., Claiborne Pell, D. R.I., and Harrison Williams, D. N.J.

Bob Kennedy, who says he doesn't believe in the "code" of governments did not vote on account of he was in New York, running for President—as usual. But the other Ted Kennedy who is plumping for the restoration of Camelot, dutifully cast his ballot for the amendment.

The conservatives also rallied round this standard of petty larceny. Ev Dirksen, R. Ill., brought back the glories of Christ-ianity, voted for the amendment. So did Wyo's Bourke Hickenlooper, Roman Hruska, Neb., Jack Miller, Iowa, John Tower, Texas, George Murphy, Calif., and Strom Thurmond, S.C., all Republicans.

Hubert: Planned Critic

(Editor's Note: Mr. Marlow is Hubert's column is written by Carl F. Leubsdorf, Associated Press Staff Writer.)

WASHINGTON (AP)—While President Johnson continues to refrain from detailed comment on the report of the commission, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey is emerging as the prime administrative critic of the group's recommendations.

Johnson, under heavy attack from political opponents such as Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy and Robert F. Kennedy for not speaking out in favor of the commission's proposals, had another chance at a news conference last Friday. As before, he remained largely noncommittal.

Noting that he thought it was "a very good commission," the President told reporters that "a good many of the things they recommended we had already made decisions on."

"We don't agree with everything they don't agree with everything we do," Johnson said, adding that "there is a general divergence of views" between his Cabinet and the commission.

But Humphrey said that another conclusion that "our nation is moving toward two societies, one white, one black," is "open to some challenge."

broached his attack in a speech Sunday night.

He called for "historical perspective on what has already been accomplished, thus reducing the evident administration opinion that the report should have pointed its efforts to the antipolitical, urban and educational fields."

"I'm not just starting out," Humphrey said, noting that "in the 1960s we have experienced the greatest and most hopeful breakthroughs in race relations in the past 100 years," both through government action and "the dramatic nonviolent demonstrations for racial and economic justice."

The vice president charged that saying "white society conditions" the segregation and poverty of the Negro ghettos, "the dramatic nonviolent demonstrations for racial and economic justice."

Republicans Torn Asunder

WASHINGTON—Now that George Nelson Rockefeller has put himself out of the Republican presidential race, the President, Nixon seems to have the field to himself. I thought (this said every one) that I ran into Fred Treading, a loyal member of the Republican Party.

"I don't know what Nixon expects to gain by continuing now. He's the only candidate left, 'with hasn't bowed out."

"Maybe," I said. "Nixon feels that with one eye opposing him for the nomination, he could win for a change."

Treading nomination unopposed, all he's doing is dividing the Republican Party.

"It's quite simple. If Romney for Rockefeller were to drop out, Nixon in the primaries it would have united the Republican Party. Republicans would have worked for their own candidate within the party. But now with 'I don't know' the party is split right down the middle."

"I don't think Nixon should be blamed for this. After all, it was Nixon and Rockefeller who ran so the party wouldn't be split."

to run so the party wouldn't be split.

"Romney acted in good faith. He bowed out because he thought Rockefeller was going to run against Nixon."

"That I understand; But why did Rockefeller bow out?"

"He bowed out because if he bowed out, then Nixon would get out, too, and the unity of the Republican Party would have been preserved."

"Then Nixon doublecrossed Rockefeller by staying in the race?"

"He doublecrossed all of us. One of the reasons many of us in the Republican Party support Nixon is that we think he's the only one who can win. If he bows out, then Nixon would get out, too, and the unity of the Republican Party would have been preserved."

Foes Are Hurting

BANKOK (RE)—Some leading officials on the gold crisis come to view in this amount of capital of Thailand.

"For some time the Communist Party has been making inroads on the world markets and shipping it in to maintain China by ship and plane. No one knows how fast these imports are. But this correspondent has talked with men who have seen some of these shipments, first hand. This has been going on at a time when the Chinese were having serious problems in trying to buy food and were therefore seeking credits."

The French, closely cooperating with the U.S. in Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia, have been converting into gold a good portion of the funds they receive in legal and illegal trading with the Communists.

A small but significant part of the dollar drain resulting from the war in Vietnam is due to these French profits. Conversions of the dollar into gold and trading sources put the French dollar "take" from Southeast Asia upwards of $200 million a year.

One major objective of the recent North Vietnamese drive to convert the dollar into gold, disruption, which might have to be met with increased dollar aid, adding a new pressure of U.S. dollars.

Ho Chi Minh and his helpers, Mr. Nguyen Huu Giang, are the ones who are the most active in Vietnam in to force a strong increase in U.S. troops, equipment and military aid—the already heavy dollar drain of this war.

A possibility exists that some of the recent Communist advances toward the U.S. borders aimed at getting Thailand to spend more in defense and thus put pressure on the country's economy, stability, which currently is sound.

The Russians and the French are also attempting to convince the Arab countries with large sums on deposit in London that it would be wise to transfer all or part of these balances. Such transfers could put dramatic pressure on both the pound and the dollar.

These and other economic moves by Communist countries toward the U.S. borders aimed at getting Thailand to spend more in defense and thus put pressure on the country's economy, stability, which currently is sound.

they put Costa Thanes who, as Reuss pointed out, is a brother of one of the ruling colonies and is a member of the faculty at Columbia University with a forged dissertation. Theoretically, the loan is being made independent. In fact, as Barr conceded, Thanes could exert pressure on the government to increase the proceeds of the loan would be used in Eastern Europe.

Eastern Europe a Communist state, the pact of yesterday with their stress on military barriers dominate the thinking of today. This is true in large things as well as small.

The State Department is working hard to keep up the pretense that Greece, under military dictatorship of inept colonels is still an effective partner in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. To shore up the economy shaken by the takeover and the aftermath in Greece, the U.S. is thinking of getting a $12,500,000 World Bank loan. This is happening, a Congressional committee, with the approval if not the encouragement of top American officials, has decided to give Greece perhaps unimportant. The loan is an industrial development bank credit—it was thinking of something much broader than the work of white and black extremists.

It cited "nervous discrimination and segregation in employment, education and housing," "black-immigration and white exodus" which is leaving central cities black, surrounded by white suburbs, and the impact of poverty and segregation in destroying opportunity and enforcing failure in the black ghettos.

Rather than individual "white racists," the city riots were aimed at the local symbols of white American society, authority and property in Negro neighborhoods," it said.

Humphrey's attention to inclusion of white extremists in effect confirms the commission's conclusion that while Americans are not white racists, the deep implications of white society's role in creating, maintaining and condoning the racial ghetto.

Volunteer Fire Chief At Glens Ferry Resigns

GLENS FERRY — After 30 years as chief of the Glens Ferry Volunteer Fire Department, Charles E. Bullock has resigned.

He started with the city as a volunteer fireman in 1934, when E. D. (Herb) Stone was the chief. Later on, Robert C. Clark took over as chief, and then Mr. Bullock advanced to this position Oct. 1, 1955.

CHARLES BULLOCK

The first fire engine was a Model-T fire truck, while Mr. Bullock was in the department, and this was followed by a Howard Cooper truck. Now what is termed locally as the "new" engine is a sixteen-horsepower brought back from Middleton, Mass. in 1945, while Clarence Moore was the mayor. The Howard Cooper machine has been on a stand-by basis since then.

The fire house was built for the 1945 truck, but was not quite completed when Mr. Bullock got back here with the machine, so it was sheltered in his own garage for a short time. The station adjacent to the city hall was ready for occupancy before that, and the truck had been housed in the Shuman Garage.

Twelve firemen are carried on the role all the time. Five of them who have completed Red Cross First Aid training courses are Carl J. Anderson, auto mechanic; George Engstrom, sheriff; Eugene Spencer, chief of police; Dick Anderson, garage owner; and Carl's son; and Gilbert Walker, local Idaho Power Co. manager.

Carl Anderson, who usually chauffeurs the truck on his calls, is the next oldest man in Bullock in years of service. The firemen elect their own assistant chief, who is Norman Tripp, another garage mechanic; and their captain, Dick Anderson. The city mayor, T. L. Fryer will appoint a successor to Mr. Bullock.

Attending from Magic Valley will be Johanne Branga, ISNA second vice president; Myrtle Stearley, state chairman of the state nurses section, and going delegates will be Mrs. Elizabeth Pletz, Mrs. Lily Packer, Rosemary Irvine, Mrs. Nell Wheeler and Mrs. Blanche Kaye.

REPORTED L.L. MOSCOW (AP) — Mikhail A. Suslov, one of the Soviet Union's most powerful men, was reported today to be seriously ill.

Two Russians Feel Night Spots Needed

MOSCOW (AP) — Two Soviet writers have declared that "more low-cost night clubs" are needed in Moscow to make it swing despite the old Soviet view that such places are Western and therefore decadent.

Just back from a tour of Budapest, writers A. Rubinyov and G. Chernytsky were appalled by Moscow's few night spots. All of the restaurants close at 11 p.m. and none offers more than an occasional dance band and singer.

The reason the capital, with its million inhabitants, lacks any real night life is that comrades are "seized by a holy horror" when they hear the word "night club," the writers said.

Arguing their case in Literaturnaya Gazeta (Literary Gazette) Rubinyov and Chernytsky pointed out that Budapest is Communist but it has night clubs—and they're fun.

Performance Of F111A Is Outstanding

SAIGON (AP) — A U.S. Air Force senior pilot who flew the new F111A in its first combat mission over North Vietnam said the performance of the aircraft was outstanding.

"It was a little skeptical at first because of the electronic sophistication of the various systems that have to work together," Maj. Charlie Arnet, 21, of New Richmond, Ohio, told The Associated Press. "My instructions, both before and after the failure rates would be high and the maintenance problems numerous."

But, Arnet said, "it proves to be as easy to maintain as any other modern fighter. All of the systems have demonstrated an extremely high degree of reliability. It proved my impressions invalid."

The F111s flew their first combat missions last Monday, striking at bivouac and storage areas in the southern panhandle of North Vietnam. Four of the aircraft were shot down, including one piloted by Arnet.

"I've tested the system under the exact conditions we trained for and everything worked perfectly," Arnet said, describing the lightning strike in the southern half of North Vietnam.

The 56 million warplane has flown for only six days in South Vietnam. This included 180 hours in the F111 of which 177 were in training and three in combat.

North Vietnam claims it shot the plane down.

The U.S. Command has said only so far that an F111 "is overdue on a mission in southern Vietnam for security reasons."

The fate of the two crew members aboard the "lost F111" is not known. Presumably, a search is still on for them.

The F111s are gradually being broken in on secondary targets in the Southern Panhandle where the enemy's defenses are not as stiff as in the heartland around Hanoi.

HONOLULU (AP) — Hilo girls won't have to worry about one aspect of growing old.

NAACP Head Blames King For Rioting

LYNCHBURG, Va. (AP) — The Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. is the cause of the rioting in Memphis, Tenn., because he exerts "no discipline" over his followers, a top official of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People says.

NAACP Treasurer Alfred Baker Lewis of Greenwich, Conn., said Friday he fears the Memphis outbreak marks the beginning of another "long hot summer" in American cities.

Lewis, in Lynchburg to speak at a membership rally of the local NAACP branch, said King planned "April 27" that people "by responsible people" in King's call "is a charismatic leader" in the march on Washington.

But, Lewis adds, "He is a leader without a plan and he will reduce participation when he gets a group he has no discipline in."

"He also has a lot of troublemakers and probably juvenile delinquents. This is evidently what happened in Memphis."

Lewis said the Memphis rioting "will reduce participation

East Germans Stand To Lose In Czech Liberalization Try

By HUBERT J. ERB

BERLIN (AP) — The East German government stands to lose more than any other East bloc regime in the liberalization drive sweeping Czechoslovakia.

The awareness of its dilemma is reflected in the open discord that has erupted between it and the Czech government since the latter's announcement of its liberalization drive.

Czech Foreign Minister Vlastislav Tlustý, in a speech to the German ambassador in Prague, said the Czechs' objections to a speech by East German party secretary Walter Ulbricht, member of the East German party's politburo, Hager had publicly criticized Prague's drive for "socialist democratization" as playing into the hands of West German attempts to split the Communist bloc.

When Romania took up relations with the East Germans, there had been a similar East German outburst, but nothing like this.

In 20 years in power, the East German government, headed by Walter Ulbricht, has developed full diplomatic relations only with fellow Communist governments. Since the Berlin wall went up in 1961, East Germans have been able to go to the West only on the matter of border permits.

The East German Communist leadership has stated their policy of absolute solidarity with the Soviet Union. Their economy remains rigidly tied to the Soviet scheme of things.

Czechoslovakia, as East Germany's immediate neighbor could rock the East German system much more than Romania, which is much farther away.

Should the Czechs, for example, gain a real measure of economic independence that would speed their development, the contrast between Eastern and Western orientation for the East German population would become sharper than ever.

Although the East German

Belgium To Elect New Parliament

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Belgians elect a new Parliament Sunday following the collapse of the government over the volatile language issue that has plagued Belgium since its founding in 1830.

With his own Christian socialist party split over the language question, Paul Van Den Broeck resigned Feb. 7, ending an 11-month coalition with the Party for Liberty and Progress-F.L.P.

Although the long feud between French and Flemish speaking sections has once again become white hot, the campaign has been the dullist in years.

Observers attribute this to the introduction of American-style radio and television campaigning. Candidates have traveled the street corner to reach voters in their living rooms.

The clash between Flemings and French-speaking Walloons at Louvain University—the first time in Belgium's history that students have brought down the government—appears forgotten, but observers agree the language question is the decisive issue.

FINISHING A GOLD SUN pin at her buffing machine which sits in one corner of her snack bar in Ardis Allen. The finishing touches are done with felt and muslin buffers so each crevice of the pin's surface will catch the rays of its namesake, the sun.

WHAT LOOKS LIKE a table of instruments used by an optician is actually the many precision instruments and magnifying glasses used by Ardis Allen as she completes her latest and most popular innovation in jewelry, a 1/4-inch-diameter, multi-rayed Gold Sun pin so popular in the Sun Valley area this year.

Women's Section Artist Creates "Sun" Pin

By DOROTHY POVEY
Times-News Correspondent

KETCHUM—It was a morning to be lazy. Sitting in the sun-drenched room of Ardis Allen's home, looking out across Warm Springs Canyon, we caught glimpses of midwest skiers darting between the pines on Upper Warm Springs, College, Flying Squirrel and Gray Hawk runs of Sun Valley's Bald Mountain.

Glass doors across the lower section of the "A" of the home, which led out into a lava-rock patio and four sections of glass reaching up to the 23-foot-high apex of the ceiling, caught the rays of the early morning sun and scattered them throughout the entire house.

The orange of its glow, the blue of the sky and the white of fleece clouds overhead was reflected in the living room furnishings. Earth tones were in the cinder stones of the fireplace and its ceiling high chimney, and the rough hewn native fir of the stairway. In the kitchen, the rich tones of copper predominated.

It has been said of Ardis Allen that she leads the kind of life most people dream of. This is perhaps true—for in the winter her relaxation is skiing and during summer months her favorite recreation is horse-back riding. But all during the year she works hard. She does all of her work in her home.

Her latest and most popular innovation in jewelry is the 1/4-inch-diameter, multi-rayed Gold Sun pin seen on the sweaters of so many skiers at Sun Valley. She also has designed and makes smaller "Sun" model charms and earrings.

When questioned as to where she got her idea for this particular jewelry, she replied:

"You know when Janiss took over Sun Valley they chose as their insignia the "Sun" of the Aztec Indians of Mexico. History tells us the Aztec worshipped the sun, the winds and the lightning, believing them to be symbols of their departed ancestors."

"This insignia is found on all of Sun Valley's belongings from match pads to heavy equipment."

"I photographed one of the 'Suns' and made third dimensional variations, refining the pattern."

In following Ardis Allen's step-by-step demonstration of the "lost-wax investment casting" method, which she uses to make her jewelry, her guest is surprised that a home can contain a workshop with so little conflict in personalities.

To make the pin she starts with the creation of a master mold in sterling silver, which she places between six sheets of vulcanizing rubber clamped tightly in an aluminum frame and cooks in her electric kitchen oven at 200 degrees for one hour.

When cooled, she uses a scalpel to carefully cut the vulcanizing rubber on three sides of the mold, which resembles "milday's compact," and removes the master model.

Next step is to make her wax pattern. She first opens the mold and dusts it with baby powder; then places it in a tight container and by means of a hydraulic pressure pump, forces 180 degree, specially blended wax through a small opening in the top of the mold, filling each of the small crevices of the sun's rays left in the rubber when the master-model was removed.

After cooling a few minutes the mold is opened, the wax pattern is removed and placed on a two-inch-diameter rubber spine base, over which an open top metal cylinder is fitted.

This cylinder, referred to by goldsmiths as the "flask," is then filled with a silicon-plaster-of-paris mixture (the investment) and placed in a burner oven for one hour.

The wax is burned away by the temperature which reaches 1,400 degrees.

While still hot the flask goes into the centrifugal casting machine, where, by means of a blowtorch, 14-carat gold is melted into the cavity formerly occupied by the wax. This completed, the flask is placed in cold water, the investment scraped away and the Gold Sun pin appears in the rough.

The artist's next move is to her finishing table, which to a layman might be mistaken for that of an optician, with its many precision instruments and magnifying glasses.

Finishing touches are done with felt and muslin buffers so each crevice of the pin's surface will catch the rays of its namesake. Novelty rings which have proven popular this year at Sun Valley are made by Ardis Allen from ends of Scott ski pole frames. These are decorated with sun-bursts.

To go along with her summer-time hobby she has designed and makes horse-head belt buckles in silver. Her oil paintings of horses have also become popular in this area.

Ardis Allen has her degree in political science from Northwestern University. Her minor is in art. She became interested in goldsmith work and associated jewelry instruction from friends she made as a member of the Chicago Lapidary Club. She came to Sun Valley four years ago and her work is currently displayed at the Sun Valley Shop located on the Resort Mall.

WOULD YOU BELIEVE a blowtorch is used in making jewelry? By means of this blowtorch, 14-carat gold is melted into the cavity formerly occupied by the wax. This is just one of the many steps taken to make one pin.

Basques Host Annual Dinner

RUPERT—When a group of women have the reputation as being "the best cooks around," only success can come when they plan a dinner. And this is exactly what happened when a crowd, exceeding what was expected and numbering more than 500, were served during the annual Basque dinner held recently in Rupert.

The event, held each year before the Basque people from the St. Nicholas Parish take their sheep out to summer range, was attended by people from throughout Blaine Valley.

Foods, such as roast lamb, codfish with tomato sauce, Spanish rice, garbanzo beans and special green salads, were topped off with a delicate wine, adding just the right zest to the meal.

"The New Men and New Women," a singing group from Idaho State University, Pocatello, were featured entertainers during the dinner and were directed by Father Ramon Echevarria, chaplain at St. John's Center.

After the dinner, lambs, centerpiece and knitted fancywork were auctioned. Auctioneer was John Trevino, assisted by Jose Uriguren Sr. and Alex Otazu. The lambs were donated by Alex Otazu, Darryl Manning, Ramon Gollandia, Jean Echeverry, Roger Oxarango, John Basterchea, John Uriguren, Jose Uriguren Sr., Steve Uscola, Larry Garro and Reese Garro.

Credited with preparing the feast were Mrs. Jean Etcheverry and Mrs. Gladys Abadia, chairmen, assisted by Mrs. Frank Jougard, Mrs. Fernin Villar, Mrs. Neeta, Mrs. Juan-Isidro, Mrs. Louis Farmer, Mrs. John Basterchea, Mrs. Jose Uriguren Sr. and Mrs. Leslie Makers.

Deserts were prepared by Mrs. Daryl Manning and Mrs. Frank Trevino. Dining during the job usually so popular, was done by Mrs. Martin Hoechele, Mrs. Joe Flood and Mrs. Carl Henschied.

Hostesses for the event were Mary Otazu and Mrs. Paul Stroschein, with Mr. and Mrs. Ramon Gollandia and Daryl Manning serving as clerks.

Those donating to the feast were Mrs. Daryl Manning, Frank Uriguren, Frank Jougard, John Trevino, Fernin Ybarra and Antonio Gollie.

When a feast of this size is served, the assistance of many people is required, so members of the eighth grade Civic Club at St. Nicholas School offered to be busboys. Those pouring included Alex Otazu, Jose Uriguren, Frank Uriguren, Larry Dessel, Dennis Herbold and Les Rob.

FIGURES OF BASQUE boy and girl shepherders were featured in the decorations at the Basque dinner held in Rupert recently. The dinner is held each year before the Basque people from the St. Nicholas Parish take their sheep out to summer range.

AMONG THOSE ATTENDING the annual Basque dinner held in Rupert are, from left, Bob Balch, Roland Jones, Mrs. Balch and Mrs. Jones. More than 500 persons from throughout Blaine Valley were served during the dinner. The New Men and Women, a singing group from Idaho State University, were featured entertainers at the dinner.

MAN-SIZED POTS AND pans are used by these Basque women as they prepared food for the annual dinner held in Rupert. The menu included roast lamb, codfish with tomato sauce, Spanish rice, garbanzo beans and green salads. Mrs. Jean Etcheverry and Mrs. Gladys Abadia were general chairmen of the dinner.

seeking assistance in retraining the number of women to leave the house, take a last minute check to see if your slip is in order, you're off to face the world. And when that first compliment comes, it makes everything worthwhile. But remember, gals, in all the fuss of cosmetics, creams, hair colorings, eye shadows and liners, and fast fashion trends, don't lose YOURSELF in the shuffle.

But let's face it, gals. Years have passed and you're 30 or 35 or 40 or 45 or 50 or 60. But, my goodness, how times have changed. Today's woman is in a different age bracket, look to be 25 and mothers of teenage daughters look young enough to be their sisters.

Plan your schedule ahead of time, so that each evening you have a few minutes of "all for one" time. Retire, take a relaxing bath and surround yourself with cleansing cream, soap, and a good conditioner. Wash your face, neck, and feet. When you have cleaned your skin, a little bath, relax for a few minutes. Just as you begin to feel drowsy, pop out of the tub, partially dry your skin and rub a small amount of lotion over the entire body. Then, retire.

I don't believe it's that women take more pride in themselves and their appearance now, all just that attitudes themselves have changed as well as the rapid pace of society. Women are more fashion conscious than ever before, and must bathroom cupboards and bureau drawers look like cosmetics counters at local drug stores.

Applying makeup is an art in itself, and with my hectic schedule before I leave for work, I find the two or three minutes allowed for makeup just aren't enough. When interviewing one of the local beauticians, I was told women should concentrate on new eye and lip patterns and makeup colors that will put them at the top of fashion and arrange to have smart new cutures. A new hair style in itself has been known to make a woman look fashionable.

Men and more women are seeking employment outside the home and even more of the specialized jobs which, in either case, puts more women out in the eyes of the public and into the hustle and bustle of the working set.

Afterwards, a huge birthday cake was served to everyone in the dining room. Officers will be elected at the Wednesday meeting.

According to a study of the status of unmarried, educated women, published by the Columbia University Press a couple of years ago, it revealed that nearly 50 per cent of the women surveyed held full-time jobs demanding 36 or more hours of work per week. Of these, 70 per cent were married and 60 per cent of these had children. Though admitted to "typical" women in similar categories, they are, in fact, "pace setters" and are characteristic of our society of the future—busy, busy, busy.

Beauty Culture training is the key to professional success in the hair, creating, dignified and rewarding profession. Beauty Arts has been supplying salons with highly trained beauticians since 1927 and many have successful careers.

On keeping this thought in mind, it is only natural that women want to look their best at all times.

Let us tell and show you what your future can be. Come in and see "Beauty in the Making." There's no obligation, of course. We have a few scholarships available for April and May.

There's a DOUBLE REWARD For You

- 2- It puts "Beauty" in the lives of others.

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: My son, who is 22, married a 19-year-old girl the met while he was stationed out west in the army. We asked him to wait until he had a steady job, but he didn't listen to us. So now he's discharged and they are living with us. We don't mind helping them out, Abby, but she is a lazy good-for-nothing—she has been living with us going on three months, and she has never offered to dry a dish or even make up their bed. The laundry piles up and she doesn't even lift a finger to help. I do everything.
I have hinted until I can't stand the sight of her. If she were a DAUGHTER I would give her a good swift kick in the pants.
She gets up every morning in a watch Captain Kangaroo, then she goes back to bed again. She acts like a princess, and her son is willing to do anything for her. I could write a book but I can't find an ending.

The three men tied in voting by their teammates for the honor. Vann was not at the banquet, but his name was on the junior college Olympic tryouts in Hutchinson, Kan., this week.

Coach Eddie Sutton also announced the CSI all-purpose team for the year. There are some quick glances being tossed between the athletes of the University of Idaho.

When two assistant coaches on the staff only a couple of minutes took off for other parts...

Some one had better come out with some kind of statement one way or the other. Discipline is discipline and progress is progress.

Also on the state scene is a report on a Magic Valley tournament of a field (not referee) during the state meet.

Spent a while with Martel M. Gagne of the Idaho Fish and Game Department watching the Wood River trout spawn here.

Everyone hears about the hole-in-one patted at the local course. But you never hear about the eagles, Jerry Lambert, Twin Falls, got one on the fifth hole on the ninth hole on this past week.

It also appears that naming of a Twin Falls assistant football and head wrestling coach is in the immediate offing.

TEEN-AGERS DIE — GRANGEVILLE, Idaho (AP) — Two Grangeville teen-agers were killed late Friday and five others persons were injured in a head-on crash north of here on U.S. 35.

Another passenger in the Burkentine car was Randy Latimer, 15, Grangeville. He was hospitalized in Lewiston in serious condition.

Johnson Keeps Hansen PTA Post

HANSEN — Mrs. Gene Johnson was re-elected as president of the Hansen PTA at the regular meeting Thursday evening in the school lunchroom. Mrs. Robert Miller was elected as first vice president; Richard Younce, second vice president; Mrs. Charles Steinmetz, secretary; and Mrs. Leonard Daw, treasurer.

Plans for a trophy case were discussed. It was decided to wait until more bids were in. Since most of the money for gymnasium equipment has been pledged, some money from the farmer-faculty basketball game may be used for a trophy case. Cecil Stanger reported that over $2,000 was banked for the gym equipment and that the estimated cost of $3,300 has been nearly all pledged with the exception of about $15. He also reported the equipment will be ordered by April 1, and should be here soon.

Revisions in the PTA by-laws were voted on, deleting PTA responsibility toward the lunch program since in the last year, school hours are not available. Mrs. Clarence Hollifield gave an outline of the standing rules for awarding the PTA scholarship which were adopted.

The awards banquet will be held May 10. The next regular meeting date was announced for April 22 when new officers will be installed. The 1967-68 Myers' second grade was awarded the room count, for the third time.

Mrs. Larry Harvey, special director, introduced the debate team, Nancy Hollifield, Rosemary Evans, the affirmative side, and Dennis Pettygrove and Conrad Baylun, the negative side. The subject was "Uniformity in Investigative Duties should be established by an act of Congress."

Eve Sight Plan Heard At Paul

PAUL — Plans for Live Inc. Eve Sight project were discussed during a meeting at the Lincoln Club. Club held at Connor's Links.

Harvey Hollifield, president, conducted the meeting and it was announced the sales campaign would begin next month during the same period as other Lions Clubs in Magic Valley.

Several suggestions were considered concerning projects to promote area improvement. Guests of the club included several Lions members from Twin Falls.

"$50.00 OVER COST" — "$88 OVER COST" — "FREE TRIP TO HAWAII" — "500. FOR ANY CAR YOU DRAG IN" — "NO PAYMENTS 'TIL 1969," Etc.

... then let's talk turkey about a new Dodge, Chrysler or Imperial.

The biggest dealer on earth can't get a better car deal from the factory than the smallest. And if Mr. BIG has labor troubles, personal problems, enormous bank loans, and maybe athlete's foot to boot, he's going to be more concerned with his problems than yours.

We're a middle sized dealer, meaning there are dealers larger and dealers smaller. Maybe, if we were sharper traders with our customers we'd make more money and be bigger. But we're coming along. We've been around in the same location for over 25 years now. Our sales staff and mechanical crew are your neighbors. We make friends — not just customers.

The new Dodge, Chrysler or Imperial that you buy here has the same engine and the same wheelbase as the one you can buy in San Francisco, Detroit, New York or Salt Lake City. But it also has, we believe, an extra in the perfection of our preparation for delivery... and in our tuning and adjustment, and in our personal concern for your satisfaction.

DO YOU KNOW HOW SCARCE REALLY GOOD MECHANICS ARE? When we have to find a new one, we almost wish we were a smaller dealer. Where some of the so-called BIG OPERATORS get framed mechanics is a mystery. Maybe the barber college? Our mechanics are without exception, qualified topolo, or they don't get to touch anything a kid can't handle. We love our mechanics. And it looks as if they like it here!

IF YOU'RE INTERESTED IN A NEW CAR and service that's as good as the car, service you can't get everywhere, you'd better check with us. If you're NOT REALLY INTERESTED IN A new Dodge, Chrysler or Imperial, but are reading this ad just because you like fine literature... you're making a big mistake. RIGHT NOW is the time to TALK TURKEY WITH US... and it's a wonderful time to be interested in one of America's finer automobiles.

We have money in the bank. Business is good. Our service department is efficient. WE WANT MORE BUSINESS. YOUR BUSINESS! We don't have to do anything frantic. We don't have to try to squeeze the last dollar out of a deal. WE'LL JUST TRADE TO GET YOUR BUSINESS. Come on in. Don't put it off another day, or you'll forget about it — and miss a nice, yes, a VERY NICE DEAL!

In 1820 the "Encyclopaedia Britannica" said about American girls: "When young, they are generally beautiful, and more particularly so at the age of 16 in the other middle states . . . (but) at 25, many of them might be taken for Europeans at 40 . . . In South Carolina at the age of 30, a woman appears old . . . at the age of 50, in that ex- hausting climate, the hair becomes entirely white."

"Thank goodness they neglected Idaho!"

A telling caption appeared recently under a gag in the "American Legion Magazine," showing a woman in the missing persons bureau of a police department. She was say- ing: "We're with P.T.A., League of Women Voters, Ladies Aid, Bridge Club, and Bowling Team. I'm not quite sure when my husband disappeared!"

This announcement about the "Snoopy for President," buttons is made by this column as a public service for those of you who are so confused now, by the seething political situation that you'd just as soon vote for one dog as another.

And the story is told of the Madison Avenue adman who wanted to get his "message" to every married woman in a specific com- munity. The solution to the problem was simple, according to this enterprising publicist: "We just addressed letters to every man in town, and marked them 'Personal.'"

"Police?" came the voice on the phone. "I want to report a burglary happening in an old maid's bedroom!" (After listening to the ad- dress, the police sergeant asked who was calling. "This," cried the frantic voice, "is the burglar!")

SEEMING ALMOST TOO young to have been involved directly in a war, these three men, two of them 20 years old and the third 21, toast the future. Their immediate past has included duty in Vietnam. Two of the men were wounded twice, and hospitalized. Another saw planes take off every day from the deck of this carrier to fly missions over Vietnam; some never returned. They are barely out of their teens, and yet have experienced the realities of killing and the possibilities of being killed. Mike Touchette, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Touchette of Twin Falls, sits on the left. Mike is a Marine and went to Vietnam Feb. 17, 1967. Sitting in the center is Frank L. Bilban, 20, a Marine and son of Mrs. Helen Arrethete of Salmon, Idaho. Frank is residing with his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. A. Benegocher of Twin Falls. He went to Vietnam Feb. 16, 1967. On the right is David J. Rogers, 21, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Rogers of Twin Falls. He is in the Navy and was stationed on board the USS Constellation in the Gulf of Tonkin for seven months. The three are still in the service and have more time to serve before their discharges. All three will be stationed in areas other than Vietnam until they are discharged.

Young Men Fight A War, And Toast The Future...

By JAN ARTHUR SAINSBURY
Times-News Feature Editor
It isn't so bad when you're there in Vietnam. The ones I really feel sorry for are the people like my mother, who will here.

DM, we got into a fire fight all day. Two gun battalions in North Vietnam were firing at us and I got hit with shrapnel in the face and head. They patched me up, too.

And like three friends, along with this writer, and Mrs. Touchette, laughed hard and long. It was an excellent release from the seriousness of what had preceded.

about the war in Vietnam. All three at one time or another said that they knew nothing about the political nature of the war, but they all agreed that when a serviceman sees a buddy killed in Vietnam, he wants to stay till it's over.

country if there wasn't a war. "There's too much invested now in just pull out, but we could win."

"The people over here in the States may not think we have a reason to be there but the servicemen who are there know we do."

"The only thing I can't take is the guys that go to Canada to pay somebody off to get in the National Guard. If the guy burns his draft card that's his business and his philosophy. He doesn't agree with the draft that's his business, and he has that right and I respect it, but the guys that just run away are the ones that burn me."

And the three here, two physically marked by war, continued their talk in a living room in Twin Falls, Idaho, and more young men are sent to war.

by shrapnel from a hand grenade just south of the Demilitarized Zone. He was "patched up," to use Mike's words, and stayed with his men. He was a scout and walked point, one of the most dangerous jobs in Vietnam.

"The second time," according to Mike, "I was walking point about 2 a.m., and I walked down some place where I had seen us firing, because they were firing from the front, but when I started shooting one of the guys behind me, one of our guys got excited and opened up on me. I was one of the few who got hit in both legs from both sides. It's just the way it is, that's all."

"Mike was hospitalized for six weeks in Camp Balm Bay. He will report soon for duty at Camp Pendleton, Calif. He is 20 years old.

Frank L. Bilban, also a Marine, sat with Mike in the Touchette home. Frank's dog had had his share.

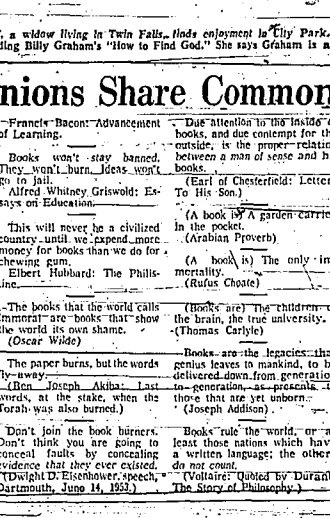

"I went to machine gun school in the Marines, they put you in the grunts and machine gun school, and so I went to machine gun school."

Mike continued: "I remember it was on July 6th, in the DMZ, we got into a fire fight all day. Two gun battalions in North Vietnam were firing at us and I got hit with shrapnel in the face and head. They patched me up, too."

When asked what had happened to him during his time in those waters, he praised for a long time looked at another two men, both good friends of his, he had been listening to their exploits, and finally said, "Well I got shocked once trying to fix a busted light socket."

MAGIC-VALLEY PORTRAIT

Francis Boyd, Agriculturist, Notes Many Changes In Sugar Beet Culture

JEROME — Francis Boyd, Amalgamated Sugar Co. agriculturist, notes great changes in beet culture practices here in the last 15 years in Magic Valley.

Boyd, who has been with the Amalgamated Sugar Co. in 1953, Mr. Boyd has seen improvement in beet culture practices, fertilizer, harvesting and irrigation.

"First," he explained, "we had the old multi-term seed planted 5 to 6 weeks per acre. These seeds came up very thick. Through research, the mono-term seed was developed which is single germination. Now we plant mono-term seed with clay coating for uniform drop which encourages planting and cut down amount of hand labor in the development of seed veld. This increased sugar tonnage and disease resistance."

Mr. Boyd states the culture practices have changed from row spacing to 10 to 12 rows to the row thinners, to a faster tool, which is a springline harrow which is elimination and weed reduction.

Also, the last few years herbicide has been used for weed control (pre-planting for early control) of weeds and post-emergence for late control. Through these methods, hand labor can do two acres of beet per day compared to one-fourth of an acre per day with the improved culture practices.

Fertilizer has played its part in increased beet production. Sixteen years ago, 21 per cent nitrogen and 36 per cent phosphate was all that was available. Now, because of the availability, soil analysis was made to determine the amounts of fertilizer for higher crop tonnage which led to an average of 145 units of nitrogen and 135 units of phosphate per acre.

"These practices have increased the tonnage from 17 to 25 tons per acre at this time. However, it is not uncommon for some fields to yield 25 to 30 tons per acre."

Improved practices in irrigation also have played a part in increased beet production. Through better utilization of water, he notes, they have eliminated the old furrow and over head sprinkling systems which all contribute to good water usage.

Harvesting has also developed from hand labor to 100 per cent mechanical. Early in the 50's hand labor consisted of a six-man crew would top 40 tons of beets per day. Now, with mechanical equipment 100 per cent men harvest 100 tons per day with a single row harvester. A multi-row harvester will harvest 100 tons per acre.

Mr. Boyd has full responsibility of the Jerome labor camp which the migrant farm laborers work in the sugar beet fields. There are about 50 families which include 130 workers. They arrive in Jerome the first week in May and from then on until work is finished sometime in July. It is responsible for them 24 hours a day. He arranges with the grower and the crew leaders for the work in the fields.

When the beets are ready for harvesting Mr. Boyd has charge of the beeting station and for pile storage and later shipment to the factory for the processing of the sugar.

These stations are Jerome, Barrymore and Sugar Log.

In 1952 there was 800 acres of sugar beets in the Jerome area. Now there are 4,500 acres of sugar beets.

Mr. Boyd was born Sept. 20, 1913, in Wendell, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Boyd. He has two sisters, Ann and Marie. He graduated from high school in Wendell. During this time he was very active in 4-H work and won several championships in judging, fitting, showing, records and won a Union Pacific award everywhere.

Mr. Boyd is a graduate of the commercial dairy course of the University of Idaho, Moscow.

After schooling, he was employed by Jerome Co-op Creamery. During this time of employment he was route salesman, fieldman and buttermaker and was with the creamery for 16 years. One experience that happened during this time he will never forget was being bit by a cow. This happened at the creamery plant at 2 a.m.

"They forced me to drive the creamery plant on the far side of Glenn Ferry. One of the holdup men held a gun in his side and I was in Glenn Ferry breaking two of his ribs. He was released in Glenn Ferry. There was a $100 reward offered for their capture.

However, they never were apprehended.

Boyd was married to Virginia Redford, Rupert, on Feb. 1, 1942. They have one daughter, Lynn, who now is a student at the College of Idaho, Caldwell.

CONGRATULATING BOB MAY, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Farris May, Rupert, at the completion of his successful flight from Vera Beach, Fla., to Burley in Phil Payne, owner of the 180 Cherokee D plane and Bob's employer. Bob recently made the flight from Florida alone to earn flying hours for a commercial pilot's license.

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

A 17-year-old Miloce High School senior may be credited with an unusual accomplishment for his age following his cross-country flight from Vera Beach, Fla., to BURLEY recently.

Bob May, son of Mr. and Mrs. Farris May, Rupert, flew a new 180 Cherokee D from Florida alone to earn flying hours for a commercial pilot's license. The plane was purchased by Phil Payne who owns Skyways in Burley and who is also Bob's employer.

Bob said he became interested in flying at an early age and put that interest to a practical workout when he was 16. That was when he first began flying, and at 17 had earned his private pilot's license with 40 hours of flying time.

The only member of his family who flies is his father, who so far amount to 135, compared with 200 necessary for the commercial license.

Both May, Sunday and was scheduled to arrive in Burley Tuesday but was delayed because of bad weather in the way. Layovers were in Lafayette, La., Bridgeport, Tex., and Farmington, N. C.

Although Mrs. Claude Vallette, resident of DECLE since 1910, has been known as an authority on the life of her maternal grandfather, Persin, Simense, and Himalayan cats (she believes she has the only breeding pair of registered Himalayans in Idaho), she has another family genealogy interest to which she devotes her spare time during the winter months: This hobby is genealogy.

Mrs. Vallette developed an interest in this study when, over 10 years ago, her mother-in-law sent her a typed book about three-fourth inch thick, containing the results of research into the ancestry of her maternal grandmother, Martha Annette Stebbins. The Stebbins and collateral lines therein were traced back to the time they came to America. The Stebbins is a professional genealogist cousin who collaborated in the work were interested in genealogy back for more than 100 years for a skeleton outline of the Scott and Belding families, traced back to the 17th century.

The genealogical societies, such as "Mapa Carin Dames", with lines in England, France, and were Surtees for Magna Carta; Plantagenet Descendants; Order of Golden Cross (for descendants of Charlemagne), etc.

Since the age of 8, one of Mrs. Vallette's favorite subjects has been history and she has traced back to the time she liked it. She began where her aunt's book left off, and eventually traced seven ancestors back to the Middle Ages, plus her husband's line, making eight lines.

Now, she has three huge volumes, containing nearly 700 pages of typed notes, maps, sheets, and over 1,000 Family Group sheets; few of which are handwritten, with less than 20 children.

The original book from her aunt was lavishly illustrated with photographs, sketches, and autographs and uncles, her maternal grandparents and great-grandparents, pictures of family heirlooms and articles of handicraft, homes from early days, and many other items of interest.

As Mrs. Vallette's research went back to long before photographs were invented, she had to think of other illustrations to enrich the pages of her volumes, and had her Family Group sheets printed for her own use.

Not being of the LDS faith, Mrs. Vallette notes the space for Temple work and such material were omitted from her original book. She had a right-hand corner she had a blank shield printed, on which she placed pictures of family drawings of such ancestors as she could find pictures of, many in the form of armor of the time she was painted the coat of arms of all of them, as listed in various sources such as Burke's

THE GYPSIES

By Jan Yours

Jan Yours writes a factual and highly informative book about a small and secretive minority, the Gypsies. Her story is written in the Gypsy people (or Rom) originated. They are not limited by geographic boundaries and petty hates. They are not limited by their own limitations in their wanderings.

Until now most of our information about the Gypsies has been based on either romance or legend. How did it happen that after so many years of misconceptions, this type of a book was written? Jan Yours' story is a true one. She was born in the world of the Rom. Her first steps with the Rom were taken when she was a child. She spent his summers with them and returned to his family in the winter. From his experience he has written of the Gypsy way-of-life, of their customs, their traditions, their past and ancient customs.

Until this book by Yours, little was known about the Rom. This is as they want it. They refer to non-gypsies as Gajo or Gaje (plural). They discourage outside interest by consistent beggary and their disheveled appearance. Their persistent beggary by Gypsy children everywhere gives the impression a totally false picture of the real conditions in which they live. Unless one is also aware of the Gypsy viceroy, health, cheerfulness and theatrical skills; and overlooks the raggedness of their clothing.

When approached directly, Gypsies show a total disregard for consistency and may become totally incomprehensible about any matter they do not want to discuss without any sense of embarrassment on the part.

They scorn the gullible Gaj who are naive enough to believe that truthful answers can be obtained in such an unstable fashion. All of this is part of an effective, invisible screen for the

Fairfield Ranger District Reports Year's Activities

FAIRFIELD — The Fairfield Ranger District on key winter elk range reports that the the Boise River, an experimental mill sawing. Four-year National Forest harvested 31 million bush was completed in November heard feet of timber in logging here. Four-winged Saltbush is a operations in the Salt Creek and highly palatable and nutritious Rosetta creek drainage in the Fairfield Ranger District. This was according to the annual report. This is a continuing effort to Douglas fir timber, much of the Big Smoky which was badly infested with area in the wildlife habitat improvement program. In order to harvest this timber, District personnel completed broadleaf seedling of approximately 1500 pounds of mixed maturely eight miles of logging road through the Fairfield Ranger District. This was accomplished by close cooperation of district personnel and logging contractors. District personnel have conducted field work on proposed logging areas for Douglas fir, Spruce, Fir, and Red to provide feed for upland game Rock timber sales. This will offer the Forest Service to offer. The district suppressed a total of 2.2 million acres of fire in the district. The district assisted in the suppression of preliminary timber reconstructions on all districts fires during 1947. All were started by lightning in the Paradise, Gindstone and Blue-Peak areas. This district trail maintenance program is an analysis of available timber production in certain, some miles of trail to foot and bear and accessibility. In June, 1947, in the reforestation program, approximately 200,000 Douglas fir and Spruce seedlings were planted in some 60 miles of additional the Soldier creek area about 14 Beran, 600,000 under a Forest, north of Fairfield, in the district. A new quarter mile access road at the mouth of Carapah creek was constructed by the Forest-wide improvement program. This included installing a forest logging over areas with large tree seed in the area. This work will open the drainage of logging approximately 1.5 million board feet of timber. During July approximately 35,000 acres of logging slash was burned and Lumber Co. in central Douglas-Fir bark beetle outbreaks. In November about 140 acres of logging slash was broadcast burned to prepare the area for planting in seedlings in the spring. A work site and timber camp were prepared for planning in seedlings for burning. A real battle was staged last summer on the Spruce Budworm. An army of Forest Service personnel besides the district personnel, Fish and Wildlife personnel, pesticide officials and biologists all united in an experimental testing of a new chemical and method of application for control of the Spruce Budworm. A project camp was constructed at the Big Smoky Guard station 24 miles north of Fairfield. Mrs. Dal Lee contracted for the furnishing of meals for the crews. The range improvement program with a rest-rotation program system on the Gooding-Centennial-Grandview area were installed in the Stovepipe drainage in June and new water developments were installed in the Moreswick drainage in October. These improvements are an essential part in the rest-rotation program for the allotment. A new sheep bridge across the South Fork Boise River was ready for use in June, 1947. MELVIN BYINGTON, left, and Don Bergener, both Durley, assisted a work crew in lowering five 135-foot high radio towers, which were used the past 40 years by pilots for low frequency range. The towers were decommissioned in October of 1946 and have been replaced by a more refined system known as VOR.

ONE OF THE towers, which was used for a low frequency range for air navigation and communication northeast of Heyburn, has now been erected at the Hoffbahr Ready-Mix business at Durley to be used for a two-way radio facility. All equipment at the Heyburn site was purchased last week by Mr. Hoffbahr after a testing of bids.

Forty-Year-Old Radio Towers No Longer Stand As Landmarks

By ARVETTA SAVAGE
 HEYBURN — The lights have been extinguished on the towers which were decommissioned in October of 1946. They were decommissioned because they were obsolete and they will never be seen here again. According to Leo Pelrice, chief of the FAA at Durley, the VOR foot high towers have been replaced by a more refined system and more landmarks for motorists in the area. The towers operated between 200 and 400 kilocycles on a low range. He said the beams only had four courses that the pilots could fly from. The frequency being operated with was very susceptible to thunder storms and when pilots needed them the most, they were the least use. On the new facilities, they can fly any course around the tower. The frequency is operated on 115 and 118 megacycles, and is not susceptible to such storm interference and can be used at all times. The low range was discontinued over a year ago and the process of eliminating the old towers is continuing all over the country. The original concept of the low frequency range was developed in the 1920's by engineers of the Henry Ford Co. and they did the early developing and initial design of the facility. Officials report it was quite a "thrill" being on top of the towers, which were self-supporting and swayed in the wind. There were six lights on each tower and officials replaced them each spring and fall. The towers were on a sub-structure which was built on an eight-foot concrete base with supporting rods connected at the tower bottom center. Large insulators were located where towers contacted the base. The small sheds near each tower were antenna tuning units. The property of the low frequency tower location had been leased from an area farmer and will be turned back to his estate. Mr. Hoffbahr said he purchased the existing brick building, fencing and towers from the area not only for his own use and to sell to others, but he said the towers had a little sense attached.

He supposed being on the low towers and those who are unaware that the towers are down and are unable to see the red lights high in the dark sky, become uneasy. He said he could leave Denver and fly to Rock Springs, Wyo., and then be into Burley and come right on in with only two radio changes between here and Denver. He is using one of the towers for two-way radio reception for his business at Durley, and will sell the others. He is using a 125-foot section of the tower, which is built and not welded. The towers are made of galvanized angle iron. Mr. Hoffbahr was not too sure in exactly what condition his men could get the towers down and it took them about one and one-half hours to lower the first one. The rest came down in about 25 minutes. The towers were taken down in one piece by use of an 80-foot beam and dismantled later. Two towers were taken down last Friday and the rest were lowered on Saturday. Area residents miss the lights.

Increased Social Security Aid Is Planned Monday

Extra-working hours to give people 65 years of age and older a last-minute chance to sign up for voluntary doctor bill insurance under Medicare will be observed Monday at the Twin Falls Social Security office. Mr. O'Marra, district manager, said the office will be open until 9 p.m. "People over 65 who do not register at this time for supplementary medical insurance will have to wait another year," he said. He said the people will also have to pay a premium that is 10 per cent higher for each full year they could have had the doctor bill insurance but were not enrolled. The current premium is $4 a month, one-half of the cost of the protection. The other half is paid for out of general government funds. Those enrolling in 1948 or more later will pay $4.40 a month. Mr. O'Marra also said people already enrolled for supplementary medical insurance that Monday is the last day people can claim payment under Medicare for services received during August or September of 1946.

Siphon Tubes Are Made By New Firm

A relatively new firm in Twin Falls helps Altago Valley farmers with their irrigation.

This firm, the Empire Corp., manufactures aluminum siphon tubes and some canvas (irrigation) products. The tubes range from one-half of an inch to six inches in diameter.

Erza Gardner, general manager and vice president, says the Twin Falls office is on 6th Ave. W. is the distribution office for the entire Northwest for Empire Corp., headquartered in Adam City, Idaho.

The firm has on hand eight carloads of siphon tubes for any need.

Rangen's Has Grown In 43 Years

BUHL — In the past 43 years Rangen, Inc. has grown from the original Buhl building on Main street with one building 30 by 100 feet in size to a complex of modern buildings with a cinderblock warehouse and two steel storage tanks added this year.

Theodor Rangen, founder and president of Rangen, Inc. was born in Norway and came to the Magic Valley in 1922, and to Buhl in 1925, to start the Buhl Feed and Ice Co. for A. M. Sande.

In 1925 Rangen purchased an interest in the firm which was incorporated in 1928 as the Buhl Feed and Ice, Inc. Following the death of A. M. Sande in 1954, Rangen purchased the entire interest in the firm and in 1960 the name was officially changed to Rangen, Inc.

The main building on the premises houses office space, ice plant feed store, cold storage and tall plant and feed mill. The warehouse is the largest in the area with the most modern cleaning equipment available, has a 150,000 capacity storage tank, a 200,000 capacity silo, and a 200,000 capacity silo for rapid handling. A bulk blending fertilizer plant with automatic fertilizer components, has a completely mechanically operated mixer for uniformity and rapid handling and 500 ton holding capacity.

In 1946 after serving in the armed forces, Rangen joined the firm and in 1954 became a partner. The firm was instrumental in the development of Rangen's complete dry fish food in 1953. This was the beginning of the Canyon Springs Research Fisheries Station, located in the Hagerman Valley, for better fish health and is today recognized as the finest in this field in Idaho.

The trout feed services the western states and from the Idaho plant it is distributed to Pennsylvania and other parts of the seaboard.

A new liquid fertilizer plant has been installed to give farmers a complete fertilizer service.

The research station has been developed on a 7-acre site. Besides the laboratory, the hatchery building, the office, shop, garage, and the hatchery and fish room, the hatchery building is finished with fireproof cement and contains twelve modern fiber-glass troughs and incubators capable of hatching one million eggs at a time. On million eggs are hatched at the station.

The station has 47 cement raceways and aeration ponds, 100 feet wide and approximately 4 feet deep, extending from the Canyon Springs at the head of Billingsley Creek supplies the water for the station. Like all the raceways, they are heated by flow at a constant temperature of 59 degrees.

Large storage bins are located near the raceways to hold the fish feed which is produced at the Buhl plant.

The lodge is used for fishery meetings pertaining to brood stock and hatchery techniques. The lodge has been constructed on the south side of Billingsley Creek. The lodge has a constructed kitchen, a modern kitchen and a picturesque view of the station, the creek and the mountains.

Most Industrialized Nations Of Free World Outpace U.S. Economic Growth

Concrete Ponds Make Most Bountiful Farm In Valley

By PAULINE DAY
Times-News Correspondent

BUHL — One of the most bountiful farms on earth consists of a cluster of concrete ponds and water raceways above the north bank of the Snake River near Buhl.

This is the home of the Snake River Trout Co., the largest of the Magic Valley trout farms in the world. This year, crews will land two million-plus pounds of rainbow trout from the Snake River trout farm.

The ranch was built in 1925 by Jack English, a former Utah fish and game official. Tingling had chosen his site wisely along the Snake River. The ponds are situated on a large underground lake on the continent, sealed over by a lava flow thousands of years ago. Invaluable by this covering, the water maintains a constant temperature of 59 degrees all year.

Erkins decided to find out if this was true, and tried feeding the trout a pellet form of food made of substances other than meat. The fish grew as never before, adding an inch to their length each month.

After solving the food problem, he increased the population of the ponds and with adequate food, the fish thrived and—Erkins has seven been able to produce a third generation of molly rainbow trout in the wild swam in the spring of their second year. By selecting generally after generation of early spawners, Erkins evolved breeders that spawn largely in the fall and winter of their second year. Eventually he expects to be taking eggs the year round.

In order to get a continuous harvest, the Erksator, a machine capable of cleaning 1,000 fish per hour, has speeded production and Erkin's dream of a year-around line for trout eggs in the spawning pond. The trout package in the freezer-hatched, the hatchery was able to produce a fast worker could clean in was about only 1,000 per day.

Every month a new crop of fingerlings is set out, and the larger trout are transplanted from one pond to another at they mature. Ready to market at average 13 inches in length and 14½ ounces in weight, about 100,000 pounds of market fish are produced per year. The fish are marketed through constant expansion and careful planning. Production has steadily grown. One of the most innovative Erkins is per cent of the fish are marketed as a new trout food. Cheaply produced, many of them were beginning to get scarce, banded, or banded and breaded, and fish authorities said that the remainder are fed and sold since trout are carnivorous in their natural state they had to try a new strain of golden trout and learned that it would be practical to try and breed them in quantities. Erkins is now ready to market them as a luxury item.

Jet Boats Are Used For Log Drives

LEWISTON — If you ever thought that towing down the Clearwater in a wooden boat was fun and exciting, you should try it now. Puttacki Forest, Inc. in Lewiston, utilizes three jet-powered boats for their log drives to the mill and for breaking up jams that take place en route.

In the old days, when Grandpa's strong arms were power behind the job, boats would hold six men. Four of them had to row, while the other two maintained the bow and stern. This proved to be not only extremely dangerous and often the men were lost in the jams. Nowadays, however, the story is quite a different one, and it's a far cry from the oar-powered bateau of yore.

The jet boats are equipped with twin 190-horsepower engines, and three, the Ponderosa, the Tamack and the Spruce, will join the next drive down the North Fork of the Clearwater to work 40,000,000 board feet of logs 90 miles to Lewiston.

When the engines are firing at full throttle, the boat is propelled at a speed of 45 miles per hour with the turbines in each pump revolving 4,000 times per minute. Power, not speed is the most important factor, says the logging manager of the drive.

The boat can navigate in about four inches of water, turn on a dime, and they have no prop to scrape on the bottom or marks. They will carry up to 20 men with pike poles through high water and can be used to tow logs free in a jam. Grandpa never had it so good!

Half-Million Pounds Of Trout Processed At Filer

FILER — Some half-million pounds of pure, cold spring water ponds of trout are processed each year by the Idaho Trout Processing Co., and these fish will be shipped to and served in some of the finest restaurants and hotels throughout the country. The processing plant is situated in a large, modern building which is equipped with freezing and cold storage rooms. It takes about nine months of office and home care for the fish before they are ready for employees. Immaculate stainless steel equipment and washable floors and walls are a feature of the plant. Visitors are welcome at the plant and interested food buyers are extended an invitation to inspect the plant at any time. Alfred Iverson, owner of the plant, stated that the fish will grow at different rates and processing can be carried on year around. When the trout are from 9 to 13 inches long, they are ready for processing and are moved to separate ponds until they are ready to be processed. They will weigh from four to 12 ounces each when famous as Idaho potatoes. Some fish are feed and shipped to restaurants and consumed while others are bred before being because of its adequate supply of pure, cold spring water and is an ideal temperature for the growth of fish.

Installation Of Storage Tanks Slated

BURLEY—Eight round metal tanks for grain storage will be installed this summer at Beetsville, south of Burley, on railroad line from Burley to Oakley by Feeders Grain Supply.

The new grain storage tanks will hold about 300,000 bushels, will double the storage capacity at Beetsville. During 1966 eight round metal tanks were installed at Beetsville. The tanks also marking history during installation, for a high west wind brought the tanks to the ground. Workers had to start over with the installation, but the eight tanks were ready to receive grain during the 1966 grain harvest.

The round metal tanks are 36 by 40 feet and will handle about 400 bushels of grain per year.

The previously known firm of Feeders Grain Supply was first operated under the name of The Burley Feed Manufacturing Co., in 1916. In 1920, C. E. Peterson, serving as the president of the company, took in 1919 there were 10 to 12 men working there year around. During the early days, the main product was alfalfa, which was shipped to Chicago, Tennessee and Atlanta by the Oregon Short Line Railroad Co.

C. Peterson says a "hand-drawn" business was always a "hand-drawn" business. The company bought 50 years ago and shipped to Chicago and to Portland, Ore., and the company made 10 cents a bushel for the alfalfa. The company was paid.

Custom feeding was a part of the business. The early days, too, cattle and lambs were in the feed yards located near the grain storage tanks.

A fire burned the Burley Feed Manufacturing Co. in August, 1930, leaving only the foundation. The property lay idle until 1946 when it was purchased by Fred J. Kelly, a well-known Burley area resident.

The buildings were rebuilt and the business under the name of Fred J. Kelly and Son. The name of Fred J. Kelly and Son was changed to Burley Feed Manufacturing Co. in 1951 when Fred J. Kelly, 1955. Fred J. Kelly, 1955. Fred J. Kelly, 1955. Fred J. Kelly, 1955.

Metal food tanks for grain storage facilities were built at the plant during 1956, 1963 and 1965.

A business at Paul, which operates under the same name and is owned and operated by Mr. Alfred, Burley, the Paul plant was built and opened for business in 1954. The name of Craven and Platts, Inc. was changed to Fred J. Kelly and Son in 1954. Fred J. Kelly, 1954. Fred J. Kelly, 1954. Fred J. Kelly, 1954.

Fire once again took its toll of the plant during the fall of 1951, when Mr. Alfred, Burley, bought and rebuilt the business.

During 1966 the eight round metal tanks were installed at Beetsville. The concrete slab was poured at the Paul plant for 300,000 bushels outside grain storage.

The Burley and Paul plant manufacturing feeds for ranches in the high country of the Denver, Colo.

Sales are made through a network of independent dealers and pet stores throughout the state, from the coast to the mountains of the state.

Miss Kelly, who has been in the business since 1930, is the daughter of Fred J. Kelly, who was a member of the Burley High School Class of 1916. She is a member of the Burley High School Class of 1916. She is a member of the Burley High School Class of 1916.

Ask Them Yourself

WHAT IN THE WORLD!

FOR ARTHUR J. GOLDBERG,

U.S. Ambassador to the U.N. What attempts have been made by the U.S. to bring the Vietnam question before the United Nations—U.N., Waco, Texas

● The U.S. has repeatedly sought action on Vietnam in the United Nations Security Council. At U.S. initiative the Council took up the Vietnam problem in 1964 and again in 1966, but the opposition of certain members—chiefly the Soviet Union and France—prevented action.

FOR ROGER MARIS

It's true that you had Bell's palsy and recovered in about a week? Was there special medication or treatment?

Brenda Kattman, New Knoxville, Ohio

● I did have Bell's palsy, but it cleared up in less than two weeks and I'm suffering no aftereffects. The right side of my face became paralyzed around mid-December, but was started to clear up rapidly without special treatment.

FOR KATE SMITH

Why did you convert to Catholicism?—Mrs. J. Morgan, Niagara Falls, N. Y.

● My father was a Catholic, and I became acquainted with the religion early in life, often joining in Catholic services. It became my conviction that the Catholic faith was God's gift to me.

FOR JOHN MACDONALD,

mystery novelist

How much time do you devote to writing each day?—Mrs. J. S. Parsons, Sarasota, Fla.

● I work from 8:00 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. daily with a break for lunch. I don't work every day, however. I take time off to fish, golf, ride on my boat, or visit friends.

FOR BART STARR,

quarterback, Green Bay Packers

What do you do during the off-season? How fast can you run the 100-yard dash?—Dan Zenger, Starbuck, Wis.

● I represent Pepsi-Cola and Lincoln-Mercury. My best time in the 100-yard dash was 11 seconds and three stubbles.

FOR DR. J. B. RHINE,

parapsychologist

Do you think animals have extraordinary perception?—Philip Mans, Roanoke Rapids, N. C.

● Yes. Some animals have demonstrated ESP ability. There are many instances of pet animals following their owners into strange territory hundreds of miles away—with no tangible guides. We refer to this as "psi-trailing." Experiments on dogs, cats, and mice have given some additional evidence of animal ESP.

FOR SYLVIA PORTER,

financial columnist

Are you really a man writing under a pseudonym?—John S. Coates, Carmel, Calif.

What a commentary on how attitudes have changed toward working women! When I began writing my column, I used the initial "S" to hide the fact that I was a woman. Now you ask whether "Sylvia" is hiding the identity of a man! While I shrink from invading the domain of movie titles, the answer must be unequivocally: I am a woman!

FOR DR. WILLIAM S. CLARK,

president, Arthritis Foundation

Do you think there ever will be a cure for arthritis?—K. K. Waterloo, Iowa

● Yes. Of more than 80 forms of arthritis, two are most common and troublesome—rheumatoid arthritis and osteoarthritis. The first inflames joints, is very painful, and is most likely to be crippling. Osteoarthritis is mostly a wear-and-tear disease that comes with old age. We're getting closer to finding new drugs to control and prevent rheumatoid arthritis. It's going to take longer, I think, to find the answer for osteoarthritis. Still, a lot can be done today if individuals see a doctor for early diagnosis and treatment.

FOR BOB HOPE,

Why do you always hold a golf club while doing your shows in Vietnam?—Mrs. John Bond, Hialeah, Mich.

● Many comedians have a "gimmick" to punctuate their monologues. George Burns uses a cigar, for instance. In my case, I love golf, and the club has become a trademark. Besides, backstage I can work on my swing.

International Incident A recent White House dinner for England's Prime Minister Harold Wilson caused a transatlantic tizzy. After the dinner, opera star Robert Merrill was scheduled to sing "I Got Plenty of Nothin'" and "On the Road to Mandalay." The British press heard about it and roared like wounded lions. The songs, they charged, were ironic reminders of the devolved pound and the gone-but-not-forgotten British Empire. Merrill offered to sing something else, but Wilson said no. "They're two of my favorite songs," he explained.

Prime Minister Wilson

Bachelor Boast "Marriage will not be necessary in the next 30 or 40 years," predicts actor Dirk Bogarde. "It is already going fast in Europe." He offers himself as an example of the Offer of a lifetime if you'd like to make $10,000, all you have to do is contact Philip J. Mass, author of "UEO—Identified." He'll sign an agreement with anyone and everyone, promising to pay that sum if and when an honest-to-goodness visitor from outer space presents his credentials to the UN or to any government or appears on TV. He'll also pay up if a crashed spacecraft can be proved to have come from "out there." All you have to do is promise to pay him $250 a year until one of these events happens. Any takers?

free life. "I'm not married. I have my own hair, my teeth aren't capped, and I'm 47," he announces. "Do I look as though I was married?"

Vanishing Americans When was the last time you saw a movie newsfeet, argyle socks, blue-suede shoes, or soap flakes (not detergent)? They're all gone—and some of us miss them. As times and tastes change, manufacturers tell us we'll soon say good-bye to concert ribbons, monard records, fountain pen, dry-groce soda fountains, and the six-cylinder engine. If you want a hot-judge sundae, you'd better hurry.

On Her Toes If you'd like to start your own ballet company, there are two ways. The first is to be born rich. The second is to be like Barbara Weisberger, a thirtyish mother from Wilkes-Barre, Pa. When she started the new Pennsylvania Ballet Company, she had "only a large share of madness and $3,300." The company's success is part of a new trend in the arts—get the people involved. "The individual millionaire patron is dead," says Mrs. Weisberger. "Now we're turning art back to the people. We get our support from a membership that gives anything from $5 to $50,000."

ANNE BANCROFT

Happiness Is More Than "Oscars"

Five years ago she won an Academy Award—now she has been nominated for another: the actress may be the same, but the woman is different. By JACK RYAN

THE EXCITEMENT of possibly winning a second Oscar in five years swirled around Anne Bancroft, infecting everybody—except Anne Bancroft.

She lazed back on a sofa in her recently purchased Greenwich Village brownstone—and said—reflectively, "You interviewed me just before I won my Oscar? (That was for her 1962 performance in The Miracle Worker); this year she has been nominated for her role as the predatory wife in The Graduate," also nominated as "Best Picture.")

"Well, you'll find me a very different person from what I was five years ago. I've changed. I wasn't married then, for one thing. Not that marriage changed me. Just life, I guess. Say I'matured."

Five years ago, Anne Bancroft was an edgy, temperamental actress, rehearsing for the grueling role of Mother Courage—on Broadway after six uninterrupted years of physically and emotionally demanding parts on stage and screen.

Then she sat in a shabby dressing-room, stiff as her wooden kitchen chair and snapping impatient answers: "The man I marry, if I do, must accept the fact I am a totally involved actress . . . An Academy Award? I don't have enough left in me to think about it, much less go to the presentation."

Now, in 1968, she talked languidly about herself and in depth. She took time out only for affectionate give-and-take with her writer-director husband Mel Brooks, whose first movie, The Producers, is the surprise comedy-hit of the year; She obviously was pleased at The Graduate's nomination and looking forward to attending the Hollywood presentation. She looked slimmer ("Actually, they've always padded me a lot, here and in Hollywood") and younger, although in analyzing her new life, she says:

"They joke about it, but it's true—that business of looking in the mirror one morning and realizing you're (she says this with a wan smile)

Anne Bancroft and Dustin Hoffman won Oscar nominations for "The Graduate."

well, you're 30 or more. Suddenly you whisper—I'm going to die! What am I getting out of life?

"If any moment changes a person, that's the one. What was important—success and what-have-you—remains important, but you want more: friends, a home, someone to love. Just sitting still and—it's up."

"Yes, I probably told you a husband would have to accept me as a totally involved actress. That's how I felt then. I had already met Mel then and wanted to be married, but he wouldn't accept those terms: I set about to talk him out of it.

"We knew each other three years before we married (in 1964)—and, like so many problems, we found that they really didn't exist except in our minds. I don't know why—maybe my thirtyish 'maturity' solved it. I simply found myself working only when the role was exactly what I wanted, with time and emotion left for other things in life.

"Oh, I still get deeply involved in the roles I take. Mel gets totally involved when he's writing, too, and I am shut out, alone. But life is not all work now. Work is just part of life, along-with-getting-this-old-house-in-shape (she waves her hand helplessly), shopping for antiques, enjoying the company of friends—and having a husband."

An indication of Miss Bancroft's new life is that in 1966 she accepted only two brief periods of work: a tv play and a revival of The Skin of Our Teeth, only because she needed "rejuvenation" under Arthur Penn, a director she credits for her acting success.

"In 1967 I didn't expect to work at all, but Mike Nichols telephoned about The Graduate. I read the script and knew I had to get back to work. Mrs. Robinson (an affluent matron who seduces a young college boy) was something I never did before. Everybody sees me as a saintly Mother Cabrini type. Later I did the revival of The Little Foxes. That was all—As-for-1968, well, maybe this is the year I don't work at all. Lord, I have enough things at home to keep me busy two years."

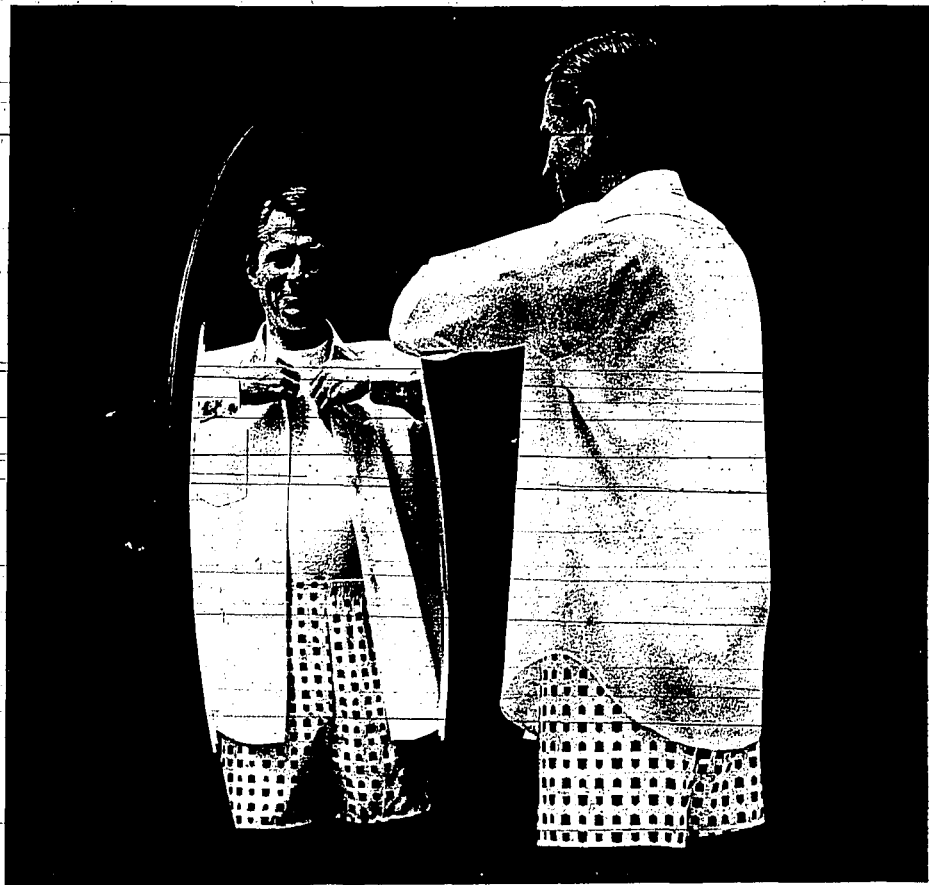

If human lives could be sliced neatly into parts, Anne Bancroft's would divide by three. The current one, the hard-driven success-laden one of the late '50s and '60s, and the movie starlet one begun in the early 1950s, when teen-ager Anne Italiano put aside her fan magazines and went to Hollywood.

"I didn't have any ideas about becoming a dedicated actress," she recalls. "I just wanted to be a Hollywood star and within a year had made my first movie. It never occurred to me that there was anything else worth happening to me. I made five or six pictures and became exactly what I'd dreamed—a Hollywood star. If you ever see those pictures, and I hope you don't, you'll know I wasn't particularly ambitious.

"What changed me? No, no look into the mirror this time. I just got restless without knowing why. I went back home. I didn't know what I was looking for, but I was sure I'd find it. That's when Arthur Penn came into my life. From him I learned to combine technique with my instincts and how satisfying good acting can be."

Now Anne Bancroft apparently has found self-satisfaction in both her professional and private life, whether or not she wins another Academy Award. How does she think her life might change when, in future years, she again looks in a mirror and sees—well, somebody 40?

Anne lifts dark, expressive eyes heavenward. "I have no idea! But if it brings as much to me as that look at 30 did, I won't complain." ♦

How to Judge Your

She's one of the most important persons in a youngster's life, and

What does your child's classroom look like? A simple check can tell you a great deal about his teacher.

THE YOUNG daughter of friends entered the first grade, eager to begin her formal school life.

After the first month, she was becoming a behavior problem at home, something she had not been before. By Thanksgiving, she was nervous and cried easily. By Christmas, she was dejected and unhappy, a completely changed child.

Even after conferences with the first-grade teacher, her bawled parents watched her dismal school work continue. The child's report cards were disastrous. Reading was agony, and she approached other subjects as dread diseases. To herself and her family, the child was a six-year-old disappointment.

Then came the second grade. Literally overnight, by the second day of school, the little girl changed. She relaxed and reverted to her former happy self. The quality of her work began to skyrocket. Her report cards were excellent; her teacher called her "gifted." Life and school became a happy experience for her. Her delighted parents had learned a dramatic lesson which we all should know: next to Mom and Dad, a child's teacher is the most important person in his life.

How can you tell whether your child's teacher is right for him? What are the clues that a parent must observe at home to learn what's going on at school? How can you help the teacher do her difficult job? And if there is a legitimate problem between your child and his teacher, what can you do about it?

In my years of experience as a parent, children's librarian, and PTA leader, I've picked up some answers to these questions which I'd like to pass along to you.

Without expecting miracles, we parents have a right to look for certain qualities in the "day-time parents" who take our children and turn them into educated men and women. To do this properly, you should meet the teacher in a pleasant, informal social situation.

Ideally, teacher and parent should run into each other in the supermarket, church, or at civic meetings. If yours isn't a community where that's possible, a smart school principal may fill the gap for you by creating opportunities for teachers and parents to get together—and I don't mean just when your child has misbehaved.

Accept your obligation to meet the teacher in her home territory—the classroom. Most principals and teachers welcome parents as visitors, and teachers who refuse to be observed for any length of time should have a good excuse. Regulations governing visits vary, however, and you will want to be certain to follow them.

School districts in some cities, for example, set aside special "open school weeks" during which parents are invited to class. In small communities, you may be welcome at almost any time, provided you phone or write ahead to be sure your visit will not conflict with some special activity the teacher or school officials have planned.

What do you look for when you get to school? First, look beyond the obvious. An overly neat classroom is not necessarily one in which exciting education is going on. Are the children's work displayed around the room? Are all the children represented? Of course, an extremely messy classroom is usually a sign that someone doesn't care about what is going on. The children should take care of their own desks and have a proprietary attitude toward the room and its contents.

Are there plenty of books in the room? A well-run classroom will have many library books and other interesting activities to occupy children.

Child's Teacher

By Mrs. IRVIN HENDRYSON

President, National Congress of Parents and Teachers

With Bonnie Kemsberg

there are simple ways to grade her performance in the classroom during their free time. What use does your teacher make of visual materials? A good teacher does not just turn on a projector and show films without integrating them into classroom activity.

A most important aspect of judging a teacher's effectiveness is evaluating her relationship with the children. Does she bark orders at them like a first sergeant? While a sweet, syrupy voice isn't a requirement for teaching, kindness is. Very young children want to be near a teacher they adore, and they should feel comfortable enough to hug her. This may be hard on the press in her dress, but it's a real mark of achievement with little ones.

Does your teacher listen with interest to the children when they talk to her? Is she sensitive to the feelings of the children? I once heard a teacher explain a child's performance to a visitor with, "You'll have to forgive Johnny. He's a very nervous child. He goes to the doctor for his nerves." That, in my book, is a teacher who needs a few brush-up courses in psychology.

A good teacher, while not unreasonable, holds high expectations for her children's performances, an aspect of which is good discipline. She expects each child to do his best. To accomplish this, she treats them as individuals as much as possible. She does not think of them simply as "the class."

The tone of classroom discussion is often a good indicator of a teacher's ability. A teacher who does all the talking isn't doing the best teaching job. Students should be doing some of the talking. The way a good teacher asks questions gives clues to her ability. Rather than asking to elicit information, she asks to stimulate creative thinking.

She also does not expect "parroted" answers but allows for divergent thought. She is careful of the child's feelings by accepting a wrong answer with something less than scorn and a curt "wrong." It's wise to observe the level of interest of the children in what is going on. Are the majority of them involved—or disinterested?

As important as I think they are, all the refresher courses in the world cannot substitute for a teacher's sensitivity to her children. I saw a teacher smilingly accept a hand-picked apple from a student one day.

"My, that looks good," she said warmly. The next day, the teacher commented to the child, "That apple tasted just as good as it looked."

You can be sure the child was in a receptive mood for that day's lesson. This kind of lovingness and appreciation of children, coupled with the necessary academic requirements, is what makes a good teacher.

I once knew a teacher who was a real expert. Her classroom was a beehive! There were so many activities going on at once that it made my head swim, but she knew at every moment what each of the children was doing. She had the knack of working with one small group while keeping complete track of the others, and the children were bubbling with love for learning.

This kind of enthusiasm goes home with a child and makes it possible for a parent to evaluate a teacher from his own living room. The child himself is the best messenger. If parents could learn to observe them correctly, they would find their children are mirrors of what is happening at school.

In my family we found that when a child says of his teacher, "Miss Jones is really tough," he is most often admiring her as a teacher who turned out to be a good disciplinarian—an effective teacher, and a beloved friend.

You're ahead of the game if you happen to have a talkative child. Even vocal inclusions can tell you what kind of atmosphere prevails in class.

Just as a parent should seize every school-sponsored opportunity to get to know the teacher, many fine teachers welcome home visits as a help in understanding their students. "Getting to know you" should be the theme song for parents and teachers everywhere. This is, in fact, the philosophy underlying the entire PTA movement, and one important meeting place for parent and teacher most often can be your school's regular PTA meeting.

It cannot be overemphasized that parents and teachers should understand each other. And not all the obligation for this understanding rests with the teacher. Parents must realize that their child is only one of many, and although to a good teacher all the children are important, she must treat them equally. Parents must accept their responsibility to instill in the child attitudes which make him teachable. In five hours a day, no teacher can do her job as well as that of parent, nurse, counselor, clergyman, and friend.

Suppose you have visited school repeatedly, kept a close watch on your child and his reactions, and found that there is a serious conflict between your child and his teacher. What should you do? This is one of the most vexing problems to educators across the country.

Some school systems have an arrangement in which your child can be transferred to another class within a certain period of time. Some parents and teachers are able to work out their problems through conferences. Sometimes principals and assistant principals can help bridge the gap. In some systems you will have no choice but to try to compensate at home for what you feel the child is missing at school.

By and large, I feel our teachers do a remarkable job of educating for a changing world. I know a first-grade teacher whose children write book reports, poems, stories, and plays with great charm and creativity. "I'm hoping to start them on a life-long love affair with the English language," she says. In my opinion, these first-graders have been given the finest gift a modern child could receive.

All the new audio-visual equipment is marvelous, but to my mind the goal we're all working for is the real innovation of modern education—an outstanding teacher in every classroom. *

If You Can't Go to Class

If you work during school hours or for some other reason cannot visit the classroom, you often can evaluate a teacher by observing your child at home. Here are pertinent questions, suggested by Lydia Geranin, psychologist for the Chicago public-school system.

1. Does your child look forward to going to school every day? Feigned illnesses or other excuses for staying home may indicate that the teacher is not stimulating your child sufficiently, has not been able to establish effective rapport with him, or has failed to recognize his individuality. He may be gifted, for example, and bored with the normal level of instruction. Or he may have an undetected learning handicap that makes him feel self-conscious or threatened in class.

2. How frequently does your child talk about substitute teachers? A consistent pattern of absences by the regular teacher may reflect a lack of genuine interest in teaching.

3. What is your child's physical description of his teacher? Small things may be telling. If the teacher wears loose bracelets, for instance, they may be a distracting influence in the classroom. If her fingernails are too long, it is doubtful that she can effectively participate in such activities as finger-painting.

4. Does your child repeat comments the teacher has made about other children? It is psychologically devastating for teachers to isolate individual children and subject them to ridicule.

5. What type of homework is assigned? It should be meaningful work that requires the use of outside research materials and stimulates your child beyond the limits of the immediate lesson. It should not be merely an exercise in memory.

6. Does the teacher plan field trips to broaden your child's horizons and help him better understand and appreciate his environment?

San Antonio's HemisFair '68—Is It

It's not as vast as New York's or Montreal's, but it has a fiesta charm—plus the cultural

By JOHN KENT

IT MAY sound like a contradiction, but oversized Texas is having a mini-fair in San Antonio from April 6 to Oct. 6 this year.

Compared with New York's 1964-65 Fair (646 acres) and Montreal's Expo '67 (1,000 acres), HemisFair's 32.6 acres is Rhode Island in size—comparable to the Seattle Fair of 1962. "There will be plenty to see in the area," says HemisFair's chief executive officer, Jim Gaines, "and nobody will end up the day with sore feet."

That's important because what sets off HemisFair is a festivity that should provide a lot more fun than previous fairs. San Antonio's American-Mexican culture, reflected throughout the city's architecture, will provide evenings filled with everything from strolling street singers to sophisticated night-club acts from South of the Border.

It's likely that HemisFair, celebrating San Antonio's 250th birthday, would shine in the nighttime anyway. If you've ever had the south Texas sun sear you in the summer, you'll understand why, despite extensive shading, most of the fair's 734-million-visitors are expected to go their touring from dusk onwards.

Here's a rundown on what HemisFair has—limited but quality—as well as what the Texas-Mexico region offers the visitor—quality and limitless.

Tower of the Americas: This is the focal point of the fair, a 622-foot spindle, the tallest permanent world's fair structure since the

Tower of Americas seen from Paseo del Rio

Eiffel Tower. At its top is a revolving restaurant and observation decks.

Fairgrounds: The fair is part of an urban redevelopment in historic downtown San Antonio within walking distance of the Alamo. The grounds occupy part of La Villita section, settled in the early 1700s by Canary Islanders and later by German immigrants. Many of their homes—looking like sets from Old Southwest—movie epics—have been restored to serve as restaurants and galleries.

Foreign exhibits: Twenty-six foreign nations will exhibit at HemisFair. A good part of their effort will be hard-sell merchandising of products, but nations such as Thailand, the Philippines, Tunisia, and France also will provide ethnic entertainment, cultural exhibits, art and artifacts. On the basis of the Montreal fair,

THE "Wrap the old ones. I'll wear these" SHOES

The fit is extraordinary, but only half the pleasure. Florsheim creates a bold new look: style that speaks for itself with today's broader toe and masculine detailing. Authentic—and like nothing you have now. You'll wear them home and find new enjoyment in a new pair of shoes—from Florsheim!

and natural wonders of Mexico and Texas.

Czechoslovakia probably will have the most popular show—its La-terna-Magika, which combines live actors and filmed sequences, and Kino-Automat, in which the audience pushes buttons to determine how the nonhero of a bedroom farce reacts to comic situations.

National: The U.S. Pavilion features a 20-minute film on how civilization came to the Americas. Produced by Francis Thompson, whose New York Fair film, "To Be Alive," won an Oscar, it will be shown successively on three different-size screens: to give the impression of explosive growth.

The Texas Pavilion, largest at the HemisFair, will "destroy the myths about Texans past and present," says R. Henderson Shuffler. Films, tapes, recordings, and graphics, he says, will show more than "hell-roaring bumpkins in buckskin... (or) a modern loud-mouth... wheeler-dealer." You'll learn, for example, about the Jewish conquistador, German tamale maker, and Polish-cowboy.

Privates: The fair has attracted 19 industrial or cultural exhibits. The most unique is the Women's Pavilion with exhibits depicting their part in civilizing—the New World, from Queen Isabella onward. Ford Motor Company has a 360-degree movie showing its world-wide activities. General Motors forecasts the future of electric autos, automatic highways, and problemless parking.

From, Mexico, Pepsi-Cola imports, Los Voladores—the "Flying Indians"—who spiral downward from a 114-foot pole secured only by a rope around their waist; there will also be a human ritual "sacrifice" to the Aztec gods. General Electric produces a Broadway musical about the past, present, and future of electricity. IBM's "magic loom" allows you to design your own fabric simply by pushing buttons on a computer: within seconds the computer-loom weaves a souvenir sample of your fabric design.

Entertainment: Plenty of big names have signed for the fair—Bob Hope, Bob Newhart, Jack Benny, Roy Rogers. From the Spanish-speaking world will come ballet and opera; from the American West, of course, rodeos. Don't overlook small restaurants and clubs on the grounds and in the city; you'll find less famous entertainers there but the kind you'd have to, tour all Central-South America to see otherwise.

Tourism: Experts figure you can see HemisFair in two days (as opposed to 10-12 days in New York). That leaves time to explore one-of-its-kind city: San Antonio. It specializes in charming old missions; of course, and its Paseo del Rio is a showplace promenade along the San Antonio River. You can take a barge from most hotels to the fair or just stroll along the river's flowered banks to sight-see shops, night clubs, and restaurants.

Incidentally, travel agents, still smarting from clients' complaints about accommodation troubles in Montreal, say they've made certain this time that fair-goers will find the right place at the right price. The region, of course, is ideal for outdoor lovers, and 40 percent of the initial reservations came from families wanting campsite locations.

Bonus Trips: Within a few hours' drive of San Antonio are such colorful Mexican border towns as Matamoros and Nuevo Laredo and the colorful interior city of Monterrey. They offer anything from bull fights to delicate handicrafts.

About two hours' drive on excellent Texas highways is Padre Island, a national seashore with one of the finest beaches in the hemisphere. You're also within an hour's drive of the L.B.J. ranch; Bandera, dude-ranch capital of the world; Big Bend National Park with spectacular peaks and canyons; and such Old Frontier attractions as Judge Roy Bean's frontier town, Lanarty.

The dream trip, however, is one planned by various airlines to wind up the fair. You attend the closing festivities during the Fair's last week, fly to Acapulco for a week of sun and sea, then go on to Mexico City for the Olympics, Oct. 12-27.

HemisFair pretends to be nothing other than an excellent small fair and succeeds thoroughly—but there are plenty of big spectacles just beyond its gates in Texas and neighboring Mexico. ♦

Why You Need Extra Cash In Addition To Ordinary Hospital Insurance
Anyone who has been in the hospital recently knows ordinary hospital insurance—even Medicare—simply will not cover everything. You have to pay many "extras" out of your own pocket—and it can add up to hundreds of dollars in a frighteningly short time.

But even if your ordinary hospital insurance covers most of your medical and hospital bills, what about the bills that keep piling up at home?

If you, as husband, father and breadwinner are suddenly hospitalized, your income stops, your expenses go up. Even if you have some kind of "salary insurance" it probably won't come close to replacing your full-time pay.

If your wife is suddenly hospitalized, who will look after the family, do the laundry, the marketing, the cleaning? You may have to take time off from your job—or hire full-time domestic help—to take care of things at home.

If one of your children is suddenly hospitalized, you will certainly have no expense. You wouldn't think of it.

If you're over 65 and are suddenly hospitalized, Medicare, fine as it is, won't pay all of your hospital expenses or any household expenses. Most senior citizens won't want to tie up savings if they may have taken a lifetime to accumulate—they want to retain their independence and not become a "burden" to their children or community.

Without "extra cash" protection, a hospital emergency may leave you with savings gone, debts you can't pay, peace of mind shattered even when you're not being seriously delayed by money worries!

How The Plan Protects You And Your Family. Now, with the unique "extra cash" protection of The Doctors Hospital Plan you can avoid these worries because you can be assured of extra cash income when you or any covered

7. How much can I get?
Each plan has its own "Aggregate of Benefits," what we call the maximum.
For example, under the ALL-FAMILY PLAN, the maximum is $10,000-$100 a week ($12.8 a day) extra cash income for you; $75 weekly ($10.71 daily) for your wife; $50 weekly ($7.14 daily) for each of your eligible children.

Under the ONE-PARENT FAMILY PLAN, the maximum is $7,500-$100 weekly ($12.8 daily) for you; $50 weekly ($7.14 daily) for each of your eligible children.
Under the HUSBAND-WIFE PLAN, the maximum is $10,000 weekly ($12.8 daily) for you; $75 weekly ($10.71 daily) for your wife.
Under the INDIVIDUAL PLAN, the maximum is $5,000-$100 a week ($12.8 a day) for you.

8. Are any additional benefits included in The Doctors Hospital Plan?
Yes, you receive a 50% increase in cash benefits if you or any covered family member is hospitalized for cancer (including Leukemia and Hodgkin's Disease), heart-attack (acute myocardial infarction, coronary thrombosis and coronary occlusion), or stroke (apoplexy).
9. What are the "double" cash benefits?
If you and your wife are both injured and hospitalized at the same time and are covered by the ALL-FAMILY PLAN or the HUSBAND-WIFE PLAN, you get double cash benefits. You get twice the amount—$350 A WEEK!

10. Does this plan pay in any hospital?
You will be covered in any hospital that makes a charge for room and board, except nursing homes, convalescent or welfare units of hospitals or Federal hospitals.

11. When does my policy go into force?
It becomes effective the very same day we receive your Enrollment Form. Accidents are covered on that date. After your policy is 30 days old, accidents which begin thereafter are covered. Under the ALL-FAMILY PLAN, children or pregnancy or any consequence thereof is covered after your policy is in force for 10 months.

12. What if someone in my family had a health problem that occurred earlier?
Even if one of your covered family members has suffered from chronic ailments in the past, pre-existing conditions are covered after the policy has been in force for two years.

13. What conditions aren't covered?
Only those minimum accepted exceptions: pregnancy or any consequence thereof (unless you have the ALL-FAMILY PLAN, war, military service, mental disorder, alcoholism or drug addiction—or, if something happens "on the job" and is covered by Workmen's Compensation or Employers Liability Laws.

14. Can I drop out any time? Can you drop me?
We will never cancel or refuse to renew your policy for health reasons—for as long as you live and continue to pay your premiums. We guarantee that we will never cancel, modify or terminate your policy unless we decline to issue a new form. Your only way out is: your entire state or until the maximum (Aggregate of Benefits) of your policy has been paid. You, of course, can drop your policy on any renewal date.

15. Why is The Doctors Hospital Plan almost like having an extra "bank account"?
When your policy is issued, your insurance provides up to $10,000, $7,500, or $5,000—depending upon the plan you choose. This is your "Health-Savings Account." Then, every month your policy is in force, a sum equal to your regular monthly premium (including your first month) is actually added to your maximum. When you have claims, benefits are subtracted from your "account."

16. Will my claims be handled promptly?
Yes. With your policy, you will receive a simple, easy-to-use Claim Form. Your claims will be processed quickly and your checks sent directly to you.

17. Why are the premiums so low?
With The Doctors Hospital Plan, you actually get all these benefits—at such a low cost—because this is a mass enrollment plan—and no salesman ad used. Our volume is higher and our total sales costs are lower.

18. How much does my first month cost?
It's 100% regardless of your age, the size of your family or the plan you select. After the first month, if you are under 65, you pay only these low monthly rates: only $7.88 a month for the ALL-FAMILY PLAN; only $5.93 a month for the ONE-PARENT FAMILY PLAN; only $5.93 a month for the HUSBAND-WIFE PLAN; only $3.50 a month for the INDIVIDUAL PLAN. (When you are over 65, premiums increase. See month increase in box on preceding page.)

19. Why should I enroll right now?
Because an unexpected sickness or accident could strike without warning—and you will not be covered until your policy is in force. Remember, if for any reason you change your mind, you may return your policy within 10 days and your $1.00 will be refunded immediately.

MELANIE DE PROFT Food Editor

■ Make your pizza party the casual one. Use pretty, practical, paper products—plates, cups, napkins—to strike a lively and colorful party note as well as to help eliminate the after-party-cleanup jobs. Here are recipes for pizza and desserts to carry out that party theme.

Olive-Shrimp Pizza

This pizza uses ingredients different from those usually found in packages. Prepare some of the packaged variety, along with this recipe to offer a wide assortment.

Sauce (see recipe)

- 1 can (8 oz.) sliced mushrooms, drained

Pizza Dough (see recipe)

- 1 can (1 lb.) pitted ripe olives, drained and halved
- ½ lb. cooked deveined shrimp
- 1 teaspoon oregano, crushed
- 2½ cups shredded Cheddar cheese

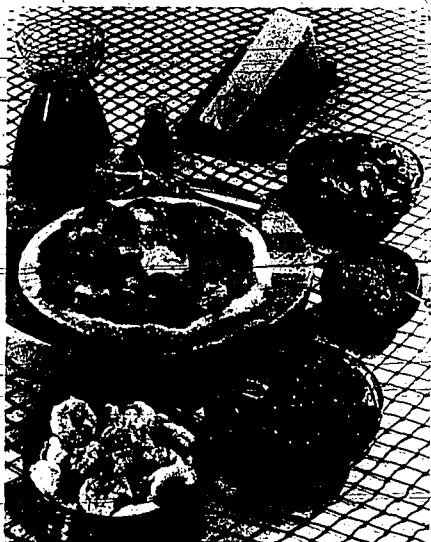

1. Mix mushrooms into Sauce. Spread one quarter of the Sauce over each dough round. Arrange over each, one quarter of the olives and shrimp. Sprinkle tops evenly with oregano and cheese.

2. Bake at 425°F. 15 to 20 min., or until crust is browned.

Four 8-in. pizzas

Sauce: Mix in a saucepan tomato sauce (2 cans 8 oz. each), 1 onion, chopped, 1 clove garlic, minced, ¼ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon seasoned pepper, ¼ teaspoon crushed oregano, and 1 bay leaf. Bring to boiling, reduce heat, and simmer 5 minutes. Discard bay leaf.

Pizza Dough: Sprinkle 1 pkg. active dry yeast over ¼ cup warm water (105°F.—115°F.) in a bowl; stir until dissolved. Add 2½ cups biscuit mix; beat until well mixed. Turn onto a surface lightly sprinkled with biscuit mix. Knead until smooth (about 20 times). Divide dough into fourths; roll each into an 8-in. round. Put rounds onto ungreased large baking sheets. Shape edges by pressing dough between thumb and forefinger.

Olive-Shrimp Pizza, atop a cutting board, is surrounded by its ingredients.

Now—Developed by Over 1000 Arthritis Specialists and Doctors Working Together—a Needed and Medically-Approved Program to

Arthritis

Arthritis can be successfully treated. You can recover. Buoyant, pain-free living should be yours. A new 5-way practical plan of positive action causes pain and disability to go.

By William S. Kitay
Medical Science Reporter

If you've had Arthritis for years, have just had first twinges, are susceptible through heredity—or if you have a loved one who suffers from it, here's news.

Scientists have revised their viewpoint on Arthritis—and what you can do about it. Science now knows that there is no universal sure-cure miracle pill or drug for Arthritis... and probably never will be.

The plain scientific truth is that you can recover from Arthritis with simpler means. Techniques now available can calm the pain, the activity of Arthritis, even lessen the damage.

What Researchers Discovered

A simple home treatment can get you back on your feet, give you new independence and return you to useful living.

It stops pain, reduces inflammation and swelling, gives greater use of your joints. Simply, it prevents or minimizes the misery and crippling of Arthritis.

It is a 5-Way method developed by over 1000 Arthritis specialists and general practitioners working together. It surprisingly effective in even severe, complicated cases. Often it stops short-pain and disability of NEW Arthritis sufferers—virtually as first symptoms begin.

Why Suffer Needlessly

How often have you done your work with arthritic-pain stealing your energy and dulling your efforts? Or has it progressed even further, and you've looked with sinking heart at your hot, swollen joints and twisted fingers—actually brushed tears from your eyes because you became so dependent on others' kindness?

A remarkable organization—endorsed "to do" the job—has banded together the greatest medical drive in Arthritis history—to find the truth about—and OVERCOME ARTHRITIS!

Virtually every conceivable method to treat Arthritis has been investigated. Folk remedies, fake cures, cure-alls, wild hopes of medical science for new drugs—anything promising even alleviating relief—however, unorthodox, has been studied. Over 1000 doctors and scientists joined in. If any method worked, it was retained.

The frauds, the fakes, the false hopes were shown up. The best of medicine—side effects—disadvantages—withdrawal—effects in different situations were frankly faced. The work goes on—searching for the miracle not yet found.

The Simple Truth

But the quickest, surest, safest method yet found—when again and again proven in different situations—have been included in the 5-Way plan to give you greater relief from aches and pain, greater use of joints, faster resumption of activities.

Whatever form of Arthritis, however complicated or intensive, whatever age and arthritic condition, the flexible 5-Way plan adapts to help.

Here are the most effective techniques in single areas, around knee joint, shoulder, ankle, back of neck—techniques to improve circulation in your entire body.

Feel the Improvement—and Say "Yes" to Life Again

See and feel at home your 5-Way plan. Start your body on the way to painfree, normal living. Feel tight joints relax, free up. Feel muscles tied in knots become more supple. Feel back tension ease, aches and pains, soreness, muscle spasms be relieved. Feel muscle tendons soften and stretch. Feel your body's full breathing range permitted again.

Feel strength-of-needed-muscles-increase. As you return full motion and range to joints, you're preventing and reducing chance of crippling. You're saving corrective action later. Because you have found the full facts about Arthritis and what to do about it, you've been restoring motion, strength and power to stiffened, weakened joints, increasing the range of joints, helping prevent weakening and deterioration of essential muscles important for walking, climbing stairs and getting in and out of chairs.

You've gained surprising independence from disabilities and you're feeling better than you have in years. You say "YES" to life again!

5-Way Plan In Book Form

The entire plan is now published in one easy-to-refer-to volume. You just use the information you need. What kind of Arthritis do you have? Rheumatoid or Osteo Arthritis—they're here (covering 95% of Arthritis cases)—including Rheumatic Fever, Infective Arthritis; Gouty Arthritis; Shoulder and Hand Syndrome and Traumatic Arthritis—PLUS—THE RELATED DISORDERS of Rheumatism, Bursitis, Tendinitis, Psychogenic Rheumatism—even Fibrositis, Fasciitis, Tenosynovitis, and Myositis.

Get the facts about the Arthritis that strikes 10 men for each woman—and another kind that strikes 10 women for each man—the Arthritis most past 40 eventually get to some degree—the kind that attacks rugged outdoor men—and another kind that attacks thin, tense, intellectual types—the Arthritis that's the most common cause of heart disease under 40 and often affects children, and how best to minimize heart damage from it—Arthritis a vigorous cough makes painfully worse—a kind involving the upper spine arriving with headache, earache, sore throat, neuritis pains in arms, or stiffness in neck.

And more! The most ignored warning signals of Arthritis and what to do when you first spot them. Facts you should know about aspirin, gold salts, prednisone, cortisone hydrocortisone.

What food disorders can do to Arthritis and what you can do about it. The truth about Arthritis cures and spine braces. What almost every patient first suffering from chronic Arthritis does wrongly that can cause deformity—unnecessarily.

Amazing 6-Months Guarantee!
Available To Anyone

Any doctor, any arthritis sufferer, anyone susceptible to Arthritis, any family member or friend who wants to help may accept the amazing offer below.

It is not a 24 hour miracle cure. There is none. It's a way to help yourself and your doctor to overcome Arthritis, stop Arthritis, relieve pain and misery, restore action to crippled limbs, and give back normal, pain free living.

Only if after looking over the book and 5-Way plan for 10 full days, you're convinced you can be helped, is there any cost. Otherwise, simply return within ten days for no cost. And if you keep the book for its low cost—if at any time within six months thereafter you—or your doctor—have any doubts of what it has done for you—if in any way it does not do what reading this page has led you to expect, simply return for full refund. Last Minute Income-Tax

Three million returns will be improperly filled out this year, says the

LAST YEAR we received a letter from a farmer who enclosed a mangled income-tax return.

The farmer explained that he had been about to mail the form when one of his goats picked it out of his pocket and proceeded to chew it.

We looked over the return and decided that despite the chewing it was in better shape than many other returns we receive. At least it was filled out properly and was ready to be fed into our computer.

This year, more than 104 million returns will be double-checked by our new computer system. Since the machines have an unfailing quick eye, for mistakes, close to three million returns will be pulled out, then examined and corrected by Internal Revenue Service agents.

A few of the mistakes will be unorthodox such as the teacher of Spanish who tried to deduct the cost of a trip to Hong Kong because she said she wanted to hear how the Chinese spoke Spanish, or the Southerner who tried to pay his taxes with Confederate money.

But most of the errors will be familiar. Here are the basic mistakes—that we encounter:

Mechanical Errors: They are the commonplace blunders. One taxpayer forgets to include his Social Security number, another accidentally transposes a number so that he ends up putting down someone else's Social Security number.

There are taxpayers who forget to attach their W-2 forms, or forget to sign the return, or complete their tax using the wrong tax table. So many of these mistakes could be avoided if the taxpayers only would take a few minutes before they mail off their returns to double-check the math and make sure the instructions have been followed exactly.

Sloppy Records: Too many taxpayers wait until April 15 only to discover that their records consist of a jumbled heap of old bills stuffed in the corner of a desk. Your tax man may question your charity or medical deductions or other claims, and you must be able to show substantiation. If you can't back up your claims with receipts, he will have to either disallow or cut down your deduction.

But you can resolve this thorny problem by neatly filing away your cancelled checks and receipts and keeping a tax diary in which you jot down deductible expenses.

Bank Interest and Dividends: When you are figuring out your income for the year, don't forget your bank interest. All banks are required to report interest payments of $10 or more to the IRS. If you overlook this income, however small, on your return, the computers may pick out your return for a closer look.

The same situation applies to dividends paid by corporations to holders of securities. You can exclude up to $100 in dividends from your taxable income (or $200 if your wife also receives dividends and you file jointly). But you must pay a tax on the rest. This, incidentally, has been a very active year on the nation's stock markets. Be sure to report gains and losses in this area.

If you are one of the millions who own mutual funds, you will be glad to know that this year you can skip the chore of reporting your capital-gain dividends on a separate "Schedule D" if you have no other capital gains or losses. These capital-gain dividends, which come from the fund's profits on its trading of securities, can be reported directly on your 1040 form under Miscellaneous Income. This is a time-saver. Your fund's annual statement will tell you what percentage of your total receipts were capital-gain dividends.

Education: This has long been a difficult subject. The rough rule is that educational expenses can be deducted only if the courses are required by your employer or if they add to or maintain your skill in your present job or profession. You are not allowed to deduct expenses for training for another career.

If you have a question in this complicated area, talk it over with your local IRS man or a professional tax adviser.

House Solds: If you sell your house at a profit, the profit is taxable. But if within a year, you buy another house that costs as much or more than you got for the old house, the tax on the gain can be deferred.

If you are 65 or over and you sell your house, you can exclude from taxes all profits if you receive $20,000 or less for the house. Even if you sell the house for more than $20,000, you only have to pay taxes on part of your profit. This is another case where the law gets very complicated. If you have a question, consult the instruction booklet or ask your local IRS representative or a professional tax adviser.

Medical Expenses: Many taxpayers who itemize their deductions are not fully aware of the variety of expenses they can deduct. Along with the obvious medical deductions like doctor's and dentist's bills, there are things like eyeglasses, hearing aids, false teeth, transportation to and from the doctor. And if you drive, you can itemize the cost of gas and oil or claim a flat five cents a mile for trips to see a doctor.

There also have been some im-important new medical rules this year. First, there is now no ceiling on your deductible medical expenses. Previously, the tax law set ceilings in deductions. But you still can deduct only those medical and dental expenses that exceed 3 percent of your total income including drug costs that go over 1 percent.

There is a change in the medical tax law for people 65 and over. In previous years, you were allowed to ignore the 3 percent and 1 percent rule and take off all your medical expenses. When Medicare was introduced, the law was changed and now the 3 percent and 1 percent limitations apply to all taxpayers regardless of age.

And finally, the law now allows you to deduct half your medical insurance premiums up to $150. The balance of the premiums can be included with other medical expenses. For example, if you pay medical insurance premiums of $400, half of that is $200, but only $150 will be deductible outright. The balance, $250, would be treated as a medical cost subject to the 3 percent rule.

Please remember—only medical insurance premiums can be deducted this way. No deduction is allowed for insurance that compensates a taxpayer for loss of income or for physical harm.

A final medical reminder for the taxpayer over 65—when you are computing your medical-premium deductions, don't forget the $3 a month you paid under Medicare as a premium for supplementary medical insurance. This adds up to $36 and is deductible.

Late Returns: You may be subject to a penalty if you file your return after April 15. Naturally there will be a delay in any refunds that may be due you if you file a late return. Please file early and properly—it could save you money and time. ♦

Sheldon Cohen

The phone rang and a drawing Texas voice announced, "Sheldon, I'm going to appoint you Commissioner." Thus in January, 1965, Sheldon Cohen got the word straight from the White House—he would be the United States' next tax chief.

Taxes and calls from the White House are nothing new for Sheldon Cohen. He grew up in Washington, studied law at George Washington University, and quickly gained a reputation as one of Washington's brightest young tax lawyers. In 1963 President Johnson decided he like the cut of this slim, scholarly looking man and asked him to become chief counsel for the U.S. Internal Revenue Service.

At 40, Sheldon Cohen is the youngest Revenue chief of this century. He is married and the father of four children, whose drawings decorate his office. As for his own taxes, Cohen makes a point of filing early and has been known to complain about how taxes eat up much of his $28,500 salary.

My Cousin Joe

PROBABLY there are thousands like him across America—men who had to give up an education for the sake of eating. My cousin Joe was one of the world's common men who started work in a factory at 16.

Like many others in those Depression years, he and Helen were engaged for years before they saved enough money to get married. And then and in the years to come, Joe worked like a dog to make something of himself.

He did. He became personnel director of the plant. A stocky, heavily muscled man, Joe was earthy and tough on the outside but soft as butter underneath. When trouble came, Joe was there, a rock on sorrow's sand. Even though he belonged to our family—only by marriage, it was Joe—to whom all of us turned when the going got rough.

In his heart he had room for everybody's hard times and his own good ones: his happiness in his family, his job, the softball program he organized and promoted for our town, and a miscellaneous assortment of golf, bridge, dogs, and fishing. He could curl up before a roaring blaze in the fireplace like a gorilla-size Kewpie doll and be snoring joyously in just five minutes.

Only one thing ticks a man like

Joe. The pain inside him ended only with death. Now his name is inscribed on a marker in a quiet corner of the cemetery.

The monument he would have liked best stands at the corner of the softball park. The city has named it Joe Straub Field and that kind of remembrance is better than marble and lasts much longer.

All of us who knew and loved him lost something important to us when Joe died. With him went a little of the energy strength and courage and zest for life this uncommon-common man had shared with us, and yet he left most of it behind as a legacy of love.

When he liked something a lot, a wide grin always cracked across his square brown face and he'd sigh, "Beautiful. Just beautiful."

That's the kind of guy my cousin Joe was. Just beautiful.
